U.S. Imposes Stiff Limitations On Exports To Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today banned all exports to Cuba except certain medical supplies and foods.

Castro is expected to react to the new U.S. move by expropriation of still further American businesses.

Robert Berrellez of the Associated Press staff said in a dispatch from Havana that Castro may also:

1. Make a formal demand that the United States abandon its huge Guantanamo naval base.

2. Break diplomatic relations with the United States.

Two U.S. government agencies issued the formal orders in the new crackdown on Castro. The Commerce Department issued that imposing the partial embargo on exports and the Maritime Administration the one dealing with shipping.

The export order forbids shipment of farm products "eligible for subsidy payments or stocked by the Commodity Credit Corp."

Soviet Backing Castro Bid To Condemn U.S. Policies

UF Approaches 23 Per Cent Of Pitt-Wide Goal

Yesterdays report meeting brought United Fund collections and pledges to $25,347.40. This is approximately 23 percent of the $111,000 county-wide goal.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union lined up quickly behind Cuba's newest efforts to have the United Nations condemn the United States on charges of waging aggression against the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Cuba first charged the United States in the U.N. with aggression in a complaint to the Security Council last July. The council, by a 9-0 vote, referred the complaint to the Organization of American States.

Russians Threaten 'Boycott'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union today threatened to boycott the U.N. disarmament debate if the United States and its Allies insist on pressing Western arms reduction plans.

Opening the disarmament debate in the General Assembly's Political Committee, Zorin rejected the Western proposals as a danger to peace.

He asserted that it would be impossible to establish an international police force as long as "the executive machinery of the United Nations was headed by one man who in all cases can express the interests of only one group of states."

Throngs Jam Broadway Today In Big Turnout To Greet Kennedys

Complete Plans For Visit By John Roosevelt

Plans were reported complete this morning for the Greenville visit tomorrow around noon of Republican leader John Roosevelt, son of the late great Democratic president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

JOHN ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy and his wife rode through a mass of humanity and a paper snowstorm on Broadway today, bidding for the crucial New York electoral vote.

The day was devoted to a maximum effort to be seen with a minimum of speaking.

Expressing confidence, he said his Democratic rival could bring along all the reference material he wanted for their final match Friday night.

Progress was inch by inch after that. The candidate shed his topcoat, and Mrs. Kennedy stood up with him, waving to office workers in the upper windows of the financial district buildings.

While the fourth TV debate between the two presidential candidates will be held here Friday night, there now appears little likelihood of an additional debate, as requested by Kennedy.

Mr. Nixon persists in his refusal to face me again, the American people will have to decide why as they enter the final 18 days of the campaign," the senator added. Kennedy staff members said a Nixon spokesman cited a complicated travel schedule as making an additional meeting impossible.

Even without the prospect of an additional face-to-face meeting, Kennedy's campaign for the closing weeks developed increasing toughness toward Nixon personally.

Sanford Leaving Sick Bed Today

Nixon Claims Victory In 2 Recent Great 'Debates'

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon today claimed victory in his last two debates with Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Expressing confidence, he said his Democratic rival could bring along all the reference material he wanted for their final match Friday night.

Sanford was ordered to bed Tuesday by a doctor who said the Fayetteville attorney was suffering a mild case of flu.

Sanford's aides announced he was cancelling his activities today and Thursday.

However, Sanford said he will go to Charlotte to tape a paid political broadcast at 2 p.m. today. The program will be shown at 8 p.m. tonight. He was reported to have only a slight temperature this morning.

Commissioners Approve Urban Renewal Buying, Resolutions

Redevelopment commissioners approved various purchases and resolutions concerning the Urban Renewal program last night.

Sanford said he will spend tonight in Charlotte and then plans to campaign in Cabarrus County Thursday as scheduled. Saturday he will campaign in Guilford County by helicopter and will join Adlai Stevenson in Moore County later in the day.

Sanford's illness caused him to miss a 10th District Democratic rally at Hickory Tuesday night featuring House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex.

Commissioners set the Second Thursday in September as an annual meeting date. The commission under its bylaws also meets monthly on the second Thursday of each month.

Polite Thief

MANOR PARK, England (AP)—A polite thief took his turn in a queue at a loan office Tuesday night, worked his way up to the desk, snatched a bag containing 2,000 pounds ($5,600) and fled in a truck.

NATO Defers To A Wedding Date

PARIS (AP)—The Atlantic alliance decided today that defense and political problems must give way to romance.

The NATO Permanent Council agreed on a 24-hour delay in opening the organization's annual ministerial sessions in December.

Nixon Again Will Move Into Dixie

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon will make a Southern campaign trip five days before next month's five days before next month's presidential elections, his campaign headquarters said today.

Nixon will campaign Nov. 3 in South Carolina, including Columbia Republican headquarters said the details of the trip would be made public later.

Miss Hart Weds Mr. Hudson

AYDEN—In the Ayden Free Will Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon, October 16, at three o'clock, amid a setting of candlelight and a floor baskets of white gladiol and mums before a background of palms, Miss Dorothy Dean Hart was married to Donald Allen Hudson. Rev. David Wells Hansley of Kinston officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Preceding the vows a program of nuptial music was presented by the organist, Mrs. Roy Turnage Jr. and David Charles Hansley, soloist of Wilson, who sang "O Promise Me," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "The Wedding Prayer" for the benediction.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thad Fernando Hart Jr. of Ayden, Rt. 1, is a graduate of Ayden High School and attended Mount Olive Junior College. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse James Hudson, Greenville, Rt. 3, graduated from Greenville High School, is a member of the Army Reserve and is engaged in farming.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle designed and made by her mother. The fitted lace bodice was fashioned with a scalloped neckline embroidered with iridescent sequins and pearl and long sleeves ending in bride points over the hands. Her bouffant skirt of plaited tulle ruffled and scalloped hem ended in a chapel train. Her veil of French flusion was attached to a tiara of iridescent and pearls and she carried a Bible topped with a purple throated white orchid.

Mrs. Duane Hart of Ayden, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Theibert Hughes Hart of Ayden, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Rodney Edwards of Farmville, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Paul Nethercutt of Greenville. They all wore dresses of red lace over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice and full skirts with which they wore matching bandeau and satin slippers, also pearl necklace and earrings, gifts from the bride. They carried cascade bouquets of red and white carnations tied with matching ribbons.

The honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. Max Butts, Mrs. Carroll Loyd and Miss Linda Worthington of Ayden and Miss Joyce Barwick of LaGrange. They wore red and green party dresses and carried a single stem red carnation.

The bridegroom had for his best man his brother-in-law, Larry Hardee of Greenville, and the ushers were Clinton Ray Hart of Ayden, brother of the bride, and Sammy Pugh, Bill Kittrell and D. R. Daniels, all of Greenville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hart chose a green, sheath lace dress with taffeta cummerbund, a matching feathered hat and shoes. Her corsage was of yellow carnations. The mother of the bridegroom was dressed in a navy blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

After the couple received the wedding guests in the church vestibule, they left for a wedding trip to Florida for travel. Mrs. Hudson chose a blue two-piece woolen suit with a white blouse, black hat and shoes and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson will be at home in Ayden.

Cake Cutting
Following the Hudson-Hart rehearsal on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hart and Mr. and Mrs. Theibert Hughes Hart entertained the members of the wedding party and other guests at a cake cutting at the home of the latter.

A color scheme of yellow and white was used. The refreshment table, covered with a white linen cloth with lace inserts, had for its centerpiece an arrangement of yellow mums and gladiol flanked with matching candles in silver candelabra.

After the couple had cut the first slice from the three tiered cake, Mrs. T. F. Hart Jr., mother of the bride, served the wedding cake and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. J. J. Hudson, poured punch.

Salted nuts and mints were served buffet style with Mesdames Max Butts and Carroll Loyd and Misses Linda Worthington and Joyce Barwick assisting with the serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Worthington presided at the bride's register.

Other Parties
Among the other social events for Miss Hart was a miscellaneous shower given Tuesday afternoon by the employees of the Griffon Clothing Company. Tuesday night, Mrs. Levi Worthington and Miss Brenda Singletary were joint hostesses at a bridal shower at the Worthington home on the Ayden-Griffon Highway. On Thursday night, Mrs. Larry Hardee entertained at a floating shower at her home in Greenville.

Club Votes Mrs. Edmondson Outstanding Member Of Year

BETHEL—When the Bethel Home Demonstration Club held its October meeting in the home of Mrs. W. R. Bullock last Wednesday, Mrs. R. B. Edmondson was voted the most outstanding club member of the year.

Leader reports were heard from Mrs. Lewis Ayers, health leader, on the progress of the Pitt County cancer campaign. Mrs. R. B. Edmondson, in the absence of the clothing leader, displayed some of the fall hats that were made in the recent hat workshop. She also showed pictures of the last fall styles.

Mrs. Maude Harris, education leader, invited the members to attend the Home Demonstration Book Club which met in the home of Mrs. H. L. Tetterton Tuesday.

The president, Mrs. Dennis Harady, presided at a short business session at which she discussed the Home Demonstration Club exhibits at the Pitt County Fair, and expressed appreciation for the cooperation of those who helped.

Miss Lily Harper, assistant home agent, gave a demonstration on "Living With Others."

She stated, "This is the harvest time of crops and also harvest time of our relations with people." She said we are judged by our manners and that they should be good at all times. She gave interesting points on these subjects: meeting people, introducing speakers, the art of conversation and welcoming visitors and newcomers.

Mrs. R. R. James, recreation leader, led the group in games.

At the refreshment period, the hostess served sweet potato tarts, candies and coffee to the 15 members and one guest, Mrs. R. N. Simmons.

Slumber Party Is Held On Birthday
ROBERSONVILLE—Miss Linda Leggett celebrated her 16th birthday after the balgame Friday night.

When the guests arrived at the honoree's home, a decorated cake centered the appointed table. Knickknacks and soft drinks were served buffet style.

Gifts were opened and displayed, after which records were played and refreshments served.

Those who attended the slumber party were Misses Martha Woodard, Georgia Keel, Judy Taylor, Helen Everett, Glenda Lee Roberson, Katherine Purvis, Frances Clark and Betsy Bunting.

Home Demonstration Club Meet Held
ROBERSONVILLE—The first meeting of the Home Demonstration Club (since the summer recess) was held Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Hattie Hardy.

Fall flowers interspersed with greenery decorated the living room where the guest assembled.

Following the brief business session, Mrs. Helen Hoskins of Williamson, the county agent, gave a program on upholstery, with demonstrations on covering furniture.

The hostess served potato chips, crackers, pickles and soft drinks to the members and guest, Mrs. J. Clayton Keel.

The club will meet with Mrs. Thomas L. House on Oct. 26.

With Farm Women

Women Study Practical Politics
What do you know about politics? Home Demonstration Club women in Perquimans County decided they needed to know more about practical politics.

According to Miss Ila Grey McIlwain, home economics agent, the women joined with another organization in having a course in political science. The citizenship leaders from each club were asked to attend the course and learn more about political organizations, procedure and opportunities in the community.

United Nations Meal
Former delegates of the United Nations tour recently met for a luncheon to plan United Nations observance in Stanly County and to brief the delegate which will go this year.

Mrs. Ira Leffler of Norwood was the first delegate in 1953. Miss Elizabeth Watson, home economics agent, says each person prepared a dish from recipes in the United Nations cookbook. The menu consisted of American Ham, Picante de Maize (Chilean Spiced Corn, Chile), String Beans (Uruguay), Ensalada de Guacamole (Avocado Salad, Guatemala), Vienna Hard Rolls, Brazilian Coffee, and Karthopeta (Walnut Cake, Greece).

Conserving Apples
Mrs. Delbert Swann of Caswell County has prepared and dried apples. After they are dry, she stores them in glass jars. Mrs. Swann reports she has not had any trouble with insects.

Miss Louise Homewood, home economics agent, reports many of the home demonstration women have used canneries this year in conserving their plentiful supply of fruits and vegetables.

