Red Bloc In UN Swiftly Attacks Briton, Adenauer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Communist bloc mounted a swift counterattack today against British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's hard-hitting address while the U.N. still buzzed with shock over Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's heckling of the Western leader. Poland's Communist chief, Wladyslaw Gomulka, unexpectedly took the stage as the General Assembly resumed its debate and accused Macmillan of supporting a militarist West German policy which he said had designs on Poland's territory. Gomulka spoke under the Assembly's "right of reply" procedure. Macmillan had defended West Germany Thursday against Soviet charges that it harbors militarist aims. The Briton's speech had moved the Soviet premier to violent outbursts of table-thumping protest. Macmillan met later more than two hours with Khrushchev and neither leader budged an inch from his stated positions on outstanding issues. But Macmillan abruptly canceled plans to go home, deciding to remain an extra week to await a possible return call from Khrushchev. He is expected also to report to President Eisenhower on his talks. Gomulka pitched his counterattack entirely to charges against Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German regime, which he said is asking "again for equality in arms." "Her Western allies yield step by step to their demands," Gomulka insisted. The 98-nation Assembly, meanwhile, called a special Saturday session for the purpose of approving the 15th session's agenda, and a bitter debate on the many issues in prospect. Khrushchev kept busy at his personal diplomacy, arranging a luncheon for 20 heads of government but leaving out Britain's Macmillan. The Soviet leader was expected to pick up some important neutral support for his proposal to revamp the U.N.'s peace-making structure. President Sukarno of Indonesia, the first speaker of the afternoon, is pictured as favoring some sort of U.N. administrative shakeup which will make it representative of the world's blocs. Khrushchev has proposed a veto-wielding secretariat of three members, Communist, neutral and Western, to replace Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's office. A number of small nation neutrals favor a new summit. Their attitude was illustrated by the proposal of Saudi Arabia to the assembly today that Eisenhower and Khrushchev meet with representatives of neutral nations sitting in. Saudi delegate Ahmad Shukri said it was unimportant whether Britain and France were present, since the real world power was in the hands of the Soviets and the Americans. Sensation followed sensation at the U.N., making this session of the General Assembly the most extraordinary — and apparently the most dangerous — in its history. Khrushchev was talking and acting tougher than ever. Eisenhower may return to New York for the third time since the Assembly started, U. S. officials said. Macmillan was to have sailed for London Saturday. An aide said instead he will stay in New York through next week. His departure date is now uncertain.

Bonn Cancelling Trade Pact With East Germany As Countermeasure

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government served notice today it is cancelling the trade agreement between West and East Germany. The action, taken after top-level conferences was ordered as a countermove to mounting pressure by the Communists against divided and isolated West Berlin. The cancellation notice orders erasure of the trade agreement by the end of this year. Government authorities said Adenauer and his aides agreed Bonn would withdraw the cancellation if the Communists take the heat off Berlin. Felix von Eckardt, press spokesman for the Bonn government said this meant the Communists would have to guarantee freedom of movement in and out of Berlin and within the city itself. The East Germans have been applying pressure bit-by-bit restricting movement in Berlin, which lies 110 miles from the nearest point in West Germany. Bonn and the United States that they with the Soviet Union are the sole authorities over this phase of the city's life. Today's action nullifies a trade agreement which provides for East-West trade totaling around two billion marks (about $470 million). Von Eckardt told a news conference the Western Allies had agreed to join in the trade embargo, provided a new contract is not negotiated by the end of this year. Renegotiation seemed unlikely since it would have to involve a major backdown on the part of the Communists. American, British and French embassies declined official comment but representatives of the three governments said privately they were pleased. The action was taken after two days of urgent consultations among the governments with Willy Brandt, Socialist mayor of West Berlin, playing a prominent role. It was an explosive step since the general expectation is that the East Germans will counter with some strong action of their own, perhaps even a blockade, like that of 1948. Heinrich Rau, deputy premier of Communist East Germany, said earlier when discussing possible economic sanctions by the Bonn government: "We have the longer lever." Nevertheless, Adenauer had been described as anxious to move swiftly in response to a Soviet note early this week which in effect pronounced the four-power occupation status of Berlin dead and said East Germany had full authority over the Eastern sector of Berlin. The chancellor and Brandt were disturbed by an implied threat in the note against the case of the three Allied air corridors into Berlin for transporting West German civilians in and out of the city. Cancellation of the trade agreement will have a severe effect on the economy of East Germany. Last year, West Germany shipped about $237 million worth of goods to East Germany, one-fifth of that in iron and steel basic to the East German economic buildup. West Germany received from East Germany last year goods totaling $43 million less than the amount shipped eastward. Bonn officials said the East-West flow was worth about $214 million. Chief among items received from the East were soft coal, kerosene, textiles and meat.

Gavin Now Agrees OK'd School Plan

RALEIGH (AP)—The Democratic and Republican candidates for governor agreed today they both endorsed the same set of proposals for public school improvements last spring. Democrat Terry Sanford displayed to a news conference in Raleigh photostatic copies of the questionnaire returned by Republican Robert L. Gavin in the poll sponsored by the North Carolina Education Assn. Sanford also showed other material which listed the items in the NCEA poll as the same ones in the United Forces for Education program. Referring to Gavin's recent denial that he endorsed

How To Do It

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration increased its 1960 budget surplus $151.5 million by delaying for one day each month the issuance of servicemen's allotments checks, Rep. Peter F. Mack, D-Ill., said today. A total surplus of about $1.1 billion for the year ended June 30 was announced by the Treasury in July. Mack said a report by Comptroller General Joseph Campbell related that the Army and Air Force mailed only 11 months' allotment payments to servicemen's dependents during the year that ended June 30. The June payments, which would have normally been mailed June 30, wasn't sent out until July 1 and will be charged to expenses for the 1961 fiscal year which ends next June 30, Mack added. The Navy, Mack said, has not changed its normal practice of issuing allotment checks the last day of each month. Campbell, in a letter which Mack made public today, said his General Accounting Office is attempting to ascertain the reasons for the Army's action.

Gov. Hodges To Be Absent When Benson Speaks

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges will be among the missing Oct. 12 when Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson speaks at the North Carolina State Fair. Hodges told his news conference Thursday he declined a Republican invitation to greet Benson at the airport and sit on the platform during the speech. The governor said he would offer Benson use of the official limousine and see he is accorded proper courtesies as a Cabinet officer. However, Hodges told state Republican chairman William Cobb, he could not participate in the event because of a previous engagement because of a previous engagement at Chapel Hill. The governor urged all eligible citizens to register and vote Nov. 8. "As governor," he said, "I wish that every citizen of this state could understand that one of the most precious privileges of American citizenship is voting by secret ballot in free elections." The governor pointed out that registration books in 94 counties would be open Oct. 15-29. The remaining counties — Cumberland, Forsyth, Guilford, Mecklenburg, Wake and Wilson—use a permanent registration system and the final date falls Oct. 17. On other political subjects, Hodges said he felt Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy won the first televised debate with Republican Richard M. Nixon. Hodges quickly added, however, the debate Monday was "only the first round. Three more debates are scheduled." Hodges said none of the 14 Democratic governors at the Southern Governors Conference at Hot Springs, Ark., is supporting the Republican presidential ticket. He added however, the amount of aid the Democrats can count on from these men varies.

Special UF Campaign Chairmen Are Named

Chairmen of the United Fund's non-soliciting committees were announced today by David J. Whitchard, general chairman of the fund drive. "These committees will be engaged in the many very important tasks carried on in connection with the campaign and they are vitally needed to support the front line solicitation groups," Whitchard said. Dr. Ralph C. Brimley is serving as chairman of the Public Information and Education committee. This committee will inform the community of the work of the vital agencies and it will explain the activities of the United Fund. The arrangements committee co-chairmen are R. Wallace Howard and J. Herbert Waldrop. This group will handle the details connected with kick-off and report meetings. Mrs. W. M. Reading Jr. is chairman of the Volunteers Committee which will head up the women's activities in the United Fund campaign. In addition to assisting in mailings, telephoning, office work and other duties in connection with the campaign, the Volunteers division will assist in some solicitations. R. Harold Staton will serve as chairman of the Auditing Committee. As money is collected and turned in, it will be their duty to separate it by divisions, count it,

Tobacco Prices Continue To Top Average Of $65

Prices were steady to slightly higher on tobacco market in Greenville, Farmville and Robersonville yesterday as sales averages on all three markets again advanced. The three area markets all recorded averages above $65 per 100 pounds as the Eastern Belt posted an overall average of $64.59. Greenville had its ninth million-dollar day of the 1960 selling season, chalking up its highest average thus far, $65.85. The local market sold a total of 1,684,274 pounds for a total of $1,109,155. Farmville recorded its highest sales average on record from the sale of 737,690 pounds for a total of $481,889. The average there was $65.32. Robersonville posted a $65.07 average from the sale of 249,896 pounds for a total of $162,611. Yesterday's activity on the 17-market belt showed total sales at 10,584,144 pounds for a total $666,403, according to the Federal-State Market News Service in Wilson.

Recover Body Of Missing Man

MANTEO, N. C. (AP)—The body of Russell Lanier, 40-year-old St. Joseph, Mo., man missing with a woman companion since last Saturday, was found on a sand bar in Pamlico Sound Thursday. Lanier's body was found by Harold R. McGuire of St. Joseph, husband of the woman who disappeared with McGuire while fishing last Saturday. The Coast Guard said they would resume the search today for Mrs. Geneva Lucille McGuire, 37. The search had been abandoned Thursday. Lanier and Mrs. McGuire had visited Lanier's parents last Saturday, and then went fishing. They were last seen Saturday afternoon. Their overturned, 14 foot outboard motor boat was found Sunday.

Smokers' Ranks See Record High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government estimates that at least 48 per cent of the Americans over 15 years of age smoke cigarettes daily. The number was put at 36 million men and 24 million women. An additional 4 to 5 million were said to smoke occasionally. These figures are given in an Agriculture Department report on the tobacco situation which said consumption of cigarettes will set a new high record this year. A further increase was forecast for 1961. The department says the annual percentage increase in cigarette consumption has been outpacing the percentage gain in population in the last few years. It says this reflects a number of factors, including (1) a greater relative increase in the 15-24 age bracket (the years when cigarette smoking is usually begun); (2) a larger proportion of women smokers each consecutive year; and (3) a rising average number of cigarettes smoked per person — partly attributable to the high consumption rates of a substantial number of filter tip cigarette smokers. Smokers will spend an estimated $6.6 billion, compared with $6.1 billion last year. The department says also the manufacture of cigars and cigarettes this year will be the highest since the early 1920s. But manufacture of chewing tobacco continues to decline, while production of tobacco for pipes and roll-your-own cigarettes is holding about steady. Exports of unmanufactured tobacco this year will be close to that of 1959, but about 4 per cent below the 1949-58 average.

Report Brigitte 'Out Of Danger'

NICE, France (AP)—Brigitte Bardot's suicide attempt may have been foiled by the sleeping pills she took. The film queen was found Wednesday night in a coma from an overdose of sleeping pills and with her wrists slashed. The first doctor to reach her said she apparently was so sleepy from the pills that when she tried to wield the razor blade the cuts were only superficial. The sexy actress was reported out of danger Thursday night by Dr. Jacques Namin, director of St. Francis Neurological Clinic.

