Congress To Go Into Recess For Conventions; Can't Finish Up

Driver To Be Charged In Death

By HENRY HOWARD Reflector Staff Writer AYDEN—A 29-year-old Greenville man was placed under $1,000 bond pending action by the Pitt County Grand Jury following a coroner's inquest here last night into the June 21 traffic death of an Ayden woman.

A. D. Taylor, 206 Ridgeway Dr., will be charged with manslaughter, according to Solicitor Robert D. Rouse Jr. Rouse said today he will send a bill of indictment to the Grand Jury at the next term of Pitt's Superior Court Aug. 22 charging Taylor with manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Alice McLawhorn Stocks, 29, widowed mother of four.

Mrs. Stocks was killed instantly when the car in which she was riding, driven by Taylor, went out of control, overturned, and smashed through a utility pole at the western Ayden city limits early June 21.

According to investigating Patrolman H. R. Winslow, the death car was traveling east on NC-102 toward Ayden when it went out of control, traveled some 54 yards down the highway's right shoulder and into a ditch, overturned and traveled some 76 more yards before breaking through the utility pole and coming to rest. Winslow said the car's four passengers were thrown from the vehicle as it overturned.

The Coroner's Jury deliberated 25 minutes before returning a recommendation for action by the Grand Jury. Coroner E. W. Harvey placed Taylor under $1,000 bond following the recommendation by the six-man panel.

Winslow reconstructed the scene of the accident in testimony and reviewed the findings of his investigation. He had charged Taylor with speeding.

Seventeen-year-old Marvin C. Cox of Ayden, a passenger in the death vehicle, testified, "It sounded like the right front tire blew out" immediately before the accident. Winslow told the jury Taylor had stated the same thing the night of the accident.

Solicitor Rouse introduced photographs made of the wreckage showing both front tires still inflated. Winslow testified neither front tire was "punctured or flat" following the accident. Both rear tires were burned when the auto burst into flames.

On the stand, Cox testified he had looked at the car's speedometer while it was traveling down the roadside ditch and noted, "We were doing 60 m.p.h."

Both Taylor and Cox suffered minor injuries and were treated and released from Pitt Memorial Hospital. The fourth passenger, Linda Benford, 14, of Ayden, was uninjured.

A crowd of around 50 was in the courtroom here to witness the inquest.

Death Mandatory For 17-Year-Old

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dennis Whitney, 17, was convicted Tuesday by a jury of 11 men and a woman of first-degree murder. The death sentence is mandatory. Whitney, a California drifter, admitted seven slayings. He was convicted of shooting to death Arthur Keeler, one of three killings he confessed committing in Florida. He had said earlier he killed four persons in a transcontinental hitchhiking trip.

A Palm Beach County jury earlier had convicted Whitney of first-degree murder in the shooting of Virginia Selby, but made a mercy recommendation of a life sentence instead of sending him to the electric chair.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders gave up the idea today that Congress could wind up its work for the year before the national political conventions. They said it couldn't be done, and Congress would have to return to session after the conventions.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who hopes to win his party's presidential nomination, told the Senate he would propose a recess beginning Friday or Saturday and a return to session on Aug. 8.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) had already announced on his side of the Capitol a leadership decision that the work load required a postconventions session.

A recess this weekend will give the Senate's Democratic presidential hopefuls Johnson and Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Stuart Symington of Missouri freedom to intensify their hunt for support among the delegates to the party conclave opening July 11 in Los Angeles. The Republican convention meets July 25 in Chicago.

Here is the current situation on some major legislative matters: 1. The House Rules Committee, bowing to pressure from Democratic leaders, Tuesday turned loose a bill to raise the minimum hourly wage from $1 to $1.25 over three years and extend coverage to 3 1/2 million more workers. With it went a substitute bill with a $1.15 minimum wage, and a more limited extension of coverage, to 1,400,000 workers. The House may vote Thursday. 2. The same Rules Committee by a 6-6 vote refused to clear a $1,365,000,000 housing bill pushed by Democratic leaders. That just about killed chances for its passage before the conventions.

Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala), chairman of the Housing subcommittee, said, "There will be a housing bill. There has to be. August will be time enough."

3. A Senate-House conference committee Tuesday night agreed on a compromise defense money bill providing just under 40 billion dollars and including most of the administration's requests. It probably will come up in the House for expected approval Friday.

4. As expected, the Senate passed and sent to the President the annual tax extension bill. It temporarily increases the federal debt limit and extends four billion dollars in federal taxes for another year.

5. The Senate shelved—by sending it back to committee—a bill to rewrite the player-draft rules of organized baseball and to provide limited exemption from antitrust laws for baseball and three other professional team sports.

Several key bills which Democratic leaders consider politically necessary this session remain tied up in the House Rules Committee, headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va). It is dominated by a Republican—Southern Democratic conservative bloc.

In addition to the housing bill, the Rules Committee is sitting on federal school aid legislation and may be in a position to tie up federal health care for the aged.

Both the Senate and the House have passed education aid bills, but a conference committee must adjust differences before the legislation can be passed finally. The Rules Committee won't let it go to the conference.

6. The Senate Finance Committee is holding hearings today and Thursday on a bill to provide medical care for aged persons, considered a top election year issue.

A limited medical bill has been passed by the House but will almost certainly be broadened by Senate amendments. That means it would go back to the House Rules Committee, which could stymie it.

The Senate still must act on three major annual money bills. They provide funds for the State and Justice departments, foreign aid and public works.

Senate leaders, still hoping for adjournment, passed the word to the Appropriations Committee to try to clear them for Senate action today and Thursday.

The Senate had voted 235 million extra to hasten development of the 2,000 mile-an-hour B70. The compromise holds this to 190 million on top of 85 million asked by the administration and voted by the House.

The bill also carries authority to transfer or spend extra millions for other purposes, to grains, vegetables and other products.

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro threatened in a towering rage today to seize American investments in Cuba "penny by penny until nothing is left" if the United States cuts its purchases of Cuban sugar.

Castro made this threat to a cheering, post-midnight rally of the giant Sugar Workers' Federation held in Artemisa, 60 miles southwest of Havana. It was his 10th major speech in 24 days and the bitterest anti-American diatribe he has yet delivered.

Stung by the bill now before the U.S. Congress to authorize the President to cut the U.S. quota of Cuban sugar at will, Castro shouted that for every pound of sugar removed from the quota, his regime would take over an American-owned sugar mill.

U. S. interests own 36 sugar mills in Cuba, but Castro made clear his threats extended to all other American interests in Cuba, valued at more than a half billion dollars.

"We'll take and take until not even the nails of their soles are left," he told his cheering audience.

The bearded Prime Minister denounced the new U.S. sugar bill—which was unanimously approved by the House Agriculture Committee Monday—as "stupid and criminal" and called the U.S. government decadent. He repeatedly referred to Americans as "gringos."

Castro indicated his government might turn sugar land to other uses if it cannot sell sugar to the United States at the premium price it now gets under the sugar quota act.

"If sugar cane is left over," he said, "we will devote that land to other purposes, to grains, vegetables and other products."

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro today ordered immediate confiscation of the American-owned Texaco, Inc., refinery in Santiago if the company refuses to process Soviet crude oil there.

In New York, a Texaco spokesman said the company had no notification from the Cuban government.

Texaco is one of three oil companies—two American and one Dutch-British—operating in Cuba that since June 11 have faced a Castro order to refine Soviet crude or suffer confiscation. The other two are Esso Standard and the Shell Oil Co.

At stake is a 75-million-dollar investment the three companies have in their Cuban refineries, plus an estimated 60 million dollars in foreign exchange the Castro government owes them.

Most of the crude now processed for Cuba comes from Venezuela.

Castro is buying the crude oil from the Soviet Union in exchange for Cuban sugar. He contends Cuba can buy the Soviet oil for almost $1 a barrel under the Venezuela price.

Most Military Funds Requests Get Green Light

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise defense bill of just under 40 billion dollars today offered the Eisenhower administration most of its major military requests, plus some 650 million it opposed.

A Senate-House conference committee, compromising differences between the two bodies, gave the bill its final form late Tuesday. The House will take up the revised measure Friday. Senate action also is required.

House spokesmen agreed to 293 million to build a new attack aircraft carrier for the Navy; 244 million to produce Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles; and 190 million to speed development of the Air Force's B70 jet aircraft weapons system. The House had voted these down.

In exchange Senate negotiators accepted a slash of more than 400 million in military procurement funds—a reduction the Senate had rejected. The House said this 3 per cent across-the-board cut was needed to improve military contracting and carve out waste.

Clerks worked late computing these reductions in scores of separate items for missiles, aircraft, tanks, ships, submarines and the vast new Pentagon shopping lists. They expected to have details ready for filing in the House sometime today.

President Eisenhower had asked a military outlay of about 1.3 billion for the fiscal year that begins July 1. The House kept near this total but cut out more than a billion of Pentagon requests and then added an equal sum for its own ideas.

The Senate restored many of the House cuts and approved its own additions to push the amount 1 1/2 billion above the House. The compromise cuts this back about one-half.

The 293 million for the carrier was rejected by the House as was the 244 million for the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile, which has had a spotty record in early tests.

The compromise provides full money for the carrier but eliminates 50 million of the Bomarc funds and another 75 million the Senate had added to equip two bases in the Pacific Northwest.

It also includes 162 1/2 million to speed up modernization of tanks, guns and other equipment for the Army, about 100 million less than the Senate had approved.

Lt. McArthur To Become New CO

First Lt. Alvin D. McArthur Jr. received the Battery "B" Guide Arm last night from Capt. Norman R. Harris as formal recognition of the transfer of the command of the local National Guard battery.

