A straight Democratic ticket captured a large majority of the Daily Reflector's first straw vote count this morning. Of a total 126 ballots received...

numerous straw voters replying from Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, Grifton, Winterville, Robersonville, and Grimesland. Today's tabulation marked the beginning of the Reflector's second and final straw balloting prior to next Tuesday's general election.

Radio Ham Lends Help A Thousand Miles Away

GRANITE FALLS, N.C. (AP)—Nelson Clay was up early listening to his radio Sunday when he heard a call for help from a thousand miles away. Radio Station WJJD of Chicago said Ozzie Simpson, 25, needed blood transfusions. He needed them from someone who had been badly burned and recovered, and who had not had any transfusions in the last six months.

Clay, who had been in the hospital for several weeks, had heard the plea. He remembered the name Simpson, and he remembered the name Simpson. He called WJJD. Someone there took his name and phone number.

$155 Million To Develop Bomber

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has released $155 million for development of the B70 supersonic strategic bomber. The Defense Department released the funds to the Air Force Monday, leaving unused only $29 million of the money Congress had voted for the program over administration objections.

Queen Opens Parliament With Pledge: Longer Hours For Pubs

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II opened a new session of Parliament today with a promise to keep the pubs open later at night. The queen's speech from the throne, written by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government, also promised to work toward the political and economic unity of Western Europe and reaffirmed Britain's allegiance to her alliance with the United States and the other North Atlantic nations.

The queen stressed that Britain will continue to cooperate "in consolidating the European Free Trade Association," the seven-nation West European trade group Britain heads. The government will work toward the political and economic unity of Western Europe, on a basis satisfactory to all the governments concerned, the queen said.

Weed Mart Closes With $59.83 Season Average

By HENRY HOWARD, Reflector Staff Writer. Greenville's tobacco market yesterday wound up its 1960 selling season with what is probably the highest gross sales average on record here. Though total pounds and receipts recorded this year were under the record-high year of 1952, gross sales average figures released by the government showed this year's gross average at $59.83.

According to W. H. Whedbee, sales supervisor for the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, the government figures for producers sales will not be released until later. Whedbee told the Daily Reflector this morning one of the local tobacco companies, the only one that keeps its own average figures in producers' averages, reported its 1960 producers' average as $60.83.

Whedbee pointed out that there have been three government acreage cuts since 1953. Looking back to 1958, Whedbee pointed out the market this season handled more pounds than in '58, the year when Pitt County produced 1,921 pounds per acre its highest yield on record. That year, the local market saw 54.5 million pounds cross the warehouse floors for a gross average of $57.24.

year's figure was recorded at $26,876,966, while the gross average was $56.79. In 1953, the market sold a total of 65,296,634 pounds for a total of $38,603,914 for the $59.12 gross average posted that year. Though poundage was lower this season, Whedbee pointed out there have been three government acreage cuts since 1953.

Bids Received Today For VOA Construction

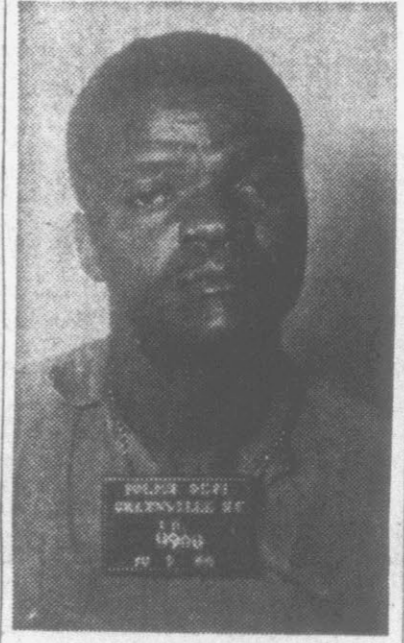

Bids were being received this morning in Washington for construction of the Voice of America facilities in Pitt and Beaufort Counties. VOA Administrative Officer D. H. Scindivier said here this morning that the bidding covers all building construction, installation of equipment, erection of towers, paving of roads and other work at the three sites.

Driver Draws 12-15 Years On Manslaughter Charge

Frank Dixon, 29-year-old Beaufort County Negro charged with manslaughter in the traffic death of nine-month-old baby girl September 18 near Grimesland, pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to 12-15 years at hard labor, in Superior Court this morning. Dixon was charged in the death of Cynthia Lynn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Smith III, of 706 South Elm St., September 18 after his car crashed into a car driven by Mrs. Smith, seriously injuring her and causing fatal injuries to the child.

Witnesses for the state said the Dixon car was headed east on U.S. 264 about one mile from Grimesland, and as it rounded a curve, the vehicle went out of control. It struck the rear of a truck load of tobacco, then plowed head-on into the Smith car, testimony showed. The Dixon vehicle then glanced off and struck a second truck, traveling west behind the Smith car.

Dixon told the court, "I would say he was under the influence of some intoxicating beverage." He added that he could smell alcohol on Dixon's breath and Dixon's speech was impaired. Patrolman J. B. Surles, who investigated the collision, said the defendant was "well under the influence" when questioned at Pitt Memorial Hospital after the wreck.

FRANK DIXON

Preparation of the sites on which the giant overseas broadcast facilities will stand has been underway for several months. One of the transmitter sites is located northeast of Pactolus in Beaufort County. The second is southeast of Shelmerdine in Pitt County. A receiving station will be built west of Greenville. Each of the transmitter buildings will contain three 500-kilowatt transmitters, three of 250 kilowatts, three of 50 kilowatts and two of five kilowatts. Included in the contract will be 400 steel towers to support 93 antennae.

Mylon W. Brickhouse of Greenville, who was near the scene when the collision occurred, said the speed of the Dixon car was "somewhere between 75 and 100 miles per hour" and added "the motor was crying" as the car passed him and rounded the curve. Another witness, Thomas Jefferson Dixon of Grimesland, testified that he had seen Dixon twice during the day... the last time only 15 minutes before the fatal accident.

Actual construction of the facilities will probably not begin until the middle of January or the first of February. The contractor receiving the contract will have 24 months to complete the job and he must agree to begin work within 15 days after receipt of notice to proceed. Preparation of the sites on which the giant overseas broadcast facilities will stand has been underway for several months.

October One Of Worst Months For Highway Toll

RALEIGH (AP)—The month of October was the bloodiest period on North Carolina highways since last December—and it may turn out even worse than that month. The Motor Vehicles Department reported today that 123 persons were killed on the highways during October. Last December, the toll was 124. However, delayed report of highway deaths likely will make the October toll run even higher.

Dixon, who was near the scene when the collision occurred, said the speed of the Dixon car was "somewhere between 75 and 100 miles per hour" and added "the motor was crying" as the car passed him and rounded the curve. Another witness, Thomas Jefferson Dixon of Grimesland, testified that he had seen Dixon twice during the day... the last time only 15 minutes before the fatal accident.

Kennedy Spans Continent For Big California Drive

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy spanned the continent today, opening an intensified drive that will carry him to 17 states in the final week of the opening campaign. Opening two days of campaigning here and in San Francisco Kennedy charged that Vice President Richard M. Nixon two days ago reversed the Republican policy of 25 years by advocating improvements in the social security system.

from every window of a four-story dormitory Kennedy said, "I am going to make an offer to Mr. Nixon. I have been trying to get him to debate me for two weeks. He has given me every reason and finally his last excuse was that I should apologize for saying that Mr. Nixon was unwilling to debate. I may now find the reason why."

on the fifth debate. Then we can see." Kennedy added, "What Mr. Nixon does not understand is that President Eisenhower was running only in 1952 and 1956. President Eisenhower is not a candidate. Mr. Nixon is. Mr. Nixon and I are going to face the voters alone next Nov. 8, no matter what the president of the United States may choose to do this week in New York or any place else. It is Nixon versus Kennedy, the Republicans versus the Democrats, and I look to the future with some degree of hope."

With the tourist trade in mind, Butler also hopes to make it possible to buy drinks with supper up to 2 a.m. all over the country instead of just in London as at present. The queen read her message sitting erect on her golden throne in the red and gold chamber of the House of Lords. Her full-skirted dress was of broadened silk and she wore a glittering crown. The lords, robed in scarlet with ermine collars, and the diamond-encrusted peeresses filled the benches of the chamber. Members of the House of Commons in their dark morning suits stood at the back.

The last day of the month was one of the bad days—with at least six killed, two in Wake County and one each in Northampton, Robeson, Richmond and Wilkes counties. Until October, the state's traffic death toll was showing some improvement over last year. On the first day of the month, the toll for the year stood at 850 as compared with 866 last year.

He said "most amazing of all" in the Nixon paper was the statement, "We must make it possible for our senior citizens to receive adequate medical services." Kennedy said, "This is the same Mr. Nixon who, only last spring, led the fight to defeat Democratic efforts to pass a sound program of medical aid financed through the Social Security system." "I disagree with Mr. Nixon," Kennedy added, "For he problems of our older citizens will not be solved through position papers—through promises which the record shows are unmatched by the desire to act."

at a vociferous student rally at Temple University in Philadelphia Monday, Kennedy issued a scornful, taunting challenge to Nixon to bring President Eisenhower along to help him on a fifth television debate. Monday night at a $100-a-plate party dinner at Philadelphia's cavernous Convention Hall which drew upwards of 10,000 highly enthusiastic partisans, Kennedy delivered a nationally televised affirmation of the kind of future he believes he can lead the nation into if he is elected. Kennedy also got in another dig at Nixon at the dinner about the fifth debate. "This unfortunately is not the fifth debate," he told the partisan diners, "but I'm glad to be here—and wish the vice president could have arranged his schedule to be here likewise."

Kennedy Favored In Three Surveys This Final Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three magazines—Time, Newsweek and U.S. News and World Report—have concluded on the basis of surveys that Sen. John F. Kennedy is in the lead in the presidential race. After a state-by-state survey of political experts, U.S. News and World Report said the Democratic nominee is leading in states with more than enough electoral votes to make him president. Newsweek said 50 top Washington correspondents and political writers predicted a win for Kennedy, while 10 saw Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his Republican opponent, as the winner. Time said its own correspondents estimated Kennedy was leading in states with 306 electoral votes and Nixon in states with 149. The average estimate of the 50 correspondents and political writers in the Newsweek survey as to what the electoral vote would be: Kennedy 326.4; Nixon 210.5. In a separate finding, Newsweek said reports from political experts in each of the 50 states estimated the electoral vote would break down this way: Kennedy 278; Nixon 159, with 100 as toss-ups. Time correspondents listed 52 states with 82 electoral votes as unpredictable. They are California, Hawaii, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Nevada and North Carolina. These correspondents listed these states in Kennedy's camp: Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Illinois, Louisiana, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, New York, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming. Listed for Nixon are Arizona, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia and Wyoming. U.S. News and World Report reported Kennedy leading in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri, Maryland, West Virginia, Colorado, Montana, Nevada, California, Washington and Alaska for a total of 282 electoral votes. Nixon was rated ahead in Arizona, Delaware, Florida, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia and Wyoming for a total of 205 electoral votes. The magazine rated seven states with 50 votes as doubtful.

Gavin Here

Republican gubernatorial candidate Robert L. Gavin is scheduled to visit Greenville tomorrow afternoon for a press conference and dinner before a live television appearance on the Washington station. He is slated to arrive around 5 p.m. at the local airport. Spokesmen at the local Citizens for Gavin-Nixon-Lodge Headquarters here said today the GOP candidate will hold a 30-minute press conference at the headquarters in the Hotel Proctor lobby beginning at 5:30 p.m. Following the questioning-answer session, Gavin will go to the Cinderella Restaurant here for an informal dinner. Local Gavin backers are planning a motorcade to accompany the candidate to the television station's studios near Washington. The scheduled time for his 30-minute address is 10 p.m. Publicity Chairman Jack Wallace, of the local Citizens for Gavin Committee, said today, "We hope Mr. Gavin will have a few spare minutes at the hotel and at the restaurant to talk to interested citizens."

Pitt Man Is Fatally Burned

AYDEN—A Route 1, Ayden man was burned to death last night following a gas explosion in a trailer where he lived about two miles from Ayden on the Gum Swamp Road. Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey identified the victim as Jack M. Stokes, about 50 years old, of Route 1, Ayden. According to Harvey, the explosion occurred when Henry Lee Worthington, with whom Stokes was living, turned a gas stove on and allowed gas to build up before lighting the fire. Harvey explained the two men had been sleeping. Worthington woke up about 8:15 to cook supper and went to the stove to light it, turning on the gas. Finding he did not have a match, he left the gas on and went to get a match. When he returned and struck the match, the gas exploded, burning and suffocating him. Stokes was trapped in the trailer, Harvey commented, and "burned to a crisp." The coroner added that Stokes died from the burns and suffocation. The fire, which burned the top out of the trailer and completely gutted the mobile home, was extinguished by members of the Ayden Fire Department who were called to the fire. The case is still under investigation, Harvey said, adding that Worthington was treated for his injuries at Pitt Memorial Hospital and released.

