$27,000 In Grants For Pitt Memorial Hospital

Twenty-seven thousand dollars in grants have been allocated to Pitt County Memorial Hospital by the Duke Endowment and the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation...

"mighty happy" about the grants. Ward explained that on the opening of the bids on the hospital, it was found that the hospital needed $47,787 more for equipment than was allowed under the Hill-Burton Grant...

Foundation for aid, similar application was made to the Duke Endowment. This request for aid was answered with the grant of $15,000, Ward said. The total grants, $27,000, leaves the county only $20,787 to apply on the funds, Ward explained.

Electoral College Gathers In All Fifty States Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 537 persons who compose the Electoral College met in the 50 states today to cast the presidential vote that really counts. There is no doubt that the electors will name Democrat John F. Kennedy...

At least 269 votes are needed to win. Byrd was not a candidate, but he now is the choice of 6 of Alabama's 11 Democratic electors and all of Mississippi's 8. The 14 ran unpledged on Nov. 8. Kennedy won the popular vote in the closest presidential race in 76 years. He carried 23 states for a total national margin of about 113,000 votes, Nixon won 26 states. Unpledged electors carried Mississippi.

electors had six unpledged and five pledged to Kennedy. Because of the closeness of the 1960 election and threats of some electors to ignore the popular mandate, various reform measures will be offered in the new Congress meeting Jan. 3. Efforts to abolish the Electoral College system have failed in the past. The 537 electors meet in their state capitals at various times during the day, ranging from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. EST.

Their votes will be formally counted by Congress in joint session Jan. 3. Under the law the electors in each state must sign six certificates of their votes to be disposed of in this manner: One copy by registered mail to the president of the U.S. Senate (Vice President Nixon), two to the secretary of state of their own state, two to the General Services Administration in Washington, and one to the federal judge of the district where the electors meet.

U.S. Successfully Rockets Unmanned Space Capsule On Atlantic Range Today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States successfully rocketed an unmanned model of its man-in-space capsule 130 miles high today and dropped it in the ocean 235 miles down the Atlantic missile range.

The launching was an important forerunner to sending an American astronaut on a similar flight within four months. A fleet of ships, planes and helicopters began an immediate attempt to recover the capsule. An announcement by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the one-ton capsule was sighted in Atlantic waters some 90 miles northeast of Grand Bahama Island.

Dye markers, radio beacons and a flashing light were to help searchers locate the space craft. The bell-shaped capsule was carried aloft by an 83-foot Redstone rocket that roared away from the booster 140 seconds later and raced to its target at speeds up to 4,000 miles an hour. It completed the trip in 16 minutes. NASA announced: "Preliminary data indicates that the Project Mercury spacecraft apparently flew its pre-planned sub-orbital ballistic trajectory and impacted approximately 235 statute miles down-range. All of the Mercury capsule systems appeared to operate successfully. Recovery ships are now being directed to the impact area."

Two Hundred Workmen Trapped By Fire Aboard Big Aircraft Carrier

NEW YORK (AP) — At least 200 workmen were reported trapped today as fire raged aboard the unfinished aircraft carrier Constellation, one of the largest in the world. Police said the information came from a Brooklyn Navy Yard worker who was removed from the blazing ship. At least 40 workmen were burned. A mobile crane lowered acetylene equipment onto a Navy launch heading toward the Constellation. Observers surmised that rescuers might try to cut their way into the ship to rescue those trapped.

Munich Police Fear Death Toll Will Top 49 In Saturday's Air Disaster

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Police today feared an increase in the death toll of the air disaster that plunged this gay Bavarian capital into mourning over the weekend. A total of 49 persons were known to have been killed after a U. S. Air Force transport plunged into a downtown street Saturday, exploded in flames and turned a crowded street car into a blazing mass of twisted wreckage.

Forty-eight charred bodies were recovered from the wreckage and another victim died in a hospital. The condition of the bodies made identification difficult. Police appealed to all Munich families to report if any relatives had failed to return home. It was learned Sunday that a U. S. Army private, previously not listed among the dead, was hitchhiking a ride to London aboard the plane and was killed in the crash. He was Pfc. Elvin I. Sherman, 20, of Linden, N. J. All 20 Americans aboard the plane were killed. Twelve were students at the University of Maryland's Union College here, children of U. S. Military personnel. They were bound for a holiday reunion with their parents in Britain.

The tragic task of identifying the German dead was left to a sad procession of friends and relatives which wound through police headquarters, viewing personal possessions taken from bodies on the street car. President Eisenhower sent a message of condolence to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Adenauer replied with an expression of condolence to the families of the American dead. Munich's Lord Mayor Hans Jochen Vogel ordered the city into mourning until Christmas. Theaters were asked to cancel performances. No public dancing will be permitted. Air Force experts began a thorough examination of the wreckage of the shattered twin-engine Convair in a search for the cause of the accident.

The takeoff from Munich airport was smooth. At the controls were Maj. John K. Conroy of Auburn, Ala., the pilot and father of one of the boys aboard, and Capt. Louis B. Nelson of Wake, Va., copilot. After flying about five miles Capt. Conroy radioed the airport tower: "I'm having engine trouble. Returning to the field." About a minute later the plane slammed into the 325-foot-high steeple of St. Paul's church and then crashed 700 yards away in a street filled with Christmas shoppers.

Questioning Ten Witnesses Of Collision In Air

NEW YORK (AP) — Two teams of federal investigators planned intensive questioning today of at least 10 persons who claim they actually saw Friday's airliner collision—worst in aviation history. Other investigators checked the possibility that the United Air Lines DC8 jet involved had overshoot the point at which it was to begin flying a rectangular "holding pattern" prior to its intended landing at Idlewild Airport. As the Civil Aeronautics Board pressed its inquiry, the exact total of dead still could not be determined. All 125 persons on the jet and on the plane that hit it, a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation, were killed. Five other persons were known to have perished on the ground in Brooklyn, where the jet plane crashed, and at least two more were missing and probably dead.

Stalemate Over Congo Shapes Up

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U. N. General Assembly appeared headed today for a stalemate on rival proposals for action in the crisis-ridden Congo. Unless there is a last-minute compromise, the 99-nation assembly may not be able to take any decisive action on an appeal from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to strengthen U. N. efforts to restore peace and unity to the strife-torn country. The assembly scheduled another session today to discuss the Congo. The United States and Britain introduced a resolution Sunday calling for Hammarskjold to help President Joseph Kasavubu clear the decks for reconvening of the Congo Parliament. The resolution expresses full confidence in U. N. machinery and in restoration of law and order, calls for humane treatment of political prisoners and reiterates that no state should supply unilateral aid to the Congo. A rival resolution submitted by eight neutralist nations calls for immediate release of all political prisoners and the reconvening of Parliament without mentioning Kasavubu. All eight sponsoring nations are supporters of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba, who is held under arrest by the Congolese army of Col. Joseph Mobutu. With neither resolution likely to gain the two-thirds majority required for adoption, Sweden suggested that the assembly wind up debate without a vote by having Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, assembly president, sum up the situation. India and Yugoslavia asked the assembly to take up the Congo situation after it bogged down in the U. N. Security Council. They and Ceylon, Ghana, Indonesia, Iraq, Morocco and the United Arab Republic are sponsoring the neutralist resolution. Their resolution demands also the withdrawal of all Belgian civil and military personnel still in the Congo. The U. S.-British resolution makes no mention of Belgium but asks Hammarskjold to ensure that no foreign military or semi-military personnel outside the U. N. are introduced into the country or remain there. Hammarskjold urged the assembly Saturday night to reach a decision that would bulwark the U. N. effort to restore calm and order in the Congo. He said the United Nations should strive also for a reconciliation between political factions, establishment of a broad-based civilian government, subordination of the army to civilian control and the breaking of secessionist tendencies. Hammarskjold also told the council that the Soviet bloc was carrying on a campaign against U. N. efforts in the Congo in an effort to force his resignation. He has been under harsh Soviet criticism in all Congo debate.

Three Arrested In ABC Robbery

Three Rocky Mount men have been arrested on charges of breaking and entering and larceny in connection with the theft of 11 cases of liquor from the Falkland ABC Store Dec. 11. The three were identified by Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson as: Phillip Hedgepeth, 19, Rocky Mount; Horace Ray Campbell, 19, 917 S. Franklin St., Rocky Mount; Dwayne Vick, 20, Rt. 1, Rocky Mount. They were given a hearing before Magistrate Luther Moore and placed under $1,000 bond. The three will be tried in Pitt County Superior Court during the Jan. 30 term. Sheriff Tyson said 121 pints of liquor were recovered. He reported the trio was arrested Saturday afternoon in Nash County. Sheriff Tyson and SBI Agent Clyde Fentress brought the three back to Pitt County Saturday night. The sheriff acknowledged the assistance of Nash County authorities and SBI Agents Fentress and Jack Thomas on the case.

Hodges Purchases Chapel Hill Home AEC Chairman Quitting In '61

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission plans to leave the commission when the Kennedy administration takes office. McCone's five-year term is not due to end until 1963. There had been speculation McCone would resign as chairman but remain on the commission. McCone, however, said on a television interview—NBC-Meet the Press—Sunday he would return to private life next month. The outgoing governor has purchased a home in Chapel Hill, but it won't be available until April. In the meantime, Makepeace said, the Hodges furniture will have to be stored some place. Mrs. Hodges said, "We'll stay most of the time in Washington, but we'll keep the house in Chapel Hill." Makepeace said the governor and Mrs. Hodges plan to take a vacation after they leave the executive mansion Jan. 5 just where they go was not disclosed.

U.S. Airlifting Relief To Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Pro-Western Premier Boum Oum struggled today to put this battered capital on its feet with the help of an American airlift flying in critically needed food and medicine. The government announced the roundup of more than 100 snipers and looters as it tackled the critical economic and political crisis that gripped the little Indochinese kingdom. An American airlift to rush rice, milk, medical and building supplies from neighboring Thailand was set up over the weekend after pro-Communist troops were driven out of the city in a four-day battle that left at least 150 men, women and children dead and more than 500 wounded. A U. S. Embassy spokesman said the airlift would continue as long as needed. Boun moved into the Foreign Ministry building Sunday and announced his government was in business in the rubble-strewn city. But four months of palace maneuvering and civil war has failed to resolve the Buddhist kingdom's political tangle touched off by a leftist coup led by paratrooper Capt. Kong Le on Aug. 9. The rebels military threat to Vientiane remained, with danger of a new flareup in fighting. Rightist government forces led by Gen. Phoumi Nosavan were reported to have pushed seven miles north of the capital's airport. Kong Le's forces, retreating with much of their Soviet-supplied arms, were believed still only about 15 miles from the heart of the capital. The pro-Red Pathet Lao, who joined Kong Le, still held much of the mountainous country's rural area.

Fear As Many As 510 Holiday Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — As many as 510 deaths may result from traffic accidents during the 78-hour Christmas weekend unless motorists and pedestrians exercise extra caution, the National Safety Council estimated today. The death toll could be reduced substantially, the council said, if special care is taken to observe rules of safe driving and safe walking. "Speeding and alcohol remain the chief accomplices in traffic deaths," said Howard Pyle, council president. The council estimated virtually every one of the nation's 74 million motor vehicles will be in operation at some time during the holiday period, between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday local time. Motorists will drive 6 billion miles, the council said, 200 million more than during a non-holiday period. The Christmas weekend traffic toll last year was 493. The 1955 toll was 609, a record high for a three-day Christmas weekend. The council estimates traffic deaths on a normal non-holiday weekend this time of the year would be 350.

