EAST GERMAN TREATY IS COMING: NIKITA

W. Europe Calls For New Unity

Bitter Criticism Of Khrushchev; Eisenhower Prestige Is Enhanced

LONDON (AP)—Western Europe, angered and disappointed by the summit conference collapse...

Not since the Hungarian revolt of 1956 had Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev drawn such bitter criticism...

In the Soviet Union, the Communist propaganda machine moved into top gear in support of Khrushchev's tough line...

The Soviet communist party organ Pravda reported that in Moscow alone 5,640 meetings attended by 1,250,000 people were held in factories, schools and offices to protest America's "aggressive behavior."

Huge banner headlines reflected Western Europe's dismay—and also its determination not to yield to Soviet threats.

"Summit full-stop," cried Britain's Daily Express. "Killed, ravaged and torn to pieces by Nikita Khrushchev."

Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph Luns told his Parliament: "I have full confidence that the West will be firm in the face of Khrushchev's new threatening attitude."

There were similar appeals for close Western unity in most of the free capitals.

Many observers were still trying to probe what was behind Khrushchev's uncompromising, almost Stalinist, new policy.

The most likely explanation is that Khrushchev's power in Russia is waning steadily," suggested the London Daily Express.

Two Red Spies

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today two Russian agents were spotted but not picked up on the day Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev addressed the United Nations last fall.

Nixon told a reporter the two Russian officials had been observed trying to obtain secret information in Springfield, Mass., at the time the Russian leader was campaigning to sell the idea that the Soviets wanted peace.

Because of Khrushchev's presence in this country, Nixon said, the two were not apprehended at the time.

He declined to say whether they were picked up later.

Nixon cited the incident as a defense of this country's action in sending the U2 spy plane over Russia only a few days before the now-collapsed summit was to convene.

The FBI has declined comment on Nixon's statement and there has been no official Washington comment.

Police in Springfield said they were aware of the case but that it had been handled by the FBI.

Four Top Democrats Back President With Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four top Democrats backed President Eisenhower's hand at the abortive summit conference with a cablegram asking him to give Nikita Khrushchev their view that the Soviet Premier should reconsider his suggestion for postponement of the conference until after the U.S. elections.

The message, it was disclosed today, was sent to Eisenhower Tuesday with the signatures of: House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate.

Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956.

Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The message said: "As leaders of the Democratic party of the United States, we earnestly urge you to convey to Premier Khrushchev the views of the opposition party in your country that he reconsider his suggestion for postponement of the summit conference until after the national elections in this country. "We feel that total failure of the conference and increasing mistrust on both sides will be serious and deeply disturbing to the whole world."

"All of the American people earnestly desire peace, an end to the arms race and ever-better relations between our countries. We ask you as the leader of this nation to see that these views are conveyed to Mr. Khrushchev."

General reaction in Congress to the collapse of the summit meeting was that this country must alert its defense and maintain its strength.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, cautioned that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "erratic actions might precipitate the horror of a nuclear war."

Others, without minimizing the potential seriousness of the situation, spoke not of war but of the need for a calm reappraisal in the light of developments.

"It is not the end of the world," commented Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.). Urging calmness among the peoples on both sides, he said "there must be a cooling off period and a fresh start toward easing of international tensions."

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), like Humphrey a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said this country "must let the world know we will keep on trying to reach some agreements on disarmament and other problems in an effort to find peace."

But there was general agreement that the failure in Paris at least will increase cold war tensions.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), the Senate majority leader, made it clear that the country will stand behind President Eisenhower in the new crisis.

"We are going to have to dig in and maintain our unity and our sense of dedication to our freedom," Johnson said, "because it is obvious that the Soviets are going to do their best to test our nerves."

Russian Blames Eisenhower For Summit Failure

PARIS (AP)—Denouncing President Eisenhower, Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today the Western powers will lose the right to maintain troops in Berlin when the Soviet Union signs a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

He added this treaty will be signed "when we consider the time ripe."

Khrushchev spoke to a news conference following the end of the summit conference—broken up over Khrushchev's demand that Eisenhower apologize for the U2 flight into Russia and punish those responsible.

The Soviet Premier sought to throw full blame on the United States for the summit fiasco. He declared Eisenhower's assurance that there will be no more U.S. spy flights over the Soviet Union applies only to Eisenhower's remaining months in office.

"It is impossible to negotiate with the United States... if agreements made by one person become invalid when he is no longer in office," Khrushchev said.

Khrushchev accused the President of subterfuge in declaring that the flights over Russia have been called off and would not be resumed.

Eisenhower admitted to him in the summit meeting Monday, he said, that the next president would have to make his own decision on the issue.

The Soviet Premier was booed in the streets earlier today as he rode about making farewell calls.

The Soviet Premier in announcing his intention to sign a peace treaty with East Germany, said he simply planned to do with East Germany what the United States did with Japan.

"We fought in the war against Japan," he said. "The United States signed a treaty with Japan but we didn't."

The Soviet Union had the opportunity to share in the treaty with Japan but turned it down.

Maryland Is 6th Straight Primary Win For Kennedy

BALTIMORE (AP)—A record-breaking wave of votes in the Maryland primary propelled Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts closer to the Democratic presidential nomination today.

Reeling off his sixth straight primary victory, the Massachusetts senator outdrew the combined opposition almost 3-1.

With Maryland's 24, he now has an unofficial total of 294½ votes toward the 761 needed for nomination at the Democratic National Convention.

He and Sen. Wayne Morse, a distant runner-up in Tuesday's balloting, took up in another primary Friday, this time in Oregon, Morse's home territory.

Returns from 1,353 of 1,356 polling places showed these totals: Kennedy 200,252

Morse 49,225

The next biggest batch, 25,071, favored sending Maryland's delegation uncommitted to the July 11 convention.

The rest of the ballots were cast for two perennial also-rans who sometimes campaign in Uncle Sam suits—Lar Daly of Chicago with 7,497, and Andrew J. Easter of Baltimore with 3,853.

Candidates Will Add Sparkle To N.C. Convention

RALEIGH (AP)—Primary contests, with voting only ten days off, will add sparkle to the proceedings Thursday when North Carolina Democrats gather for their state convention.

If previous custom is followed supporters of the various candidates for governor and U.S. senator will stage demonstrations designed to persuade the throng their man is ahead.

The candidates themselves will be busy shaking hands and searching for votes. Sideline observers will try to size up sentiment of the 3,000 or so party faithful for an indication of how the races are developing.

The vanguard of the Democratic leaders and rank and file workers will be arriving today. The platform and resolutions committee was to meet this afternoon to iron out the platform it will offer to the convention.

Former State Sen. J. C. Eagles of Wilson, committee head, said the platform will be a brief document with a positive approach.

The convention will be called to order at noon Thursday by State Democratic Chairman Woodrow W. Jones of Rutherford. W. T. Joyner, Raleigh lawyer and veteran party leader, will give the keynote address, a task he also performed for the 1958 convention.

Twelve congressional district caucuses will be held before the convention. Each district gathering will nominate four delegates and two alternates to the national convention in Los Angeles this summer.

The convention itself will select 24 delegates and 12 alternates at large. The slate of 74 delegates will be rounded out by the state's national committeeman and committeewoman.

Peiping Brands Ike 'Warmonger'

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China called President Eisenhower a warmonger today. At the same time the Chinese Nationalists reported that the Reds—believed to have had a hand in wrecking the summit conference—are building up war material opposite Formosa.

Radio Peiping also said Vice President Richard M. Nixon used "the language of an aggressor" in defending U.S. espionage flights over the Soviet Union.

Nationalist China anxiously reported the Chinese Reds are moving a steady supply of war material to mainland areas close to the Nationalist-held offshore islands.

Official sources said Communist jet fighters and bombers have been moved to within easy range of Formosa, President Chiang Kai-shek's stronghold.

There has been widespread speculation that Red China's leader, Mao Tse-tung, persuaded Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to drop his soft line toward the West.

Seek New Site For Prison Camp

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Prison Commission is looking for possible sites as a new location for Camp Polk prison farm, but none is located in Lee County.

State Prisons Director George W. Randall gave this answer Tuesday to reports that property owners in northeastern Lee County had been contacted about possible sale of their land to the state for a prison camp.

Ston Kelly, chairman of the Lee County commission, called a public meeting for Thursday night at the county courthouse in Sanford to protest any such move.

However, Randall said no site in Lee County is being considered.

The prison commission launched its study of possible removal of Camp Polk, now situated near Cary in the path of Raleigh residential growth, in the face of mounting protests from citizens of the area.

Top Contest Award To ECC Student Editor

NEW YORK—Thomas T. Jackson, editor of East Carolina College's student newspaper, "The East Carolinian," was named winner of the Third Grand National Award in the McCall's College Newspaper Editors Contest.

Jackson will receive a $250 award.

The 20-year-old ECC junior won the award in competition against top collegiate entrants from some of the largest universities in the nation, including Harvard, Columbia, Ohio State, the University of Texas and many others.

He was cited for his editorial of April 28, in which he commented on charges made by Dr. Robert M. Hutchins in the current issue of McCall's magazine.

Jackson is from Godwin, N.C.

Hutchins, former Chancellor of the University of Chicago, is currently President of the Fund for the Republic.

In an article on the United States system of higher education, Hutchins stated that colleges should abolish "trivial" courses and devote themselves to educating "thinkers." Under this system of "pure education," he added, 50 per cent of all college students would not be qualified to attend.

BBC 'JAMMED'

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. said today jamming of its Russian language service had increased notably. The Russians stepped up jamming of voice of America broadcasts after they shot down the American spy plane on May Day.

