

Budget Director Is Chosen By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy today announced his selection of David E. Bell, professor of economics at Harvard, as his budget director.

Kennedy made the announcement from the doorway of his Georgetown home to shivering newsmen standing on the sidewalk in near-freezing weather.

Bell, 41, secretary of Harvard's Bureau of Public Administration, stood by the president-elect's side as Kennedy made the announcement.

Mothers' Boycott Being Undermined

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ten white students returned to classes at integrated William Frantz school today, sharply undermining the boycott backed by mothers of the area.

Only three Negro girls attended the city's other integrated school, McDonogh No. 19, at the normal opening hour.

Waynick Looks To Retirement

RALEIGH (AP) — Adjutant Gen. Capus Waynick says he will bring his long and varied public service career to a close early next year and retire to his farm near High Point.

Health Board Pushes In-School Immunizations

The Pitt County Board of Health last night threw its support behind a program to immunize county school children against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

Conley pointed out, therefore parents of children already attending schools without the immunizations "will have to have their children vaccinated."

Dr. Mills said records in the local department indicate Pitt County's percentage would fall below 60. She added, however, a greater percentage figure could be obtained if private physicians through out the county would notify the department of all immunizations administered.

Reward Is Raised By Councilmen

Information leading to the arrest of persons turning in false fire alarms will bring a $100 reward in the future.

City Councilmen approved the increased reward at last night's session. The city has offered a $50 reward in such cases.

City Manager Leonard Bloxam asked for the increase in view of a rash of false alarms recently. He told the council that 31 false alarms have been answered by the fire department in the past three months.

He said the false alarms have cost the city a total of $902. Bloxam told the council that statistics show more accidents involving fire fighting equipment, personnel and the general public have been incurred in responding to false alarms than accidents as a result of answering regular justified alarms and in fighting the fires.

Councilmen approved resolutions asking the County Commissioners to appoint five persons to the city's Board of Zoning Adjustments and nine members to the Planning-Zoning Commission.

The members would come from an area one mile beyond the city limits and would sit with the boards when matters concerning the one-mile area are being considered. Cities now have the authority to zone one mile beyond their municipal limits.

The councilmen told Kenneth Winard, county Social Security representative, that he was welcome to continue using the council room in City Hall for meetings with prospective Social Security recipients on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Whichard reported on his activities at last night's meeting. City Manager Bloxam and Mayor S. Eugene West were authorized to proceed with transactions to obtain a section of property for Brownlea Drive at Tenth St.

Properly needed for the proposed street is now owned by Carey Oil Co. A report on the alleged dust problem created by Fred Webb, Inc. Grain Elevator was postponed until the January meeting.

Waynick also headed a small industries program for Gov. Hodges in 1955. This work resulted in creation of the Business Development Corp.

An active Democratic party worker all his life, Waynick managed the late Kerr Scott's successful campaign for governor in 1948 and was chairman of the state party during the 1948 presidential race.

Waynick is a former editor of The High Point Enterprise. His High Point farm, called "Fieldstone," is a 150-acre spread.

Speculation as to his successor to the $12,000-a-year post has centered on Maj. Gen. Claude T. Eowers of Warrenton.

Christmas Parade Seen By Estimated 15,000 People

By PATRICIA MOORE Reflector Staff Writer

Floata sponsored by Brownie Troop 280, portraying a religious scene, and Planter's National Bank, topped with five pretty young women, took first place trophies in Greenville's Christmas Parade yesterday.

The Brownie troop won in the non-professional classification while Planter's National Bank entered the professional float classification.

Honorable mention in the non-professional division went to the Moose Lodge float and Bill and Joe's Pet Shop. In the professional division, honorable mention went to Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. and State Bank and Trust Co.

The crowd attending the parade was estimated to be the largest in Greenville's history. Parade chairman Bill Taylor said at least 15,000 watched the parade, all along the route. In some places, the crowd was so deep that there was difficulty in seeing.

The parade and trophies were sponsored by the Greenville Merchants Association, which also furnishes the city's Christmas decorations.

This year citizens of Greenville and surrounding areas saw a bigger Christmas parade than in past years, with several new additions to appeal to the small fry, Taylor commented. A mounted color guard, with representatives from the Greenville Saddle Club, several fast moving go-carts, animals and clown acts especially appealed to the children.

A total of 17 floats were included in the parade, along with high-stepping bands from East Carolina College, Tarboro High, Greenville High School, Farmville High School, Winterville-Ayden, H. B. Sugg High School and Epps High School.

The winning float in the non-professional division, entered by Brownie Troop 280, featured the Brownies seated in church-like pews, facing an open book, Mrs. R. D. Harrington, Jr. is advisor to the Brownie troop.

The winning float in the professional division, which means the float was prepared by a professional float-maker, entered by Planter's National Bank, featured five ladies dressed in white gowns and wraps atop a dominating gold float. Christmas colors of red and green were used around the side of the float.

Another float, religious in nature, was a nativity scene portrayed by students of St. Gabriel School.

Judges of the float contest were Mayor S. F. Peterson of Ayden, Mayor Burney Tucker of Winterville and Mayor C. W. Everette of Bethel.

Among changes this year in the parade was the route. This year the parade started from the corner of W. Ninth St. and Dickinson Ave., moving up Dickinson to Washington St., turning at Third Street for one block past the courthouse, and then down Evans Street to Five Points. It turned on Fifth Street, disbanding at East Carolina College.

In years past, the parade has come up Dickinson and Evans, but some observers commented this year's route was easier on traffic.

SANTA CLAUS CAME TO TOWN... yesterday, officially heralding Greenville's Christmas season opening

Cold Stirred Sympathy Of Greenville Parade Viewers

By HENRY HOWARD

Thousands of flushed faces and twice as many chilled hands stuffed into gloves and pockets greeted yesterday's colorful procession—Greenville's annual Christmas Parade.

The area's first touch of real winter weather for 1960 ushered in the annual ceremonial and spectators of all ages braved the sub-40 degree weather to get a first hand look at the bands, clowns, and floats.

While thousands lined the curbs, hundreds more watched the entourage from behind plate glass windows of stores and shops along the parade route. The hundreds were obliged to stand on tip-toe to see above the head of the thousands but were willing to suffer tired tendons in exchange for the benefit of the inside warmth.

Facial expressions borne by old and young alike showed unmistakable sympathy for the parade participants—especially the float girls clad in featherweight gowns and the bare-legged majorettes leading the marching bands.

One young girl of about nine whispered to her mother, "Mommy, I'm glad that's not me," while pointing to a shivering young lady riding slowly by in a light and airy gown.

But, as the parade rolled merrily along, the blaring bands roaring "Go-Karts," frolicking clowns, and Santa himself injected the usual Christmas Spirit into the majority spectators.

The younger set warmed up to the occasion as Bill Bledsoe's "Funny Ford" and Mickey Rouse on his unpredictable unicycle began their antics.

Watching with mixed emotions of near-fear, skepticism, amusement and, of course, excitement, the little people shouted loudly to the zigzagging Rouse and the "driverless" Bledsoe carriage.

Not infrequently, the unicycle clown paused near the crowded curbs to send a deafening blast from his concealed horn through the December air.

While some downtown businesses closed down for the annual ceremonial, many merchants merely dropped their tasks for the duration of the parade. They remained in the warmth of their shops and stores.

They needed no thermometers, however, to indicate the outdoor temperatures. Every coffee and hot chocolate business along the parade route was booming within seconds after Santa "brought up the rear."

The floats, exhibiting the usual painstaking preparation, were beautiful; the bands, complete with prancing majorettes, were as loud and frisky as ever; the clowns, in spite of the cold, were at their merry best.

The weather was cold indeed and the winds were all the more penetrating. Still, Greenville rallied 'round its annual Yuletide parade.

MISSION MONEY NEW YORK (AP)—American Protestants gave about 170 million dollars to support their overseas missions in 146 countries and territories in 1959, the National Council of Churches reports.

High Fashion Hats For Purl Girls

AP Newsfeatures
When you wore them as a youngster they were called stocking caps. Now as Paris-inspired knit hats they're a couture rage. The knit-and-purl enthusiast will have fun making a collection of caps, hats and dickeys for herself or for Christmas gifts. A hair-covering cloche is knit deep enough to permit a turnback for a wide face-framing cuff. Worked in cable stripes, in simple ribbed motifs or in novelty block patterns, the caps are designed to keep your ears warm and your coiffure unruffled whether skiing, skating, or marketing. Knitters can fill in the wide-away necklines of their winter suits with warm dickeys that repeat the motif of their knitted caps. Deeply cuffed, the dickeys have open turtle necklines to wear inside or outside a coat.

CUFFED . . . Using a block pattern stitch with garter stitch border that turns back, hat can be knitted speedily with knitting worsted.

BULKY . . . Both cap and dickey are made with simple brioche stitch. Hat deep enough to turn back for self-cuff; dickey has turtle neck.

PULLOVER . . . Alternate cable stitch motif with pearl rib stitch and you have a cap to keep your head warm and fashionable all winter.

Mrs. Spain Is Club Hostess

Mrs. D. S. Spain was hostess to members of the Round Table Tuesday afternoon at her home on East Fifth Street. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Robert Fountain presided at a short business session. The club voted to give a $5 TB bond. Items were brought by members to be sent to Cherry Hospital in Goldsboro. Mrs. Hugh T. Patterson gave a talk on the life of Alfred Bernhard Nobel. He was known as the dynamite king. By means of his last will written in 1895, he resolved to make true his real legacy to life. He directed that the income from his fortune "be awarded in five fields to persons, regardless of nationality, who have made valuable contributions to the good of humanity." The hostess invited guests into the dining room where Mrs. E. R. Browning served congealed salad and Mrs. Robert Fountain poured coffee. Guests served themselves other party delicacies from a beautifully appointed table. Mrs. Agnes Settle was welcomed as a guest.

Miss Davis Reminisces About Kennedy House

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Maxine Davis writes books on women's problems in the lower of an 18th century house on a hilltop in the middle of a 30-acre Maryland estate.

On a clear day she can see the Blue Ridge Mountains and Harper's Ferry Gap, but not her old home in Washington 55 miles away.

And although she feels an understandable solicitude for the three-story brick house at 3307 N St. NW that she and her husband rebuilt from scratch 18 years ago, she knows it's in good hands. The next president of the United States there.

"Mrs. John Kennedy had wanted the house for a long time," Miss Davis explains, "and late in 1957, when she was in the hospital having Caroline, the senator bought it for her."

"I think she first saw it when our two boys were doing the de-butante circuit and she was out to the house. After she married she came out a number of times."

Miss Davis bought the Georgetown house in its original state, as innocent of plumbing, heating and wiring as when it was built in 1795. She made many interior alterations, and was flattered to note, when Mrs. Kennedy showed her through recently, that she had made no structural changes.

"The furniture was different, of course. I had a mixture of everything—French, English, the latter more sophisticated. American. Jackie has lots of French. I could live happily with her furniture. She's very feminine and witty, and has excellent taste."

"She was wondering what to do about the nursery for the new baby. There are just two rooms for the nurse and children, and she was debating a partition. Of course, that was right before the election. There's no problem since they're moving into the White House. I understand they've sold the house."

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Nina Harper, bride-elect of December 23, was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower Wednesday night at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roland Faulkner, by Miss Rosalie Moore and Miss Carole Walslow.

Guests were greeted by Miss Frances Harper, sister of the honoree and hostesses.

The gift table was overlaid with a white damask cloth. A white wedding bell and miniature bride and groom centered the table. White candles, interspersed with ivy, were used on either end of the table.

After games were played, refreshments were served.

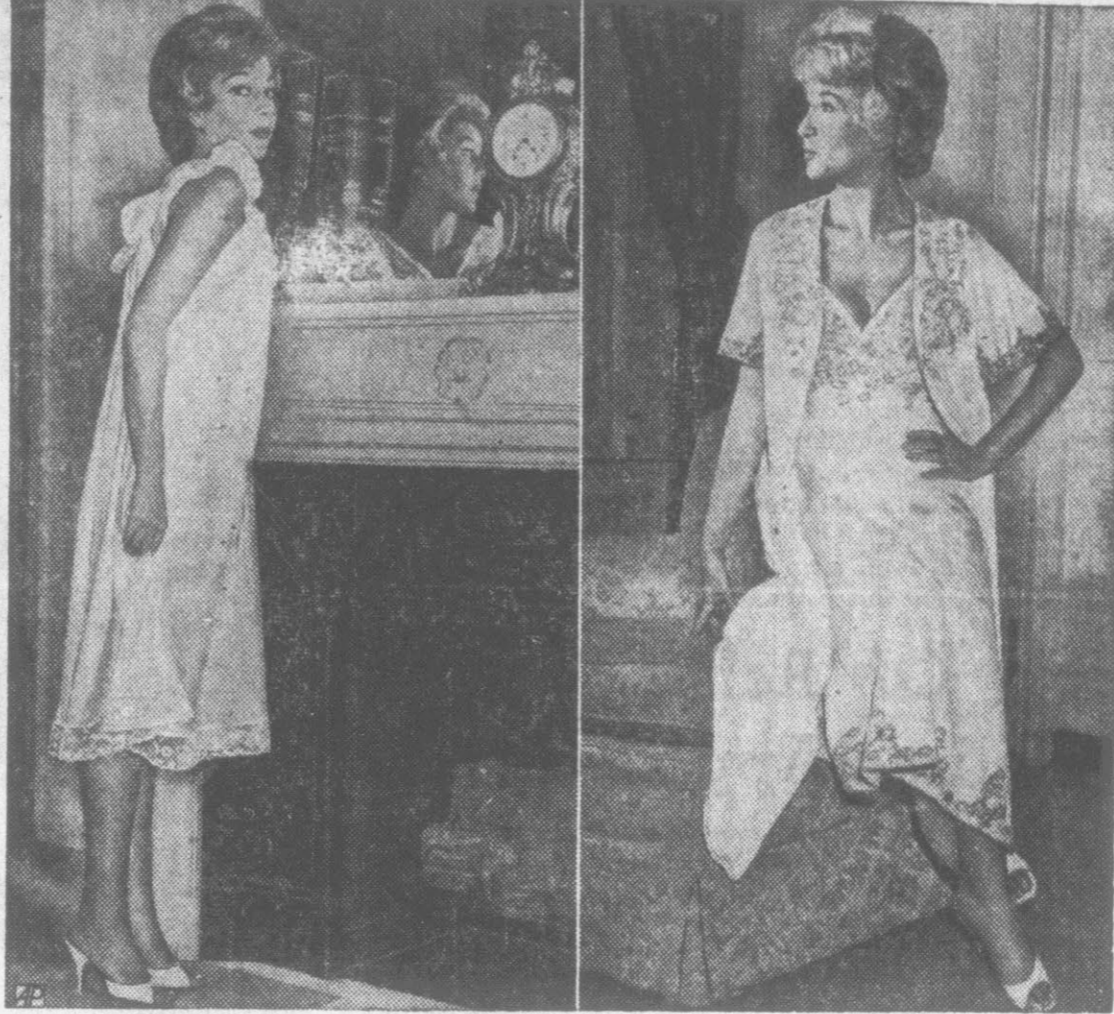

Upon arrival, Miss Harper was presented a corsage of measuring spoons to complement her blue dress.

For Shy Spouses

Yule Lingerie Lexicon

AP Newsfeatures

It is one of the anomalies of the Christmas season that strong, grown men flinch at the prospect of shopping for their lady loves. When it comes to intimate apparel, their timidity is pitiable. For those shrinking stalwarts we offer, in the spirit of helpfulness, a brief course in lingerie lingo. The cooperative model is the charming Parisienne chanteuse Lilo (5-2, 36-19-34, dress size 7 or 8.)

SHIFT (pronounced as in football) . . . A short simple gown, feminine and practical. You'll need to know height as well as dress size. Here in blue wash and wear satin (nylon, dacron polyester fiber, silk.)

GOWN AND PEIGNOIR (pronounced pan-war) . . . Since gown is waltz-length, height important. Comes as matched set. Here in white nylon tricot satinette applied with ecru nylon lace. (If you don't remember the fabric, sales-girls are very understanding.)

BIKINI (pronounced like beachwear) . . . Demeanure women who wouldn't think of wearing them under the sun, love them under cover. Bust, waist and hips measurements helpful in getting the right size. Here in black nylon tricot.

BABY DOLL (pronounced like it's spelled) . . . A brief pajama that appeals to the young in heart and especially in figure. Wonderful for warm climates. Here coat and baby doll is Santa Claus red, with detachable maribou trim.

CHICKEN CHOW MEIN
4 tablespoons peanut oil
4 cups thin strips onion
2 1/2 cups celery crescents
1 1/2 cups fat-free chicken stock
2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 can (1 pound) bean sprouts (well-drained)
1 can (5 1/4 ounces) dried bamboo shoots (drained)
3 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1 or 2 cans (3 ounces each) chow mein noodles

Toss onion and celery in hot oil in 12-inch skillet. Add 1 1/4 cups of the stock; cover and cook gently about 10 minutes. Add chicken, bean sprouts and bamboo shoots. Add cornstarch and soy sauce mixed with remaining 1/4 cup chicken stock until smooth; stir constantly until thickened. (If thicker than you like add 2 to 4 tablespoons bean sprout liquid.) Top with noodles. Makes 4 servings.

SCENTED SHOWER

Do you prefer a shower to a tub bath? If so, you can still have the pleasure of a scented bath oil if you spread a film of oil across your shoulders before stepping under the warm spray. Not only will the oil both scent and soften your skin but the perfume will fill the room.

Film To Be Shown

A film, "Teenage Challenge," will be shown at the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The service will be conducted by the YPA's of the church.

The Art Museum's Leading Force

It was an important day for North Carolina Wednesday when the $2 1/2 million Kress Foundation gift of art was presented to the State Art Museum. It was likewise for Robert Lee Humber of Greenville a day which represented the culmination of 17 years of labor toward establishing in North Carolina an art museum of national reputation destined to become the most noteworthy in the entire South.

Although Sen. Humber's efforts in behalf of the state's art museum over almost two decades have brought criticism from many sides, it is evident now that his labors have established for the state an institution of cultural importance that will endure the test of time and become increasingly valuable to North Carolina with the passing years.

Many people, public officials and private citizens, have had a part in the establishment of the state's art museum. It has been Humber, however, who has provided the constant leading force that has been essential to the achievement.

The Kress Foundation gift that was presented this week is the matching gift that was promised in 1947 when the state legislature, at the behest of Sen. Humber, set a new precedent in appropriating $1 million to be used for the purchase of art for the state. The promised matching gift from the Kress Foundation is more than double the amount envisioned at the time the legislature took its unprecedented action.

Sen. Humber's efforts in behalf of the art museum over these difficult years have not been without disappointment and hardship. At many hurdles during the course of events that have accompanied his efforts, lesser men would have given up. It is a credit to Dr. Humber, his farsighted vision, his determined leadership and his unselfish devotion to the project at hand that North Carolina now has an art museum of national importance.

It is also significant that in securing more than a million and a half dollars worth of art gifts for the museum—in addition to the Kress gift—that Dr. Humber has contributed his own time and paid his own expenses without asking or accepting any remuneration from the state even for postage stamps.

Few men indeed have made a more significant contribution to the state in any field than has Sen. Humber in his long labor to establish for North Carolina an art museum. He indeed deserves the gratitude of the people of the state.

Sigh Of Relief Over Williams' Appointment

There were many Democrats—most of them on the conservative side—who heaved a sigh of relief yesterday when it was announced that Kennedy had asked Michigan Governor G. Mennen Williams to accept the post of assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

It has been widely predicted—and almost as widely feared—that the liberal six-time governor of Michigan would get the Kennedy nod for the cabinet post of Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. It is official now that that post will go to Connecticut's Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, who is viewed by most observers as a bit more on the conservative side so far as domestic issues are concerned than is Williams.

As assistant secretary of state for African affairs, Williams will occupy a post in the Kennedy administration that will increase in importance in the next few years. At the same time it will be a post in which the liberal Michigan governor will have to devote his time and energies to U.S. relations with emerging African nations rather than with domestic issues here at home.

There will be less concern now that the Kennedy administration, in its welfare program, will push the nation to the extreme that Williams pushed his own state and brought it to the verge of bankruptcy.

These two appointments made by President-elect Kennedy yesterday tend to bear out recent post-election predictions that the Kennedy administration will be more conservative than the campaign indicated. The appointments likewise suggested the experts who have been predicting who would get this high post and that in the administration may have missed the mark. In addition to the fact that Williams was generally believed to have had the inside track on the post of Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, it was also generally predicted that Ribicoff would be tapped for the office of Attorney General. Kennedy has not adhered to the predictions in either of these two appointments.

The next few weeks during which the other high posts in the administration will be filled may bring other surprises in Kennedy's choices of key positions.

Troubled Areas For The Future

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Events in Venezuela and Argentina indicate strongly that Latin America will be the most important and most troublesome area of foreign policy for the Kennedy administration. In addition, the United States already may be dangerously late in preparing itself to learn and attack the roots of Latin America's unrest. Communist supported Castroism, carried the seeds of political disaster in international relations.

The Argentine uprisings have been laid to backers of deposed dictator Juan D. Peron. But it is highly likely that considerable Communist influence also was involved.

In Venezuela, President Romulo Betancourt's troubles are not over. The country has the biggest, strongest and most free-wheeling Communist party in the entire hemisphere. In addition there is rising agitation by agents from Cuba's Fidel Castro, supported and used by the Communists and by assorted opportunists.

In either case, success for the rebel movements would add up to calamity for U.S. policy and would herald even more calamity.

President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina has few illusions about what he is up against. He has said that Communist agents in Argentina have been infiltrating Peronist ranks and in a number of cases have successfully made alliances with the Peronists. The exiled Peron has denied it, but it is increasingly clear his supporters at home are being lured both by the Cuban Fidelistas and the Communists.

The Communist hand could be detected in the early 1959 attempt to overthrow Frondizi by means of political strikes. The government then prohibited Communist activity and closed down the party's offices and publications.

Castro's rise in Cuba gave new impetus to anti-Yankeeism and new aid to Communists all over the hemisphere. There is no question any more about the activities of selected Castro agents from Cuba throughout Latin America—in cooperation with other conspiratorial groups, including the Communists, they are bent on creating turmoil and producing an atmosphere in which Moscow-oriented demagogues can take over.

One great failure of the United States in Cuba's case was lack of precise knowledge of what the Cuban revolution was all about, and lack of familiarity with its

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLAS - WELCAME, STRANGER

One couple in our community are famous for their kindness to newcomers. When a new family moves in, these people begin a series of hospitable acts by which the strangers are helped to settle, be entertained, introduced to other folks, and generally made to feel at home. The fewer connections the newcomers have, the more vigorous are the efforts in their behalf. And these attentions continue until the new people have had a real chance to become established.

How did these kind people come to start their welcoming procedure? Years ago when they first moved here, no one paid any attention to them. For their first few months, until they had made friends, they were quite lonely. They resolved that what was now their own community should never again be unfriendly to strangers.

Over the years, their hospitality has had two interesting results. One is, of course, that they have more friends than anyone in town. Most of the families whom they welcomed have never forgotten their kindness.

The other result is that the attitude of our community toward newcomers has changed greatly. Other families have followed the example of hospitality; and now when people move in, they find this a friendly town. From a cold-hearted community we have become a warm-hearted one and all the effort of two people.

Urban Renewal Dreams

Urban renewal, urban renewal it will soon move us all.

Excitement is running high about this project, urban renewal. Wonderful things are in the offing.

One man, who owns a home near the Tar, says he will have his yacht and boat house in the back, with lawn parties all the time. And there will be a guest house for all his friends, on the lovely banks of the Tar River.

Another of the buddies has conjectured on the lovely proposed mall near this Daily

Reflector office, offering a place for quiet contemplation and cultural development, such as sidewalk art exhibits, lectures, concerts on the lawn and what-not. What a place to write a column.

Somebody else is concerned about the consequences to a favorite gas station. Another is concerned about the future of his house, scheduled to be obliterated from the face of this good old mother earth.

Still others are most excited about a proposed auditorium right out the back door. But we'd better fill in the holes first, lest we stub lovely toes on the way to these great civic functions.

Some, we must confess, are a little disappointed secretly that this office is not up for a disappearing act; they wanted to see action by fiery reporters and editors.

Urban renewal, urban renewal — hooray.

"When girls start calling you 'sir' about all you've got left to look forward to is your social security." —Wall Street Journal.

We were stymied (dense). Next week, the "friend" tried it again: said the widow of the unknown soldier had remarried.

But listen, yet. After eight hours of darkness each night, we all see daylight, don't we?

Other Editors Saying Minuteman Of The Future

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Since the advent of atomic weapons and missiles much has been said about future wars being fought with pushbuttons. Such talk was premature, as we saw in Korea where the war developed into just another conventional type of conflict with the usual heavy emphasis on ground troops. The big difference was the aerial phase which had changed from prop-driven planes to fast-jets.

However, there may still be hope for the fiction-science advocates who like to dream of a Buck Rogers type of warfare. This hope rests with the U. S. missile called the Minuteman. This type of missile is still in the future, but within a few weeks tests will begin at Cape Canaveral, and the Minuteman will no longer be earthbound.

These tests signal the start of a development program designed to give the U. S. a radical new system bordering on the pushbutton concept often mentioned by the more imaginative writers of our day.

There is sound reasoning behind such speculation. Once the Minuteman is perfected, the Air Force plans the fastest missile buildup in history. This buildup which is slated to begin in 1962 will mark the beginning of an era when rockets rather than manned bombers will be the dominant force in the Strategic Air Command.

In the event of hostilities, this entire force of intercontinental range rockets could be released within minutes to deliver nuclear warheads to any enemy heartland. Traveling over 15,000 miles per hour, the warheads could be on target 6,000 miles away in less than 30 minutes. And in case of emergency, two men in a control center miles away could send as many as 50 missiles on their way.

Bell Has Power In Tax Struggle

By ELMER ROESSNER

The Bell System is again charging that it is being victimized in taxes. In an article in the autumn issue of "Bell Telephone Magazine," Walter W. Kidd, A. T. & T. general tax accountant, charges that the Bell System is taxed unfairly.

The levy in 1959, he wrote, was equal to $7.66 a share of A. T. & T. stock compared to dividends of $3.30 a share.

In the same issue organ last spring Bell set forth that its tax burden was increasing and that its 1959 payments to Federal and other governments were $1,690,293,000.

If Bell continues with this campaign, it may get somewhere.

A. T. & T. is one of the big three American corporations in sales, being topped only by Standard of New Jersey and General Motors, and number one in employees, more than 700,000. It is first in number of stockholders with 1,700,000.

POLITICAL POTENTIAL

Furthermore, its stock is a favorite of widows and orphans, investment trusts, charities and other organizations that elicit public sympathy.

With members and sympathizers of these organizations, with those 700,000 employees and 1,700,000 stockholders, Bell might yield tremendous political influence—as much political influence as the economic influence it now enjoys.

So far Bell—perhaps fortunately for the country—has never attempted to use broad political pressures. If there was a Bell group for or against Kennedy, it escaped notice.

But if Bell—or perhaps an independent group of stockholders with no direction from the system—ever brought this politico-economic pressure to bear, it might have far-reaching results. How many Congressmen would consent to more unfairness on a company so many of its constituents owned or worked for? Or state legislators? Council-

The Hot Money Problem

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Let us look at this gold problem realistically and analyze the facts no matter how unpleasant:

1. We need, first of all, to analyze what the various countries owe to us and on what terms. These agreements are not always public nor do the available data explain quite what the amounts are, when they are due, in what form they are to be paid.

2. What is our government doing about "hot money"? Several years ago, I raised the question of "hot money" and a Senate committee began to make an investigation. But it was soon called off. The "hot money" runs into billions.

What is "hot money"? There are several kinds, the most usual being money deposited abroad for purposes of tax evasion and tax avoidance. Considerable sums, running into billions of dollars, are on deposit in Switzerland, Nassau, Venezuela, Panama, and Hongkong. Furthermore, a study needs to be made of the shift around of dollars between the United States and Canada involving such commodities as newspaper, craft paper, whisky and other liquors. The hidden money is not limited to the illicitly possessed funds of racketeers but involves many of the most respectable men in business and banking. The probability is that if the United States were able to call in funds hidden away or if our currency, which is now green, were printed red or purple and 60 days were allowed for the change-over from one color of currency to another, those who have evaded taxes by hiding their money abroad, would be sore put to it to become honest men. For whoever possessed the green currency, after a certain date, would find it convertible only by the Federal Reserve Bank which would demand a full explanation as to the source of the funds and why no taxes were paid on them. This would bring the government an enormous return, all from abroad.

"Hot money" classically is money from gambling, from bootlegging, from taking cash under the table in commercial transactions, etc., etc. Whoever owns "hot money" faces the problem of legitimizing it. One may have millions stuck away in a Swiss bank but there comes a time when it must be used in legitimate transactions to be useful. This is no easy matter. If one holds such "hot money" in the United States, unless it be of a very small amount, it becomes a nuisance. It cannot get rid of it, he cannot use it; it might be stolen or burned or lost. Therefore, the smart owner of such money finds a way to get it out of the country.

Switzerland offers an excellent haven for such crookedness. A Swiss bank will hold a nameless account to which is given a number and nobody at the bank but the most confidential of officers will know whose account it is. The bank will then undertake to "manage" the money for a fee. Such management is not in the owner's name but is in the name of a Swiss bank or a Swiss lawyer. Thus the money, stolen though it may be, is legitimized. It becomes American securities or American business houses or American land, or for that matter, similar properties in other countries. The beneficial owners are never disclosed, Swiss laws protecting the anonymity of the owners of this money.

Thus far, the government of the United States has never been able to break through this secrecy. It cannot discover the names of the Americans who are robbing the government of the United States.

Switzerland's non-cooperativeness in this is not unique. None of the tax haven countries cooperate with the United States. Much can be done. For instance, the withdrawal of green money in 60 days and the release of such money without adequate explanation as to its original source and evidence of the payment of income tax. The Swiss banks would be clogged with unusable American dollars.

Of course, the exchange value of the green dollars would temporarily fall. The only ones to (Continued on page five)

God's Covenant of Love

GOD'S PROMISE OF EVERLASTING LOVE TO THOSE WHO ARE HIS, AND SOME OF THE TRUTHS THAT ARISE FROM THIS FACT

Scripture—Jeremiah 31; Luke 1:67-69; 76-79; Romans 8.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS LESSON begins with God's assurance of His love for His people and His promise concerning Israel's ultimate state. "Yes, I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee. Again will I build thee, and thou shalt be built, O virgin of Israel; thou shalt again be adorned with thy tabrets, and shalt go forth in the dances of them that make merry."—Jeremiah 31:3-4. "Thou shalt yet plant vines upon the mountains of Samaria; the planters shall plant, and shall eat them as common things. For there shall be a day, that the watchmen upon the mount Ephraim shall cry, Arise ye, and let us go up to Zion unto the Lord our God."—Jeremiah 31:5-6.

"Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah; not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which My covenant they brake."—Jeremiah 31:31-32.

"But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the Lord, I will put My law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and they shall be My people."—Jeremiah 31:33.

GOLDEN TEXT

"For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."—Romans 8:38-39.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

PRACTICAL RANCH: This 7-room home features a living-dining area sub-divided by a raised corner fireplace, an L-kitchen with breakfast alcove and low pitched roof giving expansive horizontal look. Easy-to-frame rectangle construction will keep down building costs as will the back-to-back plumbing. The plan, HA151R, is by Architect Jan Reiner, Post Office Box 96, New Port Richey, Fla.

No Slackening Of The Demand By Consumers

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Officials in Washington who keep an eye on you say there's been no slackening in your wants and needs nor in your appetites. They're as high or higher than last year. And on the whole you've been shelling out as many dollars to satisfy them.

So if there is anything wrong with the economy it isn't your fault. You've been doing your bit to keep it going — even if sometimes it hurts.

Merchants and dealers who think you're holding out — and manufacturers who have turned out a record supply of consumer goods this year while stocks piled up — are told by official sources that the trouble is: There has been a change in some of the things you want, or at least in what you're paying for.

And the implication — although this isn't pushed by the officials — is that business should take a new look at consumers' wants and maybe change its emphasis.

The Federal Reserve Board reports in its official bulletin. "Output of consumer goods this year has been maintained at record level appreciably higher than last year and 115 per cent of the 1957 average."

It adds: "Retail sales of other final purchases, including exports, have been higher than a year earlier, but not so much as over-all production." In other words, stocks piled up until summer and since then have shown little change. And retail sales reached their peak in late spring.

Total retail consumer purchasing was little changed in the summer months from spring, The Department of Commerce notes in its November survey. Total consumer spending is running at an annual rate of $328.3 billion, up $5 billion from the first of the year.

But the department notes that you are spending a bit less for goods and more for services. It puts the annual rate of purchases of goods at $195.4 billion in the July-September period, against $198 billion in the April-June quarter, with $1.9 billion of the drop in durable goods.

Spending for services increased from $130.9 billion at an annual rate in the spring to $132.9 billion in the summer.

"Increases have continued in shelter outlays, coming from the improved supply of housing and the rise in rents, and in such associated items as telephone and utility services," the department adds.

Two-Hour Presentation Of 'Peter Pan' Awaited

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Television's most important gift to the audience during the next few viewing days will be next Thursday evening's two-hour production of "Peter Pan," with Mary Martin and Cyril Ritchard, in color.

The NBC special will be much like it was in two previous TV incarnations, but this time it has been made under better studio conditions—more room for flying and facilities for better lighting and now caught on long-lasting magnetic tape, will probably be an annual pre-Christmas treat.

It is scheduled from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

There are a few more items of more than passing interest on the schedules too (all times Eastern Standard):

Tonight, there is an NBC American Heritage production, "Born a Giant," about the early career of Andrew Jackson (9-10).

Margaret Truman will play her first dramatic role in Sunday's CBS Television Workshop drama (12-12:55 p. m.) called "Flight of Fancy," in the part of a woman mentally disturbed after the death of a child. Also on Sunday there Groucho Marx and Jimmy Durante (10-11).

Wednesday brings an ABC "Close-Up" program called "Yanki, No!" a study of communism in Latin America and notable as the program which brought about John Daly's resignation as ABC vice president in charge of news and special events: the program was brought into the network without his knowledge.

Customs Capturing The Spirit Of Advent

By JAMES LOH
Associated Press Writer

How many shopping days remained when it came to pass that Mary and Joseph went up from Galilee unto the city of David to be enrolled?

The question sounds sacrilegious—which points up the problem confronting persons, especially parents, who are anxious to stress religious aspects of the Christmas season in a world dominated by commercialism.

Fortunately there are a number of customs—ages old, most of them—which capture the imagination of children at home as much as the window displays downtown.

Perhaps the best known is the Advent wreath. Similar to it is the Advent house. Both teach the liturgical significance of the days leading up to Christmas.

The Advent wreath probably had its origin in the pagan fire wheel, used in pre-Christian times to celebrate the month of Yule (December).

In the 16th century the Lutherans of eastern Germany adapted the ancient custom to the Christian season of Advent. The practice spread among Protestants and Catholics throughout the country, and German immigrants brought it to America.

The wreath consists of a circle of evergreens fastened to a hoop or loop of wire, with four candles

Fishers To Take California Rest

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor and her husband, singer Eddie Fisher, today head for a couple of weeks of California sunshine before returning to London in time for Christmas.

The couple spent Thursday night here after flying in from Europe. Miss Taylor, whose recent illness held up the movie "Cleopatra," told newsmen she now feels "very fine."

The Fishers will vacation in Palm Springs, Calif., before returning to England to spend the holidays with Miss Taylor's children.

Discloses Nixon Planning To Enter Law Firm

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon plans to join a Los Angeles law firm after he leaves office Jan. 20.

Robert Finch, campaign director for the defeated Republican presidential candidate, said the name of the firm will be disclosed after the Christmas holidays. Finch also told a news conference Thursday:

1. Nixon will assume an active role in California politics when he returns home after the Jan. 20 presidential inauguration.
2. Whether Nixon will run for governor or again seek the presidency depends on what happens during the first 18 months of President-elect Kennedy's administration.
3. The possibility of vote recounts in several states reversing the election of Kennedy "is not in the cards." Finch said the purpose of the recount was primarily to bring to light archaic laws and voting procedures in some states.

The installation of hardboard panels for walls is a comparatively simple job when the tongue-and-grooved type is used. These special panels, eight feet in length and 16 inches in width, are secured with metal clips and thus can be handled by one person.

Naturally, these panels cost more than the ordinary nongrooved hardboard, but are becoming increasingly popular with those who consider ease of installation worth the extra price. In one kind of woodgrained hardboard, a coat of lacquer, varnish or wax is required after the walls have been put up. In another, a permanent plastic surface does not need any finishing.

The panels can be installed over an old wall that is reasonably straight. But if the wall is uneven, horizontal furring strips—one by two inches—should be applied. The furring strips by means of the metal clips.

When the paneling is to be applied over open studding, no furring strips are necessary if the studs are straight and 16 inches apart on center; that is, 16 inches from the center of one stud to the center of the next.

The hardboard is installed by starting from a corner and working around the room. The first panel is applied with a grooved edge toward the area to be covered, so that it is ready to engage the tongue edge of the next panel.

Where an extra strong installation is desired, adhesive can also be used. The dealer who seals the hardboard paneling usually carries the proper adhesive for this type of job.

The typical purchaser of a backyard swimming pool pays 10 per cent down and finances the balance over a period of five years. This information comes from Joseph C. Ekkers, head of the pool financing department of an installment financing company. Ekkers predicts that the number of American families owning their own swimming pools will climb to more than 225,000 this year, up more than 55,000 from 1959.

JAMES KEENE'S New Historical Novel IRON MAN, IRON HORSE

CHAPTER 31
Ben Holliday knew that Murray Singer was going to jump him. It was simply a feeling he had, and when Singer swung toward him, Holliday brought the butt of his rifle up in an arc, laid it across Singer's jaw hinge, and dropped him instantly. Carl Singer, having back growled something, and John-Jack DuJoise pulled his rifle and cocked it.

"Diving is an easy thing, my friend."
"What the hell's the matter with you people?" Colonel Dawson snapped. "Don't you have better sense than to ride through an Indian camp?"

Bert Hutchins shifted his feet awkwardly and said, "We used to be like that in the old days, Colonel. It worked then."
"Sure, with a hundred Texans against thirty Comanches." He waved his hand in disgust. "Well, get settled for the night. They'll get even in the morning for this, and I hope you haven't lost all your blankets. When Holliday turned toward him, his manner threatening. "Shut your mouth! I've just seen some Texas stupidity. Now don't tell me how tough you are; I already know now tough that is." He pivoted on his heel and went back to his blankets.

ed, he saw Jim Gary there. They walked back to the locomotive together. "The old man's got his back up," Gary said. He glanced at Holliday. "I hope that if I get shot tomorrow, it'll be from the front. A man never really knows how he will do, does he?"
"You'll do all right," Holliday said. "Don't worry about it."
"Well," Gary said, "it's nice that someone has confidence." He walked back to his own place, and Holliday got into the locomotive.

Holliday came to the ladder and stood there a moment. "Carl, I don't think you're going to leave here. You want to know why? I'd already made up my mind to come after you for killing Skinner. You saved me the trouble by coming to me."

For a moment Singer said nothing, then laughed. "What the hell are you talking about?"
"You killed Skinner."
"Prove it."
"I'm not going to try," Ben Holliday said. "I'm going to hand you on my own say-so. From what I've heard, it's long overdue."

"Put a guard on him," Holliday said, and DuJoise disarmed the man. "I want him to survive, John-Jack. His neck will just fit a good rope."
"M'sieu, let me turn him over to the colonel."
"I'll take care of it myself," Holliday said.
"You're making a mistake. Let the law do it."
Holliday shook his head. "There's no jury of Texans who'd convict him and you know it, and if you try a man one for the crime he can't be tried again."
"A chance we all take. Bender waited, didn't he?"
"I'm not Bender. Now put a railroad man to guard him, and keep the Texans away from him." He turned and mounted the cab again, knowing that DuJoise would do as he was told whether he liked it or not.

Vacation Picture Insurance
If you're lucky enough to be planning a winter vacation, there's one detail you shouldn't leave to the last minute. And that's buying a new camera.

Jim Bender woke him up during the night and the air was very chilly; Holliday suspected that dawn was not far away.
"What's the matter, Jim?" He sat up and pawed sleep from his eyes.
"Got somethin' to tell you," Bender said. "You won't like it."
"So tell me."
"I turned Carl Singer loose."
Holliday flisted a handful of the man's coat and tried to shake him. "You what?"
"Told you you wouldn't like it," Bender said. "Ben, I wanted Carl once myself, and I still do. So go get him with a rifle or a six gun or a hand ax. But get him fair, Ben. You'll sleep better."

Even though the buying takes just a few minutes at our counter, the extra time comes in handy in getting acquainted with your new camera—still or movie. When you buy early enough, you can shoot a test roll of film and see your results. You can get the feel of your camera. Know what to expect from it. Work with it so that you get good results easily, regularly on your vacation trip. There's no better time than right now to shop for your camera. Our stocks are full to handle the upcoming Christmas season. But lucky for you, the Big Rush hasn't started rolling yet.

With dawn so near, Ben Holliday forgot about sleep and left the locomotive cab; he walked over to where the cook was building a fire, and stood by it for a time to drive the chill from him. The soldiers were up and moving quietly about, and while Holliday stood by the fire, Lieutenant Gary walked over, his young face grave.
"Those Texans—ah—I took their guns away from them, Mr. Holliday. The old man is in a fit; I think he'd kill you on sight."
"Let's go talk to him," Ben Holliday said. "Where are they?"
"Looked in the supply car," Gary said. He led the way, walking along the dark roadbed beside the train. The railroad men were stirring and walking around aimlessly with rifles and shotguns. Two soldiers from Gary's section guarded the supply car, and he motioned for them to open the door. When Murray Singer saw Ben Holliday he swore softly. "I'm going to kill you!"
"It's almost dawn," Holliday said. "If you want to leave now, I'll give you the chance." He stepped close to Murray Singer and took a handful of lapel. "I don't need you here, and I don't want you here. You can get out if you travel west. When this is over, look for me. I'm going to clean house good."
"You ride on me, Holliday, and you'll get yourself killed." He jumped clumsily to the ground, then spoke to his friends. "Come on, let's get out of here. I never wanted to fight Indians for the railroad in the first place."
"Bert Hutchins got down and said, "Since I'm here, I'll stay. You go to hell, Murray. I should have told you that years ago."
(To Be Continued Tomorrow)

Come in now and we'll be able to help you select just the right camera for your trip. Perhaps one of the new electric-eye Brownies still or movie cameras. They keep you as work-free as you should be on vacation. The electric eyes in these new cameras make sure your lens is set right for the light. Gives you wonderful pictures shot after shot.
If you're not getting a new camera for your winter vacation, bring your present camera in. Let us check it over to make sure it's in good shape.

Senior Exhibit Currently Shown

A senior exhibit in painting and graphics by John Nelson Robbins, Jr., of Ahooskie, N. C., is being shown currently at East Carolina College in the Kate Lewis Gallery, Rawl building.

Before entering college, Robbins studied art with Frith Winslow of Plymouth, N. C., noted painter. Later, while attending high school in Greenville, he worked under the supervisor of James Walker of the school faculty.
Robbins entered East Carolina in the fall of 1955 as an art major. He served as vice president of his class during this freshman and junior years. He has held a seat on the Men's Judiciary of the Student Government Association and has acted as president of Men Day Students. In the Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity he has held the position of secretary and vice president. He is also a member of the East Carolina Playhouse, dramatic club.
At present time he is on leave from his position as teacher in Prince Georges County, Md. He is completing all of his requirements for his degree in art this quarter and plans to return to teaching in March.
He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Robbins of Ahooskie.

Goals Program Would Boost Govm't Costs

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Though some have criticized it as vague, the report of the President's Commission on National Goals was coldly specific on one point: The cost of government will rise by billions and billions of dollars in the 1960s.

Taxes probably cannot be lowered and may even have to be increased, the bipartisan commission told President Eisenhower this week.

Can a free economy stand still higher taxes? The commission says it can, if national output reaches the commission's target—a rise of 3.4 per cent a year.

"A moderate increase in tax rates need not, if its necessity were understood, materially impair the incentive or the morale of the American people, nor alter the primary reliance of the economy on private choice," said the report.

But it added that the rise of living standards would be "perhaps at rates below those of the recent past."

The commission's chairman, Dr. Henry M. Wriston, told the National Press Club Thursday no increase in federal taxes may be needed, but "I don't believe the needs of the next decade can be met without some changes in city and state taxes."

He said the commission did not propose a greater concentration of responsibility and power in Washington, but rather a greater responsibility for the cities, states, private organizations and individuals.

The White House advisers indicated total costs will be fairly high.

1. Military costs must rise, by unguessable amounts, to provide a "secure deterrent" against Soviet aggression and Red China's "blatant hostility."

2. Foreign aid must go up. U.S. investment, public and private, in the underdeveloped countries must rise from the 1960 rate of $3.4 billion a year to as much as $5.5 billion, within five years.

3. To combat city decay, "further urban renewal programs costing as much as $4 billion a year are needed." Presumably this means combined federal, state and local outlays; if so, the new figure means at least doubling the total spending of the "three levels of government."

4. Over-all outlays for education must be doubled in 10 years. The state, local and federal government share by 1970 would be $33 billion.

That the proposals will add up to even more billions is clear from this partial listing: More federal aid to higher education, direct grants for school systems to low-income states and matching funds for richer states, higher teachers' salaries—in total, says the commission, a "large additional sum."

Federal and state loans and grants to help depression-ridden cities and towns build up their payrolls and to provide retraining for factory workers who are replaced by machines;

"Much-increased retirement of farm land, with emphasis on whole farms"—presumably by public purchase of the land;

More government money for new medical facilities, training of doctors and scholarships for medical students; and Strengthening of U. S. information activities overseas.

Only in the farm program does the commission see a possibility of some future lowering of government costs, through a gradual withdrawal of federal subsidies.

Some other trimming may be possible.

"Economies can and must be made but these savings cannot be counted on to offset rising expenses," the report says.

"We therefore face the prospect, though by no means the certainty, that aggregate tax rates will continue at something like their present level through the decade, and may even have to be increased."

Whether tax rates go down or up, or stay the same, the report went on, "a substantial reform of the tax systems is essential" both to capture revenues which now escape the tax collector, and to give incentive for the launching and expansion of job-producing enterprises.

Air Force Built A Small Town To Fill Emergencies

By BILL EAST
Twin City Sentinel
Written For The Associated Press
WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — The Air Force was faced with a dilemma.

At its radar station four miles south of Winston-Salem, it was apparent that some of the key personnel might be needed in a hurry.

In fact, they might have to be on duty anytime of the day or night as little as five minutes after an emergency—possibly even an enemy attack—occurred.

The dilemma occurred because there was nowhere close by that the personnel could be housed. The multi-million-dollar radar station had been carved out of the rural countryside.

There were a few houses along Union Cross Road, where the station was located, but most of them were occupied. Some of the Air Force personnel lived in Winston-Salem, a few miles north.

A number of them, like Maj. Clifford Keith, then the station commander, lived in Kernersville. That's because the Union Cross Road provided a "straight shoot" eastward to Kernersville with few traffic problems.

But even "straight shoots" weren't the solution to the Air Force problem. It had to have the key personnel within a few minutes' traveling time for the moment they were needed.

So the Air Force decided to build a little city of its own. It acquired a tract of land across the road from the radar station.

It told contractors it wanted to turn farmland into a little community of 27 houses, streets, sidewalks, water system, telephones, playgrounds, utilities and all the rest.

Mrs. Keith, wife of the base commander, stuck a shovel into land that had formerly grown crops and the project was under way.

Today, it has been completed. Its 27 houses—built at a cost of more than $460,000—have all been occupied. The houses, valued at about $17,000 each, are built of single with carpents on the side. Each is occupied by an officer or enlisted man who wears Air Force blue. All houses have three bedrooms except the commander's—it has four bedrooms.

A spokesman for the station said that everyone living in the little "city" is essential to the radar operation. With the community, the station believes it is ready to cope with any kind of emergency.

The station is manned by the 810th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron. It has a complement of about 20 officers and some 160 enlisted men.

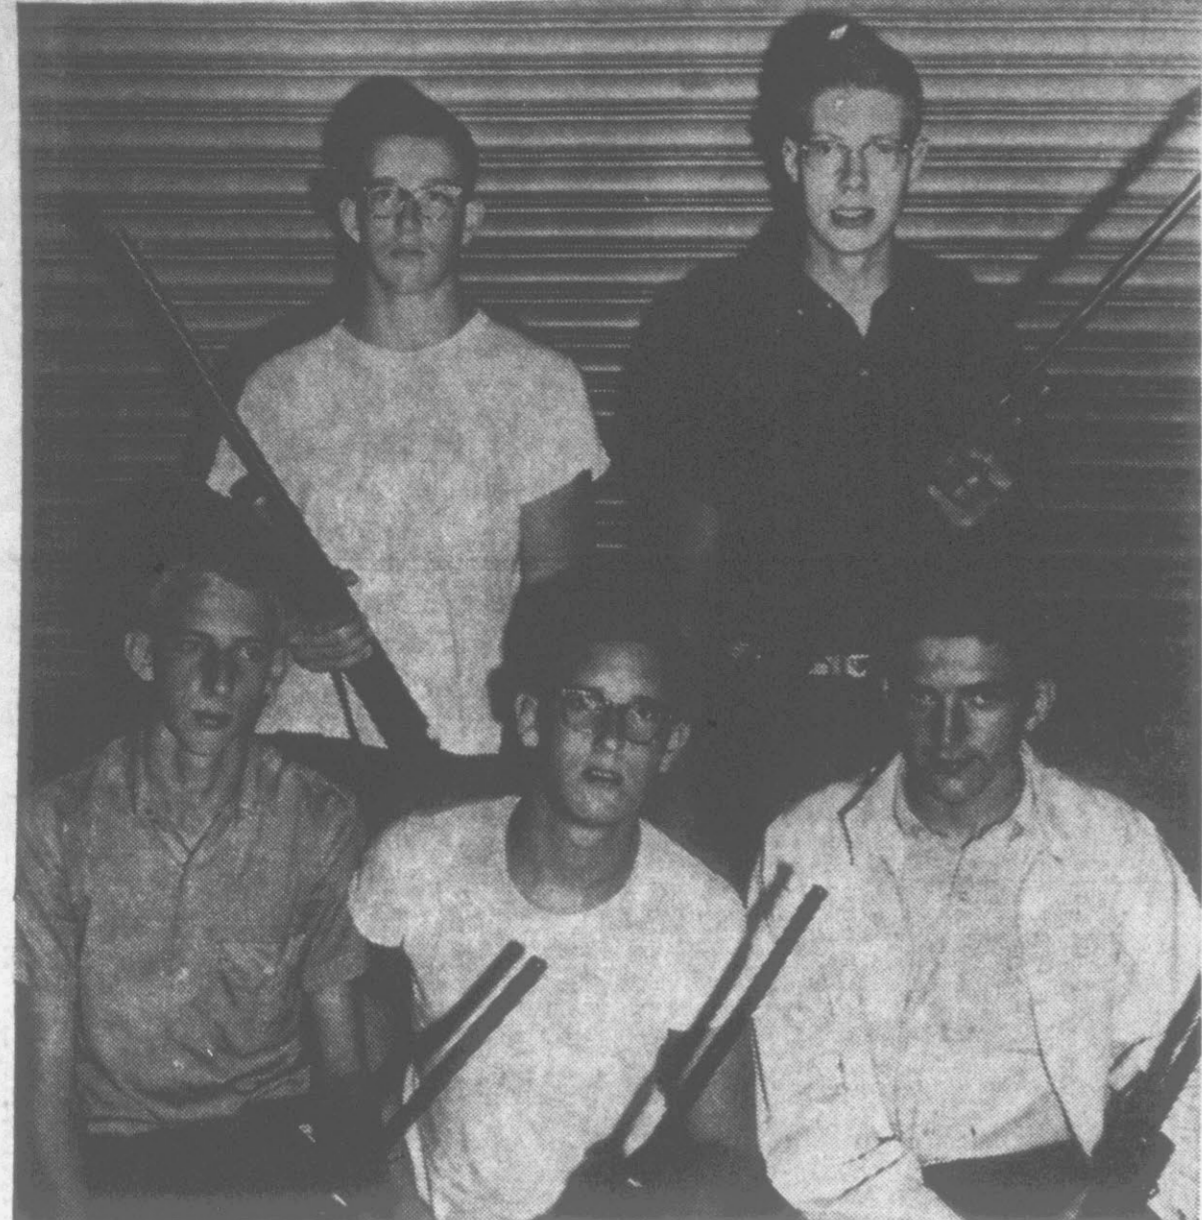

The station, started in May, 1955, is part of a nationwide network which keeps its radar "eyes" turned to the sky to watch for enemy planes. It also has many related duties — including helping planes in distress.

Chicago (AP) — The nation's traffic toll is on an upward trend. The National Safety Council reported Thursday that fatalities totaled 3,690 in October, the highest number for that month since 3,918 were recorded in October 1955.

October's deaths showed an increase of 7 per cent over the total for October of last year.

The toll for the first 10 months this year rose to 31,120, a gain of 2 per cent over the corresponding period of 1959.

But the rate of fatalities in relation to miles traveled through the first 10 months of this year was at a record low of 5.3. That means 5.3 persons were killed for every 100 million miles of travel by motor vehicles.

Kennedy Gains In Vote Recount

CHICAGO (AP)—The Republican national chairman headed into the thick of the Illinois post-election ballot battle today.

The chairman, Thurston B. Morton, who is directing his party's investigation of vote fraud charges, arranged a news conference at the quarters of the Midwest Volunteers for Nixon-Lodge.

At City Hall, a recheck is being made of paper ballots cast in 906 precincts in Chicago and Cook County.

In the first 30 precincts re-examined President-elect John F. Kennedy had a net gain of 60 votes and Richard M. Nixon had a net gain of 43.

But Republican watchers said Nixon had a net gain of 163 votes in the 22 precincts examined. The GOP watchers disregarded ballots that were spoiled or improperly marked. The other counters didn't.

Kennedy, on the basis of reports from the state's 102 counties won the state's 27 electoral votes by a margin of 8,849 votes. But Gov. William G. Stratton has said the state's Democratic electors may not be certified by the Illinois Electoral Board if it receives substantial evidence of fraud in the election. Stratton is chairman of the Republican-controlled board.

The board is expected to meet in Springfield next week.

The check Thursday showed a net gain of 119 for State's Atty. Benjamin S. Adamowski, Republican who lost to Democrat Daniel Ward by 26,000 votes. Ward had a net loss of 35.

'The Weavers' Will Be In ECC Concert

America's popular folk-singing group, The Weavers, will give a concert at East Carolina College Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 8:15 p.m. in the Wright auditorium. The program will be the fourth attraction on the 1960-1961 Entertainment series at the college.

The quartet, which has proved to be a solid sellout attraction in concert halls throughout the country, has played a notable part in the re-discovery of the treasury of American folk songs. Each member of the foursome is a soloist in his or her own right.

Members of The Weavers are Lee Hays; Ronnie Gilbert; Fred Hellerman, guitarist-singer; and Erik Darling, banjoist-singer. They have made folk music their lives for many years and share a combined knowledge of the genre which is said to be unrivaled in their field.

Their program entitled, "Folk Songs Around The World" includes songs from the United States, England, Scotland, Israel, Spain, Chile, South Africa, and other parts of the world.

The repertoire of The Weavers includes well over four hundred songs. Among these are work songs, blues, ballads, tell tale songs, dance songs, spirituals, national songs and songs of war, peace, and friendship. Their singing is combined with fine instrumental work of guitar and banjo for melodic and rousing effect.

The Weavers have appeared at major concert halls in this country as well as Canada and Europe and Israel. Their identification with the songs, "Goodnight Irene," "On Top of Old Smokey," "Kisses Sweeter Than Wine" and many others, has made these "old" folk songs as good as new.

For the past few years, The Weavers have devoted their work to concerts and recordings. Their records for Vanguard continue to be best sellers.

Admits Attempt To Hire Killer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ex-film producer James R. Howlett, 64, has pleaded guilty to a charge he tried to hire a man to kill his rich wife Leonie, 78.

Henry Lucero, 26, had told officers Howlett offered him $2,000 to murder Mrs. Howlett. Lucero, who earlier advertised he'd consider anything legitimate for $1,000, went to police instead.

Howlett will be sentenced Dec. 22 on his surprise plea of guilty to a charge of soliciting another to commit a crime. His wife said she would stand by him.

Traffic Deaths On Upward Swing

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic toll is on an upward trend. The National Safety Council reported Thursday that fatalities totaled 3,690 in October, the highest number for that month since 3,918 were recorded in October 1955.

October's deaths showed an increase of 7 per cent over the total for October of last year.

The toll for the first 10 months this year rose to 31,120, a gain of 2 per cent over the corresponding period of 1959.

But the rate of fatalities in relation to miles traveled through the first 10 months of this year was at a record low of 5.3. That means 5.3 persons were killed for every 100 million miles of travel by motor vehicles.

Daring Excuse For Draft Board

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—The county selective service board here hears all kinds of excuses from registrants explaining how they lost their draft cards. But this new one turned up recently: "I was parachute jumping."

The registrant, "and my billfold fell out of my pocket. The card was in the billfold."

Tomcat Turns To Show Business

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Herman the tomcat, loser in a first round court battle over his freedom, turns to show business today, billed as the Casanova of the Cat Kingdom.

Herman's rise to fame grew out of a $3,500 suit charging in part that Herman was far too friendly with some neighboring female Siamese cats.

A preliminary injunction ordered Herman's owner, Russell Bowlers, to keep the cat on a leash when he is out of doors.

Tonight Herman will appear in a gold colored cage at a theater here. The theater said there would be a marble throne with a red carpet leading to it and spotlights to dramatize the scene, in the theater's lobby.

The arrangements were made by the manager — Herman Kersken.

Irate Commuters Didn't See All

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The driver of a municipal bus, No. 71, splashed by knots of San Franciscans standing in a downpour Thursday, waiting to go to work.

An angry commuter could see the driver, William T. Johnson, 43, cranking from a bottle.

Men cursed. Women gritted their teeth. Some hammered at the windows with their umbrellas and pleaded when the bus slowed.

Johnson refused to stop.

What they couldn't see inside was a teen-age hoodlum with a .45-caliber automatic forcing the driver to down most of a half-pint of vodka as he drove his route. Later he robbed Johnson of $46 and fled.

A New Luscious Look in Carpeting...
ORLON® Broadloom
by Alexander Smith

- Take famous Orlon—specially engineered by DuPont—add Alexander Smith's masterful craftsmanship in weaving and the radiance of lasting Living Colors and you have something new and wonderful. It's Town and Country—two textured Orlon acrylic and modacrylic pile broadlooms of matchless beauty and quality. Town comes in a host of exquisite plain colors—Country features a brilliant array of fresh, tweedy tones. Just look at the advantages adding either or both of these completely new carpets to your home:
- Living Colors. Nature herself inspired these gorgeous hues; and thanks to Orlon, they have a kind of freshness and clarity you've never before seen.
 - Color Fastness. Town and Country attain the highest standards of color fastness in carpet. Their Living Colors won't fade, won't wash off, won't rub off.
 - Durability. Performance tests prove that Town and Country are unsurpassed for long, lovely life.
 - Ease of care. Even normally difficult stains can be removed from non-absorbent Orlon. Vacuum cleaning is a breeze since dust does not readily adhere to Town and Country's smooth surface.
 - Resilience. Town and Country stay lush and springy for years and years.
- Remember, Town and Country look loveliest, last longest with genuine Alexander Smith carpet cushion.

Friday's Short Stuff

Snead Joins Deac's Cagers

Bobby Gray, Roanoke Rapids native, was recently named to the 'Junior College All-American' football team. Gray, a former All-Eastern and All-Conference halfback, led Chowan College to its first winning season in five years . . . University of North Carolina failed to score an extra point after its first seven touchdowns in 1960, then fullback Bob Elliott took over, booted nine of 11 PATs in final five games . . .

Followers of Wake Forest's athletic fortunes haven't seen the last of quarterback passing-whiz Norman Snead. Coach Bones McKinney said earlier this week the 6-foot-4 Snead "Will definitely be in the starting lineup" tonight when the Deacs meet Florida . . . Another football player, 6-foot-6 end Bill Hull of Tarboro is also a member of the Deac's basketball team. He was a high school star for the Tigers . . .

Paul To Enroll At East Carolina

Jerry Paul of Washington plans to enroll at East Carolina this year. Paul, a standout footballer for the Pam Pack, played at Riverside in Georgia this past season. He will join a former teammate, Skipper Duke . . . Coach Earl Smith, head basketball coach at ECC, has lost a couple of his cagers, following first quarter exams. Robby Dick, freshman guard from Indiana, failed to return this quarter and Fred Fowler, 6-foot-8 sophomore center, ran into scholastic difficulties . . .

The University of North Carolina will have tri-captains for its basketball team this season. They are the three seniors, York Larese, Doug Moe and Dick Kepley . . . Five of North Carolina State's first six basketball games will be played at home in Reynolds Coliseum, with only the Clemson game away. Southern Illinois, George Washington, The Citadel, Wake Forest and Georgia Tech are the home opponents . . .

Howard, Currie Speak In This Area

Clemson football coach Frank Howard will speak Monday night at Kingston's football banquet . . . Bill Currie will be the guest speaker here Thursday night for East Carolina College's grid banquet . . .

At least two football players from this area will play in post-season football games. Layne Jorgensen, Greenville and son of ECC's athletic director, plays in the North Carolina-South Carolina Shrine Bowl game in Charlotte tomorrow afternoon. ECC halfback Glenn Bass plays in the All-American Bowl on Dec. 26th in Tucson, Arizona . . .

A few predictions: EC tackle Clayton Piland will be named on the All-State team this week. Greenville's Layne Jorgensen and Alan McArthur should make the All-Eastern 3-A selection. Dinky Mills of Ayden and Mitchell Cannon of Farmville should be on the Class A selection. If the Northeastern All-Conference team is ever selected, such names as Jorgensen, McArthur, Skip Wright, Erskine Duff, Bill Wade and Larry Roberts might dot the first and second teams.

This is the 1960 All-America football team selected by the Associated Press. The team includes ends Dan LaRose of Missouri and Mike Ditka of Pittsburgh; tackles Ken Rice, Auburn and Bob Lilly, Texas Christian; guards Tom Brown, Minnesota, and Ben Balme, Yale; center Roy McKasson, Washington. Backs are Joe Bellino, Navy; Jake Gibbs, Mississippi; Bob Ferguson, Ohio State, and Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State. (AP Wirephoto)

Bellino Heads AP All-American

NEW YORK (AP)—A mammoth line and a backfield built around Navy's Joe Bellino, the Heisman Award winner, highlight the 1960 All America announced today by The Associated Press. With Bellino in the backfield are Jake Gibbs, Mississippi; Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State; and Bob Ferguson, Ohio State.

The team was selected on the graded recommendations of eight regional boards of sports writers and newsmen who also voted on the top ten throughout the season. All games through Nov. 26 were taken into account.

Bellino was a standout in a season in which, generally, attention centered on the line rather than the backfield. He scored 110 points for Navy's Orange Bowl-bound team, including 18 touchdowns, and gained 834 yards rushing, 280 yards catching 17 passes, and threw five passes for 112 yards.

The 5-9, 181-pound halfback wound up his academy career in a blaze of glory by intercepting a pass on the goal line in the closing moments of the Army-Navy game, saving Navy's 17-12 lead.

Atkins, 25, a wingback, carried the ball 65 times for 611 yards in New Mexico State's unbeaten season. He caught 24 passes for 468 yards. He stands 6-1 and weighs 190 and was drafted before his senior year by the Los Angeles Rams.

Ferguson, the only junior on the team, is a 217-pounder who was moved from halfback to fullback and crashed through for Ohio State with 13 touchdowns and 853 yards rushing.

Gibbs, who weighs 185, completed 66 of 109 passes for 970 yards and 12 touchdowns, and wound up the regular season by connecting on 13 of 15 passes against Mississippi State. He also was rated the most dangerous runner on an unbeaten but once tied team, and is a good punter as well.

Not far behind the first team backfield comes a second team combination of Francis Tarkenton, Georgia; Bill Kilmer, UCLA; Ron Bull, Baylor; and Ernie Davis, Syracuse.

End Ditka, who caught 11 passes for 229 yards and two touchdowns, was most feared for his hard tackling and blocking. Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers called him "the best college player in the country." La Rose, at the other end, caught 10 passes for 151 yards and two touchdowns, and recovered six fumbles. Lilly, the big TCU tackle, was termed by coach Abe Martin "the greatest line man I ever coached." He hit his peak against Texas, making 17 tackles, recovering two fumbles, blocking a punt, and causing a pass interception. Rice, the other giant tackle, like Lilly, was a bear on recovering fumbles. Coach Ralph Jordan called him a "noiseless football player—you don't realize how much he is accomplishing."

Balme, the first Yale All American in a quarter century, was the key to the Eli's perfect season. Big and bruising, he was mechanically perfect on every play. He paired at guard with Tom Brown of Minnesota, possibly the best lineman in the nation. In the climactic game in which Minnesota beat Iowa, Brown blocked on plays that accounted for more than half of Minnesota's gains, as well as effectively smearing Iowa's attack.

McKasson, at center, called defensive signals for Washington and in the words of Coach Jim Owens was "a real gentleman . . . a real leader. He was a tremendous stabilizing influence on the youngsters." Merlyn Olsen, Utah State tackle; Joe Romig, Colorado guard; F.J. Holub, Texas Tech center; Dwight Bumgarner, Duke tackle; Al Vanderbush, Army guard; and Wayne Harris, Arkansas center, were other linemen whose work was outstanding.

Two Atlantic Coast Conference players were named to The Associated Press' 1960 All America third team today and 31 players of the ACC and Southern Conference were chosen for honorable mention.

Tackle Dwight Bumgarner of Duke and Quarterback Roman Gabriel of N.C. State were the only ACC players chosen among the AP's first three teams.

The following players from the Atlantic Coast and Southern conferences were named for honorable mention:

Prep Playoffs Set For Tonight

Four playoffs tonight will determine football titles of the North Carolina High School Athletic Association.

Topping the list is the 4-A battle that sends Winston-Salem Reynolds to Greensboro.

Other pairings:
3-A: Rookingham-Breward at Asheville.
2-A: Winston-Salem Hanes at Edenton.
1-A: Warsaw at Morganton North Carolina School for the Deaf.

Greensboro and Reynolds, both members of the Central Conference, advanced last week by winning over representatives of rival circuits. Greensboro trounced Western titleholder Gastonia 19-6 and Reynolds edged Wilson, the Eastern champ 9-7. Greensboro, state runnerup last season, beat Reynolds 19-6 in a regular season game. The Whirlies have a 10-1 record against 8-3 for Reynolds.

The other playoffs match Eastern and Western champions who tonight seek state titles to go along with their "home" honors.

The 3-A title game matches teams with 12-0 records. Rookingham, the defending champion, toppled Tarboro 26-14 last week for the Eastern crown. Breward locked up Western honors by blanketing Winston-Salem Gray 7-0. Edenton's Aces trounced Wallace 32-0 for the Eastern AA championship. Hanes nailed down the honors in the West by stopping Boone 14-0.

Warsaw won Eastern Class A laurels with a 19-0 decision over Benvenue to bring its record to 13-0 best in the state. Morganton gained the title in the West by whipping Allen Jay 34-14.

Tar Heels Will Strike By Air

CHARLOTTE (AP)—North Carolina will travel by air and South Carolina by land in the Shrine Bowl football game here Saturday.

That appears certain from what the coaches have said or hinted about their plans.

The Tar Heels are expected to be forced into the air by the heavier Sandpapper team.

"We're spending equal time on running and passing," said North Carolina Coach Gus Purcell-Thursday. He added, "It'll be no concession if we go to the air. We've got three fine quarterbacks who can throw the ball, and I feel like end is our strongest position."

South Carolina Coach John McKissick said his team probably will stick to running. "So far it seems like we're going to have a ground offense," he commented.

Both coaches expressed optimism and neither would concede a thing. Most observers, however rate South Carolina the favorite by a touchdown.

Meanwhile, the players elected captains Thursday night, and the Tar Heel team chose tri-captains.

They are quarterback Gary Black of Charlotte Garinger; Purvis Edwards, 250-pound tackle from Rocky Mount, and Gene Isehour, a fullback from Hickory.

The Sandpappers elected Jim Tom Oliver, a quarterback from Orangeburg, and Larry Fleming, a center from Parker of Greenville.

Purcell planned a short morning workout for his team today, and also a brief afternoon drill. McKissick planned only an afternoon practice session.

Indians Zoom In Cage Opener

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Southern Conference's 1960-61 basketball season began Thursday night with an ear-splitting explosion at Williamsburg that echoes all the way to the hills of West Virginia.

The big bang came from William and Mary's Indians, who blew over non-conference Hampden-Sydney by a record 113-75 score in their first start. No W&M team ever had tallied more than 109 points before.

Though the victory didn't help the Indians in the conference, it won't go unnoticed in the camp of West Virginia's six-time champions. For the Mountaineers must face W&M in their own season opener at Morgantown Saturday night.

Jeff Cohen, who averaged 24.2 points last season, poured in 33 against Hampden-Sydney, a respected small college club, and speared 19 rebounds to set a W&M school record. The 6-7 colossus now has 1,274 rebounds for his career, 13 more than the old record of 1,261 set by his coach, Bill Chambers, in a career that ended in 1953.

Soph Jerry Smith bucketed 19 points to lead Furman, which hadn't won a home opener in three years, past Belmont Abbey.

Merlin Olsen, Utah State tackle; Joe Romig, Colorado guard; F.J. Holub, Texas Tech center; Dwight Bumgarner, Duke tackle; Al Vanderbush, Army guard; and Wayne Harris, Arkansas center, were other linemen whose work was outstanding.

Officers Of Home Ec Club At ECC Named

Lolice Frances Baynor of Scranton heads a slate of officers chosen to direct activities of the East Carolina College Home Economics Club during the 1960-1961 term.

Other officers of the organization are Betty Rose Frazier of Rt. 4, Henderson, vice president; Rebecca Parker of Rt. 2, Bensons, secretary; Bobbie Jo Sutton of Rt. 3, La Grange, treasurer; and Effie Lee Aman of Rt. 2, Jacksonville, reporter on the college yearbook, "The Buccaneer," and Marjorie Holland of Rt. 2, Kenly, reporter on "The East Carolinian," campus newspaper.

Miss Baynor is one of 38 students chosen this year to represent East Carolina in the national circulated yearbook "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." She is a member of the Cabinet of the campus YWCA; Tau Sigma, honorary education fraternity; the staff of the college yearbook, "The Buccaneer," and the Baptist Student Union. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Baynor of Scranton.

Miss Frazier recently attended the annual meeting of the American Home Economics Association in Denver, Colorado, and was elected to serve on the nominating committee for the Southern District. She is also a college marshal from the Junior Class and a member of the Alpha Delta Pi social sorority.

Miss Parker has been nominated for the position of secretary of the club during the 1960-1961 term.

Reviews And Reflections

By JIM POINDEXTER

Ever since most of us can remember, people have been complaining about rising prices and have been using this fact as an excuse for their economies.

But, as Bennett Cerf recently pointed out, books are still, comparatively speaking, real bargains. In 1920, a volume of the Modern Library cost ninety-five cents. Now it is one-ninety-five, an increase of only 100 per cent.

Broadway musicals, by contrast, have undergone a 400 per cent inflation in price during the same period: from $2.20 to $9.90. We leave these figures for the economists to interpret.

Here's some more incidental intelligence: The sales manager of the publishing firm of Norton is feeling macabre about an order which he recently received for a copy of "When the Kissing Had to Stop." It came from a mortuary in Denver.

JEAN KERR

Another item from a New York publisher, this time Doubleday: A lady called them the other day and requested a new book called "The Womn Does All the Talking." A smart clerk finally translated this into "The Snake Has All the Lines," Jean Kerr's title which seems to be causing great confusion almost everywhere.

TOM SWIFT

And Grosset and Dunlap is celebrating this month, of all things, the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of the Tom Swift series, the first of which was "Tom Swift and His Motor Cycle."

We also learn that there is now a Tom Swift Junior series, which is doing very well. We tremble to think what power Tom Junior must possess, now that he has exchanged Pa's electric rifle for an electronic one.

BIG DEAL

Speaking of book selling, Texas even does that in a grandiose way. Neiman-Marcus of Dallas is featuring in its Christmas catalogue, along with matched airplanes labeled "His" and "Hers," a full set of Modern Library books for only $282.80.

CULTURE WEEK

In connection with Culture Week, which is now coming to a close in Raleigh, Robert Lee Hunter is to be congratulated upon his re-election as President of the State Art Society. This honor is in part a tribute to his untiring work in securing the Kress Collection of paintings for the State.

LOCAL MUSIC

Two interesting musical events are on tap at the College next week. One, on Sunday, 3:30, Wright Auditorium, will feature John Barnes Chance directing the East Carolina College Symphony in playing "Symphony," one of Chance's compositions. In addition, the orchestra will play a classical repertory under the direction of Don Hayes.

The other musical event will take place Wednesday, Dec. 7, 8:15, Wright. This will be a folk-singing concert by The Weavers, widely-known quartet. The title of this program is "Folk Songs Around the World."

Our guest reviewer this week is Dr. George Cook of the College, who has come back to Greenville this year after two years as assistant professor at the University of the Saar in Germany.

"How to Avoid Matrimony," By HERALD FROY JOHN DAY

How to Avoid Matrimony is a book more distinguished by its cartoon-like illustrations than by its text. Of course, the title is not to be taken seriously; even marriage-desiring spinsters can not be alarmed by this book, now can skittish bachelors be sustained. There is suggested by the book little real defense that can aid the bachelor, though Mr. Froy is intent on defining the bachelor as one who indulges his penchant for women but eludes capture. Still, over and over again the author plays up the worn-out humor of the caught male. Warnings innumerable are passed upon the pursuant female; her various disguises are listed. The wary male is handed a sheaf of "opposals" to confound proposals, advised against an incriminating appearance at a christening, and instructed to eschew the weak ening influence of babies.

The reader of the book will often find his attention attracted to the illustrations. Indeed, he will probably find the drawings so captivating that he will conclude that they constitute the book's chief raison d'être. Besides the illustrations, Mr. Froy has not much more on his side than the traditionally humorous associations that began to be assigned to the predator and prey when man and woman first realized their complementary natures. How to Avoid Matrimony, a briefly ponderous tome of fewer than two hundred pages, is a dish, so to speak, that the gourmet need barely taste to know its total ingredients.

I suppose that I expected a serious approach to a serious subject. Perhaps, only the truly subjugated married man can be entertained by this book.

A disappointed bachelor, George A. Cook

Indict Students In Bombing Case

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A Travis County grand jury Thursday indicted two University of Texas students in a bombing that disrupted a student integration meeting.

William Harvey McKnight, 20, Kerrville, Tex., and John Hunter Winborn, 19, Dallas, were charged with "injury to property belonging to another." The charge is a felony.

Judge Rules On Crow's Owner

ARTEZIA, N.M. (AP)—Blackie is doing the crowing today.

That's because Justice of the Peace Elmer Perry ruled that a pet crow is Blackie and not Aloysius.

The court action to determine the ownership of the crow was started by Mrs. Paul Mathew, who claimed that the crow was Blackie and belonged to her family.

Mrs. H. S. Guinan counter-charged that the crow was Aloysius, her family's pet. Some 20 witnesses appeared in the case, but their testimony was inconclusive. The crow added little help by answering to both names.

Soloists Named For Oratorio

Soloists for the annual performance of Handel's "The Messiah" at East Carolina College have been announced by Dr. Carl T. Hjortsvang of the department of music, director of the oratorio. Seven students of voice, chosen by members of the college department of music as soloists, will sing arias in the presentation of the Handel work Sunday, Dec. 11, at 3:30 p.m. in the Wright auditorium.

Sopranos are Betsy M. Hancock of Rt. 2, Scotland Neck; Jessamine Hiatt of Clinton; Marjorie Kennedy Moore of Kinston; and Patricia Lane Roberts of Farmville. Mrs. Martha Bradner of Greenville will sing alto arias.

Peter R. Johl of Trails Corner, Groton, Conn., tenor, and Ronald J. Knouse of Winston-Salem, bass, will appear in arias for men's voices.

Miss Roberts in 1959 and Mrs. Bradner in 1957 and 1958 were soloists in performances of "The Messiah" at East Carolina.

A chorus of approximately a hundred voices has rehearsed under Dr. Hjortsvang's direction since October.

Accompaniment for "The Messiah" this year will be provided by an orchestra composed mostly of instrumentalists from the college faculty.

WHILE AT PHONE

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Three children were burned to death Thursday night while their mother was next door making a telephone call. Firemen said the blaze apparently started from a wood stove. The dead were Patricia Weston, 3; her brother Charles, 2; and sister Melody, 8 months.

Salt has been mined on the shores of Austria's Hallstattersee for 4,000 years, according to the National Geographic Society.

Multiple charges were lodged against Joseph C. Proctor, 43, of 611 Ash St. last night after a car allegedly driven by him struck a second vehicle at the intersection of Fourth and Cotanche Sts., then hit a utilities pole at the intersection of Fourth and Biltmore Sts.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to his 1960 model car. Investigating officers said the proctor car struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Mrs. Ruth Waters Mills of College Park Trailer Court, which had stopped for a traffic light at the intersection. Both cars were headed East on Fourth St., police said.

Officers said investigation showed Proctor then drove his car from the scene of the collision, continued East on Fourth, and collided with a utilities pole at the intersection of Fourth and Biltmore Sts. Police noted the first collision was reported at 8:10 p.m. while the second collision was reported at 8:14 p.m.

Following investigation of the wrecks, officers charged Proctor with operating under the influence of alcohol, hit and run driving, and leaving the scene of an accident. Proctor was placed under a $350 bond for appearance in City Recorder's court.

No injuries were reported and damage to the Mills auto was set at $200.

Killian Questions Value Of Costly Space Program

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower's former scientific adviser questions the value of spending billions of dollars a year to put a man in space.

Dr. James R. Killian, chairman of the Corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said Thursday Americans must ask themselves: "Will several billion dollars a year additional for enhancing the quality of education not do more for the future of the United States and its position in the world than several billion dollars a year additional for man in space?"

He was here for dedication of the Alfred P. Sloan Laboratory of Mathematics and Physics at the California Institute of Technology. He expressed his views in a lecture beforehand.

"The image of America may be shaped by the quality of its inner life more than by its exploits in space," he said.

IN WILD WEST GERMANY

Wenni Walbrunn is champ trick roper of Cowboy Club of Munich.

This might well be a scene on the Crow Indian reservation in Montana, but it was taken deep in Bavaria, on the edge of the Black Forest.

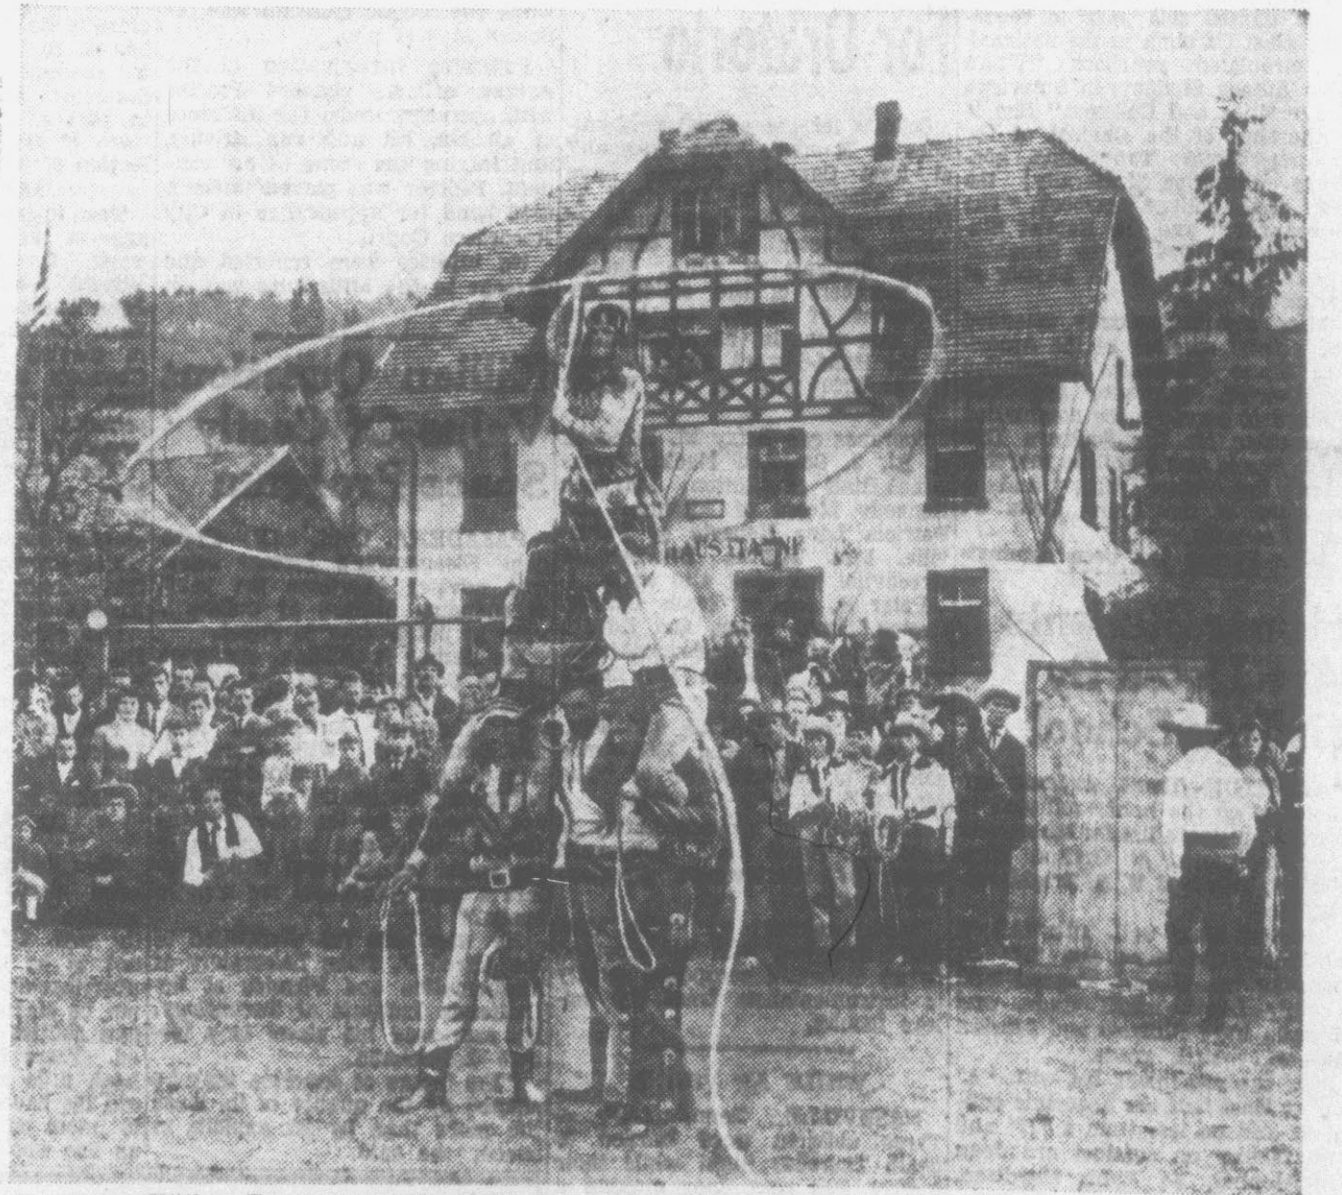

German cowboys make like Western bronco busters as they gather at the bar for drinks. It's in the headquarters of the Cowboy Club of Munich.

America's frontier days have come alive again — in Germany.

From time to time, Indian war whoops and cowboys' gunfire shatter the peace of a Bavarian countryside. Smoke rises from fires in front of a dozen tepees, German "rot hauts" (redskins) weave to and fro in a frenzied war dance, cowboys twirl lariats with the skill of a Texas cowpuncher. A German Indian and cowboy clug encampment is in progress.

There are 23 of these clubs scattered over Germany from the North Sea to the southern borders of the Black Forest. The first one, the Cowboy Club of Munich, was founded in 1913, followed by the Buffalo Cowboy Club of Freiburg. Then came the Indian Ogalala Club in Duesseldorf, the Indianerfreunde Club of Karlsruhe, the Wild West Club of Frankfurt and other similar groups. They all participate each year in one large encampment. This year's gathering was near Cologne.

A visit of a Buffalo Bill Wild West Show and the writings of Karl May, a German author, on the American Indian and the exciting West were said to have inspired the Germans to form the clubs. No doubt Western movies helped in the process.

With a German gasthaus (inn) as a backdrop, these Nordic cowboys and Indians do rope spinning that would be a credit to any real Western rodeo.

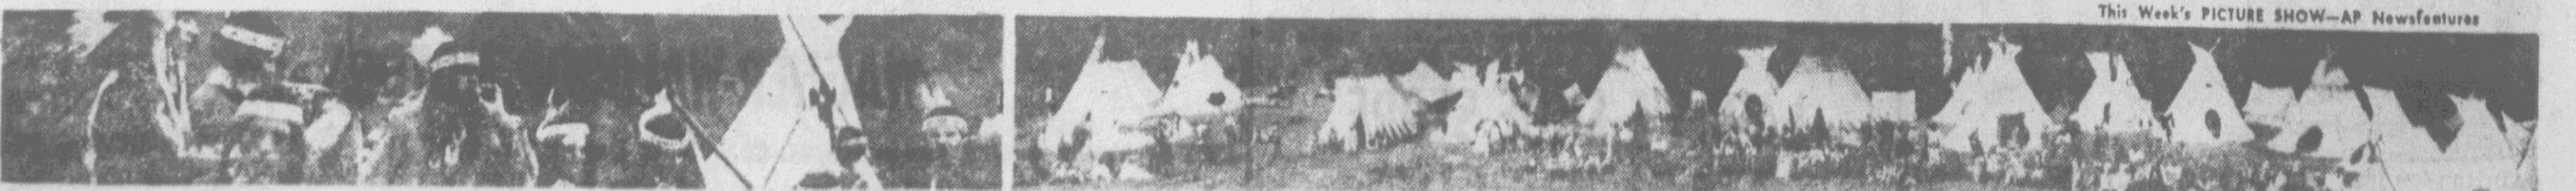

To the beat of tom-toms, German "rot hauts" stage a dance against a background of tepees "made in Germany."

Hoop dances of American southwest Indians are skillfully executed by these German redskins.

N.C. Girl Wins Top 4-H Honor

CHICAGO (AP) — A Pennsylvania youth and a North Carolina girl have been named the nation's outstanding 4-H Club members.

They are Rebecca Anne Parker, 19, of Benson, N. C., and Robert S. Barr, 18, of Fort Meade, Pa. They were given their awards — chests of sterling silverware awarded by the President of the United States — at a banquet Thursday night that brought the 39th annual National 4-H Club Congress to a close.

Barr and Miss Parker were chosen on the basis of over-all excellence in many phases of 4-H work. They were among national winners in the 4-H achievement program for which they received $400 college scholarships.

Miss Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Monroe Parker, is a sophomore at East Carolina College. She is a home economics major.

Her scholarship as a national achievement winner was her second in two years. Last year, she received a $400 award in the clothing project.

Besides her major project, clothing, she has won 149 4-H awards in various phases of club work. She has been a 4-H member for eight years.

Barr's chief interest in eight years of 4-H work has been dairy projects.

British Critical Of Treasury

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. Treasury was the target of British criticism today stemming from reports it intervened in the bid by the Ford Motor Co. of Detroit to buy complete control of its British subsidiary.

"This move forces Ford to choose between breaking its word to British shareholders and appearing unpatriotic in America and unhelpful to President Eisenhower," commented the Daily Mail.

On Nov. 4, Ford announced it would offer $20.50 a share for the outstanding 46.6 per cent of the stock of British Ford which it did not already hold. This would amount to about $300 million if accepted by all British stockholders.

On the strength of the Detroit bid, approved by the British government, the value of British Ford shares soared.

Reports spread that Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson had appealed to Henry Ford II to consider America's gold and dollar drain before going through with the deal and the shares fell sharply Thursday.

After the stock market closed, the British Treasury made it clear it would insist the deal be financed by dollars and said payment in shares or in sterling would not be acceptable.

Henry Ford II said in Detroit that he discussed the British purchase with Anderson in mid-November.

Diana Is Back; Will Avoid Early Errors

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Diana Dors is back for another swing in Hollywood, and this time she isn't staying.

Last time it was murder. She fell into a swimming pool, an ocean of sexpot publicity and two bad pictures. It was enough to curb any career.

But, the swinging Dors has rebounded and is back playing not in one, but two topflight movies since She's Danny Kaye's love interest in "On the Double" and plays Diana Dors in "Ladies' Man" with Jerry Lewis. The latter characterization is one she plays quite well.

So sanguine is her outlook that she and husband Richard Dawson are shopping for a house to buy they can settle here.

"I don't say I'll stay here forever," she said. "Forever is a long time. But my husband and I are planning to stay as long as we can for several reasons.

"Mainly it is for our son, who is 7 months old. I want him to grow up in America, where there is so much more opportunity. Here, a boy can be anything—a shopkeeper's son can be president.

"There isn't much opportunity in England. It's a closed shop, really. And England is not a very healthy place to raise children."

Such remarks aren't calculated to enthrall the folks back home, but Diana is prone to speak her mind. She had some rather pointed things to say about her Hollywood career No. 1.

"The publicity was terrible," she said. "It was run by a man who didn't know what he was doing. From the moment I stepped off the boat, I was compared to Marilyn Monroe. It was ridiculous; we're not the least bit alike."

She couldn't run away from the comparison, nor could she escape the films she was handed at RKO.

"Abysmal," she termed them. "I was expected to carry the whole load myself. They didn't give me any stars" (satin: George Gobel and Rod Steiger).

She left $250,000 richer, but with no artistic triumphs to her name. She noted wryly that RKO went out of business shortly afterward.

Suspect Heater Started A Fire

Light to moderate damage resulted to a dwelling at 1012 Fleming St. last night about 9 p.m. when a fire started in a second floor bedroom.

Firemen, called to the fire when Box 72 at Fleming Street School was turned in, said the fire apparently started from a gas heater. The blaze was quickly extinguished, fire officers said.

Fire units were also sent to the intersection of North Pitt and Church Sts. at 1:06 p.m. yesterday when a grass fire was reported there.

Firemen said no damage resulted from the fire, which was out when they arrived.

Fire Attributed Faulty Chimney

WINTERVILLE—About $100 in damages resulted from a fire caused by a defective chimney in a home here this morning, according to a report from volunteer fireman Paul Hunsucker.

The fire occurred about 7:30 a. m. in a home occupied by E.C. Daniel, Negro, within the city limits of Winterville. Owner of the house is Hoyt Hammond, Negro.

About eight volunteer firemen from the Winterville Fire Department answered the call. Lloyd Worthington is chief of the department.

Sen. Jackson Challenges GOP Vote Fraud Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, Democratic national chairman, today challenged the Republicans to submit to a Senate investigation their charges of vote frauds in the presidential election.

Republican Chairman Thurston B. Morton announced Thursday the formation of a national recount and fair elections committee to check unofficially "on every suspicious state."

Jackson told reporters the Senate Privileges and Elections subcommittee, created to handle election contests, has received not a single Republican request to investigate the election in any state.

This, he said, showed "their aim is not to prove their allegations" that fraud figured in the apparent election of Democrat John F. Kennedy as president.

Kennedy holds a slim popular vote edge over Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon but has an Electoral College margin of 300 to 223, with 14 unpledged

Electoral College votes. Jackson charged the GOP is raising the fraud charges in the hope of achieving "one of two things" and maybe both, which he listed as:

1. Through "dilatory court proceedings" to delay the certification of Electoral College votes from key states "so as to reduce the electoral vote for Kennedy below the constitutional majority" needed for election.

2. Cast a cloud on Kennedy's right to assume the presidency, with the hope of using this as campaign material in future years.

Morton said he himself will head the special Republican committee formed, he said, to expose to the public what he called "shocking irregularities and fraud in this election which constitute a national disgrace."

But he conceded under questioning that he has little hope of upsetting the Democratic victory.

NON-SWIMMING DIVER

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — In 25 years as a navy diver, Morris Hoffman, 71, recovered 450 bodies from ships and planes that went down at sea, most of them during World War II. But in all the 25 years, there was one thing that Hoffman didn't do. He never learned to swim, he observed in recalling his experiences.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices worked their way higher, with some difficulty, early this afternoon.

Gains were mostly fractional except for some more speculative issues spurring 2 or more points, and there were many losers spread through the list, too. Trading moved at a fairly fast rate.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up 0.60 to 214.30 with industrials up 1.30, rails up 0.20 and utilities up 0.20. At the same hour, Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was ahead 1.33 to 595.89.

Brokers cautiously noted that the market rallied Thursday from just above the 500 level with no visible business news to cause an upswing, thus indicating the recovery was largely technical.

Business news today only steepened the economic gloom, what with business inventories declin-

Henry J. Braxton Dies In Wilmington

Mr. Henry J. Braxton, 67, died at Cape Fear Hospital in Wilmington Friday morning at 7 a.m. following a heart attack. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mr. Braxton spent most of his life in the Winterville Community and had lived in Wilmington for the past two years. He was a member of Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Carrie Manning Braxton; two sons, Ronald G. Braxton of Newport News, Va. and Kenneth J. Braxton of Goldsboro; two daughters, Mrs. Lucy Furell of Iraq and Mrs. G. T. Davis of Wilmington; seven grandchildren; a brother, J. T. Braxton Sr. of Winterville; two sisters, Mrs. Mimi Tripp of the Tarboro Nursing Home and Mrs. Bessie Mills of Greenville.

ing for the fourth straight month in October and department store sales lower last week. Tax-loss selling again was frequently mentioned as an important background factor.

U.S. government bonds were higher while corporates were irregularly lower.

Examined 25 In Cancer Clinic

ROCKY MOUNT — Twenty-five persons, including some from Greenville and Williamston were examined in the Cancer Detection and Diagnostic Clinics Wednesday, conducted by physicians of Edgecombe and Nash Counties.

The 25 persons consisted of 23 white women, one colored woman and one colored man. Only three had been referred to the clinic by a physician.

Persons examined represented Rocky Mount and outlying areas including Edge City, Everetts, Whitakers, Spring Hope, Fremont and Behaven as well as Greenville and Williamston.

The clinics are held each Wednesday at the Rocky Mount City Health Department, 1616 W. Thomas St.

New Support For Industrial School

The Chamber of Commerce's Executive Committee last night endorsed the proposed industrial school for Pitt County.

The resolution will be sent to the County Commissioners who are expected to consider the building for the school at their meeting Monday.

BRITISH DRAGNET

LONDON (AP) — Police spread a dragnet over southern England today in a hunt for three bandits who ambushed a mail truck near busy Waterloo Station, and got away with 40 bags of Christmas letters and parcels. It was the fourth mail raid in three months. Some 20,000 pounds ($56,000) have been stolen.

VOLUNTEERS MEET

There will be a special meeting of the Greenville Volunteer Firemen tonight at 7:30 at Central Fire Station.

The short meeting will be held to discuss plans for the department's Christmas supper, and all members are urged to attend.

Belvoir-Falkland Club Plans Survey Fire Dept. Sentiment

FALKLAND — Members of the community Ruritan Club, serving the Belvoir-Falkland areas, voted last night to make a canvass of the two sections with the goal of establishing a community fire department.

Each club member will contact residents in his area as well as make a count of the dwellings and farm buildings in the section prior to the next meeting of the club.

Speaking before the group last night, Roy Hardee, Vice President of the Pitt Firemen's Association told the Ruritans "You have no fire protection for you or your community. However, you and only you the men here can provide the fire protection that is needed."

Hardee traced the growth and development of rural fire departments in Pitt and other counties, citing the work which is being rendered by these volunteer fire groups.

"Rural community fire departments are working all over Pitt County, and they were formed by men who saw the need and danger to their community. It will take a lot of hard work but it will pay off in property and lives saved," Hardee pointed out.

"In the past year we have seen new departments formed and placed in service at Station-House Stokes and Grimesland. These departments in a short period of time that they have been operating have already made a name for themselves. In the planning stages, are rural departments at Greenville, Pactolus, Grimesland, Simpson and Eastern Pines Community. One of the greatest gaps in the entire rural fire fighting plan in our county exists here in the Belvoir-Falkland area," Hardee said.

Citing a destructive community fire of several years ago, Hardee pointed out the possibility that a community truck might have prevented the destruction which that one fire dealt to the business section of the rural community. Several stores burned that night.

Several members cited occasions where a community truck could have made the difference in saving property which was reduced to ashes.

"The type of fire equipment which you get will depend on your needs, results of your survey and the amount of money which you think can be raised. No two areas are alike. What will work for one section will not work in another and the other way around. You know best what will work here. It has worked and is working elsewhere now it is up to you and the community," Hardee said in closing.

New Manager For Local Store

WALTER E. ALLEN

Walter E. Allen has been named manager of Merit Shoe Store in Greenville, Stanley W. Hege, district manager of Salisbury announced today.

Allen replaces Richard J. Stack, who has been promoted to the Phillips Highway Plaza store in Jacksonville, Fla. The new Jacksonville store is one of over 600 operated by Endicott Johnson Corp. of which Merit Shoe Co. is a subsidiary.

Allen began working with Merit Shoe Co. in Sept. 1956 in Goldsboro. He was transferred to Cliff Forge, Va. in Dec. 1958 as manager and was promoted to manager of the Greenville store Nov. 22, 1960.

Allen is a native of Goldsboro and is married to the former Marjorie Sasser of Goldsboro. They have one son, Andy Eugene, 4. The Allens reside at 122 S. Woodlawn Ave. They are Baptist.

Allen is a graduate of Rosewood High School and Crumpler's Secretarial School in Goldsboro. He is a member of the Jaycees.

At Least 24 Units Will Be In Ayden's Parade

AYDEN — At least 24 units will participate in Ayden's annual Christmas parade, which will take place Saturday at 3 p.m., sponsored by the Ayden Chamber of Commerce.

Eleven floats and several bands, as well as scouts and beauty queens, will be included in the parade. Santa Claus will make his visit to the town tomorrow, making his grand entrance aboard a fire truck.

Floyd Rowe of the Chamber of Commerce said only interests from civic, educational and religious institutions will enter in the parade, a policy followed by the committees here over the years.

Prizes ranging from $100 for first place, $50 for second place and $25 for third place will be given the best floats. Judges will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards of Farmville, Mr. and Mrs. Burney Tucker of Winterville and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nelson of Grifton.

Warren Kinlaw, general chairman of parade arrangements, announced the parade route as follows. The entries will formulate at the ball park behind Ayden High School and will proceed north on Lee Street through the business district to First Street. The procession will turn on First St. and continue to West Avenue, passing in front of the City Hall and continuing to Third Street. On Third Street, it will turn west to Venter's and will proceed to the ball park, the point of its beginning.

Santa's Goodies

One change in procedure of the parade this year will be that Santa will ride through town, then return to the middle of town near the Post Office, where he will stop and throw goodies to the children. Last year Santa threw the goodies as he rode through town, but in the interest of safety this policy was changed.

The actual parade lineup is as follows: police car; Grifton Band; Christian Church float, Brownies, Red Men and Pocahontas float, cub scouts, Ayden-Winterville Jr. Band, Free Will Baptist Church float, Girl Scouts, Methodist Youth Fellowship float, Charlotte Hawkins Brown Library float, Lions Club float, Jaycees and Jay-Cees float, homecoming queen, South Ayden Band, Rotary Club float, Moose Lodge float, South Ayden School float, Woman's Club float, homecoming queen, Ayden-Winterville Band, and Santa Claus.

Motorists have been requested not to park on Lee Street, from first to Fourth Streets, during Saturday afternoon. In case of rain, the parade will be postponed until Monday at the same time. A record turnout is expected.

Milton S. Moretz Funeral On Sunday

BETHEL — Milton S. Moretz, 28, died Thursday afternoon. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 1 p.m. from Meat Camp Baptist Church near Boone, N. C. Burial will follow in Montlawn Cemetery.

Mr. Moretz was born and reared in Watauga County, the son of Arlie and Alice Myers Moretz. He lived in Bethel 18 months ago, engaging in livestock farming. He was a member of Bethel Baptist Church.

Surviving are his parents of Boone; his wife, the former Evelyn Brant of Bethel, two sons, Thomas and Edward Earl Moretz; two daughters, Mary Alice and Lenora Ann Moretz of the home; one brother, Elmore Moretz of Miami, Fla.; two sisters, Miss Olive Moretz of Gastonia and Mrs. Bill McGooan of Rockingham; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. S. G. Moretz of Boone.

Fear Cannibals Ate Missionaries

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Two evangelical missionaries—one a Briton and the other New Zealander—were hacked to death by Baluba tribesmen in north Katanga last week, it was learned officially in Elisabethville today.

They are Elton George Behrent Knaus, 50, of New Plymouth, New Zealand, and Edmund Hodgson, 62, of Blackpool, England.

The missionaries are believed to have been the victims of cannibalism. U.N. soldiers searching found their disappearance have not found their bodies.

Elks Will Hold Memorial Rites

Greenville Elks Lodge will hold memorial services for departed lodge members Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Exalted Ruler W. H. Watson said the public is invited to the services which will be held in the lodge auditorium on West Sixth St.

Similar services will be held at Elks Lodges throughout the nation Sunday.

Red Oak Christian Announcements

The Red Oak Christian Men's Fellowship met Thursday night for a supper meeting at the home of S. C. Winchester. Co-host for the meeting was Thurston Wynne. Plans were announced for the joint CWF-CWP Christmas Banquet to be held at CIP Restaurant on December 10 at 7:30 p.m. Those attending should confirm their reservation with Claude Manning by December 4.

Jimmy Wynne, David Carraway and the Rev. Howard James will attend the State Youth Convention for the Christian Churches of North Carolina to be held at Raleigh today and tomorrow.

"Woman's Day" will be observed Sunday at morning worship with Mrs. Howard James, CWF president, presiding. Mrs. William Goin, General CWF Worship Chairman, will lead the responsive scripture lesson and the morning prayer.

A women's chorus will sing "No Room, Only A Manger of Hay" by Peterson with Brenda Thigpen as organist and Mrs. B. Leon Tyson as pianist.

Flowers will be provided by Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Tripp Sr. and Mrs. B. Leon Tyson.

Sunday, December 11 will be observed as Universal-Bible Sunday. The Sanctuary Choir will present a Christmas Cantata, "Night of Miracles" at the morning worship on December 18.

O.D. Griffin Addresses Safety Council

AT SAFETY COUNCIL MEET . . . Chairman Moore; Russell Rogerson, Driver Improvement Representative of the Driver Education and Accident Records Division, N. C. Department of Motor Vehicles; and Director Griffin, discuss operations of the division.

The Driver Education and Accident Records Division of the N. C. Department of Motor Vehicles "handles everything the other five divisions" of the department "do not handle," according to Ollis D. Griffin, director of the division who spoke to the Pitt County Safety Council yesterday.

According to Griffin, the main job of the division is the training of the state's school bus drivers.

He said that the division now has 34 men and two women who give instruction to the bus drivers, including 12 hours of classroom instruction and a minimum of six hours of road-work.

He pointed out that the over-8,500 state buses transport over 550,000 students to and from schools in the state each day, and emphasized that a bus driver charged with a traffic violation while driving a bus or his own vehicle is removed.

Other major sections of the division are the 35 driver improvement clinics operated to improve drivers who have violated the law, and the state's driver licensing organization, which for the past five years has received an award for being the "top driver licensing group" in the United States.

The division, according to Griffin, also maintains a large film library and approves auto equipment.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Bertha Swindell

SCOTLAND NECK — Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha Briley Swindell, 80, formerly of Scotland Neck, were conducted from the Scotland Neck Funeral Home here this week. Interment was in the Scotland Neck Cemetery.

Mrs. Swindell of the Albemarle Baptist Home died in a Winston-Salem hospital Tuesday night following several months of illness.

She was first married to Douglas White, now deceased.

Surviving are one son, Robert White of Harvey, D. C.; one brother, J. Harvey Briley; one sister, Mrs. E. B. Thomas of Kinston; two half-brothers; and three half-sisters; several grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Last Rites Saturday For Jimmie Spain

Mr. Jimmie Spain, 30, died enroute to North Carolina Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill Thursday afternoon from injuries received in an auto accident on November 23. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Saturday afternoon at 3:30 by his pastor, Rev. Rashie Kennedy, assisted by Rev. Guy Owens, pastor of Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist Church. Burial will be in Pine-wood Memorial Park.

Mr. Spain spent all his life in the Belvoir community and was graduated from the Belvoir School in 1949. He had been parts manager at Greenville Equipment Company for the past 12 years. He was a member of Grace Free Will Baptist Church, chairman of the official church board, a trustee, director of music, assistant Sunday school superintendent and director of Youth for Christ for Pitt County.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Annas McLawhorn Spain; two daughters, Linda Ann and Jimmie Sue Spain of the home; a sister, Mrs. Burwell H. Dixon of near Greenville; a half-brother, T. Roosevelt Spain of near Greenville; and two half-sisters, Mrs. J. T. May of Chioed and Mrs. Percolia Boyd of Black Jack.
