

United Nations Assembly Councilmen Set Public Hearing On Public Housing For Jan. 5

Recesses After Resolving All Share In Congo Costs

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. General Assembly recessed its turbulent 15th session early today after approving a resolution requiring all members to share in the cost of the 1960 U. N. Congo operation.

The Soviet Union vigorously opposed the plan. It made it plain it would defy the assembly majority by refusing to supply any part of the $48.5 million to be raised by assessments. The vote was 46-17 with 24 abstentions.

The assembly also authorized Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to spend up to $24 million for the Congo operation during the first three months of 1961.

Laos Leftists Supplied By Air

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist Capt. Kong Le's rebel forces, bolstered by Soviet air-drops of arms and ammunition, apparently are digging in for a showdown battle with the pro-Western forces that drove them from this battered Laotian capital.

The paratroop captain and his force, estimated at 800 men, reportedly have halted their retreat and are taking positions along a line stretching from Boun Phong, 35 miles north of Vientiane, to Vang Vieng, 110 miles north of the capital, Western military sources said.

Two Soviet transport planes are shuttling military supplies to Boun Phong and Vang Vieng, presumably from neighboring Communist North Viet Nam, eyewitnesses have informed Western sources.

The wedding guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. L. C. Edwards, aunt of the bride, and the candles were lighted by Jimmie A. Edwards, cousin of the bride. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Roy O.

Williams in the presence of the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Boyd of Greenville. Both the bride and bridegroom were graduates of Grimesland High School.

The ceremony took place in a setting of white gladiola and white mums with areca palms and huckleberry centered with a seven-branched candelabra with cathedral candles.

The bride chose a light blue woolen suit with a fur collar and matching accessories. Her bouquet consisted of a white orchid set on bridal ribbons carried on a white prayer book showered with satin streamers.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception. Bridal mints, nuts and lime punch were served with the wedding cake.

Mrs. L. C. Edwards, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Linwood Hudson, aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake after the bride and the groom had cut the first slice.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will make their home at Route 3, Greenville, N. C.

Play 'Beauty Parlor' For Shampooing Fun

If a small daughter balks when shampoo-time rolls around, try this trick suggested by a mother of two. She and her little girls play "beauty parlor"—with mom as the operator and the girls as clients.

As the "operator" lathers, rinses, combs, and sets their hair, the children chat amiably in grown-up fashion. This makes shampoo-time a treat to look forward to and enjoy often.

Crimp Makes Orlon Self-Shaping In Suds

The brand-newest variety of Orlon is a hand-knitting yarn which begins to demonstrate its unusual properties soon after you cast on your stitches, and it will continue to please for years.

This yarn has a springiness which gives "bounce" to knitting, and uniformity of stitches. Then, when a garment is completed, you can wash and even dry it by machine.

Because a permanent reversible crimp is built right in the fiber, garments knit of this yarn actually block themselves—returning to their original size and shape after being sudsed, rinsed, and dried.

Take a tip from a homemaker with a flair for cleanliness. She layers plastic shower curtains between several heavy Turkish towels, then pops them right in the automatic washer.

Pressure On The Electoral College

Presidential electors have now made it official—well almost—that John F. Kennedy will be the next president of the United States. The last official act will come the first week in January when Congress officially canvasses the votes of the electors of the 50 states.

It is not unlikely that January 3—the day Congress verifies the electoral vote—will not be the last time that the new Congress gives its attention to the electoral college. For years there have been many advocates of altering the present system of electoral votes by which the President of the United States is formally named.

This year, with the closest presidential election in three-quarters of a century, the clamor for altering the ancient electoral college system has reached a new peak. Already a number of plans have been framed for consideration by the Congress. As the Congress goes about its business beginning next month, there will be other plans presented that would revamp or even do away with the electoral college system.

Informal Action By Our Electors

By LYNN NISBET

INFORMAL—Fourteen presidential electors speaking for the Democratic Party gathered in the Hall of the House of Representatives at noon Monday and cast their votes for John F. Kennedy for President of the United States and for Lyndon B. Johnson for Vice President. That was in keeping with wishes of majority of the citizens of North Carolina as expressed in the November 8 election.

Concurrently with this meeting similarly chosen electors in 49 other states met in their respective capitols and cast votes for President and Vice President of the United States, in conformity with the laws of their states—which in many instances are different from ours.

The action taken Monday was the final step, so far as this state is concerned, in the presidential election process. Yet the atmosphere was more informal and procedure more confused than in the average precinct caucus.

At just 12 o'clock noon Secretary of State Tamm reported for attention and briefly outlined the functions of the electors. He called the roll of electors and each answered present as follows: W. Frank Taylor and D. Hiden Ramsey, electors at large; Edgar Gurganus, Olin Reid, John D. Robinson, Daniel L. Bell, E.T. Pullen Jr., O.A. Kirkman, Robert M. Kerrmon, Miss Edith Marsh, Mrs. Stella Anderson, Charles M. Walton, John M. Akers, and R.R. Livingston, representing the 12 congressional districts.

Eure then presented Attorney General Wade Bruton to further instruct the electors in their duties. Eure explained that the first requirement was to take the oath of office, which had to be taken orally and also signed; and then each elector must vote for a candidate for President and a candidate for Vice President and sign an original and six copies of a certificate of election.

OATH TAKING—Chief Justice Wallace Winborne of the North Carolina Supreme Court was present to administer the oath. He stood up for that purpose, but all the electors remained seated at scattered points around the hall. The half dozen Bibles which had been placed on the press table were not used, and no hands were raised.

At that point Dr. John Robinson suggested that it was usual for the electors to choose a chairman and a secretary. Dr. Robinson was nominated and elected chairman, and Miss Edith Marsh as secretary. Then somebody suggested that it also was usual for some candidate to be nominated for each office at stake. Elector Dan Bell of the fourth district placed the name of John F. Kennedy in nomination for President, and Elector Robert M. Kerrmon of the seventh district nominated Lyndon B. Johnson for Vice President. The nominations were unanimously approved.

Then the electors all moved forward to the tables and signed the oath of office and the seven copies of the certificate of election. That concluded the business of casting North Carolina's 14 electoral votes for these officials. There followed announcement by Heber Clark, state disbursing officer, that each elector should file an expense account to recoup the $10 fee and mileage allowance set out in the law. There was a lot of picture-taking, and some informal conversation about whether the North Carolina electors would send official representatives to Washington for the opening of the electoral college returns at the joint session of Congress on January 6. No formal designations were made but several members said they might go. It is expected that most of them will go to the inauguration on January 20 and participate in the social affairs incident to that occasion.

CONCLUSIVE — It is axiomatic that the journal of proceedings of legislative bodies is conclusive and nobody can go behind that written record. The signatures of the 14 electors on the oath of office and the certificate of election of Kennedy and Johnson also is conclusive and final. Those papers will go into the permanent archives of the United States, and none except the few who were present will have any reason to remember the informal manner in which the proceedings were handled.

HODGES — The group was small. Fourteen constitutional electors, three other constitutional officers required to have part in the official program, perhaps a dozen casual spectators and as many or more newsmen. But it was an important occasion—the formal casting of the vote of North Carolina for President and Vice President of the United States.

Governor Luther Hodges, who had a vital role in the national campaign for Kennedy, and has been named as Secretary of Commerce in the Kennedy cabinet—and is still the chief executive of North Carolina—mingled around among the group but was never recognized, except to be included in two or three of the news pictures.

Protocol and ritual can be overdone, and North Carolinians generally prefer informality. There are those who feel that on this occasion informality went too far at the expense of decorum and dignity which should have been maintained at such an important event.

electoral college system the state's entire electoral vote goes to the candidate which carries the state's popular vote in proportion to the popular vote. In an election as close as the one this year this provision of the electoral college system is pointed up vividly.

Even in the face of mounting pressure to change the electoral college—or abolish it—there will be tremendous pressure from political leaders, particularly in the larger states, to keep the system as it is. Certainly the system affords the larger states greater political power than would be the case were the electoral vote split according to the popular vote in each state.

This, plus the fact that such established procedures in government are difficult to change under any circumstances, indicates a difficult problem for proponents of changing the electoral college system.

It is evident, we believe, that some changes should be made in the present system. From the proposals which will be formally made, the Congress should choose the most promising and give them careful consideration with a view to modernizing the antiquated electoral system under which the highest officers of the land are now elected.

Stiff Price To Pay For A Slap At U.S.

Fidel Castro's latest threat to ruin the world's sugar market if the U.S. tries to develop new production areas could prove more detrimental to Cuba than to any other country of the world.

Sugar production is the mainstay of the Cuban economy which has sagged sharply since the Castro regime came into power. Restriction of import quotas of Cuban sugar by the United States has cut off millions of dollars of income from the island stronghold of Castro. The deals Castro has made for sugar exports to Soviet Russia and its satellites have not made up for the dollar and cents loss in former U.S. business.

Should Castro choose to make good his most recent threat, his government would almost certainly have to depend upon the Soviet Union for financial support, and even with his apparent friendship for the Soviets, it is doubtful that Castro would like to put himself in that position. Such action by Castro would be a blow to the world's sugar market, but it might likewise be the death blow to the Cuban economy which already is in difficulty.

As much as he might desire to take another slap at the United States by wrecking the world's sugar market, we doubt that Castro would take such a step which at the same time would create much more serious economic problems in Cuba than those that already exist.

Assets Beyond Those Of Youth

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 15 men President-elect John F. Kennedy and next-to-top spots in his administration are distinguished for something else besides youth.

The accent is on brains, law, and government. Unlike President Eisenhower, Kennedy did not put the emphasis on men with big business experience.

Kennedy put 10 of his 15 choices in No. 1 jobs: his Cabinet. Its average age of 47—the youngest in this century—compares with an average age of 57 for Eisenhower's first Cabinet in 1953.

While only two of Eisenhower's Cabinet were lawyers, there are six in Kennedy's.

They are J. Edward Day, postmaster general; Orville L. Freeman, secretary of agriculture; Arthur J. Goldberg, secretary of labor; Kennedy's brother, Robert, attorney general; Abraham A. Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare; and Stewart L. Udall, secretary of the interior.

Add to them three lawyers among the second-rank Kennedy people: Adlai E. Stevenson, American ambassador to the United Nations; Byron White, deputy attorney general; and G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Nine of the 15 had unusually good scholastic records, either graduating with honors, being remembered as brilliant, winning Rhodes scholarships or making Phi Beta Kappa.

In the Cabinet they are: Day; Douglas Dillon, secretary of the Treasury; Freeman; Goldberg; Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense; Ribicoff; and Dean Rusk, secretary of state.

The unusual students in the second rank are White and Williams. McNamara, Rusk, Freeman and Williams made Phi Beta Kappa. Rusk and White were Rhodes scholars.

Six of the 15 Kennedy choices were governors. Three of them are in the Cabinet, three in the second rank. In the Cabinet:

Freeman (Minnesota); Ribicoff (Connecticut); and Luther H. Hodges (North Carolina), secretary of commerce.

The ex-governors among the Kennedy second rankers: Stevenson (Illinois) and Chester Bowles (Connecticut), undersecretary of state. Williams is governor of Michigan.

Only four of the 10 Kennedy Cabinet members were businessmen, while five of Eisenhower's nine - man Cabinet were. The Cabinet became a 10-man affair in 1953, after Eisenhower took office, when the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was created.

These are the Kennedy Cabinet businessmen: Day, a vice president of the Prudential Insurance Co.; Dillon, a former Wall Street banker; McNamara, president of the Ford Co.; and Hodges, an important figure in the textile industry before he retired years ago to devote himself to public service, most recently, congressman from the state of North Carolina.

In the Kennedy second rank Bowles was a successful businessman. He made a fortune in advertising and, like Hodges, retired to go into public service as OPA administrator during the war, ambassador to India, governor of Connecticut and, most recently, congressman from the state of North Carolina.

THE COST OF EDUCATION

In a pamphlet sent out to its alumni, a good private college gave the hard facts of its budget. The annual tuition fee is about $1,200 per year. But it costs just over three times that much for the college to educate each student. For every student who attends, the college must pay out another $2,500 per year.

The costs of higher education are frightening—and they are getting worse all the time. Even the greatly increased tuition charges of recent years have not kept pace with rising expenses. Many college faculties are badly underpaid; libraries lack up-to-date books; laboratories are overcrowded.

are, we must meet them. There is nothing more vital to the economic, social, political, and moral life of a nation than a strong educational program. One reason for Russia's great progress since World War Two has unquestionably been her intense emphasis upon education. The United States is a rich nation. Every year Americans spend millions and millions of dollars on cosmetics, liquor, and gambling. We could easily afford a first-class educational system if we were willing to put first things first.

As citizens of a democracy, we are the ones who have the responsibility for providing good education. We need to vote more money for it. We need to give more generously toward it. We

Help Them Celebrate

Last night we spent several hours celebrating a wedding anniversary, so we'd have plenty of time to sit around afterwards and match tales.

The way it turned out, we hungrily began to dig into our dinners between 9:30 and 10. Naturally we were mighty proud to be getting started, but it surely was late.

Running so far behind schedule, though, was apparently accepted by all without another thought. Could it be the celebrants are slowly getting used to things running behind schedule?

That could be the case. Maybe it takes longer than just one year—or maybe two—but that first year at least exposes folks to the most trying situations.

Whether they become fully acclimated to running behind schedule, and often almost constantly, may be hard to say. In fact numerous cases never become fully acclimated.

One thing for sure, though. One year is enough to acquaint everybody with the problem.

Your youngster is really enjoying himself these days.

With all the paraphernalia of Christmas - package - wrapping lying all over the place, he has discovered a brand new world.

The way the little eight-month-old goes about inspecting the operation, you almost feel sorry for him because he has only two hands.

Opinions In Brief

"One of the crass stupidities of our time is in not realizing the strength of the post potent legislation of our times—Social Security. Spanish broadcasts could so easily voice the benefits of Social Security which they do not do now. Uncle Jose returns to one of the Latin-American countries after working thirty years in the United States and there he sits every month and Uncle Sam sends him a check — magnificent! Do Uncle Jose and his assorted friends hate Uncle Sam? Social Security—Socialism—no!" The Carolina Israelite.

"Just to be certain, we read again the report on the President's Commission on National Goals. Sure enough, we were right the first time: In all these thousands of words on what the nation and the American people must do in the years to come, there is no mention of the national debt, no reference whatsoever to the price of things the nation already owns and has not paid for."—Charleston (W.Va.) Other Editors Saying The Hand Of Labor

(Washington News)

The political strength in America today of organized labor can be judged from recent statements of labor leaders concerning cabinet appointments made by President-elect John F. Kennedy.

First of all, labor is very pleased with the selection of Arthur J. Goldberg as Secretary of Labor. After all, Mr. Goldberg has served as a labor lawyer for many years for several unions.

And since about the only organized effort in any direction will come from organized labor, it is safe to say that Mr. Goldberg will be confirmed by the United States Senate in a breeze.

But two other cabinet appointments apparently do not set well with organized labor. And rumblings are being heard that when it comes time for a vote on confirmation of Luther Hodges to be Secretary of Commerce and Robert S. McNamara to be Secretary of Defense, organized labor might try to block these appointments.

This is particularly true, we are led to believe, in the case of Governor Hodges. Organized labor is still seething because Boyd Payton was sent to prison in North Carolina while the governor refused clemency.

It is possible that the Boyd Payton case could become a national issue if it has not already done so. But the facts are that Governor Hodges was not the judge nor the jury which tried him. The governor was only concerned with whether or not to extend executive clemency. And from the information at hand, Governor Hodges decided against such clemency.

If on the basis of this case and the surrounding circumstances organized labor is to contest the appointment of Governor Hodges, then it is quite possible that a fight might take place in the Senate when confirmation time comes up. However, it is difficult to believe that organized labor can possibly muster the political strength to block his appointment. There are some senators who pay homage entirely to organized labor, and who will vote according to the wishes of the big labor unions. That is to be expected. When men go to the United States Senate and apparently vote more to the labor unions than they do to the people of these United States as a whole, our very political foundation is being rocked.

