Showdowns Next Week Over Two Liberal Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Congress faces likely showdowns next week on two liberal moves—efforts to trim the power of the House Rules Committee and to make it easier to halt Senate filibusters.

Opening routine, speeches and preliminary maneuvering stalled action in both houses this week during the initial days of the new session.

But the Democratic Committee on Committees plans a meeting next week which may result in an attempt to purge Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., from the Rules Committee unless some compromise is agreed to before then.

Kennedy In Washington Today For Quick Meetings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy packed a tight schedule of conferences on politics, national and international affairs into a brief visit to Washington today.

He leaves later on what will apparently be his last extensive trip before coming to Washington for his inauguration.

Arriving from New York Friday night, Kennedy went straight from the airport into an hour and a half conference with his secretary of state designate, Dean Rusk.

McNamara May Modify Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration's order to reduce by 215,000 the number of service dependents overseas may be modified or even repealed by the next secretary of defense.

The order last Nov. 25 was part of a series of efforts to cut the U.S. deficit in the balance of international payments.

More Travel And Study Required For Certificates

RALEIGH (AP) — New teaching certification regulations will require more study and travel for Tar Heel teachers to keep their certificates up to par.

The State Department of Public Instruction announced Friday that new teachers will be required to accumulate six renewal units each five years in order to maintain their certificates.

House Fire Kills Lone Occupant

AHOSKIE, N. C. (AP) — Fire, apparently touched off by an overheated wood stove, destroyed a two-room frame house here early today, killing its lone occupant.

The victim was identified as Robert Savage, 35, a pulp wood worker who came to Ahoskie several months ago from Wilmington.

Diverting Funds To Relief Needs

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. David L. Lawrence today signed legislation diverting $44 million from state employees and school teachers' retirement funds into Pennsylvania's public relief fund, which is almost exhausted.

Lawrence says the diversion is necessary to keep the relief fund from going broke at midnight Monday. The state now has 9.3 per cent of the labor force out of work.

French Sources Say Pressure On Royal Capital Is 'Increasing'

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban Defense Ministry, with forces deployed against the alleged threat of invasion, claimed today two big airdrops of U.S. arms intended for counterrevolutionaries have been intercepted in separate areas of Cuba.

ALGIERS (AP) — French officials beamed optimism today as the crucial referendum on President Charles de Gaulle's self-determination plan for Algeria entered its second day.

Cubans Claim 2 Airdrops Of U.S. Arms Intercepted

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban Defense Ministry, with forces deployed against the alleged threat of invasion, claimed today two big airdrops of U.S. arms intended for counterrevolutionaries have been intercepted in separate areas of Cuba.

A formal press announcement said the arms were dropped by planes "coming from the north" and were packed in the original crates of U.S. arms factories.

Word of the seizures came as Fidel Castro's regime took new cracking down on Cubans trying to flee and sounding another overture for U.S. reconciliation once President-elect John F. Kennedy is in office.

El Mundo also carried on its front page a Cuban news agency dispatch from Moscow in which Tass, the Soviet news agency, called U.S. maintenance of its naval base at Guantanamo Bay "weak, illogical and ridiculous."

The king, in Vientiane for the formal installation of the new anti-Communist government of Premier Prince Boun Oum, had delayed his departure but then started Friday. He returned in less than two hours, and a spokesman explained that there had been engine trouble.

The king's second departure early today indicated the rebel attacks in the Luang Prabang area are isolated clashes between guerrilla units and royal patrols and were not connected with a major Pathet Lao offensive.

Not require new permits to leave unless they intend to return. The pitch to Kennedy was made by Ernesto (Che) Guevara, president of Cuba's national bank and architect of Castro's revolutionary economic policies.

Switzerland, in taking over protection of U.S. interests in Cuba, met a problem which was chronic for the now-departed U.S. diplomatic staff: how to obtain the release of American citizens held by Cuban police.

All About Town

With Anne Keziah

Beth Baker of Farmville, a sponsor at the Inaugural Ball, has been busy with Inaugural festivities and practice teaching prior to her forthcoming marriage to Charles Ward of Bethel. Beth will graduate two days before she and Charles are married on February 26. Both are students at East Carolina College.

While in Raleigh Wednesday covering the Inaugural Ball we visited with former Reflector Woman's Editor Mrs. Harold Jackson, who will be remembered as Annette Jackson. She and Harold now make their home in Raleigh where she is associated with the Wake County Welfare Department and he is connected with the State Agriculture Department.

Mrs. J. B. Spilman, Jr. has returned to Greenville after an enjoyable holiday in Rome and Switzerland. She visited with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo A. Facchi, who were living in Rome, but moved to Chexbres, Switzerland in December. Mr. Facchi is with the Panero International Engineering Firm with offices in Rome and Switzerland.

The first stop on the trip, due to plane trouble, delayed passengers for five hours in Lisbon. Courtesy of Swiss Air, they were taken on a tour of Lisbon, then on to Estoril where they had luncheon at the Palace Hotel.

Places of interest Mrs. Spilman visited Lausanne, Switzerland, where she spent a week, and Geneva, where she visited the World Health Organization, the International Labor Board, the International Education Department, and the League of Nations. The trip was made by jet Swiss Air. One of the highlights of the trip, Mrs. Spilman said, was meeting the many skiers going up to St. Moritz for the winter sports. A letter of introduction prior to her departure was received by Mrs. Spilman from the Embassy in Rome extending every courtesy while visiting there, but she wasn't able to accept it due to previous engagements. Returning to New York, the Broadway play "Advise and Consent" was on Mrs. Spilman's agenda.

Visiting for several days in Greenville this week were newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. James Ficklen Arthur Jr. The Arthurs were married on Sunday, January 1, in Unlontown, Pa. Elizabeth's hometown. They are both graduates of the University of North Carolina. She will continue to teach in Unlontown while he attends Officers Candidate School, Fort Benning, Ga.

The Sprull Spains have returned after a motor trip to Greenville, Miss. and Franklin, Tenn. during the holidays. In Greenville, they visited their son, Dr. Sprull Spain, and his wife, and in Franklin, they spent some time with their daughter, (the former Suddie May Spain) and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Jenkins. The Spains were overnight guests on their return trip of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Hinshaw, Mr. Spain's sister, in High Point.

The E. V. Ricks have as their houseguests Mrs. Ricks' brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. A. Oldham and daughters Melanie and Penelope of Kamloups, British Columbia, Canada. Remaining with the Ricks will be M. A. Oldham, Mrs. Ricks' father, of Chilliwack, British Columbia, who plans to visit with his daughter and family until early spring.

Women's interest in civic affairs was shown by the turnout at Thursday night's Public Hearing. There were as many women present for this hearing as there were men.

Rotary Club and county commissioner, Bob Martin, who stressed the valuable work being done by Miss Copeland.

The speaker in the beginning said that Pitt County was fortunate to have such a good library and that it was being made available to the county and was being used extensively. Miss Copeland pointed out that the library has more than 60,000 volumes and that some 1,600 books on the bookmobile were being distributed all over the county every three weeks in winter and every two weeks in summer. The bookmobile is at the same place on the same hour of the same day of the week making it convenient for the people to get the books desired.

Miss Copeland stated that the library also had some one hundred thirty five magazines and some eight daily papers on regular subscription and about five hundred long playing records were available along educational lines. She said that through the loan system the library could get any book desired within the state system.

In closing the speaker said that an effort was under way to secure a bookmobile for colored people of the county and that June Rose who has in the past rendered a great service to the library is leading this movement and is having good support from the colored principals and others in the county.

President of Bethel Rotary Club, Xury E. Manning, presided. The invocation was given by C. W. Everett.

At the refreshment hour, the hostess served delectable refreshments.

Methodist Women Have Circle Meeting
Monday afternoon at three-thirty the Sarah Whitehurst Circle was entertained in the home of Mrs. D. O. Carson, Sr.; co-hostess with Mrs. Carson were Mrs. Z. T. Harris and Mrs. W. C. Whitehurst, Sr.

