KERRVILLE, Tex.—On Saturday, October 1, 1960, at six o'clock, Miss Alys Anne Doering became the bride of Lieutenant Robert A. McGlohon, U. S. Air Force. Rev. A. B. Wagner officiated at the ceremony.

Industry Hunts Making An Imprint

Since Gov. Hodges initiated his series of industry hunting safaris several years ago each successive trip has been greeted with mixed reactions in North Carolina.

Some people have hailed the trips as the most successful promotion ever undertaken by a state to improve its industrial and economic growth. Others have looked upon the industry hunts—particularly the one to Europe last year—as a waste of time and money on the part of the state and the business people who participated.

From the standpoint of the state as a whole, however, it is our considered opinion that the industry hunts have done much to imprint North Carolina in the minds of those men in industry about the country whose job it is to say where new industrial plants are to be located.

There is no question about the fact that North Carolina's effort to boost its economy through industrial development has gained tremendous publicity because of the industry hunts headed by Gov. Hodges. Neither is there any doubt that the hunts have stimulated among industrialists some interest in seeing first hand what North Carolina has to offer industries.

It is perhaps difficult to pinpoint industries that have located in the state because they were contacted during an industry hunt. Certainly no industrial plant has been located in the state solely because an official was called on by a Tar Heel in New York, Chicago or some other city far from this state. Even so, these trips have shown North Carolina's interest in attracting new industries. They have been a part of the overall program that has seen the industrial growth of the state move up steadily in recent years.

Another thing the hunts have done is to impress North Carolinians with the effort that is being made by its state's leaders and officials to boost the Tar Heel economic status. They have had the effect of stimulating local efforts throughout the state in behalf of community industrial development.

Gradual though it has been, North Carolina has made economic progress in recent years. There is still much to be done to raise the per capita income of the state to the national average, but at least we are now moving in the right direction. And certainly the controversial industry hunts led by Gov. Hodges have been a part of the overall program.

Visit Understandably A 'Success' To Nixon

Vice President Richard Nixon's foray into Charlotte probably warmed his political heart... a wholly predictable result in the minds of even the staunchest Democrats.

The Republican Party candidate visited the strongest GOP base in Tar Heelia; so the warmth of his welcome was assured.

Secondly, his position as Vice President is an attention-getting asset. Americans don't turn their backs when the President comes to town, nor would one expect them to make the holder of the Vice Presidency feel unwelcome.

Thirdly, Mr. Nixon undeniably can turn on a quality of personal charm.

The fact that observers could see no notable difference in size of the turnout for Senator Kennedy and the Vice President is, under the circumstances, mildly surprising.

Two points in the Nixon comments struck us as being "far out" in the political field.

One was his lip service to state rights, an ideal and principal dear to Southern voters... and which received extraordinarily hard knocks during these years of Republican administration.

Then, when he said "I say that those who wrote that platform at Los Angeles forfeited the right to ask true Democrats to vote for their party in this election year," he couldn't say why Democrats should prefer the GOP platform. He did concede an awareness the South finds the Republican civil rights features objectionable. Most people agree the two platforms set forth the same objectives, and if Jefferson would "turn over in his grave" for one he could be expected to do the same for the other.

Nixon's handicaps lie in being so closely linked to a period when the spirit of complacency in America has become dangerous. He cannot forcefully promise a change while defending the policies of the past.

Same Image In Different Form

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Four years ago Nikita Khrushchev by denouncing Stalin—tried to demolish the terroristic image of Russia which the old man had created through such moves as the Berlin blockade and the Korean War.

Ever since, a bit at a time as failures pile up against him, Khrushchev had been creating the same image in a different form. While Stalin used force, Khrushchev is threatening to use it.

While Khrushchev's goals are the same as Stalin's—the expansion of communism and its influence—Stalin had done two things detrimental to both:

1. He had frightened the West into creating the one thing he wanted least—a military alliance in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

2. He had made Russia such a terror symbol that the rest of the world could expect only naked Russian force at every turn.

Khrushchev had good reason for trying to wipe out this picture of Stalinist Russia. Times had changed.

Since both Russia and the United States were developing long range nuclear weapons out-ripped Russian military conquest had to be laid aside as too risky.

A new tactic was needed. Khrushchev tried soft talk. It worked it might persuade the West NATO was no longer needed. Meanwhile, Russia could seek expansion through various pressures short of shooting.

Khrushchev's abandonment of Stalin's crude tactics was never complete and never real. In 1956, the year he downgraded Stalin, he sent Russian troops into satellite Hungary to crush the rebellion bloodily.

But Khrushchev went on with his air of jolly goodfellowship. He wanted a summit meeting, part of an obvious desire to make NATO seem unnecessary and talk the West into a feeling of security.

Seeing he was making no progress, he got more barefaced. He frankly said unless the United Nations is changed to suit him, Russia would ignore any (Continued on page five)

Moderate Trend To Demo Ticket

By LYNN NISBET

SENTIMENT—There is discernible trend throughout the western half of the state toward the Democratic national ticket. This trend has not reached, and is not likely to attain, anything like land-slide or band wagon proportions. It is doubted whether to date it has brought Kennedy and Johnson to even-kept position with Nixon and Lodge. Certainly the gap has been narrowed within the past three weeks. If the trend continues the Democrats will win.

Three incidents have contributed materially to the increased popularity of the Democrats. First was the repeated broadcast by radio and teevee of Kennedy's speech to the ministers at Houston. Next was Kennedy's visit to North Carolina. And third was the splendid showing made by Kennedy in the teevee debate with Nixon. Staunch Nixon supporters concede that Kennedy has won the honors in that talkfest—not only because of the logic of his presentation, but also because of the contrast in physical vigor of the two candidates.

Whether any previously avowed Democratic supporters of Nixon have reversed position is not known. Certainly, a number of "on the fence" Democrats have dropped out on the Demo side. The trend is further indicated by a subtle change in emphasis of "avowed Nixon folks. They are less boastful and some are taking a sort of an apologetic attitude. That attitude is illustrated by what one man said. He has nothing against Kennedy and doesn't think too much of Nixon, but he resents "State taxaters telling me how to vote." That ignores the fact that Federal taxaters, who eat a lot deeper into his earnings, are telling him how to vote.

STATE—Despite the prominence of headquarters signs and publicity about citizens or Democrats for Gavin, not many Democrats are going to vote "for" Gavin. The votes he gets will be more "against" Sanford. It is apparent from talking to many people in different areas of the state that Gavin has lost considerable early and potential support by equivocation, vacillation and outright reversal of position on major issues.

He repudiated his endorsement of 50 percent increase in teacher salaries on the grounds that he had been "misinformed by a friend as to what that would cost." He reneged on support of the United Forces for Education program, after endorsing it, citing as the reason that he did not know that NCEA was a part of the UFE group. A number of potential supporters are wondering whether a man who knows so little about State government and its related organizations is capable of heading the administration of State government. More than usual number of registered Democrats all so are wondering if Sanford has capacity to head the government, but they concede he has shown much greater understanding of the problems than has Gavin. And he will have advice, counsel and cooperation of experienced members of the Council of State and the General Assembly, which Gavin can not hope to have.

SPREAD—For many years the total vote for President has exceeded the total vote for Governor. It is expected that will be true this year. The spread may be wider than usual. At the same time, informed people predict that it will be more uniform. There will be fewer instances of some big counties giving the national Republican ticket a majority of 2,000 to 4,000, and giving the state Democratic ticket a margin of 6,000 to 10,000. State and national tickets are expected to run closer together all over the state.

ECONOMICS—Economic conditions in the west, particularly in Buncombe County, may have important influence in favor of the Democrats. The three big manufacturing employers—Enka, Beacon and Sales—have reduced operations and laid off approximately 1,000 workers in the past few weeks. These are in the textile field, which has been hardest hit in the current recession. Other lines are not so bad, but they cannot offer workers for reasons. They are not increasing labor forces, and if they were many of the textile workers could not qualify for the jobs. It is hard for a man who has been laid off work after 15 to 20 years tenure to get enthusiastic about the great "prosperity" which the Republican regime claims to have brought to the nation. Democratic leaders expect this situation to reduce the normal Republican margin in the west will be the number of defections among the registered Democrats.

Whether this will be enough to convert Republican majorities to Democratic margins is doubtful. Significance of the trend is the fact that the presidential and gubernatorial votes are counted on statewide basis, not by county units. Narrowed Republican margins in the west will be easier to overcome by Democratic majorities in the east. It is theoretically possible for 99 counties to give majorities to one ticket, and the 100th county to give enough margin to the other to carry the entire state. That is why both parties are campaigning more vigorously in every county than ever before.

Weathervanes All Around

Anybody looking for political weathervanes? They're all around if you just take that extra second to check them.

At this time of every fourth year (and this happens to be the fourth), practically everybody alive in America begins to feel some sort of "election fever" or something in varying degrees.

Some are not so besieged by it; while others become hopelessly entangled in it. As we said, there are, thankfully, varying degrees.

Back to politics though. We asked something about a weather-vane. It seems that just about everybody, whether they realize it or not, is constantly keeping ears cocked to hear how somebody else feels about "Who's going to win in November?"

Some abide by Gallup Polls. Some adhere to the ideas propounded by leading syndicated columnists. Some stick closely by party leaders. Practically everybody has some source of the "straight stuff."

In the course of a presidential campaign, though, there are likely as many forecasts and suppositions as there are voters. Naturally, each voter must decide where he shall place his belief, trust, and political aspirations.

But back to our weathervane we mentioned. We must admit there are many. Maybe some have logic; maybe some don't. It's often hard to weed out the meritorious.

