Nixon Discloses His Homestretch Swing Will Take Him Into Alaska Vice President Opines Final Week Of Campaign Will Prove Most Crucial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon plans a homestretch swing into Alaska, rounding out his presidential campaign coverage of all 50 states. Nixon headed into the final — and in his opinion, crucial — week of the campaign classifying five key states as "up for grabs." The five: Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York.

The Republican standard bearer said today he will leave Los Angeles about noon Sunday on his 2,400-mile jet flight to Anchorage for a late afternoon rally there. Sunday night he will make a 3,100-mile flight to Detroit for a final rally next Monday.

"Many of my friends have advised me to leave Alaska off the itinerary," he said today. "They point out that the start of the campaign was delayed by my knee injury and that there is a demand for appearances in other parts of the nation. I feel that no one state can be counted safe in this election."

"I believe that historians will look at this campaign as one which helped restore the two-party system to many of the states where presidential candidates in the past have seldom if ever appeared. Covering all 50 states emphasizes this."

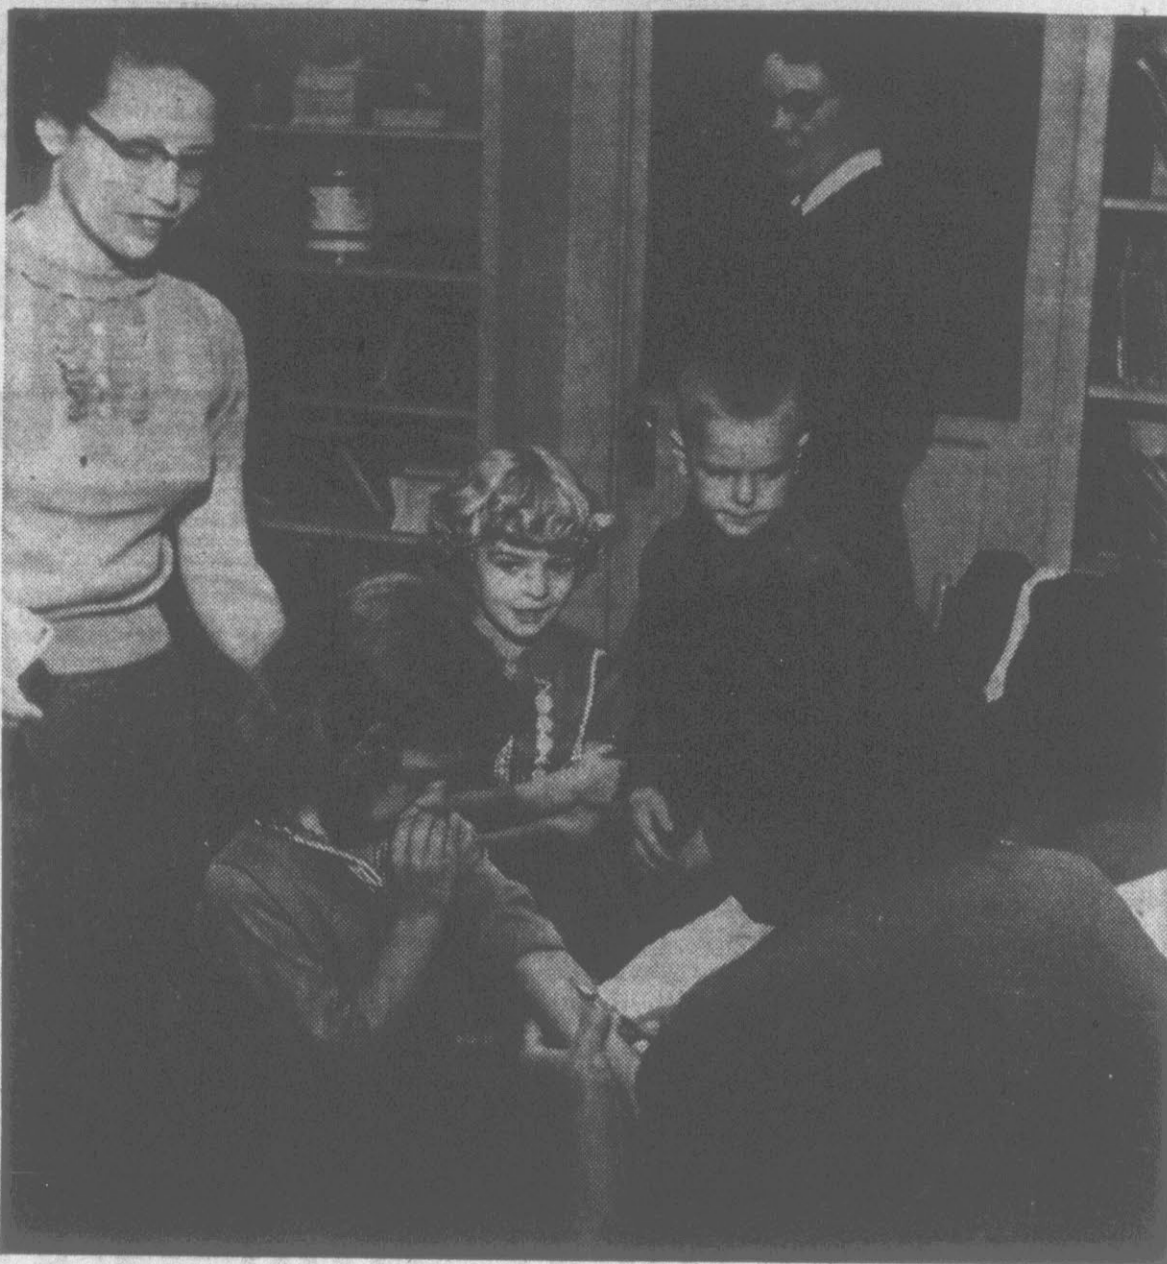

"I noted this reaction especially in the South."

Nixon so far has campaigned in 47 states. He will make stops in South Carolina and Wyoming this week to bring his total to 49 before visiting Alaska.

He planned to tape 15-minute television appearances today for later showings in several states. At dusk he heads for New Jersey, starting the campaign windup in which he will travel more than 18,000 miles.

In New Jersey, where he may be trailing in the battle for the state's 16 electoral votes, the vice president will join his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, at rallies in Ridgewood and Newark before flying to Philadelphia for the night.

Beginning Hunt For Tuberculosis

TB CASE-FINDING PROGRAM . . . Dr. Georgia V. Mills (lower right) administers tuberculin skin-test to first graders at Chicod.

Health Dept. Undertaking Search For TB In Schools

Pitt County's health department this morning began an intensive seven-week tuberculosis case-finding program in the first grades of the county and Greenville schools.

Using the tuberculin test, the health department staff began its program today with stops at Chicod, Haddock's Crossroads, and Simpson schools.

Health Director Dr. Georgia V. Mills is administering the tests that, during the seven-week period, will be given to 1,979 first graders in 64 first grades in Greenville and Pitt.

Illness, Death Of Dogs Probed

Greenville Detectives are investigating the illness and suspicious death of several dogs in the College View section of the city over the past few days, Chief S. G. Gibbs said today.

Gibbs warned dog owners to keep dogs confined and be "especially careful of food" given the dogs until investigation into the "suspicious deaths" is complete.

Dr. Mills said the program has been undertaken here upon the recommendation of Medical Director H. P. Eason of Eastern North Carolina Sanatorium at Wilson.

Through use of the tuberculin test, Dr. Mills said, it can be determined whether the child involved has contact with the respiratory disease. The test includes following up the positive tests to locate active cases of tuberculosis in or around the first graders' homes.

Joining in Eason's recommendation for institution of the program in Pitt was Dr. William Smith, head of the State Health Department's Tuberculosis Division.

Dr. Smith said, "The only effective case-finding program to detect original cases is to do tuberculin skin-testing of all first graders within the first term of school."

In addition to Dr. Mills, the 10 staff nurses at the local health department will be participating in the testing program.

The schedule: Nov. 1—Grimesland and Pitt County Training School; Nov. 2—Elmhurst; Nov. 7—Wahl-Coates; Nov. 8—Fountain, Falkland, and Agnes Fulllove; Nov. 9—Bethel Union; Nov. 14—South Ayden and Grifton; Nov. 15—Sally Branch, Belvoir, and Bethel; Nov. 16—Nichols, Bruce-Falkland, and North Fountain.

Nov. 21—South Greenville; Nov. 28—Fleming St.; Nov. 30—H. B. Sugg and Farmville; Dec. 7—Robinson Union and Winterville; Dec. 12—Third St., St. Gabriel, and St. Raphael; Dec. 13—Ayden and Grifton; and Dec. 14—Stokes Elementary, Stokes, and Pactolus.

More Anti-U.S. Riots Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee says more anti-American riots are likely in Latin America and Asia. It says they will be Communist-inspired.

The prediction came in a study released by the subcommittee Sunday.

The study dealt with four riots: 1. The Bogota, Colombia, riots during an Inter-American Conference in 1948.

2. The staging of Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Caracas, Venezuela, in 1958.

Sixteen Of Calif. Poly's Grid Team Die In Wreck

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Survivors of a flaming airliner crash that killed 22 persons Saturday night told of sputtering engines and a wobbly takeoff.

Accounts of the crash and the flame-scattered wreckage of the C-46 aircraft were being examined today by federal, state and local investigators, seeking the cause of the disaster.

The twin-engine plane, attempting to take off in a heavy fog, carried 48 persons. Most were members of the California Polytechnic College football team returning to the school.

"We barely got off when the engines started sputtering. Then the left engine gave out—thump!" said James Fahey, 24, a halfback from Gilroy, Calif. He suffered minor injuries.

The plane bounced alongside the runway, broke in half and the front section burst into flames. The dead were riding up front. Killed were the pilot, co-pilot, and 16 members of the football team.

Also dead were the team manager, a San Luis Obispo insurance man and team booster and the co-pilot's mother and sister-in-law. The women were traveling to Oakland, Calif., to meet the co-pilot's wife of only a few days.

It was the first time an entire athletic team was involved in a fatal plane accident in the United States.

At San Luis Obispo, where California Poly is located, residents were stunned. The student body of 470 scheduled a memorial service today.

Before the takeoff, one survivor said, the plane sat on the runway for about 45 minutes. Although vision was completely obscured straight ahead, apparently the fog did not extend far above the ground.

Brent Jobe, 19, Vista, Calif., said Coach Leroy Hughes came back to the rear of the plane after talking to the pilot, Capt. Donald G. Chesser, and told the players: "The pilot has more in this than anyone else. He wouldn't take any chances. We have nothing to worry about."

When the Arctic Pacific Airlines plane started down the runway it began to "fishtail," said F. Sheldon Harden, an assistant coach who received only minor scratches.

"Just as we left the ground, the tail seemed to drop and the plane fell off to the left," he added. After the crash, survivors scrambled from the damaged tail section, which flipped over the front end and landed upside down.

From the burning front came the screams and moans of the dying. One rescuer said, "We just tried to pick up the live ones. My God, it was horrible."

The stewardess, Mrs. Richard Miller, 34, Seaside, a veteran of 14 years of flying, was credited with pulling more than a dozen from the flaming wreck.

At the Toledo control tower, an official said the decision to take off usually is left to the discretion of the pilot.

Mechanics who serviced the plane said there was no indication of difficulties.

The plane brought the California team here Thursday, then went to Youngstown, Ohio, where it picked up the Youngstown University football squad for a flight to New Haven, Conn. Then it returned here to pick up the Cal Poly team, which lost its Saturday afternoon game to Bowling Green University, 50-6.

After the game, Coach Hughes said: "The kids are tired and will get a chance to sleep on the flight home."

spiritedly on an outside court at the campus which is set against the Santa Lucia Mountains midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

When the radio and TV bulletins started Saturday night, our campus almost died. One girl called: "I told a girl who dated one of the players about the crash and she backed up against the wall and began screaming 'you're kidding, you're kidding.'"

Karen Watson, wife of a student, said: "There was a Halloween hayride and dance set for Saturday night. We were in the truck all ready to go when the word came over a car radio."

"Couple by couple, everyone got up and went home. I've never seen anything like it in my life."

When the news was announced at a downtown movie, many co-eds broke into sobs.

Harried school officials worked through the night, calming relatives and answering calls.

Saturday, Nov. 5, was to be homecoming for Cal Poly's Mustangs. A girl, her eyes glistening near tears, said, "Homecoming. There's no one left to come home."

The school canceled the homecoming game with Los Angeles State and the two other games on its football schedule.

Lena Plunket, a restaurant hostess, said, "I guess everybody will smile again sometime, but it's going to be an awfully long time."

A student advisor predicted the campus would soon bounce back.

"They're too young to turn morbid. They just don't see things that way," he said.

A 26-year-old Negro got more than he bargained for last night when someone not identified — hit him on the head as he apparently disturbed their peace.

Greenville Police said Samuel Short of Route 6, Greenville was charged with being drunk and trespassing after he was found lying in the doorway at 1206 Ward St. last night about 10:10 p.m., with blood oozing from a cut over his left eye.

Officers noted a complaint was filed at the police station at 9:15 p.m. which stated that a man was prowling around 609-B Hudson St. When officers arrived at the address, no one could be found.