Due to the absence of the circle leader, Mrs. Walter C. Whitehurst, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. D. O. Speir. She called on Mrs. C. W. Barbee, Spiritual Life Secretary, who opened the meeting by having the group sing, "O More Love to Thee" Mrs. Barbee gave an inspiring talk on the topic, "Be Glad in the Lord."

Belvoir Club Has Meeting

The Belvoir H.D. Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. H. L. Lewis.

"Refinishing Old Furniture" was the demonstration for the month presented by the Home Economics Agent, Mrs. Johnson. Devotions were given by Mrs. C. D. Clark. Reports were made by Mrs. Peter Brown on Education. Mrs. Clarence Barnhill gave a report on Family Life. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. R. F. Clark.

Plans were made for a "covered dish" supper to be held at the February joint meeting when husbands are invited and special guests.

The Agent announced the County Council meeting on January 10th at 2:30 p.m. and urged all members to attend. She also told of various workshops that will be held for "refinishing old furniture" and "making hats". She told of the possibility of modeling hats on television that were made last summer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess during the social hour, assisted by Mrs. Hilda Alexander and daughter, Bonnie Sue.

Spain Is Topic Of Discussion

An insight to Spain was the topic Dr. Sue Matz used when she spoke to the Arles Book Club Tuesday night. The club met with Mrs. Astor Richardson.

Dr. Matz, of the foreign language department of East Carolina College, has lived and studied in Spain for several summers. With this background, her discussion about the little, education, economic and cultures of Spain were very informative.

Preceding Dr. Matz's talk there was a business meeting presided over by Mrs. J. O. Derrick, club president. The group will contribute to the bookmobile.

Mrs. Richardson entertained the group by taping the voices of each member on her tape recorder and then letting them hear their voices.

A dessert course and coffee were served.

Special guests were Miss Mary Eakes, a former member of the club, and Dr. Matz.

Decorator Talks To Thetis Club

The Thetis Book Club met Tuesday with Mrs. Billy Laughinghouse. Guest speaker was Walter Clark, local interior decorator.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Marshall Whitehurst.

Mr. Clark emphasized that "you are your own decorator." Through books and decorating courses, the public has become better informed and more aware of decorating, he said.

The professional decorator, he said, is called upon because of his education and experience, to coordinate the customer's ideas and solve problems which a particular room may have. A small room can be given the effect of spaciousness through optical illusion. Correctly chosen accessories can give a room beauty and a "lived in" atmosphere, he added.

HOME DECORATING TODAY

By MRS. R. W. DAVENPORT COLOR AND PATTERN

PLAY YOUR OWN FAVORITES
Many books have been written about pattern and color, and if you have time to plough through them, fine. If you haven't, there is a simpler solution: choose a color that you like, that you feel comfortable with. Do anything you like with it; then complement it with flattering neutrals.

Do the same with pattern. It doesn't matter what you like or whether it is good at the moment; the important thing is that it is pleasing to you and gives you a tingle of delight each time you look at it. That is why interior design, of all the things it can do, must provide pleasure. If it doesn't, it is only an exercise in mechanics.

Let your room be a different breed, let your distinction come about through a love of color, a love of pattern and no compunction whatsoever about saying so.

If you need help, call the Home Furniture Store for an appointment.—(Adv.)

Mr. Clark also emphasized the importance of selecting furniture to fit the needs of the family. By combining or blending different periods of furniture an outstanding interior can also be created.

"One of the true measures of a well decorated room is when it is copied," he concluded.

A dessert course and discussion followed the program.

Charges Shouldn't Be Unanswered

It's nice to read the majority of the Security Council has confidence in the United States, and less trust in complaints and charges of Castro Cuba by discrediting the latter's accusation of imminent invasion from the United States.

Of the eleven Council members, Russia supported the accusations of Havana; two other countries didn't commit themselves. That left eight to vote "no". On the face of it we did pretty well. This was the third time Fidel Castro attempted to pin something on Uncle Sam, and it didn't work.

But we're not completely satisfied. Instead of merely denying the accusations, it is suggested here the charges should have been proven false... proven beyond question... proven wrong in such a thorough manner that the next time an unfriendly government raises the idea of bringing charges against the United States in the Security Council, their own UN delegates would prefer retreat and cringe at the very thought of pressing charges.

We advocate this course because accusations of planned aggression, while easy to make, are serious; and when falsely made, constitute slander on an international scale. When true, such charges should similarly result in the fullest introduction of evidence by both sides.

But back to our mittens. The United States spokesmen in the Security Council might have responded to the Cuban complaint by identifying and locating each regiment of Army and Marine troops; identifying and generally locating each naval vessel;

The reading (verbatim) of all Defense Department directives of the preceding two months pertinent to assignments, military transportation and supply; the reading-of all public statements by the President, pertinent to Cuban relations, over the past six months; the reading of Constitutional provisions that only Congress can declare war;

The assurance of New York's Police Commissioner (in person) that he cannot afford absence of any of his force for keeping the peace and enforcing laws outside of New York City.

This might require teams of readers working in relays before accuser and the Council. But because of the seriousness of such charges, it follows the Council members would have to hold extra-long sessions in order to cover as quickly as possible all pertinent evidence at hand.

The detailed verbal accounting (lasting not less than a week) should be immediately followed by a hurry-up inspection tour of all military and naval installations east of the Mississippi. Such a trip, made by Council members and accusers of planned aggression, would be no junket... but a businesslike inspection complete with much jeep-riding, walking, eating in mess halls, sleeping in barracks and flying in planes something less than luxury airliners. Anything smacking of extra comforts might inspire charges the U. S. was trying to unduly influence the case.

At the end of each long day, translators might read to the inspecting body all dispatches for the preceding four weeks from the major news wire services, special correspondents representing the nation's larger newspapers, radios and television networks, on matters pertaining to Cuba and our relations with that government.

At the conclusion of this crash program, it would be fitting for our government to formally propose a similar program of informative talk and sightseeing in Cuba.

We are thinking the whole matter would be resolved at that point by a unanimous vote of the jury acquitting our government of the charges; and the merest hint by our side might bring an immediate "conviction" of the accuser for malicious slander, libel and persecution and who-knows-what. We might even get "damages".

Trouble is, the United Nations has much more serious business at hand than the ravings of a small-time operator in the Caribbean.

But someday, we, or someone, are going to have to pin down a lie. The procedure we outline here is crude; but it would be effective.

Great Nuclear Safety Record Despite Idaho

The atomic reactor explosion in Idaho this week was one of the more significant accidents on the national scene. More than an accident, it was a harbinger of the coming "Atomic Age."

It is remarkable that in the years since Almgordo there have been no such mishaps; this was the first fatal accident involving a reactor in the history of this country's atomic energy program.

It is something of a tribute to the care and training involved, that worse accidents than that in Idaho have not occurred. With all the nuclear weapons in our arsenal, it is even more remarkable that there has been no greater disaster over the years.

The handling of gunpowder and dynamite has occasioned many hundreds of accidental deaths; yet the infinitely more powerful nuclear power has been (thus far) a relatively safer item.

The Reflector would remind, though, that in the years to come—as fissionable products become more commonplace and their use more widespread—the chances for accidents are going to proportionately increase.

There will be accidents... some of them terrible; but they must not be allowed to slow our entry into the Atomic Age which holds so great a promise.

Differences In 2 Viewpoints

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP) — Sunny and sober.

Those two words spell one of the basic differences between President Eisenhower and President-elect Kennedy.

The elderly — 70-year-old — Eisenhower appears to have a sunny optimistic outlook. The young 43-year-old — Kennedy — is not pessimistic but appears to take a much more sober view of the world.

Three stories, which moved within an hour of one another on Associated Press wires, point up the difference.

During the presidential campaign Kennedy complained the American economy was dragging its feet, needed to grow faster. Eisenhower has appeared rather satisfied with the rate of growth. A number of economists agreed with Kennedy.

Thursday at 4:38 p.m. the AP moved a story saying the National Planning Association — which describes itself as a non-profit, nonpolitical organization — learned on Kennedy's side.

