Miss Whitehurst, Mr. Johnson Wed Sunday

In a candlelight ceremony in the Sweet Gum Grove Free-Will Baptist Church, Stokes, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Miss Margaret Ann Whitehurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. Whitehurst of Stokes, became the bride of George Wesley Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Johnson of Robersonville.

Mrs. George Wesley Johnson

The Rev. Carlton Lee Roberson of Robersonville and Rev. D. W. Alexander of Bethel officiated at the double ring ceremony. Vows were spoken before a background of bridal greenery of areca palms, emerald and huckleberry. Seven branched candelabras with myriads of cathedral candles cast a soft light throughout the church. At the altar was a satin cushioned pillow on a prie-dieu where the bride and groom knelt for prayer. On either side was a single candleholder with a tall cathedral candle and bouquets of white mums tied with bridal satin. The pews were marked with white satin bows and plumose greenery.

Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst of Bethel, soloist, sang "I Promise You," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Barbee of Bethel.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Dewey Whitehurst, wore a formal length gown of silk organza over mist taffeta. The basque bodice was designed with modified mandarin neckline edged with Chantilly lace in floral motifs re-embroidered in iridescents and pearls. Bracelet-length sleeves and short mitts were worn. The bouffant skirt repeated the lace motifs and a Shepherdess pouf topped the chapel train. The bride's head-dress consisted of a tiny lace veil featuring a pleated insert of tulle across the top, covered with sequins and pearls.

Her tiered veil of illusion was attached at the crown and fell to a brush length.

The bride's flowers were a crescent bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids centered with a white hybrid orchid and showered with bridal ribbons and stephanotis.

Miss Barbara Manning of Greenville was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Betsy Alexander of Stokes and Miss Rosalie Tripp of Greenville. The attendants wore dresses of sapphire blue peau de soie. The dresses were designed with portrait neckline, soft pleats and a panel the length of back skirt with cabbage roses. Their neckpieces were a fitted band of matching peau de soie and net. They carried matching muffs with a corsage of pink carnations with pink satin streamers.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Dianne Whitehurst of Stokes, Miss Joyce Page of Greenville, Miss Mary Agnes Hammond of Bethel, Miss Janice Crandell of Robersonville and Miss Reta Bullock of Greenville. Their attire was cocktail dresses of pastel colors with pink carnation wristlets.

Mr. Joseph Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Wayne Johnson, brother of the groom, Troy Warren, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, William A. Crandell and Russell Brown, uncles of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Whitehurst wore a sheath dress of ice blue brocade with satin trim and matching accessories and a corsage of pink briarcliff roses.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a wool dress of sapphire blue and matching accessories with a corsage of pink briarcliff roses.

Directing the wedding was Mrs. J. L. Brown of Bethel, great-aunt of the bride. The bride graduated from Stokes-Pactolus High School and is attending Cosmetology School in Greenville.

The groom graduated from Robersonville High School and is now employed by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. After a wedding trip to Miami, Fla., the couple will be at home in Winston-Salem.

For her traveling costume the bride wore a green wool suit with a mink collar and accessories. She wore pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Reception Immediately following the wedding the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the Sweet Gum Grove Community Building.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Brown, grandparents of the bride, introduced the receiving line composed of the wedding party. Others assisting at various points throughout the reception room were Mrs. Bert Whitehurst, Mrs. Marshall Whitehurst, Mrs. John L. Corey, Mrs. Guilford Lewis, Mrs. William P. Tyson, Mrs. Sam Brown, Mrs. Russell Brown, Mrs. Herbert Brown, Mrs. Joseph Johnson, and Mrs. William A. Crandell.

The refreshment table was covered with an imported cutwork cloth. A crystal bowl filled with white snapdragons and pink carnations centered the table. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out.

A crystal punch bowl entwined with ivy and grapes filled with fruit punch was at one end of the table. Trays filled with decorated bridal cakes were at the other end. Salted nuts and mints were also served. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Briley presided over the register. Mr. and Mrs. Troy Warren said goodbyes.

Coca-Cola Party

Miss Margaret Ann Whitehurst, bride-elect of Sunday, was honored at a Coca-Cola party on Feb. 8 by Mrs. Troy Warren and Mrs. Grant Vanderford at the home of Mrs. Warren near Robersonville. Guests were greeted at the door by the hostess, the bride-elect, Mrs. Clarence Whitehurst, her mother and Mrs. L. S. Brown, her grandmother.

The honoree, wearing a dress of blue wool, was presented a corsage of white carnations and a gift of china in her chosen pattern.

The party table was overlaid with an imported Madeira cloth over green, graced by a bridal arrangement in silver candleholders.

The guests, directed by Margaret Ann, were invited into the dining room where they served themselves date bars, congo squares, pecan puffs, brownies, potato chips, mints, nuts, pickles and Coca-Colas.

Mrs. Tracy Barnhill and Mrs. Grant Vanderford assisted in serving the 50 guests.

Cake Cutting

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Crandell and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson entertained with a cake cutting at Sweet Gum Grove Community Building near Stokes immediately after the wedding rehearsal of Miss Margaret Ann Whitehurst and Mr. George Wesley Johnson.

The center table was covered with a white cutwork cloth. In the center was a flower arrangement of white snapdragons, pink carnations and fern, in a stemmed crystal bowl flanked with crystal candelabra holding white candles tied with pink miniature corsages. Miniature wedding bells with pink ribbon streamers were on each corner of the table.

Pink flowers and ribbon with white candles in crystal candelabra and miniature ivy decorated other tables in the room. On the piano were miniature bride and groom dolls banked by magnolia leaves.

A four tiered wedding cake was served at one end of the table by Mrs. William F. Tyson, after the bride- and bridegroom-to-be had cut the first slice. At the opposite end of the table Mrs. Conrad Cannon served lime ice punch from a large crystal bowl banked with miniature ivy. Mints and nuts were served from crystal cutglass bowls.

Others assisting in the cake cutting were Mrs. John L. Corey, Mrs. Sam Brown, Mrs. Russell Brown and Mrs. Herbert Brown. Guests included the wedding party, relatives, and close friends of the family.

Petite Suzanne Develops Muscles

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

Suzanne Pleshette is wondering if she'll ever be the same again.

It's her new muscles. "When I began all this, notes the bantam-sized actress, "I had an image of myself as a delicate flower. Now my steady date is getting nervous."

Like a boxer before the big bout, Suzanne went through a strenuous muscle-building regimen preparatory to taking over the leading role in Broadway's drama, "The Miracle Worker." She replaced star Ann Bancroft Feb. 8.

The play concerns the child-hood training of the blind mute who grew up to be the renowned Helen Keller. Furniture and punches fly in several violent skirmishes between teacher and pupil.

And, although she was able to toss her gym instructor to the floor, Miss Pleshette was dubious about being ready to meet her peewee opponent, 13-year-old Patty Duke.

"Anne and Patty grew into the show together," explains Suzanne. "I had to come in after that youngster had been in condition for more than a year."

When the role was originally suggested to her, the lady said nay — both to national touring company and overseas troupe.

"I felt I wasn't right for the part and didn't even want to see the producers for fear I'd be talked into it. I thought of myself as fragile and elegant. "Then I played in 'Two for the Sessaw' in stock. I asked the producers of this show not to come and see me, but Director Arthur Penn sneaked in. Afterwards he said to me:

"Gentle? You come in like Gangbusters."

Eventually the lady agreed to the Broadway bid.

"After signing the contract, I went to see a performance — and realized what I'd let myself in for. Right then I decided to go to a gym."

The workouts cut her weight 10 pounds to an even 100. Miss Pleshette, a 5-foot-4-pixie with black hair and grey eyes, resembles her predecessor Miss Bancroft, but she doesn't plan to copy her performance. "The only thing that bothers me," says Suzanne, "is that I'll probably have an awful time convincing anyone ever again that I can play a gentle part."

Elections were held for Junior Queen, Junior King, King Father and Queen Mother. The following will reign for the year 1961: Junior Queen, Marty Garner; Junior King, Landy Spain; King Father, Doc Cannon; Queen Mother, Lou Pol.

After elections, bingo and refreshments were enjoyed by all. Larry Stox is the local Junior Director.

Advantages In An Industrial School

Pitt County's need for an industrial training school and the potential benefits which might be realized from such a school are indicated in the survey by Sen. Robert Lee Humber that has been filed along with the formal application for the facility.

The survey showed that 156 firms in Pitt County utilize skilled workers in 161 different classifications. It also showed that 497 positions for skilled workers are waiting to be filled with firms in this county and further that 1,184 new positions or replacements in skilled jobs will be needed by firms of the county during the next 12 months.

That there is a genuine desire for a technical school in the county is reflected by the fact the survey points out that some 1,300 Pitt Countians indicated they are ready to enroll in such a school for technical training.

Although the filing of the formal application for the technical school is another step toward its realization, it is by no means a guarantee that Pitt County will be selected as a site for one of these state-county facilities. There are three such schools that remain to be allotted from the authorization made by the 1959 General Assembly. For these three schools there are 42 applications from various cities and counties in addition to the one from Pitt.

The proposal for such a school has gained wide support throughout Pitt County from various groups and organizations. It behooves these organizations and the county as a whole now to continue their support for the technical training school by urging the state board to give favorable consideration to Pitt's application.

Obviously such a school in Pitt County would offer many advantages to the county. Already it has been shown there is a need for skilled workers in firms already in this county. It has also been shown in the survey there are citizens in the county who desire the opportunity to learn skills that could be offered by such a school. In this field alone Pitt could benefit two-fold by being able to provide locally skilled workers to fill positions that are open, and likewise by providing young people with the opportunity to learn to be skilled workers.

There is also the further advantage that the presence of such a school here would place the county in a much better position to attract new industries looking for plant locations. The county has a large pool of workers from which an industry might attract a labor force, but it has few skilled workers in this labor pool. If the county had a technical school, workers could be trained in special skills to suit the needs of an industry that wanted to locate here.

This factor might well be a deciding point for an industry that otherwise likes what Pitt County has to offer it.

Pitt County needs the proposed technical training school, and we trust the combined efforts of the county as a whole will be directed toward bringing such a school here.

Planning Action When Issue Hot

By LYNN NISBET
CO-ORDINATE - Governor Sanford told newsmen that he intends to convey his ideas on the budget and other matters to the General Assembly in a number of short special messages timed for delivery when the legislative committees are holding public hearings on those specific items. Some of these messages will be delivered in person, others will be transmitted in written form.

The Governor says he thinks both his proposals and the evidence presented at the public committee hearings will be more effective if considered together and while the issue is "hot."

Employment - The Governor was disposed to question the accuracy of appraisal that put the Fayetteville area in the "distressed" bracket so far as unemployment is concerned. He wasn't sure about conditions at Asheville, also listed in the distress group, but said if Fayetteville is in distress the definition is wrong. He thinks there are many factors other than listing of job seekers with the employment service that should be considered before labeling any area in distress.

In response to a question about his attitude toward some proposed Kennedy labor legislation, Governor Sanford was emphatic on one point. He will resist with all the force of his administration any effort to federalize the N.C. Employment Security Commission. For some years a few states with less efficient administration and which have dissipated their capital reserves in the employment security fund have looked with envious eyes to the million on deposit by North Carolina and efficiently managed.

CREDIT BALANCE - The employment security fund is derived from taxes levied on employers, collected at state level and deposited with the Federal treasury for the payment of unemployment benefits. The State is allotted out of this fund a certain amount for administering the agency. The program actually costs the general taxpayers of North Carolina nothing.

The schedule for unemployment benefit payments set up by the North Carolina General Assembly and efficient management of the agency through the years has resulted in consistent reductions in amounts assessed against employers, and at the same time has built up a sizeable reserve deposit to credit of the State of North Carolina. At close of business on June 30, 1960, that balance stood at $170,805,603.65. (The insistence of auditors that the final penny in an eleven figure balance be listed impresses laymen with their thoroughness.)

