City Council Serves Notice Space In City Building Needed; Agencies To Go

City Manager Leonard Bloxam told them there is a pressing need for additional space in City Hall. Presently, he said, the Redevelopment Commission is temporarily housed in a room which is urgently needed for court activities. And when a new city manager is brought in additional office space will be needed for him.

cannot build additional office space while still renting offices in City Hall. 'I'm wondering if it wouldn't be wise to set a date that would give the people occupying these offices time to find a place to go and allow us to use them for city business,' the mayor said.

A resolution authorizing the council to file an application for Federal Aid Funds in connection with the emergency clean-up following Donna was approved. City fathers approved the installation of traffic control lights at the intersection of Charles and Tenth Sts. and Charles and 14th Sts. This action was taken after Bloxam reported that the State Highway Commission had said they did not consider the signs justified by traffic counts.

Humber Says U.S. Is At A Turning Point

This nation, facing a national election, has reached an "epochal turning point in its history," Dr. Robert Lee Humber of Greenville said in addressing an audience at East Carolina College last night. The times, he said, call for new leadership, and for an intelligent, original, and constructive approach to both national and international problems.

Dr. Humber declared, "have such issues with such repercussions for the future faced our country. The destiny of the United States and of Western culture is at stake," he declared. Tracing achievements of the Democratic Party, he recalled that in times of crisis the people have turned to it again and again for leadership — to Jefferson, Jackson, Woodrow Wilson, and Franklin D. Roosevelt. To meet the problems of the present, we need again the "fresh new morning vision of the destiny of this country" which the Democratic Party has provided in the past, he declared.

NATO, organization for mutual defense, has acted as a deterrent to attack upon a member of the group. "No nation on the western frontier of Russia has come under Soviet domination since the organization of NATO," he said. Discussing Point Four, Dr. Truman declared that Harry S. Truman, who originated it, "will be acclaimed in future years one of our great leaders." For the "first time in human history," he said, Point Four provided for the use of tax money for economic aid to underdeveloped areas of the world. Over the world, he continued, the spirit of Point Four has become contagious. The United Nations (Continued on page twelve)

Lady Bird Adds Color To Campaign Front

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

M'Way in a Democratic tea at Hartford, Conn., the other day the wife of the Democratic candidate to make an announcement. Expectantly, the 2,000 women crowding the hotel ballroom fell silent.

"Due to the popularity of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson," pronounced the hostess, "we've temporarily run out of petit fours."

"It was the guest of honor said later, one of the memorable quotes in her campaign tour.

When it comes to the colorful phrase the Democratic candidate for vice president is no snacker herself. In her soft Southern accent, ladylike Lady Bird Johnson has perked up many a graceful little speech in behalf of her husband with such expressions as:

"As busy as a man killing snakes."

"As noisy as a mule in a tin barn."

"The kind of people who'd

FUN WON'T HOLD STILL

You'd never mistake a child's birthday for a still life. It explodes with excitement like a string of firecrackers.

No backyard football game was ever won by standing still. And if you ever chases a toddler around the house, you know that getting your best picture subject to hold still is near to impossible.

Let's face it. About the only sure way to keep up with fun is with a movie camera. And we have one—the new Brownie 8—that lets you step up to movies for the amazing low price of just $24.50.

How much movie camera does that buy? Plenty. For instance, this new Brownie Movie Camera has an enclosed optical finder that shows you your scene in brilliant and complete detail.

There's a new exposure dial that makes it easy to get color-bright movies. There's a new wide shutter release bar that helps you get a steadier camera grip for steadier movies.

There's even a folding crank that lets you wind up the motor fast. Keeps you ready for action as fast as it happens. The motor cuts off at the end of its full power run.

With a price of just $24.50 there's just one right time to make the move to movies. Now. The place? At our counter.—(Adv.)

Mrs. Forbes Is Saturday Set Aside As Buddy Poppy Day

Mrs. C. A. Forbes was hostess to members of her bridge club recently.

As the guests arrived, Mrs. Forbes invited them into the living room where three tables were set up for play. Fall flowers were used in decorations.

Mrs. W. S. Cherry was winner of high score and Mrs. H. F. Congleton, low.

The hostess served potato pie topped with whipped cream and coffee at conclusion of play.

Dance Is Held On Birthday

GRIFTON—Misses Jo Quinerly and Mary Lee January were entertained Saturday night at a dance at the Quinerly home on Highland Drive. The dance was in honor of their sixteenth birthdays.

Misses Ranie January and Ellen Odham in spook costumes greeted the callers and showed them to the basement which was decorated with corn stalks, pumpkins, autumn leaves. On the mantel, vitches and broom sticks were used in decorating.

Dianne January, showed the guests to the cloak room.

During the evening dancing was enjoyed and informal conversation. The decorated birthday cake was in pink and white with 16 candles. Cake, potato dips, dips, and salted nuts and iced drinks were enjoyed during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Quinerly, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. January, parents of the honorees were assisted by Miss Hazel Patrick in entertaining the 60 young guests. Miss Suzanne Worthington of Kinston was an out of town guest in the Quinerly home for the weekend.

Program Meeting Held At Church

The 20th anniversary ("since unification") of the Week of Prayer and Self-Denial in the Methodist church, Oct. 25-31 had their church meeting Sunday night at 7:30 in the church sanctuary with the Spiritual Life Leader, Mrs. Courtney Patrick in charge.

Talks with emphasis on the home field work, Wesley Community Centers, San Antonio, Texas and the Ecumenical Ventures—Foreign Field were given by Messdames Patrick, Paul Carr, T. J. Jones and Cecil Cobb. These talks brought out the fact that the Week of Prayer and Self-Denial would become a truly momentous occasion in extending our home and foreign mission work if each member makes a sacrificial gift ("A Dollar a Day for a Week").

Mrs. Milton Hart rendered appropriate music as gifts were presented at the altar and during the program.

Soap vs Champagne For Goldware

Uncork a bottle of champagne or white wine next time your collection of silver-gilt needs cleaning. This "helpful hint" comes from France, as you might suspect.

Silver-gilt—or more properly Vermell—which was created by the French centuries ago, has the appearance of gold but is actually silver with 22 Karat gold worked permanently into it. Even the French, however, concede that if the silver-gilt needs more than a touch-up, you'll have to use soap and water!

One of the most magnificent collections of Vermell belongs to the White House, and is used for state dinners along with goldware collected by President Madison. Recently, the White House sent its Vermell out to be washed—leaving the champagne versus soap-and-water problem squarely up to Tiffany's!

Saturday Set Aside As Buddy Poppy Day

BUDDY POPPY DAY . . . will be held Saturday. Shown above is Mrs. C. B. West Jr., president of the local VFW auxiliary, pinning a poppy on Walter Tucker, District Officer of the North Carolina Veterans Commission.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor its annual Buddy Poppy sale in Greenville on Saturday.

In announcing the sale, Mrs. C. B. West, Jr., president of the auxiliary, expressed the hope that everyone will wear a Buddy Poppy as evidence of our gratitude to the men of this nation who fought for the cause of freedom which we continue to enjoy as American citizens.

Mrs. H. L. Vincent and Mrs. B. T. Joyner are serving as co-chairmen of the sale. They pointed out that most of the money collected from the sale stays right here in our community.

During the past year, food, fuel, clothing and medical supplies have been provided for several needy

Lt. Kinnerly Is Speaker

Lt. C. Frank Kinnerly of Troop A State Highway Patrol was guest speaker at the Pickwick Book Club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. R. E. Lee Jr., Sheraton Drive.

Speaking on "Safety," Lt. Kinnerly stated that the greatest uncontrolled social problem is the traffic problem. The most deadly disease, which is of epidemic proportion, is the killer-man behind the wheel of the family automobile.

According to reports, in the past 50 years more deaths have resulted from traffic accidents than any other one factor. Statistics show that one out of two people will be either injured or killed involving a motor vehicle during their lifetime. Fifteen percent of all accidents are due to mechanical failure and the other 85 percent attributed to human failures.

Lt. Kinnerly said that there are now in the United States many phases in which teenagers are taught the responsibilities as drivers. Some of these are taught in driving courses in high schools, Teenage Roadshows by the Jaycees, and other organizations. Three areas are covered in these training courses: driving knowledge, skill, and attitude.

How are adults to curtail this No. 1 killer? Lt. Kinnerly suggests that adults apply their maturity to the highway. "The price of safety is like following the Golden Rule, 'Do unto others as you would have them . . .'. Safety, like charity, begins at home."

Mrs. Harry Allen, president, welcomed the guests, Lt. Kinnerly and Mrs. P. J. Dayson, and conducted a short business meeting. Refreshments of spiced cake, coffee and candy were served by the hostess.

Following the distribution of books, the meeting was adjourned.

Party Leaders Say: Here's How U.S. Women Should Vote Tuesday

Republican

By MRS. CLARE B. WILLIAMS
Assistant Chairman of the Republican National Committee

What do American women want in the next four years? The same things all Americans want: peace without appeasement, strength without apology, prosperity without inflation.

MRS. CLARE B. WILLIAMS

We want a President and a Vice President who know their jobs, who know and are trusted by other world leaders, who have faith in the individual, who stand firmly for their beliefs and who get things done.

The Nixon-Lodge team fills the bill, and this, in my opinion, is the reason women should and will vote Republican in 1960.

Both men are fortunate in having wives who work tirelessly for the same ideals. Mrs. Nixon has traveled with the Vice President on good will missions to 54 nations. Mrs. Lodge has been a superb helpmate for Ambassador Lodge during his long career of public service, both in the Senate and the United Nations.

Congress granted history's biggest tax cut, 62 per cent of which went to individuals, saving Americans over 52 billion dollars to date. They know the low income worker got 10 per cent of that cut, the richest man only one per cent.

Women know that this Republican Administration has brought peace and kept it, strengthened our friendships around the world, assured greater protection for each of us in our old age, and brought peak peacetime prosperity. Today there are no casualty lists of sons and husbands dying on foreign battlefields.

During two administrations, President Eisenhower and his cabinet have named 408 women to high-level posts in the diplomatic service, the federal service and policy-making agencies and boards. This is a record matched by no other administration.

Women should and will vote Republican, in my opinion, because it is the Republican philosophy of respect for the individual, of warm responsiveness to the needs of all Americans, which inspires the deepest loyalty in women.

In Nixon and Lodge, women see a team unmatched in its knowledge of national and world problems and in its experience in dealing with them. Women know this team can meet the future with mature judgment, dignity and integrity. This team has proved that it can cope successfully with the Communist threat to our security and way of life.

