Mrs. Ronald Gray Hight

over taffeta. It was designed with fitted bodice featuring white chantilly lace, scoop neckline, and short sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured self roses in the center back. Her bandeau was a wide silk bow of peacock blue with a matching circular veil. She carried a nosegay of peacock blue pom poms and white chrysanthemums tied with a white satin bow.

Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Brown of Greenville, Mrs. Harold Byrd of Whiteville, college roommate of the bride, Mrs. Herman Denton of Raleigh, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Fran Thomas of Washington, D. C., cousin of the bride. They were dressed as the honor attendant and carried similar bouquets.

Miss Pam Pasti, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Pasti of Greenville, served as flower girl. Her dress was peacock blue silk organza similar to that of the other attendants. She scattered pale pink sweetheart rose petals from her white basket tied with a narrow pink satin bow. She wore a wrist ruffie of silk to match her dress.

The bridegroom's brother, Bruce Hight of Greensboro, was best man. Ushers were Harold Byrd of Whiteville, Herman Denton of Raleigh, brother-in-law of the groom, Jack Hall of Roanoke Rapids, and Donald Park of Clarksville, Va.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Coleman chose a sheath lace dress of town beige over taffeta. Matching accessories, a toque of self lace interspersed with rose petals and a cymbidium orchid corsage in shades of beige blending into rose completed her ensemble. Mrs. Hight, mother of the groom, wore a dusty rose lace dress with a draped overskirt. Her hat was of feathers and she used matching accessories. Her corsage was a rose-beige cymbidium orchid.

The bride and the bridegroom were both graduated from East Carolina College last year. The bride is now employed in the Sells Department at North Carolina State College as an Agriculture Research Assistant. The groom is an Internal Revenue Agent in Raleigh.

Following a southern wedding trip, the couple will reside in Raleigh at 2319 Bernard Street.

For travelling, the bride changed to a rust tweed wool suit with brown accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, parents of the bride entertained at a reception in the church parlors.

Introducing guests to the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Junius H. Rose. Receiving were: Dr. and Mrs. Hubert A. Coleman, the bride and the bridegroom, Mrs. John Frank Hight, mother of the bridegroom, Mr. Bruce Hight, brother of the bridegroom, Miss Frances Smith and Miss Nancy Brown of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Denton, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. David Thomas of Washington, D. C., uncle and aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Arville Gibson of Atlanta, Ga., uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Byrd of Whiteville, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hall of Roanoke Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Park of Clarksville, Va.

Presiding at the guest register were Mrs. Allen W. Baker, Mrs. C. T. Fleming and Miss Mary L. Harding.

The table was decorated with white chrysanthemums and the green and white motif was carried out with punch, mints, and nuts. Serving punch were Mrs. F. D. Duncan, Mrs. James E. Poindexter, Mrs. John O. Reynolds, and Mrs. Herbert R. Paschal.

Goodbyes were said to Rev. and Mrs. Howard M. McLamb at the chapel door and to Mrs. Helene Higgs Kirkpatrick and Miss Sara Kirkpatrick at the hall door.

Cake Cutting

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Murray entertained the Hight-Coleman wedding party and out-of-town guests at a cake cutting at the home of Miss Frances and Ella Tucker Smith of Johnston Street following the rehearsal Saturday night.

Decorating the home were arrangements of white snapdragons and chrysanthemums touched with pink.

In the dining room the table was overlaid with a pink organza cloth and a tiered green and white wedding cake. Raspberry punch and nuts were served with the cake. Mrs. George Pasti served punch. Miss Coleman wore a corsage of white mums.

Col. and Mrs. Lee Hutchinson of Charleston, S. C.

Dinner Party

Saturday at 6 p.m. a rehearsal dinner party was given in honor of Madelyn Coleman and Ronnie Hight by Misses Frances Smith, Tucker Smith and Frances Smith at 1105 Johnston Street.

The home was decorated with white mums, yellow gladiolas, and pink roses. The table was decorated with an imported cutwork tablecloth, a large flower arrangement of white carnations, and white mums.

Twenty-one guests, including the wedding party and out-of-town relatives, were invited.

The bride was presented a corsage of white mums. Toasts were made to the bridal couple after the completion of the meal.

Wedding Breakfast

Sunday at 12:30 o'clock, Miss Frances Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. David D. Thomas of Washington, D. C. entertained the Hight-Coleman wedding party and guests with a wedding breakfast at Cinderella Restaurant. Each guest's place was marked with a miniature basket of green rice.

Miss Madelyn Coleman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hubert Anderson Coleman of Greenville, and Mr. Ronald Gray Hight, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frank Hight of Henderson, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, November 20, at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. The Rev. Howard M. McLamb officiated.

The sanctuary was decorated with seven branched candelabra holding cathedral candles. Vases of white gladioli and large white chrysanthemums adorned the altar.

Mrs. Paul Toll, organist, presented a program of pre-nuptial music. Mrs. Herbert Carter, soloist, sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Gost." For the bridal prayer she rendered "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of satin and chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was of lace, designed with a sabrina neckline, re-embroidered in seed pearls. Long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The bouffant skirt was fashioned with draped satin panels at each side and lace panels at the front and back. The full sweeping back panel extended into a chapel train.

The bride wore a fingertip veil of French illusion, attached to a tiara of lace encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley tied with bridal satin.

Miss Frances Smith of Greenville attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a ballerina-length dress of peacock blue silk organza

Shower Is Given

Lois Jane Hardee

Miss Lois Jane Hardee, bride-elect, was entertained Saturday night at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Cotton Briley in Simpson.

Hostesses were Mrs. Briley, Mrs. Godfrey Mills and Mrs. Charles Fussell. They presented the honoree with a corsage of white mums and a gift of bed linens.

An arrangement of fall flowers featuring the wedding bell was used in the living room.

Mrs. Fussell led the group in several games after which the bride-elect and R. H. Heath opened the gifts. They were assisted by little Misses Debbie Briley and Lois Edwards.

The guests were invited to the refreshment table which was centered with an arrangement of candles and winter greenery. Mrs. Karl Hardee, the bride-elect's mother, poured punch.

There were 30 guests present. Miss Hardee and Mr. Heath will be married on Nov. 27.

To insure washability over the years, wood trim—such as door and window casings, baseboards, and chair rails—should be finished with a gloss or semi-gloss paint. These are the points of greatest wear and soil. If they are kept suds-and-water clean, the whole room will look fresh and well kept.

Bride - Elect

Miss Lois Jane Hardee, bride-elect of Nov. 27, was honored Friday night at a floating shower, given by her aunts, Mrs. Worth Hardee, Mrs. Jasper Boyd and Mrs. B. Marshall Whitehurst, at the home of Mrs. Boyd.

An arrangement of yellow snapdragons was used on the refreshment table in the dining room. The table was covered with a lace cloth.

The honoree was dressed in brown with matching accessories. She was presented a corsage of yellow mums and a gift of china in her chosen pattern.

Approximately 30 guests called during the evening.

C and D Booklet Gives Recipes For Preparing State's Seafoods

By ANNE KEZIAH
Reflector Woman's Writer

Ever have a yearning for some good seafood recipes? Being so close to the North Carolina coast and its seafood industry, residents of this area often serve seafood dishes.

A cookbook on North Carolina seafood is now available. The cookbook, first of its kind to be issued by a State agency, is designed to stimulate interest in and increase the use of North Carolina's wide variety of seafood products.

Announcement of the publication was made by William P. Saunders, director of the Department of Conservation and Development.

The book is illustrated and contains recipes furnished by Henry Belk, editor of the "Goldboro News Argus", who first suggested that the State Board of Conservation and Development print a State Seafood Cookbook.

Others contributing recipes are Mrs. Elizabeth H. Sparks, food editor, "Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel", and Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Department of the Interior.

The recipes were compiled and tested under the supervision of Dr. Frank B. Thoms, food processing specialist, of N.C. State College.

The booklet opens with an introduction on selecting fish. Knowledge of "cuts" is important in buying fish, and it gives the following information.

WHOLE OR ROUND—fish are those marketed just as they come from the water.

DRAWN—fish are marketed with only the entrails removed.

DRESSED—fish are scaled and eviscerated, usually with the head, tail, and fins removed.

STEAKS—are crossed section slices of the larger sizes of dressed fish.

FILLETS—are the sides of the fish, cut lengthwise away from the backbone.

BUTTERFLY FILLET—are two sides of the fish corresponding by uncut flesh and the skin.

STICKS—are pieces of fish cut lengthwise or crosswise from filets or steaks into portions of uniform width and length.

Then the booklet gives recipes for various ways of preparing fish. Shrimp, oysters, clams, and scallops are seafoods most everyone enjoys and the booklet lists many recipes on serving these dishes.

Sauces to serve with seafood are well represented, as are Canapes and Hors d'Oeuvres recipes. Soups and Chowders are likewise included.

Last but not least, a hush puppy recipe is a delicacy that the south is famous for serving.

In recognition of having been the first to suggest the printing of a North Carolina seafood cookbook, Henry Belk, was given the first copy of the publication.

Orders should be sent to the Public Information Office, Department of Conservation and Development, Raleigh, N.C. The booklet costs 25 cents per copy and will be sent post-paid.

GETS FIRST COPY . . . In recognition of having been the first to suggest the printing of a North Carolina seafood cookbook, Henry Belk, right, editor of the Goldboro News-Argus, is given the first copy of the publication by Director William P. Saunders of the Department of Conservation and Development.

Radical Programs Appear Unlikely

What sort of administration program will result from the victory of Democrat John Kennedy in the close election race with GOP nominee Richard Nixon?

There can be no question about the closeness of the vote having a bearing upon the program and policies which are advocated and carried out during the next four years by the Kennedy administration. With only the slightest edge in popular vote, the Kennedy administration will be under tremendous pressure to present a program that will be acceptable to as many of the American people as possible. Otherwise, four years from now the Democrats may find themselves on the other side of the slim margin which separated victory from defeat.

While President-elect Kennedy will present a positive and progressive program during the next four years, we do not look for it to be nearly as radical as many people predicted during the campaign. Neither do we expect the new Democratic administration to launch into a revolutionary program in any major phase of domestic policies.

The closeness of the popular vote in this election does not afford a clear and overwhelming mandate for the adoption of any radical departure from the past. The fact that the GOP gained rather than lost strength in Congress suggests that the Democratic president may find a legislative branch that will not be easy to work with as might be expected in view of the numerical majority his party holds in Congress. The conservative viewpoint held by the Southern delegation in Congress is sure to be evident even though a Democratic president is in the White House.

The obvious delicate balance between victory and defeat which showed up in the popular vote in the recent election will serve as a stabilizing influence on federal matters during the four years ahead. At the same time it should serve as a moving force that will induce more careful consideration of policies and programs of both sides than would have been the case had one party or the other been swept into power by a landslide vote.

Overall, the extremely close national election should produce one of the most effective and genuinely productive administrations in many years.

Naval Patrols To Ease Caribbean Area Unrest

U. S. Navy patrols in Caribbean waters will serve as a deterrent to outright communist invasion of some of the smaller Latin American nations in spite of the fact that Cuban and Soviet official sources have pictured the step as another sign of U. S. "imperialism."

For one thing, the step breathes life back into the Monroe Doctrine that some viewed as dead as Cuba became satellite in the Soviet orbit. In the cold war that is developing over Latin America between freedom and communism, the presence of U. S. navy units on patrol in the Caribbean suggests the United States will no longer stand by idly as it did when Cuba was taken over by communism.

On the one hand, the presence of American warships will provide a warning system to detect invasion units that might be headed toward the shore of some nation. It will serve to discourage attempts to launch invasions from the new Soviet beachhead in Cuba. At the same time, the presence of American ships in the Caribbean will serve as a factor to boost the morale of small, weak nations that are looking to the United States for help in case of open fighting against communism.

Ordering American ships to patrol the Caribbean was a decisive move by the United States that was certain to bring criticism from Cuban and Soviet sources. In all probability the vehement criticism stems as much from the usual propaganda reasons as it does from the fact that this unexpected move fouled up Soviet-Cuban plans for spreading unrest and open conflict in some Latin American nations.

The position the United States has now taken with regard to offering protection to Latin American nations that request its help is in the best interest of those nations. It is likewise in the best interest of the entire Western Hemisphere and the firming up of relations between the United States and its good neighbors to the South.

Just as U. S. patrols in the Far East have proved a deterrent to Red China's military aggression, the Caribbean patrols will help settle the situation in the area close to Cuba.

Main Fact Is: Kennedy Won

By RALPH ROBEY
Interpretations of the election will continue for many weeks and many months. So will discussions of why Vice President Nixon lost. All of this will be important, but the overriding fact is that Senator Kennedy won.

