Is Pushing Minimum Wage Bill

Kennedy Shooting For Early Passage Of Wage Legislation Without Major Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, accusing the administration of dragging its feet on welfare measures, said today he is going to try to get his minimum wage bill passed without major change.

And the Massachusetts senator the Democratic presidential nominee, replied "oh, yes" when asked by a reporter if he thought President Eisenhower would sign the bill.

Senate debate on the controversial measure got under way Wednesday night, bringing Kennedy to the forefront in the swirling, politically charged battles of the post-convention session for the first time since his nomination.

The bill would increase the present $1 an hour minimum wage to $1.25 in three steps and extend the protection of the wages and hours act to five million additional employees.

During the debate, Kennedy said the Eisenhower administration took a stand last year against any increase in the minimum wage and only later agreed to accept an increase of $1.15.

"They were dragged to it," he said, adding this was typical of the way in which the administration has acted with respect to medical care for the aged, federal aid to education, housing, and area redevelopment legislation.

The original position of the administration was in opposition to any action on such legislation, Kennedy said, adding it was only when it appeared that the Democrats were going to act anyhow that the administration offered to compromise.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) replied that the administration had opposed any increase in the minimum wage last year because at the time "it honestly believed it would be inflationary."

"I don't think the President was dragged or pushed into this at all," Goldwater said of the changed administration position.

But Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.), backing up Kennedy, said the administration has "had to be hauled and pulled step by step into programs good for the American family."

It is the Democrats who have had to blaze the trail, Carroll added.

Kennedy and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, have listed the minimum wage bill as one of the major pieces of legislation to be passed at the present session of Congress.

However, when a similar bill was brought up in the House late in June a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition junked it in favor of a much more limited measure.

The House-passed bill would hold the increase in the minimum wage to $1.15 and extend the coverage of the law only to 1,400,000 employees of retail chains operating in two or more states.

Goldwater said he hoped Kennedy's bill would at least be acted down to the House provisions. He said he has more than 30 amendments to cut down the Kennedy bill's provisions. Some Southern Democrats also have proposed modifying amendments.

Kennedy said in a separate interview, however, that "generally speaking, we are going to try to keep the bill the way it is."

Average prices for the first hour of opening day sales on several South Carolina and border North Carolina tobacco markets today ranged from $54 to $58 per 100 pounds, the Federal-State Department of Agriculture reported.

On the bell's opening day last year, a total of 10,076,178 pounds was sold and growers received prices averaging $59.92. So, indications were that during the first hour of sales, the average was not running quite as high as on opening day last year.

Jamesville Pair Die In Smashup

WYTHEVILLE, Va. (AP) — A Jamesville, N.C., man and his wife were killed Wednesday in the collision of a car and a tractor-trailer on U.S. 11 at Ft. Chiswell, near here.

The victims were identified by State Trooper M. W. Kilby as Clyde Glass, 69, and his wife.

The trooper said Richard Lee Gano, 47, of Narrows, Va., a pedestrian, was injured seriously when he was caught up in the wreckage and dragged about 10 feet.

The truck driver, Clifford Hardy Chittum of Rt. 3, Salem, Va., was not seriously hurt.

Trooper Kilby said the car driven by Glass was hit by the truck as Glass made a left turn across the divided highway.

Kilby said, "They apparently didn't see the truck coming and didn't even slow down. The car got caught under the big truck and was rolled into a ball of steel."

U. S. Tourist Is Expelled As Spy

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union told the U. S. Embassy today that an American tourist identified only as Robert Christian has been expelled from the Soviet Union as a spy.

The embassy said it knew nothing about Christian and never heard of him in the note delivered from the Soviet Foreign Ministry this morning.

The note charged he had been sent to the Soviet Union in July to collect industrial and military intelligence. The note did not say when the expulsion took place.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the Foreign Ministry had warned the embassy against "exploiting tourists for intelligence purposes."

It was the fifth case of American spying charged by the Soviets since the downing of Francis Gary Powers' U2 plane May 1, and the second expulsion of an American citizen to be announced in as many days.

Col. Edwin M. Kirtan, the U.S. Air Attache in Moscow, was ordered to leave the Soviet Union Wednesday. He was accused of organizing a spy apparatus and of photographing military installations. His assistant, Capt. Irving T. McDonald Jr. of Provincetown, Mass., was accused of similar activities but was not ordered out of the country. U.S. Charge D'Affaires Edward L. Freers rejected the charges.

Pitt Tax Share Tops $100,000

The County of Pitt and its nine incorporated municipalities received $107,084.97 in intangibles tax funds from the state government this week.

The county government's share of the state collected tax was $66,116.40. Greenville received $26,907.24.

Other municipalities and their checks are: Ayden, $3,424.58; Bethel, $1,876.13; Falkland, $89.95; Farmville, $5,262.16; Fountain, $557.91; Grifton, $1,837.58; Grimesland, $102.80; Winterville, $910.22.

The Greene County government received $16,999.87 in intangibles funds. Municipalities in Greene and their amounts are: Snow Hill, $1,514.60; Hookerton, $183.64; Walstonburg, $150.59.

Martin County's share was $20,304.61. The county's municipalities' shares were: Everetts, $91.82; Hamilton, $71.41; Hassell, $21.82; Jamesville, $153.88; Oak City, $180.23; Parme, $31.17; Robersonville, $1,545.31; Williamson, $5,938.36.

Intangibles tax is levied at the rate of 10 cents per $100 on money on deposit and at 25 cents per $100 on money on hand, accounts receivable, bonds and notes, shares of stock and beneficial interests in foreign trusts.

Yield from the money on deposit is distributed to the counties on basis of population. Receipts from the other sources are distributed on basis of actual collections from each county. The amount returned to each county is prorated between the county government and municipalities on basis of the total ad valorem levy on property.

For that reason often a town or city will receive more than the county in which it is located.

A total of $9,367,500.98 was distributed to the 100 counties and to 400 municipalities by the State Board of Assessments.

Total collections amounted to $10,004,748.32. The State retained $459,597.12 as the intangibles tax credit on the franchise tax and $177,686.22 for cost of collecting and distributing the tax.

Satellite Waits For Signal To Eject Capsule

VANDERBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — America's newest satellite is flashing around the earth every 94 minutes — awaiting the radio signal to hurl a 300-pound capsule toward Hawaii.

Discoverer XIII was launched at this West Coast Missile facility Wednesday through a fog bank into a perfect polar orbit.

On the satellite's 17th trip across the top of the world late this afternoon, a radio signal is set to trigger an operation the Air Force has tried six times without success: recovery of a capsule in orbit.

Recovering a capsule is a key step to the puzzle of how to send man safely on a roundtrip visit to the inkly void of space. Space scientists hope Discoverer XIII is their lucky number. If the capsule is recovered safely, monkeys — and eventually men — will follow, they say.

Here is how scientists plan to retrieve the capsule: Forward-firing rockets will slow the speed of the capsule as it falls toward the earth in a long, curving trajectory. When it hits the air parachutes will check its fall. Planes trailing trapeze-like snares will try to catch the falling capsule and ships will wait below in case they miss.

Rebels In Laos Announce 'Goal Has Been Attained'

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The military rebels who seized power in Laos announced in a delayed communique received in Saigon today that "the goal of the coup de force has been attained."

"The population has approved the movement and remained calm throughout the entire country," said the communique signed by paratrooper Capt. Kong Le, the leader of the revolt.

The rebels said "all officers of various services and units of the armed forces" declared themselves ready to serve the country, religion, monarchy and constitution and cooperate with the revolutionary movement.

The rebels' 40-member executive committee will govern "on a temporary basis," the communique said, adding that the rebellion "was not promoted by any political group or party but rather to fulfill the people's desire."

The movement has received no material or moral help from any foreign power whatsoever but was created thanks to the spirit of sacrifice of the committee itself, it said.

The rebel claim that all army officers were cooperating was contradicted by reports that high ranking officers were still loyal

Catholic Criticism Rejected By Castro

By RICHARD VALERIANI HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro today rejected criticism of his government by the Roman Catholic Church, asserting that those who condemned his revolution "would be capable of crucifying Christ himself again because Christ preached what we are doing."

In a boiling rage, the bearded Prime Minister charged that traitorous clergymen directed by the U.S. Embassy were provoking his revolution with church demonstrations. He also accused the United States of getting Spanish Generalissimo Franco to pressure Spanish priests in Cuba into attacking his regime.

Shouting, waving his arms and giving seeming proof of his announcement that he has completely recovered his health, Castro spoke for 3 1/2 hours to a post-midnight labor rally that roared approval of his attacks on the church with shouts in Spanish of "out!" and "to the execution wall!"

It was Castro's first public appearance since Cuba's Catholic hierarchy in a pastoral letter Sunday warned that communism is advancing in Cuba. The revolutionary leader was as angry as he has ever been in public.

"He who condemns a revolution like this one betrays Christ," Castro rasped. "They are not only traitors to Christ but to their people and to the fatherland."

"There is no doubt that the American Embassy has thrown into the battle its final paw," he declared. "There is no doubt that the imperialistic partner of (Spanish Generalissimo) Franco and his fascism has influenced Franco so that Franco can mobilize against our countrymen as many fascist priests as they can count on in our country."

He issued a veiled warning that his government would retaliate if the church does not halt its criticism.

Castro attacked the "scribes and pharisees who did not raise a voice to protest against the crimes of (Dictator Fulgencio) Batista, the scribes who were photographed with the tyrant — baptizing the children of the tyrant."

(Some of the church's highest ranking prelates baptized Batista's children, but at least one leading Catholic prelate, the Most Rev. Enrique Perez Serantes, archbishop of Santiago, once intervened to save Castro's life from a Batista firing squad.)

Castro said that his government has been "generous up to the maximum" in allowing the church to continue to operate its own schools and has respected all creeds.

"I would like to see a pastoral letter where the crimes and murders of Batista are condemned," he shouted. He demanded the church also condemn "the crimes of imperialism, the horrors of imperialism, the plans of invasion, of imperialism."

UN Sec. Races To Troubled Katanga

By WILLIAM N. OATIS UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold raced to the Congo today to personally lead a U.N. task force of Swedish troops into secessionist Katanga Province.

The secretary general had assurance from Katanga's chief of state, Moise Tshombe, that his force of 300 soldiers and two generals would be "received in an orderly manner" when they come Friday.

Tshombe dropped his threat to wage war on U.N. troops entering Katanga to replace Belgian forces after the U.N. Security Council pledged they would be used only for police duties and keep hands off his row with the central Congo government of Premier Patrice Lumumba. The Katanga premier tried to put conditions on the U.N. action but Hammarskjold rejected these and Tshombe acceded.

Hammarskjold's mission is to speed the withdrawal of the 7,500 Belgian troops who are now patrolling the mineral-rich province. The Belgians said they would remove their soldiers when they could be sure the U.N. forces could protect the 12,000 Belgian civilians still in Katanga.

The secretary general took off for Leopoldville at 12:55 a.m. in a special Boeing 707 jet put at his disposal by President Eisenhower when commercial transport was not readily available. Refueling stops were scheduled in the Azores and at Accra, Ghana, and the plane was due in Leopoldville tonight.

Traveling with Hammarskjold were two U.N. political officers, Heinrich A. Wieschoff of the United States and Ian E. Berendson of New Zealand.

He planned to fly from Leopoldville to Elisabethville, the Katanga capital 950 miles to the southeast, with two Swedish companies, the deputy commander of the U.N. Force, Gen. Ben Hamou Keitani of Morocco; Gen. I. J. Rikhye of India, Hammarskjold's military adviser for operations in the Congo, and civilian advisers.

