Powers Draws Ten Years Sentence From Soviet Court

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union tonight sentenced Francis Gary Powers to prison and then permitted him to see his tearful wife behind the scenes at the courtroom where he was tried for his U2 spy flight.

A military court gave the 31-year-old American pilot a 10-year sentence for espionage but modified that by specifying only three years are to be spent in prison.

The rest of the sentence is covered by "deprivation of liberty." That may mean assignment to a special colony with other prisoners, or possibly expulsion.

It is entirely conceivable that Powers may be sent out of the Soviet Union when his prison term is finished. There was nothing official on this, but the feeling among some diplomats and correspondents in Moscow is that the Soviet Union at this stage has no special desire to keep Powers after the excitement about him subsides.

The Soviet Union's top penalty for espionage is death by shooting. Prosecutor Roman A. Rudenko asked for a 15-year sentence. Powers' Soviet attorney, goateed Mikhail I. Griniov, asked for less, without specifying the years.

There is no appeal provided for in the Soviet law, but Powers' wife has indicated her intention to carry a personal plea to Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev if she can see him.

The handsome Virginian showed no emotion when he heard the sentence. He stood with arms folded as he heard an English translation of this outcome of his three-day trial, a trial in which the Russians tried to condemn the whole foreign policy of the United States in the cold war.

Powers was downed on a May 1 flight which carried him into the Soviet Union at 68,000 feet. The incident led to wrecking of the summit conference and cancellation of the Soviet Union's invitation to President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union.

The presiding judge of the three-man court, Lt. Gen. Victor Borisoglebsky, read the verdict, reached in a conference of 4 hours 35 minutes, following summations. The sentence, he said, runs from May 1, the date of Powers' arrest.

A great burst of applause swept the crowded courtroom, the Soviet Trade Union Building's vast Hall of Columns. It lasted two minutes.

Powers's wife and mother, Mrs. Oliver Powers, collapsed briefly and wept.

His wife Barbara, 24, attired in navy blue, had fidgeted and twisted her gloves as the reading of the verdict went on for 30 minutes. Occasionally she sponged her forehead with a handkerchief she dipped in a glass of water.

Botr the wife and mother quickly regained their composure and stood up holding hands.

Later Barbara and her husband, whom she had seen only at a distance since she came to Moscow Sunday, were reunited in a little room adjoining the court.

His mother, father, and a sister also were permitted to see the prisoner. They were allowed an hour with him.

Defense Attorney Mikhail I. Griniov said Powers had told him he would be punished by 10 years in jail or $10,000 fine—or both—in the United States, penalties Powers had testified were prescribed for revealing anything about his contract to fly for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

"But that worries me little," Griniov said Powers had told him before the trial. "I am not likely to return home."

Powers himself took the stage again at the conclusion of Griniov's statement and told the judges he wanted to be tried as a person and not as a political figure.

"You have heard all the evidence and must decide what my punishment is to be," the handsome young American said.

"I realize I committed a grave crime and must be punished for it."

Powers added: "I ask the court to weigh all the evidence and take into account not only that I committed a crime but the circumstances which led me to do so."

Following Powers' plea, the three-man military court recessed at 12:50 p.m. to consider its verdict — and actually its sentence, since Powers had pleaded guilty to espionage at the outset of the trial.

It was announced the verdict would not be forthcoming before late this afternoon at the earliest.

Powers told the court in his final words that he was "deeply repentant and profoundly sorry for what I have done."

"The Russian people think of me as an enemy," Powers continued. "I understand this but I would like to stress that I do not now feel, nor have I ever felt, any enmity toward the Russian people."

Winding up his summation of the case against the American flier, Soviet Prosecutor Roman Rudenko said he did not demand death—the supreme penalty prescribed by Soviet law for the espionage charge to which Powers pleaded guilty.

"I have every reason to ask the court to impose the supreme penalty," Rudenko said, "but taking into account the repentance expressed by prisoner Powers, I ask only that he be sentenced to 15 years' detention."

The capacity audience in the Hall of Columns in the Soviet Trade Union Building broke into stormy applause at Rudenko's concluding words.

Powers, sitting in the prisoner's box, showed no emotion. His wife, Barbara, lowered her head and rested it on the red plush railing of the box at the rear of the hall from which she has watched the trial for three days.

The pilot's mother, Ida Ford Powers of Pound, Va., sat immobile in her seat in the box at the prosecutor's closing words. Soviet photographers, the only ones permitted on the floor of the hall, rushed over to take her picture but her husband, Oliver Powers, jumped up and blocked off her face with his hand.

After a few moments the pilot's wife and mother stood up, moved from their seats and clasped each other emotionally.

After two days of testimony from Powers and Soviet witnesses concerning the details of the May 1 flight, Rudenko at the outset of his summation put the U.S. government in the dock and asserted that the downing of Powers constituted "an exposure of the criminal methods of the military leaders of the United States." Rudenko asserted also that President Eisenhower, in acknowledging that the U.S. government had authorized the U2 flight over the Soviet Union, had made official statements "unprecedented in international history."

"The criminal acts of pilot Powers cannot but lead to recognition of the criminal policy of the United States, by contrast, is constantly keeping nuclear bombers in the air and announcing the resumption of underground tests.

Russia Launches 'Animal Satellite'

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced the launching of a new space ship into orbit carrying two dogs and other animals whose life above the clouds will be reported back by television.

Moscow radio said the five-ton space ship is in orbit at an altitude of 320 kilometers—198.8 miles.

The dogs aboard are named Strelka and Belka, meaning pointer or arrow and squirrel.

The other animals were not immediately identified, but Moscow radio said these two dogs have flown before, accompanied by a big gray rabbit.

The broadcast said the purpose of the ship is to test how living creatures could exist in space—and also how they might be brought back to earth.

The broadcast did not state whether it was planned to bring these particular animals back to earth. The space ship they are in was described as large enough for a man.

Radio equipment will report back the condition of the animals and the functioning of the apparatus aboard and, said Moscow radio, television reports of their activities also will be sent back.

Correspondents covering the trial of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers speculated the dogs were orbited at this particular time to demonstrate that the Soviet Union could not only shoot down high flying American planes but could launch high flying dogs in the interest of science.

The main purpose of the launching is the further development of a system to support man's life in space, security of his flight and return to earth," said the Sovet news agency Tass in an announcement of the launching.

The earth's first artificial satellite with a living thing aboard—the dog Laika—was fired into orbit by the U.S.S.R. in November 1957.

Security Council To Meet Sunday On Congo Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council will meet Sunday at 12:30 p.m. on the explosive Congo crisis. The call was made today as Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold warned the Congo government the Council might be asked to withdraw all U.N. forces if attacks continue on U.N. personnel in the Congo.

French Ambassador Armand Berard, this month's Council President, formally notified all 11 nations on the Council of the Sunday meeting.

A Congolese delegation is on its way to attend.

Hammarskjold's warning was contained in a note sent to the Congo government in advance of the Council meeting.

In the Congo capital, Premier Patrice Lumumba called the Hammarskjold note "blackmail" and said he was not impressed by it. The note was not addressed to Lumumba by name, but to "the government of the republic of the Congo." It referred to the manhandling of Canadian U.N. personnel by Congolese.

In a determined bid to keep the Congo situation from collapsing altogether, Hammarskjold called in the chief U.N. representatives of the four major world powers Thursday. He reportedly stressed to them that Big Four unanimity was vital to avert complete chaos in the New African republic.

Closeted with Hammarskjold for 45 minutes in the unusual joint session were U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, British Minister Harold Beeley and French Ambassador Armand Berard.

The Soviet Union has sharply disputed Hammarskjold's interpretation of his powers under the council resolutions that created the U.N. force. It has called for complete withdrawal of all Belgian troops.

Scheduling of the council meeting awaited arrival of Lumumba's delegation, delayed in London overnight after their Soviet jetliner was denied permission to land at Idlewild Airport because it had not passed noise test requirements. The State Department finally persuaded the New York Port Authority to admit the plane, and it was expected today.

At Leopoldville's airport Thursday about 300 Congolese soldiers kicked and clubed a Canadian unit of about a dozen men. Other U.N., forces moved in quickly to regain control of the field. They put up barbed wire around key points and limited Congolese troops at the field to six men.

Ralph J. Bunche, the U.N. undersecretary, declared in a radio speech at Leopoldville that the action of the Congolese soldiers was a "needless and senseless provocation."

"I want everyone to know that this was an affront to the United Nations," Bunche said.

The Canadian government fired off a strong protest to Lumumba's government. Prime Minister John Diefenbaker called the attack "totally unwarranted and unjustifiable."

Hammarskjold made plain his concern over the attack on the Canadians by sending a letter on the incident to the ambassadors of all countries that have contributed U.N. forces to the Congo.

Another 'Discoverer' In Orbit To Again Try Mid-Air Capsule Catch

VANDERBERT AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Air Force Flying Boxcars left from Hawaiian runways today to try to make a flying catch of the falling space capsule of Discoverer XIV.

The latest Discoverer satellite, launched Thursday is circling the globe every 94½ minutes, whirling toward what the Air Force hopes will be a new space-age first.

Last week the capsule of Discoverer XIII was plucked from the sea near Hawaii by the Navy for the first recovery of an item from orbit.

Today the Air Force hopes to make the first aerial recovery of such tn object. The transports—trailing trapeze-like rigs — tried and failed to snag the capsule of Discoverer XIII.

They lost it, like baseball outfielders with the sun in their eyes, because they couldn't get a radio fix on the capsule's beeping transmitters.

As before, the capsule will pop loose from the orbiting rocket on its 17th pass across the North Pole. Forward-firing rockets will slow the falling capsule and then, once in the atmosphere, a parachute is to lower it toward the target area in Hawaiian waters.

There are only instruments in the capsule — nothing alive. Air Force officials have mentioned possibility of putting a monkey in an early Discoverer shot.

"We don't know if it will go in the next one, or the next one after it, or the next one after it," said an Air Force spokesman. "A lot depends on how this shot goes."

Some of the instruments aboard the new satellite are so secret the Air Force won't talk about them. Some, it said, are to provide information to help two upcoming series of surveillance satellites. Others are to gather data for the Navy's transit navigation satellite program.

It was fired here at 12:57 p.m. Thursday — 15 minutes behind schedule, because of a space traffic jam. The rocket from Discoverer XIII was overhead at about the same time, and the Air Force waited for it to hustle past so it wouldn't interfere with tracking of the newest Discoverer.

Kennedy Minimum Wage Bill Is Approved By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed the Kennedy minimum wage bill 62-34 Thursday night with its major provisions largely intact, but the legislation faces uncertain House prospects.

Sen. John F. Kennedy told a reporter he was quite hopeful the House will agree to most of the Senate provisions. But experience on differences between the two branches involving labor legislation in 1958 and 1959 cast doubt on this.

The Democratic presidential nominee was named to head the seven Senate conferees on the bill. He was chief sponsor of the Senate version.

The Senate bill would increase the present $1 wage floor to $1.25 an hour and would bring under the fair labor standards act about four million workers not now covered.

The much less comprehensive House bill would fix a $1.15 minimum and cover about 1,400,000 additional employes.

Kennedy headed Senate conferees who dealt with House delegations on a pension and welfare control measure in 1958 and the broad labor regulation bill last year. In both cases it proved difficult for the senators to get the House to do any compromising.

Since then he has been chosen as the Democratic presidential nominee, a status which may or may not affect House members' attitude toward his requests.

The House Rules Committee also may be a hurdle to any conference on the wage bill this year. It has blocked for weeks efforts to get a conference on a school aid bill; in this case, too, the Senate passed a more far-reaching measure.

Two of the Republican Senate conferees on the wage bill will oppose the version passed by their branch.

One of these, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), said he doubted that any legislation on the subject would get through. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who also will represent the Senate, said that if he were president he would veto the Kennedy bill.

Kennedy and his supporters were able to beat back all amendments he opposed except one concerning a relatively minor provision.

But the Massachusetts senator did have to make an important concession to defeat the amendment he considered the most serious threat to his bill.

In order to get the votes needed to reject this amendment, sponsored by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla), Kennedy agreed to elimination from the bill of coverage for about 900,000 workers. Originally his measure would have brought almost five million new employes under the act.

