Laos Gov't Reported Collapsed

By DAVID LANCASHIRE SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A neutralist military revolutionary committee overthrew the pro-Western government of Laos today, radio broadcasts from the capital at Vientiane declared. However, the revolutionary committee ordered military commanders in the little Asian kingdom to avoid bloodshed and keep their forces away from "adversary units." This indicated not all the army was behind the coup d'etat. It was also considered possible that the rebels were not in complete control of the capital but had seized the radio station and were broadcasting communiques. One of the communiques said one of the committee's neutralist aims is to expel all foreigners from the country. This would be a severe blow at the Laotian army itself. The French and a U. S. military team of 24 train the 30,000-man army of Laos to help it resist the Communist rebels in the country. More important, the United States pays all the costs of the Laotian army, provides other aid and backs the nation's currency. The United States has poured 165 million dollars into the kingdom since 1955. In addition to the U. S. military advisers, there are about 80 Americans in Laos helping in the aid program. There was no word of the fate of Premier Tiao Somsanith, a good friend of the United States who took office in May after April elections. Reports circulated in neighboring Thailand that many Laotian government officials had been arrested, but they made no specific mention of Somsanith. Airlines reported the Vientiane airfield closed to all flights. The revolution came in what had appeared to be a period of relative calm. Just 13 months ago the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels, supported by neighboring North Viet Nam, ignited guerrilla warfare in northern Laos. The trouble spread southward but calmed after the United Nations sent a representative to look things over.

Powers Reportedly Pleads Guilty To U-2 Spy Charges

MOSCOW (AP)—Francis Gary Powers has "pleaded guilty to the substance of the charge" that he spied on the Soviet Union in his U-2 plane, the news agency Tass said today. Tass said the guilt of the American flyer, due to go on trial here Aug. 17, "is confirmed by material and written evidence," the findings of experts and the testimony of witnesses. The indictment against Powers, who parachuted from his crippled plane in the Urals May 1, was reported to total about 4,000 words. Tass said the indictment was drawn up by the state security committee and was approved July 9 by Roman Rudenko, U.S.S.R. prosecutor general. It accuses Powers of "having been engaged in active espionage against the Soviet Union, which represents a manifestation of the aggressive policy followed by the U. S. government." Powers' high-flying plane came down near Sverdlovsk, east of Moscow. The Soviet version is that it was felled by an anti-aircraft rocket. According to the indictment, Tass said, Powers "intruded into the airspace of the U.S.S.R. for the purpose of collecting intelligence of strategic nature on the location of rocket bases, airfields, radar network and other highly important defense and industrial objectives of the U. S.S.R." Tass said Powers is accused under Soviet law "on criminal responsibilities for state crimes." The crime of which the Pounds, Va., flyer is accused carries a penalty ranging from seven years imprisonment to death by shooting. "The indictment notes," said Tass, "that it has been established by the preliminary investigation that Powers' spy flight was organized with the knowledge of the American government by an intelligence detachment specially designed to conduct espionage against the U.S.S.R. and based at the American-Turkish airbase of Incirlik." Moscow has refused to let American diplomatic officials interview Powers, or to permit an American lawyer to defend him at his forthcoming trial. It has, however, granted his parents visas to attend the proceedings.

Herter Warns U.S. Will Use 'Speed, Force And Unity'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter warned Soviet leaders today the United States will act "with speed, force and unity" to deal with any new Red threat or world crisis. Herter told a news conference he issued the warning in an effort to dispel any belief by friends or foes abroad that the United States "becomes paralyzed or semi-paralyzed" during a presidential election period. Also, he said, he issued it because of the possibility of a dangerous miscalculation by the Soviet government. "The United States—the President—can act just as quickly and forcefully during this election period as at any other time," Herter declared. "Our allies and other nations of the free world can rest assured that when action is necessary it will be taken. "Our opponents should take warning that the American government and people can move with speed, force and unity during this period just as at any other time. "At his news conference, Herter also said: 1. The United States cannot indefinitely continue a suspension of nuclear weapons tests while British-U. S. negotiations with the Soviet Union for an inspected test system drag out at Geneva. Herter would not say, however, what deadline might be set. 2. The administration is considering asking Congress for authority to show the Soviets certain kinds of equipment for setting off atomic explosives in order to get an agreement with them to conduct a series of joint underground tests to perfect inspection equipment. No decision has been made. 3. The United States has filed a new protest with the Castro government of Cuba against seizures of U. S. property on the ground that the seizures were arbitrary and failed to provide for adequate compensation. Such protests establish a record against the time when the Cuban people themselves—as Herter put it—take care of the situation. 4. At the inter-American foreign ministers meeting in Costa Rica next week, the United States hopes all American nations will fully discuss what action, if any, should be taken on the central question raised by the Cuban issue—the question of intervention by a foreign power in the affairs of the Western Hemisphere. The United States has accused Cuba of becoming increasingly tied to communism. 5. The West Germans should decide for themselves about having a parliamentary meeting in West Berlin later this year in the face of Soviet threats to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany. Herter said the United States believes this is strictly a matter for the Germans themselves to decide. Herter declined to discuss in any detail the two latest news developments of the day—the revolution reported in Laos and the situation in the Congo.

Father Kills Five Then Shoots Self

WEAVERVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Shouting "I'm going to kill every damn one of you," a 30-year-old father whipped out a pistol and began firing at in-laws and his own children last night. Five persons were killed and one wounded. Wayne R. Franks shot and killed his young daughter and his mother-in-law, fatally wounded his two young sons and wounded his father-in-law. Then he shot himself in the temple. Franks died early today at a nearby Asheville hospital. The shootings occurred at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Holcombe. The children had been staying with their grandparents since Franks and his wife separated. Franks talked with the Holcombes for a few minutes on the front porch as he sipped a bottle of beer. Mrs. Franks was not there. Suddenly Franks cried out, "I'm going to kill every damn one of you." He jerked a .32 pistol from his pocket. Minutes later, Mrs. Holcombe, 55, and Franks' daughter, Diane, 5, lay dead, shot in the head. The two sons, Junior, 4, and Johnny, 3, were also shot in the head. They died later in a hospital at Asheville, 15 miles away. Franks, who had shot himself in the temple, died at the same hospital at 2:50 a.m. Holcombe, who jumped from the porch and ran to seek help, was shot in the right shoulder. He flagged a car and rode the six miles to Weaverville hospital. Deputy Sheriff Ted Gibson said Diane Franks, 5, had been stabbed in the heart with a pocket knife. Authorities said Mrs. Franks was visiting somewhere in Virginia. When authorities arrived, Mrs. Holcombe's body lay in the living room of the house. Near her body lay Franks. The body of Diane lay in one bedroom. The boys were in the bed they shared in another bedroom. Authorities said the only explanation Holcombe could offer was that there had been disputes over the separation of Franks and his wife. Franks worked at a service station in Asheville. He lived near Weaverville.

Georgia-Florida Tobacco Market Reaches High

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—The Georgia-Florida flue-cured tobacco market reached the highest level of the young season at the start of the second full week of sales. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported Monday the majority of leaf grades showed increases over last Friday. Most offerings were up $1 to $2 per hundred pounds while others remained unchanged to higher. Volume of sales was heavy with a number of markets reporting tobacco left on the floor for the next day's auctions. The proportion of cutters offered was the greatest of the season. The USDA said 52,932,205 pounds were sold last week at an average of $56.98 per hundred pounds. Auction bid averages per 100 pounds on a limited number of representative U. S. grades included: Leaf—Good lemon $66, unchanged; fair lemon 65, unchanged; good orange 66, up 1; fair orange 65, up 1; low orange 66, up 2; Lugs—Fair lemon 65, down 1; fair orange 65, unchanged; low variegated orange 59, down 1. Primings—Fair lemon 61, unchanged; fair orange 59, unchanged; low orange 51, unchanged. Nondescript—BEST THIN BODY unchanged.

Inmate Strikes Plaguing Three Maryland Prisons

BALTIMORE (AP)—Striking inmates of three Maryland prisons stayed locked in their cells today, even for meals, to prevent any violence over a ruling against them. They whooped and yelled in anger for 19 minutes Monday night — some shouting "No work!" — when Superintendent of Prisons James W. Curran disclosed that outside trustees no longer would have their sentences reduced by one day for each day of work. The State Board of Correction had ruled effective Aug. 1 that prisoners doing such outside work as road labor would get that time cut from their prison terms, a day for a day, up to five days a month. The men who do work inside the walls, such as laundry, sewing and shoe making, began a new work strike in protest. It began at the House of Correction between here and Washington. By Monday it had spread to the Maryland Penitentiary in Baltimore, and the Reformatory for Males at Hagerstown in western Maryland, involving 1,450 prisoners in all. Then the attorney general ruled the outside work time-off was illegal. It was decided to rescind the decision at a tense, five-hour meeting of Curran with members of the board, wardens of the prisons, an aide of Gov. J. Millard Tawes and State Public Supt. Gary Jarman. The reversal was kept secret from the prisoners until 9 o'clock, when all of them were locked in their cells for the night. By then troops of state and city police had been alerted or sent into areas near the prisons.8 Maj. Gen. Milton A. Ruskord, state adjutant general, promised to have 200 National Guardsmen standing by today in case of trouble. All work details today were cancelled except for mess crews and other essential duties. Maryland's prison system has a total of about 5,300 inmates. "I don't anticipate any trouble," said Gov. Tawes. "I honestly believe the situation can be handled without any difficulty whatever."

Dollar Day

Leading Greenville merchants have combined their efforts to make Thursday a "shopper's paradise" in their stores throughout town. Stores participating in Thursday's Dollar Day will offer many bargains, specially purchased merchandise and liberal discounts. The city of Greenville is cooperating with offering over 1,000 free parking spaces. City Manager Leonard Bloxam said that parking meters on the streets and in the parking lots have been declared free for parking on Thursday, in conjunction with Dollar Day. Merchants participating in the trade event will display red window streamers. Dollar Day is expected to draw shoppers from throughout eastern North Carolina as well as from Greenville and communities within Pitt County. Dollar Day, sponsored by the leading merchants of Greenville, has been staged locally for over 25 years. It is a semi-annual occurrence. William L. Deavours, chairman of the Trade Promotion Committee, has urged sales personnel of the stores to leave downtown parking spaces for out-of-town shoppers who may not be familiar with the city streets.

Baptist Layman To Begin Radio

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—A Baptist layman said here today he is attempting to organize a statewide radio network to explain the position of Protestantism as opposed to Catholicism. A. J. Johnson, a meat market operator who organized an hour-long Sunday religious discussion program originating from a Kings Mountain radio station, said today he has signed stations in three cities to carry the program. He said he eventually hopes to have 25 to 30 stations. Johnson said the program is not anti-Catholic. He said he has turned it over to a committee of Baptist preachers. Dr. Ward Barr of the First Baptist Church of Gastonia is chairman and the Rev. Wendell Davis of the Providence Road Baptist Church in Charlotte is vice chairman. Johnson said the committee will handle the speakers and all material used on the program. Johnson, who is paying for the hour's radio time at Kings Mountain, said the purpose of the program is to give a positive presentation of the Protestant position. Johnson said sponsors have been obtained in Hendersonville, Asheville and Charlotte.

Plan Sitdown At US Firing Range

TOKYO (AP)—Villagers living near the base of towering Mt. Fuji plan a sitdown Wednesday on a military firing range in an effort to block a U.S. Marine artillery practice with live ammunition. Four hundred Marines went ahead with preparations to begin the firing despite the plans of residents of nearby Oshino village and left-wing backers to congregate in the target area at the foot of the scenic mountain. But the U.S. Navy said the firing would not begin until the area is considered safely cleared.

Boarder Charged In Brutal Slaying

NORTH BERGEN, N. J. (AP)—Police today charged a young boarder with beating his elderly landlady to death because she refused to lend him her car. Robert Lee Carter, 18, of West Virginia, was booked for the murder of Bertha McCormick, 63, a widow, real estate broker and former member of the Women's Army Corps. Neighbors found her body in the basement of her home wrapped in a blanket and lying face down on the cellar floor.

Boarder Charged In Brutal Slaying

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Kathy Dora, 14, waited two years "until I was old enough to become a volunteer" worker at Albany Hospital. Kathy, who said she feels fortunate to be assigned to the children's ward, has been blind since birth. cially before the present city manager was employed, a majority of the Board of Commissioners, in order to promote better relations, recommend to the city manager (Cleveland Paylor) that he request the immediate resignation of the present chief of police and that the retiring chief be paid through the 15th day of September, 1960." This motion followed a report by Harris, who said he had contacted the Pitt County Sheriff's office in Greenville and found that the office had received full cooperation from the Ayden Police Department. Harris said he had contacted the ABC officers and found that cooperation had been satisfactory there, but there was a feeling that perhaps Chandler hadn't called on that office as frequently as he might have. Harris further reported that he

Demos Slap Down GOP Rights Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats today slapped down a Republican move to pass a civil rights bill at the present biennial session of Congress. They accused the Republicans of playing politics and of trying to scuttle other legislation. The battle came to a smashing climax shortly after it had been opened by Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois with the introduction of a two-point civil rights bill urged by President Eisenhower. Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), a leading advocate of civil rights, moved to table and thus kill Dirksen's bill before it even had a chance to be placed on the Senate calendar. The Senate approved the motion. The roll call vote was 54-28. Dirksen said that in offering the bill he was not trying to embarrass anybody but rather was seeking to carry out Eisenhower's legislative program. He told the Senate that his move was "entirely free from political or partisan considerations." But Democrats saw it differently. They called it political and insisted it was designed to embarrass them by pointing up the split between Northern Southern Democrats over the civil rights issue. Dirksen's bill would have set up a commission to try to end racial discrimination in government contract employment and would have provided aid for schools complying with the Supreme Court desegregation program. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) called Dirksen's move "a purely political play." Russell earlier served notice he is prepared to use "every parliamentary weapon in the arsenal."

Bert Bennett Chosen To Head Executive Committee

RALEIGH (AP)—Bert Bennett, manager of Terry Sanford's successful gubernatorial primary campaigns, today was unanimously elected to head the Democratic party's state executive committee. Mrs. Henry Cromartie of Charlotte was elected vice chairman succeeding Mrs. John S. Richardson of Raleigh. Bennett, 39-year-old Winston-Salem oil dealer, replaced former Congressman Woodrow W. Jones of Rutherfordton as party chairman. The elections were held as the state Democratic executive committee met in the state capitol just prior to a big rally in the mammoth State Fair Arena in which Democratic leaders planned to kick off the general election campaign with strong appeals for party unity and straight party voting. In a brief talk, Bennett pledged himself to work for the "election of all Democrats to offices this fall." He said he would perform his duties on a year-round basis as the "best way to keep down the Republican competition." Though closely associated with Sanford, Bennett told the committee members, "My job is to represent all the Democrats—not just one segment." He said he expects a rough race this fall and asked for the committee's support. In stepping down from the party post, Jones described Bennett as "a man of integrity, loyal to his party and his state." After the session in the capitol the Democratic leaders moved to the big State Fair Arena for the rally.

North Blanketed By Cool Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Cool, mostly fair weather settled over most of the northern half of the nation today. Moderate temperatures and clear skies were the rule from the Northeast through the Northern Plains and along the West Coast. The exception was some showers and thundershowers in the eastern Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Sultry summer temperatures prevailed in the South and inland areas of the West. Most shower activity occurred along and south of the cool front, from Virginia and North Carolina through Kentucky and Tennessee into Arkansas and Missouri and southward into Texas. Huntsville, Ala., reported 1.14 inches of rain in a six hour period. Monday, a storm bearing winds up to 45 miles an hour dumped two inches of rain on Tampa, Fla., in 25 minutes. Six miles north of the city, 3.20 inches of rain fell in an hour. Hall and winds caused some property damage. SENDS NOMINATION WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has sent to the Senate the postmaster nomination of Horace C. Aldridge for Crossnore, N. C.

Board Recommends Chief's Immediate Resignation

AYDEN — The Ayden Town Board in a motion passed last night recommended to the city manager that he request the immediate resignation of Police Chief H. V. Chandler. Their action followed a report by Police Commissioner Robert G. Harris on the status of the police chief and the police department, which was favorable to Chandler. However, there had been dissatisfaction in certain areas for some time over Chief Chandler, and the action was a culmination of events. The motion, made by Commissioner Edison Gibson and seconded by Commissioner Harry Mumford, was as follows: "In view of the fact that certain conditions existed in the police department before the city management form of government was adopted in Ayden, and especially before the present city manager was employed, a majority of the Board of Commissioners, in order to promote better relations, recommend to the city manager (Cleveland Paylor) that he request the immediate resignation of the present chief of police and that the retiring chief be paid through the 15th day of September, 1960." This motion followed a report by Harris, who said he had contacted the Pitt County Sheriff's office in Greenville and found that the office had received full cooperation from the Ayden Police Department. Harris said he had contacted the ABC officers and found that cooperation had been satisfactory there, but there was a feeling that perhaps Chandler hadn't called on that office as frequently as he might have. Harris further reported that he had been contacted by several citizens of Ayden, each of whom stated that in their opinion, the services of Chandler had been satisfactory. Harris as police commissioner had been asked at the July meeting of the Town Commissioners to make a study of the police department and present his report at the August meeting, which was held at the Town Hall last night. Dissatisfaction over the status of Chief Chandler had been voiced at the July meeting. Those voting in the affirmative for the motion recommending the chief's resignation were commissioners Harry Mumford, Norman Dall, J. W. James and Edison Gibson. Robert Harris was the only commissioner who voted against the motion. Mayor S. F. Peterson was not required to vote, since the best interest of the town that the chief be dismissed. Other Action In other business before the Town Board last night, Williams and Wall, certified public accountants of Raleigh, rendered their audit report. They stated that they found the town affairs and finances of Ayden in excellent condition. The board awarded a contract for hospitalization and insurance for town employes to Pilot Life Insurance Co. of Greensboro. They also authorized the advertisement for bids on a one and a half ton chassis truck for the street department. The board wanted to contact the State Highway Commission in an effort to get E. Second Street paved from the end of the present pavement to the point that intersects Highway 102 east, all located out of the city limits.

JANE GODDEN'S FAVORITE STRAWBERRY PIE
 Ingredients: 1 quart strawberries, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup cornstarch, dash salt, ¼ cup water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon red food coloring, ¼ cup margarine, 1 cup vanilla or orange wafer crumbs (about 22 cookies), 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese (softened to room temperature) ½ cup whipped cream.
 Method: Wash and hull berries; drain and pat dry on paper towel. Slice enough berries to make 1 cup; set aside remaining whole berries. In a small heavy saucepan mix together thoroughly the sugar, cornstarch and salt; stir in water, lemon juice and food coloring. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear; simmer 5 minutes. Add the cup of sliced berries and simmer five more minutes, stirring occasionally; chill. In a small mixing bowl over hot water cream margarine until consistency of heavy cream; stir in crumbs; press evenly on bottom and sides of 8-inch pie pan; bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 8 minutes; cool. With the back of a tablespoon spread cream cheese over bottom of crust; chill. Stir reserved berries into the chilled strawberry mixture; turn into shell; spread with whipped cream; chill several hours before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Household Hints
TRY MAPLE FLAVORING
 Some cooks like to add maple flavoring to a confectioners sugar frosting for cake, cookies or sweet rolls.