Information from sources believed to be reliable is that North Carolina is perhaps in best position among all the States, but more than half of them have a credit balance on deposit in Washington. The same information sources say Michigan is in worst situation having completely used up all reserves. Pennsylvania and two or three New England States also are wistfully looking to North Carolina's multi-million dollar reserve to bail them out of trouble - if they can get through an all-out federalization plan, which would ignore state lines as to source and distribution of the fund and put it all into a common pot.

CONCISE - Reporters are discovering that Governor Terry Sanford is even more concise and terse in answers to questions than was candidate Sanford. It was amusing in some instances, a bit disturbing in others, how completely he kept control over the trend of his latest news conference by emphatic "No" and "Yes" answers with out any elaboration. Many public officials and business men cannot resist temptation to justify their position by a bit of explanation as to how or why they reached the conclusions stated. That opens up the way for a lot of questions by reporters, sometimes to the embarrassment of the official. Sanford says "yes" or "no" - and leaves the reporters looking for another lead.

INSURANCE - Current emphasis on the automobile drivers' compulsory liability insurance law tends to focus interest on definitions of major types of insurance. These are accident, health, fire, life and liability, each with many subdivisions. Insurance policies are available to protect the insured from loss on account of accident or sickness, or fire, or damage done to somebody else's property. All these are protections "against" some adversity. Then why shouldn't there be insurance in event of death? Maybe it wouldn't sound as good in polite conversation, but it seems that a more appropriate description of "life" insurance would be to designate it as protection in event of death.

N.C. Federal Tax Bite Is Bigger Than State's

Big spending plans that Gov. Sanford has tentatively outlined for North Carolina during the coming biennium have given an uneasy feeling to many Tar Heels, particularly in view of the increased tax revenues that will be necessary to off-set the proposed spending program.

The budget as presented to the legislature came to nearly $1.5-billion for the two fiscal years. By the time Sanford adds to this amount what is necessary to bring the public school program up to what he will recommend, the total will be even higher.

While the two-year budget the General Assembly will adopt this session will also certainly set a new record for North Carolina, the total burden it will impose on Tar Heel taxpayers will be far less than the portion of the federal tax burden they already are carrying.

A recent report of the Internal Revenue office in Greensboro said that federal tax collections in North Carolina for the first seven months of this fiscal year amounted to $1.2 billion. With five more months to go in the fiscal year - and particularly with most income tax payments yet to come - the federal take in North Carolina in this fiscal year alone will be several times greater than what Gov. Sanford proposes for the state to spend in each of the next two years.

Although the federal tax collections in North Carolina will continue to increase as the economic level of the state is improved, this fact should not prove a stumbling block to North Carolina's providing through its own resources what is needed on the state government level.

The people of North Carolina already are paying far more in federal taxes than they are in state taxes for support of our own programs here at home. The programs carried out by the federal government do not hinge on revenues collected in North Carolina; but state programs are directly limited by revenues which are collected by North Carolina from Tar Heels.

Misplaces His Trust In Reason

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) - Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg has confidence in the sweet reasonableness of man.

It's the basis for his hope that President Kennedy's forthcoming Labor - Management Advisory Council will accomplish something.

There are two arguments against it:

1. Labor and management represent two separate power forces, each big business in its own right and each out for all it can get.

2. The history of labor-management conferences in this country has not been good. There were two big ones in 1919 and 1945. The results were dismal. It might be expected that labor and management would reach happy compromises for the good of all. This would be the rule of reason.

But if reason ruled there would be no big strikes and no wars. The rule of reason would have required unions, management and nations to reach happy solutions through conference and compromise without resort to strength.

In the end labor and management will have to work together, and make compromises, if the Communist pressure on this country becomes more intense, as it probably will.

The greatest handicap to Goldberg in getting unions and management to work together - and for Kennedy in getting Congress to act swiftly to improve the economy - is that the nation still seems to lack a sense of urgency.

Kennedy told Congress in his economic message Feb. 2 that he will issue an executive order creating his Labor-Management Advisory Committee.

It is to be composed of seven representatives of business, seven of labor, and seven others, including Goldberg and Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges, representing the public.

The committee could be an instrument for controlling prices and wages and, through them, inflation.

But the labor and management representatives on the President's committee will be under various pressures.

The management people will be anxious for greater productivity and lower costs. Costs include wages. Costs and productivity will also include automation. Automation involves replacing men with machines.

The union representatives will be under pressure from their members to save jobs, automation or not, and to get good wages.

In short, both sides will be under pressure - from their own groups to get the greatest benefits for them.

Goldberg has shown unusual energy. Witness his five - state trip over the weekend to examine conditions in unemployment areas.

He is credited with a fast mind and a lot of balance and ideas. He and Hodges will alternate as chairmen of the committee.

Both men came up the hard way. Nothing they ever did is likely to be harder than making the Labor - Management Committee work.

"One of the most fundamental changes to affect our country in this century is the increase of 47 per cent in average life expectancy. Average life expectancy at birth rose by over 22 years in this country between 1900 and 1959, but it still falls three-tenths of a year short of the Biblical 'three-score-and-ten'." - Industrial News-Review.

Tales Told Out Of School

Kathryn Johnson teaches the sixth grade at Elmhurst School. Only a year out of college, she is a young teacher to say the least.

But age is a matter of perspective and to the sixth graders their lovely young teacher can look mighty old by 12-year-old standards.

"It's Miss Johnson," she corrected. "I'm not married."

The little tyke behind the one who had made the error gave a swift kick under the desk. "She's not married," he whispered hoarsely. "She's an old maid."

Let me tell you, young fellow. You've got a lot to learn.

And Kathryn's mother, Mrs. Dorothy W. Johnson, is a fourth grade teacher at Third St. School.

Mrs. Johnson was discussing dates, where they are raised, etc. In answer to a question she told the students that you eat dates.

"Golly, eat them," one little boy said. "My sister goes out with them."

Well so much for school today. And we come to an old tobacco bill which George Cox of Winterville brought to the office recently. It is a ticket on Joynner and Heilbronner's Eastern Warehouse and is dated Sept. 6, 1893.

The ticket listed tobacco sold by Henry Lawhorn. Today's tobacco farmer would be ruined if his crop sold at this load. The ticket lists 35 pounds at 22 cents for $7.70; 67 pounds at 14 cents for $9.38; 54 pounds at 8.4 cents for $4.55; 63 pounds at 1.3 for 81 cents. The total money is $21.90. Warehouse charges come to $1.65 and commissions at 2 1/2 percent, 54 cents, leaving the farmer $19.71.

The ticket served as an advertising medium on its back. There are ads for Young and Priddy, dry goods, clothing, shoes, hats and furniture are; Sam M. Schulz and Co., manufacturers agents for hogstubs; Dr. J. Marquis, dentist; Wyatt L. Brown, insurance agent; J.D. Williamson, carriage and buggy; Mrs. M.D. Higgs, millinery; Brown Bros. shoes, sewing machines and dress goods.

There was a unique ad for the Greenville Institute which Z.D. McWhorter, principal, termed a school "for both sexes."

Rates for the 17 week term ranged from $6.40 to $16.50 with board including washing being $34.

To make sure everybody understood this "for both sexes" thing, McWhorter quoted the following from a John Duckett: "A school unsafe for boys and girls is not safe for either sex."

Eastern North Carolina when he got mad and lashed out hotly against "feet dragging" among men who could do better by their counties and towns.

His rudeness woke us up. It made us mad. But it moved and shook us, for a time at least.

Governor Sanford, we sincerely appreciate your early demonstration of interest in the problem before us. You know we have on toward 200,000 people in the East who have only piddling or no jobs.

You will get the lead off our feet, shake our smug complacency if you slap us in the face about our inertia, our laziness, and our snobbishness. It is not timidity or caution, Governor Sanford, that holds us back. It is smug complacency.

Other Editors Saying Help The East, Governor

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

This is a quotation from an address which Governor Sanford made in Wilson:

"We are witnessing a transformation, not only in the economy, but in the character of the people. They are losing the timidity and over-cautious restraint that has slowed us down in the past. They are acquiring in its stead a new spirit of enterprise, a calculated audacity that is sweeping aside old inertia and opening the doors of progress."

These are pretty words. Governor Sanford. They fall delightfully on ears poised for praise.

Maybe to some small extent. But not much.

It is encouraging to find the new Governor so interested in the greatest undeveloped section of his great state. It is heartening to find him in the early days of his administration and even with a Legislature about to descend on him giving attention to this problem.

But Governor, you can do more for us of the East if you adopt a harder and harsher approach.

The new spirit you refer to, Governor Sanford, is so often found only in the newcomers who have migrated to the fertile soil and relaxed living of Eastern North Carolina. You find it, for instance, among the new tribe of young business men large chain banks are sending to head their growing outlets in our section. You find it among the scientists and engineers of the duPont rayon plant and the duPont research center on synthetic fibers at Kinston. You find it in the industrial center developing at Smithfield-Selma.

Wilson can point to it for the meat processing and grain programs there. Goldsboro has stirred such a new faith with its Committee of 100. But here we fear there is a slow-down, a lessening of overall interest.

In little segments you can put your finger on the new spirit Sanford praises.

When Ben Douglas was director of the Department of Conservation and Development he had a speech he gave down in the East. Its theme was that we could make a living so easy in this region that we failed to realize on our potential.

Douglas always said that with a smile that took away the sting and blunted the harsh truth he uttered.

Dollars Still Go To Cuba

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The United States had held the naval base at Guantanamo since 1903. Its water supply comes from a river five miles distant. Why the United States, in all these years, did nothing about making sure that the base's water supply was within the control of the Navy is not explainable except as an oversight in a situation that is unfavorable. Now the situation is unfavorable with Fidel Castro who has associated himself with Soviet Russia in charge of Cuba.

Castro has seized the company which supplies Guantanamo with water, carrying it in a pipeline. This supply can be cut off at any time. The Navy has apparently prepared for that by bringing water to Guantanamo by tankers.

But that is begging the question. We are either at Guantanamo because we have a right to be there or we should get out. Our right is beyond question because we are there by a treaty. There is no reason why the United States should permit any treaty to become a scrap of paper. World War I was fought over that issue, if one can remember that far back and also if one is not confused by all the other reasons why we fought World War I such as to make the world safe for democracy which it never became.

Castro is undoubtedly jockeying for something. By seizing the water company he forces direct dealing with him. The Navy must appeal to him for water if we do not want to fight over it, or if we don't want to fight, then there is a war. It is not impossible that Castro might find war as a solution to his many problems because he undoubtedly assumes that the Soviet-Universal State would come to his assistance, which may or may not be so.

Russia's foreign policy strategically is based on the Marxist concept of the inevitable conversion of the entire world to Marxism. Tactically, Soviet Russia switches its policy higher and down to serve immediate ends and to reach essential goals. Tactically, Soviet Russia pursues no idealistic purpose, accepting whatever means or ends are useful to the ultimate strategy. This basis for Soviet conduct was laid down by Lenin who even retreated to NEP - the New Economic Policy - for a short time, giving the Western world a belief that Communism might be abandoned - a false belief designed to be precisely that.

Cuba is not in the grand strategy of Soviet imperialism. It is a base with a double objective, namely, to irritate the United States and to penetrate Latin America by means of Latin American Communists. For many years, Mexico was the seat of Communist activity for the American continent, with Vicente Lombardo Toleano as the head man. But the Mexican government was on the whole, antagonistic to Soviet activities and Toleano's influence waned in Latin America as the center of activity shifted from the proletariat to the intellectual. Also in Mexico there were many Trotskyists who are more obnoxious to the Kremlin than capitalists. Cuba, with Fidel Castro and Che Guevara in charge, is a much better base, more effective, and with a government completely allied to the Soviet Universal State. In a word, the Cuban situation offered a very effective opportunity for Soviet Russia.

