Plans Shape Up For Christmas Parade in City On December 1

At Least Seven Bands, 16 Floats and Ten Other Units Anticipated

Greenville's annual Christmas parade, set for Dec. 1 at 4 p.m., will include at least seven marching bands, 16 floats, and 10 more participating units, according to an announcement today from Chairman W. C. (Bill) Taylor Jr.

While the list of entries is still incomplete, Taylor said, most of the details for this year's Santa Claus Parade have been worked out.

Bands scheduled to march in the procession will include the East Carolina College, Greenville High School, C. M. Eppes High School, Tarboro High School, Farmville High School, H. B. Suggs High School of Farmville, and a joint group from Ayden and Winterville High Schools.

To date a total of seven professional and nine non-professional floats have been entered, Taylor said. In addition to the floats, 10 more marching units and vehicles will participate.

Taylor pointed out the deadline for entering floats and units in the parade is 12 noon Nov. 26 - Saturday prior to the parade.

Entries should register with the Merchants Association, sponsor of the parade.

This year's route will take the parade from the corner of W. Ninth St. and Dickinson Ave. down Dickinson to Washington St.; north on Washington to Third St.; then east on Third to Evans St.; south on Evans to Five Points; and east on Fifth St. to the East Carolina College campus where it will disband.

Trophies will be awarded to the winning professional and non-professional floats upon the decision of a three-member judge panel. Judges are Mayor S. F. Peterson of Ayden, Mayor Burney Tucker of Winterville, and Mayor C. W. Everett of Bethel.

Taylor has appointed the following committees: To line up bands - J. A. Collins Jr.; to line up floats - Clarke Stokes, Lester Turnage Jr., Max Ray Joyner, Frank Diener Jr., Wesley Harvey Jr., Jack Wallace, and John R. Hardy; to obtain tractors to pull floats - F. Badger Johnson Jr.; mounted escorts - Frank Steinmeyer; arranging for girls on floats - Herbert M. Wilkerson and E. S. Webb; and float entry committee - Larry Averette and Jarvis Alligood.

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, leaving for a vacation in the Virgin Islands, today discounted any possibility that he might be offered a post in the new Democratic administration.

The unsuccessful Republican candidate for vice president boarded a plane at Idlewild Airport with his wife. He said they planned to spend a week or so in the Virgin Islands.

Lodge told newsmen any possibility that he might be offered—or might accept—an appointment by President-elect John F. Kennedy was "a new idea."

Fugitive Believed Still In Pitt County

PITT COUNTY PRISON . . . guards and bloodhound "take a breather" in the hunt for a 29-year-old prisoner who ran from a road gang near Helen's Cross Roads yesterday.

ECC Improvement Sums Suggested

Capital improvement expenditures at East Carolina College recommended in Raleigh Tuesday by the State Higher Board of Education total $2,334,500 and include nearly $1 million to replace Austin Building—the campus' oldest.

Other recommended capital improvements on the local campus include half the cost ($268,750) of replacing Wilson Dormitory for women, a $423,000 addition to the college's library, and half the cost ($737,750) for another mammoth dormitory for men including a cafeteria.

The four major projects were placed in Classification II by the board. The body divided its recommendations into three different categories in order of urgency.

Classification I, the smallest of the three, suggested expenditures for improvements needed immediately.

The second category included items needed immediately that should be provided for "even if it takes a bond issue," the board said.

ECC officials have discussed the probability of relocating Austin, erected here more than 50 years ago. The decision, however, has reportedly not been made. The comment on Kennedy's Catholicism was the first published here since the election.

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill has broken a bone in his back in a fall at his home, a household spokesman said today.

The former prime minister will be 86 on Nov. 30.

Arrangements to settle the sewer project, which has been pending for several months, is a step nearer, Mayor said. Officials of Sanford Construction Company and the Continental Casualty Company were present at the meeting to discuss the matter.

Tarboro Man Is Escapee From Pitt Road Gang

AYDEN—A 29-year-old Tarboro man, sentenced to 20 years in prison for burglary, escaped yesterday about 3 p.m. from a Pitt County Road gang working about three miles west of here between Helen's and Cannon's Cross Roads.

Capt. L. F. Dail, superintendent of the Pitt County Prison-Camp identified the man as Paul Joseph Dail. He was wearing brown prison clothes at the time he escaped, the prison official said.

Capt. Dail said the escapee "jumped and ran" into a wooded area as the crew was clearing a ditch bank beside the road. The guard, Ben Stevenson, "fired one time" at the fleeing man, but "I don't think he hit him," Dail commented.

The prisoner was sighted one time after dark, according to the Superintendent, but guards were unable to capture him. He had served about two and one-half months of a 20 year sentence from Pitt County for burglary, Camp officials said.

Capt. Dail said this morning "the man is still believed to be in Pitt County" and requested anyone seeing a man answering his description to call the Pitt County Sheriff's Office or the Pitt County Prison-Camp. The escaped felon is five-feet seven-inches tall and weighs 132 pounds. He has brown eyes and black hair and was wearing prison department boots at the time of his escape, Dail said.

Guatemala City (AP)—Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras predicted Tuesday night that the last rebel stronghold at Puerto Barrios would be taken today.

"These traitors to the fatherland are receiving aid from abroad," the president charged in a television broadcast.

"They are receiving airplanes from Castro (Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro) loaded with ammunition of all sorts to kill Guatemalans."

Ydigoras has insisted since the rebellion broke out Sunday that it was being helped by Cuba. Castro's government issued denials.

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—U. S. Marine corps helicopters today brought the bodies of nine air crash victims down from Mount Mariveles. The nine died in successive crashes Tuesday.

Among them were Rear Adm. Arthur F. Spring, commander of Subic Bay naval base, and Mrs. Spring. There were also five other American servicemen and two Filipino soldiers.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Ventriologist Peter Rich says there's no such thing as "throwing your voice." He maintains, "it's 90 per cent acting and 10 per cent ventriologism. New Orleans Police Bring Fire Hoses Against Mobs

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Club-swinging police called fire hoses into action today in an attempt to break up a screaming demonstration against school integration in downtown New Orleans.

Firemen aimed streams of water at the demonstrators, to keep them back from the New Orleans Board office.

The crowd chanted "We don't want to integrate." But the water deflected from the pavement in front of them and the streams sailing overhead dispersed the demonstrators from the school board office area.

The police radio reported in the midst of the melee that a group of teen-agers had taken at least one fire hose from the firemen and turned it against the officers.

The report did not elaborate. Police loud speakers blared over the tumult: "Move on, move on. We don't want to injure anyone."

While the impassioned show against the mixing of races in the schools spread to downtown New Orleans, a pupil boycott virtually halted education at the two schools integrated by four Negro first-grade girls last Monday.

In Baton Rouge, the Louisiana Legislature heard U.S. Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana tell members of the demonstrators in Washington "is likely to get worse. We simply do not have the votes."

Wary legislators—still fighting mad—began a 30-day special session trying to find a way out of integration.

A newsman reported he saw from 50 to 75 persons arrested. The same man reported the first violence between a white man and a Negro, a fist fight.

Club-swinging police backed the demonstrators up and chased them from the school board building's street.

The crowd moved back and began to form battle lines at a nearby city park square, regroup and surged down another narrow street toward the school board.

Police formed a bigger circle to restrain the demonstrators.

The police forces at one of the integrated schools was cut and rushed to the downtown area.

A group of the teen-agers told newsmen one of the motorcycle policemen ran a girl down.

When others tried to help her, they said police swung the clubs at them.

Then, the demonstrators said, officers picked the girl up and threw her out of the way.

Sirens blared all over the downtown business area as more and more policemen surged into the blocks around the school board building.

Unlike the first two days of the integration dispute, only a few of spectators turned out at McDonogh No. 19, one of the two all-white schools integrated by federal court order.

There were no boos, yells or taunts.

The number of white school children attending McDonogh fell off. Only two were seen entering the school — its normal enrollment 467 — when the bell rang.

Louisiana legislators Tuesday urged white parents to keep their children away from the integrated schools.

But one mile away from the student school 50 cars filled with silent teen-agers carrying signs paraded along streets near the industrial canal.

Police cut off the caravan at the canal.

Some signs bore the insignia "KKK." Youths clung to the sides of the cars. Car horns sounded a nearly constant blare of noise.

At William Frantz school, the one Negro girl showed up late, nearly at 9:30 a.m. The crowd that watched four U.S. marshals escort her into the school was smaller, probably under 200.

Two white children carried an effigy of a little Negro girl through the crowd. There were cheers.

Police escorted the two children a block away from the school before the Negro first-grader arrived.

There were cheers for a mother withdrawing her white child from the school, jeers and taunts of "nigger-lover" for parents who brought their child to school.

Impachment of a federal judge who ordered the integration was reported under discussion as the lawmakers ended a 12-day special session at Baton Rouge in early morning hours.

A rare closed session was called today to start a new special 30-day meeting called by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

Both houses approved a resolution urging a boycott of the integrated schools. The House approved it 93-2 and it passed the Senate 34-0.

Convicted A-Bomb Spy Is Freed, Meets Hostility

NEW YORK (AP)—David Greenglass, the convicted atom bomb spy who helped send his sister and her husband to the electric chair, went free today after 9½ years in prison.

The short, meek-appearing man emerged at 8:35 a.m. from the federal house of detention. He was accompanied by his attorney, O. John Rogge, who ruled out any statement.

Greenglass appeared terrified as he confronted 60 newsmen and photographers and heard derogatory shouts from longshoremen and truckers attracted to the scene.

"Drop dead, you lousy Communist," a voice in the hostile crowd yelled as Greenglass and his attorney got into a taxicab and left for an undisclosed destination.

Someone else directed the cabbie, "Drive him off the pier, right into the river, the dirty rat."

Greenglass accepted the slurs in silence.

Greenglass, now 38, was sentenced to 15 years in prison in 1951 for his part in the spy plot. He got time off for good behavior.

He served his term in the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., and was transferred to the Federal House of Detention here last weekend to facilitate his release.

What are his plans? Does he have a job? No one is saying.

It was Greenglass' testimony that helped send his brother-in-law, Julius Rosenberg, and his sister, Ethel Rosenberg, to the Sing Sing Prison death chair.

Greenglass, a former Brooklyn machinist and U.S. Army technician, pleaded guilty for his part in the theft of U.S. atomic secrets, which were passed on to the Soviets. He was the government's key witness at the Rosenbergs' trial.

A radar expert, Morton Sobell, joined the Rosenbergs in denying their guilt and stood trial with them. All three were convicted. Sobell was sentenced to 30 years. The Rosenbergs were executed in June 1953.

Another member of the ring, Harry Gold, a Philadelphia biochemist, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to from 8 to 30 years in prison.

Sobell and Gold are still in prison.

Why did Greenglass steal atomic information? He said it was because he felt the Soviet Union—wartime ally of the United States—was entitled to it.

Greenglass was born on New York's lower East Side, and in his youth belonged to the Young Communist League. In 1943, he was inducted into the Army and a year later sent to Los Alamos, N.M., where he worked on the atomic bomb.

Greenglass provided a sketch of the bomb—the type dropped on Nagasaki, an expert said—for Rosenberg for relay to the Soviet Union. Greenglass was arrested in 1950.

The spy ring allegedly was headed by Rosenberg, but masterminded by Anatoli Yakovlev, a former Soviet vice consul in New York. He disappeared before the espionage ring was uncovered.

The ring also reputedly had connections with Klaus Fuchs, a British scientist, who served a prison term in England. Fuchs, after his release, disappeared behind the Iron Curtain.

Greenglass' wife, Ruth, was named a co-conspirator but not a defendant at the time Greenglass was arrested. They have two children.

To Desegregate?

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A resolution to desegregate North Carolina's seven Baptist colleges was laid before the State Baptist Convention today.

The resolution offered by the Rev. Robert T. Seymour, pastor of the Binkley Memorial Church at Chapel Hill, called for "all deliberate speed in the complete desegregation of Wake Forest and Meredith colleges, the denomination's senior institutions, and its five junior colleges."

The resolution said that to date no Negroes have been admitted to any of the Baptist colleges, and that because of this segregation policy "a large area of Baptist leadership" is being denied adequate training for "all deliberate speed in the resolution which will bring it with others to the floor Thursday."

