Parade Float Carries Solemn Prospects

IN HOMECOMING PARADE . . . Delta Sigma Phi float sounds death knell

Homecoming At ECC Gets Into Full Swing Today

East Carolina College's Homecoming Day for Alumni got into full swing this morning when the annual parade staged for the occasion moved from the campus through downtown Greenville.

Eleanor Mary Speckman of Camp Lejeune, East Carolina sophomore, was Homecoming Queen. As sponsor of the Sigma Epsilon fraternity, she was chosen last week in a student election from a group of approximately fifty sponsors of student organizations to preside over major events of the 1960 celebration in honor of alumni.

A sophomore at East Carolina, Miss Speckman is specializing in primary education. She is exchange editor of the "East Carolinian" campus newspaper and a member of the East Carolina Playhouse, dramatics club and of the college glee club. She is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. P. J. Speckman of Camp Lejeune.

This morning's parade was the most colorful and spectacular Homecoming event yet to be staged at the college. Ninety-one units were included in the line-up. Twenty-three floats entered by student organizations attracted chief attention.

Forty-nine of East Carolina's most attractive young women, sponsors of campus organizations, rode in decorated convertibles, with placards indicating the groups which they represented. Dorothy McEwen of Wilmington, 1959 Homecoming Queen; Jayne Chandler of Suffolk, Va., chair-

The Winning Float In Rose High's Homecoming Parade

THE WINNING FLOAT in Rose High's Homecoming Parade yesterday was entered by the Future Teachers of America Club. It featured a replica of a football field, with the "Phillips 11" shield behind the Phantom goalpost. The Jackets were stopped on the seven-yard line. The slogan read, "Phillips 11 will keep the Jackets behind the 7." (Reflector Photo by Stuart Savage)

Patrolman Killed In Accident

Tractor-Trailer Literally Ran Over SHP Car In Early Hours

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)—A tractor-trailer truck overtook and literally ran over a State Highway Patrol car about 1 a.m. today, killing the patrolman and stripping the car down to its frame.

The patrol car had been pushing another highway patrol car to start it. The second patrol car was barely damaged and its occupant only slightly injured.

Killed in the accident on four-lane U.S. 64-70-321 was trooper David B. Searcy, 37, a native of Rutherford County, married and the father of two children.

Kenneth Jackson Pike, 36, of High Point, a driver for Roadway Express of Winston-Salem, was charged with manslaughter.

Patrolman Harry Hooper said the battery of his silver patrol car went down about 11 p.m. and he joined Searcy in an unmarked black patrol car for a speed watch, picked up the equipment and drove to Hooper's parked car.

"I put my front bumper against my rear bumper," Hooper reported. "He pushed me east on Highway 70. I had my red light down, working and my headlights on. Dave's front lights were on."

Two Roadway Express tractor-trailers approached from the rear. The front truck, driven by Bobby Lee Hicks of Winston-Salem, pulled to the inside lane and passed the patrol cars. The second, driven by Pike, kept coming "without swerving or decreasing its speed," Hooper said.

Patrolman Hooper continued: "When this tractor-trailer was within about 20 feet of Dave's car it was apparent there was going to be a collision. I lay down on the front seat for the back of the seat to absorb the impact. I felt my car driven forward at a terrific force. I felt it swerving back and forth across the road."

The crash drove Hooper's car forward like a cannon ball. "I got my bearings," Hooper said, "grabbed the steering wheel, brought my car under control and guided it to the right shoulder of the road."

The truck drove Searcy's car forward 132 feet and ran across it. The truck, laden with 3,200 pounds of miscellaneous cargo, turned over on its side across the highway. The skeleton of Searcy's patrol car was behind it.

Highway Patrol Sgt. B. L. Walker of Statesville, Searcy and Hooper's troop commander, quipped Pike as saying he was about 200-300 feet behind Hicks' truck, saw the red light flashing on Hooper's car, but never saw Searcy's vehicle.

However, James William Treadway of Rt. 1, Marshall, a driver for Overnite Transportation Co., came back to Hickory from Charlotte to volunteer the information that he had passed the patrol cars only moments before the two Roadway Express trucks came by. Treadway said he saw the red light blinking on Hooper's car and that the taillights and left rear signal of Searcy's car were on.

Treadway said that in his rear view mirror he saw one of the Roadway Express trucks swerve but thought "surely they hadn't hit the car" so he went on to Charlotte. At Overnite's terminal in Charlotte, Treadway said he learned that a patrolman had been killed so he drove back to Hickory to report.

There were only a few dents in Hooper's car and he complained of pain in his back, but was not hospitalized.

Two Americans Said Captured By Castro Army

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro's army today announced the capture of two more Americans it said were members of a 27-man invasion force that landed in northeastern Cuba last week.

Army headquarters in Orriente province announced that civilian militiamen Friday arrested Paul Hughes and Allan D. Thompson along with two Cuban companions.

The announcement said they were in the invasion force that included Anthony Zarba. Somer were executed Thursday after military tribunals convicted them of charges of plotting to overthrow the Castro regime.

Government controlled newspaper El Mundo said the latest capture leaves only one member of the invaders still free. One was killed and 21 rounded up earlier, the paper reported.

El Mundo said an army officer, Capt. Jose Cauce, announced the arrest of Thompson and Hughes Friday in a speech in Santiago.

The newspaper said the captives were scheduled to go to trial by a military tribunal in Santiago later today, presumably on the same plotting charge that was brought against Zarba and the seven Cubans arrested with him.

The eight were shot to death at an army rifle range near Santiago. Zarba, 27, was the first American executed in Cuba since Castro took power 21 months ago. Five other men, convicted of waging guerrilla warfare against the Castro government, were executed this week at Santa Clara.

White House Enters Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House moved into the Nixon-Kennedy debate over Quemoy and Matsu today by restating President Eisenhower's view that it might be necessary to protect the islands as part of the defense of Formosa.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy, the rival presidential nominees, are in sharp disagreement on the issue.

In their televised debates Kennedy has stated that the defense of the two small islands off the coast of Red China should not be guaranteed by the United States. Nixon has insisted that they must be protected under the treaty protecting Formosa and the Pescadores.

Last night Nixon brought his position nearer that of administration policy. Administration policy is that if an attack on Matsu and Quemoy is recognized as the beginning of an assault on Formosa and the Pescadores, they will be defended.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, said today "the position of the President and the vice president on this matter is exactly as stated" in a letter the President sent to Sen. Theodore F. Green, D-R. I., in October 1958.

Stormy Seas For Retired Admiral

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The retired admiral who is accused of smuggling 42 cases of liquor into the country aboard a Navy ship faces stormy seas—legally speaking.

Rear Adm. William E. Erdmann, 53, pleaded guilty Friday to two misdemeanor counts. One charged possession of the liquor, and the other alleged he had evaded taxes estimated at $1,300. He still faces two felony counts charging him with fraudulent importation of the liquor when he returned from Guam last spring.

Former President Lashes GOP In Tar Heel Tour

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector City Editor

WITH TRUMAN—Old Harry gave it to 'em as he swung through Eastern North Carolina yesterday. And if you recall his campaign of 1948 you know what.

The 76-year-old former President of the United States lashed out at his arch political enemies, the Republicans, as he spoke in Zebulon, Wilson, Nashville and Rocky Mount.

His style was reminiscent of the campaign of 1948 when the now elder statesman—or perhaps spokesman—for the Democratic party won the presidential election that he wasn't supposed to take.

In Zebulon he told his audience: "I haven't got anything against the Republicans—only that they are ignorant and they're not fit to run the government."

In Wilson he said to a capacity crowd at Fleming Stadium. "For the past eight years we have had no leadership. For the past eight years, the Republican Administration has followed a policy of drift and delay and special favors for the special interests."

In Nashville Truman discussed the weather—which was hot—but the Republicans got in even on this. "I was informed before I came down here that the weather was not summer. I was misinformed. It wasn't Mr. Nixon I was talking to either."

Some recalcitrant Democrats came in for comment from the peppery ex-President. In Wilson he spoke of the four states which "succeeded" in 1948. "Every single one of them has begged the old man to come down and tell them how to get out of the mess they helped to get us into," he declared.

The former President eased off a little on Texas when he said last week in a San Antonio speech that if they voted for Nixon "you ought to go to hell."

In Wilson yesterday he said that North Carolina will go Democratic. "I'll tell you a secret," he confided. "Texas is going to do it, too."

His Benson But Truman was at his best as he talked about the Republicans and one of his prime targets was Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

In Zebulon he said, "I am certain you people here are familiar with the gentleman named Ezra Taft Benson. I understand that the Republicans are now shipping him off to South America until after the election is over and I don't blame them for that. They will have to send him a lot farther away than South America before he is forgotten."

Truman added to this in Wilson: "I think it ought to send him to the Antarctic Continent. He would make a good secretary of agriculture in that ice-bound continent."

It was a clear, hot October day for the Truman trip to the four Eastern North Carolina municipalities. Zebulon was the first stop of the day. It is there Mr. and Mrs. E. Daniel Sr., parents of Truman's son-in-law, live.

Truman referred to Daniel Sr. as the "grandfather of my grandchildren" as he spoke in front of the Daniel drug store in Zebulon. Waiting on the speaker's stand there prior to Truman's arrival were Gov. Hodges and Democratic nominee for governor Terry Sanford. They both had something to say to the Zebulon audience.

"I think it would be a wonderful tribute to Mr. Truman and to his relatives here if we gave the Democratic ticket as near to 100 percent vote as possible," Gov. Hodges said. Sanford's time came and he said, "I'm supposed to talk until the speaker gets here. That might be two or three minutes or it might be on into the afternoon. But I'll stay here as long as you stay here."

Republicans when the Truman pulled up to the cheers of an audience.

Sanford did get in at least one good blow first. "I don't have to take up a lot of time talking about what the Republican candidate does not know about the government of North Carolina," he stated. "We don't have to do that. They're doing it for us."

Move To Wilson Next stop for the caravan bearing Truman, Sanford, Hodges and most major state officials was Wilson.