The weakness in this plan, however, is in the personality of Fidel Castro who is less a revolutionary than a mercenary, less a statesman than an actor. He has antagonized most of the people of the United States by his overt antagonism to this country, by his fraternization with Khrushchev, by his seizure of American property and by his brutal killings. If Castro believes that by controlling the water of Guantanamo he can jockey the United States into accepting his regime, he ought to learn quickly and forcibly that he is mistaken.

The American embargo on trade with Cuba applies to the sale of American goods to Cuba. It does not affect the purchase of Cuban goods. In a word, American dollars may still go to Cuba.

A Philadelphia distiller of whiskey recently bought 12,000 gallons of molasses from Castro at an average of 10 cents a gallon. Had this molasses

Marvels In Petroleum Fuel Cell

By ELMER ROESSNER
Sensational changes in household products are likely when scientists and researchers devise the petroleum fuel cell. And they are working on it. The fuel cell is now technically possible, although not yet economical and practical.

The fuel cell is a battery-like device which takes in fuel and changes it directly and continuously into electricity.

Dr. Robert L. Weeks, of Esso Research and Engineering, one of the companies pioneering in the fuel-cell field, said, "The fuel cell seems to offer a unique chance to use fuel oil as the source of all energy in the home. One concept of a home power package would be to provide the energy to heat the home, cool the home, light the lights, cook the food, dry the clothes, heat the water and do anything else the American home owner wants to do automatically and efficiently."

FOR SUNDAY MORNING SLEEP
Another fuel cell possibility: a quiet lawn mower. "To those of us who have been startled from our slumber on a Saturday or Sunday morning by a noisy mower in a neighbor's yard, the advantages for this source of power are so obvious as to require no further comment," Dr. Weeks said. "For boating enthusiasts, here is the route to an efficient, quiet and safe method of propulsion. And for the camper, this is the way to a simple, compact and safe source of electricity while still being able to enjoy the great outdoors."

"Another new use that is going to require heat energy is thermoelectricity. Here we may be able to take a simple piece of oil-heating equipment and provide electricity or refrigeration any place we desire. The Russians have already applied it in a single device for light and power. While this may not seem destined for the big time, it's a new concept which people are only begin to consider for ultimate applications. Who knows where it will reach?"

"Another possible use is oil-fired soil sterilization. One way of doing this might be a combination plow and burner which would heat the soil, as it is being plowed, to a point where harmful insects and weed seeds would be destroyed. Another new farm use could be the use of oil fogs to reduce loss of ground heat by radiation. This, of course, is what causes frost, which in turn is a serious problem in many agricultural areas. The theory has been shown to be sound, and it has been the subject of some exploratory work in the field."

FOR ALL-YEAR SWIMMING
Another new area only partially tapped is the recreational use of oil, such as in the heating of swimming pools. There are now 200,000 pools in the United States, representing a current potential oil market of 850,000 barrels of oil a year. By 1970, an expected 2,000,000 pools will be in use.

Another potential recreational use would be a multifuel camp stove to replace the somewhat hazardous gasoline stoves now in use. This would be particularly adaptable to the boating market where gasoline stoves are forbidden by law.

But don't sell your utility stocks and buy oil yet. The fuel cell that will do everything except burp the baby is still in the laboratory, although it will some day emerge.

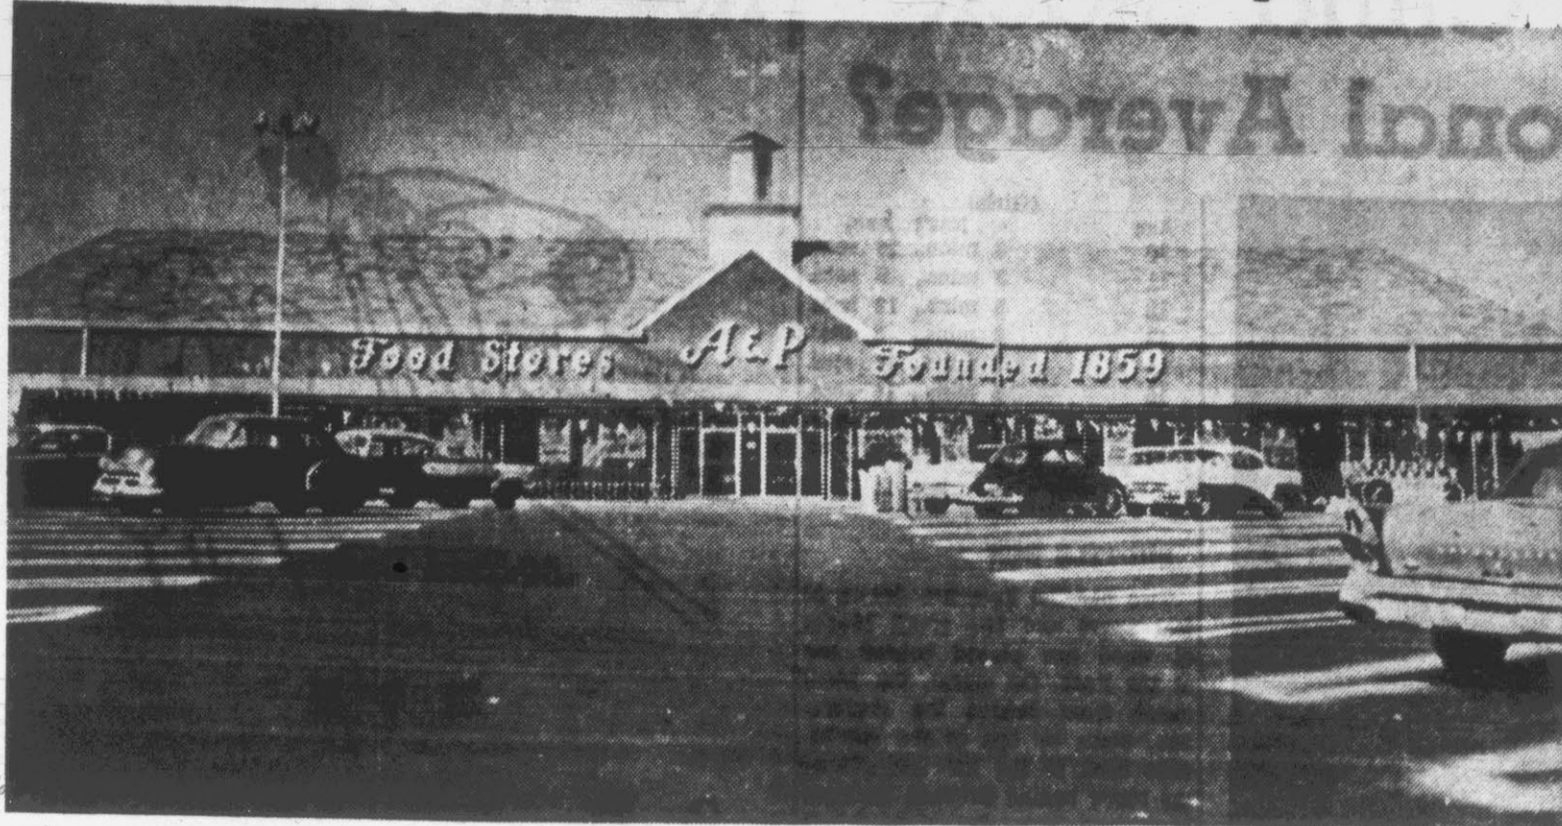

Opinions In Brief

"It is tough to be accused of causing living costs to rise when the opposite is true. The fact is, if prices at the farm had not held at a relatively low level over the last 10 years, the cost of living would be much higher." - Kansas City (Mo.) Star.

"One of the most fundamental changes to affect our country in this century is the increase of 47 per cent in average life expectancy. Average life expectancy at birth rose by over 22 years in this country between 1900 and 1959, but it still falls three-tenths of a year short of the Biblical 'three-score-and-ten'." - Industrial News-Review.

Ayden Rotarians Hear Minister

AYDEN—Rev. Bennie Pledger outlined the objectives of Rotary and discussed the various phases of the organization at its Friday meeting.

The Rev. Mr. Pledger asked a show of hands on how many Rotarians actually read the magazine and how well acquainted members were with their fellow Rotarians. He asked each member to name the person beside him, giving his classification.

Guests attending the meeting were Ed Nash Warren and Paul Ewell, both of the Farmville club. During the meeting, it was announced the Ladies Night will be held March 3 at 6:30 in the Ayden Elementary School. Wayland McGlohon, president, presided at the meeting.

Driving Awards Given In Ayden

AYDEN—Safe driving and safe working awards were given to city employees here yesterday as a part of the safety program conducted in Ayden.

Ayden city employees have been recognized for maintaining an accident-free record during 1960, according to W. W. Roberson, safety engineer of the insurance company conducting the program.

Those who received safe driving awards, and who will receive gold pins, include J. W. Barfield, two years; Elijah Davis, two years; Clifton Dennis, two years; Herbert Gardner, two years; David C. Moore, two years; Sgt. James Ross, two years; and Bobby McRoy, one year. Alton Smithwick was the only employee to be recognized for safe driving under one year, receiving an award for eight months.

Safe working awards went to Mrs. Peggy Bright, two years; Mrs. Laura Mae Moore, two years; Christopher Garris, two years; Luther Hays, two years; L. B. Harper, two years; Oscar Hill, eight months; E. S. Hudson, 10 months; Jesse Jones, two years; Elmer Kornegay, one year; Linwood Mills, eight months; Elwood Nobles, nine months; James Norris, two years; C. M. Paylor, one year.

BACK TO CONGO INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Methodist missionary forces are returning to the Congo. In a recent month, 26 more arrived there, bringing the total Methodist contingent to 82, compared with 110 before the evacuation last summer.

"Dress for the Occasion" was the demonstration presented to members of the Bynum Home Demonstration Club recently by Mrs. Amelia S. Capehart, Negro home economics agent.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Mattie Jefferson. Mrs. Fabbie Parker made a report on the workshop on "Refinishing and Restyling Old Furniture." A club workshop was scheduled for Feb. 15 at the home of Mrs. Fabbie Parker. Also, donations were made for the purchase of supplies to be used in the workshop.

The Soviet Union leads in spectacular, impressive firas and in weights. In quick succession this month, she put up a record-breaking satellite Sputnik, then capped this with a huge satellite which went into orbit, and then launched from space a 1,400-pound probe aimed at perhaps hitting or going into orbit around Venus.

The reach toward Venus opened a new, fourth phase of Soviet space age efforts. Until now, the Soviet Union has been bunched her shots in triple plays, each concerned with a different aspect or region of space.

Her first three Sputniks orbited the earth. Then in 1959, she reached for the moon, hitting it, photographing its back side, and sending the probe past the moon to become the first little man-made planet of the sun. The United States later sent two probes into orbit around the sun, one of them radiating back space findings over a record distance of 22½ million miles.

Abruptly, the Soviets dropped the moon, and last year sent three spaceships, weighing up to five tons, orbiting near the earth. In a brilliant feat, the Soviets brought back part of their second spaceship containing two dogs.

The time seemed near to launch a man, but in December the capsule of the third ship failed to obey command signals and burned up. Two dogs, other animals, insect and plant life all perished.

It was a rare if not the first official Soviet admission of any mishap in her space shoots. Last weekend, the Soviets opened the interplanetary phase, with the new feat of launching a Venus probe from space itself.

She had remained curiously silent about the seven-ton Sputnik, but then one Soviet space official said it had been intended mainly to learn whether such a heavy satellite could be put and kept into a precise orbit.

The Sputnik launching the Venus messenger might have been another seven-ton affair.