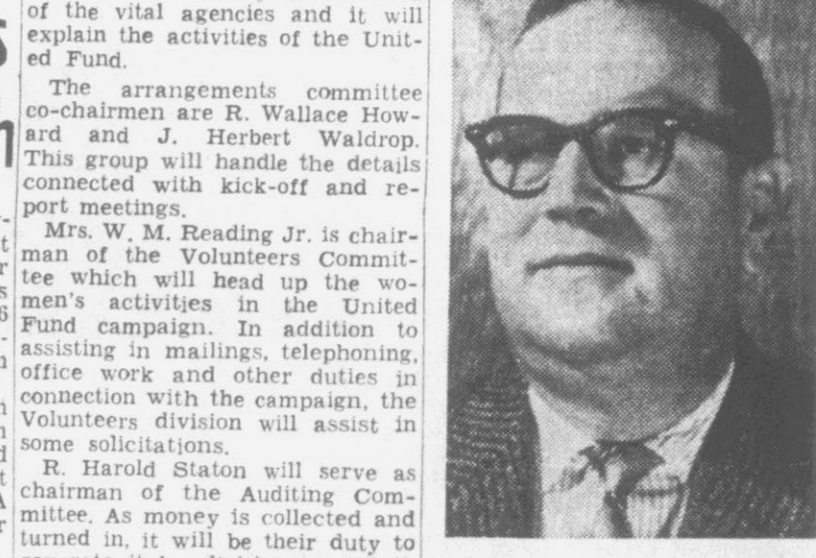

Driver Turned Over To Grand Jury At Inquest

AT LAST NIGHT'S INQUEST... Frank Dixon listens to testimony as Deputy Gerald Davis sits behind him.

Driver Turned Over To Grand Jury At Inquest

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer A six-man Coroner's Jury deliberated only 12 minutes last night before recommending that a 29-year-old Negro, held without bond on charges including manslaughter since the auto death of a nine-month-old Greenville girl September 18, be held for grand jury action. Immediately following the reading of their findings, Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey set bond for the man, Frank Dixon, of Route 1, Washington, at $7,500. Dixon allegedly struck a car driven by Mrs. James G. Smith III, of 706 South Elm St., almost head-on about one mile east of Grimesland, on U. S. 264, inflicting serious injuries to Mrs. Smith and fatally injuring Cynthia Lynn, the Smiths' nine-month-old daughter. At the inquest last night, Etherege Alligood of Route 4, Washington, told the jury that he was headed west on U. S. 264 bringing some tobacco to Greenville and noticed a black 1954 model car, later identified as the Smith vehicle, behind him. Alligood testified he saw the Dixon car, a 1951 model, go "off the road," to his (Dixon's) right. The car pulled back to the left and went off the highway, whirled around, then hit the rear of his truck, according to Alligood. Alligood noted he had, by this time, pulled off the highway. He said the Dixon car then hit the Smith car, "glanced off it and hit a telephone pickup truck." When asked by District Solicitor Robert Rouse of Farmville if he had an opinion on the speed of the Dixon car, Alligood said it was "running around 90 miles per hour." He stated he (Alligood) was traveling about 35 miles per hour. Alligood said immediately following the collision he jumped out of the truck and ran to the Smith car. "Smoke was coming from the other side of the car," he commented, and "a woman was lying on the right hand side up next to the car." He added that some of the bystanders "pried her hand loose from the running-board or fender" where it was caught. The Washington man then told that he "saw Dixon walking across the road." Dixon sat down on a grass island at the intersection of the two roads at that point. Alligood related. He noted he went up to Dixon and "smelled whiskey or beer or something," adding the Negro had to have someone to help him walk. Mylon W. Brickhouse of Greenville took the stand and told the jury he had been traveling behind the Smith car from Chocomaity and passed it and Alligood's truck. They met at the east-bound Dixon car traveling at a "terrifically high rate of speed." Brickhouse estimated the speed of Dixon's car at "between 75 and 100 miles-per-hour" and commented "the motor was crying—really crying." The Greenville garage operator said he stopped and went back (Continued on page 12)

Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Alton Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Brown, III, and boys Linwood, IV, and Greg of Raleigh, Miss Shirley Whitehurst of Stokes and East Carolina College, Greenville, and Mrs. Linwood Brown.

The guests served themselves from the dining table which was covered with white linen and centered with a twin birthday cake. They were seated at auxiliary tables in the living room.

Throughout the home arrangements of seasonal flowers were used.

Advice To Brides: Ask One Who Knows

By VIVIAN BROWN
 AP Newsfeatures Writer
MEMO TO THE NEW BRIDE:
 Housekeeping jitters are par for the course in the fall so don't hesitate to ask those with know-how how to solve them.

The first few months in a new home are dreamy—superficial cleaning is all that is required. Then one day you notice the glass has been dulled and your enchanted cottage or apartment requires some elbow grease.

Many brides are hemmed into a work box by wedding presents of thoughtful relatives. Weed out those bottle-necks that are dust collectors and work projects in the interest of progress.

Your own choice of furnishings could have been unwise. Frilly curtains are charming, but if you live in a sooty area, find some replacements at the window. If a plastic runner is necessary over that light colored carpet, use it. Remove it when you are entertaining.

Many a first spat for newlyweds occurs over the placement of furniture. Does the man of the house crash into the jutting corner of that end table every time he gets out of bed in the dark? Is there a good size ashtray convenient to his favorite chair to save the rug, table and his disposition? Is everything in your living room so precarious that he feels uncomfortable in it? If so, change it while you have a chance to make it seem like home. When he complains about a little inconvenience, he's not talking. It counts with him.

What about a reading light in the bedroom? A man who has been accustomed to reading before he falls off to sleep will need a good light for that purpose, even if it spoils the look of your headboard. Purdue University home furnishings specialists suggest ample light over the bed for each reader, the placement of light above the bed about 20 inches from the mattress.

Choose newer items in cleaning equipment, if possible. These double up in efficiency, and help cut down on chores. A new floor cleaner that combines scrubber and waxer can do all scrubbing jobs such as tile, wood, linoleum, and also can apply wax and polish to gleaming highlights.

Modern vacuum cleaners have been designed for easier use of accessories, and a jiffy house cleaning. You can vacuum draperies, upholstery, book-shelves and even ash trays, so that it is the easiest chore of all. A room will look spic and span in a few minutes, and a big cleaning chore is avoided by removing dust that could become imbedded in fabrics and crevices. The suction gadget for room corners, window frames, shelves is a time saver in itself.

THIS NEW ITEM of cleaning equipment cleans, waxes and polishes.

Homemakers queried on the subject say the best time to work is in the morning. One is likely to have more energy then, they point out, and chores will not be hanging over for a long time, making tasks more difficult to face as the day wears on. These experienced homemakers suggest (1) cleaning one room thoroughly each day, (2) keeping ahead of closets (never put anything into one, unless it belongs), (3) cleaning the oven each day, (4) disposing of objects that cease to be useful, (5) avoiding clutter by saving the minimum of jars, bottle tops, corks, paper bags, string and other paraphernalia that is useful within a given space of time.

Specialist Offers Homemakers Tips When Buying Frozen Foods

RALEIGH—Five billion pounds of foods from the nation's farms—fruits, juices, vegetables, meats—have been packed this year and are in the warehouses and stores. They are ready to provide attractive, varied, and nutritious meals through the seasons of '60-'61.

Miss Nita Orr, frozen food specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says some homemakers will buy the foods as needed depending upon their storage equipment. Others will get a large supply to store in the freezer or freezing compartment of the refrigerator-freezer so that trips to the food store can be widely spaced.

"When buying the frozen foods for long-time storage in the freezer that they get in the warehouse. This means zero degrees or colder," says Miss Orr. "Most freezers above zero—you do want to maintain freezer compartments of refrigerator-freezers are made to maintain this temperature."

However, even if your frozen food storage space is limited only to the ice cube compartment of your refrigerator, you may still enjoy the bounties of this year's harvest of frozen foods. With this kind of storage, you will just need to go to the food store often and not count on holding the foods for more than a few days at a time, since the ice cube compartment cannot be expected to maintain a temperature of zero degrees.

Why zero degrees for long-time storage? That is the question. Frozen foods can keep their quality over a period of time when temperature stays at zero or below. By quality is meant flavor, color, and moisture. According to the national association of frozen food packers, you do not need to be afraid of frozen foods that have been exposed to temperatures above zero—you do want to maintain them at zero if storing for any length of time for the sake of enjoying them at their best.

Daughter Honored On 7th Birthday

BETHEL—Annette James, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. James, was honored recently at a dessert course by her parents on her seventh birthday.

Present for the occasion were 15 of her friends. Each one received a book and a balloon as favors.

Games were played on the lawn. Guests were invited into the dining room where they were served buffet style from a table centered with a birthday cake flanked by burning pink candles.

Throughout the home fall flowers were used to decorate.

The honoree opened her gifts and displayed them, after which games were played.

Hints On Exhibiting Canned Foods This Fall

RALEIGH—Would you like to show off some of your canned foods this fall? There has been an abundance of fresh fruits and vegetables this summer. The products that have been gathered at the right stage of maturity and been conserved by recommended methods should be top quality.

Miss Iola Pritchard, food conservation specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says that each fall many homemakers make plans to exhibit their top quality products at local, county, or state fairs. The State Fair will be held in Raleigh Oct. 11-15. "Whether the fair is large or small, all your exhibits will be welcomed," says Miss Pritchard.

"If you are wondering what you are required to do to enter your products in the fair, your local county home economics agent will be glad to help you," reports Miss Pritchard. "She will be glad to give you information on possible entries, prizes offered, and how entries are made."

Miss Pritchard says the purpose of the food conservation exhibit is to promote canning as a good method of food conservation and show quality jars of food which will stimulate interest in both quantity and quality canning.

Miss Pritchard urges you to observe the following points when exhibiting canned foods; read the catalog and see what to enter; select only the best jars, remember, we are trying to teach quality to the public; send only standard canning jars; if the rim has been removed after sealing, replace it because it might come loose during transit and the products might spoil; be open-minded and accept decision of judges—they study each jar and base decisions on facts rather than assumptions.

Remember—success of the educational exhibits at the fair depends on your participation.

A.A.U.W. Official Speaker For Meet

Representatives of 12 chapters of the American Association of University Women in eastern and piedmont North Carolina will attend a workshop sponsored by the A.A.U.W. at East Carolina College Saturday, Oct. 8.

Morning and afternoon meetings will take place in the Flanagan building on the East Campus. "Africa—Below the Sahara" is the workshop topic.

Dorothy B. Robbins of Washington, D. C., Associate for International Relations, A.A.U.W. Headquarters, will deliver the principal address of the workshop at a luncheon in the North Dining Hall on the college campus.

Miss Robbins has covered in her career various phases of international relations and has lectured to audiences in a wide area of the country. She served as consultant on special programs on the staff of the Foreign Policy Association in New York City in 1952-1957. At present she is serving on the Executive Committee of the U. S. Committee of the United Nations.

Her published works include "UN in World Affairs," "UN Plus Youth," "The UN Story," and "You and our Foreign Policy." Dr. Kathleen Stokes, president of the Greenville Branch of A.A.U.W. has announced that the day's program, in addition to the luncheon at 12:30, will include a general session at 10 a.m., subject matter group meetings at 2 p.m., and a session at 2:30 p.m. at which summaries of group meetings will be presented. Dr. Hermine Carraway of the East Carolina faculty is in charge of arrangements for the program.

Chapters which have received invitations to be represented at the meeting are Alamance-Burlington, Beaufort-Morehead, Chapel Hill, Durham, Greensboro, Havelock-Cherry Point, Henderson, Kinston, Louisville, Oxford, Raleigh, and Wilmington.