Effective July 1, Lt. McArthur, a Greenville native, will become the commanding officer of the 155 mm. Howitzer firing battery. Capt. Harris has been temporarily assigned to duty in Washington, N. C. He has moved his residence to Morehead City.

The new Battery "B" CO will move into the commander post from his position of executive officer for the unit, his assignment since 1958 when he was transferred here from a reserve artillery unit in Raleigh.

Lt. McArthur entered the U. S. Army Reserve in April, 1947. Since that time he has been affiliated with the Reserve and National Guard. He had a four-year active duty tour during the Korean War.

Capt. Harris has been the local battery's commander since July, 1955. He advanced to the rank of captain in January, 1958.

The new commander said today, "I am deeply honored and gratified by my assignment as commander of such an outstanding battery. I will strive to maintain and extend the distinguished record of Battery 'B'." He praised the cooperation of the battery's personnel. "We have a good cross-section of experience in the battery," he said, "ranging from many experienced combat veterans to young, willing guardsmen."

Lt. McArthur is married to the former Louise Briley of Greenville and they have one son, Scott, 16 months. He returned to Greenville in 1957 following graduation from N. C. State College in Raleigh.

The McArthurs now reside at Rt. 1, Greenville, near Arthur.

Lt. McArthur attended Arthur Elementary School before enrolling at Edwards Military Institute in Salemburg where he received his high school diploma. He was graduated from East Carolina College with a BA degree in business administration before receiving his BS in economics from N. C. State.

His military education includes graduation from two service schools as an enlisted man and completion of the OBC artillery course at Fort Sill, Okla.

Lt. McArthur succeeded as the battery's executive officer by 2nd Lt. Ralph H. Heidenreich. Sgt. Bruce Baker, another Greenville native, became the battery's full time administrative assistant June 1.

Sgt. Baker is a former member of the local battery, prior to his enlistment in the 11th Airborne Division where he spent four years. He has served as an assistant instructor for the ROTC program at The Citadel in Charleston, S. C.

Battery "B" has an authorized strength of 86 enlisted men and three officers. Lt. McArthur said this morning there are now five vacancies in the battery and urged interested persons to contact Sgt. Baker at the local NG Armory.

Nepal Protests Raid By Chinese

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—The Nepal government announced today that Chinese Communist forces killed about 15 Nepalese and arrested 12 Nepalese patrolmen and took them into Communist-occupied Tibet.

The government said the Chinese fired without provocation. A message received today said the incident occurred on the border last week at Mustang, in a valley of northwest Nepal which projects into Tibet.

Home Minister U. P. Upadhyaya told the lower house of Parliament the government had filed a strong protest with the Peiping government.

It was the first border clash with the Chinese to be announced by the Nepal government. Prime Minister B. P. Koirala has been playing down previous reports of border trouble in an effort to keep Nepal out of the dispute between China and India that developed last summer after the Chinese killed 12 Indian border patrolmen in two clashes.

One report several months ago said Chinese troops had penetrated the Mustang area and had tried to collect taxes from peasants.

Mustang was once a semi-independent feudal holding with only a loose tie to Nepal.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Temperatures will average 3 degrees above normal for next five days. Some scattered thundershowers likely Thursday and again over weekend may total one-half inch. Continued generally warm and humid weather.

Crippled Tanker, In Tow, Plunges To Bottom

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A struggle to beach the crippled tanker George MacDonald was lost today when the 501-foot vessel plunged stern-first into the Atlantic 50 miles east of Charleston, S. C.

Coast Guard Search and Rescue Headquarters at Miami said a cutter on the scene reported the MacDonald was "vertical" in the water. The ship snapped a tow-line shortly before 2 a.m. and a few minutes later only 30 feet of her bow was protruding from the sea. The Coast Guard said then it looked as if she was going down.

None of the Sinclair Oil carrier's crew was aboard when the plunge came. Another tanker, the J. C. Dyer, had been towing the MacDonald toward Charleston in hopes of bringing her within reach of shore pumps and repair crews.

Capt. Eldridge Burnthorn of Houston and two crewmen were aboard the MacDonald when it was taken in tow, but were transferred to the towing vessel prior to the line breaking.

None of the 43 aboard the stricken ship was injured. Details of the Monday night accident—described as the collapse of a seawater casing in a condenser—were still lacking. The crewmen were instructed by a Sinclair Refining Co. lawyer not to talk to newsmen about it.

The 28 crewmen brought here were rescued by the Esso Scorpion a short time after the MacDonald was crippled 125 miles southeast of Charleston while it was en route from Houston, Tex., to New York City with a load of fuel oil.

Transferred to a pair of 40-foot coast guard boats off the mouth of the St. Johns River late Monday afternoon, the MacDonald crewmen came ashore with words of praise for their captain and for the reception they got aboard the rescue vessel.

The rescue itself was simple and uneventful, they said. The Scorpion reached the MacDonald within 45 minutes after it called for aid and the men were in lifeboats only the time it took to go from one tanker to the other.

Another 12 men from the George MacDonald were taken off by the USS Destroyer Robinson and transferred to the Coast Guard buoy tender Pawpaw.

The Pawpaw was to have arrived at Charleston, S.C., at noon with the rescued seamen. However, at midmorning, the Pawpaw which was 14 miles from Charleston, was diverted back to the MacDonald.

The Coast Guard said the members of the MacDonald crew would be transferred from the Pawpaw to the Dyer which would proceed to port and the Pawpaw would stand by the MacDonald. The Coast Guard said it did not know where the Dyer would berth.

Cmdr. P. H. Browne, who is in charge of the questioning of the 28 crewmen brought here concerning the tanker's accident, said all sessions would be behind closed doors and that nothing would be released for publication until the questioning is completed and a hearing which will follow. He said the questioning may take several days.

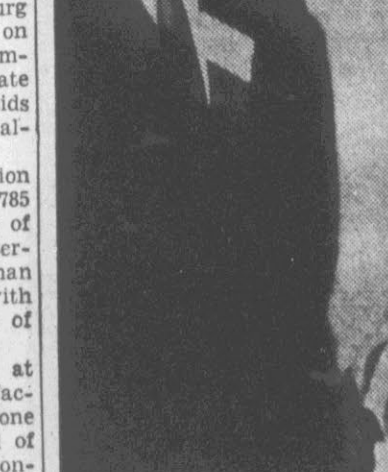

"It will be quite a while before results are known," he said. He added that another investigation would take place in Charleston. William B. Schell of New Orleans, first assistant engineer aboard the MacDonald and senior mariner among those brought to Jacksonville said when water started pouring into the ship, the captain carried everything out of a life sentence instead of sending him to the electric chair.

Submitted Low Bid For Pitt Road Project

J. H. Valentine of Sharpsburg submitted the low bid Tuesday on a Pitt County secondary road improvement project as the State Highway Commission opened bids on 23 roads across the state totaling $3,867,306.99.

The Sharpsburg construction firm submitted a bid of $24,785 grading and draining 3.2 miles of second road 1900 from the intersection of road 1110 at Hamrath northeast to the intersection with road 1902, about 2 miles south of Ayden.

A Greene County project at Snow Hill for base course, surfacing, and structures on nearly one mile of US-258 had a low bid of $102,219 submitted by Barrus Construction Co. of Kinston. The Greene project will run from a point approximately 500 feet northwest from the intersection of 258 with NC-58, northwest to a point in Snow Hill.

Castro Threatens Seize Everything

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro threatened in a towering rage today to seize American investments in Cuba "penny by penny until nothing is left" if the United States cuts its purchases of Cuban sugar.

Capital Punishment Issue To Enliven Church Session

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP)—A debate over capital punishment was expected to enliven the deliberations of the North Carolina Methodist Conference here today.

The Rev. T. J. Whitehead of Mebane, chairman of the conference board of social and economic relations, said he would offer a resolution calling for abolition of capital punishment as "morally unjustifiable and socially ineffective."

The Rev. Mr. Whitehead said his two-part resolution also deplores "recent action of congressional and other groups in their attacks on churches and churchmen for alleged communism."

The proposed resolution strongly defended the National Council of Churches, which has been criticized in some quarters.

The conference voted to hold its 1961 meeting at Trinity Methodist Church in Durham. It unanimously accepted an invitation extended by the pastor, the Rev. Mark W. Lawrence.

The conference also was told that Progressive Farmer had selected a Fayetteville minister, the Rev. E. C. Crawford, pastor of the Salem Methodist Church, as "the most outstanding rural pastor in North Carolina in 1960."

The conference delegates also expected renewed debate over an action take Tuesday night when the report of a special study committee on investment of conference funds was adopted. The report directed the conference treasurer and the Methodist Foundation board of trustees and funds of about 20 other conference agencies in separate accounts and not to "co-mingle" the funds for investment.

A group which planned to seek reconsideration of the action said, "it is not a bad thing to mix or co-mingle the board of trustees' funds, or any funds which we have for investment. It is a good and necessary thing that we maintain these funds in a common manner because of maximum safety and economy of operations."

Church efforts in the field of higher education also were due for review during the day.

Dr. John O. Gross, general secretary of the division of higher education of the Methodist Board of Education in Nashville, Tenn., is scheduled to speak to the 900 or more ministers and lay delegates meeting in First Methodist Church here.

The Rev. Paul Carruth of Raleigh, director of the conference's commission on christian higher education, will report on progress at two new senior colleges—North Carolina Wesleyan at Rocky Mount, and Methodist College at Fayetteville. Both are preparing to open their doors this fall.

