Lodge Says RB47 Forced Off Course, Then Downed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States asserted today it has scientific proof that Soviet fighter planes deliberately maneuvered a U.S. RB47 off its course and shot it down over international waters.

U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge denounced the action as "a criminal and reckless act of piracy" which the Soviet Union tried to hide with "reckless talk."

But he did not seek council condemnation of the Soviet Union. Instead he submitted a resolution calling on the council to either name an impartial fact-finding mission to investigate the incident, or submit the entire matter to the International Court of Justice.

In a highly dramatic speech he produced two maps to demonstrate his points.

Lodge said of the Soviet act of shooting down the plane July 1: "This astonishing and criminal act is established beyond doubt by the evidence of our scientific devices." He did not go into details and U.S. sources said the exact nature was withheld because it involved secret information of great interest to the Soviets.

He accused the Soviet Union of denying the RB47 crewmen their rights under international law and denounced this as "flagrant disregard for the standards of international conduct."

At Lodge spoke, the chief Soviet delegate, Vasily V. Kuznetsov sat attentively erect, alternately twiddling his thumbs and jotting down notes.

In the spectators' gallery, the wives of the RB47 crewmen, their expressions grim, watched tensely as Lodge pointed with his finger to the maps upon which the plane's course was charted. There were two maps, one of Western Europe showing the plane's route from England toward the Barents Sea, the other a detail map of the Kola Peninsula area with a red arrow showing the position of the Soviet fighter plane which Lodge claimed maneuvered the American craft from its course.

He called the Soviet charges that the plane violated U.S.S.R. air space last July 1 a "complete fabrication" which must be dismissed as a poor attempt to cloak a wanton attack on a plane over international waters.

Lodge said he would introduce a resolution asking that the Council call for an impartial investigation of the entire incident, or a judgment on the case by the International Court of Justice.

"What actually happened was this: Before it (the plane) reached the point more than 50 miles north of Svatoj Nos, at which it was scheduled to turn northeast, a Soviet fighter pressed in from the seaward side and tried to force the plane off its course and into Soviet territory," Lodge said.

"The Soviet fighter was successful in forcing our plane off its course and in delaying its planned turn to the northeast. It was not successful in forcing the plane into Soviet airspace. It caused our plane to make a detour. That detour is shown by the green line (on the chart.) The prescribed course is shown by the black line. "This astonishing and criminal act is established beyond doubt by the evidence of our scientific devices, which followed the RB47 through all the events I have described."

Somebody, Lodge said, lied about the incident.

"Only one conclusion can be drawn from this. The Soviet fighter was trying to make the RB47 fly southward over Soviet territory. There it could have been shot down on land. This attempt failed," Lodge said.

"Now we wonder why the Soviets have presented so many distortions about this. Perhaps the Soviet air force was reluctant to admit to Chairman Khrushchev that the aircraft could not be shot down over Soviet air space—for the good reason that it was not there—and therefore did not inform him of the facts. "Perhaps they did not tell him that they had to go 200 miles from Cape Svatoj Nos to follow the RB47. Perhaps Chairman Khrushchev has been lied to. That is one possibility. There are others. We can all speculate."

The Soviet Union has charged that the RB47 was on a spy mission over Soviet territory when it was shot down.

Fireworks Over Civil Rights For GOP Convention

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP)—A roaring all-night fight over the party stand on civil rights tossed a shower of fireworks into the opening today of the Republican convention. It had once looked like a placid gathering for nomination of Richard M. Nixon for president.

As the party faithful trooped into this big hall, close by the stockyards, it was hard to spot any of the 103 members of the platform-writing committee.

Many of them had scrapped till dawn in a battle that saw moderates tone down, at least slightly, the liberal GOP glow emanating from the weekend Nixon-Rockefeller pronouncement of views.

The exact wording of the civil rights plank that came out of this battle was kept secret for the moment. But the word to newsmen was that it contained a mixture of moderate and liberal proposals.

Both sides talked of a possible floor battle Wednesday when the committee's work will be submitted to the convention.

Nixon told an airport news conference in the capital that "I certainly will" support a floor fight for a strong civil rights plank if necessary.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York also was prepared to battle on the convention floor for his ideas.

Today's forenoon convention session was strictly a routine affair, devoted to welcoming addresses and preliminary organization.

Yet it was an occasion also for getting off some initial shots at the common enemy—the Democrats. Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, national chairman, hooted at the promises he said had been made to everybody in the Democratic platform. To carry them out, he declared, would add 15 to 20 billion dollars a year to government costs.

Morton said the Republicans would adopt "a realistic, honest platform that we can and will fulfill."

The Kentucky senator is one of those figuring high in speculation about a possible vice-presidential nominee.

But the betting favorite for the No. 2 spot was, at the moment, Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to the United Nations.

Nixon will choose the vice-presidential nominee, as is traditional. At his meeting with reporters in Washington, he declined to discuss his choice for the spot except to say it will be a man who shares his views and one who would be qualified for the presidency if it should be necessary for him to take over that office.

Rockefeller probably would not let his name go before the convention as a presidential nominee.

But Rockefeller remained an enigma, with his position largely incomprehensible to the average delegate moving in the make-believe world of tooting bands and shouting cohorts that precedes the usually dull convention routine.

From his subterranean position as a non-candidate for either place on the ticket, Rockefeller threatened to shoot off about the only missile that might enliven the prosaic proceedings.

Although he wouldn't say it in as many words, the New York governor's complaint was directed at the heart of the Eisenhower administration's defense program.

ECC Anticipates 4,500 Enrollment

East Carolina College President Dr. Leo W. Jenkins was "very optimistic" this morning that the N. C. State Advisory Budget Commission "will make their recommendations (to the General Assembly) based on our needs and in the best interest of the state."

The newly-inaugurated president referred to a 17-item list of capital improvement requests to be submitted to the commission here at 2 p.m. today.

The capital outlay request, made biennially to the commission, totals $7,835,500.

Dr. Jenkins said, "It is the most honest request we can arrive at." He pointed out the list "is based on the fact that our new enrollment will be increased so much this fall."

Sharp Rise Based on applications received to date, the local college's new enrollment, including freshmen and transfer students, will be up this fall by 46 per cent. Estimated total enrollment for the next school year is set at 4,500.

The list of requests includes a replacement for the Austin Building; a 1,000-seat auditorium to replace Austin Auditorium; a new $1.5 million men's dormitory; a $1.25 million men's gymnasium; a student union addition to Wright Building; a replacement for Wilson Hall, a women's dormitory; an addition to the school's library; a 73-acre land addition; and other improvements.

The commission makes biennial visits to N. C. colleges, hospitals and other state-supported institutions to study requests and present recommendations to the state legislature which next convenes in February.

Death Lean Off Highway Bridge

ASHEVILLE (AP)—William Vance Burrow, 37, Asheville attorney, leaped to his death today from the Smoky Park highway bridge.

A native of Chicago, he was a graduate of Amherst College and the University of North Carolina law school.

An eye witness said Burrow stepped his car in the middle of the bridge around 9:30 a.m., got out the right door and walked to the rail and jumped over feet first.

He landed in shoal water and was dead when police reached him.

AN EXPLANATION ROME (AP)—Rome's Independent Il Messaggero gave Italians this explanation today of the Republican National Convention in Chicago: "It is like a two-horse race in which one of the horses decided not to leave the post."

Road Hearing Is Slated Aug. 4 At New Bern

Citizens of Eastern North Carolina will have an opportunity to present road requests and petitions to the full State Highway Commission early next month.

The Commission has scheduled its Aug. 4 meeting for New Bern and hearings will begin in the Superior Courtroom of the Craven County Courthouse at 9:30 a.m. on that date.

Persons desiring to appear before the Commission are asked to write Public Relations Officer Sam Beard for an appointment.

Setting appointment times expedites the public hearing and avoids long waiting periods for those persons desiring to present requests of the roads body, officials said.

The regular business meeting of the Commission will be held that afternoon, at which time low bids from July 26 letting will be reviewed.

Marine's Bullet-Riddled Body Found In Car Trunk

KINSTON, N.C. (AP)—A bullet-riddled body found in the trunk of an automobile near here was identified today as that of Marine Sgt. Robert Eugene Schroeder, 35, of Camp Lejeune. There were gunshot wounds in the head, neck and chest.

The car was found to be his, and authorities pressed an investigation into the death. Schroeder, a gunnery sergeant and a Marine for 17 years, was the son of Elmer F. Schroeder of Rt. 1, New Lebanon, Ohio, and Mrs. Zora Pommerning of Rt. 1, White Cloud, Mich. Camp Lejeune had no address for his divorced wife, Mrs. Ann Peckover Schroeder. The couple had two daughters, one of them adopted. The body was found Sunday when George Robbins noticed blood dripping from the trunk of the car, which had been parked near his service station for three days. Robbins told authorities that motorists frequently leave cars for days at his station, so he paid little attention to it until he saw the blood.

Camp Lejeune identified the body after an autopsy there.

The Lejeune public information office said Schroeder left the post Wednesday on a 96-hour pass. The time of death was placed at between 11 p.m. Thursday and daylight Friday.

UN Speeds Up Airlift Of Troops Into Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations airlift of troops into the Congo speeded up today, and the total of forces deployed over the new African nation approached 7,500 men.

U.N. military officials were hopeful of having more than 10,000 multiracial troops in the country by the end of the week.

With the port of Matadi again functioning, oil for Leopoldville and its big airlift airbase was being pumped through a pipeline and also was arriving by tank cars over the repaired railway line.

Maj. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, retired U. S. Army engineer who directed the clearing of the Suez Canal in 1956, arrived to help with oil operations at Matadi and for a troubleshooting job on the land transportation system.

The U.N. also expected the early arrival of pilots from Sweden, Norway, Brazil, Argentina and Yugoslavia to fly a special U.N. aircraft fleet.

The U. S. Air Force handed over the fleet of planes, including helicopters and small aircraft, but refused to furnish air crews. The Soviet Union protested a U. S. Army transmission unit flown here last week to help in U.N. communications. American officials said they would return to Germany.

The U.N. mission announced it is pushing a crash program to meet the Congo's pressing medical and financial needs. Most of the remaining Belgian doctors in the country said they intend leaving, and World Health Organization officials were trying to get help locally and also to recruit staff abroad.

