New voters tomorrow will have their first opportunity to register for the May 2 municipal election when the registration books will be open in the lobby of City Hall.

Registrars will be at City Hall from 9 a.m. until sunset. It is the first of three Saturdays that new voters will have a chance to register.

Challenge Day at which time qualified electors may object to the qualification of any other registered voter, will be April 29.

Voters who have been registered for prior municipal elections will not be required to re-register since this is not a new registration.

Macmillan And Kennedy Expect Series Of Crises During Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan reportedly fear the development of a series of crises between the Western powers and the Soviet Union this year.

These views are reported to prevail in spite of encouraging progress recently made toward agreement on a cease-fire in the civil war in Laos.

A generally somber outlook for East-West relations emerges from information made available by U.S. and British officials on the discussions of the two allied leaders here during the past two days.

A final session of the two men and their advisers will be held at the White House Saturday morning after which they plan to issue what one official called a business-like statement on the range of their discussions.

Meanwhile, from authorities who participated in the meetings, the following picture of immediate and potential cold war trouble spots shapes up:

1. The U.S.-British negotiations with the Soviet Union for an agreement to prohibit the testing of nuclear weapons permanently under an international policing system are making very little progress.

Macmillan and Kennedy agreed that the Western powers could never rely on an inspection system which was subject to a Soviet veto. Unless, as they hope, Soviet Premier Khrushchev will drop or drastically modify the directorate proposal, the nuclear test talks at Geneva would appear to be headed for a breakdown.

If the Geneva talks do fail Kennedy will be faced with an almost immediate decision on whether to order a resumption of nuclear testing which has been suspended since the Geneva conference started 2 1/2 years ago.

2. Since the test talks at Geneva have been regarded by the Western powers as a possible first step toward disarmament, a failure at Geneva would inevitably be considered as a blow to disarmament. The two leaders reviewed the disarmament outlook and reaffirmed their hope that the test talks would prove successful, despite the current gloomy prospect.

3. The chances of a new East-West confrontation over West Berlin were rated high, although Macmillan considered that Khrushchev may choose to exert primary pressure for Communist expansion in some of the underdeveloped countries in Africa and Asia.

Those concessions included a tentative offer to consider reducing the Allied garrison force of about 11,000 men in West Berlin.

4. With respect to Southeast Asia Kennedy and Macmillan expressed their hope that cease-fire negotiations which the British are conducting with the Soviet foreign office in Moscow will now be successful and produce a prompt truce in the civil war in Laos while a 14-nation conference meets to negotiate a more permanent settlement.

CAB Bureau Objects To Piedmont's Service Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board's Bureau of Air Operations has objected to certain proposed expansions of the route of Piedmont Airlines.

The bureau, whose assigned function is to represent the public interest, included in its objections the proposed extension of service by Piedmont to Salisbury and Wilson-Greenville, N.C.

The bureau said Salisbury has reasonable access to three airports—Charlotte, Greensboro-High Point, and Winston-Salem.

It said Wilson-Greenville would benefit from proposed improved service to the cities of Rocky Mount, Goldsboro and Kinston.

The CAB will consider the position taken by the bureau, as well as positions which have been expressed by other parties, including intervenors, in reaching a decision.

The CAB also could decide to hear arguments in the case before reaching a decision.

Air conditioning will be installed at the Greenville Post Office in the near future, U.S. Representative Herbert Bonner notified the Daily Reflector today.

Bonner said the U.S. Post Office Department had just announced that they plan to install air conditioning at both the Greenville, N.C. and Washington, N.C. post offices in the near future.

The Post Office Department has requested the General Service Administration to do the work, and will reimburse them for the work. The entire Post Office in Greenville will be cooled by air conditioning, the announcement said.

Asks Amending Of Constitution On Redistricting

RALEIGH (AP)—The Senate received a new proposal today dealing with the problem of Senate representation—or redistricting.

Sen. Archie Davis of Forsyth, a backer of a redistricting measure defeated by the Senate in a torrid session Thursday, tossed in a bill to amend the State Constitution.

It provides that no county may have more than two senators and says that no Senate district shall be composed of more than five counties.

In view of the decisive manner in which the redistricting measure, sponsored by Sen. Claude Currie of Durham, was defeated Thursday, it would seem that Davis' proposal would have slim chance of approval.

Currie's bill called for redistricting under present constitutional provisions and required only a simple majority to pass. Since Davis' proposal would amend the State Constitution, it would require the approval of both houses by a three-fifths vote and then would have to be submitted to the people for their approval.

Army To Expand Overseas Units

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army plans to send thousands of additional combat troops to overseas "hotspots" in the next year as a means of countering Communist thrusts.

At the same time, the Army will train 3,000 men in guerrilla warfare tactics for use in nations friendly to the United States.

Army leaders gave details of these intentions Thursday to a closed door hearing of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Later the testimony of Gen. George H. Decker, chief of staff, and of Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr. was made available to newsmen with military secrets deleted.

Today it is the Navy's turn to testify before the committee on President Kennedy's defense program. The Senate group will hear Adm. V. F. Raborn, chief of the missile sub program, on the Navy's plan to speed its nuclear powered Polaris submarines project.

Other scheduled witnesses are Secretary John B. Connally and Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations.

Decker told the committee that 3,400 men will be added to the U. S. 7th Army, which now is part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization shield in Europe. He also forecast an increase of more than 5,000 men in the Pacific "to meet the threat of limited war and for assisting our allies in countering sub-belligerency."

EPIDEMIC REPORTED GENEVA (AP)—The League of Red Cross Societies said today it has been informed several thousand persons have died of yellow fever in Ethiopia, but that no details of the epidemic have been supplied.

ASKS ASYLUM STOCKHOLM (AP)—The captain of a Russian navy tug brought his ship to the Swedish Baltic island of Gotland Thursday night and asked customs officials for political asylum, police reported.

Truck Backed Over 2-Year-Old Child In City

A two-year-old Greenville boy was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital this morning for observation after a truck backed over the child in front of his home on B. Street, police reported at noon today.

Officers identified the child as Guy Kite, of 104 "B" St. and said he was suffering from multiple bruises and a laceration of his forehead.

Police, saying investigation of the mishap is continuing, reported a truck, being driven by Paul Dalton Sutton, 22 of Route 1, Stokes, allegedly backed over the two-year-old. They said Sutton was reportedly backing from a construction job at the North end of "B" St., south to the intersection of First St.

Investigators said Sutton has been charged with failure to keep proper lookout while backing.

Officers said the mishap occurred about 10:10 a.m.

Shots Exchanged By Korean Ships

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Two South Korean navy patrol boats exchanged fire today with eight Communist North Korean vessels off the eastern coast, the navy reported.

A navy spokesman said the South Korean ships suffered no damage or casualties and there was no information on damage to the North Korean vessels.