Quality Fig Preserves
By quality, one means peeling figs to preserve, weighing figs, and using accurate measurements of sugar plus lemon juice," says Mrs. Ann Davenport, home economics agent in Tyrrell County. Another important thing being stressed is to process preserves.

Mrs. Davenport has been stressing the proper way to make good quality fig preserves. Mrs. E. L. Mitchell, Columbia, declared, "I rather have one pint of peeled fig preserves than five pints of unpeeled ones. The quality and taste is so much better."

Savings Noted On 4-H Projects
Rebecca Parker, 19 year old 4-H girl of Meadow Community in Johnston County, has completed information on all projects completed in eight years of 4-H Club work. She included the value, expense and savings from these projects.

Mrs. Peggy Stallings, assistant home economics agent, says Rebecca has saved her family approximately $9500 through her 4-H homemaking projects. The largest savings were in clothing and food preparation.

Each One Bring One
Home Demonstration Club women in Lincoln County furthered their cooperation with health agencies by sponsoring the Bloodmobile program for the October visit.

Mrs. Charlotte Rumley, home economics agent, says the women used as their motto "each one bring one." Each woman was asked to give blood plus getting one other person to give.

American Home Department Has Dr. McNeil As Guest Speaker

Guest speaker at the recent meeting of the American Home Department of the Woman's Club was Dr. Bessie McNeil, who showed color slides and discussed her trip to the Belgium Congo.

She said she had no idea when she began writing to the Kenneth Jones Family that she would eventually visit them in the Congo. Jarvis Memorial Church made the trip possible by paying a portion of her plane fare, she said.

Dr. McNeil, describing her trip, said she arrived in the city of Kindu and lived with the Joneses, who are missionaries in the Congo. The population includes about 1,000 white people, Dr. McNeil said, with few modern homes. Most homes are mud-stick houses. The city has a central water pump and a central laundry.

The missionaries have two or three house boys who do housework and cooking. Dr. McNeil said, and wages are $18 a month.

Women do hard work of the family, but they never work outside the home, Dr. McNeil said. They make and tend a garden, gather wood for fuel and take care of the home and children. They wash clothes in a nearby stream, she said.

Large families are the rule. A pre-natal clinic, conducted by Kathryn Eye, serves to educate the women in saving life through pre-natal care. Miss Eye bribes the expectant mother to come to her clinic by offering her a blanket, Dr. McNeil said. While waiting at the clinic for the baby to be born, the mothers are taught to sew, make diapers, baby gowns, blankets and learn how to prepare and feed the right food to her children, thus cutting down the death rate.

Rice is the main dish of the natives, Dr. McNeil said, which they eat twice a day. A green called papaya is served like spinach; smoked fish and meat are eaten too.

In Kindu, Dr. McNeil said there are 99 members in the W.S.C.S. who pay their dues not in money, but with eggs, bananas, pineapples and papayas.

Many men wear western garb, but the women wear a length of cloth around themselves, and when dressed up, they wear a covering on the head. Younger girls who have gone to the mission home economics class have learned to make dresses.

A short business meeting preceded the program. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. J. A. Clark, Frank Little, H. R. Rogers, Ethel Allen, E. L. Baker and Ellen Petrie.

Individual pies were served with coffee. The table arrangement carried out the fall theme.

Hostess Gives Program To Garden Club

ROBERSONVILLE—The Robersonville Garden Club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hilton Carson on Pineire Drive.

The hostess gave a program on "Shady Gardens." She mentioned different species of fern and stated there are over 9,000 kinds scattered all over the world.

Drawings were used to show some of the varieties.

Mrs. Carson explained that this hardy plant requires a shady, moist place and will grow year after year with little or no care. Pictures were used to illustrate different types of gardens.

During the business session, the following projects were adopted: To have a window display of fall ideas on gardens; to place a terrarium in the Ward Clinic, and one in the library; for each hostess to be responsible for a flower arrangement to be judged to promote artistic arranging.

Members decided to cooperate with the Service Club in planting dogwood trees, and Mrs. Mayo Little was asked to report on the progress.

Plans were made to attend the district meeting to be held in the First Methodist Church, Rocky Mount, on Oct. 21.

Chipping Away At Massive Chunk Of Concrete

HAMMERING AWAY . . . Worker equipped with air hammer slowly gives huge concrete foundation a "shave."

What is generally regarded as the oldest and biggest chunk of concrete in Greenville is now being broken away, piece by piece, and hauled out of town. The exact dimensions of the huge circular concrete slab, once used as a base for Greenville's municipal water tank, are not known, but estimates are that the cement block is about eight feet deep. Its diameter is about 18 feet. Monday, the tedious airhammer operation began. The airhammer and its operator soon learned the old concrete base was "solid as a rock." Pitt County purchased the 30-by-30-foot plot of ground behind the courthouse form Greenville after the city demolished the 110-foot-high tank that served as storage

Talent Search Easing Up In Executive Field

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Business still is in the market for executive talent. But some of the urgency has gone out of the search and fewer top job openings—except in the sales departments—are reported by specialists than a year ago. Recruiting of engineers still is a full-time occupation for many firms, especially those in the defense and allied industries. And many devices to curtail raiding of other staffs, or to cut the high cost of recruiting an engineer or scientist, are winning favor. One is the growing trend toward setting up career centers in connection with national meetings of technical groups—a big saving in time and effort, and bringing into the open a once furtive practice. But in the engineering field, too, new need for engineering executives, as apart from the basic staff, is reported slackening. Some of the easing in the rush to find top men to head production, engineering or general administrative staffs may be due to the slump in many industries. But a large part is traceable to cost-cutting studies. A sharp look at personnel, at all levels, has led some companies to feel that many jobs are duplicated. And a peek at the rosters of their rivals has shown some that competitors are hiring fewer men to get the same job done. A survey of 133 large companies with average annual sales of $113 million shows them expecting to fill 292 jobs paying from $10,000 to $75,000 a year during the coming six months. This is 2.2 jobs per firm. A year ago a like survey showed 466 job openings, or 3.5 per company. Six months ago there were 299 openings, or 2.5 per company. The recruiting firm sponsoring the poll, Executive Manpower Corp., New York, says sales executives are bucking the trend. The openings have increased in the last six months—28.5 per cent of the total now as against 27.1 per cent in March. This is in line with the stepped up sales drives of many companies as competition increases and customers grow more coy. Manufacturing production executives are second in line—21.9 per cent of the openings now, against 18.6 per cent earlier in the year. A group including general management, administrative and research executives is third with 16.1 per cent of the openings now, against 11.2 per cent last time. But the search for engineering executives is sharply off in the last six months—14.7 per cent of today's opening against the 22.5 per cent that put this field in second place in March. GOING HOME NEW YORK (AP) — Sekou Toure, president of Guinea, left for home Tuesday night from the United Nations General Assembly. Sea lilies are really animals, but they look like the plant for which they are named.

Mint Is Decade Ahead With Its 'Oddball' Penny

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Even the United States Mint can make mistakes — and George Mellink claims he can prove it. Mellink, 56, a coin collector for five years, has in his possession a coin he calls an "oddball," although other people might call it an impossibility. It's a 1969 penny. Mellink discovered the unusual coin in a roll of uncirculated pennies minted in Philadelphia. He had asked a young friend, Glenn Robaugh Jr., of Napa, to bring back some coins when he went East with his family on a vacation.

MINT MISTAKE—Stamping presses goofed to produce this '1969' penny owned by George Mellink of Napa, Calif.

Robaugh brought back a bag of coins from a bank in Altoona, Pa. In the second roll, while looking for some of the relatively rare "small figure" pennies minted this year, Mellink found his "oddball."

Mellink explains the phenomenon this way:

The coin probably stuck in the Mint's stamping presses and was struck twice. On the second strike, which coincided almost completely with the first, the 0 of 1960 was broken up in such a way that a curved tail was left dangling down.

The result is a 9 similar in size and shape to the second number in the date.

Is the coin valuable? Mellink says it's not for sale, "but if someone offered me $10,000 for it I don't think I'd stall him off."

Sam Rayburn Tours North Carolina, His Guns Aimed At All Republicans

STATESVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Sam Rayburn, an orator of the old-time political school, continued his tamping tour of North Carolina today with his guns aimed at all Republicans, big and little. "Mr. Sam," the Texan who has served as speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, longer than any man, was honored at a luncheon here at noon today. Tonight he will speak at a rally of Sixth District Democrats, and in particular for Horace Kornegay, the party's nominee to succeed retiring Rep. Carl Durham, at Burlington. Rayburn made two appearances at Hickory Tuesday, one of them to a 10th District rally that drew 5,000 to an old-fashioned barbecue rally. Also on hand were Gov. Luther Hodges, Cloyd Philpott, nominee for lieutenant governor, four congressmen and six members of the Council of State. Earlier, Rayburn spoke to about 800 students at the College Park Junior High School in Hickory. In typical political style, Rayburn,

78, kissed blond 14-year-old Helen Willis two or three times in front of her class mates. Helen, who wrote a term paper on Rayburn for her civics class, had written the Texas congressman and asked him to speak to the school. "Mr. Sam" accepted, and Helen drew the honor of introducing him to the school. In a brief talk to the students, Rayburn said old-fashioned "elbow grease" is still the best weapon a young person can use to get ahead. He also said students should study more history, especially the lives of great men, as they will be better able to decide for themselves what they want, to do in life.

But at the giant Hickory rally, Rayburn got around to doing just what he came to North Carolina to do — fire away at the Republicans.

He told a cheering audience that under the GOP, the nation's economic strength has reached its lowest ebb since Reconstruction days, and that under the present administration the national debt has increased more than $7 billion and the interest on it by more than 33 1-3 per cent.

He called the GOP a party of big business, with little concern for the middle man, the farmer, the laborer and the average householder.

"I come to you proudly as a Democrat," he said. "The longer I serve under the Hardings, the Coolidges and the Hoovers, the prouder I am that I'm still a Democrat."

"I can tell you now," he said, "if you give us a Democratic administration and a Democratic House and Senate, we will put the United States back in the forefront as the leader of the Free World. The time has come for us to do this, for we are in the most dangerous era in history."

Lodge 'Promise' Officially Labeled Own 'Prediction'

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge meets with dairy leaders today on his two-day campaign swing through upstate New York.

Lodge was scheduled to meet here with the leaders of the four big dairy cooperatives in the New York-New Jersey milkshed before flying to Rochester, where he will wind up the campaign trip.

Lodge, Republican vice-presidential candidate, predicted Tuesday that a negro would be appointed to the Cabinet if Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his running mate, were elected president.

In Albany, at the beginning of the tour, he accused Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, of "pussyfooting and dodging" the issue of whether a Negro should serve in the Cabinet.

"Let him declare where he stands. If he's against it, let him say so," Lodge told newsmen. Kennedy said Monday in Ohio that he was not going to promise a Cabinet or any other post to any race or ethnic group. He said such promises were "racism in reverse at its worst."

Lodge was asked to comment on charges that he was "renegeing" on reported pledges that a Negro would be appointed to the Cabinet should the GOP ticket win the Nov. 8 election.

He said there ought to be a Negro in the Cabinet because it would do "enormous good" for United States foreign relations and also fulfill the national purpose.

"I will make this prediction," he said. "If Richard Nixon is elected, there will be a qualified Negro in the Cabinet."

An Associated Press reporter and photographer then understood him to add, "That's a promise."

Lodge later denied that he had used the word "promise" and it was not in a recording of the interview.

Another reporter on the scene did not hear it. In Syracuse, Vincent P. O'Brien, Lodge's press secretary, claimed that Associated Press dispatches reporting the interview were erroneous.

O'Brien said his examination of a transcript of the tape-recording showed clearly that the word "promise" never was said by Lodge.

Reporter Michael Keating of The Associated Press said he had heard the word in an aside by Lodge. In his denial, Lodge repeated the word "prediction" and pointed out, as he had at other times, that it was the President's job to make Cabinet appointments.