Among state officers who are expected to be present at the Greenville workshop are Mrs. Richard A. Prokop, Greensboro, president; Mrs. Cecil Gilliat, Shelby, first vice president; Mrs. Carl Hagar, Havelock, third vice president; and Mrs. Jerome Smith, High Point, treasurer.

 "EASTERN CAROLINA'S SHOPPING CENTER"

Record Tobacco Prices Give N. C. Economy A Boost

RALEIGH (AP) — Record-high tobacco prices have given a shot in the arm to North Carolina's economy, particularly in the east where tobacco has a big effect on business conditions.

W. P. Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist for the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, estimated today that Tar Heel farmers will receive $73 million more this year for tobacco than they did in 1959.

A survey by The Associated Press showed business is definitely up in several eastern areas as a result of higher tobacco prices. In a few sections merchants say business is about the same as last year.

Hedrick said current estimates point to an output of 903 million pounds of tobacco in North Carolina this year—an increase of 100 million over last year.

"I figure the average price for this season will be close to $60 per hundred pounds compared with $57.90 last season," Hedrick added. "This would bring in about $480 million, an increase of 73 million over last year."

Tobacco prices have hit a peak in the last few days. The big Eastern North Carolina belt set a record Monday when sales totaled 13,838,910 pounds for an average of $65.67. The North Carolina Middle Belt also set an all-time average the same day with $62.82 on total sales of 5,631,532 pounds.

Why are the prices high? "For one thing," Hedrick said, "Cigarette sales have shown an increase of 3.7 per cent this year. For another, we are producing a good tobacco. The east is right in the middle of selling its best tobacco."

Hedrick added that in the last two years farmers have learned by experience they can get more for tobacco if they let it ripen in the field before harvesting.

"For years many farmers pulled their tobacco before it was ripe," Hedrick said. "This resulted in green, immature tobacco."

Gov. Luther Hodges said he has been encouraged "from the beginning of the season on the tobacco reports. I am quite happy that the present crop estimates will be 15 or 20 per cent above last year. This ought to help the state's economy. This makes Eastern North Carolina look better for us."

Increased tobacco prices have had a definite effect on business in the Whiteville area, according to C. D. Gibson, manager of Belk-Hensdale.

"Our business is up," Gibson said. "Business is definitely better throughout Whiteville. We attribute it mainly to good tobacco prices and a right good crop."

Arthur L. Tyler, executive vice president of 14 Belk-Tyler department stores in Eastern North Carolina, said higher tobacco prices in the last 10 days "have definitely had some effect on our business. I think the overall picture for this fall will be somewhat better than last fall."

Tyler noted that Hurricane Donna "set us back drastically for one week." He said some farmers may be holding off on their spending "because they want to take a long-range view and are wondering what effect the hurricane damage had on their other crops."

At Greenville, C. E. Blair, manager of Blount-Harvey Co., which deals in general merchandise, commented: "Our business has been good except for a few days immediately following the hurricane. I would say business is up a little from last year. Higher tobacco prices are definitely beginning to show in the economy."

Blair added, "Most farmers spend the first part of their money settling their debts. Now that they are settling up, the extra spending strength is beginning to show."

M. S. Nathan, secretary of K. M. Biggs, Inc., at Lumberton, said his firm's business "is no better than it has been. It stays about the same. The average price for tobacco is up, and farmers generally are satisfied with the prices, but many of them own money. Eighty per cent of the farms in north and central Robeson County have tenant farmers. Their cost of producing this year's crop is up over last year. The amount of oil that it took to produce the crop also is up. A lot of the crop was light weight."

At Wilson, W. D. Sharp, manager of P. L. Woodard & Co., general merchandise firm, said "our business is about the same as last year. In talking with other merchants, I find some say their business is about the same. Furniture stores are saying their business is off."

Liz Taylor Has Trimmed Bulges

LONDON (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor, after bulging at the seams, has grimly reduced back to a trim and lovely 33-22-36, her studio announced today.

As a result, the film beauty has started fitting the 62 costumes she'll wear as Cleopatra in a new film about to start shooting, perhaps the most challenging role of her career.

A "dame's rocket" is a plant grown in southern Europe which makes a good salad.

Gen. Twining Concludes A 44-Year Career In Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Nathan Farragut Twining, the nation's top military man for the past three years, retires today after a career he began 44 years ago as an infantry recruit.

The retiring chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff has been one of the last great American generals of World War II still in active service.

Ceremonial units from each of the services were scheduled to pass in review before him late today at nearby Bolling Air Force Base.

Twining, who will be 63 Oct. 11, had requested retirement for health reasons before completing his second two-year term in the Pentagon's No. 1 military post. President Eisenhower on Aug. 15 named Army Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer to succeed him.

In World War II Twining commanded more different air forces than any other general. He commanded the 13th Air Force in the South Pacific before being given the Solomon Islands aircraft command in 1943. This was one of the first joint air commands in U.S. history. He was in tactical control of all Army, Navy, Marine and Allied air forces in the South Pacific.

Twining later commanded the 15th Air Force in Italy and the Mediterranean Allied Strategic Air Force.

On Aug. 2, 1945, he took command of the 20th Air Force in the Pacific. Just a few days later his command dropped the first atomic bomb at Hiroshima, and then another at Nagasaki. Twining retained the command until the end of the war.

Postwar commands also came thick and fast — Continental Air Force, in October 1945; two months later, the Air Materiel Command; in 1947, the command of the Alaskan Department, quickly followed by the top post of the Alaskan command.

Twining became vice chief of staff of the Air Force in 1950 and chief of staff in 1953. As chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff since June 1957, he has been the President's top military adviser in a period of great world turmoil in the missile and space age.

Twining, a native of Monroe, Wis., became an infantryman with the Oregon National Guard in 1916 and served as a corporal on the Mexican border.

He received his second lieutenant's bars at West Point in 1918. During World War I he was a military ground observer and toured Belgian, French and Italian battlefields. Twining entered air training in 1923.

In 1943, he was aboard a bomber that crash-landed at sea during a storm. The plane sank in less than a minute. Twining and his party of 14 tossed about on life rafts for six nights and five sun-bazing days before being rescued.

Twining underwent a lung cancer operation in May 1959. But the ruggedly built, cheerfully disposed "General Nate" quickly recovered not only from that operation, but from the removal of a ruptured appendix last February.

At a reception this week given by the American Legion for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Twining looked strong, healthy, and years less than his age.

"Feel fine," he said. "Looking forward to a rest and time to enjoy life."

The Twining's have three grown children, Capt. Richard G. Twining, Nathan A. Twining and Mrs. Maywood S. (Olivia) Hansell III.

Senator's Mother Says Joseph And Jack Have Divergent Views

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, mother of the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John Kennedy, says her husband is staying out of the campaign.

Mrs. Kennedy, making a campaign trip to several North Carolina cities, was asked Thursday at a news conference here whether her husband is actively campaigning.

"No," she replied. "He has stayed out of it. It is easier on my son. They have divergent views. They're of a different generation."

She continued, "My husband was in politics himself. It's a difficult situation sometimes, famous fathers and all that." Joseph Kennedy was once ambassador to Great Britain.

Mrs. Kennedy, who is 70, continues her campaigning here today with a tour of suburban shopping centers.

She and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the Democratic vice presidential nominee, began a tour in Charlotte Thursday. They spoke to a crowd of 800 at a coffee hour.

Mrs. Johnson ended her tour of North Carolina in Fayetteville

Thursday night, but Mrs. Kennedy had a full schedule today, including the shopping center tour here, and a news conference and tea later in Raleigh.

Mrs. Kennedy spoke Thursday to an audience of 500 at Davidson College. Both women spoke to a crowd of about 2,000 women at a tea in Greensboro. Then Mrs. Johnson went to Fayetteville and Mrs. Kennedy flew here. A crowd of 350 to 400, mostly women, heard Mrs. Johnson at Fayetteville.

Mrs. Johnson's flight to Greensboro nearly ended in a crack-up at the Greensboro-High Point Airport. The plane hit a wet spot on the runway and skidded into a field. No one was hurt.

Mrs. Kennedy arrived on another plane about 20 minutes later and the ceiling was 200 feet because of fog. Mrs. Kennedy confessed she had her eyes closed as the plane landed.

Mrs. Kennedy refused to be drawn into commenting on the religious issue in the campaign. "Religion, any religion, is a wonderful thing," she said, adding, "I give you great comfort and stability."

Mrs. Johnson, aiming her remarks at women voters, said at Fayetteville, "We can't lose sight, and I know women will not lose sight, of the big challenge in this campaign—to have a peaceful and plentiful world and be willing to exert whatever heart and mind and skill is necessary to achieve it."

Mrs. Kennedy's them was mainly the same in her appearances. She said Sen. Kennedy, if elected, would bring "idealism, enthusiasm and vigor of youth" to the presidency, and provide vigorous, intelligent leadership."

her husband is actively campaigning too.

"No," she replied. "He has stayed out of it. It is easier on my son. They have divergent views. They're of a different generation."

This Campaign Touches All Of Us

The 1960 United Fund campaign in Pitt County is now underway. It represents the means our people have of supporting a multitude of agencies and services that reach us all.

If anyone has a better way of doing the job we'd be happy to hear it.

The only alternative to a combined fund-raising job, that we can conceive, is a multitude of little individual drives.

We're all of us too familiar with how that works... one solicitation after the other, month in and month out; and each month brings nearer the time when community giving is overwhelmed by unending demands.

A considerable number of able and unselfish Pitt Countians have been devoting recent weeks to preparatory United Fund work. Their intention is to finish up the campaign on October 29. It won't be easy. No UF campaign in Pitt has yet reached its goal despite several extensions.

This year it is generally felt that stretching out the campaign would partly serve to defeat its purpose, that of one fast and businesslike program of systematic solicitation.

Despite the reasonableness of the United Fund program, despite the careful preparatory planning, despite the devoted efforts of campaign workers in the month ahead, it can fail unless the people of the community are convinced of the drive's worth and that they are personally involved in all it represents.

Well, we are all involved. United Fund represents the things taxes do not buy: Scouting program, the American Red Cross, the Association for the Blind, the Mental Health Association, the Salvation Army, the Association for Retarded Children, Carolinas United (10 State and National agencies), and 14 Pitt County Community Services.

In one way or another, these UF members touch the lives of every individual adult in Pitt County, and many if not most of the children. The work of those agencies or programs which do not personally affect the individual now, may well become important to him or her in the future.

While the goal of $111,000 is a respectable sum, it is by no means out of reasonable range of all the people of Pitt County as long as each bears his small share of the total. Let's remember in the solicitation that many services and many agencies are involved, and contribute accordingly. It will do much toward helping the UF meet its target date, it will do much toward making Pitt County a better place in which to live.

Greater Participation In Affairs Is Required

Greenville voters pushed their city toward another progressive step this week as they overwhelmingly approved bond issues totaling $550,000 for a variety of capital improvement programs.

As a result of the bond election, Greenville will get a new fire substation and equipment to prevent an increase in the city's fire insurance rating; it will get a new Negro library and needed improvements to Sheppard Memorial Library; and a revolving fund to be used to pave many of the city's dirt streets that year after year put a heavy maintenance burden on the city's budget.

These and the other items approved in the bond issues put Greenville in a position to move ahead by providing better services to its citizens and meeting the increasing demands being made upon it by its continued growth.

