Khrushchev Asks U.S. Act To Halt Cuban Invasion, Promises To Give Castro 'All Necessary Assistance'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Soviet Premier Khrushchev appealed to President Kennedy today to halt the invasion of Cuba by forces seeking to overthrow Khrushchev's old friend Fidel Castro.

More than 24 hours after the landings in Cuba, the rebels were reported moving inland in an area 90 miles east of Havana. Prime Minister Castro took personal charge of the attempt to hurl back the invaders, and a Cuban broadcast said counter-revolutionaries had marked him for assassination.

announced the arrest of 27 persons, including Maj. Humberto Sorli Marin, Castro's former minister of agriculture. A spokesman for the attacking forces claimed wholesale desertions by forces nominally loyal to Castro, including many of the militiamen Castro had forcefully recruited from all ranks of Cuban life. Those are now the people who may spell success or failure for the attempt to topple Castro. Rebel leaders in the United States asserted the invaders who landed in southwest Las Villas Province Monday had struck halfway across the narrow island to Colon. The Communists charged the invasion was financed by the United States and supported by U.S. warships and planes from Florida and Central America. The United States has denied supplying the invaders but has expressed sympathy for the forces fighting to overthrow Castro.

Khrushchev said in a message to Kennedy that the Soviet Union wants to decrease world tension "but if others aggravate it, we shall reply in full measure." A statement by the Soviet government went a step farther and warned that the Cuban fighting is "Capable of jeopardizing the peaceful life of the U.S.A. itself."

Khrushchev did not mention the rockets he once symbolically promised to bring to Castro's aid. The Cuban radio immediately hailed the Khrushchev message, declaring in a nationwide broadcast: "The Soviet Union will not abandon the Cuban people in its misfortune and will lend it all necessary support."

In Moscow, a mass demonstration was staged in front of the U.S. Embassy by several thousand persons, some of them students at Moscow's Friendship University. They smashed the embassy's windows, splattered the yellow stucco building with green and purple ink and shouted pro-Castro slogans.

Long Lines Appear For First Day's Registration

Overwhelming Response Today In Certification For Surplus Foods

Introduces Bill On Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., today introduced an administration bill to create a Department of Urban Affairs and Housing—a step President Kennedy was expected to propose in a message.

"Overwhelming" was the response to the first day of certification for surplus foods in Pitt County, according to County Welfare Director J. S. Grimes. Grimes said this morning, "We had registered 62 persons by 9 o'clock." By 10 a.m., he said, more than 200 food-seeking household heads had visited the office.

handling as many as it is equipped to handle and distributing preliminary cards to others to bring back with them later. All public assistance cases—those already on the welfare rolls—are automatically included in the program under top level stipulations. However, the public assistance family heads also are required to visit the office and register in order to qualify for the staple foods. They do not have to be interviewed as do non-welfare applicants.

Welfare department personnel were meeting many of the family heads just outside the County Office Building on Johnston St. here and distributing the application papers to lighten the crowd inside the department. "We were completely swamped," Grimes said.

Kings And Queens Of Health Crowned In Annual 4-H Event

Nile Dail and Diane Whitehurst were crowned Senior Health King and Queen at the annual 4-H Health Coronation and Dress Revue last night. Crowned junior king was Roy Peaden Jr. of Belvoir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peaden. Junior queen is Marilyn Hardison of Stokes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Hardison.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Farmer. Junior Dress Revue winner was Gayle Little of the Red Oak club. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Little. Kathy Little of the Red Oak club was winner of the Apron Division. Second place winner in the Senior Dress Revue was Margaret Ann Lee of the Stokes club. Second place winner in the Junior Dress Revue was Linda Allen of Fountain. Third place junior winner was Carolyn Savage of the Winterville-Greenville club.

throughout the county. Judged for the dress revue were Patsy Lane and Bernice Baker. County Farm Agent S. C. Winchester presented the royal awards. The coronation was done by Dr. Fred Irons. Assistant Home Agent Lilly Harper and Assistant Farm Agent Ronnie Tharrington were in charge of last night's program. Welcome last night was given by Diane Whitehurst, pledge was led by Jimmy Dilda, narrator was Linda Evans and pianist Mrs. Irene Tyson. Jackie Moyer was in charge of entertainment. Ushers were Fred Worthington, Karl Wayne Hardee, Tommy Langston, Wayne Savage and Ricky Smith.

Battle Shaping Up On 2 Plans Of Redistricting

RALEIGH (AP)—A major legislative battle appears shaping over the differences in two congressional redistricting proposals, both of which would place Reps. Harold Cooley and L. H. Fountain in the same district.

the ninth. Under Kemp's bill, the ninth would include Mecklenburg, Lincoln, Catawba, Alexander, Wilkes and Alleghany. Morgan's proposal would have Burke, Catawba, Lincoln and Mecklenburg in the ninth. Kemp issued a statement in which he said "We did not seek to separate congressman Charles R. Jonas from the areas where he compiled much of his majorities."

Both bills would leave the Sixth District unchanged. The Third and Fifth districts would remain untouched under Kemp's proposal. He would leave the makeup of the Seventh District unchanged but would renumber it the fourth. Rep. Herbert Bonner's First District would gain Northampton and Bertie from the Second District under Kemp's bill. Kemp proposed that the Eighth District be called the seventh and be composed of Wake, Chatham and Randolph, which are now in Cooley's fourth, and Montgomery, Moore, Lee, Richmond, Hoke, recent elections, also would be in Scotland and Anson.

Skies Dust-Filled Here Yesterday

Dust from Pitt County's plowed fields covered this area like a huge cloud yesterday. The dust was heavy enough in places to make driving hazardous, though the Highway Patrol reported there were no accidents from the dust storm. Some motorists used headlights throughout the afternoon, when the dust was heaviest.

Greenville Utilities Plant said. Yesterday high winds here reached 25 miles per hour. Temperatures today ranged from a low of 47 at 4 a.m. to 52 at 8 a.m. Monday's high and low temperatures were 68 and 44 degrees. The Tar River level today was 9.5 feet and rising. The North Carolina weatherman forecast some cloudiness and cool but not as windy for today, with generally fair and rather cold again tonight, with the risk of scattered frost inland sections.

Church Women Have Meeting

The Women of the First Presbyterian Church held their annual birthday meeting Monday night in Fellowship Hall.

Miss Sallie Day opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. J. Bryan Brown, president, presided over the business meeting. Committee chairmen reported May Fellowship will be held May 5 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The president announced that the May meeting of the Women of the Church will be omitted as the church will have a covered dish supper on May 14.

Mrs. J. E. LeConte led the devotional after which the program was turned over to Mrs. W. E. Rosevere who presented a program on the birthday objective. The Congo Mission will receive one half of the offering for production and promotion of Christian literature and the other half will be presented to the Bible School in Taiwan.

A social hour followed in the church parlor after the meeting adjourned.

Club Hears Dr. Dowell

Mrs. Marshall Starkey entertained members of the Ladies Book Club and a guest, Dr. Pattie Dowell, at her home on East Third St. The home was decorated throughout with arrangements of early spring flowers.

After a short business meeting, over which the president, Mrs. Carl Pierce, presided, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Starkey.

For her subject, Mrs. Starkey played the record "Inside Shelly Berman." Berman, who has appeared on Ed Sullivan's show, was of special interest since he had played in Raleigh recently.

The speaker for the evening was introduced by the hostess, Dr. Pattie Dowell was the first student to receive a diploma from East Carolina College. She has also taught in the Greenville City Schools. Dr. Dowell described her trip to the South American countries, the people and their customs, their transportation or lack of it, their natural resources, their religions, their economic and political problems in a most interesting manner. She showed several color slides which together with her talk made the members feel as if they, too, had made the trip.

After a sweet course, books were exchanged and the meeting adjourned.

"Antigone" To Be Presented By East Carolina Playhouse

Everyone who missed the performances of Lois Garren and H. D. Rowe in the last Playhouse production, Separate Tables will have an equal chance when they perform in the next presentation, Antigone. The well-known Greek Tragedy will be presented May 9, 10, and 11.

Making his first appearance on the East Carolina stage, Greek drama interested many EC students and a large number turned up for tryouts last Thursday. Director Claude Garren has selected his cast and rehearsals are already underway.

Jean Anouilh's translation of Sophocles Antigone is the last in a series of three plays dealing with the Theban saga, the story of Oedipus; his marriage to his own mother, Jocasta; and of the tragic deaths of his two sons, Eteocles and Polynices; and of his daughter, Antigone.

The story of Antigone centers around the conflicting opinions of Antigone played by Lois Garren of Greenville and Creon, king of Thebes, played by Dr. H. D. Rowe of the EC English department.

Ismene, Antigone's sister, will be portrayed by Mrs. Sue Stokes Taylor of Greenville, who also took part in the recent Separate Tables. Sanford Peete of Wilson, last seen in The Lady's Not For Burning, has been cast as Haemon, Creon's son and Antigone's intended husband. The role of the nurse will be portrayed by Charlotte Donat, who is presently working in the children's play, Simple Simon.

The chorus is made up of Tom Hull of Durham, a veteran actor of the EC stage and director of Simple Simon, and Dr. Ralph Rives, associate director of the Playhouse and director of Separate Tables.

Ray Tooley of Edenton, John Quinn of Greenville, and Alton Holloman of Wilson are portraying the three guards. Cast in the remaining roles are Bob Christensen of Washington, D. C. as the messenger, and Shirley Morris of Hamlet as Eurydice.

Anouilh's adaptation of the tragedy is a modern treatment of the Greek myth. The Playhouse is planning to combine the Greek authenticity of scenery and costumes with the contemporary language of Anouilh.

Mr. Garren is making his first appearance as a director for a Playhouse production.

A good drink for thirsty children after school is a couple of scoops of ice cream put in fruit juice and mixed to a creamy consistency.

Bride-Elect Is Feted Saturday

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. William Taft Jr. and Mrs. Guy Smith Jr. entertained Miss Susan Kohler, bride-elect. Upon arrival, Miss Kohler received a corsage of white carnations interspersed with green ribbon and net which was pinned to her green suit.

The guests were greeted at the door by the hostesses and the honoree and were directed to the living room where appetizers were served. Of focal interest in the living room was a unique centerpiece which depicted a miniature bridal arbor. This was encircled with fern, net and wedding bells. Floral arrangements were placed throughout the rest of the home.

Each luncheon table was covered with a white linen tablecloth and centered with a bud vase containing a white carnation and green fern. Napkins, bridge tallies, and match books further emphasized a green and white color scheme.