The Soviets have behaved like eager explorers pioneering into an unknown continent—not waiting to settle and cultivate one region before roaring out to make first contact with another.

Her fifth venture could be man into space.

Some Western experts believe the Soviets embarked in 1956 or earlier on a plan to send man into space. This would be at least two years ahead of the start of the U.S. program.

Sputnik II, carrying the dog Laika in November 1957, is taken as one sign of such intent.

Limited in weight by smaller rockets, but using ingenious miniaturized equipment, the American program has been more diversified, and more broadly based.

The United States clearly leads most experts say, in gleaming new scientific knowledge from and about space, and in cultivating space for valuable practical applications.

Transit satellites photographing clouds and measuring earth temperatures took the first step toward keen weather eyes in space. Samos II, just put up by the Air Force, is using cameras which could serve as military scouts.

Echo, the shiny balloon, and Courier satellites are preparing the way for a space network to relay civilian telephone calls, TV and radio programs, and military commands.

Transit satellites augur artificial stars supplying exquisitely accurate navigational fixes for ships and planes.

But even greater benefits could come from basic knowledge being learned about earth, air, space and sun.

U.S. satellites discovered the Van Allen radiation belts. U.S. satellites have explored more vigorously and keenly the earth's magnetic and gravitational fields, the great pulses of atomic particles hurled at the earth by gigantic explosions on the sun, the ionosphere, upper atmosphere, the pressure exerted by sunlight, the shape of the earth.

From such studies of the sun's effects on earth could come better understandings of what makes our weather, and perhaps one day to control it.

Knowledge is coming like fruit falling from a tree, says Dr. Robert Jastrow, chief of the theoretical division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Soviets have published far fewer reports on their findings, he adds. Since their moon shots, they appear to have lost momentum in studying aspects of space near earth.

He feels the Soviets have attracted fewer scientists with original and imaginative ideas to their space program—perhaps because such scientists are more desperately needed in other fields.

First in developing great boosters, the Soviet Union can lift up far heavier payloads, and can equip satellites with excellent guidance controls.

But mammoth boosters are being developed here, too. And the U.S. space program calls for a variety of exciting feats in this year and decade.

New 'City'

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A new city will arise within Charlotte—a $15 million dollar project of apartments for 5,000 persons, stores, offices and recreational facilities.

The development, to be financed by private capital without government help, will be known as Green Oaks Apartments. It will be on an 80-acre site in northeast Charlotte near the Auditorium Coliseum.

Twenty-five acres will be devoted to recreational areas, including a swimming pool, tennis courts, putting greens, and picnic areas.

Sponsors, who made the announcement Tuesday, said it will contain 1,210 apartments and be built in stages during the next five years.

Grading and road work have begun, and construction of the first 300 apartments is expected to begin June 15.

About 550 of the apartments will be in garden-type three-story buildings, about 650 in eight-story buildings if zoning laws prohibiting apartment building of more than three stories in the area can be changed.

The development will be financed by private investors from North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and Washington, D. C.

How Does Your Child Stack Up Against National Average?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Americans seem to be getting weak and flabby. And that goes for youth as well as age. How does your youngster measure up in physical fitness? Here are some tests you can apply to your youngster for comparison with other American youths.

By G.K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON, (AP) — American youngsters are softer and fatter than the youth of other countries.

This isn't speculation.

It has been proven by tests.

In identical trials, British boys finished 14 per cent higher than American boys and British girls 23 per cent higher than American girls.

Japanese boys and girls, growing up in the rough and rugged post-war years in a defeated nation, outscored their American counterparts by a wide margin.

Alfred E. Scholz of Yale, who supervised the testing of 9,000 youngsters in 19 Connecticut public schools in 1939 reports:

"What appalled me was the number of boys who could not pull themselves up to a chinning bar at least one time. Some could not even pull a bend in their elbow joints.

"Can you imagine a boy or girl not being able to climb out of a swimming pool, onto a raft or into a boat?"

The physical fitness tests were drawn up by a committee of experts working with the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, a department of the National Education Association.

The seven test items are designed to measure arm strength and arm power, leg power, abdominal endurance, speed and agility, sheer speed and endurance for sustained activities.

They have been given to about 25 million American school children since 1957.

If your child hasn't been tested yet, you may want to test him yourself, following these instructions and national averages published by the AAHPER in its "Youth Fitness Test Manual":

PULL-UPS (BOYS)

This is the "chinning" exercise. A metal or wooden bar approximately 1 1/2 inches in diameter should be high enough so the youngster can hang with arms and legs fully extended and feet free of the floor. He raises his body by the arms until his chin can be placed over the bar. Then he lowers his body to the starting position again. The exercise is repeated as many times as possible.

PULL-UPS (GIRLS)

The bar is about chest-high. The youngster extends the arms fully. The arms should form an angle of 90 degrees with the body line and the body line should form an angle of 45 degrees with the floor. The heels should be braced to prevent slipping. The youngster raises her body by the arms until her chest touches the bar, then lowers her body to a full hang and repeats the exercise. The test should be ended if she reaches 40 pull-ups.

The pupil lies on his back, either on the floor or on a mat, with legs extended and feet about two feet apart. His hands are placed on the back of the neck, with the fingers interlaced. A partner holds the ankles down, so that the heels will be in contact with the mat or floor at all times. The pupil sits up, turning the trunk to Critics have pointed out that these tests are too simple to be a true measure of physical fitness. And the AAHPER admits they're not the last word.

"We know the tests are not perfect," says Louis Means of the AAHPER, "and we hope better tests will be forthcoming.

"It is possible to pass the tests with flying colors and die of a heart attack the next day. The tests won't tell you whether you are fit or unfit, but only how you stand in comparison with the national average."

Experts list several reasons why American youth fares so badly in comparison with other youngsters in physical fitness.

For one, life today does not require the physical activity it did only a comparatively few years ago. This is more true in the United States than in any other country.

American youngsters ride instead of walk. They have few home chores that require physical exertion. More and more, they are turning to spectator sports. Where boys used to play sandlot baseball or football, they now curl up before a television set and watch the professionals.

Interscholastic athletics, Little Leagues, Pee Wee Hockey and Biddy Basketball aren't the answer, many experts contend. Only a small percentage of the youngsters are good enough to play in them.

What's to be done? The answer, say officials of the AAHPER, must be found in well-balanced school physical education programs, with the emphasis on the individual student rather than the school teams.

And, the officials add, the picture isn't all bad.

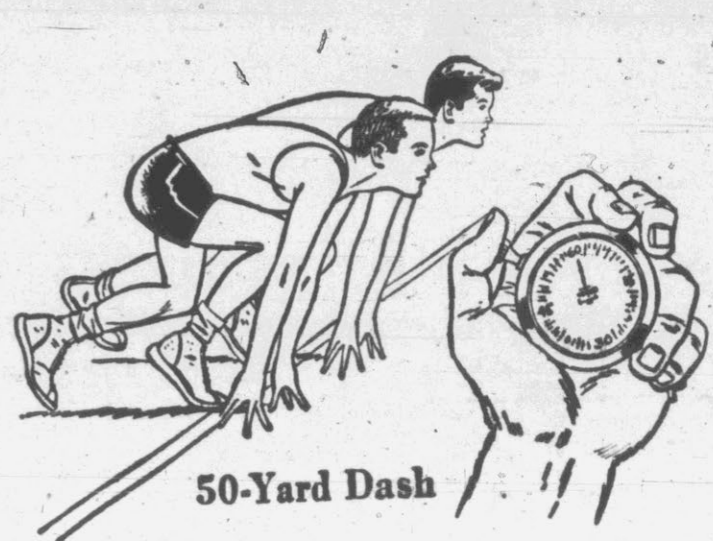

"Cities like Cincinnati, Flint, Mich., and Redwood City, Calif., among others, have developed good programs and the youngsters there score well above the national average.

"The same can be done anywhere, once the American people know the facts and demand a change."

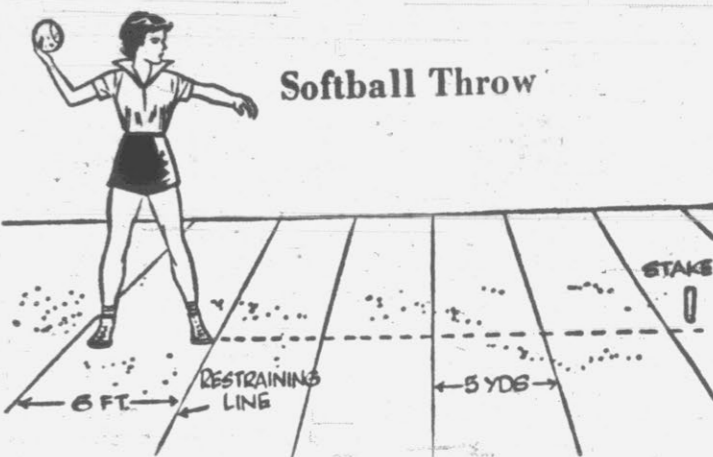

Definition Of 'Physically Fit'

The accepted definition of a physically fit person is "one who has the physical wherewithal (strength, endurance and skill) to get through the normal day's activity without undue fatigue and has enough left over to meet emergency situations that might arise."

Toscanini Lands In Stereo World

By L. J. KRAMP
AP Newsfeatures

Now you can have Toscanini's famous records in stereo. Four years after the great maestro's death, and eight years after he and NBC Symphony Orchestra recorded them monophonically, the first of his fine discs have been reproduced by RCA Victor in "electronic" or synthetic stereo.

They are Dvorak's "New World" Symphony, Moussorgsky - Ravel's "Pictures at an Exhibition," and Respighi's "Pines and Fountains of Rome."

They are well worth the money (the prices are monophonic) even if only as curiosities, for comparing them with your old Toscanini LP's. But they are more than that. These are in good sound, although chancial engineer, Jack Somer, who is too young to have heard the maestro in person, but who is enough of a musician to teach piano, write opera, and know great conducting when he hears it. The beauty and perfection of Toscanini's conducting is greatly enhanced by these new editions in which RCA Victor frankly admits is stereo fakery. They are not 1961 sound, but they are a big improvement over 1953, and Somer has done a good job in stereoizing them.

The new discs should create a revival in Toscanini disc sales, which have declined since 1957 because many record buyers prefer the new to the best. But even if the only buyers are teenagers or young marrieds who have yet to hear Toscanini, it is a worth while project.

Whether more than these three starters will be issued depends on the limitations of the original tapes. Beethoven Ninth Symphony fans will be glad to know that although the Toscanini version isn't "suitable" yet in stereo, 18 months of work on it already is completed. So there's hope.

Other recently issued symphonic records of note: Beethoven's Seventh, in three separate issues: Sir Thomas Beecham in racehorse style (Capitol); Ernest Ansermet in dull and muddy sound (London); and Leonard Bernstein in a thumping, theatrical performance by the New York Philharmonic (Columbia).

Mozart's No. 35 (Haffner) and 39: full, rich sound in a precise and graceful performance by the Cleveland Orchestra under George Szell (Epic).

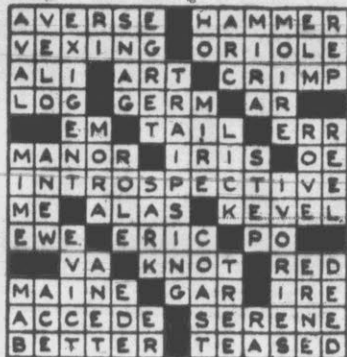

Dvorak's Fifth: crackling clear and resonant in the Toscanini style, by the Detroit Symphony under Paul Paray (Mercury). Bruckner's Ninth: frothy scherzo amid heavy slow movements in good sound but with unexciting climaxes by the Columbia Symphony under Bruno Walter (Columbia).

