

February Wedding Planned

MISS ELIZABETH RICHARDSON . . . is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Richardson of New Brunswick, N. J., who announce her engagement to Melvin Wilbur Rollins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollins of Farmville. The wedding will take place February 4.

St-ret-ch-ing Dollars

RALEIGH—Colorful fall fruits are now making their appearance in the September food buys. The simplest of all desserts is fresh fruits. Take your choice from watermelon, cantaloupe, honeydew melons, peaches, plums, figs, bananas, pears, grapes, Persian and Casaba melons.

The new fall fruits are pears, grapes and plums in true shades of fall colors. The pear crop will be shorter this year but there will be more grapes and plums. The early apple varieties moving to market are Red Delicious, Jonathan and McIntosh. Red Tokay and white seedless grapes are in adequate supply.

Married

MRS. KARL BRANTON . . . is the former Sue House, daughter of W. H. Elks of Ballards Crossroads and the late Mrs. Elks. Her marriage to Mr. Branton, son of Mrs. W. B. Branton of Bethel and the late Mr. Branton, is announced by her father. The marriage took place September 12, 1960 in Greenville.

Mrs. Ruby Uzzle, consumer marketing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, reports lamb prices have decreased in price on all cuts. Pork features best buys in pork roasts and chops, smoked picnic shoulders, bacon and sausage. Prices are up on smoked hams.

Beef prices are up and down on many cuts. Round and sirloin steak is up four to six cents per pound. Beef roasts and ground beef are most economical beef cuts. Try some canned meat products to help stretch the meat dollar.

"Fryers continue as one of the top protein food buys," says Mrs. Uzzle. "Many stores are featuring fryers below 30 cents a pound on first-of-week or end-of-week specials. Medium eggs are slightly higher but large size eggs remain steady."

Fall vegetables are increasing, especially cauliflower and cucumbers. Sweet corn, lima beans, cabbage and peas remain in plentiful supply. Salad ingredients include celery, cabbage lettuce, green peppers, tomatoes and carrots. Sweet potato supplies have increased considerably in recent weeks. Consider fresh sweet potatoes for baking in foil on outdoor grill or indoor oven cookery.

AGE CREAM

Buy cream the day before it is to be whipped: a little age helps along the whipping process.

N. Y. Tour Scheduled

Reservations are still being accepted for the fall bus tour to New York City. A chartered bus will leave Greenville Sunday, October 9, at 7:00 a.m. and will arrive in New York City at 6:30 p.m. that night where the group will spend four nights and three days at the modern, completely air conditioned Hotel Taft at 51st Street off Broadway. Rooms have both radio and television.

Plan Defenses Against Colds

Warm days, cool nights, bright sunshine, cold rain . . . that's the fall weather story. And because autumn weather is so changeable, it's one of the prime seasons for sniffles and colds.

Most people have spent the summer months out of doors, acquiring a healthy glow swimming, golfing, playing tennis, or just sunbathing. You can keep that healthy look longer by following a few simple rules to avoid colds this fall.

First of all, eat and drink sensibly and get plenty of rest—keep your resistance up.

Exercise regularly, but don't overdo it.

Dress for the weather, and guard against chilling.

Avoid crowds if possible, and most important, try to keep away from friends and business associates who've contracted colds.

If someone in your family should catch cold, do your best to prevent it from spreading. Send the victim to bed when symptoms start, and call your doctor if a fever should develop. Wash your eating and drinking utensils separately, rinse with scalding hot water and let drain dry.

Be sure the cold victim covers coughs and sneezes with tissues, and dispose of the tissues immediately. A paper sack pinned to the bedsheet is a handy receptacle.

Don't let your husband go back to work or your youngster back to school until they're completely recovered. This will help cut down the spread of colds and protect your family members from early reinfection.

AAUW Open House

On Monday evening, September 19, at 8 o'clock the Greenville Branch of the American Association of University Women will have their first meeting of the year.

This meeting will be an open house, to which prospective members are invited. Dr. Sue Matz of the Foreign Language Department will be the speaker. There will be a social hour.

Cold Wave Solution May Cause Color Damage

RALEIGH—Color damage from cold wave solution continues to rank high as a cause of consumer complaints. This kind of damage is considered to be the fault of the consumer, as it is the who is responsible for allowing the garment to come in contact with cold wave solution.

Miss Julia McIver, clothing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says the discoloration does not usually appear immediately.

"The discovery of the color damage most frequently takes place as the garments are being removed from storage, usually in the spring or fall," says Miss McIver.

Sometimes the discoloration does not become noticeable until the garment is dry-cleaned. The heat involved in tumbling, or the heat and moisture used in steam pressing may speed up the chemical action taking place in the fabric.

Miss McIver reports that since chemical change is usually so slow in taking place, there is time to prevent damage in case of an accident. Cold wave solutions are water soluble and can therefore be flushed from the fabric with cold water. In any case, it should be done before the garment is subjected to any heat in processing either tumbling or pressing. Miss McIver warns that once the color change is allowed to develop, the damage is usually permanent and cannot be restored.

Garden Club Plans Workshop

The Lakewood Pines Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. R. P. Heller on September 13 with 18 members present. Mrs. Heller, vice president, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Harry Billica.

It was announced that a workshop under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Stell Jr. would be held for the purpose of Della Robia Wreath construction.

This workshop will be held at the Art Center in November and will be open to the public. The date and details will be announced later.

The club also passed the motion to decorate the Art Center for the Christmas holidays. The Art Center Committee announced that a landscaping plan was being drawn up for the Center, and when it is completed, work will progress towards the planting around the north side entrance.

A forum was conducted by several club members. Mrs. John Barnhill discussed winter care of shrubs; Mrs. Richard Culbertson, the planting of perennials; Mrs. Leonard Crawford gave pointers on lawn care; Mrs. Robert Hunt urged the winter care of birds; and Mrs. William Reading talked about the many different kinds of bulbs and how to plant and care for them.

She was working in politics long before she was old enough to vote. Since reaching voting age, she has served the Democratic Party in nearly every kind of organizational post from precinct delegate to her present position.

Mrs. Price, born in New York, attended Bryn Mawr, has lived and studied abroad. She is the wife of Hickman Price Jr., an executive of the Mercedes Benz Corp., presently stationed in Brazil. They have two sons, Hickman, 17, and Marston, 15.

Golf Season's Almost Over Now's The Time To Clean Clubs

Although some determined golfers insist the season's not over until the snow's too deep to see that little white ball, most enthusiasts are giving at least some thought to putting away the clubs for another year.

If you're one of the many home-makers who've fallen victim to the golfing "bug," here are a few tips on getting the clubs ready for winter storage. After all, those clubs represent a sizeable investment and it's just good sense to protect them.

First order of business, of course is a thorough cleaning. And while many golfers make it a habit to clean the clubs after each outing, a little extra care is called for at season's end.

Let's take the woods first. They should be cleaned thoroughly with soap and water. Use a brush to clean the face of the woods, removing any accumulated dirt and grass stains. Then, dry the clubs completely with an absorbent towel.

As extra protection, you may want to apply a coat of wax to the head of the club, polishing to a high gloss with paper toweling. Car wax or household furniture wax will do the job.

Irons should be cleaned with steel wool and soap and water, face and back, to prevent pitting. Again, be sure they're completely dried after cleaning.

To keep dust off the club heads during storage, wrap the heads in paper towels and secure to the shaft with a rubber band.

And, don't forget to store the clubs in a dry place to prevent rusting of the shafts and iron heads.

One more tip—put several sheets of paper toweling in your golf bag before you put it away. You'll find it's handy to have for wiping clubs and golf balls while you're on the course next spring.

While you're at it, be sure to give your golf shoes a complete cleaning, too. They'll keep their shape over the winter months if you stuff tissues into the shoes.

Keep Youngsters Busy Indoors

Now that summer's over, many mothers may be looking ahead with some misgivings to those "play-indoors" days.

And it's true that keeping the youngsters occupied can be a problem without some "keep busy" ideas that will benefit both mother and children.