After being served lunch, the guests played bridge. High, second high, and low prizes were given. Miss Kohler was presented with an antique spice shelf and spices. Goodbyes were said by the hostesses.

Personals

Captain and Mrs. John Postas and children, Vicki and Jo Anne, of Freising, Germany are visiting Mrs. Postas' mother, Mrs. Mildred B. Manning, Mrs. Postas is the former Shirley Brown Manning. The Postas will make their home in Sioux City, Iowa. Also visiting in the Manning home is another daughter, Mrs. J. D. Bradsher and daughter, Debra Jo, of Raleigh. Mr. Bradsher plans to join the family later in the week.

Missionary Service

There will be a missionary service at the Grindle Creek Church of God, Route 5, Greenville, tonight (Tuesday) at 7:30. Miss Odine Morse, missionary on furlough from Haiti, will be the speaker. The public is cordially invited by the pastor, Rev. Marvin J. White.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Goes National

Sigma Phi Epsilon National Grand President, C. Maynard Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio (left), presents to Giles Hopkins of Concord, president of the N.C. Kappa Chapter of the fraternity at East Carolina College (center), a replica of the national charter of the organization as President Leo W. Jenkins of the college looks on. The N. C. Kappa Chapter became affiliated with the national fraternity in weekend ceremonies conducted on the Greenville campus.

In ceremonies conducted over the weekend, Sigma Phi Epsilon became the seventh social fraternity to "go national" at East Carolina College. Twenty-four members became "brothers" in the national organization, and were initiated by members of Sigma Phi Epsilon from N. C. State and Atlantic Christian College.

Officers of the newly installed N. C. Kappa chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon are: Giles D. Hopkins of Concord, president; Phillip Williamson of New Bern, vice-president; William H. Williams of Robersonville, comptroller; Sam A. James of Raleigh, historian; Jack Riddick of Belhaven, secretary; James Ferrell of Fayetteville, guard; Charles Mitchell of New Bern, junior marshal.

At a banquet Saturday night in the East Carolina College cafeteria, new members were charged by Dean of Men James Mallory of East Carolina to "go on to greater heights in your fine climb to the top and install in your members the assurance that East Carolina College is behind them all the way."

Chief speaker was Sigma Phi Epsilon National Grand President C. Maynard Turner of Cincinnati, Ohio. He told members: "You must be made Sig Eps for life; and strive for scholarship, quality, and leadership."

At the banquet Turner presented Sigma Phi Epsilon President

USE NEW IDEAS FOR KITCHEN REMODELING — Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Stewart of Harnett County have recently remodeled the kitchen in their home. They added several new features for good storage.

Mrs. Ruby Parker, home economics agent, reports they made two Lazy Susans in the wall cabinets and used original ideas in constructing revolving shelves. One holds supplies which are used at the stove and the other is in the mixing center which holds spices, flavoring and other mixing supplies.

DRAPERY CONSTRUCTION — Mrs. I. G. Lamm, Nashville, Rt. 3, has recently learned to make lined draperies.

Mrs. Lydia Booth, assistant home economics agent in Nash County, says Mrs. Lamm made and hung draperies for the children's room first. This was her "practice" pair before starting on draperies for her living room.

VEGETABLE CASSEROLES — Home Demonstration leaders in Scotland County have been stressing the use of casserole dishes in their menus. Each leader has made a casserole at the club meeting emphasizing the use of green and yellow vegetables.

Mrs. Laura B. Wright, home economics agent, reports Mrs. T. C. McKnight, leader of the Old Laurel Hill Club, planned a luncheon around the casseroles and her members enjoyed a mid-day meeting.

STEPS SAVED IN KITCHEN ARRANGING — "No one could have convinced me that there was so much difference in a corridor and U-shaped kitchen," declared Mrs. Charlie W. Spruill, Columbia, Rt. 1. Mrs. Ann Davenport, home economics agent, says the Tyrell County family remodeled for a U-shaped kitchen, dining and family room combination.

"I can prepare a meal quicker now because there are fewer steps involved and less energy expended," remarked Mrs. Spruill.

PINES USED IN LANDSCAPING PLAN — Landscaping their home grounds has been in the planning stage for several years and now Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tiger, Jr., plan to put their plans into

Bethel Circle Has Meeting

BETHEL — The Sarah Whitehurst Circle of the Bethel W. S. C. S. met at the parsonage recently.

The Circle leader, Mrs. W. C. Whitehurst, presided over the meeting. Mrs. C. W. Barbee, spiritual life leader for the Circle, gave a devotional on the theme "Remember the Cross and Keep Easter in the Heart." Mrs. Katie Edmundson gave three Easter poems and led the prayer. Scripture was by Mrs. John Rook after which the Easter message was presented in song, beautifully rendered by Mrs. C. G. Garrenton.

A short program was given on the topic "The Dilemma of the Young American Mother." World Banks were opened at this meeting and a generous amount was turned over to the treasurer, Mrs. Grover Whitehurst.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. C. W. Barbee and Mrs. Katie Edmundson.

Installation To Be Held — There will be a joint installation of officers of the VFW Post and Auxiliary Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Red Oak Community Bldg. A covered dish supper will be held.

B.P.W. Club Has Meeting

The Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club held their meeting Thursday evening at the Woman's Club.

Dr. Bessie McNeil, chairman of the International Relations Committee, introduced Hushidar Motlagh, a student from Iran who is now doing graduate work at East Carolina College. He spoke on the family life in Iran, telling many interesting things about his own family, his home life and their religion.

Mrs. Ruth Peterson presided in the absence of Mrs. Polly Dall, president of the club.

Reporting for the Nominating Committee, Mrs. Virginia Spencer gave the following slate of officers for the new year: president, Miss Gladys Stokes; 1st vice-president, Miss Camille Clark; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Helen Snyder; recording secretary, Mrs. Elsie May; treasurer, Mrs. Mildred Owens; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Johnson. These officers will be installed at the May meeting.

The club voted to send one girl to Girl Scout Camp.

An invitation to the Kinston Business and Professional Women's Club Boss' Night April 24 was read.

Mrs. Elsie May reported on the Goldsboro club's birthday night meeting and Miss Camille Clark reported on the Spring meeting which was held in New Bern.

Mr. Herbert White Lee, Executive Secretary of Home Savings and Loan Association, spoke in behalf of the Association for Better Citizenship and Home Government in opposition to Urban Renewal and Public Housing Development.

Special guests for the meeting were Dr. Georgia Mills and Mr. Vernon Ward.

Capital Improvements On Horizon

Pitt County is rapidly approaching the day when it must face up to the question of undertaking a considerable capital improvements program if it is to provide adequate physical facilities to carry on county government functions.

Earlier this month the County Commissioners heard a proposal from representatives of the Pitt County Bar Association asking that the Commissioners begin immediately to take appropriate action preliminary to expansion of the court house facilities.

Last week the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society adopted a resolution calling on the County Commissioners to issue bonds to finance a new county-owned nursing home that would meet the requirements of the State Board of Welfare, the State Medical Care Commission and the State Board of Health.

Both the need for additional courthouse space in the future and the conditions of the present county home have been commented on in recent reports of the Pitt County Grand Jury.

In the case of the courthouse, the Grand Jury noted that the building was in good condition, but pointed out that "many offices are crowded and more space will have to be provided in the not too distant future if county affairs are to be handled efficiently."

In reports of January 13 and on March 27 the Grand Jury commented on conditions of the county home noting deficiencies both in the physical condition of the facility and the equipment provided for caring for persons who live at the county home.

The County Commissioners will not have to decide next week or next month what will be done about these problems, but it appears evident that in the near future some steps will have to be taken to provide more adequate facilities than now exist. At the earliest possible opportunity the commissioners should begin a careful study of the needs of the county in terms of physical facilities and means by which these facilities can be secured.

A further delay of such considerations will only serve to postpone longer the day when the existing needs will be filled, and in the meantime sub-par conditions which now exist will only worsen.

No one would expect the Commissioners to come up overnight with concrete plans for coping with the problems that are now coming to light in county facilities; but it is reasonable, we believe, to expect the commissioners to take positive action in studying the problems and formulating plans through which these problems may be solved.

No Surprise In More Industrial Safaris

The steady improvement of North Carolina's public education system in future years will be closely tied to the economic advancement of the state. It shouldn't surprise Tar Heels, therefore, that Gov. Sanford appears to be following in the footsteps of his predecessor in making industry-hunting jaunts to other parts of the country.

In the short period of time he has been chief executive of the state, Gov. Sanford has made several trips in behalf of developing North Carolina's economy through attracting new industries. Now it has been announced that late in May he will lead a team of some 30 state officials and businessmen on a visit to some five cities in the Ohio valley seeking to stimulate interest in locating new plants in North Carolina.

Although North Carolina has made considerable progress in its economic development in the past decade, its per capita income still ranks far down the list compared with other states. And so long as North Carolina's per capita income remains far below that of other states, it must be expected that there will be a differential between what North Carolina can spend per pupil in its public schools and what other states spend.

By enriching the program of its public schools, the state will be producing more young people with greater capabilities to take their places in a vigorous economy. But unless the state, at the same time, expands its economy to afford adequate opportunities for these young people, it will lose them to other states where economic opportunities appear brighter. Unless the state expands its economic resources, it cannot expect to continue to improve the calibre of public education offered its young people.

North Carolina needs the kind of school improvement program proposed by Gov. Sanford, and at the same time it must continue the kind of vigorous program of economic progress that was a cornerstone of the Hodges administration.

Public Showing Little Urgency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has impressed the nation with his sense of action. But the people seem to be paying more attention to him as a person than to what he's saying as a president.

The New York Times and the Wall Street Journal last week checked with members of Congress returning from Easter vacation and reported they had found back home:

1. Kennedy is increasingly popular.

2. The people show little interest in his programs.

The result of No. 2 is an absence of pressure on Congress to do what the President wants. There are three ways to interpret this:

1. Kennedy, after his early grim and urgent warnings, has shovelled out his programs with far too little explanation to the people—say in a TV talk—to get broad public support.

2. Or, most Americans, except the unemployed, don't feel much urgency themselves because they are not hurting for money or comforts. Their inclination, without White House prodding, is to rock along.

3. Or, his programs, except for medical care for the aged, are not the kind that stir up enthusiasm or controversy.

Kennedy's programs, except for medical care, are not even tinged with newness but are either routine, like his budget message, or extensions of programs long in existence, like raising minimum pay or extending unemployment pay.