A few days ago we just happened to happen by a service station at just the right time to pick up a unique presidential prediction.

As you probably know by now, some of the bubble gum companies have taken advantage of the national political wars the way they do by flooding the market with little pink gum cigars.

Some are marked "Nixon" while some are marked "Kennedy." It seems like they were both panettellas, but that's not important.

The important thing was the rate of sale of each.

At this particular service station, was this little kid. He was barely tall enough to stand on tip-toe and peer into the presidential cigar boxes.

He quietly surveyed the Nixon and Kennedy gum cigar boxes side by side. He reached first into the Kennedy, then the Nixon box but each time drew back his hand empty.

He had no use for a bubble gum cigar. He was interested in a political forecast.

He turned calmly to his father and announced his findings: "Looks like Kennedy's leading this thing by at least 100 cigars."

Political weathervane?

Biggest Tax Loophole In U.S.

By ELMER ROESSNER
An innocent-appearing bill, passed by Congress this year and signed by President Eisenhower, may become the biggest tax loophole in America.

It is the omnibus tax bill, largely intended to correct inequalities in the tax press. Under the present law, mutual funds do not pay corporate taxes on the dividends they earn. Of course, when these dividends are passed along to investors in the funds, the investors pay personal income taxes on their gains.

The omnibus tax law extended the same tax exemption to earnings of real estate funds when the earnings are passed on to investors.

That seems fair and square. No reason why an investor in a real-estate fund should carry a greater tax burden than a mutual fund, eh?

The omnibus tax bill contains many restrictions on the exemption granted real estate funds. BARRIERS AGAINST RIGGING trust must distribute at least 90 per cent of its net income to its shareholders; there must be at least 100 shareholders and no five of them can own more than half the shares.
To benefit, a real estate

Furthermore, at least 75 per cent of the income must be derived from rent, capital gains or mortgage interest, although 15 per cent more may come from dividends and interest in other investments.

All this must have seemed reasonable to President Eisenhower; certainly it did to your columnist when he first discussed the legislation a month ago.

The Internal Revenue Service has not yet issued its report on its understanding of the law, and that report has not yet been tested in the courts.

ern Railroad sets up the I&W Regl Estate Fund. Suppose it lets its stockholders convert half of their corporation stock into shares in the fund, making sure the percentages laid down in the new law are conformed to. Then suppose the railroad sells all its real estate to the fund, agreeing to pay rent equivalent to most of its operating profits.

Then there will be little or no Federal corporation taxes, not Federal corporation taxes. Holders of shares in the fund will then get about twice what they would have if Federal corporation taxes had taken a share of their earnings. The railroad earnings will be passed on to the real estate fund share holders (who are also railroad stockholders) without Federal tax drain.

WILL IT BE LEGAL?
Until the law is threshed out in the courts, it cannot be told whether corporation taxes can be bypassed in this manner. But this I know: attorneys for many corporations—hotel chains, apartment house owners, industrial plants and so on

Private Rights Loss

On many streets of New York, police barricades have been set up which read "Don't cross the line." Such a street as the one where Kadar, the Hungarian traitor, lives is so barricaded that no one can get a car into it even to reach his own residence. It took 800 New York policemen to guard the rascal—Fidel Castro.

It is too bad that someone who lives on one of those streets did not go into court to get an injunction against the police who are keeping him, his wife, his children, his friends from easy and adequate access to and egress from his home.

Nothing in our treaty with the United Nations justifies the excess to which New York's municipal authorities and police have gone in their exuberance over guarding United Nations personnel. The streets of the City of New York belong to the taxpayers and other residents of this city. Every person who lives here is entitled to free and easy access to his residence and the police have no business interfering with him without due process of the law. No municipal law authorizes the police to close down streets, force women carrying packages to get out of a conveyance blocks away, interrupt the calm of life by incessant back-firing of motorcycles and the shrieking of sirens because some aliens came here to attend a meeting. The Prime Minister of Great Britain walked our streets without fear or special privileges; why should not all the United Nations delegates?

The treaty provides in Article IV, Section 20:

"Representatives of Members, irrespective of the relations existing between their Government and the Government of the United States of America, officials both of the United Nations and of the specialized agencies, and the families of these representatives and officials, shall at all times enjoy the right of unimpeded and safe transit through the territory of the United States of America to and from the zone."

There is not one word in this section, or in Section 19 or 21, which requires the City of New York to close its streets, to interfere with the normal life of its citizens, to disrupt its usual police activities. (A curiosity of all this was the theft of an automobile properly parked, which included a physician's bag containing narcotics, in a place where perhaps 100 or more policemen were gathered to protect a particularly evil hoodlum who was attending the United Nations.)

The reason for all the excitement is that there is a fear that some of the delegates to the United Nations might be assassinated. This is particularly true of Khrushchev, Kadar and Castro. It would seem to me that that is the problem of these men. The United Nations, it is true, is situated in New York City and it provides no housing facilities for its delegates and employees. They are scattered all over the city, living where they can afford to live. Most of them are orderly human beings who mingle well in the population and except for traffic violations, do not disturb the city. It is only the big shots who are a nuisance and as so many of the big shots are revolutionary parvenus, they take on airs of importance which men who are accustomed to being important do not bother about.

Those who watched all this on television may have thought that Castro was the funniest clown they ever saw; that Khrushchev was a fat fellow looking for a press agent. To New Yorkers, these fellows have become a nuisance. As a taxi driver said to me, "I'd chip in a week's tips to move those — to hell." He had had all he can take of international good-will, going four or five streets out of his way to deliver angry and annoyed customers.

It is impossible for this situation to continue much longer. These men come to New York (Continued on page five) —are studying the law, even as you read this. And if the suggested interpretation holds good, then billions of dollars of corporation real estate will be sold or traded to real estate funds; millions of stockholders will also become real estate fund participants, and billions of dollars in corporation income will flow to them undiminished by corporation taxes.

Of course, Internal Revenue regulations may be devised to tighten this loophole — or the next Congress may be persuaded to abolish it.

SCIENCE MAY PROVE CANNY FARMER WRONG

For generations the story has gone around about farmers who turned on electric lights in hen houses at night, fooling the hens into laying extra eggs.

Now a Department of Agriculture study shows the idea isn't sound. Pulletts whose days were lengthened by artificial light actually laid fewer eggs than pullets depending on sunshine.

West Is Learning Kremlin's Tricks

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—An important factor in Nikita Khrushchev's setbacks at the United Nations seems to have been a growing Western awareness of what makes the Kremlin tick.

There is general agreement among most informed Westerners that the Soviet Premier demanded far more than he expected to get in his major offensive against Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld and the world organization's structure. It is now becoming apparent that he overplayed his hand.

Having lost a cold war round the Russians—if they run true to form—probably now will lay down a heavy verbal artillery barrage to cover a tactical retreat.

Khrushchev's angry words and actions in the General Assembly aroused fears the Russians were prepared to wreck the U.N. if they found they could not run it to suit themselves.

But there are grave risks at this moment in trying to destroy the world peace organization. The chances are that Khrushchev, weighing those risks, will attempt to salvage what he can and present what is left to his people at home as a victory for Soviet policy. In some respects, in fact, Khrushchev may consider he has won something important.

Khrushchev, a man with a peasant background, seems to view world politics as something like plain, old-fashioned horse trading. Horse trader Khrushchev sought to eliminate obstacles the U.N. had placed in the Soviet path in

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

When most of us think of aluminum, we think of a metal with a silvery-like coating. But more and more, aluminum is taking on a variety of colors. In addition to the quantities of aluminum now being sold with a factory-baked finish, much aluminum already in use is being painted, both for decorative purposes and to give added protection against corrosive conditions.

For old aluminum, the only preparation required is the removal of loose surface dirt by brushing or light sanding. However, if there is any oil or grease on the metal, it should be taken off by wiping with mineral spirits. Any conventional quality exterior metal or wood primer can be used as the first coat, followed by one or more coats of any exterior paint or enamel suitable for wood or metal. Where an extremely corrosive atmosphere is present, as in certain coastal areas, the primer should be a corrosion-inhibiting paint, such as zinc chromate. This primer should have a very high zinc chromate content in the vicinity of chemical plants.

New aluminum usually has an invisible film of oil applied at the factory. This will disappear by itself on an exposure of five or six weeks. If it is desired to paint the metal before that time, the oil can be removed with mineral spirits or, better yet, with a special commercial preparation, available at paint stores, which contains phosphoric acid mixed with a solvent or emulsifier. From that point, the procedure is the same as for old aluminum.

There will be times when the aluminum requires a refinishing, yet the silvery-like coating is satisfactory. In that case, one of two things can be done. The final coat can be exterior aluminum paint or a clear lacquer. It must be remembered that clear lacquer enables the metal to keep its original appearance. However, unpigmented coatings of this type do not have the life of ordinary paints for exterior exposure and thus will have to be renewed in a shorter period of time.

While factory-baked aluminum finishes hold up for a considerable period of time, they also may require refinishing. If the surface is still smooth and glossy, it should be roughened with steel wool or sandpaper to provide proper adhesion. If the old coating is chipped or peeling and the bare metal exposed, the surface should be sanded to smooth out rough edges and to remove loosely adhering paint. The repaired areas then should be primed and allowed to dry, after which all the aluminum should be primed and painted.

'Republic' Vote In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Long lines of South Africans voted today on the nationalist government's plan to make this member of the British Commonwealth a republic.

The plan—opposed by British-descended whites—could result in South Africa's being turned out of Britain's multiracial family of nations.