Contributions

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Donors from the United States and other countries have contributed more than $4,000 to help 1,900 South Africans jailed as a result of the racial crisis. About $2,000 was collected in the United States.

Mail Collection Service Here Changed For Faster Deliveries

Previously, a letter mailed late Saturday night in a regular mail box was not delivered until Tuesday, Proctor said, pointing out the increased service of the new system.

In addition to the Sunday collection service from all mail boxes, Proctor said there will be a business collection from business boxes daily except Sundays at 4, 5 and 6 p.m. Formerly, there was one collection from business boxes at 6 p.m. daily.

Morse Insists Can Win Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts still talked scared—but ran confidently—in Oregon today after racking up an impressive victory in the Maryland Democratic presidential primary.

The victory impressed just about everybody but the victim, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon. He kept right on insisting that the winner-loser roles will be reversed when he and Kennedy collide again in the Oregon primary Friday.

Morse could be right. He has proved himself to be a tough man on his home grounds.

Kennedy told a reporter he will be satisfied if he comes out ahead of Sens. Stuart Symington of Missouri and Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who are on the Oregon ballot but not campaigning. He lists them, but not Morse, as serious contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota still is on the ballot, too, but no longer as a contender since the Kennedy bandwagon crushed him in West Virginia.

"It seems unlikely I will beat Morse," Kennedy told a reporter. "That would be a difficult thing to do."

Proctor pointed out that northern bound mail would especially be speeded up. Commenting on mail delivery from Greenville to New York, Proctor said that unless the mail was in a business box on weekdays by 5 p.m. it would not be picked up in time to meet the proper connections for delivery the next morning.

"We urge people to consult the time schedules on the individual box to determine the delivery and collection service," Proctor said.

He added that at the courtesy motor boxes, located across the street from the Post Office building here, mail is picked to meet every dispatch of out-of-town mail.

This schedule went into effect on Sunday and is the first time it has been used in Greenville, Proctor said. He commented that he is "pleased with the new collection schedule."

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The North Carolina Air National Guard begins a two-day, full wartime emergency alert Saturday morning.

More than 30 tactical pilots will fly missions against "enemy" targets—jets piloted by members of an inspection team.

Shelter Queries Follow Debate

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Failure of the Paris summit conference has swamped state Civil Defense headquarters with phone calls.

Officials said there have been so many queries on private bomb shelters and other precautions that it has been necessary to detail several employees just to handle the crush.

Gen. Norstad To Miss Meeting

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad's condition will prevent his attending Thursday's NATO Council meeting in Paris to hear reports on the collapse of the summit conference.

Norstad, the North Atlantic Alliance's supreme military commander in Europe, was hospitalized here May 8 after suffering a mild heart attack.

Church Honors Music Director

ROBERSONVILLE — Following a recent choir rehearsal, the members of the Christian Women's Fellowship honored Mrs. Irving L. Smith, director of music for 15 years.

A pink and white color scheme was used in the dining room where the guests assembled. The table, covered with a pink cloth, had a center arrangement of flowers flanked by pink candles in crystal holders.

The highlight of the party came when an electric organ for the chapel was presented in honor of Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Budacz Given Shower

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Wiley B. Rogerson entertained 30 neighbors at a surprise kitchen shower Wednesday afternoon honoring Mrs. Julius Budacz, the former Miss Judy Highsmith.

The hostess greeted the guests at the door. She presented the March bride a corsage of small kitchen utensils and inserted rosebuds.

A basket of gifts was placed on the floor. After the packages were unwrapped and the contents displayed, the callers were invited into the dining room.

The table, covered with a green cloth, was centered with a bowl of fruit. Vases of peonies completed the decorations. The refreshments consisted of ham biscuits, cheese straws, rosettes, sand tarts, potato chips with cheese dip, pickles, mints, and cold drinks.

Roses were used for decorations in the living room and den where the guests assembled.

Miss Brannan Party Honoree

Miss Rose Brannan, of Kenly and East Carolina College, was honored Thursday at a miscellaneous bridal shower given by Mrs. Norwell Pierce and Mrs. William Reading at the home of the latter.

The bride-elect was greeted by her dormitory "sisters" and friends. She was presented a corsage of white roses by the hostesses. Throughout the house, bridal flowers were artfully arranged.

After opening her gifts, Miss Brannan was invited into the dining room, where she served the bridal cake from the food-laden table. Mrs. W. E. Roseveare, the prospective mother-in-law, served coffee.

Goodbyes were said to Mrs. Reading.

Tea Fetes Brides-Elect

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Herbert Pope, Mrs. Philip Keel and Mrs. Paul Roberson honored Miss Ruthie McArthur and Miss Emma Nell Everett at a tea given in the Country Club in Williamston Saturday afternoon.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Keel, Mrs. Pope and the brides-elect. The honorees wore blue party dresses and held pink nosegays.

Mrs. Roberson invited the callers into the lounge where the table was covered with white organdy over green. Mixed spring flowers and silver candelabra with lighted white tapers centered the table. Mrs. McArthur poured the punch while Mrs. Everett cut the cake.

Mrs. George Glenn Edmond, Mrs. Wallace Roberson and Miss Frances Jenkins assisted in serving cheese straws, chicken salad in party shells, mints and salted nuts.

Mrs. J. Irving Taylor of Bethel, Miss Martha Pope and Miss Helen Everett of Robersonville entertained with a musical program in a room decorated with roses, peonies and verbenas.

Mrs. Clinton House and Mrs. Claude L. Greene Sr., mothers of the prospective bridegrooms, presided at the registers and said goodbyes to approximately 150 friends.

Dress Fabrics Should Have 3 Characteristics

RALEIGH—Fabric that holds its shape, resists wrinkling and is colorfast—that's what women want in dresses. These are the three most-wanted characteristics of dress fabrics.

Miss Mary Em Lee, clothing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says that in shopping for work and street dresses, women give more attention to such practical questions as amount of shrinkage and ease of cleaning than when they buy party dresses. Color and style count more than durability in a dress for special occasions. When it comes to price, women expect a more expensive dress to hold its shape better, last longer, wrinkle less, and have better style and workmanship than a less expensive dress.

Miss Lee says that the U. S. Department of Agriculture conducted a survey and found that homemakers considered cotton the most versatile fiber, suitable for all types of summer wear and for many uses in winter also. For winter wear in town or for special occasions, they favored wool.

With Farm Women

By MAIDRED MORRIS
 (Items this week from Forsyth, Watauga, Perquimans, Caldwell, Sampson, and Bertie Counties.)
Cookie Days
 The 4-H'ers in Forsyth County made about 800 individual contacts with persons in Winston-Salem recently when they passed out cookies in local restaurants during National 4-H Club Week.
 Mrs. Carolyn Russell, assistant home economics agent, reports the girls baked the cookies shaped like four leaf clovers and wrapped them in cellophane. A tag was stapled on each with the theme for the week on it. In order to get good quality as well as a large quantity of cookies, a contest was planned. Oia Smith won first place.
Garden Month
 Do you take soil samples in your garden? Home Demonstration Club women in Watauga County have found that it is important to take samples in their garden plots. Each member received a box so they could take their own soil samples.
 "If an average home garden for a family of five people is valued at $441, gardens produced by farm families in Watauga County could be worth over one million dollars," said Miss Jean Childers, home economics agent. Five hundred bulletins were passed out giving information on varieties best suited for the area, recommended amounts of fertilizer, and planting times.
Cake Decorating
 One of the active Home Demonstration leaders in Perquimans County went over to neighboring Tyrrell County and presented a demonstration on cake decorating. Mrs. Ann Davenport, home economics agent, reports that 31 women attended the workshop.
 Being a real artist at cake decorating, Mrs. J. E. Wood Jr. demonstrated equipment needed, and gave the women a chance to experiment with the equipment.
Small Fruit Production
 The 4-H council in Caldwell County is sponsoring a small fruit production project. Orders for 22,000 strawberry plants were obtained, and the three certified varieties, Pochontas, Albrighton, and Tennessee Beauty, were delivered in March. Five varieties of grapevines, totaling 375 plants, were ordered and delivered.
 Mrs. Catherine H. Palmer, home economics agent, reports that more than 300 families will have small fruits in their gardens for canning, preserving, freezing, and eating while fresh.
New Fabric Finishes
 Mrs. C. J. Mercer of the North Clinton Club in Sampson County is convinced that spot and stain resistant finish is just what it says.
 After seeing a drop of Wesson Oil dropped on dress material and roll right off, and then a drop put on a piece of untreated fabric which soaked in, Mrs. Mercer was ready to buy the treated type of material.
 Mrs. Virginia B. Evins, home economics agent, discussed different types of finishes as well as the new textile law which has just gone into effect.