If most Americans are showing little interest in Kennedy's proposals—because, under No. 2

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
CLOSE AND NEIGHBORLY
We often hear the expression that the world has become a neighborhood. The best time President Washington made in the few trips he undertook between Philadelphia and Mt. Vernon was six and one half days. Fifty or more years ago Nellie Bly went around the world in sixty days. Every newspaper today carries advertisements of airplane and jet service which will take us around the world so fast we almost meet ourselves coming back.

All these inventions register marvelous progress. But they also pose a problem. When one hundred years ago the nations of the world were separated by vast distances and even the people in the United States and Canada lived far removed from one another, the social problems of that day were not only different from what we now experience, but were probably not so severe. A rocket with a warhead launched today from Europe can reach the United States with devastating force very quickly. The smallest nation in the world could collect sufficient nuclear weapons to destroy the world's largest capitals.

Apartment house dwelling, houses built close to one another, surging life in a community short on parking space—these are modern problems of the most severe and annoying variety. They can all be—and frequently are—sources of trouble. Our very closeness to other nations may some day prove the chief danger which every nation on earth confronts.

It is nice to be close and neighborly—but it can also be dangerous.

Notes Found On A Cuff

Councilman Wesley Harvey has served on the Grand Jury and he staunchly maintains that this very basic part of our judicial system puts in considerable time.

He made this point clear at the last council meeting when Judge Charles Whedbee presented plans for a law library.

The library would be financed with a $1 court cost charge, the judge pointed out, and it would be housed in the Grand Jury room which is used only a few days per year.

He was explaining that the law library would be available to any citizen who wished to visit it to look up the law. For this purpose an index will be provided, he said.

The judge conceded to the councilman.

Judge Whedbee, incidentally made an interesting point as he presented plans for the law library.

"The law as such does not belong to the lawyers," he declared. "It does not belong to the courts. It belongs to every citizen of this city, this county, this country."

He was explaining that the law library would be available to any citizen who wished to visit it to look up the law. For this purpose an index will be provided, he said.

Other Editors Saying Realignment Of Politicians

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

The Republican party for the past decade has been undergoing some of the same problems that has beset the Democrats for generations. These problems pertain to the political philosophy and all the various shadings that such philosophy implies among the members of the party. At one time a definition of republicanism meant simply the advocacy of conservative politics and government.

No such simplicity is possible any longer. To give an example, Sen. Jacob Javits of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona are both members of the Republican party. Yet, Javits and Goldwater are poles apart in their thinking. Javits, by all logic, should be a member of the Democratic party because he is admittedly liberal in outlook.

On the other hand, Goldwater can be depicted as the archetype of conservatism, a staunch supporter of old-school Republican philosophy, which is exactly what he is and believes in.

There aren't as many Goldwaters in the GOP as there once were. Among the last notables was Robert Taft, known by all as "Mr. Republican."

Hence, the question naturally arises as to just what the Republicans stand for today since the party as a whole has shifted its political thinking to the left on a scale calculated to make the Tafts and Goldwaters pull their hair in exasperation.

To further complicate this picture, let's take a look at the Democrats. There have always been party members of the Hubert Humphrey-Averell Harriman type. But there have also been the Southern representatives who, ironically, are not only the backbone of the Democratic party but the group most unpopular in the hierarchy.

This unpopularity stems from reluctance on the part of most Southerners to go along with much of the social-welfare state schemes advocated by the more ardent Northern faction. Democratic leader such as Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina is far more compatible with Goldwater's philosophy than, say, with that of Chester Bowles.

A Republican Goldwater and a Democratic Byrnes are similar to an amazing degree in that they staunchly believe in individual enterprise, state rights, freedom of industry to decide its own course, freedom against interference from federal government in almost all phases of American life, economy in government, responsible fiscal policy and the absence of bureaucratic supervision over schools, employment, politics, religion, social and medical fields.

A Javits-type Republican, by contrast, agrees more fully with the political thinking of the present administration. The liberal members of the GOP are more prone to support measures of members of their own party. This would suggest, then, that a realignment is in order—a general shifting of membership in the parties so that a more homogeneous construction would result within the two parties.

It won't happen, of course except in isolated cases such as that which occurred when Wayne Morse went over to the Democrats. But it is an interesting thought. At least it would more clearly define the lines of opposition for the two great parties.

"Flunk now. Avoid the Rush," it reads.

The sun disappeared from view over Greenville yesterday. But it wasn't rainclouds that obscured its bright rays. It was Pitt County's valuable top soil that had eroded the air.

This erosion of the soil takes place every spring. Farmers break the land and before the new crops are sown and have a chance to take hold the spring winds carry a small portion of the soil away.

Yesterday was one of the worst days ever, however. The dust cut vision to near zero at times on the highways. But those who fussed most were the housewives who faced a mammoth dusting job today.

So goes the weather.

LaVerne Blackley, Miss Greenville for the coming year, charmed the Jaycees as she paid them a visit at the regular meeting last week.

2-China Idea Is Problem

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

For some years the United Nations avoided a sharp split on the China question by maintaining a moratorium on its discussion. At the beginning of each session, it was decided not to discuss the admission of Red China. At first the vote was sufficiently large to make it a fixed policy. In recent years, as the membership of the General Assembly of the United Nations increased, the vote between those who favored debating the question and those who opposed it has been narrowing. The result is that the notion of a two-Chinas is taking on new strength, despite the war in Laos. The fear is that the moratorium cannot be carried any longer.

The two Chinas idea is a British notion designed to assuage the feelings of Red China. It simply means that both the Republic of China (Formosa) and Red China will be members of the United Nations. The first mention of this idea appeared in an article by T.A. Bisson, in an Institute of Pacific Relations' publication as far back as 1943. The question arises as to which of these two Chinas is to hold China's permanent seat on the Security Council. Regarding this, no one has proposed a sound formula. The likelihood is that nobody has a solution.

Neither Taipei nor Peking likes the two Chinas idea. Each side regards it as an insult. Chiang Kai-shek holds that his government retains its seat in the United Nations because of the sacrifices it made in war, because of legitimacy, and because obviously Red China will be strengthened should it be granted a seat in the United Nations and would, because of this, make efforts to conquer the whole of Southeast Asia.

Nationalist China wonders why, now that Red China is in an economic and morally weak condition, the United States was to bale it out of its troubles and give "face" to a regime that may topple. Chiang Kai-shek wrote of this: "The two Chinas talk in international circles today is the repetition of an old tune first played by American Communists."

The British are worried about Hongkong which the Red Chinese want to take. A few hours unless the United States fights for it. Only the American fleet in Asiatic waters can save Hongkong for the British if the Communists decide to take the port, which is the last vestige of British strength in Southeast Asia, apart from Singapore.

British trade in Hongkong and in Red China is not as satisfactory as it used to be. The British would like to act as honest brokers between the United States and Red China and earn the gratitude of each side. Ample gratitude from Red China might safeguard Hongkong.

If the United States permits the two Chinas idea to gain strength at a time when we are beating the drums for nothing else, concerning Laos, we shall be regarded as hypocrites and tricksters and we shall lose "face" all over Asia. The contradictions in our position cannot be understood or accepted by any Asiatic. We would become the laughing stock of Asia, as we did when we were defeated by Chen Yi in Korea.

Boasting of a total victory. To an Oriental unless there is a total victory, there is a defeat. We cannot risk another defeat.

However, many of those who have an important voice in the formulation of the foreign policy of the Kennedy Administration believe in a two Chinas concept as an easy and tricky way out of an unpleasant dilemma. They believe that Red China will not accept such an indignity and that therefore, the offer having been made and rejected by Red China, they are not at fault.

There are two possibilities of error:

1. Red China might fool them, accept the offer and throw the United Nations into turmoil.

2. Other Asiatic nations would regard the offer as evidence of American weakness and this would justify the adoption of an anti-American attitude by nations which already feel that this country does not live up to its promises.

'Hoss-Trading' Talk Does Go On

By LYNN NISBET

HOSS-TRADING — 'Long about this time of the year, the old almanacs used to say, you may expect rumors of political hoss-trading among legislators and outside sponsors of pending legislation. Although often exaggerated, these rumors nearly always have some factual basis. It is axiomatic that all legislation is the result of compromise, of give and take. Far from being reprehensible, compromise (which is high brow for hoss-trading) is the very essence of democracy. Anything else is individual dictatorship.

But—there is vital distinction between compromise agreements and trades made openly after public discussion and the smoke-filled room or backstreet deals made secretly. These kinds of deals are not good for democracy.

It is inevitable that there should be a lot of trading with respect to re-districting, to election of University trustees, and similar matters which involve personalities more than principle. Swapping votes on local bills is accepted practice, and combinations of legislators with common problems against other groups with different common problems—rural against urban, big counties against little ones, commercial banks against small loan companies—are vehicles of self preservation for some of the participants. These openly made and generally understood combinations come in the category of cooperation and organization, essential to business and to government.

There are times, too, when it is proper for Democrats to stick together against Republicans, and vice versa, for the furtherance of their special policies.

PATRONAGE — Another generally accepted philosophy is that "to the victors belong the spoils." Translated into political practice that means the successful party or candidate in an election pays off supporters with salaried jobs. Admittedly that practice is sometimes carried to absurd extremes, but by and large it makes for good government, because it is essential for the administrative executive to have friendly cooperation from subordinates. Right or wrong, the practice is so deeply imbedded in the scheme of things, protest against it is utterly futile.

The dividing line between the compromise agreements, the swapping of votes and the pay-off patronage on the one hand and the under-table deals involving basic principles on the other, is often hard to distinguish. Furthermore, different people fix the dividing line at different points along the way, and what is accepted as proper by some is regarded as nefarious by others.

RUMORS—There are current rumors of "deals" among legislators and between the legislative and the executive branches which are on the borderline of propriety. Whether or not these rumors have any basis in fact, they are hampering the legislative process.

There are three pretty well defined and recognized "blobs" in the General Assembly. One is the pro-administration group, those who can almost be voted ahead of time as favoring the Sanford program. Then there is the anti-administration group, those regarded as against the program, not on principle but just because the administration sponsors it. And for the first time in more than 30 years there is a formidable Republican bloc, which in the House might well hold the balance of power.

MINORITIES—Each of these groups constitutes a relatively small minority of the total membership, and it is doubted that all of them combined represent a majority. That means more than half the legislators face every issue in open minds. Assuming that these open-minded people would have divergent views—else they would not be open-minded—and minority blocs have potential influence greater than numerical strength would indicate.