Trying to accomplish this is going to be one of Kennedy's toughest tasks.

At 5:30 p.m. the AP carried another story out of Washington. This one, basing its information on "authoritative sources," said Eisenhower would send Congress a budget which at this moment looks very sunny, indeed.

The country is in a recession, the fourth since World War II, and just preventing its getting worse will call for strenuous efforts by Kennedy's new administration.

If it does get worse, Kennedy may have to take stringent steps.

The President's budget is his estimate of how much spending should be for the fiscal year starting July 1 and how much the government will collect from revenue to offset the spending.

Eisenhower figures, the AP said, that if Congress votes to spend no more than he suggests, then at the end of fiscal year June 30, 1962, the government revenue will be $600 million more than its expenses.

Still Waiting For It To Light Up

By PATRICIA MOORE

Yep, Killed Three Geese

People returned recently from a hunting trip to Bodie Island (pronounced by some as "body" and by others as "boe-dy"). One told the story that a hunter with another hunting party came out of the wilds with three geese. The hunter was quite impressed with himself, as hunters are about those things.

Game warden inspected the "geese" and asked the hunter if he killed all three geese. "I sure did," the hunter proudly replied.

Well, the warden asked next, do you know what kind of geese these are? "Geese," the hunter replied. (Obviously a novice.)

Well, the story goes that the geese were snow geese and you aren't supposed to kill snow geese on Bodie Island. And the hunter was fined a fabulous sum of money for the three snow geese. As we said, this hunter obviously was a novice.)

More teevie — as one North

Carolina columnist spells it — about the bad, bad reporters. "Route 66" television program the other night featured a story about a scientist who predicted the hydrogen bomb blast would kill all but those who followed him into a cave.

This mean femme fatale reporter (not a day over 25) flew to the spot and scooped everyone, then pitted the scientist and his estranged wife against each other over their son — all to get a good story.

If this keeps up, we will form a society to obliterate all "teevie" programs which seek to tear down ethics and damage irreparably the reputations of the reporting world. True, some have ethics which truly cause awe — but most are at least half-way human, like everybody else.

The other day a real gone hot rod stopped in front of this building and a cool cat got out.

Hey, look at that real gone hot rod out front we called. And sure enough, everyone came to look at the real gone hot rod. One of our cohorts said — yeah, part of that hot rod is sure enough gone. Well, it was the whole hood and probably more. But it got its driver around in style.

We heard the inaugural parade, etc. were really "gone". One of our brood returned home with a black eye.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS CHRIST AS KING

On the walls of my study hangs an object of art, and a symbol of Christian faith which I prize very highly. It is the figure of Christ, on the cross, but a Christ clothed in royal robes. The piece is called "Christus Rex" (Christ the King).

Our first thought of Christ should be of Christ the Saviour. We are so in need of repair morally and spiritually that we cannot even get started until we are forgiven and know ourselves to be forgiven. But Christ is not only Saviour — Christ is also King. This is what the New Testament teaches. His entrance into Jerusalem on the Sunday preceding his crucifixion was a simple but glorious setting forth of that fact.

But this Saviour Christ of ours is now a reigning monarch. He made this universe, he now rules over it. If we have Christian faith and if we live up to its moral requirements, we are part of a great spiritual empire which Jesus called the Kingdom of Heaven, or the Kingdom of God. Physically we acknowledge and live under our political governments; spiritually we live in an altogether different realm. We live in a spiritual kingdom which is perfect in quality and everlasting in duration, and we live in this realm because we are made in the image and after the likeness of God. Our spirits demand a dwelling place. Over that dwelling place, called heaven whether in this world or beyond, Christ rules.

Christus Rex.

Real Govm't Center

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Again the Congress of the United States meets in session to attend to the people's business. This is the realistic center of government.

Congress is a continuous body, two thirds of the Senate remaining in office no matter how many elections are held. The House of Representatives lasts only two years and then has to be re-elected. Both House and Senate committees are continuous and meet at call whenever it is suitable.

The 87th Congress, which went into session on January 3, faces a new President, a new Cabinet, but most of its committee chairmen will be the same by the rule of seniority which is the most convenient rule thus far discovered for such a purpose. Occasionally, a dumb cluck emerges to the chairmanship of an important committee, but not too often. A man who has remained in Congress a long time enough to become a committee chairman has learned a great deal by experience and has discovered the essence of representative government which is that in a republic the will of no one man can be made to prevail. Republican government is government by compromise.

President Kennedy will be inaugurated 17 days after the Congress goes into session. He will be inaugurated by the usual ceremony and excitement. But almost immediately he will send to Congress his long list of appointees, including the members of his Cabinet. These persons will have to be confirmed by the Senate. Usually, there is little fuss about cabinet officers, the assumption being that a President is entitled to have his own.

The American Cabinet is unlike any similar body anywhere. Its members are not political officials. They are literally secretaries to the President, having no political rights of their own. The President may dismiss a Cabinet officer at will. Cabinet officers do not constitute a government, as they do in Great Britain; they are, to repeat, Presidential assistants. He alone is responsible for the government. After he is elected, his responsibility is to Congress, which can, under certain conditions, impeach him. But Congress may not reflect a President's will. Only the people can do once by choosing electors in each state.

The constitutional system is designed to prevent tyranny, to maintain a representative republic based upon a division of authority and responsibility.

A President can, by his personality, charm and popular appeal, make himself a powerful force in the government. This is what happened during some years of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Presidency. Other times, there are men in Congress, particularly in the Senate, who are so superior to the President in the minds of the people, that the President shrinks before them. This was the case with Senators as Daniel Webster, Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun and in recent years, Robert A. Taft. There do not seem to be men of this type about these days.

President Kennedy will have to accept the Eisenhower budget at first because the fiscal year for the American government over on June 30. Nevertheless as his program for new legislation is introduced, budgetary changes will come about automatically. It will be possible to judge whether this will be a conservative, a liberal or a radical Administration by the very first measures that are sent to Congress. It will also be visible at that time whether the President has sufficient strength to carry through his program or whether his Congressional liaison officers will have to compromise for votes.

Parties these days mean less than they should. Republicans vote with Democrats and vice versa. There is a conservative group in both Houses and a liberal and radical group in each House. There are North-South coalitions. There is a labor group in each House. There are mavericks who go their own way, ignoring party affiliations altogether. Raleigh Parade One Of Biggest

By LYNN NISBET

WAR-LIKE—The area around the 200 block of North Blount street had a very definite warlike atmosphere Thursday. Some 8,000 troops—with equipment ranging from small side arms to massive tanks and armored trucks, and upwards of 2,000 uniformed members of various bands had massed around the mansion to provide the escort for Governor Luther Hodges and Governor-elect Terry Sanford to the auditorium for the inaugural ceremonies.

Some World War I veterans who were watching the parade of military might, including the jet planes overhead, and the nifty uniforms of the service men, commented on how different it was from what they had 40-odd years ago.

Getting all that mass of human and mechanical pieces in motion was no easy job and the best moment resulted in delaying the parade about half an hour. Oldtimers rated this the biggest and most elaborate show ever presented at the inauguration of a North Carolina Governor.

For one thing the weather was just about perfect. Eight years ago when William Umstead was inaugurated the weather was lousy. Four years ago when Luther Hodges took office by right of his own election, the rains came before the parade was over. This time the only complaint heard anywhere was from some of the guests in the main reviewing stand, which faced the west, was that the bright sun almost blinded them.

BORROWED—The parade had all the old time requirements for a bride's wardrobe—"something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue." There were a lot of old and new and blue things in evidence and most of the convertibles used for the dignitaries were borrowed. The cream colored Continental in which the Governors rode was the car furnished by Ford Motors for the presidential inaugural in Washington, and loaned by that committee for use in the North Carolina ceremony.

It attracted almost as much attention from photographers as did the men riding in it.

NO SCRAP—The caucus of Democratic members of the House of Representatives Wednesday afternoon went along as expected without contest for any of the elective offices in the House. There was a little argument, not much, over suggestion that the caucus endorse certain proposed legislation.

