Greenville's Cold Weather Lingers

Temperatures remained very cold in Greenville last night, dipping down to 12 degrees, one of the coldest readings recorded in eastern North Carolina, according to Sherman Husted of television station WNCT.

The Greenville Utilities Plant, closer to town, recorded a low of 16 degrees at 4 a. m. this morning. This had climbed to 18 degrees at the 8 o'clock reading, John Lynch of the utilities plant said.

Both sources indicated the early morning readings of Wednesday were lower than those reported yesterday. Husted reported a low in Greenville of 15 degrees for Tuesday, which dipped to 12 degrees today, and the utilities plant reported a low

Moon Shot Held Up At Least One Day By Troubles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Technical trouble today forced at least a one-day postponement of an attempt to launch an American space craft toward an intended orbit about the moon.

The 388-pound space craft is intended to become the first lunar satellite. Its load of electronic equipment is designed to make the most extensive study yet attempted of the moon's environment.

The countdown on the 98-foot Atlas-Able booster rocket progressed to within seven minutes of the scheduled lift-off time today when the attempt was called off.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported only that technical difficulties had prevented the launch. It did not reveal the nature of the trouble.

Scientists had only a 21-minute span—from 2:58 a. m. to 3:19 a. m. EST—in which to fire the rocket to put it on the proper course to the moon, 240,000 miles away. When it became apparent the trouble could not be corrected in time, the shot was postponed.

Today was the second day of a five-day period in which the moon is in a favorable position for launching. If the trouble is minor, another launch effort may be made Thursday. If the Atlas-Able does not get off the ground by Saturday, the shot will be put off until the next ideal period, 28 days from now.

The space craft carries instruments to measure such space phenomena as radiation, magnetic fields and microteorites. This data could help prepare for manned flight to the moon.

New Chairman Of Pitt Blood Program Named

W. Kenneth Wichard of Greenville is replacing Dr. Howard Gradis as chairman of the blood program, Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross, it was announced today by Richard Atkinson, chairman of the Pitt chapter.

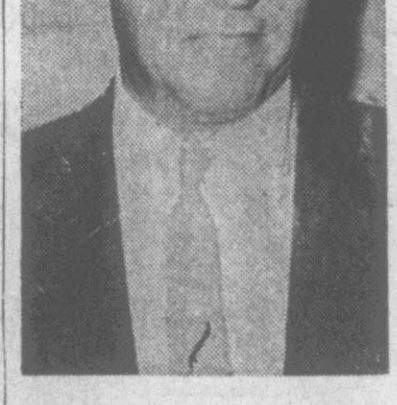

Atkinson said, "Whichard is replacing Dr. Gradis, whose resignation from the blood program was accepted with regrets. Dr. Gradis has served faithfully for the past two years. His advice and counsel will still be available to the program, for which we will truly be grateful."

W. KENNETH WHICHARD

With the help of the people of Pitt County, I shall do my best to make the program succeed within the next year."

Reviewing the program here.

DR. HOWARD GRADIS

County have been getting "something for nothing" at the expense of the other half million people who live in eastern North Carolina and Virginia, which make up the Tidewater region of the blood program.

Whichard is consultant for the Pitt County Social Security program.

President Takes Physical Checkup

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is in Walter Reed Army Hospital, completing the second phase of his annual medical checkup.

Eisenhower entered the hospital Tuesday night after a White House reception for Chief Justice Earl Warren and the eight associate justices of the Supreme Court, Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and other top judicial and legal officers of the government.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President feels fine but wanted to finish his physical examination. The first phase of the checkup was Sept. 15 and 16. Eisenhower is expected to stay in the presidential suite at Walter Reed until sometime Thursday.

Three Get Life Terms For Killing, Robbing Pitt Man

By HENRY HOWARD
Reflector Staff Writer

Three admitted killer-robbers yesterday drew life prison terms after pleading guilty to the coat-hanger strangling of an 82-year-old Stokes Negro at his home Nov. 22.

Richard Frank, 18; Bennie Earl Frank, 16; and Willie Lee Perkins, 24, all Negroes, heard Judge Chester Morris pronounce the sentences at 4:30 p. m. yesterday in Pitt County Superior Court.

Through counsel, the three defendants pleaded guilty to first-degree murder charges in the slaying and robbery of James Alfred Chance the night of Nov. 22.

The pleas of guilty, in writing, were accepted by Solicitor Robert D. Rouse for the State. A plea of guilty to first-degree murder carries a mandatory life sentence.

"Brutal Murder"

After hearing Deputy Ralph Tyson of the Pitt County Sheriff's Department reconstruct the enactment of the killing as told him by the defendants, Judge Morris asserted, "That's all I care to hear. This is as brutal a murder as I've ever seen."

In addition to the life terms for each of the three, Judge Morris handed down consecutive 20-year terms to each defendant on separate robbery charges. They took $5 from Chance's body.

Pitt Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said today the three men will be delivered to Central Prison in Raleigh sometime today to begin serving their sentences.

Deputy Tyson's testimony related how the three Negroes had planned to rob the old man, a recipient of $40 monthly from public welfare grants.

The officer said the defendants told him how they had approached the Chance home stealthily and two of them (the 15-year-old Frank and Perkins) entered with a bur-lap sack.

Richard Frank, Tyson said, had "kept watch" outside until the two intruders returned with the old man's wallet. Tyson said the actual killing was done by Perkins who wrapped a wire coat-hanger around the old man's neck.

The deputy said Perkins, in his confession related how the old man had cried out, "Boys! Boys! Boys!" before he was strangled to death.

Dollar Killer

Tyson said the killer-robbers told how they ran from Chance's house to a nearby tobacco barn where they divided the $5 they found in the old man's wallet. Perkins, the actual killer, received $3 while the two Franks divided the remaining $2.

Tyson said the three told him they had gone to the old man's home to rob him but had not planned to kill him. The killing came when Chance began to struggle. The bur-lap sack was thrown over his head before he was strangled.

All three prisoners were arrested and charged with the murder-robbery two days after the crime was discovered, early Nov. 23.

Before pronouncing sentence, Judge Morris told the defense lawyers, "Gentlemen, you have done these men a great service by helping them enter the plea."

The judge said he felt sure a jury trial would have resulted in a verdict of guilty as charged without a recommendation for mercy. Such a verdict carries the death penalty.

UN Assembly To Get Congo Case

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Security Council wound up its Congo debate early today by killing off rival East-West proposals for dealing with the crisis. Ceylon pulled back its compromise plan to spare it from a similar fate.

The explosive issue now will be dumped into the lap of the General Assembly where weary delegates are striving to finish the first half of the session by next Tuesday.

The Soviet Union cast its 92nd veto to defeat a Western resolution by Argentina, the United States, Italy and Britain which called on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to continue his efforts to restore order in the Congo.

The West in turn voted down a Soviet demand that Patrice Lumumba, deposed Congo premier, be released from imprisonment at once, and that the Congo army chief, Col. Joseph Mobutu, disband his forces. The vote was two in favor with eight against and one abstention. The Soviet Union and Poland voted for the proposal. Ceylon abstained.

A Soviet attempt to change drastically the wording of the Western resolution with a series of amendments was roundly defeated.

A last-minute resolution by Poland which merely called for the freeing of Lumumba was defeated by a vote of three in favor, six against and two abstentions.

The marathon session which wound up at 3:41 a. m. EST ended with a bitter clash between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Seize Airbase

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congolese army has taken over the former Belgian airbase at Kitona, bringing a protest today from the United Nations.

About 250 soldiers swooped on the vast air base garrisoned by Moroccans of the U. N. force.

The Moroccans put up no resistance to avoid bloodshed, the U. N. Command reported.

The head of the U. N. Congo mission, Rajeshwar Dayal of India, reported to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold that the takeover was "a flagrant interference with the mandate given to the United Nations by the Security Council" and a "deliberate act of aggression against the United Nations."

Western diplomats said Col. Joseph Mobutu, army chief; and the head of his provisional government, Justin Bomboko, claimed no orders had been given for the base to be taken by force.

Budget Agency's Work Done

RALEIGH (AP)—The fat which is sure to provoke heated and lengthy debate during the 1961 General Assembly is in the fire.

The Advisory Budget Commission has completed its work on the details of the state's 1961-63 spending measures which will be sent to the Legislature in February.

However, the budget agency's decision will be kept secret until they are sprung on the Assembly early in the session.

Commission members will meet with Budget Bureau officials for the next 30 days to revise and complete the narrative of the budget document before sending it to be printed.

The narrative is a summary of the budget picture and includes official revenue estimates on which the spending bill will be based.

Already made public is a $623 million figure the commission said it would recommend to keep state services at their present level. How much of an additional $150 million to improve services is to be recommended by the group has not been revealed.

Biggest item in the $150 million requested by agencies and institutions is $106 million asked for by the State Board of Education.

This request was endorsed by Gov.-elect Terry Sanford.

The budget preparation was the responsibility of outgoing Gov. Luther Hodges and the commission. It bears their name rather than Sanford's.

However, the incoming chief executive will have his chance to make spending recommendations when he delivers his biennial message to the Assembly in February.

The commission has told Sanford of its decisions and has left it up to him to recommend new taxes if any are needed to boost revenues for the education program.

Reports Heard By Utilities Board

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector City Editor

Fifty-two water taps have been completed in the Lakewood-Pines-Sherwood Acres area on Evans St. Ext., Utilities Supt. Leonard Bloxam reported to the commission last night.

He said this represented approximately 80 percent of the dwellings in the area. The two subdivisions were annexed by the city a few months ago and the Utilities Commission set up funds for extending water lines in the present fiscal year's budget.

A main line was brought down Deck St. to Evans and then along Evans to the Lakewood Pines area.

Bloxam also reported that six fire hydrants have been installed in the area.

Commissioners last night made changes in the penalty charged for late payment of Utilities bills.

Customers are allowed 20 days to pay the bills from the date of billing. There will be a 50 cent penalty after 20 days under the new plan. An additional $1 will be added to this after the customer is notified that the bill is delinquent. If service is cut off, another $1 will be added making a total of $2.50.

Under the old penalty scheduled, a charge of $1.50 was added the day the bill became delinquent and an additional $1 was charged if service is cut off.

The new penalty charges will go in effect immediately.

Date Due Provision

Commissioners also approved changes in the Utilities postage metering machine to provide for stamping the date due on each bill as they are mailed out. Business Manager Larry Brown said changes in the machine will cost $435.

However, Brown said new cards must be printed up to provide space for the new date. Commissioners voted to use present stocks of billing cards before beginning the dating system. This is expected to take several months.

Supt. Bloxam also reported that the power substation serving Ayden is now complete. He said a floodlight sign has been erected at the site, located on N.C. 11 north of Ayden.

Bloxam said a Ford tractor with Sherman backhoe was purchased on the basis of low bids. The outfit will cost $5,688.

He reported that the pump on the Washington St. water well is being rebuilt due to sand damage. The well should be back in service this week, the superintendent said. In the meantime the water treatment plant is adequate for the city's needs at this time of year.

New Well Bid

The commissioners accepted the Layne Atlantic Co. bid for drilling a new well on Eloxam's recommendation. The bid was $15,920 to drill a 600 to 800 gallon per minute well. The well could cost a minimum of $19,970 if it should be rated up to 1,200 gallons per minute.

Bloxam described the Layne Atlantic bid as "basically the best proposal."

Commissioner Ray D. Minges made the motion to accept the proposal. The well will go on Utilities property near the 14th St. Ext.-Greenville Blvd. intersection.

Bloxam said the contractor plans to start work Jan. 1 and the job should be completed in 60 days. Bloxam reported that a work should begin this month on a gas distribution system in the Biltmore area to serve customers now using bottled gas.

He reported on the progress of the Utilities sewage disposal plant now under construction behind Greenwood Cemetery.

The superintendent also said the Utilities will install traffic lights at Charles and Tenth and Charles and 14th Sts. The traffic control lights were recently approved by the City Council.

Moslems Rioting In Tense Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—A mob of some 5,000 roared through the lower reaches of the Moslem quarter today shouting nationalist rebel slogans and taunting French soldiers guarding entrances to the native city.

Swarms of Moslems went through the twisted streets of the Casbah shouting "Abbas to power"—rebel Premier Fehrat Abbas—and "Moslem Algeria."

Riot police and soldiers stood tensely, guns and mortars ready to fire.

A crowd of Moslems greeted Associated Press staff members, Andrew Borowiec and David Mason, when the two entered the Casbah. They raised Mason's arms over his head and cheered him when told he was an American newsmen.

"This is the insurrection," Moslems shouted. "We are fighting to the end."

Other Moslems told Borowiec and Mason that soldiers "killed and wounded many" during disturbances during the night. French officials said shots were fired but that there were no deaths.

It was one of the wildest demonstrations ever to rock the Casbah. It centered around the Jewish synagogue which was looted Monday. Some Moslems began looting stores. The crowds swayed back and forth in emotional abandon.

At Oran, to the west, all was reported quiet. A general strike which paralyzed the city's economy was over. The right-wing Front for French Algeria launched the strike, then rescinded it.

Moslem rioters and the determined resistance of French settlers have confronted France with one of the gravest situations in her attempts to end six years of the nationalist fight for independence.

Concord Water Tank 'Explodes'

CONCORD, N. C. (AP)—A 10,000 gallon water tank exploded Tuesday. The top half of the tank shot through the air and crushed the roof of a storage building 400 feet away.

The tank, situated in a pasture at Cook's Packing Plant, was a pressure-feed type which required air pressure to keep the water flowing. A. B. Cook, co-owner of the plant, said the pressure control valve apparently froze and let the inside air pressure, normally about 80 pounds, build up so greatly as to blow the tank apart.

The top half of the tank, still containing water, crashed into the roof of a refrigerated cheese storage building. The impact demolished sections of the insulated roof, bent steel supporting beams and crushed part of the cement block walls.

The building was unoccupied and no one was near the tank at the time of the explosion.

Cook said the special construction of the storage building will cause damage estimates to be high. No figures were quoted but the loss is expected to be in the thousands of dollars.

Boy Braves Fire To Rescue Two

ONTARIO, Ore. (AP)—Jerry Davis, 11, hero of this eastern Oregon town, was recovering today from severe burns on his face, ears and hands.

Jerry stepped outside for a breath of air Monday night and saw flames shooting out of the upper floor of his home.

He shouted for his mother. While she shepherded four children to safety, he dashed through the flames to an upper bedroom to rescue his 2-year-old brother.

"I didn't want to lose my littlest brother just because I was askered," Jerry said later from his hospital bed.