The resolution hit the convention floor shortly after the 2,303 delegates to the 130th annual convention voted to hold a special convention in the spring to act on a request for $40 million to expand the seven colleges.

Driver Hurt As Car Wrecks Early Today

Investigation is continuing in the wreck of a car about five miles east of Greenville which traveled out of control for 390 feet before coming to rest early this morning.

Patrolman J. B. Surles, who investigated the wreck, identified the driver of the vehicle as Marvin Ray Dixon, 31, of Route 3, Greenville.

According to the officer, the vehicle, headed east, rounded a curve and went out of control. The auto struck a traffic island in front of a service station on the curve, jumped a ditch, then traveled for 126 feet through the air. The vehicle then "touched down," jumped a second six-foot-wide ditch, broke a utilities pole, traveled for 30 more feet through the air before running into a 10-foot deep ditch, where it hit bottom and bounced out again.

Surles said Dixon was treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital for injuries received in the collision, then released.

Damage to the vehicle, a 1961 model car with only about 1,300 miles on the speedometer, was set at over $1,000.

Surles said the vehicle was apparently traveling at a high rate of speed when it went out of control. He added that there was no fog on the road in the vicinity of the wreck.

Ayden Board Decides Cost Of Water Taps To Rise On Jan. 1

AYDEN—Cost of water taps will go up here effective Jan. 1, 1961, the Ayden Town Board decided at their meeting this week, and an ordinance calling for the use of the sanitary sewer line will be strictly enforced.

The board in session Monday night, approved raising cost of a water tap within the city limits to $50 and outside the city limits to $75. Town Manager Cleveland Paylor said.

Working in conjunction with the Pitt County Health Department, the board voted to strictly enforce the ordinance calling for use of the sanitary sewer line, since some residents had been lax in complying with a previous deadline of Oct. 15 set by the Town Board.

Part of the town is still using septic tanks. Paylor commented "The new sewer line was installed some time ago and residents were supposed to make arrangements to use the new line by Oct. 15, by order of the Town Board."

Another ordinance which will be enforced is one concerning display of merchandise on the public sidewalks of the town of Ayden, Paylor said.

In other business, the board approved plans for a contest to select a seal for the town. The contest, to be sponsored by the town of Ayden, will be limited to high school students of South Ayden School and Ayden High School, Paylor said. First prize would be $15 and second prize $10, Paylor said.

The seal would be used on town equipment, for letterheads and in other capacities as the official seal of the town. Heretofore, Ayden has had no town seal. Other details will be announced later.

Recover Bodies Of Crash Dead

Among them were Rear Adm. Arthur F. Spring, commander of Subic Bay naval base, and Mrs. Spring. There were also five other American servicemen and two Filipino soldiers.

Board members approved purchase of a half-ton truck for use in the water and light department.

Ayden commissioners posed for a picture, which will be hung on the walls of the Joseph Palmer Knapp Building, known as the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill, with pictures of other city councils in session.

The building will be dedicated the latter part of this month.

Weather Favors Work On Farms

RALEIGH (AP)—Weather conditions in North Carolina last week were favorable and excellent progress was made in seeding small grains, land preparation and fall harvesting.

The North Carolina Crop Reporting Service said today soil moisture was at a satisfactory level throughout the state, except for a few dry areas in the coastal plain.

Reports indicated that about four-fifths of the small grain acreage had been seeded, about three-fifths of the corn harvested, over four-fifths of the cotton picked, and about two-fifths of the soybeans and lespedeza harvested.

Future Substitute For The U-2 Plane

The magnificent feat of catching a satellite's capsule, falling from space, carries with it all sorts of implications.

To our knowledge nothing like it has been accomplished by the Communist powers. But then, they would be unlikely to announce a success in this field or attendant failures.

The fact that we do have such capabilities is all-important to the free world. It is most necessary that we possess the specific kind of information provided by high-altitude photographs which is obtainable in no other way.

Disparity between this country's availability of information on defense work, and the great secretiveness of Russia is well known to most Americans.

Soviet fact-finders have merely to read the newspaper and magazines to find the general data concerning U. S. defense preparations, installations and plans for the future. It's an old story that anyone wanting to know where and how many bases are being built or scheduled for the launching of intercontinental ballistic missiles has only to telephone the Pentagon and be given the information.

In Moscow, even telephone directories are not available for general use.

All of which illustrates to a considerable degree why this country needed the now-famous U-2 planes for information-gathering purposes; and Russia did not.

The Reflector has been unhappy about promised suspension of flights over Russian territory by the U-2 for the reason that as the time rapidly approaches when the missile-gap reaches its greatest degree, we sorely need very possible scrap of information on what is going on behind the Iron Curtain.

To be sure, U. S. intelligence agencies are using conventional and "unconventional" means of gathering data on what is taking place within the Red domain; but the U-2 was a tremendous asset during the period it was in use.

With the successful orbiting of a "package" designed to fulfill the U-2 mission, and its recovery, this country is moving into position wherein it will be able to regain lost ground in the field of military intelligence.

Air Force announcements concerning Discoverer XVII's launching and successful orbit (over Russia, incidentally), omitted mention of the purposes of its "payload". We may, and may not, learn later the details of this aspect.

We are confident however that it is related to the overall problem of surveillance.

Successes marking the Discoverer XVII project are true signposts along the way to future series of satellites which will photograph and even televise details of potential military significance so closely guarded by the Iron Curtain.

Khrushchev, Maybe?

Heard Sounds Of Music

Your columnist passed by the County Jail yesterday. A trusty was standing on the front porch singing. His tune? "I'm in the Jailhouse Now."

It must have been inspiring I passed by yesterday afternoon and some of the women prisoners had picked up the spirit of the thing.

They were giving out with spirituals from the upper floors of the jail.

Utilities Supt. Leonard Bloxam called to disavow any connection with a picture of him which ran in Monday's Reflector.

He said his wife declared that the newspaper had run somebody else's photo over his name. It was Mr. Bloxam's picture, I tell you.

And to borrow from the column of A.C. Snow in the Raleigh Times, here's a word of advice for motorists:

When you get behind the wheel of an automobile be watchful for teen-agers — especially the ones who are driving.

Jaycee will sponsor an air show at the Pitt - Greenville Airport Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m.

The show will feature parachute jumping, wind walking and all the other features of these historic bi-wing shows.

An unusual feature of this particular show, however, will be the performance of Lynda Earnhart, a 15 year old Kernersville High School student.

She is billed as the youngest "Girl on the Wing" in the world. Lynda who started her air act when she was 13 years old comes from a flying family.

She received national recognition when Life magazine did a story on her. She also stamped the panel on "What's My Line" and received favorable comments from Dorothy Kilgallen.

It all promises to be a thrilling show and of course the proceeds will be used for Jaycee projects.

The show will also feature Capt. Bennie Walker, World War II flyer, crop sprayer, airplane pilot and air show pilot; Capt. Bob Nance, World War II flyer and June Covington, professional parachute jumper, member of the Charlotte Sky Divers and flyer, crop sprayer and mechanic.

There will also be a comedy act featuring K. Jack Parks.

Sanford Girding For Troubles

By LYNN NISBET

TIME OUT—There is well grounded suspicion that Governor-elect Terry Sanford and his political advisers changed opinion about desirability of a special session of the Legislature for the inauguration in order to gain more time to plan and build support for their legislative program. Calling for time out is a device frequently used by football coaches in final minutes of the game when the going is tough. It affords opportunity for huddle conferences and for resting the players.

There are unmistakable signs of trouble ahead for the new administration. Sanford was not the first primary choice of any other State elective official. It is believed that all of them supported him in the second primary system was adopted 35 years ago. The primary battles, most heated since the primary system was adopted 35 years ago, left some scars. Perhaps no more than the Hoey-McDonald races in 1936 and the Scott-Johnson primaries of 1948. But in those years the winners had undisturbed opportunity between June and January to heal the primary wounds. There was never any doubt about general election approval of the Democratic party nominees for State and national offices. The fall campaign was a series of Democratic love feasts. This year it was different, and Sanford was forced to fight for his political life in September and October general election wars as strenuously as he had fought in the May and June primaries.

During the fall general election campaign he not only had to bring into the fold those who had opposed him in the primaries, but he had an even harder time reconciling some of his original primary backers to his early endorsement of Kennedy for the presidential nomination at Los Angeles.

NO BONUS—Political observers credit Sanford with doing a good job in retaining general election support of his primary backers as well as other factions in the Democratic party. In face of the most expensive and intensive campaign waged by the Republicans in the state since 1928, the Democrats came through to win. But margins were reduced. Sanford's majority for Governor was smallest in 32 years, and the national ticket had the second smallest margin since 1928.

The 1961 General Assembly will have 15 Republicans in the House, more than any session since 1929. And a number of the Democrats who were elected insist that they won in spite of, not because of, the Sanford and Kennedy influence on voting.

Consequently they do not feel they owe the executive branch anything.

That is particularly true of legislators who come from counties that gave preponderant majorities to Republican Gavin, over Democratic Sanford. Lieutenant Governor Cloyd Philpott lost his county of Davidson to the Republican legislative candidate, Rep. Joe Hunt of Guilford, almost certain to be Speaker of the House, will have for the first time in many years a Republican member of his county delegation. Add to this record-breaking Republican membership the hanger factional animosities among the Democrats in the Legislature, and the only possible prospect is political trouble for the powers that be.

LOBBYISTS—It is no secret that representatives of big business interests who are registered as lobbyists exercise great influence on legislation. In some quarters these folks are regarded as a very bad influence. Veteran legislators recognize them as sources of accurate and dependable information which is helpful in enactment of fair and sound laws.

These business representatives are not as unhappy about the election results as are some of all-out politicians. For most they are pleased that the Democrats won—but by such narrow margin as to afford some breaks upon their activities. Among some of them there open gratification that a few Democratic legislators were replaced by more conservative Republicans.

TASK—The task immediately facing Governor Sanford is to obtain friendly cooperation from the independently elected Council of State; to select administrative appointees who will be in full sympathy with his program, and who yet will recognize the rights of the biggest minority group of voters in many years; to prevent open break between the executive and legislative branches, and revolt of legislators against their presiding officers. Accomplishment of these objectives will require diplomacy of high grade — and diplomatic processes are necessarily slow.

Sanford made education the prime issue in all his campaigns. Already there is evidence of wide breach between the public schools and the institutions were reduced. Sanford's majority for Governor was smallest in 32 years, and the national ticket had the second smallest margin since 1928.

The Remarkable Role Of Lyndon B. Johnson

We view with growing admiration the role of Senator Lyndon Johnson in the recent campaign and his prospective role in the next administration.

To begin with, he did not have to accept the position as John Kennedy's running mate. That he did so, would reflect a number of possibilities all creditable to him, such as:

A sense of loyalty to the party, an instinct of selflessness, the call of duty, the seer's eye of a winning ticket in November, the challenge of unique service the vice presidency would offer.

During the campaign, Senator Johnson did not spare himself. . . he made it plain that "where he leads (referring to Kennedy), I follow". He swung doubtful Democratic Party leaders back into the fold, and proved again there's no good political strategist like an experienced political strategist. The party kept States they more than half-expected to lose, and they kept those states because of Senator Johnson.

As a man who proved he knows the Senate like the palm of his hand . . . the Johnson vice presidential role looms as the Administration's biggest single factor for reasonably harmonious dealings with Congress.

In his brief role as Senator Majority Leader he will be largely responsible for organizing the Senate. As Vice President, he will be in a position to know almost precisely how each committee will react, how the voting will go, the prospects of just how much the Senate will accept in the way of Administration bills.

Similarly, his friend Rep. Sam Rayburn will be able to guide and advise on legislation of interest to the Administration.

Communists In Crucial Session

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

For a week world Communist leaders have been meeting at the summit. All the secrecy surrounding their sessions cannot hide a growing nervousness.

One basic point of cleavage worries them more than any other. It is not the question whether war is inevitable, nor the question of how Communist-ruled nations should develop internally. These are side issues.

The big quarrel concerns expansion of the Communist movement. This pits the leadership of Red China, Albania and possibly even the East Germans, backed by some chiefs from parties outside the Soviet orbit, against Nikita Khrushchev and most of the satellite leadership. Black limousines have been scurrying back and forth through the Kremlin's turreted gates, bearing Communist chiefs to and from summit sessions. One gets the impression there is tough talk going on which will result in publication of a new manifesto.

