

Kennedy Throws Nixon's Charges Back In His Lap

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, accused by Vice President Richard M. Nixon of naive and dangerous talks about a relative decline in U.S. prestige and military superiority, tossed the charge right back today.

He said that "no more unwarranted attack has ever been made on our prestige and military posture" than Nixon made in October 1952 during that year's presidential campaign.

He quoted Nixon as saying at that time that "this nation has lost its military superiority and the people of the world are 5-1 against us instead of being 9-1 on our side as was the case when the war ended."

Kennedy also said in remarks prepared for a rally at the Lawrence Park shopping center in the Philadelphia suburbs that Nixon and the Republican party are unwilling to entrust the people with the real facts about where we stand with respect to prestige abroad, defense and space and the nation's economy.

The shopping center was the first stop in the Democratic presidential nominee's motorcade through the outskirts of Philadelphia after a tumultuous 18-hour day and night of campaigning Friday in northeastern Pennsylvania.

Kennedy actually finished Friday's campaigning early today with a speech to a 25-a-plate dinner under a tent on a muddy, rain-greased golf course.

Kennedy hit hard on unemployment, the problem of economically depressed areas, and the plight of the Iron Curtain countries.

Kennedy landed in a downpour at Philadelphia International Airport, then drove 20 miles to the Aronimink Country Club to keep a date for which he was nearly five hours late.

It was nearly 2 a.m. then, and Kennedy noted he had started out at eight o'clock Friday morning — 18 hours earlier.

"I am doing this because I believe it is an important election," he said.

President Eisenhower came to Philadelphia several hours ahead of Kennedy, and in his first major political speech of the campaign, plugged for the election of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He called Nixon the best qualified man to be the next president and took some sharp jibes at Kennedy without mentioning him by name.

Kennedy, however, could look back with elation on a day of campaigning in northeastern areas of Pennsylvania suffering chronic economic ills and heavy unemployment.

In a day and night motorcade through steel and coal mining communities he was all but overwhelmed by huge crowds that stormed around for a chance to shake his hand.

By the time he reached Scranton Friday night he had a bruised, swollen and slightly scratched right hand that attested, as he said, that coal miners "really know how to shake hands."

One Of Hazards

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy was hurt today by some of his enthusiastic well-wishers, but he held fast to his arduous campaign schedule through Philadelphia's vast suburban areas.

Reporters close to the candidate's car said that as the motorcade moved slowly from a supermarket parking lot, there was a tremendous surge of people toward Kennedy's car. Hands were thrust out for a clasp. Some people grabbed Kennedy's hand, some the arm itself.

For a moment, said one eyewitness, it appeared that Kennedy might be dragged from his convertible. But with the help of an aide and some policemen, he was freed.

Kennedy's face contorted in pain. His right arm fell limply to his side. Soon, however, the familiar smile reappeared. But Kennedy waved with his other hand thereafter.

It was not known whether any kind of hospital treatment would be required.

Nixon Hoping President's Boost Will Aid Campaign

WITH NIXON IN ILLINOIS (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon rolled his presidential campaign into Chicago's suburbs today with a glowing endorsement from President Eisenhower.

The Republican presidential nominee made it clear he believes the send-off the President gave him in a nationally televised appearance in Philadelphia Friday night put his campaign in high gear at a particularly critical time.

"I consider the President's talk to be one of the greatest political speeches of recent years," Nixon said.

Herbert G. Klein, the vice president's press secretary, said Nixon was "exhilarated" by Eisenhower's praise of the Republican nominee and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge.

But more important politically, Klein said, was what the press secretary described as Eisenhower's devastating criticisms of Nixon's democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Nixon's supporters also were particularly pleased that the President had urged his listeners not to pay too much attention to party labels.

The vice president has been sounding this note in areas such as the shopping center circuit on which he was billed for appearances after a morning rally at the Quad City Airport near Rock Island, Ill.

Aides said Nixon hoped to stir up in the suburbs the kind of Republican and independent support he needs to offset an expected large Democratic majority in Chicago.

Nixon told a cheering partisan audience of about 4,000 persons who jammed the rafters of the Davenport, Iowa, Masonic Temple Friday night he is convinced the tide is running his way in the presidential contest. He described his whistle-stopping tour across Illinois as "one of the most exciting days of campaigning" he had seen.

He said that in the key states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and Iowa the "tide is running strong and Democrats by the thousands are joining with us to support our ticket."

This was happening, Nixon said, because Democrats "do not have confidence in their own ticket."

"They realize that it is essential in making the decision as to who should be president that it not be made simply on the basis of the labels we wear, but that it has to be made on what we stand for, on our experience, on our background," he said.

Gun Battle On Cuban Airliner

HAVANA (AP) — The government radio reported today one person was killed and several were wounded in a gun battle aboard a Cuban Airlines plane en route from Havana to the Isle of Pines.

The broadcast blamed the shooting on "war criminals."

First reports said the plane had 34 passengers aboard and had flown to Key West, Fla., and customs authorities at Miami confirmed that a plane had landed in Florida from Cuba but would give no further information immediately.

Aviation officials in Havana said passengers aboard the plane attacked the pilot, co-pilot and an armed guard, forcing them to fly to Key West, Fla.

They said the plane landed on the Florida Key.

The pilot and co-pilot were wounded and one of the military guards aboard, a man named Castro, was killed, officials said. The passengers who exchanged gunfire had smuggled their arms aboard.

The aircraft was a plane that makes daily flights to the Isle of Pines, about 30 miles below Cuba's southern coast in a line from Havana.

The plane left Havana's International Airport at 7:30 a.m.

Aviation officials said the pilot was Candelario Delgado and the co-pilot Gabriel Carrasco.

Two Arrested Cashing Stolen Bonds In State

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A man walked into the North Carolina National Bank at Charlotte Thursday, told officials he had found a site for an industry and he needed some cash to nail down the deal.

He produced identification indicating he was Albert Seiffer. The bank cashed $3,000 worth of government bonds for him.

The man also cashed $3,000 worth of bonds at Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. at Charlotte, and $1,000 dollars worth at each of two other banks.

Officials at N.C. National and Wachovia became suspicious when they learned of the bonds being cashed at various banks, and notified the FBI.

The FBI said it was able to establish that the bonds were part of the loot taken in a theft two weeks ago at the home of a wealthy New Rochelle, N.Y., man, Albert Seiffer. The loot included $250,000 in negotiable stock certificates, $70,000 in Series E government bonds, and bankbooks showing $100,000 in cash deposits in Florida banks.

An alert went to all banks in the state. Friday, the FBI arrested a man agents said was trying to cash a $1,000 government bond at a bank here. The FBI said he was the same man who cashed the bonds Thursday.

The FBI said he would identify himself only as Albert Seiffer, 46, of Philadelphia. The FBI was making a fingerprint check. Agents said they had determined the man was not Seiffer.

He was charged with transporting stolen property across state lines. Later, the FBI announced the arrest of a man who identified himself as Harry D. Fisk, 46, of Philadelphia. He was charged with aiding and abetting.

The two were given preliminary hearings before a U.S. commissioner here and held in lieu of a $70,000 bond each pending another hearing Nov. 2.

Donald E. Roney, special agent in charge of the FBI's Charlotte office, said no bonds were found other than the ones the man was allegedly trying to cash when arrested.

House-To-House Fire Inspections Begin Monday

City firemen will begin house-to-house fire prevention inspections Monday, City Manager Leonard Bloxam announced today.

He said firemen will begin their work at Greene and First Sts. Eventually the entire city will be covered.

Bloxam said an officer and two firemen will work each afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock inspecting dwellings for fire hazards.

"As a result of the Fire Prevention Bureau being established two years ago in our Fire Department, the response to alarms in the business area has been reduced by better than 50 percent," the city manager stated.

"It is our plan now to further this service to our citizens and to the residential areas of our city. It is not the city's intent to force this inspection on anyone but to offer it as an added service in making the home in which a person lives a safe place."

An officer and a fireman will work together making the inspections, Bloxam said. A driver will stay with the truck to alert the other two men in case of an alarm.

A check list of fire hazards will be made and this will be given to the home owner.

Letters will be left at homes where no one is at home calling attention to the visit. The letter will inform the occupant that the firemen will be happy to return if they will call the fire department.

"This inspection will be made by trained personnel who know what to look for in the way of probable fire hazards," Bloxam said. "It is offered as a service to the citizen in the interest of his personal health and well-being and we will not check back to require the home owner to make these repairs."

"But if when the second visit is made the conditions are still unattended to, the second report will show."

The inspection program will be carried out daily until the entire city is covered, according to the city manager. However, firemen will not inspect on bad weather days.

Bloxam said this program is another step in getting the city's Fire Underwriters rating classification changed from Class 5 to Class 4. This and other items, when complied with to the satisfaction of the Underwriters, will reflect in reduced insurance rates.

Pres. Eisenhower Hammers At 'Demo Irresponsibility'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A free-wheeling assault by President Eisenhower on what he called Democratic "irresponsibility" has raised Republican hopes today for a home stretch victory in the final 10 days of the presidential campaign.

Eisenhower flew here Friday night for a nationally televised speech in his drive to make his vice president, Richard M. Nixon, his successor. Nixon was reported "extremely exhilarated" by the President's praise.

Eisenhower sparked bursts of applause as he hammered hard at Sen. John F. Kennedy's charges that Republican leadership has damaged American prestige abroad and steered the country into economic doldrums.

The President drew cheers with this shaft at the Democratic nominee: "My friends, anyone who seeks to grasp the reins of world leadership should not spend all his time wringing his hands."

Declaring Nixon "by long odds" the best qualified man to be president, Eisenhower struck the familiar Republican theme that Kennedy is immature and brash. Though he never mentioned Kennedy by name, Eisenhower said: "I hear that one candidate says he will act first and act last. America needs a man who will think first, and then act wisely."

Pennsylvania Republican leaders, recently concerned at signs of rising Kennedy strength, were jubilant over Eisenhower's speech and the warmth of his reception from thousands on midtown Philadelphia streets.

In his speech to a dinner sponsored by the Nixon-for-President Committee of Pennsylvania, Eisenhower said the United States is the most powerful nation on earth in force of arms. He cited a page-long list of economic gains in the past eight years to document his claim that "never have Americans achieved so much in so short a time."

He said he was "profoundly concerned by some statements in this campaign that have cruelly distorted the image of America."

"These statements demonstrate an amazing irresponsibility," said Eisenhower. "They demand, from me, emphatic correction."

He recited foreign policy "successes" which, he said, refuted the charges that the nation has lost prestige. The list ranged from the halting of the "costly and futile" Korean War to "a decent solution of the Suez affair" and the forging of "new ties with our neighbors to the south."

"These successes were not won by any lack of strength or decisiveness," said the President. "It is on such a record that Americans measure prestige rather than upon self-serving political assertions."

