Weather Delays America's First Man-In-Space Launch At Cape

Navy Commander Shepard Chosen Astronaut For Rocket Ride Into History

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Bad weather forced postponement today of America's first man-in-space shot and the chosen astronaut, Alan B. Shepard Jr., must wait at least 48 hours before he takes his rocket ride into the heavens and the history books.

Announcement that Shepard, lean, muscular, 37-year-old Navy commander, had been chosen for the daring adventure came simultaneously with a report that unfavorable weather had spoiled a try this morning to launch him 115 miles into space aboard a Redstone rocket.

The backup astronaut, to take Shepard's place in the 3,000-pound Project Mercury space capsule if he is unable to go when the time comes, is John H. Glenn Jr., 30, a Marine lieutenant colonel.

Shepard had donned his pressure suit and sat in a hangar at the missile test center, sweating out the moment when he would be called to embark on the most thrilling voyage ever taken by an American.

Observers reported that he sat quietly, outwardly calm, and eager to be the man who would challenge the Soviet feat of blasting a man into the weightless void beyond the atmosphere of the earth.

In the coming 48 hours, physicians will keep Shepard under constant surveillance to see how he bears up under the mounting tension. A physical or psychological disorder would sideline him in favor of Glenn, who also will remain under observation in the Cape ready room.

If Shepard still is in good condition, mentally and physically, at the next scheduled launch time, he will remain the choice.

The final countdown began at 12:30 a. m. but prospects were never good. A heavy cloud cover over the Cape and down along the 290 miles of the missile range over which the Redstone was to fly brought frowns to the faces of Project Mercury scientists.

They needed clear visibility so that in the critical moments after the blastoff they could have good visual tracking and be ready to trigger Shepard's escape mechanism at the first hint of any trouble.

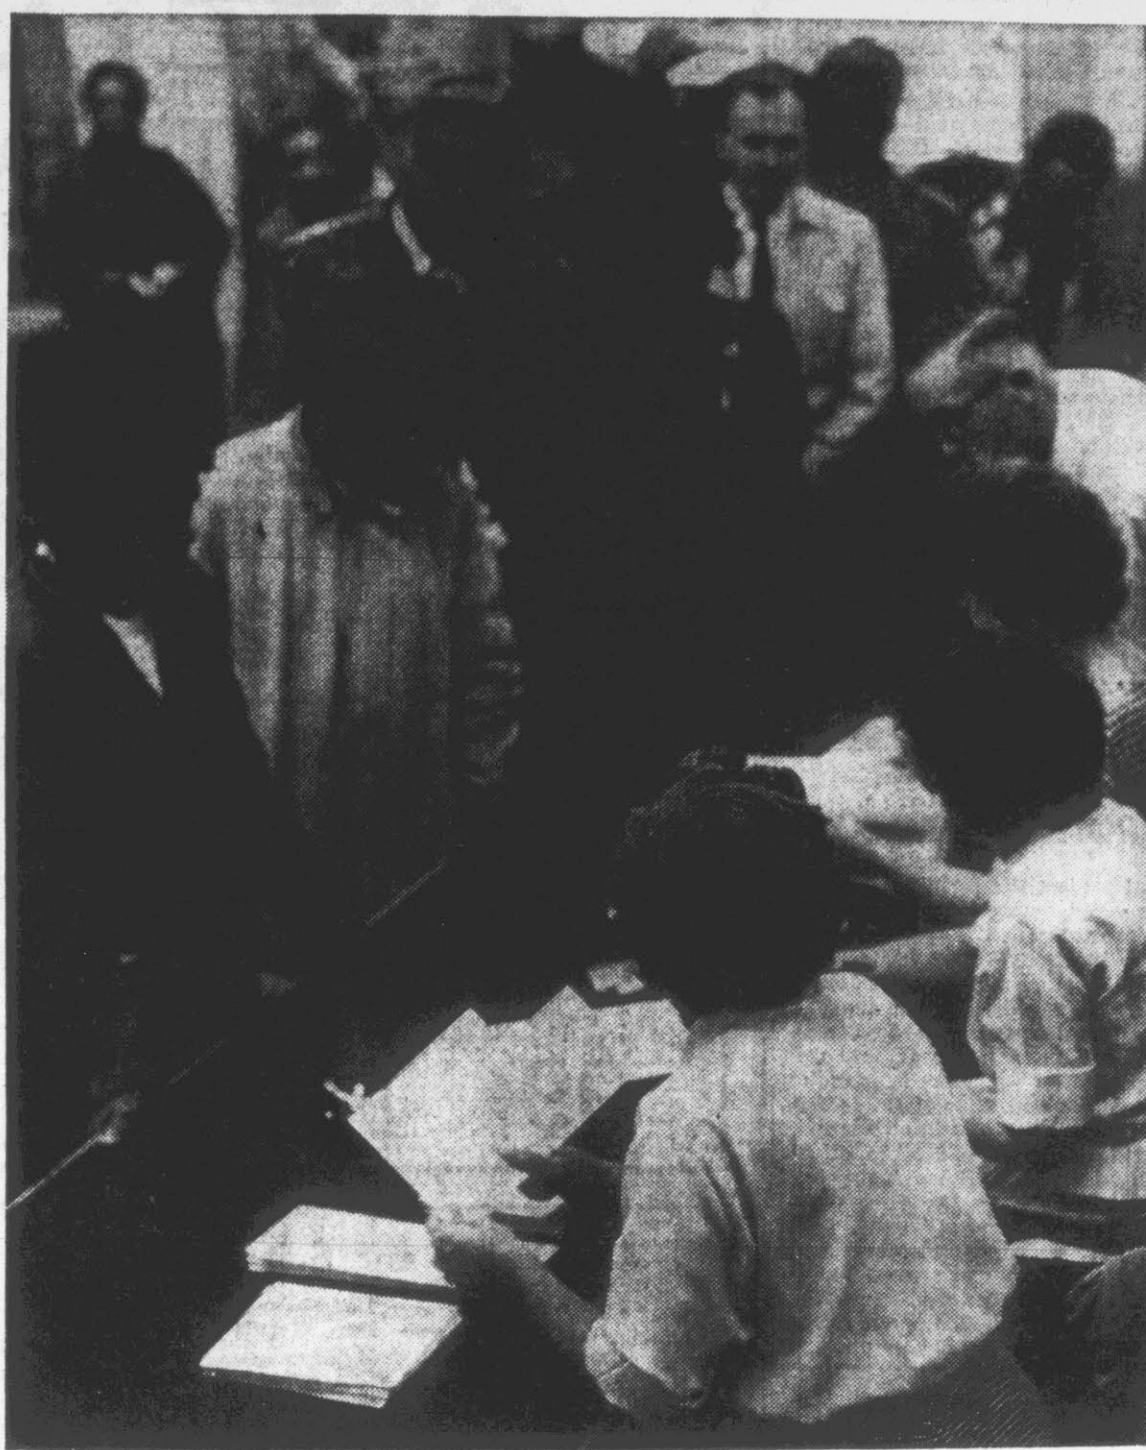

While scientists and physicians checked everything from the working parts of the rocket to the functioning of Shepard's heart, weather men looked hopefully for a breakup in the overcast.