Bridge Parties

GRIFTON—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hart were at home to members of their couples club at a dessert bridge recently.

In the living room arrangements of berries and greenery were used as decorations. Three tables were placed for games and high scores were won by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wheeler.

Cherry pie with coffee was served at the dessert hour.

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. David Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Casey were hosts at bridge recently at their home on Queen Street.

Decorations were of the Halloween motif, pumpkins, bronze chrysanthemums arranged in attractive bouquets. Pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee was served as cards were laid aside.

Mrs. Conrad Hart and John Glenn were highest scorers for the evening. Others playing were Mr. Hart, Mrs. Glenn, Mrs. George G. Sugg, Mrs. Howard Holcomb and the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cobb entertained recently at supper and bridge for members of their contract club.

On the table a cornucopia filled with small bronze chrysanthemums and red berries made an attractive centerpiece. A fried chicken supper was served buffet style.

In the living room where three tables were placed for the games fall flowers in shades of pink and red were used.

Mrs. L. L. Newborn and Brown Hodges were high scorers for club members and Mrs. Tom Gower for guests. Others playing were Mr. Newborn, Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Robert Newborn, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jackson, Mrs. Thurman Williams, Mrs. George C. Sugg, Mrs. Charlie Stone.

Mrs. Joe Ray Burney was hostess at her home on Highland Drive recently to members of her bridge club.

Dish gardens and potted plants were used in the living room where guests were received.

During the games Mrs. G. L. Little was awarded high score and the floating prize was won by Mrs. Richard Whit. Prizes were dried floral arrangements.

Blueberry pie with ice cream and coffee was served at the dessert hour.

Guests for the evening were Mesdames Little, Whit, William Stanley, Joe Paul, James Israel, M. D. Allen and Bill Jones.

CLEANLINESS NECESSARY FOR DYEING

If you plan to tint or dye feathers—perhaps for party costumes—be absolutely certain that they are clean because color can't penetrate through soil. Feathers can be washed safely in warm soap or detergent suds, then rinsed and air dried.

Today's Menus

FAMILY LUNCH
Serve it on trays!
Vegetable Soup
Roast Beef Sandwiches
With Island Mustard
Fresh Fruit Beverage

ISLAND MUSTARD

2 1/2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons oil
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons butter

In a small saucepan thoroughly mix together until smooth the flour, sugar, salt, dry and prepared mustards, vinegar and water. Cook and stir constantly over low heat until thickened. Stir in butter. Cool. Store, covered, in refrigerator. Makes almost 1 cup.

CALCUTTA MEAT PATTIES

1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup buttermilk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon onion salt
1/4 teaspoon turmeric
2 teaspoons ground coriander
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1 tablespoon butter

Mix beef thoroughly with buttermilk and seasonings; shape into small patties, using 2 tablespoons of meat mixture for each. Brown rapidly on all sides in hot butter in heavy skillet—9 or 10 inches; continue cooking over low heat if necessary just until center of patties are no longer pink (test one by breaking open with a fork). Makes about 2 dozen patties.

MRS. MARGARET PRICE

Democrat

By MRS. MARGARET PRICE
Vice Chairman of the Democratic National Committee

Women as well as men will be voting Democratic in 1960 because all Americans are worried about the decline of U.S. prestige abroad, about the failure to face up to domestic problems, about the lack of leadership from a Republican President and his administration.

National goals have been defined only in the vaguest of generalities for the past seven years. There have been words in abundance, but very little action. When action is absent, problems multiply and worsen, while the nation's citizens grow restless and insecure.

The nation is seeking leadership, and is finding it in the Democratic Party and its nominees, Senator John F. Kennedy and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson.

The women of America are looking for leadership just as are the men, and will vote Democratic just as enthusiastically as will the men. There is no "blocc voting" by women; they are not a "special interest group." If mothers are anxious about overcrowded schools, who can say fathers are less anxious? If homemakers are concerned about the steadily climbing cost of living, who can say breadwinners are less concerned? Mounting medical bills for our elderly citizens work hardship on men and women without discrimination.

Women do not have to be experts to know that the potential of America is not being realized under the timid, inept Republican Administration, moved more by fear than by a desire for progress. Only when the Soviet Union challenges us in space, in missile development, in economic expansion or in education do the Republicans act—or set up a study commission. And even then they act grudgingly, moving as short a distance as possible.

In 1953 the United States was the undisputed leader in world affairs—economically and militarily strong. We exerted a moral force in the world; we were in purposeful pursuit of workable solutions to domestic problems. This initiative was quickly lost. In 1954 the Communists called our bluff of "massive retaliation" and Indo China fell to the Communists.

Decorate Bower Of 'Washable' Flowers

Is your bedroom tiny? Try this trick "invented" by the designers of a swank New York apartment. Repeat a delicate floral pattern over and over—on walls, ceiling, upholstered pieces, and bed covering. This will turn even a "cell" into a charming little bower of flowers.

For convenience and economy, choose either washable plastic or treated paper for the walls and ceiling, and a matching fabric that is sensibly drip-dry.

NEW USE FOR OLD BRUSH

A worn shaving brush makes a soft complexion brush for giving your face and neck an effective soap massage. Before use, cut the bristles down to about one inch from the handle.

Little Time Is Left For Undecided

There remains little time for the voters of Pitt County who remain "undecided" about their choice of the presidential candidates to make up their minds.

For those who still have not made their final decision between the Democratic Party and its nominee Sen. John Kennedy, and the Republican Party and its nominee Vice President Nixon, we would suggest they give consideration to several points in making their decision.

The so-called "religious issue" that has been injected into the campaign has no real bearing on the fitness of a man to carry out the duties of the office of President. Sen. Kennedy, who is a Catholic, has said forthrightly many times during the campaign that he believes in the complete separation of Church and State; that he will not be dictated to by the authority of his church so far as government affairs are concerned and that there will be no conflict between his loyalty to his duties as President and his loyalty to his religious beliefs.

Vice President Nixon has likewise strongly voiced the opinion that the question of Sen. Kennedy's religion has no place in the consideration of the qualifications of the two candidates for the highest office in the land.

On matters of foreign policy, Sen. Kennedy has called for more forceful, more positive and more aggressive handling of the foreign affairs of the United States. He has pointed to the decline of United States prestige in other areas of the world in recent years, and these assertions apparently are confirmed in a special report made by a government agency in recent months, but not released by the Republican administration.

Vice President Nixon, on the other hand, has declared there has been no evidence of declining U. S. prestige abroad. He has made such declarations even in the face of the fact that the administration has refused to release the results of its survey on the question. He has likewise defended the foreign policies of the Eisenhower administration in spite of the communist take-over in Cuba, anti-American demonstrations in Latin America, Japan and other areas throughout the globe. While the vice president has asserted a better administration of foreign affairs is needed, he has for the most part followed the Eisenhower line in discussing this important campaign issue.

While Pitt County is primarily dependent upon its agriculture for economic progress, the difference in the agricultural program offered by the two parties and their candidates should be of interest to local voters. Sen. Kennedy has declared the tobacco program might well be used as a model upon which to base the entire farm program of the federal government. With such high regard for the program, he obviously would defend it against attempts that might be made to destroy it. He has likewise shown a much broader understanding of the problems facing agriculture in the nation today than the Republican party or its candidate.

Vice President Nixon has sought to divest himself as a party to the agricultural program of Ezra Taft Benson, but his comments on agriculture during this campaign have been at best nebulous. It leads one to the conclusion that while he does not want to be linked with Benson farm policies, any program he offers will be similar to that of the Eisenhower administration . . . one which has seen a steady decline in the relative position of agriculture in the nation's economy.

As for civil rights, both party platforms and both candidates has taken their stands in support of measures that will remove the barriers that prevent equal opportunity for all citizens regardless of race. Differences in the stands of the candidates on this point is primarily in terminology, not in the ultimate goal they seek.

And, since the new Congress will once again be Democratic-controlled, it is reasonable to believe a greater degree of accord . . . a more harmonious effort in facing up to the dangerous years ahead can be achieved if the Administrative branch is likewise in Democratic Party hands.

Space does not permit a discussion of all the issues in this national political campaign. We have attempted here only to present a few of the more important.

All things considered, we believe the citizens of this area will find themselves more nearly in agreement with the overall program offered by Sen. Kennedy and the Democratic party than with the program offered by Vice President Nixon and the Republican party.

It is also our considered opinion that the nation and the free world will be better off if the leadership of the United States is in the hands of Kennedy and the Democrats in the next four years. It is also our considered opinion that Pitt County and North Carolina will also be better off if the Democrats are returned to power by the election of their candidate as the nation's chief executive.

Working Now In The Short Rows

By LYNN NISBET

SHORT ROWS—In the vernacular of the farm which the late Kerr Scott loved to use, the candidates and the party organizations have plowed the furrows to the end of the rows in the big field. They are working now in the short rows, cleaning up the ditch banks and the weed-infested edges. These border-line short rows are more important than in any political campaign in memory of living persons. The crop of votes harvested from these usually ignored areas may make the difference in next Tuesday's election.

Recognition of this fact is as startling to Republicans as it is to the traditionally dominant Democrats. Neither group quite knows what to do about it. That is especially true with respect to the Governor's race. Since the Civil War there has never been any real question about North Carolina electing a Democratic Governor, except in 1896 when Daniel L. Russell was elected on the coalition populist-Republican ticket—with perhaps more disgruntled Democratic support than any other straight Republican. Even in 1928 when North Carolina's electoral vote went to Republican Herbert Hoover for President, there was no serious threat to Max Gardner as the Democratic candidate for Governor. As that 1928 campaign warmed up, with defection of many Democratic leaders following Sen. F. M. Simmons against the national ticket headed by Al Smith, the majority for Democratic Governor Max Gardner was reduced to lowest level in half a century. In that election nobody paid much attention to the Governor's race. Emphasis was on the national ticket and the anti-Smith sentiment.

In this campaign almost as much—some folks say even more—attention is given to the Governor's race as to the presidential contest.

UNPREPARED—It is no secret in political circles that this development caught both parties "with their britches down." When the Republican state convention met in early March there was nobody who wanted to be the "sacrificial lamb" as a candidate for Governor. And there was nobody the Republicans really wanted to nominate. The general attitude among Republican convention attendants was that anybody willing to pay the filing fee would be acceptable. Robert L. Gavin volunteered.

Four Democrats filed notice of candidacy in the primary for Governor—Terry Sanford, John Larkins, Beverly Lake and Malcolm Seawell. Larkins and Seawell were eliminated in the first primary and a runoff was had between Sanford and Lake. Sanford won the second round.