There, Truman was greeted by more cheers as the motorcade entered Fleming Stadium. The stands were full but they hardly held as many people as lined the streets of Wilson following the program.

The motorcade was routed through the business district, Truman traveling in an open car. Grown-ups crowded the business streets to get a look at the famous visitor. But the most enthusiastic rooters were the many groups of school children who had apparently been brought to the parade route by their teachers for a look.

The kids cheered Truman; they cheered the cars behind him and they even cheered the press buses several vehicles back. All except one little rascal, that is. He stuck his tongue out.

Truman Flies On To Tour Virginia

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina Democratic leaders today weighed the effect on their campaign of a two-day visit by former President Harry S. Truman.

Before flying from Rocky Mount for Virginia, the energetic Missouri gave a final admonishment against religious bigotry in politics.

He told an audience estimated at 15,000 in rural Nashville it is "shameful blackmail" to use the fact that Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic as an issue in the campaign.

"It's all hokey, all this unnecessary blackmail sent over the United States and distributed through headquarters of the Republican party," the 76-year-old former president declared.

"When I was running for president in 1948, if a Catholic priest had stood up in the church and said I ought not to be elected because I was a Baptist, I would have exploded, and so would you, and you should have," Truman said.

A spokesman at Republican headquarters in Washington expressed doubt there would be any comment on Truman's remark. He said the orders are not to talk about religion at all.

North Carolina's top Democrats greeted Truman when he arrived Thursday for a noon speech at the state fair-grounds near Raleigh.

They honored him Thursday night with a fund-raising dinner, with some 600 Democrats from all over the state paying $30 a plate. Truman traveled Eastern North Carolina Friday, with his first stop a visit in Zebulon with his daughter's in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Daniel Sr.

He went on to Wilson for a speech to some 5,000. The Nashville address, to crowds assembled for an annual Harvest Festival, came next and was followed by brief remarks to some 2,500 persons at Rocky Mount.

College Slated At Elizabeth City

RALEIGH (AP)—The fourth community college in North Carolina will be located in Elizabeth City in the northeastern section of the state.

Approval for the junior college level institution, subject to passage by Pasquotank voters of a special tax levy, was given Friday by the State Board of Higher Education.

It will be the first community college to be established under laws passed by the 1957 legislature to give state assistance to the three colleges then already in existence at Charlotte, Wilmington and Asheville.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Adolfo Lopez Mateos announced Friday night that he will distribute more than 1.74 million acres of land to growers of Mexican textile, which produces strong fibres and a wax used for chemical purposes. The distribution to about 56,000 families will be carried out when Lopez Mateos visits the Coahuila area Oct. 21.

N. C. Art Society Hires Director

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Art Society Board voted today to hire Dr. Justus Bier, 61, as permanent director of the North Carolina Art Museum.

Dr. Bier is now director of the Allen R. Hite Museum in Louisville, Ky., and dean of the Fine Arts Department at the University of Louisville. He will succeed James Byrnes who leaves the post Dec. 31.

The action came after the board beat down a motion by 8-5 to delay a vote until after December when Dr. Bier will be in Raleigh. Mrs. Charles B. Aycock of Kingston said she had not had a chance to meet Dr. Bier and wanted to wait until she could interview him.

Dowd Crowns Rose High Queen

THE PHANTOM HOMECOMING COURT . . . on the float which the varsity cheerleaders made for yesterday's parade include Sara Collier Webb, Homecoming Queen; Miss Junior, Lydia Davenport; Miss Sophomore, Grace Ewell; and Miss Freshman, Louise Walters.

By CRAIG WORTHINGTON

Climaxing this year's homecoming festivities, emcee Lester Brown yesterday announced Sara Collier Webb as the Homecoming Queen of 1960-61. Elected by the monogram Club, she reigned over all of the homecoming activities.

Although preceded by weeks of preparation, homecoming really began yesterday afternoon with the pep rally in the gymnasium.

She opened the rally with a cheer, then introduced assistant Coach Jerry Warren. He told the fans that "if all of you come out tonight, you won't be sorry!" After last night's 41-12 victory over Elizabeth City, everyone readily agreed.

After another cheer, Phyllis introduced Lester Brown who served as emcee for the homecoming activities at the rally and at the game last night.

After a brief introduction, Lester announced sponsors which the first-string players, lettermen, and seniors chose to represent them. The Rose High Dance Band played as they were presented.

As Lester announced the name of each sponsor, she entered the gymnasium, received from the cheerleaders a yellow mum corsage and her banner of green with gold letters, and then took her place in the center of the gymnasium. The sponsors formed two lines, one on each side of the center aisle.

Then Lester announced the names of Mr. and Miss School Spirit, the couple chosen every year as typifying the best school spirit at the games and other school events.

Margaret Beck and Shelton Brown, Mr. and Miss School Spirit, received their crowns and took their place in front of one line of the sponsors.

This year, each class elected a representative to serve in the Homecoming Queen's court. Lester then introduced the girls, who were presented with a crown of flowers and a banner by Orren E. Dowd, principal.

These included Miss Freshman, Louise Walters; Miss Sophomore, Grace Ewell; and Miss Junior, Linda Davenport. These three girls rode with the queen on her float.

Then came the climax of all of the homecoming activities. Lester announced Sara Collier Webb as the homecoming queen. After Mr. Dowd crowned her and she received her banner and bouquet of long-stemmed roses, she took her place in the center of the two lines, completing the homecoming court for 1960.

The entire assembly then stood up for the "Alma Mater," which the band, under the direction of James Rodgers, played. Then the group sang "Dear Old Greenville" leaving the assembly as they sang.

Homecoming Parade
The homecoming parade this year consisted of 35 units. Each of the 19 sponsors, in addition to

Annual Candy Sale Starts

The Jay-C-Elites held their regular meeting Wednesday night at the Woman's Club.

Final plans were made to hold the annual house-to-house candy sale Oct. 25 and 26 to raise money for the Jay-C-Elites project the crippled children of Pitt County.

The club voted to help pay for drugs for a period of six months for a Pitt County child.

Mrs. Walter Hasty and Mrs. Bob Windle gave a report of their recent trip to Durham for the 25th annual meeting of the North Carolina Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Mrs. Milton Foley won the attendance prize.

Sam Weeks Gives Book Club Talk

The Brookgreen Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Leo Jenkins Wednesday morning, Oct. 12. Refreshments were served on arrival.

Mr. Sam J. Weeks gave a program on "Diseases of Trees." He discussed with members aids for their tree problems. He showed several exhibits on ways trees were affected by diseases.

The club president, Mrs. J. H. Moye, presided over a brief business meeting.

Mrs. Tom Rivers reported that a shrub had been planted in the circle at Middleton Place in honor of Mrs. J.T. Cheatham. She also reported that bulbs had been ordered for resale by members.

It was voted that the club order garden gloves for resale.

The meeting was then adjourned. There were 18 members present.

Change In Date
The Inter Se Book Club meeting for Oct. 18 has been postponed until Wednesday, Oct. 26.

HOME DECORATING TODAY

By MRS. R. W. DAVENPORT
PUT YOUR FAMILY ROOM TO WORK
There was a time when the family room was the basement recreation room. It was furnished with the family's cast-off furniture and there wasn't a lamp that matched nor a sofa worth sitting on. You were lucky if it had a phonograph or a beat up piano. Today's smart new family rooms are as far from these old fashioned crotchets as can be. The family room today is bright, colorful, and well decorated. But more important, it is designed to serve many needs and to make the living easy—and fun!
The room can be the spot where the family gathers for informal meals as well as to read, watch television, or listen to favorite music. It might double as a TV room and extra bedroom. Study your room with care; let the Home Furniture Store show you how you can make your family room serve as an entertainment center, an informal dining area, or an extra bedroom. Get the most from your family room—today!

Darling,
I'm simply ecstatic about the new permanent fashions. The latest styles have brought about important changes in permanents and the way we give them. Our new waves are beautifully blended to assure movement and curl lasting beauty. Let us shape and wave the changing look of fashion into your hair. Our new custom wave technique gives you easy manageability and style assurance.

There's a secret in the new-found permanent beauty!

Going Forward By Our Own Efforts

In recent years the states of North and South Carolina have gained considerable recognition for the progressive manner in which they have sought to enhance their economic development and expansion through their own efforts.

For the most part they have not depended on outside sources to do the job for them. They have the means at their own disposal to make strides toward the goal.

The recent ground-breaking at Parr, S. C. for the first atomic power plant in the Southern section of the nation is another of the important steps taken in this direction. In this case four major companies of the two Carolinas and Virginia have pooled resources to undertake the history-making project.

It will be another two years before the $26 million project is completed. Certainly it will not provide power except for a small portion of the area served by Carolina Power and Light Company, Duke Power Company, Virginia Electric and Power Company and South Carolina Electric and Gas Company. It is, however, an important step which will open the doors to the use of atomic energy for production of electricity in this part of the nation.

It offers another example of the desire of the section to push itself to the forefront of economic advancement compared with the rest of the nation. It contributes to dispelling the mistaken, but widely held opinion in other parts of the nation, that the Southeast is a backward section, interested only in drifting with the current and taking what progress the seasons offer in agriculture from one year to the next.

We have earlier voiced our praise of these four power companies for undertaking this atomic power project which is so important to the entire Southeastern section. On a sectional basis it is another example of the desire to pull up our area by our own initiative and our own resources. To be sure it is a major undertaking that would be impossible without the combined resources of these large companies. Even so, on a smaller scale the same pattern is being followed by individual communities as well as by states in this section of the nation.

The plant itself will be an important asset to this area when it is completed. But perhaps of equal importance is the fact that the atomic power plant is an example of how the Southeast is pulling itself up by its own boot-straps, surging forward under its own initiative, rather than sitting back and waiting for someone to hand it progress tagged with a "made-somewhere-else" label.

The Young Businessman Who Serves The Public

Maybe you never thought of the youngster who delivered your newspaper today as an enterprising businessman. Well, he is.