But weather conditions did not change and at 7:40 a. m. the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the shot was off until at least Thursday.

No new launch date has been set, said the announcement, "but the minimum recycle time is 48 hours. The pilot will remain in the crew quarters in the NASA Mercury hangar here."

The rocket crew was 2 hours and 20 minutes away from its zero target when the decision to postpone was reached. The count had been halted several times in the hope that favorable weather would come.

Castro Puts Cuba Deeper Still In Communist Ranks

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro today put Cuba deep into the sphere of international communism, proclaiming a Socialist state, ruling out elections and clapping harsh new restrictions on the Roman Catholic Church.

Cuban masses filled Havana's Civic Plaza for a mammoth May Day demonstration and roared their assent when Castro insisted on Cuba's right to choose its own political and social future despite United States disapproval.

"We will not even discuss that subject," said Castro, whose audience was estimated by Havana television commentators at three million. The telecast was monitored in Key West, 90 miles from Havana.

The multitude screamed "No, no" when Castro asked, "Do you need elections?" He said Cuba will do without them.

Calling priests "the exploiters who came in the name of God," Castro announced that church schools will be nationalized in a few days and foreign-born clergymen will be expelled from Cuba.

Only about one third of Cuba's 750 priests are Cubans. Most of the rest are Spanish and some are from the United States.

Referring to several captured invaders identified as priests, and blaming the United States for fostering the ill-fated April 17 attack on his regime, Castro warned that U. S. cities are "in danger of becoming another Hiroshima."

He said churches will be allowed to remain open. Castro said it was an historic May Day because workers who used to express their demands "to those who were completely deaf to their interests no longer have to submit to those traits."

much right to set up a Socialist state 90 miles from the U. S. coast as the United States does to its form of government.

"Why do they fear us? As Khrushchev said, this shows they have no faith in their own system," Castro said.

Castro used the word traitors to describe Latin American nations which followed the United States' lead in severing diplomatic relations with Cuba, and vilified President Kennedy, who earlier was burned in effigy.

"Kennedy had better get rid of that hate, that phobia against our revolution," Castro said in a 3 1/2-hour speech that listed into the early morning and left him hoarse.

Castro, wearing a uniform, a beret and a pistol at his waist, spoke after watching for 14 hours as legions of laborers, peasants, athletes and some heavy military equipment moved past him.

"The aggressive policy of the United States can cause a world war that can cost the lives of tens of millions of Americans," he shouted.

"We do not endanger the lives of a single American. It is they who are playing at war."

Castro ended by waving his arms and shouting, "Long live the Cuban working class. Long live the brother countries of Latin America. Motherland or death, we will triumph."

Large Turnout Of Voters In Farmville Today

FARMVILLE — Farmville at noon today appeared headed for a record municipal election vote as a total of 561 local voters had cast ballots.

When the polls opened at 6:30 a. m. several voters were waiting for ballots. From that time until noon, voters filed in and out of the Haywood Smith Fire Station in a steady stream.

Registrar C. A. Lilly, prior to election day, had predicted the heaviest municipal vote count in this town's history. He added 234 names to the 1,300-strong registration books during three Saturdays of registration.

Farmville's voting citizens today will select one of three candidates for their mayor. They will pick five of 11 candidates for commissioner.

A light rain that fell at intervals this morning may have curbed voting slightly and overcast skies threatened more rain during the day. Still, observers predicted a record vote.

Poll holders were rushed all morning as the steady stream of voters kept the eight voting booths full most of the time.

Seeking to succeed Mayor Charles S. Edwards were Commissioner W. E. Joyner, former mayor O. G. Spell and farm equipment dealer Frank K. Allen.

Incumbent commissioners Oliver Murphrey and Howard Moxie filed for re-election. Newcomers C. B. Mashburn Jr., Mrs. Frances Joyner Harper, Joseph D. Joyner, Tommy Lang, Robert Joyner, Dr. S. H. Aycock Jr., Sam Walnwright and Jack Allen were also in the commissioner race.

Heavy Forenoon Vote Here Points To Record Turnout

Voting was heavy at City Hall this morning as citizens went to the polls to decide the fate of urban renewal-public housing and to elect a City Council and a mayor.

Poll holders reported that 1,823 persons had cast their ballots at 11 o'clock today with a steady stream of voters moving through the polling places.

Two years ago, in 1959, 1,355 citizens have voted shortly before noon.

Skies were overcast during the morning but the sun broke through at times and no rain had fallen by noon to mar the election day.

The voters were being handed three ballots as poll holders checked off their names on the city's new books. One ballot lists the judge and solicitor of municipal court for which there is no race. The second lists the two candidates for mayor and 11 for City Council. The third includes the controversial Urban Redevelopment Shore-Drive project and creating of a Housing Authority. Citizens vote for or against in each case.

A new system, set up for the first time this year, seemed to be moving voters through the polling places at a rapid pace.

Instead of the old ward books, the city set up new books in alphabetical order this year. With four sets of books and four sets of poll holders the lines were moving quickly.

At 11 o'clock, the A-D book had voted 440 persons, E-K had voted 558; L-R, 393 and S-Z, 442.

Voters were greeted outside the City Hall lobby by a crush of candidates and their workers as they came to the polls. All were eager to hand out last minute reminders.

Anti urban renewal forces took a last crack at voters with a sign mounted on a trailer across Fifth St. from City Hall.

Urban renewal-public housing referendum, which has attracted state-wide interest to Greenville, appeared to be bringing out a record vote locally. In view of the heavy morning balloting, predictions of a better than 4,000 vote were being made.

This would be far ahead of the 1953 record when 3,334 voters went to the polls. Low for the past decade was 1955 when only 41 persons voted. There was no contest for city offices that year; in 1957 2,421 citizens voted and in 1959 there were 2,909 ballots cast.

