Wadsworth Says Red China Unfit For UNAs Assembly Nears Vote On Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States blasted Red China today as coldly calculating the mathematics of death in an atomic war, and insisted this makes the Peking regime unfit for membership in the United Nations.

The day's debate opened with a denunciation of the United States by Cuba. Supporting Red China for membership, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa said the United States is an "imperialist government" menacing mankind.

Gromyko sat in for the U.S.S.R. on the China debate, on the question whether the assembly should shelve discussion of Peking's admission for the 10th straight year. The assembly's steering committee had voted for shelving, but Soviet-backed resolutions demanded a full assembly decision.

As to maintaining the status quo on Berlin, he said that if a "summit conference" is to be held shortly after the (presidential) elections in the United States, then I can say we shall keep our word.

He warned, however, "If you want me to give assurances that the status quo will be preserved without reaching an agreement to hold a summit conference, without reaching agreement on the date, then I can give no such assurances."

He called for a special session of the Assembly "to discuss just one question, that of elaborating a disarmament agreement and the appropriate measures of control."

No 'Me-Too' In Kennedy, Nixon's Bristling Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy fought a bristling television battle Friday night that left them miles apart on most campaign issues.

Nixon fired back that he completely disagreed with Kennedy. "Now, I think as far as Quemoy and Matsu are concerned that the question is not the little pieces of real estate," the vice president said.

Parade Of Big Political Guns Will Soon Move To Firing Lines In N.C.

RALEIGH (AP) — A parade of political big guns will wheel to the campaign firing line in North Carolina as the Nov. 8 general election approaches.

Democratic standard bearer, stopped in four cities on a whirlwind, day-long tour.

Both the vice presidential candidates will be in North Carolina next week.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Kennedy's running mate, will whistle stop through the state Monday and Tuesday.

Kennedy Points To Leaf Program As Farm Model

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy pointed with pride today to the tobacco price support program as a model of what a Democratic program could do for the nation's farmers.

The Democratic presidential nominee said the 90-per cent price support program for tobacco was put through by his party and has been protected by Democrats despite efforts of Republicans to junk it.

He said he knew that his opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, had said recently in Kentucky he also favored the tobacco program.

He said that "rather than that lie we told" about the U2's being a weather plane, "it would have been far better for us to have followed the common diplomatic procedure of expressing regrets and then try to move on."

Umstead Can't 'Sit Idly By'

RALEIGH (AP) — Influential State Rep. John Umstead, saying he "cannot sit idly by while ridiculous Republican rubbish is spread," has accepted the chairmanship of the North Carolina Senior Citizens for the Democratic ticket.

The 71-year-old Chapel Hill lawmaker, champion of improving the state's mental hospitals, spoke some angry political words Friday when he announced he was accepting the post.

Blasting away at charges of corruption leveled by Republican gubernatorial candidate Robert Gavin at the state's Democratic regime, Umstead said:

Umstead, who has served 21 years on the University of North Carolina board of trustees and 15 years on the Hospitals Board of Control, said, "Every cent spent by both of these groups has been handled with scrupulous care."

Greenville Mart Has $62.90 Day

Heavy volumes of medium-grade smoking leaf yesterday on tobacco markets in Greenville, Farmville and Robersonville brought high prices and kept sales averages above $60 per 100 pounds.

Greenville pushed its season average closer to $60 from the sale of 1,515,850 pounds for $953,418. Yesterday's sales average here was $62.90, according to the Federal-State Market News Service in Wilson.

Johnson Stung, Angrily Replies To Nixon Taunt

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, stung by a taunt about civil rights, lashed back at Vice President Richard M. Nixon Friday night by accusing the Republican of talking discrimination himself.

"He went from the South to the garment district of New York and made a speech based on discrimination by saying that Jack Kennedy went South for his running mate," Johnson said.

"What kind of an American is that?" asked the Democratic vice-presidential candidate from Texas.

He predicted that the South "will give Nixon an answer in a tone he can understand on Nov. 8."

Johnson and 1,300 Democrats at a dinner in Salisbury's civic center, watched the televised debate between the presidential candidates, Nixon and Kennedy.

What apparently angered Johnson was a Nixon comment that Johnson had voted against many civil rights proposals mentioned by Kennedy.

"Where was Nixon when his party controlled both houses of Congress?" asked Johnson. "He didn't support a civil rights bill, he didn't introduce one. He's got to eat that record before this campaign is over."

Johnson pointed out that Congress passed two bills in the field of civil rights while he was Senate majority leader.

The Democrat claimed that Nixon was "dangerously deceptive" in his television statement.

"The closer the election gets, the more concerned he gets and more like the old, rough Nixon," Johnson said.

He said Nixon implied that Congress refused President Eisenhower enough funds for military defense.

"I hurl back that statement," Johnson shouted. "Congress has given more for defense than the Defense Department could spend if the President knew what was happening."

Johnson's Salisbury rebuttal to Nixon was a continuation of his denunciation of the vice-president's claim to experience at talks earlier in the day at Cumberland and Hagerstown in western Maryland.

In both territories, Johnson was trying to reverse majorities that twice helped Eisenhower win Maryland's nine electoral votes.

Eighth St. Christian Announcements

The Sunday of the Ministry, October 9, is the second Sunday in Church Loyalty Month. Rev. W. J. Hadden will speak on the subject "The Challenge of the Christian Ministry." The pastor is pleased with the attendance this month and hopes that members will continue to show loyalty to the church.

Mrs. H. L. Carter, organist and choir director, has chosen "O Thou, From Whom All Blessings Come" by Tschakowsky, for the choir's anthem.

Again, a special invitation is extended to college students to attend Church School at 9:45, at which time a light breakfast will be served in their class, and the worship hour at 11:00.

The worship service will be broadcast over the facilities of WGTC Radio.

Kennedy Target Of Cuban Press

HAVANA (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy's speech on Cuba provoked Revolution today to call him in banner headlines "an illiterate millionaire and international gangster."

The semi-official newspaper, which frequently speaks for Prime Minister Fidel Castro, described the Democratic presidential candidate's remarks in Cincinnati Thursday night as an "insolent threat to Cuba."

Scotch Sweaters Get U.S. Glamor

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

American designer Clare Potter is cutting capers with hitherto traditional British cashmères. And both she and the British are having a whale of a time.

Under the hands of this sport-loving designer, the once-classic cashmere-sweaters are blossoming out in 28 different colors, daringly different necklines, feminine styling and contrasting trim.

One of the first and best-known names among American designers, Clare Potter is known for the kind of sports clothes American women like to wear. For two decades she has been turning them out for women from Maine to California, working first in New York's teeming garment center, later in her country home at West Nyack, N. Y. Says Mrs. Potter:

"I'm having the time of my life, doing most of my work at home. We used to have a hunt up at Nyack, and we kept our own horses. Now we've turned the riding barn into a studio, where I do my designing, and the line is displayed in the stalls."

Clare's husband, J. Sanford Potter, is one of the few engineers in the fashion business. Recently he joined his wife in managing the business end of her firm, also applying his engineering skill to various innovations in manufacture.

In addition to her own line of casual sportswear, Mrs. Potter works from time to time as a freelance designer for various firms—currently with Braemar, the digitized manufacturer of British cashmères, with headquarters at Hawick, Scotland.

The new collection of sweaters, skirts and costumes includes outfits for all occasions, from sports to evening, and in lamb's wool and Shetlands as well as cashmères. Says Clare:

"Give a girl a wardrobe of sweaters and skirts and she's ready for come-what-may."