A short time later he spoke out for John Kennedy for President, although majority of the North Carolina delegation at the Los Angeles convention favored some other candidate.

That commitment on part of Sanford for Kennedy put Bob Gavin in the race for Governor. Prior to that time he has just been the Republican nominee without a chance. It immediately appeared that some of Sanford's staunchest original supporters were offended and were leaving him. Some Lake supporters started a write-in campaign for their favorite, Lake half-heartedly discouraged that policy. By late September it appeared that for the first time in more than 60 years there was a chance that North Carolina might have a Republican Governor.

Democrats were flabbergasted and Republicans were confused. None of them knew how to cope with the situation. There was no precedent to guide them.

BIG TIME—The Democratic organization imported some heavy artillery for rallies at which emphasis was put upon voting the straight ticket—from President to constable. These out of state big folks gave more than usual attention to the state candidates.

The regular Republican organization also imported some big name speakers, and candidates for President and Vice President of both parties visited the state. There were a number of supporters of Nixon and Lodge and Gavin who did not trust the regular Republican party to carry the campaign for their election. So there sprang up various statewide and local groups of "Citizens for Nixon and Gavin," "Citizens for Gavin," Democrats for Nixon and Lodge" and sundry other titles.

So much emphasis was put on persons rather than party affiliation by these groups that the Democrats began running advertisements calling for votes for Terry Sanford.

Since the Republicans had no experience in a campaign where there appeared chance of success for their governor, it was apparent in early stages that the regular party organization was ignoring Gavin. He named a campaign manager independent of the state committee, and operated almost as a lone wolf. This dispersion of effort tended further to confuse the voters.

Eisenhower Not Kennedy Target

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you judged the presidential candidates by what they've said of each other, you might get the impression one was a crooked card shark and the other a juvenile delinquent.

The kid glove treatment has been reserved for President Eisenhower who is now up to his neck in the campaign himself, plugging for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

His appearance in the campaign brings it back to where it began and has been pretty much all along—a kind of personality contest. Still, his intervention for Nixon, if judged by his previous efforts for Republican congressional candidates, won't change anything.

Nixon has said of his rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, that he lies to the voters, is a "deadly risk" and is an "immature, rash, impulsive man" who is making "dangerous statements." Kennedy has said not only that "somebody had better cut the cards" before Nixon deals but has represented the vice president as a baleful kind of individual whose political "career has often seemed to show charity toward none and malice toward all."

Nixon, to Kennedy, is the "trigger-happy" leader of a "wrecking crew."

The vice president, of course, is in no position to criticize the Eisenhower administration's record even if he should want to. He has been part and parcel of it and right now is depending on Eisenhower's help to win.

Kennedy, with no part in the administration and under no obligation to the President, has made ripping into the Eisenhower record one of his main occupations in this campaign.

But he has carefully avoided any direct assault on Eisenhower.

It's simply good politics for Kennedy to lay off Eisenhower—even though belittling his administration is, to do otherwise might cost him votes among admirers of the still highly popular President.

Kennedy himself, when asked why the reluctance about criticizing Eisenhower, said the basic question is one of the future and whether it should be entrusted to Kennedy or Nixon.

In giving this explanation he also stated the essential basis of the fight between him and the vice president. Each all through the campaign, and by the way they've conducted it, has been asking a vote of confidence as the better man.

This, therefore, has reduced much of the campaign to a personality contest. And Eisenhower, now that he's in the campaign, is doing on his side what Kennedy and Nixon have been doing on theirs.

Eisenhower, once all his oratory is stripped away, is simply appealing to the voters to continue to trust his judgment to the extent of believing, when he says it, that Nixon would make a better president than Kennedy.

Whatever political magic Eisenhower has for himself, so far it has proved entirely limited. (Continued on page six)

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THE SPICE OF LIFE
Christopher Columbus made the greatest discovery ever made in the history of the human race.

What was he seeking? Just one thing—spice. He had no idea about finding a new world. In fact he died without knowing that he had found a new world. He was so sure that the island on which he landed was off the coast of southeastern Asia that he called the inhabitants Indians. Nobody ever had a more ridiculous, distorted and mistaken idea about the size and nature of the planet earth than did Columbus.

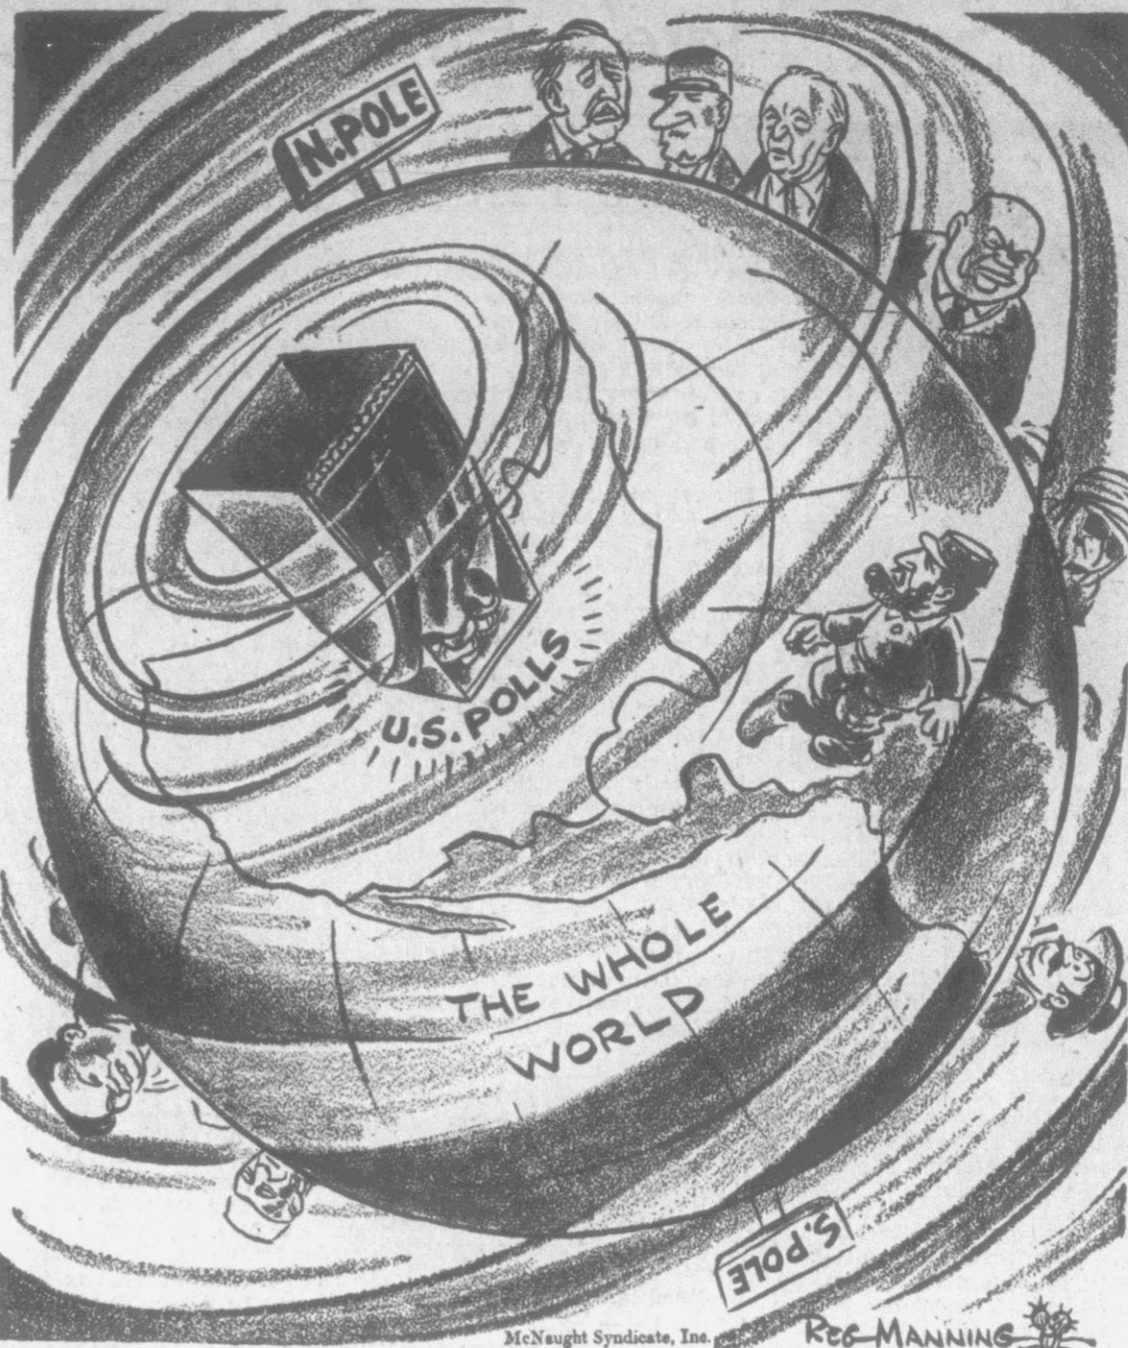

Why was he so interested in finding spice? For the simple reason that with limited food supply spice was needed to give a variety of flavors to food which was scarce, tasteless, and usually poorly cooked. Also spice was needed for the preservation of food.

I listened recently to an excellent sermon on this theme entitled, "The Spice of Life." Our daily existence can become rather drab and dull if we allow it to do so. Spice brings out the latent flavor of food, spice brings out the latent flavor of life. We should not look upon life or so through our daily round of duties as if life were just something to be endured. Life is something to be lived and in the living of it can we find our greatest joy.

Columbus was one of the greatest men that ever lived, and he went forth on a great enterprise to find spice. He appears to have had something there.

Today It Revolves On This Pole

By ALVIN TAYLOR

Nobody Called The Cops

Your columnist is not angry at his twin nephews, Ronald and Donald. Nor is their father, my brother Bill, mad with his sons.

I have not cracked up and my brother Bill has not gone nuts, although some people might think this is a matter of opinion.

I mention all this because many Sunday riders who passed my house last Sunday might have considered either one of the above two possibilities.

It all happened like this. My brother and his family came around to my house for dinner Sunday. I was ready for the couch after the meal, but my eight-year-old nephews were full of energy so soon they were outside.

Well after a half hour or so, curiosity got the best of me and I, too, went outdoors to see what was going on.

As I stepped off the porch one of the red-heads slapped me on the arm. "You're lit," he cried.