Israel, France Confirm Joint Atomic Project

PARIS (AP) — French and Israeli government spokesmen confirmed today that the two nations are engaged in joint atomic research but said it involves only the use of atomic power for peaceful purposes. They denied reports published in Washington and London that Israel is trying to build an atomic bomb. The Israeli embassies in London and Paris issued denials this morning. "Then the French Foreign Ministry, after first disclaiming any knowledge of the affair, formally denied that any French atomic aid is going to Israel for other than peaceful purposes. French assistance is going toward a research pile involving heavy water and uranium, similar to a project in which Canada is aiding India, a ministry spokesman said. He added that safeguards have been set up to insure that the French assistance is utilized solely for peaceful purposes. Then came official reaction from the Israeli sector of Jerusalem. The Israeli Atomic Energy Commission issued a statement declaring "Israel does not deal with the production of atomic weapons." It said the research is done only for industrial, agricultural, medical and scientific purposes. The statement said Israel's atomic reactor, put into operation only a few days ago, is open to inspection. Both Israel's ambassador to Britain, Arthur Lourie, and the Israeli Embassy in Washington denied reports published in Washington and London that Israel is trying to build an atomic bomb. The reports said the French were helping secretly. Information was said to have reached U.S. intelligence agencies that Israel would be capable of exploding its first nuclear device within a year. The Washington Post said Israel had developed a nuclear reactor secretly and might produce a nuclear weapon in about five years. A New York Times dispatch from Washington said recent intelligence information in the U.S. capital was that Israel was secretly building a "fairly large atomic reactor near Beerseba." The London Daily Mail said British and American intelligence men have heard reports that France is sending Israel—or helping her to obtain—shipments of pitchblende, from which uranium can be obtained. France also was said to be offering Israel technical advice on how to build a cut-price nuclear reactor and on how to separate explosive uranium from non-explosive. There was no immediate official comment from the British Foreign Office but the reports gained strength with a statement by U.S. Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John A. McCone that the U.S. government has asked Israel for further information on its nuclear program. British press reports said it is believed that France and Israel agreed to cooperate in the nuclear field last June when Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion visited Paris.

Jaycee Survey Set On Housing Capabilities

Jaycees are to conduct a survey of land owners, builders and investors to see if private enterprise can provide the housing needed for carrying out the Shore Drive Redevelopment project. The club's Urban Renewal Committee decided on the survey at a meeting yesterday afternoon. The committee, with Milton Foley as chairman, drafted a letter to be sent to individuals and firms who might be interested in constructing such houses. The letter asks for information on the number of units such investors might be willing to build. "The Jaycees are wholeheartedly for Urban Renewal," the letter states. "However, the Jaycees are against public housing except to the extent that it is necessary to satisfy the requirements of this particular Shore Drive Redevelopment project. It is with this interest that the Jaycees are asking the cooperation of land owners, builders and investors in determining if they are willing to build units to house families who will be relocated from the Shore Drive area. In line with this we would like to establish the number of stand-alone units private enterprise will build so we can determine if public housing will be needed. It is our hope that property owners and other interested parties will fill the housing gap created by this redevelopment program." The letter asks for return of the information by Dec. 30. It asks for the number of units the individual investor will construct, the number of rooms per unit, average weekly rent that will be charged for the units, and if land is available for constructing the housing. Redevelopment Executive Director William I. Cochran has said there are approximately 200 low income families in the area who cannot be relocated in standard private housing. Committee members present in addition to Foley were: Julian Vainwright, Max Ray Joyner, Bill Taylor, Alvin Taylor and Jaycee President George Coffman.

PEN-PALS WANTED

LONDON (AP) — More than 5,000 British teen-agers have asked for pen pals in the United States in response to an appeal last month by the English-Speaking Union. Commission as a means of relocating the families in the Shore Drive area. The Redevelopment Commission has asked the City Council to call a special meeting to consider the creation of a Public Housing Authority. Redevelopment Executive Director William I. Cochran has said there are approximately 200 low income families in the area who cannot be relocated in standard private housing. Committee members present in addition to Foley were: Julian Vainwright, Max Ray Joyner, Bill Taylor, Alvin Taylor and Jaycee President George Coffman.

Byrd Gets Votes Of Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi's eight presidential electors today gave their votes to Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., for President and Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., for vice president. The electors took three minutes to convene, nominate and approve Byrd as their choice for president.

Some Changes In UN Delegation

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador-designate to the United Nations, says he is contemplating a change of personnel in the American delegation. "I hope we can improve the quality of our United Nations representation," Stevenson told reporters Sunday. "There will be some changes but not until later next year." He also said he has urged his longtime friend and law associate, William McCormick Blair Jr., to accept a State Department or U.N. delegation post. Blair, he said, has deferred a decision.

A Ready Target For Future Critics

The most controversial of President-elect John Kennedy's cabinet appointments—now and during his term in office—will be that of his younger brother Robert to the important post of Attorney General of the United States.

Certainly there will be charges of "nepotism" from some sources, perhaps not so much now as in the months ahead when in his role as attorney general Robert Kennedy begins to step on important toes in various sections of the nation. There is also the certainty that the President will be personally criticized by every individual, every group that is critical of the attorney general or any action that he takes in the course of carrying out the duties of his office.

These and many other factors have been weighed carefully by the Kennedy brothers in arriving at the decision that Robert would become attorney general in the new cabinet. Obviously they feel that the ability Robert brings to his new post, and service he will be able to render the nation in carrying out the duties of the office will more than offset the sting of any personal criticism that may be brought to bear.

Some weeks ago The Reflector stated editorially the prospects for any member of the Kennedy clan receiving a cabinet post seemed remote. And while we were surprised that the President-elect chose his brother for attorney general, we are at the same time pleased at the appointment and are of the opinion that a well qualified individual has been selected to carry out these important duties in the next administration.

Speaking specifically of Robert Kennedy in that editorial, we pointed out:

"He managed his brother's primary campaigns and then took over guidance of the presidential campaign. He was here, there, everywhere . . . talking, planning, pushing, selecting aides for specific roles. It was a great show. The Kennedy campaign will be long remembered as one of the smoothest running, best-organized in the business. The proof of the pudding was in the winning thereof.

"In other years, he was a member of the Hoover Commission team; and then served as a special counsel in the famous Teamster Union hearings that still have Jimmy Hoffa fuming. Earlier he served as a reporter in the Near East when Israel and the Arab world were fighting it out.

"Those who have worked with Bobby say he has a tremendous capacity for any kind of work and planning, a great amount of drive and zeal for perfection, integrity, loyalty and similar qualities any one anywhere would want working for them . . ."

The appointment of Robert Kennedy as attorney general will put the new president, his administration and his attorney general in a spot where more than normal accomplishment will be necessary to overcome personal criticism. But being on such a spot—and overcoming the odds — is nothing new for the Kennedys.

A Battleship For Tar Heels

BATTLESHIP — The acquisition of the battleship USS North Carolina by the State of North Carolina, to be preserved and maintained as a memorial any shrine for Tarheel naval veterans of all wars seems assured. Orville Campbell, chairman of the advisory committee named by Governor Hodges, reported to the Governor at his latest news conference that the committee had unanimously recommended taking over the famous ship, without cost to the State for its acquisition or maintenance. In the same report the Governor was requested to ask for an extension of time until July for completing the arrangements. Original deadline was January 3.

Members of the committee had visited Bayonne, N. J., where the North Carolina is in moth balls and inspected it. Also they visited Houston, where the battleship Texas has been on display for 12 years. Nominal admission fees have enabled the Texas commission to install and maintain the vessel—and build up a reserve of some $65,000.

The North Carolina committee is working out plans for a campaign to raise funds from non-public sources to move the famous ship from New Jersey to North Carolina and install it at some strategic point. Details will be worked out later, but the Texas experience leads to conclusion that the North Carolina would be a great historic attraction. Unless some responsible State agency assumes responsibility for acquiring and maintaining her, the grand old ship will be consigned to the junk yard early in 1961. Navy officials do not want that to happen, but they've got to get rid of the ship. The present advisory commission is handicapped in authority by forthcoming change in administration, hence the request for extension of the deadline for acquisition.

EHRINGHAUS — The portrait of Governor J.C.B. Ehringhaus, presented to the State by a group of friends last Friday night, fills the sole remaining gap in the list of portraits of Governors who have served North Carolina since the turn of the century. When Governor Hodges came into office six years ago he set this as one of the goals of his administration. He has previously presided over the presentations of portraits of Governors Cameron Morrison, Max Gardner, Clyde Hoey, Kerr Scott and William Umstead.

Most of the portraits of all past governors hang either in the Capitol or in the Mansion. A few are in other State buildings. Placement of the portraits is largely up to the incumbent Governor. The picture of Governor McLean, for example, has the most prominent place in Governor Hodges' office, because Governor Hodges regards him as a "business man" executive.

although by profession he was a lawyer.

UNPROFITABLE — Governor Hodges will not take as big a licking in salary when he goes into the Kennedy cabinet as will Secretary of Defense McNamara, but he will not make any profit on the deal. He told newsmen at his latest conference with them that the rental on the apartment he expects to occupy in Washington will take just about all that is left after taxes out of his $25,000 salary as Secretary of Commerce, and he will have no entertainment allowance. As Governor he received $15,000 salary (upped to $25,000 for Sanford), had a rent-free home and servants and $5,000 entertainment allowance. McNamara is giving up a $400,000 annual salary for the $25,000 paycheck, and also must divest himself of all the stock he owns in the Ford Company—of which he has been president for the past year or so.

SERVICE — Hodges made these observations somewhat reluctantly in response to questions. He emphasized that he was not complaining, but said the situation illustrates the sacrifices made by many men and women, particularly in the higher echelons, who devote their time and energy to public service.

It has been many times noted that hundreds of men in North Carolina give cheerfully of their time and ability to service on boards and commissions for which the legal limit of compensation—if any—is $7 a day, less than the wages of a janitor or elevator operator.

There are auxiliary compensations in honor and prestige for high ranking officials. Most of the board and commission members serve purely from patriotic motives. Patriotism is not limited to the high brackets. Thousands of State employees in jobs without prestige but a lot of work devote many overtime hours to their jobs without thought of extra pay.

Regular working hours for State employees are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Not long ago your reporter went with a group of State employees on a trip that began at 6:30 a.m. and ended at 9:30 p.m. We stopped about 7 o'clock for something to eat — and there were overheard comments about State employees using a State owned car to ride around to eating places after working hours.

If these State employees could have collected the time and a half pay rate for six hours overtime—two hours before and four after regular schedule—on this and hundreds of similar trips they could mop up. Actually, they got no pay at all for the overtime, unless the criticism could be counted as "pay". There may be spongers on the public payroll at all levels, but the overwhelming majority of the government workers are more concerned about doing a good job than about the pay check.

More Than Hard Luck Dogging Moon Shots

It is no longer possible for U.S. space scientists to lean on the crutch of "hard luck" to shrug off the unsuccessful attempts of this nation to put a satellite in orbit around the moon.

While Soviet scientists were able last year to zero in the moon for a direct hit with their Lunik II and later receive pictures of the moon from their Lunik III, the moon has remained an elusive target for the United States. Perhaps we would feel better about the situation had a U.S. satellite been fired at the moon and missed the target far out in space. But the best we have been able to do so far is put a moon shot some 70,000 miles out in space and have it fall back to earth.

For the moment at least, the United States must concede to the Soviets a significant lead at least in the moon exploration phase of the space race. From a realistic standpoint, Americans must also realize that this one factor of the space race—and the accompanying propaganda barrage throughout the world—places the United States at a distinct disadvantage.

There are many indications from other successful satellite launchings that the United States is superior to the Soviet Union in a number of phases of the space program. While this is at least a talking point both at home and abroad, it has never been part of the American tradition to be content with second place in any phase of scientific and technological development.

The most recent failure in the U.S. moon shot series places additional pressure on scientists working with this program and it like places greater pressure upon the government to further accelerate this nation's space age efforts.

Consumer Price Level Spurred

By RALPH ROBEY

During October consumer prices spurred upward. That is strong language, especially since the increase was only four-tenths of one per cent. The term "spurred" is justified because there was not supposed to be any over-all rise from September. Even the experts in the Bureau of Labor Statistics who compile the Consumer Price Index, thought that the September figure would be the high for the year.

In general three things can create higher prices. These are inadequate volume of goods for the current demand, higher cost of production, and excessive increase in the volume of money. Recently there has been an increase in the volume of money. But the increase has been modest — so modest, in fact, that many persons are critical of the banking system for holding down the growth. This criticism is not justified because it has been technical factors, rather than deliberate policy, which is largely responsible for the slow growth in the money supply. In any case one can not account for the increase in consumer prices by the change in the money supply, because the total is still below a year earlier.