Use your gravy ladle when filling muffin pan cups with batter for muffins or cup cakes. Usually one scoop is just enough to fill the cup right.

Excessive glare through a picture window can be remedied by applying a new alkyl-based liquid plastic which reduces both annoying brightness and the fading effects of sunlight.

Has Decision On Cuba Been Made

A big question now, in this country and abroad, is whether the United States will stand by quietly while Fidel Castro's pro-communist government takes over some three-quarters of a billion dollars worth of American property in Cuba?

Already the Soviet propaganda is promoting this latest move by Castro as a severe blow to the United States and its alleged efforts to dominate Cuba and other Latin American countries. It is only a matter of time until this same propaganda organ will assert that lack of U. S. action in response to Castro's seizure is evidence of American inability to protect even its own property 90 miles from its mainland. It may well damage U. S. prestige abroad, particularly in uncommitted countries waiting to take sides either with the free world or within the Soviet orbit.

Another factor which cannot be overlooked is the repercussions Castro's action may have in other Latin American countries if the United States merely again turns the other cheek to the Cuban leader and lets him get away with a big steal. There are American investments worth billions throughout Latin America. While most governments of the hemisphere will not follow Castro's example, the lack of retaliation by the United States certainly will increase their temptation to do so.

It would be foolish not to assume that the communists will exert every possible means to bring pressure on these other governments to do as Castro has done and take over millions of dollars worth of property from good old Uncle Sugar.

Castro's week-end move in ordering the seizure of most of the remaining American property in Cuba should not have come as a surprise to Washington officials. Certainly it is to be hoped that the decision of what to do under such circumstances was made weeks ago and will now be followed. It is also to be hoped that the decision will not further weaken the position of the United States in this hemisphere or elsewhere around the world.

The nation's experts on international policies and foreign affairs probably have made an exhaustive study of all possible courses open to the United States in its present relationship to Cuba. No doubt they have evaluated the situation from every possible angle and have filled volumes with their analysis. From the standpoint of the layman, however, it appears the United States must choose between continuing to take Castro's abuse and allowing him to take whatever he wants from this nation; or his hand must be called firmly and the matter settled now before it becomes even worse.

Greenville Dollar Day Presents Big Bargains

Shoppers of Pitt County and surrounding area get another one-day chance at super bargains Thursday when Greenville Merchants stage their semi-annual Dollar Day.

Over a period of more than a quarter century the semi-annual Dollar Day in Greenville has acquired a reputation as one of the most successful retail promotion events in Eastern North Carolina. It has gained that reputation not only among business people, but also shoppers who have taken advantage of the event over the years.

Throughout Greenville on Dollar Day retail stores are chocked full of genuine bargains which attract shoppers from a broad area. Local merchants traditionally have made a sincere effort to offer to customers on this special day merchandise that represents real savings. Again Thursday on Dollar Day shoppers in Greenville will find another opportunity to participate in one of the biggest and most successful trade events ever staged in this part of North Carolina.

Another Asset Comes To City And County

Formal opening of Planters National Bank and Trust Company in Greenville today marks another progressive step for the city which is becoming an increasingly important banking and business center for a large section of Eastern North Carolina.

Planters National, which has its head office in Rocky Mount, becomes the third banking institution with offices in Greenville. It's opening here adds to the financial resources and services already available in Greenville and thus broadens the financial base for the community, its businesses and its people.

We are confident the new bank will find Greenville and Pitt County a progressive area, moving forward to take advantage of the economic opportunities that offer themselves. We are confident also that this new banking firm will join hands with the rest of the businesses and citizens in helping to build an even better and more prosperous community.

Will Pass Over Court Question

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP) — There is slim chance the Senate will act at its current session to strengthen U. S. support for the World Court.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, as well as President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, has advocated repeal of a U. S. veto over the court's jurisdiction.

But the 1960 Republican platform on which Nixon is seeking the presidency avoids mention of the bitter and highly emotional controversy the issue has stirred up.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential standard bearer, supports repeal, and his course is backed by a provision in the Democratic platform.

But Democrats—among whom many Southerners are opposed to giving the court further power—are doubtful they can muster the necessary two-thirds majority to effect a change.

The major dispute is over proposals to repeal what is known as the Connally reservation, sponsored by former Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex) and adopted by the Senate as a reservation when it ratified U. S. membership in the International Court of Justice created under the United Nations.

The rider says, in effect, that the United States shall be the sole judge of whether an international dispute in which it is involved can be brought before the World Court.

The reservation's supporters—who bombard the Senate Foreign Relations committee with letters and telegrams every time the issue comes up—contend the veto is necessary to prevent a surrender to an international court of U. S. sovereignty.

The committee decided, in view of the emotions stirred up by the repealer, to keep it off the floor in an election-year session. The decision was reinforced by doubts it could muster a two-thirds majority.

But the committee did approve, and sent to the floor, four treaties governing the rights and duties of signatories and their vessels on the seas—along with a protocol providing that disputes under these treaties would be referred to the World Court for settlement. This is effect would waive the Connally reservation as it applies to these treaties.

The four treaties and the protocol along with them were ratified in one vote May 26. But Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La) and others insisted on a separate vote on the protocol and it was rejected. It got a 49-30 vote of approval, but that was short of the necessary two-thirds.

A motion to reconsider that rejection is pending on the calendar.

Also pending is a treaty to prevent pollution of the sea by oil. Under this treaty, too, the United States would waive the application of the Connally reservation insofar as disputes arising under it are concerned.

The committee took the position it was an academic question in this case, anyway, since the treaty covered oil pollution through the high seas by ships, and disputes under could not be construed in any way as being within U. S. domestic jurisdiction.

But Sen. Long said he would insist on making the Connally reservation applicable to both the law of the sea protocol and the oil pollution treaty. In view of the shortness of the session, neither may be brought up.

The same issue is involved in a pending treaty of friendship with Pakistan and a "convention of establishment" with France.

Eisenhower's position is that if the world is to move to the settlement of disputes by law, rather than arms, it must accept the World Court's jurisdiction fully, if other nations are to be persuaded to do so.

The opposition argues that repeal or waiver of the Connally reservation would allow a World Court to move in on disputes involving the Panama Canal, immigration policy and many other fields of major domestic importance.

"When is the last time you visited a library? What book did you check out? Or does the thought frighten you?"—Gastonia Gazette.

"Parents spend the first part of a child's life getting him to walk and talk, and the rest of his childhood getting him to sit down and keep quiet."—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

"A little town is a place where even when you get wrong number on the phone you can talk a little while, anyhow."—Lumpkin (Ga.) Journal.

Some groups and industries did show some gains. Seventeen service and amusement corporations, for example, netted 13 per cent more than in the first half of 1959. But 50 railroads garnered 23 per cent less. And of the 721 companies, the 533 engaged in manufacturing averaged 6 per cent less.

WHENCE FATTER WAGES?
The loss in net income is double significant to you, whoever you are. First, since corporations are about 50-50 partners with the government, any number of the profits means loss of taxes. And loss of corporation taxes threatens increases of other Federal taxes.

Second, if income is less and unions are demanding higher wages, higher prices must be pushed on to the public. When profits are rising, corporations are in a position to increase wages without increasing prices—as they are frequently called upon to do.

But if wages go up when profits are not increasing, corporations have two alternatives. They like the hero of Frank Richard Stockton's story, face doors from which can come either the Lady or the Tiger. But in this case, corporate management face doors from which can come only tigers; the tiger of higher prices or the tiger of insolvency.

GAINS AND LOSSES
After the service and amusement corporations, substantial gains were made by five telephone and telegraph companies, up 9 per cent; 54 electric gas, power and similar companies, up 7 per cent; 52 miscellaneous manufacturing companies, up 5 per cent; 47 machinery companies, and 7 tobacco products companies, up 4 per cent. # Is It A Real 'Vacation'

Ever notice carefully the immediate after-effects of your vacation?

If you do, then you are well aware that very often indeed you tend to feel as though there was no vacation at all.

Perhaps, you tell yourself, it was all just a dream—and no more real.

Immediately, though, when you begin to allow such unappreciative ideas to muddle your thoughts, you suddenly feel you should scold yourself for being so cynical.

But you hold back on that scolding because you have an honest sneaking suspicion that your feelings—maybe accurately described as cynical—are based quite firmly on real reality.

That is, you know you feel the way you do because of things that have actually happened—to you.

In the first place, you've found yourself in past months eagerly anticipating "that vacation when I'll just leave all my worries and woes behind for a spell and just be."

In your sub-conscious you've built the whole thing up to the peak of peaks. Your imagination has run wild to draw you a picture you'll never realize.

Finally, though, the long-awaited period of relaxation arrives. You feel as if you'll probably burst with energy.

You feel that way for only a short time, though, because before you can leave home you have at least one flat tire. Before you get three blocks from home you have at least one more.

It's hot too and you sorta begin to wish you'd waited until next week to try it. You continue your pilgrimage.

But, before you get out of town, your wife simply must go shopping. Screaming from his car seat, Junior violently disagrees with mom. She goes anyway, and he screams. You just sit and stew.

Before long, though, you're merrily on your way and feel very, very relaxed.

"It's just another hot day," you tell yourself. "That's the reason I was so crabby back there."

Certainly you feel better until—of course—your right front radiator hose blows to smithereens.

Then more stopping, screaming, sitting, and stewing.

So goes the vacation. But, pleasantly enough, those trying moments are interrupted at times with more pleasing experiences.

The benefits are many, but they're much harder to remember than those awful hardships you've been forced through.

But we were talking about after-effects. We said the hardships were much easier to remember? We must qualify that by saying folks generally sound more authentic when relating hardships. They remember many more details.

The after-effects? Well, we just about which ones we were planning to mention here, so we'll propose a cover-all:

Those Work-Free days come once per year.

On that we're all well-versed.

And all our play-day antics are fully unremembered, (never reimbursed.)

When we return so rested, we find we're in a spin—A'checking to see when we will vacation again.

—anon. (we hope)
Vacations? There ain't nothin' like 'em.

Quote . . .
"Our new-day economists talk glibly about the GNP, meaning the gross national product which is the dollar value of all goods and services produced annually. As used, it is a misleading term. The GNP should be measured in the real quantity and quality of our goods and services. This would be difficult. But resort to measuring it in terms of dollars is fallacious and misleading."—Dallas Morning News.

Quote . . .
"I do not think I said there was a written agreement. An understanding was reached between the United Kingdom and the United States Governments in October, 1951, during Mr. Attlee's premiership, under which the use in emergency of bases in this country by United States forces was accession to the light of the circumstances prevailing at the time. This understanding depended on no formal document. It was accepted as a mutually satisfactory arrangement, which was subsequently confirmed."

Finally, Harold Davies, another Labourite, said:
"None of us wants to play either the Russian game or the American game. We want to play the game with the British people whose lives are at stake."

Explain British Bases

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

OUR BRITISH BASES

Someone ought to explain to the British people why we have military bases in Great Britain. They are not there because the American people desire to pay the cost of such an enterprise. They are there to protect Great Britain, as we have done in two wars at great cost of blood and wealth. It is particularly true of the British Labour Party that they make a habit of twisting the neck of the American eagle as we used to twist the tail of the British lion. For instance, Philip Noel-Baker, a Labourite, asked in Parliament:

"Since it is universally admitted that reconnaissance flights by spy aircraft are illegal under international law is it not desirable that the House (of Commons) should know whether the Prime Minister is consulted before such flights are made, and if he has given his approval?"

Mr. Longden, a Conservative, replied:

"... As the employer of more spies than anyone else in the world Khrushchev should put his own glasshouse in order before threatening to send us a rocket."

Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the British Labour Party who may one day be Prime Minister of Great Britain raised this point:

"It is not clear that the circumstances in which the original agreement were made differ considerably from those that obtain now? The original agreement spoke of the use of bases in emergency, whereas it is clear from the answers today that they are being continuously used for various expeditions of one kind or another. Is it not clear we must have a new agreement on these bases?"

The Western world, including Great Britain, has faced a continuous emergency since 1945. It has been part of the Cold War, originated by Soviet Russia and designed to keep the West engaged in numerous difficulties, surprises, shocks constantly and unendingly. If Gaitskell does not know the nature of the Cold War, its concept in Communist ideology, he is not a safe leader of an ally.

The presence of bases in Great Britain is a result of consultations between President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain. Both had met with Stalin at the Potsdam Conference. Both understood the nature of Soviet perfidy. Both believed that their countries had won World War II.

State Concerns Old Line Demos.

By LYNN NISBET
PERTURBED — Many of the old line Democrats admit concern over developments in the political situation in North Carolina.

Decision of the self-styled "Committee for Honest Leadership" to carry on the campaign for write-in votes for Beverly Lake for Governor, despite Lake's request that the movement be abandoned, disturbs the regular partisans only because it is a symptom of general unrest. Very few experienced politicians think the write-in votes will be enough to seriously disturb party balance.

The Democratic leaders are much more concerned about prospects of more than usual registered Democrats, who have in increasing numbers voted the national Republican ticket, going all the way and voting for State and local Republicans.

It is difficult to get quotable statements from Democratic leaders tending to show their fears. While privately confessing real fear, they insist that public statements be optimistic. One veteran of many political wars expects more Republicans in the 1961 General Assembly than in any session since 1929—made up of the Al Smith protestants in 1928. Another long time active party worker said he is trying harder than ever before to "put the fear of God—into Republicans—in State employees."

Both men coupled with these dire forecasts the warning that "if you use my name, I'll never talk to you again."

There are two main reasons for the Democratic fears. It is difficult to evaluate the effect of either, but not difficult to see that the combined effect justifies the privately expressed concern.

RELIGION — Religious prejudice is a prime factor. Objection to presidential candidate John Kennedy's Roman Catholicism is not limited to Baptists, but Baptist preachers and layman leaders are most vocative. And there are more Baptists in North Carolina than of any other denomination, perhaps as many as in all the other combined. The open opposition to Kennedy is being carried over into avowed opposition to Terry Sanford, Democratic nominee for Governor, because of his early endorsement of Kennedy for President.

The obvious fact that in organizing opposition on grounds of religious affiliation, the Baptists are doing exactly what they condemn in the mixing of Church and State, does not deter thousands of members of Baptist churches from active campaigning against the candidates.

LABOR-LIBERALISM — The other main cause of concern is the alleged closeness of Kennedy and Sanford to the "liberal" element in the ranks of organized labor. The contrast here might be amusing, if it did not have such serious implications. The Roman Catholic Church, or more specifically its civic auxiliary of the Vatican State, is probably the most conservative force in the world. It lives in tradition and opposes change. It not only has been an avowed enemy of democracy through the centuries, but presently stands as the chief bulwark against the advance of Communism in all the world.

It is understandable that some people might oppose candidates for affiliation with this ultra-conservative ideology. It is understandable, too, that opposition might be based on affiliation with the ultra-liberal Labor group. It is difficult to see how the same people can reconcile objection to both.

CIVIL RIGHTS — Another anomaly is found in the objection to Kennedy on the civil rights issue, and to Sanford because allegedly he approved that attitude when he endorsed the candidate. The write-in campaign for Lake stems chiefly from this factor. The national party platforms upon which Kennedy and Nixon are running are very similar on civil rights. So are the state platforms on which Sanford and Gavin are running, and in both parties there is lack of harmony between the national and state documents. Despite fond hopes that a state write-in and a system of unpledged electors for the national ticket might accomplish something, there is virtual certainty that the next President will be either a regular Democrat or Republican, and the next Governor will be a regular Democrat.

Again there is absurd inconsistency in opposing Kennedy because he belongs to a church which has been an age-long inveterate foe of civil rights and also because he is an advocate of extreme civil rights.

There is some evidence that the regular Democratic party organization will wage an educational campaign pointing out the incongruous elements making up the opposition and appealing to party loyalty based on the record in nation and state during the past half century.

BETHEL—Mrs. T. R. Andrews Sr. entertained 12 guests at dessert-bridge in her home Saturday, honoring Miss Shirley Hardy of Bethel and Miss Nancy Forbes of Wilson brides-elect.
Upon arrival the honorees were presented shoulder corsages of white chrysanthemums. Later in the evening they were presented gifts of china and silver in their chosen patterns by the hostess.
Guests were seated at tables covered with pink Swiss organdy and held floral bouquets. Summer flowers, using the pink color scheme, decorated the home. A dessert course, consisting of banana splits, bridal cakes and nuts, was served before the game. If drinks and nuts were served between progressions.
Mrs. F. E. Price won the high score prize and Miss Forbes was named winner of the floating prize.
Among those present were guests from Bethel and Wilson.

Luncheon For Bride-To-Be

BETHEL—Recently Mrs. William Moody, Mrs. Connell Garrenton and Mrs. Robert Cullifer entertained Miss Shirley Whitehurst, bride-elect, with a luncheon at The Town and Country Restaurant, Williamston.
A corsage of pink roses was presented to Miss Whitehurst.
The dining room, featured in pink and white, had as its central arrangement on the bride's table a large silver bowl of pink and white carnations, flanked on either side by tiered silver candelabra with pink candles and streamers.
After the arrival of the 20 guests, luncheon was served which consisted of a fruit cocktail and a main course of chicken, candied yams, string beans and hot rolls. The dessert of lime sherbet followed.
After the luncheon, Miss Whitehurst was presented several pieces of her china by the hostesses.

GARNISH GOODNESS

Sweetest garnishes for dessert plates: beat an egg white slightly with a half-teaspoon of water and dip grapes in it, then roll in extra-fine granulated sugar. Dry sugared grapes on paper toweling.

Couples Given Dessert-Bridge

MT. HOLLY—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brinkley and Mr. and Mrs. Yates Springs entertained at dessert-bridge at the home of the former recently.
The occasion honored Miss Shirley Anne Hardy of Bethel and Jerry Herald, whose marriage is scheduled for August 13th, and Mr. and Mrs. Rank L. Rankin Jr., August 6th bridal couple; and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Koppie, June bridal pair.
Upon arrival the guests were served a dessert course. Tables for the seating of the guests were spread with white linen cloths and centered with miniature wedding bells filled with sweetheart rosebuds.
Nine tables of bridge were played, with Mrs. Julian Chappel and Wells McConnell scoring high and Miss David winning the floating prize.
The honorees received white glameilla shoulder corsages and gifts of china from the hostesses and hosts.
During the games, iced drinks and party foods were served.
Arrangements of mixed summer flowers were used throughout the party rooms for decorations.

