Synod Declines To Extend Two-Day Support Of Peace College Drive For Blood Here

By PATRICIA MOORE, Reflector Staff Writer. The Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina today turned down a request by Dr. Albert Edwards of Raleigh that it continue financial support to Peace College until 1963.

Dr. Edwards, pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Raleigh, made the request as an amendment to a resolution presented by the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated Presbyterian College that the board "affirms its intention of consolidating all its educational activities at Laurinburg in September 1961."

Dr. Edwards' motion was intended to give the college two more years to secure needed financial support to operate. He said it would be "impossible to secure the necessary funds in the space of one year."

Tokyo Police Unable Halt Mob; Parliament Seized

TOKYO (AP) — Thousands of howling leftwing students stormed the Japanese Parliament today, overpowered police and occupied buildings in the bloodiest outbreak so far against Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's pro-Western government.

The violence broke out shortly after Kishi's government yielded to Socialist pressure and abandoned efforts to gain final ratification of the new U.S.-Japan military treaty in time for President Eisenhower's arrival in Tokyo Sunday.

Little initial expression of opposition to President Eisenhower's visit. The demonstrators carried only a handful of signs demanding cancellation of the visit he is to start Sunday.

More than a dozen ambulances shuttled between Parliament and hospitals. Thousands of rocks and pieces of asphalt littered the Parliament grounds, softened by rain shortly before the fight erupted.

Filipino Congress Hears President Eisenhower Discuss U.S. Policies

MANILA (AP) — President Eisenhower today declared that the United States must remain "strong and faithful to its friends" in the face of the Soviet Union's anti-American offensive.

The President, hailed again by thousands of friendly Filipinos after his stupendous welcome Tuesday, assailed international communism as the single most important breeder of world tension.

open-neck shirts that Filipino men wear outside their trousers on even formal occasions. The President wore a brown business suit complete with vest.

Dealing again with Filipino-American relations, Eisenhower said: "Patience, forbearance, and enduring trust must characterize our future relations."

Utilities Commissioners Vote Turn Over $150,000 To City For 1960-61

Utilities commissioners voted last night to turn over $150,000 to the city for 1960-61. The amount is the same as that turned over for the past few years.

The city has already contracted with the firm to do studies within the corporate limits and one mile beyond.

Commissioners discussed the possibility of extending the study only one additional mile. However, they were told that a study of that type would cost $900 while a study of the full distance would be done for $1,100.

Under the new schedule heaters in operation 19 hours per day will be on the one cent rate. Those on 15 hours will be on the eight mill rate. A special system allows these water heaters to be taken out of operation during hours of peak electrical use.

Lawmaker Attacks Reporters' Probing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) says newspaper stories on congressional expense accounts "directly played into the Communist hands by smearing the committee on Un-American Activities."

Walter, who is chairman of the committee, referred to a series of copyright stories published by the Knight newspapers. Two of the series discussed expense accounts and actions of Walter's committee.

Walter called the stories scurrilous and a "concoction of half truths, untruths, smear and innuendo adorned with adjective used in lieu of facts."

Walter also pointed out that if a Pitt resident donates blood, members of his immediate family, even if they live outside the district where their is no blood program, are entitled to free blood if they need it.

Grifton Offered A $54,500 Budget

GRIFTON—The Grifton Board of Town Commissioners last night adopted a tentative budget for fiscal 1960-61 of $54,500, which will retain last year's tax rate of $1.60 per $100 property valuation.

Final approval of the budget is expected at the board's July meeting. The expenditure list adopted last night is considered final, but is subject to revision before the next regular session of the board.

The total figure rose some $3,000 from the budget for fiscal 1959-60 attributed to a larger appropriation of $51,400. The slight rise was for the local police department and an appropriation for maintenance of the new Grifton public library, a municipal responsibility after July 1.

A slight increase in the town's property valuation absorbed the rise in the total figure and allowed the tax rate to remain constant.

Display Concern For Eisenhower

MANILA, Thursday (AP)—The bloody new riots in Tokyo have left American security officials deeply concerned whether Japanese police can protect President Eisenhower, it was reported early today.

Members of Eisenhower's party were disturbed over Tokyo dispatches which pictured the Japanese police as helpless against the onslaught of thousands of leftwing students who stormed the parliament buildings there Wednesday.

Japan's Premier Nobusuke Kishi called a midnight cabinet session to discuss a situation which one of his aides described as equivalent to insurrection.

The Wednesday riots were Japan's worst so far in the month-long campaign against Kishi and the new U.S.-Japan defense treaty.

Non-Stop Flight Of 7,175 Miles

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP) — An Air Force KC135 jet tanker plane landed at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base here today after a near record non-stop flight from Japan.

The plane, which returned Maj. Gen. Henry Vellejo to his home base after an inspection tour of air bases in the Far East, flew to Seymour Johnson from Yokota Air Base in Japan, a distance of 7,175 miles in 12 hours and 32 minutes for an average of 573 miles per hour.

The flight almost matched an unofficial record set by Air Force Gen. Curtis Lemay in a flight from Yokota to Washington, D.C., in September of last year. Lemay flew the 7,100 miles in 12 hours and 23 minutes.

Miss Stokes Selected BPWC Member Of Year

MISS GLADYS STOKES . . . with cup awarded her for being the outstanding Business and Professional woman in the local BPWC.

Miss Gladys Stokes was recently selected by the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club as the "Outstanding Club Member of the Year."

In presenting the award to Miss Stokes, Mrs. Kemp H. Baldwin, retiring president, stated that the honor goes to that member who has a regular attendance record, an outstanding record of participation in club work, and an admirable record of leadership in civic and religious activities in the community.

Miss Stokes, a fourth grade teacher at Chicod High School, made an outstanding contribution to the local B. and P. W. Club as chairman of the Career Advancement Committee for 1959-60.

She represented the Greenville Club at "Spotlight on Women," sponsored jointly by the N. C. Federation and University of North Carolina. She was one of the thirteen members who received a perfect attendance award at the May meeting.

During the coming year she will serve the club as first vice-president and as chairman of the program coordination committee.

Miss Stokes is a member of the Timothy Christian Church, Route 2, Ayden, where she participates in the work and worship of the church.

She is a graduate of East Carolina College, having received both the A. B. and M. A. degrees.

Miss Stokes was given a personal gift of a BPWC gold pin and her name has been inscribed on the trophy cup which she will keep for one year or until another member is chosen as an "Outstanding Member."

It's Time To Gather Materials Emphasizes Mrs. George Staples

"The summer is the richest time for gathering materials," emphasized Mrs. George Staples when she spoke on "Preparing Dried Arrangements" Friday at Greenville Art Center.

Mrs. Staples explained that the gardens, swamps and woods of this region furnish an abundance of materials for drying.

She brought for display several arrangements, ranging from the simple use of a branch of tulip poplar buds to a luxurious blending of leaves, grasses, flowers and seeds after the Williamsburg manner.

Artificial flowers and fruits complemented some pieces. Luster had been added to many materials by having been waxed (gourds and ears of corn) or sprayed (leaves, cones and blossoms) with metallic paint.

For preserving green materials, Mrs. Staples outlined four methods, two involving chemicals.

A simple method is to arrange the pieces in a container filled with a solution of glycerin and water. Glycerin, which may be obtained from a drug store, forms one third of the solution.

Borax mixed with white meal (or dry builders sand), with the ratio of one part to six parts, may be used for drying larkspur, zinnias and other flowers. Once the flowers are stripped of their leaves, they are placed on a layer of the mixture. Additional mixture is sifted over until the flowers are covered. The time required to process different varieties varies. The speaker invited her audience to consult books at Sheppard Library for technical advice.

Foliage, such as beech or nandina leaves, may be pressed in books or in newspapers, under rags, as the size demands.

The fourth method described by Mrs. Staples was hanging flowers, ferns and grasses may be suspended in a dark, dry place, such as a closet, until ready for arranging.

She recommended spraying the arrangements with insect repellent to insure against damage.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Edwin A. Little, president; Mrs. Suddie Johnson, vice-president; Mrs. Francis Cassick, secretary-treasurer; program director, Larry R. Stox Sr.; historians, Charles O'H. Little, Mrs. Blanche Dudley, Robert G. Little and Mrs. Francis Cassick.

DAR Chapter Has Flag Day Meeting

The Flag Day meeting, marking the final assembly of the Major Benjamin May chapter, D. A. R., for the year, was held Saturday at the home of Mrs. M. P. Hoot. Mrs. Sprull Spain acted as joint hostess.

Summer flowers were used in artistic arrangements throughout the spacious home at 1505 E. Fifth Street.

Mrs. M. V. Jones, regent, presided. The meeting was opened with the D. A. R. ritual, the Pledge of Allegiance, the American's Creed and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Miss Elizabeth Lang, chaplain, gave a meditation on "Spreading Happiness."

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Henrietta M. Williamson, the minutes of the May meeting were read by Mrs. John E. Wright Jr.

Mrs. J. O. Pollard, treasurer, gave her report. Mrs. G. Alex Rouse, chairman of Civil Defense, told of activities of the past few months and plans of the immediate future.

Mrs. Jones, outgoing regent, expressed appreciation for loyalty of chapter members during her two terms of office and read the service, which installed the following officers:

Miss Elizabeth Lang, regent; Mrs. M. V. Jones, first vice regent; Mrs. H. D. Moye, second vice regent; Mrs. J. O. Pollard, treasurer; Mrs. G. Alex Rouse, chaplain; Mrs. John E. Wright Jr., recording secretary; Miss Tabitha M. DeVisconti, registrar.

Other newly-elected officers are: Miss Nancy Lewis, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joe Batchelor, historian, and Mrs. Herbert E. Hart, librarian.

The group paid tribute to Mrs. Jones for outstanding service during her regency by a rising vote of thanks, after she had turned the gavel over to Miss Lang. The new regent spoke briefly of objectives and reminded the chapter of the district meeting to be held September 27.

Miss DeVisconti reported that application of Mrs. E. T. Williams for membership had been accepted by the National Society.

Mrs. Hoot presented the guest speaker, Dr. Robert L. Holt, Dean of East Carolina College, who spoke on the subject "The American Flag."

Dr. Holt stated that the flag is a symbol of the pioneering spirit and precepts of the founders of this country and its present citizenry—the colors signifying lofty ideals, virtues and truth in the choice of the blue and white; the red denoting courage, sacrifice, blood and labor; the stars typifying unity of the States.

The speaker quoted D. DeWitt Jones in saying that "The Flag is the epitome of our nation," and pointed to outstanding statesmen and military leaders who have safeguarded the principles of liberty and justice in the past.

He spoke earnestly and gravely of present dangers to democracy and our way of life and stated that we must meet the present challenge with the faith, courage and conviction of our pioneer forefathers and united effort in order that our principles and precepts may be preserved for future generations. In closing, Dr. Holt read a poem on the flag and patriotism, by Franklin Lane.

Mrs. Jones and Miss Lang assisted the hostesses in serving from an appointed table in the dining room. The refreshments consisted of melon punch, assorted sandwiches, cheese balls and party cakes.

A Personal Victory By Eisenhower

Whatever the outcome of President Eisenhower's visit to Tokyo when he arrives June 19, the President has won a personal victory and has upheld American prestige around the world by standing pat on his plans to visit Japan.

