SANFORD PLEDGES MAJOR EDUCATION DRIVE

Color And Glamor At The Grand Inaugural Ball

FORM "N. C."—Sponsors at the Inaugural Ball were introduced individually and then took their places to form a figure on the floor. Governor-elect Terry Sanford and Mrs. Sanford led the grand march of high ranking state officials through the figure. Following this the dance began. (See other photos on Pages 3 and 5).

Declares His 'New Day' Not For Faint Of Heart

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Terry Sanford today dedicated his incoming administration to the promise that North Carolina public education must be lifted to the top of the national ladder. In his inaugural address which marked the official dawning of the "New Day" period would be "no age for the faint of heart." Repeating a key campaign statement, Sanford said, "If it takes more taxes to give our children this quality education, we must face that fact and provide the money." Sanford, speaking to a festive inaugural audience here shortly after taking his oath of office, devoted his prepared talk to general statements rather than specific programs. These will come next month when he addresses the General Assembly. Through three arduous campaigns, two for the Democratic nomination and one in the general election, the 43-year-old Sanford pledged his administration would bring a "New Day" to North Carolina. He campaigned chiefly on a proposal to pump an additional $50 million a year into the state's public school coffers. He also espoused a moderate course in the school integration - segregation problems, and promised to continue programs of industrial and agricultural development. He touched on all these in his inaugural address. "We are not going to forget," Sanford said, "that no group of our citizens can be denied the right to participate in the opportunities of first-class citizenship." He praised outgoing Gov. Luther H. Hodges for his work in industrial progress and for his policy of moderation after the U.S. Supreme Court's 1954 school integration decision. He also brought in the name of the late W. Kerr Scott, former governor and U.S. senator with whom Sanford — as a young Fayetteville attorney — was closely associated. Sanford said the "New Day" acknowledges the life of Hodges. "Where energy paved the road of industrial development, and whose calm skill steered us through the threatened storms of racial strife to the shores of wisdom," Sanford listed what he called three points of greatest economic emphasis: "Lifting farm income, expanding industry and developing new industry, and properly using, conserving, developing our water resources, which we have been given in such abundance and which in turn will contribute to the industrial and agricultural pursuits." He promised his administration "will demonstrate that I believe in the future of farming and that I have carried on with the Kerr Scott fervor." Economy and educational improvement, said Sanford, are partners in the growth of North Carolina. "While quality education is the rock upon which I will build the house of my administration," he said, "we are not going to fall into the error of thinking that this, or any other single emphasis, will alone build a better North Carolina." "Education supports the economy but education must be supported by the economy. As we work for quality in education we must at the same time work just as boldly for broader opportunities to lift the income of our people. "Our goal is not only full development of the talents of our children, but also the creation of an expanding economy which will give everyone a chance to make a better living." Sanford said North Carolina stands "at the head of the South." He cautioned, however, the state must continue to progress. "I want North Carolina to move into the mainstream of America and to strive to become the leading state of the nation," he said. Sanford, linking his administration with the new national Democratic administration, said, "As the dynamic leadership of President John F. Kennedy moves us into the new frontiers of a changing world, we will accept for North Carolina our responsibilities as citizens of the most powerful nation in the world, the last hope of the free world. We pledge to march with President Kennedy." Sanford called Tar Heel citizens "to put aside partisan differences, to turn our backs on those things which divide us and join hands on those things which can help us grow great. I promise to do this. "North Carolina is on the march. We are going forward. We will continue to march forward."

Experts Hampered By Radioactivity At Accident Site

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Nuclear experts gingerly probed within a silo-shaped building today, seeking the cause—and nature—of an atomic reactor explosion that killed three young servicemen. They were hampered by radioactivity so dangerously high that each could safely remain inside the structure little more than a minute. The damaged reactor was deep inside the metal-sheathed building. So, too, were the bodies of two of its victims: It was too dangerous to try to recover them. The third body was removed within minutes of the explosion Tuesday night. It was the first fatal accident involving a reactor in the history of this country's atomic energy program. However, three employees were fatally over-exposed to radiation when they accidentally produced chain reactions in laboratory tests in August 1945, May 1946 and December 1958, at AEC's Los Alamos, N.M., laboratories. The blast occurred on the Atomic Energy Commission's sprawling, half-million acre National Reactor Testing Station in eastern Idaho, about 40 miles west of this city of 34,000. AEC officials assured the public the radiation was confined to the building area and wasn't even dangerous elsewhere on the station. Before the experts could find out precisely what happened, they had to find a way of plugging the leaks in the reactor's heavy sheathing—leaks that permitted the deadly radiation to seep into the building surrounding the core. The AEC said all three victims' bodies showed the effects of severe explosion, indicating they were killed by the blast rather than by radiation. But the building, from outside, appeared undamaged. The AEC was silent about what damage officials found inside. In Washington, AEC Chairman John A. McCone promised the facts "will be made available as they are established." Best guesses were that some kind of chemical explosion ruptured the reactor's nuclear core and released the radiation. It was fairly certain there was no nuclear explosion of the type released by an atomic bomb. The AEC said the three servicemen were working on the reactor's control rods, getting ready to start it up after a 10-day shutdown. Such rods are used to control the nuclear chain reaction that takes place inside a reactor. If a reactor should get out of control, even briefly, it could generate enough heat to melt down its nuclear fuel. If some molten metal should come in contact with boiling water within the reactor, it could precipitate an explosion. Two of the dead were Army men—Spec. 5 John A. Byrnes, 27, and Spec. 4 Richard L. McKinley, 22, both living in Idaho Falls with their wives. The third was Navy Electrician Richard C. Legg, 26, of Roscommon, Mich. Byrnes formerly lived in Ulica, N.Y., and McKinley in Kenton, Ohio. The reactor they were working on was a two-year-old prototype one intended for use as a mobile heat and power plant by armed forces in remote areas. The armed services have been training military personnel in operation of the reactor. Legg and Byrnes were listed as "certified reactor operators" and McKinley was due for certification next month. DEVELOPMENT SUM TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist government today announced plans to invest $200 million in the development of water resources, forestry, fishing and animal husbandry on Formosa in the next four years. About 35 per cent of the amount will come from U.S. aid.

Other Items On Council Agenda

City Manager Leonard Bloxam pointed out this morning that tonight's Public Housing Authority public hearing will be a part of the regular monthly City Council meeting. He said that several items will be taken up on the agenda prior to the commencement of the public hearing. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock in the City Council Room. Bloxam said the other matters of city business on the agenda will be taken up first. "By necessity the hearing will come after the other matters have been heard," he declared. On the agenda tonight will be ordinances related to the sale of city bonds and calling for a public hearing on annexation. There are three items concerning resolutions and agreements in connection with Social Security coverage. There is also a resolution between the city and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad for a sewage easement on the agenda. The public hearing will follow.

Survey Reveals Building Interest

Jaycee president George Coffman said today that private enterprise "has shown an interest" in building 288 units of standard housing to relocate residents in the city's proposed Urban Renewal area. Coffman claimed that this number of units will be more than enough to relocate the families who would be displaced if the project is carried through. The club president said that a letter stating this fact had been submitted the mayor and City Council including the names of the individuals who have expressed this interest. Coffman said the club's board of directors, meeting last night, considered submitting the survey results to city officials. The board also heard Charles Cobb, chairman of the Greenville Property Owners Association. For tonight's public hearing on the question of establishing a Public Housing Authority, Coffman said he anticipated 30 to 40 Jaycees would attend "in personal support of Urban Renewal."

President Will Not Deliver Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will not deliver personally his final State of the Union message to Congress on Jan. 12. The White House also gave dates for two other presidential messages, the budget Jan. 16 and the economic report Jan. 18. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower is seriously considering a farewell radio and TV talk before he leaves office Jan. 20.

Terry Sanford Takes Oath Shortly After Noon As Governor Of N. C.

RALEIGH (AP) — Terry Sanford was sworn in today as governor of North Carolina. The 43-year-old, blond Fayetteville lawyer, took the oath of office shortly after noon as the climax of elaborate inaugural ceremonies in which the festive and solemn were well mixed. Immediately after taking the oath of office from Chief Justice J. Wallace Winborne of the State Supreme Court, Sanford launched into his inaugural address, setting out — in general terms — the goals of his administration. Huge throngs lined Raleigh's gaily decorated Fayetteville Street to watch the escort parade to the auditorium and the spectacular inaugural parade from the auditorium. Skies were clear and the temperature brisk. For Sanford, the round trip up and down Raleigh's historic main street was an event he worked for ardently through three rugged political campaigns — a four-man Democratic primary, a bitterly contested runoff for the nomination and a hard-fought general election. After the auditorium ceremonies, Sanford, who succeeds outgoing Gov. Luther H. Hodges, was to receive full military honors including a 19-gun salute. Several thousand troops were to form the escort for Sanford and his wife and Gov. and Mrs. Hodges to the auditorium. The inaugural parade, somewhat larger than the escort parade, was to include about 10,000 marchers including about 4,000 members of the North Carolina National Guard, armed forces contingents and about 25 bands. Fly-overs were scheduled by jet planes of the state's Air National Guard. Also on the schedule were the official transfer of the Great Seal of the state from Hodges to Sanford, a brief late morning ceremony at the Capitol, and governor's mansion luncheon during which Hodges was to turn over the mansion key to the new chief executive. The gubernatorial swearing-in ceremony was administered by State Supreme Court Chief Justice J. Wallace Winborne. Other associate justices took turns swearing in members of the Council of State, Lt. Gov. H. Cloyd Philpott and Atty. Gen. Wade Bruton. Out-of-state dignitaries included U.S. Atty. Gen-designate Robert F. Kennedy, South Carolina Gov. Ernest Hollings, Virginia Gov. Lindsay Almond and Kentucky Gov. Bert Combs. The state's two U.S. senators and the 11 Democratic members of the congressional delegation were to attend. Military notables included Lt. Gen. Paul D. Adams of Ft. Monmouth, Ga., Commander of the Third Army and Lt. Gen. Thomas J. H. Trapnell of Ft. Bragg, commander of the 18th Airborne Corps.