The treasury and currency situation was reported so precarious that it appeared many Aug. 1 payrolls could not be met, and the long term outlook for replenishing government revenues was gloomy so long as the economy remained largely paralyzed.

The Congo's biggest political problem—what to do about the secession of rich Katanga province—apparently awaited U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's arrival Thursday for a visit of three or four days.

Driver, 15, Hit Pedestrian, 12

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—A pedestrian was hit by a motor vehicle and treated for bruises. The pedestrian was 12; the driver, 15.

Daniel Eugene Knight told Mecklenburg County police the brakes failed on his go-cart Sunday as he coasted into the pit area of the Charlotte Karting Center where go-carts are raced.

His racer crashed through a fence and hit Frances Ann Rowell. She was treated for bruises at Mercy Hospital here and released. The driver was uninjured. No charges were filed.

Warehouse Ass'n Sets Opening For Eastern Belt

One Of Pitt's Finest Tobacco Crops May Set All-Time Per-Acre Income

One of Pitt County's best tobacco crops may produce the highest pounds-per-acre figure ever recorded here, County Agent S. C.

Winchester said today. "Crops as a whole," he said, "are the best at this stage that I ever remember seeing. We have a feeling that we are going to near an all-time high on pounds-per-acre."

The county agent reported this season's harvest is an estimated 35-38 per cent complete and "tobacco is curing up to a nice color."

He said Pitt tobacco is, "we believe, curing with more aroma this year than in the past few years." He pointed out aroma is a "very highly desirable quality" in a tobacco crop.

Winchester said the county's tobacco situation made "remarkable improvement after a somewhat shaky start." He referred to March snows and cold weather that endangered Pitt's plant supply.

The county's allotment this year totals 25,172 acres of tobacco. The county agent reported "no unusual problems" confronting Pitt's tobacco grower population. "Other than wind or hail storms, weather damage at this point would be very unlikely," he said, adding, "Excess water now couldn't do us any great amount of damage."

Winchester said a considerable volume of tobacco should be graded and ready for local markets' opening day set today for Aug. 23.

Weight Satisfactory He said the county's moisture situation is now as good as could be expected. He singled out the Belvoir, Pactolus and Chicod areas as the county's "dry spots" before yesterday's rainfall.

The moisture content, he said, has helped bring about "very satisfactory weight this year" in cured tobacco.

Winchester said he and his staff feel the county's pounds-per-acre may soar above the previous high of 1921, recorded in 1958. Last year's figure was 1,500 pounds-per-acre.

Opening Aug. 23

WILSON, N. C. (AP)—An opening date of Aug. 23 was set today for flue-cured tobacco markets of the big eastern belt.

The board of governors of the Eastern Belt Warehouse Assn. fixed the opening at a meeting here.

It will follow the Aug. 11 opening for the South Carolina-border-North Carolina belt. The first of the flue-cured belts, the Georgia-Florida area, will begin sales July 28.

After announcing the opening date, the Eastern Belt Assn. governors went into a huddle behind closed doors. W. C. Thompson of Wilson, association president, presided for the meeting.

Murder Charged To Area Youth

GRIFFON—A 19-year-old Negro is in the Craven County Jail in New Bern facing a charge of murder in the death of a second 19-year-old Negro. The death occurred nine miles east of here just across the Pitt-Craven County line Saturday night.

According to Craven County Deputy Sheriff Bruce G. Edwards of New Bern, William Earl Taylor of Route 1, Griffon, is being held for the murder of Othal Odell Taylor, also of Route 1, Griffon, at the Riverside Inn near Epworth School on N. C. 118.

According to the officer, Taylor was stabbed in the chest about 10:30 Saturday night during an alleged argument between the two. Taylor then ran from the building and into a nearby corn field.

Deputy Edwards said no one followed him into the field and no one knew of his death until his body was discovered by Willie Moore yesterday about 10:30 a.m.

According to the deputy, Moore, after finding the body, called Highway Patrolman R. E. Tayloe of Griffon, who in turn notified the Craven County Sheriff's Department.

Edwards said Gardner was taken into custody and charged with the murder following an investigation yesterday.

Edwards said it is believed the weapon used was a switch-blade knife but the weapon has not been found. According to the officer, Gardner allegedly lost the knife following the stabbing.

Rooms Damaged By Fire Sunday

Greenville firemen reported "heavy damage" resulted to two rooms of a dwelling at 1007 Douglas Ave. which caught fire shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday.

According to fire officers, trucks responded to the residence when a telephone call was received and Box 73 at the intersection of Douglas Ave. and Vance St. was turned in about 11:20 a.m.

The blaze, which originated in the dining room of the house, caused heavy damage to that room and to the living room, and moderate smoke damage to the remainder of the home. It is believed the fire was caused by a short circuit in the wiring, firemen noted.

'Motherly Type' Is The Goal Of Beautiful, New Miss N.C.

CHARLOTTE (AP)—You wouldn't call the new Miss North Carolina, brunette Ann Farrington Herring of Winston-Salem, the motherly type, but that's exactly what she wants to be.

The 18-year-old sophomore at Wake Forest College agreed in an interview that beauty titles have led other girls to movie contracts, but she said she would rather be a wife and mother. She dates but doesn't have a steady.

Ann, 35-23-35 and five feet six, won over 68 other girls here Saturday night on the birthday of her father, Dr. Owen F. Herring, a professor of religion at Wake Forest College. And she became Miss Winston-Salem on the birthday of her brother, Robert, who attends Mars Hill Junior College and hopes to enter Wake Forest.

The nine judges counted talent, poise and diction as much as beauty, and Ann comes from an educated family. Besides her father, a former Baptist minister in her native Durham, another member of the family, brother Owen Jr., is a teacher. He is at Bainbridge Prep School in Maryland, where he is an instructor in English. And the third brother, Richard, is a high school student in Winston-Salem.

Ann said the Herrings are a close-knit family who discuss things democratically before major decisions. They held a family council and decided it would be all right for her to enter beauty contests.

She took her winning calmly, the first Miss North Carolina in years not to burst into tears. She was tired Sunday after six days of activity here, but said she was very calm and relaxed Saturday as she paraded before the judges.

She won one of the swim suit preliminaries in a black knit job that she will keep dry until after she wears it in September's Miss America contest in Atlantic City, N.J.

"They're like a suit you send to the dry cleaners," she said in explanation of why she wouldn't go in swimming as she posed for photographers Sunday at a motel pool. "After they're wet they might not fit just right again."

Besides entry into the Miss America contest, she won a $1,000 scholarship, other prizes, and a new wardrobe for Atlantic City.

The size 10 white silk organza evening gown she wore here was designed by Jennie Prince of Columbia, S.C.

She placed high in the talent division with a song from "The Sound of Music."

Her schedule between now and the Miss America contest is being arranged by the state Jaycees, sponsors of the Miss North Carolina Beauty Pageant. She would like to continue her study of sociology and psychology at Wake Forest, but will decide what comes next after the Miss America contest.

The first runnerup was Carol Ann Williams of Raleigh and the second runnerup was Barbara Louise Patton of Canton. Tenita Deal of Hickory was fourth, and Carolyn Howard of Kinston was fifth.

Miss Wynnette Garner Weds Mr. Alexander

The marriage of Miss Frances Wynnette Garner and Abner Alexander of Winston-Salem was solemnized on Saturday, July 23, at four in the afternoon in a double ring ceremony at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church with the Rev. Howard M. McLamb, pastor of the church, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Glenn Garner of Greenville and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Webster Sprull Alexander and the late Mr. Alexander of Winston-Salem.

The altar was decorated with large vases of lilies with only the altar candles lighted. John Hanks, nephew of the groom, acted as acolyte.

Mrs. Paul Toll of Greenville, organist, and Tommy Minnis of Winston-Salem, soloist, rendered the nuptial music. Mr. Minnis sang "O Perfect Love" and "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of silk organza over taffeta, fastened with a bateau neckline outlined with chantilly lace and trimmed with seed pearls. The bouffant skirt applied with chantilly lace extended into a chapel train, and her illusion veil was attached to a crown of orange blossoms and seed pearls.

The bride wore a string of cultured pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white purple-throated orchid and showered with bridal ribbons and staphanotis.

Miss Mary Waldo House of Hamilton roommate of the bride, was maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a maize silk organza, designed with a sweetheart neckline, covered shoulders and full skirt. Dyed to match lace motif accented the slim empire bodice. She wore a picture hat of maize horsehair braid. Miss House carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and ivy with matching yellow ribbon.

Wilson Alexander served as his brother's best man and groomsmen were Mack Hood Jones, brother-in-law of the groom, of Burlington. Sidney Clay Whiteheart of Winston-Salem, Howard Glenn Garner, brother of the bride, and Leslie H. Garner, uncle of the bride of Greenville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Garner chose a Norman Original sheath of green florentine lace over taffeta. The neckline was scalloped, with short sleeves. A pleated chiffon cummerbund extended into a drape side effect. The bridegroom's mother wore an ice blue lace dress. Both mothers had orchids that complemented their attire.

The bride graduated from East Carolina College and was a member of the Kappa Delta Pi Honorary Fraternity. She has taught for the past three years at Whitaker School in Winston-Salem.

Mr. Alexander is a graduate of Guilford College and Wake Forest Law School. He was listed in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. He is the president of the Forsyth County Guilford Alumni and is on the Official Board of Ardmore Methodist Church. He practices law in Winston-Salem.

For traveling, the bride selected a black and white Ike Clark outfit with black and white accessories and the orchid corsage lifted from her prayer book.

After a wedding trip to southern points Mr. and Mrs. Alexander will be at home at 2736 Maplewood Avenue, Winston-Salem.

Immediately after the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception in the church parlor.

Mrs. Guss Roebuck and Robert Roebuck of Farmville; Mrs. Vivian Lindsey and Miss Sarah Wynne of Plymouth.

Immediately after the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception in the church parlor.

Guests were greeted by Dr. and Mrs. P. P. Brooks and introduced to the receiving line. Mrs. George Clapp invited guests to the refreshment table which was covered with a cloth of imported linen with cutwork and a deep lace border. It was centered with a beautiful epergne arrangement in a five-branch candelabra with white Fuji mums interspersed with gypsophelia and Baker fern.

Punch was served from each end of the table by Mrs. Dora Hanks, sister of the groom, from Winston-Salem and Mrs. Jule Pollard of Bethel. A note of green and white was carried out. Bridal cakes, mints, and nuts were served the guests.