The radio of the white-supremacist government proclaimed: "This is the most crucial vote in the history of our country."

Both sides agreed it probably would be a record poll of 90 percent of the eligible voters.

The opposition worked hard to get out a big vote. Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's Dutch-descended nationalists acknowledged a massive vote might go against a republic, but they were favored to win. Afrikaans outnumber voters of British descent by a ratio of 55 to 45.

More than 1,800,000 whites in South Africa and the neighboring mandate of Southwest Africa were eligible to vote. The nearly 12 million non-whites had no vote.

First results were expected to be known by tonight. Verwoerd has said that if there is a majority of as much as one vote for the plan, he will consider it a mandate to submit to Parliament a measure declaring the country a republic. His party's majority in Parliament would assure approval.

Consolidate Two Integration Suits

DURHAM (AP)—Two suits seeking to integrate Durham city schools have been consolidated by Judge Edwin M. Stanley.

Acting in Federal Court here Tuesday, Judge Stanley also ordered Marshall Spears Jr., attorney for the Durham City School Board, to prepare his answer to a second part of the consolidated suit by Oct. 24.

The judge, who became somewhat riled at persistent disagreement between the rival attorneys, told the lawyers to file stipulations covering every indisputable fact by Nov. 15. He said the case would then be called as soon as possible with 15 days notice to each party.

Representing the Negro students was Derrick Bell, a Negro attorney of New York City.

Arrest Man Out To 'Get' Nikita

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who said he "wanted to get" Soviet Premier Khrushchev with a "Molotov cocktail" type fire bomb was arrested early today near the United Nations headquarters.

The man was nabbed by city police as he climbed a wall from the East River Drive into a parking lot just north of the U. N. headquarters.

He carried a homemade bomb, a soda bottle containing a gasoline saturated rag.

Police identified him as Richard Hogan, 22, of Queens, New York City.

He told police he had been recently interviewed by psychiatrists at Bellevue Hospital, where he had been taken by his parents. Detectives said Hogan admitted that he had been trying to reach the U. N. building with his homemade bomb because he "wanted to get Khrushchev."

Police described how the bomb works: the rag is ignited and the bottle thrown. When it breaks the burning gasoline spreads the fire.

This type fire bomb was known as a "Molotov cocktail" during World War II and was used extensively in anti-tank warfare.

Hogan was unaware that Khrushchev was not at the U. N. building, but at the Soviet headquarters, more than a mile away.

CARL E. STOUT, graduate assistant in the department of music at East Carolina, will give a program of works for the organ at the college Monday, Oct. 10, at 8 p.m. in the Austin auditorium. The recital is open to the public. Before coming to East Carolina, Stout was organist and choirmaster at the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, Rocky Mount. The program will be the first of a series of recitals by faculty members to be presented by the department of music during the 1960-1961 term at East Carolina.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The newlyweds kissed and then were returned to their separate cells in the Pulaski County Jail.

Clyde L. Long, 38, and Nancy L. Arendt, 20, were married by Justice of the Peace Sam Miller before witnesses.

Long said, "We courted through a small hole in the wall between the men's and women's quarters."

Miss Arendt wore a blue maternity outfit. She is an expectant mother.

Long was attired in a suit while Miss Arendt, who is six months pregnant, was dressed in a blue maternity outfit.

Long recently was serving a year for grand larceny and also is held for parole violation from a previous forgery charge. The bride was under a 30-day sentence on a bad check charge and is yet to be tried on another.

to attend the United Nations. There they should go. Khrushchev, when he blocks traffic by holding an impromptu press conference on the sidewalk or from a balcony, should be locked up for making a public nuisance of himself. # Florida Keys Are Rebuilding After Donna's Pounding

By BEN FUNK

MARATHON, Fla. (AP) — "By dawn the house had stopped shuddering and I walked out to see what the storm had done. The sight was so horrible I got sick. I was ready then to get out and never come back."

Hugh Brown, charter boat captain, was describing his reaction and that of many others to the awful devastation wrought by Hurricane Donna when she ravaged the beautiful Florida Keys in the early morning hours of Sept. 10.

The great storm had attacked near midnight with shrieking, 140-mile-an-hour winds and mighty waves that ripped homes to pieces, tossed house trailers through the air, battered four persons to death, and hurled boats out of the sea.

Buildings that might have withstood the sustained fury of 140-mile winds, collapsed under the sledgehammer blows of 180-mile gusts. Hardly a building in the keys came through the wild night without some mark of the hurricane.

The dawn's light fell on a thousand heartbreaking scenes — an old woman sobbing in the rain-whipped debris of her home. A little dog whimpering in the rubble. A pelican flopping on broken legs. A mangled body in the mangroves.

The famed "highway that goes to sea" from the Florida mainland to Key West was a street of broken dreams, piled high with commercial fishing boats, soggy motel mattresses, roofs, furniture, gasoline pumps — the remains of pretty homes and prosperous businesses.

By Red Cross estimate, 1,415 homes lay in ruins in the 60 miles from Marathon to Key Largo. Another 1,457 were heavily damaged and 2,242 showed substantial scars. Few stood unscathed.

Brown's face was one of many that reflected horror and resignation that disastrous day. In the initial shock, some told their neighbors "I've had it" and made plans to move to a mainland area less exposed to the violent moods of nature.

But the shock wore off quickly. Two days later, Brown was hard at work leading his neighbors in a salvage job at Islamorada, on the lowlying Matecumbe Keys.

Now, just 24 days after the hurricane, a healthy comeback spirit pervades the Florida Keys. Most of the wreckage has been bulldozed away. Homes and buildings are being hammered back together. Business people promise cheerfully that they'll be ready by Dec. 15 for a tourist season they expect to be "the greatest of them all."

Thoughts of quitting the Keys have been forgotten. As W. A. Parrish, 75, pioneer banker at Marathon, put it: "It would not be the nature of our people to run from a disaster. Keys folks are tough breed."

Veteran postmaster Clifton Russell of Islamorada added, "This wasn't so bad. We only got a little old five-foot tide across here. Back in the '35 hurricane a 15-footer swept the island clean. Now, at least, we've got something left to fix up."

It could have been far worse. The death toll surely would have been in the hundreds had not 75 per cent of the keys residents wisely decided to evacuate to higher land.

While the wind still moaned through the skeletons of roofless, windowless buildings the morning of Sept. 10, the weekly Florida Keys Keynote came out with a one-page edition that proclaimed itself "a free-bootin' newspaper covering what's left."

The line was soon changed to read "covering what's to come." Roadblocks were thrown up at both ends of the disaster area to keep out sightseers who would interfere with the rebuilding. A 10 p.m. curfew was established to help hold looting to a minimum. Then the storm victims plunged into the cleanup job.

Spirits soared and people began to joke about Donna. The more cheerful ones were those who lost the most.

Letters poured in from North-erners anxious for information about their friends and vacation spots in the keys. Many asked: "Will you be ready for us by December?"

The tourist haunts will be ready and the samefish will be waiting in the lovely blue and green waters that wash the shores of the keys. But it will be a couple of years before the scars of the hurricane are fully erased.

And it may be much longer than that before the building boom that followed the last war is resumed.

Newcomers attracted by the tropic charm of the keys built with no respect for the angry moods of nature in the tropics. They built in a hurricane-free period when the seas lay beautiful and placid, with no thought of the time when the waters would erupt into frightful violence. Roofs were not properly tied down. Concrete pillars were not fully reinforced with steel. Expensive homes were built on concrete slabs laid on fill.

Hurricane Donna's searching winds found these weaknesses. Roofs were ripped off and pillars snapped. The tide ate away the fill, foundations fell and concrete block walls crumbled into ruins. Not until last January did the keys adopt a building code. Even then, it was not enforced. Now demands are strong for a new, stronger code and for vigorous enforcement. Public hearings are in progress.

Will the Florida Keys profit by the lessons of the hurricane and build new homes and businesses that can stand before wind and tide?

Or will the next great hurricane — which is sure to come — bring another disaster? Only time can tell.

Nixon Campaigns In New York City

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon kicked off a day of campaigning in New York City today with the assertion he can win the presidency if most GOP members, more than half of the independent voters, and 20 per cent of the Democrats support him.

The Republican presidential nominee, buoyed by what he described as "a tremendous" reception in doubtful New Jersey Tuesday hit a nonpartisan note in speaking at a breakfast meeting of party workers.

Enthusiastic Republicans overflowed a 2,000 seat ballroom to cheer Nixon and Mrs. Nixon lustily.

The vice president was introduced by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, once his opponent for the Republican nomination.

Rockefeller told the cheering, flag-waving crowd that the country needs and wants Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge.

Speaking directly to Nixon, Rockefeller said: "We need leadership of understanding and courage. Dick Nixon and Cabot Lodge can give it to us."

Nixon responded by saying that in the light of present world conditions America can settle for nothing but the best of leadership in the presidency. He dug at his opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy, with the assertion that he was not going to say—as Kennedy has—that "this is the time for greatness."

The Republican presidential nominee was buoyed to one of the highest pitches of his drive for the presidency by a tumultuous reception accorded him and Mrs. Nixon by a cheering and chanting crowd which overflowed the 13,000-seat National Guard Armory in West Orange, N.J., Tuesday night.

Local Republican leaders publicly hugged and kissed each other at the thundering success of their efforts to demonstrate that the GOP nominee has a good chance of carrying doubtful New Jersey.

It was by all odds the most raucous, unruly crowd of enthusiasts Nixon has encountered in a campaign that formerly has been marked largely by polite partisan receptions. Local officials said some of those who attended parked as much as two miles away and walked to the armory.