The Senate caucus will be held on February 7, the night before the General Assembly convenes. No serious contest is anticipated there. It appears that Sen. Lunsford Crew of Halifax has clear sailing for president protem; Ray Byerly of Sanford for principal clerk; Eugene Simmons of Tarboro for reading clerk, and Herman Scott of Farmington for sergeant at arms.

Sen. Wills Hancock of Granville had given thought to seeking the president pro tem place, but is understood to have abandoned the idea. There is possibility, but remote, that other aspirants may enter the races for reading clerk and sergeant at arms.

CLOCKS—When the legislators come back to the capitol for the 1961 session next month they will find the old familiar clocks on the walls of House and Senate chambers. The Senate clock flunked out last session, and Sen. Simpson of Craven, who is a jeweler, got some modernistic style clocks to replace the old standbys.

George Cherry, head of the general services division, said the other day he had gotten the old clocks repaired and that come February they would be back on the walls. The modernistic timepieces will not be thrown away. They may suit very well for the new State House to be ready for occupancy sometime during the 1963 session. Cherry said he had heard a number of people say the modernistic touch was out of character in the very dignified century and a quarter old building.

Other Editors Saying Dangerous Political Step

(Washington Daily News)

This effort to purge certain congressmen now serving on the House Rules committee of the United States congress is fraught with danger.

Instead of trying to patch up differences, the emphasis now seems to be in the direction of punishing certain members. The member to whom the finger points to most glaringly is Congressman William Colmer of Mississippi.

Mr. Colmer, a long-time member of the Rules committee, did not support John F. Kennedy for president. Because of the lack of such support, liberals in congress are saying he is no longer a Democrat. The plan in purging him has the apparent support of Sam Rayburn, 79-year-old House Speaker.

The Daily News did not sanction Mr. Colmer's support of an untruncated slate of presidential electors. But to take steps now to throw him off the Rules committee by such a purge has all the earmarks of power politics. It reminds us of the time Franklin D. Roosevelt tried to purge the United States Supreme court because he did not like certain decisions made by the court.

Mr. Colmer, if he is eventually thrown off the Rules committee, will find himself a congressman without real portfolio. But we should not forget that the real reason for the purge is not necessarily because he did not support Mr. Kennedy but rather because the liberal element in congress wants to get more liberals on the Rules committee. And the fact that he did not directly support Mr. Kennedy is merely a cover-up of the real reason.

We say this because in 1956 Adam Clayton Powell not only failed to support the Democratic nominee, Adlai Stevenson, but he actually campaigned and supported the Republican nominee, Dwight Eisenhower. Yet he was elected to Congress as a Democrat, and at this session of Congress he becomes chairman of the powerful House committee on Labor and Education, succeeding Graham Barden of North Carolina.

Mr. Colmer did not support the Republican candidate, Richard Nixon. If in good faith the real reason for kicking off Mr. Colmer should be his lack of support for Mr. Kennedy, then in good faith how can the Democrats allow Adam Clayton Powell to continue to serve as Democratic chairman of such a powerful committee?

It is our belief that North Carolina's congressional delegation will frown upon and oppose such a purge. The effort to purge could be the move in congress which throws Southern Democrats openly against the Kennedy program. And to get the program through, we believe he needs Southern support.

If the purge is fair, then let congressional liberals also be fair. If Mr. Colmer is thrown off, then also throw off Adam Clayton Powell.

Predictions For Shorter Term

By ELMER ROESSNER

For two weeks now experts and volunteers have been forecasting business trends for all of 1961. Now let's have some predictions for the shorter term: Cheaper eggs: Hatching of laying chickens last month was up 50 per cent over a year ago, portending a rise in egg supplies later on this year, with probable lower prices.

More steel: Orders are increasing slightly after a dull December, and some increase in production will come this month and next, with more in March.

No dip in dips: Success of several new cocktail dives on the market is exciting other food manufacturers, and soon many more will be on the shelves.

Cheaper ham: Fresh and cured pork will be in shorter supply in the first half of 1961, but, as a heavy crop of piglets fatten, there will be plenty of pork at lower prices in the fall.

More beef: The wait for cheaper beef and veal won't be so long. Production is heavy and slaughtering may increase 10 per cent. Note: Unless there is a sharp upturn in employment, the dip in food prices may be sooner and deeper than now calculated.

Civil War caps coming: Cap manufacturers are ready for the centennial of the Civil War. They have stocked up with replicas of both Yank and Johnny Reb caps and this year expect to outsell Davy Crockett coonskins at their peak. There will also be a tide of souvenir items, including Confederate bills closely resembling original issues.

BALKING AT SCHOOL AID: School help resistance: Of all the Kennedy proposals, those to provide Federal aid to schools and teachers will meet most resistance. Southern Democrats will oppose them vigorously in fear that once Federal funds are accepted, courts may order immediate, complete integration.

even if that is not specifically provided in the law.

Medical care, quick: Despite medical association objections, Federal medical care for the aged through Social Security will speed through Congress, perhaps being the first Kennedy platform to be jammed through. The probability of passage will cause platoon of Republican Congressmen, conservatives as well as others, to leap on the bandwagon. Before June, being against old people will be as popular as being against sin and in favor of dogs.

Credit shifts: If you have a good record of paying bills, expect a rise in the flood of mail urging you to buy on credit. But if you have had spots of unemployment recently, don't be surprised if retail credit men give you a dead-flounder eye when you ask about installments. Retailers are increasingly fearful of losses because of unemployment, yet wish to keep sales high through credit. So they will woo those best able to pay, fit those least able.

OLD PROMOTER EXPLAINS WHY NO ONE DIGS SHELTERS

"I turned down a good offer today," the Old Promoter announced when he dropped in for his time-killing visit. "Fellow offered me fat commissions for selling family bomb shelters."

We arched each eyebrow in turn to indicate surprise, and the Ancient One explained: "Families won't buy bomb shelters. The main reason is that they don't see Civilian Defense officials digging shelters in their back yards. They don't see mayors building sub-sub-subcellars under city halls. When the public sees governors shoveling out soil to put a shelter under their mansions, or Congressmen burrowing like badgers into the hillsides, then we prospective shelter salesmen can make a buck. He may have something there."

PREP SCORES

Ayden 53 Farmville 51

FARMVILLE—Ayden's Tornados, down by one point at half-time, came from behind in the second half to drop Farmville's cagers in the Red Devil gym.

Dennis Mills, a spunky guard for the Tornados, scored only five points, but he proved his worth on defense. The All-Conference footballer threw a blanket over Red Devil sharpshooter J. Y. Monk in the second half to stifle the Farmville forward with only one shot in the last 16 minutes of the contest.

Monk, who racked up 12 points in the first half, was held to only five points in the last half for a total of 17. All five points came from the free throw line.

The Ayden lasses made it a clean sweep, knocking off the Red Devil girls, 37-31. Andrea Harris, a high-scoring forward, led the Tornados attack, bucketing 24 points to take scoring honors for the evening.

In the boys' game, Monk still emerged as the game's high scorer, even with the great defensive effort by Mills. Close behind him was teammate Ben Moore with 16 tallies.

With the score tied at 40-40 with 19 seconds left, Ayden's Clem McLawhorn sank a 25 footer to put the Tornados ahead by two. Then Tornado center Ted Norris was fouled, and he calmly sank two free throws to put Ayden out of reach. As the final whistle sounded, Reason sank a half court for the Red Devils for the final 53-51 margin.

Oak City 37 Robersonville 33

OAK CITY—A flare of tempers in the final stages of a basketball game here last night climaxed a second half Oak City rally and sent Robersonville home on the short end of a 37-33 decision.

After trailing for three quarters Oak City pushed out front for the first time, 33-31, early in the fourth period on a jumper by Edmondson.

The Rams, blending the outside shooting of Tommy Ward with the inside work of Bonnie Stevenson, outpointed Oak City in the first two periods and left at intermission with a 22-18 advantage.

Larry Worsley, who scored 20 of the winner's 37 points, triggered a third quarter Oak City rally that cut the gap to one point, 30-29.