Cost of production involves capital, raw materials, and labor. The last two are by far the most important. Raw materials, of course, are of all kinds. The best measure we have of them is the wholesale price index. This index has been stable for two years. Individual items have gone up and down, but the changes have not been such as to put general pressure upon consumer prices. Labor costs, as measured by wages and fees for services, have been upon an upward trend for years. This has had an effect upon consumer prices, and it accounts for a considerable portion of the recent rise.

Inadequate volume means that the offering of goods is less than the demand at the current price. This was true in many instances in October.

For example, food which is the largest single element in a family budget, and hence carries the greatest weight in the Consumer Price Index, advanced six-tenths of one per cent. Some meats and some fresh vegetables declined slightly in price but this was more than offset by higher prices for eggs, tomatoes, pork, milk, bread, butter, cereals, ice cream, baby food, most fresh fruits, and so forth. Many factors contributed to the relative shortages in these items, including the September hurricane in the Southeast, low hog prices last spring which curtailed the pig crop, and so forth. Housing prices rose in October as a result of higher rents and higher fuel costs.

Transportation increased in price by 1.4 per cent—the most of any of the main categories on the index. This was caused by introduction of 1961 automobiles, a rise in the local transit fare in one city, and some scattered increases in railroad coach fares.

And so it went across the board. There was an increase in every major category of the Consumer Price Index. None of the changes was large, but the fact that they were so widespread, and unexpected, makes the rise most disturbing. They were characteristic of creeping inflation, and the only thing worse than that is galloping inflation. The crucial question is whether this upward trend is going to continue. Unfortunately there is no legitimate basis for saying that it will not continue. There is nothing in the present situation to cause a sharp run-up of prices, but neither is there anything to prevent a further slow upward crawl.

Make-Up Of State Dept.

Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The foreign affairs of this country have assumed a primacy in the public eye that is considerably exaggerated, for unless this country's currency is sound, unless its workers are employed and its social conditions are stable, it cannot maintain the role of leadership.

Dean Rusk has had more than usual experience in the State Department. He headed the Office of United Nations Affairs and the Far Eastern desk and did a tour in the War Department. Coming into State from a professorship in government, he left it to become president of the Rockefeller Foundation. He is a Democrat and a protégé of Dean Acheson. He is likely to be a capable team-worker rather than a star such as John Foster Dulles was. He will not make a mistake like Suez.

The Under Secretary, Chester Bowles, was often mentioned as a probable Secretary. Obviously, it was not politically sound to have two Cabinet officers from Connecticut, Governor Abraham Ribicoff being senior in his claims to high office. Some day, Ribicoff will undoubtedly be appointed to the Supreme Court bench and there will be a reshuffling of posts, but present guesses along these lines may prove meaningless in the future when new faces and new interests appear.

The State Department needs reorganization in all departments. A new Secretary of State is handicapped by left-overs who have tenure under Civil Service and Foreign Service regulations. The Cuban situation is evidence that there are still hidden Communists in this critical department and they should be expelled because it is impossible to serve the United States and the Kremlin simultaneously. There ought to be a Congressional investigation of the operations of the desks having to do with Latin America. The investigation should be public with nothing hidden away to save anyone's face. This country would be shocked at what would be discovered. The Alger Hiss Case would take second place.

The trouble with the intramural investigations is that the American people, who are most concerned, are never given the information which they should have. No newspaper can make public what it could not prove in a court to be true, and to prove "what everybody knows" would require a subpoena and the power to cross-examine witnesses under oath.

A new Secretary of State can so reorganize his department that those who can be harmful are put in places where they can do no harm. He has the opportunity of a new approach and of reorganization, particularly if his President means to clean house.

The China question will arise to plague a new Secretary of State. During the campaign, Candidate Kennedy unnecessarily got himself involved with the islands of Matsu and Quemoy. If nothing else, this unfortunate experience may have taught him that when the expert touches a China question, he can burn his fingers. Although Dean Rusk, the new Secretary of State, did head the Far Eastern desk of the State Department for less than two years, he is not generally regarded as a Far Eastern expert. He has been a member of the Institute of Pacific Relations, but I do not find that his activities were numerous or very important.

Chester Bowles, the new Under Secretary, has been our ambassador to India and developed a personal friendship with Nehru. He is likely to be influenced in his thinking by the necessities of India. It is believed that he has, at one time or another, favored the two-China idea, but it is not probable that anyone with intimate knowledge of the Far Eastern problem, will advocate such an idea now. Chester Bowles can be expected to have an important voice in formulating Far Eastern policy in the Kennedy Administration. Adlai Stevenson's acceptance of the ambassadorship to the United Nations puts him in a very tough spot. Henry Cabot

Other Editors Saying Future Of The Filibuster

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

As usual, when Congress convenes, the Senate will be the scene of bitter debate over that chamber's filibuster rule which allows a member to hold the floor so long as he keeps talking. On one side are the Southern members who employ the filibuster to oppose any legislation they deem unwise. This type of legislation is usually offered by the other side, the liberals of the Democratic party.

Again the liberals are expected to try to get the rule changed so they can ramrod their own program through Congress. But this time there is a difference, and it could develop into a major one, resulting in a victory for the South. Sen. Mike Mansfield, who is expected to be the Senate Democratic leader, has called on liberals in his party to sidetrack attacks on the Senate filibuster rule.

The reason is apparent: such attacks might stymie the Kennedy legislative program. Mansfield's influence might be expected to have some bearing on any action by the liberals. Added to this influence, however, is the voice of another Democrat, one who has been in the forefront of the attacks on the filibuster rule, and that is Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico.

Anderson, who has predicted that the liberals will try again in January, says he will not support such a move. This is significant because he has taken the lead in past efforts to change the rule. Anderson said he is more interested in clearing the way for passage of a Kennedy program.

And though Sen. Paul Douglas plans to plunge ahead with the usual liberal attack which he fosters and instigates, there seems to be afoot some plan originating among the Democratic leaders to squelch any rumblings among the party in order to get to the business of pushing through President-elect Kennedy's legislative program.

Apparently the party's strategists have decided it is easier to do this by letting the filibuster controversy ride for awhile. There is good reasoning behind this. Mansfield himself says the party will need all the unity it can obtain if the program is to be pushed through. Southern Democrats who strenuously oppose the party's platform pledges for the passage of strong civil rights legislation can be expected to filibuster any rule change proposals.

Stirred by such a fight, they also might retaliate by opposing some other Kennedy measure. Without Southern support the program offered by Kennedy would be defeated before it got started. This might explain the desire on the part of Mansfield and other more reasonable liberals to forego another attack on the filibuster, thereby incurring the wrath of the Southerners at a time when their support is most needed.

Added to Republican opposition to such radical measures as favored by Douglas and his crowd, the Southerners represent a formidable bloc in Congress that thus far has proved impregnable to any legislation that hasn't proved reasonable. Kennedy recognizes this situation; he doesn't want to begin his administration with a split Congress.

By ELMER ROESSNER

Look for a fresh campaign to limit imports of liquors except on a reciprocal basis with American exports.

Bourbon and rye distillers are studying possibilities of launching a campaign to bar Scotch, cognac and Canadian liquors from countries that restrict imports of American whiskey. The basic argument: Imports of foreign liquors are adding to the gold drain. The fact: They are right! Most foreign countries limit the import of bourbon, rye and other American liquors. But their own distillations flow into this country with no more restrictions than those imposed on American beverages. Consequently, more dollars flow out than in the liquor trade. The difference increases the drain on the United States gold supply. So the stage is being set for an intensive drive to equalize alcoholic imports and exports. Incidentally, the Kennedy family is no longer profiting from Scotch imports.

Here are more look-aheads in business, based on analyses of developing trends, spiked with advance tips: No-return soft-drink bottles: One big soft-drink company is testing no-return glass bottles in five U. S. areas. If it increases sales, such as among picnickers, boaters and autoists who find it difficult to make returns, the bottles experiment will spread. And where Pepsi goes, will Coke be far behind?

Note: No-return bottles cost about 3 cents each; deposit bottles cost about 7 cents, with an average life of 20 refills before loss or breakage. Therefore, only a slight increase in sales can make no-returns profitable. Sliced potatoes: Being readied for market, are sliced potatoes for frying, each package with spices to add taste to home fries.

SPENDING REPLENISHMENTS: Faster write-offs: Legislation allowing corporations to speed charges for depreciation of plants and machines is expected to get the support of the new Administration. While it will aid big business, the measure will also tend to create more employment, hence doubly demand the support of Kennedy supporters.

More coin cleaners: Tests of coin-operated dry-cleaning machines have attracted favorable attention and manufacturers are preparing to expand distribution during the coming year.

Stem brewing: Expect violent complaints about the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission's award of a research contract to Consumer Union. Many advertisers regard CU as an enemy of modern advertising and hence agin' free enterprise. The contrast is relatively small—$20,000—but the roars of protest may be big.

Fewer imported car lines: American compact cars are cutting into foreign car sales in this country, especially those

A Will Needed By You

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, MASS. — I — While Mrs. Babson and I were in Europe this fall, three of our intimate friends passed away. Two of these I knew had made no will, despite my urgings. One had promised he would do so "when he had time." He begrudged the expense and felt it really was not necessary. Let me discuss these three cases.

CASE NUMBER ONE
In this case, the man left a wife and three children, and several brothers and sisters who have children. The wife assumed she would get all of her husband's estate and then will it to their children. But she did not. Since her husband left no will, she was given only one third; the remaining two thirds was divided equally among the children. Nothing was available for the deceased's brothers or sisters or cousins. This is as it should be.

CASES NUMBER TWO AND THREE
The second man left no wife—but two children as well as brothers, sisters, and cousins. All of his estate went to his children, and his estate was divided in equal portions, or to their heirs. None went to the brothers or sisters or other relatives. One child 23 years of age received the money outright; since the other was a minor, his share was entrusted to the guardian appointed by the Court.

The third man left a wife but no children; he died of the brothers and sisters and cousins. His estate exceeded $100,000. The wife will be given the $25,000 which she would automatically receive from an estate valued at $25,000 or over. In this case she also will get a second $25,000. The remainder will go to the man's brothers and sisters or their heirs who are now springing up in all directions.

WILLS OLDEST LEGAL DOCUMENTS
Originally when a man died all his property went to the oldest son. He was supposed to take care of his mother and to secure work for any other children. Then land owners sometimes died without leaving any children, and the property of the father left a written document outlining his wishes or "will" at his death. These wills were considered sacred by the Roman Courts, and their policy and purpose were adopted by the English Courts and carried to America.

I have recently been seeking copies of early records of the family families who settled Cape Ann (which now comprises Gloucester and Rockport, Mass.). The very earliest documents are the wills of these inhabitants around 1620-30. The first Babson arrived in Salem from London after sixty days in a small sailing vessel. She was a widow named Isabel and she came to Cape Ann in 1637. She was very enterprising and—as there were no doctors—served as a midwife. Also, since there were no lawyers, she helped the fathers make wills. Although these were written on scraps of paper—perhaps on birch bark—they were held very sacred and history still records their contents.

COST OF MAKING A WILL
To enable your life's savings to go as you would like, you should have your local lawyer make up your will. If it is simple, namely leaving all to your wife, he may not charge you more than twenty dollars. If it is more complicated, leaving property perhaps to your wife, in trust—allowing her the use of it and the income during her lifetime with provision for equal division among your children or their heirs—then your lawyer will charge more. He will charge according to the amount of his time you take.

Laws concerning the distribution of estates where there is no will are subject to change. THE CASES CITED ABOVE ARE BASED UPON THE LAWS IN EFFECT IN MASSACHUSETTS AS OF JANUARY 1, 1957. WHEN THE TIME COMES FOR SETTLING YOUR ESTATE, THESE LAWS MAY BE QUITE DIFFERENT.

THE BEST WAY TO ASSURE DISTRIBUTION OF YOUR PROPERTY IS EXACTLY AS YOU WISH IS TO HAVE YOUR WILL DRAWN NOW BY YOUR LAWYER. This also enables you to make some donations to your local church and hospital, which everyone should do. To (Continued on page thirteen)

Couple United In Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Virginia Holt McKinney and Forrest Henry Teague were married in a double-ring ceremony on Saturday, December 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Northgate Presbyterian Church, Durham. The Rev. H. P. Ruppenthal and Rev. E. J. Agsten officiated at the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McKinney of Durham. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Teague of Durham.