Others who assisted in serving and receiving were Mrs. L. L. Rives, Mrs. M. W. Maxwell, Mrs. Jasper Jones, Mrs. Dave Rink of Morehead City, Mrs. Pinkney Young of Norfolk, Miss Nancy Howell of Burlington, Miss Jean Watson of Winston-Salem presided at the register. Goodbyes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Arden Tucker.

Bridal Luncheon
Saturday at 12:30 o'clock a luncheon for Miss Wynnette Garner and her bridal party was given by Mrs. George Clapp, Miss Carolyn Clapp and Miss Gayle Clapp.

A color scheme of pink and white was used throughout the decorations of the bridal table and arrangements of roses and gladioli placed throughout the home.

Miss Garner was presented a gift of china in her chosen pattern by the hostesses.

Twenty guests were present.

Cake-Cutting
Mr. and Mrs. John Farrow and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Garner entertained the Alexander-Garner wedding party and guests at a cake-cutting following the rehearsal on Friday night at the Garner home in Forest Hills.

The hosts greeted the guests at the door. Mrs. Madeline Rivers, aunt of the bride, presided over the register.

The dining room was the focal point of interest in the home. The table was covered with a cutwork cloth. An epergne arrangement of Fuji mums in a three-branch candelabrum with white candles centered the table.

A four-tiered wedding cake with the traditional bride and groom on top was featured on one end of the table and was balanced by a crystal punch bowl on the other end.

After the bridal couple cut the first slice of cake, Mrs. W. G. Garner, mother of the bride-elect, served the cake and Mrs. W. S. Alexander, mother of the groom-elect, served a green fruit punch. The guests served themselves nuts and found seats in the living room, den, porch and terrace which were decorated with mixed summer flowers. About 50 guests called.

Composite GOP Civil Rights Plank Ready

By NORMAN WALKER
CHICAGO (AP)—The Republican Platform Committee after a sometimes bitter all-night session finally adopted today a civil rights plank containing a mixture of moderate and liberal proposals. Whether it bypassed a convention floor fight remained a question. Details of the plank were not announced. The Republican National Convention opening today will not receive it formally until Wednesday night, when the full platform comes up for action. The composite was worked out at a closed-door session that ground on until 6:40 a.m. (CDT). At one point the committee rejected 52-32 a motion that it adjourn for the night.

The politically touchy civil rights problem was tossed to the full committee after a drafting subcommittee voted 8-7 for a plank more moderate than that urged by New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and supported by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Through the night the committee battled over a strong vs. a liberal plank, and backers of both sides threatened a floor fight if they lost.

It tabled the stronger plank but went on to accept some liberal-sponsored amendments to the more moderate version. No details of either original proposal were made public.

Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin said the final product, although based on the moderates' proposals, included about half of the liberal-sponsored provisions.

Chairman Charles H. Percy said all votes were by voice, and no tally was taken.

"I will fight right here in Chicago," if necessary, he said, to put across his views. The platform group obviously charted a policy course that missed by a wide margin the terms set out in a compromise worked out late last week by Rockefeller and Nixon.

It appeared the platform group is largely rejecting the new look of liberalism that Rockefeller has hoped to fasten on the GOP. This was true even though many of Rockefeller's ideas have been embraced by Nixon, the party's cinch presidential choice.

The completed GOP platform seemed destined to be far more moderate than the one adopted by Democrats. Republicans argued, however, that their promises had more chance of attainment that what they described as the something-for-everybody pledge of the Democrats.

Tobacco Barn And 600 Sticks Of Weed Burn

GRIMESLAND—An early Sunday morning fire destroyed a tobacco barn containing 600 sticks of tobacco at the farm of Elmer Haddock near here.

The blaze evidently resulted from a burner which exploded, according to Assistant Fire Chief L. E. Tetterton.

In addition to the destroyed barn and its contents, Tetterton said about three-fourths of an acre of tobacco surrounding the burning barn was damaged by the heat. The fire also severed the telephone wires.

Haddock, owner of the barn and the farm, had checked the barn about 30 minutes prior to the fire, Tetterton said. The alarm was called in about 2:15 a.m. Sunday. The barn was insured.

It took the Grimesland Volunteer Fire Squad about 12 minutes to reach the scene of the fire and bring the blaze under control.

Twenty-one members of the squad assisted in fighting the fire. The fire department has announced that as a matter of public service, residents reporting fires will receive quicker service by calling the City Hall, PL 2-6337, where the alarm is sounded.

The town clerk, Mrs. Lela Bell Hoell is on duty during the day and Police Chief Mack Bunting is on duty during the night.

Mitch Pleased Over 'Sing Along' Reaction

EDITOR'S NOTE —"Sing Along with Mitch" was one of the notable successes of the TV season. In the following guest column, the hero of the show tells why.

By MITCH MILLER
Written For The Associated Press

Since the beginning of television and until May 24, 1960, with very few exceptions, the quality of musical sound and musical production numbers on TV have been awful. "Hurray for the picture and damn the sound" has been the uncreative cry of TV's creative people.

On May 24, 1960, we did an hour show titled "Sing Along with Mitch." The final count still isn't complete, but the last report revealed that close to 20,000 letters, phone calls and telegrams were received NBC, by me, by the sponsor, and by newspapers all over the country. Their only purpose was to voice delighted satisfaction with the show. In 90 per cent of these letters the writers mentioned the sponsor, the thing TV has been dying for for years.

What really does this avalanche of praise, for which I am so grateful, mean? It means that millions of American youngsters and adults were starved for a selection of popular music with familiar and pretty melodic vocalized by a superb chorus of 25, reproduced with detailed attention to sound quality that everybody could hum or sing with. The star of our show was music—music that has withstood the test of 40 years of singing around the piano. The pictures that accompanied this music were simple, uncomplicated, and never once interfered.

I've recorded nine "Sing Along" albums so far which have sold over 4 1/2 million copies. What more proof could you have that America wants to hear and sing good songs?

Why did I have to wait so long, then, to put on this simple show that has been ready for years? Because the TV executives have stars who cannot create excitement rather than risk succeeding with unknown gut talented people.

They are not, or were not, interested in how well you will entertain but ask what star have you got. The starmen people were finally impressed. I guess, with the powerful success story of the unprecedented sale of the "Sing Along" albums and decided to take a gamble. If the public's craving for good music was strong enough to pay for, it was correct to assume that they would gobble it up for free.

And win or lose, I was given complete control of every phase of the show. With the unusually small but extremely talented team of producer Bill Hobin and writer Gordon Cottler, I set up some ground rules of my own: No studio audience and their meaningless sounds would interfere with the rapport that we hoped to establish between the viewers and the show—this also meant we could do our show in a huge studio instead of a shallow stage; our chorus would be chosen to sing, not to resemble a squad of faceless store dummies; our soloists would be youngsters with nothing but talent; and finally, no silly chatting would interrupt the flow of music.

From all indications, there will be more "Sing Along with Mitch" specials next season.

But, in any case, I'm pleased as punch that the public proved us right.

Polaris Field Is Open To Recruits

The Navy Recruiting Service has announced a direct enlistment program for training in the Polaris Missile Field. Available only to qualified high school graduates, the program is divided into two categories to allow for greater specialization. They are the Polaris Missile Field (Launcher) and Polaris Missile Field (Electronics).

These programs have been in effect for sometime in training men already qualified in submarines; however, training demands for outfitting the Fleet Ballistic Missile force with qualified operational personnel has prompted the opening of these schools for direct enlistment and assignment from incoming recruits.

The Navy also announced a division of the Nuclear Field training program in the hope that it would serve as an incentive for enlistment of men desiring a greater degree of specialization. New recruits are now eligible for guaranteed assignment to the Nuclear Schools involving electronics or the mechanical - electrical school.

Following is a resume of the subject matter involved in the various stages of training through which an enlistee would pass in qualifying in a rating in the Polaris Missile Field: On completion of basic training he is assigned to a Class A school of approximately 40 weeks in basic electronics. Following this is technical training: (1) Fleet Ballistic Missile Weapons System Orientation (35 hrs); Transistor Circuitry (35 hrs); Computer Arithmetic including Boolean Algebra (55 hrs); Electronic Computer Fundamentals (26 hrs); Electronic Computer Circuits (80 hrs); Computer Programming (21 hrs); Data Transmission (19 hrs); Inertial Gyroscope Fundamentals (31 hrs), and Special Test Equipment (15 hrs). Upon completion of the above technical training, the Polaris Field enlistees receive specialized training.

Found An Arm And Hand Near Railroad Tracks

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Two men going fishing saw a strange object Sunday as they crossed the northbound tracks of the Southern Railway on the west side of the city.

Leroy Snoddy and Don Massey told police they looked closer and found the object to be an arm and hand, apparently cut off by the wheels of a train.

They notified authorities, who with railroad police, began searching for the rest of the body, which had been that of a Negro man. Parts of the body were found scattered for 1,630 feet along the track from where the first discovery was made.

Police, who found no identification in the man's blue overalls and shirt, took fingerprints and sent them to the FBI laboratory in Washington in an attempt at identification.

Officers theorized the victim either fell from a train and landed beneath the wheels, or threw himself under the train as a suicide.

Plane Crash Kills Four In Family

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—A single-engine airplane crashed into a hillside Sunday near the western Pennsylvania community of Centerville, killing the four occupants, all members of a Maryland family.

Killed were Richard Callison, 46, Rockyville, Md., the pilot; his wife, Marcela, 49; and two daughters, Sally Ann, about 12, and Zetsy Jane, 9. Two other daughters were home.

Earl Long Sets His Sights On Seat In Congress

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana's stormy former governor, Earl Kemp Long, isn't politically dead.

Almost counted out after a losing race for lieutenant governor last winter, Long, 64, stormed back into the political arena Saturday by running a close second in a field of three in his bid to unseat Rep. Harold McSweeney in Louisiana's Eighth District.

The patriarch of the family that has dominated Louisiana politics for more than three decades says he'll "certainly win" the primary runoff with McSweeney Aug. 27.

Long's first battle cry in the runoff campaign was a statement: "I'm going after Holt." His object is the 10,378 votes polled by Ben F. Holt, 34, Alexandria attorney.

Almost complete unofficial totals showed McSweeney had run about 3,700 votes ahead of Long. With 315 of 316 precincts counted, McSweeney had 29,854 to 26,128 for Long.