Miss Dean Weds William Carson Latham

Mrs. William Carson Latham

BETHEL — The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Ann Dean of Charlotte and William Carson Latham of Greenville, the Junior bridesmaid was Charlotte Llewellyn Latham, sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore identical gowns of Nile green silk organza over taffeta designed with shirred fitted bodices, decollete collars centered in front with miniature roses, and with full hoop skirts.

Miss Pierce Guest Of Honor

Miss Martha Jane Pierce, bride of July 9, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower and bridge party Friday night. Hostesses were Miss Mary Ann Bryant, Mrs. H. H. Bryant and Mrs. Carrie G. Oakley.

Guests were greeted by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Royce Pierce; her sister, Mrs. Robert Jackson of Norfolk, Va.; and the hostesses.

A white carnation corsage was presented Miss Pierce by the hostesses upon her arrival.

Bridge progressions were played in rooms decorated with gardenias, hydrangeas, and crepe myrtle.

Prior to serving the dessert, miniature arrangements of daisies, larkspur and baby's breath were placed in glass containers in the center of each card table.

Angel food cake and ice cream with strawberries were served. Pink and white was the color note carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

Prize winners in bridge were Miss Gwen Johnson, high, Miss Anne Moore, second high, and Miss Carol Ann Tadlock, low.

Little Miss Katie Bryant, dressed in a raincoat and hat, brought the shower gifts into the room uniquely arranged in an umbrella.

Campaign Expenses Need A Ceiling

Many public figures in North Carolina, including the gubernatorial candidates in the recent contest, have voiced concern over the high cost of major political campaigns and the fact that the price seems to go up from one campaign to the next.

No one will ever know exactly what the political campaigns in the Democratic primary in North Carolina this year cost. Figures reported by the various candidates to the Secretary of State give an indication, but the candidates and their supporters are well aware that these figures only reflect a portion of the total amount spent. Normally in a campaign the reported figures indicate only what goes through the candidate's headquarters, not what is spent in areas throughout the state.

It would probably be conservative to guess that two million dollars or more went into political campaigns in North Carolina this spring, the major portion of which went into the gubernatorial campaigns. If accurate statistics could be compiled, the total figure might be considerably higher.

In any case, the cost of political campaigns continues to soar and financial backing for a candidate has become as important as his platform or his qualifications for office.

Without adequate financial support, he can hardly expect to achieve his goal regardless of his ability or his platform.

As the cost of major state-wide campaigns has increased sharply, the same has been true of district and county races throughout the state.

Impractical as it may appear at first glance, it would be in the interest of North Carolina if some ceiling could be put on campaign expenses for various offices, and some workable method adopted to see that the campaign expenses are kept within specified limits.

Otherwise, if the present trend of more costly campaigns continues, more and more capable potential candidates for office will be eliminated because of the financial requirement for a campaign. Either that, or any person who desires to seek public office will have to trade where he can for financial support before he ever announces his candidacy. Neither of these two prospects offers a wholesome picture for the future of government at any level in North Carolina.

Whether any such program of controlling campaign expenditures could ever be worked out is indeed problematical, but at least it deserves thoughtful consideration.

Gratifying In Its Decisiveness

By LYNN NISBET

GRATIFYING. One of the most gratifying things about Saturday's run-off primary was its decisiveness. The fact that some 630,000 North Carolina Democrats participated proved a healthier interest than many had predicted. The decisive margin of more than 75,000 for Terry Sanford leaves no doubt that he is the popular choice.

Despite unkind things said about the candidates by each other, and even worse things said about them by outsiders, the campaign itself and the reaction of the principals was in the best tradition of north Carolina democracy. In conceding defeat Beverly Lake pledged loyalty to the winner, but said the principles for which he had fought would survive. The first statement by victorious Terry Sanford was an appeal for all factions to close ranks and work for continuing State progress.

Sure, there are some bruises that will take time to heal. There is no reason to expect permanent scars. There will be new faces among the political leaders and new names on the State payroll. Probably not any more than usual with changing administrations. The historic record is that every such change has contributed to progress in some phases of State government without loss of efficiency in others.

PROGRAM. — The program advocated by the new Governor throughout the campaign was "positive" in general terms, not very specific as to detail. That leaves the way open for working out plans with members of the General Assembly and the heads of agencies and departments without the handicap of pre-conceived minutiae. Since preponderant majority of these officers supported the winning candidate, their cooperation seems assured. This, plus anticipated rise in State revenue, should make for smooth run-ins in government circles.

HARMONIOUS. — Tangible evidence of harmony in the party organization, as contrasted with discord in prior years following heated primaries, was afforded at the conference of national convention delegates Monday. Fleet Williams, who as editorial writer for the News and Observer, has been a vigorous critic of the present administration, got the floor to nominate Governor Hodges as chairman of the delegation. The choice was made by acclamation—as was that of Governor-nominate Terry Sanford for vice-chairman and Henry Hall Wilson for secretary.

In rapid order nomination of Paul Thompson of Fayetteville and Mrs. Martha McKay of Chapel Hill as members of the Democratic national committee were approved, according to expressed wishes of the new Governor. So were designations of Sen. Sam Ervin and Mrs. Eunice Ayers on the platform committee, and several other convention officers. Sanford was given an ovation when he was recognized, and his very appropriate speech in behalf of a united Democratic front was applauded. So was Senator Ervin's resolution of appreciation for services rendered the party by its officers during the few years — John Larkins, Mrs. B.B. Everett, Woodrow Jones, Mrs. John T. Richardson and Steve Nimocks, none of whom was an original first primary supporter of Sanford. Everybody loved everybody.

A more serious test of full party harmony will come at the meeting of the Democratic state committee after the national convention has adopted a platform and nominated candidates for president and vice president. The prime purpose of that meeting will be selection of a state chairman. Bert Bennett, Sanford's primary manager, is slated for the post without contest. There are intentions of difficulty if the platform and candidates chosen at Los Angeles are unpalatable to a large segment of North Carolina Democrats.

SURPRISES.—The net result of Saturday's voting occasioned very little surprise. Sanford folks were confident, and except for a small group of enthusiasts, Lake supporters were only hopeful. The number of votes cast and the size of Sanford's majority did surprise a great many observers. Pre-election estimates of more than 550,000 were rare and many were below half a million. The official total count will be around 630,000—a drop of less than four percent from the record high on May 28.

Optimistic Sanford folks among the rank and file looked for a margin of 40,000 to 50,000. The fellow who last week suggested more than 75,000 was an object of sympathy for soft-headedness. The final tally will show approximately 77,000—only 10,000 less than Sanford's lead over Lake in the first run.

Reports during the final week that Lake was gaining in the Piedmont encouraged his followers. Unofficial returns show that he did gain substantially, and in several counties Sanford's percentage vote was less than the first time. The western gains did not offset Lake losses in the east, where he had been strongest. On statewide basis, Sanford increased his first vote by 84,000, Lake by 94,000.

CAROLINA. — An interesting sidelight is that the Carolina Hotel at Raleigh retains the prestige of never having lost a major election campaign. Sanford's headquarters were there, as were those of the late Kerr Scott in both campaigns for Governor and United States Senator. The colored bellboys at the Carolina are very proud of the fact that "our man always wins."

None Of The Planning Includes Heartbreak

Almost all families of Pitt County by now have made their plans for the long July 4th holiday this week-end.

While some will enjoy the leisure time in their own homes and yards, many have made arrangements for visits with friends, trips to resort areas and outings of various sorts. All of these plans are centered around relaxation, recreation and pleasant times. None of the plans include heart-break, tragedy, or accidents.

The National Safety Council, however, has predicted that as many as 13,000 people may lose their lives or suffer disabling injuries during the forthcoming holiday week-end. Hundreds of others—maybe thousands—may be killed or injured in accidents other than those which occur on the highways.

It is a disheartening prospect to be faced on a holiday that is planned for the family's pleasure. And yet, to say it is the other fellow who will be included in those statistics is to view the situation unrealistically. Accidents are no respecter of persons. They can happen anywhere to anyone.

We shouldn't overlook the fact, however, that accidents can be prevented if enough people are determined to prevent them. With some 73 million motor vehicles expected to be on the highways this week-end, every motorist who wants to come through the week-end safely should use every caution in following the common-sense rules of safe driving. With resort areas crowded, every parent, every child should make extra efforts to see that accidents do not happen.

That split second of carelessness could mean the difference between a delightful holiday week-end and tragedy.

Still 'High' On Goodwill Visits

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, still cool toward summit conferences, is high on goodwill visits by heads of state and looks on his foreign journeys as a success.

In his report to the nation Monday night he was enthusiastic about the value of his recent Far Eastern trip which was marred by the Tokyo riots that forced cancellation of his visit to Japan.

He glossed over the fact that non-Communists supported the Tokyo demonstrations against the American-Japanese defense treaty and he directly blamed the Communists for inspiring the riots.

As recently as last summer—which was before he agreed to meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the summit in Paris on May 16 of this year—Eisenhower took a dim view of summit conferences.

At that time he made it known he did not like the modern development of diplomacy—summit meetings—and considered them a step backward for the heads of state to spend their time on work that belonged to foreign ministers, the specialists.

Monday night he drew a big distinction between summit meetings by heads of state and goodwill trips by heads of state to foreign countries.

"I believe that heads of state and government can, occasionally, and preferably on an informal basis, profitably meet for conversations on broad problems and principles. They can, of course, also convene to give solemn approval to agreements previously prepared by normal diplomatic methods," Eisenhower said.

"But heads of government meetings are not effective mechanisms for developing detailed provisions of international compacts, and have never been so considered by this government. On the other hand, the goodwill aspects of a visit by a head of government can frequently bring about favorable results far transcending those of normal diplomatic conferences."