He and thousands of youngsters like him all over the nation are young businessmen, in business for themselves, buying newspapers at wholesale rates and selling them to you and millions of other readers at retail prices. His profit, like that of any other businessman, depends upon how well he looks after his business, the kind of service he renders his customers, and the manner in which he handles the finances of his business.

Today throughout the nation is being observed as National Newspaperboy Day. And with good reason.

A large percentage of the approximately 60 million copies of newspapers sold daily in the United States are sold by these young businessmen. They provide the vital link between the gathering and publishing of news and advertising and its distribution to the readers. Without the important service they perform, the dissemination of news to individual readers would be greatly restricted in this nation in which a daily newspaper has become a part of the life of almost every citizen.

Like other businessmen, the newspaperboy has his problems. He has to watch his collections, and be careful of the credit he extends to customers. He has to be sure the service he renders his customers is up to expectations or else he loses them. Whether the day is sunny and warm or cold and snowy he has to make his deliveries, for he knows his customers are waiting to receive the product he sells. He knows also that he cannot put off his job until tomorrow, for by then he'll have a new product to sell and the one he has today will be obsolete.

Today we salute the newspaperboys who deliver The Daily Reflector and the other newspapers throughout the country.

Debate Tactics Now Apparent

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — After 3 "great debates" on TV the tactics—or the techniques—of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy began to show through.

Nixon is a generalizer who makes frequent use of that old-time debating tactic: the big needle. When he thinks he has a good thing going, he won't let go. He gets sentimental and, like a name-dropper, identifies himself with President Eisenhower.

Kennedy, who evidently does his homework, is much more specific and detailed than Nixon, but lets himself lose a lot of time trying to extract the Nixon needle. Recently he became quite a needer himself.

For example: As TV watchers could see for themselves he had gotten under Nixon's skin by an earlier remark calling him "trigger-happy."

with Nixon reported he thought he had hit on an issue in his dispute with Kennedy over what position the next president should take on Quemoy and Matsu, two small islands close to the Red Chinese coast.

Chiang Kai-shek, an American ally on Formosa, 110 miles away from the coast and almost that far from the islands, claims Quemoy and Matsu as his. The Reds also claim them.

This country has a treaty with Chiang to defend Formosa in case of attack. But it is not pledged to defend the offshore islands. The Eisenhower administration has never gone beyond saying the islands would be defended if they were considered essential to the defense of Formosa.

Kennedy says the islands are not necessary to Formosa's defense and not worth getting into war about. Nixon says they shouldn't be turned over to the Red Chinese.

Why? Because, Nixon says, it is a matter of "principle" not to yield them, that surrendering them ahead of an attack would be an appeasement. Still he hasn't said what he'd do if they were attacked. And Kennedy says he wouldn't surrender them at the point of a gun.

Happy To Be On The Political Warpath

By PATRICIA MOORE

Heard It, And More Too

Somebody wondered if we really did hear an item "on the street" about the two men giving a saleswoman "a piece of their minds" about some curtains that they bought which shrank when washed.

Yes, we heard it and some more, too!

Here's one we heard, but not on the street, about some birds and a little girl we know. Her name is Robin, she's three and not afraid of a living thing. She doesn't act afraid, anyway.

It wasn't long ago that her mother was doing some dusting in the living room when she and Robin heard a few strange noises, then some chirping. All inside the house.

All inside the chimney. You might have guessed it was some little birds paying their respects inside the chimney. It was all very cute and enjoyable at the time. Robin ate it up!

That is, until about 11 that night, when she awoke screaming from her sleep about the birds that were trying to get her.

It has taken a little time for her to like the living room again and not to be afraid the birds are going to swoop down anytime. Okay, psychologists, what is the technical interpretation of this simple dream?

Then there's a rumor about poison ivy going all around different places. A friend in the hospital called—she's been there several weeks—and said a doctor surmised her itching might be poison ivy.

Some florist sure has a sadistic outlook on life. Otherwise, how can this be true?

Over in that wonderful metropolis of Griffon-by-the-stream we saw something rather delightful in this day and time.

In their new little library, children were hustling back and forth, checking out books, reading and doing homework. We asked Librarian Elizabeth Burney if it was like that every day—and it is.

Opinions In Brief

"Home-grown things are usually the best, says a writer. If he's talking about children we agree."—Altoona (Pa.) Mirror.

"There are far more conservatives in the country than many politicians realize, or will admit. The weakness of the conservatives lies in lack of organization and aggressiveness." — Wytheville (Va.) Enterprise.

"As a rule of thumb, a million dollars of private investment will do more good than a million dollars of government program."—West Point (Miss.) Daily Times Leader.

of Status Seekers, stir well with the current philosophy that the cut of a young man's job is to be determined by the foot length of his car, and you get a taste of the insidious pressures working at the teen-ager day in and day out. Schoolmasters, Mr. Hall says candidly, pay admiring tribute to the parents who know how to deal with these pressures. And how does one deal with them? Well, suggests the Pennsylvania educator, today's youngster needs peace; first, within himself, second, with his parents and teachers ("mainly the former because they are much more important"), and third, with his faith.

But, prerequisite to preparing the young lad for his search for himself is the adult adult. "Our job is to set the standards of personal conduct," is the not very novel but so very wise advice offered by this Northern educator. To that, we would add, the sooner the adult reaffirms his own responsibility, the sooner he makes it clear once more that dirty books are dirty, the sooner that young lad will be put upon the right road.

Our youths now love luxury. They have bad manners, contempt for authority, disrespect should take on Quemoy and Matsu, two small islands close to the Red Chinese coast.

Banks, Credit Unions Competing

By ELMER ROESSNER

In the war for the public's savings, there's an intensifying battle developing between banks and credit unions.

There are other battles for savings, of course, involving both commercial and savings banks, savings and loan associations, mutual funds, some charitable organizations, government bond sellers, real estate funds, some charitable organizations and those credit unions.

New Hampshire legislature in 1909. Now most states charter CUs, as they are called, and since 1934, federal charters have been granted.

Until recently, banks have paid little attention to them. Some banks, indeed, have served as bankers to CUs, even giving cold steel advice to dream administrators of the unions.

But now CUs have branched out. It has become easier to be a member of the group, getting good interest on deposits and being able to make attractive loans. Just being a member of a union, a Federal employee, or a worker in a large corporation qualifies many people.

Since 1950, credit unions have grown four times as fast as banks. Reasons are that many of them get free rent, light and facilities, from sponsoring organizations, free labor from officers and other unpaid services. BANKS WANT A SLICE Credit unions have grown so large that banks are now realizing that they have lost a big chunk of profitable business. Many are now bidding to win it back.

The matter came up at the recent meeting of the American Bankers Association. Robert L. Curren, president of the Fall River (Mass.) National Bank, urged bankers to broaden the scope of the service to combat "the rapid growth of rural and urban community credit unions. He did say that it was 'almost foolhardy' to compete with those credit unions 'similar to religious groups and labor unions, which have a captive potentiality.'"

The greatest opportunities, he said, were in offering banking services to employees. There are already more than 100 banks offering on-the-job services, he said.

Employers, he said, will cooperate for these reasons: "1. Employees will not have to be absent from work to take care of routine banking transactions.

2. In-plant banking will encourage employees to save, and will keep many from borrowing from high-rate lenders.

Leaves Empty Handed

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

To Khrushchev, one gladly says, "Good-bye, do svidaniya." He came; he saw; but he did not conquer. Not a single measure that he proposed passed the General Assembly of the United Nations. He made his strongest stand on the admission of Red China to the United Nations. Had he been able to win the few African countries to his program, Red China would have been admitted. Khrushchev returns to Moscow empty-handed. This is a serious matter for any politician.

What clearly was bothering Khrushchev was first, that no dramatic explosion occurred to startle the world at the moment of Khrushchev's arrival in New York. There was no Sputnik; no man was shot to the moon or to Mars. Somebody let Khrushchev down. Or perhaps, after the U-2 completed the photographing of Russian installations, there is no further need to try to scare us.

President Eisenhower's conduct bothered Khrushchev no end. So far as the Government of the United States is concerned, no one knew that Khrushchev was here. Of course, the New York City police protected him excessively but beyond that there was nothing. He had not come to the United States; he had come to the United Nations.

The President correctly had nothing to say to the man who wants to bury us. He left to Cyrus Eaton and David Susskind, No. 1 American official greeted him at any point.

Khrushchev, the head of state, the diplomat had difficulty keeping in the news; Khrushchev, the clown, had no difficulty at all. He spoke from a balcony like Mussolini used to do in Rome. He took a walk on the sidewalk of Park Avenue like Harry Truman, except that Harry Truman needs no police escort. He thumped the tables in the United Nations like a small boy in a tantrum, but after a while, nobody noted that except in disgust. He went on the Susskind program and lied without sense.

Surely, it was a wasted effort. Khrushchev had brought together the heads of many states to make a show of his power. It was the largest, assemblage of rulers in history. But they made little impression because Khrushchev overwhelmed everybody. He stole the stage. Usually Nehru of India gets top billing but Nehru was no match for Khrushchev in stealing the center of the stage. The whole business was an exercise in futility.

However, it did disclose one fact—a tremendously significant fact—Soviet Russia now seeks to destroy the United Nations and will do it by whatever means are available. In this session, Khrushchev failed but he disclosed his hand. Stalin held fast to the doctrine that the small nations amounted to nothing. He respected but disliked the United States. He regarded Great Britain as decadent and Germany as no longer significant.

Khrushchev makes a play for the small nations only because in such a body as the United Nations, they have the votes. Apart from that, he is contemptuous of them. Had he succeeded in killing off the United Nations, he would not be forced to submit to the blackmail which both Soviet Russia and the United States may be forced to accept during the next years. The African countries, in particular, have an enormous advantage in that they have votes to offer to the highest bidder. Had Khrushchev succeeded in killing off the United Nations, the African countries would have no role to play at all. And even such a country as India, despite Nehru and Krishna Menon, would amount to very little in world affairs and would be forced to turn to either the United States or for defense against the Communist countries or to Soviet Russia for protection against Red China.