He said loose talk about "relative military strength" (is) an exercise in calculated confusion."

The wave of speculation in gold in the London market was attributed by Eisenhower to foreign fears that the dollar will be weakened by "big spending schemes and irresponsible monetary policies."

He challenged Democratic leaders who support their party platform to spell out how they would pay for the "many billions of additional federal spending" — whether by higher taxes or by cutting government programs, since "we know they could not pay for them with high hopes alone."

"But if they would pay for these programs by deficit spending, raising the debt of our children and grandchildren, and thereby debase our currency, let them so confess," he said.

U.S. To Air Proof Of Charges Cuba Getting Many Arms From Red Bloc

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. authorities plan to make public next week what they said will be proof backing up State Department charges that the Soviet bloc is shipping vast amounts of arms to Cuba.

The State Department made the charges late Friday, the first time the U.S. government officially has alleged the sending of Communist military gear and technicians to the government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

About the same time, the Pentagon disclosed that 1,450 U.S. Marines will be given shore leave this weekend at the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay in eastern Cuba. The present Marine strength there is reported about 300.

The Pentagon said the Marines from the assault ship Boxer, now on a Caribbean training exercise, were going to Guantanamo purely for rest and recreation and would leave the base on Monday.

The public announcement was designed to blunt in advance any Castro allegations that aggressive intent was involved. Despite Pentagon disclaimers, some observers felt the move signified Washington's continued determination to hold the base and that the strength of the weekend detachment would not be lost on Latin Americans.

The U.S. charges of Red arms shipments were contained in a note to Secretary-General Jose A. Mora of the 21-nation Organization of American States.

The United States asked that the special OAS six-nation committee set up last August to look into the U.S.-Cuban dispute get going on the job. The United States has signified its willingness to cooperate in a committee inquiry Cuba has not followed suit.

If Cuba formally refuses to cooperate with the OAS group U.S. strategists figure this will put the onus on Castro and will be a forward step in efforts to get the OAS to act jointly against him.

The U.S. note said the Castro regime apparently is trumpeting its "false charges" of U.S. aggression as a cover for Castro's own military buildup with help from the Reds.

"With the notorious assistance of extracontinental powers, specifically those of the Soviet bloc, Cuba is expanding rapidly its capacity to give armed support to the spread of its revolution in other parts of the Americas," the U.S. note said.

Because of Castro's secrecy shield over the unloading of ship cargoes and a round of military bases, U.S. experts were unable to give exact figures on the amount of arms arriving from behind the Iron Curtain.

In Havana, sources said more than 22,000 tons of Communist arms and ammunition have arrived between Aug. 1 and Oct. 27 alone.

Republicans Break Parley On Fifth Radio-TV Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans today broke off negotiations for a fifth TV-radio debate between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

In a telegram to the Democratic presidential candidate's representative, the Republicans accused Kennedy of issuing an ultimatum and charging Nixon negotiators with bad faith.

"There can be no further negotiations unless Sen. Kennedy apologizes for the charge of bad faith which has been made and withdrawn his ill-advised ultimatum."

The telegram was sent by Fred C. Scribner Jr., Nixon's representative in the long-stalemated debate negotiations, to J. Leonard Reinsch, Kennedy's negotiator.

Reinsch was not available immediately for comment.

Scribner's blast was aimed at a telegram Kennedy sent Nixon Friday calling on the vice president to say by tonight whether he would agree to the fifth debate.

"If an agreement is not forthcoming by that time," Kennedy said, "The American people will know where to place the responsibility."

Scribner's telegram today made a point of saying negotiations had progressed to the point that he and Reinsch had agreed on a time and place for the broadcast and had asked for a meeting with network representatives today to complete details.

Although the negotiations had progressed this far, Scribner said, Kennedy's negotiators wired the networks Friday charging bad faith by Nixon's negotiators.

"In view of this fact Sen. Kennedy's wire, which I consider without justification, could only have been intended to make it appear that we had not talked with the networks and were not proceeding with negotiations," Scribner said.

"In fact, the timing of the wire convinces me that the ultimatum contained therein was intended to make it appear that we were proceeding under threat. The wire was sent as a part of a clever scheme to bring about a termination of the negotiations while at the same time attempting to place the responsibility on us."

"The junior senator from Massachusetts has assumed a position of dictation which he does not possess."

"This disregard of our arrangements could only cause conflict and disagreement, which it has done. The action of some of the senator's entourage in putting out his dog to a veterinarian to deliver her pups."

Thursday Smith rushed his wife to a hospital where she gave birth to a 9-pound daughter.

Smith didn't stay at the hospital long. He had to hustle back to the farm. It was calving time for his cow.

and firing off telegrams on Friday while they were attempting to clear final arrangements convinces me that Sen. Kennedy does not desire a fifth debate."

Scribner said Kennedy's telegram to Nixon while the negotiators were working "is the third act in two days in violation of the procedure we had agreed to in setting up" the discussions.

On Thursday, he said, release by Kennedy's staff of "purported details" of the negotiations "clearly contrary to our understanding that details of negotiations would not be released until they were completed."

Students of voting age gave the Kennedy-Johnson ticket 235 votes to 79 for Nixon-Lodge. Two were undecided, and one voted for Adlai Stevenson.

From this group Terry Sanford received 214 votes to Gavin's 80. Twenty students were undecided, and three gave a write-in ballot to Luke.

Students not yet old enough to vote also preferred Democratic candidates. They gave Kennedy-Johnson 383 votes and Nixon-Lodge 140. Six were undecided; two supported Stevenson; and one gave Johnson a write-in ballot for the Presidency.

Sanford won over Gavin by 332 to 153 among the younger students. Forty-one were undecided; six gave their votes to Luke and one to Larkins.

Democrats Win In Campus Poll

Democratic candidates on both state and national levels forged ahead of their Republican opponents in a poll conducted among East Carolina College students this week.

Approximately 850 students cast their votes to express preference in the balloting. The final count for two groups, students of voting age and students of non-voting age, favored Democratic presidential and gubernatorial candidates.

Students of voting age gave the Kennedy-Johnson ticket 235 votes to 79 for Nixon-Lodge. Two were undecided, and one voted for Adlai Stevenson.

From this group Terry Sanford received 214 votes to Gavin's 80. Twenty students were undecided, and three gave a write-in ballot to Luke.

Seek Explanation Of Airliner's Odd Crash

FRENCHTOWN, Mont. (AP) — Investigators sought an explanation today for the crash of a Northwest Airlines passenger plane which overturned in air, plunging against a mountainside. Eight passengers, three crew members and a hitchhiking stewardess died Friday in the burning wreckage scattered over a quarter-mile.

Flying low in cloudy weather, the airliner bound for Minneapolis from Portland, Ore., was due to make an instrument landing less than 20 minutes later in Missoula, in the mountains of western Montana.

"It started to roll over on its back," Sue Hough said after watching the crash. "It hit with a tremendous noise and blaze."

"As the plane headed toward the mountain," said another witness, Dave Anderson, "it winged over on its back and crashed upside down against the mountain."

Like a roaring tank, the four-engine plane skidded through the timber. Two engines hurtled 100 yards down the hillside. A door was flipped into a clump of trees a half-mile away.

The bodies of all aboard the plane were burned or dismembered beyond recognition, said Coroner Ralph M. Simmons.

It was Montana's worst air tragedy since a Northwest Airlines crashed near Butte almost 10 years ago, killing 22.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said four teams of investigators would be sent to the scene, aided by representatives of the Federal Aviation Agency.

The ill-fated airliner normally carried a crew of three but an extra stewardess had ridden from Portland. The plane's capacity was 50 passengers.

The victims were identified by Northwest Airlines in St. Paul as Capt. James R. Perkins of Spokane, Wash.; First Officer Harry C. La Bart of Bellevue, Wash.; Stewardess Ethel Marie De Freese of Spokane; Stewardess Eva Louise Knight of Spokane; and these passengers — A. P. Martinelli, Spokane; B. Leonard, Salem, Ore.; C. W. Johnson, Spokane; A. W. Jensen, Alexandria, Va.; R. Anderson, Los Angeles; Betty Hurl, Phillipsburg, Mont.; her son, John Hurl, Phillipsburg; and J. A. Deaton, Portland, Ore.

Joe, Pierre, Kurt Live A New Alliance

By LOYAL GOULD
HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — Joe, Pierre and Kurt — American, French and German soldiers — eating, working, buddying and rooming together?

Strange as it might seem to soldiers of World Wars I and II, they are doing it here in a NATO experiment in manpower integration.

A GI named Joe Murphy, a French corporal named Pierre G. Brasseur and a German Pfc. named Kurt Tag tumbled out of their barracks today for roll call — barked by a German army sergeant on a U.S. base here.

The three ate a breakfast prepared by French cooks and then went to a class in advanced automobile mechanics. Tonight they may hit town together.

"We've all got a common enemy now, so we must forget that we were once enemies," said Pfc. Murphy, 20, of New Haven, Conn.

Murphy expressed the concept behind the integration experiment. It has been two years in the planning by NATO headquarters, which feels the Soviet threat to Western Europe must be met by integration of manpower as well as of weapons.

Eventually 100 Americans, 100 French and 100 Germans will be part in the experiment, forming the headquarters unit of NATO's Central Army Group (CENTAG).

If this headquarters unit proves successful, integration may be extended. But how far depends on French President Charles de Gaulle, who opposes full NATO integration.

The soldiers in the unit were picked for their intelligence, high security rating and aptitude for at least one skilled trade. All spoke at least one of NATO's two official languages, French and English. Now they are learning another language. For Joe and Pierre, it is German. For Kurt, French.

CENTAG's officers also are mixed. Their commander is U.S. Maj. Gen. Christian H. Clarke. He has two assistants, German Brig. Gen. Friedrich Berendsen and French Brig. Gen. Pierre de Montjambert. The officers, too, are taking language instructions.

Joe, Pierre and Kurt say they consider it an honor to have been chosen for CENTAG.

SMALL MISCHIEF

I call Bruce my combination angel-terror. Soon he will be four, and he is a fascinating mixture of mischief and goodness.

At bedtime, I always tiptoe into his room to be sure he's covered. Then it is that I am struck by the innocence of his face in sleep. Then it is that I realize how helpless is this small dynamo, who plunges with such boundless energy about our house and yard all day. Then it is that I am struck by the awesomeness of my responsibility.

I realize it is entirely up to me to see that Bruce learns right from wrong, to see that he grows into the sort of man who will be a credit to his family, his community, and his country. I must teach him to keep a steady heart and a level head, to resist the many temptations that will be strewn in his path, to hold honor and truth and integrity high.

When I think of my task, I send a small and special prayer to God to aid me. And I thank God for his Church on earth which, for years to come, will be helping me, again and again, in making my small mischief into a man.