Had his plans been altered by the demonstrations conducted in protest to the Japan-American security treaty, the government of Prime Minister Kishi, and the proposed visit of President Eisenhower, American prestige in Asia would have suffered irreparable loss. The pro-American government of Kishi would certainly have been forced from power and the strength of leftist forces in Japan and other Asiatic nations would have soared considerably.

That the President is taking risks in carrying out his plans to visit Japan at this time cannot be disputed. He is taking personal risks, and he is also taking the calculated risk that his visit to Japan now will result in building American prestige rather than jeopardizing the American position in the Far East. It is to be expected that the communists, in failing to thwart the visit, will seek to make the most of propaganda playing up any demonstrations that may come about during the President's visit. The President will be pictured through their propaganda as an unwelcome individual in Japan.

In reality, however, the threatened demonstra-

A Big Job In Any 'Blanket Denial'

RUMORS — Terry Sanford has taken on a big job when he suggests blanket denial of all rumors. He was quoted as saying at his news conference last Friday that rumors are as bad as unsigned leaflets, and that "any rumor, no matter how it's directed against, is false."

The office dictionary defines rumor as "a popular report; common talk; hence, notoriety; reputation." A secondary definition is a story current but not authenticated. Another definition, marked as obsolete, is "a prolonged indistinct noise."

According to these definitions the most common talk, the current but not authenticated story, and the prolonged noise, is that Sanford's lead in the first primary cannot be overcome and he is certain to win the nomination for Governor in the June 25 run-off against Beverly Lake. Sanford's supporters are diligent in promulgating this "rumor" and it is doubted he meant to include it in his blanket denial of all rumors as false.

VOTERS — Predictions about the number of votes that will be cast in the second primary cannot be made with any degree of accuracy until a day or two before the voting—and accuracy will be doubtful then. The voter turnout will be influenced by popular interest developed during the campaign.

There is historic precedent for expecting a vote well above half a million. Since the primary was instituted as the method for nominating candidates in North Carolina, there have been four run-offs for Governor, two for United States Senator. In the first of these, the race between Gardner and Morrison for Governor in 1929, the second primary yielded a 1.2 per cent increase total vote over the first, from 128,233 to 131,405.

DROP-OUTS — In 1932 there was a run-off for both Governor and Senator. In the Governor's race between Ehringhaus and Fountain the second primary total was 351,026, a drop of 7 per cent below the first primary total of 379,637. That same year the second primary vote for Senator between Morrison and Reynolds dropped 5.4 per cent below the first.

In 1936 the run-off between Hoey and McDonald produced 480,768 votes, which was 7 per cent less than the first primary vote of 516,864 for four candidates.

The first primary for Governor in 1948, with six candidates in the race, brought out 423,125 voters. The run-off between Johnson and Scott produced 400,304, a drop of 1.4 per cent. Biggest loss in total votes between primaries came in 1950, when four candidates for the Senate brought out 618,479 voters the first time, and the run-off between Graham and Smith yielded 542,903—a drop of 12.2 per cent. Many observers are making comparison between that race and the current run-off between Lake and Sanford.

The first primary this year, with four candidates for Governor, brought a record-breaking 652,060 votes. A drop of 15 per cent would indicate a second vote of 545,000, and a 20 per cent drop would produce about 520,000.

In face of that historic record many observers are currently predicting a maximum vote of 450,000 on June 25th, which would be approximately a 30 per cent drop from the first round. That spread seems very unlikely.

There is only one run-off for Congress (third district), only one for State Senate (Henderson county), and five for State Representative—Lenoir, New Hanover, Pasquotank, Transylvania and Washington counties. No record is available for the number of county commissioners and other local officers in second primaries.

BUDGET TOUR — The Advisory Budget Commission has fixed the itinerary for the biennial visitation to State institutions to begin on Monday, July 11, at Raleigh and wind-up Friday, July 29, at Fayetteville. During the tour the budgeters will visit more than 50 institutions and installations operated by the State in correctional, education, health and hospital, transportation and other services.

Your reporter plans to make this tour, as he has done every two years since 1944, and tell you what the State of North Carolina has at these places, how they are serving the people, and something of their needs for more efficient service. The budget folks had about 20 places to visit in 1944, compared with more than 50 on the current itinerary. The increase is not due entirely to new installations, although there are a good many more now. It is due to the closer attention the budget office is giving to the institutions and agencies which spend public tax money in order to see that taxpayers get maximum benefit for every dollar spent.

It is appropriate that the folks responsible for operating each institution and service should think it the most important function in State government. It is equally essential that some agency like the budget bureau should referee all the requests for additional money, in order to maintain balance among the services.

While the budget folks have undoubtedly made mistakes in the past—and will continue to make them, it is the consensus of students of State government, both in and outside of North Carolina, that our system of budgetary control, based on careful inspection of facilities and study of needs, is one of the best in the country.

tions during the President's visit may not be so serious as those seeking to promote them have said. The demonstrations may well have reached their climax during the visit of Press Secretary Hagerty last week. If so, the leftists groups stand to lose considerably more than they have gained in recent weeks. They already have failed in their effort to prevent the President's visit, and they may well fail in their effort to stage the kind of demonstration that would indicate they have the support of a major portion of the Japanese people.

The situation will be tense when the President arrives in Tokyo Sunday, but latest developments suggest the reception will be more favorable than unfavorable to the President.

Recreation Program Important To The City

Greenville's summer recreation program now underway at eight local playgrounds will afford considerable activity for youngsters of the city during the next seven weeks.

From 9 a.m. until noon and from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. each day there will be supervised activities for the youngsters at each of the playgrounds. In addition, special activity themes have been planned for each of the weeks the playground program is operated.

Such a recreation program is indeed a far cry from what Greenville had a few years ago when its Recreation Commission was just coming into being. The year-round, well rounded program of activities the Recreation Commission now offers the people of the city is a real asset.

The summer program, which has shown improvement each year, promises this year to be superior to those of the past. There is every reason to believe the number of youngsters reached through the playground activities this year will surpass the number in past years. The program is important not only to the youngsters who participate, but to the city as a whole. It affords a wholesome outlet for youthful energies that during the summer months might otherwise be channeled into unwholesome activities.

Vacation Time Also A Dangerous Season

Summertime in North Carolina is the traditional vacation time. Whether it be for two or three days or several weeks, during the hot summer months Tar Heels by the thousands seek refuge from their daily toil with travel and recreation.

Little wonder then, that the highways seem more crowded than usual during the summer months. Particularly during the week-ends the highways leading to resort areas along the coast and the recreation areas on the rivers, lakes and in the mountains become heavily traveled arteries of traffic.

The hot weather, which has a more irritating effect on most humans than the cold of winter or balmy days of spring and autumn, is another ingredient injected into the summer highway congestions. And there is also the fact that far too many people are in a hurry to get to where they are going or get back home from their trip.

It all adds up to more hazardous travel for the average motorist during the summer months. Highway conditions, weather-wise, are better than in other seasons of the year. But the traffic is worse, the overall hazards the motorist faces are multiplied.

Vacation time is looked upon by most people as the most pleasant season of the year. The highway tragedy which too often comes with this season must be prevented if at all possible. The highway toll of the summer months in North Carolina must be reduced.

It is a job to which the Highway Patrol and other law enforcement agencies devote special attention, but it is a job which they cannot do alone. For the most part, safe vacation travel depends upon the motorists, and unless they put forth a special effort to make the highways safer during the summer, North Carolina will continue to pile up a tragic traffic toll during this period of the year.

Shy Pair Are Publicity - Bent

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—It's the greatest play on words since somebody invented abracadabra. Adlai E. Stevenson and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller deny they're looking for a job but they don't deny they'd run for the phone if the employment agency called.

For a pair being shy, they manage amazingly well to keep their names in the headlines. Rockefeller withdrew from the race for the Republican presidential nomination without ever having admitted he was in it. Now he is back in it by saying he would accept a draft while firmly denying he's a candidate.

Stevenson won't even agree he'd accept a draft by the Democrats' to be their presidential choice. But he doesn't say he wouldn't. The past few days his hat seemed to be in the ring. Then he grabbed it back.

Both men continue to stride across the national political scene, making political speeches and noises like candidates. Neither has denied he would just love to be picked.

Stevenson makes speeches explaining his own five-point "grand strategy for peace" and issues statements criticizing the Republicans and President Eisenhower.

He termed the administration's handling of the spy plane a blunder, at the same time speaking out against partisan fault-finding at this time.

Rockefeller criticizes the Eisenhower administration in a number of fields, but says "I think the administration has done a wonderful job."

He shocked the Republicans last week by calling Vice President Richard M. Nixon to come out of the political bushes and say where he stands.

Rockefeller says it is "urgently necessary" for Nixon to state his position on the issues but that, even if Nixon doesn't, he will support the vice president if the latter gets the nomination.

The governor says one of the vital signs of national political health is debate within the party. But when Nixon challenged him to a public discussion, Rockefeller didn't accept.

Playing hard to get worked well for Stevenson in 1952. That was the year the Democrats picked him the first time. In 1956 he got their nomination again but that time he campaigned for it.

Last week Eleanor Roosevelt got a telegram from Stevenson which made her finally believe he was a candidate because of Stevenson's wording. He told her: "I will serve my country and my party whenever called upon."

She said that made it "clear Mr. Stevenson is a candidate." This was too positive for Stevenson who then issued a statement.

"I will not seek the nomination for president by the Democratic convention. Therefore I am not a candidate."

But he didn't say he would object if the nomination were offered to him.

Bounced Off Vapor Cloud

Remember that sodium vapor cloud which the government sent up a couple of weeks ago? A local ham operator, Lawrence Behr, reported bouncing short wave radio signals off it.

Behr, whose call letters are K4URZ, said he received confirmation from ham operator K4BWK in Birmingham, Ala. The vapor cloud was sent up to trace wind directions at high altitudes. It was seen up and down the east coast.

Behr's accomplishment was unusual in that the radio frequency he was using is generally not effective over 100 miles. It is around 700 miles to Birmingham.

A lady from Florida writes that her cat was picked up in Florida by someone in North Carolina last year. She would like to get the cat back and she is offering a reward for information about the animal.

Other Editors Saying Not Voting For Either

(Washington Daily News)
"I don't want to vote for Dr. Lake because I don't want to see our schools closed on account of Dr. Lake's strong stand against integration. I don't want to vote for Mr. Sanford because I don't want to see my taxes raised on account of his liberal spending proposals. Therefore, I'm not going to vote for either candidate on June 25."

This is what one voter of Beaufort county has told this editor. And what this voter said needs close examination. In the first place regardless of the dislike of part of the campaign stand of both candidates, one of them is going to be the next governor of North Carolina. And remaining away from the polls on June 25 is not going to add to the solution one bit.

A person who doesn't exercise the right and responsibility of voting because of a dislike for both candidates is not facing the matter squarely.

However, this voter does have a point in regard to the issues mentioned above. Many people in North Carolina are apprehensive today in regard to what could happen to our schools if Dr. Lake is nominated and elected. And equally as many voters in North Carolina are apprehensive in regard to higher taxes they see forthcoming should Mr. Sanford be nominated and elected.

The picture isn't as dark as it might seem in the minds of so many people. In the first place, Dr. Lake cannot close the schools of North Carolina if the integration move should become a wholesale effort throughout North Carolina. The schools can be closed, but only by the people of a given school district. So long as we have the Pearsall plan on the books of our state, the governor could not close them. Only the legislature can change the law, and until that law is changed, Dr. Lake or no other governor can take matters in hand and close schools.