While approval of the bond issues provides a source of encouragement for the future progress of the city, the fact that a relatively small portion of the eligible voters of Greenville participated in the election was a source of disappointment. Slightly more than 750 voters cast their ballots in Tuesday's referendum. That figure represents about 10 per cent of the number of eligible voters in Greenville. It means that about five per cent of the total number of eligible voters could have decided whether the important bond issues were approved or disapproved.

If Greenville is to continue on the road of progress, there must be a greater participation of citizens in affairs of government than was represented by the number of people who voted in Tuesday's referendum.

Campaign Still Lacks Old Fire

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP) — So far the un fiery 1960 presidential campaign is like a Sunday stroll in the park compared with some blazing campaigns of the recent past, for instance: 1952 and 1956.

Until now Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy have battled each other on a fairly high — and often dull — plane, pretty much free of personal assaults and recriminations.

There are some good reasons for the difference. Issues are less exciting, circumstances are different, and in the past others besides the presidential candidates got mixed up in the contest in a red-hot way.

In sheer voter excitement today, medical care and better defense, which can't be visualized — don't compare with such 1952 rose spots as McCarthyism, the Korean War, corruption and Reds in government.

Even the 1956 campaign, easier on the blood pressure than 1952 erupted in crashing climax when the Hungarians revolted and President Eisenhower had to interrupt his speech-making to get the British-French-Israeli troops out of Egypt.

That 1952 campaign was a lulu. Before it even began Eisenhower had a knockdown fight with Sen. Robert A. Taft for the nomination. And Adlai E. Stevenson, who didn't want the Democratic bid, had to be drafted to take it.

Events, some of them under and some beyond Eisenhower's control, kept throwing dramatic logs on the fire.

He had a reconciliation with Taft. He backed McCarthy, he backed his old boss, President Truman, and Truman, never a political natsy, banged him back. The campaign sizzled all the way through.

And the man Eisenhower was to pick as his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, got him into a jam — which Eisenhower had to explain away — by suggest-

The Word Gets Around

My little niece Kim went to the dentist recently. She didn't like it. She bit his finger.

This perturbed the dentist no end, but being a good dentist he pried her mouth open removed his finger and finished the job.

Kim, is only three and most of her playmates are approximately the same age. But even among this group news travels fast.

So when the time came for Lynn Laughinghouse, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Laughinghouse to go to the dentist, her mother had to do some coaxing.

"Let's go see the dentist," the mother said.

"Does he wear a white coat?" asked the little girl.

Her mother replied that he did but that he was a nice man.

"I don't know," said Lynn. "There must be something wrong with him or else Kim wouldn't have bit him."

Oh well, these things happen. A group of newspapermen went to Washington awhile back to interview Kennedy. Of course, there has been much talk of North Carolina's Gov. Hodges being appointed to an important post if Kennedy is elected president.

As newsmen will, this group speculated on what that position will be.

"I have it," one wag commented "Kennedy will appoint Hodges Commissioner of Hurricanes."

In big time circles the job seeks the man. A couple of fires have come along in the last few days which again point up the need for a rural fire truck here.

One was a tar fire in a warehouse near the city limits. Two volunteer firemen put it out with a hand extinguisher, but it had the potential of being a major fire.

The other was a house that burned down in North Greenville, also just beyond the city limits. Local firemen couldn't go to either one. The Fire Underwriters who control fire insurance rates, won't allow the trucks to go beyond the city limits.

However a move is underway to obtain a rural fire truck. This piece of equipment would be kept in Greenville for fighting these fires outside the city limits. Let's hope it is soon in coming.

A Value In The Atoning

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The Jews tonight begin the celebration of their most holy day, the day of fasting, or meditation, of confession, contrition and atonement. For 24 hours, Jews fast and many of those hours are spent in prayer.

Sin has a very long history in human consciousness. It is the knowledge not only of unlawful conduct but of a violation of conscience. The laws of man may change from time to time, but conscience transcends the laws of man. Conscience is an automatic unfavorable mental response not only to action but to thought.

For instance, one was startled as he listened to Khrushchev's speech before the United Nations that this man literally lied but appeared to be sincere when he lied as when he told the truth. In a word, his conscience does not trouble him. His consciousness of sin is very remote. The Jews, in their long association with the Natural Law, over a period of four or five thousand years, first with Hammurabi and then with Moses, knew that sin is a poison that destroys nations as it does men.

The tale about Lot's wife undoubtedly was designed to point dramatically to the perils of an amoral life. Lot, you may recall, left Sodom because of the vile habits of its inhabitants but his wife, who enjoyed the life of the sinful city, turned to salt a last look at the place and was turned into a pillar of salt.

It is this concept of sin and retribution that is rapidly passing out of our lives in this era of materialism. For if there is no free will, there can be no sin. If man is a product of accidental forces playing upon each other, there can be no retribution. That is right which succeeds and Al Capone was not punished for murder but for failure to pay his income taxes.

So Khrushchev can stand before the United Nations and speak a series of lies, known to all who listen to be lies, known to Khrushchev to be lies; nevertheless, the lies become facts because Khrushchev spoke them. They are facts of history. They are facts that will have to be dealt with because Khrushchev demanded a reorganization of the United Nations administration, and that must be accepted or rejected.

So, in an era which ignores sin and retribution, disorder can be proposed as a solution to current problems and the shock is not sufficiently great because moral resistance to evil is not sufficiently great.

This is really what the Day of Atonement is about. The Jews have been worshipping on this day throughout their history not merely because it is a holiday but as a recognition that they have transgressed.

On the day before Yom Kippur, we sat down to an evening meal and then we went to the synagogue where my father clothes himself in white garments and in a woolen prayer shawl. The prayers were intense and sincere and many wept and some even cried out loud for their sins were heavy upon them. Slightly one walked home and soon went to bed, for neither food nor drink were permissible and conversation was short. The following morning, we went to the synagogue early and stayed until sundown. Everyone fasted. True, one went out for a breath of air, but the older ones stayed throughout the day in constant prayer and confession of sin.

The late afternoon service on Yom Kippur is particularly beautiful if one knows Hebrew and has a love for mysticism. The body has been conquered. Hunger has been overcome without food. Thirst has been slackened without drink. The tears are dry. The heart feels refreshed. The sins have been washed away and one returns to the world hopeful for a better year and a better life.

Whoever has never experienced this enormous emotional baptism does not really know how profoundly the human spirit can express itself even in the simplest person. On such a day, one feels that God is near and that His words are clear. It is not possible to have lived through such a day casually;

Proving Travel Is Big Business

By LYNN NISBET

NATO—The National Association of Travel Organizations in its 20th annual conference at Virginia Beach afforded further testimony to the fact that travel is big business. The 400-odd attendees represented 35 states and three foreign countries—Canada, England and Mexico, and included several high ranking Federal officials.

Statistics were given showing that travel last year was a $28 billion business in the United States. Considerable emphasis was placed upon international travel. For more than 30 years the United States government has promoted travel of Americans in other countries, but only since World War II has any attention been given to promoting travel from Europe to the United States.

The goal of the government agencies and privately financed organizations is to attain a balance, a situation in which foreign visitors would spend as much in the United States as American tourists now spend abroad. That figure is in excess of three billion dollars a year.

Chief barriers to interchange of travel among nations is government red tape — including exchange of money, and lack of free communication because of language and social customs. The teaching of foreign languages in our schools so that visitors could talk with our people here and we could make ourselves understood in other lands was suggested as a great boost to international travel. And the result of this free communication would be a long step toward solution of many world problems.

ILLUSTRATION—This was illustrated at the "international luncheon" Monday, when men from Canada and England spoke easily, while the Mexican representative obviously had to give thought to each word.

John Fisher, director of the Canadian Tourist Association, made the principal talk at the luncheon. He emphasized the difference in attitudes of visitors between the United States and Canada and the recent disturbances in New York involving the Castro and Khrushchev parties. He said if he could have handled the Khrushchev visit he would have taken him to Niagara Falls and shown him that mass of water — and explained that neither the United States nor Canada could touch a drop of that water without consent of the other. And there has been no trouble between the two nations in 150 years. That's the way the world could operate if all nations understood and respected the rights of others.

TAR HEELS—North Carolina was well represented at the nation-wide travel meeting. About two dozen "delegates" registered from this state and four appeared on the program—Charlie Parker, Hugh Morton, Ed Rankin and Lynn Nisbet. The North Carolina exhibit of travel promotional material and advertising was one of the best. That despite the fact that many other states, through combination of private and public funds, spend several times as much money for such publicity as does North Carolina.

SHERLOCK—One of the men on the Amoco bus party from Durham to Baltimore for the Colt-Redskin ball game decided to do a little shopping in Baltimore. He bought a nice present for his wife and an several toys for the kids. When he got back to the hotel room he discovered he had left the wife's package in the cab. But he did not remember the number of the cab or even the company. A colleague suggested the number on the cabbie's cap. From that starting point the license section of the police department was contacted—and half an hour later the man had recovered his package.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? —The National Association of Travel Organizations for 20 years called its annual meetings conventions. Last year the designation was changed to "conference." The reason: Somebody said the word conference connoted more serious study than convention—which often means just a good time gathering.

This year the slogan "Visit USA in 1960" was abbreviated to "Visit USA." Reason: Why limit the campaign for increasing foreign travel to just one year? It was agreed all around that it must be a long range program, with results of this year's activity not showing up for three to five years from now.

Strength For Today Personal Income Rise Is Small

By EARL L. DOUBLASS SUPREME VALUES

As St. Paul lay a prisoner in a Roman dungeon, he wrote to his young colleague Timothy and said: "Do your very best to come to me before winter. And the cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus when thou comest, bring with thee, and the books, but especially the parchments."

These parchments were undoubtedly the Old Testament scriptures, the only Bible which both Jews and Christians at that time possessed. I want fellowship, said Paul—"Do your very best to come to me before winter." I need a warm cloak—bring the one I left at Troas with Carpus. Bring my books, for my mind is hungry. But especially bring me the parchments—the Bible—for the hunger of my soul is the most poignant of all.

More Bibles are printed every day than any other book. Yet we wonder sometimes who reads them. In hundreds of homes they are in a cupboard or on top of a shelf gathering dust. People in every generation have loved fellowship, and the present generation is no exception. We like comfort (the cloak left at Troas with Carpus). More books are sold and read today than ever before. But what about the parchments—the Bible?

"Man shall not live by bread alone but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." The parchments stand supreme in every age.

By ELMER ROESSNER

There is not as much boom in total personal income as the figures indicate. The total reached a new high in August. It was at an annual rate of $497.6 billion compared with $383.3 billion in August, 1959, according to Department of Commerce figures.

The rise of $24.3 billion seems nice and boom. But it's less lush than it seems because of two factors: the population rose from an estimated 177,374,000 to 180,760,000. When the total income is related to the population, it appears that August income was at an annual rate of $2,161 per person in 1959 and $2,254 per person in 1960.

This makes it appear the per capita income went up $9 a year. So it did in paper money. DRAIN OF INFLATION

But despite all the politicians have been telling us, inflation persists and the buying power of the dollar still declines. If the purchasing power of the consumer dollar in 1947-49 was 100 cents—an assumption the government makes in its statistics—then the dollar had a purchasing power of 89.1 cents in August, 1959, and 79.0 cents in August, 1960.

On that basis, the per capita income at the annual rate of $2,161 in August, 1959, had a purchasing power of $1,730.96. And the per capita income at the rate of $2,254 in August, 1960, had a purchasing power of 1,730.66.