Instantly little wheels began to whirl in my head. I recalled a game called tag which I used to play many years ago.

A little conversation filled me in on the details, such as the location of home base, and soon the game was underway.

My brother heard the commotion and came out. Somebody slapped him on the arm and he was lit.

Naturally the passing motorists stared at the sight of two grown red heads chasing two eight-year-old red heads. And somehow it seemed that one or the other of us two adults were "it" most of the time.

Anyway, nobody called the cops. I stayed sore for several days and my brother and I had a whale of a time for awhile.

Everybody in Washington is efficient. I found that out the other day when I had occasion to call sources in the nation's capital.

I made several telephone calls and each time I got somebody's secretary. All were just as helpful as they could be. Only trouble is they all referred me on to somebody else.

This went on for about an hour and I still had no results. Finally one sweet secretary promised me that when he returned I left it at that and sure enough the call came in with the information I wanted. Which must prove that patience is a virtue.

Unitarians the right, not only to hold office in Maryland, but of the right to even worship God Almighty in their particular ways? Now there you have a sample of the kind of religious toleration Baltimore palmed off on the Marylanders. The loud claims for religious toleration under Lord Baltimore's Roman Catholic reign will not stand the acid test of thorough research and investigation, anyway. I know, because I have gone to some pains to look into the thing.

This political campaign is not being waged between Democrats and Republicans. It is a contest between the Roman Catholic Party and the forces of America who want to preserve those inalienable rights which our forefathers suffered martyrdom in many instances, to give us as an heritage. In Italy where Catholics dominate both religious and political life, they come right out and call their party the "Catholic Party." But Catholics in America knew better than to be so bold. So what did they do? They simply crawled up under the coat-tail of the Democratic party, grabbed it by the throat, stole its banner and name, and have been masquerading as Democrats ever since. But under disguise the Catholic party is as real in America as it is in Italy or any other country. And (Continued on page six)

Public Forum

TO THE EDITOR:

In one of the recent debates between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy I heard Mr. Nixon say, in effect, that he repudiated our efforts to inform our fellow citizens of the great dangers involved in electing a Roman Catholic to the presidency of our great country. But if you have taken notice, we have not paid any too much attention to his "repudiation," and for more than one reason. In the first place, I am convinced that he was intimidated into making that statement. In the second place, we are not asking Dick Nixon or any other person what to say. We have our own responsibilities to perform, and we are held accountable to Almighty God for following or not following the dictates of our own consciences in such a political crisis as the one with which we are confronted. We are far more concerned with preventing the fall of our Nation into the hands of the Roman Catholic Papal Throne than we are either in the mere election of Richard Nixon or the mere defeat of John F. Kennedy. While it is possible to misrepresent any person or thing, yet not only have we diligently studied the history of the tyrannical head to strike its victims until today, but we have lived among and lived with, as well as having carried on lengthy correspondence with its devotees; and we know whereof we speak. It is not necessary for us to misrepresent the facts in the least.

An AP dispatch of recent date used Harry S. Truman as accusing those of us who oppose the election of John F. Kennedy to the presidency of our great Country on religious grounds, of trying to overthrow that part of our National Constitution which says that, "x x x no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States (Art. VI)." Now, if Mr. Truman is so greatly interested in a strict conformity to our Constitution, it seems to me that he would have been more particular about plunging us into the Korean War without Congress having first declared war, as is required by the Constitution itself. And Mr. Truman had taken an oath to abide by that requirement. Any man who has tried to outsmart our Constitution as has Harry S. Truman has no right to accuse the rest of us of trying to overthrow any part of it by simply trying to protect our inalienable rights from the Catholic religio-politic machine which would strip us of them.

While the clause in the Constitution which Mr. Truman quoted does guarantee the right of any person, regardless of his religious faith, to run for office, and to be installed in such office, if he can get elected, still, there is not one word in the Constitution anywhere that denies a citizen the right to vigorously oppose the election of any person to any office on any grounds under the shining stars, whether it be his religious faith, or the way he combs his hair. If there had been one single word in that clause capable of the construction which Mr. Truman placed upon it, the FIRST AMENDMENT would be repealed. For that FIRST AMENDMENT guarantees unto us, only freedom of religion, but freedom of speech, and freedom of press as well!!!

If it is wrong for us to oppose John F. Kennedy on the grounds of his Catholic religious faith, then why did Catholic Lord Baltimore deny Jews and

Regulations As To Guarantees

By ELMER ROESSNER
Watch your lip.
Also your advertisements.
Don't say "guaranteed."
You may have a Federal Trade Commission case on your hands.

The FTC last April promulgated a series of regulations concerning the use of the word "guaranteed" in advertising, labels and other promotional material. These regulations were brought upon business by business itself or at least by chiselers in business.

Long have sharks been "guaranteeing" products when the only guarantee has been that the product was a product. Millions and perhaps billions of dollars have been mulcted from the public by promoters of "years." In "guaranteed rebuilt vacuum cleaners" the guarantee has only been a pledge that they would be rebuilt and not that they would vacuum clean.

EVERYBODY HAD CHANCE
When the FTC struck up the band in the "guarantee" field, it did nothing sneaky. It held public hearings and invited opinions, and anyone whose guarantee is now out of tune has only himself to blame.

After time for the import of the regulations to sink in, the FTC has issued a bit of guidance for advertisers. It has announced that advertisements must (paraphrased) "clearly and concisely" state what is guaranteed.

1. What part of the product is guaranteed?
2. What characteristics or properties of the designated product or part are covered by or excluded from the guarantee? (If that's not quite clear, the FTC will explain.)
3. What is the duration of the guarantee?
4. What must the customer do to get the seller to make good on the guarantee, such as "turn the product, pay a fee, use?"
5. The way the seller makes good on the guarantee, such as repair, replacement or—we can dream, can't we?—give the money back.
6. WHO? AND HOW MUCH?
6. The identity of the guarantor: manufacturer, distributor, advertiser or retailer.

7. If the guarantee is only for prorata credit, etc., what are the exact terms?

8. If it is a "life" or "lifetime" guarantee, whose life? The buyer's? The seller's? Or that of the fly on the end of your nose?

The point has been raised that these rules would hobble billboards or radio or television spot commercials, since it would be impossible to answer all these questions in less than 30 words. However, the words, "See guarantee in every package," might satisfy the FTC.

The FTC's "guarantee" kick recalls that "free" jag it got onto a few years ago. The situations were parallel: there were sorry abuses. The FTC held hearings and came out with regulations prohibiting the use of the word "free" unless what was given was without any "consideration" whatsoever.

Some advertisers felt that it was impossible to answer all these questions in any advertisement but, since then, the word has been gradually returning to advertisements.

Liberal Views On Hiss

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It was Richard Nixon who uncovered the nature of the Communist infiltration into the State Department in the Alger Hiss Case. He was a young member of the House of Representatives, fresh out of California, a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He was young, active, immature and uninfluenced by the impediments Bert Andrews, Washington correspondent of the "New York Herald Tribune," the whereabouts of Whittaker Chambers and that possessed documentary evidence of the Hiss entanglements. This documentary evidence turned out to be the famous "Pumpkin Papers." Richard Nixon drove to the Chambers farm in Maryland, uncovered the "Pumpkin Papers" and ultimately convinced Hiss and Chambers. This led to the Hiss trials and the conviction of Alger Hiss for perjury in a matter relating to espionage.

Nixon thus became identified with anti-Communism and with tough, relentless exposure. The Alger Hiss Case was settled in the courts. Hiss had ample opportunity for defense and a trial and lost. As is customary in such situations, there are always those who believe, despite the evidence in court, that it really could not be that such an educated and good-looking man like Alger Hiss would be either a Communist or a spy. Hiss's own account of the situation does not add much more to what we already know. In fact, his statements on the case are nebulous.

Up to the moment of the exposure of Alger Hiss by Richard Nixon, Hiss had had a swift and even brilliant career in the State Department. His rise was phenomenal. He accompanied President Roosevelt to Yalta and the other of us two adults were "it" most of the time. Minutes that fall short in many respects. He was a principal factor in the development of the United Nations and helped to write its Charter. He formulated the Marshall China policy which, as results show, gave Manchuria first to Soviet Russia and then to the Chinese Communists and finally produced the take-over of China by the Chinese Communists with indirect American aid. It was an amazing performance.

Now comes 1960 when Richard Nixon runs for President. Among the Park Avenue Liberals, many of whom write for newspapers and magazines and for the radio and television and who give big dinner parties where there is much talk and from which rumors emanate which, passing from mouth to mouth, soon are heard by all, like those jokes which have no author but which everyone soon hears. Hiss remains a Dreyfus tortured for his ideals. Those Park Avenue Liberals have always hated Richard Nixon for uncovering Alger Hiss. Indirectly, it was the Hiss Case which embarrassed many of them because the shock over him led to numerous investigations. For instance, at Harvard, Hiss had roommates who innocent or guilty, were investigated and embarrassed. Guilt by association is as old as the human race and while often most unfair, it is a natural conclusion that birds of a feather somehow flock together. And one thing leading to another, many who masqueraded as intellectuals or as non-political personalities were exposed either as subversives or spies. It was a sad time for Park Avenue. Many delightful human beings were severely damaged.

Now they have their chance for revenge. They say: "I don't know why, but I always disliked Richard Nixon." "He may be a very good man but somehow he does not appeal to me." It all sounds so innocent. An upstanding Democrat does not need that sort of persiflage. He says: "I'm for Kennedy" or he says: "I'm a Democrat." In a man like Jim Farley, for instance, does not need to apologize for voting for Kennedy; he always votes for a Democrat.

But these others cannot say it straight because their consciences (Continued on page six)

It will probably become more frequent until abuses creep in, when the FTC will again blow the penalty whistle. The same pattern is likely in the case of the new dirty word.

MORE ITEMS ABOUT OUR "STRANGEST RECESSION"

Here are more items to show that the current "recession" is the strangest one ever:

Department store sales for the week ended October 22 were 1 per cent above a year ago and sales from January 1 to that date were 2 per cent above the same 1959 period.

The backlog of factory orders rose in September for the first time since last winter, the Department of Commerce reported.

Farm prices rose 1 per cent between mid-September and mid-October.

A delegation from the American Retail Federation reported to President Eisenhower that sales are continuing to rise. "Nineteen-sixty will be the greatest year in history for retailing and the buying public," the delegation said.

Scripture—Psalms 32; 51; Luke 11:4; 15:11-32.

"Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered. Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile."—Psalm 32:1-2.