There is evidence that each of these minority groups is being diligently courted by all the others. It is to the benefit of the State that none of the groups has sufficiently recognized or powerful leadership to hold all the members in line.

The administration forces demonstrated strength in the appropriations committee vote. The fact remains that those who voted for the amendment constitute only about one-fourth of the total voting strength of the General Assembly.

And neither of the big money committees has gotten down to the real task of considering the proposals, item by item. There is room for a lot of trading, and there remains uncertainly about the final vote.

A Source Of Ceaseless Inflation

By ELMER ROESSNER

It may be in the best interest of the United States to enact a law prohibiting labor contracts providing for future wage increases.

Unless some such action is taken, the United States is doomed to ceaseless inflation and the day will come when your dollar will buy only a candy bar.

Most labor contracts being signed these days provide for future pay increases. A typical contract may provide for a $6 a week increase this year, $7 more in 1962 and $8 additional in 1963.

This sort of deal has a certain attractiveness to employers. They tend to regard it as a $21 increase, spread over three years. It seems mild, chocolate-covered. It gives a man time to think to plan.

But it's loaded with inflation, unemployment, or both. HOW RISES ARE HANDLED
The immediate rise must be dealt with as best management can; by trimming costs, by pushing ing sales, by laying off workers or by shaving profits. But the future rises give time for artful planning.

Suppose you, as an employer, faced such pay increases. Assuming you were not eager for bankruptcy, you would make plans to pay them.

If your entire industry faced similar rises, your problem would be fairly simple. You would increase prices X per cent immediately, Y per cent next year and Z per cent in 1963. You would be confident that all your competitors would have to impose similar increases.

This would amount to almost inflation: prices would go up, wages would go up. To counterbalance that, the purchasing power of the dollar would go down. And if that isn't inflation, it will do to scare freshmen until something worse comes along.

THE AUTOMATION BIT
But suppose competitors are not subjected to similar increases. Or suppose that competitive industries get better deals. Suppose the plastics industry gets a better break than the aluminum industry.

In those cases, the only escape is to increase automation, lay off people or both.

If you are turning out wooden nutmegs and your hourly labor costs are scheduled to rise, you face the fact that tree-grown nutmegs will be cheaper than yours. You can install automatic nutmeg lathes, you can lay off your slower nutmeg shapers. Or both. Or go broke.

In any event, if you can raise prices, you must. And that contributes to inflation. Or you can reduce labor costs. And that contributes to unemployment.

It seems that future wage increases are a threat to the dollar and a threat to employment. Under those circumstances, making such contracts illegal might well benefit the national economy.

TAX HELP FOR DRINKERS
BUT NOT SMOKERS
A new Arkansas law imposes

new taxes on cigarettes and alcoholic beverages. Excise taxes on smokes and beverages are deductible by the distributor, not the consumer, the Internal Revenue Service has ruled. But a special 3 per cent tax on alcoholic beverages is deductible by the consumer. (Rev. Ltr. 61-40.)

The reason is that the language of the law imposes the first taxes on distributors; the second tax is imposed on consumers.

SHORT & SIGNIFICANT BUSINESS NEWS BITS
Filter-tip cigarettes are gaining in France; last year 10 per cent of ciggies sold there were so tipped. . . In America, stockbrokers can incorporate, although most are partnerships. In neither case can they sell shares to the public. But four of Japan's biggest brokerage houses are now offering shares of stock in themselves to the public. . . Australia shipped almost 2,000,000 pounds of frozen beer to the United States in March.

Many Pitt Students On Honors Lists At East Carolina College

Three lists of students at East Carolina College have received official recognition from the College because of their excellent records in academic work during the winter quarter of the present school year have been announced. Included on the lists are the names of 742 students, of whom 207 are men and 535 are women. North Carolinians number 689 and students from outside the state 53. Sixty-nine men and women who made the grade of "A" on each subject taken, the highest mark given at the college, received top honors for scholastic achievement in an "All A's" List. The Dean's List and the Honor Roll include the names of students whose work was considered worthy of special mention and commendation. The Dean's List, including 208 students, is composed of undergraduates who made at least two and one-half quality points per credit hour on all work taken, with no grade below "C". These students did superior academic work. The Honor Roll, with 465 represented, is composed of undergraduates who made at least two quality points per credit hour on all work taken, with no grade below "C". The work completed by these students was well above average. Pitt County is represented on the honors lists as follows: ALL A'S: Patricia A. Bramlett, Mildred E. Derrick, William C. Goodwin, V. Ann Green, Rebecca A. Highsmith, Barbara L. Hooper, all of Greenville; Sue Ellen Hunsucker, Winterville; Joyce F. Jenkins and Jasper L. Jones, Greenville; Louise J. Manning, Bethel; Betty J. Mobley, Winterville; Patricia C. Morrison, Nancy L. Oberseider, and Lou Raye Ottaway, of Greenville; Freddie E. Skinner, Ayden; Betty G. Tunnell, and Lois M. Tunnell, Greenville. DEAN'S LIST: Walker L. Allen, Jr., Greenville; Edna E. Baker, Farmville; Judy P. Ballance, Greenville; Vivian L. Branch, Grifton; James Hubert Brantley, and Robert P. Butler, Greenville; Alva L. Chauncey, Rt. 5, Greenville; H. Frances Cozart, Greenville; Doris E. Dillingham, Winterville; John T. Dobson, and Dorothy D. Dunlow, Greenville; Sylvia N. Edmondson, Rt. 1, Stokes; Bette J. N.C. Speech, Hearing Ass'n Will Meet Here

Speech and hearing deficiencies and what can be done to alleviate or correct them will be discussed at a meeting of the North Carolina Speech and Hearing Association at East Carolina College Saturday, April 22. The event will bring to the campus as speakers a group of leading North Carolina educators and specialists. Director Bernard Jackson of the East Carolina College Speech and Hearing Clinic has announced the program. Members of the association throughout the state and other interested people are invited to attend the sessions. With Mrs. Bess Colville, president of the state organization, as presiding officer, a general session at 10 a.m. in the Rawl building will open the day's events. President Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina will welcome guests. Speakers at discussion meetings in the Rawl building during the morning will include Mrs. Pearl Ramos, state consultant in speech and hearing and Felix S. Barker, supervisor of education for exceptional children, both of the State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh. Mrs. Ramos' topic will be "Trends and Certification in American Speech and Hearing." Mr. Barker will discuss "The Future of Speech and Hearing Therapy in North Carolina." A panel of "Organic Factors of Articulation," with Mrs. Colville as moderator, will have as speakers Dr. Joseph S. Kennan, assistant director of the Hearing and Speech Center of the N.C. Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem; Dr. Jackson; and Mrs. Dorothy L. Clem, speech therapist in Burlington City Schools. Dr. M.P. Hoot of Greenville, director of the Eastern N.C. Speech and Hearing Clinic and consultant in special education at East Carolina College, will be featured speaker at a luncheon in the college cafeteria at 12:30 p.m. He will discuss "Auditory Factors in Articulatory Disorders." Among special events of the day will be a demonstration of the stethophone, now being developed by Mrs. Clem with the cooperation of Bell Laboratories to provide for public school use a cheap, portable device for helping the speech defective individual to hear his own speech better. A post-luncheon tour of the Speech and Hearing Clinic at East Carolina will conclude the program.

Plan Registering For Kindergarten

Registration for the Protestant Kindergarten will be held Wednesday, April 19, at the kindergarten, located at the Eighth Street Christian Church. Parents may register children between the hours of 2:30 and 5 p.m. The party for next year's kindergarten class will be held at a later date this spring. Teachers of the Protestant Kindergarten are Mrs. Inez Haddock, Mrs. Ginna Forrest, Mrs. Edith Williams, and Mrs. Edna Quinn.

Seven Sentenced For Tax Fraud

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—Seven inmates or former inmates of Kentucky State Penitentiary who had pleaded guilty to falsely claiming income tax refunds while in prison were sentenced in federal court Monday. Five were fined $100 each and probated for a year and a day on condition they repay the government; another was fined $250 and probated for a year and a day, and the seventh got two years in prison.

Elected Class Representative

GREENSBORO — Dot Davis of Greenville, a student at Woman's College, here, recently was elected to serve as a Consolidated University representative for the junior class. The second general student government election just held resulted in the election of class officers and junior and senior marshalls for 1961-62. Miss Davis is one of two C.U. representatives for her class.

Center Sued For Firemen's Death

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The estates of three local firemen have sued a recreation center for $599,737 as a result of their deaths while fighting a fire last Dec. 17. The suit charged the defendant negligently kept the place in an unsafe manner, making it a fire hazard. It also charged undue delay in reporting the fire. The suit asked $196,698 in the death of Capt. Joseph Kenneth Buren; $189,598 for that of Sgt. Jesse P. Wilson and $213,081 for Riley Ray Pryor.

Public Attitude Seen Changing On Sanford Tax Plan

First Returns Made On ACS Canvass

FIRST RETURNS of the house-to-house Cancer Crusade are turned in to E. M. Baldree by Nita Rowland and chairman Belle Harrell (seated).

First financial returns of the house-to-house visitation phase of Cancer Crusade have been announced for Greenville as $537.61. Chairman Belle Harrell, in making that report, said ten section heads were yet to be heard from. "I'm hoping," she said, "reports will be all in by the middle of this week. We have had about 85 volunteers at work in this canvassing program. It's reasonable to assume some families were not called upon, or were not at home when a volunteer

By PHIL CORNER

RALEIGH (AP) — When Gov. Sanford appeared before the General Assembly in March and suggested a tax on food to pay for most of his school improvement program he set a lot of legislative brows to furrowing. Uncertainty and hostility marked immediate reaction. Lawmakers returning to Raleigh from their first weekend at home after the Sanford speech spoke of anger in the countryside. Lobbyists marched en masse on the Capitol. Now, more than a month has passed since Sanford's historic appearance. What is the attitude? House Speaker Joseph Hunt of Greensboro says, "A lot of people have told me they have changed their mind and feel that a tax on food is the best way to finance the program." Lt. Gov. Cloyd Philpott, the Senate's presiding officer, comments that he also has received reports of decreasing opposition to a tax on food. What about the other lawmakers? They are, of course, of mixed opinion. There are those who favor the governor's $70 million school plan and his tax recommendations down the line. There are those lukewarm to the education program and 100 per cent against the tax proposals. But, an Associated Press survey of legislative opinion was able to pick up one trend which may be significant. There appears to be a faction which doesn't like the food tax but which would vote for it as a last resort to enact the education improvement program.