Pitt Demos Near Double Quota For Jefferson-Jackson Dinner

Pitt County's Democratic Party has nearly doubled its specified quota of 550 tickets to next week's Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner in Raleigh.

Chairman of the county Executive Committee J. Henry Harrell reported today the Pitt organization has sent $1,500 to state headquarters—$700 above its highest quota in history.

In the past, Harrell said, Pitt has been responsible for $500. "We sent $600 one year," he remembered.

He credited Pitt Democrats with raising more money over and above its quota percentage than any other county in the state except Robeson, Robeson County exactly doubled the share requested of it by state headquarters. Harrell said he was "very pleased that most parts of the county will be represented" at the state-wide fund-raising dinner next Saturday. State party leaders have set $50,000 as the state-wide goal.

The $50,000 sought would pay off a debt of an equal amount incurred recently when State Chairman Bert Bennett Jr. borrowed North Carolina's share of the national party campaign debt and presented to the national treasury.

Will Report For Work On June 1

Louis Scheipers Jr., presently city manager for Southern Pines, was hired this afternoon by the City Council for a similar post in Greenville.

Councilmen unanimously approved of Scheipers for the job at a called meeting beginning at noon today.

He is to report for work here on or about June 1 and his beginning annual salary will be $9,000.

Local councilmen also agreed to furnish the new city manager an auto and to pay Scheipers' moving expenses to Greenville.

Scheipers will replace Leonard P. Bloxam who for several years has been serving in a combination job of city manager and utilities superintendent. Bloxam will return to full time duties as utilities superintendent.

Scheipers, 40 years old, has been in Southern Pines for the past eight years. He has served as city manager for four years and was assistant city manager for two years prior to that. He has worked with an industrial firm in an administrative capacity.

The new city manager is married and has several children, including a daughter now attending East Carolina College. Mayor S. Eugene West and Councilmen Charles M. King, M. W. Aldridge and W. S. Staff-ford voted for the motion this afternoon to hire Scheipers. Councilman Wesley Harvey, who was called out of town on business, sent word that he approved the action.

Mayor West told the council that Scheipers desired a unanimous vote by the council as a prerequisite to accepting the position.

Councilman Aldridge offered the motion to employ Scheipers at the $9,000 annual salary, furnish an automobile and employ ABC Moving, a local firm, to move him to Greenville. Aldridge explained that he was specifying the local moving company rather than spending the municipal funds with a firm in another town.

West said at the meeting that the annual salary was less than the city had expected to have to pay for a full time city manager. However, he said he had told Scheipers that he was "reasonably sure the council, whoever it might be," would go along with salary increases in future years.

St. Louis Papers Raising Prices

The afternoon Post-Dispatch and the morning Globe-Democrat gave rising costs as the reason for the 2-cent increase.

The Sunday Post will remain at 20 cents and the Sunday Globe at 25 cents.

Extended Weather Outlook For N. C.

Farmville Meets Quota For Bloodmobile Visit

FARMVILLE—The Farmville-Fountain area exactly matched its quota with 120 pints of blood donated during yesterday's six-hour visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile here.

Frank K. Allen, chairman for yesterday's visit, reported this morning citizens of the area visited the Farmville Methodist Church—yesterday's collection center—"in a steady stream throughout the afternoon."

Wiley Yelverton of Fountain was chairman for the Fountain area.

Allen praised the work of volunteer doctors, nurses and civic workers who turned out to assist the Red Cross personnel in collecting the 120 units.

He added, "I would like to express appreciation in behalf of the citizens of this area to those who gave blood." He said yesterday's turnout was "especially gratifying" since local citizens filled in a gap left by the absence of employees of the Farmville Formica Flakeboard plant.

Formica's employees, Allen said, were on vacation during this visit. He attributed about 15 pints of the 120-pint quota to Formica. At the last visit of the bloodmobile here, Formica accounted for more than 70 units.

Allen paid special tribute to Miss Tabitha DeVoscenti, who stayed on the job at the church throughout the afternoon.

Favorable Report On Inspection Bill

RALEIGH (AP)—The Senate Public Roads Committee reported favorably today on a bill requiring annual mechanical inspection of motor vehicles.

"Mr. Chairman," Sen. Jimmy Johnson of Iredell addressed Senator Moore of Robeson. "I'm voting for the bill to get it out on the floor. But I reserve the right to vote against it there."

Sen. Boyce A. Whitmire of Henderson and others indicated accord with Johnson's stand.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt said he considered the bill the most important roads safety legislation before the General Assembly.

The committee also approved a bill to reorganize the State Highway Commission, increasing membership from seven to 19, including a full time chairman.

Civil Defense Engineer Making Some Changes In Fallout Shelter Plans

Proposed plans for a family fallout shelter and Civil Defense headquarters are being redrawn with some alterations in original plans, Civil Defense Director J. H. Rose said today.

Rose met with Col. Davis Spivey, area defense director, a Civil Defense engineer, Commissioner Vance Perkins and representatives of the Greenville Jaycees this morning to go over revised plans.

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners requested that some alterations be made in original plans so that the north side of the proposed shelter, which includes a toilet, would be left open to the general public. In lieu of that space, some of the hall space will be utilized in the project.

The shelter and headquarters are to be built under the east steps of the Pitt County courthouse. It will be one of the first headquarters built in the eastern part of the state and will serve as an example to others who want to build a shelter.

Rose said plans are being redrawn with the approval of the Civil Defense engineer. He commented that probably these plans "will be satisfactory." Officials have commented that this is "about the best and most expensive thing" seen in Civil Defense headquarters, Rose said. He added that it is also one of the safest.

Charles Clark, operations survival chairman of the Greenville Jaycees, was present at the meeting this morning.

By DENNIS WARREN
EASTER P.S.
 Sis had a new hat. But now the ribbon's got a wrinkle in it. And there's a big smudge of backyard dirt on Junior's new fedora. The scrubbed-up, brightened-up look that makes Easter such a treat is just a memory.
 "No it isn't," you say. "I caught it on film with my camera." Great! But where's that film now? Still in the camera on the shelf? If it is, you're missing the best part of the fun. Sure, taking the pictures is fun in itself. But what really counts is seeing them. Handsome slides or prints that capture the way Easter really looked.
 Finishing those slides and prints is one of the most important parts of our business. We do it promptly, professionally. We can take one of the shots you made, for instance, and turn it into an enlargement that'll look swell in a frame on your mantel.
 So shoot the rest of that roll. And bring it in. While you're here, pick up another couple of rolls of Kodak film. Holidays are special, all right, but every other day of the year is full of picture-perfect moments in the life of your family, too. Junior in a new Easter suit is sure worth seeing again and again. But so is Junior with jam on his face.—(Adv.)