Coloring books and finger paints are wonderful, of course. But chances are the youngsters may be happier with some change of pace . . . something just a little bit different. And, their interest will be higher, too.

For example, why not suggest that they brighten their own rooms with some colorful decals? All you need is a pair of scissors, a pencil and a roll of two of covering material. You can use either a solid color or a pattern, but be sure the covering material has an adhesive backing.

Here's what to do—clip the desired figures (rabbits, ships, airplanes) out of a magazine or an old picture book; trace the figure on the back of the roll of covering material and cut it out. Then, strip off the adhesive backing and press the decal firmly on the wall.

If your youngster tires of the decals later, they can be removed easily. You might keep this project in mind yourself, for decorating your recreation room walls for a party or other special occasion.

Another, more vital kind of paper sometimes needs changing, too.

A Will can also lose effectiveness with the passage of time—though not always so obviously. You'll be well advised to review your Will with your lawyer, every so often.

Next time you do so, let's discuss how our services as Executor-Trustee may be put to good use in implementing your plan for your family's future protection.

Candidate Faces Tight Schedule

Sen. John F. Kennedy's motorcade will move down Greene St. to Fifth and then along Fifth to College Stadium tomorrow morning.

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs said the motorcade will move at a rapid pace from Farmer's Warehouse to Greene St. bridge. Then it will be slowed down to around 15 to 20 miles per hour for its trip along Greene St. and Fifth St.

For a brief time tomorrow the one-way characteristic of Fifth St. will be ignored. It won't make any difference to the motorcade, however, because all traffic is to be stopped on Fifth and Greene ten minutes before the Kennedy party moves along the two streets.

The senator's private plane is scheduled to land at the Pitt-Greenville Airport at 9 a.m. The presidential candidate will greet dignitaries and then the cars will move to Farmer's Warehouse. The schedule calls for Kennedy to arrive at 9:12 and he will talk briefly to farmers and see a mock tobacco auction sale.

At 9:30 the party will leave the warehouse and travel to College Stadium. The senator is to arrive at the stadium at 9:40. The schedule calls for him to begin his ten-minute address at 9:47.

Kennedy will depart from the stadium around 10 o'clock and his private plane is scheduled to leave the airport at 10:27.

Irish UN Troops Matching Wits Against Witch Doctor

By ADRIAN PORTER

MANONO, the Congo (AP) — Irish U.N. troops matched wits against an African witch doctor today in an attempt to bring peace to this terror-ridden mining center.

And the Irish appeared to be winning.

Primitive armed Baluba tribesmen roaming the streets agreed to let the Irish open a mile long stretch of road to the airport as an escape route for 73 frightened Belgian settlers huddled in a tin mine company's guest house.

The Belgians—13 women and 60 men—were trapped as hundreds of tribesmen armed with old rifles, spears and bows and arrows swarmed into the town Tuesday and attacked African police led by white officers.

(A refugee aboard a U.N. plane arriving in Elisabethville Thursday night said only 27 Belgians remained in Manono.)

The Balubas, who in this area side with Congo Premier Patrice

Lumumba in his feud with Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe, were inflamed by a witch doctor who sold them a magic formula he claimed made them immune to "white men's bullets."

The outnumbered police retreated to seek U.N. protection after bloody fighting in which 35 Balubas were slain and 14 wounded. Two African policemen were killed and one of their two Belgian officers wounded.

When the fighting subsided wives and relatives of the slain Balubas turned the bodies in a circle until the feet touched the place where the heads had lain "to confuse evil spirits."

Tren they draped the bodies in Congo flags and carried them away.

Manono took on the appearance of a dead city with the mines shut down and everything else idle.

The only U.N. authority left in the town was a contingent of 140 men from the Irish 33rd Battalion.

The U.N. blue helmet was the only badge of safety for a white man as bands of tribesmen prowled amid smoldering buildings.

Capt. Pierce Barry, commander of the Irish detachment, gave this account: "Trouble started when about 800 Balubas came into town from the surrounding countryside. They got together with the local witch doctor—Nkubu the Elephant—who is reputed to have magic powers."

"What happened was that the Katanga army dropped grenades on the African quarter in reprisal for the killing of a Belgian captain in an ambush here a couple of days ago."

"The grenades dropped in soft muddy ground and failed to go off. As a result he (Nkubu) was regarded as immortal. He then prepared mixtures and for 2 shillings (28 cents) sold these to Balubas. He announced them with it and told them, 'White men's bullets cannot harm you.' "They seemed to believe him, for the Balubas started firing on a police patrol."

"Hundreds of them marched on the Town Hall, where police formed up to fight."

"The Balubas walked into a hail of fire, seeming to believe they could not be hurt. They fell like tennpins."

After two hours fighting the police, with their wives and children, retreated to U.N. headquarters and laid down their arms.

Twenty-two Belgians and 140 Congolese were flown out Wednesday.

Three planes arrived in Elisabethville Thursday night from Manono with 11 Swedish U.N. troops, no longer needed, and 56 refugees.

A Katanga government spokesman reported other fighting in the secessionist province despite U.N. cease-fire orders.

The spokesman said 300 of Lumumba's troops invaded the province from Kivu Province along a railway line toward Kongolo, and that Katanga forces had started defensive action.

He said 800 persons were trapped at a coal mine in Luena.

Defectors Might Make Soviet Codes Tougher

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defection of two U.S. code specialists to the Soviet Union may make it harder for this country to crack Soviet secret codes, House investigators have learned.

That is because the two former National Security Agency employees — Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin — know U.S. methods of code cracking and can advise the Soviets how to get around them.

But J. Vincent Burke, the Defense Department general counsel testified that Mitchell and Martin "can cause no damage to the security of our own communications."

Burke testified Thursday before a House Armed Services subcommittee, and arranged to deliver the same statement today to the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Both the closed-door hearings are concerned with the Mitchell-Martin defections, but will go into other matters as well.

The armed services group, headed by Rep. Paul J. Kilday, D-Tex., is taking a closer look at the over-all activities of U.S. intelligence operations.

The un-American group will check also on the defection of Vladimir Sloboda, a U.S. Army linguist who fled to Moscow earlier this year.

Kilday told reporters the testimony of Burke and other witnesses Thursday indicated that Mitchell and Martin can advise the Soviet Union on U.S. progress in breaking Soviet codes.

Burke told the Kilday group there is no evidence that Mitchell and Martin were part of an espionage ring or had accomplices. He said it was possible they could have taken copies of secret NSA documents with them, but added there is no evidence to show this happened.

Burke said the pair also could have taken some handwritten "briefing notes" which have not been accounted for, but he said these may have been destroyed.

The Committee on Un-American Activities summoned three witnesses today — Burke, Dr. Louis W. Tordella, NSA deputy director, and Maurice H. Klein, NSA personnel director. All were heard by the Kilday subcommittee Thursday. The Kilday group did not name today's witnesses in advance.

With threatening skies here Thursday, Hovis thought Nixon might be unprepared again.

Hovis met him at Woodrum Airport and loaned him a new raincoat.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — As it turned out, it was just like pouring money down a rat hole when T. A. James Jr. decided last June to appeal a Police Court conviction to Hustings Court.

Senator. We're Glad To See You

An Open Letter to Sen. John F. Kennedy:
You may or may not be aware, Senator, that your visit to Greenville and Eastern North Carolina tomorrow morning may be the most important of your five stops in the various parts of North Carolina.

You come into this section and into this city as an esteemed individual, an honored guest who has likewise honored this section of North Carolina by your decision to make Eastern Carolina a part of your tour of our state. There are many people here in Pitt County and throughout Eastern North Carolina who have worked long and hard these past few weeks to assure the success of your visit, to provide the necessary facilities, and to encourage citizens of this area to come by the thousands to see and hear you.

Your success in North Carolina in November may well be determined by the impression you leave with the people of the East tomorrow. This is the heart of the Democratic party's strength in North Carolina, the point on which the entire outcome of the state's November election may be determined. Had it not been for the overwhelming Democratic vote in this section in recent national elections, North Carolina would more than once have been in the Republican column. And even in 1928 when North Carolina did fall into the Republican column, the county to which you come tomorrow gave the Democratic nominee Al Smith one of his largest county majorities in the state.