Forty-eight minutes later a woman came to the station and reported that "Sam Short" was prowling around her home and was "under the house" at 610-B Hudson St. when she came out the door. She noted when she called to a neighbor the man came from under the house and ran.

Only minutes later, officers received a call that the "suspect" was waiting for them in a supine position at the Ward St. residence.

Heir Is Born To The Shah Of Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Queen Farah Diba gave birth today to a robust boy weighing 8 pounds 11 ounces, and Iran's shah finally got an heir after three marriages.

"The baby looks like the shah," said Dr. Jahanshah Saleh, Iran's minister of health and an American-trained gynecologist, who delivered the baby.

Cheering crowds mobbed the shah as he drove after the birth from the Charity Hospital in one of the city's poorest quarters, that he and his wife had chosen for the birthplace of their first baby.

The announcement of the crown prince's birth and a 41-gun salute that boomed over the city set off frantic celebrations. The shah has a daughter by his first marriage, but women cannot succeed to the throne in Moslem Iran.

Students Shocked By Plane Disaster

By JOHN T. WHEELER SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — Thousands of California State Polytechnic College students will bow their heads at memorial services today for 16 members of their football team who died in a flaming Ohio plane crash.

The solemn nondenominational services were to be held at the strikingly modern gymnasium.

The crash Saturday night killed 22 and injured 26. All but five of the dead were from the college or from the town of San Luis Obispo.

There were eight married students on the trip. Five of them were killed, including a father of four and star halfback Garry Van Horne, whose wife is expecting her second child.

Most of the dead perished in the twisted burned wreckage of the chartered aircraft which was scattered over the end of a runway at the Toledo airport.

The team was returning to California after losing 50-6 to Bowling Green Sunday morning the entire campus was glum and somber. But by afternoon girls in bright Capri pants talked and laughed near their dormitories. Several male students were playing basketball.

Dr. Saleh said the queen was still under anesthesia but "she's in fine shape."

The shah raised his hands and thanked Allah, then "thanked me and I kissed his hands," Saleh said.

Flatly Denies Ballots Withheld

SHELBY, N.C. (AP)—Cleveland County Elections Chairman Ralph Gilbert today denied that absentee ballots are being withheld from Republicans in the county.

"It's a damn lie," said Gilbert of the statement Sunday by State Republican Chairman William Cobb that absentee ballots are being withheld from Republicans in several counties, including Cleveland.

Gilbert said absentee ballots have been made available to Democrats and Republicans alike.

Part of Cobb's statement also alleged that Democratic workers were getting the ballots in unlimited quantities. This brought a sharp statement from County Democratic Chairman Virgil Weathers who said, "If this is true it will be corrected, and if it's not, I want the Republican chairman to correct the error."

County GOP chairman Pierce Cassidy said several persons complained to Republican headquarters Saturday that they could not apply for absentee ballots because Gilbert was out of town.

Cassidy said he has not charged that ballots are being withheld, but only that residents have not had an easy time finding Gilbert. He also complained that Gilbert has refused to let the two other members of the elections board handle the ballot and has required all ballots to be applied for in person by the applicant or a member of his family.

"It is my understanding that the law allows application by mail," Cassidy said.

The GOP chairman said he thinks the elections board should have made the ballots available to voters at a central locations at least on one Saturday at the same time registration was being held.

Kennedy Heads Tonight For Critical California

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy today winds up four back-breaking days of campaigning in touch-and-go Pennsylvania, then heads tonight for another critical state, California.

His final effort here was another day-long schedule of motorcade stops, this time all in the city of Philadelphia, where Democratic chiefs hope to pile up a big enough plurality to carry the state's 32 electoral votes for Kennedy.

A nationally televised speech at a $100-a-plate dinner at Convention Hall is on tap tonight — NBC, 8:30 p. m. EST.

During the day Kennedy planned to emphasize what he said were the sharp differences between his positions on major issues and those of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

As the days dwindle before the election Kennedy plans to spend two of them in California, Nixon's home state. It also carries a hefty 32 electoral votes. Later in the week Kennedy will hop back eastward, hitting Texas (24 votes), Oklahoma and several other states.

The Democratic candidate made these points Sunday:

1. On the CBS "Face the Nation" panel program, Kennedy said a possible counter-measure if the country slipped into a deep recession by January would be a temporary tax cut for four or five months. He said a tax cut would be the fastest way to give the economy a lift.

2. On the same TV show, the religious issue came up again, and Kennedy said he and his fellow American Roman Catholics are strongly against any state religion. "If 99 per cent of the population were Catholics I would still oppose it," he said.

N. C. Democrats Disclose $97,726 Campaign Outlay

RALEIGH (AP) — The State Democratic Executive Committee reported today that it has received $119,087.17 in contributions thus far to wage the general election campaign and has spent a total of $97,726.82.

A preliminary campaign spending report filed with Secretary of State Thad Eure by State Democratic Chairman Bert Bennett said the Democrats had a total of $21,362.35 left in the campaign chest.

Other reports filed today with Eure were: 1. From the State Republican Executive Committee, listing receipts of $35,670.51 and disbursements of $35,124.65.

2. From the North Carolina Volunteer Democrats for Nixon and Lodge, Greensboro, showing receipts of $23,110 and disbursements totaling $20,455.21.

3. From the state Citizens for Gavin for Governor Committee, Charlotte, showing receipts totaling $29,818.09 and listing expenditures totaling $29,622.52.

4. From the Mecklenburg County unit, Citizens for Gavin for Governor Committee, showing $4,300 in receipts and $3,222.52 in disbursements.

5. From the Eighth Congressional District Republican Committee, showing receipts of $1,507.25 and disbursements of $4,208.15.

6. From the 12th Congressional District Republican Executive Committee, showing receipts of $505 and spending of $542.23.

7. From David N. Henderson, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Third District, showing no receipts and spending of $337.

8. From W. E. Allen, for the Nixon-Gavin campaign headquarters in Durham, showing receipts of $1,003.93 and spending of $984.70.

9. From the Fourth District Republicans, showing $375 in receipts and $505 in spending.

The deadline for filing preliminary reports of campaign spending with Eure came last Saturday. However, since state offices were closed then, the time for filing them was extended until today.

Big Bootleg Roundup In High Point Area

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—Raiding through the night, High Point police today counted 90 warrants served against 51 individuals in a roundup of persons who are alleged to have made or sold liquor.

Nearly half of those arrested, a great majority of them Negroes, are charged with dealing in poisonous liquor.

Federal and state agents, sheriff's deputies and High Point police timed the raids for Sunday, when legal liquor stores are closed.

Fifteen persons were named in federal warrants charging them with removing and concealing non-taxpaid liquor. These were principally alleged wholesalers and deliverers of white whiskey.

Authorities said chemical tests confirmed that some of the liquor contained poisonous lead salts and isopropyl alcohol.

Some of the defendants were named in both federal and state warrants, and on more than one count, so that about 100 warrants were issued.

The federal defendants are expected to be tried at a term of Middle District Court opening in Greensboro early in December.

Another Sunday Bomb Scare

NEW YORK (AP) — The city had another Sunday bomb scare Sunday night in the Times Square area, but it proved to be more soot than fury.

Marine Force Ends Brief Guantanamo Holiday

HAVANA (AP)—A special force of 1,450 U.S. Marines was due to sail away from Guantanamo naval base today after a weekend visit that served a strong hint to Prime Minister Fidel Castro that help was not far off should he try to take the big American installation by force.

In apparent retaliation for the presence of the Marines, Castro Sunday called out an estimated 200,000 of his reorganized civilian militia for meetings in Havana.

Speakers harped on Castro's oft-repeated theme that the United States is planning to launch an invasion of Cuba.

U.S. authorities at first said the 48-hour visit of the Marines at the base on the southeast coast was to give the highly trained force relaxation ashore. But they later added it could be considered a show of strength to discourage Castro from any attack on the base.

Castro's supporters called the visit of the Marines "provocation and aggression."

Castro appeared at one of the militia meetings and boasted Cuban defenses are stronger than ever and "any mercenaries"—his usual term for invaders—be liquidated if they came to Cuba.

Called out at 7 a.m., the militia-men filled in forms to give information on where they could be found at any hour of the day. It was learned during their mass turnout that they have been reorganized along more military lines and their training period lengthened.

Speakers at one of the meetings said a force of 147 men—about company strength—in each of Havana's militia districts soon would be equipped with "the most modern weapons," presumably obtained from Czechoslovakia.

Castro in an interview with the Egyptian weekly Akhbar Elyoun said Cubans are not such "idiots" as to try to take the Guantanamo base by force.

Castro was criticized by a high member of the Roman Catholic hierarchy, Msgr. Eduardo Ezza Navasidal, auxiliary bishop of Havana. He issued a pamphlet stating that Castro's social revolution contradicted Christian principles and followed the Communist line.

In the Panama Canal Zone Sunday, six officers and one crewman of the Cuban ship Oriente jumped ashore as the freighter was going through the canal and asked asylum from U.S. authorities. With the captain and the chief engineer the only officers left aboard, the ship had to delay its departure for Korea with a cargo of sugar.

Buddy Poppy Day Will Be Saturday

Buddy Poppy Day has been scheduled for November 5, according to plans completed at the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Thursday evening.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Woodrow Boyd with Mrs. C. B. West Jr., president, presiding at the meeting.

Mrs. Beverly Joyner and Mrs. H. L. Vincent are serving as co-chairman of the annual Buddy Poppy Sale this year. Members who are heading the television, newspaper window display and other committees in connection with the sale, include Mesdames West, Kenneth Brown, Johnny Cassick and Ralph Bailey.

"According to the enthusiasm exhibited by the members of the planning committee, this year's sale should be one of the most successful which we have had in recent years," Mrs. West stated when she expressed her appreciation to the ladies for volunteering to help sell the poppies on Saturday. "It is our way of showing that we continue to appreciate the sacrifices made by so many to defend our freedom," she concluded.

Included in the official communications from the Department of North Carolina was the announcement of a scholarship in the amount of $500 to be awarded annually to a high school student who is the son or daughter of a veteran of foreign service.

The scholarship is a tribute to Otis N. Brown of Greensboro, who served as National Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars a few years ago. Members of the VFW and Ladies Auxiliaries affectionately refer to Otis Brown as "Mr. VFW of North Carolina."

Since World War II, the past national commander has been present at every convention and council meeting held in the state. Every high school principal in the state has been notified of this scholarship and students of veterans are urged to make application for same.

Mrs. Kenneth Brown, chairman of the Americanism committee, reported that five flags have been sold to local business establishments since the last meeting.

Mrs. Elbert Bullock, who heads the National Home committee, reported that a birthday remembrance had been sent to a child in the North Carolina cottage. The VFW National Home is located in Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. Ralph Bailey stated that the utility bill of a veteran who is ill was paid by the auxiliary recently. The veteran is the principal wage earner for his family and other services of the auxiliary were offered, according to Mrs. Bailey, chairman of the rehabilitation committee.

A report on the birthday party held recently at the Veterans Hospital in Fayetteville was heard. The party was sponsored by the auxiliaries in the Second District. Mrs. Louella Stancil of the hospital committee said the local

Reception and Dedication At Sigma Nu House

AT SIGMA NU DEDICATION . . . President Darrell T. Calhoun looks on while Richard Fletcher, executive secretary of the national organization, presents Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Little with a plaque in appreciation for help to the fraternity.

The Sigma Nu fraternity house at 411 West Fifth Street was formally opened Saturday afternoon at a reception given by members of the organization. Dedication of the house to Mr. and Mrs. James T. Little of Greenville took place in a ceremony during the afternoon.

Approximately 250 guests were welcomed by Sigma Nu brothers during the afternoon. Those present included faculty members and administrative officers of East Carolina College, parents of the hosts, members of the fraternity from Greenville and elsewhere, and others.

Darrell T. Calhoun of Greenville, eminent commander of the Eta

Beta Chapter of Sigma Nu at East Carolina College; Mrs. Estelle Thigpen, counselor at the fraternity house; and Dr. Frank Scott, of the college faculty, advisor to the chapter, received guests as they arrived. Other officers and members of the fraternity conducted visitors of the afternoon on tours of the house.

Richard R. Fletcher of the University of Virginia, executive secretary of the Sigma Nu fraternity, speaking at the ceremony of dedication, described Sigma Nu as a "legion of practical idealists organized by men of honor for men of honor." Founded in 1869, the fraternity, he said, has the aim of preventing a young man from remaining in a boy's status and of developing maturity in its members.

Dedication of the building, he continued, is a "symbol of the better man we seek." The house, he said, was purchased and dedicated as a home of gentlemen, men not content with the status quo but devoted, as exemplars of the way of Sigma Nu, to love, honor, and truth.

Introducing Mr. and Mrs. Little to guests, he dedicated the house to them and presented them with a handsome brass plaque mounted on a walnut base. Beneath the seal of the fraternity the engraved inscription was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Little . . . in grateful appreciation of their personal devotion of time, effort, and guidance that has made this house possible."

The Sigma Nu house was attractively decorated for the reception Saturday with arrangements of chrysanthemums. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a lace cloth and decorated in a color scheme of white and green.

The fraternity house, formerly the home of Mrs. Travis Hooker, was purchased several months ago by the Eta Beta Chapter and has been remodeled and redecorated. Twenty-nine members of the fraternity are now living there.