Jerry had to swallow his fear once more. When he got outside with 2-year-old Mark Davis, the family discovered Neil, 4, still was inside.

So Jerry braved the flames again, his mother, Mrs. Loren Davis, right behind him. They found the top of the stairs in flames.

Mrs. Davis boosted Jerry. He grabbed a banister beyond the flames, and pulled himself up. He had to leap through flames to reach Neil's bedroom, but he carried the boy back and dropped him into his mother's arms. Then he finally fled to safety.

Fire Kills Seven In One Family

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Fire swept through a rural home at nearby Wertzville early today killing a mother and six of her nine children.

The father and two other children were injured and taken to Harrisburg Hospital. Another child was staying with neighbors.

Firefighters were hindered by the near-zero temperatures. Fire Chief Charles J. Shank Jr. said the family was that of Mr. and Mrs. Nef Walker, both 38.

In addition to Mrs. Walker the children were Jimmy, 9, and five daughters, Mary, 13; Helen, 10; Dianne, 5; Louise, 3, and Irene, 1.

With Walker in Harrisburg hospital were his sons Robert, 8, and Dwayne, 5. The younger child was reported in unsatisfactory condition with burns. Walker and minor burns.

The ninth child, Martha, 12, and a family boarder, Harold Cramer, 17, were with neighbors.

Shank theorized that a stove on the first floor of the two-story frame house may have exploded, causing the fire. The home burned to the ground.

Two Marines In Plane Crash Die

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. (AP)—A single-engine two-seater plane crashed in a wooded area of the Camp Lejeune Marine base Tuesday, killing two Marine officers.

The dead were identified as Lt. Buford Curtis Barclay Jr., a native of Tyler, Tex., who was piloting the craft, and 1st Lt. Joseph Tyrone Whittlesby, 28, a native of Westport, Conn. Both men were married and lived with their wives near Camp Lejeune.

The aircraft Group 26 of the 1st Marine Air Facility here said initial observation plane was on a routine training flight.

Giant Bomber In 10,000-Mile Trip

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A U. S. Air Force B52G jet bomber landed today after a 10,000-mile nonstop flight without refueling, breaking two world long-distance flight records, the Air Force announced.

The eight-jet Boeing bomber was aloft 19 hours, 45 minutes after taking off at 7:07 a. m. Tuesday from the runway on which it landed.

It was flown by a crew from the 5th Bombardment Wing at Travis AFB, Calif., on a closed circuit to El Paso, Tex.; Andrews AFB, Md.; Harmon Base, Newfoundland; Eielson AFB, Fairbanks, Alaska; Phillip, S.D., and back here.

Audit Accepted At Grifton Board Meet

GRIFTON—The 1959-60 audit for the town of Grifton was presented at the monthly board meeting last night and was accepted by board Town Clerk Joyce McCoy said today.

The audit was prepared by D.R. Hollowell of Greensboro, certified public accountant.

During the meeting, a motion was made and passed to install drainage tile and four catch basins on Pitt Street, according to plans drawn by L. E. Wooten, consulting engineer. Another motion was passed concerning the opening of a ditch beyond the end of McRae Street.

The ditch would be located across the proposed extension of McRae Street and would connect with some proposed tile to be laid by the property owners. The ditch would help drain some of Dawson Street as well as yards of property owners, Mrs. McCoy said.

Though there are no immediate plans for extending the street, the ditch will be opened and property owners plan to lay the tile.

Benjamin May Chapter Of D.A.R. Has Meeting

FARMVILLE — The December meeting of the Major Benjamin May chapter, D.A.R., was held Saturday in the chapter house, with Mesdames W. H. Harris, G. Alex Rouse and John B. Wright as hostesses. Fifty-six members and special guests were in attendance.

Following the usual ritualistic opening, a business session was conducted by the regent, Miss Elizabeth Lang. Mrs. M. V. Jones and Mrs. H. D. Moye reported on the students' Christmas box and magazine drive.

Mrs. Robert Fennell of Greenville, national defense chairman, and Mrs. Charles H. Mazingo, D. A. R. schools chairman, gave reports. Mrs. Ellen Lewis Carroll, membership chairman, spoke on the current bookmobile drive in the county. Members contributed to a Christmas cheer fund for hospitalized veterans and the American Indians, and voted to cater at two social functions to be held at the chapter house in January.

Mrs. Herbert E. Hart read from St. Matthew, second chapter, verses 1-13, on which was based the theme of the meditation given by Mrs. G. Alex Rouse, chaplain and program director. Mrs. Rouse developed the subject of "The Visit of the Wise Men" with a description of their gifts, the star-led journey to Bethlehem, their adoration of the infant King, and their return "another way."

The thought was emphasized that a newness of life and purpose, expressed in the rededication of self and a more consecrated service to God and one's fellowman should result from the proper observance of the Christmas season.

The program of Christmas music was presented by vested choristers from the orchestral balcony. The balcony and stair rail were festooned with garlands of trailing mountain cedar with a center motif of white bells tied with a red satin bow, and illumined with floor standards bearing cathedral candles.

Miss Patsy Roberts, a junior at East Carolina College and soloist at the music department's presentation of "The Messiah," sang "Christmas Eve" and "Jesu, Bambino" with Mrs. M. V. Jones as accompanist.

The Rev. John T. Broome, tenor, sang "Shout the Glad Tidings" with Mrs. Rouse accompanying.

Members from the Episcopal choir, including Mrs. Broome, Mesdames Susu and Lu Dixon, Julie Heide Jones, Sally Donat, E. P. Bass, and the Rev. Mr. Broome sang "The First Noel," "O Holy Night" and "Adeste Fideles," a capella, with the audience joining in the refrain of the last named hymn.

Refreshments consisted of ice cream cake, snowballs and nuts. Demi tasse was served from a table covered with an imported cloth of cutwork and embroidery centered with a silver bowl of white pom poms and unadorned and illumined by white tapers in silver candelabra. Cheese wafers were in a tiered silver server. Miss Lang, regent, presided over the coffee service.

The chapter house was decorated with poinsettias, forest greens, Chinese holly and floor baskets of pyracantha berries. The colonial mantels were banked with holly and bore red candles in brass centerpieces. The point of interest of the East mantel was a handmade Nativity scene of felt applique and sequins.

The antique tilt-top table bore a white Christmas tree decorated with angels and gold ornaments. A white Santa Claus and a miniature white and gold rose tree.

Covered Dish Supper Is Held

At the Christmas meeting of the Red Banks Home demonstration Club, 21 members enjoyed a covered dish supper.

Decorations carried out the Christmas motif.

Mrs. Hugh Hardee, recreational leader, gave points on the symbols for Christmas. Mrs. R. H. Heath, played for the singing of carols. Mrs. Karl Hardee, president, extended the welcome.

Mrs. Lillie Harper gave the demonstration, "Making your own decorations." She gave the origin of quaint symbols.

The high-light of the meeting came when members opened packages from their "Secret Pal." A game, "Name-O" was played and prizes were given to the several winners. A package of Christmas favors was placed at each table.

Announces Marriage

Mrs. Robert L. Everett of Robertsonville announces the marriage of her daughter, Janice Roe Warren, to Lester M. Green Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Green of Delaware. The double ring ceremony took place Wednesday evening, November 23, in the Louisburg Methodist Church with the Rev. Herman Winberry officiating. The couple will make their home in Raleigh where she is a secretary at the Southeastern Adjustment Company and he is engaged in the insurance business.

YOU can make this centerpiece using just these components—a rectangle of heavy cardboard, sprigs of evergreen, four tapers, assorted Christmas balls, a wrought iron sleigh, and some powdered soap or detergent.

Place a generous amount of the soap or detergent in a mixing bowl with a few drops of water. Blend with an electric or hand mixer until the "snow" reaches the consistency of thick whipped cream.

Sorority Initiates New Members

Sunday night the Gamma Sigma chapter of Kappa Delta Sorority at East Carolina College initiated 12 new members at the First Presbyterian Church of Greenville.

The new members are as follows: Mildred Elizabeth Derrick, Anna Katherine Raynor, Sylvia Kay Dawkins, Sallie Ann Wallace, Susan Roberts, Rebecca Narron, Dorothy Spence, Mary Hazel Moore, Elizabeth Eich, Judy Lambert, Frances Foster, and Mitzi Oden.

Monday night in the east cafeteria of the college, the sorority honored the new initiates with an initiation banquet. Jean Hardy, president, presided. Dr. Leland Stewart was guest speaker. He spoke on "The Characteristics of an Educated Individual."

Guests of the sorority were Rev. and Mrs. Richard Gammon and their daughter, Donna. Mrs. Gammon is president of the Beta North Province of Kappa Delta. Other guests were Mrs. Reynolds May, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Duncan, Dean Ruth White, Miss Sophie Fischel, faculty advisor, and Mr. Gordon Bennett.

The Gamma Sigmas are honored to have Mrs. Carolyn Bennett, a transfer student from the Gamma chapter of Kappa Delta at Kentucky Wesleyan in Owensboro, Ky., who will become actively affiliated in the near future.

The highlight of the banquet was the presentation of an engraved silver gift to Miss Sallie Ann Wallace of Chilooh, who was selected as the most "Outstanding Pledge" of her class, and the presentation of gifts to the sisters from the pledge class, which were presented by the president of the pledge class, Katherine Raynor.

Following the banquet, the chapter entertained the officers of all seven social fraternities on the campus. Christmas gifts were presented to the fraternities, and accepted by their presidents. Each group was presented with a plaque for the doors of their respective houses. Those in attendance were Chi Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Theta Chi.

Another activity of the chapter was the entertaining of the members of the seven sororities, Alpha Delta Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Phi Delta Zeta, Chi Omega, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Alpha Zeta Delta and the seven social fraternities at an Open House Saturday at the home of Mrs. Richard Gammon.

On Tuesday night, the new initiates entertained the sisters with a surprise Christmas party in Garrett Dormitory.

For a quick fruit cake add candied fruits, nuts and a small jar of mincemeat to a package of spice cake mix and bake as directed on the package.

Christmas Party For Employees

The employees of Overton's Super Market were guests Monday evening at a party held at a local restaurant, given by their employer.

Upon arrival the guests placed gifts under a Christmas tree. Decorations in the Christmas motif were used on the tables.

Presentations were exchanged among the employees. During the course of the evening songs were sung and games played.

A talk was given by Mr. Overton, concluded by the distribution of Christmas bonuses.

PRE SHRINK RIBBON Because some ribbon may shrink up to three inches per yard, it's best to pre-shrink ribbon before using it in any kind of needlework.

Wash in soap or detergent suds, rinse, and let it drip-dry before it is stitched to the fabric. Thus, it will not pucker the item it trims when laundered.

Cards Give Assist To Yule Decoration

Christmas cards can be an important and attractive part of the Christmas decor, especially for those who must closely watch the budget when planning Yule decorations. Here are some suggestions.

Remove books from the bookcase and stand cards in their place.

With straight pins, attach cards to lengths of wide ribbon or felt tacked on wall or door.

Place cards on an inexpensive wood or paper screen. Add Christmas ornaments or pine cones and frame with greenery.

Use a large sheet of green oilcloth or felt in the form of a holly leaf or tree, tack to the wall, and paste or pin cards to it.

Spray sturdy twigs with white paint and place in a vase. Hang cards from the branches.

Bend wire coat hangers in various forms and tape one to another to make a hanging card mobile. Spray with a Christmas color and suspend from ceiling or light fixture.

Use a garland of greenery.

Faces Baffling Set Of Circumstances

If the economic outlook of the nation does not change appreciably between now and January 20, it will be a rather unusual and baffling set of circumstances President Kennedy faces as he moves into his domestic program.

Unemployment figures reported by the Labor Department for the month of November showed more than four million Americans out of work . . . the highest number for November since the depression days of the '30s. The figures also showed more than 67.1 million Americans gainfully employed during November, the highest number for that month in history.

Statistics further showed that during the month of November job declines which had been confined primarily to steel, automotive and a few other basic industries broadened to virtually all industries.

By themselves, the unemployment figures for the month of November would suggest that the nation's economy is slipping and that the U. S. might be moving toward another period of recession.

On the other side, however, the record number of gainfully employed during the month suggests an upturn in the economic activity of the nation. In many segments of the nation's industry there have been marked improvements in recent months. Most of the experts are predicting a continued improvement in business and economic conditions in the country during the coming year, and they are able to cite plenty of facts to support their predictions. The outlook, most of them say, is excellent and momentum already is building up that should carry the nation's economy to new record peaks.

Confronted with growing unemployment—if the November trend carries over into 1961—and likewise with record high employment and rosy economic predictions, the new administration may be faced with the problem of deciding whether to unleash new economy-boosting measures, or to hold back in an effort to forestall another cycle of inflation.

There can be no doubt that pressure for government pump-priming will come from some sources if the unemployment figures do not reverse their November trend. Neither can there be any doubt that there will be considerable sentiment throughout the country for a conservative approach by the federal government to any action which might over stimulate the economy.

For the moment, at least, the new administration might best focus its attention on the problems of individual industries which find themselves in a depressed condition, and reserve any overall effort for boosting the economy to long-range plans that can be absorbed gradually without adversely affecting the nation's economic situation.

How Much Weight Will Be Given To Lie Test?

We must admit that we are intrigued by the announcement that Boyd E. Payton, Carolinas director of the Textile Workers Union of America, will take a lie detector test that may be taken into consideration by the Board of Paroles in considering his case.

Payton and seven others are now serving sentences imposed after they were found guilty of conspiring to dynamite certain facilities of the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mill during the bitter Henderson strike. Subsequently Gov. Hodges has twice declined to intervene in Payton's case.

In view of the fact that lie detector tests were not considered admissible evidence when the cases were being tried, it is difficult to understand how the Paroles Board might use the results of such a test now considering whether or not Payton should be released from prison before serving the required portion of his term. If the results of such tests cannot be used to determine the guilt or innocence of a person in a court trial, can it be viewed as conclusive proof of his guilt or innocence in deliberations of the Paroles Board?

It will be interesting to see how much weight the Paroles Board of the state will place upon the results of the test which Payton will take. It would likewise be interesting to speculate upon the precedent that might be set if the results of the test does become a deciding factor either way in consideration of the case by the board.

No Controversy Over Selections

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy has gone about picking a Cabinet like a man determined to avoid a brawl before he has a chance to start his presidency.

None of his four Cabinet appointees so far is a controversial figure. None therefore is likely to get much opposition or criticism from liberals or conservatives in the new Congress next year—at least in the beginning.

Kennedy filled the spot which could have caused the biggest rumpus with an adroit but non-spectacular figure: Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation, as secretary of State.

