Early Harvest Is 'Curing Out Good'

PUTTING IN TOBACCO . . . for the second day in Pitt are workers for Acy and Herbert Branch on their farm East of Greenville on N. C. 43. Last Thursday the Branches put in about 475 sticks of tobacco. Today they plan to harvest 700 sticks of the money crop. The tobacco being harvested today was transplanted April 8 and April 12. According to the Branches, the crop harvested Thursday is "curing good."

South Korea Pledges 'No Waste' Of U.S. Aid; Ike Flies To Hawaii

By JOHN SCALI
SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—President Eisenhower left South Korea for Honolulu tonight, completing a Far Eastern tour on which he was cheered by millions of Asians but forced to bypass Japan because of left-wing rioting there.
Eisenhower left with a pledge from South Korea's reform government to guard against wasting the hundreds of millions of dollars in aid the United States pours in each year.
"I pledge that we will do everything possible to insure that American aid funds are wisely, efficiently and honestly used for the benefit of all the Korean people," Prime Minister Hch Chung declared in his parting words to Eisenhower at Seoul International Airport.
Wildly cheered by one million Koreans who blocked his motorcade Sunday and by hundreds of thousands more on Monday, Eisenhower on departure said it was a "memorable experience" to see "so many Korean people along the routes of travel I have followed."
In all, nearly three million Filipinos, Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, Okinawans and Koreans welcomed the first American president to tour the Orient while in office. A three-day visit to Japan was called off when the Japanese government said it could not fully guarantee Eisenhower's safety because of violent left-wing rioting in Tokyo.
The only anti-American demonstration Eisenhower actually saw was on Okinawa, where 1,500 pro-Japanese chanted "go home" and snake-danced.
Eisenhower urged leaders of the new South Korean government to make the most of their opportunity to give the Communist-threatened land true democracy. Referring to the revolt against Syngman Rhee and his strongman rule, he said "prompt and judicious fulfillment of the recently expressed wishes of the Korean people is a momentous challenge."
In his final speeches, Eisenhower plugged hard at what he called the imperative need of more freedom and opportunity for Koreans who two months ago overthrew Syngman Rhee's strongman regime.
"The prompt and judicious fulfillment of the recently expressed wishes of the Korean people is a momentous challenge," he said in an address before a packed session of the Korean National Assembly. Eisenhower received a thunderous two-minute ovation when he entered the assembly hall.
Korans of every rank roared their approval of Eisenhower at every turn again today.
A million friendly Koreans turned out Sunday to give the President a welcome so frenzied that a fender of his bubble-top limousine was dented. Security agents ordered a detour to prevent Eisenhower from being mobbed by admirers.
It was a sharp contrast to the heckling from 1,500 screaming, snake-dancing, pro-Japanese demonstrators who competed with otherwise friendly throng of 150,000 Okinawans during the President's brief stopover on the U.S. base island earlier Sunday.
The Korean crowds today again came perilously close to bursting through lines of police and soldiers standing several deep at the curbs along the President's route. Police used rifle-butts to control the pushing, shoving crowd.
When Eisenhower passed, shrill cheers erupted and the spectators rose to their feet and threatened again to break through.
Eisenhower, in what amounted to a lecture, told South Korea's lame-duck legislators they must not only talk democracy but must back it with a free press, public education and a fairly elected National Assembly.
The 233-man chamber has agreed to dissolve itself next month just before new nationwide elections naming a new slate of legislators.
"Yours is a great trust," Eisenhower said. "You and those new members who will soon be gathering here in the next Assembly have the opportunity and heavy responsibility to show that human freedom and advancement of the people's welfare thrive even in the shadow of communist aggression."
Earlier, Eisenhower urged restless Korean students, who sparked the April revolt, to keep faith with democracy. He asked one of the student leaders, Lee Tae-Sup, 21, to breakfast with him and seven other Korean leaders.
Eisenhower chatted extensively with Lee about the students' dedication to democracy. He also talked at length with one of Rhee's longtime foes, former Vice President John M. Chang.
Chang, a leading prospect for the prime minister's job after the election, handed Eisenhower a sealed envelope giving his views on how to move South Korea toward real democracy.
Eisenhower promised the legislators the United States would stand squarely beside South Korea against any new Red aggression and would continue to aid in economic development.
His words, on the eve of the 10th anniversary of the start of the Korean war, roused a mighty roar of cheers from the lawmakers.
"You have reason today to be confident that your military forces, together with those of your friends and allies, will permit no intrusion across the borders of free Korea," the President said.

Non-Farm Jobs In N.C. Continue To Top June Of 1959
RALEIGH (AP) — Jobs off the farm in North Carolina followed a seasonal trend downward during May, but remained 31,300 above the level of the same month last year.
The report of the State Labor Department today showed 1,151,800 Tar Heels in nonagricultural employment last month. It was a drop of 1,500 from April.
Labor Commissioner Frank Crane said the loss resulted from seasonal declines in trade, government, tobacco and fertilizer manufacturing.
He pointed out that both manufacturing and non-manufacturing employment was well above the levels of May, 1959. Factory employment of 490,500 was 3,000 less than in April, but 8,100 more than May, 1959. Nonmanufacturing employment of 661,300 was up 1,500 from April, and 23,200 ahead of May last year.
A fractional rise in the average workweek advanced hourly earnings of factory workers one penny to $1.55. It also brought average weekly earnings up $1.33 to $82.47.
Government jobs dropped 900 in May, following the U.S. census seasonal job increase in April. While federal government had 1,500 fewer workers an increase of 600 in the state and local government category cut the overall decline.
Employment in trade went down 1,200 following the April merchandizing connected with the Easter season.
The tobacco industry let off some 800 workers in stemmeries and redrying plants, and there was a decrease of 200 in cigarette factories.
There were some seasonal gains. Construction advanced 2,400. Service industries took on 900 additional workers. Hotels and motels were up 200, laundries and dry cleaning plants 100, and food products manufacturing 300.

Bloodmobile To Begin Two-Day Visit On Tuesday
The bloodmobile will begin a two-day visit to Greenville Tuesday at 12 noon, with the quota for each day set at 120 pints. Dr. Howard H. Gradis, blood program chairman, said.

Series Of Revenue-Raising Tax Changes Await Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A series of revenue-raising tax changes awaited Senate action today.
Their Democratic sponsors said they are needed to help pay for increased spending already voted by the Senate, and to offset Republican charges of fiscal irresponsibility.
The proposed changes were offered as amendments to a bill to continue present wartime rates on corporation income and excise taxes and to authorize a $93-billion-dollar national debt ceiling until July 1, 1961. Normally tax changes must originate in the House.
Sponsors said the changes they propose would raise about two billion dollars of additional revenue by plugging what they call loopholes in present tax law.
Among their proposals are amendments to repeal the 4 percent tax credit on dividend income, to provide for income tax withholding on dividend income, to cut the oil and gas depletion allowance, and to limit the entertainment items which taxpayers now can deduct as business expenses.
The Senate wrangled about the tax measure through a 10-hour session Saturday but succeeded in reaching only one vote. In two 14-hour marathons Thursday and Friday it had disposed of six major pieces of legislation.
Several Democrats had urged Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) not to bring the bill up Saturday. They asked that a party conference be held first to try to develop a policy to counter Republican charges of fiscal irresponsibility.
These charges, they said, would be hard to answer unless some revenue-raising measures were advanced in view of higher spending figures voted by the Senate last week.
These included a one-billion-dollar increase over President Eisenhower's budget for military spending, a similar $65-million-dollar increase in health funds appropriations bill, and a 750-million-dollar federal pay raise not included in Eisenhower's budget.
In addition, the Senate Finance Committee recommended 750 million dollars of tax cuts in the pending tax extension-debt ceiling measure. These would repeal ex-

More Obstacles For Kishi's Path

TOKYO (AP)—Some leaders of Premier Nobusuke Kishi's conservative party today joined the leftists in a new, last-ditch fight to postpone the exchange of documents sealing Japan's new security pact with the United States.
The move put new pressures on the 64-year-old Premier who has been battling for weeks to maintain Japan's military links with America.
Kishi's ruling Liberal Democrats struck back early today with quick approval in Parliament's upper house to adjust present Japanese laws to conform with provisions in the new treaty.
The legislation caught the Socialist opposition by surprise. None was present when the voting took place. The Socialists and other opposition groups have been boycotting Parliament, but the socialists had promised to wage a new fight against the legislation.
It appeared the action would spur the opposition to put new obstacles in Kishi's path.
Already confronting Kishi are a nationwide strike on Wednesday called by the Communist-influ-

Temperatures will average near normal through June 25. No important day to day changes. Scattered showers and thunderstorms Tuesday through Thursday will average up to three-quarters of an inch.