Helpful Hints For Successful Sewing

- RALEIGH — To wear gay and fashionable clothes is the dream of every girl. Sewing your way to fashion is a good way to make this dream come true.
- Miss Mary Em Lee, clothing specialist for the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service, says the success of your sewing project is largely determined by how you cut the garment. Here are some helpful hints which will help you cut properly.
- 1 Place every piece of pattern on true grain of material whether it be true bias or straight.
 - 2 Match plaids and stripes when cutting and sewing the garment.
 - 3 Compare your measurements with those of the pattern.
 - 4 Mark notches, pleats, darts or other markings carefully.
 - 5 For easy marking you may cut fabric with right side folded inside.
 - 6 Follow the guide sheet step-

- by-step.
 - 7 Pin pattern to fabric properly.
 - 8 Cut with long, even strokes.
- Miss Lee says that unless you cut out your garment properly you cannot expect a professional look to your garment.

Clean Hands Often

Clean hands are prerequisite to good health and beauty. Wash them often and thoroughly, using lots of lukewarm soapsuds. One good method is to literally let one hand wash the other.

Massage the soap into the backcuticles, and knuckles of each hand with the fingertips of your other hand, then rinse with lukewarm water and dry.

Use Nutritious Corn Meal
Hundreds of recipe folders and steaming hot hushpuppies were given to fair goers in Iredell County by 4-H girls who made them using enriched corn meal.

According to Miss Doris Teeter, assistant home economics agent, the book on "Cornmeal Cookery" was also distributed and club members explained reasons for enriching corn meal.

Wintertime Good Eating
Mrs. Elizabeth Sanderlin, home economics agent in Currituck County, says Mrs. Burley Lowry of Gibbs Home Demonstration Club is ready for wintertime good eating.

Mrs. Lowry has filled 800 quart jars of fruits and vegetables. And she not only believes in canning but also does much freezing. This summer, she filled two 21-foot freezers, so she is already prepared for unexpected company.

Sweet Potatoes For Vitamin A
In November, Home Demonstration Club leaders will show their club members how to use sweet potatoes in many ways. It is important to get a dark green or yellow vegetable in the daily diet to supply vitamin A.

Miss Elizabeth Watson, home economics agent in Stanly County, reports the leaders will prepare potatoes in various ways to stress that they can be boiled, baked, fried, candied. Sweet potatoes are abundant and can add interest to meals as well as economical value.

National Delegate Honored
Mrs. P.O. Bulluck, Battleboro, Rt. 1, who is chairman of the 21st district Home Demonstration council, was honored by her local Home Demonstration Club recently.

Mrs. Eugenia P. VanLandingham home economics agent, says Mrs. Bulluck represented Halifax, Nash and Edgecombe counties at the national meeting in Wisconsin. Mrs. Mayo Cherry, county council president, presented Mrs. Bulluck with a silver tray in appreciation for representing the county.

Points Of Buymanship
With the field of competition keen and sales promotion at the top, it is difficult for the modern homemaker to decide how to spend the family dollar wisely.

Points of buymanship were stressed recently in Home Demonstration Clubs in Granville County.

Mrs. Dorothy G. Wilkinson, home economics agent, reports specific characteristics of fibers, construction and labeling were discussed in the clothing field.

Records Completed in Richmond
For the third year, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McCall report that all members of their community 4-H Club have completed their projects.

Mrs. Martha B. Adams, assistant home economics agent in Richmond County, reports that adult leaders keep the wheels turning in the community 4-H Clubs and that Mr. and Mrs. McCall are called on often by the 4-H members for help in their project work. "It's fun and we love to feel needed," say the McCalls.

An excellent lunch can be quickly prepared by the busy homemaker by using cottage cheese and fruit salad, crisp toast with butter and a glass of milk.

Communities Need A Better Way

The increasing number of youngsters who must be provided a sound educational background by our public schools is recognized as one of the most important problems facing the communities of this state in the next decade.

Each year the number of youngsters in our public schools increases. Each year the demand for more classrooms and physical facilities as well as the need for more teachers becomes more apparent.

In North Carolina, where the primary responsibility for providing school buildings rests with the individual community, it is becoming more imperative that the communities project long-range plans for constructing and financing these school buildings. Otherwise the need for classrooms reaches far beyond those which are available, make-shift school programs become necessary in order to accommodate the students, and the level of instruction provided the youngsters drops appreciably.

Recently there has been considerable discussion in North Carolina about using the existing school buildings longer periods during the year in order to take up part of the requirements for new classrooms. While this may provide a partial answer to the problem if a satisfactory program is ever devised, it clearly will not obviate the necessity of continuing to construct new school facilities. As the number of school-age youngsters increases, the need for more classrooms will continue to increase.

Communities throughout the state must give greater attention to its individual needs for classrooms in 1964, 1966, 1970, and likewise work out in advance a sound method by which these building needs may be financed. For the most part, communities up to now have relied on voter approval of bond issues from time to time for particular building projects. Usually the proposed facilities are sorely needed before steps are undertaken to get voter approval to borrow the necessary money for their construction. Even under this more or less standard procedure there is a time lag of one to two years between the time funds for the construction are approved and the time the facilities are actually ready for use.

A number of communities, following this method of operation, have found that voters have turned down the proposed bond issues, resulting in further delays in obtaining facilities that are sorely needed. The school program, already a couple of years behind in its building needs, is thrown another year or two behind.

In view of the building needs for public schools in the years immediately ahead, it seems to us a more comprehensive and better organized program for financing school construction must be found by individual communities of North Carolina. Otherwise we will find our school building programs lagging badly, and the educational program of our public schools suffering because of the lack of adequately physical facilities.

No One Measures Up To Nobel Peace Prize?

It's a wee bit disturbing to realize the Nobel committee of the Norwegian Parliament could not see its way clear to award a Peace Prize.

Aside from the annual mild taste of excitement attendant upon bestowing sizeable sums for contributions to society, people of all nations have found comfort and pride in the symbolism of the Nobel Peace Prize.

The fact that the committee did not make such an award this year might be interpreted as meaning they were unable to find agreement on the nominees, that they wished to avoid an impression of favoritism or pressures, that there simply was no candidate of sufficient stature in the field of working for peace that measured up to the prize.

It will be remembered that news agencies reported several months ago, a rumor that Nikita Khrushchev had sought to have his name placed in nomination. The reason is perfectly clear; for the Nobel Peace Prize is, in exalted circles, a "status symbol" beyond compare.

Nonetheless we find its absence in 1960 vaguely disturbing.

At a time in history when peace is the most precious prize of human kind; at a time when presumably so many people are working for peace as their road to survival . . . at such a time as this, to find no worthy hand to hold the olive branch . . . speaks poorly for the world's chances of finding that peace so desperately sought.

The world needs a Peace Prize winner, just to keep its morale up.

Production And Business Trend

By RALPH ROBEY
Not long ago this space was devoted to a discussion of production as measured by the Federal Reserve Board index. The latest figure at the time was that for August and it was a preliminary estimate. We said that when the final data were in the estimate might be revised either up or down, but that the revision would be honest. The final data are now in and the revision was downward one point, or from 109 to 108. Even more important is the fact that the preliminary estimate for September is 107. That is four per cent below the all-time high reached last January.

What is going on? Is this the beginning of a recession or merely a rolling readjustment? Before answering these questions there is one preliminary point that needs to be made. It is technical but by analogy it can be made simple.

If you are counting your money and want to round it out, that is not give it to the exact penny, you consider anything of fifty cents or more as a dollar. Conversely anything below fifty cents is ignored. Thus $4.43 is counted as $4, and $4.53 is counted as $5. The same practice can be followed regardless of the sums involved, or whether the amounts are money or just figures.

Such rounding out is common in many government statistics. This is the reason so many government statistical tables have a footnote saying that the totals may not check because of rounding. But most government indexes are not rounded. The Consumer Price Index, for example, always is published in tenths of a percentage point, as 126.5 or 126.6, and so forth. But even though most government indexes follow this practice, the Federal Reserve Board does not. It deals only in whole numbers in so far as its indexes are concerned.

Now if one is going to round out his money supply he obviously must first count it. If he is going to round out a column of figures it must first be added. And if an index is going to be rounded out it must first be calculated—calculated not just in whole numbers, but down to the tenths of a point and perhaps further.

The Federal Reserve Board makes these exact calculations and always has. But until recently these exact calculations were not published. They were not secret or confidential; one always could telephone a friend at the Board and get the detailed figure, but that was not done except in special circumstances. Fortunately, a few months ago the Board started to publish the details in its press release, so they are now available to anyone who is interested. But in the Federal Reserve Bulletin, and the government

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
ACCEPTING THE UNIVERSE
"I accept the universe" is a famous saying of the New England transcendentalist Margaret Fuller. Her statement, on the face of it, tends to make us smile—we are amused at the independence, even arrogance, it implies, as if the universe were something which could be accepted or rejected according to one's wish.

And yet, many people never do accept the universe. They put up with life. They go along with it reluctantly, participating because they are here and must take part, but not because they want to. They obey the laws of life more or less, but they do so as an unpleasant duty which must be performed. Happiness never comes this way. People who live by making the best of things, not making the best of them, cannot enjoy life. To get joy out of living, we must put joy in—joy, enthusiasm, energy, eagerness, activity. If we wish to make our own little world a happy one, we must embrace it heartily and find the best in it. Just remember that life is basically bigger and better than we are inclined to regard it. Truly religious people find this happiness in living because they cannot feel that living in God's world and serving Him is a burden. They do not submit to life—they welcome it with enthusiasm. This is the only way to be really alive.

Gold And Fiat Money

Copyright, 1960 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

For several years now, the subject of gold has been discussed in this column. As far back as 1933, I have been writing about the peril of fiat money, and what interested me most about the London Economic Conference held in that year was that whereas it was called with the hope of stabilizing the currencies of the world, Franklin D. Roosevelt, by personal fiat, in company with Henry Morgenthau, Jr., wrecked the Conference, and forced the nations of the world to abandon hope for a stabilized currency. Since then, fiat money has been current and whereas the dollar grew in confidence throughout the world, it was supported mostly by confidence in the American economy and accordingly had to fluctuate accordingly.

The gold stock of the United States in 1932 was $4,226,000,000. Gold at that time was valued at $20.67 per fine ounce. In January 1934, the private ownership of gold was forbidden except for certain manufacturing and commercial purposes. So, by 1935, the gold stock of the United States rose to $10,125,000,000 and gold was legally valued at $35 per fine ounce. In 1941, when the United States went into World War II, the gold stock had risen to $22,737,000,000. On October 25, 1960, the gold stock was $18,581,383,570. From 1940 to 1958, the gold stock of the United States was never under $20,000,000,000; usually, it was in a range of $21 billion to $24 billion.

The earmarked gold during this period fluctuated from $1 billion to $6 billion. By earmarked gold is meant gold which is in the possession of the Treasury of the United States but is actually the property of someone else and which may be withdrawn under certain circumstances. At present, the earmarked gold in the United States Treasury is for all practical purposes about equal to the gold stocks. Granted that arrangements have been made to avoid the withdrawal of earmarked gold, such arrangements are always dependent upon confidence in the Administration and in the general economy of the country.

The Russians announced last spring that they would issue a gold rouble for commercial purposes in October. Other reports gave next January as the date. Soviet Russia unquestionably possesses between $9 billion and $10 billion of gold. Franz Pick, an important authority on the subject of gold, early this year, indicated that "the gold position of the dollar is rather uneasy." He said this when Treasury officials and Wall Street bankers were giving the public to believe that everything was all right. Actually, gold has remained "the only international measuring rod for currency stability." Other countries were building their gold reserves and were deeply concerned that the United States continued to buy gold at $35 an ounce which is a wrong price from two standpoints: (1) That other nations were willing to pay more; and (2) That American gold miners could not afford to mine the metal at that price and were actually put out of business by their own government. Meanwhile, Soviet Russia continued to mine gold.

In the United States, the price of gold is fixed at $35 an ounce. In London, Zurich and Amsterdam, free gold markets exist where trading occurs without restriction. During the past fortnight the price of gold has been rising in the London market until it reached $41 for a fine ounce of gold. The buyers who are (Continued on page five)

Other Editors Saying... Hard Pressed For Money

(Washington Daily News)
Towns and cities of North Carolina are finding it ever more difficult to meet their budget requirements from the existing tax sources available to them.

And with more and more people demanding more and more services, the only way a municipal government can grant these services is to find additional tax monies.

Because of increasing demands, the League of Municipalities is asking the next legislature of North Carolina to authorize a payroll or occupational tax to be levied on communities desiring to have such a levy.

All so often those making demands for additional services are also making demands that the tax burden be decreased. And it just cannot be done today. The day might be fast approaching when the people of any given town or city must decide one question—do we want additional taxation—or do we want to work on economy in government so that taxes will not be increased? That sounds very simple in words, but in practical application, it is not as simple as it sounds.

The average citizen of North Carolina feels today that he is already overtaxed. To place a payroll or occupational tax on him would be but another burden he must bear. At the same time we certainly realize that if additional services are to be expected, then additional money must be available. Where is it to come from?

There seems to be a great game prevalent when an individual says, "I'm in favor of this extra service provided I'm not the one hit when it comes to extra taxes." Somebody must be hit, and that cannot possibly be avoided.