The candidate was so fired up he told the wildly shouting spectators: "I say that in this stifle we are on the march and on the march to victory."

In his bid for New Jersey's 16 electoral votes, the vice president traveled about 75 miles by motorcade. His crowds were good. They were as large, and sometimes larger, than those attracted by his opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy, in his journey through New Jersey a couple of weeks ago.

But until the West Orange appearance there was lacking the high pitch of enthusiasm for Nixon that Kennedy engendered.

Nixon addressed an almost all-Negro audience at a housing development in the heart of Newark. He had picked up Jackie Robinson, Negro former baseball star, earlier in the day to shore up his appeal to civil rights-conscious voters.

When Robinson spoke briefly before the housing development crowd estimated by police at

Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said today that if he is elected president, he will examine the possibility of forming a Youth Peace Corps of trained young Americans to help new nations.

"Such service would be considered service in the national interest," Kennedy said. "Might it not make the normal military obligation unnecessary?"

Kennedy raised the possibility of the peace corps in a long statement issued here urging young people who have become of voting age to register and vote in next month's elections.

Kennedy said reports indicate success in the drive to locate and register as many as possible of the almost eight million young men and women who are eligible to vote for the first time in a presidential election.

"Casting your first vote in a presidential election is a great and memorable experience," Kennedy said. "See to it that your decision is made to count. Make your vote your investment in your future by registering now and voting on election day."

General Gains By General Fund

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's general fund took in $27,048,523 in tax collections during September, a gain of $9,283,116 over the same month last year.

The figures were contained in the monthly report which revenue Commissioner James S. Currie delivered Tuesday to Gov. Hodges' office.

Currie said the highway fund collected $9,671,014 during September, up $820,467.

General fund gains were paced by the income tax, which brought in $16,884,198, up slightly more than $10 million. Currie pointed out that the new withholding method of collecting income taxes accounted for $8,294,970 of the increase.

The rate of gain slowed down for the sales tax. Collections of $7,512,991 showed only a $12,892 rise over September, 1959.

For the first three months of the fiscal year, Currie said the general fund has taken in $77,376,284, an increase of $24,639,176. The highway fund has collected $28,636,755, a gain of $819,513.

Conservative Is Ahead In Brazil

RIO de JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Janio Quadros, a conservative who promised to clean up government corruption and bolster Brazil's shaky economy with a businesslike administration, forged steadily ahead today in the counting of votes from the presidential election.

Quadros' lead mounted over President Juscelino Kubitschek's candidate, former War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott, and over leftist Adhemar de Barros.

Lott had the unsolicited support of the Communists and the anti-U. S. ultranationalists, but the swing to Quadros could not be considered an outright repudiation of either the Communists or the ultra-nationalists. In the vice presidential race, for example, Lott's running mate, Joao (Jango) Goulart, leftist boss of the Brazilian Labor party and Kubitschek's vice president, was leading in his bid for re-election.

It appeared rather that the voters thought Quadros' record as governor of Sao Paulo, Brazil's booming industrial state, promised a vigorous national development program and effective measures against the galloping inflation threatening Latin America's largest nation.

Find No Outside Interest Conflicting With Duties

DETROIT (AP) — Two law firms say the 36 top executives of Chrysler Corp. have no outside interests which conflict with their duties to the company.

These men, the lawyers reported Tuesday after three months of investigation, are free of the taint of bribes, kickbacks or secret commissions.

The corporation's most vociferous critic, Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann, called the reports a "white-wash." He vowed to pursue "even more vigorously" his pending lawsuits against the corporation and many of the men who were the subjects of the reports.

The legal opinions were issued by Chrysler's general counsel—Kelley, Drye, Newhall & Maginnes of New York—and by special counsel—Dewey, Balantine, Bushby, Palmer & Wood. The Dewey in this firm is former New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The investigation as outlined by the attorneys consisted of four parts and began June 30. That was the day William C. Newberg was ousted as president of Chrysler because he was found to own half interests in two companies which had supplied small parts for Chrysler cars.

On that date the board of directors told the Kelley firm to find out what the interests were, if any, of Chrysler personnel in any transactions with the corporation and to take steps to recover any sums which Chrysler might be entitled to as a result of such interests.

Four weeks later the board announced Newberg had agreed to pay Chrysler $450,000 from his profits in the two supplier firms.

In mid-August four board members not associated with management took charge of the investigation and hired Dewey's firm to check on the adequacy and scope of the probe.

Sept. 8 the remaining five non-management directors joined this committee.

Only last Friday Chrysler discharged Jack Minor, director of marketing for Plymouth-De Soto-Valliant division. It said he had failed to disclose $10,000 in commissions from an outside advertising firm in which he was a partner.

Earlier a $750-a-month buyer was fired because of conflicting outside interests.

Key Injuries Keep Pirates Worried In Series Opener; NY At Full Strength

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer PITTSBURGH (AP) — Despite outward optimism, the Pittsburgh Pirates went into the World Series against the New York Yankees today secretly worried about the condition of two key performers—starting pitcher Vernon Law and shortstop Dick Groat.

Law, the Pirates' 20-game winner, has not fully recovered from an ankle injury suffered 10 days ago. The right-handed ace, 30, said frankly, "It feels better, but it's not 100 per cent yet."

Strength except for a minor nuisance. A head cold is plaguing first baseman Bill (Moose) Skowron. Right-hander Art Ditmar, Casey Stengel's choice to oppose Law, is fit and ready. The 15-game winner worked last Friday against the Boston Red Sox.

The Yankees are hot, the Pirates are lukewarm. Stengel's champions streaked into Forbes Field by sweeping their last five games. The Pirates came back nicely after coasting into the penant, defeating Milwaukee in the final two games of the regular season.

Two teams met. In that one—1927—the Yankees swept the best-of-seven series in four straight. If the Pirates were concerned about those defeats of 33 years ago, of if they were vowing vengeance, it wasn't apparent.

Stengel, who waited until Monday to announce Ditmar as his opening game pitcher, declined to go any further, but it is believed right-hander Bob Turley (9-3) will pitch the second game. That would leave the third game to lefty Whitey Ford.

Lenoir Rhyne Is Number 1 Team In NAIA Ratings

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Lenoir Rhyne College of Hickory, N.C., remained No. 1 in this week's ranking of National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football teams.

Lenoir Rhyne, 34-12 victor over Newberry College to make its record 3-0, gathered 253 points for No. 1.

Concordia of Minnesota (4-0) leaped into the second spot with 157 points and Texas A&I, defending NAIA champion, climbed to No. 3 only two points behind Concordia.

Except for Lenoir Rhyne, no Carolina team is ranked among the top 22 in the nation's small colleges.

Hickey Confident Of Good Showing By UNC Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A stunned, but not yet counted out North Carolina football team hopes to pull together its forces and score a homecoming victory over Notre Dame this Saturday.

The Tar Heels are "not down and counted out yet—not one bit," Coach Jim Hickey said Tuesday. The Atlantic Coast Conference squad has been beaten in its first two games and faces outsider Notre Dame in Chapel Hill.

Hickey said the team was "very bruised," but its spirits were high. Two players, end Mike Greenday and guard Fred Mueller, were injured against Miami last Friday and may not be ready this week.

Ed Fullerton, Tar Heel assistant coach who scouted Notre Dame last week, called the Irish an explosive team. Hickey intoned that Notre Dame's 51-19 pasting at the hands of Furde last week "won't help us any."

Unbeaten Duke also tries its hands with a Midwestern combine, visiting Michigan. Coach Bill Murray had his Blue Devils working long and hard Tuesday.

Duke, going after its third straight, must stop sophomore quarterback Dave Glinka, Murray told his squad.

Wake Forest, like North Carolina, beaten in its first two games, hopes to jump onto the victory wagon at Virginia Tech. Wake's passing game, its most potent attack, was polished up Tuesday and Coach Billy Hildebrand had Bobby Allen, the ACC's leading pass receiver a year ago, alternating with Bill Ruby at right end.

Although his Clemson team is ranked eighth in the nation this week by The Associated Press, Coach Frank Howard continues to bemoan the performance of his squad last Saturday in beating Virginia Tech. A half-hour of wide-open wind sprints featured Tuesday's workout prepping for a conference game Saturday against Virginia, now in the throes of a 20-game losing streak.

Meanwhile, the hapless Cavaliers worked on passing and pass defense. Virginia's Coach Dick Voris discounted that his team was not over-awed at playing the nation's No. 8 team and hinted the air will be filled with passes.

Pirate Of The Week

By JOHNNY HUDSON Reflector Sports Editor

A little boy with more guts than a Spartan soldier is the "Pirate of the Week," following East Carolina's 28-0 victory over Catawba Saturday night.

The first sentence describes Sonny Baysinger in a nutshell. But a warning to ECC foes: "Don't let Baysinger hear you call him a little boy." It sets off a chain of explosions.

Sonny, the number two punch in East Carolina's bone-crushing halfback duo, missed the Guilford opener but stepped into the starting lineup Saturday and came through in shining colors.