Woman's Colleges May Provide Nurseries For Married Students

By DOROTHY ROE
 AP Women's Editor
 The time may come when women's colleges will provide day nurseries to care for the children of married students, says Dr. Mary I. Bunting, who will be inaugurated May 19 as the fifth president of Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass.
 "We must find some way of encouraging girls to continue their education, even though they marry and have babies before graduation," says Dr. Bunting.
 Dr. Bunting, who has been dean of Douglass college, a division of Rutgers university at New Brunswick, N.J., for the last five years, says, "The national epidemic of youthful marriages is one of the gravest problems facing American colleges. She does not condemn the trend, but says colleges must adjust to a new situation.
 "Our girls today face complex problems," says Dr. Bunting. "This year's girl high school graduates must look forward to working outside the home for 25 years, according to statements of the U. S. Department of Labor. "Many will marry before they are old enough to be graduated from college, will start raising families and will not look ahead to the time when they must return to work. If they are to make the most of their abilities, they must have the education and training necessary for interesting and responsible jobs."
 As chairman of the U. S. Commission on the Education of Women last year, Dr. Bunting aired some strong views on the nation's responsibility toward developing the vast potential of women's talents.
 "It's a matter of course these days that men's education and job training continues almost indefinitely, first at colleges and universities, later in business and professional organizations," she said. "But the matter of women's education has been taken too lightly, by both educators and students."
 Dr. Bunting is the widow of the late Dr. Harry Bunting of the Yale School of Medicine, holds a Ph. D. in the field of microbiology and has taught at Michigan, Goucher and Wellesley colleges and Yale university. She has a 19-year-old daughter, Mary, and three sons: Charles, 17; William, 15; and John, 12.

Looking For Outdoor Furniture?

RALEIGH — The popularity of indoor-outdoor living has mushroomed in chain-reaction fashion. Already the living patterns of nearly 150 million people are being modified in varying degrees by this new concept.
 This veritable explosion of interest in new patterns of living has created a lively market for outdoor furniture and equipment for outdoor lounging, cooking, and eating.
 If you are looking for outdoor furniture, try to get "all-weather." It does not include chairs and chaise lounges with cushions covered with water-repellent fabrics that are not literally wa-

Stretching Dollars

RALEIGH — Strawberries are now making headlines with peak supplies expected to reach the markets next week. Good quality berries are expected this season.
 Valencia oranges are exceptionally good while Navel supplies are dwindling. Florida watermelons are increasing in volume with bulk production expected in May. Banana quality and prices are excellent. California cherries are beginning to reach fruit counters.
 Watch for specials on canned peaches and cranberries.
 Mrs. Ruby P. Uzzle, consumer marketing specialist for the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service, says you can take your choice in red meats from beef, pork, or lamb while supplies are large. Best buys in pork include shoulder roasts, loins, hams, and sausage. Consider a whole loin for roasts and chops in a quantity cut at real savings.
 Beef specials are anticipated at many markets. Chuck roast and ground beef continue as economy buys. Consider pork and beef products in canned form to add variety and economy to the meat budget.
 Watch for large supplies of fresh vegetables at low prices. In good supply are salad greens, onions, sweet potatoes, carrots, cabbage, radishes, lettuce and celery. Tomato and cucumber supplies are increasing.
 Poultry products of high quality remain at attractive prices for the food shopper. Egg prices are down slightly—time to include extra eggs in casserole and salad dishes. Outdoor cooking season means more fryers in market. Turkeys and heavy hens are adequate for consumer demand.

Population Shift Is Very Evident

With preliminary census figures reported for seven of the nine incorporated towns in Pitt County, the continuing population shift from rural areas into small and large towns is evident.

While Pitt County's towns gained more than 9,600 people during the ten-year period, the rural areas of the county saw their population decline by some 4,000 people during the same period of time.

Whereas ten years ago approximately 60 per cent of Pitt County's total population lived in rural areas and some over 39 per cent lived in incorporated towns, the picture has changed. The 1960 census figures reflect the fact that today the 69,433 people living in Pitt County are almost equally divided between those who live in incorporated towns and those who live in strictly rural areas. For the first time, slightly more than half the county's population lives within the corporate limits of one of the towns of the county.

The population shift of the county is further emphasized by the fact that while seven of the nine incorporated towns of the county showed a population growth of more than 9,600 during the ten-year period from 1950 to 1960, the overall county population increased only 5,000. It means, of course, that some 4,000 people who lived outside municipalities in the county in 1950 either moved out of the county or into a town during the decade.

To some extent, the inclusion of more area in the corporate limits of the towns during the period affected the change in the population figures. For the most part, however, the loss of population in the rural parts of Pitt County must be attributed to economic factors which have played heavily on the county's agriculture during the decade.

It is no secret that reduction in crop allotments, changes in agricultural practices and mechanization of farming operations have eliminated quite a number of farm jobs in the county in the past ten years. It has happened not only in Pitt County, but throughout the agricultural area of Eastern Carolina. Many people put out of farm jobs by this changing economic picture moved into the towns in quest of work.

Even in the face of this population shift that has taken place within the county, it must not be overlooked that Pitt has attracted new people during the past decade. Otherwise there would not have been a net increase of more than 5,600 in the total county population.

No Doubt Now We'll Face Time Of Crises

With the summit conference abandoned as a total flop before it could begin, the eyes of the world now shift back to divided Berlin where the next major international crisis is expected to develop.

The big questions are: What does Khrushchev have in mind for Berlin? Will he sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany? Will he increase pressure for the abandonment of West Berlin by the Allies?

And there follows, of course, the equally important question, What will the Allies do about Khrushchev's next move?

It would not be amiss to expect a Soviet attempt to block off West Berlin to the Western Big Three. In that event the Allies either must insist on their rights to the divided city and risk conflict to retain the city, or they must capitulate to Soviet demands.

The next few months will be highlighted by a new Soviet move to intimidate the West and gain new victories through demands, threats and coercion. For the West to give any indication that it will back down from its stated position would only serve to invite more Soviet pressure in the important game of international politics.

That we face a time of crisis, there can be no doubt.

Unless the West is firmly united for the crisis, the free world is bound to lose important ground to the Soviets in the months which lie ahead.

Shock Was In Way He Did It

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The shock was not only in Premier Nikita Khrushchev's insulting treatment of President Eisenhower at the summit in Paris, but in the way he did it and the question it raised: Why?

He may have exploited the whole episode of the American spy-plane downed over the Soviet Union—the point on which he torpedoed the summit meeting Monday — to prepare the world for some drastic Soviet action coming soon.

One such possible action would be a blockade of Berlin. Eisenhower himself said after his meeting with Khrushchev broke up that the Soviet leader had come all the way from Moscow to Paris to sabotage the conference.

Khrushchev made three demands on the President: that Eisenhower promise there would be no more American spy flights; that the President apologize for letting the one spy plane fly over the U.S.S.R.; and that he punish those directly responsible for that flight.

Eisenhower promised there would be no more spy flights. He ignored the other two demands. He had to, and Khrushchev knew it before he made them for a couple of very obvious reasons.

The State Department had previously reported the spy flights were being carried out with Eisenhower's general approval. So the President could hardly punish anyone for doing what he wanted done.

But since Khrushchev wanted no summit meeting at all, unless Eisenhower met his demands, why didn't he just stay home in Moscow, lay down his demands, and announce he wouldn't go to Paris at all unless Eisenhower did what he wanted?

That's what he could have done if he had wished to avoid making a shambles and spectacle of the summit. But he did the opposite. Trying to humiliate Eisenhower in a face-to-face meeting was really rubbing salt in a wound.

He already had the United States in one of its worst embarrassments in years because of its fumbling over the Berlin plane. So the mildest conclusions which can be drawn from what he did in Paris are these:

1. He wanted to wring the last ounce of propaganda out of the plane incident. The summit, with the whole world watching, was the ideal place for it.

2. He wanted to humiliate the United States — which is the chief defender of the West — in the most spectacular way.

But Khrushchev's whole performance on the plane incident, from start to finish, has been one of rising fury. There's no reason to think all he wants is propaganda and humiliation for America.

He has now pictured the Soviet Union, in the eyes of the world, as a deeply injured party, the victim of aggression.

Thus he has laid the groundwork for some kind of Soviet retaliation which he probably would explain as necessary to protect the Communist world against further American arrogance and aggression. Blockading Berlin is the first prospect that comes to mind.

If it hadn't been for Berlin — meaning Khrushchev's threats to shut it off — there would have been no summit conference at all. The West agreed to hold the meeting in an effort to deal with Khrushchev peacefully and avoid any chance of war.

He had demanded the Western Allies get their troops out of West Berlin. The West has to send supplies to them and the people of the city over rail, road, and water routes routes controlled by Communists. The city is 110 miles inside East Germany.

Since the war the Soviets have controlled those routes. Khrushchev has warned that the troops are withdrawing, he'll sign a separate peace treaty with the East Germans and let them control the supply lanes.

The East Germans have no muscle of their own. They'd do nothing unless told to by Khrushchev. If he told them to blockade the city, they could do it while he pretended it was the East Germans acting.

This would be pretty thin. But suppose the land blockade started and the West tried to airlift supplies to Berlin and its planes were shot down. Would the West then try to smash its way through?

That would mean war, limited or all out. But would the Western Allies in Europe be willing to chance annihilation by Soviet rockets in order to save West Berlin? Probably not. Yet, if they didn't, their alliance would almost certainly fall apart.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THE WISDOM OF HAPPINESS

The town we live in must be full of very wise people. It is not a large town, yet among its residents are most of the faculty members of two colleges. One cannot push a grocery cart through the supermarket without bumping into half a dozen Ph.D.'s, and practically every third house is the home of a noted expert on Old French poetry, the heredity factors in the fruit fly, or the molecular properties of rare elements.