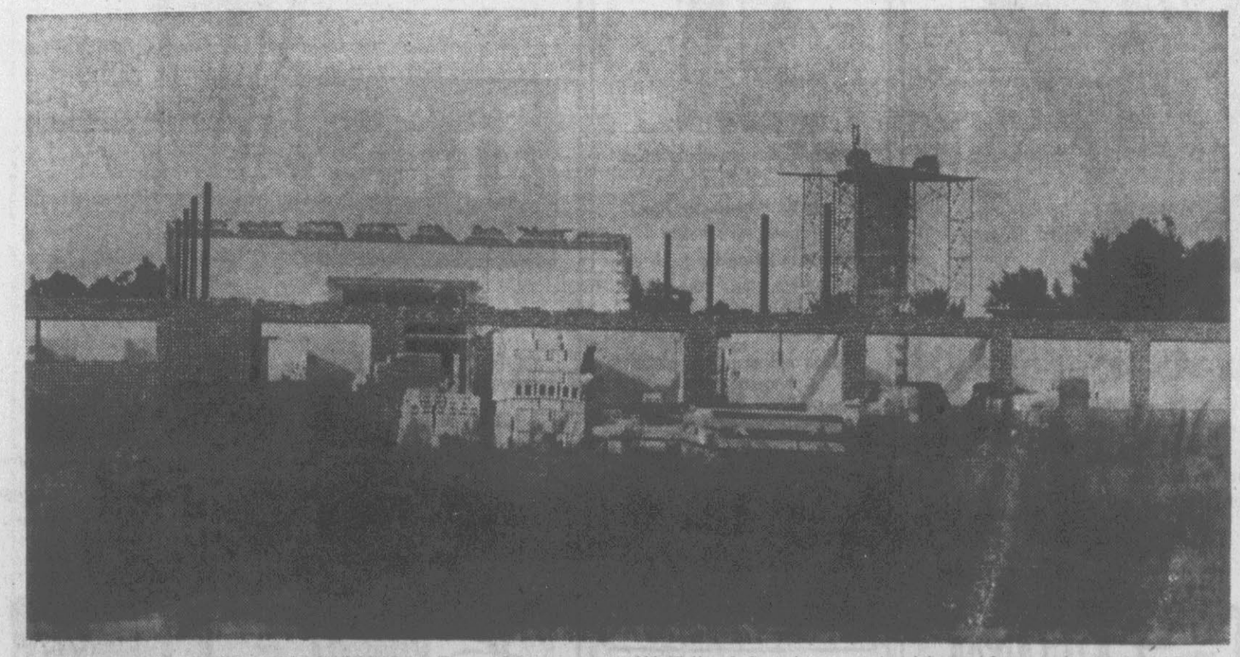
Those eliminated from the bill were employes of hotels, restaurants, motels, auto dealers and farm implement dealers.

The most important coverage provisions of the Kennedy bill would bring retail stores and service establishments under the law for the first time.

Under the measure, these would be covered if they work for enterprises doing a million dollars worth of business in a year.

The Monroney amendment would have covered such enterprises only if they had outlets in two or more states. Kennedy insisted this would have destroyed the basis of his bill. The amendment was turned back only by a 50-48 margin.

New Armory In Farmville Moving To Completion



CONSTRUCTION PROGRESSING——Farmville's new $140,000 National Guard armory is pictured above as it stood yesterday. Completion of the new home for the town's Company "E," 119th Infantry, is scheduled for "at least by the last day of October," according to spokesmen at Dunn Building Supply in Greenville, general contractor for the project. The masonry-and-steel structure is going up on a six-acre site adjoining the Farmville Golf Course on W. Horne Ave. The modern military facility, long-awaited by the Farmville Guard, includes the building proper, at a cost of around $125,000, and the $15,000 building site. The building itself is being financed by 75 per cent federal and 25 per cent state and local funds. The six acres were purchased with Farmville and Pitt County funds on a 50-50 basis.

U-2 Pilot Need Not Worry Over Govm't Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Highly placed officials said today that U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers will not have to worry about prosecution by the United States if the Soviet Union ever gives him freedom to return home.

Neither the State Department, which has discussed the Powers case in the past, nor the Central Intelligence Agency which had charge of the U2 reconnaissance flights, would comment on Powers' fate as his Moscow trial came to a close.

Privately officials appear relieved that the Soviet prosecution did not ask for a death sentence. They reasoned that the Communists have protested too long and too loudly against death penalties for Red spies in the West to take the life of Powers after his spectacular show trial.

The question of what should be done about Powers' case if and when he comes back to the United States is known to have received study.

Officials privately stressed two points:

1. From a political point of view, internal and international, it would be inadvisable for the United States to prosecute Powers. He apparently has won public sympathy both in this country and abroad for his plight. Also the United States has nothing to gain from keeping the Powers case alive as a propaganda issue.

2. The law on disclosure of information relating to secret operations is regarded within the government as applying only to violations within United States territory. In other words if Powers' disclosures about his U2 flights were violations of his agreement with CIA and the agreement provided penalties based on the present law, which is understood to be the case, then the U. S. government has no strong legal basis for prosecuting Powers anyway.

Hundreds Of Construction Jobs Seen In VOA Project

A clearer picture of the impact of construction of the $26 million Voice of America facilities on this area became available today with the announcement that an estimated 760 to 910 people will be employed in construction of the projects from early 1961 through early 1963.

The figures were released today by VOA project manager Fred K. Blackburn in an estimate of the personnel needs for the two-year period in which the giant transmitter and receiving facilities will be under actual construction.

According to the projected estimates 760 people will be engaged in construction of the facilities from early 1961 through early 1962. From January 1962 through early 1963 the total work force is expected to increase to 910 and hold constant through the 12-month period.

In addition to the VOA staff already located in Greenville, a breakdown of various categories of personnel showed the VOA will increase its supervisory staff by 54 people early in 1961. From May 1961 through early 1963 this additional supervisory staff will range from 54 to 61 people. During the same period the contractor's supervisory staff will number approximately 50 people.

According to the projected information the 105 to 110 people on these two supervisory staffs will probably prefer to rent houses or apartments with two to four bedrooms in the Greenville area for the two-year period. Approximately half the people on these staffs, the announcement said, will come and go as the various technical stages of construction are reached. The other half will remain in the Greenville area throughout the construction period.

As construction on the sites begins in January the force of common laborers required will increase from an initial figure of 25 to 450 by July 1961. The projected figures indicate the 450 common laborers will be needed from July 1961 through early 1963. During the same period skilled workmen employed in construction at the three sites is expected to increase from 25 in January to 200 by July 1961, and this figure will remain constant through January 1962. From January to April of 1962 the number of skilled workmen required for construction will increase to 350 and this number will remain constant through early 1963.

According to the information, the contractor will be encouraged to draw upon local labor to the maximum extent possible for the construction force of skilled and unskilled labor. It is anticipated, however, the announcement said, that the contractor probably will import many skilled workers into the Greenville area. These workers often bring their families and live in trailers. The announcement also added that trailer camps are frequently provided by the contractor who arranges with the community for use of appropriate land and installs necessary services such as power and water.

No Threat From Hurricane Cleo

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Cleo, third tropical storm of the season, moved up the Atlantic today without posing any immediate threat to the mainland.

The weather bureau in a 5 a.m. advisory located the storm about 500 miles east of Charleston, S.C. It was moving in a north-northeast direction at 20 miles an hour.

The advisory said the direction of movement and speed should continue the same for the next 18 hours. "This course would keep the hurricane well off the U.S. coast during this period," the weather bureau said.

Highest winds are estimated at 85 miles an hour over a small area near the center and gales extend out about 150 miles to the east and 75 miles to the west of center.

Little change is expected in intensity but a slight increase in size is likely during the next 18 hours.

Small craft were warned to remain in port from Block Island, R.I., to Cape May, N.J., because of winds stirred up by a low pressure area there. The advisory said the winds in that section at present are not due to Cleo.

Small craft south of Cape May to the South Carolina coast were warned not to venture far from port.

Fail To Produce Plan To Resume

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Disarmament Commission adjourned Thursday without producing a plan for the United States and the Soviet Union to resume disarmament talks. It adopted a mildly worded appeal for big power negotiations to resume quickly.

Plan Fire Protection For Outside City Limits

A drive will be launched shortly to equip a rural community fire department to serve a five mile radius of Greenville whose thickly populated areas are now unprotected.

Announcement of the formation of the rural department was made by Roy Hardee, president of the Greenville Volunteer Fire Department which will operate the equipment.

"The Greenville volunteer firemen have been aware for some time now of the acute need for a community rural fire truck to serve the now unprotected Greenville areas. At a special meeting of the volunteer firemen it was voted unanimously by the members to seek formation of a rural department and secure the equipment necessary to afford adequate protection for the regions to be served" Hardee said.

While definite plans have not been completed it is hoped that the fire equipment will be housed at Greenville's central fire station and will be manned entirely by the volunteer firemen. The firemen would continue to provide fire fighting services for Greenville but would render their rural fire fighting strictly on a volunteer basis. Regular volunteers would be assigned to answer the rural area calls night and day. Detailed plans will be announced as soon as a complete survey is made of the region to be served.

"There is a very large number of valuable business firms located outside the Greenville city limits, around 50 in number, and an estimated 1500 homes," which have no fire protection at all. This does not include the vast number of tobacco barns and related farm property other than dwellings which are not included in this estimate," Hardee said.

"In the past few months there have been at least three homes which have been lost to fire because there was no fire equipment to battle the blaze. We know definitely that at least two of these homes could have been saved had we had a rural truck in service.

"Greenville was ordered a year ago by the fire underwriters which fix the city's insurance rates to stop fighting rural fires outside the city limits, or, the entire city's rates would be affected and increased.

"We did not wish to stop fighting rural fires but the city had no choice in the matter with the hold that the underwriters have on the insurance rates.

"It is hoped the vast gap that now exists in the immediate Greenville area can be filled by the purchase of the rural truck within a short period of time," Hardee said. Included in the area to be served are three tobacco warehouses, the Moose Lodge, Country Club, Elks Lodge, a motel, lumber mill and other large buildings included in the list of 50 business establishments.

"The people in the area which we will serve will be asked to help purchase the necessary equipment. We are now in the process of determining just how much money will be needed to buy the truck and related equipment and once this is determined the manner in which we hope to finance the equipment will be announced," Hardee stated.

"Similar rural departments in Pitt County have been set up on a membership basis which has proved successful. This would mean however that only those property owners helping to support the purchase of the equipment would receive service.

"The rural fire departments which are now operating in the Winterville, Ayden, Bethel, Grifton, Farmville, Fountain, Staton House and Grimesland sections have rendered a tremendous service to the areas they serve. These men have saved thousands of

Bridge Parties

GRIFTON—Mrs. W. M. Daws was guest of honor when Mesdames LeRoy Cherry, Wayne Branscome and Charlie Hardee entertained at bridge at the Cherry home on Cherbistal Drive in Forest Acres.

Eight tables were arranged for the games in the living room and dining area where seasonal decorations were used.

During the games iced drinks, candy and salted nuts were passed and later in the evening a congealed salad with iced tea was served.

Mrs. Daws was remembered with a gift of silver and bridge prizes went to Mesdames Charlie Butcher, J. H. Herring and Paul Fisher.

Other guests included Mesdames Gay Gnagey, Woodrow Smith, Cecil Cobb, Sam Nelson, G. L. Tucker, Bill DesVerges, Tom Gower, Milton Hart, Edwin Reeves, W. E. Rasberry, Don Casey, Joseph House, Jack Carson, Bill January, George Fuller, W. Richard Johnson, Frank Davis, William Stanley, Willie Paget, Ed Casey, Kenneth Waltenbaugh, Roger Johnson and Leon H. Lamb.

GRIFTON—The Thursday Contract Club was entertained by Mrs. Louise J. McCotter at a supper party last week at her home on the Greenville Highway.

Three tables were in play amid a setting of arrangements of red roses and bright-colored zinnias. A chicken salad plate followed by strawberry shortcake was served before the games.

Mrs. J. W. Short scored high. Mrs. Robert Mewborn second among club members, and Mrs. Clifton Jackson, high for visitors.

The other players were Mesdames Eleanor Gower, J. S. Chapman and house guest, Mrs. Trent Berry of Weeksville, H. P. Quinerly, Alton Chapman, L. L. Mewborn, W. I. Bissette, Misses Marie Chapman and Bert Johnson. Assiting Mrs. McCotter and a supper guest was Mrs. Helen Wade.

Mrs. Tucker Hostess

Mrs. G. L. Tucker was hostess last week at bridge at her home on Highland Drive, having guests for four tables. In the living room garden flowers were used as decorations.

A sandwich plate with cookies and iced tea were served as cards were laid aside. Scoring high for the evening were Mrs. Edward Hart, Mrs. Woodrow Smith and Mrs. W. L. Daws. They were remembered with gifts.

Completing the guest list were Mesdames Tom Gower, Robert Mewborn, Julius Chauncey, Ben G. Tucker, Walter Patrick, Clay Burney, Milton Hart, Roger Johnson, Kenneth Talton, Sam Nelson, W. E. Rasberry, Roy Jackson and Mark Phillips.

Contract Club

Mrs. Paul Bradley had as guests members of her contract club and other players for four tables of bridge. Bright colored marigolds in an antique blue pitcher and bouquets of petunias decorated the home. Lemon pie with iced tea was served at the dessert hour. Scoring high among the club members was Mrs. Walter Murphy and second high, Mrs. David Parker. The visitor's high went to Mrs. Leon H. Lamb and the consolation to Mrs. Wilbur Murphy.

Other players were Mesdames Frances Shackleford, Walter Mewborn, L. L. Mewborn, Joe Goolsby, M. C. Batten, Richard Whitt, J. W. Short, Clifton Jackson, Frank Davis, Conrad Hart, Miss Ruth E. Smith and Miss Bert Johnson.

Supper Party

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Branscome were hosts on Saturday night at a supper party at their home in Forest Acres. A turkey supper was served buffet style from tables covered with white linen cloths and lighted white candles in silver holders.