In the girls' game, Robersonville spotted Oak City with a 20-7 lead but kept the nets hot in the third quarter, cutting the lead to 32-28, only to stumble in the final period and lose 37-32.

Rogerson led the losers with 12 points and Perry had 19.

In the feature contest, Worsley's 20 points was high. Ward had 13 for the Rams and Stevenson 12.

The Rams, 3-4 for the season, clash with Jamesville there Tuesday night.

Bethel 65 Winterville 55

WINTERVILLE—Bethel's balanced scoring attack tuned up to the task in the second quarter here last night and waited to a 65-55 victory over stubborn Winterville.

The Wolves of Coach Blaine Moya made a game of it in the first quarter and caught fire in the final period—scoring 26 points—to give the once-beaten Indians some uneasy moments.

Bethel, raising its league mark to 9-0, pulled away from a 13-12 first quarter lead with a 20-point barrage in the second period.

By the end of three periods, the Indians had boosted their lead to 18 points, 47-29. A zone press in the final period enabled Winterville to pick up the slack with a last minute rush.

John Smith pumped in 19 points for the winners and Harvey Lewis trailed with 16. James Braxton had 14 for Winterville and Bobby Hobgood 11.

Winterville's girls remained the only undefeated sextet in the county by blasting Bethel 70-52 in the night's opener.

A couple of Carolyns did all the scoring for the winners. Barnes tossed in 46 and her scoring mate, Cayton, had 24. Mary Chesson had 18 for Bethel.

Winterville is host to Stokes-Pactolus Tuesday night and Bethel goes to Grifton.

Grifton 67 Chicod 58

CHICOD—Grifton's Bulldogs came from a one point deficit at halftime to topple Chicod last night by a 67-58 margin on the latter's home court.

After Grifton took a 16-10 first quarter lead behind the expert shooting of center Billy Mahler, Chicod fought back in the second period and came out of it with a 27-26 halftime lead.

But in the second half, the Bulldogs were a different ball club. A 41-point second half spurge put the Bulldogs ahead for keeps, while they held Chicod to only 31 points.

In the opener, the Grifton girls downed the Chicod lasses to the tune of 48-41. John Smith led the winners in the scoring department with 29 points. Teammate Jane Mewborn also added 13 points to a winning cause.

Copping the scoring honors for the Chicod girls was Mary Louis Hudson with 20 points. She was followed in the scoring barrage by Judy Mills, who tallied 15.

Bath 47 Grimesland 39

GRIMESLAND—Bath's invading cagers mounted a 14-point lead by the end of the first quarter, held off a spirited rally by Grimesland, and hung on to subdue the local Panthers here last night by 47-39.

The visitors' victory completed a Bath sweep of last night's non-conference doubleheader. The Bath lasses trounced the local sextet in the opener, 71-53.

Leo Sullivan led Coach Jack Wallace's Bath five, tossing in 22 points. Only the Hardees could score for the Panthers. Louis netted 29 points; Lindsay, 15.

Grimesland and Bath matched points in the second period before the local quint sliced five points from the visitors' margin in the third stanza. At that point the Grimesland rally cooled as the Panthers were able to reduce the Bath margin by only one more point before the final buzzer.

Sandra Cox led the way in Bath's one-sided win in the girls' action. She wound up the evening with 27 points. Grimesland's Betty Lou Morgan carried nearly all the local sextet's scoring burden. Of the total 33 points, she bucketed 27.

Grimesland resumes Pitt County Conference scrapping Tuesday night as the Panthers travel to Ayden to meet the Tornados in a family feud.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

NEW YORK (AP)—Fight fans may be getting their last look at Carmen Basilio in ring togs tonight.

The former welterweight and middleweight champion has indicated he will hang up his gloves if he makes a poor showing against tenth-ranked welterweight contender Gaspar Ortega, 25, of Mexico. They clash in a television (ABC-TV, 10 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, ten-rounder) tonight at Madison Square Garden.

"This fight will determine whether I will go on further," said Basilio, 33, a pro of 12 years standing.

Idle since he was stopped for the second straight time by NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer last June 29, Basilio was rated just even money against the tall Mexican. Earlier in the week, Carmen had been the 7-5 choice.

If anyone can test whether Basilio has anything left, Ortega is the guy to do it. The 5-10 1/2 invader is game and aggressive. He said he plans to go tearing after Basilio from the opening bell.

"He's eight years older and slower," said Gaspar. "I will put the pressure on him."

Ortega will weigh about 149, spotting the 5-4 1/2 Basilio six pounds. Carmen has agreed to make 155.

Two of the three basketball teams unbeaten in Atlantic Coast Conference play put their spotless records on the line in games today and tonight.

Duke, 2-0 in the conference, faced rugged N.C. State this afternoon at Durham. Wake Forest, 4-0 in ACC play, entertains Virginia tonight.

The other team still unbeaten in ACC play is North Carolina, which has a 1-0 mark. The sixth-ranked Tar Heels, 7-2 over-all, take on Notre Dame at Charlotte tonight.

In the only other conference game tonight, Maryland entertains South Carolina. Clemson, meanwhile, entertains Davidson of the Southern Conference.

All ACC teams were idle Friday night.

Duke ranked eighth in the nation, took a 10-1 record into today's game. The Blue Devils have been beaten only by North Carolina. That was in the finals of the Dixie Classic, not counted as an ACC game.

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The South squad was a slight favorite over the heavier Yankee team in the 12th annual Senior Bowl football game today.

The South holds a 6-5 edge in the Senior Bowl series. The 50 college seniors make their professional debut in the all-star game, although most already have signed pro contracts.

The North offense is built on the passing of quarterback Dick Norman of Stanford. Fullback Roger Hagberg of Minnesota will be called on to keep the South defenses honest with up-the-middle rushes.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Tuss McLaughry, executive secretary of the American Football Coaches Association, said today it is very likely both New Mexico State University and The Citadel next year will be considered major colleges in voting for the group's coach of the year award.

Both schools are listed in the major football category by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, but were designated minor by the coaches committee which conducted the 1960 coach-of-the-year poll.

McLaughry said, "Remember, this is the first year of our new poll. Some mistakes were made, but the whole thing will be revised and discussed here, and I'm certain things can be worked out to everyone's satisfaction."

Rip Engle of Penn State, president of the AFCA, said: "If they want to be major, it's okay with us. We have no desire to place anyone in a category they do not want. Engle said The Citadel has complained.

The football coaches, meeting here in conjunction with the annual NCAA convention, revised their annual poll this season. Previously, the coaches had voted in a nationwide poll.

But the voting was changed to first nominate major and minor coaches from each of eight districts, then ballot on the eight in each category for a national winner.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, runner-up in the Eastern Division, and the Detroit Lions, Western Division second-place club, meet today in the Orange Bowl in what amounts to a playoff for third-place in the National Football League.

The incentive for all concerned, however, is money. Players on the winning team will get $600 each, and each loser will receive $400. And 65 per cent of the net proceeds will go to the players' pension fund.

The game, scheduled for 2 p.m. (EST), was to be televised nationally by the CBS.

Phants Put Stopper On Jacksonville Last Nite

skine Duff coolly dropped in six free throws in the final minutes of play and Layne Jorgensen turned in a superb performance here last night as Greenville stunned a sound Jacksonville quint, 53-49.

It was the Phants' first conference victory of the season in two starts and dealt Jacksonville its first league loss in two games.

Coach Bo Farley, terming it as the Phants' "best showing of the season" praised the play of center Layne Jorgensen.

"He looked like a basketball player last night," Farley said this morning. The rebounding work of John Bynum was also cited in the Phants' victory.

Greenville started fast, hitting 18 points in the first quarter, and pulled into a 30-23 lead at intermission.

Jorgensen, with 10 points, led the first half barrage which saw the G-men holding a 7-point spread most of the way.

The Phants registered only one field goal in the final quarter and a last-ditch effort almost paid off for Coach Tom Prichard's quint.