"When I kept silence, my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long. For day and night Thy hand was heavy upon me; my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah."—Psalm 32:3-4.

"Have mercy upon me, O God, according to Thy lovingkindness: according unto the multitude of Thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions. Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity."—Psalm 51:1-2.

"And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive everyone that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil."—St. Luke 11:4.

Confession and Forgiveness

HOW A SINNER MAY BE RECONCILED TO A HOLY GOD BY CONFESSION ON HIS PART AND FORGIVENESS ON THE PART OF GOD

Scripture—Psalms 32; 51; Luke 11:4; 15:11-32.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"THIS IS the second of the so-called Penitential Psalms of David. It is teaching in its character, but the precious instruction concerning the blessedness of the forgiveness of sins according to the riches of His grace, has David's own experience for its foreground. Indeed, this psalm is a notable example of doctrine merging itself into experience," writes the Rev. Wilbur M. Smith in his "Peloubet's Notes."

"If David's sin was great, his repentance was indeed most deep and sincere, the proof of which is that he not only publicly confessed his sin, but in a sense goes on through the ages confessing it with tears and anguish."—Peloubet's Select Notes.

The Psalm begins, "Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered. Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile."—Psalm 32:1-2.

"Selah" is a Hebrew word used in the Psalms, supposed to indicate a pause."—Webster's Dictionary.

The parable of the Prodigal Son was commented on quite recently in this series of lessons. Perhaps one of the older pupils may teach it to the younger classes, as it concludes our lesson.

Top Contest In North State

ECC Determined Unseat Lenoir Rhyne

By JOHNNY HUDSON
Reflector Sports Editor

Just last Friday, the talk around East Carolina College was, "If we beat Appalachian tomorrow—look out Lenoir Rhyne."

East Carolina didn't fare so well in the mountains against the App, losing their first game of the season, but for some reason the attitude toward the big game with nationally-ranked Lenoir Rhyne hasn't been altered.

A large following of East Carolina students and fans will crowd College Field tomorrow night hopeful of seeing the Vikings from the East end the longest college winning streak in North Carolina and come home with at least a share of the North State Conference title.

The battle in Hickory, figured as the last big challenge for Lenoir Rhyne in its quest for a sixth straight conference title, will be played before an expected sellout crowd. Reports Tuesday indicated only 35 reserved seats remained on the market.

The big question in East Carolina's camp is, "Will the Bucs be able to bounce back following the Appalachian game... if so, will it be enough to offset the powerful single-wing attack of the Bruins?"

The Boonemen suffered several casualties in the leather-popping Appalachian scrap and for a team already weak in depth, it may make the task of unseating Lenoir Rhyne an even tougher task.

Vernon Davis, the hard-racking junior tackle, will be available for only spot action, and guard Bob Gregson and halfback Tommy Matthews have missed the rough work in practice this week.

Davis has been nursing a bad ankle all week and Gregson and Matthews were withheld from rough work following facial injuries suffered at Boone.

Making the picture for East Carolina turn a bright red is the healthy return of tackle Clayton Piland and the possibility that All-Conference halfback Glenn Bass might be finally ready to drive his motor scooter in a last-ditch attempt to salvage some laurels from his injury-riddled season.

Piland and Bass played against Appalachian last Saturday but both were below par due to aggravating injuries.

In contrast to last week, tomorrow night's game will be billed as an offensive extravaganza. Lenoir Rhyne, leading in almost every statistical department, is the league's top offensive power while the once-beaten Pirate eleven is second in the same phase.

The Bruins, dependent upon All-American tailback Lee Farmer, have been just as potent through the air as with their power-laden single-wing ground attack.

The Bucs, differing from tactics of the past, have centered their attack around their running game. With Bass on the sidelines, Sonny Baysinger, Tommy Matthews, Mac Thacker, and Billy Strickland head the star-studded backfield.

Chipping in to help Farmer operate the LR scoring machine have been Tommy Simmons, Richard Kemp, Marcus Midgett and O'dell White.

On paper, Coach Clarence Stasavich's contingent shows the best defensive mark. But the core of ECC's success has been its defense and the Bucs have been like a stonewall backed up within their 20-yard line, holding back many touchdown drives.

Teaming with Clayton Piland, Bob Gregson and Vernon Davis in forming the steel-tough forward wall have been Henry Kwiatkowski, Chuck Gordon, Jones Lockerman, Bobby Bungardner, Dempsey Williams, Cary Cannady, Wayne Davis, Earl Sweet and Henry Vansant. All-American end Dick Lage heads Lenoir Rhyne's defensive powers. Other standouts this season have been Ronnie Frye and Wade Teague.

With games remaining against Elon and Catawba, Lenoir Rhyne will be favored to choke East Carolina's glory bid tomorrow night. But if the Bucs could come out victorious, they would be assured of at least a tie for the coveted North State trophy.

This is the big game of the year but a little spice might be injected with mention of last season's spine-tingling battle. It was a game East Carolina fans will not forget anytime soon and members of the Bruin's 1959 bowl club don't like to recall the near mishap.

Lenoir Rhyne won the game 22-21 but it remained undefeated only after staging a last-minute touchdown drive and adding two points on a disputed play that almost resulted in a free-for-all.

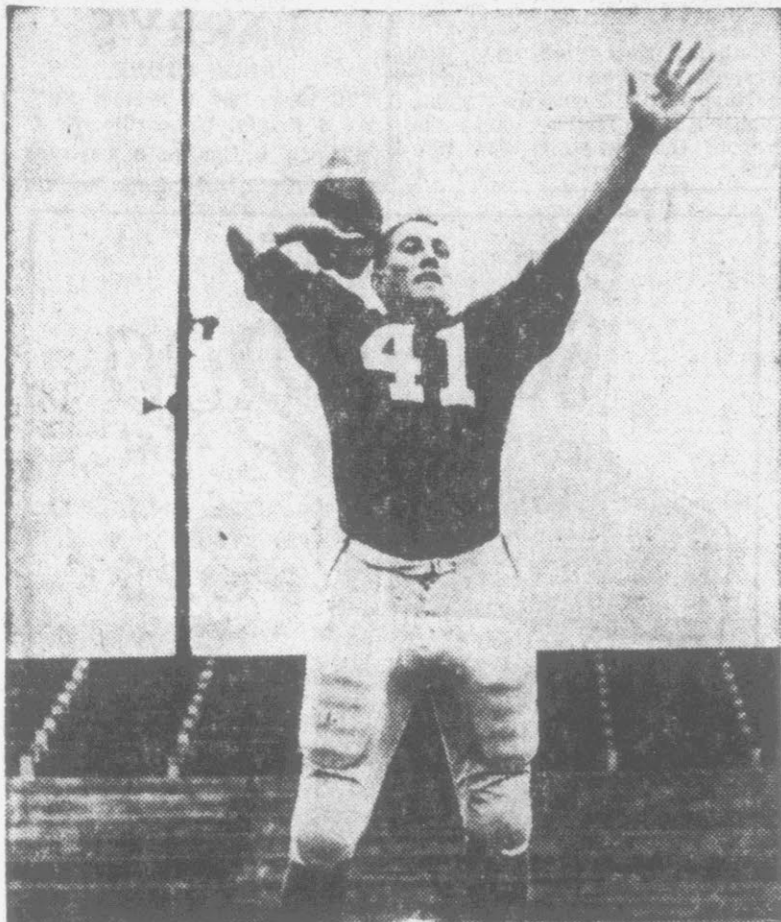

No doubt, Jack Boone has his club honed to a sharpe edge with visions of revenge.

Combat on the Hickory Field will begin at 8:00. For fans unable to attend the game, WGTC will carry the play-by-play action.

Championship Fight Is 90 Per Cent Set

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bet on the "new" Floyd Patterson to get what he wants for his third heavyweight title fight with Ingemar Johansson.

The fight, according to Patterson, is "90 per cent set" for some time between January and March. Either Miami or Los Angeles is the likely site.

"By next Thursday we will be in a position to name the site and date where the next defense by Floyd will take place," said Humbert (Jack) Fugazy, managing director of Feature Sports, Inc.

Fugazy made that statement Thursday at a boxing writers luncheon after Patterson, 25, had been presented with his second heavyweight championship belt by Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine.

When Fugazy gets around to announcing the details of the fight in the next few days it's a cinch to include the terms desired by Patterson.

The champion, poised and articulate, made that very clear.

The 10 per cent of the fight not set is exactly the percentage difference between what the renowned champion wants for his share of the ancillary rights (television, radio, movies, etc.) and what FBI wants him to accept.

Floyd said that before the second fight, which he won, he asked for, and got, a contract calling for 50 per cent of the ancillary rights for a third fight. Now, he said,

FBI wants him to take 40 per cent. "It's a matter of principle," said Patterson. "They (the promoters) didn't think I was going to win the second fight. I think if I had asked for 70 or 80 per cent then I would have gotten it. Now they want me to come down."

"I won't come down. They are holding $100,000 of my money from the second fight in escrow. If they don't want to give me the 50 per cent I won't fight for them and they can keep the money as a forfeit. But they won't promote my next fight."

The "new look" about Patterson is the way he now asserts himself publicly and in his business deals. The relationship between him and manager Cus D'Amato still is very solid but it's no longer a "Svenskall and Tribby" affair.

Six Of Seven Unbeatens Lay Records On The Line

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Six major college football powers put their perfect records up for show Saturday and no matter how they roll the dice it will come up no higher than "five" when the action is completed.
That's because Iowa and Minnesota, two unbeaten-untied titans, meet head-on at Minneapolis in the big game of the day. Each is 6-0.
Missouri, Navy, Yale and Utah
State also will be seeking to protect unmarred slates. New Mexi-

Clemson lost its No. 1 left end
Thursday. Ed Bost sprained a knee in a scrimmage and will be replaced by Sam Anderson. Otherwise, Coach Frank Howard said the Tigers were in good shape for the homecoming game with North Carolina. The Tar Heels went through their last full-scale workout Thursday, reviewing all phases of their game.
Ohio State, the seventh team with zeros in the lost and tied columns, is idle.
Iowa has knocked off the Gophers five times in succession.

Yet, the top-ranked Hawkeyes are rated no better than one-point favorites to win the Big Ten battle.
Third-ranked Minnesota has yielded only 31 points while Iowa's opponents have scored 49.
The Hawkeyes have piled up 161 points to Minnesota's 154.
Missouri (7-0) is favored by two touchdowns over Colorado in an important Big Eight game. Colorado has won five in a row since an opening loss to Baylor. However, the second-ranked Tigers have yet to give up more than one touchdown in any game this season. They've held their opponents scoreless in three games.