The farmers have no close knit organization such as the labor unions. The business element in America has no close knit organization. Labor unions have large numbers, and when the union leaders speak, political action is forthcoming.

It would be a sad day in America if there ever comes a time made by a president must first be cleared with labor union chiefs. If that ever happens, then the coalition of Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans could become more potent than ever.

It might be a wholesome thing for organized labor to fight the appointment of Governor Hodges. We can't believe that the U. S. Senate will refuse confirmation. And if labor fights and loses, the fight will be a matter of record, and Governor Hodges will be the winner.

Gold Flow And Our Expatriates

By ELMER ROESSNER

In the hue and cry about the drain of United States gold supply, there have been many shouts about servicemen's families, travelers' spending and foreign investments abroad, but no screams about another cause of loss: expatriates and repatriates.

There are thousands of Americans who, tired of buses, bosses and with modest incomes, migrate to cheaper places abroad.

There are thousands more who came to the U.S. when young and who have returned to their native lands to live on private or governmental pensions.

You will find the expatriates in the Balearics, on the Left Bank in Paris, in Mexico and other low-cost places. They include mature couples, trying to make pensions, dividends or rental income keep them in villas, and younger people seeking recognition for their art, acting or acquiescence.

FROM ALL WALKS There are other characters in this expatriate group: scions of wealthy families who are off the American beat; girls whose families hope that, in a different setting, they will ensure a reasonably satisfactory male; wives squandering divorce settlements; husbands waiting out wives' suits in Nevada courts; widows of husbands who worked themselves into graves; winners of breach-of-promise suits, and authors who can't stand the country they write about.

Most interesting of all are the wanted men and women, those who have been involved in manipulations, mayhem and murder and who are reluctant to return.

THE COST IN GOLD

Many of the expatriates have gone abroad because they have been unable to subsist on Social Security benefits or on pensions constantly being shrunk by inflation. In some villages in Europe, the man with the richest income is a native with a pension that would buy a bare subsistence in an American city.

The amount of income each expatriate and repatriate spends is small compared to the total drain of gold. But in the aggregate, it is large and may run as much as a billion a year.

Every dollar the exes exchange for foreign money finds its way into the central bank of the nation. That bank can, and frequently does, demand that the U.S. redeem its paper deli-

Ability In The Cabinet

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

President-elect Kennedy has already broken several precedents, the most unusual being the appointment to his Cabinet of two men in critical positions whom he did not know personally and had not even met until he offered them the posts. His Secretary of State, he met only shortly before he announced his appointment, the name coming to him as a non-political nomination, presumably from Dean Acheson who did not seek the post. He appointed a registered Republican, Robert S. McNamara, president of the Ford Motor Company, Secretary of Defense, of whom he had not even heard, also upon a non-political recommendation.

Thus far, the Cabinet represents few political pay-offs. Adlai Stevenson is sent as ambassador to the United Nations and there is quite a fanfare about his influence on policy. In fact, too many protestations have been made about Adlai Stevenson's influence on policy. The entire business seems contrived and can be put down as such until otherwise established. The foreign policy of the United States, as things stand, is likely to be made by John Kennedy, and Adlai Stevenson will have about as much influence as Henry Cabot Lodge had on John Foster Dulles. The Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt - Mary Lasker - Anna Rosenberg faction in the Democratic Party has not been ignored.

There has been no political pay-off in any of the top Cabinet posts. The President-elect apparently seeking men of competence. The proposal to send Professor Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard to India is interesting if not amusing. During the campaign, the Keynesian professor was used by press, radio and television to make profundities and thus the impression arose that whatever he said was out of the horse's mouth. It was assumed by many that he would sit on the President's right hand and utter the most brazen syllogisms whereupon the country would be shaken to its roots.

The Cabinet appointment of Governor Abraham Ribicoff, who was Kennedy's floor manager in the Senate, cannot be regarded as a political pay-off. Governor Ribicoff has proved himself to be one of the ablest Governors in the country. His promotion to any post is a national gain. The likelihood that he may eventually go to the United States Supreme Court is a welcome prospect.

What is most interesting about this Cabinet at the moment of writing — when appointments have not yet been completed — is that the President-elect is assembling a non-political Cabinet. Thus far, he has not appointed one man to top Cabinet level who adds to the political strength of the President except as he adds good in the opinion of the American people. If these appointments do not work out, if these men are incompetent or corrupt, Kennedy will have to let them go fast because, in view of his narrow majority and his lack of strength in Congress, his Administration must start off well. He must accomplish much by the Congressional elections of 1962.

The elements of danger for the new President are in the State and Treasury departments. The State Department requires total reorganization. Its personnel contains too many weak elements, particularly among the career men. Its operations are too costly for the results obtained. The question is who will do this job of reorganization and with what courage.

It is to be remembered that the father, Joseph Kennedy once a member of the Hoover Commissions on the Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government. He was an active and able member and worked closely with Herbert Hoover. Robert Kennedy once worked for the Hoover Commission. Also practically every measure introduced in the Congress for implementing the Hoover Commission reports was presented by Senator John Kennedy and bears his name. Therefore, it is to be assumed that the President is familiar with the weaknesses of the State Department and the urgent need for reorganization.

The same, in a lesser degree, is true of Treasury where bureaucrats have been frozen into fixtures and seem, in their permanency, to be unrelated to the United States. These fellows

ECC Business Department To Celebrate 25th Anniversary

The Silver Anniversary of the founding of the department of business education at East Carolina College and its growth into the present School of Business will be celebrated by a reception honoring Dr. Elmer R. Browning, director of the college School of Business, and Mrs. Browning January 2 in the Rawl building on the campus.

The reception will be given by Misses Lena Ellis and Velma Lowe, and Dr. Audrey Dempsey of the college business faculty. It will derive interest from the fact that it will mark the completion of 25 years of work and of growth in the department, which was established on the campus January 1, 1936, under the direction of Dr. Browning assisted by Miss Maude Adams, now a retired associate of Woman's College, Greensboro.

Around 120 guests have been invited for the occasion, including officers of the administration at the college, directors of departments on the campus, retired faculty members, and former faculty members of the college who were teaching here at the time the department was established.

A teacher training school in the field of business, the department was located for five years in Austin building on the third floor and for several years in the Flanagan building. Later new courses were added in management, business administration, marketing, and accounting. In 1959 the department, with a staff of 30 faculty members and four graduate assistants, moved into its present headquarters in the Rawl building.

Holiday Attire

Glittering jewelry is the perfect complement to holiday attire—provided its luster is not dull or tarnished. To be sure that your jewelry is at its shining best, polish the metal and "launder" the stones.

Diamonds should be washed—even brush-scrubbed—in hot soap or detergent suds, perhaps with a dash of ammonia added. Rinse in hot water, and drain dry.

To avoid loosening cemented settings, don't immerse costume jewelry in water. Instead, rub it gently with a soft brush dipped in warm soap or detergent suds. Wash and rinse quickly and dry with a soft towel.

Bright poinsettias bloom on an oatmeal background, a refreshing change from the usual white ground. All are completely machine-washable for use time and time again.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Edwards of Newport announce the marriage of their daughter, Linda Lou, to James T. Keel Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Keel of Greenville. The marriage took place Saturday, Dec. 3, in Columbia, S. C., where the couple will be at home after Jan. 4.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Given

Amid the festivities of the Christmas season, the Chicod F.H.A. held its annual Mother-Daughter Banquet recently in the Chicod School lunchroom.

"Christmas Traditions" was the theme for the banquet Miss Alice Strawn was the guest speaker.

Carole Lassiter, F.H.A. president, led the group in the opening ceremony after which Jeanette Gardner sang the welcome accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Alton Gardner. Phoebe Cherry gave the invocation. The toast to the mothers was given by Mary Louise Hudson, and the response was given by her mother, Mrs. Henry Hudson. The mothers were presented roses by the F.H.A. members.

A presentation of silver was made by Linda Evans to the F.H.A. advisor, Mrs. Betty Turner. This presentation was made in appreciation for work done and help given in the F.H.A. chapter.

The guests were recognized by Jackie Dixon, they included: Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Conley, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Wallace, Miss Jessie Ellis, Miss Alice Strawn, the high school faculty, the board members, and the mothers.

Mary Latham Smith entertained the group with a song, "Bless this House." She was accompanied by Carolyn Stokes on the piano.

A program, "Christmas Traditions" was presented by 10 of the F.H.A. girls. It consisted of a display of Christmas traditions: the wreath, Santa Claus, candies, Christmas tree, and the star. The tradition of each was narrated by Linda Evans, and musical accompaniment was rendered by Carolyn Stokes, Mary Smith, Brenda Dixon, Jeanette Gardner, Betsy Smith, Judy Mills, Pansy Jones, Carolyn Hathaway, and Mrs. Frances Madrey. Technical devices were handled by Miss Glenda Workman.

Entertainment was provided by the waitresses in the form of a comical fashion show. Miss Peggy Everette was the narrator.

Linda Evans introduced the speaker, Miss Alice Strawn, resident teacher of the East Carolina Home Economics Department. Miss Strawn spoke on the topic "What does the future hold for you?" She stressed the importance of completing one's high school education. Miss Strawn gave advice on problems to consider before marriage, along with other factors to be considered by today's future homemaker.

Approximately 100 guests and members attended the banquet. Decorations for the banquet were red and white ribbons, a Christmas greeting bulletin board with a snowman on aluminum foil and glittering letters, a display of Christmas traditions, candies, gum drop trees, and Santa Claus. An arrangement of silver candles and magnolia leaves accented by Christmas balls was placed in the center of the guest table.

The closing ceremony was led by Carole Lassiter as the group prayed together the F.H.A. prayer.

Couple United December 11 In Candlelight Ceremony

Before an altar banked with greenery and arrangements of white chrysanthemums and gladioli in a candlelight ceremony in the Fountain Baptist Church on Sunday, December 11, Miss Joan Juandine Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Rufus Bell, became the bride of Richard Lee Pollard, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fred Pollard of Tarboro. The Reverend Horace G. Thompson, pastor of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of French imported hand-clipped lace over satin, featuring a fitted bodice with scalloped sabrina neckline re-embroidered with seed pearls. The long sleeves ending at a point at the wrist. The full bouffant skirt with lace flowers on tulle ruffles, framed with scalloped edge ending in a chapel train.

Her finger tip veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a lace crown trimmed with sequins and pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid showered with stephanotis and rose buds.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Edwin Forbes of Fayetteville, aunt of the bride, wore a street length dress of jade green velvet with matching accessories. Her head piece was a double crown of velvet with circular veil in matching color. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bobby Highsmith of Pinetops, Miss Carol Wooten of Macesfield, Mrs. Eill Jefferson of Macesfield, and Miss Kaye Bell of Farmville, who wore dresses and head pieces in Christmas red with matching accessories designed like that of the honor attendant. Miss Suzy Forbes, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl and wore costume identical in design and color to that of the honor attendant.

The attendants carried semicascade bouquets of white mums interspersed with red and green Christmas balls (ornaments) and wore earrings of pearl, gifts of the bride.

Mr. Pete Radford, brother-in-law of the groom served as best man. Ushers were Messrs. Jerry Weisner, Woody Wainwright, Edwin Forbes, and Bill Jefferson.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bell wore a dress of spice brown lace with matching accessories. Her corsage was of green cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Pollard, mother of the groom, wore a dress of navy blue and her corsage was also cymbidium orchids.

For traveling the bride changed to a beige wool suit, with brown accessories, and the orchid lifted from her prayer book.

The bride is a graduate of South Edgecombe High School and is presently employed at Braxton-Worsley Insurance Co. of Tarboro. Mr. Pollard also received his education at South Edgecombe and is presently employed by Long Manufacturing Company of Tarboro.

Upon their return from the wedding trip, the newlyweds will reside in Tarboro.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the Social Room of the church.

Greeting guests at the door were Mr. and Mrs. Sim Weisner. Mr. and Mrs. Jett Ellis introduced guests to the receiving line, which included members of the wedding party and parents of the bride and groom.

The traditional color scheme of green and white predominated in the social room.

The refreshment table was covered with a hand-made nylon cloth over green satin. The center piece was composed of five-branch silver candelabra, holding burning tapers and banked with white mums and gladioli interspersed with Christmas ornaments.

Mrs. R. L. Eason, aunt of the bride, poured punch and Mrs. Pete Radford, sister of the groom, served bridal ices. Guests helped themselves to mints, nuts, and cheese straws. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Kirby Bell, Mrs. Beasley Bell, Mrs. Haywood Beaman, Mrs. Doc Hardison, Mrs. M. D. Yelverton, and Mrs. Albert Bell.

Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell, who also presided at the register.

Rehearsal Party
Mrs. M. D. Yelverton was hostess at a rehearsal party for the Pollard-Bell wedding party Saturday night at her home in Fountain.

The table was covered with a hand-made nylon and lace cloth centered with a seven-branch candelabra, at the base of which were magnolia leaves interspersed with Christmas flowers. The burning tapers were carried with hand-made ceramic candelabra.

The bride's mother, Mrs. B. R. Bell, served wedding cake after the bride and groom had cut the first slice and Mrs. Fred Pollard, mother of the groom, poured punch. Guests helped themselves to mints and nuts. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Sim Weisner and Mrs. Beasley Bell, aunts of the bride, and Miss Lucile Yelverton, daughter of the hostess.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Little.

CANDY SUGGESTIONS

To make sure homemade candies for the holidays turn out well, follow these suggestions:

Always use a heavy saucepan that holds about three times as much as the recipe calls for to keep candy from running over.

Stir until sugar is dissolved before allowing mixture to boil. Always stir with a wooden spoon.

Sugar crystals will be washed down if the pan is covered for the first three minutes of the boiling period.

Let candy get almost cold before beating.

Use a candy thermometer in making your candy.

Candy cools faster on a marble slab.

LADY in the MARKET

BY FRANCES V. RUMMEL

From the novel "Aunt Jane McPhipps and Her Baby Blue Chips," published by Prentice-Hall, Inc. © 1960 by Frances V. Rummel. Distributed by King Features

CHAPTER 11
During Jane's next class session she was seized with an impulse so suddenly that she wondered why she had been content with her imaginary stock list and all this play acting. Why not take her enthusiastic choice to a broker and really put her money to doubling and tripling right away? What was she waiting for?

True, Mr. Petry had requested his beginners not to invest until after they had finished his course. Then, he had reminded the ladies at least five times, he would be so happy to serve them himself. But Jane figured that her talent alone put her well ahead of schedule. She was not a beginner after all, but a seasoned investor. Thus persuaded, the longer she thought of her $9000, plus the little money she had in addition, the more reckless it seemed to neglect investing it any longer.

Jane smiled as she thought of Wally's name for women in the market—"mudhens." And he had said admiringly, "Some mudhens are really terrific." Being seized, she couldn't wait to begin, and during class break, when the two walked half a block and back for fresh air, she confided her impulse to Wally. Quoting Benjamin Franklin, she said loftily, "Wally, the investment that pays the most interest is your own knowledge!" Wally mumbled a faint "Yeah?" Clearly she had not intrigued him. "Tomorrow I start buying a slice of industrial America," she went on. "Private investment is the romance of production, the yeast of the future, the life blood of our economy. Tomorrow morning," she lowered her voice, "I am putting $10,000 into transistors, magnetic."

Jane got no further. Wally turned to stare at his walking companion as if seeing her for the first time, and then flashed a winning smile.

"You are," he said brightly, more beautiful than brilliant. A full-blown depression roaring in every sane person burying his money in a sock. But you choose this moment to invest."

If he sounded impatient, he was—perhaps because of the date. It was on a day when every investor from San Francisco to New York was clammy and short-tempered with fear. On that day alone the value of common stocks dropped more than $5 billion.