December Bride

MISS SADIE RAE BRADY is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brady of Greenville, who announce her engagement to Edgar T. Allen Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen of Winterville. A December wedding is planned.

Rose High Events

By CRAIG WORTHINGTON
Rose High fans last night honored the fathers of the football players by observing "Dad's Night" at the Greenville-Hartford game.

The fathers were introduced to the spectators before the game and then received their son's number to wear during the game. They sat in reserved seats on the sidelines.

After the game, the cheerleaders honored the parents of the football players and of the cheerleaders at an informal party in the high school home economics laboratory.

They served coffee and doughnuts to the adults and had sandwiches and cookies for the team. This party was planned mainly in honor of the fathers—to give them a chance to discuss the game with the players.

Melinda Coleman, head cheerleader, stated that everyone seemed to enjoy the party and had a good time discussing the game with their sons, the other players, and the parents of the team members.

The band and majorettes performed at the half-time show last night. The band, under the direction of James Rodgers, director, and Scott Smiley, drum major, marched onto the field from the end in a single line. As they advanced up the field, they formed a "V," then returned to their single line.

In front of the Phantom stands, they formed a pair of dice, the four and the three. Here, the band played "Mr. Lucky."

Then, the band moved into the position of a gun, where it played the theme from "Peter Gunn." The "gun" formed a question mark to play the theme from "Alfred Hitchcock Presents."

In addition to this well-planned and well-presented half-time show, the band helped during the game by continually playing fight songs.

This year's majorette squad includes Mary Goodwin, chief; Judy Tucker, Alice Cannon, Anne Hardee Joyner, Ann Besau, and Sally Wilcox.

"Tau" Sales Continue

The editorial executive staff this year includes Jean Crawford and Emily Stancil, co-editors; while Pete Hunt and Kathryn Winchester direct the business staff for the yearbook.

Book Club Meets With Mrs. Staton

BETHEL—The meeting of The Round Table Book Club was held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J.A. Staton.

The president, Mrs. S.C. Whitehurst, and Mrs. C.W. Barbee read the club collection. Fourteen members answered the roll call with interesting current topics. The minutes were read by the secretary. The club treasurer, Mrs. J.C. Smith, gave a report and the club voted to give a donation to the United Fund Campaign.

Miss Camille Staton presented the speaker, Mr. C.W. Everett, who presented the program. His subject was "The True Issues of the Current Political Campaign." He traced our two-party system for the beginning of the nation until today.

After the books were distributed by the custodian, Mrs. F.L. Andrews Jr., the members and guests were invited into the dining room where they were served a fruit salad, chicken a la king, potato chips, hot cheese biscuits, coffee and pumpkin pie.

Mrs. C.W. Everett and Mrs. C.G. Garrenton assisted Mrs. Staton and Miss Camille Staton in serving.

Hicks-Atkinson Vows Spoken

FARMVILLE—In a candlelight ceremony marked with tradition and beauty and solemnized in the Farmville Christian Church Saturday afternoon at 4:30, Miss Janice Raum Atkinson because the bride of Carl Thomas Hicks Jr. of Walstonburg. The Rev. Jack Daniel, church pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benshley Streeter Atkinson of Bensboro and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hicks of Walstonburg.

For the wedding scene, the church chancel was banked with ferns. Cathedral tapers in seven branched standards and floor baskets of mixed white flowers beautified the altar. Pews were marked with white flowers tied with white ribbon.

Mrs. Haywood Smith, organist, presented a program of sacred music which included Franck's "Hallelujah Chorus, Chorale Prelude E." Bach's "My Heart Ever Faithful," "Bist Du Bei Mir," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," and Brodsky's "I'll Walk With God." "O Perfect Love" by Barnby was played as the benediction and traditional wedding music was used during other parts of the service.

The bride and the bridegroom pledged in union their marriage vows taken from the Book of Ruth. Their nuptial communion was partaken from an heirloom chalice which had been presented to them as a gift from the 1869 silver collection of Cottondale, home of the late Col. and Mrs. Robert Cotten of Pitt County.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a classic gown of ivory delustrated satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and a full sweeping skirt that fell into a chapel train. Alencon lace edged the portrait neckline in scallops and was applied onto the bridal gown. Dainty satin covered buttons were used on the bodice back and the long satin sleeves ended in calla points over the wrists.

Her tiered veil of French illusion was attached to a pearl embellished crown which was outlined in pearlized sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of white cymbidium orchids and stephanotis edged with fluted tulle and lace. Her only ornaments were pearl earrings.

Mrs. Charles W. Robinson of Chapel Hill, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a dress of moss green velvet and myrtle green delustrated satin. The dress was styled with a fitted bodice of velvet which extended in decorative points onto the satin skirt. Folds of the satin cascaded from the neckline to make a back trim for the bodice. Her bandeau was a wide flat velvet bow with matching circular veil. She used other matching accessories and carried a cascade bouquet of talisman roses and bronze pom poms outlined with tulle and lace.

Bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Ann King of Farmville, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Garnett L. Keith Jr. of Atlanta, Ga. They were dressed as the honor attendant and carried similar bouquets.

Patricia Ann Russell, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a dress of moss green velvet that featured a rounded neckline, puffed sleeves and wide satin sash. She carried a nosegay of talisman roses accented with lilies-of-the-valley. Richard Neal Russell, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer and was attired as the groomsmen, in a cutaway coat, striped pants and ascot.

The bride's hostess colleagues at Liggett-Myers Tobacco Company in Durham served as honorary bridesmaids. They were Miss Sandra K. Kednocker, Miss Helen Marie Byrd, Miss Betty Ann Thomas, Miss Patricia Ann Adams, Miss Mary Jo Kline and Miss Dianne Trammell. They wore white gardenia wrist corsages tied with white velvet ribbon.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Head usher was the bridegroom's brother, Robert Burns Hicks of Walstonburg. Other ushers were Elbert Carmack Holmes Jr. of Farmville, Dr. James Manning Marlowe, Augusta, Ga., and three fraternity brothers, Yates Shuford Palmer, Donald Clark McMillion and Mack Braswell Pearsall, all of Chapel Hill.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Atkinson chose a dress of toast peau de soie fashioned with soft draping of self material trimming the bodice front and flowing into a panel on the skirt. Matching accessories, a toque of velvet petals interspersed with feathers and a symbidium corsage in shades of beige blending into green completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Hicks, mother of the bridegroom, was gownied in a dress of spice brown lace over beige satin. The sabrina neckline was outlined in scallops of the lace and the edging was also used at the waist and hem. Her corsage was white, purple-throated orchid.

For her wedding trip the bride changed to a beige and brown Lesure tweed suit. The Dior creation had a semi-fitted coat and was belted in the back. She used matching lustre kid slippers and bag, a velvet-tri-color toque and lifted the orchids from her wedding bouquet for a shoulder corsage.

The bride received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina and has been hostess-receptionist for a tobacco company in Durham.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Asheville School for Boys and attended the University of North Carolina where he was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon social fraternity. He is associated with his father in business in Walstonburg where the couple will make their home after a wedding trip to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Directing the wedding was Mrs. John O. Pollard, assisted by Robert Pollard of Chapel Hill.

Common Problem: 'School Before Marriage'

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Going away to school is a challenge. You're leaving familiar surroundings for new places, people, pursuits.

Some students take it in their stride; others become lonely. Here is a typical letter from a young reader who is faced with the problem of school vs. marriage.

"I am 18, and have been going steady two years. My friend's parents always liked me until they found out my mother was divorced, now they will not invite me to the house. Their son is an only child. He is an electronics student, aged 22. I am at college, some distance away. He wants to get married. My parents think that I should finish college before I am married. What do you think?"

If you can persuade your parents that your friend is mature enough to face marriage, and his parents will accept you, that could be one answer. If you are determined to get your degree and would regret it if you didn't, you should continue with your education.

Here's a letter from a 16-year-old who signs herself "Puzzled By The Crowd."

"I have been going around with a number of girls, but recently they have changed. They go out with boys who are very tough. Now they want to plan a weekend of skating with the boys and plan to tell their parents that it is an all-girl weekend. I don't want to go without telling my parents, but the girls have made a pact that no one tells parents. Should I risk losing their friendship?"

I think you could well risk losing their friendships, as they apparently don't have much to offer you in that respect. Girls of 16 have no business spending a weekend away from home with boys. It would be so much easier to have a set of parents chaperone the party, and then no one would have any regrets.

Stretching Dollars

RALEIGH — An abundance of broiler-fryers this October has created a glut of chickens. Stores throughout the state are featuring both whole and cut-up birds at extremely low prices. Both hens and turkeys are priced attractively for family and guest meals.

Large Grade A eggs are down in price after a steady climb. There is a plentiful supply now and the price spread between large and medium eggs has narrowed.

"Apple Time" continues in the state with big supplies available in markets and by roadside truck sellers. Grapes and bananas fall in the low-cost price range along with apples for choice fall fruits.

Mrs. Ruby E. Uzzell, consumer marketing specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, says Florida grapefruit is available at early season prices. California oranges are in short supply at high prices. Cranberries are plentiful, being the largest crop on record.

"Ordinarily, beef cuts with the smallest amount of bone and outside fat will be the lowest on a cost per serving basis although they may carry a higher price tag per pound than other cuts," says Mrs. Uzzell. "For this reason you might consider the boneless cuts when choosing a roast."

Watch for special weekend prices on steak cuts. Pork supplies are noticeably less than a year ago, resulting in fairly high prices. Best pork buys are found on hams, picnic shoulders, whole and half loins, sausage and bacon. Packaged pork products remain about steady in price. Both beef and pork liver give high food value at low prices.

Mrs. Uzzell reports fall vegetable supplies are picking up. Fresh greens are plentiful at budget prices. Other wise buys include snap beans, celery, white potatoes, sweet potatoes, winter squash, rutabagas, onions and cabbage. Bulk tomatoes are a little cheaper than carton tomatoes. Supply and quality of cauliflower, broccoli and eggplant are improving each week.

Don't forget to get a pumpkin to make into a Jack-O-Lantern on Halloween and the "old fellow" will make a fine pumpkin pie.

Covering Their Own Weaknesses

Recently the Republican leadership in North Carolina has concerned itself with hurling charges at the Democratic administration and government practices in general throughout the state.

The campaign now being staged by the GOP has not dwelled upon the qualifications of its own candidates for office. Rather it has been one of hitting at the Democrats either through its candidates or through criticizing government agencies.

There was the charge of "government by extortion", and the assertion that North Carolina government under Democratic leadership might be compared with that of Cuba. More recently have come sweeping and generalized charges at the state highway department.

At the local level the same party line has evidenced itself by the verbal attack upon the Greenville police department for the manner in which it carried out its official duties when Sen. Kennedy visited here.