Television Honors Its Best In Show Tonight

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A streamlined presentation of Emmy awards for the year's best achievements in television takes to the air tonight at 10 o'clock, Eastern Daylight Time, on NBC-TV.
The Academy of Television Arts and Sciences has aimed its 12th annual presentations strictly at home viewers. For the first time there will be no studio audience.
The number of awards has been reduced from last year's 42 to 22. Some minor ones will be merely announced rather than presented.
Fred Astaire and Arthur Godfrey will be hosts on the program. The dancer, whose TV debut collected nine emmies last year, has been nominated again for "Another Evening with Fred Astaire."
Actors nominated for best single performance awards are Alec Guinness, "The Wicked Scheme of Jebal Deeks"; Laurence Olivier, "The Moon and Sixpence"; and Lee J. Cobb, "Project Immortality."
Actress competing in this category are Ingrid Bergman, "The Turn of the Screw"; Julie Harris, "Ethan Frome"; and Teresa Wright, "The Margaret Bourke-White Story."
Jane Wyatt of "Father Knows Best" opposes Loretta Young and Donna Reed in the best series actress contest. Nominees for best series actor are Richard Boone, "Have Gun, Will Travel"; Raymond Burr, "Perry Mason"; and Robert Stack, "The Untouchables."

Arrest Man On Forgery Counts

Harold Williamson, 25, a Creative Homes employee, has been arrested by the Sheriff's Department on two charges of forgery.
Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said Williamson has been released under $1,000 bond. Williamson waived preliminary hearing on the charges and he is expected to be tried at the June 27 term of Superior Court.
Sheriff Tyson said Williamson is accused of forging checks for $60 and $80 on Creative Homes during the month of June.
Williamson is a native of Selma but has been living in Greenville recently. He was arrested by Johnson County authorities during the weekend and returned to Pitt.
Williamson was indicted by the Sheriff's Department. The case was investigated by Deputies Ralph Tyson and Loyd Manning.

Beverly Lake At ECC Wednesday

Gubernatorial candidate Dr. I. Beverly Lake is scheduled to address supporters from 25 Eastern North Carolina counties at Wright Auditorium on the East Carolina College campus here Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.
Billed as the last Eastern N.C. appearance for the gubernatorial hopeful before Saturday's second primary, Wednesday's address will be televised from the auditorium, according to Lake campaign spokesmen.
Dr. K.B. Pace, chairman of the Pitt County Lake for Governor Committee and director of Wednesday's rally, said today entertainment is scheduled prior to Lake's address. The local physician said, "There will be full opportunity for everyone to meet Beverly Lake personally."
Before arriving here Wednesday, Lake is scheduled to tour Beaufort, Hyde, Tyrrell, and Martin Counties. The Eastern swing of Lake's campaign that has covered the entire state will include a radio speech broadcast from the Martin County Courthouse in Williamson and a luncheon address in Washington.
Dr. Pace said this morning he is "hopeful that the schedule will permit arrangement of a visit by Mr. Lake around the city prior to the rally."

Last Big Week For Political Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gubernatorial candidates Terry Sanford and I. Beverly Lake were at opposite ends of the state today as they began their final drive for support in Saturday's runoff primary.
Lake was in the west, an area which went strongly for Sanford in the first primary May 28. He was scheduled for appearances at Bryson City, Andrews, Murphy and Franklin and was to speak at a rally tonight in Asheville.
Sanford held his Monday morning news conference at Raleigh and was to tour Onslow and Jones counties before speaking at a regional rally tonight at Kinston. Onslow, Jones and Lenoir went for John D. Larkins in the first primary.
During the weekend, Lake's headquarters issued a statement which said AFL-CIO labor leaders have funneled $9,000 into the North Carolina primaries.
Lake's campaign manager, Robert Morgan, said Lake received none of this money.
State AFL-CIO President Millard Barbee said Sanford "received not one cent."
Morgan said, "The state president of the AFL-CIO has aimed his big guns at Dr. Lake and large sums of money are being poured into the state."
On the Sanford side, Thomas J. Pearshall repeated his contention that Lake did not write the state's pupil assignment law.
Pearshall said W. W. Taylor Jr., Warrenton lawyer who backed Lake's authorship claim, was not even on the scene at the time and had no way of knowing the background around the development of the law.
In a prepared statement, Pearshall said, "I repeat that he (Lake) did not draw the bill as instructed and that it had to be redrafted before it was introduced in the 1955 session of the General Assembly."

Reflector Plans Tabulate Vote

The Daily Reflector will tabulate returns from the second primary Saturday night.
The county-wide precinct-by-precinct votes will be posted on the big scoreboard in front of the newspaper office on Cottage St.
Poll holders are asked to phone PL 2-6166 collect as soon as the precinct results are known.
Interest in the second primary will be centered on the gubernatorial run-off between Dr. I. Beverly Lake and Terry Sanford.
In Pitt County there is a runoff for constable of Grimesland Township between Levi Wilson and S. Eljah Heath.
It is expected that returns will begin coming in to the Reflector office shortly after the polls close at 6:30.

Hog Cholera In Beaufort County

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Hog cholera has been reported in many parts of Beaufort County. Agricultural Agent Max Chesnut says the outbreak has not reached epidemic proportions. Chesnut said the disease could increase rapidly unless farmers have their animals vaccinated. Vaccination, he emphasized, is only a protection and not a cure.

Double Ceremony Unites Parker - Jenkins, Bullock - Parker

BELVOIR—In a double wedding ceremony of unique beauty, Miss Barbara Lela Jenkins became the bride of Julius Douglas Parker and Miss Joan Marie Parker became the bride of Robert Franklin Bullock on Sunday afternoon, June 19, at four o'clock in the Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist Church, Belvoir. The Rev. Homer Stoyens officiated at the double ring ceremonies.

Prior to the four o'clock hour a program of piano selections was rendered by Mrs. Randolph Fleming of Greenville, aunt of Miss Jenkins. Included in the nuptial music were "Flower Song" by Gustave Lance; "Valse Bleue" by Alfred Margis; "Romance" by A. Rubinstein, and during the ceremony "Traumerel-Romance" by Robert Schumann. The traditional wedding procession and recessional were used.

Mrs. William C. Nelson, vocalist, sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap as the benediction.

The vows were exchanged before an altar flanked with tall baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums, and baby's breath. Behind these stood six seven branched candelabra holding cathedral candles. Plumosa and emerald green were used in the background. Tall single papers burned on either side of the two prieu dieux. Pews were marked with white nylon bows centered with small pom poms.

Miss Jenkins was escorted and given in marriage by her father, Joseph Jonathan Jenkins Jr. She wore a formal portrait bridal gown of Chantilly lace and tulle, featuring a bouffant skirt of scalloped and embroidered tiers and chapel train. A peplum extended from the pointed waist and ended in a row of tiny pearls and sequins above the scalloped edge.

The neckline was also scalloped and outlined with pearls and sequins like those on the skirt. The fitted bodice was designed with tiny clusters of pearls and sequins extending down the front to the waist. The long lace sleeves ended in graceful points over the hands. Her three-tiered veil of French illusion fell to a brush length from a fitted hat of lace embroidered with pearls and sequins. She carried a white satin covered prayer book showered with carnations and centered with a white orchid. White streamers interspersed with lace fern fell from the center.

Miss Parker entered the church on the arm of her father, Julius Clinton Parker, by whom she was given in marriage. Her full-length gown was an Alfred Angelo original of white Chantilly lace and tulle. The full skirt was tiered with crystal pleated tulle ruffles and topped with an all around lace peplum edged with imported trisee and pearls, which were also used to accent the scalloped Sabrina neckline. The fitted full-length sleeves buttoned at the wrists and ended in points.

Her tiny lace bridal hat featured a pleated insert of tulle across the top, enhanced with sequins and pearls. A tiered veil of illusion was attached at the crown and fell to a brush length. She carried a prayer book covered in satin and carnations and centered with an orchid. White streamers extended from its center.

Miss Jenkins was attended by Miss Wilma Gray Hall of Roseboro as her maid-of-honor. She was attired in a Nile green gown of embroidered peau de crystal with full skirt, embroidered and scalloped at the hemline.

Her short, full veil featured a scalloped edge and was attached to a headband of peau de crystal, like that of her gown. She carried an arm bouquet of pink and Better Times Carnations tied with matching satin ribbon and interspersed with Baker fern. Her complementing mitts were of green net.