Nixon has said he would appoint the best men he could find, without regard to race or creed. He said again Tuesday in Florida: "I have made no commitments, and I don't think any should be made. But I will say . . . that, if elected, I will appoint the best man."

Sold 4 Tickets For Good Cause

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—Loyal Democrat James T. Gooch figures his four tickets to Saturday's Arkansas-Mississippi football game—a sellout—went for a good cause.

Gooch said his tickets weren't for sale for any price, but that he'd swap them for four $100 contributions to the Arkansas Democratic party. This, he said, was to help counteract a Republican-tinged $150-per-plate "party for two parties" given Monday night at millionaire Winthrop Rockefeller's farm.

Gooch, chairman of the Clark County Democratic Committee, said Vera Meehan of Stuttgart took all four tickets. He had a lot of other calls, though, after word of his offer got around Tuesday.

The Democrats, pointing to a poll by a New York firm, said 46 per cent of the voters are for Kennedy, 39 per cent for Nixon and 15 per cent undecided. Both parties claimed gains over earlier polls.

Pollsters Giving Both Sides Edge

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Texas Democrats and Republicans, both claiming their national tickets are leading the state in voter preference, agree that neither side has the election in the bag.

Republican leaders said a poll by a Texas firm showed Vice President Richard M. Nixon was favored by 44 per cent of the voters with 39 per cent leaning to Sen. John F. Kennedy and 17 per cent undecided.

A Real Blooper By The Candidate

We are stumped by Tuesday's blooper by Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican Party's vice presidential candidate.

Politically speaking it was a blunder of the first magnitude to predict a Negro would hold a cabinet post if Richard Nixon were elected president.

It was an affront to Negro voters. The statement was an affront to Negro voters, for it inferred candidate Lodge would pay off for their support.

The prediction was an affront to all voters because it inferred candidate Lodge would not name the most capable man to cabinet responsibilities, but would name cabinet members on the basis of their value in getting him elected.

As a matter of fact, the candidate for vice president has no business going around promising anybody anything about cabinet jobs. That's the responsibility of presidents-elect.

The former ambassador to the United Nations earlier had drawn a storm of debate over just what he was saying, or what he meant, in comments on the same subject in Harlem and Virginia. His Albany "prediction" was stronger, Newsmen heard him.

About one hour later, in a television interview, Lodge firmly said he could not promise there would be a Negro in the cabinet since the president would make the appointments.

In Albany, a reporter heard him "promise".

During his years of representing the United States in the UN Mr. Lodge earned a high degree of admiration from the American public.

Apparently he has been out of politics too long, and forgotten some of the groundrules.

Aside from his personal convictions that a Negro cabinet member would do "enormous good" for U.S. foreign relations, we suspect more than mere compulsion is behind his statements.

In New York state, opinion samplers see much evidence that John Kennedy is holding a narrow lead; and those 45 electoral votes of the Empire State are mighty important to a winning ticket.

In Virginia, Richard Nixon is believed to be holding a narrow lead with Kennedy's stock on the rise.

Could it be, then, that the Lodge comments stem from desperation? From an over-zealous desire to steam-roller the opposition? Or is this the product of a subconscious desire to see a Democratic victory?

More such unthinking statements could be disastrous.

North Carolina's only, and most respected, Republican congressman was questioned about his thinking on a Negro in the cabinet. His response:

"My feeling is that the cabinet should be chosen on the basis of experience and qualifications for the job, not the basis of race, religion or what have you." That's a fair enough answer for anybody.

More Than A Mighty Ship Being Scrapped

It's official . . . the battleship USS North Carolina will be sold for scrap in January.

This is a sad thing to any and all of the personnel who formed her crew and to the multitude who have looked upon this 35,000 tons of armored might and marveled.

More than signifying the end of merely another great battleship, the dismal death of the North Carolina marks another great stride toward ending a tradition: the ship-of-the-line.

For centuries it comprised the backbone of battle fleets and the pride of sea-going nations.

It was that class of warship carrying the heaviest of guns and the most massive of armor. It was the sledgehammer which pounded smaller foes into oblivion.

The USS North Carolina was of this breed: born, as fate would have it, solely for World War II. She has since been inactive.

There were larger ships of war, the Wisconsin, for instance. That 45,000-ton giant was retired in 1957.

World War II spawned the most magnificent ships-of-the-line history had ever known. Despite their bulk they were trimly proportioned and for their size boasted impressive speeds.

Now, fifteen years later, they are gone. Their big guns and massive armor are obsolete.

Like dinosaurs of the past they lived out their time. Even the time-honored line of battle figures no longer in tactical planning.

Today's fleets can dispatch lethal death at targets thousands of miles away.

Today's fleets can prow in the murky depth and then strike finally and deadly, without warning.

Today's navies can move faster than thought possible fifteen short years ago.

More than a mighty warship will be converted into scrap when bids are opened in January; a tradition is also dying.

Cautious During This Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential candidates are making this the most cautious campaign in recent history.

They might have started a fire long ago if there weren't some sensitive things they had to worry about.

Take Sen. John F. Kennedy, who criticizes America's defenses, says it has lost prestige, and is lagging economically.

All these are criticisms of President Eisenhower's two administrations, but Kennedy is careful not to tear into Eisenhower personally.

Asked why, Kennedy said he has great respect for the President and that his criticisms are after all aimed at his administration.

But there's a sound reason why the senator is laying off the President himself. It might cost him votes because Eisenhower is still so highly popular—so much so that he could probably beat either Kennedy or Vice President Richard M. Nixon if he were running against them right now.

Nixon has some problems of his own to worry about—more than Kennedy, perhaps—but certainly enough to keep him from pulling out all the stops.

In the first place, there are more registered Democrats than Republicans.

He has to hold the Republicans but can't win with them alone. He has to appeal to independents and some Democrats too.

He has obliquely criticized the administration on some things.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS THE HORROR OF EMPTINESS

Whoops! oh no, no it can't be. The gas tank is empty.

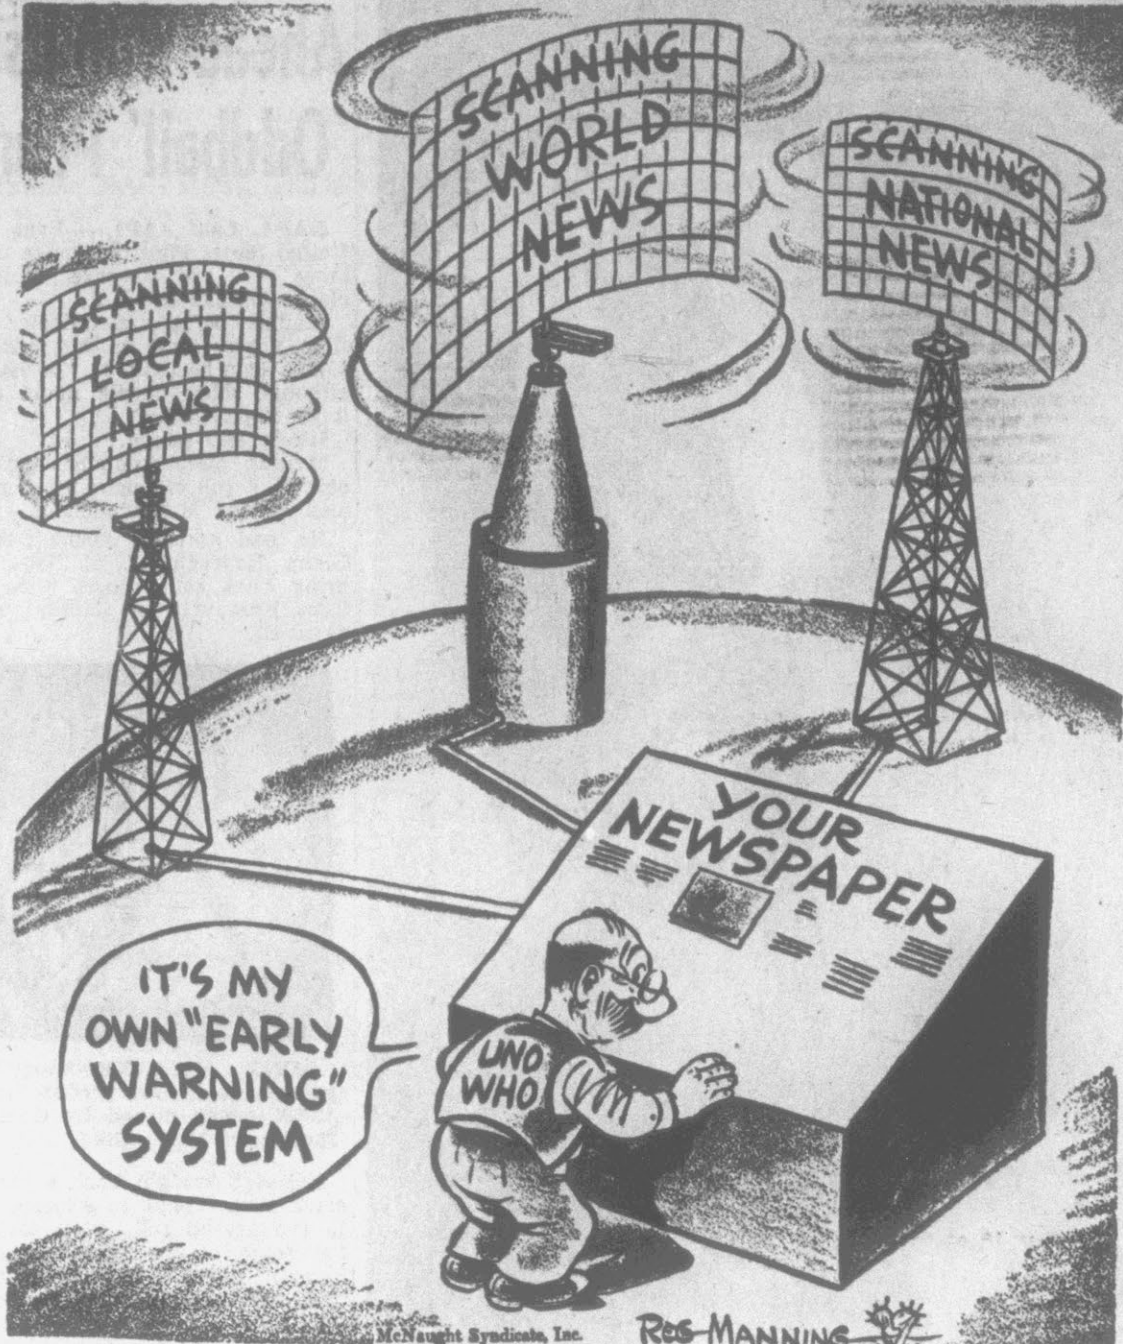

Have you ever had that experience? The horrifying thought which almost overwhelms you of course is that you will not be able to make it to the curb. There, without power to move an inch, you will be in the middle of the street with horns blasting, angry people expostulating, and perhaps the policeman coming up and asking "How come?"

It is to be hoped that you will not have this experience, or if you have had it in the past that you will not have it again. But if you do, just reflect when you get back home what a kinship there is between this traffic problem and the moral and spiritual situation in which many people find themselves. For there are some people in the world who have no power within themselves. They can be pushed or pulled around, but so far as their own motive power is concerned they are helpless. They have developed nothing which really makes life go for them.

Beware of emptiness. Whether the emptiness is emptiness of head, or emptiness of heart, or emptiness of life, be sure that it is just as unnecessary as for any of us with normal common sense to allow ourselves to run out of gas.

Strange Things Happen

Strange things happen in Greenville on either the high school or the college Homecoming day.

When they both fall on the same weekend all that word-Mr. Truman-said-I-didn't breaks loose.

What your columnist is working around to, is a police call I heard on the short wave radio around midnight Saturday.

We were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hardee in Lakewood Pines that night. Roy, a television station WNCN newsman, has a police radio receiver in his home.

Around midnight a message came through for prowl cars to be on the lookout for a 1956 blue auto. Someone had reported boys in the vehicle were throwing eggs.