Miss Perkins Lunch Honoree

GOLDSBORO—Mrs. David Southerland of Goldsboro and Mrs. J. Vance Perkins Jr. of Raleigh honored Miss Jane Marshall Perkins of Greenville Saturday at a luncheon at the Goldsboro Country Club.
The hostesses presented Miss Perkins with a corsage of Rubrum lilies and tuberose.
The bridal table was centered with an arrangement of white and pink asters, tuberose and smilax. Each place was marked with a miniature satin rice bag bearing the name of the guest.
At the conclusion of the three course luncheon, Mrs. Southerland and Mrs. Perkins presented Miss Perkins with a silver pitcher.
Members of Miss Perkins' bridal party and close friends were among the 18 guests present.

More Cotton Clothes Sold In 1959

RALEIGH—More cotton clothes were bought in 1959 than ever before, according to a report covering some 400 different uses of the farm-grown fiber.
In 1959 an estimated 4,405,000 bales of cotton went into clothing, compared to 3,932,000 bales in 1958.
Men and boys are wearing more cotton, enough to boost the market by 300,000 bales and again give cotton 72 per cent of this male market. Trousers accounted for 815,000 bales and men's and boys' shirts another 696,000 bales.
Women's, misses', and juniors' apparel uses increased 108,000 bales over 1958 and boosted cotton's share of this market from 42 to 43 per cent.
In children's and infants' apparel, use of cotton was up from 601,000 to 654,000 and accounted for 77 per cent of this market both years.
Other top uses of cotton included a whopping 489,000 bales for sheets, 392,000 bales for towels and bedding, and 374,000 bales for drapery and upholstery fabrics.

'Anastasia' Leaving Forest Shack

ROYALTY CLAIM . . . Mrs. Anna Anderson, who claims she is the only surviving offspring of Russia's Czar Nicholas II, as photographed in 1955.

MOVING INTO NEW HOME . . . built by royalties received from movie and book.

By REINHOLD ENSZ UNTERLENGENHARDT, Germany (AP) — The woman who claims to be Anastasia—allegedly the only surviving offspring of Russia's Czar Nicholas II—is moving out of her Black Forest shack after 10 years of isolation.

The woman, Mrs. Anna Anderson, has remained secluded in the shack while a controversy rages in the outside world about her identity. But now, enriched by the royalties from an autobiography and two movies, one starring Lilli Palmer and the other Ingrid Bergman, Mrs. Anderson has a new $8,300 house.

The house has been built next to her one-room shack in this Black Forest village.

"She might be more willing to receive visitors when she moves into her new house," says her friend and adviser, Mrs. Monika von Miltitz, who lives nearby. "She has refused to see people because she is ashamed of the shack. It is quite a mess."

The shack is surrounded by two high fences—lined with plywood and straw matting. Steel gates are padlocked day and night. Four unfriendly dogs patrol the inside fence.

The new house is also surrounded by a fence, but there is no plywood or matting to shut out the gaze of the curious.

Mrs. Anderson has consistently refused to receive visitors. Her food is brought to her by Mrs. Miltitz's housekeeper.

"She hasn't seen any one since last summer," reports Mrs. Miltitz. The Anastasia case is still before the German courts, a situation that has prevailed off and on since 1933, when a German court ruled that Germany's princely House of Hesse is the legal heir of Czar Nicholas II, the last monarch of Russia. According to historical accounts, his entire family— including daughter Anastasia— was wiped out by Bolshevik riflemen in 1918.

But in 1920 a woman was pulled from a canal in Berlin after a suicide attempt. She was taken to a mental hospital, where she announced she was Anastasia.

Lawyers for the House of Hesse are arguing in court that the woman now known as Mrs. Anderson is actually a former Polish farm worker named Franziska Schanzkowsk.

In 1957, a West Berlin court ruled that Mrs. Anderson is not Anastasia. The ruling was issued after the court heard testimony that Mrs. Anderson's ears are different than those in pictures of Anastasia.

But Mrs. Anderson—who is 58 years old if she is Anastasia— has refused to give up the fight and the case is now before a Hamburg court.

Cool Refreshment For Hot Weather

THE OLD FASHIONED porch party is still with us, and as delightful as ever when iced tea is served with sweet go-alongs.

By CECIL BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor PORCH PARTIES coming! What's for refreshment?

At these afternoon affairs weight-watchers and other folk usually appreciate iced tea. We find one of the newer products, instant tea, convenient and pleasant tasting in this cold drink. It's a blend of teas (including orange pekoe) with nothing else added and that's all to the good.

You can use cold tap water with this tea and add ice. Exact proportions? Try 1½ teaspoons instant tea to 1 cup water. To fancy up things, serve lemon with whole cloves inserted in each slice. And do offer finely-granulated sugar to those who like their tea sweetened. Even if you don't keep this variety of sugar in the house all year round, it's worth having on your shelves in the summer because it dissolves readily in cold beverages.

For a nibble with iced tea serve these delectably rich trifles: PRALINE PUFFS

Ingredients: 1 package (1 pound and 1 ounce) pound-cake mix, ¼ pound butter, ¼ cup firmly granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup coarsely chopped pecans.

Method: Make up pound cake according to package directions for baking in a 9-inch loaf pan. Cut 12 slices from the cake, each ½-inch thick. (Remaining cake may be served plain.) Cut 2 rounds from each slice with a 2-inch cookie cutter. (Raggle-tiltle ends may be used in another dessert.) Cream butter and brown sugar; spread cake rounds with mixture but not to edges. Beat egg whites with a dash of salt until they hold floppy peaks. Gradually beat in sugar, then vanilla, until they hold stiff straight peaks; fold in pecans. Pile meringue on rounds, spreading smoothly to edges to cover sugar mixture. Bake, placed slightly apart, on foil-lined cookie sheet, in extremely hot (500 degrees) oven 5 minutes, until meringue browns; turn off oven but do not remove for 5 minutes. Allow to cool somewhat before removing from foil. Serve warm or cold. Makes 24.

Saturday Bride Given Dinner

Bride of Saturday, Cynthia Cranford, was honored last week at a picnic dinner at Bayview by Mrs. Sam Worthington, Mrs. Frank Jolly and Miss Judy Jolly.

After swimming, the guests were served tomato juice, cheese crackers, ham slices, potato chips with cream dip, and olives.

Prior to dinner Miss Cranford and Miss Jane Perkins, also an August bride, were presented corsages.

Fried chicken, potato salad stuffed in tomatoes, pickles, hot rolls and ice tea were served buffet style. Lemon tarts were served for dessert.

Miss Cranford received a gift of silver and a casserole from the hostesses. Miss Perkins was remembered with a tea pot and hand towels.

Researcher's Aim:

Goodies In Smaller Packages

By LYDIA BICKFORD AP Newsfeatures Writer

Dr. Kathryn Langwill is typical of most women who live alone and prepare meals for one: She doesn't like leftovers.

So it's no wonder she's heart and soul in a research project which will package exact portions of food items, to be prepared and eaten with not a bit of waste.

She envisions a shopping situation in which the buyer can purchase a box with six or more individual containers in it, and can prepare only the exact portions she needs.

This kind of packaging should be a boon to the lone diner, or to the odd-numbered family. "In frozen food dinner items, did you ever see a package for one—or three or five?" asks Dr. Langwill.

She adds that these pre-cooked foods may still present a leftover problem.

Before she began her research in this new approach to packaging, Dr. Langwill tried out her idea on a mother of five. "What new products would you like to find on your kitchen shelf?" she asked.

"I don't need anything new," was the response, "but I'd like food prepared for the exact number of diners."

That was all the research chemist needed. In the plant at Yonkers, N. Y., where she heads research in sugar products, she began her experimentation—which still is top secret.

"Convenience packaging"—and development of products which lend themselves to this type of packaging—are only a part of Dr. Langwill's research activities.

Her company's main interest is in supplying liquid sugar to food processors, and her research in the laboratories continues along those lines.

Earlier, Dr. Langwill was professor of nutrition at Drexel Institute of Technology. Before that, while doing research in the physics department at Columbia University during World War II, she performed highly secret experimental work on the atomic bomb under Dr. Harold Urey. She was granted a U. S. patent for her contribution, a method for plating uranium salts on platinum foil.

Research, it seems, has taken Dr. Langwill quite a distance: from bombs to boxes.

A WHIFFY PROPOSITION . . . Dr. Kathryn Langwill ponders a laboratory concoction.

After Rehabilitation, Many Of Them Like To Return

By RON WILSON
JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—An ex-convict walked 25 miles from Lansing to Southern Michigan Prison here.

He was that eager to go behind the walls again—to help a group of men inside.

Another former inmate drove through a snowstorm 175 miles from Chicago to Jackson for the same reason.

They are but two of the rehabilitated men who carry this message of hope to hundreds of Michigan convicts: "We're free and sober, and we've found a way to stay out."

Their audience is Recovery

Group of Alcoholics Anonymous, men who stayed out of trouble when sober, but who are in prison because of crimes apparently triggered by a drinking problem.

Among them is a salesman convicted of killing his wife; a former policeman who wrote bad checks to finish a binge; a 19-year-old youth who burglarized a store for wine.

Similar Stories

Each man tells a similar story about his crime. "I was drunk when I did it. . . I wouldn't have done it if I was sober. . . I didn't think I needed help to stop drinking. . . I always figured an alcoholic was a guy on skid row."

In each case, prisoner and ex-prisoner alike tell of having lost control of their drinking. For these men alcohol, not crime, seemed a way of life.

A study by the Michigan Corrections Department two years ago pinpointed the link between alcohol and crime. It showed that in one institution, one-fifth of 3,705 inmates had a major alcohol problem related to their criminal offense.

Now such men can look forward to a life of sobriety outside the walls. Their hope is based on an intensive alcoholism treatment program in the state prison system.

Gus Harrison, Michigan corrections director, says the main-spring of the program is membership in Alcoholics Anonymous. Other help comes from prison counselors, doctors, chaplains and parole officials.

Take the case of a 39-year-old salesman convicted of stabbing his wife to death. Let's call him Jim. He lived normally except when he drank. The drinking got worse; then he began nibbling on tranquilizers.

Alcoholic Blackout

The day Jim's wife was killed, he drank about a pint and a half of whisky and gulped between 1,800 and 2,200 milligrams of a tranquilizing drug.

"I remember going to bed and my wife walking into the bedroom," Jim said.

"Did you kill her?"

"I must have, my two daughters saw it."

This is as much as he can recall 2½ years later, still unable to poke through the curtain of an alcoholic blackout. He is serving life for second degree murder.

Jim joined AA in prison. He says the program is showing him how to endure the 7½ years he must wait before he is eligible for parole. He is learning to live a day at a time; to accept the fact that he cannot drink again.

If and when he is paroled, Jim plans to join outside AA groups "to stay sober and give something back to AA by helping others. If something I would say could help one person avert his kind of tragedy, it would be worth it."

Another inmate, 26 years old, has been jailed 20 times. "I was drunk every time," he says. His last spree sent him to prison for 6 to 15 years. He had slugged a gas station attendant "to get more drinking money."

Officials feel there is help for him in AA. At present 786 prisoners attend AA meetings—about 8 per cent of Michigan's total prison population of 9,800.

One reason given for the success of AA in prisons is the outside members who speak to inmates twice a month. They give an in-the-flesh example of how a man can stay sober and out of trouble.

Improved Record

The value of the program is reflected in the number of successfully paroled alcoholics. Glen Mawer, special prison activities counselor, estimates that 75 per cent of the problem drinkers now make good parolees.

This is in sharp contrast to AA days, when officials could almost predict that an alcoholic parolee would be back behind bars as soon as he resumed drinking.

Outsiders frequently wonder why there is treatment for alcoholics in prison—"the men can't get a drink in there." Outsiders haven't heard of "spud juice"—a potent concoction of potatoes, yeast, sugar and water—or of the resourceful convicts who brew and hide it.

In paroling AA inmates, Harrison says officials have been encouraged by knowing that communities which once had to shell out money to keep the problem drinker behind bars find he has charged from a liability to an asset—able to support his family and pay his taxes.

Some alcoholic parolees do get drunk and go back to prison. But more and more are becoming solid citizens.

Pignatari Sleeps Off Fatigue, Trades Insults

By CHARLES H. GUPTILL

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Released from jail for lack of proof of adultery with Princess Ira von Furstenberg Hohenlohe, 20, playboy Francisco (Baby) Pignatari slept off his fatigue and then traded insults Monday night with the man who put him there.

Drawn and re-dyed after 36 hours behind bars, the Brazilian millionaire said of Ira's estranged husband, Prince Alfonso Hohenlohe, 43:—"I do not even wish to mention that guy's name; it simply makes me sick. I may not have a title, but at least I have honor."

which has a substantial interest in Italy's vast Fiat motor industry.

Pignatari said Hohenlohe would agree to the divorce "if only the princess would accede to that man's price of half a million dollars to give up his claim for the custody of each child."

The prince said: "I have no interest in either her money or her. All that I want is to have my sons under my protection in order to raise them as Christians and moral persons."

Lawyers on both sides settled down for a long struggle.

No Injuries As Cars Derailed

MULLINS, S.C. (AP)—Eighteen cars of a Seaboard Air Line freight train were derailed at nearby Rains shortly before midnight.

Seaboard officials reported today no one was injured in the wreck which was caused by a broken journal box on one of the cars.

The railroad reported that trains are being routed over SAL's Poston-McBee branch and that no interruption in service had resulted from the derailment. They said the line likely would be cleared and re-opened to service by mid-afternoon.

The freight train, No. 75, was en route from Hamlet, N.C., to Charleston. Of the 18 cars, 12 were empties and six were loaded. Cargo included stone, cross-ties and general freight.

AID TO ALCOHOLICS—Glen Mawer, left, prison activities counselor, talks with an inmate about a problem he shares with one out of five other inmates—alcoholism.

The Spanish nobleman, who has done well selling cars in Mexico, replied in like manner.

Hohenlohe is suing his wife for a divorce and custody of their two sons, Cristobal, 4, and Alfonso, 16 months. She has the children with her in a guarded hotel suite.

Twenty-two Mexican policemen broke into the suite before dawn Sunday, seeking Pignatari on adultery charges filed by Hohenlohe. The police said Pignatari was found in trousers and shirt but the princess did not appear.

Pignatari and the six-man guard he had hired to protect Ira and her sons put up a fight. The Brazilian playboy and his men were carted off to jail and additional charges of resisting arrest were filed.

Pignatari was freed because, under Mexican law, his presence in the apartment did not constitute evidence of illicit relations. His lawyers threatened to file counter-charges against the prince.

Pignatari's guards also were released.

The Brazilian described himself as an old friend of the princess' family and said he was in Mexico to watch out for her financial interests. The princess claimed the prince is after the fortune their sons may inherit from her family.

Nixon Receiving Big Mail Batch

WASHINGTON (AP)— Vice President Richard M. Nixon's aides said today he has received more than 24,000 letters and telegrams about his July 20 speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, said in a statement that the volume is continuing at the rate of about 2,000 messages daily. Klein did not give any ratio of favorable to unfavorable messages.

"The mail came from all parts of the United States and included letters from Europe, Hong Kong, Japan, Latin America and the Far East," Klein said. "Writers included Republicans, Democrats and Independents."

Far From Classroom, Students Delve Into Nomadic Indian Tribes' History

By DALE NELSON
 CRESCENT BAR, Wash., (AP)—On a sandy outcropping in the Columbia River, a bearded youth sifts dirt through a screen. At a long table in the center of an old community dance hall five miles away, a sun-tanned coed sorts pieces of stone into brown paper bags.

These are college students, getting summer school credits far from any classroom. They are also part of an area-wide archaeological venture which has blossomed as the dams have risen on the rivers of the Pacific Northwest. Piece by piece, these grimy, perspiring scholars are fitting together the story of the semi-nomadic Indian tribes who wintered along the mighty Columbia in prehistoric times.

There are 18 in this group from the University of Washington—excavating in an area which will be flooded by Wanapum Dam, under construction by the Grant County, Wash., Public Utility District. Six days each week, a digging party makes a five-mile motorboat trip downstream from the group's headquarters at the Crescent Bar Community Hall to the site of an ancient Indian village. The site is inaccessible by land. Carefully, square by square, they dig away the crust of centuries overlying Indian "house pits" and fire hearths. The pits are shallow depressions on which the Indians erected tent-styled homes. Nobody knows just how old these relics are. This is one of the things the archaeologists are trying to find out. Some estimates of the age of finds in the area range as high as 6,000 to 8,000 years. Most are more conservative.

Some of these same students dug at another site downstream, above the same agency's Priest Rapids Dam. A group from Washington State University is working in the reservoir-to-be behind Ice Harbor Dam on the Snake River. Parties from universities in Oregon and British Columbia have carried out excavations behind other damsites.

The work is coordinated by the National Park Service and the Smithsonian Institution. It is generally financed by the agency building the dam. The Grant County PUD, in accordance with a requirement in its license from the Federal Power Commission, has put up $40,000 for archaeo-

Seek Federal Property To Build Juvenile Center

RALEIGH (AP)—The Board of Correction and training is seeking to obtain federal property in Swannanoa to establish a evaluation and treatment center for juveniles. The property, Moore general Hospital, has been declared surplus and has been made available to the state.

Gov. Hodges said Monday a formal application has been sent to Washington. He said he expects a final decision within 30 days. The center would be used to screen and test youths to determine educational achievement, vocational interest and aptitude before assigning them to one of the state's six correctional training schools.

Presently, youthful offenders are sentenced to one of the training institutions. The hospital buildings are wooden, military-type structures, but are expected to meet the Correction and Training Board's needs for several years.

Moore General Hospital, a Veterans Administration facility, is being consolidated with nearby

Oteen Hospital. The board plans to begin operating the center with 200 students and 66 staff members. No opening date has been set pending official approval by the U.S. government.

Shouting Mothers Halt Lumberjacks

BOSTON (AP)—South Boston mothers, shouting protests, Monday night forced a two-man tree-cutting crew to quit felling oaks for a 240-car parking lot at Marine Park.

The power saw crew retired in defeat after cutting down only one of eight trees. The neighbors approve this but complain loudly over plans to fill a grassy bowl in front of their homes for a parking area.

Kennedy And Nixon Don't Contrast On All Big Issues

EDITOR'S NOTE — How do the presidential candidates compare in their approach to labor-management matters? A veteran reporter on the labor beat looks at the record in this last of five articles on the great campaign issues.

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Try to chart the Nixon, Kennedy positions on big issues, and you'll find the picture is not all black-and-white. There are gray areas, too. This is true of labor-management problems, as well as many others.

Many a union official will tell you that, if past records are a guide, Richard M. Nixon can be expected to side with employers in any labor-management showdown, and John F. Kennedy with employees.
The labor men point to a number of past decisions to back up this thesis.
An examination of the gray areas, however, turns up evidence for an argument that the two presidential rivals are closer together on some labor issues than is generally imagined.