Bridesmaids who attended Miss Jenkins were Miss Patsy Jo Teel, cousin of the bride, Miss Jo Ann Harrington, and Miss Vera Cannon. Their dresses and headbands were of soft pink and fashioned like the honor attendant's; and their arm bouquets were also of carnations.

Little Miss Pamela Jenkins, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a short bouffant dress of green made like those of the other attendants. She carried a pink tulle covered basket arranged with carnations and filled with rose petals. She wore a matching headband and green mitts.

Master Edward Holland Jr., cousin of the groom, was ringbearer. He wore a white coat and dark trousers and carried a white satin and lace-trimmed pillow on which rested the ring.

Honorary bridesmaids attending Miss Jenkins were Miss Anne Harris, Mrs. Jack Garcia and Mrs. Dennis Bullock. Their sheath dresses were of Bridal rose peau de crystal, featuring a silk-organza half over-skirt, caught at the sides and extending into a bouffant skirt in the back. Their headbands were of peau de crystal and fashioned like those of other attendants. They wore wristlet corsages of pink and Better Times carnations.

E. T. Allen attended his cousin as best man. Ushers were Sammy Pollard, cousin of the bride, Durwood Tyson, and Charles Newsome.

Miss Parker was attended by her aunt, Mrs. Billy Nobles, of Norfolk, as matron-of-honor. Mrs. Nobles was gowned in a Nile green dress of street length, made of peau de crystal and styled with a gently rounded neckline and full skirt, embroidered and scalloped at the hemline.

Her headband, also of peau de crystal, was caught with a short scalloped veil. Her arm bouquet was of pink and Better Times carnations tied with pink satin ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Allen, cousin of the bride, Miss Joyce Jenkins, and Mrs. Howard Bullock. Their dresses and headbands, styled like the honor attendant's, were of soft pink peau de crystal and they carried arm bouquets of pink carnations.

Little Miss Sandra Bullock, niece of the groom, was flower girl. Wearing a short, full-skirted dress of Nile green, she carried a miniature basket of pink tulle containing carnations and rose petals. Her headband and mitts were of matching shades of green.

Master David Bullock, cousin of the groom, was ringbearer. Dressed in white coat and dark trousers, he carried the ring on a white, satin and lace covered pillow.

Honorary bridesmaids attending Miss Parker were Mrs. Jesse J. Harris, Miss Sadie Ray Brady, and Miss Betty Lou Parker, cousin of the bride. They were gowned in street-length sheath dresses of Bridal rose peau de crystal, designed with a half-overskirt of silk organza, caught at the sides, and extending into a bouffant skirt in the back. They wore headbands featuring a scalloped veil and wristlet corsages of carnations.

Clifton Bullock served as best man for his son and ushers were Robert Forrest, Roger Bullock and Howard Bullock, brothers of the groom.

For her step-daughter's wedding Mrs. Jenkins was attired in a beige sheath lined dress with inserts of lace at the hemline and neckline. To complement her dress she chose beige accessories and wore a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. J. O. Teel, aunt of the new Mrs. Parker, and with whom the bride has made her home for the past several years, selected for her niece's wedding a white lace sheath over blue taffeta. With those she wore blue and white accessories and a corsage of white cymbidiums.

Mrs. Bullock wore an embroidered cotton sheath of light blue. With this she chose bone accessories and a corsage of white cymbidiums.

Following the ceremonies, both couples received in the church vestibule.

Before leaving on a wedding trip changed into a blue lined sheath with alternating rows of tucks and to unannounced points Mrs. Parker white embroidery woven into the fabric. With this she chose all white accessories and the orchid their return the couple will be at home at 706 E. Second St., Greenville.

For a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina, Mrs. Bullock wore a cocoa brown bouffant tissue cotton with a full length panel of white embroidered design extending down the front. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of white orchids.

Mr. Parker is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Clinton Parker of Greenville. He is a graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School and attended Campbell College and North Carolina State College. He was in the U. S. Army and is now employed by Imperial Tobacco Company.

Mrs. Parker is the daughter of J. J. Jenkins Jr. and the late Gladys Johnson Jenkins of Raleigh. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jenkins of Greenville. Mrs. Parker attended Raleigh city schools and was graduated from Belvoir-Falkland High School and East Carolina College. For the past year she was employed by the Tarboro City School system.

Mr. Bullock is a graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School and served with the U. S. Navy. He is presently employed with the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

Mrs. Bullock, also a graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School, attended East Carolina College and has been employed with the Soil Conservation Service for the past year.

Cake-Cutting
Honoring the bridal parties and out-of-town guests at the Parker-Jenkins and Bullock-Parker weddings, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jenkins Jr. of Raleigh and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Parker of Greenville entertained at a cake-cutting at the Parker residence on Moyewood Drive in Greenville on Saturday evening, following the wedding rehearsal.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe O. Teel greeted guests and invited them into the living room which was artistically decorated with summer flowers in varying pastel shades.

Of focal interest was a pink and white arrangement of snapdragons in a large silver urn. Two small arrangements of tiny bridal roses were on the cocktail table before the mantel.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pollard invited guests to the bride's table which was covered with white organza over pink taffeta and edged with a deep ruffle. An arrangement of pink and white carnations set in a low vase and interspersed with tiny fern centered the table and on either side of this stood silver candelabra bearing slender pink tapers tied with tiny ribbons and fern.

Two three-tiered wedding cakes topped with miniature brides and grooms stood on the ends of the table. After the bridal couples had cut the first slices, guests were served by Mrs. J. J. Jenkins Jr. and Mrs. J. C. Parker. Mrs. Clifton Bullock poured punch and assisting in the serving of minis, nuts, and cheese spraws were Mrs. Sallie Holland, Mrs. Dempsey Holland, Mrs. Marvin Jarman and La;

Mrs. James Dupree.

At the conclusion of the evening the bridal couples presented their attendants gifts of remembrance.

Owens-Dilda Exchange Wedding Vows

FOUNTAIN — Miss Barbara Jeanette Dilda and Mark West Owens Jr. were united in holy matrimony at the Fountain Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

The Rev. H. R. Thompson officiated during the exchanging of vows. They were spoken in a setting of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and carnations which were placed on either side of the altar flanked by six seven-branched candelabra covered in white satin entwined with greenery.

Miss Dilda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Sigbee Dilda and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Owens Sr.

Nuptial music rendered included "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," by Victor Herbert; "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," by Steelt; "Evening Star," by Wagner; "I Love You Truly," by Bond; "At Dawning," by Cadmen; "I Love Thee," by Grieg, and "Whither Thou Goest," by Singer.

Mrs. George Jones, vocalist, sang

"O Perfect Love," "Through The Years," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The organist, Miss Sue Dilda, also played "Aida" as the bridesmaids entered the church, the Bridal Chorus (Lohengrin), Wagner; the Wedding March, Mendelssohn; and "Ave Maria" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a white silk organza gown with appliques of embossed flowers encircling the bodice, skirt and modified train.

The gown featured a Sabrina neckline of embossed flowers and seed pearls and full skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of bride's roses, stephanotis, and centered with a white orchid. Her double tulle of seed pearls was attached to a fingertip-hand rolled French illusion veil.

Mrs. Sigbee Dilda was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Steve Anderson of Washington, D. C. and Mrs. Phil Witherington of Charlotte. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Goff of Fountain, Miss Anne Bryant of Kingston and Miss Carol Dilda of Raleigh was flower girl.

All the attendants wore white dresses of embroidered silk organza featuring a scooped neckline. Their picture hats were of white horsehair braid. They carried crescent-shaped bouquets of Better Times red roses. The flower girl carried a basket of red-pink rose petals.

Father of the groom acted as best man. Ushers included Sigbee Dilda of Greenville, Bruce Miller of Virginia Beach, Va., Carl Blackwood of Farmville, and Cliff Simpson, also of Farmville.

The bride's mother chose a dress of mauve imported silk with appliques of embroidered flowers, matching accessories and a hat of mauve seed pearls.

Mrs. Owens Sr. wore a dove dress of pure silk shantung with organza champagne schiffli embroidery. Her hat was made of orchid flower petals. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchids.

After the wedding, the couple left for a trip to the mountains of western North Carolina. The new Mrs. Owens wore a sheath of embossed willow green linen and bone accessories. She also wore the orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Fountain until September 1 after which they will make their home in Winston-Salem where she will teach and he will begin his first year as a law student at Wake Forest College.

Mrs. Owens Jr. attended East Carolina College and taught in Sanford. Mr. Owens has attended the University of North Carolina.

of the bridal party were present. The bride and the bridegroom remembered the attendants with gifts.