After the meal, bridge was played at four tables.

The players were Mr. and Mrs. Fray Schutte, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Spellman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cavanaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Gay Gnagey, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Reeves and the hosts.

Keep Screens Clean

Window screens are wonderful devices—when kept clean. If soil deposited by wind and storm is permitted to clog the fine mesh, protective screening will cut off the light and air so important to a comfortable and healthful home.

The remedy, of course, is to scrub screens often, using a brush and plenty of hot soap or detergent suds. Then rinse with a garden hose.

Sunday Bride, Bridesmaids Honored

Wednesday at the Country Club, Kinston, Mrs. Burwell Temple, aunt of the bride, entertained for Miss Jane Marshall Perkins and her bridesmaids and attendants at a luncheon.

Miss Perkins, wearing a brown and white dress, was presented a corsage of white Fuji mums.

Guests were served tomato juice cocktails in the main lounge.

The main table was covered with a white linen cloth centered with an arrangement of white mums and gladioli in a silver bowl.

Places were marked with placecards decorated with small pink flowers with miniature rice bags of pink nylon net.

Miss Perkins presented each attendant a gift. Mrs. Temple gave Miss Perkins an electric toaster.

Half-Moon Pie With Fresh Pears

You might describe this Amish Half-Moon Pie as a man-size turnover, wholesome as a Pennsylvania countryside. It is filled with fresh California Bartlett pears and cottage cheese.

Amish Half-Moon Pie

There's a trick to rolling out this mammoth turnover, but the reward in praise is well worth the trouble. Make up pastry for a double crust 9-inch pie. Chill thoroughly. Now core and slice 4 medium-sized fresh California Bartletts. Mix with ¾ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, the rind and juice of ½ lemon and a dash of salt. Lightly stir in ½ pint creamed cottage cheese. If you like a spicy pie, sprinkle with cinnamon and nutmeg.

To Roll Out Pastry

Put a large sheet of waxed paper under a cookie sheet, extending about 12 inches beyond the sheet. Sprinkle with flour. Now roll out pastry in one big circle, half on the cookie sheet and half on the waxed paper. Top the cookie sheet half with the pear mixture; dot with butter or margarine and carefully fold over other half (use corners of waxed paper to pull pastry over). Crimp edges. Prick to allow steam to escape. Bake in hot oven (425°) 40 to 45 minutes or until crust is golden.

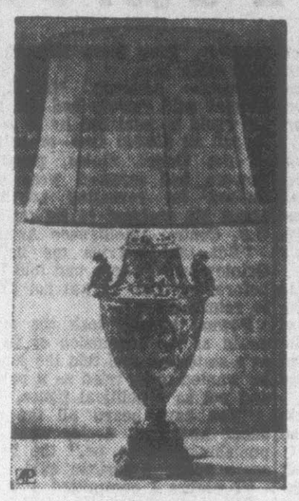
RARE EXAMPLES of American craftsmanship of the 18th and early 19th Century have made their way to the diplomatic reception room of the executive mansion.

A project of the National Society of Interior Designers who assembled the antique furniture, the gift was presented by Michael Greer as president of the group to President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

The gifts included a set of eight Georgian wall lights of brass and crystal with hurricane shades, American Hepplewhite sofa, wing chairs, arm chairs, tables in American Hepplewhite, Sheraton styles, and several pieces attributed to Duncan Phyfe. Fireplace accessories are in classic style, and the bronze clock that graces the mantel once was owned by George Washington.



CHINESE ORIENTAL LAMP . . . One of a pair of urn shaped vases with chinoiserie figures for decorations in blues, greens, and famille rose, it is among the antique furnishings now in the diplomatic reception room of the White House.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower expressed delight with the gifts made possible by contributions of members of the society. The only change made in the setting arranged by the group was in the arrangement of chairs. Mrs. Eisenhower suggested that since she and the President were photographed frequently at the fireplace, two instead of four chairs would make better placement.

GEORGE WASHINGTON CLOCK . . . A new addition to the White House, it was once owned by the First President. It was made in Paris (circa 1800), bears the inscription "First In War, First in Peace, First In the Hearts of His Countrymen."

Notes On The Passing Scene

Daws Given Informal Supper

GRIFTON—On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Don Casey, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Rasberry were hosts at an informal supper at the Casey home on Queen Street. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Daws and their sons, Bill and Clint.

Garden flowers were used as decoration for the occasion. A delectable fried chicken supper was served and for dessert, watermelon.

Mr. and Mrs. Daws, who plan to reside in Roanoke Rapids, were given a white urn.

Since sofa cushions get a lot of wear, it's wise to choose those with removable, washable covers. You can find such cushions in wonderful accent colors in quilted acetate, corduroy, or plastic — all of which just take naturally to soap or detergent suds and water.

Six-Day Orientation Is Set For Newcomers At College

A six-day program of events has been set up for freshmen students entering East Carolina College for the 1960-61 term which opens Thursday, September 1.

Freshmen and transfer students assemble in Wright auditorium at 1 p.m. that date for their first meeting with college officials, with the welcome address from President Leo W. Jenkins and instructions about orientation activities from Dean Robert L. Holt. Departmental conferences follow with faculty members from 2 to 5:30 p.m.

A movie in Austin auditorium on Thursday evening will be shown for those students not involved in the testing program.

On Friday, Sept. 2, placement testing programs will be conducted by Dr. Frank Scott in Wright Auditorium, the men students taking the tests in the morning and the women students taking tests in the afternoon. Throughout the day, pictures for identification cards will be taken, and other registration activities held.

An assembly in Austin auditorium on Friday evening, with the Rev. D. D. Gross, director of religious activities, presiding, will introduce students to ministers of Greenville churches and church groups will welcome them to the community. An open house in the "Y" Hut, sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA, follows this meeting.

College Life

With Dr. James H. Tucker, dean of students, presiding, a student assembly in Wright auditorium on Saturday, Sept. 3, will introduce newcomers to college life, with the following representatives speaking: Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, college athletics; Dr. Robert Rickert, college dramatics; Tom Jackson, editor of The East Carolinian, college newspaper; Buddy Kilpatrick, editor of "The Buccaneer," college yearbook; Roy Martin, editor of "The Rebel," college literary magazine; Miss Rosalind Roulston and Dr. Corinne Rickert, radio and television; Miss Dorothy Smith, the college union.

Student relatronships to various administration officials will be discussed also. Speakers will be Dr. John H. Horne, registrar; Dr. C. F. Irons, college physician; James H. Speight, president of student government association; Miss Ruth White, dean of women; James B. Mallory, dean of men; the Rev. D. D. Gross, campus religious activities.

Lt. Col. Norman F. Merritt, Jr., will meet with men students to present the Air Force ROTC program, following the general assembly. Women students meet with Dean White and dormitory counselors in Austin auditorium and the men with Dean Mallory in Wright auditorium in the afternoon, preceding a watermelon cutting on the mall and a series of 16 departmental receptions in the evening.

During Sunday, beginning at 2 p.m., a tour starting at the library will be conducted for all freshmen and their parents, followed by a musical program in the Sylvan Theatre at 3 p.m. and a reception at the home of President and Mrs. Jenkins at 4 p.m. Many Greenville churches will hold dinners and welcome affairs for students Sunday evening at 6 o'clock.

Registration actually gets under way Monday, Sept. 5, in Wright auditorium. From 8 a.m. until 4 p.m., there is a round of related activities in Austin auditorium and in the library. Women students register during the morning and men students register in the afternoon.

During the registration of upper classmen on Tuesday, freshmen will complete the orientation schedule in a series of conferences in Rawl building. The registration will note the enrollment of a record-breaking freshman class, advance applications indicate.

General Decker Chosen Army Chief Of Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. George Henry Decker, a on-West Pointer with a solid background in military high finance, has been nominated as chief of staff of the Army.

President Eisenhower announced his selection late Thursday.

Decker, 58, now the Army vice chief of staff, would succeed Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer. When Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining retires later this year, Lemnitzer is slated to succeed him as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Decker was the Army's budget officer from 1950 to 1952 and its comptroller from 1952 to 1955. He received a degree in economics from Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., in 1924.

Only six other generals who were not West Point graduates reached the top of the Army command. The latest was Gen. George C. Marshall who was Army chief of staff during World War II.

Decker saw no service outside the United States or Hawaii until 1943 when he went to New Guinea to become deputy chief and later chief of staff of the 6th Army under Gen. Walter Krueger. The 6th Army was the major field command through which Gen. Douglas MacArthur operated from Australia back to the Philippines in World War II.

In addition to his finance posts since World War II, Decker served as a division and corps commander and as deputy commander of U.S. and U.N. forces in Korea after the cease-fire. He has been vice chief of staff for 13 months.

His decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal, Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and Distinguished Service Star of the Philippines.

He is rated as a good golfer and likes to bowl and hunt. For indoor pastimes, he enjoys stamp collecting and chess.

Decker was born Feb. 16, 1902, at Catskills, N.Y. He is an Episcopalian.

The general and his wife have a daughter, Jane, and a son, James I. Decker.

Carrier For Satellite Explodes After Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Disappointed space scientists will try again soon to orbit a Courier military communications satellite.

The first effort ended 2½ minutes after launch when the Thor-Able-Star carrier rocket exploded in a tremendous flash of fire and smoke Thursday.

The blowup occurred at an altitude of about 15 miles, sending the 500-pound payload and flaming wreckage of the rocket spiraling into the Atlantic several miles offshore.

The 51-inch spherical satellite, called Courier 1A, was designed to be capable of both receiving and transmitting 68,000 words a minute as it spun over a ground station. It was to be the forerunner of a global communications network for all United States military forces.

The Defense Department said the explosion resulted from premature shutoff of the first stage Thor engine.

Project officials are studying telemetry tape in an effort to learn what caused the cutoff to occur about 30 seconds too soon. They were puzzled by the failure of the Thor rocket, the booster for 16 of 24 earth satellites and one of two sun satellites launched successfully by the United States in recent months.

One minute before the ill-fated Courier launching, another Thor successfully hurled the Discoverer XIV satellite into orbit from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Officials declined to say how much the failure will delay the Courier program—whose goal is a space-age military communications satellite system by 1964. They said the experiment will be repeated, probably within a few weeks.

In other missile activity, a 47-foot Bomarc-A defense missile launched by remote control intercepted and destroyed a giant drone bomber 172 miles out over the Gulf of Mexico.

The QB47 converted stratojet bomber was knocked from the skies at an altitude of 35,000 feet while making a simulated bombing run toward the northwest Florida coast at 500 miles an hour.

The Air Force said the objective of the test—the 18th success in the last 19 attempts for the Bomarc-A—was to check the performance of recent modifications to the ground-to-air missile's target seeker system.

Dachau Priest Dies In Wreck

DACHAU, Germany (AP)—Father Leonard Roth, Roman Catholic priest who comforted many thousands tortured in the Nazi Dachau concentration camp, died in a mountain accident in Vorarlberg, Austria, Aug. 15, friends said Thursday. He was 52.

Details of the death were not immediately known here.

Father Roth was imprisoned by the Nazis in 1941. As camp priest he not only gave spiritual comfort to Catholics but to many other prisoners.

Fremont Pastor To Preach Here Sunday

Guest preacher for Sunday morning at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church will be Rev. J. Herbert Waldrop Jr., pastor of Fremont Methodist Church, and a native of Greenville and a son of Jarvis Memorial Church.

Waldrop received his education in the Greenville schools, Davidson and High Point Colleges and the Duke Divinity School. He has served Newport Methodist Church, where he led in building a church, as assistant pastor of Wesley Memorial Church of High Point, and Grace Church, Clinton. In June he was transferred to Fremont.

Mrs. Waldrop, who has served the local church as director of Christian education, will be guest soloist and sing the "Ninety-First Psalm" by MacDermid.

Fourteen persons from this church attended the Methodist Youth Rally at Duke University on Friday. Transportation was provided by Charles Taft, Jake Hadley and Rev. H. M. McLamb.

Free Haircut Offer Is Ending

GLASSBORO, N.J. (AP) — At the start of World War II George Amico, 47, a barber, was rejected for military service.

Amico wanted to make some kind of contribution so he decided he would give free haircuts to any youths entering the armed forces from Glassboro as long as they wore a uniform.

One of those called up in 1941 was Robert C. Bobb, now a major living in Tacoma, Wash. Every time Bobb visited his family here he dropped in Amico's barber shop and claimed his free haircut.

Bobb will retire Jan. 1. He is the last of the youths from Glassboro during World War II to doff his uniform.

Castle Crumbles, Youth Is Crushed

STAFFORD, England (AP) — Stafford Castle, one of Britain's ancient monuments, began crumbling Tuesday night and crushed an 18-year-old boy under hundreds of tons of masonry and rotting timbers.

Firemen and police recovered the body of Sidney Pickering from the ruins of the castle, which has been unoccupied for years.

There are 1,268 city-owned parks in New York City.

Auditor Reports Ayden In 'Excellent Condition'

AYDEN—A recent audit of the town of Ayden for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1960, showed that $9,884.69 remains uncollected from prior years' taxes.

Luther Ausbon, certified public accountant of Williams and Wall, Raleigh, said the financial condition of the town was in "excellent" condition. He presented a report on the audit during a recent town board meeting, revealing the following figures.