Total Solar Eclipse Seen By Many Millions Today

ROME (AP)—The moon slipped in front of the sun today, producing a spectacular total solar eclipse that was probably watched by more millions than any other in history.

The path of totality—the area directly in the path of the moon's shadow—was in almost complete darkness for more than a minute.

Roosters crowed for the second time this morning. Motorists going to work switched on their lights. Stars sparkled.

The 150-mile-wide path of totality fell across southern France, northern Italy, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and the Soviet Union.

At Florence, in the center of the path, hundreds of thousands of persons stood on hillside surrounding the picturesque city to watch the show.

In Rome, 200 miles from Florence and out of the totality path, a strange half-light led homeowners to switch on lights.

Parisians were more blasé. The eclipse was partial over the French capital but brilliantly apparent through a light morning mist. Along the Champs Elysees a few curious looked up through smoked glasses while hundreds of others walked on to work.

About 60 total eclipses of the sun occur every century, but most

Figures Political Science Needed

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The deepest of the Navy's deep-sea officers figures political science is also important in his career.

Lt. Don Walsh, 29, is attending classes two nights a week at San Diego State College. He explained he considers it a field in which World War III already is being fought.

Walsh made a record ocean descent last July when he and Jacques Picard, Swiss scientist, went down a record 35,800 feet off Guam in the Navy's bathyscap Trieste.

Although ancient Roman trading ships were as long as 180 feet and carried 1,200 tons or so of cargo, they lacked compass and a real rudder.

Executive Group To Meet On AC Suspension Ruling

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The executive committee of the Atlantic Coast Conference will consider, possibly today, whether Commissioner Jim Weaver's suspension of sophomore star Art Heyman from Duke's three remaining league games will stick.

Weaver Tuesday suspended Heyman and two University of North Carolina backcourt men, Larry Brown and Don Walsh—all from the New York City area—from remaining regular season league games for participating in a fight among players and fans. It broke out just before the end of a tense game at Durham Feb. 4 when Duke beat North Carolina 81-77. It was quickly stopped by police.

Carolina-State Expected To Put On Show Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — The Wake Forest basketball team, making good on Coach Bones McKinney's prediction that it would be an improved club after losing to Duke and North Carolina last week, routed nationally third-ranked Duke 103-89 last night. This complicated the race for the top seed in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament.

Duke's league mark now is 9-2, good for a precarious hold on first place against runner-up North Carolina, 8-2, and third-place Wake Forest. Wake Forest has only one league game remaining, at home against South Carolina Feb. 25, the last day of the regular season. South Carolina, seventh at 2-8 in the conference, lost 93-78 to Furman of the Southern Conference in the only other game involving an ACC club Tuesday night.

Commissioner Jim Weaver has barred him from league games for the rest of the season for participating in a fight during the Duke-North Carolina game Feb. 4. But the suspension has been lifted temporarily by the executive committee pending a review.

Duke has three more conference games to play, at Maryland tomorrow, home against Virginia next Monday, and at North Carolina the night of the South Carolina-Wake Forest game. North Carolina, which is host to North Carolina State in today's only game involving an ACC team, still has a chance to win regular season honors. But the Tar Heels, put on probation by the NCAA for basketball recruiting violations, is ineligible for the NCAA tournament. They withdrew from the ACC tournament in Raleigh March 24 which will determine the league's representative for the NCAA eliminations.

Therefore the race is between Duke and Wake Forest for the top seeding in the ACC tournament.

He scored 15 points in the second quarter and assisted on four other baskets as Boston overcame a 36-28 deficit and soared to a 66-56 halftime lead that stood up the rest of the way.

He scored 15 points in the second quarter and assisted on four other baskets as Boston overcame a 36-28 deficit and soared to a 66-56 halftime lead that stood up the rest of the way.

The victory broke a three-game Celtic losing string and gave them a 6½ game Eastern Division bulge over Philadelphia and Los Angeles' 105-95 television victory over St. Louis. It gave Boston a three-game edge in the loss column in the race with the Hawks for the best won-lost record.

Bill Sharman, Cousy's 34-year-old partner in the backcourt, took a different tack. "What can you do in 20 minutes?" he asked. "I don't want to say anything against anyone, but I'm not playing as much as I used to. I've always thought you play better after you get your second wind. How are you going to score much in 20 minutes?"

Coach Red Auerbach, advised of the comment of his veterans, made a vague motion of dismissal. "Aw," he shrugged. "No comment. Look, we won. That's what I care about. We won."

And it was his bench-swing Sam Jones in particular—that had a big hand in fashioning the Celtics' fifth victory in nine meetings with the Warriors.

Moore Ready To Give Some Foe Shot At Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Archie Moore, a handy guy with fists and words, usually can talk his way out of any predicament. So when he was faced with a real tough one—an order from the New York State Athletic Commission to sign "forthwith" for a light heavyweight title defense, his answer was: "Okay, I'm going down right now to sign."

But making a fight for Moore's New York Massachusetts-Europe version of the championship isn't as simple as Archie made it sound Tuesday night. Moore said the contract was offered by Madison Square Garden for a June 10 title bout with Giulio Rinaldi, the Italian who beat him in a non-title bout last Oct. 30 in Rome.

The New York Commission's order mentioned unbeaten Doug Jones—the only fighter who has filed an official challenge and posted the $2,500 forfeit—or "any other suitable opponent."

Harry Markson, Garden boxing director, and Bill Yale, Moore's lawyer in San Diego, confirmed negotiations were under way. They'll talk more today, anticipating the possibility the commission might let a trip Moore of title recognition at his Friday meeting.

Markson said he hadn't tried to contact Rinaldi yet. Getting the champ's signature is the first step, the opponent comes later. Then there's the question of whether Moore has been released from his agreement to meet Germany's Eric Schoepner under the Promotion of Feature Sports Incorporated. Last week Jack Fugazy, FSI executive director, declared the fight was off because of the German's "unreasonable demands" for money.

In issuing Tuesday's order, Gen. Melvin Krulwich, commission chairman, indicated he thought that meant Moore's agreement was cancelled. He had held off on Archie's failure to defend the title because the Schoepner fight was in the making.

Moore, who hasn't defended the title since he knocked out Yvon Durelle, Aug. 12, 1959, has fought at as much as 206 pounds since then. Weight may be another problem, but Archie is noted for his ability to shed pounds.

Moore already has been deprived of a big part of the 175-pound title by the National Boxing Association, which recognizes Harold Johnson of Philadelphia. Archie says he would want $200,000 to fight Johnson.

Joel Eaves is in his 12th season as basketball coach at Auburn University.

Richmond's Spiders, who play their home games at the Richmond arena and can give just about anybody a rough time when they're right, have clinched a berth in the Southern Conference basketball tournament—which will be played at the Richmond Arena.

The Spiders made certain of a spot in the eight-team event with a 90-77 triumph Tuesday night over Davidson's Wildcats. The result left a three-way scrap for the last two berths among Davidson and George Washington (both 2-7) and Virginia Military Institute (2-10).

Smack Duke 103-89

Deacs Kicking Up Fuss

By DON WEISS, Associated Press Sports Writer — The Wake Forest Deacons, unaccountably unpredictable outside the league, are kicking up such a fuss in Atlantic Coast Conference competition that they may wind up the team to beat when the ACC gets down to selecting its representative for the NCAA basketball championships.

The Deacons, with their big-tit pair of Len Chappell and Billy Packer in line fettle, pushed their ACC regular season record to a handsome 10-3 Tuesday night with a 103-89 whipping of third-ranked Duke, a 61.1 shooting percentage, 38 points by the 6-8, 240-pound Chappell, and 25 by the 5-11, 170-pound Packer did the job against the Blue Devils (17-3), who got a jolt earlier in the day when high-scoring soph Art Heyman was suspended by conference commissioner Jim Weaver for his part in a fight in a North Carolina game Feb. 4.

The suspension itself was temporarily suspended by the executive committee, freeing Heyman to play—and score 31 points. But Duke, now 9-2 in the ACC race, couldn't manage a reprieve once the Deacons took the lead midway in the first half.

Wake Forest has one league game remaining—with South Carolina—before the ACC tournament that sends the winner into the NCAA tournament. Before that the Deacons play non-leaguers Villanova, St. Francis (Pa.) and New York U. in an attempt to improve on an outside record that stands at a mediocre 3-5 now.

Fifth-ranked Bradley (17-4) went into overtime to edge Notre Dame 84-81 at Chicago Stadium, tenth-ranked West Virginia (19-3) used its zone press effectively again for its ninth straight victory, 90-78 over Penn State; St. Joseph's (Pa.) (17-4) made it eight straight, 88-73 over Penn.; and the Southwest conference developed into its accustomed scramble in other major games.

Bradley, down 64-59 with three minutes left, fought Notre Dame (10-12) into overtime at 68-all then handed the Irish their fourth straight loss with Tim Robinson scoring five points, Chet Walker and Mack Herndon four each and Mickey Tiemann three in the extra session. Robinson wound up with 28 points, Herndon 21 and Walker 15.

Chicago Loyola (12-5) enhanced its tournament chances in the opener of the doubleheader, nipping Marquette 81-78 on a last-minute field goal and free throw by Mike Gavin, who scored 28 points.

Sub Kenny Ward, filling in for ailing Rod Thorn, hit a jump shot with 5 seconds left for West Virginia's victory—capping a Mountie drive from five points behind with four minutes remaining. Paul Miller scored 22 points and Jim McCormick 18 while West Virginia ace Thorn took the night off to nurse a virus.

Jack Egan had 20 points and reserve Tom Wynne 17 for St. Joseph's against Penn after Temple 72-64.

Hank Gunter fired 27 points and Art Hicks 24 in Seton Hall's 94-80 romp over Villanova, and Furman got 22 points from sophomore Gerry Gurr in a 93-78 rout of South Carolina. Oklahoma State hit 26 of 27 free throws and toppled Oklahoma in a Big Eight test, 48-42, and in the West Coast Athletic Conference, Santa Clara beat Sam Jose State 30-29 and St. Mary's downed Pacific (Cal) 72-64.

Elsewhere, NCAA-bound St. John's downed George Washington 98-90 for a 14-4 record as Willie Hall scored 23 points and All-America Tony Jackson 22; Massachusetts dropped Yankee Conference perennial Connecticut 71-54, just about eliminating the Uconn from the league race; and in the Southern Conference, Bob Ayersman's 26 points helped Virginia Tech whip William & Mary 85-67, and 27 points each by Red Booker and Lee O'Bryan triggered Richmond's 90-77 decision over Davidson.

Chappell Gains On Heyman In ACC Scoring

GREENSBORO (AP) — Wake Forest center Len Chappell gained slightly on Duke sophomore Art Heyman Tuesday night in their duel for the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball scoring lead.

Chappell outscored Heyman 38 points to 31, raising its average to 25.0 points a game to Heyman's 24.4 as Wake Forest defeated Duke, 103-89. They have played the same number of games, 20, with Chappell scoring 500 points and Heyman 487.

North Carolina's York Larese jumped back into contention. After dropping 24 points a game off the pace, Larese hit for 66 points in two games last week, giving him an average of 23.2.

And still not to be counted completely out is North Carolina's Doug Moe, who last week raised his average from 20.9 to 21.5 points a game. Tony Laquintano of Virginia is fifth behind Moe with a 20.6-point average.

According to ACC Service Bureau compilations, Carroll Youngkin of Duke enhanced his chances of setting a new ACC record for field goal accuracy. He raised his floor average to 62.1 per cent by hitting 10 of 12 shots in two games. The ACC record is 53.3 per cent and Youngkin set it last season. Closest challengers are Bill Hull of Wake Forest, 54.3 per cent, and Ken Rohloff of N.C. State, 52.8 per cent.