The Cards whittled the lead to three points early in the third period and after several minutes of scoreless ball drew to within one point, 48-47.

The Phants, playing a deliberate style of ball in the final period, went to the free throw line for 14 hits in the final minutes of play but could hit on only seven-six by Duff.

Duff, who accepts pressure as a strong challenge, broke the game open for the Phants with his dead-eye from the charity line in the final period.

He converted on six straight tosses and pushed Greenville ahead to stay in the closing minutes when the tension was mounting.

Coach Bo Farley decided to sacrifice speed for height against the Cards early in the game and it brought dividends.

Lanky John Bynum replaced guard Kroghle Andersen in the lineup and joined with Jorgensen in sweeping the backboard clean.

Bynum netted eight points and the rugged Jorgensen had 16.

Tarboro lowered the boom on New Bern 74-54 and Washington edged Elizabeth City 49-31.

Everett Speaks To Club On Centennial

CLIFTON EVERETT . . . of Bethel was guest speaker Friday night at the Ayden Rotary Club meeting. (Photo by James W. Everett.)

AYDEN—The Proclamation concerning the Centennial of the Civil War was explained by Clifton Everett of Bethel to members of the Ayden Rotary Club last night.

Everett, former mayor of Bethel and now a junior member of the North Carolina House of Representatives, stressed that much has been said about the war to spark the interest and imagination of the American people. It is recognized that one of the greatest armies of all times was the army of northern Virginia under the leadership of General Robert E. Lee, Everett said.

He gave a vivid description of the many campaigns, including Manassas, Chancellorsville, Fredericksburg and others during the war up to April 9, 1865, when Lee surrendered to General Grant at Appomattox, Va. The history of the army of northern Virginia is one of victory, valor, discipline and courage, Everett said.

Club president, Wayland McGlohon, presided at the weekly meeting of the club. Bob Rouse Sr. and Cedric Davis were visitors from the Farmville club. Warren Kinlaw had as his guest, Bob Elwanger. Another guest was Bill Everett, brother of James Everett.

James Everett, program chairman for the evening, presented Corey Stokes, who introduced the speaker for the evening.

Sewage Permits Hit $3 Million

RALEIGH (AP) — Permits for construction of some $3 million worth of sewage treatment facilities by municipalities and industries were approved Friday by the State Stream Sanitation Committee.

The agency, charged with cleaning up North Carolina rivers and streams, also reached agreements with a number of towns and industries, setting deadlines for adequate treatment facilities.

Classification of waters of the Pasquotank River Basin was given final approval by the committee. A date of April 6 was set to begin enforcing the water standards. A fishing water classification applies to most of the basin.

Sewage treatment permits approved by the committee included: the town of Jamesville, $756,000 in facilities; the town of Selma, $387,000; town of Mayodan, $200,000; town of Mount Pleasant, $36,000; town of Kernersville, $28,000; town of Reidsville, $36,000.

Deadlines set for sewage treatment improvements included: Smithfield, April 1, 1962; Kenly, Jan. 1, 1963; Randleman, April 1, 1964; Benson, July 1, 1964; Seaboard, March 1, 1963; Hillsboro, Oct. 1, 1962; Goldsboro, Jan. 1, 1964; Winterville, Jan. 1, 1963; and Wendell, Dec. 1, 1964.

The towns of Jamestown, Wilkesboro, New Bern, Jonesville, and Bolling Springs were given permission to issue bonds in excess of limits set by law to provide sewage treatment facilities.

The classification of a 10-mile stretch of the Yadkin River was raised from fishing water to water supply to permit the town of Jonesville to use water from the river.

High School Juniors And Seniors Hear Midshipman

By CRAIG WORTHINGTON

Hugh Duncan, senior at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, spoke to junior and senior boys Wednesday morning. Chosen on the basis of his scholarship and leadership, Duncan was one of fifty seniors to visit high schools during his Christmas holidays.

Duncan showed a film called "Life at Annapolis," which covered all phases of school life. On the academic side, the film showed that Annapolis offers almost all courses of study, with emphasis on foreign languages, because of the importance of communicating with foreigners.

In their training as Naval officers, midshipmen also learn about navigation and how to use the many instruments connected with running ships. Living on a river, they also have many models to aid them with these studies.

A schedule similar to that of years past will be used. All courses of the same subject will be given at one time.

Electives are scheduled for the last day, so that students not in these classes may have this day free. Students are required to be in-school only for the examinations which they have scheduled.

Majority Practice Practice for those interested in trying out for the majority squad will begin Monday at the high school. Those interested are asked to bring their batons.

Debate Tournament This morning, Rose High's National Forensic League chapter acted as host for the Invitational Debate Tournament.

The tournament was scheduled mainly for two reasons: to help participating chapters to register points with the national office and to give high school students experience in debating prior to the state triangular debate contest this spring.

Students debated the query: Resolved that the voting age should be lowered to 18.

Debate teams from Ayden, Kinston, Roxboro, Washington, New Bern, and Altavista, Virginia, received invitations to join the Greenville debaters in this tournament.

Greenville debaters who signed up for the debates included Eileen Stoll, Pat Worsley, Mike Posey, Roger Hardee, Jimmy Eatman, Betty Carawan, Chappy Bradner, and Craig Worthington. Robert Starling, adviser to the club, planned the debate tournament and tournament topic.

Mid-Term Examinations at Rose High will be Wednesday, January 25, and continue through Friday, January 27.

Other officers elected are: Cherry Futreal, Rocky Point, vice president; Jeannette New, Greenville, secretary-treasurer; and Sylvia Dawkins, Rockingham, publicity chairman.

Dr. Hermine Caraway is faculty advisor of the group.

Officers Elected By English Club

James Ballance, junior from Fremont, has been elected president of the English Club at East Carolina College, an organization of students who are majors or minors in English. The club has monthly meetings with various programs of interest to students of composition and literature.

Other officers elected are: Cherry Futreal, Rocky Point, vice president; Jeannette New, Greenville, secretary-treasurer; and Sylvia Dawkins, Rockingham, publicity chairman.

Dr. Hermine Caraway is faculty advisor of the group.

Mental Health Institute Set Here For January 14

A one-day institute on mental health to be held in Greenville on Saturday, January 14, will bring together a large group of eastern North Carolinians interested in various community service organizations.

Dr. Ray D. Minges of Greenville, Vice-President for the Eastern Area of the North Carolina Mental Health Association, today said the institute is open particularly to teachers, ministers, social workers, mental health leaders in the various eastern counties, police officers, and health department workers.

"Anyone else interested in mental health will also be welcomed at the institute," he said.

A large group of leaders in the field of mental health, headed by Dr. Louis D. Cohen, Director of the Department of Medical Psychiatry at the Duke University School of Medicine, will take part in the program. Dr. Cohen will serve as the institute's principal speaker when he addresses those in attendance at a luncheon at 12:15 o'clock the afternoon of the institute.

Other program participants for the institute which will be held in the Flanagan Building on the campus of East Carolina College include Dr. Walter Sikes, Superintendent of the Dorothea Dix Hospital in Raleigh, Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, President of East Carolina College in Greenville, Dr. A. A. Best of Greenville, a private practicing physician who has done outstanding work in the field of social improvement, Dr. Philip G. Nelson of Greenville, Staff Psychiatrist at the Pitt County Mental Health Clinic, Dr. Frank G. Fuller, a specialist in counseling and guidance on the faculty at East Carolina College in Greenville and Dr. Jerome G. Tolochko, Kinston, President of the Lenoir County Mental Health Association.

Dr. Carl L. Adams of Greenville, Chairman of the institute's program committee, said today the institute will open with registration at 10:00 a.m. and will close at 3:45 p.m.

He said the purpose of the institute is to help develop a more healthful and active awareness of the problems of mental health and the need for improved efforts to deal with these problems.

The institute is being sponsored by the North Carolina Mental Health Association and mental health associations in Lenoir, Wilson and Pitt Counties.

He Walked Near 180,000 Miles

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Victor L. Harrison, 61, who recently retired as a mail carrier, estimates he walked 180,000 miles during 38 years of delivering letters.