Rusk in the past held several government jobs — the highest as assistant secretary of State for Far Eastern affairs under President Truman—but handled himself unobtrusively. To the public he was generally unknown.

He had to be adroit to be on that Far Eastern desk in 1950 and come through unscathed when Sen. Joseph McCarthy was belaboring the State Department for its handling of Far Eastern affairs, particularly in China.

Rusk is esteemed for brains by people who know him. Since he's a quiet operator, he and Kennedy will have the advantage of starting out in foreign affairs with at least a period of peace and quiet.

He'll get his share of bricks later, which is par for the course for a secretary of State. The story would have been different if Kennedy had given the No. 1 foreign policy job to Adlai E. Stevenson, who is a hero to some.

The slot Kennedy picked for Stevenson — ambassador to the United Nations — can hardly cause a fire in Congress or elsewhere. In the United Nations Stevenson will not be making American foreign policy. He'll just be expressing.

Kennedy reportedly had considered several men for the job he finally gave Rusk: Stevenson, Chester Bowles and Sen. William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, among others.

Inauguration Is Problem-Poser

By LYNN NISBET
INAUGURATION — The official committee in charge of the inauguration of Governor Terry Sanford and other State officers is finding numerous special problems, because of the unusual circumstances of the new Governor taking office before the Legislature convenes.

The official committee is meeting every day or two with special subcommittees to work out details of the parade, the ball and some other social functions incident to the occasion. The formal part of the program is being handled by Col. C.B. Shimer, assigned by Adjutant General Wayneck from the National Guard for that duty.

There are problems incident to providing space for newspapers, radio and television equipment, involving accreditation and identification of reporters and photographers. There are questions of protocol about visiting dignitaries at quasi-official functions. Since the pre-inaugural ball is not handled by the State, but by private organizations for profit, who should invite the visiting dignitaries to that affair?

Most of these problems are not new, but they are aggravated a bit this time because of the non-existence of a General Assembly during an inauguration. Heretofore newsmen assigned to the Legislature were automatically accredited for the inauguration.

There was no question of protocol rating for legislative officials. The new Speaker of the House has been installed. When Governor Sanford is inaugurated the 1959 General Assembly is still in existence, and the Speaker of the House is Addison Hewlett—not Joe Hunt, who is certain to be elected Speaker.

LUNCHEON—One of the most delicate problems confronting the committee is sponsorship for the quasi-public luncheon for the inaugural party following the parade from the auditorium. Whether or not the General Assembly is in session has no bearing on this affair, although it does raise complications with respect to the later reception.

As originally published the tentative program for the day provided for Ex-Governor Outher Hodges to be host at the luncheon at the mansion. (The term ex-Governor is used advisedly and correctly, because when Terry Sanford takes the oath of office as Governor of North Carolina, he will immediately succeed to all the duties and prerogatives of that office—including that of being host at the executive mansion. Custom has been through the years for the retiring chief executive to ride in the parade with the Governor to the capitol where he formally transfers custody of the Great Seal of the State of North Carolina—and then fades out of the picture. From then on the new Governor or his boss of the office and host at the mansion. Custom further has been that the retiring executive did not attend the post-inaugural luncheon or reception. If he did, it was upon invitation of the Governor.

PRECEDENT — So many precedents have been smashed in recent weeks — and more are scheduled for the near future — that perhaps one or two more would not matter. But such masters of protocol as General Capus Wayneck and Secretary of State Thad Eure, admit concern about the plans for the ex-Governor to host the luncheon in a house belonging to all the people and of which he is no longer a legal resident. Chances are better than even that some changes will be made in that part of the program.

LONG SESSION — A popular sport among potential legislators and politically-minded citizens is speculating upon the length of the upcoming General Assembly. Preponderant majority opinion is that it will be a long session, with money and government reorganization — including apportionment and districting for representation in the Congress and the State Senate, occupying major interest.

John R. Jordan, Jr., senator from Wake county, discussed some of the issues before the Raleigh Kiwanis Club the other day. He indicated opinion of a prolonged session by a sort of casual observation that he thinks the Sanford program for an extra $106 million for public schools and submission of a bond issue for State aid for public school buildings will be "approved about the first week in June."

Other legislators-elect have been quoted as saying they will stay in session until July fourth or longer before they will accept certain proposals for reapportionment of legislative representation.

Present indications are that while the "New Day" program of Governor Sanford and its implication of additional tax requirements will occupy a lot of attention, the big issue in the 1961 Legislature will be redistricting and legislative apportionment. Some of the new Governor's staunchest supporters fear that his unwilling but unavoidable involvement in this controversy may jeopardize the chances for his own program.

Raising Of False Hopes

In a way, it's a shame the snow had to come. Now the little children, and grown-ups, too, will begin to dream of a white Christmas — we can't ever recall one in this part of the country.

The snow could be bad for this reason, causing people to wish for things that might not be. Then, if it should snow, there would be many a cancelled plane flight, many a relative who wouldn't make the homestead fire in time.

We think things are better off as they are. A little sample now and plenty of snow at Easter-time.

Discussion of the widow of the unknown soldier has prompted several remarks. One of the better ones comes

Other Editors Saying Kennedy & Interregnum

(Greensboro Daily News)
Any period during which the functions of government are suspended is called an "interregnum" (between dominion).

That is the kind of period the United States encounters now as President Eisenhower plans more qual shoots and golfing expeditions in sunnier climes next year and President-elect Kennedy toils over his cabinet selections in Palm-Beach and Washington.

An interregnum can be perilous in a monarchy or a dictatorship. It encourages intrigue and ambitious scheming. Even in a republic there are obvious dangers.

As the Eisenhower Administration departs, it leaves a combination of problems unexcelled for toughness since the departure of the Herbert Hoover in 1933.

At home there is a growing recession. Abroad the U.S. dollar is in deep trouble, brought on by a massive change in economic conditions all around the world.

President-elect Kennedy tried to pin-point some of these dangerous deficiencies during the late campaign. But the scope of the flight of gold from America and the unfavorable balance of trade could hardly be perceived until Mr. Eisenhower, waiting until after November 8 to act, announced that the families of U. S. servicemen would no longer be allowed to go overseas.

The mission failed. It failed in part because President Eisenhower had failed to pave the way for appropriate action earlier. But it also failed because Chancellor Adenauer obviously had little interest in doing business with a lame-duck administration.

These are no easy tasks. They

Great Human Goals

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Norman Cousins, editor of the "Saturday Review," says: "In the course of history, four great struggles have dominated human imagination and purpose."

"The first has been for safety against the elements and for subsistence.

"The second has been for freedom and growth.

"The third has been for development and distinction.

"The fourth has been for safety against war."

The record shows altogether a different course in man's development. Naturally in his most primitive stage, man sought for food and found it. The earliest paintings and ideographs show that. But immediately thereafter, man sought an explanation for himself and for those about him. In a word, he sought a cause, a first cause, for his existence. He came upon the idea of God. Sometimes he designated many natural phenomena as God; sometimes he reached the conclusion that there was one power, outside and beyond him, that established institutions such as the family and marriage, that gave life and death, and to whom one prayed either for favors or for the perfection of life.

Whatever we have of primitive art or literature establishes that after food and shelter even the most primitive man related himself to God.

His next development was an effort to discover right from wrong and if possible to institutionalize right by making it tradition, custom or law. We have a very long record of man's effort in this direction.

Tradition, custom and finally law are older in history than any other habits or institutions. It has been the revolt against custom and law which has changed civilizations, but these are not always for greater freedom; sometimes they have been for more orderly way of life. The Christian revolution within the Roman Empire was not for freedom, which at that moment meant licentiousness; it was for order, which at that moment meant morality.

In fact, such movements as the various types of Socialism, Communism, Nazism, Fascism — all the efforts of man that sprouted from Hegel, were not directed to freedom but to order. Marx, for instance, has nothing to do with individual liberty but with social order. It is necessary to get these movements in straight focus to understand why among nationalistic peoples seeking their place in the sun, Soviet Russia is not as abhorrent as it should be.

There is no substantial basis for Cousins' fourth effort. Man has made a meager search for safety against war and that so recently that it hardly has more than a footnote in history. In fact, up to 1960, it can be said that man's greatest effort has been for victory in war. The Congress of Vienna (1815, which sought to establish a permanent peace, was limited to Europe which is a small part of the Earth's surface. The League of Nations included the non-colonial nations of Asia and Latin America. It was an abortive effort, lasting not more than two decades and hardly influencing its own time. The United Nations, its successor, is now struggling for existence and is kept alive by the United States. Soviet Russia seeks to kill it off.

Efforts to summarize human history into simple aphorisms rarely lead to the truth, for man is a very complex character and history is by no means a simple tale to recite. We are at this moment, for instance, living at a time which can hardly be stated with great understanding. Journalistically it can be reported that these enormous, thunderous events are occurring:

1. A revolt against Western civilization is taking place throughout the world;

2. This revolution rejects Christianity, Capitalism, and Democracy, the principal characteristics of Western civilization;

3. It brings to the fore Afro-Asian peoples, hungry not only for food but for status and power;

Avoid the Last Minute Rush—Be Sure Your Christmas Cards and Gifts Arrive on Time.

Shopping Guides For Husbands, Wives

By LYDIA BICKFORD

Any man with money in his pocket can buy his wife exotic perfume at $50 an ounce, and deck her out in plum-colored velvet lounging pajamas.

But the husband with sensitivity will take time to plan his Christmas gifts with more on his mind than a price tag.

This Christmas he might well give his wife something continuing, that will last long after the Christmas wrappings have been thrown away. It could be a subscription to a concert series; membership in a monthly gourmet club, where a surprise package from countries arrives each month or membership in a monthly record, book, or art club.

If she's avid for culture, and feels her brains are stultifying, he could underwrite a course at the community adult school, or a book and author luncheon series. If she's household most of the time, it might be the price of a once-a-week baby sitter, so she can count on getting away from children and chores.

Can he give her something to make life easier? A horde of labor-saving devices are on the market, which will grind, blend, beat, stir and turn with no manual effort involved. But keep the household's kind of living in mind before making a heavy investment in gadgets. They will be labor-saving only if they are used.

Give her something for fun. It can be a surprise evening out, with husband arranging all details in secrecy, even if the evening is nothing more than the drive-in movie and a stop for pizza after the show. It's the surprise element that's important here. If she's sports-minded, give her that new badminton racket she would like, or a membership in the local bowling team. Or be completely uninhibited, and stick a flute or a drum from the 10-cent store in her stocking, for some after-Christmas merriment.

Something of glamor is an inspiration for any woman. Buy her the kind of gift she thinks she can't afford for herself. This requires being on the alert through the year for those moments when the wife says: "I'd love to have a . . ." The glamor may be nothing more costly than a big bottle of pine bubble bath or a veil-hat sprinkled with rhinestones. But it can make the wife feel more like a woman than a slave.

How about a present for the spirit, a gift that is neither efficient nor practical? Inexpensive reproductions of masterpieces are readily available. Museums offer bargain copies of pieces of sculpture that are as faithful in feeling as the original. A piece of beautiful glass or a pewter pitcher may not be used, but can be lovely to look at.

And since Christmas is not just for today, give her something for her dreams. She wants to travel, and there are too many family obligations. Let her travel vicariously with a sheaf of cruise folders and package plans. Or she wishes the family could have a boat . . . someday, maybe. There are books and magazines galore on family cruising for escape reading.

In the family excitement over Christmas for the children, father is likely to be low man on the totem pole—paying the bills, but putting his own wants last.

This situation can be remedied if the wife takes a little time to analyze just what the head of the house yearns for, but never says. What would he enjoy alone, away from the family? If he's a fixer, she can add to his collection of cherished tools so his projects can be expanded. If he'd like to be a fixer, but has no place to call his own, perhaps she can dedicate a part of the basement or a corner of the garage where he can putter undisturbed. What would he like to enjoy with the family? Christmas is a same-giving time, so consider the merits of croquet or horseshoes. Or choose from a horde of table games which all can enjoy.

What would help him in his work? If he's a man who must drive a real deal, a car map case—with pockets for cigarettes, flashlight, notebook—is an efficient organizer. Or if his briefcase has had it, invest in a new one, perhaps the attache type which will make him look as successful as he would like to be. If much of his work is done at the desk at home, give his work space a new lease on life with an attractive desk set.

What would he like to add to his collection? Whether he is interested in old maps, putting beads in bottles, or running model trains, there's always more to be had, to make his leisure-time pursuits more fun.

What would he like that's totally different? The world is filled with husbands on their way up who've never stopped for hobbies. Christmas is the time to introduce a new lease on life, to suggest subtly—that a little leisure is good for any man. An experimental and inexpensive set of oil paints or charcoal may startle him at first, then interest him as a relaxer. Music may be the answer, and a ukelele—shades of his youth!—may be fun, once he stops being self-conscious about it.

What would he like to keep him young at heart? Bread-winning takes a lot out of a man, and responsibilities make him forget he was ever carefree. Sign him up for a ballroom dancing course.

so he and the samba can get acquainted. If there's dust on the golf bag, buy him a new club as a gentle suggestion. Or if he complains that his muscles are tension-bound, underwrite an executive-type session at the YMCA, where the punching bag and the steam table will take years from his life.

What can she give to pamper her husband? Christmas is a good time to indulge his whims, a time to throw good sense out the picture window. It might be a tobacco he doesn't buy for himself, a striking tattersall vest, a really elegant travelling kit, or a good-looking bottle of spicy cologne.

Even the most Spartan father will find himself relaxing on Christmas Day, if he finds these surprises waiting for him.

Popular Supersize

Supersize bedding is becoming increasingly popular, according to a well known mattress manufacturer. Sales indicate, according to this source, that one out of five of the firm's mattresses purchased falls into the extra large category. The demand for supersize is greatest on the East and West coasts with the midlands trailing. Among the various reasons for this trend, it was noted, are the growing physical stature of the average person, the availability of extra size accessories including sheets, spreads and headboards, and the price range, which is comparable to a set of twin mattresses and

Book Club Meets

The Ex Libris Club was entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Alton Rodgers.

The vice-president, Mrs. Claude T. Smith, presided. At the conclusion of the business session, Mrs. Nathan Roberson gave a program on "The Churches of Our Community," using a hand-drawn map to show the location of each of these buildings. After relating the early history of each, she progressed through the years stating noteworthy facts about each denomination.

During the social hour that followed, the hostess served assorted sandwiches, cookies and hot spiced tea.