Mr. Sanford, through his endorsement of the program of the United Forces for Education, might have a program, which if accepted, would cost the taxpayers a lot more money than they are now paying. But the only way that such a program can actually be accepted in North Carolina today is by the State legislature. The governor himself cannot put through the program except by legislative concurrence. And the legislatures of past years have not seen fit to go along with the UFE program in full.

We do not mean to minimize the power and influence of the governor of our state; we have pointed out before that what a man stands for and what the legislature will do are different matters.

In truth, the very points to which citizens are offering objections are matters of legislative responsibility rather than executive powers. The governor of North Carolina, whoever he might be, cannot institute closing schools or creating higher taxes. They are legislative matters.

So long as the Pearsall plan remains on the books of North Carolina, and so long as the legislature sets the tax schedules to our state, then neither line of objection in this campaign is as vital and far-reaching as it might seem on the surface.

And again, since one of the two men is going to be governor of our state, citizens of North Carolina should exercise a choice by going to the polls on June 25 and voting for one of these two candidates.

My little niece, Kim, went to the dentist the other day. It was one of those visits to prepare her for the time when the dentist will get down to serious business, such as drilling, for instance.

Well, sir, little Kim was frightened by the visit. So much so that when the dentist poked a finger into her mouth, she bit it! And that little girl's got strong jaws.

Oh well, it's been said, "That's the way the mop flops."

Bruce Sugg Jr., member of the Utilities commission, made the mistake of asking the name of the city's new sewage disposal plant at last night's commission meeting.

Immediately his colleagues tried to hang Sugg Sewage Disposal Plant on the projected plant, or on Bruce, whichever way you look at it.

He frowned.

Then somebody else suggested Sugg Stream Sanitation Plant. That sounded better but Sugg let it be known he didn't want the plant—considering its ultimate use—named after him. He withdrew his original comment.

The name which will probably be placed on the building is Greenville Sewage Disposal Plant.

Thus Bruce Sugg missed the chance to see his name mounted on front of a public building.

It's also been said? "That's the way the cookie crumbles."

Inspired Liberty School

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

What do we mean by freedom? When we speak of the free nations, to contrast them with the Soviet bloc, what do we wish to convey? Can we win to our side the nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America by favoring capitalism in opposition to some kind of socialism?

In a word, in the Cold War, what are our weapons? The most effective weapons are words, ideas translated into words, powerfully emotional slogans that drive men and women to frenzy. These are the weapons that Soviet Russia has used to build Communist parties in every country on Earth. This is the widespread, permanent Fifth Column which every nation faces. It is this force which captured Cuba; it is this force which is now sending young people into snakedances in Japan.

What power have we been able to lose to counteract this influence? Thus far, there has been very little. The USIA does a certain amount of work but it is hampered as a government agency. The Voice of America has done something but it has not fired the spirit of youth anywhere. MRA—the Moral Re-Armament movement—has, in a measure, been effective wherever it has been able to work.

Senator Karl Mundt has been studying this problem for many years and he has come up with the proposal for a "Freedom Academy" "charged with undertaking a development and training program aimed at developing an integrated cold war operational science and training government personnel, private citizens and foreign students in this science."

One of our major problems in the Cold War is that Communism is to Americans an elusive idea. Advocated in the Marxian concept since 1848, well documented by brilliant writers, discussed pro and con in thousands of universities, meeting rooms and beer halls, in the United States this concept and movement made very little impression until the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917 forced us to acknowledge its existence. Even then, we ignored the essential nature of Marxian sociology and devoted ourselves to a criticism of its economics. Anti-Communism often took on absurd forms, such as anti-Semitism or anti-Catholicism or anti-Negro, depending upon the nature of the anti-group. Those who do not understand Marxism cannot know how to attack Communism.

To this extent, the Freedom Academy can have meaning. The Communists have such schools in Moscow, Leningrad, Tashkent, Prague and elsewhere. The Prague school, for instance, specializes in training Latin Americans and Africans, while the Tashkent school trains Communists from Islamic countries. What are these men and women trained for? They are trained for subversion and propaganda. But the subjects they study are politics, economic concepts, psychological warfare, sociology, economic and military methods, etc. When a trained Communist goes into a country, he knows the language, history, sociology, religions of the people. He can rapidly relate himself to the people.

They are motivated human beings. Their motivation is not only political but patriotic. Senator Mundt has served on many committees or both Houses of Congress which held prolonged hearings into Communist activities in this country. He has undoubtedly witnessed Americans rise to testify against Communist activity who did not know what they were talking about. He has undoubtedly heard American fellow travelers make statements about Communism which were unrelated to anything. He has said of the Freedom Academy:

"The ultimate purpose of the Freedom Academy is to train a cadre of dedicated Anti-Communist leaders to lead and direct the forces of freedom on the political and psychological battlefronts of the world. To effectively offset and defeat Communist organizational weapons, we need (Continued on page 5)

Research And Development Vital

By ELMER ROESSNER
New uses for existing products have become the Golden Apples of American business. Almost every manufacturing company has opportunities for new products, some good, some bad. But even if good they usually require new materials, new tooling, new production lines, new distribution setups.

However, the importance of new uses is so great that large corporations are spending millions of dollars a year to discover and devise them. It comes under the head of "R&D," which stands for research and development.

Many Wall Street advisers tell clients to pay less attention to asset value, earning records and dividend history, and more to R&D. The companies plowing back most earnings into research and development, they say, are the growth companies that promise capital gains.

DOLLAR DARLINGS
That's not all brokers' talk. The electronics, aluminum, steel and plastics industries are now spending a higher ratio of available funds in the development of new products and new uses than most other industries. They are the darlings of the investors; they are also the darlings of the economy because the growth their R&D generates is good for all of us.

Total research and development expenditures are beyond calculation; some estimates place it between $1 billion and $2 billion a year.

That makes more amusing the fact that a small business has passed its new product development on to its customers—and is doing quite well at it.

This is the Porce-Cote Corp., of Uniondale, N. Y. It was established five years ago to produce a kit for repair of damaged porcelain plumbing fixtures and other porcelain surfaces. It found that, to match the porcelains of major manufacturers, it had to produce its product in 80 colors.

LET THE CUSTOMERS WORK!
Little Porce-Cote might have squared away with U.S. Steel, Alcoa, W.R. Grace and other manufacturers if it had put several million dollars a year into research for new uses. The only trouble was that Porce-Cote didn't have those millions. So it relied on its customers.

Gilbert Steele, the president, noticed that customers were writing in suggesting new uses. So he put slip sheets into instruction booklets in every kit, suggesting new uses and asking for new ideas.

Customers wrote in that the product could be used for resurfacing light switches and electrical outlet plates, for recoloring eyeglass frames, and scores of other uses.

Now the company is offering prizes for further suggestions, and is planning a booklet listing all the suggested uses for the stuff. The company, which started in the New York area, expects that the various uses will help it expand nationally. Instead of having a single-purpose product, it has the equivalent of dozens of products, with no increases in production line, packaging or distribution costs. PULP MAKES CANNED JUICE

Local Moose Win Civic Affairs Award At Chicago

THE HIGHEST HONORS of the Moose have been bestowed on Mr. and Mrs. Edwina M. Baldree (above) of Greenville, at that fraternal order's international convention in Chicago. Mrs. Baldree received her College of Regents Degree, the highest Chapter degree she can receive in the Women of the Moose; and the Pilgrim's Degree was conferred on Baldree, who is secretary of the Greenville Lodge. (Photo by S. L. Rowland)

CHICAGO, Ill. — Greenville Moose Lodge No. 885 was today awarded a special certificate of merit for community service activity in competition held for the more than 1,900 Moose lodges throughout the United States and Canada. Announcement of the award for outstanding community service work during the past year by the Greenville lodge was made at the 72nd annual international convention of the Loyal Order of Moose being held at the Sherman Hotel here. Official presentation of the award, a framed scroll, will be made at elaborate ceremonies to be held in the local lodge in a few weeks, according to Earle W. Horton, director of civic affairs for the Moose fraternity. James Harris, civic affairs chairman of the local lodge, was also awarded a framed scroll for conducting the award-winning community service program in Greenville.

In announcing the award to the local lodge, Horton told the assembled delegates that the Moose has earned recognition as the world's leading fraternal service organization by its extensive civic affairs program in communities throughout North America. Other major awards were made to the following lodges: San Francisco, Calif.; Macon, Ga.; Chicago Lawn, Ill.; Hickory, N.C.; Parkersburg, W. Va.; San Jose, Calif.; Sidney, N.Y.; East Point, Ga.; and Lakeshore, Ont. Twenty-five other lodges also received citations of merit.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two powerful unions struck Lockheed and Douglas, builders and launchers of key United States missiles and satellites, today. Hours later a tentative agreement was announced in the Douglas walkout. The massive strikes by the International Assn. of Machinists and United Auto Workers hit installations across the country at midnight local times.

But the UAW and Douglas, in a joint statement, announced shortly after 3 a.m. that continuous negotiating sessions had brought a tentative agreement on a new two-year contract covering 22,000 hourly rated employees at Long Beach, Calif., and Tulsa, Okla. Talks on local issues at Charlotte, N.C., where Douglas also has a plant, continued. The joint statement said pickets who took their places outside the Tulsa and Long Beach plants early today would be withdrawn. Terms of the settlement were undisclosed pending membership meetings. The proposal still must be ratified by union members. The agreement appeared to break the vise-like grip which a series of labor disputes was closing on the United States space and missile program.

Another Gesture By DeGaulle To Algerian Rebels

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle made another conciliatory gesture toward the Algerian nationalist rebels Tuesday night, but it was too early to tell whether his move would lead to a break in the fighting. First reactions to the president's radio-TV speech were generally favorable — except from the right wingers who want France to maintain her firm hold on the Algerian administration. De Gaulle reaffirmed his policy of self-determination for Algeria after the fighting ends. He again asked the nationalist leaders to come to Paris to discuss a ceasefire.

He promised that "everybody, yes everybody" will be able to take part in "discussions which will fix the conditions of the referendum, the electoral campaign and the control of the vote."

This has been one of the toughest points with the Algerian nationalist leadership. They have been unwilling to order their troops to stop fighting without assurances they would be able to help set conditions for the self-determination referendum. The Algerian government in exile issued a statement in Tunis Monday saying "the guarantees of a free vote of the Algerian people cannot be fixed in a unilateral fashion. The guarantees should necessarily be arranged by the two parties to the conflict."

Some formidable differences of opinion still must be overcome. But the first unofficial reaction from the nationalist leaders in Tunis was cautiously favorable. "Once more I turn in the name of France toward the leaders of the insurrection," he said. "I declare to them that we are awaiting them here to find with them an honorable end to the fighting which is continuing, to settle the destination of the weapons and to assure the fate of the combatants. After that everything will be done so that the Algerian people will be able to speak in peaceful conditions."

This left open the question whether the cease-fire must be come effective before talks are held on the details of the self-determination vote. In the past the rebel leaders have insisted that these conditions must be set before they could order their fighters to lay down their arms.

Another 10,000 IAM machinists started a strike of several Lockheed aircraft facilities today and promptly set up picket lines.

In separate action, IAM already has picketed Air Force bases for several days where Convair, another of the industry's giants, has Atlas missile facilities. A meeting of UAW members was set for 4 p.m. today in Long Beach Memorial Stadium. The bargaining committee will recommend unanimously adoption of the pact, UAW and Douglas said. The strikes at midnight hit factories producing high-priority hardware for the nation's defense armory.