Bob McDonald of Maryland still tops free throw accuracy at 87.7 per cent on 57 for 65. Jon Speaks of N.C. State and Chappy Patterson of Clemson each have hit 84.5 per cent.

Moe again leads rebounding with 14.3 recovers a game, trailed by Chappell with 12.8 and Heyman with 11.1.

In the team departments, Wake Forest topped scoring at 81.1 points a game, Maryland defense with an average yield of 64.5 points. Duke in field goal accuracy at 47.8 per cent, Maryland in free throw shooting at 73.4 per cent, and N.C. State in rebounding with 51.5 a game.

The figures are through games of last Saturday, with the exception of the updating of the Chappell-Heyman race on the basis of Tuesday night's game.

Richmond's Spiders, who play their home games at the Richmond arena and can give just about anybody a rough time when they're right, have clinched a berth in the Southern Conference basketball tournament—which will be played at the Richmond Arena.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Richmond's Spiders, who play their home games at the Richmond arena and can give just about anybody a rough time when they're right, have clinched a berth in the Southern Conference basketball tournament—which will be played at the Richmond Arena.

The Spiders made certain of a spot in the eight-team event with a 90-77 triumph Tuesday night over Davidson's Wildcats. The result left a three-way scrap for the last two berths among Davidson and George Washington (both 2-7) and Virginia Military Institute (2-10).

While Richmond and Davidson were staging their battle in the lower echelon, Virginia Tech was claiming back into a tie for second place with an 85-67 romp over William and Mary's Indians. The victory gave the Gobblers an 8-3 record, identical with The Citadel's.

Three conference teams stepped outside the league and two brought home victories. Tenth-ranked West Virginia nipped Penn State 80-78 and Furman trounced South Carolina 93-78. But George Washington took a 98-80 licking from St. John's of Brooklyn.

All league teams are idle tonight. Richmond piled up a 41-30 halftime lead and seemed in no difficulty against Davidson. But the Wildcats came out with a full court press after intermission and quickly narrowed their deficit to three points.

With 12½ minutes left, Richmond applied its own press, pulled into a 64-52 lead and coasted to the victory, which snapped a four-game Davidson winning streak. Richmond boosted its league mark to 5-8.

Red Booker and Lee O'Bryan scored 27 points apiece for Richmond, which ran up its highest point total in a league game this season. Davidson was led by Bill Shin with 24 points.

Julian Javier, a St. Louis rookie who played 119 games last season, paced National Leaguers in sacrifice bunts with 15.

Rookies Tommy Davis of Los Angeles and Frank Herrera of Philadelphia had 20-game hitting streaks last year.

Appalachian is host to Western Carolina tonight in one of the two games on the card.

In the other, second-place East Carolina, 11-5, is at High Point, which is tied at 9-7 with Elon for fifth.

Celtics' Cousy Is Tired Cager

BOSTON (AP) — The fabled Boston bench—one of the chief reasons the Celtics have dominated the National Basketball Association in recent years—soon may be playing as much or more than the regulars.

One reason: Bob Cousy has had it. "I'm beat," the weary Celtic captain said after Boston's 136-123 triumph over Philadelphia Sunday. "I've never felt like this—physically and mentally—before. Never." The perennial all-star guard emphasized.

"I guess it's a combination of things. I haven't been well physically. Then there's all this travel. And we broke the race open too soon."

"I can't get up for a game when it doesn't mean much. I have to have something to shoot for," he said.

Perhaps, Cousy said, things may be different in the playoffs, but he questioned his value for the rest of the season.

Bill Sharman, Cousy's 34-year-old partner in the backcourt, took a different tack. "What can you do in 20 minutes?" he asked. "I don't want to say anything against anyone, but I'm not playing as much as I used to. I've always thought you play better after you get your second wind. How are you going to score much in 20 minutes?"

Junior Danny Langston came off the Farmville bench early in the second period to fire the Red Devils to a 59-48 triumph in the nightcap.

Langston, limited to spot duty most of the season, scored 16 points in the second period, hitting on seven of nine field goal attempts, to erase an early 13-7 Grimesland lead and send Farmville ahead 27-22 at intermission.

Three-Way Battle In Pro Division

A three-way battle is developing for the third playoff spot in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, while the first-place St. Louis Hawks ride along with a comfortable 12-game lead.

St. Louis edged the second-place Detroit Pistons Tuesday night in the second game of a doubleheader at St. Louis, 135-134 after the Boston Celtics had rocked the Los Angeles Lakers 113-93 in the opener.

The net result was that Los Angeles was left in third place in the West, a game behind Detroit, while the idle Cincinnati Royals are in the fourth spot, another 2½ games behind.

Boston was led by Bob Cousy's 19 points and his accurate shooting helped put the Celtics into a 64-45 halftime lead.

Cliff Hagan's 38 points sparked the Hawks to their seventh victory in 10 meetings with the Pistons.

Winterville, never in the lead, trailed by as much as 10 points several times but all but pulled the game out of the fire with a final period rally.

The Wolves scored 16 points in the final stanza and Chicod lost Raymond Fornes and Billy Elks due to fouls.

James Braxton triggered the Winterville attack with 24 points. Winterville's girls rolled to a 41-32 opening game win on the balanced scoring attack of Cayton, Buck and Barnes. Cayton was high with 17.

Speed Runs Set Daytona Track

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—If the ocean beach is in good enough condition, stock car racing drivers planned acceleration runs as today's feature event of Speed Weeks.

The sand has been too rough for high speed beach runs so far this week and both acceleration and flying mile runs have been postponed. Flying mile runs are tentatively set for tomorrow.

At Daytona International Speedway, final runs were scheduled today in economy trials. American in classes 5 and 6 for the highest cars allowed.

Two Michigan men won economy trials in classes 3 and 4 for middle weight cars Tuesday.

Tucson Tourney Passed Up By Money Winners

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Some of the lustre has been taken from the $20,000 Tucson Open golf tourney, starting Thursday, by the absence of most of the game's big money winners.

Nine of the top 10 money winners of 1960 are passing up this one.

Included in the missing is Arnold Palmer, the reigning glamor boy of golf and winner of this year's Phoenix and San Diego Opens.

So is Doug Sanders, one of the hottest golfers on the circuit who trailed Palmer at Phoenix only to lose in Monday's playoff and who finished second to Billy Maxwell at Palm Springs two weeks ago. Maxwell isn't here either.

Neither are Ken Venturi, Dow Finsterwald, Billy Casper, Mike Souchak, Doug Ford, Bill Collins, and Gene Littler.

That leaves only Jay Hebert, the PGA champ, of last year's top 10 as a contender for the Tucson title.

But the field is not without its big names, all of whom are mentioned as threats for the top money of $2,900.

There are former champs Bob Rosburg, Jim Ferrier and Lionel Hebert, who won in Tucson a couple of years ago.

Former U. S. Open title holders Tommy Bolt and Jack Fleck are on hand.

The contenders include two men who have won the British Open. Gary Player of South Africa, and Max Faulkner, of London, England.

Perry Acquired By Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Coach Webb Ewbank says the addition of Joe Perry to the Baltimore Colts backfield has not necessarily ended his quest for a fullback.

"Perry may be an answer for us and he may not," said Ewbank, still uncertain how Alan Ameche will recover from a leg injury which sidelined him late last season.

The Colts Tuesday obtained the 34-year-old Perry from the San Francisco 49ers for an undisclosed draft choice. Perry is the greatest ground gainer in National Football League history but is in the twilight of his career.

Arnold Palmer represents the Laurel Valley Golf Club in Lioniger, Pa.

Old Timers Set Hot Pace In Golf Event

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Graybeards among the Professional Golfers Association seniors have given the young sprouts — some in the 50-54 age group — something to shoot at in the 22nd annual tournament.

The 55-and-over entrants played their first round on the national PGA course Tuesday, and 21 of them shot par or better over the 6,352-yard, par 35-37-72 layout. The 50-54 division plays its first round today, and will do well to match the oldsters showing, as well as the low score of 67 turned in by unsung George M. Smith of Chicago, a 63-year old veteran of 13 such previous tournaments.

Headed by "freshman" Jimmy Demaret, three times winner of the Masters, the younger field includes such able performers as defending champion Dick Metz of White Plains, N. Y.; Herman Barron, also of White Plains; Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va.; Willie Goggin of French Lick, Ind.; Duke Gibson of Kansas City, Mo.; Paul Runyan of La Jolla, Calif.; and Clarence Doser of Gaithersburg, Md.

The 55-and-over entrants play their second round Thursday and today's group plays its second 18 Friday, after which the entire field will be sliced to the low 125 and ties for the final two rounds of competition for the teacher's trophy and a free trip to England to meet the British champions.

Trend Is Increased Interest In Toy Dogs

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—When Anne Rogers talks about toy dogs, you have to listen.

Miss Rogers, a striking 6-1½ brunette from Mahopac, N.Y., broke an ironbound tradition in 1956 when she became the first handler ever to win the Westminster Kennel Club's dog show with a toy.

Until then, the canine shrimps had been virtually orphaned. The judges would take a quick look at the toy group winner and turn his attention to the other finalists.

Just by way of proving the 1956 triumph was no mistake, Miss Rogers repeated in 1959. Tuesday night she made it three in the last six years when she won with Ch. Cappouquin Little Sister, a coal-black toy poodle, owned by Florence Michelson of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"I think," she said today, "that the toy trend shows handlers are getting more interested in the groups."

"It actually started before I won in 1956. That just showed that the handlers of the toys had about perfected them. They should win their share from now on."

Miss Rogers ("I refuse to compare my three winners") has been a professional handler 11 years. So it took her only 6 years to go to the top in '56.

As for Little Sister, who weighs in at a cool six pounds: "She is a complete ham at 15 lbs. She loves every minute of it. In the kennel, she is a complete beatnik until she is washed and trimmed for a show. Then she emerges a lady."

This was Little Sister's third try at the Westminster. She didn't cause any raised eyebrows the first two times.

The other five finalists who paraded before Dr. Joseph E. Redden, a dentist from East Longmeadow, Mass., included: Ch. White Gables Ritocrat, a smooth dachshund, sent in by Mrs. Albert E. Van Court of Los Angeles, the hound winner.

Ch. Esild Ballet Dancer, standard poodle, owned by E. J. Ferguson of West Hollywood, Calif., tops in the terrier no sporting group.

Ch. Blauart Bewitching, a Scotch terrier belonging to Blanc E. Reeg of Wantagh, N.Y., the terrier victor.

Francis Colonel Caridas, a parti-color cocker spaniel, entered by Mrs. Clinton Bishop of Collegeville, Pa., the sporting group winner who completed his championship.

Ch. Marquan Hill's Comancha boxer, owned by Mrs. Robert W. Burke of San Rafael, Calif., the working group leader.

Last year's winner, Ch. Chik T. Sun of Caversham, has been retired. Another of the six finalists didn't show up. Of the four who did, only Bewitching made the final again.

'Best Crop Of Seedlings In History' For Landowners

STATE NURSERYMEN . . . here are shown lifting pine seedlings in preparation for shipment to landowners. State nurseries this season produce 95 million forest tree seedlings.

The N.C. Forest Service under the State Department of Conservation and Development is urging Tar Heel landowners to take advantage of what state forestry officials are calling "our best crop of pine seedlings in history."

The Forest Service has initiated an extensive campaign to have the 95 million seedlings produced at its four nurseries distributed to persons interested in planting the fledgling trees on idle acres. State nurseries at Goldsboro, Clayton, Morganton and Hendersonville currently have the seedlings available upon application covering the shipping and planting season that ends in the Coastal Plain March 15.

The nurseries at Clayton and Goldsboro have supplies of 95 million slash pine available upon application at $4.50 per thousand and then showed you were interested, he wrote rapidly — well.