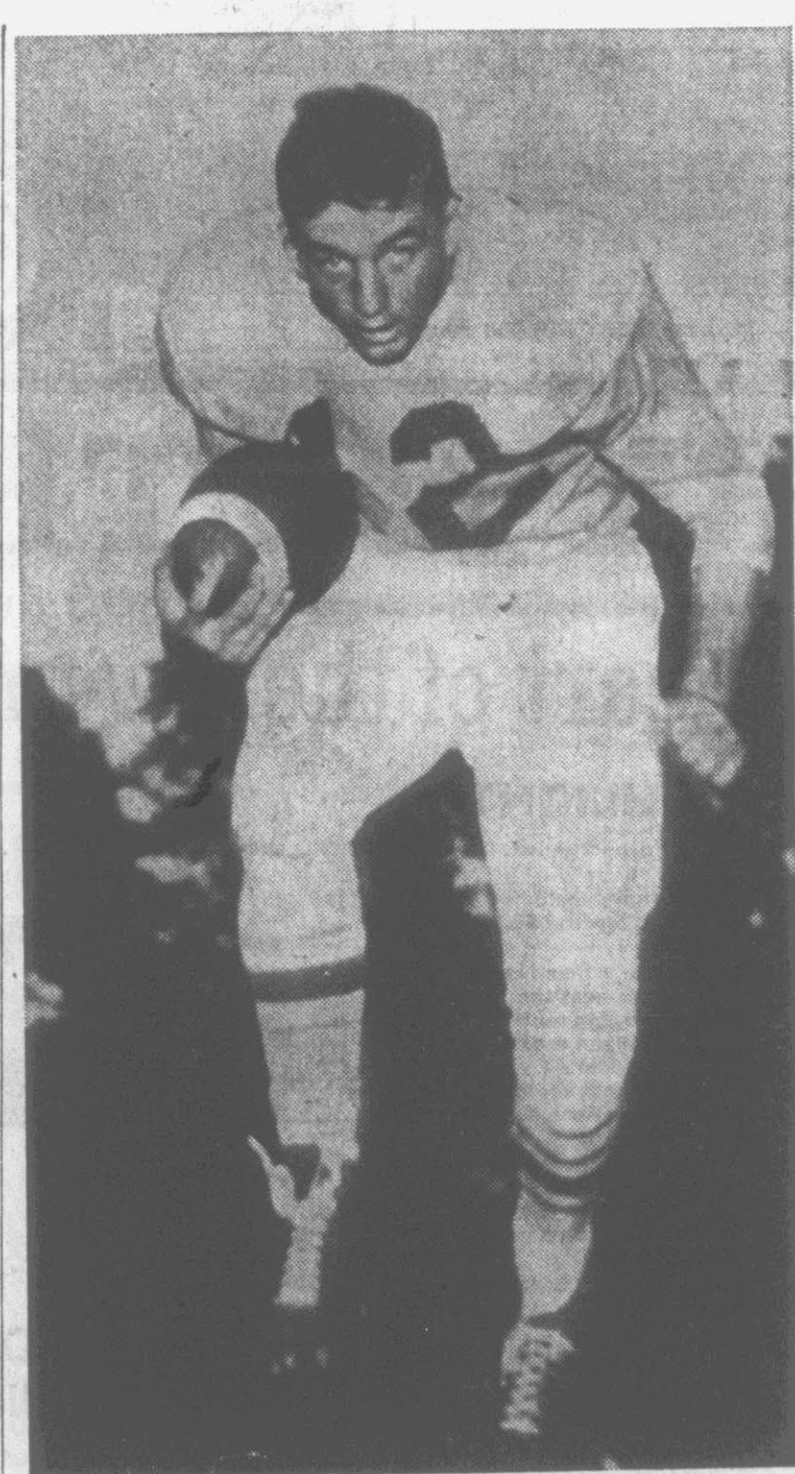

Last season, the 160 pounder played behind Glenn Bass and James Speight but saw enough action to become the third leading rusher on the club. He was number one in punt returns.

Baysinger played his prep ball at Concord High, being proclaimed as an all-time star there. Coach George Tucker wooed him to Wingate Junior College and his second season there brought Junior College All-American honors his way.

Saturday, he clocked off 90 yards on the ground, scoring the final East Carolina touchdown. Baysinger picks his holes better than any other ECC back and can thrust his small frame forward with the might of a much larger man.

This week's game will have a special meaning for Sonny. He goes against his old coach, George Tucker, when the Bucs play at Elon. For two years, he donated his talents to the Tucker cause. Saturday he hopes to make Tucker live some hard moments.

Coach Jack Boone is sky-high on his little halfback. "He is a hard worker and gives it all he has all the time. He is the type of boy that runs all over the field but can break away most any time."

Virginia Tech Gets Third Shot At ACC Eleven

Virginia Tech's Southern Conference football team qualifies this week to help the Atlantic Coast Conference settle its great debate over the relative merits of quarterbacks Roman Gabriel and Norman Snead.

Gabriel is the passing wizard at N.C. State, and the Techmen already have seen far too much of him. He pitched for 122 yards on 13 completions as the Wolfpack whipped Tech 29-14 in September.

Snead is the resident passing genius at Wake Forest—called by his admirers the best passer in the South. Tech gets a look at his wares Saturday afternoon in its homecoming game against Wake Forest.

One fellow who won't be surprised at anything Snead does is Tech Coach Frank Moseley, who's already on record as describing Gabriel as "one of the finest quarterbacks I've ever seen."

"We figure Snead is just as dangerous as Gabriel—and we ought to know," says Moseley. "Remember, we've seen him before."

Last year, as the Deacons erased an 18-7 halftime deficit and beat Tech 27-18, Snead passed for 123 yards and a touchdown and set up another score with his expert chucking. Thus far this season, Wake Forest is winless in two starts.

Tech is 1-2 for the season, with losses to two ACC clubs — N.C. State and Clemson—and a victory over Southern Conference foe West Virginia.

Moseley is worried over the situation at center, where the two regulars, Ricky Tolley and Charlie Hines, are on the shelf.

Illnesses of various kinds also afflicted other Southern Conference teams.

End Bob Timmerman and tackle Bill Winter were hospitalized at West Virginia. Timmerman with a siege of boils, Winter with the flu.

VMI got a jolt when it was learned that star guard Bill Haeblerlein will miss the George Washington game Friday night because of a knee injury — and may be out several weeks.

The Keydets' woes, however, were exceeded by those of CW. Three key players — quarterback Charley Packan, fullback John Will and end Andy Guida—probably won't play against VMI.

At Davidson, linebacker Joe Ansley was declared out of Saturday's game at Presbyterian with a serious bruise. At William and Mary, where Coach Milt Drewer expressed pleasure in the passing of Calvin Cox and Bob Stoy, Jim Lefew was tapped to replace injured second-unit halfback Jon Stephenson for Saturday night's conference test at Furman.

Furman's three varsity units worked against the freshmen in a defensive scrimmage against W&M plays. A storm delayed the workout.

The Citadel went through a scrimmage that left Coach Eddie Teague chigger over the Bulldogs' improvement. They play Florida State this week.

what do you think Ernie Davis and his playmates will do to the Crusaders?

Mississippi over Vanderbilt: The Rebels are getting used to these right games, and are after a strong conference showing to make up for the Memphis State scare.

Michigan State over Iowa: The Hawkeye sophomores have speed, but Michigan State has too many other resources.

Illinois over Ohio State: The Buckeyes haven't been scored on this season but that record goes into the discard. Joe Rutgens sticks out in that Illini line.

Navy over Southern Methodist: They meet in the first bowl game of the season—the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va., Joe Bellino, Navy ace, will serve the Mustangs on the half-shell.

Purdue over Wisconsin: The Boiler-makers won't let their runaway victory over Notre Dame spoil them but this time they win by the margin of a single touch-down.

Irish Picked Win Over Tar Heels; State Is Favored

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The brand new crystal ball, complete with radar and other electronics devices, could correctly forecast Iowa's upset of Northwestern last week and could perceive other trouble spots for the favorites, but it was far from perfect.

The weekend's record was 36 correct selections on the college football card and 16 wrong ones for a .694 average. The season's total now is 106-35 for .752.

This week's picks:
Syracuse over Holy Cross; II Harvard could defeat Holy Cross

First Game Is Test For Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The first game is the crucial one for the Pirates in the 57th World Series, says oldtimer Harold (Pie) Traynor.

"Pittsburgh has to take the first one," the gray-haired Hall of Fame star said today. "It's necessary for the Pirates' morale. It's necessary to slow down the Yankees' momentum."

"The Yankees go into the series on a 15-game winning streak. Momentum is a big thing. The Pirates have to break this drive immediately, or they are in trouble."

Traynor, 60 but still trim, was a member of the Pittsburgh team which lost four straight to the Yankees in 1927—the last time the Pirates made the World Series.

"It was quite a different case then," said the famous infelder, now a Pittsburgh radio commentator. "We were completely burned out when we reached the series and the Yankees were relaxed after winning the pennant by 19 games."

"We had to fight all the way. We never were more than a game or so ahead. We never could relax or catch a deep breath. So when we got into the Series it wasn't a case of panic, it was sheer exhaustion."

Even so, Traynor added, the Pirates had their opportunities because the Yankees—even with the great Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bob Meusel and Earl Combs—didn't play their best ball.

"They had had it pretty easy and so they were a little stale," he said. "I remember we were leading in the first game but finally blew it 5-4. Then in the fourth game Johnny Miltjus had a wild pitch with the bases loaded and let in the winning run in a 4-3 game."

"Actually, the Pirates never led in the first game of the 1927 world Series. The Yankees scored in their first time at bat and the best the Pirates did was to tie 1-1 in the bottom of the first. The Yankees took a 4-1 lead in the top of the third and stayed in front."

"Still it was a great Yankee team," recall Babe Ruth hit a couple of homers. I think it was one of the three greatest teams I ever saw. The others were the 1919 White Sox, with Shoeless Joe Jackson, Eddie Collins and Ray Schalk, and the 1929 Athletics, with Mickey Cochrane, Jimmy Foxx, Lefty Grove and Al Simmons.