It is obvious that the Republican party in North Carolina has suddenly tried to create itself into an image of the public conscience in the state. Is it just coincidental that the GOP has suddenly discovered so many short-comings in state and local government in Tar Heelia?

Or could it be that the GOP is just grasping at straws in a desperate attempt to convince the people of the state that they should follow the leadership the GOP can offer?

The circumstances point to the possibility that a carefully planned sniping attack has been resorted to by the Republicans. As long as they can attack Democrats and government departments they do not have to discuss the qualifications of their own candidates. The cry of "government by extortion" may dis-

Candidates Go Into Final Lap

By Lynn Nisbet

LAST WEEK—There remains just one week for effective campaigning before the general election on November 8. In baseball parlance we are at the top of the ninth inning. In football language there are about five minutes left in the final quarter. In the lingo of the poker table, the cards have been dealt and from here out the results depend upon the skill of the players in anticipating the bets of opponents. In parlance of the race track the horses are coming into the last lap.

Whatever simile is adopted for comparison, it appears that the presidential race is still in doubt, both at national and state levels. Most experienced observers and pollsters give the Kennedy-Johnson Democratic ticket a slight edge in the nation, so far as popular vote is concerned. Glaring headlines in daily newspaper early this week proclaim the possibility of an electoral vote landslide majority for either party. That is possible because under the electoral college system a plurality of one, not necessarily a majority, of the popular vote in New York will give 45 electoral votes to the candidate getting that plurality margin. In North Carolina it will mean 14 electoral votes for the high man.

Six weeks ago the Nixon-Lodge Republican ticket appeared to have a substantial lead in this state. As of now it appears that the Kennedy-Johnson Democratic ticket has the edge in North Carolina. That trend could be reversed in final week operation. Both parties know that, and there is some indication that Democrats fear their campaign crested a few days too early.

The State candidates and other party leaders are not waiting out the clock. The next few days will see the most intensive activity in eight years. The Republicans have run a scheduled campaign caravan all through the East, something that has never been done before. The Democrats are frankly worried about two or three spots in the East, although nearly all the polls show Kennedy and Sanford doing all right.

A fine crop with prices above average has brought prosperity to the tobacco belt. Because this occurred in a Republican administration the Democratic speakers are finding it difficult to convince the farmer that it is due to a program which the Democrats inaugurated and have kept alive.

VOTERS—Interest manifested in new registration this year and the organized effort planned to get voters to the polls presages a whopping turnout. Estimates range from a million and a quarter to a million and a half. A 60-40 split in favor of the Democratic State ticket seems indicated. That will be the closest race between the parties in November since 1928, when the break was 55-45.

The national ticket will be closer, many observers looking for a difference of 20,000 or less. Majority of the forecasts favor the Democrats, but Republicans refuse to concede anything.

BOAT LICENSING—With the boating season rapidly coming to a close, it looks very doubtful that more than 38,000 boats will be registered under the Boating Safety Act of 1959. When this legislation was being put together estimates ranged from 40,000 to 200,000 boats needing to be registered. The relatively small number of boats already registered has made it difficult for the Wildlife Resources Commission to adequately enforce the law, but there is general agreement that a splendid job has been done under the circumstances.

On November 15 the motorboat division of the Wildlife Commission will begin mailing renewal notices to registered boat owners, and 1961 certificates of registration will be mailed out from Raleigh starting about December 15. Numbers assigned to boats are permanent. Only the certificate will be changed, and plans call for some means of identifying boats that are up to date where registration is concerned, but not until 1962.

MORE MONEY—It is almost certain that the 1961 Legislature will give consideration to legislation to provide more money for boating safety enforcement, education, and administration. There are two important alternatives, neither of which will be especially popular. One is to raise the registration fee, and the other is to reduce the horsepower scale on registration. This could range from including boats powered by machinery of ten horsepower or above, to requiring registration of all boats powered by machinery, period.

The purpose of the registration law is boating safety; therefore, all boats, regardless of the horsepower of their craft, benefit from safety measures. It can be argued, then, that all boats should contribute to the boating safety program.

tract the public's attention from the fact that the GOP candidate earlier in the campaign showed his complete lack of knowledge of the public education system in the state and the programs being proposed to enhance the situation in our public schools.

A verbal blast at the local police department may divert voter attention from the fact that Robert Gavin, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, has sought to divorce himself from the Republican label by literature that presents his "personal platform" and by playing up the "conservative" rather than the Republican title for him.

Broad charges at the administration of highway affairs could distract attention momentarily from the history of dismal failure of the GOP in seeking to thrust its policies on the people of the state during the past half century.

In political as well as military campaigns, the best defense is often offense. North Carolina Republican leadership apparently recognizes its candidates have left themselves in indefensible positions on many important fronts; and they are therefore resorting to sniping and hit-and-run jabs in an effort to cover their own obvious—and politically fatal—weaknesses.

Employment Tax Has Some Obvious Flaws

The proposed municipal employment tax proposed at the recent meeting of the North Carolina League of Municipalities should be rejected if the matter ever comes before the state legislature.

Most people concerned with local government recognize the financial squeeze municipalities have been in these past few years. They likewise recognize the necessity of some eventual program through which local governments will be able to receive a more reasonable share of the total tax take compared with state and federal governments.

Even so, it is our opinion that the proposed employment tax—levying a special tax upon a person for the privilege of holding a job within the corporate limits of a city—is a field municipal governments should not get into. It obviously would be a discriminatory tax, for in all probability a blanket policy of one sort or another would have to be followed. Either it would be applied to everyone working within the corporate limits of a municipality—in which case some people not residents of the city would have to pay the tax while some residents, employed outside the corporate limits might escape paying the tax; or it would have to be applied to all residents, regardless of place of employment, in which case it would be almost impossible to administer properly. Even in the latter case, it would apply only to employed residents of a municipality, not to all residents.

All taxes, of course, have to come from people or firms which have incomes. But for municipalities of the state to consider seriously applying a special tax for the privilege of working would only discourage rather than encourage gainful employment. If such a tax were applied only for those employed within the corporate limits, it would certainly be an incentive for new plants and businesses to be located outside city limits so employees might escape paying the special tax . . . and at the same time the city would lose the ad valorem tax it might gain from the business property.

Next President Has New Tasks

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next president will face problems which are the direct opposite of those Franklin D. Roosevelt encountered when he took office in 1933.

The president in 1961 will work on domestic dilemmas which involve only comparatively mild changes, but abroad he must cope with a world going through an intense revolutionary period. The world Roosevelt faced in 1933 was contained within the Soviet frontiers. The great colonial powers still held their colonies. No upheavals were then in sight.

But at home Roosevelt took charge of a nation flat on its back in depression, fresh out of steam and ideas, and not only dreadfully in need of drastic treatment but ready and anxious for it.

Roosevelt's remedy was the New Deal. This was revolutionary only in the sense of being so intensely different from the slow pace of social and economic adjustments which had preceded it in the 20th century.

This is not the task facing Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Sen. John F. Kennedy here in this country which, more or less, is flat and prosperous. Since prosperity is not a per- ject for rocking the boat, the nation is neither anxious for nor thinking of extreme measures. Neither candidate is offering anything radically new.

Abroad it's different. The next president not only will have to handle communism as it exists in Russia, Eastern Europe and Asia but must seek some way to induce the new nations, newly freed from colonialism, to stay away from communism.

Those new nations, backward and poor, all want to come abreast of the 20th century in a rush. Coping with them and their problems and desires—particularly in competition with Communism—will tax all the ingenuity of the man who moves into the White House in January.

Whether or not in the 1960s this country has a medical care program for the aged financed through Social Security—as Kennedy says it should be—and Nixon says it shouldn't—is hardly a revolutionary question.

The answer, of course, will be of great importance to millions of aged people. But if Kennedy is elected and has his way, linking medical care for the aged to Social Security will still be only an extension of the Social Security system.

It cannot be considered in the same league—for newness and its far-reaching implications—with the creation of the Social Security system itself by Congress in 1935.

Whether or not Kennedy or Nixon—more or less would be event on defense, school construction, development of natural resources or the farm program is a matter of degree and not of essential difference.

It's for this reason much of the presidential campaign has revolved around the personalities of the two men rather than around their programs or the issues they talk of.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
GOOD FOUNDATIONS

A man we know of who lives on a piece of high ground near a river awoke one spring morning to find himself on an island.

A bad flood had occurred during the night, and his house, though still untouched, was entirely cut off on all sides. Electricity and telephone were off; he had no boat; there were no other houses in sight. For three days, until the waters receded, he lived alone, eating such food as was on hand and draining water to drink from the pressure tank of his pump.

Asked later by friends whether he had not been frightened by his isolation and the threat of rising water, he replied that he had not. "My grandfather told me," he said, "that not even the biggest flood in all the last century had even touched the foundations of this house, so I wasn't worried."

What security we get from in solid foundations! Most of us probably do not live in flood areas, but we still need security, and confidence. Some of the things we often consider as our firmest foundations—our families, our money, for example, can vanish unexpectedly in a flood of calamity.

Jesus said, "Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock."

Said building is a folly of such magnitude that we should flee it as we would the plague.

Ballots Go To Electors

Know what:

Better than 60 million Americans will go to the polls Nov. 8 and vote. Many of them will think they have voted for either Kennedy or Nixon when they leave the polls.

But 'tain't so. In this state the voters will be casting their ballots for either 14 Democrats or 14 Republicans. Whichever state gets the most popular votes will in turn cast their ballots in the electoral college for their party's candidate.

But don't worry about it. The candidate who gets the largest share of the popular vote usually wins the election, although it has happened that a candidate won the popular vote and then lost the election.

In 1888, Pres. Grover Cleveland led Republican candidate Benjamin Harrison by 98,017 in the popular voting nationwide. But Harrison became president. He won enough small states to offset big popular majorities in the larger states and, thus, when the electoral college met Harrison was named president.

Of course, when such things happen there is talk of abolishing the electoral college and letting the popular vote decide the winner. But through the years it has been just talk and the electoral college remains with us at least through this year's election.

The United Fund board on the courthouse lawn indicates a healthy increase in United Fund collections each time a report meeting is held.

But there is still a good way to go and that means if United Fund is to continue here, individuals are going to have to come through with their contributions and solicitors are going to have to see their prospects.

Anything less than the $111,000 goal could mean going back to the old way of allowing each of the participating agencies to conduct their own fund-raising campaign in future years.

In a relatively short time the drive has gone over the 50 percent mark. The rest ought to be downhill. Let's hustle it along.

Funny thing about this Halloween. It's this time of year when the old folks like to recall how they hung porch furniture in trees, tossed fence gates into fish ponds, smeared paint on any and everything and raised havoc in general.

And it's also the time of the year when the young folks talk about conducting the UNICEF's house-to-house collections for the United Nations Children's Fund and attending supervised Halloween parties.

