Weatherman Discloses Last Night Colder Here Than In Juneau, Alaska

By PATRICIA MOORE Reflector Staff Writer

It was colder in Greenville last night than it was in Juneau, Alaska. That's what the weatherman said. The low reading for Greenville, according to television station, WNCN, was 14 degrees. The Greenville Utilities Plant recorded a low of 17 degrees as of 8 o'clock this morning, Kent Glisson reported. In Juneau, Alaska, it was slightly warmer 28 degrees. The weather forecast indicates that locally the temperatures will be lower than those recorded during the early morning hours of today. Some relief from bitter cold may come during Wednesday. The cold snap was accompanied by snow flurries in this area throughout Monday afternoon and winds in gusts up to 35 miles per hour, Glisson said. However, the precipitation was not enough to be measured at the local utilities plant. The weather made driving conditions over Pitt County hazardous, with most of the bridges covered with snow last night, Lt. C. F. Kennerly of the Highway Patrol reported. By today, highway crews had cleared bridges and traffic was flowing freely. In spite of the hazards imposed by the snow and wind, very few accidents were reported in Pitt County. Monday's high temperature here reached 42 degrees, Glisson reported, with a low of 24 degrees. The Tar River level this morning was 3.6 feet. The barometer indicated fairer weather, reading 30.25

This morning, and rising. Temperatures Elsewhere Though it was cold in Pitt County, some parts of the country were colder. Albany and Pittsburgh reported low temperature readings of minus one degree. The weather in tropical Miami was a little warmer than in Greenville—45 degrees as a low—but the weatherman didn't recommend sun bathing today.

Ayden's Zoning Ordinance Voted

AYDEN—For the first time in the history of the town, Ayden has a zoning ordinance. It was officially adopted by the Town Board of Commissioners at their meeting last night. The zoning commission, set up last spring to study a map and zoning ordinance, had approved the program as outlined earlier. Those who served on the commission last night were named to serve as the Board of Adjustment.

Town Manager Cleveland Paylor said. Wilbur Ormond was named chairman and others serving on the board will be John Clark Noble, Eugene T. Smith, Joseph Ray and J. H. Whitaker. Tillman Chauncey, fire chief, was named to serve as building inspector. It will be his job to see that the terms of the ordinance are complied with, Paylor noted. In other business, the commissioners agreed to pay insurance on volunteer firemen who have been active with the department for 10 years, provided that they agree to serve an additional five years if health permits. Board members decided to release certain tax charge-offs for a period running from 1950 through 1960. These were taxes termed as uncollectible for various reasons. An ordinance which says that garbage must be placed in cans with tight fitting lids will be enforced, the board said, due to the recent cold spell which has apparently caused the appearance of a number of rats.

All Was Quiet During Snowfall

No activity was reported by the Greenville fire or police departments during the snow. Fire Chief George Gardner said no fires were reported, but cautioned home-owners to be extremely careful during the cold weather in the use of heaters and fires. He noted that during freezing weather, fire units cannot respond to a blaze as fast due to ice on the streets.

Local Merchants Appear Headed For Best December Sales

By HENRY HOWARD Reflector Staff Writer Greenville merchants appear headed for the best December sales figure on record, according to a Daily Reflector spot check over the weekend. The general consensus of merchants questioned in the survey as that business is booming in Greenville and booming to the tune of topping last year's record Christmas month sales figures. Local businesses indicated through the first 10 December shopping days more people seem to be buying more gifts of a high quality than ever before in December. That apparent fact, coupled with the 1960 calendar's donating more December shopping days—six during Christmas week—than a year ago, was the basis for local merchants' optimism. Rosy All 'round Merchants painting rosy sales pictures for December were not limited to any one category. Every type of business surveyed told the same story—"Sales are going very good." Department stores reported "very heavy" traffic inspecting and buying their wares. Each manager questioned pointed out customers are buying better quality gifts than ever before. Some said persons who last year bought socks or ties, for example, are buying such items as shirts or blouses this December. However, a large share of the apparent step-up in quality and quantity buying was attributed in a more selective wave of shoppers this Christmas. Selectivity A ladies ready-to-wear reported selectivity exhibited by shoppers is reaching an all time high. Customers, the store said, are considering the price of a particular item a secondary consideration. "The main thing is whether it's what they really are looking for," the manager said. The same store reported an upward trend in shoppers' looking for "the new-looking items." Combined with the new look, however, still goes the old theme of practicality. "People like to buy something that's new but still worth while," the store opined. Men's ready-to-wear businesses indicated more larger items are moving faster this season without any noticeable drop-off in the usual flow of the smaller item category. Reports said large volumes of suits, all-weather coats, sports coats, and so forth are becoming part of 1960's Christmas gift barrage. Moving with the larger units, however, are a flood of novelty and smaller practical gifts. Here, too, the "new look" has been in noticeable demand by this December's shoppers. Free Spending At least half the stores surveyed seemed inclined to believe this December's average shopper is less reluctant to turn loose his cash than ever before. Most would conservatively describe him as a "free spender." The major home appliance retailers seemed to believe there are more cash-on-the-spot sales than in any previous December. Though there is still a large volume of down payment sales on appliances, the long green is apparently a little more plentiful, on the average, this December. Main movers in the appliance line seemed to be washers, hi-fi and stereo sets, and television sets. Furniture businesses reported a boom and larger items moving well. Most said larger units appeared moving at a higher rate

Prison Escapee Confesses Pitt Robbery And Assault

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector City Editor Charges have been filed against an escaped life term, now back in Central Prison, in connection with the robbery of a St. Johns Store and the hammer assault on its operator Mrs. R. H. Smith, on Dec. 7. Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson identified the felon as Ralph Lee Betts, 37, of 110 Jones St., Apex. He said Betts is serving a life sentence for the rape of an 11-year-old Negro girl. He escaped from a Nash County Prison Department road crew on Dec. 2. Betts was apprehended Sunday morning near Angier by prison authorities. Pitt sheriff's deputy Ralph Tyson and SBI Agent Clyde Fentress went to Raleigh yesterday where they reported Betts admitted the Pitt County robbery and assault. Sheriff Tyson said two checks that were known to have come from the Smith store were found on Betts when he was taken into custody. When confronted with this evidence by the officers he admitted the Pitt County robbery, the sheriff said. Betts reportedly told the officers that he was without money and had to have some cash to purchase gas. Officers said he told them he didn't intend to kill the store operator. It was his intention to knock her out.

Mrs. Smith suffered a gash on the side of her head which took several stitches to close but she never was unconscious. The wound was inflicted by a hammer. The Smith store was robbed around 8:45 on the morning of Dec. 7. Mrs. Smith told investigating officers that a man came into the store and ordered some milk and something to eat. When she turned around the man struck her "four or five times" with a hammer, she reported to officers. The man took an estimated $200 in checks and cash and cut the telephone lines. Mrs. Smith's husband heard the screams and saw the car driving off. He chased the fleeing vehicle but was unable to catch the robber. Sheriff Tyson said Betts was driving a 1957 Ford which had been stolen in Raleigh. Law enforcement officers spotted the car and chased it in Angier Saturday. Betts escaped at that time, however. State Prison authorities took him in custody Sunday at the home of his wife's relatives in Angier. Betts and two other convicts escaped from a road crew Dec. 2 after overpowering a prison employe. The three convicts drove off in a prison truck from a road work site near Nashville. Betts had changed his appearance since he escaped by cutting his hair and bleaching it, according to the sheriff. He was convicted of raping the Negro girl in the woods near her home on Rt. 1, Varina, June 22, 1959. Sheriff Tyson said he had been assigned to the Pitt County Prison Camp while serving an earlier sentence. Thus he was familiar with the Pitt County area. The sheriff said investigators suspected that Betts might have been involved in the case from the description Mrs. Smith furnished. When it was learned that the car stolen in Raleigh was of the same description as that seen leaving the store, the suspicion was heightened. The Sheriff's Department discussed the possibility with the State Prison Department by telephone prior to Betts' apprehension. When the escapee was picked up, prison authorities called the Pitt sheriff's office for the interview which led to Betts' admitting the local crime. Betts will be tried on the local charges at a future term of Superior Court. He will also probably face escape charges brought by the Prison Department. District Solicitor R. D. Rouse Jr. had a word of praise for the various law enforcement agencies who cooperated in the case. "It appears that the law enforcement officials did an excellent job in the investigation," he declared.

Pitt Leaf Allotment Announced

Pitt County's 1961 flue-cured tobacco crop acreage will be 25,180.65 acres, according to Wayne L. Wang of the Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office. Wang announced the 1961 total allotment for Pitt after the office here received national and state allotment figures. North Carolina's share of the national total, Wang said, will be 471,246.58 acres. The national marketing quota for the 1961 crop has been set at 1,222,000,000 pounds. Converted to acreage, the allotment available for the nation in 1961 is 715,817 acres. Last year's allotment was slightly less at 715,110 acres. For most farms, according to Wang, the 1961 allotment will be the same as for 1960, since the small national increase will be used as a reserve for correcting errors, adjusting inequities, and establishing allotments for farms that have no flue-cured tobacco history during the past five years. As directed by present legislation, flue-cured tobacco prices for the 1961 crop will be supported at 90 percent of parity since marketing quotas will be in effect. In the last flue-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum, held December 15, 1958, quotas for the 1959, 1960, and 1961 crops were approved by 95.4 percent of the growers voting. The ASC office also announced that the discount variety program for flue-cured tobacco will be continued in 1961.