The crucial problem is to appraise this victory. Certain conclusions may be stated dogmatically. These are:

1. There was a vast difference between the views of Kennedy and his platform and those of Nixon and his platform. This difference was both philosophical and practical. Kennedy believes an increase of the power of the Federal Government is desirable and would use this authority to accomplish everything he wants, including a national growth rate of five per cent. Nixon believes that the power of the Federal Government should be restrained and would accomplish his objectives by depending upon the individual enterprise system.
2. The election was so close, especially the popular vote, that no one logically can claim that the result is a mandate. This is doubly so since the difference between the views of the candidates never got through to the general public. And this is remarkable because there never has been a campaign in which the candidates made more speeches or did more traveling.
3. The new Congress will be slightly more "conservative" than the one that is on the way out. This arises from the Republicans making a small gain in the House. The Senate will contain two more Republicans but this is not enough to make any particular difference. The unfortunate withdrawal of Representative Barden of North Carolina and his replacement as Chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee by Adam Powell of New York will cause trouble, but that would have been true had Nixon won.

Over-all there is no reason for assuming that Kennedy can dominate the Congress to the extent of getting everything he desires passed.

4. Some of Mr. Kennedy's pre-election advisers have not been friendly to business. But, contrary to the general impression, the Eisenhower Administration has not been friendly either. Most of the regulatory agencies have been much more severe during the past eight years than they were under either Truman or Roosevelt. Whether Kennedy himself will be actually hostile to business remains to be seen, but there has been no indication that he will be.

5. Government expenditures will increase. That was inevitable in any event. Kennedy probably will try to force spending upward more rapidly than Nixon would have, but it is a difference of degree.

6. The new administration will be much less fearful of inflation than the Eisenhower following has been. Government deficits will be used in preference to tax rate reform when the economy needs stimulating or there is a desire to create more jobs. Nixon would have used tax rate reform to the maximum extent.

7. Many measures that are not conducive to the smooth and effective functioning of our economic system will be introduced. This means that those who are determined to protect the principles of competitive individual enterprise will have to work even harder than they have over the past several years.

Putting all these, and many other factors, together it is our view that the immediate business outlook has not been appreciably changed. By "immediate" we mean the next three to six months. Beyond that we see grave problems which will determine whether we continue to have prosperity or trouble over a wide area.

Jack Said To Look Him Up—

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Everybody Knows Jack

Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Now that John F. Kennedy has been elected President, everybody knows Jack. They all knew him when they all knew his father and mother, his sisters and brothers, his aunts and cousins, his in-laws and presumably his outlaws.

So, we can skip all that for a while. Columnists who tell inside stories about Jack Kennedy and even his wife, prove nothing. Most of them repeat little rumors that sound intriguing when spoken but childishly gossipy when one thinks about it.

John F. Kennedy has been elected President of the United States and that's that. From now on, the President decides whom he wishes to know. He may have been Jack a week ago; today he is Mr. President and a gentleman never addresses him differently.

It is a lonely job that John Kennedy has now. He will sit in that Oval Room alone and all decisions will be his own. He can shift neither authority nor responsibility. When one says that the President is alone, that is not quite so. He is guarded by Secret Service operatives; he is served by Secretaries; he has to make appointments so closely fitted that he hardly has time for himself or his family. In our country, he suffers the pomp of royalty as well as the labors of an executive. His every moment is watched; he has not a second of privacy not can he arrange for privacy. Since William McKinley was assassinated, the President and every member of his family are guarded by an entire nation.

John Kennedy is a member of a gregarious, extrovertish clan. The Kennedys like people. True, they are somewhat brash but delightfully so. It is going to be psychologically difficult for Jack Kennedy to take on the full weight of Mr. President, but he will do precisely that, and many who believe that they have an inside track may discover that there is no track.

The father, Joseph Kennedy, has not made his enormous success in life by catering to cronies. Sure, he is unpopular with those who regard him as a lone wolf who gives a smile and a handshake and moves on. But Joe Kennedy has been loyal to those who are deserving of loyalty. And it is likely that the children have learned from the father that the way to live is to get the job done and never to carry excess baggage.

It is not at all surprising that Kennedy flew to see Nixon to take the bad taste out of the campaign. That was the gentlemanly thing to do. The noise of a campaign should leave no hard feelings. This country needs at this moment all the talent available and Kennedy will undoubtedly search for talent and wisdom. I doubt whether he will have any prejudices against any man of talent but he is likely to rid himself quickly of hangers-on and wise guys.

Most Presidents soon become slaves of the White House. They only know what their hired staff tells them. They only read what is handed to them. If they read at all, John Kennedy is blessed with a literate, loyal, well-trained family. They will be his eyes and ears and they will speak up as they always have done within the Kennedy family. They will not lie. They will not sell him for a fee. They will not make trouble for him. The nation saw this family work during the campaign. They saw Robert Kennedy work for his brother as few men work for themselves. This is a clan—the Kennedys—and they stay together in the old-fashioned style.

So the fellows who knew Jack "when" might just as well let it go at that. We have heard their stories and tales and gossip and after January 20th, it will all sound pretty cheap. We give our President at least 100 days of a honeymoon with his job. After that we criticize according to our beliefs as to what is right or wrong, but during the whole of his tenure in office, he is Mr. President and one takes off his hat. Then comes the next election and we go to it with full force.

It may be a little different this time. We are at war; we are in danger. It may be necessary for all forces to join together without partisanship until the dollar is restored and our economy is safe.

Another Housing Boom Coming

By ELMER ROESSNER
There will be a housing boom next year.

Both the Administration and the Democratic majority in Congress are committed to lowering interest rates, which will stimulate the erection of independently financed homes, and to some kind of government assistance to home buyers.

The desire for housing is high; people still keep falling in love and marrying and still keep wanting to get away from in-laws.

The lag in home building this year has built up latent demand. The housing program should move through Congress fast and easy. The ratio of young voters is rising and will continue to rise for many years, in consequence of the war and post-war baby boom. They are the ones who will be wanting housing most, and few Congressmen will care to antagonize them. OTHER LOOK-AHEADS

Here are more business predictions, based on analysis of trends and a sprinkling of advance information.

Costlier paint: Rising costs of ingredients will soon be reflected in paint prices. One of the big companies has scheduled an increase December 1 and other manufacturers are expected to follow.

A trampoline Christmas: The growing craze for trampolines will get a big boost this Christmas. Advance orders indicate that trampolines will be high in popularity in gifts in their price range.

More vending: Film and flashbulbs will soon be sold by vending machines. A machine has been developed to sell 15 types of film, three types of flashbulbs and to accept film for processing. It will shortly be introduced in Florida and in other states later.

Shoes & shirts
Glued shoes: Shoes made without sewing may appear on the market sometime next year. The development of new adhesives will make them possible.

Disposable shirts: Also coming are disposable shirts, made of paper with the look and feel of fabric. They will be sold from vending machines for 25 or 50 cents, and will be thrown away when dirty.

More no-lift packaging: Notice how many small articles are firmly attached to large cards in self-service stores? You'll see more items marketed that way. Shopping is rising (as it always does when employment dips) and those big cards make it more difficult to swipe the product. More small items will also come in larger boxes.

Paper-back advertising: Expect a sharp rise in advertising in paper books. Some tests have shown good results and many publishers are interested in advertising revenue as a means of meeting rising production costs.

OLD PROMOTER ADDS ANOTHER PREDICTION
"Speaking of Congress," said the Old Promoter, who had walked in and was reading this column over my shoulder. "I have a prediction. I'll say that the coming Congress will pass a tough conflict-of-interest bill."

"It will probably prohibit a former government employee from representing a corporation in a case which he had brought as a government employee, and will be tough in prohibiting former employees from representing private companies in the field in which he was employed by the government."

"Why are you so sure such a law will be enacted?" we asked. "Because the Congress is Democratic and the new crop of former government employees will be largely Republican."

About Taking A Loss

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Readers who are clients of investment counselors, or who have active banking houses or brokers attending to their affairs, probably have already been notified of the possible advantage that can be secured by taking tax losses.

NO LOWER TAXES IN 1961
Both Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Nixon promised greater expenditures, due to increased defense needs, larger welfare payments, and perhaps unemployment aid. We cannot now wait for the official statements of the winning candidate, Mr. Kennedy. But we can assume that anything he recommends will be to the interest of the many millions who hold no securities,—funds for said payments to be raised through inflationary measures or increased taxes. Both could work a hardship on investors.

In deciding what to do, divide your 1960 sales of securities into two groups: (1) Those held longer than six months; (2) those held less than six months. Next, figure out what will be your net long-term gain or loss, and what will be your net short-term gain or loss. Then offset these net figures, remembering that one dollar of short-term loss can wipe out one dollar of long-term gain, and one dollar of long-term loss can offset one dollar of short-term gain.

MORE DETAILS REGARDING LONG-TERM GAINS
Of course, to take advantage of tax losses one must sell the securities, and it may not pay to do this. If an excess of long-term capital gains results, you may reduce this gain by 50 per cent before figuring your tax; and if the tax on long-term gains should exceed 25 per cent of the gains, you may use an alternate method of computing and thus hold down your tax.

In the case of most readers, the capital gains tax will be under 25 per cent of the profits realized. The alternate tax method is used only for net taxable income of more than $18,000 for a single person, $24,000 for the head of a household, and $36,000 for a joint return.

WHAT ABOUT SHORT-TERM GAINS?
The above advantages apply only to long-term gains; they do not apply to the short-term sales cited in item No. 2 of the third paragraph of this column. Therefore, there may be a real tax advantage in letting your profits run over the six-month period, even if it brings you into another year. The government permits you to carry any unapplied capital gains losses forward for the next five years. Of course, securities should not be sold merely to take a tax loss. If the stock is one about which you are still optimistic, the improvement in price may later provide you with a greater gain than you could get by taking a tax loss now.

DISPOSING OF YOUR POOREST ISSUES
Personally I give little attention to taking tax losses if I believe my securities are all good. On the other hand, here again one must decide whether we are in a bull market or in a bear market. If you believe we are in a bear market it is better to take tax losses than it would be if you believed we were still in a bull market. This is another reason for seeking the help of an investment counselor.

Certainly, this is a good time to clear up your list and eliminate the poorest investments. Keep your stocks in the order in which they are rated, and sell one or more of the poorest each year. Ordinarily it is better to sell these in September or October before the crowd rushes to sell, as they may be doing this time of year. On the other hand, most investors may have already taken their capital gains or losses. If so, the market may work up from now to the end of the year rather than continue to decline until the deadline of December 30, 1960.

WAITING THIRTY DAYS
Most investors seem to feel that if they sell stocks to take a tax loss, they cannot buy this same stock back again. This, however, is perfectly possible if you wait thirty days. If the stock is fundamentally good, I am inclined to buy the same stock back even though, due to some special nonrecurring event, it may have advanced in price.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Over the years we have written a number of stories about various acoustical materials and proper methods of installation to insure satisfactory sound absorption. But we have bypassed any discussion of hardboard in this connection because its dense surface hardly lends itself to the deadening of sound.

Now, however, tests have shown that it is possible to take advantage of the high-impact resistance of hardboard and at the same time reduce the noise in your home. This is done by the use of the perforated type of hardboard backed by sound-absorbing batts. The sound enters the perforations and is smothered by the insulation.

Panels of perforated board are already popular for hanging tools, displaying kitchen utensils, supporting shelves and the like. Special metal clips are available which fit snugly into the perforations and enable items of various sizes and shapes to be hung. These panels can be purchased in the standard 4 by 8 (feet) size or smaller sheets. They also can be bought flat and smooth or flat with various grooved patterns or corrugated. For acoustical purposes, the hardboard is usually backed by a 2-inch layer of fiber glass, rock wool or wood fiber insulation. It may be put up directly over studs which are properly aligned or, in the case of existing walls, over furring strips. Similarly, it can be applied to ceilings.

One of the big features of hardboard is the fact that its hard surface resists dents and thus is of special advantage in rooms where the walls might otherwise be damaged by children's toys, furniture, etc. Its surface can be cleaned easily.

In some installations, the light and dark brownish tones of hardboard are considered satisfactory and are not painted. In kitchens or other areas where a particular decoré is important, the hardboard is painted. Flat paints, semi-gloss or gloss enamels may be used. Rollers are generally preferable when using the perforated type of hardboard, since they have less tendency to clog the holes.

Because hardboard is a product of wood chemistry, it may be worked, cut or drilled like wood. It does not chip or splinter and has no grain to rise and mar the appearance.

Ready To Love An Englishman

LONDON (AP) — Actress Shelley Winters flew into London over the weekend all set to make a movie and "fall in love with an Englishman."

Miss Winters, who divorced actor Anthony Franciosa Friday, came to Britain to play the role of the mother in "Lolita," the film of the novel by Vladimir Nabokov. "I'm seriously considering coming to live over here," she told newsmen. "The pace is so much slower in Britain than in America."

"You've got so many intellectual," she added. "And another thing, I'm single and I'd like to fall in love with an Englishman."