Still fresh in his mind as he talked was the fact that Khrushchev not only wrecked the May summit meeting but also called off Eisenhower's trip to Russia. It was possible to read into what the President said the belief that the success of his foreign trips before the summit meeting so disturbed the Communists that this was their real reason for calling off his visit to Russia.

overwhelming majority, anxious to welcome me as a representative of a nation with which they wished to cooperate and to have friendly relations."

But on June 13—three days before the Japanese government cancelled Eisenhower's trip and while the riots were increasing in intensity—The Associated Press reported from Tokyo:

"It is not correct to give the easy, pat explanation that the Communists created the present crisis, Japan's gravest since the end of World War II. But they have certainly played a major role. The political chaos is tailored precisely to their desires."

This story, pointing out the feeling among many Japanese against the defense treaty which was supposed to go into effect June 19, the day of Eisenhower's scheduled arrival, said:

"The Communist effort could not have been effective, of course, if it hadn't had widespread Japanese antiwar, anti-American sentiment to exploit." The President said final approval of the treaty by the Japanese government was a "signal defeat" for international communism.

But there is still one question pending: Will the anti-treaty feeling become so widespread that the treaty, for all practical purposes, will be rendered meaningless?

Opinions In Brief

"Our officials have lost a lot of the public's confidence as a result of the padded expense accounts. They should show the pay in correcting the situation." —Elizabeth City Daily Advance.

"From now on the place to go is not the summit but the United Nations—the only organization which has made any substantial gains toward world peace. The United Nations does have its critics. It is sometimes derided as only a debating society, but it is better to hurl words in debate than to hurl steel and explosives in war." —Fitchburg (Mass.) La Liberte.

"Thus far, the Kremlin has not achieved notable success in splitting Europe off from the United States. Our allies, fearful they may be about Russian rocket-rattling, remain steadfast." —Catskill (N.Y.) Daily Mail.

Notes On This And That

Not long ago we told a story... from Tales from the Attic... about a little black cocker named Bonnie.

Bonnie, like all little black cockers, has a lot of hair which is too hot and shaggy for summertime around Pitt County. So Bonnie's owners took her to the vet and had her "sheared" for the summer, which made them very happy.

And, you'd think that Bonnie would be happy, too. But Bonnie is a victim of that embarrassment which plagues all sheared cockers.

She hides behind the house and she doesn't like for the other dogs to see her. Not with her hair all gone. This is a prime characteristic which you will note in all cocker spaniels under the same circumstances.

In the words of today's younger generation and the beatniks, Bonnie is a cool cat, not a hot dog; but she is an embarrassed lass and can run fast when her hair is cut (off).

There was another little incident which occurred this week which goes down in the record book.

We were walking along the street, heading toward the courthouse. In our hand was a small note pad, commonly used by stenographers in most places, but also by reporters in some places.

A man, scurrying past us, said "I see you are about to take shorthand."

WELL! If there is anything we are not, it is a stenographer, though we can take a form of shorthand which looks like hieroglyphics.

But it brought to mind another incident which occurred — with the same type note pad — one Christmas when we were "covering" a parade.

There we were, at our station, busily observing and taking a few notes here and there.

A man near us leaned over to his wife and said in a sinister whisper, "That's a reporter."

That signified our "arrival" in the reporting world, we suppose.

But enough of incidents. Everything seems to be an "incident" of some kind. So it's hard to get away from them.

It is finally peaceful to have elections over and the days, hours and new pages restored to "only" bickering over national events.

Of course, charity and other things "should" have their beginnings at home and therefore, politics are of vital interest when on the local level.

Now everybody can enter in to the national races and their odds of who will get what.

We will place odds on the fact that one physician attending that conference somewhere in the U.S.—the one who discussed the medical defects of some prime presidential candidate—possibilities—is one of the most unpopular people in our country on this particular day.

Especially since, after the good doctor named the medical hindrances of each candidate, each candidate and his physician said all was well medically.

An old Spanish proverb reads "Asi es la vida," or "Such is Life."

"While teachers and parents have tried to instill safety rules in young minds, we all have a duty to take extra precaution at this season of the year to insure the return of the next generation to the classroom. Don't spoil their summer and yours with traffic mayhem. And don't depend on the signs — watch out for the kids. School's out." —New Orleans Times-Picayune.

How Do They Think?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

In searching for the views of various candidates, I prefer to go back to what they said before they were canvassing voters and when they were perhaps writing their own material. The general use of the speech-writer has had the effect of robbing us of a look at the minds of men who are to be our rulers and representatives. Nobody could ever doubt what Herbert Hoover has had to say; he always writes his own.

President Eisenhower has suffered from a variety of speech-writers, some of whom seemed to lack maturity. Whenever he spoke off the cuff, it was possible to recognize his superiority to his speech-writers. Nelson Rockefeller has too many styles of presentation disclosing more than one author for his state papers. Occasionally he will father a happy phrase; most of the time, his speeches read as though they came out of the Life-Time-Fortune factory.

I recently came across a letter that Lyndon Johnson wrote to John Foster Dulles on February 11, 1957. It dealt with the effort being made to force Israel to withdraw its forces from the Gaza Strip and the mouth of the Aqaba Gulf. Johnson wrote:

"To put it simply, the United Nations cannot apply one rule for the strong and another for the weak; it cannot organize its economic weight against the little State when it has not previously made even a pretense of doing so against the large states. I have, Mr. Secretary, seen no suggestions in the United Nations of the application of economic sanctions against the USSR. Israel has in very large part complied with the directives of the United Nations. Russia has not even pretended to be polite."

In 1957, this was an important statement to make. Obviously, the United Nations has never been able to take a stand against a large nation and that will be its ultimate failure. In this paragraph, however, we recognize the mind of the man. I do not know whether this letter was made public at the time. If it was, little notice was given to it. The assertion of the principle of a foreign policy based on equity ought to be fundamental in such a body as the United Nations. If the two great powers, the United States and Soviet Russia, are to be beyond the authority of the United Nations, what moral basis can that body have for its existence?

The letter ends on this: "...the merits, the justice and the morality in this situation are clear against such imposition of economic sanction. It is my hope that you will instruct the American Delegation to the United Nations to oppose with all its skill such a proposal if it is formally made."

If we base our foreign policy not upon convenience but upon moral criteria, we may be able to work out a policy which will be understandable. Whether one favored or opposed their positions, it was always possible to know exactly where Dean Acheson and John Foster Dulles stood. Dean Acheson based his policy upon the necessity of liquidating World War II, while containing Soviet Russia within the margins of its expense.

He declined to assume that we could do more than that during the period of his secretaryship. John Foster Dulles sought to build a tight alliance of countries on all the boundaries of the Soviet Empire and to bring other nations in the rear of them for support in depth. Acheson and Dulles built their strength on faulty personnel, which cannot be helped in a country like ours, and lack of enthusiasm among our allies.

"This country cannot afford an interregnum in the handling of its foreign policy at this time. It is necessary to recognize that President Eisenhower and his Cabinet will be out of office in January; it is more than

Other Editors Saying Farewell To The M-1

(Green Bay Press-Gazette)

Many news stories, though current in nature, have a way of bringing the dim past into distinct focus. Such a story was one which emanated from Washington a few weeks ago and stated rather tersely that the Army has begun issuing its new rifle, the M-14, to the troops.

This, ordinarily, would not rate mention in these columns except for one thing. The arrival of the M-14 means the ultimate departure of the M-1 rifle—one of the best and most famous military weapons ever devised by man.

And, certainly, the passing of the M-1 rifle will be looked upon with nostalgia by those GIs of World War II whose fate it was to slog into battle with only God and an M-1 standing between them and eternity.

The doughfoot of 1941-45 vintage must feel not a little sadness at the passing of the M-1. As his hands turn back nearly 20 years he'll recall the nomenclature of his weapon:

"The M-1 rifle is a gas-operated, clip-fed, air-cooled, semi-automatic shoulder weapon. It has three main groups: The trigger housing group, the barrel and receiver group, the stock group. Its weight is 9.5 pounds; its length without bayonet is 43.6 inches, its clip capacity is 8 rounds; its average rate of aimed fire per minute is 30 rounds."

The M-1 to the combat infantryman was like gold to a miser. He slept with it, ate with it, traveled with it, cleaned it, cradled it—often it was his only passport to life.

For all its effectiveness, the M-1 was a simple thing. Men learned to take it apart and put it together blindfolded. It was not a complex weapon. And its lack of complexities helped it establish a rate of malfunction so microscopic as to be overlooked altogether. It could be rendered almost soggy by sea spray in a bucking landing craft and yet fire with deadly and unrelenting rapidity. It could take a dunking in silny jungle and not misfire.

Up to this point, at least, the M-1 must be regarded as the most famous basic infantry weapon of all time—if for no other reason than it was used with uncommon success by more men under more trying conditions than any other weapon of its kind.

We couldn't let the M-1 go without giving it the historic and traditional military accolade: "Well done."

Duplication Spurs Cost Spiral

By ELMER ROESSNER Duplicate facilities cause one of the greatest economic losses in America today.

Duplicate facilities in gas stations add to the cost of gasoline. It was pointed out here yesterday. But duplicate facilities among the oil companies themselves surely add to the whole cost of gasoline.

Driving along any hundred miles of highway, a motorist may see from six to a dozen tank trucks heading in the opposite direction. If he pulls out of the road, he can see as many tank trucks headed in the direction in which he was going.

These trucks, which most cost a pretty dime to run for a very short distance, must skip five out of six, or eleven out of twelve, stations because those stations don't sell their brand.

