Diefenbaker Agrees Cuba Dictatorship Poses Threat

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker agreed today that the Castro dictatorship in Cuba threatens both "the peaceful and democratic evolution" of Latin America.

two countries will, jointly and steadfastly, pursue." Kennedy ended his first state visit on a note of warning for Red aggressors and of challenge to the North Atlantic allies to strengthen the security of the free world. He had held out those objectives in a speech to Parliament Wednesday.

In that same address he called for Canada to step up its contributions to the welfare of underdeveloped Latin-American nations and join the Organization of American States.

The statement referring to Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro was something Kennedy had sought in his trip to Ottawa—his first outside the United States since his inauguration. Canada previously had exhibited less concern than the United States over the potential menace, of Castro's link with the Soviet Union, to the entire Western Hemisphere.

South Korea Premier And Cabinet Resign; Military Junta Scores Triumph

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Premier John M. Chang and his Cabinet resigned today and the military emerged triumphant in a revolt they said would put new life into South Korea's battle against corruption, poverty and communism.

Leaders of the revolution immediately named a 30-man committee of military figures to run the country. It was headed by Gen. Chang with Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-hi, considered the mastermind of the uprising, as No. 2.

Ten Cabinet ministers who resigned "en masse" with him were also free to go home. Five ministers were still in hiding and failed to respond to a call from the revolutionary leaders to the showdown meeting with the junta that preceded the cabinet resignation.

Districts Committee May Set Jonas' Future Tonight

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate Congressional Districts Committee meets tonight for a showdown vote on whether to include Republican Rep. Charles R. Jonas in their plans for remaking the map of North Carolina congressional districts.

Sen. Henry Grady Shelton of Edgecombe asked Wednesday for the vote in the all-Democratic committee. He wanted the group to indicate it would not approve a plan to put two Democratic congressmen in the same district — thus eliminating one of them.

The state must lose one of its 12 congressmen because of population shifts shown in the 1960 census.

West Balks At Red Veto Provisos On Laos Accord

GENEVA (AP) — American, British and French delegates today decided on a concerted attack against veto provisions in Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's plan for a neutral Laos.

The Western Big Three held a strategy session at French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville's villa attended by Britain's Foreign Secretary Lord Home and U.S. Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman.

Months of haggling appeared in prospect for the conference.

Castro Ready To 'Trade' Prisoners

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro has offered to trade more than 1,000 prisoners of the April 17 invasion for 500 American bulldozers.

Castro then added that "Napoleon tried to exchange prisoners for swine, but we want to be more polite to the Yankee imperialists."

Castro said the work of his revolution is just beginning and his task is "to provide food, clothing, shoes, medicine, education and recreation for the whole people."

Students who are going into such careers as medicine and nursing and similar fields that require a long period of training frequently plan to attend summer school and finish the high school program in three years, Dowd said.

School District Bill Introduced

Enabling legislation was introduced in the Senate Wednesday that would give Pitt County's Commissioners authority to dissolve, separate or annex school districts or special bond tax units.

delegations are so much in agreement on the general objectives of the conference we could go home tomorrow if it weren't for this means of reaching these objectives. There are considerable differences of opinion on them."

Gromyko outlined his package plan after Rusk proposed a three-point program designed to take Laos out of the cold war: (1) a definition of neutrality for the country which all participants in the conference can accept; (2) an economic aid program for the Buddhist kingdom that would be administered by neutral Southeast Asian countries.

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Carolina is to receive $8,860,000 in federal funds for road construction, the state's share of the $18 million which President Kennedy has ordered released immediately.

Earlier, Castro told his audience that "agricultural production must be increased at all costs."

Discussions of Cuba's economic situation, he said, should not disturb the peasants. "What do you care," he said, "if it is not possible to buy a $5,000 Cadillac or that there is no way to go to Monte Carlo to gamble away $20,000?"

Registration and a vote for the June 17 bond election that, if approved by majority vote, will finance the Pitt County Industrial Education Commission were urged by the Pitt County Development Commission at its meeting Wednesday.

Regular members of the faculty are teaching in the summer school program. Students outside the Greenville school district who plan to attend summer school must have a letter of recommendation from their high school principal before they may enroll.

The living rooms were decorated with arrangements of cut flowers, including several bouquets of roses. From the table, which was covered with a lace cloth, the guests served themselves. It's Fancy Foot Work

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP)—Twelve-year-old Sue Sipple has an idea for harassed mothers of children with fast-growing feet. She uses varicolored yarn to embroider daisies on her canvas sneakers after her toes work through them, using the holes as the center of the flower.

Her mother, Wilhelmina, says they are "attractive, colorful and good for another thousand miles."

STICKS INJURE

Do not allow children to eat candy or ice cream bars on a stick while traveling in a car. A sudden bump or stop might cause an injury to them from the stick.

Where circulation of air is restricted, roses may have powdery mildew. You can use Phalitan in this also. Sulphur can be used, but don't use this spray near white painted surfaces. Spotting of white paint will be the result.

Lilacs also have a Powdery Mildew that affects them. It usually shows up too late to do serious harm. If you spray, use Karathane or Mildex.

Botrytis blight affects Peonies (shoots rot with gray mold and the buds turn black and flowers are stalked. As fungus over-winter in old stalks, cut to ground in fall and burn. Spray new shoots as soon as they appear in spring with ferbam or Bordeaux.

Black spot is the most troublesome of the rose diseases. Spray weekly with Phalitan. You may have to repeat spray more often in wet weather. If rose foliage stays wet for 6 hours, infection occurs.

Dogwoods are affected by spot.

Little Point Now In Crash Program

The economic upturn that experts have been predicting for the nation apparently is underway in spite of the fact that unemployment remains abnormally high in some sections of the nation and many businesses are finding it difficult to adjust to new circumstances.

While this change is taking place in the nation's economic picture, Congress still has before it many of the pump-priming measures that were proposed by President Kennedy shortly after he entered the White House last January. Some of these measures have been enacted by Congress and will register their full impact on the economy several months from now. Others, which are still under consideration, cannot begin to affect the economy of the nation for a considerable time even if they are enacted during the current session of Congress.

With the economic outlook of the nation considerably better now than the experts pictured it in January, it is wise, we think, for Congress and the administration to re-evaluate the proposals in the light of new conditions which prevail in the nation. It would give too great a boost to the economy that is already moving upward at a healthy pace. Such action would tend to push economic progress at an abnormal rate and almost certainly would result in an inflationary spiral.

