Lodge Avers Soviet Created The Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge charged today the Soviet Union deliberately manufactured the current crisis over spy plane flights because of internal political difficulties. The U.S. delegate told the U.N. Security Council that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had distorted President Eisenhower's address to the nation Wednesday night in order to keep the crisis boiling. Lodge spoke as the 11-nation council neared to vote—and a possible Soviet veto—on a small nation resolution calling for renewed East-West negotiations with the aid of the United Nations. Lodge vigorously denied Eisenhower had said the United States was prepared to continue a policy of espionage and sabotage. Gromyko declared Thursday that the President had placed mankind on the brink of war by confirming such a policy. "That is what the Soviet foreign minister said about Dwight D. Eisenhower whose love of peace is a household word throughout the world," Lodge said. "Any honest shows that he said no such thing. One thing the United States has never engaged in is sabotage." Lodge asked why Gromyko continues to talk as though he regrets Eisenhower's declaration halting U.S. flights over Soviet territory. "For some reason emanating from Soviet internal politics," he said, "he wants to have a pretext for a new zig-zag in Soviet foreign policy."

Polls Will Be Open For 12 Hours

By HENRY HOWARD Reflector Staff Writer Pitt County voters will be allowed 12 hours tomorrow to cast ballots at the county's 25 polling places to nominate party candidates for a total of 12 offices on the state, district, and local levels. The polls will open promptly at 6:30 a.m. and close at 6:30 p.m. Board of Elections Chairman D. S. Spain said today. Voting forecasts by Pitt County observers and prognosticators ranged this week from 13,000 to 16,000 totals for the county, "depending on the weather." The highest vote ever recorded in Pitt County was 14,388 in the November, 1956, presidential election. The all-time high for a primary is slightly over 12,000. Pitt's registered voting population borders 24,000. After today's rain, forecasts indicate cooler weather for election day with clearing skies. Returns of the county's voting will be posted and tabulated Saturday night on a huge "scoreboard" mounted in front of the Daily Reflector. The local newspaper's staff plans to remain on duty until all precincts have reported. In addition to Pitt County returns, the Reflector will receive and post returns from the other 13 counties in the First District showing results of the congressional voting. Candidates Seeking the Democratic nomination for the state's highest office are Dr. I. Beverly Lake, John D. Larkin Jr., Terry Sanford, and Malcolm Seawell. Vigorous campaign activity for each gubernatorial hopeful marked the final day before the primary. Three candidates from each party are battling for the Democratic and Republican nominations as candidates for lieutenant governor. Democrats C. V. Henkel, David M. McConnell, and H. Clay Philpott have their names listed on the GOP ballots. Seeking the GOP nomination are Otha Barden Batten, David Bailey, and S. William Eggers. William J. Coker and incumbent Clifton L. Moore are paired off in the race for the Democratic nomination for associate justice of the State Supreme Court. Republicans J. E. Cameron and Deems H. Clifton are seeking their party's blessing as state commissioner of insurance candidate. Incumbent Charles F. Gold and John N. Frederick appear on the Democratic nominating ballot. A four-way Democratic unionist involves incumbent B. Everett Johdan, Addison Hewlett, Robert W. McIntosh, and Robert W. Gregory. Walter B. Jones of Farmville has provided Rep. Herbert C. Bonner of Washington his first opposition since 1946 for the first district congressional seat Bonner has held for 20 years. Observers say the interest generated by the race for the congressional seat will be responsible for a record voting total in the county tomorrow. Scattered reports from throughout the first district's 14 counties indicate record turnouts. Hertford County expects nearly 3,000—a vote jump. Spokesmen in Elizabeth City predict a similar rise in the Pasquotank total balloting. Sen. Robert Lee Humber and challenger Robert D. Wheeler of Grifton are vying for the Democratic nomination for Pitt County's (Fifth District) state senate seat. Staniel L. Dilda of Fountain and Bruce Strickland seek the Democratic nomination to replace retiring Woodrow W. Wooten as the county's Third District representative on the county commission. Turkish Gov't Is Seized By Armed Forces In Coup

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Turkey's armed forces today took over control of the nation in a bloodless coup d'etat sparked by mounting public dissatisfaction with the strongman rule of Premier Adnan Menderes. The military rebels promised to hold free elections, then handed over the government to the winners. The army move followed a month of unrest which began with student demonstrations against Menderes and his government's oppressive measures against the Premier's chief political opposition, the Republican People's party of former President Ismet Inonu. Reports reaching London said Menderes was captured on the Kutahya road. Kutahya is near Eskisehir, where Menderes addressed a meeting Thursday. Ankara radio, monitored in Belgrade, reported Menderes had been caught and taken to Ankara. The broadcast announcement was signed by Gen. Cemal Gursel, General of the army, on behalf of the National Unity Committee. Gursel's identity was not clear—some reports identified him as a Brig. Gursel. On May 5, Lt. Gen. Cemal Gursel resigned as chief of Turkish army ground forces during a period of enforced leave for an undisclosed reason. At that time he issued a statement warning his troops to stay out of politics and "protect yourselves from this nefarious atmosphere." The rebels were quick to assure the West that Menderes' overthrow meant no change in Turkey's staunch alliance with the West against Soviet communism. An Ankara broadcast said Turkey, Middle Eastern anchor of the Western defense line will remain loyal to its membership in the North Atlantic and Central Treaty (CENTO) alliances. In broadcasts over Ankara radio, Turkey's new military rulers called on all persons to stay at home and to obey the instructions of the military. The military group said it had acted "because of the crisis through which democracy in Turkey is passing" and "to avoid national fratricide." It said it would stay in power until "free and honest elections" could be held, then would hand over the nation's administration to the winners of the election. A State Department spokesman in Washington said the department had been informed that all branches of the Turkish military participated in the revolt. The British Foreign Office said its reports from Turkey indicated that the country was quiet. Telephone communications with Istanbul were out. All commercial communications with the outside world appeared to have been cut off summarily this morning. Despite the word from Turkey that the coup was bloodless, one report to the British foreign office said the takeover was preceded by shooting in the streets of Ankara before dawn. Informants said there had been several clear signs of the impending coup. One of the most important was that an entire group of senior army officers, commanding key units in European Turkey, had been dismissed by the Menderes government on suspicions of "disloyalty" to the regime. The officers ranged from brigadiers to generals. Their replacement, according to informants, were younger men. Another sign was the demonstration by army cadets, supported by a number of officers, in the streets of Ankara last Saturday.

Herter Warns Of Future Aggressive Red Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter warned Congress today that in the aftermath of the summit conference collapse the United States must be prepared "to withstand aggressive pressures from Russia" in Berlin and elsewhere. Opening a full-dress Senate hearing into the summit failure and the related spy flight row with Russia, Herter said the most important lesson of the Paris explosion two weeks ago "is fresh realization of the dangers we face" and the need for the Allies to close ranks. At the same time he advocated a "calm and resolute" posture toward the Soviet Union. He urged that the nation avoid "fruitless and damaging recriminations" over what has happened. The inquiry is being conducted by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. A pledge that the senators will "strive to avoid bitter partisan debate" was given by committee Chairman J. William Fulbright. While few in the free world doubt that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev bears the chief blame for destruction of the summit hopes, Fulbright told Herter, "there are many who believe that our conduct has not been without fault." The hearing was conducted behind closed doors, but with an arrangement whereby censored transcripts were to be delivered to newsmen as quickly as possible. The initial documents reporters received were Fulbright's opening statement and a prepared statement by Herter. Fulbright told Herter, "The inquiry, Fulbright told Herter, would focus on these four areas: "First, the events and decisions resulting from the U2 incident; second, the effects of these events and decisions upon the summit; third, the policy of our government regarding the summit meeting; and fourth, the policy of the United States in the future and possible improvement in the execution thereof." Herter said that initial statements by the U.S. government were designed to keep the intelligence mission secret and to protect the pilot. He said that up to May 7, "statements followed the general line of the cover story and thereafter were adjusted to the situation as it developed." He said that since the U2 system had been compromised, "it was discontinued as any other intelligence mission would be in such a case." Elaborate precautions were taken against any eavesdropping on the hearings. A security guard with an electronic device that looked like an oversized black table tennis paddle checked the big hearing room foot by foot to make sure no microphone or other hidden device had been planted. The device was connected by a long cord to earphones worn by the operator. Khrushchev arrived in Paris on May 14, two days before the scheduled opening of the summit session May 16. His purpose, Herter told the committee, was "to divide the Allies and isolate the United States." Herter said that in spite of Khrushchev's conduct at Paris there has been no "radical alteration" of Soviet policy. With this he coupled a new plea for congressional support of full foreign aid appropriations asked

U.S. Confident Turkey To Keep Role As An Ally

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials were confident today that Turkey would hold firmly to its anchor position as an anti-Communist ally despite the overthrow of the government of Premier Adnan Menderes. The strategically located nation is a member of both the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Central (Middle Eastern) Treaty Organization. Its geographical position gives it a vital importance in the alliance structure. Turkey controls the straits between the Soviet-dominated Black Sea and the Western-controlled Mediterranean. It guards the southeastern flank of non-Communist Europe and the western flank of non-Communist Asia. It controls the approaches from the Soviet Union into the continent of Africa and the Arab world of the Middle East. Officials reported that little was known here about the military group which seized power from Menderes. But declarations from this group that it would remain loyal to NATO, CENTO, and the United Nations were accepted at the State Department at face value. Turkey has a very long record of opposing expansionist pressures from the Soviet Union prior to the establishment of the Soviet system at Moscow. Reports reaching the State Department from Turkey said no American citizens had been harmed in the uprising and no American property had been damaged. On the whole, the overthrow of the Menderes administration was regarded here as a surprisingly quiet affair.

Antisegregation Proviso Tacked On School Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Inclusion of an antisegregation amendment raised questions today about Senate acceptance of the first general school construction bill ever passed by the House. A long, wrangling session ended in a 206-189 House vote Thursday to authorize $1,300,000,000 in federal grants to help with construction of public school classrooms. Sponsors had hoped for quick approval by the Senate, which already had passed a more comprehensive measure. But before passage, the House voted 218-181 to deny the funds to any school judged to be in defiance of court integration orders. That amendment was sponsored by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY). Southern Senators were expected to object strongly to that provision. And efforts to work out a Senate-House compromise would have to be cleared through the House Rules Committee, which had held up the bill for months. The bill would authorize 325 million dollars a year to the states for each of four years, with the states required to match all federal funds received. For the first two years, local school funds as well as state money could be used for matching purposes. Rejected were amendments to permit funds to be used for teachers' salaries and to authorize construction loans to private and parochial schools. Both proposals were ruled out of order on parliamentary points and did not come to a vote. As finally approved the money would be allocated to the states on the basis of their school-age population and could be used only for school construction. Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. (D-NJ), author of the bill, said it should provide for more than 50,000 classrooms. The vote on the Powell amendment found 100 Democrats and 118 Republicans favoring the anti-segregation clause and 160 Democrats and 21 Republicans in opposition. On final passage 162 Democrats and 44 Republicans voted for the bill and 97 Democrats and 92 Republicans voted against it. A loud cheer went up from the winners when the vote was announced. The Air Force said Thursday night the telemetry equipment was not working properly, and unless it can be set right by commands radioed from the earth, "the detection system cannot be tested in connection with scheduled missile launches and ground fires." The Midas was to be tested in a few days during swings over Cape Canaveral, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. Both missiles and giant sodium flares were to be tried. The satellite, launched Tuesday, is equipped with an infra-red sensing device that can detect the heat from such a firing and radio the information back to earth.

Tokyo Invitation Still In Effect

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's government today informed the United States that its invitation to President Eisenhower to visit next month still stands despite growing left-wing demonstrations demanding that it be called off. Kishi's Cabinet reaffirmed the invitation at a meeting this morning and sent word to the U.S. Embassy, Foreign Minister Aichihiro Fujiyama said. "At the present time there is no intention here of asking for a delay or cancellation of the President's scheduled visit. To do so on grounds of security would put Japan in a bad light." However, Fujiyama's use of the words "at the present time" was taken as an indication plans for the visit might be changed if the public uproar continued. Eisenhower's visit has been linked with the new U.S.-Japanese mutual defense treaty, which the Socialists and other left-wingers violently oppose, contending that it may open Japan to attack if the United States gets involved in a war in the Far East.

Only Two New Quakes In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Clearing weather and an easing of nature's onslaughts today spurred rescue and aid operations in quake and tidal wave-devastated southern Chile. It was feared the death toll would top 5,000. Official figures Thursday night showed 2,829 dead or missing. But with scores of communities still cut off by six days of violent earth upheavals and tidal waves, officials said a final count could not be made for weeks. Only two new quakes were reported Wednesday night and Thursday. They were mild, giving rise to hope that the stricken country's ordeal soon may be ended.

