Many Applicants For Pitt Industrial Engineer Post

The Pitt County Development Commission today began acknowledging by letter nearly 20 applications from industrial engineers interested in the vacant position here.

To date, the office has received some 30 applications from both individuals and placement agencies expressing interest in the post vacated here recently by L. A. Weston.

Weston's resignation was accepted at special session of the commission in late July.

Commission Chairman L. P. Bloxam reviewed the applications and directed the office's secretary, Mrs. Joe Dudley, to write the near-20 letters of acknowledgment. Several applicants were not considered qualified. Three applications were received from North Carolinians and acknowledged. Included in the group were applications from Ahsokie, Asheville, and Greensboro.

Other applicants being answered today came from: Pottsville, Pa.; Washington, D. C.; Glen Burnie, Md.; Garfield, Cranford, Sparta, Summerville, Teahala Park, and Union, N. J.; New York, Tarrytown, and Hicksville, N. Y.; and Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Five employment agencies notified the commission of their clients considered capable of filling the local post.

They included the Philadelphia Professional Placement Service and Pressler Employment Service of Philadelphia and Kestler Employment Agency, Inc., Likem Employment and Personnel Service, and Brill Personnel Consultants, all of Pittsburgh, Pa.

agencies notified were requested to send resumes of individuals interested in the post here.

To Move Quickly Bloxam said yesterday, "As soon as the rest of these applications are received the committee will meet and review them with the idea of moving as quickly as possible with the idea of employing a development engineer."

The committee includes, in addition to Bloxam, commission members J. Lyman Edwards, Dr. R. L. Humber, and Frank K. Allen.

All applications to date, except for a pair, were received through an advertisement in the Wall Street Journal in the Wall Street Journal. The remaining two were contacted through the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development.

Increase Of 202

Greenville City School opening day enrollment was 5,065 students, Supt. J. H. Rose reported this morning. This was an increase of 202 over last year's opening day figure of 4,863.

The increased enrollment came in Rose High, Junior High and Elmhurst Schools, Rose said, with other white and all Negro schools remaining about the same as last year.

Rose High registered 65 more students than 1959 opening day, Junior High 103 more and Elmhurst 34 more.

City school enrollment is expected to grow until it reaches approximately 5,400 students by the end of the 1960-61 school year, Rose said. An additional 100 white students should enter the school system during the year and over 300 Negro students are expected before the year's end.

Lumumba Jolted By African Resolution

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The conference of independent African states joined Premier Patrice Lumumba today with a resolution calling for frank and loyal cooperation between the United Nations and the Congo.

Lumumba, who has described the United Nations as imperialist, harassed Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, and even called for the withdrawal of the U. N. force, sat in silence as the resolution was read in the conference hall.

The conference, which brought together delegates of 13 African states, wound up as Lumumba's government built up troop strength in neighboring Kasai province, apparently for an invasion of rebellious Katanga.

Lumumba had won one of his main demands. The United Nations announced that the last Belgian combat troops have quit the Congo, leaving only a few hundred technical specialists to look after the big treaty bases at Kamina, in Katanga; and Kitona, on the Congo River.

The conference paid homage to the organization "for the work of peace it brings to the Congo." It praised U. N. for bringing about the withdrawal of Belgian troops and taking over the Kamina and Kitona bases.

The evacuation brought quick demands from Katanga's Premier Moise Tshombe that the U. N. turn control of Kamina over to him or he would block its runways with bulldozers, trucks and oil drums.

The United Nations wants the big base 360 miles northwest of Elisabethville neutralized and banned to all troops but those of the U. N. Tshombe, however, fears that U. N. forces will not prevent Lumumba's invaders from landing at the base and using it as the springboard for his campaign to establish Lumumba's authority in the province.

The Katanga premier's forces control all other airfields in the province. Unless Lumumba can land his men at Kamina, they will have to take overland routes over the few roads and railways, which Katanga officials say have been mined and will be vigorously defended.

Lumumba returned to Leopoldville after a provincial tour. There was no indication whether, with the last Belgian combat troops gone, he would revive his earlier demands that the U. N. force also leave the country.

Showing he had taken to heart the counsel of leftist advisers, the Congo premier announced he had ordered a "profound reform of the ancient structure" of society in Oriental province. Territories formerly ruled by tribal chiefs would now become rural communes, he said. He also told of a decision to create peasant cooperatives to "mobilize all the forces of the country for a vast economic and social program."

Lumumba's left-wing spokesman, Serge Michel, brushed aside the mob attack on eight American airmen and two Canadians at Stanleyville shortly before the Congo premier arrived there Saturday. Michel said a report the Americans were Belgian paratroopers touched off the attack.

Communist newsmen were given a different version. They were told the American airmen had provoked the fight.

Eliminated

Elegance Dominates Paris Fashions

NIGHT AND DAY . . . Beige hooded suit from Crahay's collection for Nina Ricci (right) has side closing, blouse-backed jacket, rounded skirt, shaggy fabric (orlon acrylic fiber and mohair) and big buttons. Pierre Balmain's ballgown (left) is inspired by 1890s elegance. It has swathed hips, flattering bodice, dashing train in white-over-pink nylon georgette, pink satin sash, pink rose.

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP)—Here's the new Paris silhouette. Now where's that diet list?

You've got to look tubular to be a la mode, as shown by the season's first fashion photos from France, released for publication today.

Curves are out, and the flat-as-a-board figure is in. Worse, you can't count on stiff foundations to conceal anything. They've put the puffed skirt in mothballs. The new cut is usually bias, and the materials are almost always drapery, so even when the outline is loose, it takes a skinny figure to wear it.

Daytime colors are so dark as to be almost funereal. You can take your pick of black, brown, prune purple or steel grey. The girls with good legs still have the advantage, for hemlines cover the knees with just an inch or two to spare.

Probably on purpose, the designers have made it tough for the do-it-yourself brigades. With the new bias drapes, everything depends on the cut and the hang of the thing. Copying will be a tricky business.

But if you've always longed to look like a flapper, or a clinging vine, here's your chance, sanctioned by high fashion. Most of the designers dipped liberally into the lore of the late 1920s and early 1930s for a new silhouette to usher in the 1960s.

The general trends include wraparound envelope dresses, mid-hip suit jackets, back-bustlers, high ring collars, fur trimmings, lightly flared or bag-bot-temed skirts, and high-crowned cloches or helmets, worn with a single bob and dark eye makeup. To nobody's surprise, Dior was different. Many of designer Yves Saint-Laurent's creations showed half the kneecaps. His little lemon of a skirt, starting at a mid-hip and ending at mid-knee, was tacked on to a long torso tube or middie top which forgot all about bustlines and waists.

Her bouffant illusion was attached to a bonnet-shaped head-dress of pink satin. She carried a white prayer book topped with valley lilies and an orchid.

Miss Melissa Whichard, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a tea length gown of turquoise chiffon over taffeta, accented with satin cummerbund of a deeper shade, and with matching satin shoes. Her headdress was a circular veil attached to a butterfly bow of turquoise satin.

Much praise for the success of the Paris fall fashion season went to three designers whose names begin with C—Julius Crahay of Nina Ricci, Pierre Cardin, and Castillo of Lanvin-Castillo.

Crahay's "board" collection, inspired by the garb of the old Russian nobility, was full of flare and drama. His knee-length capes designed to be thrown up over one shoulder, were paraded with cloak-and-dagger swagger. Crahay's evening hemlines, up to the knees in front, touched the floor in an asymmetric point behind.

The officers of the Winterville Future Homemakers of America held their first meeting of the new school year at the home of their adviser, Miss Alya Ray Taylor, Thursday, August 25th.

After the luncheon, Dolly Ann Harris, president, presided. Plans and projects for the year were discussed. Many of them were concerned with improving the Home Economics cottage.

It was announced that the District I Rally would be at Hertford and that the exact date would be known definitely later. Also that a planning meeting for the Pitt County F.H.A. Rally will be held in Ayden on September 13th.

General plans for the Mother-Daughter Banquet were made and the group favored having a Christmas banquet this year.

Selling to make money for the club was discussed and the selling of cards, kitchen equipment, flavorings, magazines, and fancy paper napkins was approved.

The officers voted unanimously to have a yearbook this year.

Officers present were: Dolly Ann Harris, Lynda Hall, Carolyn Cayton, La Verne Cayton, Norma Worthington, Virginia Manning, and Sandra Avery.

Attention Nurses: Exam Schedule

State Board Examination Schedule has been announced by Mrs. Priscilla D. Ballance, chairman, North Carolina Board of Nurse Registration and Nursing Education.

The dates are as follows:
For Professional Nurses—September 26, 27, 28 and 29, October 3, 4, 5 and 6, 1960. Applications due: September 6, 1960.
For Practical Nurses—September 30, 1960. Applications due: September 9, 1960.

Examinations for licensure are conducted two times each year for each group. Candidates must be graduated from approved schools of nursing. Preparation through correspondence courses or non-approved schools does not qualify a person to take these tests.

Castillo's teardrop skirts were a handsome version of the new bag-bottom. Their slight fullness was caught into a narrow, sloping bias band just below the knees.

Perhaps the most Thirtyish show of all was Cardin's, featuring wraparounds, scalloped hems and a semi-fitted tube silhouette. Guy La Roche pleased the buyers, too, with a charming Charleston-era collection.

John Weed Marries Miss Sarah Mercer

GASTONIA—Noon rites united Miss Sarah Mercer and John deRouhae Weed, Jr. in marriage Saturday.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mercer was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of pale ivory peau de soie and Alencon lace was fashioned with a raised waistline and chapel train.

Her bouffant illusion veil was held by a peau de soie halo and she carried white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Neely Dixon was her sister's matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Susan London, Johnson City, Tenn.; Miss Celeste Koger, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Stephen Wilkerson, Greensboro; and Miss Sarah Morrison.

They wore fern green street length silk chiffon dresses and carried yellow Fuji chrysanthemums with ivy.

Among the ushers were the bride's brothers, Borden Hollowes of Jacksonville, Fla., David Groves and John Mercer; Edward Flanagan, Jr., Atlanta, Ga.; Charles Loftin and Karl Parrish.

A reception at Gaston County Club followed the First Methodist Church service, at which Dr. James Huggin had officiated.

The bride graduated from the preparatory school of St. Mary's Jr. College and made her debut in Raleigh in 1957. She graduated from Hollins College and studied in Paris for a year.

Mr. Weed, son of John deRouhae Weed of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Helen Joyner Weed of Palm Beach, Fla., had his brother, Anthony Joyner Weed of New York, as best man.

After a Blowing Rock wedding trip the couple will live in Chicago, Ill., where Mr. Weed is employed by Continental Casualty Co. He attended Santa Monica (Calif.) City College.

Mrs. Hoot Fetes Debs. Bride-Elect

Mrs. M. P. Hoot entertained informally at her home on East Fifth Street Tuesday morning, honoring debs Anne Evans and Ann Moore; and bride-elect, Susie Pope.

The honorees, greeting the guests, wore unique corsages of white wash cloths, tied with red ribbon and hand-embroidered in red, with the inscription "Deb of 1960" for the debs and "bride 1960" for the bride-elect, given to them by the hostess.

After serving themselves to refreshments from a table centered with a milk-glass pedestal fruit bowl, filled with an arrangement of fresh fruit, and casual clad dolls, the friends of the honorees gathered in the recreation room for a social hour.

The honorees were then presented gifts from the hostess. The debs were given white towel ensembles with hand-embroidered red inscriptions of "name, deb, 1960" across the corner of each towel. Miss Pope was given a gift of silver in her chosen pattern. Favors of red and white checked wash cloths tied with white ribbon were given the other debs. Arrangements of garden flowers and a potted plant of yellow chrysanthemums were used throughout the house. Among the guests were the mothers of the honored debs, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. R. F. Thompson.

Gaskins-Howell Vows Pledged

GRIMESLAND—The wedding of Miss Sybil Yvonne Howell and Gerald Glen Gaskins was solemnized Sunday, August 28, at 4:00 p.m. at the Proctor Memorial Christian Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Victor Howell of Grimesland, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Glen Gaskins of Route 3, Greenville.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Reverend F. T. Riley Jr., the bride's pastor.

The church altar was decorated with four seven-branched candelabra holding burning white tapers. Large standards of white gladioli and fern formed a background for the wedding party. At the altar was a pri dieu covered in white on which the couple knelt for the singing of a wedding prayer and the benediction.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Paul Majette, Mrs. Alfred Hugh Tucker, soloist, sang "Whither Thou Goest," by Singer, "Because" by Harlelot, and for the benediction "The Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length dress of blush pink lace over satin with fitted bodice and scoop neckline. The bouffant skirt was fashioned with flat bows of pink satin extending down the back.

Her veil of bluish illusion was attached to a bonnet-shaped head-dress of pink satin. She carried a white prayer book topped with valley lilies and an orchid.

Miss Melissa Whichard, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a tea length gown of turquoise chiffon over taffeta, accented with satin cummerbund of a deeper shade, and with matching satin shoes. Her headdress was a circular veil attached to a butterfly bow of turquoise satin.

The groom had as his best man his brother, Harold Gaskins of Charlotte. Ushers were Grady Briley, Charles Gaskins, Randolph Tripp and Bobby Joe Dixon.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Howell chose a Dior blue lace sheath with matching coat and hat. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Gaskins, mother of the groom, was attired in a peacock blue lace dress with matching feather hat. Her flowers were also white carnations.

The groom's grandmothers, Mrs. Victor Howell and Mrs. L. L. Adams, wore corsages of white mums.

For her wedding trip the bride changed to a blue and gray plaid cotton sheath with matching coat, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Greenville where the groom is a senior at East Carolina College.

Entertained Informally
On Saturday evening following the Gaskins-Howell wedding rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Whichard and Miss Melissa Whichard entertained informally for the young couple and the members of the wedding party, relatives and close friends.

The refreshment table in the dining room was covered with an imported white cutwork cloth. Pink and white flowers in a silver epergne flanked by pink candles centered the table. The three-tiered wedding cake was served from one end of the table by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. R. V. Howell and Mrs. Glen Howell, and Mrs. Glen Gaskins mother of the groom-elect, served punch as the guests helped themselves to nuts and mints.

Among the parties to honor Miss Howell were a miscellaneous shower on Wednesday evening when Mrs. C. F. Galloway and Mrs. Lela Belle Hoell entertained in the fellowship hall of Proctor Memorial Christian Church.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Elmore Hodges and Mrs. E. H. Galloway were joint hostesses at the home of Mrs. Galloway to honor the bride-elect. The honoree was presented a white basket filled with gifts.

Mrs. P. W. Majette was recent hostess to her bridge club and several additional guests at a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Howell.

Cook-out Given Deb Ann Moore

On Friday evening, Misses Milly Bowden, Judy Jolly and Ray Lane honored Deb Ann Moore with an informal cook-out at the home of Miss Bowden. Due to the bad weather, however, the cook-out became a cook-in and the guests retreated to an attractively decorated basement-playroom.

Upon arrival with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther D. Moore, Miss Moore was presented a corsage of the same flowers that appeared in the centerpiece on the dining table.

After being served tomato juice and hors d'oeuvres, the guests were served a supper of hamburgers with all the trimmings, potato chips, lettuce and sliced tomatoes, drinks and cake squares.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a blue wedge bed pillow and all the debs received gifts of handmade satin and lace sachets.

Off-To-College Day Observed

What Goes Through Teacher's Mind On First Day Of School?

Most children begin school each fall with mixed feelings — happy to see old friends, a little worried ("What's long division like?"), briefly sorry to see summer go. But the person at the front of the room has just as mingled emotions on Opening Day.

What goes through the mind of a typical teacher as she greets rows of new faces on a September morning? If we could overhear the thoughts of one — we might hear this:

"My name is Mrs. Thompson, and I know we're going to have a wonderful year together." (And I'll do my damndest to teach you some things. But, oh my, 399 of you — how can I give you each time?)

"I'd like each of you to tell us your name, and what you did this summer." (You'll probably all claim you launched moonships. That's all right; I've read enough science material to choke a Martian!)

"Oh, thank you, Johnny. Yes, I had a nice Summer too." (It certainly was hot down at State U. but, I picked up five more credits toward my M.A., and learned about the "new arithmetic" instruction, too.)

"I see some of you already are peering in your new reader. Tomorrow we'll divide into groups and dive right in." (And I'll find out which of you need challenge, and which need patient, careful help.)

"Now, remember, go quietly out to the playground right after you finish lunch." (Oh, dear, that wretched lunchroom. If the bond issue for the new wing had only passed, we wouldn't have to eat in shifts.)