The new pronouncement will be loaded with platitudes about the unbreakable solidarity of the Red camp under Moscow. But indications are that the leaders are making little progress toward patching up the main differences among them.

The big argument is this: Red China, backed by some dissidents from other Communist parties around the world, objects to Khrushchev's economic aid plans, especially with respect to underdeveloped countries. The Chinese resent any aid which tends to lend political stability to any government which is not Communist-oriented. Throwing Lenin's words at Khrushchev, the Chinese insist that only violent revolution can lead to dictatorships of the proletariat.

Khrushchev's men urge peace and caution. They promise to use Soviet economic policy "a main influence for world revolution," but project their program over 20 years. They promise to unfold this program at the next—22nd—Soviet Communist party congress, probably early in 1961.

The quarrel has made an important figure of Wladyslaw Gomułka, chief of Poland's Communist party. He is considered the only pro-Khrushchev man who has the ear and the respect of the Chinese Communists. Khrushchev appears to have few other real friends to whom the Chinese will listen.

The Chinese Reds do not want to wait until 1960 for the real beginning of a world revolution. Neither do many of the Communist leaders outside the Soviet orbit, who smell the heady scent of power now and who in 1960 would be too old or too dead to enjoy the fruits of a long-range Soviet program. They complain that Khrushchev sacrifices their interests for the sake of purely Soviet aims and policies.

All this tends to put the Chinese Communists in the light of being the greatest danger to world peace today. The big peril could well be that the Red Chinese and their supporters might prevail.

That would mean pressures would be stepped up quickly in all the world's critical areas. The world Communist movement then would be relying principally upon piling chaos upon chaos in attempts to exploit.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

Sunday observance is today, as it has always been, a matter of much dispute among sincere Christian believers.

There are some who believe that the day should be rigidly kept with no activities of any kind save rest and worship. There are others, equally sincere, who would secularize the day almost entirely. The truth would appear to lie somewhere between these two extremes. Also, we have a principle to guide us in that Jesus said first that Sabbath was made for men, not men for the Sabbath, and again that the son of man (Jesus himself) is Lord also of the Sabbath.

So we are not to use the day as an institution to be served, and worshipped. We are to use the day as a merciful opportunity to rest and as a God-given opportunity to worship.

Sunday should be a glad day. It should be a day of great human usefulness. It should be a time when parents take perhaps an hour off to see that their children get a bit of extra religious instruction, such as going over the Sunday school lesson of that day, reading over the lesson for next week, and especially having them memorize certain passages of Scripture.

Tomorrow we shall ask ourselves what passages of Scripture can most advantageously be

Other Editors Saying . . . Length Of Campaigns

(Henderson Dispatch)

In the aftermath of the election, the old speculation rears its head again as to whether election campaigns are too long drawn out in this country. There are, of course, arguments on both sides of the question.

Certainly it can be said that the public as well as the candidates is tired of the daily diet and worn to a frazzle from listening to it for three long months or more. There are those, too, who say sometimes that if only the balloting had been delayed another week, or two weeks, such and such a candidate would have overcome his opposition and won. Even now the opinion is heard that had the election been a month or so earlier Nixon would have defeated Kennedy for President.

That is no better guess than to claim the reverse of actual results had only a few votes been changed here and there. —Those millions of Americans who would like a shorter campaign in order to save themselves the trouble of reading and listening to the arguments can find release and relief simply by looking in the other direction.

We do not believe it is necessary to stretch the appeals and the speaking over three or four months in order to give the average citizen an opportunity to reach a conclusion as to how he will vote. Nor does it seem that that much time is required for candidates to explain their stand on public questions.

People who offer the suggestion as to shorter campaigns provide themselves something to talk about. Very probably the general public is not sufficiently interested to make its voice felt. The people can take it or leave it.

The only way to shorten the time is for the national conventions to be held later in the summer. As things now stand, the nominees of both major parties start their trips and their speeches as soon as they can arrange for them after being nominated. Each is anxious to get the jump on the other, and hence lose no opportunity of going into action.

In Britain, or even in Canada, our next-door neighbor, political campaigns are not as lengthy as in the United States. In neither of those instances, however, is there as much territory to cover as here. They do not have fifty States to visit, each as a separate entity to itself, and each with its share of electoral votes.

For our part, we would welcome a little shorter political conflict. Everybody today is relieved that the campaign is ended, whether on the winning or losing side. But the only way to curtail is to delay the national conventions. There has been no indication of a desire to do that. Popular sentiment in the next four years could make itself felt, but is not likely to do so.

Drains On U. S. Gold Reserves

By ELMER ROESSNER

The drain on America's gold supply is one of the most critical problems facing the next President, name of Kennedy.

In 1949 (a Truman year), the United States held $24.4 billion in gold. Since then the supply has almost steadily fallen. Last week the government's holdings were $19.2 billion, the smallest since early 1940.

Furthermore, the holdings are likely to decrease further. Foreign nations hold bundles of dollar credits which they can exchange for gold.

And to make matters worse, the platform on which John F. Kennedy ran calls for actions that would tend to endanger the American stock of gold even further.

THE GENEROUS PLANKS The Democratic Party, no less than the Republican, is committed to more foreign aid. This is of utmost importance, especially in the Latin-American sector, where it is necessary to make free enterprise work and work well if communist intrusions are to be blocked. But most forms of foreign aid will involve some drain on our gold supply.

We can, of course, send a shipment of grain to Chile—which is one of the things we are doing this moment. No gold loss there, but the grain will probably go in American ships and the money spent abroad, by crew members and for fuel and supplies, can become demands on American gold.

The government will keep this at a minimum, but it will nevertheless persist.

The greatest need of American aid is for plants and factories, to enable Latin American and, in addition, the New Africa to develop its own industry. But money spent for plants abroad can be converted into demands for an equivalent amount of gold. How to build up foreign economies without losing more gold is one of the toughest problems the new administration faces.

BASES ABROAD Our bases abroad are another drain. Service men spend American dollars in the local economy; the bases themselves buy products and services in the local economy. Every dollar spent becomes a potential demand on a bit of Fort Knox gold.

American travelers create still another drain when they spend their dollars in foreign countries.

What can the new administration do? It cannot cut foreign aid in the form of products, but it may insist that the recipients provide local currencies to cover the expenses.

It cannot reduce the amount of investment abroad, but it can limit exchanges so that host nations will pay more in local

Choice Of New Cabinet

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

As soon as it was clear that John Kennedy was elected, the question began to be debated as to who would be the next Secretary of State. Many names were mentioned: Chester Bowles, Adlai Stevenson, Eugene Black, Senator Fulbright and so on. No one had a lead because the Candidate had enough trouble to get himself elected and if he runs true to form, he has made no commitments and no promises, particularly as to Cabinet posts.

It will be possible to have a fairly clear picture of the nature and structure of the Kennedy Administration after he has announced his appointments of the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State, it will be obvious that Kennedy, as President, means to manage his own foreign affairs. Roosevelt had Cordell Hull as his Secretary of State because he wanted to handle these problems himself. President Truman had a strong man in office, Dean Acheson. President Eisenhower had a strong man in John Foster Dulles and a weak man in Christian Herter. Dulles ran the State Department as though the President did not exist. Acheson accepted more attacks than any Secretary of State in many decades; he would today be welcomed by many of those who attacked him.

If the President means to conduct his own foreign policy, nothing can stop him. The Secretary of State then becomes the head technician of a bureaucracy with very little initiative. In the days of John Hay, Elihu Root and Charles Evans Hughes, this made little difference. The bureaucracy was under control by patriotic motives and a Secretary could depend upon his subordinates.

Today, the State Department is a vast bureaucratic organization where it is possible for Deskmen to form policy as a result of day-by-day operations. We lost Cuba because of improperities down on the Desk level in the State Department. By the time that a weak Secretary of State or a Strong President can recognize what has been done, the United States is faced by a miserable fait accompli. That is the history of China in 1947-9; it is the history of Cuba in 1958-9.

One of the most serious problems in the State Department must deal with the only menace to it of homosexuals who have found employment in government. It is extremely difficult to discover whether a person is a homosexual or not. The screening of prospective employees does not always bring out the one fact that so often imperils the Department. For instance, when the State Department or in the British Foreign Office there have been defectors to Soviet Russia, all the available evidence points to homosexuality.

Because a homosexual male or female is subject to blackmail, and since blackmail is practiced, particularly on individuals who have to do with codes or files, this matter is of great importance. It is cited here only because the management of the State Department is a difficult one, requiring constant vigilance, especially as regards human weakness. To permit a man whose mother was Cuban to handle the Cuban Desk, for instance, is an error of management which is unforgivable.

When John Kennedy announces who will be Secretary of State, it will be possible to recognize whether he will run an efficient or a political organization. Sometimes, it is possible to combine competence and politics in one person — not too often, however. This is the telling appointment.

Such appointments, in this country, are personal with the President. That is not true in Great Britain, for instance, where the Foreign Minister is usually elected to the House of Commons. (The present one is in the House of Lords.) He is a public official in his own right. He remains a member of Parliament even if he ceases to be the Foreign Minister. He is also a member of a party which has a voice in the conduct of its party's leaders. None of this is true in the United States. The Secretary of State is a personal appointee of the President. Eye Bank System Must Work Fast

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Some 80 persons in Richmond and other eastern cities regained eyesight during the past three years with the aid of eyes channeled through the Hunton Memorial Eye Bank at the Medical College of Virginia.

It is a hasty procedure. They must be removed from a donor within six hours after death and can be kept only from 48 to 72 hours before being used. If the Bank receives eyes for which no doctor has applied, other eye banks are notified immediately.

Winterville Body Newspaper Publisher Is Sought In 2 Robberies

WINTERVILLE—Robert Wheeler, Grifton attorney, discussed methods of securing an industry before the Winterville Merchants' Association Monday night.

Wheeler drew on his experience in helping to obtain a large garment manufacturing industry for the town of Grifton.

He told the group that a small development corporation was first established with ten businessmen as stockholders and officers. Later the idea was sold to the community and $112,000 capital was raised.

Additional money was obtained through a loan from the North Carolina Business Development Corp. and the plant building was constructed by Leroy Cherry Grifton contractor. Cherry was present for the Merchants' Association meeting and he commented on the successful industrial hunt.

R. E. Boyd reported that he represented the local association at a state directors meeting in Greensboro on Nov. 3. Gurruss Vincent, Lloyd Worthington and Paul Hunsucker were appointed as a committee to nominate officers in January. Lou's Cloth Shop was admitted to membership in the association.

President J. B. Beddard presided over the meeting and Miss Fannie Mae Ange acted as secretary.

Newspaper Publisher Is Sought In 2 Robberies

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Pictures drawn from descriptions by hold-up victims led to a manhunt today for a mid-looking newspaper publisher accused of two bank robberies.

State and federal authorities named Lawrence C. Pope, 42, a church-going former bank executive, as the camera-carrying bandit who coolly staged the holdups on successive Saturdays.

In each instance the robber tied up his victims, collected all the money in sight and took time to snap pictures of women bank workers before fleeing unnoticed by outsiders.

Last weekend he made off with $4,783 from the Farmers State Bank in Schulenburg, 100 miles east of San Antonio in south Texas. Investigators said the same individual got $1,744 Nov. 3 from the First State Bank at Thornton, 120 miles north of Schulenburg.

Pope is publisher of the Giddings (Tex.) Star in the next county north from Schulenburg and also owns another small newspaper at Lexington, in the same county. He formerly was dings, was registered in the name of Pope's wife.

a federal bank examiner and has worked for banks in four Texas cities.

FBI agent C. W. Peasinger said Pope's wife and child at Giddings last saw him a week ago.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation charged Pope with the Thornton robbery in a complaint filed at San Antonio. Sheriff Jim Flournoy lodged charges in the Schulenburg case against Pope at Giddings.

Spokesmen for the FBI and the Texas Department of Public Safety said Thad Johnson, DPS polygraph operator, drew a picture of the bandit blending the characteristics described by bank victims. It appeared in a number of Texas newspapers.

Several callers said the drawing closely matched a photograph of Pope published Sept. 25 by the Giddings Star and Lexington Enterprise in announcing his purchase of the newspapers.