"Subject states that he chased them behind Elmhurst School and they stopped the car and ran in five different directions," the radio crackled.

Message didn't say whether it was high school boys still celebrating their Friday Homecoming or college boys continuing their Saturday one.

I've read stories through the years about Harry Truman wearing down reporters with his swift pace.

Now I can personally report that, even though the former president is 75-years-old, he can do just that.

I followed Truman on his tour of eastern Carolina last Friday and, believe me, it was a rugged day.

Friday was unseasonably hot which made the tour even tougher for those making it.

Truman spoke first in Zebulon around 10 o'clock. After talking off-the-cuff there he jumped in a car and moved on to Wilson. There he attended a reception around noon where he shook quite a few hands. Next the former chief executive moved on to the Wilson ballpark for another address.

Then he was hustled into a waiting car for a ride through Wilson's business section. Next he was transferred to another car in which he headed on to Nashville.

He stopped at a house there for a short time where food was served to the party. After that it was back to the waiting cars, then to downtown Nashville where another speech was made.

The sun was broiling hot by that time but Harry appeared fresh as a daisy. Back to the cars following this, the Truman caravan headed to Rocky Mount and another speaker's platform. He still appeared as if he had just arisen and was making his first speech of the day.

Following this, Truman went to the airport where he boarded a plane for another such day in Virginia.

To me, it was a strenuous day. To him it all seemed to be part of the game.

Someone on the press bus said Truman was taking cat naps at each stop. If he was, they had to be quick ones because there just wasn't much time for this. However, the former president was noted for being able to take cat naps when he was in office.

And there are many others that can be discussed at another time. But all the agencies are bound together in one gift from you, when you give the United Way.

And you are being asked to give only the income of one hour a month for the United Fund. If this were followed the goal would be reached in less than a month.

There is no magic to fund raising. It is an appeal to you who have worked for so many drives, for so many times, to put your efforts into the United Fund drive. It has been chosen as the way to meet the needs of the participating agencies.

With all our people assuming their share, and everyone having a stake in the program, we are spreading civic responsibility where it belongs, among all our people.

The Growing Cost Of Services

By Elmer Reossner Almost every recapitulation of the American economy in recent years has noted that the growth of services is greater than the growth of consumer goods.

This makes many angry. "What are they talking about?" people demand. "We are getting less services. We may be giving the waiters a little more in tips, but we get less service than we used to. Furthermore, grandmother used to have a maid and a cook, but you can't hire them any more unless you're Nelson Rockefeller. So what's this double-talk about spending more for services?"

The key to the problem: services are rarely rendered by servants. "We are getting less services. We may be giving the waiters a little more in tips, but we get less service than we used to. Furthermore, grandmother used to have a maid and a cook, but you can't hire them any more unless you're Nelson Rockefeller. So what's this double-talk about spending more for services?"

Services are the things you get for your money, less the cost of goods.

EXAMPLE You buy a frozen television dinner for $1.29. The first 19c pays for meat, potatoes, vegetables and tray. That is, if you're lucky. The rest of the $1.10 goes for services: the cooking of the food, the knowledge of what spices to add, the making of the gravy, the freezing, the wrapping, the selling and transportation of the dinner to the market, the promotion, the delivery if any, and a score more other services wrapped into that package.

A score more? They include part of the rent of the factory kitchen, part of transportation costs from factory to warehouse (including union checkoff), the cost of government inspection, fire and theft protection, shake-downs by racketeers between factory and your kitchen (yes that's a "service" most of us help pay), parking fines levied on delivery trucks and on and on.

A score more? Probably nearer a hundred!

With all the services you get, you're lucky to get a television dinner for $1.29. You might expect to pay $4.29.

If you buy a car, you pay a small part for the components and a larger part for the putting together, which is really a service but is usually classified as "value added by manufacturer." But thereafter, most of what you spend on the car will be for service, even the amounts you pay for gas and oil. Look at your garage bills; storage, testing, labor, checking and everything else except parts constitute service. You may think you're driving a Merc. But you're driving several thousand dollars worth of service, and every time you stop and start, you buy a little more.

In the United States, when automation or other progress increases productivity, production wages go up. And with production wages rise, so do those in the service trades. If Joe, the auto worker, gets a raise because of increased productivity, Pete, the bartender, also wants a raise. And he gets it, too, or else he learns auto making.

The raising of service wages because of increase industrial efficiency is a domestic problem, yet it spills over into our international trade.

If we are to hold our own in the rising competition in foreign commerce, we must take special care to keep "service" charges out of the production field.

In stripped-down products, with automation and American know-how, we can compete with our friends and enemies in foreign markets. But if we try to lay on the services that American customers demand, we're lost.

After all, the Congolese want damned few television dinners. OR THE REST DO THE WORK One association has the "creative vice president." The others, one imagines, are drones. You Can't Tell The Bargains Without Multiplication Table Advertising Age reports this ad in a Philadelphia newspaper: "Suede flannel, reg. 49 cents, 2 yard, $1."

And this by a New York department store: "Boys dungarees—SALE—2 for $5.99. Regularly $1.98 each."

Blocks To The Treaty

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

In the disarmament discussion, two words, inspection and control, have become stumbling blocks to understanding. This has been so since the very first discussions of the atom bomb in the early years of the United Nations. Bernard Baruch represented the United States and he was adamant that there could be no blind disarmament; that we had to know what we were doing.

The realistic danger is surprise attack. Khrushchev takes the position that he would never be so wicked as to do such a thing, but there is no reason to have a blind date with him. It is more scientific to have a United Nations commission inspect all countries, discover what is available, and for a United Nations commission to control the disarmament and to keep the record.

Professor Henry A. Kissinger makes the point:

"As long as the retaliatory forces are composed primarily of liquid-fuel missiles and airplanes — as they will be until the middle sixties — the side which strikes first will have a perhaps decisive advantage unless the defender's retaliatory force is in a state of high readiness. But when two retaliatory forces so constituted confront each other, their very structure may contribute to instability, regardless of the intentions of the two sides. Even if those intentions are peaceful, each side must seek to protect itself against catastrophe by increasing the readiness and security of its retaliatory force."

If Khrushchev is sincere in desiring disarmament, he must agree to inspection and control as a prior step toward disarmament. His failure to accept inspection and control indicates that he does not believe in universal disarmament, that he would like the West to disarm, while he hides weapons. President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan was the most that could be afforded by the West. Soviet Russia rejected that. Khrushchev says disarm first and negotiate control afterwards, but that is precisely where the danger lies. Professor Kissinger makes the point that even 50 hidden weapons would confer "a perhaps overwhelming superiority." Why should we risk that?

The conclusion must be reached from the long record of discussion on this subject that Soviet Russia only wishes to do disarmament but does not wish to disarm. As a matter of fact, Soviet Russia cannot afford to disarm.

In the first place, Soviet Russia now lives in definite peril that Red China will increase its armaments and will be manufacturing rockets and missiles. Red China can afford to be the aggressor because its traditions are imperious. The loss of 100,000,000 persons in China would mean practically nothing.

Secondly, unless Soviet Russia rules its satellites, it cannot hold them at all. The East Germans have a tradition of hatred for the Slavs which runs throughout the history of both countries. Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania, Poland, and Hungary are held by force and by force alone. Even if Soviet Russia were limited to the use of orthodox weapons, these countries could not be held. Therefore in this stage of its development, Soviet Russia must maintain a military force sufficient to hold its entire empire.

Thirdly, the Soviet Revolution is not yet ready to reveal its correct achievements to the world. Inspection could produce reports of mechanical and technical inadequacy which the Western countries do not fear but which Soviet Russia cannot tolerate.

It is therefore evident why Khrushchev makes such impossible conditions for disarmament. What are those conditions:

1. Total disarmament of both orthodox and unorthodox weapons.

2. No inspection whatsoever until the disarmament has been completed. But how is it to be known that the disarmament has been completed? Nations of good will trust each other. But suppose

Popular Election To The Boards?

By Lynn Misbet

SCHOOL BOARDS — Robert Gavin, Republican candidate for Governor, is giving more than usual emphasis to the long standing contention of his party that county boards of education should be elected by the people. Failing that, he would require representation of both political parties on every county board.

To support claim for popular election, the case of county commissioners is cited. To support bipartisan representation, on appointed boards, the case of boards of election is cited.

Under existing law members of county boards of education are named by the General Assembly, from nominees of party primaries as certified by the county boards of elections to the State schools. Later, when the State and by him to the General Assembly. Since the Legislature is to assure Democratic members of county boards.

REASONS — It is quite likely that when the current method of appointing boards was instituted, its objective was to keep Republicans from controlling the public schools. Later, then the State assumed much larger share of the school costs, it was argued that the State through the Legislature should name local control officers. The ratio of State and local share in costs has turned back toward a near equal basis, and full State control is no longer justified.

Anyways, the argument for State appointment of county boards fails to be convincing, in view of the fact that city administrative trustees are appointed by local municipal governing bodies. There are 100 county boards and more than 70 city administrative units in the state, and the city units have nearly half the school enrollment. If the cities can appoint school boards, why should not the counties?

INTEREST — Gavin's discussion of school administration has served to focus attention on local than money problems in the public schools. Admittedly, one of these is the multiplicity of administrative units, each requiring a separate board of trustees and a superintendent. Cost of operating the administrative office runs from $10,000 to $25,000 a year.

The City of Charlotte and Mecklenburg county are in process of consolidating their school systems into one unit. Wilmington has always been a part of the New Hanover county system. Most other large counties, and some not large at all, have from three to seven or eight independent school systems. Someone has figured that 65 or more of these units could be consolidated for greater efficiency and a dollar saving sufficient to employ about 150 additional classroom teachers.

There has been some indication that new administrative units have been established in the past, largely because of desire to put control of the schools in a board locally selected, rather than one appointed by the General Assembly. In theory, the entire membership of the Legislature participates in selecting local boards. In practice the boards are named by one or two men—the representatives from the affected county. That gives "local" influence, albeit of very restricted application.

So far there has not been much enthusiasm for the proposal of Republican leaders for popular election of school boards. That is true of many Republicans, who fear the result would be as particularly political as the present system — most counties would have all Democrats, a few would have all Republicans. One suggestion to further take politics out, would be for the nominations to be made by both parties in November, majority vote having more consideration from the Legislature.

TIMING — The time and place for the delivery of major political campaign speeches is almost as important as the text of the speeches. Former President Harry Truman made four major speeches in North Carolina last week—at the fairgrounds, the money raising dinner, Wilson and Nashville. In addition to these prepared addresses he held a news conference and spoke "off the cuff" at Zebulon and Rocky Mount. At each place he emphasized Republican ineptness and failure, particularly in foreign relations and the farm program. Only at Nashville did he go into the question of religion as a false issue in the campaign.

He read sections of the United States constitution prohibiting religious test as a qualification for office, and said he did not want the Government to "tell me or any other American citizen what church he should belong to; and I don't want the church to tell me or any other American citizen what public office he can hold."

Passengers on the official press bus were discussing the speech on the return trip. Why was Nashville selected as the spot for that subject? Conclusion was there was no special reason. He just wanted to get it in during the trip. There was some surprise that he treated the matter at all. Strategy of the state party leadership is to ignore religion as an issue.

PAUL GALICCO'S NEW BESTSELLER Mrs. 'Arris Goes to New York

CHAPTER 23 Mrs. Harris had been involved in many crises in her life. But never one that had so many facets which tugged her in so many different directions...

The Schreiber had given her the way out. By not telling Claiborne and leaving the matter up to her they had indicated their sympathy and that they would not talk—only they, she, and Mrs. Butterfield would ever know the truth.

Keep little Henry to themselves secretly? Even should they with Mrs. Schreiber's help succeed in getting him back to England—not very likely, the unspeakable Gussets were too close for comfort.

least had been instrumental in his finding—the father was a millionaire as she had always known he would be. "Then dry your tears, Ada 'Arris, and still your worries, and write at the bottom of the page, 'Mission accomplished,' smile, and go to bed."