In the interviews, the words "last resort" appeared frequently and may work to the advantage of the Sanford program.

The Joint Appropriations Committee already has given the school plan a vote of confidence and thrust the load over to the Finance Committee, which is considering a stack of bills introduced as means of paying the way.

One of these measures is Sanford's proposal to place the 3 per cent sales tax on all items such as food, and drugs, which now are exempt.

The governor has said he would welcome an alternate means of paying for the program if the General Assembly is able to develop one. However, he cautioned that taxing luxuries such as cigarettes and soft drinks would not bring in enough money.

Sen. Jennings King of Scotland County predicted the food and drug tax would pass, but he added, "I'm not going to vote for it unless I have to. I'm going to vote for tobacco first." Sen. Wills Hancock of Granville said he felt the food tax would not pass; that a 1 per cent increase in the sales tax with retention of present exemptions would be warned against what he called the "scattergun method of taxation — taking a high profit, fast moving item and slapping a tax on it."

Over in the House, Mecklenburg Rep. John Kennedy commented, "I hope there won't be any food and drug tax, but I'll vote for it if the lobbyists are too influential to allow us to enact a combination of other taxes."

L. Sneed High, Cumberland representative from Sanford's home town of Fayetteville, was with the governor "down the line." H. Esaid removal of exemptions would "broaden the tax base."

Rep. Glenn Hawfield of Union, not quite as zealous, agreed in general. He said, "If necessary, I'd be agreeable to taxing food." He also thought it would "widen the tax base."

Rep. Ashley Murphy of the farming county of Pender was firmly opposed to a 1 per cent sales tax on seed, feed and fertilizer proposed by Sanford. "I'm not sure we need all that much money anyway," he said.

Caldwell County's Rep. Danny Courtney preferred a tax on tobacco, soft drinks and other luxuries. But, he added, "I say leave the necessities out except as a last resort."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Guilford: "I think there's a whole lot of concern about a food and drug tax. I hope the Finance committee will come up with something other than that."

Many lawmakers said they still were mulling it over and were not yet prepared to commit themselves.

One senator, Adam J. Whitley Jr. of Johnson County, said the situation was the "most unpredictable" in his six legislative terms.

Elizabeth Taylor, Burt Lancaster Win Oscars For Top Acting In '60

By JAMES BACON

AP Movie-TV Writer

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—"I feel very happy that I also want to thank all the members who didn't vote for me." For Lancaster, 47, the award climaxed a career that had taken him from the New York slums through circus acrobatics to movie stardom.

Miss Jones clutched her Oscar and thanked another Oscar—the late Oscar Hammerstein and Richard Rodgers who picked the 27-year-old brewer's daughter from Smithton, Pa., to play the ingenue lead in "Oklahoma" and "Carousel."

But it was her switch to the hardboiled tart of "Elmer Gantry" that won her the Oscar. "I guess it pays to be bad on the screen," she said.

The bearded Ustinov, who won an Oscar for his portrayal of a gladiator school operator in "Spartacus," flew in from Rome to attend the ceremonies. "I'm glad I made the trip," he said. Then he added: "I attended English schools so long I was taught how to lose gracefully. I've been preparing myself all afternoon. Now that I've won I don't know what to say."

Special Oscars were given to Gary Cooper and Stan Laurel among others. Neither was well enough to attend the ceremonies. James Stewart accepted Cooper's Oscar with an emotion-filled speech. Fighting back tears and swallowing hard, he said: "We're very proud of you, Coop, all of us are tremendously proud. 'Spartacus' was runnerup to 'Apartment' with four Oscars. Besides two acting awards, 'Elmer Gantry' also won an Oscar for its writer, Richard Brooks. The Swedish producer Ingemar Bergman's 'The Virgin Spring' was named best foreign language film. Another foreign entry, the Greek comedy, 'Never on Sunday,' upset four domestic competitors to win the best original song award with a song of the same name."

When her name was called for the Oscar, she put her hands over her face in surprise, kissed her husband and then walked slowly, with his help, to the podium. "I don't really know how to express my great gratitude," she said with emotion. "I guess I will just have to thank you with all my heart."

Lancaster, the hell-firing revivalist of "Elmer Gantry," told a cheering audience: "I want to thank all the members of the Academy who voted for me. And I am so happy that I also want to thank all the members who didn't vote for me."

Thinks Dictator Can 'Win' Race

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP) — Economist Roger W. Babson says the United States must turn to dictatorship if it expects to catch the Soviet Union in the space race.

"With the world being in the position it is today, I don't see how we can risk going along as we are," he said in an interview. "Three years ago we were informed we were behind the Russians and we are not closing the gap."

Babson, 86, said the United States was able to beat the Soviets in development of the atom bomb only because "it was a dictatorship under President Roosevelt during the war."

The largest of North America's prehistoric lakes, Lake Agassiz, was almost as large as the State of Nevada. It sprawled northward into Canada from North Dakota and Minnesota.

Bucs Win Doubleheader Over Appalachian, 6-0, 13-0

'THE DUCKS (OR PIRATES) ARE ON THE POND' . . . ECC First-sacker Jim Martin (left) is held at third by base coach in action during the Pirates' doublebill sweep from Appalachian here yesterday.

By LEONARD LAO Reflector Sports Writer

COLLEGE FIELD—The weather finally held up for the East Carolina baseball team to defend its North State Conference baseball championship yesterday, and the mighty Bucs swept a doubleheader from a visiting Appalachian nine in two seven-inning contests. The locals shut the Mountaineers out 6-0 and 13-0, knocking out 15 hits in the twin bill.

one frame, the fifth, when an error sandwiched between two walks loaded the bases with Mounaineers with two out. But he pulled himself out of the jam by sitting Appalachian's Bob Morrison down on strikes for the third consecutive time of the afternoon. It was that fifth frame that the visitors were able to put their only runner on third base.

Hefty first sacker, Jimmy Martin, smashed out his second grand slam homer of the season in the fifth inning off losing pitcher, Bob Dillinger. The blast over the right field fence gave the Pirates the winning margin over the visitors, but basketball star, Cotton Clayton, who has shed his basketball shoes for a pair of spikes, clouted another round-tripper in the fifth with one mate aboard to give the winners a couple of insurance runs.

Dillinger, a righthander with plenty of stuff on the ball, settled down after those two back-breaking blows, and limited the Bucs to a lone walk in the sixth. An infield hit by Glenn Bass, Pirate shortstop, in the first inning gave the winners a total of three hits off Dillinger.

Nathan Green, EC's number two hurler, proved that it just wasn't Appalachian's day at the plate, limiting the losers to just two hits in the second game of the day. The fast righthander walked four men, struck out three, and did not allow a Mountaineer runner to advance beyond second base. So far this season, Green has given up just three hits, two yesterday against Appalachian, and one in a 20-0 Pirate swamping of Delaware last week. He has pitched a total of 15 innings to date.

ing pitcher, Tommy Wilson, loaded the bases with Pirates with no outs. Gary Pierce singled to left, and when the Mountaineers' left fielder, Fred Gragg missed the ball, three Buc runners scored. That was all for Wilson. He was replaced by lefty Terry Bogle, who was given a distasteful welcome by the Pirate batters. Bogle only faced three men. Martin doubled, Charlie Johnson walked, and Floyd Wicker singled to send the left-hander to the showers. Bill Jarrett put out the Pirate blaze, but not until six runs had crossed the plate.

Two more Mountaineer hurlers took their turn at losing the rubber, but neither were able to contain the Pirate batsmen. A pair of singles and two free passes gave the Bucs another tally in the fourth, and the weary Appalachian players watched four more local runners score, three in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Green led off the fifth with a couple to right-center and moved to second on a fielder's choice. Clayton, playing the right field position, hit a high pop fly which, due to a mixup in the infield, dropped in for a base hit three yards from home plate. Three straight walks followed by a sacriat 8:00 p.m. BENCH BITS—The pair of wins over Appalachian gives the Bucs a 2-0 North State Conference slate and a 4-1 overall record . . . it would be too much of a surprise if East Carolina paced five players on the All-Conference team this season. Bass, Crayton, and Cockrell were All-Conference last season, and the latter two were also named to the All-State team . . . Nathan Green has yet to lose his first college game. The righthander posted a 2-0 record last year, and is 1-0 so far this season . . . The Pirates have lost only two conference games in the past two seasons. Both of those were to Catawba's Indians last year. The Bucs meet the Indians on the Guy Smith Stadium diamond on May 6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Five new managers will be on hand tonight as the Class B Carolina League opens its 18th baseball season. First-round openers send Greensboro to Winston-Salem, Wilson to Raleigh, and Burlington to Durham. The same pairings exist Wednesday night, but the teams reverse home parks.

Player, Palmer To Meet Again In Houston Classic

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Gary Player and Arnold Palmer, who battled to a dramatic finish in the Masters golf tournament a week ago, loosened up for the $40,000 Houston Classic today. Player and Palmer, who join 96 other professionals in the first round Thursday, participated in the Porky Oliver pro-amateur today — their first meeting since the Masters. All proceeds from the pro-am go to Oliver, a golfer stricken with cancer. His purse is expected to be near $7,000.

Phant Track Team Loses To Rocky Mount Visitors

Coach Jerry Warren's Rose High Phantoms bowed to Rocky Mount in a dual track meet here yesterday. The Rocky Mount team scored 64½ points to Greenville's 48½ in a windy Guy Smith stadium. This meet had formerly been scheduled for April 13, but had to be postponed until yesterday because of unfavorable weather. Following are the events with first, second and third place scores:

Shot: Edwards (RM), 44.3; McArthur (G), Wright (G). Discus: Edwards (RM), 110 feet 1 inch; Taft (G); Wright (G). Pole vault: Tullors (RM) and Clay (RM) tied for first place with a 10 foot vault each. Jenkins (G) was third. High Jump: Sallee (RM) and Tullors (RM) tied for first with a five foot, four inch jump each. Clayton (RM) and Johnston (G) tied for third place. Broad Jump: Newsome (RM), 18 feet, 10 inches; Sallee (RM); Tullors (RM). High Hurdles: Broadfield (RM), 17 seconds; Taft (G) and Thigpen (RM) tied for second place. 100 Yrd Dash: McArthur (G), 10.5 seconds; Jenkins (G), Duff (G). Mile: Whitehurst (RM), 5 minutes, 28 seconds; Waldrop (G).