McSweeney, 34, completing his first term in Congress in the seat once held by Long's late brother, George S. Long, was equally confident of winning the runoff.

Kennedy To Discuss N. Y. Faction Feud

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy meets today with Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City to discuss presidential campaign strategy and a bitter row among New York Democratic factions.

As the party's presidential nominee, Kennedy, has voiced deep concern lest factional feuds upset appearances in his bid for New York's 45 electoral college votes, the nation's biggest block.

The conference ranked high in importance for this busy week in which Kennedy seeks to clear decks for the arrival of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the vice presidential nominee.

Through press secretary Pierre Salinger, Kennedy announced Sunday that Johnson will fly to Hyannis Port Aug. 1 or 2 to discuss plans for the campaign, and for the Congress session opening Aug. 8.

The two had been out of touch for several days while Johnson was on vacation in Mexico. Salinger said they talked at length by telephone Sunday and that Johnson "gave his support" to Kennedy's campaign plans.

his wife, Jacqueline, at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church in nearby Hyannis. He paid a brief visit later to his maternal grandmother, Josephine Fitzgerald, 95, widow of John F. (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald, one time mayor of Boston, who has a summer home in Hyannis.

There was a big turnout at the church, with people standing in the aisles, many of them evidently unfamiliar with the church ritual and apparently non-Catholics. Police estimated 1,500 were in the church and several hundred remained outside.

Salinger said the week ahead will be "active—more a work week than a rest week."

He announced Tom Mboya, 29, British-educated general secretary of the Kenya Federation of Labor, will fly here Tuesday for talks with the senator.

J. Leonard Reinsch of Atlanta, Ga., Kennedy's radio-television consultant, is due Wednesday. Meetings are scheduled later in the week with Sen. Henry M. Jackson, new Democratic national chairman, and Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 and 1956 presidential nominee.

Guest Editorial

The Future Holds Great Promise

Editor's Note: The following editorial was prepared by W. W. SPEIGHT, President of Greenville's Committee Of One Hundred.

A few years ago a Superior Court Judge, who is now a member of the Supreme Court, told me that he liked to come to Greenville and Pitt County because the people here were known throughout North Carolina as the most progressive in any city and county in the State.

This was not a mere judicial epigram. It was the truth!

Those of us who worked in the ill fated venture of the East Carolina Airport Authority and the Mid-East Airport Authority, although we were unable to pierce the "yokelism curtain" to obtain decent area air service, were proud of Greenville and Pitt County's willingness to stand firm and go all the way to cooperate with other cities and counties in this vital project.

Challenging Ring In New Frontier

By LYNN NISBET YOUTHFUL OUTLOOK — Senator Kennedy's phrase the "New Frontier" has a challenging ring. Franklin Roosevelt's "New Deal" and Terry Sanford's "New Day" are fine. Somehow they connote accomplishment, a goal already attained, a time for enjoying the fruits of past endeavor. The "New Frontier" is ahead, something yet to be explored and conquered. That is a task for young men and women.

Fortunately for the United States and for North Carolina young men will be in positions of leadership for the next four years. The next President of the United States will be John F. Kennedy at 43 or Richard Nixon at 48. At present odds are even on the winner in November. The next Governor of North Carolina is virtually sure to be Terry Sanford at 42. In event of the very long-shot chance of Republican victory in this state, the Governor will be Robert Gavin about the same age. Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic Vice President is 52, and Cloyd Philpott, Democratic Lieutenant Governor is 51. Republicans have not selected their second place candidates, but they are likely to be in the 50 year class.

The next President and Governor will be younger than anybody who has held those offices in 60 years, since Theodore Roosevelt and Charles B. Aycock were inaugurated in 1901. While Aycock did not use the phrase, his invasion of a new frontier was the event from which North Carolina ever since has dated its era of progress.

The thing that most impressed your reporter on his tour with the budget group last week was the youth, in years and in outlook, of the top men in university administration. The only present head of any of the State institutions visited or to be visited this year who was in like capacity on the first tour made in 1944 is Dr. Francis L. Atkins, president of Winston-Salem Teachers College.

UNA-FRAID — Young William C. (Bill) Friday, who was made president of the Consolidated University five years ago (with trepidation on part of many trustees because of his youth) has surrounded himself with a group of equally youthful associates. He together with W. E. Aycock, chancellor at Chapel Hill; John T. Caldwell, chancellor at State College, and Gordon Blackwell, chancellor at Woman's College, form a cooperative team of young men who have seen visions, but are not visionaries, and who waste no time in futile dreams—the province of old men. They are not afraid of new ideas, and new frontiers do not dismay them. The University, already recognized as one of the foremost in the nation, has seen phenomenal growth at all its units during the past five years.

The grandiose (?) plans of these young men sometimes appall the conservative and staid members of the Advisory Budget Commission. Apparent resistance serves only to increase the confidence of the youngsters. "We talk big because we are big," quipped one of them, "and we are going to do a better job in the future than ever has been done in affording educational opportunities for all the people." So it was, that at each place primary emphasis was on provision for college age students, but the needs for "continuing education" facilities for adults seeking refresher courses, improvement conference and such, were not overlooked.

Budget folks asked why this or that facility was needed. The answers of Aycock at Chapel Hill, Blackwell at Greensboro and Caldwell at State (note the ABC of higher education) were almost the same. Men and women in business and the professions and on the farm are eager to keep abreast of the times by continuing their education. They cannot be accommodated in existing facilities without disrupting the regular college class routine. But—they are entitled to opportunity as much as the regular student. GROWING — During legislative sessions of 1953, '55, '57 and to some degree in 1959, an opinion prevailed that development of the co-education idea—the mixing of sexes and races at all institutions—might make continued appropriations for all-women and all-Negro colleges unnecessary. In fact it is under the administration of Chancellor Gordon Blackwell enrollment at Woman's College has put as heavy demands upon that institution as anywhere in the state. The Negro universities—North Carolina College at Durham and A & T at Greensboro—face acute problems of growth, no less than at Chapel Hill and State College. In tenure and in age Dr. Alfonso Elder, president of N. C. College, is the oldest in the university group. In tenure certainly, and perhaps in age, Dr. Samuel DeWitt Proctor, who took over presidency of the first of this month, is youngest. Both have the forward looking attitude. Budget folks are not apt to approve all the requests of A&T for capital improvements, but they liked Dr. Proctor's plan to revamp the agricultural school to put emphasis on the whole business of farming, including processing and marketing; and to make the technological courses better serve the electronic age.

RESUME—The conclusion of the whole matter is that the government and the educational system in North Carolina is being taken over by young people, unafraid of new ideas and undismayed by frontiers. The challenge of Jack Kennedy, Terry Sanford, Bill Friday and their associates is for folks with old ideas to join the parade, step aside—or get run over. They may not be as sure of where they are going as the oldsters are of where they have been, but they are going somewhere—and with assurance and confidence.

The lack of air transportation adequate for the area has been and will be a serious handicap in attracting industry to Eastern North Carolina.

The seeds that were sown in this spirit of cooperation between Eastern North Carolina cities and counties will ultimately reap the desired harvest. This may be for younger hands, however, after some of the present leaders with narrow vision are no longer in the saddle.

This spirit of progress and cooperation in Greenville and Pitt County is important. We are told by the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development that the proper climate is all-important in attracting worthwhile industry. Climate involves much more than the proper attitude. Included in consideration by manufacturers seeking sites for location in the area are such tangible assets as churches, schools, pupil load, school buildings, recreation facilities, scout work and community spirit, in addition to taxes, labor supply, utility rates and services. We are not lacking in these particulars.

High on the list of requirements of industrial prospects are adequate sites that can be purchased for a reasonable price per acre. Greenville now has a 269 acre site only one and one-tenth miles from our city limits. This site has been advertised by our good ally, the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company, in such publications as "The Wall Street Journal," "Fortune Magazine," "Industrial Development Magazine," and other widely circulated publications.

This answers one of the problems that we have been confronted with and points up the fact that Greenville and Pitt County again have taken a progressive stand. I sincerely believe that this is one of the most farsighted moves that we have ever made in our long fight for locating worthwhile industry. Since gearing up for industrial progress by organization and obtaining a site, we have had many prospects. We have worked a lot of these prospects without proper screening and, as a matter of fact, we have literally been sprayed with prospects. Many prospects were purely engaged in a "fishing expedition" and were looking for handouts. Some were needcraft companies only a jump or two ahead of the bankruptcy courts. This situation will be cleared up.

Up to this point, we have not been in favor of doing any local financing. The strong competition between communities may require a closer look in this regard and it may be necessary to finance a plant's move to this area. If we do, let us be sure that the prospect is financially sound and is of the high type of industry we presently have in Pitt County and Greenville.

In this connection patience is sure to be a rewarding virtue.

Pitt County and its cities have every right to be proud of the excellent and high caliber industry already living with us. Support and encouragement should be extended to them for the great job they are doing for our community. Expansion and development of existing plants should not be overlooked.

Although we have some handicaps; the big one, of course, being lack of transportation, I feel that the future holds great promise for industrial progress in Pitt County and Greenville. The North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development is offering us excellent assistance and will put forth every effort to obtain industry for the area.

I am optimistic as to the future. To the people of Pitt County I would say: "Be patient, but stay with it! Stand behind the programs of the Pitt County Development Commission, the Greenville Committee of One Hundred, Greenville Industries, Incorporated, Farmville Economic Council, and other industrial and economic organizations. Support these programs and stand ready to sacrifice some of your time and, if necessary, some of your resources! Prosperity will applaud your efforts."

Second Half Of Political Show

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — They're off and running in the second half of TV's big summer sweepstakes—the political future.

The Republican-National Convention starts in Chicago today, with the networks straining to give home viewers the big picture. This starts another week-four days for the economy-minded Republicans—of set-watching for those who are interested in the great game of politics.

Are too few interested? The TV ratings would indicate that. The total audience for the Democratic National Convention was considerably lower than expected. If we are to believe the surveys. By then, the surveys aren't infallible, as a fellow named Truman can tell you. It's hard to imagine any alert American not wanting to switch on the set to see what the politicians are up to. For this is TV at its best-poking its Argus eye into the once smoke-filled but now air-conditioned rooms where the national destiny is shaped.