It is rather strange today that politicians talk in terms of economy at election time, but once in office they seem all so often to yield to those asking for additional services. Why don't they think a little more on the matter of affecting economies in government? If we could realize some economies, then we perhaps could also realize a few additional services.

To get back to this matter of an occupational or payroll tax, if the legislature should approve, then one of the biggest howls ever heard in North Carolina is bound to go up as taxes go up on those who must pay the extra tax. While the payroll or occupational tax will be a set sum, it still is not going to set well with those affected.

Government seems to be growing larger and larger on all levels. And the larger it grows, the more money it takes to run it. When extra taxes are considered, the professional man doesn't want his right to cost more, the bottlers don't want a crown tax imposed, the newspapers don't want an extra tax imposed upon them, the farmers don't want a tobacco tax, this group or that group doesn't want to bear the extra burden.

If the legislature gives the request of the League of Municipalities serious consideration, then very likely a big legislative fight will ensue. There is no easy answer today. The people must either stop asking for additional services or be willing to pay the extra taxes needed for these extra services. It is the people who must be the real deciders of this matter.

Census Figures' Impact

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—The following rough analysis of the 1960 Census figures is intensely interesting to me. The figures show that the total population of the United States, including Hawaii and Alaska, is now about 180 million. This is 30 million over 1950.

LARGE CITIES SUFFER

For the first time since the original federal decennial census in 1790, all of our largest cities except one now show a decline. By "large cities" I mean those with 1,000,000 or more population forming the core of larger "metropolitan areas." Considering that the U.S. has been taking censuses for 170 years, this is an extraordinary event.

The above-mentioned "one exception" is Los Angeles, which shows a gain of over 20 per cent. This is due to several reasons. Los Angeles found oil within its borders. It is also a center of the fruit industry, or at least it was until the inhabitants began to uproot trees in order to build subdivisions. Until the smog trouble developed, the Los Angeles climate was also superb.

BOSTON AMONG WORST DECLINES

Of all large cities in the U.S. Boston has suffered one of the greatest losses. My first job after graduating from M.I.T. was in Boston, which then had a population of 500,000. This increased to 750,000 in 1940 when the Boston Chamber of Commerce was forecasting a population of 1,000,000 for the city. Boston proper did reach 800,000 in 1950; but the number has since dwindled to 677,000.

Boston has lacked natural resources, with the possible exception of the fishing industry. Education institutions and small factories have been its chief assets. Boston may still claim to be a great educational center, but it is rapidly losing its factories and mills. The New England shoe industry has moved to the Central West where there are plentiful mills. The shoe mills are moving to the South where they are nearer the cotton and sheep. However, Southern California and Eastern Massachusetts ride at the head of the "electronics parade." Union wages and restrictions are a handicap but the quality of New England workmanship is very high.

THE RISE OF SUBURBIA

The most revealing statistics of the 1960 Census concern the mighty force of growth of suburbia. Most people who have left the large cities have not moved to other states. Rather, they have moved primarily to new suburbs some fifteen to twenty-five miles distant. This not only gives them better living conditions, but provides an entirely new social life.

Major factors causing this change are automobiles, telephones, and television. These factors, plus airplanes, have raised havoc with the railroads as well as the large cities. The railroads now employ only 800,000 workers compared with 1,200,000 in 1950. Trucks are carrying the less than a carload freight, while supermarkets and shopping centers are distributing the merchandise. Use of natural gas has doubled, while coal has suffered tremendously. The number of miners working in some areas of West Virginia is now only half those in 1960.

THE BOOM IN HOUSING

Since the census of 1950 the U.S. population has increased by 20 per cent; housing by 70 per cent. And almost half the expenditure for total new construction is now going into housing—practically all in the suburbs, and built mostly on credit amounting to $100 billion or more.

The most unfortunate figure in this 1960 Census is the amount being spent on borrowed money. These great mushrooming suburbs are built on borrowed money—not only the new houses, but also borrowed, since the 1950 census, over $100 billion for roads, sidewalks, water, gas, etc. One dollar out of every eight of take-home pay is apparently obligated for appliances and other things useful but not necessary. What would happen to these suburbs in case of a severe depression makes me shudder.

More Estimates On The Future

By ELMER ROESSNER
Here are more estimates of the future of businesses, based on analyses of developing trends.

Worse stock dips: Many investors tend to realize losses to offset capital gains, so they will sell holdings and buy similar stocks during stock declines from now until the end of the year. This will tend to extend the declines.

Scrambler boom: Interest is rising in a coming device that will scramble telephone conversations so that they cannot be understood by anyone not having a keyed unscrambler. Every politician, government holder, district attorney and racketeer is a prospect.

Exhaust control boom: Fifty companies are trying to produce a device that will eliminate carbon monoxide and smog-producing chemicals from auto exhausts, as will be required by California law. The first few devices will share a $700,000,000 annual market in California. Other states are certain to follow, providing billions of dollars in sales.

EQUIPMENT BUY-NOW

Profitless equipment boom: The current decline in the economy is cutting prices for many kinds of office, factory and highway equipment. Companies with reserves can get fine bargains. However, while this may help clear sellers' inventories, few sales will yield more than normal profits.

Cheaper copper: Recent cut in copper prices to 30 cents a pound has failed to develop new markets and portends still further price shaving. In fact, undercounter deals at less than 30 cents are not possible.

Hobbled steel boom: The coming rise in steel prices to pay the cost of union raises in December should be sparking a boom right now. But it's restricted because many users have built up their own inventories, and because many more want to see how the election comes out before firming future plans.

SCRAMBLERS FOR SCRAMBLERS

Scrambled signatures coming: Two new devices have been developed for scrambling bank depositors' signatures, making them illegible until inserted into a decoding machine. They will practically eliminate check forgeries. Banks are not outbidding each other to be first with the scramblers. Note: They can afford to bid high because say inventories will eventually pay for the machines.

British bank rate cut: The Bank of England may soon cut its rediscount rate. Despite the current gold manipulations, imports are exceeding exports and steps are necessary to accelerate business in Britain.

No inventory buying boom: Inventories other than steel, noted above, are in moderate to good shape, so buying for inventory will be slack for the rest of the year. However, the situation is not so slack as to cause heavy inventory liquidation.

More government jobs: Despite Administration assurances, Federal jobs have been cut but little. Now state and local government payrolls are increasing. Part is seasonal; part is in response to demand for more government services, and part is improving employment conditions for the politically faithful.

"BRAND X" BECOMES NAME FOR OTHER PRODUCTS

The Old Promoter dropped in last week to brag that he had suggested "Brand X" long before those New York fellows decided to bring out Br and X cigarettes. He was back again this week.

"I see a new window cleaner is being brought out as 'Brand X,'" he said. "And I have also found out that just a year ago a Hartford, Conn., liquor store renamed its private brand 'Brand X,'" he said.

"As I said several years ago, with all the plugs given without cost on television, every manufacturer ought to have his own 'Brand X' to take advantage of the free comparisons." I have laughed at the Old Promoter many times, but I've got to admit that he was ahead with this "Brand X" idea.

Vast Highway Job Straining Bureau Of Public Roads

By BEM PRICE
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads has an annual budget of $29.5 million and employs 1,122 engineers, including 150 bridge engineers.

With this engineer force, the bureau is supposed to exercise supervision over the greatest state-federal road building program in history.

Over the past four years the states and the federal government have spent $10 billion on highways and authorized the expenditure of another $10 billion.

Since mid-1956 over 40,000 road contracts have been executed and 10,000 are currently in force.

When the bureau was charged only with the supervision of the regular primary, secondary and urban road programs, its 1,122-man engineer force seemed adequate. This is the program to which the states and the federal government contribute on a 50-50 basis.

But in 1956 Congress set up a huge new program to build 41,000 miles of superhighways over a 20-year period and told the bureau to supervise this program, too, without any increase in engineers. Under this program the federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost.

Bureau engineers have to approve the design, plans and specifications for roads in both programs. Further, they are expected to conduct on-the-spot inspections to see that all is going according to contract.

In the past four years the engineers have inspected over 135,000 miles of highways and 2,900 bridges.

This is a back-breaking chore for such a limited force of engineers.

At best, a federal engineer can inspect each job in his district once a month. The inspection may last a day, and in that day he is supposed to check grades, take samples of materials, consult the state's project engineer on special problems, and generally see that the federal government is getting its money's worth.

The federal engineers have to rely heavily on the state's project supervisors and hope the contractor is living up to his agreement.

Breakup of a million-dollar highway at Lordsburg, N.M., indicates that federal engineers can't always tell whether a highway is well built just by looking.

While the federal government is withholding payment of $200,000 on the Lordsburg project, the fact remains that federal engineers gave preliminary approval to the work.

The Bureau of Public Roads did spot the developing land scandals in Massachusetts where selected rights-of-way properties, so the report goes, were overpriced. When the need developed for an investigation, the bureau gave the job to a consulting firm. Critics complained that the federal government shouldn't farm out its investigative chores.

The bureau takes the position that the states have their own inspectors and engineers, and for the federal government to set up a more extensive supervisory system would be a duplication of effort.

The bureau says it does not feel obligated to question state records as a rule, that it assumes these records are accurate and submitted in good faith.

Bertram D. Tallamy, the bureau's chief administrator, put the viewpoint in focus last May when he testified before a congressional subcommittee.

"The bureau and the states act as coordinating agencies. That is required by federal law. The state initiates projects and presents them to the bureau for consideration. After review, if the bureau concurs, there is a complete meeting of the minds as to exactly what is to be accomplished and how. The state has responsibility for construction," Tallamy said.

The bureau does have a projects examination division which is supposed to act as a sort of roving police inspection force. There are 27 people on its staff. With Congress' permission, the bureau hopes to expand the division to 40.

To questions about the adequacy of its supervision, the bureau says other federal agencies are also in the act—the General Accounting Office, the Department of Justice, and Congress.

From the time the General Accounting Office actually audits a state's highway program until reports to Congress, about two years elapse.

The Department of Justice usually acts only when requested to do so by the bureau or upon formal complaint.

Congress began scanning the highway programs last year through the House Roads subcommittee headed by Rep. John Blain, D-Minn. It has held two major hearings.

While there is a tendency in Congress to blame the bureau for the ills besetting the highway programs, it must be noted that Congress set up the ground rules, established the state-federal relationships, and gave to the states the responsibility for actual road building.

If any charge can be leveled against bureau operations, it would be the exhibition of certain bureaucratic tendencies.

Though the bureau disclaims responsibility, it was a participant in one of Washington prize muddles.

After the superhighway program began, the question arose whether certain defense items, such as missiles, could pass beneath route interchanges and bridges.

For years the bureau had adhered to a 14-foot vertical clearance standard, with Department of Defense approval.

When the bureau wrote the Defense Department for a later opinion, the Pentagon kicked the question around for two years and then said it needed 17 feet.

After consideration by the Department of Commerce, the bureau's boss, this defense requirement was arbitrarily reduced to 16 feet.

Meanwhile, the bureau had approved construction of 800 bridges at the 14-foot clearance figure. To raise these 800 bridges to meet the 16-foot standard, the bureau estimates would cost $176 million.

As missile technology advances, missiles are becoming smaller and it is now hoped that 14 feet will be adequate.

When the bureau was asked why it hadn't taken action unilaterally to raise vertical clearances, it replied that such a decision would not have been appropriate, that this was the Defense Department business and not its own.

Prison System, Parolees Discussed At Club Meet

Roy Sandlin, eastern division superintendent, North Carolina Board of Paroles, discussed the state prison system and parolees at Friday night's meeting of the Exchange Club.

He was introduced by Exchange Club member Jim Boykin.

Sandlin mentioned during his talk that there are 11,000 prisoners in the prison system at present. The intelligent way to handle the rehabilitation of these people, he said, is through parole. Ninety-five percent of the people in prison are released, and most of these through the parole system, he said.

He pointed out the difference in parole and probation, which is sometimes confused. A person receives a probationary sentence for a crime from the courts and does not go into prison, Sandlin said. His conduct is handled by the courts.

In contrast, the person on parole has been in prison and is released to the control of a parole officer. This officer keeps a regular vigil over the parolee until the expiration of his regular prison sentence, but in no case is his probation period less than one year, Sandlin said.

Sandlin pointed out that all prisoners are reviewed for possible parole at each quarter of his sentence. Of all prisoners paroled in North Carolina, he said, 80 percent never return to crime of any nature.

Of the 20 percent who are returned to prison, 18 percent are returned before they commit any crime. He emphasized the only way to know if a person is ready for the life outside prison is to release him under supervision. It is here that the parole officer determines whether the parolee is rehabilitated.

To be eligible for parole, a person must have an insured job waiting for him when he leaves the prison system. Sandlin said those interested in hiring a parolee may contact Jim Boykin, who will inform him of the procedure.

Sandlin emphasized that parolees are good and loyal employees and make good workers. In general, they are better and more loyal than the non-parolees, since their success depends on their doing a good job, Sandlin said.

A question and answer period followed the talk.

BORDER SURVEY

LONDON (AP)—Red China and Nepal have agreed to send joint teams into the high Himalayas to survey their disputed border, Radio Peiping said Friday night.