DRESSING FOR SLAW

Old-fashioned dressing for slaw: cream seasoned with salt and cayenne and made sweet-sour with sugar and vinegar. Don't forget the final touch—add some celery seeds.

Christmas Toyland Is Brimful With Wanted Goodies

STUFFED ANIMALS are bigger than ever, even have a theme.

PUPPETS, this one a crow, are always fun for rainy days.

ASTRO-BASE is space vehicle worked by remote control.

Toyland, 1960, is as up-to-date as the space age while retaining some pleasant reminders of the past.

For modern junior astronauts, there's an electric computing machine with reasoning "brain," a playroom tape recorder, microscope with group viewer, a radiation meter, an astro base and miniature extruding plant that turns out plastic girders, according to Toy Guidance Council.

Mobiles of the solar system hang over rocket sleds and remote-controlled air cars moving by jet streams.

Crowding these for favor are some old standbys with new refinements: Shooting irons which ricochet, whine, and simulate smoke. One new pistol strapped to the forearm flips into the palm ready for action, just by flexing a muscle.

Also recreating the past are Civil War costumes, an 1861 style army supply train, movies about knights in the Middle Ages, Ben Hur and other historical tales with play costumes.

A kit of large plastic building blocks decorated with authentic hieroglyphics is new for the junior antiquarian.

The luxury level of the American standard of living is reproduced in a customized sports car, rotary lawn mower, spin and dry washer and child size build-in kitchen equipment. There's also a game whose object is to become a millionaire.

Polyethylene plastic is used for large toy versions of the operating crane and the fire engine—big enough for children to ride.

The racing car is a favorite in the hobby classification. Everybody gets in the act from the toddler, with a wooden "racer" to push around, to teen-agers, who build customized racers modeled after the choicest makes. Vying with electric railroad tracks systems in popularity are track layouts for racing cars operated by remote control.

In electric trains attention continues to be given to new kinds of rolling stock. There is a car designed for pickle transportation and a train which carries a rocket launcher, a submarine and a helicopter.

There's a new transistor radio for junior which has no ear piece. A safety saw has a battery powered jig saw that cuts plastic foam squares.

New for the crib set is a clock-shaped device which produces pictures to match nursery rhymes which are played by the music box inside.

Moving Snow To Space Indoors

BOSTON (AP)—Strange are the ways of modern man confronted with a 13-inch snowstorm. In downtown Boston, the snow-clogged streets just can't take any more snow heaved from sidewalks. So some thinking men in the Franklin Street Building of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. came up with an idea. Take the snow indoors. They hugged it into the underground garage, dumped it on the car wash stand and let melting proceed.

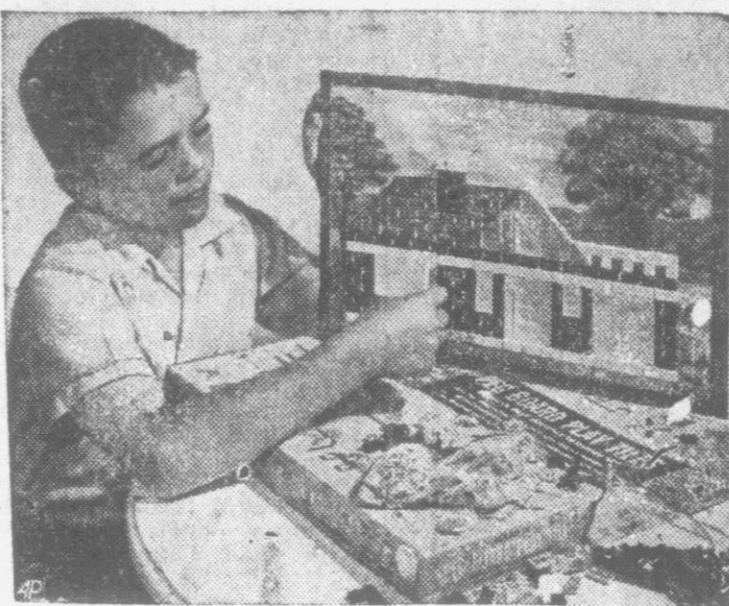

Balloons become noses attached to colored cardboard bodies.

PLAY-TILE can be laid in variety of designs.

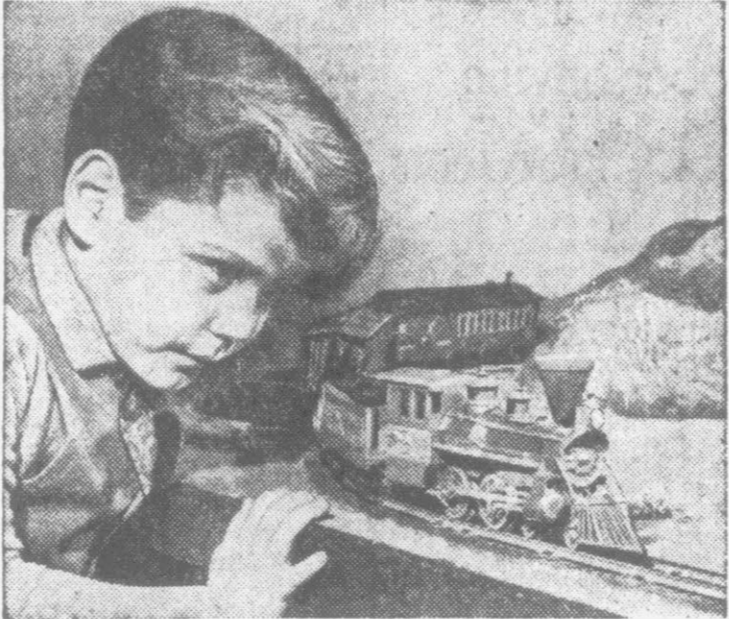

ELECTRIC TRAIN modeled after those of Civil War period.

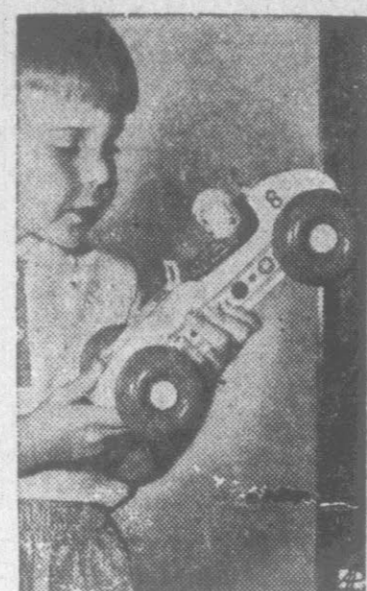

BALLOONS become noses attached to colored cardboard bodies.

RACING CARS appeal to tiny tots, too.

CRANE perfect for junior builders.

Belvoir-Falkland Honor Students Are Listed

By NADINE GARRIS
BELVOIR—Report cards went out here Monday bringing to a close the second grading period of the current school year. Only two students—sophomores Beverly Gaynor and Melba Everett—were included on the second period honor roll.
Principal Ed Warren's principal's list, however, included 14 Belvoir-Falkland High students.
Listed on that honor sheet were: Seniors—Carolyn Harris, Frances Edwards, Clayton Mayo, Calvin Brit, and Joan Harris. Juniors—Melvin Nelson and Carol Norville; Sophomores—Sue Pierce; and Freshmen—Faye Evette, Dwight Eastwood, Carolyn Hathaway, Albert Heath, Wayland Whiteley, and Charlie Tver.
Requirements for the honor roll include grades of "A" on all subjects and a grade of "H" (honor) on conduct. Students qualifying for the principal's list must receive grades of "A" on at least half the courses with no grade less than "B" and a satisfactory con-

PTA
The Parent-Teacher Association of Belvoir-Falkland is scheduled to meet for the third time this year Monday night.

The program will be presented by students in grades five through 12. Mrs. Florence Scott, music director, will be in charge assisted by Mrs. Randolph Fleming and Mrs. Louise Hellwig.

The Nativity Scene will be enacted by the student group while the Junior and Senior Glee Clubs sing Christmas favorites.
PTA officials have extended a "cordial invitation" to the public to attend the program beginning at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

That Snake Was Not A Souvenir

PITTSBURG, Kan. (AP)—Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Plifford Mattivi of Pittsburg are avid souvenir collectors.
When the family returned from a visit to the St. Louis zoo, Mrs. Mattivi fell, momentarily, that they had gone a bit too far. Entering the home, Mrs. Mattivi reached down to pick up what she thought was a belt one of the members of the family had dropped. The belt raised its head and hissed.
The family convinced Mrs. Mattivi it was a harmless snake that must have crawled in through the attic fan. But first they had to get her to come back inside the house.

4. The West, which since Henry the Navigator (1394-1460) ruled as much of the world as it knew, seems to be emotionally and intellectually paralyzed by this revolt;
5. The United Nations, created to maintain a Western concept of peace, is becoming an Afro-Asian instrument of power;
6. Instruments of war of frightful magnitude have been developed in the United States and Soviet Russia which are so simple in construction that the smallest nations can manufacture them or counterparts of them, thus making them useless as instruments for the avoidance of war.
This is a journalistic report. But what will the historian eventually say of it? The historian is still interpreting the fall of the Roman Empire.

Focus On Health

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Some ski facts, defenses against virus diseases, and question on anemia are among the week's medical notes:
SKI STOP
A skier weighing 150 pounds and traveling at 30 miles an hour develops a momentum of 6,600 foot-pounds per second. If he stops within two feet, the stopping force is 2,250 pounds. So it's not surprising that about 90 per cent of all skiing injuries involve the ankles, knees, and legs, comments Dr. William B. McCunniff in Missouri Medicine.

Dry Skin Treatment
A daily bath in water containing a little oil reduced annoying dryness of skin in 90 per cent of patients, a physician reports.
Their skin became softer and smoother, and patients reported benefits in such problems as aged skin, burn scars, and skin inflammations. The bath is not a cure, and dryness reappears if the bathing is stopped. But Dr. Gustav Weissberg thinks it was more beneficial in relieving skin troubles than ointments, creams and lotions.

Virus Disease Defenses
Researchers have found three types of chemicals which prevent viruses from multiplying without hurting normal cells.
Future studies will show whether these or related substances can be useful in preventing or treating human virus diseases, which include the common cold, flu, polio, and smallpox, says Dr. Igor Tamm of the Rockefeller Institute.

The three virus inhibitors are a synthetic chemical nicknamed HBB, a mold product known as helenine, and substances produced by virus action and known as interferons. Each protects cells in test tubes against viral damage and shows some protective activity in experimental virus infections in animals, he adds.

Anemia and Vitamin
Proposition: "Anemia is usually caused by vitamin deficiencies."
Wrong, very wrong, says Dr. Richard W. Vilter of the University of Cincinnati.

Most Americans get enough vitamins in their daily food, and not more than four per cent of anemia in this country is due to vitamin deficiency, he reports. Some 18 per cent of cases are due to iron deficiency, from chronic loss of blood and the rest to causes not connected with the diet.

Sleep Pill
Anxiety is a common cause of insomnia. Tranquilizers can relieve anxiety.

Reasoning that a combination of a tranquilizer and a barbiturate sleeping pill might make it easier to get to sleep, Dr. Wesley W. Bare of Philadelphia tested such a combination on a group of elderly patients.
The combination permitted using less customary amounts of the barbiturate, he said, and worked better than the sleeping pill alone. And patients reported fewer hangovers the next morning from the sleeping drug.
Cause of Stuttering?
From the psychoanalytic point of view, stuttering consists of a conflict between the traits of loquaciousness and taciturnity, suggests Dr. Joseph C. Solomon, University of California psychiatrist.

When both the motivation to speak and the motivation to remain silent work together, stuttering results. He compares it to accelerating a car in gear, while keeping the brakes on.
Rheumatic Hearts
Damage to the heart from rheumatic heart disease can be prevented if steroids, such as the hormone cortisone, are given very early in the disease.

Heart damage occurred in only two per cent of patients if cortisone or another steroid was given during the first week of rheumatic disease, reports Dr. William Likoff of Hahnemann Medical College.
But about half the patients developed heart damage if cortisone was delayed until the second week, and 90 per cent had heart damage if treatment was not begun until the sixth week, statistics show.

Magazine Plans Writing Contest
East Carolina College's student literary magazine "The Rebel" will conduct for the second year a writing contest with the purpose of discovering, encouraging, and recognizing talent on the campus.

J. Roy Martin, Jr., of Greenville, editor, has announced that the contest is open to all students at the college and that awards will be made to authors of the best short story, essay, and poem. Runners-up will receive honorable mention. The winning selections will be published in the spring issue of "The Rebel."

A short-story contest was held last year for the first time by "The Rebel" and created considerable interest among students interested in creative writing. Elfred Alexander of Roper, then a senior at the college and now a secretary in the office of President Leo W. Jenkins of the college, was winner.

"The Rebel" was first published on the campus in the spring quarter of 1958 and, since then, has been issued each quarter of the regular school year under the sponsorship of the Student Government Association. Recognized as one of the outstanding student literary magazines in colleges and universities of the state, "The Rebel" includes in its contents short stories, essays, poems, book reviews, art, and other creative work by students.

After 11 Years, Can Use A Hand

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Miss Ruth Bostian recently picked up a cup of water in one hand—the first time she had been able to do so in 11 years.

It had been that long since she dove into a swimming pool at East Carolina College and broke her neck. The injury cost her the use of a hand and wrist muscles needed for grasping.
Lifting the cup was a triumph for Miss Bostian a former WAVE, and for Homer Hughes who designed a delicate set of braces for her at McGuire Veterans Hospital.

His Paperweight Was Only A Dud
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Frank Nevarea, night watchman at the Pima County Courthouse, noticed an ugly-looking grenade on the desk of Asst. Planning Director John Tsaguris.

Nevarea called police. Officers notified demolition experts from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base. They pronounced the grenade a dud.

Tsaguris said he was amazed at all the fuss. He had been using the grenade as a paperweight for the last year.

Better Work On Good Breakfast
URBANA, Ill. (AP)—A good breakfast helps you start the day fresher and more energetic.
A study at the University of Illinois shows that workers who tuck away a good meal before work get more done than those who skip breakfast or eat a poor one.

It suggests including a good source of protein, such as eggs, meat or milk.

Blizzard Melted Big City's Heart

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—It takes a blizzard to melt the cold, cold heart of the world's greatest city. So, if you want to see America's leading metropolis at its friendliest, be sure to come here during a blinding snowstorm.

A human thaw occurs that turns sprawling Gotham into a small town of some eight million neighbors.

A 17-inch snowfall here this week proved that again. A big storm always does.

On ordinary days a stranger seeing Manhattan for the first time gets the eerie impression he has been set down in a vast civic madhouse.