The teacher decided that Norman had once encountered the wrong kind of teacher, "one who maybe wasn't as smart as he was and resented it."

After that first, bitter brush with teacher, Norman encountered

10 man hours of labor. The seedlings may be planted with a tree-planting machine at a cost of around $12.50 per acre, including the cost of the seedlings. The tractor-drawn machines are capable of planting from six to eight thousand seedlings per day, or 600 per hour.

Financial Assistance
Financial assistance in securing and planting the seedlings is available. The State Agricultural Conservation Program provides assistance to landowners who comply with certain regulations. ACP provides a total of $12 per acre of trees planted by complying owners.

Assistance may be arranged on through ACP county offices. In Pitt County, the ACP administration is headquartered in the offices of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program.

Claridge has said: "With the availability of planting machines, trees at cost, and ACP assistance, landowners can now look forward to easier and more abundant planting operations at a much lower cost than in previous years."

When School Is Too Easy Some Take Wayward Path

By JACK CLAIBORNE

Charlotte Observer Staff Writer
Written for The Associated Press
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Norman W. had great potential. But by the time he reached the 10th grade he was a problem.

"He was sullen and moody, and he hated authority," his teacher recalls.

"When I got his record, I was surprised. He had once made straight A's."

The teacher made up her mind to do something for Norman. "I failed," she said.

But she got close enough to discover that he played the cello beautifully — once. That he still messed around with a clarinet he once could make sing. That he still loved to write — under certain circumstances.

"Norman wouldn't write what you told him to write. He just flatly refused to. But if you coaxed him a little, and then showed you were interested, he wrote rapidly — well."

The teacher decided that Norman had once encountered the wrong kind of teacher, "one who maybe wasn't as smart as he was and resented it."

After that first, bitter brush with teacher, Norman encountered

others he resented.

He encountered the last one as a senior in high school, nine days before final exams and graduation. There was an argument, some name-calling, and a trip to the principal.

"It came down to Norman's having either to apologize or leave school. He left school," the teacher recalled.

The teacher said she's seen Norman once or twice since then — "standing on the street corner, laughing with the gang he leads."

Norman isn't alone. He's got Billy B. for company.

Billy didn't play the cello, he sang. And his teacher-remembers fondly how innocent he looked, "his tow head sticking out of that little choir robe."

Billy was a case, she recalled. Books were no contest for Billy. He had time to waste in elementary school.

Later, as Billy's past time-wasting caught up with him, school got tougher. Athletics was the only thing that kept him coming to class.

Like most bright boys, Billy was good on the playing field, too, and particularly good at basketball and baseball. But straining against authority, he was expelled and made ineligible to compete.

Billy dropped out of school, went to Florida, and took a job as a bell hop in a Miami hotel.

These two — Billy B. and Norman W. — have many companions on the wayward path. For them, and many others as bright and talented as they, school, was too easy.

Apaches Stand To Win Fortune

CIBICUE, Ariz. (AP) — The Apache Indians once the scourge of gold and silver prospectors, stand to reap a potential fortune in a new mineral rush — iron ore.

Ore prospectors currently are concentrating their attention on the White Mountain Apache Indian Reservation where the Bureau of Mines estimates the existence of 10 million tons of ore.

The Apaches, says the American Iron and Steel Institute, were paid $42,100 for prospecting rights and, if the strike pans out, they will receive a dollar an acre per year rental plus 15 to 20 cents a ton for ore shipped.

Feasibility of extracting the ore depends upon its quantity and quality to defray expenses in getting it out of the wilderness and into the blast furnaces.

Accent On Youth Could Reach Into The Factory

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The new accent on youth may soon extend from the White House right into the machinery in our factories.

President Kennedy says too much of our industrial equipment is too old. He wants business to speed up the modernization of its plant. He says the government will help.

"The average age of equipment in American factories today is about nine years," the President says. "In a dynamic economy that average should be falling, as new equipment is put into place. Instead, the available evidence suggests that it has been slowly rising."

He has renewed his pledge of quickly seeking tax reform to help business update its plants.

The President has still to spell out exactly what tax changes. But business interprets them to be largely in the field of depreciation allowances. Many business spokesmen have deplored present tax policy as holding back building of new plants and buying the latest equipment. This keeps operating costs higher here and helps make American prices higher than those of foreign manufacturers.

President Kennedy agrees that we have fallen behind in the competitive race. He notes that other nations have been lowering the average age of their plants and machinery. He names as an example West Germany, where at least two-fifths of the plant and equipment is under five years of age.

Other lands allow faster write-off of new investment in tax accounting. Some allow revaluation of assets in recognition of higher replacement costs. This lowers corporate tax payments and gives companies more funds with which to buy new equipment.

The United States has granted fast write-offs for some plants and equipment held essential for national defense. But in the main its policies still hold to a standard which, though varied, averages around 20 years. That is, the life of much machinery is held to be 20 years. Companies spread depreciation allowances over 20 years.

They complain that they can't replace the old plant and tools for anything like what they cost — that is, for anything like the total of their depreciation allowances.

To buy new equipment they must find money somewhere — by raising prices to boost profits, by borrowing.

Many insist that this is keeping them from modernizing their plants. This has cut the totals spent on capital goods in the last year, and that has been a factor in the turndown in general business activity.

There are two tax reforms the President could propose.

One would speed up the time in which a new machine could be depreciated for tax purposes — five years, say instead of 20. This would give companies temporary relief. After the five years the machine would be fully taxable as an asset and its production taxable as income without benefit of allowances. But there would be an incentive to buy still newer equipment.

The other would be to let companies value their present machinery at replacement cost instead of its much lower cost at time of purchase. This would grant a longer-range relief.

Just Three Months To Act On Liability Insurance Law

The Reflector Bureau Assn. Afternoon Daily By AURORA DOLLEY

RALEIGH—The General Assembly has only three months in which to decide the fate of compulsory liability insurance for North Carolina motorists.

On May 15 of this year the present law requiring all motorists to have liability insurance will expire.

Three choices would seem to face the legislators now: (1) to let the present law die, not renewing it; (2) to renew the present law, leaving provisions exactly as the 1957 Vehicle Responsibility Insurance Law states; (3) to revamp existing facets of the present law, amending in order to strengthen the law.

North Carolina was the first southern state to adopt compulsory automobile liability insurance, and was the third state to do so, following Massachusetts (1927) and New York (1957). The Tar Heel law became effective on January 1, 1958.

Re-enactment of this law is bitterly opposed by the insurance industry; supporters of the program seem equally determined that the program shall be continued—and bolstered by amendments.

The choice lies in the hands of the members of the 1961 legislature, but as the issue is somewhat of a hot potato, it is due to be tossed around quite a bit before it cools.

Automobile liability insurance in North Carolina has a sort of history: it was not until 1947 that the General Assembly ordered liability insurance for anyone whose driver's license had been suspended for bad risks, and Assigned Risks (drunk driving, hit-and-run driving, excessive speeding, and the like) before renewal of said person's license.

Only a very limited group of drivers, therefore, was affected by the 1947 legislation, and since many of this group were considered bad risks, an Assigned Risks Bureau was established in Raleigh for protection of those refused coverage by insurance companies. "Bad risks" were distributed among the state's insurance companies.

The 1953 General Assembly enlarged the scope of the liability insurance program by requiring motorists to report all accidents involving death, bodily injury, or property damage of $100 or more. Motorists who were liable lost their driver's license unless they paid all claims arising out of the accident and showed proof (usually an automobile liability insurance policy) of financial responsibility for future accidents.

To require all North Carolina motorists to show proof of financial responsibility (usually in the form of insurance policies) before they could obtain license plates, compulsory regulations now in force, to expire May 15.

Automobile liability coverage in North Carolina now protects about 97 per cent of the state's drivers. Before this compulsory law went into effect in 1958 about 65 per cent were covered.

Prior to 1947 the odds of having an accident with an uninsured motorist were about 50-50.

After 1953 they rose to about one in three. Today odds on having an accident with an uninsured motorist are less than one in 20.

Among those in favor of re-enacting the financial responsibility act is Charles F. Gold, Commissioner of Insurance, though Mr. Gold is strongly in favor of re-writing several of its provisions, and also feels that strengthening traffic laws would help reduce the accident rate in the state.

Among proposed amendments to the present compulsory automobile liability laws, it has been suggested by many that our automobile licensing law be re-written so that plates are issued to the operator, not to the automobile, and that plates remain with the automobile.

In addition, many are strongly in favor of abolishing dealer's plates and issuing temporary markers. It has, in addition been suggested that penalties for operating a vehicle without insurance be increased. Now there is a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50 and/or imprisonment of not more than 30 days for this offense.

It is felt by many who wish to re-enact the present insurance measure and "put more teeth into it" that the minimum required liability insurance protection should be raised. It is now $5,000 for bodily injury involving one person, $10,000 for bodily injuries to two or more persons, and $5,000 for property damage.

Suggested revisions would approximate the amounts required in the sister states of Virginia and Tennessee: $15,000-$30,000-$5,000 or $10,000-$20,000-$5,000.

More arguments should be heard within the next three months and legislature decision in this matter will certainly not be without debate deliberation.

New Soviet And U.S. Rift Seen

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's attack on the United Nations operations in the Congo threatened today to touch off a new crisis in relations between Washington and Moscow at a time when they have shown hopeful improvement.

Such a crisis seems inevitable if the Soviet government forces to a showdown the threats and demands it has made as a result of the slaying of former Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba. The futures of both the Congo and the United Nations appeared to be at stake. The Congo now could rapidly become the arena of intensified East-West conflict; the United Nations could be virtually paralyzed as a peacemaking organization.

The turbulent situation confronts the Kennedy administration with a crucial test of its diplomatic skill and policy resources when it is still less than a month old. It injects an element of deep uncertainty into the prospects for a meeting some time later this year between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The Soviet leader's interest in a meeting with Kennedy could serve as a restraint against his forcing Congo and U.N. demands to the point of no return. These Soviet demands may be a declaration of bargaining demands, with the Soviets hoping to accomplish somewhat less than they asked.

Officials here were reported hopeful that the situation can be brought under control before its most dangerous potentialities develop much further. To that end, it is understood, they are counting heavily on dozens of the smaller nations, especially African states, to rally to the defense of the United Nations against Soviet demands.

The White House and State Department withheld any comment although Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other high officials devoted considerable time to studying the problems raised. Kennedy will have an opportunity to express his own views tonight. He has scheduled a televised news conference for 7 p.m. EST.

Indian Ambassador M. C. Chagla said after a conference with Rusk late Tuesday that his government was "very apprehensive" about the repercussions that Lumumba's death "might have not only in the Congo but all over the world."

Chagla said India favors strengthening the United Nations, declaring that "it is only as the United Nations becomes effective that we will prevent civil war."