Duke is expected to give Navy considerable trouble. The Blue
Devils have lost only to Michigan while recording five victories. The Middies, despite their 7-0 record and the presence of powerful Joe Bellino in their lineup, are favored by only a single point.
Yale, deadlocked with Princeton for the Ivy League lead, is a two-touchdown choice to down
Pennsylvania (2-4). The Elis (6-0) rolled over Dartmouth 29-0 last week. Penn has not scored in its last two games.
A Sun Bowl invitation probably awaits the winner of the Utah
State-Wyoming game. Utah State is 7-0 and Wyoming 6-1 for the season. Each has piled up five victories without a setback in Skyline Conference competition.
There should be plenty of fireworks elsewhere this weekend, starting tonight when Florida
State will be at Miami. Marquette at Detroit and Richmond at George Washington.
Miami (3-2) is favored by 13 points over Florida State (3-3-1).
Detroit has won its last five starts after losing its opening game to Iowa State. Marquette has dropped its last three. George Washington (2-3-1) looked good whipping Air Force 20-6 last week; Richmond (1-4-1) didn't while succumbing to Virginia
Tech 20-0.
Saturday's competition will also highlight Syracuse's attempt to set back on the victory trail and an important Pacific Coast struggle between Washington and Southern California.
Syracuse (6-1) meets Army in
New York's Polo Grounds. The Orange, which had its 16-game winning streak shattered by Pittsburgh last week, rules a touchdown choice over the Cadets (5-2).
Although Washington has an overall 6-1 record and Southern Cal is 2-3, each is 2-0 in the Big Five and the winner could be

Weekend Football

Greenville and Pitt County residents are in for another top-notch football weekend tonight, with several games on the agenda.
In the headliner, the Phantoms of Greenville attempt to break the undefeated string of Eastern 4A Conference champion Wilson. The Cyclones are out to complete their first unbeaten season in the school's history. It will be a non-conference affair for the Phantoms, who have tasted defeat only once this season at the hands of Tarboro by a 15-7 score.
Eppes High's Bulldogs go after the district title tonight when they travel to Fayetteville to do battle with E. E. Smith High School. Both clubs have identical 7-1 records going into the long awaited battle.

In the Coastal Conference, which has already seen Ayden crowned the champion, there are two local games on tap. The Tornados, who breezed through the loop with an 8-0-1 record to claim the title, are idle, prepping for the State Championship.
The Red Devils of Farmville will be out to even their record tonight when they lock horns with a good Havelock club. The Red Devils are now boasting a 4-5 record.
In the other local Coastal Conference battle, Robersonville travels to LaGrange. Coach Bob Lee's Rams are seeking their third conference win against four losses.

On the collegiate front, once-beaten East Carolina attempts to dethrone nationally ranked and bowl-bound Lenoir Rhyne tomorrow night at Hickory. Coach Jack Boone's charges left for Bear country early this morning. A win for the Pirates would throw the North State Conference top spot into a three way tie between Lenoir Rhyne, Appalachian and the Bucs. A loss would drop the Pirates into third place. The Bucs are expecting a large crowd to accompany them to the mountains for the crucial battle. Last season the Bears squeaked by the Pirates by a slim 22-21 score on a disputed officials' call in the last minute of play.

Spiders Hurting With Injuries

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
George Washington, a team which at the start of the football season appeared to be in Richmond's class, couldn't have come up at a worse time as an opponent as far as the Spiders are concerned.
When the Spiders take on the Colonials in Washington tonight in a Southern Conference game, they'll be without the services of their best all-around player, 170-pound junior halfback Earl Stoudt. Tackle Joe Teeffey and center Jack Yaffa are hobbled by injuries, but the Spiders probably could get along without both if Stoudt were healthy.
Coach Ed Merrick feels as if he's lost his right arm with Stoudt out of the lineup with a knee injury suffered in the fourth quarter of last Saturday's 20-0 defeat by Virginia Tech.
By winning tonight Richmond (1-3-1) could replace GW (1-2) in fifth place in the conference standings. GW, on the other hand, can gain a fourth-place tie with Furman by finishing in front. Richmond is 1-4-1 over-all, while GW now has a 2-3-1 record against all opposition.
The game is one of three family fuses this weekend. Virginia Tech (3-0) shoots for the league lead at home Saturday against Davidson (0-2), while William and Mary (1-3) is at The Citadel (3-1) Saturday night.
In non-conference action, all Saturday afternoon, VMI entertains Lehigh. Furman invades Alabama and West Virginia plays host to Boston University in probably the Mountaineers' best chance for a victory this season.

Duke, State And Wake Forest Top ACC Schedule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two football games—one matching nationally ranked teams, the other matching a pair of the nation's top quarterbacks—share the spotlight in the Atlantic Coast Conference Saturday.
At Durham, 13th ranked Duke, the leader of the ACC, faces unbeaten, fourth ranked Navy. And at Winston-Salem, N.C. State plays Wake Forest in the heralded battle of Deacon quarterback Norman Snead and State quarterback Roman Gabriel.
While those two clashes vie for attention, North Carolina plays at Clemson in the only other conference game, and Maryland plays a Penn State in a non-conference battle. South Carolina plays at Louisiana State Saturday night. Virginia is idle this weekend.
How'll Duke do against Navy? Can the Blue Devils stop this guy Bellino?
Those are questions the fans are asking, and the answer to the first probably depends on the answer to the second.
Bellino, of course, is shifty halfback Joe Bellino, the player who has been the key to Navy's severe, straight victories and its high national ranking.
While Duke (5-1) has been beaten once and goes into the game the underdog, the Middies look upon the Blue Devils as their toughest foe since meeting Washington earlier this year. Navy won that game, 15-14.
Duke has a couple of quarterbacks, Don Altman and Walt Rappold, who have completed nearly two-thirds of their passes. Three Duke halfbacks are among the top seven in the conference in rushing.
Some look for a high scoring game, unlike the last three Duke-Navy games, all of which ended in ties.
Wake Forest and N.C. State Thursday put the finishing touches on preparations for their long awaited duel between the quarterbacks rated one-two in the ACC. Gabriel, in seven games, has completed 72 passes for 854 yards, an average of 10.3 completions and 122 yards a game. Snead, in six games, has connected on 66 passes for 764 yards, an average of 11 completions and 127.3 yards a game.
Gabriel has hit on 56.3 per cent of his passes, and Snead 47.8 per cent. Gabriel is first in total offense with 959 yards, and Snead has 773 yards.
In the South Carolina camp, Coach Warren Giese listed end and co-captain Jerry Frye as a doubtful starter. Frye has been bothered by a bad ankle.

Unbeaten Middies Eyed As Favorites For Bowl Games

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten Navy is the gaimor team in the scrambled football bowl picture.
The Midshipmen are overwhelming favorites to the Rose Bowl if they don't stub their toes, and are eyed wistfully by the Cotton, Sugar, Orange, Gator, Gotham, Bluebonnet and Liberty bowls.
An upset victory by Duke over Navy this Saturday or Army over the Middies Nov. 26 would change all that.
Not far behind Navy in popularity come Mississippi, Tennessee, Duke, Pitt, and Syracuse. Of these all have been beaten at least once except Mississippi and Tennessee, and they've been tied.
Oddly enough the No. 1 team in the land, unbeaten Iowa, does not figure too much in bowl speculation. The Big Ten has severed its contract with the Rose Bowl but its members can still accept an invitation. However, Navy has so much sentiment in Pasadena that a bid to Iowa seems unlikely.
With the Big Ten no longer sure of a Rose Bowl invitation, and the Orange Bowl not committed to an Atlantic Coast Conference team and not necessarily to a Big Eight member, the bowl merry-go-round come December will be as mad as it was back in the 1930s. It is additionally complicated by the new and strong Bluebonnet, Liberty, and Gotham bowls.

Sugar, New Orleans, Jan. 2 — Mississippi almost sure to be one of the teams, and Navy favored as the other. If Navy won't accept and Tennessee beats Mississippi Nov. 12, then it looks like Tennessee or Duke, if the Blue Devils beat Navy.

Orange, Miami, Jan. 2 — With Oklahoma and Kansas on NCAA probation and ineligible to represent the Big Eight, the Orange Bowl is only required to take a conference team if an eligible school, such as Colorado or Missouri, wins or ties for the title. For the other team, the Orange Bowl is scouting Mississippi-Tennessee Nov. 12, and Navy-Duke this Saturday.

Gator, Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 31 — the winner of the Georgia-Florida game Saturday against Pitt, but Navy or Syracuse would be welcome and Duke, Tennessee and a Southwest runner-up are in the picture.
Liberty, Philadelphia, Dec. 17 — Pitt or Syracuse against Duke with Army in the picture along with Georgia, Colorado and Oregon. Navy would also be welcome but it plays three games in Philadelphia.
Bluebonnet, Houston, Dec. 17 — A top Southwest team and either Navy, Mississippi, Duke, or Tennessee.
Gotham, New York, Dec. 10 — Syracuse favored, with attention to Navy, Pitt, Tennessee, Mississippi, Rice, Baylor, Arkansas, Oregon, Oregon State, and Wyoming.

Dies At 86

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Rhoderick John (Bobby) Wallace, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame and a former manager of the old St. Louis Browns in the American League and of the Cincinnati Reds in the National League, died in a convalescent home Thursday. He would have been 87 today.
Wallace was a pitcher at the start of his major league career, but gained stardom when he switched to shortstop. His major league pitching record was 25 wins and 20 defeats with Cleveland and part of the 1912 season.
The famed shortstop began a 25-year career with the majors when he joined Cleveland of the National League in 1894.

"You're too proud to borrow," Ben said. "You'll get a new tub in the morning." He drank some of his coffee and looked at her. She was a very attractive girl, twenty some, with a face a bit squarish, and lips that were soft and long. She caught him staring, and he covered it up by saying, "I noticed that you speak English with hardly a trace of accent. Where did you learn that?"

"In night school in Chicago. My father worked for the railroad there." She made descriptive motions with her hands. "I, the foundry he makes things of wood and sand, then parts for the trains are made from hot metal."

Sub Loading Up With Missiles CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—The atomic submarine George Washington, first sub to be armed with Polaris nuclear missiles, is taking aboard her deadly cargo. The job is proceeding without complications the Navy said in a statement Wednesday night after the first Polaris was in its tube. Loading of the 16 missiles is ex-Lt. Cmdr. J. A. Osborn, skipper of the George Washington, said: "It is good to arrive here to get into the real job for which we were built. When we finish loading these missiles, we'll be ready for a job for which we've trained more than two years."