Five Orphanage Runaways Survive Sub-Freezing Night

CLAYTON, N.C. (AP) — Five children who ran away from an orphanage lived through sub-freezing temperatures overnight, huddled together in a briar thicket in a thickly wooded area near here. Kenneth Johnson, a volunteer among the force of about 1,500 persons who searched through the night, found the five shivering youngsters about 8:30 a.m. today about 100 yards of U.S. 70, about 2 1/2 miles east of Clayton in a 600-acre wooded area. They had been missing since Monday afternoon. They were rushed to Rex Hospital in Raleigh where they were reported in good condition. One of the children, 13-year-old Shirley Pearson, told a reporter they had run away from the Knights of Pythias home because they had been mistreated. "I don't see why they didn't freeze to death," said Johnson. Johnson added the youngsters were lying side by side in a sort of bottom where the wind would not hit them. He left another searcher, Jack Raines, with the tots while he went to spread word they had been found. The children were quickly bundled into a car and taken to Raleigh. Johnson said the youngsters had some funny papers and had tried to start a fire without success. They had removed their shoes, according to one, because "they felt like blocks of ice."

The orphanage is operated for children of broken homes. It is located about three-fourths of a mile from Clayton where the children attended school. Shirley Pearson told a reporter that a matron at the home had whipped her 11-year-old brother Jimmy and had struck him on the

Stove Explodes, None Injured In Grimesland Fire

GRIMESLAND—An oil heater exploded in a duplex apartment here at 4 a.m. today, forcing the occupants of the house to seek shelter elsewhere, while firemen battled the blaze in below-freezing temperatures. Assistant Fire Chief L. E. Tetterton reported that the heater exploded in the bedroom of a duplex occupied by Bob Dixon, his wife and three-months-old son. However, all three escaped without injury. Owner of the duplex, Mrs. Ida Elks, was forced to evacuate the apartment, which she occupied, due to water and smoke damage. The dwelling was located on Highway 264 about two blocks from the center of town. Damage from fire, smoke and water to the house and furniture was estimated at about $4,000. Furniture in the bedroom and kitchen of the Dixon apartment was completely consumed by fire, Tetterton said. There was water damage in the remaining part of their apartment. During the blaze, one fireman was temporarily overcome by smoke. Another fireman's glove became frozen to the hose nozzle which he was holding in his hand. The 15 firemen responding to fight the blaze, extinguished it by 4:20 a.m. in spite of the 13-degree weather. Coffee was served to the firemen by Mrs. Ernest Elks, Mrs. Joseph Bell and Mrs. Frank Buck. The Dixon family was reported taking refuge with Mrs. Ernest Elks in Grimesland, and Mrs. Elks was residing with her son, Leslie Elks.

Highway patrolmen assigned to special saturation patrols over the past weekend recorded 40 arrests, and stopped 220 cars and 12 pedestrians on the 47 miles of roads patrolled under the program. Cpl. J. T. Jenkins said one person was arrested every hour-and-a-half of the time the three officers spent on the special assignments. They traveled over 1,600 miles and reported three accidents, including two personal injury collisions and one fatality. Areas patrolled included a five-mile radius of Greenville on all highways; a 10-mile radius of Farmville on all roads, and a line patrol from the intersection of U.S. 264 and N.C. 11 south to Grifton on N.C. 11. Officers assigned to the areas were Ptl. J. B. Surles, Ptl. D. L. Minshew, and Ptl. W. E. Williams. According to Jenkins, the arrests included one drunken driver, one for reckless driving, five for speeding 65-75 miles per hour, one for following too closely and one for passing on a curve. Also recorded were 10 equipment violations, two for failure to yield the right of way, two for operating on the wrong side of the road, one for hit-and-run driving and four for having no operator's licenses. Six other non-hazardous moving violations were also reported. The three officers were assigned the special areas for their entire eight hour duty period Thursday through Sunday, in conjunction with the Patrol's "Close Out Sixty" safety campaign.

Western Europe Welcomes Rusk

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe today welcomed the choice of Dean Rusk as the new Kennedy administration's secretary of State. In Britain, some observers viewed his appointment as indicating President-elect John F. Kennedy intends to bring U. S. foreign policy more directly under the president's personal control. Rusk, together with his two principal aides—Adlai E. Stevenson and Chester Bowles — were hailed as a State Department team that could be counted on to pursue Western aims with dignity and resolution. The French newspaper Combat applauded Kennedy's choice of Rusk, Bowles and Stevenson as "heralding a new leadership in American foreign policy."

New Bookmobile Chassis Paid For

The chassis for the new bookmobile to be used by Negro children and adults of Pitt County was paid for yesterday, J.H. Rose reported today. Rose, chairman of the Sheppard Memorial Library Bookmobile Committee, said the chassis cost approximately $2,560. The business was transacted at a meeting of the Library Board. Earlier yesterday, a meeting was held with members of principals of the Negro schools throughout the county in the office of D. H. Conley, superintendent of county schools and member of county mobile committee. Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian, is the third committee member. It was disclosed that donations of $400 for the bookmobile, given by the City Commissioners of Farmville, and $300, given by the Monk family of Farmville, had been received. The new bookmobile will cost $8,400, of which $1,000 is already on hand, Rose said earlier. The total sum needed to buy the bookmobile was $7,400, before donations and collections were made. The need for a second bookmobile for Pitt County has been expressed by Miss Copeland, who said, "Pitt County is too large to be served by one bookmobile. A second one is necessary if we are to make books easily accessible to all our people; the approval of leaders throughout the county, including school principals, Mrs. Amelia S. Capehart, county Negro home economics agent, and

New Playground Items Ordered

Playground equipment to cost around $2,500 has been ordered for the new playground located between Englewood and Coghill on 14th St., according to a report by Recreation Director Gordon Goodman at the Recreation Commission meeting last night. Goodman explained the equipment would be delivered sometime around the first of the year and installed as weather permits. The commission voted several months ago to make the new recreation facility a model playground and Goodman said the equipment ordered for it was in line with their decision.

Mother-Daughter Dinner Meeting

The program for the banquet included the song "Mother," sung by Jeanette Barrow, Mary Jo Mills, Hilda Wagener and Sara Tucker, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Emily Harvey. Miss Joyce Mills, accompanied at the piano by Miss Connie Hardy, sang "Bless This House."
 Miss Alice Strawn, guest speaker was introduced by Miss Laura McDonald.
 Miss Strawn chose as her topic "The Wonderland of the Future."
 Miss Sandra Payne did a tap dance to the song "Winter Wonderland" and Linda Sue Elks and Barbara Barrow sang "Christmas."
 The program was concluded with all standing and singing together "White Christmas."
 Christmas decorations were used on the tables and piano. Christmas trees made of tin foil, wrapped Christmas packages and red ribbon were used.
 Approximately 65 members and guests were present for the occasion.

Speech Contest Winners Are Chosen

A junior and a freshman from Junius H. Rose High School were declared winners here last night in a public speaking contest sponsored by the Greenville Optimist Club.

Winning speeches in two categories — boys and girls — were delivered by Rose High Junior Richard Atkinson and freshman girl Pat Worsley.

Young Atkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Richard Atkinson of 1905 E. Third St., is a previous speech contest winner in the Optimist Oratorical Contest held last spring. He placed a close second in Optimist Zone Two competition.

The girls' category winner, Miss Worsley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Worsley of Rober-sonville. Mrs. Worsley is an English and journalism instructor at Rose High School.

The two winners were selected by Optimist judges from six entries — three boys and three girls. Atkinson and Miss Worsley were awarded medals while consolation awards went to the remaining four participants.

The four were Roger Hardee, Jim Eatman, Eileen Stell, and Nancy Tribble. All are students at Rose High. All student speakers used the same theme, "World Peace." They were judged on delivery and content. Last night's contest, organized and staged by Optimist Tom Money and Rose High instructor Bob Starling. It was open to all students enrolled at the local high school and served as a "warm up for our spring Oratorical Contest," according to Money.

Prior to the 30-minute contest, Optimist President Walter Whitehurst reminded the membership next Monday night will be the annual Optimist Ladies Night beginning at the Country Club at 6:45 p.m.

The membership voted to open an additional Christmas tree lot on Dickinson Ave. if an attendant could be obtained. The local Optimists' annual fund-raising project — the Christmas tree sale — is now underway at Elm St. Park. Proceeds finance the Optimist boys' work projects.

Methodist District Meet In Ayden Scheduled Friday

AYDEN — Delegates from 55 churches in the New Bern District of the Methodist Church will meet here Friday to hear midyear reports, license new persons to preach and promote the total program of the church.

Approximately 300 delegates from churches in the district are expected to attend the sessions, to be held at the Ayden Methodist Church with Rev. Louis A. Aiken as host pastor. The meeting begins at 9:30 and will conclude with lunch in the church about 1 p.m.

Rev. Marvin Vick, pastor of Queen Street Methodist Church in Kingston, will deliver the conference sermon on the quadrennial theme for all of Methodism for 1960-61—"Jesus Christ Is Lord."

Dr. A. J. Hobbs of New Bern, district superintendent, will preside at the meeting.

Speakers other than the Rev. Mr. Vick will be Rev. R. L. Nicks, superintendent of the Methodist Children's Home in Raleigh; Rev. J. F. Coble, superintendent of the Methodist Retirement Home in Durham; Rev. S. J. Starnes, editor of the "North Carolina Christian Advocate"; Rev. O. L. Hathaway, conference director of Church Extension; Dr. A. P. Brantley, conference director of Christian Higher Education; Roy L. Turnage, Jr., district lay reader; Dr. F. O. Hunt, director of the Methodist Foundation.