The broadcast made no mention of the ownership of the summit of Mt. Everest, the world's highest mountain, which is a spectacular angle of the dispute.

Dies Of Own Gunshot Wounds

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dr. Israel Siekierka, 69, who shot and killed a woman patient he had been seeing, died Sunday of wounds he inflicted upon himself shortly after shooting the housewife.

Siekierka, a former violinist with the world-renowned Philadelphia Orchestra, had been in critical condition since the shootings Oct. 17. He had been booked on a homicide charge for the death of Marie Dybalski, 34, wife of a sheetmetal worker and the mother of two children.

Officers had quoted Mrs. Dybalski as saying before she died: "I asked him to leave me alone. He said he was going to kill me but I didn't believe him."

Sisters Bitten By Pack Of Dogs

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Two sisters and their guardian today were reported in satisfactory condition after being bitten by a pack of 32 husky dogs while taking an evening walk.

The sisters, Donna Lee, 12, and Vicci Lynn Eck, 6, and their guardian, Lucy Mest, suffered bites of the back and legs when the dogs, who were traveling with a road show, attacked them Saturday night after slipping through loose boards in their pen.

Thomas Updegrave, owner of the dogs, and Mrs. Mest's husband, Paul, who heard the screams of the children, managed to pull off the dogs.

Officials said heavy coats the children were wearing helped protect them.

making this active market do not disclose themselves. However, the value of the dollar goes down, the price of gold goes up automatically in a free market, but not in the United States where the price of gold is rigidly controlled. On the other hand, it is quite possible that Soviet Russia is monkeying with the price of gold as part of a Cold War operation to destroy the economy of the United States.

If the United States has to devalue the dollar to meet the rising price of gold, our economy may suffer severely during the next year. At a time when many Americans choose to ignore the significance of gold in the general structure of a nation's economy, most of the principal nations are moving back to a gold basis for currencies. It would be an economic calamity if the Russia rouble became a hard currency and the American dollar a soft one. It could mean that our prices would be so high as to kill off trade altogether.

Foreign Policy Speech By Dr. Humber Set Thursday

Dr. Robert Lee Humber, state senator from Pitt County, will discuss "Foreign Policy as an Issue in the Forthcoming Election" at East Carolina College Thursday, Nov. 3. The meeting is open to the public and will take place at 7 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium.

Janice Hardison of the college faculty, alternate-delegate from North Carolina to the Democratic National Convention, is chairman of arrangements for the event. Assisting her are Dr. Joseph Steelman of the college social studies department; William L. Hamilton Jr. of Raleigh, president of the Young Democrats Club of the college; and other student YDC members.

Dr. Humber's address will be followed by a forum during which the audience will have the opportunity to ask questions on U.S. foreign policy and other issues in the presidential campaign, Miss Hardison has announced.

Prominent Democrats in North Carolina will be present for the meeting, she stated. Among those scheduled to be present are I. W. Bisset of Grifton and Dr. Paul Jones of Farmville, delegates to the Democratic National Convention; Frank Wooten of Greenville and Clifton Everett of Bethel, Pitt County representatives in the N. C. General Assembly; Democratic Chairman for Pitt County John Clark of Greenville; and other leading Democrats in this state.

Residence abroad for a number of years as a lawyer and business man and a long-continued interest in and study of international affairs have provided Dr. Humber with an authoritative background for discussion of present-day foreign policies of the United States.

He is the originator of a plan of World Federation which has attracted wide-spread interest in the nation and was approved several years ago by a number of state legislatures.

Throughout North Carolina he is known for his work as one of the founders of the State Art Museum and for securing for the Museum its Kress Art Collection.

publications which carry the index, only the round numbers are used.

From these details we find that the August index was 108.4. That is just as high as it could be and still be rounded out to 108. If it has been 108.5 it would have continued to be carried as 109. The index for September is an even 107, and all the sub-figures also are even with the exception of nondurables. That is most unusual, and one can only guess what the final data will show.

We are now ready to express an opinion on the questions asked above.

In our judgment this is not the beginning of a recession. We think it quite possible that 107 may be the bottom of this rolling readjustment and, as we have stated many times before, that we shall see a slow upward trend getting underway in the near future. To put the issue more boldly, we are firmly convinced that business will be better at the end of the year than it is today—not every establishment, of course, but that all general measures will be higher in December than in September.

Real Fight Over New York's Vote

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Top Republicans and Democrats will wage a knock-down, drag-out fight in New York this week in the face of growing evidence that the state's prized 45 electoral votes may be won by Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The forces of Republican Richard M. Nixon are privately apprehensive as they go all out in what now is widely considered an uphill presidential battle in this key state.

Kennedy's Democratic forces will use front-rank campaigners to defend a position regarded by some as a precarious edge and by others as a comfortable margin.

Sources close to Nixon said last week the tide was running against him in New York.

The New York Daily News poll, conducted through secret balloting, indicates Kennedy has a lead of about 5 to 4.

A shift by Roman Catholic Republicans to support Kennedy, a Catholic, is considered a major factor in his New York showing.

But Republicans point to President Eisenhower's 1.6 million vote plurality in this state in 1956. They say the party has sufficient strength to withstand any Kennedy inroads.

Neither Republican nor Democratic leaders are willing to make official forecasts on the margin of victory they expect. Republicans are aiming for a million-vote margin outside of New York City. They feel this would overcome any Kennedy edge within the heavily Democratic city.

As the two parties wage the battle of the Empire State in these waning days of the campaign, their troops will include Eisenhower, former President Harry S. Truman, Nixon, Kennedy, Henry Cabot Lodge, Lyndon B. Johnson and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

This powerful array is evidence of the importance both parties attach to New York's electoral votes—one-sixth of the total 269 needed to win the presidency.

Some background: New York, the most populous state, apparently has a record registration this year of 84 million voters, an increase of nearly 700,000 over 1956. The official 1960 total has not been announced.

Unofficial figures show 4.8 million voters registered in the upstate and Long Island area, which has been staunchly Republican. This area includes Albany, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, several smaller cities and vast rural-suburban sections.

There are 3.6 million registered voters in New York City. They include large blocs of Irish-American, Puerto Rican and Italian-Americans, all heavily Roman Catholic, as well as Jewish and Negro groups.

New York has supported Republican presidential candidates in 10 of 15 elections in this century. It backed Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt, native son, four times, Woodrow Wilson once in a three-way race. The state administration, legislative majorities both U.S. senators and most U.S. representatives are Republican.

In this campaign, Republicans say:

1. Since New York is a Republican state, Nixon could run far behind Eisenhower and still win. Polls indicating a Kennedy victory are not sufficiently representative of the strongest Republican areas.

2. Kennedy victory forecasts make a major error in assuming there will be overwhelming shifts of Republican Catholics to Kennedy. Many Catholics will vote for Nixon in support of what they consider a stronger Republican stand against communism and a sounder approach to fiscal matters.

The Democrats say:

1. We have been making slow but steady gains in recent years in strongly Republican areas. Kennedy will win a large enough plurality in New York City and cut deeply enough into Nixon strength upstate to win.

2. In addition to Catholic support, Kennedy will win ballots from voters who were impressed by his showing in the televised debates with Nixon and his broad appeal to voters.

3. Early apprehension that the presence of Johnson, a Southerner on the Democratic ticket would alienate Negro voters have proved groundless.

4. Jewish voters who leaped heavily to Adlai E. Stevenson were initially cool about Kennedy but now plan to support him.

Youngsters Will March Tonight For 'UNICEF'

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Halloween tonight brings out thousands of youngsters again all over the United States to collect trick or treat pennies for the U.N. Children's Fund.

It is the fund's 10th anniversary of collecting money by that means to help buy milk and medicine for 107 countries.

The first U.N. collection, organized as an experiment in making All Saints' Eve something more constructive than soaping windows or turning over trash cans, netted $36 for a small Sunday School class in Bridesdale, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia.

Last year more than two million boys and girls in more than 10,000 communities in all 50 states went out and heaped up pennies, nickels and dimes for a total of $1 1/2 million.

Whole communities take part. Schools, civic organizations, and fraternal groups join in the collection program under which a penny will buy five glasses of milk for needy children, a nickel vaccine to protect five children from tuberculosis and a dime penicillin to cure two children of yaws, a skin disease common in the tropics.

Fifty cents can supply DDT to protect four children from malaria for a year. One dollar provides sulfone tablets to treat a young leprosy victim for three years.

Much of the health program is paid for by the government contributions that are added to the donations.

The U.S. government's contribution last year was $12 million, half of the annual budget. This year the Congress limited the governmental contribution to 45 per cent of the total.

To collect for the U.N. Children's Fund, youngsters are issued official orange and black stickers showing a child draining a glass of milk.

The kids are admonished to collect from door to door or at parties in groups, or at least in pairs. Very young trick-or-treaters are supposed to be accompanied by an adult.

The U.S. Committee for UNICEF—the initials stand for U.N. International Children's Emergency Fund—notes that Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy, the presidential candidates, agree on the worthwhile purpose of the fund.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was to give the collection its kickoff in New York City today by turning over a contribution to three teenagers from the New York area, representing Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths.

Charges, Counter-Charges In N. C. Politics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Afte. exchanging weekend finger pointing, Tar Heel Democratic and Republican leaders were set today to make their final push for votes in the Nov. 8 election.

Democratic gubernatorial nominee Terry Sanford was in the east and Republican Robert Gavin campaigned in the Piedmont as the last full week before election day opened.

State Republican Chairman William E. Cobb touched off the word exchange Sunday when he predicted "with absolute certainty" the GOP national ticket of Richard Nixon for president and Henry Cabot Lodge for vice president would carry the state. He also said, "For the first time we can state that Bob Gavin will win." Cobb coupled his predictions with a broadside of charges of pre-election irregularities by the Democrats. "Evidence is plentiful that the Democratic machine is desperate," he said.

This brought from Sanford the question, "If he is so confident about his chances of winning, why is he so desperate in his charges?"

State Democratic Chairman Bert Bennett scoffed at Cobb's prediction and said that is his charge. Cobb looks "like the losing chairman of a losing Republican party who is desperately looking for an excuse for losing."

Cobb said he based his prediction on information obtained during a 3,753-mile tour of the state. He said 300,000 persons had been personally contacted during the swing.

Cobb charged that Mitchell County has been subjecting voters to rigid, time-consuming literacy tests and "life-long Republicans will be excluded from the polls."

In Yancey, Guilford, Orange, Pamlico and Cleveland counties, he said, absentee ballot applications were being withheld from Republicans. In Stanly County, he added, registration books have not been available to Republicans except on Saturdays.

The Sunday developments occurred as Sanford and Gavin were resting from an arduous campaign schedule and preparing for the home stretch drive.

Both men were on the stump Saturday—Gavin at a rally in Tryon and Sanford at Swannanoa, Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota, who keynoted the GOP's national convention, campaigned Saturday at North Wilkesboro, Lenoir and Hickory.

Sanford told some 2,000 at Owen High School in Swannanoa, "I don't have to tell you how woefully lacking they (Republicans) are in information about the very fundamental things that every child should know. They're doing it for me."

He harkened back to the great depression and said, "Some of these young people here think you are supposed to eat meat two or three times a day. But some of us remember when you didn't eat meat all week unless you got up early and put out your rabbit boxes."

At an 11th Congressional District rally in Tryon, Gavin repeated his call for a civil service system for state employees.

"I want to reiterate again," he said, "that no competent state employe will be discharged by me as governor. All shall be brought up to a civil service status if they are qualified for their jobs. And once under civil service, they will never have to fear political bosses again."

Judd described Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy as a "nice young man aspiring to get into britches too big for him." Judd spoke to about 400 persons at Hickory airport, 3,000 around the Confederate monument in midtown Lenoir and 1,600 at North Wilkesboro.

He called Nixon and Lodge the best qualified team in political history. His speeches alternated between serious pleas for a Nixon-Lodge victory and gibes at the Democrats.

In other weekend political developments, Tar Heel Democrats received from Kennedy a request to "redouble efforts" to bring out the farm vote. Kennedy made the plea in a telegram to Henry Shelton of Speed, chairman of the North Carolina Farmers for Kennedy-Johnson Committee.

Democrats also scheduled Tuesday as "Democratic Visitation Day" a time in which party workers will ring doorbells across the state and remind persons to vote.

Made Sure A Doctor Coming

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"If I jump out the window will you call a doctor for me?" Raymond Burton, 18, asked his cousin.

And with those words Burton plunged six floors from a downtown apartment building, police said.

He survived, but broke both legs. Essie Jones, his cousin called an ambulance and Burton's condition was reported good at a hospital.

Mrs. Jones told officers Burton had been drinking.

HOFFA SAYS—
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, said Sunday at a news conference Sen. John F. Kennedy "has a police mentality and is not fit to be president of the United States."

Surinam, South America, formerly Dutch Guiana, is governed by a governor appointed by the Queen of the Netherlands.

Hopes Israel To Double Its People

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP)—The seventh American United Jewish Appeal study mission in Israel wound up Sunday night with a dinner addressed by Premier David Ben-Gurion.

He expressed the hope that within a few years states now opposed to Zionism would permit Jewish immigration to Israel and predicted that within 10 years the number of Israeli inhabitants would be raised from two million to four million.