Mayor S. Eugene West is seeking re-election today. He is opposed by Councilman Charles M. King. The candidates for City Council are: Dr. M. W. Aldridge, B. Brooks Beddingfield, Ralph F. W. Brimley, H. H. Duncan, G. W. Harvey, Jr., John L. Howard, James W. Lee, Ford McGowan, Richard Powell, C. O. Stephens and J. T. Williams.

Municipal Court Judge Charles H. Wheabee is unopposed and Solicitor Eil Bloom has no opposition.

The board granted a request from the Griffon School District to increase to $18,000 the capital outlay funds being spent in Griffon for additional classroom space. The new request represented a $3,000 increase.

Griffon voters elected three new aldermen yesterday and returned two incumbents to office.

Leslie Elks, mayor of Grimesland, and incumbent alderman J. D. Heath will continue to serve on the town board. L. A. Moore, a former alderman, Elmore Hodges and Paul D. Majette were elected to serve on the Town Board of Aldermen.

Planagan said federal SCS funds—total have amounted to around $500,000 this year—in Pitt County are not sufficient to hire the personnel necessary to meet the demands of county farm owners.

Chairman of the Board Robert G. Little of Simpson told Flanagan the commissioners would consider the SCS request along with other budget needs when the board begins its budget sessions soon.

The commissioners set their first budgetary session for May 17—immediately following their 2:30 p. m. meeting as a Board of Equalization and Review.

Committees Named

Chairman Little appointed four more members to a committee to study the problem of obtaining a nursing home for Pitt County. He named J. Herbert Waldrop, Mrs. Jarvis Tripp and Mrs. James Pindexter, all of Greenville, and Mrs. Albert Bell of Fountain, to serve with Commissioners B. Alton Gardner and Bruce Strickland and Greenville physician Dr. S. L. Bartlett on the study group.

A delegation yesterday morning presented a petition calling for the committee to the commissioners.

Little named another committee—this one to study the problem of crowded office conditions in the courthouse. Little himself will head the committee that includes Commissioner Perkins, Clerk of Superior Court D. T. House Jr., Greenville attorney Kenneth G. Hite, and the mayors of Greenville, Farmville and Ayden.

The commissioners authorized a pay raise for Pitt County sanitarian Fred Wood, a sanitarian at the local health department for several years, recently was promoted to a rating of "senior sanitarian" and, on those grounds, was given about a $40-per-month salary boost.

The board granted a request from the Griffon School District to increase to $18,000 the capital outlay funds being spent in Griffon for additional classroom space. The new request represented a $3,000 increase.

Other voting revealed that

Walter Dail, engineer at the Pitt Memorial Hospital, married the former Dorothy Ricks McLawhorna of Winterville and they have four children. He is a member of the Winterville Baptist Church, and a member of the newly-organized Kiwanis Club here.

Vincent is a member of the Ruritan Club, a member and past president of the Winterville Merchants Association and a member of the Reedy Branch church.

He married the former Doris Harris of Cash Corner and they have two children.

Vincent was elected for a three-year term as alderman and will serve with Sam W. McLawhorna and E. C. Hines, who are at present members of the official board. One alderman is elected each year, it was explained.

Dail, as mayor, was elected for a two year term.

Former Mayor Burnie L. Tucker, who has served six terms as the official head of the town, did not seek re-election to the post this year.

AYDEN—Ayden voters yesterday re-elected all incumbent officials, with a total of 632 persons casting ballots in the May 1 election.

Re-elected were Mayor S. F. Peterson, Judge of Recorder's Court Leon Kittrell, Commissioners Edison Gibson, Norman Dail and Harry Mumford.

The closest race came in the first ward, where former commissioner Dail, the current commissioner, Dail received 323 votes, while Worthington received 284 Worthington, who served one term as commissioner in 1957, was defeated for re-election by Dail in the 1959 elections.

Fifth Ward Commissioner Mumford received strong support from voters, with 476 ballots cast for him, while James H. Braxton, political newcomer, received 124 votes. Braxton was the only Negro candidate.

Registrar Peggy Bright reported that there were 26 write-in votes cast for different places on the ballot. Several of the write-in candidates received more than one vote, but there was no definite trend.

Mayor Peterson received a total of 482 votes in the election. Judge Kittrell received the highest number of votes of anyone, with a total of 504. Commissioner Gibson, who was unopposed, received 413.

Since there are some 1,151 eligible voters in Ayden, the 632 persons casting their ballots yesterday could be considered a moderate turnout.

WINTERVILLE—Walter Dail, a veteran of 12 years as alderman of Winterville, won a landslide victory over his two opponents for the office of mayor of the town.

Dail polled 196 of the 307 votes cast in the race for the office, while his closest opponent, L. I. Rouse, a Winterville contractor, received 91 votes. Placing third in the three-way race was opponent W. H. Moxie.

G. M. Vincent, owner of the Vincent Electric Company, won the seat on the board of aldermen vacated by Dail. He received 167 voters for the office while Raymond H. Cox, his opponent, polled 135 votes. Both Vincent and Cox were newcomers to Winterville politics.

The newly-elected town officials will assume their duties July 1.

Dail, who expressed thanks to the persons supporting him in the election, said he regarded the vote for him a "vote of confidence" in his past 12 years of experience with the governing body.

The newly-elected mayor has served as head of Winterville's utilities since becoming an alderman.

Dail, engineer at the Pitt Memorial Hospital, married the former Dorothy Ricks McLawhorna of Winterville and they have four children. He is a member of the Winterville Baptist Church, and a member of the newly-organized Kiwanis Club here.

Vincent is a member of the Ruritan Club, a member and past president of the Winterville Merchants Association and a member of the Reedy Branch church.

He married the former Doris Harris of Cash Corner and they have two children.

Millions In Gold Along Highway

WARSAW, Ky. (AP) — There was gold in them thar hills Monday.

Millions of dollars in gold was stacked along U. S. 42 after a Brinks armored car carrying it from Ft. Knox, Ky., to New York overturned.

The costly cargo had to be removed from the overturned truck before it could be righted. The gold was stacked in three neat piles while waiting for Brinks trucks rushed from Cincinnati.

Record forecasts were based on the fact that more registrants currently appear on the books than ever before. Also, the 14 candidates seeking the six offices at stake represent the largest field ever and indicate higher-than-average interest in local politics.

In 1959, the mayor's race between Edwards and Spell drew 1,194 Farmville votes.