Still the older folks' conversations at other times of the year often gets around to juvenile delinquency and how much wilder the kids are today than in olden days.

THE UNITED WAY

Also Exporting Future Growth

By ELMER ROESSNER
Establishing factories abroad exports both United States gold and American jobs, it was pointed out in this column.

And it also exports markets and future growth. The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago points out in its October issue of "Business Conditions."

Major Midwest industries, including autos, tractors and farm equipment, have participated in this "overseas investment expansion," the Chi Fed says.

Export markets have been important to the Midwest. "During 1953-58, five industries that are heavily concentrated in the Seventh Federal Reserve District states shipped at least 8 percent of their total output to foreign markets," the bank's bulletin states.

"These were the construction and mining equipment, tractors and farm equipment, heavy engines and turbines, machine tool and drug industries. In contrast, total U.S. merchandise exports during this period averaged about 4 percent of the gross national product."

TREND ACROSS THE OCEAN
The Seventh Fed consists of Iowa, Northern Illinois, Northern Indiana, Southern Wisconsin and Southern Michigan.

The bank found that there is a strong tendency of industries in that area—perhaps the most productive industrial region in the United States—to supply foreign markets by expanding production and distribution facilities abroad.

The bank cited these as key factors in the trend to manufacture abroad: lower labor and overhead costs, including high tariffs, quotas and exchange controls.

The bank concluded that this sustained expansion of overseas investment by Midwest industries would "probably result in some diminution of a heretofore important stimulus to the area's economic growth—foreign demand for such items as tools, tractors and farm equipment, automobiles and rugs." And it explained:

"Future expansion of output and employment in the Midwest durable goods industries would probably be geared more closely to the over-all growth of the U.S. economy and less to growth of exports."

The bank pointed out that shifts of prices in leading industrial nations could modify this situation. "For example, it said, 'If prices and wages in Western European countries continue to show larger percentage increases than in the United States, the attractiveness of doing business abroad would diminish and goods produced in Midwest plants would become competitive in foreign markets.'

Whose Side Is He On?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Robert Paul Wolff is an Instructor in Philosophy at Harvard University and as such is presumed to have some passing acquaintance with the ancient art of logic. However, the Instructor in Philosophy moves from Plato and Aristotle to comment on the politics of Cuba and permits himself a letter in the columns of "The New Republic," which once counted among the editors the eminent Walter Lippmann but which has in recent years fallen upon hard times. In his letter, Robert Paul Wolff says:

"...The revolution is not a tragedy to be 'contained' by tactical diplomacy; it is a wonderful victory for the Cuban people, to be cheered and aided in every possible way. We deserve to be hated by Castro, and it is a tribute to the Cuban people that they have not turned on us more violently. Only after we have worked as hard for their welfare in the coming years as we worked for their misery in years past will we have a right to expect their good will."

Precisely why is the Castro Communist Revolution in Cuba to be "cheered and aided in every possible way"? What benefit is the Revolution to the people of the United States? The Cubans have seized American property, molested American persons, interfered with American trade and turned the island over to the Communists, utilizing Czechoslovakian and Red Chinese experts to assist them. Should we be grateful for that? Perhaps we ought to compensate the Cubans for their kindness in killing several American Precisely why do "we," as Mr. Wolff says, deserve to be hated by Castro? Our State Department helped him get his job. Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" created an American opinion favorable to Castro. The deskman in the State Department, William Wieleland, assisted Castro to achieve success. Our Ambassador to Cuba, Earl E. Smith, was discredited from opposing Castro and was apparently instructed to be antagonistic to Batista.

Our Ambassador to Mexico, Robert Hill, got into trouble with the State Department for telling the truth about Castro. Why should not Fidel Castro be grateful for all this? Instead he has followed his brother, Raul, into the Communist camp and at the United Nations acted and voted like a Communist stooge. Do we need to pay him for his performance at the Hotel Theresa in Harlem?

I do not know where Robert Paul Wolff, Instructor in Philosophy, Harvard University, hails from and what he knows about the world in which he lives, but his adoration of the Castro Revolution causes one to wonder what a moral example he is to the young students who meet an instructor in Philosophy I, where the truth is usually defined as the great minds of the human race saw it. But it does not take much of a great mind to discover that the United States is definitely imperiled by a Communist base 90 miles off the Florida coast and that that island could become a submarine and an air base to our danger and detriment. Perhaps Wolff's logic does not protect itself that far but the rest of us are deeply concerned by this danger which has now become a principal issue in the Presidential campaign.

Wolff's letter to "The New Republic" is, of course, a matter of no consequence. No matter who elected, and shall we what we have to do in Cuba elsewhere. What is significant here is that our young people are being educated by many who are insensitive to the needs of the United States; who, for some reason, always put the United States second in any consideration of public questions. Not knowing who Wolff is, except that he teaches philosophy at Harvard, I cannot say what his qualifications are for his defilement of the United States.

Just above Wolff's letter was one by Enrique Noble, Associate Professor of Spanish, Goucher College. This man is a Cuban who is happy to discover that someone in the United States is not antagonistic to Castro and he believes that the American people are misinformed. His is a noble sentiment of patriotism but what does he

Phantoms Roll To 26-7 Victory Over Hertford Eleven

PHANT DEFENDERS . . . move in to trap Hertford quarterback Julian Nixon for 7-yard loss. Pursuing are Erskine Duff (20), Billy James (12), Bill Wade (50), and Dallas Clark (behind Nixon).

Greenville's J. H. Rose High Phantoms battled an even score-board struggle with a stubborn Hertford Indian eleven for the first half here last night before unleashing a lightning-quick second half offensive show that completely subdued the Albemarle Conference visitors, 26-7.

The two squad left the field at halftime knotted at 7-7 after Greenville had been unable to move consistently against the eight-man Hertford line. The Phantoms' early score came after guard Russell Fields recovered an Indian fumble on the Hertford 33. Quarterback Erskine Duff carried 22 yards into the end zone on a quarterback sneak after halfbacks John Adams and Alan McArthur had divided 11 yards between them on successive carries. Hertford received the kickoff and moved for its only score of the night, Indian quarterback Julian Nixon plunged into paydirt from one yard out to cap the drive sparked by a 45-yard pass play from Nixon to end Frank McGooogan that carried to the Phantoms.

McArthur Sparkies
McArthur, in his usual role as jack of all trades, sparked the Phantoms' seventh win in eight starts. The fleet junior halfback scored once and passed to Billy James for another touchdown. He picked up 97 yards in nine rushing plays; passed for 26 more yards; and caught a Duff aerial for 16 more to lead the Phantoms to victory.

McArthur applied the spark early in the third stanza that began the Indians' downfall. With a second and five on the Greenville 20, McArthur sliced off his own right tackle, found running room in the Hertford secondary, and cut-sprinted Indian defenders for a brilliant 80-yard scoring jaunt.

Minutes later, the 160-pound back tossed a pass on the run to James in the Hertford end zone for Greenville's third six-pointer. McArthur handled the Phantoms' two punts for the game for an average of 25.5 yards. He returned a Hertford punt 80 yards for another score called back because of a clipping penalty. Greenville's fourth score came in the final period on a 31-yard aerial from James to end Layne Jorgensen. A Hertford interception of another James heave on the Indians' two-yard stripe halted the last scoring threat of the game.

Senior guard Larry Roberts converted two extra points in four attempts. The pair that failed were blocked.

Leading the Indians running attack was halfback Don Madre who picked up four of Hertford's six first downs and had a total of 57 yards gained in 11 tries.

Nixon, the quarterback, carried 12 times for a net total of only eight yards, but picked up another 59 yards in four completions out of nine attempted passes.

Aerial Trio
Duff, McArthur, and James shared the Phantoms' tossing game. Duff completed two of five attempts for 16 yards; McArthur was true on one of three tosses for 25 yards; and James found his mark three out of four times for 55 yards. James' only incomplete pass was the late interception by Hertford's Ed Nixon, the quarterback's twin, deep in Indian territory.

The Phantoms' aerial game was more accurate than statistics indicate, however. Four long, consecutive Greenville passes fell incomplete in the dying seconds of the first half in an attempt to carry a lead into the dressing room. Of the remaining incompletions, one was intercepted, the other was jarred from the hands of Jorgensen on the Hertford eight-yard line by a solid Indian tackle.

The Phantoms step into a higher conference next Friday, traveling to Wilson to tangle the powerful 4-A Cyclones. Greenville supporters, however, will be closely watching the New Bern-Tarboro clash in Tarboro Friday. A Bear victory could throw the North-eastern Conference chase into a three-way tie among New Bern, Tarboro, and Greenville.

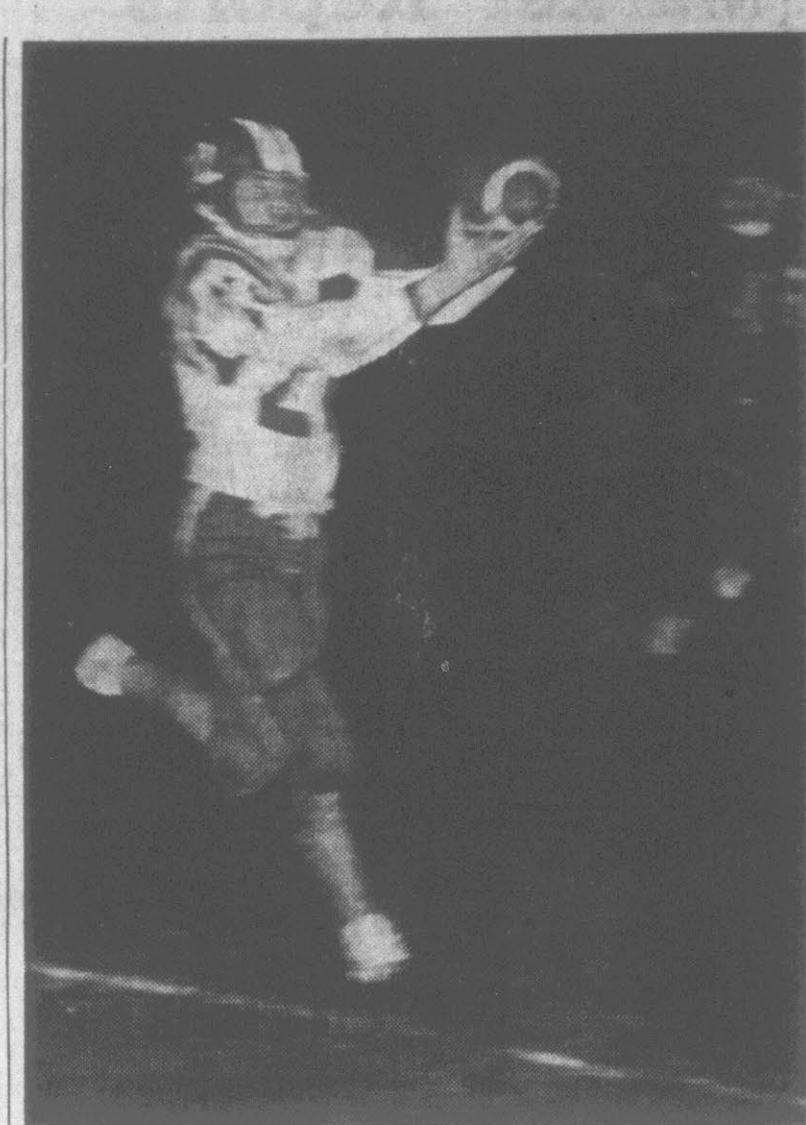

Farmville Wins

LA GRANGE — Farmville's Red Devils, paced by the running of Danny Dilda, and the passing arm of Dean Ogelsby, squeaked a 7-0 victory over La Grange, here last night.