Call In Results Pitt County's poll holders were again reminded today to telephone tomorrow's election results to the Daily Reflector's offices, as soon as possible after counting the votes. The Reflector's phone number for poll holders is PLaza 2-6166.

CIA Official Is Stabbed, Beaten

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Central Intelligence Agency official was stabbed and beaten early today by a man he said he met Thursday night at a cocktail lounge. Police Capt. Nunzio Bonaccorso of the robbery detail said a 22-year-old Negro is being sought for questioning. The victim, James D. Pembroke, 42, was reported in critical condition at a hospital with stab wounds in the back, and head injuries. Police said he is an administrative assistant in the intelligence and espionage organization. Police Lt. Robert S. Shuttleworth said he found Pembroke unconscious at about 1:25 a.m. on a northeast Washington street. A trail of blood indicated he had staggered and crawled a block from the scene of the attack. Police said Pembroke recovered consciousness at the hospital and gave an account of his movements. As quoted by police, Pembroke said he met the Negro as he left a cocktail lounge about 10:30 p.m. They visited another bar, then drove in Pembroke's car to see a friend of the second man. Pembroke said the chance acquaintance attacked him when he refused to enter the apartment house where the friend was said to live. Pembroke's wallet was found near the attack spot. A police dog also found nearby a hunting knife presumed to have been used in the attack.

Freeze Strawberries For Christmas Dinner

RALEIGH — Frozen strawberries from your home freezer will be served with pride for your next Christmas dinner if you have good frozen berries. Now is the peak of the strawberry season and many berries are being frozen for later use.

Miss Nita Orr, frozen food specialist for the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service, advises you to freeze top quality strawberries for a high quality frozen product. Select firm, but ripe, deep-colored berries. Do not freeze under-ripe or over-ripe berries, except as puce. Never freeze green-tipped or mush berries. Wash berries in cold water, preferably ice water. This helps keep berries firm and prevents injury to tender skin which holds flavor and berry juice. Keep berries cool until frozen.

When freezing chopped or sliced berries, use four to one mix by weight of sugar to berries. That is four pounds of berries to one pound of sugar. Pour sugar over berries. Cut sugar into them and mix well by stirring. Pack and freeze.

In freezing berries whole, use a 40 to 50 per cent sugar syrup. Sugar mixes poorly with whole berries so syrup is recommended. In making a 40 per cent syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and 3 cups of water. For a 50 per cent syrup, use 2 2-3 cups sugar and 2 2-3 cups water. Put the amounts of cool water and sugar together in a quart glass jar and mix until all sugar is dissolved.

Miss Orr says to leave 1/4 to 1/2 inch headspace for expansion when packaging fruits and fruit purees. More detailed information can be obtained from your county home economics agent.

An Important Day For Good Govm't

Every registered voter in Pitt County has an important appointment tomorrow . . . an appointment to exercise his citizenship rights and responsibilities by participating in the election of our government officials.

Under a democratic government, there is no day more important than election day. That is the day on which officials are chosen by the people—by the people who take time to go to the polls and cast their ballots. It is the day upon which democratic government is founded, for it is the day when the people speak for themselves, forthrightly, by marking their ballots for the candidates of their choice.

In Pitt County there are some 24,000 registered voters who will be eligible to participate in tomorrow's election. No one knows how many of these will exercise their priceless right to vote according to their individual convictions. Certainly it is to be hoped that the vast majority of these registered voters will go to the polls tomorrow. Otherwise, the major task of electing officials who will be charged with the responsibility for representing us in our local, state and federal governments will be left to a minority rather than a majority of the electorate.

Pitt County's present voting record of some over 13,000 votes in an election represents only slightly more than half of the present 24,000 registered voters.

How Many Will Cast A Ballot?

By LYNN NISBET
FINALLY, BRETHREN — Within a few hours the seals will come off the ballot boxes and the voting machines at 2,094 precincts in the state's 100 counties. The citizenry of North Carolina will be engaged in the exercise of its highest privilege, which also means discharge of its greatest responsibility—the election of men and women who will make and enforce the laws for the next two to four years.

How many of the approximately two million qualified voters will participate is uncertain. The campaign which culminates in Saturday's voting has been unusual, almost weirdly unique in some aspects. Contrasts which prevailed for most of the time, was the exceptional interest manifested in new registration and the enthusiasm at the Democratic State Convention last week. The fact that Republicans have a statewide primary for Lieutenant Governor and Commissioner of Insurance, a congressional primary in the 12th district, and a larger than usual number of contests for county and legislative offices, justifies prediction 50,000 or more Republican votes will be cast.

The statewide Democratic vote will be divided among four candidates for Governor and three for Lieutenant Governor, with such apparent equal strength that in the final hours few unprejudiced observers dare to predict the winners. The one certainty is that a second primary will be necessary for any candidate to obtain a majority. There are indications that some voters may wait for the run-off to express their choice. This could reduce Saturday's voting, and produce the rare result of a heavier vote in the second than in the first primary. That is not considered likely.

HOW MANY? — Estimates on the total Democratic vote range from 475,000 to more than 700,000. The record was the 564,505 cast in the 1952 primary. Your reporter strings along with an estimate of 600,000 to 650,000.

Three main factors contribute to difficulty in estimating the turnout—and to the conclusion that the total will be below the potential. First is the fact that just a few hours before the showdown a whole of a lot of people apparently have not made up their minds. Second and third, and they must be grouped, is the degree of participation by Negro and women voters. There is evidence of more than usual activity in some areas, less than normal in others. Both groups had smaller representation at the recent convention than had been expected. On the other hand, both showed keen interest in registration, according to reports.

Hotly contested races in the first, third and sixth congressional districts, and real humdinger races for the Legislature in several counties—Halifax, Richmond, Sampson and the second senatorial district (embraced almost wholly in the first congressional district) are notable examples. Board of Elections and are expected to bring out record voting. Local contests in other counties have stimulated more interest than the big statewide campaigns. Presumably the voters who go to the polls in behalf of a legislator or a county commissioner will mark the ballot also for a Governor, Lieutenant Governor and United States Senator. Only the statewide and congressional district votes will be tabulated by the State Board of Elections and totaled for publication. Chances are the aggregate of all local votes will be several thousand more than the state wide totals.

To determine the actual number of voters participating, as contrasted with the highest number cast in any one race, would require checking the poll books at each of 2,094 precincts—not an impossible but surely an unworkable project.

NON-LEGAL — It is physically impossible for all but a very few precincts to comply with the statutes as to arrangement of voting booths, roped off spaces, distance from areas open to the public, and other requirements. More than 2,000 of the 2,094 precincts will operate in non-legal manner, according to the letter of the law. There will be few, if any, instances of illegal operation, according to the spirit of the law.

The statute provides that no person shall loiter about or do any electioneering "within such polling place or within fifty feet thereof." And a "guard rail shall be placed not nearer than ten feet nor further than twenty feet from said election officials and ballot boxes." The law books show a diagram of just how this arrangement shall be. As a matter of practical physical fact, with most voting places being fire stations, school houses, homes and stores, these statutory provisions simply cannot be met.

Since that law was enacted in 1929 your reporter has seen only one voting place meeting all the requirements. That was in a Rocky Mount tobacco warehouse, where the area was meticulously chalked off and roped in. But on hundreds of visits to polling places, he has not seen evidence of violating the spirit of the law for protecting the voter's right to undisturbed secrecy in marking his ballot.

Loosely to paraphrase a Biblical quotation "the law condemns, but the spirit keeps alive." Almost certainly there will be charges of misfeasance or misfeasance on part of election officials in this primary. Long experience and observation justifies the comment that the chief instance of misfeasance will be failure of citizens to exercise the duty and privilege of participating in the election.

It would seem that at least 60 to 70 per cent of the registered voters would be sufficiently interested in the future welfare of our government to participate in tomorrow's important election. If they are, the old voting record in Pitt will be surpassed by several thousand.

Good government is dependent upon the participation of the citizens to whom the government belongs. Good government begins not in places of high office, but at the grass roots with the individual voter. The participation of the vast majority of the registered voters in elections is our best assurance of good government.

We urge every registered voter in Pitt County to make a sincere effort tomorrow to get to the polls and cast his ballot. It is the individual's responsibility to himself, his fellow citizens and his government to do so.

Academic Standards Have Also Seen Growth

From various sources around the state there have come in recent months the suggestion that East Carolina College already has grown sufficiently in size and now it needed to improve its academic level while de-emphasizing its growth.

Such statements, of course, carry the implication that a school such as East Carolina College cannot grow in academic stature and at the same time continue to increase its enrollment at the rate ECC has in recent years.

If such a supposition were correct, the nation—and particularly North Carolina—would have witnessed a serious deterioration of the academic level in all its institutions of higher learning in the past decade. What has actually happened, however, is just the opposite. With the constant growth of college enrollment we have also seen a constant stiffening of the academic requirements of our colleges and universities. The influx of new students has tended to raise the academic standards rather than lower them.

Such has been the case at East Carolina College, just as it has for most other colleges and universities. To say now that East Carolina should stop the growth of its student body and concentrate entirely on academic improvement is indeed falacy.

In spite of—and perhaps because of—the fact that East Carolina's enrollment has grown three-fold in the past decade, the academic standards at the college are much higher now than they were a decade ago. Even if the enrollment continues to increase at the present rate over the next decade, we may likewise expect a comparable increase in the academic standards of the college.

East Carolina, to be sure, must continue its program of upping its academic requirements in order to give its students a better education. But to say that the growth of East Carolina has brought about at the expense of the academic program is a statement that will not stand the test of close scrutiny.

Some Insurance By Rockefeller

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was taking out insurance — just in case miracles can happen—when he finally said Wednesday he would accept the Republican presidential nomination if it is offered. It was nothing for his friends to throw their hats in the air about.

At this moment Vice President Richard M. Nixon still seems to have the nomination sewed up. The New York governor conceded his chance of being drafted by the Republican convention next July looks slim.

This seems to be his only chance: If something goes badly wrong for the Eisenhower administration between now and July, such as a foreign crisis. Then the professional Republican politicians might give up on Nixon, so long a prominent part of the administration, and turn to Rockefeller. There is nothing to indicate this will happen.

But, since it is a possibility, it was probably Rockefeller's only reason for putting in his bid now. That this might be in his mind could be read into his otherwise enigmatic statement: "These are fast-changing times."

No longer ago than the beginning of May it made sense for Rockefeller to stick to his Dec. 25 decision not to be a candidate. Technically, he still isn't. He says now he'll accept the nomination if drafted.

At the beginning of this month all signs pointed to President Eisenhower's finishing out his term in a burst of glory which, of course, would be reflected beneficially on his administration and Nixon.

There was to be a summit conference which, if it didn't solve anything, at least would melt the cold war a little more; then, a hero's welcome on his visit to the Soviet Union; then thunderous ovations on his trip to the orient.

Republicans in the campaign could point to all this and say: Look, we kept the peace. But it didn't turn out that way. Instead, there was the administration's bungling of the U2 spy plane episode and the insulting roughhouse inflicted on the President by Premier Nikita Khrushchev when he blew up the summit conference and called off Eisenhower's trip.

It was the greatest humiliation ever suffered by an American president in modern times. Eight months in office, Eisenhower will be lucky if international problems, particularly with the Soviet Union don't get worse.

All of these things—the plane incident, the summit wreckage, the humiliation—have given the Democrats campaign ammunition and none of them has helped the Republicans or their chances.

In view of all this, Rockefeller's statement and his emergence from the coy cavern in which he has been staying since last December, can be considered simply as a piece of political insurance. Just in case.

This belief seems borne out by Rockefeller's own statement last April 8 when he was asked if he would reconsider heading the Republican ticket.

"We will cross that bridge when we come to it," he said. "I do not think the opportunity is apt to come."

Until now he had made only one thing clear: He would not accept the Republican vice presidential nomination. He still says that. And he has been absolutely consistent on this: He has steadfastly refused to endorse Nixon for the presidential nomination.

When he said last December he was withdrawing as a candidate in a race with Nixon, he put the reason on the "great majority of those (professional Republican politicians) who will

Notes Hot Off The Cuff

WHAT'S THAT? . . . We were standing in front of Home Savings and Loan the other day talking to the firm's newest employee, Milton Foley.

In the middle of the conversation, Milton looked up at the top of the building across the street. "I'd never noticed that before," he said.

He pointed to the sign "C.T. Mumford" high above the "Glamour Shop" and "Best Jewelry Co." signs.

Mumford's was a big Greenville firm of bygone days. Funny thing. We'd never noticed the sign either. It just goes to show how observant the average person is as he walks among the familiar surroundings of Main Street.

PAVEMENT TERMITES? . . . If your columnist doesn't look up as he strolls, he does look down occasionally.