As it is, Khrushchev will have to explain his failure to his own President and to the Red Chinese with whom he is feuding. Mao Tze-tung suspects Khrushchev of hankering for the non-socialistic high standard of living. (Continued on page six)

Beaufort Scores 45-0 Win Over Red Devils

Beaufort's Sea Dogs completely outclassed Farmville last night in the shellacking the Red Devils 45-0 on the Beaufort field.

A host of fast and illusive backs tore through the Farmville defense on numerous occasions and the Sea Dogs were never headed in a one-sided contest.

The Red Devils took the opening kickoff and moved to their own 44 yard stripe, but were forced to punt. All Conference David Jones of Beaufort returned the kick 50 yards to the Red Devils' 10. Fullback Ernest House carried over from the four two plays later and the Sea Dogs were on their way.

The next Beaufort drive, coming in the second period, started on the Farmville 40 where the Sea Dogs recovered a Red Devil fumble. Again it was House who carried over the Sea Dogs from the

ACC Teams Show Poor Mark With Outside Foes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Atlantic Coast Conference football record against outside teams—nothing to show about so far this season—got another mark on the loss side Friday night when Miami (Fla.) clubbed South Carolina 21-6.

ACC teams have won four games against non-conference opponents this year, but have now lost eight. Miami has been responsible for two of the defeats. The Hurricanes bowled over North Carolina two weeks ago.

The loss was South Carolina's third straight this season.

Meanwhile, Clemson, Duke and North Carolina State put their ACC title hopes on the line today in important conference clashes. State, leading the ACC with a 3-0 conference record, met Duke, which is tied with Clemson for second place. Duke and Clemson have won two conference games without a loss.

Clemson faced Maryland, 0-2 in the ACC and 1-3 over-all.

In other games, North Carolina entertained winless Wake Forest in another ACC battle, and Virginia was host to Virginia Military of the Southern Conference.

Should Duke and Clemson win their games today, the next week would be set for a showdown next week when the two teams collide at Durham. State doesn't meet Clemson this season.

South Carolina, beaten 31-0 by Duke and 38-6 by Georgia in its first two games, fought back in the final period against Miami and was in the running until Miami's flashy quarterback Addie Johns raced 44 yards for a touchdown to put the game out of reach.

ed close to 3,000, cheered wildly as Alan McArthur, a hip-twisting halfback, went on a one-man offensive rampage to spur the Phantoms to their fifth win of the season against one loss.

Elizabeth City, only a slight underdog before the game, played Greenville on even terms for one period but it ceased to be a contest when Erskine Duff scored on the opening play of the second quarter, opening the gates to a 27-point scoring spree.

Greenville controlled the offensive play the major portion of the initial period but several drives stalled within scoring distance.

One drive fizzled on the Elizabeth City 38 when McArthur to Skip Wright pass fell incomplete and another ran out of gas on the 20.

John Adams drilled tackle for 19 yards on the final play of the first period, moving Greenville in to Yellow Jacket territory again.

After the two teams swapped ends of the field, Erskine Duff, running the option, veered inside his end, cut back to the middle and raced 37 yards for the first touchdown of the game. Larry Roberts booted the point and Greenville was out front 7-0, but more was to come.

Elizabeth City, trying to retaliate, came back with its spread formation but it backfired with a pass interception on the Jacket's 47.

Alan McArthur starting his dazzling show on the following play with a 47 dash to the scoring zone. The 155 pound halfback picked his holes with the accuracy of a dentist and filled them in the same manner. Roberts converted the point.

It was only four plays before the fleet halfback was showing, would-be tacklers his heels again, thundering 75 yards with a punt return for the third score. "Little Mac" had to side-step his own blockers in quick-stepping down the sidelines for the score.

Staying in the spotlight, McArthur completed the second quarter devastating attack.

through the air. He lobbed a perfect 33 yard pitch to Skip Wright who easily stepped into the end zone. The Phants had gained a question on an Elizabeth City fumble.

Roberts booted the point and it was 27-0 at intermission.

Greenville was on the attack when the half ended following a 38 yard pass from Duff to Wright.

Oddly enough, Greenville ran only two rushing plays — both touchdowns—in the 27 point second quarter. It was the long play that broke the game wide open.

The Phants were moving again early in the second half but John Adams' 26 yard run was nullified due to a penalty, killing the drive.

Elizabeth City started rolling for the first time, blending its passing from the spread with the running of Hayward Spruill, and marched 67 yards for a touchdown.

Spruill, who ripped off a 37 yard run in the drive, scored from the Greenville three. The extra point failed.

Winding up his scoring show, McArthur plotted a 62 scoring thrust late in the third period. He almost shook loose on a 41 yard gallop but was pulled down by the final defender. Two plays later he scampered into the end zone from 25 yards out, giving Greenville a 33-6 padding. Roberts' toe was true again.

Greenville's second team put icing on the victory with a fourth quarter tally following an Elizabeth City fumble on the EC 38.

Billy James directed the attack and did the scoring on a 12 yard run around his left end. The score stood 41-6 after Roberts booted the point.

The Jackets added a final score late in the game with a 51 yard thrust. Spruill was the workhorse again, scoring this time from the two. The conversion failed.

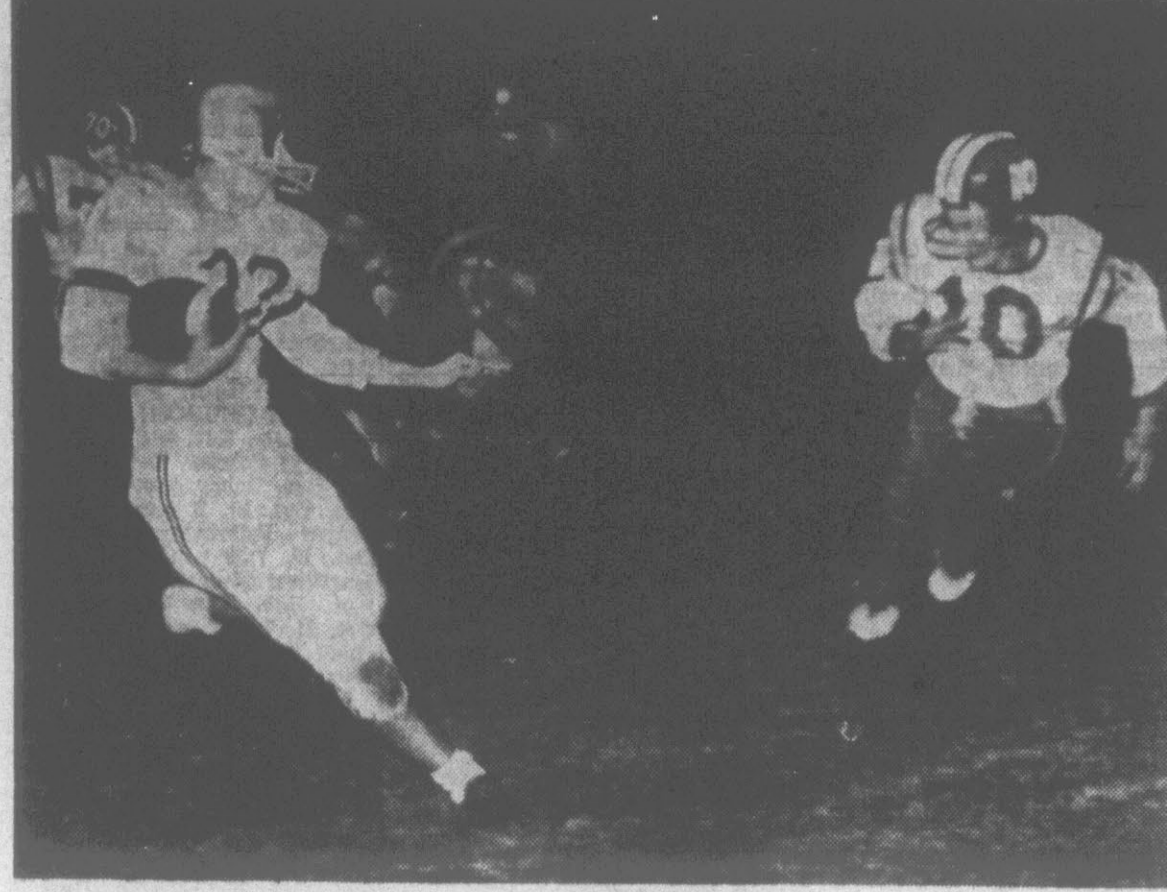

Greenville's backfield was short of magnificent in the victory but the Phant's defensive line yielded 210 infantry yards.

No doubt, McArthur, who also booted a 68 yard punt in the victory, was the individual star last night. Besides figuring in most of the scoring, he was the leading ground gainer with 119 yards in only five carries.

John Adams, who chipped away at EC's tissue-paper line for 43 yards, was second on the offensive check list.

Next week, Greenville will meet unbeaten New Bern on the latter's home field.

Tornadoes Roll To 19-0 Win Against La Grange

LAGRANGE—Ayden's unbeaten Tornadoes strangled an early LaGrange scoring threat and went on to down the Bulldogs, 19-0, in a Coastal Conference contest here last night.

Led by fullback Dennis Mills, three touchdowns, the Pitt County eleven rolled to its seventh consecutive victory of the season. Ayden's conference record is now 8-0.

Mills, the Ayden workhorse all season, carried the ball on 24 plays from scrimmage to pick up a total of 188 yards.

LaGrange, boasting a strong running attack, could penetrate the tough Ayden defense no deeper than the Tornado 19 yard stripe. That threat came in the early moments of the game after the Bulldogs had received the opening kickoff.

Ayden held on downs and took over on its own 19. From there the Tornadoes marched to the first score of the game. Halfback Mac Tripp, carrying on a double reverse, set up the touchdown with a 48-yard jaunt down the sidelines to the LaGrange 18.