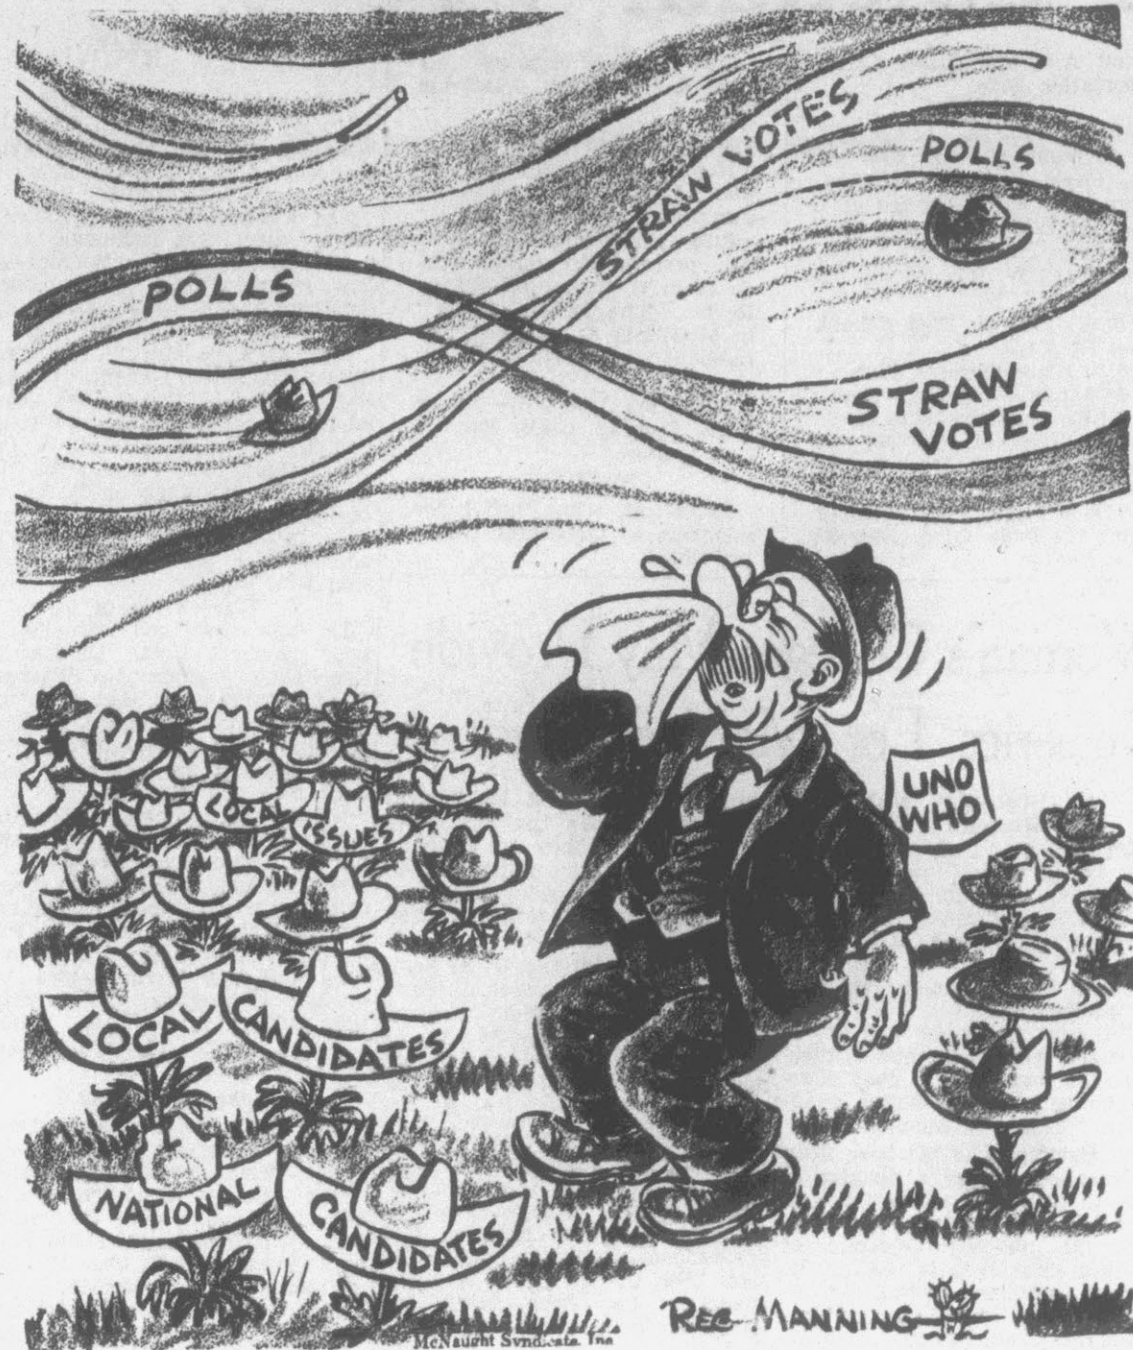

With so many wise citizens, our town should be an extraordinarily happy one. Yet my observation is that it's inhabitants are not distinctly happier than those of other towns. And what is perhaps more surprising yet, the happiest and most useful citizens do not always seem to be the most learned ones.

Wisdom and learning do not necessarily bring happiness. Great knowledge alone is not valuable to its possessor when it is not properly oriented to God and to one's fellow men. Scholars who have not sought humility along with their other researchers are sometimes proud, vain, unsympathetic, self-centered—and as a consequence unhappy. Neither does fame guarantee happiness; many a renowned authority, distinguished in the public eye, is miserable in his home life and his personal relations.

Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness.

And it came to pass that Man and the sons of Man came into the world with two hands; one of which was known as the "right" and its companion the "left."

And Lo, To protect these precious extremities from the ravages of bruise, blister, cut and scratch, a device was devised, known as a glove.

And from the beginning There was one glove for the right hand and one for the left. In the marketplace, when one would purchase or barter for a glove to be used in occasional labors about the household, one could not purchase one glove (for the right hand) without also purchasing another glove for the left hand. . . so strong had the two-glove custom gripped the populace.

But there lived one in the land whose private life flaunted conventions in that during much of his chores he wore but one glove, and that on his right hand.

"Why" quoth he in all simplicity, "should I wear two gloves when on hands and knees I crawl hither and yon, with trimming shears in my hand, snipping a stray blade of grass here, and another there, until my lawn is trim and neat? Why wear two when one will do? 'Tis my right hand I needs must guard against painful blisters."

There was a time only a few years ago when college representatives went around to the various high schools and tried to induce students to enroll in this college or that college. That day is gone, because at this very moment we have more students applying for admission next September than the colleges of North Carolina can possibly admit. Therefore, the responsibility is present to eliminate those whose academic records in high schools are such that they might not be able to do college work.

With the increase in the number seeking admissions has come a raising of standards to a point where many are being eliminated. We are almost witnessing a renaissance in education today.

With many problems, many challenges, and great responsibilities, the matter of honor becomes almost secondary. Education is a personal thing, and it must remain that way. Each boy and each girl must acquire the educations to the best of their abilities.

East Carolina college is in good hands, because Dr. Jenkins is a man who will keep human values ever on high, a man who will accept his responsibilities to the fullest, and a man who will work hard to keep ECC in the forefront in today's world of education.

In truth That is the way he has went to do.

But along that way he met Misfortune.

For it was in the nature of things that with frequent arduous use the one glove should become worn and eventually torn, and be discarded.

For silver he obtained more gloves; one for the right hand and one for the left; and for months he toiled away, largely with his right glove, using the left only when infrequently called to use shovel or axe.

Again, The right glove became first soiled, then worn away until it became unfit for even the City Dump. So it was buried.

Yet again the marketplace was visited for a new glove; and again the purchaser returned with his dwelling with two (one for the right hand, and one for the left).

And our teller removed his unending tale pausing once in the heat of the day to remove his one glove (from the right hand) to find some solace from that weed known as tobacco.

It was at this point a four-footed friend, with wagging tail, did sneak up and make off with the idling glove; and when pursued did flee to distant parts.

On returning for his supper, this deceptive friend fawned and cooed so convincingly that his glove was not refused.

Though the missing glove was not forthcoming.

FOR TRADE: three slightly-used work gloves (for left hand), for three slightly-used work gloves (for the right hand).

Other Editors Saying Exceeding The Honor

(Washington Daily News) East Carolina College in Greenville has just installed a new president. Dr. Leo Jenkins is now at the helm of that great institution.

When we read about the installation of a college president, there is a tendency for many to say that a great honor has come to the individual. And it is a great honor to be the president of such an institution. The position carried high prestige, and the man so honored is pointed to an individual whose advice and counsel are respected.

Honor is one aspect of holding the position of president in a college. But the responsibility which goes with the job exceeds the honor. We do not mean to pinpoint the responsibility definitely.

There are many challenges facing the head of East Carolina college. If the president is to accept these challenges and do the best he can for his institution, then the responsibility usually mount. If the president is not willing to meet the challenges and accept the responsibilities, then the powers that we have made a mistake in selecting the president.

Knowing Dr. Leo Jenkins as we do, we have every confidence in his ability and leadership. We are confident that East Carolina college will continue to move forward with rapid strides in the acceptance of its responsibilities in a world in which educational values are stronger than ever before.

In East Carolina college we have one of the larger educational schools in North Carolina. Particularly, we can point, as we already have many times, to the role it is playing right here in our own area. Hundreds of boys and girls are being given the opportunity to get college educations which might be denied if the college were not close by.

Opinions In Brief

"If no wheat at all were grown next year, there would still be enough left over to meet the needs in this country, plus all export needs, and on July 1, 1961, there would be around 350 million bushels left over. There is enough on hand to make 450 loaves of bread for every man, woman and child in the United States." — Johnson City (Tenn.) Press-Chronicle.

"Less than one-fourth of agricultural produce gets as much as one red cent of governmental subsidy—only 45 of the 256 farm commodities have had price support in its 27-year span and only 21 are now being supported." — Sarasota (Fla.) Herald Tribune.