Mrs. Johnston Presents Program

"Walls and Finishes" was the demonstration given by Mrs. Mavis Johnston Tuesday afternoon at the community building when the Red Banks Club held their regular meeting.
 Mrs. Karl Hardee, president, gave the devotional. Her topic was "Control Your Emotions," bringing out certain points relative to the subject, namely: when emotionally upset, apply mental coolness; if we "fly off the handle," read the Bible to lessen a mean comeback; and curb your tongue.
 Mrs. R. H. Heath Jr. was a visitor and played for the singing. Eighteen members were present.
 Mrs. S. B. Tucker gave a safety report for the home and how to avoid water accidents.
 Mrs. R. B. Starling announced the "crafts" workshop to be held June 7-8. Mrs. Lossie Braxton gave a fashion report.
 It was voted that a covered dish supper be held at the Community Building for the recreational meeting on June 16th. The club voted to take part in the bazaar in November. It was also announced that they will take part in observing National Home Demonstration Week.
 The hostesses, Mrs. L. W. Cherry, Mrs. Lloyd Kittrell and Mrs. Vernon Hardee, served refreshments.

Must Know About The Programs

On May 2, citizens of Greenville will indicate by a straw vote whether or not the city's officials should give further consideration to the proposed urban renewal program. They will also indicate their feeling toward the establishment of public housing in Greenville if such is needed.

It is important, we think, that citizens of the city give these matters their continued and careful consideration between now and May 2. It is important that citizens of Greenville seek out information on the urban renewal and public housing programs in order that they may fully understand the programs and how they work.

The issues already have been shown to be controversial in this community. As is to be expected in such a situation, questions have been raised and to some of these questions conflicting answers have been provided. It will be up to the individual citizen in the next several weeks to weigh carefully the information presented on the issues and to come to a conclusion regarding his own opinion on the issues.

In the hope of providing the people of Greenville with a better background for understanding the programs that have been proposed, beginning tomorrow, will carry a series of editorials for the next several days on the urban renewal and public housing programs. This series of editorials will deal purely with the mechanics of the two programs. Literally volumes have been written of and about urban renewal and public housing during the period of years these programs have been in effect. This series of editorials on the mechanics of the two programs which will begin tomorrow in The Daily Reflector of necessity can only be a summation of the manner in which the programs operate and the regulations which govern various steps that are taken in carrying out the programs.

We do not expect that this series of editorials will provide answers to all of the questions that might be in the minds of local people about these two programs which have been proposed for Greenville. Even so, it is our hope that the information contained in this series of editorials on the mechanics of the two programs will provide answers for some of the questions, and that our readers will find them of interest and of value.

Red China Looms Big In The UN Future

The matter of admitting Communist China to the United Nations obviously holds more appeal in England than it does over here.

Why this is so, we find difficult to understand. Presumably there are pressures from without; pressures difficult to ignore.

Nevertheless, despite Prime Minister Macmillan's opinion that Great Britain would vote for such a proposal the next time it came up, there is reason to hope Peiping's conditions (ouster of Nationalist China) before entering the UN, would not met.

Pressures for admitting Communist China has been growing year by year . . . growing apace with admission of dozens of small, new and underdeveloped nations, it might be added.

Those proclaiming the world could keep a closer eye, and restraint, on Red China once it was within the UN, can hardly be taken seriously.

Conditions of membership have not been very binding on the other half of the Moscow-Peiping axis. Russia has largely gone its own way, and obligations ignored right and left. Add to that, Moscow's efforts to destroy effectiveness of the world body, and multiply that by two, and we have a rough idea of what Red China's membership in the UN would mean.

Other governments can not be reminded too often that Red China has fought against the United Nations and is an unrepentant and unreformed enemy of ideals we hold honorable.

As the day of reckoning draws near it becomes more and more pressing to effect changes in the machinery of the United Nations. Adult, responsible members are being forced into distasteful postures and actions by members who share little or none of the burdens and reap many of the benefits.

They will not willingly give up the heady wine of self importance that comes with sitting as equals to the great powers. And as their numbers grow, chances of corrective measures will grow correspondingly dimmer.

It All Adds Up To A Tough Nut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's administration this week released a brilliant, 36-page indictment of Fidel Castro's Cuban revolution. But what it adds up to is this: Castro's tough to handle.

This indictment, called a State Department White Paper, says Cuba is under Communist control, accuses Castro of betraying his revolutionary promises of freedom and social justice, and calls Cuba a menace.

Copies of the White Paper will be distributed widely in Latin America where Castro has support, particularly among the landless masses who applaud his taking land from the rich in Cuba.

But it doesn't offer any solutions for getting rid of Castro unless you want to read into it a veiled suggestion this country would help a new revolution against him.

Here are some examples of why he's tough to handle: 1. He has the active support of Russia and Red China. Last Aug. 9 Premier Khrushchev threatened to intervene with rockets if this country was responsible for an attack on Cuba.

2. Other Latin-American governments—some of them shaky—are hesitant about even criticizing Castro because of his popularity among left-wing groups and the masses in their own countries.

3. While there is no talk in this country of attacking Cuba—since it has become a Russian spearhead in the Western world—other steps short of armed force might be used but the consequences could be unpleasant: 1. For instance, the White paper says Russia has been pouring arms into Cuba. Suppose, because of this or for other reasons, this country tried to blockade Cuba.

Russia might retaliate at once by trying to blockade West Berlin to shut it off from the Western allies with whom it has all its ties.

2. While this country broke off diplomatic relations with Castro and put some restrictions on sugar dealings with him, it still has economic dealings with Cuba. Suppose this country now tried tough economic sanctions. The result might be increased ill-will toward the United States throughout Latin America at the very moment when President Kennedy is trying to improve relations.

3. As for American military action—that probably would set back this country's relations with the rest of Latin America by many years.

The time may come when the United States feels compelled to take far harsher action than any

It May Seem Small Now—

Another Korea Costly

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The great cost to the United States in the Korean debacle was not that we lost a war but that every nation had to reassess its relationship to the United States and an increasing number became neutral. Everybody likes a winner.

If we lose in Laos or, for that matter, if we suffer any further loss anywhere, our international situation will degenerate with finality. A nation cannot assert leadership and not lead; it cannot assume superiority without military superiority. And there is military superiority, it must be proved by military might which is war.

These are axioms and a nation that tries other methods only too soon discovers that some other country has taken its place.

Let us note the position of President de Gaulle of France. Laos was a part of French Indo-China. French Indo-China was a most important political and economic sector of France, the city of Saigon being for France what Hongkong was for Great Britain. The Annamites and other peoples of French Indo-China rebelled, supported by the Chinese Communist army. A great victory over France which resulted in France being eliminated from Southeast Asia.