The Kennedy administration entered office with the announced intention of pulling the country out of what it viewed as an economic recession. At the same time the President declared it was his intention to see that new booster shots injected into the economy would not cause greater inflation.

Over the past several decades the United States has recognized that precise amounts of federal pump-priming at precise moments in the economic cycle can be of immense value to the nation and its people. Ill-timed over-doses of federal pump-priming, however, can create undesired effects in the economy which may cause violent adjustments at a later date.

Confidence in the nation's economic situation has increased greatly since the first of the year. Many factors which pointed to a slipping national economy then have given way to factors which definitely point to better economic conditions in the making.

The crash program initially outlined by the new administration to bring the country out of the "recession" should now be reviewed and adjusted to the needs of a situation that finds the economy on the upturn.

June 17 Goal For Legislators

By LYNN NISBET

ADJOURNMENT — Legislative leaders, spurred by the administration, are driving hard for sine die adjournment around June 17. They are getting lip service and wishful thinking from the rank and file of the membership. But the desired cooperation by getting work out of the Oldtimers remind, however, that long drawn-out matters can be settled with amazing speed sometimes — even if the settlement means doing nothing about the pending bills.

That happened two years ago when a final hours debacle in the whole matter of constitutional revision and court reform was a signpost to the crash can be seen in the 1959 adjournment. It happened too, but for different reason, in 1941. More about that later. A classic example of the danger of a bent determination to adjourn came in 1949. A bill was introduced early in the session which re-wrote the adoption laws. It was sponsored by the State Department of Public Welfare, but faced rough going throughout the session. Finally in the last two or three days a committee substitute bill was agreed upon and passed by majority vote in both the House and Senate. But — it was not enacted into law. Because in the confusion and hurry the text of the bill which came out of the committee omitted the controlling provisions required by the Constitution, which reads "The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact."

Without that sentence, the General Assembly had not enacted anything and all the work of the session on that bill went out the window. The Attorney General ruled that a special session would have to be called to enact the law, or the session would remain in force. No special session was called.

SHORT CUT — The 1941 situation is unique in State history. Constitutional and statutory provisions require that all bills enacted into law must be ratified by signature of the presiding officers of the House and Senate in open public session. As pre-determined adjournment date approached in 1941 it was obvious that the final typing of texts of all the bills could not be completed by the fixed adjournment time.

But — Governor Broughton and a long-planned trip to Mexico and a state dinner with Ambassador Joseph Daniels in Mexico City. Time was of the essence, just a few hours time making a lot of difference. The Governor had to get gone.

So — the numbers of the bills which had been passed by both houses with their titles were read out in open session. Lieutenant Governor Reg Harris and Speaker Odus Mull signed blank pages — into which later was typed the texts of the bills presumably ratified. The ratification was duly recorded in the journals and thereupon became invulnerable to attack and inviolable as to authenticity. But it is of record that none of the participants in that short-cut procedure have ever been happy or proud about it.

The currently set goal of June 17 for sine die adjournment allows a week before Governor Sanford is scheduled to leave for the National Governors' Conference in Hawaii. On the other hand it is only a little more than four weeks from now, and many oldtimers seriously doubt the job facing the Legislature can be completed in decent order within that time.

June 17 adjournment would mean a session more than a week longer than in 1959 when the Assembly convened on February 4 and adjourned on June 20. This session convened four days later, on February 8.

BILL RECORD — On the comparable date of last Friday, which was covered by Bulletin No. 68 of the Institute of Government, the 1959 Legislature had received 1153 bills and resolutions. (By adjournment time the total was 1890—517 in the Senate and 1363 in the House.) Through the same date this year there had been introduced 1014 bills and resolutions.

Stated another way: more than one-third of all the bills and resolutions introduced in the 1959 session came in during the last week of the session. The same rate of introductions is followed this year there will be something like 600 more bills dropped in for handling.

Because fewer bills have been introduced this year, there is less carry-over of unfinished business at this time. Court reform, which occupied much time during the closing weeks of 1959, has been disposed of this time. To offset that gain, the money bills — both appropriations and revenue — are further from solution than they were at comparable time two years ago. The small loans regulatory bills are nowhere near enactment. And what was recognized before this session convened as a major problem — congressional and state senatorial redistricting — still is in embryonic stage. Congressional redistricting cannot be postponed as was senatorial redistricting last year — and could be again this time — because unless congressional districts are outlined all eleven of the state's representatives to the Congress will have to be elected from the state at large. Up to now no public hearings have been held on these bills, and a number of requests for hearings have been filed.

In view of these circumstances the prospect of adjournment in mid-June is optimistic rather than realistic.

We're Going To Need Some Voting Machines

With almost every election it is becoming more evident that Pitt County could profitably use a number of voting machines for its largest precincts even though the county has many precincts in which the number of voters probably would not justify the immediate installation of the machines.

It has also been evident in recent weeks, with municipal elections throughout the county, that several municipalities might profitably use voting machines for their local elections. There is also the fact that in recent elections of various kinds have become more frequent throughout Pitt County.

Last year, for example, citizens went to the polls on a county-wide basis for two primaries and a general election, plus a number of special bond elections in various areas about the county. This year there already have been municipal elections in most of the municipalities throughout the county, and a county-wide bond election for the proposed industrial training school is slated for next month.

These factors prompt the suggestion that the county, in conjunction with some of the larger communities, might consider the purchase of a few voting machines. If the county purchased the machines, it probably could work out an agreement to rent them to towns for municipal elections when the county was not using them.

With a number of county-wide and community elections being held throughout the county almost every year, the voting machines could be put to good use. And particularly where there are a large number of voters voting in one precinct or one community, the use of machines probably would speed up the voting process and certainly would make the vote-counting a much easier and quicker task.

With county and municipal governments beginning their budget planning for the fiscal year which begins July 1, it is an ideal time for officials to give consideration to acquiring some voting machines for use in Pitt County.

Democracy Isn't For Everyone

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—It doesn't follow that because democracy works here it will elsewhere. In many places it hasn't. So the United States has to sell something besides democracy in a lot of places to keep them out of communism.

It has to sell a chance for a good life.