This it was that we noticed hundreds of little holes in the asphalt on the street between Wright Building and Rawl Building Sunday afternoon.

This was just after the graduation ceremonies had begun. It didn't take us long to figure out what happened.

You can blame it all on the chic spoke heels women wear these days. Seems the 933 graduates had lined up on this particular street in preparation for the processional into College Stadium.

As the girls bided their time their heels slowly sunk into the asphalt.

LEISURE. . . We spotted Supt. of Public Works C.K. Beatty at his home late one recent afternoon.

He was seated in a rocking chair on the front lawn leisurely watering the grass. Which all goes to prove it is summer time again.

GARDENER. . . And some enterprising soul has carefully planted a garden between Kennedy Furniture Co. and the Lee Building on Third St.

If this doesn't seem unusual, we might point out that there's only about three feet of space between the two buildings.

JAYCEE PRESIDENT. . . Saw George Coffman newly installed president of the Greenville Jaycees, hiking dejectedly down Main St. yesterday morning.

Why so sad on the day of his installation? Seems George was headed for the dentist. We had only sympathy for him since we made a similar excursion only a few days ago.

Anyway, things must not have been so bad for George as he sweated in the dental chair. The new president was his usual buoyant self at the installation meeting last night.

There have been recurring hints that not all is going well in the Kremlin, and that Khrushchev may not be as firmly rooted in authority as the outside world thinks. This, if true, is not necessarily a comforting reality for the free world.

Khrushchev, if for this Communist chief "the end of the summit was a political defeat and a personal tragedy" and "may eventually cost him his leadership in the Kremlin." This Russian was further cited as holding that the Paris debacle "certainly makes a shambles of Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence and international relations on which he staked his career."

Then this rather startling, though suspected, comment: "Khrushchev is no Stalin. He is not the master of the Soviet Union. He was ordered by the Presidium to torpedo the summit. Even if Eisenhower had crawled on all fours in apology for the spy plane, Khrushchev could not have kept the summit alive."

Leon Dennen, NEA correspondent who wrote the article, quoted French Communists as saying that withdrawal of the invitation to Eisenhower to visit Russia was prepared in Moscow. De Gaulle is said to have learned of the decree of the Presidium two days before the summit conference began, and that his efforts to prevail upon Khrushchev to soften his words failed because, the source said, "he had only one mandate from the Presidium: wreck the conference."

There were even hints that Khrushchev in the next few days may make a hurried trip to Communist China to confer with Mao Tse-tung, and that if that happens, "you will know whose voice is strongest in the ranks of world Communism."

Other Editors Saying Not End Of The World

(Henderson Dispatch)

One comment that grew out of the Paris debacle last week was that made by Senator Humphrey, when he said that this "is not the end of the world." President Eisenhower said, too, on his return home, that new irritations from the Soviets may be expected. Both, although on opposite sides of the political fence, were not frightened out of their boots by the insults from the Kremlin boss.

One American correspondent who was in Paris last week, and who was on the Khrushchev tour of the United States last fall, quoted a member of Khrushchev's entourage as saying that "the end of the summit was a political defeat and a personal tragedy" and "may eventually cost him his leadership in the Kremlin." This Russian was further cited as holding that the Paris debacle "certainly makes a shambles of Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence and international relations on which he staked his career."

Opinions In Brief

"We note The Americans For Democratic Action strongly opposed the presidential candidacy of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson. That's one of the best recommendations Johnson could have." — Brookville (Pa.) Jeffersonian Democrat.

"Government did not build the United States. It was built by the drive and vitality of its citizens working under freedom in a private enterprise economy." — Kanab (Utah) Southern Utah News.

"The crass assumption that millions of Americans, dignified by the title of senior citizens, can be bought by the offer of a free trip to a nursing home is as cruel and insulting as any political maneuver could be." — Portland (N.Y.) Standard.

"Industry's policy of arbitrary retirement at 65 is slowly crumbling, according to an Industrial Relations News Study. Survey of 30 major corporations revealed that 25 per cent already have instituted flexible retirement policies, and another 25 per cent make frequent exceptions to the 65-year limit." — Victoria (Va.) Dispatch.

"Men must make choices. It is possible to say in this year of direful history that those nations which do not accept Soviet dictation will suffer destruction during the next decade. It will be asked, 'Shall we make an other war over Germany?'"

"Shall we fight over Berlin?" These are really silly questions to one who has studied the Leninist theory of Russia's destiny. What Khrushchev said in Paris, Marx wrote before him; Lenin wrote before Khrushchev existed. The next stage in the social and political development of man, they hold, is the Com-

PLANTING AND REAPING
The phenomenon of planting a seed and having it grow into a plant or a tree is familiar to all of us. What we very often do not realize is that we can plant seeds not only in the soil but in our bodies, in our minds, and in our souls.

The seed of disease can be planted in our bodies by unwise and dissolute living and sometimes is so planted for no reason apparent to ourselves. Seeds of different kinds can be planted in our minds—seeds of distrust, of envy, of jealousy of lust. By the same token seeds of nobleness can be planted. Over the years we largely become what our contemplation and imagination and planting have made us. Our minds are fertile soil indeed. Over them we can cast seeds of evil which will grow into weeds capable of choking out any good growth. By the resolute management of our purpose and imagery we can plant seeds which will grow into glory, righteousness, and peace.

Clean Out Your Medicine Chest

The campaign is sponsored and financed by Bauer & Black, the surgical dressing firm, and it is an interesting example of how things happen under capitalism. Although there is a profit motive, everybody benefits.

The sponsor benefits in several ways. People, knowing of its sponsorship, will be impressed and be slightly more inclined to buy the company's products. Drugists will also be more inclined to recommend the products. The company will also get favorable publicity. (Look what's happening here.)

Treasures in Heaven

"Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal," Christ said, "but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven."

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Matthew 6:19-34; Luke 12:13-34.

"Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, nor what ye shall put on. Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap . . . yet your heavenly Father feedeth them."

"No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

"But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow."

Treasures in Heaven

THE FOLLY OF MAKING MATERIAL POSSESSIONS THE CHIEF INTEREST IN LIFE

Scripture—Matthew 6:19-34; Luke 12:13-34.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL I AM introducing this lesson by quoting from the Rev. Wilbur M. Smith's Peloubet's Notes. He writes: "One of the great basic factors of our Lord's teaching is that He talks about the problems of ordinary life, and in doing so, He frankly and constantly faces the realities of daily life, the need for making a living, our relationship to money and property and to others with whom we live and work. He talks about food, drink, labor, wages, marriage as well as the glorious themes of God, salvation and eternity. In the verses assigned to our lesson, we see something of our Lord's teaching about our relationship to earthly possessions, and His warnings regarding the danger and tragic consequences of putting primal emphasis upon the things of this earth."

these things. And at once the great question then is, "How can I use these things to the glory of God? . . . It is to Him I will have to render an account of my stewardship of all the things with which He has blessed me." We cannot send bags of gold to heaven, for heaven does not need them, but we need not hoard our wealth (if we have accumulated it by hard work, as millions of people all over the world have done and are doing today). We can help God and worthy causes, or friends and relatives who are needy. Jesus Christ said: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon (money)."—Matthew 6:24. "Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?"—Matthew 6:19.

GOLDEN TEXT

"Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."—Matthew 6:20-21.

Don't we sometimes read in our newspapers of men or women who hoard money in their homes, and thieves do break in and steal? What was Christ's teaching on this subject? "But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."—Matthew 6:19-21. "Christ does not say it is wrong to lay up. The common capacity to which He is here appealing is that of the passion for possession," writes G. Campbell Morgan, in Peloubet's Select Notes. "The worldly man thinks he himself holds these things; but the Christian starts by saying, 'I am not the possessor of these things. I merely have them on lease and they do not really belong to me. I cannot take my wealth with me. I cannot take my gifts with me. In a sense all these things are given to me, but I am a custodian of them on copyrighted business produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission. Distributed by King Features Syndicate."

Then Christ reminded them that God fed the fowls of the air and created the lilies of the field which show such glorious colorings that "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." "Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, what shall we drink? or, where-withal shall we be clothed? For your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things."—Matthew 6:31-32. "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."—Matthew 6:33. We have no space for the parable Christ told of the man who had worked hard, accumulated great possessions and sat down to enjoy them, but whom God told that he would die that night. The teacher can tell the story if there is time. Faith and service to God and man are emphasized, and a life that is dedicated to Christ's teachings.

But four days later, Dec. 30, it was learned that the large personal staff which was ready to push a presidential campaign for him would be kept on. One conclusion could be drawn from this: That he hadn't stopped wanting the Republican nomination and would start looking for it again if he thought he had any chance at all.

Chilean Quake Survivors Wait Outside Aid Stations

PUERTO MONTE, Chile (AP)—A long line of women, children and some men inched along the sidewalk of this earthquake-shattered port in southern Chile.

They have been waiting for hours and some will wait hours longer to get typhoid shots and powdered milk.

Inside the frame building through the day and into the night the confused, stunned Chileans bare their arms, for the needle, then take the milk powder from Red Cross workers.

"We've vaccinated more than 1,000 and we have thousands more to go," said pretty but weary Teresa Bazan, leaning against a door jamb for a few minutes of rest.

"The only hospital in town was destroyed. The sick and injured are in schools, churches and any place else where there is a roof over their heads or a cot on the floor."

Scattered at these aid stations throughout the city are more than 300 injured.

In the line outside stands a young mother, bareheaded, with a baby in her arms.

"I have been in line three hours now," she said tiredly. "The baby is getting heavier every minute but she has not had any fresh milk for three days. I have been feeding her a little warm soup, some mashed potatoes and anything she will take. She is eight months old but she doesn't seem to complain."

The baby looked up at her exhausted mother and gurgled. The young woman straightened the child's knit sweater and moved along in line.

Dr. Luis Edensperger stood on the sidewalk in front of his apartment house and looked across the street at the ruins of the state bank.

"It will take us 50 years to rebuild Puerto Monte," he sighed, then added reflectively, "but at least it will be modern."

The bank's funds were safe. "There's 30 million escudos (28 million dollars) in that safe over there," said the doctor.

In the city of 45,000, between 30 and 40 people were killed, 70 or more are still missing and 300 are homeless.

Concertmaster And Soloist Wed

DETROIT (AP)—Raymond Gnierek, 28, the concertmaster of the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra, and Lolita San Miguel, 25, a soloist in the ballet troupe, were married here Thursday night.

The cast of 325 singers, dancers and musicians watched the wedding.

The 90-piece orchestra played the wedding march.

Memorial Weekend To See A Lot Of Lesisure

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The three-day Memorial Day weekend—the first of the three long summer holidays—will see a great outpouring of dollars as well as of sadding leisure lovers.

Whatever qualms some industries and stock market traders may have about the 1960 outlook, and whatever alarms on the international front may send shivers through some economic planners, the businessmen who cater to recreation activities of Americans say they are optimistic.

They look for record sales this year for one of the nation's fastest growing industries — leisure. And many business firms benefit by this strong habit in American life.

The National Safety Council, for example, believes, that at some time over the Memorial Day holiday almost every one of the nation's 71 million motor cars will be on the road.

This pleases not only the makers of autos, tires and batteries, but also the producers and sellers of oil and gasoline, who have been disturbed by their more than ample supplies.

Travel agents estimate that domestic gadding this year should see 18 billion dollars changing hands. Most of the actual movement will be in the family car.

A brokerage firm, Frances I. du Pont & Co., estimates that spending in the leisure and recreation field will set a high of 43 billion dollars this year, up two billion dollars from last year.

Some of the things it lists: sales in the fishing field 2½ billion dollars, swimming 1½ billion, hunting a billion, bowling a billion, golf 800 million.

Frats Told End Discrimination In Membership

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Three University of Pennsylvania campus fraternities have been ordered by university trustees to end racial and religious discrimination in selecting members.

The three are affiliates of Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu and Alpha Tau Omega, all national fraternities.

Membership in Sigma Chi is limited to "bona fide white male" college and university students.

Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu limit their memberships to white Christian males.

It was disclosed Thursday the national fraternities were told to either strike the discriminatory clauses from their constitutions or grant the Penn chapters exceptions from these clauses.

The three fraternities will consider resolutions against the clauses at their national conventions this year.

Penn officials say only three of the school's 39 fraternities have discriminatory clauses.

More Bodies In Hilo's Rubble

HONOLULU (AP)—Four more bodies, pulled out of the rubble of the southern Hawaii island city of Hilo, brought the tidal wave toll of known dead to 49.

Officials Thursday said the number of missing was still 13. There still might be more bodies under the tons of debris. Some might have been swept out to sea in Monday's disaster. Not all found dead were reported missing.