Hammarskjold told Tshombe he was flying to Elisabethville to make arrangements for the speedy deployment of U.N. troops in the province. But it was obvious that the 300 Swedish soldiers were going to replace Belgian troops and not as an escort for the secretary general.

Some Belgian residents, who play an important part in the economic life of Katanga, were reported getting ready to leave, but there was no indication of a mass flight being sparked by Tshombe's decision to admit U.N. forces into the province.

Hammarskjold had delayed his takeoff 24 hours for urgent negotiations with Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny and a Congolese delegation headed by Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga.

The secretary general reported "complete harmony of views" with the five Congolese ministers, who left for home ahead of him last night. Earlier Lumumba had threatened to invade Katanga with his own army, but he backed down Wednesday.

Lumumba Appealing For National Unity

By ANDREW BOROWICZ LEOPOLDVILLE, Ire Congo (AP)—Premier Patrice Lumumba today appealed for national unity in the wake of anti-government rioting in the Congo capital's native quarter.

"Let us stop the quarrels; let us abandon the destructive spirit," Lumumba said in a radio appeal repeatedly broadcast by the national network.

"All disorder must stop," Lumumba said. "Let us preserve our independence. The whole world is watching us."

As Lumumba's appeal in French and the local Lingala dialect was broadcast, steel-helmeted Congolese police marched in close formation through the sprawling native city.

They held rifles and tommy-guns at the ready while long billy-clubs dangled on their hips.

Congolese soldiers barred access to the Abako office where Wednesday night's rioting flared up. Around the Place De La Victoire, in the heart of the quarter, crowds of silent Congolese tensely watched the marching police and trucks loaded with soldiers.

During the rioting Wednesday rocks were thrown at the young premier's car, but he was not hurt. Some Congolese policemen said a stone narrowly missed him.

The government announced that a number of the rioters have been arrested and served notice that their arrests would be made.

Congolese police fired over the heads of the mobs surging about the Place De La Victoire. A show of fixed bayonets finally brought the rioters under control, and police and troops threw a cordon around the area.

"No one was killed, and peace was restored," the government announced.

Newsmen trying to reach the area were threatened by screaming Congolese soldiers. On the way they saw trucks and jeeps full of Congolese police and soldiers, but none of the U.N. troops sent here last month to restore order after the army went on a rampage following Belgium's grant of independence June 30.

Information Minister Anicet Kasshamura blamed the riot on members of the Abako party, a powerful political group centered in the Leopoldville area and headed by Congo President Joseph Kasavubu. Some Abako leaders advocate more control for local government than Lumumba envisions for the Congo.

Kashamura said Abako members attacked passersby and police fired into the air to disperse the mob.

Another report said Abako members fired on police.

A Belgian radio correspondent said the mob was aroused because police broke into the home of Senate President Joseph Ileo, a moderate member of Lumumba's opposition, while Ileo was holding a news conference.

Some Congolese told newsmen that the people were rising against Lumumba. This could not be confirmed, and the riot never reached revolt proportions.

Some leaders of the Abako party have been arrested because of their demands for a high degree of local autonomy. Lumumba has warned that all attempts to secede from the Leopoldville government will be met with force. He called the army back to regular duty early this week and gave it full police powers under a state of emergency.

Kashamura also warned of "numerous other arrests." He added: "We will not hesitate to use arms to restore order in the country."

Powers Depart For Son's Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—The parents of Francis Gary Powers, American U2 pilot, departed aboard a London-bound plane today for Moscow trial on espionage charges.

Newsmen at Idlewild Airport asked the father, Oliver W. Powers, of Pound, Va., whether he felt optimistic about the trial which starts Wednesday.

"Not a bit," he said.

His wife, Ida Ford Powers, when asked the same question, replied: "I can't say." She expressed hope she and her husband could see their son before the trial.

Mrs. Powers, a cardiac sufferer, was pale. She was accompanied by Dr. Lewis K. Ingram, her physician. To a question whether she felt well enough to make the trip, she said: "I think I can make it. I'll try."

Grade Averages Mostly Constant

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — Grade averages on the Georgia-Florida flue cured tobacco market were mostly unchanged to slightly lower as volume of sales remained heavy.

Losses reported Wednesday by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture occurred for over one-third of the grade averages when compared with Tuesday's prices. Decreases were chiefly $1 to $3 per hundred pounds.

Quality of offerings was slightly lower as the percentage of poorer quality tobacco increased on warehouse floors. The bulk of sales was made up of poor to fair leaf, low and fair lugs and non-descript.

Season sales were brought to 93,881,545 pounds averaging $57.33.

'Junior Apalachin' Crime School Smashed

By HAL MCCLURE NEW YORK (AP) — A "junior Apalachin" crime school directed by top mobsters and operating from the haunts of the old Murder Inc. gang has been smashed by Brooklyn police.

At least one teen-ager was slain in gangland style by the youthful syndicate as an object lesson to informers, detectives say.

Police swooped down on homes in Brooklyn and Queens in pre-dawn raids Wednesday. They arrested 22 persons accused of belonging to the crime-school gang and charged them with a series of burglaries that netted a half-million dollars over a two-year period.

Students in the "school" took lessons from established mobsters in murder as well as theft, police said.

Deputy Chief Inspector Raymond V. Martin added: "This was a junior Apalachin group, being groomed for future activities in the crime syndicate."

He said the investigation is continuing and should turn up "some very big names in the following weeks."

The reference to "Apalachin" recalled the gangland meeting in Apalachin, N. Y., on Nov. 14, 1957. Of the 60-odd men attending the meeting, 30 were found guilty in federal court of conspiracy to obstruct justice in not divulging why they were at the conference. Some are in jail pending appeal and others are free on bail.

Miss Jane Perkins Feted At Party

Mrs. J. E. Arnold, Mrs. C. W. Murray, Mrs. R. S. Messner and Mrs. C. C. Hilton entertained at a desert-bridge Wednesday evening at the Murray home on E Fifth St. Ext., honoring Miss Jane Perkins.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Messner. Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Hilton directed them into the living room, dining room and den, where tables were set up for play. Miss Perkins and Miss Cynthia Cranford were presented corsages upon arrival.

The Murray home was decorated with a profusion of summer flowers, and each bridge table was centered with rose buds. A pink and white motif was used throughout the home.

The guests drew cards for partners, and found their respective tables. Homemade peach ice cream, bridal cakes and salted nuts were served preceding the games. Four progressions of bridge were played. Miss Anne Evans scored high, and Miss Martha Lee Moye scored second high. Drinks were served during the games.

At the conclusion of the games, the hostesses presented Miss Perkins and Miss Cranford with silver in their selected patterns and EARLY American crystal cream and sugar sets.

Party Marks 12th Birthday

FOUNTAIN—Evelyn Lewis celebrated her 12th birthday with a party Sunday afternoon.

Those attending were Jane Thompson, Betty Jean Baker, Tommy Thompson, Junior Lewis, Barbara Lewis, Jacky Moye, Phil Briley, Adranne Gardner, Beth Bullock, and Connie Brown. Games were played and the winners included Barbara Lewis, Jacky Moye and Adranne Gardner.

At the conclusion of the party, birthday cake, potato chips, ice cream, nuts, mints, and iced drinks were served.

Just a few miles from world-famous resorts on the French Riviera, there are little towns utterly untouched by the twentieth century—where women still gather in the town square to do their washing at a common trough.

To keep varnished or shellacked woodwork clean, wash it with a cloth wrung from warm soap or detergent suds. Then rinse with clear water. When dry, rub the woodwork lightly with furniture polish, if desired.

Gardening Today

By JOHN G. DUNCAN

Sometimes the gardener or home owner has to decide whether to take chances on out-of-season planting or to lose a plant because of changes, such as additions to the house or building a driveway or walk.

Too often, choice plants are discarded and many lost because the chances of the plant survival does not seem to warrant the labor and time involved. However, this should not be taken as an accepted fact. The use of Wilt Pruf has narrowed the chances to the extent that you should no do away with a good healthy plant, no matter if the weather is hot.

Even with the help of Wilt Pruf, all the precautions used in the so-called regular planting seasons should be employed. The following steps may prove helpful in moving a shrub or small tree, both evergreen and deciduous at this time of year.

If the weather has been very dry, or dry to the extent that the digging of a solid high ball of earth is doubtful, put a sack on end of your hose and let the water run slowly around the area to be dug. At least three or four hours soaking should be enough, depending on size of tree to be transplanted.

It is best to put off the digging of plan for a day after watering. This should allow the ground to tighten up without being soggy.

While this transplanting procedure is in progress, ready the new planting site by digging planting pit. Be sure that all debris such as rocks, roots, bricks, etc., are gotten out of the way. In digging the planting pit, be sure to dig a hole that will allow plant to be filled in around with six inches of soil. If the floor of the pit is of compact hard clay material, dig out six inches and replace with good topsoil. If the bottom is good soil, chop it up with shovel or spade.

When everything is ready to move the plant, cut out some of

A Policy Designed For Progress

There is no getting around the fact that the availability of utilities services is a most important factor in locating industries in any community.

Neither is there any getting around the fact that the Utilities Commission will be expected to offer its services to industries locating in the immediate area of Greenville, whether inside or outside the city's corporate limits.

With these factors in mind, it is obvious that the Utilities Commission has taken an important forward step by setting up in its budget a fund for extending its lines to industrial sites in the immediate area of the city.

With an initial $50,000 fund in this year's budget the Commission's plan to add to that amount in future years is predicated on a sound basis. The extension of water, sewer, gas, electric and other utilities services to industrial sites will be an expensive undertaking. A considerable capital outlay by the Utilities Commission will be required for extending these services to industrial sites, and unless some special fund is provided, the Commission may find itself hard-pressed to finance such essential projects.

Money spent in this manner will not represent a pork barrel expenditure by the Commission, but rather an outlay which over a period of years will provide the Commission a good return on its investment. Industrial firms generally will become major purchasers of utilities services, and thus will afford the Commission with sufficient new revenues to amortize the necessary capital outlay.

There is another important aspect of this $50,000 item which is being included for the first time this year in the Utilities Commission budget. A prospective industry considering locating in this immediate area will have the assurance that the Commission is in a position to provide for its utilities requirements. There will not be the uncertainty of whether the Commission has funds to extend the services should it decide to do so.

A new industry, in short, will be assured of getting the services it needs without delay. This may well be a determining factor in an industry's decision to locate here or to look elsewhere for a plant site.

If Greenville and its surrounding area are to attract new industries, positive policies such as this one adopted by the Utilities Commission are essential.

It is a policy which will help the Utilities Commission to acquire new large customers, and at the same time place this community in a better position to compete effectively for new industries.

Old Case Of The Pot Calling Kettle Black

In order to keep the record straight from the outset of the current rump session of Congress that the Republicans are just as interested in making political hay out of the session as are some Democrats.

President Eisenhower apparently has set out to put the Democrats on the defensive and at least by inuendo to accuse the Democrats' thinking only in terms of November as it considers his legislative proposals.

Anyone who has given the least amount of consideration to the program outlined by the President for this pre-election session of Congress could not have overlooked the political implication of what the President has proposed. His program obviously was framed against the backdrop of important political considerations for the November election. There are important variations in this new program from the one the administration was pushing before the convention recess. And without exception they contain an important political potential for the GOP.

For the Republicans to piously accuse the Democrats of trying to play politics during this short session of Congress is like the pot calling the kettle black.

Democrats Have Scaled Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats have scaled their worst hurdle to party unity and now should be able—thanks to their overwhelming numbers in both houses—to steamroller the Republicans for the rest of this abbreviated session of Congress.