Harrison, a preacher of the Advent Christian Church, was known for his kindness.

During World War II when mail from overseas arrived at the post office, Harrison telephoned anxious wives and mothers to tell them he would have mail for them.

Funeral Sunday For Mrs. C. M. Jones

Mrs. Mary Eliza Jones, 88, widow of Dr. C. M. Jones, died at her home, 509 East Fourth Street, at 7:50 Friday night following several months of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Eighth Street Christian Church at three o'clock Sunday afternoon by the pastor, the Rev. W. J. Hadden Jr., assisted by the Rev. Carroll C. Barbour, Episcopal minister of La Mirada, California. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

A native of Pitt County, Mrs. Jones for a number of years resided in Grimesland, where her husband was engaged in the practice of medicine. Dr. Jones died in 1926. She had lived in Greenville since 1928 and was a member of the Eighth Street Christian Church, the Miriam B. Ryan Sunday School class, the King's Daughters, the Order of Eastern Star, the Greenville Woman's Club and the W. C. T. U.

Surviving are three daughters: Mrs. John H. Adams of Greenville, Mrs. Milton J. Moye of Tarboro, and Mrs. Earl Westbrook of Dunn; a son, Frew W. Jones of Houston, Texas; a foster daughter, Mrs. W. L. Wheedee of Greenville; eight grandchildren, three of them of Greenville, Mrs. Charles White Jr., John Adams III, and Betsy Wheedee; 11 great grandchildren; three sisters and a brother, Miss Ada C. Ward of Washington, D.C., Mrs. L. Z. Fleming of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Louise Ward Briley of Greenville, and Edward F. Ward of Greenville.

The family requests that no flowers be sent. Anyone desiring may send a contribution in her memory to the King's Daughters.

The body will remain at Wilkerson Funeral and will be carried to the church at the funeral hour.

PUMPS . . . which force condensed steam back into boilers to be used again.

At least four men per shift are required to operate the local power plant, which supplies the citizens of Greenville with two of the most important commodities of our time—water and electricity. The "power plant" which houses three 92-foot high boilers and three steam powered turbines or generators, produces about 40 per cent of the power used by local citizens. The remainder of the electrical service is supplied by the Virginia Electric Power Company. The two 5,000 kilowatt turbines and one 3,000 KW generator, produce 12,470 volts. Service from the plant includes nine 12,000 volt circuits, one 34,000 volt circuit and two interconnected outlets with VEPCO. The generators are turned by 760-degree F. steam at about 450 pounds pressure. The boilers creating the steam can be fired with coal, oil, and in the near future, natural gas. The plant uses an average of 46 tons of coal per day and waste 50,000 gallons of oil each month. On the average, the city uses about two and one-half million gallons of water per day—60 per cent of which is supplied by the water treatment plant at the "power plant" which could handle three and one-half million gallons each day if needed. The remainder of the water comes from the city's well on Washington St. The water taken from the Tar River is first aerated to remove any odor, then chlorine is added. Then follow other chemicals to purify the water and settle out solid particles. Then it is run through sand filters for final purification before being pumped into the storage tanks and into your home. Only chlorine is added to the water from the deep well, which "nature" has already purified.

Judge Orders Georgia U. Admit Two Negroes

MACON, Ga. (AP)—A federal judge's order for the immediate admittance of two Negro students to the University of Georgia sparked a minor demonstration and presented the Legislature with its gravest problem in years. An effigy said to represent Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, one of the Negroes, was hung from an arch at the all-white University in Athens Friday night. Later a small cross was burned in front of a hall near a freshman dormitory.

Newsman said only a few of the younger students took part and estimated the watching crowd at 150. There are 7,400 enrolled at the university. The gathering broke up quickly when Dean of Men William Tate appeared and began asking for student identity cards. No incidents were reported and no arrests made by four city policemen present.

for the start of the 1961 session Monday. That also is the final day to register for the winter quarter at Georgia, oldest state-chartered university in the nation. Holmes, of Atlanta, said he wanted to consult with his parents before deciding whether he would enroll Monday. At present he is attending Morehouse College in Atlanta.

pending a decision by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Gov. Ernest Vandiver declined to say whether he planned to cut off funds to the university pending discussions with legislators. He also said he had not read Bootle's decision and would have no comment until he receives a copy.

Comment on the judge's decision ranged all the way from opposition to closing the university under any circumstances to a statement by segregationist Roy Harris of Augusta that he would "go to jail and stay until I rot" rather than "help the federal courts take over and run the schools of this state."

First Church of Christ, Scientist

Importance of understanding the spiritual meaning of the Eucharist and of truly commemorating the life of Christ Jesus will be emphasized at the semi-annual communion service at Christian Science churches this Sunday. Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament" is the Golden Text from I Corinthians (5:8): "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth." Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following: "The baptism of Spirit, washing the body of all the impurities of flesh, signifies that the pure in heart see God and are approaching spiritual life and its demonstration" (241:27). Also included in the Lesson-Sermon is this passage: "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?" (I Cor. 10:16).

LADY in the MARKET

BY FRANCES V. RUMMELL

From the novel "Aunt Jane McPhlips and Her Baby Blue Chips," published by Prentice-Hall, Inc. © 1950 by Frances V. Rummell. Distributed by King Features.

CHAPTER 25

Jane McPhlips remembered Mrs. Hayden-Critchfield's mention of the Castlerock Corporation and in fact thinking nothing of it at the time she had received notice of its forthcoming meeting. This was the company that took visitors' pictures, and she also recalled that her friend had hoped the club would visit it under happier circumstances.

As if reading Jane's mind the treasurer reminded, "We own one share of Castlerock."

"What's the dividend?" somebody asked her.

"Ten cents," Mrs. Hayden-Critchfield replied.

The girls giggled.

"Well, they're skipping it, and it's the principle of the thing," emphasized Mrs. Stephens.

"We would have one vote. The stock is in the club's name," said Mrs. Hayden-Critchfield.

"I move that we attend the stockholders' meeting in a body," proposed the president. Jane forgot in her excitement that as president of the Golden Girls she should let others do the proposing.

"All this will help us determine what good corporate practices are. We'll be in a better position to help management."

"How about establishing an award of merit—a Golden Girls of the West Award of Merit?" Mrs. Hayden-Critchfield exclaimed. "Then we can award it to companies that really measure up. It will mean something, be sought after."

The idea, quickly seconded into a motion, carried unanimously and Jane promptly appointed a committee to design a fitting plaque.

chanteuse singing softly in the background—Jane was emboldened to suggest a subject for her friend's speech.

"Maybe," she ventured, "the Society could do something about better standards for brokers."

Mr. Ernst was delighted. "I'll propose that!" The president of the New York Stock Exchange has hit on that very subject. Some 15,000 brokers in this country ought to be selling potatoes, not stocks. Yes, yes, a wonderful idea."

Pleased to be taken seriously Jane brought Mr. Ernst up to date on the Golden Girls. Roaring at their plans for the Castlerock stockholders' meeting, he told her an exciting detail about the company.

A huge and proliferating corporation, it usually had its annual meeting at its main plant in New York. But this year, he said—and his eyes sparkled at the surprise awaiting them—the officers were "hiding out" and meeting in their California plant for the very purpose of avoiding stockholders, most of whom were concentrated in the East."

"Go to it!" he said. "Those boys have no business upping their salaries when they can't make their dividend."

At the core of the Castlerock Corporation lay an old-line mattress company. Around this core, an aggressive new president, whose reach was longer than his grass had wrapped a new empire from meager to a specimen of his mass market mentality, the very work "merger" symbolized magic, and it didn't really matter too much what was merged, or in what condition—just so, at intervals, something new was added.

Because of his wide diversification, actually, the president's name was Jim M. W. Feeble. He had been heard to say that buying into his company was just like buying into a mutual. His only trouble was, Mr. Feeble had failed to realize, the diversified products were not likely to make any greater profits under the blanket of merger than they had been making singly—unless their managements changed, which they did not. Mr. Feeble kept everybody on, intact—which gave him the opportunity to create any number of new vice-presidencies.

Thus a conglomerate of individual products, all assailed by furious competition, were sapping profits from the core of the corporation, the mattress company.

The stockholders' meeting was to begin at 10:30 a. m. in a theater rented for the occasion, and for just one hour, in Daly City Suburban to San Francisco, and to the south, Daly City lies in a perpetual pocket of fog, especially dense in the mornings—which suited Mr. Feeble fine. The drizzly locale would doubtless discourage the attendance of ubiquitous stockholders.

Yet at 10:20 a. m. sixteen middle-aged women, some greying, some lean and some stout, could be seen picking their way down a side street in Daly City on their way to the movie theater. In three members' cars they had all driven down from San Francisco after meeting for early breakfast.

Inside the theater, which was still dark, the girls all groped their way to the powder room, snapped on the light, straightened their hats, and heard their president's final pep talk. It was brief and formal: "We shall acquit ourselves well for all shareholders, whoever and wherever they may be." It was not 10:28 and the seat-at-arms, checking the layout reported that the house lights had come on full tilt and the corporation's officers were assembling on the stage.

Then, with their president in the lead, the girls began to walk down the center aisle and through a silent audience of perhaps twenty-five people in view of all the hurries management had erected. Jane was amazed and gratified to see that so many stockholders had leapt over them. She was also pleased to see six men on the stage, though obviously some top officers and Board Members were playing hooky.

Finally, on the two short front rows in the middle of the theater, the girls quietly took their seats.

Mr. Feeble's voice cracked as he opened proceedings. He said awkwardly, "We are gathered here to, ah, to, ah, bring certain matters before the meeting. Our first and most important order of business is to elect eight directors for the coming year. All of the nominees are members of the present Board of Directors."

Mrs. Stephens got up from her seat on the front row and inquired whether there might be discussion.

Waving his hand impatiently, the president bade the lady have her say. Curiously showed through her impatience.

"One question," she said succinctly, already knowing the answer. "How much stock in Castlerock, if any, do the members of the Board of Directors own?"

Mr. Feeble narrowed his eyes. At length he replied curtly, "I do not have the slightest idea."

The little theater became filled with restive noises. The stockholders did not care for their president's attitude.

Mrs. Stephens went on blandly. "As stockholders," she turned and waved grandly, "we must press for an answer to my question."

Apparent Link Between Ethiopian Tribe And Jews

By WILTON WYNN

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—Hidden away in the wilds of northern Ethiopia lives a mysterious tribe who call themselves the "House of Israel," but who speak no Hebrew and do not know the meaning of the word Jew.

Living in a remote and almost inaccessible mountain region north of Lake Tana, these people are known in Ethiopia as "Falashas" but often are called "black Jews." Their scriptures are the Old Testament and their religious practices those prescribed in the Pentateuch, the first five books of the bible.

They call themselves "Sons of Abraham" and "House of Israel" and have a priestly system similar to that of primitive Judaism.

Does this mean the Falashas are a long-lost Hebrew tribe who in the dim past went into seclusion in Ethiopia?

To students of the Jewish community, that has become the big question. Are the Falashas Jews, or are they not? The answer could have important consequences.

If the Falashas should suddenly decide to emigrate to Israel—as have several other Middle Eastern Jewish communities—the state of Israel would have to decide officially whether they are Jews.

So far, the Falashas have shown no signs of moving to Israel. Probably the great majority of the estimated 25,000 "black Jews" are not even aware there is a state of Israel today. The Israelis have taken seven Falashas to Israel on scholarships, and one well-educated Falasha is connected with the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Like Jews everywhere, the Falashas use the Old Testament as their Bible. They observe rigidly the observances and feasts prescribed in the Pentateuch. They strictly observe Saturday as the Sabbath. The word Falasha itself is translated "emigrant" and could imply they are a community in exile.

Actor Bill Holden Closer To Work In Switzerland

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bill Holden plans to make Switzerland his home for a long time to come and not, he says, for a tax dodge.

Says he: "I'm paying more taxes now than I ever have in my career. I'm living in Switzerland for the same reason a Madison Avenue advertising man gives up his suburban home in Connecticut and moves to Central Park West. I just want to be closer to my work."

caused Holden to make two trips around the world to Hong Kong. Holden did not give up American citizenship—says he never will.

"I can be—and hope I am—just as good an American in the Alps as I could be in the High Sierra."

Holden will make movies in Hollywood if the script calls for it.

"Our business has changed. Europe is no longer 8,000 miles from Hollywood. Hollywood is 8,000 miles from Europe. Do you realize there were more movies made in London and Rome last year than in Hollywood?"

On the other hand, the Falashas never heard the word "Jew" till Europeans penetrated their region early this century. Not a trace of the Hebrew language can be found in their scriptures, prayers, or colloquial speech. Their Bible is written in Ge'ez, an ancient Ethiopian language.

Falashas have no synagogues and have never heard of the Mishnah or Talmud. They have priests like the Old Testament Jews, but differ from other Jewish communities in practicing monasticism. They believe in black magic and superstition—secret charms and incantations, sorcery and witchcraft.

The Falashas generally are poor but hard-working. For 200 years none of them has owned any land. Most of them work as tenant farmers or as craftsmen. Only a few are educated. Tedessa Yacov is minister of agriculture of agriculture in Haile Selassie's Cabinet.

What tantalizes the imagination of those studying the Falashas is: If they are not Jews, how did all those Jewish religious influences manage to take root in one of the world's most isolated spots? If they are Jews, when did they become separated from the mainstream of Judaism?

Many Hollywood stars have established residence in Switzerland—David Niven, Deborah Kerr, Audrey Hepburn, Yul Brynner and Mel Ferrer and some. But Holden, long a portrayer of the typical American male, has come in for blistering attack.

The Hollywood Cameramen's Union—for instance, said it would picket Holden—pictures—this stung Holden deeply, especially when half of Hollywood is either in Europe or Asia making movies. None of the others were so rapped.

Holden moved to Switzerland last year because "The World of Suzie Wong" and "The Counterfeit Traitor" were done there. "Wong" was shot twice and Swiss residence does not save taxes, Holden argues.

"All my residual payments—including $30,000 a year for 'Bride On The River Kwai' for the next 50 years—are all taxed in the U.S.A. Uncle Sam still get 91 cents out of every dollar of that."

"I now have income coming in a half dozen countries and I'm paying top bracket on all of them. 'Suzie Wong' cost me 96 cents on the dollar in English taxes. 'Counterfeit Traitor' cost me taxes in Germany, Denmark and Sweden and its residual payments will cost me in the United States. I also pay Swiss taxes on my residence there."

Grace F. W. B. Announcements

"Jesus Brings Joy" will be the subject for Bible study in the Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. The Grace Sunday school is in a contest with the Edgemont Sunday school in Durham during January. We need about 450 this Sunday to win. If you are not in Sunday school elsewhere, please come with us. All members are urged to be present.

WOOW will broadcast the 11 o'clock worship. Evangelist Oliver B. Creech will deliver the message. The League will meet at 6:00 p.m. this Sunday and next Sunday in order to receive the crowd for revival service at 7:45. The revival will continue each night at 7:45 through the 15th. There will be a service at 3 p.m. on the 15th. A prayer service is conducted each morning at 9:00 o'clock.

The value of United States exports rose from $12 billion to more than $16 billion between 1953 and 1958.

Ready To Spread 'Gnu Frontier'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The boys at the zoo let out a cheer; they're ready to spread the gnu frontier. Latest dispatch from Griffith Park gnuism says that Mr. Boston, a 12-year-old gnu of the masculine gender, will soon join three gnu of the tenderer gender. Object: to make tomorrow's gnu today.

Mr. Boston arrived Thursday from Fresno. The zoological society there has no lady gnu. Until Mr. Boston arrived, the zoo here had no males.

So, after a 15-day quarantine period, Mr. B will get a chance to woo a gnu or two.

Then, in a year or two, if offspring ensue, there'll be plenty of gnu for both of the zoos.