Regarding the taxes, Ausbon said that 82.48 percent of the 1959 tax levy was collected as of June 30. A major portion of the uncollected taxes $9,884.69 of prior years, will be in by the next audit Ausbon said, with the new collection system now in effect.

Concerning the operation of the utilities, Ausbon said the Water and Light Dept. had turned over to the General Fund the sum of $67,166.52 after paying all its own expenses, including street lighting and providing for $29,223.36 in Capital Improvements in that department.

Other figures included the bonded debt of the town as of June 30, 1960, which amounted to $258,000, representing $15,000 principal and $12,525 interest having been paid during the period under audit.

Other capital improvements made during the period 1959-60 were: town hall, $5,956.52; sewer system, $1,608.86; streets, $30,768.38; street equipment, $11,330.62; playground, $1,243.07; and miscellaneous property, $400.

Not Welcome In Washing Machine

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Whirley is a furry black and white intruder who sleeps in washing machines.

"He was asleep in my machine," said Ora B. Greenwalt, "but he woke up and looked at me. I left."

Mrs. Kenneth Phelps, a neighbor, had a similar experience Tuesday. Mrs. Phelps left Whirley alone and he woke up and went away.

Thursday Mrs. Greenwalt called Sheriff's Lt. Joe Stables and told him her problem.

"Mrs. Greenwalt," said Stables, "we think we know this skunk.

"I'd suggest you leave him alone and he'll go away."

Mrs. Greenwalt took his advice.

James L. Mills Dies Of Heart Attack

KINSTON—Mr. James Lloyd Mills of Kinston died suddenly Wednesday night of a heart attack.

He was the husband of Mrs. Ruby Stocks Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stocks of Greenville, who was visiting her sister in Battle Creek, Mich., at the time of her husband's death.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Surviving in addition to his wife are three daughters, Scarlet, Charlotte and Linda, all of the home.

Balloon Satellite Getting Wobbly

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The American satellite Echo I may be losing its shape and getting wobbly.

Observer teams at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory said they detected the wobble in the motion of the satellite Thursday night.

They said it could mean the 10-story high, paper-thin balloon communication satellite may have suffered a puncture or other mishap causing it to deflate or lose shape.

The balloon was launched a week ago.

Street-Crossing Work Completed

AYDEN—Street crossings across the Atlantic Coastline Railroad at First and Sixth Streets here have been paved and completed, Town Manager Cleveland Paylor said yesterday.

The crossings were completed as of Thursday morning and the streets are now open to traffic.

Mother Of Local Woman Dies In N.Y.

TARBORO—Mrs. Isabelle Ayers Oakley died in Rochester, N. Y., Wednesday after an extended illness. Mrs. Oakley was the daughter of the late Maude and Will Ayers and was born in Martin County.

She spent most of her life in Martin and Edgecombe Counties.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Ed Pittman and Mrs. Joseph Pierce of Tarboro, Mrs. James A. Davis of Greenville and Mrs. Maude LeBlanc of Rochester, N. Y.; two sons, Alec Knox of Honeoye Falls, N. Y.; and Calvin Knox of Alma, Mich.; 12 grandchildren; four brothers, Walter Ayers of Bethel, Heber Ayers of Hampton, Va., John W. Ayers of Tarboro and Charlie Ayers; one sister, Mrs. Bertha Daniels of Bethel.

Funeral services will be held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pittman in Tarboro, Sunday at 3 p.m conducted by the Rev. Richard Andrews, Presbyterian minister of Tarboro. Interment will follow in Robersonville Cemetery.

Pay Increase Impression Remains

The ruling of Attorney General Wade Bruton notwithstanding, most Tar Heels, we believe, have been under the impression that the contingent five per cent pay boost promised North Carolina's teachers by the 1959 legislature, was intended to be a pay increase rather than a one-time bonus.

It is true that the increase was made contingent on the fact that the condition of the state's budget at year-end put the state in a position to pay the additional five per cent. It is also true that the legislature indicated its desire to provide the teachers with a permanent five per cent pay increase, but declined to do so in establishing the budget because of the demands of the administration that no new taxes be levied during the current biennium.

It would be foolish indeed for North Carolina to take the position that after this biennium the five per cent pay boost will not be provided the teachers of the state. It would also be foolish for the state, in determining what is necessary to maintain state services at their present level, to ignore the fact that teachers have in fact been granted a five per cent pay boost for the school year immediately past.

The question of whether the increased compensation school teachers have received was a bonus or a raise is important to the Advisory Budget Commission in determining what is needed to keep state services at their present level. From a realistic standpoint, the Commission cannot ignore the pay increase in projecting state expenditures for the next biennium. It is a fact that the teachers will be paid the additional five per cent for this year. If state services are to be maintained at their present level in the future, the extra five per cent likewise will have to be paid to our teachers.

In view of the fact that the conditions upon which the legislature predicted the pay increase for teachers have been met, the extra five per cent has become a part of the salary structure of teachers throughout North Carolina. The fact that this five per cent boost has become a part of the teacher salary structure for North Carolina during this biennium demanded that it be considered in projecting the overall cost of maintaining state services at their present level.

We do not challenge the legal aspects of the ruling on the question by the state's attorney general. But if the Advisory Budget Commission chooses to follow his ruling, that Commission will convey to the 1961 General Assembly an inaccurate picture of what is needed to continue state services at the level they have been during this biennium.

Excellent Choice For Campaign Leadership

Among other things, the appointment of Gov. Hodges as chairman of the committee of business and professional men and women for Kennedy and Johnson raises speculation that Gov. Hodges may be in line for a cabinet post if the Democrats win in November.

The naming of Gov. Hodges as chairman of one of the key committees in the campaign organization of the Democratic national ticket also adds to the prestige of North Carolina as a politically important state, it gives further recognition to the capabilities of Gov. Hodges, and it affords the South another close tie with the forthcoming Democratic campaign.

During his years as chief executive of North Carolina, Gov. Hodges has become known as the businessman-governor of this progressive state. His policies—particularly the emphasis he has placed upon attracting industry and creating in North Carolina a climate favorable to industrial development—has attracted considerable attention in both business and political circles throughout the nation.

Here again in planning the campaign for the Democratic ticket, Sen. Kennedy has made an excellent choice in selecting Gov. Hodges to head his committee of business and professional men and women. Kennedy would also be making an excellent choice for his administration and the nation if, after a successful campaign, he includes Gov. Hodges in his cabinet.

Improving The Prisons System

By LYNN NISBET

PROGRAM—George W. Randall, director of state prisons, outlined to the Advisory Budget Commission this week a program of modernization and expansion of facilities for the prison system. The entire project will require capital investment of $3,600,942. Unexpended capital funds available amount to $355,387; funds due from prison enterprises, $321,222; funds anticipated from sale of property, $630,000. The balance, amounting to $1,594,333 is requested as capital improvement appropriation from the general fund.

The program contemplates a complete overhauling of the classification and assignment policy, which will require new housing for 400 minimum custody prisoners, enlargement and renovation of half a dozen division camps, and abandonment of nine camps which are in bad repair. The controversial Camp Polk Farm will be converted into a Vocational training center for youthful offenders. An alcoholic center is included.

It is estimated that savings in operation costs will aggregate $368,000 a year after the changes are made. Concentration of youthful offenders, now scattered in seven camps over the state into one central point will result in savings of $50,000 a year—as well as being a fairly acceptable answer to the program of Camp Polk. The boys would work half a day and go to school half a day under the revised plan. The only schooling they get now is on week ends.

Camp Polk land is valued at $842,000. Buildings are separately valued at $700,000 for certain uses, no value at all if to be removed. The $630,000 anticipated from sale of property will come from land taken by the highway commission for the Raleigh belt line, and sale of part of the farm acreage.

WORK—One of the biggest jobs facing prison administration is to find work for the prisoners. About hal f the present population of 11,000 are assigned to highways. The highway commission does not want them, and claims that roads can be built and maintained more economically by free labor and machinery.

An important phase of operations is Prison Enterprises division, which affords employment for nearly 2,000 persons. Besides operating a print shop, a license tag shop, furniture making and repairing, sewing, and other services, Prison Enterprises make paint, soap, disinfectants, insecticides and other products for State and local government agencies. The products go out under the brand name of "TARSTIN, Quality Products." That is a coined word suggested by Director Randal several years ago when he was making a survey of industrial possibilities. It is derived from "Tarheel State Industries."

In addition to the highway and enterprises workers, some 150 honor graders work at State office buildings and grounds in Raleigh. The problem of finding work for prisoners is doubly perplexing. It is necessary to keep them employed, both for disciplinary reasons and to relieve the burden on taxpayers of maintaining them. And there are not many jobs they can do that do not compete directly or indirectly with free labor.

Sen. Joe Eagles of the budget groups is not greatly concerned about this competitive phase, so long as prison made goods are sold and used only by tax supported agencies. He is fearful of long range results of taking prisoners off the roads. That is traditional employment for convicts, he says, the occasions no popular resentment. If, however, that field is abandoned and taken over by private contractors, it will be difficult if not impossible to recapture it.

SHORT TERMERS—The situation is further complicated by the fact that a very large percentage of the prisoners are short termers—30 days up. By the time they are classified upon admittance they are ready to be processed for release. Very little training can be given and little return from productive labor can be expected.

The revised classification policy recently approved by the prison commission calls for placing prisoners in camps where all inmates will be of essentially the same type. Four main divisions are contemplated — minimum, medium, close and maximum custody. This group separation will reduce the number of guards required and make it easier to assign to working jobs.

NOT SOFT—The prison folks insist that their new policy of better classification, more attention to training and rehabilitation, is not "soft." Rather, it is good common sense to train prisoners to do good work while serving their terms, be able to get jobs when released, and to help locate them in suitable positions on the outside. That tends to reduce the number of repeaters, thereby saving money. Fitting them for productive work outside will result in enhanced income, meaning profit at both ends.

Powers Trial Is Now Anticlimax

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trouble with the spy trial of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers in Moscow is that it is an anticlimax. Now, even though it's getting world attention, the edge is off.

The climax came in a few wild and woolly days last May when Premier Nikita Khrushchev trapped the State Department into denying and then admitting Powers was on a spy flight, then proceeded to wreck the summit conference and insult President Eisenhower.

By then the major facts of the case were known. Powers himself apparently had told the Russians all about his mission, and the State Department confirmed it. There was little left for him then but to plead guilty.

Thus long before Power's trial began Wednesday there was no surprise left except one — what kind of sentence the Russians will hand him.

By the time the trial started Powers had become—as he was all along—a very minor figure in the over-all power struggle between the United States and Russia.

The real aim of the Russians in bringing him to trial at all was to try not him but his government. The questions asked him Wednesday, and the answers he gave, made this plain enough.

The Russians so maneuvered the questioning that he appeared not as some sinister figure peering down on Russia from 65,000 feet up but a kind of mechanical man who was simply carrying out orders when he crossed the Soviet frontier.

Eisenhower at his news conference Wednesday indignantly rejected the idea that the American government is on trial in Moscow. But such a rejection has nothing to do with the reality of the situation.

Powers himself, under Russian questioning, represented himself as a young man who had no choice but to do what he was told, although he said he had no stomach for spying at all.

Thus the Russians built up their case against the American government for sending Powers over Russia. Powers himself was pictured as a young man from a poor background who happened to land a well-paying job: $30,000 a year.

The Moscow radio was depicting him as a tool of the U. S. moneyed interests.

In the very course of trying Powers the Russians, besides making anti-American propaganda world-wide, were also trying to create good propaganda for themselves by the way they handled the flier.

Preston Grover, Associated Press reporter covering the trial, said of the way Powers was being handled by the prosecutor: "Spectators who have watched American courts could hardly consider it a brow-beating type."

This is in contrast to the recollection the rest of the world has about Soviet justice, at least as it used to be. The purge trials of fellow Russians by Stalin in the 1930s were among the most in-famous in history.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

TWO LITTLE BOYS AT HOME

In 1870 a young man was made president of a church-related college in the midwest. He instituted a number of reforms, and, among other things, greatly encouraged the courses offered in science.

The bishop, whose duty it was to supervise this and other church-related colleges, came to make an inspection one day and was greatly annoyed to find the newly added scientific courses. "Don't you understand," he asked the young president, "that church-related colleges exist for the purpose of training ministers? Scientific courses are worldly and materialistic and have no place in the training of a minister. And have no place in the training of furtnermore," he continued, "can you think of anything which has not already been invented which might still be invented?" (Remember this was the year 1870).

"Yes," replied the young college president with spirit. "I believe men will some day fly."

"Flying is for the holy angels and for the birds," replied the bishop, "and not for men." Then looking searchingly at the young college president, he said, "Young man, by harboring such ideas, you are jeopardizing the salvation of your soul."

The bishop's name was Wright and at that moment he had two little boys at home, one named Wilbur and the other Orville.

Sentiment Is Involved

Birthday cards ARE nice. We know a young man who received a birthday card from his wife, who wasn't in the fair city on the special day. It arrived with the postage due.

And, of course, he had to pay to get the sentiment.

But at least that was one from his wife.