Investigators learned Pope had registered at hotels in Schulenburg and Hallettsville, Tex., and obtained the license number of a car he was driving. They said his signatures matched the handwriting of the Schulenburg bank robber. The car, found at Giddings, was registered in the name of Pope's wife.

JAMES KEENE'S New Historical Novel IRON MAN, IRON HORSE

CHAPTER 17

Murray Slinger was still up when his son Carl rode in. The house was dark, save for a lamp on in the parlor, and Murray came out to the porch as his son dismounted.

Carl shook his head and sat on the steps. "He wouldn't talk." Murray Slinger took the cigar from his mouth. "What do you mean, he didn't talk? Can't you get information out of a man?" "Not him," Carl said. "Satchel and I put fire too him, but he wouldn't say. Maybe if he'd hated me less, he'd have been less stubborn."

"Where's Satchel?" Murray asked, peering around in the darkness. "Walking Skinner put up a fight. Knocked Satchel in the fire and he burned his hind end."

"Why, you damned bunglers!"

Murray said softly. "Where's Skinner now?"

"In a dry wash. Dead."

"Well, at least you had enough sense to do that," Murray said. "You didn't leave anything behind to point to you did you? Like some empty shells or something?"

"No, I've still got the empties in my gun," Carl said.

"Well, go in and clean it and put it away. Start carrying another from now on. There's no telling when Jim Bender will come snooping around."

"If he does," Carl said, "Betsy can handle him."

"Like the last time?" Murray shook his head. "He surprised the hell out of me, thinking more of that damned badge than he did Betsy. You clean that gun and put it away someplace. I want everyone to be lily white when Bender shows up."

The cavalry arrived shortly before dawn, a ten-man escort for the colonel. Ben Holliday was having breakfast when they pulled into camp and he told the cook to set out some more plates in a hurry; it wouldn't hurt to feed the cavalry for the sake of public relations.

Colonel Cameron Dawson was a tall, gaunt man with a roan mustache and a constantly worried air. He shook hands briefly, then sat down and ignited a cigar. The fact that the cook was setting a place for his line troopers pleased Dawson, and his manner thawed somewhat.

"Mr. Holliday, since your response to my written appeals could hardly be classified as encouraging, it's come as considerable surprise to me that your attitude has been reversed."

"Blame it on a bright lieutenant," Holliday said.

Dawson's eyebrow arched. "Mr. Gary? He is now working off a bit of stable detail for arriving late. Now about the telegraph line to Fort Elliot. Fact or fiction?"

"Fact, if I can promote the poles and wire from Western Union."

"The eternal catch," Dawson said sadly. "I was afraid something like this was going to happen."

"There's about a seventy-three chance," Ben pointed out. "That's better than before, isn't it?"

"Good reasoning, but which is it? Seventy against getting the poles, or for?"

"Against," Holliday said frankly. "Our credit is none too good. However, I hope to convince others that it will improve."

"You're a gambler," Dawson said. "And they make me nervous. Always gambling with something not entirely theirs." Then he shrugged. "But this telegraph is going to cost me. How much?"

"No more than you're used to paying," Ben said. "Colonel I've got to move beef and freight over the line or go broke. And to do that, I have to assure the Texans that when there's Indian trouble, the railroad will do its fair share in putting it down. Naturally I'm going to pass as much of this off to the army as I can, and so they can do a good job of it I'll put in a telegraph." He smiled. "I think you're clever enough to see that when it comes to whether the Indians go or the railroad does, it'll be the Indians. So we end up making deals with each other. For taking care of the Indians, you'll get a supply line moved a lot nearer, and communication with Fort Dodge. Progress, Colonel, is a complicated thing."

Cameron Dawson thought about it, then nodded. "And I can see why you held out. No profit in it for you."

"Exactly. You'd have done the same." The troopers came in and sat down, and the cook brought out platters of hot cakes and bacon. "Cookie, when you're through there, go out and find Skinner. I've got a job for him."

"Sure, Mr. Holliday."

Holliday gave his attention then to the colonel. "Jim Bender, who's working for me now, is going to arrange a meeting with the Indians. We're going to demonstrate to them how dangerous it will be to tamper with the telegraph wires."

Holliday laughed and shook his head. He then explained his plan to Colonel Dawson, and Dawson was pleased with it, although sparing in his praise. "It would be a good thing, Colonel, if you were present at the demonstration. It's my opinion that this ought to be carried out with considerable pomp and ceremony. I hope I can count on you Colonel, for some original thoughts."

Dawson laughed. "Mr. Holliday, Heaven help us if you run for the United States Senate. Yes, I think I can add some touches. I turned his head and spoke to a sergeant sitting at the third mess table. "Du-Joise!"

He was a small peppery man with a waxed mustache and a manner of clicking his heels together that suggested foreign service, and a lot of it. Dawson introduced him. "Mr. Holliday, this is Sergeant Jean Jacques Du-Joise, late of the French Artillery, the Prussian Royal Lancers, and the Confederate States Army. We call him John-Jack for short, and it's my eternal regret that he isn't a captain."

He motioned for Du-Joise to sit down, and he explained Holliday's plan. The Frenchman's eyes brightened and he smiled widely. "Since you've mastered the Comanche language, John-Jack, I suggest that you consider yourself attached to Mr. Holliday until recalled by me."

"As you wish," Du-Joise said. "I'll be delighted to work with you, m'sieu, and we certainly can put on a show for the Comanches."

"If anyone knows their customs better than he does, I've yet to meet him," said Dawson. He slapped Sergeant Du-Joise on the shoulder and got up to have his coffee cup refilled and fetch back a plate of bacon and hot cakes. "The Indians are on a hunt. But when the hunt is over, they're going to mix paint and dance some."

"If they choose to fight, I'll save the state of Texas the price of a hanging. . . ." is a warning sounded as the story continues tomorrow.

Senate Liberals Preparing Fight For Stronger Voice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the Senate's liberal Democratic bloc today they plan strategy meetings here next month to seek a strong voice in legislative affairs.

They hope to back one of their number, possibly Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, for the post of assistant Democratic leader, and to place more liberals on the Democratic Policy Committee.

They plan also to fight any move to tone down their party's legislative program, including the civil rights plank.

"We're not going to lie down and play dead," Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., told a reporter. "We won on the Democratic platform, we believe in it and we're going to enact it if we can."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said he couldn't see how the Democrats could miss getting a great deal of the platform program enacted in the first four months of the Congress session starting Jan. 3.

Humphrey, who said he is not seeking the assistant leader's position, indicated he would accept it if it were offered. "I would consider it a real honor, privilege and responsibility to be included in the Democratic leadership," he said.

Humphrey was interviewed by telephone in Minneapolis. Douglas in Chicago and Proxmire in Sheboygan, Wis.

Conservatives in both parties have been suggesting that the election returns might spell some retreat from the Democratic platform by Congress, President-elect John F. Kennedy or both. They pointed to the slim margin by which Kennedy won while Republicans scored gains in the Senate and House elections.

Kennedy himself has rejected this line of reasoning, and the Senate liberal bloc is counting on this to strengthen their hand.

An open race apparently is shaping for the assistant leadership, which Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana is expected to vacate to take over the leadership when Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas advances to the vice presidency.

About a dozen senators are being mentioned for the assistant leadership post. They include Humphrey, Douglas, who said he was not a candidate; Sens. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Frank Church of Idaho, Lister Hill of Alabama, A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and Eugene J. Mc-Carthy of Minnesota.

Douglas and Proxmire both said they believe a liberal should be chosen as assistant leader. Mansfield is regarded as a middle of the road.

Dairy Chain Is Started In Pitt

Six Pitt County members of 4-H Clubs have received registered Jersey calves through a dairy chain program initiated by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

According to James M. Goode, Pitt County Negro Farm Agent, the calves were delivered to Tyrone Hopkins, Route 5, Greenville; Stettinus Hemby, Route 5, Greenville; James Hooks, Route 5, Greenville; William Council, Route 6, Greenville; Flint Smith, Route 6, Greenville; and Walter Council, Route 6, Greenville.

Goode said the calves were purchased with $500 donated by the Sears Foundation. He said the foundation set up a $1,000 budget this year for the program. The funds were allocated by the 4-H Club Foundation, Inc., of North Carolina, located at North Carolina A&T College in Greensboro.

Pitt County applicants for the registered calves are reviewed and approved by a recently organized county dairy committee composed of Ben White of the Farmers Home Administration in Greenville, Nelson Hopkins of Greenville, Goode, S. C. Mills of near Winterville, J. B. Webb of Greenville, W. G. Barnes of Greenville, and William Council of Greenville.

The six calves purchased for Pitt 4-H'ers will begin the chain in the county. Goode said the first female offspring of the animals will go into the chain program for placement at the farm of some other Pitt applicant.

The calves were purchased from the H. B. Hunter farm near Charlotte and transported to the Pitt farms. Goode expressed appreciation to the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., and State Bank and Trust Co. for "helping make this program a reality."

Brig. General To Address ECC AFROTC Cadets

Brigadier General Joseph H. Moore, Commander of the Fourth Fighter Wing (Tac), Seymour Johnson Air Force Base, Goldsboro, will be the guest speaker at the annual Dining-In of the East Carolina College AF ROTC Detachment. The event will take place November 18 at 7 p.m. in the South dining hall on the campus.

General Moore will speak on the subject of the tactical air command and the composite air strike force, and will discuss how the Fourth Tactical Fighter Wing and Seymour Johnson Air Force Base would tie in with this force.

President Leo W. Jenkins and Dean R. L. Holt of East Carolina College will be among the guests of honor.

With a record of distinguished service in the U. S. Air Force, General Moore took command of the Air Force's most famous fighter wing—the 4th Tactical Fighter Wing—on February 28, 1959.

Tighten Curb On Cuban Shipping

WASHINGTON (AP)—The maritime Administration Tuesday announced a new move designed to hamper trade between Cuba and the Soviet bloc.

The agency said that in future any American ship which is transferred to foreign ownership or registry may not be chartered for use in Soviet bloc-Cuba trade without advance approval from the Maritime Administration.

On Oct. 20, the agency imposed a restriction requiring prior approval for the transfer, sale or chartering of U.S. ships to Cuba or to Cuban nationals.

Works Of Hans Moller Now Exhibited At Art Center

By PATRICIA MOORE
Reflector Staff Writer

German-born Hans Moller, featured artist at the exhibition which opened Tuesday at the Greenville Art Center, is listed in "Who's Who in American Art" as a painter, designer, lithographer and teacher.

The exhibit, consisting of 32 varied works, includes realistic to the cubistic and shows the development of the artist in a 29-year span.

In this exhibition the viewer will be aware of a definite maturity in the artist, a flare of originality and the unique. The paintings and drawings on display afford some relief from the strictly abstract art so much on display here this year.

Moller's sense of color is strong and strong enough in some cases to dominate the viewer's attention. In "Vermillion and Jade" he uses striking colors, predominantly red with green.

The Moller exhibition comes to the Greenville Art Center through the Olsen Foundation and is considered a retrospective exhibit. It is circulated among universities, colleges and museums in the United States and Canada by the foundation.

It will remain on view until Friday, Dec. 16. Not only oil paintings, but prints, gouache, pencil drawings and lithographs by Moller will be on display.

Paintings

The development of the artist Moller from realism to the abstract is well illustrated in two paintings now on display, both portraits of his wife, Helen.

In the 1930's Moller was painting primarily realistic subjects, with subject matter clearly definable on the canvases. A 1933 portrait of his wife is described by Fred Olsen of the Olsen Foundation as a "good likeness." The woman is almost lifelike.

By 1952 Moller had again painted his wife's portrait, but this time subject matter no longer dominated the canvas. The interest changed from person to the entire painting. These two paintings are good illustrations of the development of Moller's work.

Crucifixion

One of the most striking paintings certainly is Moller's "Crucifixion." Here he uses dominantly blues mixed with some grays as the principal colors. The painting depicts the figure of Christ (in a somewhat abstract form) upon the cross at the time of the crucifixion. Kneeling below him are two figures. Mountains are in the background. There are several apparently symbolic figures in the painting, one a wine-colored sphere in the upper left part of the painting. The head of Christ is turned away from those below him. This picture poses subject matter for contemplation.

Still Life

Other oil paintings of interest are "Still Life with Bottles," a realistic oil painted in 1935, and "Green Still Life with Jigger," painted in 1947. The "Still Life with Bottles" shows a transparent bottle so real the viewer may feel he can almost touch it. Lines are clearly defined. Nothing is left to the imagination.