Had France been supported by its allies, the United States and Great Britain, it might not have lost French Indo-China. The United States was tied down to a doctrine of anti-colonialism which has fragmented Asia and is now fragmenting Africa. French Indo-China was broken into North Vietnam, South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia and because of this, Thailand (which used to be called Siam) is in peril of falling to the might of Red China.

The population of Red China is variously estimated up to 600,000,000 persons. No census has ever been taken. When I lived there, we used to speak of the population of 450,000,000. Whether it has increased so much in 3 years, nobody can truthfully say because no one has counted the people.

However, whatever the figure may be it is too large for the food supply which is traditionally inadequate.

During the past two years, at least, Red China has suffered several famines, which is not too unusual, particularly for southern part of that country where the density of population is perhaps the greatest and worst in the world. Density of population is best solved by the population moving where food is more plentiful. This is a rice eating people and China has, for centuries, imported rice from French Indo-China and from Siam (Thailand). What is happening in Laos is that a Chinese population is pouring into that country. The report that Chinese are about to move into Laos is pitiful; they have already moved.

Let us note the case of Communist China which can well afford to lose 200,000,000 people and benefit thereby. It is cheaper to send people to war or as volunteers in revolutions, to live off some other country, than to attempt to feed them.

Red China sought to solve many of its economic problems by orthodox Marxism, by establishing communes, and failed. The communes did not produce an increase of food. As a matter of fact, famine pursued the communes. Red China is pouring population into all the countries of East Asia.

Indonesia has set up resistance to the increase of Red Chinese in that country, but Laos is not geographically or militarily situated suitably for resistance to Red China. In the South of China live four heavily populated provinces, Kwangtung, Kwangsi, Kweichow and Yunnan. Kwangtung, which is often referred to as Canton because of the name of the city, has produced most of the Chinese who live outside of China. In Kwangsi live many races of aborigines who have never engaged in any other business than war since the authority of Peking weakened over them during the Taipin Rebellion (1850-1865). Yunnan lies in mountainous country close to Burma, and French Indo-China and has been under the influence of the former French city of Saigon for more

Some Kind Of Small Loan Law

By LYNN NISBET

SMALL LOANS — Almost certainly this Legislature will enact some kind of improvement in the regulation of small personal loan and finance companies. What it will be, or when the act will be ratified are big questions. Rep. Herbert Hardy of Greene, chairman of the House banking committee which has the two bills, said it would be weeks before his committee can report an agreed upon bill.

The two pending proposals were introduced by Rep. Roland Braswell of Wayne and Rep. Irwin Belk of Mecklenburg. For common understanding the Braswell bill is referred to as the "loan company bill" and the Belk measure as the "banking commission bill." To some degree these popular designations are misnomers, but they will do for present purposes.

The House and Senate committees on banking met jointly last week to hear Braswell explain his bill, and again last week to hear Edwin Gill, State Treasurer and ex-officio chairman of the State Banking Commission, explain the Belk bill.

Both men noted many similarities and identical provisions in the two bills, but also pointed out numerous differences—some of them very significant. Both bills concede that many persons who need to borrow money in small amounts cannot deal with regular commercial banks. Both recognize necessity for other lending agencies, and recognize that costs of the loan must be higher because of its size and the agreed upon greater credit risk. Both bills claim for main purpose the protection of these small borrowers from abuse at the hands of the lenders. Each claims that his version offers best protection as related to service rendered.

DIFFERENCES — The Braswell bill puts a maximum limit of $600 on loans made by the finance companies, the Belk bill has a $900 limit. Braswell would stop interest and cost charges above 6 per cent at $300, while Belk would continue them to $500. Braswell would add - on charges of $25 for the first $100 borrowed, Belk would add - on $22. After that first item the charges for interest and service get jumbled up to where nobody except an accountant can keep track. It seems that the banking bill has somewhat higher original charges, but the extra costs and penalties mount much faster in the finance company bill.

The company bill permits more insurance, although it is specified that one lender shall receive no commission on property insurance. The commission bill does not permit separate loans to husband and wife under any conditions; the company bill permits separate loans if the husband and wife have separate incomes.

The husband and wife business and the insurance features represent major differences in administration of the two bills. Another important difference is that when the lender deliberately violates the law, he loses all interest, costs and the principal of the loan under the bank bill; while he loses only the interest and costs, not the principal, under the company bill.

Braswell insisted that a ceiling above $600 got out of the small loan class. Gill contended that the ceiling of $900 was more realistic, and said the lower limit was a device to force the borrower to make two loans—thus doubling the fees the lender could collect.

There is agreement among sponsors of both bills, members of the General Assembly and the public, that the small loan business is as much in need of revision as are inferior courts.

POTPOURRI — During his presentation of his small loan bill Rep. Braswell was asked if he would object to a more severe penalty for deliberate violation of the law. "I would not," he said. "My idea is if anybody sticks his nose out and violates the law—whack it off."

Treasurer Edwin Gill, presenting the bank commission bill, paused when he came to the section about husband and wife loans. "I confess I'm not competent to discuss that point," he said. Gill is a confirmed bachelor.

Noting some of the differences in the bills and the conditions of the small loan business, Gill said the loan companies lend their own money, or money they borrowed from banks and paid interest on, while the banks lend depositors money which they get for free. A banker in the audience quipped in a loud whisper: "Darned if that's so. We even have to pay the State interest on its deposits." The banker added in a softer whisper that experience records show active checking accounts, on which the bank does not pay interest, actually cost more than savings on time deposits on which interest is paid. This cost comes from bookkeeping, mailing monthly statements, furnishing free checkbooks, etc.

Here are some examples of why he's tough to handle: 1. He has the active support of Russia and Red China. Last Aug. 9 Premier Khrushchev threatened to intervene with rockets if this country was responsible for an attack on Cuba.

2. Other Latin-American governments—some of them shaky—are hesitant about even criticizing Castro because of his popularity among left-wing groups and the masses in their own countries.

3. While there is no talk in this country of attacking Cuba—since it has become a Russian spearhead in the Western world—other steps short of armed force might be used but the consequences could be unpleasant: 1. For instance, the White paper says Russia has been pouring arms into Cuba. Suppose, because of this or for other reasons, this country tried to blockade Cuba.

Suppose this country now tried tough economic sanctions. The result might be increased ill-will toward the United States throughout Latin America at the very moment when President Kennedy is trying to improve relations.

The Grass Grows Green

Report from the homefront: The old power mower still works. Some of its luster it retained in mid-1960 has gone; the yard doesn't re-wind with the zest of a year ago. But the mower mows.

The motor — never one to race or show unbounded energy —put-puts along as though resigned to a long and hard season of work to come.

There was one time when the mower's blades were inclined to beat grass into submission rather than cutting it off short. A neighbor, who apparently couldn't stand the gruesome sight any longer, remedied the condition. So the blades go through this tender spring grass like a hot knife through butter.