We have been the unfortunate victim of one of those advertising houses which obtains a name—we ate somewhere in the country once — and ever since then, nigh onto about eight years, we have yearly received the advertisement - birthday card.

Since we have moved several times in recent years, the cards do some traveling around. Finally reached us this year, and before we realized what had happened, a friend paid the accumulated postage. This could go on forever. It does get a little exasperating, to say the least.

---

Speaking of sentiment, there's a case in which no sentiment seems to be involved. Want to know what happens to old beauty queen pictures?

This newspaper received a picture and story on a beauty queen some months ago. The story was discarded, as the queen was from another city, but the picture remained to haunt admiring glances. Then it disappeared for awhile during the state beauty pageant. Now it has reappeared.

Reappeared and passed from hand to hand, all of which don't want it. It even landed in the wastebasket and that was almost the last of it—except that somebody pulled it out. Then it was discarded upon a shelf.

People are disinterested, but the picture won't go away.

And here is another item, seemingly devoid of sentiment. But with undue consequences.

Being that this is a tobacco conscious community, and knowing that some people are totally dependent on their tobacco for a living, it seems that people are more reverent to salvaging that tobacco. Several new fire stations have sprung up which must have saved thousands of dollars this year alone.

With all these ideas in mind, we happened to be out in the country last Saturday when the group of us noticed smoke coming from under the roof of a tobacco barn. No flames. It continued while we rowed around a small pond, reached the shore, got out and packed ourselves into the car. Still smoke, no flames.

We motored up the path to the road and finally into view of the smoking barn, to which both races were running. We went about a half mile to a small place and stopped to inquire about calling a fire truck. The ownver of the place said he was sure a firetruck had been called. Since we had watched the fire from the very first and had seen no truck, we insisted that a fire department be called—and our friend insisted he knew someone had already called.

All with the net result that several days later, Fire Chief Ed Hemingway of the Staton-House Fire Dept., about five or six miles from that particular fire, had answered the call—but had he gotten it even a few minutes earlier than he had, the department probably could have saved some of the destroyed barn and tobacco. Which leads us to believe nobody had been called. . .and that fire departments can't do much good if people don't care enough to call them.

Other Editors Saying Thus Far And No Farther

(Henderson Dispatch)

Reports out of Cuba are that the Communist Castro brothers are preparing to demand that the United States abandon its big naval base at Guantanamo. It would be part of the crusade of hate against the American people, aided and abetted by Soviet Russia.

It is inconceivable that this country would wilt in the face of such a demand. Not only should the naval base not be abandoned, but it should be strengthened both as to personnel and fortifications. The Castro team must be laughing up the sleeve in utmost glee over confiscation of American private property in Cuba, under circumstances in which no official reaction has followed here other than curtailment of sugar purchases and subsidies paid for the portion of the Cuban crop taken by the United States.

All around the world there is a concerted movement, apparently under Communist sponsorship, to drive the big powers out of all possessions they hold. The Belgian Congo is an example, French Algeria is another, Cyprus a third, and now Cuba, to say nothing of agitation in Panama for the United States to surrender the Panama Canal, where it has spent hundreds of millions of dollars for developments.

The United States would be stupid in the extreme to retreat and appease in all these instances. What it has in other lands is held by legal treaty and has been for decades. These installations and facilities have contributed to economic development of all nations and to preservation of the peace. It would be exceedingly dangerous to abandon these stations.

African peoples who have been demanding and in some instances are getting their independence have already demonstrated their unfitness for the responsibility of government. Unrest, chaos and even violence on a large scale have followed the retreat of the great powers. However just the cause, the record of history, both at present and in the past, is that these advances, if they are to succeed, must come gradually and not overnight. Adequate leadership is essential for freedom anywhere in the world, and until that is available it will be impossible to establish stable government, a thing which is being repeatedly demonstrated in many places.

The United States cannot afford to abandon the Guantanamo naval base nor the Panama Canal. Demands for such a surrender by this country should be met with a firm refusal. Policy of the American government should be one of "thus far and no father."

Only in that manner can peace and security be assured in the troubled world of our time.

Quote . . .

"Most of us can remember the initial birth of the March of Dimes crusade. We can remember the dimes and dollars contributed voluntarily by citizens from all walks of ife. This was how polio was beaten. There were no extensive government bureaus, no red tape and no health benefit taxes. Is socialized medicine the only answer to our problems as some would have us believe?" — Alma (Mich.) Record.

Reds Aim At Youth

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Just as at another period, the Communist Party of the United States devoted itself to infiltrating the Negro population, so, for 1960, the program is youth. The Communist Party, which went underground during the early years of the Cold War and Peaceful Competitive Co-Existence, is now coming out into the open again.

For September 1960, the program calls for the publication of "New Horizons" by Youth Publications, Inc. Early in 1960, Mortimer Daniel (Danny) Rubin of Philadelphia, was appointed National Youth Director of the Communist Party, USA. He is a member of the National Committee of the Communist Party. He is a Fifth Amendment witness before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee (October 30, 1959).

On March 23, 1960, Danny Rubin, in his position as National Youth Director of the Communist Party, USA, reportedly addressed a pre-National Committee meeting of the Party in Chicago, Illinois, that he had three main points to bring before the National Committee meeting of the Communist Party, USA, which was scheduled to be held March 25-27, 1960. Rubin stressed as his most immediate point the possible formation of a national youth publication, issued monthly. Rubin expressed the opinion that the Republication should be a broad socialist-type publication which would appeal to social-minded youth. He announced that the main purpose of the publication would be to promote an exchange of the socialist ideas among youth and that a committee would be set up to run the paper.

This same Danny Rubin, in May 1960, in the role of editor of "New Horizons," made available a mimeographed prospectus of the new publication. He announced that there would be a subscription drive during this summer.

In the preliminary appeal for subscriptions nothing is said about Danny Rubin being the National Youth Director of the Communist Party, USA and simultaneously editor of "New Horizons." Also nothing is said of the plan for this publication having been first presented to the National Committee of the Party. I have a "List of Specific Suggestions," telling how to sell subscriptions:

"1. Go to progressive summer resorts and ask if you may collect subs and or funds for 'New Horizons.' After getting approval, organize the canvassing.

"2. Plan social events, summer picnics and educational events to raise money and collect subs. Members of the 'New Horizons' staff will be available for such gatherings."

The word, progressive, as sued here, means Communist or fellow traveller.

In another document marked "To Be Prepared as an Attractive Printed Folder" appears the following:

"Designed to illuminate the great events stirring the American youth, 'New Horizons' will stand on the following program:

"1. Peaceful coexistence with all nations, socialist and other; disarmament; an end to the draft and compulsory ROTC.

"2. Integration in schools, eating places, shops and everywhere now! An end to cancerous racism.

"3. A vast job-training and job program; a steep increase in the nation's school, housing, recreation and health programs, utilizing funds released by disarmament.

"4. Expansion of democracy, youthful inquiry, and academic freedom by eliminating McCarthyism, past and present, from our national life and by the firm defense of the Bills of Rights.

"5. Examination and advancement of the democratic, labor and socialist traditions and aspirations of the American people, especially of its younger generation.

"6. Instead of the false answers of cynicism and demoralization, ideals of service to society and confidence in a brighter future, exemplified by the heroic actions of Negro students in the sit-in movement."

A Communist Party report reads:

A Leveling Off Of Retail Sales

By ELMER ROESSNER

After showing moderate gains in the first half of this year, retail sales show signs of leveling off.

Total retail sales in the first half of this year were 3 per cent above sales in the first half of 1959, according to Commerce Department reports. But sales in July were not quite up to sales in July, 1959.

August figures will not be available for a month, but the Federal Reserve figures for department store sales for the week ended August 6 were 2 per cent below the corresponding week last year. Department store sales roughly parallel total retail sales.

Sales of durables dropped from 6,419,000 in July a year ago to 5,928,000 this July Sales of nondurable goods stores rose to $12,330,000 from $11,913,000.

Here is a comparison of preliminary figures for July, 1960, and final figures for July, 1959, by groups of stores and in millions:

| | 1960 | 1959 |
|---|---|---|
| Food | $4,782 | $4,481 |
| Eating and drinking places | 1,462 | 3,999 |
| General Merchandise | 1,698 | 1,701 |
| Apparel | 953 | 925 |
| Furniture and appliances | 867 | 916 |
| Lumber, building, hardware and farm equipment | 1,379 | 1,465 |
| Automotive group | 3.185 | 3,579 |
| Service stations | 1,605 | 1,516 |
| Drug and proprietary | 606 | 579 |

These figures do not add up to the total because many small groups are omitted.

In the comparison between the first half of this and last year, three categories showed gains of 9 per cent; restaurants, cafeterias and lunchrooms; mail-order houses handling department store merchandise, and shoe stores.

BUTCHERS GAINED MOST

Other gains: 8 per cent: meat markets; 7 per cent: drug and proprietary stores; 6 per cent: gasoline service stations; 5 per cent, apparel stores; 4 per cent: grocery stores, variety stores, department stores, hardware stores; 3 per cent; family clothing stores, auto accessory stores; 2 per cent; passenger car dealers; 1 per cent: drinking places, household appliance and electronics stores.

Those showing losses were: lumberyards, down 6 per cent, all building materials dealers, down 4 per cent, and bakeries, down 1 per cent.

Comparisons are not available for all groups. There are many minor factors involved: some increases are due largely to higher prices; some decreases are laid to unfavorable weather. The automotive decline is due as much to the lower average prices, due to the increase in compacts, as well as to a moderate decline in units.

Notwithstanding, the figures show that while consumers spent a little more in the first six months of the year, their total spending leveled off in July.

HAS YOUR SECRETARY HER OWN BUSINESS?

Your correspondent has received what seems to be a charming bit of piggy-back advertising. In the mails came an offer of 100 gallons of fuel oil free if he signed a three-year contract. Stapled to it was the card of a young woman with the note, hand-written, "If you are interested in selling your house, contact me."

ONLY FLOWERS SQUEEZE THROUGH ELECTRICAL WIRES

Flowers-by-wire orders topped $65,000,000 for the first time last year, the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association reports. Gifts-by-wire and liquor-by-wire services have been offered by other enterprisers, without notable success.

Isaiah Renounces Social Evils

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Isaiah 5:1-24.

A man planted a vineyard in fruitful soil. "He fenced it . . . and built a tower in the midst of it, and also built a winepress therein . . . and it brought forth wild grapes.—Isaiah 5:1-2.

"Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink. . . . And the harp, and the viol, the tabret, and pipe, and wine, are in their feasts."—Isaiah 5:11-12.

"Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness. . . . Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men . . . to take strong drink."—Isaiah 5:20-22.

"Their blossom shall go up as dust: because they have cast away the law of the Lord of Hosts, and despised the word of the Holy One of Israel."—Isaiah 5:24.

MEMORY VERSE—Isaiah 5:16.

Isaiah Denounces Social Evils

THE AMAZING SINFULNESS OF ISRAEL IN SPITE OF THE ABUNDANT LOVE THAT THE LORD HAD DISPLAYED TOWARD HER

Scripture—Isaiah 5:1-24.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AS JESUS CHRIST did many years later, Isaiah begins today's lesson with a parable.

"My well beloved hath a vineyard in a very fruitful hill; And he fenced it, and gathered out the stones thereof, and planted it with the choicest vine, and built a tower in the midst of it, and also made a winepress therein: and he looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes."—Isaiah 5:1-2.

So disappointed was the man who planted the vineyard that he said that he would "take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten up; and break down the wall thereof, and it shall be trodden down. And I will lay it waste: it shall not be pruned, nor digged; but there shall come up briers and thorns: I will also command the clouds that they rain no rain upon it."—Isaiah 5:6.

"Therefore hath hell enlarged herself, and opened her mouth without measure: and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth, shall descend into it."—Isaiah 5:14.

"And the mean man shall be brought down, and the mighty man shall be humbled; and the eyes of the lofty shall be humbled: but the Lord of Hosts shall be exalted in judgment, and God that is holy shall be sanctified in righteousness."—Isaiah 5:15-16.

"Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil: that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter . . . Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink: which justify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him!"—Isaiah 5:20-23.

"Therefore as the fire devoureth the stubble, and the flame consumeth the chaff, so their root shall be as rottenness, and their blossom go up as dust; because they have cast away the law of the Lord of Hosts, and despised the word of the Holy One of Israel."—Isaiah 5:24.

As statistics show in our country that crime rates are rising, many committed by young people, what we call "social drinking" should be discouraged in homes or elsewhere. In the homes, schools, churches and organizations "there is a tremendous job to be done in the years ahead," to cite the Rev. Wilbur M. Smith in his Peloubet's Notes. Let us all help in this good work and pray God to help us stamp out the evils.

MEMORY VERSE

"The Lord of Hosts shall be exalted in judgment, and God that is holy shall be sanctified in righteousness."—Isaiah 5:16.

"For the vineyard of the Lord of Hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah His pleasant plant: and He looked for judgment, but behold oppression; for righteousness, but behold a cry."—Isaiah 5:7.

"Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night till wine inflame them! And the harp, and the viol, the tabret, and pipe, and wine, are in their feasts; but they regard not the work of the Lord, neither consider the creation of his hands."—Isaiah 5:11-12.