Davis Cup Team Accent On Youth

NEW YORK (AP)—The accent is on youth in the United States Davis Cup squad this year—but when the preliminary rounds get under way, the "old man" of the squad may be the No. 1 player. Bernard Bartzen of Dallas, at 33, was one of the 13 members of the squad named Monday. He was assistant captain last year, but gave up the post to concentrate on playing this season. Bartzen is one of the top clay courts players in the world and since the United States has agreed to meet Italy on clay in Europe—if both reach the semifinal again—he probably will be used. The 13-man squad includes besides Bartzen: John Cranston of San Marino, Calif.; Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif.; Don Dell of Bethesda, Md.; Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif.; Ramsey Earnhart of Ventura, Calif.; Mike Franks of Los Angeles; Crawford Henry of Atlanta, Ga.; William Hoogs of Berkeley, Calif.; Larry Nagler of North Hollywood, Calif.; Dennis Riston of Bakersfield, Calif.; Whitney Reed, of Alameda, Calif.; and Marty Riessen of Hinsdale, Ill.

Win Again

An undefeated Rose High golf team held its standing in a match at Roanoke Rapids yesterday. The Greenville team's low score was followed by Roanoke Rapids, Kinston, Washington, New Bern and Elizabeth City in that order. This was Greenville's fourth match of the season. The Phantoms' undefeated standing has given the team hopes to make a good showing in the state championship. In yesterday's match Bobby Thomas and Chappy Bradner both shot a low 79 for Greenville, Dallas Clark shot 80, and Rick Saue shot 81. Medalist for the day was Foreman of Elizabeth City with 78. The next Rose High match will be played Monday afternoon at Elizabeth City.

Wachovia Announces Jenkins Elected To Board, Pou Promoted, Glenn Named Bank Director

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina College, was elected a member of the Board of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company here, and J. W. (Joe) Pou, manager of the bank's Agriculture Department, was elected assistant vice president today.

Their elections and the naming of James K. Glenn, secretary-treasurer of Quality Oil Company of Greenville, as a director of the Wachovia bank were announced by R. W. Howard, senior vice president, following the quarterly meeting of Wachovia's directors this morning.

He also reported substantial increases in deposits, loans, capital funds, total resources and volume of business for the bank.

At the end of March, Wachovia deposits were $577 million, compared with $477 million a year ago, and loans were $368 million, against $309 million on the same day last year. Capital funds increased from $45 million a year ago to $54 million, and total resources are $695 million, compared with $576 million in April, 1960.

Net operating earnings before taxes during the first quarter were $3,313,918, or 80 cents per share, compared with $3,078,654, or 81 cents per share, during the same period last year. After taxes earnings were $1,665,322, or 40 cents per share, compared with $1,593,911, or 42 cents per share, during the first quarter of 1960.

The directors heard reports that business in this area, though trending downward in 1960 and early 1961, has consistently remained at a higher level than in many other sections of the nation.

"Already," Howard said, "there are indications of an upswing in the economy; employment is up, orders for hardgoods this month surpassed shipments, inventory correction has been substantial and inventories presently are much lower than earlier this year. The outlook for the second half of the year appears favorable with many opportunities for satisfactory business operations," he said.

Speaking for the Greenville Office, Howard told the directors that public response to the renovation of the Evans Street Office and the inauguration of Time Payment loan services here has been most favorable and encouraging.

He said the bank here is handling a larger volume of business now than at the time Wachovia and Guaranty merged last May and Dr. Pou's appointment to head the agriculture department has received favorable notice from both farmers and business leaders. He also reported a good response to the new service being offered parents to help in financing their children's education. "Both school officials and a number of parents have endorsed our College Assured Plan, and we are very much encouraged by the interest expressed," he said.

"With approval last week by shareholders of Wachovia and First National Bank of Thomasville, we are looking forward to the merger of the two banks once state and federal approval is given," Howard said.

The directors declared a quarterly dividend of 12 1/2 cents per share, payable May 15 to shareholders of record at the close of business May 1.

Dr. Jenkins was dean of instruction at East Carolina College from 1947 until his election as president last year. A civic leader, he is a member of the Governor's Committee on Better Schools, the executive committee of the North Carolina College Conference, the Atomic Energy Advisory Committee and the board of N. C. Society for Crippled Children. He holds degrees from Rutgers University, Columbia University and New York University.

Dr. Pou, formerly director of the Agricultural Extension Service for the State of Arizona, was appointed to head the bank's agriculture department here in February. From 1938 until 1941, he was assistant agricultural agent in Iredell County. Following service in World War II, he was head of the Dairy Department at the University of Maryland. In 1953, he returned to North Carolina as head of the Animal Industry Department at State College, a position he held until he went to Arizona in 1958. He is a graduate of State College and earned advanced degrees from the University of Wisconsin and Cornell University.

Purchase Of Second Fire Truck Tabled By Council

Purchasing of a second fire truck was tabled at last Thursday's City Council meeting because the council could not commit a future council to the expenditure, Mayor S. Eugene West said today.

"Since we thought the price was good, we entertained the idea of buying another fire truck," he said.

The representative of the concern selling this fire truck said that the price quoted would hold good for six months which would enable the new council to consider it while preparing the 1961-62 budget.

"It is not necessary that we purchase a new truck until the new fire station in East Greenville is built and ready for operation. I certainly hope that won't be too far in the future."

The council purchased one truck with bond issue funds at the Thursday meeting. It was the purchase of a second truck that was postponed. Funds for this one would have to be placed in the next fiscal year's budget. The fiscal year begins July 1, 1961.

Last Rites Set For Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr.

Mrs. Helen Laughinghouse Stokes, of 410 Elizabeth Street, wife of Richard C. Stokes Jr., died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning at 1:20 following several months of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at St. Paul's Episcopal Church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 by the rector, the Rev. John Drake. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. The body will remain at the Wilkerson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Stokes, daughter of the late Dr. Charles O'Hagan and Carrie Virginia Dall Laughinghouse, was a native of Greenville and had lived here all her life. A graduate of St. Mary's College in Raleigh, she was married to Mr. Stokes in 1920. She was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and the Greenville Service League.

Surviving are her husband; three sons, Richard C. Stokes III and John Lee Stokes of Greenville, and Charles L. Stokes of Maury; a daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Floyd of Texarkana, Texas; five grandchildren; and a brother, Charles O'Hagan Laughinghouse of Beaufort.

The family requests that no flowers be sent. Anyone desiring to do so may send a contribution to the Service League Laughinghouse Hospital Bed Fund in her memory.

Scientists who discover a new element traditionally have the honor of naming it.

Funeral Wednesday For William Roach

Mr. William A. Roach, 95, died at Camp Butler Hospital Sunday night. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. and burial will be in the Riverside Cemetery near Grifton.