Either, if elected, would undoubtedly proclaim that he was operating for the best interests of the country as a whole, rather than taking sides in the continuing labor-management conflict.
The newly adopted platforms of both parties, moreover, pledge they will cultivate labor-management discussions toward improving the climate of industrial relations.
Sticking out in Nixon's record is his personal role in settling the big steel strike early this year. Nixon stepped quietly into the deadlock, warning both sides they faced an unwanted, directed settlement by Congress unless they got together on an agreement.

In secret meetings, many held in his own home here, Nixon chalked out the settlement terms. Neither side got all it wanted but both sides were happy that Nixon got them off the hook and got steel production rolling again.
Kennedy has been a fighter for organized labor's cause ever since he entered Congress in 1947. That was the year the Taft-Hartley law was enacted, over bitter union opposition. Nixon favored the law. Kennedy, then just 30 years old, was among those who kept the T-H legislation from becoming more than it was from the labor union standpoint.
This is a role Kennedy has played effectively and consistently in Congress to date—including the maneuvering in enacting the Landrum-Griffin law last year. Here again Kennedy led the forces that helped modify new restrictions placed on unions.

But it's a mistake to tag Kennedy as a down-the-line backer of any old kind of labor union. As chairman of the Senate's labor law drafting subcommittee it was he who wrote much of the anti-corruption union controls into the 1959 law.
And the Democratic nominee's brother and current campaign manager, Robert F. Kennedy, was counsel to the McClellan committee that turned up the union scandals which led to the Landrum-

Griffin law.
A scorecard comparison of the labor voting records of Nixon and Kennedy has been prepared by the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education. Going back to the start of the two men's congressional careers it rates Kennedy as voting 100 per cent right on labor bills by AFL-CIO standards and Nixon only 6.7 per cent right.
On a broader comparison of general interest legislation the AFL-CIO score is Kennedy 90.2 per cent and Nixon 22.9 per cent. Differences between the two nominees are likely to be pinpointed when Congress reconvenes on Aug. 8.
On the controversial question of health care for the aged, Nixon prefers a federal-state subsidy financing arrangement. But Kennedy wants a broader program financed by increased social security taxes.

On the federal minimum wage, also a hot issue for the resumed session, Nixon favors a moderate increase in the present dollar-an-hour minimum. Kennedy is sponsoring the Democratic bill for a $1.25 level.
But on still another point, the two men take surprisingly out-of-character stands. Nixon in 1956 forecast an early adoption of a four-day work week, a long-time labor union goal.
Shortly before his nomination Kennedy said: "I do not support a shorter work week—I am not for the four-day week."

Both industry and labor see Nixon is more inclined toward business than toward labor. But they concede he has become far more liberal in recent years. In this, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell is credited with having been a major influence. Example: Nixon's rejection of "right-to-work" laws.
The unions are expected to side mostly with Kennedy in the election campaign. But they are suspicious, it is plain, that with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas on the Democratic ticket they may be buying a lot more conservative combination than they would like.

Canadian Farmer Used Beavers' Dam - Building

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP) — David Monteith is a farmer who has put the dam-building instincts of the beaver to use for years with notable success.

Nineteen years ago when farmers in the Mt. Nebo district of west-central Saskatchewan faced a serious water shortage, Monteith was authorized to construct a dam across the Shell River to raise water levels.

"I've got a better, easier, cheaper way. All I need is a supply of poplar," he told officials.

State's Students Lack Classrooms

RALEIGH (AP)—A host of Tar Heel public school students will spend the upcoming term attending classes in shifts or in makeshift classrooms.

The State Department of Public Instruction said Monday the classroom shortage will be at least as severe as last year in spite of construction of more than 1,500 new rooms.

Director J. L. Pierce of the department's division of school planning said an estimated enrollment jump equal to the 1955 increase of 28,000 students will offset the new construction.

He said 20 schools will continue operating in shifts with some students attending at mid-day and remaining until the late afternoon. Other students will attend classes in auditorium balconies and stages, gymnasiums, basements, corridors and rented buildings. Pierce said many rooms are "generally unfit for instructional purposes."

Orderly Crowd For Jazz Meet

COLUMBIA (AP)—South Carolina's first jazz festival, in contrast to similar events elsewhere, came off in fine style Sunday.

An enthusiastic but orderly crowd of about 1,000 turned out at Legion Lake near here for picnicking, swimming and an entire afternoon of jazz music played by several of the leading bands in the Carolinas.

The lusty sounds of both Dixieland and modern jazz took on an added flavor in the outdoor setting.

George Buck, president of the Columbia Jazz Club, said the festival was a financial success as well as a cultural accomplishment.

Buck said the event marks "a major step forward for jazz" in the Carolinas and added that the festival probably will become an annual event.

Appearing at the festival were the Hawkins Helms septet, a central South Carolina unit; the Nocturnes of Charlotte, N.C.; and the George Foxworth Combo. Vocalists included Lo Ramseye of the Nocturnes, Paul LaRosa of the Hawkins-Helms group and Sally Thomas and Peggy Ann Smith of the Dixieland group.

He worked with the committee and plans were formulated for publication.

'Wrangler' Is A Big Hit Before TV Screen Debut

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For those who like to be in the swim of things, NBC offered a water-logged summer television diversion Monday night, "Esther Williams at Cypress Gardens."

The 60-minute special began as a musical comedy with movie mermaid Williams aided by Fernando Lamas and comedian Joey Bishop. But the plot soon drifted away and everyone except Bishop got down to serious swimming in the clear Florida water.

Bishop, who never wore a bathing suit, didn't get near the water, and he had little chance to slip into his dry humor.

Williams and Lamas cavorted like trained seals, however, and the husky movie idol demonstrated he can swim and water ski as well as sing.

This reviewer was short of breath watching the underwater ballerinas. Some of the swim suit cuties stayed down longer than it takes baseball idol Mickey Mantle to snave and tell about it on the TV razor blade commercials.

A lot of eyebrows went up at the most recent Nielsen ratings, the estimate of audience size on which the TV industry generally puts its greatest faith. They gave NBC's new "Wrangler" enough viewers to put it in the top 20 shows—almost a month before it went on the air for the first time.

Eyebrows descended quickly when the nose-counters in a special communique to subscribers explained that the rating actually belonged to a Tennessee Ernie Ford repeat. "Wrangler" had been scheduled to take over Ernie's summer chores but its debut was delayed a month. No one, apparently, remembered to notify Nielsen which checks hours when sets are in use, and the stations tuned in—but not program content.

Henry Fonda, beset by auto-graph hunters in the Universal studio commissary, signed grimly and then complained bitterly about allowing tourists in the dining room. Fonda is working on a second season batch of his NBC "Deputy" series.

One way you can tell working actors from the unemployed in Hollywood is that you rarely see the employed variety. They are on the sets from dawn to dark and spend any leisure either resting up or learning the next show's lines at home.

DOWN THE HATCH

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Gardner Barnard was frantic when a long search failed to locate her $5,000 diamond ring which disappeared after she had placed it on her bed. X-rays located it in the stomach of the family's Basset hound.

Solicitor Talks With Rotarians

FARMVILLE—Capital Punishment was the subject of a talk made to Rotarians here by R. D. Rouse, Jr., district solicitor, Tuesday evening.

The solicitor traced the form of capital punishment from the time prior to 1910 when hanging was customary; 1910 to 1935 when the electric chair was used and the gas chamber since. He stated that only five executions had been made since 1953 and that legal circumstances are such that it is almost impossible for a solicitor to get a death penalty for a criminal.

Solicitor Rouse expressed an opinion that the attitude of the citizens of North Carolina should be found by the Legislature in connection with capital punishment and it should pass laws in keeping with the will of the people, either abolishing it or making the law clearer for enforcement.

O.G. Spell had as guests, James and David Sprague of Durham.

Bloodmobile

Citizens of Greenville and surrounding areas have been urged to contribute to the bloodmobile during its visit here Thursday.

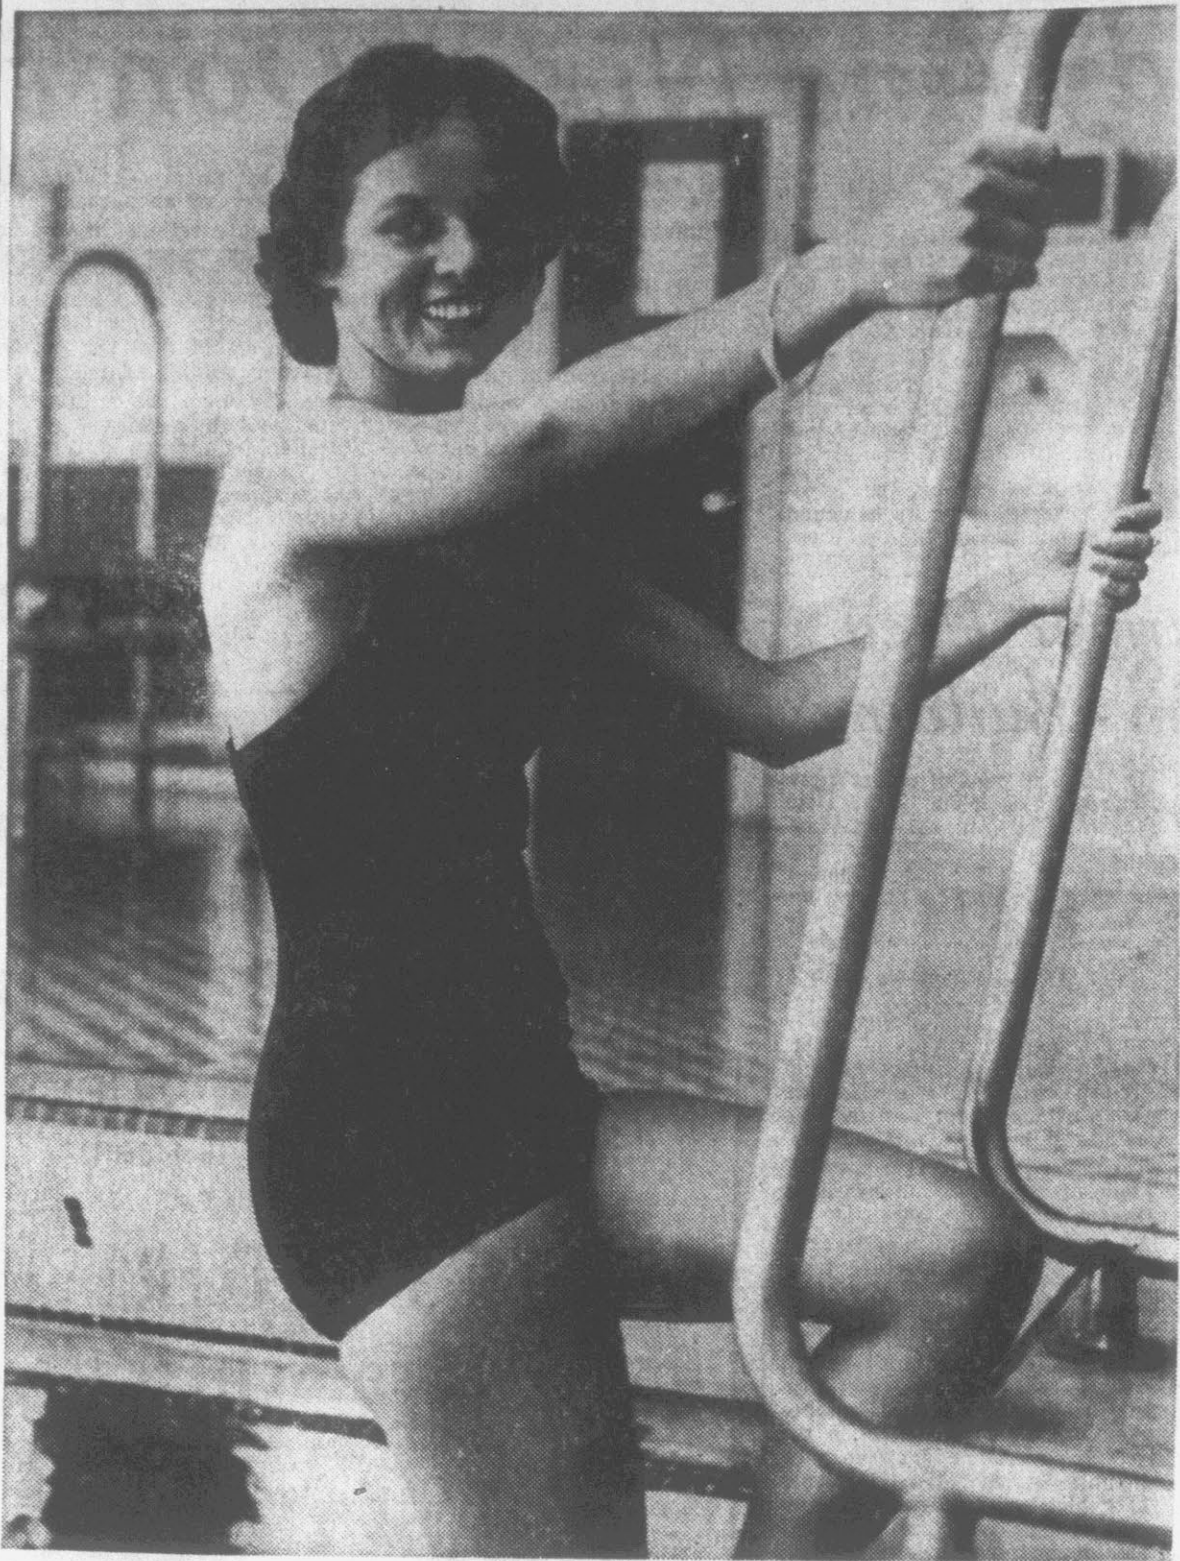

Dr. Howard Gradis, chairman of the Pitt County blood program, and Kenneth Whichard, co-chairman, said that this is the beginning of the fiscal year for the bloodmobile. "We want to start the year off by making the quota each visit," they said in a joint statement.

The bloodmobile will be stationed at the Moose Lodge Thursday from 12 noon until 6 p.m.

On Friday, the bloodmobile will be stationed at the Rotary Club building in Bethel, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. The quota for each visit is 120 pints, with a total for both visits of 240 pints.

Nanney Injured In Ladder Fall

FARMVILLE—James H. Nanney, an employee of Mizelle Electric Company, was hospitalized at Pitt Memorial, Friday, following a fall from a ten foot ladder, in which he sustained painful injuries. The accident occurred at the A.C. Monk and Company's tobacco processing plant number 2.

THEY SAY . . . a pretty girl is like a melody . . . and this melody, or pretty girl, was very cooperative when she paused for a moment for the camera before taking a plunge into the cool, refreshing waters of the East Carolina College swimming pool yesterday in an attempt to beat the heat. The girl . . . Rebecca Ann Highsmith of 2306 East Fourth St., a junior and primary education major at ECC.

Construction Gets Underway On Umstead Conversion

Construction is now underway at East Carolina College to convert Umstead Dormitory, formerly for men, into a women's dorm as of this fall and to complete transformation of Slay dormitory.

The two dormitories will make room for about 470 additional women students on the campus, Fitzhugh D. Duncan, vice president and business manager of the college, said today.

Completion of a new men's dormitory which is located beside Jones Hall has made the two former men's dormitories available for use by women residents. The new men's hall will accommodate 520 students.

Duncan said cost of the construction on Umstead and Slay Dormitories will total about $117,000. Students will be able to move into the quarters as of September 1, for the fall quarter, though work on the exterior of the buildings will not be completed for three or four months, Duncan said.

The construction work on Umstead, to be used by women for the first time this fall, consists of building facilities for a lobby and reception rooms or parlors, and other changes necessary to convert it into a dormitory for women. Two counselors' suites will be located on the inside of the building, Duncan said. Umstead Dormitory faces 10th street and has been in use five years.

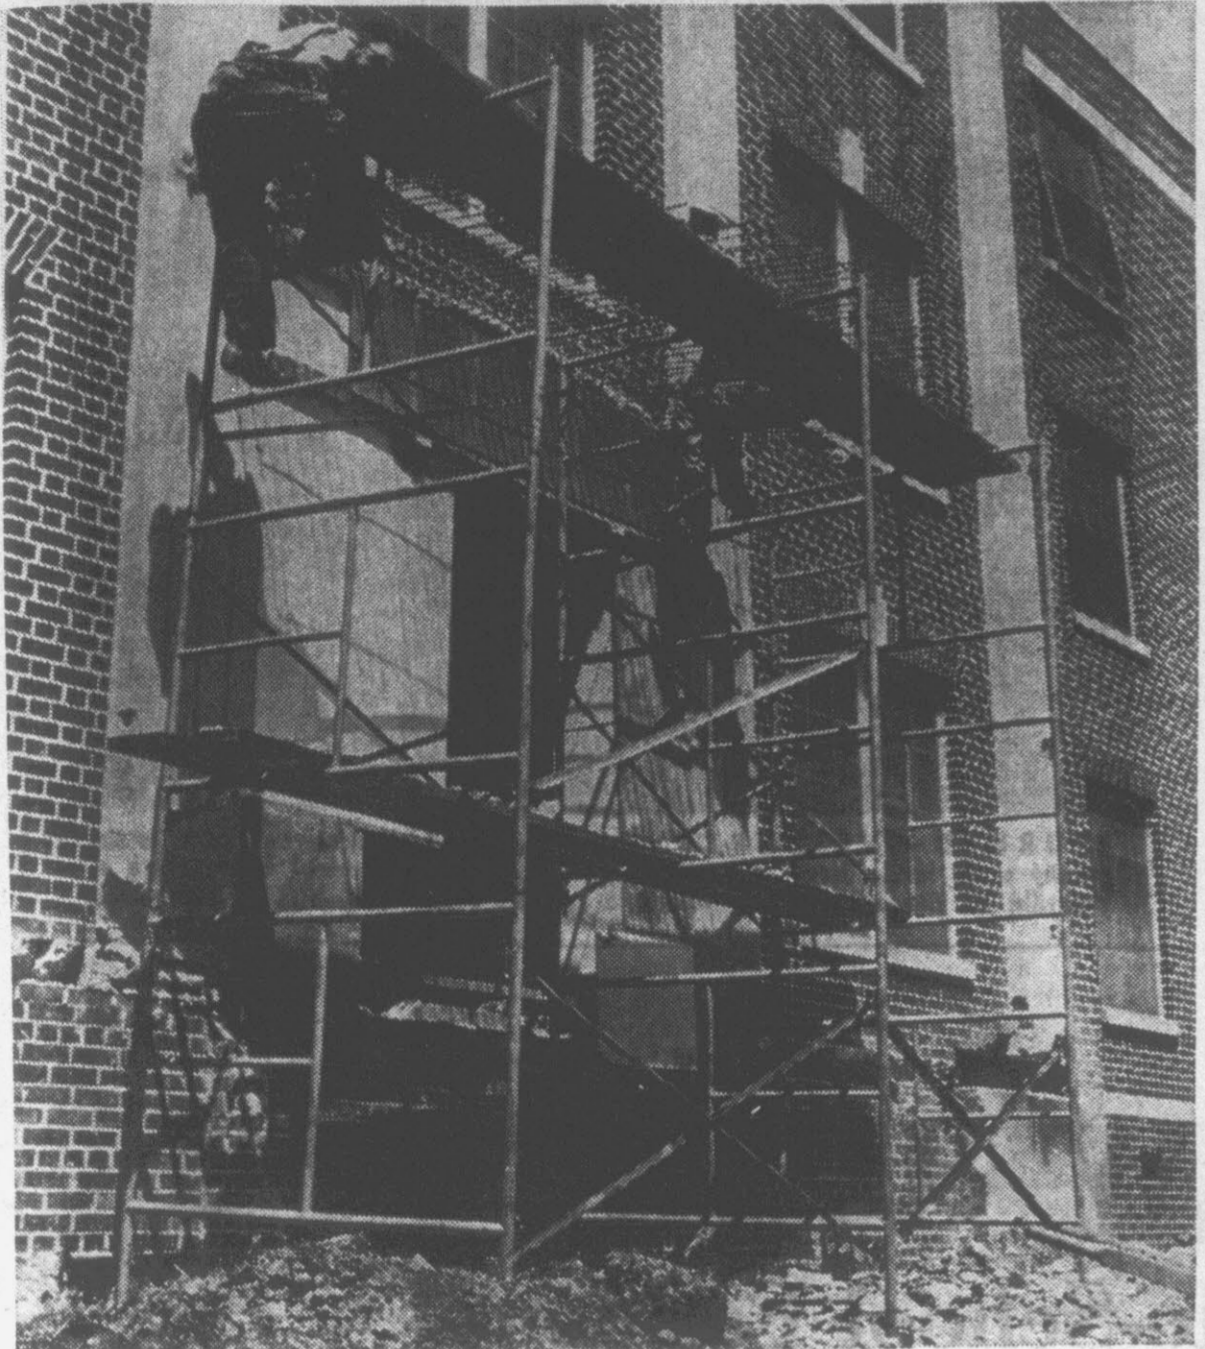

Slay Dormitory was used for women residents last year, though it had inadequate social facilities, similar to that at Umstead. Duncan said. Current construction includes a lobby which is being built onto the front of the building, similar to that at Umstead. This dormitory is located behind Umstead and faces the north. It has been in use about eight years