She was selected outstanding club member in the Credit Women's Breakfast Club and also served as president of that organization. She now holds an office in the Pitt County Safety Council.

Her hobbies are knitting, china painting and walking with her little dog, Susie.

In the Business and Professional Women's Club, there are members in the fields of education, business, banking, nursing and medical care, many holding administrative positions. There are five members who own their own business.

The Greenville club has two members who have retired, Misses Mary and Nettie Brogden. Miss Nettie Brogden was once president of the North Carolina Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Dr. Humber Is Guest Speaker

Dr. Robert Lee Humber was guest speaker Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Bob Smith entertained members of the Theists Book Club. Mrs. Marshall B. Whitehurst, club president, presided over the business session. After a resume of each book, Mrs. Trevillion Lyons distributed the year's selection of books.

Yearbooks were given out by the handbook chairman, Mrs. Francis A. Jordan.

Dr. Humber reviewed some of his earlier years as a student at Oxford University in England, his years spent in Paris as a practicing attorney, and the N. C. Museum. It was during this time, he said, that he realized a need for an art center in the South. Europeans hold the artist as their hero, unlike the Americans, he pointed out.

He recalled some events which occurred prior to the passage of the art bill through the State Legislature. A close vote of 47-44 passed the bill, Dr. Humber said.

Among some of the famous paintings in the museum is one by Van Dyke and the Reubens collection of seven works, the largest single collection in North America. Dr. Humber said that since the N. C. Museum of Art opened in 1956, 275,000 persons have visited the museum.

Following Dr. Humber's talk, members engaged in an informal question and answer period. The hostess was assisted in serving coffee and cake by Mrs. Billy Laughinghouse and Mrs. Gordon Lynch.

High Magazine Salesmen Are Announced Friday

By CRAIG WORTHINGTON

Junior class president Jimmy Jenkins announced the high salesmen in the junior's recent magazine sales drive at an assembly yesterday morning in the gymnasium.

The high salesman for the entire class was Jimmy Eatman, who won a tablemodel radio. Second-high salesman, Tommy Webb, won a tube radio. Sonny Parkinson and Joe Waldrop, the third and fourth highest salesmen, won a transistor radio and a fountain pen, respectively.

The three losing homerooms, starting from the bottom, included room 202 (White), 104 (Worsley) and 203 (Starling).

Mrs. Ruth T. Ping's homeroom was the high-sales homeroom for the campaign. Miss Frances R. Smith's came in second place.

In addition to prizes for the high class salesmen, there were awards for high salesmen in each homeroom. The following received these awards: Tommy Webb and Sonny Parkinson (103), Jimmy Eatman and Janice Laughter (106), Joe Waldrop and Sammy Pugh (203), Tom Arthur and Gigi Guice (104), and Carol Briley and Ross Clark (202).

In addition, these were awards for the following:

High salesman for Look, Tommy Webb; Joe Waldrop, and Esther Johnson; Farthest Mail-out—Marvin Buck; Most Money in Mail outs, Judy Thigpen; High Salesman for first week, Jimmy Eatman; High Salesman for second week, Tommy Webb; First to sell $100, Jimmy Eatman; Joe Waldrop, and Sonny Parkinson.

Students who sold a certain number of subscriptions were put into one of four clubs. Names were drawn from these clubs to receive a prize, one of the stuffed dogs. If the person whose name was drawn had already won a prize, he didn't receive another.

These students names were drawn from the various clubs:

$15 Club: Phillip Savage; $50 Club: William Allen, John Lamsche and Gordon Aycock; $75 Club: each person whose name was drawn had already received a prize; $100 Club: No new names were drawn from this club.

This year, a mystery student was chosen at random. Had this student sold $5 in subscriptions, with one a 50 per cent magazine, he would have received a five-dollar prize.

sometime this week.

Students and citizens who wish to buy stationery are urged to contact any senior, if they have not been contacted already.

TALENTED TABLES HELP YOU SERVE INFORMAL MEALS

Most families love their dining rooms but they also like to be able to have suppers in the living room or family room.

You can find many different kinds of small tables to help you serve informal meals or snacks. The Home Furniture Store suggests.

Stacking and nesting tables stay out of the way until you need them. Then you pull them out quickly to give firm footing to a dish of potato chips or bowl of consommé. You can do the same trick with coffee tables.

Tables that flip for you are another good investment. They include the game tables. A sofa table in an open area makes a good buffet.

You can always put a corner of your lamp tables to work at snack time. A desk is a good buffet.

Enjoy your snacks or evening meal in the comfort of your living or family room.—(Adv.)

Losing Confidence In The People?

The decision of the City Council and the Utilities Commission to dissolve the dual job of city manager and utilities superintendent is of genuine interest to the citizens of Greenville.

The fact that the citizens of the city were not afforded the benefit of officials' consideration of the factors involved in this important decision should be a matter of concern to Greenville citizens.

Although no mention of the fact was made Thursday night at the City Council meeting, either by members of the Council or by the Chairman of the Utilities Commission, it should be pointed out that the decision to separate the jobs was reached earlier in the week when the two bodies met in a joint, undisclosed session.

They met jointly to decide a matter which is obviously of great importance to the city, otherwise it would have been unnecessary for these two groups to convene in a joint session. At the same time they chose to keep from the citizens of the city any knowledge of this joint session. Apparently they wished it to appear that the decision was reached without discussion, without deliberation at the City Council meeting Thursday night when a request was made from the Utilities Commission that Leonard Bloxam be allowed to give up his dual job as city manager and utilities superintendent in order to devote his full time to the latter position.

It would be a disservice to the capable members of the City Council and the Utilities Commission to suppose for a minute that they jumped to a spur-of-the-moment decision on a matter of such import. At the same time, we feel that perhaps it was a disservice to the people of this city for these two important bodies to feel it necessary to consider the matter in private so as to prevent public knowledge of their considerations until after the decision had been reached.

Certainly the people of this city have not lost confidence in the elective and appointed officials to which

Mostly Useful For Propaganda

By LYNN NISBET

POLLS—A favorite pastime of newspaper and radio news folk is conducting polls or surveys of sentiment respecting the standing of candidates for political office. There are several nationally prominent poll-taking groups. One of the best known is the Gallup poll. These pollsters use various devices to gather data for processing and projecting into estimated totals. One of the most used devices is the "sampling" process, which calls for contacting every tenth (or some other specified selection) of persons on a given list to send questionnaires or engage in personal interviews.

Another device is to put coupons in newspapers and ask readers to fill them out and mail them in. The coupon system doesn't mean much, because the same subscriber might send in a dozen or more coupon answers. The sample spot-checking of every tenth person is more accurate, but still has the disadvantage of chance that the persons checked are of the same opinion, or that they know nothing about the issues and problems involved. The best way to get an idea of popular selection and with regard to whether the person interviewed is a policeman or farmer or banker or merchant, a Democrat or Republican or independent, or affiliated with Baptist, Catholic, Episcopalian, Methodist or Presbyterian churches. In such personal interviews the citizen can explain why he thinks this or that candidate may be ahead, and what his chances are to hold the lead.

PROPAGANDA—While the polls have news value varying widely among the different methods of counting, the results are more useful as propaganda. It is not uncommon for two polls taken in the same area to show widely divergent results. That is particularly true of the newspaper coupon method or any system based on the circulation list. Naturally the majority of the readers of a Republican newspaper are of that belief, and the Democratic paper has majority readers in that party. There is suspicion that some polls are deliberately rigged for propaganda purposes.