Castro Cabinet Makes Bid For Change In U.S. Policy

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban Cabinet made a thinly veiled bid today for a change in U.S. policy toward Fidel Castro's regime under the incoming Kennedy administration. There was no indication of any change in Castro's policy toward the United States, however. A statement issued after a long night cabinet session put the entire blame for the U.S. break in diplomatic relations with Cuba on the Eisenhower administration. The outgoing U.S. administration was also accused of "threatening with other (aggressions) worse and much more serious," an obvious reference to Cuba's charges that American invasion is imminent. The statement expressed the hope that relations would be re-established "when the governors of the United States finally understand that it is possible to maintain sincere and friendly relations with the people of Cuba on the basis of respect for their sovereign rights, their legitimate interests and their national dignity." The statement made no specific mention of President-elect John F. Kennedy, but the government radio-TV network throughout Wednesday had emphasized that Kennedy did not participate in the decision to break relations. Kennedy during the presidential campaign criticized the Castro regime harshly, and the Cuban prime minister in turn called the Democratic candidate an "ignorant, illiterate, beardless kid." There had been unconfirmed reports the cabinet would also discuss the U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo, but the statement made no mention of it. The United States has declared it will hold and defend the base despite the diplomatic break, and Castro has said several times he would get the base away from the United States by legal means, not by force. The United States holds the base under a treaty it contends can be scrapped only by agreement of both countries. Planes leaving Havana for the United States were packed with Americans quitting Cuba, but many more stayed to take their chances under the regime Eisenhower called a dictatorship. The cabinet today authorized the death penalty for anti-Castro terrorists, saboteurs and their accomplices.

DEATH PENALTY HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban Cabinet today authorized the death penalty for anti-Castro terrorists, saboteurs and their accomplices.

Seventh Fleet Is Standing By For Laos Eventuality

HONOLULU (AP) — Powerful elements of the U.S. 7th Fleet alerted American bases in the Western Pacific—stood ready today to deal with any eventuality in the developing Laos crisis. That was the appraisal of informed sources who declined to be quoted. But they said that in addition to naval units in the South China Sea, air, Marine and Army forces were ready to move on the Southeast Asian kingdom from bases in Okinawa, Japan, Formosa and the Philippines. The assessment of American readiness came after a statement issued Wednesday by Adm. Harry D. Felt, top U.S. commander in the Pacific.

"We are prepared to accomplish whatever may be required of us by higher authorities of our government. Certain precautionary measures have been taken. These include the augmentation of our airlift capability in the Western Pacific and a re-positioning of some of our mobile fleet force," Felt said.

Military sources said Marine elements ready to give any needed assist include the 20,000-man 3rd Marine Division and the 3rd Air Wing on Okinawa. The Leathernecks are trained in jungle warfare. The closest unit to Laos is the 465th Fighter Wing at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines. It is equipped with F100 and F102 supersonic jets.

The U.S. 7th Fleet has assembled in the South China Sea a force of three carriers, about 30 destroyers, a dozen submarines and escort and supply vessels. In Hawaii, a key unit of the 25th Infantry Division embarked on "practice mobility exercises" Wednesday.

Mr. James Ficklen Arthur Weds Miss Smith In Pennsylvania

UNIONTOWN, Pa.—In a simple candlelight ceremony, Miss Elizabeth Gentry Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Max Smith of Uniontown, became the bride of James Ficklen Arthur, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ficklen Arthur of Greenville, N. C.

The marriage vows were heard by the Rev. Arthur Taft in a ceremony at seven o'clock on Sunday, the first of January, in Saint Peter's Episcopal Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a green wool costume suit with matching accessories as her wedding attire. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and white roses, tied with satin ribbons.

Miss Nancy Lee Smith attended her sister as maid of honor.

Louis Chesterfield Arthur III, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith chose a purple wool sheath dress with matching hat. Her corsage was of gardenias and white roses.

Mrs. Arthur, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue wool costume suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was also of gardenias and white roses.

The bride graduated from Uniontown Senior High School. She attended Mary Washington College and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in June of 1960. She is now teaching in the Uniontown city school system.

Mr. Arthur was educated in the Greenville city schools. He graduated from the University of North Carolina in June, 1960, where he was a member of Sigma Nu Social Fraternity. At present, he is in the armed services and will report for Officers Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga. this month.

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride honored the couple with a formal dinner at the White Swan Hotel.

The bride's table was centered with a flower arrangement of chrysanthemum, snapdragons and Dutch iris, flanked with burning tapers. The immediate families and a few close friends attended.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 29 Charles Street, Uniontown, Pa.

Gardening Today

By JOHN G. DUNCAN

Catalogue time is here again. The gardener should keep up with the catalogues all during the year. Winter gives him more time to look them over. In reading through a garden magazine, (Dec. 1960) a few catalogue offers were noted that may be of interest to local gardeners.

One of the best catalogues on fruit and other landscape material is put out by Stark Brothers Nurseries of Louisiana, Missouri. Past experience with this firm's catalogue, recommend it highly.

Jackson and Perkins is one of the best catalogues that the gardener can obtain. It is full of the latest offerings in the rose world. This firm is at Newark, New York.

You can't match or beat the Wayside Garden's Catalogue. It costs $1.00 but is well worth it. They have almost any plant you could want. A lot of the pictures are in color. This is a fine addition to any garden library. Wayside is located in Mentor, Ohio.

For catalogues that deal mostly in seed-flower and vegetable, try Geo. W. Park Seed Co. of Greenwood, S.C.

An old name familiar to most gardeners—W. Atlee Burpee Co. of Philadelphia, Pa.

Another old stand-by is Vaughan's of Chicago, Illinois.

Sometimes it pays to get a catalogue from a firm that specializes in certain plants or seeds. For nut trees, try Ackerman's Nursery, Bridgman, Michigan. Allen's Nursery and Seed House offer fine varieties of figs. Allen's is located in Geneva, Ohio. Two nurseries that specialize in roses are Tillotson's of Watsonville, California and Armstrong's of Ontario, California.

When you are getting up your catalogue list, do not forget the state nurseries and your local seed houses and nurserymen. There are many good nurseries in this state that can offer you almost any plant you want. While in some cases, they don't offer catalogues, they will send you a price list of their plants or the special plant you want.

Write to the following for lists of plants and prices: Elco-Tinga's Nursery at Castle Hayne; James Ferger, Wilmington; Fowler's in Raleigh; Laurel Lake at Salem; and Lefco Farms at Hamilton; and Jeddo at Greenville.

The above list is not in any way complete. There are many nurseries in this state and out of state that can give you aid in getting plants for your gardens.

Use your catalogues to the advantage that will do you the most good. Do not get too excited over the pretty pictures. Get only plants and seed that are proven in your area. If you want to try a few of the most tempting new ones, try only one or two. Don't let pre-season enthusiasm get the best of you and order too much to take care for.

If you intend ordering plants, get your order in. Most nurseries will be flooded with orders this spring. The nursery will not send your order until planting time, but it would not hurt to specify time wanted on your order.

Miss Bernis Is Hostess

ROBERSONVILLE — Miss Phyllis Bernis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bernis, entertained 27 of her friends at a New Year's eve party at the Wilson Hotel.

The arriving guests were greeted by the hostess and her mother and then went into the dining room where candlelight was used with a pink and white color scheme.

The young people danced throughout the evening. An intermission, they were invited to the refreshment table which was covered with a white linen cloth, centered with a cornucopia filled with pink, white, and silver Christmas balls. Candelabra holding burning tapers in the predominating colors were on either side. Mrs. Bernis presided at the punch bowl while open-faced sandwiches, potato chips, pimento cheese sandwiches, cookies and salted nuts were served buffet style.

Immediately after 1961 was welcomed the goodbyes were said to the hostess and her mother.

Church Ceremony Unites Miss Smith, Mr. Rucker

GRIFTON—In a ceremony of simplicity, Miss Ruth E. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Smith of Jeffersonville, Ind., became the bride of Mr. Davidson Harrison Rucker of Kingston, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rucker of Huntington, West Va.

The ceremony took place at 9 o'clock on December 29 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wall on Church Street. Only close friends attended.

The Rev. Erwin Adcock, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony with appropriate background music.

The vows were spoken before the mantel, which was banked with greenery, pink gladioli and tall white candles. The bride chose a dress of peacock blue silk chiffon, featuring a short lace jacket with round neckline, a matching feather clip, and shoes of the same blue. A pink orchid corsage completed her attire.