The Army's nuclear-armed Douglas Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missile, now operational and on Nike sites at major U.S. cities. The Navy's fleet ballistic missile, the submarine-launched Lockheed Polaris, which the Navy says should be operational by the end of the year. Lockheed said all missiles and space operations would be open today, despite the strike. Lockheed's aircraft, electronic, servicing and shipbuilding facilities are not affected by the IAM strike.

At Thursday midnight IAM is prepared to call out 11,350 of its members at Douglas's Santa Monica, Calif., plant and 6,750 at Douglas's El Segundo, Calif., plant. Union talks with Lockheed have been broken off. The IAM claims the following representation at Lockheed plants: Sunnyvale and San Francisco Bay area facilities, 6,000 (of 13,500 total employment); Van Nuys, Calif., 1,500 (of 3,000).

The Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., 350 (of 700). The UAW says it represents the following number of workers at Douglas plants: Charlotte, N.C., 700 (of 1,500); Tulsa, Okla., 3,250 (of 4,000).

Long Beach, Calif., 17,500 (of 20,700). Lockheed's Van Nuys plant does support work on the projects under way at Sunnyvale, and the Air Force satellites are tested and launched at Vandenberg.

Douglas's Charlotte plant builds the Army's key anti-aircraft missile, the nuclear-armed Nike Hercules; Tulsa does modification of Boeing B47s, and Long Beach builds DC8 commercial jetliners and C133 Air Force transports.

Pay scales at the plants: Douglas, $1.92 to $3.39 an hour. Lockheed, $1.95 to $3.42. The engineers and technicians earn up to $1,000 a month. At issue are pay increases and fringe benefits ranging from 14 cents an hour to $65 a month, plus contractual difficulties. Elimination of pay differentials among different Douglas plants across the country was one of the stumbling blocks in Douglas UAW talks.

Argentina Asks UN Today Take Up Eichmann Issue

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Argentina today is asking the U.N. Security Council to take up its charge that an Israeli group's removal of Adolf Eichmann violated Argentine sovereignty.

Israel stood firm in its refusal to return the former Nazi official charged with helping to direct the extermination of six million Jews during World War II. Eichmann will be tried by an Israeli court, the legal adviser in Jerusalem, rejecting suggestions that an international tribunal judge the accused war criminal.

Israel claimed that a volunteer group, acting without the Israeli government's knowledge, captured Eichmann in Buenos Aires last month and that he agreed voluntarily to go to Israel to face trial. Argentina rejected the explanation.

Informed sources said the Argentine government decided to ask for a special Security Council meeting after Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir and Mario Amadeo, Argentine ambassador to the U.N., discussed the dispute for two hours Tuesday without reaching agreement.

Mrs. Meir later told newsmen the meeting was friendly but refused to give details. There was some speculation the talks might be continued on a higher level. Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and Argentine President Arturo Frondizi are both touring Europe. It is possible they may meet in Belgium or France next week.

In Jerusalem, Israeli legal adviser Shabtai Rosenne said Eichmann would be tried on the basis of the joint declaration by the Soviet, U.S. and British governments on Oct. 30, 1943, that "Nazi war criminals may be tried and punished by the peoples whom they have outraged." Rosenne said that even Argentina realizes that Eichmann had entered that country under a false name, with false documents, and that his stay there was never legalized.

Regarding the claim that Eichmann should be tried by an international tribunal, Rosenne said all war crimes tribunals had been dissolved more than 10 years ago.

Strom Thurmond Renominated For Senate Term

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond, 58, grateful for what he called "a magnificent vote of confidence," won the Democratic nomination for another term in the U. S. Senate Tuesday in a landslide.

Thurmond rolled up 242,022 votes to 29,133 for his only opponent, Columbia attorney R. Beverly Herbert, 80, with all but a scattering of the state's 1,602 precincts reporting.

Herbert said when he paid his $1,500 filing fee that he was entering the race largely to gain a sounding board for his contention that Southern senators, including Thurmond, had been doing a poor job of supporting the South's racial views.

Thurmond is practically assured of another six years in the Senate as nomination means virtual reelection in this heavily Democratic state.

(Continued from Page 4) trained and dedicated people who understand Communist strategy and who appreciate the tactics and the realities of a total global power struggle. In this way we would have the means and objectives of providing the Free World with skilled operatives to promote freedom's side of this Cold War. We are late in developing proper and effective methods of repelling the Communist conspiracy. But there is still time if we devote our great American talents, vision, and resources to the immediate problem.

The idea is sound if it is possible to find a staff who will face the truth honestly and deal with problems with an accent on what they really are and not what anyone wants them to be. Perhaps this is the time to explore its possibilities.

VAN WYCK MASON'S newest thriller Secret Mission to Bangkok

CHAPTER 23

When Captain Pokh was ready to begin the questioning of the people Hugh North had suggested, the strongest of North's theories took a left hook smack in the eye.

Fraulein Mary Hollberg, it developed, had flown the coop. She was not in her room; she was not in the hotel. When last seen by the doorman at the main entrance of the Imperial Hotel she had been hurrying, nearly running, out of the building.

The time of Mary's departure? Six-ten, or just about the time that John Wallen had expected to finish up his "little business."

"Ho!" cried Captain Piliang Pokh. "Now we have dragnet! Hot dog!"

The "dragnet" out, Pokh finally was restrained enough to get on with the questioning of the other people on the list.

movie, to drink cocktails with him, so everybody now in Bangkok who knew him was here, hey?"

Hugh North pursed his lips. "Not quite everybody," he amended. "Besides Barrows there were two men aboard the plane from Hong Kong who weren't here while I was here, Chu Hoong and Georges Marchet."

"Oh, Chu Hoong never go to cocktail parties," Pokh said. "He say no to all. Who is this Georges Marchet?"

"A planter from Cholon, Vietnam," Hugh explained. "A pretty shabby character. Wallen probably cut him off the invitation list. One of your men might check up on Marchet, though, see if he's registered in the hotel, where he was when Wallen was killed. Nothing to it, probably, but we might as well cover the angle."

Pokh spoke a word in Thai to one of his lieutenants. The undersized officer exited, accompanied by a private.

"What did you find out about the knife?" Hugh asked the captain.

Pokh sniffed. "Is common enough in Thailand," he said. "Cheap copy of old-time ceremonial knife. Hundreds made here in Bangkok for export, valuable curio, but Siamese use it for everything, chop meat, carve wood. Can buy in any shop, ten bahts, fifty cents, U.S."

"I saw a curio shop in the lobby downstairs," North said. "Are these knives sold there?"

"Oh yes," Pokh nodded. "Certainly be sold there; Chu Hoong own factory where ceremonial knives are made and must surely sell them in his own hotel."

He turned as the lieutenant had sent to inquire about Georges Marchet burst into the room, chattering in excited Thai. When the underling was finished at last the captain whirled toward North.

"Is important break in case!" he cried. "Hotel elevator man and porter both say Georges Marchet came up here to seventh floor and ask which way to Suite Seven-D, this place."

"So he was invited to the party, eh?"

"Not so! This was after party over. Georges Marchet did not ascend to seventh floor until after six o'clock. Was here when Wallen murdered!"

"Marchet is registered here?" North snapped.

"Oh yes," Pokh nodded. "Not high-class man like other guests, so they put him in little room near kitchen. Is back entrance nearby. Monsieur Marchet can come and go through back door without offending fine ladies and gents in lobby. Let us go arrest this Monsieur Marchet!"

North followed the undersized captain to the elevator and accompanied him to the ground floor, rear, and the door of Room 14. It was the shabby, behind-the-scenes part of the hotel, the hallway narrow and dark and dimly lit, the air full of stale kitchen smells.

Pokh rapped sharply on the door, waited a moment, and then drew his heavy revolver.

"Just a second, Captain," Hugh said mildly. "I've got a key here that will open it. No need to shoot off the lock."

He stopped and clutched the little captain's arm to silence Pokh. Inside Room 14 there was the scuffle of feet, the crash of an overturned chair.

"Stop!" shrieked Marchet in French, inside. And then: "It is the actor's murderer!"

There was the smash of a gun, deafening in the close confines of the room beyond. North's own pistol was out and speaking as it blasted the lock.

"The alley," the colonel yelped at the little captain, and yanked open the door, flung himself through.

He went in at a crouch, bent almost double. There was another gun blast, a streak of orange flame cutting the darkness, and Hugh heard the sizzle of a slug a foot above his head.

There was the crash of glass and a figure, indistinct in the dark room, crowded the window as the gunman flung himself at the opening he had clubbed free. Hugh's gun came down to sight on the fleeing figure—and that was when Captain Pokh of the Bangkok Imperial Troop went into action.

The little captain either had ignored or had not understood North's barked command to cover the alley. Instead, he was right behind the colonel and his heavy revolver blasted in Hugh's ear as he fired over North's doubled shoulder. The jarring concussion was enough to knock North's aim off the fraction of an inch needed to score a complete miss.

Hugh had been trying for the gunman's shoulder—a dead man could not explain anything—and with that minute swerve of his aim his bullet went smacking into the window frame beside the disappearing gunman. As for Pokh's shot, it spanned into the ceiling above the window and lowered a curtain of plaster dust.

Cursing under his breath, Hugh whirled and raced to the door of the squalid little room, ran down the hall to the rear door, and turned a corner into the alley. His man was gone—if it had been a man.

Instead, there was a burgeoning crowd of natives attracted by the fusillade flowing into the alley from all directions. If the one surprised in Marchet's room had been a target a moment ago, the mob had swallowed up that target now and Hugh turned back to the hotel entrance, bitter disappointment mounting with him.

In the room again, Hugh found Pokh standing beside the bed, looking down at all that remained of Georges Marchet. An ugly stain welled and spread from a wound under the Frenchman's left eye. No man could have survived a shot there.

The Siamese captain tore his fascinated stare loose and looked at North, grimacing. "We have two murders now," he announced. "No murderer. Too bad you missed when you so close."

Hugh bit back his rejoinder and kept his voice level. "Have your men check the whereabouts of everybody in the hotel who was on that Hong Kong plane," he ordered. "Also see if Chu Hoong is in his penthouse," he added, and Pokh was off.

"Is nothing," Pokh said gloomily when North rejoined him after the questioning. "Is all lying, look like. Except maybe lady who was sleeping off too many cocktails. Maybe so Misser Cars, too. He so worried about movie picture he wouldn't stab leading man, you think?"

North shrugged without replying.

"Is Mary Hollberg, certainly," Pokh nodded wisely. "When we find her she confess everything, I bet you."

"Could be," North nodded. "But let's face it, it could have been any one of that mob that was here this afternoon. Wallen had a pretty ugly background. He seems to have been a grade-A heel, all around."

"Job is to question everybody at party, then," Captain Pokh said. "Misser Wallen invite everybody on plane, everybody in room, chattering in excited Thai. When the underling was finished at last the captain whirled toward North.

"Is important break in case!" he cried. "Hotel elevator man and porter both say Georges Marchet came up here to seventh floor and ask which way to Suite Seven-D, this place."

WELL-INTENTIONED

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Advice can come from unexpected sources. Bill Judkins returned home, parked his car and went indoors to kiss his wife. Then he went back out for his luggage. As he was about to re-enter the house he heard an urgent "Pss-ss-st!" A stranger delivering handbills said, "Hey, buddy. Better wipe that lipstick off before you go in."