"I shall never be able to understand the long neglect of Herbert Hoover, no matter what the events and circumstances of his Administration were. How history may eventually assess his Administration we ought to leave to history. Politically and economically, Hoover and I are on opposite sides on basic issues. But I hold him in high esteem as a man of character and capacity and talent, and he deserved better treatment at the hands of his own party. I thought, too, that President Roosevelt might have invited him to join the bipartisan group so wisely set up to administer the war effort."

Harry Truman's judgment of Herbert Hoover is sound, as anyone who knows the former President well recognizes. Hoover, at 85, is as keen-minded as any man I know. Truman Likes Hoover

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Harry Truman is forthright. What he wants to say, he says. The diversions of diplomacy, the twists of small talk seem not to interest him at all. In an article in "Look" magazine, he describes vividly how General Dwight D. Eisenhower snubbed him on Inauguration Day. And Harry is like an elephant. Every attempt to reconcile Truman and Eisenhower has failed. It is to be remembered that Truman had appointed Eisenhower to high office. To a practical politician, such as Truman always is, Eisenhower is an ingrate—an awful word among politicians.

At any rate, in the "Look" article, Truman goes out of his way to point up Eisenhower as a rude, boorish person, lacking in propriety and respect. Then, by way of contrast, he lauds Herbert Hoover.

Regarding Hoover, Truman says: "I shook hands with President Eisenhower and said good-bye to him. As I walked toward the exit, I went over to former President Herbert Hoover and greeted him. Mr. Hoover said, 'I think you're the best American former Presidents' club.'"

"Fine," I replied. "You be the president of the club, and I will be the secretary."

"Without any formality, we have managed to keep in touch with each other since. Despite our basic political differences, we have respect for each other, and our relationship has always been in the best American tradition. Our Republic certainly has grown mature enough for men in high places to rise above petulance, and to subordinate their capriciousness to their obligations as elected officials."

Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman developed a friendship which was most interesting. Hoover, who is a very sensitive person, could never quite understand how his friend, Truman, in a campaign speech, could say some pretty awful things about Hoover. Nevertheless, the friendship has persisted. During the Truman Administration, Hoover, who had been ignored by Franklin D. Roosevelt as though he did not exist, was twice employed in most serious efforts.

The Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, usually called the Hoover Commission, has been closest to President Hoover's heart and to the devoted several years of his life at a very advanced age. It made Herbert Hoover happy to be restored to public activity. He worked on the Hoover Commission constantly and its reports are models of competent investigation. Truman speaks of Hoover's relief work:

"Mr. Hoover did a magnificent job for our country and for other nations, in helping to prevent the starvation of millions of people. And when his work was taken up by the relevant government agencies, he expressed a readiness to assume any other tasks I thought he could perform for the Government of the United States."

Summarizing his views on Hoover, Truman says:

"I shall never be able to understand the long neglect of Herbert Hoover, no matter what the events and circumstances of his Administration were. How history may eventually assess his Administration we ought to leave to history. Politically and economically, Hoover and I are on opposite sides on basic issues. But I hold him in high esteem as a man of character and capacity and talent, and he deserved better treatment at the hands of his own party. $100,000 Outlay For Refurnishing White House Pending In Congress

By GEOFFREY GOULD
WASHINGTON (AP) — How would you like to move into a 57-room apartment with 16 baths, extra kitchens, five elevators and a solarium, all rent free and fully staffed by servants?

And how would you like to be presented with $75,000 to redecorate it any way you wanted?

If this prospect pleases, you'd better start running for president. For this apartment is in the White House, and it will be the personal living quarters of the next chief executive.

A bill is pending in Congress providing $100,000 for refurnishing the mansion to the taste of the next incumbent. But $25,000 is for an exterior paint job, and there isn't much choice of color there.

The White House is 160 years old. The Patina of American history clings to it and tradition decrees that much of it must remain unchanged.

The main floor, restored in 1902 to early elegance, is sacrosanct. So is the bedroom of Abraham Lincoln and the Rose Room, where visiting royalty has slept.

But each president and his first lady are free to indulge their taste in the extensive second and third floor private quarters. Some of these passing moods and vagaries.

In President James Monroe's time, the classic designs of Adam, Sheraton, Hepplewhite, Louis XVI and French Empire were the thing. Some of these priceless antiques still grace the state rooms downstairs.

But Congress was suspicious of these foreign imports. In the 1820s it passed a law requiring the White House to buy American "as far as practicable."

With that loophole, you can imagine the result. Martin Van Buren was bitterly assailed for surrounding himself with "costly flipperies of Europe."

Rough-hewn Andrew Jackson also felt the lash of the opposition for foreign elegance, even though he thrifflily laid in 20 American-made cuspidors for only $2.

In the second half of the 19th century the Victorian mode set in. The light, graceful lines of the early days gave way more and more to massive sideboards, more to massive sideboards, ers, horsehair sofas, curlicues and gingerbread.

When Chester A. Arthur succeeded to office in 1881, upon the assassination of James Garfield, he swept out 24 cartloads of motley junk and ordered it sold at public auction.

He ordained a lavish decor of heavy gold wallpaper, plush draperies, and a much-admired opalescent glass screen for the entrance hall.

Energetic Teddy Roosevelt caused the next upheaval in 1902. He divided the White House into three areas — administrative, domestic and formal — and it remains so to the present day. The state rooms reverted to the early classic period.

In the private quarters succeeding presidents and their ladies sought to add a touch of individuality and home. Mrs. William H. Taft installed Oriental teakwood furniture and screens from the Philippines.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge raised the roof of the third floor to create the solarium, or family "sky parlor." Mrs. Herbert Hoover converted a wide corridor to a sitting room, and strewed it with bright Latin American rugs.

The Franklin Roosevelt clan took over with personal trophies and collections.

But it was the Harry Trumans who saw the White House through its greatest change.

At a glittering reception in 1948, someone noticed a chandelier swaying in a peculiar manner. An investigation disclosed that the White House was almost falling apart.

The Trumans moved over to Blair House and engineers and structural steel workers moved in. Whole floors were ripped out and shored up with steel beams and then replaced.

The White House was totally rebuilt inside—and Harry Truman added the famous back porch.

U. S. People-To-People Program Will Be Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States intends to press ahead with its people-to-people exchange program with the Soviet Union despite the blow-up of the summit conference.

The State Department will suspend the program, however, if American public opinion becomes hostile to the idea of welcoming Soviet visitors.

Top officials, watching for repercussions to Nikita Khrushchev's anti-American tirade, reported there was no sign yet that visits by Soviet delegations would be presented.

The officials detected no sign at this time that Americans visiting the Soviet Union under the program would meet with a less-than-friendly treatment. A delegation of American railroad experts is due to leave Thursday for a Soviet tour. Visas for the group have not yet arrived but authorities said this need not be a reflection of cold war tensions.

American delegations occasionally have left for Moscow before visas were provided by the Soviet Embassy. In such cases, visas were picked up en route either at the Soviet Embassy in Paris or in Copenhagen or Helsinki.

The only Soviet visitor now in the United States under the exchange program is Nina V. Popova. She is chairman of the Presidium of the Union of Soviet Societies for Friendship and Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries.

The Soviet Embassy is giving a reception in her honor Thursday evening. Numerous State Department officials have been invited.

Department officers who keep in day-to-day contact with Soviet Embassy diplomats on the program reported there was no sign of any lessening of enthusiasm; on the Soviet side. Talks have been friendly, with the Soviets indicating they intend to carry out the full two years of exchanges.

Some 3,000 Soviet and American scientists, industrial managers, education specialists, entertainers, and other specialists are due to travel back and forth under the program which expires at the end of 1961.

Apperception Is Slowed By Age

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Gals, don't try to fool Dr. Hans Hahn of Transylvania College. He's likely to learn your age anyhow.

He told a safety conference that the speed of apperception—recognition of objects—slows as a person grows older, and that a woman of 50 who takes his tests needn't claim she is 35.

Her speed of reaction to a flashing red light or buzzer will give her away.

books which are published one after the other each year. Retired from active partisan politics, his influence grows each year as, more and more, his juniors ask his advice.

Harry Truman is much in the same position on the Democratic side. What our system proves is that high-minded men can campaign against each other, oppose each other, hold differing views and live in friendship. It is not that they do not take their politics seriously; it is that they recognize that hatred, bigotry, retaliation are not desirable qualities in a free society.

'It Was Like A Wake' When The End Came

By RELMAN MORIN

PARIS (AP) — It was like a wake when the end came.

By Tuesday night very few people clung to the hope that the summit conference, somehow, might be salvaged. It was a foregone conclusion, after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev declined to attend the afternoon meeting with the Western Big Three, that the conference was dead.

When the correspondents assembled for the news conference "funeral," a hush settled over the great hall in the Palais de Chaillot, the main press headquarters. The electric excitement of the past 48 hours vanished.

There was no crowding, no rush for seats, no trading of the latest rumors. The cameramen mechanically went through the motions of setting up equipment, taking measurements of light and distance.

It was all anticlimactic. Almost unnoticed, White House press secretary James Hagerty came into the room and went up to the stage. Andrew Berding, assistance secretary of state, took a chair beside him.

Hagerty began to read the statement prepared by the three western heads of government. His voice was low. Correspondents all over the room yelled, "Can't hear you."

Candidates' Paths Lead To Raleigh And Demo Session

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Political paths lead to Raleigh today where delegates to the state Democratic convention are gathering in advance of their session Thursday.

Before they head into the capital city, candidates in primary races will get in campaigning elsewhere in the state. All of them will be in Raleigh Thursday.