The Bulldogs' defense stiffened and held Ayden for no gain on three consecutive plays. Then, on fourth down, quarterback William Edwards tossed a screen pass to Mills and the fleet fullback carried the final 18 yards. Edwards' pass to Tripp on the extra point try made it 7-0 for the visitors.

The Tornadoes carried the 7-0 bulge into the dressing room at halftime, then returned to add a touchdown in each of the final stanzas. Midway the third period, Mills scampered down the sidelines for a 26-yard pickup to set up the second Tornado score. On the next play the Ayden fullback drove off tackle for 19 yards and paydirt. An Edwards pass for the extra point fell incomplete and Ayden led, 13-0.

Late in the final quarter, Ayden drove 66 yards for its final score with Mills going the final nine yards straight up the middle. The extra point attempt failed, but the Tornadoes had their 19-0 victory on ice.

Outstanding in the Ayden line were Carol McLawhorn, who recovered two Bulldogs fumbles, Donald Carmon, Brunson Tripp, and Kenneth Jolly, 245-pound sophomore guard.

Ayden hosts Centennial High in the Pitt school's annual homecoming affair next week. The following Friday, the Tornadoes travel to Beaufort to tangle with the defending conference and State Class A champs.

Rams Battered In Non-League Tussle, 34-0

PLYMOUTH — A strong Plymouth eleven stormed for two touchdowns in each of the first two periods and added a clincher in the third to crush Robersonville 34-0 here last night.

Hill Hall, a lean 180 pound fullback, was the hero for the winners, scoring twice and passing for two touchdowns.

The winners launched their attack shortly after the game opened, driving 35 yards after a short kick by the Rams. Hill climaxed the march with a two yard plunge. Tailback Bill Atamanchuk made it 7-0, running over the extra point.

Hill bulled into the end zone from the Robersonville one on the second Plymouth march which originated only 30 yards short of the goal. Atamanchuk added the extra point.

The winners launched their attack through the air in the second period with Hill doing most of the tossing.

Jerry Miller tucked in a 6 yard toss from Hill for the third score and Jimmy Fleming scored on a 29-yard pass play. Tommy Norman and Bucky Johnson tallied the extra points on runs.

Norman scored the final touchdown for Robersonville early in the third period on a 13 yard run, capping a drive of 35 yards.

Tommy Ward, publicized tailback of Robersonville, was out the major portion of the game and the Ram's single-wing never starting rolling as in past games.

The Rams did put together two long drives to knock on the scoring gates of Plymouth. A pass interception on the Plymouth 10 killed one drive in the first period and the Rams lost the ball on downs at the Plymouth six in the final quarter.

Robersonville 2-3-1 for the season, jumps back into conference action this week, meeting rampaging Beaufort.

9 yard line. The hard running fullback also scored the extra point to give the Sea Dogs a 12-0 lead.

When the Farmville backs ran into the stonewall defense of Beaufort, they decided to pass, but the aerial was intercepted and returned to the Red Devil 22. From that point Ray Hassell swept his right end for the score. The try for the extra point failed.

Farmville finally began to move the ball after the Sea Dogs kicked off, but it was just not in the books for the Red Devils as they fumbled on the Beaufort 20. Linebacker Bob Nelson recovered the fumble and scampered 80 yards to paydirt, and the Sea Dogs left the field with a comfortable 25-0 lead.

The Sea Dogs started things off with a bang in the third quarter. Halfback Eddie Taylor gathered in the Farmville kickoff on his own 10 yard line and raced 90 yards to paydirt. It was the longest and most thrilling run of the evening as the illusive Taylor shook off several would-be Farmville tacklers. Again the Farmville try failed.

The Red Devils still found they could not move the tough Sea Dogs defense and were forced to punt. Jones, who was chosen to be the All-Conference team as an end, but was playing at the halfback post for the Sea Dogs, returned the kick to the Red Devil 25, for a 25 yard run. Two plays carried it over from there.

The Farmville club received the kickoff, but again found they were unable to move the Sea Dog defensive unit and punted. Once again it was the spectacular Jones who received the kick, and a 50 yard return placed the ball on the Red Devil 9 yard line. House bulled his way over from the 9 and Jones carried the pigskin over for the extra point to climax the scoring for the night.

The Red Devils tried desperately to break the scoring ice and became the first team to score on the Sea Dogs, but they lost their chance on the Beaufort 10 yard line. With one minute left in the game the Red Devils fumbled and the Sea Dogs took over ball possession for the final time of the evening.

Although the Farmville club could not get their ground game to click, the Red Devils made a good showing in the air. Quarterback Dean Oglesby, completed 8 of 12 passing attempts, while halfback Danny Didda hit on 2 out of 4.

Eppes Wins 20-6; But Goal Crossed

A fired-up Eppes High football team came from behind last night to defeat Elizabeth City to the tune of 20-6.

EC took the opening kickoff and were held for three downs by the visiting Bulldogs at that point. The home team dropped back into punt formation, but instead fooled the Bulldogs by throwing a 63 yard touchdown pass. It was the first occasion that Eppes has had their goal line crossed, and it ignited the flame that the Bulldogs refused to smother until the final whistle.

The Bulldogs fought back, taking E's kickoff and marching 80 yards for their first score. Halfback Willie Adams led the drive, cracking off 40 yards in just four carries. Freddie Watson, quarterback, passed to flanker Calvin Gatlin for the 6 points, but the try for the extra point failed.

In the second period, the Bulldogs put together the combination of Watson's pass-try and end Alton Harris' receiving for their second score. The scoring play was a 82 yard pass to Harris from the illusive Watson. The try for the extra point failed, and the Bulldogs held a 12-6 halftime margin.

There was no scoring in the third quarter, with Elizabeth City keeping the Bulldogs deep in their own territory with their booming punts.

Eppes pushed across the final score of the evening in the final stanza on a 84 yard drive, the longest of the night. Again spearheading the drive was the "golden arm" of Watson, who completed 9 straight passes in the Bulldogs final drive. Watson's favorite targets were Gatlin, Harris and halfback Larry Hardy. Watson's pass to Hardy, a 30 yarder, climaxed the brilliant drive, and the same duo teamed up for the points after touchdown.

Eppes Coach Percy Daniels had special praise in store for Watson, who completed 15 of 17 passes for the night.

"We would have scored more, but we fumbled twice inside their 10 yard line," said Daniels.

The Bulldog mentor went on to say, "When they scored in the first period, it really upset the boys. It was the hardest fought game they have played this season."

Next week the Bulldogs celebrate their homecoming day by tangleing with Darden High School of Wilson, and as Coach Daniels puts it, "We're still taking them one at a time."

Casey's Position Still Uncertain

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The guessing about Casey Stengel goes merrily on.

Will the 70-year-old baseball veteran retire as manager of the New York Yankees or will he not?

It has been rumored for some time that 1960 would be Casey's last year with the Yankees despite his record of 10 pennants and 7 world championships in his 12 years with the club.

Now comes a hint that perhaps he will be back next year.

John Drebiner, baseball writer for the New York Times, wrote that "pressure" including a petition from the New York baseball writers urging Stengel to remain "indicate that, if the owners at one time did contemplate a change, they are now undergoing a change of heart. Otherwise, why all this delay?"

Stengel was unavailable for comment.

Pike, who broke down after the club, asserted "there are still a few points that have to be settled. Until then, there is nothing we can say."

Meanwhile, Danny Murtaugh, the 43-year-old Irishman who led the Pittsburgh Pirates to victory over Stengel and the Yankees in the World Series, was named the National League Manager of the Year in the annual Associated Press poll.

The Buc pilot received 127 votes in the balloting by 193 baseball writers. Solly Hemus of the St. Louis Cardinals was second with 66.

50 Cars Set To Go At Charlotte

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The 50-car starting field for Sunday's "National 400" stock car race here was to be filled out today.

Twelve drivers have won starting positions. The remaining 38 will be chosen by further qualifying trials today or from among drivers who have posted marks during the past three days of qualifying.

Emmanuel Zervakis of Richmond, Va., driving a 1960 Chevrolet, was Friday's top qualifier for the $65,000, 400-mile race at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

Zervakis averaged 129.742 m.p.h. for four laps around the 1½-mile asphalt track.

The other three who qualified Friday were Buck Baker of Spartanburg, S.C., 129.481 m.p.h., in a 1960 Chevrolet; Ned Jarrett of Newton, N.C., 129.450 in a 1960 Ford; and Johnny Beauchamp, Harlan, Iowa, 128.986 m.p.h., in a 1960 Chevrolet.

Pitt Democrats Officially Open Campaign Office

Pitt County Democrats this morning formally opened campaign headquarters on Evans St. here.

The Pitt headquarters, decorated with Kennedy-Johnson banners and Terry Sanford posters and literature, occupies the old Bell Drug Store building near the corner of Third and Evans Sts.

Democrats J. H. Harrell, Charles O'H. Horne, and J. B. Spilman were in charge of arrangements for the opening of the county campaign center. Harrell served as chairman of the committee.

YDC Aid
The Young Democrats Club of East Carolina College, according to Harrell, has "kept the headquarters open since Wednesday getting things lined up for our formal opening today." He expressed appreciation to the "active workers from the college YDC group."

Available at the headquarters is campaign literature on the Democratic program. Senators John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, and gubernatorial nominee Sanford.

The campaign center is scheduled to remain open daily except Sunday until election day. As yet a permanent hostess has not been named. Harrell said YDC members have indicated their willingness to help keep the headquarters open on an alternating basis.

Participating in this morning's formal opening were Pitt County Democratic Chairman John G. Clark Sr.; YDC Vice-Pres. Glenn Jernigan; Harrell; and Spilman. The campaign headquarters is located directly across Evans St. from the Gavin Nixon-Lodge campaign center opened recently.

Wettest state in the United States is Louisiana, which over the past 65 years has had an annual average rainfall of 57.34 inches.