BOONE—Appalachian, a band of opportunists, capitalized on an East Carolina fumble, and intercepted pass Saturday night for two touchdowns and added one legitimate score to bludgeon the Pirates, 21-17, in an offensive thriller.

The Apps, who consider taking advantage of an opportunity about as important as life or death, thrilled a capacity crowd of 3,500 by storming for a couple of first half touchdowns and adding a clincher in the opening minutes of the third quarter to spill East Carolina from the college unbeaten ranks in a game matchmakers picked as a toss-up.

But East Carolina didn't come away from the mountains completely empty-handed. The Bucs drew admirable words from the partism crowd after staging a lion-hearted comeback twice and putting the pressure on the larger and depth-laden Mountaineers until the final seconds.

It was the hardest-played North State Conference game of the season and even the sideline observer had to be on his toes less he be knocked off his feet by a flying tackle or block. It was a rough game that brought bumps and bruises to both camps.

Glenwood Wilson, a squat-sized fullback who has plagued East Carolina football teams more in the past four years than local criticism, recovered from a season-long injury just in time to help spell out defeat in capital letters for the never-die Pirates.

It was Wilson who launched the Apps on their first scoring journey midway the first period with a couple of crucial third down runs.

Starting on their 37, Wilson and freshman halfback Sandy Edwards collaborated to move the piskin to East Carolina's 20. Wilson did most of the ground work while Edwards grabbed a couple of passes. Don Gardiner got a couple of key blocks and sped the final twenty yards to put the first six points on the scoreboard with 1:25 left in the quarter.

Aware of the wicked toe of EC's Henry Kwiatkowski, the Apps went for the two pointer and Eugene Styles kept on a pass-run option and dived into the end zone.

Sonny Baysinger, shining in the defeat like the moon at night, was one step away from matching the six-pointer on the following kickoff.

The fleet little halfback saw daylight at the East Carolina 40 but cut back to his left in an attempt to screen off the last App defender and was pulled down from the rear, following a 34 yard return.

East Carolina received their first and only real break of the game minutes later when a Dan Rouse punt had the Apps huffing and puffing on their 12. Fullback Freddy Wilson became unglued from the ball on the first play and the Bucs labeled it.

The Bucs had trouble cracking the Apps line, ranked first in rushing defense in the North State Conference, and had moved to only the ten in three plays. The "magic toe" of Kwiatkowski was applied to the ball at the 19 yard line on fourth down and it split the uprights, RECEIVES ADVICE—Sonny Baysinger (12) gets a few words of advice from ECC assistant coach Frank Madigan. The Bucs lost their first game of the season to a fired-up Appalachian Saturday, 21-17.

Coach's Quotes

Saturday night, the breaks went against East Carolina and found the Bucs on the short end of a 21-17 score against Appalachian.

Coach Jack Boone couldn't complain over the way his ball club forged from behind time after time. "I felt we were in the game until the final seconds," noted the Pirate head coach. "We were just forced into mistakes which gave them scoring opportunities".

Boone felt the turning point in the game came in the final half when a penalty set EC back deep into its territory following the kickoff. And a third down pass interception gave Appalachian the ball in scoring territory.

A fumble in the closing minute of the first half was also "a big play" in the North State contest.

This is how Boone rated it by departments:

RUSHING OFFENSE—"We ran well against them probably better than any other team. We were real pleased with the way our boys opened up holes in their tough defense."

PASSING OFFENSE—"This was one of the weakest days we've had passing. We had planned to stay on the ground and use our passing only to open them up. Those three interceptions really hurt us."

RUSHING DEFENSE—"We contained them well—it stood out just like it has all year. Our defense was probably the best part of our game against Appalachian."

PASSING DEFENSE—"They hurt us on one pass (the second touchdown) but we were able to stop their long pitches."

PUNTING—"Our punting game was again average... it didn't hurt us and put them in the hole several times."

SUMMATION—"The way we look at it, over-all, our kids did a real good job and were fighting all the way. The execution of our passing game wasn't up to par and the pass interceptions hurt us in the final half. The boys shown a lot of ability and spirit in coming back and we were in the game all the way. We carried out our game plans to the button. Appalachian has a real fine ball club and they played to win."

Bruins, Pirates Meet Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two North State Conference powerhouses — first place Lenoir Rhyne (3-0) and East Carolina, tied for second at 4-1—meet this weekend on Lenoir Rhyne's home field.

Appalachian, the other team tied for second 8 as a result of handing East Carolina its first conference loss, 21-17, Saturday, is host to Guilford, the league's last-place team (0-3).

These are the only two league games on the weekend schedule. The other three North State teams play non-conference foes — fourth place Elon (2-3) at home to Newberry, Catawba (1-3) at home to Presbyterian and Western Carolina (1-4) at Emory and Henry.

Western Carolina finally broke its losing streak to the conference win column Saturday with a 41-6 romp over Elon. That and the Appalachian-East Carolina thriller were the only conference games of the weekend. Against non-conference teams, Lenoir Rhyne smothered Georgetown of Kentucky 63-14, Catawba lost to Wofford 12-0 and Guilford lost to Newberry 27-0.

cutting the Apps margin to 8-3.

The Pirates were not to be denied a touchdown on their second stab within the ten yard line.

On a movement which started at the EC 23, the Bucs out-guessed Appalachian on a third down and one yard situation, with Dan Rouse leaping and hitting end Richard Honeycutt with a over-the-middle pass.

The freshman end lumbered for 53 yards to the Appalachian 15. Mac Thacker and Glenn Bass carried for a first down on the five.

Billy Strickland plowed for three yards and Sonny Baysinger moved the final two yards, sending EC ahead 9-8. Kwiatkowski made it 13 for 13 in extra point attempts and it was 10-8 with 4:20 left in the half.

East Carolina blunted an Appalachian drive at mid-field and had ball possession on their own 20 with less than a minute left in the half.

Quarterback Bert Stafford was rattled from the ball on first down and Appalachian recovered at the 23.

On first down, Tommy Wooten pitched out to Eugene Stiles who fired a perfect strike into the waiting arms of end Bob Morrison for a touchdown. The extra point failed and it was 14-10.

East Carolina was on the move again but time ran out with the Bucs just entering Appalachian territory.

Disaster struck East Carolina like a bolt of lightning early in the second half, leading to Appalachian's game-winning touchdown.

Dan Rouse faked a third down punt from his ten yard line but passed instead and Eugene Styles intercepted on

Minnesota To Test Top Ranking Iowa This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

About this stage of the college football season some of the teams that have been establishing fine reputations begin popping stitches and coming apart at the seams from the rigors of all-major schedules.

Anyone who could predict where the stuffing will begin to show this week would do more for bowling (football variety) than the inventor of the automatic pinsetter. At least a half dozen of the leading teams will be performing under the scrutiny of scouts from the major bowls and somewhere something is bound to give.

It happened last Saturday at Syracuse, the 1959 national champion; to Baylor, and, to a lesser extent, to second-ranked Mississippi. As a result only seven major teams go into November with clean records.

They are Missouri, Navy, Utah State and New Mexico State, all seven-game winners, and Iowa, Minnesota and Yale, each 6-0. And look what's in store for them.

Iowa, ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press poll and candidate No. 1 for the Rose Bowl invitation, runs into the big, tough Minnesota team that has been a source of embarrassment to the folks who wanted to fire Coach Murray Warmath a year ago. Iowa had something less than an easy time last Saturday beating Kansas 21-7 while, sixth-ranked Minnesota rolled over Kansas State 48-7.

No matter who wins, this game won't inevitably lead to a championship or a bowl game. Iowa's Hawkeyes still have Ohio State and Notre Dame ahead while Minnesota has Purdue and Wisconsin.

Navy, for whom Joe Bellino pulled out a 14-7 decision over Notre Dame, encounters Duke, a 6-0 winner over Georgia Tech. Both teams are very much in the bowl picture at this stage.

Then there's Missouri-Columbia, Southern California-Washington, Tennessee-Georgia Tech and Utah State-Wyoming, all of which figure importantly in conference title races and bowl maneuvers. Oklahoma, Utah State and Wyoming share the Skyline Conference lead after beating Brigham Young 34-0 and Utah 17-7, respectively. Southern Cal., 21-6 winner over Stanford, and Washington, 7-6 victor over Oregon, share the top spot in the Big Five. The winner likely will represent the West in the Rose Bowl.

Since Mississippi was held to a hard-won 6-6 tie by Louisiana State, Tennessee, also tied but unbeaten, is in a good spot to bid for the Southeastern Conference title. The Vols trimmed North Carolina 27-14 Saturday. Ole Miss also Tennessee meet Nov. 12.

Mississippi had to call on the place kicking skill of Allen Green to save its tie with LSU, which had lost three straight games by the field goal route. Green kicked two to make it 6-6, the second with six seconds left.

Baylor yielded the Southwest Conference lead to Rice and dropped into a second-place tie with Arkansas after losing 14-6 to Texas Christian, which had won only one previous game. How long this situation will last is debatable. Arkansas, which conquered Texas A&M 7-3 in a Saturday night game, is the next Rice opponent while Baylor faces Texas, 17-7 winner over SMU.

Syracuse, lacking the strong two-way interior lineman who made last year's Sizeable Seven so formidable, was outplayed and beaten 10-0 by a Pittsburgh team whose 3-2-2 record hardly is a true measure of its strength. Both Pitt losses were by one point.

Those upsets weren't the day's real shockers, however. The defeat of previously unbeaten Rutgers by non-winning Villanova, 14-12; George Washington's 20-6 victory over the Air Force and the 44-6 score Columbia rolled up against Cornell were among the more surprising results.

New Mexico State remained on the unbeaten list with a 27-24 victory over Arizona State, earned on two long runs by Pervis Atkins. Yale whipped Dartmouth 29-0 but still has to deal with Princeton in the Ivy League race. They're tied with 4-0 records after the Tigers outscored Brown 54-21 in a meeting between two virtually defenseless teams. Princeton has its first big test against Harvard this week before facing the Elis.

Ohio State, ranked eighth in the AP poll, beat 10th-ranked Michigan State 21-10 and remained very much in the Big Ten calculations. In a surprisingly close inter-sectional game, UCLA conquered North Carolina State 7-0. Tulane drubbed William and Mary 40-7 and Memphis State whipped VMI 21-8, a Southern Conference tilt centerd, in other late Saturday games.

Dukes' Bowl Hopes Are Strengthened By Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Duke's bowl game hopes, strengthened by Saturday's 6-0 victory over Georgia Tech, could hinge on the outcome of this week's Blue Devil action. Duke is host to unbeaten Navy, ranked No. 4 nationally last week.

The Blue Devils now own a 4-0 conference record and the No. 1 spot in the Atlantic Coast Conference, and a 5-1 all games record. The loss was to Michigan, 31-6, but that was an even contest until the last quarter.

Still ahead for Bill Murray's Duke team are games with Navy, then two ACC foes—Wake Forest and North Carolina — and a season-closing game with UCLA.

Only two conference games are on the schedule for Saturday:

North Carolina at Clemson and North Carolina State at Wake Forest. Virginia is idle and three ACC teams play non-conference games: Maryland at Penn State, South Carolina at LSU, and Duke at home to Navy.

In the only two conference games last weekend, Wake Forest defeated Virginia 28-20 and Maryland held South Carolina scoreless, 15-0.

Duke's 6-0 conquest of Georgia Tech was the only ACC victory in four non-conference games. Clemson lost to Vanderbilt 22-20, North Carolina bowed to Tennessee 27-14 and N.C. State was defeated by UCLA 7-0.

N.C. State remained in second place in the conference standings with a 3-1 record and Maryland's victory over South Carolina moved the Terps into third place with a 3-2 mark. Clemson and Wake Forest are tied for fourth with 2-2 records, followed by South Carolina, 1-2, and North Carolina and Virginia, each 0-3.

McGuirt Remains ACC Top Scorer

GREENSBORO (AP) — Halfback Bill (Squirrel) McGuirt of Clemson didn't play in Saturday's football game with Vanderbilt but still remains the top scorer in the Atlantic Coast Conference with 36 points. He twisted his knee in practice.

Tied for second place with 24 points each, are Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State and halfback Bobby Robinson of Wake Forest. Gabriel was alone in second place with his 24 points last week. Robinson scored one touchdown against Virginia.

Next in the scoring parade, with 18 points each, are quarterback Lowndes Shinger of Clemson, halfback Mark Leggett and fullback Dave Burch, both of Duke, quarterback Dale Betty of Maryland, halfback Al Taylor of N.C. State, fullback Tony Uehla of Virginia, and halfback Donnie Frederick of Wake Forest.

American Grid League Is Tightened As Both Leaders Suffer Losses

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

This should be a showdown week for the Green Bay Packers, who must dethrone the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts to keep their title-bound express rolling toward the Western Division crown.

The Packers, picking up momentum at every stop in a determined drive to bring the circuit's smallest city its first title since 1944, relied on the high-scoring duo of Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor for a 19-13 triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

Green Bay's fourth consecutive victory after an opening game loss left them atop the Western standings when the Chicago Bears bowed to the San Francisco 49ers 25-7.

The two-time champion Colts, prepping for the Packers' invasion of Baltimore this Sunday, smashed the Dallas Cowboys 45-7 with Johnny Unitas passing for four touchdowns and extending his record TD-a-game streak to 43 straight regular season contests.