Reviews And Reflections

By JIM POINDEXTER

To begin on a negative note, here is a comment by the eighteenth-century physicist, Lichtenberg, on the strange world of books:
"Printed by people who don't understand them; bound, reviewed, and read by people who don't understand them, and even written by people who don't understand them."
This is sweeping all right, but we wonder what the professor would say about the twentieth-century world of physics.
Whether Lichtenberg was right or wrong probably will not make much difference in the near future, if we can believe Dr. George White of the publishing house of Harcourt, Brace, Dr. White recently flatly stated that we have already become a nation of non-readers, though the figure which he cites of forty-five million volumes sold to adults last year in the U.S. may suggest that he is exaggerating somewhat.
White's most interesting statistic shows that in this country children's books outsell those for adults by a ratio of four to one. Does this mean that we start out as booklovers and shift to TV and whittling upon growing up?
It may, but we believe there are other factors which should be considered. The growth of public libraries, for example. A quick check reveals that total circulation at ECC last year was 128,000 and at Sheppard Memorial 189,000, with both recording big increases so far this year. This is not to say, of course, that we Americans read as much as we should—or even as our friends in England, Scandinavia, or France—but we haven't quit entirely.
The Snake
The title of Jean Kerr's latest, "The Snake Has All the Limes," is a puzzle. Here's the author's explanation, condensed from the dust jacket. Mother to small son Adam and Eve: "Why do you look so unhappy about taking the part of Adam?" Small son: "The Snake has all the limes!" Some people might have thought that Eve had them.

list. "Elmer Gantry," to the Pitt. Though the reviews indicate that there "little left of the novel except the name, it should be interesting cinema because of the explosive subject treated.
Dr. Rickert Speaks
Monday at 4:00 Dr. Corinne Rickert of ECC will speak to the College Lecture Club about an interesting case of Elizabethan witchcraft which she unearthed while studying in England. The place is the Joyner Library, and everybody is welcome, even if it is after Halloween.
Southern History
A new book about the South which is being favorably reviewed is C. Van Woodward's "The Burden of Southern History." One interesting fact which Mr. Woodward points out is that at least three first-class Northern authors—Herman Melville, Henry Adams, and Henry James—used Southern characters to voice their criticism of the crude Yankee outlook during the nineteenth century.
Yet Mr. Woodward is not going to let us Southerners swell with pride on account of that fact. He feels that we ourselves have tended to forget the lesson of Southern history—that a sense of community is more important than gadgets.
Our guest reviewer this week is Mrs. Robert Cramer, whose work is well-known to our readers.

German Troops Arrive In France

SISSONNE, France (AP)—Four battalions of West German soldiers arrived at French training camps today and were ordered to work immediately.
"Time in France is expensive," said a West German army spokesman.
These are the first combat soldiers to arrive under a new French-West German agreement allowing training sites in France. More soldiers will follow at periodic intervals. A spearhead moved into France last week to set up the camps.

The soldiers will be too tired to spend much of their money except on weekends, the officers said, although they can go to town if they want to when off duty.
In the two towns where the West Germans are training, the soldiers will find recreational facilities fairly slim. There are a few cafes with bars, a few tiny hotels and that's about all.
"This is a land tried by two major wars and whose civilians have lost relatives and whose memories will come back when German soldiers train here," said an order of the day given the soldiers before their arrival. "Humility and good behavior are necessary so the French can forget."

Sees A Danger In Tranquilizers

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A neurologist says physicians who prescribe tranquilizers for all patients who ask for them may be endangering the patients.
Dr. Robert H. Groh, associate professor of neurology at George Washington University in Washington, D.C., told the Southern Medical Association some tranquilizers have serious and irreversible effects on the brain.

Whirlybirds Will Carry The Poles

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — If mountaineers in northeast Kentucky look skyward in two weeks they may see swooshing over the rugged hills a huge helicopter, dangling a 75-foot, 3,000-pound utility pole. In two days and 116 trips the whirlybird will deposit poles along the 10-mile route from Newfoundland to Mazie as part of a new high-voltage rural electric line in nearly impassable terrain.
Officials found it would be cheaper to fly in the poles, with hardware attached, than to straighten the roads enough to haul them.

Honor Students Named At Winterville School

By RALPH MILLS
WINTERVILLE—Principal Paul J. Clark has announced Winterville High School's honor students for the first grading period that ended last week.
Two seniors, a junior, and two sophomores were named to the school's honor roll. Clark explained qualification for the top honor rating includes grades of "A" on all subjects taken and "H" (honor) on conduct.
On the honor roll were: seniors: Eliza Olive and Wilton McLawhorn; junior Alfred Forbes; and sophomores Janie Lou Jackson and Mary Virginia Langston.
A total of 18 students were included in the principal's list. To qualify for that group students must have grades of "A" on at least half the subjects taken with no grade less than "B" and at least "B" (satisfactory) on conduct.
On the principal's list were: seniors — Annette Stocks, Rose Avery, Mavis Butts, Mary Ellen Mills, Dolly Ann Harris, Joyce Coggins, Larry Walston, and Ralph Mills; juniors — Vivian Strickland, Judy Lawrence.
Sophomores—Polly Ann Langley, Nancy Whelham, Linda Stox, Lynda Hall, Connie Jones, and Thurman Joyner; freshmen—Ann Jackson and Linda Vernelson.
PTA
President Fenner Allen called the Winterville Parent-Teacher Association's regular meeting to order Oct. 24 in the elementary school auditorium.
County Supervisor Mrs. Enda Earle Baker addressed the group on "Trends in Education" in connection with American Education Week. She stressed the need of having quality teachers and pupils and "materials to work with" in the schools of today.
She noted a trend of grouping children together and the end of a testing program was "very successful in order to help a child find himself."
Rev. Howard James of Red Oak Christian Church presented the meeting's devotional and Mrs.

Clairessa May led the singing of three songs.
Treasurer Vernon Cox reported a balance on hand of $599.88 in the PTA treasury. Mrs. Nobles reported there were 126 tickets sold for the PTA supper by Mrs. McLawhorn's sixth grade.
Miss Whitford's seventh grade won the attendance prize.
Politics
Campaign discussion in the WHS government class is getting tougher as the school election is drawing nigh. Each committee — both Republican and Democrat — is making plans for next Tuesday's chapel program.
Committees are in the process of choosing campaign songs, poster types, and topics for final speeches. Each member of the government class is helping on one of the two "political" committees.
In addition to presidential campaigning, there will also be a discussion and election of gubernatorial candidates. Troy Jackson is the instructor of the government class.
The Glee Club had its regular meeting Friday and practiced "Gesu Bambino" and "Bless This House."
Mrs. William May, conductor, is planning for a double quartet to sing "Bless This House." Members will meet Tuesday during their individual study halls for part practice primary.
The seventh and eighth grades are to present a musical program at the November meeting of the PTA.
Student Teachers
Student teachers at Winterville High School this term are: Dee Bryson in the bookkeeping and typing department; Miss Molly Briggs and Miss Helen Allen in English; Miss Barbara Conway

THE LONG RESCUE
By Theodore Powell, Doubleday and Company, 1960, Price $4.95.
This is a tragic and valiant story of twenty-five brave men, nineteen of whom gave their lives to further scientific research of the frozen north. A true account of the Lady Franklin Bay Expedition of 1879, headed by Lieutenant Adolphus A. Greely, The Long Rescue is concerned primarily with the retreat of the exploration party, their incredible struggle for survival, and their final rescue.
Author Theodore Powell has skillfully interwoven scientific records with mystery, heartbreak, suspense, and an almost overwhelmingly simple plot. His final conclusions that the spiritual

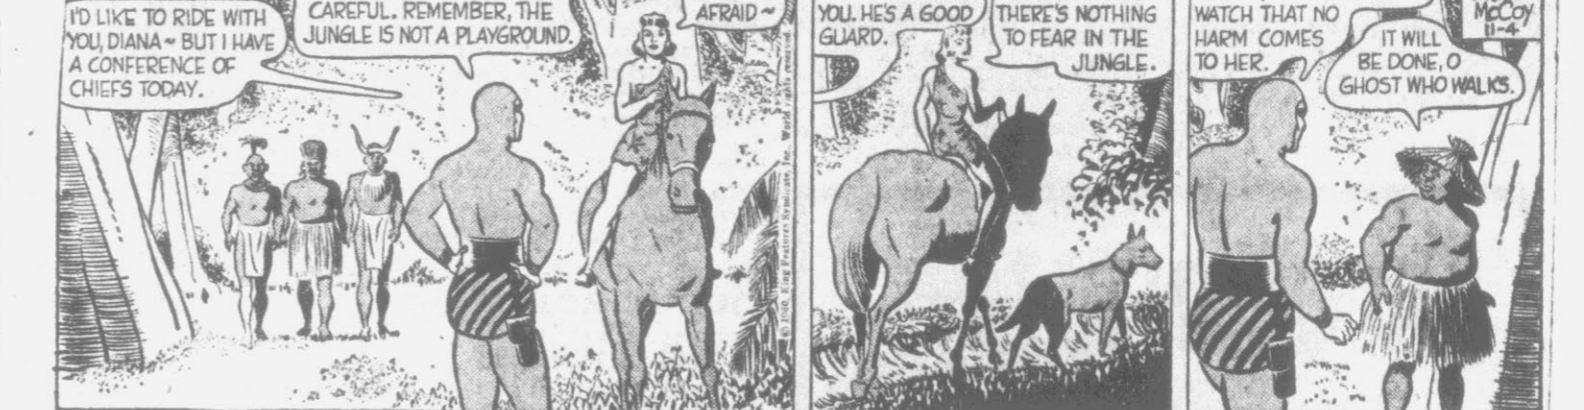

Special Stamps To Speed Mails

DARMSTADT, Germany (AP)—German postal authorities are trying fluorescent stamps to speed up automation in the mails.
The radiating matter in the stamps' paper is virtually invisible to the eye. But when it passes under an ultraviolet lamp, a yellowish shine results and starts a complicated electronic sorting and cancelling device.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took in its stride rumors of a Moscow coup and advanced briskly for the fourth straight day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.20 at 210.30 with the industrials up 2.50, the rails up .30 and the utilities up .20.

Gains of fractions to more than a point prevailed among most key stocks.

Steels, chemicals, coppers, electronics and most autos joined in a fairly broad advance. Aircrafts were up slightly.

Publication of a rumor that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had been arrested and that former Premier G. M. Malenkov had taken power was received by Wall Street with disbelief.