Reflecter Office To Have Returns

Results of the City Council and mayor's election along with the urban renewal-public housing referendum results will be posted in front of the Daily Reflecter building.

New Period Begun In Africa, Says Speaker At ECC Institute

Dr. Leonore M. Maan, research specialist with the United States Department of State, opened the Eighth Annual World Affairs Institute at East Carolina College this morning with a discussion of the "Colonial Background and Preparation for Independence in Africa."

Emphasizing "the bearing of the past on the present," she presented an account of the first settlement in Africa by Europeans in the Seventeenth Century; the establishment of trading posts and missions; the active period of exploration in the Nineteenth Century; the "scramble for Africa" during the era of colonization; and the present rise of nationalism.

A new period has begun in Africa, Dr. Laan said. "The myth of the superiority of the white man has been destroyed, and the spirit of independence and nationalism has emerged." The era of decolonization, she stated, saw the establishment by 1960 of 24 independent states, and since then of an additional state.

Approximately 500 people were present this morning in the Austin auditorium to hear Dr. Laan, President Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina presided at the meeting. Dr. George Pasti, chairman of the World Affairs Institute, introduced the speaker.

The Institute program will continue through today and tomorrow Present on the campus for a series of lectures and discussions are a group of experts on Africa who will deal with social, political, economic, educational, and racial developments there. Relationships between the United States and Africa and Soviet influence in Africa will also be analyzed.

Tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the McGinnis auditorium Dr. Laan and Dr. E. Taylor Cole, James B. Duke professor of political science at Duke University, will speak in the McGinnis auditorium. Developing the theme "Changing Africa," Dr. Laan will discuss social changes and Dr. Cole will talk on Communism in Africa.

League Has Memorial Service

A memorial service was held Monday morning at the May meeting of the Greenville Service League for the late Mrs. Helen Laughinghouse Stokes. Mrs. Stokes' Resolutions of respect were passed by the League members preceding the service led by Rev. John W. Drake, Jr., rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Mrs. Stokes was the first president of the Service League and the success of this civic organization during its twenty three years of existence has been largely due to her inspiring leadership and citizenship. Through her thought and foresight and desire to help ameliorate the suffering of those less privileged the League's most vital project the Hospital Bed, was conceived, encouraged and has been carried on. Several months after the Bed Project was adopted the League members dedicated this bed space to the memory of Dr. Charles O'Hagan Laughinghouse. This action was taken in appreciation of the outstanding life, ideals and work of Dr. Laughinghouse and in acknowledgment of the capable leadership of his daughter, Mrs. Helen Laughinghouse Stokes, as the first president of the Service League. Advisory Council members were in attendance. The annual luncheon will be Thursday, May 25th, at 11:30 o'clock at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Shortage Of Trained Personnel Limit Clinics' Care

(Editor's Note: The following article has been written in conjunction with Mental Health Week, April 30-May 6, with the cooperation of the Pitt County Mental Health Association.)

'Urge' Caused Him To Murder

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP) — A boy has confessed killing a mother of two because of an "urge," police said.

Joan Fink, 21, was found Monday on the floor of her bedroom. Dr. I. G. Wagner, Lancaster County deputy coroner, said Mrs. Fink had been stabbed 15 times.

Police quoted Harry Madlem, 13, a 210-pounder, as saying he awoke with an "urge," armed himself with a hunting knife and entered Mrs. Fink's apartment after her husband, Leroy, a lineman for the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., had left for work.

FRIENDLY
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A thug has held up a food store here so often he's now on first-name terms with manager Hubert Hendon.

He walked up to Hendon in the fourth robbery and said: "Hello, Hubert, sack it up."

Hendon did and the thief ran off with $140.

percent of the psychiatrists, social workers, nurses and psychologists they need.

Statistics indicate that shortage of professional personnel is keeping mental health clinics from caring for more than 250,000 emotionally disturbed children a year.

Each year Mental Health Week is concentrated on a project which reads special attention. The emphasis this year is the Mental Health Careers program, which those interested say is the answer to the current manpower crises.

The National Association for Mental Health has launched such a program this year, to inform young people about careers in mental health and to stimulate their interest in entering the field.

Some of the careers in mental health are: psychiatric aide, recreational therapist, occupational health therapist, psychiatric nurse, psychiatric social worker, clinical psychologist and psychiatrist. The education and training needed depends on the particular career selected.

Wants $25,000 For Hair Damage

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A woman who said her hair fell out after using a home permanent has filed a $25,000 damage suit against Procter and Gamble Co.

Mrs. Leta Booth of Nashville, in the suit filed in circuit court Monday said her hair came out "in large handfuls" after using a home permanent.

In this community, information about mental health careers may be obtained at the N.C. Association of Mental Health, Inc. office in the Tetterton Building The Pitt County Mental Health Association has provided free literature there.

The path to a career in mental health can be found as close as East Carolina College, where training is available in counseling, psychology and in psychiatric nursing. Training received here could be used as a basis for further study, in the event it is desirable to the student.

Careers Here

At East Carolina College, Mrs. Eva Warren, dean of the nursing division, said nursing students will have psychiatric nursing as a part of their four-year program. "This will prepare them for working with psychiatric patients," she said.

The college has a contract with the mental hospital at Butner for nursing students at E.C.C. to obtain their concentrated experience in psychiatric nursing there. The students, Mrs. Warren added, will have mental health aspects integrated with all of their nursing training.

In the psychology department of East Carolina College, Dr. Clinton R. Prewett, chairman, said both an undergraduate and a master's degree are offered by this department.

The undergraduate degree program is oriented toward the application of psychology to working in clinics, hospitals and also provides a basis for further graduate study. Graduates are equipped to administer testing and elementary advising as well. At the present time, there are some 25 master's degree candidates in the department. Some of these will go on to further graduate work, while some will locate in the teaching field, in hospitals or in welfare work, Dr. Prewett said.

One psychology student at the college recently won a scholarship to the University of Illinois to complete his doctorate.

Dr. Frank Fuller, of the education department, says the education department offers a master's degree in education, with a major in guidance counseling.

The major purpose of this program is to prepare counselors for the public schools.

The principal responsibility of a public school counselor is to assist the youngsters with vocational choices, educational planning and toward the solution of personal and social problems.

From a mental health standpoint, Dr. Fuller said, the school counselor's job is mainly a preventative one: to spot the difficulties before they develop into serious problems. These counselors are not trained to treat mental illnesses, he emphasized.