The Associated Press from Tokyo reports that the army revolt which Tuesday overthrew the South Korean government had strong allies in grinding poverty and social ills.

It was in the pattern of army revolts which abolished or changed parliamentary governments in the Congo, Laos, Egypt, Sudan, Turkey, Pakistan, Burma, Iraq and Thailand. Everywhere around the world an American-aided government is in danger of overthrow by its army or communism, unless it gives the people assurance it is working for their welfare.

What is the image of the enormously rich and powerful American going to mean to a poverty-stricken peasant somewhere in a Russian tells him:

"I took the United States 200 years to get where it is. And in 200 years maybe your country can be just as rich. But it only took Russia 40 years to become the giant it is."

"You're 35. Your life expectancy under present conditions is only 40. You have only five years left."

"Are you hoping to wait 200 years in the hope your country will become another America or do you want a better life than this in a hurry for yourself and your family under communism?"

If an American then tells the peasant about the blessings of democracy, it won't mean much if the peasant never really knew democracy.

Thus this country's problem, with its foreign aid, is to get the peasant's government to put into effect reforms and programs which will give this poverty-stricken man reason to think he can have a better life without communism.

The Communists began early with their promises. Right after the war in Southern Italy, before the first post-war elections, Communists went from door to door promising them land of their own. That one the Communists lost.

President Kennedy himself, in his speech last summer accepting the Democratic nomination, spoke of the "one-third of the world" that is "racked by pangs of poverty, hunger and envy."

In a general way he expressed his awareness of the remedy called for when, in his State of the Union message in January, he acknowledged the huge task: "Our role is essential and unavoidable in the construction of a sound expanding economy for the entire non-Communist world, helping other nations to build the strength to meet their own aspirations, to surmount their own dangers."

"The problem in achieving this goal are towering and unprecedented."

So far he has not attempted to talk to the American public on this problem at length—and with whatever solutions he may have in mind—except through news conferences and messages to Congress.

His message on foreign aid won't go to Congress for about another 10 days. There he may open up his thinking, with concrete proposals, in a way that hasn't been revealed yet.

Story Of A Big Idea

By DON SCHLIENZ

The story, in a general way, has reached most people through newspaper articles, magazines, radio, television and even from theater stages and on nightclub floors. But this week I was reading some of the details... which are herewith passed along in a somewhat condensed form.

It's about one man's shrine-building labors, and the chain of events begun in Detroit twenty-four years ago.

Amos Jacobs' job as a nightclub emcee folded, and he wandered into a church where he found a pamphlet on St. Jude Thaddeus, patron saint of the hopeless. It rang a bell. Jacobs put his last seven dollars in the poor box praying it would be returned ten-fold.

On returning to his tenement rooming house a telephone call awaited him offering $75 (a little more than he had asked) for a radio job.

A few years later our entertainer friend found himself at a personal crossroads—whether to leave the theater, or not. Again he turned to St. Jude. That day a blizzard suddenly blew up and detained a noted theatrical agent who saw Jacobs' act and told him "Your place is in show business."

So Danny Thomas, for that is his stage name, found his niche in life and a degree of continuing success we'd all like to enjoy.

Whether one puts credence in the term "miracle" as applied to two answered prayers, or leave to the individual. But out of gratitude the entertainer vowed to build a shrine to the Patron of the Hopeless; and in time his plans for the shrine took shape in the form of a hospital for the hopeless.

very young victims of leukemia. A foundation was formed to attain that goal and St. Jude's Research Hospital will become a reality late this year.

A five million dollar plant such as this is beyond the reach of even a Danny Thomas; but his own efforts have been augmented by thousands of other people who were caught up by the idea of sharing in his "living shrine" and doing their bit in fighting what is now a hopeless malady. At least one man in Greenville, George Saad, is involved in the project; and he tells me a local organization has agreed to sponsor a March for Danny here.

St. Jude's Research Hospital, as the name indicates, is to be something more than a place where leukemia-stricken children will be cared for (free of charge). It is also planned to have its laboratories functioning literally 24 hours a day, with three alternating teams of researchers, until such time as a cure is found.

The land for the 130-bed hospital was donated by the City of Memphis; a noted architect contributed the design of the star-shaped structure; Walt Disney is seeing to decoration of the wards with his well-known characters.

It will be staffed by the Memphis and Shelby County Medical Society, in cooperation with the University of Tennessee's Medical Center.

All this is being accomplished because of one man's gratitude for what he deems to have been "miracles" of intercession by St. Jude Thaddeus.

To me, what Danny Thomas initiated could be called a "human miracle." Determination and a Cause can lead to wonderful things.

Other Editors Saying Mindful Of Hazards

(Henderson Dispatch)

Secretary Hodges returned last week from a study abroad of trade opportunities for American business concerns, and urged corporate investments in foreign countries. He offered no assurance that the government would go to bat by way of protecting those investments in event of an emergency of some character.

Business people considering outlays in other countries should be mindful of the hazards involved. When they sink their millions in some overseas area there is the risk that all will be lost. Some hard thinking is in order before decisions are reached to launch upon such ventures.

An estimated billion dollars worth or more of American investments went down the drain in Cuba when the Castro government confiscated them without so much as offering the slightest compensation. In private life that would amount to highway robbery. In international relations, particularly among the communists, anything is legitimate that is desired and if it can be gotten away with.

The United States Government may have been justified in refusing to adopt extreme measures in Cuba. Even so, would it not assume a similar policy as to properties in other lands that might be taken over by communists or any other group that carried out such a theft? American business would be inclined to put its money abroad if assured of protection, which this government manifestly does not seem inclined to provide.

On good authority we have been told that in many foreign ports visited by American service men of late shopkeepers had nothing made in the United States, but actually wanted such merchandise. No one from this country had ever been there to try to sell them, it was said. Such sales, of course, could be made without the necessity of plant investments, but even that is not being done. These service men who brought back reports said there was an abundance of goods from Britain, France, Japan and other countries, but nothing in sight from their own nation. They wondered why.

It can be speculated, too, as to whether or not Americans are beset with a complacency that makes them satisfied with what they have without the energy or inclination to expand in other countries.

Secretary Hodges is offering excellent advice in urging foreign trade. But his appeal would be much more realistic if some assurance of protection could be offered. Until it is, keen business leaders will not start a scramble toward sending their money overseas, with the possibility that they might be the hazards involved, and are smart in remembering what has happened in Cuba and elsewhere with little or no assistance from their government.