"Ours was a fine club, too. We just didn't have anything left. In the series, Lloyd Waner was down to 127 pounds and Paul Waner was 134. I weighed 154. We all were some 20 pounds below our usual weight."

How does he predict the series? "The Pirates in seven. If they played 12 games, I'd pick 'em in 12. If they played 154, I'd say they'd win on the 154th. It's that kind of a ball club," Traynor said.

Practice Briefs Farmville

Farmville worked under the lights last night, preparing for Friday's game with Robersonville. Coach Elbert Moye greeted several players who returned from the injury list, bringing the Red Devils' roster to 18.

No letdown was shown last night as the club whistled through a spirited session with work being devoted to their passing game.

Dean Oglesby did the tossing and was accurate most of the night, hitting ends J. Y. Monk and Billy Walker.

Moye reported he "was real pleased" with effort this week. "It will be who works the hardest this week as to who wins Friday," stated Moye.

The Devils concluded their practice session last night with a thirty minute scrimmage session.

Robersonville

The Rams of Robersonville, spirits riding high with homecoming on the Friday agenda, brushed up on blocking and tackling fundamentals yesterday afternoon.

The Ram's roster swelled to 21—the largest in several weeks—with seven new boys joining the squad. With the exception of fullback Jimmy Brown, who may see only limited action, Robersonville is scheduled to be at full strength against Farmville Friday night.

The Robersonville junior varsity will open its season tomorrow in a game at Farmville.

Eppes High

Eppes High's Bulldogs yesterday underwent a strenuous workout in preparation for rival Atkins High of Kinston Friday night.

Coach Percy Daniels stressed punt protection and defense against Kinston's end sweeps. Some attention was given pass defense.

Alton Davis, injured in last weeks victory over Washington, was in tight equipment but is expected to see action Friday.

Daniels believed, "The boys will be up for the Kinston game. They're working real hard this week." Eppes has not defeated the Kinston eleven since 1950.

Several new faces are expected in Friday's Bulldog lineup. Seeing initial action will be Johnnie Cromwell, Raymond Tucker, Wilbert Smith and Willie Blount.

Navy End Is Top Lineman

Associated Press Sports Writer Greg Mather, Navy end who booted the winning field goal in the "Midwest" upset 15-14 victory over Washington, was named the lineman of the week today by The Associated Press.

Washington led 14-12 when Mather, a rugged 223-pounder from Woodland Hills, Calif., booted a 31-yard field goal in the last 14 seconds to turn defeat into victory.

His kicking ability, in addition to his all-around play, gained Mather the nod in the weekly AP poll by sportswriters and broadcasters.

Other linemen who drew attention included Navy guard John Hewitt; Roy McKasson, Washington center; Danny Larose, Missouri end; Dean Garrett, Arkansas guard; Arvie Martin, Texas Christian center; Herby Atkins, Baylor guard; E. J. Holub, Texas Tech center; Ken Rice, Auburn tackle; Tom Goode, Mississippi State center; Vic Miranda, Florida guard; Johnny Brewer, Mississippi end; and Ken Frost, Tennessee tackle.

Wanted To Upset Number One Miss

MEMPHIS (AP)—A slender quarterback who would rather be lousy in victory than magnificent in defeat—that's James Earl "Not that we don't appreciate the kind words," said Wright, after raving the national pat on the back. "It is an honor to me and to the team. But wouldn't it have been a blast if we had beat old number one?"

Old number one was mighty Mississippi. Wright led the Memphis State Tigers in an uproarious encounter that nearly did upset Ole Miss, which was atop the AP poll at the time.

Case May Remain With NY; Tigs Feel Houk?

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Casey Stengel probably will remain as manager of the New York Yankees, and Ralph Houk, widely considered Stengel's successor, probably will become the manager of the Detroit Tigers.

This managerial turnabout shaped up today in the wake of the firing of Manager Bob Elliott by Kansas City, Lou Boudreau's resignation at Chicago and Joe Gordon's walkout at Detroit.

Other reports circulating at World Series headquarters were:

- Gordon will manage the Athletics. (This is close to being a fact).
- Bob Scheffing, just re-signed as a Milwaukee Braves' coach, has the inside track to succeed Tom Sheehan as manager of the San Francisco Giants. (The only thing positive is that Sheehan will not return in 1961.)
- Bill Rigney, replaced by Sheehan as Giant manager last May, is a leading candidate for the managing job with the Chicago Cubs. (Face: Rigney has applied for the Detroit job).

No rumors, but actual happenings, although not yet announced, are the signing of Don Heffner as Detroit coach and the hiring of Mel McGaha as Cleveland coach. Heffner recently was given his release as coach by the Athletics. McGaha managed Toronto in the International League championship, but lost to Louisville in the Little World Series.

Gordon, who quit the Tigers suddenly Monday, was to confer with Kansas City General Manager Parke Carroll today. A Kan-

Kingpetch Top Boxer Of Month

NEW YORK (AP)—Flyweight champion Pone Kingpetch's second victory over Argentina's Pascual Perez earned the lanky Thai Ring magazine's "fighter of the month" award today.

Pone stopped the former champion in the eighth round of their return title bout at Los Angeles. The defeat dropped Perez to second contender among the 112-pound set. Spain's Mimun Ben Ali was boosted to No. 1.

Former heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson was raised to No. 2 contender behind Sonny Liston of Philadelphia with Americans Eddie Machen third and Zora Folley fourth.

Houston, Dallas Lead In Offense

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A couple of Texas teams—Houston and Dallas—are leading the American Football League in total offense.

In three games Houston's Oilers piled up 530 yards rushing and 612 passing for an average of 380.7 per game. Dallas has a 345.5 average, picking up 456 yards rushing and 926 passing in four contests.

Of the Chicago White Sox first 77 games this season relief pitcher Gerry Staley appeared in 35. He won nine games and made innumerable saves.

Loss Of Million Jobs Attributed

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, in one of his sharpest attacks so far, said today a million workers have lost their jobs because of policies backed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"Republican unemployment," Kennedy called it.

The Democratic presidential nominee chose this section, which has been hit hard by closing factories, to lash out at GOP economic views—and at Nixon.

In his prepared speech, Kennedy claimed Nixon has said, "You never had it so good," after traveling through distressed areas.

"I say Mr. Nixon has looked, but he has not seen. He has heard, but he has not listened," Kennedy said.

"When it comes to our economy, he sees no evil, hears no evil speaks no evil."

Even though it has but 13 electoral votes, Indiana has become a political battlefield this year.

Nixon has been here three times. Henry Cabot Lodge, his running mate, has been here

No Corroboration Of Reunion Story

CARTERSVILLE, Ga. (AP)—They parted, she added, and she felt free to return to Sanderson.

The Pentagon in Washington reported that records show Sanderson has a dependant's allotment made out to a Mrs. Hazel Sanderson, who resides at Junction City, Kan. It was a "Class Q" type allotment, the Army said, which could cover either a mother or a wife. The Army said it could not determine immediately whether his allotment covers a mother or a wife.

The Army added that Ft. Lewis advised that there is no record of Sanderson having been a patient there or of someone of that name having died there. Furthermore, the Army said the Adjutant General's Office in the Pentagon has no record of Sanderson's death and that Ft. Bragg reported no record of Sanderson having been buried there.

Checks with the National Cemetery near Raleigh, Ft. Stewart, Ft. Bragg and Ft. Lewis failed to corroborate Mrs. Sanderson's account.

Sanderson was identified as a cook with Company D, 4th Medium Tank Battalion, 68th Armored Division, Ft. Bragg, at Ft. Stewart on training maneuvers. His record, the Army said, shows that he was in Korea from October, 1958, until transfer last November to Ft. Bragg.

Shark Threat On Sydney Beaches Virtually Ended

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Sydney has virtually ended the menace of the man-eating shark on this city's great surfing beaches.

Tens of thousands of people are now diving through the Pacific rollers as the Southern Hemisphere summer approaches. In December and January 100,000 or more will be on Sydney's ocean beaches every non-working day.

The chances are not one person will be attacked by a shark. Yet this is real shark water where sportsmen can count on catching a couple of monsters, 12 or even 15 feet long, in a day's fishing a mile or so off the beaches.

How has Sydney solved the problem?

Meshing is the answer, according to the experts.

There has not been a recorded shark attack on a Sydney surfing beach since 1936. That is when the New South Wales government first let a contract for the meshing of the beaches.

Great nylon mesh nets, 500 feet long and 20 feet deep, are set off the surfing beaches. They do not enclose a shark-proof area but are anchored outside the breakers in the probable path of sharks.

The nets are fixed close to the bottom, where sharks usually move and feed. Every day or two they are lifted and moved to another position.

Sharks become entangled in the mesh and often drown. Those that are still alive are killed, and the carcasses towed out to sea and dumped.

But the contractor's job is not to catch sharks, but to protect the beaches. He is not permitted to set baits to attract sharks into the nets, nor is he paid according to the number of sharks caught.

In the early postwar years of netting, it was not uncommon to catch a dozen potential man-eaters overnight in a single net. Today the nets often are empty.

Flood Waters In France Receding

LIMOGES, France (AP)—Rampant flood waters in south central France slowly receded today, but a fresh onslaught of heavy rain renewed fears of further death and destruction.

Thus far nine persons have lost their lives, and unofficial estimates of damage run as high as $10 million.