Miss Rebekah Wall was maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a shrimp pink chiffon dress with matching accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The bridegroom had as his best man his brother, William Rucker, of Portsmouth, Va.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple and guests were entertained at an informal reception. The dining room was decorated in pink and white. The table, overlaid with a white linen cloth, held a silver epergne filled with pink carnations and showered with lily-of-the-valley sprays and ivy. The buffet featured a miniature pink net sequin trimmed tree and silver candelabra with lilies-of-the-valley and pink candles. The bride's cake was decorated in pink with heart decorations, and was served by Mrs. Wall after the couple had cut their first slice. Fruit punch was poured by Mrs. Jerry Insoce. Nuts and bridal mints were served.

For her wedding trip to Williamsburg, the bride added a beige cashmere coat and the orchid from her corsage. The couple will make their home in Grifton at 403 East Queen St.

Mrs. Rucker attended the Western Kentucky State College at Bowling Green, Ky. and is now associated with the Kingston Dupont plant.

The bridegroom attended the Huntington, W. Va. school and served in the U. S. Navy in World War II. He also is with the Dupont Company.

Urban Renewal Is Discussed + Births

Mrs. L. M. Boyd, Jr. was hostess to the Pickwick Book Club Tuesday at her home in Tenth Street. Mrs. Boyd introduced Mr. W. T. Cochran, administrator for the Redevelopment Commission of Greenville, as speaker for the afternoon.

Explaining his work in Greenville, Mr. Cochran defined Urban Renewal as "the concentrated efforts to clear slums and to prevent good areas from becoming blighted." Congress gave loans to undertake such projects in 1949 and these projects really began in North Carolina in 1957. Cochran brought his subject closer to home with pictures illustrating the needs and the Redevelopment Commission felt were imperative to the growth of Greenville. A question and answer period followed with pros and cons discussed.

Mrs. Harry Allen, president, thanked Mr. Cochran for the informative program and conducted a short business meeting. A report was made on the needy family helped at Christmas.

Following the business, Mrs. Boyd served cake, nuts and coffee. Books were exchanged and the meeting declared adjourned.

Small fry usually take to cream of vegetable soup when it is sprinkled with diced crispy cooked bacon.

Pitt County Couples Enjoy Festive Pre-Inaugural Event

By ANNE KEZIAH
Reflector Woman's Writer
RALEIGH — Governor-elect Terry Sanford, himself described as youthful, was surrounded by young sponsors and their escorts last night at the Inaugural Ball in Memorial Auditorium.

The auditorium, draped in bunting and greenery, was filled with a capacity crowd of approximately 4,000 persons. The Ball, although not an official part of the inaugural proceedings, drew a large number of state officials, members of the General Assembly and other prominent citizens from all over the state.

The 182 sponsors from all sections of the state entered the stage through a vine covered trellis and each sponsor was introduced by Raleigh Mayor Protem Jim Reid, master of ceremonies. The sponsors, wearing white ball gowns and carrying bouquets of red roses tied with blue satin ribbon, were introduced. After descending the stairway they were met by their escorts and took their place in the figure on the ballroom floor. The figure when completed formed "N. C."

Through the aisle created between the two letters the Governor-elect and Mrs. Sanford came to lead the grand march and the first dance of the ball. She wore a floor-length ball gown of azalea pink peau de soie, with high front neckline and deep V in the back.

Next came Lt.-Gov.-elect and Mrs. H. Cloyd Philpott. She was dressed in a gown of deep rose. Members of the Council of State and their wives were introduced before the grand march.

Pitt County was represented at the Governor's Ball by four lovely girls. From Greenville was Lois Sermons, daughter of Mrs. Ernestine K. Sermons of Greenville and Wayland Sermons of Washington, member of the House of Representatives who sponsored his daughter. Lois, dressed in a gown of white satin with a bodice of deep satin folds, was escorted by Craig Worthington of Ayden.

From Farmville Beth Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Baker, was representing Walter Jones, outgoing member of the House of Representatives. Beth, wearing a gown of white peau de soie with cabbage roses accentuating bodice and waistline, was escorted by her fiancé, Charles Stuart Ward of Bethel.

Miss Grace James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry N. James of Bethel, was representing Clifton Everett, member of the House of Representatives. Grace, wearing a white gown of tulle and lace, was escorted by Clifton Everett Jr. of Bethel.

From Winterville was Miss

Betty Jane Mobley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mobley, who was escorted by Edward Hollowell of Goldsboro. She wore a gown of net over taffeta featuring short ruffles and an apron effect of lace and sequins.

She represented Seth B. Hollowell, State Senator of Goldsboro, father of her escort.

Ball participants danced to the music of Bob Smith of Fayetteville. The orchestra played from the stage decked with red and white carnations, North Carolina pine and southern smilax.

The auditorium was a profusion of color with the ladies in floor-length and short formal of every color and design costumed in jewels and furs.

The North Carolina citizenry were attired in their most elaborate dress for the social event, which occurs only once every four years.

Among the crowd were many local residents. Miss Carol Ann Tadlock was vivacious with Bob Shackelford of Greenville. She wore a cocktail dress of blue-purple silk file and matching evening shoes. Mrs. Dal Cox was outstanding in a white chiffon dress accented with sequin bodice. A couple from Ayden, Mr.

and Mrs. Bill McLawhorn, were among ball participants. Mrs. McLawhorn was wearing a gold brocade short gown with gold sequin evening shoes complementing her dress. Looking stunning in a dress of black was Mrs. Charles Alfred Forbes of Stokes along with Mrs. F. E. Lanche in a dress of light blue.

Also glimpsed at the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Tyson of Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Everett, former mayor of Bethel and now State Representative from Pitt County, Frank Wooten, member of the House of Representatives, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Forbes of Stokes, Kirby Branch of Greenville, escort for Sponsor Miss Alice Starr, EOC student of Creswell, Miss Carol Ann Tadlock and Bob Shackelford of Greenville, Joe Taft Jr., escorting sponsor Dinah Sharp of Snow Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Dal Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Laughinghouse and Mrs. Virginia Lanche of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McLawhorn, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Britt of Ayden, Mr. and Mrs. Guilford Lewis of Factious, Arthur Tripp and J. B. Sures of Winterville.

Outgoing Gov. and Mrs. Luther

Hodges took the sidelines, while the Sanfords shared the spotlight.

Hodges ducked out after a brief appearance, but Mrs. Hodges remained for the ball. Wearing an ice blue satin gown which was part of her inaugural wardrobe four years ago, she watched from a balcony seat. Members of the outgoing governor's staff sat with Mrs. Hodges.

The crowd was described by Capt. J. H. Hayes of the Raleigh Police Department as the largest he has seen for an inaugural ball in 20 years of working such events. "It's a nice, orderly crowd, too," he said.

The Junior League and the American Legion Post of Raleigh sponsor the ball, with proceeds going to charity.

Thus ended one of the gala events of Governor-elect Terry Sanford's Inaugural Festivities.

Mrs. Davis Gives Book Review

The Round Table met at the home of Mrs. Rodney Robertson, 206 Library Street, Tuesday afternoon.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Ed Rawl Sr. presided over a short business session. Mrs. H. H. Duncan called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. Miss Lelia Higgs made an announcement that Professor Davenport was interested in getting a second bookmobile for the county and was asking for donations.

Mrs. T. M. Davis gave the program, reviewing the book "McIver of North Carolina." Dr. Charles Duncan McIver was a moving spirit for the cause of education and gave his life for this purpose. He believed ignorance more costly than education. One of his familiar sayings was, educate a man and you educate an individual, educate a woman and you educate a family. Dr. McIver was founder of Woman's College in Greensboro in 1892 and remained its president until his death in 1906.

The guests were invited into the dining room where Mrs. Rawl served tea from an appointed table and guests helped themselves to

LADY in the MARKET

BY FRANCES V. RUMMELL

From the novel "Aunt Jane McPhillips and Her Baby Blue Chips," published by Prentice-Hall, Inc. © 1960 by Frances V. Rummell. Distributed by King Features.

CHAPTER 23

Promptly at six o'clock on Sunday evening, Al Bonelli opened his door, whistled shrilly down the hall toward Eleanor's apartment, and everybody began converging upon Jane's apartment at once—Al with the hot marmite to put on her stove, Rosemarie with the bread and wine, and Eleanor with Phil Petry in tow.

The party started with an unexpected bang when Phil Petry, still shaking hands with Al, confessed, "My name was spelled P-e-t-r-i until my grandfather got mad at his father and changed the 'i' to 'y'."

"Right away Phil had to accept a clear, then a martini, then a footstool. He put his feet up, leaned back, forgot Eleanor, and no two old Yale men finding each other in Minsk ever wrought greater rapport in a shorter time. It was a bore for the women.

Conversation at dinner was lively, and after the Italo-American conversation settled down, safely centered on Al's job. This, too, was fruitful: Phil's uncle was a banker in Sioux City. Thus the first bowl of cioppino went smoothly, and Al winked at Eleanor.

It was the second bowl of cioppino that brought trouble.

Al began the long slide to disaster by asking Phil, "Do you love Star Electronics?"

"Sure," said Phil happily. "I bought some. Now 21 1/2%. Going to split soon. Hope you have some." Phil didn't look at Jane as he said this, and this may be to his credit. He had never heard of it before it won her prize.

"Your star pupil told me about it, you know," announced Al.

"Oh! Then you got in early," said Phil, and at this point, to Jane's amazement, he turned to give her a dazzling smile.

"Too bad, she thought, that Al cannot speak up. But she should have known better. For human nature at its worst was coming in for an innard. Al felt more like bragging than waiting for Rosemarie's birthday.