The historic travesty of presidential polls was that conducted by the Literary Digest in 1936. From beginning of the campaign until election day the magazine poll showed Alfred Landon far ahead of Franklin Roosevelt. On election day 27,751,612 people cast votes for Roosevelt, only 16,881,913 for Landon. These ballots were so distributed that Roosevelt got 523 electoral votes, Landon only 8—five in Maine and three in Vermont. A result of that poll debacle and the Literary Digest was so discredited it folded up and ceased publication.

DISTINCTION—There is vital distinction between these voter polls and general survey of trends in popular sentiment. The trends, based on intangible "atmosphere" as indicated by audience reactions, enthusiastic or indifferent support of the candidates, and similar criteria are far more reliable than pre-election vote counting.

AGGRESSIVE—It is natural for those who want change to be more aggressive and combative than those who favor the status quo. Applied to North Carolina in the current campaign that means the folks who favor Nixon and Gavin are more apt to participate in polls than those who are satisfied with the Democratic regime represented by Sanford and Kennedy. Experienced pollsters understand this and make appropriate allowance for it in their analysis of results. It is important to remember that it requires intelligent analysis to translate the results of sampling polls into projected election totals. The casual reader is disposed to accept the poll figures at face value. The analysts bat them against the trends and the general atmosphere.

For 20 years the "trend" in North Carolina has been toward the national Republican ticket. State Department majorities have dropped from better than 400,000 to about 15,000. Unless that trend can be reversed, the state this year will give its electoral vote to Nixon. There is evidence that the trend has been de-accelerated since Kennedy's visit last month. Opinion differs as to whether it has been reversed. Several local polls still show the Republicans ahead.

the affairs of the city and the utilities have been entrusted. And yet, when these officials choose to afford the public only their decisions rather than the benefit of the deliberations through which the decisions are reached, one wonders whether the officials are beginning to lose confidence in the people.

Problems of the Utilities Commission and the City Council are in a very real sense problems of the people of Greenville as a whole, for in the final analysis both the utilities and the city government belong not to the officials, but to the people.

Debate Matched The Quality Of The First

Did you see the second installment of the "Great Debate"?

For our money it was even more fascinating than the first encounter between Senator John Kennedy and Vice President Richard Nixon.

For one thing, the rivals could inject any and all bones of contention. There were no limitations on the subject. It resulted in a wide-ranging discussion. All was extemporaneous; and it can be said that both men displayed a sharpness and vigor pleasing to behold.

People who are watching the series are getting a good education in current affairs as well as personal philosophies and traits of the debaters.

Before the TV meetings began there were some who freely predicted Nixon's debating skill would show heavily in his favor.

Last night, apparently riding the crest of his initial success, Kennedy was a relentless aggressor... appearing eager and enjoying the verbal combat. There were instances wherein he ignored his opponent's thrusts, and pressed his own attack.

For his part, the Vice President abandoned the "me-too" theme that seemed to pervade their first meeting. While restrained, he chose to stress fields of differences.

This debate matched the quality and perhaps surpassed that of the first which has since become known as "television's finest hour".

This sort of verbal jousting is good for the voters and good for the non-voter because it sheds light and spurs enthusiasm. Not all of our future candidates could be expected to so capably carry it off. And we abhor the thought Americans might be expected to pick a President for debating skill alone.

In this respect, it's as well the candidates come to the fore by reason of their prior public records.

Nothing Shrewd In Performance

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev has been in the United States 20 days and what has he accomplished? Nothing of visible benefit to him. There is a broad feeling he has overplayed his hand. His American performance will compel the experts in foreign affairs to reappraise him because now they must face this question: Is he as shrewd as he is credited with being?

There was nothing shrewd—so far as can be seen—about his conduct before the United Nations in New York. He made speeches, demands, and threats. He belittled the United States and the Western powers, made 600-600 eyes at the new neutral nations, and brazenly sought to paralyze the United Nations.

The result: He got nothing he asked or demanded. Around the world, an Associated Press survey showed, his conduct here was considered boorish, hardly a persuasive spectacle. President Eisenhower, except for one speech right after the U. N. session opened, stayed away from the meeting of the world organization although Khrushchev was trying to dominate it. The President has been criticized for not taking a more vigorous personal part in repudiating Khrushchev and meeting with other world leaders who came to this country for the U. N. meeting.

But Khrushchev has slowed down. At least he has quieted down. Even before Khrushchev got rid of his predecessor as premier, Nikolai Bulganin, to become Stalin's real heir, he was credited with great shrewdness, his final ascent to full power seemed to confirm this belief. But he may have been credited with too much, and in the wrong place.

A Tammany Hall politician who climbs the ladder from precinct captain to a place in his party's high decisions, must have shrewdness but it may be of a kind that's successful in intraparty maneuvering.

It doesn't necessarily follow he would make a good president or be able to use the same tactics or be effective in foreign affairs. True, under Khrushchev Russia has come to great military power. It should not be forgotten, however, that Stalin laid the foundation for Russia's present excellence in missiles. But since Khrushchev became boss Russia's successes outside its own borders have been intangibles, more in the realm of speculation on the psychological effects of Khrushchev's leadership than in facts which can be pointed to.

He has traveled much, met a lot of world statesmen, made a lot of speeches, managed to dilute some of the international fear of Russia which the one-track and very sinister Stalin created.

But there is no evidence Khrushchev has been very persuasive in the world as a whole except to convince everyone that Russia is a giant military force. This much is indisputable.

At the same time he created mistrust of his stability by his intemperate and sometimes childish tirades against Eisenhower over the American U2 spy plane. His U.N. performance raised more doubts about his stability and wisdom.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. SOUGLASS AND PEACE AT THE LAST
Once in a while we quote in this column something which appears to be of such rare and exquisite value that readers would appreciate having it said over again.
One of the most beautiful prayers ever written was a short petition by Cardinal John Henry Newman, who, among other things, wrote also the famous hymn "Lead Kindly Light."
Here is Cardinal Newman's prayer: "O Lord, support us all the day long of this troublous life until the shadows lengthen and the evening comes, and the busy world is hushed, and the fever of life is over, and our work is done. Then in Thy mercy grant us a safe lodging and a holy rest, and peace at the last."
Life is indeed often "troublous," using Newman's quaint and archaic word. If we have no help from above then we are hopeless indeed. The shadows lengthen, then evening comes, the busy world is hushed, the fever of life is over—and the end is at hand because life has not had purpose. But where there has been purpose to life, faith in God, reliance upon the Everlasting Arms to support us, then there is hope for triumph on earth and illumination and increasing knowledge in the world beyond.
Let us never lose hope. God has made us for triumph, not for defeat. And the end of it all is "a safe lodging, and a holy rest, and peace at the last."

Indoor Forest Troubles

NEW YORK (AP)—I don't know about your house, but in our house we are having trouble with our indoor forest. Perhaps where you live now don't try to raise the outdoors indoors. You grow inside and let the tree grow outside.

This is the approach to nature I was brought up to believe was natural.

Well, in the big city they don't always do things that way. My daughter Tracy, 7, is in the second grade, now, and she keeps coming home from school with a tree in her hand. Well, anyway, an embryo tree, a seedling in a can.

"What is this?" I ask. "My homework." "What do you mean your homework?"

"I bring it home and watch it work—I mean grow. Then I bring it to class and show it, then I bring it back home and let it grow some more, then I bring it to class again, and then I —"

Well, she doesn't have to go any further I get the general idea. Instead of having a child go out and look at a forest, they have her plant one in her father's living room.