COOL, BRISK, FALL WEATHER . . . is not only synonymous with football homecoming games but is a time for the church homecomings in rural North Carolina. Such was the setting Sunday at the Mount Pleasant Christian Church when the community observed their annual homecoming feast. The event, held each year on the first Sunday in October, is participated in with joy by the church women who prepare the feast for the hundreds who attend the dinner.

Lyndon Johnson Begins Tour Of South On Monday

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and an 11-car campaign train will leave here next Monday on a five-day whistle-stop tour through the South.

The 3,500 mile trip will cover eight states for the vice presidential nominee of the Democrats.

The Texas senator said he was making the whistle-stop tour at the urging of former President Harry S. Truman, who used it in winning re-election in 1948.

On Monday the train will wind through Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Tuesday's program calls for Sen. Johnson to visit Greenville, S.C., then make an automobile trip to Anderson and Rocky Bottom, S.C.

A total of about 60 appearances and speeches in the rail tour are planned for Sen. Johnson.

Besides the Carolinas and Virginia, the Johnson entourage will visit Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Room For Everybody To Get Into Political Camps

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — In this organization world, there's no need to be just old Joe Blow rooting for your candidate.

It's so easy to join up—be an organization man.

Be a Scholar for Nixon-Lodge, a Senior Citizen for Kennedy-Johnson, a Neighbor for Nixon, a "Viva Kennedy" man.

That's just a sampling of what's available if you want to get into the swing of things for your men — Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge on the Republican ticket or John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson for the Democrats.

The candidates have their own campaign managers. Each party has its own national committee working on the campaign and divisions within divisions at headquarters.

To catch anybody swimming around, the Republicans have "Volunteers for Nixon-Lodge" while the Democrats have "Citizens for Kennedy and Johnson."

That isn't all, though. In what many call the biggest assortment of recent campaigns, you can choose the shoe that fits—American Nationalities for Nixon-Lodge, Women for Nixon-Lodge, Lawyers for Nixon-Lodge, Doctors for Nixon-Lodge, Retired Servicemen's Committee for Nixon-Lodge, the Dick Nixon Sports Committee, Scholars for Nixon-Lodge, Celebrities for Nixon-Lodge, Farmers for Nixon, or there's SNAP which means "Support Nixon at the Polls."

On the other side—Kennedy for President Overseas Committee (if you live over there), Doctors for Kennedy, Farmers for Kennedy and Johnson, Senior Citizens for Kennedy-Johnson, Business and Professional Men and Women for Kennedy and Johnson, Certified Public Accountants for Kennedy-Johnson, the "Viva Kennedy" Committee to organize the campaign in Spanish-speaking communities.

These are some of the organizations that have been announced.

There's no law against anybody forming his own.

After all, there was this sign out in Oregon — "Even the bean pickers like Kennedy."

Parking Ability Now Established

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The city traffic department has established scientifically a fact which nearly every male driver will claim he has known for years: A man can park a car faster than a woman can.

The department's manager, S.S. Taylor, bravely announced Tuesday the results of stop-watch tests. The average man, he said, inches into a parking space in 23.7 seconds. The average woman in 37.4 seconds.

Taylor added: "Of course—yes, certainly of course—some women can maneuver into parking spaces faster than some men."

It's All Pontiac! on a new Wide-Track!

New track-to-body proportion! The track is the width between the wheels. Pontiac is the only Wide-Track car. Body width is reduced, shaving side overhang, balancing more weight between the wheels. Best relationship of body width to wheel width ever tailored. Lean and sway are ancient history.

Announcing the new Pontiac Trophy V-8 Engine! We've improved the engine the experts said was perfect. New fuel induction system saves gas by using more air in the gasoline mixture. This makes the engine breathe more efficiently, giving you better acceleration. Eleven versions to choose from. Horsepowers range from 215 to 348. For best economy, specify the Trophy Economy V-8. Its lower compression ratio lets you use regular gas.

More headroom, legroom, footroom for greater comfort! You'll take great comfort in the extra roominess we've built into the '61 Pontiac. Seats are higher, yet there's more clearance beneath the steering wheel and more hatroom over your head. There is more legroom, more footroom. Doors are wider and designed to swing open farther. The more highway you put behind you (Pontiac specializes in this) the more you'll appreciate the new room that's all around you in this sleek new '61.

THE ONLY WIDE-TRACK CAR! Body width trimmed to reduce side overhang. More weight balanced between the wheels. No other car hugs the road with such sure-footed stability and precision.

Kind Word Heard On Old-Fashioned Thrift

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP)—Kind words for thrift are still being said today. This is surprising in an age when personal debt in this land has risen to a record total of $212 billion and the younger generation seems to tailor its fiscal affairs to how much income is available for monthly payments.

The kind words cited here come from a group whose careers have won them some public recognition. And, to be truthful, most of them are middle-aged or more.

The Savings Banks Association of the State of New York enquired into the savings habits of about 3,000 individuals in the East listed in Who's Who and got 1,009 replies.

Nine out of 10 have a savings account today. And even more, 98 per cent, say they think savings are important to the economic well-being and continued growth of the United States.

Champions of thrift praise it as assuring confidence, peace of mind, independence, elbowroom in job selection, or see it as important to self-discipline and character building.

But 10 per cent don't think thrift has done anything important for their own careers.

Some of the contrary-minded are quite specific.

"Most thrifty people miss that sparkle and joys of life and risk nothing," says one businessman.

An educator believes "a spending economy is necessary to keep our peculiar system going; too much saving can cause depression."

And another educator bellies "stored up dollars destined to be smashed to smithereens by the inevitable inflation."

But some of the thrifty-minded are equally broad in their views. One calls savings the only alternative to increasing reliance on government. Another lambastes spending as the road to "inflation, bankruptcy, instability, moral weakness, labor problems and susceptibility to Communist influences."

The association finds the lowest percentage of the Who's Who crowd having savings accounts among those in the financial professions—75 per cent. These include brokers, investment counselors and bankers. The largest percentage—96—are in construction or real estate.

Far outdistancing the financiers among savings account aficionados are artists—writers, actors, musicians—with 87 per cent boasting nest eggs, and those in communications—reporters, publishers, editors, TV and movie personnel—with 93 per cent.

First reason for saving put forward by the Who's Who contingent is security, followed closely by retirement income, with travel a trailing third.

Lowly Coyote Is Moving In On Hollywood Hills

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lo the lowly coyote, howling in the hills a buckshot blast from Hollywood and Vine.

Howls are also coming from residents of the brush-covered slopes above Hollywood, who claim the predators are snacking on household pets. Reported casualties: eight cats, an undisclosed number of ducks and guinea pigs.

One woman said she had to flush a coyote from her patio; other residents complained of the animals strolling across their lawns. A dozen women on Tiger-tail Road staged a protest meeting and petitioned City Council for help.

Joining the anti-coyote forces was Dick Powell, who said that the varmints practically drove him from his Mandeville Canyon ranch to the settled confines of Beverly Hills.

"There were millions of them up where we lived," he complained. "They killed several of our sheep and some calves. We could hardly sleep at night."

"They'd get together and cackle like a convention of women."

"They make nice music," corrected Lauritz Melchior, who occupies an aerie atop Mulholland Drive. "I have done a great deal of hunting in my life, and I love the sounds of the jungle."

The influx of coyotes around peopled areas has resulted from the depredations of their normal hunting grounds by brush fires and subdividers. The area stretches from the heart of Hollywood to the sea. What can be done?

One of the handful of trappers licensed by the state says not much is possible. The trapper, who declined to be identified, said the coyotes could only be poisoned by cyanide, which might claim more pets and children than coyotes.

The other method would be iron traps, also risky in populated areas. "I wouldn't be interested in the job," he said. "It's too big—there's thousands of 'em up there. And there's no money in it. Northern coyote pelts can be sold—you'd be surprised how many fancy fur coats are dyed coyote. But Southern California coyotes are too many."

Bonner Assigned Campaign Role

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Herbert C. Bonner has been appointed by Senator John F. Kennedy to his Natural Resources Advisory Committee, the Democratic presidential candidate's headquarters announced here today.

"I am particularly glad to have Herbert Bonner on this Committee, because of his special interest in water and conservation problems," Senator Kennedy said.

"The Committee will have an important role in the campaign clarifying the issues in this field, which has been retarded and neglected by the Eisenhower administration. The Committee will then make the recommendations for an action policy on natural resources for my administration."

Representative Bonner said he had discussed the water and conservation problems of North Carolina with Senator Kennedy.

"We are both convinced," Congressman Bonner said, "that real progress can be made toward their solution under his administration through sound investment in our natural resources. I am pleased to serve on the Committee, not only to help point up this issue during the campaign, but in order to help determine the policy of the new administration."

Suspects Dog Has Wrong Idea

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Gov. Ernest F. Hollings, a Democrat, said this note was left at the executive mansion:

"Dear Governor Hollings: 'I am sorry that I can't put your paper on your porch; but I believe your dog thinks I am a Republican! Every day I come to the yard he chases me out. If you want me to put the paper on the porch, please keep your dog tied. 'Thank you, Your Paper Boy.'"

Hollings said something would be done about the dog, a German Shepherd called "Chief."

Defected Airman Took Own Life

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A defector pilot from the United Arab Republic committed suicide soon after seeking political asylum here, a military spokesman said Tuesday night.