Lee Nance of Ayden is chairman of the committee for the district conference in the Ayden Methodist Church.

One of the principal events at the meeting will be election of district trustees.

From Greenville

Those expected to attend the district conference forum from Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church include Rev. H. M. McLamb, Mrs. Clara Shackell, Sam B. Underwood Jr., Wyatt Brown, Reynolds May, E. Hoover Taft Jr., Mrs. H. T. Patterson and Mrs. G. A. Douglas.

All Methodists are invited to attend.

First Aid-o-ree Winners Named

The Flying Eagle Patrol of Greenville Troop 205 took first place honors with a score of 93.1 per cent at a Pitt Scout District First Aid-O-ree here Saturday night.

Placing a close second was the Pioneer Patrol, also of Troop 205, with a score of 92.1 per cent. Third went to the Iroquois Patrol of Troop 25, Farmville, on the strength of a 90.75 score.

Participating in the First Aid-O-ree were Troop 25, Troop 205, and Troop 340 from Greenville.

Honorable mention included Troop 25's Rebel Patrol, Troop 205's Panther Patrol, and Troop 340's Bear Patrol.

Judges for the competition were members of the Greenville Rescue Squad, Dr. Herbert Hadley, Pitt District Health and Safety Chairman, produced the program.

Carols Of Many Lands Will Make Up Program At College

Carols of many lands will make up the program to be presented tonight at 8:15 in Music Hall at East Carolina College by the College Singers. The program, an annual event of the Christmas season on the campus, is open to the public.

Dan E. Vornholt of the college faculty will direct the College Singers, a group of ten students chosen for their musicianship and their excellence as vocalists. A string quartet of students and faculty members in the department of music will provide accompaniment for the program.

Carols from England, France, Venezuela, Porto Rico, Germany, Scotland, and the Kentucky mountains will be among those presented during the evening.

Patricia Roberts of Farmville will appear as soprano soloist in the selection "O Night, Peaceful and Blest." The string quartet will present Glazunov's "Carolers" as an instrumental interlude. Group singing by the College Singers and the audience will close the program.

Members of the College Singers are: sopranos—Betty Lane Evans of Greenville, Miss Roberts; Marie Sutton of Winston; tenors—Edward Carraway of Newport; Jerry H. Prescott of Rt. 1, New Bern; alto—Elizabeth Adcock of Rt. 2, Rowland; Martha Sue Davie of Clayton; Dorothy Flynn of Richmond, Va.; and basses—Peter Johl of Grotton, Conn.; and Ronald J. Knouse of Winston-Salem.

Members of the string quartet are Donald H. Hayes, first violin, and Roy Benet, viola, both of the college department of music; Lyle Wilcox, second violin, graduate assistant of the music department; and Eleanor Timmons, cello, of College Park, Ga. Olive Herring of Rt. 1, Dunn, will act as piano accompanist for the College Singers.

The name of Bedloe's Island, site of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor, was changed to Liberty Island in 1956.

Public Housing Appears In Order

Further progress on redevelopment plans in Greenville's tentative Urban Renewal Program now apparently hinges upon the availability of adequate housing for people who would have to move from the area to be re-developed.

It appears evident that if standard housing is to be provided for many of the people now living in the area included in the tentative redevelopment plans, a public housing program for the city is the only logical answer. So far there has been no indication from private investors that a sufficient number of new houses can be provided on an economically sound basis to meet the needs of these people.

The city's Planning and Zoning Commission has given its approval to a proposed public housing project, and the Redevelopment Commission late last week asked the City to establish a public housing authority. The next move will be up to the City Council.

While Greenville has not gone into a public housing program, some 20 cities of North Carolina already have such programs; half of them without urban renewal projects. A number of cities in Eastern North Carolina have had public housing projects for a number of years. Included in this group is Rocky Mount, Kinston, Goldsboro, New Bern and Kinston. In each of these neighboring communities public housing has been available for several years without an apparent adverse effect upon private investors who also rent homes.

Even if Greenville were not working on an urban renewal program, it might prove advantageous for it to consider a public housing project as some of its neighboring communities have done. In view of the fact that Greenville is now in the process of working out an urban renewal program, the need for public housing becomes two-fold.

The redevelopment group has indicated that some 200 units of public housing is needed to provide for families which would be removed from the area of Greenville now included in the re-development plan. Based on preliminary 1960 census figures, this number of public housing units would represent about three per cent of the total number of dwelling units now in Greenville. Such a figure does not seem high enough to assume that a public housing project of that size would throw out of kilter the balance of supply and demand for private rental housing in Greenville. Particularly is this true in view of the fact that some 300 families are now living in dwellings within the area for which re-development is proposed.

Even if the public housing project becomes a reality, there would still be the need for some 100 other dwelling units that would have to be met by private investors. Then too, one cannot overlook the tremendous advantages which the city would receive by providing with standard housing a large number of families who now live in substandard dwellings.

The circumstances, it seems to us, justifies the City Council's careful consideration of the proposal that it establish a public housing authority. Experience of neighboring cities in this section of the state has indicated that public housing provides an acceptable answer to problems such as those Greenville now faces.

Early Caucus Could Set Good Precedent

The legislative caucus that appears in the making for January 4 may set a precedent that will be of value to future sessions of North Carolina's General Assembly.

If the caucus is held as anticipated—and we hope it will be—the House can take care of its own organizational procedures and be ready to get down to work immediately after the legislature officially convenes February 8.

Since the convening date of the General Assembly was changed from early February, there have been a number of suggestions that the House, particularly, use the intervening period to get itself organized. The special caucus now proposed appears an answer to the problem without the necessity of calling a special session of the body. If the Speaker of the House is designated at a January caucus, he can use the period between then and the convening date of the legislature to name his committees and have them ready to go to work when the legislature officially convenes. It should put legislative business off to a faster start, and perhaps may serve to cut down the length of the session.

The inauguration of a new governor this year is a key to the special caucus since it is assumed that most of the legislators will be in Raleigh anyway for the occasion. Even in "off years" when there is no governor to be inaugurated the special caucus should have advantages.

In 1961 we hope the legislators and the people of the state have an opportunity to evaluate the benefits that might be gained from completing the organization of the legislature prior to the designated convening date.

Weaknesses In United Nations

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (AP) — The Congo crisis has uncovered two dangerous weaknesses in the United Nations. If not corrected soon, they can render the world organization powerless to deal with this crisis or any other.

One weakness is financial. The other is a matter of prestige. Both arise out of the efforts of the United Nations to restore order in the turbulent, former Belgian territory.

Officials in Washington are not sure which situation offers the most serious threat. They are deeply worried about both.

Gift To The Very Young

Television's gift to the very young of today was Hollywood's gift to perhaps their parents...

I know our own youngsters were wholly entranced; just as, I'm sure, were a multitude of others watching Sunday evening's TV fare.

To me, Hollywood's "Wizard of Oz" marked a high point in the movie city's sometimes spectacular role in the field of entertainment.

The story never did impress me as a classic; falling far short of Little Red Riding Hood or Jack and the Beanstalk. But from it Hollywood created something that will never grow old (never, that is, until the film becomes hopelessly scratched, spliced and cracked).

Someday there'll come on the scene a producer to film another Wizard of Oz. But his imaginative thinking will be circumscribed by the original, he won't be able to match the cast that filled the roles of Dorothy, the Scarecrow, Cowardly Lion, the Wizard or Witch.

The occasional bit of ideal casting, such as Lionel Barrymore in The Christmas Carol, Charles Laughton in Mutiny on the Bounty, Humphrey Bogart in The African Queen, Clark Gable in Gone With the Wind...

During the first 10 months of 1960 these same people went to the polls and approved providing for the schools what ordinary school construction bonds had ever before in their history.

By Nov. 1 the total ran to an all-time high of $1.2 billion, or $268 million more than for the same period last year. On Nov. 8 the voters approved at least another $361 million in construction bonds.

Other issues are still pending, but supposing the rate of approval holds true, the total for the nation for the year will come to more than $1.5 billion.

One of the measures of this continuing interest is the steady decline in the number of one-room schools, long regarded as one of the most wasteful uses of school funds.

Since 1947-48 the number of these inefficient "one-rooms" has dropped steadily from nearly 75,000 to less than 20,000.

It is still arguable, we suppose, that this is not enough, but at one stroke it pretty well disposes of any contention that the American people do not want better schools well enough to pay for them.

In one election after another they have given their answer.

People Give Their Answer (The Charleston W.Va. Daily Mail) By one account the American

Diary food stocks rose on the New York Stock Exchange while almost all other groups were dropping one day, recently. While this reflected the American public's general concern with overweight, it resulted more exactly from the new wave of interest in calorie-metered foods.

These are cans, bottles or packages of liquid or powdered food advertised as being filling, balanced fare providing about 900 calories a day.

These measured-calorie foods are creating more excitement than anything since the chobrophy flap a few years ago.

EVERYBODY IN ACT The number of brands are difficult to count. As of Dec 1, Advertising Age reported nearly 60 different branded preparations in 12 cities. By this time there may be 100 different kinds across the country; some guessers say the number is nearer 200.

such casting is infrequent enough; but our "Wizard" had a full house of them. It's nice to think they'll be around for a long time to come.