A little hurt by Wally's vehemence, Jane stoutly defended her—self. "You are," she said, "very unimaginative. You have never really learned how and when to stop. The time to buy furs is when nobody wants them—in May."

Observing her firmness of chin and voice, Wally judged she meant to do precisely what she said. Not quite ready for this challenge, but rising above a certain tug at his conscience, he decided to introduce her to one of his "Special Situations." It was Canadian Countess, a company underwritten by his own firm and a "surefire bonanza" in petrochemicals. Wally was launching into an ecstatic description when it was time to run back to Mr. Petry.

In class again, Wally scribbled in the back of Jane's notebook. It's in Peace River country. Stunning operation with 100 employees already. Venture financed in part by Osgood Allen, Canadian oil millionaire. Stock now 25 cents per share. Will be 50 cents by first of year, one dollar by next summer. Yours for the Countess."

Jane wrote back, "Why do you say this is going up if everything else is going down?" Wally hesitated and scribbled back "Special Situation," as if this explained everything. Then he added, "We control Osgood Allen ready to buy any number shares $2 per. But we want to keep control in family. Won't let Oe have too many."

After class that night, Wally walked Jane down Van Ness to a popular bistrot. Jane looked around while Wally ordered. "Two Irish Coffees," he decided. Sitting opposite her, he grinned and pointed to his favorite sign hanging over the bar. "If you're so damn smart, why ain't you rich?" In her present dilemma, the sentiment struck Jane as more sensible than funny.

"Being poor," she said flatly, "is the biggest boredom of all. It is so daily so ungenerous, so monotonous. One never has anything new, like this."

"Well," said Wally, "if you're really smart, that beautiful Canadian Countess can make you rich. Stock is tightly held, but for you I could manage."

"Could you?" Jane's breath quickened. "Oh, how wonderful, Wally."

"We'll just make you part of the firm's family," Wally said. "But you must keep this off the record. If this ever got back to old Petry, he'd try brabbling the Countess for his own firm. Not a peep to the girls either, huh? Or to Eleanor. She might forget and let something slip. This is strictly between us."

Jane was sorry about Eleanor, but maybe later.

"How can I," she asked with emotion, "ever repay you for such kindnesses?"

"Tell Eleanor I'm great stuff," Wally grinned. Feeling expansive he ordered another round and chortled, "This is like getting into AT&T around 1912 at three cents a share."

While he talked on, Jane settled back to enjoy the gay atmosphere, which soon gave way to competition in a spate of her own spectacular imagery. The wondrous beauty of western Canada she had read about, and the delightful name of Canadian Countess was something the crowning touch.

Not until the two of them were leaving did they notice the bold sign just above their heads on the column beside their table. "A fool and his money are soon parted," it read. "Who got yours?" Jane smiled. "Cute, isn't it?" "Yeah," said Wally. "Yeah?"

Setting out the next morning for her first investment venture in Montgomery Street, Jane carried Mr. Petry's advice about unfamiliar brokers high in her mind: "You tell him what to buy," Wally, of course, was different.

Bless him, he was a friend welcoming her into the family. Jane wondered hopefully whether she would ever again purchase such a dazzling prospect. She had written Wally a check for $3000, with just one nigging regret. Jane couldn't yet trust even Eleanor. But, of course, if he and Eleanor kept on counting daisies together...

About her second stock purchase in less than twenty-four hours, Jane had no question whatever. Her own special selection had all sorts of eye and ear appeal, its growth had shown the required degree of hyperthyroidism and, what's more, its business stirred her vision of tomorrow.

She stopped at a brokerage firm where she could not only buy her stock but could also see an electronics quotation board. Mr. Petry had described this miracle, and it suited her mood to a T. Standing gazing at the huge black and red mural with its bright white figures clicking like hundreds of telegraph keys, Jane had a feeling of exaltation. The white figures, she knew, clicked out the instantaneous news of prices being paid for stock in every corner of the country.

'Do-It-Yourself' Stamping System

BETHLEHEM, Md. (AP)—Mary Carroll, the local postmistress, has stamped herself tired. Since 1946 she has been hand-cancelling Christmas mail brought or sent here for a Bethlehem postmark and a special cachet showing the Three Wise Men following the star. Ill health and the volume of business this year forced her to begin a "do-it-yourself" system for persons who bring their mail to the one-room postoffice. They are asked to stamp it themselves.

The quest for a substitute for wooden railroad crossties remains unsolved. Some 2,500 patents have been granted in the search for a replacement, but the wooden tie is still predominant.

Ayden Ministers Erect Welcome Signs

CHURCH DIRECTORIES . . . in the form of signs have been erected at various points leading into Ayden by the town's Ministerial Association. The signs welcome visitors into Ayden's churches. (Reflector Staff Photo.)

AYDEN—The Ayden Ministerial Association has erected three signs on roadways leading to Ayden, welcoming visitors to the town's churches.

The signs say "Welcome to the Churches of Ayden" and have been placed on Highway 11 near the substation, on Highway 11 near South Ayden High School, and on Highway 102, the east side of town, coming in.

A fourth sign has been acquired by the association but has not been erected yet. The signs were erected by the town and prepared under supervision of the Ayden Ministerial Association. The area surrounding the signs will be beautified later with shrubbery. Rye grass has already been sown.

Churches listed on the direction include Ayden Christian, Free Will Baptist, First Baptist, Ayden Methodist and St. James Episcopal.

Touch Of Snow For N.C. Mountain Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Carolinas mountain areas had a taste of a white Christmas today, the first day of winter snow flurries were expected to extend into central North Carolina during the day, and it was much colder in both states.

Five inches of snow fell overnight on Mt. Mitchell and four inches on Pisgah.

A mass of cold air invading the eastern United States had reached the Appalachian Mountains by midnight and promised much colder weather in the Carolinas today.

The forecast for South Carolina was rain today, followed by a few snow flurries in the mountains by evening, turning much colder this afternoon, partial clearing and colder tonight. It will be generally fair and colder.

Seek Propaganda In Air Disaster

BERLINE (AP) — East Germany's Communist regime today tried to make propaganda capital out of the Munich air disaster.

The Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland told its readers that if the U.S. military plane that crashed on the city last Saturday had been in a hangar in the United States, 30 Munich families would have been spared Christmas sorrow over loss of their relatives.

Naples Tycoon Is Again Elected

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Shipping tycoon Achille Lauro was elected mayor of Naples again Tuesday night in a tumultuous session of the City Council.

A walkout by Communist and Socialist members paved the way for the election of the millionaire monarchist, who quit under fire three years ago.

During the uproarious session Tuesday night a policeman was injured keeping leftist councilmen from attacking Lauro.

Livestock Ass'n Installs New Officers

New officers were elected and installed here last night by the Pitt County Livestock Development Association at the organization's annual meeting.

Hollowell served the association during 1959 as vice president. Stepping up from secretary-treasurer to vice president was W. E. (Ed) Hemingway. Milton May was elected 1961's secretary-treasurer.

The election of officers, including the 1961 board of directors, followed an appraisal of area swine production by guest speaker Jim Butler of the Gwaltney Packing Co., Smithfield, Va.

Butler told the association "the hog future in this area is brighter than any other phase of agriculture." He noted prices in a 100-mile-radius area that includes Pitt County "are higher than in any market in the world."

Butler told the group swine production in the area "can pay off well" if producers use proper techniques. He listed a five-point plan for efficient production.

He said profitable production must begin with good quality stock. High-quality feed should be used along with adequate equipment, he stressed. Two additional points were "constant use of efficient methods" and control of damaging diseases.

The association's board of directors selected last night includes:

R. H. McLawhorn (beef), Burney Baker (dairy), J. Alton Moore (poultry), Jarvis Allen (swine), W. C. House (sheep), J. Eric Whitchard, Jay Boswell, C. J. Goodman, S. F. Peterson, and Hugh Winslow.

Events announced last night included a Jan. 10 Spotted Poland China Show and Sale and a Feb. 24 Poland China Show and Sale. Both will be held at the Pitt County Fairgrounds.

Also announced were the N.C. Swine Producers' Conference in Raleigh Jan. 12-13 and the State Market Hog Show and Sale in Wilmington Aug. 15-16.

Many Educators Favor 10-Month School Program

RALEIGH (AP)—A special legislative study commission has reported that many Tar Heel education superintendents favor a 10-month school term over the present nine-month system.

The commission, which made its report Tuesday, was established by the 1959 Legislature and charged with studying the possibility of using the state's public school facilities on a year-round basis.

It made no flat recommendations about extending the school year, but merely reported information gleaned from the various school officials.

The five-member study group estimated the 10-month school term would cost an additional $20 million a year.

The report also discussed a 10-month, 11-grade school system; a term broken into four quarters and expansion of summer school programs.

Of 135 school superintendents quizzed, 103 said they were against the idea of a 10-month, 11-grade system. The report said several states already have considered and abandoned the idea.

It said there was sentiment for a 10-month term with retention of the 12 grades. Of 134 superintendents answering queries on the proposal, 87 favored it.

The commission was formed after Warren County Rep. John Kerr spoke during a 1959 legislative session on behalf of a 12-month school term.

The commission was chaired by Union Rep. Glenn S. Hayfield and included Kerr, Sen. Ernest Ross of McDowell, Rep. Dan L. Drummond of Forsyth and Mayor William G. Enloe of Raleigh.

Boom In Japan To 'Flatten Out'

TOKYO (AP)—Japan will continue to ride a high tide of prosperity next year, but the spectacular gains of recent years in production, exports and other signs of growth will flatten out, the Economic Planning Agency said today.

The agency's annual report will guide Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda in drawing up his economic blueprint for 1961.

A combination of circumstances, including a cutback in U. S. dollar spending abroad and a slackening of world trade, account for the expected leveling off in the rates of gain.

CONGO MEETING

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP)—Moise Tshombe, head of Katanga State in the former Belgian Congo, said Tuesday Congolese political leaders will meet Feb. 15 in Elisabethville, his capital. Tshombe was here to attend a meeting of political leaders of French-speaking African nations.

Science At Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christmas dinner in the antarctic water from moon stones, and executives plugged into the wall are subjects this week for science at work.

ANTARCTIC CHRISTMAS Just four years ago this Christmas two scientists sat under the brilliant antarctic sun and sipped on cocoa, marmalade and biscuits—food left behind in 1912 by an explorer's tragedy.

The food, preserved by the cold, had been left behind by British explorer Robert Scott who perished within 60 miles of his base camp after becoming the second person to reach the South Pole.

Ned Ostens and Charles Bentley, two University of Wisconsin scientists, found the food in good condition, the original camp building still standing, and a loaf of bread partially sliced on a table inside.

ON THE ROCKS You may not be able to get blood from a turnip, but there are signs that earthmen on the moon may get water from rock.

Some rocks, known to contain up to five per cent water, may be found on the moon, says Dr. Roy G. Brereton of Aerojet-General Corp. By heating these rocks to about 2,700 degrees, drinkable water can be liberated as steam.

WIRED FOR ACTION Business executives in the world of the future may be plugged into a computer.

It could speed decision making in large organizations by 10 times say scientists at Lockheed's missile and space division.

The computer acts as a vast community pool of fact. By plugging into the computer from his office, the executive can draw on any set of facts he needs to make his decision.

SPEED IN SPACE Space ships heading toward Venus, Mars or the other planets must develop speeds some 35 times the speed of sound to pull away from the earth.

But the speed complicates the problem of approaching and landing at the destination planet. Now General Electric scientists have developed a shock tunnel that can produce these extreme speeds and the atmospheres believed to exist on Mars and Venus. They will study the effects of escape speeds or various shapes to help in designing space ships.

LAZY PORPOISES The porpoise never ceases to amaze. These remarkable sea animals actually ride the bow waves of ships, scooting through the ocean as an apparently effortless hitchhiker.

The porpoise apparently spots his free ride from a distance, heads purposely toward the ship, finds his position and actually gets pushed along by the bow wave, the way a human surfer rides a wave to the beach.

Now scientists report they have seen porpoises riding wind waves on the open sea and reason that this could be the way porpoises travel long distances during migration.

FLIGHT BY SIGHT Bank swallows and perhaps other birds use landmarks to guide their way home, a University of Wisconsin researcher reports.

The swallows were captured and released up to 175 miles from the burrows where they make their homes. The farther from home the birds are released, the fewer make their way back, it was found.

First Baby Born On Mercy Ship

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The first baby born aboard the American mercy ship Hope—an Indonesian girl—has been named Mada Jordan Hope.

The baby was born Sunday while the Hope was anchored in Ball Island's Pandang Bay. The baby was named Jordan after the midwife who delivered her. The Hope, a former U.S. Navy hospital ship, is on an extended visit to Indonesia.

Given 12 Years For Name-Calling

MADRID (AP)—An army court-martial today sentenced a young Falange youth front leader to 12 years in jail for calling Gen. Francisco Franco a traitor to his face during a party ceremony.

Jose Roman Alonso Urdiales, who was on active military duty, also was sentenced to complete his military service in a penal brigade and completing the prison sentence.

Philpott Points To Biggest Issues

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP)— Lt. Gov.-Elect H. Cloyd Philpott said today money problems, congressional redistricting and legislative reapportionment will be the three biggest issues facing the 1961 General Assembly.

Philpott, who will preside over the State Senate, said "as always the money problem is a big issue. It involves finding sufficient money to take care of the expanding needs of the state and also to take care of the educational program."

He listed congressional redistricting will be a long drawn out job," Philpott declared. "It will take a considerable amount of time. It's going to call for a lot of work, but it is a problem we've got to face up to."

Philpott said he sees no need for a senate caucus "because there is no particular reason for it." He added he is working on his senate committee appointments and for intents and purposes they will be ready for announcement when the legislature convenes.

Concerning money problems, Philpott said "no one knows whether we are in a period of recession or depression or a leveling off plateau. Actually, I think it will take several months in 1961 before we can get a true picture of what kind of economic phase we can expect and how it will affect North Carolina's revenue."

Ayden Rotarians Hear Program

AYDEN — Bill Bullock, assisted by Walter Stroud, presented a program on "How to Achieve Greater Success" at Friday night's meeting of the Rotary Club.

Bullock gave a preview of the program and then played a recording.

In the absence of President Wayland McGlohon, Corey Stokes presided at the meeting. There were no visitors.

During the business session, members decided to hold their meeting Friday at 6:30 p.m., without the usual dinner. Money ordinarily used for meals will be turned over to the Ayden Service League to be used for Christmas baskets.

More than 200 steamship lines maintain offices in the port of San Francisco.

Winter Arrives With Snow From Rockies Eastward

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Blustery snowy and cold weather ushered in the winter season today from the eastern Rockies into the Northeast.

The snowstorm which buffeted the Midwest, with foot-high falls in some areas, spread into the Ohio Valley during the night, dumping heavy snow in many areas.

Powered by strong winds, the storm headed eastward into western and central parts of the mid-Atlantic seaboard states and extended eastward over the Great Lakes region and southwestward through the Ohio Valley.

At least nine deaths were attributed to the stormy weather, which erupted in the Plains and spread eastward rapidly. The storm deaths included five in Ohio, three in Illinois and one in Missouri.

The broad blanket of snow in the Midwest, plus strong shifting winds and sharp drops in temperatures, made it look and feel like midwinter before the official arrival of winter at 3:27 p.m. EST today.

Chicago's Midway Airport, called the world's busiest, was closed for more than 12 hours as workers cleared the runways of the heavy snow. Airports in Cincinnati also were closed.

Ohio and Pennsylvania battled the storm. Falls of 8 to 14 inches were expected in western Pennsylvania, with 7 to 10 inches in Pittsburgh. A half foot of snow fell in a four-hour period in the small town of Somerset, Pa.

In Ohio, more than 8 inches of snow snarled traffic in Columbus and a 10-inch fall was expected in Cleveland. Falls of 3 to 6 inches were reported in most northern areas, with lesser falls in the southern part of the state.