As the drama unfolds in these blazing August days on Capitol Hill—with the presidential campaign due to start in early September—here are some very important figures to keep in mind:

In the Senate the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 66-34 and in the House, where there are five vacancies, 280-152. Tuesday the Democrats showed what they could do to the Republicans when they chose to stick together.

They closed ranks with a bang—Northern Democrats and Southern Democrats together—to block a Republican attempt to force action on some civil rights bills.

Although earlier this year the Democratic-run Congress passed the second civil rights bill in the 20th century—the first was passed in 1957—President Eisenhower called for some civil rights legislation.

If the Democrats had permitted a Senate wrangle over civil rights, that would have ended any hope for real accomplishment in this Congress before it adjourns.

Eisenhower—breakfasted with his Republican leaders in Congress and one of them—Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois—promptly returned to the Senate and offered a two-point civil rights measure.

Democrats from North and South—with four exceptions—joined to smash the Republican proposal. This would indicate they're prepared to do the same to any further attempt in this field.

To Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, and his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Northern Negro vote next November will be important. So will the white Southern vote.

Clerks Get Tired Of It

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a supermarket clerk gets tired of hearing: "Do you have a health food department for dogs? The doctor has put our pooch on a salt-free diet."

"Hey, Jack, I wheeled all the way to the beer cooler and back in 47 seconds and from a standing start. Is that a track record?"

"Why is it your hamburger always looks red on top but not at the bottom?"

"You seem to stock everything except B-grade movies. When are you going to put

"The boss and his wife were supposed to come for dinner last night but they didn't show. Can you take back this 12-pound rib roast? We don't eat meat that expensive ourselves."

"Hey, Jack, I just saw a bad head-on crash over by the stack of canned peaches. Better call an ambulance."

"Twenty-three dollars and 46 cents? Your machine must be broke. I figured it in my head at $23.44. You better add 'em up again."

"Yeah, get the buns and baked beans here, Mabel, and we'll get the frankfurters at that new supermarket 10 miles down the road. They're a penny a pound cheaper there."

"We just got back from our honeymoon, and my husband says he wants a nice home-cooked meal. Can you lend me an icepick and a can opener?"

"I don't know, when junior climbed into your frozen food compartment, but his teeth are chattering and he looks kinda blue. Don't you have any place where I can thaw him out in a hurry?"

"I own the drugstore up the block. Now that you people are selling aspirin, I don't suppose you'd mind if I put in a grocery counter."

"This watch I got for the green stamps don't work anymore. Can you fix it while I wait?"

"I was just standing by that big stack of canned grapefruit when this woman comes along and, naturally, being a woman, she has to pull out the bottom can. No, I don't want a bandage—I want a lawyer."

"Yeah, here's my wife's grocery list. She wants a dozen eggs, a magazine, a pound of cheese, a package of hairpins, a container of milk, some mouth wash and half a dozen men's undershirts, medium size."

"Gee, I only got $10 with me. Maybe if I put back the corn and the detergent and take a smaller sack of potatoes—do you think it would work out better?"

"Your bags are getting stronger if I forgot the lettuce and swapped the watermelon for half a dozen oranges?"

"Your bags are getting stronger. I got all the way to the corner last night before it broke."

It Also Brings Votes

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
A CURIOUS PROPAGANDA

The mail daily brings letters telling the identical tale, namely, that "Nelson Rockefeller's billions have infiltrated both parties," and that it does not matter for which candidate one votes. Rockefeller will control him.

This is nonsense does not matter. Nonsense makes votes too. The assumption of these letter-writers is that Nelson Rockefeller is a Socialist and that therefore John Kennedy and Richard Nixon are controlled by Socialists. These letter-writers give Nelson Rockefeller too much credit; acknowledge a great political and social knowledge; and they down-grade both Kennedy and Nixon beneath their deserts. The letters and post-cards, often anonymous, obviously are inspired because the wording is too generally identical.

The tie-up with Nixon is based upon the single fact that Charles Percy, who was Chairman of the Republican Platform Committee also served on a special studies project financed by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund. Charles Percy is a young man who is president of Bell and Howell Company which manufactures motion picture and television equipment. He has been trying to "liberalize" the Republican Party, came up with a platform which was satisfactory to nobody and which had to be revised. The likelihood is that Charles Percy has performed his deed, has had his day. It is utter nonsense to attempt to establish on such flimsy data that Nelson Rockefeller has purchased the American government should Nixon be elected.

Now the same circulars discover that Nelson Rockefeller has also come into control of the Democratic Party because Charles Percy, Chairman of the Democratic Platform Committee, "is an intimate friend of Nelson Rockefeller. Further, he is also a member of the staff of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund."

Of course, one can put this and that together and reach any kind of a conclusion, or it can be done the other way around, namely, the conclusion can be stated and a fact here and there can be found to seem to support it. As a matter of fact, many persons think by that process and wonder why they get into so much trouble.

It will be found as the months move closer to Election Day that both Richard Nixon and John Kennedy are more independent in their attitudes than most of the critics of either of them are. These are not second rate men. Concerning Kennedy, the anti-Catholic mail is increasing in volume. The mail now takes a new mood—and too much of it is identical to be interesting. It says, in effect, "I do not object to Kennedy. I do not object to Catholics, Protestants, Jews, or anybody else. But I don't want the Pope to rule the United States. He is a foreigner."

I must have received perhaps 25 or 30 copies of a single pamphlet on this subject. The distribution must be very widespread. It is issued by a body of former Catholics. The pamphlet includes quotations from Catholic publications and documents from within the conclusion. It is to be drawn that if John Kennedy is elected President he will telephone to the Vatican every day to get his orders from Pope John XXIII. A society of former priests is very active in this respect.

Both de Gaulle and Adenauer are Catholics and it is not to be presumed that either of them ask the Pope what to do about this or that.

It is to be hoped that this campaign will be fought out on issues more fundamental than that Rockefeller purchased both parties or that Kennedy is a Catholic.

This country is about to face a critical period which could end in war. Four capable men are running for the Presidency and the Vice Presidency. All four are fit to hold the primary office in this country. It will be difficult to make a choice. The more conservative will find in Nixon and Lodge a better prospect; the

Sanford, Bennett Indicate Machine

By LYNN NISBET

PARTY LOYALTY — Indications are that Terry Sanford and Bert Bennett have in mind the building, or rebuilding, of a Democratic party organization in North Carolina that will put emphasis on party loyalty and party integrity. That is true despite the fact that in his primary campaign Sanford sought and received support of many Eisenhower Democrats (?) who had voted for the Republican nominee for President in the two past elections.

Having won the nominations as a Democrat, regardless of how many borderline votes were required to achieve that objective, Sanford immediately exerted leadership by advocating the nomination of Senator Kennedy for President, against the expressed wishes of the party leaders who are being displaced. And since the national convention he has pulled no punches in all-out advocacy of the Democratic ticket from President down to constable.

So far he has shown no disposition toward appeasing the half-hearted Democrats who lean toward support of national Republicans. That is in striking contrast to the attitude of Governor Hodges during the early part of his regime. Hodges appointed many people to positions of honor and trust who were of questionable Democratic loyalty, and he often said he was not concerned about party affiliation if they could do the jobs assigned them. It is of historic record that a number of county Democratic chairmen revolted against the Hodges attitude in making appointments. That is one of the reasons for the breach between the Governor and John Larkin, then State chairman of the Democratic party.

ON THE LINE—What Sanford will do in this respect remains to be seen. Judging by statements made since his nomination, his all-out support of the Democratic national ticket, and the frankly Democratic partisan position taken by State Chairman Bert Bennett, he will be close to the line of party integrity and responsibility, even at the risk of losing the state to the national Republican ticket.

One man close to the present State administration said he thought it would be very unwise to offend the registered Democrats who had voted for Eisenhower. We need them and we ought to try to bring them back into the Democratic fold, he said. The Sanford idea appears to be if they want to vote Republican, let them do it. It is their privilege; and if they feel that way it is their obligation. But if they vote Republican, they do not belong in the Democratic party.

VOTES—The record of voting during the past 20 years does not afford much encouragement for sponsors of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket in North Carolina. The record doesn't offer any hope for the success of the Republican ticket for Governor and other State officers.

For President the vote has been as follows:

1940-609,015 to 213,633, a Democratic majority of 396,000.
1944 — 527,399 to 283,155, a Democratic majority of 244,000.
1948 — 459,070 to 258,572, a Democratic majority of 200,000.
1952 — 652,803 to 558,107, a Democratic majority of 94,000.
1956 — 590,530 to 575,862, a Democratic majority of only 15,000.

GOVERNOR — For Governor however the Democratic majority has been consistently about two to one, or a little better. It was 413,000 in 1940 and in 1952; 298,000 in 1944; 365,000 in 1948; and 395,000 in 1956.

Assuming the same number of votes will be cast this year, it would be necessary to switch 198,000 for the Republicans to elect a Governor, but less than 8,000 to give the electoral vote to Nixon-Lodge.

In 1928 when Republican Hoover carried the State by 62,000 majority, Max Gardner, the Democratic Governor, won by more than 72,000 in a total vote little more than half that cast last time.

There were rumors in 1928 that State Chairman Odus Mull did not put forth as much effort as might have been made for the national Democratic ticket for fear of jeopardizing chances of Gardner for Governor. There is every indication this time that the party organization will put out every ounce of its strength in behalf of the whole ticket. And party leaders hope to hold the State in the Democratic column, despite the constant trend in the other direction for the past 20 years.

Democrats Have Scaled Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats have scaled their worst hurdle to party unity and now should be able—thanks to their overwhelming numbers in both houses—to steamroller the Republicans for the rest of this abbreviated session of Congress.

As the drama unfolds in these blazing August days on Capitol Hill—with the presidential campaign due to start in early September—here are some very important figures to keep in mind:

In the Senate the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 66-34 and in the House, where there are five vacancies, 280-152. Tuesday the Democrats showed what they could do to the Republicans when they chose to stick together.

They closed ranks with a bang—Northern Democrats and Southern Democrats together—to block a Republican attempt to force action on some civil rights bills.

Although earlier this year the Democratic-run Congress passed the second civil rights bill in the 20th century—the first was passed in 1957—President Eisenhower called for some civil rights legislation.

If the Democrats had permitted a Senate wrangle over civil rights, that would have ended any hope for real accomplishment in this Congress before it adjourns.

Eisenhower—breakfasted with his Republican leaders in Congress and one of them—Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois—promptly returned to the Senate and offered a two-point civil rights measure.

Democrats from North and South—with four exceptions—joined to smash the Republican proposal. This would indicate they're prepared to do the same to any further attempt in this field.

To Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, and his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Northern Negro vote next November will be important. So will the white Southern vote.

Other Editors Saying... America And Her Women

(Hertford County Herald)

Although Americans sometimes do not completely comprehend it, they have done more for and to the female of the human than any other antion in the history of the world. Unfortunately, in doing so much for the woman, we have done some things to her.

The good things we have done are inspirational. You and I were born within the folds of the highest form of family life that the world has ever attained. We enjoy, without realizing the greatness of the system, all the advantages of our monogamic family.

Our society, and this system, has elevated woman, the chattel, to the principal of wife and mother; it has taken man from brutality to make him a faithful husband and a proud father, who honors his wife, rather than beating her and using her for physical labors.

Unfortunately, the man in the family, in the United States at least, has delegated so much of his responsibility in some cases that he remains merely a shell of a man, and not the head of the house. This has caused a weakening of our family structure in the United States, has encouraged the woman of the house to attempt to do more than she can possibly do, and to move into "fields" which both emotionally upset her and confusion her, and this abdication of responsibility has contributed to juvenile delinquency and to the break-up of families in some cases.