Everybody seems to be in a tremendous rush to get from where he is to where he isn't. Each person acts as if he were carrying an important message to Garcia. Each person appears to believe the other eight million citizens is trying to block his path.

It is a city where folks don't really seem to have time for each other. It is a city where you start mumbling "G'bye" before you finish saying "Hi."

To many visitors, awed by the pace here, New York appears less a city than a huge traffic problem—an intricate maze endlessly threaded by two-legged ants hopped up by pep pills, ants and lessily bumping into each other, ricocheting, and then bumping on, growling.

But let five or more inches of snow fall, and all this magically changes.

The daily scramble to gain an edge on the other fellow is forgotten. The subway stare—that self-protective look of indifference—disappears.

The city becomes a common white battleground on which the community forges a fresh unity. Gallantry emerges. Men cheerfully break paths through the deepening snow, and old ladies follow in their footsteps. The bus driver no longer shuts his door even atop his bus in the middle of the block to pick up a red-faced, panting pilgrim of the drifts.

Ill-temper vanishes. Good nature reigns. An almost frolic atmosphere takes over. People share cabs who never shared cabs before. Strangers grin and speak to each other. Everybody suddenly has time to be helpful.

It might make the big city a better place to live in if it were hit with a real blizzard at least once a month throughout the year—just so it could show its real human heart more often.

Reunited After Trip Went Awry
CUSHING, Okla. (AP)—The Paul Johnson family is reunited after a trip to Michigan that went awry and a three-state search for 16-year-old George Ray Johnson.

The family was en route in two vehicles with the boy driving a truck and his parents in the family car. The father told George to drive to Springfield, meaning Springfield, Mo. But the boy misunderstood and drove to Springfield, Ill.

"I thought Pop was away off the beam when he wanted me to drive so far but it was 'do or die' with m and I made it," the youth said after the family was brought together again.

A Number Of 'Nature' Books Among Additions To Library's Non-Fiction

In addition to customary books on history, current events, religion and biography, the new non-fiction book list at the library includes a substantial number of "nature" books and others of miscellaneous subjects.

Examples of the nature books are "The Forest and the Sea" by Marston Bates, a look at the economy of nature and the ecology of man; "Windows in the Woods" by Heinz Silmann, an account of a remarkable discovery in photographing birds; "Edible Wild Plants of Eastern North America" by Merritt L. Fernald and Alfred Kinsey covers all of the edible flowering plants and ferns, plus important mushrooms, seaweeds and lichens growing wild east of the Great Plains and north of Peninsular Florida. Telling how and why insects behave as they do is Hiram J. Herbert in "Wonder-Workers of the Insect World."

Other nature books include "A Zoo in my Luggage" by Gerald Durrell, a humorous story of an animal collector, and "The Balance of Nature" by Louis and Marjorie Milne, discloses the fierce impact of man upon animal life and of animals upon one another and upon the plant life of the earth.

Special mention

Of special interest to North Carolinians will be "Josephus Daniels in Mexico" by E. David Cannon, aims to show something of the complicated nature and problems of Good Neighbor diplomacy by examining the mission of one of its most dedicated adherents, Ambassador Josephus Daniels. Daniels also served as Secretary of the Navy and was a member of an outstanding N. C. newspaper family, serving himself as editor.

Art lovers in the community will find several books of note. A book on French painting, "The Impressionist Painters" by Maurice Serullaz has been included in the new selections. Also, "Dictionary of European Art" by Emerich Schafiran.

An eyewitness account of the woman suffrage campaign in Washington, which culminated in passage of the 19th amendment, is told by Maud Wood Park in "Front Door Lobby."

Some of the other special interest books would include "The Essence of Beauty" by Aytoun Ellis, a history of perfume and cosmetics; "Saddle Up" by F. C. Hitchcock, a guide to equitation and stable management, including hints to instructors; "Feast-Day Cakes from Many Lands" by Dorothy G. Spicer, a holiday cookbook of nearly 160 easy-to-make cake and cookie recipes.

Lewis W. Beck tells about philosophy in "Six Secular Philosophers."

Words, Literature
The field of words and literature, there are several new additions to the library's collections: "Words: Spelling, Pronunciation, Definition and Application" by Herbert A. Haggar; "Wilderness of Ladies" by Eleanor Ross Taylor, a book of poetry; "The Poetry of the American Civil War" by Lee Steinmetz.

History
New history books are "Seven Men at Daybreak" by Alan Burgess, a story of World War II; "Lee's Last Campaign" by Clifford Dowdley, the story of Lee and his men against Grant—1864; "Carp's Washington" by Frank G. Carpenter, Washington in the 1800's; "The Liberal Hour" by John Kenneth Galbraith, treats current problems with seriousness, clarity and a delightfully ironic wit.

Also, "Beefsteak Raid" by Edward Boydin, a book on the Civil War; "Israel Resurgent" by Norman Bentwich, an account of the creation of the state of Israel and of its development since it was established in 1949; "Confederate Edged Weapons" by William A. Alborough III, describes fully and pictures the swords, pikes and lances, bayonets, and bowie knives used by the Confederate Army; "The Burden of Southern History" by C. Vann Woodward, discusses the distinctive Southern heritage and its relationship to the future of American life.

Biography
Among new biographical and autobiographical material are "A Good Fight" by Jean Gould, the story of F. D. Roosevelt's conquest of polio; "A Fitting Death for Billy the Kid" by Ramon F. Adams; "Portrait of Max" by S. N. Behrman, an intimate memoir of Sir Max Beerbohm; "Extra Pound" by Charles Norman, a biography; " Jenner and the Miracle of Vaccine" by Edward F. Dolan, Jr., a biography of Edward Jenner; "Zsa Zsa Gabor" by Gerold Frank, a full-length portrait of one of the most fascinating women of our time; "The War: Memoirs of Charles De Gaulle," a story of the World War II; "The Yanks Are Coming" by the editors of the Army Times, the story of Gen. John J. Pershing.

Others
The remaining books include: "The Weans" by Robert Nathan, a story of the expeditions of Kenya University's greatest scientists; "Paul's Message and Mission" by William Baird, a vital study of the New Testament, based on the writings and incidents in the life of the apostle Paul; "The Vocation of Single Woman" by A. M. Carre, a symposium of views and testimonies; "A Quota of Seaweed" by Hamilton Basso, persons and places in Brazil, Spain, Honduras, Jamaica, Tahiti and Samoa.

"Worship Programs for Juniors" by Alice Bays and Elizabeth Oakberg; "Seven into Space" by Joseph N. Bell, the story of the Mercury astronauts; "Is Europe Necessary?" by Ronald M. Deutsch, a satiric spoof on the "travel-to-Europe" syndrome; "College for Coeds" by Leo C. Muller and Ouida G. Muller, designed to show girls how higher education will help them to grow mentally, physically and emotionally; "Coin Dictionary and Guide" by C. C. Chamberlain and Fred Reinfeld; a ready-reference guide for all grades of coin collectors; "New York Giants" by Don Smith, a story of the New York Football Giants.

"Land of the Snowshoe Hare" by Virginia S. Eifert, a story of the North Woods, a book to transport the reader into some of America's best loved and least crowded vacation country; "Nine Months to Go" by Robert McNair Mitchell, a guide for parents on the problems and experiences of pregnancy.

Pactolus School PTA Hears Talk On Cancer

By BRENDA HART

FACTOLUS — Pactolus Elementary School's Parent-Teacher Association held its regular meeting Monday with Dr. Howard H. Gradis of Greenville as guest speaker. The Greenville general surgeon spoke on the "Signs and Cures of Cancer" and accompanied his remarks with a movie illustrating physical examinations in connection with cancer.

Following his presentation, Dr. Gradis conducted a question-and-answer period. A considerable number of PTA members responded by questioning Dr. Gradis regarding cancer.

B.W. Baker, president of the local chapter, conducted a brief business session and called for routine reports. Mrs. Jessie B. Little, chairman of the membership drive; D. R. House Jr., chairman of the ways and means committee; and Mrs. Bruce Hart, representative for Pactolus grade mothers, submitted reports to the meeting.

Rooms winning prizes for the most parents present were Mrs. Marrit L. Clark's third and fourth grade combination and Mrs. Minnie J. Stancill's fifth grade.

HD Supper
The Pactolus Home Demonstration Club Tuesday entertained members' husbands and guests at a buffet supper at the Pactolus Community Building. Mrs. C.J. Satterthwaite welcomed guests and introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Milton Maye.

Tables were covered with white linen and decorated with red berries and Christmas greenery.

Following a turkey supper, Mrs. Maye spoke on the fall harvest and demonstrated several Christmas decoration methods.

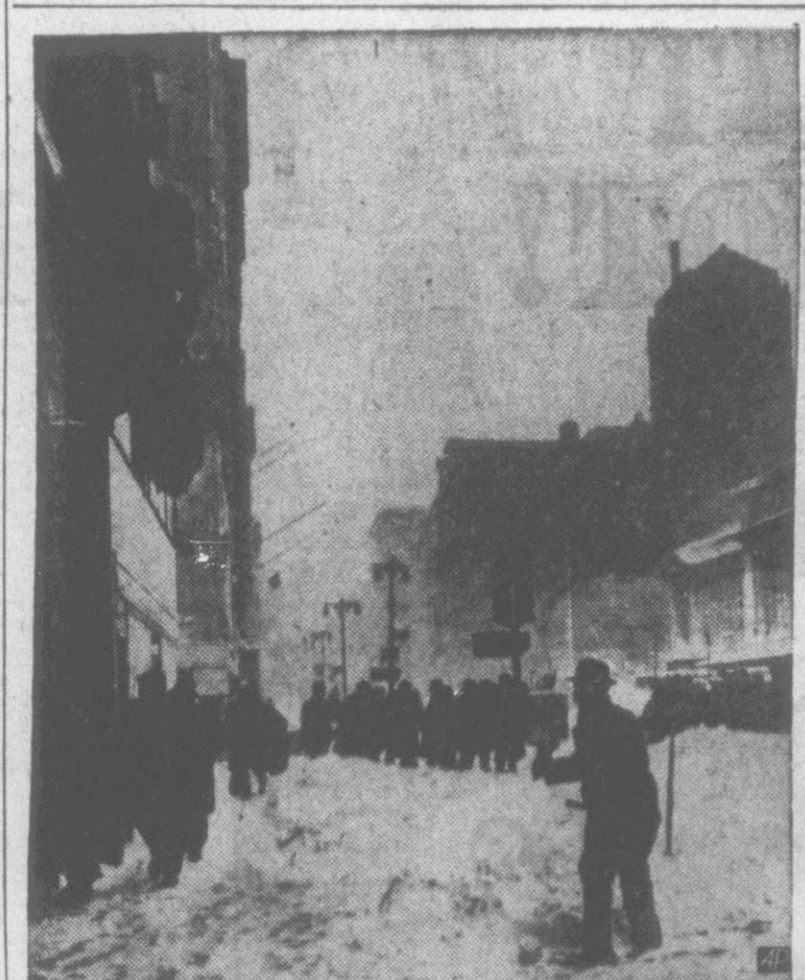

Mrs. Roscoe Barnhill entertained the group with Christmas games and Mrs. Paul Davenport Sr. led the group in singing Christmas carols.

Missile Does Impossible Feat

BALTIMORE (AP) — A crew member of the U. S. Canberra, Seaman Gil Jory of Baltimore, wrote home with some startling news after the cruiser's recent goodwill tour.

"A new time barrier was broken," he said, "when Canberra, firing one of her famous Terrier missiles from west to east across the International Date Line, accomplished the hitherto impossible feat of firing a missile on one day and intercepting the missile target the day before."

College Varsity Band Organized

With 57 student musicians as members, the East Carolina College Varsity Band has just been organized for the 1960-1961 term and has elected a slate of officers to direct activities of the ensemble. With the East Carolina Marching Band and the East Carolina Concert Band, the Varsity organization completes a group of three bands on the campus.

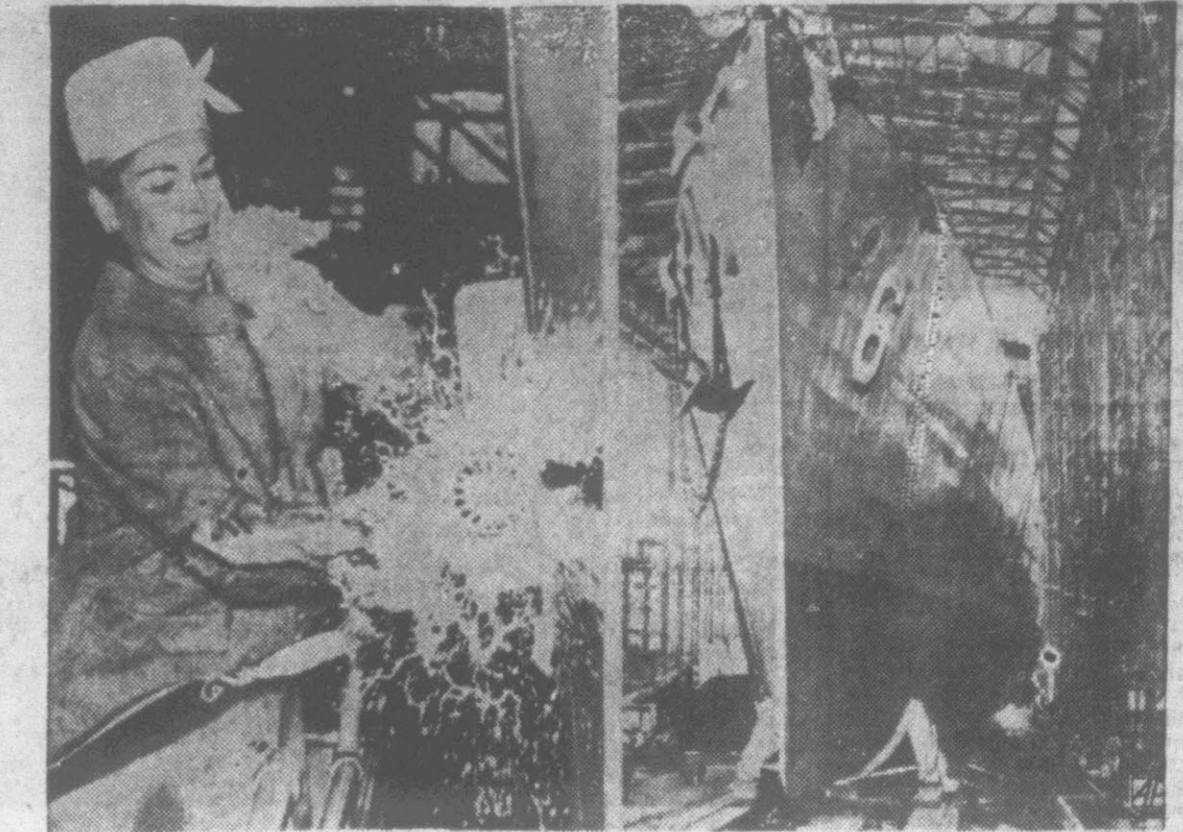

The Varsity Band is composed of students in the department of music and other student instrumentalists interested in rehearsing and performing together. Thomas Miller of the department of music directs the group, which has been organized on the campus each winter quarter since 1959.