Snow mixed with rain and sleet pelted areas in New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia and western North Carolina, with snow on the way in some areas. The snow-sleet mixture in Newark and Trenton changed to heavy frams. New York City, hit by heavy snow last week, was in the path of the storm.

In contrast to the cold and wintry weather, unseasonably mild weather prevailed in the extreme Southeast and Southwestern sections of the country. The mercury soared to 81 degrees in both Los Angeles and San Diego Tuesday.

Shoppers Free Of Ticket Worry

RUSSELL, Ky. (AP) — Mayor Raymond Stevens says no parking tickets will be issued here Thursday, Friday or Saturday for cars parked at overdue parking meters.

This, he said, would be done to give shoppers more freedom to wind up their preparations for the yuletide season.

Gov. Hollings declared the holiday, closing public offices. Special observance ceremonies were conducted in Union and Edgefield counties.

At Union, the ceremonies at the antebellum mansion of William H. Gist, governor during the War Between the States, marked the transfer of the home to the State Parks System.

The ceremonies at Edgefield were in the First Baptist Church, with the state's Third District congressman, William Jennings Bryan Dorn, the speaker.

Chicago's first permanent school was built of brick and the first city offices were in a brick building.

S.C. Observing Its Centennial

South Carolina observed the centennial of its secession from the Union with a special holiday and ceremonies at two widely separated points Tuesday.

His Law Almost Provided Dinner

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state law that he sponsored while a member of the Ohio General Assembly almost provided Arthur H. Milleson with a deer dinner.

Milleson, clerk of the Ohio House of Representatives, was driving to a meeting when a deer darted from the side of the road, hit the side of his automobile, recovered and raced away.

The law Milleson sponsored allows a motorist to claim the carcass of a deer when his auto kills it on an Ohio highway. This is to help compensate for any damages to the car.

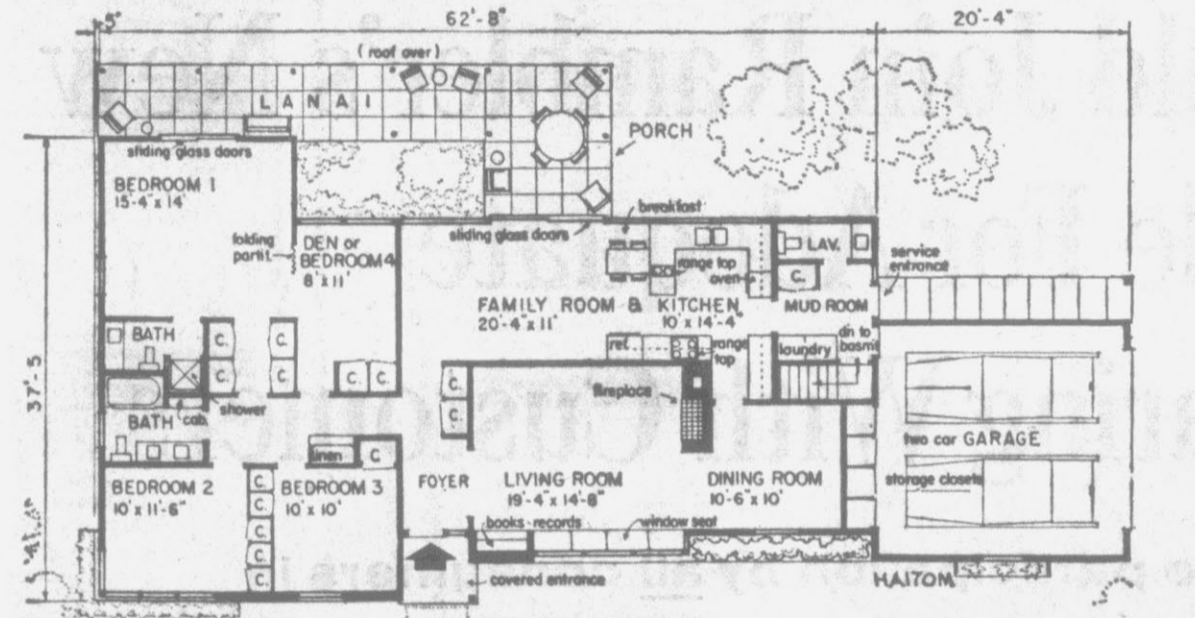

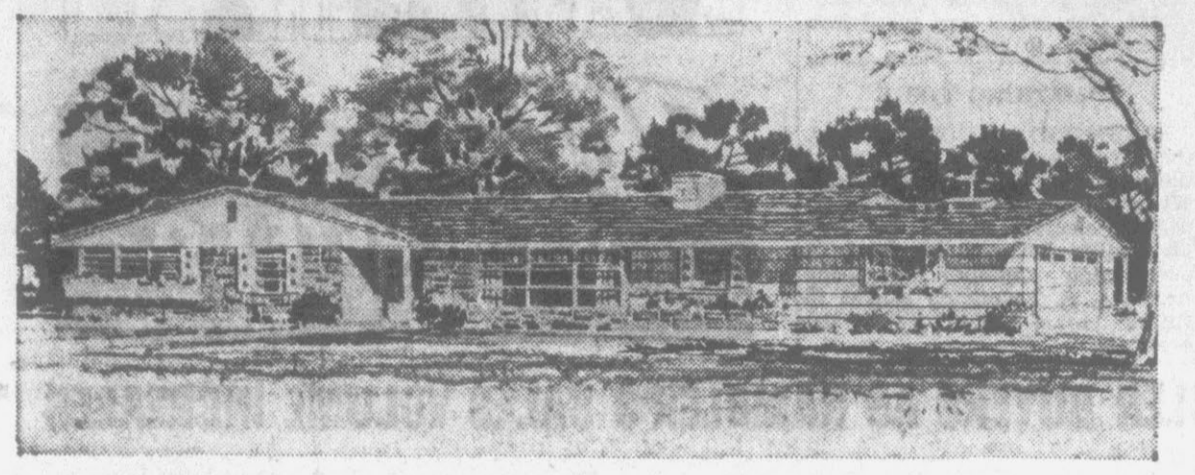

Likens Congo To Spanish Conflict

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today likened the Congo situation to the Spanish civil war 30 years ago, with "big powers outside aiding local contestants with arms and otherwise."

"It is a tragedy," Nehru told Parliament, "that while the United Nations looked on helplessly in the Congo, big powers helped different local contestants."

Nehru said all nations should back the U.N. effort in the Congo, because "if the United Nations fails in the Congo, it fails in the whole world."

TV Executive Speaks At Meet

A. Hartwell Campbell, general manager of television station WNCT, Greenville, was the featured speaker at the December meeting of the East Carolina College Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management.

SAM is the recognized national professional organization of management in industry, commerce, government, and education and the pioneer in management philosophy.

The basis for a successful promotion, Mr. Campbell said, is a seedbed of ideas. These ideas come from different sources, he explained, by engagement in mental thought and by putting together the obvious. Ideas, he continued, are like icebergs; they are larger than they appear and all aspects cannot be seen.

After the idea, a plan is the next step in promotion, he stated. A plan to be put into operation takes time, must be sold to all people concerned, and takes capital and organization, he asserted.

To have a successful promotion, Mr. Campbell concluded, the promoter must be concerned with its benefits to others. A successful promoter cannot be an individual who is primarily concerned only for himself.

Chinese Communists Trying To Cash In On Art Treasures

By ROY ESSOYAN

HONG KONG, (AP) — The Chinese Communists are trying to cash in on 2,000 years of Chinese art.

It's good propaganda and it provides much-needed foreign exchange.

Through outlets in Hong Kong and other neutral points, the Communists are selling—at bargain basement prices—reproductions, sketches and woodcuts as well as clay and porcelain figures and pottery.

Quality is Good

You can buy a contemporary woodcut for the equivalent of 10 American cents. Reproductions of thousand-year-old masterpieces sell for as much as $300.

Connoisseurs here say the quality of the reproductions of ancient masterpieces is excellent.

The contemporary works are painstaking but uninspired. Most of them are mass-produced and carry a propaganda message.

Ancient and modern masterpieces are reproduced by a Chinese woodblock process that dates back 400 years. Some 300 blocks are used for the average reproduction. A large classical painting may need as many as 1,000 woodblocks. One 10-foot long scroll took three years to complete.

Most of the contemporary art glorifies life under the Communists. Industry, agriculture and water conservation are important themes and the workers are usually shown smiling, laughing or cheering.

Even art that predates the Communist revolution is made to serve Communist purposes.

Pre-revolutionary paintings most widely circulated today usually depict ragged Chinese peasants with woebegone expressions. The captions explain that these are typical of life "under the reactionary rule before liberation."

The masterpieces are made to serve communism.

Crabs were a favorite theme of Chi Pai-Shih, who is regarded as one of the top exponents of traditional Chinese painting. A Communist catalogue of his works says Chi liked to paint crabs because they walk sideways, "like the devious ways of China's reactionary rulers."

Factory Art Most of the reproductions are produced in cultural factories or collectives. Few professional artists work alone, at home.

A team of artists, engravers and painters studies the art work to be reproduced. The artists trade the required number of copies, and the engravers and printers made the blocks and reproduce the painting.

The wood-block system is used because it is considered particularly adaptable to the brush stroke one of the top exponents of tradi-

Claim Different Maps Utilized

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—The Durham School Board uses different maps in assigning white and Negro pupils to public schools, an attorney for Negro parents charged in Federal Court here Tuesday.

Arguments in the Durham school suit were to continue today before Judge Edwin M. Stanley. The consolidated legal action seeks reassignment of 277 Negro children to largely white schools; and asks integration of school staffs from principals to janitors. The suit also attacks the constitutionality of the North Carolina Pupil Placement Act.

A New York attorney, Jack Greenberg, who is representing the Negro children, brought two zoned maps into court Tuesday. He charged that any child living at a given address would go to one school according to one map, and to another school according to the second map. He contended the maps were used by the Durham City School Board in assigning students, one for white students and the other for Negroes. Judge Stanley earlier heard a Chapel Hill integration suit. The parents of Stanley Vickers, a Negro student, sued the Chapel Hill Board of Education, seeking admission of their son to a predominantly white school. The judge did not set a date for a ruling in the Chapel Hill action.

On completion of the Durham suit, the court will hear a Caswell County school integration suit brought for 23 Negro students. The Caswell County action involves the Negroes' petition for admission to the all-white Yanceyville schools.

Ranking among the company's 75 leading producers for the month, he will be awarded membership in the Franklin President's Club. This is his third successful Club qualification this year.

GEORGE ROMNEY President, American Motors Corporation

Rambler's rise to a top position has put us in position to undertake a new crusade. This program, which could provide greater individual and national benefits than any we've yet undertaken, calls for customer progress sharing.

As volume goes up, costs come down. So, sharing economies that would result from a 50% Rambler sales gain over last year for the period December through March could provide payments to customers of $18,698,062.

But, before presenting our new Rambler crusade, let me review some highlights of the first one.

When we forged our basic Rambler concepts, U.S. cars were in a size, horsepower and styling-change race that cost the car buyer money. So, we developed the compact, economical, modernly engineered Rambler.

CONSUMER BENEFITS FROM LOWER PRICES

Because of low volume, we had to price our first Rambler Americans about equal with Chevrolet and Ford, traditionally "lowest priced."

As our output and economies increased, we shared the resulting economic advantages with Rambler customers. Despite inflation, we kept prices low. We also concentrated on durability and quality. That is why Rambler excels in trouble-free operation, as shown by trade surveys made by others.

What has this done? It has increased our sales—made us a vigorous new competitive factor, compelling all competitors to introduce compact cars. Their compact cars unquestionably are better buys than their big cars, because their big cars don't have the compacts' advanced engineering.

Despite these moves to meet Rambler competition, Rambler American models are now priced not only below competitive big cars but below their economy compacts as well.

In addition, Ramblers provide customers several exclusive trouble-free engineering advances such as the acid-proof, rustproof Ceramic-Armored muffler and tailpipe.

The Rambler line includes three basic sizes of compact cars—Rambler American, Rambler Classic and Ambassador, the latter two developed after the original American series.

RAMBLER SALES SOAR

In two years, Rambler's per cent of market has more than doubled. For the last 38 straight months, Rambler sales have established a new record for that month. We want to continue this growth by serving you even better.

THE NEW RAMBLER CRUSADE

Our new Rambler crusade, like our compact crusade, is based on sharing Rambler progress with car buyers.

We believe the new Rambler crusade has timely significance. Our country currently is experiencing a mild economic slowdown—with rising foreign competition and weakness of the dollar. Our larger competitors are considering partial manufacture and importation of cars for the U.S. market from abroad. There is a general profit squeeze.

We believe the greatest single economic cause is that relatively too much of the fruit of industrial effort has been going to a few well organized economic groups, not to the consumer.

CUSTOMERS TO SHARE RAMBLER PROGRESS

We decided there was something we could do. We decided to share future progress with ALL customers who take

HOW PAYMENTS TO BUYERS WILL BE DETERMINED IN AMERICAN MOTORS' CUSTOMER PROGRESS SHARING PROGRAM

SALES FOR SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR		30,165	65,114	93,426	130,631

NOTE: In all cases, "BUYER(S)" means a person who actually takes delivery, not places an order.

WHY IT WILL PAY YOU TO BUY NOW. This unique program is cumulative and retroactive. Early buyers can get more, but never less bonds, than buyers in succeeding months. Your Rambler dealer will be happy to give you the complete details of the plan but here is a quick example of how it works and keeps on working for you:

If December Rambler deliveries increase 20% over last December, December buyers of new Ramblers or Metropolitan will receive $50 bonds. As the four-month period progresses, additional bonds will be mailed to the December buyers each time the cumulative sales reach a higher bond payment sales level.

Also, if sales increase for the four-month period exceeds 50%, proportionate additional payments will be made to all buyers during any of the four-months.

BOTH CUSTOMERS AND AMERICAN MOTORS GAIN

You have everything to gain and nothing to lose by joining this crusade. The same is true for us.

You can't lose because Ramblers are better than big cars and the best of the compacts. Ramblers are more trouble free, more useful, lower priced.

You make your regular deal in the regular way for a new Rambler. You then may share proportionately in the economies and profits of higher Rambler volume in December, 1960, and the first three months of 1961.

We gain by acquiring more Rambler owners, which will make our growing market even larger in the future. That's because Rambler owners become Rambler salesmen and are the most loyal "repeat buyers" of any make.

Ask your neighbor all about his Rambler, then join the Rambler crusade. Join us in focusing the nation's attention on the essentiality of equitably sharing economic progress with ALL consumers if the WHOLE NATION is to prosper.

George Romney

P.S. Some may say one company can't do much about national problems as big and complex as those cited above. Well, that's what skeptics said about Rambler's first crusade. Let's remember, every great thing is born small. If this new Rambler crusade is right, it can succeed and spread, just as the compact car concept did.

Monkeys are caught by filling a coconut shell with chopped coconut meat. The monkeys grasp a fistful and, unwilling to let any go, cannot withdraw their paws. So, they are easy victims. The U.S. consumer is not yet as scrawny as shown, but unless there is a more equitable division of the productivity increases, he will get that way. One of the three American groups must let go and set an example—or all will be captured and, along with the consumer, all will suffer.

Mr. Romney's recent New York Press Conference on "Customer Sharing and the Nation's Economy" attracted nationwide notice. For complete text of his statements, write American Motors, Box 29, Detroit 32, Mich.

Kennedy's Ex-Roommate Tapped To Fill Out Two-Year Senate Term

BOSTON (AP) — Benjamin A. Smith II, 43, a former Harvard roommate of President-elect John F. Kennedy, has been tapped to fill out the two years remaining of Kennedy's Senate term.

Smith, a former mayor of Gloucester and currently a manufacturer in that seaport city, was notified of the appointment Tuesday night by Kennedy himself.

Democratic Gov. Foster Furcolo announced late Tuesday he would name Smith to the U. S. Senate "at the suggestion of President-elect Kennedy."