Therefore, along with the great program we have made in uplifting the woman, to the greatest degree in the history of civilization, it should be remembered that the man, or the father in a household, must accept his responsibilities or bring on an erosion of our social order.

Strength For Today Sharp Shoppers Can Get Bargains

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
GLORY OF THE CROSS

Recently we spoke about the significance of the cross in the Christian faith. It adorns churches and altars. People have the form of the cross made up in gold and precious stones, and they hang the cross about their necks. We are used to seeing this and we like it. It appears to us noble, beautiful, divine.

But suppose a group of people today were to appear and each of them wore about his neck or hers a little replica of the electric chair, or a replica of a gallows. We, of course, would be horrified. Yet what the electric chair and the gallows are to us today, the cross was to our Lord's generation. It not only stood for death—it stood for a shameful form of death. The people who were crucified were the vilest of all criminals. No Roman citizen could be crucified. Paul was given the "privilege"—if we may call it a privilege—of having his head cut off instead of being crucified, and this because he was a Roman citizen. If Jesus had been a Roman citizen, he could never have been crucified. Peter could be crucified for he was only a Jewish fisherman.

But for some reason we do not know, Paul and his family were Roman citizens, although they were full-blooded Jews just as was Peter and the other apostles.

We see how with the passing of time the meaning of symbols change. Two thousand years ago everyone spoke of the cross with disdain and loathing. Today it is the church's glory and ours.

There are two reasons: 1. The rush to beat the new excise tax on conditioners of a ton and over. 2. The mild weather in most areas so far this summer. New York had the coolest July since 1925; many other areas in the air-conditioner belt has unusually cool and comfortable weather. Lincoln M. Larkin, chairman of the National Electrical Manufacturers Association room air-conditioning section, estimated that there was a stock of 1-361,500 units unsold on July 15. This included 318,900 in factory warehouses, 541,900 in distributors' hands, and 590,000 in retailers' stores and warehouses. NO SIZZLE, NO BOOM Since then, the weather has remained consistently cool. The total has been cut very little; air conditioner sales always fall off after mid-July and almost no sales are made after mid-August. However, some sales may be made in late August and early September this year simply because retailers, distributors and manufacturers will be eager to accept any reasonable offer. Owners of homes and summer cottages looking ahead to next year can find rare bargains. However, they should shop installation costs as well as unit costs because some desperate sellers will try to make up on installation what they lose on the conditioners. The trouble began last fall when it was announced that a 16 per cent manufacturers' tax on air conditioners of more than one ton capacity would become effective October 1. Manufacturers stepped up production and distributors and retailers ordered eagerly to beat the tax. The excise involved no "floor tax" provision, so conditioners bought before December 1 were not taxed. A floor tax is a levy made on stocks in retailers' hands; when liquor taxes have been increased in the past, retailers have been required to pay a tax on stocks on their "floor" or otherwise in their possession. CAME NOT THE HEAT Units conditioning less than a ton a day were not taxed but since most distributors and retailers make balanced orders, smaller units were ordered in normal proportion to larger units. Shipments from October to June were a third higher than in the previous build-up period. Then with stocks high and "tax free" sales pitches ready, the industry met a cool late June and a cool early July. No amount of salesmanship and promotion can increase sales of air conditioners in cool weather.

As Mort Farr, chairman of the National Radio-Appliance Dealers Association, said, "The manufacturers did not shove air conditioners down our throats. We grabbed as many as they would sell us to beat the tax. We gambled on a hot summer and lost." Some distributors and some manufacturers are taking back excess stocks from dealers, according to trade reports. Others are reported to be content to let dealers "eat" surplus stocks. And among those are the bargains. These bargains will not only appeal to home owners who think next summer will be hotter, but also to managements of hotels, motels and office buildings. There is no notable surplus of the larger types used in factories, theatres, restaurants and other gathering places of large numbers of people.

Consultant Stumbled Into Social Security Program

"KENNEY" WHICHARD . . . Pitt County Social Security consultant.

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

"One of the most fascinating things in the world to me is Social Security," according to W. K. Whichard, Pitt County's Social Security "consultant."

Whichard, who is a retired Army Lt. Col. and a veteran of 28-years military services, said he "hates the title 'consultant'" because it carries with it the thought of a business-suited, gray-haired aloof gentleman, but permits its use for lack of a better descriptive term for his job.

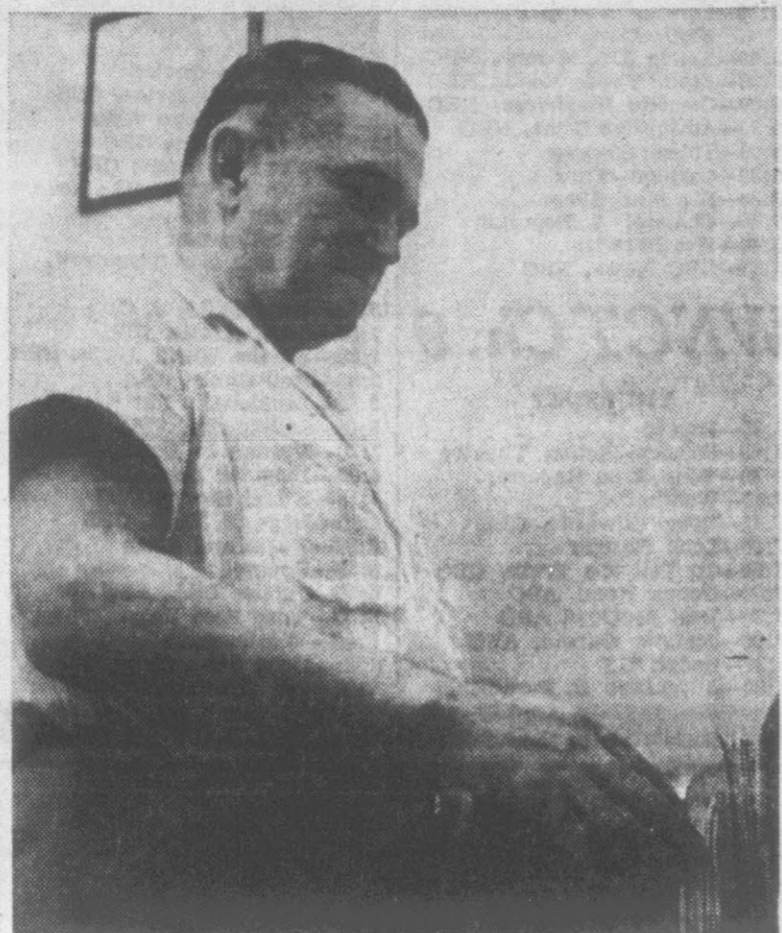

Whichard, born near Stokes, graduated from Greenville High School in 1926, worked in the county for a while and then joined the Army in 1927. Stationed for a good part of his military time in the more liberal will turn to Kennedy and Johnson. There will be much crossing of party lines; there will be less abstaining from voting than is usual.

There is a possibility of a real debate, particularly on the foreign policy. No fundamental debate has taken place in this country since 1932 — surely not concerning the foreign policy. Moreover, it is also now certain that the candidates will face each other on television. It is a time for serious thought, not for small prejudices and silly propaganda.

WHICHARD . . . checking records on a case.

Washington, D.C. area, he was assigned to the Eastern Defense Command's Chesapeake Bay Area, which included part of North Carolina—as far south as New Bern.

Following the close of WW II, the Whichard family was moved to China where Whichard worked with the advisory group to the post war Nationalist Army. One of the most interesting things, Whichard recalls, was when the U. S. forces were "chased" out of China by the Communists in November of 1947. He also recalls that he and his family were "shipped back home" from Japan just three days before the start of the Korean war.

From July 1950 until his retirement October 31, 1955, he was doing personnel and administration work in the General's Corps.

"I always told people, after my retirement from the Army, I was just going to sit in a rocking chair on my front porch and stay there for the rest of my life," Whichard jokingly relates that he sat around the house for about six weeks, then moved his place of sitting to local tobacco warehouses when he was "run out of the house."

According to the "then loafer" he stumbled onto or "into" the social security job by accident. "An old farmhand came to me at the warehouse and asked me if I could help him with his social security." I took him to the Rocky Mount office and from that, I became interested in the program, talked to different leaders in the county and started on a part-time "experimental" basis as a "consultant" in 1956.

The "experiment" worked and Whichard was put on the County "payroll" in 1957.

The purpose of the county program, which is independent of the Federal Agency, is education, acting as a go-between for the "stickler for regulations" and the people being served, and as an information agency, putting the information "in a language the people can understand," Whichard says.

"One of our biggest problems in Social Security is speaking the same language as the people we serve. We in this office try to explain Social Security and help the people who come to us for help. We give them advice on what to do, then expect them to go out and take advantage of it for their own benefit.

"Our theory is . . . we tell the person what to do . . . then make him do it."

Whichard noted that one of the things that gives him the most satisfaction is to see someone take advice . . . then see him reap benefits from it. Whichard also said the thing that he likes least to see, is a person who has been given help, and is one that could benefit, not take advantage of his opportunity . . . through lack of initiative or other reasons . . . and lose out.

Whichard emphasized that even though the County office gives assistance, they do not accept the claims. Claims may be filed with the Federal Agency at the Rocky Mount District office or at the Greenville City Hall each Wednesday.

According to official County figures, tabulated through July, 1960, over 30 per cent of the people registered with the Department of Public Welfare this year registered to receive aid from the local Social Security office. "This is an increase of two per cent over the 1959 figures," Whichard noted, "and an increase of four per cent above the 1958 totals."

"I think we have come a long way in Social Security in the past few years," Whichard said, "and I hope we can go a lot further in the future," he added.

"I believe that the people need help from their government, and even though tonight the people have seen fit to..." Resting his arms on the terrace railing, engrossed in the beauty of the panorama made by the city's kaleidoscopic lights, Judge Hoffman said to Bob Vinquist, "Yes, there were moments tonight when I wasn't sure. Now though it's official. Callahan is through."

THE END "They fired me, Mr. Vinquist," "I didn't know," said Bob. "Yeah. Twelve months ago. Pretty hard to get a job when you're sixty." He fumbled in his pocket and brought out a paper. "I got no business bothering you like this. This late, too. But honest, Mr. Vinquist, I got no place to turn. My wife, she say tonight 'Go see that nice boy you tell me about where you run the elevator. The one what works in District Attorney's office. He help you, I bet.' He pushed the paper in Bob's face. Wants Voters To Back Electors MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Gov. Ross Barnett has urged Mississippi voters to back his unpledged "states rights" electors in the November presidential election. Kennedy, as his party's presidential nominee, is working with local representatives in an effort to offset Dixie dissatisfaction with the Democratic platform's strong civil rights and labor planks.

The Massachusetts senator conferred Tuesday with William Battle, his Virginia campaign manager. He hopes to have a talk soon with Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), who didn't work for the Democratic ticket when President Eisenhower carried Virginia in the last two presidential elections.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This is the time of public optimism and private worries for the television folk in the entertainment world.

By my count, there will be a total of 102 network shows each week filling prime evening time. Of these, more than one-third—34, to exact—will be new programs.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW! By FAGALY and SHORTEN

House - Passed Anti - Payola Measure Faces Probable Senate Overhauling

By JOHN H. AVERILL
WASHINGTON (AP)—A House-passed anti-payola bill faces a probable Senate overhauling, but sponsors predicted its chances of becoming law are excellent.
This was the outlook today following a one-day hearing by a Senate Commerce subcommittee on the legislation to outlaw payola and quiz show fixing and impose other curbs on the TV-radio business.
Subcommittee Chairman John Q. Pastore (D-R.I.) originally had planned to run the hearings two or three days. But he concluded them Wednesday afternoon, following limited testimony on both sides, when no other witnesses asked to be heard.
Although Pastore expressed emphatic reservations about three specific provisions in the bill, he repeated that he is confident the measure will win speedy Senate passage.