Notwithstanding this section's history as the Democratic stronghold of North Carolina, there is no deny-

Demos Counting On Organization

By LYNN NISBET
ORGANIZATION Democratic leaders are counting on tight organizations in every precinct to get eligible voters registered and to the polls on election day to keep North Carolina in the national Democratic column this year. The same kind of grass roots organization is expected to maintain substantial majority for the Democratic Governor and other State officers.

Impression gained from a meeting of the steering committee to which newsmen were permitted to listen indicate more than usual consideration will be given to women campaign workers and voters.

The "steering committee" made up of managers of all candidates in the recent primary is something new in North Carolina. It is distinct from the campaign advisory committee, which the party plan of organization requires the State chairman to appoint, consisting of not less than six nor more than 24 members. Chairman Bert Bennett is making up the roster for that advisory group, but has not announced it. The respective roles of the steering committee and the advisory committee are not very clearly established.

Which raises question in some minds as to whether emphasis on organization may be diverting some attention from the basic need of full cooperation in foot and leg work, doorbell ringing, and comparable phases of campaigning. Some rank and file in the party ranks are wondering if there may be too many chiefs and not enough Indians. General plan campaigns, but it takes fighting soldiers to win battles.

WHO PROFITS? One of the questions batted around among the steers was whether a big vote would rebound to the benefit of the Democrats or the Republicans. Consensus of the group was that the more votes cast the bigger will be the Democrats. It was an unpleasant thought, but the steers registered Democrats may stay-at-home or go fishing on election day. If pressured to go to the polls, some of them may vote the Republican ticket for President and Governor. Belief prevailed that preponderant majority of them would vote the Democratic ticket all the way. Hence the emphasis on getting out the vote.

More than usual number of voters that they will not participate in the November 8 election, most observers predict a record turnout. Biggest vote ever for a Governor was in 1952, when 1,179,635 Tarheels marched to the polling places and gave ing you have a selling job before you tomorrow. It is our opinion that those who will hear you will be satisfied they can enthusiastically support the Democratic nominee; but then, there are bound to be some who will not hear.

In spite of its alleged provincialism, Eastern Carolina is progressive. While we are proud of our agricultural progress, we seek to balance it with industrial progress as well. And though our views may seem to some ultra conservative, we do not lack the desire and the zeal to build better things for our own small communities, our section, our state and our nation. Though our approaches to a problem may differ from those of other sections of the nation, our goals are the same and our efforts to reach those goals are just as diligent.

Certainly we count it an indication of your friendship for us and your concern for our welfare as well as our votes, that you are the first presidential candidate in more than half a century to bring his campaign into Eastern North Carolina. Though this is your first trip, we trust it will not be your last. Some day, after the election, come back to Eastern Carolina and spend more time.

Your scheduled few minutes here on this campaign tour does not permit us to show you the kind of hospitality which we'd like to display.

And next time, bring the family.

It Looks Like A Long Job For UN In Congo

Maybe the international experts in close touch with the chaotic Congo situation can draw fairly accurate conclusions about what is going to happen to that strife-torn young republic, but for most people it is difficult to draw any conclusion from the confusion.

Patrice Lumumba, the in-again-out-again premier of the young republic may or may not still be in power as the result of a series of army coups in the past few days. Where a few days ago he was shouting for the removal of all U. N. troops in the country while he had the upper hand, yesterday he was taking refuge in a U. N. officers mess from Congolese soldiers who were trying to lynch him.

At one time it appeared Lumumba might succeed in delivering the Congo into communist hands, but just yesterday a new army strong man issued orders for the immediate removal of all Soviets and other communists from the country in the next 48 hours.

These and other rapid changes in the Congo situation from day to day point only to the conclusion that the Congolese crisis is still very real. At any moment the major powers of the world could be brought face to face in a struggle for this new nation which obviously is not ready for self-government.

If the U. N. can succeed in bringing some sort of order out of the chaos in the Congo, it will have performed important service not only to that new nation, but to peoples throughout the world. It is probable that the U. N., in order to bring some sort of order in the Congo, will have to keep representatives in that country for a considerably longer period than first anticipated. It may even be necessary, in the interest of world peace, for the U. N. to set up some sort of trusteeship under which the Congolese would be able to effect a reasonable self-government over a period of time.

In the world of today nations live in a tight community. Internal strife in one nation can quickly engulf the entire world in an international crisis. When an internal crisis in a nation threatens the safety of the world, some consideration must be given the welfare of the world just as it must be given the individual nation.

Again Dancing To Soviet Tune

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Russians are making the United States "dance." Repeatedly this country's actions have been reactions to Communist actions. It happens again.

President Eisenhower has finally decided he'd better try to address the United Nations General Assembly next week before Premier Nikita Khrushchev has a chance.

There was no indication Eisenhower had any intention of going before the U. N. until it was learned Khrushchev and the Communist chiefs of the Iron Curtain countries were coming to the Assembly meeting which opens in New York Sept. 20.

And even then the administration played with the idea of avoiding a direct meeting—even if it meant only being in the same assembly hall together—between Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

At first it seemed the administration had no plans for countering any anti-American propaganda Khrushchev and his satellite friends might turn loose at the United Nations.

Then it was decided that Secretary of State Christian A. Herter should go there and speak before it was Khrushchev's turn. This seemed to be the administration's plan, although Eisenhower had talked vaguely on Sept. 7 of going to the United Nations.

Meanwhile, the State Department slapped restrictions on Khrushchev by saying that, for security reasons, the Russian would not be allowed to leave Manhattan Island when he got here.

The Russians began to denounce this. So did Khrushchev from aboard the ship bringing him here.

Then the administration finally seemed to realize that if Herter spoke first, but Eisenhower waited weeks—or until after Khrushchev had departed—before talking to the international group the Russian damage might be complete.

So Wednesday the administration did a switch and said Eisenhower would take Herter's place in addressing the General Assembly.

Hurricane Afterthoughts

We know it's over, but we want to get our two cents worth in about Hurricane Donna. She toured eastern North Carolina last Sunday and early Monday, for the purpose of identification.

What do you suppose happened to all the ice cream in freezers? One person told us he had heard "more funny stories about ice cream" during that storm. We can see the mess dripping through the refrigerator. However, that didn't happen at our house. We ate ours all up.

Then in Griffin, a small metropolis located in the direction of that reputable place of Kingston (once called King's Town, but there wasn't any king), they didn't have any water supply except the reserve in a tank. That was used up by 11:30 a.m. Monday.

So between 11:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m., everybody jovially flocked to drug stores to engage

Senator John F. Kennedy in his campaign for the presidency in Texas issued another forthright statement on the religious issue, which should put that bugaboo to rest for the remainder of the campaign for those Americans who really believe in the Constitution and its guarantees of religious freedom.

Senator Kennedy said: "I believe in an America where the separation of church and state is absolute—where no Catholic prelate would tell a President (should he be a Catholic) how to act, and no Protestant minister would tell his parishioners for whom to vote—where no church or church school is granted public funds or political preference—and where no man is denied public office merely because his religion differs from the President who might appoint him or the people who might elect him."

Senator Kennedy also declared that if the time ever came when he was required to violate his conscience, he would resign the presidency.

This is about as plain as the issue can be put. Added to this statement however is Senator Kennedy's 14-year record in the Congress in which his actions

Revolt Over Poorly-Made Items

By ELMER ROESSNER
From a number of corners, marketing executives and journalists are popping off at poorly made products. Recently Printer's Ink sent correspondents across the country to interview consumers, retailers and repairmen, and found widespread dissatisfaction with product quality.

Similarly, Home Furnishings Daily reports that a marketing executive told a dealer conference that 15 years ago customers needed servicemen about twice a year. But now with emphasis on gadgets and three or four times as many needed on an average of about once a month. Because of consumer resentment of the frequent need for service and the high cost involved, this expert said manufacturers are becoming increasingly concerned with quality and would like themselves to swing the trend away from overadorned products.