Mrs. Forrest Henry Teague

Wedding music was presented by Mr. Raymond P. Kreiner, soloist, and Miss Elender Gray Dennis, organist. Mr. Kreiner sang "The House I Live In" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of pure silk de lustered satin peau which featured a fitted bodice in re-embroidered Alencon lace. The neckline was of a semi-bateau with long flitted sleeves ending in points over the wrists, a full skirt accented by lace appliques ending in a full court train and a bustle back. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl coronet.

The bride carried a cascade of white carnations and ivy centered with a corsage of red carnations. Vows were spoken before a background of California fern trees interspersed with seven branch candelabra. Floor baskets of white bridal flowers were used on each side of the altar. A prie dieu was used to complete the altar decorations. Family pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. E. P. Lynch, cousin of the bride, of Atlanta, Ga., was matron of honor. She wore a formal length gown of sepiet red peau satin. The princess line bodice featured a portrait neckline accented by a deep collar that formed the abbreviated sleeves. The bouffant skirt was formed by full gores. She wore a matching headpiece of veiling, and carried French Colonial of red and white carnations tied with satin and lace.

Bridesmaids were Misses Nina Cortes of Dunn, Gail Hall of Durham, Jackie Noland of Farmville, and Betty Read of Norlina. They wore formal length gowns of scarlet red peau satin. The fitted bodice featured a bateau neckline and brief cap sleeves. The bouffant skirt was formed by inverted pleats. They wore matching headpieces similar to the honor attendant's. The bridesmaids carried French Colonial of red and white carnations tied with satin and lace.

The groom's father served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Mike Cable of Durham, Barry Cates of Durham, Phillip Jarrell of Durham, Fred McKinney, brother of the bride, of Durham, and Barney West of Durham.

The mother of the bride wore a sea-green, brocade sheath dress with matching accessories in Pebble beige. A corsage of golden-bronze pom poms complemented her costume.

The bridegroom's mother wore a beige de lustered taffeta accented by a round neckline and a cover-up jacket. She wore a corsage of white pom poms. The bride is a graduate of Durham High School and attended Peace College. The groom is a graduate of Durham High School and is attending East Carolina College.

The couple will reside on Summit Street, Greenville. For her wedding trip the bride wore an off-white Arnel dress accented by a high neckline, three-quarter sleeves, tie belt and a sheath skirt. Over this she wore an electric blue coat, white hat with a red and white corsage.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception following the Teague-McKinney wedding in the social hall of Northgate Presbyterian Church. The receiving line was headed by Mrs. L. M. Hays and Mr. W. F. Walker. The cake was cut by Mrs. D. B. Smith and Mrs. W. F. Walker with punch being served by Mrs. John L. Briges and Mrs. W. C. Cope. Presiding at the guests' register were Misses Sandra Kennedy and Judy Pleasants. Others assisting were Mrs. W. J. Smith, Mrs. C. W. Teague, Mrs. L. P. Woods, Mrs. Rebecca Poltano, Mrs. W. K. Teague, and Mrs. H. G. Murdock.

HD Club Have Christmas Meet

The Sweet Gum Grove home demonstration club held its Christmas meeting at the community building Thursday with 20 members and guests present. The President, Mrs. Sam Alexander, presided.

After the singing of Christmas carols, Mrs. Johnnie Meeks, vice-president, read the 2nd chapter of Luke. Mrs. David Nobles led the prayer. The Christmas motif was carried out in the decorations.

The club voted to give $5 to the TB Association.

A program on "Christmas Traditions" was given by Mrs. Mavis Johnson, Assistant Home Economics Leader.

Names were drawn for gifts and Mrs. Sam Alexander won a prize for having the best wrapped gift. A game "Dirty-Bingo" was played and those that didn't win prizes were given favors.

The officers served refreshments.

LADY in the MARKET

BY FRANCES V. RUMMELL

CHAPTER 9

Wally and Jane fell into the habit of stopping after class for a leisurely cup of coffee—that is, when Wally was not taking some of the other ladies home—and lately Wally frequently dragged her along to a nearby showroom that displayed sports cars. Thus one night in class Jane wasn't a bit surprised when he wrote, "Want to ride home tonight in my new car?" She endorsed the note, "Love to."

During class break she hurried to a telephone booth in the lobby to call Eleanor. Eleanor would be at home that night; after all, Mr. Petry was teaching. For two weeks now, ever since Eleanor had visited class, she and Phil Petry had been together every evening except class night.

From the beginning of this evening, Mr. Petry had been profoundly moved by his sense of mission. His theme was the over-the-counter market of securities—stocks that are not listed on any exchange—and the girls braced themselves to grasp the ins-and-outs of their marketability with her mind elsewhere. Jane did not pay much attention until she heard him say, "You need not avoid a stock just because it trades 'over-the-counter.' It may be a stable income payer." Taking Mr. Petry's pessimism as a splendid signal, she jotted down, "Look into over-the-counter stocks. They must have gid-vap."

EIGHT YEARS OLD STRAIGHT BOURBON

hurriedly, Wally's hand tugging at her elbow, and raced two blocks up Sutter Street where the car was parked. Bowing low, Wally opened the door of a small, fire-engine red, black-topped convertible, and joyously, she fitted herself into the little bucket seat beside him. Gunning the car up the hill, Wally pushed a button, put the top down, and went roaring ahead.

On the way Wally talked about Mrs. Hope. He had taken her to a movie the night before. "She's homesick for Dallas," he said. "She told me she'd go back except there's nothing to go back to."

Jane was touched by Wally's feeling for people. Most unusual, she thought, for a young man to care about the longings of women twice his age. Yes, Wally was gay, but he was kind and thoughtful too. She was so positive Eleanor would like him.

Reaching Jane's apartment, he was delighted to be invited in. Eleanor was curled up in Horace's old chair with a book. When she heard the key in the front door below, she settled her legs under her in the position she'd decided to adopt. She gave her hair a final pat just as they arrived.

"Eleanor," said Jane, her hand on Wally's arm, "this is Mr. Goo-gins—Wally—a classmate of mine."

Eleanor smiled at the classmate. Wally was enchanted. He turned to Jane. "You have permitted me to believe," he said reproachfully, "that you lived alone. Aunt Jane, this is a clear case of negligence—you could have introduced me to this lovely creature months ago."

"I do live alone. Except for Kimmy boy." She picked up Kim and Wally admired the handsome cat. "Now if you two will excuse me—" Jane headed toward her kitchen.

Wally pulled up an ottoman and sat at Eleanor's feet, letting the full impact of his charm fall upon her. "So you're a teacher," he said. "Do you have school tomorrow?"

"Tomorrow's Saturday—no, not tomorrow."

"Tomorrow, then, being Saturday—I take it that you are perfectly free to be wacky, carouse, roister, raise hell generally?" Eleanor's laugh tinkled through the apartment. "Oh, of course! You've just described my normal weekend."

"I was leading up to this—would you consider coming out to ride around the block in my snappy new car and maybe take on a chocolate malted milk—say with an egg in it?"

After giving him a precisely-calculated moment of doubt, Eleanor replied, "The egg really does. I'd love to, but would it be polite — to leave Aunt Jane so soon?"

"Who's leaving so soon?" Jane came in bearing a tray with coffee equipment.

"Wally wants to take me around the block in his new car." "That would hardly seem worth the trouble." "I know a pretty big block," Wally assured her. "Go on, Eleanor. The car is delightful. I'll take this coffee over to Al and Rosie so it won't be wasted."

As soon as they left Jane tore down the hall to the Benelli apartment. "Eleanor and Wally are out this very minute in his new car!" she announced.

"Let's all stay up," Jane suggested briskly.

At one-thirty, with Eleanor still not back, they gave up waiting and Jane went home to bed.

It was Sunday morning and Eleanor, dropping in to read Jane's newspaper, announced she was driving up to Tomales Bay for a picnic lunch.

"Let me guess who you're going with!" Jane teased. In truth, she couldn't guess whether it was Wally or Mr. Petry. Eleanor acted happy—but with an indefinable lag.

"She finally said unsmiling 'It's Phil—but I think I wish it were Wally! Isn't that terrible?'" Jane's heart set up such a tune she thought it would surely be heard, and she made a mental note to tell Al and Rosemarie that Eleanor had finally given her first sign of preference. Wally was less attentive and would be much slower to educate to the idea of settling down, which was undoubtedly a part of his attraction.

But time would be a mighty ally, and actually it was just as well to give a free soul like Wally some stiff competition.

They heard the car horn and Eleanor jumped up and ran out the door. Jane called after her, "Have a wonderful day, dear!" Then she hastened to Al's and Rosemarie's to bring them up to date.

Expanding And Improving ECC Testing Center

The Testing Center at East Carolina College is being expanded and services to Eastern North Carolina are being improved. Dr. Frank A. Scott, director of the Testing Center, states that by next year students from the eastern part of the state will no longer have to travel as far as Raleigh or Chapel Hill to take special examinations required for graduate studies and fellowship grants.

Public schools will be benefited, he stated, as they will now be able to obtain scoring services from the college for those tests using IBM machine scoring answer sheets.

The testing service performed by the testing center are varied. The center will administer the college entrance examinations of the Educational Testing Service and those of the American College Testing Program.

The Graduate Record Examination and the Miller Analogy Test, which are required for admission to many graduate schools and for fellowship grants, will also be administered at the center. Until the present time eastern North Carolina college students had to travel to Raleigh, Chapel Hill or Richmond, Va., in order to take these tests.

Also the high school equivalency examination and the merit examinations of neighboring states are given at the center on request as an added function of the center.

Public Schools will be benefited by the test scoring services, Dr. Scott said. The schools in eastern North Carolina now have to send their test answer sheets to Chapel Hill or out of the State in order for them to be machine scored. Through a local service of this type, it is hoped that the schools will be benefited in terms of time and economy.

Clearing Debris From Derailment

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — Work crews today began clearing the debris from a train derailment which erupted into flames after an explosion Saturday at nearby Traskwood.

The town's 200 residents, grateful the blast had caused only one serious injury, turned to repairing shattered homes. Sixteen other persons sustained minor injuries.

Missouri Pacific Railroad officials attributed the derailment of 23 cars to a failure in a journal. Still unknown is the cause of the explosion, which sent flames shooting 1,500 feet into the air and was heard 45 miles away.

Mayor E. A. Still estimated 90 per cent of the village's homes were damaged. A few families moved in with friends or relatives, but most residents returned to their homes Saturday night. The town was evacuated after the first blast.

Before new tracks can be laid a blast crater 100 feet wide, 150 feet long and 75 feet deep must be filled.

Harry Dodridge, 63, who was thrown against a tree by the concussion, was the only injured person hospitalized.

Re-Raise Threat Money Is Prime Issue In New Orleans, Louisiana Struggle To West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's Communist regime today issued a new ultimatum threatening Allied and German travel to isolated West Berlin.

An editorial in Neues Deutschland, the official Communist party newspaper, declared that unless a new trade pact is signed this month between West and East Germany, all agreements on traffic to Berlin will become invalid on Jan. 1, 1961.

The editorial said the East German government will offer the Western Allies in Berlin a special arrangement for military transports to Berlin. Presumably the Allies would again refuse to deal with the East Germans since they do not recognize the Red regime.

The Red organ said other traffic — the movement of civilians and goods to and from Berlin — remained an open question in the absence of a trade agreement.

The West Germans cancelled their trade agreement with East Germany 10 weeks ago as reprisal for the Communist squeeze on Berlin.

Eastern and Western negotiators have held four meetings in Berlin to discuss a new agreement, but they have deadlocked on whether West Berlin was to be treated as part of the West German republic.

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Money was a prime issue in the school integration struggle today as both the New Orleans School Board and the Louisiana Legislature sought ways out of a tangled financial crisis.

The money-beset school board considered accepting a surprise offer of $500,000 from Ellen Steinberg, a St. Louis heiress, made in New York over the weekend.

In Baton Rouge, lawmakers scheduled a committee hearing on a one-cent sales tax that could net an estimated $45 million. Administration leaders said the money would pay the way for white students who wanted to go to private segregated schools.

Another bill introduced Sunday would tax advertising in newspapers. Newspaper editorials have criticized certain aspects of the lawmakers' segregation fight.