"So your mother is serving at the PTA tea, Susie? That's grand; I hope everyone's parents can come." (The better I know them, the better I'll be able to teach you.)

"What's that, Harold? A new molar? How nice!" (That reminds me — the dentist bill. Paycheck can't stretch much further. Hope they squeeze a salary raise into the budget next time around.)

"Class, these drawings are lovely. In art class tomorrow, we'll try some paper-cutting."

"Gracious, there's the final bell already. See you tomorrow, and don't forget your lunch money." (Sometimes I wish I could do less collecting and book-keeping and a little more teaching.)

"Thanks for staying to help me wash the blackboards. Jeannie, you're a fine helper, just as your brother was." (That's the fun of it — seeing you, one after another, grow and learn and move on. My, I'm glad to be back.)

Mrs. Thompson may be fictional, but she's not unreal. Like most teachers, she worries about classes that are too large, buildings that are too old, a salary that's too small. She begrudges clerical burdens that steal precious teaching time.

She's determined to do her job right — and works nights and summers at it. She's irritable, tender, sentimental, and dedicated — and glad to be back in the harness.

Lauri's Winning Laurels

By VIVIAN BROWN
 AP Newsfeatures Writer

You must eat, drink and live the theater if you want to be part of it, says Lauri Peters, 17. So if you aren't willing to make that sacrifice, don't bother flirting with a stage career.

"I wouldn't marry anyone who didn't love the theater as much as I do," says the lively cast member of Broadway's "Sound of Music." "Not that there is any danger of that happening right now," continues Lauri, "because I don't have a steady beau. I have no intentions of ever leaving the theater for anyone."

"I am incapable of dissociating my personal life with my career, and that's the way it should be, if you'd do right by the theater. It's a full-time job."

The young celebrity, who was born Patricia Peterson in Detroit, receives many letters from people asking her about the possibilities of a stage career.

"It's hard to tell whether it is luck or timing," says Lauri, who arrived in New York from Cleveland four years ago. "I wanted some extra clothes. I had been studying tap dancing and ballet, and just for fun decided to apply for a chorus girl's job. 'She got it in 'Say Darling.' Then came another show, 'First Impressions,' five television shows, a test for a movie part in 'Exodus,' and the big role she plays now, one of the seven 'Trapp' girls in 'Sound of Music.' She has been in that role since September, 1959."

"Any girl who has been dreaming about a theater career should be sure she wants it more than anything. The first years take complete devotion. Maybe when you are on your way, you can have fun," she advises, "but you must continue to love it. You can't have a steady beau taking up all your time."

"The only time I date is after a show or on Sunday," she explains. "I sometimes meet people for lunch but that's not really a date."

Except for "some odds and ends," she says, she is through with high school, having just completed all requirements at Quintanos School. She has been studying voice, dancing, ballet and taking a jazz course with Mat Mattox and Luigi.

She is devoted to the flute. At 8 she was a first prize winner in the Ohio State Music Test. She loves to read and is now "devouring 'Ulysses.'" She has three brothers, 32, 29 and 23, all of whom spoil her, she says.

Lauri's beauty is unusual. Her hair and eyes are the same color — a tawny blonde, and with her

Shoppers Should Have Food Buying Know-How

RALEIGH — Do you have food buying know-how? It does pay to shop wisely when you realize that food is the largest single item in your budget, and will take 25 per cent of your family's income after taxes.

In buying for your family, it pays to know their likes and dislikes. But be sure you keep in mind the nutritional needs of the family. Mrs. Ruby Uzzie, consumer marketing specialist for the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service, advises all homemakers to be alert to price and cost.

She says, Make a shopping list and make it flexible enough to include food bargains as they occur. Learn the time of year that certain foods are in season because seasonal foods are often high in quality and low in price."

Price is important but remember that quality is equally important. Mrs. Uzzie says there are many signs of quality. Look for color, crispness, freshness, firmness, and be familiar with government grades and standards," says Mrs. Uzzie.

Remember that the quality of food you serve is no better than the quality of the food you buy — select food carefully.

Scald [Blanch] Vegetables Before Freezing: Specialist

Do you need to scald (blanch) vegetables before you freeze them? That is a question often asked Agricultural Extension Home Economists as home gardeners work with the last of the season's limas, Kentucky Wonder beans, corn, and other late vegetables.

"Scalding (blanching) takes little time and effort but it is necessary for top quality frozen vegetables," says Miss Nita Orr, frozen food specialist for the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service.

Miss Orr says scalding stops undesirable changes that will otherwise occur in the vegetables during frozen storage. The changes come about slowly, but they do occur and cause loss of flavor, food value, color, and tenderness. The heat treatment stops enzyme action in the vegetables which assures (together with proper temperature and good packaging) garden freshness of the vegetable at the end of the storage period from one growing season to another.

Here's a solution for what to do with Junior after he's all dressed up but not quite ready to leave for the birthday party. "Seal" him into a seersucker overall which you can make or buy. It's inexpensive and will go into the washing machine along with any normal load.

To prevent ice crystals from forming on ice cream stored in ice cube tray, cover lightly with waxed paper.

OAS May Also Be Inviting Trouble

Did the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States strengthen the solidarity of the Western Hemisphere nations by their denunciation of Castro and Trujillo, or did they place a wedge among the American nations that will be used subsequently to split the hemisphere?

There is no question about the outspoken manner in which the OAS dealt with the Castro government of Cuba for its communist leanings or the Trujillo government of Dominican Republic for its part in the attempted assassination of the president of Venezuela.

The language of the resolution pertaining to Cuba and communist intervention in Pan American affairs showed clearly the nations subscribing to the paper want no part of such intervention. On the surface at least, the resolution sets forth determination to oppose such intervention.

The breaking off of diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic under Trujillo's domination, plus economic sanctions against that tiny country certainly are among the harshest steps ever taken by the OAS against any of its members.

Will these actions bring the members in line and keep other members in line, or will they provide a climate in which distrust will breed between the American nations?

The right-wing dictator Trujillo now finds himself virtually cut off from any trade or aid from any of his neighbors. If he is to perpetuate his hold on the country he dominates, he will have to look to other sections of the world for friends and helping hands. It is the kind of situation ready-made for communist intervention . . . the kind of situation the Reds look for and attempt to exploit to the fullest when they find it.

Left-wing dictator Castro perhaps was handled less harshly by the OAS than was Trujillo. The Castro government of Cuba certainly expected what it got from the OAS, and perhaps more. The resolution denouncing Red China and the Soviet Union for attempting to use Cuba as a willing point from which to intervene in hemispheric affairs avoided mentioning Cuba although it is obvious that it was pointed directly toward the Castro government. In contrast to the action against Trujillo, the resolution advocated no political or economic sanctions against Cuba.

Whether the tough action by the OAS will bring about greater solidarity among the nations of the hemisphere, or will lead to further splits remains to be seen. At this juncture of history, it would be foolish indeed to take for granted that the position taken by the OAS foreign ministers precludes any future deviations to communism or attempts by the communists to intervene in the affairs of this hemisphere.

Checking JP Reports Should Become Routine

Steps taken in Pitt Superior Court to bring reports of the county's justices of the peace up to date should be followed periodically in this and other counties throughout North Carolina.

After the Grand Jury checked the reports in the Clerk of Court's office and found that 10 of the county's magistrates were delinquent in their reports, Judge Chester Morris lost no time in ordering the JPs to make their reports. By Monday all but three of the delinquent JPs had made the required reports to the Clerk of Court's office and the other three were expected to furnish the necessary information by the Wednesday morning deadline set by Judge Morris.

Certainly steps should be taken through the courts to see that the justices of the peace file with the Clerk of Court the monthly reports that are required under law. As officials with authority to try cases and handle other business of lower courts within their jurisdiction, it is important that their reports are a matter of public record in the form required under law.

Pitt is probably only one of many counties in which some of the magistrates are delinquent in filing their reports as required under the law. In this and in other counties some definite steps should be taken to see that the reports are filed and that such delinquencies do not go undetected.

Since specific responsibility for checking on these reports apparently has not been exercised, it would be in the interest of this county, we believe, if the Grand Jury would assume the responsibility for periodically checking to see that the reports have been filed. It would be a service to the county and to its citizens if the matter of these reports is not forgotten just because they have now been brought up to date.

Newsmen Face Hard Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — This presidential campaign may exhaust the candidates, confuse the public, and even become the most bitter in history. But one thing is sure: It's going to be rough on the newspapermen covering it.

Already Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate, is a casualty with an injured knee he banged against a car door while campaigning in North Carolina. He will be hospitalized perhaps two weeks.

A check on the plans of Nixon and his opposite number on the Democratic ticket, Sen. John F. Kennedy, gives an insight not only into the problems of the newsmen traveling with them but into their campaign techniques.

Both men sometimes will deliver prepared speeches—Kennedy more often than Nixon, who admits he'd rather talk off the cuff. This kind of campaigning is relatively easy to cover.

But both men will do a lot of whistle-stopping—short hops and quick talks off the cuff. This means newsmen trying to keep up with them must take quick notes and write quick stories and, having written them, dash to a phone or telegraph office and then dash back to be sure they missed nothing.

In Nixon's case, particularly, it may be difficult on any given trip to find something new in what he says in each place. This is because on one trip—which may mean speeches in three or four cities—he probably will limit himself to one or two or three main themes and repeat them all along the way.

This is what he did when, right after the Republican convention, he went to Reno, Los Angeles, Honolulu, three other Hawaiian islands, back to Honolulu, and then to Seattle. This business of repeating the same themes on any given trip may be interesting to each audience along the way. But it will be tough on the newsmen looking for a new lead at each stop.

Nixon is doing now what he did in the 1956 campaign. On his plane or train he finds time to sit down and talk frankly about his techniques and views with newsmen accompanying him. Kennedy doesn't go in for much of that.

Nixon has prepared newsmen for his method of repetition by telling them they may get a little tired of it. He will oversimplify, perhaps, but he has a reason for this, too—to get across a sense of what kind of man he'd be in the White House.

In the 1956 presidential campaign Adlai Stevenson used the "position paper."

From time to time during the campaign he would release—at great length and in great detail—a statement of his views on the major issues and how he would meet them if elected. These were prepared for him by experts in various fields.

Sometimes Stevenson failed to follow up these statements of his views in his speeches. He seemed to think everyone had read the "position papers"—which were too long for many papers to publish—and therefore apparently saw no need to dwell on them later.

Nixon, too, will issue "position papers" and then follow them up in speeches, although he may only touch on them in a general way.

Kennedy is not going to use any such technique, one of his top aides says. He will outline his ideas in his speeches.

Strength For Today

GIVING AWAY YOUR EYES
Some months ago a man was injured on a ship in New York harbor and was admitted as a patient at the Marine Hospital.

In the bed next to him was a young boxer whose right eye had been so severely injured that he had lost the sight of it and was being forced to retire from his athletic career. When the injured man learned of the young boxer's predicament he offered to donate the cornea of his own eye. This eye had been injured in some respects but not in the cornea. The offer was accepted and the cornea transplanted.

When the postcards, letters of congratulation, and praise from the hospital staff began pouring in upon him, the self-sacrificing man's only comment was, "I am very happy to hear that my good friend can see again, and I am glad I was in a position to aid him."

We wonder sometimes at the spiritual resourcefulness and power of undistinguished people. Few even among great spiritual leaders would have made a sacrifice such as this. In this world as well as in heaven, many that are first are last, and many that are last are first.

And the gift of an eye was significant. We make the gift of our eyes every time we pass on any helpful experience to another person, particularly to our own children. It is often said of parents, "They would give their eyes to their children." The answer is, that if they are wise parents, they do.

What Paht O'Th' South Y'From, Suh?

By PATRICIA MOORE

Notes In A Travel Book

Following in the footsteps of our predecessors, we are writing about a vacation. But there were a few noteworthy events which happened.

The most noteworthy was the ride through Jacksonville, Florida this past Saturday night. We noticed an overwhelming number of patrol cars, accompanied by police-motorcyclists at every entrance and exit to the boulevard through town.

There seemed to be almost as many police cars and motorcycles as people in a small town. We surmised that they were "after" somebody.

And the next morning we picked up a Sunday paper to read about the racial disturbances which occurred that Saturday in Jacksonville—probably some along the huge boulevard along which we drove. But we brought no broken eggs, knives or tempers back with us.

That was one part of Florida.

The rest is beautiful—if you go really inland into the lake region and escape some of the more flagrant tourist spots, which are fun and fabulous but not really pretty. Half the flowers are in the orchid.

Alligators will eat a small child and they are said to have quite an appetite for dogs.

The orange groves are set out in neat rows. Most yards have tropical fruit and flowers—at least one orange tree, grapefruit tree and a banana tree. And native Floridians are rare; you'll find a lot of residents from this state.

And it rains a lot during August and September there, but usually only during a part of the day. It dries up quickly and the sun is out again.

There are many attractions, not actually off the beaten path, but away from the great places of Miami Beach and Daytona. Such places may be found in the Mexican settlement in Tampa, Ybor City—with the Columbia Restaurant. And the many little shops which sell imported lace and exquisite pieces of furniture.

Well, so much for what. We aren't really publicizing Florida. It doesn't need it!

But with the American driver, it is almost a miracle that one can drive thousands of miles and still survive. We saw a lot of "maddening" drivers, but not a single accident—which is remarkable. Especially if you have driven through those Georgia roads—or the wilds of Georgia. It is easy to deduce that Francis Marion was the Swamp Fox. South Carolina has swamps and roads, too.

As for roads and scenery, North Carolina does pretty well.

Opinions In Brief

"A lot of people regard Washington, D.C. a disaster area whenever Congress is in session."—Miami Herald.

"Iowa farmers are turning to the corporate form of doing business for a number of reasons, a survey by the University of Iowa shows. The survey of 20 farm corporations in Iowa showed 17 citing the ease of transferring property as the reason for incorporation. The second most frequently mentioned reason was the continuance of business easier after the death of the original owners."—Oskaloosa (Ia.) Herald.

"Mother Nature apparently is incapable of reading political platforms. The platforms of both major parties are full of plans for solving the 'farm problem.' Urban Trial By Fire

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

City life is becoming the concern not only of politicians but of sociologists and economists. Cities are increasing in population but every city has blighted areas, slums, places unfit for human habitation; on the other hand, cities are the centers of culture and progress in the arts and sciences.

At a meeting of the Academy of Political Science, urban problems were discussed by several experts. Of particular concern was the fact that cities strangle themselves by improper utilization of transportation facilities. Professor James Marston Fitch, of Columbia University, said:

Subjected to a whole set of anarchic and destructive forces, the city is expected to prove itself, medieval style, in a kind of trial by fire and water. If it survives, this theory seems to go, well and good; if it succumbs, good riddance. This preposterous attitude permits the subsidy of all sorts of forces hostile to the city and yet forbids any defensive response. Thus no one sees anything improper in the Federal Government's spending $5 billion to move automobiles into the city. Yet respectable opinion pretends to be outraged at the obvious corollary—that is, that there should be free tax-supported parking facilities to receive these cars once they have dumped into the city.

The fact of the matter is that unless our cities discover a method for handling the enormous and apparently impossible traffic problem, the practical question has to be solved as to how people can live in cities. Transportation is the essence of the urban problem. It makes no sense to put up superior housing and then make it impractical for people to get to work on time, with some convenience. No large American city has handled its transportation problem with any satisfaction.

Most of the great cities of the world were built near rivers, on the shores of harbors or bays and later at the juncture of railroads. Few of them were planned. Most of them grew haphazard, with streets of varying sizes and in many different directions. Naturally, old cities had no streets built for two or four-lane automobile traffic. In fact, some streets are so narrow in width that they do not even permit room for single-lane automobile traffic. The scarcity of garages and the unwillingness of the public to pay for garage space reduce lanes of traffic by excessive parking on streets. Cities have increasing difficulty in handling this problem. In fact, motorists, in despair, disobey the law and take their chances on getting tickets.