Pardoned, Given Police Job Back

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A former police sergeant who served six months in prison for embezzlement returns to the force Thursday at his old rank.

The Tampa Civil Service Board ordered reinstatement of Robert T. Harris, 35, who was dismissed in 1956 from duty as a Municipal Court bailiff.

Harris was convicted of taking $200 in bond money which belonged to a defendant and sentenced to seven years in prison. The State Pardon Board reopened the case after Harris had been in prison a short while. It ruled that evidence was insufficient for a conviction, ordered Harris freed and granted him a pardon.

Philanthropist Dies In Durham

DURHAM (AP) — Mrs. Mary Duke Biddle, one of Duke University's leading financial supporters, died here Tuesday of heart complications following a prolonged illness.

Although the 72-year-old philanthropist had been in ill health, her death was unexpected. She had developed an acute respiratory infection but doctors said she was responding to treatment.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete early today. Services, however, were expected to be held in the Duke University Chapel with burial in the Duke family mausoleum at Durham's Maplewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Biddle lived at Irvington-on-Hudson, N.Y. She became ill at her home and was brought to the Duke University Medical Center for additional treatment.

She was a daughter of the late Benjamin and Sarah P. Duke of the Duke tobacco manufacturing family.

Her gifts to Duke University were numerous. Included were two Duke family homes, the Duke homestead where Washington Duke and his family lived for 25 years, and the B. N. Duke Mansion now known as "University House."

Gifts from Mrs. Biddle also helped build a major addition to the Duke University Library and the alumni room in the East Duke Building. She also gave the university many valuable works of art.

President Hollis Edens of Duke University said in a statement, "The university is shocked and saddened at Mrs. Biddle's sudden death. She was a friend of Duke in so many ways... as an alumna and a member of the founding family."

Mrs. Biddle received an A.B. degree from Trinity College in 1907. Survivors include her daughter, Mrs. Mary Duke Trent Semans of Durham; a son, Nicholas D. Biddle of New York City; Mrs. Biddle's former husband, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. of Philadelphia; and seven grandchildren.

Corporations Meeting Tax Installments Okay

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Today is the day that those who pay their federal income taxes on the installment plan must ante up the second round. It's also the day that corporations have a similar big date with the Internal Revenue Service.

Usually they borrow heavily from the banks to meet the corporate income tax payment date. But this time something new has been added. Banks report little upsurge of business borrowing. Corporate treasurers seem to have enough cash on hand to go to auction and bid strenuously. The 91-day bill rate fell to a yield of 2.292 and the 182 bill rate to 2.497. It was the fourth straight weekly drop in this prime indicator of short-term interest rate trends.

Money is easier. And interest rates have been falling — most places except at the commercial banks.

This in time is expected to boost business and to make things more pleasant for individuals.

She was a friend of Duke in so many ways... as an alumna and a member of the founding family."

Mrs. Biddle received an A.B. degree from Trinity College in 1907. Survivors include her daughter, Mrs. Mary Duke Trent Semans of Durham; a son, Nicholas D. Biddle of New York City; Mrs. Biddle's former husband, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. of Philadelphia; and seven grandchildren.

Little League TV Show Was Heartwarming Tale

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There probably wasn't a dry eye in NBC's audience Tuesday night (except perhaps humane society members fretting about Monterrey roosters) as the network showed a documentary film about the birth and triumph of a Mexican Little League baseball team.

The movie was obviously chopped down to fit into 90 minutes, including commercials of irritating frequency, and had English dubbed onto its sound track. But even so, "How Tall is a Giant?" was one of those poignant, heartwarming stories, because it involved small boys, enthusiasm and courage.

It followed what host Ernie

Ford called a team of "raggedy pants" Monterrey boys from the organization of their Little League in the spring of 1957 to a magnificent moment a few months later in Williamsport, Pa. There they won the world championship from a California team as their star, 12-year-old Angel Macias, pitched a perfect game. (Angel practiced his curve by lethally beanballing the family fowls.)

The whole Monterrey team, its volunteer coach and its manager, reenacted the events, giving the film appeal and validity.

NBC's hour-long Saturday night public affairs show, "World Wide 60" will be replaced next fall by "America's Future," a live debate on current issues—foreign affairs, education, politics, defense and other important topics — followed by a period of questions from the audience.

The network also plans a series of six public affairs shows on issues which, according to network president Robert E. Kinter, "because of their deep-rooted controversy, have not yet been subjected to television analysis in depth."

Things have come to such a summer pass that CBS, announcing the July 1 episode of "The Twilight Zone," appended the following footnote to a routine publicity release: "This is a first-run episode, not a rebroadcast."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be the guest on next Sunday's "Collegiate News Conference" on ABC, answering questions on politics and foreign affairs.

Recommended tonight: "The Impostor," CBS, 10-11—Ann Sheridan, Liliane Montevecchi, and Jean Pierre Aumont in a drama about an amnesia victim of World War II.

Little League Helps Baseball

A wave of de-emphasis on baseball in North Carolina high schools has developed over the past three or four years. Yet, top flight talent seems to still be seeping out of the Tar Heel state.

The continued flow of good talent is probably derived from the vast development of Little League programs throughout the state and their outgrowths.

A recent report failed to show a big decline in the number of schools fielding baseball teams in our state. The report did show that only a few schools operated self-supporting baseball programs. Most of the schools financed their program through receipts from basketball and football.

Despite the fact that the charts show very little deviations in the actual number of teams competing, it is apparent that emphasis on the diamond sport had dwindled considerably.

Little League, Teen-er League, and American Legion ball have stepped in to offer the growing youngster plenty of baseball but it is still unfair to rob him of the competition provided for in, other sports on the high school level.

Northeastern Loop Loses Rank

The Northeastern 3-A Conference of which Greenville is a member had its prestige take a jolt this past spring when it cut the baseball schedule of each of its members to only seven conference games. It meant playing each conference team only once.

The schedule did not allow a true champion to be crowned and did not offer the participants a well-rounded program. They were unable to develop and utilize their skills to the fullest capacity.

The league supplied two players to the East-West All-Star game in Greenville. Neither impressed the East coach enough to play more than one inning. The tally sheet showed a strikeout and an error charged to the Northeastern Conference in two chances. It was a bad blow for the league.

The reason accorded the limitation of schedules was to cut down on students missing class work. It is debatable that the added classwork throughout the season was able to replace the actual experience and other benefits lost from missing seven ball games.

New Coach Will Be Named

There is still no decision on the replacement of Rose High assistant coach Odell Welborn, who will move over to East Carolina College next fall.

The athletic program needs a "big" boost and the selectors of the vacant position should take into strong consideration the coaching qualifications of the replacement.

For some time, Greenville has been among the forerunners of the conference in enrollment statistics. But it can not claim the same distinction in its athletic achievement chart. Greenville, even as large as it is, has been unable to dominate any sport in the past decade and championships have been few and far between.

Strong Grid Program Needed

Football, the "real meat" of any athletic program, seems to be on the upgrade. Coach Bud Phillips, a veteran at the game, has done a tremendous job in his short stint here.

Yet, it is hoped that the grid program will continue to prosper and to do so a strong assistant will be needed to step into the coaching shoes of Welborn.

According to school officials, a dozen or so have applied for the job. The final decision is still hanging in the air. This corner only hopes that true consideration be given to the athletic-side of the picture by the appointing personnel.

Carolina Loses In First Round To Minnesota 8-3

OMAHA (AP) — Two 14-game winning streaks came to an end in the NCAA College World Series Tuesday as Minnesota beat North Carolina 8-3 and Southern California nipped St. John's of New York City 3-1.

In the third first round game of the day, Boston College handed Colorado State College an 8-3 defeat.

Today the four-game schedule puts Oklahoma State, a 2-1 victim of Arizona in a first round game last Friday, against North Carolina. Wichita State College against St. John's, Arizona against Minnesota, and Southern Cal against Boston.

Losers in the day games will drop out of the double elimination tourney.

Minnesota's Bob Wasko came in after North Carolina scored three runs in the first inning, then pitched eight innings of scoreless baseball to get the win. Minnesota's big inning was the fifth when five runs were scored, three of them on a triple by Wayne Knapp.

UNC Coach Walter Rabb, who broke his wrist and pulled a leg muscle during a Monday workout, piloted the Tar Heels from a dug-out stretcher.

The loss went to Wayne Young (9-), who yielded eight hits in going the distance.

HURLS NO-HITTER

Haywood Outland stole the show in Industrial League activity last night by hurling his first no-hitter of his career and pacing Carolina Dairy to a 9-0 victory over Cox Armature.

Outland had a near-perfect game, allowing only three runners to reach base. He issued walks in the second, third, and seventh innings but two of the runners were erased trying to steal second. Tom Boyd, Doug Morgan, Jerry Warren and Earl Tripp cracked two hits each in the Carolina Dairy victory.

Brownie Tripp had a two-run triple in the fifth inning and Outland picked up his first hit of the season in the same inning—a two-run double. Cox Armature ... 000 000 0-0 0 Carolina Dairy ... 001 350 -9 13 Yates and Cates; Outland and Dash.

The Graniteers held on to first place in the Industrial Softball League last night with a one-sided, 10-2 conquest of Offset Printing Company. Scoring seven runs in the first two innings, Johnny Foell and Mac Roebuck paced the victory with two hits each.

Bobby Perry had the only extra base hit—a double in the second inning. Offset Printers ... 000 002 0-2 6 Graniteers ... 431 011 x-10 8 Williams and Hamil; Brantley and Roebuck.

A mass of determination and a confident two-game winning streak will be the factors slacking up for Pitt County's Legion team when it mingles with the veteran invasion from Rocky Mount in Guy Smith Stadium at 8:00 tonight.

Hoping to draw a full house and at the same time give them a full treat of some good baseball, Coach Bud Phillips has chosen Greenville-born Larry Roberts to oppose the strikeout ace, Bobby Ellis, of Rocky Mount.

Roberts has shifted around in the starting lineup for the Pitt Legionnaires but will be his first pitching appearance. Backed by solid hitting power, Ellis was on the long end of a 15-1 decision over Jacksonville in the lid-opener of the campaign. He had 12 strikeouts in the one-sided contest.

The Pitt contingent expects to be at full strength for the first time. J. Y. Monk will be at first, Billy James at second, Kroghie Andersen at shortstop, and Alan McArthur at third base. Rommy Brock will form the second half of the Greenville battery. Slated for outfield duty will be Paul Castelloe, Dink Mills, and Jack Poley.

Rocky Mount is the defending eastern champ and pre-season pick by most Legion observers. It is a veteran outfit with good hitting and solid defense. The two victories came at the expense of Jacksonville (15-1) and Goldsboro (4-3).

High-scoring Pitt, enrolled in the league for the first time, registered a 10-8 win over Kinston and defeated Ahoscie 10-4.

STARTING PITCHER . . . for Pitt County's Legion team tonight against Rocky Mount will be Larry Roberts. Roberts will be making his first start on the mound. He played the infield in the first games for the Pitt team.

The Jaycees pushed across a single run in the bottom half of the sixth inning to claim a 5-4 North State win over the Lions. Bert Bennett cracked two hits, including a double, to feature the Jaycee victory. John Carpton picked up the pitching victory.