The Colts have moved into second place with a 4-2 record while the Bears, who will be idle this week, are in third with a 3-2-1 mark.

The scrambled situation is similar in the Eastern Division where the Cleveland Browns thumped the Washington Redskins 31-10 on Bobby Mitchell's running and passing to wind up in a tie for first place with idle Philadelphia. Both are 4-1.

The New York Giants fell into third with a 3-1 slate as the St. Louis Cardinals upset the defending Eastern titlist 20-13. The Browns will meet the Giants this Sunday in a crucial test while the Eagles tackle Pittsburgh.

In the other game on Sunday's program, the Los Angeles Rams outlasted Detroit's Lions 48-35 for their first victory.

American League action was limited to two games. Dallas edged Denver 17-14, dropping the Broncos into a tie for the Western Division lead with Los Angeles, and Buffalo upset Houston's Eastern Division front-runners 25-24.

Taylor crashed over from the 1-yard line to cap a 66-yard drive that gave Green Bay the lead with 1:03 remaining after a 15-0 bulge built on Hornung's four field goals had been wiped out by the Steelers (2-3-1). Touchdown passes of 37 and 48 yards by Pittsburgh's ailing Bobby Layne were not enough to combat Taylor and Hornung, who have scored 101 of the Packers' 137 points.

Quarterback John Brodie took over for injured Y. A. Tittle with the 49ers trailing the Bears 7-6 in the second period and within a space of 47 seconds San Francisco (3-3) had a pair of TDs. J. D. Smith slammed one yard for the first score. Willie Gailmore then fumbled the ensuing kickoff and Bobby Waters pounced on it. Two plays later R. C. Owens took a 33-yard pitch from Brodie for another six-pointer.

Unitas passed wireless Dallas (0-6) dizzy, connecting with 68, 52 and 70-yard touchdown aerials to Ray Berry and lofting a 20-yard payoff pitch to Lenny Moore. The lone Dallas score came on a five-yard flip from Don Heinrich to Billy Howton in the third period after a wind-blown kickoff gave the Cowboys the ball on Baltimore's 25.

Mitchell tossed the first touchdown pass of his NFL career—a 23-yarder to Ray Renfro — and gave the Browns a 14-3 halftime lead over the Redskins (1-2-2) after Jimmy Brown had scored on a 25-yard scamper. Mitchell also tallied on a three-yard run and Mill Plum threw a 53-yard scoring toss to Gern Nagler to pace the Cleveland offensive.

Billy Stacy's 37-yard run with a recovered fumble in the third period was the clincher for the Cards (3-3), who wrecked the Giants by intercepting five passes and grabbing three fumbles. Mel Triplett's three-yard slam gave New York a 7-3 lead before St. Louis went ahead at the half on a 41-yard scoring heave from John Roach to Sonny Randle. Stacy did the rest.

The have-nots banged each other around with the Rams (1-4-1) registering their highest score in 22 games and winning their first in 14 decisions. Los Angeles built a 34-21 margin at the half but needed a 31-yard Billy Wade to Jim Phillips pass to put it out of reach of the Lions (1-4), who got a three-TD performance from Jim Ninowski.

Musson Holder Of Regatta

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The Mapes Cup, awarded to the winner of the annual Reno Regatta for unlimited hydroplane racing, is held by Ron Musson of Seattle today.

Musson piloted his Hawaii Kai to an easy second place finish in the final heat of Sunday's racing at Pyramid Lake. He scored 1,100 points in the two-day event compared to runnerup Bill Brown's 869 points. Brown drove Miss Bardahl of Seattle.

Third place went to Miss Spokane, piloted by Rex Manchester, who had 850 points.

VPI Vaults Into First Place On 20-0 Spider Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The front-runners in Southern Conference football were wondering today whether The Citadel really is a team to fear.

No one will know the answer until the Bulldogs meet VMI's defending conference champs Nov. 12, but there's persuasive evidence that The Citadel will play a pivotal role in the fight for the 1960 title.

This evidence includes a 5-1-1 season's record, a 3-1 conference log, and the longest unbeaten streak in the league—a five-game stretch showing four victories and a tie. The Bulldogs improve every week.

Until last Saturday night, VMI had gone longest without defeat—14 games. But the Keydets surge perished when they bowed in the rain and mud at Memphis State, 21-8.

Both VMI and Virginia Tech, at 3-0, top The Citadel in the conference standings, so the Bulldogs must whip VMI two weeks from now to retain their slim championship chances.

The Bulldogs growled their loudest last Saturday in a 27-0 romp past Presbyterian to which Earley Eastburn contributed a touchdown run of 82 yards, second longest in the school's football history.

Virginia Tech, meantime, won its fourth in a row and vaulted into a tie for the league lead by downing Richmond, 20-0.

The big weekend surprise was at Denver, where George Washington ignored a blizzard and upset the Air Force, 20-6, on three fourth-period touchdowns.

Furman got two TD's from Bill Canty and whipped Mississippi College 33-20; West Virginia found a new quarterback sensation in sophomore Larry Tracewell but bowed to Penn State anyway, 34-13; and Tulane conked William and Mary, 4-8, in other non-conference action Saturday.

the 20 and carried it back to the five.

It took three downs but Sher-rill Norville dove into the end zone for the score. Tackle George Demko added the extra point with a kick.

The next 25 minutes saw East Carolina represent a fired-up and pride-wounded football club instead of a tired and beaten-down eleven anticipated by the Apps.

The Pirates moved through Appalachian's line like no other club had done previously in marching 71 yards which was unassisted by a one yard plunge by Rouse.

The attack blended the running of backs Glenn Bass, Sonny Baysinger, and Billy Strickland with the passing of Rouse. A 22-yard Rouse to Bass pass carried it to the eight. Tommy Matthews bucked it to the one and Rouse plunged over on third down for the score. Kwiatkowski raised his season mark to 14 straight with a true kick.

That ended the scoring but the action was far from over. The Apps opened the fourth quarter with a long drive against East Carolina reserves but fizzled when the regulars returned to action.

Assisted by two giant penalties, Appalachian had a first on East Carolina's nine. But the next four plays, the march was in reverse gear and EC gained control on their 15.

They moved it to the 25 but were forced to kick. Again, EC held an Appalachian charge and recovered a fourth down fumble on its 30.

EC's ground attack was moving, with a big 15 yard run by Bass, but the Buc were fighting a losing battle with the clock and were forced to pass. Rouse's pass was intercepted by Bill Mayhew with a little more than two minutes remaining on the scoreboard clock.

EC had the ball only one more time and this came with less than a minute left. Another EC toss was plucked from the air by an Appalachian defender and it was all over but the shouting.

The versatility of fullback Jack Spikes of the Dallas Texans and offensive halfback Billy Atkins of the Buffalo Bills have tightened the races in the American Football League today.

Both division leaders, the Denver Broncos in the Western section, and the Houston Oilers in the Eastern, tested defeat Sunday with Spikes and Atkins proving instrumental in both cases.

Dallas, the Western Division cellar-dwellers, stunned Denver 17-14 and dropped the Broncos into a tie for the lead with Los Angeles which beat Boston 45-16 Friday night. Buffalo, third in the East, upset front-running Houston 25-24.

Spikes, a 220-pound power-driving fullback with a talented toe provided the Texans with their margin of victory over Denver with an 11-yard field goal in the third period. The former TCU mainstay also scored Dallas' first touchdown and booted two extra points.

Atkins, a defensive specialist who took over Buffalo's kicking chores against Houston when Joe Hergert was hurt, kicked three field goals to help beat Houston. An ex-Auburn stalwart who also gave service with the San Francisco 49ers of the National League, Atkins produced the winning field goal from 15 yards out with less than six minutes to play. His others were 22 and 45-yard kicks.

The Texans, boosting their record to 3-4, staved off a last-minute Denver threat after building up an early lead on the running of Spikes and Abner Haynes. The Broncos missed a tie when Gene Mingo's 39-yard field goal try was wide with 30 seconds to go.

A recovered fumble set up Spikes' 1-yard plunge for Dallas' first touchdown in the opening period. Denver tied the score on Al Carmichael's 47-yard jaunt.

Haynes scored from the 3 in the second quarter before Spikes kicked his game-winning field goal. Denver scored in the final stanza on a 53-yard touchdown pass play from Frank Tripucka to Bob McNamara.

Dallas moved to within one game of first place in the West. Denver and Los Angeles are tied for the lead with 4-3 won-lost records.

Buffalo linebacker Archie Matsos intercepted two Houston passes, ran back a short punt and set up a pair of Bills' TDs.

Buffalo's Johnny Green clicked on 18 and 49 passes for 334 yards and two touchdowns. Hergert also kicked a 26-yard field goal before he was hurt.

George Blanda of Houston threw three touchdown passes, but completed only 9 of 32 attempts for 124 yards. His 50-yard field goal gave the Oilers a 24-19 lead before Atkins last period heroics.

Houston (5-2) leads second-place New York (4-4) by 1 1/2 games. Buffalo (3-4) moved to within a half-game of New York.

NIPPONESE WIN

TOKYO (AP)—An 8-run uprising in the fourth inning sparked the Japan baseball All-Stars to a 10-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants today.

Johns Winner In Rain, Paschal 3rd

ATLANTA (AP)—It took Bobby Johns, 28-year-old Pontiac chauffeur from Miami, Fla., only 276 laps to win the first 500 mile stock car race at the Atlanta International Raceway.

He had piled up a four-lap lead at that point when rain brought out the caution flag, which requires all cars to hold positions and reduce speed. In the last five laps, the cars again were running full speed, but Johns held his own. The winning speed was 108.642 miles per hour.

Second place went to Johnny Allen of Atlanta in a 1960 Chevrolet, who nosed out Jim Paschal of High Point, N.C., driving a 1960 Plymouth, in the last few laps.

Speedy Thompson of Charlotte, N.C., had some mechanical trouble with his 1960 Ford but managed to pull back into fourth place.

Fifth place went to Rex White of Spartanburg, S.C. to insure him a new one-season for total money won in NASCAR events. Before the race, he was only $311 behind the record of $48,590 won last year.

Glenn (Fireball) Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla., who won the pole position with a qualifying speed of 134.975 m.p.h., set the early pace in a 1960 Pontiac. He was hard-pressed and often overtaken by his front-row mate, Jack Smith of Spartanburg, S.C., also in a 1960 Pontiac. Both were forced out by mechanical trouble.

Joe Weatherly of Norfolk, Va., in a 1960 Ford was front runner for a time. But mechanical trouble which forced a long pit stop cost him four laps and after that, Johns was in.

The other 19 of the 44 starters who finished were:

Lee Petty, Randleman, N.C., 1960 Plymouth; Richard Petty, Randleman, 1960 Plymouth; Weatherly; Fred Lorenzen, Elmhurst, Ill., 1960 Ford; Herb Tillman, Miami, Fla., 1960 Chevrolet.

Paul Lewis, Johnson City, Tenn., 1960 Chevrolet; L. D. Austin, Greenville, N.C., 1958 Chevrolet; Curtis Crider, Abbeville, S.C., 1960 Ford; Larry Frank, Greenville, S.C., 1960 Ford.

Herman Beam, Johnson City, Tenn., 1960 Ford; Jerry Thompson, Monroe, N.C., 1959 Thunderbird; Tommy Irwin, Spartanburg, S.C., 1960 Chevrolet; Gerald Duke, College Park, Ga., 1959 Thunderbird.

Rip Engle-coached Penn State football teams have beaten Syracuse 5 times in 11 meetings. Syracuse won the last three meetings. Of the 13 horse races in history for purses of $200,000 or more, seven have been at Garden State Park in New Jersey.

Castle Winner Of Horse Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—Windsor Castle, with a new rider and new strategy, won the United States Jumper Championship Sunday night at the Washington International Horse Show.

The gelding, owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. Robert Ballard, had been off form lately. For the final night of the show, trainer Joe Green of Lutz, Pa., decided to put a new rider — 20-year-old Kathy Kusner of Falls Church, Va. — in the saddle.

And he told her to let the big horse set his own pace. For months, Green had ordered the jumper hand-riden.

Windsor Castle then turned in a dazzling performance, to win the $1,000 championship. Green was awarded $250 for his handling.

"This horse is just like most geniuses," Green said. "He's a little peculiar, but he still is capable of doing what he's supposed to do for the big ones."

JAMES KEENE'S New Historical Novel IRON MAN, IRON HORSE

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Was Ben Holliday enough of an iron man to make the iron horse run? Towns were still few and far between in North Texas in the Eighties. Some big ranchers fought railroads that cut through open ranges and brought in settlers. The Indians' anger against any invasion of their ancient domain had risen to fanatical fury after the destruction of buffalo herds wherever rails were laid. Some railroad ventures into the prairies had been abandoned. The Midland-Pacific R.R. was falling into bankruptcy when Ben Holliday's wealthy father turned over the line to his son.

Ben didn't want to have to learn anything from failure. But even the smaller ranchers, whom he expected to ship their cattle to market by train, were turning away from the rails and back to the trails because of Indians' concentrated attacks on the railroad.

As Ben started out by horse and buggy to see what could be done, the horse ran away and knocked down a young woman who was washing clothes.