This is progressive education. It saves the child from walking. She can sit down in her own home and water her wilderness and watch it grow. It doesn't work out that way in our house, however. The first time Tracy brought her own tree home from school I was afraid. I feared that in time, on some future lazy weekend, I would be lifted from my usual armchair lethargy and thrust atop a twining limb of greenery to the astonishment of our neighbors.

Well, thanks to our cat, Lady Dottie, I am in no danger of being tree-borne immediately.

I am not sure whether the tree in the can my daughter brought home hopefully the other day is the third or the fourth effort on the part of her and her teacher to make our house a wilderness.

In any case, Tracy waters it with loving care and croons little love songs to it, and it grows during the sun of the day. But at night Lady Dottie creeps up on little fog feet and eats all its leaves away. It seems cats kept indoors have a pent appetite for green and growing things.

I'm not sure how long this can go on, or whether it is fair for a man to let a cat cause his daughter to flunk nature study in the second grade.

I intercepted the following brooding letter from Tracy to herself: "A tree that loses its leaves in winter is deciduous. My maple tree will have bare branches."

There was also this further unexpected fruit of her horticultural learning. Susie, her little friend down the hall, observed during one of those aimless generalities so pleasing to children: "My daddy is fatter than your daddy."

"Yes, he is," Tracy agreed but added proudly: "My daddy is more deciduous than your daddy."

Meat Production Increases Fast

By ELMER ROESSNER
World meat production is increasing faster than the population. It has increased faster in the last few years; it is increasing at a greater rate so far this year.

Meat production in 1959, was 23 per cent above the 1951-55 average—a much greater gain than the rise in population. In the United States, meat production rose from 151 pounds per person in 1951-55 to 180 last year, and is rising further this year.

And despite the high standard of eating in the U.S., four countries exceed us per capita in meat consumption, according to figures compiled by the Foreign Agricultural Service. U.S. consumption is 160 pounds per person here, year, considering infants and vegetarians, is a lot of chuck. It is considerably more than half a pound a day for each carnivorous adult. But it is topped by Australia and Uruguay, each with 231 pounds per person, New Zealand with 222 pounds, and Argentina with 166. The Argentinian consumption used to exceed that of Australia and New Zealand. The 1951-55 annual averages were: Argentina, 222 pounds; New Zealand, 216 pounds; and Australia, 214 pounds.

POLITICS ROB BELLIES
But excesses of the Peron dictatorship weakened Argentina's economic position and the nation has stepped up meat exports to build up foreign credits, having less meat for home consumption. Meanwhile, the economy of both New Zealand and Australia have been improving, moving meat imports and home consumption power.

The Uruguayan per capita consumption was 272 pounds per person in the 1951-55 period. The drop since then is attributed to various economic changes within the nation. The figures show most Western Nations eat better than Communist countries. Data for Bulgaria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Red China are not complete. But figures show per capita consumption in Poland was 88 pounds and in Russia, 65 pounds, compared with 51 pounds for the 1951-55 average.

The 1959 per capita consumption figures for other countries were: Denmark, 147 pounds; Canada, 138; Paraguay, 134; United Kingdom, 131; France, 124; Germany, 111; Austria, 110; Belgium-Luxembourg, 109; Sweden, 105; Switzerland, 105; Ireland, 98; The Netherlands, 89; Cuba, 87; Norway, 74; Finland, 74; Brazil, 64; Chile, 58; Yugoslavia, 46; Portugal, 44; Mexico, 42; Greece, 40; and Spain, 36. In Asia, the Philippines averaged 100 pounds last year and the Japanese 9 pounds. While the Japanese diet may seem lean by Western standards, the 1959 meat consumption was almost double the 1951-55 average. The Foreign Agricultural Service points out that these figures are on a carcass basis, including beef, veal, pork, mutton, lamb, goat and horsemeat, but excluding variety meats (kid-

Not Yet A Hot Contest

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Khrushchev has captured the front pages of newspapers and is holding the attention of the public on television. Thus, the candidates for President in 1960 are handicapped by this unusual interference. The longer Khrushchev stays here, the more difficult it becomes for the candidates who postpone the election to suit Khrushchev's convenience. The Iron Curtain interferes with their publicity.

What was hoped for in this election was that the 1960 campaign would bring forth a full debate on both domestic and foreign policies. No such debate has taken place since the Hoover-Roosevelt campaign of 1932. Vice President Nixon's proposal that the debate be softened or postponed while the United Nations is in session has little merit. On the other hand, criticism for criticism's sake, without details, without precise data, is utterly useless. What is needed is a full dress discussion of all problems, particularly those relating to foreign affairs, without slogans, clichés, or oratorical language but with an emphasis on facts and with detailed data. Less than that is not worth while.

Khrushchev's antics are not more important for Americans than the campaign for the Presidency. Who really cares that he walked down to the gate of the old Pratt estate, where he spends week-ends, to tease the newspapermen that he has a wonderful story for them, namely, that he is going to dinner? His clowning is not very amusing and would be regarded as unsavory boorishness were he not the head of a state.

But the Presidential election is always a significant event and requires full coverage. When such news is relegated to an inside page to make room for Lumumba and Nkrumah, it seems to me that news values are out of balance. Perhaps it would be better to take Khrushchev out of the news during the month of October or to put him in the sports section of a newspaper so that there is sufficient coverage of the Presidential campaign on the front pages where such news belongs.

The candidates seem to be warming up, but they are slow about it. Maybe they are withholding their best material for such a time when they are not competing with the General Assembly of the United Nations. The campaign is still dull, however. In fact, it is not yet a campaign at all! It is, on both sides, an effort to assert powers of leadership without displaying leadership. The tactics are not smart to understand.

As the campaign proceeds, John Kennedy insists that his goals are different from those of Richard Nixon, but neither candidate has made clear what his goals are. Let us ask some questions:

1. How can the United States improve its techniques for winning the Cold War which at this moment means winning over the African and Asian nations and improving our relations with Latin American countries?
2. How are we to deal with Cuba which has confiscated American-owned property? The property belongs to thousands of American individuals, families and institutions.
3. How can we maintain the universal position of the American dollar and strengthen our gold reserves?
4. The standard of living of the American people depends upon the value of the American dollar. How do we strengthen the American dollar?
5. Because of the high cost of labor in the United States, American goods have become outpriced in world markets, even in American markets. How do we improve our distributive position without lowering wages?
6. The Hoover Commission had indicated that the United States Government costs between $7,000,000,000 and $11,000,000,000 too much. In a word, this represents waste. What is to be done about that?
7. Every economic system provides some form of incentive. The incentive in the capitalist system comes from the individual being able to save part of his earnings, thus establishing a competence and an estate. (Continued on page six)

Eppe High remained unbeaten and unscored on last night, striking for touchdowns in the first and third periods to bury visiting Kinston 16-0.

The victory marked the first time in 10 years Eppe has scored a triumph over its arch rivals from Lenoir County.

The Bulldogs lost little time in taking the lead, scoring on the first series of plays.

Freddy Watson returned the Kinston kickoff to the visitors 35 yard line. Willie Adams skirted his end for 22 yards and Marvin Anderson bulled straight ahead for 13 yards and the touchdown. Watson hit end Calvin Gatlin with a press for the two-point conversion.

Several fumbles in the second and third period prevented the Bulldogs from hitting paydirt more often but they finally mustered enough steam to score again in the third period.

After Kinston penetrated into Eppe territory for the first and only time in the third period, a fumble gave Eppe possession on its own 40.