My funnybone reacted on seeing a car with a Goldsboro city tag flanked by two bumper stickers reading "You Get More In Greenville."

How's your funnybone these days? One of the pleasanter aspects of the Yuletide is that it is also the season of greetings. Old friends and members of the family unseen for over a period of perhaps many years, are called to mind on a seasonal basis.

There may have been no communication since the preceding Christmas, but for once each year the tide of memories runs full.

We always remember those faraway people as they were when they were close. The passage of months and years do not alter their image, and for a very little while there's a mighty compulsion to write "a real letter" recapturing the spirit of yesteryears.

Sometimes there is a follow-through, but more often than not that resolve falters on contemplating the gap of time and space that has grown since the last parting.

Still, we treasure those Yuletide remembrances and look forward to sending and receiving them when Christmas Day looms large on the horizon.

Opinions In Brief "The most revolutionary advance in cars would be one that went around the block while you dashed in to pay the gas bill."

"What makes mother gray: After spending several hours cooking a nutritious meal, eight-year-old says 'Why don't we have hamburgers?'"

"The underprivileged nowadays are those who have football seats behind the goal posts."

"The hand that swung the rainbows into the heavens and painted the lily and the rose and gilded the morning and kissed the meadow into spring can straighten out your crooked life."

U. S. LISTS INVENTIONS READY FOR MANUFACTURE Anyone seeking new products to manufacture may benefit by asking the Small Business Administration, Washington 25, D. C., for a free copy of the latest Products List Circular.

Among inventions available for manufacture are a disposable toothbrush, a bobber-gun that opens the pins easily, a toy whale that swims and a submarine that dives.

BUT IT WAS FUN WHILE IT LASTED Victor Carter, president of Republic Corp., reported to shareholders that he had cut management expenses from $700,000 to $400,000 a year "largely by relieving relatives of former management of imagined responsibilities."

Diary Food Business Going Up campaigns also comparable to the drive for chlorophyll products. Advertising budgets, Advertising Age estimates, will be at a rate exceeding $20,000,000 annually by the end of the year.

There are both national brands, local brands and private brands. With the last, any merchant can have his own on his shelves. At least one discount chain has its own brand.

One such product was introduced as long ago as 1956, but one of the prewar kiddies' drinks appears to involve the same ingredients. However, early products created no sensations, and it was not until recently that massive advertising zoomed the first of the new mixtures and brought the many imitators into the field.

The business is growing so fast that John C. York of the Eastern Milk Producers Co. operative is demanding higher prices for milk used in the preparations, which he called "simply trumped up skim

Critic And A Feud?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It seems that a good, old-fashioned fight has developed between Pierre Salinger, President-elect Kennedy's press agent, and Bill Loeb, the rambunctious publisher of the "Manchester (N. H.) Union Leader." Salinger, who managed the publicity for Senator Kennedy's campaign, was liked by Loeb's methods of presenting the news. Loeb is a very old hand at this sort of thing, coming by it since childhood.

His father was Theodore Roosevelt's secretary and quite a man with the press. Bill has been in the newspaper business all his life and is not a spoiled personality. He prefers a fight and finds one with friend or foe with the greatest of ease. Loeb's attitude toward the press is wholly unorthodox. He believes in what the schools of journalism call personal journalism, the king practiced in the old days by Horace Greeley, Charles Dana, William Randolph Hearst, Joseph Pulitzer, James Gordon Bennett and other such very aggressive, impudent and, at times, imprudent men. Loeb uses the editorials of his newspapers to lead public opinion. In fact, the editorial in Great Britain is still called a "leader" because it is intended to lead.

A public official should quarrel with criticism. As journalism is developing in the United States, libel lawyers, governmental press agents, office-holders and similar impediments exercise a censorship which would be intolerable were it not that it cannot altogether be helped.

Take, for instance, libel. It used to be that a jury gave a plaintiff one cent damages and told him to go to the devil. Today, a libel suit over nothing brings enormous damages. Most persons declared to be libeled cannot be libeled because of the nature of their activities. They should be exposed to the public view for what they are. And it is the purpose of the press to expose them. But along comes a jury, often consisting of 12 more or less incompetent men or women, who would not know a libel if they saw one. Unless the press is free to tell the truth, it has no greater value than a comic strip.

We suffer, in this country, from under-exposure of great evils. This has been true since the Roosevelt Administration. The principal value of the Congressional committee has been that it gave legitimacy to much material that could otherwise not be exposed to the American people without devastating risk.

The word, Communist, for instance, has become sacrosanct. Under various court decisions a man may be designated as a Republican, Democrat, Jew, Protestant, Catholic, or most anything else, but he may not be referred to as a Communist unless he publicly admits the designation.

Ignorant persons ask: "Do you mean that he is a card-carrying Communist?" What does the phrase, card-carrying, mean? Who carries cards? I have most of my life been a Republican but do I carry a card? Where would I get one? The Communist Party does not issue cards to please those who want to see them. But when a man delivers speeches of a Communist nature, attends Communist meetings, holds office in Communist organizations, is held in exalted esteem by the Communist Party, he is a Communist no matter what an ill-informed judge says about it.

Is Khrushchev a card-carrying Communist? Will wagers that he carries no card. But make no mistake, he is the international head of the party, card or no card.

What is required is not less criticism but more of it. John Kennedy is a young man who has never been a stuffed shirt. He will need friends in the press and he will have them if he deserves them. Active, alive newspapermen are, however, resentful of the efforts of governmental officials and courts to deprive the American people of the essential news and of just exposure and criticism. It is now a battle of ingenuity in writing copy which can get by hair-splitting lawyers and those who fear the dire financial consequences of suits. A $500,000 libel suit is an absurdity. # Nixon Thinks Kennedy Is Robbing GOP Of 'Thunder'

By JACK BELL
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon fears President-elect John F. Kennedy is robbing Republicans of some of their thunder by veering to the middle of the political road.

Nixon bases this view on appointments to the Cabinet and other posts his successful presidential rival already has announced—and some that still are in the speculative stage.

It is no secret that Nixon feels Kennedy names Douglas Dillon, now undersecretary of state, as secretary of the Treasury and Dillon accepts, the action will make it more difficult to build Republican opposition to the new Democratic administration.

This would put a Republican of moderate views at the helm of a department concerned with management of the nation's fiscal affairs. Dillon would be in a position to put a brake on the kind of big spending Nixon forecast in the campaign would be the hallmark of a Kennedy administration.

Republican political philosophy has always been geared to claims of fiscal responsibility. If Kennedy makes this a keynote of his administration—as he has pledged to do—the Republicans are going to have to look elsewhere for ammunition to use against him in 1964.

Nixon and Dillon talked by telephone before the latter went off to Paris to sign the charter of the new 20-nation Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. While Nixon avoided advising Dillon, other Republicans have made it clear to the undersecretary they don't think he ought to become the first GOP member of the Kennedy Cabinet.

There is admiration in the Republican camp for the political finesse Kennedy has displayed in other appointments.

His choice of Dean Rusk as secretary of state has given the Republicans little to complain about. At the same time, Kennedy moved out of the direct line of their fire three favorite GOP political targets.

He did this by naming Adlai E. Stevenson as ambassador to the United Nations, Rep. Chester Bowles as undersecretary of state and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan as assistant secretary for African affairs.

In his U. N. post Stevenson is not likely to be the object of the kind of attacks he would have faced as secretary of state.

Republicans blamed Bowles primarily for what most of them described as the radical Democratic platform. But there isn't much political pay-off in attacking an undersecretary. Particularly if his boss seems to be doing a good job.

The same sort of political reasoning holds for Williams.

Republicans say that by appointing some of the outstanding Democratic liberals in this manner to less than top level jobs, Kennedy is trying to pre-empt the middle of the road.

They hope Dillon won't crowd it further by joining the Kennedy band. They already have the word of Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. that he won't go over to the opposition if he is asked to remain at the Pentagon.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman, said that as far as he knows nobody is putting any pressure on either Dillon or Gates.

He said he had talked by telephone with Dillon last week but only to tell him he would like to help smooth the way to confirmation if Dillon is offered and accepts the Treasury post.

High Court Decision Fails Deter Louisiana's Solons

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans school integration battle seemed no closer to solution today, despite U. S. Supreme Court action in smashing the state's legal barriers to integration.

The State Legislature in Baton Rouge plowed ahead in its fourth attempt to remove the Orleans Parish School Board for accepting federal court orders for token school integration.

Legislators called the high court ruling asinine and ridiculous.

The white boycott held firm at Frantz and McDonogh No. 19, the two schools integrated Nov. 14. School officials said they doubted if more than eight pupils would attend Frantz in the near future.

One Negro girl is in the first grade at Frantz. Three Negro girls in the first grade remain the only pupils attending McDonogh.

Although the boycott continued to work at the two schools, external evidences of it continued to decline. Only a handful of women huddled in a yard across from the school to watch U. S. deputy marshals escort the eight white and one Negro students to Frantz. This was the same number that attended Friday but was considerably below the 23 who went last Tuesday before segregationists stepped up their behind-the-scenes pressure campaign.

Supt. James F. Redmond said he did not expect an attendance increase at Frantz in the near future.

"There are about as many white students in William Frantz School as we're going to see in there for a while," he said.

The embattled five-man school board elected Louis G. Riecke Sr. as president for the next year. Riecke pledged to follow the moderate policies of his predecessor, Lloyd J. Rittiner.

In Washington, the nine Supreme Court judges ruled unanimously against Louisiana's appeal for a stay of a three-court federal court decision Nov. 30 that struck down the state's anti-integration legal arsenal and refused to suspend integration.