The networks got started on their week's labors Sunday night with some sideshow attractions to the main event CBS. Both were handsome and artful. (Continued on page 5)

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS CURE FOR LONELINESS

In the South Atlantic is a tiny island, Tristan da Cunha. It was originally settled by mariners, mostly pirates, who when visited by an English ship and asked what most they needed replied, "Wives." The English brought them a consignment of wives from Africa, and settling down here on the top of this mountain which sticks up out of the ocean, they established a community which today consists of about 260 persons. They are a mildly pigmented-skinned people who speak English with a very delightful accent.

To a westerner visiting this island, it seems to be the last place anyone would want to live. The climate is most unpleasant; the soil—what little there is of it is thin; the life of the people very primitive. Yet, when a few have wandered away from the island, they have returned in a few years and announced their determination to stay. An Anglican clergyman is the real factotum of the little civilization. He is God's shepherd of the flock, the wise man to whom all mooted questions are referred.

Some tourists, stopping off at the island a few years ago, attended the church service. The rector in the course of his sermon made this statement: "Where God is, there is no loneliness."

His utterance made a deep impression on the tourists in his congregation. They knew that it came from a very deep and beautiful experience.

Division Within GOP

Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The Democratic Convention contained three elements which must find points of agreement or go down to defeat. The three elements are:

- 1. The Big City Democrats; 2. The South; 3. The A.D.A.

The elements are divergent but their objective is to elect a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress and then they will try to settle their differences. Franklin D. Roosevelt generally managed to keep these divergent elements together in his person. He functioned somewhat like the British Crown—that is, emotional loyalty to Roosevelt became a substitute for rational response.

The Republicans do not have quite a similar situation, but they too have a division of forces which cannot be ignored. Their division is not as clear-cut as the Democratic one; definition is more difficult. But let us put it this way:

- 1. There is a remnant of Taft Republicanism which is conservative but not reactionary; 2. There are the newer Republicans who came in with Wendell Wilkie and who desire a liberal Republican Party that co-exists with a liberal Democratic Party;

3. There are the Eisenhower Republicans, men and women who are unaccustomed to politics but who admire and even adore President Eisenhower.

Thus there is no genuine Republican image. It was possible in the days of Mark Hanna to describe a Republican with a degree of accuracy. That is altogether impossible today. It is for this reason that a degree of paralysis has been noted in the Eisenhower Administration which, having no majority in Congress, sought to function by executive action or by agreement with Lyndon Johnson. It was a tough position for a party and it would be a great advantage to the American people if the next President and the next Congress were of the same party.

President Eisenhower was not a dyed-in-the-wool Republican. He had been in the army most of his adult life and a professional army officer has no party. When Eisenhower decided to become a Republican, he had to learn the peculiarities of our political system which, of course, is nothing like the politics in the army. In civilian life, it is necessary for a man to be friendly with his opponent, as undoubtedly Kennedy and Nixon are and will be after the campaign. In the arm, a

Other Editors Saying Tar Heel Growers Beware

(Greensboro Daily News)

One thing North Carolina farmers must do if they wish to retain, much less expand, foreign markets whose consumption, although relatively small, may represent the margin of difference between profit and loss when the books are balanced for the farm year: Wishes of foreign buyers must be recognized in type and quality of product.

For the past several seasons flue-cured tobacco exports have been threatened by failure of growers to produce the quality tobacco which foreign companies seek. The warning has been sounded again this year. Emphasis has in fact been expanded to include warnings from domestic companies. Our tobacco economy does not even hold its own when the Tobacco Stabilization Corporation has to take over a growing percentage of the crop; tobacco that no company wants nevertheless hangs as a threat over the market. What to do with this unwanted tobacco, its storage costs and its deterioration, challenges our farm leadership and our economy. Now a somewhat similar situation has arisen over North Carolina and Virginia grown corn. A meeting of growers at Elizabeth City was told that foreign buyers are complaining that the quality of corn in the two states has declined rapidly in recent years due to early harvesting and improper handling.

At stake is export of about 35,000,000 bushels of corn grown mostly in the Elizabeth City area and bringing annually about $18,000,000 for North Carolina and Virginia growers. B. T. Skeels, U.S. Department of Agriculture trade specialist just back from Europe where he went to check on complaints, declares that "many foreign buyers already are investigating the possibility of importing corn from other countries."

Disregard of warnings by tobacco and corn growers not only invites substantial loss and further dislocation for them but contributes to a generally sagging economy. There is only one sound, sensible farm course: Find out what the market wants and grow it.

Another Pig Deal Out Of Canada

By ELMER ROESSNER When this reporter was a cub on the San Francisco News, the "pig deal" came to town.

Promoters offered this proposition: "Buy a sow for $50. We will feed and cherish her. She will farrow 12 young pigs. We will take half, males, in full payment for our feed and care. You will have 7, which in turn will farrow 84. Again we will keep half and you will have the other 42 which, with the 7 you already have, will make 49. These will have 548 piglets, of which we will keep 274, and your total will be 323."

This could go on until you had a million pigs, which you could sell for $50 each. Pig dealers opened offices all over town. One of the city's biggest rum runners got into the business.

BOY SLEUTH My city editor, Gene Cohn, now an editor for Central Press, assigned me to look into the pig deals. I reported back that they were obviously swindlers, that if pigs could actually multiply that fast at so little cost, the promoters would keep the pigs themselves instead of selling them, but that there was almost no way to prove fraud. To make matters worse, some big dealers had lined up a University of California professor to make a statement that the whole plan was sound and practical. As an old St. Mary's College man, I instinctively realized this was false, but again proof was lacking.

Mr. Cohn hit upon an idea. I was sent out to visit various pig-deal establishments each day pretending I was a sucker. I pretended to have an inheritance and asked "the simplest questions."

Then each day I wrote, with wide-eyed astonishment, about all the wonderful things I had been promised, about all the wealth that would be mine and how I would become the pig magnate of the Western World. My city editor laughed up my writing, making me the perfect boob, and cartoonist George Storm added sketches.

LICKED BY LAUGHTER

Soon all San Francisco was laughing at me. But it also laughed at anyone who would fall for the pig deal. To show interest in the deals was to confess being a sap.

Most of the pig dealers left town. One, Harry Brotski, didn't. He had a date for a trial on charges of violating the prohibition laws. One day, at recess, he walked over to the reporters' table, shook my hand and said, "Elmer, you sure ruined a fine racket for me!"

Today the mails from Canada are carrying offers of a new pig deal. You can buy five piglets for $65 and pay $5 a month each for maintenance. After four months the pigs, round and plump, will be sold and at a

Rivalry That Is Hurtful

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — I am not now forecasting World War III, but neither the United States nor Russia can continue to spend such vast amounts of money on missiles, rockets, submarines, etc. Either there must be a reduction in armaments (Khrushchev is as anxious for this as we are), or World War III is inevitable. However, my message this week is on the subject of COMPETITION, which will be the "ammunition" Russia will probably use to fight the cold war. FOREIGN COMPETITION During my last trip to Germany, I was astounded at the competition which is developing there. Not only are wages very low, but the efficiency of the workers is very high. German industrialists are continuing to make new machines which can ever replace their own workers. This applies to plastics, textiles, and many other products. It seems as though this competition from Germany will cause unemployment in our country sooner or later.

Added to the competition from Europe, we also have much from Japan. I could give illustrations which would seem to you unbelievable. These involve a great variety of articles ranging from table dollies, which sell for 2 cents apiece, to radios, cameras, and even television sets. It all seems fantastic, and detrimental to American manufacturers and wage-workers. The only concern which can possibly profit from it are big concerns such as Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, and the chain stores which can buy and sell in tremendous quantities.

COMPETITION WITH OURSELVES

Before World War II, the leading manufacturers were content to make their own products but they have now added products of others which, in many cases, have no relation to their basic products. This not only causes overproduction, but it reduces profits. I fear that the average United States businessman may be caught in a squeeze, with increased costs but with declining prices for his products.

Let me give a few illustrations of this domestic internal competition. The new manufacture of missiles! General Mills has wandered away from its basic food products to make precision instruments! Textron, basically a textile manufacturer, is buying into various new businesses with which it has had no experience.

EXPANSION VERSUS DIVERSIFICATION

While there is no legitimate reason for much of the above diversification, there is justification for companies to expand in their own lines. (Pittsburgh) Consolidation Coal is becoming increasingly active in the field of organic chemicals; this is wise. American Viscose, a major producer of rayon and nylon yarns and cellophane paper, has now legitimately gone all-out into the plastic-chemical field.

It is wise for a company to seek new markets for its available raw materials. American Viscose has joined with Sun Oil Company to produce polypropylene, thus competing in the petrochemical field with Dow, Monsanto, and Union Carbide. These companies which are expanding within their own fields should be safer investments; but some of those which have neglected their own business to go into missiles and rockets may suffer large losses.

LABOR VERSUS MANAGEMENT

During this cold war, it is too bad to see the competition between labor and management which results in serious strikes. A labor strike against management is an industrial battle and may well be compared to military warfare between two nations. This especially is true now, while the cold war with Russia is in progress. Some believe that a national dictator is necessary to make labor and management cooperate; but this seems unnecessary in a nation which professes Christianity and the teachings of Jesus. It will be difficult enough to hold our own against competition from abroad and domestic

ONLY IF HALP DEAD

The Tax Court has ruled that a man who took a convalescent trip to Bermuda on the advice of a doctor, after two emergency operations, is entitled to deduct plane fare for himself and his wife as a medical expense. Don't let this give you ideas. The man was not wealthy, obviously weak, had no fun, and was following his doctor's orders. If you take a medical trip, chances are the government will decide it was a vacation and disallow deductions.

N. C. Republican Delegates Adopt A 'Fluid Strategy'

CHICAGO (AP) — North Carolina delegates have decided on a fluid strategy for the Republican national convention.

They drew up the plan Sunday at a caucus that devoted little time to candidates and gave considerable thought to a civil rights plank.

Stage Their Own Political Event

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A National political powwow recently ended in Los Angeles, another's starting in Chicago—but is that enough for Hollywood?

Not on your life. The movie moguls had to set up their own. The color, the drama, the excitement—all these were available in the genuine commodity when the Democrats were in town.

You'd think it was made to order for a movie company about to shoot a political convention sequence. But they don't do things that way out here. So—

A new and unusual political convention was staged last week. The press tables were filled, but not a word went out. Speeches boomed, candidates were ballyhooed—and it never made TV.