When you get right down to it, this business of cultivating a lawn has its contradictions. You spread fertilizer to make grass grow, and you also incidentally harvest a flourishing crop of weeds. But when the grass really goes get under way, you work at keeping it from growing.

Back in my youthful thirties I scoffed at mowers that went "put-putt," except when applied to estates, golf links, or similarly large grassy expanses. At that time my grass cutting was performed with a mower that went "clutter-clutter."

The accompanying "drip-drip-drip" was my own contribution to the sound effects of a hot summer's day. Sprinkling the lawn was often performed simultaneously with the trimming thereof. The moisture and sweat glands. Looking back, it was small wonder that grass was the target of envious glances.

Time, and a larger expanse of potential grass-growing yard, have modified those earlier ideals. A power mower which can be followed at a leisurely pace is now not only more practical but necessary. Ah, those youthful thirties!

Driving to and from the office I pass a new, small, modest house. Over the weeks I've developed a sort of sentimental attachment for that house, having watched it grow from the first stakes that marked out where foundations would go.

From the start I liked its setting; and as it took shape, a personality developed with it. "Snug" is the best word to describe the house. And a simplicity of exterior adds to the pleasant facade fronting the street.

Not long ago a family moved in. As a matter of fact, I could see was only that of a passerby; but the impression gained was that of a house that had the right family to make it a home.

Afternoons, when the weather was fair, one would see the whole family — father and mother and young people—working together on the yard.

This kind of "togetherness" I can appreciate. It suits the image of the kind of family I've sort of hoped would be living in that house.

Other Editors Saying The First Reform

(Wall St. Journal) Appropriately for April, talk of tax reform is once again in the Washington air. Unfortunately a lot of it sounds like tinkering rather than real reform.

The Administration's aim is to overhaul the tax structure without losing any revenue in the process, admittedly a neat trick. Among other things, the tax specialists are thinking about some rate reductions on both very low and very high incomes an "incentive" on depreciation, and closing so-called tax loopholes.

Stated that way, the approach seems sensible enough. It is only on closer inspection that the gimmicks start appearing.

For example, one of the "loopholes" that would be closed is the 4 per cent tax credit on dividend income. Yet this provision was enacted as a partial amelioration of an inequity—the fact that dividends are taxed both as corporate profits and as income to shareholders.

Tightening up in this case merely makes the inequity worse. Or consider the attitude on depreciation. Everyone recognizes that the present rules are not liberal enough to act as a spur to business investment. Instead of a thorough-going liberalization of the rules for all concerned, however, the Administration is toying with a tax reduction for companies which increase their spending on new machinery and buildings. In other words, no reform but just a device.

As for lowering some of the excessively high rates, that is all very well as far as it goes. But as some people have been pointing out, any such relief could be temporary indeed; the rates could go back up fast when Congress starts adding up the bills of the Kennedy Administration's programs.

And that comes close to the central difficulty. What the country needs is not only tax reform but general tax reduction. In this country to get reform without loss of revenue, the Administration is ignoring the meaning of its own spending plans. For if those plans are pushed through, it is as clear as can be that the Government is going to need more revenue, not just the same amount, which is to say higher taxes. Or what other meaning is to be read into the red ink planned for this fiscal year and next fiscal year?

Equally plainly, the expansion is only beginning. Here is the Federal Government seeking to assume enormous new responsibilities for the people's education, health, housing, communities, with no relinquishing of its traditional handouts to farmers and other groups. If anything is certain it is that the costs of these programs will rise over the years, and that new programs will be added. That is how the Federal leviathan grows.

For this reason talk of tax reform and tax reduction is bound to seem a trifle academic at present. The philosophy of the misnamed welfare state is in the ascendant and has been given a big boost in the past couple of months. According to that philosophy the state takes the people's substance in order to provide them welfare. Yet it is beyond reasonable argument that the people could provide their own welfare far better if lower taxes left them more of their own income.

Some time the people are going to have to face the cost of this Federal expansion. They are going to have to decide whether it is the Federal Government which should be expanded or the area of individual freedom.

That is the basic decision, and the crucial question for the Sixties. Only if the people choose freedom can they hope for a reasonable tax structure and reasonable tax rates. The first reform must be in the size and scope of Government.

Postal Rate Hike Has Enemies

By ELMER ROESSNER Vigorous opposition will meet the increases in postal rates about to be asked by the Kennedy Administration.

The increases, if authorized by Congress, will be the largest in history. The fight against them will be the toughest.

The proposed rates would set a minimum on first-class letters, 8 cents on air mail, and would increase rates on direct mail advertising and publications from 50 to 75 per cent.

Large users of mail are now marshaling facts and arguments against rate increases. They will probably have a strong ally in Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D., S.C.), chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

ENORMOUS DEFICIT LOOMS The Post Office faces a deficit of $900,000,000 in the next fiscal year. In his budget message to Congress on Jan. 16, President Eisenhower recommended a postal rate increase of $843,000,000 effective on April 1. Congress, effective, naturally, deferred action until the new Administration was in.

The new Postmaster General, J. Edward Day, has proposed rate increases to bring in $31,000,000, $12,000,000 less than the Eisenhower proposal, but still a bigger tilt than any previous one.

Four days after he took office, Mr. Day was put on notice that Senator Johnston would oppose an increase of that size. In a letter to the Postmaster General, Mr. Johnston declared that the deficit would be nearer $300,000,000 than $900,000,000.

The Senator argued that the Post Office is used to provide certain public services and to subsidize various enterprises, and that some capital investments are erroneously charged to operating costs. These account for $80,000,000 of the annual deficit, he said.

BENEFICIARIES Among the subsidies Mr. Johnston noted were: $60,000,000 lost through low rates given to non-profit fraternal and religious organizations.

$100,000,000 lost by the refusal of the Interstate Commerce Commission to enforce the Railway Mail Pay Act of 1916, which prohibits paying railroads more for carrying Second, Third and Fourth-class mail than railroads charge for express.

$100,000,000 lost by the 1951 law limiting parcel post weight and sizes, enacted to force more business to the Railway Express Agency. Mr. Johnston pointed out that despite this law, R.E.A. shipments declined from 92,000,000 in 1951 to 64,000,000 a year now.

Among the public services given by the Post Office, the Senator cited the operation of Third and Fourth Class post offices and of star delivery routes at losses.

The Senator also called for more economies. "Immediate economies may well be achieved in the postal service amounting to at least 5 per cent of the annual $4 billion operation," he said.

He suggested the use of stamps that would cancel themselves on use, abolishing cancellation and postmark operations, except when a mailer paid an extra fee to have a postmark imprinted. He also suggested more automatic and faster machines; credits to Second and Third Class mailers to encourage presorting, etc., and better utilization of transportation facilities by the Post Office.