However, if a student is ill enough to be treated, it is the counselor's job to refer that person to a mental health clinic.

The Mental Health Association, in its careers in mental health program, is stressing the quality of "liking people" as an important characteristic to consider when choosing a career.

The following summary figures, obtained through the National Association for Mental Health, Inc., say that about 800 medical graduates go into psychiatric training each year, whereas the need is for twice this number.

About 700 doctorates in psychology are being awarded each year, one half of these clinical psychology. While the total annual production of doctorates may increase to 1,000 by 1965, demands for psychologists will undoubtedly exceed this supply.

Needs in all specialties of psychiatric social work exceed the supply from two to six times. In nursing, needs are even more great in training at the graduate level. Some 4,000 graduate-trained nurses are needed annually compared to the present output of under 1,000. Of that 1,000, less than one-fifth are from psychiatric nursing programs.

The Pitt County Mental Health Association, during mental health week, is endeavoring to inform the public of some of these needs. The association is a member of the Pitt County United Fund.

Names Are Familiar

HAMBURG, N. Y. (AP)—Calvin Coolidge and Ben Franklin are well-known at Buffalo Raceway. Coolidge is an accountant for a large stable, and Franklin is a horse owner. The port of Buffalo, N. Y. is closer to most Scandinavian ports than are the ports of New York, Philadelphia or Baltimore.

Mostly Note-Taking At Poet's Kaffeeklatsch

WASHINGTON (AP)—Newsman learned that it's just as well to drink their coffee before they go to a Kaffeeklatsch given by poet Robert Frost. The 87-year-old poet invited reporters in Monday for "just a little informal coffee hour" at the Library of Congress. But most of the steaming coffee grew cold as he kept them busy scribbling down a barrage of quotable quotes. White-haired Frost, who recited some of his poetry at President Kennedy's inauguration, briskly covered a wide range of topics. They included: Science—"Some people worry because science doesn't know where it's going. It doesn't need to know. It's none of its business. I like anything that penetrates the mysteries. And if it penetrates straight to hell, then that's all right, too." Literary friendships—"You know, it's a great burden to have friends who write. They bring you their manuscripts to read and you have to say you like it. I'm glad when a friend gets mad at me. Then I can hate his poetry as thoroughly as if he wasn't my friend."

'Pirate' Hijacks U.S. Airliner For Flight To Havana

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An aerial pirate armed with a steak knife and pistol and flaunting the name of an old-time buccaneer, hijacked an American airliner over Florida Monday and forced it to fly to Cuba.

While seven frightened passengers sat frozen to their seats, the self-proclaimed "El Pirata Cofresi" told the pilot that Rafael Trujillo, Dominican Republic strongman, had offered him $100,000 blood money to assassinate Fidel Castro.

But he had no intention of carrying out the mission, he said, because he considered Castro a "good guy" and wanted to "spill the beans" to him.

When the shanghaied, two-engine National Airlines plane landed at an airport near Havana, Castro militiamen hustled the man away to an uncertain fate. Then the plane was permitted to return to Florida.

The FBI and other government agencies pressed an investigation today to determine the real name of Cofresi, and exactly what he was up to.

"El Pirata Cofresi" means "The Pirate Cofresi," a notorious freebooter who sailed the Caribbean and West Indies area in the early 19th century. In buying his ticket here for the scheduled Miami-to-Key West run, the gunman had first given his name as "Mr. Cofresi, Elpir." Then he told the ticket clerk that the letters "ata" should be added to the "elpir."

The plane had just taken off from an intermediate stop at Marathon, a Florida key, when the hijacker went into action.

A slim, unshaven man wearing dark sun glasses and a straw hat, he slipped into the cockpit and placed a knife at the throat of Capt. Francis X. Riley of Miami Shores. Then he pulled out a small, silver-plated pistol and ordered copilot J. T. Richardson of Jacksonville to leave the cockpit.

Taking the copilot's seat and turning off the radio, he said: "Let's go to Havana."

Pilot Riley related: "He kept pointing the gun at me the rest of the trip. He spoke perfect English and said he was an American citizen who fought in the Korean War—but he looked Cuban."

"I talked to him to see if his mind could be changed, but he was intent on getting to Cuba. He said Trujillo had offered him $100,000 to kill Castro."

"But he said he was going to spill the beans to Castro. Then he said, 'If I don't see Havana in 30 minutes, we'll all die.'"

As the plane passed over Key West, about 90 miles from Havana, the pilot zig-zagged as a signal of distress but nobody got the message.

Meanwhile, according to a passenger, Seaman G. J. Stickney, the pilot spoke over the cabin loudspeaker and announced: "The plane has been rerouted to Havana. We will all be back in the United States in a few hours."

"We did not panic," said Stickney, who was transferring from San Diego to Key West, "but we all got pretty scared."

Stewardess Inez Harlow, a comely light-haired girl who hailed from Manitowoc, Wis., peeks into the cockpit and saw what was happening.

"I turned around," she said, "and went back and explained to the passengers that a man was holding a gun on our pilot. The passengers stayed calm."

Capt. Riley stayed for permission to come down at Jose Marti Field, where commercial planes usually land in Cuba.

Marti field radioed back: "Get out or you'll be shot down."

"I explained to them," Riley said, "that it was an emergency, that I was out of fuel and everything else I could think of. Finally they told me to go to San Antonio Field, a Cuban air force base, 25 miles southwest of Havana."

Soldiers swarmed around the plane when it landed. Riley said they didn't seem happy to see Cofresi, in fact didn't seem to know him.

"At any rate," Riley continued, "they made him put down his pistol. I had thrown the knife, a plain old steak knife, down a few minutes before."

Before Cofresi was hustled off to downtown Havana to be interviewed by "the authorities," he turned to Riley and said, "I'm sorry to have had to do this to you—sorry to have inconvenienced you."

The Cubans treated the plane crew and passengers correctly. After taking down their story, they offered them refreshments and gave them 100 gallons of gas to return to Florida.

"They seemed eager to get rid of us," said Arthur H. Goldberg of New York, an ensign with the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, who was a passenger on board the plane with his wife.

The plane flew back to Key West and then to Miami, where it landed at 10:15 p.m. Monday night, slightly less than eight hours after it was shanghaied in midafternoon.

City Counts 96 Traffic Mishaps During Quarter

Traffic accidents for the first three months of 1961 in the City of Greenville total 96 according to Police Department figures.

Heaviest month for collisions and arrests was January, when 40 collisions were reported and 22 arrests were made.