This waste in mileage and gasoline is compounded by tremendous cross haulings. Distributors in Hitherville truck gas to stations in Yonstown, while distributors in Yonstown are trucking the stuff to Hitherville. THE DRIVER PAYS. This cost of duplicate trucking, with labor at Teamster Union rates, must be tucked into the wholesale gas price and eventually — with the retailers' mark-up — passed on to the autoist.

The same duplication exists in another area of the petroleum business: in fuel oils. On one winter day, your correspondent counted 23 fuel oil trucks, each carrying a different brand and each piloted by a well-paid member of the Teamsters Union, pass by in a quiet residential street.

It was apparent that the drivers were spending more of their time going from customer to customer, and very little time to filling the tanks. The trucks themselves represented an investment of around a third of a million dollars. The amortization of this investment, as well as other costs of delivery and deliverymen, had to be packed into the bill of each user of fuel oil.

Similar duplications persist elsewhere. Any bright urchin can lead you to a corner with two drugstores, with each carrying the identical lines, each charging the identical prices, and each operated with what may someday be identified as American Drug Store Unconsciousness.

It's reassuring to have a drugstore on a nearby corner. It may mean your life. But having two only assures that prices have to be maintained, the neither will carry stocks in depth, that employees will get minimal wages and that the proprietors will always be toting over the pit of bankruptcy.

The answer is not, of course, in creating mergers and monopolies; it is not in giving certain stretches of highway to a single gas company, as some of the toll roads do; it is not in giving territorial franchises to drugstores, as some states do with liquor stores.

May the day never come when a bare American who has the bare essentials may not go out and start his own service station business, whether it be along a six-lane highway or on a two-lane desert road. And may the day never come when an ambitious person with a reasonable amount of credit be denied the right to start a drugstore in any legal zone, even next door to a drugstore already operating.

But may the day come tomorrow when small enterprisers look over desired locations and decide for themselves whether there is full room for their business, and whether its establishment will cause two entrepreneurs to starve where one lived well before.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Abernathy-Thisted In Church

GREAT FALLS, Mont. — Miss Sydne Andre Thisted, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Thisted, became the bride of Charles C. Abernathy, Jr., Sunday, June 26 at 4:00 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Abernathy of Greenville, N. C. Rev. George Hulac performed the candlelight ceremony, assisted by T. M. Martin, Jr., cousin of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal wedding gown of white silk organza and Alencon lace. The lace bodice was fashioned by a scalloped oval neckline trimmed with seed-pearls, and long calla-point sleeves. Lace appliques, accented by sequins and seed-pearls, highlighted the silk organza skirt.

Her veil of Brussels lace fell from a cap of Alencon lace embroidered with seed-pearls and sequins. She carried a white bouquet of Steffonotis and a giant Fuji mum, complimented with variegated ivy.

Mrs. Charles E. Whitehead, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Preston of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. Donald R. Peterson of Great Falls. They wore ballerina-length dresses of white silk organza over lavender taffeta and carried fan-shaped bouquets of white Fuji mums and lavender gladiola blossoms. Liza and Laura Arn Whitehead attended as flower-girls.

Charles C. Abernathy served as his son's best man. Lt. Fred H. Ernst and Charles E. Whitehead were groomsmen, and Lt. Jefferson Amacker and Lt. Gordon Melhus assisted as ushers.

Mrs. Thisted wore a champagne-colored sheath dress and had a corsage of white gardenias. The groom's mother wore a mauve peau de sois dress and a corsage of small white orchids.

Mrs. George Hulac accompanied Miss Mary Moore, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bridegroom's parents entertained at a rehearsal dinner Saturday night at the Meadowlark Country Club. Friends of the wedding party assisted at the reception which was held at the Elbon Room in the Rainbow Hotel, following the ceremony.

A buffet dinner was given later in the evening for friends and relatives of the newlyweds, at the home of the bride's parents.

For their wedding trip to the East Coast, the bride chose a lawn, mustard and white checked, dress fashioned with a large collar and full pleated skirt, complimented by white accessories.

Mrs. Abernathy, Jr. was graduated from Montana State University, Missoula, where she was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and has for the past year taught first grade in Great Falls, Abernathy, a graduate of Duke University, Durham, N. # Miss Little, Mr. Stancill Marry

Mrs. O. J. Stancill, Jr.

The wedding of Miss Alice Rose Little and O. J. Stancill Jr. of Greenville was solemnized Sunday afternoon in a double ring ceremony at four o'clock in the Piney Grove Free Will Baptist Church. The pastor of the bride, Rev. Jerry Rowe, officiated.

The traditional green and white colors were used in the decorations. Palms and fern formed the background for baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Candles in seven-branched candelabra illuminated the scene. The pews were marked with mums and white bows. An arrangement of white mums with fern adorned the piano.

Prior to the four o'clock hour a program of piano selections was rendered by Mrs. Randolph Fleming of Greenville. Included in the nuptial music were "Prelude Moderato," "Devotional Romance," "Melody in F," "The Voice That Breathed 'O'er Eden," and "My Blessed One." "I Do" was played during the ceremony. The "Traditional Bridal Chorus and Wedding March" were used.

Bill Nell of South Norfolk, Va., vocalist, sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Through The Years," and "The Lord's Prayer" as the benediction.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her sister's wedding dress, a floor length gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace over bridal satin, fashioned with an all lace bodice and a portrait neckline outlined with scallops.

The long sleeves ended in points over the hands. The bouffant skirt of tulle over satin had wide panels of Chantilly lace. Her two tiered fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Hilda Little, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of blue lace over taffeta with short sleeves, scooped neckline and cummerbund with a large bow at the waistline in the back. She wore a matching picture hat and lace mitts. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink asters with matching ribbon.

The bridesmaids, Miss Gail Stancill and Miss Bert Stancill, sisters of the groom, wore dresses designed like the honor attendants and their bouquets were also of asters.

The honor attendant and bridesmaids wore a string of seed pearls, gifts of the bride.

Little Miss Susan Smith of Greenville was flower girl. She wore a white dacron and cotton Batiste dress with insertions of lace and little blue flowers. She carried a pink basket of rose petals. She also wore a gold cross locket, gift of the bride.

Master Colby Benton, nephew of the bride, from Fremont, was ringbearer. He wore a white suit and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Elvy Forrest attended his nephew as best man. Ushers were Clifton Forrest of Portsmouth, Va., uncle of the groom; Leon Skinner of Watha, cousin of the groom; Herbert Corey of Greenville; and Claxton Stancill of Greenville, cousin of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Little was attired in a rose-pink lace dress with white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Stancill, the groom's mother, wore a beige lace dress with beige accessories. She also wore a corsage of pink roses.

For a trip to unannounced points the bride changed to a printed dacron dress with white accessories and the orchid lifted from her bouquet.

Upon their return they will make their home at 2905 Bainbridge Boulevard in South Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. Stancill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Little of Greenville, is a graduate of East Carolina College. The past year she taught in the Norfolk County Schools and will teach there again this school year.

Mr. Stancill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Offie Johnston Stancill Sr. of Greenville, attended East Carolina College. He served in the U. S. Navy and is now employed as an adjuster with the C. I. T. Finance Company in Norfolk.

Cake Cutting

Honoring the bridal party and out-of-town guests at the Stancill-Little wedding, Miss Hilda Little and Mrs. J. B. Benton entertained at a cake-cutting at the Piney Grove Educational Building, following the wedding rehearsal. The table was covered with a green linen table cloth centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and fern. On each side of the arrangement were two-branched crystal candelabra with white candles and white ribbon interspersed with fern.

The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Offie Stancill Sr., mother of the groom, served the cake and Mrs. Clarence J. Little, mother of the bride, poured the lime ice.

The color motif in the decorations was green and white with baskets of gladioli and fern.

Shower

On Friday evening, June 24, Miss Little was honor guest at a miscellaneous shower, which was held at the Mount Pleasant Community Building.

Upon her arrival Miss Little was presented a white carnation corsage to complement her yellow embroidered dress.

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. J. O. Teel, the honoree, and her mother, Mrs. Clarence J. Little. The bride's table was decorated with white satin ribbon and pink roses. A miniature doll dressed in pink organza was used as a centerpiece.

A color scheme of green and white was carried out in the refreshment table, which was laid with a white, hand-crocheted cloth over green. In the center was an arrangement of white gladiolas and fern, which was placed over a reflector surrounded by fern, white roses and gardenias. Green candles were used.

Mrs. Clarence Little served lime ice, and Mrs. O. J. Stancill, mother of the groom-to-be, served cake which was decorated with green and pink roses. The guests helped themselves to green and white mints and nuts.

Miss Little was presented gifts of silver in her chosen pattern by the hostesses, Mrs. Clifton Bullock, Mrs. Randolph Fleming, Mrs. W. S. Pollard, Mrs. Lonnie Stator, and Mrs. J. O. Teel.

 The president, Mrs. Walter Roberson called the meeting to order followed by a brief business session. It was decided to adhere to the usual custom and disband for the summer. September 15 was set for the next meeting which will be with Mrs. George Ross.

 likely that whether a Republican or Democrat is elected, we shall have another Secretary of State in January. Who is to be the next Secretary of State? Whom do Nixon, Kennedy or Johnson plan to appoint? It is not customary in this country to make such an announcement in advance. In fact, it is regarded as a political liability to do so. In other countries, it is usually known when a new government is being formed, who the Cabinet officers will be and what they will do.

Senators On Longest Win Spell, Trip White Sox

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Washington Senators, winning when they should be dead, suddenly are sixth-place spoilers in the American League pennant race with their longest success streak of the season.