"Therefore my people are gone into captivity, because they have no knowledge: and their honorable men are famished, and their multitude dried up with thirst."—Isaiah 5:13.

Red Oak Christian Announcements

Attendance at Sunday School and church was good last Sunday. Plans are being made to celebrate "Rally Day" on September 11.

Mrs. J. T. Manning, Jr., will direct her Primary Class in a Rally Day Presentation at 10:20 a.m. and the Pastor will bring a special sermon at the morning worship service.

We were happy to welcome Bobby Smith as a new member at our services on August 14. "The Righthand of Christian Fellowship" was extended to him following the benediction.

Several men from Red Oak's Christian Men's Fellowship will be attending the State CMF Retreat at Camp Caroline, August 20-21. The regular monthly Red Oak CMF will be held in the Community Building on Thursday, August 25 at 8:00 p.m.

"GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY" will be the Pastor's topic Sunday morning, August 21, in a special service honoring all members and friends 70 years old and above. Each will receive a souvenir of the service. Joyce Jackson will sing "One God". Old favorite hymns will be used.

Flowers will be provided by Mrs. L. W. Edwards, Bobby Edwards and Alice Lee Edwards.

Homecoming Day, usually held on the Third Sunday in September, has been moved to October 16 this year.

Grace F. W. B. Announcements

"Results of Self Indulgence", will be the subject for Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Text is taken from Isaiah 5:11-24.

"The Word of The Cross," will be the pastor's subject Sunday at 11:00 o'clock. Text will be I Corinthians 1:18, "For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which the saved it is the power of God." Charles Vestal will teach the Handicap class for the Deaf at 2:30 p.m.

"The Foundation for Family Unity," will be studied in the Free Will Baptist League at 6:45 p.m. The new members class will meet during the League hour.

The evening service will feature old time hymn singing and a message by Evangelist Jack Paramore.

Rev. Conrad Williford will be our guest speaker in the prayer meeting on Wednesday night.

The Maranatha church on 14th street will be in revival next week with Rev. Frank Davenport, evangelist.

"At the 17th Convention the extremely high age of the Party was noted. Practical work makes thirties even more evident to the absence of a numerous cadre in their late twenties and thirties even more evident to every Party organization. Nearly all such young, energetic forces were lost to the Party in the 1955-57 period. During that period Party youth work dropped to nearly nothing. Very few youth joined the Party. Now we have a wide gap between the general Party membership and leadership and the newer comrades who are now entering without much experience. The total number of Party youth is extremely small. Youth work is just being re-established. But we cannot be satisfied with its rate of growth."

September 1960 has been named "Youth Month."

WORKING CAPITAL

Capital which is working is working capital. Every year millions of dollars in working capital is in loans to people of this community to harvest crops, purchase merchandise inventories, to finance industrial payrolls and in many other ways to add to the productive economy of this county. This is accomplished by our depositors, whose confidence and pride in this independent banking institution of Greenville have made it possible for Greenville and Pitt County to move forward. When you ride along the highways of Pitt County, take pride in the fact, as we do, that you have had a part, along with a merciful Providence, in the production of this bountiful crop of ripe and mellow smoking tobacco, tall corn in rich, green rows, beans and peanuts and all the rest. This bank has but one goal: the economic progress of the people of Pitt County. When you bank with us, you help us to accomplish this goal, for the owners of this bank and those who patronize it are one and the same: the people of this community.

More Clubs Arrive In Rome; ICC Under Heat

ROME (AP)—The brass hats of international amateur sports today wrest the spotlight from the impending Olympic Games as they wrangle over a look-ahead program.

The International Olympic Committee's executive committee, in secret session, will decide whether to draft Chicago's Avery Brundage for another presidential term and also work on an acceptable starting date for the 1964 games in Tokyo.

The full IOC committee goes into session Saturday.

Meanwhile, tension was building in the Olympic Village, swelled by more arrivals for the start of the games next Thursday. More than 500 athletes and officials from a dozen countries, including 146 from the Soviet Union and 120 from Australia, were due during the day.

Other arrivals included contingents from Bulgaria, Pakistan, India, Kenya, Uganda, Thailand, Cuba, Afghanistan, Iraq and Indonesia.

The question of whether Brundage, a diehard advocate of strict amateurism, should be named to a third four-year presidential term could stir up lively debate.

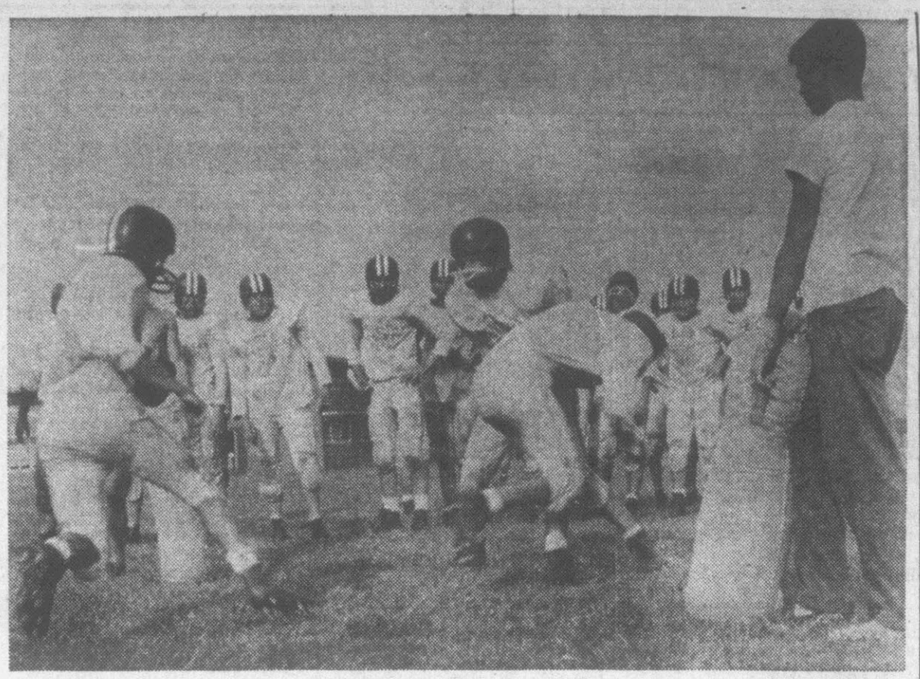
England's Marquess of Exeter, one-time Olympic hurdling champion as Lord Burghley, reportedly expects to get the nod. Another candidate is the Soviet Union's Constantine Andrianov.

The United States, closely backed by West Germany, is against Japan's proposed mid-May start of the 1964 games which already have been awarded to Tokyo. Weatherwise, this is an ideal time for Japan's hosting of the games, but it would cause classroom havoc for the many collegians who make up the American squad.

Another problem for the IOC is the designation of Nationalist China's team, currently called Taiwan. The Chinese Nationalists dislike this identification, but any retreat on their part would open the Olympic door for Red China.

Concurrent with Thursday's arrival of 45 members of the combined East and West German team was a hassle over a "spy scare" involving that divided nation.

West German officials fumed at a hint in the pro-Communist Italian newspaper, Il Paese, that Werne Klingenbach, embassy councillor and Olympic liaison man, intended to spy on East German athletes.



ROUGH WORK——Rose High footballers engaged in rough work yesterday afternoon in their practice session. Above, three of the prospects are shown mixing it up in a tackling and blocking drill.

Russians Daffy On Gymnastics Subject

MOSCOW (AP) — A visitor to the Soviet Union is mildly surprised at not seeing the Russians swinging from light pole to light pole and chinning themselves on the balcony of the Hotel Metropol.

The Russians are daffy on the subject of gymnastics, and if they again walk off with team honors in the Olympic Games starting late this month in Rome, it will be mainly because of their ability to hurdle the long horse, tip-toe across the beam and do circus acts on the rings.

Gymnastics are more than a sport with the Soviet Union. They are almost a religion.

"We feel gymnastics are the basis of all sports, the foundation of true body development," says Konstantin Adrianov, chairman of the Soviet Olympic Committee. "You might call this our national sport."

Every school child is compelled to take a course in gymnastics, starting in the first grade. He may concentrate on a special sport, such as volleyball or basketball, later but his gymnastic training must continue.

The Soviet Union claims it has 77,000 gymnasts so finely trained that any one could be a candidate for the Olympic team. America can count its parallel bar and long horse specialists on its hands.

In the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne, Russia won 23 of its 90 medals in gymnastics. The United States got none. In track and field, the showpiece of the games, Americans collected 31 medals—gold, silver and bronze, compared with 22 for the Russians.

It always has been a source of rancor with non-gymnastics minded nations that a well-executed somersault could count as much, for instance, as the two-day, 10-sport gruelling decathlon, or a 26-mile-plus marathon run.

The number of possible gymnastics medals has been reduced by the new rule limiting a team championship to one instead of the usual six, but the Soviet Union should enjoy another cascade.

U.S. Invading Foreign Water

PICTON, Ont. (AP) — The United States makes its first invasion of foreign waters in 39 years today in quest of the treasured Harmsworth trophy, top prize in international powerboating.

An American team of three unlimited hydropolanes is set to challenge the lone Canadian defender, Miss Supertest III, at speeds of more than 100 m.p.h.

Supertest, with Bob Hayward steering, ended the American hold on the famed bronze plaque a year ago when she upset Maverick in the best-of-three races in Detroit. Hayward drove Supertest at an average of 99.976 m.p.h. over the three 45-mile heats at Detroit and in one lap on the three-mile course averaged 109.334.

But all expectations are for wholesale record shattering on the five-mile bay of Quinte course in a Fiord of Lake Ontario.

Each of the three American entries—Gale V, Nitrogen and Nitrogen Too — has exceeded Supertest's lap record in trials on the Bay of Quinte layout. The five-mile course here has two 2¼-mile straightaways and is tailor-made for speed. Gale reached 170 m.p.h in a trial and experts predict an average speed of 120 m.p.h. may be needed to win the trophy.

As usual, the Harmsworth is a best-of-three event. The second race will be held tomorrow and the third, if needed, Monday. Each race will be nine laps—45 miles—around the course which is protected from heavy winds by high bluffs along the two straightaways.

Bethel To Stage Second Kart Race

BETHEL—The Bethel Kartways will stage its second big race of the summer Sunday August 21 Dr. W. A. Moody announced yesterday.

The second large-scale Go-Kart event sponsored by the Pitt County community will feature races of 100 laps in all three classes of Go-Karts.

Class A will consist of single 'A' engines. Composing Class B will be 'B' twins or less. Class C will be twin karts Super B or more.

Time trials will be held from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and at 12:15 Sunday afternoon. The first race will begin at 3:00

Prior to the feature races there will be a 30 lap race for junior drivers.

Moody anticipated 50-70 Karts to enter the race, including the team of Foss and Foss of LaGrange, winners in the first Bethel race.

"The first race that we held here showed the large number of racing spectators in this area and we expect a real good turnout for this race," stated Moody via telephone yesterday.

Fight For Cage Olympic Berths

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — Two teams of Iron Curtain cagers today were strongly fancied for eventual berths in the big league Olympic basketball tournament opening Aug. 26.

Czecholovakia and Hungary were both 2-0 up in the final bracket of a pre-Olympic qualifying tournament in this Italian provincial city.

Czechoslovakia Thursday defeated Canada 74-67 and Hcngary beat Israel 87-78. Both teams had gone into the final bracket 1-0 up after defeating others of the eight finalists in earlier matches. These games count for the final round.

Poland Belgium, undefeated in tre earlier round, were both upset. Yugoslavia squeezed by Poland 71-64 and Spain mowed down Belgium 81-71. All four teams stood at 1-1 in the final bracket.

Final listings for five vacant Olympic berths will be known Saturday.

Defending Champ Setting Pace

OTTAWA (AP) — Mexico's young, bespectacled Roberto Halpern remained the only survivor today among the original 34 foreign contestants for Canada's amateur golf championship.

Halpern, 20, entered the 36-hole semifinals today against Gary Cowan of Toronto, runner-up for the 1959 title captured by Johnny Johnston of Vancouver.

Johnston was pitted in the other semifinal against Keith Alexander of Calgary, who knocked off the last remaining United States entrant, Mark Darnell of Dayton, Ohio, Thursday 1-up.

Rose High

A lengthy skull practice opened afternoon drills for Rose High gridders yesterday afternoon and plenty of rough work followed.

Defense was stressed at the skull session and the Rose High aspirants had opportunity to demonstrate classroom knowledge in an afternoon session filled with contact work.

The coaching staff raced the squad through "live" tackling and blocking drills and tapered off with working the linemen on the blocking sled and sending the backs through running drills.

Offensive play was expected to draw the attention of the squad today as they put the wraps on the first week of work for the 1960 campaign.

Wilmington Edged In Legion Play

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Staunton, Va., only unbeaten team in the regional American Legion Junior baseball playoffs here, faces Miami, Fla. in the second game of tonight's schedule in the double elimination tournament.