Largely because of the parking of cars, our cities have become filthy. Sanitation departments find that they can only clean those parts of streets which are uncovered by cars. Children cannot play on the streets and special playgrounds have to be provided for them in parks or in schoolyards at a distance from their homes. Cities will survive. Those who believe that they can solve the urban problem by running away from it are like the people in Northern cities who feel that they have solved their own racial problems by moving to the suburbs. The Negroes they flee come to the suburbs, too. Cities exist because they are convenient. They exist because they are markets, because they are organized, because they provide centers of culture as well as work. Louis Winnick, Executive Director, New York State Commission on Economic Expansion, says:

"The city, by virtue of its numbers, variety and extreme concentration becomes the habitat of the shared productive agent. Many of these productive agents such as buildings, mass transit, communication lines, and water and sewer mains constitute a fixed investment too costly to be readily duplicated elsewhere. Because it is immobile and not easy to reproduce, this massive quantity of physical capital becomes almost equivalent to a natural resource, both attracting and

Other Editors Saying Boosting Prison Guards

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

In its quest for an improved North Carolina prison system, the State Prisons Commission plans to request a 48-hour work week for prison guards, a move that would require something like two and a half million dollars, but a move that is regarded as desirable—indeed, necessary. Prisons Director George Randall says it is only fair and just to reduce the hours of guards, who work 60 to 66 hours each week.

For those who might complain about the increased expense, we might remind them that most other state employees are on a 40-hour week and that at one time guards worked 84 hours one week and 72 the next. So it doesn't seem out of line for North Carolina, which regards itself as a progressive state, to try to remedy this situation. For a man to work 84 hours a week—at the pay of prison guards—borders on the ridiculous.

A series of proposals have been offered which, if adopted, would tend to improve tremendously the overall prison system of this state. The Advisory Budget Commission has approved a permanent improvements budget of $1,395,000. Items in the permanent improvements budget include funds to convert the Chatham County camp to an alcoholic treatment center for up to 400 prisoners; a 100-man segregation unit at Central Prison in Raleigh; additional cellblocks at various Prison units; renovation of the Henderson County camp.

Plans for a crime prevention campaign are in the works. The National Institute on Crime and Delinquency will send a team to North Carolina next year to start the program. The institute has encouraged similar programs in other states. Citizens committees were set up at various prison units to work on crime prevention.

In the request for a shorter work week for prison guards, some 383 new guards will be needed the first year, and an additional 20 in the second year. The two and a half million dollars is a lot of money, but we think the state will get a great return on this expenditure through increased efficiency, better satisfied guards, less prison trouble, fewer escapes, better discipline within the camp units.

Additional guards were hired just a few months ago. At that time guards worked 84 hours one week, 72 the next. Now they are working from 60 to 66 hours each week too many hours on duty promotes carelessness, fatigue and indifference. Augmenting the prison guard personnel will be an investment well worth the money and the effort.

An Eye Peeled For Pardner Pete

By ELMER ROESSNER
In hear Pardner Pete is now working in California. Last I heard of him he was in New Jersey; in a few weeks he may turn up in your home state.

Pardner Pete—so-called because of his "Howdy, Pardner!" greeting to prospects and victims—has a simple, legal operation.

He moves into a town and, first off, checks the state partnership laws. Then he rents a store. He'll agree to almost any rent if the location is conspicuous, and to any length of time if the landlord will accept a small down payment.

Then he stocks the shelves with the most colorful packages of groceries, drugs, radios or whatever seems a good idea at the time. The store is strictly "front shell"; there is nothing more in the second row, nothing more in the basement.

He plasters the store and its front with signs. "Cut rate!" "Big deal!" "Rare bargains!" they scream. He puts up flags and pennants and, if he can get credit, a rainbow of lights. Then he advertises for a partner with $10,000 to invest—although he will close for $5,000. When investors come around, they are impressed. That is especially true if Pardner Pete has a few relatives in the vicinity. They are persuaded to drop in and make large purchases, which will be returned later.

To the would-be businessman, Pardner Pete's setup looks prosperous. He's got a $20,000 investment, Pete says, but he can't reap the rich benefits unless he has a true partner who will work as hard as he does. Hiring an assistant won't do, he explains. They want high union wages, won't work and will steal you blind. So he has to have a partner, who can draw $100 a week and half the profits, perhaps $200 or $300 more.

When he hooks a sucker, he closes the deal on a Saturday. He takes the victim's check, shakes his hand and possibly la-

"Howdy Pardner!" and gives him a key to the front door. THE MONDAY AWAKENING
The partner arrives on Monday and opens up. Pete doesn't show up. Customers seem scarce; the stock seems skimpy even for that few. He may call Pete's last address but there will be no answer. Pete is off to another setup.

Eventually the buyer discovers that the daily sales will not pay him a living wage and that the stock is all "front stuff" with no reserves.

Then the suppliers drop around and demand payment for their part of his meager stock; eventually the landlord will appear with demands for rent; bill posters, sign makers and others will bring bills for immediate payment.

The investor will eventually discover that his assets are a thin stock without much hope of sale, and that his debts include rent for years, payments on cash register and shelves, balance due on the stock, taxes, local fees and possibly labor liens.

WIPED OUT
The sucker may have nothing with which to pay these claims. His partner has departed with the $5,000.

The partner, off with the money, has violated no law. He has sold half interest in a business for a sum which is surely his. His partner is legally obliged to pay the debts of the venture.

The partner, of course, has never signed an agreement to stay and work; he has never guaranteed the amount of stock or the volume of trade. The sucker has a shadow business and not-so-shadowy debts. He may have bankrupted himself or condemned himself to a life of paying debts he did not know he was shouldering.

He cannot demand arrest or sue. His old Pard has done nothing illegal nor has he failed to fulfill a contract.

Note: Don't ever enter a partnership contract without the guidance of your own attorney.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

She's Corresponding With 100 Senators

CHICAGO (AP)—A pert University of Chicago coed, who sneaked into both 1960 political conventions and a news conference held by Sen. John F. Kennedy, now is corresponding with all 100 United States senators. Karen Mansfield, 18, wrote each senator asking his views on medical aid bills, President Eisenhower's foreign policy, the coming presidential election and legislative each senator is sponsoring. The replies have ranged from lengthy letters to envelopes of printed literature. Sen. Orrin Long (D-Hawaii) wrote Karen the longest letter. He answered all four questions in detail and told Karen he wasn't convinced his party's presidential candidate, Sen. Kennedy, will win in November. The race is "something of a toss-up" he told her. Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.) wrote that he is strongly behind some form of state-federal old age health benefits. Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) told Karen he wasn't bothered that medical care bills have been called socialistic. "During the 23 years I have been in Congress," he wrote, "hardly any progress has been made in any field that someone didn't claim it to be socialistic." Among these he listed Social Security, the federal highway program and unemployment compensation. "Some of the senators were too busy to write personal replies," Karen said. "They just sent printed information in personal envelopes." Among these were Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) and John Carroll (D-Colo.). Karen, a sophomore, wrote the letters independent of her political economy courses. "I'm just interested in politics," she said. Her interest took her, without credentials, to both national political conventions this summer, behind locked doors for a press conference with Sen. Kennedy, onto the speakers platform when Kennedy addressed the Textile Workers' convention and into scores of receptions, meetings and conferences. "I just sneaked in," she told a reporter. "I'd get there early, watch and wait for the right moment, and then walk right in with assembled reporters." Her political luck is another thing. "I have a perfect record," Karen said. "I've never worked for a winner." Her father, Ralph Mansfield, an electrical engineer, is president of the Independent Voters of Illinois and a board member of the Americans for Democratic Action. After graduation Karen hopes to run for some office—possibly state representative. Her ambition is someday to be elected to the United States Senate.

Estimate 460 To Die On Weekend

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents during the long Labor Day weekend may kill 460 persons, the National Safety Council estimates. That figure would be one short of the record set in 1951 for a Labor Day holiday period. The holiday starts at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Monday. The council said nearly all of the nation's motor vehicles will be on the highways some time during the 78-hour holiday. The council reported Tuesday that traffic deaths for the first seven months this year totaled 20,540, including 3,450 in July. The July toll was the second highest on record. There are virtually no taxes in the little Alpine principality of Liechtenstein, which derives most of its income from fees paid by international corporation making it their headquarters.

Fall Sign-Up Is Begun By ACP

The Pitt County ASC office is now in the midst of ACP Fall sign-up, according to J. Lyman Edwards, chairman of the Pitt County ASC Committee. The sign-up started Aug. 22 and will last through Friday. Edwards stressed the importance of participating in the Agricultural Conservation Program. Since this is the last week of the sign-up period, Edwards urged all farmers "who have not been in to make application, to do so immediately." He pointed out, "ACP is anxious to assist with the purchase of lime, fertilizer and seed for a permanent vegetative cover or assist with seed for a cover crop." "Protect your top soil," Edwards said, "which will enable you to realize a greater profit from your basic crops—tobacco, cotton, peanuts, corn, and wheat." The ACP program will pay from $2 to $2.50 per acre for seed used as a cover crop. The following seed may be used: oats, rye, barley, wheat, vetch, crimson clover and rye grass. The assistance varies, depending on the amount of lime needed, from $16.80 to $26.80 per acre in establishing a permanent vegetative cover.

Director General Of Moose Visits Lodge Thursday

Paul P. Schmitz, director general of the Loyal Order of Moose, will visit Greenville Lodge 885 Thursday, September 1. Lodge Secretary E. M. Baldrée today reminded members of the Order an enrollment ceremony would be held at 8:00 p.m. Thursday, honoring Schmitz. Moose with candidates to be enrolled were urged to assure their presence. Schmitz is the first director general to visit the Greenville Lodge. Regional director Frank Ray, of Savannah, Ga., will also be present. Schmitz guides activities of more than 1,250,000 men and women in the nearly 1,900 Moose Lodges of the United States, Canada and Great Britain. He was elevated to the fraternity's highest position in December, 1953, succeeding J. Jack Stoehr who served as interim director following the death of Malcolm Giles in 1953. Only one other man has held this top post, the late James J. Davis, generally referred to as the founder of the Order. A native of Aurora, Ill., Schmitz continues to carry his membership in the Aurora Lodge. He was first employed by the Supreme Lodge as a member of the Organization Department in 1921. He was later transferred to the Executive Secretary's office. Promotion followed to the position of Chief Deputy Supreme Secretary. The director general is also a past Supreme Governor of the Order and a member of the Pilgrim Council. In addition to his heavy Moose schedule, he is a director of the Merchants National Bank of Aurora and chairman of the board of directors of the Aurora Savings and Loan Ass'n. Schmitz will be interviewed on WNCN-TV Friday morning, between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock.

Not So Certain It Was A Shark

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (AP)—A terror-stricken man was hauled aboard a rescue boat Tuesday night screaming, "I've been bitten, I've been bitten by a shark." Richard Chung, 25, a medical student, was swimming about a quarter mile off shore when the attack occurred. Although his leg was bitten to the bone, doctors at Shore Memorial Hospital in nearby Somers Point listed Chung's condition as satisfactory and said he would not lose the limb. Less than two weeks ago, John Brodeur, 24, of Jersey City was attacked by a shark just 25 yards off a Sea Girl beach. Brodeur's right leg was amputated Monday. Chung, a native of Seoul, South Korea, is a student at Taylor Hospital in Ridley Park, Pa. A boardwalk patrolman saw Chung in the water, thought he was in trouble, and called for lifeguards. Lifeguards Richard Clune and Lawrence Stedem got into a boat and headed for Chung. When they pulled him aboard, they found his right leg was badly ripped. One lifeguard applied a tourniquet in the boat. Later Chung underwent emergency surgery. Hospital officials said Chung appeared to have been bitten by a fish but they did not say specifically that it was a shark.

Says Railroad Remedy Is Roads

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—One way to boost railroad passenger traffic, James C. McCloy says, is to build better superhighways. McCloy, a veteran of 52 years of railroading, says more and better highways mean more accidents. This tends to scare people off the roads and onto trains. The 70-year-old Louisville man retires today as district passenger agent for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

Storm Turns Big City Evening Rush Hours Into A Nightlong Nightmare

NEW YORK (AP)—A sudden summer storm drenched the New York metropolitan area Tuesday and turned the evening rush hours into a nightlong nightmare. Brief but violent downpours ushered in by thunder and lightning raked the region from Connecticut to New Jersey. Flash floods sent water pouring into subway stations, inundated expressways with water and mud and tied traffic in tortured knots clogging streets from the East River halfway across Long Island. An estimated 100,000 homeowners bound New Yorkers were stranded. At least 20,000 subway riders were trapped in broiling heat as more than a dozen trains ground to a halt in steaming tunnels. Some 150 persons on a stalled train under the East River suffered heat exhaustion. The storm hit in Connecticut, struck suburban Westchester and Rockland counties in New York and parts of northern New Jersey. In New York City, heavy rains fell in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Queens. But Queens and Long Island's Nassau County appeared hardest hit. At least 18 fires were touched off in Nassau and burned several homes. Power failures left nearly 19,000 homes along the North Shore without electricity. A power blackout affecting 23,000 customers in Queens lasted up to three hours. Queens reported two deaths. A boy drowned when he fell into a manhole that had been opened as an emergency drain, and a man drowned in the flooded cellar of an apartment building. The boy, Michael Sheehan, 4, was sucked into the hole and swept away. His body was carried through 15 miles of sewer, almost from end of the borough to the other. It was recovered at a sewage disposal plant near Idlewild Airport.

A monumental traffic jam burgeoned on Long Island, across the East River from Manhattan, when thousands of worried housewives set out by car to meet commuting husbands stranded by the subway tieups. Subway service in Queens was restored before midnight, but the effects on auto traffic lasted long past that. Scores of cars caught on the flood-swept roadways had been stalled by water rushing up to window level. Side roads off expressways clogged up solid as crowds of cars trying to escape the bigger jams congealed to a halt. Throughout areas where traffic slowed, vehicles by the hundreds overheated in the humid air. Adding to the city's woes was a 25-minute power failure during the night on Manhattan's lower West Side. Street and building lights blacked out, police stations darkened and automatic telegraph machines stopped.

Economy Angle Is Behind Brash TV Private Eyes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One curious custom of TV's private eyes is driving around in open convertibles even when all the hired guns of gangland are hot on their trail. The habit, however, is a matter of studio economics, rather than stupidity or bravado. "It's a lot easier and cheaper to get the proper lighting on a man in an open convertible than in a sedan or a coupe," explained the producer of a show with a top-down hero. Another irksome TV custom is the wild driving—by both hunters and hunted—during automobile chases, with the wild screech of tires as the cars go around even slight curves in the road. Shrieking tires, I am informed, are merely sound effects added to give viewer excitement. Most of such chase scenes are filmed by cameras without sound tracks. The noises are later added—along with siren sounds—by technicians. Most sounds other than actors' voices that we hear during a completed show have been "laid in," as it is called, after the show is filmed. That includes the clomp of horses' hooves, shattering glass, even the ringing of telephones. In filmed shows, it is the aim of the director to produce a sound track clean of everything but necessary dialogue. When an outdoor shot is necessary, it is customary to swathe the sensitive microphone in cheesecloth to prevent it from picking up even the sound of a gentle wind. Even the gunshot noises one hears on TV are put into the sound track later. When a scene is being shot—particularly when the actors are close to each other—the small charges put like cap blank bullets sound like cap pistols when fired. The charges are just large enough to make a little realistic smoke, but small enough to eliminate the danger of burning a nearby performer.

Alex Was Hit By Buckshot

IRVINE, Ky. (AP)—Henry Lutes asked his son, Alex, 47, to see why their chickens were making a disturbance. A few minutes later, the elder Lutes decided to make his own check, remembering that about 100 chickens had disappeared earlier in the summer. Looking into the dimly lit chicken house, he saw something crawling on all fours and fired a lot of buckshot. It was Alex. He's recovering in the local hospital—in a non-sitting position.

(Continued from page four) anchoring those industries which can find no better or cheaper substitutes. Any tendency, for example, for financial establishments to leave New York City would be held in check not only by close linkages to each other, but also by a complex and expensive underground network of telephone and telegraph lines radiating to every part of the globe. Those who move into the suburbs of the large American cities soon find that the city catches up with them. It is more constructive to improve the cities and to make them modern.

Rival Politicos Agree Dog Days Of Congress Damaging To Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing party spokesmen agreed today the dog-days session of Congress now drawing to a close has been politically damaging to the Democrats.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the session had demonstrated that the Democrats "could develop no cohesive party spirit."

For that reason, he said Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the party presidential nominee, failed to get passage of several bills he wanted and didn't make good on promises to introduce others.

Kennedy has promised to carry his fight to the country.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader, said in a separate interview that the session "has hurt Congress as a whole, but has hurt the Democrats the most."

"From the President on down the Republicans have been repeating the argument hourly, on the hour, that the Democrats have a two-thirds majority in the Senate and should be able to get what they want," Mansfield said.

"That, of course, is a majority in numbers but not in unity. The President himself has the equivalent of that majority in his veto power. And he must take the responsibility for defeating some measures with veto threats."