Smith said the first word he had received of the appointment was a direct telephone call from Kennedy from his winter headquarters in Palm Beach, Fla.

Smith said Kennedy will resign his Senate seat Jan. 3 and that Smith would take over on the same day, giving him seniority over other freshmen senators due to be sworn in a day later.

Furcolo said it was his understanding Smith would not seek a full six-year term to the U. S. Senate in 1964.

However, Smith refused to speculate on his political plans of two years hence.

Smith became acquainted with Kennedy when both were students at Harvard. They shared a room in Harvard's Winthrop House with Torbert H. MacDonald, now a Democratic congressman from Massachusetts.

Smith graduated in 1939, one year ahead of Kennedy, and like Kennedy served as a naval lieutenant in the Pacific during World War II.

Smith and Kennedy have been close, socially and politically, since their undergraduate days.

They were ushers at each other's wedding, and Smith has been an active campaigner for Kennedy in all of the latter's political bids.

Smith was a fullback on the Harvard football team. Later he gained prominence as a yachtman and sport fisherman.

In 1946, Smith caught the biggest tuna ever taken on rod and reel in Ipswich Bay, a 718-pounder.

He is president of five Gloucester enterprises: Merchants Box Factory, Cape Ann Fisheries Inc., United Fisheries Co., Gloucester By-Products Inc., and the Gloucester Community Pier Association, Inc., which controls the big state fish pier.

He is an active member of the Democratic City Committee and with his wife—the former Barbara Mechem of Lake Forest, Ill.—and their five children, worships at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Gloucester.

Smith's interest in politics began in 1951 when he was elected to the Gloucester School Committee. His political activity was at the local level until 1956 when he was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

In the last national convention Smith was in charge of the Kennedy drive among delegates from South Carolina and Kansas.

In Palm Beach, Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said in a statement: "Sen. Kennedy is extremely pleased by Gov. Furcolo's announcement that he is going to appoint Ben Smith. He is also pleased by the cooperative spirit between himself and Gov. Furcolo which resulted in this announcement."

Furcolo twice was a candidate for the U. S. Senate. He was defeated six years ago by U. S. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., and was beaten in the primaries by Springfield Mayor Thomas O'Connor this year. O'Connor was defeated in the November election by Saltonstall.

Going Blind, But Wish Fulfilled

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Though at any moment she may go blind, 14-year-old Wyona Griffith has seen the governor and had a wish fulfilled.

The Attalla, Ala., seventh-grader was welcomed Tuesday at the office of Gov. John Patterson. She thanked him personally for helping bring her family together.

Mrs. Griffith said her daughter suffers periods of blindness believed to be caused by a childhood injury, and doctors have said she may lose her sight completely.

Earlier this year Wyona wrote Patterson to help find a job in Alabama for her father, James C. Griffith, who had to leave his home to find work and was employed in West Virginia.

Patterson passed the request to the State Employment Service, which found Griffith a job in a Gadsden steel plant, near Attalla.

Two weeks ago, Mrs. Griffith wrote to Patterson asking an audience for her daughter. Wyona achieved her goal.

"I think it's a privilege that I can see you," she replied when Patterson thanked her for cuff links she brought as a Christmas present.

NBC 'White Paper' Was Obviously One-Sided Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Sit-In," the second of NBC's excursions into strongly editorial broadcasting in a series called "NBC White Paper" Tuesday night proved to be a powerful and sympathetic account of the Negro lunch-counter demonstrations in Nashville, Tenn.

It told clearly and graphically the story of the successful efforts by young Negro students to force local stores to serve Negroes food. It included film shot during scuffles between blacks and whites, and filmed interviews with leaders of both factions and community officials. Often the camera work was imaginative and shockingly effective, and the earnest statements of the Negroes, marked with a religious fervor, were moving.

Sometimes, however, the scenes—such as the one in which a group of young Negroes were gathered in a gymnasium singing and talking—looked staged and showed signs of careful stage management.

The principal difficulty with the program was its failure to give the other side as fair a break as it provided for the pro-integration forces. The camera went back and back again to a young tough who described with brutal relish his own part in attacking the sit-in sympathizers to a white housewife and to a local businessman whose anti-integration stances were not convincing to this reviewer. Surely, these people were as carefully selected by the producers of the program as were the sensitive-faced and articulate young Negroes and whites.

Television used in this intimate, dramatic way can be a strong molder of public opinion. The integrity and balance shown by the makers of such a program are the most important ingredient. This program had shock value, vast impact, but, in a vastly emotional area, it was obviously loaded on one side.

NBC has decided not to show, after all, the first of its Civil War Centennial specials on Dec. 27. An original drama about the Battle of Bull Run called "The Renegade" was scheduled, but now the network plans to get more mileage out of Tony Webster's spoof of psychiatry, "After Hours." This mild little number originally was shown last season on the net-work's ill-fated "Sunday Showcase" series. The probable reason for the switch is lack of a sponsor.

NBC's gasoline sponsor which put up more than one million dollars for a series of spur-of-the-moment news specials on breaking stories will make its initial network plunge with something quite different: the network's long planned "Projection '61" roundtable chat of its correspondents on Dec. 30. That means that the networks star broadcasting team, Chet Huntley and David Brinkley are out of the show—their regular nightly sponsor is a rival gasoline company—and Frank McGee will moderate the discussion group.

"Route 66," CBS' location-filmed adventure series—two wandering knights in the sponsor's car—has been renewed through the end of this season. Rising ratings saved the show, reputedly one of the most expensive among the filmed series.

Recommended tonight: "The Coming of Christ," NBC, 8:30-9 p. m. EST. A project 20 special telling the familiar story through art masterpieces.

Sour Apple For Debbie Reynolds

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In 1954 Debbie Reynolds won a golden apple from the Hollywood Women's Press Club for being cooperative. But Tuesday she got a sour apple, meaning least cooperative.

"She was just never available," the women said, explaining Debbie's new status.

Among actors, they awarded a sour apple to Elvis Presley—not because of him but because of his manager, Col. Tom Parker. They called Parker "impossible."

Golden apples—for most cooperative—went to Nanette Fabray and Janet Leigh (a tie) and to Jack Lemmon.

The club's 160 members voted the awards.

What Will Urban Renewal Cost You As A Tax Payer Through Its Public Housing?

The following analysis of what PUBLIC HOUSING has cost the City of Kinston is taken from data supplied by the Whitaker Business Services research organization through the Pitt County Realty Board.

"However, with all of the attractiveness of public housing it is apparent that someone must pay for it. The Public Housing Authority determines that no more than 16% to 20% of a family unit income shall be paid for rent and for utilities. It is generally accepted by economists that 25% of a family unit income must go for housing and for housing expenses.

This differential in cost is born by the local government of the City of Kinston, and by its supporting taxpayers and utility users.

Through consultation with city officials and examination of records we have arrived at firm estimates of this cost to the city. Against this cost the Housing Authority pays to the City of Kinston an amount each year in lieu of taxes. This amount is established by paying 10% of all rentals after utility costs. 55% of this amount goes to the City of Kinston, and 45% to Lenoir County. On this basis there was paid to these two government units in 1958 $12,900.00, of which $7,095.00 was paid to the City of Kinston.

The cost to the City of Kinston, however, is far greater than the payment.

By a policy set at the beginning of the public housing program here all utilities except heat were included in the rent to the tenant. In line with that an agreement was made with the City for lump billing of utilities, both electric and water, rather than to individual meters on the units of the housing projects. The Housing Authority is now given a bulk billing for all utilities used.

It is estimated on the basis of payment now that the revenue to the city would be more than double the approximately $30,000.00 paid annually for electricity for the six hundred and forty-four units by the housing authority. The average billing rate for utility users in the City of Kinston at the present time is 2.6 cents per kilowatt hour. The bulk billing to the Housing Authority is 1.5 cents per kilowatt hour, which has proved to be no more than actual cost to the city at the customer's electric meter.

On this basis the city contribution in electric power to the Public Housing Authority is a minimum of $30,000.00 each year.

The same applies to the supplying of water to the public housing project. This billing, again on a bulk rate, is normally not more than $500.00 per month—$0.75 per public housing unit, as compared to $2.00 per month for private dwellings. Accordingly, the city contributes $9,500.00 annually to the public housing authority for water supplied.

In the supplying of public services to the housing authority such as garbage disposal, police protection, and fire protection, the city's contribution is again considerable. In garbage collection alone the services of one truck and two men are required full time to effect this collection. The absolute bare cost in this operation is above $7,500.00 per year, and with administrative costs and other contingent expenses there is no doubt but that this figure is easily $10,000.00 annually. On this basis the city expends for each family unit in the housing authority $1.30 per month for garbage disposal.

The total cost for police protection annually in the City of Kinston is $174,000.00. There is a total of six and one-half square miles in the City of Kinston. Breaking down the total cost on acreage basis, with 35.9 acres in the public housing projects, the cost of the city for furnishing police protection to the projects is $16,100.00.

The cost of furnishing fire protection to the City of Kinston is almost identical to that of furnishing police protection. Therefore, the cost to the City of Kinston for furnishing fire protection to the public housing units would be the same as that for police protection—$16,100.00.

In 1954 it was claimed that the assessed taxes of the property upon which housing projects were located at that time was less than $1,000.00. However, since that time an additional one hundred units have been constructed in the area, and certainly, real estate values have increased by the gradual upgrading of the properties.

Again based on the area projection for the whole of the City of Kinston the tax revenue from this area would certainly be far more than that. In the year 1958 a total of $437,000.00 was paid into the City of Kinston for ad valorem taxes. Based on the area occupied now by the Housing Authority (35.9 acres) the tax value of those properties is at this time $3,780.00.

A recapitulation of these figures is listed below, together with the payment to the city in lieu of taxes by the Housing Authority:

Garbage Collection	$10,046.00
Police Protection	$16,100.00
Fire Protection	$16,100.00
Electricity Furnished	..	$30,000.00) Minimum difference in single
Water Furnished	$ 9,500.00) billing and bulk billing.
Tax Loss	$ 3,780.00
		<hr/>
		$85,526.00
Less Payment By
Authority	7,095.00
NET COST TO CITY		$78,431.00

This report does not consider the loss of revenue to the City of Kinston that would have been derived from paving assessments, loss of personal property tax on stoves, refrigerators and other items furnished by the Public Housing Authority, and the loss of the charges for sewer and water taps. These items would take a detailed study, but is fair to assume that this results in a considerable loss in revenue to the City of Kinston, and consequently to its taxpayers.

If Lost In The Woods, Just Stay Put - - Says Expert

By BUD SPRUNGER
LOS GATOS, Calif. (AP) — The next time you get lost in the mountains, be a help to Russ Cone and stay put.

Cone, 39, is a professional pursuer of people—with bloodhounds, about 25 times a year he is called in to hunt for people lost in the woods.

anything that does not taste bad or have a milky sap.

Pound on a Tree
If you try to yell for help, you will probably just wear yourself out. Pounding on a tree with a heavy stick will get much better results.

Most hikers wear dark clothing, so Cone suggests hanging up an undershirt because it is usually white.

The shelter gives you something to do and makes you feel better at night, especially if you hear wild animals. However, Cone says on none of his 150 searches has he heard of an animal harming a live person. They smell humans from a distance and just clear out, he adds.

which doesn't make the hunting any easier. A 9-year-old boy, for example, can travel 10 miles or more the first day he is lost and four or five the next. That makes for a huge search area.

As soon as Cone arrives, he questions parents about the lost child, gets a description for hunting, guesses from the description how far the tot will go, and learns whether he is left handed.

Having figured all that out, Cone usually helps the sheriff direct search parties in a likely direction and then uses his dogs to narrow the search area.

Cone says blood hounds can smell about 400 times better than a human. Humans exude more than 60 waste materials through their skins and these fall in a sort of cloud behind them. That's what the dog smells and follows.

Given some garment from a lost person, they can tell pretty well the direction the person went and follow the trail, even one that is from three to five days old. Wet weather or extreme heat lessen the time a scent will last.

Most of the sheriffs Cone helps write glowing letters to his employer and so, of course, do the parents of rescued kids.

"We wish to thank you for our little Rand's life," wrote Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Libby of Fresno in a typical letter after Cone helped find their 3 1/2-year-old son in the Sierra Nevada.

In 1959, the California assembly adopted a resolution commending Cone's efforts.

Cone is proud of the letter from the Libby parents but he also remembers another mother and her lost child. Cone was flown more than 100 miles to take part in a hunt, arriving with his dogs late at night.

Hundreds of men were out beating the bush all that night, the dogs tried vainly time and again to pick up the scent.

Came the dawn and a maid telephoned, asking when the lady of the house wanted junior returned.

Once, When Santa Goofed, World Still Had Christmas

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Once upon a Christmas Eve Santa Claus got mixed up.

He was late taking off from the North Pole. When he landed his sled by the chimney atop the first home on his route, he reached impatiently for his spectacles to see which packages belonged there.

But his spectacles were gone! "I must have dropped them," said Santa. "I'll go back and look."

Back his reindeer flew as Santa peered anxiously down into the snow. It grew later and later. Still he could see no sign of his spectacles.

"What'll I do without my specs?" Santa said, his red nose turning blue with worry. "I can't see the addresses on the packages."

He asked all his reindeer in turn if they could read, and each shook his head no and stamped his foot.

"Well, I can't wait a moment longer," said Santa. "I'll have to do the best I can."

So over the roofs of every land he flew, dropping off at each home packages he pulled from his bag by guesswork. When Santa got back to the North Pole he was so discouraged he wouldn't even drink the steaming hot toddy Mrs. Claus had prepared for him.

Morning came, and the greatest uproar mankind had ever known arose. Nobody in the whole world had gotten his own gift. Everybody had gotten somebody else's present.

Telephones everywhere jangled in complaint. The parliaments of every foreign country were called into emergency session. So was the United Nations.

What could be done? It would take weeks or months for the mailmen to correct the errors Santa had made in a single night. And meanwhile Christmas would be ruined.

The statesmen debated and debated. Finally at noon a small boy stood up in the gallery of the United Nations and piped up:

"Why don't we just keep what Santa did bring us? As long as we get to open a package, it's still Christmas."

The diplomats hesitated a moment, then leaped to their feet and cheered. Why, of course that was the only possible answer. Everybody at heart wants something that belongs to somebody else. That's only human nature.

So around the world the word was flashed: "Everybody open everybody else's present — and keep it or trade it."

So everybody did open everybody else's present. And were they surprised? Grandmas and old maids opened their packages and found dolls in them, and they wept with pleasure and said, "It has been a long time since anyone gave us a doll."

Blind, But Is Artist And Runs A Gallery

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Captain William E. Jordan, an accountant when he lost his sight at the age of 62, has become an artist and operator of an art gallery since his blindness.

His attempt at art before glaucoma robbed him of sight was limited to an occasional doodle on an accounting worksheet. He produced his first painting in March 1948, after becoming blind in see in my mind," he said.

Since 1958, Jordan has lived in Savannah, Ga., where he spent part of his boyhood. He owns and operates Jordan's Art Gallery there. He also is chairman of the board of directors of the Savannah chapter of the Georgia Federation of the Blind and has just founded the Jordan Art Association which has a goal of financially aiding artists to study.

He, his young wife and their 2-month-old son are spending the Christmas season in Charleston at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. D. L. Critser.

Jordan was born in Chattanooga, Tenn. In addition to Savannah, he was reared in Philadelphia and Alabama. He was in his second year of medical school when he left to fight in World War I. After three years in a hospital due to being wounded and gassed, he decided he wanted no more to do with medicine.

After several years of "barnstorming" as he put it around the country, he settled down for a career in accounting. Until blindness made him an artist.

Change Of Sport Doesn't Break Virginia Habit

The Virginia football team has lost its last 28 straight games, and now the Cavalier basketballers have dropped seven straight games in the young cage season.