Cake Cutting
At the Fountain Community Building the couple and their wedding attendants were honored at a cake cutting by the bride's aunts following the wedding rehearsal Saturday.

The bride-elect's mother served the cake after the couple cut the first traditional slice. Punch was served by the bridegroom-elect's mother.

A color scheme of green and pink with flowers of gladioli and chrysanthemums were used approximately 70 guests called.

Mrs. Mark West Owens, Jr.

A Formula To Help The Planning

A perpetual formula to be used in determining the amount of money put into Greenville's general fund each year by the local Utilities Commission can be a distinct asset to long-range local municipal financial planning, provided the formula includes factors to meet city needs as well as utility needs.

Adoption of such a formula would not alter the fact that all utilities profits are plowed back into improved facilities and services of one kind or another for the people of Greenville. It would merely be an instrument that could make better financial planning to meet the overall needs of Greenville.

In the past it has been the practice of the Utilities Commission to turn over from its profit each year money to be used in the city's general fund. Generally the figure is arrived at by mutual agreement between the Utilities Commission and the City Council. Although the amount of this turn-over has increased from some $80,000 several years ago to $150,000 now, there has been no fixed formula for determining the amount.

Usually an amount set for one year is continued for the next several years until it is increased as a result of conferences between the two groups.

By establishing a set formula for the division of utilities profits between the city's general fund and a fund for utility expansion, both the City Council and the Utilities Commission should find their financial planning problems made considerably easier. Many factors, of course will have to go into any such formula if it is to meet the needs of Greenville.

In order to meet the electric, water and sewer needs of the city, the local Utilities Commission must make a considerable investment each year in replacing old facilities and in extending new facilities to serve new areas. These funds must come either from profits or from special bond issues. To severely curtail the proportion of utility profits to be used for this purpose would necessitate an increase in long-term bond financing or a curtailment of expansion and replacement projects to meet the needs of the city.

From the standpoint of the city government's general fund, each dollar that comes from the division of utilities profits means one dollar less which must be raised through tax levies in order to provide the required city services. Thus the city's ad valorem tax rate in a very real sense is influenced by the amount of money turned over to the city's general fund each year from utilities profits.

The establishment of a practical formula for the division of these profits, it seems to us, would be a distinct asset in projecting the financial planning for Greenville. It would make the long-range planning of both the City Council and the Utilities Commission easier, and it should put the overall long-range planning of Greenville on a sounder basis.

High Mortality In Re-Elections

By LYNN NISBET
REASON — The mortality rate among members of the 1959 legislature seeking re-election to the 1961 session was here high over the state. It was particularly high in the 12th congressional district and adjacent counties. Candidates who lost out in the primary included Tom Herbert of Clay, Oral Yates of Haywood, Marcellus Buchanan of Jackson, James M. Raby of Macon, Fred Holcombe of Madison, Penn Hunter of McDowell, Toller Davis of Rutherford, Charles Crawford of Swain, Leonard Lloyd in Graham and Harlon Holcomb in Yancey won the primary, and Mrs. C.W. Cover in Cherokee was nominated in convention. James C. Gaither of Transylvania and Boyce Whitmore of Henderson are in run-off. All face serious threats of strong opposition.

The effect is to prohibit all election day registration, since any person who would be eligible to register then was also eligible while the books were open. Numerous instances of conflict in legislative acts have developed because of insufficient research. The chance of conflict will be tremendously lessened if the recommendation of the Commission on Government Organization for a research staff is adopted.

REORGANIZATION — The present commission under chairmanship of George Uzzell, a veteran of 13 regular and three special sessions of the General Assembly, and recognized authority on parliamentary procedure, is giving careful attention to a lot of "little" matters. Precursor commissions have overlooked details in their consideration of major projects—such as revamping the highway commission, the prison system and water resources agencies; establishing the Department of Administration as a sort of overlord of all State government activities, and recommending a new State building for legislative halls and offices.

The Uzzell group has put primary emphasis on getting little bits out of these big projects, and on such details as simplifying the printing of bills, providing adequate research staff for bill preparation and other otherwise improving procedure in the General Assembly. Some of the recommendations can be effectuated by revising House and Senate rules. Some will require legislation. Uzzell plans to arrange conferences with presiding officers, which fortunately already have been practically determined, well in advance of the convening date of the Legislature. They probably will be asked to bring along several of the men whom they expect to head major committees to discuss the proposals with the organization commission. That will enable the changes to be made effective from beginning of the legislative session.

The 1961 General Assembly may be historic, not only because of immediate economic and sociology issues to be resolved, but because it probably will be the last to meet in the century-old capital building. The time table calls for the new legislative building to be ready for the 1963 session.

Our Blood Bank Needs Some Large Deposits

Pitt County's account with the regional blood bank is considerably overdrawn. Not only is the county some 350 pints of blood behind its quota for this year, but the county has withdrawn from the bank so far some 130 more pints of blood than its citizens have contributed.

The bloodmobile will visit Pitt County again Tuesday and Wednesday with a two-day stand at the Greenville Moose Lodge. During those two days local blood program officials will be seeking to meet the quota of 240 pints of blood.

It is important to Pitt County that it continue a member in good standing in the regional blood bank. It is likewise obvious that the county cannot retain its membership in the program if it continues to withdraw more blood than it gives to the program.

The visit of the bloodmobile next week will afford Pitt County an opportunity to make up the deficit in its withdrawals from the blood bank so far this year; but even if the quota for the two-day visit is met, Pitt still will be short of its overall quota so far this year.

Through the blood bank program, literally hundreds of Pitt residents have received blood. The county's hospital is assured of a constant supply of blood of all types to be used in treating the ill of this county. Without the availability of this source of blood, the local hospital would be seriously handicapped in affording the quality of care and treatment it does for the people of this county.

It is the responsibility of the citizens of the county as a whole to see that Pitt continues a member in good standing in the regional blood program. Otherwise, the county will default in its membership for lack of contributions of blood, and the many advantages offered Pitt by its participation in the program would be lost.

We urge local citizens who can do so to make it a point to contribute a pint of blood when the bloodmobile is here next Tuesday and Wednesday. Those who do will be making an important contribution to continuing Pitt's membership in this valuable program.

Profits Below Expected Rates

By RALPH ROBEY
One of the assumptions underlying the Federal Budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1 was that corporate profits before taxes would be $51 billion. At the time, this appeared to be a conservative estimate and many private forecasters thought the total would be a billion or so higher. It is now pretty evident that the actual figure will be below that upon which the budget was based.

Among the factors responsible for this revised expectation are the following:
1. Competition is getting more and more severe. This competition is both from other domestic producers and from abroad. This is not hitting all industries and all companies with equal force, but there's practically no one who is not feeling its influence.

2. Costs of production still are rising. The primary cause of this is wage increases. Overall, such increases are just about equal to those of last year, and there is not the leeway for offsetting them through increased output per manhour that was present last year. This is because needless overhead and other sources of waste were rather thoroughly eliminated during the recession and early recovery months.

3. Buyers are becoming increasingly resistant to higher and higher prices, and they are now in a position to make this feeling effective. In industry after industry we have unused capacity and many inventories are relatively high. Automobiles provide a perfect example. At present the stock of cars in the hands of dealers is approximately 1,100,000. A part of this is caused by the increased number of models being offered this year, but this does not lessen the amount of funds which dealers have tied up in their inventories, nor the pressure upon them to sell cars at any price which will give them to sell cars at any price which will give them even a reduced profit. Somewhat the same situation prevails in household appliances and many other fields. In a word, we are in a buyer's market and the sellers no longer can call the tune.

4. The effects of the steel strike were more severe and widespread than had been anticipated. Railroads, coal, and a host of other industries have been hurt. Users of steel have found that they can get along with smaller inventories than formerly, because of quick deliveries, and steel production has dropped by some 30 per cent.

5. The volume of business activity has not been as great as had been anticipated. Gross national product, which is the value of all goods and services produced, was estimated for Federal budget purposes at $510 billion (at an annual rate) in the first quarter, and it is still possible that the budget estimate will be realized, but many persons at a beginning to question this forecast.

What are the effects of this shrinkage of profits? This can be stated in dogmatic terms: First, it means that the Federal government will get less revenue. A drop of $1 billion in pre-tax profits costs the government about $500 million. Secondly, corporations will have less money to invest for better machines and all the other things that increase efficiency of production. Some of this may be offset by paying less dividends, but this is not a very far process which can be carried very far.