Hallowe'en Here Proved A Peaceful Evening

HALLOWE'EN DANCE at Greenville Moose Temple attracted between 300 to 350 of the younger set. The sponsors were "gratified" by the turn-out. Evidently the witches and goblins stayed away from Greenville during last night's Hallowe'en. Fire Chief George Gardner reported no pranks activity and Police Chief S. G. Gibbs said "everything was very orderly." Gardner said no false alarms were turned in last night though a total of five have been turned in during the month of October. Gibbs said no complaints were listed at the police department today. "We were very well pleased with the conduct of our young people," Gibbs said. Winnie's of contests at the dance sponsored by the Greenville Moose Lodge were announced today, with J. G. Proctor and Sonny Bostic winners of the dancing contest and Ruth Hathaway and Jimmy Hale winners of the costume competition. The younger set engaged in "trick or treat" last night, with an emphasis on securing strength.

A Big Rise In Casserole Cooking

SARDINE COMEBACK The humble sardine, all but neglected recently in casserole cooking, is a tasty little morsel with eggs au gratin.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

How the culinary scene changes! When the first major book on casserole cookery was published, a few years before World War I, the author was all agog at the wonders of fireproof earthenware pots and dishes that could be cooked in and then brought to the table.

Listen to what, in 1912, she included under these utensils: marinates, ramequins, cocottes, au gratin dishes and soufflé cases. All used today, but French chefs in our hotels are more likely to call them by these names than most of us.

And another change: nowadays fireproof dishes are as likely to be metal or heat-resistant glass as they are earthenware.

Although our early casserole-cookbook author, the principal of a Philadelphia cooking school, gave some traditional delightful recipes, she didn't play up the real possibilities.

It wasn't until the early 1940's when Marian Tracy's famous "Casserole Cookery" appeared, that American cooks were captivated by the opportunities in "main-dish-all-in-one" utensil meals. Mrs. Tracy had the wit to incorporate her casserole dishes in short, easy, interesting menus and this way of serving was launched.

After her first venture, Marian Tracy wrote "More Casserole Cookery" and four years ago the two books came out in a combined revised edition, "Casserole Cookery Complete."

Other authors took advantage of this new interest and, for cookbook collectors, here is what I find follows: the first Tracy books: "The New Cook It In A Casserole" by Florence Brobeck; "Casserole Magic" by Louise Rousseau Brunner; "Casserole Specialties" by Nedda Casson Anders; and "The Casserole Cook-book" by John and Marie Roberson. Jim Beard also included a

Males Protest Change In Modern-Day Japan

By DAY INOSHITA
TOKYO (AP)—Time was when this was a man's country. We husbands worked hard at the office, relaxed in geisha houses until late at night and would be sure the wife would be waiting to take our coat and remove our shoes when we returned home.

We used to pity our henpecked Western brothers.

The woman's place was in the home. She waited on her lord and master from morning until night, bore his children, walked two paces behind him in public and was happy.

It was the perfect society. And the Japanese woman, graceful and feminine as no other in the world, won universal recognition as the perfect wife.

But what's happened today? Full-bodied Japanese girls now display themselves before the public in bathing beauty contests. Princess Michiko walks side by side with Crown Prince Akihito in the United States.

Japanese girls do most of the talking in mixed teen-age groups. Women of all age groups are beginning to expect—and receiving—the attention of the males.

Foreign Minister Zentaro Kosaka was photographed descending from his plane arm in arm with his wife.

The final blow came not long ago when "Ladies Day" was proclaimed in Parliament, one of the last strongholds of male supremacy. Wives of Japanese Diet members were invited to attend when Empress Nagako entered the building with the Emperor for the first time in history at the opening of the Inter-Parliamentary Union Conference.

Japanese lawmakers also received brochures instructing them on the niceties of behavior in a ladies' first society. They were told: "A great deal of courage is needed to abandon the old Japanese custom of being embarrassed over acting nicely to women."

What led to the downfall of our Eden? The Allied occupation with its ideas of democracy. The American male, trampled under the high heels of his own aggressive females, discovered the utterly feminine women of Japan, turned their heads with their "ladies first" propaganda, even married them and took them home.

Three Japanese newsmen who visited Los Angeles a few years ago had an inkling of what was to come. Seeing the men mowing lawns in the hot sun while their wives sipped cool drinks on the porch, one said, "I pity these American men." A second warned, "We may be like that soon." The third said gloomily, "It's already happening."

So it is.

HOUSE INSPECTIONS—Firemen prepare to begin house-to-house inspections in search of fire hazards. The firemen began the inspections yesterday afternoon at the First and Second Sts. area near Evans. The inspections will continue daily from 2 to 4 p.m. except on bad days. Fire Chief George Gardner said, "We were well pleased with the reception we got," the chief said of the first day's inspections. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Area Episcopalians To Gather On Wednesday

Episcopalians of this area will gather in large numbers this week. There are several services of witness to be held by the Episcopal Diocese of East Carolina, which covers the coastal plains of North Carolina. Episcopalians in Greenville will form a caravan of cars and a chartered bus to leave Wednesday at 6 p.m. for Plymouth. There at 7:30 p.m. a procession of combined choirs, acolytes, clergy and people will enter the First Christian Church of Plymouth. Special music with the great hymns of the church; a solemn dedication of vows taken at confirmation, the singing of the Veni Creator Spiritus will be followed by a sermon by the Bishop of Texas. The Rt. Rev. Thomas H. Wright, of Wilmington, Bishop of the Diocese of East Carolina, will introduce the preacher, the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, of Houston, Tex., Bishop of the Diocese of Texas. The Rev. John E. Taylor, Rector of Grace Episcopal Church in Plymouth, will be host rector. Dr. Walter Pott, Senior Warden of St. Paul's Parish, will head the lay delegation from Greenville. He

New Weapons To Use On Strokes

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A panel of brain surgeons told the Southern Medical Association meeting Monday that new diagnostic and surgical procedures can reduce disability and even prevent death from strokes. A new diagnostic method enables a doctor to find a clogged artery. Dye is injected in the blood vessels and X-rays taken. If the blocked artery is in an accessible place, surgeons can remove the obstruction.

Movie Stars Serve As Window-Dressing

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A recent cartoon showed an imperious biddy in a campaign headquarters demanding, "I want to know what movie stars support your candidate." Here is a rundown for like-minded citizens seeking to learn what Hollywood is doing in the presidential race. Folks can't recall when there was so much political activity among the movie crowd. Both camps are busy supplying talent to party affairs. Both declare no event is too small to warrant attention. The Republicans dispatched Louise Beavers to pump for Nixon at a lunch and free-beer rally in San Fernando. The Democrats sent Phyllis Kirk and Jeff Chandler for a meeting of 50 high school kids in North Hollywood. The Democrats will supply Milton Berle, Louis Prima and Keely

Actor Loses Leg In Filming Scene

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Supporting actor Bert Spencer lost a leg in a stagecoach upset Monday during a filming of a "Laramie" television episode. Studio spokesmen said Spencer, 50, was "riding shotgun" atop the four-horse stage as it plunged downhill and overturned, trapping him beneath. His leg was amputated at St. Joseph Hospital, Burbank.

Smith, Stan Freberg, Jo Stafford and others for a Kennedy rally in East Los Angeles Tuesday; a crowd of 25,000 is hoped for. The Republicans are lining up a stellar supporting cast for Wednesday night's Eisenhower-Nixon-Lodge doings at New York's Coliseum. Among the names: Rosalind Russell, Irene Dunne, Ginger Rogers, Cesar Romero, Ray Bolger, Connie Moore. To date, no one has been able to prove that a single vote has been swayed because a movie star campaigned for a candidate. How, then, do celebrities help the campaign? "Crowdmanipulation is more important in this campaign than ever before," explained a Democratic official. "Movie stars provide the window dressing to draw the people."

Castro Foes In Tampa 'Active'

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Anti-Castro elements hurled two soft drink bottles through plate glass windows of the 26th of July Movement headquarters in the city's Latin Quarter Monday. Notes in the bottles read: "To hell with (Fidel) Castro; he betrays the Cuban flag," and "Cuba has always been a brother to the United States."

Fall Is Start Of Wedding Season Among The Amish

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Fall work on the farms is finished in this Pennsylvania Dutch country—and that means it's marrying time among the Amish people. The heralding of the full-flowering romantic season came today as the first couples proudly showed their licenses. Many more will come forward this week to get their licenses, prelude to weddings which for the Amish folk are strictly November milestones. And not just any time in the month, either. By long-standing custom among the people of this Protestant sect—plain but picturesque—a couple may marry only on Tuesdays and Thursdays. An Amish wedding day starts about 8:30 a.m. and lasts until well after sundown. It is by no means uncommon for as many as 400 to 500 guests to assemble. Guitar and harmonica artists

Aid-To-The-Blind Payments Went To 148 Persons

Aid to the Blind payments went to 148 persons during the month of October, Clarke Stokes reported to the Lions Club last night. The report covered the work of Miss Jennie Manning, case worker for the blind. One application for and to the blind was approved and another case was assisted in completing application. Two cases were closed, Stokes reported. Forty-five persons were given eye examinations last month. Last month, glasses were recommended for 29; surgery for six and treatment for ten. Six persons were removed from the classification of blindness. Six eye operations were performed. The Greenville Lions Club provided glasses for five persons and artificial eyes for two, and approved payment of glasses for four and transportation to the Duke Eye Clinic for two.

Charge Attack With Spear Gun

SECAUCUS, N.J. (AP)—A man was arrested Monday night after allegedly trying to destroy a love rival with a spear gun. Henry C. Von Hassel, 26, was charged with attempted murder. Police said he fired a spear gun commonly used for underwater fishing at Robert Muller, also 26, but that it hit the fender of Muller's car. Von Hassel allegedly accused Muller of dating Von Hassel's wife. Muller is also married.

Planning Biggest Moscow Exhibit

LONDON (AP)—Britain, which last June staged the biggest-ever foreign exhibition in New York, now plans to do the same in Moscow next May 19-June 4. The object of the show will be to sell British goods. The Soviet Union now takes only one per cent of Britain's output. The trade fair will cost $5.6 million, will cover 23 acres and will show products of 621 British firms. A million Soviet citizens are expected to see it. A Soviet trade fair will be held in London in July.

Discounting All The Past Weeks?

To one standing on the sidelines of this eventful national election year it seems incredible that the election may be won or lost in the final week of campaign. Yet Vice President Nixon voiced such an opinion yesterday.

Does all that has gone before mean nothing? Has the struggle between the Democrats and Republicans, Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon meant little until now? Have not the voters of the nation weighed carefully the issues, the assertions, the points of disagreement and the outlook for the nation under each candidate during the past weeks of the campaign?

The last days of any political campaign are always important to the outcome of an election, but to say that a campaign—certainly one of national magnitude—is won or lost in the final week appears to greatly over-simplify and discount all that has gone before.

Throughout the nation there probably are still hundreds of thousands of voters who have not come to a final determination of how they will cast their ballots a week from today. On the other hand, it is our guess that the vast majority of those who will go to the polls next Tuesday already have made up their minds. If they are genuinely interested in the future of the nation and the welfare of its people, they have carefully followed the campaign since its beginning months ago. They are familiar with the issues which have been debated, they are familiar with the stands taken by each of the candidates. It is highly doubtful that in the final week of the campaign new issues will be injected and important new points will be made.

The undecided voters who make up their minds between now and next Tuesday will most likely do so on the basis of what has been said in the past months; not because of what is said or done by either of the major candidates during this final week of the campaign.

It is important that these "undecided" voters make their decision based on the issues developed over the months in this campaign rather than on one particular point that happens to come to the fore during this final week.

As on many other occasions during this political campaign, we now find ourselves in complete disagreement with the Vice President's assertion that the campaign will be won or lost in this final week. The vast majority of the voters, we feel, are genuinely interested in the issues that have been debated. They have given careful consideration to points made in the past. Because of their sincere interest in the future of the nation, they will not determine their vote in the election by last-minute snap decisions.

Forced Into Alliance Incredible To Many

French, German and American soldiers living, training and studying together?

It seems far-fetched on the surface, but the idea meets a practical need.

German army units training on French soil? After the enmity of two World Wars this again is something old-timers would never believe could come to pass; but it has, and again, practical reasons are involved.

"We've all got a common enemy now, so we must forget that we were once enemies", says a 20-year-old American GI. (He, by virtue of his years, has little enmity to forget; but the thinking is right.)

The irony of once such bitter foes as France and Germany uniting in a common cause is not lost on older heads. Bitterness such as theirs was rooted in a rivalry that saw generations of their finest young manhood sacrificed in wars against one another.

The American citizen-soldier was somewhat apart from that bitterness and tradition of enmity. It is easier for him to accept the tearing down of such barriers.

Now they are all engaged in a common cause of finding a new unity, albeit they were forced into the alliance by circumstances beyond their control.

There have truly been some remarkable re-alignings of power in the council of nations.

The South Will Elect President

By THURMAN SENSING

For a long time a great many people in the South have been concerned that the region should be considered "in the bag" politically. They realize such a situation is not good for the South—either politically or economically—and that it should not be allowed to continue indefinitely. At the same time, however, these people have realized that it has not made much difference in most of our presidential elections as to which way the region voted.

This year, however, things would seem to be different. Many careful students of the political scene have come to the conclusion that this year the South will very likely elect who our next President shall be. Their line of reasoning goes something as follows:

For years we in the South have suffered agonizing political frustration. All manner of schemes have been devised to exert our political influence. We've had "walk-outs" at the conventions—the election of "independent electors"—a "third party" effort—and plans to "throw the election into the House of Representatives." We Southerners began to think that our votes just didn't count.