Among Them, Enemies

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King's Features Syndicate, Inc.

The United States will experience for the first time the appearance within its borders of uninvited heads of states, some of whom are regarded by the American people as enemies, Khrushchev, Kadar, Nasser, Tito and Fidel Castro will head their delegations at the General Assembly of the United Nations. Why is it that they all come at the same time? Who suggested that a grandiose conference of heads of states meet in New York? Why was not the State Department asked whether it would be convenient?

Already the United States has reacted to this by limiting the visits of Khrushchev and Kadar to Manhattan Island where the United Nations is situated. Khrushchev may find this limitation unbecoming, but our government is well within its rights as the agreements concerning the United Nations only provide that those having business with that body have access to it. We do not need to give them free access to the United States, particularly during a Presidential campaign.

The problem of security, in this connection, is a very real one. There are undoubtedly many persons in the United States who would like to kill Khrushchev and Kadar and even Nasser. The police in New York will face a very serious technical problem of protecting the lives of these unpopular personalities. The enormous population of New York City is fragmented into large groups of persons whose prior nationality makes them particularly and unfavorably interested in these visitors. Our citizens of Hungarian origin must regard Kadar as a traitor just as those of Ukrainian origin regard Khrushchev as a murderer.

Khrushchev has undoubtedly called a disarmament conference of his own at the United Nations without consulting anyone. He assumes that if all of these heads of states who he has invited are present, the United States, particularly its President, must attend such a conference of Khrushchev-chosen delegates. Otherwise, Khrushchev will choose an American President who will do his bidding! This is crazy thinking. Apparently he cannot keep out of our Presidential campaign.

When the United Nations was established in 1945, it had 51 members of these 51, only 15 were African and Asian nations. It is now estimated that by the end of this year, the total membership of the United Nations will be 99 but the African and Asiatic membership will increase to 50. In a word, the African and Asian nations will have a majority.

The shift of power is rapidly moving to give nations with a Soviet affiliation or sympathy a greater vote than they have ever had. It is estimated that by the end of 1962, out of a total membership of 108, the African and Asiatic members will be 58. It could well be that by 1962, the Communists will have an absolute majority in the United Nations.

Proponents of the United Nations make the point that African and Asiatic nations do not always vote together, that they are not harmonious and that they will not form a block. However, while we are gazing into the future, why not ask, suppose out of the dissatisfied and discontented nations in Asia, Africa and Latin America, a bloc is formed to squeeze the United States, what will our policy have to be then?

The attitude adopted by many of these countries is that the United States should underwrite their economies as the United States has enriched European countries since World War II. The United Nations permits the United States to pay the largest share of the costs of its operations—all out of proportion to what should be our responsibility.

Much of this was foreseen when the United Nations was brought to the United States. It may be recalled that originally

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
TRIMMING NEVER PAYS
No one appreciates honesty and strength of character more than do people who lack these things themselves. Even the most careless liver or the man most flagrant in his disregard of moral principle has a sneaking admiration for the people who live their lives on a basis different from that upon which he lives his.

Charles II was Number One scallywag of English history, yet to him the young William Penn, who addressed him as "Friend Charles" and spoke to him seriously about his evil life, was one of his subjects whom he loved the best. And Old Thomas Kén, who publicly rebuked the king for the way he carried on with Nellie Gwynne, was the clergyman whom Charles insisted on making a bishop against the advice of his counselors and the man whom he called to shrieve his soul as he lay on his death bed.

Don't make the mistake of believing that you commend yourself to worldly people by being like them, they will have no respect for you if you are not better than they. The only way to call forth anyone's respect is to be your natural self, and the finer the quality of your soul, the more will people be conscious of this and appreciate it.

No one admires a trimmer, and least of all do people admire the man who trims his principles to suit his surroundings.

President Takes Medical Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower expects to check out of Walter Reed Army Hospital today after an overnight stay for the first part of his annual physical checkup.

Shortly after leaving the medical center, the President plans to travel to Camp David, his rustic retreat in the Catoctin Mountains near Thurmont, Md.

He will spend the weekend at the camp working on the speech he will make next Thursday to the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty stressed that the medical examination was strictly routine—part of the regular checkup program Eisenhower has been undergoing since his days in the Army.

Hagerty also announced that the President's doctors would make no public report on their findings until Eisenhower returns to Walter Reed in a week or two for completion of this year's checkup.

There was nothing from Hagerty on why Eisenhower, who will be 70 on Oct. 14, will make at least two trips to Walter Reed for this year's physical checkup. Heretofore, the examinations have been completed in a single trip, over a period of several days.

Object To U.S. Space Project

LONDON (AP)—European scientists, led by British space expert Prof. Bernard Lovell, are asking the U.S. Air Force to cancel an experiment which would put millions of thin metal strips into orbit around the earth.

The American project, known as "Needles," is intended to find out whether the metal strips would serve instead of satellites to bounce radio signals back to earth.

Prof. Lovell, director of Britain's giant radio telescope at Jodrell Bank, said astronomers viewed the experiment with "grave concern."

It was a possible danger to astronomical research both radio and optical, Lovell told the International Scientific Radio Union Thursday.

Movie Director To Wed Novak

LONDON (AP)—American movie director Richard Quine says he and actress Kim Novak will marry "just as soon as ever we can."

Quine, in London for the premiere of his latest movie, "Strangers When We Meet," said Thursday night that he phones Kim every day.

When they were both last in London, in May, Quine and Miss Novak parried questions on marriage.

"If things hadn't been so complicated—with me being so long in Hong Kong for the Suzy Wong picture and Kim being in California—we would have been married already," he told a reporter.

Thought Dope Was 'Seasoning'

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—An arrested Thai army captain told U.S. narcotics investigators he thought 55 pounds of morphine in his luggage was food seasoning which he had agreed to carry from Japan to Korea.

Capt. Nanong Samranth was quoted by the U.N. command today as saying a Japanese paid him $20 to carry the drugs abroad a U.S. military flight from Tachikawa Air Base, near Tokyo, to "some relative in Korea."

Fifty-seven soaplike bars found in the Thaiander's luggage by a GI inspector at Seoul Airport Sept. 13 were worth perhaps one million dollars to dope traffickers. It is believed the largest seizure of morphine ever made in this part of the world.

The battlefield at Gettysburg was dedicated as a national cemetery on Nov. 19, 1863, only 4½ months after the battle was fought.

Yankees, Orioles Open Stretch Drive Series; Bucs Win Over LA

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Whitney Ford and the New York Yankees get rolling tonight with the Baltimore Orioles on a four-game rattle in the Bronx that could settle the American League pennant race.

If the pride of the Yankees is to be soothed, as they vowed after last year's dismal third place finish, this is the weekend for the job.

Going into the series opener, which is expected to bring in 55,000 fans at Yankee Stadium, the Yanks have a one-percentage point edge over the Birds, who swept a three-game set at Baltimore two weeks ago.

The Orioles took over first place with that sweep—then yielded to second and stayed there by winning only four of the nine games they've played since—but they'll have to win three of the four this weekend to make it back on top.

A split would leave the Birds one game back in the decisive "lost" column with nine to play. The Yankees will have 11 left.

A split also would let the Chicago White Sox crowd into a second place tie with Baltimore—if the defending champs can sweep a four-game series at Detroit this weekend.

The Orioles, all even (9-9) in the season series with New York, but able to win only one of seven at Yankee Stadium, will go behind rookie Steve Barber tonight, then pitch ace Chuck Estrada (17-9) against Bob Turley Saturday afternoon.

It's Jack Fisher and Milt Pappas against Yanks Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford in Sunday's wrap-up doubleheader.

Ford, 31, has a 4-2 record against the Orioles in his worst season (9-9) of a nine-year career. He hasn't given up a run in 25 innings against the Birds at Yankee Stadium.

Barber, 21, and a southpaw with a 10-5 record, has faced the Yankees only twice this season. Both shots were in relief, for a total of three innings, and neither resulted in a decision.