Finally, the nation will grow less rapidly than otherwise. This is important not only in relation to Russia but, as well, in connection with taking care of our growing labor force.

Now, More Than Ever!

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Ignorant About The U.S.

Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It will be remembered that when Nikita Khrushchev did his talking in Paris, two men were always present. One was Andrei Gromyko, who has lived in the United States for many years, particularly as the Soviet delegate to the United Nations. The other was the Soviet Defense Minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, a new face to most of us. Malinovsky did not speak, but often Khrushchev whispered in his ear.

In their book, "Ask Me Anything," William Randolph Hearst, Jr., Bob Considine and Frank Conniff give excellent character sketches of these Russian personalities who are new to us. They had an exceptional opportunity to study them and without the pretentiousness of psychologists, they report what they saw and heard. Thus they describe Malinovsky:

"Malinovsky met us at his office. He was a man whose thick gray hair was combed straight back from his bulldog face without a parting. His eyebrows were black and expressive. He gave each of us a bonecrushing handshake, shook hands with a major general and major — interpreters from the outer office — and with his chunky girl stenographer. Malinovsky then took his place at the head of the familiar conference table and indicated he was ready.

"He wore nine rows of ribbons beneath the dangling gold star of the Order of Lenin. The single Marshal's star on each thickest shoulder was the size of a sheriff's badge. A painting of Lenin reading 'Pravda' looked down from one wall. On other walls were large, flaming paintings of Russian arms in triumph and torment on land and sea.

"The Marshal has a deep voice and it was with an air of complete authority that he gave his blunt estimate of Russian military thinking at this sensitive hour in relations between two great powers."

Of this same Malinovsky, Stalin had once said: "An old woman could operate tanks better than you."

These writers point out how aggressive Malinovsky's conversation was with them but he showed an extraordinary ignorance of the United States. The following colloquy shows how little he understands:

"Western military men consider political influence upon their affairs hampers them," Conniff said. "Why isn't the same feeling not valid in the case of the Red Army?"

"Malinovsky seemed surprised. 'The Communist Party is the ruling party of the U.S.S.R. and it influences all fields,' he said, spelling it out. 'I would say it would be the same thing as the control your Republican Party has over your military at present.'"

"The mouse-quiet major general seated several chairs down the table opened a bottle of Russian beer with a long bang and served the Marshal a glass which he barely touched. 'You do not understand,' he continued. 'Many Soviet military units have their own Communist Party organizations, just as any nonmilitary organizations have their units. I reject the suggestion given by capitalistic countries that an army must be out of politics.'"

"The armed forces of the Soviet Union are a practical instrument of the Communist Party, an extension of the teachings of Lenin and Marx. It bespeaks unity. Our practice has proved correct."

Concerning the war in Korea, this conversation took place: "Certainly we helped the North Koreans. We sold them some arms in much the same proportions as America provided arms for Syngman Rhee. (Continued to page 10)

Public Forum

To the Editor:

The conduct of some of the newspapers of North Carolina in reporting the gubernatorial primary now in progress, causes one to wonder if the great Macaulay would consider them representative of his "Fourth Estate," which is that segment of our press we have come to know and respect as not being subsidized or kept.

The great television and radio networks of our country have taken precautions to defeat any attempt to buy the election of the President of the United States in 1960. But the purchase of the lease on the Governor's mansion in Raleigh seems not an unethical business deal in democratic North Carolina now, and some very self righteous editors in our state are promoting just such a deal.

If your editor is not cognizant of the fact, may I remind you that there stands above the headline of your newspaper these words, "Truth In Preference To Fiction." If these have meaning for you may I suggest that perhaps you have a responsibility and obligation to your readers in presenting the political opinions of the editors of other newspapers, to point out the truth in preference to the opinionated lie. Even though these are paid political advertisements do not fly against your banner?

I call to your attention the editorial (advertisement) taken from the Goldsboro News-Argus, and printed in the Daily Reflector of Monday June 13th. I ask you to point out any truths, half truths or near truths in this article that can be substantiated in fact or reason.

I ask you with reference to the editorial (advertisement) taken from The Asheville Citizen, and printed in the Daily Reflector of Tuesday June 14th to differentiate between truth and fiction in this article.

You might qualify this editorial for truth by explaining just who the Asheville Citizen is, and how often before his voice has been raised in behalf of eastern North Carolina and its interests. You might divulge the facts that the voice in the west has been lifted time and again with methodical and dutiful obedience to its master, not in the interest of eastern North Carolina or in the interests of any section of North Carolina but in its own selfish interests, and those of machine politicians in western North Carolina.

Our variety of North Carolinians in Pitt county are typical of our section. We have not long dwelt in the cultural environment which we are just being introduced, and perhaps we do not do many things well. In the vernacularism of Governor Hodges, we know how to operate a rocking chair, and to take life as it comes without dreams of smoke stacks. We farm the tobacco that helps to create some of the wealthy western barons. We used to know how to trade. The knowledge of which is a lesson in human relationship. We learned to check our trader as well as the mule.

We surmise that in spite of good advice from our newspapers, most of us will fail to take advantage of the opportunity to trade an integrated school in Greene, or other eastern counties, for a factory in Buncome, and will support Dr. I. Beverly Lake for Governor in the primary on June 25th.

Thanking you, I remain,
Very sincerely,
William W. Walker

Fallout Shelter Needs

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — If World War III should come suddenly and your community be hit by A-bomb or H-bomb attack, it would be demolished; probably no preparation on your part could save your life. The chances are, however, that your city will not be bombed—that you would have only fallout to worry about. This fallout is the radioactive dust thrown into the air when a bomb explodes. If Detroit, for instance, should be bombed, most of the people there would be killed. Then a cloud of radioactive dust would travel with the prevailing wind. Probably everyone within 50 miles would be subject to burns. There, everyone within a radius of 50 miles from a bomb explosion should go to a "shelter" and be prepared to remain there for three or four days. This shelter should have a supply of good water, a stock of rice and canned goods, some reading matter, and a battery-operated radio for the official news. Radio stations would operate only at 640 or 1240 on the dial; these are the Conelrad stations. Mortgage payments of principal and interest would be "frozen" and all stock exchanges closed.

WHAT FOOD TO EAT

Even when the fallout had dissipated and you could again lead a normal life, you would have to be very careful what you ate. Other things being equal, states having the greatest rainfall, divided fairly equally throughout the year (Oregon, for example) could be the safest in which to live or loan money. The reason is that rain washes off this dangerous dust from most of the things that you would eat.

The safest foods would be fruits such as oranges, bananas, lemons, and others which have a thick skin that can be washed and peeled off.

Apples, peaches, berries, grapes, tomatoes, etc. with thin skins should be avoided until the government pronounced them safe to eat. Scientists are not yet agreed on potatoes, carrots, etc., which are underground but have foliage above ground. It is rumored that a neutron bomb will be brought out which has no fallout; but I will not comment on this until additional details are available. I, however, am carefully following this new development.

DANGEROUS THINGS TO EAT AND DRINK

After a bomb drops anywhere in this country, we should drink no milk until the government permits us to do so. Cows eating grass which has been contaminated by "fallout" give radioactive milk. This raises the question whether we should eat butter and cheese. Unless the grass has been thoroughly washed off by heavy rains, the beef of the cattle may also be contaminated. The same could be true of sheep, hogs, and other livestock. Listen to CONELRAD for advice.

Ground fish, such as cod and haddock, should be safe to eat; also possibly lobsters. But fish such as mackerel, which swim near the surface, could easily become radioactive. Drinking water is very important. Fortunately are those families which have a covered well from which pure water can be pulled by hand, a well not dependent on electricity. People who get their water from uncovered reservoirs or rivers should have a supply of pure water in their shelter. Each shelter should have cut for each member of the family and enough blankets to permit the family to sleep for two or three nights until the fallout disperses. For further details, write Col. H. W. Buchanan, C.D. Director, Barton, Florida.

BABSON (con't)

WHAT FALLOUT DOES NOT KILL

Fallout does not kill. So far as we now know, I further believe that the only 100 percent hedge against inflation is acreage with growing trees and fireproof apartment buildings.

Householders who have no basements should build a fallout shelter in the backyard of concrete blocks covered with boards and about three feet of dirt and properly dried; otherwise there should be a (Continued to page 10)

Japan Products Stir Animosity

By ELMER ROESSNER
American attitudes toward Japanese products are creating almost as much animosity in Japan as the new Japanese-American treaty.

Opposition to the treaty comes from the left; Japanese Socialists and Communists. But opposition to American restrictions on Japanese goods. In this country, demands are piling up for tariff and other restrictions to limit the imports of Japanese products. The complaint is made that Japanese electronic, camera and textile products are being sold in the United States under our cost of manufacture.