The only score of the evening, which came in the second quarter, and gave the Red Devils their victory, was set up by a pass from Dean Ogelsby to J. Y. Monk on the thirty yard line. Ogelsby passed again for fifteen yards, and then Dilda skirted his own left end for the tally. Dilda passed to Monk for the extra point.

Farmville continued to pace the play in the second quarter, following their score. La Grange was forced to punt after gaining one first down following the kickoff, and Farmville took the punt and moved to the 6 yard line on a 40 yard pass play from Dilda to Monk. However, La Grange intercepted on the Farmville 2 yard line to end the threat.

In the second half, La Grange took the kick-off, and marched to a first down, but were forced, once again, to kick. There were no serious threats posed by either team in the second half.

HAULING IT IN . . . Phantom Halfback Allan McArthur hauls in a pass from quarterback Erskine for a decisive gain against Hertford's Indians in last night's non-loop battle in College Stadium.

BEAUFORT — Ayden's Tornadoes grabbed the Coastal Conference championship and a berth in the State Class A playoffs here last night, as they battled to a 0-0 tie with a tough Beaufort eleven.

The contest, which pitted the two top teams in the conference, began with a flurry of situations which demanded punting on the part of both teams. Beaufort won the toss and elected to receive. The Tornadoes kicked off and Beaufort was unable to move the ball. The Sea Dogs punted, and in like manner the Ayden grid-ers were unable to make any headway.

About midway the first quarter, the Sea Dogs began to march. However, after picking up a first down, they were thrown for a loss on their own 29. At this point, freshman tackle Jackie Collins broke through the Beaufort defenses, picked up a blocked punt, and raced to the Beaufort four yard line. Knocking on the door to paydirt, fullback Dinky Mills carried to the one foot line. However, on the next attempt at scoring, Beaufort's Ray Hassell shot the gap, throwing the Tornadoes' William for a five-yard loss. Edwards, on the next play, was thrown for another five-yard loss, thus ending Ayden's biggest threat.

In the third quarter, Beaufort moved down to the Ayden 35, but met a stone wall in the form of Ayden defenders. This drive covered 35 yards, which was the longest sustained drive of the night.

Overall, Beaufort was able to enter Ayden territory only four times during the evening's play, while the Tornadoes crossed the midfield strip into Beaufort territory on seven occasions.

The Sea Dogs, last year's State Class A grid champions and straining for a repeat of last year's performance, were led by their offensive workhorse, Ernest House. House gained a total of 96 yards rushing, carrying 24 times. House was the leading rusher of the night.

For Ayden, William Edwards was the leading ground-gainer, picking up a total of 48 yards. Defensively, the Tornadoes were paced by Jimmy Persinger, Jackie Collins, who recovered two fumbles, Clem McGlowhorn, and Rudolph Cannon.

UNC Frosh Top Young Deacs, 6-0

An intercepted pass set up the touchdown that enabled North Carolina's freshmen to beat the Wake Forest frosh 6-0, and Duke's Blue Imps scored all their points in the first half in turning back the South Carolina frosh 17-12 Friday.

North Carolina tackle Bill Cooke intercepted a pass on his own 35 and returned to the Wake Forest 46. Thirteen plays later, halfback Jimmy Eason cracked over from the 1.

Duke scored its first touchdown in an unusual manner. The opening kickoff sailed into the South Carolina end zone and Duke center Joe Fallin recovered the free ball over the goal line for a touchdown. Bobby Weidman plunged for the two-point conversion, and scored a touchdown in the second period on a four-yard run. George Guthrie kicked a field goal just before the half to complete Duke's scoring.

South Carolina quarterback Lide Hugins tossed two touchdowns passes in the second half, a 16-yarder to George Fisher and one of 13 yards to Fred Neal.

Worked Out In Heart Of City

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undismayed as rush hour traffic blocked South Carolina from a scheduled football workout at Georgetown University, Coach Warren Giese decided to drill his squad in the nearest place available.

Giese took his charges across the street from their hotel Friday and drilled them in DuPont Circle—a combination park and traffic circle in the heart of Washington.

The workout took place at the peak of rush-hour so hundreds of drivers and pedestrians got a preview of the team that opposes Maryland today.

Havelock Trims Rams By 32-20

HAVELOCK — Robersonville's Rams drew first blood but later fell behind in an offensive show here last night that ended in a 32-20 Coastal Conference victory for Havelock High School.

Tied 13-13 at intermission, Havelock returned for the second half to score three consecutive touchdowns while holding Coach Bob Lee's charges scoreless to take a commanding 42-13 lead.

Havelock's second half offensive quelled Robersonville hopes as the home team ran its total-yards-rushing figure to 286 for the contest.

The Rams in dropping their fourth straight loss bid for the third Robersonville conference victory of the season. At the Rams' expense, Havelock extended their season conference mark to 4-1-1 to place it behind front-running Ayden and Beaufort. Robersonville's Coastal record now stands at 2-4.

Sparking the Robersonville offense were backs Tommy Ward and Jimmy Brown and end Ronny Stevenson. Stevenson snared eight passes for a total of 69 yards. Ward picked up 147 of the Rams' 170 yards rushing.

Ward skirted his own left end for the first Ram score from the Havelock 21. The stalwart of the Robersonville single wing attack added the second touchdown on a 15-yard effort and tossed a 24-yard pass to Brown for the final score late in the fourth period.

The fleet tailback converted two of three extra points on scampers around his own right end.

Leading the Havelock attack was David Seaton with 116 yards rushing and Turcott with 129 yards total offense. Kenneth Heath led the charging defense of the Havelock eleven.

Clayton Piland Dubious Starter For Bucs Tonight

BOONE, N.C.—Enroute with the Bucs.

East Carolina College's hopes for a seventh straight victory took a dip here this morning when Clayton Piland, a junior tackle who is seeking all-conference honors, was listed as a doubtful starter in tonight's crucial North State Conference game.

Piland, who missed practice Thursday, was suffering from a leg infection and hasn't responded to doctor's treatment as expected. The Pirate coaching staff retained hope Piland would be available for some duty.

Gary Pierce, senior guard, and Gary Cannady, senior tackle, were expected to alternate duties at Piland's post tonight.

East Carolina's football team arrived in Boone late Friday afternoon, and held a brief workout in the cool mountain air.

The Bucs came on the heels of three days of rain but reports here for the weekend are for fair and cool weather.

Appalachian, beaten only by Lenoir Rhyne, is ranked as the number one defensive club in the N.A.I.A. district and will be stronger against E.C. tonight.

College officials report it will be the first time in four games that the Apps have been to top physical shape. Included in the list of returning injured stars is fullback Glenwood Wilson, a pre-season pick in All-Conference selections.

A mass turnout by Appalachian supporters for a pep rally and bonfire last night, in which they burned the Pirate at the stake, gave indications of "upset fever" in this mountain village.

Kickoff time for the game tonight will be 8:00. Play-by-play will be carried by WGTC.

Archie Heavily Favored Tonight

ROME, Italy (AP) — Ageless Archie Moore is almost a unanimous choice to beat Italian lightweight champion Giulio Rinaldi in their 10-round non-title fight tonight.

Italian sports writers said the 44-year-old 17-year-old world champion has too much ring guile and too much experience for the slugging 25-year-old Italian.

Archie's title was lifted by the National Boxing Association of the United States this week for failure to defend his crown within a specified time. But he still is the champion in the eyes of the New York Athletic Commission and other states where the NBA is not recognized.

A victory for the Italian probably would get him a quick chance at the European cruiserweight title for which he is a challenger.

ON THE MOVE . . . Allan McArthur swings around end as he begins his eighty-yard jaunt to touchdown territory in last night's action.

Federico Thompson Risks Title Bout Hopes Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Federico Thompson, an Argentine by way of Panama, meets Gaspar Ortega, an Indian from Mexico, in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight.

At stake for the Argentine is a title fight with Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret, the world welterweight champion, at the Garden, Dec. 10.

Thompson, unbeaten in his last 26 fights, is a 2-1 favorite.

It's a big risk for the 32-year-old Argentine. If he should lose decisively it will cost him the Paret fight, which he has all wrapped up.

So why take the chance, especially against a hot fighter who has won six straight?

title scrap, says Thompson.

Thompson, who fought twice a week for eating money not so long ago, quickly agreed when matchmaker Teddy Brenner offered him the Oct. 29 date against one of several opponents, including Ortega. Ortega was his own choice.

Brenner suggested the fight with Thompson's Oct. 15 title bout with Paret had to be postponed. The Cuban had to have infected tonsils removed.

Ortega isn't a soft touch for anyone. The 25-year-old Mexican has beaten four fighters before, or after, they were welterweight champions, including Paret. Once a high-ranking contender, he no longer is listed in the top ten of the 147-pound class. But with six wins in a row he's banging on the door again. A good showing against Thompson, the No. 2 contender, could lift Gaspar right up high.

Gaspar's record is 58-18-2, including 22 knockouts. He's never been stopped. Thompson's listed record is 97-8-8 including 52 kayos. He's been stopped once.

When the fight is over, Thompson will be a 2-1 favorite. It's a big risk for the 32-year-old Argentine. If he should lose decisively it will cost him the Paret fight, which he has all wrapped up.

Joe Brown Has An Easy Time Against Andrade

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joe Brown today holds the record for successful lightweight title defenses — his ninth — after a fun-filled unanimous win over Cisco Andrade.

Brown, who spent almost as much time laughing as punching Friday night, toyed with Andrade to score a lopsided decision.

Referee Lee Grossman scored the fight 12-3, Judge Tommy Hart 14-1 and judge George Latka 13-3. The champ from Houston weighed 144½ and Andrade of suburban Compton 133½.

Andrade, 30, accused Brown of tugging and running backwards. The 34-year-old champ commented: "I'm an old man. That's why I was trying to rest in the middle rounds. I wasn't playing around. But he didn't open up the way I expected him to."