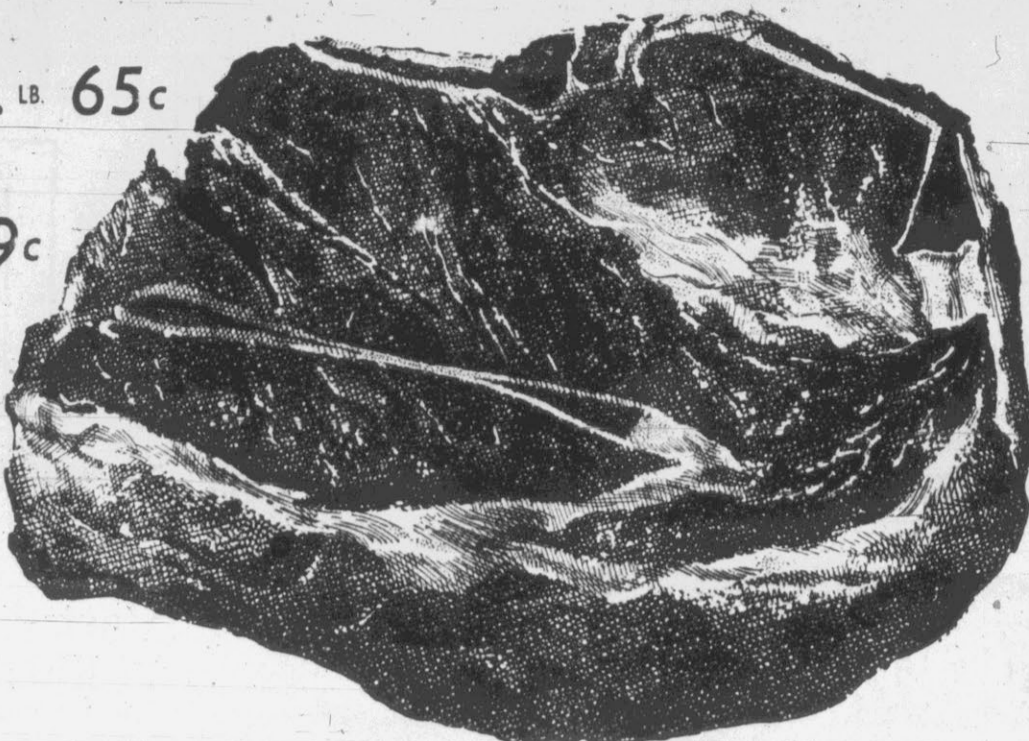

U.S. officials said privately that Moscow seems intent upon exploiting the worldwide excitement which exploded Monday over the disclosure of Lumumba's death. The Soviets apparently seek two objectives—to destroy the effectiveness of the United Nations as an international agency capable of dealing with crises like that in the Congo, and to open the huge African country itself to Communist conquest.

Ant Problem In Avocado Groves

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The trouble with ants in avocado orchards is that they lack taste discrimination.

They eat the eggs of both beneficial and harmful insects, explains C. D. Gustafson, University of California Agricultural Extension Service advisor.

The harmful insects being more numerous to start with, thus gain ascendancy as the beneficial ones, which normally keep them in check, are eliminated by the ants. You can't control avocado pests under such conditions, Gustafson advises. You have to do away with the ants first.

Notes Cuspidors 'Often Missed'

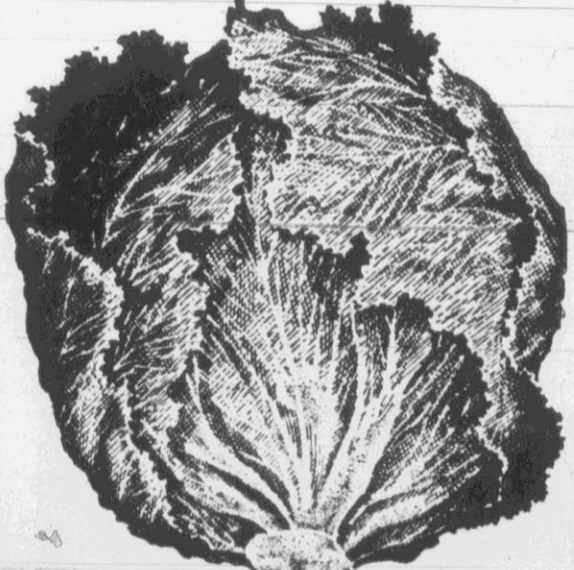

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Something was missing when the Connecticut General Assembly opened its biennial session recently — the cuspidors.

Democratic House Minority Leader William T. Shea asked for an inquiry into their whereabouts and commented:

"They have been missed in the past and even if they are returned, I'm afraid they will be missed again."

'Common Glory' Auditions Slated

WILLIAMSBURG, Virginia — Auditions for the 15th season of "The Common Glory," Williamsburg's outdoor drama, are scheduled for Saturday, March 18, in Lake Matoaka Amphitheatre.

Actors will be auditioned by Howard Scammon, director of the drama. Applicants will be expected to read various roles from the production and to present a reading of their own choice not to exceed two minutes.

Dance auditions will be conducted in the gymnasium of Matthew Whaley School. Women applicants should have had training in both ballet and modern dance.

Albert Haak, technical director of the production, will conduct interviews for stage technicians and technical apprentices at the amphitheatre.

Mr. Scammon emphasized that all roles and positions in the production are open, and that casting will be based upon the auditions.

A woman's voice answered, its brightness hushed by alarm. "What is it?" "Larry. Open up. I brought a friend with me."

A bolt squealed. The door opened an inch, and then a foot. The woman who called herself Holly May looked out.

"What friend? You got no friends?" She slouched in the doorway, narrow-eyed. A dead cigarette hung down from the corner of her mouth.

"It isn't exactly a friend," Gaines said. "It's the lawyer Ferguson hired."

"Why did you have to cart him up here?" "I p-picked him up in Mountain Grove. I couldn't let him run LOOSE."

"Well, don't just stand there, bring him in." Gaines ushered me in with the gun, and the woman bolted the door behind us.

Three shots from Gaines's gun bring the story to a quick climax tomorrow.

"Are we going back to Buena Vista?" "You'd like that, wouldn't you? But you're not going back there, now or any time. You can k-k-iss the place good-bye."

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets slightly stronger. Supplies barely adequate to short demand good. Prices paid producers for clean, unsalted eggs, delivered nearby grading stations on a grade-by-grade basis, cases exchanged: Grade A large, whites 42-43, mostly 43; medium, whites 38-40, mostly 39; small, whites 35-36, mostly 35.

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels, motors and aircraft-motors rose as a churning stock market moved ahead on balance in heavy trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .50 at 234.00 with industrials up 1.40, rails up .10 and utilities down .10.

Gains of fractions to about a point among key stocks outnumbered losers. A few stocks took sharp losses.

The rise was a ragged affair featured by bursts of very active trading.

Attention to fighting the recession was focused by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg's estimate that three million more Americans will suffer long-term unemployment in the next 13 months and his plea that Congress pass President Kennedy's bill to extend jobless benefits. The anti-recession theme continued to have an inflationary ring in Wall Street's ears.

Oils, utilities, and chemicals were mixed. Electrical equipments declined. Tobaccos and drugs advanced.

General Electric lost a point and Westinghouse a fraction. Kayser-Roth dropped more than 2 and Polaroid about 5. Boeing and Martin were up close to a point each.

The crash of the Sabena Belgian Airlines Boeing 707 seemed to have no immediate effect on Boeing.

Gains of a point or so were made by International Harvester, U.S. Steel, General Motors, Goodrich, and Republic Steel.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.62 at 646.53. Volume in the first two hours was 1.96 billion shares.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were narrowly mixed.

Pitt Fat Stock Show & Sale Scheduled April 10-11

The Pitt County Fat Stock Show and Sale has been set for April 10 and 11, officials of the annual event have announced.

Fourty-five calves are being fed by F.F.A. and 4-H Club members to be shown at the show, scheduled to start at 10 a.m. April 10.

The two-day show and sale is under the direction of the Vocational Agricultural teachers of Pitt and is sponsored by the Pitt County Farm Bureau, the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and the Pitt County Commissioners.

According to J.H. Mobley, Vocational Agriculture teacher at Winterville, the annual show and sale has improved the quality of livestock in Pitt County over the years.

"Eleven years ago when the show started, the beef cattle was of such inferior quality that the teachers were unable to purchase calves for the show. This year, the FFA from Winterville school secured 17 calves of different breeds from the producers in the county."

Other teachers did likewise. "We have several breeders who have obtained purebred makes and females of outstanding bloodlines in order to meet the needs of the show and demands of the public," Mobley added.

Any white male, FFA or 4-H club member living in Pitt County is eligible to enter the beef cattle show and sale, and compete for premiums, while any white person farming in Pitt County is eligible to participate in the swine show and sale.

All steers must be owned by the exhibitor for at least four months prior to the date of the show and sale, and all hogs must have been owned by the exhibitor for at least two months before the date of the show.

To be eligible for the show, all hogs must be barrows or gilts weighing not less than 180 pounds and not more than 240 pounds. According to Mobley the agricultural teachers "are devoting much time to swine, and would like to have a large number in our show, but we also believe that swine has a place on the farms."

He pointed out that the agricultural teachers have set a goal of "100 feeder pigs each month from their community" to be entered in the quality feeder pig sale.

Mobley emphasized the value of Pitt farmers raising pigs, by saying "within 100 miles of Greenville, 10,000 hogs are slaughtered each day, and the price paid for swine in Eastern North Carolina is the highest in the world." He explained that "three of every four bushels of corn produced in the county are sold," noting the farmer could receive more for his corn through feeding it to pigs.

Mobley urged all farmers interested in producing hogs for show or feeder pigs to contact the nearest agriculture teacher for assistance.

State's Loss

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Education Association said today a survey of 1959 teacher graduates of the state's colleges showed one of every two is lost to other states and to other professions.

Summing up results of the study, Dr. A. C. Dawson, NCEA executive secretary, said, "A higher salary is not the only factor which attracts our potential teachers, but it is by far the most important factor."

First year teachers who entered North Carolina classrooms in the fall of 1959 received an average beginning salary of $3,112. The study said this compared with the average beginning salary of $3,863 for those who left the state to teach, and a $4,592 average received by those who took jobs in business.

One of every five prospective teachers discarded their professional training to enter another occupation.

Dog That Fell In Niagara Gorge Home After Year

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—Tosha, a German shepherd dog given up for dead a year ago after he plummeted into the Niagara gorge, has come home.

The dog, owned by Charles Tiller, fell into the gorge when he leaped at a bird. The family gave up hope, and after a period of mourning replaced him with Big Boy.

A few days ago a bedraggled dog arrived at the Tiller home, and a veterinarian recognized a scar on his leg. Now the trials of Tosha have been pieced together. A mystery German shepherd was reported ranging the isolated gorge during the summer.

Tosha apparently lay unconscious after his fall, woke to find himself alone, and began his solitary existence.

He lived on small game until immigration men began to woo him back to civilization with hamburger. A case of dog food was given to Charles Blair, caretaker at the Maid of the Mist docks. Gradually he won the dog's confidence and the rehabilitated Tosha then made his own way home.

Bill Aimed At Small Loan Firms In N.C.

RALEIGH (AP) — A legislative committee approved a bill Tuesday to halt the licensing of small loan firms for 90 days after its chairman referred to what he called "apparent racketeering" in the industry.

Sen. Jennings G. King of Scotland County was the only member of the Senate Banking Committee who voted against the bill. Sen. Elton Ayllett of Pasquotank County, committee chairman, told the group the bill is aimed at blocking formation of any small loan company until legislation can be enacted "to remedy the apparent racketeering."

King said he felt, "The small loan firms are guilty of all the abuses they have been charged with. Let's pass a bill that will regulate all of them stringently, and you'll find that will take care of the situation."

King said later the 90-day bill probably is a good one, but he

Has Compromise Apportionment

RALEIGH (AP) — A veteran senator says he hopes to offer a bill in the General Assembly which would contain some compromises in realigning State Senate districts.

Sen. Claude Currie at Durham said Tuesday his proposal would allot two senators each to Mecklenburg, Guilford and Forsyth counties.

On a strict mathematical basis, Currie said, Mecklenburg would be entitled to three senators based on the 1960 population. Currie added, however, he feared that allowing a county three senators would ruin the bill's chances of passage.

The State Constitution specifies that the Senate be redistricted on a population basis after each federal census. Currie's bill would make representation in the Senate more nearly equal on a population basis.

Meanwhile, the Senate Committee on Election Laws and Legislative Representation approved a resolution by Currie, chairman of the group. It calls for appropriate House and Senate committees to begin immediately "to study the question of senatorial redistricting and to hold public hearings thereon to the end that a redistricting bill may be prepared."