George - Kentucky Claiborne-Brown was waiting uneasily in Mr. Schreiber's study in the penthouse, whither he had been summoned the next afternoon after lunch and this uneasiness increased as Mr. and Mrs. Schreiber entered the room together, followed by Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Butterfield, and an eight-going on nine-year-old boy known as little Henry.

Mr. Schreiber motioned his own side to sit and said to the performer, "Sit down, Kentucky. We have something rather important to talk to you about."

The fun is going to get funnier. Continue Paul Gallico's best-selling novel tomorrow.

City Flooded By Big Downpour

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP)—A powerful squall line hit Victoria with a one-two punch Tuesday night, dumping 5.8 inches of rain on the city, sweeping cars down flooded streets, driving about 200 persons from their homes and smashing some plate glass windows in stores.

The storm hit the city in two waves, packing winds up to 52 miles an hour and driving, blinding rain. Water ran five feet deep in some areas, Fire Chief M. S. Shaw said.

It came during a day in which Texas felt the brunt of tornadoes, thunderstorms and rains that caused heavy property damage.

Victoria Advocate reporter Jim Carter said one Victoria couple, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Machalech, abandoned their car on a bridge over Dry Creek and climbed a tree for safety. Moments later floodwater swept their car from the bridge. Firemen rescued the couple.

Water sweeping down a street carried a Victoria Advocate delivery truck parked in front of the newspaper building a half block. Other cars floated away in high water in low-lying parts of the city.

Five persons were evacuated from their homes by boat and others were carried to safety in police cars and fire trucks. No estimate of the damage was available.

Spoke With Eyes, Helped Wreck Kidnap Attempt

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — A young widow spoke with her eyes Tuesday and helped undo the plot of a man who had kidnaped her baby daughter, the FBI reported.

Betty Utterback, 21, said a man she met on a blind date a week earlier stopped by her home and asked to take her 21-month-old daughter Cynthia on a shopping trip with him. He left with the child, she said, but returned 15 minutes later without Cynthia and demanded $8,500 for her return.

Then, Mrs. Utterback said, the man forced her to accompany him to her bank and stood near her as she asked to make a withdrawal.

"She gave me a sign with her eyes that something was wrong," said Barney L. Kotrbe, the bank operations officer. Kotrbe said he gave a sign to another employee, who called the FBI. Agents seized James E. Reinhardt as he was leaving the bank with Mrs. Utterback.

Cynthia was found crying and hungry in a motel room. Reinhardt, 24, of Ventura, Calif., was booked on suspicion of kidnaping.

LETTER FROM ADENAUER MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has received a letter from West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. The contents were not disclosed but it is believed to contain a request for more rapid repatriation of German war prisoners still held in the Soviet Union.

'Weathervane' Counties Point To A Close Election

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The closest presidential election since 1916 may be in the making if the apparent trend in eight Weathervane counties is maintained.

Each of the eight counties, strung across the nation from New Hampshire to Oregon, has voted consistently for the winning presidential candidate for more than a half century.

An Associated Press survey of the best available political opinion at this time gives three counties to Vice President Richard M. Nixon and three to his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy. Two are regarded as undecided.

If this trend is followed in the Nov. 8 voting some of the guinea pig counties are going to lose their attraction for the dopesters. But if their division represents a true picture of the national situation, the contest between Nixon and Kennedy could rival that of 1916, when Woodrow Wilson beat Charles Evans Hughes by a little more than 600,000 popular votes and 275 to 254 electoral votes.

With the election only three weeks away, there appears to be no overriding issue. Foreign policy, farm prices and Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion are among matters voters mentioned. But no clear trend was established.

In usually Republican New Hampshire, Coos and Stafford counties have voted for the presidential winner every four years since the turn of the century.

In Coos, which gave President Eisenhower nearly a 2-1 margin over Adlai E. Stevenson in 1956, Marlow Col...

He thought it important enough to issue a statement saying his Cabinet selections would depend on a man's ability and not on his race or creed.

Both Nixon and Kennedy are anxious for that Southern vote. Nixon has sent Lodge into Dixie, besides going there himself. Kennedy has gone there, too, and has sent his running mate Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas barnstorming the Southern acres.

If there's one slogan the candidates in this campaign carry around in their heads at all time and in all places it probably would be this one: caution.

Sokolsky Col..

pose such faith turns out to be unjustified. Then it is just too bad.

3. Control is to be set up after disarmament has been completed. But how is the control to be set up? By a representative of the West; a representative of the Soviet countries; a representative of the neutrals. Each representative is to have the right to veto. Therefore the control cannot work. The Secretariat of the United Nations is to be similarly arranged so that it cannot function. Therefore there will be no control.

It is difficult to understand how any sane person would expect the United States to accept such a proposition, but obviously, it was offered not to be accepted.

the editors of two Republican weeklies said Kennedy looks like the winner. An independent weekly editor called it for Nixon, but said it would be extremely close. Clinton L. White, editor of the Coos County Democrat, a Republican weekly, said Kennedy's religion would help him carry the county.

Two weekly editors rated the Stafford County race as a tossup, another listed it for Kennedy and a fourth for Nixon. Eisenhower carried the county four years ago by a 3-2 margin.

In usually Republican Indiana, Nixon was credited with the lead in Bellwether Vanderburgh County but Kennedy was reported gaining. Eisenhower took the county 4-3 in 1956.

A continuing man-in-the-street poll, conducted on the streets and shopping centers in Evansville by radio station WJPS gave Nixon 47.6 per cent of the prospective vote, Kennedy 41.96 per cent, with the remainder undecided.

In the Midwest farm belt, Iowa has two counties that have been on the winning side in this century.

The folks in Jasper County seem to favor Nixon. In Palo Alto County but Kennedy was reported elusive but favoring Kennedy.

Results of polls and surveys by the Newton Daily News and The Associated Press in Jasper County gave Nixon 50 per cent, Kennedy 37 per cent and 13 per cent undecided. Eisenhower had a 9-7 advantage in 1956.

The Emmetsburg Reporter and Democrat tested sentiment in Palo Alto County. Kennedy routed Nixon out of the lead in a straw vote but by such a thin margin that the results were inconclusive.

In the county Eisenhower barely tossed out Stevenson four years ago.

In Wyoming, Albany County, in which is located the city of Laramie, is regarded now as Nixon territory. But Kennedy was reported gaining strength there. Eisenhower carried it about 4-3.

Republican leaders conceded that Kennedy is ahead in Laramie County, in which Cheyenne is located. Eisenhower carried the area by only about 500 votes in 1956.

In Oregon, Crook County, which has been right on presidential candidates since it was founded 78 years ago, is up in the air. Editor E. S. Donnelly of the Central Oregonian said, "Sentiment just doesn't seem to have jelled yet."

Eisenhower won it by 74 votes four years ago.

Pirate Of The Week

By JOHNNY HUDSON
We feel Henry Kwiatkowski will be one of our most valuable players this year with his kicking.

Carolina won its fifth game and remained among the dwindling list of college unbeaten teams. Boone indicated in his pre-season roundups that his senior tackle was a valuable man with his kicking assets as well as his outstanding line play.

He has been a regular here for the past three years but his senior year has been his best on. One a given night, he ranks with the best tackles in the North State Conference.

New Bern-Greenville Tilt Heads Northeastern Slate

Last Friday's action was like the quiet before the storm in the Northeastern football chase. The storm is expected to hit with its fullest impact this Friday night.

The four—New Bern, Greenville, Tarboro and Roanoke Rapids—start throwing fists at each other Friday in what is expected to be the most explosive weekend for Northeastern clubs this season.

With plenty of offense promised, the game brings together two of the top backs in the conference. Alan McArthur will be hoping to keep the Phants alive in the 1960 race while Cliff Rowe, Bruin tailback, has similar ideas.

Ralph Houk Expected To Replace Stengel

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Informed baseball men were ready to lay odds today that Ralph Houk, New York coach for the past three years, will succeed Casey Stengel as manager of the Yankees in 1961.

Stengel, who brought the Yankees 10 pennants and seven world championships in a 12-year tenure was let out Tuesday because he was 70 years old, Houk is 41. Houk, a former catcher with the Yankees, who returned to the organization after serving a term as manager of the Denver club of the American Association, is expected to be introduced in his new capacity during a press conference Thursday.

Dyer Leading Offense Leaders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
After a couple of years of defensive dominance, college football's ground-gainers are emerging this season as the leading figures of the game and the likely record setters.

And the two dominant figures of the 1959 season, Dick Norman of Stanford and Pervis Atkins, a teammate of Gainters, are nowhere to be seen in the statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau.

ECC Seeking First Win With Newberry Team

Heading into the second half of the football season in good physical shape and leading the North State Conference is a rare exception for East Carolina College football teams. But such is the case for Coach Jack Boone's 1960 charges.

Saturday night, East Carolina will carry a five-game winning streak into combat against a strong Newberry club of South Carolina's Little Three. It will be "Band Night" at EC and the game is being sponsored by the Greenville Touchdown Club.

A big but pleasant change for Jack Boone is the fact that his team will be in good physical condition for Newberry. "I can't remember when our team was as well-conditioned and in as good physical shape for Newberry," cited Boone Monday morning.

The last three seasons have seen the Bucs weakened following rough battles with Western Carolina. But Saturday's leather-popping topped them all and only Nick Hügert, junior fullback from Elizabeth City, was a casualty and his injury was reported minor—a bruised hip.

East Carolina was hurting for backs this past Saturday afternoon, forcing Coach Jack Boone to play "... the most conservative game ..." of his coaching career. "We were limited as to what we could do with our backs banged up," noted the head mentor.

The game opened with Sonny Baysinger of Concord and Glenn Bass of Wilcox, the one-two offensive punch, in questionable shape. Bass had nursed a leg injury all week and Baysinger still had seven stitches in his head, following an injury in the Elon game. Tommy Matthews, second unit halfback from Hertford had just been released from the college infirmary after a bout with flu. This week, all pains appear to be healed and the EC coaching staff plans to cut loose with some wide-open offensive play. East Carolina led the North State in offense prior to the Western Carolina game.

East Carolina has failed to defeat Newberry in three previous meetings, but this is the first time the Indians have played on Greenville soil. This fact is expected to shape the story a little differently here Saturday night.

No changes are expected in the Pirate's fine forward wall, which has yielded only one touchdown on the ground this fall. Heading the front forces will be two All-Conference candidates, center Chuck Gordon of Clayton, and tackle Clayton Piland of Winton.

Guarding the flanks for EC will be a couple of ever-improving gridder, Jones Lookerman of Clinton and Bobby Bumgardner of Granite Falls. Teaming with Piland at tackle will be Vernon Davis of Clayton.

Quarterback Dale Betty of Butler set up one touchdown and passed for two more to power Maryland to its second half comeback victory.

Coach Tom Nugent said Sankovich outplayed his opposing lineman. "He had that big guy whipped in every way," the happy coach commented. Sankovich, a 6 foot, 195 pounder, was credited with 11 solo tackles and six assists.

Sankovich, a junior, said, "I was just waiting and hoping to start a game. I'm glad I was able to do so well." An injury to Roger Shoals enabled Sankovich to get the starting nod.

Betty completed 12 of 16 passes for 151 yards. He hit on a phenomenal eight of eight in the second half when Maryland tallied all of its points.

He hit halfback Roger Brown with a 25-yard toss for Maryland's second touchdown and found end Gary Collins at the end of a 7-yarder for the winning score in the final period.

Another lineman nomination went to Ron Gassert, Virginia tackle.

Virginia's sophomore quarterback Carl Kuhn was given a nomination for back of the week.

Robertson and West, the league's prize rookies, are scheduled to guard each other.

Robertson, the nation's leading major college scorer for three years at the University of Cincinnati, as well as thrice an All-America, will play for the Royals.

West, an All-America at West Virginia, will be teaming up with a former Mountaineer great, Rod Hundley, for Los Angeles.