Larry K. Weatherly of Hamlet was chosen by members as their president for the current school year. A sophomore at East Carolina, he plays the baritone horn in the band. Other officers are Robert Murrephy of Washington, vice president; and Peggy Morse of Rockingham, secretary treasurer.

Plans for the year include a concert tentatively scheduled for March 14 and a lawn concert May 7.

Members of the group, listed with the instruments they play, include three students from Pitt County. They are: Sarah E. Smiley, Greenville, clarinet; Joe Flake, Farmville, trumpet; and J. Mack Worthington, Winterville, trombone.

Tokyo Is Getting Ready For Great Big Christmas

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

TOKYO (AP) — Even Dakko-chan looks like Santa Claus. That's the sign that Tokyo, too, is getting ready for a big Christmas.

Dakko-chan, the clinging, wink-doll that Japan gave to the world, now shows up in the streets, usually wearing a red jacket hat and sporting a white beard.

Recorded renditions of "Jingle Bells" and Japanese language versions of "Silent Night" fill the air. Bells bearing real looking glass images of a mother and child extend over the sidewalks of the Ginza, Tokyo's famed tourist, shopping restaurant night club, cabaret area.

On one of the busiest intersections a cardboard choir of blond youngsters reads three stories, the first printed on giant letters saying "Xmas sale."

One of the big department stores boasts a mammoth sprawling evergreen laden with artificial snow. Smaller trees in the expensive jewelry shops are decked with pearls and other baubles.

Many big stores have window decorations that might give New York's Fifth Avenue a brief run for the money.

That is more than a figure of speech, since the Japanese effort is aimed directly at the commercial aspect of the Christmas holiday. Except for a scattering of Japanese Christians and a few Western residents, Japan does not observe Christmas as a day of religious significance. But it is the time of the traditional year-end bonus for most Japanese workers and alert merchant is bidding for the money.

This year the escalators, elevator and stairways of the big stores are jammed with shoppers. Counters, shops and racks are overflowing with goods. Wrappings for packages bear holiday greetings and trimmings.

Railway stations in the heart of the city have Christmas trees. The "pachinko" or pinball parlors have added to their garish decorations signs saying "Merry Xmas" in English and Japanese.

Tea and coffee houses have scattered tinsel, wreaths, stars and bells with a lavish hand. Petite girls in the confectionery shop wear Santa type jackets and hats of red and white.

FANS GO WILD — Youthful spectators react with excitement at a Punch and Judy show in London. The show was part of Quaglino's tea party for benefit of the Children and Family World Community Chest, an organization helping refugees in Europe.

Human Male Pouring Millions Into 'Good Grooming' Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The human male is preening himself as never before. He's pouring literally millions of dollars into what he prefers to call good grooming—shaving lotions, colognes, powders, hair tonic, hair pieces and hair dyes.

This goes on the year around as the male, openly or surreptitiously, buys these things at the stores or frequents the barber shops and other establishments dedicated to even more glamorous grooming.

But at Christmas the women march into the picture. They buy the major share of men's gift toiletries. Merchants say they are about equally attracted by what the products promise to do for the men in their lives and by the ornate packaging that sprouts luxuriantly at this season.

Companies bent on making the men look better or smell sweeter—or be odor free altogether—mushroom on all sides. Often they are divisions of larger chemical, soap or drug companies. Sometimes they are names better known in the field of women's cosmetics.

Manufacturers of after-shave lotions say this year's sales should top the 1959 record of $50.1 million. This total was a 126.3 per cent jump since 1946. In that period women's perfumes and toilet waters increased in sales volume by 104.6 per cent.

Men rarely buy items labeled perfume for themselves. But they do spend around $94 million a year for items called luxury fragrance.

This fragrance buying is over and above the estimated $271 million spent on men's shaving preparations—after-shave lotions and creams, electric pre shave and ordinary talc in 1959.

Men's deathless fight against baldness and dandruff swells sales totals year by year. Men's hair tonic sales are estimated at $69.85 million annually for hair tonic. This climbs at a rate of at least 5 per cent a year.

The nationwide industry that caters to men who have lost or are losing the battle of baldness also runs into the millions a year category, with exact figures lacking. But there's a smart sale of hair pieces of all sizes—"Men never tug wigs," say the dressers of men's craniums.

Companies bent on making the men look better or smell sweeter—or be odor free altogether—mushroom on all sides. Often they are divisions of larger chemical, soap or drug companies. Sometimes they are names better known in the field of women's cosmetics.

Santa And Christmas Tree Have Perhaps Oddest Traditions Of All

By JULES LOH
AP Staff Writer

Most traditions are children of strange ancestry, and the two most popular Christmas customs—Santa Claus and the Christmas tree—may have the strangest heritage of them all.

Does it come as a surprise that the lighted tree is entirely Christian in origin while the jolly figure sometimes called St. Nick was born of pagan parents?

True, the name Santa Claus is derived from St. Nicholas—or Sinter Klaas, as the Dutch called him. But the saint and the elf have nothing in common except the name.

This is how they came to be joined in Christmas lore:

For years the feast of St. Nicholas, Dec. 6, was observed in Europe by giving gifts to children. He is their patron saint, and the custom still is practiced in some European countries.

Few historical facts are known about the saint. He was bishop of Myra in Asia Minor and died about the year 350. He was an orphan, and a generally accepted legend is he often helped poor children by slipping coins through their windows at night.

Dutch immigrants to America brought the traditional Dec. 5 "visit from St. Nicholas" to their colony of New Amsterdam. They had clung to the custom even after the Reformation.

Later, when the English founded the colony of New York in the same territory, their children liked the idea of a nocturnal visitor coming to their homes, too. But the idea of a bishop was disagreeable to the New Yorkers, many of whom were Presbyterians. Also, they did not celebrate feasts of saints.

In the withered pages of Germanic folklore, familiar to these Anglo-Saxons, was the pagan god Thor.

He was the god of the peasants; an elderly, jovial man with a long white beard. His color was red, his element was fire, and the hearth was sacred to him. On the occasions when he left his home among the icebergs of the Northland, he frequently would come down chimneys into his element. He rode in a chariot pulled by two white goats, Cracker and Gnasher.

Exchanging gifts at Christmas was traditional with the English-Americans, and it was not surprising the jolly old elf now familiar to us all, should emerge as the new delivery boy.

Santa Claus is strictly an American citizen.

The source for this Christmas lore is the Rev. Francis X. Welser, S.J. of Weston College, Mass. He is one of the nation's foremost authorities on the subject, and also gives the derivation of the Christmas tree.

In medieval days a favorite pre-Christmas pageant was the "Paradise Play," depicting the fall of Adam and Eve, the promise of a Savior and the ensuing birth of Christ.

A fir tree hung with apples represented the Garden of Eden, and the symbol soon found its way into homes on the feast day of Adam and Eve, Dec. 24.

Germans also had the custom of erecting in their homes during Advent a candle-bedecked wooden pyramid topped by a star, signifying the "light of the world" which shone from the stable at Bethlehem.

During the 16th century they began combining the two symbols, usually adding beneath the tree the Christmas crib which formerly stood at the foot of the pyramid.

Trees began appearing in American homes after the first big wave of German immigration in about 1700.

Year-Old Son Is Also A Skater

VINELAND, N. J. (AP) — An attractive young mother with a yen to go roller skating has solved her baby-sitting problem. She does not hire one.

Instead, Mrs. George Phifer takes her year-old baby, Mark, along to the rink when she and her husband go.

What's more, she lets the child skate. She's equipped him with special roller skates which enable him to glide around the floor, with a gentle assist from mother.

Mrs. Phifer says Mark is the youngest boy ever to roll around the local rink.

Safety Steps On Pools Advised

HARVARD, Ill. (AP) — Swimming pools, a pleasure to some folks, often are a menace to children and wildlife.

The National Swimming Pool Institute headquartered here says the backyard plunge needs fencing in and covering to provide a safety factor that is required by law in some areas.

The fences of hedges or walls and wire reduce wind velocity so that the pool area is warmer. Covers made it impossible for wandering child to fall into a pool. It also prevents small wild animals from becoming trapped.

They sat politely as the lecturer spoke on domestic and imported wines. Their thirst for learning was rewarded when the speaker uncorked 36 bottles of wine at the end of the session.

Kentucky is no longer the college basketball power it was in the good old days, but the Wildcats can still pull one out of the bag once in a while.

They did Tuesday night, turning back favored, previously unbeaten and fifth-ranked North Carolina 70-65. Trailing 27-26 at halftime, the Wildcats roared back in the second half behind the slick shooting of Ned Jennings and Bill Lickert.

It had to be a good night for at least one other Kentucky school because Louisville and Western Kentucky were matched in the finals of the Bluegrass Tournament, the first major tourney of the season. Ninth-ranked Louisville won 86-71 to lift its record to 7-0. Utah State settled for third place by downing Georgia Tech 67-62.

Cincinnati showed it can win without Oscar Robertson, while West Virginia did the same without Jerry West. Both All-Americans were lost through graduation.

The Bearcats beat Loyola of Los Angeles 74-53, and West Virginia nipped Richmond 75-72. Cincinnati has won four games and lost one, while the Mountaineers are 3-2.

Kentucky's fine free-throw shooting was the difference against North Carolina. The Wildcats hit 28 of 34 and had a stretch of 18 straight in the second half until they missed one. Jennings scored 19 points. Larry Pursifull had 17, including 11 of 11 from the free-throw line, while Lickert had 16, including a second half basket that sent Kentucky in front to stay.

John Turner, named the most valuable player in the Bluegrass competition, led Louisville with 25 points. He had 11 of 11 foul shots. Charles Osborne had 17 points for Western Kentucky, which suffered an initial setback.

Utah State had to put down a Georgia Tech rally to pull out the consolation game. The Engineers, trailing by nine at the intermission, closed the gap to 63-62 with 17 seconds left. But State put together four straight points to seal it up.

Cincinnati sank 14 of 23 field goal attempts in the first half and ran up a 32-21 half-time lead over Loyola. Bob Wiesenbahn, usually a defensive standout, headed the Bearcat offense in the first half with 11 points and finished with 17. Teammate Paul Hogue led both teams with 20 points.

West Virginia had to stall the final four minutes to keep from blowing a 15-point lead to a tough Richmond team. With Lee O'Byrne and Dick Haymore leading the way, Richmond cut a 69-54 deficit to 73-70 with four minutes to go. The Mountaineers held the ball for more than two minutes before shaking Nick Vonic loose for a clinching field goal.

In other games, VMI's Keydeis, led by Norm Halberstadt's 27 points, whipped Virginia for the first time since 1943. The score was 75-63. Marquette overcame an early 17-point deficit to turn back Wichita's Shockers 83-79.

Oklahoma City posted its fifth triumph in a row, 68-54 over Baylor. Tulsa downed Arkansas 64-59 and Jerry Graves had 28 points to lead Mississippi State to a 98-75 triumph over Spring Hill of Mobile, Ala.

In the Quantico Tournament, the host Quantico Marines welcomed Atlantic Christian 78-59, American University nipped Buffalo 67-65, Jacksonville, (Fla.) routed St. Michael's 100-60, and Belmont Abbey shaded Philadelphia Textile 66-64. All were first-round games.

Going Independent Isn't Easy

Becoming an independent athletic power and roaming the country, slapping down conference giants and gaining a big name, involves more than the snapping of the fingers. East Carolina College president Leo W. Jenkins and college athletic officials are finding this to be the case as they decide the college's athletic future.

Destroying ties with the North State Conference can mean problems galore and the move should be a cautious one. Prime consideration should be given money and scheduling problems.

The North State league members (or presidents) have voted to install a de-emphasis program and this will be effective as of 1962. These teams, if all goes as expected, would be weaker in manpower and talent than a prospering independent team. Besides being a mis-match, most of the North State teams have indicated they will drop EC if it becomes an independent.

For a schedule, the college would turn to South Carolina's Little Three—Newberry, Presbyterian and Wofford. Newberry has been taking recent strides to join the North State.

Finding Schedule Is Hard Task

After these three teams, finding an opponent may like looking for a needle in a haystack. It would probably be possible to pick up several Southern Conference schools but these games would carry heavy financial burdens in the form of guarantees. The same would apply to any big teams that might be brought in.

Another factor to consider is the racial issue. East Carolina would be forced to turn its back on Northern teams and look to the south for worthy foes.

Scheduling problems would not be channeled to football alone. Other sports would experience the same problems.

Athletic facilities will have to be improved. A new stadium has been in need for some time and the student body outgrew Memorial Gymnasium several years ago. Facilities that do not enable the paying spectator inside will never pay the bills of an independent athletic program.

Strong Teams Will Be Needed

In order to draw large crowds and meet the many bills, East Carolina would have to come up with a solid program capable of giving any team on its schedule a run for its money. This means a boost in the present setup, the dishing out of more scholarships. Again this brings us back to the pocketbooks.

Advantages that lie ahead if East Carolina becomes an independent are few but weigh heavy. First, they could maintain hope of acquiring membership in the Southern Conference in two years. Second, the college would not be forced to step backwards and de-emphasize its present program.

There is no assurance that the Southern Conference will accept East Carolina in two years, it would bring better athletics here and thrust ECC into the spotlight among North Carolina's athletic scene.

Carolina Dairy, defending Industrial League basketball champions and an annual stronghold in the league, dominated the first week of Industrial League play last week and found themselves alone in first place.

The Dairy won its third straight win the only action last night, pounding White Chevrolet 74-19.

Previously Dairy victories came over the Jewel Box (64-62) and Gritton Independents (76-71).

Other games last week saw the Gritton Independents enter the league in a big way — tripping White Chevrolet 74-30 and Cozart's 106-68.

In the other game of the first week of play, Cozart's dumped the winless White Chevrolet club, 47-34.

Last night's game saw five Carolina Dairy regulars hit double figures, Perkins topping the list with 21 points.