"I bought in at 12," he said, with a supreme effort at casualness. "Ten shares. Now worth two thousand one hundred and twenty-five cabbages."

"Oh, brother!" Phil whistled. "I bought late, at 60. But you had an advantage." Again, he smiled at Jane.

"I beat you," Eleanor teased. "And I have twenty shares!"

"By this time, with everybody talking at once, Rosemarie was staring at her husband. "What did you say, Al, dear?" she asked with deadly sweetness.

Looking like a small boy caught in the cookie jar, Al grinned.

"I was going to tell you on your birthday. Pretty nice present, huh—what learn you're practically rich?"

Rosemarie looked furious.

"Peace!" soothed Jane.

Then Rosemarie threw caution to the winds. "You're not the only market buff. I bought Amalgamated Tenpins before the split!

I got thirty shares for my ten!" Thinking she was kidding, Al snorted. "You did not get in the market!"

Al and Rosemarie were seated at opposite ends of the table, and Jane was looking from one to the other like a fan following a tennis match. Then the silence fell. It lasted a minute longer than forever.

Rosemarie finally broke it. "I was going to tell you as soon as it quadrupled," she appealed to him. Her voice trembled. "It's just a few dollars short of that now."

No matter her or even their profits; profits were purely incidental. Al was looking at Rosemarie with disbelief. Then he spoke, addressing Rosemarie like a patriarch seeking an excuse for mercy. "Tell me, did you also buy Canadian Countess?"

"Oh, no, have mercy," moaned Phil.

"What's Canadian Countess?" It was Eleanor, her eyes bright with curiosity.

"I never got to buy the Countess!" shouted Rosemarie. "And it's all your fault!"

In the ensuing chaos, a remnant of Jane's mind paused to record gratitude to Wally. At least he had been kind enough to keep Eleanor out of it.

"What's wrong with it?" Eleanor turned to Phil.

An honorable rival, Phil Petry looked supplicatingly toward Jane. "Haven't you told her?" he asked.

Al stopped glaring. Rosemarie stopped biting her lip. Everybody turned toward Jane.

She tried to assume an air of what-will-it-all-matter-included-with-dignity. And so Jane included with dignity, like a woman who wants to be remembered for her courage after the firing squad is done. She told herself, Eleanor is young. She can take it. She will have to take it. Miss Green was right. You don't let a friend jump off Golden Gate Bridge.

"The truth is," Jane heard her voice sound unduly thin. "Canadian Countess was not exactly what it was represented to be. I am afraid Wally acted foolishly in selling it to me. I acted foolishly in buying."

Al and Rosemarie looked stunned. Al finally said, "A slicker like I said, huh?"

Phil Petry could not resist adding, "He persuaded every woman in my class to act foolishly."

Under his breath he added, "It was mass murder."

"Go on!" Al's voice was that of Captain Bligh.

"Well," said Jane. "Let us not get overwrought. My other stocks are wonder."

"What happened?" Again Captain Bligh.

Jane continued more firmly. "I feel that my $3,000 loss is a sort of tuition expense—the cost of learning a great deal fast."

"Have you lost all three thousand dollars?" Al was on the verge of a stroke.

"Oh, no, no, we are suing," Jane quickly explained. "We will recover practically everything. It was misrepresentation for material gain, you see. That's illegal."

"Oh, no, no, we are suing," Jane quickly explained. "We will recover practically everything. It was misrepresentation for material gain, you see. That's illegal."

"Oh," said Al, icily. "Yes, I see. Misrepresentation is generally illegal. Yes, it is." He clenched his fists. "That skunk..."

Eleanor didn't wait to hear anything more before she ran to put her arms around Jane. "Oh, I was so afraid of something wrong, and I didn't know what I got so I couldn't bear hearing about 'special situations!'"

So Eleanor had sensed something was wrong, and whatever she was now feeling, she was taking all this like a soldier.

Yet Jane, still wincing from Al's words, had a sudden realization of her own "misrepresentation" to Mr. Ernst—and for her own "material gain!"

The thought alarmed her so much that she was only dimly aware that Al and Phil were flipping a coin—"The winner," she heard Al say, as from a distance, "to get the first punch at Wally." Then he won and he began to rage with frustration because Wally couldn't be found.

"If only I can locate that no-good—if only!"

The Golden Girls are going to get a campaign rolling, with no idea of where it's going. Continue "Lady in the Market" tomorrow.

Another Paint Job For Statue

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — Old Mother Bickerdyke, a statue of the famous Civil War nurse on the Knox County courthouse lawn, again was daubed with green and red paint.

Officials say the identity of the vandals is unknown.

The last time a paint job was done on Mother Bickerdyke, Monmouth College students in a feud with Knox College took out their vengeance with paint brushes.

Officials made them scrape and wipe until every speck of paint disappeared.

OLD MASCOT DIES

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — "Mr. Jackson," famous mule mascot of the Army football team, died Wednesday of old age at the U.S. Military Academy. "Mr. Jackson" was 35 years old, the equivalent of 100 years in a human being.

The next cycle of sunspots is expected in 1968.

Business Notes

Purchases Motel
Kenneth E. Phillips has announced that he and Mrs. Phillips have sold the Washington Motel, located on U.S. Highway 17 in Washington, N.C., to A. W. Lewin of Greenville and Philadelphia.

Lewin, who owns radio station WGTC with his wife, Rubye Graham Lewin, stated that the purchase of the Washington Motel was part of a program to extend their business interests in Eastern North Carolina. Lewin was formerly chairman of the board of an advertising agency. His wife, who is professionally known as Rubye Graham, is fashion editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

It was reported that the sale represents an investment of approximately $250,000.

Phillips built and operated the Kenland in Greenville, later selling it to other interests. About a year ago he constructed a new motel in New Bern. He was formerly the general manager of the Sir Walter Raleigh Hotel in Raleigh.

Lewin stated that he planned no major changes in the operation or management of the Washington Motel.

Leader In Sales Program
R. E. McCarter, installer and repairman here for Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company, is one of the leaders in the firm's company-wide plant sales program.

To date McCarter has sold services which would produce more than $8,073 in revenue on an annual basis.

McCarter has been a member of the Plant Department's "500 Club" ten times. In order to qualify for this organization an employee must sell, in one month, services which will yield at least

Mayor's Office Is Up To Court

PERRY, Ga. (AP)—Superior Court Judge A. M. Anderson must decide whether the mayor of Warner Robins can hold office while in federal prison for bank fraud.

Five citizens of Warner Robins, a town of 18,633, petitioned Judge Anderson to declare Kemp A. Harrison unqualified to serve as mayor while imprisoned.

Harrison was already in prison when he won re-election last Nov. 8.

Steady Income Is Left Two Dogs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Tavern operator John L. Lynch, 84, left income from his $25,000 estate to his two boxer dogs, Bing 10 and Rusty 5.

Mary Lou Grant, a neighbor said Mrs. Lynch had left $3,000 for the dogs when she died last March. Lynch died Dec. 20.

The money will go to charities when the dogs die.

Swallowed Razor Blade, Unhurt

CHIPLEY, Fla. (AP)—James Gerald Worthington, 6, apparently swallowed a razor blade two years ago. It went undetected until he went to a hospital last week for treatment of pneumonia.

Dr. Walter H. Shehee discovered the blade lodged in the side of the neck. It was removed by surgery Friday and Dr. Shehee says the boy is recovering satisfactorily.

As always, the party out of power makes its record in the Congress and nowhere else. Governors and private persons co-emerge, but party actions are in Congress.

The Republican Party must make up its mind where it belongs; what it stands for; what posture it intends to present to the American people. It cannot go on being a mixed-up party. A party must know what it is doing and what it stands for. It must stir people to fanatical support for cause, not with the hope of getting elected or appointed to something. Republican opportunists often become Democrats.

Federal Gov't Sues High Point

GREENSBORO (AP)—The federal government has brought suit against the city of High Point for $111,909.21, a sum the government says it advanced the city more than 20 years ago for a hydro-electric project ultimately abandoned.

The federal government also asks title to 207.01 acres of land in Forsyth and Yadkin counties which it says High Point purchased for the project.

The suit, filed Wednesday in U. S. District Court here, contends that High Point applied in 1936 to the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works for a grant of $2,921,600 and a loan of $3,571,000 for the hydro-electric project.

After receipt of the funds, the city's right to enter into such an agreement was tested in court. The State Supreme Court held that High Point had no authority to enter into the agreements with the federal government. The project was then abandoned.

The government says the money loaned the city was returned, but other funds received by the city under the agreement were not returned. The suit says the agreement specifically called for return of unused funds in the event the project was abandoned.

FLOODED OUT

MADRID (AP)—The rain-swollen Ebro River has forced more than 30,000 persons from their homes in northeast Spain in the last four days. Officials said it is the worst rising of the Ebro in the last 100 years.

Road Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—The states received shares Wednesday of $231,250,000 in federal funds for road building. The money had been withheld pending completion of the 1960 census.

The government prepared out $693,750,000 July 26 for primary, secondary and urban highways for the 12 months starting next July 1. The additional money was withheld then until the census was completed, because population is one factor considered in allotting the money.

North Carolina received a total of $20,108,246, including the amount received July 26. This does not include the $11,737,688 received for the interstate system.

South Carolina received $11,568,140, including the amount received July 26. This does not include the $17,844,750 received earlier for the interstate system.