The Lions had tied the game in the fifth inning with a two-run rally. Lions ... 020 020-4 7 Jaycees ... 030 101-5 6

TAKE LL WIN

Pepsi-Cola scored in every inning to exceed the fifth yesterday to overcome a 6-0 lead and defeat Security Life 11-8. Ed Flanagan pitched in relief of Jack Gordon to win the game. Mike Prewitt had two hits to into first place. Rodriguez is credited with 531 points under the tournament's scoring system. H. Reece Layton of Ocean City, Md., who boated a 47½ pounder, has 522 points and he and his Ocean City Marlin Club team are second. Two other catches were made yesterday as the tournament, which ends Thursday, continued to be hampered by rough sea. Also landing marlins were John Wood of Princess Anne, Va., a 195-pounder; and Dr. S. A. Thomas of Washington, who landed a 465-pounder in an hour and 45 minutes which cost him 116 points because of the time needed to bring his prize aboard.

G-Yanks Lead Cut To 1 Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cellar occupant Burlington nipped Greensboro, 10-6, Tuesday night, cutting the Yanks' hold on the Carolina League lead to one-half game.

Second place Raleigh managed a split in a doubleheader with Winston-Salem. The opener went 10 innings before the Red Birds won, 2-1. The Caps had a 6-2 margin in the nightcap.

Wilson strengthened its third place position by beating Durham, 4-3.

The score was tied, 5-5, in the seventh inning when Burlington broke loose for five runs. Relief pitcher Senny Siebert kept the Yanks under control the rest of the way.

A three-run homer by Joe Teague featured the 15th attack launched by Burlington. Teague also has a trio of singles.

Raleigh Manager Ken Deal protested an umpire's decision in the top half of the seventh inning of the opener at Winston-Salem, and played the remainder of the game under protest. The disputed call held Mike Page to a ground rule double. He had reached third base on the hit, which Winston-Salem leftfielder John Roth kicked under a screen in attempting a shoe-string catch.

In the second game, Page was hit by a ball and admitted to Baptist Hospital suffering from a possible concussion.

Acting manager Bud Bloomfield filed a protest to the second game for Winston-Salem. He did so after Manager Chase Riddle was hauled out of the game by Umpire John Toone.

The games tonight: Raleigh at Winston-Salem, Burlington at Greensboro, and Durham at Wilson.

Hobbie Finds A Tough Eighth

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Glen Hobbie of the Chicago Cubs is finding the eighth inning a tough burden in bids for a no-hitter and a place among baseball's pitching immortals.

The 24-year-old right-hander had his second good shot at no-hit fame Tuesday night, but had to settle for a 3-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. Del Crandall and Eddie Mathews clipped him for homers.

About a year ago, Hobbie retired 23 St. Louis batters in a row. Then Stan Musial punched a double down the left field line to spoil a great mound performance.

Crandall did the damage after Hobbie stopped the Braves without a hit for seven innings. The Milwaukee catcher picked on the first pitch in the eighth, sending a liner into the bleachers in left center for his 10th home run. Mathews added his 12th with one out in the ninth for the only other Milwaukee hit.

scout. Now, after seven seasons in the minors, he is the hottest pitcher in the majors and has put the Yanks within three percentage points of the American League lead.

The lean right-hander put away a 7-0 record and his 11th consecutive victory over a year Tuesday night as the third-place Yankees won their seventh straight, 6-2 at Kansas City. That gave New York the longest streak of the season in the AL while closing in on the front-struggling Cleveland Indians and Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles edged within one percentage point of the top by handing the Indians a third straight defeat, 7-4, in the opener of a four-game series at Cleveland.

Detroit defeated Boston 2-1 in the only other game played in the AL. Wet grounds at Chicago postponed the White Sox' game with Washington.

In the National League, Pittsburgh gained a two-game lead over San Francisco by beating the Giants 6-3. The Chicago Cubs defeated Milwaukee 3-2 on Glen Hobbie's two-hitter. St. Louis beat Cincinnati 6-3 as Larry Jackson won his eighth in a row. Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles 6-5 in 10 innings.

Roger Maris kept his major league run lead with No. 18 and drove in five runs for the Yankees. It was the Yankees' eighth in a row over the A's, sixth this season, and handed Johnny Kucks a 1-1 record.

Coates, 27, didn't allow a hit until Dick Williams hofered with one out in the fifth. He finished with a six-hitter for a 13-1 major league mark and a perfect record as a starting pitcher.

A four-run eighth-inning—which took an hour and 42 minutes to play because of rain—did it for the Orioles. Al Pilarcik's squeeze bunt scored the clincher and Gene Woodling then capped the rally with a two-run single. Gary Bell (6-5) was the loser. Milt Pappas (4-5) won it, but needed relief help from Jerry Walker.

The Tigers ruined Mike Higgins' return as Boston manager when pinch-hitter Norm Cash socked a two-run, two-out homer in the seventh off Bill Monbouquette (5-6). Jim Bunning (4-3) struck out 13 and gave up all four Red Sox hits—one Ted Williams' 498th career home run.

Qualifying Starts At Charlotte Track

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Qualifying begins Thursday over the new 1½-mile Charlotte Motor Speedway track to rut the field to 55 cars for Sunday's first "World 600" stock car race.

Meanwhile, the track was to be opened today for more practice rounds starting at 1 p.m. Officials closed down the speedway Sunday so that workers could put finishing touches to the facilities.

Glenn (Fireball) Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla., who set a qualifying record of better than 127 miles per hour at Darlington, S.C., last month in a convertible race, is favored to earn the pole position in his 1960 Pontiac. He will have to best the field in the qualifying daily through Saturday.

Jack Smith of Atlanta, also in a 1960 Pontiac; and track president Curtis Turner, in a 1960 Ford, are other drivers expected to make strong bids for the No. 1 spot in Sunday's race and an inside shot at $4,000 in lap prizes. The big race, which is scheduled over 600 miles, offers an overall purse of $106,775.

Hitting — Roger Maris, Yankees, drove in five runs with a home run, double and single in 6-2 victory over the A's.

Pitching — Glen Hobbie, Cubs, allowed only two hits, eighth and ninth inning home runs, for 3-2 victory over the Braves.

Norris Friel of Washington, NASCAR technical chief, said Wednesday afternoon more than 40 cars had passed through the inspection station and are ready to try at qualifying. Officials expect another 20 to 30 cars before race day.

Champ Expects No Style Change From Patterson

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP) — World heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson confided today he didn't expect Floyd Patterson to change his strategy from their first fight when they meet for the title next Monday.

"He's a good boxer," Johansson said. "It takes a long time to become a good boxer and you can't just change your style any time you want to. It will force you into too many mistakes.

"No, I don't expect Floyd to change his tactics a bit from the last time we met."

Further, Ingo is counting on his "roaring right" to do most of his work against Patterson.

"I hit him too high with it the last time and he got up," proclaimed Johansson confidently. "The next time I'm going to make this my target" — and he pointed to the tip of his chin — "and when I connect there, the referee will count to a thousand."

Pirates Capture Two Game Lead Over Giants

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates have a two-game lead after getting past San Francisco in the opener of a three-game series, but right-hander Larry Jackson and the surging St. Louis Cardinals are stealing the spotlight in the National League pennant race.

Four unearned runs gave the Pirates a 6-3 decision over the second-place Giants Tuesday night while the Cardinals backed Jackson with home runs for his eighth straight victory in a 6-3 decision over Cincinnati.

It gave Jackson (9-5) a tie with Pittsburgh's Vern Law as the majors' top winning pitcher, and moved the Cards past the Reds into fourth place.

The Chicago Cubs defeated third-place Milwaukee 3-2 behind a two-hit pitching job by Glen Hobbie. Last-place Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles 6-5 in 10 innings.

In the American League, Baltimore moved within one percentage point of first-place Cleveland by beating the Indians 7-4 in the first of four games with the Tribe. The third-place New York Yankees edged within three points of the top by winning their seventh in a row, 6-2, at Kansas City as Jim Coates (7-0) won his 11th straight since last June. Detroit beat Boston 2-1. Wet grounds postponed Washington's game at Chicago.

Jackson, 29, a winner against every club but Los Angeles, gave up five hits and just one earned run — a fourth-inning homer by Jerry Lynch, Ken Boyer and Curt Flood, who drove in four runs, homered off loser Jim O'Toole (4-6) for the Cards' sixth victory in the last nine games.

Boyer's shot, with a man on in the first inning, was his 17th, keeping him in a tie with Ernie Banks of the Cubs for the NL lead.

A two-out error by Willie McCovey with the bases loaded set up three unearned runs in the second inning for the Pirates. Dick Groat's two-run single capped it and beat Sam Jones (8-5), who lost his first in eight decisions at Candlestick Park. Bob Friend (8-3) was the winner. Hobbie, a right-hander with an 8-2 lifetime record against Milwaukee, held the Braves hitless for seven innings, then gave up home runs by Del Crandall and Ed Mathews in the eighth and ninth. The Cubs had five hits off loser Bob Buhl (5-3), two of them home runs by Banks and Frank Thomas.

A single by Clay Dalrymple scored two runs and won it for the Phils in a three-run 10th off losing reliever Clem Labine (0-1). The Dodgers blew a 3-2 lead in the ninth, Dick Farrell (3-1) won in relief, getting Norm Larker on a pop up for the final out with the tying run on second after giving up two runs in the Dodger lead.

Hogan, Snead Have Good Odds In Open

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Those two old masters of golf, Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, will have something extra going for them in the National Open championship starting Thursday.

For Hogan, it's the general flatness of the 7,004-yard, par 35-36-71 Cherry Hills Country Club where a select field of 150 begin playing for keeps at 8 a.m.

The double round that climaxes this 60th edition of golf's top prestige tournament on Saturday shouldn't be as gruelling as the others the solemn bantam from Texas has faced since his legs were mangled in a near fatal auto accident 11 years ago.

For Snead, it's the law of averages. Despite a record 105 tournament victories, including three PGA and three Masters titles, the West Virginia hillbilly has never won the Open. This is his 20th attempt in an unbroken string that began in 1937 when he was a mere 25.

"You know, I might just win one of these here things sometime," Snead said after a steady one over par 72 in practice Tuesday.

"I'm satisfied with the way I'm playing," said an unusually chipper Hogan after leaving the course after 16 holes when a sudden windstorm swept the layout.

cases are entirely different. Petitioner's college class already had graduated. I tried to get him to finish his college career, but he was determined to play pro football and would have gone to the Canadian League.

"Signing Sherer sets a precedent for every college football player in the country to drop out of school if he thinks he can get a pro contract. I don't think Wismer knows the bylaws of his own league."

Wismar blasted Halas, who had warned that the signing of undergraduates by AFL clubs could lead to wholesale raids of colleges.

"I know why Halas is mad," fumed Wismar. "He wanted the boy himself. Halas did the very same thing only a year ago. At the end of the 1958 college season, he signed Dick Pittbon, the best player Tulane had in 10 years when he still had a year of eligibility at school.

"Halas has been getting away with this kind of stuff for years in Chicago. All of a sudden he sets himself up as a benefactor of the player."

Halas snapped back: "The two

Wagner, at 47 seeking an unprecedented fifth Open crown, and the peppy, wise-cracking Snead, 48, represent the old pros' major challenge to golf's young bloods, headed by tournament favorite Arnold Palmer. Dow Finsterwald, defending champion Billy Casper, Ken Venturi, Gene Littler and Mike Souchak.

All will be swinging away at what most of them consider the easiest Open course in recent years. There will be 18 holes each Thursday and Friday before the 36-hole showdown on Saturday.