The Agriculture Department has asked for a special levy to trade textile imports to offset the subsidy paid on raw cotton exports. The complaint is this: The U. S. government pays an export subsidy to enable U.S. growers to sell their cotton in the world market.

BARGAINS RETURN TO BE SET
This gives Japanese mills cotton at low prices. They turn it into fabric and send it back to America. Even after paying for the roundtrip by boat, Japanese exporters can sell these fabrics at less than American made kinds.

The Tariff Commission has studied the Agriculture Department request for a levy to jack-up imported prices to the level of prices of American-made goods. Not it is understood to be sitting on its conclusions until after President Eisenhower completes current business with Japan. Approval of such a block to Japanese exports might provoke further riots in Nippon.

Meanwhile, some labor unions have declared their intention of boycotting Japanese products. These declarations were made just before Eisenhower left for Japan. Whether planned or not, this timing will strengthen the position of the Socialists and Communists in Japan.

Both the conservative Japanese government and the wealthy rightists have let it be known that they will resist any further action to limit Japanese textile sales to the United States.

This, they hold, will be a violation of the gentlemen's agreement by which Japan has voluntarily held down textile imports.

Japan has restricted exports of sewing machines to prevent a disruption of the American market; it has restricted exports of electronic equipment, although much is admitted superior and cheaper than comparable American items, and now its cotton restrictions are under attack. The rightist section of the economy is talking about the ending of its voluntary control system. Such an ending would thrust final decisions on the Administration, and any decision would offend American interests or Japanese interests or both.

The United States appears to have accomplished the impossible in international diplomacy. It has succeeded in alienating both the left and right factions in a friendly country that has very little middle.

Today's prediction: More trouble in this sector.

HOW TO THREATEN DELINQUENT WITHOUT MAKING HIM ANGRY

There was a twinkle in the Old Promoter's eye when he dropped in for a visit today. "Nobody likes to threaten a delinquent customer with a suit," he said. "It may mean an immediate cut-off in sales, suing one customer may make others resentful and, besides, the plaintiff may lose."

"But I've run across a businessman who gets the same results without making threats. He drops in on trade associations and heads of chains and casually remarks that he is planning some nasty legal action against some who have failed to meet their obligations. 'It works—faster than attorneys' threats. Word is passed quickly. Delinquent customers hasten to pay and they and the supplier can still talk to each other without rancor.'"

Mrs. Martin Luther Harris

Matron of honor was Mrs. Donald Barber of Hopewell, Va., sister of the bride. She wore a hairletina of pink lace over taffeta with matching crown and mits, and carried a bouquet of blue carnations tied with pink ribbons.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Edgar Cox of Kinston, and Miss Carolyn Joyner of Ayden, both sisters of the bride. They wore blue dresses fashioned like the matron of honor's, and carried bouquets of pink carnations tied with blue ribbons.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Pat Thompson of Kinston, Mrs. Ray Brown of Kinston, sisters of the groom; and Mrs. Clifford Harris of New Bern, sister-in-law of the groom. They wore pastel dresses with matching accessories and carried long stemmed pink carnations.

The flower girl was little Debra Cox, niece of the bride. She wore a dress of pink silk organza over mits. She carried a basket of pink and blue carnations.

Clifford Harris of New Bern was his brother's best man. The ushers were Edgar Cox of Kinston and Donald Barber of Hopewell, Va., brothers-in-law of the bride, Ray Brown of Kinston, brother-in-law of the groom, and Alton Harris of New Bern, brother of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Joyner chose a dress of muted blue silk shantung with matching accessories. Mrs. Huey Booth chose a dress of blue lace with matching accessories for her brother's wedding. Each wore a white cymbidium corsage.

After receiving the wedding guests in the church vestibule the couple left for a wedding trip to southern points and after June 26, they will be at home on Fairfield Avenue in Kinston. For traveling Mrs. Harris wore a white dress of pettipoint pique with matching accessories and the orchid lifted from her bouquet. Mrs. Harris is a graduate of Ayden High School and attended East Carolina College. She is now employed by the W.H. Jones Motors, Inc. in Kinston.

Mr. Harris is a graduate of New Bern High School and attended East Carolina College. He is employed by H. Stadiem, Inc. of Kinston.

Cake Cutting
Following the Joyner-Harris wedding rehearsal on Saturday evening, the parents of the bride entertained at a cake cutting in Bruhson Hall of the Ayden Christian Church.

The bride's table was covered with pink satin and white net and centered with an arrangement of shasta daisies and fern, flanked with candelabra holding white tapers.

Individual wedding cakes were served by Mrs. Ernest Joyner. Mrs. Alton Harris of New Bern, poured the lime punch. Messdames Charles Peel, Donald Barber, Edgar Cox, and Miss Carolyn Joyner assisted in serving mints and nuts.

AYDEN — The Ayden Christian Church was the setting on Sunday afternoon, June 19, at half past three o'clock of a candlelight wedding uniting Miss Audrey Lynell Joyner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Joyner, and Martin Luther Harris, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harris of New Bern in marriage.

With a background of wedding greenery interspersed with seven-branched candelabra and floor baskets of white gladioli and lilies, the double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John L. Goff, minister of the bride.

Proceeding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Virginia Belle Cooper of Ayden, organist, and soloist, Miss Linda Worthington of Ayden, who sang "Oh Promise Me," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned by the bride's mother. It featured a fitted bodice of lace over taffeta attached to a full tiered lace over taffeta skirt ending in a semi train. The scalloped sabrina neck was trimmed with satin covered buttons. The lace mits ended in wedding points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion flowed from a tiara of pearls and sequins. It was applied with the lace design from the gown. She carried a cascade of French carnations and bridal ivy centered with a white orchid.

To give freshly washed and ironed shirts or blouses a really professional look, fold them around newly "invented" plastic shirt forms.

Local Girl To Write About College-Sponsored Tour

Editor's note: Miss Clark, a rising senior at J.H. Rose High School, is a member of East Carolina College's Grand Circle Tour of Europe which left New York, June 14, and will return July 18. Her series of columns will appear in The Daily Reflector.

By RUTH COTTON CLARK

EUROPE! In just a matter of hours our huge jet airliner will be down and I will step off onto the soils of Scotland. Maybe I should say the "concrete" of Scotland because we will land at the Glasgow Prestwick Airport, and I don't imagine there'll be too much soil at our feet!

During the tour, we will visit nine major countries of Europe including England, France, Scotland, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Italy. After landing in Scotland on June 15, we will tour the countryside starting at Edinburgh, then along the coast of the North Sea and on to York, England.

Finally we'll reach Shakespeare country on the Avon. There we'll see Shakespeare's home and visit the famous theater and view a performance of one of his plays. Just for my sophomore English teacher who hounded us with the works of Shakespeare may I say that I'm actually looking forward to seeing one of his plays on the stage. Believe it or not!

Soon we'll be in London, the heart of the British Empire. Who knows? Maybe I'll even get to see the queen and get her autograph!

After three days in London, we'll board a steamer and cross the North Sea to Holland. (I've had my seasick pills packed for weeks!)

Several more sightseeing days are in store and then we reach Oberammergau, Germany, the site of the famous Passion Play. I feel that seeing this presentation will be one of the high spots of my trip. After hearing so many wonderful things about it, I can hardly wait to get there and get caught up in the excitement of all the pilgrims who will travel to Oberammergau to view the Passion Play.

Next comes Switzerland, the country I most want to see! I've seen so very many gorgeous pictures of the mountains and lakes but I find it hard to believe that I'll soon be seeing them with my own two eyes!

With about half of the tour now already gone, we still have to see Rome, the "Eternal City," and Paris, "City of Lights."

I may be silly, but in Rome I'm particularly interested in seeing the Catacombs of St. Calixtus, however grim they may be. I gave a report on this subject in Latin class this year, and it re-

His Little Jest Taken Seriously

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stanley Carlson's little jest wasn't funny to an airline stewardess, the airline or the FBI. It didn't go over so big with the U.S. commissioner, either.

When the stewardess sought to put away a case he carried aboard an airliner here last week, Carlson told her to desist because "there's a bomb in it."

Carlson shortly afterward became the 21st person arrested since last April on a charge of making a false bomb report. He was arraigned Friday.

Despite his protestation that "it was a casual statement made in jest," Carlson, 27, a Greenfield, Calif., salesman, was bound over to federal court for trial. The maximum penalty is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

ly created a question in my mind concerning the catacombs where the early Christians fled for refuge.