Watson took to the air, hitting Larry Hardy with a 40 yard toss on the Kinston 20. Alton Harris grabbed a Watson pass for 10 more on the 10. The never-herd Watson kept on a quarterback sneak for the final 10 yards.

Kinston filled the air with passes in the final period but could complete only two in 14 attempts. Hardy intercepted a pass late in the game and Eppe was on the Kinston 20 when the final whistle blew.

Coach Percy Daniels complimented his club on the victory and starting pointing toward Elizabeth City, Friday night's opponent.

Coach Fraeger Sanders of Eppe was high on the play of Dalton Davis, who was injured last week. Davis, according to Sanders, played one of the best games of his career. "It was the best defensive line play we have had this season," Sanders noted.

Farmville Scores Late For 20-13 Win Over Rams

By LEONARD LAO
Reflector Sports Writer

When the Farmville football team took the field last night against Robersonville, it appeared that the Red Devils had left most of their squad at home. Only 18 players were in uniform for the visitors, and watchers thought it was going to be an easy victory for the Robersonville club. But after 60 minutes of rockum-sockum football, there were a few raised eyebrows.

Though it may sound queer, the Red Devils were at full strength for the first time this season regardless of the number of players they fielded. Last week Farmville was dropped by Coastal Conference leader Ayden by a 21-6 margin, but the Red Devils were without the services of three of their starters. They looked like an entirely different team in their 20-13 comeback victory over Robersonville last night in the Rams' homecoming game.

No one was surprised when the home team drew first blood by capping the first touchdown in the initial period. The Rams drove 32 yards for the score with tailback Tommy Ward paving the way. The senior back carried the ball to the Farmville 6 inch line and was hurt on the play. Ward was forced to sit out the entire second quarter, who should her escorts be but Tommy Ward and Ronnie Stevens, the two bread-and-butter men on the Ram squad.

Whatever came over the Red Devils in the second half nobody knows, but it was undoubtedly bad for the Rams. The visitors took Stevenson's kick on their own 15 and returned it to the 35. With less than six minutes gone in the third quarter, the Red Devils had marched 65 yards for their second score of the evening. Jimmy Pollard led the drive and Dilda pushed over from the 1 yard line. Dilda passed to Rex Hodges to give the Red Devils a 14-13 lead.

Refusing to give an inch to the bigger Rams, the visitors held Robersonville and forced them to punt from their own 18 yard line. Dilda received the kick on his own 30 and returned it 17 yards to the 47. The Red Devils drove from that point and did not stop until they were in the Robersonville end zone. Again it was Pollard who led the drive setting up yardage through the middle and around the ends. Dean Olesby passed to Monk for the score. Another pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Robersonville fought back desperately, but the clock ran out. Ward made a last minute ditch bringing the ball to the Farmville 11 yard line as the officials blew their whistles sounding the end of the game.

Kenneth Driver and Glenn Sasser, a couple of linemen that were every bit of tigers, smashed through the Greenville line, blocking an Alan McArthur kick on the Phants' four.

The ball bounced out of the end one and Tarboro was awarded a safety—the first two points of the game.

The blocked kick was only the beginning of what was to be a bad night for the Phants and some 2,000 rooters in College Stadium.

On the opening play of the second half, quarterback Billy Bailey circled left end and sprinted 61 yards for a touchdown. Al Hull bucked over for the extra point and Tarboro led 9-0.

Greenville tried to move its attack to the air but an Erskine Duff pass was intercepted to set the Tigers in motion again.

They drove to the Robersonville eleven before giving out of steam. The Phants were unable to move and kicked to the Tarboro 44.

Bailey and Hull drove for a first down and Billy Fraulee threw a 42 yard touchdown toss to Freddy Williams for the second Tarboro touchdown. The extra point attempt failed but Tarboro led 15-0 with time running out.

Attempting to loosen the Tarboro defense, the Phants unveiled a pro-type spread formation late in the third period, giving local fans something to shout about.

The Phants climaxed their lone scoring drive early in the fourth quarter when Wayne Surrrell blasted over from the four. Larry Roberts booted the point.

Key plays in the drive were an 18 yard run by McArthur, a 17 yard run by Duff, and a 12 yard pass from McArthur to Duff.

Greenville partially blocked a Tarboro kick midway the fourth period but were unable to capitalize with another scoring thrust.

Tarboro's ground attack marched through the Greenville line for 255 yards and struck for 87 more through the air.

The Phants picked up only 29 yards in the first half with John Adams getting 16 of these. A 11 yard run by Adams late in the half gave Greenville its only first down.

Adams finished the night with 25 yards in six carries. McArthur had 55 in six carries, Duff 44 yards in eight tries, and Surrrell seven yards in five carries.

FIGHTS FOR YARDAGE—Erskine Duff, Rose High quarterback, finds running room against Tarboro. The run helped very little as Greenville bowed last night, 15-7. It was the first loss of the season.

Yanks Strong Favorites To Capture World Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees ruled a strong 9 to 5 favorite today to capture the World Series. So they and the Pittsburgh Pirates are tied 1-1 but the Pirates have several players suffering injuries.

With fair weather predicted, a crowd of some 70,000 was assured for this third game which featured a southpaw battle between Whitey Ford, 32-year-old Yankee veteran, and Vinegar Bend Mizell, 30-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate pickup from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ford brings only a fair 12.9 season record, his poorest mark in years, into the game but not to be discounted is his World Series experience which comprises 12 starts, including five victories and four defeats. In contrast, Mizell, who won 13 of his 18 games after the Pirates got him in a trade with St. Louis, had never seen the inside of Yankee Stadium until Friday's workout.

The Pirates figure to miss Skinner's bat dearly although he didn't figure to play today because of the left-handed opposition. But Bog most certainly would have played Sunday and Monday, in the fourth and fifth games, were he healthy.

"It would be a miracle if I get to play here," he said sadly as he watched his teammates take batting practice. "I can't hold a bat. The pain shoots through my hand when I try to use pressure. I hope to get in there before this is over but I have no idea when I'll be ready."

Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, came up with his third lineup in three games. He said he would start Bob Cerv in left field and bat him second, behind leadoff man Gil McDougald. Tony Kubek, who rapped three hits in each of the first two games, was to bat seventh.

Elston Howard was slated to catch his second straight game and for the second time in the 10 World Series that Stengel has managed the club. Yogi Berra was scheduled to be on the bench. Thursday's one-sided contest notwithstanding, Stengel lost none of his respect for the Pirates.

"They're pretty good hitters and they've still got that fine pitching and they don't scare easily," he said. "And from all the reports we have they bounce back pretty good. It's still anybody's series."

Danny Murtaugh, the quiet-spoken Pittsburgh manager, was far from down-hearted. "This isn't a club that will drop dead over one defeat," he said. "We don't choke up. All season long what we did or didn't do didn't affect us the next day."

Skinner jammed his left thumb while sliding into third in the opening game last Wednesday and was not in uniform the next day.

Gino Cimoli, who subbed for him Thursday, is the left fielder against and he may be in there every game hereafter. The right-handed hitting Cimoli, while a better defensive outfielder, does not rate with Skinner at the plate. Skinner hit 15 homers this past season to none for Gino.

With Ford pitching, Dick Stuart replaced Rocky Nelson at first and Hal Smith went behind the plate in place of Smoky Burgess. The rest of the Pirate lineup was the same, including Dick Groat although the shortstop still complained of some pain, especially when fielding a ball to his left.

Third baseman Don Hoak, who is playing despite a groin injury, reported he was feeling much better.