Although the court ruling was not directly on the three-judge court's actions, it in effect affirmed them.

Specifically, the judges blasted interposition, a theory under which the state claimed to place itself between the federal court and the people of Louisiana to prevent school integration.

In a four-paragraph unsigned opinion, the judges agreed with the lower court that interposition is unconstitutional and, "if taken seriously, it is an illegal defiance of constitutional authority."

The school board said it would ask a court hearing on the three-judge ruling itself.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and House Speaker Tom Jewell refused to comment on the ruling. But Rep. Jasper Smith of Caddo Parish in strongly segregationist northern Louisiana said the decision was "ridiculous, stupid and asinine as usual."

A key administration leader, Frank Voecker Jr., chairman of the State Sovereignty Commission, said of the ruling: "Our interposition was not addressed to the Supreme Court, and it was even presumptuous for the court to pass on it."

only to tell him he would like to help smooth the way to confirmation if Dillon is offered and accepts the Treasury post.

Held Drive For Food And Toys

East Carolina College's Sigma Nu fraternity last week turned up at the Pitt County Welfare Department offices with a supply of canned foods and toys.

In a drive headed by Tommy Calhoun of Greenville, Eminent Commander of the local college's Sigma Nu, some 45 brothers and pledges canvassed Greenville homes for food and monetary donations.

Following the house to house canvass, the students gathered all the fruits of their drive together and delivered the parcel of Christmas-for-needy-families to local welfare officials at the Johnston St. office.

The local public welfare agency serves as a coordinating medium to spread Christmas to needy county families. Under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Avery, the welfare department furnishes names of the needy families or, in cases like the Sigma Nu drive, delivers food and toys to deserving families.

Honor Forgotten For Ten Years

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—On March 26, 1950, Charles M. Saunders, then a sergeant first class in an Army medical company, suffered frostbitten hands and feet as he descended a steep mountain slope in Colorado to rescue a person injured in an auto crash.

Now an Air Force captain, Saunders was presented the Army commendation ribbon Monday in ceremonies at Brooks Air Force Base here in recognition for the Colorado rescue.

The Army apparently planned the decoration in 1950 but misplaced its papers for 10 years.

Schlesinger Attempts Separation Of History And Partisan Politics

By NORMA GAUHN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I try to keep my two selves separate," says historian-political partisan Arthur Schlesinger Jr. And in his work as one of the nation's noted contemporary historians, he preserves an academic impartiality on men and issues. But in conversation and any time he squeezes from a four-hour working day, he lets his political leanings show. Schlesinger, an egg-headed, bow-tie-wearing, 43-year-old, played a prominent part on the campaign staff of Adlai Stevenson in 1952 and 1956. And, as a personal friend and fellow Harvard man of John F. Kennedy, he devoted his talents to the president-elect in the recent campaign. "I've been working too hard on my real job," he smiles. Schlesinger's real job is his monumental history of "The Age of Roosevelt," a project conceived 13 years ago and originally planned for four volumes. The third hefty book, "The Politics of Upheaval," has just been published, its 749 pages covering only two years, 1935 and 1936. "I took six months off (from teaching history at Harvard; to finish it up," says Schlesinger. "And I left a lot out. I hate to say how many books are still to come. His next work in the Roosevelt history will cover only foreign policy from 1933 to 1937. Gazing into the past to predict the future, Schlesinger talks of "a rhythm in political affairs. A decade of no interest in public policies is followed by one of intense activity."

"People are exhausted by crises," he explains. "After a period of little concern for or by government, we had the progressive period of Teddy Roosevelt in the early 1900s. "World War I left people weary; idealism disappeared during the 20s. Then came another period of drastic change under the New Deal in the 30s." Again, he says, the 50s brought a period of rest and recuperation from the wartime upheaval of the 40s — a time in which problems have accumulated which now demand solution. He sees the 60s as the era when the nation must face up to two tough facts: "The decline in our relative power and world influence and our failure to provide for the immense population increase."

HISTORIAN SCHLESINGER
Rhythm of Politics

matic; his test of policy was not whether it conformed but what result it produced." And the capacity to try new things, Schlesinger says—speaking as both historian and political worker—is the essence of successful democracy. "History changes and our institutions must change too," he says. "We can't have the status quo and maintain our freedom."

Invents 'Musical Mix' Instrument

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP) — Ever heard a flute playing bass notes or a bull fiddle twittering like a canary bird? You'll hear those and a lot of other sounds if a new instrument called the mixture - trautonium catches on. It has been developed by Oskar Sala, who has experimented with electronic music for decades.

Remi Gassmann, an American composer, says it can produce just about any sound imaginable. He wrote the first full scale work for the new monster—a 20-minute ballet called "Faenax."

Gassmann originally from St. Mary's Kan., and now of New York is best known for the music to the ballet "Billy Sunday," done for the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

He and Sala were students at Berlin's Hochschule fuer Musik (College of Music) in the 1930s. The mixture - trautonium looks like a cross between a church organ and the controls of a fully automatic factory for making pop bottles. Two violin strings are stretched where the ivory keys would be. They can be played with the fingers, or with a set of movable rubber guides.

Above them are rows of knobs and switches, and below a set of pedals. These control the electronic circuits.

The results come out of a loudspeaker.

All the sounds are produced electronically. Gassmann has used no regular instruments for his ballet. Nor has he recorded natural sounds and speeded them up or slowed them down, like the composers of what is called "concrete music."

He doesn't need such things. "Why," he says, "with this instrument you can have whole gissandos of chordal kettle drums."

A kettle drum produces only one note at a time. It has to be returned before you can get a second note. To play a chord gissando — 20 or 30 notes in quick succession — you would need a whole stage full of kettle drums. You would also have to be about 20 feet tall and adept at roller skating.

But, Gassmann asks, why bother? With the mixture-trautonium the composer not only makes up his own tunes and harmonies, he can invent timbres and resonances never produced by mere wood or metal. He need no longer be a slave to violins and trombones, let alone kettle drums.

The possibilities — enough to drive any composer wild, Gassmann says — are multiplied by the use of the tape recorder. A tape with music on it can be overlaid with more music, as many as 10 or 11 times. The only limits are the tape and the human ear.

The instrument can produce a range of sounds at frequencies too high for humans to detect, the kind used in "silent" dog whistles. Dogs can hear some of them.

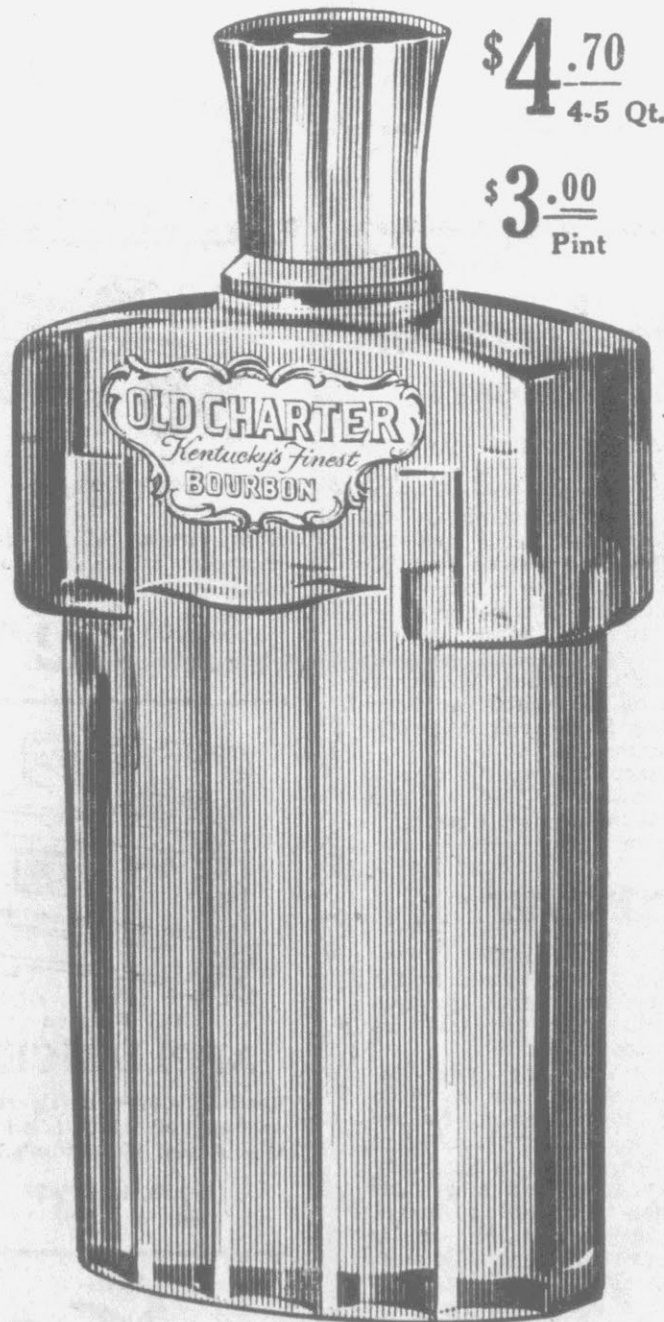

Sala already has used the mixture-trautonium in movies. It is a sound effects machine that can play the entire musical accompaniment, too.

Demonstrating his gadget, he started with an imitation of a steam locomotive gathering speed.