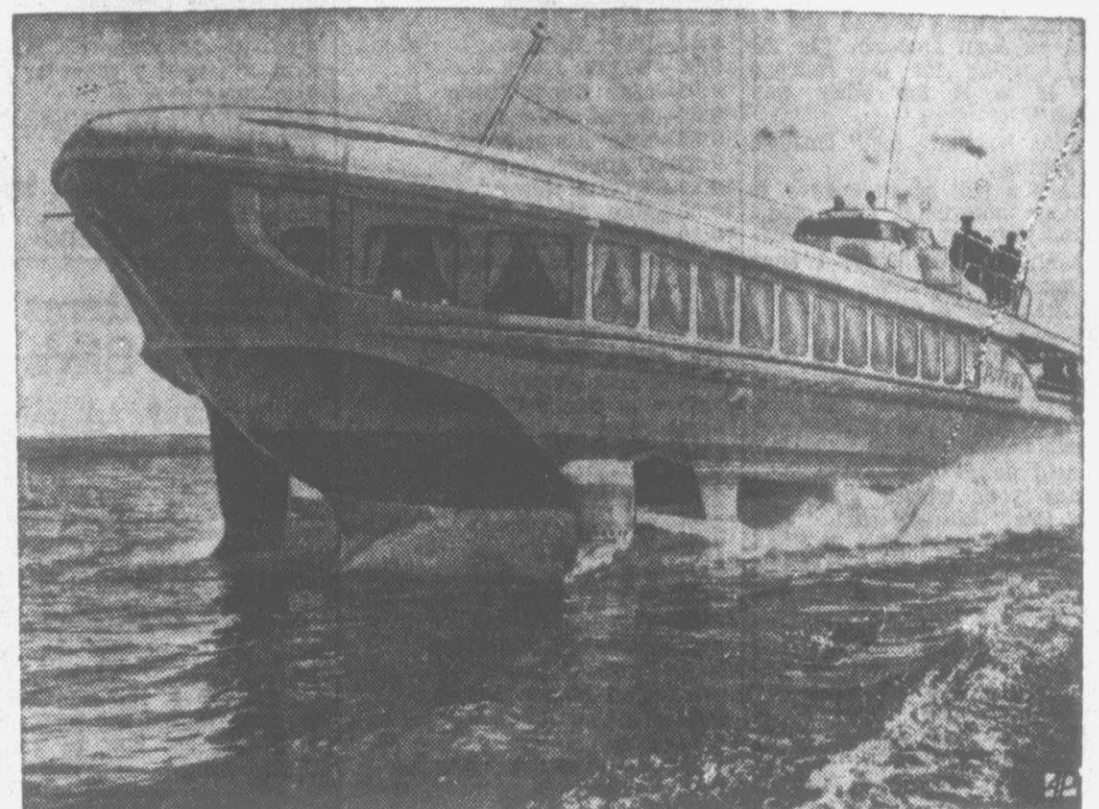

But she ruled out actors — "I think they do not make good husbands."

N.C. Republicans Set Legislative Program

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP)—Republican members of the state legislature have adopted a program calling for increased teacher pay, a $1 minimum wage, court reform, lowering the voting age to 19 and a statewide whisky referendum, among other things.

The program came out of a meeting here Saturday of a majority of the 15 GOP House members and two Republican senators of the 1961 Legislature.

The legislators also voted to publish and make available to all North Carolina newspapers a weekly column giving the minority opinion of legislative matters.

Following is the 13-point legislative program announced by the Republican headquarters here after the meeting:

1. Provision for the enforcement of truancy laws.
2. A substantial increase in teacher pay even at the cost of increasing taxes, reduction in the work load of teachers, and addition of clerical help for routine educational tasks.
3. Election of county boards of education by popular vote.
4. Continuation of compulsory auto liability insurance with additional provisions to include those not presently covered.
5. Reapportionment of the Legislature in accordance with the State Constitution.
6. Election law changes, particularly to repeal the absentee ballot and to give parties authority to name party judges and members of the State Board of Elections.
7. Court reform, including a provision that judges be elected by the districts in which they are nominated.
8. Legislation to call a constitutional convention to modernize the State Constitution.
9. Lowering the voting age to 19.
10. Increasing the state minimum wage to $1 an hour and the elimination of unjust exemptions.
11. A statewide referendum concerning the sale of alcoholic beverages.
12. Tougher penalties for traffic violations, particularly for reckless or drunken driving.
13. A provision that no repetition of welfare cuts can be made after the adjournment of the Legislature.

Pumps in the plant, which generates electricity for nuclear installations at Oak Ridge, are capable of supplying a million gallons of water a minute—more than enough to fill the needs of New York City.

Oregon Unit Of Grange Honored

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—The Vale, Ore., Grange's efforts to improve the lot of migrant farm workers has earned the notice and approval of the National Grange. The national organization presented its top award for community development, and the accompanying $10,000 first prize, to the Vale Grange Saturday during the farm organization's 10-day meeting here.

The award recognized the Vale Grange for improving a migratory labor camp, providing an education program for children of migrant workers and raising funds for an ambulance for its home county.

Today, the approximately 3,000 voting delegates will consider several policy resolutions. One four-point proposal is aimed at labor unions and calls for (1) placing unions under the same restrictions that apply to monopolies, (2) preventing picketing of non-union establishments, (3) preservation of the Taft-Hartley Act and (4) placing limitations on the use of union funds for political purposes.

Other policy proposals would establish national emergency food banks, strengthen the Food for Peace program, attain greater bargaining power for agriculture, and, through self-help programs, give farmers more control within the various commodity groups.

The Grange community development awards were presented by James C. Worthy, president of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation which donates the prizes.

Sunday's Grange program was devoted to religious and social activities.

Christmas Gift Boycott Sought

COLUMBIA (AP)—A boycott against buying Christmas gifts from stores that discriminate against Negroes was urged Sunday by a state-wide racial defense rally arranged by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A resolution defined as discrimination: Segregated lunch counters, rest rooms and drinking fountains, "biased" employment, and failure of clerks to address adult Negroes as Miss, Mrs. or Mr.

The resolution indicated each Negro would make his own choice of stores to boycott.

The resolution said the guiding principle is "self pride and human dignity."

About $3,000 was given by the approximately 1,000 Negroes attending, to further the cause of integration.

Roy Wilkins, national executive secretary of the NAACP, told the rally that the white people of South Carolina have been "shaken" by recent school integration efforts. He predicted that public school integration would come to South Carolina "soon."

Wilkins said the NAACP will continue its emphasis on getting Negroes to register to vote.

He said of Southern arguments that civil rights is a states' rights matter: "It dies hard, but it's on its way out."

Cost: 1 Ice Cream Soda A Day

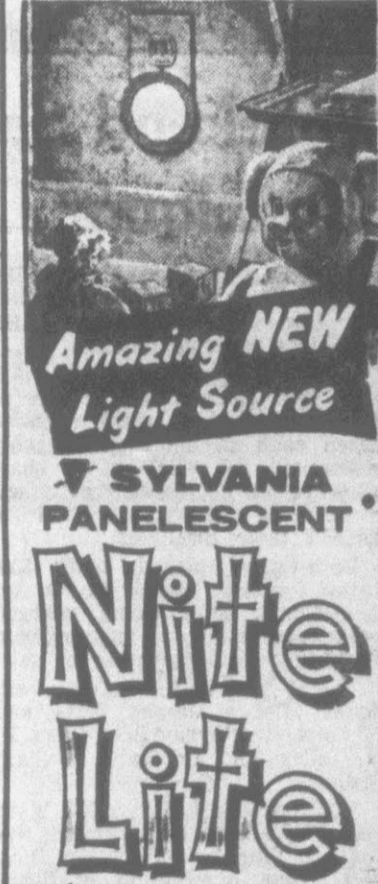

If your doctor prescribed an ice cream soda a day for 10 days to get you out of a sick bed, you'd take your medicine gladly... with little thought to its cost. When figured on the basis of the quantity of medicine the doctor asks you to take every 24 hours. Today's prescription rarely costs you more than a daily ice cream soda. But it does something no ice cream soda can do. It cures disease.

YOUNG "GIRL ON THE WING" . . . Lynda Earnhart rode high above Pitt-Greenville Airport.

PARACHUTIST . . . gathers his chute after leisurely drop onto airport.

AT AIRSHOW . . . this plane has finished first half of a "Cuban Eight."

Daring Exploits Watched By Air Show Audience

Wing riders, parachutists and eight-position rolls. These were some of the features of yesterday's Jaycee-sponsored airshow.

Approximately 1,000 spectators watched the nimble biwing aircraft do their sudden flips and turns in the air.

One real favorite with the crowd never left the ground. That was Bill Bunting, who kept a steady stream of words coming over the loudspeakers for three and a half hours. He covered up the dead spots and supplied the proper note of suspense for the difficult tricks.

Another favorite was Lynda Earnhart, a pretty 15-year-old from Kernersville, who rode the wing of one of the planes high above the airport.

Bunting told the crowd that Lynda had been featured in Life Magazine and had stumped the panel on "What's My Line?" She was strapped to a frame atop the aircraft and the pilot did various loops and turns over the airport.

Bunting pointed out that Lynda had to keep her mouth shut or the rush of air could damage her lungs.

The show closed out with an unscheduled thrill. An engine cut out as Capt. Bob Nance did a low pass over the crowd. He brought the plane around in a quiet glide and did a perfect landing on the run way.

Max Ray Joyner and W. C. Taylor Jr. were co-chairmen of the Jaycee project.

Weekend Sees 5 Arrested On Liquor Law Violations

Five Negroes were arrested by officers over the weekend on liquor law violation charges, ABC enforcers reported today.

James Wilson, 33 of Pitt St., Ayden, and Thomas Spencer, 26 of Hart St., Ayden, were arrested when each of the men allegedly attempted to pour out a quart of non-taxed booze at their homes as officers arrived to search their dwellings.

Both were placed under $200 bonds for their appearance in Ayden Court, after being charged with possession of non-tax-paid whiskey for the purpose of sale.

Taking part in the arrests were Ayden Police James Ross and Herbert Gardner, ABC officer H. B. Lilley and Constable William Crandal.

ABC officers Lilley, J.M. Ward and Walter Taylor arrested Nathaniel Tilmann, 53, of 300 Boyd Ave. when one gallon of illegal spirits was found in his possession.

Charged with possessing non-tax-paid whiskey for the purpose of sale, he was placed under a $200 bond for his appearance in City Court November 28.

The booze was found in a trunk in his house, ABC officers reported.

Robert Lee Hopkins, 28, of Route 2, Robersonville was charged with possession of non-tax-paid whiskey for the purpose of sale by ABC officer Lilley and Carolina Township Constable William Crandal, when a small amount of illegal spirits was found in his possession yesterday.

Ethel Jenkins 42, also of Route 2, Robersonville was arrested on like charges when a small amount of non-taxed whiskey was found in her possession by the two officers yesterday.

Rev. Ottaway To Conduct Seminar

The Rev. Richard Ottaway, East Carolina College chaplain and curate of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Greenville, will conduct a seminar on Christian theology for interested students at the college during the winter quarter. A similar course of study was offered by Mr. Ottaway during the fall quarter.

The seminar will be open to all students except Freshmen. Meetings will be held each Tuesday and Thursday, beginning November 20, in the Y Hut on the campus from noon to 1 p.m.

The purpose of the seminar is "to provide theological foundations for one's thinking." A textbook will be used.

Shark's Victim Out Of Hospital

NEPTUNE, N.J. (AP) — John Brodeur, 24, whose right leg was amputated after being attacked by a shark Aug. 21, has been released from Pitkin Memorial Hospital.

Brodeur, cheerful despite three months in the hospital, will stay at the home of the parents of his fiancée, Jean Fioramo, 22, of Jersey City. Brodeur was attacked while swimming off Sea Girt. His leg was amputated eight days later.

The account of a student at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., showed that her expenses for the year 1943-4, including tuition, transportation to Weymouth, Mass., and a trip to Boston, amounted to $97.96.

String Music Lessons Discussed Before PTA

String music lessons was the topic of a discussion before members of the Wahl-Coates Laboratory School Parent-Teacher Association at their meeting last week.

The guest speaker, Roy Bennett, instructor in music at East Carolina College, was introduced by Mrs. Paul Hickfang, program chairman. Bennett gave a talk and demonstration on the three string instruments that he would teach to interested and talented students. These include the violin, viola and the cello.

Bennett met Saturday morning with some of the parents and children interested in string music. The grammar grade students were individually tested and will be notified this week as to when music lessons will begin. There will be two classes, with group lessons.

The program is being innovated in an effort to bring string music back into the grammar grades.

Later Mrs. Hickfang introduced Dr. George Pasti of East Carolina College who said that a program may be worked out for underprivileged students who are musically inclined.

He also mentioned a foreign language program for grammar grade students, which has been discontinued. Parents will have to spearhead this program if it is to be reinstated, a spokesman said.

Mrs. Betty Kittrell, ways and means chairman, thanked parents and teachers for their cooperation in making the Halloween Carnival a success.

Mrs. Clay Burnette, president presided at the meeting, held in McGinnis Auditorium.

At least six members of the P.T.A. have been urged to attend the two-day study course to be held at Elmhurst School sometime in February.

Tidal Wave Hits Northern Peru

LIMA, Peru (AP)—A tidal wave struck low-lying areas of northern Peru Sunday, reaching as far as a mile inland in some places. Two persons were killed and nine listed as missing.

Dispatches from Chiclayo, capital of Lambayeque Province 650 miles north of Lima, said the wave was preceded by loud underground noises. Some residents said they felt earth tremors.

An earthquake emanating from Peru was recorded on seismographs in Japan.