The Orioles worked out at Yankee Stadium Thursday, when no games were scheduled in the AL. The Pittsburgh Pirates set off on their final road trip of the season tonight with St. Louis and Milwaukee still in need of a miracle to bar the Bucs from their first National League pennant in 33 years.

With 14 games left, the Pirates lead by six games and have to win 10 to clinch the flag no matter what the Cards or Braves do. Seven victories probably will be enough for the Bucs, already loaded with more wins than they've managed in any of the last 15 years.

After losing two in a row, the Pirates bounced back with a 3-1 victory over Los Angeles as right-hander Bob Friend won his 16th with a six-hitter Thursday. That gave the Pirates 86 victories, their top total since finishing second with 90 in 1944, and reduced their magic number over the ideal second place Cards to 10.

Going into the opener of an eight-game trip at Cincinnati tonight, any combination of Pittsburgh victories and Cardinal losses totaling 10 wraps it up for the Pirates. The combination is eight over the third place Braves, who trail by 6½ after defeating the Chicago Cubs 3-1 as Lew Burdette won his 17th with a two-hit pitching job.

San Francisco defeated Philadelphia 8-5 in 11 innings in the only other game scheduled in the NL. No games were scheduled in the American League Thursday. New York, holding a one-percentage point edge, and second place Baltimore open a four-game showdown at Yankee Stadium tonight.

The Cardinals start a three-game series with the Giants at St. Louis tonight while the Braves are home for the first of three with Philadelphia. Warren Spahn shoots for his 11th 20-victory season for the Braves.

Friend (16-11) walked one and struck out five. Bob Skinner helped Friend to his third straight victory by hitting a two-run home run, his 15th, in the first inning and then scoring the other run when he singled in the eighth and Dick Stuart followed with a double. Roger Cris (7-3) was the loser for the Dodgers.

Burdette (17-11) retired the first

12 Cubs he faced, then gave up Ernie Banks' 40th home run and fifth inning before putting down the last 15 in order. Ed Mathews drove in two of the Braves' runs with a pair of singles off loser Glen Hobbie (14-18). Banks tied the NL record shared by Ralph Kiner and Duke Snider with five seasons of 40 or more homers.

Willie Mays' fifth hit and third triple broke a 6-6 tie for the Giants in the 11th against losing reliever Dick Farrell (9-6). Johnny Antonelli (6-6) was the winner in relief.

MacKay, Bartzan Carry US Hopes

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lanky Barry MacKay and veteran southpaw Bernard (Tut) Bartzan carried America's hopes today against Venezuela's best in the American Zone Davis Cup tennis finals.

MacKay, clay court champion, opposed Marcos Gumbus, No. 2 player from Venezuela, while Bartzan faced Ivo Pimentel, the No. 1 star of the invaders, in the opening singles encounters.

Doubles are scheduled Saturday, and the final pair of singles Sunday.

Dave Freed, captain of the U.S. team, named MacKay and Bartzan as his opening singles nominees Thursday.

The selection of Bartzan was somewhat of a surprise, since speculation had favored Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis. But the latter, who celebrates his 20th birthday today, has been bothered by leg cramps and Freed wants him ready for Saturday's doubles in which he'll pair with 19-year-old Chuck McKinley, also of St. Louis.

"These matches are on clay courts," Freed said, "so we just have to go with our clay court specialists, MacKay and Bartzan. Tut, playing on the clay, has never lost a Davis Cup match." Venezuela has only two representatives here, so Pimentel and Gumbus will have to go all the way in the three-day struggle at the Cleveland Skating Club.

Young Cards Nip Greenville JV's

Jacksonville was one-up this morning in its two game series with Greenville after dubbing the Rose High junior varsity with a 22-6 setback yesterday afternoon. Varsity clubs of the two schools clash tonight in Jacksonville.

The baby Phantoms scored four touchdowns but there were nullified due to holding penalties. In the third period, Dan Johnson, left end, nabbed a Chester Walden pass and scampered 20 yards for the touchdown. The extra point attempt failed.

Jacksonville led 8-0 at halftime. Next Thursday afternoon, the junior varsity will meet Kinston on the Red Devils home field.

Many Grid Giants Open Schedule This Saturday

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

Southern California, back in business for the glory and gold of post-season bowl games, launches the 1960 major college football season tonight against Oregon State in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Gone are the days when the giants wait until the last Saturday of September to begin play. The weekend schedule lists the likes of Mississippi, Pitt, Washington, UCLA, Alabama, Georgia Tech, Georgia, Army, Texas Christian, Navy, Texas, Maryland and West Virginia, just to name a few.

But tonight, the Trojans have the stage to themselves. Out of the NCAA doghouse at last, and eligible for the Big Five title and Rose Bowl berth, South Cal opens coach John McKay's first season at the helm.

Oregon State is still rebuilding under Coach Tommy Prothro, but McKay, one of 18 coaches starting new jobs this weekend, has a rasimular problem.

In fact, All America end Marlin McKeever will play offensive fullback tonight, alleviating a problem caused by the graduation of Clark Holden, the No. 1 ground-gainer last year, and his understudy, Jim Conroy, USC's No. 4 offense leader. McKeever will return to end on defense.

Saturday night in the same Coliseum, Pitt, with its "C" boys—Cox, Clemens and Cunningham—in the backfield meets UCLA, another Big Five member. The Panthers, minus a solid throwing quarterback, must offset the running of UCLA tailback Skip Smith with their backfield trio.

Georgia and Alabama clash at Birmingham, Ala., in the televised game of the day (ABC-TV 3:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time). Both are injury riddled but Georgia, defending Southeastern Conference and Orange Bowl titlist, may have its title hopes dampened by a much-improved Crimson Tide offense.

Also in the South, Georgia Tech and Kentucky meet in another SEC game, while Louisiana State, the 1958 national champion, and third last year plays Texas A&M. Maryland plays West Virginia while Virginia Tech and North Carolina State meet in other top

Kinston Pro Tops PGA Tourney Field

By KEN ALTYA
GREENSBORO (AP)—In recent years Avery Beck, 46-year-old Kinston golf professional, has stood by proudly watching his son Larry win acclaim as one of the country's more promising young players.

He has seen Larry win the U.S. Golf Association junior championship and the Carolinas Amateur crown.

Now, after many years of plugging away in Carolinas circuit events without a victory, the elder Beck holds the Carolinas PGA title, giving the Beck family the professional and amateur titles of the two states at the same time. Avery used up 71 strokes and six eagles in Thursday's final round to post a 54-hole winning total of 209 and shade Mac Main, youthful Danville, Va., challenger, by one stroke.

HOLDING KEY POSITION—Bobby Bumgardner, sophomore end, is one of the key men expected to hold the future of East Carolina's 1960 season. Bumgardner is slated to start the season at an end slot. Depth at this position has given ECC coaches plenty to worry over in pre-season drills.

East Carolina Drills Held Under The Lights

A brush-up of offense and defense constituted the East Carolina College practice session which was held under the lights at College Stadium last night.

East Carolina's varsity will leave for Newport News and a scrimmage game with the Apprentice School tomorrow morning. Boone had indicated he will use mostly freshmen and the less experienced varsity boys in the scrimmage game.

The Pirate squad viewed film of Saturday's scrimmage yesterday afternoon before joining in a campus cleanup campaign, reeling College practice session from the campus.

No contact work was held last night with the session being devoted to learning situations and final preparations for the scrimmage game Saturday.

East Carolina, the only North State team not in action this week, is scheduled to open its schedule next Saturday with a home game against conference foe, Guilford.

Eppes Expecting Tough Opponent In Jacksonville

Coach Percy Daniels hopes his Eppes High Bulldogs have gotten over their bad case of fumbitis and will be able to make a good showing against Georgetown High in Jacksonville tonight.

Last week, the Bulldogs ran into unexpected competition before nosing past a stubborn Oxford outfit, 6-0. The previous year, Eppes had scored a 39-0 victory over the same foe.

Daniels reported he was more than pleased with the defensive play of his club last week. The Eppes defenders stifled Oxford's offense, allowing only two first downs. Both of these came on a drive which carried Oxford to the midstripe late in the second quarter.