In the 1947 painting, 12 years later, the artist Moller painted another outstanding still life in which the objects no longer dominate the picture. Depth is no longer a means used by the artist. This picture is often referred to as "a painter's painting." Olsen says, because many painters have recognized the competent manner in which Moller has solved the problems of composition, color and accent.

The Artist and Art

"What any spectator gets out of a painting is a quite personal matter, and it is only by practicing the experience of looking and observing by the thousands of times that an increased and satisfactory awareness of the qualities of paintings is obtained," Olsen says in discussing Moller and abstract art.

"Looking at paintings is a skill that can be cultivated in much the same way that the intellectual and sensory interpretation of poetry is a skill, he comments, which likewise can be developed—but again only by the experience of thousands of readings."

Olsen, in "Modern Art—Difficult? It All Depends On How You Look At It" further says it is a great help to study groups of paintings by the same artist to better appreciate him.

Moller from 1944 to 1956 was instructor in graphics, design, and painting at Cooper Union Art School, New York. He has exhibited at the Art Institute of Chicago, Corcoran Gallery of Art, Metropolitan Museum of Art, and in France, Germany and Japan.

His one-man shows include

Ruble Approaches Value World Generally Gave It

All, Perhaps, But Brother Jack

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy's brothers Robert and Edward and their wives joined forces Tuesday night on a holiday from their campaign labors. They were en route to the Mexican west coast.

"Our only plans are to rest at Acapulco," said Edward, the youngest of the three Kennedy brothers. "We are convinced as all the Democratic party is, that there is no better or more beautiful place to spend a vacation than Acapulco."

President-elect Kennedy is at his father's Palm Beach, Fla., home.

Transit Service Grinds To Halt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Public transportation for 750,000 daily riders in a vast four-county area ground to a halt today.

Nine hundred mechanics struck the Metropolitan Transit Authority at 12:01 a.m. paralyzing local and interurban bus and trolley service.

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union is devaluing its ruble in terms of its theoretical gold content. This is bringing it close to what the rest of the world all along has thought it was worth—about one-fourth of what the Kremlin has pretended it was worth.

Since the Soviet Union conducts most of its trade with the non-Communist nations in the form of barter anyway, the change over to the new "heavy ruble" Jan. 1 will be largely one of bookkeeping without much apparent practical effect.

In international politics, the U.S.S.R. is hoping to make the world think that its new ruble is worth more than the American dollar. Few businessmen—whether American or foreigners—will buy that propaganda.

They can't take rubles out of the Soviet Union. They can't convert them into gold—whether they be the present rubles or the new ones which strictly at home will be worth 10 of the old rubles. Businessmen aren't allowed to convert rubles freely into the currency of their own lands.

Business transactions of the Soviet Union with the Western world will still be strictly on a barter basis. Example: The U.S.S.R. trades Cuba so much oil and machinery in exchange for so much sugar. And if the U.S.S.R. grants ruble credits to nations in Africa and Asia they must use the rubles to buy Soviet machinery or technical aid.

In gold, the new Soviet move means simply that the heavy ruble is said to be worth some four times as much as the present one—that is, 0.98 grams of gold for the new one against 0.22 grams for the old. Only, just try to get the gold.

Stripped of the usual Communist hocus-pocus, this is devaluation. It is like the talk of the devaluation of the dollar which stirred Europe a few weeks back to pay premium prices for gold. The United States was supposed to cut the value of the dollar by raising the price of gold, now $35 an ounce. The United States didn't and no one seriously expects it to. If it ever should it would be devaluing the dollar.

The U.S.S.R. is raising its price for gold—thus doing the devaluation of the ruble, while the United States isn't devaluing the dollar. In the Soviet Union itself, the changeover simply means that a Russian can turn in 10 of his old rubles and get a single new one. That's roughly similar to what France did a while back when it wanted to lop some of the top-heavy zeros off its paper francs.

Focus On Health

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Murder, age, athlete's foot, suicide, and hot weather diets are topics this week with a focus on health.

The Sudden Murderers
The sudden murderers who kill without apparent reason usually have abnormal brain activity, British researchers report.

They charted the electrical activity in the brains of known murderers in English prisons. Among those who murdered while trying to commit some other crime, one in four showed brain abnormalities—roughly the same as other prisoners.

Among those who killed after considerable personal provocation, only 17 per cent showed abnormal. But in those who murdered without motive or provocation except for the stress of sexual excitement, resentment or exhaustion, 73 per cent had brain abnormalities.

Hot Weather Eaters
The hotter it is the more you need to eat, Army researchers report.

Men living in 105 degree desert heat ate some 400 calories more per day than did men living in air-conditioned comfort. They also gained weight, probably due to drinking more water.

The hot weather eaters needed more food for several reasons: Increased blood flow to aid the body's adjustment to the heat, greater sweat gland activity and the loss of calories due to sweating.

Child Suicides
Under the age of 15, suicide is a minor cause of death. But there after it becomes more and more important as a killer, a new study shows.

Discipline, emotional upset, depression, jealousy, school and family problems were the most frequent reasons for attempted suicides. Lesser reasons: Drug addiction and the birth of an illegitimate child. The highest number of attempts came at the age of 18.

Parents should watch for a sudden change in personality or behavior, anxiety, irritability, depression, insomnia and frequent but unnecessary outbursts of temper.

Climate for Fungus
Athlete's foot—a common fungus infection—is more common and harder to cure among boys than girls. The reason, say British researchers: Boys' footwear is badly ventilated, making their feet a more suitable soil for the growth of the fungus.

RK Daffodils
U.S. studies of a Soviet-discovered drug are yielding a whole family of new compounds that hold hope for persons suffering from nerve-muscle diseases like Myasthenia Gravis.

This is not a common disease. It is characterized by abnormal muscle weakness.

The drugs stem from the bulbs of a plant related to the daffodil, which grows in abundance all over the world. Doctors may soon try out one of the compounds on human patients.

Film Veteran Declares Newest Gimmick Is Best

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—William Castle, never prone to understate, says the gimmick in his latest scare epic is the best in the history of the theater.

This covers a lot of ground since theater history spans from Sophocles to the Three Stooges. Yet Castle says his idea for "Homicidal" has never been tried by any of his artistic predecessors. Just what is it?

"Ah, I never reveal my gimmicks before the picture is released," said the movie maker.

Castle, a square-jawed, wire-haired film veteran but no square, has made a career and tidy fortune of out-gimmicking his competitors.

"It started with 'Macabre,' he related with relish. 'I had no gimmick on the screen; the thing was the insurance policy on any patron who might be frightened to death.'

He marched upward to "The House on Haunted Hill," for which he employed a skeleton sailing over the patrons' heads. Then came "The Tingler," which was literally so, the theater seats being wired for shock.

His latest accomplishment was "Thirteen Ghosts," which were visible via special spectacles but unseen by the naked eye. "Columbia or I could only 1-600,000 of the glasses, which I told them was not enough," said Castle triumphantly. "The final order will be 13 million."

Now comes "Homicidal" with his gimmick supreme. It is his most ambitious effort to date— "Imagine, 20 shooting days! I've only had 10 or 11 before."

Despite the sneers of critics, Castle has compounded an amazing record.

"The foot pictures have cost a total of $750,000," he declared. They will make a gross profit of $8 million."

Thousands Watch Small Hotel Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—Thousands of persons jammed vantage points in Grant Park and along Michigan Avenue Tuesday to watch firemen put out a small fire in the Conrad Hotel, the world's largest.

Pillars of black smoke and flames billowed from the tower section of the 2,700-room, 30-story hotel. The blaze started in the kitchen ventilation chute and sparks apparently ignited the tar covering of the tower section's concrete roof. Fire officials estimated damage at $3,000.

Purchases Ranch For $1,575,000

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—Laredo rancher, J. O. Walker, 72, outbid three rivals Tuesday to buy a south Texas ranch sold for $1,575,000 to satisfy creditors of political boss George Parr.

The 55,700-acre ranch astride Nueces River west of here was a showplace where Parr often entertained before 1957, when he pleaded bankruptcy.

Walker's final bid at an auction on the county courthouse steps topped the last offer of $1,555,000 from a group represented by Henry Grace of Wichita Falls, Tex. Parr's bankrupt estate will collect 20 per cent of the sale price. Duval County, the onetime private political domain of Parr, gets the rest. Parr had borrowed $662,000 from the county.

Heard Thieves Taking Machine

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Christine Tabb didn't investigate the noise on her back porch Tuesday because, she later told police, she thought it was the garbage collector making his morning rounds. When she decided to wash a few clothes, she learned what the noise was. Her new washing machine had been stolen.

RALEIGH (AP)—A conference geared to develop better ways of preparing teachers for their classroom assignments opened here today. It is sponsored by the State Board of Education.

Norman Thomas ran for President on the Socialist ticket six times between 1928 and 1948.

Outdoor Views

By Johnny Hudson

Mallard Shooting Has Extra Flavor

Mallard shooting, probably one of the most rugged sports in the realm of outdoor pursuits, has taken the flavor of armchair comfort in a large part of the United States.

No longer must you live near a waterfowl flyway, crawl out of bed before dawn and brave bone-chilling temperatures to try your shooting skill on these graceful speedsters.

Private shooting preserves, which usually feature pheasants quail or chukars, have noted a growing acceptance of home raised mallards among pay-for-shoot gunners.

This year's directory of private preserves lists 124 layouts in 28 states featuring ducks, along with the more conventional game.

It's easy to set out pheasants and quail on private acres for commercial hunting, but how can ducks, with their long-range flight capability, be handled?

Sam Hinton, manager of a preserve near Greenville, S. C. is among those who have added mallards. He bought 400 day-old ducklings last June, raised them himself and has added duck blinds to his shooting layout.

It's done this way: the mallards are raised and fed in a pen about 400 yards from a pond on the preserve.

Each day, until they're old enough to fly, they are walked in the morning to the pond. In the evening they are escorted back to the pen where they are fed.

Ducks are such creatures of habit and so amenable to the simple food-water cycle that by the time they are about three months old, they make the trip themselves on the wing.

When a hunt has been arranged, the ducks are kept in their pen.

Ducks Return After Firing Session

A chute with a trap door at the end extends from the pen at a height of about ten feet.

After the gunners have been stationed in their blinds near the pond, the ducks are shoed a few at a time up the chute and released by opening the trap door.

As they fly to the pond, the gunners fire away at targets moving at an estimated 45 miles an hour. The shots can be made simple or difficult by positioning the blinds near to or farther from the duck flight-line.

The amazing thing is that the ducks return to their pens that night for feeding and return again the next day to the pond whether there are hunters blasting away or not.

Raised on a healthy mash that provides all the nutrients a mallard needs, they are as well-flighted as their country cousins in the wilds.

And a man could actually hunt them in a tuxedo, so convenient and clean are the blinds.

The preserve season varies from state to state, but generally opens from two to three months before the season on wild waterfowl.

By law, preserve mallards must come from stock at least three generations removed from the wild. They are hatched and sold on commercial game layouts.

Outdoor Life Is Picking Up

According to the last national survey of fishing and hunting made by U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, one in every three households in America had one or more fishermen or hunters. These outdoorsmen in 1955 had a terrific impact on the economy of the nation.

Scheffing In Line For Job With Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, who have had a merry-go-round of seven managers in nine years, have another carousel spinning.

Bob Scheffing is the latest in a long line of job hunters prominently mentioned as front runner for the post Joe Gordon vacated Oct. 3.

Published reports Tuesday night had Scheffing in line for the job. The former Chicago Cub manager, currently a Milwaukee coach, follows Paul Richards, Casey Stengel and Bill Rigney atop the Tigers' ever-changing list.

Richards never officially was approached and Tuesday signed a new contract with Baltimore, the team he had in the thick of the 1959 American League pennant fight.

Stengel, let loose last month after guiding the New York Yankees to 10 pennants in 12 years, withdrew as a Tiger candidate last week.

Rigney, ex-San Francisco pilot, became a top candidate over the weekend and remains in the running.

Scheffing, fired by the Cubs after the 1959 campaign, has been a darkhorse all along.

He told The Associated Press from his Scottsdale, Ariz., home he discussed the job with a Tiger delegation Friday in Los Angeles.