The Atlantic Coast Conference team fell to William and Mary 90-50 Tuesday night for its 21st defeat in the last 22 games.

Two ACC teams are in action tonight — Duke plays Florida in Jacksonville, Fla., and North Carolina State is at LaSalle.

Thursday night South Carolina meets Virginia Tech in more non-conference action. After that, ACC teams are idle until Dec. 28.

Duke, ranked seventh in the nation and the ACC's only unbeaten team (6-0), will be meeting a Florida team that has won two of six starts. N.C. State, tied for 10th in The Associated Press poll with North Carolina, takes a 5-1 overall record against LaSalle.

Tony Laquintano continued his fine scoring for Virginia, getting 21 points in the losing effort. However, he didn't score until the game was nearly one-fourth over.

Big Jeff Cohen led William and Mary with 27 points. He scored 15 points in the initial 20 minutes, and the Indians were in front 33-26 at the halfway point.

Brown Wins 4th Rushing Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's great back, has won the rushing title in the National Football League for the fourth straight year.

Wilson, N.C. (AP)—The forthcoming expansion of the two major baseball leagues leads President Bill Jessup of the Carolina League to feel that circuit will return to eight teams in 1962.

Top Passers In Blue-Gray Game

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — This year's Blue-Gray contest is expected to be an aerial battle as both teams of college stars feature top-ranking passers for the 21st annual intersectional football game here Dec. 31.

Tennis Stars Sign Contracts

SYDNEY (AP)—U.S. Davis Cup stars Barry MacKay and Earl (Butch) Buchholz agreed to three-year $50,000 professional contracts today and took a slap at amateur tennis hypocrisy.

Jim Hadnot Paces Providence

By JACK CLARY Associated Press Sports Writer Jim Hadnot suddenly has become unbeaten Providence's "has all" in leading the Friars to their last four victories, three of them cliffhangers.

Hadnot, a 6-foot 10 junior, scored 39 points Tuesday night, but the final two came with one second remaining and pulled out an 81-80 victory over Gonzaga.

Another Big Ten power, Purdue, led by Terry Dischinger's 43 points, beat Evansville NCAA small college champs 84-75. Don Kojis led Marquette to a 70-62 victory over Iowa State while Northwestern's 53-45 victory over Washington cracked a four-game losing streak.

Packers Concentrating On Defending Brocklin

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers are concentrating on building a defense against Norm Van Brocklin, the man their boss considers "a brilliant passer who functions as a coach on the field."

Providence gets its next big test against St. John's Redmen in New York's Holiday Festival next week. St. John's, ranked sixth in the current Associated Press poll, moved its record to 5-0 with an 87-56 victory over Pitt Tuesday night.

Indiana, ranked fourth, defeated Notre Dame 74-69 for Coach Branch McCracken's 300th basketball victory as Hoosier head coach. None of the other top teams were in action.

Lombardi said that in addition to breaking up the overhead game the Packers have to stop the Eagles' ground attack.

They (the Eagles) have shown mobility on the ground, too," he said. "Billy Barnes and rookie Red Dean are not only excellent receivers, but they are fast runners."

The Packers also worked to improve their passing game—both on short and long tosses. They uncovered a long passing game to beat the Los Angeles Rams for the Western Division title last Saturday. It was an attack that few observers thought the Packers possessed.

Indications are, however, that the Packers will stay on the ground for most of their yardage because the Eagles are next to last among the 12 teams on defense against rushing.

The Packers have two of the best runners in pro football in Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung. Both were held in check by the Rams last week, however, because the Rams used a defense setup primarily to stop them.

Coach Lombardi did not disclose his battle plans but added: "Sure, we are going to try to beat them on the ground."

The conditions of the field, of course, will determine to what extent this can be done," he said. The Packers plan to leave for Philadelphia Saturday morning and work out there Sunday.

Tom Davis of the San Francisco 49ers did not miss a single point after touchdown during last year's National Football League season. He booted 31 in a row.

Paul Hornung of Green Bay led the scorers with 176 points on 15 touchdowns, 41 extra points without a miss and 15 field goals in 29 games. Hornung broke the old record of 138 set by Don Hutson of Green Bay in 1942.

Both players reached agreement with Jack Kramer shortly after the promoter arrived from Los Angeles. They open a tour Dec. 31 in New Zealand.

The decision leaves the U.S. Davis Cup picture in a dark state. America probably will have to depend on Chuck McKinley, 19, St. Louis, and Dennis Ralston, 18, Bakersfield, Calif., in the cup competition next year.

Dischinger hit for 17 field goals, a personal and school record, missing only six shots from the field. He got 11 straight points late in the second half to stamp out a 61-60 Evansville lead. P. M. Sanders paced the small college champs with 23 points.

Kojis' 23 points and the same number of rebounds beat down Iowa State and gave Marquette its fifth victory in six games. Brad Snyder sent Northwestern in front for good with 5:34 to play and led the Wildcats' meager but balanced attack with 10 points. Clint Names scored 20 for the Huskies (3-4).

Mark Dumars, a 5-10 sharpshooter, sparked Penn State with 36 points in a 77-58 victory over Syracuse. Jeff Cohen scored 27 points for William & Mary's 80-50 lacing of winless Virginia. The (5-1), Gary Long and Bellamy Cavaliers are 0-7 this year and choked off a late Notre Dame rally for only the Hoosiers' second victory in the last six games with the Irish. Tom Bolyard's 18 points led Notre Dame.

Victory Is Trademark Of Howell And Chicod Teams

By JOHNNY HUDSON
Reflector Sports Editor

According to Chicod folks, whoever said "It's not whether you win or lose but how you play the game that counts" (Grantland Rice) was talking a lot of hog-wash.

This basketball-breeding community spells V-I-C-T-O-R-Y in capital letters and, in turn, Chicod has been stamped an annual cage powerhouse in Pitt County feuding.

Under Leroy Pittman, who was a Bones McKinney performer of the high schools, and his successor, Bob Howell, the Hornets have reached great heights in past years.

This is no false alarm and Howell is raising no white truce flags from his rural stronghold but the Hornets are going to have to be scrappier than ever to maintain their high respect among the county foes.

Howell, who coaches both the girls and boys teams, finds height his biggest problem, as usual. "They just don't grow them big around here," he means aloud.

He lost two starters from his '60 team which zoomed to a 20-8 mark, reaching the finals in the county tournament and winning one game in the state district playoffs.

Marvin Wilson and Murray Porter are the missing links from this razzle-dazzle club.

Back in the fold are starters Raymond and Roy Fornes, and Ephraim Smith. Ray Harder, who lettered last season, has taken one of the starting slots and Billy Elks, who played very little season, the other. After these five, the pickings are slim.

Speaking of his current 5-4 record (3-1 in the conference), Howell isn't pleased. From his prep days at Greenville, the youthful Chicod coach is accused to winning. "I'm a little disappointed with our play so far," says Howell, "but we have two new men who need a little more experience. I think we will come along."

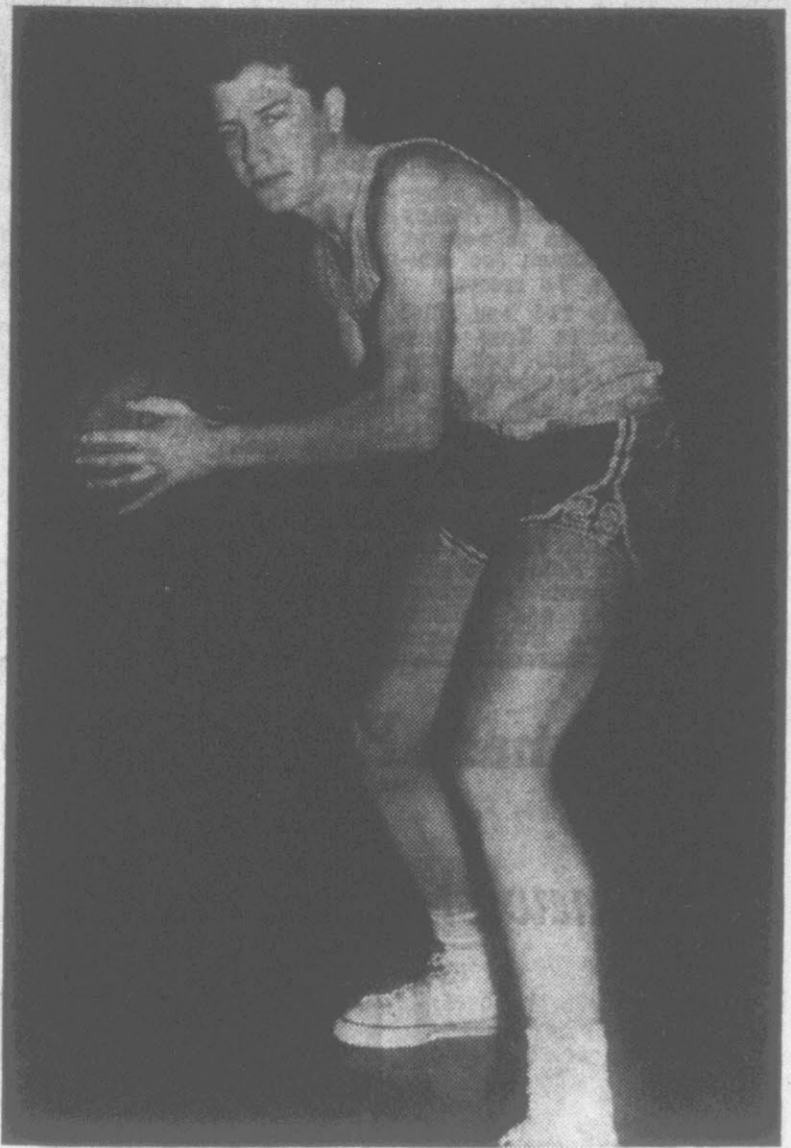

Raymond Fornes needs no introduction. He was All-County last season and is tabbed as a dead-eye Dick with his jump shot. He has drawn more than a glance from several college scouts.

Roy, also a senior, and Smith, a husky junior, can hold their own with the best in the league. Howell figures speed and aggressiveness as being his strongest points. It is the type of club capable of running a weaker foe off the court and battling some of the giants down to the wire.

On the girls' roster, forward Mary Louis Hudson and guard Nancy Jo Dixon, both seniors.

are the only veterans and form the nucleus of Howell's club. The other starting positions will be filled by two sophomores and a couple of freshmen. Pansy Jones, shifted from guard, may develop into one of the better forwards in the league this year, according to Howell. Teaming with Jones and Hudson is Judy Mills. Freshmen guards for the Hornets are Faye Smith and Brenda Dixon.

Devils Take Short Vacation Prior To Trip

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke's football forces have left for a brief vacation before heading for Texas and the Cotton Bowl game with Arkansas Jan. 2.

Before his team broke camp Tuesday, Coach Bill Murray discussed the upcoming contest at a special news conference.

Murray said the Razorbacks were good and Duke would have to be at its best to beat them. "This Arkansas bunch tries to whip you by knocking you down," he said. "They use their strength and speed to go right over you."

Seventh-rated Arkansas, Southwest Conference champ, already has been established a seven-point favorite. Duke, ranked 10th in the final Associated Press poll, won the Atlantic Coast Conference crown but lost its last two games to North Carolina and UCLA.

Murray said, "Arkansas has great team speed, is very aggressive, is strong on kick returns and is the leading defensive outfit in the Southwest Conference."

Murray indicated the outcome of the contest could hinge on mental attitude, especially Duke's. "It's simply a matter that if the underdog team is inspired," he commented, "it will go out and get an upset. If the favored team goes on and does the job it is supposed to do, then it will win."

"I believe our youngsters have real concentrated interest in this game. Spirit and enthusiasm are things no one can tell about, but I think we are in fine mental shape."

After spending Christmas at home, the Blue Devils will reassemble at Durham next Tuesday to fly to San Antonio, Tex. on Dec. 29, they go to Dallas for final workouts.

The Citadel Wins From U. Georgia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
William and Mary's Indians and The Citadel's Bulldogs continue to impress as teams that will have a lot to say about who wins the Southern Conference basketball championship.

In a pair of non-conference games Tuesday night, William and Mary walloped Virginia of the Atlantic Coast Conference 80-50 and the Bulldogs whipped Georgia Southern 90-84.

By winning, The Citadel ran its overall record to 6-2, while William and Mary—which took over the Virginia Big Five leadership—is 5-2.

The Citadel's Gary Daniels had the better of it in his duel with William and Mary's Jeff Cohen for the conference scoring lead. Daniels poured in 38 points against Georgia Southern, while Cohen tallied 27.

Reserve Charlie Madrazo sparked a Bulldog 12-point spurt that snapped a 53-53 deadlock with 15 minutes left. He scored six of the points himself. Daniels, besides his scoring, hauled down 17 rebounds.

Only one other Southern Conference team will see action before next week, Virginia Tech's front-running Gobblers have a date Thursday night in Salem, Va., against South Carolina of the ACC.

Warmath Happy At Minnesota Position

By JIM KLOBUCHAR
PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Minnesota Coach Murray Warmath, a man badgered and reviled for three years, has related why he endured humiliation and abuse to accept a job no one thought he could hold.

"I'm proud of being the Minnesota football coach," he said Tuesday in an emotional half-hour interview with Rose Bowl reporters. "I consider it the No. 1 coaching job in the country."

"I've been invited to take other jobs when times were good," he said, "and I've been asked to leave when they weren't so good."

"I'm not a vindictive man," he continued, his fingers gripping hard against a chair. "I'm not mad at anybody of these people. 'Nobody is knocking down the door to offer me a contact. I haven't been approached. I'm happy to stay at Minnesota. If I weren't, I wouldn't have stayed this long."

There have been rumors that Warmath has been asked to accept another coaching job, presumably with a Southern team.

Warmath's comments on his personal situation came as a postscript to a free-wheeling size-up of what lies ahead in the Rose Bowl against Washington.

"I don't know if you can ever get a bowl football team into a state of emotional readiness to match their peak of the regular season," he said. "This is a wonderful experience for the boys, but there are a lot of distractions. They're always looking over fences."

"They say they want to win the game more than anything in the world. They may mean it. But the adrenalin just doesn't flow like it should."

"I saw one exception to that, and that was Washington in its Rice Bowl game against Wisconsin last year. If Washington was any better than that during the season, I would have liked to have seen them."

Warmath's Gophers launched twice-daily drills Tuesday, accenting conditioning and timing for the Jan. 2 game.

Except for minor injuries to reserve guards Bob McNeil and Vince Marozzi, the Gophers are in top shape.

SF Coach Gets New Contract
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Coach Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers got a new three-year contract Wednesday at a boost in salary for doing what a pro football coach should: win games.

Owner Vic Morabito signed Hickey to a pact and an undisclosed salary figure, the terms extending through the 1963 National Football League season.

Hickey had identical 7-5 records in his two seasons as 49ers head man and his team this year finished tied for second in the Western Division with Detroit.

His original 1959 contract still had a year on it.

SIGN MCKAY
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The University of Southern California has signed John McKay to a three-year contract as head football coach, Dr. Norman Topping, president, announced Tuesday. No salary figure was mentioned.

Jockey Bill Hartack holds the record for the most stake victories in one year—43 in 1937.

Eagles Hope For Dry Field

By GEORGE ESPER
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Coach Buck Shaw of the Philadelphia Eagles says he hopes for a dry field Monday in the National Football League title game at Franklin Field against Green Bay.

As he cast a long eye toward the weather, Shaw explained that a muddy field would give the Green Bay Packers an advantage "because of their overall running and blocking."

While he conceded that the Eagles have never had a good blocking team, Shaw called the Packers "the best in the league."

"The better the field, the better we can operate," he said, adding that the Eagles' passing by quarterback Norm van Brocklin "far overshadows our running."

Shaw also was quick to point out that generally the Eagles' offensive line has given Van Brocklin plenty good protection.

He indicated that the Packers probably wouldn't go overboard on blitzing, or rushing in line-backers, on Van Brocklin.