Why didn't Warner Bros. use all the honest-to-goodness politicking? The Democrats didn't follow the right script, that's why. The signs had different names, the cast wasn't right. Everything was all wrong.

For the movie, "A Fever in the Blood," 800 delegates packed the hall, strawhatted and shirtsleeved and festooned with campaign buttons.

It was just like real—until the cameras stopped grinding. Then the "delegates" were too quiet. They didn't chatter enough. These were no out-of-lowers on hand to polittick, mend fences and make new friends.

They were bored extras, waiting for the lights to go back on, the stars to resume their places, the director to cry "action" so they could gawk and react as instructed.

Any remaining illusion of reality was smashed when men rushed in with smoke machines. "A little more smoke in the center," boomed the loudspeakers "Hold it, that's too much."

When the cameras started again, reality came back. It looked a lot like the real thing—for a minute or so at a time.

NEW CHAIN LETTER
PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) —They've got a new chain letter gimmick here. In it, the recipients are advised to send a bottle of whisky or case of beer to a name on the list, and later get back a dozen bottles or cases. Chain letters are illegal in Florida if anything of value is offered.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.

At your druggist. Money back guaranteed.

U.S. Capitol Getting First Bath In 95 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Capitol is getting its first real bath in 95 years—and the results are astounding even those who proposed the cleanup.

Almost a century of accumulated grime is vanishing under the combined assault of high pressure water and sand blasting.

Emerging for the first time in decades is the dazzling white surface of the Massachusetts marble used in construction of the House and Senate wings of the Capitol.

"The results are absolutely amazing," said D. Stafford Kelley, an official of the Capitol architect's office and project director ulate. Their response to questions can best be described in football terms. Goldwater was a line-plunger, Rockefeller an end-around man.

Nixon and Rockefeller also showed up on a pre-convention program on ABC. The vice president had an effective exchange with Edward P. Morgan, one of TV's best interviewers.

Although the main result seems pre-ordained, this week's affair may prove that the Grand Old Party can also put on as lively a scrap as the Democrats. The principal difference, as this observer sees it, is the switch in accents.

There will be less of the Southern and Bostonian tones, and more of the Midwestern plus the accentless Californian of Nixon.

It will be interesting to note how many versions we will hear of "Chicago."

My favorite so far: Rockefeller's shu-cog-a.

committee trying to fashion a civil rights plank, said the policy agreement between Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller caused a resentful reaction among the platform builders.

The consensus of her subcommittee was for a modest (sic) expression of civil rights principles, she said, but the members encountered opposition from the chairman, Joseph F. Carlino of New York.

"The five members from the South," she said, "have set a point beyond which we will not retreat."

Appointed to the floor strategy committee were Cobb, Kenneth D. Thomas of Hickory, John A. Wilkinson, Mrs. Rogers and National Committeeman J. E. Broyhill.

The delegation has a date to call on Nixon. It has been set tentatively for 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Welfare State Blueprint Seen

COLUMBIA (AP)—South Carolina's junior U.S. senator, Strom Thurmond, says the 1960 Democratic platform "offers only dejection, contempt and beratement" for Southerners.

And, the 1948 States Rights presidential candidate said Saturday in a prepared statement, the document "is directed not at Americans and citizens as such, but at innumerable special interest groups, blocs and minorities."

"To each," he added, "with the exception of 50 million Southerners—the platform dangles a juicy lure of political pap."

"There is room for question as to whether even the Communist nations, to which an entire section is devoted, are not addressed with greater respect than are Southerners."

The former governor discussed the platform planks in some detail and said it "sounds like the death-knell of the Democratic party known to our forebears."

He called the platform "a blueprint for a welfare state and an end to individual liberty and dignity in the United States... A road map for economic collapse and unconditional surrender to the forces of socialism... A chart for amalgamation of the races and a reduction of individuals... to the lowest common denominator."

The new look on the Capitol also is extending to the dome and the building's west front.

The west front is being painted instead of cleaned, Kelley explained, because it is constructed of sandstone and could not withstand the water and sand blasting.

Believes Rocky Sees Nixon Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — The man who lost to Nelson A. Rockefeller in the 1958 New York gubernatorial election says he thinks he knows what Rockefeller is up to.

Former Gov. W. Averell Harriman said Sunday Rockefeller acts as if he expects Vice President Richard M. Nixon to lose the presidential election. Rockefeller then would be out to take over the Republican party in 1964, Harriman speculated on a local television program.

Helicopter Saves Tired Fisherman

BROKEN BOW, Okla. (AP)—An Air Force helicopter brought a fisherman back to earth Sunday from his 7-hour roost in a gum tree above a raging mountain stream.

Jack Dean, 25, of Broken Bow was caught in a sudden surge of the river while fly fishing. He was forced to climb the tree for safety.

His brother Jerry, 20, made it ashore. Attempts to rescue Dean by boat were futile. The river had risen 12 feet in minutes.

The state highway patrol called on a helicopter from Perrin Air Force Base, Tex. On the second pass Dean was pulled to safety.

Jay Hebert Birdies 17th To Capture PGA Victory

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Jay Hebert finally got even with his kid brother.

The ex-marine, wounded at Iwo Jima, stormed out of a four-way crush Sunday to win the 42nd Professional Golfers' Assn. championship by a stroke, leaving 1947 champion Jim Ferrier, three-time champion Sam Snead, and third-round leader Doug Sanders in his wake.

That should put a stop to the "needling" Jay, 37, has been getting down around his bayou home in Lafayette, La., ever since his brother, Lionel, 32, won the same title three years ago.

The Hebert boys, on the tour only five years, are the only brother act to grab a big-time title since the Smith brothers, Alex and Willie, did it in the Na-feature was at match play. Jay did it on Firestone Country Club's 7165-yard "monster" over which par was bettered only 13 times in four days.

Hebert wound up with a par 70 and a 72-hole 281, one over par, with birdies on two of the last four holes. Ferrier, the ex-Australian with the dip in his swing, was second at 282, and Snead and Sanders deadlocked at 283.

Arnold Palmer, famed for his finishes in winning the Masters and Open crowns this year, couldn't make up a stroke on the final 18 with a par 70 and wound up tied for seventh with ex-champion Doug Ford at 286.

Snead, who has "Blown" several big championships with shaky finishes, did it again. With two holes to play he held a stroke lead in a four-way fight for the finish. But he bogied the last two to lose three strokes to Hebert.

Hebert picked up $11,000 of the record $63,000 purse, boosting his year's earnings to $33,002. Ferrier almost doubled his previous take with the $5,500 second prize. Snead and Sanders collected $3,350. Snead, appearing in only 10 tournaments this season, has won $16,916.

State Teen-er Tourney Starts Here Tuesday

Elizabeth City, Whiteville, Gastonia and either Lenoir or Shelby will make up the four-team field for the North Carolina V. F. W. State Teen-er Tournament which opens in Greenville tomorrow morning.

The double elimination tournament will open Tuesday with two games scheduled for the morning and one each in the afternoon and night.

Elizabeth City, advancing to the state tourney by virtue of its two straight wins over Greenville, will meet the winner of the Shelby-Lenoir series, which had not been reported this morning, at Guy Smith Stadium at 10:00. At the same time, Whiteville, winners over St. Pauls in a playoff series, will meet Gastonia at the East Carolina College field.

The two first round losers will meet in the afternoon at 5:00 at the stadium and the two winners will meet under the lights at 7:30.

Two games are on slate for Wednesday and a final game, if needed, will be played on Thursday morning.

Winner of the Greenville tournament will advance to Greenville, Tenn. on August 3rd and 4th for area playoffs.

Gordon Goodman, State Youth and Athletic Director, is in charge of the State Teen-er League Tournament which is being held in Greenville for the third consecutive year.

Winstead Cops Singles Title

ASHEVILLE (AP)—Jim Winstead of Roxboro, N.C., preserved the honor of Tar Heel tennis players by winning the men's singles title Sunday in the North Carolina Open tennis championships.

Other than that, out-of-state players, chiefly South Carolinians, dominated the tournament.

Winstead, seeded No. 4, upset No. 2 seeded Bob Burns of Columbia, S.C., 7-5, 6-3, 6-4, 7-9, 6-2. It was Winstead's first major singles title.

Sally Seebeck of Charleston, S. C., topped favored Inez Long of Atlanta, Ga., 6-2, 6-2, Saturday for the women's singles title.

In men's doubles play, top-seeded Keith Stoneman and Bob Galoway, both of Greenville, defeated Cormac McGarvey of Brunswick, Ga., and Buddy Culver of St. Simons Island for the championship, 6-1, 7-5.

Inez Long and Caroline Grubbs of Anderson, S.C., won the women's doubles title, beating Sally Seebeck and Julia Blake of Belton, S.C., 3-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Donny Dial of Columbia, S.C., the junior singles champ, teamed with Woody Cleveland, also of Columbia, for the junior doubles title. They beat William Poore of Belton, S.C., and Sam Applegate of Charleston, 6-4, 6-3.

In the senior division, Hank Crawford of College Park, Ga., won the singles title, beating Vince Connerat of Atlanta, 8-6, 2-6, 6-2.

Gil Stacy of Charlotte and Arthur Enloe of Atlanta upset top-seeded G. A. York of Atlanta and Connerat, 7-5, 6-3, for the senior doubles title.

Wilson Sweeps Pair From Bulls

League-leading Wilson swept both ends of a double-header from Durham Sunday and kept pace with red hot Greensboro who climbed last week from the cellar into a tie for second place in the Carolina League.

Greensboro defeated Raleigh 10-9 Sunday to tie the Caps for the runnerup position, two games behind the leader. Wilson defeated Durham 6-5 and 3-1. The Winston-Salem at Burlington game was postponed by rain.

Wilson's Tobs came from behind with three runs in the bottom of the eighth in the first game. The winners made the most of three hits in the second game, scoring twice in the fourth and again in the fifth to erase a 1-0 Durham lead. Gene Davis' two-run homer was the big blow.

Greensboro belted 17 hits, but scored only two earned runs in its high scoring battle with Raleigh.

Tonight Wilson is at Durham, Winston-Salem plays a double-header at Burlington and Greensboro plays at Raleigh.

Raleigh Second In Swim Meet

SPARTANBURG (AP)—The individual effort of Kathy Helfrich spearheaded the Spartanburg County Aquatic Assn. to the 5th annual Peach Blossom Invitational swim meet title.

