Threats By Castro Not So Violent

Suspicion Grows Moscow Has Advised Milder Course In U.S. Dealings

HAVANA (AP)—The muting of Fidel Castro's rocket-rattling warnings to the United States heightened speculation here today that Moscow has advised him to take a more moderate course in his dealings with Washington.

The Kremlin's hand may be behind the lessening of attacks in the government press against President-elect John F. Kennedy—in contrast with the increased tempo against President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon—possibly with a view to keeping a path open to later conciliatory approaches.

It was noted here that Prime Minister Castro's newspapers and radio made no mention of Soviet rocket support in their blasts at President Eisenhower for ordering U. S. Navy ships and planes to set up anti-submarine patrols off Guatemala and Nicaragua.

The Eisenhower order—the result of a request from Guatemala and Nicaragua who charged unsuccessful revolts against their governments in the past week were aided by Cuba—set off a chain of events, including both critical and approving comment in Latin America on the naval action and a Cuban letter of protest to the United Nations.

Guatemalan President Miguel Ydigoras also said he favored a Korean-type police action against Cuba, and both Guatemala and Nicaragua were reported considering invoking the hemisphere's 1947 Rio de Janeiro treaty of mutual assistance.

Castro's boasting of Soviet rocket support ceased almost abruptly before the present blip in the Caribbean, however. This kind of talk abated after Castro himself told Cubans on Nov. 9 not to depend too much on Soviet offers of assistance and to rely on their own strength.

This speech followed by three days another by Soviet Ambassador Sergei Khrushchev at a labor rally. Though almost every other Cuban speaker took glowing note of promises of Soviet rocket support in case of U. S. aggression, the Soviet diplomat stressed peaceful coexistence.

Well-informed sources said some of the Soviet diplomatic mission have dropped hints that the Kremlin, busy with its own problems with the United States, would like Castro to be a little less belligerent.

Court Studies Integration Course For New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An uneasy calm settled over this strife-torn city today while a three-judge court decided what course school integration would take.

The judges, all Southerners, considered these paths: They can put off integration until emotions subside and a federal-state tangle unravels. They can leave in effect a court order that admitted four Negro first grade girls to two white schools.

Or they can dismiss legal action against Louisiana which blocks its legislature from running New Orleans schools on a segregated basis.

New Orleans' first public school integration since reconstruction brought a week of school boycotts, unruly protest demonstrations, and street fights.

Tempers finally cooled as schools recessed for a week to allow teachers to attend statewide conventions in Baton Rouge and for the Thanksgiving holiday.

The court's decision could set in motion the lowering of the traditional segregation barrier in the city's Catholic schools.

Catholic officials say parochial first-grade classes will admit Negro pupils when and if public school racial mixing is working.

Of some 46,000 pupils in New Orleans 70 Catholic schools, about 8,700 are Negroes.

In Baton Rouge, Louisiana's fiery legislators toned down their dander and called for an end to violence. The legislature adjourned until Wednesday.

The request to suspend integration—until federal-state differences are resolved—came from the school board. The state contends it has full sovereignty over public education.

Samuel I. Rosenberg, the board's attorney, warned the special tribunal Friday the dispute could force closure of New Orleans schools through loss of funds.

State Sen. Howard Jones of St. Joseph Friday night said a legislative committee would transfer about 1.5 million dollars of school board operating money from New Orleans banks next week.

Jones said the money will go into state-chartered banks in Shreveport to avoid attempts by the federal government to freeze state allocated funds.

The school board earlier indicated it may seek federal funds as a result of state efforts to cut off money. The board must meet a 19 million dollar monthly teacher payroll Wednesday.

The court that will decide the future of integration here includes U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright of New Orleans, who ordered integration after eight years of litigation; Richard P. Rives of Montgomery, Ala., chief justice of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals; and U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert Christenberry of New Orleans.

Washington (AP)—Republican trouble-shooters are being sent into eight states to take a "close, hard look" at the presidential election results—and decide whether recounts could change those results.

The decision was taken Friday at a meeting of three of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's top campaign strategists, Leonard W. Hall, Robert H. Finch and Fred C. Scribner. Finch emphasized that Nixon himself had no part in the plan and hadn't been consulted.

Republican party representatives are being sent to Illinois, Texas, Missouri, New Mexico, Nevada, South Carolina, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Lou Guylay, spokesman for the Republican National Committee, said an estimated 25,000 complaints claiming voting irregularities have been received, many urging recounts.

He said the party agents will check these complaints and try to determine whether a recount in those states might turn Republican defeat into belated victory for Nixon.

As it stands now, with vote counts still tricking in here and there, Democrat John F. Kennedy still has assurance of 300 electoral votes, 31 more than the minimum for election.

Kennedy's nationwide popular vote still maintained a tiny margin over Nixon's. The totals: Kennedy—33,895,468; Nixon—33,710,073. This gave Kennedy an edge of 185,395 out of the more than 67 1/2 million votes cast for the major party candidate.

This was how the Kennedy pluralities stood in the eight states to get close GOP security (electoral vote given in parentheses): Illinois (27)—9,339; New Jersey (16)—21,800; Texas (24)—45,264; Missouri (13)—9,299; New Mexico (4)—2,477; Nevada (3)—2,379; South Carolina (8)—8,139; and Pennsylvania (32)—130,158.

New Jersey Republicans also moved for a recount in five counties where Kennedy piled up a lead of 139,000 over Nixon.

A week ago Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton asked local GOP organizations in 11 states to look into report of irregularities.

The Associated Press later checked with GOP officials in those 11 states, which included the eight singled out Friday for a closer look. The AP found little disposition among those officials to press for recounts.

Morton was not associated with the announcement after the meeting of Hall, Finch and Scribner. Hall was Nixon's campaign manager; Finch and Scribner were top aides in Nixon's campaign organization.

GOP Plans Study 8 States' Vote On Recount Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the Greenville and Washington Rescue Squads, aided by a Marine Corps rescue helicopter, recovered the body of a student pilot, killed in the crash of his single engine aircraft in a thickly wooded area about four and one-half miles North of here, last night.

The pilot was identified as Malcolm O'Neal Broad, 22, a mechanic for Staniel Flying Service of Washington.

Beaufort County Officials said the light plane crashed in a thickly wooded area 300 yards from market Street Extension about 5:15 p.m. Rescuers, who removed Broad's body from the ship, said the Piper PA17 apparently fell straight down into the woods.

Rescuers were aided in the search for the aircraft by an air-sea rescue helicopter from the Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station. The copter, with the aid of powerful search lights, searched the large area, and spotted the crash at about 8 p.m.

A N.C. State Forest Service fire plow was used to cut a path through the heavy underbrush to the site of the crash. Rescuers noted that it would have been "almost impossible" to get to the site of the crash, through the underbrush, without the aid of the plow. They reached the crash at 8:50 p.m.

Officers said the plane was found upside down with the pilot pinned in the ship. They noted that his body had to be cut from the wreckage.

Beaufort County Coroner Bonner Paul said Broad was apparently instantly killed, noting that he suffered a fractured skull; brain injuries; broken limbs; ruptured liver, lungs and spleen; and multiple cuts and bruises.

The coroner said Broad had taken off from the Washington Airport with two other pilots, Richard Minges of Fayetteville and L. R. Bainer of Washington on a routine flight at 4:30 p.m. All were flying separate aircraft, he noted.

Bonner quoted the other two pilots as saying the Broad plane, a 1948 model, suddenly went into a nose dive from about 1,000 feet and crashed into the woods.

Paul said the weather conditions at the time were "not favorable for flying". The pilot of the rescue helicopter said, at the time the crash-scene was found, the ceiling was 450.

Paul, who noted the CAA is making an investigation into the crash, said an inquest would probably not be held, although investigation into the crash is continuing.

He said that Broad was separated from his wife, Mrs. Nora Frye Broad 19, who is living in Dallas, Texas, with their two small children.

Rescue Squads Work To Recover Victim

RESCUE WORKERS . . . members of both the Greenville and Washington Rescue Squads, are shown as they worked to free the body of Malcolm Broad from the twisted wreckage of the light plane he rode to his death yesterday near Washington.

Student Pilot Is Killed In Crash Near Washington

Aver Cuba Is Big Arms Storehouse

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials pictured Cuba today as building up a huge arsenal of Soviet bloc military weapons to arm revolutionary movements throughout the Caribbean area.

The State Department announced Friday night that according to the best available information the government of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has already imported 25,000 tons of arms from the Soviet bloc, including tanks, guns and eight MIG jet fighters. The department said shipments also included about 6,000 tons of assorted ammunition in addition to almost 46 million rounds of rifle, machinegun and artillery ammunition previously obtained by Castro from non-Communist sources.

According to the department's figures, Castro has received a total of 93,000 automatic rifles, including 45,000 from Communist Czechoslovakia; 10,000 submachineguns; a variety of heavier weapons; and 10 Soviet helicopters.

The State Department said Castro now has the largest army in Latin America. His militia was put at 200,000 persons and officials estimated that his regular army totals 40,000.

The Soviet Union and Red China are cooperating in the supply of arms to Castro, the State Department said, because they "apparently desire to contribute to Caribbean tensions by burdening slave arms purchases and by supporting the aggressive policies of the Cuban prime minister."

Washington officials expressed the hope that disclosure of the Cuban arms information, evidently obtained from intelligence sources, would alert other nations throughout the hemisphere to the dangers of serious Communist-directed trouble making by Castro which are foreseen here.

Privately officials put their fears in blunter terms. The Communist powers, they said, are clearly using Cuba as a base for accumulating arms with which to supply revolutionary movements whenever there is an opportunity to stir up serious trouble.

President Eisenhower has deployed U.S. warships to patrol the Caribbean coast of Central America, acting at the request of Guatemala and Nicaragua. Those countries crushed small forces of revolutionary invaders earlier this week and alleged Cuban support for the operations.

Neighboring Costa Rica said Friday night documents had been found on a Nicaraguan opposition leader linking the Nicaraguan revolt with Castro and international communism.

President Miguel Ydigoras of Guatemala declared that he favored a Korea type police action against Cuba, by the Organization of American States.

In Havana, Castro newspapers screamed that the U.S. warships off the coast of Central America could open the way for an attack on Cuba. Radio Moscow said Eisenhower's move was "fraught with the danger of a military conflict." Red China's Premier Chou En-lai declared continued support for Castro, saying the United States was threatening Cuba by force of arms.

At the United Nations, Cuba registered a formal protest against Eisenhower's dispatch of naval units to protect Guatemala and Nicaragua.

Washington diplomats expected appeals from the two Central American countries for OAS action under an inter-American security treaty. A two-thirds vote of the OAS would be necessary to find Cuba guilty of aggression and thus clear the way for economic and political sanctions against Castro.

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Ten of North Carolina's 14 presidential electors and two of South Carolina's eight, contacted for comment Friday, rebuffed an idea advanced by an Alabama attorney for a Southwide conference of electors with President-elect John F. Kennedy.

The lawyer, Lea Harris of Montgomery, said Friday he has had "encouraging response", but that no meeting has been set.

In letters to electors of both parties all over the nation, Harris had suggested the Southern meeting with Kennedy. He said if Kennedy failed to cooperate the U.S. Constitution would permit electors to withhold their votes when the electoral college ballots Dec. 19.

R. M. Kerton of Wilmington, a North Carolina elector, said he told Harris, "I am absolutely for Mr. Kennedy." Said John Akers of Gastonia: "Ridiculous." Mrs. Stella Anderson of West Jefferson: "I'm straight for Kennedy."

In South Carolina, J. C. Hare of Charleston said, "I filed it and didn't reply. And I haven't talked to any of the other electors about it." Columbia lawyer Roy A. Powell said, "I threw it in the wastebasket."

The other Carolinas electors were not contacted.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Urban Renewal Administration announced today a $3,950 grant to aid Kinston and New Bern, N.C. in planning their growth and development.

The grant, to the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development will be matched by state and local funds.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court today decided that the federal government may not force states to fund public education.

The court's decision could set in motion the lowering of the traditional segregation barrier in the city's Catholic schools.

Driver Is Hospitalized In Early-Hours Wreck

Alton Gray Daughtry, Negro, of 615 McKinley Ave. was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital early this morning suffering from lacerations of the face and possible internal injuries received when the car he was driving collided with a utilities pole in the 2,000 block of Dickinson Ave.

Investigating police, who set damage to his car at $1,000 quoted Daughtry as saying he "went to sleep" at the wheel and lost control of his car.

Investigation of the 4:25 a.m. accident is continuing, police stated.

Yesterday, an estimated $500 damage resulted to each of two vehicles which collided at the intersection of North Greene St. and Mumford Road, about 8:50

Officers identified the drivers of the autos as James Willis Flake of 406 East Gum Road, and Kenneth Lloyd McGowan, Route 3, Greenville.

No charges were made, officers said.

In a second collision yesterday, $60 damage resulted to a car being operated by Willie Mason Evans, 52, of Route 1, Grimesland, when it was involved in a collision with a truck driven by Billy Pascal Woodward, 22, of 511-A Watauga Ave.

No damage was reported to the Woodward vehicle and no charges were made.

The collision occurred at the intersection of Dickinson Ave. and Ninth St. at 3 p.m., police reported.

A CHANGE IN STYLE . . . resulted early this morning when this auto collided with a utilities pole on Dickinson Ave.

Clear Driver In Pedestrian Death

NEW YORK (AP)—A magistrate has dismissed all charges against a motorist whose car plowed into pedestrians at busy Fifth Avenue and 42nd street, killing one woman and injuring 10 other persons.

Morton Kirsch, 56, lost control of his auto Oct. 8, hitting the pedestrians and then a bus. Three women were knocked under the bus by Kirsch's car. Florence Noren, 75, was fatally injured.

Police charged Kirsch with failing to observe a signal light, failing to keep in the right traffic lane, and operating a car with defective brakes.

Girl Burns To Death In Wreck

KANNAPOLIS, N.C. (AP)—A teenage girl burned to death here Friday night after the compact car in which she was riding was struck from the rear by an automobile engaged in a road race.

The Highway Patrol said two cars driven by young Negro men were racing down U.S. 29 North when the car driven by Carl Mitchell Davis, 19, of Kannapolis, slammed into the rear of the compact car. The second car in the race was caught after the chase.

Officers identified the dead girl as Phyllis Geraldine Little, 18, of Rt. 2, Concord.

When Davis' automobile hit the back of the small car, police said, one of the girls, Phyllis Beaver of Rt. 3, Concord, was thrown free, but Miss Little was trapped inside and burned to death.

Four persons riding with Davis were injured, but not seriously.

The Highway Patrol charged Davis with manslaughter and highway racing. Paul David Knox 22, of Rt. 4, Kannapolis, was charged with highway racing.

Eichelberger To Quit Ports Post

ASHEVILLE (AP)—Gen. Robert E. Eichelberger confirmed today that he has submitted his resignation from the State Ports Authority, but Gov. Luther Hodges has not yet acted upon it.

The retired general, former commander of the 8th Army, is 75, and said his resignation is based solely on physical hardships in attending meetings of the authority in the eastern and middle parts of the state.

He said the governor's office told him that Gov. Hodges will act on the resignation when he gets back from a tour of South America.

Gen. Eichelberger said he submitted his resignation last spring, but it has not been acted upon, and now he has asked the governor to do so.

TO GIVE THANKS. Danny and Tess took part in the Thanksgiving tableau at school last week, and they did a good job. As I looked at them, I thought of the real Pilgrim children and that first Thanksgiving. Our forefathers weren't inoculated against childhood illnesses. They didn't have miracle drugs and warm clothes. They certainly didn't have more than they could eat. They faced incredible hardships, with no bright toys for special rewards, no candy bars. But they knelt down in the cold with their parents and gave thanks to God just for being alive. Can we do less today? Can we possibly do less, this Thanksgiving, than go to Church and humbly give thanks to our Creator for His wonderful gift of life? Copyright 1960, Editor Adv. Service, Strasburg, Va.

Thanksgiving Talk Given Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Claude Alligood Friday evening. The home was decorated with arrangements of fall flowers. Mrs. Ann De La Mater, president, had Mrs. Chester Harris, chaplain, to lead the group in prayer, after which there was a salute to the flag, singing of "America the Beautiful" in a group and the recitation of the "Preamble." Mrs. Alligood introduced the speaker, Rev. W. J. Hadden, of the Eighth Street Christian Church, who gave a talk on "Thanksgiving." He gave several illustrations—one of which concerned the parable in the Bible of ten lepers, that in compassion Jesus healed them, and they went off rejoiced, how one returned and knelt before Jesus and thanked him. Jesus asked, "Where are the other nine?" He reminded the group of how fortunate the people in America are, that today nine out of ten people pause to give thanksgiving for the simple blessings of life, that gratitude is the response of a grateful heart. Mrs. Kennedy announced that groceries had been purchased for a needy family and that the same family will be remembered at Thanksgiving time. She stated that 600 packages of cigarettes had been sent to Veterans Hospitals. Mrs. Alligood has mailed a package of Christmas gifts to a Veterans Hospital and will send the final package next week. There will be a post officers' conference held in Durham January 6-9, and it is hoped that Unit No. 39 will have a representative. The Christmas meeting will be held at Mrs. James R. Worsley's home in College Court. The meeting was adjourned with a dismissal prayer by the chaplain, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Alligood, assisted by Mrs. C. A. Bowen and Mrs. Ann De La Mater.

National Honor Society Tapped New Members In Semi-Annual Ceremony

By CRAIG WORTHINGTON
 National Honor Society members tapped eleven seniors and juniors at semi-annual induction ceremonies yesterday morning at Rose High.
 Those who were inducted into the Hasket Chapter include seniors Betsy Bryant, Jean Trahey, Ricky Harrington, and Danny Smith; and juniors Ross Clark, Gigi Guice, Ann Hunt, Janice Laughter, Billy Neal James, Jimmy Jenkins, and Johnny Reynolds.
 After the eleven old members, wearing robes and carrying lighted candles, had entered, president Ben White opened the ceremony. He briefly gave the purposes of the society and a history of the Hasket Chapter, named for Miss Deanie Boone Hasket, Rose High English instructor.
 Melinda Coleman gave the devotion, after which Craig Worthington, accompanied by Ruth Clark, sang "The Lord's Prayer."
 Jean Crawford was the first of four student speakers in the group to discuss the qualities which the club holds as its ideals: character, scholarship, leadership, and service.
 After lighting the white candle, symbolizing purity of character, Jean told the group that the character a person develops in high school will determine the character which he will have for the rest of his life. She said that it was easy to pick out those students of integrity and honesty, for their forcefulness makes them an example for all to follow.
 Roy Carawan told the students that gold is a perfect symbol of good scholarship, for just as gold is bright, weighty, tough with pliability which makes it easy to work with; and valuable; so a scholar's thoughts must be bright, for he must deal with weighty matters, shaping them into forms within the grasp of others.
 "The green candle represents leadership as the growth of those four qualities: initiative, responsibility, ambition, and personality," Bill Wade told the group. "We choose as our leaders those who have a sense of purpose and direction... those of integrity, in other words, those who set high examples for others to follow."

 Lighting the red candle, symbolic of sacrifice and service, Louis Jones called service the "culmination of all other aims." He went on to say that character, scholarship, and leadership all have their place in a person's make-up, but they are worthless unless they result in active service for others... for he who would be great among you must be the servant of all."
 Sara Webb, secretary, then distributed the sealed envelopes which contained the names of the newly elected members. Each old member tapped one of the new inductees. After the new members had been pinned, they repeated this pledge:
 "I pledge myself to uphold the high purposes of the National Society to which I have been elected; I will be true to the principles for which it stands; I will be loyal at all times to my school; and will maintain and encourage high standards of character, scholarship, leadership, and service."
 FTA Convention
 Representatives from Rose High's chapter of the Future Teachers of America are attending the state convention at Elliot Hall, Women's College, Greensboro, today. Mrs. Kemp H. Baldwin, club adviser, and 23 girls left before dawn this morning for the all-day convention.

Mrs. Baldwin helped this morning with the registration of the girls from all over the state. Betsy Bryant, club president, will serve as moderator for a workshop titled, "Problems of Presidents." She will report the group's findings to the general assembly this afternoon.
 The representatives will attend various workshops designed to help them in their club procedures and program ideas. During the afternoon, a new slate of state officers will be chosen.

Gamma Delta Chapter Meets

Mrs. F. F. Hendrix spoke to the Gamma Delta Chapter of ESA on General Etiquette at their meeting held in the home of Mrs. James Braddy.
 Members took part in an informal discussion. Mrs. Hendrix was introduced by program chairman, Mrs. W. E. Goin.
 A report from the ways and means chairman, Mrs. James Braddy, indicated that the project to raise money for the Chapter to assist the School for Trainables was receiving favorable response.
 The Welfare Committee reported a visit to the School in October and plans were made to have a party for the students Wednesday before Thanksgiving.
 Guests recognized by the presiding officer, were: Mrs. Claude Harris, Miss Ann Smith, Miss Nancy Allen, Mrs. Bill Sermons, Mrs. W. E. Redd, Mrs. C. R. Shepard and Mrs. Harry Dudley.
 Mrs. Ernest Cassick, presiding officer, announced that there would be a State Board meeting of Epsilon Sigma Alpha in Leaksville this month and urged members to attend.

Mrs. Moye Is Club Hostess
 Mrs. J. Howard Moye was hostess to the Aries Book Club when it met at her home in Brookgreen, Tuesday evening. Arrangements of dried and fall flowers were used throughout the home.
 On arrival members were greeted at the door by the hostess and invited into the living room where a short business session was held. The club voted to bring to the next meeting a shower of miscellaneous gifts to be sent to Cherry Hospital in Goldsboro. An outstanding Greenville citizen was voted on, whose name was to be sent to the President of the Exchange Club as the Aries Book Club's nominee for the annual Golden Deeds Award.
 Following the business the members were invited into the Recreation Room for several programs. Mrs. Alma Clark was recipient of the high score prize, while the second high and low score prizes went to Mrs. Billy Morton and Mrs. Astor Richardson respectively.

VOA Official Speaks To Comos Book Club

Mr. David Sencindiver was speaker to the Comos Book Club when it met with Mrs. Ed. E. Rawl Jr. at her home in Rock Spring. Mixed fall and colored artificial flowers decorated the living room. The Thanksgiving motif was carried out in the foyer where a paper turkey and colored gourds were placed.
 Upon arrival, members and guests were served German chocolate cake squares, spiced crab apples, and coffee. Favors of Thanksgiving candles placed on each plate were an added holiday touch.
 Mrs. Rawl introduced Mr. Sencindiver, administrative officer of the Voice of America, who enlightened his audience as to what the VOA is, what it does, how it does what it does, and why it is in the Greenville area.
 Mr. Sencindiver told the club the first broadcast of the VOA was in 1942. It was an international broadcast to explain why we were in World War II, and to penetrate the censorship screen of the Nazis.
 There are 200 overseas posts in free countries—United States information posts and libraries which render technical assistance. This is the only medium which actually gets behind the "Iron" and " Bamboo" curtains.
 Programs are taped and then played at local stations. Taped television programs are shipped to portray the American way of life. The Voice program center originates in Washington, D. C. in the Health, Education, and Welfare Building where there are 18 studios. Free tours are conducted on specified days. Programs are broadcast in 38 languages from 78 transmitters. The master control console is the largest in the world. It can pick up programs from over 100 stations, and can feed to 26 different locations at the same time. The VOA explains the official position of American society to all peoples of the free world, he said.
 The VOA has been utilizing war equipment, but since the scientific knowledge has progressed too far to use it much longer, new equipment will replace obsolete transmitters. Greenville was selected because the least cultivated land would have to be taken out of use here, and also there would be no large population in front of the high-powered transmitters. The prime contract was let for a little over 12 million dollars, with the total installation estimate being 26 million dollars. February, 1963, has been set as the time to begin broadcasting here, with a crew of 500 employees required for construction. The staff is now composed of nine members, but will grow. In its operational phase, there will be 110 direct employees at three sites: Sight A, Leggett's Crossroads; Sight B, Black Jack-Shelmerdine; and Sight C, Receiving Station, nine miles from Greenville.

 The annual payroll will approximate a million dollars per year, with $7500 being the average salary. Twenty-five people on the supervisory staff, which is under Foreign Service, will be rotated on two-year assignments; others will be permanent.
 Power for the receiver will be utilized from Greenville Utility Company, with other power being obtained from Virginia Power Company and Carolina Power Company.
 There will be 95 antennas at the three sites, with four towers from 50' to 373' in height for each antenna. The VOA has direct communication by wire to relay stations which have short wave transmitters and from which programs are beamed into target areas. There is every conceivable type of program; objective newscasts, plays, scientific developments, and music. Letters written by persons who have come from behind the Iron Curtain keep U.S. officials informed on how many receive these broadcasts.
 Before being employed by the VOA, a civil service examination must be passed, there is a complete hearing, and full field security clearance must be obtained. The United States is third in the International Broadcasting field with Russia and Red China first and second. There are a thousand transmitters active in "jamming"—preventing signals from going into target areas. They are also active in propagandizing. The VOA does no "jamming" nor propagandizing.
 After numerous questions were answered by Mr. Sencindiver, the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Quinn Bostic. Contributions were solicited to help patients for Christmas at the mental hospital in Goldsboro.
 Mesdames Quinn Bostic, Charles Howard and Richard Gaylord volunteered to locate a family to help for Christmas.

HOME DECORATING TODAY

By MRS. R. W. DAVENPORT
 HAPPY THANKSGIVING TO YOU
 We gather together and in so doing there is renewal and strength. There is remembering and rejoicing. There is laughter; there is love; there is joy and there is peace. The Thanksgiving dinner has been a part of our American heritage for more than three centuries.
 Thanksgiving—coming home — "Be it ever so humble, there is no place like home." As we watch our children grow up, let us concentrate on building the home they will look forward to returning to each Thanksgiving and bring their friends. Not necessarily the finest home, but a home where love abides. Your home can be great regardless of size and quality. It can be clean; it can be colorful. Every inch of it can be enjoyed with the welcome mat always out. The Home Furniture Store wishes you a Happy Thanksgiving and may our land continue to be blessed and to be strengthened through its families and homes.—(Adv.)

No Federal Financing Of Campaigns

It is a measure of the seriousness which rising political campaign costs are taken that occasional proposals of federal financing are heard.

There seems every prospect that campaign costs will continue to rise with each major election year.

We remember reading of a committee that began tabulating costs of the 1956 campaign and threw up its hands when the total topped $35 millions.

The 1960 campaign costs will be higher than those of four years ago, we are confident, because the candidates and their spokesmen and supporters were all most active in the closely contested race. Our guess would be something well over $50 million worth of political spending could be accounted for and no one could even begin to estimate the unaccounted-for sums spent to influence voters.

Too, in computing campaign costs there's a question of where to begin.

After Labor Day? or with the national conventions? or should we include sums spent by individual candidates in the primary campaigns? This year both parties were seething with activity immediately after the close of their conventions.

Both major political parties have repeatedly indicated their concern over rising campaign costs but offered no solutions. The money they need is contributed by some individuals, organizations, and in some instances by local political units. There is always the suspicion that views of large contributors influence parties and candidates.

Federal financing would not completely answer this last complaint for there would be great difficulty in insuring no other money entered the campaign.

Then you have the question of how much money for each party... varying in size... varying in durability... and in some instances of varying desirability.

Federal control of the campaign pocketbook is not even an easy way out of the financial problem.

Occasionally we hear an appeal for everyone to "send us a dollar," with the hope that millions of dollar bills will swim upstream to national party headquarters. This hope has never been remotely realized.

The alternative, and we hesitate to mention it when fund-raising drives are so often with us, seems for individual county party organizations to sponsor intensive once-every-four-years solicitations of a dollar from every known party voter in their area. A small share of which would be retained for local needs, another share to state headquarters and the lions share for national party use. This, combined with the customary fund-raising dinners and quilting bees should meet the need.

But again there are handicaps, which include potential lack of cooperation and earnest effort by the local units and citizens therein, the absence of control over vast sums involved, the probability that regardless of how much money was raised the campaigners could always spend more.

There seems no fully satisfactory answer; least of all, that involving a federal financing of political campaigning.

Strong Man Of Administration

By LYNN NISBET

PHILPOTT—There are indications that H. Cloyd Philpott, Lexington business man turned to politics, may emerge as the strong man of the upcoming State administration. While he received fewer votes in the recent general election than Luther Hodges received for Lieutenant Governor in 1952, he is the first candidate for the No. 2 spot on the State ticket to receive more votes than did the candidate for Governor. Hodges' 1952 vote of 783,792 was nearly 13,000 below that polled by William Umstead for Governor. Philpott's 765,519 was more than 30,000 above that cast for Terry Sanford for Governor.

Records have not been checked prior to 1940, but since then the total vote for Lieutenant Governor has fallen from 8,000 to 22,000 below the Governor. Unusual conditions prevailing in this year's election, especially the fact that for the first time in half a century the Republican candidate for Governor waged a vigorous campaign and before the election claimed he would win, tended to reduce the vote margin for all Democratic candidates. Final tabulation of the ballots cast on November 8 indicates that more than usual number of voters who crossed the line for President and Governor either marked the whole ticket for the Republicans or failed to go back and pick out Democrats for individual marking. This undoubtedly cost the Democratic candidates for Lieutenant Governor; all positions on the Council of State and the Attorney General some votes they ordinarily would have received.

There are factors other than the high popular vote given the Lieutenant Governor which lead to the conclusion he may become more than usually influential in the administration.

SIMMONS—Take the case of Eugene Simmons, reading clerk in the 1959 Senate. Simmons managed the primary campaign of Addison Hewlett for United States Senator, and openly supported C.V. Henkel for Lieutenant Governor. He had not been much in the public eye since the first primary, had not attended a meeting of the Board of Conservation and Development of which he is a member, and was not active in the general election campaign. In view of that, plus information obtained from several of his close personal and political friends, your reporter wrote a few days ago that he would not seek reelection as reading clerk in the 1961 Senate.

A letter from Cloyd Philpott, who will be constitutionally the ex-officio president of the Senate, expressed surprise at the statement. He advised that weeks ago he wrote Simmons suggesting that regardless of how he voted in the primary, it would please the Senate president-nominate (and now elected) to have Simmons back as reading clerk — and that Simmons had answered he would like to come back.

The post of reading clerk, like that of president pro tem, principal clerk and sergeant-at-arms, is filled by election of the Senate, not by appointment of the presiding officer. But because the President of the Senate has authority to appoint committees and fill many clerical positions, there has never been a time when the membership did not go along with his choice for the elective posts. So—chances are better than 100 to one that "Gene Simmons will be on the job again as reading clerk in the Senate. There may be contests for this and other positions on both sides of the capitol, but long odds are that except for changes in offices of President of the Senate and Speaker of the House, the basic organization of the General Assembly will be the same as for the 1959 session.

WELDING—This attitude of welding together divergent factions within the Democratic party for continuity of governmental operations is traditional in North Carolina. It is entirely different from the exercise of discipline with respect to defection to other parties on part of Democrats who hold official position in the party organization.

Theoretically, the offices of President and Governor, membership in the Congress and the General Assembly, and other positions within the total government. The President, the Governor, the legislators at national and state levels, represent all the people.

There have been times when political parties, and factions within parties, seemed to think that their election to office justified taking over control for the special benefit of their particular cliques.

The attitude manifested by Cloyd Philpott tends to strengthen the concept of democratic government.

Incredible Slowness In Counting The Vote

Perhaps it has happened in other years, but it seems to us incredible that in this modern electronic age it should take almost two weeks to count the votes of a state and which of the national candidates is to receive a state's electoral votes.

The national election was held almost two weeks ago and the following day it was confirmed that the Democratic nominee had won the presidential election. It was just a couple of days ago, however, that the count was finally determined in California, and for all we know there may still be a few precincts in that state in which vote totals are not yet complete.

An extremely close race this year may have drawn more than the usual amount of attention to the slow returns coming in from some states. Even if the election had been a landslide, it hardly seems reasonable that such a long time should be required to get the final tally from California.

California's 32 electoral votes might have been the deciding factor in the election under different circumstances. Had that been the case, we might not know for sure even now who had been elected the next President of the United States.

It takes time to count ballots—even absentee ballots—but the long count that has taken place in California this year should not be repeated in another national election year. That state should find some means in the next four years to speed up its tally of ballots after election day.

Distorted View Is Given Ivan

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst

If the Soviet man-in-the-street tries, on the basis of what he has been told officially, to figure out what happened in the U. S. election, he is going to be a mighty bewildered citizen.

Throughout the campaign Ivan's newspapers told him Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon were Tweedledee and Tweedledum. The American voter, he read, had no choice at all. Both candidates, said the Communist press, served exactly the same interests and had the same predatory imperialist aims.

Even when it was over, a typical official press comment was that "it is impossible to see without a magnifying glass any marked difference between the Republican leader, Nixon and the Democrat leader, Kennedy."

But then Ivan also was told that the election was a repudiation of the Republican party. For Ivan, there was no explanation of how the American voters could repudiate a policy if there was no difference in policies.

Nor did his press attempt to explain to him why an American electorate could repudiate a political party while a Soviet electorate could never hope to do so.

"Millions of Americans," Moscow radio told its home audiences, "have given their reply to the arms race, to military provocation and to the aggravation of the cold war which was the foundation of the Eisenhower administration policy." The election continued the broadcaster, expressed the people's "profound disapproval of the political course of the U.S. government."

Puzzled Ivan may have wondered: How come Americans get to express profound disapproval of their government? Could Ivan do likewise? And if both Democrats and Republicans represent "big monopoly capital," how can the American people repudiate an arms race by electing one or the other?

If both parties are, as the press has told Ivan, incurably imperialist, how can Comrade Khrushchev expect President Kennedy will represent "the people" any more than President Eisenhower did?

Wasn't President Eisenhower once described by Comrade Khrushchev as a man of peace? And when President Eisenhower succeeded President Truman, who until then had been the main devil in the Soviet press, didn't Ivan read that the Americans elected a Republican as a repudiation of the Democrats and of warmongering and arms-racing?

If an imperialist president is such a menacing dictator, oppressing the American people, how come they can remove him?

Ivan tends to shrug his shoulders, defeated by his puzzle. Those Russians who do otherwise just get more bewildered.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

Think Before You Criticize

A group of people have been appearing throughout history who might be called "off beats." They seem to be at variance with much of the thought of their generation, yet they end up doing a service for which subsequent generations render thanks. These people are not, today, to be confused with "beatniks"—a strange lot of unsettled, bitter, lawless individuals who seem to want to do nothing but stamp upon prevailing custom.

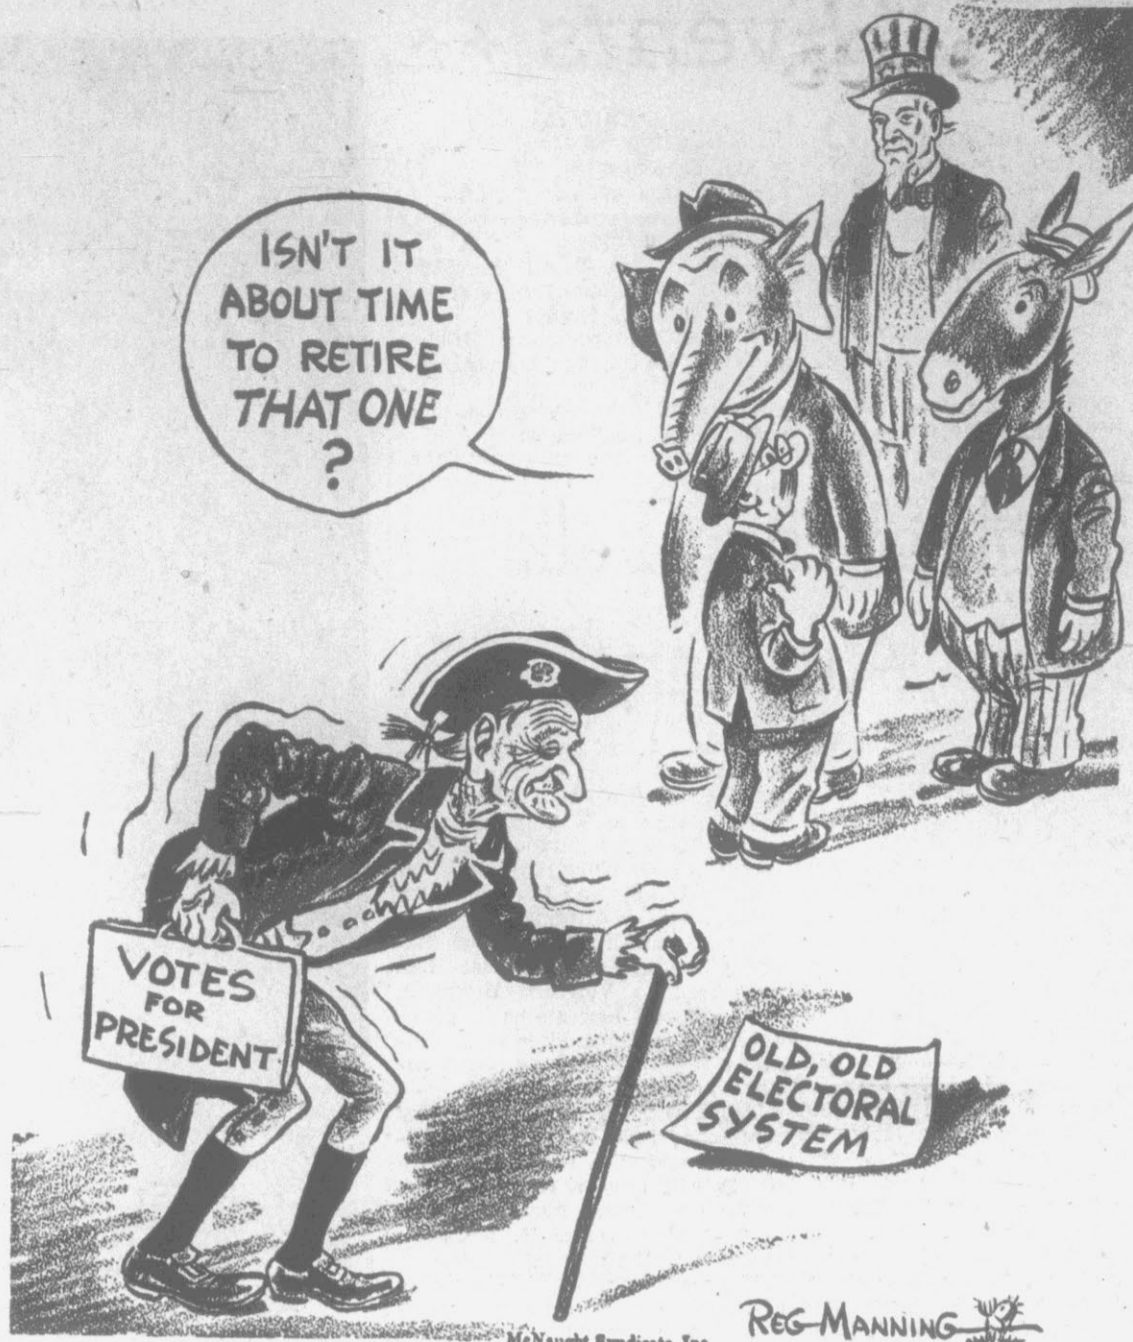

The "off beats" are different. To be sure, they usually disagree strenuously with their contemporaries. They are invariably considered queer. Often they are hated. Sometimes they are persecuted, even to the death. Socrates was an "off beat," so was Galileo. So was Columbus. So was Emanuel Swedenborg. So were Henry Ford and Charles Lindbergh.

There are people in the world who see what their contemporaries fail to see and hear things to which their fellows are deaf. Most of the people who see and hear what others do not are in the insane asylums, and should be. But there are others who really see and hear new and greater truth.

Let us not start to yell for the straight jacket and the padded cell every time somebody advances an absolutely new and apparently absurd idea. Some of these absurd ideas have turned the course of history. Now that we are looking up into space, these "off beats" may prove to be persons of hitherto unsuspected significance.

Speaking Of Old Age Retirement—

By HENRY HOWARD

Confusing One-Way St.

Sometimes the innocent can cause as much hubbalooboo as the malicious violator.

As a good example, we might point out a particular one-way street in town. The segment of the street used in the example is only one short block long. But we have seen numerous violations of the correct direction of travel—both innocent and intentional.

We likely used the adjective "innocent" rather loosely here, but the poor folks that we've seen cruising up the wrong way have appeared to be genuinely embarrassed at their violation.

For intentional violators, we have no words of explanation or sympathy. The sneaky expressions on their faces are quite enough by themselves to explain the situation.

But the result of traveling up a one-way street the wrong way generally is pretty much the same, whether the violator is malicious or not.

The example we mentioned extends only one block westward from the local Junior High School (E. Fourth St.) to Cotanche St. (Or, to be consistent with the one-way direction, we should say the street extends one block eastward from Cotanche St. to the Junior High School.)

At any rate, drivers approaching the "Do Not Enter" end of the block are faced with no decision whatsoever—that is if they read the signs in time.

There's only one way to go and that's to the right up Reade St.

The malicious violators are fully aware of the situation. They are also fully aware of the distance they must travel from the point in question to the other end of the one block aforementioned. It's three times as far to go around. Hence, the intentional violator continues unlawfully up the one way street with his sneaky expression hoping he doesn't encounter two cars abreast heading east. If and when that happens, something's gotta give.

We might add we've been on the scene when such a situation arose. As a matter of fact, we were riding in one of the cars that just happened to be "abreast." Fortunately, there was no actual contact. Also fortunately, it was a cold day, and nobody could hear what everybody else was saying. Some ears could be burning.

What happens, as you well know, is exactly what happens when you place two funnels spout to spout and begin to pour from both ends—something's gotta stop, quick.

We think this particular violator was one of the "innocent" variety. We judge by the look of anger and astonishment on his face as he saw two cars converging upon him side by side.

Maybe he was innocent, but he caused the trouble.

You may be inclined to believe we're trying to make a point for the "International League for the Abolition of Confusing One-Way Streets."

Don't get the wrong idea, even the ILACOWS agree one-way streets have a place in our world today. The confusing one-way street is what the League is so violently against.

(Actually, the ILACOWS are probably on the way out. Most of the organization's membership has been switching over to a newer league with more modern and practical ideas—the "International League for the Abolition of Confusion Resulting from One-Way Street Intersections When Drivers Neglect to Read Plainly-Written Signs.")

We're with the ILACOWS—DNRFPWS.

Jessup On The Record

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It is true that as the course of events moves, men grow wiser; they correct their errors of thought and decision. On the other hand, when the errors were of so serious a nature as to imperil their country, it is soundest to avoid trusting such persons not to be doctrinaire in their attitudes. Dr. Phillip Jessup of Columbia University was at one time a vigorous activist in the Institute of Pacific Relations, chairman of its American Council, chairman of its international council and of its research committee. Now it is proposed that the same Phillip Jessup be chosen as the American member of the International Court before whom questions may come concerning which Dr. Jessup's position must remain in doubt.

The Institute, during the years when Dr. Jessup was most active in it, was under the domination of E.C. Carter and Frederick Vanderbilt Field, the latter an open Communist.

The record shows that Jessup had a very important voice in the Hot Springs Conference of the I.P.R. in January 1945. This Conference was a prelude to the San Francisco Conference of the allied nations to organize the United Nations. Recommendations as to who should be delegates to the I.P.R. meeting came from Phillip Jessup and Lauchlin Currie, the latter at that time being stationed in the White House. The McCarran Committee reports that:

"Of the approximately 30 recommendations by Jessup, 10 were identified by witnesses as being associated with the Communist organization."

The McCarran Committee states:

"The material 'shows how the leaders of the IPR and their advisers—Lattimore, Carter, Currie, Hiss, Vincent, Jessup, Field, and Fairbank—conducted their operations during the war. Through their influence in the White House, by reports from Foreign Service officers in the field, and through the Mission of the Vice President (Henry Wallace) to China, they sought to bring pressure to bear to undermine the Chinese Government, and to exalt the status of the Chinese Communist Party first to that of a recognized force, and then to that of a member of a coalition government."

The McCarran report also states: "During this period Mr. Phillip C. Jessup expressed to Admiral Cooke opposition to United States aid for the Nationalist Government. General Chennault testified that he urged Jessup not to release the white paper as it would undermine the Nationalist Government. The white paper was nevertheless released."

"Jessup acknowledged before the Foreign Relations Committee that he edited the white paper, which was released July 30, 1949."

Regarding Jessup's career, the McCarran Committee states:

"Jessup had had extensive experience in the Institute of Pacific Relations, but there is evidence that up to the time when he became active in the Institute he had in no way specialized in Far Eastern policy."

Also is to be noted: "The committee finds that the October 1949 conference held in the State Department, and presided over by Phillip C. Jessup, is clear instance in which persons associated with the Institute of Pacific Relations became conspicuously influential in shaping American foreign policy. In the opinion of the committee, the selection of personnel, the events at the conference and the subsequent developments established clearly the influence of individuals associated with the IPR sought to exert on the foreign policy of the United States."

"On November 29, 1949, Phillip C. Jessup told Admiral Cooke that we were going to furnish no more munitions to Nationalist China. On January 5, 1950, three months after the conference, President Truman announced that the United States had no intention of providing military aid to the Nationalists on Formosa and that Formosa (Continued on page six)

Tax Reform Program Is Readied

By ELMER ROESSNER

The Internal Revenue Code is loaded with inequities, and many of the tax differentials tend to become preferentials, declared Congressman Thomas B. Curtis (R., Mo.).

Mr. Curtis has developed a tax reform program which he said he would push in the 87th Congress. While he is a member of the Republican minority of the House Ways and Means Committee and of the Joint Economic Committee, he is confident that he can gain the support of the Democratic majority for many of his proposals.

"I have a tax-averaging bill which would put individuals on the same basis as corporations, so that they can use economic cycles to measure their gains and losses instead of the earth's trip around the sun," he said. Such a proposal has long been urged. It would benefit actors, authors, lawyers and others whose income fluctuates.

government should not use taxation for regulation. The reason for my conviction lies primarily in the fact that the use of taxation is so subtle and easy that the people and, indeed, the people's legislative representatives, scarcely know when such regulation is being imposed. This destroys government, of by and for the people.

"An important change should be the allowance of a tax credit for scientific and technological investment. I have introduced legislation which would stimulate greater basic research on the part of the private segment of our economy and thereby place less responsibility on the Federal government for such endeavors. I am convinced that greater results can be achieved in basic research by free enterprise than by government enterprise.

"I have introduced a bill to permit tax deductions for contributions to medical research. I am keenly interested in a bill to permit tax credits for amounts spent for higher education, and personal deductions for the American families who are host to foreign exchange students.

"I am supporting legislation which would give further education for extraordinary transportation costs for handicapped people to and from work, and for the cost of care for a taxpayer's children while his wife is physically or mentally incapable of caring for them.

GOLDSBORO—Ayden saw its chances for a State Single A football crown bite the dust last night, as James Kenan of Warsaw came from behind in less than three minutes and scored two touchdowns for a 19-13 State Playoff victory.

The defeat was the first of the season by the Coastal Conference champions, and undoubtedly it was a rough one to swallow. The Tornados carried an 8-0-1 regular season record into the playoffs, the tie coming at the hands of Beaufort. Last week the Ayden eleven defeated Lillington, earning the right to meet Warsaw.

The Tigers of Warsaw drew first blood in the contest, taking the opening kickoff and driving 85 yards for a touchdown. Quarterback Bob Benton tossed a 22 yard aerial to flanker John Wahab which carried to the Tornado 33 yard line. On the eighth play from scrimmage Tiger fullback Danny Bates bulled his way into the Ayden end zone for the six points. A pass incompleteness saw the try for the extra point fail, and the Tigers held an early 6-0 lead.

The Tornados found the Warsaw defense a little too rugged, and quarterback William Edwards kicked from the Tigers 45. Finding the Ayden defensive forces nothing to sneer at either, the Tigers dropped back into punt formation. A high pass from center was thrown back into the Tiger end zone, and when it was attempted to be run out, the Tigers were stopped on their own one yard marker.

All-Conference fullback Dennis Mills plowed through the center of the Warsaw line for the six pointer and Edwards rolled out around his right end for the extra point that gave the Tornados a 7-6 lead.

A scoreless second period which saw neither team muster any serious threats gave the Tornados a one point lead at half-time.

The third quarter proved to be much the same, with both defenses shining.

With only four minutes left in the ball game, Ayden's Mills intercepted a Tiger pass in his own end zone and raced 82 yards to the Warsaw 18 yard line. All-Conference tackle Donald Carmen threw a key block which limited the spectacular run. Two short passes from Edwards to Mac Tripp carried the ball to the Tiger 11, and then the Tornados completely baffled the Tigers with Tripp carrying the pigskin over on a double reverse. Edwards was stopped on his run for the extra point, and the Tornados held a 13-6 advantage with less than three minutes left in the game.

Warsaw received the kickoff and marched 90 yards to paydirt. The drive was led by halfback Rubert Merritt, who cracked off gains of 18, 10 and 15 yards, which carried to the Ayden 30 yard marker. Then the speedy Merritt slanted off tackle, cut to the sidelines, and raced the remaining 30 yards for the score.

In the try for what seemed to be the all-important extra point attempt, fullback Bates was stopped short of the goal, and the Tornados held a slim 13-12 margin with less than three minutes remaining in the contest.

The Tigers, realizing that they needed the ball desperately, tried an on-side kick. It proved to be successful, as the Tigers recovered on the 50-yard line.

With only two minutes left when the Tigers took possession, their work was cut out for them.

Benton completed a pass to end Charles Lockamy at the Tornado 32. After two more passes fell incomplete, Benton heaved an aerial to Lockamy, who reached over his shoulder and took it on the run in the end zone with less than 30 seconds left. Benton carried over for the point after touchdown to give the Tigers a game winning margin of 19-13.

Ayden Coach Stuart Tripp singled out backs Mills and Edwards, and Inern Robert Cannon, Jimmy Persinger, Hubert Jolly and Carmen.

Standouts for the Tigers were Benton, Bates and Lockamy.

Rain soaked the field and didn't cease until the opening kickoff, and much of the passing game for both clubs was limited. There were only seven out of 24 passes completed during the game.

Score by quarters:
Warsaw 6 0 0 13-19
Ayden 7 0 0 6-13

Edenton Tramps Garner, 40-0, In State Playoffs

A heavy rain and a muddy field failed to slow Edenton's explosive offensive attack here last night as the unbeaten Aces of Coach Bill Billings rolled past Garner with unexpected ease, 40-0, in the playoffs of Class 2-A.

A cloudburst hit Greenville just prior to the 8:00 prep kickoff in College Stadium and a light rain fell at intervals throughout the game. But a crowd, estimated at 2,000, stayed to the end, watching Edenton's machine-like football club stampee to its eleventh victory of the 1960 season without working up a sweat.

It took Edenton only six plays to storm 60 yards following the opening kickoff for the first of its six touchdowns.

A 23 yard run by 190 pound fullback Bubba Hopkins set up the touchdown and it was the same Hopkins who bucked the final 13 yards for the score.

The second time Edenton got ball control, it marched 79 yards for a touchdown with halfback Jerry Tolley scampering 31 yards for the touchdown.

Still in the first quarter, Edenton got the ball once more and thundered 75 yards for the third touchdown, Hopkins scoring on a three yard run.

Edenton's offense moved without too much trouble in the second period but a fumble and intercepted pass held the score to 20-0.

In the second half, Edenton moved on drives of 63, 88 and 40 yards for its final three touchdowns.

Richard Dixon scored two of the second half touchdowns, one on a 21 yard run and the other on an 22 yard pas sfrom Carroll Forehand.

Forehand, the quarterback, scored the final touchdown on a two yard plunge.

The victory sends Edenton into the playoffs against Wallace-Rose Hill next Friday night.

Edenton 20 0 14 6-40
Garner 0 0 0 0-0

Coach Jack Boone's charges started off the current campaign like a blaze of fire, winning their first six games, but have been victims of their own mistakes in their last three contests, losing successively to Appalachian, Lenoir Rhyne, and Presbyterian.

A win for the Buc would be a feather in their cap regarding their seeking admittance into the stronger Southern Conference.

The Spiders own a 2-5-1 record at this stage of the game, but their slate does not indicate the calibre of team that they have. They have one of the finest passers in the nation in quarterback Mel Rideout. He is the number two passer in the Southern Conference, having completed 69 aeriars for a total of 736 yards. East Carolina's pass defense, which has not been up to par with recent Pirate clubs will have a job in itself in containing the strong right arm of Rideout.

Leading the Buc offensive will be halfbacks Sonny Baysinger and Glenn Bass, both All-Conference candidates. Bass has been the leading ground gainer for the Pirates all season, and hit an all-time high for the year last week against Presbyterian, gaining 144 yards on the ground.

Thirteen seniors don the purple and gold for the last time tonight. All have been instrumental in the success of the 1960 Pirate turf team. They are linemen Wayne Davis, Bob Gregson, Henry Kwiatkowski, Dempsey Williams, Henry Vansant, Gary Pierce, Mac Seymour, and Cary Canaday.

Graduating backs are Bass, Baysinger, Mac Thacker, Bert Stafford and David Rogers.

HONOR GRID TEAM—The Rose High football team was honored last night at the Elks Club with a supper given by the Elks. Greenville posted a 9-1 record during the season, finishing second in the Northeastern Conference.

Grifiton Dumps Foe In Twinbill

GRIFITON—Grifiton's Bulldogs mounted a three-point lead in the first quarter and padded it in the final three periods here last night for a 60-47 win over visiting Grimesland.

In the evening's opener, Grifiton's lasses continued to hold their grip on Pitt County basketball, sending Grimesland down for the long count, 48-30.

Sharp-shooting Billy Mahler filled the baskets with regularity last night and was top scorer with 34 points. Tommy Riley, also of Grifiton, came in second with 14 points.

Lindsey Hardee dropped 13 points and Louis Hardee 12 to pace Grimesland.

Veterans Jane Mewborn and John Smith accounted for all but four of Grifiton's points in the girls' game. The former was tops with 26 and the latter had 18.

Betty Lee Morgan, a starting guard who switched to forward, was the loser's top scorer with 15 points.

Bethel Remains On Unbeaten List

BEARGRASS—Bethel's John Smith once again carried the bulk of the scoring attack last night as Bethel picked up its third consecutive victory of the young season, 68-39.

In the opener, the Bethel girls also remained undefeated by rallying in the final half to turn back the home club, 37-36.

Smith scored 25 points in leading Bethel to victory but received help in the scoring column from Harvey Lewis, with 13, and Herman Daniels, with 12.

Van Parker was Beargrass' top scorer with 19 points.

Trailing 21-16 at halftime, Coach Charles Matthews' outfit fought back behind the steady shooting of Peggy Highsmith and Janet Cobb to dump Beargrass by a single point.

Highsmith was high for the winners with 21 points and Cobb had 12. Mary Sue Lilly had 13 points for Beargrass.

Brazil Has First Champ In Jofre

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Brazil has its first boxing champion in history today and Eder Jofre's right hand thus becomes as famous as coffee and the samba in the South American republic.

Jofre, who boxes like Sugar Ray Robinson and punches like a diminutive Joe Louis, took the National Boxing Association's version of the world bantamweight championship Friday night with a lethal one-punch knockout of Mexico's Eloy Sanchez.

The lights went out at one minute and 30 seconds of the sixth round for the stic Sanchez. Jofre's right didn't travel far. It didn't have to.

It caught Sanchez flush on the jaw and the game Mexican almost took a back flip before he hit the canvas.

"I was surprised when he stayed down," Jofre said later. "Ringsiders weren't. Sanchez lay flat on his back several long moments after referee Mushy Callahan raised the Brazilian's gloved hand in victory.

Jofre, a 2-1 favorite, weighed 118 points as did Sanchez. Ironically, the knockout punch came as Sanchez was delivering his best fight of the evening. The round was savage with Sanchez upworking a right that sent the Brazilian's mouthpiece flying. The punch brought a rousing ovation from the predominantly Mexican audience of 6,500 but Jofre's right cross quieted both the fans and Sanchez.

Wild confusion broke out among the 200 or more flag-waving Brazilians in the crowd as scores of them climbed into the ring screaming Portuguese congratulations to Brazil's new national hero.

Police reinforcements were needed to free Jofre from his countrymen and get him safely back to his dressing room at the Olympic Auditorium.

The new champ wants to take on Alphonse Halimi of France next to clear up the world title dispute. Halimi is recognized as the European bantamweight king.

There seems little doubt that the Jofre-Halimi world championship fight will be held in Sao Paulo.

George Parnassus, who was copromoter of Friday night's fight, made an agreement with the fighters that if Sanchez won, the title fight would be staged in Mexico, if Jofre was the winner the Halimi bout would be in Sao Paulo.

The crowd, which paid a gross of $40,010, was far from capacity but it was the noisiest of the year. The Brazilian delegation carried Brazilian flags and a big bass drum.

Jofre's trip-hammer right caught Sanchez in the fifth of the scheduled 15-rounder for a nine count.

"I did not expect him to get up from that punch," said Jofre. "Then, when I hit him with that right cross in the sixth, I was expecting him to get up."

Sanchez didn't.

The Mexico City slugger, fighting with the stic determination of his Indian forbears, was pummeled Jofre with some close-in combinations.

Then the Mexican lowered his head.

Grifiton's lasses continued to hold their grip on Pitt County basketball, sending Grimesland down for the long count, 48-30.

Sharp-shooting Billy Mahler filled the baskets with regularity last night and was top scorer with 34 points. Tommy Riley, also of Grifiton, came in second with 14 points.

Giants Need Win For First Place

The last time the Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants met on consecutive Sundays the Eagles swept the pair to climax their third straight Eastern Conference championship in the National Football League. That was in 1949.

Now the Giants are shooting for three titles in a row and are 3-point home favorites to defeat the conference-leading Eagles Sunday in the headline game of six on the NFL schedule. The Eagles (6-1) and Giants (5-1-1) meet again next Sunday at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, beaten only by the Cleveland Browns, is riding a six-game winning streak and wants to extend it right on through to 11-1, matching their record in '49, the last year they won the title.

The Giants must win to take over first place. The Eagles can retain the lead with a tie. Both clubs have been hit with injuries.

Philadelphia will be without Clarence Peaks, the league's fourth leading ground gainer with 465 yards and a key blocker in front of passer Norm Van Brocklin. Peaks suffered a broken leg last Sunday in a 19-13 victory over Washington.

Veteran quarterback Charley Conerly and end Kyle Rote are both New York question marks. Conerly hurt his knee in directing a Giant rally that beat Pittsburgh 27-24 last week and Rote has had a fractured bone in his hand for two weeks.

The three-place Browns (5-2) are at Pittsburgh and rate 5-point favorites over the Steelers (2-5-1). A Philadelphia victory would send Cleveland into second place, but the Browns probably would prefer Giant victories both this week and next because of the schedule. The Eagles already have split with Cleveland and have a relatively easy schedule after the Giants. The Browns, beaten once by New York, get another crack at the Giants.

In the Western Conference, the Green Bay Packers (5-2) can tie the idle Baltimore Colts (6-2) for the lead by beating the Los Angeles Rams (2-5-1) at Milwaukee. Green Bay is favored by 12.

Third-place Chicago (3-3-1) is home to the Detroit Lions (3-4), and the Bears are 7-point favorites.

In other games, the St. Louis Cardinals (4-4) are road favorites by a touchdown over Washington (1-4-2) and San Francisco (3-4) is at the Dallas Cowboys (0-8) in a battle the 49ers figure to win by 14.

Bidding For New West Coast Team

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Times says one of the applicants for the American League franchise in Los Angeles is National Theatres & Television, Inc.

This organization operates 275 Fox West Coast motion picture houses.

Its vice chairman, Gene Klein, told the Times Thursday that if his bid is successful, former Dodger and Giant manager Leo Durringer will be named manager and director of player procurement.

Gene Autry Goes After Franchise

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Free Press said today Kenyon Brown, former Detroit Tigers stockholder, and Western actor Gene Autry are in a syndicate bidding for the new Los Angeles franchise in the American League.

Brown, a Los Angeles radio executive, sold his minority holdings in the Detroit Baseball Co. last month.

Quarterback Just Hitting Prime

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Patriots' quarterback Ed (Butch) Songin is just hitting his passino prime at the age of 34. His fountain of youth: superb protection.

He guided Boston to its third straight American Football League victory, 42-14 over Dallas Friday night, completing 25 of 35 aeriars for 210 yards and three touchdowns.

Yet six weeks ago, people were beginning to ask if Songin was all washed up in the first seven games, he was hitting on 46 per cent of his passes for eight touchdowns, but had suffered 11 interceptions.

All Songin needed, however, was a little time to throw. A series of personnel shuffles seeking proper line help hit the jackpot two weeks ago in the Oakland game. Songin has been red hot ever since.

For the three-game winning streak Songin has not had a single pass intercepted, is throwing at 55 per cent accuracy rate and accounted for nine touchdowns.

Blue Hose Roll Past Elon, 32-6

CLINTON, S.C. (AP)—Presbyterian College struck for two first quarter touchdowns and rolled on to club Elon 32-6 here Friday night.

If it was not until late in the third quarter that Elon made its only scoring thrust, a 34-yard drive that ended with halfback Marvin Crowder plunging the last yard.

A crowd of 3,000 saw Presbyterian score its fifth victory of the season. PC has lost three. Elon, of the North State Conference, closed out its season with a 4-6 record.

Two games involving North State Conference teams are scheduled tonight. In those, East Carolina entertains Richmond of the Southern Conference, and Western Carolina plays host to Guilford.

Maury Falls Twice To Winterville

MAURY—James Braxton, lanky 6-5 Winterville cager, tallied 34 points here last night to pace the Wolves to a 81-65 offensive battle over Maury last night.

Carolyn Barnes and Cora Lynn Worthington led a first half scoring surge that pushed the Winterville girls to a 61-42 victory.

Braxton, hitting from all points on the court, led the offensive show that saw Winterville score 23 points in the first two quarters and take a 46-33 lead into the dressing room at halftime.

A couple of reserves, Steve Worthington and Billy White, also cracked the double figure column for Winterville with 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Julian Jones led the losers with 30 points.

In the girls' game, Barnes was high with 31 and Worthington had 22. Croom had 20 to pace the losers.

Two Arrested In Law Enforcers' Raids Last Night

Friday night raids conducted by two ABC officers and a Greenville detective resulted in arrests of two Negro women, one charged with possession of lottery tickets and the other with possession of non-tax-paid whiskey for purpose of sale.

Rena Mae Howard, 33, of 414-A Bonners Lane, Greenville, was arrested with 45 lottery tickets in her possession Friday night. She was released under $300 bond. ABC officers J.M. Ward and W.M. Taylor and Det. H.F. Lawson participated in the arrests of both women.

Arrested and charged with possession of non-tax-paid whiskey was Azarlean Edge, 23, Negro, of 304 Reade St. Officers found two and a half gallons of the non-tax-paid whiskey upon a search of the premises. The woman was released under $200 bond and will be tried in city court.

'Drama Team' To Present Play

The 1960-61 Christian Drama Team will present P.W. Turner's "Christ in the Concrete City" at the First Presbyterian Church here Sunday evening at 8 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

The play is not primarily for children, although it can be appreciated by all ages. This play, within the limits imposed by a cast of six, attempts to portray the Passion of Our Lord Jesus Christ.

The Christian Drama Team comprises a traveling group of eight (six men, two women) students at Union Theological Seminary and the Presbyterian School of Christian Education, Richmond, Va. As a part of the seminary's field work program, the team is presenting the play on weekend trips to churches in North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

Members of the drama team are: Bob Burns, Larry Kennon, Sam Martin, Buis Sewell, Dianne Farnham, Jean Jolly, Holland McSwain and Bill Stewart.

The public is invited to attend this service Sunday evening.

INSTALLATION NEARLY COMPLETE—Farmville's array of downtown Christmas decorations is nearing completion with the only chore remaining to check out all electrical bulbs in the street-spanning assemblies. This year's decor, furnished by the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants Association and installed and maintained by the Farmville Water and Light Department, varies only slightly from last year's display. The central star this season replaces a bell that occupied the same position in 1959. The lights, stretching through six blocks of Farmville's business district, will be turned on Dec. 2, the day of the town's annual Christmas Parade.

U.S. Officials Will Urge Bonn To Aid Undeveloped

BONN, Germany (AP) — Two American officials fly here today for what are expected to be stormy economic talks designed to stem the drain on the U.S. dollar and gold reserves.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon are bringing more than 20 experts from Washington with them.

The two men will try to persuade the West German government that it must contribute more money to aid undeveloped nations.

The United States reportedly feels the prosperous West Germans haven't made a sufficient effort to help the less fortunate countries.

The Adenauer government, reliable informants said, was prepared for tough bargaining sessions during the three-day talks which begin Monday.

The government has been unwilling to say just how much money it was prepared to spend. The cabinet, however, has approved a foreign aid program which informants said would total between $852 million and $909 million.

The bulk of the money would come from industry, which has agreed to make available $360 million by buying bonds paying 5 per cent interest over 15 years.

Another $119 million would come from the sale of shares of the state-owned Volkswagen company.

The federal budget would provide $90 million while the remainder would come from Marshall Plan counterpart funds, savings from the 1961 budget and from funds of the state governments.

Western sources said the Americans will press the Bonn government to make long-term, low-interest loans available to the underdeveloped areas.

The Adenauer government claims it is already making a substantial foreign aid contribution.

The official government organ, the Bulletin, said today the foreign aid contribution now equals one per cent of the gross national product, which in 1959 was $59 billion.

Western sources said this depends on the definition of foreign aid. They said it must include a much larger proportion of tax money which the Germans have so far been unwilling to provide except in small amounts.

Won't Abide By Congo Expulsion

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Ghana's charge d'affaires Nathaniel Welbeck said today he does not intend to bow to Col. Joseph Mobutu's order expelling him from the Congo.

Welbeck said he had received no formal expulsion notice from the Congolese authorities and stressed that his government does not recognize Mobutu's military regime.

"I do not consider I have to leave," Welbeck told newsmen. "My government continues to have diplomatic relations with the legal government of the Congo headed by Mr. Lumumba." Premier Patrice Lumumba was deposed by Mobutu.

Mobutu announced Friday night he had given Welbeck until Monday to get out of the country with his nine-man mission. Mobutu has been accusing the Ghanaians of helping Lumumba's efforts to return to power.

Welbeck said he also had received formal assurances of protection from the United Nations. Indian Gen. Indarjit Rikhye, acting head of the U.N. Congo operation, said that as far as he was concerned Welbeck did not have to leave the country.

Rikhye confirmed Welbeck's statement that no formal expulsion notice has been served. He said it was part of the United Nations function of maintaining law and order to protect diplomats and "this protection will be given to Mr. Welbeck."

Rained Money, And All No Good

NEW YORK (AP) — It rained $20 bills on the upper West Side Friday night.

They came fluttering down out of the sky and into the outstretched hands of startled passers-by. There was one catch: The money was as phony as if it had been $19 bills.

Three detectives, acting on a tip, broke into the apartment of Miles Leslie, 51, and before they could stop him he had chucked $3,500 worth of funny money out the window.

The cops watched in horror as the bills floated lazily to the ground, 20 floors below. They managed to retrieve 75 of the bills, but 99—or $1,900—still are missing. Altogether, Leslie had $3,700 worth of counterfeit money, police said.

Leslie and William Stewart, 32, a companion, were booked on charges of possessing counterfeit money and held for federal authorities.

Police had a word of warning for the new owners of the money: Don't try and spend it.

Claim Evidence Of Joint Plot

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—The Costa Rican government announced Friday it had new evidence of a link between Nicaraguan rebels and agents of Cuba's Fidel Castro and international communism.

The government made the announcement in deporting Virgilio Vega, a Nicaraguan opposition leader, to Honduras. It said documents found in Vega's possession showed a Castro-Communist connection.

The government deported Carlos Uruyo, another Nicaraguan opposition leader Thursday after announcing similar documents had been found in his possession.

Telephone Rural Project Begun

Telephone Company construction forces have begun work on a project which provides additional facilities along Highway 43 north-east of Greenville to Falkland and vicinity to serve some 51 applicants.

This was disclosed today by Frank Harrington, local manager at Greenville, who stated the project involves placing approximately 17.3 miles of buried cable and 3.2 miles of aerial wire at an estimated expenditure of $62,051.

Officers Named By Exchange

Luther Moore, local magistrate, last night was elected president of the Exchange Club.

He will succeed Dr. Ray D. Minges. Moore and other new officers will be installed at the club's first meeting in January.

Bob Lee was elected first vice president for the coming year. John Behr, second vice president; Ed Parkinson, secretary-treasurer; and Hoyt Narron, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Bruce Koonce, John Conway and E.S. Flanagan were elected to the board of control for 1961-63.

William Best member of the State Board of Control, from Wilmington, discussed the purpose and usefulness of Exchange Clubs on a local, state and national basis.

Orvall Heffner and Gene Rust, both of Wilmington, were guests.

AMA To Assist Foreign Doctors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Medical Association has agreed to help about 2,500 foreign doctors who face deportation because they failed to pass exams qualifying them to study in this country.

The State Department asked the AMA Friday to solve the doctors' plight because the department has received "numerous expressions of concern over the foreign relations effect" on the failures.

A statement was issued after a two-hour closed meeting with the leaders of five medical organizations concerned with the medical training of foreign doctors. The AMA said it might be 10 days before it comes up with a plan.

But one professional source reported the program probably would call for a six-month extension of the foreign doctors' student visas which would enable them to brush up on their studies and presumably take another examination.

During this period they would not be employed as internes, residents or house physicians as most of them were before the test. Hospitals to which they have been attached would be asked to try to employ them in other capacities, such as laboratory aides.

Health Insurance Cancellation Fails Sway Jury

COLUMBIA (AP) — A federal court jury has awarded $15,000 to a 73-year-old man who claimed an insurance company improperly cancelled his health policy after he had paid premiums on it for 32 years.

George L. Williams of Columbia was the plaintiff against Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association of Omaha, Neb.

Williams testified that he had paid $17 in premiums every three months since 1928. He said the company always sent him notices prior to the date on which the premiums became due.

But in April of 1959, he received no premium notice, missed the payment, and his policy was cancelled, he said.

Williams testified that he never used the policy during the 32 years he had it, but said he ran up a hospital bill of about $1,800 after the policy was cancelled.

The jury awarded Williams $12,000 actual damages and $3,000 punitive damages.

In 1785 the Potomac Company with George Washington as president, was organized to develop the upper Potomac River as a gateway to the west.

Mrs. Mayo, a native of Pitt County, spent most of her married life in the Bear Creek community of Beaufort County, and for the past ten years had lived in Grimesland.

Surviving are her husband; two sons, Jesse Mayo Jr. of the home and John Allen Mayo of Norfolk, Va.; two grandchildren; two brothers, Clarence Ward of Portsmouth, Va., and Lester Ward of Grimesland; and four sisters, Mrs. Tommy Fields and Mrs. Bryan Carroway of Chocowinity, Mrs. Ethel Jones of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. Luther Bryant of Portsmouth, Va.

Religious Week At Sugg School

FARMVILLE — Religious Emphasis Week was culminated in a program Friday at H.B. Sugg School with Rev. J.A. Mebane as guest speaker.

F.H. Mebane, principal of the school, introduced the speaker. The Rev. Mr. Mebane's topic was "Education and Religion." He explained how principles of one are implicit in the other, and those who would pursue education under the influence of religion would be able to adjust to the demands of life.

Music was furnished by the School Glee Club under the direction of Miss S.A. Woodard.

wildered, like a fellow I met in a Moscow department store seven years ago.

Sizing me up as an American, he sidled up and demanded: "Is it true all Americans have automobiles?"

I nodded and he squinted suspiciously. "Then tell me this," he pursued. "Why does Truman have aggressive designs on the Soviet Union?"

"Just a minute, I said, "Truman's not president now, Eisenhower is."

He gave me a grin and a knowing wink and said: "Yes but you know, and I know — Truman's still the boss."

Oratory Contest Winners Named

FARMVILLE — Winners of the County Oratorical Contests, held at the H.B. Sugg High School on Friday, were announced today. Sarah Gardiner of Pitt County Training School was first place winner in the Ninth Grade division.

Critic judge was Dr. M. N. Posey of East Carolina College, Greenville.

Church Forms New Class And Plans An Annex

With formation of a Young Adult Class at Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church, has also developed a plan for building an annex to the church's present Sunday School.

The project began with a petition by more than eighty young adults for the church to provide a Sunday School Class for their age group and the acquiring of Charles R. Ross to teach the class.

The class opened last Sunday, with Ross, as requested, teaching. Signers of the petition included in their ranks a building contractor, plumbers, carpenters, roofers and laborers, who will construct the planned annex without remuneration.

Ross is a member of the Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church Board of Deacons. He has served in the past as pianist for the Sunday School, and subsequently as organist and choir director.

He was born and raised in the Meadowbrook section and has long been teaching in the church's Sunday School.

Ross is a teacher in the Greenville school system and makes his home at 2505 Memorial Boulevard.

President John Adams was nicknamed "the Duke of Braintree" from his birthplace in Massachusetts.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 19, 1960

SATURDAY AFTERNOON . . . usually finds students lounging around the student union, playing cards, watching TV or just plain socializing. Most of East Carolina's football games are played at night.

POST-GAME ACTIVITIES—A dance is held following each home game, allowing students to release their week-long tensions to the tune of the mombo, cha-cha, bop, or some slow music.

Autumn On Campus Comes . . . And Goes

VICTORIES CAME OFTEN . . . for East Carolina's football team this fall, winning the first six games, with four of them being at home. The homecoming game (above) saw ECC walk a way with a 7-6 win over Western Carolina.

Just exactly what is a football weekend on a college campus?

One envisions the crisp fall evenings or nights, as the case may be, when students and fans alike join together to fill the stadiums and watch their favorites battle in a game designed for the men.

With the beginning of each Autumn, blankets, nip flasks, ragged pennants, and old memories are taken out of moth balls. At the close of the season, the old and fresher memories are placed to rest for another year.

In times of old, the game itself constituted the big hours of the Autumn weekend on campus. Now the home game is filled with a bundle of exciting moments, it is a spectrum on any college campus.

The weekend consists of those important dates, the return of alumni, candlelight suppers, the 'big blast', the after-game dances, the fraternity parties and inevitably the big game, matching the local boys against some arch-rival.

This is the time when the coed springs forth in her newest of new fall clothes and the male, with his gentlemanly manners, is attired in 'strickly ivy'.

East Carolina College, with its ever-increasing enrollment, has established itself as a 'big college' and lives in accordance with the rules implied above. The weekend thrills are experienced throughout the nation.

In a way, East Carolina differs slightly. Being on the quarter system, void of Saturday classes, the weekend festivities usually start on Friday night. Pep rallies and fraternity parties take the first step forward. Then, there is sometimes a lull until Saturday night (since most of the games are played at night—a courtesy offered the local merchants) and the big game plus the aftermath.

Autumn always seems to be the top season on a college campus. Its passing is looked upon with a pull at the heart and a heavy lump in the throat. It closes a scrapbook on many cherished memories.

For East Carolina, tonight brings to a close the 1960 football weekends, and on its heels the termination of the first quarter. Yet, the memories will remain for some time; and next year, bearing no complications, it will all start over again.

CROWDED CONDITION—These students found more elbow room watching the ECC-WCC game on the soft turf in the end zone. The game, played before 7,500, was a complete sellout.

AFTERNOON ENTERTAINMENT—The Hi-Lo's helped liven up one fall afternoon with a concert in Wright Auditorium. Such entertainment is a regular feature of the college, adding to the weekend on campus.

SOCIAL LIFE WITH FRATS—Fraternity parties are always looked upon as one of the weekend highlights. Above, the Lambda Chi's stage a formal party. Most of the after-game parties are informal.

Later Closings

FARMVILLE — Farmville stores will begin to observe later closing hours Dec. 2, according to a recommendation by the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors handed down this week.

The Board set Dec. 2, the day of the town's annual Christmas Parade, for the first day to see local stores remaining open until 9 p.m.

Following the Dec. 2 later hours, other dates recommended were Dec. 9 and 16 before beginning consecutive days of closing at 9 o'clock on Dec. 19.

Thereafter, the later closing schedule was recommended through Dec. 23 with all stores closing at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve.

The board voted to begin the later hours on the day of the parade to allow persons visiting Farmville to see the parade to have more time to visit the stores.

Fraction Of Inch Eased Infraction

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—An eighth of an inch kept police from making a federal case out of Shirley Clark's shotgun.

Miss Clark, 22, was arrested Thursday night after her gun blasted a hole through some friends' front door.

Officers accused her of possessing a sawed-off shotgun—a federal offense. Federal law defines a sawed-off shotgun as one with a barrel no longer than 18 inches.

Miss Clark complained, said a federal officer and a city detective whipped out a tape measure. The barrel was 18 1/8 inches long.

Now Miss Clark faces a City Court hearing Monday on charges of drunkenness and discharging a firearm within the city.

RACKET FAILED HIM TOKYO (AP)—A man who made a racket out of teasing dogs into biting him and then collecting damages from their owners was sentenced Friday to a year in jail. The Tokyo District Court found Yoshio Itzuki, 35, guilty of collecting a total of $73.33 from nine dog owners this year. The 10th he tried his racket on called the police.

Farmville's Christmas Parade Set For Dec. 2

FARMVILLE — Farmville's annual Christmas Parade has been scheduled for Dec. 2 at 4:30 p.m., according to Louis Williams of the Chamber of Commerce here.

Williams told the Daily Reflector yesterday the professional "will have a minimum of 25 units including floats, marching bands, and vehicles.

While final details are still pending, at least two high school bands will be on hand for the annual parade. Invitations have been sent to seven more musician groups.

Both local high schools will be represented by the bands from Farmville High School and H. B. Sugg High. Williams has mailed invitations to bands at East Carolina College and high schools in Ayden, Nashville, Robertsonville, Wilson, Tarboro, and Greenville.

Plans include the awarding of prizes to the top three floats entered in the parade. Judges are yet to be selected, Williams said.

JAMES KEENE'S New Historical Novel IRON MAN, IRON HORSE

CHAPTER 20

Murray Singer turned his head and looked at John-Jack DuJoise. Then he said to Ben Holliday, "What the hell's that soldier doing around my corral and bunkhouse?"

"Smelling out rats," Holliday said. "Are you going to give up the killer, Mr. Singer?"

"Give you up?" He looked at his son. "Do you know what he's talking about?"

"No, but I'll get him if there's a killer on this place," Carl Singer said, checking the loads in his gun. "Holliday, you and the soldier come around from behind I'll break in the bunkhouse door and we'll surprise him, whoever it is."

After a brief hesitation, Holliday nodded and trotted his horse over to the corral where John-Jack waited. Murray observed this from the porch and said, "If they jump Satchel, he'll yell his head off. What he could say wouldn't be at all pretty."

"He ain't going to get a chance to say it," Carl assured him, and left the porch, trotting toward the bunkhouse. He waved his hand, first in one direction, then the other, and Holliday and the sergeant started the building to come in behind.

A group of hands came from the barn and watched Carl kick the door open with his foot. Then he burst inside and there was a roll of gunfire and a man's surprised yell.

Holliday had to batter at the rear door with his shoulder before the latch tore away, and he staggered into the room, trying to catch his balance. Carl was standing over Satchel; he rolled him over with his toe and looked at the man's face.

"He went for his gun as soon as I came in," he looked at Holliday. "Where's the sergeant?"

It was a good question, and it annoyed Ben because he gave John-Jack credit for having a little guts. But instead the man had hung back. He came now to the doorway, looked in, then shrugged and leaned his shoulder against the frame.

"You have one, M'sieu Holliday. Now where is the other?"

"What other?" Carl Singer under the mattress, it was too asked.

DuJoise held up two fingers. "The other who was with him?" He pointed to Satchel. "I am always curious, m'sieu, why a man walks when he can ride. His horse is not lame. I looked." He left the doorway and rolled Satchel face down, then more closely examined the badly burned seat of Satchel's pants. "A man does not sit in a fire. Did he fall? Or was he knocked down?"

"Where's Satchel's gun?" Holliday asked. "You said that he went for it."

"Well, he stuck his hand under the mattress," Carl said. "I just guessed he was after a gun. What did you expect me to do? Wait and see?" He turned as a shadow darkened the corral, and Murray Singer stepped inside.

"It was Satchel, Dad?"

"Mmmmm," Murray said. "It doesn't surprise me none." He looked at Ben Holliday. "What are you pawing under the mattress for?"

"His gun. Here." He lifted it to his nose and sniffed it, then handed it to John-Jack.

"Recently cleaned and oiled," the sergeant said. Then he turned impatiently. "There is nothing more here, m'sieu." He stepped outside.

"What's the army doing in this?" Murray asked impatiently. "I don't want the army around my place."

"Take it up with Colonel Dawson," Holliday said. "He's my new side." The whole notion seemed to insult Murray Singer, and Holliday went out. Sergeant DuJoise was at the watering trough, washing his hands and face, and Holliday crossed over to him. "Where were you when I hit the door?"

"Looking in the window," DuJoise said, grinning. "It is surprising what a man sees through a window." He glanced past Ben Holliday to see if anyone was near enough to hear. "You know that Carl is lying? The dead man was on his stomach when the front door was opened. He rolled on his side and made no move at all when Carl shot him."

"You're sure of that?"

"I will swear it. And the gun under the mattress, it was too well oiled. A man does not dismantle his pistol and oil it while leading his horse, m'sieu."

"Yes, that's so."

"And he was not far ahead of us," DuJoise pointed out. "I do not think he took the time to clean his gun, because he didn't have it."

"That's right. And a man with his bottom burned isn't thinking about clean Smith & Wesson." He pulled his face out of shape and gnawed his lip. "I'm going to assume that Satchel didn't kill Ollie, but knew who did. We got too close to him too quickly, Sergeant. That was my mistake."

"And mine," DuJoise said. "Don't blame yourself." He tapped Holliday on the arm. "Ears coming, m'sieu."

Holliday washed up as Murray Singer and his son came over. Murray said, "I deeply regret this, Holliday."

"Do you?" Holliday raised his head and let the water steam off. "And you keep calling me Holliday, like I was some damned flunky around here. I'm Mr. Holliday, and don't forget it."

A crimson flush of resentful anger stained Murray's face, and he took a cigar from his pocket and lit it as though he desperately needed something to do. Finally he said, "You're quick to take offense, Mr. Holliday." Then he chuckled. "Hell, let's not argue. This whole affair has made us jumpy. Why don't you come to the house and have a drink? Stay for supper. I'll inform the cook now."

He walked off, trailing cigar smoke, and Carl turned to the barn.

Holliday glanced past DuJoise, and the sergeant looked around. Betty Singer had come out and was standing on the porch. "The last time I was here, she courted me, and I suspect for a good reason. If you've got any continental manner, John-Jack—"

"Ah, m'sieu, I am French!" He pulled his fingers together, placed them against puckered lips, and pulled them away with a loud smack. "You wish the table to be turned, eh?"

"It's worth a try," Holliday said. "I've got you ten that Murray Singer wants to own my railroad, and pay nothing for it. Still I think the deal's too big for Singer to handle alone. That'll stand some looking into."

Looking ahead: "That sounds like a declaration of war," Murray Singer tells Ben Holliday. Continue the story to a climax Monday.

Deadline Set On AF Dependents

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has taken the first concrete step to carry out President Eisenhower's order to reduce the number of wives and children living overseas with American servicemen.

The Eisenhower order is aimed at curbing a heavy flow of gold from this country.

The Air Force Friday set a deadline of next Feb. 1 for overseas travel orders for dependents of its uniformed personnel.

After that date, the Air Force said, those going to overseas assignments must go without their families.

The Air Force said exceptions "will have to be granted for humanitarian considerations, hardships and peculiarities of selected Air Force units."

Secretary of the Navy William B. Franke said detailed Navy plans are now being prepared to carry out the gradual reduction of overseas dependents.

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker, for the second day in a row, Friday implied that the order might serve to weaken American military effectiveness abroad.

Brucker told a Retired Officers Association convention the presence of service families overseas is evidence to friend and foe that U.S. "forward strategy is not a fly-by-night arrangement." Previously he had expressed concern over the effect of the order on morale of overseas troops.

The Army has 248,788 dependents overseas. The Air Force has 197,438, and the Navy and Marines have 37,837.

The Eisenhower order calls for the total number of overseas dependents to be reduced by 284,000—about half the total.

Postmaster Urges Early Christmas Mail Activity

It's time to start thinking about Christmas mailing, Postmaster J. Knott Proctor said today.

The 1960 Christmas season may set an all-time holiday mailing record, Proctor said, so he is urging people to start their mailing early.

Several suggestions have been offered to insure delivery of Christmas cards and gifts on time.

1. Check Christmas card lists carefully to make sure each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, zone, and state.
2. Have heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord and paper adhesive tape on hand for Christmas gift packages.
3. Christmas cards or letters may be included inside the gift package by adding the appropriate first class postage to the package itself.
4. Proctor has advised that people buy postage stamps now, before having to stand in long lines at the stamp windows.

The Post Office will supply free labels which read "All for local delivery" and "All for out of town delivery" so that residents can sort their own Christmas cards into two groups, thus insuring fast delivery.

First class postage on Christmas cards is advised by Proctor. "Cards sent by first class four cent, or seven cent Air Mail, may include personal handwritten messages," he said. First class mail also includes full forwarding and return service. Return addresses should also be included, he noted.

The postmaster requests that Christmas cards and gifts for the most distant points be mailed before Dec. 10. Those for nearby destinations should be mailed by Dec. 15, or at least a week before Christmas.

Abdullah Gone, His Money, Too

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Thor L. Berthen, 60, told police he was soaking up sunshine on his front steps when along came this sailor who said his name was Abdullah and asked directions.

They got to talking and it seemed natural when Abdullah said he didn't trust banks and showed Berthen a large roll of bills.

Berthen argued about whether banks can be trusted, and ended by betting Abdullah $1,500 that they could. To make absolutely sure he went down to the bank and withdrew his savings of $2,202.21, which Abdullah counted and wrapped in a newspaper.

He handed the newspaper to Berthen and left. Berthen unwrapped the newspaper. It was empty.