4-3 setup. When a team feels they're not capable they do a lot of crazy things defensively. But the Packers have a good, substantial defensive team and whatever they show you, they usually do. They don't start playing around such as Washington did against us last week."

Shaw said he was well pleased with the Eagles' one-hour practice session in Philadelphia Stadium Tuesday which was devoted entirely to offense, particularly passing. Shaw said he might in "They play a pretty standard defense," Shaw said, "normally a on tap for today. Defense will be emphasized in drills Thursday and Friday with a light workout on both scheduled for Saturday. The Eagles will have Christmas Day off.

Shaw reported that physically the team was in pretty good shape with the exception of linebacker Bob Pellegrini, fullback Clarence Peaks and offensive tackle J. D. Smith.

Pellegrini is definitely out. He underwent a knee operation Tuesday for the injury suffered against Washington in the final game Sunday.

Shaw said, however, that he expected to have Smith, who suffered a badly cut finger against Washington, ready for full offensive duty.

Peaks, who suffered a fractured bone above his right ankle Nov. 13 probably will be ready for spot duty, Shaw said. The big fullback has been running in drills.

"If they blitz," Shaw explained, "I'll stall a few new plays. More of the same non-contact work was Browns.

"Peaks would be the guy that would have to block the blitzing linebacker."

Place Seven On Eastern Squad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles, Eastern Conference winners in the National Football League, have placed seven players on the Eastern squad that will meet a picked Western team in the Pro Bowl game here Jan. 15.

The New York Giants and the Cleveland Browns also have seven players each on the squad, which was chosen by coaches and writers who covered NFL games.

Norman Van Brocklin of the Eagles was selected as the quarterback. The offensive backfield includes Jim Brown of Cleveland, the league's leading ground gainer; Tommy McDonald of the Eagles and Bobby Mitchell of the Browns.

Webb Hoping To Redeem Himself

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Max Webb, who has been a hero and a goat this season, hopes to make up for his last play in the Southwest Conference campaign when Rice meets Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl Jan. 2.

The Rice backfield stalwart became a goat when he let Ronnie Goodwin of Baylor get behind him, catch a pass and score the touchdown that cost Rice a share in the conference title and slipped it into a three-way tie for second place.

"If I didn't have this bowl to redeem myself, I believe I would have hopped a freighter to China after the game," Webb said.

"When the ball sailed over my head into Goodwin's hands, I wished I could have lied that instant."

But if Webb hadn't been the goat in the 12-7 Baylor victory he would have been the hero.

The Owls were leading, 7-6 when Goodwin faked the 185-pound Navasota, Tex., halfback out of position. Webb kicked the extra point that put Rice ahead and apparently had the game won for them.

But he also played the hero several times this year.

He kicked a 27-yard field goal that beat Tulane, 10-7. He kicked a 49-yard field goal—the longest college field goal in the nation this year—against Texas Christian. He ran hard and blocked well all season.

And he was the player who intercepted a pass in the Rice end zone in the final moments of play, with 72,000 people screaming, to choke off a Texas threat and give Rice a 7-0 victory.

Finley Given Final Approval

BOSTON (AP)—The final stamp of approval has been given Charles Finley as majority stockholder in the Kansas City Athletics by a unanimous vote of the American League club owners.

The verdict was announced Tuesday night by American League President Joe Cronin.

Finley, a Chicago insurance executive, had out-bid a Kansas City group by $125,000 for the controlling 52 per cent A's stock left in the estate of the late Arnold Johnson. Finley paid $1,975,000.

Brocklin Wins Bert Bell Award

No Santa Claus In Fidel's Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — No, Maria, there is no Santa Claus. Not in Fidel Castro's Cuba this year. Santa vanished along with good will toward the United States, another victim of Castro's anti-American blizzard. The more typically Cuban gift-bearers, the Three Kings arrive as usual Jan. 6. Good children will awaken to find toys from Communist China and Czechoslovakia. The displacement of Saint Nick by Uncle Nikita is evident elsewhere on the Christmas landscape. Many Cubans will sit down Christmas Day to turkey brought from the Soviet Union. But for many Cubans, it won't seem like Christmas without their traditional lechon—roast pork—garnished with rice and black beans. Shoppers report lechon scarce.

An underground newspaper mocked the shortage: "For the first time the Cuban peasant won't eat lechon for Christmas. Gendemen, how good communism is." Black beans are also hard to find. There are no apples and grapes—popular holiday fare. But the government promises Czechoslovakia will send the fruit for the holidays. In addition to food shortages, bitterness and personal unhappiness hang over this second revolutionary Christmas. On the night before Christmas—and throughout the holiday season—not an anti-Castro Cuban is to stir in celebration. They have quietly adopted a protest policy of nonobservance, except for a toy or two for the kids. The mass exodus of Cubans unable or unwilling to live under Castro has left many families broken for the holidays.

President-Elect Favors Physical Fitness Program

NEW YORK (AP)—A four-point program of physical fitness aimed principally at the nation's youth is proposed by President-elect John F. Kennedy to be put in operation when his administration takes office. In a copyrighted article in Sports Illustrated, Kennedy wrote that a growing softness in Americans "is a menace to our security as well as our ability to live up to the challenges which lie ahead." He suggested establishment of a White House committee on health and fitness to carry out a program to improve the physical fitness of the nation; place physical fitness of youth under direct responsibility of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; invite governors of every state to attend an annual national youth fitness congress; and to proclaim through all government departments that promotion of sports participation and physical fitness is a basic and continuing policy of the United States.

Want No Women Tending Bars

ALTON, Ill. (AP)—An amendment to the liquor control law which would have permitted women to tend bar has been rejected by the City Council. It decided they couldn't maintain order. Gerald Dalton, business agent of the Hotel & Restaurant Employees & Bartenders local, said he felt that if the amendment were enacted in three months 50 per cent of the men bartenders would lose their jobs.

'Book Tree' Again Used By Library

If you want to take in all the local Christmas decorations, don't overlook the Sheppard Memorial Library's "book tree." The Christmas tree, decorated with jackets from recently published books, cut into Christmas shapes and sizes, has been used as a decoration there for about six years. It's continued popularity has made it one of the highlights of displays. Miss Elizabeth Copeland, librarian, says. The tree is a real spruce, incidentally. Other displays throughout the library feature the unusual, the religious and the merrier of themes, as well as the special display of Christmas books. Another unusual decoration is a fish bowl containing a small white church in the snow. By their own special formula, staff members of the library have "prepared" the snow so that it rises and falls in the water continually. (The special formula was not divulged.) A religious display featuring the Bible, opened at the Christmas story, is just inside the entrance. White poinsettias, generally a symbol of the star of Bethlehem, and candelabra, symbolizing lights, are used against a background of dark blue. Another religious display is the traditional manger scene. The mantels at either end of the large downstairs reading rooms feature pine, holly and red candles in candelabras at either end.

Scout Executive Talks To Club

AYDEN—Rudy Alexander, scout executive of Pitt County, pointed out the necessity of the scouting program and described its operation for members of the Ayden Lions Club at their recent meeting. Today's youngsters have less attention and guidance from parents, he said, "than children of yesterday." This problem, in many cases, is a result of both parents having jobs. The scouting program will train and discipline children, so that when they have to take responsibility as an adult, some of the training will make them more rounded individuals, Alexander said. The speaker was introduced by C. O. Pratt. During the business session, Christmas baskets for the blind were discussed and arranged. Dixie Cannon, chairman of the blind committee, was commended for his concern and interest in the project.

Only 'Survivor' Buried Tuesday

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Stephen Baltz, 11, who for some 24 hours was the only survivor of last Friday's tragic air collision over New York, was buried Tuesday. Ironically, an airliner, dived above the snow-covered pine trees in Memorial Park Cemetery in suburban Skokie as the boy's body was lowered into a grave. Stephen died of burns and injuries Saturday, the 135th victim of the crash of two airliners. He was among the 84 passengers on one of the planes. Stephen was buried after simple services in the Methodist Church where he was baptized and in whose boys choir he sang. Three hundred persons filled the church. The Rev. Dr. Harold Bosley said: "Birth and death are part of God's plan. . . . Love and loss go hand in hand." The pastor made no mention of the air disaster. There were some tears among the mourners and a few muffled sobs. But Stephen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Baltz, and his sister, Rande, 9, sat dry-eyed and soberly attentive. His younger brother, William, 4, did not attend the services.

FOOD FOR 90 MILLION NEW YORK (AP)—The American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service reports that religious and other non-profit agencies in the United States since 1950 have sent nine billion pounds of surplus foods worth a billion dollars to some 90 million needy people in 82 countries.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' administration, hit by new federal court action, today seeks House passage of a controversial sales tax raise pegged to the school integration fight.

The $28-million tax increase hits the house floor in a four-bill package under top priority. The Senate returns at 7 p.m. to act on the House.

The bill would raise the two per cent tax to three per cent throughout the state for eight months starting Jan. 1. Some cities, which now have a three per cent levy, would then have a four per cent tax.

Backers of the tax raise claimed it is needed for the state's program to keep white children from going to school with Negroes. The number of opponents among the 101 state representatives is unknown.

As a tax raise, the measure needs a two-thirds majority in each chamber of the Legislature. This means 68 votes in the House

Alleged Unable To Recall Details

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bing Crosby's son Dennis was too much under the influence of liquor to remember details of a romance with a divorcee, says her attorney in a paternity suit.

Nine women and three men jurors were picked Tuesday to hear Marilyn Miller Scott's action against the crooner's singing son.

The tall divorcee, 28, wants Dennis, 26, declared the father of her daughter, Denise Michelle, 3. He says he isn't.

Mrs. Scott's lawyer, Milton Zernin, told the jury he expects to present evidence showing that when she and Dennis met in 1956 Dennis often drank more than 15 cocktails or highballs an evening.

Dennis was married in 1958 to former showgirl Pat Sheehan, 28. They have a son, Dennis Jr., 20 months, and Crosby adopted her son, Gregory, 9, by a former marriage.

and 20 in the Senate. Revenues from the tax would be dedicated to grants in aid to parents who wish to send their children to private school cooperatives.

In New Orleans Tuesday, U.S. Atty. M. Heppburn Many requested contempt citations against three top Louisiana officials.

Many contended House Speaker Tom Jewell, Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock, and Education Supt. Shelby Jackson were in contempt when they refused to pay employees at two New Orleans schools integrated by federal order.

Many also asked that Secretary of State Wade Martin be enjoined from refusing to certify the reelection of Matthew Sutherland to the Orleans Parish School Board. Sutherland defeated three segregationists for the school board post. He ran on a platform of keeping schools open, even if integrated. The Legislature has withdrawn the right of New Orleans voters to elect their own board.

Two New Orleans city councilmen criticized Davis for putting a segregation tag on the one-cent sales tax raise.

New Orleans City Councilman Fred Cassidy said the tax raise would be a "harsh, unfair tax on the people of Louisiana who are least able to pay."

And Councilman Theodore Hickey called Davis "a banjo-playing liar" for trying to raise taxes in the name of segregation. Louis M. Riecke Sr., president of the Orleans School Board ousted by the Legislature, said both the Legislature and private sources had promised money to meet Orleans school payrolls.

The Legislature has refused to recognize the school board since Nov. 14, when two New Orleans elementary schools were integrated, and has cut off the board's funds.

The familiar pattern continued Tuesday at the two integrated schools, William Frantz and McDonogh No. 19.

Eight white children and one Negro attended classes at Frantz, and three Negroes were alone at McDonogh.

Liberals Cheer Plug To Cut Senate Civil Right Debates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Liberals of both parties cheered today President-elect John F. Kennedy's plug for Senate action to curb civil rights filibusters.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Kennedy's statement Tuesday in Palm Beach, Fla., that he feels a simple majority of senators should be able to limit debate "gives our cause a tremendous boost."

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N. J., called Kennedy's stand heartening. He said in a separate interview it is "consistent with the Democratic party platform" as well as with Republican campaign pledges to make every effort to change the existing rule.

Hart is one of about 40 Democratic senators invited by Sens. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and Joseph S. Clark Jr., D-Pa., to caucus Dec. 30 to organize a new attack on the Senate's so-called filibuster rule.

As the rule stands, two-thirds of those voting must approve before debate can be limited on civil rights or other measures.

day that Kennedy's comment Clark said in a statement Tuesday that Kennedy's comment should provide "a shot in the arm" for efforts to change the rule.

"I predict that we will succeed in restoring majority rule in the Senate in 1961," he said.

Kennedy told a news conference he and Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson agree that it is up to the Senate to decide what changes, if any, it wants to make in the rule.

But Kennedy added he feels it should be possible for a simple majority of senators to shut off debate. This is consistent with his Senate record.

Two years ago Kennedy joined Democratic and Republican liberals who sought to make such a change. They lost, 67-28. He also was on the losing side of a 58-36 vote on a proposal to permit three-fifths of those voting to limit debate.

Hart said that while he would prefer a debate limitation invoked by a majority of those voting, as Kennedy suggested, he personally would be willing to settle for something less. He said he would regard as satisfactory a rule under which 51 members—a majority of all elected senators—could cut off debate.

Hart and other Democratic liberals are expected to support an effort at the opening of the new Congress to adopt new Senate rules by a majority vote under a procedure by which a majority of those participating could halt any filibustering efforts.

These Democrats, backed by Case and other liberal Republicans, contend the Senate is not a continuing body and, like the House, must approve its rules at the start of each congress.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, on presiding till Jan. 20, supports this position. So does Kennedy.

But nobody involved believes a Senate majority would approve any such ruling. In fact, 54 present members of the Senate—including Johnson—went on record two years ago against it.

Despite the prospect of failure, Case said the liberals should go ahead with their move.

Families Taking Homeless Boys Home For Holidays

LAKE WACCAMAW N.C. (AP)—"Mr. Mack, I didn't think anything like that would ever happen to me."

just been told they would spend the Christmas holidays in Florida. "Mr. Mack" is R. N. (Rube) McCray, a former college football coach who is director of Boys Home of North Carolina on the shores of Lake Waccamaw.

Lyman, from Salisbury, and Fleming, from Carthage, were invited by two North Carolina families to spend the holidays in Florida. They were picked from the home's 32 boys because "we just thought they needed the trip more than anybody else," McCray explained.

Wayne and Robert won't leave their 30 "brothers" behind. All the boys depart Friday to spend the holidays with families. "We have more invitations for the holidays than we have boys," the genial McCray said.

James Lamm of Wilson will spend the vacation with a Conway, S.C., minister. The rest will visit in North Carolina.

McCray feels the annual Christmas visit is a big thing in the lives of the neglected, homeless and underprivileged who live at Boys Home. He also believes the completeness of the plan is something unique among such homes.

Each boy will visit with a different family, except for Bobby and Larry Holbrook. The home's only brothers, they will return to their native Statesville to visit the same family.

Before they depart, a Christmas party will be held Thursday night. A big tree adorns the home's administration building. Gifts have flowed in from across North Carolina.

Last-Minute Shopper Is Really Savoring Yuletide

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—A little soft music, professor, while we hymn "The Last-Minute Shopper."

The last-minute shopper has become a kind of public enemy. We are all warned against becoming one, as if one who shopped at the last moment was a pariah or a community menace or a typhoid carrier.

"Don't be a last-minute Christmas shopper!" the placards cry. At the risk of winning new enemies and influencing no old friends, we would like to ask, "Why not?"

The world is pretty well divided into two classes—the season jumper and the last-minute shopper. Frankly, if we have to choose between the two, we'll take the last-minute shopper every time.

The season jumper is a guy who takes our competitive society too literally. He always has to be first in everything; he must always be ahead of the other fellow.

He turns the calendar upside down. Christmas is already over for the season jumper. To him Santa Claus is a Johnny-come-lately. He already had his Christmas weeks or months ago.

Now the last-minute shopper is quite another breed. He may become aware of a holiday late, but with him it's better late than never.