Relief agencies set up first aid shelters and canteens as aid poured into Hilo, a city of 26,000. Most of the victims, including 53 injured, were Japanese-American farmers caught along the half-mile stretch by four huge waves on Monday.

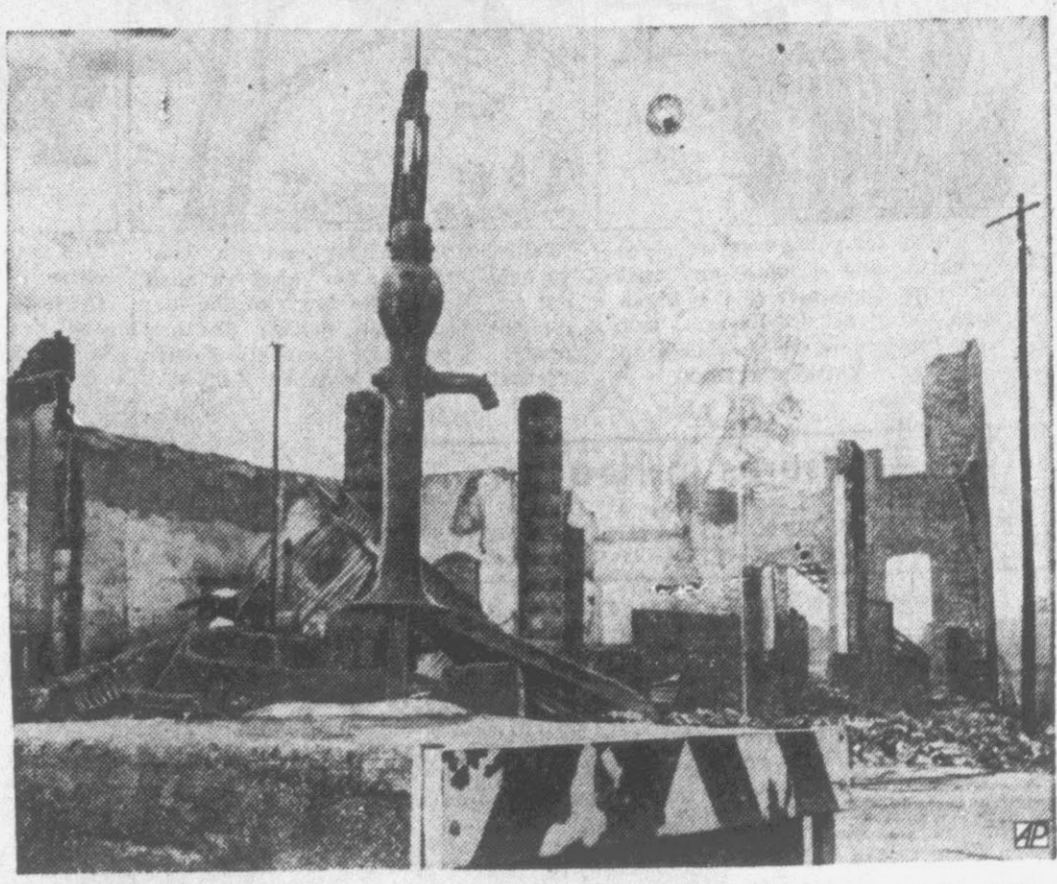

homes, take a look at activities that all the family enjoy.

It estimates consumers will spend 2½ billion dollars on recreational boating, a gain of 300 million dollars over last year; homeowners will put a billion dollars into swimming pools, 12 billion dollars on do-it-yourself items and garden supplies, and 3½ billion on TV sets, radios, phonographs, records and musical instruments.

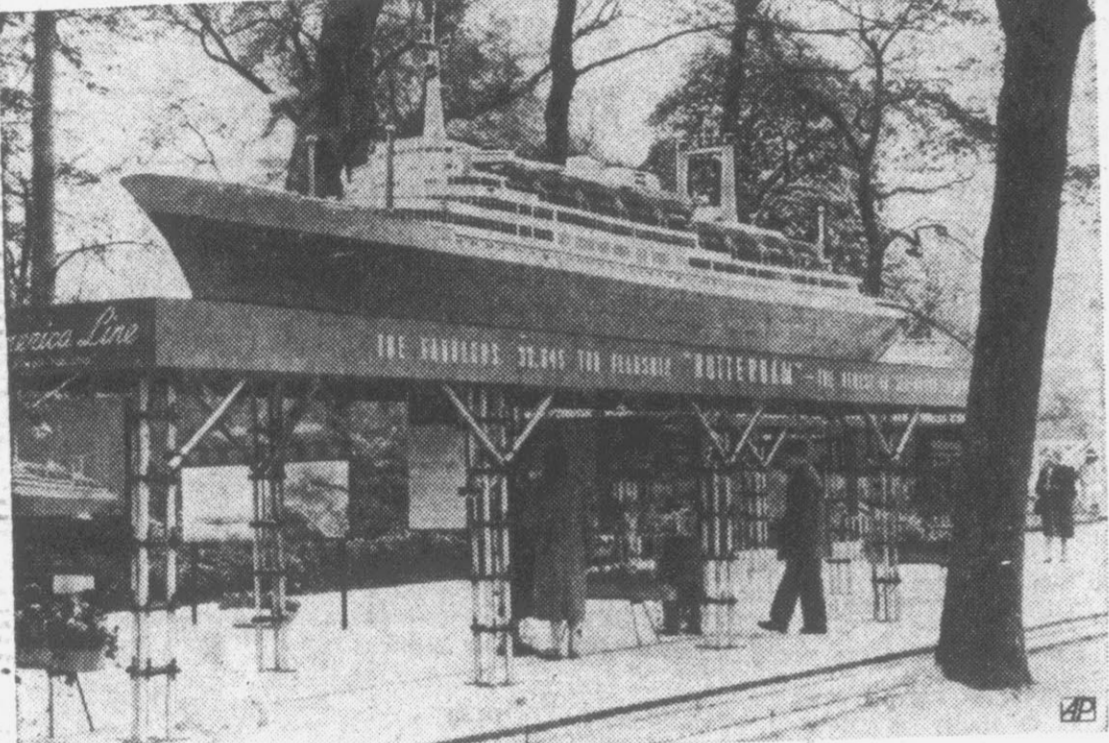

Since instalment financing—running at a record high of 40 billion dollars—is now accepted as the normal American way, according to C.I.T., much of the upcoming leisure activity will be on the cuff.

Aristotle, some 2,300 years ago, said: "Even when laws have been written down, they ought not always to remain unaltered."

NEGRO CATHOLIC GAINS.
WASHINGTON (AP)—A survey of U. S. Roman Catholic dioceses finds that the number of Negro Catholics increased at a rate triple that of the general Negro population during the last decade. Negro Catholics now total 615,964, an increase of 217,853 over the 1950 figure of 398,111.

VOTE FOR DAVID McCONNELL FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR!

Copy of A Recent Editorial from Charlotte

North Carolinians are in the habit of devoting very little time to the candidates for lieutenant governor, partly because the average candidate rarely has anything worthwhile to offer.

But now and then such a campaign brings out a person with imagination and a dynamic will to do something to justify his candidacy. This year we have such a man in Charlotte's own David McConnell.

In his official announcement, the Charlotte man made it plain that he is in favor of improving our school system and for all other services that mean so much to the well being of the people.

It's all right to pledge support of such a program, but all too few offer ways and means of making it effective.

Mr. McConnell, realizing that these services will cost money, has made a study of a plan that he hopes will be accepted throughout the State. His plan embraces the recruiting of new industry, which should in turn strengthen the economy in the various sections of North Carolina.

The candidate is urging the various counties, especially the smaller ones with very little industry, to organize development districts, under state statute. Perhaps six or more separate districts should be formed in order to get the maximum results. Each district would levy a tax sufficient to give the district adequate income to employ a professional industrial engineer who would determine the human and natural resources of the region. With this information, the area team would be in position to compete more effectively for industry.

This seems to us sound, constructive advice for a state in which 20 of its 100 counties produce approximately two-thirds of its manufactured goods. Some of the smaller counties are losing workers and taxpayers to other counties in this and other states, and as a result these counties are finding it difficult to provide adequate school facilities and other public services for their people.

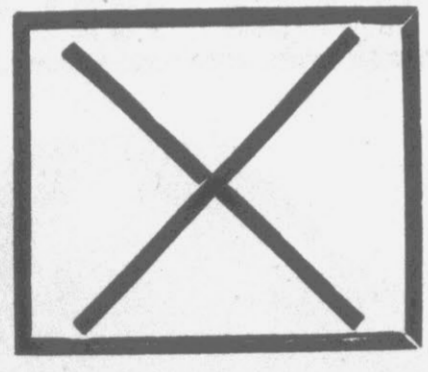

David McConnell's background is one based on wide experiences in business and the professions. After his graduation at Davidson College, he won a scholarship to the Harvard Business College.

He is a loyal Democrat and public servant. The legal profession claims him as one of its foremost members. He was a youngster when his father died, thus making it necessary for him to help support himself by working on farms and in textile mills.

He served throughout World War II, entering the army as a second lieutenant of infantry and retiring at the end of the war with the rank of colonel. He served conspicuously in the first and second Burma campaigns and won three citations for meritorious conduct.

Can Get Men In Space, But Have Fears Of Stress

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Scientists are confident they can send a man into space and get him back safely. But they aren't sure how he'll do while he's up there. They are particularly concerned about the effects of weightlessness and isolation. "The void that remains, the human element, cannot be determined until a significant number of astronauts have returned from flight through space," Lt. Col. Bernard E. Flaherty of the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine said. He spoke Thursday to 350 scientists attending a symposium of effects of space travel on the mind and body at Brooks Air Force Base. Flaherty quoted the observation of Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, that "man is a sea-level, low-speed, one-G, 12-hour animal," and described man as "the weakest link in our aerospace development to date."

Other speakers expressed concern about the astronaut's ability to adjust his schedule of working days and sleeping nights to the demands of space travel, and his capabilities for standing up under long periods of stress. Dr. Mortimer H. Applezweig of the University of Montreal, Canada, cited experiments with animals in which "damage to the heart, the kidney, the liver, the blood vessels, the bones and the skin have all been produced" as a result of stress exposure. "It is possible that critical situations in space flight may overload a man in space," Dr. James G. Miller of the University of Michigan Mental Health Research Institute said.

"As a result of this overload, he might be unable to process information adequately, and a serious breakdown in performance might result." Four speakers described experiments in which men in simulated space cabins and capsules had hallucinations—Seeing such things as pigs and Indians peering from the instruments and a hole opening in the floor, hearing voices when they were alone deciding they had been poisoned and fearing the cabin was aflame.

He's Building Light Airplane Inside Home

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—Remember that fellow who built a boat in his basement and couldn't get it out? Well, Richard Fitzgerald won't have the same problem with the airplane he is building in his living room. When the craft is complete, it will be taken to the airport in three sections—two wings and fuselage. The Elmira businessman began the project a year ago. He expects to be flying his plane this summer.

The test flight will bring some suspense, he admits. "But I'm not really worried," he says. "It's just a question of whether it will perform the way I want it to. I have no doubt that it will hold together and fly." The plane's presence has started many visitors. A wing fills the second living room. Often, the project spills into the kitchen. Mrs. Fitzgerald, who learned how to use a sewing machine to qualify as chief fabric sewer, and the six young Fitzgeralds are enthusiastic. Norman, 11 helps with the painting. With the exception of the engine, all parts have been made from raw materials, such as steel tubing and plywood. Fitzgerald, a member of the Binghamton Chapter, Experimental Aircraft Assn., has been flying for three years and has been talking for nearly as long about building his own plane.

Finally his wife called his bluff. "I'll buy the plans and specifications if you build it," she said, never expecting he would. The one-place Model S A 3 A Stits Playboy will be 18 feet long, with a 22-foot wingspan and a 65 horsepower Continental engine. Fitzgerald figures his cost will be $1,000 for a plane that would sell for $5,000.

Roller Coaster Jumped Tracks; 5 Students Hurt

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—A roller coaster car, running without an attendant on duty, jumped the track Thursday at Lesourdville Lake Park near here and injured five West Alexandria High School students.

Judy McCarty, 18, was hospitalized with a possible brain concussion and multiple bruises. The other youths, treated and released, were Carol Smith, 13; Dennis Cole, 17; Roger Dolph, 14; and Sharon Sutton, 13.

Mrs. John Bitner, cashier at the ride, said the youngsters had bought tickets and entered the car. It suddenly started moving, made a circuit of the ride and then jumped the track after failing to stop.

Park officials said the incident occurred while David Bradenstein, the ride attendant, was away for a few minutes. Bradenstein said he had shut off the ride mechanism before he left.

PARLOR PLANE-BUILDER—Richard Fitzgerald explains to his family the finer points of wing construction. He is building a light plane in the living room of his home, and expects to fly it this summer.