William Edwards ran over for the extra point.

Both of the scores came in the first half. Rudolph Cannon set up Ayden kept up its winning ways by downing Williamston last night by a 14-0 score in a non-conference game for the Tornados.

Once again it was Dennis Mills who sparked the Ayden attack, producing both of the touchdowns. The hard running fullback carried over from the 10 yard line to cap the first Tornado drive to paydirt. William Edwards ran over for the extra point.

Score by quarters: Ayden 7 7 0 0-14 Williamston 0 0 0 0-0

Colts, Giants Favored Sunday

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Colts and New York Giants, off faster than when they won second straight conference titles last year, are favored to score their third victories Sunday and remain unbeaten in the National Football League.

The Cleveland Browns, also 2-0 and the only other undefeated pro team, are idle, giving the Giants a chance to take a clear-cut lead in the NFL's eastern section with a victory over the Steelers (1-1) at Pittsburgh. The Giants are favored by a point, Baltimore, already a game ahead of the field in the western sector, is favored by five points over the Packers (1-1) at Green Bay.

The Giants have won six straight regular season games dating back to '59. The Colts have an eight-game streak, including the NFL championship game triumph over the Giants. Both were 1-1 at this stage last year.

In the American Football League, where all eight teams have been beaten at least once, the feature game is at Houston Sunday where the Oilers (2-1) are 4-point underdogs to the New York Titans. The New York team leads the eastern section with a 3-1 record, while Houston is second with 2-1.

Tonight the Boston Patriots (1-2), third in the East, are at the Los Angeles Chargers (2-2), tied for second in the West with the Dallas Texans (2-2). The Chargers are six-point favorites.

JIMMY BROWN . . . Robersonville back, picks up yardage around his left end in last night's contest with Farmville. The Ram runner was stopped for a short gain on this play, but he scored earlier in the game for Robersonville's first TD of the night.

RAM LEADER—Tommy Ward reels off a sizable gain against Farmville last night. The big tailback was the leading ground gainer for the Rams in a 20-13 loss to the Red Devils in their Coastal Conference battle. Ward played most of the game with an injured ankle, but still turned in a commendable performance.

Southern Cal Turns Back Georgia, 10-3

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — The harassed Trojans of Southern California found a ray of sunshine today. They've snapped a back to the final two games of 1959, and they've come up with five-game losing stretching back to the final two games of 1959, and they've come up with a brilliant quarterback. Georgia Tech in a Southeastern Conference game and in intersectional action, it is Notre Dame at North Carolina, Rice at Florida, Duke at Michigan and Oregon State at Indiana.

Lenoir Rhyne Meets Apps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lenoir Rhyne, one of the nation's small college football powers, puts its ratings and its North State Conference title hopes on the line tonight in a game with defense-minded Appalachian.

Both teams are unbeaten in three games, and Appalachian has been especially tough on defense. The Mountaineers have allowed their opponents an average of only 63.6 yards on the ground, and 90 by passing.

The Bears have given up an average of 94 yards on the ground and 102.3 yards in the air.

That's the feature game of a North State Conference schedule that also has Western Carolina at Catawba for a day game, East Carolina meeting Elon at Burlington tonight, and Guilford entertaining Emory and Henry in a day game.

Lenoir Rhyne, rated No. 1 in the NAIA and No. 2 among the nation's small colleges by The Associated Press, hasn't lost a conference game since 1957. The Bears have lost only one North State game in five seasons.

Casey Can't See Any Advantage

By ED WILKS
NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel doesn't think his New York Yankees will have any particular advantage over the Pittsburgh Pirates just because the next three games of the World Series are scheduled for Yankee Stadium.

After splitting the first two games at Pittsburgh, "the big thing is going to be pitching," said Casey, "because they've got good hitters."

"But to tell you the truth I thought I was going to do better against them."

On the heels of the Yankees' 16-3 romp in the second game, that sounds like Stengel's out for blood as well as a record eighth world championship. Maybe so, but Casey was talking about defense, not offense, against the Pirates.

"Now I got me a man in right (Roger Maris) and there isn't a better right fielder in the American League. I mean defensively," said Casey.

Castro Forces Chasing Enemies On Three Fronts

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro's forces were chasing enemies on three fronts today — one of them right in Havana.

Fifteen men convicted of conspiring against the regime made a spectacular escape at dawn Friday from ancient Morro Castle Prison which guards Havana Bay.

Announcing the prison break that night, the Armed Forces Ministry said five navy men charged with guarding the prisoners aided the fugitives. Presumably the five also escaped.

The ministry gave no details of the break, but said it was linked with the landing of a band of armed invaders, three of them Americans, in Oriente Province earlier this week.

The government said Thursday that soldiers and militiamen were pursuing the remaining invaders who escaped into the hills of the eastern province. One of the original band of 27 was reported killed and two captured.

Crusade Carried To Youth Gang Chiefs

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham planned to carry his Spanish-American Crusade for Christ directly to the leaders of 49 youth gangs today.

Graham said he would meet with the youngsters in the hope that some will "dedicate themselves to Christ." Many of the young gang leaders are Puerto Ricans.

Graham opened his crusade before 12,000 persons in Madison Square Garden Friday night by striking at "the philosophy of despair in Europe" which he said led movie actress Brigitte Bardot to attempt suicide.

"She had beauty, money, everything," he said. "Why did she do it? It was because of that philosophy which tells you the only hope is to die."

Graham, whose stern words were translated simultaneously to Spanish, also called on Soviet Premier Khrushchev to take a good look while he's here.

"This is the capital of capitals," the crusader said. "With 60 different nationalities represented, it is a United Nation under one roof."

Graham said the gathering of heads of state here for the U.N. General Assembly reminded him of the Bible prophecy that "Toward the end of time, there will be a gathering of kings of the earth."

"They're asking 'What's wrong with the earth,'" he said, "and

Expecting Offer Of Two Bridges

WILMINGTON (AP) — The State Highway Commission is expected to propose two new bridges across the Cape Fear River here, one in the northern section of the city and one in the southern section.

The commission will conduct a public hearing here Friday to argue on location of a new bridge. Commission Chairman J. Melville Broughton Jr. said the commission will make its decision public as soon as possible.

It was learned, however, that the commission will propose two low level spans that would cost a total of about $10 million.

Controversy arose over whether the proposed new bridge should be a $19 million, high level bridge in the northern section, or a $10 million, low level bridge in the southern section.

City Council had endorsed the high level bridge, saying it would eliminate oil tank trucks from the downtown area, Wilmington is the terminal where tank trucks from throughout the Carolinas pick up gasoline and oil.

The council said a low level bridge would not eliminate the oil truck traffic downtown.

A commission member said two low level bridges would eliminate the problem. The new bridge, or bridges, would replace a 30-year-old drawbridge in the northern section of the city.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The 75-year-old father of fugitive Joe Hilderbrand limped through the Ozark National Forest Friday, trying to find his outlaw son and talk him into surrendering.

Lytle Hilderbrand, who was partially paralyzed by a stroke a year ago, returned to his mountain cabin once Friday and said he had found no trace of Joe and his 18-year-old sweetheart.

"I just don't want to see my boy killed," the elder Hilderbrand told a newsmen before entering the dense northwest Arkansas forest, where his son has hidden since November 1959.

Joe, 24, has been roaming the Ozarks since he failed to return to Tucker Prison Farm after a furlough.

On Sept. 5, blonde Frances Standridge, whose home is about a half mile from the Hilderbrand place in Bull Frog Valley, entered the forest with the fugitive. Frances is the niece of Joe Hilderbrand's 40-year-old wife. The pair is heavily armed.