"But no agreement was reached," said the 45-year-old catcher. "The whole thing was left open. They said I'd be hearing from them. Nothing was signed."

Scheffing said the meeting was a routine interview for a job. "I'd like to have it," he said. "But I haven't heard from them."

The Tigers' admiral City record was high on the list of candidates. But Rick Ferrell, aide to president John Fetzer, said nobody had been signed.

Worsley Dumps Chicod, 46-43

OAK CITY—The big frame of Oak City's Larry Worsley opened his attack on Pitt County basketball again last night, dumping a game but short Chicod five, 46-43.

Worsley, writing Oak City record books with every game he plays, netted 34 points but Chicod was in the game up until the final minutes with star Raymond Fornes fouled out.

Fornes was high for Chicod with 16 points. Ephraim Smith plugged the buckets with 11 more.

Chicod led the first half 27-22 but Worsley's rebounding and shooting in the final 16 minutes turned the tide.

Chicod's girls won the opener of the twinbill 33-30, mainly on the 20 point production of Mary Louise Hudson.

The Hornets go against Pantego there Friday night.

AL Enters Expansion Meeting

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—The American League goes into its expansion meeting Thursday with Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick casting a skeptical eye on its plans and Congress threatening to take antimonopoly action if a club isn't placed in Los Angeles.

The league wants to place a team in Los Angeles next year and will work on an attempt to complete the proposal and put it to the joint major league meeting in St. Louis on Dec. 7.

Rule 1 of the major league agreement which prohibits the invasion of territory of one league by the other without the unanimous approval of both leagues, will come up for amendment. The American League is expected to propose the amendment and the National probably will veto it. That leaves the deciding vote in Frick's hands.

Frick said he would not vote for the amendment unless "a fair and workable plan is agreed upon by both leagues."

He obviously was referring to the Hank Greenberg syndicate which intends to operate in Los Angeles. Frick maintained that Walter O'Malley, who moved the Dodgers to Los Angeles, has spent about a million dollars for the shift and is entitled to get some of it back from any AL team that wishes to share the territory.

"Greenberg's outfit wants to pay nothing, do nothing," said Frick. "I won't stand for it. I don't want anybody thinking that just because I'm for expansion I'm going to vote for it on that basis."

Frick added that he thinks the situation confronting the majors is serious.

"But," he pointed out, "it is not an impossible situation. They have until next month to iron it out. I hope they can settle things quietly before then and I'll be able to let them know beforehand that I'm going to vote for it."

If the matter cannot be resolved in time to open the '61 season, there is a possibility that the AL might operate with only nine teams—the old seven, plus the new franchise in Washington and the former Washington club in St. Paul-Minneapolis.

The specter of government action loomed. Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., chairman of the antimonopoly committee, warned against any delay in expansion.

"Congress will regulate baseball 'above board and in the open.'"

Maury Bows To Eagles In Two

BELVOIR—Three starters hit double figures here last night as Belvoir-Falkland coasted to a 64-53 decision over Maury and its second victory of the current cage season.

Roy Smith, Joe Jenkins, and Harold Harris led the point-making for the winners with 21, 16 and 15 points, respectively. The Eagles had moved into a 37-29 margin at halftime.

Julian Jones of Maury was high scorer for the night with 22 points. Billy Beaman had 20 for the losers.

The host girls opened the Tuesday night sweep by overcoming the half scoring jitters and blasting Maury, 39-24.

Mary Pollard, a sophomore, and senior Carol Harris teamed up to lead the second half spurt, finishing with 15 and 11 points, respectively.

Belvoir-Falkland will meet the cagers from Hookerton here Friday night, the opening game starting at 7:00.

Recruiting Is Source Of Evil

COLUMBIA (AP) — Recruiting is the major source of evil in the collegiate sports world says North Carolina State Athletic Director Roy Clogston.

But, he told the Columbia Touchdown Club Tuesday, the evils of recruiting are being overcome by "limited, uniform aid," by limiting the number of athletic scholarships and by recruiting "above board and in the open."

SPIDER HALFBACK—Earl Stoudt will be of the trouble-makers for East Carolina here Saturday when Richmond invades College Stadium. The kickoff time for Saturday's game is 8:00.

Spiders Look At E. Carolina Plays

By ED YOUNG

Associated Press Sports Writer West Virginia's football team, not so long ago a national power, hasn't won a game this year, but for the miserable Mountaineer faithful Coach Gene Corum has a word of promise and good cheer.

"We'll be back," says Corum. "You'll hear from us yet."

There's a quality of quiet confidence about Corum that's passing strange for a brand new coach whose very first team may be one of the first West Virginia editions since 1891 to go without a victory.

For most coaches, seven defeats and two ties — no victories — in nine games would represent a long, long autumn. Not for Corum. "I think that's because it's been a revelation watching our boys improve. The record won't show it, but our team has come along real nice."

Some gridiron giants — Pitt, Syracuse, Maryland, Illinois, Penn State, Oregon — have been among West Virginia's conquerors. Corum didn't like to lose, but he's not sorry the giants were on the schedule.

"Playing the big teams has helped us," he says. "You know 19 of the 34 players we look to Oregon were sophomores. Oregon beat West Virginia, 20-6, but was pushed to do it."

The Mountaineers get their last chance to win a 1960 game Saturday at Morgantown, when George Washington (4-3-1) comes to town for a Southern Conference scrap.

News from the hospital also was good at William and Mary Tuesday, as quarterback Bob Stoy and halfbacks Jim Forch and Jon Stephenson returned to practice.

Richmond had a look at East Carolina plays as run by the frosh. Halfback Brent Vann and fullback John Boggs were sidelined by minor ailments.

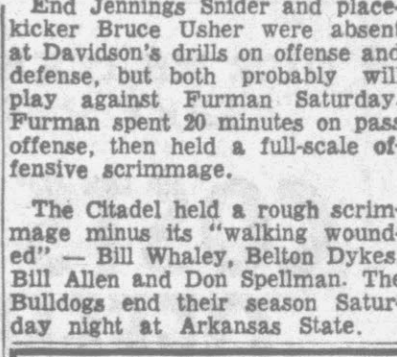

peared to have broken down.

E. R. Quesada, head of the Washington group, said a New York syndicate headed by financier John J. Bergen wanted complete control of the team. Quesada said his group wanted the franchise in the hands of Washington people.

In New York, Bergen said he was not interested in 100 per cent control of the team.

"We recognize the value of local interest in the team," he observed.

Duke Picked To Beat Tar Heels; Richmond Over ECC

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Just like coach Claassen! Builds his percentage over .725, then takes off for some sun-drenched beach-combing, leaving someone else to take a chill with his football picks.

A 36-13-1 record last week made grandpa's over-all percentage a sprightly .729 on a 318-118 won-lost mark.

Well, someone once called persistence a virtue, so it'll be like this in college football this weekend:

Missouri over Kansas: The alumni association is still pressing for that dues check, but this one is based on merits. Any Tiger bunch that can beat Oklahoma can beat Kansas—at least 7-6.

Minnesota over Wisconsin: The goons who were after Murray Warmath's wig settle for an 8-1 season and a tie for the Big Ten title.

Iowa over Notre Dame: The guy who gets the Irish award is the one who had the foresight to schedule California for Notre Dame's pener. He shoulda quit there. Flashing Iowa makes it eight straight Notre Dame losses.

Duke over North Carolina: On to the Orange Bowl.

Arkansas over Texas Tech: Tech's E. J. Holub can't tackle 'em all. The Hogs toward the Cotton Bowl.

Yale over Harvard: Any given day, sez Princeton's Dick Colman, the unbeaten Ell can whip anyone.

Washington over Washington State: Next to the Big Five title and a Rose Bowl bid, Washington likes beating State best.

Penn State over Pitt: Play-it-safe Pitt doesn't get a chance to tie this time.

Once over lightly:
EAST — Clemson over Boston College, Brown over Colgate, Boston U. over Buffalo, Rutgers over Columbia, Bucknell over Delaware, Holy Cross over Connecticut, Lehigh over Lafayette, Princeton over Dartmouth, Villanova over Xavier (Ohio).

SOUTH—Syracuse over Miami (Friday night), Alabama over Tampa, Auburn over Florida State, Furman over Davidson, Richmond over East Carolina, LSU over Wake Forest, North Carolina State over South Carolina, Tennessee over Kentucky, Tulane over Vanderbilt, Maryland over Virginia, George Washington over West Virginia, The Citadel over Arkansas State.

MIDWEST — Michigan State over Detroit, Illinois over Northwestern, Ohio State over Michigan, Oklahoma over Nebraska, Purdue over Indiana, Colorado over Oklahoma State, Wichita over North Texas State, Miami (Ohio) over Cincinnati.

SOUTHWEST—Rice over Texas Christian, Baylor over Southern Methodist, New Mexico State over Hardin-Simmons.

FAR WEST—Arizona over Kansas State, Wyoming over Brigham Young, California over Stanford, New Mexico over Montana, Oregon State over Oregon, Iowa State over College of the Pacific, UCLA over Southern California, Utah State over Utah.

Prep Playoffs

Fifteen games are scheduled Friday night in the five classes of North Carolina High School Athletic Association football playoffs.

The 4-A group has only one game, Gastonia at Charlotte Garfield. The teams tied for the Western Conference title and are playing off for the right to meet Greensboro next week in the state semifinals.

Winston-Salem Reynolds plays at Wilson next week in the other 4-A game. Officials of the schools were to meet at Chapel Hill today to arrange the date.

L. J. (Hap) Perry, executive secretary of the association, announced this playoff slate in the four other classes, Eastern teams first, where playing site not designated to be arranged by schools involved:

Class 3-A: Tarboro-Hillsboro at Wake Forest; Dunn-Rockingham at Sanford; Mount Holly at Winston-Salem Gray; Brevard - Reidsville at Asheville.

Class 2-A: Edenton - Garner at Greenville; Elizabethtown - Wallace; Siler City at Winston-Salem Hanes; Murphy-Boone.

Class A: Benvenue - Elizabeth City Central; Ayden - Warsaw at Goldsboro; Allen Jay at Sparta; North Carolina School for Deaf-Blind at Bryson City.

Eight - Man: Bath - Rowland; Candor-Celeste Henkel of Iredell County.

to play Boston College and Wake's Demon Deacons travel south to meet always rugged Louisiana State.

Thus far, ACC teams have met 23 non-conference foes and have managed to win but seven games. Only Duke, the conference leader and ranked sixth in the nation by The Associated Press, shows a winning margin against non-conference foes, 2-1.

North Carolina State has broken even in four outside games while Maryland (1-2), Clemson (1-1) and North Carolina (1-2) are the only other teams to beat non-conference teams.

Wake Forest (0-2), South Carolina (0-3) and Virginia (0-3) have yet to win on the outside. Virginia, its losing streak now at 25 straight games, haven't beaten anybody thus far.

Clemson, 5-3 overall, worked on its passing attack Tuesday. Coach Frank Howard said reserve quarterback Joe Anderson was hitting on long aerials. He also said line-men Calvin West and Dave Olson continued their excellent play.

Gold Club Win In Cage Tilt

By LEONARD LAO
A 58 point second half splurge enabled East Carolina's Gold team to defeat the Purple squad last night in Memorial Gymnasium. The varsity won going away by a 97-62 score.

The Baby Bucs gave the veterans a scare in the first 20 minutes of play, holding the Gold squad to only 39 points while pouring in 36 points of their own. Freshman Robbie Dick led the Purple quint in the first half with his driving hook shots. The Little Muncie, Ind. native garnered nine timely points in the first half.

Six-foot, eight-inch sophomore center Fred Fowler led the Purple team with 18 points, 13 in the first half.

But a strong fast break attack in the last 20 minutes of the game saw the Pirate veterans break the back of the newcomers. Freshman Bill Otte, playing on the varsity squad, and sophomore Lacy West led the second half scoring with 15 and 14 points, respectively. Otte, a native of Hawthorne, N. J., took a while to get warmed up, but after he did there was no stopping him. West poured in 14 of his 17 total points in the swift second half, mostly on layups, to lead the Pirate fast break.

All-Conference guard Cotton

Clayton led the veterans in the rebounding department, clearing the boards on 12 occasions. The tow-headed sophomore also hit the meshes for 16 points.