Duncan commented that these changes and additions to the campus have made it possible to better meet a growing student population at East Carolina College. He said now it looks as if there may be 500 more students here last year. So far, the college hasn't turned down anyone, Duncan said, but in some cases three students will be quartered in rooms intended for two students.

SCAFFOLDING IN PLACE . . . as lobby is constructed on Umstead Dorm.

Bears Might Be Better Off Biting Hands That Feed'em

By MARK KNIGHT

Yosemite National Park, Calif. (AP)—Our western parks would never be the same without those lovable black bears, but their days may be numbered.

Yosemite, for example, has only half the number of bears it had 10 years ago. Nothing done so far to save the bears has been successful.

Buck Evans, the "bear ranger" at Yosemite, places part of the blame on humans—especially women—whose handouts to cuddly cubs upset the animals' instinctive foraging skills and self-dependence.

"Women who would walk around the block to avoid a vicious dog will step right up to a wild bear with 'Don't Feed the Bear' signs all around them," says Evans. "They teach the kids, then both of them teach the cubs not to be fearful of people.

Bears "Man-Broken"

"Thus the yearling bears are man-broken," says Evans, and the problems begin. "A bear will roam as much as 20 to 25 miles a day when food is scarce. That often takes him outside park boundaries. In someone's yard or on a back porch he's a sitting duck and may end up as a bearskin rug."

"That final chapter was fore-ordained when the women and the kids fed him as a cub."

Trapping bears at garbage cans and hauling them to the high country only moved them out to make way for others.

Feeding them in a central station was the biggest failure. "We tried that in 1939 and had our record number of first aid cases from clawing—99," says Yosemite biologist Del Armstrong.

Yosemite isn't giving up on its bears, however. "Our actual knowledge of bear habits is woefully lacking," says Armstrong.

Put to Sleep

"The first step is to put the bruins to sleep long enough with tranquilizers to tag them and get them into the high country. We expect that to be done this season.

"Then we intend to make a long-range study and from it formulate a program to substitute for the unproductive procedures tried thus far."

"Maybe we can save the bears—I hope to have good news next year."

"I'm pulling for you," smiles Evans. "But if we don't come up with something better you will have to agree the only way to save the bears is to shoot the people."

Small Number Greet Communist

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—More than 100 members of Vancouver's Chinatown showered flowers and applause on the 90 members of a Communist Chinese theatrical company which arrived here Monday.

The Peking Opera Company will give five performances as part of the Vancouver International Festival.

While welcoming ceremonies were going on at the railway station, about 50 Chinese paraded through Chinatown calling for a boycott of the performance and urging members of the company to defect to the West.

New College Has Distinctive Name

PALATKA, Fla. (AP)—An advisory board for a new Negro junior college sought a distinctive name and came up with Puclajon.

It is a combination of the names of three counties to be served by the college—Putnam, Clay and St. Johns.

Court To Act In Place Of Parents

BLUE RIDGE, N.C. (AP)—A juvenile court judge told his Southern colleagues here Monday that the function of the juvenile court is to act in the place of parents, treat the wayward child for an illness, and not punish him for a crime as adult criminal courts do.

The speaker was Judge Arlos J. Harbert of the Harrison County, W.Va., Juvenile Court. He addressed Southern juvenile court judges at the opening of a five-day conference.

Harbert called on the judges to assume responsibility for showing the way to repairing damage done to children by failures of communities.

The tallest building in the United States, outside New York City, is Cleveland's 52-story Terminal Tower. It is 708 feet high.

'Ancient City Of Holy Faith' Celebrating 350th Birthday

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—They're celebrating their 350th birthday down Santa Fe way.

This "ancient city of the Holy Faith," a melting pot of three cultures, is observing a 10-day anniversary festival.

Old Santa Fe, famed in song and story, will be marking its founding in 1610 by explorers from Mexico. It became the capital of the vast Spanish territory of New Mexico and is thus the oldest capital city in the United States.

Both admirers and critics agree Santa Fe is a different kind of city. It staunchly resists change and jealously guards the old world charm that draws tourists.

Santa Fe claims it is unlike any other city in the nation, disdaining straight streets and uniformity, the population of 40,000 fights hard to preserve the foreign flavor in its older sections, born of narrow, winding dirt streets tightly bordered by mud-walled homes.

Its adobe Palace of the governors, erected in 1610 to serve as the seat of government, is the oldest public building in the country. The city also is said to have this country's oldest church and oldest house still standing.

It was founded as La Villa Real de la Santa Fe de San Francisco de Assisi. Five governments have ruled the town — Spanish, Indian, Mexican, Confederate and the United States.

Its often turbulent way of life saw the Pueblo Indian revolt of 1680, the bloodless reconquest of the city in 1692 by Captain-General Don Diego de Vargas Zapata Lujan Ponce de Leon, then 150 years under the Spanish crown.

The promise of gold was partly the lure that led to exploration and colonization of the area. But Spain also wanted to protect her rich holdings in Mexico and Central America from the threat of French expeditions from the north and east.

Catholic missionaries also moved into the new land, seeking to convert the Pueblo Indians to Christianity. They were followed by settlers attracted by the rich farmlands of the Rio Grande Valley.

De Vargas' reconquest of Santa Fe from the Indians has given birth to two annual rites observed by townspeople, both largely religious in nature.

The first of these, the annual De Vargas procession, is held in June on the two Sundays following Corpus Christi Sunday. The wooden statue of Our Lady of the Assumption — La Conquistadora — is carried from its chapel at St. Francis Cathedral through the streets to another chapel about a mile away.

The statue, carved in Mexico, was carried to Santa Fe by De Vargas as a symbol of the blessed Virgin's patronage.

La Conquistadora was singled out for special honor during the 350th anniversary year. Papal coronation was authorized by Pope John XXIII, and a crown was fashioned of precious metals and jewels donated by New Mexico parishioners. At ceremonies June 26 the statue will receive its crown.

The second tradition observed yearly in the capital city is the annual fiesta, the oldest community celebration in the United States. It is held during the Labor Day weekend and traditionally signals the end of the summer tourist season. This year's fiesta is the 248th. It also commemorates De Vargas' return to the city in 1692.

The ancient city also received an official niche in American history when its most famous landmark, the Palace of Governors, was placed on the face of a U. S. postage stamp. The new 1 1/2-cent stamp is part of the Postoffice Department's "shrines of America" series.

Georgia Demo Leaders Decide Quickly To Use Straw Ballot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Georgia's Democratic leaders met today and quickly approved a straw vote on the question of pledged or unpledged electors while similar groups planned meetings in the next seven days in Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina.

Opposition was reported developing to a special legislative session on the question in Florida. But 6 of the 11 Democratic nominees for elector in Alabama still refused to pledge their support to the national party's ticket.

Some of the Deep South moves stemmed from dissatisfaction over the strong civil rights plank in the party platform. There also was the feeling unpledged electors would be in a position to withhold their votes in the electoral college for bargaining purposes if the general election is close.

The 120-member Georgia Democratic executive committee gathered to act on Gov. Ernest Vandiver's proposal to let the state's 1,200,000 registered voters decide in the Sept. 14 primary whether the electors should be pledged or unpledged.

The committee approved the plan after rumored opposition failed to develop. However, the outcome will be morally but not legally binding under the state's 1958 unpledged elector law.

The way was cleared for committee action when Judge Luther Alverson of Fulton Superior Court Monday rejected the plea of Henry W. Henderson, an Atlanta attorney, for an injunction to ban the referendum.

NC Local Govm'ts Get $9 Million

RALEIGH (AP) — The state's cities and counties will receive $9,367,500 in intangible taxes collected by the State Revenue Department during the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Charlotte gets the largest chunk, $674,140, with Mecklenburg County receiving the biggest county check, $471,979. The smallest municipality amount was $1.62 to McDonald in Robeson County and the smallest county check was $2,430 to Tyrrell.

The amount distributed represented an increase of $1,321,261 over the 1959 total. The checks were mailed Monday.

The question of an independent slate of electors proposed by Gov. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina is not expected to be settled until Monday when the Democratic state party reconvenes.

Hollings said he would recommend the party offer two sets of electors, one uncommitted and one pledged to the Democratic ticket. He also said he would personally vote for the Democratic nominees in the November general election.

Fairfield County Democrats met at Winnsboro, S.C., Monday and adopted a resolution opposing the governor's plan for uncommitted electors. Orangeburg County Democrats received a resolution urging support of unpledged electors but did not act on the proposal.

The Fairfield group also adopted a resolution calling upon the state executive committee to invite governors and executive committee members from other Southern states to meet in Columbia to formulate principles "to which all the Southern states may give their allegiance" and recommend necessary action.

The Louisiana Democratic state central committee meets in Baton Rouge Thursday to act on a proposal to name a slate of independent electors. Mayor deLesseps Morrison of New Orleans, who has endorsed the Democratic ticket, is opposed to the move.

The Mississippi Democratic executive committee is scheduled to meet in Jackson on Aug. 16 to take similar action.

At Tallahassee, Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida said several legislators had telephoned to endorse his stand against a proposal for a special legislative session to place an independent slate of electors on the November ballot.

But one of the main proponents of the plan, Rep. Welborn Daniel of Lake County, expressed confidence he had a sufficient number of legislators to call a special session and pass an independent elector bill over the governor's certain veto.

In Alabama, six of the Democratic nominees for elector continued to refuse to pledge their support to the party's ticket.

Reviews Troops At Fort Bragg

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Lt. Gen. J. H. Trappell, one of West Point's brightest football stars in the 1920s and a former commander of the 82nd Airborne, today reviewed the troops of his new command at Ft. Bragg.

The general, who arrived at the military post by automobile Monday, was on the main post parade ground at 9 a.m. for the review. Afterward he held a conference with Maj. Gen. Dwight Beach, commander of the 82nd Airborne, and with Brig. Gen. Joseph Stilwell Jr., chief of staff of the 18th Corps.

Gen. Trappell succeeds Lt. Gen. Robert F. Sink as commanding general of Ft. Bragg, the 18th Corps and the Strategic Army Corps (STRAC), the Army's brush fire unit which is designed to halt limited warfare anywhere in the world.

Granville Board Denies Transfers

OXFORD, N.C. (AP)—Requests for the transfer of 25 Negro children to white schools have been denied by the Granville County Board of Education.

The requests for transfer stemmed from a controversy involving G. C. Hawley, principal of the school which bears his name. The parents of the 25 children are members of the South Granville Improvement Assn. The organization contends the administration of the school is inefficient.

About 400 persons of both races who attended a school board hearing last week endorsed Hawley's administration.

The Board of Education rejected the transfer requests Monday.

White Sox Beat NY, 9-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was increasingly evident today that the Chicago White Sox have no intention of rolling over and playing dead whenever things get tough in the American League race.

There was a time when, with the White Sox making threatening gestures in a pennant race, the New York Yankees would come to Chicago, lead with their ace, wind up taking an important series. Then they'd leave town brushing their hands with a "that's that" gesture.

Eddie Lopat used to put the Chicago upstarts in their place. Then Whitey Ford took over as the killer.

Last year the Sox began to get better acquainted with Ford. They beat him three out of four times, and wound up with the pennant.

Ford started this year with a 25-13 record against the Chicagoans. He has started four times against them this year. The Sox have beaten him four times, including the 9-1 shellacking they gave the Yankees Monday night.

The victory before a whooping crowd of 48,323 cut the Yankee lead to half a game, and evened the season's series between the two clubs at 8-8.

Billy Pierce had the New Yorkers eating out of his sinewy left hand as he turned in his 11th victory against 7 defeats. He held them to four hits, walked one and struck out four. Gil McDougald doubled in the third, and went to third base and then home on infield outs for the Yankees' only run.

Minnie Minoza contributed three singles in the White Sox 13-hit attack, and drove in three runs. Ford lasted through the seventh inning, and Ralph Terry, who relieved him, was clipped for the final three runs in the eighth. Jim Landis also got three hits for the Sox.

The Washington Senators took a slugfest from the Kansas City Athletics, 10-7, in the only other American League game.

In the National League Cincinnati defeated San Francisco, 4-3, and Milwaukee downed Los Angeles, 7-6.

Earl Battey drove in four runs and Harmon Killebrew got a two-run homer, his 14th, in the Senator-attack. Killebrew also had a brace of singles, but the really hot batter of the evening was the Athletics' Dick Williams, who went five-for-five including a pair of doubles. Norm Siebern had three singles and a triple in five trips.

North State Football Talk

Football is just around the corner and college coaches are working out final preparations prior to the September 1 opening practice date. As the season creeps closer, this is the way North State mentors feel about the fall season:

JIM DUNCAN, Appalachian: "At Appalachian we lost six starters and may find it hard to replace them. We have 19 lettermen back with ends, guards, and center being our strongest positions. Our weakest spot is halfbacks where we have no real experience.

"We expect to be big—not as big as last season though. We feel that Carl Meesser, our All-Conference center is the best in the state and we have some other top linemen in Wayne Everhart and Robert White. Tommy Wilson, our quarterback is another boy we expect a lot from."

JACK BOONE, East Carolina: "Over-all our boys are going to be greener than usual. We have a definite lack of experience but hope to make up for some of it with aggressiveness. We have less experience than any team since I've been here and a lot may depend on how fast we can get our freshmen ready and strengthen our depth.

"Our team won't be large but we have good speed. And we have some bright spots like Glenn Bass at halfback and Chuck Gordon at center. We have some other good ball players but just don't have enough with experience."

Bears Lost Best Linemen

CLARENCE STASAVICH, Lenoir Rhyne: "We have 19 lettermen back but due to losses in the line we don't expect to be as strong. We also lost a real good back in Steve Foster. We expect real good seasons from veterans Lee Farmer, Dick Lage, Ronnie Frye, and Wade Teague.

"We expect to have a larger squad this season than in recent years. We anticipate a stronger conference and our schedule will be rougher. Overall, we should be good or better in the backfield with a little question mark up front."

HERB APPENZELLER, Guilford: "We will be pretty much of a question mark until getting down to actual competition. We have lost John Moroney who was one of the best boys Guilford has ever had.

"We feel that a switch of Jim Stutts from end to fullback is going to pay off. He is one of the best looking prospects we've ever had back there. Among our 18 lettermen, we expect good seasons from Jim Elks, Tommy Brewster, Brodie Baker and Wayne Hendley. Our biggest problem is improving our defense. Last season, we were one of the best offensive clubs but couldn't stop our opponents."

Don't Count Elon As Pushover

PRESTON MULL, Catawba: "We are installing a new offense—the single-wing—here and it will take time to adjust to it. Our personnel is best equipped for this type of offense and we are confident that we will get stronger as the season goes.

"We plan to use Gene Worthington at tailback and he is the key to our game. We have no returning All-Conference boys but expect Worthington to be one of the top backs in the conference. Catawba will have 12 lettermen reporting September 1."

Freed Feels U.S. Lucky To Edge Mexico Netters

MEXICO CITY (AP)—United States Davis Cup captain David Freed breathed a sigh of relief today and looked ahead to the American zone final against Venezuela in Cleveland Sept. 16-17-18.

Freed's charges whipped Mexico, 3-2 in the semifinals which finished up on a discordant note Monday. After Barry MacKay clinched the decision with a 6-2 8-4, 26, 12-10 victory over Mario Llamas, Chuck McKinley of St. Louis and Esteban Reyes Jr. took the court for the final — though meaningless — singles.

With McKinley ahead, 2-1, in the first set after breaking Reyes service in the third game, rain began to fall. Mexican officials called the match and announced it would be continued today.

But Freed demurred. He said the team members had plane reservations home and that it would be impossible to play today. He ordered McKinley to default.

So it wound up a hair-thin margin for the U. S. team, the closest, in fact, ever against Mexico.

"We were lucky to squeeze through," commented Freed, in his first year as non-playing captain. "Mexico has a very good team. I don't think we'll have as much trouble against Venezuela."

"The Mexican team had the home crowds rooting for it and that helped. In Cleveland, we'd have the crowds on our side. The Mexican officiating was excellent. We couldn't ask for more."

MacKay, too, was relieved after getting past Llamas. He gave the U. S. camp a case of the jitters when he lost his opening singles to Rafael Osuna Saturday.