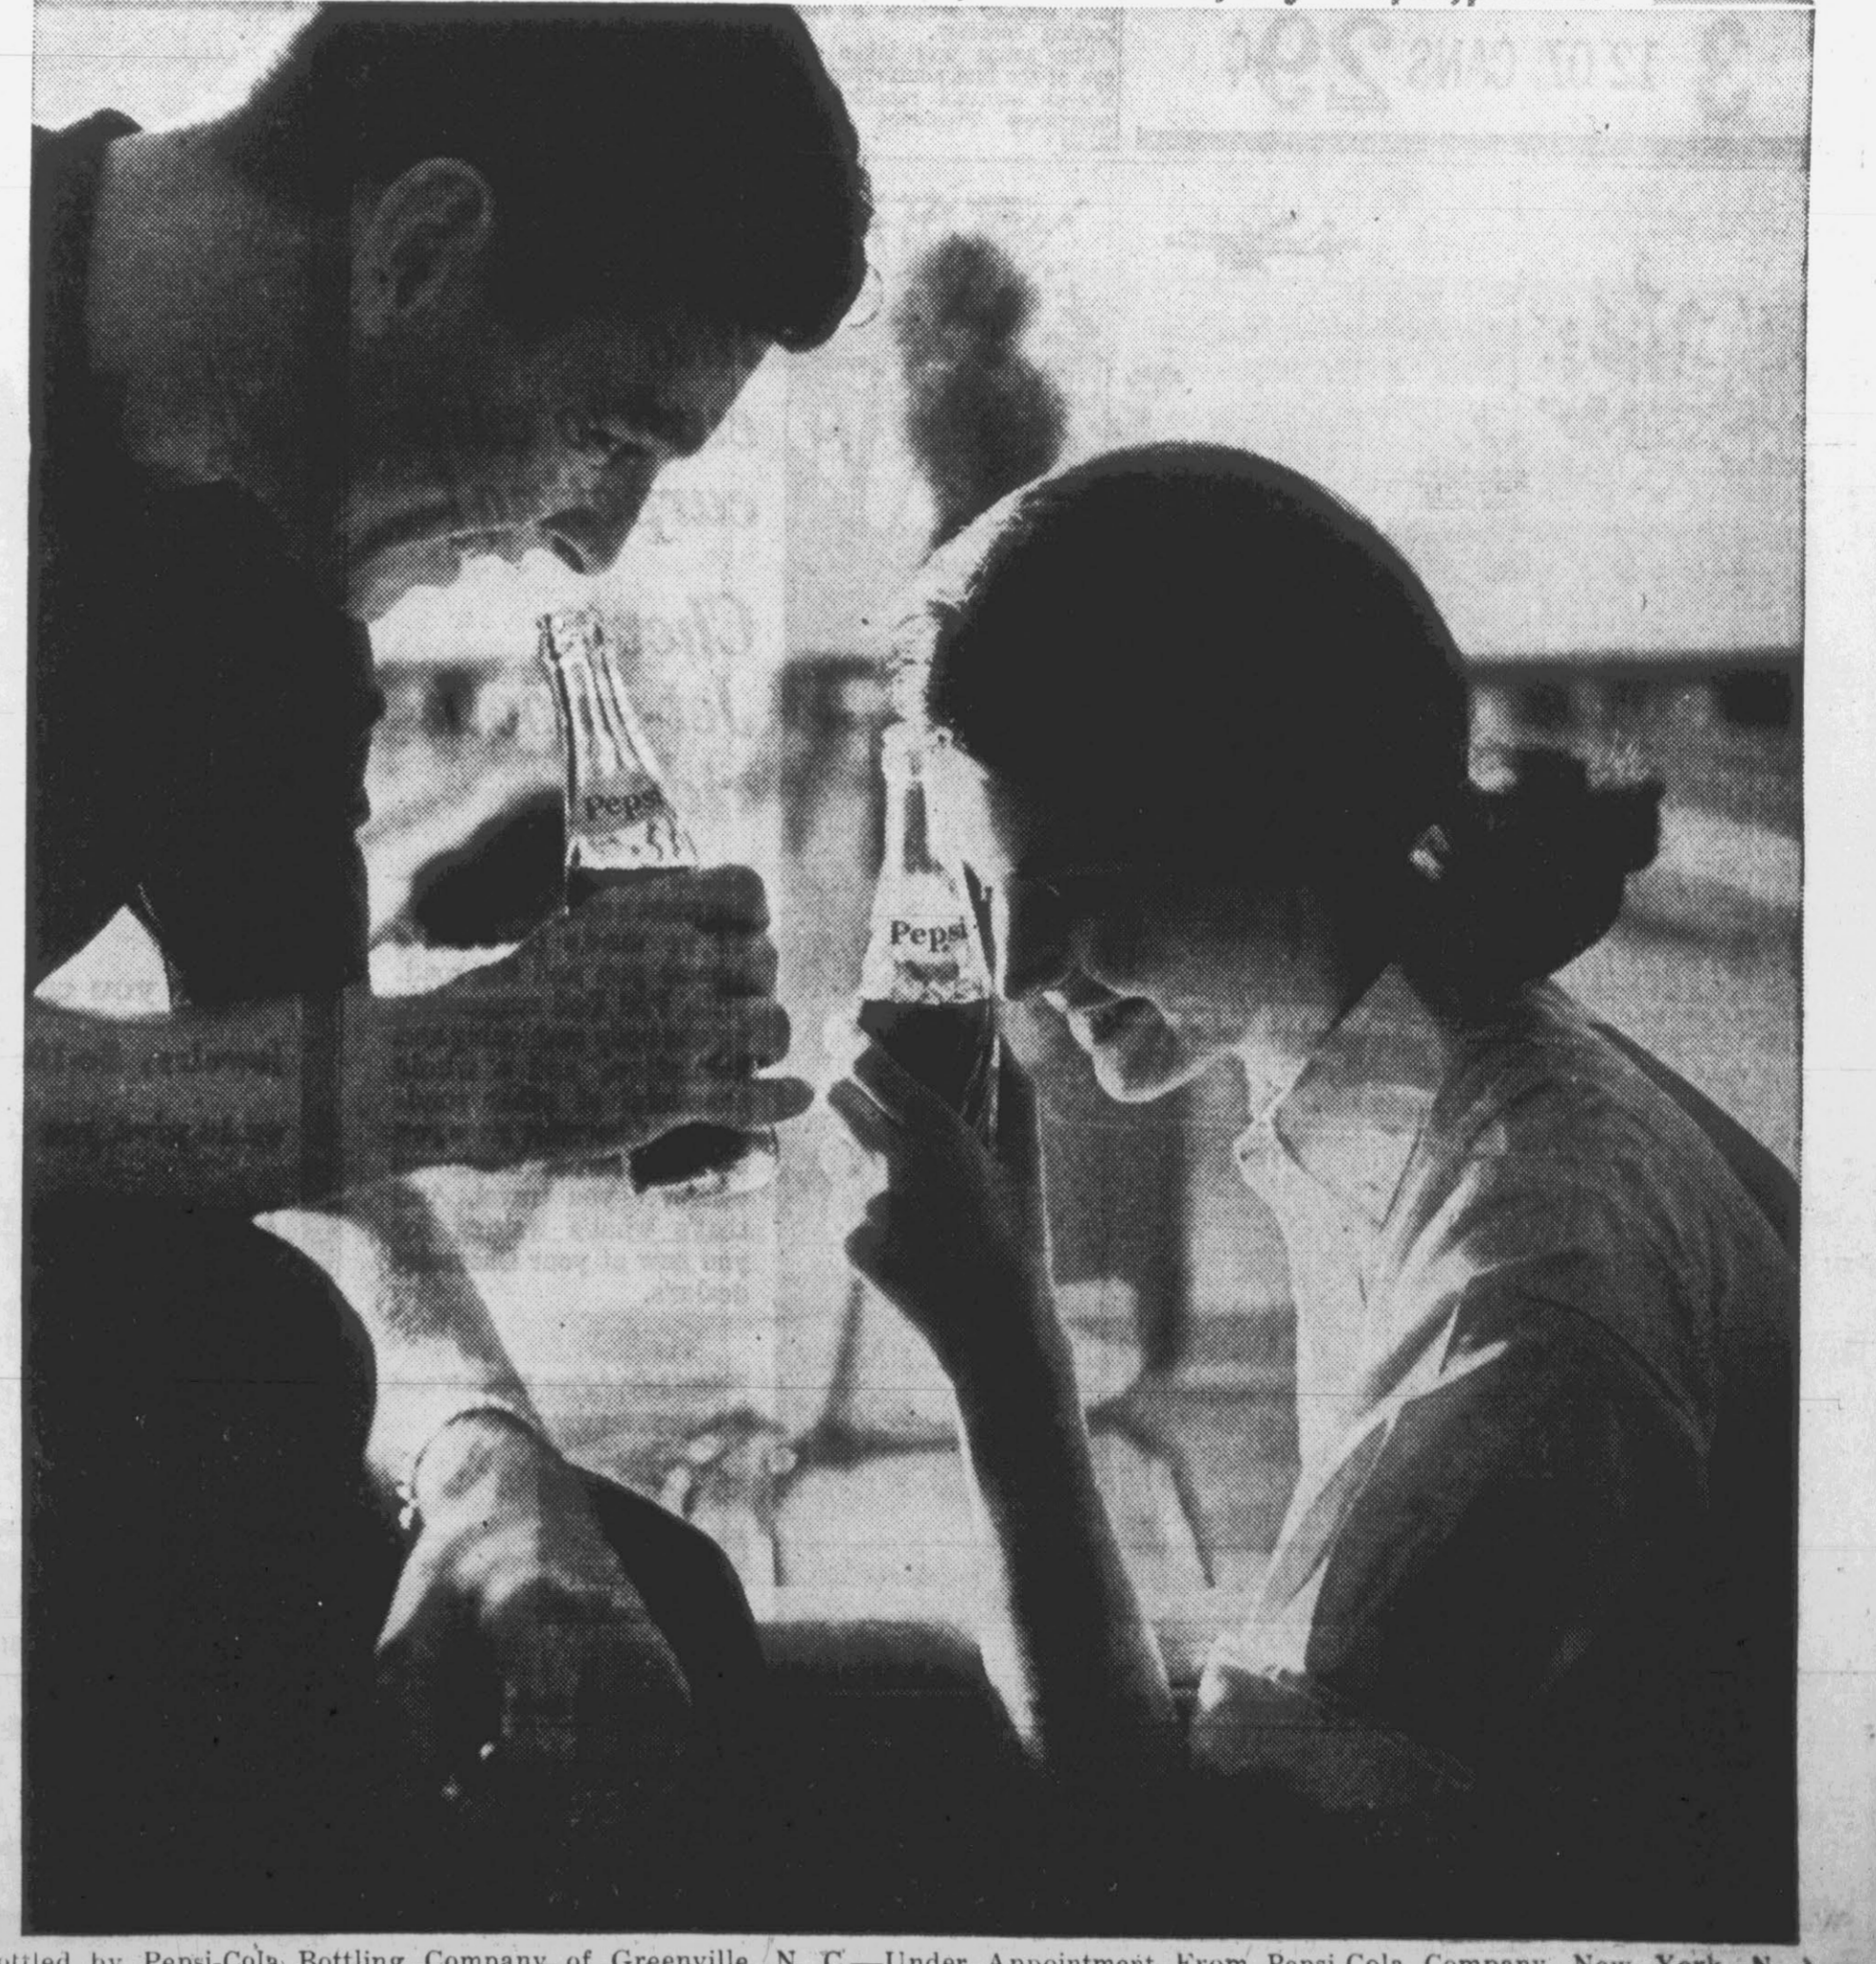

Surviving are a son, George Roach of Grifton; three daughters, Mrs. Mamie Jones of Greenville, Mrs. Etta Dunn of Pamlico County, and Mrs. Edward Had-dock of Rocky Mount; 23 grandchildren; a number of great grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Dora Smith of Farmville.

Mr. Roach spent most of his life in Pitt, Craven, and Pamlico counties and was a farmer.

'Escapists', Is Bunche Verdict

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Muslim movement among American Negroes is escapist, defeatist and unlikely to meet with any great success, says Dr. Ralph Bunche.

The United Nations undersecretary for special political affairs told a news conference at UCLA Monday that he saw nothing very new in the black supremacy cult. He cited such previous Negro movements as the "Back to Africa" campaign of the 1930s and the later drive to establish a 49th state for Negroes.

"These are escapist movements," he said, "essentially defeatist. They operate on the assumption there is no solution to the problem (of racial relations). In my way of thinking this reasoning is entirely erroneous."

Physicists believe the particles thrown off by the sun are hydrogen protons and electrons. Besides creating the aurora borealis, the particles are responsible for magnetic storms which disrupt radio communication.

Director Of Instruction Clarifies Details Of Summer Kindergarten

Several inquiries have arisen in connection with the summer kindergarten program, to be initiated here this summer.

Mrs. Ellen Carroll, director of instruction for the Greenville City Schools, has clarified the following points in answer to the queries:

- (1) The kindergartens are for children who will be six on or before Oct. 16 and who have had no previous kindergarten experience.
- (2) The program is open to those children who desire to attend, but it is not required for a child to enter school.
- (3) All children who are able will pay the fee of $10.
- (4) Money received from civic organizations for the program will be spent for those children who are not able to pay the regular fee.
- (5) Kindergarten will begin June 5 and will end June 30.
- (6) Teachers serving in the program are teaching at a nominal fee, which is less than they would receive as a regular classroom teacher.
- (7) There is no money in the state or city budgets for this program.

The kindergartens are scheduled to take place at the Elm-hurst, Third Street and Agnes Fulkotte Schools. Children enrolled at Wahl-Coates School who wish to have kindergarten experience will attend the kindergarten on the campus of East Carolina College.

This program will be sponsored and operated under the supervision of the kindergarten committee of the Greenville Parent-Teacher Association Council.

The kindergarten will need various types of equipment, including wagons, bicycles, tricycles, blocks, heavy play trucks, household furnishings such as doll furniture, chairs and tables, tea sets and other items.