Little Kathy led girls in the under-10 age bracket with 28 points. Her team got a total of 230 points.

Second in team standings was Raleigh, N.C., with 184 points. Asheville, N.C. was third with 130.

Six American records were shattered during the meet which ended here Saturday.

RALEIGH (AP)—A 6-9 high school star from Harvard, Ill., has accepted a grant-in-aid to play basketball at North Carolina State College.

Coach Everett Case said Ronald Gossell, 18, is an accurate inside shooter and aggressive under the boards. He averaged more than 16 points a game last season for his Harvard Community High team which won 22 games in a row before losing in the second round of the state playoffs.

MacKay To Head Davis Cup Team In Mexico Bid

CHICAGO (AP)—Barry MacKay, at the peak of his game after impressively winning the National Clay Courts Tennis Title, today headed the U.S. Davis Cup team toward Mexico City.

The four-man squad of MacKay, Bernard (Tut) Bartzten, Chuck McKinley and Earl Buchholz, are to arrive in the Mexican capital tonight.

They will have nearly two weeks to get acclimated to the high altitude before opening the second round of American Zone Davis Cup competition, which, as in Canada, will be played on clay courts.

The U.S. team trimmed Canada in the first round before arriving at the River Forest Tennis Club here, where the 24-year-old MacKay never was sharper in hammering down the mechanical Bartzten Sunday 4-6, 7-5, 6-0, in the finals.

Bartzten, 32, noted as the best clay courts player around, was deprived of his third-straight National Clay Courts title by the heavy hitting MacKay, who scored 13 service aces in the hour and 38 minute match.

In closing out with love-set, the 6-foot-4-inch MacKay had four aces and twice broke Bartzten's service in demolishing his opponent in 15 minutes.

The women's title went to 35-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode for the fourth time. The 1951, 1955, 1958 champion defeated 19-year-old Gwyn Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio, 6-3, 6-3. Mrs. Head said she now plans to retire from major competition.

The Australian duo of Bob Hewitt and Marty Mulligan captured the doubles championship by downing Martin Biesens of Hinsdale, Ill., and Ramsey Earnhart, Ventura, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, 11-13, 6-4.

Petty Argues Race Decision

Buck Baker of Spartanburg, S. C., was declared winner of the 100-mile lake model stock car race at Myrtle Beach's Rambi Raceway Saturday night, but Lee Petty of Randleman, N.C., claims he, and not Baker, was the winner.

Petty says he didn't make a pit stop charged against him. He is expected to appeal to NASCAR officials for a ruling.

Track officials said Baker still would be the winner, and Petty second, even if Petty were not charged with the stop. In that event, Ned Jarrett of Newton, N. C., would be third.

Baker won first-money of $800 out of a total purse of $4,200.

In other races, Glenn Killian of Hickory won the 40-lap feature for late model limited sportsman cars Saturday night at Hickory Speedway. Don Tilley of Statesville was second and Glenn Dunkle of Hickory third.

Braves Nudge Into First Place With Sweep Of Pair

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
For the first time since May 30, the National League has a new leader. Pittsburgh finally has given way to the charge of the Milwaukee Braves who have been chewing chunks out of the Pirate lead in recent days.

Just before the All-Star break, the Pirate lead measured 5½ games. The wise men along Broadway had tabbed the Bucs as 1 to 4 favorites to win the pennant.

Milwaukee closed the gap Sunday by whipping Chicago twice 7-5 and 1-0 behind a couple of familiar names. Warren Spahn and Bob Buhl, The Pirates, trailing 6-0, scared San Francisco with three runs in the ninth and had Manager Tom Sheehan digging deep into his bullpen for three pitchers before the Giants finally nailed down a 6-3 victory.

Los Angeles, blazing hot with 29 consecutive innings of shutout pitching—27 against the Phillies—blanked the Phils again 9-0. Stan Williams, the big man of the Dodger staff, hit a two-run homer during an eight-run spurt in the third inning and then managed to pitch a 10-hit shutout.

St. Louis came up with two in the ninth with the help of an error by Roy McMillan and a double by Bill White and nipped Cincinnati 6-5. The result left the Cards in fourth place but only one percentage point behind the third-place Dodgers. Each is four games behind the Braves.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox maintained their one-game lead by splitting a doubleheader with New York. The White Sox won the first 6-3 and lost the second 8-2 before 60,002. Boston dumped Cleveland twice 10-7 and 7-6. Baltimore edged Detroit 2-1 in 11 innings. After making five errors in the seventh inning while losing the first game to Kansas City, 6-3, Washington slammed out 16 hits and won the second 10-2.

The Braves gave Spahn the support of a 12-hit attack including home runs by Johnny Logan and Joe Adcock as the veteran won his 11th. Buhl tied up with rookie Jim Brewer, up from Houston, in a real pitching duel until Mel Roach doubled with two out in the ninth inning of the second game. Logan was given an intentional pass and Al Spangler, running for Roach, stole third. Dark then laced a single to left for the run. It was Buhl's 10th victory.

The Giants were rolling with a 6-0 lead on homers by Willie Mays and Bob Schmidt when a blister developed on Billy O'Dell's pitching hand after he waked Dick Groat to lead off the ninth. Johnny Antonelli, the first relief man, was knocked out. Billy Loes, next in line, was thumbed out for arguing with the plate umpire. Mike McCormick finally got the side out.

In the big third inning, Los Angeles sent 11 men to the plate against John Buzhardt and Jim Owens and eight of them got hits. Norm Larker regained the league batting lead at .344 with two of the Dodgers' 15 hits.

Cincinnati appeared to have locked up the game with St. Louis when it scored two in the seventh for a 5-3 edge but Stan Musial's homer out the edge to one run in the eighth and the Cards pulled it out with a rally against Jay Hook and Bill Henry in the ninth. McMillan's error let one run in and White's double scored the other. Bob Gibson was the winner on relief and hook was the loser.

Title Won By Perry In Playoff

ASHEVILLE (AP)—The Beaver Lake Invitation golf tournament was the first of the year for Billy Perry of Greenville, S.C., but he responded to the pressure of a sudden death playoff for the title as if it were an everyday occurrence.

"I'm just going to speak my mind," Jim said. "I've got a lot to tell him."

Cronin, in an unusual move, also told Piersall to bring his wife, Mary, to the session. But on that angle, Piersall balked.

"That's utterly ridiculous," he snorted. "I'm not going to take her. She's pregnant and not feeling well. She's upset about this whole thing and I'm just not going to do it."

She is regarded by close friends of the family as a steady, soothing influence on Piersall, who once spent some time in the violent room of a suburban Boston hospital.

Piersall, who was fined $100 by Cronin for his actions in Saturday's game with Boston, faces possible drastic disciplinary action. Cronin has the authority to suspend him indefinitely.

"They all think I'm nuts," Piersall said. "I'm just high strung."

Piersall Called On Carpet

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Fiery Jim Piersall, Cleveland's explosive, high-strung outfielder, has been called on the carpet by American League President Joe Cronin to explain his antics and umpire-baiting tactics.

"Sure I'm going," Jim said Sunday after receiving Cronin's telegram ordering him to the conference in the American League office today. "I've got to go. It's an order."

"I'm just going to speak my mind," Jim said. "I've got a lot to tell him."

Cronin, in an unusual move, also told Piersall to bring his wife, Mary, to the session. But on that angle, Piersall balked.

"That's utterly ridiculous," he snorted. "I'm not going to take her. She's pregnant and not feeling well. She's upset about this whole thing and I'm just not going to do it."

She is regarded by close friends of the family as a steady, soothing influence on Piersall, who once spent some time in the violent room of a suburban Boston hospital.

Piersall, who was fined $100 by Cronin for his actions in Saturday's game with Boston, faces possible drastic disciplinary action. Cronin has the authority to suspend him indefinitely.

"They all think I'm nuts," Piersall said. "I'm just high strung."

Then he turned to umpires. "They give me a lot of bad calls, and they give the team a lot of bad calls. They're hurting the team. I wonder if they are doing it to me to get at the team, or if they're doing it to the team to get at me? I wonder what their point is?"

The fine was leveled for actions during a violent, red-necked argument between Piersall and umpire Ed Hurley in Saturday's game. Cronin watched it on television.

Jim was thumbed out of that game, along with two other Indians and Manager Joe Gordon. Gordon and two others also got the heave during Sunday's doubleheader, for a variety of protests.

Piersall escaped banishment Sunday but had a part in the proceedings, alternately jeering and chatting with fans, haranguing umpires and squatting cross-legged behind the flagpole in centerfield.

He has had a running fight with umpires all season and his antics have been the talk of the league. Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane ordered him to take a rest earlier this season.

Hurley, the object of some of Piersall's taunts, was disgusted. "I feel like quitting," the umpire said. "They pay that guy $32,500 a year. And how much do I get for taking his abuse?"

Piersall stayed behind in Boston today for an appearance before American League President Joe Cronin while the rest of the squad packed their war clubs and set off for New York, where they open a four-game series against the Yankees Tuesday.

Team members said they may send a committee to General Manager Frank Lane to demand that he take action to curb Piersall's antics.

one irate player told a reporter the team is on the verge of a revolt, adding that "Lane has got to do something or the entire team will fall apart."

A veteran Tribesman said the Indians "still have a good chance to win the pennant, but not if Piersall remains unchecked. We got a lot of rough decisions from umpires in the Boston series. They lean over backward when Piersall is concerned but take it out on the rest of the players."

Members of the team said they thought the fines that have been levied on Piersall will have little effect.

"They talk about the $350 he (Piersall) has paid in fines this season," said one player. "That's a big joke. He will make far more than that making personal appearances. But we aren't going to make any extra money unless we win the pennant."

Cronin called Piersall on the carpet to explain his antics and umpire-baiting tactics.

CHAPTER 21
Late in the morning of Labor Day, Judge Hoffman called a press conference at which he read a prepared statement reciting that some months ago Senator Alex S. Simon had tried to bribe him with a promise of a Federal judgeship if he would declare a mistrial in the Hart murder case. The judge reminded the reporters of the fact that there had been a mistrial motion made at the trial and that he had turned it down.

He heard someone call his name.
The stranger shouted, "Senator, there's a long-distance call for you in the Administration Building. A newspaper reporter named Stimson. He said to tell you that it was urgent."