MORE ODD THAN SIGNIFICANT BITS OF BUSINESS NEWS It's possible for the South to win in playing the American Heritage's Civil War game. New French bank notes are impregnated with a germ killer. French gagsters are probably making jokes right now about "even a germ can't live on my salary." . . . So the neighbors will know a Pennsylvania dealer installs three-foot antenna with each color television set he sells. . . . The world's largest fence, 3,500 miles long, is complete except for 100 miles. It is in Queensland, Australia, to protect sheep from dingoes, wild dogs.

The Source of True Wisdom ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Job 28:12-28; Proverbs 1:1-7; Ecclesiastes 12:13-14; St. James 1:1-8.

The proverbs of Solomon, King of Israel, were "To know wisdom and instruction; to perceive the words of understanding; to receive the instruction of wisdom, justice, and judgment, and equity."—Proverbs 1:1-3.

"To give subtilty to the simple, to the young man knowledge and discretion. A wise man will hear, and will increase learning; and a man of understanding shall attain wise counsels."—Proverbs 1:5.

"Whence then cometh wisdom? God understandeth the way thereof, and He knoweth the place thereof. . . Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to repent from evil is understanding."—Job 28:20-28.

"If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering."—James 1:5. GOLDEN TEXT—James 1:5.

The Source of True Wisdom

THE LIFE THAT SATISFIES IS A LIFE LIVED ACCORDING TO THE LAWS OF GOD.

Scripture—Job 28:12-28; Proverbs 1:1-7; Ecclesiastes 12:13-14; James 1:1-8.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. "To know wisdom and instruction; to perceive the words of understanding; to receive the instruction of wisdom, justice, and judgment, and equity; to give subtilty to the simple; to the young man knowledge and discretion. A wise man will hear, and will increase learning; and a man of understanding

Now we turn to the New Testament, to the epistle of James. He was "a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the 12 tribes, which were scattered abroad, greeting." "My brethren," he said, "count it all joy when ye fall in-ward; and will increase learning; and a man of understanding shall attain unto wise counsels."—Proverbs 1:2-5. "Whence then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of understanding? God understandeth the way thereof, and He knoweth the place thereof. For He looketh to the ends of the earth, and seeth under the whole heaven; To make like a wave of the sea driven with the wind; and He weigheth the waters by measure."—Job 28:20-25.

GOLDEN TEXT "If any of you lack wisdom, Let him ask of God, That giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him."—James 1:5.

faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing."—James 1:1-4. "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, That giveth to all men liberally. . . But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed."—James 1:5-6.

The congregation will hold the first services in their newly remodeled Sanctuary on April 23. Two weeks later on May 7 there will be a special Service of Consecration when the furnishings will be formally consecrated to the service of God. Every member and friend of Bethany is urged to mark this date on their calendar and plan to attend this service.

It is out of these four provinces that a Communist Chinese population heavily armed is pouring into Laos. Every day that is lost in stopping them from marching southward gives them more territory. Perhaps when the time comes for a 14 Nation Conference, Laos will be populated by Chinese Reds and the world will encounter another Soviet fait accompli.

This has always been Soviet tactics—talk soft and fight continuously. While all this is going on, the Warsaw Conference has sought to divert attention to Germany. This too is a Soviet tactic: hit two spots at one time and let the West take its choice as to when it will accept defeat.

McCann Flying Home To Die

MANILA (AP)—Robert McCann was flown to Clark Air Base today on his journey back to the United States to die after spending 10 years in a Red Chinese prison.

The former businessman from Pasadena, Calif., ravaged by cancer, was rushed to the U.S. Air Force Hospital at the base north of Manila on arriving from Hong Kong. Arrangements for his flight to the United States were not complete.

McCann's wife, who traveled 9,000 miles to Tientsin to plead with the Chinese Communists for her husband's release, said the doctors in Hong Kong had given her husband "only a few days to live."

"The end can come any day," she said. "There is no hope."

McCann, 60, seemed in great pain as he was carried on a stretcher from the Air Force transport that brought him from Hong Kong. The cancer that started in his lungs has riddled his entire body and reached his brain.

Mrs. McCann said that since she first saw her husband last Thursday, she had not discussed with him the vague charges of espionage on which the Communists sentenced him in 1951 to 15 years in prison.

"The matter is now of minor importance," she said.

Hot piston test reveals the ash-free secret of Shell X-100 Premium. A simulated piston is heated and a few drops of conventional multi-grade motor oil dropped on it. As the picture on left shows, this oil leaves a deposit of additive ash. When the test is repeated, as at right, with Shell X-100 Premium, all the oil vaporizes. It leaves no additive ash.

BREAKTHROUGH:

Suddenly Shell makes every other motor oil obsolete —with a revolutionary new formula which fights the five internal troubles that can shorten engine life

Shell's research reveals five common internal troubles that can shorten the life of your car. All five work silently and unseen.

These troubles are additive ash, crankcase dirt, temperature changes, engine acid and cooling system leaks.

Read how new Shell X-100, Premium fights all five internal troubles.

TODAY, every Shell dealer in America has new Shell X-100 Premium Motor Oil ready for your Spring oil change.

New Shell X-100 Premium is a genuine breakthrough because it is the only motor oil available that protects your car simultaneously against these five internal troubles that can shorten engine life.

Trouble #1—additive ash
Up to now, even the best premium motor oils were powerless to guard against additive ash—because they actually created it. While endeavoring to keep your crankcase shipshape, some of the ingredients in these oils contributed to the hard crust of ash inside your combustion chamber.

All other premium motor oils still have the same snag.

The trouble stems from the metallic additives used to prevent scuffing, dirt deposits, oxidation and so forth. These additives do what's expected of them, but with each stroke of the piston, they can leave a tiny amount of metallic salts in the combustion chamber where they burn and form additive ash.

This crusty ash, when allowed to build up, can affect your car's performance—can make it knock and run roughly.

New Shell X-100 Premium doesn't add to this problem—because it doesn't contain a single metallic additive.

Trouble #2—crankcase dirt
All engines accumulate crankcase dirt no matter how well they are protected by filters. The problem is to stop this dirt from getting together and forming sticky sludge which can clog your engine.

Most premium oils use a detergent additive to do the job. And they perform well. But, like other additives, most detergents are metallic and cause that old devil—ash.

Shell's solution is to replace detergent with a remarkable new ingredient known as a dispersant, called Alkaldine.

The Alkaldine in new Shell X-100 Premium helps keep your engine clean by holding dirt particles apart. Thus they don't form sticky sludge. Some particles can be trapped by the oil filter; most are drained out when you change your oil.

New Shell X-100 Premium.

the oil resists thinning. Thus, new Shell X-100 Premium eliminates trouble from sudden temperature changes. It lubricates just as efficiently in June as it does in January.

Trouble #4—engine acid
All automobile engines manufacture acid. This acid can do far more damage than friction. It can eat away at engine parts in much the way stomach acid can cause ulcers. Then you're really in trouble.