AGAIN MY OPPONENT ATTACKS WITH HALF TRUTHS AND INFERENCE! Here Are The Facts!

- (1) The bill my opponent refers to was reported out of the House unanimously.
- (2) The bill was the initial step to save coastal shipping. The ships in question WERE NOT BOUGHT but were merely chartered for a specific fee—and the federal government retained the right to take them back in an emergency.
- (3) The "piggy-back" or container-type plan of utilizing ships is now the most predominant use of ships in our coastal trade. As a matter of fact, most ships built for coastal trade are now specifically constructed for this purpose. As you know, many cigarettes manufactured in North Carolina are shipped by this method.
- (4) It is incorrect that Drew Pearson made this statement at the time in question; however, my opponent, quoting out of context as usual, did not tell you the real facts. I refer to a newspaper ad published in The Daily Advance in Elizabeth City. I received a telegram from Congressman Zelenko yesterday. He was also mentioned in the ad. His telegram stated "any use of inaccurate press reports is nothing but a desperate endeavor to besmirch the good character of and reputation of an outstanding representative of the people of North Carolina."

Herter Cites Evidence Of Moscow Switch On Ike's Trip Prior May 7

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has disclosed that the Soviets cancelled on May 6 a "Welcome-to-Russia" article about President Eisenhower in their English language magazine distributed here. This was before the U.S. admission on May 7 that the U2 plane had been on an espionage mission, instead of a harmless weather flight.

Herter made the disclosure Thursday during a closed door appearance before the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.) prepared a summary of the session, which Herter okayed before it was released.

State Department sources later filled out the picture. They said the magazine article withdrawal showed that he decided to cancel Eisenhower's June visit to the Soviet Union was made on or before May 6. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev did not publicly withdraw the invitation until the summit meeting was to begin on May 16.

Morgan's statement said "this indicates that the Soviet line about the President's visit had changed officially before the U2 incident had developed."

The article was scheduled for the June issue of USSR, the picture magazine produced by the Soviets for American distribution. The United States distributes a Russian language magazine called America in the Soviet Union. The Soviet magazine is printed in this country.

The presses were stopped May 6 and the Eisenhower article warmly welcoming the President and picturing places he was to visit, was pulled out and replaced by two other articles.

Also killed was a cover picture of two girls in native costume with "Welcome Mr. President" in the upper right hand corner. The Soviets substituted a cover of Khrushchev addressing the Supreme Soviet.

Another deletion was a picture of Eisenhower in the Tretyakov Art Gallery, taken when he visited the Soviet Union at the end of World War II. An article on the art gallery was retained.

The timetable was this: On May 5 Khrushchev made his first disclosure of it in the Supreme Soviet. The next day the Soviets took all mention of Eisenhower's visit out of the magazine, already on the presses in this country. On May 7 the United States admitted the U2 was a spy plane. A week and a half later Khrushchev ostentatiously withdrew the invitation to Eisenhower at Paris.

Herter also told the committee, Morgan said, that he anticipates some "further spectacular action" by the Soviets in the next few months.

Morgan said he didn't think Herter meant a warlike, hostile move, but perhaps a scientific feat like the first Sputnik.

Herter also was quoted as saying "summitry as a means of accomplishing in world affairs has taken a very hard knock."

Levies Fines On Club Operators

SHELBY, N.C. (AP)—Judge Reuben Elam levied fines totaling $6,700 in Cleveland County Recorder's Court Thursday against 14 operators of private clubs. They pleaded guilty to violating prohibition laws and possessing gambling devices.

Officers raided veterans, fraternal and social clubs May 10 and confiscated 2,040 pints of liquor, 325 cases of beer, 39 slot machines and other gambling devices. These were ordered destroyed. Their value was unofficially estimated at $60,000 to $80,000.

William Manning of Kings Mountain and Jim Johnson of Shelby pleaded innocent. Their cases were dismissed. Judge Elam said the prosecution could show no evidence that they were club operators.

Others are to be tried at Kings Mountain Monday on charges stemming from the raids. Those fined here included Erwin Y. Crane, Urial White, Paul Brooks, Charles B. Weaver, William M. Hoffman, H. Gene Barrows, John Lowe, Talmadge Carrouthers, William Pearson, Henry Lee, Ray G. Alexander, Paul Brown, Pete Mungo and Ernest Roberts.

Selection Could Be Asset

Greenville's selection as the site for the first prep All-Star game on June 10th may prove to be a big asset to our community in future years if we are able to retain the game.

For some time now the city of Greensboro has backed the All-Star football and basketball games in the fall of each year. A coaching clinic has accompanied the games with a well-known coach usually presiding.

The games have prospered greatly in Greensboro, growing in attendance each year. It has become a "happy hunting ground" for college coaches.

Idea Originated By College Coaches

The idea of a baseball game originated in January of last year when East Carolina diamond coach Jim Mallory and UNC skipper Walter Rabb attended a baseball clinic in New York. Work was started on the project and this spring a meeting of high school baseball coaches in Chapel Hill approved the idea and set to planning the first game.

At the same time, the Lions Club in Greenville was seeking a project to help defray the expenses toward a boys hut at Lake Waccamaw. The civic club decided to undersign the All-Star game and will co-sponsor the event with the High School Baseball Coaches Association.

Jim Mallory, serving in an advisory capacity, feels the game will be a "boost in the arm for high school baseball." "Baseball on the high school level needs some help and we feel this is the best way to help it," declares Mallory. "It has taken a back seat to some of the other sports but this will give the boys some incentive."

In discussing future plans of such a game, Mallory points out the possibility of two or three games in the summer and also a coaching clinic.

Greenville Has Adequate Facilities

Whether the game will remain in Greenville after this summer remains to be seen. Guy Smith Stadium is tops for the prep level and the college will serve as an adequate place for housing and feeding the visiting prep stars. Yet, the response at the game will probably swing more weight than the other two combined.

Members of the Lions Club were issued tickets at their weekly meeting and officials point to a paid crowd of 1,000 as being the minimum goal. Tickets have also been distributed to the College Shop, Bissettes, Larry's Shoe Shop, Biggs Drug Store, State Bank, and Steinbecks' and will be on sale at those firms.

Must Be Backed To Hilt

The game, undoubtedly, could develop into something big for Greenville and the eastern section of the state. It will be worthwhile to keep the All-Star clash in our city.

To hold the game here, it will take some effort on the part of the civic clubs in town to promote the game to the hilt. The permanent establishment of the game here should lure major league and college scouts and present high school baseball at its best. It could be another first for the community of Greenville.

Leaders Drop League Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Raleigh moves to Greensboro tonight for the start of a two-game series between the leaders in the Carolina League pennant race.

Both teams missed opportunities to pick up ground Thursday night. Durham topped Raleigh 6-3 and Wilson edged Greensboro 4-3 with a run in the bottom of the ninth. Burlington and Winston-Salem were tied 4-4 when rain ended their contest.

Raleigh continued to lead Greensboro by two full games. Durham, loser of its last five road games, returned to its home park and whipped the league leaders behind the one-hit, seven-inning relief performance by Johnny Seale. The triumph was the 12th in a row for the Bulls at Durham Athletic Park.

Greensboro's Dom Maisano walked Ray Looney with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth and forced home Wilson's winning run.

The Burlington-Winston-Salem game goes down in the record books as a complete contest. It will be replayed from the beginning as part of a double-header Sunday.

In other action tonight Durham plays Winston-Salem and Wilson plays Burlington.

The relationship between coach and pupil is usually a close one but the line will have to be drawn tomorrow afternoon when Rose High student and golfer, Dallas Clark, throws a challenge to the veteran Boley Farley, Rose High coach, in the finals for the Greenville Country Club and Golf Course championship.

The stage for the pupil vs. coach attraction was set last weekend when Clark eased by Percy Ashley in the semi-finals and Farley made a comeback to topple Harry Rainey in a "sudden death" play-off.

Arched in the role of defending champion and an experienced golfer, Farley is given the odds over his younger opponent. Yet, observers admit that the prep coach must pick up his game from last week's semi-finals play-off. Clark, playing for the first time in the club championship, appeared determined and unyielding to pressure on the eve of the championship play-off.

"I'll do my best and just hope I make a good showing," viewed Clark in talking of the finals. "I have been real fortunate so far and have been playing the best golf that I have ever played."

Playing in the same foursome with Farley last weekend, Clark didn't think his coach's play gave any indication of his golf game. "He just had a bad day," stated Clark. "but with his ability, he will play a lot better game."

A slow-starter every spring, Clark caught fire in the final weeks of the high school schedule. Playing as the number five man on the Rose High squad, Clark blazed into second place behind Bobby Thomas in the conference tournament and led the local linksters in the state tourney, finishing twelfth.

Clark credits his recent play with an improved swing, help by members of his golf team, and some advice by Jack Gates.

The prep golfer hasn't had much chance to work at his game this week due to exams at Rose High but did play 18 holes Thursday afternoon and enters the match play tourney finals with confidence.

Farley, who considers himself a "baseball golfer," is afraid to predict how he will come out in the finals. "I just don't ever know until I get there and start," says Farley.

The defending champ doesn't feel that his game has been as sharp this spring as it was in 1959 when he won the title going away. He cites the closeness of all his matches this year. "I was real luck to beat Rainey (Harry) last week. We were both off our game."

As for his opponent, Farley rates Clark as a "real good golfer" and "one of the most improved golfers" in Greenville.

Thirty-six holes will be played for the finals with 18 to be played on Saturday and 18 on Sunday.

Trophies will be awarded the Country Club Sunday afternoon at 5:00. The golfers will tee off at 12:30 on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. They will play with Joe Exum and Bill Davenport, finalists in the first flight. The public is invited to follow the golfers.

First baseman Dick Jones, third baseman Howard Mikytuck, outfielder Tom Clary and pitcher Dick Almes gained places on the honor squad for The Citadel, which will represent the conference in the NCAA playoffs.

Catcher Chuck Boone, shortstop Alan Cole and pitcher Charlie Revere were Richmond's three contributions to the team chosen by conference coaches for the Southern Conference Sportswriters Assn.

Rounding out the team were second baseman Paul Popovich of West Virginia and outfielders Dickie Sneed of Virginia Tech and Joe Gedro of VMI.

Almes and Revere were the league's winningest pitchers this spring. Almes finished with a 7-1 record, a handsome 1.77 earned-run average, and struck out 87 in 71 innings. Revere was 7-2, had a 2.77 ERA and whiffed 57 in 78 innings. Both he and Almes are righthanders and juniors.

Clary, with a .421 batting average and 32 runs batted in; Jones, 3.67 with seven home runs, and Mikytuck, .338, were the backbone of The Citadel's attack. Boone (2.63) and Cole (.242) combined defensive excellence with clutch hitting for the defensively strong Richmond team which won four of eight conference games by a single run.

The second team: First base, Phil Chewing, Furman; second base, Doug Martin, Richmond; shortstop, Ron Mascl, William and Mary; third base, Hicky Horton, Furman; outfield, Berry Swilling, Richmond; Bill Smith, West Virginia; and Henry Mura, The Citadel; catcher, Harry Cline, Davidson; pitchers, Doug Turner, Furman; Dennis Hill, George Washington; and Jimmy Graves, Virginia Tech.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Citadel and Richmond, which tied for the Southern Conference baseball championship, claimed seven of the 10 berths on the 1960 all-conference team, it was announced today.

First baseman Dick Jones, third baseman Howard Mikytuck, outfielder Tom Clary and pitcher Dick Almes gained places on the honor squad for The Citadel, which will represent the conference in the NCAA playoffs.

Braves, Adcock Come Alive; Giants Pad Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Joe Adcock's at it again and Milwaukee's so-so Braves have come alive, winning four of their last five.

The big first baseman, bothered by plating and a bad back, has driven in seven of Milwaukee's 17 runs in that spurt while upping his batting average to .352. He was 2-for-4 and rapped across a run as the Braves scored a clinching three in the second inning Thursday night for a 4-1 victory at St. Louis.

San Francisco padded its first place lead to 1½ games over idle Pittsburgh, flattened the Phils again with a 9-0 victory on Jack Sanford's four-hit pitching and a trio of homers. No other games were scheduled in the NL.

In the American League, idle Cleveland took over first by .012 percentage points over Baltimore. The Orioles slipped to second with a 2-0 loss at New York as Whitey Ford pitched a three-hitter for the fourth place Yankees. Third place Chicago climbed within a half-game of the top by beating Kansas City 3-1. Washington defeated Boston 5-2. Adcock and winning pitcher Bob Buhl (3-2) each singled home a run in the second for the third place Braves, who trail by four games. The Braves counted 11 of their 12 hits off loser Wilmer Mizell (1-3).