"Llamas almost had me several times," MacKay said before taking off for his Dayton, Ohio, home. "The altitude (a mile and a half) didn't bother me, though. After all, we came here two weeks in advance to get adjusted, but those red clay courts troubled me."

Clowns In Kinston

KINSTON — The Kinston "Greys" will entertain the world-famous "Indianapolis Clowns" of Hollywood, Florida tonight at 7:30 in Grainger Stadium.

The visiting club has been under the same management for 31 years and have a record unequalled by any club in baseball outside the major leagues.

Sime Feeling Stronger Each Day Of Drills

COVINA, Calif. (AP) — Dave Sime took two steps and limped off the track in pain—his bid for the 1956 United States Olympic team shattered.

Sime, resting in a chair at the Olympic team's training camp near here, didn't talk much Monday of the leg injury that ruined his 1956 chances and still haunts him.

He talked of the new Sime — healed and flashing the old speed that has made him a surprising threat for a gold medal at Rome.

"I'm four-tenths of a second better now than at the Olympic trials," the former Duke University athlete said. "Each week I feel stronger."

Sime had been considered no better than a darkhorse even to make the United States team. In the trials he tied for the third and final spot on the 100-meter team.

Two straight victories in pre-Olympic meets have assured him of a starting berth at Rome. The second came last Friday night at Long Beach when he ran 100 meters in 10.5 seconds—one-tenth slower than at the times but against a seven-mile-an-hour wind.

Sime, who four times in 1956 and 1957 equaled the world's 100-yard dash record of 9.3 seconds, doesn't talk about Germany's Armin Hary or Canada's Harry Jerome, who recently broke the world's 100-meter record with clockings of 10 flat.

Sime has had leg trouble ever since he first hurt it in the 1956 collegiate trials and then tried to run in the Olympic trials two weeks later.

"I've had hamstring trouble in my leg all spring," he said. "But this steady training and weather have helped me. Now I'm ready."

Future Lies With Pitching, Breaks

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Manager Solly Hemus, whose third-place St. Louis Cardinals are in the thick of the National League pennant race, says the outcome will be "decided on pitching and the breaks."

"We've been getting both," added Hemus, whose Cardinals open a three-game series with Philadelphia beginning tonight with a two-night doubleheader.

"I feel as though we have as much chance as anybody," the Cardinals' manager declared. "Nobody is going to run away with this race. We hope to stay in it right to the end."

The Cardinals are 5½ games behind first-place Pittsburgh but only a half game behind Milwaukee.

Hemus said he had figured that Larry Jackson, Ernie Broglio, Lindy McDaniel and Bob Miller would keep the Cardinals around .500 with their pitching.

Tourney Opens

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. (AP) — The All-Marine baseball tournament opens here tonight with Camp Lejeune meeting the Hawaii Marine team.

The loser tonight faces San Diego Wednesday night in the double elimination tournament.

Bulldogs Counting On Him

BULLDOGS COUNTING ON HIM—Quarterback Francis Tarkenton displays some of the form he displayed last year when he set a new Southeastern Conference passing record. He threw six touchdown passes last season and completed 62 of 102 for a .608 average. Coach Wally Butts says Tarkenton "has no superior as a field general and ball handler." Butts said the Bulldogs are expecting the star quarterback to have another good season this year. (AP Photo)

IS COMING TOMORROW!

Brown: 'Pirates Don't Give Up.... Aggressive'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "They never give up. They never quit. They never press the panic button."

General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates cited these factors today as the main fuel in Pittsburgh's drive for its first National League pennant since 1927.

The Bucs are leading the league, five games ahead of the Milwaukee Braves.

"The Pirates are the most aggressive bunch of fellows I have ever seen," said Brown. "It's been a team effort all the way. No superstars, just team balance and a lot of hustle."

Swimmers Deny Pep Pills Used

ROSLYN, N.Y. (AP)—Officials of the U. S. women's Olympic swimming team still were upset today over charges that the squad members used pep pills.

Everyone involved denied the accusation by Weliko Ruuska, whose two daughters competed in the trials. Ruuska made his charge in an interview with Bob Williams, Indianapolis Star sports writer.

"Anyone who says our girls use pep pills is making false statements," said Coach George Haines Monday. "It looks like jealousy and sour grapes."

One of Ruuska's daughters, Sylvia, 18, made the team as a member of the 400-meter freestyle squad, while the other Patricia, 14, failed to make it.

"Absolutely not—a falsehood," said team manager Betty Baldwin.

Ruuska charged three of the top West Coast teams—Santa Clara, Multnomah of Portland, Ore., and the Los Angeles A.C. — used the pills.

"Ridiculous and silly," said Coach Walter Schlueter of the Multnomah team. "We gave our kids the same old vitamin B tablets they have been taking all season."

Coach Pete Diant of the Los Angeles A.C. also denied the charge while Gus Stager, coach of the men's team, suggested Ruuska might have mistaken honey syrup and vitamin C for the pills.

Patterson Leaves For Sweden Bouts

NEW YORK (AP) — World Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson left by air early Tuesday for Copenhagen on his way to Sweden for a series of exhibition bouts.

Patterson, who regained the world title from Sweden's Ingemar Johansson last June, said he was ready to defend the crown "any time between now and the early part of next year." He did not confirm reports that he will confer with Johansson in Sweden.

The champion told reporters he had been told Johansson wanted to wait until next year but that he preferred an early date so he could schedule a second bout later in the year.

Brown said a pennant winner doesn't need to have the strongest man in the league at each position.

"I'd rather have a team with no glaring weakness than a team full of superstars," Brown went on. "Right now the club doesn't have any noticeable holes. You just put all the players together and you have a winner," he added.

"Every time one of our boys falls into some sort of slump, there's always someone else there to take up the slack. Guys like Dick Groat and Bob Clemente have been leading the club in hitting all year. But when they don't come through Bill Virdon, Gino Cimoli or somebody else are there to help."

"Lots of times the individual statistics don't show the value of a player to his club. In Pittsburgh, everyone's helping."

The Pirate official asserted there isn't a player on the squad who doesn't throw some sort of scare into the opponents.

"Right now Bill Mazerowski and Dick Stuart have pretty low batting averages. But let's face it, they both scare pitchers. Stuart can blast a home run at time. And Maz can hit in the clutch.

"A few losses don't get the team down. They've got a lot of hustle. With that attitude, we've a darn good chance of taking the flag."

The Pirates seeking their sixth straight victory, open a three-game series with the Chicago Cubs tonight at Forbes Field.

Teams See Action

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)— Four teams will see action tonight as the Mid-East Regional Pony League tournament gets under way here.

Competing in the double-elimination tournament are teams from Glen Burnie and Salisbury, Md., Martinsville, Va., and Greensboro, N.C.

The winner of the tournament will represent the Mid-East in the Pony League World Series to be held at Washington, Pa., later this month.

The pairings for this evening are: at 6 p.m. (EST) Glen Burnie vs. Martinsville and at 8 p.m. Greensboro vs. Salisbury.

GEORGE TUCKER, Elon: "We're rebuilding at Elon but may fool a lot of people this fall. Eighteen of 22 returning lettermen were freshmen last season and we expect them to be more mature."

"Our recruiting has been good and we expect to give Elon one of the finest looking squads since the championship squad of 1957. We are installing an offense similar to East Carolina and Davidson and it may take a couple of games to get rolling but the conference is going to know we're present."

DAN ROBINSON, Western Carolina: "We have 23 good football players back and have the possibility of having one of Western Carolina's strongest teams. We have the best material here than we've had in 11 years."

"We lost three starters, including Bob Cooper, our fine quarterback. But we have 19 lettermen and three quarterbacks capable of taking over the drivers seat. All-Conference returnees are halfback Tom Broadwater, end Jack Spady, tackle Denny Williams and guard Cecil Smith."

Soviet Sisters Form Track & Field Punch

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — A couple of shy sisters from the Ukraine who have never been beyond the Iron Curtain are the Soviet Union's big one-two track and field punch in the Olympic Games starting Aug. 25 in Rome.

With the Soviet Union lacking a male star certain to win, Tamara and Irina Press loom as successors to 1956 double champion Vladimir Kuts as the toast of the huge hammer and sickle brigade.

"I will be disappointed if Tamara does not win medals in both the shot and discus," Soviet head coach G.V. Harry Korobkov said today. "As for Irina—that girl can do anything. She is marvelous."

Tamara twice broke the world record in the women's shot put this year winning the Olympic trials with 59 feet. She hurled the discus 162 feet, 3 inches.

The slimmer, younger Irina tied the world 80 meter hurdles record with 10.6 seconds. She also is a good sprinter and broad jumper.

Korobkov said he plans to enter her for three events including the relay. "I am confident each of the girls will win at least one gold medal and a place in other events," he added. "Between them they may win five."

Tamara is 23 and built for durability. Five feet seven, she weighs 198 pounds and has arms and legs like young oaks. A long backswing hairdo frames a strong, square face.

Irina, 21, is lean and supple with close-cropped curls and flashing blue eyes. At a quick glance she bears a striking resemblance to the late Babe Didrikson Zaharias, America's all-time woman athlete.

Tamara and Irina Press are classic examples of how the Soviet Union takes promising young stars and molds them through specialized training into sports jewels.

The girls were born in Charkov in the Ukraine. Their father was killed in the war. Their mother worked at manual labor.

"While we were still young we moved to Samarkand in the Asian province," Irina said. "There we began playing in the streets and in the forests. We were what you called 'tomboys'."

"I am in a very good runner then and she caught the eye of athletic officials. They put her in a children's sports school for training and she began competition. Later, although I was not good, I was invited to the sports school also."

The Press sisters were given the equivalent to a scholarship for study at the Leningrad Institute in 1957.

"I am in the fourth year of a morning school and Tafari is studying construction," Irina said. "I want to build bridges. Tamara wants to build houses."

Lexington Gains Twinbill Split

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lexington split a Western Carolina League doubleheader with Shelby Monday night to pull a half game closer to league-leading Salisbury, a 7-5 victim of Gastonia.

Lexington trounced Shelby 7-1 in the seven-inning opener, but dropped the second 8-4. In other games, Statesville pounded Hickory 7-2, and the game between Rutherford County and Newton-Conover was called after six innings because of rain with the score 0-0.

Lexington is in second place in the standings with a 47-21 record. Salisbury has won 49 and lost 21. Lexington's Jim Harrell pitched a four-hitter in the opener against Shelby. Then the defense gave way in the second game and five Lexington errors gave Shelby four unearned runs.

Salisbury outhit Gastonia 12-11, including homers by Paul Roberts, Frank Meadows and Ken Bryant, but the Rippers built up a 6-run lead in the first two innings and managed to hold on for the victory.

Statesville pitcher Bobby Phipps complained of stomach cramps in

Lenoir Captures Upset Victory

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (AP) — You've heard that one about you are? It appears that Billy Lenoir of Tucson, Ariz., is quite a bit better than he thinks he is.

Lenoir, recently crowned national junior champion, had only won one match on a grass court before he took on seventh seeded Martin Mulligan of Australia Monday in a first-round Eastern Grass Courts Tennis Championship match at Orange Lawn Tennis Club.

But Lenoir pulled the first upset of the tournament by ousting Mulligan, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

"When I took the court I was sure I was going to lose," Lenoir said.

the sixth inning and had to be taken to a hospital for examination.

John Couch came on in relief and gave up only one hit in 3 2-3 innings to preserve the victory over Hickory.

Tonight's schedule has Statesville at Lexington, Salisbury at Hickory, Gastonia at Rutherford County and Newton at Shelby.

It wouldn't be surprising if the Los Angeles Dodgers held a high level conference today on a touchy subject: what to do about Wes Covington.

On July 31 the Milwaukee Braves outfielder with the gimpy knee came off the bench in the eighth inning to hit a home run off Don Drysdale, the towering Dodger speedball artist. It didn't win the ball game, but it wasn't Covington's fault.

Monday night at Milwaukee, with two out in the eighth inning and two Braves on base, and Drysdale again pitching for the Dodgers, Covington hoisted himself from the bench and picked up a bat.

Possibly recalling his last exploit as a pinch hitter against Drysdale, Manager Walter Alston called in Ed Roebuck to pitch to the big fellow.

Covington promptly hit a three-run homer, enough to give the Braves a 7-6 victory and cut the lead of the idle Pittsburgh Pirates to five games.

Cincinnati's Reds pulled out a 4-3 ninth-inning victory over the San Francisco Giants in the only other National League game.

In the American League the second-place White Sox clouted the New York Yankees 9-1, reducing New York's lead to a half game, and the Washington Senators overpowered Kansas City 10-7 in a two-game program.

Covington's last eight appearances at the plate have been as a pinch hitter, and his game-winning blast boosted his average for the season to .29.

The Dodgers had built up a 6-1 lead on Carl Willey, the starting Braves' pitcher, before Milwaukee started nibbling away at it.

The Braves got an unearned run in the fourth and added two in the fifth when Del Crandall got to first on an error and Eddie Mathews hit his 23rd home run.

Drysdale settled down after that blow, and appeared to have everything under control until the fatal eighth, when singles by Joe Adcock, Red Schoendienst and Johnny Logan produced one run and Covington's blow provided the clincher.

A home run was the decisive blow in the Cincinnati-San Francisco game also, with Ed Bailey providing the fireworks. With the score tied in the bottom of the ninth, Bailey, first man up, hit into the stands to give Cincinnati the victory over the Maysless GI-

Wilson Widens Carolina Lead

Wilson widened its Carolina League lead to four games Monday night when it shut out Raleigh for the second time in a row and handed the Caps their fifth straight loss.

Lee Stang gave up six hits to receive credit for the 6-0 win. The second game of the secret 1 doubleheader at Wilson was raised out. Greensboro edged Winston-Salem 4-3 and Burlington at Durham was postponed because of rain.

Wilson's Max Sherrill shut out Raleigh 5-0 on one hit Sunday in Raleigh. Monday night the Caps managed as many hits as Wilson but were not as efficient.

The Tobs picked up two runs in the first, added another in the fourth and clinched the contest with a three-run outburst in the fifth. The game was Stang's 17th win against 11 losses.

Reliever Paul Erickson replaced winner Larry Del Margo in the seventh for Greensboro and preserved the victory over the threatening Winston-Salem Redbirds.

Greensboro scored all its runs in the first three innings and then held on. Winston scored once in the first and added two more in the seventh. The victory went to Del Margo who now has an 11-4 record.

Raleigh plays Winston-Salem tonight with Durham at Wilson and Greensboro at Burlington.

Has Stroke Lead

ASHEVILLE (AP)—Lefthander Jim Winkenwerder of Asheville shot a 3-under-par 6 Monday to take a one-stroke lead into today's final 10-hole qualifying round in the Country Club of Asheville Invitation golf tournament.

Deeded at 69 were Doe Bartlett of Asheville, Bill Harvey of Greensboro and Gene Ochsenreiter Jr. of Asheville.

After today's 18 holes, the low 32 will be put in the championship flight for match play Wednesday through Saturday.

Paul Tarnow of Tampa, Fla., shot a 70 Monday. Bill Krickhan and Fleming Brown Jr., both of Asheville, each shot a par 71.

Winkenwerder used only 29 putts for the 12 holes, and rammed in five birdie putts of 10 to 18 feet.

SHARK KILLED

SCITUATE, Mass. (AP) — A 13-foot, 700-pound shark, rammed several times by a power boat, was killed with a pitchfork Sunday by Barney Dwyer, Scituate lobsterman. A bent propeller shaft on the power boat was the only damage.

Smart Clothes for Men and Boys

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Meredith, George Izo or Pete Hall Take your pick.

On the arms of these three passers rest the College All-Stars' hopes of upsetting the Baltimore Colts Friday night in the midsummer football classic in Soldier Field.

Meredith, Izo and Hall were three of the finest collegiate passers in the nation last fall. Whether they can connect against the Colts remains to be seen.

Meredith did his pitching for Southern Methodist and in some quarters is considered the finest passer to emerge from the collegiate ranks in years.

Don got his initial experience of playing professional ball last week in a scrimmage against the Chicago Bears. The All-Stars lost 30-14 but Meredith accounted for the losers' two scores with touchdown passes.

Izo is a native of Barberton, Ohio. He did his passing at Notre Dame and has the professional touch. Izo can throw long, short, hard or soft — depending on the situation.

Hall, from Wheatland, Pa., is one of the finest passers to come out of Marquette. At 21 he is one year younger than Izo and Meredith and will play his professional football with the New York Giants.

Coach Otto Graham has not as yet committed himself which of these three quarterbacks will start against the Colts.

Treaty Tie-Up Due To Possible Soviet Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S.-sponsored treaty for international development of the antarctic continent was tied up today in a Senate debate over whether it would create a possible new threat from the Soviet Union.

Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) argued that it would, and said he will move for a vote to put off action until a new administration can look it over next year.

But Sen. Gale W. McGee (D-Wyo.) noted that the Soviets are already in Antarctica and challenged the critics of the treaty to say whether they would vote to "eject them by force."

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, was prepared to carry on the floor fight against ratification of the treaty signed by the United States, the Soviet Union and 10 other nations.

Russell has contended the treaty "ties the hands of the United States" and could mean signing away to the Soviet Union and Red China of rights he said they couldn't otherwise claim "in any shape or manner."

The treaty was the first official item of business to come before the reconvened Senate session. President Eisenhower Monday requested earlier requests for its ratification.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, was prepared to carry on the floor fight against ratification of the treaty signed by the United States, the Soviet Union and 10 other nations.

Screen Star Says Girls Look More Intelligent In The Nude

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—You may not have thought of it that way, but Monique Van Vooren says girls look more intelligent in the nude. That's one reason she declines to appear on the same stage with undraped beauties.

The Belgian singer thus seconds the notion of Carol Channing that nudes are tough to follow. Miss Channing canceled her Las Vegas contract last week because she was booked to appear on the same bill with Folies Bergere girls.

Miss Van Vooren is appearing at the Riviera in the decorously dressed "Destry Rides Again."

She stacks up well with any of the other imported beauties, give or take an inch, but prefers to keep her figure under wraps. She expects the supporting cast to do the same.

"I have never appeared in a show with nudes," she declared, "and I would never appear nude myself. I prefer to get by on talent."

"It's not that I am against that kind of presentation, nor am I afraid to compete physically with those girls. But it is hard to compete with them on an entertainment level.

"A nude on the stage looks much more intelligent than a performer. I mean it. All she has to do is stand there. The men in the audience think she looks smart. The minute an entertainer opens her mouth on the stage, she is in danger of exposing how dumb she is. She has to work twice as hard to impress the men who have just been seeing the thoughtful-looking nudes who do nothing."

"In Europe, we think nothing of it," she commented. "Why I just came from a little town on the French Riviera where I was the house guest of Brigitte Bardot. The women go without tops on the beach, and no one thinks anything about it."

Miss Van Vooren added a boost for clad vs. the unclad females in the matter of attraction.