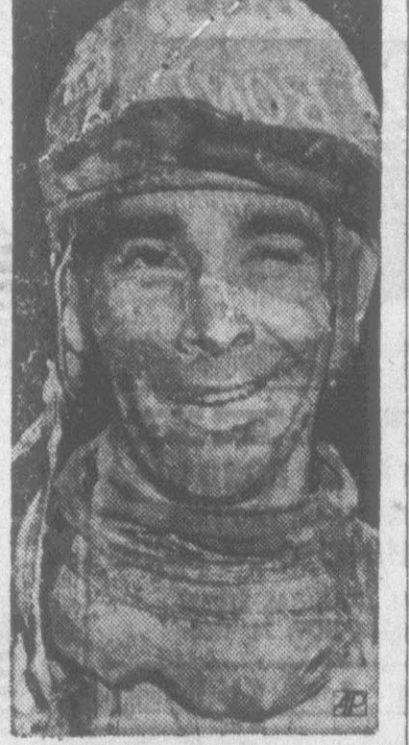

Chiclayo province is composed mostly of desert and coastal plain, where sugar and rice are grown.

The waves battered the small ports of Pimentel, Caletas, Santa Rosa, San Jose and Eten. A tug and 61 small craft capsized.

Earthquakes and tidal waves are not uncommon on the western coast of South America, part of the "ring of fire" that stretches around the rim of the Pacific Ocean.

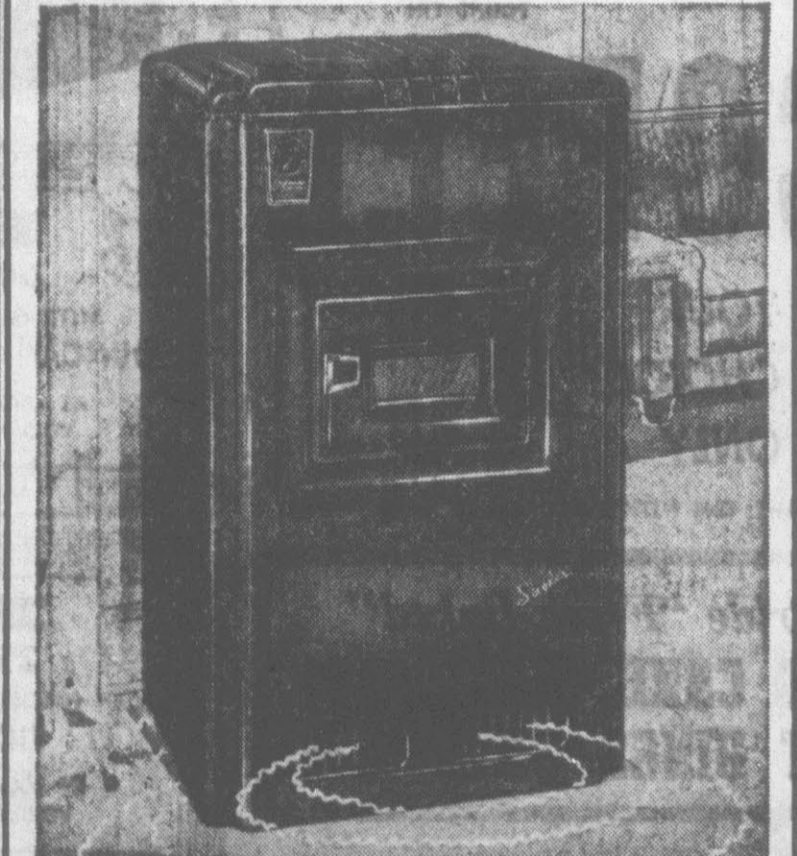

The greatest recent disaster was last May in southern Chile. The city of Valdivia was almost wiped out by earthquakes and a 12-foot tidal wave. The city of Concepcion was also badly damaged. Hundreds were killed and thousands injured.

SANTA MET PICKETS PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Twenty-five pickets were among several hundred persons who greeted Santa Claus at a department store Friday. problems of government transition.

From his two advisers Kennedy will get a list of some 150 top positions for which he will be choosing appointees between now and his inauguration Jan. 20, or immediately thereafter. Hundreds of lesser jobs also must be filled.

Clifford, who arrived Sunday afternoon, had still another Kennedy assignment. He represented the president-elect at a conference with a delegation sent here by the Louisiana Legislature.

The group was under instructions to find out Kennedy's views on a federal court order enjoining the legislature from interfering with school integration in New Orleans. The delegation outlined its mission to Clifford, who simply listened and promised to report to Kennedy.

Kennedy headquarters had announced the delegation would meet with Clifford today but declined to specify where or when.

Over the weekend Kennedy divided his time between recreation and conferences dealing with reorganization of the Defense Department and discussion of the tense situation in the Caribbean area.

His house guests were two Democratic senators, Stuart Symington of Missouri and George Smathers of Florida.

Symington, secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration, is head of a Kennedy study committee on Pentagon reorganization. Mentioned frequently as a Kennedy choice for secretary of defense, Symington said he had told the president-elect he feels he can be of more help to the new administration by staying in the Senate.

Symington, whose report to Kennedy is scheduled for completion by the end of the month, has talked of saving between five and 10 billion dollars a year through greater administrative efficiency in the Defense department.

With Smathers, the president-elect talked over the menace of communist penetration in Cuba and other Latin American countries.

Sunday morning the president-elect got behind the wheel of a cream-colored convertible and, Ann's church in West Palm with the top down in brilliant sunshine, drove five miles from his ocean front home to Mass at St.

COLLEGE STADIUM—It was the best thing that happened to East Carolina College since the first male student enrolled in the early 1920's. That's how sweet East Carolina's stunning 22-7 upset of the University of Richmond was Saturday night.

Experiencing a three-game losing streak, being outweighted by 15 pounds per man, and being rated a heavy underdog were facts that never seemed to sink in as Coach Jack Boone's 1960 wonders pounded the odds deep into the ground in a brutal sledge-like fashion. And EC staged its own funeral procession for the bewildered Spiders of the Southern Conference.

A near-sellout throng of 8,000, mostly Pirate fans and critics, sat enthralled as East Carolina did things it wasn't supposed to do and all but turned the game into a runaway.

In a contest described as a mis-match of enormous proportions, East Carolina simply out-fought the more gifted Spiders all evening and even five fumbles, four in the final half, failed to take away from the supreme efforts produced.

Underclassmen played an immense part in the sweet-as-apple-cider victory but it was 13 seniors, attired in the Purple and Gold for the final time, that led the inspired play.

Actually, the game and final score were decided in the first thirty minutes of play, East Carolina retiring to the dressing room with a breathtaking 22-7 lead at intermission.

From the outset, it looked as if pre-game predictions would hold true to form. The Spiders moved the ball 62 yards for a touchdown the first time they had ball control, offsetting a 35 yard field goal by EC's Henry Kwiatkowski.

But it took over 15 seconds for Glenn Bass to scoot 96 yards on a kickoff return and for Kwiatkowski to boot an extra point, his 16th of the season, to restore East Carolina's lead in the scoring column. And it was Bass' spectacular run that knocked the breath from Richmond's chest and left the Spiders flabbergasted.

East Carolina was in hot water from the start when Bass let the opening kickoff roll into the end zone and hesitated before grabbing it out of reach of a Richmond lineman and scooting back to the one.

Rouse punted out of the end zone and Brent Vann fumbled the 'fair catch' attempt, with East Carolina recovering at its 22.

Halfback Sonny Baysinger, climaxing a brilliant four year college career, put EC in motion with a 22 yard scamper. Fullback Nick Hilgert warmed up and carried for 9 and 11 yards on two straight plays and Baysinger raced for 15 more to the Richmond 24.

Rouse, who played his best game of the season at quarterback, took to the air and hit Tommy Matthews with a 17-yard toss on the Richmond nine.

From the nine, three running plays netted minus three yards and Kwiatkowski booted a field goal on fourth down. An offside penalty nullified the kick but the educated toe of "Ski" duplicated the feat again, this time from the 35, to send East Carolina into a 3-0 lead.

Richmond took the kickoff and moved 62 yards on the running of Stewart Percy, and Vann and the passing of husky Mel Rideout.

A 20 yard pass from Rideout to end Art McGee carried the ball to East Carolina's 24. Vann bucked 19 yards to the five and carried again to the one. Rideout scored on a one yard quarterback sneak.

The Spiders kicked off and East Carolina started knocking off would-be tacklers like ducks in a pond and Bass jetted his way 96 yards for a touchdown.

Bass had a clear path to the Richmond 40 and faked the kicker and last defender, Rideout, out of his shadow to race the distance untouched.

"Ski" booted his 16th straight extra point of the season and ECC rosters went wild with the Bucs out front 10-7.

After holding Richmond's attack, East Carolina moved from its 24 to 40 but a fumble save the Southern Conference club ball control in dangerous territory.

A pass interference call gave Richmond a first down on the 22 but here the Bucs' line buckled down and took over at the 19.

Richmond was on the move again in the second period but Sonny Baysinger intercepted a Rideout pass on the 45 and returned it to the Spiders' 38.

Rouse faded back and hit Bass with a pass over the middle and the elusive senior raced the remaining 20 yards for a touchdown. A mix-up on the snap broke Kwiatkowski's perfect string of kicks but East Carolina was boasting a 16-7 lead.

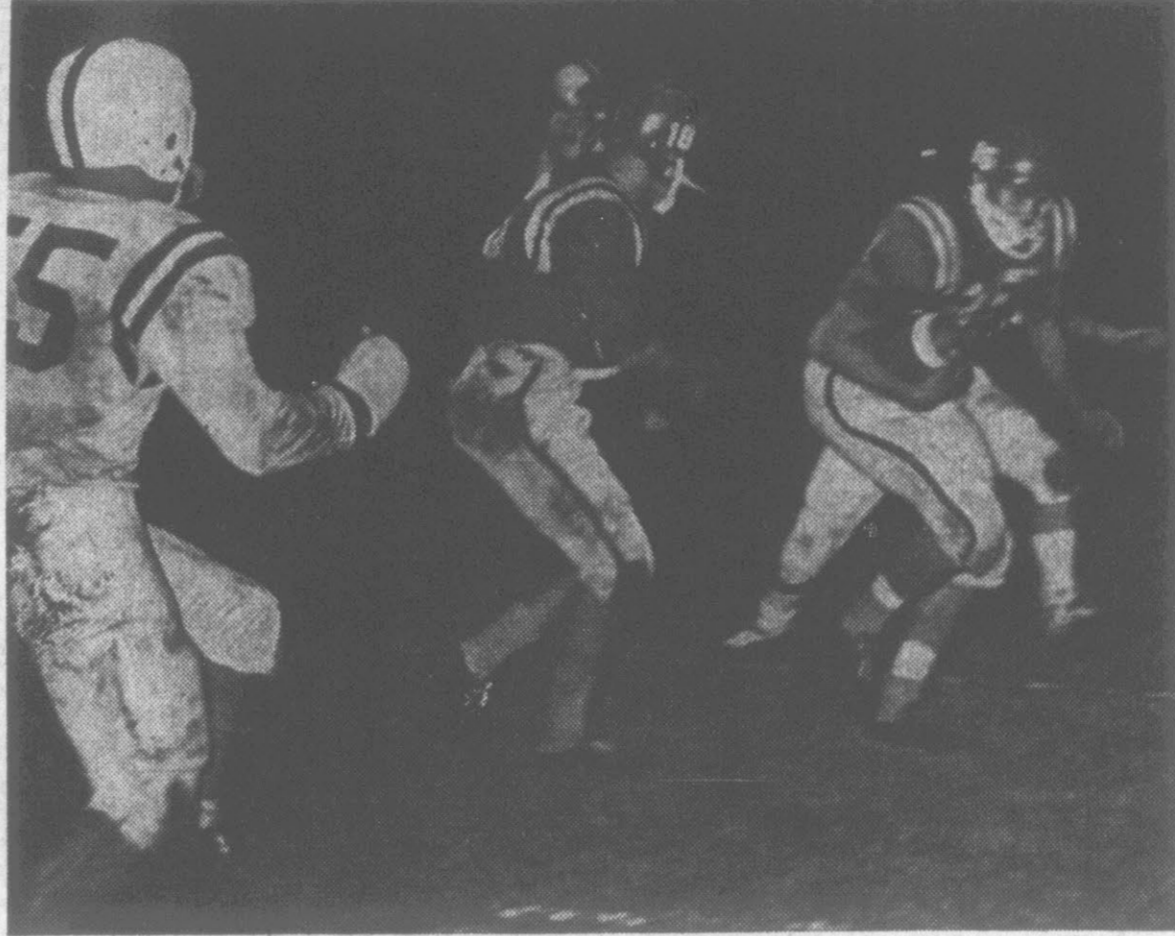

The biggest challenge in stopping East Carolina's final touchdown was the clock and the Bucs topped it just in the nick of time.

Rouse hurled passes to Bass, Baysinger, and Mac Seymore to cover 29 yards. He rolled out to his left on the final play of the half, and fired a wobbly 27 yard pass to end Richard Honeycutt in the end zone, giving East Carolina a 22-7 lead.

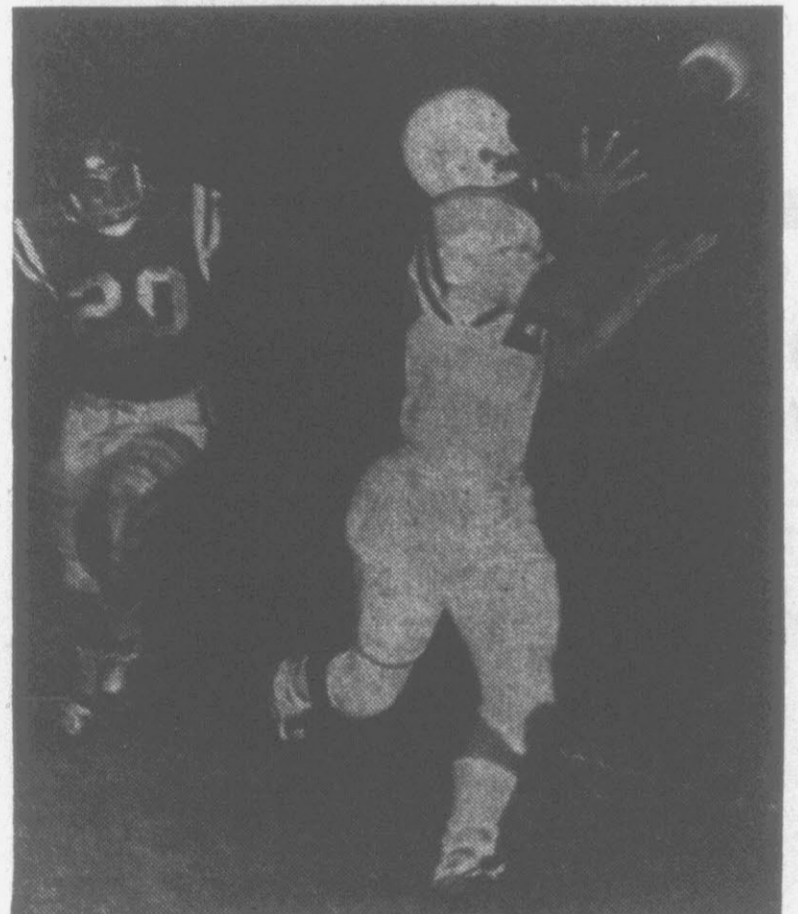

The Pirates fumbled away a couple of second half scoring opportunities and also gave Richmond a few breaks but each time, it was EC's rugged defense that had the final word.

Richmond hopped on a Glenn Bass fumble early in the third period on the EC 26. They had a first down on the 13 but end Bobby Bumgardner rushed through, spilling Rideout on a fourth down pass attempt at

SPIDER GAIN—Bob Coolbaugh, Richmond end, is on the receiving end of one of the few passes the Spiders completed Saturday night. The catch was good for a 16 yard gain before Chuck Gordon (55) came in to make the tackle.

SETS UP SCORE—Tommy Matthews grabs a 17 yard pass from Dan Rouse to put East Carolina in scoring territory early in the game. Henry Kwiatkowski booted a field goal four plays later, giving EC a 3-0 lead over the U. of Richmond.

Top Teams Bite Dust And Bowl Picture Still Hazy

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A mad scramble for the national college football championship suddenly developed today out of the demise of Missouri, with more than a half-dozen teams remaining in the running for the coveted title.

Last week Missouri had one foot in the throne room door. The Tigers had rampaged through nine opponents and needed only to get past twice-beaten Kansas to take the crown.

But Kansas plastered the Tigers 23-7. So Missouri finished with a 9-1 record. So did Washington, Iowa showed 9-1 as did Minnesota, Navy and Auburn. Mississippi, the only one of the group that has not been defeated has an 8-0-1 record with one game to go.

So nothing really can be settled until after the Mississippi-Mississippi State game Saturday. If the Rebs win, they will have a good talking point in that they will have gone through the season unbeaten.

Missouri, of course, is not out of it. The Tigers just happened to be the last of the big boys to bite the dust. Iowa was ranked No. 2 in The Associated Press poll last week behind Missouri and looked powerful in blanking Notre Dame, 28-0.

But what of Minnesota? The Gophers whipped Wisconsin, 26-7, in their finale to the Iowa for the Big Ten title. Further, Minnesota was the only team to beat Iowa during the season.

Washington didn't enhance its reputation by barely edging Washington State, 8-7. Navy was idle, waiting for the big one against Army Saturday, while Auburn clobbered Florida State 57-21.

With all the speculation in the air, the major bowls could wind up like this:

- Rose—Washington vs. Navy.
- Cotton—Arkansas vs. Oregon.
- Orange—Missouri vs. Duke.
- Sugar—Mississippi vs. Rice.
- Gator—Florida vs. Tennessee.
- Gotham—Syracuse vs. Alabama.
- Liberty—Penn State vs. Tennessee.
- Blue Bonnet—Baylor vs. UCLA.

The bowl situation is just as confused. Five teams have been tapped officially — Washington for the Rose, Arkansas for the Cotton, Missouri for the Orange, Florida for the Gator, and Penn State for the Liberty.

The Rose Bowl appears ready to break its long tradition—there is no more official contract—with the Big Ten and invite Navy if the Middles beat Army. That would leave Minnesota and Iowa, both hoping to make the westward trek, out in the cold.

Syracuse officials met Sunday night and decided to postpone any action of bowl bids. The Orange already has been invited to the Gotham Bowl in New York and the Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia.

Again, Duke won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship but lost its final game of the season to North Carolina last Saturday, 7-6. That gave the Blue Devils a 7-2 record, and they probably will be third choice behind Navy and Syracuse for the Orange Bowl.

Midget Football

The final game in the Midget Football League playoffs will be held tonight at College Stadium, pitting West Third Street against Coates.

Both teams advanced to the playoffs with victories last week. The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Southern Loop Closes Successful Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Conference football teams this week close out a season that in many respects must be accounted the most successful for the league since its realignment in 1953.

Three games remain to be played, but already the record books have an unaccustomed glitter that prompts conference Commissioner Lloyd Jordan to label 1960 "A season of solid progress and one to remember."

"I saw every conference team play on its home field last year, and now I've seen all of them on their home fields this year," says Jordan. "And I can testify there's been tremendous improvement up and down the conference. The squads are better, and so is the coaching."

Four of the nine conference teams—VMI (7-1-1), The Citadel (7-2-1), Furman (5-3-1) and George Washington (5-3-1) now are sure of winning records this year. A fifth, Virginia Tech (5-4) will at least break even.

By contrast, the conference produced only three winners last year—VMI (8-1-1), The Citadel (8-2-0) and Virginia Tech (6-4).

The most marked improvement over 1959 has been at George Washington and Furman. GW, 1-8 last year, became a winner under new Coach Bill Elias, Furman, 3-7 in '59, finally reaped the dividends of Coach Bob King's recruiting program. Davidson, 1-8 last season, also rose in stature with a 3-5 finish that was kept from being a break-even 4-4 when Furman nosed out the Wildcats, 22-21, last Saturday at Davidson with Jordan looking on.

Of the three games still to be played, two come up Thursday when VMI and Virginia Tech meet at Roanoke and Richmond (2-6-1 and William and Mary (2-7) meet in Richmond for their Thanksgiving blood-letting.

Furman shuts up shop with a Saturday game at Clemson, but already is assured its first winning season since 1953.

George Washington clouded West Virginia (6-2-2) by 26-0 at Morgantown last Saturday in the 1960 finale for each team.

In non-conference activity, Richmond failed to generate an offense and was gumped by East Carolina, 22-7, but The Citadel came from behind in the last 20 seconds to nudge Arkansas State, 22-21. Earley Eastburn scored the climatic touchdown for the Bulldogs and ran across with the crucial two-point conversion that decided the issue.

The Citadel's Bill Gilgo booted a couple of extra points and tied the conference record for placement kicks with 17 for the season. VMI's Howard Dyer, idle last weekend, leads the conference in scoring with 72 points and gets a chance Thursday to equal or surpass the record of 78 points which has stood since 1953.

Grid Banquet

The banquet for the 1960 Rose High football team will be held tomorrow night in the high school cafeteria.

The players will be honored at the banquet, with the presentation of trophies, and Greenville supporters are urged to attend. A Dutch supper will be served, starting at 6:30.

Members of Greenville's mid-gate football program, the junior high team, and the junior varsity are also invited to the Dutch supper.

Duke Wins ACC Title But NC Clouded Bowl Hopes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Duke Blue Devils, smarting from defeat Saturday at the hands of underdog North Carolina, still carried away the Atlantic Coast Conference championship, but their chances for a major bowl bid were clouded by the loss.

Duke went into the game ranked sixth nationally and hoping for an invitation to one of three major New Year's bowl games, but the 7-6 loss has the Blue Devils wondering, "Where do we go from here?"

Five members of the Sugar Bowl committee were in the stands at Kenan Stadium Saturday and the Orange Bowl group, which meets this week to pick an opponent for Missouri, was handed a jolt by Duke's upset.

Duke still has one more game, U.C.L.A. in Los Angeles, Dec. 3. In the few conference games to be played this coming week, fourth place Wake Forest plays host to South Carolina, North Carolina, in sixth place, meets last place Virginia at home. Clemson plays Furman in the only other game played by an ACC team.

In other games last Saturday, North Carolina State tied South Carolina 6-8. The Wolfpack claimed second place with a 4-1-1 record.

Maryland rolled over Virginia 44-12 and captured third place with a 5-2 mark. Clemson, which lost to non-conference Boston College 25-14, took the No. 4 spot with a 4-2 record.

Tar Heel Coach Jim Hickey credited North Carolina's defense with saving the day and revealed he called Carolina's scoring play from the bench just before quarterback Ray Farris somersaulted into the end zone with two minutes left to play.

"It's been a long, tough season, but it was worth it today—worth everything," Hickey said.

Duke Coach Bill Murray refused to say much after the loss about post-season games but remarked, "The only bowl on our minds was the one we played in Kenan Stadium today."

"I said just last week that Carolina was better than their record and now I guess some people will believe me," Murray said.

North Carolina now has a 2-7 overall record, beating Duke and Notre Dame.

The signing of Vernon as field manager and Doherty as general manager gave American League expansion plans a boost. But the other half of the double play—a move into Los Angeles—is still to be completed.

Club owners and league officials meet in New York Tuesday to award the Los Angeles franchise. They put off action last week after storm signals were raised by commissioner Ford Frick.

Frick hinted that the American League had better do business with Walter O'Malley, owner of the National League's Los Angeles Dodgers, before moving on to his lush acres. As a result, Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, is in Los Angeles to talk with O'Malley.

From a public relations standpoint, owners of the new Washington club scored heavily in their appointment of Vernon as field manager.

The lean, quiet Vernon, 42, was an idol of the fans when he won batting titles and played first base for the Washington Senators.

He wanted to return to Washington and he wanted to manage a major league team. E. R. (Pete) Quesada, head of the group that obtained the franchise after the old Senators transferred to Minneapolis-St. Paul, gave him the chance.

Quesada, the federal aviation administrator, announced Vernon had received a two-year contract and Doherty, president of the American Association, had signed for the same period as general manager.

Doherty and Vernon got on the job at once. Their first task comes up quickly. The selection of players from a pool created by offerings of established American League clubs is scheduled for Friday, followed next week by the draft of minor leaguers.

Doherty has been president of the American Association since 1954 and was general manager of the Louisville club for five years. He had held front office positions in the Boston Red Sox system since 1926.

Vernon has traveled in both leagues, playing for Cleveland and Boston as well as Washington in the American and Milwaukee and Pittsburgh in the National. He was a coach of the world champion Pirates last season.

FAMILY FOOTBALL
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Three members of the Jacunski family turned out for Yale's opening football practice. They were varsity end coach Harry Jacunski and his twin sons, Dick and Bob, both sophomores.

Lee, the top passer in the Missouri Valley Conference a year ago while playing for the University of Cincinnati, threw touchdown passes of 78, 92 and 73 yards as a replacement for injured George Bianda.

Until Sunday Lee had completed one pass in three attempts for ten yards against Los Angeles back on Sept. 18.

His 78-yard TD pass to Billy Groman tied the league's mark for distance and his 92-yard loss to Groman broke it. He also hit Charley Hennigan with a 73-yard scoring loss. His three touchdown passes came in the first half to give the Eastern Division leaders a 20-3 advantage. Frank Trippuca's 26-yard pass to Ken Carpenter got Denver's touchdown and Gene Mingo kicked a 37-yard field goal.

Lee wound up with 6 completions in 13 tries for 284 yards, and had one intercepted. Trippuca had 2 6-52 for 288 yards.

The Bills, last in the East, intercepted five passes by LA quarterback Jack Kemp and scored twice after recovering fumbles.

One of the interceptions was by Gene Matsoe, who ran 20 yards for a TD. Tom O'Connell passed to Richie Lucas for one score and one to Wray Carlton who also scored on a 1-yard buck.

Ben Agajanian's 31-yard field goal was Los Angeles only score.

Catawba Is Last Hurdle For Bears
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Catawba is the last hurdle between Lenoir Rhyne and a sixth straight North State Conference championship.

The clubs meet at Salisbury Thursday. A loss for the mighty Bears would drop them into a tie with Appalachian for the conference championship. The Apps have finished their conference schedule with a 5-1 North State record. Lenoir Rhyne takes a 5-0 conference mark into the game.

Also at stake is Lenoir Rhyne's top spot in the NAIA ratings and possibly a playoff berth for the NAIA championship.

The only other game scheduled this week sends Appalachian to Tampa, Fla.

In Saturday's games, Western Carolina upended Guilford 20-13, and East Carolina rolled over Richmond of the Southern Conference 22-7.

Vernon, Doherty Will Work With Washington

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER Associated Press Sports Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington's baseball baby has been provided with guardians of broad experience in Mickey Vernon and Ed Doherty.

The signing of Vernon as field manager and Doherty as general manager gave American League expansion plans a boost. But the other half of the double play—a move into Los Angeles—is still to be completed.

Club owners and league officials meet in New York Tuesday to award the Los Angeles franchise. They put off action last week after storm signals were raised by commissioner Ford Frick.

Roach Bombs 'Skins 26-14

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer
Plucky Danny Villanueva, one of a family of 12 children, an ordinary college football player and a pro oversight finally signed by the Los Angeles Rams, has spent many of his 23 years seeking attention. Today the spotlight was shining in his face.

The rookie from New Mexico State, overlooked by many seasoned National Football League scouts, kicked four field goals Sunday. The last was a nine-yarder with 22 seconds left that beat Green Bay 33-31 and dealt the Packers' title chances a stunning, unexpected blow.

Villanueva, a 5-foot-11 200-pounder from Tucuman, N.M., also booted key field goals of 23, 17 and 31 yards in the upset that pushed the Packers a full game behind Baltimore in the Western Division.

The Philadelphia Eagles took a commanding 14-game lead in the Eastern Division by knocking off the runner-up New York Giants 17-10 in the first of their crucial back-to-back meetings.

Pittsburgh kayoed Cleveland's Eastern title hopes with a 14-10 victory over the Browns, but Chicago stayed within striking range in the Western sector with a 23-7 thumping of Detroit. St. Louis beat Washington 26-14 and San Francisco kept Dallas winless by the same score.

The Rams (3-5-1) built a commanding 30-10 lead by the third period on three Villanueva boots and a trio of Billy Wade touchdown passes before the Packers (5-3) struck back and finally pulled ahead 31-30 in the final quarter on Paul Hornung's two-yard TD smash.

But, Hornung, the league's scoring leader with 119 points, soon became the goat. After bursting short yardage for two TDs, kicking a field goal and four conversions, the former Notre Dame star muffed a 22-yard field goal attempt with 4:44 to go and then fumbled to start the drive that set up Villanueva's clincher.

The Giants (5-2-1), who may have lost first-string halfback Frank Gifford with a concussion, took an early lead on Jor Morrison's one-yard plunge and Pat Summerall's 26-yard field goal. The Eagles tied it on a 35-yard scoring pitch from Norm Van Brocklin to Tommy McDonald and Bobby Walston's 12-yard field goal.

Then Jim Carr picked up a fumble by New York's Mel Triplett with 2½ minutes left and stunned a Yankee Stadium crowd of 63,571 by rambling 36 yards for a touchdown.

The Browns (5-3) were beaten by the clock, winding up on the Pittsburgh 9 when time ran out after Tom Tracy's four-yard touchdown jaunt around end gave the Steelers (3-5-1) the lead with 2:15 left.

Willie Dewveall hauled in a 40-yard touchdown pitch from Zeke Bratkowski in the first period, then snagged a 74-yard heave from Ed Brown to give the Bears (4-3-1) an insurmountable lead against the Lions (3-5).

Johnny Roach bombed the Redskins (15-2) with touchdown series of 27, 7 and 37 yards to Sonny Randle, the Cards (5-4) stand out.

C. R. Roberts 20-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter proved the clincher for the 48ers (4-4), who received a four-field goal performance from Tommy Davis against hapless Dallas (0-9).

Lee Tosses Three TD Passes In Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Talk about your sleepers—Houston's Jackie Lee, up to now a quarterback in name only, could be named sleeper of the Year after his performance Sunday.

The Oiler's rookie signal-caller had appeared only briefly in one American Football League game until he tossed three touchdown passes, tied then broke a league record in the process, and succeeded in sending Denver to its fourth straight loss 20-10.

In the only other AFL game Buffalo slapped down Los Angeles 32-3. Friday night, Boston beat Dallas 42-14.

Lee wound up with 6 completions in 13 tries for 284 yards, and had one intercepted. Trippuca had 2 6-52 for 288 yards.

The Bills, last in the East, intercepted five passes by LA quarterback Jack Kemp and scored twice after recovering fumbles.

One of the interceptions was by Gene Matsoe, who ran 20 yards for a TD. Tom O'Connell passed to Richie Lucas for one score and one to Wray Carlton who also scored on a 1-yard buck.

Ben Agajanian's 31-yard field goal was Los Angeles only score.

Virginia Prexy Backs Grid Coach
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — The University of Virginia, rebuffing powerful pressure from resistive alumni, has refused to fire Dick Voris, the longest coach in major college football.

University President Edgar P. Shannon Jr. said Saturday that alumni disenchanted with Voris' 1-27 record over three seasons had asked that the remaining year of his contract be bought up.

But, Shannon said in a statement singularly bare of praise for the job Voris has done, the request had been rejected because "the University of Virginia does not break its contracts."

Voris' contract does not expire until February, 1962. His Cavaliers have lost their last 26 games, only two shy of the major college record for consecutive defeats.

The Virginia coach, who came here in 1958 from a job as assistant at Army, said Dr. Shannon's statement was the first confirmation he'd had that alumni were seeking his dismissal.

"I had heard such things of course, but it was all second-hand," he said. "No one ever approached me."

Roommates Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette accounted for 40 victories for the Braves last season. Their earned run marks were 3.46 and 3.36, respectively.

No Change In AC Scoring Leaders

GREENSBORO (AP) — Neither halfback Bill McGuirt of Clemson or quarterback Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State scored Saturday, but they remained one-two in the individual scoring in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

McGuirt has eight touchdowns for 48 points, and Gabriel seven for 42.

Fullback Dave Burch of Duke and quarterback Ray Farris of North Carolina are nex with 30 each. Halfback Dean Wright of Duke, third last week, is next with 28.

Lon Armstrong, Clemson guard, has 27 points on 18 conversions and three field goals. End Gary Collins of Maryland is next at 26.

The ACC Service Bureau lists five players with 24 points each. They are quarterback Dale Betty and halfback Dennis Condie of Maryland, fullback Fred Shepherd of Virginia, and end Bobby Allen and halfback Bobby Robinson of Wake Forest.

the 19.

EC failed to move and punted out but gained the pickin again when Dan Rouse intercepted a Rideout pass and returned it 47 yards to the Richmond 29. The Bucs pushed it to the 15, but fumbled with Bob Coolbaugh recovering it for Richmond.

East Carolina was knocking at the Richmond goal again as the fourth quarter opened, this time on the 23. But another fumble killed the drive.

The Bucs made one more bid for a touchdown in the last three minutes following an intercepted pass by Seymour. Rouse tossed a screen pass to Baysinger who carried it 34 yards to the Richmond 20. But Cary Parker's pass was intercepted, ending the game.

Baysinger was the big ground gainer for the winners with 77 yards in 12 carries. Rouse, the soph quarterback, accounted for all of East Carolina's 151 yards through the air — EC's best passing attack of the year.

Senior linemen Wayne Davis, Bob Gregson, Dempsey Williams, Henry Kwiatkowski and Henry Vansant played a terrific game in opening holes and dumping Richmond backs.

Other seniors who stood out in the final victory, which gave EC a 7-3 season record, were Gary Pierce, Cary Cannady, Mac Seymore, and Bert Stafford.

West Europe Can Now Rock U.S. Financial Structure

Editor's Note—President Eisenhower last week ordered emergency action to stem the steady flow of American gold into foreign hands. Frank Cormier, experienced AP Treasury Department reporter and financial writer, assesses the scope of the problem in the first of three articles on the gold situation.

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The nations of Western Europe now have it in their power to rock the American financial system any day in the week. All that stands between crisis and stability is an intangible called "confidence"—confidence that the U.S. dollar will remain "as good as gold."

Foreign governments and their citizens own about $18 billion of U.S. dollars. Most of these dollars are owned by Western Europeans and are deposited or invested in the United States. Theoretically, all could be used to buy American gold.

If all were used for this purpose, Uncle Sam's supply of bullion would be wiped out. There is only $18 billion of gold in the government's coffers.

This doesn't mean, however, that the current anxiety over Uncle Sam's persistent loss of gold is misplaced. The simple fact is that foreigners could cause a major crisis merely by exchanging a relatively small proportion of their dollars for gold in the span of a few days.

If foreigners bought $1 billion of U.S. gold in a single week, this would be taken as a vote of "no confidence" in the dollar. Perhaps even a lesser amount would turn the tide.

It is this possibility which last week prompted President Eisenhower to impose unprecedented restrictions on spending abroad under the military and foreign aid programs. His aim was to lessen the number of dollars moving into foreign hands; dollars that could be used to buy American gold. Since July 1, foreigners have been buying American gold at the rate of $3.8 billion a year. Since Aug. 1, they have been ordering at an annual pace of $4.1 billion. Since Sept. 1, the rate has risen to $4.7 billion. Since Oct. 1, the flow of bullion has hit a spectacular annual rate of $5.9 billion.

The dollar would no longer be as good as gold. Of course, the buying rate of recent weeks may slacken and perhaps drop sharply.

The balding arithmetic of the present situation already has caused some international uncertainty. Witness the frenzied speculation that gripped the London gold market last month.

Why did millions of solid American citizens run trembling to their banks after 1929? Putting it plainly, they lost confidence in the banking system. It was to buttress confidence that Eisenhower acted last week. He wanted to show the world that the United States is aware of its problem and is not afraid to do something about it; that it will defend the free world's stake in the stability of the dollar.

Some believe the President's actions were too severe—that the cure will hurt more than the disease. However, the fact that such action was taken by a "lame duck" administration suggests the urgency with which the problem is viewed by Eisenhower and his secretary of the Treasury, Robert B. Anderson.

Why couldn't they have waited nine more weeks for the inauguration of President-elect John F. Kennedy? Some speculate that the actions were taken now because Eisenhower felt they would be necessary soon and feared a new administration might be reluctant to take potentially unpopular measures.

Sufferings Helped New Jap Premier

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP)—Hayato Ikeda, the victor in Japan's eighth post-war election, found faith and renewed self-confidence in deep personal suffering.

The 60-year-old prime minister, whose pro-U.S. policies received a mandate from the voters, was the son of a wealthy sake manufacturer who spent his youth as a university student at Kyoto drinking deeply of the pleasures of that famed geisha capital.

Like many sons of the rich, he chose government service as a career. He might have remained an obscure official if a rare disease of the skin had not forced him to resign his post in the tax office in Utsumomiya in 1932.

Dressed in the white clothes of a pilgrim, and accompanied by his devout mother, he made a long and painful tour of Buddhist temples on the island of Shikoku in search of the spiritual cure modern medicine could not provide.

Five years later he emerged well and healed. He attributed it to his faith in Buddhism, a faith that continues deep today.

He returned to ordinary life a serious, purposeful man who bore little resemblance to the playboy of his youth.

Taken under the wing of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida in the postwar occupation days, he became finance chief and drafted tough economic reforms which put Japan firmly on the road to recovery. He learned to work with highly placed Americans and won their respect in the process.

He became prime minister July 14, succeeding Nobusuke Kishi, who was forced to resign following his successful but bitterly opposed fight to push through the new defense treaty with the United States.

Some veteran politicians predicted Ikeda would soon be ousted from power because of a temper and a candor which are celebrated in Japan, traits which stirred him to resort to critics of his austerity measures: "Let the people eat barley if they can't afford rice."

But Ikeda has conducted himself during his four-months tenure with mastery control. Recognizing that Kishi aroused hostility among the leftists and the general population by a general attitude of rigidity, Ikeda set about proving he could and would compromise if the opposition Socialists cooperated.

This approach won him new friends and helped channel away much of the resentment felt against the Conservatives under Kishi's helm.

He injected new confidence into the nation's workers by promising them an increasing share in the expanding economy.

He has shown some signs of willingness to seek a rapprochement with Communist China, speaking of the need to trade with Japan's big mainland neighbor. But his foreign policy is based squarely on cooperation with the United States and the West. He rejects the Socialist theory that Japan must be neutral if it is to survive the cold war.

The agents found a moonshiner had been dumping his waste into the spring.

Mother Of Six Knifed To Death

PITTSBURGH, Kan. (AP) — A mother of six children was stabbed to death by her husband Sunday night during an argument over a beating given to a 5-year-old son, County Attorney J. John Marshall said.

The six children saw the stabbing. Marshall said a first-degree murder charge will be filed against Thomas W. Crowe, 42, an unemployed butcher.

Crowe told officers the stabbing was an accident — that he was "just funnin'" with his wife, Leah May Crowe, 38.

Hospitalized here was Rickie Crowe, who had a cut on his head and severe facial bruises.

Japan's Pro-U.S. Conservatives Roll Back To Power; Fall Short Of Hope

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's pro-U.S. ruling conservatives rolled back to control of Parliament today but failed to get the all-out backing they had asked of the nation's voters.

Require Privacy In Referendum

Farmers who vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum in December are entitled to complete privacy in marking their ballots, H. D. Godfrey, Administrative Officer of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, said today.

Referendum regulations require that the county committee "shall take particular care to designate a place where each voter can mark and cast his ballot in secret and without coercion, duress or interference of any sort whatever." The use of voting booths is regarded as "too costly," Godfrey said, but every farmer is entitled to have some area at the polling place where he can mark his ballot in "absolute confidence."

Godfrey also pointed out the former requirement that each ballot be initiated by an ASC committee member assisting at the polling place has been dropped.

Music Fraternity Receives Honor

East Carolina College's Beta Psi Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional fraternity for women in the field of music, tied with the Beta Rho Chapter at Georgia State College For Women in Milledgeville in competition for the title of Most Outstanding Chapter in the Lambda Province of the organization.

The honor was announced to the Beta Psi Chapter by Mrs. George Deedmeier of Miami, Florida, province president. In addition to the two winning organizations, eight other chapters are included in the Lambda Province.

Officers of Beta Psi at East Carolina are: Rose Lindsay of Faison, president; Barbara Murray of Roanoke, 1st vice president; Rebekah Crouch of Charlotte, 2nd vice president; Becky Forbes of Williamson, recording secretary; Sue Gallagher of Culpeper Va., correspondence secretary; Marie Sutton of Kingston, treasurer; and Carolyn Hinton of Zebulon, Chaplain.

Farmville Girl In Who's Who

WILSON—Among those named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges this year is Vivian Zarella Wainston of Farmville, N.C., a student at Atlantic Christian College here.

Twenty-one seniors at the college have been named to the Who's Who, it was announced this week by Dr. Millard P. Burt, dean of the college. Excellence in academics, participation in college activities and general high standards in all areas lead to the singular honor. The 21 were nominated by members of the college faculty earlier this fall.

Last year only 12 Atlantic Christian College students were chosen. This year's selection of 21 seniors represents 10 percent of the class of 1961.

The play presented at Ford's Theater on the night of April 14, 1865, was Tom Taylor's celebrated comedy, "Our American Cousin," with Laura Keane in the leading role. President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated during the third act.

of the U.S.-Japan security pact and other close ties with the West. Their leftist opponents claimed leftist gains proved just the opposite.

The nationwide Sunday balloting that returned Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's Liberal Democrats (conservatives) to power followed the same general pattern of elections in Japan since World War II. It showed a conservative majority; battling a slowly but steadily increasing leftist minority.

A middle-road appeal, made by the Democratic Socialist party, was crushed as Japanese voters repeated their sharp swing to the right and left.

The Communists made their best showing in 10 years, increasing their vote from 2.6 to 2.9 per cent and winning three seats.

The vote came against a background of mob scenes in Parliament, violent demonstrations against the U.S.-Japan security pact and President Eisenhower's cancelled visit to Japan. While party leaders played on foreign policy themes during the campaign, regional and domestic issues and personalities were, as always, important.

majority needed in the 467-member house to carry out long-range plans for amending the constitution to strengthen the status of the army and the emperor.

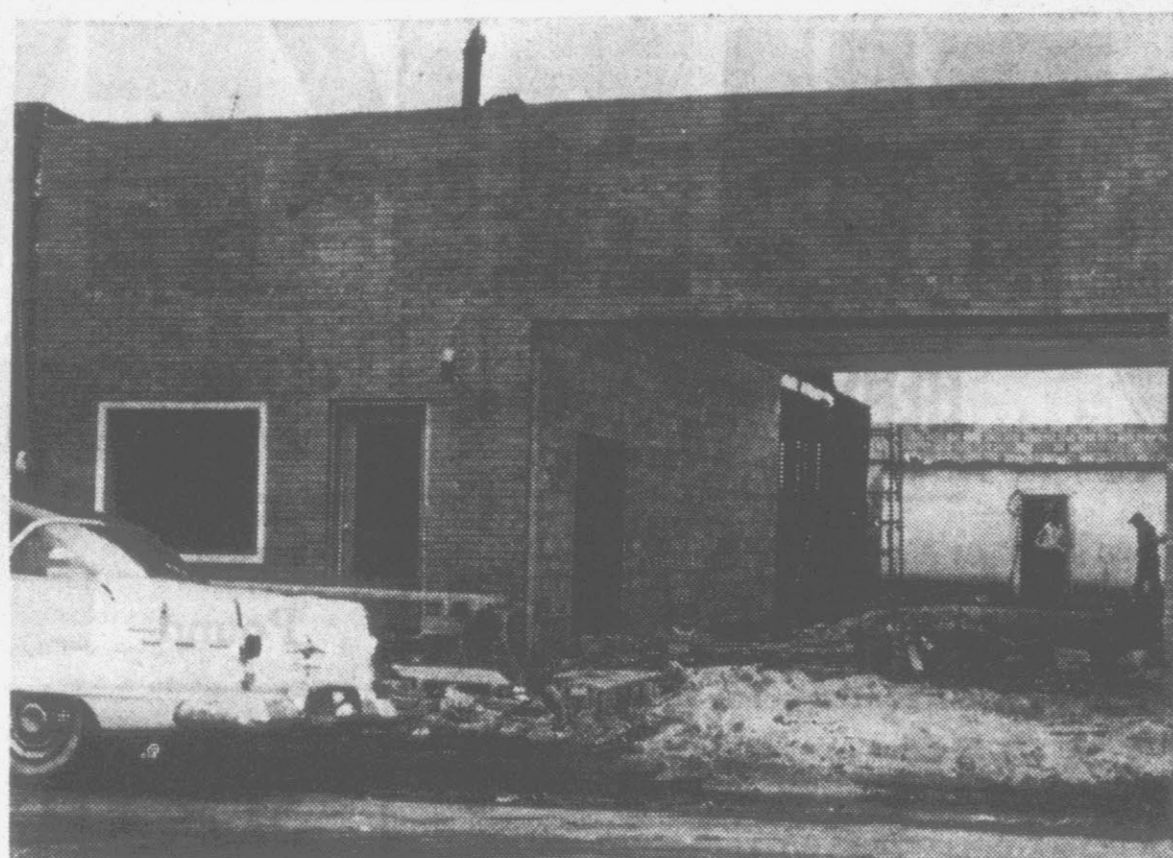

Last month Ikeda dissolved the old Parliament, in which his party held 283 seats, and asked the voters to return more than 300 Liberal Democrats to the ruling lower house.

The Socialists, who had 122 seats in the old House, were resigned to a minority role and were snubbed by the final count. Saburo Ed. Socialist party secretary general, declared the Socialist showing means "the world situation is changing. We must turn toward neutralism and establish relations with (Communist) China."

The big loser in the balloting was the Democratic Socialist party which made an appeal for a middle course between the collective security with the West line of the conservatives and the sometimes Moscow-pitched approach of the Socialists.

With 96 per cent of the popular vote tabulated, the Liberal Democrats had 22,106,738 or 57.9 per cent, the Socialists 10,468,245 for 27.4 per cent; Democratic Socialists 3,319,026 or 8.7 per cent; Communists 1,998,687 for 2.9 per cent; minor parties 134,311 for 0.3 per cent and the independents 1,096,904 for 2.9 per cent.

While the outcome gave Ikeda and his Liberal Democrats a solid victory, they failed in their announced aim of boosting their House strength to 312. That would have given them the two-thirds RENOVATION of town hall in Grimmsland was well underway this week. Construction of a shelter for the town's recently acquired fire truck is going on adjacent to the town hall, as shown above.

Iron-Clad Formula For Most TV Shows

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How would you like to see Matt Dillon outdrawn? Or Perry Mason out-versed? Or Peter Gunn out-smarted?

Those do sound like impossible dreams. The formulae for most TV series are so iron-clad that there is no possibility for failure of the leading men in their appointed tasks.

Yet this season has brought a new kind of TV figure—the fallible hero. You can see the rare bird in "The Law and Mr. Jones" on NBC Friday nights. He's James Whitmore, an expert portrayal of the common man.

That should be qualified. Whitmore plays the common man uncommonly. That's why his Mr. Jones is convincing.

The White House derives its name from the color of the paint used to cover fire damage during the War of 1812.

"Our man is a lawyer and like all lawyers, he doesn't win every case," said the actor. "I think you lose a lot of reality when you make a hero infallible."

"The Law and Mr. Jones" marks Whitmore's entrance into TV after a long holdout. As one of Hollywood's most serviceable actors, he has been offered a string of Western, private eye and situation comedy TV series. He always said no.

"The kick of being an actor is to be able to create," he observed. "How much creativity is there in most TV series? Darned little. You establish a character and you play it as long as the series lasts."

"The reason most actors do TV is for security. That's important, too, and that's what helped decide me. I had guested on the other shows. I had tried a Broadway show that was a flop. I'm not a big name, so I couldn't count on movies."

"There comes a point when you have to decide that it's better to have the security to provide your family with the kind of peace of mind that they can live with. Luckily, Sy Gomberg came along with the idea for Mr. Jones at the same time I came to this decision. It offered a chance to do a series that wasn't static, but could grow and develop."

Ex-Soldier Recalls Poor Rehabilitation

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"After the war, they took Army dogs and rehabilitated them for civilian life. But they turned soldiers into civilians immediately and let 'em sink or swim."

This was an ex-soldier talking. Not just any ex-soldier, but Audie Murphy, who collected more medals than any GI in World War II. "I can remember back in North Africa when we were trained to a razor's edge," he said. "We were mean and raw. They told us to be ready to kill everyone in sight when we invaded Sicily—men, women and children. They thought that might be the only way we could take the island."

"You can't just toss that training aside overnight. I still had some of it when I came here to Hollywood. I remember one night at a party when I got in a beef with Larry Tierney. If somebody hadn't stopped me, I would have very happily killed him."

Audie's postwar adventures from the basis of a screen story, "The Way Back," written by his good friend Spec McClure. Universal owns it but has no plans to film it. This despite the fact that Audie's war biography, "To Hell and Back," was made for $1,200,000 and has earned $10 million.

"They're afraid of the cost," Audie explained. "It would run about twice what a cheap picture would cost. The studio thinks there is room in today's market only for cheap pictures or super-specials."

Southern States Pavilion Backed

COLUMBIA (AP)—Gov. Hollings' proposal for a Southern states pavilion at the New York World's Fair in 1964 has been enthusiastically endorsed by Mississippi.

In a letter to South Carolina's chief executive, Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett said the idea was "wonderful" and he offered to "cooperate in any way."

Gov. Hollings had proposed that 11 Old South states join in promotion efforts at the fair through the proposed pavilion.

The appeal went to Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Kentucky, in addition to Mississippi.

Pied Piper For Bees Was Handy

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—A swarm of bees took up residence on the rear bumper of a new convertible owned by J. C. Curtis. Among the curious persons who dropped by was Judson Goad, who keeps bees. He went for a beehive and raked the swarm off the bumper. At first the bees buzzed furiously, but when the queen entered the hive all the others followed into the permanent home.

"I think they're wrong. To me, the postwar story is more interesting than 'To Hell and Back' (which he terms a Western with uniforms). I'd like to buy it from them and make it with my own company."

Audie's current chore is a feature called "Posse From Hell," it's a Western, match, and that's unusual, too. Audie is the only star left who is still making Westerns for theaters.

"I think there's still a market for them," he remarked. "Westerns are still a good escape from everyday life, and we can give 'em color and scenery that they can't get on TV. And Westerns are still steady sellers in Europe and Japan, where they don't get so much TV."

Oust Puritanical Italian Mayor

TORRI BENACO, Italy (AP)—The puritanical mayor who tried to chase scantily clad foreign tourists out of this resort on the shore of Lake Garda has been chased himself—out of office.

The new mayor says he takes a more liberal view of how vacationers may dress.

Mayor Gino Barbieri was tossed out after a heated local election campaign in which tourists' dress was the main issue in this community of 4,000 near Verona.

It began last summer when Barbieri ordered the police to close several privately owned lakeside tourist camp sites, charging the tourists dressed in an indecent manner.

For a while camp owners outfoxed the mayor by letting their foreign guests stay without paying rent. They eventually had to close when the city officials cut off utilities at the camp sites.

All the groups which opposed Barbieri's action joined in a coalition against the Christian Democrat mayor.

The opposition group claimed the village had suffered a heavy financial loss from the departure of the campers. Souvenir shops put placards in their windows saying, "This shop has been damaged by Mayor Barbieri."

The Liberals won at the polls by an overwhelming majority. The new independent mayor, Iginio Bonetti, promised he would reopen the tent cities come spring.

Stock Market Is Over Brief Election Fling

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market is over its brief election fling and is back trying to guess what business will be like when spring comes.

What the new administration will want to do and what it actually will do will play a part. But the market seems to be saying that a greater role will be taken by business and consumer forces. What the majority now think, right or wrong, is that the forces pulling the economy down in the last six months or so will have lost their strength in another six and that spring or maybe summer will find times generally on the up-grade.

What optimism this generates among stock traders is pretty well tempered just now by the prospect of continued dragging in many lines for the immediate future. And for the long run there is the growing tendency of consumers to spend more of their money for services of all kinds and less proportionately for the goods that factories turn out.

The stock market's post-election fling was relatively mild. For two weeks before stock prices had been rising most of the time. On the day before the polling the Associated Press 60-stock price index stood at 211.8. The day after the election it rose to 212.4 and the next day, Nov. 10, to 215.5. Then it backed away and alternately rose and fell, until on Nov. 18, after eight days of post-election trading, it closed at 214.3.

On a chart the whole process would even out pretty much along the rising line it had been taking before the voters acted.

597.63; Nov. 9 it rose to 602.25; hit a high of 612.01 Nov. 10; fell back and closed last week at 603.5.

Some of the mildness of the reaction to Sen. Kennedy's election is likely due to uncertainty as to just what he will actually propose and, more important, just how he'll propose to go about it. And there's considerable doubt that the strong conservative bloc in Congress would let him take any really radical steps.

Today many stock analysts are taking this tack: Stock prices have been depressed because the economy slackened off; but since the decline of the last six months was relatively slight, prospects for a recovery fairly soon are that much brighter.

At home the economy still has to shake off these downward pressures: the hand-to-mouth inventory policy which holds new orders at a minimum; the over capacity built into many industries in the last few years; the consequent drop in plans for more plant and equipment spending; the still rising costs that crimp profits because competition is too keen for prices to rise at a like rate; and a tendency on the part of some consumers to wait and see before spending much beyond the outlays to which they're already committed.

Abroad the pressures are strong and often uncharted. They are both political and financial. The stock market tends to react quickly to any marked change in the overseas news.

The sun and its planets, including the earth, are traveling through space at 12 miles a second.

Macbeth, Belafonte Make For Good TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television Sunday atoned for many of its recent programming sins.

First there was a two-hour version of "Macbeth" on NBC. And then, after a two-hour interval to think it over, there was Harry Belafonte's "New York 19," on CBS. Both were magnificent programs of widely divergent character.

The Hall of Fame version of the Shakespearean tragedy was action-filled and gory, of course, but the skillful cast—particularly Maurice Evans and Dame Judith Anderson—extracted every bit of dramatic juice from their rich roles.

Even though the battle sequences seemed a little phony, the authentic Scottish exteriors added much to the presentation. It was a memorable program. My viewing companion, watching as a homework assignment from her high school English course, enjoyed every moment.

Belafonte's music-filled hour was an impeccable program. It had imaginative photography, great humor, exciting dancing and, as to be expected, fine singing. It was also daring to attempt to bring together all the people—of many colors and creeds—living in one Manhattan postal district.

Belafonte himself departed from his usual type of song to do a bright comedy number with songs from "My Fair Lady" and in another imaginative number, romp with a playground full of youngsters. They were two high spots in a program full of them.

It will be hard to match soon again two such treats in one evening.

This is the 40th anniversary of radio, and broadcasting people are proclaiming that it is today in the healthiest state in the four decades since a few hundred people stayed up late listening to the Harding-Cox election returns over KDKA, Pittsburgh.

Today, say the statistics-gatherers, there are 156 million working radio sets in this country, including 40 million sets in automobiles. More than 96 per cent of American homes are radio-equipped.

Air Force Calls For Army Help

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—The Air Force called on the Army to help get it off the ground at nearby Aiden Lake.

A large Army helicopter was summoned to airlift an Air Force helicopter to its Duluth base after the smaller Air Force craft damaged a rotor blade and partially broke through the ice in a landing.

and there are radios in 67 percent of the nation's bedrooms.

Dwight D. Eisenhower isn't even President-emeritus yet, but NBC is already hard at work on a Project 20 report for next season called "The Eisenhower Years".

TV seems to be swinging into a costume craze—after the successful "Scarlet Pimpernel," the Family Classics series is tackling "The Three Musketeers." Show of the Month will do "The Prisoner of Zenda" in January and there are more coming up later on. On second thought, maybe the trend toward period drama just means a shortage of contemporary material.

Oratory Contest Highlights Meet

FARMVILLE—Highlight of the H.B. Sugg High School Parent-Teacher Association meeting last week was the High School World Peace Oratorical Contest sponsored by the Extension Division of the University of North Carolina. The contest was under the direction of Mrs. E.C. Frazier, English instructor at H. B. Sugg School.

Speakers from Sugg School included Faye Blount, first place winner; Joyce Phillips, second place winner; Laura Hopkins, third place winner; Rosa Gorham and Willie Nelson. Each contestant spoke on the subject, "The United Nations and World Peace."

Critic judge for the event was Mrs. Laney M. Barfield, a teacher at Greene County Training School, Snow Hill.

Following the speakers' presentations, F. H. Mebane, school principal, presented awards to the winners. These were donated by E.R. Rankin of the University of North Carolina and E.L. Smith of the Balfour Company.

Mrs. Inez Chandler, school nurse for the Pitt County Health Department, and Mrs. Inez Constance, also of the health department, were present at the meeting to answer questions concerning the skin tests for tuberculosis which the department is making on all first grade students in the county this year. The high rate of tuberculosis in Pitt was also discussed.

At Mebane's suggestion, the P.T.A. accepted the idea of organizing a local chapter of the North Carolina Joint Council on Health and Citizenship. New officers are Joe Blount, president; Mrs. I. M. Burge, vice president; Mrs. Louise Artis, secretary; Mrs. E. C. Frazier, assistant secretary; John Jorne, treasurer.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market managed enough strength to bring it to an irregularly higher level in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 to 214.60 with the industrials up 23, the rails up 30 and the utilities up 10.

Gains and losses of fractions to a point were the general rule for most key stocks. A scattering of more substantial gains helped give the average a higher tone.

The list was irregular at the start. Gradually a higher tone developed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.37 at 604.99. Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds declined.

Hunt For Stolen Car Is Cancelled

Things are not what they seem some time, as one Greenville car owner-operator found out Saturday.

About 4:10 p.m., the local law enforcement department received a telephone call from a very worried citizen. He reported that his car had been stolen from its parking place in front of his Ninth St. home.

The report said the auto had last been seen around 10:30 a.m.

The wheels of law and order rapidly began to turn, gradually gaining speed, searching for the stolen vehicle.

Then, just as suddenly as the "wheels" began to turn, a "monkey wrench" was thrown into the works by a second telephone call.

This call, like the first, was from the car owner-operator.

Sheepishly the caller told investigators he had left his vehicle at a local service station during the morning to have some seat covers installed and had forgotten about it.

As usual, the complaint sheet at the police station was marked "CASE CLOSED".

Transit Strike Is Over; Company's Worries Aren't

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The transit strike that snarled Los Angeles traffic and jammed its freeways is over, but the commuter's worries aren't.

The 400,000 persons who daily ride the Metropolitan Transit Authority's buses and streetcars may have to pick up the tab—in the form of increased fares—as a result of the settlement.

For five days the commuters—spread over a four-county area the size of Maryland and Delaware—had no bus or streetcar transportation because of a strike by 900 MTA mechanics.

Sunday both sides—the MTA, a public agency, and the Amalgamated Transportation Union—agreed to a new 15-month contract which provides higher wages, improved working conditions and prospects for a pension plan.

The union voted 451 to 73 to accept the agreement. It will raise the pay of top-scale mechanics from $2.61 an hour to $3 an hour by July 2. The union said the raises will range from 46 cents to 64 cents an hour in wages and other benefits.

LOOKING OVER TOYS . . . collected at a special comedy show for children Saturday at the State Theater are Greenville firemen J. Z. Garris, Melvin Hathaway, Lyman Nethercut and Alton Vincent and Salvation Army Capt. Earl Reagan. The show was given to kick off a drive to secure toys for children at Christmas time. Admission to the show was a toy or 25c. The money is to be used to purchase parts for toys repaired by the firemen.

Last Rites Held For M. R. Buck Today

AYDEN — Mr. M. R. (Pete) Buck, 55, died Sunday morning at 4:30 at his home near Ayden following a heart attack.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel in Greenville and burial was in the Ayden Cemetery. Rev. Bruce Barrow, pastor of Elm Grove Free Will Baptist Church, conducted the service.

Mr. Buck spent his early life in the Cox's Mill section of Pitt County but for a number of years had lived near Ayden. He was a member of the Black Hawk Tribe of Red Men in Ayden, and was a member of the Hollywood Presbyterian Church near Cox's Mill. He was a farmer.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sallie Evans Buck of the home; two sons, Mickey and Johnny Buck of the home; six daughters, Mrs. Horace Lee Wilson of Littlefield, Mrs. Walter Loftin Jr. of Ayden, Mrs. Joyce Langston of the home, Mrs. William P. Cox of Raleigh, Mrs. Wesley Cannon of Sumter, S.C., and Miss Patricia Buck of Rocky Mount; eleven grandchildren; a brother, Willie Buck of Winterville; and six sisters, Mrs. Julie Stallings of Seven Springs, Mrs. Raymond Hardee of Grimesland, Mrs. Cora Wilson of Ayden, Miss Minnie Buck of the home, Mrs. Dicy McGowan of Williamsburg, Va., and Mrs. Zula Morris of Bethel.

False Alarm At School Sounded

Greenville firemen responded to Box 72 at Fleming St. School, turned in last night at 10:12.

Fire officers, who responded, said no one was at the box when fire units arrived and no fire was found.

The alarm was listed as "false."

Today, fire units were sent to 1507 Allen St. at 10:29 a.m. when a grass fire was reported there. Firemen said no damage resulted from the small blaze which was out when they arrived.

Funeral Tuesday For Mrs. C. C. Burroughs

Mrs. Sude Wilson Burroughs, 58, wife of Crawford C. Burroughs, died at her home in the Clay Root Community in Pitt County, Sunday afternoon at 4:15 following several months of illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the Chapman's Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock by the pastor, Rev. A. C. Regan. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

The body will remain at the Wilkerson Funeral Home and will be taken to the church one hour prior to the time of service.

Mrs. Burroughs, daughter of the late Beck and Bessie Wehington Wilson, was born and reared in the Clay Root Community and was a member of Chapman's Methodist Church.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Walter H. Coy of Beaufort, S.C., and Mrs. Louise Falcon of the home; a son, Earl G. Burroughs of Wilmington; two sisters, Mrs. Cliff Forrest and Mrs. Fronie Wall of the Clay Root Community; and six grandchildren.

Study Impact Of Teaching Aids

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is financing a study of the present and potential impact of new inventions on the classroom work of teachers.

The National Education Association, sponsor of the study, announced it will be conducted under a 18-month, $102,980 contract with the U.S. Office of Education under the National Defense Education Act.

James D. Finn, professor of education at the University of Southern California, will direct the study of new developments in television, teaching machines, audio-visual materials and other technology and the problems and opportunities they create for the nation's teachers.

Approves Patrol Of Naval Units

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Argentina's secretary of the navy says he approves the United States sending Navy units to protect Guatemala and Nicaragua from possible invasion.

"Communist aggression must be stopped in this hemisphere," Rear Adm. Gaston C. Clement told newsmen as he toured U.S. naval installations here Saturday.

Clement said, "The Argentine people are staunchly anti-Communist and anti-Castro."

DAV Official Is Facing Charges

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Francis Joseph McGuire, 33, state treasurer of the Disabled American Veterans, has been charged with embezzling $550 of DAV funds.

McGuire was arrested here Sunday on a warrant obtained by James P. Stephenson of Hickory, state DAV commander. McGuire became treasurer last June.

Police said McGuire allegedly countersigned and converted to his own use five blank checks which previously had been endorsed by the state finance chairman for DAV use.

Now 'Watchers' Are Classified

CORTEZ, Colo. (AP)—A business man here has classified fellow merchants as to age by observing them.

These are his conclusions:

Ages up to 35: Girl watchers.

Up to 45: Bird watchers.

Above that: Watchers of time and temperatures on the big clock outside a local bank.

Pleads Innocent To Bank Robbery

ASHEVILLE (AP)—Fred Earle Counts, 29-year-old Tryon Negro, pleaded innocent in United States District Court here today to charges that he robbed the Tryon Bank and Trust Co. of $5,000 last Aug. 30.

A jury to hear the case against Counts is being selected before Judge Wilson Warlick.

Counts, who is named in three charges in one bill of indictment, is accused of obtaining the money from bank president John G. Landrum by telephoning Landrum and threatening his wife and children.

FBI agent D. E. Roney of Charlotte, said at the time of Counts' arrest early in September that Counts was charged with violation of the bank robbery statute because the manner in which he allegedly took the bank funds could not be prosecuted under federal extortion laws.

Counts is alleged to have telephoned Landrum at the bank and, after voicing veiled threats against his family, instructed Landrum to place a bag with $5,000 in small bills under the front wheel of a car parked near the bank building.

The banker followed instructions and then notified the FBI. Federal officers, working with the State Highway Patrol and members of the Polk County Sheriff's Department, arrested Counts.

Counts, who has been in the federal section of the Buncombe County Jail in default of $30,000 bond since his arrest, operated a night club in Tryon.

The National Safety Council figures there is an accidental death every six minutes in the United States.