The Cards scored in the fifth on Bob Neuman's first NL home run, one of his three hits. Buhl, the first to put away three complete games on the Braves' staff, gave up seven hits, walked three and struck out nine.

Orlando Cepeda, who drove in four runs, Ed Bressoud and Willie Mays homered as the Giants banged a dozen hits for a sweep of the three-game set at Philadelphia and a 6-0 record against the Phils. It was Sanford's fifth victory in six decisions and his second shutout over his ex-mates.

Gene Conley (2-2) dropped his second to the Giants, giving up their three runs on Cepeda's eighth home run and Bressoud's fourth. Reliever Ruben Gomez, one of the guys the Phils got in return for Sanford two years ago, was tagged for five runs in the ninth. Mays' No. 4 homer, with two on, capped it.

Yankees Stop Oriole Streak Behind Ford; Tribe Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

They can be the league-leading Baltimore Orioles or a bunch of second division birds, either way they're dead ducks against Whitey Ford.

The stubby southpaw, bothered by elbow trouble and home run balls, looked as good as ever Thursday night, pitching a three-hitter as the New York Yankees beat Baltimore 2-0 and eased the Orioles out of the American League lead.

The loss ended the Birds' winning streak at four and dropped them to second place, .012 percentage points behind idle Cleveland. It's the first time the Indians, with an 18-12 record to Baltimore's 20-14, have been alone in first place this season.

Chicago's third place White Sox moved within a half-game of the lead, ending their slump at four games with a 3-1 victory at Kansas City. Washington defeated Boston 5-2 in the only other AL game scheduled.

In the National League, San Francisco padded its lead to 1 1/2 games with a 9-0 victory at Philadelphia on Jack Sanford's four-hit pitching. Milwaukee defeated St. Louis 4-1. No other games were scheduled.

Ford gave up a second-inning double by Brooks Robinson and a third-inning single by losing pitcher Skinny Brown, then didn't allow another hit until rookie Ron Hansen tripled with two out in the ninth.

The Yankees beat two out in the first inning on Tony Kubek's lead-off single, a walk and Bob Cerv's two-out single. Singles by Bill Skowron and Bobby Richardson got the other run home in the seventh.

Dick Brown's two-run homer and an RBI triple by Minnie Minoso gave the White Sox their runs in the first three innings against Dick Hall (4-1). Gerry Staley who came in with the bases loaded and one out in the seventh and got pinch-hitter Hank Bauer on a doubleplay ball, saved the victory for Bob Shaw (4-3), who gave up four of the A's five hits.

Pete Ramos won his second in a row with a five-hitter for the Senators, after losing his first five. A two-run single by Julio Becquer capped a winning three-run fifth against Jerry Casale (2-3).

NO PASSAGE — Wolverhampton goalie Mal Finlayson goes all out to block scoring attempt by Blackburn in British football final in London. His team won, 3-0.

Robinson Hopes For Sixth Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, five times the world middleweight champion, hopes to make it six on June 10 when he boxes Paul Pender in Boston for the New York-Massachusetts version of the title.

The 40-year-old New Yorker claims he is rounding into shape and positively plans to show up for the Pender fight. He said his failure to appear in Baltimore recently, leading to his suspension by the Maryland commission, was due to a misunderstanding.

Did Robinson feel he had to knock out Pender to win in Boston?

"I'd like to win," he said. "I don't care how. I never go into a fight with the idea of knocking a man out. I am preparing for 15 rounds. Of course, a knockout always is the best insurance. Somehow, I always seem to do best when there is a challenge involved."

"I never squawked about the decision in Boston (a split verdict for Pender Jan. 22). From the letters and wires I got after the fight, I seemed to have the sympathy of the television public on my side."

A visitor to the gymnasium caught Sugar Ray in a two-round sparring session with Clarence Hinant. Robinson was trying to sharpen his left jab after dropping Hinant with a hook in Tuesday's workout. It was not one of his better performances.

Robinson will get a rich payday for the Pender rematch. He said he gets 70 per cent of the television money, generally accepted to be $150,000. That, in addition to his 30 per cent of the gate.

Dairy Puts Halt To Graniteer Streak, 5-2

Fire-balling Gene Moss of Carolina Dairy put a halt to the winning ways of the Graniteers last night by holding the city champs to three hits while his teammates beat out a 5-3 victory.

COATES CLICKS..... by Pap'

There was a time, not more than a year ago, when Jim Coates was tempted to give up his pitching career and turn to a more profitable means of earning a living. He had a history of arm trouble and slight hopes of making the Yankees after posing a 2-0 record with Richmond in 1958. Only because the Yankees were desperately in need of bolstering their pitching staff did Manager Casey Stengel carry Coates along. Only when the club slumped and showed no signs of being a pennant contender did Stengel decide there was nothing to lose. He gave Coates a chance to show what he could do.

Coates appeared in 37 games last season and pitched a total of 100 innings. He won six games and posted an impressive earned-run average of 2.88. He fanned 64 and walked only 36. As the 1959 season rolled along Coates grew in pitching stature. He gained confidence and his fast ball became a livelier. By the close of the dismal season he had established himself as a solid pitcher. He had earned a starting role and confirmed the high rating put on him by pitching coach Eddie Lopat. Coates worked impressively in training and on the exhibition tour. When Stengel announced that Coates would pitch the opening game of the 1960 season, Jim knew he had made the grade. He beat the Red Sox to get the Yankees off to a winning start.

Coates is a grim, unsmiling workman on the mound. Making a success of his pitching career is serious business with him. He has the pitching equipment and a fierce competitive spirit. It took a bit of selling but he has convinced Manager Stengel that he can play an important role in the necessary revising of the Yankee mound staff. One year can make a whole of a difference in a 28-year-old pitcher's outlook on life.

Pepsi-Cola Blanks Elks

Dickie Wade hit a grand-slam homer in the bottom half of the sixth inning yesterday to break up a scoreless pitching duel and send Pepsi-Cola home with a 4-0 victory over the Elks.

The game had been a dog-eat-dog pitching contest between Wade and the Elks' Van Fleming. Wade scattered two hits in chalking up the win.

Fleming allowed six hits but wasn't in serious trouble until the sixth. Wade's blast ruined his shutout and chance for a victory. Elks 000 000 0-0 2 2
Pepsi-Cola 000 000 4-4 6 1

Altman, Roller Top Pitching Honors AC

GREENSBORO (AP) — Duke sophomore Don Altman and Clemson junior Jim Roller have all but wrapped up major 1960 pitching honors in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

How North Carolina's moundsmen perform in the upcoming NCAA playoffs will tell the final story.

Altman, who finished with a final 8-2 won-lost record, had a brilliant 0.82 earned run average, by far the best during the regular season.

Roller, with a remarkable control record, ended with the best won-lost record (5-1) among those with four or more decisions, which is the minimum for official contention.

The ACC champion Tar Heels, who begin NCAA action at Gastonia late next week, have four outstanding pitchers.

First of these is Wayne Young, who boasts a 1.09 earned run average and a 7-2 record.

Nick Warren and Bob Deaton, both 3-0, and Ben Hammett, 3-1, all three have reasonable chances for the won-lost title.

Roller walked 11 batters in 71 2-3 innings this spring, an average of 1.33 walks per nine innings. Altman yielded eight earned runs in 87 2-3 innings and also struck out 58.

Bob Plemmons of Wake Forest, who finished 6-5, tops strikeouts with 65, and Joel Gibson of N.C. State (7-4) is second with 61.

Behind third - place Altman is Young with 49, and he could surpass Plemmons in the NCAA.

Other top pitching records include Bailey Hendley of Clemson 4-1 and Butch Williams of Duke 3-1.

Williams at 1.75 ranks third in ERA standings, Gibson fourth at 2.72 and Roller fifth at 2.76.

Barber Leads Rich Tourney

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jim Rathmann is overdue to win the Memorial Day 500-mile auto race Monday.

That's an observation — not a prediction.

The soft-spoken 31-year-old veteran from Miami has finished second three times, the last by 23 seconds to Rodger Ward last year.

He has a fine new Watson car, owned by Ken Rich and Paul Lacy of Dallas, with Chick Hirschman as chief mechanic and Smokey Yunick as pit crew chief.

Hirschman rode with Rex Mays in the days of two-man cars and turned the wrenches on George Robson's 1946 Indianapolis winner.

Yunick also is a race car builder.

Rathmann isn't the first man to drive brilliantly on the Speedway and repeatedly miss the big pot in close finishes.

Harry Hartz took three seconds and two fourths in one five-year span, 1922-26. Then he built a car for Billy Arnold, who led all but the first two laps of the 1930 race!

Rathmann, a native of Los Angeles, got his start in roadster races at Carrell Speedway in 1946. He went on to Chicago with the Hurricane Hotrods, then moved into big league racing with his brother Dick, Pat Flaherty ('56 Indianapolis), the late Bob Sweikert and other postwar standouts.

Won't Face Same Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP) — American and National League baseball all-stars won't have to face the best pitcher in the opposing league in both games this year.

The games will be played July 11 at Kansas City and July 13 in Yankee Stadium in New York. A new rule bars any pitcher from taking part in both games. Last year Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers started both games for the National League.

That rule, and one increasing the rosters of both teams to 30 players, are the only innovations this year—the second year for two all-star games.

Last year the second game was an added starter for which plans had not been made. The first game was played at Pittsburgh July 7, and the second at Los Angeles Aug. 3 after the players had voted in favor of a repeat. The Nationals won the first game, 5-4, and the Americans the second, 5-3.

WITN Applies For 1,602-Foot Antenna Tower

WASHINGTON, N. C.—Application was made today to the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D. C. for a 1,602 foot tower for WITN, Channel Seven, it was announced (today) by W. R. Roberson, Jr., President and General Manager of the station. WITN is the NBC Television affiliate for Eastern North Carolina.

The proposed tower will be constructed at the WITN transmitter site at Grifton and will replace the present 919 foot tower which has been in use since 1955. WITN studios and offices are located on US 17 south of Washington, North Carolina.

This tower will greatly increase the station's coverage area to the extent that the Grade A coverage will be extended over 45 percent with a population increase of over 36 percent.

This tower will stand 130 feet taller than the Empire State Building.

The estimated cost of construction is $300,000.00. The antenna proper which transmits WITN signal, mounted at the top of the tower, is 102 feet in length and weighs 7 tons.

The tower itself will require over 500,000 pounds of steel to build. The elevator ride to carry workmen to the top will require approximately 25 minutes, one of the longest elevator rides in the world.

Many communities are now receiving Grade B coverage from any other TV station would be served with this quality signal for the first time by this new tower. Included in this list are such towns as: Harkers Island, Marshallberg, Smyrna, Davis, Stacy, Atlantic, Sea Level, Fairfield, New Holland, Lake Landing and other towns in isolated TV areas.

Construction of the tower is subject to the approval of the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Aviation Agency. Completion after approval will require about six months.

Probably The Only Man Alive Who Really Did It

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When Patricia Mowbray was 2, Douglas Dumbrille remarked, as fond family friends do: "When you grow up, I'm going to marry you."
Says Dumbrille today: "I'm probably the only man alive who carried out that remark."
A week ago, the veteran character actor married the daughter of his old friend, Alan Mowbray. The Las Vegas ceremony surprised the friends of both. It also drew more than usual attention from newspapers. He is 70, she is 28.
"Age doesn't mean a blasted thing," he comments. "The important thing is whether two people can be happy together. Pat and I agreed that I had some happy years left and we could best share them together. Happiness means everything in life."
Dumbrille is the smooth-looking gent who has played senators, lawyers, judges and tycoons in more movies than he can remember. Like the types he enacts, he is conservative, and he talked about his marriage with reluctance.

The actor sat in the lounge and explained: "Pat and I told no one about the wedding, except her parents, of course. Neither of us likes conflict and dissension, so we decided not to raise any issue. To our surprise, the reaction of all our friends has been excellent."
He said he had known her father since before he married her mother and knew Pat as a child but seldom saw her in later years. Dumbrille himself had one of Hollywood's happiest marriages. He and his wife had been wed 47 years when she died three years ago. He was hard hit.
"I let myself fall into a stupid, sentimental rut," he admitted. "I just didn't care any more. Pat changed all that. She gave me a reason for living."
The father of two and grandfather of four, he keeps his 53-year acting career as busy as ever. He recently appeared with Bing Crosby in "High Time" and starred in a TV series, "Grand Jury."

What To Do If He Catches One?

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A hunter who believes abominable snowmen are in California wants to know what the state would do if he catches one.
"You'll have to catch him first," Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk said Thursday in a letter to J.M. Etchart of Oroville.
Etchart claims he was hot on the trail of the fabled "snowman" but wanted to be sure state laws would let him keep such a mountain creature if he caught one.
The Oroville man said the snowman, made famous by Himalayan mountain climbers' tales, was called "Bigfoot" in California's Humboldt Mountains.