Their two aces, Camillo Pascual and Pedro Ramos, are nursing injuries, putting the pressure on second liners and relievers, and slugger Harmon Killebrew still is hobbled. But they've won five straight.

After knocking Baltimore out of first place with a 5-2, 10-inning decision Monday night, the Senators stayed at it with a 2-1, 14-inning victory over Chicago's fourth-place White Sox Tuesday night. Ray Moore and Chuck Stobbs, who won it, gave Washington's relief corps a string of 7 2-3 shut-out innings in the streak.

The New York Yankees padded their lead to a half-game with a 5-2 victory over the Kansas City A's while Cleveland handed Baltimore a second straight loss, 3-2 in 11 innings on Johnny Temple's home run. Detroit belted Boston 10-1.

In the National League, first-place Pittsburgh and San Francisco battled to a 7-7 tie in a rain-interrupted game that was ended after nine innings by curfew.

Second-place Milwaukee trimmed the Pirates' lead to 2½ games by beating the Chicago Cubs 5-3. Cincinnati regained fourth place from St. Louis, walloping the Cardinals 10-4. Philadelphia beat

Los Angeles 2-0 as Dallas Green won his first in the majors with a three-hitter.

The Senators, who have won 11 of 26 one-run decisions in their 64 games, got this one without a hit in the 14th inning. They beat reliever Turk Lown (1-1) on Julio Becquer's sacrifice fly after three walks loaded the bases.

A three-run eighth, cracking a 2-2 tie, gave the Yankees their 16th victory in the last 20 decisions as Bob Turley (5-1) won his fifth straight. Bob Cerv, batting for Turley, broke the tie with a checked-swing double off southpaw Bud Daley (10-4), who now has lost two straight after nine consecutive victories. Mickey Mantle hit his 17th home run for the Yanks and Norm Siebern his ninth for the A's.

Temple's second home run of the season hung the loss on reliever Gordon Jones (1-1) as the Orioles dropped their fourth straight at home. Johnny Klippstein, (2-3) won the relief, checking the Birds without a hit for three innings after Al Plarick's two-run homer off starter Gary Bell tied it with none out in the ninth.

The Tigers, after losing three straight, swung for 15 hits at Boston against loser Ike Delock (1-3) and five relievers. Norm Cash homered in a four-run second that put it away.

NBA Middleweight Title At Stake In TV Bout Tonite

By BOB MYERS
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The world middleweight title — NBA version — is the stake tonight when Champion Gene Fullmer of Utah tangles with challenger Carmen Basilio of New York.

The fight, a rematch of their brawl in San Francisco last August 28, is scheduled for 15 rounds in Derks Field.

It will be televised nationally by ABC, starting at 9 p.m. EST, with Utah and portions of Wyoming screened out.

The NBA title is recognized almost everywhere but in New York and Massachusetts. Paul Pender is the two-state champion there.

Fullmer, at 28, a veteran of ring warfare since 1951, is favored to win at odds of 75 or 85 in the light betting kiosk here.

He handed the gallant old Basilio, now 33, his first knockout. Carmen never was knocked out but the match was stopped in the 14th round and under California rules the result went as a kayo.

Neither principal is regarded as the cream-puff, scholarly type of boxer. Neither is far removed from the old back alley school, although Fullmer crossed up Carmen with orthodox lefts and rights and a dash of footwork in the original clash.

A referee and two judges will score the match on the 10 point per round system.

There is concern from even Basilio's deepest admirers that he may have reached the end of the line.

Fullmer has several things working for him. He is younger, bigger, and fighting in his own backyard.

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Thanks to a tip from Don Bragg, national indoor record holder, Jim Johnston pole vaulted 15 feet for the first time in his life in a workout Tuesday for the U.S. Olympic trials at Stanford Stadium Friday and Saturday.

Johnston, former Purdue competitor now in the Army along with Bragg, former Villanova star, said Bragg suggested moving the standards about eight inches closer to the runway for his leaps.

Second Race For Charlotte Track

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The National 400-miler, with a purse of at least $50,000, will be held Sunday, Oct. 16, as the second major stock car race at the new Charlotte Motor Speedway.

Bruton Smith, general manager of the track, made the announcement Tuesday night.

The track opened June 19 with the World 600-miler, worth $107,000. A crowd estimated by Smith at 78,000 saw Joe Lee Johnson of Chattanooga win the race.

Receipts still are being checked, but track officials say they indicate Smith's estimate will not be far off the actual figure.

The drivers will cover 267 laps over the mile and one-half asphalt track in the October test.

No other races are planned for the track this year. The second World 600 probably will be scheduled for next May. It had been planned for May this year, but was delayed three weeks when the track was not ready.

The National will be run only two weeks before the end of the NASCAR season and could determine the Grand National Circuit point championship.

Unrestricted Draft Bill Defeated By Senate Vote

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Has the death knell sounded for the Continental League?

Or is on all-out baseball war in the making?

President Branch Rickey and Bill Shea, founding father of the Continental League, were mapping their plans today in the face of the most discouraging blow to hit the new league yet.

The Senate Tuesday night killed a bill to open major league rosters to an unrestricted draft. This was the key to the success of the Continental League, which had hoped to start operations next year.

"It was a bad blow," admitted

Shea. "But we still haven't given up. We've got to consider our plans a little longer before we decide what course to follow."

The bill would have made players subject to unrestricted draft once a year except for 40 on each club's roster. It would apply to players with four years' service in the minors.

Rickey and Shea were confident the bill would be passed. It was debated more than a month and considerable acrimony developed between the Continental bigwigs and major league brass during the long hours of testimony.

Six weeks ago, Shea admitted that the Continental League had only two choices if the bill failed to go through—declare war or quit.

At that time he said: "The bill is the only hope the Continental League has of getting players and going into business. The majors have been fighting us with the strongest weapon they have—delay. Time is the thing that is hitting us in every direction."

Even if the Continental League—which still doesn't have a player under contract—managed to jam the bill through in Washington, another big stumbling block appeared no closer to settlement than when negotiations first started.

That was the issue of indemnity for the cities that were taken over. In the International League,

Reds Jump Past St. Louis; Bucs, SF Finish In Tie

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Either the Pittsburgh Pirates are running into trouble, or they're running in luck, which isn't as contradictory as it sounds.

Manager Danny Murtaugh has gone with three of his top four starting pitchers in the last three games and hasn't won any of them. But the Bucs have lost only one game off their lead.

After Vern Law and Bob Friend were beaten in a doubleheader loss to Chicago's Cubs Sunday, southpaw Harvey Haddix was chased in a four-run first inning Tuesday night. But the Pirates three times battled from behind and came off with a 7-7 tie against San Francisco in a rain-interrupted game ended by curfew after nine innings.

Second-place Milwaukee moved within 2½ games of the leaders with a comeback, 5-3 victory over the Cubs. Cincinnati jumped past St. Louis into fourth place by clobbering the Cards 10-4. Seventh-place Philadelphia made it eight out of 10 with a 2-0 job on Los Angeles as Dallas Green allowed the Dodgers only three hits for his first victory and complete game in the majors.

In the American League, the New York Yankees gained a half-game lead, beating Kansas City 5-2 while Cleveland defeated second-place Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings. Washington beat the Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 11 innings. Detroit belted Boston 10-1.

The third-place Giants never traded, but had to scrap for the tie in the ninth to stay within six games of Pittsburgh. The Pirates tied it on two walks and Roberto Clemente's RBI single against Stu Miller and Jack Sanford before Sanford retired three in a row with the bases loaded, fanning pinch-hitter Hal Smith for the final out.

The Giants, getting triples by Felipe Alou and Andre Rodgers in the first inning, blew 5-3 and 6-5 leads. Rocky Nelson drove in four runs for Pittsburgh, tagging starter Sam Jones for a three-run homer in the first. The game will be replayed.

Wes Covington got the job done for the Braves. He drove in three runs, beating Glen Hobbie (6-10) with his solo sixth home run in the sixth inning after his two-run double had tied it 3-all in the third. Warren Sphan (6-4), gave up eight hits, but blanked Chicago over the last seven frames.

A five-run first inning, capped by Ed Bailey's one-on homer, got the Reds rolling at St. Louis against loser Ron Kline (3-7). Jim O'Toole (6-7) was the winner, but needed relief help from Jim Brosnan and Bill Henry. Green, 24, a 6-foot-5 right-hander up from Buffalo, allowed the Dodgers only a third-inning single by Don Demeter, a double by Charlie Neal in the fourth and a ninth-inning single by Norm Larker. Stan Williams (6-2), gave up a first-inning run on consecutive doubles by Tony Gonzalez and Tony Taylor. Pancho Herrera single by Don Demeter, a double tagged the Dodger right-hander by Charlie Neal in the fourth and for his ninth homer in the seventh-inning single by Norm Larker.

Plan Field Day On 4th Of July

The fifth annual Little League Field Day, sponsored by the Greenville Moose Lodge, is being planned for July 4.

This year's program is being chairmanned by Elmer Moore. Assisting him will be, Ell Bloom, Jack Taylor, James Harris, J. Ed Collins, Joe Sawyer and Merrill Bynum.

Starting at 2:00 p.m. field day events will be held for two age groups; those aged 10 and under, and those aged 11 and 12. Prizes will be presented winners in each event.

The program will include a game between fathers of the Tar Heel and North State Leagues as well as a regularly scheduled Little League game.

A picnic for all Little League players, their families and guests, will follow.

Chairman Moore today extended an invitation to all the parents of the Little League members to enjoy an afternoon of fun and food.

As in past years, the Field Day will be held at the Little League field in Elm Street Park.