Almost imperceptibly, the noise became musical and melted into a march. Then it turned back into the rhythmic puff-puff of the engine.

Gassmann tries not to think of what will happen when the musicians' union in the United States hears about the instrument. One mixture-trautonium could throw out of work dozens of musicians, arrangers and sound-effects men. The danger is not quite imminent. It took Sala 2½ years to make the first one at a cost of $7,160.

Duke Sparkles In 107-79 Win From Gamecocks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Coach Bones McKinney of Wake Forest feels Duke is the team to beat in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball chase, and the Blue Devils made his words more potent with a 107-79 win over South Carolina.

The victory Monday night was unbeaten Duke's first in the ACC, and also was South Carolina's initial conference loss. Over - all Duke is 4-0 and South Carolina 2-2. Clemson lost a non-conference game Monday night, falling 74-57 to Florida State.

McKinney said he had felt North Carolina was the team to beat, but after watching Duke play two games in Charlotte last weekend, he said "I'll have to give the Blue Devils the nod."

Purdue, Indiana Become Threats To Ohio State

By JOHN CHANDLER Purdue and Indiana, the two teams figured to give National collegiate basketball champion Ohio State a run for the money in the Big Ten Conference chase, were looking up in the world today after important victories.

after beating South Dakota State, Utah State and Indiana. Purdue connected with 50 per cent of its field goal tries and led by as many as 22 points.

Purdue, beaten by Pitt and Penn State before overpowering Ball State, lowered the boom on previously unbeaten Detroit, 83-64. Indiana rallied from a 35-32 deficit at halftime to defeat Missouri, one of four teams who beat the Hoosiers last season, 66-55.

Walt Bellamy scored 20 points for Indiana, and had 21 rebounds. Joe Scott led Missouri with 19 points, 13 coming in the first half. Indiana's Ernie Wilhoit put the brakes on Scott in the last half.

Terry Dischinger, who played on the victorious U. S. Olympic team at Rome, led the chase against the Detroit Titans with 31 points. The Titans rated a No. 3 spot in the first weekly Associated Press nationwide poll.

St. Bonaventure, the country's No. 6 team, made it 5-0 by smashing Xavier of Ohio 85-75, after leading at halftime 46-29. Sophomore Fred Crawford got 26 points for the Bonnies, with teammate Tom Stith scoring 25.

Northern Michigan made a scrap of it in the first half after winning four in a row, but Bradley was too tough. Bradley's Chet Walker scored 28 points, Tim Robinson had 25, and Al Saunders 23. Steve Thomas got 21 points.

Georgia Tech, winner of three straight, finally was beaten as the University of Louisville opened the Bluegrass invitational tournament with a 74-65 victory. Louisville ran up a 41-22 halftime advantage and won its sixth straight without a loss as Bud Olsen scored 23 points, and John Turner got 21. Roger Kaiser, high-scoring Tech guard, never got a field goal until the second half and wound up with 18 points.

Louisville meets Western Kentucky, 86-72 winner over Utah State, in the Bluegrass finals tonight. Louisville is rated No. 9 in the first AP poll. Western Kentucky made it 5-0, with Bobby Rascoe scoring 22 points, Charles Osborne 20, and Bobby Jackson 19. Cornell Green tallied 20 for Utah State.

St. Bonaventure, the country's No. 6 team, made it 5-0 by smashing Xavier of Ohio 85-75, after leading at halftime 46-29. Sophomore Fred Crawford got 26 points for the Bonnies, with teammate Tom Stith scoring 25.

Southwest Conference teams, with a bleak record against inter-sectional rivals, again got clipped. Louisiana State beat Texas, defending Southwest champions, 62-59. Brigham Young beat Texas Christian 74-66, and Tulane went into overtime to defeat Rice 84-83. Texas Tech saved the night by beating New Orleans Loyola 78-74.

Colorado ran its string to 5-0 by defeating touring Illinois 90-81, and Duquesne—winner of its first four games, was stopped in overtime by Bowling Green of Ohio, 68-65. Vanderbilt made it four straight without loss by rallying in the last half to down Alabama 77-61.

Duke remained unbeaten in four starts by trouncing South Carolina 107-79 in an Atlantic Conference game, and Florida State defeated Clemson 74-57. Kansas State defeated New Mexico 81-64.

The new teams will select 28 players each from a pool made available by the existing eight teams. Until they make those selections, no American League team will know exactly what players it has to work with, obviously handicapping any trading.

It was for that reason, a league spokesman said, that the loop asked for the trading deadline extension.

The list of 120 major league players available for draft by the two new teams has not been announced officially. The players selected for the two teams will not be announced until the draft is complete.

... But we are a lot nearer to being ready for the supreme test against North Carolina. ... Winless Virginia (0-3) takes on Virginia Military of the Southern Conference in tonight's only other game.

Terrific shooting paced Duke to its easy win over the Gamecocks. Coach Vic Bubas' crew opened the count to 13-1 and was never headed. Duke hit on 59.9 per cent of its shots.

Sophomore Art Heyman again led Duke's scorers, counting 27 points. Doug Kistler (6-foot-9) and Carroll Youngkin (6-6) chipped in 15 each for the Blue Devils. Youngkin also pulled down 13 rebounds.

South Carolina wasn't particularly bad in its shooting—hitting a respectable 44 per cent from the floor. Junior Art Whisman, the Gamecocks' most consistent scorer, counted only seven points and fouled out with about seven minutes left.

Ronnie Johnson scored 22 points and Bobby Robinson added 20 for South Carolina. Clemson blew a three-point halftime margin in falling to Florida State. The loss gives the South Carolina team a 1-3 overall mark. Chippy Patterson hit for 19 points to lead the Tigers.

From the floor, Clemson hit 44 per cent of its field goal attempts. The Tigers, however, managed only 44 shots against Florida State's combination zone and man-for-man defense.

Liston, Blinky Palermo Quizzed By Investigators

By G. MILTON KELLY WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators call Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Sonny Liston, top contenders for the heavyweight championship, for quizzing today in hearings on mobster influence on boxing.

The Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, conducting the inquiry, has heard testimony that mobsters grab off a lion's share of Liston's earnings. The subcommittee indicated in advance its members want to find out whether Liston knows anything about this.

Palermo, a Philadelphia rackets figure, gets a chance to answer testimony by former lightweight champion Ike Williams that Palermo had relayed bribe offers totaling more than $180,000 to throw fights. Palermo was his manager at the time.

Liston's manager, Joseph P. (Pep) Barone of Allentown, Pa., is reported to ill in an Allentown hospital to testify. The investigators have heard St. Louis police testimony that 32 per cent of Liston's ring earnings go to New York gangster Frankie Carbo, 12 per cent to Fifth Amendment pleading St. Louis hoodlum John J. Vitale, and 12 per cent to Palermo.

Liston launched his ring career after receiving a parole from prison, where he was serving a term for armed robbery.

Williams, now 20 pounds heavier than when he ruled the 135-pound division from 1945-51, testified Palermo had reported that someone—he did not identify the other party—had offered him money to throw fights with Jimmy Carter, Kid Gavilan, Freddie Dawson and Juste Fontaine.

Palermo, he said, recommended against accepting the bribes but left it up to Williams. Williams said he rejected each one but conceded Monday he wished he had taken $100,000 for his nontitle scrap with Gavilan in 1949 and $50,000 for his last bout as champ—with Carter in 1951.

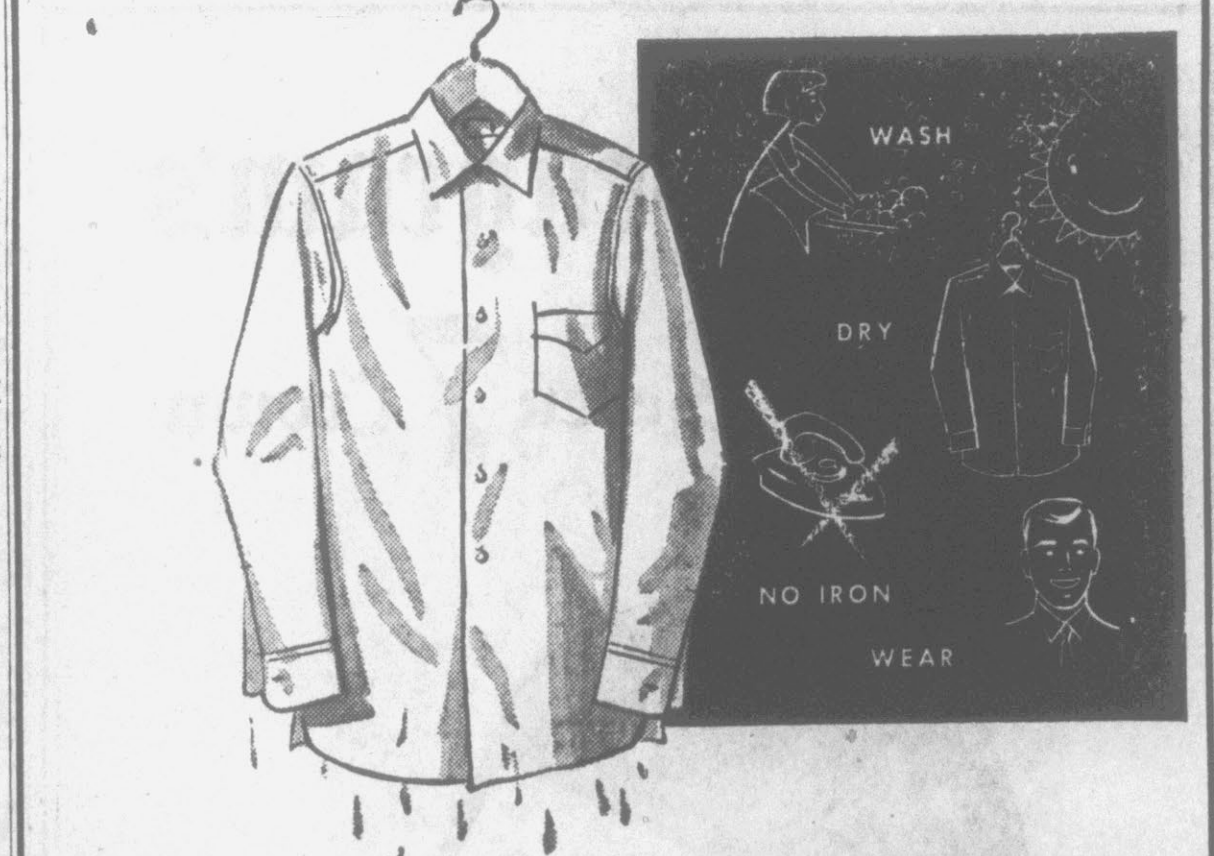

Gavilan beat him anyway, Williams recalled, and Carter dethroned him. He whipped Dawson and Fontaine. Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., suggested that on looking back, Williams could feel better because he resisted temptation.