Thus the per capita increase from August to August was only $49.70 in actual buying power, or a little less than $2 a week.

GOVERNMENT - MADE INCREASE

This new high income is a small cause for rejoicing for other reasons.

Of the $24.3 billion increase, one big chunk was due to the raise granted Federal civil service employees by Congress. Government wage and salary payments rose from rates of

Another chunk was the increase in unemployment benefits. "Transfer payments," which include these benefits, social security payments, veterans' benefits and pensions, went from rates of $26.7 billion to $29.1 billion, a rise of $2.4 billion. It is a strange economy we are living in, my buddies, when a rise in unemployment benefits looks like an upsurge of prosperity!

Total wage and salary payments, including civil service, rose from rates of $258.6 billion to $275.1 billion, a $16.5 billion rise, much due to higher union wage rates.

All other types of income showed rises. Smallest gains were in rental income, from rates of $12.4 billion to $12.5 billion, and dividends, from rates of $13.6 billion to $14 billion.

Agricultural income rose from rates of $14.4 billion to $15.7 billion which—judging from what the Presidential candidates are now saying — was humblingly small.

WARNS AGAINST HIRING FORMER UNION OFFICERS

Don't hire an ex-union man for personnel work, J.J. Patin, director of personnel administration for the Pennsylvania Railroad, told personnel group at Michigan University.

"The notion that if you can't lick them, pay them to join you, generally doesn't work," he said. "When the union officer steps into personnel management, he checks his influence with labor at the door — and is likely to be resented. Why not? In the union's eyes he's at best an opportunity, at worst a traitor.

"If you decide to hire a talented labor officer for your personnel department, make sure you are hiring him for his ability and not for his influence. Then put him where he isn't asked to deal with his former associates."

The Greatness of God

TWO PSALMS PRAISE GOD'S WORLD FOR THE WISDOM AND POWER IT DISPLAYS.

Scripture—Psalms 8, 104.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"WE ARE now about to study two psalms that have to do with a major subject of Biblical revelation, which is especially important in this day in which we live when there is so much literature about and discussion of the origin of the universe. As Christians, we need in this hour the strong affirmation of the great doctrine of the creation of the world by the omnipotent and all-wise God. If He is the creator, He is also the sustainer of the universe."—In these words the Rev. Wilbur M. Smith introduces today's lesson in Peloubet's Select Notes.

moved? If God created us in His image and honored His creation, why do not more of us strive with might and main to live as He would have us in this turbulent world of ours? If we did, we might be able to help, even if just a little bit, to settle the world's disputes, and make it a happier place for all who live.

"Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of Thy hands; Thou hast put all things under his feet: all sheep and oxen, yea, and the beasts of the field; the fowl of the air, and the fish of the sea, and whatsoever passeth through the paths

Kennedy Raps Nixon Role In Policy; Takes Time Out

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy took a partial respite from his presidential campaign today after assailing the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon's role in that field.

Kennedy's only announced political activity for the day was a scheduled morning address by telephone to a group of dairy farmers meeting in Syracuse.

The senator will be back on the campaign trail Saturday. He flies to Chicago in the morning to address the Polish-American Congress, then travels on to Minneapolis for a speech.

In his Syracuse address, carried on a New York state television network, Kennedy listed areas around the world where the Communists have helped to precipitate crises during the last 12 months.

He said that each of the areas had been visited earlier by Nixon as vice president.

"Why was not our Latin America capital investment program strengthened in 1958, after Mr. Nixon was there, instead of now at the point of Mr. Castro's gun?" Kennedy asked in referring to Cuba's anti-American prime minister.

Makes His Mark Early And Often

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—At 21, Doyle Conner of Starke, Fla., was the youngest member of the Florida Legislature when he served his first term in the House of Representatives in 1951.

"Why did we fail to recognize the situation in Laos—in India—in Japan—in Poland and other areas of the world—before the suits were filed against WSM, Inc., and the National Life and Accident Insurance Co.?"

At 26, he was the youngest presiding officer in legislative history when he served as Speaker of the House in 1957.

At 31, he is the youngest man ever elected to the Florida Cabinet, the seven-man board of elective administrative officials who administer the day-to-day business of the state government.

Conner won the Democratic nomination for commissioner of agriculture last spring. He has no Republican opposition in the general election.

U.S. Diplomats Relying On Quiet Effort Within UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. strategists counted today on a combination of quiet personal diplomacy and specific proposals to make headway at the star-studded 15th session of the United Nations General Assembly.

The American plans were in pointed contrast to the actions of Nikita Khrushchev, U.S. observers felt the Soviet Premier had damaged his own cause at the U. N.

The specific American proposals are being shaped up as a follow-through to President Eisenhower's speech to the Assembly last week.

The first of these, outlining the U.S. plan for aid to Africa through the U.N., already has been submitted. Proposals for peaceful use of outer space and for disarmament will be presented later.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, revising earlier intentions, has decided to return to New York Monday. He may stay for most of next week.

A third Eisenhower trip to New York was being considered. Qualified U. S. informants believe Khrushchev might well have scored a gain for the Communists had he come to the U. N. with appealing proposals for disarmament and Africa, acted with the diplomatic dignity expected of a man in his position, held a press conference and some private meetings and departed.

Instead, it is felt the Soviet Premier antagonized many new and neutral delegates by his attacks on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, his plan for splitting the U. N. executive in three and by his crudeness, the like of which had not been seen at the U. N. before.

Newsmen Covering UN Find A Bedlam Of Words

Editor's Note—Reiman Morin, globe-trotting correspondent of The Associated Press, is at the United Nations, covering the news of its 15th Assembly. Here is a reporter's personal impressions of the way things go at the U. N. these days.

By RELMAN MORIN
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The smaller squawk box on your desk thunders: "Attention, please! Attention, please! May I have your attention..."

this HOME is prepared for emergency

- A homemaker completing these twenty home preparedness points can now qualify for these color window seal by signing a similar list and taking it to the local civil defense director:
- Know the warning signals and what they mean.
 - Know my community plan for emergency action.
 - Have selected our family shelter area.
 - Have plans for emergency cooking.
 - Have plans for emergency heating.
 - Have plans for emergency lighting.
 - Know what to do about radioactive fallout.
 - Have a two-week supply of food and water.
 - Am prepared to purify unsafe water.
 - Have a radio which does not depend upon a commercial source of power.
 - Know the Conelrad stations, and am prepared to listen for survival instructions.
 - Have a first aid kit.
 - Have emergency clothing and blankets.
 - Have morale supplies.
 - Do fire-preventive house-keeping.
 - Have emergency fire fighting plans and equipment.
 - Have emergency sanitation plans and preparations.
 - Have plans for evacuation in accordance with my community plan.
 - Have a family emergency plan with which all members of my family are familiar.
 - Will update preparations with State and local plans.

The bigger squawk box is demanding attention too. It rattles and crackles with the words of the speakers downstairs. Harsh, strident, jagged-edged words... "nuclear war... holocaust... savages... imperialist..."

The stinging words follow you from room to room. There is no escape.

"Attention, please!" From so many directions, so many voices demanding attention. Typewriters, chattering, transcribe the words. Teletypes beat and pound. The telephones summon. There is no peace, no quiet.

You try to frame the picture against the long perspective. The man in the golden robe, speaking now, represents a great convulsion of history and the end of an era. Empires have broken to pieces in Africa and Asia. Applause greets the men from the new nations as they take seats in the Assembly, group by group. Colonialism is dead. So much is clear. But—

Claims Hanging System 'Illegal'

TOKYO (AP)—Death row convict Kesatoshi Matsushita, 29, claims the government is going to hang him in an illegal manner. Matsushita, convicted of slaying a family of four, contends under an 1873 decree that all executions must be by hanging from the ceiling. Wednesday he challenged in Tokyo District Court the present method of dropping the condemned man into an underground chamber "with his neck tied to a rope."

The court rejected Matsushita's appeal.

Burglars Proved Non-Partisan

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP)—Police say burglars who tunneled into a jewelry-making firm Thursday and escaped with $4,400 in merchandise definitely were non-partisan.

The loot included 432 Kennedy campaign buttons and 720 Republican elephants, finished in gold.

Western Singer Suffers Burns

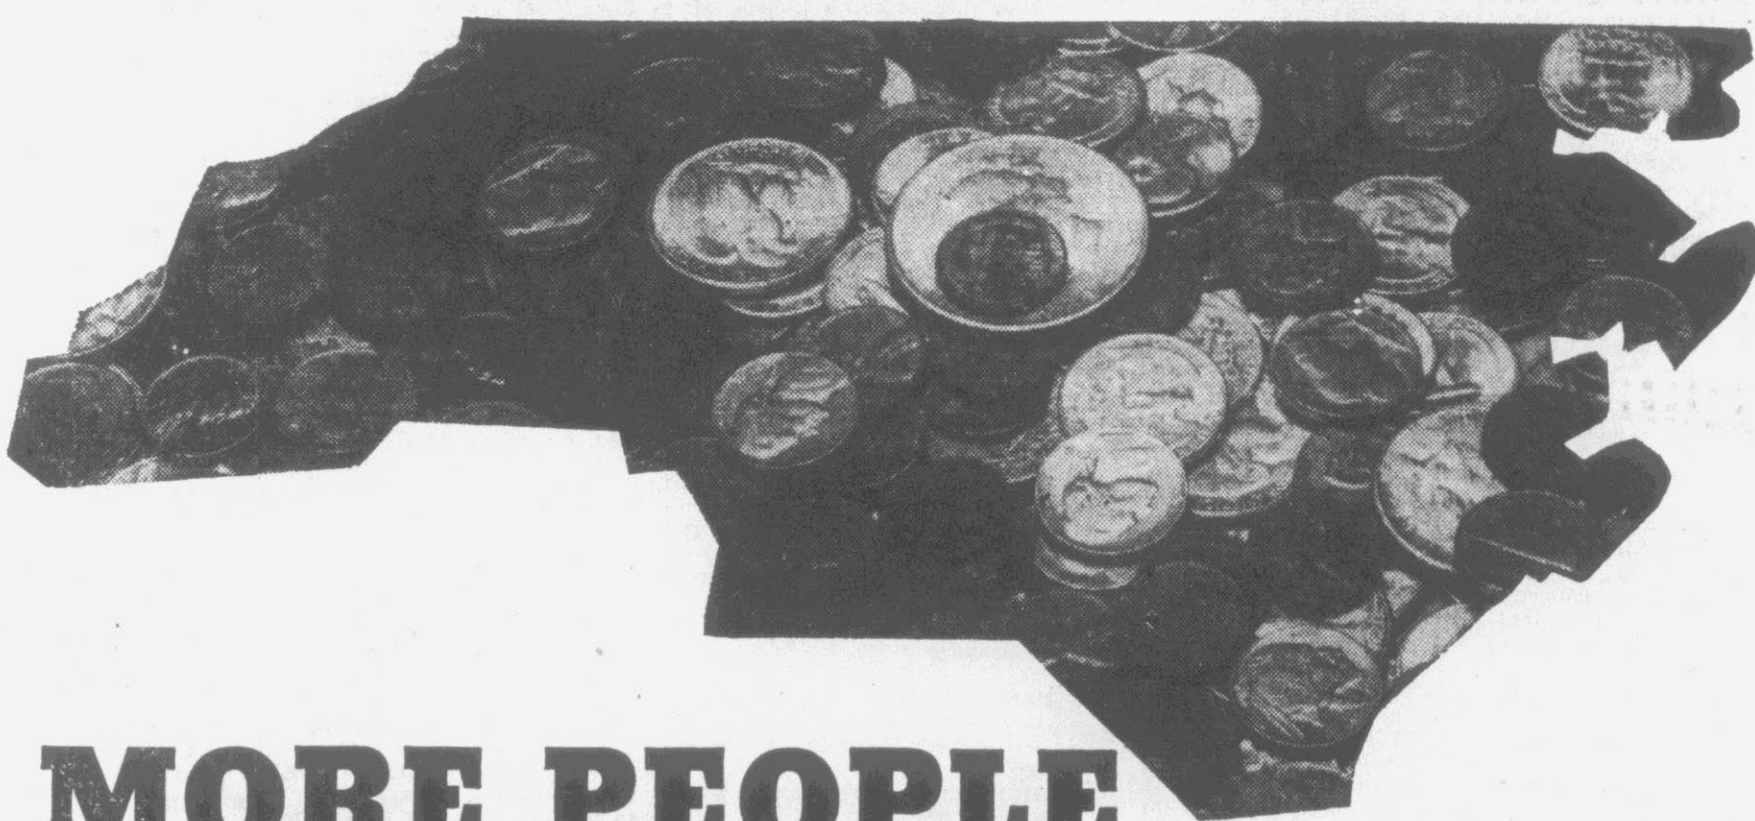

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Western singer Johnny Cash, 28, suffered minor burns Thursday night when his convertible exploded on a Beverly Hills street—apparently when leaking propane gas ignited. Investigators said Cash was carrying a bottle of gas in the back of his car to use on a camping trip. He jumped from the rolling car as it burst into flames.