U. S. Loses Tennis Teener League Prestige In Tourney

By JOHN GALE
WIMBLEDON (AP)—It was almost as if a cry for help had gone up from Wimbledon's ivy-covered center court.

Chubby Darlene Hard had crashed in the singles and U.S. tennis prestige had slumped to an all-time low.

The 25,000-strong crowd left the ground asking where are the great Americans of yesterday? Where indeed?

Well, one was on the sidelines. Hustling Miss Hard through a forest of sympathetic well wishers, Althea Gibson turned aside to drop a hint that Uncle Sam will be back with murder in his heart next year.

"If the Wimbledon championship is thrown open to professionals," said the two-times holder of the women's title, "I shall certainly consider competing myself."

How did the 32-year-old Miss Gibson figure she'd have done this year?

"I think I'd have won," said the taciturn New Yorker.

As a good newspaperwoman, Miss Gibson was doubtless reserving her view on the American showing for her London newspaper column.

On this year's form, it seems she would have little trouble in wrestling back her title. The impeccable Maria Bueno and the unpredictable Christine Truman could be the only conceivable threats.

But there is speculation here that America's anguish on the center of the court will be heard by other ghosts of the past. Both Little M. Connolly and the great Doris Hart have indicated a hankering to come back.

Many consider it will take such a resurrection to put battered Uncle Sam out in front again. This is the first time in contemporary memory that no American has been involved in one or other of the singles semi-finals.

Miss Hard from Montebello,

Calif., cracked into consecutive double faults in the final set and was well beaten, 6-1, 2-6, 6-1 by South Africa's graceful Sandra Reynolds Tuesday.

Snub-nosed Karen Hantze, another Californian, was overpowered by Miss Truman, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 and is still some way short of the experience to upset a world class player.

There is hardly more rope for American prospects in the men's division although Earl Bucholz, the 19-year-old thin man from St. Louis, Mo., was surely cut out of these championships by bad luck alone.

Palmer May Find Course Is Rough

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Arnold Palmer took a long hard look at the silver cup of the British Open Golf Championship today — but he will have to play it better than he did on his first try.

Fresh from Ireland and his Canada Cup triumph, the American master found the old course at the Royal and Ancient club at its toughest and went round in 82 — 11 over par — Tuesday.

A gusty northerly wind buffeted the fairways throughout his practice spell.

VAN WYCK MASON'S newest thriller Secret Mission to Bangkok

CHAPTER 35

Colonel Hugh North reached Don Muang airport and found himself confronted by what looked like the Joint Chiefs of Staff of the Thai Army, Navy, and Air Force.

General Genung of the Bangkok Imperial Troop stepped from the front rank of this imposing array, saluted, and identified himself, whereupon his interpreter took over from the private airfield with Dr. Bracht appeared doped, according to mechanics at the field. Radar stations and anti-aircraft bases throughout the country are alerted and it will require only a word from you to have the plane shot down. Carss has been tracked and appears to be making for the Laos frontier, north of Cambodia. Our friends in Laos and Cambodia have been advised and are ready to shoot him down, too, if you so advise, Colonel.

Hugh shook his head. "Anything but that—at least not until we've tried everything else. I presume Carss's plane carries radio?"

Genung's interpreter addressed a question to one of the generals. The man nodded as he replied in Thai. "Yes," the interpreter said. "Your plane is waiting and the pilot, who speaks French, will know the last plotted position of Carss's plane."

"Let's get in the air then," North said. He saluted the beribboned generals and accompanied Genung and the interpreter as they led the way to a ship waiting on the apron.

Hugh North climbed into the rear cockpit of the plane as its engine roared. The helmeted pilot turned in his narrow place and thrust a hand over his shoulder to take Hugh's grip. As North adjusted his helmet with its built-in earphones and throat mike, the pilot spoke over the intercom in French.

"I am Lieutenant Lemang. Our target is reported flying in circles near Nang Rong. That is not far from the south branch of the Menag. Observers say he appears lost. What order, sir?"

"Let's sight the plane, Lieutenant," North answered. "We can decide what to do then."

The pilot nodded, opened his throttle, and gave his engine a minimum warm-up before he began taxiing off the apron. North tipped a salute to General Genung, then was hurled back in his seat by the plane's momentum as it thundered into motion.

Through his earphones North caught the jabber of conflicting wave lengths, all speaking in Asiatic tongues, before a stronger voice bellowed something in Thai. At the end of the message, sent from the Don Muang tower, Lemang translated in French.

"Our plane is over Burram on the railroad north of Nang Rong, Rong. If he follows the railroad east he will soon come to the Cambodian border."

While he was speaking the young Thai lieutenant whipped his plane into the air, and then straightened, North peered down at the ground that streamed beneath, knew the pilot had given his ship full throttle on the take-off and turn.

They had been in the air only minutes or so when the earphones jarred with a stream of Siamese. Lemang reported to North. "Now he's over Sisaket, east of Burram on the railroad."

"Can we catch him before he makes the frontier?"

"Difficult to tell."

"Call your commanding officer and ask him to query Cambodia and Laos points about putting up planes to turn him back. Not to attack him, you understand, but to turn him back."

"I'll try, sir." The pilot talked to Don Muang, and North heard the reply although he could not understand it. Lemang translated again. "Both those countries have limited air power, sir," he said. "They will send up a plane or two to patrol the border, but if our man has any luck he can evade them. Our best chance is to catch him ourselves before he reaches Cambodia or Laos."

"When we sight our man can you tune me in on him and let me try to talk to him?" Hugh asked.

Lemang nodded and the plane roared on. Under them, North spotted the railroad, twisting snakelike through the jungle, stretching toward the east. They passed over a fair-sized town with an airport set in the wilderness.

"Sisaket," Lemang said, "and there's our man."

Squinting ahead, Hugh made out the spec that was Carss's plane. As he fixed his eyes upon it the speck grew to a dot and then took on the shape of an aircraft, so fast was the military plane coming up on it.

"We'll catch him well before the border," Lemang reported. "He's been following the railroad, making all the turns, while we've flown a straight course. I'm putting you on transmitter now, sir."

By now Lemang's pursuit plane was alongside Carss's cabin plane and North could see the director-producer. Beyond Carss slumped a figure that must be Hans Bracht.

Hugh spoke into his microphone. "Carss, you've had it. You've got one chance to stay alive. Turn back to Sisaket and land there. Otherwise you'll be blown out of the air by ground fire and military aircraft. I mean it, Carss. They're waiting for you in Cambodia if you get that far. They're waiting for you in Laos. You can't make Vietnam territory without crossing one or the other. Your Russian friends can't help you, Carss. Turn back."

He waited and his earphones came alive. By this time the faster military plane had shot ahead and above Carss's lumbering ship, and it was as though the Red agent were screaming after them.

"You lie," the director yelled. "You'll never kill Bracht to get me—you know you won't. Oh yes, he's alive—just doped a little. Kill me and you kill him. I'm going through. Don't try to stop me."

North said: "Maybe I wouldn't kill you both, but the people up ahead don't know who you're carrying, Carss. To them you're just an unidentified aircraft violating their sky."

Lemang put his ship over and they whizzed back over Carss's plane with what seemed to Hugh to be only inches to spare. Looking back, North saw the Red's ship wobble frantically as it was caught in the downdraft. Carss howled obscenities, every North spoke to the pilot in rapid French over the intercom. "Lieutenant, ask Don Muang to contact Cambodia very quickly. Ask Cambodia to have their nearest anti-aircraft batteries send up a couple of rounds, blind. Maybe our friend will see them."

Lemang nodded and switched wave lengths to speak to Bangkok. The reply was terse and emphatic. The lieutenant in the forward seat half turned to grin at Hugh and nod.

Unbidden, Lemang rammed his plane at Carss's again, this time thundering straight at the side of the cabin plane. At the last split second, young Lemang pulled up and roared over Carss's back.

Without Hugh's order, Lemang switched the colonel's receiver back on. Carss was screaming his split-volled terror. "Do you want to kill yourself? Nobody wins if we all go down!"

"Ahead, to your left, Colonel," Lemang said rapidly. North veered his eyes in time to see a black puffball, another, a third, dot the sky far ahead of them.

He spoke to Carss as the Thai aircraft did another wingover and headed back at the director.

"Look ahead, Carss," he ordered. "See those bursts. They're just warning shots, but they prove they're waiting for you."

"If I've lost, I've got to die anyway," Carss said, and now he had lost his screech; in its place was a whine. "I might as well take Bracht with me!"

Will two planes come in for a landing or only Hugh North's? The story reaches a dramatic conclusion tomorrow. Don't miss it.

Soil Testing Is Favored By ACP

The Agricultural Conservation Program for 1960 provides several instances where the government shares with farmer the cost of conservation practices requiring application of lime or fertilizer.

J. Lyman Edwards, Chairman of the Pitt County Committee says that although a soil test is not mandatory under any of these practices, it is strongly recommended in every case.

ACP practices which should be preceded by a soil test include establishment of permanent pasture, additional vegetative cover in a crop rotation, improvement of permanent pasture and others.

According to Edwards, every one of these practices recommends that the farmer take a soil test to determine soil treatment. However, in the absence of a soil test they permit application of two tons of lime per acre on land that has not been limed within the past five years and one ton of limestone per acre if the land has been limed within the past five years. The practices also carry a standard recommendation on fertilizer which varies with the vegetative cover being established.

The need for lime on North Carolina soils is great, according to Edwards, and even with the cost share assistance available through ASC only a small fraction of our needs are being met.

Edwards stressed the point that even for practices that will not be carried out until this fall the lime should be ordered now in order for the farmers to be sure his needs will be met. He further cautioned farmers that there are many soils in this state on which the standard fertilizer or liming rule does not apply.