Louis G. Riecke Sr., school board president, sent a telegram to Miss Steinberg thanking her for her offer. The proposition "practically took my breath away," he said.

Miss Steinberg, daughter of millionaire banker and philanthropist Mark C. Steinberg who died in 1951, said she offered the money to help keep schools open. She asked the board to repay her — if possible.

The legislature has frozen school funds and warned banks they would honor school board checks at their own risk. The board needs three to four million dollars to pay salaries and bills through June 1961.

A three-judge federal court is expected to rule soon on the board's request for a court order to force four New Orleans banks to release school money.

The federal tribunal also has ordered an injunction banning a new state law that would empower Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to appoint a new school board.

Integration at two New Orleans elementary schools entered its fifth week today.

Three Negro girls have been attending McDonogh No. 19 school, where a total white boycott is in effect. One Negro girl attends William Frantz school. Eight white children also attended Frantz school most of last week.

Saved Trio Who Fell Through Ice

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — Three Olathe boys broke through thin ice of a small resort lake Sunday and were rescued through the rope-throwing of a determined man.

Harry Lines, 59, resort operator, saw David Jones, 16; Marvin Jones, 14, and Eddie Baker, 14, fall into 12 feet of water about 50 feet from shore as they scooted one of his park benches across the ice.

While Lines ran for a rope, the boys kept breaking off more ice as they tried to climb out of the frigid water.

The rope was short. The ice broke under Lines but he edged toward the boys and kept throwing. The water was up to his waist.

The rope finally reached the boys. They pulled themselves out on the ice and were dragged ashore.

Charge Doctor Sold Moonshine To His Patients

LEXINGTON, S.C. (AP) — A doctor at the State (mental) Hospital and the operator of an alcoholic rest home have been charged with selling moonshine liquor to patients at the home.

Arrested were Dr. Leo Kirven of the hospital, and Fred Ott, operator of the Carolina Rest Home near here. Ott was a candidate this year for the State House of Representatives.

Lexington police and agents of the State Law Enforcement Division said they removed 22 one-half gallon fruit jars of moonshine from the home.

SLED Chief J. P. Strom said the probe was launched after several complaints had been made, including one from a former patient.

Strom said the arrests were made after SLED Agent Earl Collins posed as a patient and entered the home.

Dr. Kirven and Ott were released under $2,100 bond each.

Kept Promise Of Free Coffee

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — "The day I give free cups of coffee, snow will have to be piled six feet high against my door."

Cafe owner Ralph Aberth figured he was safe — it hadn't snowed in Riverside since 1948 and that storm had dumped only a few inches.

Sunday Aberth went to his cafe — on a balmy sunny day — and found the front door blocked by a pile of snow more than six feet high. A man of his word, he served more than 200 free cups of coffee.

How did the snow get there? Six friends had made three round trips in a pickup truck to Big Bear Mountain, more than 40 miles away, to bring back enough snow for the prank.

Hawaii's Vote Is Still In Doubt

HONOLULU (AP) — Three Democrat electors will cast their ballots today for President-elect John F. Kennedy while their Republican counterparts vote for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Before a recount requested by the Democrats was ordered last week, Nixon was certified as the winner of Hawaii's three electoral votes by a margin of 141. Late Saturday after a recount of 62 of the state's 240 precincts, Kennedy had gone in front by 55 votes.

Circuit Judge Ronald B. Jamieson indicated he would order a recount of all the remaining precincts.

Next Treasurer Is N.C. Visitor

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — The next treasurer of the United States, Mrs. Elizabeth Rudel Smith, is a frequent visitor here where her mother has a winter home.

Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. C. M. Rudel, has been a winter resident here since 1916.

Mrs. Smith lived in Southern Pines during the 1930's. She was married to Frank McCluer, an Aberdeen attorney, who was killed in a polo accident.

Mrs. Rudel says her daughter is the lone Democrat in a staunchly Republican family but, she adds, "We never talk politics."

Bradley, Ohio State Face Tough Tests This Week

By JACK CLARY Associated Press Sports Writer Ohio State and Bradley, the 1-2 punch in college basketball, will find out this week if they've learned the art of self defense.

The Buckeyes, defending NCAA champions, play Loyola of Chicago tonight and then go for victory No. 6 Thursday night against Detroit (4-1). Ohio State was rated first in last week's Associated Press poll and the Titans were third.

Both were victorious over the weekend, Ohio State winning over tough little Wichita 93-82 and Detroit beating Nebraska 71-62.

Bradley, second ranked, plays Gonzaga tonight, then tries to settle an old score with Missouri Valley of Cincinnati. The Braves have been runnerup to Cincy in the MVC for the past three years — when Oscar Robertson led the Bearcats.

Now Robertson is gone and Cincy is just another ball club with a 4-2 mark. Bradley is 6-0 and ran its winning streak over the two seasons to 12 straight with an 88-66 victory Saturday night over Wisconsin.

With the Christmas recess in progress or about to begin in most colleges and universities, the program is just the calm before the tournament storm which will burst forth in every corner of the country next week.

Most of the nation's top teams play only one game this week.

Fifth-ranked North Carolina (3-2) meets Creighton; St. Bonaventure (6-0) plays Western Ontario and Duke (5-0) goes against Georgia Tech, tonight.

Fourth-ranked Indiana (4-1) plays Notre Dame Tuesday night while ninth-rated Louisville and 10th-ranked North Carolina State also have a light schedule. The Cardinals, 8-0 after beating Georgetown (Ky) 80-63 Saturday night, take on Louisiana State Wednesday night and the Wolfpack, an 82-76 winner over Georgia Tech for a 5-1 mark, plays LaSalle Tuesday night.

Elsewhere, St. John's, ranked 7th with a 4-0 mark, takes on Pitt and Gonzaga this week while Duke (No. 8), pits its 5-0 mark against Georgia Tech and Florida. Indiana won over Nevada 80-52, North Carolina beat Kansas 78-70, and St. Bonaventure easily handled Morehead 106-88 to make it a clean sweep for the top-ranked clubs.

Auburn tabbed itself as the team to beat for the Southeastern Conference crown, beating Alabama 74-62 for the Birmingham Classic title, making its record 5-0 this year, and running its winning streak to 14. Duquesne's 80-66 victory over hometown foe Pitt gave it the Steel Bowl title while Portland beat Gonzaga 73-54 for the City of Roses tournament title at Portland, Ore.

Wake Forest moved to the top of the Atlantic Coast Conference race with a 72-60 upset of Maryland. Temple handed Kentucky its second loss, 66-58. The Wildcats host to the Kentucky Classic, beginning Wednesday at Lexington, Ky., while California meets St. Louis in the other pairing.

Oklahoma City and Tulane each lost for the first time. Houston's late rally cut down Oklahoma City 78-65 and SMU belted the Greenies 83-67. Drake surprised Dayton 73-62.

UCLA defeated Butler 73-61. Southern Cal won over Notre Dame 93-53 and Memphis State beat Montana State 77-53 in some Far West inter-sectional jousts. St. Mary's (Calif.) won over Minnesota 54-52 but Purdue beat Washington State 74-46 and Iowa State defeated Washington 60-50.

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer The Green Bay Packers, representing the smallest city in the National Football League, today held one of the circuit's biggest prizes after grabbing the elusive Western Conference crown for the first time since 1944.

The Packers ended the struggle for honors in the Western sector Saturday by riding Bart Starr's pinpoint passing to a 35-21 victory over Los Angeles that sends them into the championship game against Philadelphia's Eastern Divisionists next Monday.

The Green Bay triumph also dethroned Baltimore's two-time champion Colts, brought the Packers' record to 8-4 and completed an amazing flip flop under Coach Vince Lombardi's guidance for the club that finished the 1958 campaign with the worst mark in the league.

The Eagles wound up the season Sunday with a 10-2 record by whipping Washington 38-28 in Mike Nixon's final game as Redskin coach, and Cleveland and Detroit earned the right to meet in the NFL's runner-up bowl in Miami, Jan. 7.

The Browns, beaten six consecutive times by New York, came from behind and defeated the Giants 48-34 on a 27-point explosion in the final period that settled the head-on clash for second place in the Eastern Division.

The Lions qualified for the runner-up bowl by thrashing the Chicago Bears 36-0 for their seventh victory in the last nine games while outdistancing San Francisco for the post-season berth on a point basis.

Detroit and the 49ers finished in a tie for second place in the West with 7-5 records when San Francisco knocked off the Colts 34-10 and pushed them into fourth. St. Louis took fourth place in the East with a 38-7 win over Pittsburgh.

In the American League's wind-up program, Western champion Los Angeles edged New York 50-43, Houston's Eastern titlists beat Boston 37-21, Dallas thumped

Buffalo 24-7 and Oakland walloped Denver 48-10.

The Packers wrapped up their first title in 16 years when Paul Hornung hit Max McGee with a 40-yard touchdown pass for a 28-7 halftime lead the Rams (4-7-1) were never able to overcome.

Hornung also scored once on a short plunge and kicked five conversions, raising his NFL total point record to 176. Los Angeles took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on a 40-yard TD toss from Billy Wade to Tom Wilson before the Green Bay onslaught began. Starr heaved scoring aeriels of 57 and 91 yards to McGee and Boyd Dowler, respectively, then Paul Winslow recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for another touchdown and Hornung connected with McGee. At Washington, Nixon was notified his contract was not being renewed after the Redskins (1-9-2) down passes each by Norm Van Brocklin and sub quarterback Sonny Jurgensen. Van Brocklin pitched 52 and 64-yards to Tommy McDonald while Jurgensen hit Tim Brown, who scored the clutching touchdown on a 3-yard run, with a 34-yard flip and threw a 57-yarder to Pete Retzlaff.

Paul Wiggins' 20-yard interception return for a touchdown and Sam Baker's conversion put the Browns' (8-8-1) ahead 35-34 and started their last quarter outburst against the New Yorkers (5-4-2). Milt Plum, who passed for four touchdowns, and Jimmy Brown, who scored twice, made it a sad farewell for Giants' coach Jim Lee Howell, retiring after bringing New York two successive Eastern titles.

Nick Pietrosante crashed 31 and four yards for touchdowns in the Lions' win against inept Chicago (5-6-1), outscored 119-13 in the last three games, and set a club one-season rushing record with 872 yards. Detroit grabbed the bowl berth over San Francisco by scoring more points than the 49ers in the two meetings (each team won once) between the clubs.

Lenny Lyles raced 97 yards with a kickoff for the go-ahead touchdown as San Francisco handed the Colts (6-6) their fourth loss in a row. Johnny Unitas, blanked last week, threw one touchdown pass for Baltimore and brought his aerial yardage to 3,099—a league record.

John Crow rambled 203 yards, best one-game mark this season, and set a Cardinal (6-5-1) ground-gaining record of 1,071 yards while Johnny Roach pitched three TD strikes to Sonny Randle in the romp over the Steelers (5-6-1).

Hole-In-One

Troy Riddle of 262 South Elm Street in Greenville scored his first hole-in-one Saturday afternoon at the Greenville Golf and Country Club Course.

Playing in a foursome with Gene Ward, Ed Harris and Ray Masten on a chilly afternoon, Riddle aced the 140-yard third hole with a six iron.

LA, Oilers Set For Title Game

By JOHN CHANDLER Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Chargers and Houston Oilers, will meet for the American Football League title Jan. 1.

It will be the rubber game between the Chargers and Oilers. Earlier in the season, Houston beat Los Angeles 38-28, but several weeks ago the Chargers won 24-21.

With Houston wrapping up the Eastern Division crown and Los Angeles the Western title a week ago, Sunday's final games were meaningless as far as the standings went.

Los Angeles ripped across 17 points in the fourth quarter to rock the New York Titans 50-43. Houston blasted the Boston Patriots 37-21. In one other Sunday game, the Dallas Texans downed the Buffalo Bills 24-7. Saturday the Oakland Raiders overpowered the Denver Broncos 48-10.

The National Football League completed its 12-game schedule, Sunday, gut the Green Bay Packers had clinched the Western Conference crown by beating the Los Angeles Rams Saturday 35-21.

In other final NFL games, Detroit whipped Chicago 36-0, Cleveland pulled out a 48-34 thriller over New York. St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 38-7, Philadelphia outscored Washington 38-28, and the dethroned champion, Baltimore Colts were beaten 34-10 by the San Francisco 49ers.