And he savors to the full the atmosphere of celebration. To him Christmas is a group feeling of enjoyment. It is not, as it is with the nervous season jumper, a hollow lonely personal victory over time and tide.

Your last-minute shopper meets Christmas while it is still here. He does not confuse it with Memorial Day. He admires the decorations, loves the tuneful carols. He is living in the yuletide now.

He is not fretting about how to celebrate Washington's birthday. The last-minute shopper, contrary to public belief, isn't a frantic prisoner of ultimate urgency. He is just a leisurely mortal who doesn't like to be rushed off his feet by needless hurry.

After all, the stores stay open to please the last-minute shoppers. They welcome his business.

Crop Expected To Hike Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—A winter wheat crop of 1,034,406,000 bushels next year was forecast Tuesday by the Agriculture Department.

A crop of this size would help add to a record surplus already in existence.

Such a crop would be 7 per cent smaller than this year's crop but nearly one-fourth larger than average and the fifth largest production of record.

The department made no forecast of the crop to be seeded in the spring. Should it equal this year's production of 246,000,246 million bushels, total wheat production next year would be about 1,280,000,000 bushels.

This year's crop was 1,363,000,000 bushels. The 1961 crop will be supplemented by a reserve and surplus of 1,525,000,000 bushels, most of it held by the government under price support operations.

The acreage seeded to the 1961 winter wheat crop, the percentage such acreage represented of the 1960 crop, and the indicated production, respectively, by states included: Virginia 270,000 acres seeded to the 1961 crop; 98 per cent of the 1960 crop acreage, and the production 6,480,000 bushels; North Carolina 405,000; 110 and 8,910,000; South Carolina 160,000; 105 and 3,520,000; Georgia 97,000; 98 and 1,843,000; Tennessee 171,000; 105 and 3,249,000.

Payton Assigned Central Prison

RALEIGH (AP)—Union leader Boyd Payton, brought from the Lincoln County prison unit to Raleigh to take a lie detector test last week, has been reassigned to Central Prison here.

Prison Director George Randall said Payton has been classified a clerk in the Vocational Education School. Randall explained this was in keeping with Payton's health record, intelligence and ability.

Payton, Carolina's director of the Textile Workers Union of America, originally was on a highway gang working out of the Lincoln County unit. However, Randall said his health rating does not permit physical labor.

Payton began in October to serve a six-to-10-year sentence imposed after he and seven other unionists were convicted of conspiring to dynamite and burn vital installations of struck Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills at Henderson.

In a daring attempt to convince state parole authorities he was innocent, Payton asked for and took a lie detector test.

The test examiner concluded from the results that Payton was trying to deceive him and further said he felt Payton contributed directly or indirectly to the conspiracy.

House Probers Fire Final Criticisms At 2 Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House subcommittee that exposed the TV quiz show scandals has fired a parting salvo of criticism at the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It was learned Tuesday night that the House subcommittee on legislative oversight, which goes out of business Jan. 3, adopted the critical report of its staff at a secret meeting Friday. The report is to be made public today.

Rep. Steven B. DeRoan, R-N.Y., was one of several subcommittee members who protested making the report public. DeRoan called it "unfair, unjust and beneath the dignity of a congressional committee supposed to be seeking the facts."

"It isn't very American," DeRoan added, "for the committee to make the report public without first holding hearings to determine whether the charges are true and give the people concerned their day in court."

There was no immediate comment from CAB or ICC spokesmen.

The charges in the report were in general terms and made few specific allegations against individuals. Among subcommittee charges:

1. The ICC was lax in renewing the operating certificate of Interstate Dress Carriers, Inc., a New York truck company that hauls garments, despite the company's long history of violations of ICC regulations.

2. Alleged close relations between a trucking trade association and ICC officials in Texas and alleged favored treatment for the association in enforcing regulations. No names of companies or individuals were specified except for last names of some ICC personnel and others in several letters quoted by the subcommittee report.

3. The CAB's findings of probable cause of air accidents "are conditioned on the effect such findings may have on the promotion of civil aviation." Also, the CAB takes too long to decide economic proceedings before it and certain CAB officials have received "unusual hospitality from air carriers."

The subcommittee, under Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., made headlines in the past two quiz show scandals, payola practices in broadcasting, and alleged backdoor influences on members of the Federal Power Commission. Among its recommendations, the report placed high priority on a proposal that TV and radio networks, as well as individual stations, be licensed and regulated by the government.

Congress rejected bills that would have put this into effect at its last session on grounds that there had been no hearings on the views of opponents or advocates of the legislation.

Under terms of the special resolution creating it, the subcommittee goes out of business Jan. 3. Subcommittee members reportedly have agreed not to ask that its term be extended or renewed.

Maynard's only town clock is high in a tower of a one-time wooler mill now owned by an industrial development organization. Patrick Murray, one of the clock's three custodians, says, "Each week, when you climb 124 steps to reach the clock, eight stories in the air, you have to sit down 10 minutes before you can do anything."

Then he says, you have to turn one crank 330 times to wind up the weight operating the striking mechanism, and another crank 90 times to wind the clock. That makes 420 cranks.

A Lot Of Cranks To Keep It Going

MAYNARD, Mass. (AP) — It takes a lot of cranks to keep an old-fashioned town clock running.

State Patrolman Clem Weichman stopped to investigate a stolen auto one night. He turned on the come light of his car to make out a report.

Suddenly there was a loud thump. Weichman found that a teal duck had landed on the hood of the patrol car. The patrolman theorized the duck mistook the reflected light for a pond and made a landing. The duck died.

Fatal Landing For Stray Duck

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP) — State Patrolman Clem Weichman stopped to investigate a stolen auto one night. He turned on the come light of his car to make out a report.

Suddenly there was a loud thump. Weichman found that a teal duck had landed on the hood of the patrol car. The patrolman theorized the duck mistook the reflected light for a pond and made a landing. The duck died.

More Than Usual 'Color' Involved

DOLORES, Colo. (AP) — Guests of the dude ranch in southwestern Colorado operated by the three Roscio brothers get more than the usual dose of Old West local color.

Ten of the 25 guest units at the ranch are buildings used as dwellings or saloons at Dunton, once a lovely mining settlement that became a ghost village more than 40 years ago.

Two of the old saloons have been converted into cabins and a third is now a tavern complete with bar stools. Near by is an old dance hall, still intact, that is used for public dances occasionally. It has a bullet hole in the floor from wilder and freer days.

The brothers, Emilio, Charles and Joe Jr., are the sons of the late Joe Roscio, who came to Dunton the year it opened, 1885.

Trapped In Fire Six Long Hours

NEW YORK (AP) — Six hours alone, trapped in a ship that had become a steel furnace, that, says John Woytovich, 57, is being "very, very alone."

Woytovich, a chunky electrician from Brooklyn, Tuesday told the story of his ordeal Monday aboard the aircraft carrier Constellation.

When fire broke out he was three decks below with a crew working on a refrigeration unit. He helped the other men out of the compartment first, then became lost in the blinding, choking smoke as he tried to follow.

"Somehow I ended up in a chain locker," he said. "I felt a draft around my ankles. There was air down there, so I lay down on my stomach with my face against this vent. That's what saved my life."

"I wanted to be home for Christmas and . . . I'm going to be now. It's just a miracle. Lord knows, I lay there and prayed for one."

By the time rescue workers got Woytovich out, he was purple in the face from the heat, but Tuesday night his condition was described as good.

He had lived in Greenville and Atlantic Beach for the past several years, and was a member of the Greenville Christian Science Church.

Surviving are his mother; a sister, Mrs. L. B. Redditt of Greenville; and two nieces, Miss Nina Belle Redditt of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. H. P. Streep of Moffett Field, California.

A native of Greenville, he was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1931 with a degree of B.S. in commerce. He later specialized in marketing at Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and in 1937 was awarded the degree of master in business administration "with high distinction." For a year after graduation he was a member of the research staff of Harvard Business School.

Sugg joined Reynolds Tobacco in 1956 as manager of marketing research. He came to the company from General Foods Corporation, where he was assistant director of corporate marketing. He had been employed by General Foods since 1946.

Prior to that, he was with Proctor & Gamble for six years, rising from retail salesman to a brand manager in the advertising and promotion department, and later to supervisor of all printed word media for soaps, shortening, and drug items.

New Discoverer Satellite Orbits The World Today

VANDEMBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Discoverer XIX is in orbit today to take the earth's temperature. This knowledge will help future Midas satellites detect any hostile missile firings by reporting flashes of heat above the normal level.

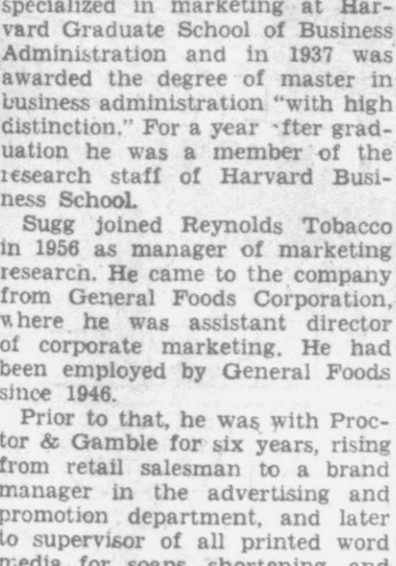

The 81-foot two-stage Discoverer rocketed southward through scattered clouds from its seaside launching pad Tuesday afternoon. The 25-foot, 2,100-pound second stage went into a 93-minute egg-shaped polar orbit 130 to 400 miles out.

Other Discoverers have carried a recoverable capsule but not this one. Instead, it has a load of electronic gear to measure the earth's normal heat radiation.

Forthcoming Midas — missile defense alarm system — space craft will have infrared "eyes" to spot the heat of enemy launchings. Eight to 12 Midases will provide continuous coverage of the world's surface.

Scientists say they must know exactly how much background infrared light is reflected by the earth to Midas satellites so they can accurately tell whether a hostile missile has been fired.

Multiple Midases blanketing the globe could relay almost instant warning to alert target areas up to 30 minutes in advance of an atomic strike—the time it takes an intercontinental missile to fly full course.

Castro Cabinet Moves Against Supreme Court

HAVANA (AP) — The Cabinet today began warring the "surgical knife" Prime Minister Fidel Castro threatened for Cuba's judiciary because of its lack of revolutionary spirit.

A Cabinet decree suspended for 45 days the law preventing the removal of judges and authorized President Osvaldo Dorticos and Cabinet ministers to fire and reassign all judicial officers.

It also sliced the number of Supreme Court judges from 31 to 15 and eliminated from Supreme Court jurisdiction certain matters.

Supreme Court President Emilio Menendez, who took refuge in the Argentine Embassy last month, was escorted out of the country to exile Monday. He had accused the government of totalitarian practices.

Small Venezuela Revolt Crushed

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A "pocket revolt" against the government of President Romulo Betancourt was crushed today.

The insurrection was led by a lieutenant and 20 men. The rebel leader, identified officially as Lt. Lisardo Marquez Perez, took by surprise one of the national guard posts which dominate the port of Aguaira, 10 miles from Caracas.

The insurgent leader was said to have been a fugitive wanted for past rightist rebel activities.

Reports said Marquez Perez seized the post early this morning. He and his command were captured on the Caracas-La Guaira highway when they tried to reach the capital by car.

Official sources said the apparent purpose of the rebels was to reach the prison in Caracas where a number of military officials and police of the former dictatorship of Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez are serving terms.

Caracas was calm and most of the population went to work unaware of what was happening.

Betancourt's government earlier this month put down violent demonstrations from the left in this capital.

Leftists staged a week of rioting in Caracas in hopes unrest would spread and force formation of a government modeled on Fidel Castro's Cuban regime.

The rioting was bottled up in Caracas by army troops and police loyal to Betancourt's moderate socialist government. Eleven persons were killed in the disturbances. They ended Dec. 2 when students holding out in a Caracas University building dubbed "Stalingrad" surrendered to a government force supported by tanks.

Delay Installing New Fire Boxes

AYDEN — A delay in procurement of wiring has caused temporary postponement of installation of six new fire boxes here.

Town Manager Cleveland Paylor said the boxes probably will be installed at six strategic points in town about the first of the year.

More new fire boxes will be added later, in a general plan of expansion, Paylor noted.

Rites Thursday For Mrs. J. Kelly Moore

Mrs. Rosa Moore, 53, widow of J. Kelly Moore, died in Duke Hospital in Durham at 8:30 Tuesday morning. She was accidentally burned while burning trash at her home near Beargrass on Thursday, Dec. 14, and had been in a critical condition since that time.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Rose of Sharon Free Will Baptist Church near Beargrass at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon by the Rev. C. D. Hamilton, and burial will be in the Moberly cemetery. The body will remain at the Wilkerson Funeral Home until Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Moore spent all her life in the Beargrass community and was a member of the Rose of Sharon Free Will Baptist Church. She is survived by three sons, James K. and Willie R. Moore of Newport News, and H. M. 3 Fred H. Moore of the U.S. Navy, now stationed aboard the U.S.S. Wasp; four daughters, Mrs. Clyde Barber of Williamston, Mrs. Mamie Clyde Griffin and Mrs. Louise Mantis of Newport News, and Mrs. Kenneth Lettling of Camp Lejeune; 10 grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. George Padgett of Darboro; and a brother, Joe Henry Webb of Williamston.

Winter Arrives With Rain, Here

Old man winter made his official entrance today, bringing widespread rain for the Greenville and Pitt County area. Temperatures, however, climbed to the 50's and were moderately warm.

The weatherman has forecast continued rain, possibly changing to snow spreading into this area, but unless the temperatures drop considerably and wind direction changes, chances are that there will be no snow here.

The temperatures today ranged from 53 degrees at 4 a.m., the usual cold time, to 55 at 8 a.m., dropping slightly to 53 at 12 noon, J. M. Fleming of the Utilities Plant said.

Tuesday's temperatures ranged from a low of 30 to a high of 49 degrees.

The barometer has been dropping steadily since last night and was standing at 29.7 as of noon today. Winds are out of the southwest, from five to fifteen miles per hour.

The weatherman is still saying that the temperatures here will drop, with Thursday being much colder and clearing.

The Tar River level was 4.8 feet this morning, Fleming said.

Mother Of Greenville Man Died Tuesday

SMITHFIELD — Mrs. Junius Peterson, mother of W. E. Peterson, 300 Jarvis St., Greenville, died suddenly Tuesday morning about 9 o'clock at her home in Smithfield.

She was the widow of Junius Peterson, who died several years ago.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 11 a.m. at the Smithfield Methodist Church. The body will remain at Underwood Funeral Home until one hour prior to the funeral. Burial will follow services in Sunset Memorial Park here.

The Cornell University Laboratory of Ornithology has more than 4,000 tape recordings of the calls of more than 600 species of birds.

Items Missing After Break-In

Some candy, chewing gum and cigarettes were reported missing from the Griffon Country Club building following a break-in last weekend.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said the break-in was reported Monday morning.

The intruders broke a glass to gain entrance to the small building, he said.

Sheriff's deputies and the Griffon Police Department are investigating.

The plant from which pepper comes is a climbing vine native to the Indo-Malayan region. It is unrelated to either sweet or hot garden peppers.

The weatherman has forecast continued rain, possibly changing to snow spreading into this area, but unless the temperatures drop considerably and wind direction changes, chances are that there will be no snow here.

The temperatures today ranged from 53 degrees at 4 a.m., the usual cold time, to 55 at 8 a.m., dropping slightly to 53 at 12 noon, J. M. Fleming of the Utilities Plant said.

Tuesday's temperatures ranged from a low of 30 to a high of 49 degrees.

The barometer has been dropping steadily since last night and was standing at 29.7 as of noon today. Winds are out of the southwest, from five to fifteen miles per hour.

The weatherman is still saying that the temperatures here will drop, with Thursday being much colder and clearing.

The Tar River level was 4.8 feet this morning, Fleming said.