The tiny island on which the Statue of Liberty is located was owned by a Dutchman, Isack Bedloe, when New York was called New Amsterdam. Bedloe's daughter, Mary, sold the island in 1732 for five shillings.

Spiders Work On Pass Defense For Davidson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS It's homecoming at West Virginia University Saturday afternoon, and the Mountaineer faithful are hoping that a certain-old grad won't try too hard to spoil the day for his alma mater.

Back in the early 1930s, Floyd Schwartzwalder, class of '33, was a 152-pound center for the West Virginia football team under Coach Earle (Greasy) Neale. His loyalty was undivided, then.

Neale, though, has long since left Morgantown and Schwartzwalder himself has come a long, long way in the football world. He's now coach of Syracuse's 1959 national champions, the incumbent "Coach of the Year."

So when Schwartzwalder comes to homecoming Saturday he'll be bringing some "spoilers" with him. His team's chances to ruin the day are best indicated by the fact Syracuse has the nation's longest major college winning streak — 15 games — while West Virginia hasn't won its last 10 starts.

The West Virginia-Syracuse encounter Saturday is one of two that afternoon matching Southern Conference clubs with Eastern teams. The other finds undefeated VMI, winner of 12 in a row, traveling to Boston College.

At Furman, Coach Bob King accelerated work Tuesday on defense in preparation for the Saturday game with The Citadel, a conference affair. The first three teams alternated in a live scrimmage that featured goal line stands. Fullback Tom Campbell was running at full speed again.

Davidson, too, gave attention to defense in getting ready for its conference date with Richmond. Tackle Johnny Crute suffered a minor injury in the workout but probably will play Saturday.

Guard Harold Bynum is doubtful, however, because of a shoulder injury.

Richmond spent time on pass defense and protecting the punter, with Mel Rideout and Bill Ventura doing the kicking.

William and Mary sharpened its offense—chiefly passing—with Coach Milt Drew pointing out that W&M's weekend foe, Florida State, has one of the finest defenses in the country.

Virginia Tech held a hard practice which included a half-hour scrimmage. All three Tech units scrimmaged against the green shirt squad running Virginia plays.

Second Round For Golf Event PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — In its nine-year history the North and South Senior Golf Tournament has yet to produce a two-time champion.

Of the 16 men competing in today's second two are former winners seeking to upset that tradition.

One of the pair, Thomas Robbins of Pinehurst, won in 1956. The other, J. Wolcott Brown of Sea Girt, N.J., scored in 1958.

Each was an impressive first-round victory Tuesday. Robbins bounced out one of the co-medalists, Martin McCarthy of Chevy Chase, Md., 4 and 3. Brown eliminated Carl Haymond of Los Angeles, 6 and 5.

James Kirkpatrick of Manchester, Conn., whose 70, two under par for the 6,800-yard No. 2 course of Pinehurst Country Club had tied McCarthy for the medal, had a close call. He edged Lennox Haldeman of Chicago, 2 and 1.

Deacs Try To Extend Win Streak Against Maryland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Has the Wake Forest football team finally found itself? Coach Tom Nugent of Maryland seems to think last week's 13-12 win over North Carolina was what the Wake Forest club needed to begin living up to pre-season expectations. And he should find out Saturday when Maryland plays at Wake Forest.

Wake, armed with the hard-throwing Norman Snead, had been cast among favorites for the Atlantic Coast Conference football championship. But the Demon Deacons promptly dropped their first three games, including one in the ACC.

And Nugent didn't say, but his team's 19-17 win over defending champion Clemson should help the young Terps, who had lost three straight before that upset. Maryland (2-3 overall and 1-2 in the ACC) worked hard on defense in Tuesday's drill, especially toward stopping Snead's passes. Wake (1-3), meanwhile, worked at countering the "T" formation, a Nugent-innovated offense. Billy Hildebrand, first year coach at Wake Forest, said Maryland would be the fastest team the Deacons have faced.

Virginia, riding a 22-game losing streak, has named new co-captains. Coach Dick Voris said a pair of seniors, tackle John Marlow and fullback Fred Shepherd, had been elected. They replaced Louis Martig, who had been elected captain but was knocked out for the season by an injury.

The Cavaliers, who continue their non-conference activity this week, playing Virginia Tech, concentrated on pass defense on the practice field.

Fumbles and intercepted passes, downfall of many a football team, got a good going over from Jim Hickey, North Carolina's coach. Pointing to his team's 19 fumbles and pass interceptions in winning one and losing three, Hickey said "that's got to be corrected."

North Carolina plays at winless South Carolina (0-3) this Saturday. And in Columbia, Coach Warren Giese had 225-pound sophomore Duane Godfrey running at right tackle on the first unit and moved 200-pound Lee Rhame into the starting fullback slot. The backfield change was hoped to help the Gamecocks' offense, which has produced only two touchdowns.

Coach Bill Murray had his Duke team, the ACC leader with 3-0 record, finish up under the lights after a long workout Tuesday. Duke's foe this Saturday, Clemson, got in a long workout which Coach Frank Howard said brought "a few good licks" but he still wasn't too pleased with the performance.

The Duke-Clemson game, set in Durham, is expected to draw more than 40,000 fans, officials reported. However, a number of tickets will be on sale at the gates, a Duke spokesman said.

North Carolina State, which takes on rugged non-conference Mississippi Southern, worked long on offense. Coach Earle Edwards explained that Southern has "allowed only 58 yards per game in winning their first four starts."

Practice Briefs East Carolina Ayden

East Carolina received a scouting report on Newberry yesterday and went through a spirited workout, with rough work being limited to individual drills.

The Bucs, hoping to open up with a good offensive display Saturday, worked on sharpening their passing game. Bert Stafford, Dan Rouse, and Cary Parker did the passing.

ECC scouts reported that Newberry has a team similar to Western Carolina. The Indians' backfield will be the fastest East Carolina has faced this season.

Saturday night is "Band Night" and ECC and college officials were predicting another full house.

Farmville "We can't underestimate Vanceboro," Coach Elbert Moyer told his Farmville squad yesterday as they started laying the groundwork for their homecoming game this Friday.

The squad worked on fundamentals and emphasized passing in yesterday's practice. Moyer has indicated a wide-open attack for Vanceboro this week.

Changes in the Farmville lineup had Billy Walker returning to replace the injured Rex Hodges at end and Danny Duda moved from halfback to fullback, replacing injured Bob Avery.

Furman Shifts Style Of Attack

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Furman, getting the rebuilding treatment from Coach Bob King, has shifted the emphasis from defense to attack this season and turned its record inside out.

After four games last season, Furman had a 1-3 record. This season at the same stage, Furman's mark is 3-0-1.

Last year, the Hurricane finished No. 1 in the conference in total defense. This season, Furman is No. 1 in total offense.

The final step in the surprising turnaround came Saturday night as the Hurricane outscored Wofford 41-26. The big offensive show lifted Furman ahead of VMI, the early-season total offense leader, with 333.3 yards per game to 327.4.

Furman gets most of its punch on the ground. The Hurricane is averaging 244.8 yards per game rushing, far ahead of Virginia Tech, with 182.6.

VMI, of course, gets most of its punch through the air. The Keydets are averaging 178 yards per game passing to Richmond's 111. Furman is third, 88.5 yards per game, and The Citadel fifth, 78 yards per game.

Davidson, which has just one victory, has a defensive grand slam. The Wildcats lead the conference in rushing defense (141 yards a game), passing defense (49.3 yards), and, naturally, total defense (190.3 yards). The Wildcats' problem obviously is on attack. They rank next to last in total offense.

The Citadel's 240.4 yards per game in total offense is third best. In rushing, The Citadel (162.4) is fourth and Davidson (154.8) fifth. The Citadel is fifth in total defense, 265.8 yards a game.

New Manager DURHAM (AP)—President Bill Jessup says he is hopeful the Class B Carolina League will operate with eight clubs in 1961.

League officials met here Tuesday and heard from representatives of Lynchburg and Salem in Virginia. Invitations were extended each group to join the league.

Meanwhile, only Raleigh of the six holdovers reported it had no working agreement. Earl Jones of the Raleigh club said he felt the team could operate independently if no working agreement could be found.

Robersonville Work was heavy in the Robersonville camp yesterday. Coach Bob Lee has expressed determination to score on Beaufort Friday night, becoming the first team this season to pull such a feat.

Tailback Tommy Ward filled the air with passes yesterday, indicating Lee might go for the long pitch Friday.

The squad was reported in good condition and in high spirits yesterday. Greenville —

Demo Resurgence In South Threatens Nixon Plans

Editor's Note—Back from a series of campaign tours, Jack Bell, AP political writer, reports on one phase of the campaign strategy in the following article.

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)— Party claims of a Democratic resurgence in the South may pose some new threats to Vice President Richard M. Nixon's basic campaign strategy.

The Republican presidential nominee has been working hard to rack up half a dozen Southern and border states to offset the admitted advantage of his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, in New England.

Nixon's strategists have hoped to link these states with those of the Midwestern farm area as a foundation from which he could win the presidency by at least splitting with his opponent the electoral vote of the industrial-including New York and California.

But the Southern flank of this base has come under heavy Democratic attack in the last couple of weeks. There is some evidence that the flank is weakening somewhat.

The most recent Associated Press survey showed Kentucky changing from the Nixon column to a doubtful status, and Louisiana shifting from doubtful to Kennedy.

The survey indicated Nixon leads in Florida, South Carolina and Virginia, which have a total of 30 electoral votes.

Besides Kentucky, the doubtful class includes Texas, with 24 electoral votes, Tennessee with 11, North Carolina with 14, Mississippi with 8 and Missouri with 13.

Republicans say these give Nixon the opportunity to solidify a formidable base with the farm areas of Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Iowa, Illinois and Indiana.

Paradoxically, Republican prospects appear to have gained in the farm belt which the Democrats thought a month ago would be theirs. At the same time GOP strength may have waned in the South and border areas where their opponents were singing the blues in September.

Democratic strategists attribute what they claim is a shift in Southern attitude in part to the talk by Henry Cabot Lodge, the GOP vice-presidential nominee, about the probability that there would be a Negro in a Nixon Cabinet.

Nixon has repeatedly discounted that talk, saying he would name the best men or women regardless of race. He said he has made no commitments.

The Democratic party workers had regarded civil rights as a troublesome issue, with the positions of the presidential candidates equally distasteful to the majority of Dixie voters. But they don't think the average Southern voter is ready for a Negro in the Cabinet.

The issue is a delicate one, however. It could boomerang with racial minorities in the North.

Both Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, have paralleled Nixon's stand that race should not be a factor in Cabinet appointments.

To promise any post to any race or ethnic group, Kennedy said this week, would be "racism in reverse at its worst."

Johnson said he believed a man should be neither appointed nor barred from appointment because of his "race, religion or section of birth."

Both Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, have paralleled Nixon's stand that race should not be a factor in Cabinet appointments.

Band Day At ECC To Bring 7 School Bands

East Carolina College Band Day, Saturday, October 22, will bring to the campus seven bands from high schools in the eastern part of the state. Saturday night the visiting ensembles will stage a half-time show at the East Carolina-Newberry College game in the College Stadium here.

Band Day is sponsored by the East Carolina Touchdown Club, organization of business men and others interested in the athletic program at the college. The East Carolina Student Government Association will join the club in entertaining visiting student musicians at a dinner Saturday night in the college cafeteria.

Louis Clark of Greenville is acting as chairman of Band Day for the Touchdown Club.

High School bands which will participate in events of the day and their directions are Greenville, James Rodgers; Washington, James Larkin; Kingston, Harry Shipman; Williamson, Jack Bul-LER; Goldsboro, John Thompson; Ayden-Winterville, Robert Ellwanger; and Farmville, William Glasgow. These groups will rehearse at the college Saturday afternoon.

Each band is now choosing a home-town sponsor who will be presented to spectators at the East Carolina-Newberry game. The half-time program will feature music and maneuvers, including spelling of Band Day and of GOP-DEMO by participating groups, a salute to Band Day, and other numbers.

Deep South Movie Filmed In England

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)— "Suddenly, Last Summer" was a Tennessee Williams saga of sex and sin in the deep American South.

So where was it filmed? England! This oddity is explained by film industry bigwig: "Here was a story about America with American actors, which should have been filmed here. It probably would have been a better picture if it had better atmosphere and bit players. But it was filmed in England and Sam Spiegel probably made a million dollars more than he would have, because of the Eady plan."

American companies today are shooting six features in England, largely because of the Eady plan (named for the British politician who dreamed it up). Here's how it works: The British government places a tax on the returns from all theaters. From this fund, the government grants a rebate to producers who make films in England with native talent.

The English-made picture is also assured unlimited playing time in Britain, while a foreign product is subject to quotas. France and Italy offer similar inducements to Hollywood companies. So do other countries, either in outright subsidies or other means. Yugoslavia has been free with loaning its troops for battle scenes ("War and Peace"). So was Spain with "Alexander the Great," "Pride and the Passion" and "Spartacus," although the Spanish have since desisted.

But producer Samuel Bronston has found another way to do business in Spain: He is financing "Chicken Frankfurters" and "Bird Dogs." He said they captured 15 per cent of the hot dog market.

Spain. Thus the firms can get their funds out of Spain in dollar returns from the box-office receipts in the United States. Other countries offer the advantage of thus freeing frozen coin, besides which foreign labor is more attractive than the steadily rising cost of Hollywood labor.

The production chief of a big Hollywood studio told me his dilemma: "Look, I'd like to keep this studio going. We've got a staff here to whom we owe some loyalty. We also have loyalty to the community to keep the movie business here. But we've got to have production to pay for the overhead."

"And it is becoming harder and harder to compete with the advantages that foreign countries give to producers who will film over there."

TV Fall Programs Like A Vast Sea Of 'B' Movies

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Almost all of the new series have had their premieres and most of last season's survivors have returned from holiday or reruns.

The entertainment side of television's 1960-61 season shapes up like a vast sea of Grade B movie features, chopped down to TV size and time requirements. Most are turned out with the professional skill and surface gloss of Hollywood's experienced production lines. Most are uninspired. And usually downright tired variations of the successes of past seasons.

Two shows with high potentials seem to have gone astray in their production. "The Witness" series is based on a swell idea—to review the career of a notorious rogue or rascal within the confines of a committee hearing room. "The Flintstones" is a cartoon situation comedy series for adults, but is ham-handed where it could be deftly satirical.

"Checkmate," a new whodunit series, is up among the established popular shows in the ratings, and it seems to be improving as the series goes along. Part of its success, however, is due to its comfortable niche in CBS's popular Saturday night lineup—between "Perry Mason" and "Have Gun, Will Travel." "Candid Camera," too, is faring nicely in the ratings battle and probably will continue as long as the gag situations continue to amuse.

None of the new Westerns seems to have brought anything new to TV. There's a continuing trend toward multiple heroes in these, the older lawman and his younger assistant. So far all the younger assistants look so much alike it's hard to tell which show you're watching.

The same trend is notable in the action-suspense series, and there is also the same problem of identification—except in "Surfside Six," of course, where although the three investigators are hard to tell apart, they usually wear sweaters and no shirts.

Gene Tierney's comeback to show business after a long bout with illness will be Nov. 6 on CBS when she stars in a G.E. Theater episode, "Journey to a Wedding," made two months ago. "Wanted—Dead or Alive," like "Wagon Train" before it, will now dip into the classics for plot material. Its Nov. 9 show is an adaptation of Aristophanes' "Lysistrata" expurgated for the mass audience, one presumes.

Farmville Will Represent UNC In Moot Court

CHAPEL HILL — John B. Lewis, Jr. of Farmville, has been selected as one of three law students to represent the University of North Carolina Law School in this year's annual moot court competition.

The team of John S. Stevens, Robert M. Clay and Lewis was selected by a court of law professors including Robert Weitach, Herbert Baer and Dickson Phillips after a series of elimination debates.

Lewis entered the U.N.C. law school after completing three years of undergraduate work at the university. He is currently serving as president of the third year law class.

The university's moot court team will participate with teams from other universities in the Carolinas, Virginia and West Virginia. The winner of the regional contest will meet winners of other regional contests during the Christmas vacation in New York City.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic has pledged "all out moral and material support" to the Algerian nationalist rebels "until they win freedom and independence."

At one time spies were believed to have the power to ward off evil airs bearing disease. They were added to magic potions and sold to inspire love, fear or hate.

Seeking Assistant Clerk For Local Draft Office

Applications for a part-time clerk to be associated with the Selective Service System in Greenville will be accepted until Thursday, Oct. 27, it was announced today.

A. E. Forrest, local civil service received word from the Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Selective Service System, Raleigh, recently.

The part-time job, which involves typing, involves 20 work hours a week and rate of pay of $1,695 per annum, Forrest said. Application forms and information may be obtained at the local post office from the civil service representative, who is Forrest.

Minimum age for applicants is 18. There is no maximum age. The written test, which follows the application, will be administered here in Greenville, Forrest said.

Duties include work in the local civil service board office and performance of assigned clerical work involved in the registration and classification of men for service in the armed forces.

Also, interviews of registrants, preparation of registration cards, mailing questionnaires, preparation of required forms and orders to report for physical examination and induction and performance of such other tasks as may be assigned are included in the duties.

No experience is required for the job, Forrest said, though applicants must show the ability to type at least 25 words a minute. The written test will consist of questions designed to test aptitude for learning and adjusting to the duties of the position.

It will include questions of the following general types: alphabetizing, computations and arithmetic reasoning, name and number comparison, word meaning, reading, spelling and grammar.

It is to be noted that applications will not be accepted after Oct. 27 unless postmarked on or before the closing date.

Tharrington Is 4-H Speaker
STOKES — At the recent Stokes Junior 4-H Club meeting, Ronnie Tharrington, assistant county farm agent, discussed the County Council meeting.

Other topics of discussion were projects for the year and the next meeting, which will take place in November. Club president, Jewell Perkins, presided at the meeting. Ann Edwards led in the devotional and song leaders, Kathy Van Dyke and Kathy Watson led the group in two songs.

Marilyn Hardison called the roll.

Smoked Chicken Bologna Coming

Jobs Guaranteed In Mechanizing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Harry Bridges' longshore union and the Pacific Maritime Association announced agreement Tuesday night on full mechanizing of West Coast ports.

Under the six-year agreement, employers will pay $5 million annually into a workers benefit fund. In exchange, the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union gives up all work rule restrictions on cargo handling.

A joint ILWU-PMA statement called the agreement an epochal achievement in industrial relations.

The agreement applies to all union workers presently in the industry.

The regular collective bargaining agreement on wages, due to expire in 1962, was extended to 1966 along with the mechanization agreement. Negotiations on wages can be reopened annually.

The mechanization pact assures the dock workers there will be no layoff, a guarantee of minimum weekly earnings, early retirement or a lump benefit at normal retirement at 65 plus additional death and disability benefits.

The weekly wage guarantee, on a 35-hour week basis, will become effective when labor-saving devices and changed methods reduce work opportunity.

THEY MEET AGAIN

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam and Red China's Ambassador Wang Ping-nan had their 26th meeting today. The talks lasted more than two hours. Neither would comment afterward. The next meeting is Dec. 1.

Congolese Army In 'Crackdown'

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congolese army today staged a showy but ineffectual crackdown on what it described as a plot against the military regime of Col. Joseph Mobutu.

A score of prominent supporters of former Premier Patrice Lumumba were arrested in three noisy pre-dawn raids. They were released several hours later.

Among those arrested and briefly held in Mobutu's headquarters, Camp Leopold II, were Amicet Kasamura, minister of information in Lumumba's defunct regime; and Jason Sendwe, Lumumba's secretary of state for Katanga province.

Sendwe was taken away after a night-long siege of his hotel room by helmeted soldiers. He calmly walked back into the hotel lobby and with a soft grin told newsmen: "Col. Mobutu personally ordered my release."

Mobutu, who has been desperately trying to strengthen his position in the chaos-torn Congo, sent his troops throughout the city after a reported meeting of conspirators in Kasamura's house.

Congolese army officers told newsmen they had discovered documents describing how a new coup was to be staged to restore Lumumba to power. They said they also found weapons. The fizzle in the crackdown demonstrated once again Mobutu's apparent inability to take drastic action against his opponents.

Boy Adventurers Didn't Get Far On World Trips

PINELLAS PARK, Fla. (AP)—Two teen-age adventurers who set out in a 14-foot boat "to see what the world looks like" didn't get very far. The Coast Guard located Jimmy Harmon, 14, and Walter P. Fuller, 13 at the mouth of Tampa Bay about 20 miles south of their port of departure. They were returned home. Sheriff's deputies said the boys sneaked off Monday and put to sea with enough provisions to last a month. A school chum later gave their parents a note saying they were "not mad at anyone," but wanted to see the world. Dreams of adventure also ended for a trio of young California adventurers. The three, Larry Reitz, 14, Mike Masel, 14, and Nick Brisseau, 15, all of Newport Beach, set sail Saturday in a 30-foot ketch. Navy pilots sighted the ketch Tuesday off the Mexican coast. A Coast Guard cutter was dispatched to intercept it.

HIT BY LIGHTNING... TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Lightning struck a road construction gang Tuesday, killing 7 men and injuring 14.

Says Demagogic Talks By Nixon

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says the best way to assure peace is to keep Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his "dangerous impetuosity" out of the White House.

The two-time Democratic presidential nominee accuses Nixon of reckless, dangerous and demagogic talk and of misleading the people regarding the nation's strength.

Stevenson assailed Nixon and the Eisenhower administration Tuesday night in an address before 1,100 persons at a $100-a-plate dinner of the "New York Citizens for Kennedy and Johnson."

Stevenson, addressing himself to Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, said: "Let us tell the truth to the American people." "And let us stop this dangerous talk about anybody's being weak, disloyal, or soft-headed if he talks about peace by any other means than 'massive retaliation' or your futile finger wagging in Khrushchev's face," he said.

"Let's stop kidding the people that they've never had it so good," Stevenson said. Sen. John F. Kennedy has been trying to tell the country "that we have been misled and deceived for years, that the power balance in the world has been changing while we have been sleeping, that our invulnerable postwar position has vanished."

Still Can't Get In Federal Prison

SHELBY, N. C. (AP) — Stough Greene, 53, who likes the treatment accorded prisoners in federal institutions, will have to settle for another 30 days in Cleveland County jail. Federal Judge Wilson Warlick continued judgment for 30 days against Greene, on charges of tossing blazing cotton into three mail boxes. When arrested in September, Greene said he wanted to get back into federal prison because "they treat you good." He once served a term in a federal prison camp.

Greene previously broke glass panels in the door of a post office, but a judge held it was public property and not federal property and he had to spend a time on the roads rather than go to federal prison.

Judge Warlick said after the 30 days are up he may dismiss charges in the mail box incident since Greene will have been in jail two months by then.

Nixon Wanted As Tax Witness

LITTLETON, N.H. (AP)—Subpoenas are out today for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Republican presidential candidate, and Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., wanted as defense witnesses in a federal court income tax trial.

They were issued Tuesday night at the behest of counsel for Mark Granite, 78, director of the non-profit, tax-exempt Granite Foundation in Lancaster.

Attorney Thomas E. Flynn Jr. sought appearance of Nixon and Cotton after failing in attempts to introduce letters in which, according to testimony, they complimented Granite.

Herbert Klein, Nixon's press secretary, indicated there will be no comment until Nixon is served with the subpoena.

Judge A.J. Connor ruled the letters could be introduced only through the writers or recipient. This can be done after the defense opens if Granite takes the stand. According to testimony of Richard J. Ryan, investigator for the Internal Revenue Service and chief prosecution witness, Granite told him the foundation received a quarter of a million dollars in contributions in 14 years. The government contends Granite diverted foundation funds to his own use and that this is taxable.

Specifically he is accused of failing to report income of $60,000 in a four-year period.

MAJOR SPEECH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican vice-presidential candidate, will deliver a major foreign policy speech from Minneapolis Thursday night over a nationwide television hookup.

Expect Lowered Weight Limits For VOA Roads

Present 13,000 pound per axle weight limits on secondary roads leading to the Voice of America construction sites will probably be lowered to 8,000 pounds per axle.

Highway Division Engineer Charles W. Snell, Jr. said he had received no official word on the weight change but a telephone conversation with Raleigh had indicated it would be made.

The alternative for contractors who want to exceed the weight limit would be to post a bond of $20,000 per mile of road they use. Damage to the roads would be paid out of this bond.

These provisions would apply to any secondary paved roads to be used by the contractors in moving equipment and materials to the Voice of America sites. They would not apply to primary roads or to dirt roads except in the cases of substandard bridges.

Snell said the secondary roads in the areas remain at the 13,000 pound per axle load limit at present. They won't be posted with 8,000 pound limits until the Highway Commission finds out which roads the contractors plan to use.

Snell said he would receive final written instructions on the matter from Raleigh. He said he had asked that the state try to obtain assistance from the Federal government in strengthening the roads. However, he stated, "I kind of doubt us getting any help from the government."

The highway engineer said he thought the federal government will go along with the weight limit posting of the roads.

Snell described the situation as "sort of unusual" because of the actual tonnage of material which will be going to the sites.

Snell said his office had offered two proposals for improving the road situation. One was to strengthen the secondary roads by additional paving. The other was to plow up the roads, strengthen the base and re-pave them.

Lyndon Johnson Returning To N. C. Today For Campaign Talk

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Democratic vice presidential nominee Lyndon B. Johnson is due back in North Carolina this afternoon for another appeal for Tar Heel support of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

Johnson is scheduled to fly to Winston-Salem around 5:30 p.m. for an address around 7:30 p.m. in the Winston-Salem War Memorial Coliseum.

Johnson's opposite number on the Republican ticket—Henry Cabot Lodge—spoke from the same platform last Thursday and drew an enthusiastic crowd of about 5,500.

Gubernatorial candidate Terry Sanford had been scheduled to introduce Johnson, but someone else will have to do the honors—since Sanford is suffering a mild case of influenza.

In a 200-mile swing in Pennsylvania Tuesday, Johnson delivered speeches in five key up - state counties. At stake are Pennsylvania's 32 electoral votes.

Winding up the day's campaigning, Johnson told a cheering, standing-room-only crowd of 3,500 in a dance hall at Allentown that Republicans are architects of "a policy of neglect in foreign affairs."

The Senate majority leader recommended establishment of an institute of Latin American affairs to be partly financed by 6 percent of the revenue from the Panama Canal. He said the institute could be set up in the Canal Zone to train American administrators for service in Latin American diplomatic posts.

Turning to Republican conduct of foreign affairs, Johnson asserted: "We haven't stopped communism 9,000 miles away or 5,000 miles away. In fact we haven't even stopped it 90 miles away in Cuba."

"This next administration must formulate new foreign policies. The present ones are not too bad but the administration of them has been neglectful."

Johnson said Republicans were attempting to divert attention from what he called the critical situation of having a Communist satellite in neighboring Cuba by discussing the Quemoy-Matsu issue.

Shriners' Ladies Night Program Being Planned

Potestate Otis G. Sawyer of the Eastern Carolina Sudan Temple is scheduled to be among guests of the Pitt County Shrine Club Oct. 21 when the local group stages its annual Ladies Night. It was announced today by local Shriners.

In addition to the Durham potentate, the club will also have as its guest T. Bruce Boyette, Second Ceremonial Master of the Eastern Carolina Sudan Temple.

The program is being planned for the Greenville Moose Lodge auditorium and will include music by the Buccaneers, a band from East Carolina College. Slated to begin at 9 p.m., the evening's program will last until midnight.

A special program is being planned to begin at 9 o'clock while a buffet-style dinner and dancing will begin at 10:30.

Officials today urged all Shriners and their wives to attend. Tickets will be on sale at the door or advance tickets may be obtained from Bill Goodson, Ed Ricks, Paul Scott, or Roy Akcock.

Eleven per cent of all West Germans changed their place of employment in 1959.

Red China Says UN Controlled By Imperialists

TOKYO (AP)— Communist China today repudiated the United Nations in its present form, charging that it is controlled by "U.S. imperialism" and incapable of securing world peace.

"The people of the world should in no way place their hopes for their liberation and for world peace on the United Nations which is dominated by U.S. imperialism," said the official Peiping People's Daily.

"To work for the realization of general disarmament, to strive for the peaceful coexistence among countries with different social systems, to win and uphold national independence and to fight for a lasting peace in the world, it is necessary to rely upon the strength of the people to struggle resolutely against the policies of aggression and war of U.S. imperialism," the paper said.

The U.N. voted early this month against discussing the question of seating the Communist Peoples Republic of China.

Emergency Loan Data Is Awaited

Details of United States Department of Agriculture emergency loans through the Farmers Home Administration were expected "at least by tomorrow morning" by Ben White of the Pitt County FHA today.

The loans, available to 31 Eastern North Carolina counties including Pitt, were announced yesterday by USDA to provide supplemental credit to farmers in the designated area who suffered damage from the recent Hurricane Donna.

According to the USDA announcement, FHA will be authorized through next June 30.

Nuclear Sub Test-Fires 4 Polaris Missiles At Sea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The submarine Patrick Henry has successfully test-fired four combat-type Polaris missiles from a position about 500 miles off the coast of Florida, the Navy announced today.

The firings were during an Oct. 15-18 period.

"All of the missiles went the full programmed range and landed in the planned impact area," the announcement said.

The full range of a Polaris is 1,200 miles, but the shots announced today were not necessarily all programmed for that range.

The Patrick Henry failed in earlier missile launching efforts several weeks ago. Three of four attempted launchings were unsuccessful.

The Patrick Henry was submerged during the firings of four missiles in the latest series of tests.

The Navy said all four missiles were identical to the tactical missiles which will be carried by Polaris submarines except for warheads and a small amount of instrumentation.

The tests were conducted out at sea rather than in the usual location at the upper end of the Atlantic missile range, the Navy said, to take advantage of the near-operational conditions which could be achieved by eliminating most of the restrictions and instrumentation required when firing missiles near populated areas.

Tobacco Marts See Lowering Of Sales Volume

Lower quality offerings yesterday resulted in lower sales averages for tobacco markets in Greenville, Farmville and Robersonville. Volumes were light.

Greenville sold its lowest volume of the season, a total of 516,868 pounds, for a total of $300,983 and a sales average of $58.23 per 100 pounds. The local market's season sales mark stood at $60.03.

Farmville also had its lightest day, selling 150,564 pounds for $83,204 and a $55.26 average figure. Farmville's season average through Tuesday was $60.16.

Robersonville, also, saw its volume and quality drop. That market sold only 26,706 pounds for $15,259 and an average of $57.14 per 100 pounds. The season mark there was $59.65.

The Eastern Belt saw its volume and average price drop. The 17 markets together posted an average yesterday of $58.92 from the sale of 3,457,804 pounds for a total of $203,7405, according to the Federal-State Market News Service in Wilson today. The belt's season average, the Wilson office said, stood at $60.87 through Tuesday.

Presenting Book Of Golden Deeds Here December 2

The Greenville Exchange Club has announced its annual awarding of the "Book of Golden Deeds" and Ladies Night for Dec. 2.

Bob Lee, chairman of the special event's committee, announced the Dec. 2 program of entertainment for the ladies and honor for the recipient of the "Golden Deeds" award will be held again at the Greenville Country Club.

The "Book of Golden Deeds" award is sponsored annually by the local Exchange Club and is presented to a recipient selected by a secret committee of the club.

The committee selects a person whom it believes to be the most outstanding person in Greenville civic and fraternal organizations.

At Friday's meeting, Exchange saw a film, "The Key to Mental Health," presented by club member Charles Cobb.

Dick Squires was recognized as a special guest of the club for the meeting. The Oyster Roast Committee reported that arrangements were complete and the roast will be held Oct. 26 at Cliff's Oyster Bar.

Grifton Parking Plan Petitions Still Available

GRIFTON—Petitions on various types of parking for the town of Grifton are still available for signing in the town office, Clerk Joyce McCoy said yesterday.

The petitions, placed in the office several weeks ago by the Town Board, denote three types of parking: parallel parking on both sides of the main street; parallel parking on one side of the main street; and no parallel parking.

The Town Board, before taking action on the parking situation, voted to sample public opinion by using these petitions. However, the board did not vote to endorse the petition containing the majority of names. Petitions are only to sample opinion.

To sign, a citizen should have a water account with the town, the town clerk said. Town office hours are 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m.-1 p.m. on Saturday.

Canoist Dies In River Waters

CUXHAVEN, Germany (AP)— A 31-year-old cement worker, August Berendes, and a woman companion set out from Hamburg last weekend in a folding boat to paddle to Israel.

The boat was heavily loaded with food and camping equipment. The couple planned to travel by rivers and canals to the Mediterranean, then along the coast to Israel. After a year's stay there, Berendes planned to go to Australia.

Tuesday night the boat capsized in the icy waters of the lower Elbe River. Berendes drowned. The crew of a passing ship rescued the woman.

Staging One-Act Drama Thursday

The Wesley Foundation Players will present a one-act drama, "Remind Me To Live," at the mission class to be held by the United Church Women of Greenville on Thursday of this week. The following students from East Carolina College will take part: Joyce Scott, Ola May Bundy, Barbara Wilson, James Smith and Robert Parson.

The mission class will be led by Mrs. Estelle Striplin, assisted by Mrs. George W. Smith, Mrs. B. M. Petrie, Mrs. William Corbett and Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell. It will be held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church from 10 to 2:30. Those attending are asked to bring sandwiches.

Failed To List For Pitt Taxes

Magistrate Luther Moore yesterday continued prayer for judgment on payment of court cost in a case involving failure to list personal property for county taxes.

Nathaniel Moore, 33-year-old Negro of Farmville pled guilty to the charge in Magistrate Moore's court.

County Tax Supervisor R. S. Moye had taken out the warrant charging the Farmville man.

Testimony showed that Moore had listed his taxes subsequent to the issuance of the warrant and he made suitable arrangements for payment of the taxes.

Will Crack Down On Speedsters

GRIFTON — A crackdown on speeding in the Grifton School zone has been announced by Police Chief Luther Lewis.

Lewis said yesterday that the speed law for the zone which extends for three blocks, in front of the school and one block on either side, is 20 miles per hour. The school is located on Church Street.

Demo Ticket Is Favored In Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Workers Union said today "a scientifically weighted poll it took among its members shows the Democratic ticket leading in the election race.

Eliminating the undecided vote, the poll indicated Sen. John F. Kennedy would get 51.5 per cent of the popular vote in the nation and Vice President Richard M. Nixon 48.5 per cent as of Mid-October, the union said.

The union itself has endorsed Kennedy in the current race.

Attends Meet In Roanoke Rapids

Mrs. J.B. Spilman, state director of Mental Health, will attend an organizational meeting for Halifax County in Roanoke Rapids tonight.

On Nov. 15 she will go to Denver, Colo., to attend the national meeting of the Mental Health Association. On Nov. 21 she will speak to the Pilot Club in New Bern on organization of the local group in Craven County. Nov. 23 Mrs. Spilman will attend an organizational meeting in Chowan County.

His Own Car Did Not Pass Tests

LONDON (AP)— Transport Minister Ernest Marples — the man who brought in new fitness tests for aging autos—confessed his own car hadn't made the grade.

Marples told a road safety conference Tuesday: "Some people have urged that the tests should stop because they cause inconvenience to owners of older cars."

"A vehicle over 50 years old has passed this test easily. I have known a vehicle only 2 years old which has failed—my own."

The tests will become compulsory soon.