Things have reached a sorry state when the opposition stoops to tactics like this. The District Attorney, a New Deal sneak who goes around drowning little Jewish boys, forms an unholy alliance with a gin-soaked rummy who passes himself off as a judge. And between them they hope to steal the election with a fairy story. Why, that pair of mangy, cubonic, conscienceless liars, cowards at heart and yellow to the core, wouldn't know the truth even if they ran into it at high noon. When was all this bribery supposed to have taken place?

In the months since the trial, however, he had become convinced that he had denied the motion because of a wish to prove himself above the conditions of a bribe rather than because of any lack of legal merit in the motion, Norman Hart's recent attempt to kill himself had borne heavily on his conscience, and he now felt compelled to bring out all the facts so that the defendant could receive the new trial to which Judge Hoffman believed he was unquestionably entitled.

"I'm always available to the press. Particularly the opposition press. I don't care what they say about me as long as they say it. If the day ever comes when I can't stand the heat, I'll get out of the kitchen."

"In February! Then why didn't Hoffman speak out before now?"
"That's a good question, Senator. I'm looking into it. In the meantime, do you have any comment on this: Callahan says the Senate has the duty to investigate the charges against you."

Senator Simon, unaware of the development, was coming in at a small airport outside the little town of Bugieville, famous as the birthplace of Aimless Artie Smith, the only man from Bugieville to receive two votes for Governor at a state convention. When the Senator's airplane land-

A few minutes later Simon sat down in the State Fair Superintendent's office. He lit a cigar, then, with smoke spiraling around him, picked up the phone. "Yes, Phil?"
"Senator, a little while ago Judge Hoffman held a press conference in which he asserted that you tried to bribe him with a promise of a Federal judgeship. According to him, you wanted him to declare a mistrial in the Hart case because you thought this would have the effect of shutting the District Attorney out at the June convention."

Simon, gradually recovering his poise, said with the slightest of smiles, "If the members of some rump committee are going to try to embarrass me, I'll see what I can do about embarrassing them. I'll venture to predict that the scrambling among potential committee members to have important business outside the Washington city limits during the investigation will verge on panic. Besides, it seems to me that the man who needs investigating is the 'Honorable' Judge Hoffman. If his story is true, then he had the duty to do something about it at the time, and let's have him tell us why he didn't. The truth of the matter is, he probably dreamed the whole thing up in his cups and doesn't even know he's lying himself. That alcoholic has no business being on the Superior Court Bench, and I'd like to ask the Rowton Bar Association what they intend to do about it. Let's have Hoffman tell us whether he keeps a little silver flask in his desk drawer!"

who until now had felt it their unpleasant duty—and they hoped Dan understood this — to force themselves to remain neutral in the primary battle.

Less than thirty minutes ago the District Attorney had scored another triumph. Dave Redstone, on behalf of his client, Mrs. Thomas, had accepted the District Attorney's latest offer for the settlement of injuries received by her son on the Fourth of July. Tomorrow they would petition the court in an amicable proceeding for the appointment of a guardian to approve the settlement.

Larry Cosmo, the portly campaign fund raiser, beamed. "The news about Alex and the mistrial even seems to have reached old Uncle Charlie Hart on his Sampan County farm. While you were over at Redstone's office, Dan, he came in from his bantams and pheasants long enough to pay his respects via long-distance phone. He doesn't think Simon can bounce back, and he even suggested that in the few days remaining, you and young Charlie campaign as a team. Jackie Eubanks must be giving young Charlie a better run for it than the old man expected."

"I hope Eubanks beats him," Callahan said. "I don't want to be saddled with Charlie Hart Junior and his basketball in the November race. I never did have any use for the seven foot—"

"You have to remember sir, the if Charlie Junior wins in the primary, then until November he's out seven-foot—, and we might as well resign ourselves to the fact that while you're making speeches, he'll be making hook-shots. Never forget that the Fourteenth Amendment gave basketball fans the vote. Well, maybe it wasn't the Fourteenth, but they picked it up somewhere."

"Perhaps," Bosworth said tartly. "we ought to get back on the track. The Primary Eve telecast."

"Yes," the press agent said. He took an embossed folder out of his briefcase. "I've set up a rough plan here. We open with Dan and his family in their living room. A fire's burning."

"We don't have a fireplace."
"Check. Anyhow, it'd be too warm for a fire in September. Now what we want to create is a really intimate feeling; we're inviting hundreds of thousands of people into your home—we hope—and we want them to feel welcome. In fact, I suggest..."

Would Cut Arms By One Third

TORSBY, Sweden (AP) — Foreign Minister Osten Unden suggested Sunday that international conferences of military and other experts be called to find a way of reducing the world's arms by a third.

"I don't believe this problem is indivisible in the sense that the whole complex of questions can be investigated by a single organ," he said in a speech. "A series of investigations by experts ought to make possible at least some preliminary results."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market failed to hold a slight rise and went into another decline early this afternoon. Trading was slow.

Losses of fractions to about a point outnumbered an array of small gainers.

The market was a bit ahead on balance as the session started but there was no strong leadership and it wasn't long before the list showed more minus than plus signs.

A continuation of spotty earnings reports for the second quarter, the drift of steel production in typical summer doldrums, a reported slow-up in copper demand, and the uncertain international situation were factors.

Steels, autos, rails, tobaccos, and mail order-retails were among losers. Chemicals, aircrafts, and electronics were mixed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.41 to 606.46.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .30 to 213.70 with the industrials off .70, the rails up .20 and the utilities down .10.

Corporate bonds were irregular. U.S. government bonds were about unchanged.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina poultry markets: fryers and broilers, farm price 17.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Janie Buck

Mrs. Janie Harper Buck, 71, died suddenly at her home in Norfolk at 8:25 Friday night following a heart attack suffered a few minutes earlier.

Funeral services were conducted at the Berry-Twiford Funeral Home in Norfolk at eleven o'clock Monday morning by the Rev. Fred Ribenbark, her pastor. The body was brought to Greenville late Monday afternoon and funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park. The Rev. Earl Rodgers, Baptist minister of Washington, will officiate.

Mrs. Buck had spent her life in Pitt and Beaufort counties prior to moving to Norfolk in 1938. She was a member of the Fairmont Park Free Will Baptist Church in Norfolk.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Herbert Paschal of Wash-

Recreation Work Value Is Cited

AYDEN — Recreation Director of Ayden, William (Bill) Singletary, told Ayden Lions recently that a good recreation program will lower mental deficiencies.

Discussing the advantages of a good recreational program, Singletary said the program, if well carried out, also could decrease juvenile delinquency and teach the children as well as the adults good sportsmanship.

He said he was getting very good response from the citizens of Ayden in carrying out his job. He was introduced by Van D. Hatch.

Veto Abene was a guest of Van Hatch at the meeting. C. O. Pratt, vice president, presided and also won the on-time prize. Stencil Sumrell is responsible for next week's prize.

Last Rites Set For James F. Merrill

Mr. James Franklin Merrill, 52, died suddenly at his home near Greenville on the Ayden Highway at ten o'clock Monday morning. He suffered a heart attack about 15 months ago and had been inactive since that time. Funeral services will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 by his pastor, the Rev. Howard McLamb.

Mr. Merrill was born and reared in Maryland and attended school at Mount Savage. He moved to Greenville from Springfield, Md. in 1948 and had been employed at Carolina Dairies for ten years prior to his retirement. He was a member of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, the Greenville Moose Club, and the Red Men.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mildred Wilson Merrill; a son, Jimmy Merrill of the home; his mother, Mrs. Myrtle J. Merrill of Cumberland, Md.; a sister, Mrs. Ray E. Frankenberg of Cumberland, Md.; and a brother, Charles Merrill of Cumberland.

Solicitor Speaks To Bethel Rotary

BETHEL — District Solicitor Bob Rouse of Farmville spoke to the Bethel Rotary Club recently on "Capital Punishment."

He pointed out that legislation in recent years has been trending away from capital punishment. Prior to 1910, Rouse said, hangings took place in the county where the crime was committed. Then the electric chair was used until 1935, when it was replaced by the gas chamber, he said.

Weekend Accidents Take 21 N.C. Lives

North Carolinians flocked to the rivers and seashore during a hot, humid weekend. At least nine of them drowned and another died in a boat collision in a weekend marked by at least 21 violent deaths.

Four members of a Familico County family drowned in Broad Creek off the Neuse River near New Bern. They were Edward B. Woodard, 38; wife Carol, 32, and two children—Lorna, 7, and Sherill, 12. Another daughter, Lewelyn, 10, was rescued.

Three Statesville Negroes on a fishing expedition in the Catawba River in Iredell County drowned: Credis Bynum, 62, and his wife Ethel, 55, drowned trying to rescue their foster child, 5-year-old Billy Wayne, who slipped into the water.

Billy Webb, 19, Negro of Rt. 1, New Bern, drowned while on a boating excursion with friends near New Bern. Donald Eugene Rutherford, 26, drowned in the Catawba River near Charlotte when a boat capsized with him and members of his family.

William G. Ralph, 30, of Belhaven was fatally injured when his motorboat crashed into a breakwater near Belhaven.

James Leo Williams, 20, and William Murray Honeycutt, 24, of Rt. 1, Stokesdale, were killed in an automobile accident in Guilford County.

Other traffic victims included Marcus Sivils, 15, Elizabeth City; Clyde Allen Holton, 27, Statesville; Miss Mary P. Frazier, 60, Charlotte; Mary Knickerbocker, 79, of Norfolk, Va.; Donald Alvin Bryant, 23, of Richmond, Va.; D. Lee Browning, 29, Raleigh.

An unidentified Negro was killed by a train at Charlotte.

Lutus Wise, 58, of Route 1, Delco, was killed when he was struck by an auto as he walked along a Columbus County highway.

An auto collision in Robeson County claimed the life of Lovie Merritt, 68, of Lumberton.

Receives Grant From Foundation

Professor Murrell K. Glover, who received the M. A. degree in science from East Carolina College in 1959, was the recipient of a grant from the National Science Foundation. Glover now is head of the Dept. of Chemistry at Presbyterian Junior College.

The grant, totalling $710, provided for attendance at the Institute for College Chemistry Teachers at the University of North Carolina, which ended Friday. The courses are designed to strengthen chemistry instruction and will apply on the Ph.D. degree.

Having been ordained first to the ministry of the Church of the Brethren and later as a Methodist clergyman, Glover is at present chaplain in the rank of major with the N. C. National Guard.