Staunton defeated Wilmington 6-0 Thursday night on Harry Elkins' five - hit pitching. Miami, Fla. eliminated Greenwood, S.C. 10-3 in the other game. Wilmington will play East Lake, Ala. in tonight's first game.

Elkins, hardly in trouble at any time, struck out seven, walked one and left five stranded. Meantime, Wilmington bobbles were letting in four unearned runs. Butch Tyre and Jerry May drove in two runs each for Staunton. Sterling Coward got two of Wilmington's five singles.

Miami's pitching chores were divided between R. A. (Lefty) Rodriguez, who allowed Greenwood two hits in the last two frames. Carl Fararo drove in five runs with three singles for Miami.

Greenwood got two in the fourth on a walk to Jim Marcengill, Ed Lawton's infield hit, a walk to Charles Parnell and Leon James' double.

Pitching — Lew Burdette, Braves, allowed just one man to reach base, a hit batter in the fifth inning, but faced minimum 27 batters and struck out three for first no-hitter of career in 1-0 victory over Phillies.

Hitting — Harvey Kuenn, Indians, had four hits in four trips, breaking 6-6 tie with seventh-inning single in 8-6 victory over White Sox.

Almost Perfect Game

Burdette Tosses A No-Hitter At Phils

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Outside of the Brooklyn-Los Angeles Dodgers, no club has been tougher for Lew Burdette than the Philadelphia Phillies in his 10-year National League career.

Yet it was against the Phillies that the lanky Milwaukee right-hander pitched his first no-hitter Thursday night, winning 1-0 and coming within one pitch—a fifth-inning slider that was just a little too close—of a perfect game.

It was Burdette, too, who scored the run, getting a double in the eighth inning and scoring on Billy Bruton's two-bagger that beat ex-brave Gene Conley.

Despite Burdette's near-perfect performance, the second place Braves remained 7½ games behind front-running Pittsburgh. The Pirates won their fourth in a row, a 3-2 decision at Cincinnati. Los Angeles moved past idle St. Louis into third place, nine games back, with a 13-inning, 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs on Wally Moon's home run.

In the American League, the New York Yankees gained a 2½ game lead, pairing an 11-7 victory at Boston with Cleveland's 8-6 decision over the Chicago White Sox. Baltimore tied the White Sox for second place by beating Washington 10-8. Detroit rapped Kansas City 11-6.

Burdette, 14-7 for the season, and Bruton each had two of Milwaukee's 10 hits off Conley, who like Burdette, didn't walk a man.

The Pirates, shut out on two hits for seven innings, broke Cal McLish's scoreless-inning streak at 16 in the eighth when Don Hoak doubled, Bill Mazeroski singled and Dick Stuart, batting for winner Vern Law, belted his 14th home run. It was McLish's eighth defeat against four victories.

Moon's 12th home run, his only hit in six trips, beat reliever Mark Freeman (3-2) after the Cubs had tied it 3-all in the ninth inning on Ron Santo's eighth home run, his second of the game. Frank Thomas hit his 18th home run in the sixth for the Cubs, who blew a 2-0 lead on shortstop Ernie Banks' two-run error in the seventh. Sandy Koufax (6-8) won his fifth in a row.

A poor defense, of all things, suddenly has chilled the usually sure-fielding Chicago White Sox in what just a few days ago looked like a hot drive for another American League pennant.

After winning eight out of 10 for a first place tie with Baltimore, the defending champs have won just one of their last four games. They dropped their second in a row, both because of an unearned run, Thursday night, blowing a five-run lead for an 8-6 defeat at Cleveland.

That sent the Sox skidding 2½ games behind the first place New York Yankees, who won their fourth in a row, 11-7 at Boston. Baltimore tied Chicago for second place with a 10-8 victory at Washington after losing four straight. Detroit walloped last place Kansas City 11-6.

After tying the score 6-all with a five-run sixth inning, triggered by Ken Aspromonte's solo homer, the Indians wrapped it up with two in the seventh. The tie-breaker scored on a walk, an error by Nellie Fox and Harvey Kuenn's fourth hit, a single, off losing reliever Gerry Staley (11-7). Southpaw Dick Stigman (5-8) was the winning pitcher.

The Yankees blew a 4-1 lead at Boston, then barged from behind with six runs in the last two frames. Bill Skowron's single drove in the winner, capping a three-run eighth after a single by Tony Kubek, Yogi Berra's double and a single by Mickey Mantle had tied it. Clete Boyer drove in two more with a home run in the ninth, while winning reliever Ralph Terry (6-6) pitched three perfect frames. Frank Sullivan (4-13) was the loser.

The Orioles, who had lost five in a row to Washington, scored eight runs in the third inning against loser Jack Kralick (4-3) and Rudy Hernandez, then needed an unearned run in the sixth to nail it. Milt Pappas (11-8) was the winner with relief help from Jerry Walker.

Rocky Colavito, Al Kaline and Norm Cash homered for the Tigers as the A's dropped their eighth in a row. Pete Burnside (6-6) was the winner. Bud Daley (13-11) was the loser.

The late Willie Molter, Round Table's trainer, once rode five winners in one day in Canada before becoming a trainer in 1937.

A Stirring Western Suspense Novel

The Lean Rider by CLIFF FARRELL

CHAPTER 7

Hester Barbee and Lisa Randolph were driving along the trial westward when the faint, far thud of a gunshot echoed. Hester halted the team and listened for a time, but no further sound came.

A scatter of structures came into view. O'Hara House stood on a knoll. Against the background of brush hills, it had an unreal, castle-like aspect. It seemed to be truly a mansion, built in the wealthy plantation style, with Doric colums rising to support galleries and the classic roof. Lesser buildings of posts and unpainted frame stood on lower ground.

The wagon carried them closer. Lisa sank back in the seat, a new hopelessness upon her.

The grandeur of O'Hara House had been an illusion. Its fine front was little more than a shell. Back of it, O'Hara House consisted of a squatty, low, sod-roofed structure.

The dilapidation of the mansion-that-might-have-been came into focus little by little. Peeling paint and broken, sagging shutters. If there ever had been pane glass in the sashes, it had long ago vanished. Decay and neglect.

Lisa turned to Hester horrified. Hester spoke, sorrow in her voice. "The O'Haras came here from Georgia long before the war. They brought slaves an' had big plans. They aimed to get rich in cattle. They threw away what money they had. They found that buildin' a mansion in a wilderness was too much for them. Most of the slaves ran away into Mexico. Only the front rooms of the masion was ever finished. But they was just beautiful. Now look at it."

"He's—he's there?" Lisa asked shakily. "In this—this ghost house? Mr. O'Hara?"

"There's smoke from the kitchen. I reckon it's Frank that's home. Leastways, he ought to be. Abel had to handle him a little rough yesterday. Frank likely don't feel up to stirrin' around much."

"Rough?" Lisa echoed. "What do you mean?"

Hester answered reluctantly. "You might as well know. Frank an' Abel had a ruckus in town. Frank wasn't himself. He tried to draw a gun on Abel."

"A gun?"

"Abel, so I was told, took it away from him before any real harm was done. But he had to knock Frank out to do it."

Lisa was horrified. "Mr. O'Hara was hurt?"

Hester smiled wanly. "Not bad. Only his pride. He'd been drinkin'. Abel had to do it or get shot. Men act mighty violent in these parts sometimes. It's a thing you got to learn to expect. There's been hard times, an' cattle not worth the salt they eat. Nerves have got on edge. Neighbors don't trust neighbors. Frank an' Abel have been might good friends. Now they've fought, an' fought bitter."

"I should not have come to this — this awful country!" Lisa burst out.

Hester made no comment. She halted the rig before wide stone steps which mounted to a crumbling flagstone walk leading to the main entrance of O'Hara House. The surroundings had once been cleared for a huge lawn that had never been planted. Mesquite and other thorned growth had returned and were well on its way toward enfolding the place.

Hester sat waiting. Lisa realized that the decision was all her own. She looked at the looming house. The smoke that drifted above the roof from the rear semed heavier in volume. Lisa decided that the stove was being stoked. However, an utter silence lay over the place.

She braced herself and alighted. She stood a moment, for every step required a driving effort of her will. She began moving up the weed-lined walk.

She now saw the first sign of other life. A horseman was visible some distance south of the ranch. He was amid the brush. The foliage hid even his horse. Only his upper body was in view. He seemed to be sitting there, gazing in the direction of O'Hara House. He apparently sighted Lisa. He abruptly rode away, disappearing into the thickets.

The only identifiable item that Lisa marked at this distance was the blue and white pattern of his shirt. Abel Barbee.

The creak of wheels arose. Hester had swung the rig and was driving away. Lisa started to protest, but Hester called, "I'll be back in an hour or so. I'll drive to the holdin' ground an' pass the time of day with the boys."

Lisa realized that it was best that she and Frank O'Hara work this out alone. She moved mechanically toward the house. Hester and the wagon faded out of sight into the hills eastward.

Lisa tapped on the half-open door. No answer came. The door creaked a few inches farther open. She could see into the main room. Its condition matched the outward appearance of O'Hara House. Disorder and confusion.

She called out in a small voice, "Mr. O'Hara?"

No answer.

She was drawn onward by the heart-swelling, intuitive impression that someone was present.

She walked through the big room and into the low-roofed log structure at the rear. The O'Hara's had used this as their wondering came into them

A man lay sprawled, face down, on the floor, an arm folded to support his head as though he were asleep.

He was not asleep. A dark stain of blood had spread beneath his body. Lisa realized that this was Frank O'Hara. He was not the man she remembered. Like the house, he had aged and fallen toward ruin. He was unshaven, gaunt, dissipated.

He was still alive. His head moved and his eyes turned toward her. Something warm and living quarter.

"Elizabeth!" he said in a fading voice. "You—you did come here? You kept your word. I should not have done this to a gentlewoman. Forgive . . ."

He stopped talking. He was still looking at her, vast yearning in his eyes. It was as though he was gazing at all of the great things of life that he had wanted.

She knew in the next moment that he was no longer seeing her, or seeing anything. She knelt beside him and stroked back his hair. "I'm sorry," she murmured. "So dreadfully sorry, Frank O'Hara."

She now saw the source of the blood on the floor. Frank O'Hara had been shot in the back. She remembered the distant report of a gun that she and Hester had heard.

She arose, trembling. She became aware of the strong tang of smoke. It came from a door to her left. She ran to the opening. It led into a kitchen. Flames had climbed a log wall and were enveloping the beams on the roof. A supply of fuel stood on the floor and was burning furiously.

A cedar water pail stood on the bench. Lisa hurled its meager contents. The water was absorbed with no result and the fire began to roar.

An Ancient Hole Is 'Hope' Of Millions

By WILTON WYNN

SAMARRA, Iraq (AP) — A sacred hole in the ground in this quaint city gives hope to millions of Moslems that some day justice will fill the earth.

The sacred hole is a cavern inside the walls of the Mosque of the Two Imams. It was in this cave that the Twelfth Imam, or spiritual ruler, of the Shi'ite sect of Islam disappeared in the year 878 a.d.

Since the disappearance of Mohamed Elmuntazar, Shi'ites have refused to recognize another imam. They believe that El Muntazar is not dead; but only absent, and that some day he will return as the "mahdi" who will fill the earth with justice.

This tenet of Shi'ite faith provides a ray of hope to millions of poverty-stricken people living the drabbest of lives in this sun-baked desert land. And, symbolically, the Mosque of the Two Imams rises above the filth and poverty around it to provide a glimpse of rare beauty to the thirsty, weary pilgrim coming from afar.

Samarra is north of Babhdad across 70 miles of the dusty, colorless, flat plain of the Tigris Valley.

Behind the town there rises an even taller structure, a white, spiraling tower 150 feet high. This is the rare "Zigguart" minaret of the crumbling Great Mosque of Samarra. This is one of the few minarets remaining which was patterned after the pagan towers of ancient Babylon.

It was in 836 a.d., during the golden age of Islam, that one of the caliphs of Baghdad decided to build himself a new capital. He chose this site and built Samarra. Coming from Baghdad on a hot summer day, we understood why he picked this spot. Samarra is high enough to get a welcome cool breeze, refreshing after the oven-like heat of Baghdad.

Samarra of today is a simple town, with most of its mud and brick houses and buildings clustered together in disorderly fashion. One wide street pierces the town and takes you to the open square in front of the mosque where the last imam disappeared.

At the gate of the mosque fingering amber prayer beads sit the bearded, turbaned mullahs, or holy men, who spend their lives in this sacred place. They live off income from religious endowments and contributions from pilgrims.

"When will he return?"

"We don't know when, but we know he will come back," a holy man answered. "And we don't know where he will appear. But some believe the Mahdi will emerge from a cave. Perhaps it will be here in Samarra."

Would Penalize Taxiing Pilot

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency has asked U.S. Atty. Joseph Bambacus of Richmond, Va., to seek a $1,000 penalty against Capital Airlines pilot Francis P. Heid, Falls Church, Va.

The FAA said that Heid, while waiting in a snowstorm for permission to take off from Raleigh-Durham, N.C., Airport Jan. 8, 1959, taxied his plane along a slushy runway at up to 80 miles an hour in an attempt to blow snow off the wings.