Despite criticism of the three provisions, Pastore strongly endorsed the measure as embodying "important reforms" which he said must be enacted.
He indicated he will seek to revise the bill when it comes before the full Senate, possibly next week.
A subcommittee spokesman listed the three changes Pastore wants made as:
1. Elimination of a provision authorizing the Federal Communications Commission to put TV or radio stations which violate FCC rules off the air for up to 10 days. The FCC defended the provision as helpful in giving it flexibility to punish offending stations.
Pastore contended a 10-day suspension would hurt the public more than the station operator. He viewed as far more preferable a related provision in the bill authorizing the FCC to fine stations up to $1,000 a day for each day a violation is committed.
2. Setting a statute of limitations, probably 90 days, on how far back the FCC may go in imposing the $1,000-a-day fine. Pastore said that as the provision is now written, it could be used to fine stations for offenses committed as much as three years ago.

3. Elimination of House language authorizing fines and suspensions for "negligent and intentional" violations. Pastore and others called this vague and confusing and proposed that the language presently used in communication law, "willful and repeated," be substituted for the House terminology.
Nationally, about 13 3-4 million persons were receiving old-age, survivors, and disability insurance monthly benefits at the end of 1959 at an annual rate of more than $10 billion.

Migrant Workers Move On North

By BESSIE CULPEPPER
Daily Advance Staff Writer
ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP)—In just a few days the last of 4,600 migrant workers who help with the harvesting of crops from Florida to Maine will have left eastern North Carolina for points north.
Their existence could not be considered "the life of Riley," but it is the only kind of life most of these people know.
At the end of the citrus fruit harvesting in Florida these workers—mostly Negroes—begin their travels north. There isn't just papa that travels and works, but complete families. Modes of travel include trucks, buses and in some cases late model cars. At this time of year one frequently sees buses filled to capacity with people and loaded with a variety of kitchen utensils, stoves and refrigerators, bedding and other necessities of life—including juke boxes.

There are approximately 45 labor camps located in Pasquotank and Camden counties at this time. All these are not necessarily with separate units for each family. Many vacant houses have been brought into use and are listed as "labor camps."
For each house or group of cabins in use, the local health department requires that certain minimum health needs be met. Meeting such needs is the responsibility of the farmer on whose land the camp is located.
There must be an approved water supply, which in all local camps is the force pump method; an approved method of sewage disposal, which in all cases are privies that are marked "men" and "wimmen;" satisfactory garbage control and acceptable housing for the proposed number of occupants. What is considered "acceptable" housing for the proposed number is rather loosely defined. One five room house for migrants currently has about 25 occupants. In one house with four bunks live three adults, three small children and two teenagers.

There are no screens but in most of the camps visited by an observer, trash was placed in the proper cans. All of the bunks seen were covered with bedspreads or other adequate covering. Most of the units appeared neat. Some of the workers who have been here before report that many improvements have been made. They also point out that conditions in North Carolina are much better than in most other states where they have worked.
If the present picture seems dim, think back just 10 years when there were very few permanent buildings and the workers lived in canvas tents, often with tents in the roof which allowed the rain to pour in. There were very few rules concerning their mode of life and their annual visit. Although a boon to the farmer and his harvesting problems, the migrants created a headache for the county sheriff who was responsible for law and order in each camp.

While the arrival of the migrants still poses many problems, these problems are less numerous than a few years ago. There are many persons now who must share in the responsibility for these people. The majority of the migrants work under a crew leader, who sees to their pay and their housing. The crew leader is registered with the North Carolina Employment Security Commission, which in turn knows the number of workers needed in a given area and assigns them upon arrival.
Extra law enforcement officers are used throughout the counties during the migrant season. For the past few years each crew leader has been responsible for giving the county sheriff a list of his workers with their home addresses.
Health officials, who are responsible for the improved housing facilities, have also conducted blood tests and given injections of penicillin to hundreds of laborers found to be infected with venereal diseases. As reported by one official, the migrants are shot with penicillin from Florida right on through Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, the Eastern Shore and on to Jersey.

Most of the workers do not seem unhappy or to resent their way of life. One migrant family had seven children of their own, the youngest one ten months, the oldest eight years, another on the way, plus a neighbor's nine-month-old and a younger sister of the wife. Admittedly this group was an exception, not by their number but by their household equipment. They travel with a gas stove, an electric refrigerator and a television set. The youngsters stood around watching mother prepare to make ice cream in an electric freezer. Most of those with refrigeration seem willing to share it with their neighbors.
There are no recreational facilities provided for the workers but they furnish their own. Most of the camps have a juke box, and dancing on the packed ground provides the evening entertainment.
When they leave the area some are broke and some have saved their money. Some do not leave but remain in the county jail for crimes committed in anger or when under the influence of cheap wine.
No one envies these migrants their nomadic, hand-to-mouth existence, but they provide a service that the farmer of eastern North Carolina would find it hard to do without.

Objects Of Wood Valued At $10,000

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP)—Archie J. Wilson is a University of Illinois research associate in anatomy—wood anatomy to be exact.
The 57-year-old industrialist conservatively values his extensive collection of 6,000 carved, chiseled, turned, or laminated wood objects from all over the world at $10,000.
When he moved here from Decatur, Ill., 11 years ago it cost him more to move his wood collection than his furniture.
Wilson, who studies his wood objects through a high-powered microscope, prefers the intellectual to the functional approach to wood expertise. There are two schools of thought concerning wood, he explained, "but I wouldn't call them splinter groups."

Tourney No Easy Job

Sports in three parts . . . 1. Organizing a Little League tournament is not the overnight task it might appear to be to the average observer.

If you don't scent the trouble involved, try collecting, transporting and feeding a few hundred kids for a district tournament or housing four teams, parents and chaperones for state meets.

Little League tournament planning goes back to the early spring months when state directors hold conferences with district representatives for tournament time in August.

The district tournament, after three years of hard work, is set for Greenville and Elm Street Park Friday and Saturday with four teams participating. With the conclusion of play here, the winner goes to Norfolk, Virginia and then only the LL World Series in Williamsburg, Pa., Aug 22-27 remains.

W. C. James, director of the Greenville Little Leagues, is overwhelmed with the co-operation received by civic groups and cities involved. James reports a program is being printed for the tournament which contains $2,000 of advertisement. All the work has been done by volunteer help.

Largest Crop Of EC Freshmen

2 Coach Jack Boone of East Carolina notes that the Pirates will have 20 freshmen on the roster this season with either part or full scholarship. "It will be the largest number of freshmen on scholarship since I've been here," says Boone.

Each year, disregarding the forecast, the North State coaches look to East Carolina as one of the top three grid powers in the league. Queried as to why, most of the skippers rank the Bucs as an annual football stronghold with usually a "surprise element" sometime during the season. (Like Lenoir Rhyne in 1959)

With EC mentioned among the top three, the coaches were unanimous in selecting Lenoir Rhyne and Western Carolina as the "teams to beat." The Bears lost only a few starters in the line and Western Carolina has no glaring weakness even with the loss of Bob Cooper, its celebrated signal-barker.

Hallow Hunting Coaching Post

3. Clearing the files. Lou Hallow, Little All-American center while at EC and a draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams, is reportedly after a high school coaching post. Lou is finishing work on his degree at EC this summer

Mike Souchak, pro golfer from Durham, visited the Wilson course Tuesday for a few "friendly" rounds of golf. The former Duke football star is a frequent visitor to the Wilson course . . .

Sizing up his 1960 football prospects, Coach Chippy Wagoner of Washington's Northeastern grid champs figures he will have two weaknesses—the line and backfield. A sign of sheer optimism . . .

Large Ovation: An abbreviated jazzed-up band treated the fans at halftime of the East-West All-Star game in Greensboro last week. After a few numbers, the band leader feeling out the crowd, asked, in "real cool" terms, who liked their music "soft and sweet" and then who liked it "cool and swinging". A spectator, slightly "under the weather", arose shouting "and who don't like it at all". He got the roar of the crowd and the band departed.

YOUTH MOVEMENT—After years of going with veteran pitching staffs, the Cincinnati Reds suddenly have switched to youth. Left to right, posed at Cincinnati are: Jay Hook, 23; Jim Maloney, 20, recently called up from Nashville; Claude Osteen, who just turned 21 and who has just started his first major league game, and Jim O'Toole, 23. Little League Drawings Scheduled For Tonight

The four survivors of Little League baseball tournaments throughout the south were scheduled to arrive in Greenville today and set up shop for another single elimination tournament which will move one southern club closer to a shot at the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa. Aug 22-27.

Winston-Salem, N. C., competing in Little League ball for only the second year, will be representing the North State. Other clubs scheduled to play here are Miami, Florida, Americus, Georgia, and Elizabethton, Tenn.

Pairings for the two-day competition will be held tonight. Two games will be played tomorrow afternoon, the first one beginning at 2:00.

Saturday, the championship game will be played at 4:00 and a consolation match between the Friday losers will be staged at 2:00.

Information on the four entries is vague but all are slated to boast strong teams after wiping out all comers in their respective states. The winner in Greenville will move on to Norfolk, Virginia next week for more regional playoffs. The survivor of the Norfolk tournament will write its own ticket to the LL World Series.

Today's agenda for the Little Leaguers calls for checking in at the Elm Street Park this afternoon and dinner tonight at the South Cafeteria at East Carolina College.

Tonight the managers and officials meet in Jones Dorm at ECC for the first round drawings.

Friday morning will be reserved for practice sessions on the Elm Street Park. Following the afternoon games, a swimming party will be given in honor of all visiting teams at the Country Club.

Saturday night the visitors will be treated with a swimming party and dinner at the Moose Lodge.

The public is invited to attend the Little League games this weekend and there will be no admission charge.

Rain Delays Net Tourny Action

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Ham Richardson, the one-time top-ranked U.S. player, now plays tennis "for fun" even though he's eighth seeded in the Eastern Grass Court Championships which resumed today after Wednesday's rainout.

"I'm only going to play in two tournaments," Richardson said, "this one and the National. And I don't expect to win either of them."

Richardson, who lives in nearby Fanwood, N.J., took a week's vacation from his Wall Street investment desk to compete in the Eastern.

"I'm hitting the ball pretty well, but I just can't go like I used to," he said.

Richardson might be in jeopardy today in his third-round match against Ivo Pimental, the ace of the Venezuelan Davis Cup team.

In other third round men's matches, top-seeded Rod Laver, the Australian champion, plays Ruly Hernandez, Detroit, and second-seeded Ron Holmberg, Brooklyn, N.Y., opposes Allen Fox of Los Angeles.

Thumper Happy With Third Slot In Homer Derby

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ted Williams has won his race with age to claim a baseball bonus — home runs No. 512 and 513 for third place in the major league rankings.

Just a few days away from his 42nd birthday, the Boston Red Sox slugger passed the late Mel Ott's 511 total Wednesday night with a two homer salute to an almost incredible story of stamina and conditioning.

Are baseball's keenest eyes now focused on runner Jimmy Fox's 534 in the home run derby? Williams says no. He has not wavered from his statement, made after hitting his 500th here marks the end of his playing days.

Ten cannot get the 22 homers needed to tie Fox by the end of the current campaign. Number nine has indicated to intimate friends he goes through agony to get in shape and stay there.

Two services hitches plus injuries have prevented Williams from having a chance at the lifetime mark of 714 homers hung up by Babe Ruth. No one is more aware of the fact than Williams who—because of his off-interrupted career—never set a home run goal for himself beyond the 500th.

It was a tired Williams—complaining of a return of the neck pains which dogged him last season and this spring—who said before Wednesday night's game "I don't expect to win either of them."

As the Sox beat Cleveland 6-1 Williams hammered No. 512 with the bases empty in the fifth inning off loser Barry Latman. He tagged Johnny Klippstein for another in the ninth with a mate aboard.

Shantz Saves Chisox Game

Little Man Writing Yank Ticket

By WHITNEY MARTIN Associated Press Sports Writer Everything was normal with Bobby Shantz at the start of the 1960 major league baseball season. He had a sore arm.

It seems the little man has been starting seasons with a sore arm ever since 1953, the year after he was voted the American League's most valuable player award by winning 24 games for the then Philadelphia Athletics. In 1952 he was different. He finished with a sore arm—a broken arm. In fact, unfortunately for rival teams, wee Bobby has the faculty of returning to good health at the most inopportune times for them. This year is no exception.

He gave one of his better exhibitions Wednesday. He came in with two out in the seventh and the bases filled with White Sox. He fanned Joe Ginsberg for the third out, avoided trouble in the eighth, and struck out the side in the ninth as the Yankees took the rubber game of the three-game series, 6-0, to drop Chicago back to third place behind the winning Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles beat Detroit 4-2. Boston defeated Cleveland 6-1 and Kansas City stomped on Washington 13-1 in other American League games.

In the National League Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 3-1, Los Angeles edged Milwaukee 3-2, St. Louis beat Philadelphia 6-5 and Cincinnati won over San Francisco 5-3.

Three Yankee pitchers combined to throw a two-hitter against the White Sox. Art Ditmar allowed the two hits before he retired in the seventh because of a finger blister, and Eli Grba, who relieved him, walked the only man he faced before Shantz took over.

Herb Score was great for seven innings, with Bill Skowron's home run the only blot on his performance. He faded in the eighth for two runs and three hits.

The Orioles, powered by home runs by Jackie Brandt, Dave Nicholson and Jim Gentile, handed Detroit its 17th defeat in 23 games. Jerry Walker was the winning pitcher, and Pete Burnside the loser.

Ted Williams again was the big show in the Boston Red Sox victory. He hit his 20th and 21st home runs, the 20th enabling him to break the tie with Mel Ott for third place in all-time homer production. He now has 513.

Cleveland was held to four hits by Earl Wilson, who retired the side in order in five of the innings. Barry Latman was the loser.

The last-place A's hammered Washington ace Camillo Pascual for eight runs in the third inning. From there it was a breeze as Dick Hall throttled the Senators with four hits.

Former Champs Face Danger SOUTHERN PINES, N.C. (AP)—Sam Daniel of Leaksville and Mrs. Raymonde Jones of Ft. Bragg, the defending men's and women's champions in the Sandhills Invitation tennis tournament that opens here today, will face some strong competition.

Entrants in the men's division include Charles Shaffer of Chapel Hill, winner last week of the Eastern titleholder. Daniel is looking for his fourth Sandhills championship.

Among entrants in the women's division are veteran Louise Fowler of Covington, Ga., and Joanne Cooper of Charlotte.

The quartet of U.S. veterans in this team competition of amateur golfers from the United States, Canada and Mexico are Captain Bill Hyndmann of Philadelphia, Crarlie Coe of Oklahoma City, Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., and Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor of Pomona, Calif.

The Americans, who have ruled supreme in this event since its start in 1952, again are favored. All but Hyndmann will see action in this morning's three six-hole alternate ball matches at the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club. Six single matches will be played this afternoon and the same number Friday.

Palmer Near All-Time Earnings DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Less than $600 today stands between Arnold Palmer and the all-time record for golf earnings.

Palmer's $3,500 first place money at the Insurance Open at Westchester, Conn., last weekend placed his total winnings so far this year at $72,300, figures released by the Professional Golfers' Association headquarters disclosed.

The record is held by Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla., who won $72,835.83 in 1956. If the Ligonier, Pa., golfer continues his average of a little more than $3,400 per tournament, he stands to win more than $100,000 this year.

Speed Attempt Is Postponed

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, (AP) — Dr. Nathan Ostich planned to take his jet-powered speedster through more preparatory runs today, after postponing until Friday his scheduled attempt to drive 500 miles an hour.

Ostich, Los Angeles physician, took the needle-nosed, 6,500 horsepower "Flying Caduceus" over the flats at 203 and 228 miles an hour Wednesday.

Gusty winds and light rain prevented runs at higher speeds.

Scalp Specialist Here Tomorrow Will Show How To Save Hair And Prevent Baldness

GREENVILLE—Friday, August 12, at the Proctor Hotel in Greenville, N. C. Staff Director J. L. Cannady will give free hair and scalp consultation between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. to hair worried men and women.

Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialist, the oldest and largest organization of its kind, makes regular visits to Greenville, N. C. throughout the year to assure you of success in a minimum period of time. Erickson is now in its seventh year. Last year alone, over one-quarter million Erickson home scalp treatments were used.

Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) doubt and (2) delay. Many balding people who are doing nothing to help themselves are justifying their condition with thinking like this: "I don't think anybody can stop hair loss"—or "I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it." That doesn't solve your problem. You are going to keep right on losing your hair until you are bald . . . unless you get your scalp in a healthy, hair-growing condition again.

HOPELESS CASES REFUSED If you are totally bald, there is nothing Erickson can do for you. Erickson is no other treatment known is of benefit to excessive hair loss due to male pattern baldness. Neither of the persons shown above suffered from male pattern baldness. Therefore, Erickson continues its policy of refusing all hopeless cases. Baldness is slow and gradual, even in the most common forms. The two most common causes are neglect and mis-treatment, but the two worst enemies are skepticism and procrastination.

FREE CONSULTATION There is absolutely no charge or obligation of any kind for seeing the Erickson specialist for consultation. Your only obligation is to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how easily and inexpensively you can save and thicken your hair at home. You will be told frankly and sincerely whether the Erickson Home Treatment can help, how long it will take, and the cost.

GUARANTEE SATISFACTION You will be given a written guarantee by the Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists for the length of time treatment is required on a pro-rated basis.

See Mr. J. L. Cannady at the Proctor Hotel, Friday, August 12, between 1 and 8:30 p.m. only in Greenville, N. C. You will not be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Consultations are free and given in private.

Mr. Cannady will be in New Bern, N. C., Saturday, August 13, at the Governor Tyron Hotel.

College All - Stars Quiet On Eve Of Colt Game

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (AP)—Today was the quiet before the football storm in Soldier Field where the College All-Stars meet the heavily favored Baltimore Colts Friday night.

Perkins Scores Impressive KO

CHICAGO (AP)—Eddie Perkins, 23-year-old Chicago product, hopes he is a step closer to a shot at Joe Brown's lightweight title.

Perkins scored an impressive seventh-round technical knockout over Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., Wednesday night to fortify his National Boxing Assn. ranking as the No. 4 contender.

Perkins caught his opponent with a right at the start of the seventh in the nationally televised bout from Chicago Stadium. Lopes was slammed against the ropes by combination blasts and was unable to escape the flailing.

Referee Joey White stopped it at :40. Lopes suffered a cut left eye brow in the fourth round. The wound bled freely from then on.

It was Perkins' 20th victory against 6 losses and his 7th kayo. Lopes now is 24-21-5.

Perkins weighed 137 1/4 pounds to 135 1/4 for Lopes.

some of the nation's top college seniors in 1959.

All-Star Coach Otto Graham, trying for his second victory in three years at the collegiate helm, pronounced his squad in good shape. However, lost earlier because of injuries were such standouts as halfbacks Jim Mooty of Arkansas and Don Perkins of New Mexico and guard Roger Davis of Syracuse.

If the All-Star defensive platoon can somehow slow down the Johnny Unitas-keyed Colt attack, the collegians conceivably could spring an upset such as they did against the Detroit Lions in Graham's All-Star debut in 1958.

The All-Stars have a trio of fine passing quarterbacks in Don Meredith of Southern Methodist, George Izo of Notre Dame and Fetah Hall of Marquette. They also have a flock of capable receivers, such as ends Don Ellersick and Gail Cogdill of Washington State, Monty Stickles of Notre Dame and Hugh McGinnis of Mississippi Southern.

They also have backfield speed which may be utilized in the type of quick passing game that might catch the big pros flatfooted. Dick Bass of College of Pacific, Walter Beach of Central Michigan, Prentice Gault of Oklahoma, Ed Kovac of Cincinnati and Frank Mestnik of Marquette are all lads who can ramble with the ball.

However, it is mainly up to the brawny collegians on the line to prevent the Colts from making the game a runaway. The All-Stars have two of the finest, most durable college linemen of 1959 as their co-captains — Ohio State's Jim Houston, a 220-pound end, and Duke's Mike McGee, 230-pound guard.

The All-Star game, sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will be televised and broadcast nationally by ABC.

The pros lead in the All-Star series with 16 victories, against 8 collegiate triumphs and 2 ties.

Large Purse For Asheville Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A purse of $19,750 will be up for grabs Sunday in the third annual Western North Carolina 500 Sweepstakes, a 250-mile test at the half-mile Asheville-Weaverlyville Speedway.

Time trials begin at 1 p.m. Saturday, and the race begins at the same hour Sunday. The winner will carry home $3,900.

The entrants so far include the Spartans' contingent of Jack Smith, Buck Baker and Cotton Owens, Banjo Mathews of Asheville, Joe Lee Johnson of Chattanooga, and Dick and Lee Petty of Randleman, N.C.

Meanwhile, as Carolina tracks near the end of the season, some will award double points toward track championships in the final races.

Only two more regular weekly Saturday night modified, sportsman and hobby races remain at the Bowman Gray Stadium in Winston-Salem.

Double points also will be awarded in a Rocket 100 race at Rockingham, N.C., on Sept. 3. The four front finishers this Saturday night and the following two Saturdays will earn places in the Rocket 100.

Cagers Warmup For Officials And Olympics

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., (AP)—U. S. Coach Pete Newell is preparing his team for the worst in basketball officiating at the Olympic Games later this month in Rome.

"It's not that there won't be good officials there," Newell said. "It's just that they will be from different countries and in some cases won't speak the English language."

Newell said he even has been calling fouls "backwards" in practice sessions at West Point, N. Y.

"We want our players to get used to any kind of call so it won't upset their game," Newell said.

"After all, there's no use arguing with the referees. Some of them won't be able to understand you anyway, and others won't even understand one another."

Newell said his Olympic team still is not in playing condition. He doubts they will be before the invasion of Rome for the games starting Aug. 25.

Newell was handed what has been regarded as an enviable assignment.

Among the super-stars on the team are All-Americans Jerry West of West Virginia, Darrell Imhoff of his own California team, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Jerry Lucas of Ohio State's national champions.

But this assignment isn't as easy as it looks, Newell said.

"Everyone of these players were stars in their college days. Basketball is a game of habit. All are used to taking charge and handling the ball most of the time. It's hard to get this group to learn to play as a team. It takes time and we don't have much of that."

Cards Yapping On Heels Of Senior Loop Leaders

Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals are yapping at the heels of the high-flying Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League, and a tall, raw-boned relief pitcher has a lot to do with it.

His name is Lindy McDaniel and he's rapidly becoming the Joe Page of the circuit. Joe Page was a New York Yankee reliever who made the bull pen practically a parlor a dozen years ago, bringing the erstwhile unsung denizens into the public eye.

McDaniel who came up from Hollis, Okla., wasn't an immediate success, and two years ago he was optioned to Omaha in the American Assn. for a spell. He came back later in the season, finishing with a 14-12 record.

This year he is just like money in the bank for the pennant-contending St. Louis club.

Wednesday he won his 10th game in 13 decisions, pitching the 8th and 9th innings in the Cards' 6-5 victory over the Phillies in 10 innings. He was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the 10th when the Cards scored the winning run.

In other National League games Los Angeles defeated Milwaukee, 3-2, Pittsburgh beat Chicago 3-1 and Cincinnati downed San Francisco 5-3.

In the American League New York blanked Chicago 6-0, Baltimore defeated Detroit 4-2 Boston downed Cleveland 6-1 and Kansas City smothered Washington, 13-1.

Losing pitcher Dick Farrell walked in the winning run as the Cardinals won their 12th game of their last 14. Bill White's three-run home run in the four-run fourth inning was the big blow. The Phillies loaded the bases in the 10th, but couldn't squeeze in a run.

The Pirates, with Vernon Law pitching a neat four-hitter for his 16th decision, defeated the Cubs, 3-1. It was the seventh straight for Pittsburgh.

Los Angeles moved into a tie for third place with the Braves by its victory over Milwaukee. Ed Mathews hit his 25th home run in the fourth inning and Frank Howard hit one with a man aboard for the Dodgers in the fifth.

Stan Williams got the victory, his 12th, and Lew Burdette was the loser.

Cincinnati again added to the woes of the Giants, stretching San Francisco's losing streak to six games, longest of the season. Marshall Bridges was the winner and Sam Jones the loser.

Battlefield, winner of the 1950 Futurity, won 22 of 44 starts in four years of racing. The chestnut horse earned $74,727 for George D. Widener.

Cage Coach Is Headed For Guilford College

By JOHNNY HUDSON
Reflector Sports Editor
Clyde Parrish, ex-Wendell High coach, will take over the basketball coaching reins at Guilford College this fall. And Parrish will take a hunk of talent with him to the North State Conference institution. He has signed four prepsters from Wake County.

Clemson's Bill Mathis is running ahead of All-American Billy Cannon in the Houston Oilers football camp. And Doug Cline, also of Clemson, is a member of the squad and has been shifted from fullback to halfback.

Wives who hate for their husbands to play golf, take note: Jack Nicklaus, top amateur in the country right now, recently shot a 69 in the morning at Columbus, Ohio and got married that evening.

The next morning he shot another 69. So, marriage and golf can mix after all.

Lou Cardilone, 1959 Clemson tackle, has been a standout in workouts this week with the college stars. He is slated to start on defense tomorrow night against the Baltimore Colts.

Mike McGee of Duke has been selected as a captain on the College All-Star club.

Howard Chapin, a former Kinston resident and graduate of Atlantic Christian College, has been named head basketball coach of Washington High School, replacing Bill Sweel who resigned recently.

Chapin has been athletic director at John A. Wilkinson High School in Belhaven for the past several years.

"Jolting" Joe DiMaggio will appear on Jerry Coleman's "Baseball Leadoff" Saturday as a special guest prior to the annual "Old Timers Day" at Yankee Stadium honoring the National and American League All-Star teams of 1939.

Frank Holt of Savannah, Ga., is the top money winner on the Putt-Putt tour after eleven tournaments. Holt has picked up $3,581.66 for his troubles.

The Chapel Hill Athletic Club has announced tentative plans for its annual "welcome back" party for the University of North Carolina football squad. It will be held Wednesday night, Aug. 31

Bartlett Wins

ASHEVILLE (AP)—Doe Bartlett of Asheville, who had to play an extra hole Wednesday before winning his first round match in the Asheville Invitation golf tournament, faced Joe Bryan of St. Petersburg, Fla., in today's second round.

Bartlett, the medalist, defeated Glenn Melton of Black Mountain with a par 4 on the first extra hole. Melton missed a long putt for a bogey. Bryan, meanwhile, defeated Bill Krickham of Asheville 1-up.

J. C. Hyatt of Asheville, who's won this tournament three times, defeated Jim Spencer of Winter Park, Fla., on the second extra hole. Hyatt faced Bill Winkenwelder in today's second round.

Other second-round pairings: Bill Harvey, Greensboro, N.C., vs. Paul Tarnow, Tampa, Fla.; Nick Beadles, Asheville, vs. George Smith, New Bern, N.C.; Ralph James, Atlanta, Ga., vs. Woody Weaver, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Lick Reindeman, Salisbury, N.C., vs. George Wright, Shaw Air Force Base, S.C.; Jim Allen, Athens, Ga., vs. Bob Smith, Asheville; Fleming Browne Jr., Asheville, vs. Jim Downtin, Asheville.

Wilson Padding Carolina Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain washed out two games and nearly forced postponement of the third Wednesday night in Carolina League play. However, league-leading Wilson managed a tie-breaking run to pull ahead of Durham shortly before that one was halted in the eighth inning.

Wilson padded its lead to 4 1/2 games over Burlington with its 4-3 triumph. Raleigh was rained out in Winston-Salem after leading 5-3 in the fourth, and Greensboro at Burlington game also was postponed.

Back to back doubles brought in the winning tally for the Tobs. Two batters later the rain, which earlier had halted action for more than a half hour, returned and the game was called.

Tonight Wilson moves to Greensboro, Winston-Salem to Burlington and Durham to Raleigh.

Major League Stars
Batting — Ted Williams, Red Sox, hit two home runs and a double against Cleveland, the first home run breaking a tie with Mel Ott for third place in all-time homer production and the second boosting his lifetime total to 513.

Pitching — Vernon Law, Pirates, held the Chicago Cubs to four hits for his 16th victory against five defeats and his fifth straight triumph.

On 86th Birthday, Hoover Advocates Tested Formula

By FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Don't retire and start discussing fills with the fellow next door.
Keep working—say at the rate of seven days a week.
Once in a while, if you ever get the chance and like such things as fishing, try to hook a few brook trout.

All that is a time-tested formula, offered by a man who has found it works very well, indeed: Herbert Hoover.
The former Republican president is spryly observing his 86th birthday today—at his desk working as usual. He didn't have time for anything else much, as eight full-time secretaries will readily attest. Hoover, with some reluctance but with good-natured remarks, took time out Tuesday to answer questions in connection with what he termed his "bipartisan" birthday and also to give a general accounting of his activities during the past year.

They included:

Attendance at 35 public functions, delivery of 20 speeches ("without a ghost writer"), answering 21,195 letters, acceptance of 23 awards, 14,000 miles of travel, television appearances, cornerstone layings and the raising of $1,200,000 or more for his pet project, the Boys Clubs of America.
"I hope you will conclude that I have not ceased work," he said smilingly to a roomful of reporters and photographers. He said he hadn't intended to hold a birthday news conference this year.
"I thought we had done that stunt often enough," Hoover remarked with a grin. "However, that idea met many protests."
Hoover ranged over a variety of topics as he sat at his desk in his Waldorf-Astoria hotel suite. His ruddy complexion, sparkling blue eyes, frequent witticisms and speedy replies to questions gave an impression of stalwart physical condition. His only seeming difficulty was with his hearing at times.

He voiced pleasure at receiving "many touching tributes from both sides of the political area."
"I have many friends on the other side," he added.
Hoover said he also was gratified by an avalanche of favorable comment on his most recent "farewell speech" at the Republican National Convention.
He emphasized that it was a non-political address intended "to awaken more pride in our country, and an enlightened nationalism as a regenerative force from national apathy and moral slump."

"It certainly reached millions of people, as witness the multitude of letters from every state in the union, and every calling in life. And here are favorable editorials from nearly every important newspaper in the country."
Hoover pointed to stacks of letters and newspaper clippings on chairs near his desk. He said the letters about his speech totaled thousands.
"I hoped it would reach the whole American people—not just one faction," he said.
Hoover, who appeared at the interview with a prepared statement that was augmented by replies to reporters' questions, gave these opinions:

It is a good thing to have young men taking a leading part in politics because "they have vigor and new ideas."
The injection of religious issues into a campaign is "a dreadful thing—in my own campaign I must have denounced it a half dozen times." His reference was to the 1928 campaign when his opponent was Al Smith, a Catholic.
Outlook for the future of the country: "I don't believe this republic is in its decline and fall." But he said he feels the country is facing an even greater danger than in 1939 on the eve of World War II. He made clear the danger is communism.
A reporter asked Hoover about

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's remark that Americans' grandchildren would live under communism. Hoover drew a roar of laughter when he snapped: "That ain't so."
The former president sidestepped a question as to what he considered the proudest achievement of his long public career. He said he took no particular pride in any part of it, but: "If I could do it all over again I could do a better job."
Pressed for his formula for a long life, Hoover said it was to keep working.
"If you stop work, then your only preoccupation will be with neighbors—they'll want to talk about their pills and you'll want to talk about yours. That is not a satisfactory occupation."

Secret Of 'Spelling Feldmans'

By ANN DIAMOND
OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Darken the TV screen and light the reading lamp.
"Any child who reads a lot and notices what he reads is bound to be a good speller," say Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Feldman, parents of national spelling champion Henry Feldman.

postcard wishing him "good luck" at the national contest, Robbie also shows promise of being a champion speller.
Mr. and Mrs. Feldman, both graduates of the University of Pennsylvania, have always had an interest in etymology, the history of words. They make a game of seeking the relationships of words from language to language. Together, the parents know seven languages.

All family members are voracious readers and the parents' interest in words has been inherited by the offspring.
"I have always made it a point to have the children look up in the dictionary words they don't know," Mrs. Feldman says. "Give them a decent desk sized dictionary and see that they use

SPELLING FELDMANS—Henry Feldman, national spelling bee champion, is shown second from right with his sister and brothers, Benjy, 8, Alice, 10, and Robbie, 7.

A return to the old-fashioned pastime of reading is the Feldman cure of complaints from parents, educators and employers about the poor spelling ability of today's young people.

The Feldmans are well qualified to offer advice. The two eldest of their five children have been contestants for four successive years in the annual national spelling bee in Washington, D. C.

Joan, 16, was the Southern Appalachian Region representative to Washington in 1957 and came in 27th in the finals. Henry, only 10 at the time, was third behind Joan in the preliminary bee in Oak Ridge.

The next three years Henry was the Southern Appalachian champ. In 1958 he came in 12th in the national contest. In 1959 he was 20th in the finals and this year reached the top.

The family's next eligible spelling competitor is Alice, 10, who says: "I guess I'm good. I haven't missed in the spelling bees in my room." She's a sixth grader.

Following Alice is Benjy, 8, who never gets less than 100 in spelling.

Bringing up the rear is Robbie, 7. Though he sent his brother a

Start Long Study To Better Nurses

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Researchers in the Duke University department of sociology and anthropology and the school of nursing have initiated a six-year study aimed at producing better nurses.
The project is being supported during its first three years by a grant of $73,125 awarded under the U.S. Public Health Service research grants and fellowships program.

Duke sociology department chairman John C. McKinney, principal investigator for the project, said "in effect we are studying the formation of nursing students' professional goals and attitudes during the courses of their education."

Poet Requested Ashes Strewn On Land And Sea

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP)—Harry Kemp's ashes should rest as unasily as the turbulent poet of the dunes lived through most of his 78 years.

The "tramp poet," who once shared a fishing shack here with the young dramatist Eugene O'Neill, died Monday.

Kemp instructed his landlord to strew half his ashes over Peaked Hill Bar, a submerged menace to navigation three miles off shore which has brought death to many ships.

The other half, he instructed, should be strewn in Greenwich Village, New York City, at the corner of 14th Street and Houston Avenue. Kemp began his climb to literary renown in the Bohemian village.

Herman Tasha, who gave Kemp the cottage which was his last home, said he would execute the poet's wishes.