One way to combat engine acid is to make the oil alkaline. Many oils use this method. But here's what happens.

The neutralizing effect of alkaline oil inevitably gets weaker and weaker as engine acid eats up the alkalinity—till it eventually stops working completely. Then your oil no longer gives you anti-acid protection.

Shell tackles this troublesome acid problem in a new way. Shell X-100 Premium actually plates all engine surfaces with a thin chemical film. The metal literally adsorbs some of Shell X-100 Premium's protective qualities. Chemists call this phenomenon "chemisorption."

"Chemisorption" offers a longer-lasting protection against acid attack than any other method yet invented.

Trouble #5—cooling system leaks
Tiny leaks of permanent antifreeze can play nasty tricks with many motor oils.

These oils can react chemically with permanent anti-freeze and form a horrible sludge which can actually bring an otherwise healthy engine to a standstill.

Then you're on the way to a major repair bill.

New Shell X-100 Premium sets all such fears at rest. It resists reaction with any sort of anti-freeze. It shrugs it off.

The additives in Shell X-100 Premium resist washing out with water, too. In some oils, additives can be lost to water leaks. In Shell X-100 Premium, they stay.

How much does Shell X-100 Premium cost?

If you drive the national average of 10,000 miles per year, the switch to Shell X-100 Premium (with regular oil changes) will cost you only $3.60 more than ordinary oil—give or take a nickel. And probably nothing extra if you already use a premium grade.

Drive to your Shell service station and ask the dealer to change your oil while the engine is still hot. Be sure to ask for Shell X-100 Premium in the white can. It protects your engine from all five internal troubles listed above.

Gaylord, who finished the day with two hits in four trips to the plate, led off the fourth with a single. Crayton attempted a sacrifice bunt, but a catching error on Nate Cloud, Delaware first sacker, put runners on first and second. Glenn Bass beat out a perfect bunt down the third base line to load the bases with no outs. A single by Wally Cock-reel scored Gaylord and Crayton, then Bass scored on a fielders choice and the Bucs had a 10-0 lead. Sundra was replaced by Jay Lutz in the fifth, but he too found it just was not the day to tangle with the hot Pirate hitters. It was a long inning for Lutz, who watched seven more rebels cross the plate before he could put out the fire. A walk, a single and an error loaded the bases for the Bucs. Catcher Charlie Johnson tagged up on a long fly ball to center by All-Conference and All-District basketball Cotton Clayton. Back to back singles by Bass and Harry Boltmott produced two more tallies. Then Lutz issued a free pass to load the bases once again. First sacker Jimmy Martin stepped up and towered a 330 foot grand slammer over the right field fence to give the Bucs a 17-0 "edge."

Arnold Palmer Crowded By Three Entering Today's Round At Augusta

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Defending champion Arnold Palmer, who had things mostly his own way after last year's opening round, today was crowded by two dangerous fellow pros and a brawny amateur plunging into the second round of the 25th Masters Golf tournament.

Palmer was tied for first at 4-under-par 68 with Bob Rosburg, whose record 100-foot putt keyed a torrid finish over rain-soaked Augusta National Thursday.

Just a stroke behind Palmer and Rosburg, whose rallying round also included a holed 120-foot pitch shot, was the year's top money-winner, South African Gary Player, at 69.

Two strokes arrears was the muscular amateur, Jack Nicklaus, who bagged a 70 playing with Palmer. Nicklaus, a runner-up to Palmer in the 1960 U.S. Open, matched the Master champ's closing nine 34, two under par.

Last year, when Palmer led every round to capture his second Masters title, he shot an opening 67—two strokes better than the field.

Four others broke Augusta National's par 72 in Thursday's persistent drizzle which failed to dampen the enthusiasm of more than 10,000 spectators.

They included two-time champion Byron Nelson, 49, the 1957 PGA champ Jay Hebert, Gene Littler, Tommy Bolt, Stan Leonard, and Billy Casper.

Among no fewer than 23 locked at 74 were three-time champion Sammy Snead and two-time winner Ben Hogan.

tabbed to face cloudy, cool and possibly rainy weather—the original 38-player starting field will be trimmed to the low 40 score and ties, or 41 if there are no ties for 40th place.

Clearly, Palmer again is the man to beat. He dispelled his pre-tourney worry over putting Thursday, using 28 putts and having nine one-putt greens.

"The only shot I'm unhappy with now," said Palmer, "is the No. 3 wood, although my middle irons left a little to be desired."

Rosburg was gleeful especially over his 120-foot pitch for a birdie 3 on the 450-yard fifth after he had bogied the par 3 fourth.

Like Palmer, Rosburg also used 28 putts. He had 6 one-putters. Player, who has collected $25,217 on the PGA circuit this year, scored his 10th consecutive sub-70 round in competitive play.

Nicklaus, the 1959 U.S. Amateur champion from Ohio State, conceded that Palmer outhit him. "But I wasn't worried," said Nicklaus. "I knew if I could keep close to him, I'd be among the leaders."

Wilson Golfers Tie Greenville

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers and the Baltimore Orioles, a pair of clubs loaded with young talent, are the choices here to meet in the 1961 World Series next October.

Walter Alton's Dodgers, who finished fourth last year, should repeat their 1959 National League triumph because they possess the prime pennant ingredients—strong pitching, stout defense and superb speed. They lack power but they are blessed with sufficient strength to two-platoon without suffering any noticeable dip in quality.

Paul Richards' Orioles also have the speed, defense and pitching—especially pitching. Always a prime factor, pitching takes on added importance in the American League this season because of the additional two teams which have caused an expansion of the schedule from 154 to 162 games.

Baltimore's front liners, aside from pitching, doesn't stack up with New York's starting array but the Orioles have, for the first time, a stronger bench and vastly superior second line pitching than the Yankees. The Orioles are hungry and the experience last year when they battled the Yankees right down to the wire, should be of immense help.

The Dodgers don't own a one-two punch to compare with Milwaukee's combination of Henry Aaron and Eddie Mathews, or San Francisco's Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda, or St. Louis' Stan Musial and Ken Boyer, or even Pittsburgh's Bob Skinner and Roberto Clemente. Their advantage over the others lies in their almost equal distribution of talent.

While the other contenders don't have a suitable replacement if one of their big guns falter or be sidelined by an injury, the Dodgers can replace a Gil Hodges with a Frank Howard, a Duke Snider with a Norm Larker, a Willie Davis with a Don Demeter, a Tommy Davis with a Jim Gilliam or a Maury Wills with a Charley Smith, without noticeably affecting their strength.

The defending champion Pirates and Yankees should finish second, with the Cardinals and Chicago White Sox third and Milwaukee and Cleveland fourth.