Favorites Meet In Southern Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
William and Mary's Indians and George Washington's Colonials, both tabbed in pre-season estimates as darkhorse contenders for the Southern Conference basketball title, trot out their ambitions against each other in Washington tonight.

Should GW win, they would move into a three-way tie for the top spot on the ladder with Virginia Tech's Gobblers and The Citadel's Bulldogs, who also have hosted championship warning flags.

Meanwhile, West Virginia's six-time champion Mountaineers—up-ended at home last week by The Citadel after an overtime victory over William and Mary—are back in the thick of things as a result of a 75-72 squeeze Tuesday night past Richmond's scrappy Spiders.

George Washington, with a veteran team, had to battle to beat Richmond in their opener, then dropped decisions to North Carolina State and Maryland of the ACC.

Taylor Favorite To Win Rushing Title In Pros

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Taylor, Green Bay's crunching fullback, now rates a solid chance to win the National Football League ground-gaining title — something that has belonged to Cleveland's Jimmy Brown since he entered the league four seasons ago.

Taylor has rolled up 1,059 yards in helping bring the Packers to the brink of their first Western Division title since 1944. This is only 88 behind Brown, and each has a game to play.

But Brown must face the New York Giants this week, the league's stingiest team against the rush, while Taylor faces Los Angeles Saturday afternoon.

Cleveland's Milt Plum still leads the league's passers with a 62.9 percentage, is first in average gain with 9.53 and in percentage of interceptions with .65, having had only one pifered all year.

Shorts In Hurry For Objectives

CLEVELAND (AP) — At 22, Cecil Shorts is a young man in a hurry to reach two objectives he sets for himself: the world welterweight boxing crown and the big money purses available only at the top.

The Cleveland youth took a long stride toward those objectives Tuesday night by stopping Vince Martinez, Miami Beach, Fla., at 2:46 of the fourth round in their scheduled 10. He knocked the 31-year-old Martinez, a 6-5 favorite, down four times in that fourth round before the referee ended it.

"Shorts is ready for any of them," exulted the Cleveland scrapper's manager, Frank Ruskay, in the dressing room. "Don't forget he's already beaten Benny Paret, the champion." That was two bouts before Paret won the title.

Martinez weighed 149, a pound more than Shorts.

The welterweight co-feature of the annual Christmas benefit boxing show overshadowed a heavyweight feature 10-round that followed. In that Pete Rademacher, Columbus, Ga., won a unanimous decision over Will Besmanoff of Seattle, Wash.

Los Angeles Hope For Grid Upset

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Green Bay Packers have one of the soundest ground games in the National Football League, but the Los Angeles Rams hope to upset them here Saturday and scramble the Western Conference race.

If the Packers win, they are divisional champions and face the Philadelphia Eagles in the NFL playoff. If they lose, there will have to be a play-off, with the Baltimore Colts, San Francisco 49ers, Detroit Lions and Green Bay in the picture.

Green Bay leads the parade now with a 7-4 record, but Baltimore, San Francisco and Detroit all are 6-5. Baltimore faces San Francisco Sunday, and Chicago is at Detroit.

Green Bay was better in the mud than San Francisco last Sunday, but the Rams upset Baltimore, playing superlative defensive football.

"We're getting our defense set for the Packers," said Line Coach Don Paul. "Jim David and I figure on using somewhat the same defense we employed against Baltimore—lots of hard tackling and a hard charge."

David, defensive backfield coach, said Ollie Matson, veteran ball carrier, will be called upon again for defensive duty. Matson's play against Baltimore was instrumental in crimping Johnny Unitas' passing.

Head Coach Bob Waterfield is convinced that the Rams are going to be winners in another year or so, but he is pessimistic about

Durocher Never Offered LA Job

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Leo Durocher says he never was offered a job as manager of Los Angeles' new American League club and that he believes there may be a conspiracy among owners to keep him out of baseball.

"I'm not so much concerned with losing the Los Angeles job as with the general pattern," Durocher told Melvin Durslag of the Examiner Tuesday. "Somebody has put in a knock for me and I don't seem to be wanted."

"They may think I'm too controversial. I have never weighed by words. A guy like me makes a lot of enemies. When things were going good with me, I probably stepped on a lot of toes without even knowing it. These birds may be the ones low giving me the knock."

"I can take the knocks but I can't take a blackball when I'm trying to find a job."

Durocher, 55, said that reports he and the Angels negotiated for the managerial job are untrue.

"They were just saying that to spare me the embarrassment, in print, of turning me down cold," said Leo. "They knew I wanted to come back to baseball. The Los Angeles team could have offered me any decent deal and I would have taken it."

Elementary, Secondary School Outlays Are Growing

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's public elementary and secondary schools will spend an estimated total of $16,476,135,000 this school year—more than $91 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Reporting this today, the National Education Association said it represents an increase of $1.2 billion, or eight per cent, over last year, and 153 per cent over the $6.5 billion dollars of just 10 years ago.

The NEA also reported current enrollment in the public schools has reached 37,244,284, including 25,265,620 pupils in elementary school and 11,978,664 in secondary school, a one-year over-all increase of 1,206,347.

Elementary school enrollment this year is 3 per cent higher than last year and 33 per cent higher than 10 years ago. Secondary enrollment is up 4.2 per cent over last year and a whopping 76.6 per cent higher than the 1950-51 figure.

The figures were reported by the NEA's research division in a 32-page booklet, "Estimates of School Statistics, 1960-61." Other highlights from the report: The average daily attendance in the public schools is 33,188,161. For each pupil in average daily attendance the schools will spend $390.

California also has the highest average salary for classroom teachers—$6,700. The lowest average salary paid in the country is $3,415, in Mississippi. Arkansas pays $3,550, South Dakota $3,675, and South Carolina $3,725.

North Carolina's average is $4,100. Last year 12.8 per cent of the nation's teachers earned below $3,500 a year; this year it is 9.6 per cent. Last year 11.9 per cent earned $6,500 or more, this year it is 14.5 per cent.

The $390 expenditure for pupils in average daily attendance is a national average, representing an increase of almost 5 per cent over the 1959-60 figure of $372 and 74 per cent over the $224.23 of 10 years ago.

Reuther Says Detroit Still Resists Integration Moves

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Detroit has come a long way since its violent race riot of 1943, but racial progress in the motor city has been uneven since then, Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers president, said today.

Reuther, in testimony for delivery today, told the opening session of a two-day public hearing by the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights that "there has been continued resistance to an open housing market in Detroit and its suburbs, and segregated housing has bred segregated classrooms."

Reuther and Williams, the first Michigan governor to have a Negro Cabinet member and to appoint a Negro judge, were among the first of an estimated total of 20 to 30 witnesses called to testify.

The six-member commission said it would deal with public education today and with housing and administration of justice Thursday.

There are 1,408,962 classroom teachers; their average annual salary is $5,125 compared with $4,495 the previous year; one out of every 15 is an "emergency" teacher who lacks full credentials; and during the present school year 126,665 teachers will leave the public schools.

Some Compensations In Sticking To Old TV Role

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—There is, concededly, inevitable monotony in playing the same role year after year, no matter how successful the actor's vehicle.

There are certain definite compensations, and they aren't all new. Says Hugh O'Brian, now playing his sixth season as ABC's Wyatt Earp.

O'Brian cast and production crew work like dogs for five or six months, turning out a full year's supply of the Westerns at the rate of two a week.

"I keep my nose to the grindstone for that time," said O'Brian, "but after they are finished I have six or seven months of the year to do a whole range of things I'm interested in."

Wyatt Earp will be finished for this season, as far as O'Brian is concerned, on Jan. 6. During the period after that he will be free to take on—preferably non-Western—other acting jobs, personal appearance dates, even to travel and do nothing.

O'Brian took advantage of a short break in his tight shooting schedule to fly to New York, primarily to make arrangements with the owners of the stage play, "D-stry Rides Again" for rights to convert the hit into a two-hour TV special. O'Brian played D-stry for a week on Broadway last season, and hopes to be in the TV special next year sometime.

"I'm ambitious, aggressive—that's becoming sort of a dirty word and it shouldn't be—and I have certain goals," O'Brian explained earnestly. "I've been concentrating on television, and I've had a certain success. Now I want to broaden my activities—make motion pictures—and I wouldn't steer at a Western if the saddle fit me, although career-wise it would be smart to lay off Westerns—and maybe do a play."

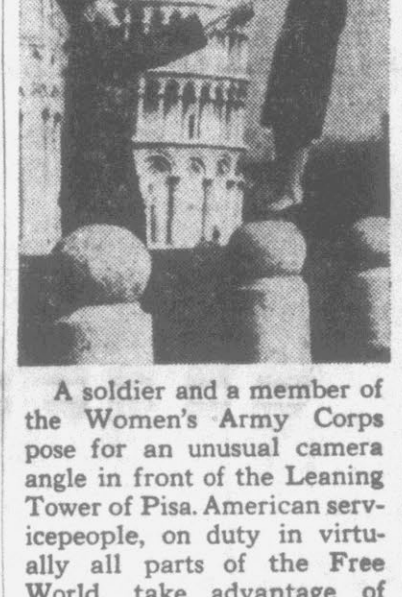

CBS unhaarp at the way its news and public affairs department has been dropping behind NBC in terms of audience popularity. NBC has reacted to trouble in classic American style: formed a committee. This one, composed of the network's very top executives, will make policy about what news and public affairs shows get to the air.

National Social Fraternity Adds Chapter At ECC

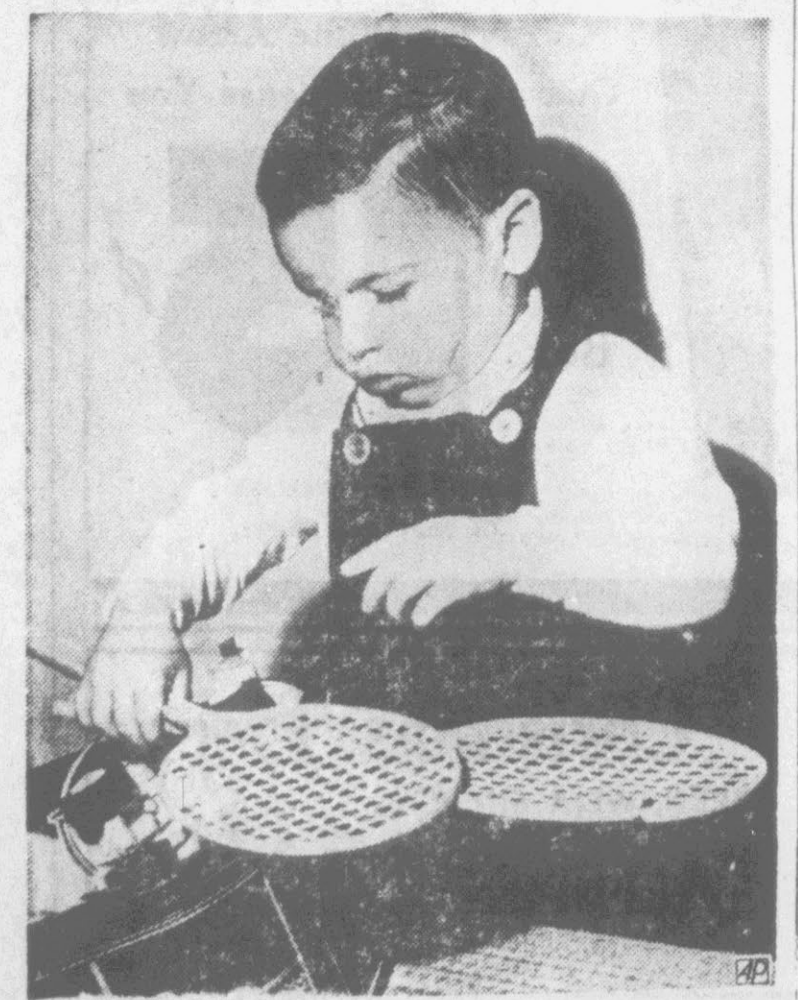

The East Carolina College colony of Phi Kappa Tau has become affiliated with the national social fraternity. Phi Kappa Tau is the seventh fraternity to establish a chapter on the campus here.

The Chi Chapter at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, initiated members of the colony into the fraternity. Milton Holt, president of the State College Chapter, and Roger W. Vaughn, national field secretary for Phi Kappa Tau, were among those taking part in the installation of the chapter and the initiation of members.

Members initiated into the Phi Kappa Tau chapter at East Carolina include Barney H. West, Durham; C. Ashley Humphrey, Rt. 3, Lumberton; George W. Ray, Jr., Rt. 6, Durham; Stanley F. Roberson, Jr., Rt. 3, Kinston; B. Floyd Hardison, Araphocoe; Michael C. Wilkinson, Belhaven; and John A. Sampedro, Valdese.

YOUNGEST COLLEGE PREXY

TAKING OVER. At his desk, Arend D. Lubbers concentrates on his new duties as president of Central College.

At 29, Arend D. Lubbers is the youngest college president in the nation. This fall he took over the top job at Central College, a coeducational liberal arts school at Pella, a town of 5,000 in central Iowa. The school has 501 students and a staff of 69 teachers. Looking more like a student than a college prexy, Lubbers is not in the least apologetic about his age. "Young people respond to youthful leadership," he says. Already his presence on the campus is being felt in many old and new corners. A new $18,000 chemistry research laboratory is being planned. A foreign study program has been inaugurated. A course in Russian language opened for the first time this fall. An on-campus research fund has been established to help faculty members and students who wish to undertake special projects in the sciences.

The young president is literally following in the footsteps of his father, Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, 64, now president of Hope College at Holland, Mich. The elder Lubbers served as president of Central from 1934 until 1945.

Lubbers received his degree from Hope, and his master's in history from Rutgers University in 1956. For a while, he taught history at Wittenburg University at Springfield, Ohio.

With his wife, Eunice, and their three children, Don, 6, John, 3, and Mary, 1, he returned to Pella last year when he was named vice president in charge of development at Central.

Lubbers stops to talk to Susan Argus, of Hammond, Ind., left, and Delores Rasler of Des Moines, Ia.

He holds conference with two "oldtimers" at Central, Dr. Laura M. Nanes, head of division of history and social studies since 1939, and Dr. William G. Wing, head of humanities division and professor of French for 25 years.

Lubbers enjoys chat with Kiwanis members at luncheon in town.

He stands before portrait of father, Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, who served as president of Central College from 1934-1945. Picture hangs in hall in college's administration building.

At home, the Lubbers family gather around piano for song-fest. Mrs. Lubbers holds Mary, 1, as she plays. In foreground is John, 3, and, in back, standing by father is Don, 6.