Money possesses only such value as acceptability gives it. In a word, if you want to pay a banana, you expect to pay, let us say, one cent. You discover that you are being charged five cents. You pay. Then you are charged twenty-five cents or even a dollar. You reject the bananas. Let them rot. The reason you will not pay the high price for bananas is that they seem not to be worth that much to you. The vendor, however, will not accept one or five cents for the banana because the money is no good. He doubts whether he should accept twenty-five cents or a dollar because that too is of uncertain value. Finally, he says that he will give you a banana if you give him your necktie or handkerchief. Dollar In Need Of Help

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

When the House of Morgan abdicated its leadership of the American financial world in 1929, no other leadership appeared. J.P. Morgan, the elder, was essentially a patriot and therefore his first concern was the maintenance of the status of the American dollar throughout the world. No banker in this country has succeeded in his position of leadership. We may have been regarded as not too bright by British and German bankers, but our money was sound because it was secured by gold.

Today, all sorts of fantastic ideas come out of the banking world — ideas which one might expect from someone who is taking Economics I from a Keynesian professor at Harvard. These ideas have culminated in the inflationary bill which is now being proposed in Congress that would take all the gold coverage off the American dollar and leave it nothing more than a scrap of paper.

The proposal of Secretary of the Treasury, Douglas Dillon, to change the gold law is an silver way out of our gold problem. We lack gold; therefore abolish gold. This is an easy solution to the shift in the balance of international settlements, and as his subject is not romantic and not easy to understand, the great minds who turn corners on two wheels believe that they can solve a difficult problem by running away from it.

What they seek to do is to remove the metallic security of the dollar, to leave it a scrap of paper as valuable as the faith in trade, commerce, economic stability may at any time be. It is often said that fiat money is based upon confidence in the country which issues it. This is an accurate expression, because fiat money is based not on love of country, or on the economics of the moment.

Congressman Abraham J. Multer of Brooklyn has introduced a measure in Congress which, it is said, has Secretary Dillon's support, which will shift our currency from having a twenty-five percent gold support to being fiat money; that is, money with no gold or silver support whatsoever. The reason that, for three decades, a world in revolution has accepted the American dollar as the most valuable currency is that it had a gold protection while other moneys were just printed paper. Now that Great Britain, West Germany, France and Soviet Russia have obtained enough gold to set up reserves, the reason you will be asked to knock down the value and respectability of the American dollar.

It is expected that the removal of the gold reserve will strengthen the dollar, when actually it will destroy confidence in the dollar which has steadily been losing confidence. What does that mean?

Money possesses only such value as acceptability gives it. In a word, if you want to pay a banana, you expect to pay, let us say, one cent. You discover that you are being charged five cents. You pay. Then you are charged twenty-five cents or even a dollar. You reject the bananas. Let them rot. Expense Accounts Fight Coming

By ELMER ROESSNER

As Congress nears the task of tackling President Kennedy's tax reform proposals, it becomes increasingly certain that opposition will be formidable, noisy and a bit emotional.

Curiously enough, one of the biggest fights will be over one of the least of the savings. That is the proposal to limit deductible business entertainment outlays and gifts, estimated to increase Federal revenues by $250 million a year, a small fraction of the total tax bite.

Here are two personal observations:

1. If strictly enforced, this change will save considerably more than that amount, a $250 million. It won't be strictly enforced. In fact, it may never be passed.

LIFE ON $25 A DAY

The Administration proposes that an individual be allowed no more than $25 a day for personal expenses while on business travel away from home. It also proposes that specific dollar limits per person be applied on business lunches and dinners.

The proposal would not prevent an employee from spending more than the specified amounts, but if he did they would have to come out of his own pocket, or if his employer paid the excess it would be considered taxable income to the employee.

Now there is no doubt that the expense account racket is one of the most widespread in America. It's no secret that many corporations have given employees tax-free expense accounts in lieu of taxable raises. Some employers ask for only a superficial accounting. A man allowed to rack up $25 extra a week for imaginary entertainment is more ahead than if he received a $40-a-week pay rise. And the company saves, too.

WHAT ABOUT OFFICIALS?

However, there are two stumbling blocks to such limitation. One is that it is almost impossible to keep a man, used to a moderately high standard of living, ing, traveling at these rates. To be sure, a traveling businessman can get room and board in Harborside, Me., or Pittsboro, Ky., for far less than $25 a day.

But it would be difficult for a businessman to maintain himself in New York, Miami or Washington, during the busier seasons, on that amount. He could survive, of course. He could eat at lunch counters. He could find small rooms in side-street hotels. He could wash his own shirts. But could he do much business operating out of Maison Skidrow, or entertaining at the Astor?

This would have one advantage, however. It would keep corporate lobbyists out of Washington unless they were prepared to live and entertain out of their own wallets.

HOW ABOUT OFFICIALS?

The second stumbling block is what many Congressmen spend more than $25 a day on personal living expenses away from home. That may raise an ethical, if not Constitutional, question of whether Congressmen can set one expense account limit for private people, and another one for themselves.

Of course, it is a well-known fact that President Kennedy never spends more than $2 a day for his personal living expenses while on business travel — or am I kidding you.

NOW GOVERNMENT TELLS YOU HOW TO PICK SALESMEN

The Small Business Administration has issued a new leaflet on "Strengthening Sales Personnel and Policies." It is a beginner's treatise on hiring and directing salesmen, a light contribution to a serious 1961 problem. However, it has the virtue of being free. For a copy, ask the SBA, Washington 25, D.C., for Small Marketers Aide No. 65.

Two Proposals To Hike Pay Of State Employees

RALEIGH (AP) — Two proposals to raise the pay of state employees — one by 5 per cent, the other by 7 1/2 per cent — have been turned over to a three-member subcommittee for study and recommendation.

The proposals were presented to the legislature's joint appropriations subcommittee Wednesday by Rep. Ed Kemp of Guilford and Sen. John R. Jordan of Wake.

Kemp offered an amendment to the general appropriations bill which would add 2 per cent to the 3 per cent already in the measure. His proposal would cost the state more than $4.1 million during the next biennium.

Sen. Jordan proposed a 4 1/2 per cent increase over the 3 per cent recommended in the bill. His proposal would cost $9 million during the biennium.

Jordan said he had received many letters from state employees expressing resentment over the 2 per cent pay raise tentatively approved for school teachers.

He told the subcommittee his amendment would restore equity in the comparative pay scales.

However, Director D. S. Coltrane of the Department of Administration said that "The salaries of state employees, generally speaking, are in line with those paid by private industry for similar work."

Meanwhile, the subcommittee approved a total of $2.7 in capital improvements, as it plunked into that phase of the state budget. Of this amount, $907,000 would be in appropriations from the general fund, $403,000 in bond issues voted by the legislature, and $1.4 million in bond issues to be voted on by the people.

The subcommittee turned down a recommendation that $2.3 million be authorized from the general fund to purchase the present highway building.

May Set Sights On Protestant Unity

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Signs were apparent today that the United Presbyterian Church will give the go-ahead to a broad, long-range plan aimed at uniting much of American Protestantism.

The Church's newly elected moderator, Paul D. McKelvey, a Los Angeles businessman, called for full exploration "in this direction."

A report for the morning's session of the denomination's policy-making General Assembly, declared the churches are "re-forming in our time" to heal their divisions.

A quotation from the Rev. Dr. James I. McCord, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, was cited as depicting the need of the times.

"This challenge can be met by nothing less than a willingness on our part to take a radical step forward in our quest for visible, corporate unity among God's people," he said.

The first indirect test on the reunion proposal came Wednesday when McKelvey was elected. His nearest contender was backed by a delegate who implied opposition to the plan.

McKelvey, 53, who heads a real estate investment firm, said steps must be taken with care, and "we must have all the facts before us" in making decisions, but he favored "complete study" of the possibilities.

The proposal, which isn't expected to come to a vote until next Monday, asks that the Presbyterians invite the Episcopal Church to join with it in merger talks with Methodists and the United Church of Christ.

Ultimate goal would be establishment of a united church, truly catholic and re-formed, said the report, submitted by a committee headed by the Rev. Elmer C. Elsea of Denver, Colo.

Juniors Entertain Seniors Of Pitt Training School

By FRANCINE PARKER

GRIMESLAND—Members of the junior class entertained the seniors Friday night, May 12, at the annual Junior - Senior Prom at Pitt County Training School in the gymnasium.

"Adventure in Paradise" was the theme chosen for the event. The gym was beautifully decorated with tall trees and with an over-head scene of stars and balloons.

Both classes, faculty and guests were entertained by music provided by the Combo of Washington. Some members of the primary and elementary departments, entertained during intermission with a couple of dance selections.

Sunday, May 14, the Annual Glee Club Concert was presented by the Glee Club of the school and other tots of the school who are talented in some way with music. The program was a great success and was directed by Mrs. Z.W. Langley and Pianist, Mrs. W.P. McDonald.

Now that school is nearing its close, everyone is very excited and the seniors are looking forward to graduation. On May 26, the seniors will present their senior play, "Seniorama," under the direction of Mrs. C.N. Cherry.

Baccalaureate will take place on Sunday, May 28, with Rev. Stevens of Elizabeth City as guest speaker.

Haywood Wyche is valedictorian and Leon Boyd is salutatorian.

The grand night of graduation will be held here Monday night, May 29, at 8 p.m.

In a recent faculty meeting, Mr. Crandall gave mathematical demonstrations on the teaching of "fractions." He showed the scientific method of finding the least common denominator and how fractions can be taught by rise of objects.

CHAPTER 35

DeWitt walked to the radio and worked the switches. "Thomason?" he said. "Listen, I've got orders for you. What's that? Tell me later—What's that?"

Thomason's voice was squawking out of the radio. "—what I told you, a blip on the radar just now. It could be another ship coming, DeWitt—it could be another ship from Earth, only from the other side of the Curtain."

"Oh, hell, there's no ship coming, you just saw a bogey," said DeWitt impatiently.

"I tell you, there's no ship coming. What you heard Christensen say was true enough. I took Fairlie's tapes to prod the project along, there wasn't any spy. There isn't any ship, either. Now listen. We've got a problem here."

Fairlie listened and he felt the defiance and the anger drain out of him. He has a dull feeling that it wasn't any use. His premonition had been right. One way or another, DeWitt would keep them here until it was too late to leave. He felt cold and beaten. The sunlight from the doorway had darkened, as though it was clouding heavily outside, and he looked up through the high opening in the loftest dome and saw dark shadow across the heavens, shadow that seemed to pour down through the opening and deepen and darken.

Aral screamed suddenly, in a voice that was hardly human. She pointed to the dome, to the deepening shadows, and she cried out indistinguishably.

Thrayn cried out too. Then the two of them, scrambling, slipping wildly in their terror, bolted out through the golden doors.

do was to ease him down clumsily onto the stone, on his side. DeWitt looked into the darkening shadows with no interest in anything at all anymore. "She hit me," he said and died.

The shadows darkened and darkened and it was cold now as though the breath of outer space was upon them. They could not even see clearly each other's faces as they looked at each other from where they had bent over DeWitt. And still the strange haze chilled and deepened.

It was then that a voice, a whispering, carrying voice, came to them through the dark obscurity. It spoke in the old Vanryn and it said, "Let those of authority and knowledge among you come to us."

They looked at the blurs of each other's faces and then Winsted giggled and said in a high, hysterical voice, "You know, I think they were right. I think the Liorn have come."

Fairlie stood in the cold semi-darkness, with Raab beside him and Winsted trembling and gasping shapes in front of them and heard the husky, whispering voice, and he thought, Isn't it wonderful how adaptable humans are, they can stand anything. Well, almost anything.

If they try to go into my mind I can't stand that. This isn't a nightmare like those in the starship. You are Doctor Robert Fairlie of Boston in Massachusetts and you are a respected young scholar and you are talking to the Liorn.

To three of them, anyway. Three dark shapes who somehow shroud themselves in shadows. They are thick, they are upright, they are somehow manlike, they are not men. All right, so they're not, this can still be a straight man-to-man talk.

He stood and looked at the three dark shadowy figures, and it seemed to him that he had stood like this for hours. And yet it had been only minutes, really, since he and Raab and Winsted had scarcely, hesitantly, answered that summoning whispering and had gone into the dimmed mock-suns to the shadows in the far side where the summoners waited.

"You are not listening," said the husky whisper, speaking the old Vanryn language slowly and tonelessly. "The others cannot understand, and you do not listen."

Fairlie tried to get the stiffness out of his throat and tongue, and answer. He needed to talk, for all he was worth. These were the Liorn, who had destroyed a city and broken a great race, and he thought it quite likely that they would destroy him too, but he had to talk against it while he could. "I am listening now," he said in the old Vanryn language. "I hear you. We are not of the Vanryn. We come from Earth, a distant world, a distant star."

"We know. You are the far children of the Vanryn, grown now to

Cautionary Note Sounded On 'Personal Diplomacy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators struck a cautionary note today on the kind of personal diplomacy that apparently is leading to a meeting between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The proposed meeting "premature and ill-advised" under present world conditions. Gore, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview that he seriously questions whether Kennedy should "resort to personalized diplomacy."

"There must be every expectation that a summit meeting will produce a desirable result or the decision to hold the meeting cannot be justified," Dirksen said.

No Charges In Two Collisions

No charges were placed in two collisions reported by police yesterday, which caused an estimated $70 damage to the cars involved.

Officers noted an estimated $20 damage each resulted to vehicles operated by Mrs. Sara Cole Calvert of 3055 South Elm St., and T. G. Darden, 23, of 1211 Myrtle Ave., when the two cars collided on Cotanche St. about 4:19 p.m. No charges were made in the collision and no injuries were reported.

In the second mishap, about $20 damage was done to a car driven by Miss Martha Elizabeth Hunter of Wilson, when the vehicle was involved in a collision with a car operated by Louis Franklin Everett, 42 of 2006 Chestnut St. Damage to the Everett car was set at $10. No charges were made in the 11:59 a.m. mishap which occurred at the intersection of Evans and Fourth Sts.

"Coming in the wake of the Cuban and Laotian affairs and before the President has had the necessary time to consolidate his own positive foreign policy program, I think great risks are involved in a meeting of contending heads of states," he said.

Gore told the Senate Wednesday that it should be kept in mind that Khrushchev "has no scruples." He said that if Kennedy meets with the Soviet premier it should be only after careful planning and an agreement on the agenda to be discussed.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said that while he did not share Gore's fears, he agreed that if a personal meeting with Khrushchev is considered "we ought to go into it with our eyes wide open."

Mansfield emphasized that an informal talk between Kennedy and Khrushchev did not constitute a summit meeting "but an opportunity for the two heads to size up each other and size up world problems."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a statement that Kennedy should approach a meeting with Khrushchev wrong" for the President to engage in the kind of personal diplomacy Kennedy criticized in last year's presidential campaign. As for a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting, Capehart said, "nothing will come of it."

Boat Damaged In Traffic Mishap

FAST TEMPLETON, Mass. (AP)—Very few boats are involved in crashes with automobiles, but George Arsenault's boat was.

His brand new boat never had a chance to hit the water before it was wrecked on the highway by a car being navigated by an unlicensed boy of 15 driving his grandfather's car without authority.

Arsenault said he was driving home from his boat dealer, towing the boat on a trailer, when the crash occurred.

Some Minor Changes Can Wreck Television Plots

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—What would happen to television plots if: Apartment doors, behind which are stretched out the bodies of victims, were not so conveniently unlocked.

Private eyes ever thought to look behind the door when they crashed into enemy territory. Telephones or doorbells failed to ring at a critical moment, diverting the attention of the gun-holding villain just long enough for the hero to get in the first punch.

The heroine decided to take a cab home on nights the mad slasher was prowling deserted streets.

The fast-draw heavy drew a bead on a vital part instead of inevitably—scratching the hero's left, or non-gun, arm.

The mysterious stranger went a-walking in the cemetery on a night neither rainy nor foggy.

The gangsters couldn't remember what the one witness to their crime looked like.

The blackmail victim immediately notified police of the first threatening letter he received and then put himself into protective custody.

Khrushchev-Kennedy Meeting May Well Be Announced By Week's End

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—An official announcement of a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Vienna June 3 and 4 is expected before the end of the week. Authorities indicate the announcement will be made Friday.

Administration officials said President Kennedy wants to discuss informally with Soviet Premier Khrushchev a wide range of cold war problems with heavy emphasis on his belief in the urgent need for agreement on a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests.

Returning today from a visit to Canada, Kennedy now has about 10 days in which to prepare for the meeting and for conferences with French President Charles de Gaulle at Paris May 31-June 2.

The White House and State Department were formally silent on completion of arrangements for the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting. But a number of developments Wednesday gave support to reports Kennedy and Khrushchev have substantially agreed to get together.

At Ottawa, White House news secretary Pierre Salinger disclosed that Kennedy had discussed the prospective Khrushchev meeting with Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, that was the first public word from the White House beyond Salinger's earlier statements this week that there were no plans for such a conference "at present."

Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday that the President had a conference with Khrushchev "under consideration" and that the final decision was up to the President.

Press dispatches from Moscow quoted Western diplomats there as saying that a meeting was certain and predicting that it would be held at Vienna June 3 or 4.

Information available here was that according to plans already developed the President would arrive in Vienna from Paris June 3 and remain there until sometime June 4. The time schedule apparently would allow for several long talks between him and Khrushchev.

Diplomatic authorities here say that Kennedy does not envision the Khrushchev conferences as a negotiation nor does he contemplate trying to reach firm agreements on critical world issues.

He apparently does wish to make a strong personal appeal to Khrushchev to modify the Soviet position in the deadlocked U.S.-British-Soviet negotiations at Geneva on banning nuclear weapons tests.

Unless there is some change in the Geneva conference it is threatened with collapse in a few weeks. Officials say privately that Kennedy would then be under heavy pressure to order a resumption of U.S. nuclear weapons tests.

Beyond this specific issue, the impression in official quarters here is that Kennedy wants to try to make this point clear to Khrushchev: While the President hopes for an improvement in Soviet-Western relations, he is prepared to take strong action if necessary to protect from Communist conquest threatened areas of the world such as Southeast Asia.

Fundamental to Kennedy's entire approach to the conference is a desire to have a talk with the Soviet leader so that their exchanges in the future may be conducted against the background of a personal acquaintance and an understanding of each other's views and personalities. This could not be achieved in any manner other than a personal meeting.

Automatic Reapportionment Bill Takes Another Step

RALEIGH (AP)—A constitutional amendment calling for automatic reapportionment of House membership has made another stride in its legislative journey.

The Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee Wednesday approved the amendment which would give the House Speaker the duty of shifting 20 of the 120 House seats after each federal census. Only 20 seats would be involved, since the constitution requires that each county have one House member.

The amendment, already passed by the House, will have to be submitted to a vote of the people if it is approved by the Senate.

The General Assembly already has approved legislation which shuffles four House seats in accordance with the 1960 federal census. Under the shuffle, Johnston, Buncombe, Cabarrus and Pitt lost one House seat, each, while Mecklenburg, Onslow, Alamance and Cumberland gained one each.

Meanwhile, Rep. S. Bunn Frink of Brunswick introduced a bill calling for a 100-member Senate and a 150-member House. His proposal would give each of the 100 counties one senator and one representative. The other 50 House seats would be assigned on the basis of population.

Other legislative developments included:

Sen. Ralph Scott of Alamance introduced a bill, sponsored by the Sanford administration, which would empower the State Board of Education to administer federal school money.

Sen. Dallas Alford of Nash offered a bill, also sponsored by Gov. Sanford, which would enable counties and municipalities to band together in forming economic planning and development commissions.

The House killed by voice vote a bill which would have placed restrictions on the cancellation of automobile liability insurance policies by insurance companies.

Reps. Nick Galifianakis and Eugene Brooks of Durham introduced a bill to license and regulate businesses which service and install radios, television and other home electric appliances.

Award-Winners At Baseball Banquet

AWARD WINNERS . . . Larry Crayton (left) and Jim Martin received special awards at the East Carolina baseball banquet last night in the college cafeteria. Crayton was voted Most Valuable Player and Martin was named Most Outstanding Senior. Both played a large role in East Carolina's third straight North State Championship drive. Crayton is a native of Greensboro and Martin hails from Martinsville, Va.

Mallory Discloses Bucs Will Be In NAIA Playoffs

By LEONARD LAO
Reflector Sports Writer
The East Carolina baseball team held its annual banquet last night in the college cafeteria, with Head Coach Jim Mallory shedding his fungo stick for his master of ceremonies outfit.
Mallory, who has coached the Pirates to their third consecutive North State championship, had much praise and laurels in store for his diamondmen.
Among other announcements, Mallory acknowledged the fact that his Pirates will definitely play in the NAIA playoffs this season, something the East Carolina entry has not been able to do for the past two seasons.
The Bucs will play in the area playoffs on May 26-27 at a site not yet established by the playoff committee. Mallory hopes to bring the area playoffs to Greenville for the first time. The senior mentor said there were three schools asking for the hosts position so far, but he thinks East Carolina has as good a chance as any of them.

Mallory also announced that a meeting between the Bucs and Wake Forest, which was scheduled for last Saturday night at Guy Smith Stadium, but rained out, is now out of the question. However, the Pirate tutor is trying to arrange a game with North Carolina's Tar Heels, who were knocked out of first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings yesterday when the Cavaliers of Virginia swept a doubleheader from the North Carolinians. If a meeting between the Pirates and the Tar Heels comes about, Mallory expects it to be played at the Guy Smith diamond either Tuesday or Wednesday night.
Larry Crayton, a junior from Greensboro, and Jim Martin, a senior from Martinsville, Va. were awarded trophies at the banquet, to top individual honors on the Pirate squad.
Crayton, who is the winningest pitcher in East Carolina baseball history, was named the recipient of the Roy Tripp Memorial Trophy, honoring the little lefthander as the most valuable player for the 1961 season. Crayton has compiled a 23-4 record in his three years in the purple and gold.
Martin, an All-Conference selection for the first time this season, was awarded a certificate naming him as the winner of the E. E. Rawl Memorial Trophy, given to the most outstanding senior player on the squad. The husky first sacker had his best season at the plate for the Bucs, and had a big share in leading the Bucs to the league crown, cracking out a .357 batting average, the third best in the Pirate camp.

Tuning Up On Charlotte Track

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Seven drivers turned up at Charlotte Motor Speedway Wednesday for the first practice runs leading to the World 600 stock car race May 28, and three of them broke the track lap record.
Their new marks, however, are unofficial.
Ralph Moody of Charlotte drove a lap at 135.576 m.p.h. The official record is 134.429 set by Glen (Fireball) Roberts a year ago.
Moody drove a 1961 Ford which Buck Fulp of Greenwood, S.C., will use in the World 600. Fulp, millionaire textile man, has been driving sports cars in recent years but this will be his first try in late model racing.
Fred Lorenzen lapped the track at 134.942 m.p.h. and 135 even, in 1961 Ford, and Ned Jarrett turned a lap at 134.767 m.p.h., in his 1961 Chevrolet.
Meanwhile, Johnny Beauchamp of Harlan, Iowa, has entered the World 600, and it will be his first start since a brush with death at Daytona Beach in February. Beauchamp and Lee Petty smashed up in a 100-mile race at Daytona. Beauchamp was hospitalized for several days. Petty is still in the hospital.

Golf Ass'n Tourney Set Here

The Eastern Carolina Golf Association will hold its one-day tournament at the Greenville Golf and Country Club this year for the first time. The tourney will be played next Wednesday, May 24, on the 18-hole Greenville course.
Teams from Wilson, Rocky Mount, Kinston and Greenville will compete in the medal play affair, announced Simon Moye of Greenville, who is president of the tourney this year.
Assisting Moye in the one-day affair will be Jimmy Lanier, also of Greenville, who is the secretary-treasurer.
Trophies will be awarded to the winners and runners in each flight. Trophies will also be awarded to the person with the longest drive on hole number nine—the closest to the pin on number three, the fewest number of puts in the entire 18-hole affair, and several other events.
Team winners in the league play will also be awarded trophies, said Moye.
Among the better known players who will be competing in the tournament are Roscoe Baker and Johnny Farabow of Kinston, Arthur Reuffing and Palmer Laughridge of Wilson, Edmond Gravelly of Rocky Mount, and Don Conley, Erell Webb, Joe Exum, Bo Farley, Reynolds May and W. L. Allen of Greenville.
The presentation of the awards and trophies will take place at 5:00 p.m. on the terrace of the clubhouse. Moye has said that spectators will be invited to attend both the tournament and the awards ceremonies.
The championship flight will be made up of Joe Exum vs. Don Conley, and Reynolds May vs. Bo Farley, Conley, May, and Farley are all three past champions of the Eastern Carolina Golf Association tournament.