Mansfield indicated he thinks President Eisenhower made some political gains by resubmitting his 21-point legislative program and demanding quick action on it—which he didn't get.

"But the President should tell the American people that what he advocated in that program not only unbalanced the budget for this fiscal year but for many years to come," Mansfield said.

Dirksen said there was no question in his mind that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, had benefited politically in the session.

Dirksen said that because of a liberal-conservative split among the Democrats Kennedy abandoned plans to initiate new legislation.

Mansfield said it wasn't from any lack of effort on the part of Kennedy and his running mate, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, that the Democrats didn't get the kind of legislative program they wanted.

"No one could have worked harder than Sen. Kennedy and no one could have cooperated more than Sen. Johnson," Mansfield said.

Dirksen credited a new fighting spirit on the part of the Republicans with contributing to the defeat of some of Kennedy's proposals.

"I think we showed the country that we Republicans have a unity of purpose and effort behind our presidential candidate," he said.

Ailing Marilyn Can Be Costly

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marilyn Monroe rested in a hospital today while film folk speculated over financial repercussions of her illness.

Shooting on her current movie, "The Misfits," has been all but halted. One co-star, Clark Gable, reportedly has a contract calling for his work on the film to be completed by Oct. 1. After that, sources close to the film said, he will go on overtime at $48,000 a week.

Miss Monroe's physician said the blonde actress is suffering from acute exhaustion as a result of several weeks' filming in 100-degree heat near Reno, Nev.

Studio Suspend Millie Perkins

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Millie Perkins has been placed on suspension by 20th Century-Fox Studio for refusing a role.

The job: The lead in "Tess of the Storm Country." Miss Perkins' last film role was the lead in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

The studio said Tuesday the former New York model, now 22, had declined other roles in the two years since "The Diary of Anne Frank" was made.

Gavin, Sanford Campaign; Both Report 'Enthusiasm'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The campaign for governor by Republican Robert Lee Gavin was formally opened in High Point and Democratic nominee Terry Sanford wound up an unscheduled tour of the western part of the state Tuesday.

Speaking to 1,000 followers, Gavin said the Democrats would win no more "elections by default" in North Carolina. The Sanford attorney also outlined a nine-point platform to the near capacity turnout.

Meanwhile, Sanford said he found great enthusiasm in the mountain area for the Democratic national ticket of Sens. John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson. He added, "I found evidence everywhere the fervor of anti-catholic sentiment is diminishing." This remark was in reference to Ken-nedly, a Catholic.

Sanford added in Asheville, "My tour of Watauga and Clay makes me feel the folks up here are convinced the Democratic party is the best party and that Kennedy is the best man."

Gavin's platform included these statements:

Education — "Improvement (of education) will automatically improve our incomes, and, hence, our ability to finance improved education."

Conservation and development— "Add improved agricultural packing and processing factories, and rehabilitate 'stripped North Carolina resources.'"

Industry— "Stress need of including agriculture to greater degree in industry development."

Labor relations— "Called right to work law 'declaration of independence of worker from dictatorial union abuse.'"

Agriculture— "Need for diversification toward new crops, and away from one-crop system."

Gavin, in his address, urged Democrats to break party lines and vote Republican. He also contended every administrative "department of the state government should be bi-partisan, composed of both Republicans and Democrats."

Dolores Del Rio Returns To Films In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dolores Del Rio is making her first Hollywood movie in 48 years—playing Elvis Presley's mother, of all things.

How does she look? Fabulous. She has the same smooth face, the same waist-length auburn hair as when she played Ramona, Evangeline and Madame DuBarry. The record books show her to be 55.

How does she do it?

"I have no particular secrets," she said, "except perhaps that I am never bored. I think boredom is a woman's worst enemy. When she stops taking interest in what is going on around her, that's when she starts to grow old."

"I am too busy to be bored. I have my home in Mexico. I have my husband (stage and TV producer Lew Riley), whom I married last year. And I have my career."

"Actually, I have had four careers. The first was here in silent films; I started in 'What Price Glory' 34 years ago. The second career was talking films. I was really in trouble because my English was very poor. But I took lessons and I survived, while most of the other silent stars disappeared."

She remained in Hollywood until 1942. After starring with Orson Welles in "Journey Into Fear," she returned to her native land.

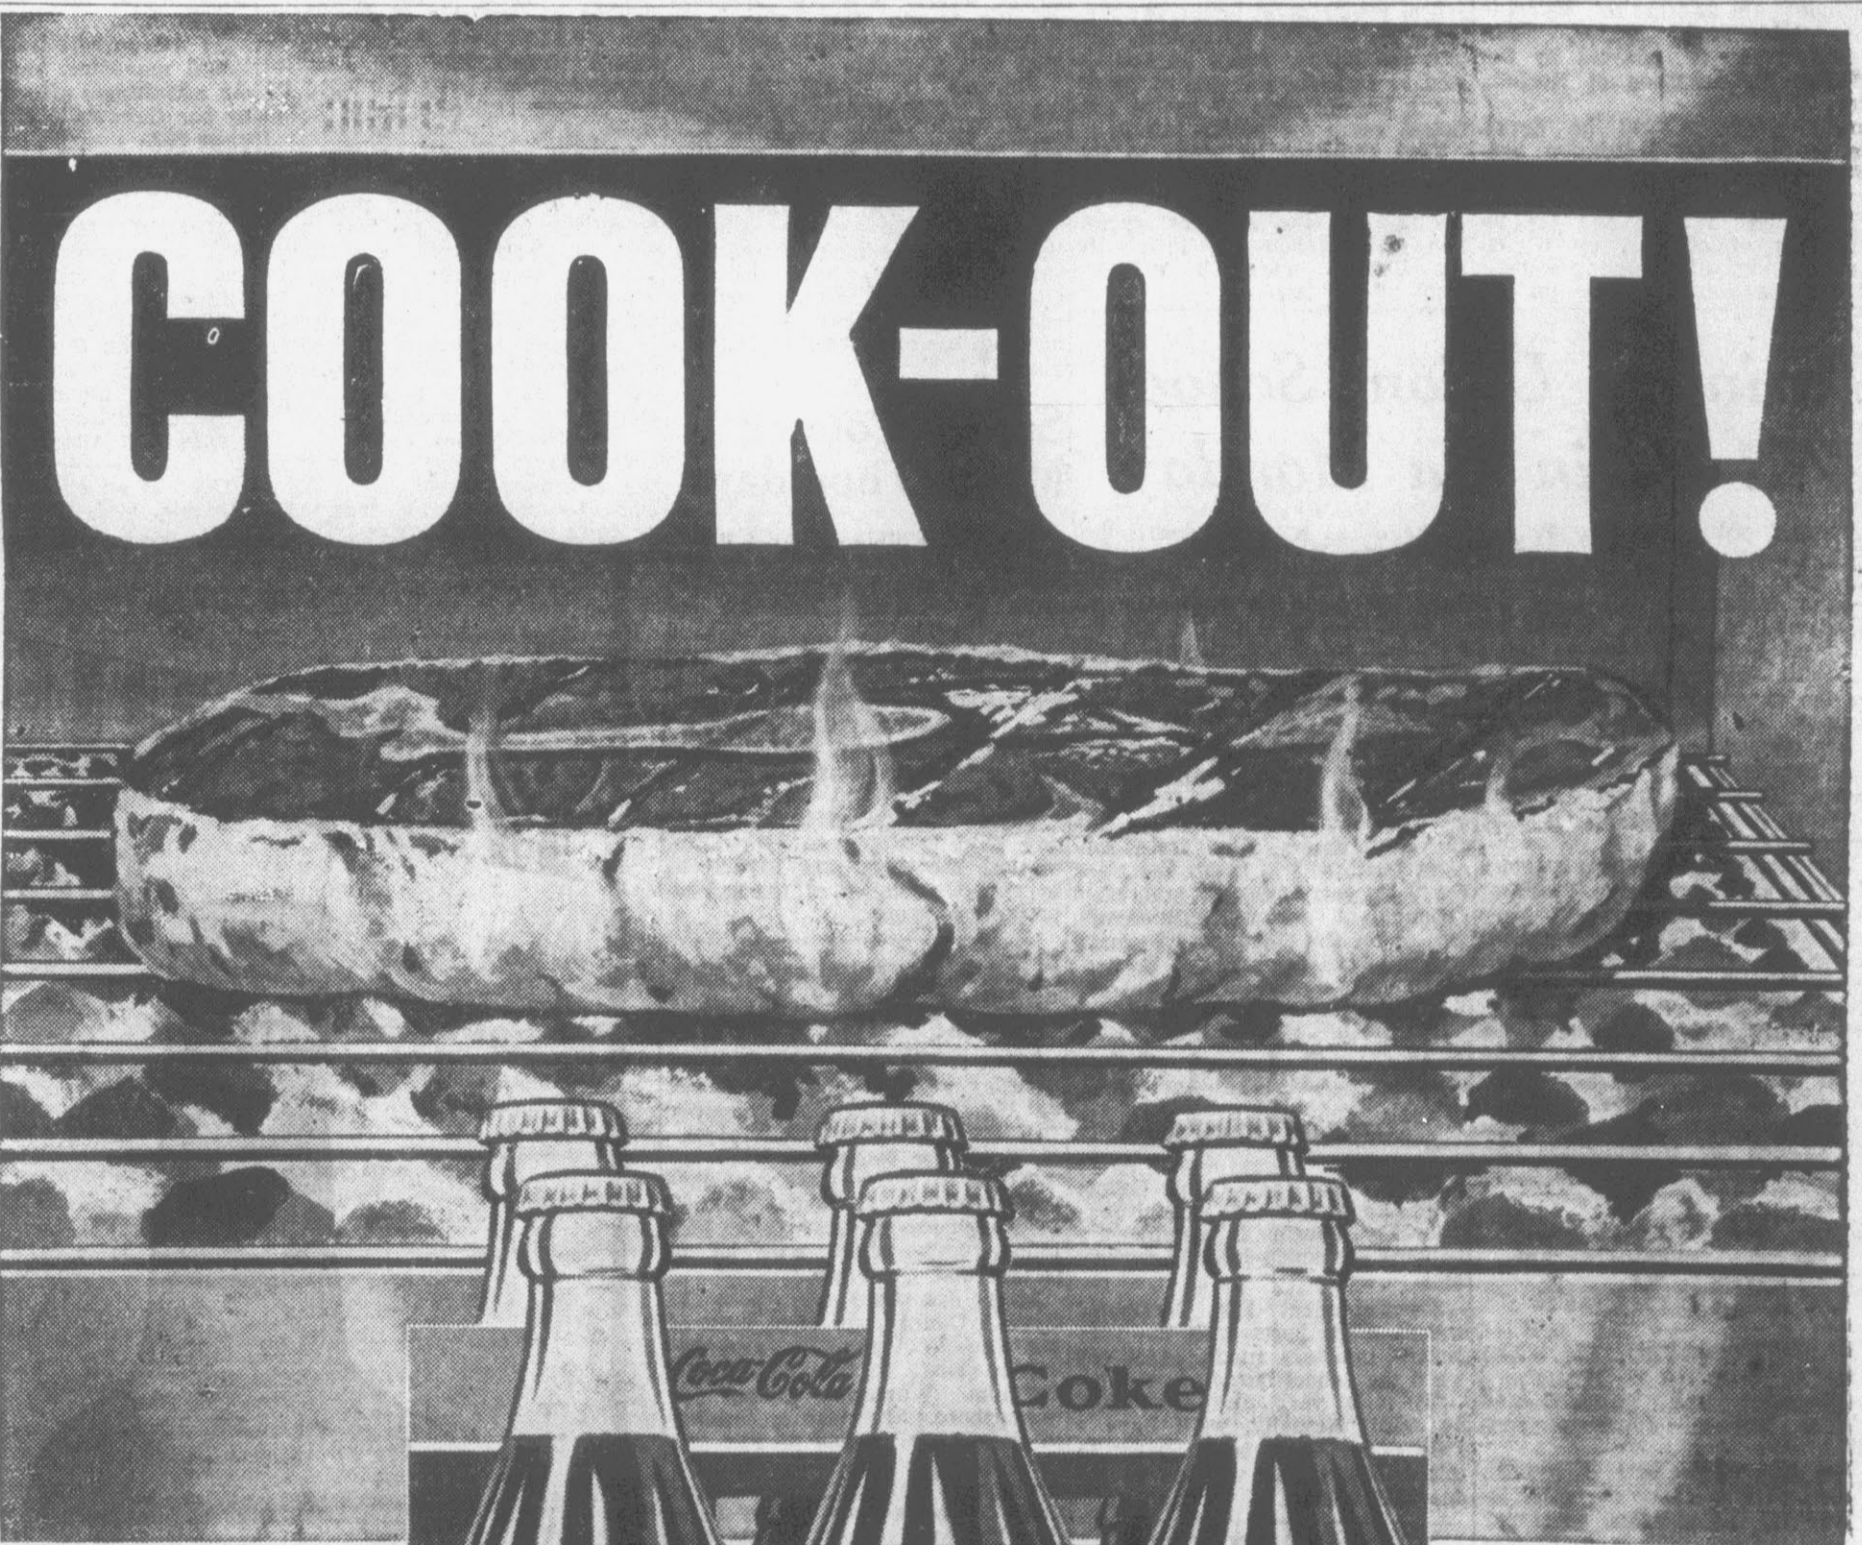

"I was unhappy with the kind of roles I was getting," she explained. "Also, I wanted to go home. Something happens to a person who lives too long in a foreign country. He becomes neither a part of the new country, nor of his own. A person needs to have an identity."

"My third career was in Mexican films. I started at an exciting time, when the film industry down there was just beginning. It was a thrill to help it grow and to pioneer new markets in Europe and South America. Now it is a thriving business."

"The stage is my fourth career, and perhaps the most satisfying one. I started it only recently, and it was a real challenge to enter a new medium and to face audiences in different cities. I was playing 'Lady Windemere's Fan' in Buenos Aires when the call came for this picture."

This picture is "Black Star," and she plays an Indian, as she did in so many Hollywood films. Presley is her half-breed son.

Istanbul, Turkey, formerly was known as Byzantium and Constantinople. It has a population of 1,205,000.

convention Tuesday forenoon. Suggested amendments to barber law, adopted by the executive board, and to be presented to the convention include: That a student entering barber school and applicants for licenses from out of state, be required to have a high school diploma or its equivalent; That an applicant for a barber school teacher's certificate be a high school graduate with at least five years' experience in a barber shop; That all future appointees to the State Board of Barber Examiners shall have passed the State Barber Board examination or its equivalent; That the present eight-month school requirement for barber students be legalized by statute, and that the Barber Board be authorized to regulate the size of space for a barber shop to insure sufficient room for public safety; That additions be made to the list of approved sterilizing agents used in a shop, and amendments to improve the sanitary operation of the shop and to clarify the Board's power in enforcement of the law.

Predict Traffic Toll Of 17 Over N.C. Labor Day

CHARLOTTE — Summer's last long holiday weekend—extending through Labor Day, Monday, September 5—will bring death to 17 persons in traffic accidents on North Carolina's streets and highways, the N.C. State Motor Club predicts.

"We sincerely hope that motorists taking to the roads in our Variety Vacationland during the holiday will prove us wrong," said Thomas B. Watkins, president of the motor club. "We would be happy indeed if the death toll falls well below last year's total of 15. However, our estimate was arrived at after a thorough and careful study of past records and experience."

The State Highway Patrol's official count of Labor Day fatalities will begin at 6 p.m. Friday and continue through midnight Monday, a 78-hour period. The same 1959 period, in addition to the 15 fatalities, produced 406 injuries, 785 accidents and 816 driver violations. Leading violations were following too closely, failure to yield right-of-way, speeding and driving under the influence of alcohol.

The vast flow of motor vehicles—traditionally the greatest of the year—will clog roads leading to the mountains, seashore and other resorts, considerably increasing the danger to all percentage-wise, Watkins warned. He urged motorists to make certain that their cars are in top mechanical condition, to observe every common-sense rule of the road, and to practice courtesy and caution in an all-out campaign to make this a safe and happy Labor Day holiday.

Science At Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A new surgical approach to relieve a common cause of deafness in elderly folks is showing encouraging results, the U.S. Public Health Service reports.