"I do not senator," Williams persisted. "I do not." Since then, Williams ruefully recalled, a lot of friends he had not wanted to disappoint had run out on him. Now taking home $92.97 every other week from his job as a warehouseman for the State of New Jersey, Williams estimated that in the ring, "give or take a few thousand, I made a million dollars." The former champ, now 37, whose identity had been concealed before he testified, said he never saw a penny of $65,000 in purses for two title matches in 1948. Palermo spent it before he could get his hands on it, Williams said.

Bethel Looks Ready To Regain Pitt County Title

(Third in a series appraising teams of this area.)

By LEONARD LAO
Reflector Sports Writer

Bethel's basketball team, undefeated in Pitt County Conference play, goes after its ninth win tonight when the Indians travel to Ayden to rock horns...

Indian Coach, Walter Latham, Everett Case of the Pitt County Conference, takes a high-rated team on the floor against the Tornadoes. In conference play, the Indians have knocked off Belmont...

The Indians, one of the top ranked teams in the conference in a pre-season poll, compiled a 16-10 slate last year, and Coach Latham is looking for an even better record this campaign...

As far as size is concerned, Latham labels his forces "average", although his tallest man is 6'7". Though we don't have a lot of height, commented Latham, "our rebounding has been above average."

"Our offense as well as our defense has been good," says the likable Indian coach. Backing up this point is the fact that no team, with the exception of Pantego (Bethel's only loss) has come nearer than 10 points of the Indians. More often than not, there is a 20 point spread between Bethel and its opponent when the final whistle is blown.

Smith, a senior forward for the Indians, is the leading scorer on the Bethel squad. The southpaw sharpshooter dumped in 20 points last Friday against Farmville in a 61-42 Indian victory.

Coch Latham, in his 27th year at the Bethel helm, also has several newcomers on his squad who may contribute to a winning cause before the season is over. They are Benny Alexander, Kelt Briley, Roger Everett and Danny Rollins.

Bethel's girls, with Coach Matthews at the helm, have also racked up an impressive record so far this season, winning eight against only one loss.

Following the Ayden contest, the Indians returned to their home court for a two game finale before the Christmas break.

Ohio State, the defending NCAA basketball champion, leads the field in the first weekly poll by The Associated Press' panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Of the 36 votes cast, Ohio State received 35. The only other first-place ballot went to Detroit.

Bradley, which also rolled to its third straight Saturday by beating Butler 71-65 in the final four minutes, was voted the No. 2 spot in the poll.

Snow Forces A Delay In Race

BALTIMORE (AP)—"Only the horses will be outdoors," a Pimlico publicity blurb proclaimed at the opening of an "autumn" meeting Nov. 14.

Not even the horses were out today. Sunday's snowfall a foot deep on the track made it impossible for the horses to race Monday.

Despite Detroit's one first-place ballot, they had to be content with third place after nosing out Indiana 81-79 in double overtime on Tom Villenure's 30-foot corner shot in the final second. Indiana still polled enough votes for the No. 4 position.

North Carolina ranked fifth, and St. Bonaventure, with four straight, was sixth. Then came St. John's, Duke, Louisville and North Carolina State in that order.

entheses with points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis follow:

The voting was based on the results of games played through Saturday, Dec. 10. Points were given on the basis of 10 for first place, nine for second, and so on down to one for 10th.

On the basis of points, Ohio State led Bradley 359-272. The leaders, with won-lost records and first-place votes in parentheses with points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis follow:

Rigney Signs To Manage Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — San Francisco didn't want him, but Los Angeles has signed volatile Bill Rigney to manage its American League baseball team in 1961.

Rigney, deposited by the Giants midway in the 1960 season, signed a one-year contract with the Angels Monday. He and Gen. Mgr. Fred Haney flew today to the American League draft meeting in Boston to get a few ballplayers.

Haney said nobody had signed. But veteran catcher Del Rice, who played with the St. Louis Cardinals and with Haney in Milwaukee, said in Centralia, Ill., that Haney had asked him to serve as catcher-coach.

Haney said he had made a contingent offer to Rice "before I was appointed general manager of the Angels," but he left no doubt that he wanted Rice.

"I also have talked to Red Schoendienst," said Haney. Milwaukee released Schoendienst, and St. Louis offered him a contract, but Haney indicated he hopes to land the ex-Cardinal second baseman.

Steve Bilko, a prodigious hitter with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League, may be approached by the Angel management after the draft meeting, saying Bilko is the property of Denver.

Another ex-Los Angeles player, Carl Furillo, released last season by the Dodgers, may be offered a tryout by the Angels. Furillo, 39, was forced out of action last year by an injury. It is problematical whether he could effect a comeback.

LADY in the MARKET

BY FRANCES V. RUMMEL

From the novel "Aunt Jane McPhipps and Her Baby Blue Chips," published by Prentice-Hall, Inc. © 1960 by Frances V. Rummel. Distributed by King Features

CHAPTER 4
WHAT HAS HAPPENED
 Jane McPhipps is faced with the same problem that confronts many another widow in her late forties whose husband spent practically all the money he earned how to make a living. She was a teacher before her marriage. But now, "I'm too old to get a regular job teaching," is the news she has for her sympathetic neighbors. Eleanor Forbes and Rosemarie and Al Bonelli.

"Playing the stock market" seemed a promising way to increase her few thousand dollars when induced by her late husband's employer, Mr. Gresham, to invest $3,000 in a stock. The choice was made at a fortunate time and the value of the shares rose to over $9,000, giving Jane wild and romantic ideas. She put a momentary checkrein on them by enrolling in an investment course.

CHAPTER 4
 Jane was so keyed up about Mr. Petry's investment course for beginners that she arrived at the lecture room ten minutes before the teacher—with a three-ring notebook and her ball-point pen backed up with a newly sharpened pencil.

"Like a six-year-old on the opening day of school, she stood in the foyer until Mr. Petry, swinging his briefcase, walked in hatless with three women following behind him. He and Jane shook hands formally, and then she and the other ladies, single file, silently followed him into the lecture room. She selected a seat in the center of the front row, her eyes bright with expectancy.

Gravely professorial, Mr. Petry laid his dispatch case on a table, rolled a portable blackboard from its corner to the front of the class, checked his chalk and eraser, and then took his seat on a high stool in front of a lectern and gazed in mild wonderment at the middle-aged ladies filing in.

On the dot at eight o'clock Mr. Petry stood up, cleared his throat, felt the knot of his tie, and waited for complete silence. When the silence reached the breaking point of expectancy, he indulged in an engaging smile.

"Welcome, fellow investors," he began. He talked on in a voice that was surprisingly deep and rich.

"We shall at no time," he emphasized, "mention the word 'speculation' in this class. Nor shall we discuss hot tips, rumors, hearsay. Nor, finally, shall we consider any magic formulas for making money in the stock market. There are none."

All this sounded unnecessarily gloomy. Jane thought. Mr. Petry was not thinking big.

"Instead," he went on, "we shall study a practical system for selecting securities, for making wise decisions, and for protecting our capital with a sound investment program."

A woman snapped her fingers for attention and interrupted Mr. Petry brightly. Have you heard the difference between a speculation and an investment?"

Mr. Petry, biting obligingly, smiled and said, "No."

"Well," she shot back the woman "an investment is a speculation that didn't pay out."

With a wave of delicious approval the class tittered while the teacher frowned. Mr. Petry regained control of his class in short order, however, by outlining what he called "an eight-month homework project."

"During the coming eight months," he said, "I would like for each of you to apply the principles you learn here and draw up an imaginary model account. Let us assume that you are investing $25,000."

Jane wrote the amount firmly at tions of monthly stock guides as basic reference material.

Jane ached to recount what she had just achieved, but not wishing her superiority to show so soon, she put off her nagging urge in favor of observing her classmates.

Of all sizes, shapes and ages, they were about forty in number and most of them, to Jane's surprise were middle-aged women like herself. Word quickly got around the first week, however—Mr. Petry saw to this—that a few were among San Francisco's leading business women.