Milwaukee War Memorial Has Mural Of 1,440,000 Pieces

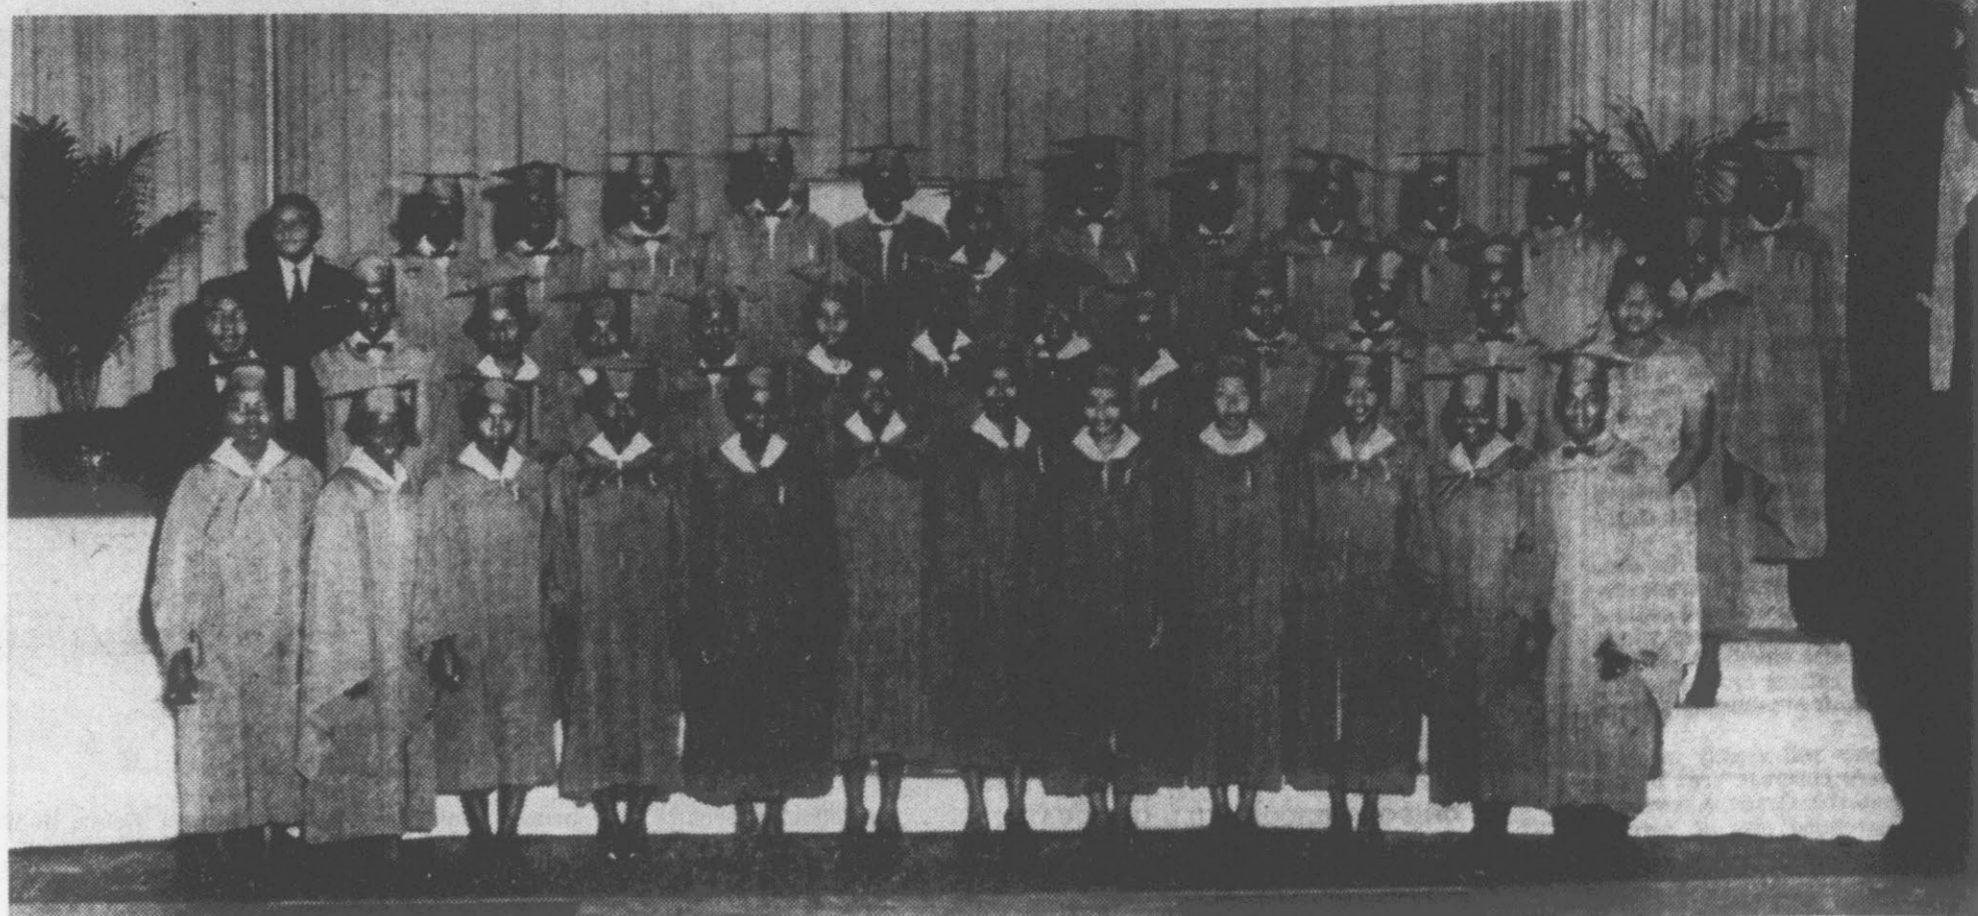

MILWAUKEE MURAL—The mural on the front of the Milwaukee War Memorial Center is described as the nation's largest outdoor mosaic. However, the mural's meaning, not its size, is what attracts the most comment.

By ROBERT O'MEARA
MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee War Memorial Center has unveiled its $50,000 mural—1,440,000 pieces of it.
The mural, described as the largest outdoor mosaic in the nation, covers five separate 22½ by 16 foot panels on one side of the lakefront structure. The mosaic's combination of Roman numerals sparkles in deep tones of blue, grey, reds and purple.
The striking design has given viewers something to puzzle over, namely, what does it mean? The answer isn't simple.
"A design which is too readily apparent soon loses its interest," says Edmund Lewandowski, director of the Layton School of Art of Milwaukee, who designed the mural and supervised its construction.
Basically, the mural commemorates the years of World War II and the Korean War. The center is dedicated to the men who died in those wars.
Here's how you go about reading the design, according to the Center:
"The first three panels bear the single Roman numerals MCM, MCMIV and MCMV. Panels four and five give the viewer a choice to make up the necessary dates: XLII on panel five, which results in a reading of MCML III or 1953." Obviously, you can't get the full significance by merely driving past the Center.

Lewandowski tried 40 or 50 ideas and mosaic combinations on the face of the building before reaching a color decision. Then he worked with craftsmen in New York for almost two years, cutting up discs of glass tesserae—cubed bits of enamel-glass and marble—into the design. The glass was made at Murano, a small island near Venice, Italy.
Lewandowski also used 16 varieties of marble from Vermont, Minnesota, Italy, Belgium, Yugoslavia, India and Germany.
The mosaic represents a new use of the ancient craft, Lewandowski said, in that the size of the bits of tesserae and marble never have been as large as in this design. The bits vary from one-half inch across to three to four inches.
"The keynote of the design is its classic grandeur and simplicity," Lewandowski said. "We have tried to achieve an ageless design that would be just as valid years from now as it is today."
Teheran, capital of Iran (formerly Persia) has a population of 1,525,000.

Car Raced Into Young Paraders

MADAWASKA, Maine (AP)—Children were tossed into the air and all over the place. It was terrible—one of the most tragic scenes I've ever witnessed."
That was what Gov. John H. Reed saw Thursday when an automobile hurtled through a high school band massing for a parade. Twelve children were injured.
Three of the youngsters were dragged beneath the car as it careened through a municipal parking lot, smashed through a guard rail, and plunged down an embankment.
Their names were placed on the danger list at a hospital in nearby Edmundston, N. B.
The driver, George Pelletier, 62, an unemployed construction worker, told police he lost control when the car's gas pedal stuck.
He was booked on a drunken driving charge and released on $5,000 bail.
Also injured was bandmaster Edward Murphy, who was knocked down by the car just as he was signaling the band to march.
Gov. Reed, here to dedicate a new U. S. Customs Service building, looked on in horror as the car, which was waiting for the band to move out of the parking lot—lurched forward and plowed through the group of 71 children.
The car had to be lifted so that two of the youngsters it dragged along could be pulled from beneath it.

Hollywood Boulevard Is Acquiring New Glamor

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For decades, the appearance of the movie capital remained the same. While most of Los Angeles boomed, its much-publicized suburb continued static, even a little seedy.
Now famed Hollywood Boulevard is taking on a modern look, getting a touch of needed glamor. The Chamber of Commerce is leading a campaign to reclaim the street from the orange stands and close-out stores. Buildings and theaters, most of them dating back to the 20s, are refurbishing their fronts. A handsome office building at Hollywood and Highland Ave. is the first big addition to the skyline in years.
Tourists have long complained that there was little to see in Hollywood itself, aside from the footprints at Grauman's Chinese. Now they'll be able to see a glittering sidewalk along the Boulevard, imprinted with the names of show biz stars. Plans are underway to build a motion picture museum opposite Hollywood Bowl.
The city council has approved a master plan to develop the brush-covered Hollywood hills into a vast residential area. Some day, two million people will live where the deer and coyote still roam.
The movie studios are changing, too.

planned will be on the 180 acres that house 20th Century Fox's backlot. The outdoor sets will be swept away for the half-billion-dollar Century City. Within 15 years, the Westwood plot is expected to contain massive, gleaming buildings that will accommodate 25,000 workers by day and 35,000 residents by night.
Another big chunk of movie real estate facing development is the Warners ranch, where Errol Flynn once saved Burma and other reaches of the British Empire. A thousand acres of rich San Fernando Valley land, it will be cut up into shopping centers and housing under a plan recently submitted to the city.

The stars live and shop and dine in Beverly Hills, and that community is fast changing, too. New office buildings are towering above Wilshire Boulevard, and the shops are getting poshier all the time.
Oil derricks are rising over some of the studios, and some of the lots may parcel out more of their land for development.
Oddly, no studios have disappeared. Backlots and ranches have been sold, but the demand of TV films for space is so great that scarcely a sound stage has been torn down.
In 1912 Dr. Alexis Carrel was the first American to receive the Nobel Prize in medicine and physiology. His prize was for his contribution to surgery of blood vessels.

My fellow citizens of Pitt County,

A little more than a month ago, I was selected to be Chairman of the Lake for Governor Committee. I want to express my deep appreciation and that of Beverly Lake for the courtesy, enthusiasm and friendship we have met in all parts of our county.

The success of Dr. Lake's candidacy rests more than anything else on the dozens of volunteer workers for Dr. Lake, who spontaneously saw in the background and record of our candidate, the opportunity of helping give North Carolina a GREAT governor.

During the earlier stages of the campaign, there was some loose talk of "closed schools", "paratroops", and the like, by some of our opponents. Dr. Lake and I chose not to dignify such remarks by a formal reply. We were confident that all our fair-minded Pitt County friends and neighbors would reject these ideas as fabrications generated during the heat of political campaigning.

Our confidence in the people of Pitt County has been more justified. The unprecedented swing in favor of Dr. Lake, the last candidate to announce, indicates that the voters sense that in Beverly Lake, North Carolina CAN have a GREAT governor. The nomination in Florida by a record majority this week of a candidate running on a program similar to Dr. Lake's, perhaps foretells a corresponding tide in North Carolina. Your help in this campaign and your vote for Beverly Lake tomorrow, in order to make this possible, will be appreciated. NOW is the time for action. You can act by making Beverly Lake your next Governor.

Cordially yours,
K. B. Pace, M. D.

VAN WYCK MASON'S newest thriller Secret Mission to Bangkok

CHAPTER 7
There was genuine sympathy in Hugh North's voice when he spoke.

"Doctor, believe me when I say that until you get your wife back I'll do my best to keep hands off any deals you've made with the kidnapers. That's a promise."

Hans Bracht's bald, frizzing head swung around slowly. "What do you mean exactly—you'll do your best to keep hands off?"
North winced inwardly. It might be the cardinal rule of all law-enforcement officers, from the precinct cop up to the FBI, to let kidnapers operate with a free hand until the ransom was paid or the snatch victim found, dead or alive, but international secret agents were not bound by that rule.

G-2 and comparable agencies sometimes indeed usually played for higher stakes than the life of one person.

"Put it this way," he said finally. "My first job is to keep you alive and out of the hands of our enemies, to get you back to Project Galaxy, as soon as possible. If a fast deal with the kidnapers will expedite that, it stands to reason I'll help in any way I can to arrange the ransom payoff and get your wife returned."

But this is no ordinary snatch, he added silently. The ransom they want is Hans Bracht. And when they try to collect I may have to forget there ever was such a person as Tao Muong.

Bracht was pondering what North had told him and, as the taxi jolted ahead in a sudden, miraculous spurt, he nodded slowly. "That makes sense," he said in a low voice. The doubt flowed back into his lean face. "But they'll know!" he exclaimed. "They told me they'd watch every move I made. They'll know you're from this—this Army Intelligence or whatever it is. They said not to talk to anybody."

"I'd say no to any kidnaper knowing who I am," Hugh offered reassuringly. "My work has been with the Army. This is a special case and I'm on it only because you're working on an Army missile project. If I were so well known that a kidnap gang would recognize me I wouldn't be of much use to the Army, would I? No, Doctor, kidnapers will be looking for police not Army G-2."

If they're just kidnapers, that is, he told himself. If they're bigger game they might be looking out for somebody like me, but that's a chance we'll have to take.
"Suppose the kidnapers did have somebody on that plane," he went on to Bracht. "He saw Marchet's approach. He saw me interfere, the nearest passenger and the logical man to step in. What could be more understandable than that I struck up a conversation with you after the incident?"

It was hard going, but Hugh got through to the missile genius beside him. He inclined his long head in a nod once more, so grudgingly that Hugh almost expected to hear a creak. "All right," Bracht said heavily. "All right, Colonel North, I'll—" "First, you'll call me Charley Boyden," North interposed. "That was my name back on the plane, the name any tail will expect."
Bracht grimaced. "I hope I remember. I am no good at this. Your must have been once, when you were getting out of Hitler's Germany. Aloud, Hugh said easily: "Don't worry about me. I said I intended to stick closer to a brother and I will, but that doesn't mean I'll be underfoot. This possibly is the last time we'll be seen together in public"—he looked at the roof of the shabby cab, the back of the driver's head, and grinned—"if this can be called public. When we get to the Imperial I'll fade into the background as much as possible. I'll contact you and I'll keep an eye on you but I won't clutter up the picture—not if I work it right."

The cab rattled and banged its way over the bridges of innumerable canals into the outskirts of Bangkok's Samsen district, an area featured by vast parks and the imposing Parliament Building, a huge dark pile of masonry at this hour. An occasional street lamp cast a wan glow that showed Hugh the polyglot dress worn by these people of Thailand.

Despite the country's progress within recent years it was evident that the elephant had lost none of its honorable position in Siam; the people still revered the great beast as an emblem of authority, a symbol of their religion, and, incongruously, as still the greatest source of locomotive power, all hydroelectric projects, turbine engines, and gasoline motors notwithstanding.

The colonel wrenched himself from these ruminations and turned his attention back to his ward. "We haven't got much more time alone. I've got a couple of questions. First, who is Georges Marchet and where did he know you?"
Bracht's lower lip pushed out obstinately. "I won't tell you."

North held his temper in check. "Then where did you meet Chu Hoong? Why is he afraid of you?"
"I never met anybody named Chu Hoong in my life."

"I asked you to be honest with me," the colonel reminded the scientist.
"I am being honest. If you mean that Chinese on the plane, if I ever knew him it wasn't under the name of Chu Hoong. As for Marchet, he has nothing to do with the kidnapping, not that word."

"Let me decide whether or not he's important to us. Who is he and where did you know him?"

North watched the space-travel genius wrestle with his doubts, his natural reticence, the old determination to keep the secret he had preserved for so many years. "Marchet would not have the courage to be mixed up with anything even so cowardly as the kidnapping of a little girl," he said finally.

"And you knew him when you were out here?" Hugh prodded. "During the war, after you left Germany?"

The long head inclined in the barest suggestion of a nod. "In Siam?"

This time there was a grudging negative headshake. "No, Marchet was in French Indochina, now Vietnam," the doctor said. "I—I was passing through and—"

Hugh North flung both arms around Hans Bracht and bore him down off the seat onto the littered floor of the cab. The next second there was a rending, ripping, grinding bedlam as a big black Citroen that had come out of nowhere sideswiped the taxi and sent it careening over the curb, across the sidewalk, and up against a tree in a park that bordered the street.

Hugh's first thought was that whoever had arranged the ramming had chosen the spot well. While he had been trying to drag explanations out of Hans Bracht the cab had turned off the crowded main thoroughfare onto a dark, empty side street that skirted a black stretch of ark, and the driver of the Citroen had not wasted a second when he saw the coast was clear.

The taxi driver? Had they outwitted him and blighted an agent at the wheel of this rickety cab, outguessed him by stationing the stooge in the fourth position of the taxi rank at Don Muang Airport?

If the cab driver was a Red agent he had been double-crossed, too; the tree trunk the cab had smashed into had crushed the driver's head and now the threadbare little man sagged over the wheel, dead.

Indians Are Really Up In Arms Over TV Portrayal

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV—Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The American Indian is on a warpath, and his goal is television's scalp. For that matter, he'll be after mine, too, if I write more sentences like that.

It illustrates the misleading, trite approach that Indians dislike. Now a committee of the Assn. of American Indian Affairs has started a drive to "force a change in false portrayals of Indians" on TV and in the movies. They protest the portrayal of American Indians as "bloodthirsty savage killers."

The Indians really are up in arms about what they consider a labeling of their ancestors. Delegates of 11 tribes met recently in Oklahoma to organize a protest and plan a petition to submit to President Eisenhower.

In addition, members of the Assn. of American Indian Affairs are planning to monitor TV westerns—noting offensive as well as accurate portrayals of the Indian.

In announcing its drive, the association carefully exempted two TV shows, from their blanket condemnation of the Western. They were "The Lone Ranger" and "Lawman."
Goodness knows what the manufacturers of Westerns will do without the painted, befeathered Indian for villains and for excuses for action. You can't always have the evil-doer the same old Black Bart.

I hope that President Eisenhower takes a few minutes off soon to have the bows of his glasses tightened. They kept sliding down on his nose during his address to the nation Wednesday night, and about half the time we couldn't see his eyes.

Look for a lot of repeats of shows now nominated for Emmy awards. The Fred Astaire show and the Alec Guinness comedy have already been rebroadcast. Next one coming — on NBC June 13 — "The Margaret Bourke-White Story" (Teresa Wright is up for the outstanding single performance award).

Circle Theatre's semi-documentary on the work of the Legal Aid Society Wednesday night was routine stuff — just like the plot of all those "Public Defender" series with Reed Hadley that are still around after all these years on re-re-runs. The problem, of course, is that for dramatic purposes, the legal aid man and the public defender almost always has to have an innocent defendant to protect, and this doesn't always add up to a realistic documentary approach.

(Eastern Daylight Time) — documentary on the lives of five American physicians; "Thrills of the 1960 Circus," CBS, 9-10-13 acts from the center rings; Cavalcade of Sports, NBC, 10-conclusion—Don Jordan vs. Benny "Kid" Faret, title bout from Las Vegas.

Pasternak Also Has Lung Cancer

MOSCOW (AP)—Physicians have found author Boris Pasternak to be suffering from cancer of the lung in addition to a heart ailment and stomach trouble, informed sources said today.

Pasternak has been coughing blood and attendants expressed belief a crisis is approaching for the 70-year-old writer.

His brother, Alexander, reported his condition worsening. Attendants described his condition as "extremely grave."
Physicians are debating whether the Nobel Prize-winning author has strength enough to be brought into a Moscow hospital for treatment. At present he is in his home outside Moscow.

Forced To Run At Point Of Gun

MONTBELLO, Calif. (AP)—The car looked suspicious. It was moving slowly, without lights. So Patrolman Joe Grundy stopped it. When he looked in the window, a pistol was pointed at him.

"Turn around," the driver commanded. Grundy, 35, complied. The man took his pistol, then ordered: "Start running."
For two blocks, Grundy, at gunpoint, ran beside the car.

Then the driver—apparently the man who had robbed a nearby service station of $35 earlier Wednesday—roared away, shouting: "I hate cops!"

Actor Contracts Are Extended

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The contract between Hollywood actors and major producers of television films has been extended 30 days. The Screen Actors Guild contract with the Motion Picture Producers and the Alliance of Television Film Producers now will expire on June 30. It originally ran out April 30, but was extended once earlier. Producers have been busy negotiating with the Writers Guild of America, on strike for 19 weeks. The Writers Guild Tuesday night turned down a new contract offer, and the producers' associations Thursday night withdrew the offer — a move guild spokesmen termed a "propaganda move." No negotiations are now set between the writers and the producers.

Gift Eagle's Beak Held A Spying Listening - Device

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Memo to U.S. ambassadors: Always look a gift eagle in the beak. Otherwise the great bird might turn out to be a spy, like the eagle on a copy of the great seal of the United States which Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge displayed to the U.N. Security Council Thursday as "a concrete example of Soviet espionage." Lodge, speaking in the council debate on Soviet charges against American spy flights, said the wooden plaque was given to the U.S. ambassador in Moscow by a group of Soviets. Later, he continued, the plaque was found to be hollow. "Here is the clandestine listening device with the aerial, right under the eagle's beak," said Lodge, taking the plaque apart and explaining that persons outside with a receiver could pick up conversations the eagle overheard. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko asked derisively what play the "prop" came from. "It's not out of a play," Lodge replied. "It's out of the Soviet Union." Lodge did not say to which ambassador the plaque was given or when it was discovered. But W. Averell Harriman told newsmen the plaque had been given to him in 1945 when he was ambassador to Moscow and he understood the listening device was discovered in 1952, when George F. Kennan held the post. "I hung it up over the fireplace in my study," said Harriman. "It was not bugged when I had it." Harriman added that the listening apparatus could have been installed in the seal sometime after his departure, when the room was being redecorated, for example. Lodge showed the plaque to the council to counter Gromyko's contention that U.S. allegations of such Soviet espionage were fanciful. The U.S. delegate said more than 100 such listening devices had been found in embassies in Communist countries, including 25 in Poland. Polish Delegate Jerzy Michalowski said he wouldn't try to answer Lodge but that he could give some interesting information "concerning the microphones in some of our buildings in this country."

Sound Off, With Teacher Excused

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A teacher from Lee High School was excused from class so a group of visiting educators could question the teen-agers without embarrassment. The youngsters let fly, saying their worst problem was a lack of books in the school library. They said they often had to go to the public library; then often what they wanted; so they had to go to Jacksonville University; and finally, some said, they had to drive to the University of Florida at Gainesville 70 miles from Jacksonville. They said, too, that teachers limit them too much: "We're seniors; we should be able to think for ourselves."

Reduce Missile Launching Time

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — A missile firing system capable of launching four Mace missiles in the time previously needed for one was tested Thursday.

A spokesman for the Air Force Missile Development Center said only one of the four was fired, but as the missile roared away, an auxiliary power unit had the other three ready for launching.

The four, each the size of an F100 jet fighter, were connected to hydraulic and nose temperature control units.

Fluid from the hydraulic unit was circulated through each missile simultaneously, and the nose control unit pumped warm air through the four guidance systems.

No time was needed to warm them up for flight.

NEW YORK (AP)—A rallying movement faltered and left the stock market irregular with a slight gain on average early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule for most key stocks.

Some of the blue chip chemicals advanced, and along with gains by a scattering of selected issues throughout the list, nudged the market averages to the upside. Losers, however, were liberally sprinkled throughout the list.

Drugs spurred briefly, then quieted. Steels, motors, rails, aircrafts and nonferrous metals were narrowly mixed.

Most electronics were higher. Universal Match picked up about 7 points.

Caution was ascribed to the long Memorial Day weekend. The market will be closed Monday. In addition, there was some disappointment that the Federal Reserve Board took no action on lowering stock margin requirements Thursday, as some had expected.

Collins Radio advanced 2 but Texas Instruments lost 4 and Motorola more than a point.

The averages were supported by gains of about a point by such stocks as DuPont, Union Carbide, Texaco, and Allied Chemical.

Kennecott dropped almost a point.

Upjohn was ahead more than a point while gains of about a point were posted for Goodrich, U.S. Rubber and Pfizer.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.56 at 625.33. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .40 to 216.10 with the industrials up .70, the rails up .20 and the utilities up .10.

Corporate bonds advanced fractionally. U.S. governments improved.