Jack Kemp, threw three touchdowns passes and scored one himself for the Chargers but a 41-year-old teammate, Ben Agajanian, chipped in with three field goals and five conversions to gain top scoring honors with 14 points. Al Dorow tossed three TD passes for New York.

It was 43-33 New York when Kemp flipped an 11-yard scoring pass to Blanche Martin. Kemp then scored on a 5-yard run, and Agajanian led the works with his third field goal from 27 yards out.

Billy Cannon returned a kickoff 88 yards for a touchdown, and his 38-yard punt return opened the gates for the 17 points Houston rolled up in a final period burst against Boston.

Jack Spikes scored one TD for Dallas, kicked a field goal and three extra points and teammate Cotton Davidson tossed two touchdown passes to lead the Texans over Buffalo.

Bones, Deacs Riding Atop ACC With Four Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Just a week ago, the Wake Forest basketball team appeared to be headed nowhere fast. The Deacons had won two and lost two. One of the losses was to little Davidson, which hasn't won a game since then.

Today, the picture is far different. Coach Bones McKinney's club has won four straight games, sits atop the Atlantic Coast Conference standings with a 3-0 league record, and numbers a pair of nationally rated teams, N.C. State and Maryland, among its victims.

The Deacons bowled over 12th-ranked Maryland Saturday, 72-60.

All-American

East Carolina College half-back Glenn Bass' ever-growing list of football honors included the selection to Williamson's All-America team released Saturday by college athletic officials.

Bass becomes the second Pirate to receive such an honor. Center Louis Hallow became the first ECC All-American in 1955. Clayton Piland and Sonny Baysinger of East Carolina received honorable mention.

Bass, a 180-pounder, who hopes to give the pro ranks a fling, will play in the All-American Bowl in Tucson, Arizona December 26.

Earlier this winter, Bass was named All-Conference for the second straight year, voted the "Outstanding Player" on the ECC club, and received an honorable mention for Little All-American.

A senior, Bass is a native of Wilson, N.C.

Three Undefeated In North State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS High Point, Appalachian and Atlantic Christian top the North State Conference basketball standings as the teams head into the holiday period. No games are scheduled until Dec. 23.

High Point leads the pack with a 4-0 record in North State play and a 4-2 over-all mark. Appalachian is 3-0 and 6-1, and Atlantic Christian 2-0 and 4-3.

Atlantic Christian's three losses came last week in the Quantico Invitational.

Elon and Western Carolina are next in the standings, each with a 2-1 record. Elon is 4-5 over-all and WCC is 2-6.

Then come East Carolina, 4-2 and 4-3; Lenoir Rhyne, 3-2 and 5-2; Catawba, 2-2 and 5-6; Pfeiffer, 1-7 and 1-10; Guilford, 0-8 and 0-9.

Western Carolina edged Pfeiffer 71-69 Saturday, and Catawba dumped Hampden-Sydney 51-43.

Nixon Fired By Washington Boss

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mike Nixon, 49, has been fired as head coach of the Washington Redskins. Assistant coach Bill McPeak probably will succeed him.

That was the situation today after the Redskins closed an era at Griffith Stadium with their worst record in history—one victory, nine defeats and two ties. The Philadelphia Eagles, the National Football League's Eastern champions, bombed the Redskins 38-28 Sunday on the passing of Norm Van Brocklin and Sonny Jurgensen. Since the Redskins are moving into Washington's new 50,000-seat stadium next fall, it was the last pro game for ancient Griffith Stadium. It also was the Redskins' best showing of the year at home.

Commendable as it was in defeat, the performance left the Redskins in the Eastern basement and failed to save the popular Nixon. George Preston Marshall, owner of the club, confirmed after the game previous reports that Nixon's contract would not be renewed. He said Nixon, ninth of his coaches in a 24-season span at Washington, had been informed two weeks ago.

"I think he is a terrific man," Marshall said of Nixon. "Perhaps his greatest weakness is that he is too nice a man."

McPeak, 34, a balding, former Pitt and Pittsburgh Steeler end, is a man of mystery. Friends said Nixon's contract would not be renewed. He said Nixon, ninth of his coaches in a 24-season span at Washington, had been informed two weeks ago.

Marshall ruled out anyone from the college level as his next coach. He would not rule out anyone on the Redskins' staff but said he had discussed the post with three men outside the organization.

Nixon, clearly pained, refused to say anything. Highly regarded by colleagues in the game, he turned down a personnel job with the Redskins and is a candidate for coach of the Minneapolis team that enters the NFL next year.

This was his second season as coach of the Redskins, who had 3-9 record in 1959.

Eagles Still Lack Height, Hope To Improve '60 Mark

By LEONARD LAO
Reflector Sports Writer

Coach Dan Wooten is having his share of troubles this season and no one knows it better than he does.

So far this season his Belvoir-Falkland basketballers have recorded a 5-5 won lost late.

But Wooten is the first to admit that his cagers will compile a better record than last year's 9-14 mark.

"Our biggest problem has been lack of height," said Wooten. "That was the main block from having a better record than the Belvoir-Falkland rounballers did last season."

Wooten has a host of lettermen returning from last year's squad among the veterans are Joe Jenkins, Harold Harris, Roy Smith and Willie Wallace. This foursome has been the leading contingent in Belvoir-Falkland's five victories this year. Of the quartet, all were starters last season with the exception of Jenkins.

"We have definitely improved over last year," comments Wooten. "Our biggest asset has been defense so far. We've been having a lot of trouble with getting our offense to click," continues the cager. "There has been a lot of bad ball handling and we have made our share of bad passes, but I think we will come around."

Another factor which may spell success for Belvoir-Falkland is a quick fast break attack. As Wooten puts it, "We will be vastly improved with our exceptionally good fast break, for we have good speed."

Johnny Rouse, a six-foot-three-inch junior who just gained eligibility could be the difference in a successful season. Rouse is big and will add to the rebounding punch for Belvoir-Falkland.

The Belvoir-Falkland lassies, coached by Ed Warren, have an edge on the boys as far as their record is concerned. The girls have posted a 7-3 overall slate so far this season, with a 3-2 record in Pitt County play.

Phyllis Nichols has been the main offensive spark for the Belvoir-Falkland girls this season. The All-Conference forward reached a single game high when she bucketed 44 points, enough to set an individual scoring record for the school. Another All-Conference selection, Betty Farrell, has been the number one defensive threat for the Belvoir-Falkland lassies. This dangerous balanced attack has spelled defeat for seven teams, and may do the same to others before the end of the season if Coach Warren figures right.

Five Tar Heels Gain Honors

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Two of North Carolina's high school backfield stars, and three standout linemen, have been named to the 41st annual All-Southern football team, the South's top scholastic football honor.

Five other North Carolina players were given honorable mention.

Named to the 60-player squad announced Saturday were Ronnie Tuthill, 180-pound Rockingham back; Sonny Odum, 178-pound Greensboro senior back; Gary Williams, and John Hill, 220-pound Greensboro senior tackle.

The honorable mention list included Gary Black, Charlotte Garinger back; Spencer Penland, Asheville Edwards tackle; Purvis Edwards, Rocky Mount tackle; Neil Syters, Gastonia guard; Gene Isenhour, Hickory back, and Denny Landreth, Brevard back.

Five players were chosen from each of 12 states by a panel of 132 coaches and sports writers. The Orlando Sentinel sponsors the selection of the team.

Citadel Junior Holds Scoring Lead In League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Have Southern Conference basketball coaches at long last found a defense against William and Mary's Jeff Cohen?

When the big Indian pivot man was limited to 11 points Saturday by Davidson's Wildcats, it was his lowest one-game total since Washington and Lee held him to five in the next-to-last game of the 1958-59 campaign.

And his two-game total of 27 points—he got just 16 last Wednesday against George Washington—was also the lowest in that length of time, for GW checked him with 13 after the S&L debacle in 1958-59.

The two-game scoring drought cost Cohen the conference scoring lead to Gary Daniels, The Citadel's junior sharpshooter. Daniels has scored 131 points in six games for a 21.8-point average to 128 points in six games and a 21.3-point average for Cohen.

In third place is sophomore Rod Thorn, the latest in a long line of West Virginia stars, who has 126 points in six games for a 21-point mark. The only other over-20-point scorer is sophomore Jerry Smith of Furman, who has 144 points in seven games for a 20.6 average.

The rest of the top 10 with their averages consists of Jon Feldman of GW, 19.6; Chris Smith of Virginia Tech, 18.8; Tom Conard of Furman, 18.1; Norm Halberstadt of VMI, 17.0; Danny Higgins of Richmond, 16.7; and Keith Stowers of The Citadel, 16.2.

In tonight's only action for conference teams, Richmond plays an exhibition at the New York Athletic Club and The Citadel begins a two-night stand at Statesboro, Ga., by meeting Georgia.

The Boston Red Sox placed Ted Williams on baseball's voluntarily retired list two days after the American League season ended.

Bass Anxious To Start At SC Post

COLUMBIA (AP)—Genial Marvin Bass calls his new job as head football coach at the University of South Carolina "the finest Christmas present I've ever been presented."

South Carolina's athletic director, Warren Giese, announced late Saturday that he was retiring as coach at the age of 36 and that he would be succeeded by Bass, a 41-year old former aide and last season an assistant coach at Georgia Tech.

Giese said the university's expanding program made it necessary and obvious for him to step down as coach. He said the combined work load of being athletic director, coach and head of the Physical Education Department was too burdensome. Giese will handle the two remaining jobs.

Bass was confident he had the makings of a solid 1961 Gamecock team. "There's good line material here," he observed at a news conference following the announcement. "But we're going to have to go out and find halfbacks. Recruiting is the salvation of any top flight football program."

The Gamecocks will lose 10 linemen and five backs from the 1960 team through graduation. Included are such standouts as co-captains guard Jake Bodkin and end Jerry Frye and backs Buddy Bennett, Melvin Harris and Bob Farmer.

Bass, who officially takes over Jan. 1, said he has asked all of Giese's assistant coaches to stay on. However, Sam Lyle, the No. 1 aide in 1960, resigned when he learned Giese had stepped down.

But 35 Bunnies Netted In Hunt

HARMONY, N.C. (AP)—The bunny box score: 35 rabbits killed. That was the official tally of the Harmony American Legion post's sixth annual no-guns-allowed rabbit hunt here Saturday.

About 100 free-swinging hunters whacked away with sticks and clubs from early morning until dusk in clear sharp weather. A score of whining hounds raced over the tredded countryside to flush the elusive cottontails.

Humane authorities had protested the hunt was cruel and brutal and had sought to have it called off. But it went off on schedule, although the 35-rabbit total was well below the number the Legion needs for its annual February Barbecue.

Legion members hope to bag additional bunnies in the weeks to come until they have about 200, the total required for the February feast. Proceeds go to charitable works and civic projects of the post.

Saturday's was the lone major organized rabbit hunt. The rest of the kill will be supplied by solo efforts. The rabbits are cleaned, dressed and frozen until barbecue time.

Penn State Coach Calls Scoring Play

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Coach Rip Engle took a leaf from the book of pro coach Paul Brown in helping his Penn State team whip Oregon 41-12 in the second annual Liberty Bowl game Saturday.

Leading 14-6 with a few minutes left to play in the first half, Engle called the plays from the bench.

The Penn State quarterback shuttled in and out of the game with strategy much the same as Brown sends in plays for his Cleveland Browns via a pair of guards.

"I don't like to call the plays," said Engle. "I like to let the boys play it. But there wasn't much time and I thought I had the plays for another score."

He did. State scored and left the field leading 21-6. The touchdown loomed even bigger when Oregon tallied the only touchdown of the third period. What could have been a 14-12 game was 21-12. State scored three times in the final period to complete a rout.

Engle credited his team's second straight Liberty Bowl victory to his superior numbers. He was able to alternate two complete units against the thinner Oregon forces.

"We tried to make them play two games," the State coach explained, referring to the use of his "22-man first team" which forced Oregon to battle two teams instead of one.

Dick Hoak, senior quarterback from Jeannette, Pa., was voted the game's most valuable player award. Hoak scored two touchdowns, passed for another and set up the first State TD with a 16-yard pass to the Oregon 1. He also intercepted two passes in the Lion's rousing fourth-quarter finish, each leading to a touchdown. Oregon coach Len Casanova said his team simply made too many errors.