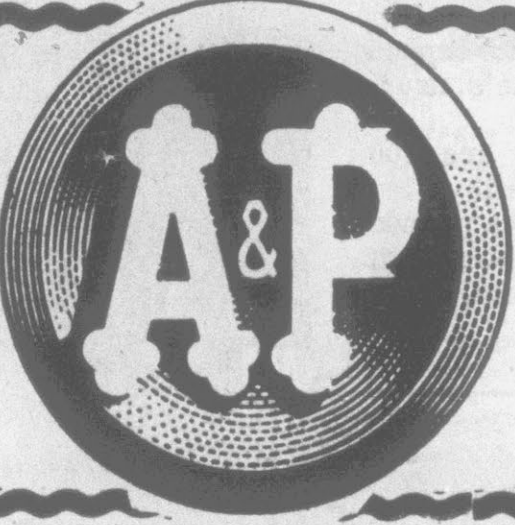

Lt. Adnan Madami landed his MIG17 Sept. 28 and asked King Hussein to let him stay, the spokesman said. While resting alone in officers' quarters he said Madami seized a pistol and shot himself through the head.

The World Bank has made an allocation of $70 million to India for improvement and expansion of its railways.

Turning Housework into Good Exercise

The "Australian crawl" in the dining room. You can't swim your way through vacuuming, but the arm movements should be similar. Don't operate the appliance close to your toes - rrrreeaaacch!!

Housework has a "new concept." Dr. Frederick Stare, professor of nutrition at Harvard, described it as "the correct exercise of muscles—thigh, back, shoulder, neck—that need exercising. Excellent to improve posture."

He further termed it "the new approach to weight control for the housewife." "Well-coordinated housework," he went on, "like well-coordinated tennis or swimming becomes fun. It takes away the drudgery."

Half an hour of housework uses up to 100 to 200 calories—the equivalent of a dish of ice cream or a piece of frosted angel cake. The more vigorously a woman works around the house, the more calories she will drop. Climbing the stairs two extra times (each trip costs 100 to 125 calories) is another weight control.

"The expenditure of 100 to 200 calories," said Dr. Stare, "may seem of minor value in controlling body weight. But the important thing is to expend this small amount daily, in addition to one's usual activities."

It has been estimated that Americans are 400 million pounds overweight. But don't blame it on les girls. The weight of housewives averages five pounds less than it did a decade ago. Men, on the other hand, weigh in at five pounds more. (Just a hint, Dad.)

Reach for the ceiling. Replace glasses, dishes and anything else on the top shelf without the help of a ladder. Strrreeetoch!!

Knee bends. On those trips upstairs taking two steps at a time provides an exercise for the knee and prevents later chronic stiffness.

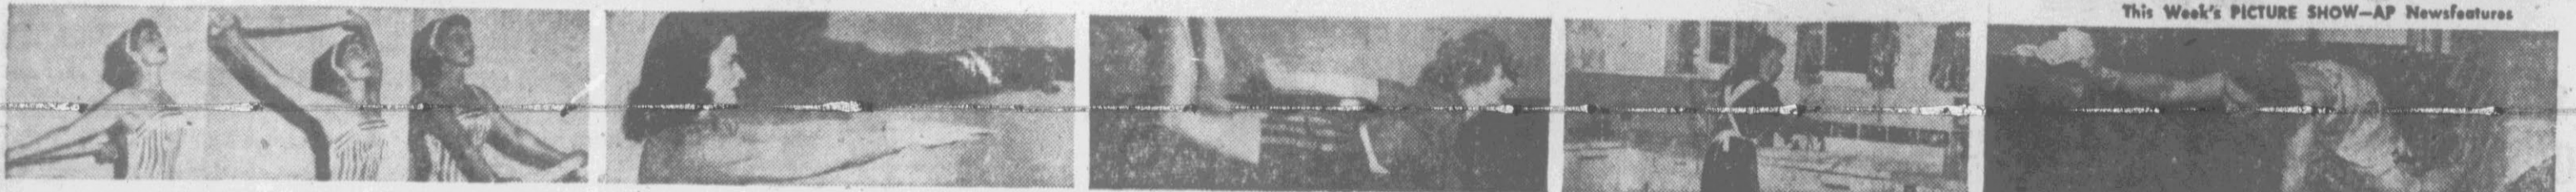

Touch your toes. Picking up the children's toys can be turned into one of the best and oldest exercises. It keeps the legs straight.

Bump, bump, bump. Wash the baseboards from a sitting position on the floor. Keep legs out straight as you rock-and-roll down the hall.

Forward stretch. Use this exercise for such things as cleaning the bathtub. Your reach should be long.

Assistant District Attorney David Epstein is seated. Mrs. O'Neill fought back when the youths tried to grab her handbag and her yelling brought police who captured the youths as they fled with the bag after cutting the straps. ## Gavin Urges Roads In Development Role MURPHY, N.C. (AP)—Roads should be planned and built to aid in development of new areas of the state, Robert L. Gavin declared here Tuesday.

The Republican candidate for governor told a rally audience that a 15-year road program recently adopted by the State Highway Commission should be revised with this in mind.

The highway proposal was part of Gavin's demand for a new look at the state's entire transportation system.

While campaigning in the Western mountains, Gavin got word of a poll by the Greensboro Daily News which showed him leading his Democratic opponent, Terry Sanford, in Guilford County.

"We're ahead in the Far West, too. Now we've really got to go to work Down East," said Gavin.

The Greensboro paper's poll gave Gavin 470 votes and Sanford 264. For president, GOP candidate Richard M. Nixon had 452 votes, and Democratic contender John F. Kennedy 291.

The Daily News mails ballots to registered voters selected at random. It expects to mail nearly 12,500 ballots before the Nov. 8 general election.

Says Socialist Ideas Stolen

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A Pittsburgh industrialist says both "young fellows" running for president have platforms stolen from many-time Socialist presidential candidate Norman Thomas.

"Poor old Norman can't run anymore—he hasn't got a platform," said Col. Willard F. Rockwell, board chairman of the Rockwell Manufacturing Co.

Rockwell, a business executive for 50 years, summed up the two platforms' differences thusly:

"The Republicans promise everything any pressure group wants provided the government can pay for it without raising taxes, while the Democrats promise everything without regard to costs."

He spoke Tuesday before the Associated Industries of Kentucky.

John Marshall, who became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in 1800, had never before held a judicial office.

Asserts Soviets Re-Raised Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Prime Minister Walter Nash of New Zealand declared Tuesday the Soviet proposal to set up a three-man U.N. secretariat is a reshuffle of a plan pressed by all the big powers in vain at the founding of the U.N.

Nash told the U.N. General Assembly that adoption of the Soviet proposal would stultify the world organization and constitute the gravest threat to its role as an independent force in world affairs.

Nuclear Ship Savannah Slowly Nears Readiness

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—A $42.5-million experiment in ocean-going nuclear propulsion is slowly nearing completion in a shipyard here.

Workers at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. are getting out the N. S. Savannah. It will be the first nonmilitary ship to have an atomic engine. The keel was put down May 22, 1958, and the hull was launched July 21, 1959.

Taxpayers are footing the design and construction cost, and probably the ship never will repay that cost in dollars. But some observers feel the United States will be amply repaid in prestige and the good will it should produce.

After it is commissioned, early next year, the Savannah will make a world cruise. The cruise will demonstrate how the atom can be used peacefully. It also will provide valuable knowledge needed for construction of future nuclear-powered ships.

The Savannah is named for the first steamship to cross the Atlantic.

The new Savannah is 595 feet long and will be powered by a nuclear reactor using U235 as fuel. The reactor, built by Babcock and Wilcox, has been installed. The reaction will be used to heat water and steam to 520 degrees Fahrenheit. This will drive turbines capable of producing 22,000 horsepower.

Waste from the reactors will be brought back to shore and buried. International law does not now permit their random disposal at sea.

If the ship ever should sink, an unlikely occurrence, special doors will seal off the reactor to keep it from contaminating the ocean.

When the idea of using atomic power in a ship of peaceful intent first gained acceptance, some government officials favored putting a Nautilus-type submarine reactor in a conventional surface ship and claiming a quick atomic first.

However Congress decided to spend $42.5 million and have the vessel designed from the keel up. Final plans were approved by President Eisenhower on Oct. 15, 1956.

Master of the Savannah will be

One Dead, Eight Injured In Crash Near Forest City

RUTHERFORDTON, N.C. (AP)—A Eno Mill, S.C., woman was fatally injured and eight others injured when two cars and a motorcycle piled up in an accident on U.S. 74 just west of Forest City late Tuesday.

Mrs. Dorothy Morgan, 25, died in a Charlotte hospital. She and her husband, James, 35, who was seriously injured, were riding the motorcycle.

One of the cars was driven by Charles Hamilton Jr., 32, of Forest City, who was hospitalized along with his wife, Patsy, 26. Both were in fair condition. The couple's three children, Patricia Ann, 7; Saggie Rose, 6, and Charles, 9, were treated and released.

A woman passenger in the Hamilton car identified as Peggy Mace, 30, also of Forest City, was reported in fair condition.

The driver of the second car was tentatively identified as "Red" Braley, about 45, of Forest City. He was undergoing treatment at Rutherford County Hospital.

JUDGES WANT MORE

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korean judges complained today they can't live decently on less than $100 a month. Fifty judges decided at a meeting today to petition the chief justice for drastic pay scale revisions that will guarantee them at least $160 or 190,000 hwan a month. Starting pay for a judge is now 45,000 hwan, or about $80.

ENVOY ARRESTED—Mauricio Rosal, with hat, Guatemalan ambassador to Belgium, is in custody of two agents after the 47-year-old diplomat was arrested in New York. He is accused of helping smuggle $4,000,000 worth of pure heroin into the United States. Three other men were seized as accomplices. Officials called it the largest dope haul ever made by the government. Rosal was described as without diplomatic immunity in the United States. (AP Wirephoto)