Most of the crowd of 8,500 was for Andrade. Los Angeles is second only to Mexico City in Mexican population. But the boos didn't bother Brown.

"When they're dough out there, it means there's dough out there," he said.

Brown, sidestepping and connecting with good lefts whenever he felt like it, made the 15-round title go more like a training camp sparring session.

"I beat him with the left hand. I tried for a knockout, but I couldn't get just the right shot at him," smiled Brown.

Andrade said the left jabs were thuds, not punches.

"How in the hell are you going to hit someone who's running from you?" he asked.

Cisco got under Brown's lengthy reach in the eighth and landed what looked like the hardest punch of the fight—a corking right to the champion's jaw. It hurt Brown.

The champion said he wants to go after title defense No. 10 before the end of the year—against either Eddie Perkins or Len Matthews. A telegram from Perkins, challenging the winner, was read from ringside.

The win broke a record of successful title defenses in the lightweight division which Brown had shared with the old-time great, Benny Leonard.

Brown was in for a $40,000 guarantee. Andrade for a 20 per cent cut. The Olympic promoters estimated the gross at $55,000.

Slashing Rain, Late Hours No Barrier To The Patient Crowd

By GEOFFREY GOULD

NEWTON SQUARE, Pa. (AP) — At 1:37 a. m. in a green circus tent, set up on a golf course, in a really slashing rain, the political rally began.

It was perhaps the oddest time, place and circumstance in the history of American politics. But with Sen. John F. Kennedy, that kind of thing happens.

Let's try to get the flavor of it from a newsman's personal point of view. Kennedy had started out Friday in Bethlehem, Pa., before 9 a. m. in the kind of gruelling, overcrowded campaign schedule that he seems to thrive on.

All day long a caravan wound through Pennsylvania Dutch country and the hard coal fields. Dusk fell and Kennedy was about three hours behind schedule. With hundreds of thousands lining the route and pleading to shake his hand, it took 2 1/2 hours to crawl 17 miles from Wilkes-Barre to Scranton.

After a mammoth rally in Scranton and later than ever, Kennedy flew to Philadelphia for the last stop of the night, a fundraising dinner at the Aronimink Country Club here. On the way to Philadelphia, the pilot announced a light rain was falling there.

It was a bit of an understatement. It was raining pitchforks, anchors, gingham dogs and calico kittens. The motorcade started out for the country club. It was flanked by motorcycle policemen.

Tobacco Market At Farmville Finishes Season

FARMVILLE — Farmville's tobacco market yesterday closed its 1960 sales season with a season mark of $59.95—$2.46 above the season average posted here in 1959.

The market here also saw a higher poundage figure posted this season. Through yesterday's final sale the market's volume total showed 25,346,626 pounds compared with 18,737,846 a year ago.

A high percentage of nondescript offerings yesterday, however, foiled a bid by the market to post a season average of $60 per 100 pounds. Farmville's average at the close of Thursday's sale stood at $60 even. Yesterday's activity, however, showed a sales average of $47.23 to drop the season mark to $59.95.

Sales Supervisor Louis Williams reported the market experienced "one of the most successful seasons ever." He said Board of Trade officials and growers were apparently well-pleased.

The local market wound up its season as the sixth largest market in the Eastern Belt. Farmville's total poundage ranks behind Wilson, Rocky Mount, Greenville, Kinston, and Smithfield. There are 17 markets in the belt.

Algerian Rebels Awaiting Help

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—Sources close to the leadership of the Algerian rebellion said today that Communist military officers may arrive in Tunisia early next week.

At Rabat, a diplomat who declined to be identified said that Communist Vietnamese general, Vo Nguyen Giap or a group of Communist instructors had already arrived in Tunisia as the vanguard of a larger group expected next week. The same source said that another group of Communist military officials was expected in Morocco within a week to make contact with Algerian rebel forces.

Collegians Give Nixon A Welcome

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP)—Some of the students from two Catholic colleges here joined Friday night in the enthusiastic greeting which Republican presidential candidate Vice President Richard M. Nixon received here.

The young Republicans from St. Ambrose College were led by Rev. Father Francis Duncan who personally made large signs they were carrying.

One read: "Welcome to Pat and Dick Nixon. On to victory."

The other school is Marycrest College.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John O. McAuliffe, superintendent of parochial schools in the Davenport diocese, delivered the invocation at Masonic Temple where Nixon spoke.

The monsignor knew the Nixons when the vice president was in service and stationed at a naval installation at Ottumwa, Iowa.

GOOD USED HEARING AIDS

Way below any reduction you've ever heard of. Business has been very good in last few weeks on the famous Vance Test instrument, on market today. Is reason I have a number of used aids on hand now. Of course, I carry plenty new ones in stock, but I don't anticipate said old ones lasting long at the VERY LOW price I'm letting them go for.

IF you buy new one in the next year, you'll be allowed the price you paid for old one at sale. Several of these are behind-the-ear type . . . few never been sold.

Contact me and try me, just for luck. No obligations.

Several damp Kennedy partisans at a streetcorner got two looks at their candidate instead of one. Finally the right turnout was found. The cavalcade stopped at a solid-looking stone country club.

Newsman sidled to the lobby out of the rain. Then someone told them it wasn't there, it was in a tent down on the golf course. It was true. It was in a tent. It was a large, green tent set in a large muddy field. About a thousand persons were in it. They

Jaycees Give To Trip For Team

Jaycees have contributed $100 toward sending the local rescue squad first aid team to Philadelphia for international competition.

The Greenville team won in state competition at Burlington last weekend. This qualified them to compete at the International First Aid Convention in Philadelphia. That meeting is to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Jimmy Smith III reported to the Jaycees Friday that four members of the local rescue squad will go to Philadelphia to make up the team. Their expenses are to be paid by donations.

Jaycee president George Coffman announced that the board of directors had approved the $100 appropriation.

Smith, as chairman of the Get-Out-The-Vote committee, reported that additional signs urging citizens to cast their ballots are to be posted next week. Plans are being made to provide transportation to the polls for those needing it on election day.

William N. Howard, chairman of the light bulb sale, reported that the sale will be held this year on Dec. 1. He said 30 cases of light bulbs have been purchased this year. In addition, 200 sets of Christmas tree lights will be sold in this year's sale. Jaycees sell the bulbs from door-to-door. Proceeds are used to provide Christmas food baskets for needy families.

Greenville Mart Has $52.78 Day

Greenville's tobacco market, headed for closing day Monday, posted a sales average yesterday of $52.78.

Growers brought 384,320 pounds to Greenville for the market's 48th sale of the 1960 season. Total receipts here were recorded as $202,829.

The local market ran its season totals through yesterday to 60,760,938 pounds and $96,377,103 in receipts. The season sales average through Friday stood at $59.87 per 100 pounds.

According to figures furnished by the Federal-State Market News Service in Wilson, the market here will apparently wind up its season the third largest in the 17-market Eastern Belt. Greenville's volume total through Friday placed behind Wilson's 80 million and Rocky Mount's 65 million.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Because of a gust of wind Mrs. John Brannon can't vote in the Nov. 8 election.

The Evanston, Ill. woman wrote Fayette County Clerk Luther Land and asked for a second absentee ballot.

The wind, she explained, blew the first one away.

Only one ballot to a voter, replied Land.

had been waiting for Kennedy for something like five hours. There wasn't too much to do in the tent, but there was a good supply of firewater on hand. They were quite happy after all that time.

"I hate to interrupt this party," Kennedy started off, after an ovation that nearly split the tent's sides. "It's a great mistake," he added, and most of those present thought he was kidding. "I don't think this is any hour for a speech," Kennedy said, and tried to cut it short. They wouldn't let him, so Kennedy went on.

He chuckled once or twice, got into the spirit of it a bit and left them laughing with this one: "Somebody said 'give 'em hell' to Harry Truman and he gave 'em hell, and we didn't get over it for a week."

But that wasn't all. Then the Cavalcade had to find its buses and cars and get back to a motel for the night. A local fire truck had been provided to help anyone that got stuck in the mud.

Cuban Invasion Fear To Be Aired In UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Cuba is expected to sound new invasion alarms Monday when the General Assembly acts on the recommendation to dump her charges against the United States into the lap of the Political Committee.

The Cuban delegation has warned it will put up a stiff battle to reverse the decision of the Steering Committee and insist that its Soviet-backed complaint be carried directly to the assembly floor.

Diplomats predicted the Cubans would make an issue out of the U.S. announcement that 1,450 Marines would go ashore for "rest and recreation" at the big U.S. naval base at Guantanamo this weekend. The Marines are with an amphibious group training in the Caribbean. Cuba was expected to denounce the move as a U.S. show of strength.

In an appeal to the Steering Committee Tuesday for urgent assembly consideration of the aggression charge, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa claimed that the United States planned a "manufactured provocation" at Guantanamo to influence the U.S. presidential election.

The United States denounced the Cuban charges as a "monstrous fabrication."

Despite Roa's emotion-packed demand, the 21-nation steering group voted 12-3 with 5 abstentions to send the Cuban complaint first to the 99-nation Political Committee where the United States insisted it belonged. The Soviet Union, Romania, Bulgaria, the three Communist members of the committee, cast the only negative ballots.

With its already loaded work schedule, the Political Committee probably would place the Cuban charge at the bottom of its agenda — thus delaying debate for about a month. The Cubans, backed by Soviet bloc nations, wanted the alleged invasion threat to get quick attention.

Some diplomats speculated that Cuba might seek a Security Council meeting if its fails in its demand to set immediate assembly action.

Concerned Over Ailing Actress

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Richard Lee Wright, 12, removed his shoes, placed them beside a sewer grating and began playing with two pals Friday. Someone kicked one of Richard's shoes down the sewer.

Feet first into the 10-inch pipe went Richard. He got stuck with only his head sticking out.

A crowd of 250 gathered. So did three fire vehicles, several firemen and a motorcycle officer to direct traffic.

Using a pneumatic drill, firemen broke away the concrete around the sewer to rescue Richard—and his shoe.

COLLEGIATE PUBLICATIONS

By ROSALIE MOORE
Reflector Staff Writer

The student publications of East Carolina College are the "East Carolinian," "Rebel" and "Buccaneer."

The Publications Board is the advisory council for the publications. Some of the duties include: advise all student publications; furnish estimates to the Budget Committee and fill vacancies occurring on the staffs during the year.

The membership of the Board consists of: editors of the publications; president of the college; dean of the college; Dean of Student Affairs; faculty advisors and student members at large.

East Carolinian

The East Carolinian is the campus newspaper published weekly by the students.

The paper originated as "Teco Echo." When the name of the college changed, East Carolina Teacher's College to East Carolina College, the name of the paper changed.

Two departments that have been set up since Tom Jackson became editor are exchange and subscriptions. Papers are mailed to all the colleges in the state and many high schools.