Kemp, native of Youngstown, Ohio, went to sea at 17. On one occasion, he stowed away on a luxury liner from which he was removed in chains in England. A letter from George Bernard Shaw brought his release from a jail sentence.

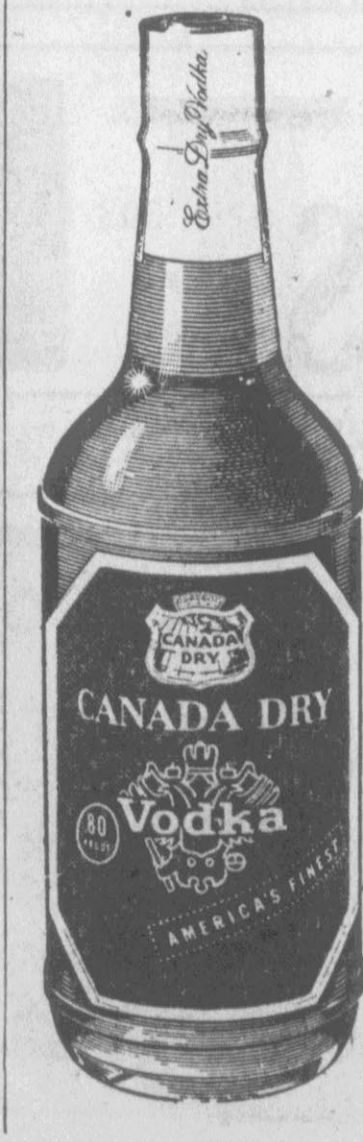

He was closely associated with O'Neill's rise to fame as a playwright. He came to Provincetown 41 years ago. He enjoyed tramping the sand dunes barefoot and swimming winter and summer in the raw.

Kemp's best known works include "Tramping on Life," "Chanter's and Ballads," "The Cry of Youth," and "The Passing God."

WHERE'S THE THIRD CAR?

DUST NUISANCE COSTS ONE HALF BILLION PER YEAR—Have you ever thought that the annoying dust clouds trailing your car on unpaved roads are expensive? They certainly are. Road material lost as the result of dust conditions would cost one half billion dollars per year to replace at current material costs. Dust is an important part of all unpaved roads. It is the binder that holds the gravel or stone in place. Engineers are paving roads as fast as their highway budgets will allow. Meanwhile, they conserve road materials and eliminate dust on unpaved roads by applying sodium chloride. It keeps moisture in roads and holds dust and valuable road materials in place. (The third car, by the way, is lost in the dust.)

Reading Certificates Given To 189

Sheppard Memorial Library's summer reading certificates have been awarded to 189 children who met requirements of the program held from June 1 to August 1.

Mrs. Jane Smith of the library staff said in announcing the names of those who received certificates that several members of the annual reading club were near the goal but had not turned in their final reports upon publication of this article, so their names are not included in the list.

To receive a certificate, the reading club member was required to read 15 approved books as a minimum. Some members read more.

Those who read the required 15 books were Marie Martin, Barry Billica Julia Wilson, Patsy Hardee, Susan Hice, Patty Jenkins and Tommy Worsley.

One hundred eight-one members read more than the required books. They are:

Officials Say Money Amounts Available For Defense Shifts

By C. YATES MCDANIEL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense officials say the amount of money they have "available for future requirements" — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson calls it "impounded" — shifts with military needs.

They confirmed Johnson's estimate Tuesday that the current amount is about $21 billion dollars of the 40-billion-dollar total Congress voted. But a month earlier it was more than a billion dollars, they said, and it shifts with changing decisions on military spending.

Johnson, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, questioned whether Congress should try to vote more money, and whether it would be spent even if it were appropriated.

Johnson cited figures he had obtained from Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. after President Eisenhower on Monday had outlined to Congress steps taken and proposed to increase the nation's military readiness.

Pentagon budget officers said the actions Eisenhower mentioned would cost an added half-billion dollars, and said total defense spending for the year may reach a peacetime record of 41 1/2 billion dollars.

Despite the millions of "available" funds, they said, extra money may have to be sought early next year for other purposes. The available money, they said, is earmarked by Congress for specific purposes on which the administration is not now ready to increase its spending.

Shifting administration and Defense Department decisions, along with shifts in the international situation, they said, help create confusion over who wanted how much money for what at any given time.

After the military budget was submitted last January, they said, for instance, the Pentagon in April sought and got approval from the House Appropriations Committee to earmark additional millions for such priority items as intercontinental missiles, military satellites and the radar system being developed for an antimissile missile system. But these added items actually reduced the total defense request for the year that started July 1 because the Pentagon simultaneously cut back or cut out some other expensive projects.

Again in May and in July the Pentagon shifted its position on such major items as Polaris missiles and submarines. The Navy started the year asking for funds to build three new missile subs and three additional nuclear-powered attack submarines. As it wound up, however, the Navy and got money to start five new missile submarines, and Congress voted money to build four attack submarines. But the Defense Department decided to build only one of the latter type.

While the military budget hearings were under way in Congress in the spring, the Defense Department said it was ready to use some additional money the House wanted to spend for Army modernization. With the bill now passed, it has authorized the Army to spend a good deal more money, mainly for modern tanks.

The books show that Congress voted nearly two billion dollars more for defense than the administration requested in its January budget. They also show that the Congress rejected administration requests for well over one billion and to complicate the issue, slapped a mandatory 3 per cent reduction on all appropriations voted for military procure-

Race Separation Reported Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Racial segregation has ended at lunch counters of major variety store chains in 69 Southern communities, executives of the firms have told Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Similar progress in other cities is expected in the near future, Rogers said late Wednesday after meeting with the executives.

The store officials told Rogers that the desegregation was carried out in more than 70 per cent of the 69 communities without sit-in demonstrations by Negroes — and largely without publicity. The communities affected were not listed.

Rogers hailed the progress as most gratifying and said "it is significant that where responsible local citizens take the first steps, the necessary transition to desegregation of eating facilities in stores can be accomplished without disruptions and loss of business."

Rogers said he had called in representatives of F. W. Woolworth Co., S. H. Kress & Co., W. T. Grant Co., and other major chains on June 1 for informal discussions. He said he had emphasized that the standing of the United States suffers as a result of acts of racial discrimination.

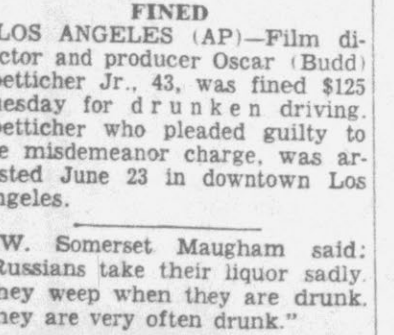

FINED

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Film director and producer Oscar (Budd) Boetticher Jr., 43, was fined $125 Tuesday for drunken driving. Boetticher, who pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge, was arrested June 23 in downtown Los Angeles.

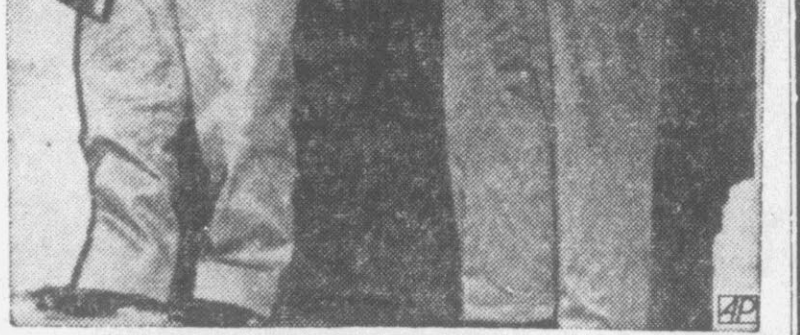

W. Somerset Maugham said: "Russians take their liquor sadly. They weep when they are drunk. They are very often drunk."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — A wide-spread sprinkling of small gains gave the stock market a higher tone early this afternoon. Selling chipped away at some early gains, however, and the market seemed to be having difficulty maintaining any worthwhile momentum. Trading continued at a fairly good clip, well ahead of Wednesday. A very few special situations were moved more than a point, but the great majority of changes were held to fractions. Brokers liked the technical position of the market, which has managed five successive small advances in the face of continued uncertainties for the near-term business outlook and the world situation.

Shifting of trading interest from aircraft-missile issues to oils and coppers to steels was hailed in some quarters as building a broad base for the market, but decried in others as a sign of weakness. No one group stepped to the fore today to set the pace. Steels, the most recent favorite, were mostly higher.

Chemicals, utilities, metals and tobacco continued to move ahead, but the motor and airline groups developed a mixed picture. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 2.23 at 619.75. The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 0.60 at 217.80 at noon with industrials up 0.80, rails up 0.20 and utilities up 0.30. U.S. government bonds drifted lower. Corporates were mixed.

Weatherman Promises Break

The weatherman has promised a break in the hot weather which has prevailed around Greenville and Pitt County, at least for today, tonight and Friday. Temperatures slightly lower than in the past few days plus less humidity have combined to bring relief. Friday's temperatures ranged so far from a low of 75 degrees at 4 a.m. to 87 degrees at 12 noon.

Wednesday's high temperature was 96 degrees, with a low of 71, John Lynch of the Greenville Utilities Plant said. About .19 inches of rain fell in Greenville last night before and after midnight, Lynch said. The weatherman has predicted a chance of widely scattered showers or thundershowers in southern Carolina today.

The Tar River level has dropped to 5.9 feet and is still dropping, Lynch said. The forecast for tonight is fair and not as warm, and for Friday fair and moderately warm but less humid.

Kept TVviewing As House Blazed

LITCHFIELD, Maine (AP) — Louis Getchell says he gets pretty wrapped up while watching television. Litchfield firemen will agree. They had to break down the door to the Getchell home Tuesday and interrupt the 82-year-old man's TV viewing to tell him his house was ablaze. The house was badly damaged by the flames.

Fallout Shelter Exhibited

KINSTON—A shelter designed for protection against radioactive fallout, in the event of Atomic war, was dedicated in Kinston, yesterday, with many dignitaries on hand for the ceremonies. Along with the featured speaker, Rep. L. H. Fountain (D-NC) of Tarboro, several authorities of the national civil defense administration, and regional civil defense administration, and regional civil defense directors were present.

3-Judge Panel Sets Hearing On Blue Tag Law

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP) — A three-judge federal panel will decide the validity of Georgia's blue tag tobacco law at a hearing next Tuesday at 11 a.m.

U.S. District Judge Frank Scarlett ruled Wednesday that an injunction prohibiting the enforcement of the law would remain in force until the hearing. The decision followed a day of testimony in which H. L. Brannen, Statesboro, assistant manager of a three-warehouse operation, declared the injunction "saved our market."

Brannen called the blue tag, formerly attached to all Carolina tobacco sold in Georgia warehouses, "the most unnecessary thing I have ever seen to tear up a market."

He criticized the Georgia General Assembly as "not knowing what they were doing" when the blue tag law was enacted.

Phil Campbell, state commissioner of agriculture, expressed disappointment that the temporary restraining order was not removed. He added the identification law is for the protection of Georgia tobacco farmers and that he was confident its constitutionality will be upheld by the three-judge court.

"At stake," Campbell said, "is the Georgia tobacco farmer, and his multimillion dollar tobacco crop on one hand and that part of the selling industry represented by local Georgia investors and warehousemen whose tobacco volume is so dependent on the Carolinas, on the other."

415 Youngsters In Reading Club

A record breaking total of 415 youngsters from Greenville participated in the Summer Reading Club sponsored by Sheppard Memorial Library, Mrs. Jane Smith of the library staff announced.