U.S. Amateurs Hold Big Lead

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — The United States team in the World Amateur Golf tournament held a phenomenal 20-stroke lead today at the halfway point in the 72-hole quest for the Eisenhower Cup.
 The team, composed of Jack Nicklaus, Deane Beman, Bob Gardner and Billy Hyndman, totaled 413 strokes after 36 holes. Under the scoring system used here only the three low scores of any four-man team are counted.
 Nicklaus, Ohio State University junior, toured the Merion Golf Club par 72 course in 67 Thursday, adding to his first day round of 66 for a 133 total. Beman, University of Maryland senior, had 71-67-138; Gardner, of New York City, 71-71-142; and Hyndman, of Philadelphia, 71-76-147.
 The Great Britain-Ireland was second with 433, defending titlist Australia 439; Mexico and New Zealand tied at 442. South Africa 445 and Canada and Rhodesia-Nyasaland each 450.

East Carolina Hopes To Post Second Win Saturday

By JOHNNY HUDSON Reflector Sports Editor

Last Saturday night East Carolina left many fans disappointed in a 7-0 victory over Guilford. Tomorrow night, the Bucs will try to exploit their offensive gains against the Catawba Indians.
 Following the Guilford game, Coach Jack Boone stood dejected, trying to total the many mistakes his club had made. Two days later, he sported a different outlook—one of optimism.
 "After looking at the films, we found a lot of good points and the mistakes we made were the correctable type. This is a young club but we have a lot of confidence in them," sported Boone.

Thus East Carolina goes after victory number two with a question mark still tied to its neck. Last week failed to give a crystal-clear picture of the 1960 Bucs. Tomorrow night, a better show is expected.
 One sure-fire analysis of ECC would show a strong defensive line. Guilford penetrated to within the EC 30-yard line six times last week but each time was given the about-face command by a stout forward wall.
 Clayton Piland came to the front in a big way last week, leading the defensive charges. Mixing muscle with speed, the EC tackle dumped Guilford backs time after time for minus yards.

Chuck Gordon, Vernon Davis, Bob Gregor, and Wayne Davis are other interior linemen Boone and staff will count on tomorrow night. On the flanks, Bobby Bumgardner and Jones Lovkerman will start. A better performance for these two couldn't have been asked last week.

Glenn Bass remains the ace in the hole for East Carolina's offensive attack. Saturday, he scored the only touchdown and was deprived of another on a clipping penalty. To stop Bass tomorrow night, Catawba will have to come up with a defense differing from any ECC foe of the past two years.

Bert Stafford had a miserable 60 minutes of football last Saturday, failing to complete a pass and bobbling the snap from center several occasions. His performance will have to improve tomorrow night.

Sonny Baysinger has returned and will give the club added offensive punch. Tommy Mathews, injured last week, is still on the doubtful list.

Nick Hilgert and Billy Strickland gave ECC a strong punch up the middle last week—something missing from the Pirate attack for many years. Both fullbacks clicked off large hunks of yardage. The coaching staff will again have to worry over its second unit. Depth is still a big problem and will be until the yearlings gain some experience.

Catawba rolls into Greenville after successive losses to Western Carolina, Davidson, and Newberry. The Indians, in their second season under Coach Presnell Mull, have installed the single-wing attack but have failed to crank their new offense in early games.

Mull has indicated it will take time for his Indians to adjust. He thinks they might be ripe for an upset somewhere along the way.

Jean Worthington, a tailback with hips of glass, controls the Indian throttle. A New Bern native, Worthington was the leading rusher in 1959 and has featured their few happy moments this year.

Last season ECC dubbed Catawba with a 34-7 setback but Worthington was on the sidelines.

Ronnie Ball, starting fullback, is a threat through the airways. Other backfield starters will be Sam Morrow and Leonard Campagna.

Big Paul Mucke, a tackle, is the number one lineman. Other probable starters in the line include Spurgeon Lambeth, Don Elkin, Bill Boschini, Fred Kyzzer, Robert Patton, and Dallas Campbell. Catawba will be trying to crack the win column and East Carolina will be attempting to stay atop of early season standings. Plenty of seats still remain for the game. Kickoff time is 8:00.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Six television stations in North and South Carolina will carry the North Carolina - Miami football game, starting at 8 p.m. tonight. The game will be telecast by WFMV-TV, Greensboro; WTVD, Durham; WBT-TV, Charlotte; WECT, Wilmington; WNCN, Greenville, N.C.; and WSBC-TV

Drive Proposed

An intensive drive for more membership in the East Carolina College Pirate Club was proposed and accepted this morning in a meeting held by the college's Athletic Advisory Council.

Reynolds May introduced a motion calling for the 11-man council, with assistance of 20 present Pirate Club members, to solicit non-members in a one-day canvass of the city. May's motion came after a report from Athletic Director N. M. Jorgensen, revealing over 250 former members of the club had failed to join this fall. The motion was accepted unanimously.

A meeting, to be held at Carolina Sales, for organizational purposes is scheduled for Monday at 10 a.m. The council emphasized the need "to get the town with the college" in its bid to join the Southern Conference.

Quarterback Looms As Trouble Spot For Team

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer The quarterback, that almost-always necessary ingredient for a successful football team, is going to have the final say this weekend as to whether the nation's top college teams are going to make it through some pretty stiff tests.

Only one, top-ranked Mississippi, seems to have little worry when it faces Memphis State Saturday night.

However, the possible lack of a good quarterback may spoil the debut tonight of Miami (Fla.) when it launches one of college football's toughest schedules against North Carolina in the Orange Bowl.

Second-ranked Syracuse, which faces Kansas Saturday in the nationally televised game, has a pair of top-flight signal callers in Dave Sarette and Dick Easterly, and will face another good one in John Hadl.

Washington, ranked third in the current Associated Press Poll, has All-America Bob Schloredt poised to help beat back Navy, and its sparkling halfback Joe Bellino.

But Miami coach Andy Gustafson isn't so fortunate. He lost starter Fran Curci, his vest-pocket-sized magician, through graduation, which also claimed understudy Theron Mitchell. The No. 3 man was Bill McClain, and he signed a pro baseball contract.

This year, with the likes of Syracuse, Notre Dame, Pitt, Air Force and Auburn coming up, Gustafson has only one quarterback who has seen any varsity action, and that sparsely in 1958. He is George MacIntyre, out last year with a broken wrist. Mississippi quarterback Jake Gibbs has thrown three touchdown passes and scored twice on short runs in helping Ole Miss win its first two games.

Northwestern (No. 6) is without signal-caller Dick Thornton as it opens its Big Ten campaign against Iowa.

Illinois, ranked fourth, and Ohio State, ninth-ranked, are outside the Big Ten this weekend. The Illini play host to West Virginia, while the Bucks meet Southern California.

Clemson (No. 7) the Atlantic Coast Conference kingpin, meets Virginia Tech.

Tenth-ranked Georgia Tech, under coach Bobby Dodd, meets Florida under Bobby Dodd Jr. at quarterback. Both schools have won two.

Other top intersectional tilts feature Missouri at Penn State, Pitt at Oklahoma, Army at California and Baylor at LSU.

Michigan and Michigan State renew an ancient rivalry in the Big Ten while Notre Dame and Purdue meet in another closely rated game. Air Force is at Stanford and Arkansas meets Texas Christian in the Southwest's big battle.

Other top games: East: Holy Cross at Boston U.; Penn at Dartmouth; Massachusetts at Harvard; Columbia at Princeton; Brown at Yale.

South: Vanderbilt vs. Alabama at Birmingham; The Citadel at Davidson; Wake Forest at Florida State; South Carolina at Georgia; Auburn at Kentucky; night; Duke at Maryland; Baylor at LSU, night.

Midwest: Kansas State at Colorado; Indiana at Minnesota; Iowa

Colts, Bears Will Have Showdown

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The two teams with the longest winning streaks in the National Football League, the Baltimore Colts and Chicago Bears, provide an early season showdown Sunday.

The Bears have won eight in a row and the Colts seven, counting last year's championship victory over the New York Giants.

The Bears copped their last seven of 1959 and opened this season by downing the Green Bay Packers.

The winner Sunday will take undisputed first place in the Western Division.

After last week's showing in beating Washington, the Colts can quit worrying over their supposedly creaking defense.

The two oldest, Art Donovan, 35, and Gino Marchetti, 33, were never better. The Colts held the Redskins to 13 yards, a new low for the Baltimore defense.

The offense needs perking up although the Colts did show last Sunday that their bread-and-butter passing team of quarterback John Unitas and end Raymond Berry is still able to click when the chips are down.

Unitas bootlegged the ball on his hip, rolled out wide and threw

Carolina Tackles U. Miami In Game Tonite

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Coach Frank Howard said he didn't like the workout.

The football forecasters are having a tough time figuring the Duke-Maryland game. Duke opened last Saturday with a 31-0 beating of South Carolina. The Terps, after beating West Virginia in their opener, were shut out 34-0 by a strong Texas team last week.

"We're all mad about the State loss," said Tar Heel Coach Jim Hickey this week. "And the only way we're going to get glad soon is to beat Miami," he added.

The game is the first of two in the Sunshine State this week for Atlantic Coast Conference teams. Wake Forest collides with Florida State Saturday night. In other ACC games Saturday, Virginia plays at North Carolina State, Duke at Maryland, South Carolina at Georgia, and Clemson entertains Virginia Tech.

Coach Andy Gustafson's hefty Hurricanes, their line averaging 210 pounds and their backfield 194, are rated a slight favorite in their 1960 debut. A crowd of 40,000 is expected to see the game.

The Tar Heels have won three of their four previous games with Miami. Last year's loss was their first to the Hurricanes.

The Wake Forest Deacons were to leave by plane today for Tallahassee. Coach Billy Hildebrand expressed doubt Thursday that Bobby Allen, the ACC's leading passer since last year, would see action Saturday because of an injury. The rest of the squad was pronounced in good shape.