Coach Daniels, who considers the '60 squad as one of the most talented since his entry into the coaching field, will be hoping to eliminate the fumble "jinx" tonight.

End Calvin Gatlin was the standout in last week's 6-0 victory. Gatlin took a hand-off on an end-around play and scampered 22 yards for the only touchdown in the game. He also turned in a bang-up defensive performance.

Teaming with Gatlin at the terminal will be Alton Harris, another veteran. Scheduled to start from tackle to tackle will be Raymond Tucker. Columbus Hunt, Levon Little, Charles Green, and Nathan Cromwell.

Joe Tyson will be the field general for the Bulldogs and will be backed in the star-studded backfield by Freddy Watson, Larry Hardy, and Marvin Anderson.

Daniels thinks the game with the Jacksonville school can "make or break" his club. The Georgetown club is anticipated as being one of the toughest in the eastern section of the state, according to Daniels.

Next week, Eppes will be back in Greenville, hosting arch-rival H. B. Suggs of Farmville.

Lewis Makes Big Threat In Golf Amateur Match

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Charles Francis Lewis III is the talk of the National Amateur golf tournament.

And a lot of the talk, naturally, is coming from his father, Charles Francis Lewis II, pro at the Little Rock Country Club. But nothing would suit Charles Francis Lewis III better, except winning of the title by his son, than to have grandpappy Charles Francis I on hand for today's semifinals.

Young Charles, age 19, is one of the four remaining in the tournament after Thursday's two rounds which saw the elimination of former champion Harvie Ward. The other semifinalists are Bob Gardner, 39, New York public relations man by the way of his native Hollywood, Calif.; John Farquhar, 24, son of an Amarillo, Tex., pro, and Deane Beman, 22, of Bethesda, Md., winner of the British Amateur last year and the 1960 Trans-Mississippi.

Young Lewis' semifinal opponent over the 36-hole route is Gardner.

The husky, bespectacled Farquhar, 1959 Southwest Conference champion at Texas Tech, moved through Thursday's two rounds by defeating John Garrett of Houston 3 and 2 and Phil Brownlee of Toronto 3 and 1.

Lewis was 2-under par for the 30 holes needed to post 4 and 3 victories over Carl Lohren of Norbeck, Md., and Claude Wild, Bethesda, Md.

Beman trimmed Fred Paine of Oakmont, Pennsylvania state title, 4 and 3, then disposed of Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., on the 19th hole with a 15-foot birdie putt.

Gardner moved along by trouncing Harry Root, sophomore member of the University of Florida golf team, 7 and 5, and another teen-ager Steve Spray of Indianola, Iowa, 1-70.

He eased around the 6,490-yard par-71 Firecrest golf course in a stingy 63 strokes Thursday, unhampered by a fog that prompted tourney officials to suspend play for 15 minutes in the early morning.

Bob Rosburg of Overland Park, Kan., groped his way around in 67 strokes to tie with six others for second position. The fog lifted slowly and late starters had no difficulty.

January's 63 cut one stroke off the course competitive record of 64 set in 1948 by Cary Middlecoff. January's card read 34-29-63.

Par-shooters had to settle for a tie for 35th position in a field of 150. Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., leading money winner among the touring professionals, was one of the large number carding 71s, along with Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N.C., and Al Balding of Toronto.

Seven players had 68s, nine had 69s and there were nine 70s.

 The night schedule finds Newberry at The Citadel, George Washington at Florida, Richmond at Florida State, Presbyterian at Furman and Davidson meeting Catawba at Charlotte.

Heading the "up-and-at-em" contingent is Corum, who says, "I'm anxious to get going. I want to see how we're going to do."

Virginia Tech Coach Frank Mosley says he'd gladly wait another week before putting his team on display at N.C. State.

"We're simply not ready for a game yet," says Mosley. "We have too many injuries and too many positions are not yet set."

Halfback Ned David, who has a sprained ankle, won't play for Davidson against Catawba. Otherwise, said Coach Bill Dole, the Wildcats are in fairly good shape. Furman's three varsity units seem to be in good physical condition for the Hurricane opener against Presbyterian. Furman will be seeking revenge for a 24-23 whipping at the hands of the Blue Hose last year.

The Citadel may have the brightest victory prospects of any team in the conference. Last year the Bulldogs mauled Newberry 48-0 in the opener of an 8-2 season.

Rumors Spread Of Ed Sutton Trade
 WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Officials of the Washington Redskins, whose professional football team plays the Green Bay Packers here Saturday night in an exhibition game, have refused comment on a report that halfbacks Ed Sutton and Don Bell were traded.

The two players were not in camp here.

The Winston-Salem Journal said in this morning's edition it had learned Sutton, former University of North Carolina star, and Bell were traded to the New York Giants.

The paper said it had been speculated that the Giants have been trying to trade quarterback George Shaw for Philadelphia quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, a former Duke standout. This would set things up, the Journal said, so that Jurgensen could then be swapped to Washington for Sutton.

Coach Jim Howell of the Giants said early today that reports that Shaw will be traded are absolutely false and added, "When we make a trade, we will announce it through the proper channels ourselves."

But Don Smith, publicity director for the Giants, said a deal was brewing to acquire Sutton for a future draft choice, and another source indicated that Sutton and Bell were traded to the Giants for future draft choices.

A spokesman for the Philadelphia Eagles said there was absolutely nothing to the report of Jurgensen's role in the deal, although Jurgensen has not yet been signed to a new contract.

Southern Conference Duo Offer ACC Stiff Openers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maryland and North Carolina State, Atlantic Coast Conference schools, open the 1960 football season Saturday against Southern Conference opponents.

The Terps were to leave today, 40 players strong, for Morgantown, W. Va., where they will meet West Virginia Mountaineers. N.C. State will be at home to Virginia Tech.

None of the four teams is expected to be a power in its own league. Both Maryland and West Virginia are rebuilding, and the Terps are figured to be farther along in that department. They trounced the Mountaineers 27-7 last season, when a lot of teams were giving the once-formidable West Virginians a rough time.

West Virginia had a 3-7 record last season, Maryland 5-5. N.C. State will be playing the team it took its most recent victory from—a year ago in the 1959 season opener. After the Wolfpack downed Virginia Tech 15-13 at Norfolk, Va., the team dropped nine straight. This year State has an excellent passer in Roman Gabriel—who set a couple of passing and kicking workouts were held at North Carolina. Quarterbacks Ray Farris and Ward Marslander did the throwing to ends John Schroeder, and Mike Greenaday — halfbacks missed the practice — halfbacks and end Jim Rice—all with ailments.

Clemson's first three teams put in about an hour on defense in about an hour on defense against Wake Forest plays. Then they had about 10 minutes each scrimmaging, using mainly pass plays. Coach Frank Howard complained that his lines were "not churning hard enough to break an egg."

Wake Forest held a game-type scrimmage with regular ACC opponents until the Duke opener.

A Stirring Western Suspense Novel The Lean Rider by CLIFF FARRELL

CHAPTER 31
Paul Drexel was in great pain, a matter that he tried futilely to conceal.
Abel Barbec kept an eye on the distant Apaches and used his rifle occasionally to discourage them from coming any closer.
Lisa remained with Paul. He insisted that he was able to ride, but Lisa overruled him for another hour or more. By that time the sun was well up, and the warmth of the day was making itself felt. Paul was obviously stronger. The Apaches were still around, and Abel was of the opinion that they might be awaiting the arrival of others.
Lisa helped him lift Paul into the saddle of his horse. Lisa mounted postilion with Paul and supported him with an arm around him.
"This," Paul mumbled, "is real nice. A little tighter, please."