There are over 75 students that work in the various departments. Approximately 4,200 copies of the paper are published each week.

Recently the size of the paper increased from four to six pages. If plans materialize, two papers will be published weekly starting winter quarter.

"I feel that the East Carolinian plays a vital role on campus. As the official news organ of the students, it functions as a basic means of communication. We strive to inform and to stimulate our readers intellectually by not only reporting all the news, but by also bringing to light on the editorial page those issues which are important to the whole campus," remarked Jackson.

Rebel

The Rebel is the literary magazine on campus, that contains features, creative writing and art work by the students and book reviews by the students and faculty.

Editor Roy Martin explains, "The magazine strives to bring its reading public the finest material of the creative nature, evolved by the initiative of the students of East Carolina College."

Since the beginning of the magazine in 1958, many changes have been made. There are 15 staff members and a circulation of over 3,600 this year.

Last year, interviews with noted authors of North Carolina, including Paul Greene and Ingila Fletcher, were an added attraction.

The magazine is published once each quarter. Highlights of the first edition for this year will include: addition of national advertising, and an interview with a controversial figure.

Buccaneer

Buddy Kilpatrick, editor of the college annual, says that "With the capable staff that is working with me, I am confident that we are going to produce a top quality 'Buccaneer' for 1960-61."

"We consider the yearbook a record, in picture and word, of the events that take place on campus during the school year," he says.

The book will contain a total of 432 pages and will feature more pictures in color. One hundred pages have been completed and sent to the publishers.

Pictures of campus scenes and student organizations began during the summer and will continue until the publisher's deadline. Photography for the "Buccaneer" is being done by professional companies. Portrait pictures of students and faculty members were recently made for the annual.

Kilpatrick, Roland Smith, assistant sports editor and Walter Faulkner, assistant editor, attended the National Scholastic Press Association Convention held at Columbia University October 13-15. They attended classes in yearbook layout and production.

PAGE ARRANGEMENT . . . for the year book is discussed by Shirley Brown, Walter Faulkner and Bill Willis, staff members on the Buccaneer.

COLOR PICTURES . . . are decided upon by Joe Henry, representative of the publishing company and Buddy Kilpatrick, editor of the Buccaneer.

PREPARING DUMMY . . . magazine for make-up purposes for The Rebel are Jessie Moore, David Smith and Tolson Willis.

Local Pupils Score Above 'Norm' In Testing Results

Evaluation of the testing program conducted in Greenville elementary and junior high grades has indicated scores for local students were above national norms in every instance, Superintendent of City Schools J. H. Rose reported this week.

In part of his annual report to the Greenville City School Board, Rose said the test results showed more than a year's growth in each grade and that scores were further above national norms as students progressed upward.

For instance, test results showed grade three was three months above; grade four was four months above; grade five was five months above; grade six was eight months above; and grade seven was 14 months above.

The State Department of Public Instruction has indicated that the results were unusual, Rose reported.

The testing program is carried out in Greenville City Schools each year under the direction of Mrs. Ellen Carroll, supervisor of instruction. Three mental maturity tests are given in elementary grades two, four and seven. Achievement tests are administered in grades three through eight each spring.

Last spring (1960) term 3,200 children were tested in the subject areas of reading, spelling, language, arithmetic, social studies, science and study skills. There were no outstanding weaknesses in the instructional program. Highest scores were found in the area of language, whereas lowest ones were in arithmetic computation, Rose said.

Objectives for testing are to determine yearly growth in subjects tests, to compare city test scores with those on the national level, to compare mental maturity scores with achievement scores and to diagnose strengths and weakness in the instructional program.

Trainable School
Rose reported that due to an expected increase in enrollment at Rose High School, space now being used for the Trainable School may be needed for the regular high school program.

He said enrollment at Rose High will jump from 705 at the present time to between 825 and 850 next year.

Discussing the Trainable School, Rose said the number of children has increased from 19 to 26. "This school is still the same success it has been during preceding years," he said. He noted that the school meets "quite a need in the community."

Salary Supplement
A section on salary supplement of Greenville teachers was also included in the report. Rose said the regular Greenville School salary supplement for teachers ranges from $180 a year minimum to $270 year maximum.

The maximum salary is paid to a teacher who has a graduate certificate, a Master's degree and at least 13 years of experience.

Teacher salary supplements paid in a few other North Carolina cities are as follows:

Charlotte, $810 minimum and $1,269 maximum; Raleigh, $324 minimum and $523 maximum; Chapel Hill, $200 minimum and $350 maximum; Winston, $133 minimum and $182 maximum; Washington, $50 minimum and $50 maximum.

Distributive Education
In cooperation with the North Carolina State Department of Vocational Education and the Greenville merchants, the distributive education in Rose High School, three-fourths of the expense of the program is paid for by the state of North Carolina and the federal government, Rose said.

He noted that merchants have wanted this program reinstated since it was dropped a few years ago. The program is limited to juniors and seniors. Students remain in school during the morning hours and work at places of business in the afternoon under the direction of Neil Howell, Rose said.

Concerning television education, Rose said a TV science program is again being carried this year, with approximately 175 pupils taking the course. All tests given so far show that as the program is being taught on TV, it is as good, if not better, than the science program taught in the usual manner.

Most Dailies Endorse Nixon
NEW YORK (AP) — Most daily newspapers are supporting Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the presidential race but Sen. John F. Kennedy is getting more backing than did Adlai E. Stevenson in 1956, Editor and Publisher magazine said Thursday.

The trade journal said its figures still were preliminary but that so far 691 papers had endorsed Nixon editorially while 194 had come out for Kennedy.

In 1956, the magazine counted 740 papers for President Eisenhower and 189 for Stevenson.

Standing Firm For Demo Ticket

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia's governor and lieutenant governor are standing firm for the Democratic party despite displeasure over telephone calls the Kennedy brothers made concerning jailing of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver said Friday night at Richmond, Va., a phone call by Sen. John F. Kennedy to the wife of the Negro integration leader could affect the presidential campaign in Georgia to some extent.

But he didn't think that Georgia would fall to go Democratic. "She always has and I believe she will this year," he told newsmen at a Democratic dinner where he was the featured speaker.

However, Vandiver said Kennedy's call was "unfortunate." The Democratic presidential candidate phoned Mrs. King Wednesday to express sympathy in connection with a sit-in demonstration and a traffic charge in adjacent DeKalb County.

Robert Kennedy's call was to Judge Oscar Mitchell of DeKalb County to inquire about the right to bail. King later was released on bond pending appeal of his case.

Gov. Garland T. Byrd criticized the Kennedy brothers for making the calls but said, "I don't think that it will materially change the position of the Democratic party in the state."

Johnson Looks For Landslide
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson Friday predicted a Democratic landslide victory in the presidential race and in congressional contests.

He said the victory would be "comparable to and possibly exceeding the victories of 1936." The Democratic vice-presidential candidate said he made a nationwide survey of key Democratic leaders, Johnson said he did not know of any section of the nation "where the spirit of party leaders is anything other than optimistic, buoyant and confident."

Johnson released optimistic statements from Sens. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, George Smathers of Florida, Clair Engle of Tennessee, and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. Statements of victory also came from U. S. Reps. John McCormack of Massachusetts and Mike Kirwan of Ohio and Govs. Buford Ellington of Tennessee, Ralph Herstein of South Dakota, David Lawrence of Pennsylvania and Stephen McNichols of Colorado.

Nitroglycerine Set Off By Fire

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—With a blast that reverberated throughout the San Francisco Bay area, 2,500 pounds of nitroglycerine exploded at the Trojan Powder Co. here Friday.

Sixty workers in the demolished building, warned of the impending explosion, escaped unharmful. The only injury reported was a cut arm sustained by a woman in a nearby shopping center. She was struck by glass from a shattered window.

Fire Chief Manuel Rodriguez said defective wiring in powder drying machinery near the shed where the explosives were stored apparently touched off a fire that ignited the nitroglycerine.

The workers at the plant started running when they heard danger sirens, sounded when flames were spotted near the powder shed.

Two men were thrown to the ground but they were not hurt.

Hallowe'en Party For Children Monday Eve

All children of school age in Greenville and the surrounding community are invited to participate in a Hallowe'en Party the evening of October 31, sponsored by Modern Woodmen of America, and Greenville Modern Woodmen of America Junior Club. The invitation was extended today by Larry R. Stox, general chairman, who stated that the event will be geared to prove especially attractive to school children.

Boys and girls have been asked to sign pledge cards which say "I promise to respect the property of other people and will cooperate with leaders to make this party a success." Pledge cards will serve also as registration in the Witch Wagon game.

According to Mrs. Myrtle Stox, the party will start at 7:30 and will be held at 1517 Broad St., where costumes will be judged, souvenirs and candy distributed. The chairman also stated that a special feature will be the "Witch Wagon," attended by a number of "witches" in typical Hallowe'en style, who will award special prizes to five of the costumed paraders, who are found at home thirty minutes after the curfew is sounded, ending the celebration.

and turned to see the rig bearing down on her. "Get out of the way!" Ben yelled, then he was plowing through. The near front wheel struck the washtub and sent it spinning like a big wooden bowl, the water pin-wheeling out of it. Then the horse caught the clothesline and the flapping sheets and shirts and underwear drove him completely mad.

Leaving the yard and swatch of litter, Holliday only hoped that the woman had escaped being trampled; his memory was only of her sprawling, dress flying, then her rolling on the ground. Ahead of him lay a wash, and the horse took the jump down, but he knew the buggy wasn't going to make it. He felt it hit, the axle fracture, both wheels collapse, and knew the buggy was not going to land right side up. So he left it, pushing with his legs to get clear and trusting to luck for the rest. He hit the dirt and felt the wind jar out of him, then he rolled five or six times and ended in a sitting position in eight inches of muddy water.

The horse kept on going and Ben Holliday didn't give a damn now. He got up slowly, expecting broken bones, but there didn't seem to be any. His only thought was for the woman, and he knew she must be dead or severely trampled.

Quickly he crawled out of the wash and ran back toward the gathering crowd of noisy women and children, picking up clothes and bed sheets that had been whipped off the line by the horse's speed. They were torn and dirty, and he had quite an awful by the time he got there. The people were so tightly packed that he could not find a way through, then he started to pull at them, saying, "Pardon me. Please let me through. Let me through, will you?"

Not many understood his words, and they all began to shout at once, and without knowing a word of their respective languages, he was certain they were not complimenting him on his driving skill. (To Be Continued Tomorrow)

First Church of Christ, Scientist

Comforting assurance of the final destruction of all sin will be given in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" to be presented Sunday at Christian Science church services.

God's mercy will be emphasized in the scriptural selections from Psalms (130:7-8): "Let Israel hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption. And he shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities."

The following is one of the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (265:5): "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite—in order that sin and mortality may be put off."