The operation—developed by private researchers aided by government grants—involves implantation of a very thin plastic tube in the ear, to serve as a kind of channel for the passage of sound vibrations. The method is aimed at restoring hearing in patients suffering from an ailment known as otosclerosis. That's a disorder in which the small bones of the inner ear—through which sounds are normally transmitted—become rigidly fixed in position and are no longer capable of transmitting sound vibrations. Until about a year ago, the best surgical method for this condition involved a direct attack on the rigid structures. Government doctors say, however, that in the older type operation there's a possibility that scar tissue may once again lead to rigid fixation of these tiny bones. In the new method, the plastic tubing is inserted in such a way as to "by-pass" the rigid bones—thus serving as a channel for the transmission of the vibration directly to the sensitive internal ear.

Other news on the medical front this week ranges from a new use for boxing gloves to heart disease in animals. Kayo for Scratching A Wilmington, Del., skin disease specialist reports he has found that boxing gloves offer a valuable new aid in preventing patients from scratching themselves during sleep. Dr. Elmer R. Gross, writing in the Archives of Dermatology, says ordinary mittens and gloves—commonly used for skin-disease sufferers—can sometimes be removed by patients while they're sleeping. But boxing gloves, which are laced on at bedtime, work fine.

Staph Stopper A new form of penicillin, described as "capable of destroying the resistant staphylococcus germs responsible for hospital epidemics" has been developed by the Bristol Laboratories of Syracuse, N.Y. It's an outgrowth of the production last year of the first synthetic, or man-made, penicillin. Scientists forecast at that time that the development of synthetic penicillin would open the way to what might be termed "tailor-made" varieties—each especially designed to attack a specific disease problem. Bristol researchers say their new product is an example of this concept. Combination Punch The Parke, Davis & Company has announced development of a kind of double-barreled drug weapon against malaria. It's a two-in-one combination of two preparations previously employed separately in the attack on the disease. One of the constituent drugs, amodiaquin, is designed to destroy the infective malarial agents in the blood; the other, called primaquine, is aimed at combating the parasites in the tissue, and also certain other parasitic forms which, if unchecked, can transmit the disease from man back again to mosquitoes—and ultimately back to man again.

Three Arrested For Spectacular Theft Of Gems

NEW YORK (AP)—Three men were arrested today in connection with the spectacular $30,000 theft of gems from a slow window at Cartier's famed 5th Ave. jewelry house June 25. Police said they found what they believe to be all the precious stones, stripped of their platinum settings, in a plain brown paper bag. They also recovered a bundle of valuable securities. The arrests, climaxing a joint investigation by city police and FBI agents, came after an elaborate trailing operation through the city Tuesday night. About 30 men in seven cars, keeping in touch by radio and taking short turns to allay suspicion, shadowed two of the men as they drove meanderingly from Manhattan to Brooklyn and back. Around midnight, the two men in the car, Kingdon deNormand, 51, of the Bronx, and Joseph Coffey, 23, of Manhattan, were finally stopped. A third man, Juan Pasquale Fuca, 27, was arrested at his Manhattan home. Police found the bag of jewels in the car along with a tape-wrapped hammer. In deNormand's pocket, police said, was a packet of negotiable bonds estimated to be worth $30,000. Police said the bonds were believed stolen in burglaries last month. The three men, all with criminal records, denied any part in the Cartier burglary. DeNormand told officers he got the gems and bonds from "a friend of mine named Frank."

DeNormand was charged with receiving stolen goods. Coffey was charged with burglary and vagrancy for associating with known criminals. Coffey, police said, is the burglar who shattered Cartier's window in the early hours of June 25 and scooped up more than 30 pieces of jewelry. A Cartier guard, Conrad Millson, caught a fleeting glimpse of a man diving through the window of a car and saw the car race away.

OLYMPICSBOUND SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bing Crosby and his wife, accompanied by movie producer William Collier and his wife, left here Tuesday by air for London and the Olympic Games in Rome. GROWTH-STIMULATOR MOSCOW (AP)—Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported Tuesday that a Soviet chemist has developed a new growth stimulator for plants and animals. Tass said Prof. Jibrail Guseinov treated oil waste with a solution of caustic alkali and produced a substance with properties similar to hormones and vitamins. Better Schools Meet Set Here For Sept. 27

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, East Carolina College president, and Dallas Herring, chairman of the State Board of Education, will be speakers at the Eastern North Carolina meeting of the Citizens Committee of Better Schools here Sept. 27.

The meeting, a work conference, is scheduled to get underway at 2 p.m. in McGinnis Auditorium. It will be the first of four such meetings to be conducted over the state and is expected to draw a large delegation from each school administrative unit in Eastern North Carolina. These area meetings will lead to a state-wide meeting to be held at Chapel Hill Nov. 21 and 22 with Dr. James B. Conant the featured speaker. Citizens interested in the improvement of their schools will hear a keynote address by Dr. Jenkins. They will then break up into small groups for a discussion of the State Curriculum Study's recommendations. Special attention will be directed toward ways and means of adapting the recommendations to the improvement of local schools. Discussion guides will focus upon the purposes of the school, how well the school program is achieving its purposes, needed improvements, and how these improvements may be realized.

Dallas Herring will deliver a concluding challenge to participants urging them to study the needs of their schools and then develop action programs for improvement. Representatives of the press, radio, television, members of the General Assembly, school board members, school district committees, county commissioners, United Forces for Education leaders, and citizens interested in school improvement will attend. Around 800 persons are expected for the meeting. O. P. Johnson, superintendent of Duplin County Schools, will serve as chairman of the meeting.

Expect Farm To Become Bedlam BRANDON, S.D. (AP)—Burton and Dorcas Ode are well aware that their quiet farm home will be turned into a reasonable facsimile of Bedlam for three days next month. The Odes will be host Sept. 21-23 to the National Plowing Contest and to the two major presidential candidates, along with a horde of newsmen and thousands of spectators. Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy each has agreed to talk farm problems. Political bookmakers will eye crowd reactions minutely to see which makes the most hay among Midwestern farmers. Burton Ode, 37, farms the land with his father, Paul. They are well aware of the hurly-burly that goes with a plowing contest since Burton has entered three contests himself, placing second in one. The Burton farm appears to have been picked for the big invasion for a variety of reasons. It's near the population center of Sioux Falls. It contains the right combination of crops, level and hilly land for the varied plowing contests, and it has enough space for parking, exhibits, and the like. Burton, a tall, soft-spoken man, says the Kennedy-Nixon talks aren't likely to change his "good Republican" vote but assures that Kennedy will get a warm welcome. Mrs. Ode, who feeds three hired hands along with her husband and 2-year-old daughter, is aware that some farm hostesses on similar occasions have entertained with such traditional country fare as chicken dinners. Dignified and thoughtful, like her husband, Dorcas Ode is not quick to make the obvious move. "I haven't gotten any orders yet," she said.

Second Husband Died Same Way TORONTO (AP)—Three years ago Alice Wilde's husband was killed when the fire truck he was driving crashed. Monday her second husband, also a fireman, died at the same suburban Scarborough intersection when a fire truck and a gravel truck collided. Capt. Samuel Wallis, commander of the British frigate Dolphin, discovered Tahiti in 1767.

Training Union School Will Begin On Monday

Classes will also be provided for Beginners and Nursery age children.

Helped Amputate His Own Foot

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—A power shovel operator lost part of his right foot when his machine's gears caught and mangled him Tuesday. Nervous C. Kazar, 63, was trapped for 50 minutes as firemen, police and others tried to free him. Finally Dr. Walter Gillogley began cutting away at Kazar's crushed foot with a scalpel. Kazar, who chain smoked throughout the efforts to free him, reached down to make the final cuts when the doctor couldn't reach a critical area. Taken to a hospital, his mangled foot was amputated.

Rites Thursday For Miss Addie Johnston Miss Addie Johnston, 84, died Tuesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock at Pitt Memorial Hospital after two weeks of illness. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday morning at eleven o'clock at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church by her pastor, the Rev. H. M. McLamb, and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Miss Johnston was born in Greene County but spent most of her life in Greenville. She attended local schools and North Carolina Woman's College at Greensboro. She was a teacher in the public schools of Pitt and Greene County for 34 years and since her retirement had continued to make her home here. She held the oldest membership in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. She is survived by several nieces and nephews, Mrs. E. H. Gray of LaGrange, Mrs. Richard Caswell, S. Wesley Johnston and Alton R. Johnston, all of Greenville, and Franklin V. Johnston of Carmel, California.

Likes School Of Quonset Huts

CADIZ, Ky. (AP)—Trigg County High School opens its school year Thursday, housing in a temporary building fashioned from 12 quonset huts. Superintendent Roy McDonald wasn't a bit upset with the temporary quarters made necessary when the school burned last June. "It is a very nice situation," he said. "Actually, we'll have a little more classroom space in this building than we had in the one that burned."

Paper 'Gambled' For Fifty Years

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—For 50 years the St. Petersburg Independent has gambled—and seldom lost—on Florida's sunshine. The late Maj. Lew B. Brown offered to give away the daily issue of the Independent whenever the sun did not shine in St. Petersburg for a 24-hour period. He began the practice Sept. 1, 1910, and has had to give away only 211 editions of the paper during the 50 years. Officials and staff members of the Independent plan a golden anniversary celebration Thursday.

Large Field In Medal Tournament

Conley, Farley, Allen And Webb 'Big 4' In Tourney

By JOHNNY HUDSON
Reflector Sports Editor
The eighth annual Greenville Country Club and Golf Course medal tournament was slated to be off and running this weekend with local pro Harold Thomas pointing the figure to a foursome who could win the big prize.

as this morning.
'It's hard to predict a winner because there are many in the field that could win it,' Thomas declared.
Other top players Thomas considers contenders are Harry Rainey, Wally Howard, Dallas Clark and Buddy Murray.

able to break into the championship circle at the local club but as Thomas points out, 'it is no telling what he might shoot.'
Howard, who has just moved to Greenville, is a golfer from way back and is capable of taking the title.
A couple of youngsters, Clark and Murray both stand reckoning with Clark won the club match play tournament this spring and Murray has been a consistent performer at the club for several years.

Don Conley Jr. is the defending champion and will be attempting a feat unaccomplished by other golfers in the field, winning the trophy a third time. Conley also carved his name on the medal play trophy in 1957.
W. L. Allen, another favorite, is the only other golfer to win the title twice. He won the medal play affair in '53 and '54.
Other winners have been Erceel Webb '58, Reynolds May '56 and Molt Massey.
May and Massey will also bear watching in the two-day 36-hole tournament this weekend.
Although the tournament will be on a medal play scale, the field, expected to exceed 70, will be divided into flights according to handicaps.
The tournament was originated in 1933 by Simon Moe Jr. A floating trophy, donated by Moe and his mother, is given to the champion each year.
A little spice has been added this year with various prizes to be awarded for such feats as the longest putt and the best tee shot from the third hole.
A driving contest will also be staged on Sunday afternoon.

ECC Gridders Arrive

A 2:00 meeting today opened the 1960 football campaign for East Carolina College.
Hoping to improve on a 5-6 1959 record, at least 55 candidates, including 17 lettermen, were scheduled to report to the campus ready to begin practice tomorrow morning.
Included in the reportees will be 25 promising freshmen. It has been the largest freshman catch by Coach Jack Boone since his coaching stint began here in 1952.
Over half of the squad arrived yesterday and were issued equipment. Other members were scheduled to hit Greenville this morning.
Assisting Boone this season will be Frank Madigan and Bill McDonald, a couple of EC veteran coaches, and Odell Welborn, who has just joined the staff, replacing George Tucker, new head coach at Elon.
Opening game on the '60 schedule brings Guilford to College Stadium for a Sept. 24 engagement.
Football tickets for the Pirates' 1960 season are now on sale. According to Athletic Director N. M. Jorgensen, mail orders from Pirate Club members are coming in at an encouraging pace. But good seats are still available.
ECC's home schedule includes five games on the Pirate Club card, with the sixth home game with the University of Richmond being on a single admission basis.

Laver Picked To Topple Fraser

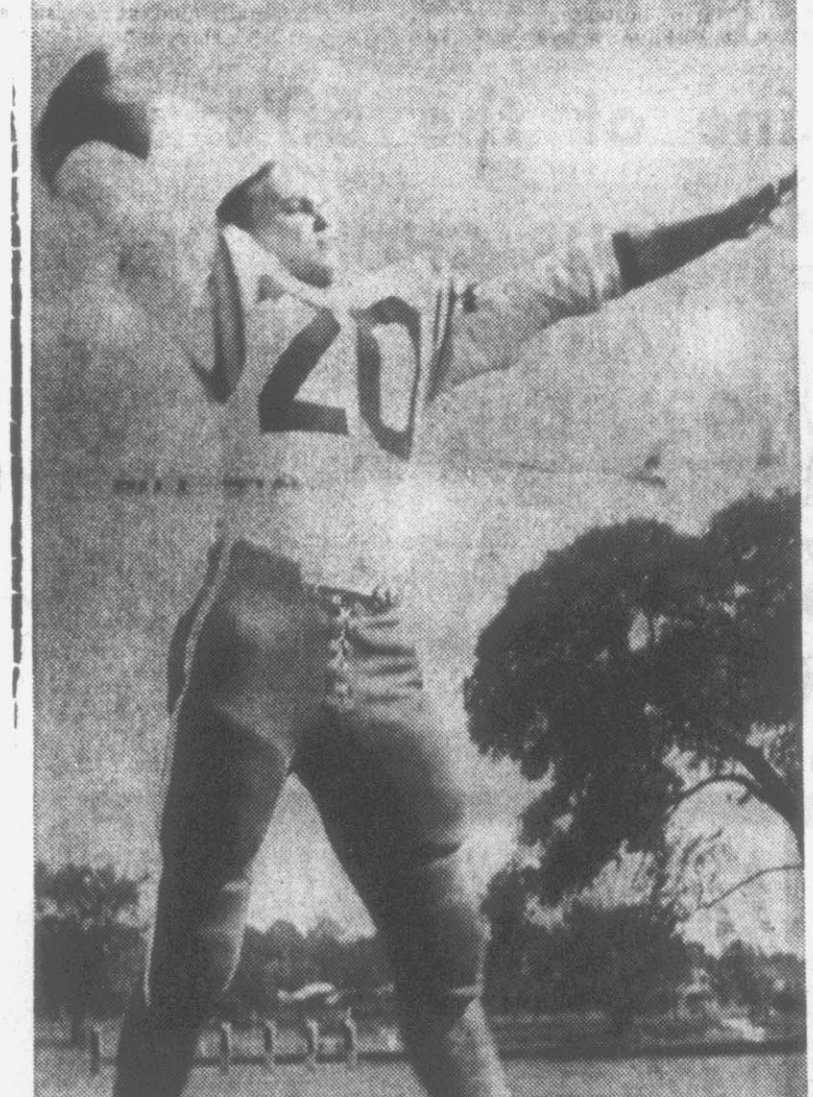

NEW YORK (AP) — Can Neale Fraser repeat as United States national singles tennis champion?
Most of the players—the top ones—in the tournament which opens Friday in Forest Hills, privately think Fraser is a sitting duck.
He could win it," said Adrian Quist, manager of the touring Australian team, today, but Rod Laver has been playing awfully well."
Hardly an expression of confidence in Fraser, who last year not only won the United States title, but won two singles and shared in the doubles in leading Australia to victory over the Americans in the Davis Cup challenge round.
Since then, though, Fraser has been anything but impressive. He lost the Australian title to Laver, and failed to come through at Wimbledon.
Fraser and Roy Emerson won the national doubles last week and it could be that Fraser is pulling his game up to a peak for the nationals.
Then came Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio; Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis; Bernard (Tut) Bartzan of San Angelo, Tex.; Roy Emerson of Australia; Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, and Bobby Wilson of Great Britain.

Uncle Sam Adds Two Big Medals

By TED SMITS

ROME (AP) — America's husky shotput axes, favored to make a sweep of the medals, led the way today into the opening of the Olympic track and field competition, where the United States hopes to overhaul Russia in the unofficial team point standings.
Bill Nieder, Dallas Long and two-time champion Parry O'Brien didn't even bother to pull off their sweat suits as they qualified for this afternoon's shotput final.
Nieder, the former University of Kansas ace who holds the world record at 65 feet, 7 inches, and the other two Yanks easily tossed the shot past the 54-11 1/2 qualifying minimum.
The United States, trailing Russia by 26 points, also got rolling in its pursuit of points as Dave Sime, Ray Norton and Frank Budd eased into the second round of the 100-meter dash along with co-world record holders Armin Hary of Germany and Harry Jerome of Canada.
The only other track and field event to be decided today, however, was the women's broad jump—where only one U.S. gal, the 1956 silver medal winner, Willye White of Greenwood, Miss., qualified.
But while the U.S. swimming squad also advanced two for tonight's finals in the men's 100-meter backstroke event — Bob Bennett of Encino, Calif., and Frank McKinney of Indianapolis — and was not the best for Uncle Sam.
Brian Phelps of Britain, the 16-year-old European champion, shocked U.S. hopes by leading 16 qualifiers into Thursday's semifinals of the men's high diving event.
Gary Tobian of Glendale, Calif., the favorite in this event after pulling a surprise by winning the springboard gold medal, was fourth, and Bob Webster of Santa Ana, Calif., was ninth.
The three U.S. entries, Joann Terry of Indianapolis, Irene Robertson of Ingewood, Calif., and Shirley Crowder of Atlanta, were eliminated in the opening heats of the women's 80-meter hurdles.
Miss Robertson was last in her heat, won by Russia's great Irina Press in 10.7 seconds, equalling the Olympic record set in 1956 by Australia's Shirley Strickland.
The United States also suffered a setback in rowing, when the pair with coxswain from the Lake Washington (Seattle) Rowing Club was beaten by four lengths by Russia. A America, defending champion in this event, gets a second chance to make Saturday's final in Thursday's repechages.

Pirates Stomping Right On Toward Loop Pennant

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
It will be a long time before American League fans forget Tuesday night.
In Washington, there was a wild, whacky 10-inning spectacular in which the White Sox and Senators scored one run between them in the first seven innings and 20 runs in the next three. Chicago won 11-10.
In Boston, the Red Sox took both ends of a two-night double-header from Detroit after 7 1/2 hours and 25 innings. Boston won the opener 5-4 in 15 innings and the second game 3-2 in 10 innings.
Boston's Pete Runnels went on a batting rampage with nine hits. Boston Manager Mike Higgins also went wild, charging out to the mound to square off with Jim Bunning after the Tiger pitcher had beamed Don Buddin with a pitch.
In New York, a torrential rain and flash floods kept many would-be Yankee Stadium customers home, but those who made it saw the Yankees rally in the ninth to defeat Kansas City 3-2 and maintain their 1 1/2 game lead over Baltimore.
Only in Baltimore, there was no unoward incident as the Orioles whipped the Indians 4-1.
For seven innings in Washington, the fans saw a tight pitching duel between the White Sox' Frank Baumann and the Senators' Pedro Ramos. Washington led 1-0 at the end of seven.
Chicago took a 2-1 lead in the eighth on two walks and singles by pinch-hitter Ted Kluszewski, Roy Sievers and Minnie Minoso. Washington bounced back with four runs in its half, three coming on Jim Lemon's 31st home run.
The White Sox roared back with five runs in the ninth. Minoso's three-run homer giving them a 7-5 lead. Washington tied it on Billy Gardner's two-run blow. In the 10th, Nellie Fox doubled home two runs and Gardner's wild throw gave Chicago two more for an 11-7 lead. The Senators bounced back with three runs on a double by Bob Allison, a triple by pinch-hitter Julio Becquer and a home run by Lenzie Green.
Runnels' sixth hit, a double in the 15th, scored Frank Malzone with the winning run for Boston in its first game. A throwing error by Tiger shortstop Chico Fernandez permitted pinch-hitter Tom Brewer to score the winning run in the 10th inning of the second game. Rocky Colavito had tied the score in the 10th with his 27th home run for Detroit. Runnels

Practice Briefs Rose High

Heavy work failed to cease in the Rose High football camp yesterday. Coaches Bud Phillips, Jerry Warren, and Bo Farley rushed the squad through routine drills following a picture-taking session and closed the day with a short scrimmage.
Coach Bud Phillips, back in good humor following the scrimmage, expressed satisfaction with the squads development. Improvement from the Saturday scrimmage, termed as sluggish, was noted.
Drills included in the practice saw the linemen working on the sleds with the backs stressing pass defense.

Patton Enjoys Good Round

By WHITNEY MARTIN
A hole in one on the New Orleans Country Club course helped Bert Burdick of Baton Rouge, La., to a round of 64 and a 36-hole total of 134, good for top honors as the nation's amateur golfers bid for berths in the USGA national tournament.
The tournament will be held Sept. 12-17 at the St. Louis Country Club.
Competitions were held in 33 sections Tuesday, with three Monday, and a total of 181 places were scheduled to be filled. There were 18 exemptions bringing the St. Louis total to 200.
The play at Garden City, N.Y., was only half completed as a thunderstorm washed out the second round.
Burdick's 64 round matched the course record held by professional Freddie Haas. He got his hole on the 182-yard par 3 eighth hole. His 134 total was eight-under-par and 11 strokes better than the second-place finisher in his district, Charles Rosen II of New Orleans.
Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., nearly matched Burdick without benefit of a hole-in-one. Aaron, qualifying at the Spartanburg, S.C., Country Club, had 69-67-135 over a par 72 course. He was runnerup in the national two years ago.
Scores in Aaron's district ran low. Seven of the eight qualifiers broke par 144 for the two rounds.
The New York Metropolitan District had the largest entry—133—and the most places—13. Chicago was next with 132 and 12.
There were no notable failures among the contenders. Buffalo's Ward Wettlaufer led the section at Lewiston, N.Y., with a two-over-par 142, and Billy Joe Patton added three hits in the nightcap to tie Chicago's Al Smith at .324 for the batting lead.

In the seventh inning of the second game, Buddin was hit on the forehead by lesser bunning's pitch. That brought Higgins racing out of the dugout to charge Bunning with deliberate basing.
Three ex-Kansas City players starred in the Yankee victory. With the score tied 2-2 in the ninth, Joe DeMaestri, traded by the A's to the Yankees last winter, singled and was sacrificed to second. Hector Lopez, another ex-Athletic, singled DeMaestri home with the winning run. Cletis Boyer, still another old KC player, drove in the first two Yankee runs with a home run, his 12th.
Chuck Estrada, 22, Baltimore's pitcher, pitched as well as at any time in his illustrious career, fired his third shutout of the season Tuesday night and the 50th of his career as he defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 10-0.
It was Spahn's sixth straight victory and ninth in 10 decisions since the All-Star break. His season record is 17-7.
The victory enabled the Braves to snap a three-game losing streak and move back into second place, a fraction of a point in front of the Cards. Milwaukee and St. Louis are 6 1/2 games behind the Pirates who defeated Los Angeles 5-2. San Francisco nipped Philadelphia 2-1 and Chicago topped Cincinnati 5-4 in afternoon games.
New York maintained its 1 1/2 game lead over Baltimore in the American League race, defeating Kansas City 3-2 as the Orioles downed Cleveland 4-1. Chicago's third-place White Sox outsluged Washington 11-10 in 10 innings.
Boston swept a two-night double header from Detroit 5-4 and 3-2. The first game went 15 innings and the second 10.
Spahn, nearing 40, shackled the Cards with five hits for the 284th victory of his 15-year career. In 10 of these, he's won 20 or more.
Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock each drove in four runs as the Braves hung the seventh defeat upon Ernie Broglio, St. Louis' 16-game winning right-hander.
Home runs by Roberto Clemente and Dick Groat helped Pittsburgh's Bob Friend register his first victory over the Dodgers since July 23, 1958. A turnout of 41,143 pushed the Dodger home attendance over the two million mark for the second straight year.

Sam Jones struck out 14 and drove in the winning run in a pitching duel with the Phillies' Robin Roberts. Neither pitcher issued a base on balls. Jones won his 15th with a single in the fifth that scored Willie Kirkland, who had tripled home Orlando Cepeda with the Giants' first run.
Ernie Banks hammered a home run off Joe Nuxhall in the last of the ninth to break up a 4-4 deadlock and give the Cubs their fifth victory in the last six games with the Reds.

Farmville

Farmville's Red Devils, just three days away from their 1960 football opener, started tapering off today following a rugged scrimmage session under the lights last night.
The Devils devoted almost the entire practice to scrimmage last night. Danny Dilda, All-Conference second choice last season, reeled off several long gallops in drawing most of the attention of the night workout.
The Farmville club spent Monday afternoon in skull session and held a short scrimmage the same night. Kickoffs and punts were also stressed.
Last night's scrimmage also resulted in a leg injury to Jimmy Pollard, halfback and defensive linebacker. The extent of the injury is still unknown. Pollard has been counted on as a defensive stalwart for the Devils.

By BERT NELSON
ROME (AP) — In both finals on Thursday's Olympic track competition an American is my favorite to win. But the high jump and 100 meters are vastly different in outlook.

The short sprint is one of the most discussed events of the games. Four great dashmen are in the running. The high jump, however, is the exclusive property of John Thomas, the No. 1 standout of the meet.

Thomas is up against four other seven-footers. But so amazing is his prowess that he is regarded as a cinch. He has done seven feet more than 50 times and holds the world mark at an awe-inspiring 7-3 1/2.

Behind Thomas I look for a battle royal. Valery Brumel, the youthful Russian, has pushed the European record to 7-1 3/4, and countryman Viktor Bolshov, has cleared 7-3/4 this year. The United States has defending Olympic champ Charles Dumas and 17-year-old Joe Faust, each has cleared 7 feet.

My pick for second, though, is the Swedish veteran, Stig Pettersson. His best is 6-11 but he is very consistent and a fine competitor. Next I like Dumas, also a good fighter. Brumel, Bolshov and Faust, who has been slowed by an injured foot.

The height will be at least 7-2, well over Dumas' Olympic record of 6-11 1/2.

The 100 meters features three North Americans against Europe's finest. Ray Norton and Dave Sime of the United States both are 10.1 men, which was the accepted world record until last week. But they face Canada's 19-year-old Jarry Jerome and Germany's Armin Hary, the new co-holders of the mark at 10 flat.

I like Sime to win. The fastest man alive in early 1956, he was knocked out of the Melbourne games by an injury and hasn't been himself since. But he is coming fast now and can take it all if he gets a decent start.

Behind Sime I look for Hary to hold on for second with Jerome, who may be bothered by inexperience, grabbing the third. Norton gets the fourth.

The steeplechase figures to be monopolized by the Europeans, headed by new world record holder (8:31.4) Zdzislaw Krzyzowski of Poland, three strong Russians, including ex-record holder Semyon Rzhishchin, and Germany's Hermann Buhl.

On past performances America's Phil Coleman, Deacon Jones and George Young don't figure to make the final. But all three are capable of much better times than Jones' 8:49.7.

In the 800 meters, Roger Moens of Belgium, and perhaps all three of America's sub-1:47 runners—Tom Murphy, Jerry Siebert and Ernie Cunliffe—should advance to the finals.

In the 400-meter hurdles I look for an American sweep, with Glenn Davis defending his title and Dick Howard edging Cliff Cushman for second.

Predict Record Labor Day Race

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP)—Observers predict that a new Darlington International Raceway record of 130 miles an hour will be set during time trials for the Labor Day Southern 500 stock car race.

The five fastest drivers in today's four-lap qualifying runs received the first five starting positions.

Time trials which end Saturday will determine the 50 starters in Monday's $95,000 classic.

Drivers in the open qualifying runs are eligible to earn $4,150. Additional cash is awarded for drivers breaking the track record for their particular make of car.

Favored to sweep the three positions on the front row were Pontiac drivers Fireball Roberts, Cotton Owens and Bobby Johns.

Roberts holds the one-lap qualifying record of 128.006 m.p.h.

Timer John Starrett wanted to be certain he had the exact time when swimmer (top) touched edge of pool during girls' 200 meter breast stroke race at annual Kiwanis Aqua Classic in Somerville, Mass. But in going so he lost his footing (center) and plunked clothes and all into the pool. His mistake left him water logged but the onlookers enjoyed it thoroughly. (AP Wirephoto)

Owens Happy To See Marks Broken

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
ROME (AP)—The rise of a new and phenomenal generation of record-smashing track champions has left to pain or jealousy in the heart of Jesse Owens, the all-time great of America's Olympians.

"I feel like a father who has come to watch his successful children," the brilliant Ohio State athlete of the 1930s said today.

"It gives me a wonderful sensation to watch them win and to hang up new records. I feel that I have had a part in it."

It was Owens who on an unforgettable afternoon, May 25, 1935, at Ann Arbor, Mich., set four records within the space of an hour. One of them—the broad jump record—endured until Ralph Boston bettered it a couple of weeks before the opening of these 17th Olympic Games.

In the 1936 games at Berlin, with Hitler goose-stepping toward World War II, the lithe Negro from Cleveland won four gold medals in an amazing one-man show. He won the 100 and 200 meter races, the broad jump and shared in the sprint relay.

His records in the 100 (10.3 seconds) and the broad jump (26 feet, 5 1/2 inches) still are the targets of the world's present stars during the next ten days.

"As my records fell, one by one, I found myself with mixed emotions," Owens said.

"At first, I was resentful. It was like owning a toy and treasuring it for many years—then having it suddenly snatched away."

"There was disappointment and a great feeling of emptiness. Then

I realized that I had set the records which drove these boys to new heights. It gave me a wonderful warm feeling."

Owens today is lean and hard, although at 185 he is 20 pounds above his weight of the 1935 games. Tremendous energy and drive give him a look of youthfulness.

Although one of the outstanding athletes ever to compete in this mighty international sports festival, Owens found sentiment smothered by cold bureaucracy when he sought to pay a visit to Olympic Village Tuesday.

"They knew me, but that made no difference—I had no credentials," Owens said. "I got in on a trainer's badge."

Two weeks shy of his 47th birthday, Jesse works with the Illinois Youth Commission out of Chicago. His job is kids—keeping them out of trouble, rehabilitating the delinquents.

"I love all the athletes, but I have three favorites on the present squad," he said. "John Thomas, Rafer Johnson and Ralph Boston."

"As for Thomas, it's not that I am awed because he can high-jump 7 feet 3 inches. It's just that I admire the way he does it. He is such a nice kid."

"I think Johnson is fantastic. I always thought anybody who ran over 220 yards had to be crazy. But this fellow works his heart out for two days in ten different sports for one lousy medal. It's the test of a real man."

"I don't know Boston well, but I like him. When he jumped 26 feet 1 1/4 inches to break my record recently, he told somebody that I had given him an okay, that I had said I was tired of the old record, anyway."

"I really didn't say it. It was a good thought on Boston's part and he was dead right."

Olson Clashes With Jones In Ten Rounder

CHICAGO (AP) — Carl (Bobo) Olson, former middleweight champ turned light heavyweight, clashed with undefeated Doug Jones in a 10-round bout in Chicago Stadium tonight.

This will be the first time Olson has appeared in Chicago since he lost his title here to Sugar Ray Robinson in 1955. Robinson knocked him out in the fourth round of that match.

The bout will be televised by the ABC network at 9 p.m. (CDT). Scoring will be under the 5-point must system.

The 32-year-old Olson, fighting as a light heavy since he returned from a brief retirement in 1956, won his last eight fights and has moved to sixth place among 175 pound contenders.

Jones, 24-year-old New Yorker, is undefeated in 15 professional fights and now ranks fourth among the lightheavies.

Coach Walker Cooper of the Kansas City Athletics began with Springfield, Ill., in the Western Assn. in 1934.

Rams Wash Hands With Cannon Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Elroy Hirsch, Los Angeles Rams general manager, washed his hands of the celebrated Billy Cannon case with these words:

"We see no benefits to be derived from pursuing the case any further."

Hirsch said Tuesday the Rams are dropping the right to appeal a federal court decision which sent Cannon, former Louisiana State University All-American halfback, to Houston of the American Football League.

The Rams claimed Cannon signed to play for them in the National Football League but later signed a more remunerative contract with Houston.

Pitching Coach Harry Brecheen of the Baltimore Orioles started in 1935 with Galveston in the Texas League. He lost his first three decisions.

These five high school football players—members of the Elders Ridge team at Indiana, Pa., have lost some of their teeth from their head knocking. Here they get it up for a photographer as they get ready for the upcoming season. At bottom is halfback Dennis Hollen. Sophomore tackle Dennis Piccoli, second from bottom, didn't show his dental gaps but the top three had big grins left to right: center Rich Bieda, tackle Lou Alousi and quarterback Ron Sabatine. Lana Turner Taking Her Fifth Husband

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A handsome rancher and horse breeder will be Lana Turner's fifth husband.

He is Fred May, a crewcut sportsman who once tried to slug a Hollywood columnist he said had insulted her.

The couple stopped Tuesday in Santa Ana, en route to the races at Del Mar, and obtained a marriage license. They wouldn't say when they will wed.

Lana gave her age as 39. May is a young-looking 43. It will be his second marriage.

May made such a success of a half-dozen enterprises, including an export-import business, that he was able to retire to ranching at 38. His two children by his first marriage live at his Chino, Calif., ranch.

Friends wondered if Lana, when wed to May, might be able to regain custody of her teen-age daughter, Cheryl.

It was during the furor over Cheryl's escape from a county-operated girl's school that May tried to swing on a Hollywood trade paper writer.

"Lana is a wonderful girl," May said after the incident, which erupted at a party celebrating the premiere of her latest film. "She should not be persecuted by the press. It's all right to criticize her professional ability, but not her private life."

"I am very much in love with Miss Turner. A man in love cannot stand by when his girl is insulted."

The column to which May objected criticized Miss Turner's upbringing of Cheryl, now 17. Cheryl was made a ward of Superior Court after she fatally stabbed her mother's hoodlum lover, John Stompanato, in 1958.

At the time of the stabbing, Miss Turner was divorced from her fourth husband, actor Lex Barker. She had been beaten and threatened by Stompanato and was arguing bitterly with him, in the bedroom of her Beverly Hills mansion, when the tall, slender girl stepped in and stabbed him with a kitchen knife. A coroner's jury ruled it was justifiable homicide.

Miss Turner was previously wed to millionaire Henry J. (Bob) Topping, to Cheryl's father, restaurateur Steve Crane, and to hand-leader Artie Shaw.

Removed School Lawn, As 'His'

FRACKVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Bud-ck Bucklew, a contractor, pulled a truck up to Frackville High School Saturday night and removed the front lawn.

It was his, he claimed. He said he had laid the sod a year ago and had never been paid by the school board. Nevertheless, he was jailed and Monday he was fined $10 plus costs for malicious mischief.

John Lindenmuth, school board president, said the board had not authorized the job.

Bucklew said one board member had told him to lay the lawn and said, "I think I have educated the school board enough to realize the bill must be paid."

Hints Readiness To Buy Neutrality

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has raised the possibility that the Soviet Union might return the southern Kurile Islands to Japan if Japan breaks its alliance with the United States and becomes a "truly neutral nation."

Khrushchev made the suggestion Monday to a visiting delegation from Japan's Socialist party, telling them the Soviet Union might "reconsider its position" on the islands north of the Japanese island of Hokkaido.

Balk At Hiring Jamaican Girls

WEDNESBURY, England (AP)—Forty white women threatened to go on strike because their factory had promised jobs to six Jamaican girls.

Finally after wrangling for hours with the factory management, the white women won Monday. The Negro girls were sent home with 7 shillings 6 pence — $1.05—each for their time.

Because of gravity, a fat man can lose half a pound by moving from Washington, D. C., to Quito, Ecuador.

NIXON VS KENNEDY

RICHARD MILHOUS NIXON

JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

Two politically astute young men are squaring off in their fight to seek the highest office in the land—the Presidency. Their talents, their ideas, their promises will be their big weapons—and only the voters will decide who's the winner in November. The two antagonists, the choices of their parties are John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Democrat, and Richard Milhous Nixon, Republican.

Kennedy is 43; Nixon is 47. Both men are college trained, Kennedy studied at Harvard; Nixon at Whittier and Duke. Both men have been in the same branch of service during World War II, the Navy. They are both family men. The two have been nurtured for their political roles in the Houses of Congress, Nixon started his climb as Congressman, and so did Kennedy. The two became Senators. Only Nixon went a step further, to reach the Vice-Presidency.

Both men are skilled campaigners. They have employed every bit of resourcefulness, ingenuity and intuitiveness in their bids for public office, and promise to do so again when they face the electorate during the months ahead.

Picture biographies of the two men are presented here.

NIXON'S EARLIER YEARS

Young Nixon at the age of 14 when he played in the school orchestra.

At 18, a student at Whittier College. He was elected senior president.

In World War II, he served in Navy, became Lieutenant commander.

KENNEDY'S EARLIER YEARS

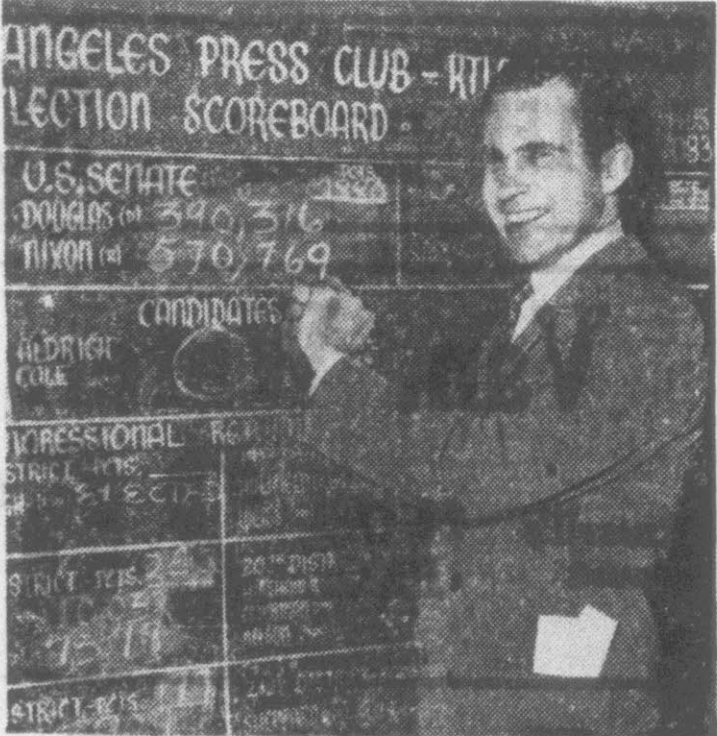

Young Kennedy at 10, when he attended Dexter, a private elementary school at Brookline, Mass.

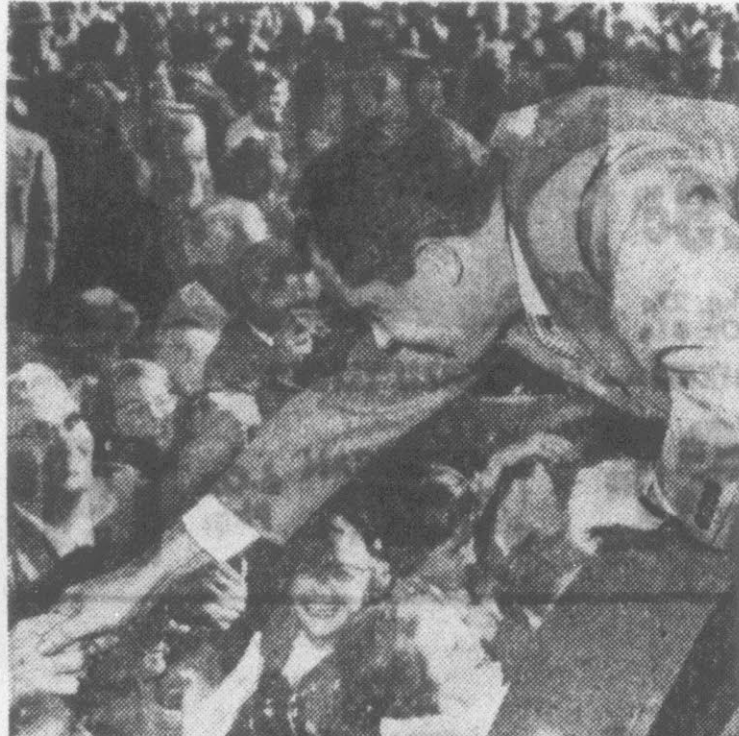

Kennedy at 21, a junior at Harvard. After graduation, he studied at London School of Economics.

As Navy lieutenant in World War II. He was awarded Navy, Marine Corps medals.

In 1950, Nixon ran for the Senate and was elected by a wide margin over Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas. Here he watches returns.

A vigorous campaigner, Nixon bends over rear platform of his train to shake hands with crowd at Kalamazoo, Mich., during 1956 swing of country.

Kennedy's campaign workers applaud him after his victory over Republican Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., in 1952.

Ladies of Kokomo, Indiana, eagerly seek Kennedy's handshake during his primary campaign tour of state last May.

Diversion. He is a fair golfer, now scores in the 80's after playing only a few years.

Boating has always been one of Kennedy's favorite sports. He's shown here sailing solo a few years back.

CHAPTER 17

A buckboard with a bay mare in harness appeared up the road and as it drew nearer Lisa Randolph saw that the lone occupant was Hester Barbee.

Lisa waited in the ranch yard. Hester obviously was uncertain what her welcome would be as she alighted and said, "I came over to see if I could be of any help. I brought some wild plum preserves that I put up last fall. Can't take them with me anyway when we pull out."

Lisa led her into the bunkhouse. "Thank you. Mr. Miller and Mrs. Travis just left. You probably passed them."

Hester nodded. "Kemp acted like he'd set down on some prickly pear."

"He again offered to buy cattle from this ranch," Lisa said. "He said he'd pay seven dollars a head, provided I didn't tell the Barbees how much he was offering."

"Seven? Merch! Now, why in the world would Kemp go that high?"

There was a string attached to Lisa's mouth. "I see," Hester sniffed. "That's Kemp Travis for you. He only figures it as movin' it from one pocket to another."

I refused both offers," Lisa said.

Kemp Travis is a ketch," Hester said. He's the kind that sooner or later, seems to make money. He's better fixed than most right now."

I have decided to go through with the agreement Frank O'Hara had made with you Barbees."

You mean—go north with us as partners?" Hester almost screamed.

There doesn't seem to be much choice if I'm to be a ranch owner," Lisa said. Abel says it's a losing proposition here."

He's right," Hester said sorrowfully. "But movin' north won't be any picnic, let me tell you. Raisin' cattle's a hard way of makin' out at best, even during good times. An' who knows what'll happen to us in this new country. They tell me it gets so cold in winter up there your shadow freezes. It'll be a hard struggle, mark my word."

She gazed at Lisa. You can still change your mind, Kemp'll ask ag'in. He's persistent, at least. Not that I'm pleadin' his case. Some day I'm afeared he's goin' to be a grief an' a calamity to me."

Lisa poured coffee. Calamity? You mean—Abel?"

Hester sighed and nodded. Abel has always believed Kemp would have warned us the time that bunch of Comanches jumped us. So does Paul Drexel. Sometimes I'm afeared Paul is goin' to pick a quarrel with Kemp an' have it out with guns."

Paul? Paul Drexel?" Lisa was disbelieving.

Yes, Paul. Don't be fooled by the way he's always laughin' an' friskin' around. Paul saw his own paw and ma butchered right before his eyes when he was only twelve years old. He bears that debt ag'in Kemp."

But what did Kemp Travis have to do—?"

We learned later from a man who worked at Kemp's ranch that Kemp had sighted that war party early in the mornin', headin' toward the Drexel place an' monte Vista. Stead o' warnin' George Drexel an' us, he rode to his own ranch an' barricaded. He let us fight it out alone. If it hadn't been that Monte Vista was dobe-bull, we'd all have been wiped out."

You really fear Abel or Paul Drexel will fight Kemp Travis because of that?" Lisa asked.

So afeared of it I pray every night that the good Lord will keep 'em apart," Hester said. An' Matthew, too."

Matthew?"

He saw his father killed. He's got no use for Kemp. They're all determined men. Kemp's got riders what are mean an' quarrelsome an' think nothin' of shootin' a human bein'. The worst of the lot is Coe Slade."

SAM Miller mentioned that name," Lisa said.

Kemp's a rough man himself," Hester said. He's a sharp man in any kind of a deal, cattle or buttons. He's had a good education, but he uses it only for his own gain."

Speaking of education, why does Abel—why is it that Abel—?" Lisa found herself floundering.

Hester nodded sadly. I know what you mean. Abel never had time for schoolin'. His father began ailin' when Abel was only a boy. Tom wasn't a well man for five or six years before his death. I had to depend on Abel. Schools were mighty scarce in these parts. What learnin' he got was what he picked up as best he could. After his dad was gone he saw to it that Matthew had teachin'. An' Paul, too. Paul's been with us ever since his folks was taken. Abel sent both of 'em to boardin' school in Austin. We was in the war for two years. Beef was bringin' good prices in Louisiana before the war. Abel was in the war for two years. He come home wounded, sick an' thin."

She looked proudly at Lisa. Don't ever make any mistake about Abel," she said. He's the most highly educated man you'll ever meet. Book learnin' ain't always education."

She was silent a moment. She gazed around. You can't stay here, Elizabeth. You know that, specially after last night. We can watch over you better at Monte Vista."

Lisa finally arose. I'll get my things packed," she said.

She left the bunkhouse and walked to the lean-to. She was busy there with her luggage when she heard a rider approaching at a fast gait. She hurried into the yard.

The arrival was Paul Drexel, at the ranch he might be here. Where's Abel?" he shouted as he swung down. Chepita told us at the ranch he might be here. He's brush poppin'!" Hester said. Or with the herd. An' that's where you 'n Matthew ought to be."

Matt'll find him," Paul said. He headed for the bed grounds."

Where were you and Matthew last night?" Hester demanded severely. You never came home."

In San Ysidro. We learned something important. We found out why Kemp Travis is so bent on buyin' beef cattle."

Hester's eyes popped. You did? Why?"

There are two strangers in town. One is a retired army officer named Major Gilchrist. The other is a younger man, Perry Diehl. Diehl's father is principal owner of Diehl & Diehl, a big cattle California and Nevada."

I've heard of them," Hester nodded. Who ain't?"

Diehl & Diehl are in the market for six thousand head of beef cattle," Paul stated.

Six thousand!" Hester exclaimed. Good glory! What price are they offerin'?"

They started out at twelve dollars a head. Kemp Travis has been dickering with them. He's been asking twenty-five. I understand they've gone up to seventeen and a half for beef delivered in good condition at Reno, Nevada, before winter."

Seventeen an' a half? Son, you must have heard wrong. Why'd they pay that much?"

Diehl & Diehl slaughters and dresses beef as well as raising it," Paul said. They furnish meat to the mining towns in Nevada and the California mountains, and to San Francisco and other places. They haven't said so, of course, for they're out to buy at the best price possible, but it's already common knowledge in San Ysidro that Diehl & Diehl have contracts for meat that they can't fill. They're in a tight fix."

The cattle buyers have a surprise ahead of them at the Barbees'. The story continues here tomorrow.

Two Jail Cells Awaiting Taker

DETROIT (AP)—What does a guy do with jail cells if he doesn't happen to be in the police business?

A suburban Inkster businessman would like to find out—it may help him get rid of two 5 x 6 x 6 cells.

Ray Sepell bought the old Inkster police station and justice court a month ago for expansion of his wholesale meat and locker business. With the deal came the two cells.

Seeing no practical use for them in my business," Sepell tried to give them back to the city. No sale—the authorities said they had modern built-in-cells in their new building.

Neighboring communities had no use for them, either. The Detroit Zoo said all their cages had to be built to certain specifications.

An ad in a Detroit newspaper told readers Sepell had two cells, "good for a large dog, pet bear, unruly child or even a bad husband."

A rabbit breeder thought the openings between the bars too wide. Sepell turned down an offer by a woman who wondered if it were strong enough to hold her 5-year-old child. One live prospect—a Great Dane dog breeder—promised to drop by but didn't.

Sepell is confident he will get rid of his cells.

"Certainly someone somewhere—maybe an ex-convict who misses that confined feeling—will be interested," he said.

Nails are sometimes used as money in bartering for goods in the South Sea islands.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina poultry markets: fryers and broilers, farm price 16 to 16 1/2.

Eggs — Prices paid by distributors for clean, sized, graded minimum 80 per cent A quality: Raleigh and Charlotte steady to slightly weaker, large 50 1/2; prices paid on graded out basis: Asheville unreported.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market arrested an initial decline and showed a mixed pattern in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point prevailed among key stocks.

Dealings resumed in two stocks which have been swamped with orders. Teletograph and Compotometer, both in tremendous demand because of their equipment for sending written messages via telephone.

Teletograph, in which trading was halted for two full days prior to an 80,000-block just before Tuesday's closing bell, was delayed again for an hour and 18 minutes after today's market opening. It finally opened at 21 1/2, off 2% on a block of 25,000 shares. It pared the loss to a fraction in later dealings.

Comptometer, the most active stock Monday, could not be traded straight because of a deluge of orders which exchange officials were unable to match. After an hour and 45 minutes of delay, it opened today on 65,000 shares, up 4 1/2 at 28 1/2, and boosted the gain to 5 in later trades.

After a series of trades in both stocks, trading was halted once more because of accumulations of buy orders.