The agency said the plane skidded 600 feet off the runway, and damaged two propellers and two runway lights before stopping beside a ditch. It said the pilot showed poor judgment and endangered the lives of his passengers and crew.

Bermuda Shorts OK'd By Judge

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Circuit Court Judge John H. Lucas ruled Thursday a woman is entitled to wear shorts in public and it is improper for a man to make comments about it.

His ruling was made in the case of David Ogeltree, 25, who was fined $50 and assessed court costs on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Edna G. Slaughter testified Ogeltree made a remark about the bermuda shorts she was wearing when she entered a shop with three women companions. She said the man slapped her around after she had threatened to call police about the remark. Ogeltree denied hitting the woman and testified she had seized a mop handle and chased him from the shop.

Novelist Sinclair Lewis was the first American to win a Nobel Prize for literature. He did it in 1930, nearly three decades after the award first was made.

Shed Burned By Match-Borrower

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Edward Sharp is burned up.

A stranger ambled up to him Thursday and asked for some matches. Sharp obliged, and moments later saw that his backyard shed was on fire.

As Sharp raced into his backyard, he passed the stranger trying to set the house on fire with Sharp's matches.

The match-happy stranger fled and Sharp is now minus a good shed.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—An uncertain stock market erased a small early loss and moved to the upside early this afternoon in moderate trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .80 to 220.90 with the industrials up 1.00, the rails up .10 and the utilities up .60.

The list was irregularly lower in sluggish early dealings then moved cautiously to the upside as turnover picked up slightly.

Gains of fractions to about a point in several of the key stocks which make up the popular market averages accounted for the rise. Procter & Gamble, which reported record sales and earnings, picked up a couple of points in dull trading.

Many key stocks were unchanged and there was a wide scattering of small losers. The July slump in home building and the halting of production at five major U.S. steel mills because of a railroad strike did nothing to spark enthusiasm. Normal pre-weekend wariness also prevailed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.73 at 628.55.

Most corporate bonds advanced.

U.S. government bonds were steady.

—o—

RALEIGH (AP) — (AP) —Hog prices mostly steady. Tops of 16.75 to 18.25 at Wilson; 17.00 to 18.00 at Nahunta, Kinston, Nel Bern, Benson, Mount Olive and Newton Grove; 17.25 to 17.75 at Rocky Mount; 17.50 at Greensboro, Clinton, Fayetteville and Elizabethtown; 17.25 at Castle Hayne, Albertson and Goldsboro; 17.00 at Rich Square, Siler City, Tarboro, Enfield, Scotland Neck, Winterville and Lillington.

Wilson cash cattle prices steady: steers and heifers, choice 24.00 to 26.00, good 21.50 to 23.50, standards 18.00 to 21.00; cows, beef type 14.00 to 16.00, heavy cutters 13.00 to 14.50; bulls, light weight 13.00 to 16.00, heavy weight 17.00 to 19.00.

'Best Wishes' From Institute

Retired Greenville City Clerk H. H. Duncan has received a well-wishing letter from George H. Esser Jr., assistant director of the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill.

The letter read: "I want to add my best wishes for many happy years ahead. You have contributed constructively not only to the government of Greenville but to municipal government in the State of North Carolina.

"All of us at the Institute regret that we will no longer see you as the City Clerk of Greenville, but we hope we will have many opportunities to cross paths with you in the years to come."

Duncan retired from his duties on his 65th birthday July 1. His service to the city extended for a total of 22 years since 1931.

He served the city as an alderman, police desk sergeant, clerk of city court, assistant city clerk, assistant tax collector, and city clerk for nine years.

Rites Saturday For Mrs. P. A. Seidell

Mrs. Jennie Seidell, 92, widow of Phaon A. Seidell, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Melvin, at the Reedy Branch Parsonage at 11:05 Thursday night. She had been an invalid for the past seventeen years and critically ill for two days.

Funeral services will be conducted at Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church Saturday afternoon at three o'clock by the Rev. F. A. Rivenbark, pastor of Fairmont Park Free Will Baptist Church of Norfolk, Va., assisted by the Rev. Floyd Cherry, pastor of the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church. Burial will be in the Church Cemetery. The body will be taken from the Wilkerson Funeral Home to the church one hour prior to the time of service.

Mrs. Seidell was born and reared in Florida and had lived with her daughter and son-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. Melvin, since 1926. She was a member of Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church. During the time she lived in Florida she was very active in church work, in mission duties and also in the work of W C T U. While Rev. Melvin was pastor of Edgemont Free Will Baptist Church in Durham, she was the teacher of both the men's and women's Bible Classes. The Seidell Bible Class of that church still bears her name. As an accomplished musician, she had been a church organist and soloist. Mr Seidell died in 1925.

Surviving are her daughter; a grandson, the Rev. Billy A. Melvin of Nashville, Tenn.; a granddaughter, Mrs. T. O. Terry of New Bern; and five great grandchildren.

Discuss Sanctions For Trujillo Land

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—The Inter-American Foreign Ministers Conference today sought agreement on a compromise formula to bring democracy to the Dominican Republic.

The precedent-making plan would involve the use of sanctions—or at least the threat of them.

Sanctions have been considered by diplomats in many disputes during the past generation but rarely applied.

They have never been used in the Western Hemisphere to make a government more democratic. The basic idea behind sanctions is to quarantine a government by cutting off diplomatic relations and setting up an economic boycott.

After a bitter debate Thursday between Cuba and the United States, the foreign ministers began their third straight day of backstage talks in a tense atmosphere. They were considering three specific proposals:

1. Venezuela's demand that diplomatic and economic sanctions be applied against the Dominican Republic promptly and without conditions.

2. A U.S. suggestion that a special observation committee be sent to the Dominican Republic to assure free elections there. Sanctions would be applied later if free elections were not held.

3. A Colombian plan to apply sanctions first and send an observation committee afterwards.

But a compromise was also being discussed. Under this plan the foreign ministers would approve sanctions, then suspend them pending free elections in the Caribbean dictatorship ruled for more than 30 years by Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo.

Diplomatic sources said the compromise would give Trujillo a six-month grace period to hold elections. The sanctions would go into effect if he refused.

The question remained whether the Trujillo regime would accept an Inter-American observation committee. Sanctions would require a two-thirds vote by the foreign ministers and might result in a Dominican appeal to the U.N. Security Council.

The U.S. plan was presented to the conference Thursday by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

But he added that any action should be aimed at creating a situation for the Dominican Republic to be "brought back into respected membership in the American community and its citizens permitted to enjoy the benefits of representative democracy."

Foreign Minister Raul Roa of Cuba then launched into a long attack on the Dominican Republic and the United States as well.

"If justice should be done," Roa said, "Both Trujillo and the government of the United States should be sanctioned jointly. Trujillo was created and sustained for over 30 years by North American imperialism.

He added "it would not be strict justice to condemn Trujillo if the father of the creature is not also condemned."

Herter asked for the floor and said he had not expected Roa's attack at this part of the meeting but would have a chance to refer to it next week, when the ministers are to discuss Communist menaces to the Western Hemisphere through Cuba.

Ayden Club's New Pool Planning Open Next Week

AYDEN—Pending good weather conditions, the Ayden Golf and Country Club's new swimming pool will open to members the first of next week.

Mack Edwards, member of the Board of Directors of the club, said the cement deck around the pool was to be poured today. "Everything is ready now for the water and we might begin filling the pool during the weekend, as far as I know," Edwards said.

One part necessary for completion of the pool has not arrived but is supposed to be on its way. Originally the pool was to open about August 15, but rainy weather has held up construction work.

As for the golf course, work is progressing "very nicely," Edwards said. It is not yet open for play, but pending good weather and minimum rain, members may be able to use it within the next three or four weeks.

So far eight greens have been completed and are ready for play. Six fairways have been sown with grass, but rain has washed the seed somewhat. As soon as the weather allows the ground to dry out more, the bulldozer will be used on the other three fairways of the nine-hole course, Edwards said.

Members of the Ayden Golf and Country Club have been at work for about 18 months on the pool and golf course projects. Under long range planning, members hope that construction on a clubhouse may begin about the first of the year.

Membership in the club has grown from a little over 100 to 210 in a recent membership drive.

E. F. Johnson is president of the club.

Youths Held For Theft, Damage To Property

Two Martin County youths are being held in the Pitt County Jail here of charges of damage to personal property and larceny which stemmed from the boys' actions in the Stokes area Wednesday night.

According to the Pitt County Sheriff's Department, Carl Heath 17, and Howard Williams Jr., 18, both of Williamston, were arrested yesterday and are being held for the Sept. 6 term of County Court.

Deputies said the boys allegedly threw a bottle through the front window of the C. and W. supermarket at Stokes, then pulled an air hose from the air pump at the Roebuck and Parker store there.

The youths also allegedly tore a gas hose from a gas pump on the N. T. Barnhill farm near Stokes, then took the hose, a hatchet and a wrench from the yard and broke out the headlight of a tractor there.

Nothing was missing from the supermarket, officers noted.

Both youths are under a $500 bond and are charged with larceny of the hoses and tools, and with breaking the window and tractor light.

Deputies also reported that two businesses were broken into last night in the county.

Nelson's Texaco Service at the intersection of Memorial Dr. and Fifth St. was entered, officers said, and a reported $25 to $30 was taken from the building.

Deputies reported that entrance was gained by breaking out the front door glass.

The second business entered last night was the Park View Grocery north of Ayden on N. C. 11. That, too, was entered by breaking out the window in the front door.

Investigators said an undetermined amount of money was taken from a cigarette machine in the building. Nothing else was missing, officers noted.

Improvements To 8 Pitt Roads

Improvements were made to eight roads in Pitt County last month according to Roy D. Frank, the Second Highway Division's assistant engineer.

A total of 20 roads were improved in the Second Division which includes the counties of Pitt, Beaufort, Pamlico, Craven, Carteret, Jones, Lenoir and Greene, he added.

The improvements in Pitt County included: drag seal on 1.1 mile of road 1133; and .47 mile of road 1711 (street in Winterville); .1 mile, bituminous surface treatment on School House Drive at Winterville Colored School; drag seal retreatment on 4.4 miles of road 1753 and bituminous surface treatment on .05 mile of Bridge Yard at Greenville.

Also improved last month were .35 mile of road 1435 (street near Bethel); drag seal retreatment on 1.2 mile of road 1434 (Loop Road at Bethel); and .2 mile of road 1400 (Porter Road).

The improvements in Pitt totaled 7.87 miles, Frank said, and added that in all, a total of 35.67 miles of road were improved in the Division.

dollars worth of property which prior to the organizing the rural departments would have been a total loss," Hardee said.

Serving on the committee to form plans for the new Greenville Area Department are in addition to Hardee, Lee Dail, Mitchell White, C. L. Perkins, Stuart Savage, Kirby Branch., J. K. Hester and Delma Culberth.

"I would like to point out that this would in no way affect the areas near Greenville which are served by the Winterville Rural Fire Department and the newly formed Staton House Department. These departments have boundries which would cut the five mile radius at some spots. We are interested in seeing that the now totally unprotected homes and farm property poperty is given protection," Hardee concluded.

Trucks Collide At Intersection

An estimated $800 damage resulted when two trucks collided at the intersection of Boyd Ave. and Chestnut St. about 11:40 a.m. yesterday, Greenville police reported today.

According to investigators, a truck being driven south on Boyd Ave. by Roy Lee Murray, 38, of Route 1, Warsaw, collided with a truck operated by Tom Joyner, 24, of 1909 Dickinson Ave. The Joyner vehicle was traveling west on Chestnut St.

Damage to the Murray truck was estimated by officers at $400 while damage to the Joyner truck was also set at $400.

Joyner was charged with failure to stop for a stop sign following investigation of the mishap.

No charges were placed in a second collision yesterday involving a car and mailbox on Longmeadow Rd.

Police said a car operated by Douglas E. Adams, 16, of 2402 Umstead Ave. went out of control and struck a mail box at 110 Longmeadow Rd.

Damage to the car was set at $10 while damage to the mail box was placed at $25.

The mishap occurred about 10:31 p.m.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Fifty-Eight New Books On Sheppard Library Shelves

Fifty-eight new books have been recently placed on the shelves at Sheppard Memorial Library, including topics ranging from the history of the bridge craze and Thomas Wolfe to a history of the people of the African Gold Coast.

Librarian Elizabeth Copeland said that the book on "Thomas Wolfe" by Elizabeth Nowell is a new study by Wolfe's literary agent and close friend. It has been reviewed widely.

Another book of interest because of the turbulent situation in Africa is "A History of Ghana" by W. E. F. Ward, a history of the people of the African Gold Coast. Likewise, interviews with Khrushchev under the title "Ask Me Anything" by William Randolph Hearst and others is pertinent to the world situation.

If you want humor, "Jessel, Anyone" by George Jessel is "a reservoir of humor gleaned from a lifetime of making people laugh," Miss Copeland says. "The Mad World of Bridge" by Jack Olsen, a humorous history of the bridge craze, is another book designed to make the reader laugh.

Some of the subjects covered include for women, cookbooks, a boon by the man who first cracked the space barrier, finance—common stocks, and church histories, as well as other novels.

The other books, authors, publishers and a short summary are listed below in that order:
