Fires During The Weekend Claim Over Forty Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Fires that struck in various parts of the nation over the weekend took the lives of more than 40 persons, including at least 17 children. In Pasadena, Md., flames broke out in a frame house early today and seven young children and an adult caring for them were killed. The dead were Donald L. Green, 9 months; his sisters and brothers, Maryland, 2; Winifred, 3; Yvette, 4; Joel, 5; Aaron, 6; a cousin, Regina Wright, 10 and an uncle, Bernard Green, 33. Parents of the Green children, Negroes, were visiting neighbors when the blaze broke out shortly after midnight in the community halfway between Annapolis and Baltimore. In New York early Sunday, a mother and six of her nine children died when a fire swept through their tenement apartment in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. The victims were Anna Fancher, 36, and Charles, 4; Howard, 9; Josephine, 7; Nancy, 3; Florence, 2, and Helen, 1. Police theorized that Charles might have started the blaze in playing with matches. He was spanked a month ago by his father for playing with them. The explosion of an oil stove was blamed for a fire Saturday that killed two persons in Marlboro, N.Y. Judy Boykin Whitte, 19, and her sister, Anna E. Boykin, 14, died in the blaze that destroyed their two-story house. Another fire in New York was believed to have killed Adda Wright, 72, a hotel clerk, when flames wrecked the headquarters of the famed Chautauqua institution in Chautauqua. In Clermont, Fla., four children of Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Harris died in a fire after a kerosene heater exploded in their home Saturday night while the parents were away on a visit in nearby Orlando. Dead were Lewis, 7; Grace, 5; Sharon Ann, 3, and Ulysses Jr., 1. A fifth child, Betty, 12, ran to a neighbor's house seeking help and was unharmed. In Halifax, Mass., a mother of five, Mrs. Robert Cleverly, was aroused from sleep early today by smoke and a crackling fire. She hurriedly dressed the five youngsters, ranging in age from 7 months to 12 years, and led them through subzero cold to safety in a neighbor's home. In the community of Bernard near Marshall, N.C., Williams Evans, 58, and Ralph Cogdill, 34, died in one of three houses swept by a blaze Sunday. Fel Harris, 60, died in another fire that destroyed a one-room home near Gason, N.C., in Northampton County. An elderly retired couple, Hertha Badenhop, 70, and her wife, Elizabeth, 68, died early today in a blaze at their home in East Patuxent, N.Y.

President Kennedy Meets With His Top Defense And Diplomatic Figures Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and his new administration's top defense and diplomatic officials today started a far-reaching review of the national security program. Seeking a safeguarded peace with the Communist bloc, Kennedy began talks with key aides at midmorning and arranged to resume the discussions after a recess for lunch. Sitting in with the President at the conference in the Cabinet room at the White House were Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Also on hand were McGeorge Bundy, Kennedy's personal aide on national security matters; Under Secretary of State-to-be Chester Bowles; and Paul Nitze, assistant secretary of state in charge of international affairs, including disarmament planning. Also present was Gen Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said several other officials were joining in the discussions. He did not immediately name them. The double conference—the only announced business on his agenda today—demonstrated the priority Kennedy attaches to seeking an easing of East-West tension while beefing up the nation's defenses. A grim reminder of troubles ahead reportedly came in a secret message from Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson who met Saturday in Moscow with Soviet Premier Khrushchev. Thompson's cable was understood to report that Khrushchev while talking hopefully of an agreement with the Kennedy administration—in private had adopted the same tough, unyielding position on issues that wrecked previous Western hopes. Khrushchev served up the same old hash to Kennedy that he had placed before former President Eisenhower without success, said diplomatic officials. With this background, it seemed likely the Kennedy meeting with Rusk and McNamara would concentrate on: 1. A searching look at the state in departing, Eisenhower called then "second to none" but in his campaign Kennedy questioned and pledged quick moves to build more military muscle. 2. A blocking out of the new administration's initial diplomatic moves to thwart Soviet plotting in Laos, the Congo, Cuba and Red-enclosed Berlin. Kennedy got a preview during a White House luncheon Sunday of Rusk's thinking about Khrushchev's maneuvers. Under Secretary of State-designate Chester Bowles also attended. The 2½-hour session concentrated, however, mainly on administration efforts to find and name about 12 more top assistants for Rusk in running the State Department. Kennedy, moving about in the unpredictable fashion that has become almost routine since inauguration, popped into the press room for a surprise visit. He was accompanied by his wife, Jacqueline, looking like a fashionable teen-ager as she strolled through the White House lobby, wearing beige riding pants and a three-quarters length sports coat. White House guards, who never had seen anything like it during the Eisenhower administration,

'Invasion' Charges Phony, Say Six

GREENSBORO (AP) — Donald J. Green, 23, of Clover, S.C., says in a telephone interview the Castro government's charge that he and five other arrested Americans invaded Cuba as counter-revolutionaries is "just propaganda, there's nothing to it." He says they were only trying to visit the country. "The Cuban government does not have a shred of evidence against us," he said Sunday to Joseph Knox, a reporter for The Greensboro Daily News, who reached him after six hours of trying. A public address system finally summoned him from his cell at La Cubana fortress, a military prison 10 miles west of Havana. As Green spoke in the warden's office, the nine armed guards who had escorted him from his cell kept him under close scrutiny during the 30-minute interview. "It will take help from there (Washington) to save us from Fidel Castro's firing squads," Green said. "They say we will be tried within 10 or 15 days." He said he and his companions were being well treated. They are accused of sailing to Cuba Jan. 7, shortly after making a pact in Florida with a Castro foe, former Sen. Rolando Masferrer, to join other dissidents in trying to overthrow Castro's regime. The others are George R. Beck, 24, Norton, Mass.; Tom L. Baker, 28, Dothan, Ala.; James E. Beane, 34, Franklinville, N.C.; Alfred Eugene Gibson, Mount Gilead, N.C., and Leonard Louis Schmidt, 21, Chicago. "They held us for 12 days incommunicado," Green said. "They didn't let us talk to anybody. We've been here in La Cubana just four days." "We've been trying to get in touch with the Swiss consulate and the Canadian consulate, but we can't get word to either one of them." The American embassy was closed down when the United States and Cuba severed diplomatic relations several weeks ago. Green said he had talked to a Cuban lawyer sent to see the men. The American added that the lawyer did little more than present his card, and "ask for money,"

Unforecast Snow In Coastal Plain

Unforecast snow reached into the Coastal Plains region of North Carolina today for a few hours, though by about 9:30 a.m. it had stopped in Greenville and at noon, skies were clear and sunny. However, the weatherman has forecast considerable cloudiness today and tonight, with a few snow flurries in the mountains today and in the mountains and piedmont sections tonight. There could be a little more snow here. Temperatures were slightly warmer today than in the past few days, with a low of 22 degrees recorded at 4 a.m. today, rising to 31 degrees at 8 a.m. Sunday's low was 16 degrees, as reported by Kent Glisson of the Greenville Utilities Plant. The high for Sunday was a cool 31 degrees, Glisson added. The barometer this morning was at 30.1 and falling, with winds blowing from three to seven miles per hour out of the southwest. The Tar River level, which has fallen slightly since Saturday, was at a 5.3 feet standstill today. In spite of the few snow flurries, Greenville and Pitt County school students continued their studies and no schools were closed.

Arrest Another In Embezzlement

SHELDON, Iowa (AP)—Two of Sheldon's leading citizens—a bank cashier and the president of its biggest industry—were in the same jail today, accused of participating in a $2-million bank embezzlement. Federal agents arrested Harold Eugene Kistner Jr., 35, Saturday night at his home. He was taken to Woodbury County jail in Sioux City, where Burnice Geiger, 58, has been held for a week. She has admitted the embezzlement that closed the bank, police said. Mrs. Geiger was assistant cashier and a member of the board of the Sheldon National Bank. Kistner, charged with aiding and abetting Mrs. Geiger in draining sizable sums from the bank, was the former president of the Northern Biochemical Corp. Mrs. Geiger, the principal stockholder in Biochemical, owned more than a third of the firm's shares. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, was scheduled to speak to Biochemical employees today in a meeting open to townspeople. Roosevelt is economic adviser to the firm, which mixes and sells animal feeds. The company closed its plant Sunday for the first time since last April. It had been operating on a six-hour, four-shift basis, seven days a week. No reason for the shutdown was given. Operations began again at midnight with the full shift returning to duty. Mrs. Geiger was visited Sunday by her husband, Wallace, a Sheldon merchant, for the first time since she was jailed last Monday. He announced two Sioux City attorneys had been employed to represent her. Authorities said Kistner was accused of helping Mrs. Geiger drain large sums of money from the bank. They said he wrote checks without having the money on deposit and Mrs. Geiger apparently accepted the checks but did not charge the amounts to Northern Biochemical's accounts. Kistner was fired as president of the company by the board of directors last Friday after numerous criticisms by Roosevelt of the firm's financial system, and after it was revealed that Kistner had been convicted of the illegal sale of securities in Nebraska several years ago.

Week Of Civil Court Is Opened

A one-week civil term of Pitt County Superior Court got underway this morning with 16 civil actions docketed for today. With Judge Albert W. Cowper presiding over 1961's first Superior Court term here, the week's session is scheduled to hear a total of 33 cases. WORLD'S LONGEST MONTREAL (AP)—More than $50 million in contracts have been signed for construction of the world's longest telephone cable. The cable running more than 9,000 miles under the Pacific Ocean and linking Canada, New Zealand and Australia, is scheduled for 1964.

Says Americans Less Dedicated

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says American Christianity is "superficial" compared to the dedication of communism. Speaking to an overflow crowd of 15,000 Sunday at Orlando's Tangerine Bowl, he said that during the six hours he spent with President John F. Kennedy last Monday "one of the things that we talked about was the emptiness on the part of American youth who want to dedicate themselves to something but don't know what." He declared Communists are more dedicated to lies than we are to truth and that Communist leaders demand that their people give everything they have to the cause.

Eisenhower Flies To Georgia Hunt

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower's plane took off in a snowstorm today carrying him to Georgia for some warmer weather, he hopes, and bird hunting. Eisenhower made the 20-mile drive from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm in a station wagon over snow-covered roads. The plane—privately owned by Eisenhower's Georgia host—took off for Albany, Ga., from a runway that had been cleared of snow. In the Eisenhower party were four newsmen; the doctor who was with him in the White House, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder; and Dick Mott, Secret Service agent who is on annual leave as Eisenhower's aide. The former president is making the trip in the two-engine plane of W. Alton Jones, chairman of the board of the Cities Service Co. on whose 15,000-acre plantation Eisenhower plans to get in some golf shooting. Eisenhower is expected back within a week or so to join Mrs. Eisenhower for a trip to the Southern California desert. They are expected to spend about two months at Desert Palm, where they have rented a house overlooking the El Dorado Golf Club. While there the former president plans to get in a lot of golf, sunshine and rest.

Winter Holding Icy Grip On Eastern States Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Winter, a month old and rugged, held an icy grip across much of the eastern half of the nation today after a record cold weekend extending into the Deep South. No immediate general break in the frigid weather was indicated but some warmer weather appeared on the way for the chilled Gulf states. Lower temperatures, however, were indicated in Tennessee, the central Mississippi Valley and parts of the central Great Plains. The cold weather and last week's snow storms and blizzards that swept wide areas have been blamed for at least 70 deaths. The fatalities were attributed to exposure, snow-shoveling exertion, traffic accidents on icy roads and fires. Seven children and a 33-year-old man perished in a fire in a home in Pasadena, Md., this morning. It was below zero again this morning in most sections in the northern tier of states from the eastern Dakotas through the Great Lakes region into New England. The mercury dropped to more than 20 degrees below zero in northern Minnesota after a bone-chilling -34 in Bemidji, the nation's so-called "icebox" Sunday morning. But in Norfolk, in western Connecticut, thermometers plunged to 33 below, four degrees shy of the record reading of -37 in 1943. A 56-year-old record was broken in Windsor Locks, Conn., near Hartford, with a mark of -26. In contrast to the East's and South's frigid readings, Anchorage, Alaska, reported 32 above, while Juneau had 18 and Fairbanks 17. The mercury zoomed to 73 at Salinas, Calif., Sunday. An unseasonable cold nipped the South, with freezing weather reaching into northern Florida. Blairsville, in northern Georgia, was the coldest spot in the South with a reading of 8 below Sunday. Three inches of snow covers the ground. Atlanta's 10 above was a record for Jan. 22. It was 6 below in Gordonsville, in central

Unrest, Sabotage In Red China Said Set Off By Food Shortage

By ALAN CLINE TOKYO (AP)—An announcement from Peking indicates unrest and sabotage brought on by a drastic shortage of food is bringing new drives against opponents of the Red regime. A voluminous communique issued after a meeting Jan. 14-15 of the top Chinese command in Peking referred again and again to the food shortage, which was blamed on the "most severe natural calamities in a century following upon serious natural calamities of 1959." The Communists reported last month that 150 million acres were hit by these calamities. No figures were listed in the latest report, but it left no doubt about the seriousness of the problem. The official New China News Agency reported at our-day cold wave in Kwangtung Province, South China, destroyed part of the winter crop, especially sweet potatoes, a staple food of the toiling masses. The Peking communique said, the agricultural setback led to a shortage of raw materials for light industry. The leaders ordered that new sources of material along with increased production be achieved to "ensure the supply of the people's daily necessities as far as possible." "The tasks in 1961 are extraordinarily great and arduous," the communique said, "but the difficulties can be overcome." The Communists claimed that more than 90 per cent of the population is loyal to the Red regime and is putting up with their "temporary difficulties." However, it reported "an extremely small number of landlord and bourgeois elements have not yet been sufficiently remolded and are always attempting a comeback." This element was charged with taking advantage of the difficulties, along with "some shortcoming in the work at the lower levels to carry out sabotaging activities." The communique added that China had a few minor Communist party officials who "although good-willed and well-intentioned, are inadequate in their ideology consciousness." "They lack understanding of the fundamental policies of the party and government," the communique said, reporting a sort of back-to-school movement called rectification.

Routine Check Follows Cruise

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—USS George Washington, the nation's first ballistic missile submarine, underwent a routine check today after establishing a record of 67 days at the sea. The 5,400-ton nuclear submarine returned proudly to port Saturday after her first operational patrol. She carried 16 Polaris missiles, equipped with atomic warheads, capable of unleashing more destruction than all the explosives used in World War II. "The mission was a success from all angles," said her skipper, Cmdr. James B. Osborn, 43, of Gales Ferry, Conn. "We did better than we thought." The George Washington emerged from beneath the waves at 7:24 a.m. Saturday 64 miles southeast of Block Island, R.I. She sailed from Charleston, S.C., Nov. 15. Her record eclipsed by a week the 60-day mark of the nuclear submarine Seawolf in August, 1958. For the George Washington's 110 officers and crew, the more than two months sealed off from the world meant drills with complex new equipment, study and little time to mull over personal problems, her skipper said. During the next two months Osborn's so-called "blue crew" will have two months of liberty and new training, while their ship is prepared for sea again. The George Washington will embark at an unannounced date under Cmdr. John L. From Jr. of Haverford, Pa., skipper of the "gold crew."

Sanford Prefers Federal Aid Go To School Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford feels any federal aid to education program should be aimed primarily at construction of new facilities. He said this would give the states a boost in catching up with classroom needs. Sanford added, however, North Carolina would move ahead in the field of education with or without federal help. Sanford and other freshman governors appeared Sunday on the televised "Issues and Answers" program originating here (ABC). He said he felt the solution to the school integration problem "must come from the heart and not the lawbook. Asked if he had advice for others on the public aid to help meet our situation in North Carolina and I am not going to take on the added burden of advising other governors on how to run their states." Sanford appeared on the program with Govs. Welsh of Indiana, Keyser of Vermont and Erbe of Iowa.

Crack Cadet Drill Team Breaks 2 Records In Long Marchathon

East Carolina College's Honorary Drill Team Saturday cracked two year-old records with its second annual "Marchathon." The 21 marching members of the precision drill team, a function of the college's Air Force ROTC Detachment 800, bettered last year's 11-hour marching stint by more than an hour and raised more than $620 for the local March of Dimes campaign. The donations figure exceeded total contributions spurred by the endurance drilling last year. In snow flurries and freezing temperatures cadets marched throughout the day. Under the command of Cadet Major Walter Worthington of LaGrange, the drill team began its maneuver at 9 a.m. Saturday. The 21 student-cadets marched until 9:10 p.m. Officials estimated the students hiked a total of 60 miles during the Marchathon effort. Cadet Captain Frank Grayiel operated a public address system throughout the marching stint as Greenvilleites contributed to the 1961 March of Dimes campaign. Telegrams As the team went through its paces, telegrams of congratulations and appreciation were received. Among the unit's well-wishers were U. S. Senators Sam J. Ervin and B. Everett Jordan, First District Congressman Herbert C. Bonner, and State March of Dimes Representative Jack E. McGee. Headed by Major Lib Powell, the Angel Flight, ECC coed auxiliary group to the Arnold Air Society, served coffee and other refreshments to the marching cadets. The Angel Flight commander said following the Marchathon: "It was cold, but it was worth it. I can't tell you how proud I am of our boys. They have done a splendid job this year." In addition to serving the cadets food, the 21 members of the coed organization were on hand to collect donations from passersby. Participating in Saturday's Marchathon were: Maj. Worthington, R. M. Crawley, J. W. Temme, D. C. Robinson, A. M. Adams, B. L. Bennett, W. C. Brown, R. C. Christensen, O. E. Hall, B. S. Hart, M. R. Heims, B. R. Herring, R. A. Hollingsworth, A. G. Lassiter, J. B. Leggett, R. A. Nelson, E. P. Pearce, L. L. Phillips, W. R. Thompson, W. W. Trower, and H. B. Taylor.

Grifton Episcopal Church Miss Wiggins Bride Of Reuben Lynwood Cherry Scene Of Wedding

GRIFTON—The marriage of Miss Rebekah Wall and Jack Franklin Thomas was solemnized at noon Saturday, January 21, in St. John's Episcopal Church, Grifton. The Rev. John Drake of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Greenville, officiated and was assisted by the Rev. Richard Ottaway of Greenville.

The altar of the church was decorated with white carnations and mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dewey Wall of Grifton. She attended Peace Junior College and is a graduate of the Richmond Professional Institute of the College of William and Mary. She is a member of Sigma Phi and Beta Sigma Phi chapters of the Grifton Golf and Country Club. Until her marriage, she was employed with the Research Laboratory of DuPont, near Kingston.

Mr. Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Samuel Thomas of Maysville, Ky. He attended the University of Kentucky and is a graduate of the New York School of Interior Design. He is in business in Greenville as an Interior Designer. He is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Greenville Optimist International.

Music was presented by Miss Betty Jo Gaskins, organist, and Mr. Herbert Williams of Maysville, Ky. was vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of Dulcote satin. The basque bodice yoke accented by floral motifs re-embroidered in pearls. Long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The bouffant skirts featured garlands of lace caught in the center back with a satin rose with smaller roses cascading the length of the chapel train.

Her three tiered fingertip veil of French illusion was attached to a Swedish crown of matching lace re-embroidered in pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. Norman Wilde of Warwick, R. I., matron of honor, wore a street-length dress of deep Plum French lace with matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Adrian Thomas of Maysville, Ky. was his brother's best man. Ushers were Robert McHugh, brother-in-law, of Maysville, and Fred Taylor of Washington, D. C.

The mother of the bride wore a street length gown of turquoise lace fashioned with a street length slim skirt. The fitted bodice was designed with a square neck corded at the waist with satin and satin roses and semi-sash at the side. She wore a matching half hat in leaf design and satin accessories in the same shade. She wore a white orchid.

The sister of the bridegroom, in the absence of the bridegroom's mother, wore a winter white sheath in brocade with a half hat and accessories of amethyst with an orchid corsage.

For a wedding trip the bride wore an Italian knit wool suit of beige with brown accessories and a milk stole.

After a wedding trip the couple will live in Greenville.

In a candlelight ceremony in the Epworth Methodist Church, Vanceboro, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Miss Alice Faye Wiggins became the bride of Reuben Lynwood Cherry, with the Rev. Ellis Bedsworth, assisted by the Rev. Floyd B. Cherry, father of the groom, officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Floor baskets of white snapdragons and mums with greenery interspersed with seven branched candelabra holding white tapers formed the background for the wedding and a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. David Joyner, organist, and Kelt Sawyer, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, W Lloyd Wiggins, was attired in a formal-length gown of white skinner bouquet taffeta. It was fashioned with an elongated fitted bodice, covered buttons to below the waistline, medieval neckline, bordered with lace and traced with seed pearls, and the traditional long sleeves ending in calla points over her hands. Her voluminous skirt had unpressed box pleats and scattered lace appliques. It featured a redingote overskirt, bordered with wide scalloped lace and cascaded into a chapel length train. Her two tiered fingertip veil of pure silk french illusion was attached to a crown of lace, etched with seed pearls. And she carried a Bible topped with a white orchid.

Miss Edna Boone of Gates was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Rebecca Lanier of Wallace, Misses Peggy Jean Dixon, Phoebe and Linda Cherry, sisters of the groom, all of Greenville. Junior bridesmaids were Misses Mary Bette and Deborah Wall of Grifton. All attendants wore gowns of light blue Brocette fashioned with fitted bodice and matching cummerbund, full street length skirts with which they wore matching shoes. Their headpieces were romance blue crowns of Swiss braid and outlined with cabauchon pearls with face veils, completed with white mitts, gift from the bride. They carried bouquets of red roses.

Miss Cindy Sue Buck was flower girl and her dress was identical to the bridesmaids' and she carried a basket of rose petals.

Bruce Dudley of Beaufort served as best man, and the ushers were Amos Hardee, Lindv Edwards and Jerry Elmore of Greenville and Bobby Bazen of Grantsboro.

For her sister's wedding, Mrs. Wiggins chose a Nile sand brocade sheath with a matching hat and purple orchid.

The groom's mother was dressed in an American Beauty wool sheath with matching hat and an orchid corsage.

The bride, sister of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lloyd Wiggins of Ayden, Route 2, is a graduate of Choccol High School and attended East Carolina College in Greenville.

The bridegroom was educated in the Choccol High School and attended Mount Olive College.

After the couple received their wedding guests in the vestibule of the church, they left for a honeymoon to announced points. For traveling, Mrs. Cherry changed to a purple wool jersey costume, fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt with matching accessories and the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return the couple will be at home in Greenville.

A Soft Treatment For Rough Elbows

Elbows have to bear the brunt of so much weight and exposure, it's no wonder they callus and cry out for special care. In winter, the problem increases with the drying effect of cold temperatures. The best technique for elbow-beautifying is to soak them in thick, warm soapsuds in the wash basin. Then scrub with a well-lathered pumice stone, rinse, wipe dry, and apply cream or lotion.

With Farm Women

By MAIDRED MORRIS

(Items this week from: Jones, Polk, Lenoir, Scotland, Rockingham, and Macon Counties.)

PREPARE SOIL BEFORE USING. Do you bake or boil your soil for potted house plants? One homemaker in Jones County, Mrs. C. L. Davis of Pollockville, has changed her method on the advice of a friend who grows many house plants.

"Boiling the soil," says Mrs. Davis, "is much easier and does not cause it to be so dry and hard." Mrs. Ann Brock, assistant home economics agent, says the purpose of boiling the soil is to sterilize it.

PINE CONE WREATHS. The power drill and pruning shears were kept busy at a workshop in Polk County recently. Craft leaders were trained to make wreaths and table decorations from native materials.

Miss Trevah Garrett, home economics agent, says Mrs. Joe B. King of Flat Rock taught the women how to make the decorations using pine cones, nuts, and gum balls.

QUILTING PARTY. "Home Demonstration Club women in Lenoir County still attend their quilting parties," reports Miss Marie Penel, home economics agent.

Sand Hill Club made over $30 on two quilts made by club members. The money will be used to buy kitchen furnishings for the Sand Hill Community Center which is a club project.

BETTER BREADS CONTEST. According to Miss Barbara Ann Jones, assistant home economics agent in Scotland County, 55 4-H girls have entered a county-wide Better Breads Contest — biscuits and enriched-cornmeal muffins.

A local milling firm is sponsoring the contest and the county bake-off will be held the last of January. Adult leaders were trained earlier concerning the cornmeal enrichment program and they are helping the girls.

CHECKS EQUIPMENT QUALIFICATIONS. Mrs. Clarence Wagener of Monroeton Community received a surprise birthday present from her husband—a new refrigerator. Since she had just seen a demonstration at her Home Demonstration Club meeting, she knew the new refrigerator would be a long-time investment.

Miss Isabelle Buckley, home economics agent in Rockingham County, reports Mrs. Wagoner checked the refrigerator to see that it met all specifications before she allowed the salesman to leave.

NEW COOKBOOK. "After five years of work, Macon County Home Demonstration Club women have published a new cookbook featuring 355 favorite recipes," according to Mrs. Florence Sherrill, home economics agent.

The club women had a tea featuring cookies, punch and tea made from recipes in the new cookbook. Mrs. Lawrence Patton, county food and nutrition leader, says the book which has a spiral binding and plastic back was designed by a Macon club member, Miss Sally Kesler.

Nina Paul Weds Jim Galloway

In a ceremony at the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church Sunday at 4:00 o'clock, Miss Nina Jean Paul and Jim Rufus Galloway were united in marriage, with The Reverend R. B. Crawford officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hassell Paul of Greenville and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Rufus Galloway of Grimesland.

The church was decorated with a background of bridal greenery of emerald, huckleberry and areca palms; seven branched candelabra held cathedral candles, white gladioli and white mums. A white cushioned pillow was at the altar, where the bride and the bridegroom knelt for prayer and on either side single candleholders held tall cathedral candles. Fewes were marked with white satin bows.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mr. Curtis Paul, brother of the bride, organist, and Miss Marie Moore, whose selections were "O Perfect Love" by Barney and "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Ralph Clifton Paul, wore a ballerina length dress of Chantilly lace, with a Sabrina neckline, accented by pearls and sequins, with long fitted sleeves ending in calla lily points over the hands. A full lace scalloped skirt was attached to the basque waistline. The bride's shoulder length veil was attached to a queen's crown outlined with pearls, sequins and crystal teardrops, and she carried a cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis and a pure white orchid.

Mrs. Charles A. Odum, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of moss green featuring glove length sleeves. The scooped neck velvet bodice was attached at the midriff to a full bouffant matching satin skirt, with a low cut back cascading into soft satin streamers. She wore matching shoes and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of yellow carnations and golden pom poms tied with gold satin.

Mrs. Ralph Clifton Paul, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Stuart MacDonald Shinn were bridesmaids. They wore street length dresses of copper velvet and taffeta, featuring a scooped neck velvet bodice and full bouffant matching iridescent taffeta skirt. They wore matching shoes and carried cascade bouquets of sunburst carnations tied with tulle and satin.

Paul Majette Jr. was best man. Ushers included Earl Tripp, brother-in-law of the groom; Charles A. Odum, brother-in-law of the bride; Joseph E. Sawyer and Stuart MacDonald Shinn.

For the ceremony, Mrs. Paul, mother of the bride, chose a suit of moss green with black accessories and wore a pink carnation corsage.

Mrs. Galloway, the groom's mother, also wore a pink carnation corsage with her orchid suit and black accessories.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple greeted guests in the vestibule of the church. Later for a trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a raspberry sheath dress with matching hat and black accessories. She wore the white orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

On Saturday evening immediately following the wedding rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Odum were hosts at an after-rehearsal party for the members of the Galloway-Paul wedding party, out-of-town guests and close friends of the couple.

News From Fountain

Home Demonstration Club Meets. "New Furniture From Old" was the topic of the demonstration presented to the members and visitors of the Fountain Home Demonstration Club by the County Home Economics agent, Mrs. Sue May. She showed slides of pieces of furniture before and after renovation and refinishing.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Alton Moore, on January 12. There were 12 members and four visitors present. The visitors were: Mrs. Dennis Mercer, Mrs. Carter Smith, Mrs. Tommy Phillips, and Mrs. J. C. Parker, a former member.

Mrs. J. W. Gay gave the devotional. She read the 121 Psalm and used the barren tree as a symbol.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Albert Bell. Project reports were heard from: Mrs. Carlton Gardner on Family Life, Mrs. Sim Weisner on Home Beautification and Mrs. Albert Bell on arts and craft. Book reports were heard from Mrs. Carlton Gardner and Mrs. J. W. Gay.

During the business session, plans were made for the February meeting. The demonstration will be on "New Inheritance Laws and Wills".

Auxiliary Meets. The Woman's Auxiliary of Aspen Grove Free Will Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Garnette Gay Friday evening.

The meeting was opened by singing. Mrs. Robert Bell gave the Scripture and introduction on "All Who Love the Lord" and Topic one: "Consecration Lovers"; Topic two: "Consecration Hates" by Mrs. Ruby Mangum. Topic three: "Consecration Serves" by Mrs. Louise Owens. The topics were closed by singing "Every Day with Jesus".

The president, Mrs. Odell Gardner, presided over the business session. Mrs. Christine Bell, secretary and treasurer called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting and treasurer's report, and they were approved. The president read the thank you notes.

The group were dismissed by prayer by Mrs. Odell Gardner.

At the conclusion of the business session, the hostess, Mrs. Gay, assisted by the G.T.A.'s served pimento sandwiches, nuts, candy, and cold drinks to the following members: Mrs. R. L. Mrs. Lucile Lamm was hostess at a Stanley party in her home Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Louise Owens directed games and prizes were awarded to the following: Mrs. Vernon Baker, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. Henry Bailey, Mrs. Irene Tyson, Mrs. Carrie Jefferson and Miss Wilma Tyson.

After the demonstration, Mrs. Lamm served pimento sandwiches, potato chips, roasted pecans, and cold drinks.

Daily Care Works Complexion Miracle

If you're wondering what's wrong with your skin, it may be that all you need is renewed and vigorous faith in something you learned at your mother's wash-basin—wash your face! Yes, we know you do wash it, but do it more often—three times a day.

And stimulate circulation while you clear your complexion by using a face brush or rough terry wash cloth, well-lathered and applied with an un-timid touch. A towel tucked around your neckline will solve the dripping suds-and-water problem and let you do a really bold cleansing job on both face and neck. If you use a terry cloth for the complexion sudsing, use a fresh one for the rinsing — and don't stop until your face "squeaks."

Evidence That Classrooms Added

In spite of the fact North Carolina still has many needs in its public school system, the drastic reduction of the number of pupils attending school in split shifts last year compared with this year bespeaks significant progress.

A report last week by the State Department of Public Instruction pointed out that last year there were some 6,400 youngsters attending public schools on split shifts. In the current school term which began last fall, the number of students on split shifts is only 1,400.

This means, of course, that sufficient classrooms and teachers have been provided for the other 5,000 youngsters to resume the public school work on a full-time basis. On the split-shift basis, students attend school for approximately half a day, rather than on a full day schedule.

Such a change in one year is no small accomplishment even for a state the size of North Carolina. This one factor in itself has enhanced the calibre of education being received by those 5,000 students this year, and it offers the suggestion that the number of students on split shifts in public schools will soon be reduced to a minimum if not eliminated entirely.

While the importance of this achievement in itself should not be minimized, the very fact that so much progress in this phase of public education was made in one year is indicative of other progress as well. The number of new school classrooms built throughout the state during the past year did not reduce the teacher load to the point that is desired; but the number was sufficient to take care of the influx of new students and still permit 5,000 others to be taken off split shift schedules. The number of additional teachers in public schools of the state this year was not sufficient to meet all the needs, but at least there were enough additional teachers to make possible this progress.

North Carolina still has a major task before it in bringing its public schools to the new higher plateau that is hoped for. Some 3,700 new classrooms are needed to replace inadequate facilities now being used, the Department of Public Instruction says, and another 700 classrooms will be needed by next fall to take care of increased enrollments. Greater efforts by both the state and local governments will be necessary to meet these and other obvious needs of our public schools. And certainly the necessary effort must be made.

In the meantime, however, public education in the state has been significant progress. Important needs still remain to be met; but at least some of the most pressing needs that existed a year ago were provided for by the time the current school year began.

Still Well Below The Average In Total Vote

According to the political experts, and to most casual observers, the 1960 presidential and gubernatorial campaigns in North Carolina were the hardest fought in many decades.

According to the statistics, Tar Heels turned out in record numbers to go to the polls on November 8. Yet, according to a survey by the American Heritage Foundation North Carolina fell considerably below the national average in the percentage of its residents of voting age who cast ballots in the November election.

In the nation as a whole, the foundation said, 64.3 per cent of the citizens of voting age cast ballots in the election. In North Carolina, according to the report, only 54.3 per cent of the citizens of voting age went to the polls. Since the percentage figures were based on the number of residents of voting age rather than on the number of registered voters, it is quite likely that North Carolina's figure reflects the fact that the state has fewer of its voting age residents registered than is the case in some other states.

From the standpoint of the number of Tar Heels who went to the polls last November, and the percentage of its registered voters who cast ballots, however, North Carolina made a more favorable showing than it did on the basis used in the Foundation's report.

Great List Of Vital Activities

By RALPH ROBEY
President Eisenhower's last state of the union message is a rather remarkable document. These reports, by their very nature, are political. This means they have a strong tendency to be boastful. Usually the first message of a new President boasts of what he expects to accomplish; the others of what he has done. This final one of Eisenhower's fall within the latter category and covers his eight years in office.

here has been "despite the difficulties of administering Congressional programs which apply outdated prescriptions and which aggravate rather than solve problems."
In many fields credit is taken for having increased government spending. Some of this growth of outlays has been warranted. This is true in military expenditures. But in some of the rest of the budget there has been no justification, and recently the non-military spending has been increasing at the most rapid rate. It appears a little out of order, therefore, for the President to say: "balanced budgets have been sought when the economy was advancing, and a rigorous evaluation of spending programs has been maintained at all times."
In spite of the length of the message—14 legal size pages and single spaced—there is no real discussion of the current business situation. The nearest thing to it is this paragraph: "Although intermittent declines in economic activity persist as a problem in our enterprise system, recent downturns have been moderate and of short duration. There is, however, little room for complacency. Currently our economy is operating at high levels, but unemployment rates are higher than any of us would like, and chronic areas of high unemployment persist."
The economic report of the President will go into the current business situation in detail, and when that is submitted to the Congress we shall devote a column to it.
Should the president have made a different kind of final message on the state of the union? (Continued on page five)

Since most persons do not take the trouble to read such messages, or even to scan them, it is worth listing the subjects covered as one means of showing its breadth. There is, of course, an introduction and then comes a discussion of each of the following:
Foreign Policy
National Defense
The Economy
Government Finance and Administration
Agriculture
Natural Resources
Education, Science, and Technology
Civil Rights
Health and Welfare
Housing and Urban Development
Immigration
Veterans
Conclusion
Now that is an amazing list of activities to be of such concern to the federal administration. The President feels obligated to report on them to the Congress, and this is especially true since in many cases several items are included under one sub-head. In all instances it is maintained that substantial progress has been made within the past eight years. This, it is said, is true even in the case of agriculture, but the improvement

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THAT PROVIDENTIAL HAND
To what extent are the circumstances of our life chance and to what extent are they providence?
Quite a few people declare that the world came into being by fortuitous accident. It just happened. This type of person also believes that the events of their life are the result of good fortune or bad, or the result of accident, or perhaps the result of fate.
Everyone, however, who cherishes a sincere religious faith believes that the hand of God is in everything. Such persons hold that everything in the world happens as the result either of God's command or of his permission. There is nothing outside the orbit of his power and interest.

The apparent conflict of science and religion does not in reality exist. Science deals with the physical world, religion with the spiritual. And the two are wholly different. Of course one cannot prove the existence of God by means of the categories of science. Such categories have a definite use — but this use is not in the realm of faith, religion, and morals. Here revelation enters in. Here faith is the motivating factor. Here we believe that we can see and without apology believe many things we cannot see.
The truly religious person believes that nothing happens in God's universe by chance. Everything is under the providential hand of God — material factors and spiritual alike.

Move Over, Boys

By HAL BOYLE

You Can Go Home, But--

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — He looked familiar across the crowded ballroom, but for a moment I couldn't place him. Then it came back to me. Why, of course. How could I ever forget? I had known his son well in high school, and had visited in his house several times then.
"It's a real pleasure to see you again, sir," I said, stepping up and wringing him by the hand. "You probably don't remember me, but I used to know your son Joe real well—years and years ago."
The man stared at me, then said: "You really are lost. I am Joe. I wondered when you were going to say hello."
Well, that's the way it is. They say you can't come home again. This isn't true. You can come home again.
But if you meet high school classmates after a quarter of a century or more you find something has happened to them. You feel you are still the razzle-dazzle kid who used to drive the study hall teacher crazy. Nothing has changed you. But your classmates are different. The girls look like their mothers, the boys like their fathers. What has time done to them? It is very hard to understand.

It is now 24 years this very month that I left this lovely home town of mine—the heart of America—to storm New York City with empty pockets and a head full of dreams.
Through the years I have come back home as often as I could, as most sons of the Midwest do, to drink again from the renewing common sense fountain that flows deepest in the center of our continent.
On each visit I could see signs of vital change in terms of expansion and new building, but also signs of decay in things I would like to remain fixed forever as I had known them in my childhood.
The city was getting younger and fresher and taller, but the people and houses I had known were getting older and more tired.

On this trip, for example, Punky, the family dog, who is 9 years old, didn't bark when my cab rolled up to the house. She stood there waiting, like a cinnamon-colored duchess—she's mostly Chinese chow—until I patted her on the head. Then she smiled gravely and moved heavily after me to the front door.
"Poor Punky," said my mother later. "She has a bad cyst on her leg. We've given her X rays, and she's had two operations—and the doctor says a third won't do any good."
"It may be necessary later to put her to sleep, and I just can't think about it. None of us can. She has been such a good dog."
When you come home again, news like that depresses you. You feel the weight of mortality pressing on others. But somehow you feel impervious to change yourself. You are still as young as the day you left town. Nothing has happened to you.
The other night I went to a social occasion and overheard a couple talking.
"He's beginning to look more and more like his father," he said. "It's almost creepy."
"Oh no," she disagreed. "His father never lost that much hair—and he would never have let himself get that fat."
He shrugged her. "Be careful. He's standing right there."
They walked away. It took me a full two minutes to realize whom they had been talking about.
Change plays no favorites. You can go home again—but you can't bring back quite the same person you took when you left.

Other Editors Saying Leaf Program Gets Friend

(Goldsboro News Argus)
It is good news to all of us who depend largely on tobacco that the incoming Secretary of Agriculture is a friend of the tobacco control program.
Retiring Secretary Benson was a foe of the program and throughout most of his years in office he sought ways and means to throw it out the window.
The incoming Secretary is Orville L. Freeman. When the Senate Agriculture Committee was examining him to determine his fitness for his new job, tobacco state senators, including Jordan of North Carolina, asked him specifically about his views on the leaf stabilization plan. He replied directly that he thought the program a good one.
The senators again pointed out that this tobacco program has not lost money for the government.
We can breathe a bit easier because we have a new friend in Washington in Freeman. Incoming Jack Kennedy gave his blessings to the plan while campaigning. There are in Congress, however, many representatives from industrial and or urban areas who would like to see the tobacco fair price plan ended. You never can tell when one of these may rise up with some plan to kill the act.

It behoves all of us in tobacco to support the plan to the fullest and to comply in every particular with all the provisions. We must speak as one and act as one whenever the measure is put under attack.
We know that as time rolls round there will be new efforts launched against a program which has given this section a good living for the longest time in history.
While we depend on our tobacco, we must not neglect seeking a better balance in our overall farm program. A lot of us who live on the farm must get jobs off the farm. A lot of us who have a small tobacco acreage must develop side lines which will bring in money.
We should strive to become independent in our operations over and above the tobacco which runs us. Only by such a program can we raise the average farm income of this section to one comparable to the returns to farmers in some other parts of the country. Only thus will we be able to push farm income up and to raise North Carolina's average per capita income.

Change plays no favorites. You can go home again—but you can't bring back quite the same person you took when you left.

Gurion Hurt Israeli Cause

By GEORGE E. SKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
Jews in most Western countries, particularly the United States, have been disturbed by a speech delivered by David Ben-Gurion, Prime Minister of Israel. Ben-Gurion is apparently desperate that the Jewish immigration to Israel has become reduced and that leadership Jews from Western countries do not come at all. Israel must now develop its population by the simple process of birth rather than by large scale immigration upon which it has depended.
Israel as a nation responds to a permanent hope of the Jewish people, often expressed in the Bible. It is the basis of the most interesting holy days in the Jewish religion, Passover and the Feast of the Maccabees.
The modern Zionist movement, founded by Dr. Theodor Herzl, a Viennese journalist, at the Basle Congress in 1897, sought to establish a Jewish homeland in Palestine. This was accomplished by the Balfour Declaration in 1917 and by a decision of the United Nations in 1947. Israel thus was established as a nation for those Jews who chose to live there.

Nevertheless, a great many Jews—in fact, most Jews—particularly in the Western countries, while they contributed heavily to the development of Israel, chose not to live there. Comparatively few American Jews left this country for Israel.
There is the old historic argument as to what a Jew is. Ben-Gurion has, for all practical purposes, tried to establish it that a Jew is one who migrates to Israel, which is historically an untenable position.
The Jews are a religion, the "People of the Book," who gave to mankind both the Old and New Testaments and who pronounced and propagated the idea of one god, a total Being, who revealed the moral law to Moses. Jews differ from Christians in the essential fact that the Jews believe that the Messiah, the Saviour of mankind, is yet to come, while Christians believe that He has already appeared in flesh upon this Earth in the person of Jesus.
As a religion, Judaism once possessed a central temple, built by Solomon in Jerusalem, which was conducted by an order of priests. In due course, the temple was defiled and finally destroyed. Since then Jews have had no priests but have depended for their religious sanctions upon rabbis who are teachers and preachers. Judaism, having no central organization, broke up into many sects at different times. It would serve no purpose to go into all of them now, suffice it that in the United States from rigid to free, are the Hasidim, the Orthodox, the Conservative and the Reform. The Zionist movement, prior to the establishment of Israel, gained its strength from the Orthodox and the Conservative. After Israel was established, many Reform Jews decided that Israel would be good for the refugees from Hitler, and supported the effort financially.

The so-called ethnological Jew is, from a Jewish standpoint, a monster. This person rejects Judaism as a religion because he abhors religion, but he regards himself as a Jew by race which is historical and ethnological nonsense. The Jews are not a race, having assimilated with many peoples. Anthropological measurements of thousands of Jews failed to produce a racial pattern. The Yementites, the Benjaminites, the Bene Israel of India, the Falashas are racially not akin to the Jews of Lithuania or of Poland or Swe-

Danger In That Project

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass. — President Kennedy's proposed $1.25 minimum wage would result in many employers renegeing the number of their workers. They must do so to avoid bankruptcy. But this is not the only dangerous result of such legislation, if passed.
WAGE CHANGES AFFECT ALL GROUPS
If this $1.25 proposal could stop with those now getting less, it could have certain advantages. In addition to aiding several million deserving persons, it would come back to farmers and manufacturers in increased purchasing power. None of this increase would be saved. This could be all to the good, but such legislation could upset all wage scales.
Wageworkers think more of prestige than they do of money. Most people are proud by nature, and wages they should be. Furthermore, workers who are now satisfied with $1.25 per hour naturally would not like to see inexperienced workers raised 25 per cent without a corresponding raise for themselves and others more experienced. Hence, the proposed minimum wage could upset the entire wage scale for millions of workers with resulting price increases for foods and consumer goods and services. Unfortunately, President Kennedy's economic advisors have never had a payroll to meet and are wholly ignorant of the intricate subject of wages and prices.
UNFAIR TO MILLIONS OF SMALL STOREKEEPERS
Eighty per cent of all shopkeepers employ only one or two clerks. These shops could be severely hurt as they are now barely making a living. Not only will most of them be obliged to put one of their clerks on half-time and thus reduce his or her "take-home pay" to 62½ cents per hour, but many of the small shops will feel obliged to close up and go out of business. President Kennedy's professors say—"Very well, there are already too many stores in every city and town." Such a statement is very misleading, as such salesmen and others who are now calling upon them will lose their jobs, the local newspapers will lose advertising, and more vacant stores will be seen on every business street.
To a certain extent this same principle applies also to the merger of railroads, banks, and various other large concerns. When the merger is announced, the statement is made that "no executive or other employee will be discharged." The policy of "no fire, no hire" will be adopted. This means that as employees die or become 65 they will not be replaced.
FOREIGN COMPETITION CAUSING UNEMPLOYMENT
Even today, with present wage scales, our wageworkers are "pricing themselves out of work." Many manufacturers in our country are now suffering because of goods imported from Germany, Japan, and Italy, where wages are low and working hours long. As we Americans buy these imported goods, we are increasing unemployment here at home. Hence, any move to further increase our U. S. wage scales at this time will result in the importation of more foreign goods. This would cause more unemployment here at home. Fearing this $1.25 minimum wage some corporations are already building factories in these foreign countries. Hence, I foresee that much more unemployment in this country is inevitable, whatever Congress does as to our wage scale.
AID FOR "DEPRESSED AREAS" IS JUSTIFIED
President Kennedy deserves support from Congress for his appeal for certain cities which are suffering from exceptionally large unemployment. These are areas which have depended too heavily on one certain industry such as hard coal, coarse textiles, and some farm crops.
It is only fair that the entire country which is enjoying fair prosperity should be taxed to subsidize such unfortunate areas until they get back on their feet again. The money (Continued on page five)

Record Enrollment For Legion Ceremonial

Enoca Legion of the Moose, meeting for its mid-Winter Ceremonial in Greenville Sunday, enrolled a class of 91 candidates. Visiting officials said that figure probably represented an all-time high in the North Carolina Legion's history.

Legionnaires representing all but three of the 28 Moose lodges east of Raleigh were in attendance.

Greenville's mayor, S. E. West himself among the enrollees—welcomed the visitors, saying "I am sure members of our lodge have welcomed you to their facilities but I welcome you to Greenville and hope you will come again and again."

Cecil D. Webster, of Burlington, was the speaker at Sunday's banquet. The Legion Councilman and national representative "reluctantly" agreed Enoca was "always first to participate in Legion programs and always first to complete Legion projects."

The speaker recalled that the Legion, the second degree of the Loyal Order of Moose, has comprised the pace-setters of Moose-dom; instituting the first Holstein dairy herd at Mooseheart; guaranteeing maintenance of Moosehaven; the construction of building at Moosehaven; promoting a research laboratory which has contributed to the field of geriatrics; gifts to construction of the House of God at Mooseheart; the providing of a summer camp for children residing at the Child City.

He congratulated Enoca Legion on its ceremonial and the Greenville hosts for their warm hospitality.

The meeting began Saturday with a dinner for officers, 25-Club members and their wives. This was followed by the Legion Ball, with an estimated 320-plus attending. Breakfast was served the visitors and initiates Sunday morning, followed by the business

Queen, Husband On A Tiger Hunt

JAIPUR, India (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and her husband Prince Philip were to go 12 miles into the jungle today on a tiger hunt that has some animal lovers of Europe and Asia up in arms. The royal couple are spending two days at the hunting lodge of the Maharaja of Jaipur without the usual entourage of newsmen and curious public. The maharaja declared the hunt area off limits to give the queen privacy and to avoid frightening away the tigers. Several animal welfare groups in India and Britain strenuously objected to the queen participating in the hunt. Nine thousand New Delhi students threatened a hunger strike if the queen "encouraged" tiger hunting.

Sunday was how to get the queen aboard an ornately decorated elephant for a short trip to the Maharaja's rose-colored palace in Jaipur. She used a wheeled platform resembling an airplane ramp.

Elizabeth looked apprehensive as she stepped aboard the howdah on the kneeling elephant but smiled and appeared to enjoy the ride as the huge beast swayed along.

Packed mobs cheered loudly as the queen and Philip, on another elephant, rode into the palace courtyard to meet Indian nobility.

Another royal problem resolved. The queen and duke were delayed leaving Jaipur for the overnight train trip to the hunting lodge because of confusion over a maid who helps the queen prepare for bed. The train has no corridors. Each car opens to the outside, making it impossible to move from one to another, and no one could decide what to do with the maid after she finished her duties. The queen, joking about being locked up in the train car, decided she would dispense with the maid's services.

Recommend Experiment In Teacher Merit Pay Plan

RALEIGH (AP) — A legislative committee today recommended that at least two Tar Heel school districts be selected for a four-year experiment testing feasibility of a teacher merit pay plan.

The suggestion was included in a 28-page report submitted to the governor by the Commission for the Study of Teacher Merit Pay and Implementation of a Revised Public School Curriculum.

The study group was established during the 1959 General Assembly. Chaired by Wake County Rep. W. C. Harris Jr., it included five lawmakers, five educators and five laymen.

Cuban Civilian Soldiers Told To Remain Alert

HAVANA (AP)—Maj. Ernesto Guevara warned Cuba's civilian soldiers Sunday night to remain alert so that if "the new (Kennedy) administration threatens us we will all be ready to go back to the trenches."

Cuba's pro-Communist economic chief sounded the warning at a rally of demobilized militiamen at a seacoast town 40 miles west of Havana. He urged the men to go back to work now that the three-week "invasion" alert was over, but cautioned them to be prepared.

Following the line laid down in Fidel Castro's speech Friday Guevara called for a change in the "mistaken and absurd" policies of the Eisenhower administration. He claimed the military alert had averted the danger of invasion and resulted in "an important victory for the people without bloodshed."

Fidel Castro told provincial delegates of the Agrarian Reform Institute that his government would give 80,000 small farmers in Oriente Province credits to spur cultivation of coffee and cacao.

He also announced creation of "children's farms" to be incorporated in the "people's farms," which raise vegetables, chickens and rabbits. Children over 20 will be eligible to work on the farms. Cuba and the Soviet Union also will exchange a thousand children to work and learn on each other's youth farms, Castro said.

The government announced that contracts had been signed with Red China under a five-year trade pact that will give Cuba $60 million worth of credits for buying Chinese industrial goods and equipment.

Three Traffic Accidents In City During Weekend

An estimated $450 damage resulted in the collision of two cars on Bancroft Ave. Saturday in one of three wrecks investigated by Greenville Police over the weekend.

Damage to the Huff auto was placed at $250 while damage to the Smith car was set at $200.

An estimated $200 damage resulted to the front of a car driven by Leon Pettit, 40 of 212 West Fourth St. Saturday when it struck the rear of a car being driven by Tobie Wallace, 52 of Route 2, Greenville on Greene St. near the intersection of First St.

Investigators identified the drivers of the vehicles as Bobbie G. Smith of 512 Watauga Ave., and Willie Huff, Negro of 1004 Bancroft Ave.

Damage to the Wallace vehicle was set at $15.

The collision occurred at 3:25 p.m., officers said.

Police, who charged Huff with operating under the influence of alcohol, said the two cars collided almost head-on. The Smith vehicle was headed North on Bancroft Ave., while the Huff car was traveling South.

Officers said the 8:45 p.m. collision occurred at the intersection of Bancroft Ave., and Lincoln Drive.

Yesterday, an estimated $50 damage resulted to a car parked on Evans St. near the intersection of Third St. when a door of the vehicle was opened and struck by a passing vehicle.

Give Program At PTA Meeting

A program on the School for Trainable Children in Greenville was presented to members of the Wahl-Coates P.T.A. at their meeting Thursday in McGinnis Auditorium.

Presenting the program were Mrs. Lou Cavendish, second grade teacher at Wahl-Coates; Mrs. Josephine Brookshire, in charge of the elementary group at the Trainable School; and Mrs. Sue Collins, in charge of the primary group at the school.

Mrs. Cavendish introduced by Mrs. Paul Hickfang, program chairman, spoke concerning the special education program at the school. She told those present that the students are divided into three groups, which makes classes smaller. In them, students receive special attention and are making wonderful progress, Mrs. Cavendish said.

Mrs. Brookshire showed slides of the students while Mrs. Collins gave a talk on the progress of the educable children. Mrs. Marie Little is in charge of the junior group.

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. Clav Burnette, P.T.A. president, a motion was made and seconded to purchase first aid supplies for each room of Wahl-Coates School. Mrs. Hazel Riddle, membership chairman, reported 33 members of the P.T.A. and asked those who had not joined to do so.

The group's recommendations, which could result in a bill for submission to the 1961 Assembly, included a call for an appropriation of $350,000 during the four years to finance the experiment.

The P.T.A. will not hold a February meeting, due to a study course being held Jan. 26 with Dr. Gertrude Lewis of the U. S. Department of Health Education and Welfare as guest speaker, and another one on Feb. 9 with Dr. Frank Fuller as speaker. The study course will be held at Elm Street School.

Dr. Charles Price gave the invocation at the meeting, using as his theme, "Our Responsibility as Parents."

Home accidents are nearly 15 times as numerous as those occurring in industrial places, including mines and quarries.

Integrated Pupils Keeping Up Pace

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The 12 Negro school children who became the first to attend integrated classes in Houston kept pace with their white classmates during the first semester, a survey by the Houston Chronicle showed.

The 12 Negroes were enrolled in four classes in three schools last September to end separate schooling in what was the nation's largest segregated school district. There were no incidents.

The newspaper's survey showed that the overall average of the 12 Negro first graders was C during the semester which ended Friday.

The overall average for integrated classes as a whole was C, school superintendent John McFarland said. He refused to discuss individual grades.

Seats Will Fit Spreading Trend

BALTIMORE (AP)—The city's proposed new Civic Center will have seats to fit "the growing size of the American posterior."

Architect A. G. Odell Jr., of Charlotte, N.C., said Sunday 20-inch seats will be installed because "we find that many people now have difficulty getting in and out of anything smaller."

East Carolina Thrashes Pfeiffer For 8th Victory

By LEONARD LAO
Reflector Sports Writer

A pesky Pfeiffer basketball team invaded Greenville Saturday just long enough to throw a scare into East Carolina's hardwood quint in the first half of play, but a devastating fast break in the second twenty minutes on the part of the Pirates all but ran the visiting Falcons out of Memorial Gymnasium. When the smoke cleared, Coach Earl Smith and his Pirate contingent found themselves on the winning end of a 79-64 score.

Pfeiffer's Bill Claypool, a junior forward, grabbed high scoring honors for the evening, pumping in 28 points. Eighteen of his points came in the second half, when the Pirate's fast breaking attack was clicking.

The Falcons jumped into an early lead behind the under the basket shooting of Bobby Frank. The 6' 8" junior center scored six of Pfeiffer's first 11 points to give the visitors an 11-5 lead after the initial six minutes of play. But after the teams exchanged field goals, the locals scored eight straight points with guard Charlie Lewis netting six of them, to grab the lead at 15-13 with 12:00 left before intermission. After that, the lead changed hands four times before the end of the first half.

Frank sank a layup to knot the count at 15-15, but EC center Bill Otte, playing one of his best games of the season, put the Bucs back ahead, 17-15. Another exchange of baskets by the two pivotmen gave the locals a 19-17 lead.

Led by Frank and Claypool, the visitors hit a five point scoring spurt to take a 22-19 lead with eight minutes left before intermission. Two minutes later, Lewis sank a jumper to give the locals the lead at 26-24, but Frank sank a charity toss and Claypool added a field goal, and Pfeiffer led again, 27-26. Then Benny Bowes, Pirate reserve center hit a field goal and Lewis added another with 2:35 left to give the Bucs the lead at 30-27, and the locals never trailed again, holding a slim 32-29 halftime margin.

In the second half, East Carolina was an entirely different ball club, working it's fast break to perfection. Led by Lewis and All-Conference guard, Cotton Clayton, the Pirates jumped off to a fast 40-30 lead, and continued to increase the margin as the time crept by.

The biggest margin that the Bucs led by was 17 points. That occurred twice in the second half: once at 57-40 with 10:15 left, and again with just 2:00 left, at 77-60. It was at that point that Pirate coach

Earl Smith emptied his bench.

Frank fouled out of the contest with 1:37 left, but it was too late for any thoughts of a comeback at that time. The big pivotman did manage to finish second to teammate Claypool in the scoring department with 19 points.

Lewis and Otte led the East Carolina scorers with 16 points each. The Bucs' balanced scoring attack saw all five starters hit the double digit column. Clayton and forward Lacy-West both dumped 12 points each, while Don Smith dropped 10 points, all in the torrid second half.

Three of EC's starters also hit double figures in the rebounding department. Smith led with 12, but he was closely followed by Clayton with 11 and Otte with 10.

The Pirates hit on 34 of 70 field goal attempts for a shooting accuracy of 48.5 per cent. The locals also hit 57.4 per cent from the free throw line, hitting 11 of 19.

ACC Teams Take Exam Breather Before Stretch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams get an examination-time breather most of this week, to rest and regroup for what promises to be a hectic stretch run.

At this stage, Duke, North Carolina and Wake Forest appear most likely to succeed. Duke and North Carolina, each with a 5-0 record in conference play, head up the standings, and Wake Forest is next with a 7-1 mark. Duke is 13-1 over-all and ranked eighth in the nation, and sixth-ranked North Carolina is 12-2 over-all. Wake Forest has a 10-5 record in all games.

The conference champion is determined in the tournament in March. Maryland held on to fourth place with a 75-57 victory over reel North Carolina State last Saturday. The Wolfpack, winner of 9 of its first 11 games and nationally ranked earlier in the season, now has lost four straight games, all to ACC foes. The Terps now have a 3-3 conference mark and are 10-5 for all games.

State is fifth with a 2-5 conference mark. Then come Clemson (1-4), Virginia (1-7) and South Carolina (0-4). State is 9-6 over-all. Clemson is 6-10, Virginia 2-13, and South Carolina 6-7.

In the only other game Saturday involving an ACC team, Virginia lost, 86-77, to George Washington of the Southern Conference.

No games will be played this week until Friday when Virginia entertains Wake Forest. The Saturday schedule has Clemson at Duke, South Carolina at N.C. State, and Wake Forest host to Virginia Tech of the Southern Conference.

In the individual scoring race, Wake Forest's Len Chappell, a 6-8 junior, has taken the lead away from sophomore star Art Heyman of Duke.

Chappell scored 33 points in his club's victory over Clemson last week to boost his average to 23.4 in 13 games. Chappell was sidelined for the first two Wake Forest games because of a knee injury. Duke was idle all last week, and Heyman continues with a 23.1 scoring average. York Larese of North Carolina is next at 22.7.

Heyman, Chappell and Larese have some head-on duels coming up this second half of the season. Duke still must face both Wake Forest and North Carolina twice, and the Deacons and Tar Heels have one more game scheduled.

Final Putt Brings Bob Rosburg Win

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bob Rosburg's long experience with the Pebble Beach course plus a great pressure put on the final hole brought him the $5,300 first prize check in Bing Crosby's 20th annual golf tournament.

"I knew I had to make it," Rosburg said of the 14-foot slight hooking putt he sank for a birdie four on the final hole Sunday for an even-par 72 and a winning 282 for the 72 holes.

Still the ex-Stanford star who won the PGA tournament in 1959 for his last major victory had to wait a half hour to see if Bill Collins of Baltimore, needed even par for the final two holes to tie and a birdie on one to win.

"If Collins gets a par on that 17th, he deserves to win," Rosburg commented as a stiff wind from the ocean whipped the course.

Collins went one-over-par on the 17th when his tee shot was trapped on the 218-yard, par-three hole. He still could have tied with a birdie four on the 18th and his third shot stopped about 15 feet from the cup. Bill promptly missed two putts, the second from two feet, and took a six. Collins got only $1,625 for a tie for fourth. His 75 gave him a 284.

Deadlocked for second, one stroke off the pace at 283, were Roberto de Vicenzo of Mexico City and Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla. De Vicenzo shot a 75 final round and Ragan a 74.

Rosburg, 34, a resident of Palo Alto, Calif., who plays out of Overland Park, Kans., needed to make up seven strokes to catch the third-round leader Ted Kroil of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., who had a 203 through 54 holes. Ted blew up with an 81 and a 284.

For a time it appeared Arnold Palmer, golfer-of-the-year in 1960 would take it all here. But a 41 on the final nine and 75 total left him at 284 with Kroil and Gardner Dickinson who was one of three sub-par shooters here Sunday with a one-under 71. Johnny Pott also eclipsed par by a stroke for a 285 total.

Wes Ellis shot only a 289 but he and his partner Frank Tatum Jr., of San Francisco teamed for a best ball of 67-252 that gave the pro a $3,000 first prize. Dow Finsterwald and Fred Kammer of Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., were next with 67-254. Finsterwald collected $1,500 there to go with his $1,030 for a 286 among the individual pros.

Ohio State, Purdue Meet In Feature Game Of Week

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The folks in the midlands who say Terry Dischinger is as good as Olympic teammate Jerry Lucas and that Ohio State is far from invincible get a chance to test their theory this week as college basketball begins to bust out of its mid-term doldrums.

Dischinger, probably destined to spend his college career in Lucas' shadow, has a head-to-head meeting with the big Buckeye All-American on Saturday afternoon when Purdue and top-ranked Ohio State collide at Columbus, Ohio, for the Big Ten lead.

The 6-6 Dischinger, shrugging off a badly cut finger suffered in a chemistry lab accident, scored 19 points as Purdue (9-3) bounced fourth-ranked Iowa off a 10-game winning streak and out of the Big Ten lead with a 47-41 thumping last Saturday night. Talented Terry is expected to be fully recovered by the time the Boiler-makers get at the Buckeyes, their top national ranking, and their national-leading 18-game winning streak.

Purdue first has a conference test at much-beaten Northwestern tonight, but this one doesn't figure to be much more than a warm-up for the big Saturday game.

Dischinger, who beat Lucas in the conference scoring race last year and outscored him in their meetings as sophomores, gets only this one chance against the Bucs.

If it's a slow-down Coach Ray Eddy has in mind, he may find Ohio State less inclined to control than the Hawkeyes were over the week-end.

Minnesota Coach John Kundla tried it against Ohio State and it befuddled the Bucs only for 5 minutes. Behind 8-1 at the time, the defending NCAA champions switched into an aggressive, ball-hawking defense, reeled off eight straight points and went on to a 75-56 victory with Lucas scoring 22 points and his starting mates all hitting in double figures.

The Purdue-Ohio State showdown is the feature game on a big program Saturday as basketball swings back into full-time activity.

The schedule dribbles along the first four days this week, with only a dozen major games, before opening up a bit on Friday. Most of the power teams will be back in action either Friday, Saturday or a week from tonight, after completing mid-term examinations.

It'll likely be a vastly shuffled top 10 in the AP poll by the time they return. Although Ohio State, second-ranked St. Bonaventure, and sixth-ranked North Carolina went unbeaten through last week, and three others—Bradley, Duke and St. John's—were idle, the top 10 combined had only a 6-5 won-lost record.

Iowa, before losing to Purdue, had defeated Illinois. Fifth-ranked Louisville split a pair during the week—losing to Xavier of Ohio 84-77 before bouncing back to top the Dayton 83-50 in the national TV game Saturday. Seventh-ranked DePaul, unbeaten a week ago, lost twice—to Notre Dame and Western Michigan. Tenth-ranked Kansas State also lost its only start—to Kansas.

Rudolph, O'Brien, And Boston Smash Records

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Wilma Rudolph, Parry O'Brien and Ralph Boston smashed American indoor records in sprinting, shot-putting and broad-jumping at the 1961 Los Angeles Indoor Invitational.

A turnaway crowd of 13,622 in the Sports Arena saw Miss Rudolph run the 60-yard dash in 6.9 seconds, bettering the 7.2 mark set March 21, 1954, by Dolores Dwyer in New York.

O'Brien, who's been talking about retiring from track, broke his own indoor record with a heave of 63 feet, 1 1/2 inches. His former mark was 62.5, set Feb. 20, 1960, in New York.

Boston, holder of the world and Olympic broad jump records, leaped 25 feet, 10 inches, bettering by one-half inch the indoor mark set last Feb. 20 in New York by Bob Roberson of the Army.

Other top performances: Olympic champ Otis Davis of Oregon's Emerald Empire Athletic Association won the 500-yard race in 58.4 seconds, beating another former Olympian, Eddie Southern of the Army.

Olympic champion Don Bragg won the pole vault at 15 feet before retiring with an ailing leg.

And Jim Beatty of Santa Clara Valley Youth Village rallied to win the mile in 4:06.4, edging Ernie Cunniffe in Stanford.

STREIT WINS GOLF TOURNAY 3RD TIME
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—It was the same old story in the 1961 edition of the Helen Lee Doherty women's golf championship—Marlene Streit won for the third straight time.

Mrs. Streit, a Toronto, Ontario, housewife, was two over women's par for the 6,066-yard Coral Ridge Country Club course Sunday to defeat Phyllis (Tish) Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., 3 and 1 in the 36-hole final.

Appalachian and the streaking Lenoir Rhyne Bears remain the basketball kingly of the North State Conference.

The Mountaineers, leading the league with an 8-1 record, entertain Atlantic Christian in a conference game tonight.

Lenoir Rhyne, second in the conference with a 9-2 mark, won its 11th straight game Saturday night, an 88-64 decision over Atlantic Christian. In other games Saturday, East Carolina beat Pfeiffer 79-64, and High Point fell to Newberry 73-66.

Appalachian is 12-2 over-all and Lenoir Rhyne 15-2.

In the only other game tonight involving a North State team, Western Carolina plays at Troy State.

After the conference leaders come East Carolina (8-3 and 8-4), High Point (6-3 and 6-4), Elon (5-3 and 10-7), Catawba (4-5 and 8-9), Western Carolina (3-6 and 4-13), Atlantic Christian (2-5 and 5-7), Pfeiffer (2-10 and 2-13), and Guilford (1-10 and 1-12).

The schedule for the rest of the week:
Wednesday — Pfeiffer at Appalachian.
Thursday — Pembroke at Guilford, ACC at High Point.
Friday — Western Carolina at East Carolina.
Saturday — Catawba at Elon, WCC at ACC, High Point at Lenoir Rhyne, Belmont Abbey at Appalachian.

Ingo Chooses Florida Site

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Palm Beach has been chosen by Ingemar Johansson as the site of his training camp for his return match with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson March 13 at Miami Beach.

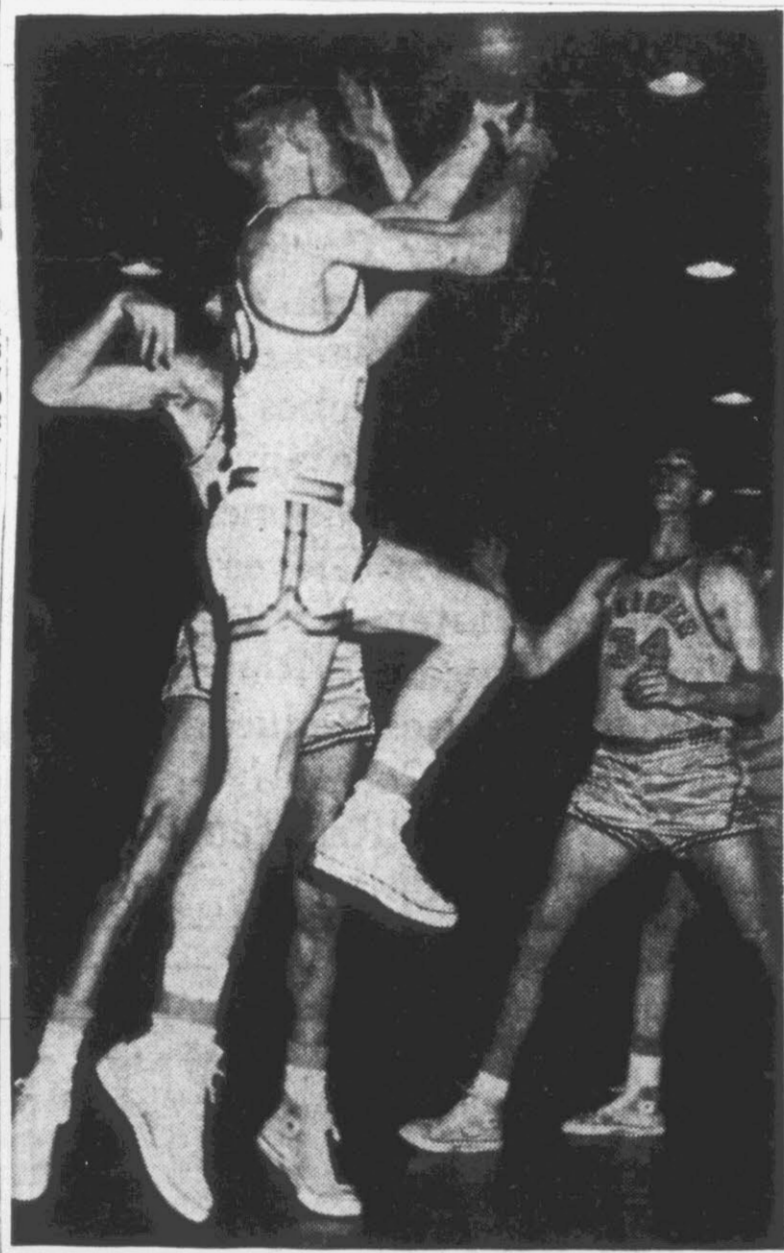

Johansson will come one day a week to Miami Beach to work out in the Municipal Auditorium next door to the Miami Beach convention hall, scene of the fight.

Patterson is due to arrive Feb. 13.

Carolina Lands Tennessee Star

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (AP)—Johnny Payne, 160-pound All-Southern tailback from Knoxville's Central High, says he's sending his football scholarship papers, signed and sealed, to North Carolina Coach Jim Hickey today.

Payne, who was named to the Associated Press All-Southern and All-Tennessee gridiron teams, led Central to a 10-1 record last season. He scored 19 touchdowns and accounted for 2,118 yards rushing and passing.

Tribe Not Sold On W. Virginia Power

By ED YOUNG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Powerful West Virginia rode confidently atop the Southern Conference basketball standings today while a lean and stubborn also-ran laid plans for mutiny down below.

William and Mary Coach Bill Chambers admits he's been as dazzled as the next fellow by the Mountaineers' show of firepower, but he's not in the least prepared to run up a flag of truce.

"They haven't won it yet," he says with emphasis. "For one thing, we think we can beat them. We very definitely think we can. And maybe when they get away from home, things will be different."

Chambers' views are of some moment in the West Virginia lurid at Morgantown, where five of WVU's six conference victories have been recorded. For it's against W&M at Norfolk that the Mountaineers make their first defense of their newly won league lead on Saturday night.

W&M is only 5-4 in the conference to West Virginia's 6-1 but in a previous game Dec. 3 at Morgantown, West Virginia had to go overtime to sneak past the Indians, 74-72.

West Virginia, lifting its overall record to 12-3, took over sole ownership of the conference lead last Saturday night in a 83-72 romp past Virginia Tech (5-2), which had been tied for the top.

Tech Coach Chuck Noe left two starting guards, Bucky Keller and Bob Ayersman, behind as a disciplinary move and without them not even a 28-point performance by Chris Smith could keep the Techmen in the game.

Another Saturday night game saw George Washington break a three-game losing spin by trouncing non-conference Virginia 86-77 April 19.

There are no games in the conference this week until Friday, when Richmond (2-5) visits The Citadel (5-2).

Julio Gotay, St. Louis Cardinal rookie shortstop, led the Northern League in homers with 24 while playing with Winnipeg in 1958. He's a Puerto Rican.

Sluggers Against Same In TV Bout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It will be puncher against puncher in the Saturday night television fight matching middleweights Rory Calhoun and Florentino Fernandez.

They clash in a ten-rounder—ABC TV, 10 p.m., EST—at New York's Madison Square Garden. The winner probably will earn a berth in the 160-pound division's top ten although neither is a ranking middleweight now. Fernandez, 24-year-old Cuban, is ranked sixth among the welterweights. In his debut in the middleweights he knocked out Phil Meyer in the fifth round at the Garden last Nov. 12.

Calhoun, of White Plains, N.Y., once was a top-ranking middleweight. The 26-year-old slugger indicated he was on the rise again when he outpointed Hank Casey, fourth-ranking middleweight, on New Year's Day in New Orleans.

Fernandez has a 28-2 record, including 22 knockouts. Calhoun's record is 45-10-2, including 21 kayos.

Lightweight contender Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., meets newcomer Joe Stable of Cuba in the main ten-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas arena tonight.

Cuba, 24, a stablemate of welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret, beat Chico Velez in his U.S. debut at the Garden last month. He has a 12-1-1 record, including three kayos. Lane, 28, has a 62-9 record including 13 knockouts.

Carolina League Doesn't Act On New Applications

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Directors of the six-team Class-B Carolina baseball league were told Sunday that a Danville, Va., Negro undertaker, James W. Peters, would like to enter a mixed team.

They took no action on this application, and others from High Point - Thomasville, N.C., and Lynchburg, Va. They did adopt a 140-game schedule, opening April 18 and closing Labor Day, Sept. 4.

The High Point-Thomasville and Lynchburg applications were made contingent on ability to get a major league tie-up.

Opening day pairings send Greensboro to Winston-Salem. Wilson to Raleigh and Burlington to Durham. The same pairings will have the teams switch site for the second-round openers April 19.

All but one club, Raleigh, has signed managers. They are Bill Herring, Burlington; Wayne Terwilliger, Greensboro; Al Lakeman, Durham; Elmer Yoter, Winston-Salem; and Jack McKeon, Wilson.

Methyl Bromide And Wheat Straw Combined In Preparing Plant Beds

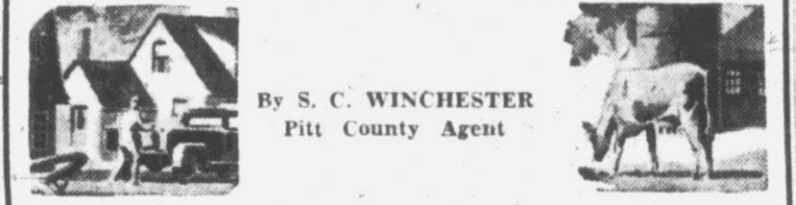

Methyl bromide gas and wheat straw can be used quite successfully in preparing tobacco plant beds.

Protection of the plants and control of undesirable growth. Varying from other popular methods, the technique employed by Hemmingway involves distribution of the gas-treated straw in a thin layer over the seeded bed.

place boards or other routinely-used materials. Hemmingway's thin layer of straw throughout the bed prevents the canvas from sticking to the ground after rain and, at the same time, allows the canvas to lie close to the ground for maximum protection from cold.

with both ends stuck into the ground. And the closer contact between the canvas and the ground has no apparent effect on growth of the plants. They grow up under the cover cloth, carrying it with them as they go.

The Farm Scene

By S. C. WINCHESTER, Pitt County Agent

SWEET POTATO production offers a good opportunity for some of Pitt County's growers to increase their farm income. The total production of sweet potatoes in North Carolina and the United States is not large enough to meet the total demand.

seasons have shown that twice as many sprouts can be secured from a bushel of potatoes by pre-sprouting as by the conventional method. This would allow bedding of only half as many bushels of potatoes to produce plants for a given acreage.

PRODUCTION Did you produce 300 bushels of sweet potatoes per acre last year? Possibly you can. Start with a good variety of certified seed.

OF ALL THE WAYS there are to make a living, farming must surely rank near the top of the list from the standpoint of uncertainty of results.

Royal Crown Cola advertisement featuring a six-pack of bottles and the slogan 'BIG refreshing difference the fresher refresher'.

Soil Tests Have Proven Values

The Agricultural Conservation Program for 1960 provides several instances where the government shares with the farmer the cost of conservation practices requiring application of lime or fertilizer.

What could be more risky than investing your money in an enterprise controlled by so many factors over which you have little or no influence? But farmers have the courage and stamina to overcome all obstacles.

Just the same many smart farmers are hedging against adversity by regular soil testing. A recent report by the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows that American farmers own liquid financial assets in excess of 14 billion dollars—$14.3 billion to be exact.

Conservation practices under the ACP which should be preceded by a soil test include establishment of permanent pasture, additional vegetative cover in a crop rotation, application of liming materials of farmland, improvement of permanent pasture and others.

The need for lime on North Carolina soils is great and even with cost share assistance available through ACP only a small fraction of our needs are being met, according to Edwards.

ASC NOTES

SLED ROW requirements for 1961 tobacco fields have been revised since a year ago, the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office reports.

Work is being done to develop varieties of tobacco that will be resistant to one or several of the following diseases: black shank, Granville wilt, Fusarium wilt, nematodes, Mosaic, blue mold, and brown spot.

THE FINAL DATE for obtaining price support loans on 1960 crop corn has been set as Feb. 28, the office reported.

Wang stressed, "The necessary documents must be completed not later than the deadline date. These documents include the producer's note and loan agreement for warehouse-storage loans, the producer's note and supplemental loan agreement, and the Commodity Chattel Mortgage for farm-storage loans, and the Purchase Agreement for Purchase Agreements.

REAPPORTIONMENT of cotton acreage released to Pitt's ASC county committee will take place upon request of other farms in the county.

A CAUTION note went out from the office manager last week to "remember the discount variety program will again be in effect for the 1961 tobacco crop."

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed higher in heavy trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.00 at 230.90 with industrials up 1.70, rails up .80 and utilities up .10. Gains of fractions to a point or more outnumbered losers among key stocks.

The Commerce Department report that consumer spending had risen to a record level was encouraging. Hope for a business upturn this year continued.

The market was narrowly mixed at the start, then improved gradually, gaining some momentum as trading wore on.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.88 at 639.25. Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. governments were higher.

Sunday Roadblocks Add To Drive Fund

Members of the Greenville Fire Department and Rescue Squad received a total of $361.43 for the New 1961 March of Dimes from roadblocks set up yesterday. The collection stations, operating between 1:30-4:30 p.m., were located at West End Circle, New Bern Highway, at the intersection of Munford Road and Greene St., Washington Highway, 264 by-pass at the open-air theatre and at the intersection of the Falkland Highway and U.S. 13 by-pass.

Mrs. Louise Carrigan, City Chairman, and Mrs. Earline Coghill, County Chairman, estimated about $2,200 has been collected to date. Final figures on a number of projects have yet to be determined, and several other activities are to be held. These include: Blue Crush, Valinda Whichard, January 28; and Mother's March, Mrs. Lucy Harrell, January 31. Television station WTTN, Washington, will begin their telethon at 11 p.m. January 28. Donations and pledges that are received from Pitt County will be given to Pitt for usage here.

The Greenville March of Dimes proceeds will be divided and part sent to the National Foundation to combat birth defects, polio and arthritis. The local campaign is being sponsored by the Credit Women's Breakfast Club.

Active Week Is Facing Sanford

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Terry Sanford was back in Raleigh today to begin a busy week which includes sessions dealing with education, military affairs, health and the aged.

Sanford was to meet this afternoon with the Governor's Coordinating Committee on Aging.

After a meeting with the Advisory Budget Commission Tuesday, the governor will go to Ft. Bragg to speak to the Ft. Bragg Army Association Tuesday night.

He will be in Asheville Wednesday for an education rally sponsored by the North Carolina Citizens Committee for Better Schools and the Western North Carolina Regional Planning Council.

He is tentatively scheduled to fly to Fayetteville that night for a meeting with the Junior Chamber of Commerce there.

Thursday morning Sanford will speak to the Governor's Council on Occupational Health and then will attend the annual stockholders meeting of the North Carolina Railroad.

Sanford's weekly news conference is scheduled for 3 p.m. Thursday.

Thursday night Sanford will be host at a dinner in honor of retiring Adj. Gen. Capus Waynick and former Adj. Gen. John Hall Manning.

He will go to nearby Garner Friday morning to speak to a Methodist district rally and then will speak to the North Carolina chapter of the American Institute of Architects Friday evening.

Six Stranded By Blizzard Are Found Unharmed

WATERVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Three Tennessee men and their wives, stranded in the rugged mountains of the Pisgah National Forest in Western North Carolina during a blizzard, were found in good condition Sunday after spending the night in a mountain cabin.

The six, from Morrisville, on a trek by jeep into the snow-covered mountains, were returning to Waterville Saturday afternoon when their jeep broke down.

They spent a comfortable night at a nearby unoccupied cabin while temperatures plunged below zero and 16 inches of new snow fell outside.

When Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Gorlon Garner, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stansberry did not return to Waterville, a search party was organized. Three planes, a park ranger, and several local farmers began to search for the missing Tennesseans.

The six were met by one of the searchers as they hiked down the mountains toward Waterville, located just outside the Great Smoky Mountains National Park's northeast border.

SPEAKER — Texas' Rep. Sam Rayburn, who has served as speaker of the House of Representatives longer than any other man, flashes a smile on his 79th birthday.

Harbor Strike In New York Ends

NEW YORK (AP) — A two-week-old harbor strike that had caused a paralyzing railroad tie-up throughout much of the East was ended today by tentative agreement on a new work pact.

Mediators, including President Kennedy's new secretary of labor, Arthur J. Goldberg, met in a marathon 14-hour session that ended with the announcement of a settlement at 6:18 a.m.

The strike of railroad tug and ferry boat workers against 11 railroads that operate in New York harbor had crippled the city's commuter transportation, forcing 100,000 persons to look for other means of getting to and from work.

The walkout of the 664 workers in three marine unions on Jan. 10 had also virtually shut down the New York Central and the New Haven railroads.

Both sides said they hoped to get back into operation by Tuesday morning.

The unions have called a ratification meeting for later in the day at the Seafarers International Union headquarters in Brooklyn.

Both sides were expected to okay the pact.

Both Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who had invited Goldberg to attend the sessions, praised the new labor secretary for his contribution to the settlement.

Goldberg flew to New York less than 24 hours after he had been sworn into Kennedy's Cabinet.

The key to the settlement was an agreement to postpone the touchy issue of job security. The unions had asked to have present five-man tug crews remain frozen. But operators wanted a new contract to state that management had the right to decide the number of men needed.

Both sides finally agreed to defer any decision until next December when a White House study on railroad-manning problems is completed.

The striking marine unions, besides the Seafarers, where Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots.

After Seafarer pickets showed up at the big union terminal in Cleveland, Ohio, Sunday, the Central-nation's second largest—practically shut down its Western division. Its Eastern division had been hit last week.

The idle train crews were not directly involved in the dispute, but they refused to cross marine picket lines.

Brothers Facing Assault Charge

Two brothers have been arrested on an assault charge and are in Pitt County Jail under $200 bond each, Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson reported today.

He identified the two as Harvey Ray Green, 25, and Louis Green, 32, both of Rt. 3, Greenville.

They were arrested on a warrant signed by Buster Payton who runs a business near the Brick Kiln east of Greenville.

New Twist Given Flim-Flam Game

Latest in film flams: A local firm received a call supposedly from a well-known businessman one night last week.

The voice placed a small order and asked that change for a $50 check be sent along. The caller gave the correct address for the identity he had given.

Before the delivery was made, the store received additional calls asking them to hurry the delivery.

When the delivery boy arrived at the house, a man met him at the yard. He told the boy he had started after the package.

The package and the cash were turned over in exchange for the check.

The check bounced and the delivery boy was unable to make identification.

Rites Tuesday For Vicki Lynn Padgett

Vicki Lynn Padgett, four-month-old daughter of Olla Ray and Marie Eason Padgett of Greenville, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 by the Rev. Howard James, pastor of the Red Oak Christian Church. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park.

Surviving are her parents; her grandparents: Mr. and Mrs. Lyman R. Eason of Greenville, and Mrs. Bessie Midgett of Hickory; her great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Annie Holloman of Greenville; and her great great grandmother, Mrs. J. M. C. Freeland of McCormick, S. C.

Beginner Panics In Driving Lesson

DENVER (AP) — An automobile driven by a beginner struck Fred S. Caldwell, 47, knocked him onto the hood and then plunged through glass into a women's ready-to-wear store Sunday.

Caldwell was hospitalized for severe head cuts.

The driver, Rosalie Kiss, 20, was cited for careless driving.

Officers said she apparently panicked while receiving instruction from her brother, Michael Kiss, 21.

Refuse To Annul Proxy Marriage

EL PASO, TEX. (AP) — The El Paso Times says a Juarez, Mexico court has turned down two petitions from Italian prodrom Carlo Ponti who is seeking annulment of his marriage to actress Sophie Loren.

Ponti seeks annulment on the grounds that his proxy marriage to the Italian movie star Sept. 19, 1957 is ineffective due to lack of sufficient witnesses to the ceremony.

N.C. Commission Here To Survey Pitt 'Pilot Center'

The N. C. Commission to Study the Public School Education of Exceptionally Talented Children is meeting at various points in Pitt County and Greenville today and Tuesday.

Culminating their visit here will be a combined meeting of the commission with school personnel involved in the local program, which includes city and county.

The schedule today included a 9 a.m. visit at Farmville High School, a 1 p.m. meeting at Greenville Junior High School and there will be an 8 p.m. commission meeting tonight.

On Tuesday, the commission will visit Elmhurst School at 9 a.m.; Ayden School at 1 p.m.; and will hold the combined meeting with school personnel at 4 p.m. At 8 p.m. there will be a staff meeting.

Greenville and Pitt County are one of three "pilot" centers throughout the state which are working in conjunction with the N. C. Commission on a program geared to correlate with the study of the public school education of exceptionally talented children.

In the Pitt County system, the program has been carried out on the Hiram, teacher idea, with Thomas Strickland visiting various schools included in the program. These are Ayden and Farmville, where special classes in science are taught. Mathematics are also taught in the Ayden program.

In Greenville, the ungraded primary system is being conducted at Elmhurst School. An advanced section of the seventh grade is being taught by Mrs. Annette Plyler, also a part of the program.

About 300 students in Pitt and Greenville are participating in the program now. Public school enrollment in the Greenville schools is about 5,000 with county school enrollment topping 13,000.

Results of the studies conducted in the pilot centers—which also include Winston-Salem, and Hendersonville and Henderson County—will be the bases of recommendations to the legislature, it has been reported.

Several city and county school officials are expected to attend the 4 p.m. meeting here Tuesday in the office of Dr. Frank Scott of East Carolina College, eastern coordinator of the commission.

His ASC Career Started In Pitt

A. Pierson Hassell Jr., a high state ASC official who joined the federal agency in Pitt County in 1936, is expected to succeed Horace D. Godfrey as administrative officer of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program.

Hassell has been with ASC and its predecessor agencies since he joined the Pitt County staff in 1936 following his graduation from Davidson College.

He became chief clerk of the Pitt branch office in 1937 and remained here until 1941 when he became fieldman for northeastern counties. He went to the State ASC office in 1949 to head up the audit and statistical division.

Hassell's appointment probably will be made within a few days by the State ASC Committee.

Since 1953 he has been chief of the administrative division and second in command to Godfrey who has been appointed administrator of the Commodity Stabilization Service in Washington.

Hassell was born in Japan where his father was a missionary for a number of years. Since his father's death in 1941, his mother has been a resident of Hendersonville.

Hassell is married to the former May Harrison Benson of Nashville and they have two daughters.

Active Week Is Facing Sanford

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Terry Sanford was back in Raleigh today to begin a busy week which includes sessions dealing with education, military affairs, health and the aged.

Sanford was to meet this afternoon with the Governor's Coordinating Committee on Aging.

After a meeting with the Advisory Budget Commission Tuesday, the governor will go to Ft. Bragg to speak to the Ft. Bragg Army Association Tuesday night.

He will be in Asheville Wednesday for an education rally sponsored by the North Carolina Citizens Committee for Better Schools and the Western North Carolina Regional Planning Council.

He is tentatively scheduled to fly to Fayetteville that night for a meeting with the Junior Chamber of Commerce there.

Thursday morning Sanford will speak to the Governor's Council on Occupational Health and then will attend the annual stockholders meeting of the North Carolina Railroad.

Sanford's weekly news conference is scheduled for 3 p.m. Thursday.

Thursday night Sanford will be host at a dinner in honor of retiring Adj. Gen. Capus Waynick and former Adj. Gen. John Hall Manning.

He will go to nearby Garner Friday morning to speak to a Methodist district rally and then will speak to the North Carolina chapter of the American Institute of Architects Friday evening.

Wants Ike Play Advisory Role

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania's Republican chairman said today he will ask Dwight D. Eisenhower to take on an advisory role in state party affairs.

George I. Bloom said in an interview there was much the former President can contribute.

"Once President Eisenhower gets settled, I intend to go down to his (Gettysburg) farm and discuss the entire matter with him," Bloom said.

"There is no doubt but that he can contribute a great deal, by virtue of his vast experience and popularity, to the goals of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania."

Both sides were expected to okay the pact.

Both Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who had invited Goldberg to attend the sessions, praised the new labor secretary for his contribution to the settlement.

Goldberg flew to New York less than 24 hours after he had been sworn into Kennedy's Cabinet.

The key to the settlement was an agreement to postpone the touchy issue of job security. The unions had asked to have present five-man tug crews remain frozen. But operators wanted a new contract to state that management had the right to decide the number of men needed.

Both sides finally agreed to defer any decision until next December when a White House study on railroad-manning problems is completed.

The striking marine unions, besides the Seafarers, where Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots.

After Seafarer pickets showed up at the big union terminal in Cleveland, Ohio, Sunday, the Central-nation's second largest—practically shut down its Western division. Its Eastern division had been hit last week.

The idle train crews were not directly involved in the dispute, but they refused to cross marine picket lines.

Friend Of Late Novelist Jailed

LONDON (AP) — Soviet authorities have finally confirmed persistent reports that they have jailed Olga Ivinskaya, close friend and collaborator of the late Boris Pasternak.

Moscow radio said this weekend that Mrs. Ivinskaya and her daughter, Irina, 23, had been convicted of taking 800,000 rubles—$90,000—in royalties from Pasternak's disputed novel "Dr. Zhivago." The book was banned in the Soviet Union, apparently because of its anti-Marxist overtones. It was a best seller abroad.

The Moscow broadcast did not mention the prison terms, but it had been reported in the West that Mrs. Ivinskaya got eight years and her daughter three.

The radio charged that Mrs. Ivinskaya had carried out a plot to prevent Pasternak from ever seeing money brought by Western messengers. The broadcast said Mrs. Ivinskaya persuaded Pasternak not to accept the royalty money because it came from an "anti-patriotic" novel, but that she then pocketed it herself.

The London Times said the trial seems designed to discredit any other manuscripts which may have survived Pasternak or found their way abroad. Mrs. Ivinskaya was reportedly arrested last August, three months after Pasternak died. She is believed to have been the model for Lara, the heroine of "Dr. Zhivago."

Just Too Lazy To Deliver It

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There was no sleet, snow, dead of night, none of that jazz that fires up a postman.

Matter of fact it was sunny and fairly warm when deputy sheriff Vern Baldridge came upon postman Louis S. Romani burying an estimated 10,000 pieces of mail in a gulch near Half Moon Bay 20 miles south of here Friday. Nearly all of it was advertising material.

"I was just too plain lazy to deliver it," he told postal inspectors. He said he decided to get rid of it when he moved recently from one house to another in south San Francisco.

U.S. Commissioner Donald E. Constance set bail at $250. He faces trial on a charge of obstructing the mail. Possible penalty is five years and $500.

To Name Hiway For Publisher

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — State Route 181 between Morganton and Linville will be named the "Beatrice Cobb Highway" in honor of the late publisher of the Morganton News Herald and longtime secretary of the North Carolina Press Association.

The Highway Department announced over the weekend signs bearing Miss Cobb's name were being erected along the highway. She died last year.

Cars Collided During Warm-Up

TITUSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — It was cold Sunday, so Emerson T. Campbell and his wife Marjorie of Titusville R. D. 1 decided their two cars needed a warm-up.

Mrs. Campbell got in one auto and took a short ride.