"It's amazing," says Casper, the putting wizard from Apple Valley, Calif. "The way the ball goes in this thin air, you'd need 8,000 yards to have a true 7,000-yard course."

"The easiest I've played," says Hogan, whose record 276 at California's Riviera Country Club in 1948 probably is in trouble.

"It's too bad," says Australia's Bruce Crampton, one of the chief foreign threats along with Gary Player of South Africa and Stan Leonard of Canada. "Why even one of the rabbits like me could win it by sinking a few putts."

For the long shot loves, a prime one turned up in handsome Doug Sanders, 26, short-hitting comer from Miami Beach, Fla.

Sanders, who has won nearly $20,000 on the tour this year without a tournament victory, fired a 34-33-67, the best of Tuesday's practice scores. Doug has the longest current streak of the touring group, having finished in the money in 35 consecutive tournaments.

Long-hitting, erratic George Bayer of Glenelg, Ill., also had a 67.

Jackie Nicklaus, 1959 National Amateur king, and Henry Williams Jr., Fleetwood, Pa., pro, were the only others to break 70 in Tuesday's warmups. Both had 69s.

Friends For The Birds—LaMotta

NEW YORK (AP)—Jake LaMotta once summarized his philosophy of life in two short sentences: "Friends," he sneered, "are for the birds. I'm looking out for Jake LaMotta."

Psychologists probably would have an answer for LaMotta's attitude. He was born of poverty, had to quit school early to support his family and finally drifted into boxing.

But this was the case with a lot of other fighters. LaMotta seemed to go out of his way to make enemies in his trade.

Tuesday, LaMotta, 39, admitted before a Senate hearing that he threw a bout in 1947 against Billy Fox — something most witnesses to the proceedings suspected all along.

LaMotta now is earning his living as a movie actor. He is in a film entitled "Splendor in the Grass," in New York.

Jake LaMotta Testifies Purposely Losing Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called a self-styled underworld money lender from a prison cell to testify today in its hearings on high level scandals in professional boxing.

From the voluble convict, Irving Mischel, they sought inside information about money deals in the promotion of bouts.

As a witness before the Senate racketeering committee last year, Mischel told a detailed story of loaning "many, many millions" at usurious interest rates as a sort of unofficial banker for New York underworld figures.

He is serving 10 to 20 years in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora, N.Y., for grand larceny of about 360,000 worth of securities in a complex money deal.

Just where his testimony might fit into the boxing probe the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee refused to say in advance, except that it would deal with "money transactions in boxing."

As the hearings opened Tuesday, former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta testified he purposely lost a fixed fight in 1947 to Billy Fox.

He said he had been offered $100,000 each to lose that fight and another the same year to Tony Janiro. He won the bout with Janiro.

He agreed to take a dive in the Fox fight, he said, in return for the promise of a shot at the middleweight title. Despite the agreement, LaMotta testified he had to pay $20,000 to get the bout in which he won the championship nearly two years later from Marcel Cerdan.

Cerdan's American representative, the Bernsein and Sammy Richman of New York, testified they had received no money for arranging the bout, and had never heard of any payoff.

The LaMotta-Fox bout, which was stopped by the referee in the fourth round, was investigated both by the New York State Athletic Commission and by the office of New York Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan. Neither the commission nor a grand jury reported finding anything wrong.

A spokesman for Hogan said Tuesday night that "now that the statute of limitations has run out, Mr. LaMotta is saying what he refused to say at the time."

LaMotta conceded he lied during the earlier investigations.

LaMotta also repudiated a statement the Senate investigators said he had made to them this year. The statement, entered in the record anyhow, named Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Bill Daly as the men who offered him $100,000 to throw the Fox fight, and Thomas Milo, now dead, as the one who promised him a title fight.

Committee investigators later testified Milo was known as the New York underworld's money man. Daly was described as "an acknowledged associate of boxing's foremost racketeers," and Palermo as the "reputed numbers king of Philadelphia."

LaMotta, contending he could not remember who was involved, said the arrangements were made by his brother and manager, Joey LaMotta.

Joey LaMotta refused to answer questions about the transactions. Invoking the Fifth Amendment, he said answers might tend to incriminate him.

Rand Dixon and John G. Bonomi, subcommittee counsel, announced they have tried for 10 days to serve a subpoena on Joseph DiCarlo. They described him as a Miami Beach gambler active in the fight business, and said he is hiding.

Dixon in a prepared statement said DiCarlo is wanted for questioning about the LaMotta-Janiro match on June 6, 1947, five months before the LaMotta-Fox bout.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), presiding at Tuesday's hearing, dismissed the LaMotta brothers from the witness stand with a statement that the whole story was a sorry one and commented tartly on "pressures" he said appeared to have been exerted on them.

Subcommittee staff aides said they were looking into a possibility the LaMottas may have received threats if they named any bribers. But the aides said they

Bookies Wary Over Wimbledon

LONDON (AP) — It's going to be a crazy Wimbledon this year with any of 10 players likely to take the men's singles crown from the home of world amateur lawn tennis.

Even the bookies are getting wary about offering odds on the top 10.

And when British bookies do that you can reckon things are pretty open.

The defeat of Luis Ayala, Chilean star and South America's leading amateur, in Tuesday's London championship play completed the shock results in pre-Wimbledon tournaments.

Grid Leagues Swap Ill Words

NEW YORK (AP)—Two small "brush fire" wars between the entrenched National Football League and the neophyte American Football League were raging today—and the AFL appeared to be ahead in both.

In Los Angeles, the Rams of the NFL failed, at least temporarily, to get into evidence details of a $100,000-plus contract signed by All-American Bill Cannon with Houston of the AFL.

U. S. Dist. Judge William J. Lindberg ruled that such evidence if permissible at all, should be introduced later in the Rams' injunction suit to keep Cannon from performing with any other team.

The Rams contend Cannon breached a contract he signed with them for a $10,000 bonus, plus $50,000 for 1960-61-62. Cannon's attorneys claim the documents are merely "pieces of paper."

There was a long court argument over the Rams signing Cannon, a Louisiana State University star, before the Sugar Bowl game last Jan. 1. There was some question over whether the Rams were guilty of professionalizing him.

In New York and Chicago, a war of words raged between Harry Wismer, president of the New York Titans of the AFL and owner-coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears of the NFL.

Wismer defended the signing of Jack Sherer, sophomore University of Miami tackle, before his class graduates.

"The kid flunked out of school," said Wismer. "He can't get into any other college. He wants to play football. All I know about the rule is that we aren't supposed to sign a boy until his class graduates."

"But this case is different. We have not induced the boy to leave school. We are trying to help him."

Wismer blasted Halas, who had warned that the signing of undergraduates by AFL clubs could lead to wholesale raids of colleges.

"I know why Halas is mad," fumed Wismer. "He wanted the boy himself. Halas did the very same thing only a year ago. At the end of the 1958 college season, he signed Dick Pittbon, the best player Tulane had in 10 years when he still had a year of eligibility at school.

"Halas has been getting away with this kind of stuff for years in Chicago. All of a sudden he sets himself up as a benefactor of the player."

What Is Dr. Lake Afraid Of?
This Article Was Published In The News and Observer On June 10, 1960
Under the Dome
SANFORD—Terry Sanford Friday accused I. Beverly Lake of preaching one gospel in the East and another in the Piedmont in their runoff campaign for Governor.
Charging that Lake is unwilling to open himself to questions from representatives of the various news media in unrestricted news conferences, Sanford asked: "What is he afraid of? Why will he not call a press conference? Has it got anything to do with the fact that he doesn't want to say the same thing in the Piedmont that he says in the East?"
Sanford added, "I think that goes to the heart of his whole campaign."

- Why didn't Dr. Lake give the press both speeches he made in New Bern on June 3?
- Why does Dr. Lake have a different speech for the East than he's afraid to use in the Piedmont?

CATTLE AUCTION

"GOING. .GOING. .GONE! A pen lot of steers is paraded before the buyers as auctioneer Jerry Fales, standing behind counter at left, calls for bids.

Old time cattle men — and some women — dot the arena taking in the sounds they can never quite leave.

"Feeder cattle, boys — have a look at the quality of this offering. .T'll hear $24," says auctioneer Jerry Fales. (Cattle are sold by hundred weight).

Take a few hundred cattle, add some craggy ranchers, an Indian or two, a few old timers, a gang of cattle buyers and a mile-a-minute auctioneer, and you have the cast not only for a cattle sale but also for one of the best Western shows either side of a TV screen.

Thursday is sale day in Toppenish, Washington. Giant livestock trucks from throughout the Yakima Valley start emptying their bawling cargoes of cattle at the Toppenish Sales Yards by dawn. Cattlemen arrive, inspect the pens, visit with each other, talk bids and discuss the latest grain and feed prices.

Auction sales get under way at noon, with single cattle first on the list. By 1:00 p.m. the feeder and rancher buyers have shown up and the auctioneer speeds up the tempo and the big buying starts in. Pen lots of stocker and feeder cattle go under the hammer. Bidding is quick and decisive. Thousands of dollars are spent in seconds. An afternoon's auction fare ranges from stately herd bulls to milked-out dairy cows.

Keen eyes spot the buyers' bids. Visitors are advised not to tug on their caps, scratch their ears or move their heads — or do anything else but sit on their hands, for the slightest move could make them cattlemen.

Twitch of a cigar butt is all the signal auctioneer needs — "Sold!"

These steers are fresh from the sale ring, bound for your dinner table.

A buyer, left, and seller look over and talk over a load of cattle as it arrives at the Toppenish sale.

It Makes You Wonder Why Girls Will Marry

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Why do women want to marry? This is something the philosophic male often ponders. For to his unprejudiced eye, it often seems that most of the woes that befall women can be traced, directly or indirectly, to marriage.

Marriage appears to cause many of them to go to rack and ruin. Or if it doesn't, then what does? What else is there to blame?

A single girl of 22, in many ways, represents femininity at its peak. She is neat, strong, healthy, and attractive. She has a job and is financially independent. She likes sports and is well-informed on world affairs. She reads the latest books. She keeps up with everything.

She doesn't know it, but she is in the prime of life.

What happens? Well, she listens to some wedge-headed youth who tells her, "What's a pretty dame like you doing wasting yourself behind a typewriter? Why don't you let me take you away from all this empty nonsense?"

She does. She marries the goof. And then what happens? Why she goes straight downhill. She falls apart like a wet paper bag in a hurricane. The years peel her like she was an artichoke.

Before marriage she could play 36 holes of golf and then demand, "Anybody for tennis?" After marriage she can't walk half a block without looking around for a taxi. Before marriage she could carry a 25-pound pack on an all-day hike without help. After marriage she can't struggle into a girdle without help.

Before marriage she liked nothing better than inviting a boy friend to her apartment and dishing him up a nice meal. After marriage she suddenly can't stand her own cooking anymore. She wants to eat out at least three nights a week.

Before marriage a nice cloth coat suited her fine. After marriage something happens to her metabolism. "I just can't take these cold winters the way I used to," she says. "I have to have a fur coat or I'll freeze to death."

Before marriage she could talk on any subject. After marriage the only topic she is really interested in is, "Why don't you either ask your boss for more money, or look for a better job?"

Before marriage she loved acting as a baby sitter. After marriage she spends most of her time trying to find a baby sitter.

Before marriage half a dozen guys stood in line to help her paint her apartment. After marriage she wails, "If this house is ever going to get any new wallpaper, I guess I'll have to put it up myself."