Right Color For Tag, Wrong Year

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—The color of the license plate was correct but not the year.

Doyle Bledsoe offered no explanation when state police cited him for driving with 1957 license tags. The date had been concealed with reflectors, said the trooper who gave him a ticket for improper registration.

U.S. Increasing South Korea Aids

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Monday announced a $15-million increase in aid funds to South Korea, and pledged continuing interest in the progress of that country toward a self-supporting economy.

The action was taken on the eve of the first anniversary of the Korean students rebellion, which overthrew President Syngman Rhee.

Rocket Plane To Top 3,100 MPH

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The X15 rocket plane is expected to set a winged-craft speed record of more than 3,100 miles an hour on its next flight.

Air Force Maj. Bob White, who last March 27 flew the X15 to a record aircraft speed of 2,905 m.p.h., will again be at the controls for the flight expected this week.

During the descent White will test new instruments designed to overcome "buffeting" experienced by pilot Joe Walker, returning from 189,600 feet March 30.

Predict Peace Talks To Begin

PARIS (AP)—French newspapers predicted Monday that peace talks with the Algerian rebels may get under way in Evian-les-Bains between April 27 and May 5.

There was no official confirmation, however, either from the French government or from the leadership of the rebel National Liberation Front (FLN) in Tunis.

Dim View Of Better Lighting

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Better lighting for downtown San Jose may be a bright idea but Dr. A. E. Whitford takes a dim view of it.

In a letter to the Downtown Merchants Association, Dr. Whitford—director of nearby Lick Observatory—explained that the proposal "would seriously hamper the effectiveness of the observatory's telescope."

The observatory, atop Mt. Hamilton, is about seven miles from this Northern California city.

RALEIGH (AP)—Two congressional redistricting proposals introduced in the legislature Monday night agree on one thing: Reps. Harold Cooley and L. H. Fountain would be placed in the same district.

But the two plans offer many differences in the other respects.

One bill was introduced by Rep. Ed Kemp of Guilford and the other by Sen. Robert Morgan of Cleveland.

North Carolina, which now has 12 congressmen, will lose one on the basis of the 1960 Census.

This is how the new congressional district lineup would be under Kemp's bill:

First—Northampton, Hertford, Gates, Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Chowan.

Bertie, Martin, Washington, Tyrrell, Dare, Pitt, Beaufort and Hyde.

Second—Vance, Warren, Halifax, Franklin, Nash, Edgecombe, Wilson, Johnston, Greene and Lenoir.

Third—Would remain unchanged.

Fourth—Harnett, Cumberland, Robeson, Bladen, Columbus, Brunswick and New Hanover.

Fifth—Unchanged.

Sixth—Unchanged.

Seventh—Randolph, Chatham, Wake, Montgomery, Moore, Lee, Anson, Richmond, Hoke, Scotland, Eighth—Yadkin, Iredell, Davie, Rowan, Davidson, Cabarrus, Stanley and Union.

Ninth—Alleghany, Wilkes, Alexander, Catawba, Lincoln and Mecklenburg.

Tenth—Mitchell, Avery, Watauga, Ashe, Caldwell, Burke, Rutherford, Cleveland and Gaston.

Eleventh—Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Macon, Swain, Jackson, Haywood, Madison, Buncombe, Henderson, Transylvania, Yancey, McDowell and Polk.

Here is how the lineup would be under Morgan's bill:

First—Northampton, Hertford, Gates, Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Chowan, Martin, Washington, Tyrrell, Pitt, Dare, Beaufort, Hyde and Pamlico.

Second—Vance, Warren, Halifax, Franklin, Nash, Edgecombe, Wilson, Johnston and Harnett.

Third—Wayne, Greene, Lenoir, Craven, Jones, Carteret, Onslow, Sampson, Duplin and Pender.

Fourth—Scotland, Hoke, Cumberland, Robeson, Bladen, Columbus, Brunswick and New Hanover.

Fifth—Surry, Yadkin, Stokes, Forsyth, Rockingham, Caswell, Person and Granville.

Sixth—Unchanged.

Seventh—Davidson, Randolph, Chatham, Wake, Lee, Moore, Montgomery, Richmond and Anson.

Eighth—Alleghany, Wilkes, Alexander, Iredell, Davie, Rowan, Cabarrus, Stanly and Union.

Ninth—Burke, Catawba, Lincoln and Mecklenburg.

Tenth—Mitchell, Avery, Watauga, Caldwell, McDowell, Ashe, Rutherford, Cleveland and Gaston.

Eleventh—Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Macon, Swain, Jackson, Haywood, Transylvania, Madison, Buncombe, Henderson, Yancey and Polk.

Sanford Pushing Probe Of Prices

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Sanford has ordered the State Division of Purchase and Contract and the attorney general to "pursue with vigor" a probe into identical bidding on contracts.

Purchase and Contract Director Bill White said Monday in announcing that officers at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base had reported receiving identical bids on bakery products during the past two or three years.

White said Sanford instructed that the probe be pushed with an eye toward possible indictments under existing state laws against price fixing.

At the same time, White announced that three bread firms which have submitted identical bids for state bread contracts were among seven companies which pleaded no contest last week in Jacksonville, Fla., to charges of fixing prices of bread sold to military installations. He identified the three as Ward Baking Co., American Bakeries and Southern Bakeries.

Similar pleas were entered to charges of conspiracy to fix wholesale bakery prices to groceries and restaurants in Florida. They were fined a total of $45,000.

Capt. John Lippard, information officer at Camp Lejeune, told The Associated Press the Marine base received identical bids on bakery products about a year ago but that these were thrown out. He said no identical bids had been received since.

Two Pedestrians Injured In Accidents Yesterday

A 60-year-old Negro woman pedestrian, hospitalized yesterday after being involved in a collision with a car on Greene St., near the intersection of Fifth St., was charged with jay-walking by investigating officers today.

Police identified the woman as Maggie Armwood of 1911 South Pitt St., and said she was charged for "crossing the street against a traffic signal and out of a pedestrian walk-way."

She was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital suffering from a fractured left leg and a cut to her right hand, officers said, after she stepped from behind a parked car and into the side of a moving vehicle.

Wants Gov't To Run Businesses

Philadelphia (AP) — President Michael J. Quill of the Transport Workers Union says subways, buses, railroads and airlines should be turned over to the city, state and federal governments.

Quill said Sunday he thought the Pennsylvania Railroad's riding public was being overcharged and "getting poor service." He criticized the "poor management" of the Philadelphia Transportation Co.

Feeder Pig Sale Set Thursday

A quality feeder pig sale is scheduled for the Pitt County Fairgrounds at 1 p.m. Thursday.

A number of the pigs to be sold are reported from outstanding purebred herds, according to C. J. Goodman, assistant Pitt County agricultural agent.

Thursday's sale is another to be conducted by the Pitt County Livestock Development Association with the agricultural agencies cooperating.

Purpose of the livestock association is to assist Pitt County livestock growers in producing and marketing better grades of livestock.

Four Children Killed By Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Four children, ranging in age from 2 to 5, died Monday night in a fire which swept their three-story home.

The victims were Richard Heckstall, 5; his brother, Charles, 2; and two sisters, Ernestine, 3, and Cheryl, 4.

All were Negroes.

Firemen found their bodies in a third-floor bedroom. Authorities said all four apparently suffocated.

They were the children of Marie Heckstall, 28. Her husband, Ernest, 32, said he and his wife were separated.

PTA Congress Is Meeting Tonight

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — The 41st annual convention of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers opens tonight.

About 700 persons are here for the three-day meeting.

The convention gets under way tonight with an address by Mrs. H. S. Godwin, state president.

Gov. Terry Sanford will address the convention Wednesday night.

Thursday, the delegates will elect officers, adopt the legislative program for the year, and present awards to outstanding members.

Catfish Seen As Revenue Source

RALEIGH (AP) — The growing popularity of catfish offers an added source of revenue for North Carolina's farmers, the State Board of Agriculture was told Monday.

T. B. Upchurch, Raeford businessman and farmer, said the price for catfish is very good and demand exceeds supply. They could be grown in North Carolina's approximately 50,000 farm ponds, he told the board.

Upchurch gave a catfish luncheon for Gov. and Mrs. Sanford, State Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine, members of the Board of Agriculture and officials from North Carolina State College.

Sanford expressed interest in the possibilities of catfish as a new farm production item.

Meet To Confer On Angola Crisis

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — Nationalist leaders from Portuguese territories in Africa and India convene here today to study the situation in Angola, Portuguese West Africa.

The conference, scheduled for three days behind closed doors, was called by the African Independence party, a group claiming to speak for nationalist movements in all Portuguese colonies.

Firemen Handle Their Own Blaze

Greenville firemen, who usually have to travel away from "home" to extinguish fires, yesterday had the tables turned on them at the Department's Central Station.

Firemen explained that electrical workmen, installing an air conditioning unit in the building, were working in a storage room yesterday when a spark from their equipment ignited a small bucket of gas stored there.

The small blaze was quickly brought under control, officers said, and reported the only damage done was to a broom.

The bucket is used to clean oil from under the departments trucks each-day. They noted only a small amount of gas is kept in the container.

THESE THREE LINES

Tell the story at STATE BANK

... three black stripes:

Next month, your bank ledger sheet will have three black stripes on the back.

Why? Our business has been growing so fast that the cost of keeping track of it has skyrocketed. Something had to be done.

Burroughs engineers surveyed our system. They told us what we needed—electronics! So we have purchased two Burroughs Electronic Bank Bookkeeping Machines and Automatic Readers.

Now it's practically impossible to make a mistake. If a deposit gets posted to the wrong account, the machine won't take it. The deposit slip gets kicked out. Same way with checks. Lights blink—bells ring—horns blow!

How? Three black stripes! These black stripes on the back of our statement tell us the entries are going to the right account. When we post a check to your account, the black stripes set wheels in motion causing the machine to pick up the old balance automatically.

It's faster, too. When we begin a new month, all we need to do is insert a clean sheet in the machine. This miraculous piece of machinery then automatically prints your old balance, and presto! We're ready to begin again. This means faster and improved service for our customers.

For a month, now, Burroughs engineers have been instructing our bookkeepers in the technique of operating these space-age machines, with lectures, movies, demonstrations.

Next week, operation of this new equipment will be demonstrated in our lobby. Come by. You'll be interested. When you see what science can do now-a-days with one small piece of bookkeeping equipment, you get the feeling that man's trip to the moon can't be too far away.