March placed second with 30 mishaps and 19 arrests, while February was third with 26 traffic collisions and 13 arrests.

A total of $57,798 in property damage resulted during the three month period in the collisions, with $19,403 resulting in January, $21,680 reported for February, and $16,715 damage listed in March.

The worst or most dangerous days to drive during the three-month period was on Thursday and Friday, which saw a total of 19 accidents each of the two days. Saturday ran a close second for the "most dangerous day" with 16 mishaps, while Wednesday and Tuesday were third and fourth with 15 and 14 collisions respectively.

The safest day of the week, according to the figures, was Sunday on which only 9 accidents were reported.

The most dangerous hours during the day to drive . . . the time you would most likely have a wreck was from 12 noon to 8 p.m. During those hours, 47 of the total 96 collisions occurred, the report said.

The next highest accident-prone period was from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, when 21 mishaps were investigated. Safest time to drive was from between 12 midnight to 8 a.m. when only 12 wrecks occurred.

No fatalities resulted from the collisions in the first quarter of 1961 but 46 persons were reported injured. Nineteen of the injuries resulted in January, while 14 occurred in February. March saw 13 persons injured.

One-hundred thirty of the drivers involved in the collisions were Greenville residents, while 43 drivers listed out-of-city addresses. The only motor vehicle-bicycle collision listed in the accident summary occurred in March.

Five pedestrian collisions were investigated, four of which were during the day, while one resulted at night. They involved one person under 18-years of age and four over 18. All were male victims.

In non-pedestrian accidents, 64 were reported during daylight hours while 29 occurred at night. Ages of the drivers, which included 131 male and 42 female operators, included 22 persons from 16 to 22 years of age, 51 from 20 to 30, and 100 over 30 years old.

Fifty six of the wrecks occurred at intersections, while 42 were listed as non-intersection mishaps. Forty-four were at points which had traffic controls while 54 occurred where no control was present.

 NEW YORK (AP) — Membership in the Roman Catholic Church in America has increased four times faster during the past century than the U.S. population as a whole, and now stands at 40,871,302, the Catholic Digest says.

Long before aircraft engineers discovered jet propulsion, squid and octopi were propelling themselves swiftly by sucking water into their bodies and shooting it out.

Discouraged Jensen Says Quitting Baseball

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Outfielder Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox, apparently discouraged by an anemic batting average, says he is quitting baseball for good.

But his wife, former Olympic diving champion Zoe Ann Olsen, said she will try to talk him into rejoining the team.

Jensen, who left the team in Cleveland Saturday, confirmed Monday night that he was retiring again.

"I've had it," Jensen told sportswriter Ensign Ritchie of the Ogden Standard-Examiner. "I know when my reflexes are gone and I'm not going to be any 25th man on the ball club."

Ritchie interviewed Jensen when his train stopped here en route to Reno. It was the first direct word from Jensen on his walkout.

He made no announcement then, merely leaving word with a teammate that he would contact Red Sox Manager Mike Higgins at Kansas City.

Higgins said he was waiting to hear from Jensen, but added: "I don't think Jackie will ever play again."

The outfielder, whose estimated 1961 salary is $50,000, retired after the 1959 season.

In his comeback attempt this year, he has fared poorly. In 12 games and 46 times at bat, Jensen hit safely only six times for a .130 batting average and one RBI.

This is in sharp contrast to his .281 average for 10 previous seasons in the American League. In 1952, when Jensen was the league's most valuable player, he batted .286, drove in 122 runs and hit 35 home runs.

ECC Nine Again Hitting Road For 4 Games

By LEONARD LAO Reflector Sports Writer

After a six game road trip last week then a single game at home Saturday night, the East Carolina baseball nine hits the highway again this week on a four game tour in which they will lock horns with Lenoir Rhyne, Elon, and Pfeiffer.

Clayton has posted a 5-1 won-lost record to date, an. combined with his 7-1 freshman season and 9-2 sophomore year, he is the winningest pitcher in East Carolina and North State history with a 21-4 record since coming to Greenville.

And what is even brighter to Mallory is the fact that the Greensboro native still has one more season to go for the purple and gold. If the junior left-hander keeps the pace he has set in the past three seasons, he should win close to 35 games before he hangs up his college uniform.

Greene has never lost a college baseball game in his two seasons on the mound. Last season, as a junior, Greene, a native of Monroe posted a 2-0 record, and has compiled a 3-0 slate so far this year.

West, who is in his first season as a baseballer, has done exceptionally well for a rookie. He has recorded a paid of wins against no defeats, but it is not surprising to the Pirate coaching staff. He was an All-State pitcher his senior year at Asheboro High School.

West is also a starting forward on the Pirate hardwood team in the winter months of the year, where he carried a 10.0 scoring average as a sophomore.

Rouse poses a familiar personality in East Carolina athletics. Along with being a front line hurler on Mallory's mound corps, the tall left-hander holds down the number one quarterbacking job on the Pirate football squad.

A sophomore, Rouse took over the field generalship this past fall, and finished the season in the number two spot in the total offense department, compiling over 400 yards for his efforts.

The Pirates have one of the best lineups in the conference. Three of them, Jimmy Martin, Glenn Bass, and Floyd Wicker, are all batting over .300 to date. Martin, a first sacker, leads the pack with a .400 average. Following him is Wicker at .382, and Bass at .306.

Rightfielder, Cotton Clayton, an All-Conference and All-State basketballer, is second to Pierce in the batting game, with a .329 average. Wally Cockrell, an All-Conference and All-State hold-over from last year, has three home runs, and follows Pierce in the runs batted in department with 19.

The Bucs have one other regular batting over the coveted .300 mark. Catcher, Charlie Johnson carries a .303 average, including two doubles, two triples, and one four bagger.

The Pirates have virtually sewn up the North State crown for the third consecutive season. Only if they fell completely apart and lost all of their remaining games could another league entry win the title.

The race for the number two spot, however, is far from settled. Elon and Appalachian seem to be the teams in contention for the runnerup position. The Christians have a 7-4 mark, and the Mountaineers sport a 6-4 slate.

Offers Terms To Fight Patterson

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The manager of Harold Johnson said today he hoped that heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson would accept an offer to meet the National Boxing Association light heavyweight champion in a title fight here next fall.

"I wish we could get him," added Manager Pat Oliveri. "We may have to give him more money."