CHAPTER 3

Ben Holliday stood with the blood woman's ruined laundry in his arms. His coat was completely split up the back seam, and both knees protruded from sagging rents, and he couldn't have got any more mud on him if he'd shared a sow's wallow.

"Du bist ein Esel!" the girl shouted at him. Her anger was as intense as any had had ever seen. Her hair was in disarray and her white blouse was ripped, exposing a shoulder that was delectably smooth and rounded. Still he expected her to see that this had been an accident; there was no call for her to be so angry, and he just knew that she'd sworn at him.

"What was that you said? What did you call me?"

"I called you an ass! A donkey!" Then she snatched the clothes from him, looked at them in horror, and threw them on the ground. Immediately she burst into tears. "Oh, just look at what you've done! Just look at my clothes, my tub!"

"Well you don't have to bawl about it," he said. "I'll buy you a new tub. Look at my wrecked buggy!" He had his hands on his hips now, and his voice rose in volume. She was rather tall, he noticed, a slender, shapely girl with good bones and a real temper.

"I'll cry if I want!" Tears rolled down her cheeks, into the dirt streaks there, and she turned and kicked at the clothes and he knew that she pretended she was kicking him. Then she went loose and sat down on the clothes and let her head tip forward, her sobbing shaking her shoulders.

He felt a strong compassion for her and bent and put his hand on her arm. She bit him suddenly, bit him hard, and he yelped and snatched his hand back and looked at the row of even teeth marks.

"Why, you damned wildcat!" He felt his temper flare like a sudden fire. "I ought to paddle you where it'll do the most good!" And to show her that he wasn't fooling, he took off his ruined coat and threw it to one side.

She sprang to her feet, and faced him, her face inches from his. "You touch me and I'll make you sorry, you dummkopf! Warum bist du so dummkopf?" She pointed back toward the depot. "Get out!"

"Won't you let me explain? The horse ran away!"

She struck him with the heels of her hands, holding her arms stiff, and he retreated a step. "Go on, get out!" she rapped him again.

"Do you hear what I say?" Then she dropped her arms loosely and looked at the clothes as though she couldn't yet believe it.

"I'm sorry," he said.

"Just leave me alone," she said, almost begging him.

He hated to leave, with her blaming him. But what did he really expect after turning order into a shambles? He looked around and saw the Texans standing across the tracks, taking it all in; they thought it was a big joke.

Ben said, "Can't I come back later when you're feeling better? We can talk about it then."

"I don't want you to come back," she said. Then she looked at him and he was surprised to find her no longer angry. It seemed that she was more defeated now, and this state of mind alarmed him. Each time I wash, I tell myself, now Anna, you be careful and not rub too hard and make the clothes last longer. They were the last of my mother's sheets that I brought here from Germany. The last thing of hers that I had left. Now they're gone. She studied him as though puzzled. "Why do you stand there and look at me? Do you like to see me cry?"

"No," Ben said. "And it would please me if you never had to cry again." Then he quickly turned and walked across the tracks to where the crowd of Texans stood. Ollie Skinner was there, his wrinkled face bland and unreadable.

"That hoss could sure run, couldn't it, Mr. Holliday?" He looked intently at Skinner and resisted the impulse to hit him. "Where did Satchel and his friend go with my money?"

"A man shouldn't go back on a deal once he's made it." Skinner pointed out, but then saw that his advice fell on deaf ears. "In the season, I reckon. The story will be worth telling." He glanced at the good citizens from town, then at Qcilliday. "You got somethin' on your mind, Mr. Holliday?" he asked.

Skinner's amusement solidified Holliday's resolve. He said, "Come along and see, and afterward pick up your money from the timekeeper. You're fired!"

He left Skinner standing there with a slack jaw and walked toward the head of Comanche's single street.

As Holliday passed the marshal's office, the door swung wide, and Jim Bender stepped out. He cuffed his hat to the back of his head and said, "Mr. Holliday, I can't recall ever seeing you look more determined." His glance traveled back down the street to the group of townspeople who had stopped.

"They had their joke, so why don't you let it go at that?"

"Would you?" Ben asked.

"No," Bender said. "But we're different."

"Tell me how different?"

The marshal's young face grew serious. "Well then, if you've got your hackles up, I'd better go along to keep it fair."

"Fair for them, or for me?"

A hard tone came into Bender's soft voice. "Friend, that word only has one meaning for me. Be well if you'd learn that."

"So far I haven't seen anything to show me," Ben Holliday said.

He walked on to the saloon, and Jim Bender watched him and waited for the crowd to come along. He held out his hand and it stopped, eyeing him curiously.

"I want Holliday to have all the room he wants," Bender said. "Don't make me repeat that."

"One of the Texans scowled. "Say, are you a railroad man now, Jim?"

"I've spent my life being for nothing," Bender said. "Now go on't anyone go and mix me up." He stepped to the street taking Holliday's route to the saloon.

As Ben mounted the porch, he heard the cackling laugh. "Hehehehehe you should have seen him that, arms 'n' legs a flyin', and yellin'. 'Whoa!' as loud as he could. Hehehehehe, that hoss hadn't heard whoa in his life."

A gale of laughter followed, and Ben Holliday got as far as the poker tables before anyone noticed him. Then a hush came over them and Holliday picked a straight-backed chair, crashed it to kindling on a table, then sorted through the pieces for one that suited him. He selected a leg, a round, heavy piece of ash and stepped toward Satchel and his friend.

Agrees To Probe GOP Complaint

RALEIGH (AP)—Atty. Gen. Wade Bruton said today an investigation will be made of Republican charges of "corruption" in the State Highway Department.

Bruton also reported he was referring to Solicitor General W. Brown of Bryson City charge by Wayneville Republican Heinz Rollman of Democratic vote buying.

Bruton planned to confer later today with Highway Chairman J. Melville Broughton Jr. and State Bureau of Investigation Director Walter Anderson on the charges leveled by Republican State Chairman William E. Cobb against the highway department.

Cobb said in a letter to Bruton that he has affidavits from three former highway employees to back up the charges. He added the three ex-employees were fired when they reported the alleged irregularities to their superiors.

The charges implied misuse of hundreds of pounds of grass seed, and fertilizer, hay, pipe and wire and possible misuse of state-owned garden tractors. Cobb said they also imply the use of state employees on private landscape jobs contracted for by a state official.

Rollman, candidate for Congress, sent a telegram to Bruton in which he charged that a Hayesville man had been paid $5 to vote a straight Democratic ticket Nov. 8.

Bruton said he had sent the telegram to Solicitor General Brown requesting that he take such action "as you may deem appropriate."

RALEIGH (AP)—The stock market sold off quietly early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 60 to 205.40 with the industrials down 1.00, the rails down .40 and the utilities down .10.

Leading issues fell from fractions to a point or more. Most losses were small and quite a few issues were unchanged.

The list was laboring under predictions that steel operations were slated for a further decline. Many third quarter income reports continued to show a slump. Some analysts thought the market must undergo still another test, and a

Cold, Wet Wave Heads Eastward

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold, wet weather spread across western areas and the middle part of the country today and headed eastward.

Blustery winds from Canada dropped temperatures into the 30s as far south as the Oklahoma-Texas Panhandle. Rain, sleet and snow pelted many areas in the wet belt. Two inches of snow fell in Russell, Kan., and nearly two inches of rain hit eastern Kansas and western Missouri.

One of the early morning precipitation belts covered the middle and upper Mississippi valleys and the upper Great Lakes region, with more than one inch of rain in some areas. Showers sprinkled the central Gulf Coast, the middle Atlantic coast and in southern New England.

The frosty air dropped readings into the 40s in the upper Rio Grande Valley of Texas. The 40-degree marks covered most of the Mississippi Valley, with the 20s and 30s in the northern and central Plains.

It was 86 in Fraser, in the Colorado Rockies, but most of the cold air had moved out of Montana and Wyoming, with readings in the 30s and 40s.

The 50s prevailed along the western Gulf Coast and in the 40-60 degree range in other parts of the nation.

Kennedy Favored In 5 Big States

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy is favored by Las Vegas bookmakers to win five of six big industrial states in the Nov. 8 presidential election.

The bookmakers have made the Democratic candidate a 3-1 favorite in New York. The odds are 2-1 in his favor in Ohio and 7-5 in Pennsylvania, Michigan and California.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is a 7-5 favorite in Illinois. Kennedy is generally an 8-5 favorite here to win the election. The odds were 7-5 in Nixon's favor shortly after the nominating conventions.

Religious Week Opens At ECC

Religious Emphasis Week at East Carolina College, annual observance on the campus, began this morning with a general assembly of students, faculty members, and guests in the Wright auditorium. Rabbi Jerome G. Tolochko of Kinston was principal speaker of the morning.

Discussing the theme of Religious Emphasis Week, "Faith and the University," Rabbi Tolochko talked on faith from the Jewish point of view. Faith, he said, includes faith in God, in His unfailing goodness and His help in time of trouble, and faith in the future, which implies a better world to come.

Judaism, he said, is a way of life, is concerned with life itself, and believes that life is of prime importance. According to the Jewish faith, man is not born in sin but in goodness. He can exercise his will to live righteously or in sin. If we comply with God's laws, we will have a good life, he said.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina, welcomed an audience of approximately 1200 people this morning. He emphasized the importance of Religious Emphasis Week on the campus. His talk dealt with faith in the practical and the spiritual aspects of life and man's need of a faith to which he can cling. The week's programs, he said, are of value in helping participants understand the nature of faith and in helping strengthen faith.

D. D. Gross, director of religious activities at East Carolina, gave the invocation this morning. Singing under the direction of Dr. Carl T. Hjortsvang of the music department, the Chapel Choir appeared in a program of sacred music.

The Rev. W. W. Finaltor of the Pullen Memorial Baptist Church, Raleigh, closed this morning's assembly with a prayer.

Rabbi Tolochko will speak at a meeting tonight, and tomorrow night Mr. Finaltor will be presented as speaker. Wednesday night, Father John M. Breunig, chaplain to Catholic students at Carolina, State, and Duke, will complete the States of three evening meetings. These talks will take place in the Austin auditorium at 7:30 and will be based on the theme of "Faith and the University."

Mrs. Parker Is Leaving Agency

A 12-year veteran employee of the Pitt County Health Department, the organization's statistician, has resigned effective today.

Mrs. Mary Lily Parker, statistician for the local health agency since 1948, is returning to her native Laurinburg where she will reside with her mother.

Mrs. Parker came to Greenville in 1942 after her marriage to the late Richard E. Parker, employee of the Greenville Utilities Commission. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Parker of Belvoir.

The veteran statistician's replacement, who will handle compilation of the county's vital statistics, is Mrs. Lynell Harris of Ayden. Mrs. Harris will be classed as a stenographer at the local health center.

Yes, There'll Be Big Doings Tonight

HAVE BROOM, WILL TRAVEL—and this Miss is equipped for eventualities.

The annual eve for witches and goblins to fly has arrived, finally. But in Greenville, instead of witches and goblins, children will canvass each residence asking for pennies, nickels and dimes, not for themselves but for the United Nations Children's Fund.

For older "young people" there will be a dance at the Moose Lodge, beginning at 8 p.m. and ending at 11 p.m. Junior and Senior high school students from throughout Pitt County have been invited.

If weather is good, the dance will be held in the Moose Lodge parking lot, adjoining the building. If weather is too cold or it is raining, the dance will be held inside the auditorium of the Moose Lodge. Free refreshments will be served.

Costumes aren't required — but there will be prizes for the most original.

As for the smaller ones, they will meet in groups with their leaders for the UNICEF Drive. Thirteen churches are participating in the drive this year, annually sponsored by the United Church Women of Greenville. Each church has a certain portion of town to canvass.

The small fry start out about 5:30 p.m. and end their drive about 7:30 p.m. The donations they collect will go for needy children all over the world.

So far all the plans would leave out witches and goblins.

Last year, Chief of Police E. G. Gibbs said that people were well behaved. "We were very pleased with the way the young people conducted themselves. We hope to get them this same cooperation from 1961," Chief Gibbs said.

Halloween, historically speaking, is the eve preceding All Saints Day, observed on Nov. 1.

Superstition holds that this is the night for pranking doings, according to some folklore, in spite of the fact that it actually is the vigil of the feast of All Hallows or All Saints.

But this also is the time of the year for "Hallowmass—rade," the name given to a general assembly of warlocks and witches, formerly believed to have been held at this season.

So far all the plans would leave out witches and goblins.

Last year, Chief of Police E. G. Gibbs said that people were well behaved. "We were very pleased with the way the young people conducted themselves. We hope to get them this same cooperation from 1961," Chief Gibbs said.

Halloween, historically speaking, is the eve preceding All Saints Day, observed on Nov. 1.

Superstition holds that this is the night for pranking doings, according to some folklore, in spite of the fact that it actually is the vigil of the feast of All Hallows or All Saints.

But this also is the time of the year for "Hallowmass—rade," the name given to a general assembly of warlocks and witches, formerly believed to have been held at this season.

The annual eve for witches and goblins to fly has arrived, finally. But in Greenville, instead of witches and goblins, children will canvass each residence asking for pennies, nickels and dimes, not for themselves but for the United Nations Children's Fund.