Some soil, he said, requires an additional application of more than two tons per acre while on others, application of any lime would be wasted. The only way to determine the lime and fertilizer requirements of the soil is by soil test on a representative sample. Soil test cartons, instruction sheets, and other assistance in the taking of soil samples may be obtained at the ASC office or from other agricultural agencies in the county, Edwards said.

Rock 'n' Roll In Britain 'Finished'

LONDON (AP)—Britain's two TV networks agree that the vogue for rock 'n' roll is finished.

The state-sponsored British Broadcasting Corp. decided to give up after its latest rock programs — "Drumbeat" and "Dig This" — failed to win big audiences.

The rival independent television authority reached the same conclusion after winning little success with rock shows called "Boy Meets Girl" and "Wham!"

Mayor Himself Fixed The Leak

FLEMINGTON, N.J. (AP)—This town of 3,500 persons went dry all day when a water main broke. The mayor took prompt action. He fixed the leak himself Monday night.

Mayor John Bush, a plumber, donned his overalls and went down in a hole to repair the leak in a 6-inch main.

He came up briefly to open the semimonthly town council meeting. Then he went back down in the hole and fixed the leak.

Russia Announces Rocket Tests Slated In Pacific

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets plan to lob a new series of powerful multistage test rockets into the central Pacific next month about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii.

An announcement Tuesday night said the new rocket shoot will be held July 5-31 over a 50,000-square-mile target area about 150 miles farther to the southeast than the landing area of the first Soviet Pacific rocket tests last January.

In their first test the Soviets said they fired a rocket some 7,000 miles and came within a mile of the target. The United States subsequently fired a super-Atlas rocket 9,000 miles from Cape Canaveral past the southern tip of South Africa.

The Soviet Union warned other nations to keep their ships and planes out of the test area, which lies about 200 miles west of American-held Palmyra Island and within 600 miles of Christmas Island, where the British touched off their first hydrogen bomb.

Tass news agency, which issued the announcement, said the rocket used in the July tests will not be equipped with the final stage. This apparently meant they will not carry warheads.

The announcement came a few hours after Premier Nikita Khrushchev called on a group of Soviet military school cadets to "master the conditions of a rocket and nuclear war which is what the imperialist aggressors are preparing."

Speaking at a Kremlin reception for graduates of army and navy academies, Khrushchev boasted of Soviet rocket might in all spheres from battlefield range to intercontinental missiles.

The premier declared the Soviet armed forces should increase their vigilance in case the "imperialists" unleash a new war.

Khrushchev told the audience in the white and gold Kremlin hall his hearty welcome to the new blood in the armed forces might seem strange while his government was calling for disarmament.

"We do this," he said, "so our glorious armed forces will be a shield for our country and all Socialist countries."

"It is not contradictory because our army is not an aggressive army. Our army is a peoples army defending peace."

Several Are At Summer Camps

FRYEBURG, Me. — Several residents of Greenville, N.C., and associates and students of East Carolina College, also in Greenville, are represented at summer camps here.

On the waterfront staff at Indian Acres for boys are Joe Upchurch, son of the Rev. and Mrs. P. B. Upchurch of Greenville, and John Creech, a junior at E.C.C. Dr. Glen Reeder of the E.C.C. physical education department will direct tennis.

Miss Gay Hogan of the E.C.C. physical education department is director of the aquatics program at Forest Acres for girls. Also on the staff at Forest Acres are Claudine Holgin, who will head the tennis department, Jackie Byrd, Emilie Tilley, Marcella and Molly Cooke, Sylvia Gardner, Helen Liles and Ella Tyson, all graduates of E.C.C.

E.C.C. students on the staff are Becky Wayne, Ann Craft and Dorothy Smith.

Forest Acres and the brother camp, Indian Acres, are located two miles apart in the White Mountains. The U.S. Lawn Tennis Regional Tournaments will be held at Indian and Forest Acres this year.

Navy Announces Local Enlistees

U. S. Navy Recruiting Headquarters of the Raleigh District announced today that two Greenville men have enlisted in the Navy.

They are: George L. Erwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Erwin, and Benny Ward Carraway, husband of Mrs. Daisy Yvonne Carraway.

The recruits have been transferred to Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois, where they will receive basic training.

Swimming Course Said 'Success'

FARMVILLE — The two weeks swimming course, held at the Farmville pool, and sponsored by the Pitt County Chapter American Red Cross and the local recreational department, was reported as highly successful by those in charge. There was a full enrollment of 101 youngsters.

Johnny Thorne, who had just completed a course at National Red Cross Aquatic School, Brevard, headed the instructors. Joe Flake Jr. is pool manager and Bill Lewis is assistant.

Approve Russian Trade Agreement

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian Senate Tuesday night approved the new 2-for-1 trade agreement with the Soviet Union.

Under the three-year pact, the Soviet Union agrees to buy 25 million dollars worth of Canadian products each year, including 200,000 tons of wheat, if Canada purchases at least 12½ million dollars worth of goods from the Soviet Union.

Liberal Sen. W. D. Euler of Ontario, a former minister of trade and commerce, noted that Canada last year bought only $2,291,000 worth from the Soviet Union.

Cape Cod, Mass., got its name from Bartholomew Gosnold in 1602 when friendly Indians gave him so many codfish he had to dump most of them overboard.

Want 'Pledge' By Appointees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today was urged to ask future political appointees "to serve so long as the President desires" before it confirms them.

The recommendation came from the Government Operations Committee as a result of a continuing investigation into government policy making by a subgroup headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.).

Jackson's report said his group had heard testimony that many businessmen, industrialists and other appointees to Cabinet and agency posts often quit before they have time to learn their difficult assignments.

He said this had been true during the Republican administration of President Eisenhower as well as that of the two Democratic presidents who preceded him.

Many of these officials held major decision-making posts involving the national security.

"We cannot expect to succeed in the long drawn-out contest with the Sino-Soviet bloc," Jackson told the Senate, unless top level government executive agree to serve in key posts until they are experienced.

Jackson cited a survey of 456 businessmen who served in government between 1940 and 1956. Of the group, 48 per cent, nearly one half, served one year or less and the median length of service was 1½ years.

He said there had been seven different secretaries of defense since the top Pentagon civilian created in 1947, an average term of less than two years.

Evangelist At Congress In Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Billy Graham flew in here Tuesday night to attend the 10th Congress of the Baptist World Alliance.

The American evangelist will speak Sunday night and is expected to draw the biggest crowd—at least 100,000—of the Congress.

Graham's plane was about six hours late due to engine trouble at Belem, Brazil.

Tuesday's chief speaker, Dr. Jisuo Morikawa of New York City, told the delegates that the three crucial issues facing the world are racial crisis, economic injustice and international tensions.

Morikawa, a Japanese-American who was raised a Buddhist and then turned Baptist, said it was an "incredible paradox" that part of the world lives in hunger while another lives "in satiated over-indulgence."

"This is a world with the incredible spectacle of intelligent civilized nations engaged in a perilous missile race which threatens to wipe out the human family," Dr. Morikawa said.

Garbage Piling Up In Strike

COPENHAGEN (AP) — With 201 garbage collectors on strike 600 tons of garbage a day are piling up in normally spic-and-span Copenhagen.

A Health Board official said another hot spell could be "disastrous." A week-long heat wave subsided Tuesday.

Nickname of the classic blues player and composer Louis Armstrong is "Dipper Mouth."

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralls perked up on the favorable atmosphere for railroad mergers while the rest of the stock market moved irregularly as trading slackened early this afternoon.
 Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule for most leading issues.

 Steels, after sharp recent declines, were narrowly mixed. Motors, oils, building materials, aircrafts and electronics also were mixed. Chemicals were mostly lower.
 Opinion differed among Wall Street analysts as to immediate prospects for a "summer rally." ## Will Talk Plans To Save Carolina Beach Strand

RALEIGH (AP) — Schemes for saving the strand in the Carolina Beach area will be discussed July 6 when officers of the Army Corps of Engineers will meet on the scene with local officials.
 Nine different plans, ranging in cost from $266,300 to $1,480,000, were contained in a report released Tuesday by director Harry Brown of the State Water Resources Department. The engineers drew up the proposals, based on a study of the five mile sand area from Carolina Beach to south of Fort Fisher.
 Generally, the recommendations would involve: Creation of a wide, 8-12 foot sand dune just west of the shore to protect from waves; a series of jetty - like structures reaching out from the shore to collect sand washed into the ocean; a combination of dune-work and jetty construction.

Teaching Profession Is Urged Raise Standards

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The teaching profession must raise its own standards so high that incompetence can never get into a classroom, a prominent educator said today.
 Dr. T. M. Stinnett said, "Our goals must be more than just higher salaries and more of this and more of that."
 "The profession must do those things which will guarantee that a person who goes into a classroom is a competent teacher, and guarantee that an incompetent person will not be allowed to teach."
 Stinnett, executive secretary of the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards, was interviewed at the annual convention of the National Education Assn.
 "It's our job to weed out the incompetents just as the medical profession polices its own field," he said. "And, just as in medicine, higher standards mean fewer incompetents."
 "We don't have now the sanctions we need. Most states require three years of probationary teaching, but after that it is virtually impossible to get rid of the bad teachers."
 Stinnett cited that he called tremendous strides the teaching profession has made since World War II.
 "In 1946," he said, "one in every six teachers was sub-standard, or lacked a full certificate. Today it's only one in 13, despite the vastly increased teacher shortage."
 "In 1946, only 15 states required that an elementary school teacher have a college degree. Today the number is 46."