A crowd of 16,624 sat in sub-freezing weather to see this second annual bowl game at the Philadelphia Stadium. Although it was an artistic success—an interesting game despite the score—the promoters took a financial bath. They're as hardy, however, as the fans who braved the elements. They said they'll be back in 1961.

New Orleans 'Refugees' Set Out On A New Life

NORTH PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—James O. Gabrielle, who said he and his family were forced to leave New Orleans, La., over the school integration question, set out today to begin a new life in Rhode Island.

Gabrielle said he will follow up a number of job offers and will seek a home for his family, which includes his wife and six children.

Gabrielle said the taunts and threats his family received because they defied the white boycott of the recently integrated William Frantz school forced them to leave New Orleans.

Gabrielle and his wife had sent their daughter, Yolanda, 6, to the school where one Negro girl has been admitted under federal court order.

The Gabrielle family had refused to go along with other white families who kept their children out of school because of the presence of the Negro girl.

Forced to give up his $230 a month job as city water meter reader, Gabrielle left New Orleans Thursday night by car with Maria, 14, James Jr., 10, and Mark, 9.

Gabrielle said they left in two sections "so if they got us they'd only get half of us." He did not elaborate.

For the time being, the Gabrielle family will live in the north providence home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gabrielle.

The parents spell the name with a single letter "I."

Gabrielle related how his home was stoned, how he lost his job when his fellow workers charged he was "polluting the white race by sending his daughter to an integrated school" and of threats the family received.

"They have got to accept integration," Gabrielle told reporters. "We left because I think we made too many enemies. I was reluctant at first to defy the white boycott because of the safety of my wife is an independent woman. She believes in her convictions."

It was to be something for the Boys, and Greenville's Women of the Moose made it "something special" in their dinner-dance Saturday night for their husbands and escorts.

In other years they had provided extra entertainment. One year it was a "This Is Your Life" parody; another time it was an all-male bathing beauty contest. . . . and on still another occasion there was a womanless wedding.

Rescue 36 When Boat Swamped

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese ship Sunday rescued 36 South Koreans whose commandeered fishing boat swamped as they tried to flee to Communist North Korea or Red China. They were turned over to South Korean Authorities.

South Korean police said the group, led by a high school teacher and including some of his students, tried to steal a 311-ton ferry sailing to Cheju Island Friday. Falling in this, after killing two passengers, the group took over the fishing boat.

The production included a vocal chorus of eighteen, a chorus line of eight dancing girls, four "end men" (Earline Coghill, Donna Tabar, Josephine Dees and Bonnie Singleton) and Mr. Interlocutor (Eli Bloom). Bloom explained his presence, recalling his honorary membership in the Women of the Moose.

They Jumped Off And On Again

PLACERVILLE, Calif. (AP)—The Camino, Placerville and Lake Tahoe Railroad's three-car train was hauling woodchips down a grade when the brakes let loose. Engineer Jack Williams and switchman Curtis Pierce shoved it in reverse and jumped off when it hit 50 miles an hour.

The cars broke loose and derailed. The engine kept going. It stopped finally and started back into its own wrecked cars. But Williams and Pierce clambered back aboard in time to stop it. Both were shaken up.

directed by Bloom. An evening of dancing concluded the party.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The guy who said you can't beat City Hall didn't figure on rubbish collector Tony Augustyn, winner today over tree trimmers who tried to trim him of $108.64.

Remember Tony? He's the rugged individualist whose celebrated battle with bureaucracy began when one of his trucks backed into an 18-foot eucalyptus tree on a public parkway last AUG.

The County Department of Parks and Recreation sent out an 11-man crew in two trucks and a car. They replaced the damaged tree with a sapling. Tony went into orbit when he got the bill.

"To cover cost of removal and replacement of parkway tree knocked down at 55 W. 118th St.," it said.

"Schinus Trebintifolia, $2.50; 1 redwood stake, 55 cents; 1 tree trimmer foreman, 1 hour, $5.34; 1 tree trimmer subforeman, 3 hours, $1.39; 3 tree trimmers, 7 hours, $30.20; 3 tree laborers, 8 hours, $29.47; 1 truck driver, 1 hour, $4.08; 1 truck driver, 3 hours, $13.63; 1 truck, M-1777, 1 mile, $2.62; 1 relief truck, M-1877, 6 miles, 64 cents; 1 car, 5 miles, 70 cents; dump fee, $4.43. "Total, $108.64.

"I'm not paying," said Tony. "You don't need an army to plant one little 2½-dollar tree."

Oh, yes you are, said the Parks Department, contending the bill was reasonable.

"So sue me," said Tony. They did.

And in Small Claims Court Friday, Judge Lester O. Luce ruled in Tony's favor when the Parks Department failed to bring to court the 11-man crew who replanted the now famous Schinus Trebintifolia.

Tony testified first. He admitted his truck hit the tree and offered to pay $25.

Judge Luce then wanted to hear from the tree replanters. A red-faced representative of the auditor's office said he didn't think they were needed. So Judge Luce said: "I rule for the defendant."

"I spent a lot of time fighting this thing, but I feel it was worth it," said Tony. "I didn't think I had a chance, but then, you never know, do you?"

Newest Electric Trains Had Bugs

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—British Railways suddenly withdrew their slick six-week-old electric trains from Glasgow's suburban lines Sunday and announced the old steam engines which have been running for generations would be put back in service.

The railways said $44.8 million worth of electric equipment is going back to the manufacturers "to remedy certain defects."

The lines have been jinxed with delays arising from equipment failures ever since the modernization was introduced with great fanfare last month.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation #9. At all drug counters.

Demos Invited To Fight In Public

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., invited Democrats today to fight out their battles in the open rather than behind closed caucus doors.

Mansfield said that if, as expected, he becomes the Senate's majority leader he will oppose the holding of frequent party caucuses. These have been suggested by some Democratic liberals.

"Senators can get party conferences if they ask for them," Mansfield said. "But I would much rather we have our fights out in the open instead of behind closed doors, where information is leaked out."

"I want the true story told the first time and not some garbled account of it."

Democratic liberals pressed Senate Majority Leader Lyndon E. Johnson of Texas earlier this year for frequent conferences to discuss party policy. Johnson was not bound by any rule to call such meetings. But he said they would be convened when any Democratic senator asked for them.

Several lengthy sessions were held behind closed doors. Members said most of the time was taken up by individual speeches and no policy was agreed upon.

Solved Problem By Offer To Buy

AMITYVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Bruce Pearsall's complaint that the village shouldn't keep raising his taxes unless it pays more rent on City Hall appears to be settled. The town fathers announced they are buying City Hall.

The building which houses the village offices and court has been rented from the Pearsall family since 1954. In that time, Pearsall said, his taxes have risen from $775 to $1,835 annually, while the rent he collected from the village remained at $4,200 a year.

He threatened to evict the village. Officials finally offered Pearsall $45,000 for the building and he accepted. The village will float a bond issue.

Lawmakers Never Able To Agree On A Better System

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The electoral college, for choosing presidents, may be quaint and creaky today, but in 1787 it seemed "if not perfect at least excellent."

And, cuss it as they may, lawmakers never since then have been able to agree on any better system.

That's why 537 almost unknown people are gathering in 50 state capitols today to elect the president you may think was elected last Nov. 8—Democrat John F. Kennedy.

Who are these 537 to whom the voters, whether they realized it or not, gave the power to choose the president? They are party faithful, generally being recognized with a transient and unpaid honor. One way or another, the political parties pick the candidates for elector in every state. Five do it by primary. Uniquely, Pennsylvania requires that the candidates be certified by the presidential nominees themselves.

Sometimes the honor is eagerly sought—in West Virginia, for example, where elector candidates campaign vigorously for election. In that state, a record as elector is a handy thing to have in later years for more durable offices.

But the vast majority of voters never know who the electors are when they cast their ballots—or so the voters think—for the presidential nominees. In most states electors' names don't even appear on the ballot, or are inconspicuously grouped under the names of the presidential candidates.

This isn't what the Constitution writers had in mind, at all. Alexander Hamilton, who termed the plan excellent, has left a clear picture of how it was meant to work. Never a man to trust the ordinary people too far, Hamilton applauded the idea of a select group which actually would both nominate and elect the president. Members were to be "men most capable of analyzing the qualities adapted to the station and acting under circumstances of deliberation—a small number of persons, selected by their fellow citizens from the general mass (with) as little opportunity as possible for tumult and disorder."

But, almost alone among the flexible and foreseeing provisions written into the Constitution 173 years ago, the Electoral College never worked as intended.

If you think "college" is an odd name for it, look up the word in Webster's unabridged. The first definition is not an educational institution, but "a collection of persons—having common duties."

The Electoral College had little to do in the first two presidential elections—George Washington was elected and re-elected without opposition, as had been generally expected. By the time the third election came around, political parties had developed. The transformation of electors from trusted elders to straw men, pledged in advance to one party or another, was well under way.

Even so, the generally understood obligation of an elector to vote for the candidate favored by his state's voters has never been spelled out in federal law. In some states the parties require a pledge, but it was only in 1952 that their right to do even this was confirmed by a Supreme Court decision.

Under the circumstances, it may be remarkable that only a scattering of electors, over the years, have jumped the traces. The latest instance came in 1956 when one from Alabama, which Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson carried, defiantly cast his presidential vote instead for an Alabama circuit judge. But this year, with the election breathtakingly close and much of the South bitter over integration, threats of a bolt by some Southern Democratic electors sent cold shivers down other Democrats' backs. In the midst of the Louisiana school crisis, some segregationist state legislators proposed removing the Kennedy-pledged electors and substituting others. The legislative leadership, however, would not go along.

The case of the unpledged electors in Mississippi and Alabama was different. These ran and were elected without committing themselves to any candidate. Their avowed purpose was to place the South in a bargaining position between the two parties. If neither major candidate obtained a majority of the electoral vote, the election would fall to the House of Representatives.

But the 14 votes of these Alabama and Mississippi electors, which are going today to conservative Democratic Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, weren't enough to influence the outcome. Millions of words have been written and spoken for and against the present electoral system. The arguments most often heard boil down to this:

Direct election of the president by popular vote, or at least splitting the electoral vote of each state according to the popular vote, would be more Democratic. It would encourage the two-party system, guarantee against caprice by electors, reduce the influence of big, pivotal states and make it impossible for a candidate to win the presidency with fewer popular votes than his opponent. Two U.S. presidents have gone into office with more electoral votes, but fewer popular votes, than their major opponents—Rutherford B. Hayes and Benjamin Harrison.

But popular election, or a variation of it, would encourage the formation of splinter parties which have been the plague of democracies elsewhere. More elections would be thrown into the House of Representatives which, under the Constitution, takes over if no candidate obtains an Electoral College majority. Moreover, the present importance of big urban states in presidential elections is, in the complicated machinery of U.S. politics, a necessary counterbalance to the over-representation of rural areas in Congress and the legislatures.

The last big push to change the electoral system was made in 1956. It never came close to success. One of the leaders of the opposition to the modifications then suggested was Sen. Kennedy. Since then Kennedy has said "at least we ought to consider if there is any way that we can make it more responsive to the will of the people"—but he said he was not suggesting major overhaul.

A proposed constitutional amendment now before the states for ratification would make a minor change in the Electoral College. It would give residents of the District of Columbia, now completely disfranchised, the right to vote for three presidential electors. This would be the first extension of the electoral system outside the states themselves.

Moose Are Host To Children In Annual Party

SANTA SURROUNDED at party given by Greenville Moose for Pitt children.

It was their biggest Christmas party in their years of such projects undertaken by Greenville Moose. The children of 26 Pitt families were their guests Sunday afternoon.

Santa was there, in the lodge auditorium, and he distributed gifts to all 87 children present. And something extra, sacks and boxes of grocery items, went to all families represented by the children.

The guests were transported from their homes to the scene of the party where they were welcomed by lodge Governor Aubrey Taylor, who told them in behalf of the fraternal order that "we do enjoy having you here. We wish you a Merry Christmas, and thank you for coming."

The Reverend Carlton Hirsch read for the assemblage the story of the First Christmas. He was followed by Santa, reading names on gifts piled high beside a Christmas tree.