Together they have eluded a full-scale manhunt, appearing like ghosts in every part of the vast forest, stealing cars and breaking into houses and stores.

The damage suit was brought against the federal government following an accident in nearby Cayce in 1957 in which an Army vehicle driven by a military policeman crashed into a car containing Mrs. Eileen Sox, who was pregnant.

The government admitted it was at fault in the accident but denied that any prenatal injuries were sustained by the child subsequently born to Mrs. Sox.

In the order filed today, Judge Wyche said:

"From a consideration of the evidence I am convinced that this child was injured in the collision and as a result has been severely impaired. I am also convinced that the impairment is permanent. I am further convinced that she is and will throughout her lifetime continue to be entirely helpless and completely dependent upon others.

The order notes that the child's parents are unable to finance adequate care for their daughter. Their suit had sought damages of $550,000.

Judge Wyche heard the trial without a jury as is required in suits against the federal government. The child was displayed in court and there was much testimony from physicians as to whether or not they felt the little girl's brain was damaged as a result of the accident.

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Short skirts have resulted in the suspension of 96 high school pupils—girls who wore the skirts and boys who joined in a sit-down strike.

Principal William N. Craley told pupils of the Central Union High School Wednesday he felt certain of the skirts — sometimes called "kitties" — were indecent.

They had hemlines above the knee. Some were several inches above.

The 96 pupils refused to leave the school cafeteria Friday, awaiting a "reasonable explanation."

Richard E. Walters, assistant principal, immediately suspended the strikers.

Craley said none would be reinstated until each student, accompanied by a parent, comes to the school to talk things over.

Pitt Pupils Given 3,300 Tickets To State Fair

A total of 3,300 free admission tickets to next week's North Carolina State Fair have been mailed to Pitt County school administration officials and teachers.

A part of 400,000 School Day tickets designated for the state's school children, the Pitt share has been received by Supt. D. H. Conley for distribution among the schools of the Pitt system.

According to Dr. J. S. Dorton, manager of the fair, the student tickets are good for free admission on either Tuesday (Oct. 11) or Friday (Oct. 14) and are available to all students of all secondary schools of the state upon request of the administrator of each school or school system.

Many special events are being planned for students on each of the school days. A program of competitive events is being developed and top entertainment features will be available to them at special student rates during both days.

Dr. Dorton pointed out the paving and drainage improvements at the fairgrounds, which cost some $73,000, will be completed prior to the fair's opening. "The extreme muddy conditions caused by heavy rain last year cannot exist this year," he said.

He continued, "I would like to thank the school children for their excellent support last year, despite the muddy condition of our grounds. All walkways are now being surfaced with asphalt paving and all roadways in the parking lots have been graded and surfaced with crushed stone. Conditions should be greatly improved for the 1960 fair no matter what kind of weather we have."

MISSOURI, Ky. (AP) — A local architect is doing all he can to design a new life for a partially blind dog who has "the guts to live his own life."

W. S. Aarrasmith went to bat for the hound who was picked up by the city authorities. Neighbors said the dog had been wandering through the neighborhood for about a year, "living in the best way he could."

Aarrasmith talked the Animal Rescue League into holding the hound until a home is found. "A fine dog like that deserves a better fate than being put to death," Aarrasmith said.

MISSOURI, Ky. (AP) — A missing fishing trawler and its crew were found unharmed early today by a Coast Guard cutter.

The Coast Guard at Southport reported it found the trawler Arrow at 8:08 a.m., 11 miles off the coast of its home port of Wrightsville Beach.

The trawler's engine was disabled by the crew. Capt. Fred Lee of Wilmington and an unidentified seaman, were reported unharmed.

The 33-foot cutter, which searched the entire night for the trawler, took it in tow and headed for Southport.

The trawler, owned by P.C. Costlan, left port Thursday for an overnight bottom fishing for shrimp 8 to 20 miles offshore. The search was started when the trawler failed to return Friday. The trawler had radio receiving gear but no transmitter.

ROSE HIGH CHEERLEADERS . . . are shown leading the crowd in cheers at the Greenville-Washington game in Washington September 30, when Greenville defeated the Pam Pack for the first time since 1941.

EAST CAROLINA COLLEGE CHEERLEADERS . . . are shown at one of their two weekly practice sessions at work on a new cheer for the East Carolina-Elon game tonight in Burlington.

They Vie With Team For Attention

(Text and Photos by Stuart Savage)

CHEERLEADERS . . . at Rose High planning a new cheer at one of their two weekly practices. The girls meet everyday starting two weeks before homecoming.

During football season at least two groups of people vie for recognition along with "our team". They are the cheer leaders and majorettes who, by their yelling and strutting, attempt to encourage school spirit and spur "their team" on to victory.

Pictured on this page are the cheerleaders and majorettes of Rose High School and East Carolina College, "in action" and practicing for their routines.

Each year, the groups have tryouts where young aspiring candidates are "put through the mill" by judges, with only the best being selected to fill vacancies in the ranks of the organizations.

Cheering for Rose High School are 13 Greenville misses including Head Cheerleader Melinda Coleman, Phyllis Moore, Janice Bentley, Brenda Bowden, Jeri Sue Clark, Lina Christopher, Ann Hunt, Ginger Melton, Jayne Willis, Gigi Guice, Myrtie Moon Bilbro, Sara Collier Webb and Ross Clark.

ECC Cheerers include Phyllis Langston, Head, of Raleigh; Lillian Moye, assistant head, and Judy Jolly of Greenville; Mary Elizabeth Gardner and Elizabeth Cotten of New Bern; Kay Hood, Goldsboro; Joyce Currin, Graham; Carole Rankin, Washington, D. C.; Joann Ballance, Manteo; Margaret Smith Lao, Garner; and alternates Alice Lee Edwards of Greenville and Linda Vick of Kinston.

Rose High majorettes include Mary Goodwin, head; Judy Tucker; Alice Mae Cannon; Ann Hardee Joyner; Ann Beseau; and Sally Willis.

ECC majorettes are: Lib Rogers of Greenville, head; Jolinda Brewer, Greenville; Judy Bledso and Barbara Pleasants of Raleigh; Gayle Walser, Lexington; and Laverne Blackler of Durham.

MAJORETTES . . . at ECC practice their routine with the "Marching Pirates". The girls practice their twirling, strutting and half-time shows every day.

ROSE HIGH MAJORETTES . . . who usually practice five days a week are shown as they practice their routine with the High School Band in preparation for their next half-time show.

EAST CAROLINA COLLEGE MAJORETTES . . . perform with the College Band at half-time of the ECC-Guilford game here two weeks ago.

Early Survey Showed Few Voters Swayed By Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spot check across the country indicates Friday night's television debate swayed only a few voters toward one presidential candidate or the other.

The check of 100 persons was made by Associated Press bureaus in 10 cities from Portland, Ore., to Portland, Maine.

The AP found that in the vast majority of cases, supporters of John F. Kennedy remained Ken-

Urged Employ Handicapped

Local employers have been urged during this week to aid a nationwide movement to employ the physically handicapped.
 Special emphasis was placed during the week on helping handicapped persons to become self-supporting individuals. Local civic clubs worked in conjunction with the area National Employ the Physically Handicapped committee during the observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

Local employers were urged to survey their businesses to determine where physically handicapped persons could be employed. They were asked to list all jobs openings and file the list with the local employment office.