The Deacons also are an angry team. They lost, 28-7, to Clemson last Saturday.

Clemson, meanwhile, preparing for Virginia Tech of the Southern Conference, worked out for about an hour Thursday and then heard scouting reports on the enemy.

Eppes High Will Play Washington There Tonight

By ED WILKS. Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates may give injured shortstop Dick Groat a comeback tryout tonight while the New York Yankees, zeroing in on their World Series date with the Bucs, are busy trying for the majors' longest winning streak in six years and an American League home run record.

Groat, sparkplug of Pittsburgh's first National League pennant winner in 33 years, hasn't played since Sept. 6. That was the night a slider thrown by Milwaukee's Lew Burdette broke his left wrist.

Now, with Milwaukee once more in Pittsburgh for a three-game season finale, Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh may decide to find out whether Groat will be of any help when the World Series opens at Forbes Field next Wednesday.

If Groat can't come back, the Pirates will go with Dick Schofield, a good-field, "no-hit" utility man who played his usual steady glove game while subbing for Groat and surprised by hitting 400 in the 19 games.

The Yankees, meanwhile, were able to breathe easy over catcher Elston Howard. X-rays failed to show a fracture in the right hand ring finger, injured by a foul ball Wednesday night.

He won't be able to catch for a week or so, but he'll be available for pinch-hitting.

The Yankees, who give right-hander Art Ditmar (15-9) a final tuneup in tonight's game against Boston, will be shooting for their 13th consecutive victory in the opener of the three-game set against the Red Sox. No major league club has won 13 in a row since the 1954 Yankees.

U. S. Has Good Chance Of Winning Golf Title

By WHITNEY MARTIN. NEW YORK (AP) — All Casey Stengel knows about the Pittsburgh Pirates is what he reads in the papers, but the papers in this case are very special papers.

They are the voluminous notes provided by the New York Yankee scouts and spies, and other informants, on the strength and weaknesses of the National League champions the New York Yankees meet in the World Series starting next Wednesday in Pittsburgh.

The Yankee manager took occasion Thursday, an off day, to assemble his board of spies.

He also had a little first-hand information from a couple of his own men—first baseman Dale Long and catcher-coach Jim Hegan.

Long, a former Pirate, was acquired from the San Francisco Giants in August. Hegon is a former Chicago Cub.

What Stengel learned in his secret, just as he alone knows who will pitch the first Series game.

Art Ditmar is slated to face the Boston Red Sox in the first game of the final series at Yankee Stadium tonight, with Bob Terley set for Saturday and Ralph Terry Sunday.

If Ditmar is sharp, it is not improbable he would get the call over Whitey Ford for the Series opener. Ford is rolling along on a three-game winning streak, and the Pittsburgh park is ample enough to keep him out of trouble.

The Yankees also had a bit of good news. It was announced that although catcher-outfielder Elston Howard won't be able to catch for a week, he should be ready to pinch-hit when the Series opens.

Howard suffered a dislocated finger when struck by a foul tip Wednesday night, but X-rays failed to disclose a break.

The Burma Road, wartime supply line to China, extended 750 miles from Lashio in Burma to Kunming in China's Yunnan Province.

Ball Wins In Service Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. The Citadel's youngsters ever acquire maturity, the Bulldogs may yet surprise somebody before the Southern Conference football season ends.

It could have been lack of maturity, but whatever it was that led to last week's 19-14 upset defeat at the hands of George Washington, Bulldog Coach Eddie Teague had this to say:

"We have seven basic defensive patterns and we played each one equally bad against George Washington."

On the brighter side, the Bulldogs' offensive statistics are led by underclassmen in every respect.

The top ground gainers are juniors Belton Dykes and Earley Eastburn, the top scorer is Eastburn and the top pass receiver is junior Tommy Edwards. Every pass so far has been caught by a sophomore or junior.

If the maturity is to come soon, Teague would prefer it be Saturday afternoon when the Bulldogs go to Davidson for one of three conference games on the weekend schedule.

In other family fusses, Richmond invades defending champion Virginia Military Institute and George Washington is at William and Mary.

West Virginia, loser of its last seven starts, goes to Big Ten power Illinois, ranked the No. 4 team in the nation, while Virginia Tech is at Clemson of the Atlantic Coast Conference — the nation's seventh rated team. Furman is idle this weekend.

Both The Citadel and Davidson wound up drills Thursday for their encounter. The Bulldogs are free of injuries, but Davidson may be missing end Booker Clark, who is hurt.

Dodgers May Set Attendance Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers might set an all-time National League home attendance record tonight.

But the seven digits in the attendance figure won't concern them as much as the third digit in Norm Larker's batting average. The Dodger first baseman was held to one hit in four appearances Thursday night as the St. Louis Cardinals pulled out of a four-game losing streak by edging Los Angeles 4-3 in 10 innings.

Larker's average slipped a fraction of a point to .324, leaving him a full point behind Dick Groat, the injured Pittsburgh shortstop.

Larker faces Don Cardwell of the Chicago Cubs tonight, and if he gets a hit his first time up he'll pull ahead of Groat, assuming Groat remains idle.

The Dodgers go into tonight's game with a season attendance total of 2,204,731. They need a crowd of 10,674 to break the league record of 2,215,404 set by the Milwaukee Braves in 1957.

If they fail to break it tonight they'll do it Saturday and still have a game left over.

Passing Duel For Pro Clubs Tonight

DALLAS (AP) — A passing duel between a couple of fellows who are might good at it—Norman Van Brocklin and Eddie LeBaron—is the lure for a National Football League game between once-beaten teams here tonight.

The Philadelphia Eagles, 41-24 victims of the Cleveland Browns in their opener last week, and the Dallas Cowboys, 35-23 losers to the Pittsburgh Steelers, tangle in the Cotton Bowl.

It starts off the weekend of battling in the NFL with five games scheduled Sunday.

Athletic Career Is Behind Rafer, Has Movie Future

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Spyros Skouras stopped by the luncheon table to shake the hand of the husky young Negro. "My heartiest congratulations," said the 20th Century-Fox president.

Robert Goldstein, head of production, also dropped by. "You're going to be a big star," he commented.

The young man accepted the words as he had other honors he has received—with humility. This was Rafer Johnson, the Kingsburg, Calif. boy who became the generation's greatest all-around athlete by winning the decathlon at the Rome Olympics.

His athletic career, behind him, he is embarking with equal dedication on the profession of acting. He has signed a long-term contract with 20th Century-Fox and started this week in "The Fiercest Heart."

"I play a soldier in the British army," he reported. "I don't have a lot of lines to say, but I'm in many scenes."

Rafer said the acting urge goes "way back with him. He did many plays in high school, but athletics, studying and campus politics (he was student body president at UCLA) precluded dramatics in college.

He played in two movies, "Sergeant Rutledge," in which he had a few lines, and "Rachel Cade."

What kind of films would he like to do?

"I think I can do anything," he said confidently. "I'd like to do drama, and I'd like to do comedy, too. I can sing, mostly pop stuff. I even learned a little tap-dancing from a pole vaulter on the UCLA team."

He said his personal favorites in the acting line are Sidney Poitier and Rock Hudson.

Price-Posting Method Changes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new method of posting gasoline prices on service station signs begins Saturday in the Carolinas. Dealers will post their per gallon price in the upper section of the sign, and the lower portion will contain the wording, "plus 11 cents tax."

For example, if the retail price of gasoline is 30.9 cents, the price in the upper section will be 19.9.

Many dealers plan to give each customer an opportunity to sign a petition permitting the fourth cent of the federal tax to expire, as scheduled, next June 30.

vs.
J. CLAUDE GASKINS, HESTER P. GASKINS and G. E. GRAIN MILLS, INCORPORATED

Under and by virtue of that order entered in the above entitled action by the Honorable Chester R. Morris, Judge Regularly Holding the Courts of the Third Judicial District of the Superior Court of North Carolina, the undersigned Receiver will offer for sale at public auction for cash on Tuesday, October 4, 1960, at 12 o'clock noon on the premises of G. E. Grain Mills, Incorporated, in North Carolina, North Carolina, just West of the A. C. L. Railroad and N. C. Highway No. 11, the following described real and personal property:

REAL PROPERTY: That certain tract or parcel of land situated, lying and being in Greenville Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, on the North side of Tar River and on the West side of State Highway No. 11 and beginning at a concrete marker located 3 feet East of the Little Ditch in the line between J. A. Pollard and the line of the lands of the State of North Carolina; thence running Eastwardly with said line to J. A. Pollard's corner in the line of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad property; thence Southwardly with the West line of the said railroad property 700 feet; thence Westwardly in a straight line to an iron stob, a new corner; thence Northwardly from said iron stob a straight line 703 feet to the concrete marker at the beginning, and containing 3 acres, more or less, BUT THERE IS EXCEPTED FROM THE ABOVE DESCRIPTION that parcel of land containing nine-tenths of an acre (0.9) more or less, which is described in that option from G. E. Grain Mills, Inc., to N. G. Simonowich recorded in Book E-31, at page 97, Pitt County Registry, as follows: "That certain tract or parcel of land situated, lying and being in Greenville Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and beginning at a stake in the old canal, the common corner of Lot No. 2, and running thence along the old canal to a fence, South 53-16 East, 248 feet, more or less; thence along with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad property, South 53-37 West, 188 feet, more or less, to a stake in the existing metal fence; thence North 53-15 West, 244 feet, more or less, to a fence; thence along with the line of Lot No. 2, South 15 West, 165 feet, more or less, to a ditch; the beginning point and being Lot No. 3 of the property of the Greenville Parts and Metal Company, Inc., as shown on map recorded in Book 9, at page 60, of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County office, to which map specific reference is hereby made for a more complete and accurate description; AND THERE IS INCLUDED IN THE DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPERTY BEING SOLD that certain lot fronting on the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad right of way which is approximately 100 feet square and which is described in that deed of record in Book C-27, at page 191, Pitt County Registry, which one-hundred-foot-square parcel is completely surrounded by the description given first above as containing 3 acres, more or less, which three-acre description is contained in that deed of record in Book R-27, at page 303, Pitt County Registry, to which recorded deed specific reference is hereby made for a more accurate description; the property being sold being approximately two and one-tenths acres and being the lot upon which is located the grain elevators and feed mill of G. E. Grain Mills, Incorporated, and including the new steel tank and foundations recently erected and being all the real estate the said G. E. Grain Mills, Inc., owns with the exception of the nine-tenths of an acre on which N. G. Simonowich holds an option as outlined above. Included in this parcel is the corn-shelling and drying equipment and all other equipment located in the mill or bins of G. E. Grain Mills, Inc.

PERSONAL PROPERTY: The following approximate amounts of grain:

CORN: 18,135.41 bushels of Sample Grade Mix corn.
CORN SCREENINGS: 13,084.81 bushels of 30-pound test-weight.
SOYBEAN S PLITS: 9,748.61 bushels Sample-Grade.

CHOSES IN ACTION:

(a) Such choses in action or rights of action which G. E. Grain Mills, Inc. may have against Fred Webb, Inc. and against Fred Webb, individually, both jointly and severally.

(b) Such choses in action or rights of action which G. E. Grain Mills, Inc. may have against J. Claude Gaskins or Hester P. Gaskins, both jointly and severally.

NOTE: These choses in action will be sold separately as Group (a) above and as Group (b) above.

ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE: Such accounts receivable as G. E. Grain Mills may own other than any accounts which may be included in the classification of choses in action as outlined above.

ALL OTHER PROPERTY: The trade-name, good-will and all other assets of G. E. Grain Mills, Inc. which are not included in the classifications above but NOT INCLUDING the right of the corporation to sue for the repayment of any taxes formerly paid to the Internal Revenue Service by the corporation of which shall be paid to the Internal Revenue Service by the undersigned Receiver in the future. Right to sue meaning Right to sue the Internal Revenue Service. All of said real estate and personal property is offered for sale free and clear of lien and any and all sales are subject to the confirmation of the Superior Court. A ten percent deposit will be required on each of the sales pending confirmation by the Court.

EXAMINATION OF THE PROPERTY by interested parties may be had by application to the undersigned Receiver at his office in the Edwards Building, Greenville, N. C., or to Mr. Pete Alderman at the offices of G. E. Grain Mills, Inc. during business hours.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied vigorously in active trading early this afternoon. Provisions rose from fractions to 2 or more points. Gains of wider movers went further, about half a dozen points for International Business Machines.

The list was in an oversold condition following the five straight declines which ended with Thursday's spotty advance. Analysts said they ascribed the advance chiefly to technical factors.

A better sentiment about steel sales, a gain in manufacturers' new orders and a rise in scheduled auto output were plus factors in the news ledger.

Steels were prominent in the recovery. Chemicals, autos, electrical equipments, rails, airlines, drugs, electronics and tobacco also rose.

The Associated Press average of 80 stocks at noon was up 1.70 to 205.40 with the industrials up 3.20, the rails up 1.00 and the utilities up 20.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 8.29 at 578.82. Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

President Endorses Nixon As Successor

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign drive gathered impetus today from President Eisenhower's all-out blessings, a big boost in party war funds and a thundering Boston reception.

The cheers of tens of thousands who watched him drive through Boston streets still rang in his ears when the Republican presidential nominee spoke to more than 6,000 followers at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner at Commonwealth Armory Thursday night.

"This has been one of the greatest days of campaigning we've ever experienced," Nixon said. "Using the crowd estimate of Lt. Col. John C. Blake of the state police, he added: "Nobody dreamed I least of all, that we would come into the home state of our opponent and break the record and have a quarter of a million people on the streets."

Nixon watched and listened over closed-circuit television linking 36 party-raising dinners around the country while Eisenhower, speaking from Chicago, called his vice president a better man qualified for the presidency than any man he knows.

Those dinners were expected to provide somewhere between $1.1 million to $2 million to help finance Nixon's drive to defeat Sen. John F. Kennedy, Massachusetts Democrat, for the presidency.

In the course of two speeches, one before, and one telecast to the diners around the nation, Nixon lit into Kennedy with some of the sharpest language he has used in the campaign.

He said the record of Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, his vice-presidential running mate, in the short session of Congress "was a monumental failure" and that "a monumental failure is no recommendation for leadership for the United States of America today."

He said Kennedy's campaign proposals "are wrong and out of step with what the American people think" and that the voters are going to "say 'no' to him on Nov. 8th."

Nixon said that in the 1952 campaign both Eisenhower and Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson agreed "there was a mess in Washington."

In 1960, he added, "the American people are not going to turn to a man and his party who made the mess eight years ago."

Mobutu Claims Reds Operating

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congo strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu charged today that Communist agents are continuing clandestine operations here two weeks after they were supposedly ejected from the country.

Mobutu, the Congo army chief of staff, said that his men seized a powerful radio transmitter and receiver and a stock of ammunition Thursday night in the closed-down Czechoslovak Embassy.

The colonel told newsmen that broadcasts had been made regularly each night from the embassy but that the Communist agent who had been broadcasting escaped.

Mobutu ordered Czech and Soviet diplomats out of the Congo when he staged his military coup Sept. 14. They packed up and flew away but said they would be back.

Mobutu also said that a Communist journalist employed by the French Communist organ L'Humanite returned to Leopoldville Thursday. He said his men were keeping a close watch on him.

Mobutu received this reporter and two others at his heavily guarded home in the army's Camp Leopold II. He displayed a powerful German-made radio transmitter and a Hungarian receiver which he said were found in the Czech Embassy.

Principal Says Curriculum Has Been Improved

BELVOIR—Principal E. N. Warren of Belvoir-Falkland High School here has announced the local high school has "improved its curriculum" by the addition of two new courses.

The courses, government, a senior elective, and world geography, incorporated with world history in a two-year course, were added to give students "better understanding of world affairs and current political problems," Warren said.

Each high school teacher at Belvoir-Falkland, Warren said, is teaching "entirely in his major field." The purpose of the specialization is to improve the quality of academic instruction.

Belvoir-Falkland, this school year, does not include an activity period, but devotes the entire school day to classroom instruction, Warren pointed out.

In June, 1961, the school's seniors will graduate with 18, rather than 16, units as recommended by the county and state boards of education. Warren reported a recent check here showed some 70 per cent of Belvoir-Falkland's seniors will graduate with 20 units.

United Fund Is Designed Serve People In Need

(Second of a series on United Fund)

"The United Fund was developed as a requirement of the community to help citizens in time of need," said David J. Whichard, general chairman of the drive.

"It is an annual all-out effort in the place of many small efforts to raise funds for 22 agencies."

"It could be called an index of the heart of the community of Pitt County, each helping hand a new beat of that heart, another measure of its strength."

In Pitt County, the United Fund is 500 workers voluntarily giving their time and services, and year around committees planning, studying and recommending new measures so that the money given by citizens does the most good.

"The United Fund is the most economical and equitable method of raising funds for worth while causes," Whichard said. "It provides the proper management of charitable funds in a more efficient manner so that more money goes to more needy people to help alleviate the most need."

Whichard said that this year's goal was set at $111,000 because this figure represents the minimum amount necessary for carrying on the functions of the 22 participating agencies. The contributors, through the budget committee, determine the goal.

Each agency submits a proposed budget. The budget committee, viewing from the total need of the community rather than from any one agency's viewpoint, reviews the budgets and recommends a goal, making sure available funds are shared in an equitable manner to do the most good.

Each United Fund campaign's funds and accounts are audited and each member agency's budget and accounts are audited, assuring that the funds go where they should.

Still Investigating Throat-Cutting

Greenville police reported today that the method by which a 59-year-old Negro woman's throat was cut Tuesday has not been determined but investigation in the case is continuing.

Officers identified the woman as Martha L. Bradley of 1302 A. South Greene St.

They noted that the Greenville Rescue Squad was called to pick up the woman. It was reported at the time her throat was cut on a venetian blind.

She was released from Pitt Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning and taken to Duke University Hospital in Durham.

Dates Set For Harvest Festival By South Ayden High School Depts.

AYDEN—The South Ayden High School departments of agriculture and home economics have announced jointly the dates for the annual Community Harvest Festival as Oct. 20-22.

This year marks the seventh consecutive annual festival sponsored by the two school departments. The project has served as an educational and public understanding program, according to Principal J. W. Ormond.

An outline of scheduled activities for the Harvest Festival will be announced soon, Ormond said.

Student Council

Installation of 1960-61 officers of the South Ayden Student Council, Safety Patrol and New Farmers of America was held Tuesday.

J. J. Brown of the school's faculty administered the oaths of office to the newly-elected organization officers. Included were Linwood Burney, president of the Church Planning 186th Birthday

Trinity Episcopal Church in Chocowinity, will celebrate its 186th Anniversary and Annual Homecoming this Sunday.

The service of Morning Prayer at 11:00 will begin the day's activities. The homecoming sermon will be delivered by Rev. A.C.D. Noel, retired, who served Trinity Parish for 18 years.

Old Trinity Chapel was one of the 12 churches originating the Diocese of North Carolina in 1822. At that time the Diocese included the entire state which today is divided into the Dioceses of Western North Carolina, North Carolina and East Carolina.

Rev. Nathaniel Blount went to England in 1773 to be ordained as there were no bishops in this country at that time. Upon his return in 1774, he became the Rector of Trinity Parish and served this community until his death in 1816. The church continued to serve this community during the 186 years since its founding.

The public is invited to attend Trinity's Homecoming Day. There will be a basket lunch on the church grounds after the service.

Driver Turned ...

after hearing the impact of the collision. The "motor was still running on the Chevy," he said. He also noted that the carburetor on the car had flooded and had caught fire.

He testified he put out the fire and placed his hand over the carburetor to flood it and cut the motor off as the switch would not work.

Brickhouse concluded his testimony by saying he saw Mrs. Smith on the ground beside the car. He said his wife got the baby and took it to the hospital.

Brickhouse set the time of the collision at about 5:30 p.m.

Coroner Harvey reported that the baby girl died about 7:15 p.m. at the hospital from head injuries.

Driver of the telephone company truck, Uland Thomas Baker of Wade, told the inquest that he was following the Smith car and noticed dust up ahead. He saw a car coming sideways toward him. Baker said he did not see the Dixon car hit Alligood's truck. He testified Mrs. Smith had pulled to the right and he saw the Dixon car strike her vehicle. Baker noted that the force of impact of the two cars knocked the left front wheel off the Smith car and the wheel struck the hood of his truck.

After the Dixon car hit the Smith auto, Baker said, "it turned around and hit me broadside." Baker told that he had stopped on the right and after "I got myself together I saw Dixon get out of his car" and go toward the Smith car.

Baker said he and a telephone company supervisor talked with Dixon who "couldn't or wouldn't" tell us his name.

Baker said in his opinion Dixon "was under the influence of an intoxicant" noting that he smelled alcohol around Dixon. He added that Dixon was "weaving and mumbling and not talking good."

Baker estimated the speed of the Dixon car at "70-75 miles-per-hour" after it hit the first truck.

Another witness, Thomas Dixon of Grimesland, noted that he had seen Dixon two times during the day and that in his opinion was under the influence of alcohol.

Investigating Patrolman J. B. Surles told the jury that Mrs. Smith, young Cynthia Lynn and Dixon had been taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital when he arrived at the scene. He said he first saw Dixon at the hospital. Dixon had a small cut on his lip, Surles said.

The officer noted that he could "tell he (Dixon) had been drinking" because of the "odor, actions, manner of speech" and Dixon's "unconcern over what had happened."

Equipment For Farnville Street Work Moves In

FARMVILLE—Equipment being moved into Farnville Wednesday to complete a $19,000 street improvement project here.

B. M. Royster and Sons, Wilson contractor, began preparations to install a total of 3,845 feet of curb and gutter and around 4,000 feet of street paving in two sections of Farnville.

The major portion of the project is set for Langdale subdivision on the north side of Farnville. The other area included in the project is a section of W. Pine St.

The Wilson firm was awarded the contract following its submission of the low bid on the job. Royster bid $19,594. One additional bid, that of Barrus Construction Co., was reported at $21,247.

Farmville officials expect the project to be completed by early November. It marks the first major street project this fiscal year by the western Pitt County town.

TOOK THE JUDGE'S

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Nathaniel Pickron, 38, was held in $500 bail on a burglary charge. He was accused of stealing the wallet of Judge Robert W. Honeyman of Montgomery County Court. There was no money in the wallet, taken from inside the judge's suit coat which was hanging in his chambers.

URGЕ ANOTHER TRY UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Libya believes the United Nations should work for another summit conference. Libyan Ambassador Mohieddin Pekini told the General Assembly in its policy debate that the "brutal break-off" of the Paris Big Four meeting last May "dealt a foul blow to the hopes of mankind."