Arrest Two For Recent Breakin

Two men have been arrested in connection with a break-in of the Clifton Gardner store near Fountain last week.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson identified the two as Floyd Barnes, Jr., 26-year-old Negro of 310 North-east St., Wilson and Albert Purcell, 33, Negro of Wilson.

Both men have been charged with breaking and entering and larceny. They are in Pitt County Jail awaiting trial in Superior Court.

Sheriff Tyson said a cash register and vacuum cleaner taken from the store have been recovered. The cash register was found hidden in a wooded area. The drawer had been pried open and the small amount of cash inside was missing.

Some of the cigarettes were also recovered, the sheriff reported.

Barnes was arrested by Wilson police and Purcell by the Dunn police department.

Both men are wanted in other counties, the sheriff reported. Making the investigation for the Sheriff's Department were Deputies Ralph Tyson and Gerald Davis.

Merger Okayed By Shareowners

Shareowners of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company and Commercial National Bank of Winston, in separate meetings yesterday approved a previously announced proposal for the two banks to merge.

The approved consolidation on the basis of an exchange of two and one-half shares of Wachovia stock for each share of Commercial National stock held at the time of merger. This exchange is based on an appraisal of the book values of shares in each bank. J. H. Waldrop, senior vice president of Wachovia here, said.

The merger is subject to the approval of the North Carolina Banking Commission and the Federal Reserve Board. It will add approximately $11,000,000 to Wachovia's resources, which are now over $650,000,000, and will increase its capital funds to more than $51,000,000.

"These greater resources," Mr. Waldrop said, "will give added assurance of our ability to handle financial requirements of every kind and size. They will also enable us to provide the expanding banking services required to support continued economic growth and to attract new business and industry to North Carolina."

Wachovia, founded in 1879, has offices here and in 24 other North Carolina communities. Commercial National, established in 1940, has five offices, three in Winston, one in Morehead City and one at Sea Level.

Homecoming . . .

were among units contributing to the attractiveness of the line of march.

Among dignitaries riding in the parade were President Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina; Vice President F. D. Dunean; Dean Robert L. Holt; Director of Student Affairs James Tucker; Dean of Women Ruth White; Dean of Men James W. Mallory; President of the East Carolina Alumni Association, Z. W. Frazelle of Kenansville; Director of Alumni Affairs, G. Allan Nelms; James Speight of Kinston, President of the Student Government Association; and Dr. James W. Butler, chairman of the Homecoming Day Committee of the college.

College dormitories, decorated to develop motifs appropriate to the Homecoming celebration, made a colorful background for events on the campus during the day.

Trustees of the college held a meeting this morning in the Spilman Administration building. Visiting alumni were welcomed by the Pitt-Greenville Chapter of the Alumni Association at a coffee hour in the Mamie E. Jenkins Alumni Faculty House.

Luncheon was served for guests on the campus in the North Cafeteria and provided an opportunity for reunions among alumni groups. President and Mrs. Jenkins entertained Homecoming officials, trustees, and other campus visitors at a luncheon at the college on East Fifth Street.

Of chief interest among afternoon events is a football game between East Carolina and Western Carolina. Pre-game festivities included presentation of the Homecoming Queen and the sponsors of campus groups. Open house in the College Union follows.

The Society of Buccaneers, East Carolina alumni organization, will hold its fall dinner meeting tonight at 6:30 in the North Dining Hall. Principal Ed P. Blair of the Farm Life High School, Vanceboro, will be principal speaker. Henry Oglesby of Grifton and Washington, D.C., president of the society, will preside at the meeting.

Informal entertainments will be staged during the early evening by fraternities and sororities and other campus organizations.

Les Elgart and His Band will appear in the Wright Building at 7:45 in a concert lasting an hour. The Homecoming Dance will follow, also in the Wright building.

Says Rebels To Get Chinese Aid

CAIRO (AP) — Ferhat Abbas, premier of the Algerian rebel government in exile, told the morning newspaper Al Ahran that Communist China "will aid the Algerian people without any reservation."

Abbas, who returned last Tuesday from a visit to Red China and the Soviet Union, said "all I can say about my visit to China is that China supports the Algerian struggle and will continue her support without any reservation."

He did not elaborate on the type of support Peiping offered.

'Little Businessmen' Draw Salute On Carrier Boy Day

Text and Photos
By Henry Howard

Today is International Newspaperboy Day.

Newspapers around the world are taking today to salute its young "businessmen"—the carrier boys who buy, sell and deliver the daily news.

American newspapers utilize the capitalistic instincts of approximately 700,000 newspaper carriers across the nation. In every case, the newspaper concerned deals with its carriers as independent businessmen who buy at wholesale and sell at retail.

Many regard today's newspaper carriers as tomorrow's businessmen. The daily carriers are confronted with the same problems of big business, if on a somewhat smaller scale. They must buy their papers at a definite price, sell them at a profit, and collect accounts receivable from their customers in order to "make ends meet."

The Daily Reflector, Greenville's daily newspaper, deals with a total of 64 carrier boys throughout Pitt County. Five more dealers handle motor routes that cover Pitt.

Of the 64, a total of 43 young capitalists deliver the Reflector to Greenville residences daily. Twenty-one more take the daily route in stride in Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, Fountain, Grifton, Grimesland, Robersonville, Stokes and Winterville.

The daily routine for the Reflector's carriers works like this:

Each afternoon, except Sunday, the boys await their papers at various drop zones throughout the city and county around 3 p.m. Reflector employees deliver the bundles that average around 100 newspapers each. Immediately upon receiving the daily news, the boys spend around 30 minutes rolling their papers individually for delivery.

As soon as the rolling procedure is finished, the 64 youngsters—usually between the ages of 12 and 15 years—mount bikes or other means of transportation and begin their daily routes. Delivery usually takes from 45 minutes to one hour. The target hour for "all papers delivered" is "at least by six o'clock."

The young businessmen select a time most convenient to their subscribers to collect on a weekly basis, for their delivery service. The average Reflector carrier boy nets between $8 and $12 weekly from his enterprise.

Accompanying photographs on this page illustrate the daily routine so familiar to the young businessmen.

Of a Reflector circulation of 8,650 daily, the carriers personally account for 58 per cent or around 5,000 papers every day. Another 42 per cent of the local newspaper's copies are delivered through the U.S. Mails.

As in other areas, the local carriers are responsible for the success or failure of their "business." They must provide desirable service to their "customers," the subscribers. They must collect from their customers in order to pay their bills at the Reflector office. They must maintain good public relations with their customers in order to make their business "go."

The responsibility placed squarely upon their young shoulders serves as valuable experience for later years when their activities will suddenly become meaningful to many more persons. From their experiences as "small businessmen," they will gather valuable knowledge for application when they take their place in the "big business" world.

IN ADDITION TO DAILY DELIVERY . . . (Here carrier Mike Davis tosses afternoon paper on M. O. Minges front porch on E. 10th St.)