"Complete nudity may be art, but it is not sexy," she contended. "A nude with even a ribbon around her neck is more appealing than one without anything."

Nickname From Hefty Character

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Jimmie Wayne Kays, Jr. — nicknamed "Humphrey" by nurses — leaves babies.

Houston Hospital today and things are expected to get back to normal at the nursery for premature.

When Jimmie was born Aug. 28—five weeks premature—he tipped the scales of 13 pounds 4 ounces.

"All I could say was 'Oh, gosh,'" his mother said.

Miss Van Vooren added a boost for clad vs. the unclad females in the matter of attraction.

"Complete nudity may be art, but it is not sexy," she contended. "A nude with even a ribbon around her neck is more appealing than one without anything."

Raleigh Rally Launches '60 Political Campaign

RALEIGH (AP)—The 1960 political campaign received its formal launching today with a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee and a party rally in the dramatically modern State Fair Arena.

More than 1,000 Democratic leaders from across the state converged on Raleigh to hear an all-out pitch for straight ticket voting from president to constable. The executive committee was to meet in the hall of the House of Representatives Bert Bennett of Winston-Salem, manager of gubernatorial nominee Terry Sanford's campaign, was a shoo-in to succeed Woodrow Jones of Rutherford as party man.

Mrs. J. He... of Charlotte was named vice chairman replacing Mrs. Mary Laurens Richardson of Raleigh. After the meeting, the scene was to shift to the fair grounds and the huge arena decked out in flags and bunting for this first major rally of the 1960 campaign.

Speakers included this all-star array of Tar Heel Democrats: Gov. Hodges, U.S. Sens. B. Everett Jordan and Sam Ervin Jr., Sanford, lieutenant governor nominee H. Cloyd Philpott and unsuccessful gubernatorial candidates Malcolm B. Seawell and John Larkins.

Conspicuous by his absence from the speaker's stand and the rally was Dr. I. Beverly Lake, defeated by Sanford in the June 25 gubernatorial runoff. Lake said Monday he would not attend and declined to give a reason. He has asked that a written-in movement to elect him governor be halted. He created a stir Saturday in Charlotte by refusing to attend a Young Democrats banquet.

Card Delivered After 20 Years

CLINTON, Ill. (AP)—On March 7, 1941, Harriet Severns of Clinton sent a picture postcard from Mount Eagle, Tenn. to Jeanne Wilson, a friend in Clinton. The postcard was delivered Monday, nearly 20 years later, but Miss Wilson died 11 years ago. Who received the card? Mrs. Severns, who inherited Miss Wilson's house.

Adds 2 Projects To List Of Bids

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Highway Department has added two projects to a list of highway bids which will be opened at a letting here Aug. 23. The commission will review low bids at a meeting later in the month at Mount Airy. The projects call for more than 11 miles of reatentment on U.S. 74 and N.C. 742 in Anson County and three miles of resurfacing on U.S. 21 from the southern limits of Charlotte to the intersection with N.C. 115 in Mecklenburg County.

Held Witness To Sue Law Officials

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Miami man, jailed 81 days as a material witness to a slaying he reported, is suing Dade County Law officials for more than a million dollars. Elliott Fletcher, 35, based his suit on a contention of false imprisonment. He asked a million dollars punitive damages and more than $5,000 for loss of work during the time he spent in jail. Fletcher complained that while he frosted behind bars, the accused slayer went free on bond.

Guardsmen Free On Low Bonds

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Five Indiana National Guardsmen were free on low bonds today as civil and military authorities contended for the right to prosecute them for the drowning of a companion. St. Joseph County authorities Monday charged them with involuntary manslaughter and referred the case to the grand jury, but officers of the 38th Infantry Division went ahead with plans for a court-martial.

Pet Shop Vandals Kill Birds, Fish

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The losses suffered by a Richmond store when vandals broke in over the weekend included a safe, a portable radio, five birds and hundreds of fish. The vandals smashed the cash register beyond repair and took the radio with them when they left. Before leaving they sprayed poison on the caged birds and in 13 tanks of tropical fish and goldfish.

MORE UTILITIES WORK—Reflector Photographer Stuart Savage caught a bird's eye view of Utilities Commission crews as they dug a new electrical manhole at Five Points. The big manhole is part of a long range project to place downtown electrical lines underground. Conduit leading from this manhole will tie in with recently installed lines on Cotanche St. and Evans on the east and to the underground vault at State Bank on the west. Utilities Superintendent Leonard Bloxam said it is anticipated that the manhole will be completed by the end of this week. He said ditches should be filled and the streets patched by Aug. 19.

Cordless Appliances On Drawing Boards

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Cordless home appliances are taking shape on the drawing boards of a number of caterers to the electrical gadget wants of housewives and their husbands. Electric shavers with built-in power are already on sale along with rechargeable portable radios. Designers are talking of cordless vacuum cleaners, lamps, dictating machines, clocks and electric lawn mowers. The latest devices, some as small as thumbies, use nickel cadmium batteries instead of the conventional ones. The new cells are rechargeable over and over again and guaranteed not to run down while not in use. Salesmen for the new products will stress freedom from the annoyance of cords and the convenience of usage where wall sockets aren't available. But they'll have to overcome the resistance of the housewife to the higher price which the new batteries add to the gadgets. Nickel cadmium battery sales are now running around 15 million dollars a year, but with most for industrial use as standby equipment rather than in household items. Makers of these batteries include Gould National Batteries, Willard and Exide batteries. A Gould spokesman predicts that with the hoped-for expansion in the household and office fields, sales can rise to 75 million dollars by 1965. Makers of plug-in type appliances question if inroads on electric cord devices will be that great. Even at 75 million dollars the new batteries would be little threat to the conventional lead acid battery business, running around 625 million dollars a year. For one thing, the nickel cadmium batteries would be much too expensive for use in autos.

More Birds Are Near Extinction

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Passenger pigeons and Carolina parakeets, which once numbered millions in this country, have vanished because man has destroyed their forest ranges, a Cornell University ornithologist reports. Prof. D.A. West says other birds may become extinct because of marsh-draining. These, he said, include some species of rails, plovers and migrating sandpipers. In 1870, West says 136 million passenger pigeons were reported in 850-square miles of Wisconsin alone. The slateblue birds had disappeared by 1900. The long-tailed green parakeet ranged as far north as New York State. Many were shot because they fed on crops and many were caged. West says the last-known specimens of the colorful parakeet and passenger pigeon died in the same year in a Cincinnati, Ohio, zoo.

Leonard Lao, Portsmouth, Va., a Junior at East Carolina has majors in English and Physical Education. His only experience in the dramatic field are his class participations in several plays, while enrolled in public speaking, acting and interpretation. Leonard plays the role of a Russian spy in the play.

A Richmond, Va., native, Sandra Wade, plays the maid, Ida. She is a freshman at East Carolina and is majoring in French. She has worked in the Virginia Museum Theater, as a specialty dancer in "Kiss Me, Kate," in the Barksdale Memorial Theater, as Emily in "Our Town," as Clementine in "No Time for Comedy," and as a dancer and younger sister in "Gold in the Hills." Sandra was assistant-director of "Tom Sawyer." This summer she was the lead dancer in "The Third Frontier" in New Bern.

Ray Tolley, an Edenton native, plays the Bishop of Lax, and attended Coalinga College before coming here. While at Coalinga, he appeared in "Abraham and Isaac, Carousal," and "If Man Played Cards As Women Do." He also appeared in "Cave Dwellers" for the Pasadena Playhouse. He was in "The Third Frontier" as Sheriff Bryan.

Marshall Braddy, who is from New Bern, plays the visiting Vicar in the farce. He is a junior at East Carolina where he is a major in Art and a minor in English. His performance in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" as Lysander will long be remembered in Greenville as well as his acting and dancing in "The Third Frontier" in New Bern.

Mormons Mix Business And Pleasure In Georgia

By ROSS HAGEN

DESOTA, Ga. (AP) — Joseph Smith would doubtless be proud if he could see the stronghold his Mormon followers have established in South Georgia, a bastion of the Baptists.

Led by an Arizona cattleman, Lee Ellsworth, the Mormons are mixing business with missionary work and apparently are succeeding in both.

Although no figures are available on the number of converts in South Georgia, the success of the Mormon drive is reflected in their flourishing 3,700-acre feedlot operation, Deseret Farms, Inc., near here.

"There is no question about it being a success," says Ellsworth of Deseret. He divides his time between the feedlot and the Mormons' 350,000-acre cattle ranch in Brevard County, Fla. The friendly Westerner gave an honest answer when asked the purpose of Deseret: "To make money."

He says the ranch and feedlot are owned by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Deseret was established as an outlet for the beef raised on the Florida ranch.

The converted plantation can handle 12,000 head of beef at one time and stock come and go at a steady stream.

"We try to market cattle every week," he says. "The railroad recently built a spur line in here to facilitate shipping."

Ellsworth says the quality of beef raised and marketed by the operation here compares favorably with that of Western beef. "The grass is not as good a quality here," he adds, "but there is more of it."

Mormons do not believe in governmental relief or dole, but in helping their own people. As one Deseret executive put it: "We believe we are our brother's keeper—but our brother must 'hump his back' to help himself."

Killed On Way To Buddha Blessing

TOKYO (AP)—The seven-man fire brigade of Komae, a farm community in northern Tokyo, was proud of its new fire truck.

To insure it against traffic mishaps, the volunteer firemen crossed in holiday heat and set out on the truck to have it blessed at the Narita Fudo Buddhist Temple.

Enroute, the chief, Yoshio Yamasuchi tried to overtake a speeding truck, miscalculated, and the fire wagon turned over.

Yamasuchi, planned under the truck, died later in a hospital. Four other firemen were seriously injured.

Hawaii's campaign for statehood began in 1903, only five years after it became a possession of the United States.

Three-Man Committee Appointed To Survey Possible Fire Dept.

FACTOLUS—A three-man committee was appointed here last night to survey the needs for a rural community fire department in the Pactolus area.

The action was taken by the Pactolus Ruritan Club following a discussion on the needs for a rural community fire fighting organization in the section by officers of the Pitt Firemen's Association, Delton E. Perry, of Bethel, president of the Pitt Firemen's Association, discussed the progress which has been made in Pitt County in the past year in setting up rural departments at Grimesland, Stokes and Staton-House. He then introduced Roy Hardee, vice president of the Pitt Firemen's Association and president of the Greenville Volunteer Fire Department.

"You have no fire protection. Nor is there any greater need for a community fire department to fill such a gap," Hardee said in his opening remarks.

"Likewise, I do not know of greater service which you as Ruritans can render your community than by helping to form a rural fire department for this area. Rural fire problems are everyone's but it seems that one group of interested persons must get together to help sell the neighborhood on the acute need," Hardee said.

"The growth of rural fire departments over the past five years in North Carolina has been from around 100 to over 500. These departments are rendering a valuable service and as a result there are hundreds of buildings being saved from man's oldest enemy—fire."

Commenting on the recently formed Pitt Firemen's Association, Hardee said that the association hopes to foster the growth of additional rural and community fire departments in now unprotected areas, of which there are many, and to promote better training and fire fighting practices among the departments now existing in Pitt County. Already three

Minister Denies Anti-Catholic Campaign Plans

BURLINGTON, N. C. (AP)—A Burlington minister denies association with a Protestant group opposed to a Roman Catholic as U.S. president and says he is trying to determine how and why his name was connected with the group.

The Rev. M. Wisenheimer, pastor of the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church here, said Monday that he does not even know the man who mentioned his name to a joint meeting of Gaston and Mecklenburg county ministers concerning the Catholic issue. A. J. Johnson, a Baptist layman of Gaston, told the meeting last week that the Rev. Mr. Wisenheimer had indicated he would sponsor a radio program advocating separation of church and state.

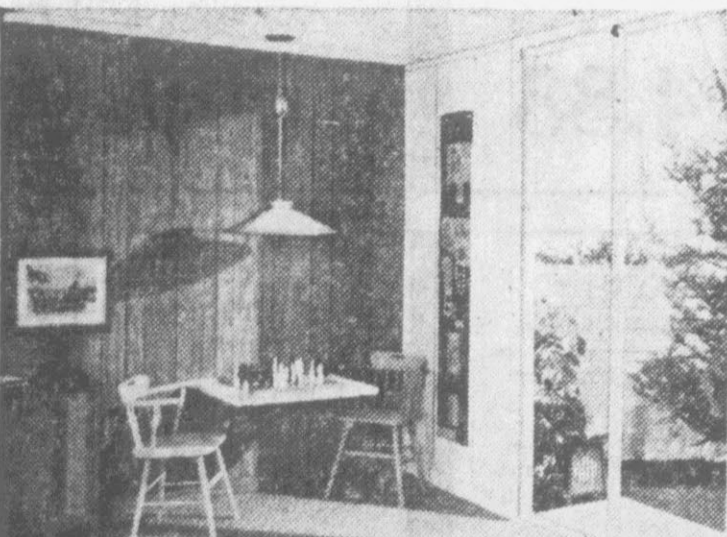

"I have no knowledge of this so-called anti-Catholic campaign which is being organized in Gaston," the Burlington minister said. "nor have I stated that I would conduct such a campaign in my church or raise funds to buy booklets and tracts of an anti-Catholic nature."

Scores Of Inmates Saved From Fire

SIoux FALLS, S. D. (AP)—Guards and firemen rescued scores of prisoners trapped by flames Monday in a barricaded penitentiary work building. Distraught inmates had set off the fire.

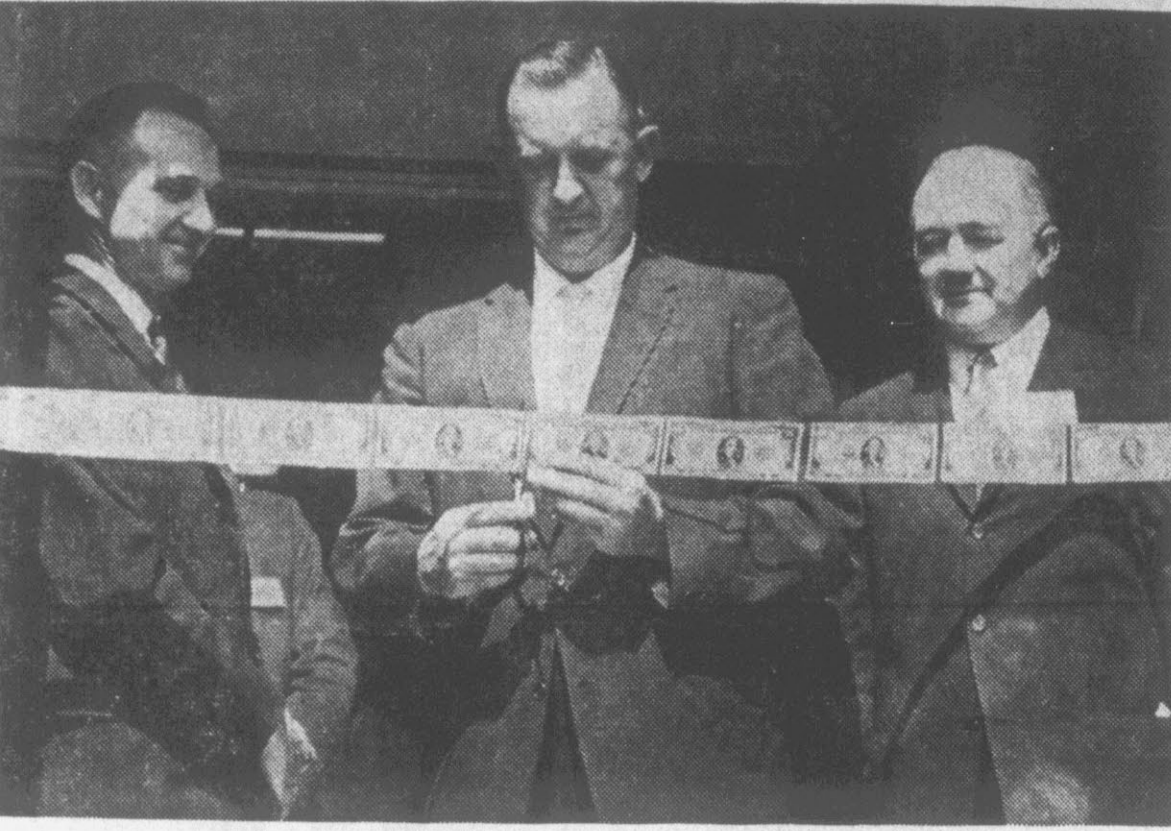

Four guards were overcome by smoke and two convicts were injured in leaps from a second-story window. Eight other prisoners who jumped were unhurt.

FIRST FLOOR 'REC' ROOM Planned for Summer Fun

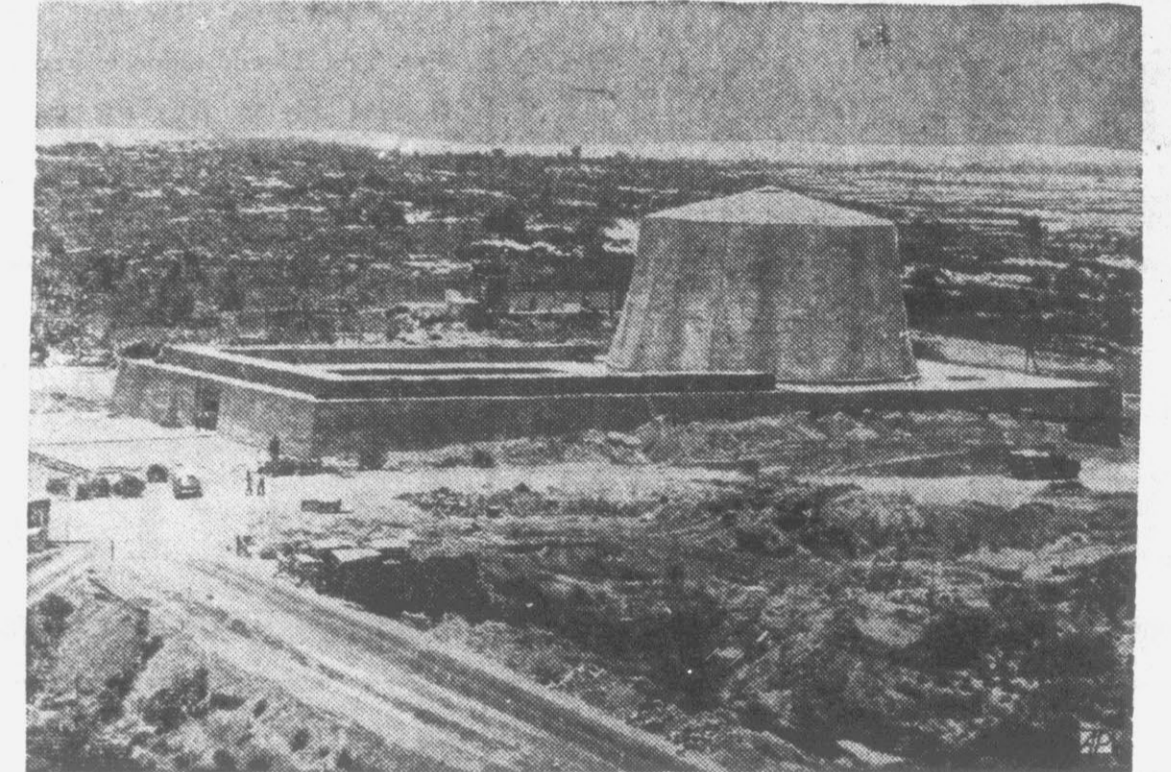

Particularly handy for families that often use their back yard for relaxing and cookouts during the summer, this recreation room at the rear of the house is adjacent to the kitchen and the yard. Sliding glass doors make it easy to enter the recreation room, which is a good spot to continue informal parties that started as cookouts in the yard. A practical, yet modern decor was established in the room by installing plastic-surfaced Marlite paneling in a handsome woodgrain on the side walls. Yellow planks of the same plastic-surfaced hardboard material on the end wall contrast with the random-grooved woodgrain paneling to create an eye-catching interior. Extremely practical for a recreation room, this paneling has a washable plastic surface that never needs refinishing. Fully heated, this recreation room can be used throughout the year.