Clemson's Larry Patterson Hurt As Car Overturns

BLACKSBURG, S.C. (AP)—Larry (Choppy) Patterson, 21-year-old Clemson College basketball star, was injured seriously Monday night when the car in which he was riding skidded out of control on a rain-slick highway and overturned.

Patterson suffered a broken pelvis and possibly internal injuries. He was examined at a Gaffney hospital in Greenville for treatment.

Patterson was in a car driven by Lewis Simpson Kay, 21, also a Clemson student. Kay was less seriously injured.

Patterson, a junior pre-medical student, was Clemson's leading scorer last season, averaging 18 points a game.

Patterson was on the way to Winthrop College where his girlfriend was appearing in a piano recital.

The car skidded out of control on a curve and overturned near Kings Creek bridge.

Tobs Topped In Only Game Of Carolina League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Wilson was knocked out of undisputed possession of first place in the Carolina League Monday night in the only game of a rain-hampered schedule.

Durham topped the Tobs 8-4 to force them into a first place tie with Winston-Salem. The Greensboro at Raleigh and Burlington at Winston-Salem contests were rained out.

The league will try again tonight for a full three-game schedule, with Winston-Salem at Durham, Wilson at Greensboro and Raleigh at Burlington.

Dick Klunder went the distance for Durham, allowing eight hits and fanning nine. Third baseman Terry Bartholome collected three hits, including a homer and a triple, and batted in four runs.

The game was held up three times, twice by rain and once for seven minutes by a free-for-all touched off by a collision at second base.

Durham, trailing 3-2, rallied for five runs in the fifth.

Redistricting May Be Resolved With Little Furore

President Might Be At Charlotte

RALEIGH (AP) — President John F. Kennedy may be in Charlotte this Oct. 12 to help open the state-sponsored international trade fair to be held in the Queen City.

Hargrove Bowles Jr., state director of Conservation and Development, announced Monday that Charlotte had been chosen over several other sites for the Oct. 2-21 fair because of its greater available exhibit space.

He also told a news conference the Oct. 12 opening date was selected "because that is the day President Kennedy will be in North Carolina, and he has promised Gov. Sanford that he would make every attempt to be present at the formal opening." The president is to be in the state to get an honorary degree from the University of North Carolina.

Sanford invited Kennedy last week when the governor flew to Washington to announce plans for the fair from the White House.

Raleigh and Winston-Salem had to withdraw from the running because of conflicts with scheduled attractions in their buildings. Other cities considered were Durham,

By PHIL CORNER

RALEIGH (AP) — The General Assembly may resolve the potentially explosive issue of congressional redistricting with less furore than expected.

However, the job of trimming the state's congressional delegation from 12 to 11 members—made necessary by the 1960 census—is far from accomplished.

Three bills have been introduced which would redraw the boundary lines. Two of them would place incumbents Harold Cooley and L. H. Fountain in the same district.

Chairman Ed Kemp of the House Congressional District Committee said he feels a majority of his members agree that the Cooley-Fountain plan is the solution.

He said, "This problem appears nearer solution now than a month ago. It seems to have simmered down. We're not as far away from a solution as I thought we would be at this time."

Kemp's Senate counterpart, Robert Morgan of Cleveland, said he feels anyone who has studied the problem carefully would come up with a similar solution.

The two Cooley-Fountain bills, one sent in by Kemp and the other by Morgan, are similar. They do have differences in the placing of certain counties.

The third measure, introduced in the House by Rep. Herb Hardy of Greene, would place Republican incumbent Charles R. Jonas, the only GOP member on the Tar Heel delegation, against Democrat Basil Whitener in a Piedmont district.

Kemp said he doubts the Hardy bill has much support, even in the East which would be left essentially the same as it now is.

"We had a proposal drawn which would have put Whitener against Jonas and the boys in the West didn't want it," Kemp said. "They were fearful that it would put at least one more district on the verge of going Republican and would make Jonas a hero."

Tough Morgan's and Kemp's measures stung the second and fourth districts in the East, they left the first, third and seventh pretty much untouched.

Both men believe that in an issue as delicate as this, lawmakers whose districts would be left alone will not be inclined to protest the misfortunes of others lest the ax fall in another direction.

Both congressional districts committees are expected to meet Wednesday to take close looks at the bills and consider possible amendments. Action is unlikely for two or three more weeks, the chairmen said.

Neither Kemp nor Morgan have received requests for public hearings on the bills.

Dry Dock Being Moved Overseas

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A Navy dry dock is on its way across the Atlantic in four sections. Tugs are towing the dry dock "Big 7" to Holy Loch, Scotland, where part of the U. S. nuclear submarine fleet is based.

The trip, which started Monday, is expected to take 32 days. When reassembled, the dry dock will be 425 feet long, 240 feet wide and 72 feet high.

Kemp, however, said he has received "quite a bit of mail," particularly from Northampton and Bertie counties.

"They want to stay in the second district," he explained. "Apparently it's an organized move inside the Democratic Party down there."

Kemp added that the letters have not protested the placing of Fountain, the second district's incumbent, in with Cooley.

Kemp, who said he doesn't believe gerrymandering, commented that if Piedmont Democrats are to defeat Jonas, they will have to beat him "at the ballot box and not in Raleigh."

Of his bill, Kemp said, "I believe if it came to a vote this week it would pass, but I don't believe it ought to be done that way. We should give everyone a chance to speak out."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Wayne today holds the U. S. Marine Corps' highest civilian award—the commandant's Certificate of Appreciation.

Col. John Hopkins, heading a detachment of Leathernecks, presented the award to Wayne at a Paramount Studios luncheon.

The award was given for his help in Marine recruiting since World War II.

Red Buttons, one of Wayne's co-stars, told the gathering: "I bring you Marines word from Montezuma," said Buttons. "He says, 'Tell those damn Marines to stop singing in the halls.'"

Went Long Way To Get A Degree

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Rev. Frank Thomas went a long way to get his degree from Simmons University here.

Thomas, 69 and a grandfather, figures he traveled 27,000 miles in three years of weekend commuting to earn the degree he received Monday night from the Negro university.

Every Friday night after classes, he returned to his home at Jenkins in eastern Kentucky to minister to two congregations.

EDMOND HAMILTON

From the novel published by Torquill Books: © 1960 by Edmond Hamilton; distributed by King Features Syndicate.

CHAPTER 21

"I'm thankful Fairlie had the sense to let the woman go," Christensen said to DeWitt. He was very angry. He turned and glared at Fairlie. "Why didn't you let me know what was going on? I should have been out there myself. Then this wouldn't have happened. Well, you talked to her. What did she say? What did she tell you?"