WILL TOLL U.S.
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Gen. Lo Lieh, commander in chief of the Chinese Nationalist army, left today for an 18-day tour of Army installations in the United States.

Dog Inclined To Be Retriever

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—J. J. Halbrook of East Lansing has a dog that apparently wants to be a retriever.

The dog returned home Tuesday night with a strange grille, brassiere and slip.

Halbrook turned the undergarments over to East Lansing police. All are in good condition, police said, and can be claimed by the owner upon identification.

Education, and there will be no school lines," Superintendent of City Schools J. H. Rose said recently.

Rose noted that a short time ago in Mecklenburg County the city and county systems of education merged. The Winston-Salem and Forsyth school systems plan to merge. Wilmington and New Hanover plants merged years ago. Other city and county boards throughout the state have considered and discussed the possibility.

One of the trends in modern-day education programs seems to be consolidation, in fact. Some current studies indicate that consolidation offers better education to more people.

Assuming the Greenville School District remains separate from the county, Rose said, an expansion program would follow these lines: build a new Junior high school; build a new elementary school in the southeastern part of the city; add classrooms to South Greenville Elementary School; acquire more land and add to Fleming Street School; add classrooms and cafeteria to C. M. Eppes School; ultimately build a new junior or senior high school for C. M. Eppes. Assuming that ultimately there

Current Expense Taxes in Individual School Districts are as follows:

Farmville, 15 cents; Chocod, 10 cents; Paeolus, nothing; Winterville, 15 cents; Stokes, 25 cents; Belvoir-Falkland, 10 cents; Fountain, 10 cents; Gritton, 15 cents; Grimesland 15 cents; Ayden, 20 cents; Bethel, 20 cents; and Arthur, no cents.

The current expense tax for the city of Greenville is 25 cents.

Debt service taxes are in addition to the current expense tax and have not been included here.

Other needs would be possibly a large senior high school in Greenville to take the place of C. M. Eppes School and serve a larger area of the county, and a new elementary school west or southwest of Greenville on the Stanlonsburg road or somewhere in that general area.

As for financing the school programs of building "Pitt County has the choice of continuing under the Cleveland County Act where school bonds are issued by district, or abolishing the Cleveland Act as it applies to Pitt County and have a county-wide building program," Rose stated.

This would mean the county would have to assume all present school indebtedness, he said, and then in the future the county would issue county-wide bonds for all needed programs.

It would require that there be a county-wide vote on a supplemental school tax—which would be around 25 to 35 cents, according to Rose.

Some other financial figures for the city and county school systems should be mentioned.

Valuation of all property in the county today is $63,175,925. Rose said, with valuation of property in the Greenville School District at $34,617,613. Valuation of the property in all the other school districts in Pitt County is $48,558,312.

Bond indebtedness for schools in Greenville is $1,550,000, while bond indebtedness for all other schools in Pitt County is $872,000.

One of the most important factors in having the one county-wide unit would be the county-wide supplemental school tax. Rose emphasized. In every case of consolidation, there has been such a tax for expenses of the schools. In fact, a key issue in consolidation, should it come, would be willingness of county units to adopt a tax sufficient to support the one unit school system.

Phantons Play In Jacksonville Friday

Farley Still Looking For Winning Lineup

JACKSONVILLE, N. C.—Greenville and Jacksonville, fighting cousins by definition, square off here Friday night in a Northeastern 3-A basketball battle.

Greenville, fresh from an inglorious performance in losing its conference opener to Tarboro Tuesday night, will be slightly underdogs on the Cards' home court.

Apps Pull Even With High Point

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Appalachian's 83-53 victory Wednesday night over Guilford pulled the Mountaineers into a tie with High Point for the lead in the North State Conference basketball standings.

Both teams are 4-0, but High Point can pull ahead again with a victory tonight over Catawba. In other games tonight, Western Carolina plays at Lenoir Rhyne, Elon is at Pembroke, Atlantic Christian at Norfolk William and Mary.

Jacksonville, coached by Tom Pritchard, won its opening conference shoot-out Tuesday by out-gunning New Bern, 49-39.

Stuart Ellington, a senior with some quick moves, is the spear in Jacksonville sharpshooting attack.

National League Picks Committee For Expansion

NEW YORK (AP)—The National League, following the "sane and orderly" route to expansion prescribed by Commissioner Ford Frick, has set up a committee to study means of securing players for Houston and New York, the clubs to be added in 1962.

At the same time, major league club owners will decide, in a mail vote, whether to allow the newcomers to enter into working agreements with minor league clubs this season to develop players.

The five-man committee composed of general managers is to make a report to the National League at its mid-summer meeting. The results of the mail vote, which would give Houston and New York a chance to sign free agents and call them up from the minors at the end of the season, should be known within two weeks or so.

That's a relatively leisurely pace compared to the American League's hurried and harried expansion program, which burst upon the scene in October and which calls for a 10-team operation when the 1961 season opens in April.

Wake Forest Bottles Up Patterson, Drub Clemson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS One of the Atlantic Coast Conference's top scorers was held to only 11 points by another of the ACC's top scorers as Wake Forest beat Clemson—81-59—Wednesday night.

Grid Death Toll Hits Low Level

CHICAGO (AP)—The high school football death toll dropped to seven in 1960—its lowest level since 1946 when such record-keeping was started by the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations.

Officials of the group made the fatality report Wednesday during their annual convention. The seven deaths were among 720,000 participants, an average of 97 for every 100,000 compared to an average for the last 15 years of 139.

Heat prostration caused one death. The others were injured in tackling, being tackled and blocked.

Wake Forest's Len Chappell, second only to Art Heyman of Duke in individual scoring, netted 18 points as Wake Forest bottled up Patterson, who averaged 21.8 points a game.

Still another of the ACC's top scorers belongs to Wake Forest. That's Alley Hart, who netted 27 points against Clemson. He's been averaging 16.4 points a game.

The Wake Forest-Clemson basketball game was the only one Wednesday night involving ACC teams. Clemson enters the tournament of the Southern Conference tonight in the only game involving an ACC team. All ACC teams are idle Friday night.

The victory was Wake Forest's fourth without a loss in ACC play and gave the Deacons a 7-4 overall record. Clemson now is 0-3 in conference action and 3-8 in all games.

The Deacons, leading only 37-29 at the half, spurred ahead with some fine shooting in the second half. They hit on 19 of 29 field goal attempts for an average of 65.5 per cent in the second half.

Clemson had a 31.4 per cent accuracy average for the game. Clemson also took a beating under the boards. The Deacons grabbed 58 rebounds to only 39 for Clemson.

Hodges May Get Salary Slash

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gil Hodges, Los Angeles Dodgers first baseman, seems destined for a salary slash in 1961.

Hodges lost his job to Norm Larker, who battled Dick Groat right down to the final day for the 1960 National League batting title.

Buzzie Bavasi, Dodger general manager, said Wednesday, he hasn't given any thought to salary cuts, but that there will be few raises.

West Virginia Has Chance For 2nd Spot

During the first two weeks of the basketball season when West Virginia was having its troubles, many thought this was finally the year the Mountaineers would get their come-uppance in the Southern Conference.

Plainly showing the loss of All-American Jerry West, the six-time conference champions needed an overtime period at home to beat William and Mary, lost at home to The Citadel and then barely beat Richmond—also at home.

But there has been a shift in sentiment in recent weeks, particularly after the Mountaineers won the Sugar Bowl tournament by beating Tulane and Memphis State.

The Mountaineers, boasting a 6-2 overall record, return home and to the conference wars tonight against sharpshooting but height-shy Virginia Military Institute, which has won only twice in eight starts over-all.

A victory would boost West Virginia (2-1 in the league) into undisputed possession of second place in the conference standings behind front-running Virginia Tech (3-0).

Golf Takes Over LA Scene With Pro-AM Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Golf took over the local sports scene today with a select field of professionals and amateur celebrities competing in a $5,000 pro-am event as a prelude to the $45,000 Los Angeles Open.

The big show starts its 4-day, 72-hole run Friday at the Rancho Municipal Golf Course in West Los Angeles.

Boasting the richest purse in its history, this 35th annual tournament kicks off the 1961 winter money trail for the professionals.

As usual, the competitors are the best in the nation.

Entered are the top 20 money winners of 1960, headed by Arnold Palmer, the National Open and Masters champion.

Also on hand are Dow Finsterwald, last year's winner here; PGA champion Jay Hebert, as well as his brother Lionel, a former PGA titleholder; Billy Casper Jr., 1960 Vardon Trophy winner and an ex-U.S. Open ruler Art Wall Jr.

Ken Venturi, who came on with a rush to win the 1959 Los Angeles fixture, is another threat, and back in tournament action is still another former U.S. Open Cary Middlecoff.

The course itself is a rolling, fairly well trapped course that measures 7,131 yards when stretched out for big money play.

The winner will collect $7,500, with $3,900 going to second place in the $45,000 pot of the tournament proper.

Finsterwald found the course to his liking last year, posting rounds of 70-68-71-71-280.

Bob Hope is slated to lead a bright array of entertainment people in today's pro-amateur.

The comedian was booked to play in a foursome with Casper and two baseball club co-owners, Del Webb of the New York Yankees and Bob Reynolds of the new Los Angeles Angels.

Late Rally Brings Win To Undefeated Louisville

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Louisville's superstitious Cardinals remain members of the Shaky Six—major college basketball's remarkably small list of unbeaten—today after the kind of comeback that may mean Fred Sawyer's socks will go unwashed all year.