Lubbers family at dinnertime. While papa and mama, and little Don and John prepare to eat, baby Mary sits in high chair, quite absorbed with her own food.

Eleven Boys Find New World Due Gunner's Promise

By AL BALLARD
Greenville Piedmont
Written for The Associated Press
Greenville, S.C. (AP) — Eleven boys have found a new world in an old school building because a bomber's turret gunner made a promise in the flak-riddled sky over Germany some 15 years ago.

The Boys of America Home on Old Anderson Road is the culmination of the promise made by 2 Sgt. Charles Alken as he participated in one of many missions over Western Europe.

In 1945, after two years of inquiring about a need for an orphanage, Alken was notified that he could utilize a deserted school building. He sought donations and volunteers.

"My first donation," he said, "was a one-dollar bill. And boy, I carried that around in my pocket for a long time."

Today, the school building has been remodeled into a huge home of two large bedrooms, a bathroom, kitchen, dining room and an apartment for the director, Mrs. Cora Stewart.

Of the 11 boys who reside in the home, some had never before eaten from a table, some had never attended school and others had never known love or security.

"There's no adjustment phase for them," Alken explained. "Things have been so bad for them, in most cases, that they're happy from the moment they walk through the door."

In spare moments, the boys not only play and read or watch television, but they handle chores such as cleaning the area, feeding the hogs, dogs and cow.

Alken keeps several dogs at the home and often takes the boys hunting. "A dog does something for a boy," he says. "It's a good companion."

The program of the home is designed to help the boys maintain an air of independence. They attend public schools, paying for their own lunches, and they attend churches in nearby communities.

Each summer they attend one of the charitable camps in the area. At Christmas, the boys are taken into private homes to witness Santa Claus.

Alken remains thankful to the many groups who have made his promise materialize.

"It's supported entirely by donations," he says proudly. "A Greenville plumber came out and installed the showers and did all the plumbing on his own time. He didn't charge us a dime."

"The books and magazines are donated, and the Boy Scout troops and other organizations have contributed a great deal."

Outside the school building are indications that Alken's promise of yesterday may have even more far-reaching effects.

Building materials of shorts, donated by private individuals and concerns, are stored near the building.

"We would some day like to expand this and make it a home for girls, too. When we get enough materials and another site we're going to build a new home."

He hopes for a larger library, facilities for more children and more volunteer help.

There are times when Alken walks through the old auditorium and foresees new possibilities.

"It may be," he says, "that I'll have to go into this thing full time. I think about it a lot."

Mitzi Believes Musicals 'Over'
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The days are gone when moviemakers aimed their plectrums mainly at Americans, says Mitzi Gaynor. Now they're more interested in foreign audiences.

One result: the Hollywood musical is a thing of the past. "Americans still like musicals, but we're not making pictures for just Americans," Miss Gaynor says. "Foreign distribution makes up about 60 per cent of film sales now. And they don't like musicals."

"If I want to do any musical entertaining now, I have to turn to television to do it."

Miss Gaynor is a product of the musical. She came to Hollywood at the age of 11 with the express purpose of becoming a movie star. After stage training with the Civic Light Opera, she was finally noticed by movie talent scouts in "The Great Waltz."

Even though she built her career on the musical, including "South Pacific," she's not moaning its demise. For the new field of comedy has opened to her.

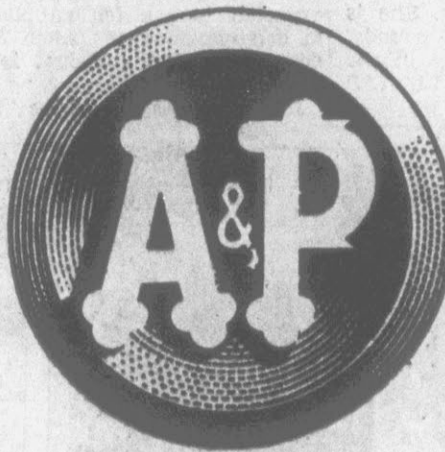

She appeared in "Happy Anniversary" and recently completed another comedy with Yul Brynner called "Surprise Package."

And her next aim is for more dramatic parts.

South African Protests Spread
JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The South African "tea party"—a campaign against racial discrimination in restaurants—a spread from Cape Town to Johannesburg Tuesday. Four whites and three Africans walked into a department store restaurant, in the same type of demonstration that had grown in Cape Town recently. White diners looked up in surprise, but there were no incidents. The manager came over and told the group they could not be served. Outside the store police ordered only the three Africans to go to the police station.

GASOLINE RUNS FREE
CASTLE, Okla. (AP) — Residents carrying saucers and buckets reaped a bonanza of free gasoline one day. The gasoline poured freely after a road grader slashed an 8-inch gasoline transmission line near here.

Pro-Communists Now Hold Capital Of Laos

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—A ceaseless battle has been raging between pro- and anti-Communist Laotian forces for control of the Asian country's capital, Vientiane. The latest report received here said the pro-Communists had recaptured the city. The sporadic fighting, punctuated by light rifle and mortar fire, began at noon Tuesday, when the pro-Western forces of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan began pushing the pro-Communists under Capt. Kong Le out of the city. By nightfall Tuesday Phoumi's forces seemed to be in control. But a dispatch today said Kong Le's troops had rallied Tuesday night and by dawn were again in control of the embattled capital of the strife-torn land. The dispatches were the pooled reports of a handful of Western correspondents in Vientiane. Normal communications had broken down, and the telegraph office had been shelled. Perhaps for this reason, the correspondents asked the U. S. Embassy in Vientiane to transmit their combined dispatches. They were distributed in Washington to the news agencies represented by the correspondents through the Voice of America, an arm of the State Department. The Associated Press correspondent in Vientiane is Roy Essoyan. Although control of the capital tipped back and forth from one side to the other in less than 24 hours, the dispatches said the fighting generally was light. Only a few buildings were damaged by shellfire, and apparently no foreigners were killed or wounded. The troubles in Laos began last Aug. 9 when Kong Le, a Communist-oriented paratroop commander, precipitated an overthrow of the pro-Western government. Prince Souvanna Phouma set up a neutralist regime. At one point he authorized Soviet planes to fly in gasoline and food to Vientiane. But Souvanna Phouma fled to neighboring Cambodia last Friday. Various factions tried to take charge. Kong Le's strength was beefed up by artillery and ammunition flown in by the Russians from Hanoi, the dispatches said. A pro-Communist group called the Pathet Lao was directed to join Kong Le's forces. King Savang Vatthana issued a royal decree ordering the leftist government to dissolve. A government under Prince Boua Oum was announced by Gen. Phoumi Nosavan's forces from their stronghold in Savannakhet. When Souvanna Phoumi fled Friday, he handed the government over to a military committee. But on Sunday a leftist politician named Quinim Pholsena announced he was in charge. Pholsena fled the capital when Gen. Phoumi's anti-Communist troops moved into the city Tuesday, and his present whereabouts are unknown.

Rose High's Honor Students Announced

Eleven percent of the Junius H. Rose High School enrollment were included on the honor roll for the second marking period of this school year, Principal O. E. Dowd has announced. Dowd said the 74 honor roll students, representing 11 percent of an enrollment of 685, was an "excellent record."

Those making all 1's this period included Dennis Eggen and Tracie Hooper, both 11th graders; Sherby Everett, Carolyn Jo Harris, David Nobles, Anne Buchanan and Barbara Minges, 10th grade; Jo Bryan, Nancy Tritley and Pat Worsley, 9th grade. Those making all 1's and 2's included the following: Twelfth grade, Betsy Bryant, Ann Elks, Steve Humbert, Sara C. Webb, Chappy Bradner, Melinda Coleman, Marie Gibbs, Arlene

Goal Is Adopted By Heart Ass'n

TARBORO—The Coastal Plain Heart Association adopted a goal of $30,000 for the coming year at a recent meeting here of the Board of Directors and fund chairmen. The following fund chairmen were appointed: Mrs. Albert Bell, Pitt County; Doland Brigman, Halifax County; Mrs. Allen Barbee, Nash County; Mrs. Effie Vines Gordon, Rocky Mount; Mrs. Arthur Turner, Edgecombe County; A.B. Ayers, Martin County. K.D. Running of Roanoke Rapids is president-elect of the association as well as overall fund chairman. Dr. J.L. Whaley of Tarboro is president. Dr. Badger Clark of Greenville is a vice president of the association, representing Pitt County. Dr. John Chambliss of Rocky Mount, chairman of the research committee, explained that his committee hopes to establish a larger research grant for cardiac research in the coming year. The association, in addition to its contribution to research through the state and national organization, has been presenting grants-in-aid amounting to several thousand dollars yearly. In the past year, research grants were given to scientists at Duke, Bowman Gray and Memorial Hospitals. The total raised in the five counties in 1960 was $26,407.68. Scientists are thinking of attaching miniature radio transmitters to grizzly bears in an effort to keep track of their wanderings during the fall.

Uniform Laws

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The North Carolina and South Carolina legislatures will be asked to adopt uniform boating laws to make enforcement of boat regulations possible on Lake Wylie.

The lake, formerly known as Catawba Lake, borders on two North Carolina counties—Gaston and Mecklenburg—and York County, S. C. The state line runs through the middle of the lake. Legislative delegations from the three counties met Tuesday with Wildlife Commission representatives of the two states to discuss enforcing boat regulations on the lake. It was decided uniform laws in the two states would be the answer. Plans are to present the proposals to the lawmakers at their 1961 sessions to become effective Jan. 1, 1962, if approved.

Tops Teacher In Model Racing

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Carl Schmidt was proud when his son, Tom, took a lively interest in his hobby, model airplane racing. But Dad was somewhat chagrined when he finished as runner-up to 16-year-old Tom in the sixth annual Thompson Trophy Junior Air Races, sponsored by the Gulf Hawks Model Airplane Club. High winds in the New England Hurricane of 1938 were clocked at 186 miles an hour.

Two Holidays In Ayden Slated

AYDEN—Monday, Dec. 26, and Monday, Jan. 2, will be observed as official holidays in the town offices here, it was disclosed yesterday by Town Manager Cleveland Paylor. Since both Christmas and New Year's day fall on Sundays, the Monday holiday schedule has been set up. Town offices will operate as usual on the Saturdays, preceding the holidays, closing at 12 noon. The Ayden Chamber of Commerce said that business offices will observe the same holidays, and will also be closed the Mondays following Christmas and New Year's.

Hodges Sees Biggest Job In Boosting Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina says the biggest problem before him as the new secretary of commerce is increasing America's foreign trade. Hodges arranged to confer with President-elect John F. Kennedy and other officials today before flying back to North Carolina to wind up his affairs as governor. Hodges met for six hours Tuesday with the retiring commerce secretary, Frederick H. Mueller. "We've had a very fruitful and helpful day," Hodges told newsmen afterwards. With the background of dwindling gold reserves and dollar deficits that is worrying the Eisenhower administration in its closing days, Hodges assessed stimulation of foreign trade as his major problem. An increase in exports would help offset these deficits. Mueller already has launched an export expansion program and is expected to ask for an increase in department funds when President Eisenhower's budget is presented in January. Hodges also spoke of the "slight ease-off" in the economy in the past few months. He said he believes it should begin to improve in the spring. He said he was not ready to say whether the new administration should take any steps to stimulate business. But if it does, he said he would expect the Commerce Department to have a voice in making the decisions. He also said he would expect the department to administer any federal program for aid to depressed areas. Putting through such a program was one of Kennedy's major campaign promises. The North Carolina governor said he was somewhat awed by the scope of his new job. He noted that the department budget of about $500 million is about the same as that of his state. Hodges said he plans to follow the same principles in trying to develop foreign trade as he used as governor to attract outside industry to establish plants and branches in North Carolina. "Trade brings you closer to peace," he said, because it brings people "closer together in normal channels of communications."

Among those on Hodges' calling list today were members of the National Business and Professional Men Committee for Kennedy-Johnson; lawyer Clark Clifford, Kennedy's liaison man with the outgoing Republican administration; and Conrad Wirth, director of the National Park Service. Hodges got another insight on the kind of job he is moving into when Mueller told him he hadn't had a vacation in three and a half years. "That's discouraging," Hodges said with a rueful laugh.

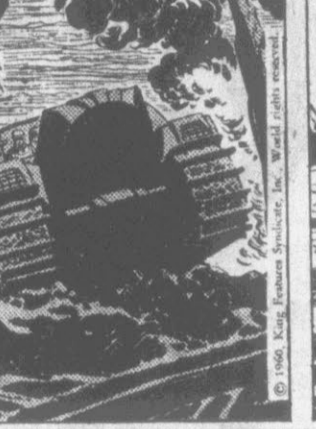

The state legislature is known as the General Court in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Seek Action On Ocracoke Ferry

County delegation today requested immediate action on a proposal to continue operation of an auto ferry between Atlantic and Ocracoke. The delegation, headed by Beaufort Mayor W. H. Potter, urged that the highway commissioner effect a lease-purchase or purchase agreement for the ferry, docks, piers and properties. Tolls from the ferry would be applied to its operation, maintenance and purchase. The hearing was held before Highway Chairman J. Melville Broughton Jr., who promised to relay the request immediately to highway commissioners.

Rep. Bonner To Receive Award

WASHINGTON, N.C.—Rep. Herbert C. Bonner, Democratic First District congressman, has been designated to receive the 1961 Ole Evrnuide award carrying a grant of $1,000 and presented annually by the Evrnuide Boating Foundation. The award was voted to Bonner for his efforts in directing and influencing legislation for boating safety and promoting boating as a recreational activity. Bonner is chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee. He will receive the award at a reception in New York Jan. 9. The congressman said he will turn over the cash grant to a college to be designated later for scholarship purposes.

Work Hampered By Quicksand

AYDEN — Construction on the sewer project now going on here has been slightly hampered by the occurrence of quicksand, Town Manager Cleveland Paylor revealed yesterday. The quicksand "is common in this particular area," Paylor said, explaining that after workmen dig down seven or eight feet, the soil is not very stable. However, Paylor noted that the workmen are making "satisfactory progress" in the work to correct defects in the system.

Plan Codifying Of Ordinances

AYDEN — Town ordinances of Ayden will be codified, probably by December of 1961, according to an agreement made by the Town Board this week with the N.C. League of Municipalities. The board entered into an agreement with the league to codify the ordinances. The league proposed earlier, in preparing a new code for the Town of Ayden, to take the existing code which was adopted in the early 1940's and all ordinances which have been passed since that time and prepare a complete new code of ordinances for the town.