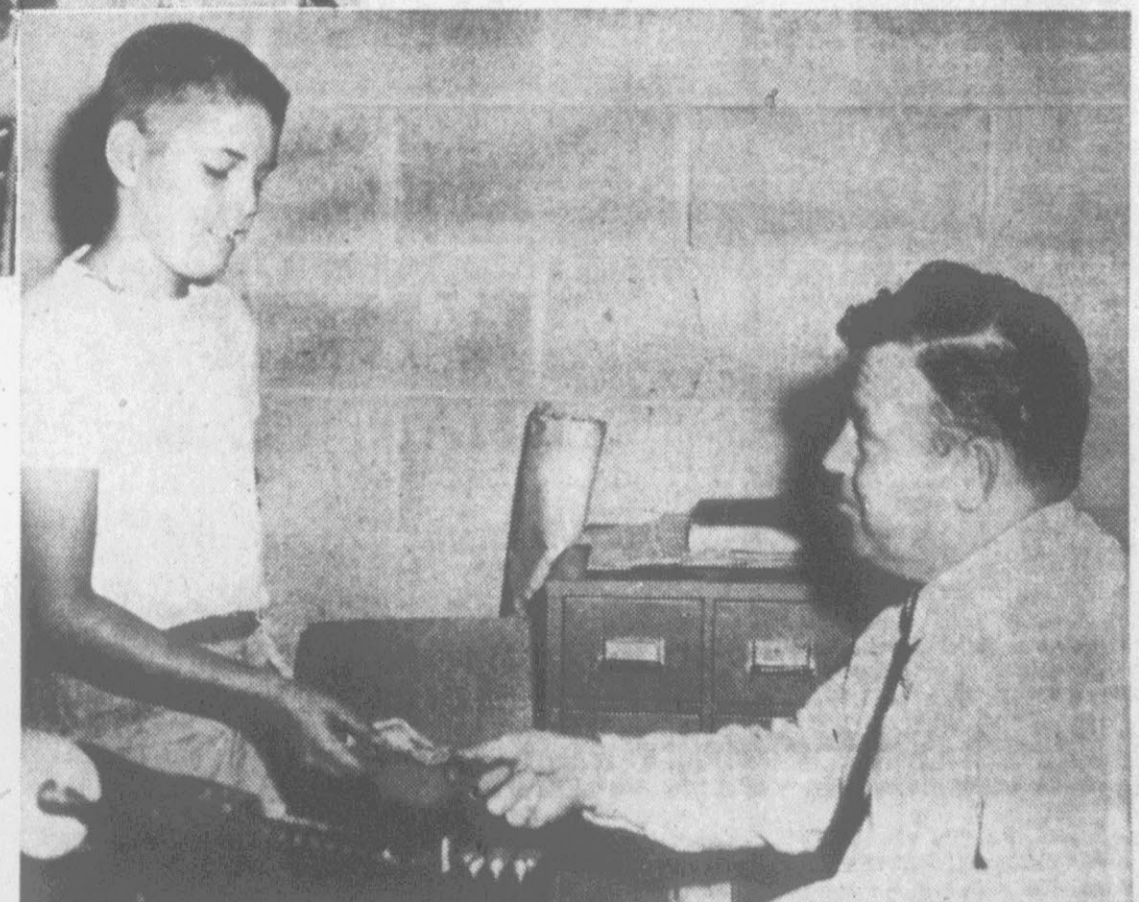

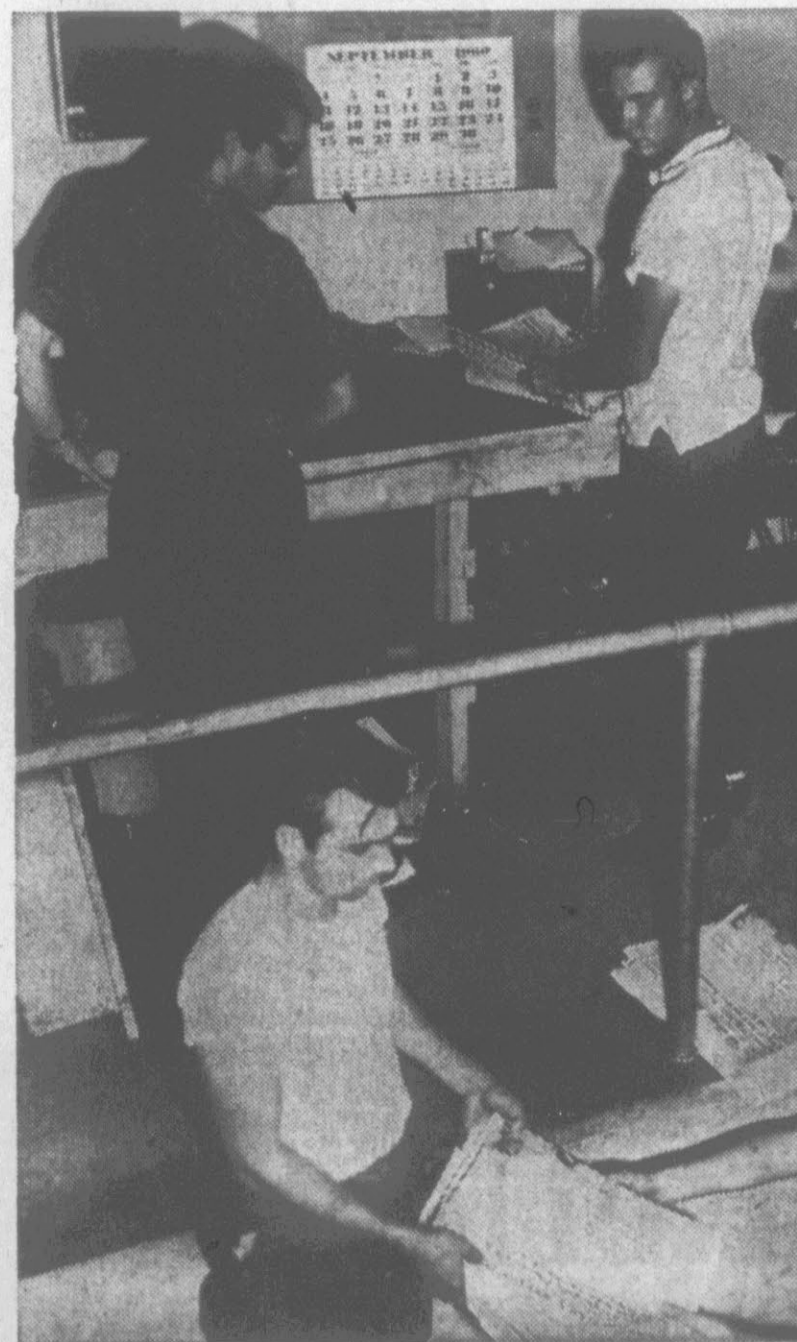

CARRIERS MUST SELL SUBSCRIPTIONS . . . (Here carrier Danny Slaton sells Reflector to Mrs. Odie Lewis of 309 E. 11th St.)

COLLECT REGULARLY FROM SUBSCRIBERS . . . (Above carrier Hugh Perkins collects from Alberta Speight at W. 4th St. residence of Dr. A. A. Best.)

AND PAY THEIR BILLS . . . (Carrier Tom Canning pays weekly bill in office of John Slaton, Reflector circulation manager.)

Youth Confesses Killing Mother

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Roger Vukovich, who said he wanted to know whether he could communicate with the dead, was charged on his 20th birthday Friday with killing his mother.

Vukovich, described as a quiet and withdrawn youth, was accused of first-degree murder in the death last Monday of Selma Vukovich, 57.

He first told police she had fallen downstairs. But an autopsy showed that a fall could not have caused her death.

Then Vukovich's best friend, Ronald G. Davis, 20, told police that Roger had offered him $1,000 to kill Mrs. Vukovich. He said he laughed it off as a bad joke.

Confronted with Davis' statement, Detective Capt. Robert J. Drost said, Vukovich admitted that he hit his widowed mother with a hatchet as she slept. In a signed statement, he said he then pushed her down a flight of stairs and dragged her back to her bed, where she died.

Vukovich wandered away from the house for several hours. When police found him, he said he had been in a state of shock. He had with him a book called "Mediums and Survival." He said he hoped to make an experiment after his mother's death.

Nixon Crossing Country Again After Heartening Response On West Coast

By ARTHUR EDSON

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon heads back across the continent today, highly encouraged with his intensive hunt for votes in California.

Nixon flew from Los Angeles Friday night. His schedule called for speeches here, in Tulsa and in Springfield, Ill., before finally pulling into Hartford, Conn., to spend the night and Sunday.

There were three major developments in the Nixon camp Friday:

1. Nixon drew such large and enthusiastic crowds—200,000 lined the downtown streets—that it was described as the finest day he ever had in Los Angeles. This is highly important to Nixon, for California's big batch of 32 electoral votes are hanging in the balance.

2. The vice president brought his position nearer that of administration policy on Matsu and Quemoy. Administration policy is that if an attack on Matsu and Quemoy is recognized as the beginning of an assault on Formosa and the Pescadores, they will be defended.

In Nixon's first speeches he was saying not an inch of territory should be yielded to the Communists. Friday he kept hammering away on the same subject but without saying, as he did earlier in the week, that there should be absolutely no retreat.

At one point, he said, "I stand with the President on this. The Senate voted not to tie the President's hand. If this policy has worked for five years, this is not the time to change it."

One of the main points that Sen. John F. Kennedy has been making is that Nixon's proposals went further than that of the Eisenhower administration.

3. Nixon used Dwight D. Eisenhower's 70th birthday to announce that the President has agreed to give his "wise guidance and rich experience" if the Republicans keep control of the White House.

"I have consulted with him and have his assurance," Nixon said in a speech to the World Newspaper Forum in Los Angeles, "that, even after his lifetime of dedicated service to our country, he will remain ready—after leaving the White House—to continue his heroic work for peace and freedom."

Nixon didn't say what he had in mind for Eisenhower, but there has been talk he might be a sort of unofficial roving ambassador. Since Nixon had billed this talk to the World Forum, held by the California Newspaper Publishers Association, as a major policy speech, he was expected to say where he plans to change or extend the viewpoints of the Eisenhower administration.

Instead Nixon called for a series of conferences. He said he will call in all the military leaders to study the situation. In world affairs, he suggested regional conferences of leaders from Europe, Latin America, Africa and Asia.

"The agenda," Nixon said, "would be open to all ideas serving the cause of peace and freedom."

Eight St. Christian Announcements

This Sunday will be observed by Eight St. Christian Church as Laymen's Sunday. This will be the third Sunday of Church Loyalty month.

Rev. William J. Hadden Jr. will speak on "Commandments for Laymen" during the morning worship service. The choir, directed by Mrs. Herbert Carter, will sing "With a Voice of Singing," by Martin Shaw.

Members are asked to attend both Church School at 9:45 a.m. and the worship service at 11 a.m., continuing to express their loyalty to the church.

A light breakfast of coffee and doughnuts is served at 9:45 to the College Students' Church School Class each Sunday. Lubie Stocks is teacher.

Panama's President Says Reds Gaining

PANAMA (AP)—President Roberto Chiari says "Communist influence in Latin America is deeply increasing."

In an interview with The Associated Press, Chiari said: "It is no longer a time for words—it is a time for actual and positive action."

The 55-year-old Panamanian leader took office two weeks ago and pledged a program of economic austerity and political moderation.

United States sources here say already there has been improvement in the often stormy relations between Washington and this republic, which has strategic importance because of the Panama Canal.

"There is no middle way," said Chiari. "It's a simple choice between democracy or communism."

"Washington's plan for a $500-million aid program for Latin America is a good beginning but it must be urgently implemented. Recent Pan American conferences clarified the continent's opposition to communism."

"The answer to communism is economic. The main reason Communists made such deep advances is the willingness of the people to listen because of unemployment and lack of progress in education and housing. Also the people of the United States must pay more attention to the problem and realize its urgency."

Chiari said no new developments in U. S.-Panamanian relations are expected in the next few months.

Panama has been demanding a substantial increase in the annual million-dollar rent the United States pays for the canal—plus better wages for Panamanian workers employed there.

"These things can be worked out easily, with a square deal for everybody," said the Italian-descended president.

There have been predictions that ultranationalists might cause anti-U.S. outbreaks in the Canal Zone on Nov. 3, Panama's national holiday.

To take the initiative away from extremists, the government has been planning a peaceful, controlled parade in which Panama's flag will be carried through a portion of the Canal Zone jutting into downtown Panama City Park.

Chiari denied reports that he personally might carry the flag. "I believe it will all be very, very quiet," he said.

Try Actor For Cruelty To Dog

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — A neighbor of actor Tab Hunter said that the howls of Hunter's Weimaraner dog once disturbed him while he was watching television.

Roy Perrotta said he had seen Hunter strike the dog twice, and his wife, Elizabeth, testified Friday that she had seen Hunter beat the animal two or three times.

Frontier Guards Exchange Shots

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Austrian and Communist Hungarian frontier guards have exchanged fire for the first time since the 1956 uprising in Hungary, an Austrian guard said Friday.