The Cardinals fashioned a whirlwind finish to win their 12th in a row, 70-69 over Eastern Kentucky Wednesday night.

Sawyer, who claims he won't change his socks or wash 'em while the Cards are winning, contributed only three points to the victory that kept fourth-ranked Louisville in the winning class along with Ohio State, Bradley, Auburn, Vanderbilt and DePaul.

But high-scoring John Turner, Rubenstein and a bit of luck managed to keep the socks untouched.

Louisville survived on a heavy college basketball night that saw activity both in the bigtime conferences and on the independent front.

Wake Forest, sinking 65 per cent of its second half shots, won its fourth straight Atlantic Coast Conference game, 81-59 over Clemson as Ily Packer hit for 23 points and Len Chappell for 18.

Joe Markee's 16 points and 11 rebounds led Davidson to a 54-48 Southern Conference decision over William and Mary, and Texas, with Mexico Olympian Al Almanza scoring 17, rallied to open defense of its Southwest loop crown with a 68-58 whipping of Arkansas.

Defending champion Princeton crushed Columbia 76-66 in its Ivy opener. Winless Dartmouth beat Harvard 68-61. Cornell surprised Penn 65-60 and Yale downed Brown 75-67 in other Ivy games.

Away from the conferences, Bruce Applegate's driving layup in the last second of a second overtime gave Miami of Florida

(8-2) a 102-100 decision over Miami of Ohio, and Jimmy Huggard had 28 points and Hubie White 27 in Villanova's thumping of highly regarded Detroit, 81-69.

Gary Roggenbuck hit for 26 points as Dayton (7-2) beat Canisius for the ninth straight time 86-63, and Don Kojis scored 25 points and grabbed 24 rebounds in Marquette's 83-71 victory over Chicago Loyola.

Another of the nation's top scorers, Terry Dischinger, hit for 26 as Purdue toyed with Creighton 91-72; Billy Hoy's 30 points led St. Joseph's 72-71 overtime triumph over Seton Hall; and Henry Hoskins fired 29 of his 33 points in the first half as Alabama (2-3) topped the Southern Conference leader, Virginia Tech, 74-56.

Armand Rio's 20 points were tops for Notre Dame in a 72-56 verdict over Butler, and Army tied a school-scoring record with a 101-80 rout of Rochester. Dick Fisher hit a layup with two seconds of overtime left for Tennessee's 70-68 victory over Florida State and Mike Rice scored 31 points before being tossed out for fighting in an 87-57 Duquesne romp over Geneva (Pa.).

Hofstra, No. 2 small college team, rolled to its 23rd straight victory, crushing major college Manhattan, 90-66.

The first report on the new American League baseball club in Los Angeles, to be known as the Angels, stated that it was owned by a five-man syndicate which has as its president Robert O. Reynolds, one-time football star. Reynolds, 46, was further identified as the head of a West Coast broadcasting company. The football angle seemed worth investigating.

It turned out that this same Reynolds did play a lot of football for Stanford University back in the early 30's. In 1934 he was selected for a tackle berth on The Associated Press All-America team. He played in three straight Rose Bowl games against Columbia, Alabama and Southern Methodist. Played the full 60 minutes of all three games, too. In 1938, Reynolds went to work as a salesman for a radio station and gradually worked his way up to the point where he became president and general manager of the Golden West Broadcasting Co. His partner in the business is Gene Autry, the cowboy singing star, who is chairman of the board of the group which owns new franchise.

Reynolds has matured gracefully with the years. He still looks in shape to play a rugged game at tackle. At 225 pounds, he isn't much heavier than he was during his college football days. He keeps in shape playing golf the year 'round at Lakeside Country Club where he shoots in the low 70's. Challenges have been the pattern of Reynolds' successful life so it is reasonable to assume that he will prove equal to the task of fielding a suitable team when the 1961 season opens and, eventually, build a pennant contender. Bob Reynolds has become accustomed to success.

North, South Hold Final Work

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—North and South squads faced their final extended workouts today in preparation for Saturday's Senior Bowl football game.

North Coach Jim Lee Howell and South Coach Weeb Ewbank apparently had sorted through their 25-man squads and were just about ready to assign starting posts on offense and defense.

Both gave considerable attention to their defensive lineups Wednesday. Ewbank, the Baltimore Colt coach, came up with a four-man forward wall of ends Taz Anderson of Georgia Tech and John Brewer of Mississippi and tackles Billy Shaw of Georgia Tech and Mike Zeno of VPI, averaging 230 pounds.

His linebackers also averaged out at 230, including middle man E. J. Houib of Texas Tech, and Tom Goode of Mississippi State and Bo Strange of Louisiana State.

These seven gave the Rebels a distinct weight advantage over the Yankees, who will average 221 for the four forwards and 219 for the linebackers.

Howell's men up forward will be Fred Mautino of Syracuse, Roland McDole of Nebraska, Harold Beatty of Oklahoma State, and Joe Dean of Ohio University. Those tabbed for linebacking duty were Fred Hagman of Kansas, Carl Kammerer of College of Pacific, and John Murray of Toledo University.

The game will be televised nationally by NBC. Kickoff is scheduled at 2:30 p.m., CST, with about 10,000 fans expected.

Southern Coaches Favor Free Subs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Southern football coaches, including a one-vote majority of Southeastern Conference members, yearn for a return to liberal substitution in 1961.

Their desire will be reported to the football coaches rules committee by the University of Miami's Andy Gustafson during an annual meeting Saturday at Pittsburgh.

In a survey of coaches in eight states conducted by Gustafson, 17 of 29 voted in favor of removing the substitution shackles and restoring the two-platoon game.

Science At Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hidden geniuses, how bluebirds learn to sing, the Chinese language's difficulty with science are all topics this week of science at work.

Find The Genius
The "gifted child" needs "gifted parents." — parents who can help him discover and develop his abilities.
Too many youngsters of preschool age are destined to bloom unseen or to have their exceptional talents subdued to mediocrity, a scientist told the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

This is especially the case with girls in whom brightness is often considered a handicap socially, says Dr. Annette Rosenstiel of Mills College.

Too Old To Sing
A young bluebird must hear the song of an experienced adult before it becomes a little more than a year old, or it will never be able to sing a bluebird's song. Birds reared in sound isolation from the time they left the egg were unable to sing the typical bluebird's song. But birds reared the same way from the fledging stage were able to sing.

Cornell University ornithologists report that birds allowed to hear recorded bird songs before they became 15 months old learned to sing.

A Word for Worm
The ancient Chinese language is having trouble with the specific modern world of science, scientists report.
All animals are described by the word for worm. A tiger is a big worm, a snake is a long worm, and a mouse is an old worm. All swimming animals are fish, be they whale or octopus.

An Eye For The Sun
Work has begun on the world's largest solar telescope—an underground eye that will be able to look at the sun more clearly than man has ever been able to see it before.
Part of the Kitt Peak National Observatory near Tucson, Ariz., the telescope will be built into a 380-foot hole dug into Kitt Peak. Scientists will get a mirrored image of the sun, as large as 34 inches in diameter to photograph it or for spectroscopic study of the sun's rays.

Steel Management And Labor To Confer Today

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Steel labor and management sit down today to tackle a problem that plagues not only the industry but also federal and local authorities and business in general.

In human terms it's the problem of joblessness and short weeks that affect the families of thousands both in and out of the mills. In terms of dollars it's the problem of slipping sales and profits of the companies, of their suppliers, of those who sell to or serve the steel workers.

In the field of governments it's the problem of jobless and other social benefits, and lower tax receipts.

In the broader scene the troubles in steel tinge the outlook of the whole economy, since so much depends on the health of this basic industry.

The expectation at the start of 1961 is for slowly rising steel output but whether this will bring immediate re-employment isn't certain.

The expected slow rise in steel output as 1961 continues—much of the increase doubled in the latter part of the year—will still leave the profit picture in doubt. Wage scales have risen recently, squeezing profit margins further and offsetting at least in part the rise in productivity.

And the steel industry is still up against growing competition from other materials in several of its best markets, as well as the successful hunt of many steel users for ways to cut down on the amount of steel needed in their activities.

The immediate problems that steel management and labor are discussing today rise also from two other things. First is the slow-down in activity in many of steel's prime customers — appliances, railroads, and to some extent in construction. Also, the big customer, the auto industry, uses less steel in its compact cars, along with greater use of glass and aluminum.

Second is the tendency of customers to live off their steel stocks through most of the last half of 1960. Inventories had been built up in a big spurge of steel buying early in the year, and then as often as not users found demand for their products slumping. As yet steel customers show little tendency to rebuild stocks. But most steel executives say that soon more users will have to stop living off inventories and at least order on a hand-to-mouth basis as many now do.

Union and company representatives meet today as the industry starts an expected climb back from a holiday week slump that saw output at its lowest for any nonstrike period in more than 20 years.

Thanks to the spurt in the opening months, the year as a whole wasn't bad for the industry. It turned out 99.3 million tons, the highest production since 112.7 million tons in 1957.
But the slowdown since midyear has taken its toll both on profits and jobs. And if the confab in Washington can figure out ways to beat competition, increase sales, hold down costs, make more jobs and fatten steelworkers' incomes, the whole economy would be pleased, if slightly surprised.