There was Miss Gertrude Green, a tall honey-colored corporate lawyer; Mrs. Helen Spaiding, a serious-looking young love-lorn columnist divorcee; Mrs. Hope, also a divorcee; but the real creme de la creme was a Mrs. Henry Hayden - Critchfield III, a willowy blonde of indeterminate age who was a one-time dancer, actress and musical comedy soprano. Recently married to the executive of a wholesale millinery Mrs. Hayden-Critchfield now dedicated her talents to displaying her husband's hats, and her advertising campaign was not what any woman would call subliminal. Her ravishing headpieces kept the whole class on edge.

In reality, during the first few minutes of each class, Mr. Petry had a hard go against her competition, particularly since his star was invariably tardy—and not one to hug the wall and come in quietly.

Bold Thief Took Mother's Cub

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—While Jesse James was opening a can of peaches for his supper, an Indian and two white men stole a lion cub from his trading post.

The operator of the Stage Coach Trading Post at Pioneer and Belt Line roads, Jesse C. James, told Dallas police that the trio entered his store Sunday night, saying they were looking for a Christmas tree.

James went ahead with his supper. After the Indian and the two white men left, James discovered someone had reached into the lion cage and lifted out a female lion cub, right under the nose of her mother and four other lion cubs.

Come in and see the Starlite phone

It's Smaller, It's Smart... It Glows in the Dark

You're invited to drop in at your nearest telephone business office and see the Starlite phone.

You'll find it dramatically different from any phone you've seen before.

First, it's small — takes up less room on a table or desk, fits beautifully in bedroom, kitchen, den, and family room.

Next, the dial is illuminated. It glows in the dark so that it's easy to find and dial at night.

Of course, it's modern. The Starlite phone is styled for those who want both beauty and simplicity.

And it comes in your choice of six colors — white, beige, pink, blue, and turquoise. Just call, come in, or ask any installer-repairman. (Makes a thoughtful Christmas gift, too.)

Carolina Telephone

The Starlite phone with illuminated dial costs only pennies a day after a one-time charge.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — Hog markets steady to 25-50 lower. Tops of 18.25 to 19.25 at Kingston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive and Newton Grove; 18.50 to 19.00 at Wilson; 18.00 to 19.00 at Nahant; 18.25 to 18.75 at Rocky Mount; 17.75 to 18.75 at Smithfield and Dunn; 18.00 to 18.50 at Bethel and Murfreesboro; 18.50 at Clinton, Fayetteville, Elizabethtown, Albion and Goldsboro; 18.25 at Lillington, Tarboro, Enfield and Scotland Neck; 18.00 at Castle Hayne and Rich Square.

Wilson cash cattle prices irregular: steers and heifers, choice 24.00 to 27.00, good 22.00 to 25.00, standards 19.00 to 23.00; cows, beef type 14.00 to 18.00, heavy cutters 12.00 to 14.00; bulls, light weights 12.00 to 18.00, heavy weights 16.00 to 18.00.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady. Supplies generally short, demand good. Prices paid producers for clean, unspiced eggs, delivered near grading stations, on a grade-yield basis, cases, exchanged: Grade A large, whites 43 to 49; browns 45 to 50, mostly 49 to 50; medium, whites 37 to 38, browns 39 to 40; small, whites 32 to 33, browns 34 to 35.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market dipped moderately in slow trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .50 to 218.20 with the industrials down .90, rails down .80 and utilities up .10.

The market was encountering technical resistance on the upside after its surprising advance of last week, capped by Monday's rise. Inspiration for a further advance was lacking, however.

The average was dragged down by a generally lower trend among steels, nonferrous metals, rails and selected issues in various other groups. Oils and utilities were steady on balance. Chemicals and electrical equipments were mixed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.74 at 610.20. Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged in very light dealings.

REV. J. W. RIGGS

Minister Dies

Last Rites Set For Rev. James W. Riggs

Rev. James William Riggs, a Minister of the Church of God, died in a Raleigh Hospital at 3:15 Monday afternoon following nine months of illness. A resident of 207 Davis Street, he was 63 years of age.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Church of God in Greenville Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock by the Rev. John L. Byrd, State Superintendent of the Churches of God of North Carolina, assisted by his pastor, the Rev. C. E. Westmoreland. Burial will be in the Riggs Cemetery near Grimesland. The body will remain at the Wilkerson Funeral Home and will be taken to the Church one hour prior to the time of service.

Rev. Riggs was born and reared in the Grimesland Community and had been an ordained Minister for the past twenty years. He had served pastorates in Parrott, Va., Monroe, Warrington, and Princeton, N. C., resigning this last pastorate nine months ago due to failing health. He was a member of the Church of God in Greenville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lillian Gaskins Riggs; three sons: James W. Riggs Jr. and Earl G. Riggs of Greenville, and A. 2-C Charles Riggs of the United States Air Corps, now stationed in England; five daughters: Mrs. John Crunk and Mrs. Lanell Michaels of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Oscar Haddock of Grimesland, Mrs. Willard Hedrick of Rocky Mount; 22 grandchildren; and two sisters: Mrs. Alice Proctor and Mrs. H. B. Neal of Greenville.

Eagle And Life Scout Badges Highlight Event

The awarding of Eagle and Life Scout badges highlighted a Pitt District Court of Honor held here Saturday night in the Greenville Junior High School Auditorium.

The Eagle award went to Charles Boyd of Troop 33, Greenville. It was presented to young Boyd by Wyatt Brown.

Mrs. J. I. Morgan of Farmville presented the Life badge to Wyatt Brown Jr. of Troop 30, Greenville.

The Ship 1 Explorers of Greenville won the Participation Banner and Troop 205 of Greenville was awarded the Attendance Banner.

Richard Heller, Pitt District advancement chairman, presided over the court that saw presentation of a number of merit badges, Sea Exploring awards, and First and Second Class Scouting badges.

Greenville Troop 205 served as host troop and conducted the ceremonies.

Money Is Received To Apply On Fire Truck

GRIMESLAND—Checks totaling $2,320 were received here last night to apply to a rural fire truck for the area within a four-mile radius of Grimesland, L. E. Tetterton, co-chairman of the steering committee, said.

The truck itself will cost about $5,500, and, in addition, money must be raised for a tanker and breathing apparatus to go with the truck. The approximately 15 persons attending the meeting last night decided to continue collecting assessments to order the truck.

About 95 residents of the rural area around Grimesland have agreed to formulate a rural fire association and raise funds by being assessed $5 per building, for buildings of tobacco barn size and larger, to insure protection against fire.

As of the first of December, the town of Grimesland's fire truck could no longer service rural areas due to the fire insurance rating, making necessary for a rural truck more acute.

Tetterton said that the organization could expect 60-day delivery on a new fire truck when it is ordered.

Last night was the first meeting to collect money, it was noted. There was some discussion of taking bids on a chassis but no action was taken.

Three Injured In Car Collision

FARMVILLE — Three Negroes were treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital last night for injuries received when their car collided with a second vehicle just east of Marlboro, demolishing one car and causing an estimated $700 damage to the other.

Highway Patrolman D. L. Minshew identified the drivers as Oscar Carr, Negro, of Route 1, Winterville, and William Loyed Winslow, 53, of 1807 Greenville Blvd.

Minshew said the injured included Carr, his father, Moses Carr, 84, of Railroad Street, Farmville, and Ellen Johnson, 32, of Route 2, Farmville. All three were treated and released from the hospital. Oscar Carr received the worst injury, Minshew noted, which was a fractured left arm.

According to the officer, the Carr vehicle was headed west on U.S. 264 about three miles east of Farmville, while the Winslow car was traveling east on U.S. 264. The left-hand front of the Winslow car collided with the left-hand side of the auto, he noted, demolishing the entire left side of the Negro's auto.

The Carr auto was listed as a total loss while damage to the Winslow vehicle was set at $700. Minshew said the collision is still under investigation.

The cars collided about 6:15 p.m., Minshew said, and it was snowing at the time.

McGowan Relected Pitt Fair President

AYDEN—Ford McGowan of Greenville last night was re-elected president of the Pitt County American Legion Agricultural Fair and the event's directors tentatively set Oct. 9-16 as the date for the 1961 fair.

At a meeting of the directors here last night, the board also named its 32-member board of directors to serve during 1961 and named its next year's executive committee.

As in past years, the 1961 fair's midway contract was awarded the O. C. Buck Exposition Shows.

Included among various reports submitted to the board last night was the audit report of the 1960 fair. Spokesmen said the report showed last October's event was one of the "most successful in the history of the Fair Association."

The report showed that "while the Fair had a handsome profit, the Association paid out nearly $3,800 to the farming interests of Pitt County for agricultural and livestock exhibitions," a spokesman said.

Appointed to the 1961 board were:

J. Howard Moyer, Leroy Campbell Jr., Ernest Avera, W. C. Eagles, Larry L. Averette, Dr. J. L. Winstead, L. W. Cherry, J. Hicks Corey, M. E. Cavendish, Lester H. Turnage Jr., L. W. Gaylord Jr., Paul A. Scott, Ford McGowan C. E. Williams, Sam A. Whitehurst, all of Greenville.

Dr. Paul E. Jones, R. D. Rouse Jr., J. B. Hockaday, C. F. Bacon, J. H. Bynum, R. D. Rouse Sr., Council Representative H. Franklin Steinbeck presented a 50th anniversary certificate to H. R. Foust in recognition of Foust's "outstanding leadership this year."

The evening's program included a movie showing scenes from the 1960 National Jamboree held in Arizona.