Emphasis was placed on the employers' judging each handicapped worker "by his ability, not his disability." The week-long observance stressed: "Match jobs with abilities." and "Hire a physically handicapped worker for a job he can do."

The week's program included a television panel discussing Monday and spot TV announcements each day during the week. NEPH posters were displayed and special stamps were issued.

Greenville Mayor S. Eugene West signed a proclamation calling our fellow citizens who inherited the cost of war in terms of physical disability.

The special observance week was created 15 years ago by the U. S. Congress when that body set aside the first week of each October for "appropriate recognition ceremonies."

edy men, supporters of Richard M. Nixon remained Nixon men, and the uncommitted voters remained on the fence.

Only 20 of the hundred reported they had been influenced in any way by the debate, and none of those changed from one candidate to the other.

By contrast, after the candidates' first joint appearance Sept. 26, a similar poll in other cities showed 35 of 100 persons saying they had been influenced, including two who reported they were switching from Nixon to Kennedy.

Of the score influenced by Friday night's debate, more leaned toward Kennedy than toward Nixon.

But the influence involved a change of intensity, not of allegiance. Those influenced by Kennedy had leaned toward him in the first place. The debate, however, strengthened their resolve.

The same situation held true for those influenced by Nixon. Nixon supporters before the debate, they became stronger Nixon supporters after it.

AP staffers made the check by telephone. In each area, they kept phoning at random until they reached 10 qualified voters who had seen the whole program. It took 232 calls to find 100 persons who met those qualifications.

The bureaus making the survey were Atlanta, Louisville, Philadelphia, Columbus, Ohio; Omaha, Phoenix, San Francisco, Portland, Ore.; Portland, Maine; and Richmond, Va.

Those interviewed came from small towns as well as the cities in which the AP bureaus are located.

Of the hundred, 80 said they were not influenced in any way by the debate. Twelve said the debate influenced or reinforced a leaning toward Kennedy and six said the debate influenced or reinforced a leaning toward Nixon.

Twenty-one persons in Friday night's check came from small towns. The debate did not influence 20 of them at all. The other person said the debate influenced him toward Kennedy.

Nixon Campaign Will Be Tougher

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pledged to a "give 'em hell" battle and pleased with the second round of the televised presidential debate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon carries his campaign back to the Midwest today.

Nixon said after Friday night's encounter with John F. Kennedy that it provided "more clash" and moved a little faster than the first one from Chicago on Sept. 26. He called it a "good sharp debate—not dull."

"We'll know on Nov. 8 how it came out, but I thought it was a good exchange," Nixon added. After Friday night's meeting, the Republican presidential candidate told several hundred staff workers at a pep rally: "It's not going to be like 1948. We're going to really give 'em hell from now on."

His give 'em hell reference was to the style of Harry S. Truman's campaign 12 years ago which produced a surprise victory over Thomas E. Dewey.

Nixon said that on the advice of Dewey he would conduct a tough, fighting campaign from here on. But he said it was more important to provide "mature, idealistic leadership" than simply to call your opponent names.

Nixon's first scheduled speech today was at LaCrosse, Wis. He was to campaign later in the day at Rochester, Minn., and Milwaukee. Tonight he will fly to Billings, Mont., and remain there until Monday morning.

Next week, Nixon's fourth of active campaigning after being hospitalized for a knee injury, takes him to the West Coast and back. It starts with Monday rallies at Billings, Denver and Salt Lake City.

After a Tuesday noon rally at Albuquerque, N. M., he will head for his home state of California to campaign through most of the remainder of the week. He will speak at San Diego Tuesday night before moving on to the Los Angeles area for appearances on television and at picnics and rallies.

Thursday he will rest in preparation for the third debate with Kennedy. Nixon will speak from Los Angeles, Kennedy from New

First Church of Christ, Scientist

How sickness as well as sin can be overcome through spiritual understanding of God will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Teachings of Christ Jesus are featured in the Bible selections which include His admonition concerning the "corrupt tree (which) bringeth forth evil fruit" (Matt. 7:17). The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

This correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will follow (343:14): "Jesus strips all disguise from error, when his teachings are fully understood. By parable and argument he explains the impossibility of good producing evil; and he also scientifically demonstrates this great fact, proving by what are wrongly called miracles, that sin, sickness, and death are beliefs—illusory errors—which he could and did destroy."

Woman Shoots 400-Pound Bear

ESPAÑOLA, Ont. (AP)—"It kept circling the house and each time would get closer, even after the dog had bitten it."

Mrs. Jean Morley told how she shot a 400-pound black bear outside her cabin at Clear Lake near here.

She heard her dog barking and opened the door to find a bear within 10 feet.
 "I immediately grabbed a .308 Winchester and fired two shots," she said.

The animal crawled off into the woods and was found later with two bullets in the neck.

NEW ROCKET ENGINE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The X15 rocket ship, fastest and highest-flying manned aircraft, will test next week a new engine that goes 4,000 miles an hour. The flight will be at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., with the date to be set after ground tests. Scott Crossfield will be at the controls.

Trouble For The UN If Nikita Means Threat

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
 Associated Press News Analyst
 UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—If Premier Khrushchev means what he says and is prepared for the risks involved in carrying out his threats, the days of the United Nations as an effective instrument of world peace are numbered.

Khrushchev seems to be seeking nothing less than a powerless palace of words—a sort of latter-day League of Nations and a true descendant of the organization which did itself to death a quarter century ago with an overdose of verbiage.

The U.N. has been an effective and hopeful organization, which has dramatically upheld peace on many an occasion. But if Khrushchev goes through with all he threatens, the U.N. will die a lingering death.

Chicago Firms Considering NC

CHICAGO (AP) — At least 22 Chicago industrial and business firms are actively considering shifts or expansions in North Carolina.

The figure was released Thursday by a group of about 80 Tar Heel industry-hunters, led by Gov. Luther H. Hodges, who spent two days here in a good will mission.

They said 61 firms indicated some interest in possible future expansion to North Carolina.

"Chicago gave us a warm welcome and we are pleased with the immediate results of the trip," said Hodges. It was his sixth such mission and his second to Chicago.

Hodges, commenting that many national firms housed in Chicago were looking to the Southeast for new opportunities, said more than 20 industries from this area have located branches in North Carolina during the past five years.

The 22 active prospects include companies in electrical and electronic components, oil distribution, asbestos and rubber, toys, automotive parts, electrical appliances, pipe fittings, cement, contact insulation material, metal fabricating, meat packing and sporting goods.

Sending Another
Gift To Nikita

LULING, Tex. (AP)—A housewife who gained nationwide attention by sending an apple pie to Nikita Khrushchev, is sending another package to the Soviet premier.
This time the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the New York Police Department have been alerted.
Virginia McCleary said the new package contains what she regards as symbolic items "picked up in Communist dens all over the country."
She listed the contents: A pair of handkerchiefs; a pair of wool mittens that she said the Communist had used "to try to pull the wool over the eyes of the American people; a metal bit which she said Khrushchev could put between his teeth when he was in a teeth-clenching mood; and a small piece of cloth she called "the Red iron Curtain."

Regards Session
As A 'Scandal'

LA TOUR DU PIN, France
(AP)—President Charles de Gaulle said Thursday night that the U.N. General Assembly session in New York is becoming a "sort of permanent scandal."
The French President recalled in a speech that he was one of those who helped found the United Nations and said:
"But we did not do so to allow the organization to degenerate into a sort of permanent scandal, with emotional speeches, absurd bargaining and warlike dangers. France does not lend herself to that, and will not lend herself."