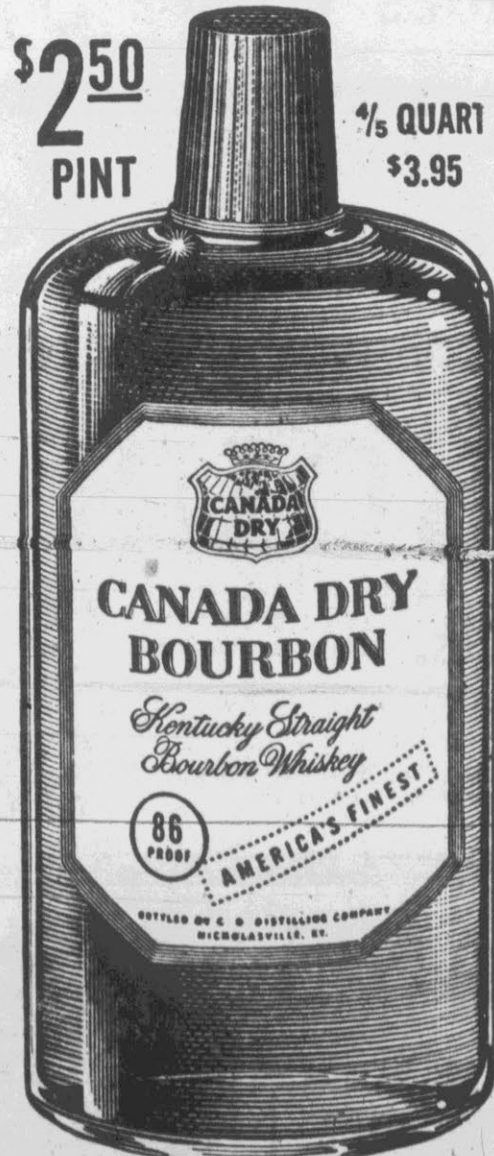

Bounty Fund For Year Exhausted

CLAYTON, Md. (AP)—St. Louis County's bounty fund for wolves, coyotes and wildcats was exhausted in 1960 for the first time in recent years.

The last $15 in the fund was paid to Dallas Lyon of the University City animal control division. He snared a wolf. It was the 10th county payment of 1960 for the county, largely a suburban St. Louis area.

FIRST FOR VERMONT

Act Of Secession Originally More Of A Gesture, But Incited Reaction

Editor's Note—Reasonable discussion and compromise had been spurned by the Congress, the conventions, the people. Now the issue was changing and a decision which would affect the lives of 30 million Americans passed by default as 1860 ended to a pair of obscure officers. In the third of four articles on the needless war, historian Bruce Catton points to the possibility of a modern parallel.

By BRUCE CATTON
Written for The Associated Press
Instead of any compromise, the election of Abraham Lincoln in 1860 was followed by the secession of a number of the Southern states.
At least in the beginning, the act of secession was much more a political maneuver than a really warlike gesture. It was a means of putting on the political heat. The tragedy was that it evoked a defiant reaction in the North—and, at the same time, changed the fundamental issue from the simple question of slavery, about which neither side was ready to fight, into a question of Union about which a great many people would fight.

After Lincoln's election Congress and the country had a little more than five months to settle things. These months were wholly wasted. Efforts were indeed made, in and out of Congress, to work out a compromise, but they failed completely—chiefly because nobody really wanted to compromise. The machinery of democracy, still available, went unused. There were no real debates; there was a great deal of oratory and there was much editorializing, but almost all of it involved nothing much more than calling one's opponent a scoundrel. The notion that this scoundrel might have at least a little of the right on his side, and that sooner or later he would have to be dealt with, seems to have entered nobody's head.
The area of choice does not remain open forever. After the state of South Carolina announced its secession the area of choice very narrow. Originally it had embraced the whole country—national party conventions, nationwide campaign, national election and all. These had made no choice. Then Congress had its chance, and Congress made no choice.

Now the thing was delegated to a fantastic extent. In Charleston harbor there was Ft. Sumter, and in nearby Ft. Moultrie there were 70-odd federal soldiers under a major in the regular Army. This officer, Maj. Robert Anderson, was told, from Washington, that he was to keep the peace, but that if in his judgment the South Carolina authorities were really menacing he could move his men over into Ft. Sumter, which was much more defensible than Ft. Moultrie.
At the same time, suspecting that Maj. Anderson might do this, South Carolina authorities armed a steamboat and put it to patrol Charleston harbor; and the militia captain who commanded this boat was told to prevent the federal soldiers from occupying Ft. Sumter, using force if in his judgment that might be necessary.
And there, as 1860 ended, was where the power to make the fateful decision lay—in the hands of an obscure major of regulars and an equally obscure captain of militia. They had the authority to begin shooting if in their opinion shooting was called for. The fact that 30 million Americans would carry on the shooting if they began it was beside the point. The terrible question—war or no war—had somehow been evaded by the people and their political leaders during all of the months when the machinery of democracy was available for the solution of that question. Now the question could be answered by a major and a captain.

(There is something hauntingly familiar about that situation. Can we imagine anything like it today? Are there, somewhere on this globe, a major and a captain, eyeing—let us say—their radar screens, given the authority, which ought to lie somewhere farther up the line, to transmit the signals that will envelop civilization in earthquake, wind and fire?)
However that may be, let us get back to the winter of 1861. The delegation of authority was at last modified slightly; which is to say that the officers involved were brought a little closer under the control of their respective governments. Nevertheless, it might be remembered that even though, in the end, the federal government clearly decided to fight rather than give up Ft. Sumter, and the Confederate government decided to fight rather than to let Ft. Sumter remain in the hands of federal troops, the shooting at last began as a result of a conference between this same Maj. Anderson and two officers on the staff of the Confederate Gen. Beauregard. These men had discretionary authority. Without fracturing their orders, they might, just possibly, have arranged things so that the guns would not have gone off on that fateful 12th day of April.

The point of all of this is that when we fail to cope with a problem we do not necessarily dispose of it; we simply decree that the answer to it will be made by somebody else. In 1861 the people of America were plunged into the costliest war in their entire experience simply because they and their leaders had refused to try to find an answer to the most momentous problem that they faced. Events themselves at last forced an answer, and it was fearfully expensive when at last it was made.
Friday: A Haunting Dialogue

Tobacco Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent
At this time of year farmers begin seeding their tobacco plant beds. It should be kept in mind that tobacco seed are very small. Time spent preparing and smoothing the seed bed will be rewarded. After the soil is broken, it should be disced, harrowed, and raked until it is well pulverized, smooth and free of clods. Heavy equipment such as tractors that will tend to pack the soil should not be used in preparing the seedbed, especially in the later operations.
The plant bed should be well drained. If the center of the bed is about ten inches higher than the outer edge it will drain better and less puddling will take place.

As soon as the seed are sown a trench at least eight inches deep should be dug on all four sides of the bed to further facilitate drainage.
The suggested seeding rate is one ounce of seed to each 400 to 600 square yards of bed. The exact seeding rate should be based on how well the bed is prepared and managed, the variety and seed germination.
The quality of plants is greatly affected by the stand. Some growers find it easier to get uniform distribution of seed with a seeding machine than by hand seeding. With either system uniformity of distribution is very important. If beds are seeded by hand, thoroughly mix the seed with wood ashes, lime or fertilizer, and seed the bed in one direction, then cross seed one or more times.
On soils that are puffy it is advisable to pack the bed lightly so that the seed can be covered at a uniform depth. After the bed is seeded the soil should be packed lightly to firm the seed in the soil.
The small tobacco seed demand

Truant Officer Is Over-Zealous

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — When truant officer Lloyd Smith rounded up 20 hokey-playing youngsters Wednesday and herded them back to school, he got one too many.
Smith said he spotted one boy whom he believed to be about 8 years old. Over the youngster's strenuous objection Smith carried him off to school.
Every teacher had denied knowing the lad before he turned to Smith and said: "I told you I don't belong here. I'm only 5 years old."
Red-faced, Smith took the child home.

Kennedy Expected Toss Farm Crisis To Farm Chiefs

By OVID A. MARTIN
 NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy tosses into the laps of farm leaders today the question of what his administration should do about what he calls a farm crisis.

The incoming chief executive summoned heads of nine major farm organizations to meet with him and Orville L. Freeman, his secretary of agriculture-designate, at his newly established pre-inaugural headquarters at the Carlyle Hotel.

Kennedy had said during the campaign that one of his first acts as president would be to seek improvements in farm prices and incomes.

He has been quite mum about his farm policies since he won in an election that saw much of the Midwestern farm belt go against him.

Kennedy flew to New York Wednesday from Palm Beach, Fla., where he had been combining work and relaxation since Dec. 16.

He expects to hold a series of business conferences here today and Friday before traveling to Washington for a meeting Friday evening with Dean Rusk, chosen to be secretary of state in the new administration.

In advance of today's session with the farm leaders, Kennedy has on his schedule a breakfast conference with Prof. Richard Neustadt, Columbia University government specialist who is on leave as an aide to the president-elect.

He also booked a meeting with

Lawrence F. O'Brien, named earlier this week to be his special assistant in charge of job patronage and liaison with Congress. O'Brien resigned as Democratic National Committee organization director to take the new job on the White House staff.

Shortly after arrival late Wednesday, Kennedy conferred for two hours with his secretary of defense-designate, Robert S. McNamara. After that session at the president-elect's hotel suite, McNamara said they discussed potential appointees for defense department positions, and plans for the Kennedy regime's military spending budget.