In early trading, the market seemed headed for its fifth straight decline from the August top reached last week. As the session wore on, plus signs among a number of autos, aircrafts, utilities, rails, oils, nonferrous metals and selected issues helped balance gainers and losers pretty evenly. Price changes mostly ran from fractions to about a point.

The Associated Press average of 80 stocks at noon was down 30 with the industrials off 50, the rails off 20 and the utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.33 at 625.07. Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U.S. government bonds advanced.

Rev. J. O. Fort Leaving Post With FWB Press September 1

AYDEN—Rev. J. O. Fort, manager-editor of the Free Will Baptist Press here for several years, has resigned his position as of September 1.

He will be replaced by Rev. C. H. Overman, who will serve as editor, and Rev. N. Bruce Barrow, who will serve as manager of the Free Will Baptist Press.

The Rev. Mr. Fort has been editor of the Free Will Baptist Press for six years and was appointed to serve as manager, in addition to the editorial post, for the last three years. He has gone back into the active pastorate of Harmony Free Will Baptist Church in Lake Butler, Fla.

The Rev. Mr. Barrow is currently president of the North Carolina State Convention of Free Will Baptists and has served a total of eight years as a member of the Board of Directors of the Free Will Baptist Press. His other offices in the church include the moderatorship of church bodies from the local church level through the National Association of Free Will Baptists. He has been listed in "Who's Who in America" for 10 years.

A native of the Hull Road Community of Greene County, the Rev. Mr. Barrow attended North Park College in Chicago, Ill. and graduated from a general Bible course at Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, in 1933. He is also a graduate in pastor's course of Northern Baptist Seminary, Chicago, 1935, and was ordained to the gospel ministry of the Free Will Baptist denomination in 1935. He has attended other institutions in addition.

He has served as pastor of 26 churches in three states during the 27 years of his ministry, including service in revival campaigns.

The Rev. Mr. Overman, a native of Wayne County, has served as assistant editor of the Free Will Baptist Press for three years. He attended Free Will Baptist Bible College in Nashville, Tenn., and graduated from Atlantic Christian College in Wilson in 1957 with the bachelor of arts degree.

The Rev. Overman was ordained to the gospel ministry in the Free Will Baptist Denomination in 1952.

He has served as pastor in Spring Branch and Grimsley churches in Greene County. He was asked to join the Free Will Baptist Press in 1957.

The Rev. Mr. Overman and the Rev. Mr. Barrow officially assume duties September 1. The Rev. Mr. Barrow will have responsibility of the entire management of the institution, while the Rev. Mr. Overman will assume responsibility in the editorial department.

The Free Will Baptist Press is a non-profit organization which publishes literature for the Free Will Baptist denomination throughout the United States, as well as operating a department of church supplies and religious books.

Suspects Role In Downing Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said today two missing U.S. security agents may be linked to the downings of the U2 spy flight and the RB47 reconnaissance plane by the Soviet Union.

The missing agents, Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin, disappeared last June and are presumed to have defected.

Walter, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, said he is convinced the Soviet Union had advanced knowledge of the May 1 flight of the U2 and the July flight of the RB47, shot down by a Soviet fighter over the Barents Sea off the Soviet coast.

Walter said he has assigned a top committee investigator to look into the Mitchell-Martin case, with particular emphasis on the screening methods used by the National Security Agency, which hired the two young mathematicians.

The agency is a supersecret intelligence unit dealing with codes and other government communications systems.

Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass.) House majority leader, said Tuesday he had information indicating Mitchell and Martin took valuable cryptographic information with them when they went behind the Iron Curtain.

Begin Work On State Road 1900

AYDEN—Construction of East Avenue outside the Ayden city limits, known as state road 1900 has already begun, it was revealed yesterday.

Plans call for paving 3.22 miles of the road near Narhans by the N.C. Highway Commission. The road, located between state road 1902 and state road 1110, runs almost parallel with the Atlantic Coastline Railroad at this point.

The work will consist of widening and improving the road. The city recently completed replacing and moving their electric poles back from the road, which calls for a right of way 60 feet wide.

Appreciation Expressed For Service By Firemen

Alcoholism Topic Of Ass'n Meet

"The Mental Phase of Alcoholism" will be the theme of a talk to be given tomorrow night, September 1, by Dr. Arthur McDonald when he speaks at a meeting of the Pitt County Unit of the Mental Health Association.

Dr. McDonald is Director of the Alcohol Rehabilitation Center at Buiner Hospital.

The meeting will be held at 8:00 in the Community Room at Wachovia Bank. This will be open to the public and executives, directors of personnel and anyone interested in the problem of alcohol is invited to attend.

The Executive Board will meet at 7:15 prior to the meeting.

The largest lake in Delaware is man-made Lum's Pond, only 200 acres in area.

Optimists Hear Woman Speaker

Mrs. Carolyn Upchurch of Washington, N. C., discussed the process of training trainable retarded children before the Greenville Optimist Club Monday.

Mrs. Upchurch, educational director of the Beaufort County training program for Trainable Retarded Children, reported to Optimist her maximum class capacity is 15 pupils. They range in age, she said, from six to 18 years.

She pointed out the need for more "money and teachers" to implement the program "that is taking hold all across the state."

She called on Optimists to "support the program in every way possible."

Optimist Bob Russ introduced Mrs. Upchurch as the club's guest speaker. The discussion was another in a series of programs being presented by the Optimist membership.

First Day . . .

She presented a choice: "Would you like to hear about 'Peter Rabbit' or 'Little Black Sambo'?"

There was a difference of opinion.

So a democratic vote. "Those who want to hear 'Peter Rabbit' raise your hands," said the teacher. Half the youngsters' hands shot up.

"Those of you who want to hear 'Little Black Sambo' raise your hands," she instructed. The other half went up. A tie.

So, a compromise. "We'll hear 'Little Black Sambo' today and then 'Peter Rabbit' tomorrow," she said. "That way, we'll have a good story to look forward to."

She began to read and all 35 beginners settled down to listen intently.

All 35 were feeling more confident about this business of going to school.

Tomorrow they'd be veterans.

Greenville Owned... Greenville Operated... Growing For Greenville Shoppers!

Brody's Unveiling New Addition

Remodeled 'Old Store' Also Awaits Opening

Grand opening ceremonies tomorrow will officially lift the curtain on one of the largest one-floor ladies ready-to-wear stores in North Carolina.

Brody's of Greenville, with its modern 3,000-square-foot addition ready for business, will officially open the Evans St. doors of the completely remodeled "old" store simultaneously with the doors of the addition facing Fifth St.

The fashionable ladies ready-to-wear shop will formally unveil its new arrangement that features four distinct departments that comprise the store.

The addition, the Casual Shop, features a decor of wormwood walnut with colorful accessories. Display areas consist of the visual-type fixtures in which no counters are used to separate the customer from the salesperson.

The Casual Shop is equipped with six large mirrored fitting rooms to serve that particular area. Modern lighting provides the maximum possible day-light illumination to show the natural values of clothing colors.

Shades of brown tweed carpeting blend with the wall, trimmed with touches of gold. The Casual Shop's display windows are fronted with plate glass with open back to provide a clear view of the entire area from the street.

A distinguishing feature of the Casual Shop is its three-foot drop in elevation from the remainder of the store. Steps with wrought iron railings descend from the main floor into the spacious addition.

Upstairs, above the Casual Shop, is an employee's lounge equipped with a private rest room, a refrigerator, and modern furnishings.

Also above the featured addition is a new alteration room equipped with the latest machinery.

The store's cashier has been relocated and backed by the credit department which has been moved from the second floor. The separate credit department has been established downstairs to facilitate service and furnish information.

A new permanent gift-wrapping room has been installed directly behind the new credit department.

The ready-to-wear department

features a complete line of latest fashions and a modern decor.

Fixtures are also of walnut with a special molded trim. The walls are done in pastel washable leatherette wallpaper.

The entire floor of the 8,400-square-foot store has been covered with thick carpeting that blends with surrounding fixtures.

Morris Brody, manager of the store since 1940, said yesterday, "This added floor space will allow us to carry fashions from northern, southern, eastern, and western markets that we were formerly unable to carry because of limited space."

The first "Brody's" came to Greenville in 1936. It has been located at its present site since 1955.

The Casual Shop construction was undertaken in June of this year. Completion was during August.

Brody, a University of Georgia graduate, is a World War II veteran. In Greenville, he is a member of the Rotary Club, a Mason, an Elk, and a Shriner.

He serves as a director for the local Merchants Association, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Red Cross.

Brody is a member of Temple Israel and of the Oxford Orphanage Committee. He has served as co-chairman of the United Fund Industrial Division.

He is married to the former Lorraine Brown. They have one son, H. J., and live on Rock Spring Rd. here.

COSTUME PAIRINGS
New costume look pairs hip-length jackets and dresses with bias, semi-circular, pleated or straight skirts.

Shock color combinations in prints and solids make a fresh approach to the costume suit with its own blouse or perisuit. There's less emphasis on perfect matching and harmonizing.

FORECASTING FUR

Fur and fur-ler" is major prediction for fall fashion. A great variety of furs gets wide use as lining and trims, and there are also unusual fur styles in ponchos, dresses, vests — and even slacks.

Hosiery Accents Every Costume

Color is the watchword for fall hosiery, ranging in spectrum from deep purple to pale bronze, to accent every costume in the wardrobe. And hosiery gets a further lift from new textures.

Hosiery mills are turning out stockings to blend and complement each ensemble, from glittering lacey effects for the most formal occasions to casual textured hose for culottes and tweeds.

Shades for daytime wear are seen in pale lavender, olive green, blackened browns and pale beiges. For evening wear there are darker shades of these basic colors plus glittering gold and silver. And for casual wear there will be textures and brown shades with a blackened overtone.

Blue hints through many shades, while the lighter tones are overcast with grays and blacks to give more subtle effects under new fall fashions.

Many Prizes Being Offered Opening Day

To make our grand reopening a big celebration Brody's is giving to the first one thousand women visiting our store a free bottle of Nettie Rosenstein perfume. Also in each department will be a registration box for $500 worth of free gifts that have been sent in by Brody's regular resources, that will be given out at 6 p.m. Saturday. You can register in each department on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. You do not have to be present to win and each winner will be informed.

Also Brody's regular manufacturers have made several price concessions that will enable Brody's to have special value fashion buys in each department. The quantity is limited on these special buys.

Two large fitting areas serve this department.

Lingerie

A feature of the new underwear and foundations department is an arrangement by which customers may easily inspect visually all merchandise. All items have been placed in plastic trays to allow color selection with a minimum of sales assistance.

Seven special fitting rooms have been provided to serve this particular area.

The ready-to-wear department

features a complete line of latest fashions and a modern decor.

Fixtures are also of walnut with a special molded trim. The walls are done in pastel washable leatherette wallpaper.

The entire floor of the 8,400-square-foot store has been covered with thick carpeting that blends with surrounding fixtures.

A new sportswear department featuring new methods of sales display will greet customers tomorrow morning at Brody's in Greenville.

The most recent expansion will include an entrance on Fifth Street which houses the new sportswear department. The area is 2500 square feet in which to display merchandise.

Six new dressing rooms have been completed for this new area for shopping comfort. Floor space has been arranged so that no counters will stand between the customer and the salesperson.

The fixtures are of worm walnut and floor tables are of white for mica. The complete layout is to effect a visual type selection. In the sportswear department, you will see featured fashions from Florida, California, Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, and New York.

Such brand names as Dalton, Evans-Picone, Rose Marie Reid, Jantzen, Majestic, Glasgo, Wondermere, Personal, College Town, Petti, Junior House, Queens, Daisy Originals, Alice Stuart, Morlove, Ship and Shore Blouses, and a host of others will be available.

The department is staffed by Mrs. Essie Barrow, Mrs. Edna Young, Miss Doris Mobley, and Mrs. Virginia Brewer. Soft music will be piped throughout the department.

Change In Lingerie Section Will Bring Added Convenience To The Shopper

One of the newest and most modern changes to be seen at Brody's is the enlarged underwear, hosiery, and foundation department.

This department is located on the left as you enter on Evans Street. The first department is the hosiery department, followed by the Cosmetic department, then the lingerie department and foundation department.

The back wall is composed of jewel plastic stock cases and to the right of this is a display section eye level which runs the section of the entire department.

The Brand names in hosiery are Cameo, Hanes, Rose Dawn, and Mary Grey. The lingerie department features a complete line of Vanity Fair, Rogers, Eye-ful, Schrank, San Souci, Faultless Pa-

Jama, and Sleepase. The foundation department has Warner's, Maiden Form, Formfit, and Miriam Gates bras and girdles. Expert fitting is customer assurance as the department has two graduates of the Formfit Institute—Mrs. Edith Hardee and Mrs. Christine Mills. This department has two large comfortable fitting rooms where customers may fit, and try any item in the foundation department. Correct fitting of the customer is the aim in the foundation department.

Handbags have been placed in the shoe department. The handbag department offers customers coordination between shoes and bags and eliminates shopping throughout the store. Some names you will find in the bag department are Lewis, Theodore of California, Lisa Skin Bags, Garay, Pretty and Bonita.

The department also has a matching robe set bar. Ideal for brides to make their own selection and allows customers quick handling visual selection.

This department is staffed by Mrs. Christine Mills, Mrs. Edith Hardee, and Mrs. Bessie Stokes.

Lines Added By Shoe Salon

Pictured above is the new, enlarged Shoe Salon which is now located at the entrance on Evans Street. It has all new furnishings to enhance the beauty and convenience of the area.

Bag Bar Directly Adjacent

The newly remodeled Brody's gives the shoe department room to stretch out and breathe.

The new shoe department is located on the Evans Street front entrance.

The customer is greeted upon entrance by a soft array of colors. The decor is of soft green silk wallpaper, and orange plush chairs. The department can seat 25 people at one time.

The shoe department was originally located in the center of the store, but due to increase demand and broadening of lines, footwear is more easily accessible at the front entrance. It is directly facing a bag bar which holds all coordinated handbags, making it convenient to the customer to match all shoes with a bag is the purpose behind this location, Mr. Brody stated.

In the new shoe department the following lines are carried — Capri, which is a new line; Mademoiselle, Amalfi, Paradise Kittens, Red Cross, Town and Country, Foot Flair, Carmelle, Capezio, Adores, and Selby Arch Preservers. The Clinic Nurses oxfords are featured year round for the lady in white.

More Space - More Styles

The new ready to wear department has been enlarged and given the feeling of spaciousness. Here you will find a cross section of styles in junior, misses and half-sizes. Here you will find one of the largest and most complete selections in the state. The fixtures are of dark walnut and the walls are done in soft pastels. Complete, easy accessibility to the styles make this a pleasant place to shop. Six new enlarged fitting rooms serve this area. The alteration room is directly behind the fitting room to expedite all fitting problems. The spacious dressing rooms are three way mirrored and are enhanced with grey carpeting and draperies.

Some of the names to be found in the different departments are Harvey Berin, Ceell Chapman, David Crystal, Schraber, Highlight, Young Viewpoint, Junior Sophisticate, Mr. Mort, L'Aiglon, R and K Originals, Ike Clark, Auwon, Junior Theme, Jonathan Logan, Sue Brett, Marie Phillips, Korell, and Puritan Dresses.

The key personnel in this department are J.C. Coltrain, Bert Sutton, Alta Briley, Mae Jones, Evelyn Smith, and Virginia Brewer.

More emphasis and space has been devoted to the five foot and under and the half-size customers.

Many At Work Behind The Scenes

It takes as many non-selling personnel as sales personnel to successfully and efficiently operate a store the size of Brody's, are the ones who work in the credit department, the ladies who do alteration work, and the maids.

The receiving room is staffed by Mrs. Julia Upchurch. The Credit Department is composed of Martha Mills and Mary Anne Langley. Dan Upchurch, the display manager, who takes care of all interiors and window displays. The maids are Elizabeth Barrett and Mary Forbes. The alteration room is staffed with Mr. Preston Corey, Mrs. Acra Nelson, Mrs. Carrie Edwards, and Mrs. Lucy McGowan. ALL OF these and many more work behind the scenes at Brody's to make shopping more convenient and pleasant for you the customer.

TAKE ACCESSORIES
Collarless necklines of many fall fashions offer accessorizing opportunities. They can be adorned with jewelry or scarves of fur or fabric.

SKIRTS MOVE
Skirts ease up for fall, with more fluidity for even the slimmest styles, and many in motion with pleats, flares, gathers, bias cuts.

EARS KEEP WARM
Wollen caps for girls come in gay, practical variety, including long stocking styles, boy caps, novel ones with braided pigtails.