John D. Larkins, state Democratic national committeeman as well as candidate for governor, will meet with supporters in Montgomery, Lee and Moore counties. He's due in Raleigh tonight.

Malcolm B. Seawell will seek votes for his bid for governor in Robeson County.

I. Beverly Lake will swing through Catawba County, go to Winston-Salem for a television appearance (7 p.m.), then attend a rally in Greensboro.

Terry Sanford will take his meet-the-voters campaigning into Hoke County, then head for Raleigh in the afternoon.

Addison Hewlett, Wilmington lawyer running for the U.S. Senate, will be busy in Henderson and Vance County. Sen. B. Everett Jordan, seeking a new term, will campaign in the Charlotte and Gaston County area before making a trip to Raleigh.

Larkins, Trenton lawyer, told supporters in Charlotte he is convinced the state "will have to live within its present tax structure during the next four years." However, Larkins said he felt this would permit 15 per cent pay raises for school personnel, plus progress in other fields.

Seawell, Lumberton native who has served as Superior Court judge and solicitor, told a joint meeting of Gibsonville civic clubs he is disturbed by the public school stands taken by two opponents.

He asserted that Sanford has insinuated North Carolina has "a second or third rate system of public education," and he charged that Lake's position on racial segregation could result in closed schools.

Meanwhile, Lake returned to the attack on the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in a Charlotte television speech. As governor, the Raleigh lawyer said he would "do all in my power to keep in the minds of the people of this state the consciousness of racial heritage."

Sanford, handshaking in Robeson County, said he will keep his campaign on a high level. The governor's office, he added, "should not be degraded by smears and low-level campaign tactics."

Hewlett told a Louisburg College Young Democrats audience that peace is the principal need of the times. He urged that the nation take a positive approach in the wake of the Paris summit conference failure.

Buried In Sand, Pipe Brings Air

BOYDS, Md. (AP) — A young laborer was buried in sand for 45 minutes Tuesday, but rescuers kept him alive with a pipe that fed him vital fresh air.

Charles L. Ashbaugh, 19, of Middletown was treated for shock and exposure.

He accidentally was buried in a sand hopper at the M. J. Grove Lime Co. plant but luckily there was a small air space around his mouth. Fellow workers lowered a pipe to him until he could be dug out.

President James A. Garfield was a preacher in the Disciples of Christ Church.

Summer School Requirements Set

Principal O. E. Dowd of Junius H. Rose High School has announced requirements for summer school students and the courses which will be offered.

Courses will be offered in English, math and history, and in driver's education for students who are near 16 years of age beginning June 7 and lasting from four to six weeks. Courses offered will be determined by subjects students wish to take, Dowd said.

High school students will be offered work for the following reasons: to make up work they are retarded in; to offer work to qualified students who are doing accelerating work; to allow students to take additional work to lighten their courses for the following year and give them opportunity to take other subjects.

All courses are given in the mornings and students remain in class three or four hours. Only one new course may be taken in summer school and two courses if the student is retarded. Nominal fees will be charged for this work. However, the driver's education course is free.

Junius H. Rose High School students are registering now for this course. Students other than those of Rose High School will have to have permission from their principals to attend summer school, Dowd said. They should contact the high school office within the next week.

Trying To Loose Church Money

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Trustees of a church founded by Negro preacher Charles M. (Sweet Daddy) Grace are trying to spring loose more than a million dollars the Internal Revenue Service has tied up.

They filed a suit in U. S. District Court Tuesday, claiming that the funds belong to the church and not the late evangelist who died in January. Trustees represent the House of Prayer for All People.

The government filed tax liens against Grace, who had a wide following. At stake is $78,922 which church trustees said it deposited in Baltimore banks and $1,055,271 received from the sale of some New York property.

East Carolina Wins North State Title With Sweep

By JOHNNY HUDSON
Reflector Sports Editor

East Carolina College embraced its second consecutive North State baseball crown and fourth in the last six years here yesterday afternoon by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from High Point College, 7-5 and 10-5.

The victories in the twinbill raised ECC's conference record to 12-2—just a tad off the 14-0 pace set in 1959. Catawba finished in second place with a 13-3 record. Gullford, a victim of over 40 runs by EC in two games last season, failed to schedule the Pirates this season.

The Pirates went on a homer-happy binge in their final action, socking three four-baggers in the double bill. Jerry Carpenter, lone senior on the club, blasted a three-run out-of-the-perk round-tripper to spark the first game victory.

Glenn Bass hit a four-bagger in the first inning of the second game, highlighting a five-run rally, and Wally Cockrell sent one out of eight in the eighth when East Carolina scored four more runs.

Larry Crayton came on in relief to pick up the first-game victory, his ninth win of the season. Starter Nathan Green got credit for the second game victory, although needing help from Ken-ny Snyder and Johnny Ellen.

Things were looking grim for East Carolina in the first game after three innings. The Panthers, determined to upset the Pirate apple cart, jumped into a 4-0 lead.

In the bottom half of the fourth frame, East Carolina, assisted by two High Point errors, came through with six runs. Carpenter's homer—his first of the season—climaxed the rally.

High Point added a single run in the fifth and ECC added another tally in the seventh.

Crayton, pitching the last six innings, ripped the early inning offensive blooming of High Point to a bud. He allowed only three hits and struck out eight.

Charlie Johnson, continuing a hot hitting streak, banged out three hits, including a double, in the first game.

In the second game, East Carolina scored five runs in the first inning but had to smother a High Point uprising in the late innings and stage another attack of their own to sew up the game and North State title.

A triple by Jimmy Martin and Bass inside-the-park homer were the big blows in the five-run first inning.

High Point batted back with a three-run spurt in the third. After the Pirates had picked up a single tally in the fourth, the visiting Panthers rallied for two more runs in the eighth, cutting the EC lead to 6-5.

Johnny Ellen, first game starter, became a "fireman" in the second tilt. The Garner right-hander came on in the eighth after two runs had crossed the plates, runners on first and second, and only one out. Ellen struck out the next two men, pulling EC out of the jam.

An error, back-to-back singles by Spencer Gaylord and Carpenter, and Cockrell's homer provided four runs in the bottom half of the eighth and gave Ellen a cushion to work on in the ninth.

Gaylord banged out four hits in five official trips to the plate to pace the second game victory. Bass had two hits with both going for extra bases.

BLOND NETTER—John West, East Carolina senior, captured the North State singles title yesterday and teamed with Blarney Tanner to win the conference doubles crown. West sparked the Pirates to the team trophy.

Farmville Drops Tug Of War Over Tourney Site

PHARMVILLE—Farmville's semi-pro baseball team dropped a couple of games in the Bright Belt League this weekend to Gardners, 8-0 and 8-5.

Max Webb pitched a two-hitter in the Saturday night win and Gardners capitalized on nine errors to win the Sunday affair although being outhit 10-5 by Farmville.

Farmville will be involved in a day-night doubleheader on Saturday of this week. They play at Pinkney at 3:00 and return home for an 8:00 tussle with Pinkney.

ECC Wins Net Crown; West Is Singles Champ

GREENSBORO — John West, also of East Carolina, East Carolina senior and Durham native, won the North State singles title here yesterday afternoon and East Carolina College captured the team trophy.

West, who had lost only one conference match since playing at ECC, won the conference title by defeating upstart Dave Myers, a Elon freshman. In a three-hour battle, West won the match with scores of 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, and 7-5.

Climaxing a brilliant career as an ECC netter, the blond star teamed with freshman Blarney Tanner to also win the conference doubles title. West and Tanner, a former high school champion, defeated Brooks Haworth and Eddie Giles of Gullford, 6-4, 6-3.

With West leading the way, East Carolina compiled a total of 18 points to walk away with team honors. Appalachian was second with 11 and Gullford registered 10.

Giles of Gullford kept ECC from making shambles of the conference meet by upsetting Tanner in the number two singles flight, 7-5, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1.

Joe Holloway, East Carolina sophomore, collected points for the Bucs by winning the third flight in singles over Morris Whitson of Appalachian, 6-2, 7-5, and 6-2.

Larry Nance of Appalachian took the fourth flight title with a 6-2, 6-4, 8-6 triumph over Al Webb, also of East Carolina.

In the second flight of the doubles, John Nollis and Nance of Appalachian teamed up to win over Holloway and Alton Robertson of East Carolina, 6-14, 6-2.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION REVISION

At the present time there are seven Highway Commissioners chosen from the state at large and not representing specific districts.

Dr. Lake favors increasing the number of Highway Commissioners to fourteen, so that each Highway Division in the state will be represented by a Commissioner who knows the needs of the division in which he lives. The people need a man whom they can go to and talk to about their road problems.

Don Conley Medalist In Conference Tourney

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Don Conley, fighting an uphill battle all the way, fired a 74 on the final 18 holes of the North State State tournament, which was held at the Starmount Forest Country Club, to tie first-day leader, Adam Clifford Hunt, H-P.

Maples, a four stroke leader yesterday, wound up with a 78 yesterday, forcing the playoff.

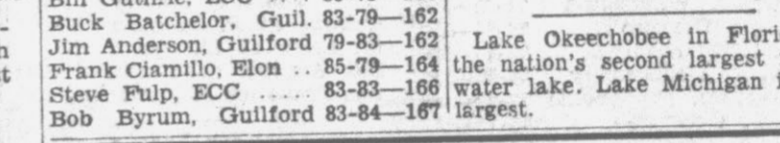

In the playoff, the two parred the first two holes and Conley, a Greenville native, got in trouble on the third hole. His tee shot was wild and landed at the number four tee. He made a chip shot that came within a foot of the cup. He closed the hole with a par.

Maples went into a trap on the third hole, played it out short and then missed a putt.

Lenoir Rhyne won team honors with a score of 616 strokes. East Carolina finished second with 628 and Elon was third with 630. Other scores were Catawba 658, Gullford 659, ACC 666 and High Point and Appalachian 755.

SHORT SPEECH . . . Coach Earl Smith, East Carolina basketball coach, is shown giving a speech at the dedication ceremony of the new Little League park. The first game was played yesterday afternoon.

Kiwanis Capture First Victory

The Little League season got underway yesterday afternoon with the dedication of the new Guy Smith field and the Kiwanis winning a 4-0 decision over the Jaycees.

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
There's no place like home for those Chicago White Sox, who are as yet unbeaten in Comiskey Park.

The defending American League champs popped back into first place with their seventh straight home victory Tuesday night, defeating Boston 11-6. They did it with 14 hits off Tom Brewer, the right-hander who blanked them on two hits a week ago in Boston.

Kansas City helped by defeating Baltimore 4-2, ending the Birds' one-day stay on top and clipping their winning streak at five games. The loss dropped Baltimore to third, a half-game behind and in a virtual tie with Cleveland for second place. The Indians dropped New York to fourth 7-6, Detroit plunked Washington into the cellar 3-1.

In the National League, San Francisco retained a one-game edge by whipping Cincinnati 9-3. Second-place Pittsburgh rapped Chicago's Cubs 11-6, and Los Angeles sent third-place Milwaukee skidding five games behind with a 6-4 decision on Frank Howard's first major league grand slam.

St. Louis at Philadelphia was rained out. The White Sox tagged the Red Sox with their fourth straight defeat in a four-run fifth, scoring three on Sammy Esposito's bases-loaded double. Esposito, who came in batting .100, was 2-for-3 and drove in four runs against Brewer (2-3). Bob Shaw (3-2) won it.

A two-run homer by Whitey Herzog broke up a 2-2 tie in the seventh for the A's, who had been held to three hits for six innings by loser Milt Pappas (2-3). Leo Kiely (1-0) won it with 2 1-3 innings of hitless relief, although he forced in the tying run in the seventh when he hit Clint Courtney with the bases loaded.

The Indians packed away seven of their 12 hits in the first two innings, chasing rookie Bill Short (2-2) with five runs in that span. They got the clincher in the sixth when reliever Duke Maas hit winner Gray Bell (5-1) and then gave up a two-out double by Jimmy Piersall. Bell, first to win five in the AL, needed Dick Stigman's one-out relief for his fourth straight victory after the Yankees scored four unearned runs in the ninth. Mickey Mantle's third homer brought in three of them.

Detroit sent Pete Ramos (0-5) to his seventh consecutive loss and a 2-0 lead. Frank Lary (3-3) since last September when Norm Cash dougled and Chico Fernan-

Greenville Sixth In State Tourney

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—The new North Carolina schoolboy golfing champion is Don Hedrick of Lexington.

He posted a par 72 Tuesday for a total of 141 in the annual State High School golf tournament. In doing so, he led his team to victory in its first time out.

Lexington had a team score of 610, four strokes ahead of defending champion Wilmington. This was the first year Lexington took part in 4-A golf competition, and its first time in the tournament.

Harvie Hill of Plymouth, Jerry Mangum of Raleigh, and Raymond Floyd of Fayetteville were tied back of Hedrick with two-day scores of 147 each. Other top finishers were: Billy Stephenson, Wilmington, 148; Bill Kirkham, Asheville, and Billy Bridgen, Wilmington, 149 each; Wade Briggs of Roxboro, Bill Brown of Durham, Dean Cox of East Mecklenburg, and Jerry Robertson of Fayetteville, all had 150 each.

Other team scores: Raleigh 627, Greensboro 630, Burlington 637, Gastonia and East Mecklenburg 639, Myers Park of Charlotte 653, and South Durham and Page 655. Dallas Clark led the Greenville golfers with a score of 151 in the two-day tournament. Clark finished twelfth in the tournament.

Other Greenville participants were Bobby Thomas 153, Chappy Bradner 157, Buddy Murray 165, and Rick Saue 170.

Greenville's team score of 626 gave them a tie for sixth place with Durham.

Hold Conference

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—General Managers John Quinn of Philadelphia and Bing Devine of St. Louis held a conference Tuesday night shortly after the clubs were rained out and some observers felt a trade might be in the making.

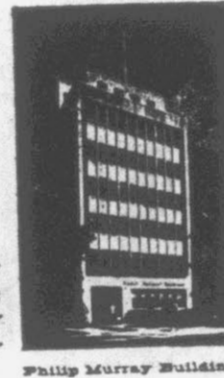

"I'm always interested in a trade," Devine told newsmen. "But frankly the deal you fellows made with the Cubs sort of weakened our chances. About all we could do now in the way of pitching would be to trade pitcher for pitcher."

The names of pitcher Jim Owens and outfielder Harry Anderson of the Phillies popped up in the trade talk as did those of Cardinals' pitchers Vinegar Bend Mizell and Marshall Bridges and infielder Dick Gray.

YOU'VE Heard About It! Here It Is! THE LETTER

Your Congressman, Herbert C. Bonner Received After Voting In Favor Of The Landrum-Griffin Labor Bill!

INTERNATIONAL UNION OF ELECTRICAL, RADIO AND MACHINE WORKERS

EXECUTIVE 3-6094
1126 SIXTEENTH STREET N. W., WASHINGTON 6, D. C.

August 18, 1959

Dear Congressman:

Only you know, in the privacy of your own conscience, whether you carefully considered the possible consequences of the Landrum-Griffin bill when you voted for it on August 13, 1959. If you did, and realized that it is a punitive, repressive measure intended to weaken all labor unions and thereby all working men and women, you have much to answer for. If you did not, and merely yielded to the pressures of the Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers, your guilt is perhaps even greater.

You should realize now, if you did not during the heat of battle, that this vindictive assault on the labor movement will, in the long run, prove to your constituents that you are less interested in individual rights and democracy than in property rights and the concentration of power in the hands of big business.

You may believe that you are safe in such action because organized labor is relatively weak in your District, and cannot call you to account for the damage you have sought to do to it. You may be right -- at the moment.

We wish to assure you, however, that we shall do all in our power to prove to the working men and women in your District that you have cast your lot against them and they should therefore take appropriate action at the ballot box.

Very truly yours,

James B. Carey

Alumni Day, May 21, At ECC Will Open Big Commencement Weekend

Commencement weekend at East Carolina College will include Alumni Day Saturday, May 21, and graduation exercises Sunday, May 22, at 6 p.m. in the college stadium.

Chancellor John T. Caldwell of North Carolina State College, Raleigh, will make the commencement address to 951 graduates on whom degrees will be conferred Saturday afternoon. Those scheduled to receive degrees Sunday include 196 candidates for the master's degrees, 126 for the bachelor of arts, 2 for the bachelor of music, and 6.7 for the bachelor of science, which at East Carolina is conferred upon those completing work preparing them for careers in education.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins will preside at the first graduation exercises to be held since he became president of the college last January 7.

Dean Robert L. Holt will present candidates for degrees as they receive their diplomas from directors of the departments of instruction in which they majored.

Dr. Cleveland J. Bradner, director of religious activities at the college, will pronounce the invocation and the benediction.

The East Carolina College Band, conducted by Herbert L. Carter, will play as the academic procession of faculty members and administrative officers and of graduates moves into the stadium. The College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Carl Hjortsvang, will sing Handel's Hallelujah, Amen from Judas Maccabeus and Ye Shall Have a Song, from Randalie Thompson's The Peaceable Kingdom. Unison singing of the East Carolina Alma Mater will precede the recessional.

Wendell W. Smiley, college librarian, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for commencement. A concert by the college band will take place

Urge Merchants Back Blue Laws

RALEIGH (AP)—Tar Heel merchants have been urged to support blue law legislation which would permit Sunday openings only for stores selling "articles of necessity to the health and welfare of the community."

The stand was taken Tuesday in a resolution adopted with one dissenting vote by the 58th annual convention of the North Carolina Merchants Assn.

"We view with concern the continued increase in the number of stores open on Sunday," the resolution stated.

A. Finley Atkinson of Burlington was installed as association president at a Tuesday evening banquet ending the convention. He succeeds Frank L. McCabe of Raleigh.

Other officers installed were: Paul A. Johnston, Littleton, first vice president; John T. Church, Henderson, second vice president.

The Robb's Merchants Assn. received the president's cup for the largest percentage increase in membership. The Asheville Merchants Assn. got the Bell cup for most outstanding program, a sales effort.

Paques went to: Mrs. Ada Ratz, who retired in February after 23 years with the Salisbury-Spencer Merchants Assn.; Mrs. Stephanie Frazzard, for 16 years service with the Morgan-Burke County Merchants Assn.; and Paul A. Bernard, Salisbury, recently honored as the hardware retailer of the year by Brand Names Foundation.

JOHN T. CALDWELL . . . to give address on the South Quadrangle Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. and is expected to attract a large audience, including visitors on the campus for commencement.

Final plans for Alumni Day Saturday have been announced by G. Allan Nelms, director of alumni affairs and foundations at East Carolina.

Z. W. Frazelle of Kenansville, president of the college Alumni Association, will preside at a business meeting of the organization, which will open the day's program at 10:30 a.m. in the Austin auditorium.

President Jenkins will be principal speaker at the annual Alumni Luncheon at 12:30 p.m. in the New South Cafeteria. A tea for alumni, graduates, and other guests is scheduled for 3 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins.

Reunions will be held during the day by the classes of 1959, 1955, 1950, 1945, 1940, 1935, 1930, 1925, 1920, 1915, and 1911.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

Things like air conditioning, electric heating, higher heating fuel prices—and housing developments built on meadows without benefit of shade trees—have made insulation an increasingly important home building material.

But confusion about insulation has gone hand-in-hand with its growth in importance. The homeowner, as well as the family having a house built, has been faced with the problem of deciding what kind of material his house and climate require.

He has had to come up with decisions on such matters as thicknesses in walls, ceilings and floors, related to whether his home is air conditioned and heated electrically or just plain heated.

All this seemed—and quite literally was—a job for a graduate engineer. Now at least one segment of the industry has come up with a solution. The mineral wool industry has agreed to label all batts and blankets for home insulation with an "R" number.

The "R" stands for resistance to the passage of heat, and the higher the "R" number the better the insulation. This simply means that all mineral wool in-ulations, regardless of thickness, foil surface or whatever, will do the same job of heatstopping if they have the same "R" number. When the numbers are different, the more effective insulation will have a higher "R" number.

This reminds us that we began a campaign many years ago to get the manufacturers of sandpaper to stop labeling their different grades with confusing figures and symbols. Professional workers understood the meaning of the designations, but the handyman did not. What made it all the more perplexing was that different manufacturers used different methods of marking the papers.

Today, most sandpapers carry labels such as "very fine," "fine," "medium" and "coarse." It's no longer necessary to carry around a chart unvelving the mysteries of the numerical code.

In much the same way, the new marking system of the mineral wool manufacturers eventually will do away with the average person's worry about the factors of density, conductivity and reflectivity-of-the-facing in the purchase of insulation.

Diplomats Predict Issues Going To UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Diplomats predicted today Soviet spy plane charges and American demands for measures to prevent sneak attack both may come before the U.N. General Assembly next month.

This belief grew as the Big Four summit conference broke up.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said last week the U.S.S.R. would put the spy plane case before both the Assembly and the U.N. Security Council "whenever it is necessary."

President Eisenhower said Monday that "in the near future" he would propose that the U.N. create a system of aerial surveillance against surprise attack to operate in all countries that would accept it. He did not say to which U.N. body he would send the proposal.

When Eisenhower refused to apologize to Khrushchev for the May Day flight of the U.S. spy plane downed by the Soviets over Soviet territory and the Paris conclave collapsed, U.N. delegates said both the Soviet Union and the United States probably would ask for a meeting of the 11-nation Security Council, perhaps this week.

A Soviet resolution to condemn the United States as an aggressor would fail to get the seven votes necessary for approval. The Soviets would veto the American "open sky" proposal. Both countries then would seek special sessions of the 82-nation Assembly to act on their proposals.

Most diplomats believed it would be difficult for either proposal to get the two-thirds vote in the Assembly necessary for approval.

Bermuda is composed of 360 islands, 20 inhabited.

Segregation At Hospital Ended

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Ten beds have been set aside in Memorial Hospital here for Negro patients, ending segregation at the 352-bed public-built hospital.

R. Z. Thomas, hospital administrator, explained the limited number of Negro beds would be increased on completion of a 233-bed wing now under construction. The wing is scheduled to be finished late next year.

However, the hospital will accept critically ill Negroes and those suffering from complex maladies until the new wing is opened.

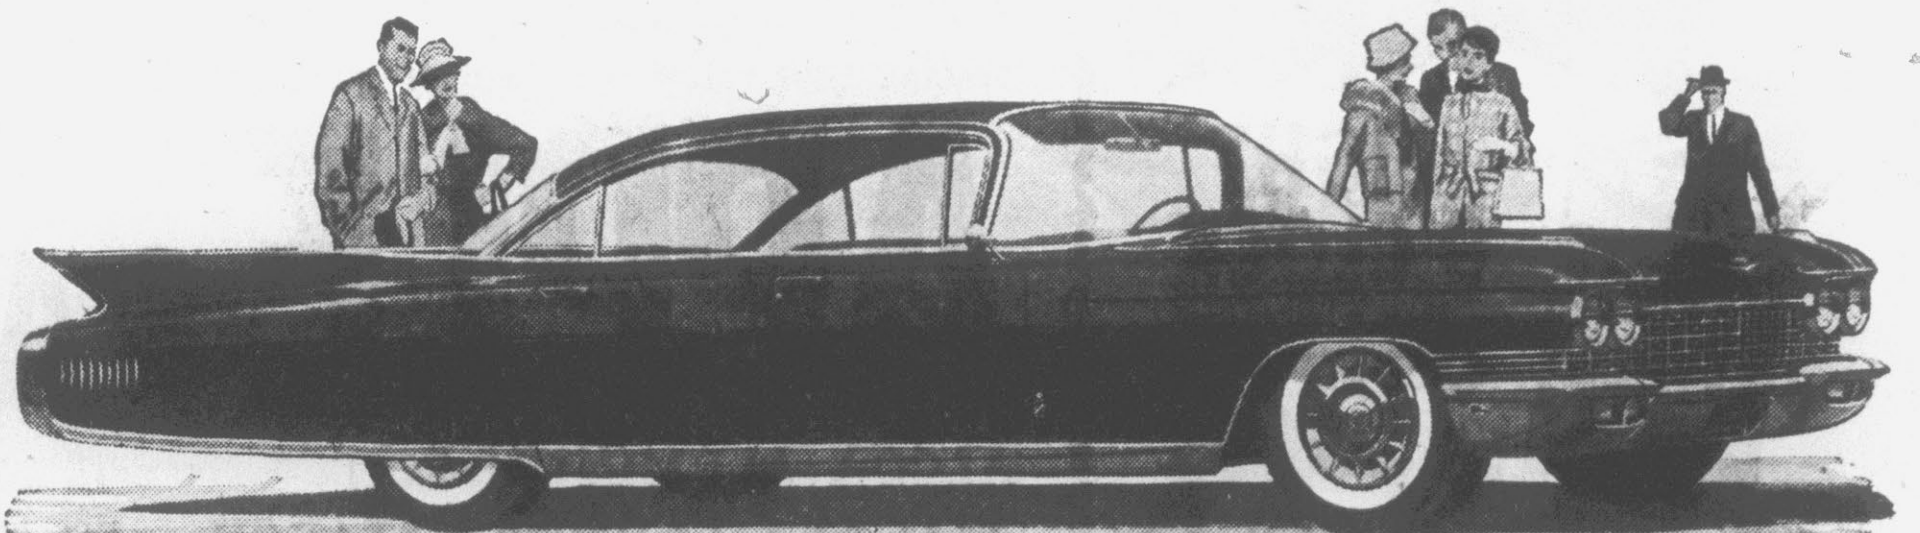

In the past only a few Negro emergency cases have received treatment at Memorial Hospital.

Rocket-Detecting Radar Is To Be Ready In 6 Months

THULE, Greenland (AP) — The most powerful rocket-detecting radar in the free world will go into operation here within the next six months.

400 feet long. Its 1,500-ton weight may double from ice during winter storms, and it must be strong enough to withstand 185-mile-an-hour arctic gales.

But the possibility already looms that this ballistic missile early warning system (BMEWS) with its 3,000-mile range later may have to be given even greater capability to cope with the mounting technology of Soviet weapon designers.

Heart of the system is the computer setup. Data picked up by radar must be compared with all known information on satellites, space debris and other objects as part of the process of determining whether an actual missile is on its way.

Grifton Growth Credit Due Businessmen, Too

GRIFTON—Even though the DuPont Plant, located near here, has greatly influenced the population growth of the town, the "young, progressive businessmen" have been equally credited and singled out for praise for the growth.

Grifton, according to a preliminary census report, saw a population increase of about 358 percent over the 10-year period, from 510 people in 1950 to 1,827 in 1960.

There is speculation that this may be the largest percentage increase in population of any town in the state. Certainly it is the largest in Pitt County.

Judge of Recorder's Court J. A. Rogers said of the population increase, "We are very well pleased." He attributes growth to the DuPont Plant and the young people who have been interested in "pushing forward" and the civic clubs.

Judge Rogers said some officials were hoping that the population would hit the 2,000 mark. Actually, the Pine Villa and Forest Acres residential developments, located just outside the Grifton city limits, have enough population to have pushed the population above the 2,000 mark, but these areas are not incorporated within the town limits and the residents were not included in the municipal count.

But Grifton's growth "will continue in the future," Judge Rogers said, partially because of the location of a new garment factory which will employ some 300 people and will open next month.

Former Mayor Sam Nelson said he attributed the growth "to the young, progressive businessmen taking advantage of the potential available." He continued, "I firmly believe that we will continue to grow and increase our population due to the enthusiasm and the men we have in our town."

Nelson mentioned the "continual, steady building program," which has added to the progress and consequent population growth of Grifton.

A Grifton businessman, W. I. Bissette, said there were a lot of new merchants and business people located in Grifton, which he believes has contributed to the growth.

Of course, all figures released now are from the preliminary census report and are subject to possible revisions upon further checking. The final census figures will not be available until sometime towards the latter part of 1960.

Order Of Arrow Event Thursday

Candidates recently elected to membership in the Order of the Arrow will be tapped out at the Court of Honor Thursday night at the Court House.

The Court of Honor program begins at 8 o'clock.

Scout Executive Rudolph Alexander urged all candidates for Order of the Arrow membership to be present. Members of the Order are requested to wear their sashes.

The public is invited to attend the program.