In response to questions, McNamara said he and Kennedy discussed neither the Eisenhower administration's severance of diplomatic relations with Cuba nor the situation in Communist-threatened Laos. Before the meeting Kennedy aides had left open the possibility of both of those matters being on the agenda.

McNamara said he and the president-elect talked over possible choices for the job of secretary of the Army, but the new defense chief would provide no hint as to who would get that job.

Kennedy headquarters here repeated Wednesday night that Georgia Gov. Ernest Vandiver is among those being considered.

Today's closed farm conference has raised speculation in farm, political and commodity circles. Being kicked around was the question of whether Kennedy would stand firm behind a farm program he advanced in the campaign, or modify it in the light of election results.

Any modification would be a move toward a middle-of-the-road course. His campaign program envisioned broader and bolder government action in behalf of farmers, including stern production controls to end years of costly overproduction.

This program was in sharp contrast to Eisenhower policies. The president-elect will have difficulty in securing anything like a unanimous recommendation from those called to meet with him today.

At one pole is President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation. His group wants less government aid. At the other pole is President James G. Patton of the National Farmers Union. His group—which worked hard for Kennedy's election—wants more government aid.

Kennedy was expected nonetheless to ask these leaders today to hold further conferences in an effort to work out a broadly supported program that most of them could endorse.

This would be in line with his campaign promise that his farm policies would be designed to reflect farmers' wishes.

Kennedy announced Wednesday night that Roger Jones, chairman of the Civil Service Commission in the outgoing Eisenhower administration, is resigning that post to become deputy undersecretary of state for administration.

To succeed Jones as the commission chairman, the president-elect named John W. Macy Jr., vice president of Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn.

Jones, 52 has been in the federal service since 1933, most of the time in the budget bureau. He became civil service chairman last March.

Macy, 43 will take over that chairmanship with a background of experience in that agency. He was the commission's executive director from 1953 until 1958 when he went to Wesleyan as executive vice president.

Prior to 1953 he served with the Social Security Board, in the old war department, and with the Atomic Energy Commission.

McNamara Grabbing Reins Of Defense Job In A Hurry

By JOHN SCALI
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert S. McNamara, defense secretary-designate, is acting with such rapid fire precision that he looks like a potential strong man in the Kennedy cabinet.

President-elect John F. Kennedy is reported delighted and deeply impressed with what he regards as the surehanded way McNamara has grabbed hold of his assignment to run the Pentagon.

By contrast, Kennedy is understood to be somewhat disappointed at the pace of moves by Dean Rusk, secretary of state-designate, and others in helping to pick a team of aides.

McNamara, 44 the auto tycoon, is moving like one of the super-charged Fords he used to turn out in getting set for government business Jan. 20.

There is only one top job left to fill in his civilian high command, that of Army secretary.

McNamara talked over this appointment with Kennedy in New York Wednesday night with prospects the job will be filled within the next few days.

He already moved full time into a Pentagon office next door to retiring Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. Without fanfare he has sold some $1.5 million worth of Ford stock he owned Dec. 13 when Kennedy picked him.

Kennedy aides report that in addition to helping the president-elect assemble his top Pentagon commands swiftly, McNamara has displayed surprising political savvy in talking to congressmen who for years have ridden herd on any defense secretary.

Several long time defense department critics in Congress are known to have lauded to Kennedy McNamara's readiness to consult with them on personnel and other defense department problems.

Rusk and the undersecretary of state-designate, Chester Bowles, are reported to be having trouble finding suitably qualified top level men to fill some of the major state department spots.

Scores of candidates have been surveyed for such key jobs as assistant secretaries for Latin America, the Far East and Europe. Another hard to fill job is reported to be undersecretary for economic affairs. Because of the sensitive nature of these positions, men appointed to them come under very close congressional scrutiny.

Kennedy has given Rusk considerable leeway, it is understood, in recommending men of his own choosing for a majority of the some dozen jobs of assistant secretary level.

McNamara's pre-swearing in performance has impressed even some of the Pentagon cynics who have seen secretaries come and go. It generally takes about 10 months for a new defense secretary to learn the Pentagon ropes.

McNamara is moving so swiftly that he may cut this time to nine months, one commented wryly.

Girl Named George Is 'Discovery' Item

By JAMES BACON
 HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can a beautiful girl named George win fame and fortune in Hollywood? "Just call me George, everybody does," said blonde Georgine Darcy, a girl with more curves than an Alpine pass.

George is a Brooklyn girl with a problem. She always is being discovered and then slipping back into obscurity. Once she was in a movie with James Stewart and the now princess of Monaco—and got more publicity than either out of the movie.

It was an Alfred Hitchcock thriller called "Rear Window." Stewart, confined to his room, spent his spare time in the movie looking at his apartment house neighbors through binoculars.

George was a curvaceous party girl who lived across the way and Stewart's binoculars focused on her most of the movie.

Hitchcock dubbed her "Miss Torso." He said he just couldn't bring himself to call her George. Then she faded. Looking back she reflects: "I guess I should have pushed myself after that publicity but I'm not a pusher."

Next Jerry Lewis discovered her, put her in a movie or two and, then made her a stooge in his night club act. George is a dancer and singer, too.

When that ended, she went quietly back to obscurity—and waited.

Lucille Ball next discovered her and made her enroll in the Desilu Workshop.

"Lucy has never stopped helping me," says George, "and she has given me more encouragement than anyone. She found out that I am really a shy girl. She told me that she is too and showed me ways of overcoming shyness. She spent weeks helping me with comedy timing."

Miss Ball spotted George in Desilu's "Harrigan and Son" TV show where she plays the impish secretary.

George asked me how she can prevent another lapse into obscurity? My answer: "Next time you meet a producer, don't tell him your nickname is George. Use Georgia or Georgine."

Space Capsule Is Fired, Recovered

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—A space capsule has been lofted more than 32 miles and later recovered from the Gulf of Mexico.

The 900-pound nose cone on a Cree research rocket was sent up Wednesday atop a 44-foot, three-stage Nike solid-propellant rocket in another Air Force test of a high-speed recovery parachute.

The rocket was launched over the Eglin Gulf Test Range from the nearby Santa Rosa Island Missile Test Center. A range patrol boat recovered the capsule and its recording instruments within 40 minutes.

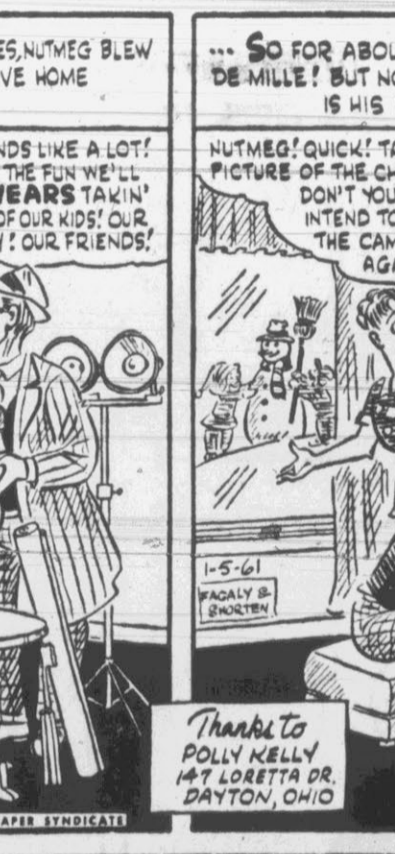

The launching was made to test use of a parachute-type drag system designed to slow the re-entry speed of space capsules and various escape devices. The tests are a preface to the man-in-space program.

The only national memorial in Missouri is a bust of George Washington Carver, west of Diamond, where he was born of slave parents.

Air Dome Houses Business Office

ELIZABETH N. J. (AP) — The City Federal Savings and Loan Assn. put up its latest office in 15 minutes—simply by inflating an air dome.

The new office is made of a transparent vinyl and is supported by air pressure from a motor-powered blower. Steel hoops add to its support.

The office is serving until the firm's permanent office is completed.

To add to its novelty, the firm has stocked the air dome with 228 plants of 31 varieties, and installed a six-foot birdcage with 22 birds.

The birdcage also holds two iguana chameleons.

A revolving door provides the main entrance and exit to the building, cutting the air loss to a minimum when someone enters or leaves.

The firm employs three persons in the 24 by 38 foot office and expects to keep the office in operation for about 18 months.

Kindergartener Learned Early

DENVER (AP) — A Denver father was disturbed to learn, in a meeting of parents with the kindergarten teacher, that his 5-year-old daughter was the only one in class who didn't know how to tie her shoelaces.

When he asked her about this, she said: "I don't tie my own shoes at school because the little boys tie them for me."

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally continued early this afternoon in lively trading despite some profit taking. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 70 to 223.30 with the industrials up 60, rails up 60 and utilities up 40.

Gains predominated in the list of key stocks. A scattering of issues edged as profits were taken on yesterday's large advance. The rise was having difficulty extending itself. The major steels were still moving forward although at a far lesser rate than yesterday. Autos, after an initial rise, turned back to the upside among rails, nonferrous metals, airlines, chemicals and utilities. Oils and tobaccos turned irregular. Brokers cited the same reasons as they did yesterday for the rally: anticipation of an eventual economic upturn led by the steel industry and expectations of increased defense spending, underlined by the present international difficulties.