In Paris we'll see the Arch of Triumph, Notre Dame Cathedral, and the Folies Bergere. Wowwee!

On July 17, an early morning flight takes us to Amsterdam and late that same night, we hit the trail for the U.S.A. Home again on July 18!

will be 27 other people including Mrs. Myrtle Cook, our hostess and a teacher at Wahl-Coates School here in Greenville. There will be teachers, students, recent graduates, businessmen and women, and even a retired missionary in the group.

With such a variety of occupations represented, there can't possibly be a dull moment!

If planning a wedding calls for half as much preparation as a trip to Europe, I think I'll wait about ten years to recover from this before I don the white and march the aisle!

Mother and I have been as busy as chickens for the past few weeks. Clothes, passports, medical check-up, travelers checks, suitcases, and millions of other articles necessary for such a trip have kept us running constantly. Don't think that all you have to do is pack and leave, because that is one hundred and ten percent incorrect! A trip to Europe calls for just about a thousand and one preparations.

But, with all my worry and work, I can't gripe because how many other such wonderful opportunities as this will I ever have? As this is published, I'll be on my way.

Won't you follow me on my trip and soon I'll take you to Europe, across the Atlantic?

Table of baseball standings for Monday, including American League and National League results.

NEW YORK (AP) — Having proven there was more might than myth to his "thunder and lightning" right, heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson is favored to beat Floyd Patterson again in their return 15-round title fight at the Polo Grounds tonight.

$5 general admissions to the 100 ringside seats. Estimates of the advance sale range from $550,000 to $625,000.

If Patterson follows expectations and moves right in, the action should be explosive. The writer, who picked Patterson in one of the last times, leans toward Johansson within seven rounds this time.

Johnson Refuses To Divide Nation

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) says "the Democratic party is not going to do Khrushchev's job for him—that is divide the nation."

The Senate majority leader declared the Soviet leader is trying to divide the nation in an election, but "I think he will be unsuccessful."

Johnson, seeking support of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for president, flew to the Midwest Sunday to meet first with Democratic leaders in Des Moines, Iowa, and then with Nebraska Democrats in Omaha.

He insisted the presidency requires a man with "a little glare in his eye, a little understanding in his heart" — and experience. He mentioned the experience several times.

In Des Moines, Johnson hinted that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is too young for the job. "I believe the world needs men who have a little gray in their hair," Johnson said. Kennedy, 43, has no gray in his hair. Johnson, 51, is graying. "Many officials recommended that the president not go to Japan," the Texas senator told newsmen. "But the president makes the decisions, and he decided to go."

"I hope we learn and benefit from what has happened there," he said. "I'm not much of a summit man," he said. "If you ask me: Should we keep all these negotiations at the top, I say no."

Take A Stand On Discrimination

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A strong stand against racial discrimination was taken by the National Conference Methodist Student Movement, which ended a six-day meeting Sunday.

Delegates adopted a resolution commending "student participation in dignified, non-violent sit-in demonstrations, picketing of lunch counters and economic negotiations with businessmen and local merchants."

The group also urged speed in abolishing the all-Negro Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church.

Gave A Kidney, Still Loses Son

BOSTON (AP) — A mourning father, who gave up one of his kidneys in a fruitless attempt to save the life of his son, says: "I'm glad we tried."

Robert Reck, 15, died on Father's Day. Ten days earlier, surgeons at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital removed a kidney from his father, Virgil N. Reck, and transplanted it to Robert.

The boy was seriously ill with a kidney ailment which doctors said would have eventually proven fatal.

"I know everything humanly possible was done by the hospital staff to save Bobby's life," said Reck, a sergeant on the Dayton, Ohio, police force.

A successful father-to-son kidney transplant would have established a medical precedent. Doctors at the hospital have performed numerous successful kidney transplant operations, most of them involving identical twins.

Never before had a kidney been transplanted from the body of a father to that of his son.

Two teams of 10 doctors each worked for hours on the operation, taking a healthy kidney from the father and transferring it to the son to replace one of his diseased kidneys.

Sgt. Reck recovered from the operation. But the boy lingered in serious condition for 10 days, and the hospital said after his death that the kidney "failed to establish adequate circulation."

Modernization In Burglaries, Too

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The modernization trend has even hit the burglary profession. They're using walkie-talkies now.

Detective C. L. Limbaugh said a walkie-talkie radio was found among abandoned loot and robbery tools left at a supermarket by a thief who was frightened off by the approach of a policeman Sunday.

Limbaugh said the radio was turned on and apparently had been used by the burglar to keep in touch with a lookout.

Says 2 Parties Betrayed Negro

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A prominent Southern integrationist said Sunday both the Democratic and Republican parties have betrayed the Negro in the cause of integration.

About 10,000 persons attended a freedom jubilee in Pittsburgh. They heard the Rev. Martin Luther King of Atlanta, Ga., declare: "The federal government has not really done a job and the cause of justice has been betrayed by both Democratic and Republican parties."

"If America is to survive, it must solve this problem. You will ask, then, how long will it take? And I say that it will not be long before black and white, Jews and gentiles, Catholics and Protestants will say, 'We're free at last.'"

The Rev. Mr. King urged his listeners not to "sit down and wait for the inevitable to happen" but to work for a unified country.

Forty persons can stand inside the head of the Statue of Liberty at the same time.

modeled, with a similar front as the present Brody's on Evans Street. The entire interior will be modern in every respect, Brody said.

Brody said the addition will enable Brody's to carry fashions from the California, Texas, St. Louis, Minneapolis, New York and Florida markets.

Approximately 2,700 feet of floor space will be added, Brody said, and the building will be joined at about the center of the present store. "This added floor space will make Brody's one of the largest ladies fashion stores in the state, devoted exclusively to ladies wear on one floor," Brody said.

"This added space will necessitate a new layout of the present store, with the theme 'Service and shopping pleasure being the keynote and the entire new layout,'" Brody said.

He said, "Because of our great faith in Greenville and surrounding areas, we are happy to bring this added area into our present store and tell that it will provide the ultimate in shopping pleasure for ladies fashion."

Brody's first opened in Greenville 24 years ago.

Construction is expected to be completed by Sept. 1.

Two Arrested On Bootleg Counts

BETHEL—Two Bethel Negroes were arrested during the weekend by Pitt County ABC officers and Bethel Police, on charges of possession of non-tax-paid whiskey for the purpose of sale.

The two were identified as Spaniel Moore, 50, who was arrested Saturday night with three pints of illegal booze in his possession and L.V. Pervis, 31, who had a half-gallon of illegal spirits when taken into custody yesterday morning.

Both were released under a $200 bond for their appearance in County Court.

ABC officers J.M. Ward, H.B. Lilley and Walter Taylor assisted in the arrests.

Tobacco Growers - Attention!

The independent leaf tobacco exporters, who act as buying agents for foreign customers, deem it their duty to make a public statement concerning the use of MH-30 on tobacco. They believe that tobacco growers should be fully advised of the situation so that they can act according to their best interests.

The leaf exporters who purchase the tobaccos that go into export trade have been instructed NOT TO BID on tobacco which appears to have been treated with MH-30. They have no alternative except to obey these instructions.

Last year, due to weather conditions and other factors, some tobacco that had been treated with this chemical could not be identified on the warehouse floor. In some cases the grower who used MH-30 received a higher cash income than his neighbor who did not use it.

BUT there is no reason to assume that the same condition will prevail this year. On the contrary, there is reason to believe that treated tobacco may be heavily penalized price-wise on the auction floors.

In Canada, tobacco so treated sold for a considerably lower price than other tobacco. In Rhodesia, where more than 200 million pounds of flue-cured tobacco will be grown this year in competition with our tobacco, the use of MH-30 is prohibited.

Foreign customers, who buy more than one-third of our flue-cured crop, have officially notified the U.S. Department of Agriculture that they will not knowingly purchase any tobacco that has been treated with MH-30.

In areas where the use of MH-30 is widespread, many prospective purchasers may withdraw from those markets, and seek other sources of supply. Such action could be a crippling blow to the economy of such areas, and could cause another acreage cut in 1961.

Tobacco growers, the decision is yours, and so is the responsibility. We have tried to fulfill our responsibility by publicly stating the facts.

VAN WYCK MASON'S newest thriller Secret Mission to Bangkok

CHAPTER 27 Hugh North gave chase, two steps at a time, and was gaining on his man when another door slammed shut, a floor above him, the top floor of this seven-story hotel; the floor on which were the suites of Lex Ross, Antonio Caras, Lita Naline; the floor where John Wallen had met his death.