The market was higher at the start, widened its gains, then trimmed its better advances, still keeping a substantial advance.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.63 at 594.45. Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mixed.

Accused Spy To Be Freed On Bail

NEW YORK (AP) — Igor Y. Melekh, United Nations secretary-at-large accused of spying for the Soviet Union, goes free today on bail—but he is under federal court order to remain in Manhattan.

Melekh, 47, was ordered released Thursday in $50,000 bail pending a hearing next Wednesday on proceedings to move him to Chicago, where he was indicted with Willie Hirsch for allegedly seeking military maps and photographs of the Windy City for transmission to the Soviet Union.

The government vigorously protested the source of the bail money, which was produced in cash by two Soviet Embassy officials from Washington. The money was handed to Melekh's wife, Irina, who in turn gave it to the court.

U. S. Atty. S. Hazard Gillespie Jr. objected to the bail money coming from sources enjoying diplomatic immunity who could not be prosecuted if Melekh failed to appear for his Chicago hearing. He also objected to Mrs. Melekh posting bond.

However, federal Judge Edward Weinfeld told the government prosecutor:

"Now, Mr. Gillespie, either we are living under a constitution or we are not. She (Mrs. Melekh) has control of the money. I suggest, to whom can a person turn for bail but family and friends. If an American citizen were arrested in a foreign country he would have a perfect right to run to the American embassy for aid."

Judge Weinfeld said Melekh must not go to the U.N., which is international territory, or to the Soviet U.N. delegation headquarters or to any foreign embassy where he might seek sanctuary. He also is barred from any pier, railroad trains or terminals of any kind.

Hirsch, 52, a German-born freelance illustrator for medical magazines, remains in custody.

Melekh and Hirsch were arrested by the FBI on Oct. 27.

World Community Day Services Held

By PATRICIA MOORE
Reflector Staff Writer

Speaking at World Community Day services here this morning, Dr. Lala Steelman of East Carolina College followed America's foreign policy from the end of the second World War until today.

"Out of the ruins of World War II emerged two great powers," she said, "U.S. and Soviet Union." Describing the conflict of the democratic government, which emphasizes the importance of the individual, and of the communist nations which only confers certain rights, Dr. Steelman said the influence of communism, Dr. Steelman said. Consequently, the cold war has spread to these other regions.

Discussing Africa and Latin America, Dr. Steelman said the closest of the problem areas is Cuba, whose relations have steadily declined with this country.

Dr. Steelman said the area of the Soviet challenge has widened and changed. "At one time the challenge appeared to be military," she said. "But today the challenge is economic."

She said Khrushchev is finding it difficult to keep up the armaments race and provide his people with consumer goods at the same time. "Therefore he seeks a reduction in armaments. The U. S. also wants to disarm," she said. "Unfortunately mutual distrust and suspicion has prevented any agreement until now, although in the U.N. the talks go on," Dr. Steelman said.

Negotiation is the way for disarmament and relaxation of cold war tensions, she said.

Mrs. Karl Andersen, chairman of the Christian World Relations Committee, was in charge of the program. Mrs. Martha Bradner was guest soloist and Mrs. Tyson Bibro read the scripture. Rev. John Drake, pastor of St. Paul's Church, closed the service.

Mrs. Keith Holmes is president of the United Church Women of Greenville, sponsors of the service.

Cars Are Heavily Damaged In Crash

GRIFTON — No injuries were sustained but one car was completely demolished and another received some $600 damage in a collision at an intersection here yesterday.

Police Chief Luther Lewis said today C. W. Worthington, 77, of Rt. 1, Grifton, was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign after the 1954 model vehicle he was driving crashed into an auto driven by William Burney, 18, of Ayden, at the corner of Pitt and McRae Sts. at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Lewis quoted Worthington as saying he failed to see the stop sign on Pitt St. Worthington's car was described as a total loss. The Burney vehicle, a 1959 model car, received an estimated $600 damage, Lewis said.

Lewis investigation showed the Worthington vehicle was travelling about 12-15 miles per hour at the time of the impact.

Worthington was traveling north on Pitt St. and Burney was headed east on McRae, Lewis said.

The body will be carried to the home of his mother in Farmville Saturday afternoon.

Swine Producers Told Of Big Opportunity In Pitt

STOKES — Lorenz Nuehoff III, manager of the Kinston Frosty Morn Packing Co., told Pitt and Martin County swine producers here last night, "Eastern North Carolina has almost unlimited opportunities for swine production."

Speaking to the growers at a session sponsored jointly by the Pitt and Martin County extension services and the Stokes-Pactolus High School Vocational Agriculture Department, Nuehoff declared, "The market in Eastern Carolina is among the best in the nation."

He cited figures to show that Eastern N. C. swine producers are being paid better prices for their hogs than are some of the Midwestern producers. He praised area growers for "tremendous progress in breeding and marketing and meat-type hog." Again citing figures, Nuehoff showed the producers his firm's purchases are about 60 per cent from "Choice" and "No. 1" grades.

Also speaking at last night's gathering was livestock marketing specialist Guy Cassill of the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service. Cassill urged farmers to "get into the hog-producing business to the extent that you know you're in it." He said that extent would be when the grower is involved enough to produce efficiently.

Cassill stressed four main points: (1) to keep accurate records, (2) to produce efficiently, (3) to sell swine at the right weight, and (4)

Boy's Wrist Is Cut In Accident

A seventh-grade student at Greenville Junior High School this afternoon received what Rescue Squad members termed "a pretty bad cut" on the wrist when his hand went through the window pane of a closing door.

According to a squad spokesman, Johnny Hester, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lee Hester of 204 E. 12th St. was undergoing emergency treatment in the emergency room of Pitt Memorial Hospital at press time today.

The squad answered the call at 12:30 and carried young Hester immediately to the hospital.

Nichols School Plans Said Set

Principal Farney M. Moore of Nichols School, located at Bell Arthur, reported that organizational plans of the school have been completed within recent weeks.

Three new faculty members were welcomed by the principal. They are Miss Rosa L. Barrett of Winterville, who teaches seventh grade and has charge of the library; Mrs. Reather J. Williams of Ayden, who is teaching third and fourth grades and has charge of the school's art program; Mrs. Barbara Jones of Gates County, who teaches first grade and conducts the music program.

Students of the school entered the Ayden fair, making items from ice cream spoons and pop-sicles sticks. The exhibit is now being displayed at the school in the principal's office.

A Hallows'en program was held Monday.

Principal Moore has invited all parents and friends to visit the school at any time.

Rites Saturday For Kenneth Harrington

Kenneth Ray Harrington, 9, died at Parrott Memorial Hospital in Kinston Friday morning at 2:10, following three weeks of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Saturday afternoon at 3:30 by the Rev. Joe L. Russell Jr., pastor of St. Paul's Pentecostal Holiness Church. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Novella Harrington of Greenville; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Harrington; and a number of uncles and aunts.

Murder Charged To Former Judge

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Joseph A. Peel Jr., former city judge of West Palm Beach, Fla., was arrested late Thursday night on charges of murder in the 1955 death of a Florida judge and his wife.

Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie, vanished from their West Palm Beach home June 15, 1955. Police said circumstances indicated they had been kidnaped and slain.

Sheriff James Turner said Peel a neatly dressed man, was taken into custody 40 minutes after he arrived by plane from Charlotte, N.C.

Turner said Peel apparently came here to join James Donald Miles, 31, an Eau Gallie, Fla., builder, Miles and Peel, the sheriff said, are under $25,000 bond in Florida on charges that they conspired to murder a Florida ex-convict, Floyd A. Holzapfel, 36.

Florida authorities said it was Holzapfel who last month blurted out to two undercover agents in Melbourne, Fla., that he and another man were hired to murder Judge Chillingworth.

According to the story, which police said they tape recorded, the men took the 58-year-old judge and his wife four or five miles out to sea, weighted them with chains, and threw them overboard.

Holzapfel, who later repudiated the story, allegedly said he was hired by someone who held a grudge against Chillingworth. He is now in jail without bond in West Palm Beach under a charge of murder in the Nov. 5, 1958, slaying of Lew G. Harvey, 21, a Jacksonville area moonshine whiskey runner.

Both Peel and Holzapfel were charged with the Chillingworth murders in sealed warrants at West Palm Beach. The warrants were kept confidential until Peel's arrest.

Sheriff Turner said Peel would make no statement except to say that he would waive extradition to Florida.

District Music Clubs To Meet

Martha Pope of Robersonville and Jean Harvey of Greenville, district officers of the Northeastern District Junior Music Clubs, will assist in conducting activities at a meeting here Saturday.

The Northeastern District Junior Music Clubs will meet in the Music Building of East Carolina College, convening at 10:30 a.m. with luncheon at noon.

Guests speaker will be the state junior counselor, Mrs. John W. Clark of Charlotte, who will also conduct a candlelight installation service for new officers elected.

Humber Says . . .

tions has adopted the idea, he said, and Russia regards the policy as fundamental.

In contrast to these Democratic achievements, Dr. Humber declared, no original idea in world affairs has been presented to the nation during the past eight years. The Eisenhower Doctrine, he said by way of example, is the Truman Doctrine under another name.

The United Nations, created to assure security in the world, he described as the "offspring of the League of Nations." Both, he said, were created under Democratic leadership.

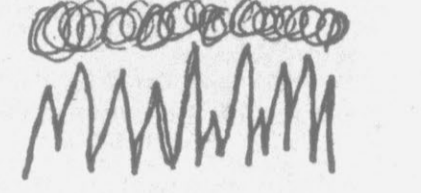

The Democratic Party, he stated, turned the nation over to the Republicans when this country commanded highest respect from other nations. Faith abroad in our supremacy as a world power has declined, he said.

"We have slipped, and slipped, and slipped," he explained, commenting on such vital areas as defense and the development of atomic power.

Strength and negotiation, he declared, must be the cornerstone of our future national policy. These are the means, he said, proposed by Senator Kennedy for recovering our losses in prestige and for moving forward as a nation powerful at home and aware of responsibilities and obligations abroad.

Urges Return Of Marketing Cards

J. Lyman Edwards, chairman of the Pitt County ASC Committee, today issued a reminder to Pitt County farmers to return their tobacco marketing cards.

Edwards cautioned farmers that failure to return the marketing card or otherwise account for the disposition of tobacco produced on the farm will mean an automatic reduction of the 1961 tobacco allotment.

He pointed out that an early return of tobacco marketing cards will also enable the county office to give an early report of the total production of tobacco in the county and the average yield per acre.