Customs guard Richard Kamplis 27, said he fired back two days ago when a Hungarian soldier shot at him and missed. Twice in the past two weeks, Austrians have held their fire when Hungarian guards shot across the border.

Cars Driven By Brothers Collide

CONWAY, S.C. (AP) — Cars driven by brothers collided near their homes Friday night. One brother was killed and the other injured.

Conway County Coroner Littlejohn Blanton said Winston Todd, 25, drove to a store. When he did not return home when expected, his brother, Jerome, 20, set out to find him.

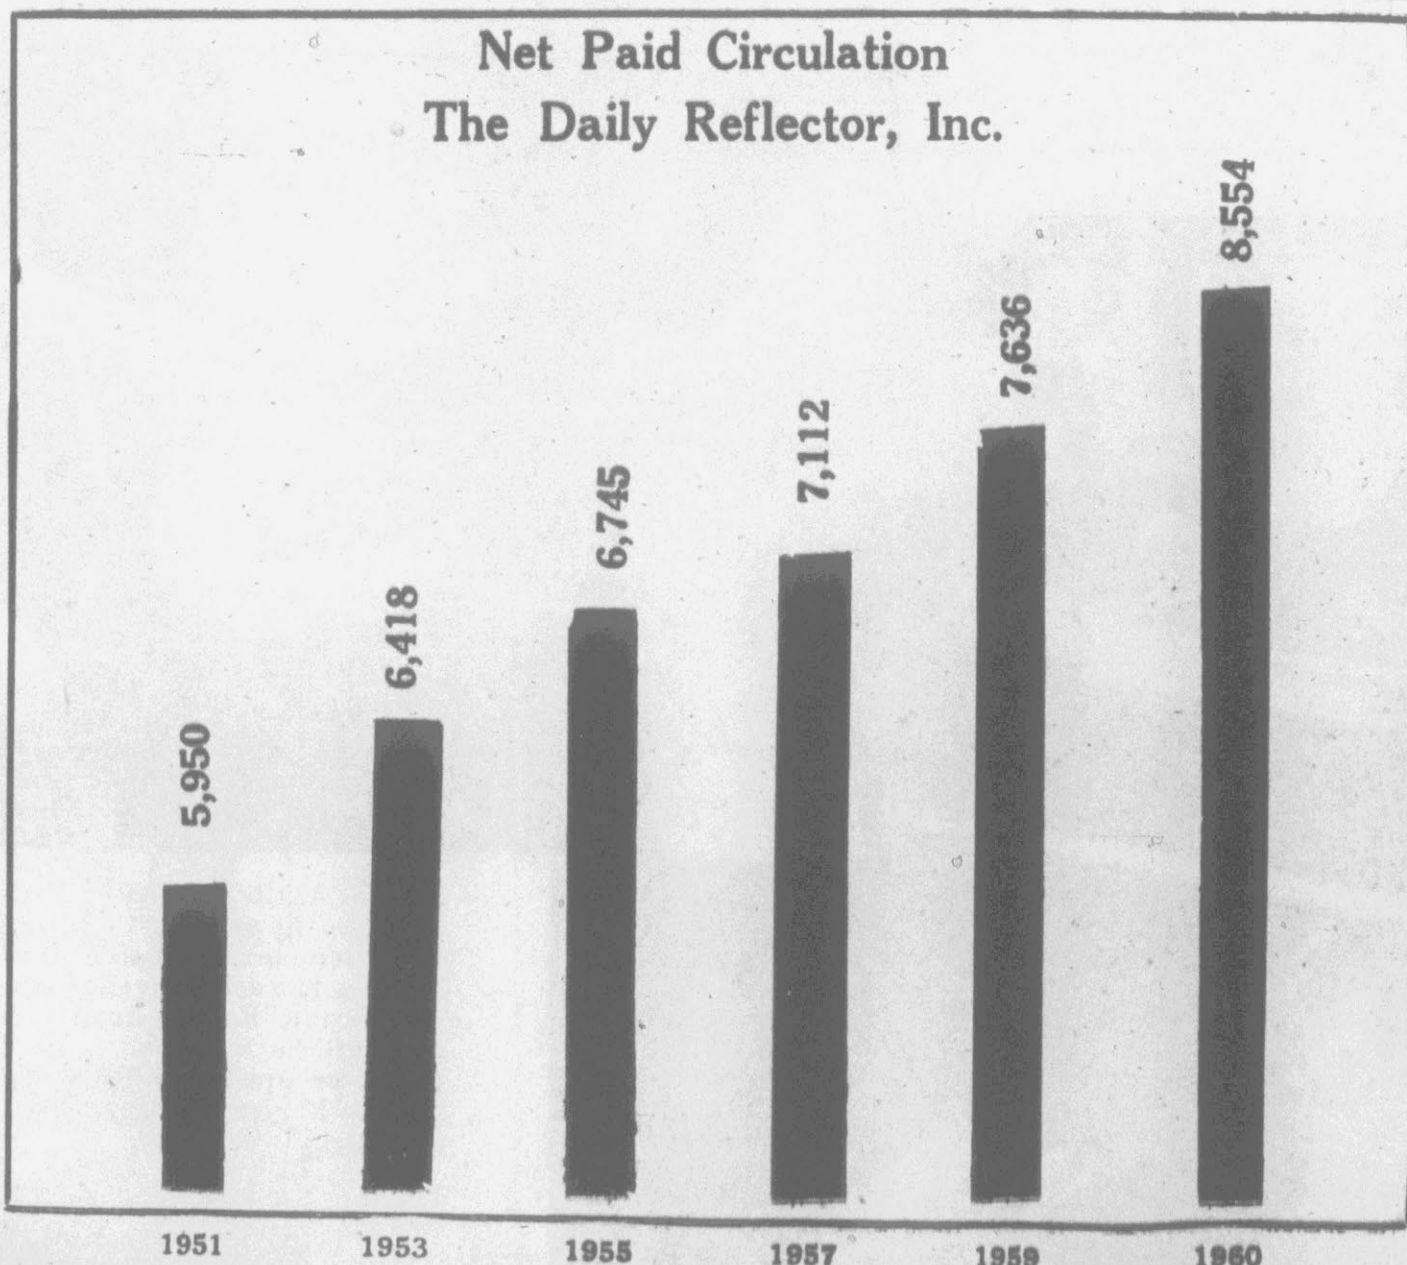

Their cars collided on a curve. Winston Todd was killed, and Jerome Todd was reported in serious condition at a hospital.

IT TOOK TWO JOLTS, SPOTS, BUT WE FINALLY ELECTROCUTED THE BEES.

LOOK THROUGH THAT PERISCOPE AND SEE IF THE COAST'S CLEAR SO WE CAN GET OUT OF HERE.

WAIT! DON'T OPEN THAT HATCH YET. WHY?

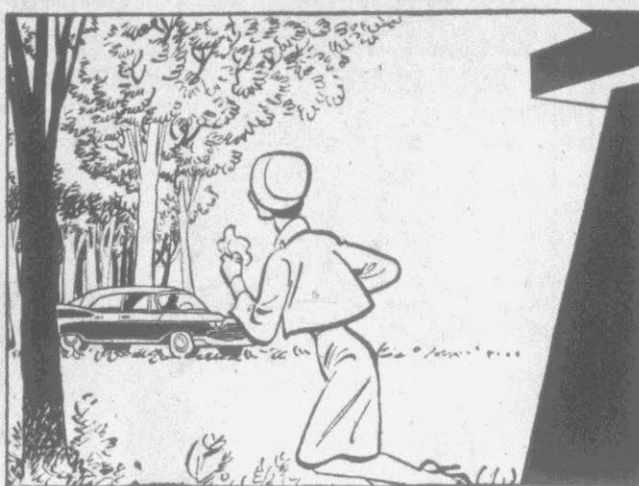

SH!— SOMEONE'S COMING TOWARD THE TANK— A WOMAN!

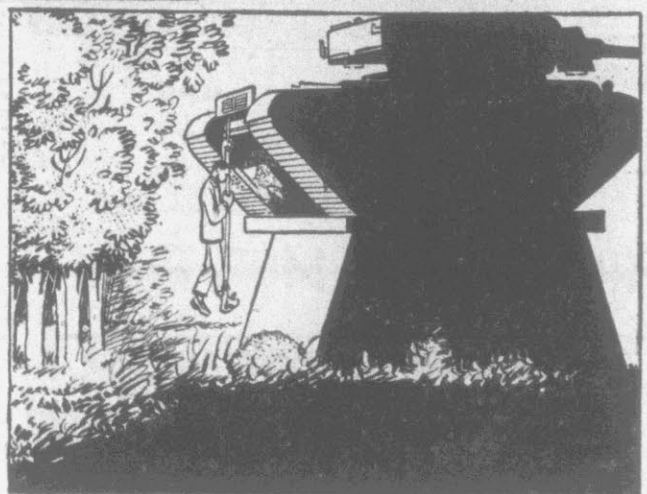

SHE'S CARRYING SOMETHING—AND THERE'S A CAR WAITING—

IS IT A POLICE CAR? NO, THERE'S ANOTHER WOMAN AT THE WHEEL, AND I CAN SEE THEIR LICENSE PLATE.

THEY'RE LEAVING. GOOD, SO ARE WE.

HEY, SPOTS, WAIT— LET'S SEE WHAT THAT WOMAN—

COME ON, YOU DOPE, LET'S GET OUT OF HERE. HUH?? A BABY? A BABY?

A BABY?

BOY! I WISH THEY'D LET ME SIT IN ON ONE OF THOSE MEETINGS WITH THE COMMIES!

I MAY BE SLOW WITH WORDS, BUT I CARRY A BIG STICK!

I'D SHOW THEM AMERICA ISN'T GETTING SOFT

OF COURSE I'D BE DIGNIFIED, BUT I'D BE FORCEFUL, TOO!

IF THEY WANTED TO PLAY IT ROUGH, I'D SHOW THEM AMERICA INVENTED THE WORD!

NOW THAT'S WHAT I CALL NEGOTIATING!