One doesn't have to be an astute political analyst to see that the situation is quite different this year. A little study of the public opinion polls and a study of the geographic distribution of the electoral vote should convince any one that we are facing the closest presidential race, since 1916. This year the South will come into its own politically! The Southern States with 136 electoral votes—25 per cent of the total—will probably elect the next President of the United States. The balance of political power lies in the South.

If the South votes solidly for the Democrat party, Jack Kennedy can win the presidency in a "breeze" by carrying only six additional states—i.e., Massachusetts, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and New Jersey. This apparently is Kennedy's strategy for he has "turned his back on the South" and has assumed a very liberal posture to appeal to the left-wingers of the North. At the same time, Kennedy is counting on the "old pros" and the magic of Lyndon Johnson to keep the South in the Democratic column.

So the choice is ours—will we vote for Kennedy or Nixon? As we go to the polls on November 8, every Southerner should face up squarely to the realization that his vote does count and that in all probability the South will elect the next President.

(The Shreveport Journal) Visitors to these shores frequently marvel at the high position women workers attain, the excellent wages paid female employees in factories and offices, and the general acceptance of the woman worker. One-third of the working force today is composed of women, and they hold every position listed in U.S. census job categories but three—firefighter, locomotive engineer and locomotive fireman.

Management and personal offices no longer shy away from women applicants, whether it be for office positions, assembly line operations or professional posts. The line is still drawn rightly by male management on the organizational level which women are permitted to pass, but there is no force in industry today to drive 16,400,000 miles before having a fatal accident. (An average driver covers 90,000 miles in his lifetime.)

He gets a parking ticket every 2 1/2 years.—He gets a speeding ticket every 15 years.—He gets a ticket for being under the influence of alcohol while driving every 436 years.—Think you're an above-the-average driver?

Many executives are finding themselves on a high degree of tolerance toward women employees without the slightest hingsight on how women on the payroll were affecting efficiency, productivity, morale, accidents or any of the other yardsticks by which human motivation is judged in business. Belatedly, some attention is being given to consequences of female invasion, with many management eyes being turned in startled disbelief. Absenteeism among women employees of 133 New York firms has been found to be twice that of men, but an insurance company which hires female office workers for a special four-hour it; perish in it, if needful; but ye need not fear that; no one ever died in the true path of the economy of Cuba and still does the same for other sugar-producing nations. This made them better customers for American autos, appliances and other products. And by keeping up the sugar price, it tended to increase the price for both domestic cane and beet sugar. It prevented a shelter for sugar producers, guaranteeing profitable prices.

And if the housewife was forced to subsidize American sales abroad and income of cane and beet growers at home; it was only because no better income could be devised to do these things.

RACE FOR SUGAR SALES When Castro turned Red and the United States cut off sugar purchases, all other sugar-producing nations rushed to fill the deficit.

Most of the sugar-producing nations have carry-over supplies. And practically all of them are increasing plantings on the theory that the greater the surplus they have the more the United States will buy.

At home, the sugar beet growers right now are harvesting the largest crop in history. Estimates indicate that about 2,310,000 tons of sugar will be turned out in the next few months.

MEANWHILE, to save face—and there is a face behind that beard—Castro will have to encourage high production of sugar in Cuba. This will be necessary if only to keep people employed in the fields and the mills.

At the moment, Maj. Ernesto Guvera, head of the National Bank of Cuba, is in Moscow, presumably begging the Soviets to buy Cuba's coming crop, or at least barter goods for it.

THE COMMUNISTS are no dopes. They are not likely to buy sugar for more than its worth on the world market. Cuba will have to accept a low price, or fail to sell total production. And what the Russians don't take, Cuba will have to sell in other markets.

And, with stepped-up production in almost every other sugar country, and little if any rise in American purchases, the Cuban surplus may be worthless. And as production of sugar rises around the world, it may become a pile that will smother Communism in the Western Hemisphere.

Hallowe'en Has Changed

Last night's Moose Lodge Hallowe'en Dance for young people was the first such the writer has witnessed... not that I'm so young... and the conclusion is that Hallowe'en ain't what it used to be. To people who have attained a certain number of birthdays this is a good thing.

As for the dance, in clipped British accents one might say "jolly good show." The most conservative estimates of the crowd ran to a shade over 300 guests. Some thought it to run as high as 400. Actually, the number varied through the night as youngsters came and went.

The floor wasn't really crowded until about 9:00 p.m. when I first noticed what has since been described as a phenomenon of teen-age dancing: while the floor was crowded, at least half of those on the floor were standing around just talking, while the other half danced.

Other Editors Saying... The Experts Puzzled

night shift reports a vastly greater degree of efficiency, loyalty and promptness than in the day shift.

Women, though occupying less dangerous jobs than men, account for a high percentage of on-the-job accidents.

Never before have so many unknown temperaments dominated so much of American industry. An evaluation by large employers of the requirements of female workers—many of them greatly different from those of the male—could result in benefits to all.

The average motorist receives one moving violation ticket every 3.7 years. He has an accident involving a non-fatal injury every 68 years.—He would have to drive 16,400,000 miles before having a fatal accident. (An average driver covers 90,000 miles in his lifetime.)

He gets a parking ticket every 2 1/2 years.—He gets a speeding ticket every 15 years.—He gets a ticket for being under the influence of alcohol while driving every 436 years.—Think you're an above-the-average driver?

Ready For Our Moves

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The Castro government apparently anticipated the American embargo because of its enormous purchases of supplies preceding the embargo. An example is that between eight and ten carloads of specialized chemicals used as catalysts in oil refining were purchased in this country and were shipped to Cuba prior to the embargo. I understand that without these particular chemicals, the seized American oil refineries could not function. It may be that Castro's government might have purchased these catalysts elsewhere, but I am informed that that would be difficult. The oil plants, I am told, will be operable for between nine months and a year now, despite the American embargo which was issued too late. Why did the State Department permit these heavy chemicals to be shipped to Cuba?

The State Department policy toward Cuba is not understandable except that its officers are so fearful of the prospect of a war with Soviet Russia that they are paralyzed. All that Khrushchev needs to do is bang his shoe on a table and the deskmen become petrified. While they were engaged in studying the situation, in making up their minds whether Fidel Castro is or is not a Communist, whether the United States should or should not protect American life and property in Cuba, that island, 90 miles off the coast of Florida, became a satellite of Soviet Russia, dispossessed not only Americans but Cubans from their businesses and homes and established a first-stage People's Republic.

While all this was happening, the United States looked on and said not a word and did not a thing. Characteristically, the Cubans did not seize Canadian banks and enterprises, just as Red China did not seize Hong-King. The reason: It is always necessary, in the first stages of a People's Republic, to have an outlet to the capitalist world. The Canadians are therefore reaping the benefits of our discomfiture and whereas we establish an embargo on goods shipped to Cuba, there is no reason why the Cuban cannot purchase these same American goods in Canada or in Mexico, thereby defeating our purposes.

In fact, Cuban deposits once held in the United States, have been removed to Canada and to some European countries. Canada is becoming a sort of Switzerland on the American continent in this respect.

Senator John F. Kennedy has been most criticized for his strong statements with regard to Cuba. In this respect, he has been on the right side throughout. He has been speaking in the voice of American history and is much closer to the spirit of Theodore Roosevelt than Franklin D. Roosevelt. He is closer to the nationalistic attitude of the Republican Party than to the internationalism of the Eisenhower Administration. Certainly, this country must carry a big stick or we shall become a laughing-stock of the Western world. We must possess the power but seems to be like an elephant that fears a mouse.

For some reason, the United States cannot move quickly. On October 26, 1960, it is officially announced that we shall defend Guantanamo. Why wait two years to do that? It should have been done at the instant that Guantanamo was threatened. When the Castro gang threatened to cut off the water of Guantanamo, the United States should have taken possession of that water supply and protected it. Instead, we shipped water to Guantanamo. This sort of attitude if self-defeating. The Administration was forced by the excitement over Cuba during a Presidential campaign to take a few forceful steps con-

Importance Of A Travel Dollar

(The following open letter addressed to Governor Hodges by Dr. Lewis C. Copeland of the University of Tennessee, gives a good illustration of how the travel dollar is distributed. It is used as a guest column today.)

Dear Sir: I am planning a trip to the Southern Pines Area of North Carolina this week-end. Since you have traveled and fished in so many parts of North Carolina, you can understand the pleasure which we look forward to such trips. In fact, a trip to the Mountains, Piedmont, or Coastal Regions of North Carolina is one of the things about which my two boys dream.

Since I am an economist and somewhat money-minded, some thought has been given to the cost of this trip. I represent the average tourist party and expect to stay two days in your State. On our trips to North Carolina we usually travel in parties of two persons. We expect to spend $22.00 a day. To some this figure may seem insignificant, but through the year it will be added to the spending of ten million other parties. Last year 23 million persons visited North Carolina, and their expenditures amounted to $234 million.

This money is paid to and circulates among a wide range of business firms. The amount I spend will be paid directly to some of the 18,000 North Carolina merchants at the service of travelers. But this is only the first stage in the circulation of the average tourist bill. These merchants will put the $22.00 back into circulation among a much wider group including trading firms, factories and farms which supply the goods and services required by the travel-serving business.

For example, the largest share of my expenses, $8.10, must be paid out for wages and salaries, employee benefits, dividends and personal income among some of the 72,000 people employed in the travel-serving business. In 1959 tourists contributed $63 million to the income of North Carolina.

About one-third, or $7.15, of the expenditures will be paid to wholesale firms, factories, and farms for the cost of the food and other goods consumed. This of course will set in motion industrial activities that will generate payrolls in other industries. Property owners, insurance companies, and banks will receive a share for rents and interest. Construction companies, building material dealers, and skilled tradesmen will be paid for maintaining the facilities, and some money will be set aside to cover depreciation. Advertising agencies, laundries, linen supply services, furniture and textile manufacturers will be paid for their goods and services. The power and telephone companies and other public utilities will also receive a share.

This list seems to be rather lengthy, but after all $22.00 does take one a long way in North Carolina, and tourist expenditures do circulate far and wide. Checks have already been made out to cover my expenses on this trip. The checks are made payable directly to the people to whom the money will eventually go.

You will note that one of these checks is for James S. Currie, Commissioner of Revenue of North Carolina. His Department collects $1.19 from the average tourist party visiting the State. This does not include Federal taxes nor the 70 cents that will eventually be paid out to the towns, cities, and counties for local business and property taxes. Last year tourist visitors paid taxes of $12,540,000 to the State of North Carolina. When one considers how many services the State of North Carolina renders the travelers, these taxes are paid without complaint.

I was particularly elated to receive the fascinating and beautiful booklet, "Let's go Fishing and Hunting in North Carolina." The picture of you and Hal Lyman in your fishing gear, taken by Hugh Morton was impressive. It symbolizes to me how, in your efforts to promote the travel trade and to make tourists welcome to the State, you are receiving the hearty cooperation of the North Carolina Travel Council, the dozens of trade and voluntary groups, and scores of citizens throughout the State who give willingly of their time and efforts for the benefit of state-wide interests. But, of course, this cooperation between business and industry, learned men and professional groups, and state and local organizations has been characteristic of society and government in North Carolina for more than 200 years. The historian is impressed with the contribution that such wholesome cooperation between citizens and government has made to the progress of North Carolina.

Yours very truly, Lewis C. Copeland

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS FOLLOW YOUR CALLING

Do what you really want to.

That sounds like strange advice to a clergyman to be giving to his readers. Yet most people have within them a genuine longing, often suppressed, for real accomplishment in some particular direction. And for all except the mentally ill or socially warped, their goal is usually a worthwhile one.

Many people waste their lives on activities which they neither enjoy nor do well. If you want real happiness and meaningful success, find out where your true ability lies, and pursue that ability with vigor.

George Borrow, the English novelist who tried various ways of life, including living with the gypsies, once wrote: "O ye gifted ones, follow your calling, for however various your talents may be, ye can have but one calling;... follow resolutely the one straight path before you; it is that of your good angel; let neither obstacles nor temptations induce you to leave it; sound along if you can; if not, on hands and knees follow

Winners Usually Are Ohio Choice

Editors Note: This story, second in a series, assays the presidential contest in Ohio, one of the Big Six states which swing enormous weight in the electoral college.

By ART PARKS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — History indicates the presidential candidate who sells himself to Ohio probably will be the next occupant of the White House.

Only once in this century — in 1944 — has Ohio missed the boat on the presidency.

With that one exception in the last 15 presidential elections, Ohio voters have cut through the welter of state and local candidates and issues and cast the Buckeye State's substantial electoral vote for the national winner.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican standard-bearer, and Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, have campaigned often and hard in Ohio.

Both have been received enthusiastically by record crowds. Both Republicans and Democratic leaders show calm confidence, at least on the surface, that Ohio's 25 electoral votes will wind up on their side. Those 25 votes represent nearly 10 per cent of the 289 total needed to win.

This year's presidential race in Ohio is different from any in the memory of anyone now living. It will provide a classic test of national candidates and issues alone because it is uncluttered by state contests.

Because of a recent constitutional change, there is only one statewide political contest this year. Other state officials are in the middle of four-year terms.

The crosscurrents of the 1960 national campaign in Ohio cut so wide and so deep that even old-time prognosticators admit they are baffled.

It does appear, however, one week before election, that Republicans will continue to dominate the Ohio delegation to the U.S. House of Representatives. The score now stands 14 Republicans, 8 Democrats and 1 vacancy caused by the death of a Democratic incumbent. Barring an unlikely landslide for either Kennedy or Nixon, it would appear neither party stands to gain or lose more than two seats.

Ohio Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman is claiming the state for Kennedy by about 250,000 votes "if the election were being held today, and barring a national emergency."

Coleman's victory forecast indicates a belief Ohio Democrats will be able to overcome two mountainous obstacles:

1. The fact that President Eisenhower carried Ohio for the Republican party by a record of 823-

Writes Reports On Afghanistan

NEW YORK — Dr. Louis B. Dupree, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Dupree of Greenville, recently completed a one-year stint in Afghanistan where he wrote a series of reports under the auspices of the American Universities Field Staff.

He had worked in Afghanistan twice before, in 1949 and in 1950-51 as an anthropologist for the American Museum of Natural History. He also had spent five months of 1951 in Iran on a project sponsored by the University Museum, University of Pennsylvania.

His wife, a Radcliffe graduate, accompanied him in 1950-51. From his base in Kabul, Dr. Dupree traveled extensively throughout Afghanistan and made trips to Soviet Central Asia and Pakistan.

He was graduated in 1950 from Harvard University which also awarded him the M. A. degree in 1953 and the Ph.D. in 1954. Dr. Dupree has served as associate professor of middle eastern studies at the Air University and, at the time of his appointment to the AUFSS in 1959, he was associate professor of anthropology at Pennsylvania State University. In the same year he was also elected a research associate of the American Museum of Natural History.

Among his published works are four monographs and over 50 articles and reviews.

Make It Harder To Escape Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government is making flight from Cuba difficult for the Cuban professional men and technicians needed to keep the economy running.

The list of those who must get special permits to go abroad has been lengthened. It reportedly now includes all government employees, executives of newly nationalized businesses, engineers, physicians, petroleum specialists and bank officers.

Trained men have been leaving Cuba in large numbers as the economy has been subjected to more and more government control.

Technicians from the seized Shell, Esso Standard and Texaco oil refineries, now operated by the government petroleum monopoly, are among those who got away.

"It's beginning to pinch," one Cuban professional man said. "That's why Castro is imposing new restrictions on travel for many classes of people."

Six persons, apparently all Cubans, were taken off a Cubana Airlines plane Monday before it was allowed to leave for Miami.

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Terry Sanford continued his stump tour of Eastern North Carolina today while Republican hopeful Robert Gavin invaded Fayetteville, Sanford's home town. Sanford was scheduled to stop at Kingston, Snow Hill, Greenville, LaGrange, Goldsboro and Smithfield. The Smithfield appearance was connected with the Fourth Congressional District rally.

Gavin, who spent the afternoon in Charlotte, was to be joined at Fayetteville by former California Sen. William Knowland, one-time Senate majority leader who came to North Carolina for two days of campaigning on behalf of the GOP ticket.

Two Hour-Long TV Shows Face Demise

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the season when people connected with the television industry are playing a game called "What's shakky?"

The game involves guessing which television programs are in peril of being yanked out of the network schedules around Jan. 1 and replaced with other efforts.

At this moment only two shows, both one hour long and both on NBC, are scheduled for the guillotine: "Riverboat," which for more than a year has had difficulty pulling along in "wagon train" reruns, and "Dan Raven," a police-action show which is now only five weeks old.

NBC expects to replace "Riverboat" with a Civil War series which has been around in blueprint stage for some time. Its working title is "The Blue and the Gray," and it revolves around conflict between two brothers, one a Confederate soldier, the other a Union warrior — thus eliminating the chance of getting into controversial areas.

"Dan Raven's" early-evening spot is expected to be filled by "Happy," a particularly undistinguished situation comedy seen this past summer as half of Percy Como's vacation-time replacement, and by another half-hour show called "The Happy Time."

Meanwhile there are lots of rumors floating about shows in "trouble" — and trouble means low ratings. There has been considerable talk about CBS' "The Witness" series, but the producers have been frantically making numerous changes in the show in an effort to get the obvious bugs out.

They got rid of three real lawyers who were over-acting as interrogators and they have attempted to give a reason for the simulated hearing. Last week's show, about Benjamin "Bugsy" Siegal, was the best of the series to date—but actually would have made a better episode for "The Untouchables" than for a hearing-room drama.

ABC has a nervous eye on a number of its new ventures, particularly "Hong Kong" and "The day of pollicking by both gubernatorial hopefuls Monday. Sanford whirled through southeastern counties and Gavin spoke at a Winston-Salem rally.

Both parties filed preliminary campaign finance reports Monday with Secretary of State Thad Eure.

Cheering crowds greeted Sanford's motorcade through Shalotte Burgaw, Kenansville, Warsaw, Rose Hill and Wallace Monday. By the time the tour ended, the motorcade had lengthened into a 2-mile-long parade.

Sanford told the crowds, "only through political action can we improve education. Only through political action can we make a better North Carolina. The Democratic party stands for that type of political action." He called strongly for the election of the national ticket of John Kennedy for president and Lyndon Johnson for vice president.

The answer to the issues of this campaign is bold, intelligent leadership," Sanford said. "The answer is courage and faith and confidence. The answer is Lyndon Johnson and Jack Kennedy."

Gavin told his Winston-Salem audience the Democrats have led North Carolina to last or nearly last in every significant statistic in the country except one—we are on top in major crimes."

He won a ringing endorsement

Lodge Calls For More U.S. Aid

SUFFERN, N. Y. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge said today the United States should immediately increase its financial aid to United Nations technical assistance programs as a means of "leading the nations of the world into a more effective partnership."

The Republican candidate for vice president said in a foreign policy statement that such "multilateral programs of assistance to underdeveloped nations were a means of getting greater value from our mutual security dollars."

Lodge, a former ambassador to the United Nations, said that every two dollars contributed by the United States to multilateral funds induced other donor nations to contribute three dollars for use in underdeveloped lands.

"Two-thirds of the world has an inadequate standard of life," Lodge said. "The needs of education for medical progress and for capital development are enormous."

Lodge advocated that the United States contribute $25 million in addition to the $30 million already contributed in 1960.

The Republican vice-presidential nominee plans to spend the day touring Rockland and Westchester counties in pivotal New York State.

Queen's Cousin Asks Mercy For Doomed Youth

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's cousin, the Earl of Harewood, appealed today for clemency for an 18-year-old boy sentenced to the gallows.

It was the first time a member of the royal family had publicly expressed an opinion on the controversial subject of capital punishment. The Earl is the son of the sister of King George VI and is 12th in line of succession to the throne.

He joined 29 other prominent persons in a plea, published in the Times of London, for a reprieve for Francis Forsyth. The youth, and Norman Harris, 23, are scheduled to hang Nov. 10 for kicking a man to death after robbing him of a few shillings.

Other signers included novelist Kingsley Amis, Canon John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral, Baron Harmsworth, the bishop of Birmingham, philosopher Bertrand Russell, actor Michael Redgrave, Baroness Ravensdale, artist Augustus John, and author J. B. Priestly.

In Raleigh Tar Heel Democrats reported they have spent more than $97,700 so far in the campaign and have $1,362 left for use during the final week.

The preliminary report listed contributions totaling more than $119,000.

The State Republican executive committee reported its receipts have totaled $35,670 and its expenditures $35,124. Republican spending was bolstered by several other organizations including the North Carolina Volunteer Democrats for Nixon-Lodge and the Citizens for Gavin for Governor Committee.

Science At Work

By THE ASSOCIATES PRESS

Tobacco and seals, tanks and TV, these are topics this week from science at work:

Have a Chew
A scientist of the San Diego Calif., Natural History museum swears he saw two elephant seals chewing leaves of the "Indian tobacco" plant on the shores of Guadalupe Island.

The plant, which contains nicotine, is a common West Coast weed. The Office of Naval Research says: "This is probably the first recorded instance of an elephant seal chewing tobacco."

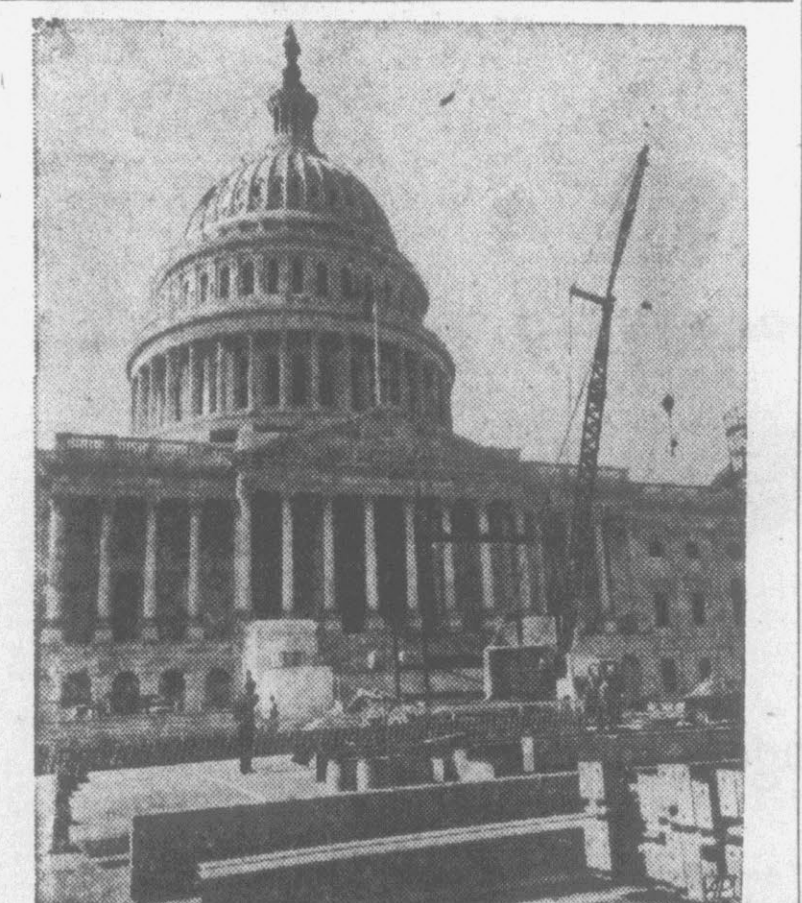

Within three years the United States plans to have an unmanned 3,200-pound telescope satellite so accurate it will be able to pin its glance on individual stars. That's roughly like sighting and watching a basketball 500 miles away.

The satellite will report back to earth by television and radio. Its telescopes, using 36-inch reflecting mirrors, will give man a clear picture of the universe from above the earth's distorting haze.

World of Tanks
An Army engineer says possibilities look good for using television to enable drivers of tanks and other tracked vehicles to drive in safety across battlefields too, with radiation from exploded nuclear weapons.

Population explosion—a world of 200 billion people in some 200 years would live in an endless world slum-city on a diet of yeast and algae, decimated by famine.

Nuclear annihilation—no nation, no matter how large can defend its heartland from destruction.

The one '61 car built to back up a long-term warranty

Ford led the way with the one car beautifully built to take care of itself . . . and you

On September 29, Ford Dealers set an industry trend—were first to extend their 1961 car warranty from the conventional 4,000 miles or 3 months to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first.

Why? Because Ford built the one car to support such confidence. Ford for 1961 is the one car beautifully built to take care of itself!

The '61 Ford was designed and built to the more exacting standards necessary to offer an extended warranty. Ask to see this warranty at your dealer's.

It is significant that Ford has so many take-care-of-itself features not found in other cars, regardless of price. These new Ford features are a triumph of exhaustive research, fine engineering, and quality construction that give you the most reliable Ford ever built. Drive a '61 Ford soon.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications. Then a quick, inexpensive Ford Dealer lube job (which costs about $4.00*) will get you set for another 30,000 miles.

Cleans its own oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically for the life of the lining.

Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminumized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes care of its own finish—New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

N. C. Republicans Unable Deliver A Complete Slate

By NOEL YANCEY

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Republicans and their candidate for governor, Robert L. Gavin, have made the call for a two-party system one of the major talking points for the Nov. 8 general election.

But, despite the appeal to a two-party system, North Carolina voters cannot put the Republican Party into full command of the state government this year—even if a majority of voters would like to sometime in the future, perhaps, but not this November.

The reasons are two: A governor's office deliberately weakened by the state's constitutional founders, and a lack of sufficient Republican candidates for office.

No matter how the voters feel about the issues the candidates have hammered on in the campaign, the 1961 General Assembly will have Democratic majorities in both houses. The Republicans did not offer enough legislative candidates to gain a majority in either house—even if all GOP candidates should be elected.

And, under North Carolina's constitution, the legislature—not the governor—holds the balance of power.

The ideal two-party system offers voters a clear-cut choice between two parties, each with a full slate of candidates and a platform outlining party beliefs, philosophy and pledges different from its opponents'. This is rare anywhere, but it does not now exist in North Carolina.

The Republicans have offered candidates for all the state executive offices, but they have only 22 candidates for 50 seats in the state Senate, and 57 candidates for 120 seats in the House of Representatives.

Lack of a full slate of candidates is a problem that has beset the Republican Party in North Carolina in election after election. It's one that Republican State Chairman William E. Cobb recognized easily when he took over the party reins in North Carolina. By constant prodding, Cobb has tried to do something about it—and with considerable success.

This year, for the first time in many elections, the Republicans have fielded a full slate of candidates for state executive offices. They have offered candidates for all congressional seats and for the one U.S. Senate seat that's up for election. They are allowing one seat on the State Supreme Court and two Superior Court judgeships to go to Democrats without opposition.

Regardless of how the vote for other offices turns out on Nov. 8, the next governor of North Carolina will be confronted with a Democratic majority in both houses of the General Assembly.

And if that governor turns out to be Republican Gavin, he is liable to find himself haunted with the ghosts of long-dead British kings. He will find that the Revolutionaries who drafted the first state constitution after throwing off the British yoke were so fearful of a strong executive that they provided him with few powers to deal with an unwilling Legislature.

President Eisenhower has found the veto power a mighty handy weapon in dealing with Democratic majorities in both houses of Congress. But the governor of North Carolina has no veto power to block the passage of legislation he doesn't like.

Gavin himself has recognized that if elected he will have to contend with a Democratic Legislature. He has expressed the belief the Democrats would cooperate with him. Perhaps they would.

Transcribed Talk For Bethel Club

BETHEL — Russell Hunnicutt presented the Bethel Rotary Club program last week with a recording by Paul Harvey of "The Testing Time."

Harvey, on the record, pointed out that storms are a part of the normal climate of life and that there have always been storms to test men. The speaker said that history promises us that we will get what we deserve, and that even a problem-free future world would not be desirable.

Hunnicutt gave the program for Edward Earl Dennis.

Prior to the talk, Dr. Connell Garrenton gave a brief message on Rotary Foundation pointing out that as the result of a visit by Rotarian Corey Stokes of the Ayclen Club the past week, the Bethel Club was making an effort to go one hundred percent for Rotary Foundation, a play whereby exchange students are now playing a part as ambassadors of goodwill in different nations.

Members were urged to attend Recognition Night at South Dining Hall of East Carolina College on Nov. 10, which is to be a dinner meeting.

President Xury E. Manning presided. F. L. Andrews Jr. gave the invocation. Visitors included Paul Warner of Henderson and Henry Oglesby.

New Chairman Of Duke Foundation

NEW YORK (AP) — The new head of the Duke Endowment, the nation's third largest private philanthropic foundation, is Thomas L. Perkins, board chairman of the American Cyanamid Co.

Perkins, 55, elected chairman of the trustees Monday, will be the endowment's third head since it was established in 1924 by the late James B. Duke, tobacco and power magnate. The endowment has investments of more than $430 million.

CLEMONS: Mrs. Molly Worsley

CLARKS NECK: Mrs. Rosa Tetterton and Mrs. Rosa Howard;

SHILOH: Mrs. Emelia Gardner and Mrs. Nancy Chapman. FADDOCK: Miss Lillie Robins and Mrs. Ella Mae Grimes.

Mrs. Caphart and Miss Grace M. Check will accompany the delegation.

Avert Strike Of N. Y. Papers

NEW YORK (AP) — A city newspaper blackout was averted today when negotiators worked past a midnight strike deadline and pounded out a tentative agreement on a new two-year $7 package increase.

The proposed contract still needs approval by the memberships of New York Newspaper Guild units.

Involved are 6,000 Guild editorial, business and maintenance department employees.

The picture was far from clear at two of the city's seven major dailies.

No agreement has been reached at the Post. The Guild's unit council at the Times says it will present the proposal to its membership "without recommendation."

Guild unit councils at the Journal-American, the Daily News, the Mirror, the World-Telegram & Sun and the Herald Tribune said they would recommend acceptance.

The contract calls for a $4 average package increase the first year, with $3.50 in wage hikes and 50 cents for pension or welfare purposes. In the second year, there would be a $2.50 pay increase and 50 cents for pension or welfare.

The proposed agreement also provides for a fourth week of vacation after 10 years' service, instead of 12 under the old two-year pact which expired last midnight. The Guild also received a $7 package raise in the old contract.

Other provisions were not immediately announced.

Guild top minimums under the old contract ranged from $58 a week for office boys to $109.50 for reporters and photographers.

Gay Hallowe'en Ended In Tragedy

CABOT, Ark. (AP) — A gay Hallowe'en evening ended in tragedy when a teen-ager tumbled from a truck bed into the path of a train.

Night City Marshal V. J. Field said Dale Griffin, 17, jumped or fell from the truck Monday night as it raced across an unguarded crossing ahead of the approaching train.

Don Wittenberg, 18, also fell from the truck, but apparently escaped injury. The truck was driven by Bill Russell, 17.

Police said the vehicle narrowly missed being hit.

Missouri Pacific officials said the passenger train, bound from St. Louis to Little Rock, had narrowly escaped being wrecked an hour earlier when it struck a crate placed on the track at Walnut Ridge by Hallowe'en pranksters.

Algerian Rebellion Began 6 Years Ago Today, No Battle Lines In War

ALGIERS (AP) — It was a calm, sunny All Saints' Day six years ago today, and a young French teacher in the east Algerian village of Tefeliefel decided to take his pretty wife on a holiday trip to the neighboring town of Arris.

Guy Monnerot, 26, and his wife, 21, had been in Algeria only a few weeks. Shortly after 9 a.m., he boarded a wheezing bus crowded with Moslems for the bump ride.

As the bus topped a rise, an armed band of 15 Moslems stopped it and made Monnerot and his wife get out.

A Moslem jumped from the bus and shouted, "I am an officer in the French Army." A burst of submachinegun fire cut him down. The band then swung its guns toward the French couple.

Mrs. Monnerot, though wounded, lived. But her husband and Ben Hadj Sadok, the Moslem officer in the French army, were the first victims of the Algerian rebellion.

Others died that day in raids on isolated farms and ambushes on lonely roads. Such hit-and-run attacks became a part of the pattern of life in Algeria.

This rebellion is not a war where territories can be neatly outlined on a map. It swirls in secret eddies across the sun-scorched land, a grenade thrown into a packed cafe, a French patrol's attack against a nationalist hideout in the mountains.

In a land of nine million Moslems dominated by one million European settlers, it is a slow struggle, hardened by naked hatred, marked by brief, fierce combat.

The French maintain an army of 500,000 men in Algeria but seldom does it enter battle at greater than company strength.

The army of nationalist rebels, is estimated by the French at 35,000. Supplied and trained at bases in Tunisia, just across the border, small bands harass the French over a territory as large as Texas and Alaska combined.

More than 150,000 persons have lost their lives. Neither side seems able to win a permanent victory. The French hold the cities and most of the countryside in daytime. But despite a vast military operation that costs the French $2 million a day, it is not safe to wander in the countryside after dusk.

The echoes go far beyond Africa. In May 1958, the army and French settlers, fed up with a government that could not crush the rebellion, revolted in Algiers and toppled the Fourth French Republic.

Now, because he has not been able to halt the bloodletting, opposition is growing against the man that upheaval brought to power, Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle has promised to allow the Algerians to choose their own future once peace is restored. But he has been unable to negotiate a cease-fire with the suspicious rebel leadership.

On the other hand he is beset by frustrated countrymen—ranging from rightwingers determined to keep Algeria French at all cost, to moderates and leftwingers anxious to see an end to the war even if the Algerians choose freedom.

Resistance is growing in Africa, in Asia and in the Communist bloc to continued French control of the territory. Pressure is growing for a U.N. plebiscite in Algeria, but France so far is adamantly opposed to U.N. intervention.

France's allies, particularly the United States, also are under fire.

The growing foreign backing for the rebels was underlined by a series of statements on the war anniversary.

Ferhat Abbas, premier of the rebel exile government in Tunis, declared his movement is assured of Communist-blue support as a result of his recent trip to the Soviet Union and Red China.

King Mohammed of neighboring Morocco said those who help France are contributing "to the opening of a new front in the cold war in this part of the world" and "deal a fatal blow to the freedom of peoples."

Red China declared "U.S. imperialism is the principal accomplice of the French colonialists in massacring the Algerian people."

East German Premier Otto Grotewohl promised material aid to the rebels. So far this has amounted to $1,360,000. Some wounded Algerians have been treated in East German hospitals. Soviet labor unions recently sent a shipment of tractors and other goods for the use of Algerian refugees in Tunisia.

Other provisions were not immediately announced.

Guild top minimums under the old contract ranged from $58 a week for office boys to $109.50 for reporters and photographers.

Members were urged to attend Recognition Night at South Dining Hall of East Carolina College on Nov. 10, which is to be a dinner meeting.

Ferhat Abbas, premier of the rebel exile government in Tunis, declared his movement is assured of Communist-blue support as a result of his recent trip to the Soviet Union and Red China.

King Mohammed of neighboring Morocco said those who help France are contributing "to the opening of a new front in the cold war in this part of the world" and "deal a fatal blow to the freedom of peoples."

Red China declared "U.S. imperialism is the principal accomplice of the French colonialists in massacring the Algerian people."

East German Premier Otto Grotewohl promised material aid to the rebels. So far this has amounted to $1,360,000. Some wounded Algerians have been treated in East German hospitals. Soviet labor unions recently sent a shipment of tractors and other goods for the use of Algerian refugees in Tunisia.

Other provisions were not immediately announced.

Guild top minimums under the old contract ranged from $58 a week for office boys to $109.50 for reporters and photographers.

Members were urged to attend Recognition Night at South Dining Hall of East Carolina College on Nov. 10, which is to be a dinner meeting.

President Xury E. Manning presided. F. L. Andrews Jr. gave the invocation. Visitors included Paul Warner of Henderson and Henry Oglesby.

The first night in a new home is a lonely one

How long will they be "strangers" in town?

It's a lonely feeling for everybody, that first night in a strange new town. Right now the few familiar things seem especially dear. Tomorrow, of course, the family will start making new friends around the neighborhood.

For you, the man of the house, there's a way to hasten the "getting acquainted" process—to quickly re-establish your reputation for dependability and character. You do it through your full-service commercial bank.

All during the time you live in a community and deal with your full-service bank, you build a name—you build a "standing." And this character, this good reputation you've made goes right along with you to your new home. Just drop into your new neighborhood bank, introduce yourself and ask them to refer back to where you used to do your banking. Suddenly you're no longer a stranger.

The name you build at a local full-service bank says who you are... says it well. It says right away that you have integrity, responsibility. It's undeniable proof of your good standing in your community. As such, it's a pretty wonderful thing to have.

WHAT IS A FULL-SERVICE BANK? It's simply a complete bank, a commercial bank. For unlike many financial institutions that offer only one or two services, a full-service commercial bank handles all your money needs. These services include: Savings Accounts • Checking Accounts • Personal Loans • Car Loans • Home Loans • Business and Farm Loans. By using these services you build your Personal Standing in your community.

Our neighborhood full-service commercial bank stands ready to help you with all your financial needs.

Defeat Is Hard To Swallow

A big dose of quinine for the indisposed child was never as hard to swallow as East Carolina College's bitter football defeat at the hands of Appalachian Saturday.

Playing the script of the cinderella North State Conference team and enroute to writing the comeback story of the year, ECC was knocked off track Saturday in one of the hardest played football games this word-monger has ever witnessed.

Many East Carolina fans sensed a letdown was due or felt the local men in pads would be thinking ahead to Lenoir Rhyne. But they could never have been so mistaken for it was a team that never gave up and wilted Appalachian's first two teams only to see time and a pass interception with ten seconds left destroy chances of a seventh straight victory.

Mistakes Spell Pirate Defeat

Mistakes, labeled on inexperience, told the story in a nutshell. Big and tough, the Apps took advantage of every opportunity shoved their way. It was a contest in which East Carolina received very few breaks.

A well deserved rest was in store yesterday afternoon but today East Carolina resumes practice, setting its guns for the biggest stakes yet—a win over top ranked and bowl-bound Lenoir Rhyne.

This is the one the Bucs and fans have been waiting for. There is still a sour taste over the 1959 outcome when East Carolina was denied an upset win on a disputed decision in the final minute of the game, giving the Bruins a 22-21 victory.

The 1960 rendition of Pirates has already reached unexpected heights and a victory Saturday would capture the heart of every football fan in Eastern North Carolina.

Victory Would Assure EC tie

It would also assure EC of at least a tie for first place in the conference—a spot it has yearned for since its brief glory of 1953.

The victory won't be easy for the injury-riddled club but it has been a season packed with surprises for the Pirates. Coach Jack Boone has his toughest defensive team in years and East Carolina has always been able to move the ball against the Bruins.

A large following, including a couple of chartered buses, will trail the Bucs into Hickory this weekend. All local support possible should be given. It is a game that could weigh heavy in future relations with the Southern Conference.

Stas Predicted Defeat For EC

From the sidelines . . .

Bucky Reep, former East Carolina College baseball star, saw both the ECC-Appalachian and Appalachian-Lenoir Rhyne game. Now coaching at Marion High School, Reep claimed, "East Carolina moved the ball much better on the ground against Appalachian than Lenoir Rhyne was able to do." . . . Jimmy Ellis, former Reflector staffer, made the jaunt from Charlotte to see the game . . . Jim Jones, sports publicist of Appalachian, noted that the Apps were not at full strength against Lenoir Rhyne but were for ECC. "It was our best game of the year—we always play a good game against East," quipped Jones . . . "The difference? . . . it was four points," stated Jim Duncan, App head coach. East Carolina's linemen were "much quicker" than the Apps had expected, according to Duncan . . . Coach Clarence Stasovich of Lenoir Rhyne, in a Friday night TV show, "East Carolina . . . we're not too worried . . . they will never get out of the mountains undefeated . . ."

'Wild Card' Credited With Princeton's Rise

By JACK CLARY Associated Press Sports Writer

Here's an affirmative vote for the much-discussed, but off-magnified wild card substitution rule. It's from Princeton's Dick Colman, who credits it for a big part of the Tigers' success, a 5-1 record and a 4-0 Ivy League mark that ties them with unbeaten Yale for the league lead.

How come? "The wild card rule has helped my tailbacks, Hugh Scott and John (Silky) Sullivan," Colman said today. "We can get them out of the game and rest them, not have them exposed on defense to any of those bruising 200-pound fullbacks fumbling through the line and let them see the game from a different aspect for a while. All in all, it has helped both."

Scott is running better than ever before," Colman continued. "He's learned to run with power. And he likes it." Scott, injury prone in the past, has scored four touchdowns and passed for four, in addition to helping set up other Princeton scores. He had his best day of the year last Saturday against Brown when he scored twice, passed for two other touchdowns and set up a fifth. Colman, who alternates Scott and Sullivan at the tailback post in his single wing formation, is equally high on the latter. "He's not a power runner like Scott, but he's cute, he's elusive and just as hard to stop," the Princeton coach said. Sullivan, who missed most of last season with injuries, has scored six touchdowns for the Tigers and, like Scott, has been the bread-and-butter man in their offense when he is playing.

Two of his TDs have come over long distances, a 60-yard punt return against Columbia, when he also gained 123 yards from scrimmage. With these kind of performances Colman is inclined to be tolerant with the new rule—at least until he runs out of tailbacks like Scott and Sullivan.

Iowa Holds Top Spot; Shift Is Made Elsewhere

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

The unbeaten Iowa Hawkeyes remain the No. 1 college football team of the nation for the third straight week of The Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

With Syracuse and Baylor dropping from the ranks of the unbeaten and Mississippi being held to a 6-6 tie by Louisiana State, there was a shakeup in other top 10 rankings.

Iowa won by a landslide with 46 first-place votes from the 48-man panel which votes weekly. The only other teams to get first-place ballots were Minnesota and Washington. Each got one.

Mississippi dropped from second to sixth as the result of the tie with LSU. Missouri, a 28-0 winner over Nebraska, shouldered into second place and Minnesota, which meets Iowa in a Big Ten showdown battle Saturday in Minneapolis took over third place.

Navy, a 14-7 winner after a rugged scramble with Notre Dame, held the No. 4 spot for another week. Ohio State's 21-10 victory over Michigan State moved the winners into fifth place and dumped the losers out of the top ten listing.

Washington took over seventh after losing to Oregon 7-6 and Tennessee, a newcomer in the top ten, advanced to eighth after whipping North Carolina 27-14. Syracuse, beaten by Pitt 10-0, slipped from third to ninth on the defeat.

Rice moved into the No. 10 spot by thumping Texas Tech 30-6 and Baylor, beaten for the first time by Texas Christian 14-6, dropped out.

The leaders with first-place votes, points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

Table with 2 columns: Rank, Team. 1. Iowa (46) 476, 2. Missouri 359, 3. Minnesota (1) 350, 4. Navy 324, 5. Ohio State 279, 6. Mississippi 265, 7. Washington (1) 242, 8. Tennessee 198, 9. Syracuse 91, 10. Rice 73

Others receiving votes included: Baylor 33, Auburn 31, Duke 29, Pittsburgh 19, UCLA 18, Arkansas 16, Michigan State 9, Colorado 6, Utah State 6, New Mexico State 5, Yale 4, Alabama 2, Texas Christian 1.

Brown Spark In Gophers March

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—It's not true, as some of football's more impressionable scouts have reported, that Minnesota's Tom Brown munches enemy halfbacks for breakfast.

"I have a very stable diet," said the amiable giant. "It does not include halfbacks."

It might only happen at Minnesota where big-shouldered linemen are the toast of the state and dashing halfbacks merely tolerated, but this 235-pound wrecker is the Gopher with the highest popularity and the biggest reputation.

Big Ten scouts, and those from the pro leagues, say he deserves all of it.

Brown and his massive playmate collide with top-ranked Iowa Saturday in one of college football's climax games of the season, a struggle of unbeaten Big Ten powers.

Brown is a fearsome sight when he charges from his middle guard position to pursue a passer. With similarly disposed linemen he has made Minnesota's defense the best offensive weapon the team has.

Brown already is under draft by the Baltimore Colts.

HIGH SCORING NURSE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—For a student nurse, 20-year-old Pauline McKittrick of Grant Hospital is quite deadly. In three years, she has scored 1,150 points as a forward for the Grant basketball team. She dropped in 61 points in a one game last season against the Mt. Carmel Hospital team of Columbus.

New Bern-Tarboro Game Will Decide NE Champion

By JOHNNY HUDSON Reflector Sports Editor

Northeastern Conference roundup . . . The folks of Tarboro are celebrating their bicentennial this week and at the same time hope to rejoice with their first Northeastern Conference football title.

Whether they celebrate the latter occasion will depend solely on the outcome of the New Bern-Tarboro collision which takes place Friday night.

The Tigers stalked to their eighth victory of the season Friday and at the same time turned in their top offensive production, tipping a favored Rocky Mount, 32-13.

Coach Doug Alexander's charges, winning their first contest in history over Rocky Mount, got outstanding performances from quarterback Billy Bailey and tackle Glenn Sasser.

Only New Bern stands in the path of a conference title and a possible undefeated season. The Tigers close out the season the following week against Scotland Neck.

New Bern, licking wounds from its Greenville setback, handed a touchdown to Elizabeth City in the first quarter but battled back with a score in the first period and the game-winning six-pointer in the final minutes of the game.

Ronald Wallace, the Bruins fullback, and tailback Cliff Rowe featured the New Bern victory.

Ayden Club Gains Conference Title

By LEONARD LAO Reflector Sports Writer

Coastal Conference action last Friday saw top ranked Ayden play the number two team, Beaufort, to a scoreless 0-0 tie, giving the Tornados the Coastal Conference crown as they closed out their season with an 8-0-1 record.

For Beaufort it was the third tie, and the second scoreless tie. The Sea Dogs finished their conference schedule with an uncrossed goal line, only to take a back seat to Ayden.

Beaufort ruled the roost as far as statistics went, outgaining the conference champions in every offensive department. The Sea Dogs had 9 first downs to Ayden's 18, and 42 yards passing to Ayden's 0.

The Tornados were the only ones to seriously threaten in the rugged contest, moving to the Sea Dog 1 foot line. But the strong Beaufort defense threw the Ayden backs for two consecutive losses to halt the scoring drive.

Havelock Scores In other conference action, Havelock dropped Robersonville 32-20 to finish behind Beaufort in the Coastal Conference standings with a 4-1-1 record. It was the fourth loop setback against 2 wins for the losing Rams.

The Rams were able to keep up with Havelock in the first half, leaving the field with a 13-13 tie. But the Havelock offense opened up in the last half of the contest for three straight touchdowns and a 32-13 lead. The 19 point lead served as sufficient padding for Havelock, as the Rams of Robersonville were only able to push across one more score. Tailback Tommy Ward passed to wingback Jim Brown for the final score of the evening.

Marshall Dies EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—William E. Marshall, 18, of Monroe, Mich., died Monday after suffering a brain injury in a touch football game Oct. 20. Marshall, a freshman at Michigan State University, complained of shoulder pains after the game and collapsed in class next day.

Greenville took a rest from conference fussing and broke a 7-7 halftime tie with a second half offensive explosion that dumped Hertford 26-7.

It was the sensational play of halfback Alan McArthur, a sure-bet in All-Conference balloting, that brought the Phantoms their seventh victory of the season. The junior halfback scored once and passed for another touchdown.

The Phantoms fall in the role of underdogs for the first time this season Friday when they meet class 4-A Wilson in a head-on-head battle.

In other games this past week, Kinston cracked the win column for the first time with a 21-18 victory over winless Goldsboro. Williamson slapped Washington's pride with a 7-0 victory, and Jacksonville nosed past Roanoke Rapids 13-6.

Other than the New Bern-Tarboro headliner, Kinston and Washington renew a bitter rivalry with both teams enduring their worse season in some time. Jacksonville closes out its conference campaign at Elizabeth City and Roanoke Rapids entertains non-conference Weldon.

A New Bern victory over Tarboro Friday could throw the 1960 chase into a possible three-way tie and bring on a play-off.

TD Club Holds Meeting Tonight

The East Carolina College Touchdown Club will hold its weekly meeting tonight in the college cafeteria. Supper will be served at 6:30.

Films of the East Carolina-Appalachian game, won by the Apps 21-17, will be shown and winners of the "Pick-the-Winner" football contest will be announced.

Two Strong Lines And Backfield Make Good Team

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Two good lines plus two good backfields equal two good football teams.

That's the formula used by Coach Cecil Coleman at Fresno State. His Bulldogs are undefeated and untied in six games this year and nine games over a two-year span.

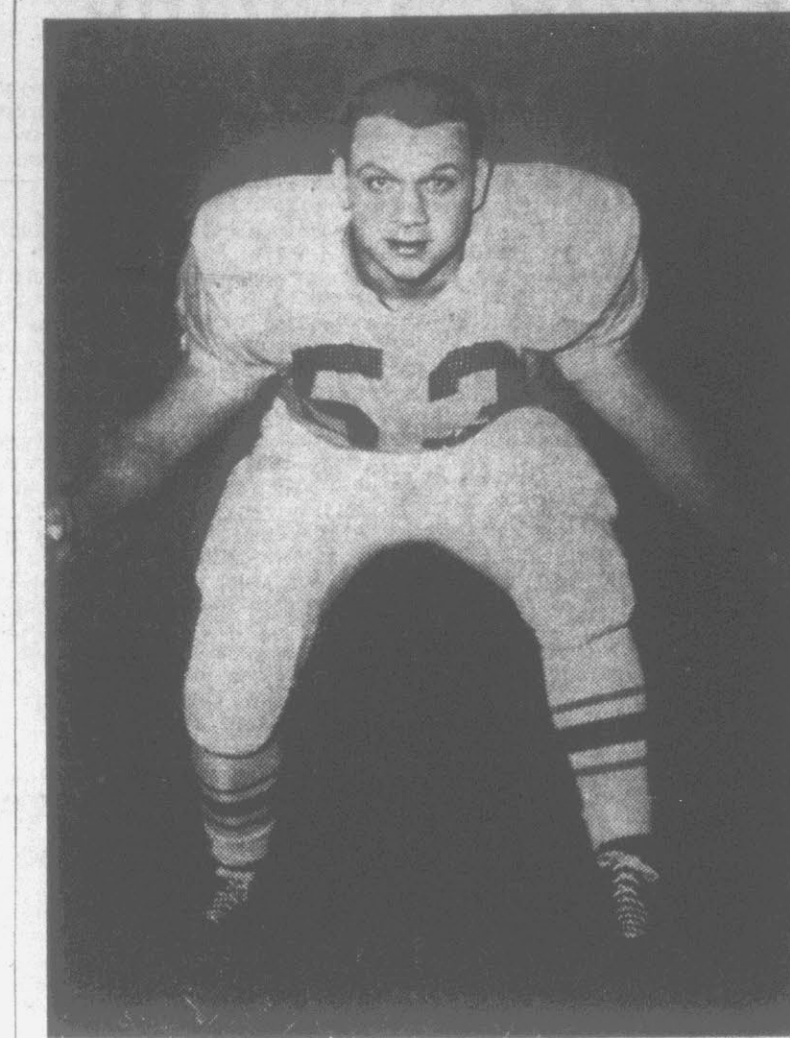

Coleman has formed two good forward walls, each averaging about 215 pounds and plenty fast. His two backfields are fast, powerful and tricky.

Coleman alternates the two teams through each quarter giving the opposition a chance to let up.

This alternate unit system makes a closer knit team. The 36-year-old Coleman says. There is a lot of pride and competition among the outfits.

The offensive power of the system speaks from statistics. Rushing, Fresno State has 1,339 yards and has 1,219 yards by passing. The Bulldogs have scored 198 points while holding their opponents to 54.

POINTING FOR BEARS—Cary Cannady, a tackle, has been one of the developing stars for East Carolina this fall. A senior, Cannady was one of the standouts Saturday when the Bucs lost to Appalachian. He will be helping them attempt to get back on the winning track Saturday.

Greenberg Confirms Franchise Reports

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Hank Greenberg today confirmed reports that he will acquire the new Los Angeles franchise of the American League and indicated he'd like to have Casey Stengel manage the club.

The 70-year-old Casey, let out two weeks ago after 12 years with the New York Yankees, told reporters he has talked to four major league clubs but "I haven't had a definite offer from any of them."