"That her people know nothing about machines or ships or things like that. That was as much as I got out of her before DeWitt started to get rough."

"She lied," DeWitt said. "She knew what a ship was, from what you said yourself. These people are no dumb savages. I got a good look at that girl. Aside from being pretty she was civilized."

He looked at Christensen, appealing to Winstedt, to Raab. "These people must have come somewhere. And they could tell us a lot about what we're after. That's what the expedition came for, wasn't it? Are we supposed to go home—and that's kind of a long way—empty-handed because we're too polite to ask the natives a simple question? Or because somebody's afraid they might answer it?"

He was talking fast, talking hard, not giving Christensen a chance to break in.

"There were at least two of these Vanryn out there, and they can't have come from too far away. They didn't come in any ground or air vehicle or we'd have heard them going away, let alone our radar-watch would have caught it. They might have some kind of a riding animal but I doubt it, there hasn't been any sign of an animal that big. So I think they came on foot, and that means the rest of them aren't far from here. I think we ought to get the hell out and look for them."

What would you propose doing when you found them?" asked Winstedt. "Supposing they didn't want to come back?"

"I think they could be persuaded," DeWitt said. "To lead us to whatever they came from."

Christensen broke in. "Possibly they could. But do you think it would be wise?"

DeWitt looked at him narrowly. "I think you worry too much about wisdom."

"You don't worry enough. How many men would you need for this expedition to their supposed city? Half, three-quarters of our force?"

"At least that. We'd want a strong party just in case."

Now Christensen turned to Raab and Winstedt. "That would leave this ship virtually unprotected. And if another ship came from Earth, a ship of our enemies, we could be completely destroyed."

"We certainly can't risk that," said Winstedt, worriedly.

"Risk!" said DeWitt. "I tell you there isn't any risk of a ship of enemies getting here from Earth. The important thing is to find those people behind their city, find what we came for."

A curious expression came into Christensen's face, and he spoke in a soft voice.

"So there isn't any risk that's interesting. I had thought all along this was a race against time, a race to get ahead of the enemy. I thought they were busy building a ship which would come close after us. But all along I've had a hunch on this, and your indifference about taking defensive measures after we landed, strengthened it. And now I know."

DeWitt started to speak but Christensen's voice rang hard and clear, drowning him out. He said, "You know there isn't any danger because you know our enemies can't build a ship. They never heard of the Vanryn. They never had the slightest idea of what we found at Gassendi."

"But my tapes," said Fairlie. "The tapes and translations that the spy stole from me!"

More Than Blossoms To A Dogwood Tree

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—The flowering dogwood, the Old North State's official flower, is a mighty pretty sight to see in rural Carolina in springtime. But what is not so generally known is that in some quarters the little tree is more highly regarded for its wood than for its showy blossoms.

That's because of all the woods in the world available in commercial quantities dogwood is the most satisfactory for use in the manufacture of textile mill shuttles. And that, in turn, is because of dogwood's unique characteristic of wearing ever smoother under continued usage—something mighty important in the weaving of cloth in a high speed loom. One tiny defect in the walls of a shuttle to snag a thread, and a shut-down of the loom until repairs can be made is the costly result.

Dogwood is not a Carolina exclusive. It is found in most of the Eastern states. But North Carolina, with two or three of its sister states deeper down in Dixie, possesses the most valuable remaining stands of this tree.

Sawing shuttle blocks in Tarheelia from dogwood is a tight little industry, with few "ins" for the rank outsider. All told there are more than 20 or 21 of the little block mills in the state, and all but two or three of them are small one- or two-man operations.

These mills are, in reality, miniature sawmills, but they produce near a million and a half shuttle blocks annually. These are eagerly sought by buyers for the big shuttle manufacturers, and bring anywhere from 15 cents to $1.25 apiece, depending upon the size.

Dogwood grows in such scattered stands, and to be suitable for shuttle blocks must meet such high specifications, that there is keen competition among buyers for the some 5,000 cords which are used annually in the state by the mills. It brings a pretty good price to the owner of the trees, too. But since only about one out of every 10 or 12 trees is suitable for cutting, he must have a lot of trees on his land to make money.

Quite a few of the dogwood blocks produced in this state are exported through the state's ports, but these, as a whole, are of inferior quality. Strangely enough when it gets to Europe, dogwood loses its American name, and becomes "Cornell wood" instead.

Development of a plastic substitute for shuttles made of dogwood has long been a prime objective of shuttle manufacturers, and some have been put on the market. But knowing the high regard mill maintenance men have for the traditional dogwood shuttle,

Justice Rodman Cites Uniform Courts Need

Associate Justice William Rodman of the North Carolina Supreme Court addressed the Greenville Rotary Club last night, asserting that a uniform system of local courts with uniform jurisdiction is needed in North Carolina.

Special guests of the Rotary Club included members of the Pitt County Bar Association. Judge Rodman's address was in connection with Law Day, observed May 1 throughout the state and the nation.

Judge Rodman told his audience he was speaking for himself and was not speaking for the member, or any other members of the court. He pointed out that as the population of the state increases the load of work on the court system also increases. The judge also declared that a greater number of court matters should be settled on the local level in the local courts without having to take them "to Raleigh or Washington." The further away from home the problems are taken for solution, he said, "the greater chance there is for error."

Provisional End To Laos Fighting

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A truce meeting between a government officer and a Pathet Lao rebel major has brought a provisional end to fighting on the front 45 miles north of here, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan said today.

He reported that the two officers met Monday afternoon and fighting had halted "provisionally and theoretically" by 5 p.m.

Foreign Minister Tiao Sopsasana said the Cabinet was encouraged to hope that the contact could lead to an overall ceasefire, first step to ending civil war between the Communist-backed rebels and the government forces.

The government's truce emissary went to a point just north of Vang Khy, a town on the front. It was his second attempt to make contact with the rebels.

Top Laotian government and American military officials joined the meeting Monday night, one informed source said.

Prince Boun Oum's Cabinet met in Vientiane today to discuss the situation.

There was still grave doubt in many quarters in Vientiane that a cease-fire would result. Some observers suggested that the rebels have agreed to the battlefield meeting for propaganda purposes.

There was a feeling that the Pathet Lao might lay down conditions for a cease-fire that the Western-backed government would find unacceptable. One likely demand was for the immediate withdrawal of Americans who have been serving as military advisers to the royal regime.