While Santa was in the spotlight, Moose were busy loading the trunks of their cars with groceries and clothing that would accompany the children home.

Lt. Col. Norman Merritt was again this year general chairman of the Christmas party. He was assisted by a score or more Moose members.

Women of the Moose joined in the serving of refreshments, and movies were presented as the final part of the afternoon program.

Box Office Bomb Is Now Broadway Hit

By WILLIAM GLOVER

Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A big surprise of the Broadway season is "All the Way Home," which went from box office bomb to boom in 24 hours.

"Which just proves that not all drama happens onstage," enthuses producer Fred Coe. Based on the novel, "A Death in the Family," which posthumously won James Agee the Pulitzer Prize in 1958, the play opened Nov. 30 at the Belasco to two raves and five respectful reviews in the daily press.

The mixed reception was a new experience for Coe and director Arthur Penn. They previously had won smash acclaim for joint enterprise in "Two for the Seesaw" and "The Miracle Worker." Depression deepened when the box office sold just $883 of tickets the next day—insufficient for one day's operating costs.

A short conference, and the grim decision to close Saturday night was published. That did it. The following day, Friday, box office revenue jumped to $2,600. On Saturday receipts at the matinee were $3,754, for the evening performance, $4,011.

Coe and Arthur Cantor, his coproducer, decided that night to give the show another chance. A lot of good breaks followed—Ed Sullivan lauded the drama on his television show, other enthusiasts bought newspaper ads extolling the sensitively done drama of a boy and his family.

The last-minute box office boom held steady: $27,000 the first full week, $20,000 last week despite Monday's blizzard. "We're in, we're in," said Cantor. Tickets are now selling through February—and after that, who knows? The once-unhappy sponsors now feel that it may rank high when the annual theater awards come along in early Spring.

Coe initiated "All the Way Home" as a project for television production two years ago and assigned Tad Mosel to do the script. Eventually he decided it should be shown on Broadway.

"I'm delighted by what happened," Coe says. "You get into a creative project because it seems right and worthwhile. If the public agrees, that's marvelous. If the public agrees in the manner that happened this time, that's even more exciting and marvelous."

Lodge had been so brilliant in that office that any successor would look tame. The question arises as to how much say Adlai Stevenson will have in formulating policy. It can be taken for granted that Kennedy will formulate policy and that he will expect and get team play. Stevenson undoubtedly understands that because anyone who observed the Kennedy machine at work in the primaries or election campaign witnessed a smooth operation without loose ends. It will be like that. Therefore, it is to be expected that Stevenson will not be able to go off the reservation with any appeasements of his own.

Cooley Endorses Tar Heel For Agriculture Post

NASHVILLE, N.C. (AP)—The chairman of the House Agriculture Committee has given his support to a fellow Tar Heel for assistant secretary of agriculture.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley said he has written to President-elect John F. Kennedy endorsing Horace Godfrey.

Godfrey is chief administrative officer for the North Carolina State Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Office. His headquarters is in Raleigh.

Cooley said Gov. Luther Hodges, who will become secretary of commerce, and Gov.-elect Terry Sanford, and the entire North Carolina congressional delegation also support Godfrey.

Cooley had recommended to Kennedy that Rep. Robert Poage of Texas be named agriculture secretary. However, the President-elect picked Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota.

At Least 12 Violent N. C. Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A man was shot to death after an argument over who was the best pistol shot. A woman under a suspended sentence for shooting her first husband to death was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of her second. A man died in what witnesses described as an apparent race to beat a train to a crossing. Two boys fell through thin ice and drowned.

These were among the at least 12 persons who died by violence in North Carolina over the weekend.

The marksmanship argument ended in the death of Irvin M. Kneley Allen in the combination filing station-grocery he operated near Mocksville. A wide search was underway for Bill Emory, 27, an overseer on a nearby farm, who is regarded as an expert pistol shot. John Melton Crews of Advance near Mocksville, who deputized said Emory to get Emory's pistol, was critically wounded in the stomach. He was operated on in Baptist Hospital at Winston-Salem.

The Negro woman charged with shooting her second husband to death is Mrs. Ada Thompson Umphrey McLamb, 42, of Raleigh. Police found the body of her 26-year-old husband, Josephus McLamb, on the porch of their home and said the couple had argued. Mrs. McLamb pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the shooting of her first husband, Alton James Umphrey, about two and a half years ago. She was given 2½ years, suspended on payment of $500 fine and court costs.

The man who died in what witnesses described as an apparent race to beat a freight train to a crossing near Washington, N.C., was Myron Willis Roberts, 46, of Merritt near that eastern North Carolina community.

An 11-year-old boy fell through the half-inch ice on the old Granite Falls mill pond and drowned. He was Leon Houston of that Caldwell County community.

A similar accident at Old Echo Lake near Kannapolis cost the life of 10-year-old Jodie Ray Teal of Kannapolis.

A didn't-know-the-gun - was loaded accident killed Mrs. J. Elmer Davidson, 46, of near Randleman in Randolph County. Authorities said the shotgun was fired by her teenaged nephew shortly after he came to her home from a hunting trip. A Durham Negro burned to death, apparently trying to rescue one of his three daughters from a fire that destroyed his home. He didn't know that the daughter he feared was at home was away visiting a neighbor. Joe Allen died in the front doorway of the small frame house. His wife and the other two girls escaped without injury.

Mrs. Sonora Williams McLamb, 45, a Negro woman, was killed by a car as she was crossing a street in her hometown of Raleigh.

A 4-year-old Negro boy, Anthony Lee Peters, was struck and killed by a vehicle in Whitakers, Edgecombe County.

Stewart B. Peters, 32, of Chicago, lost his life in the head-on collision of two cars nine miles south of Raeford in Hoke County.

The Highway Patrol said high speed contributed to two other automobile deaths, that of Edco Perkins, 47, Negro, near his home town of Murfreesboro, and Francis Lee Glaspay, 27, Negro of Statesville, Rt. 7. The Glaspay accident occurred near Troutman.

Elijah Williams, 64, Negro arrested on a drunk charge, was found hanging from his belt in Guilford County Jail at Greensboro.

Question Maid, Family In Death

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Police today held a maid and her family for questioning in the slaying of a Shreveport socialite.

The body of Mrs. W. H. Booth, 56, mother of two grown children, was found Sunday half submerged in a pool of water in a dense wood 24 miles south of here. A member of a prominent Buford, Ga., family, she had been missing for a week.

One of two stab wounds in her left side had punctured her lung. Four ribs, also on the left side, had been fractured.

The Caddo Parish assistant coroner, Dr. Preston Ferguson, said she apparently died 15 minutes after she was attacked, presumably as she returned to her car in a parking area at a suburban shopping center.

Her husband, a wealthy furniture merchant, reported her missing. An hour later her blood-spattered car was found in the parking lot.

Officers said it had not been determined whether she was still alive when she apparently was dragged from a car near a lane through a dense wood near Highway 175 south of here.

Mrs. Booth's maid, Candis Dixon, 37, her husband, Ben Dixon, 45, and their three boys, Levon, 21; Bennie Ray, 19, and Glen, 16, were held for questioning. The maid had been employed by the Booths for a number of years.

A Bell-Ringer For All Of 44 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I joined the Army when I was 12," declared Mary Jane Sims as she stood ringing her bell, kettle near, at a downtown intersection Sunday. It was her 80th birthday.

A Salvation Army holiday bell ringer for 44 years, she is one of the staunchest and probably oldest of these seasonal charity collectors.

Mrs. Sims was born in Grass Valley, Calif., where her father was a miner. He was killed in Australia when she was 2.

With $10 in her kettle, her birthday was a ringing success.

Wife Assisted His Jail-Break

HOWELL, Mich. (AP) — The young lady leveled a snub-nosed revolver and said: "Now listen to me. This is it. I'm after my husband. Let him out."

Deputy Lloyd Cook released Thomas Sargent, 29, from his Livingston County jail cell Sunday. Cook said Sargent grabbed the pistol from his wife, Brenda Ann Sargent, 20, of Highland Park, Mich., banged Cook over the head and then fired at him, but missed.

The Sargents then fled in an auto. Sargent was being held in a maximum security cell because he escaped from a southern Michigan prison farm in 1956 and slipped away again that year when being returned to Jackson, Mich., from New Orleans.

He was arrested Nov. 7 and pleaded guilty to breaking into an auto agency.

Schedule Opera For Jan. 20, 21

East Carolina College's Opera Theatre, organization of student vocalists, will present as their second production for the 1960-1961 term Gian Carlo Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief." Paul Hickfang of the music faculty, director of the group has announced.

The opera will be presented in two performances on Jan. 20 and Jan. 21 at 8:15 p.m. in the McGinnis auditorium.

The double cast, which provides a different group of singers for each performance, is made up of Alison Moss of Greenville and Betsy Hancock of Scotland Neck, portraying Leatia; Martha Bradner of Greenville, and Jessamine Hitt of Clinton playing the part of Miss Todd, the old maid; and Peter Johl of Groton, Conn., and Jerry Teachey from Washington, portraying Bob. The part of Miss Pinkerson will be played by Ann Darden of Williamson, and Patricia Roberts of Farmville.

"The Old Maid and the Thief," Hickfang stated, "is a light-textured comic opera, with a clever plot, and the music is delightful. The opera will be directed by Dr. Robert Rickert of the English department, acting director of the East Carolina Playhouse. Hickfang will be the musical director.

Boy Scientist Is Balloon-Launcher

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Gary Jedy-nak, 14, will try another balloon shoot Saturday.

The boy scientist launched a 10-foot-high homemade plastic balloon Saturday with photographic film suspended in a container to gather information on cosmic rays.

Gary planned to use the data in a project he is getting ready for the 1961 Flint Science Fair. He had hoped the helium-filled balloon would ascend about 65,000 feet and travel about 150 miles in an eight-hour flight.

The balloon traveled only about 11 miles. It was pulled from a tree near Atlas, Mich., by Donald Reddy, who returned it to Gary Saturday night.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market churned irregularly in heavy trading early today.

Changes of most key stocks were small.

The ticker tape lagged behind transactions for a 12-minute period at the start as the list moved without trend.

Many stocks showed little or no change. Among these were American Telephone, Bethlehem, Kennebec, Goodyear, Phelps Dodge, Anaconda and American Smelting.

Autos had a slightly higher end and General Motors traded up 1/8 at 42 on successive blocks of 4,000 and 3,000 shares.

Steels had a slightly easy tendency. U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin dropped fractions.

Among more volatile issues, Polaroid jumped a couple of points in a routine move. Raytheon was ahead about a point. Sperry Rand dropped more than a point.

The business news background continued flat. Traders were still hoping for a traditional year-end rally but end-of-year transactions were still muddying the trend.

Gains were posted for United A.R. Lines, Merck, Westinghouse Electric, Montgomery Ward, Ford and American Tobacco.

The following bid and asked prices are obtained from the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. and other sources but are unofficial. They do not represent actual transactions; they are intended as a guide to the approximate range within which these securities could have been sold (indicated by the "Bid") or bought (indicated by the "Asked") at the time of compilation, December 16, 1960. Fifty-Four Arrests In Saturation Patrol Twenty other arrests were also recorded. Patrolmen noted.

Officers assigned to the special patrols were Ptl. R. E. Taylor, Ptl. Luther Long and Ptl. H. R. Winslow. Their areas included N. C. 43 South from the intersection of U.S. 264 to the intersection of N.C. 102; a five mile radius of Greenville on all roads; and from the city limits of Greenville, east to the Beaufort County Line on U.S. 264. Officers noted that the areas selected for the special patrols are chosen for their high accident record and high violation frequency rates.

Officers on the special patrols are required to stop at least one car or pedestrian each 15 minutes, even if no violation is observed. All motorists and pedestrians contacted while on the special assignments are given a safety leaflet. It was pointed out.

Cpl. J.T. Jenkins, in commenting on the special safety program, emphasized that in addition to the three patrolmen assigned to the special area or line patrols, the remainder of the officers in the county are continuing their regular patrols and are not restricted to any one area.

Jenkins urged motorists to cooperate with the patrol in helping to reduce the mounting accident rate in the State, by driving carefully and courteously, and obeying all traffic laws.