Before marriage she didn't have a gray hair in her head, and she had a shape like a willow tree. After marriage—?

But why go on with it? What matrimony does to the average woman is obvious to everyone—even herself.

The puzzle remains: Why do women eagerly seek marriage, when they know its terrible price?

Bow Bells are the bells of St. Mary-le-Bow in Cheapside, London. One born within their sound is a Cockney.

NEA Says Many Elementary School Children In Crowded Classrooms

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly one-third of a million pupils in public elementary schools were on half-day sessions during the 1959-60 school year, the National Education Assn. reported today.

More than two million others were victims of overcrowding in classrooms of more than 35 pupils each, the NEA said. There were 290 classrooms with 56 or more pupils.

In a survey of urban school districts with a population of 2,500 or more, the NEA found the average classroom size was 29½ pupils. The larger the school district, the more likely there is to be overcrowding and half-day sessions.

Educators have long urged a maximum of 25 pupils per classroom in the elementary grades, to provide the children with more individual attention. This, however, is an ideal figure not often reached in city schools, and a more practical goal is 30 pupils to a class.

The NEA survey showed more than 13 million children in urban elementary schools. Of these, almost 11 million are in classes of more than 25, about 6½ million in classes of more than 30, more than 2 million in classes of more than 35, about 380,000 in classes of more than 40, and more than 71,000 in classes of more than 45.

"Many elementary school children are being denied a fair educational opportunity by the excessive overcrowding of classes," the NEA report said. "And the corollary is equally clear: many competent teachers are being denied the opportunity to give effective service to small children by the administrative necessity of assigning too many pupils to a class."

If all the children in classes of more than 25 could be regrouped into classes of 25, the NEA said, it would require 92,024 additional classrooms and the same number of additional teachers. If those in classes of more than 30 could be regrouped into classes of 30, it would require 28,290 additional classrooms and teachers.

These are tricky figures, however, and do not tell the full story. The NEA report noted that the children are not in one big group, but in many different buildings within 3,361 local school districts. Thus, to regroup all the children in the over-25 or over-30 pupil classrooms would require many more new rooms and teachers than estimated above.

On the other hand, many of the districts may have only a few children over the 25 or 30-pupil standard. Although these few cannot be practical to build a special classroom or hire a new teacher to contribute to the grand total, it would just for them.

The survey showed that the largest classes are to be found in the Southern states. Other reports have shown that the Negro schools in the south are the most overcrowded, but the new survey made no distinction between white and Negro schools.

Among the most populous school districts, those in the Midwest had the greatest crowding, NEA said. In Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio and Wisconsin, 95 per cent of the big-city classes exceeded 25 pupils, and 79 per cent exceeded 30 pupils.

Cuba Turning Away From Its Old Allies

By RICHARD VALERIANI
HAVANA (AP) — Ernesto Guevara, president of the National Bank of Cuba, sat down to discuss a trade treaty with a Czechoslovakian mission. The minister of armed forces, Raul Castro, entertained a party of Bulgarians. A team of Soviet geologists completed a mining survey.

That night, Prime Minister Fidel Castro and Guevara headed the list of government officials who attended a performance by an opera company from Communist China.

The influx of commercial and cultural visitors from the Soviet bloc underscored the preoccupation among Western diplomats here about Cuba's gravitation toward the Soviet orbit.

"It appears that only the United States is not yet convinced where this thing is going," one European diplomat said privately.

Cuba, proclaiming the exercise of its sovereignty, has turned commercial and diplomatic eyes toward the East—away from traditional friends and markets in the west.

Trade pacts with the Soviet Union and Communist Poland and an imminent treaty with Czechoslovakia make clear Communist merchants have more than a foot in the Cuban door.

This island only 90 miles from the United States has become a favorite stomping ground for anti-Western political leaders. The well-traveled premier of the Soviet Union, Nikita Khrushchev, has accepted a government invitation to visit here. Friendship with Communist China is blooming under the cultivation of a Chinese-Cuban Friendship Committee.

The Castro regime has sent a steady flow of government and labor leaders behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains on various missions of trade and good will.

Anti-Americanism falls short of being official government policy. Vitriolic attacks on the United States are accompanied by words of praise and friendship for things Soviet and Socialist.

Guevara is on record as saying the Soviet Union is Cuba's best friend, Maj. Faure Chaumon, who will be Castro's first ambassador to Moscow, has urged close ties between Cuba and the Soviet bloc.

Cuban newspaper readers, with only one neutral independent daily to read, are subtly fed the Soviet point of view in their daily news through Tass and a host of other Communist news agencies whose stories are distributed in Spanish in the name of a Cuban news service.

Miss Hong Kong Has New Father, Obstacles Fade

HONG KONG (AP)—Miss Hong Kong turned up with a new father today and apparently removed any obstacle to her getting a U.S. visa for the Miss Universe contest at Miami Beach, Fla., next month.

Vivien Cheung, 20, a secretarial student crowned Miss Hong Kong last Saturday, appeared at the U. S. consulate with an identity card listing her father as Wu Pak-chuen, a Formosa businessman.

Movie fans here had believed she was the daughter of Cheung Ying, star actor and executive of Hong Kong's Cheung Lien Motion Picture Corp., which is blacklisted by the United States as "substantially controlled by Chinese Communist interests."

Consular authorities had said Sunday Cheung Ying's connection with the Communists might bar Miss Cheung from entering the United States.

Consulate sources said Miss Cheung's credentials appeared in order and that a U. S. entry permit probably would be granted within a week.

Precision Flying Team Pilot Dies

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — The Navy's Blue Angel precision flying team has lost another pilot—Lt. Anton M. Campanella, 29, of Millburn, N.J.

He died Tuesday when his F11 Tigerjet crashed and exploded in Mobile Bay.

The Naval Air Station here said Campanella was flying alone on a test flight when his plane went into a steep dive and crashed.

Campanella was the fourth Blue Angel team member thus far to die since December.

WATER-COOLED
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—When a motorist drove along Wallace Horn Jr. and told him his car engine, located in the rear, was on fire. Horn did the best thing he could think of under the circumstances. He backed his car down an embankment into a stream of water.

The word "mausoleum" meaning a stately tomb, comes from the Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, an ancient Greek city in Asia minor. It is one of the Seven Wonders of the World.

Ayden Board Revises Its Truck-Parking Policies

AYDEN—The Ayden Board of Town Commissioners Monday repealed a month-old ordinance regulating truck parking and passed a more specific proviso allowing limited parking of trucks within the town's limits.

The new version of the parking ordinance, to become effective July 15, provides that "no trucks exceeding one ton in capacity shall park longer than four hours at a time on any heavy duty street within the corporate limits of Ayden."

The five "heavy duty" streets are described in the ordinance. Third St. from the eastern to the western corporate limits; Second St. from Fenner College St. to Snow Hill St.; Snow Hill St. from Second St. to Sixth St.; East Ave. from First St. to Third St.; and West Ave. from First St. to Sixth St.

Section II of the regulation provides that "no trucks exceeding three-fourths of a ton in capacity

Exhibition Of Award Winners Opens Friday

An exhibition of Award Winners of annual scholarships awarded by the N.C. Federation of Women's Clubs will open Friday at the Greenville Art Center.

The exhibition includes works by nine artists, many of whom are now well known as artists and faculty members in various art departments of schools and colleges.

The exhibition is a tribute to the membership of the N.C. Federation of Women's Clubs, who each year since 1951, have offered a scholarship prize to be awarded to an art student of outstanding promise.

Over the years, as the competition has become better known, the quality of the entries has grown. For many of the winners, the award has been the first recognition their work has received.

Reviewing what has happened to the nine recipients of the award, more than half have gone on to take advanced degrees and all have continued to work in the arts. Six are now teaching at the university level, one of whom is the chairman of a department of art. Two are still in school working toward degrees, and one is an architect. All are practicing artists as well.

The exhibition will continue from Friday, June 17, until July 8, with weekday hours from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. On the opening day of the exhibition, the Greenville Woman's Club will act as hostesses at the art center.

The artists include David Huntley, chairman of the Dept. of Art, Alabama College. He is a native of Lenoir, and received his B.A. M.A. degrees from the University of North Carolina. His work has been shown in at least 35 exhibitions throughout the country over the past five years.

George Bireline, assistant professor of design at the School of Design, N.C. State College, received the B.F.A. degree from Bradley University. He did graduate work at U.N.C. Among his awards are: First Prize Oil, Michiana Regional; Purchase Prize 1956, N.C. Artists' Competition.

Maud Gatewood, a native of Yanceyville, has studied at Worthan's College, University of North Carolina and at Ohio State University, where she received her M.A. degree.

She also has exhibited widely, including the First Columbia Biennial in 1957.

Don Mahy, whose wife is also a painter, is at present completing studies for the M.F.A. degree from Columbia University. His family moved to China when he was there, and after the war, the family came to North Carolina, living in Asheville.

An extended trip through Southeast Asia, Egypt and Europe prior to college introduced him to many of the world's major art museums.

Peter Jacobsen, born in Bridgeport, Conn., later settled with his family in Charlotte. He graduated from the School of Design at N.C. State College with the Bachelor of Architecture degree. He is presently employed with an architectural firm in Columbus, Ga.

Robert Burns, born in Roxboro, N.C., has been awarded the Paris

Prize in architecture, a coveted fellowship which enabled him to travel for 18 months throughout Europe, Mexico and the United States. His paintings have been exhibited in the 1956 Annual N.C. Artists' Competition and in the exhibition "Thirty North Carolina Artists" in New York in 1957.

James Bumgardner, now a member of the faculty at Richmond Professional Institute, was born in Winston-Salem. He has studied under the painter Hans Hofmann.

He has received, among his honors, the Virginia Museum Certificate of Distinction. His painting, "Owling Table," has been purchased for the permanent collection of contemporary art in the N.C. Museum of Art.

Anne Mercer Kesler, whose works have been exhibited here previously in a one-man show this year, will again have part in an exhibition at the local art center.

She has exhibited widely both in and out of North Carolina, and her work appears regularly in Winston-Salem at the Winston-Salem Gallery of Fine Arts. She, too, has received several awards for her work.

Bailey Dwiggins was encouraged to paint by a perceptive teacher while he was in elementary school. Since winning the Scholarship Award in 1959, with the painting "Blue Table," he has participated several times in collective exhibitions at R.P.I. and also in Winston-Salem. He is presently preparing to exhibit in a group show at the Valentine Museum in Richmond.

gathered at the Elks Lodge for the services. "It was born in struggle and we are going to have to continue to struggle to keep it flying."

The nation has defended the flag nine times since America was founded, he continued.

"If we do have a tenth time it will not be on the battlefields. The casualties will not be soldiers and marines and sailors. It will be in our backyard and the casualties will be our children and our wives and our mothers."

He pointed to the world struggle for the minds of men. Since 45 percent of the world's population can't read this struggle takes place by radio, Dr. Jenkins told his audience. Development of the transistor radio has opened this means to people who had little world contact before.

He said Moscow radio is first in broadcasting to the peoples of the world; Peking radio is second; British Broadcasting Co. and United Arab Republic are tied for third and the Voice of America is a poor fifth.

As the result of Voice of America transmitters being constructed here the battle to keep the American flag waving might be fought in Pitt County, he continued.

It is a matter of "truth versus poison."

"The VOA and the BBC tried to continually tell the truth even if the truth hurts. We know that