"Why, I just had a call from Detroit advising me I was gonna manage the Tigers," confided Stengel, "but it wasn't official. I'm gonna take a few weeks to make up my mind on what I want to do."

The Associated Press learned Monday that Stengel might become both field manager and general manager of the new Los Angeles club if Greenberg acquired the franchise.

Greenberg promptly acknowledged his intent regarding the franchise when he arrived here for meetings with officials and presumably other members of his syndicate, but he refrained from a definite statement on Stengel.

Said Greenberg: "I'm a great admirer of Casey, but I honestly don't know if he's available." Greenberg heads a syndicate that is acquiring the Los Angeles franchise. As a vice president of the Chicago White Sox, he owns approximately 20 per cent of that club's stock, which he will dispose of shortly after the American League's next meeting Nov. 17.

Greenberg said that his associate in the White Sox operation, Bill Vecek, "isn't involved in the acquisition of the Los Angeles franchise, and I doubt if Bill will leave Chicago." Vecek also denied, in Chicago, any plan to come here.

McCormick Posts Lowest Average NEW YORK (AP)—Lefty Mike McCormick posted the lowest earned run average in the National League in 1960, giving the San Francisco Giants their third consecutive ERA winner.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press disclosed today that McCormick wound up with a 2.70 earned run mark. Frank Baumann of the Chicago White Sox, another southpaw pitcher, won the ERA crown in the American League with a 2.68.

The Giants' Sam Jones was the National League ERA leader in 1955, and Stu Miller in 1958. Giants' pitchers have won the title seven times in the past 12 seasons.

McCormick yielded 76 earned runs in 253 innings. He had a 13-12 won-lost record and hurled four shutouts. Baumann, whose 13-6 record included a pair of shutouts, allowed 55 earned runs in 185 innings.

Ernie Broglio of St. Louis was runnerup in the National League with a 2.75 ERA. Jim Bunning of Detroit was second to Baumann with 2.79.

Gabriel - Snead Cattle Brewing

By KEN ALYTA
 Associate Sports Writer
 WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—
 Low-flying planes in the vicinity of Bowman Gray Stadium Saturday afternoon are hereby warned to beware of footballs. The air should be full of them as the two top passers of the Atlantic Coast Conference, Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State and Norman
 Snead of Wake Forest, go at it.
 Between them, the two quarterbacks own most of the passing records of the ACC. They also have scouts for various pro teams drooling.

Billy Hildebrand, Wake Forest coach, calls them the two best passers in college football. Earle Edwards, N.C. State coach, won't argue the point, but there is an understandable difference of opinion between the two as to which of the pair is No. 1.

Physically and statistically it's a virtual tossup.

Gabriel, a Wilmington, N.C., junior, is 6-4, and weighs 215.
 Snead, senior from Warwick, Va., stands 6-4 and weighs 205. Each is married. Gabriel's first child, a son, arrived this week.

In leading N. C. State to a 5-2 record, Gabriel has amassed 959 yards, tops in the conference.
 Snead, in a 2-4 season, has piled up 773 yards, the second best total offense performance. Gabriel's 137-yard average gain is only 8.2 yards better than Snead's.

Gabriel has thrown 128 times for 72 completions, 834 yards, six touchdowns and only five interceptions. Snead has fired 138 times for 86 completions, 746 yards, five touchdowns and seven interceptions.

One of Gabriel's interceptions came against Duke when he threw the ball 75 yards in the air. He's run for 105 yards against Snead's modest net of 9.

Gabriel is a solemn-faced, serious operator who is too busy doing his job for horseplay. Hildebrand, noting that the two even look somewhat alike, says Snead is all business, too.

"I call him 'Sleepy'—not because he's asleep out there," said the Wake Forest coach. "But he looks so loose and relaxed. Once things start happening, however,
 he's ready."

Hildebrand said that because of the pass patterns Wake Forest employs, Snead gives the impression of throwing the harder pass, but he conceded that both throw with authority.

Each has been a great leader of his team. State, with much of the personnel that suffered through a 1-9 record last year, has beaten three of the teams it lost to a year ago and hopes to avenge a 17-14 loss to Wake Forest. Gabriel was hurt in that game and missed the next two.

Hildebrand observed that pass-defense would be a major part of the Wake Forest preparation this week, but took some comfort from the fact that N.C. State was in the same position.

To this point in the season that has been a strong part of each team's play, State has yielded only 62.9 yards a game throughout the air, second lowest in the ACC. Wake Forest ranks third with a 79-yard average.

Wife Enters Cage Officiating Game

LYNCH, Ky. (AP)—Joe Golden ranks among the top high school basketball officials in southeastern Kentucky. But it seems certain the first boo-boo he pulls he's going to hear about it at home.

The Golden household is Joe's pretty brunette wife, Lou—the first woman ever to get an official's license from the Kentucky
 High School Athletic Association.

Lou and Joe will work as a team.

In the past month she has had a cook book in one hand and a rule book in the other," said Joe.
 It was Joe who first suggested his wife try her hand at officiating.

Lou, 28 and the mother of a 10-year-old boy, works her first game Dec. 1.

The idea of it all is very fascinating and I know that I have two strikes against me when I go out on the floor but I'll give it a try," she explained.

Virginia Can't Lose; Devils Prep For Navy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Devoted followers of Virginia's football team, who haven't been able to cheer a winner in 24 games, get some consolation this weekend—the Cavaliers can't lose because of an open date.

But next week the plucky Virginians jump right into the fire again, facing now undefeated Navy (7-0). Then Coach Dick Vogels' crew takes on Maryland,
 North Carolina and South Carolina in Atlantic Coast Conference action. Voris would like to pull out of the tailspin in one of those four games.

Virginia dropped a 28-20 verdict to Wake Forest last Saturday. It marked the second time this fall the Cavaliers have scored more than 20 points and lost. They also ran up 16 in one game, but failed to win.

The unbeaten Navy team looms on the immediate horizon for another ACC team, conference leader Duke. The Blue Devils (5-1 overall) take on the Middies in Durham, N.C., this Saturday.
 Coach Bill Murray, talking of Saturday's 6-0 win over Georgia Tech, said the squad wasn't downhearted over losing some scoring chances. "We felt it was our day," he said.

South Carolina counted left end
 Jerry Frye and quarterback Dave Sowell among those not physically able to take part in drills Monday. The Gamecocks (1-4) also take on an outsider, playing at Louisiana State.

Maryland plays non-conference
 Penn State this Saturday, seeking its fourth straight win.

One of two ACC games on tap
 this Saturday, North Carolina State at Wake Forest—should produce aerial fireworks galore. N.C.
 State's Roman Gabriel will come face-to-face with Norman Snead of Wake Forest in the battle of the ACC's leading passers. "It will probably be the toughest game we play this season," says Wake's Coach Billy Hildebrand. Wake takes a 2-4 mark into the battle while N.C. State is 5-2.

Clemson hopes to snap a three-game losing streak when North Carolina invades. The Tigers were chased indoors by Monday's rains and had to workout in the gym.
 Meanwhile, North Carolina (1-

West Virginia Puts Emphasis On Sophs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 A sophomore's uplifting effect on West Virginia's football offense has brought new confidence to the camp of the winless Mountaineers this week as they prepare for their Saturday meeting with Boston University.

After scoring only two touchdowns in their first six games, the Mountaineers scored two in a single quarter while losing game
 No. 7 to Penn State last weekend, 34-13. And the fellow directly responsible was Larry Tracewell, a 5-foot soph from Parkersburg, W.Va.

Tracewell still hasn't been installed as the quarterback regular over more experienced hands
 Dale Evans and Danny Williams
 but the punch West Virginia showed while he was in the lineup seems to have reinvigorated the entire Mountaineer squad.

Furman was forced indoors
 Monday by the rain, which flooded the practice field. Inside, the team heard scouting reports on this week's foe, Alabama.

William and Mary looked at movies of its loss at Tulane as the rain fell, then moved outside for light drills.

Davidson knocked heads despite rainfall, preparing for its conference game at Virginia Tech.
 Coach Bill Dole, who scouted Tech
 last week, reported that the Techmen have a good offensive unit with sound blocking.

At Tech, Coach Frank Moseley gave his first two units the day off in deference to the rain.

VMI had a light drill in sweat clothes with end Ken Legum nursing a knee injury. Coaches reviewed films of the Keydets' 21-8 loss to Memphis State.

Last Race For Charlotte Track

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Charlotte
 Fairgrounds stock car racing track will stage its last 100-mile Grand National race on Sunday.

Although the race will open the 1961 NASCAR season, it will mark the final 100-miler for the half-mile dirt track, one of the oldest of its kind in the country. It will be closed up during the winter to make room for a shopping center.

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Joe Bellino and his shipmates have a chance to write Naval Academy football history this weekend if they can defeat a tough Duke University football team at Durham,
 N.C.

The Midshipmen will be running for two academy records as well as hoping to preserve a winning streak which started with the last three games last season and included a 43-12 romp over Army.
 In defeating Notre Dame 14-7
 Saturday they became the first Navy team since the 1910-11 seasons to win 10 in a row, a Navy record. They also became the first team since 1934 to win the first seven games of a season, tying another academy mark.

Bellino, a dazzling halfback who is the academy's best since Buzz Borries of the 1934 team, has played a major role in every one of those 10 victories stretching back into last season. He has scored 13 touchdowns this season.
 And Navy has come up with a lot more playing talent around him than anyone expected it would have before the season opened.

Duke has lost only one game, a 31-6 defeat by Michigan, and won five.

Alvin Dark Named To Manage San Francisco

By JACK STEVENSON
 SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alvin
 Dark takes command of the San Francisco Giants with an admonition that the Candlestick Park winds should be forgotten, the quicker the better.

The take-charge guy of the Giants infield during their championship years of 1951 and 1954 drew a two-year contract to manage and instill hustle into their field operation. Terms weren't announced but are believed $25,000 annually.

Alvin was the man we wanted
 all along," said Giants Vice President Charles (Chub) Fenney, To get the 14-year National League veteran player, the Giants traded utility shortstop Andre Rodgers to the Milwaukee Braves.

Speaking softly, Dark, 38, gave a solid indication he would brook no excuses and wanted the right to full authority in operating the club on the field.

Last year as the Giants were tabbed for the pennant in pre-season forecasts and flopped, players complained about the tricky winds at the new Candlestick Park.

"The climate here is wonderful," commented Dark. "That wind is just like the Louisiana heat. The more you talk about it the worse it gets."

A resident of Lake Charles, La., Dark was a standout sophomore halfback at Louisiana State University before signing a bonus contract with the Boston Braves in 1946.

He noted the Giants won 45 and lost 32 in Candlestick and said,
 "They won more than they lost there. I'm for that."

Dark replaces Tom (Clancy)
 Sheehan, named as interim manager when Bill Rigney was fired last June 18. Although only four games off Pittsburgh's pace when the switch was made, the Giants sagged further to fifth place and a 79-75 over-all record.

President Horace Stoneham declared in June that failure to instill hustle was a chief reason Rigney was fired.

Asked about possible trades,
 Dark said he had none in mind immediately and added, "I don't think a trade should be made just to get rid of a ball player."

Asked where the team needed to be strengthened, he said he couldn't answer that until he sees the players in spring training.

"There are many fine players on our roster," he added.

Fenney announced Sheehan would resume his job as chief scout, with Dark to decide on coaching assignments later.

BUCKEYE BULLET..... by Pap'

Burly Bob Ferguson is bent on restoring Ohio State to its rightful place as a power in Big Ten football. The 6-foot, 217-pound senior is, at the same time, making Coach Woody Hayes look good as a prophet. At the start of the season, Coach Hayes predicted that the Buckeye would be a winning team this year, much better than last season when they posted a dismal 3-6 record. The key player in Ohio State's fast start this season has been Ferguson.

Ferguson was moved to fullback
 this season to give the Buckeyes the running power they had become accustomed to for the past three seasons from Bob White.
 And Ferguson has come through better than Coach Hayes had dared hope. As a halfback last season, Ferguson averaged 6.1 yards per carry to lead the Buckeye rushers. He gained a total of 371 yards in 1959. In the first three games this year, Bob reeled off

300 yards. He started with 89 yards against Southern Methodist in 14 carries. In the second game against Southern California, Ferguson had a field day. Against a tough Trojan line led by the Mc-Keever brothers, Mike and Marlin, the Buckeye battering ram gained 157 yards in 20 tries and scored three touchdowns—one on a 75-yard dash. Ferguson saw little action against Illinois when the Buckeye won easily, 34-7.
 After scoring one touchdown and gaining 40 yards on four carries in another touchdown drive, Ferguson sat out the second half.

Ferguson is well equipped to do the job for the Buckeyes. He has the speed, strength and drive to become an outstanding fullback.
 He's hard to tackle and has unusual breakaway speed for a fullback. He will probably concentrate on offense, but he can back up a line with the best if his talents are needed there.

JAMES KEENE'S New Historical Novel IRON MAN, IRON HORSE

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Was Ben Holliday enough of a frog man to make the iron horse run? Towns were still few and far between in North Texas in the Eighties. Some big ranchers fought railroads that cut through open ranges and brought in settlers. The Indians' anger against any invasion of their ancient domain had risen to fanatical fury after the destruction of buffalo herds wherever rails were laid. Some railroad ventures into the prairies had been abandoned. The Midland-Pacific R.R. was falling into bankruptcy when Ben Holliday's wealthy father turned over the line to his son.