Abel caught up one of the hard-used horses and mounted it. They emerged into the open, staying clear of gullies or outcrops that might offer a chance for ambush.
After half a dozen miles of travel, Abel pointed the Apaches, and turned back and were heading steadily eastward.
"They've given up," he said. "They figure another fight wouldn't be worth the cost."
Abel's mount gave out suddenly. He turned it loose and traveled on foot, occasionally grasping for the stirrup or tail of the remaining horse for the sake of faster progress.
Paul was silent, but suffering. His wound bled at intervals, and Lisa called a halt often to give him a chance to strengthen.
"How did you ever find me?" she asked Abel.
"Mostly luck. We guessed the Apaches would turn east. Aimed to be ahead of 'em come daybreak. The moon helped us last night. We was on a rise near an alkali flat when the moon came out o' the clouds. We spotted the Apaches on the flat, pretendin' to be clumps of salt bush. Next time the moon came out, there wasn't any black dots on that playa. When we didn't see any sign of 'em beyond the ridge in the moonlight later on, we figured they'd camped. We tracked 'em to that arroyo this mornin' and picked a good spot to jump 'em."

It was noon when they sighted the herd far ahead. Abel fired a signal shot. Soon the supply wagon, driven by Hester, raced toward them, accompanied by riders. The other men of the crew had returned from their futile hunt.
"I'm tired," Paul murmured, and began to sag.
Abel lifted him from the horse and held him in his arms. "He'll make it for sure now," he said to Lisa. "You an' Hester will see to that."
Lisa gazed at this gaunt, unshaven, weary man who stood bearing his comrade's weight. Within her was a swelling, uplifting emotion. Abel straightened a little as though something in her eyes had lightened his own burden.
"I didn't kill Frank O'Hara," he said suddenly. "I want you to believe that. Nor did Matthew." This was the first time he had ever unbent from his pride to voice a denial.
"Do you think I did it?" Lisa demanded.
"No," he said. "I never have thought that."
They said nothing more, for the wagon was coming up fast, the bouncing over the rough terrain. The kept gazing at each other. When they finally turned to greet Hester and the others, Lisa found the strengthening emotion continuing to soar within her.
Abel was right. Lisa, with Hester's help, saw to it that Paul made it. Once the shock had passed, he strengthened.
They remained camped three days and he recuperated speedily. When they resumed the journey he was better able to withstand the jolting of the hoodlum wagon, where he lay slung in a hammock made of wagon sheets.
The loss of time gave Kemp Travis an additional lead over them. Travis's herds, from the sign, were now some ten days ahead. But at intervals they came upon more carcasses of steers.
"What's his purpose?" Lori Melton asked plaintively. "Our drive is contracted to Diehl & Diehl. What good will it do Kemp to get to Nevada first?"
Micah Jones was the one who answered. "Maybe he thinks we'll never make it."
Full heat of early August gripped the desert as they descend-

Quickening Pace Seen For TV In Days Ahead

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV—Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Television's pace is beginning to quicken and viewers who don't want to miss the new things will be busy during the next seven days. The gamut ranges from the Tab Hunter Show to the Barbara Stanwyck Show from Shirley Temple to Milton Berle.

Saturday night, there is the debut of CBS' "Checkmate," an hour-long suspense series set in San Francisco (8:30-9:30 Eastern Daylight Time).
On Sunday Shirley Temple's new NBC series starts with "The Land of Oz" (7-8 p.m. And after that, in rapid succession, come the debuts of "National Velvet," the series about a girl and her horse, and the Tab Hunter Show (formerly called "Bachelor-at-Large") all on NBC.

Lisa, remembering the Pecos looked forward to this crossing with dread. But the Colorado was at midsummer ebb. What swimming water there was for the stock ran swift and muddy, but in channels that were easily crossed. The herd made it without loss of a head.
Lisa and Hester, with the wagon, found passage on a wagon ferry at a mining camp named Hardyville a few miles from the cattle ford.
The river cast them ashore in a land harsher than any they had seen.

"Pete and Gladys," unabashed child of old "December Bride," bows onto CBS Monday, 8-8:30 p.m. Barbara Stanwyck's NBC anthology series pops into NBC's late evening lineup (10-10:30) followed by Milton Berle who is supposed to inject some laughs into "Jackpot Bowling." And after that, the return of Jack Paar in radiant hues.

A few days of this and some of their own cattle began to die. Each day the number in the drag was reduced by a few as the weaker animals gave up the ghost. "We're beginning to see why Diehl & Diehl are willing to pay twenty a head for Texas cattle," Paul said.
Desert springs, two days drive apart, carried them through the mountains, but they emerged into a vast land with the interminable creosote brush stretching endlessly to the horizon.

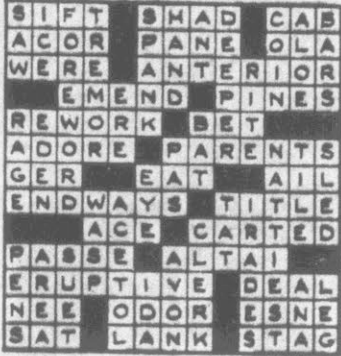

ABC's new travelogue, "Expedition," starts Wednesday evening (7 Eastern Daylight Time) with a film about an antarctic exploration. Later (10-11) NBC's new "Hour of Great Mysteries" will kick off with "The Datchet Diamonds" starring Rex Harrison.
In addition, the period will contain seasonal premieres of "Maverick," "Lawman," "The Rebel," "G. E. Theater," "Riverboat," "Laramie," "Ernie Ford and Groucho Marx." There will be some title changes, too: NBC's "Today" is lengthened to "The Dave Garroway Today Show," while its Marx show is shortened to "The Groucho Show."

The heat was like a heavy, bullying hand on Lisa's shoulders. She rode bowed and spent before it. A steer, walking blindly, came veering out of the herd. Her horse, trained to oppose such straying, did not lift its head or move to intercept it. It was with an effort that Lisa kneed the horse into its duty.
A long time afterward, she became aware that the sun's assault had been interrupted. She looked up. A cloud, black-bellied with massive gray battlements, was moving in overhead. More clouds had formed over the mountains and were approaching.

Thirteen presidential candidates have been elected with a popular vote of less than 50 percent of the total votes cast.

NEW YORK (AP)—A cautious stock market moved irregularly in moderate trading early this afternoon, nudging just a bit above its 1960 bottom.

The Associated Press average at noon was up 20 to 214.90 with the industrials up 40, the rails up .70 and the utilities down .20.

Movements of most key stocks were narrow, few going as much as a point either way.

Despite a sharp decline Thursday, the market managed to hold above its 1960 lows which have formed a support level but Wall Street had its fingers crossed as to whether underlying demand would continue at that point.

A pickup in retail auto sales and a bright forecast on machine tool orders helped the atmosphere a bit but no enthusiasm was generated. Steels, nonferrous metals and chemicals were mostly lower.

Rails were helped by merger news. They rose along with tobacco, and airlines. Autos were mixed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .45 at 603.14. Corporate and U.S. government bonds rose.

Relayed Message That Brought Needed Blood

FARMVILLE—Interdepartment and even interstate cooperation began here Monday night as the communications blackout spurred by savage Hurricane "Donna."

A Farmville patient was in urgent need of three pints of rare-type blood.