Captain Don Smith also grabbed 11 rebounds and dropped in 13 points.

All five starters for the Gold quintet hit in the double figures. West, Charlie Lewis and Bill Otte led the veteran scorers with 17 points each.

ECC Holding League Rushing Lead Again

GREENSBORO (AP)—Lenoir Rhyne, which usually holds a hammerlock on all three of the major offensive departments in the North State Conference, is making a valiant bid to finish up the year with that record intact.

The Bears, however, might just miss making a clean sweep of total offense, rushing and passing for the first time since the conference's service bureau was inaugurated a year ago.

Going into the seasons final games, which will be spread out through Nov. 25, the Bears lead in total offense and in passing, but still have not been able to knock East Carolina out of the team rushing leadership.

The Bears, however, in the last two weeks moved steadily in that direction and now trail the Pirates by only slightly more than a yard per contest.

East Carolina holds the rushing leadership with an average of 216.5 yards per tilt. Lenoir Rhyne is second at 215.1.

In total offense and in passing, Lenoir Rhyne apparently is far enough out in front to have the honors clinched, as are the other team leaders. The Bears are averaging 312.5 yards per game running and passing and 106.0 passing.

Western Carolina is the total defense leader at 170.9 yards. Appalachian is the rushing defense pacesetter at 93 yards per game, and Western Carolina also tops the pass defenders at a 34.2 average.

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox today announced that coaches Billy Herman, Sal Maglie and Rudy York have been signed for the 1961 season.

Duke: Two Reasons For Revenge Over Carolina

By REESE HART

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Powerful Duke has two reasons for wanting to beat North Carolina Saturday: a likely bowl bid and revenge for its worst football defeat in history.

Duke Coach Bill Murray said his Blue Devils aren't interested in duplicating the 50-0 score by which North Carolina blasted Duke last season.

"We're just interested in winning," Murray said. "I think North Carolina has a greatly superior team to its record. I look for it to be a real, real tough battle."

Duke is a heavy favorite on the basis of comparative scores, but this means little when the two rivals meet. The Blue Devils remember only too well they were 4-point favorites last year.

Looking back to the 1959 game, Murray said there were several reasons for the lopsided defeat.

"First," he said, "North Carolina was a fine, fired-up team. They whipped the best we had and we didn't have much in reserve to come back with. They had a great number of opportunities to score. We failed to cash in on the two scoring chances we had."

Duke reportedly has been extended a major bowl bid, but Murray said, "We wouldn't have any interest in a bowl until the North Carolina game is over."

The Blue Devils, 7-1 for the season, turned in an impressive 34-7 victory over Wake Forest Saturday. Luckless North Carolina was handed a 22-19 loss by Maryland, its seventh of the season as against one victory over Notre Dame.

Murray regards this Duke team as the most coordinated unit he has ever coached.

"It's a very unselfish team, one that is closely knit," Murray explained.

Several of Duke's key players, including center Butch Alie and ends Tee Moorman and Bob Spada were unable to play in last year's game against North Carolina because of injuries.

Halfback Joel Arrington, hampered by injuries this season, is expected to be ready for Saturday's game. Arrington was injured in the first quarter of last year's game against the Tar Heels.

Lenoir Rhyne Tops NAIA again

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The top four retained their places this week in the NAIA football poll. Lenoir Rhyne's edge as No. 1 team was trimmed a trifle by both for A&M and Humboldt State of California, second and third, respectively. Southern Illinois is fourth.

Whitworth of Washington climbed to fifth, and Texas A&I to sixth, while Southeastern Louisiana dropped to seventh. West Chester of Pennsylvania is eighth again; Lanzston of Oklahoma is ninth and Willamette of Oregon is 10th.

Winterville Gains Split

Another a last quarter scoring surge here last night to turn back Hookerton's boys, 37-25, and salvage a split in the basketball doubleheader.

Hookerton rallied after a 23-23 halftime knot to win the girls' game, 57-43.

The Wolves fouled Hookerton's slow-down tactics in the first quarter, moving into a 10-0 lead, and never trailed although the losers outscored them 11-8 in the final period.

Lanky James Braxton directed Winterville's second win of the young season with 11 points. Winterville defeated Maury last week in a doubleheader, the opening game of the season for both teams.

In the girls' game, Carolyn Barnes poured in 10 points for the winners. J. Suggs had 16 for the losers.

Nuclear Striking Force For NATO Appears In Works

Sculpture Exhibit By E. T. Rogers

The most recent senior exhibit in the Art Department at East Carolina College is that of Edward Turner Rogers from Jamestown, N.C., who has chosen sculpture as his medium of expression.

Located in the Kate Lewis Gallery, third floor of the Rawl Building on the East Carolina campus, the exhibit includes many different sculptural techniques. Two relief plaques are exhibited which were executed by casting a design in a sand mold. The larger plaque has a fine sense of rhythmic concave and convex forms which blend into one another and yet have such sufficient emphasis and change to create a visually exciting effect.

The major portion of the exhibit deals in sculpture in the round and is figurative, representing the human body. Much of the work displayed has been simplified in form to create a monotonous family of images all which are related to one another by repetition of ball-like head forms and bologna-shaped limbs and torsos. Marble, wood, clay and cement are materials used in these pieces of sculpture.

The reclining figure executed in cement and reminiscent of Henry Moore's work is particularly strong. The shape structure of this object which seems to float from its black base defines a pulsating movement by means of form and shadow. The activity of the forms vitalizes this piece of sculpture.

Abstract constructions made by welding pieces of metal together are also included in the show.

Arizona Still Has Wide Open Spaces

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Two sheriff's deputies have decided Arizona still is a land of wide open spaces.

Edward L. Lonzo of Nogales was driving his truck across the desert when he ran out of gasoline. He walked to town, picked up some extra gas but couldn't find the truck again in the desolate terrain.

Deputy Randy Rendon spotted the truck while flying over the area. However, when he and Deputy Ken Sturgeon attempted to drive to the location, they couldn't find the vehicle, either.

Rendon went up in the plane again and this time drew a map. After several hours of searching on foot, the deputies finally located the elusive truck.

Absentee Voters Elect Democrat

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Rep. Morgan Moulder, a Democrat, apparently has been elected to a seventh term in Congress from Missouri's 11th District.

The complete, unofficial tally in the 17-county district gave Moulder 74,838 votes to 74,455 for the Rev. Robert A. Bartel, of Columbia, Republican candidate.

Moulder got his winning margin in absentee ballots cast in heavily Democratic Randolph County, which finished the official canvass Tuesday.

The four Republican judges refused to sign the canvass report on the grounds that "there are challenged votes and illegal votes counted over our objections."

Keeping Up With Joneses Is Tough

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—It's tough keeping up with Danville's Joneses.

Victor Samuel Jones was the city's first baby of the year.

Patsy Lou Jones was named Miss Danville in the Miss America preliminary.

Ed Jones was presented the distinguished service award of the Chamber of Commerce of nearby Chatham.

Sara Lee Jones was chosen the city's candidate for Queen of Tobacco.

The Joneses are not related.

Absentee Ballot Trend For Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State and Defense Departments were reported substantially agreed today that the United States should provide the North Atlantic Alliance with its own strategic nuclear striking force.

In spite of this development of policy within the Eisenhower administration, high officials are uncertain what position the United States can take on the problem at a ministerial meeting of the NATO council in Paris next month.

Any decisions which are made now on such a long-range undertaking would have to be carried out by the next administration.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and others here therefore are waiting for some indication of views from President-Elect John F. Kennedy before determining finally the line they will take at the council meeting.

The basic idea behind the strategic nuclear force for NATO is to provide this country's European allies with nuclear weapons which would be committed primarily to their own defense.

Nuclear rockets are already stationed on Allied territory in the European area but they are subject to joint control of the United States and the nation on whose territory they are based.

One plan which has been talked about both here and with Allied governments would provide for placing a force of Polaris submarines under the direct control of the supreme allied commander of NATO for Europe. Throughout NATO's 12-year history the supreme commander has been an American officer; at present it is Gen. Lauris Norstad. The expectation is that an American will continue to hold this assignment.

Consideration has also been given to stationing modified versions of the Polaris on mobile bases in Western Europe, subject to the control of the NATO commander.

Officials have now decided, it is said, that if either or both of these plans is finally adopted by NATO the U.S. president should ask congressional approval for the project. Some legal authorities believe the president probably has enough authority already to delegate power over nuclear weapons to an American officer commanding NATO. But the decision now is reported to be that in undertaking a project of such magnitude the president should be assured of congressional support.

Although Kennedy's views on the problem will be sought as soon as possible, he may not want to express an opinion until after he has selected the men who will be his secretary of state and secretary of defense.

During the election campaign Kennedy spoke of a need to strengthen NATO as well as build up this country's own military power. But Eisenhower administration officials are uncertain whether he will wish to make any commitment on any specific line of development for NATO until after he has had a chance to study the problem thoroughly.

No Serious Bumps In Two Accidents

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Who says children don't lead a charming life?

Thirty youngsters escaped injury when their school bus collided with an auto here. They climbed out, and transferred to another bus. The second vehicle skidded and turned over on its side into a ditch. This time two children were hurt—suffering minor cuts and bruises.

Hallowe'en Masks Aroused Suspicion

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—A man and two women wearing scary Hallowe'en masks entered a Rawlins food store, which had been struck by the local clerks union for several months.

Fearing a holdup attempt, the manager called police. The trio's explanation for their masks: They didn't want to be identified crossing a picket line to do their weekly grocery shopping.

Nixon Now Holds Lead In Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP)—Hawaii's vote totals for the Nov. 8 presidential election now give Vice President Richard M. Nixon a 141-vote lead over Sen. John F. Kennedy as an audit of the island ballots continues.

William Kaina, administrative assistant in the lieutenant governor's office, said the latest unofficial totals Tuesday gave Nixon 92,505 votes to Kennedy's 92,364. The state has three electoral votes.

Democrats, citing nearly a dozen discrepancies in several precincts, are demanding a recount. Republicans oppose it.

LINCOLN CONTINENTAL

So brilliantly engineered,
so carefully built it is dealer-warranted for two full years or 24,000 miles, whichever occurs first*

"Classic beauty in a smart new size." Here is the first fine car that is truly luxurious to drive in today's traffic. Thoughtful engineering has created a superb six-passenger automobile that is 14 inches shorter—yet as heavy or heavier than other American luxury cars, to provide the solid ride you expect. It also has devised center-opening doors that make entrance far more convenient, contour-zoned seats that are cushioned with nearly three times the usual amount of foam rubber, vacuum-locked doors that bolt shut at a flick of the driver's finger, silent, hydraulic windshield wipers with 50 per cent more power, a quality program that puts every car through a 12-mile road test and brings high precision standards of construction to America's largest V-8 engine. A glance reveals the character of this tremendously advanced car, the enduring beauty of true classic design, the excitement of America's only four-door convertible. But it is only at the wheel that you begin to understand the real significance of the new Lincoln Continental, the brilliant blend of sensible size and total luxury. Why not make that discovery yourself, this week? Lincoln-Mercury Division, Ford Motor Company.

*The terms of the extended warranty provide that for 24 months or for 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers, of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will continue to be made by the tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance service and routine replacement of such maintenance items as filters, spark plugs, ignition points and wiper blades.

See this remarkable car at your Lincoln Continental dealership today!

Baptists Offers Support If Kennedy Keeps Promises

By BLOYS W. BRITT

ASHEVILLE (AP) — If President-elect John F. Kennedy sticks to his campaign promises relating to the religious issues, he'll have the support of North Carolina's 890,000 Baptists.

At least, that promise is carried in a resolution scheduled for action by the 130th Baptist State Convention today.

Also scheduled for floor action are these recommendations:

1. That $45 million be raised in the next five to 10 years for the expansion of the denomination's seven colleges. Under the proposal, Wake Forest College would be raised to the graduate level, and Mars Hill and Campbell colleges would be raised to four-year status.
2. That $12.5 million be raised in the near future to expand facilities at Baptist hospital in Winston-Salem.
3. That the convention adopt a goal of 40,000 new Baptisms in North Carolina for next year, and contribute upwards of $50 million to the world Baptist "jubilee advance" program. Under this program, 30,000 new churches and mission points would be established.
4. That would keep membership on the convention's general board and boards of trustees from increasing more than two-thirds either laymen or ministers.