This appears to be the shape of things to come in each league: National League—1. Los Angeles, 2. Pittsburgh, 3. St. Louis, 4. Milwaukee, 5. San Francisco, 6. Cincinnati, 7. Philadelphia, 8. Chicago.

American League—1. Baltimore, 2. New York, 3. Chicago, 4. Cleveland, 5. Minnesota, 6. Detroit, 7. Boston, 8. Kansas City, 9. Los Angeles, 10. Washington.

Baltimore's pitching, best in the American League last year, may be even stronger because of the experience gained by youngsters Chuck Estrada, Milt Pappas, Jack Fisher and Steve Barber. Also, Jerry Walker, a disappointment last year, looks like he's ready to pick up where he left off in 1959, when he was named to the All-Star team. The staff is complemented by veterans Roy Wilhelm, Hal Brown and Billy Hoft and a promising rookie named John Papa.

The Yankees haven't changed except for the loss of second string pitchers Eli Grba and Bob by Shaniz and utility players Dale Long and Bob Cerv. They boast such power hitters as Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Bill Skowron, Yogi Berra and Elston Howard, plus the versatile Tony Kubek and Cleo Boyer as well as Bobby Richardson and Hector Lopez. The pitching, however, is thin with Whitey Ford the only dependable starter. Bob Turley, Ralph Terry, Art Ditmar, Bill Stafford and Jim Coates are the other starters.

Dodger pitching is the most respected in the National League. It is evenly balanced with Don Drysdale, Stan Williams and Roger Craig firing from the right side and Johnny Podres, Andy Koufax and rookie Ron Ferranowski from the left side. Larry Sherry can work both ways, start and believe with Ed Roebuck in the bullpen.

Pittsburgh has the same team that defeated the Yankees in the World Series. The Pirates have good balance, sound pitching and an admirable defense. Shantz, the only newcomer, should help in the bullpen.

The Cardinals figure to be tough again. Larry Jackson's injury—a fractured jaw—may set them back a little but they have a solid pitching staff headed by Ernie Broglio, Bob Miller, Ray Sadecki, Curt Simmons and Al Cicotte. They have adequate power in Musial, Boyer, Bill White and Daryl Spencer. Their crying need is an established center fielder.

Detroiters Rule Bowling Roost

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's Siroh Beers are ruling the roost in the American Bowling Congress Tournament on the best display of team rolling in the 34-day-old show.

Strohs surged to the front of the professional classic division Thursday night on a 2,972 score to go with their prior 3,006 for a 5,978 six-game total.

The Detroiters, led by Bob Strampe's six-gamer of 1,320, displaced Chicago's Hammis as leaders. The Hammis had led the classic since March 29 on 5,910.

"Would you like to look?" asked the photographer, holding up his black cloth above the opened accordion pleats of his box. Matthew bent over and looked, twisting his head to reconcile the image upside down with how it must be seen right side up.

General Quait failed himself in his effort to change the subject. After a pause, looking inward, he said in a remote voice, "wonder whether Matthew ever had a chance to educate himself for a day of sorrow. I hope so. I do hope so."

Jessica knew better than anyone what Matthew's decision had cost him—it had cost him the Army. She saw ahead for him what she had seen in other soldiers, old and young, who had for whatever reason left the service. They were clothed in the past, brave and yet lost in the present.

Williamston Green Masquers To Give Play At Methodist Center

In co-operation with the Wesley Players, the Green Masquers, a high school dramatics group from Williamston, will present a one-act play at the Methodist Student Center on Monday evening, April 10, at 6:15.

The play, "The Followers," is a typical English drawing room type drama written by Harold Brighouse. The time of the incident is the Victorian era, and the story was adapted for stage from the popular "ladies novel," Cranford.

The play affords the actor excellent characterization and allowing grand possibilities in the costuming and stylization. The stylized portrayal of the characters offers a keen insight into the Victorian tone and sweetness of life a hundred years ago. Too, it has some moments of beautiful humor.

The student actors are Florence Modlin, Laura Crawford, Kenneth Manning, and Sharon Williams. The production is student directed by Kenneth Ambrose and E. T. Taylor; costumes by Pat Griffin; make-up by Ann Oakley; stage manager and properties, Linda Manning. The entire production was staged and directed by A.E. Manning, a graduate of East Carolina College and a former member of the East Carolina Playhouse.

There will be no charge for admission, and the public is invited.

Security Officer Heard By Pitt Safety Council

One well-placed spy on a higher echelon where he can steal information and transmit it back home may be worth many thousands of men in the field, James L. Gilliland of the U.S. Intelligence Service told the Pitt County Safety Council yesterday.

Gilliland, a security officer for the Department of Defense told the group what he was to say might not be exactly in line with the interest of National safety.

In talking on Soviet espionage, Gilliland noted that spies in the United States many times have a much easier job because much information is available at no risk to them, due to the very freedom enjoyed by citizens in the U.S.

He explained that oil company road maps, newspapers, scientific journals and public libraries are a source of much background information for Soviet agents.

In explaining the varied types of espionage, the officer pointed out that the method which was probably used most was the pressure method or blackmail. He

Three Vehicles Suffer Damage

A pair of traffic accidents on Pitt County highways yesterday caused estimated damage of $1,400 to three vehicles.

State Highway Patrolman Howard Winslow charged two drivers with traffic violations.

A two-car crash at the intersection of US 13 and NC 43 at 2:15 p.m. resulted in $600 damage to each of the vehicles involved.

Winslow charged John Edgar Arnold of Greenville with failure to see if his intended movement could be made safely after he had attempted a left turn onto W. 5th St. in the path of a vehicle operated by Clifton Williams of Route 1, Fountain.

Sir Walter Carson, 77, of Route 1, Stokes, was charged by Winslow with driving on the wrong side of the road and failure to see if his intended move could be made safely after Carson's vehicle turned from a driveway onto NC 903 four miles south of Stokes and struck a tire of a truck operated by Walter Haddock, 29, of Route 5, Greenville.

Damage to the Carson vehicle was set at about $200 while the truck was not damaged.

No injuries were reported.

Garment Firm Set To Enter New Plant

FARMVILLE—The North State Garment Co. was set to begin today the operation of moving into its new 10,000-square-foot home on S. Main St. near Marlboro.

Plant manager Thomas Anderson said today he hopes to "have everything ready to go in the new building by 7:30 Monday morning."

The weekend transition will involve the moving and installing of 65 sewing machines in the new plant. Around 65 employees, Anderson said, should be able to continue the plant's operation Monday.

Space-wise, Anderson said, "this will help a lot," he said he is "very pleased" with the new industrial plant constructed by Cherry Construction Co. of Grifton.

W. A. (Alec) Allen of Farmville financed construction of the masonry-and-steel building and will lease it to the garment firm. T. W. (Tommy) Willis, director of the Farmville Economic Council "did a lot of work on it," Anderson said.