Demand Given Cuba To Cease Misuse Of Mail

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States demanded today that the Cuban government stop using its free mailing privilege to distribute anti-American propaganda in this country.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said he had learned the Cuban central government has been "misusing" the franking privilege to mail into this country unsolicited pamphlets, contents of which "are untrue, abusive, unsubstantiated, provocative and hostile to the United States, and attack the economic policy and integrity of this government."

He addressed his demand to Cuban Minister of Communications Raul Curbelo Morales.

His letter noted the Cuban government franked mail has been coming in under the first-class privilege, which means it cannot be opened for inspection by postal authorities, Summerfield said, however, that his department "became aware of the situation" as a result of complaints made by persons receiving the unsolicited material.

A postal union agreement embraces the American countries and Spain under which government mailing recognized as free under domestic laws would also be handled free by all members of this union.

2-Year-Old Dies From Auto Injury

GREENSBORO (AP)—A 2-year-old boy darted into the driveway at his home Monday and was run over by a car being backed out of the driveway by his father.

The child, Sidney Steven Mercer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Mercer, died later in a hospital. Coroner R. B. Davis Jr. said the boy's chest was crushed.

the bank's new building until 9 o'clock tonight.

The bank's board of directors accompanied by their wives made a special trip by chartered bus to Greenville Monday afternoon. The directors met jointly with the Greenville Board of Managers holding its regular monthly meeting for the first time in the bank's new Greenville quarters.

Subsequently both boards, their wives, the Greenville staff officers and guests met in pre-lobby of the bank for a dedication program conducted by Rev. H. T. Money of Hooker Memorial Christian Church.

Carl F. Mueller's "The One Hundredth Psalm" was rendered by the church choir, directed by Mrs. Myrtis Hawley. The Litany of Dedication was read responsively by the minister and the congregation; followed by a prayer of dedication by the Rev. Money.

Archie W. McLean, president of the bank, concluded the program with remarks to the group.

During the evening the bank's stockholders joined in pre-viewing the bank's new quarters and facilities prior to the grand opening this morning.

WILLIAM PEARSON'S rousing bestseller on politics A FEVER in the BLOOD

CHAPTER 34 The polls had closed. On his penthouse terrace Bob Vinquist said, "Another hour, Sam. By then maybe there'll be enough returns to spot a trend."

"Perhaps. But the issue is larger," Judge Hoffman clenched his fists. "Am I supposed, at fifty-six to 'confess' that my life has been a sham? That events, the tricks of fate, will always have the upper hand? No, this philosophy I won't accept. I'll have—I'll make myself have—the best of it. But if Dan should lose tonight—a big if, of course—Keenan's going to start a recall campaign, and he thinks I might be a fair prospect as the recall group's candidate."

He laughed. "A very profound observation." Laughing in turn, she said, "Well, you know what I mean. Dad, if I was sure Bob really knew what he was getting himself in for and if he still wanted it, I'd want it too. Because I love him. But is he in any position to run? Mother told me you yourself said he'd be in an impossible situation if he won with Keenan's backing because his first duty would be to prosecute Keenan for wire tapping."

More Credit, Cheaper Interest Popular Plan

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — Among plans for getting industry rolling at a faster pace the one you hear the most about today is making credit more available and interest rates cheaper.

It reduced to 70 per cent from 90 per cent the amount of cash you must put up if you want to buy stocks on margin. The markets responded to this only half heartedly.

Federal agencies have eased credit terms for government guaranteed mortgages without stimulating home building much.

Banks continue to hope that the Federal Reserve will cut the amount of reserves they must keep on hand with its New York and Chicago banks particularly hope their reserve requirements will be cut to the level of other major cities.

Survey Reports Women Top Men

LONDON (AP)—A British insurance company survey says it has shown that British women are safer drivers than men. The company is cutting liability premiums for women drivers at least 1 per cent.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market lost its upside edge and turned mixed early this afternoon. Heightened international tension, plus the uncertain near-term business outlook, made traders and investors cautious. Transactions were made at a sedate pace. Changes in both directions were narrow and a fair number of issues were unchanged from the previous close.

Little concerted action was shown by any one group, although steels, motors and chemicals slid lower after losing early gains. Aircrafts were mixed, but oils and tobaccos managed to cling to morning gains, however small. Airlines and utilities also were mostly higher.

Metals firmed, too, as Kennecott turned an early loss into a gain of more than a point in active trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 0.46 at 614.33 at noon.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 215.60 at noon with industrials down 0.20, rails unchanged and utilities up 0.02.

Both U.S. government and corporate bonds advanced.

Fate Of Capitol In Voters Hands

By WARD T. SIMS
JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Hugged by both the mountains and the sea, this once-roaring gold camp's fight to remain capital of the nation's largest state was in the hands of the voters today.

An estimated 35,000 ballots, far below the record number of 50,343 cast in the 1958 general election, were expected to decide whether Juneau would lose the capital to the Cook Inlet-railbelt area, dominated by booming Anchorage, the state's largest city.

Gov. William A. Egan would be empowered to name a five-man committee to select an actual site in the Cook Inlet-railbelt area for a new capital, to be established by Jan. 1, 1965 if the proposal wins approval.

Egan and the other two top Democrats in the state, Sens. Ernest Gruening and E. L. Bartlett, both have said they oppose the capital move proposal.

So have the two top Republicans, Mike Stepanovich, who was governor of Alaska under territorial status; and John Butrovich, who fought Egan for the governorship two years ago.

Drawing their main support in Anchorage, backers of the capital move plan argued that Juneau was too far from the Anchorage-Fairbanks center of population; that great economies could be achieved by moving the capital from Juneau; and that air transportation to Juneau, the only year-round means of getting here, was often interrupted by fog and rain clouds.

And, pointing at Juneau's place on a narrow ledge between high mountains and deep-flowing Gashline Channel, they said there is no room for capital expansion here.

Every point was denied heatedly by the Juneau backers in a bitter campaign that has raged unabated for a year.

They argued the state does not have the financial means for transferring the capital from Juneau. What money it has, they said, is needed for roads, hospitals, juvenile facilities and mental health facilities.

Almost forgotten in the heat of the capital campaign were nomination races for one U. S. Senate seat and the state's U. S. House of Representatives seat.

Democrat E. L. Bartlett was unopposed for his party's nomination for another term in the Senate. Battling for the GOP bid to face him were Lawrence Brayton, a Fairbanks surveyor, and Lee L. McKinley, a Palmer dentist.

Democratic Rep. Ralph J. Rivers has opposition within his own party in his bid for another term, from David N. Boyer, a hotel owner from Kenai. Three men, William C. Haugaard, a Sitka lawyer; R. L. Rettig, an Anchorage accountant; and Jack Ryan, a Fairbanks newspaperman, seek the GOP nomination.

No Bad Damage Reported From Thunderstorm

A severe thunderstorm struck the Greenville area around 8 o'clock last night but there had been no reports of major damage today.

Greenville Utilities business manager Larry Brown said the commission experienced no serious trouble on its lines during the storm.

"It was just the normal kind of trouble to expect during such a storm," Brown said.

He said a few transformers were knocked out and lights flickered at times.

At the Greenville Utilities power plant a high of an even 100 degrees was recorded at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The cooling rains accompanying the thunder storm dropped the temperature to a low of 73 degrees at 4 a.m.

At 8 a.m. today the thermometer stood at 79 degrees and at noon today the mercury climbed to 95 degrees.

Rainfall recorded yesterday was 58 of an inch with winds of nine to 14 miles per hour being recorded.

Observers reported the river rose slightly following the rain. It stood at six feet eight inches today.

UN Asks Belgian Troops To Give In

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (AP)—Warned that world war might erupt if the Congo crisis is not solved, the Security Council early today called for Belgian troops to give way to U.N. forces immediately in secessionist Katanga province.

In a resolution sponsored by Ceylon and Tunisia and adopted 9-0, the 11-nation council authorized Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to arrange the change-over and asked him to report back. France and Italy abstained.

The 4 a.m. vote climaxed an urgent overnight session that lasted for 11 1/2 hours.

Hammarskjold, who gave the world war warning, planned to leave after midnight, tonight to fly back to the Congo, where Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga last week balked the entry of U.N. troops into his mineral-rich province in the southeast Congo.

The resolution sought to quiet Tshombe's fears that U.N. troops would be used to bring Katanga under the control of the central Congo government headed by Premier Patrice Lumumba.

It specified that the 12,000-man force would not "be used to influence the outcome of any internal conflict."

The resolution was in line with suggestions made by Hammarskjold. It followed up the council's July 14 and 22 decisions that Belgium should pull her troops out of the Congo. It called upon her to withdraw them immediately from Katanga—the only one of the six Congo provinces where they remain outside their bases—and to do so "under speedy modalities determined by the secretary-general."

The Soviet Union, after supporting the resolution, did not press for a vote on a resolution of its own that implied the use of force if necessary to get U.N. troops into Katanga. This would have had Hammarskjold "take decisive measures, without hesitating to use any means to that end, to remove the Belgian troops" from the Congo and safeguard the country's territorial integrity. It asked him to report back in three days.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov explained he voted for the rival Ceylon-Tunisia proposal because it specified Hammarskjold's main job was to get the Belgian troops out.

Earlier he accused Belgium of aggression against the Congo and said if this aggression continued, his government would "not hesitate before any decisive action aimed at repelling the aggressor."

Kuznetsov said only Belgian bayonets were propping up Tshombe. He said if the U.N. force could not oust the Belgians from the Congo, troops must be sent from other countries ready to help Ghana and Guinea. Both have offered to take their troops out of the U.N. force and put them under control of the Lumumba government.

Hammarskjold told Kuznetsov bluntly: "I do not believe, personally, that we help the Congolese people by actions in which Africans kill Africans, or Congolese kill Congolese."

Tunisian delegate Mongi Slim, introducing the Ceylonese-Tunisian resolution, also said the U.N. troops "ought to be fully authorized" to use force if that was the only way they could get into Katanga. But Hammarskjold reminded the council it had power to enforce decisions for peace by calling on U.N. members to break off diplomatic relations, trade and communications with any recalcitrant country.

In presenting his report Monday, Hammarskjold declared the "main cause of continued danger" was the presence of Belgian troops in Katanga. "The problem of the Congo is one of peace or war—and not only in the Congo, he said.

U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said the stake was "peace not only for the Congo but for the world." He said Belgium no longer had any reason "to postpone speedy withdrawal from Katanga."

Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny said the resolution would "hurt the Belgian people" and make it hard for him to persuade them they could trust the U.N. force to safeguard the 20,000 Belgian nationals in Katanga. He said security must be "maintained without a break."

Large Group Hears Local Campaign Plans

A "large group" of local business, civic and educational leaders met yesterday at a gathering sponsored by the Greenville Merchants Association to hear plans for the forthcoming "You'll Get More in Greenville" campaign to be sponsored by the local association.

According to William Deavours, Chairman of the Association's Trade Promotion Committee, the plans for the campaign to sell Greenville were explained to the gathering.

According to Deavours, the campaign will probably get under way September 8 and run for a year. The purpose in the program is to "let the people in the surrounding area know just what Greenville has to offer," and to show that Greenville is a leader and has much to offer in many areas other than the strictly "business" area.

The program is designed to sell the city as a center for "just about" everything and show that it can fill the needs of the people of the area. Deavours pointed out. Advertising mediums to be used in the campaign include: newspaper, radio, television, billboards, car stickers, window streamers, rubber stamps, and lapel badges. A budget of $7,500 has been set up as a goal for the advertising program.

According to Deavours, the effort to sell Greenville will go hand in hand with a courtesy campaign being conducted by the merchants of the City. Deavours pointed out that the local merchants "feel their employees could be more courteous" and during the "You'll Get More in Greenville" program, the businessmen will stress courtesy in their stores.

Driver Charged In Collision

Louise Reid Perkins, Negro of Route 5, Greenville was charged with failing to keep a proper lookout while backing and operating without an operators license yesterday following a collision at the intersection of Dickinson and Grande Aves. about 9:02 a.m.

Damage to the Perkins car was set at $75 while no damage was reported to the truck.

In a second collision yesterday, an estimated $50 damage resulted to a car driven by Mrs. Christine Johnson of 1708 East Fourth St. when it was involved in a collision with a car operated by Mrs. F. J. Thompson of 101 South Warren St.

Investigators said no charges were placed as a result of their investigation.

The mishap occurred in front of the Johnson residence on East Fourth St. at about 1:15 p.m.

Cubans Set Up Mining Institute

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban government today set up a National Institute of Mining, a step that could be preliminary to seizure of the U. S. mining properties that escaped Prime Minister Fidel Castro's weekend nationalization of most American holdings in Cuba.

A decree announced after a marathon Cabinet session said the mining institute was empowered to "plan investigation and development of mineral production."

The institute was made a division of the Industrialization Department of the National Institute of Agrarian Reform—INRA.

The largest mining interests in Cuba are the Moa Bay Mining Co. (nickel), now shut down because its American owners say they cannot make a profit under Cuban mineral export laws, and the Nicara Nickel plant, owned by the U. S. government. Officials of both companies are negotiating with the Cuban government over their future.

Before Castro seized the foreign-owned oil refineries in Cuba, the government created a National Petroleum Institute as part of INRA. It was given the job of running the expropriated companies.

Problems Delay Balloon Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Technical problems with a Thor-Delta booster rocket early today caused a 24-hour postponement in an attempt to launch a huge balloon satellite into orbit about the earth.

The launching of the 100-foot sphere was to be the first step in a long-range investigation of the use of satellites for global communications.

Worldwide radio, telephone and television systems could evolve from the project, called Echo.

The count-down proceeded smoothly until 25 minutes before the scheduled launch time. Then an unexplained hold was called and half an hour later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration called off the shot.

A brief statement said only that the launching was postponed because of technical difficulties with the rocket.

Generations before air conditioning, Hawaiians discovered a high, slanted roof made a house interior cooler.

Lumumba Says Troops Will Invade Katanga

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Patrice Lumumba said today his fledgling Congo army and soldiers of other African nations will invade Katanga province to free it from the Belgians.

"The whole government will go to Katanga, and if the Belgians will shoot, we will be happy to die for the country," Lumumba told a news conference. Some 40 Congolese present applauded wildly.

The Premier refused to discuss the move on Katanga further. Katanga officials who went to the United States for the United Nations Security Council debate said their 4,000 native soldiers could handle any Lumumba sent.

A few hours before Lumumba's news conference, his government declared a state of emergency throughout the Congo and ordered the immediate closing of Belgium's seven consulates in the vast central African nation.

The government also ordered Baron Jean Van den Bosch, head of the Belgian diplomatic mission in Leopoldville, to quit the country before noon.

Lumumba said he has given "all power" to the Congo army—the Force Publique—and its new commander, Gen. Victor Lundula, to "restore order in the country."

"The army will arrest anybody, black or white, who disturbs order in the Congo," the Premier declared.

Such action could cause serious difficulties between the Congolese soldiers and the U.N. force now trying to maintain order in all of the Congo's provinces except secessionist Katanga.

It was the Force Publique mutiny against its white Belgian officers that plunged the new nation into chaos and brought the U.N. force into the Congo.

The U.N. force disarmed some Congolese units, but many others kept their arms. In recent days truckloads of armed Congolese soldiers have been seen in Leopoldville.

Lumumba said his government will not accept "domination" from the United Nations.

"We want collaboration and not charity," he declared. "The Congolese and not United Nations officials should administer the Congo. The Congolese are capable of it."

Lanphier New Planning Chief

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas G. Lanphier Jr., the World War II fighter pilot who quit a $50,000-a-year job in the missile and bomber industry to be free to attack government defense policies, has been named planning chief of a company with widespread and varied interests.

The Fairbanks Whitney Corp. announced Monday that Lanphier, 44, had been appointed to the new post of vice president in charge of planning.

Three weeks ago, while looking for a job, Lanphier said he didn't regret resigning last March as executive vice president of the Convair division of General Dynamics Corp.

He said in an interview that he would do it again "if it would awaken the country to its military weaknesses."

While with the Convair division, which produces the Atlas missile and the B58 bomber, he said he felt the administration was gambling with the nation's survival by trying to approve larger numbers of missiles and planes.

Lanphier lectured around the country for four months, hammering at his theme. He paid his own expenses and accepted no fees. He estimated that his campaign cost him $10,000 in expenses alone. Added to this was the loss of his $4,000-a-month salary with Convair.

Lanphier finally felt he had campaigned all he could afford to campaign, so he started looking for a job.

Florence Aadland faces a probation hearing and sentencing Sept. 1. The conviction carries a possible one-year jail term.

Witnesses had testified that mother and daughter were drunk at a party at the Aadland apartment March 19. Photographs were introduced that showed Beverly, 17, and Mrs. Aadland with partially clad males.

Late In Finding Career In Stars

MILLBURN, N. J. (AP)—Professional astronomy has been the fulltime job of James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer at the Hayden Planetarium in New York, for only eight years.

Pickering worked 24 years for a big department store, rising to credit manager. But astronomy was something he steeped himself in since boyhood. He quit his store job eight years ago to make the stars his career.

He won a national award for his television series, "Astronomy and You," and has written two books about the heavens.

is most enjoyable when viewed beginning at the beginning and proceeding to the end. I realize this is a revolutionary concept but we have discovered that PICTURE is unlike most motion pictures and does not improve when run backwards. Therefore, we will not allow you to cheat yourself. So do not expect to be admitted to the theatre after the start of each performance of the picture.