In addition to action on these and other reports, the convention today will hear some of the denomination's top leaders, primarily from the Southern Baptist convention's missions fields.

Speakers included Dr. C. Emanuel Carlson of Washington, executive secretary of the Southern convention's committee on public affairs, and the Rev. James Peck, of the Southern Home Mission Board.

Dr. Carlton discussed the influence of religion in public affairs. The convention ends Thursday at noon with an address by Evangelist Billy Graham, himself a Baptist.

The resolution promising qualified support of President-elect Kennedy drew applause from the 2,303 ministerial and lay delegates.

Introduced by J. Marse Grant, editor of the Biblical Recorder, official organ of the denomination in the state, it called attention to Kennedy's promises to a group of Protestant ministers at Houston, Tex., that he would not allow his Catholic religion to influence his actions as president.

The resolution reminded Kennedy that he pledged to continue the traditional separation of church and state, and that he promised to resist any attempts to influence his decisions by the Roman Catholic hierarchy in Rome.

If these pledges are kept, the resolution said, "we pledge to President-elect Kennedy our sincere prayers and cooperation."

A copy of the resolution will be sent to Kennedy at his vacation retreat in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Also scheduled for the late afternoon session was the re-election of C. B. Deane of Rockingham for another one-year term as convention president.

In his president's message Tuesday, Deane charged that the Christian Church is not doing its part in the free world's fight against communism.

"Church members today are not living an answer to the hate, the bitterness, the resentment and the divisions that will answer communism and bring hope to the millions behind the Iron Curtain," he said.

He said the only answer to the Christian Church's failure to Britisher Opines Quality Of U. S. TV Is Slipping

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—"American television," said actor Robert Morley, "is far worse than it was a year ago. It is a shame, too, because today it is your most significant export, a barometer of your prestige abroad."

Morley, a British theatrical star and playwright, is in New York for the first time in 12 months to play a lead in tonight's CBS show of the Month, an adaptation of the venerable play, "Heaven Can Wait," a comedy.

The performer, a witty man who obviously enjoys making outrageous remarks (perhaps one rub-off from playing Oscar Wilde so often on the stage and in motion pictures) suggests that it would be "impossible to make a film under the conditions imposed on American television producers."

"It is like an author trying to breathe over his shoulders," he said. "It is ludicrous. Television programs should be created like any other art forms. It can't be run by a committee—nothing really can be created by a committee. The way it works out is that one man is writing a show while 17 people around him are busy keeping their jobs. Sponsors really shouldn't be allowed any hand in it. And in England they are not."

Morley — who among other things finds it "ridiculous" that American television producers go to all the expense of importing one actor from Europe to play a role — cannot understand why there is such a shortage of good writers for television in this country.

"In England there is a school of new writers concentrating on television," he said. "There are plenty of original dramas—about two a week. And we don't give them enormous sums for their work—and that's another trouble spot in American television: You give too much money to a few and not enough to the majority, and nothing ruins a writer quicker than too much money."

In spite of his grumbling, Morley really enjoys his visits to this country, although he complains that he spends most of his time in New York shopping for his family and friends.

TV Performers Strike Averted

NEW YORK (AP) — A settlement offer today averted a performers' strike—at least temporarily—against the four major television and radio networks.

Formal negotiations between the networks and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) ended 3 1/2 hours after a midnight strike deadline.

AFTRA had sought a 10 per cent increase in performer fees and higher payments to performers for re-runs of commercials.

Also sitting in on the discussions were officials of the Screen Actors Guild, which has been working under a contract continuation arrangement since its work pacts expired last June.

Officials said the networks' offer would be submitted to the national boards of both unions.

No formal contract extension or settlement announcement was made. But a union spokesman said members would continue working until the national boards had studied the proposals.

AFTRA has about 16,000 members who work for the American Broadcasting System, the Mutual Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co. Mutual is a radio network only. The guild has about 13,000 members.

William C. Pitts, a CBS vice president and spokesman for the networks, said the networks expected to hear from the national boards "in a day or so." No further sessions have been scheduled.

The two points in the United States most remote from each other are Attu, Alaska, and Key Largo, Fla. They are 5,509 miles apart.

Elizabeth Taylor's Illness Is Found Comparatively Minor, But Painful

LONDON (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor's multimillion-dollar illness finally has been diagnosed by doctors as a comparatively minor irritation of the membranes covering the brain. It is called meningitis and usually is found only in children.

Fears were expressed Sunday when the actress, weeping and clutching her head, was rushed to the London Clinic that she might be suffering from meningitis. Tuesday night, after 48 hours of suspense, the diagnosis ruling out meningitis was announced.

A spokesman for Dr. Carl Goldman, physician for Miss Taylor, explained that "meningitis is caused by a bacteria which is inside the brain. Meningitis is caused by an infection outside the brain and its effects are ephemeral."

He was unable to say what the treatment for meningitis would be or how long Miss Taylor would have to stay in the clinic. He said it was possible she would return to the United States for further treatment to complete her recovery.

Miss Taylor awoke "considerably refreshed" today after a peaceful night's sleep, the clinic reported.

Dr. Goldman said the meningism may have been caused by an abscessed tooth or teeth and it would be up to a dentist to decide if extractions were necessary.

If she is well enough, Miss Taylor will have her teeth X-rayed

Says War Made Many Alcoholics

NEW YORK (AP)—World War II produced a "terrific" crop of confirmed drunks, says Bill W., the only surviving cofounder of Alcoholics Anonymous.

There are about five million compulsive drinkers in the United States, of which nearly half need help, and compulsive drinkers are getting younger and younger, he added.

Bill W., members never use their last names — was honored guest at two days of conferences and a dinner Monday night sponsored by the New York Intergroup Association of Alcoholics Anonymous in celebration of the organization's 25th anniversary. About 2,000 AA members from 35 states attended.

"Our impression," said Bill W., once a highly successful New York stock broker, "is that alcoholism is on the increase, although statistics are hard to come by. The crop of confirmed drunks turned out by World War II was terrific."

MISSILE BLACKOUT

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—An Atlas missile caused a blackout here without even being fired. While in tok to its launching pad, the 94-foot ICBM clipped off a utility pole, cutting off electrical service to the city's east side.

Being all of Lot 11 in Block 2 of Eppes Park Subdivision as shown on map dated March, 1947, as prepared by Joe M. Dresbach, said map being of record in Map Book 4, page 5 of the Pitt County Registry. This is a 50 foot by 100 foot lot on the north side of Davenport Street. This is one of the lots described in a certain deed to Florence T. Blount, et al, dated January 29, 1949 of record in Book Y-24, page 542 of the Pitt County Registry.

NEW YORK (AP) — Major stocks drifted more or less aimlessly today while profit taking lifted back some of Tuesday's high-flying issues.

It was an active first hour, but after that the pace simmered down. By early afternoon most stocks were within one point on either side of Tuesday's close.

The mixed groups included steels, rails, chemicals, building materials, aircrafts and electronics. Drugs were mostly a bit higher and metals generally lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 20 1/2 to 21.50 with industrials off 30, rails off 20 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up 1.26 at 608.13.

Press Urged To Take Stand On Racial Issues

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP)—The Southern Newspaper Publishers Association ended its 57th anniversary convention today after installing a Jacksonville, Fla., executive as president and adopting several resolutions.

Robert C. Millar, publisher of the Florida Times-Union and Jacksonville Journal, was elected president of the 14-state organization Tuesday.

Chief among proposals considered at the final session was one calling for strenuous action by the publishers to promote future rapid educational and economic advancement throughout the South.

Dr. Frank P. Graham, former president of the University of North Carolina, urged the press to recognize racial problems "and take a stand. Otherwise, by default, the demagogue will take over."

In addition to Millar, the association re-elected Ben Hale Golden, the Chattanooga Times, as treasurer. Hugh B. Patterson Jr., Arkansas Gazette, stepped up from president to board chairman.

Named to three-year terms on the board were John M. Tapers, Tallahassee, Fla., Democrat; Ralph W. Callahan, Anniston, Ala. Star; Bert Struby, Macon, Ga., Telegraph and News; Rex A. Justice, Tulsa, Okla., Tribune and World; Albert N. Jackson, Dallas Daily Times Herald; and Robert B. Smith, Newport News, Va., Press and Times-Herald.

Graham, currently employed as a U.N. representative to mediate the border dispute between India and Pakistan, was principal speaker at Tuesday's session. He called for support in strengthening the U.N. as an instrument of world peace.

"We live in an age of revolution," he said. "A panicked press of a button can wipe out the last remnants of people" on earth.

He expressed hope that long-range economic programs will remove poverty and misery for hundreds of millions of people and reduce the number of "burning fuses of colonialism, racialism, national absolutism and totalitarianism (which) can... blow the world to pieces."

Graham also expressed support for federal aid to education "both for school construction and teacher salaries. . . There are regions that cannot reach the national average in spending on their own educational programs. These areas now need a federal supplement."

Referendum On Algeria Planned

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle told his Cabinet today he intends to call upon the nation to approve in a referendum a new administrative organization for Algeria.

The new administration is to be created to rule until Algerians by a vote determine their own future.

The referendum in France and Algeria, De Gaulle told the Cabinet, will be called at the proper time.

In a speech on Nov. 4 De Gaulle spoke of the possibility of a referendum but did not commit himself to it. In the same speech he said a new Algeria will be administered by the Algerians themselves at every level of government.

The new policy, introducing the possibility of an Algerian republic, has stirred up right-wing opposition, especially among veterans and Europeans in Algeria.

Several thousand youths rioted in Algiers for several hours last Friday on Armistice Day pelting police with stones, tomatoes and other missiles. Fifty persons were injured.

Government authorities in Algiers met mounting tension today by arresting several rightist leaders and banning distribution of today's issues of two Paris newspapers.

Those arrested included a municipal councillor, known for his determined advocacy of an Algeria united to France, and the president of a local political group that follows Pierre Poitout, the French anti-tax firebrand.

The newspapers seized were France-Soir and Paris Presse. One of the papers quoted a military chaplain's funeral sermon to a soldier audience in which the chaplain said, "You have fallen on days when you no longer know the reasons for which you are asked to die."

About 500,000 troops have been trying to put down a nationalist rebellion which has been going on for more than six years.

Governors Visit Argentine Ranch

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina (AP)—The governors of 28 states of the United States got a first hand view of life on an Argentine ranch and headed today to the industrial city of Cordoba. They flew from the Atlantic seaboard to hilly Cordoba in the middle west on the fourth day of their official visit to Argentina.

"It was a marvelous experience to see how people in this country live on their ranches and how they enjoy life in rural areas," said Gov. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina.

The chief executives and their wives, arriving here Tuesday from Buenos Aires, were taken to one of the most picturesque ranches in Argentina—Malal Hue—where they had an Argentine barbecue, folk songs and dances, followed by the game called "the duck" (pató), in which men on horseback compete in a rugged play sometimes described as polo-basketball.

The ranch house at Malal Hue resembled a castle. In the owners' library were photos of such notable visitors as Gen. John Pershing, the Prince of Wales, and Adlai Stevenson.

The owner of the ranch, Jose Alfredo Martinez de Hoz, said, "This is just a small ranch of 4,400 acres. But it is a business operation where we reap our income from the breeding of racehorses and we also grow the finest potatoes in Argentina, as well as wheat, corn, and other products."

The governors plan a visit to the Kaiser plant in Cordoba, called the Detroit of Argentina. The party includes North Carolina Gov. Luther Hodges.

Pastor Talks In School Meeting

WINTERVILLE—Climaxing the American Education Week program last week, Rev. T. A. Watkins, pastor of First Baptist Church in Winterville, addressed the faculty and students of W. H. Robinson School here.

He challenged the audience to go as many places as possible, seek greater knowledge and when this is acquired, to do something for oneself and others.

The Rev. Mr. Watkins stressed the fact that the United States attempts to do something for all its citizens and that communities improve in accordance with educational facilities. The ultimate goal of education is wisdom, he said, which gives one the privilege to have knowledge and to use it in the proper way.

Knowledge is not to be used to raise one above his fellowman, the Rev. Mr. Watkins said, but to advance civilization.

Others appearing on the program were Doris Cox, Joseph Grimes, Pearl Payton, Ruby Suggs and Barbara Locke. Rev. F. D. Williams offered the invocation.