It was silent when Hugh made the landing and came out into the corridor, panting from the exertion of the race up the steep service stairway. The colonel did not hesitate; he headed down the carpeted hallway back toward the elevators and turned up the stairs that led to Chu Hoong's penthouse.

the one Hugh had chased up the stairs. Returning to the living room at North's direction, Chu Hoong took a chair. He looked up at the colonel, his robed face imperturbable.

"What if I told you it was murdered?" North rapped out. "If I started at the crackled question it was an imperceptible reaction. For a second the multimillionaire stared at the G-2 colonel and then the almond eyes fell away. 'Ah, well,' Chu said softly, 'I suppose I more or less expected something like this would happen someday. The way Aloysius was going it was only a question of time before he would become involved in some terrible thing.'"

He shook his head slowly. "And who was it?" he asked. "And why are you involved?" Mr. Boyden? Ah, was it—the gentleman next door to you, whose name escapes me?" "Barrows," Hugh supplied. "You knew him by another name."

The smaller man's eyes widened infinitesimally and Chu's placidity was ruffled just the slightest. A tiny cloud crossing the sun, a short-lived breeze rippling a pond, "I knew him," Chu repeated. "Oh yes, I remember; you had the idea that I had known Mr. Barrows other than as a guest of the Imperial. But I assure you, Mr. Boyden—"

"And I assure you, Mr. Chu," North broke in coldly, "that my name knew you under some other name some time." He paused a moment and added bluntly: "And you wanted him dead."

Chu Hoong sat perfectly still, a tranquil Buddha. There was a silence that seemed to stretch for hours before the multimillionaire spoke. "To protest against such a statement would be to invite the serious intention which I know you did not mean it to have," he said.

"Oh, but I do mean it," North returned. "When Captain Pokh arrives I expect to lodge a charge of conspiracy to commit murder against you, Mr. Chu."

The Chinese scanned the G-2 agent carefully. His rosy lips barely parted as he said, "I believe you are serious." North nodded. "And the ironic part of it is that you didn't have to go after Barrows with a gun, Chu. He wasn't out here to interfere with your business in any way."

Now the slanted eyes were wary. "Business, Mr. Boyden? How could this so-called Mr. Barrows interfere with my business? I have received information that—er—the gentleman is a nuclear physicist and although my interests are diversified enough I am not in the rocket or missile business."

Hugh held the .38 trained squarely on the rotund little man. "But you are in the dope business, Chu," he said quietly. "Up to your fat, scaly neck."

"I have no reason to fear you now any more than I have to fear the dead man," Hugh North is told tomorrow.

'Freedomland' Officially Opens

NEW YORK (AP) — Freedomland, the Bronx' cheerful entry in America's amusement park derby officially opened Sunday and 61,500 persons jammed inside to get a look.

The attendance far exceeded expectations and the park, built on 205 acres of reclaimed swampland, was forced to close three hours early. Concessionaires complained they were running out of food. The sprawling park, shaped roughly like the United States, boasts it has re-created 200 years of U.S. history. A visitor can see Chicago burn, watch San Francisco's earthquake, inspect Cape Canaveral rockets and hoot at a New York suffragette parade.

Vice President's Watch Returned

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon got back his watch. During a press conference at the Houston airport Saturday he removed the wrist-alarm combination and put it on a table.

"I just picked it up and kept it for him after I saw him leave it," explained Mayor Lewis Cutler, when he handed the watch back to Nixon at a banquet Saturday night. The watch was presented to him several years ago by an organization of watch collectors, Nixon said.

This news article was recently published in The News and Observer Dr. M. A. Huggins Baptist Leader Backs Sanford Dr. M. A. Huggins, long a leader of North Carolina Baptists, Wednesday endorsed Terry Sanford for Governor. He praised Sanford for "his spirit, his sanity, his courage and his outlook." Huggins, who for 27 years was the general secretary and treasurer of the Baptist State Convention, is seen by many as the image of conservative elements of the State's largest religious denomination. "The issue," warned Huggins, "is whether an attitude of hate and fear shall prevail or whether one of goodwill and understanding together with a robust faith shall prevail. By hate I refer to that strong emotion which many, it appears, hold toward the Negro; and by fear I refer to those who appear to be afraid of paying a bit more taxes, if necessary, in order to provide better schools for citizens of tomorrow." In the first primary Huggins voted for John Larkins whom he described as "a warm friend for years. . . . He did not capture a large vote but I do applaud him for the words, worthy of a true statesman, which he spoke since the primary. I quote: 'The climate of opinion in North Carolina is ripe for progress. We can make it ripe for tragedy if we attempt to change it to open race hatred.'" Met Sanford Recently Dr. Huggins of Raleigh said in the prepared statement that he had met Sanford personally only recently. "I like his sanity, his courage, and his outlook. He is accentuating the positive. He is an optimist and yet a realist. In my opinion he will make a great Governor of a great State," Huggins said. He added: "I would, under other conditions, like to support Beverly Lake since I have known him since he was a little fellow playing around Wake Forest; and I was fond of his father with whom I studied. But I cannot support him for he has sought, wittingly or unwittingly, to intensify those powerful emotions of hate and fear. And I believe such actions are immoral and reactionary. . . . It is tragic that people appear not to appreciate the fact that hate and fear do far greater damage to the spiritual life of those who hate and fear than to those things which are feared. For hate and fear in the mind and heart are to the spiritual system like poisonous germs are to the physical system. "Did Ayecock, Joyner, Alderman—and I may add, Potat, Kline and Carlyle—at the turn of the century and later, take counsel of their fears? Who can cite instances of any man or men who hated or who were afraid and yet who made any lasting contribution to morality or to progress?"

But remember this: we did not fight there. No Red Army troops or pilots were there. But you were there.

"But you should have been there, too, as a member of the UN," Hearst insisted.

"We aided the North Koreans because they were fighting for their independence and liberty," Malinovsky replied stonily.

"We use the same words in our country about Southern Korea," Hearst said, "but they mean something totally different."

What is so very interesting in these conversations, and there were many more, is that Malinovsky spoke not as a soldier but as a Communist.

The following Malinovsky statement ought to be noted carefully:

"...many American generals are very often sorry that they have no ideal to plant in the heart of the American soldier, so he will be willing to die for that ideal. You are jealous of us for this. The Communist soldier, the Red Army soldier, has such an ideal in his heart. He has it because he considers the ideal of the commander his own ideal."

Ran Half Mile In Wrong Direction

HONTON, England (AP)—Volunteer fireman Eddie Marks was enjoying a pint of beer in the bar of the New Dolphin hotel Sunday when the town's fire siren sounded.

Marks ran a half mile to the fire station. When he got there the engine had left—for the New Dolphin. The fire, a minor one, was in the hotel kitchen.

Motorcyclist Injured In Collision Sunday

MOTORCYCLE . . . on which a Rocky Mount Fireman was injured lies sprawled on the pavement as car it struck sits parked off the road in the background.

A 33-year-old Rocky Mount fireman was injured yesterday when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car about 15 miles east of Greenville on N. C. 33.

According to investigating patrolman J. B. Surles of Greenville, Robert W. Wooten, 33, received a chest injury and a fractured knee cap when his motorcycle ran into the side of a car driven by George Thomas Cran-dall, Negro, of Route 1, Robertsville.

Outgrew Cities By Six To One

WASHINGTON (AP) — The suburbs grew six times faster than the cities in the past decade and accounted for nearly two-thirds of the national population increase during the 10 years.

Reporting this today, the Census Bureau said the population of the nation's 189 metropolitan areas increased from 87,579,138 in 1950 to 108,872,660 in 1960—a gain of 24.3 per cent.

Twelve Drivers Cited In 'Saturation' Patrol

Twelve drivers were charged with violations of the law during a four-day saturation and selective enforcement patrol on one of the most accident-prone stretches of road in Pitt County—the section on N.C. 11-U.S. 13 from the intersection of U.S. 264 south of Greenville to the intersection on N.C. 903 north of town.

According to Patrol Cpl. J. T. Jenkins, the arrests included charges for speeding, improper lights, failure to yield the right of way, operating to the left of the center line, improper equipment, no operators, license and other charges.

Cpl. Jenkins noted that Ptl. W. K. Chapman of Greenville was assigned to the patrol during his entire eight hour duty period for four days, starting last Thursday. This morning Jenkins reported the officer traveled some 1,064 miles on the 10-mile long strip of road during the 32 hours he spent patrolling the road, and said the officer made an arrest every 3.7 hours.

Chapman stopped 128 cars during his tour of duty during the four days.