CHAPTER 4

"Now you ain't got yourself all riled up, have you?" Satchel said to Ben Holliday. "No," Ben said. "But it's my turn now. Suppose you put my sixty dollars on the bar."

No Shifting Of Missile Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are no plans to move the missile testing station from Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Air Force says. Rep. Merwin Coad, D-Iowa, had said Saturday night that he had learned from reliable sources that a transfer was possible. The Cuban situation, Coad said, might make the change necessary.

him across the jaw hinge with the chair leg, and it cracked like a snapped twig. Satchel whipped into the bar and sagged like a sum-wilted flower and he lay with his head against the brass footrail. His friend looked at him and said, "That was sudden, wasn't it?" "Where's the money?" Holliday asked. "I ain't—he's got it."

"No," Ben said. "Like he says, it's too hot." The bartender filled the glasses and Ben tossed his off, and it was filled again. "Let's go sit down," Bender suggested, and they went to a corner table. He took off his hat and ran his fingers through his dark hair. The bartender was upending a bucket of water on Satchel and two men pulled him to his feet. Ben Holliday observed this, and Bender said, "Disappointed, Mr. Holliday?"

Republicans Hope Reverse Statehouse Losing Streak

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans, who have been losing ground steadily to Democrats in recent statehouse races, hope to reverse the trend Nov. 8 when 27 governors will be elected.

A total of 7 over a four-year span, Republicans captured 4 Democratic governorships in 1958 and in 1956.

D. Clyde, Utah, Republican; Albert D. Rosellini, Washington, Democrat; and Gaylord Nelson, Wisconsin, Democrat.

New Approach To 'Decency' In Reading Habits

By JULES LOH
NEW YORK (AP)—An energetic man well acquainted with what was popularly known as barracks literature is heading a program with a new approach toward what he calls "decency in America's reading habits."

This is the civilian role for Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Ryan who retired recently as chief of Army chaplains. In 30 years of counseling troops, he said, "I found the morale of the men had a direct relationship with their morals. There's no reason why it shouldn't be the same for the entire country. If America's morals are good," he said, "its morale will be good too."

Editors working under the monsignor comb through 165 national magazines each month. If a magazine's moral tone is acceptable it goes on an approved list. Catholic school children across the country solicit their neighborhoods for subscriptions to the magazines on the list which at present number about 125. "This approach is positive," Msgr. Ryan said. "We promote the good magazines rather than censor the bad ones—but it has this effect too. "The editor of one magazine had to drop from the list phoned immediately and promised to clean up the book in the future. "Our stamp of approval means as much to the magazines which earn it as to the parents and other readers who are guided by it."

Other contestants are these: DELAWARE—John W. Rollins, Republican, and Elbert N. Carvel, Democrat. The incumbent, J. Caleb Boggs, is a Republican.

FLORIDA — Farris Bryant, Democrat, and George C. Peter, Republican. The incumbent, LeRoy Collins, is a Democrat.

INDIANA—Crawford P. Parker, Republican, and Mathews E. Welsh, Democrat. The incumbent, Harold W. Handley, is a Republican.

IOWA — Edward J. McManus, Democrat, and Norman Erbe, Republican. The incumbent, Herschel C. Loveless, Democrat, is running for the Senate.

MASSACHUSETTS — Joseph D. Ward, Democrat; John A. Volpe, Republican; Guy S. Williams, Republican; and Henning A. Blomen, Socialist-Labor. The incumbent, Foster Furcolo, is a Democrat.

MISSOURI—John M. Dalton, Democrat, and Edward G. Farmer, Republican. The incumbent, James T. Blair Jr., is a Democrat.

MONTANA—Donald R. Nutter, Republican, and Paul Cannon, Democrat. The incumbent, J. Hugo Aronson, is a Republican.

NORTH CAROLINA — Terry Sanford, Democrat, and Robert L. Gavin, Republican. The incumbent, Luther H. Hodges, is a Democrat.

North Dakota—C. P. Dahl, Republican; William L. Guy, Democrat, and Herschel Lashkowitz, Independent. The incumbent, John E. Davis, is a Republican.

VERMONT — F. Ray Keyser Jr., Republican, and Russell P. Niquette, Democrat. The incumbent, Robert T. Stafford, is a Republican.

WEST VIRGINIA — Harold E. Neely, Republican, and William W. Barron, Democrat. The incumbent, Cecil H. Underwood, Republican, is running for the Senate.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union Monday accused Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of using the predominantly Western-staffed U.N. Office of Public Information for personal "self-advertisement."

Soviet Delegate A. M. Roschin, speaking in the General Assembly's financial committee, proposed a program to restrict the activities of OPI and described its $5 million budget as "a waste which is entirely unjustified."

Airline Anxious Return Bodies

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The head of Arctic Pacific, Inc., says he will try to get a waiver of the suspension of the firm's flying certificate so it can fly the bodies of 22 victims of a plane crash here to their homes.

Jack Springer, president of the airline which operated the crashed plane, said Monday night he had not been given a specific reason for the government's suspension order.

The Oakland, Calif., firm operates three aircraft in addition to the one that crashed, including a C46 parked at Toledo Express Airport.

Nineteen of the dead lived in California. Two were from Elkton, Md., and one lived in Chicago.

They were killed Saturday night when a charter flight attempting a takeoff at the Toledo airport in a heavy fog, crashed and burned. The aircraft carried 48 persons, including the California Polytechnic College (San Luis Obispo) football team.

In announcing the suspension order in Washington yesterday, E. R. Quesada, federal aviation administrator, said that circumstances of the crash "indicate a gross disregard for public safety and the regulations of the Federal Aviation Agency."

Springer countered that "the facts brought out by the investigation will not indicate anything of that severe a nature."

Johnson Spells Out His Distrust

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson spelled out today the basis for his charge that Vice President Richard M. Nixon is a "dangerous man."

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate used the term without elaboration in Missouri Monday.

In a speech prepared for a Democratic rally in Chicago today, he ridiculed the Republican candidate's campaign tactics.

"He (Nixon) ignores our troubles by claiming they don't exist," Johnson said. "He covers up the sore spots with a talcum powder make-up of tranquility."

"He closes the blinds of the windows that look out upon a turbulent world. While the storm rages outside, he sits in a soundproof room listening to the status quo songs of Republican complacency."

"It is time to remind the vice president that American independence wasn't won by a philosophy of 'all's well with the world' and it cannot be better."

Johnson said all Nixon offered was "cut down, stripped down versions of Democratic programs."

"It is dangerous to elect a man like this to be president of the United States," the Texan said.

Club Launches Christmas Tree Sale

Greenville's Optimist Club last night kicked off its annual Christmas tree sale with the issuance of 500 tickets to be sold for use toward purchase of the trees to go on sale in early December.

Co-chairmen Johnnie May and Bill Woolard presented the tickets to Optimist President Walter Whitehurst for distribution to the Optimist membership.

In addition to members' selling tickets, May and Woolard announced, several local boy scout troops will be handling a portion of the sales.

Proceeds from the Christmas tree project are earmarked for various Optimist boys-work projects in the Greenville area. Included in the projects are the local Junior Rifle Team, an annual oratorical contest, a Little League baseball team, and sponsorship of Bicycle Safety Week and Youth Appreciation Week beginning Nov. 14.

Optimist Gordon Goodman will be in charge of the sale of the Christmas trees when they arrive around Dec. 1. The holiday trees will be imported from Canada and will be sold from Elm St. Park, Goodman said.

Goodman pointed out this year's shipment will include a greater variety in sizes of trees. "From very small to very large," he said.

As last night's program, Whitehurst and Optimist Secretary-Treasurer Pete Carraway reported to the membership on their trip to the district meeting in Hickory last weekend.

Immediately following the regular dinner meeting, Optimist officers, board members, and committee members held their monthly session.

New members inducted last night were Bill Talton and Billy Ross.

Archbishop Of Canterbury Plans To See Pope John

LONDON (AP)—An archbishop of Canterbury will meet a Roman Catholic Pope next month for the first time since Henry VIII broke with the papacy in the 16th century and set up the Church of England.

Archbishop Geoffrey Fisher, spiritual leader of the Church of England, announced today that he will pay a courtesy visit to Pope John XXIII at the Vatican during a Dec. 1-3 stopover on his way home from a Middle Eastern tour.

While in the Middle East, Dr. Fisher will meet with prelates of the Eastern Orthodox Church in Jerusalem and Istanbul.

Vatican sources hailed the visit as a step toward unity but warned against expecting any immediate or dramatic developments. "It is an example of reciprocal goodwill and a new stone on the road to getting closer together," one source said.

The archbishop's decision apparently stemmed from this year's conference of the Protestant World Council of Churches in Scotland, which two Catholic monsignors attended as observers. Word was passed then that Pope John XXIII would be glad to receive Dr. Fisher.

Both Dr. Fisher and Pope John have shown keen interest in closer church unity.

Of all the Protestant churches whose creation ended the unity of faith in Europe, the Church of England has remained closest to Roman Catholicism in ritual and belief.

Leaders of the British Presbyterian, Congregationalist and Baptist churches welcomed Dr. Fisher's plan to meet Pope John. Initial British press comment also was favorable, with the Daily Sketch headlining "a holy summit" and the Daily Herald calling the meeting a "Vatican summit."

Will Urge Bonn To Increase Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic sources say the United States will send two top officials to West Germany within two weeks to urge her to increase aid to underdeveloped nations.

The two officials are Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon. The sources said Anderson and Dillon will discuss ways in which Germany might step up her aid.

The United States now bears the brunt of Western aid to backward areas.

Flatly Disclaims Influencing Vote

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Catholic archbishop of Boston said Monday night that he had been accused by a Masonic official of once influencing a Senate vote by Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy. He termed it "a colossal lie."

Richard Cardinal Cushing made the statement in informal remarks preceding an address before the 30th biennial convention of the National Council of Catholic Women.

The archbishop, protesting that he had been dragged into the 1960 political picture, made no direct mention of the fact Sen. Kennedy is a Catholic.

But he said: "I am trying to find out what we have to do to convince people that a Catholic merely by the force of his faith should be and is bound to be an honorable, loyal and faithful citizen of the country."

Cardinal Cushing said, "I received this morning an editorial written by a high authority in a branch of the Masonic order. 'In that editorial I am specifically blamed as the man who on one occasion obliged Sen. Kennedy to change his vote in a matter of a bill pertaining to federal aid to education. That charge is a colossal lie.'"

He did not identify the writer of the editorial or the publication that carried it.

Kennedy Favored In Lions' Vote

Sen. John F. Kennedy will carry Greenville if the local Lions Club straw vote is any indication.

Kennedy received 32 votes to Richard M. Nixon's 16 at last night's Lions meeting.

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Terry Sanford had an even better lead over Republican candidate Robert Gavin. The vote there was 31 for Sanford and 12 for Gavin. There were three votes for J. Beverly Lake who lost in the second Democratic primary to Sanford.

Dr. Robert Kramer of the East Carolina College faculty discussed modern geography before the Lions.

Frank Brown reported that the State Convention will be held in Greensboro June 1, 2 and 3.

the present authorization for admission of 154,000 immigrants yearly.

He proposed that largely unused quotas such as that for Great Britain be distributed to other countries and called for special treatment of relatives of Americans.

In his campaign swing, Nixon aimed at tying Kennedy to the administration of former President Harry S. Truman.

There were cries of "pour it out" from a crowd which failed to fill the 6,000 seat armory in Newark, N.J., when Nixon said Kennedy offers nothing new beyond Truman's proposals.

"There has never in the history of this country been an administration whose foreign policies were more disastrous to the cause of freedom than Harry Truman's administration," Nixon said.

Nixon said it was inconsistent for Kennedy to talk about new frontiers if he is "willing to surrender to the frontiers of freedom that already exist around the world," as he said his rival seemed to propose in the matter of Quemoy and Matsu.

London introduced Nixon in the presidential nominee's New Jersey appearances. He described Nixon as "unquestionably the best equipped man in the United States to guide us as we continue to build toward a lasting peace."

Nixon issued a statement in which he said Kennedy in proposing $15 billion in additional yearly expenditures is promising to balance the budget and opposes higher taxes. He said his rival has "made so many promises to so many people they are colliding with each other."

"One thing is certain," Nixon said, "Sen. Kennedy has set a new all time record for promises, promises all logic shows he could not keep."

Nixon issued a statement in Philadelphia, where he spent the night, calling for a doubling of

Members of the Busy Beaver 4-H Club were presented a demonstration on glass-etching by Connie Killbrow and Mary Newton at their last meeting.

Following the demonstration, club members themselves etched their initials on articles they had brought from home. The articles included ash trays, glasses and attractive bottles.

Jimmie Wooten was welcomed as a new member during the meeting. In the absence of the club president, Johnnie Phillips, the vice president, Mary Newton, presided.

Donna Sue Garris led in the devotional. The club met with their leader, Mrs. Alton Moore. Twelve members were present.

Next month's demonstration will be on the making of Christmas decorations. Ruth Ann Wooten and Claudius Corbett volunteered to do the demonstration.