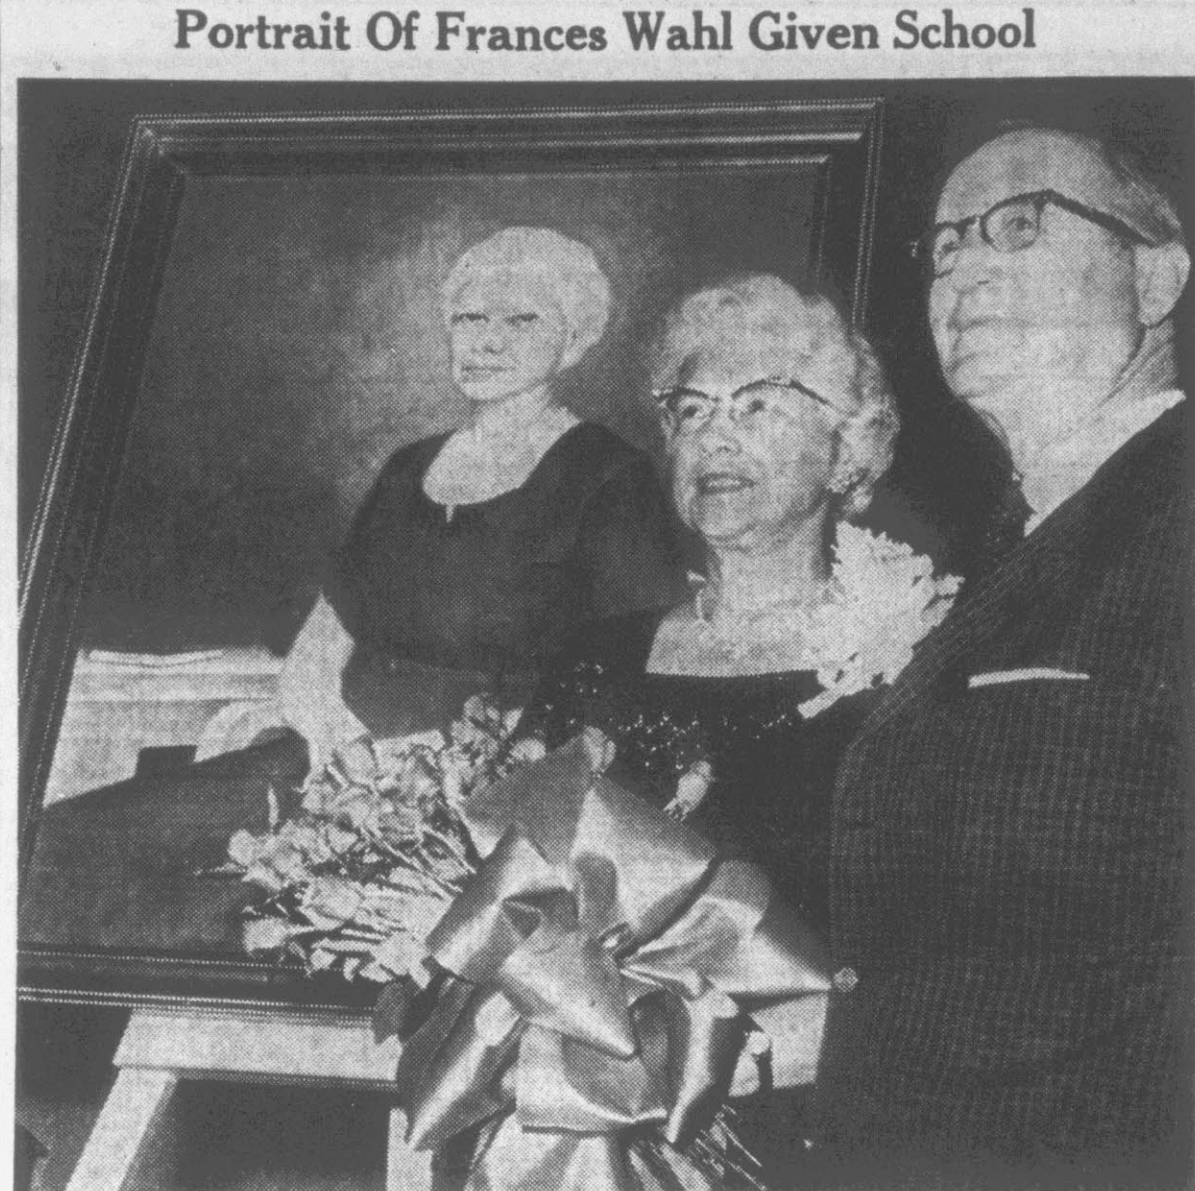

Telephone circuits were completely inoperative, so the local police department was notified of the need in Wilson where the Farmville was a patient.

Farmville police radioed the Greenville Police Department. Greenville officers contacted radio ham Jack Edwards of Greenville who relayed the message to another radio amateur in Norfolk, Va., headquarters for the Red Cross Bloodmobile program that serves this area.

The Norfolk radio ham notified the Red Cross Center there. The Red Cross allocated the blood needed and immediately contacted the Virginia State Highway Patrol. Patrolmen rushed the three pints to the Va.-N.C. border where N.C. patrolmen were waiting.

The Tar Heel patrolmen brought the life-giving fluid down the homestretch to the patient in Wilson.

Kennedy Says GOP Is Content To Do Little

WITH KENNEDY IN PENNSYLVANIA (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said today Republicans are "content to do too little" to maintain America's prosperous position of leadership in the world.

Kennedy told a crowd of about 4,000 persons gathered at a street corner in Lebanon, Pa., that he has no argument with the Republicans over their aspirations for the future of the United States.

"But," Kennedy said, "the Republicans are content to do too little to advance our economy and to maintain our leadership."

The Democratic presidential nominee said America's basic asset is its ability to out-produce the Soviet Union or any other country in the world. But he said a full advantage is not being taken of the productive capacity of the country.

Kennedy carried his campaign across eastern Pennsylvania with a motorcade which began in Harrisburg and pointed rim toward a major speech in Baltimore, Md. tonight.

Along the highways, there were scattered groups of spectators who turned out to wave and cheer.

The Democratic nominee encountered in Lebanon for the first time in his current drive some booing from members of the crowd. Local Democratic leaders attributed this to children. The majority of the crowd was enthusiastic.

Loudspeaker trouble delayed the nominee about five minutes before he could begin his speech. When he arose there was a cadence chant from the crowd: "We want Kennedy."

In later appearances at Reading, Lancaster, York and other Pennsylvania points, Kennedy was expected to elaborate on this pledge: "That the Democrats intend to see to it that everybody who wants to work in America has the opportunity to work and at decent wages."

Roommates On Opposite Sides

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—William H. Murdock and Forrest A. Pollard were roommates during the 1930s at the University of North Carolina, where both received a law degree.

Murdock now is a district Superior Court prosecutor, and is arguing the state's case here against Pollard, charged with murder in the shotgun slaying of Charles S. Allen. The victim was a close friend of Murdock.

Boone Tells Of Increase In Football Scholarships

Total scholarships for East Carolina footballers this year amount to approximately $35,000, Coach Jack Boone told Jaycees last night.

This is an increase over prior years when the scholarships have been totalling $22- to 23,000.

Boone told the Jaycees that ECC's football team is starting the year with few veterans.

"The team this year is probably the youngest and most inexperienced club ever," he said. Only two men are returning from last year's starting team.

"Out of eight of last year's ends only two remained in school," Boone stated.

He spoke of a de-emphasis program approved by presidents of North State Conference schools.

"By 1962 we will have to conform with these regulations," he said.

He suggested the construction of a football stadium here with 7,500 seats on each side of the field. The stadium should be constructed so that it could be expanded to 40- or 50,000 seats, he told the Jaycees.

"I don't think we will get in the Southern Conference or any other bigger conference until we get a better stadium," Boone declared.

Jimmy Smith III reported on plans to get out the vote for the upcoming municipal bond election.

James W. Boykin reported on the Labor Day safety roadblock.

Church Plans Utilize Closed-Circuit TV

A closed circuit television will be used at the Memorial Baptist Church to provide for the overflow attendance at the eleven o'clock worship hour.

This arrangement will be used through September and will be set up in the church basement. Beginning on October 2, two morning services will be held with the first at 8:45 and the second at 11:00 o'clock.

Driver Collides With 2 Cyclists

Charlie James Davis, 22, of 1307 Dickinson Ave, was charged with failure to yield the right of way yesterday by Greenville police after a truck he was operating collided with two bicycle riders at the intersection of Dickinson Ave. and Wade St. about 7:51 a.m.

According to officers, Davis was allegedly making a left turn off of Dickinson Ave. when his vehicle struck the two bicycles, one driven by Herbert Ross, 13, and the second by Davis Ross, 14, both of 607 N. Norris St. The boys were traveling east on Dickinson at the time.

Police listed damage to Herbert's bicycle at $15 and placed damage to David's bicycle at $20. No damage was listed to the truck.

Officers noted that both boys suffered bruises to their knees but did not require treatment by a doctor.

Surgery Follows His Coin Trick

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP)—Dan Burke, 18, ended a display of his tricks by making a half-dollar disappear.

Surgeons at Bellevue Hospital provided the encore. They had to operate to recover the coin, which Burke inadvertently swallowed.