First Practice Saturday For Legion Baseball

Coach Bud Phillips announced today he will conduct the season's first practice session for the Greenville American Legion baseball team at Guy Smith Stadium Saturday.
Coach Phillips urged all boys in Pitt County who were not 18 years old before Jan. 1, 1961, "to bring their shoes and gloves and come on out." The practice session is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday.
Phillips, baseball and football coach at J. H. Rose High School, is in his second season at the helm of the local Legion entry.
Last year, when American Legion baseball was revived after some 20 years, Phillips guided the Post 39 entry to a 5-5 season mark.
This season, the Greenville squad has scheduled a 12-game slate that includes six home games to be played under the lights at Guy Smith Stadium.
The Legion Juniors begin their regular season play against Rocky Mount June 5.
Phillips said he will announce Saturday further plans for scheduling practice sessions.

No team scores were kept.

What's a whammy? That's the word you use to explain how the Los Angeles Dodgers can give up a dozen walks and two errors, go scoreless for six innings and then come from behind and win on a bases-loaded walk.
And that's just what they did Wednesday night as they once more exercised their spell over Warren Spahn for a 2-1 victory in 11 innings against the Milwaukee Braves.
It was their 31st victory in 46 decisions against Spahn, the superb southpaw who holds a lifetime edge over every other National League club and needs just eight victories to join the charmed 306 set.
Spahn's defeat also dropped the Braves back to .500 again while the Dodgers stayed in a virtual second-place tie with Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, all still three games behind front-running San Francisco after a day of one-run decisions in the NL.

The Giants scored twice in the ninth for a 4-3 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 4-3 and Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 2-1.
In the American League, Detroit barged five games ahead with a 9-1 victory at Baltimore after Washington defeated second-place New York 8-7. Cleveland beat Boston 1-0.
Spahn (4-3), who hasn't beaten the Dodgers in their own park in 13 years, walked four, struck out seven and allowed nine hits. He had them shut out on five hits until Norm Sherry, playing his first game since April 20 because of injury, hit a home run leading off the seventh inning.
The Dodgers didn't get another hit until the 11th, but it was a leadoff triple by Frank Howard and chased Spahn. Moe Drabowsky relieved and intentionally walked two men, loading the bases. Then Seth Morehead came on for the Braves, and after strike-ing out pinch hitter Bob Aspromonte, he walked pinch hitter Bob Lillis on a 3-2 pitch, forcing in the tie-breaking run.

Milwaukee managed only four hits off right-hander Stan Williams (2-2).
The Giants, out-hit 13-5, put away their eighth one-run decision among their 20 victories in the same fashion as the Dodgers — when losing reliever Don Elston (5-2) of the Cubs walked pinch hitter Jim Marshall with the bases full.
Smoky Burgess drove in three of the Pirates' runs, bringing home the clincher with a two-run double in the fifth off Ernie Broglio of the Cards. Wilmer Mizell (3-1) won it.
The Reds had just three hits, all off John Buzhardt (0-4), but paired two of them with a walk and Vada Pinson's sacrifice fly for both runs in the third inning. Frank Robinson's double brought in the deciding run. Bob Purkey (4-1) won it.

Rawls, Kimball Giving Exhibition

Two members of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, Betsy Rawls and Judy Kimball, will play an exhibition match and give a free clinic at the Greenville Golf and Country Club Friday afternoon, and the public is invited to attend the event.
Competing against the LPGA tourists will be Greenville Country Club pro Harold Thomas and ladies club champion Harriett White.
The nine hole event is scheduled to get underway at 1:15 p.m. Thomas asks that anyone interested in golf is invited to attend the exhibition, the first of its kind ever to be held here.
Mrs. White, along with being the ladies club champion, is also the winner of the Greenville Ladies Invitational tournament, which was held here last month.
Miss Rawls, who holds several all-time records, is a four time Ladies Open champion. She earned $26,774 in 1959 to establish herself as the winningest woman professional that year. She holds Phi Beta Kappa honors at the University of Texas.
Miss Kimball, who has been playing golf since 1954 at the age of 16, is a former Iowa State Amateur champion. She turned professional last November.

Charleston Back In Baseball With Castro Assist

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Charleston was back in organized baseball today, and the city could give Cuban Premier Fidel Castro some of the credit.
International League President Tommy Richardson came to town Wednesday night to confirm that the San Juan, Puerto Rico, club owned by millionaire William P. MacDonald would be transferred here.
Charleston will open a three-game series Friday here with Jersey City at Watt Powell Park, which seats about 5,800.
"We had an unusual economic situation down there," Richardson said in explaining why the club would be shifted from the island to this mountain community.
He said the Cuban troubles, and particularly the recent ill-fated invasion, has caused unrest and those fleeing from that island to Puerto Rico had created some economic hardships.
"The people just didn't have the money to go to the ball games," he said.

Virginia Jolts Tar Heels To Give Duke Clear Shot At Title

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Sam Snead, who collects golf tournament gold with all the zest of a 49er, swung out in quest of his 108th tournament title today against a field of 71 competitors in the 14th annual Sam Snead Festival.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Virginia has given Duke a clear shot at the Atlantic Coast Conference baseball title, but to win it, the Blue Devils will have to beat Virginia.

reference crown. A loss by Duke would set up a playoff with North Carolina. When the Duke-Virginia game will be played has not yet been decided. Duke Coach Ace Parker said Wednesday night the date would be announced today. He said the game probably would be Friday.

Durham Assists Wilson In Move To League Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Thanks to an assist from the Durham Bulls, Wilson's Tobs moved into first place in the Carolina League Wednesday night by a half game margin over Winston-Salem.

About all you could say for Phil Regan during spring training was that he was a junior member who might fill an open spot on the pitching staff for the Detroit Tigers, a club listed somewhere behind New York, Baltimore and Chicago in the American League pennant picks.

Regan has become an unbeaten regular, and he's done it by whipping New York, Baltimore and Chicago—for a 4-0 record. The 24-year-old right-hander nailed the Orioles a second time Wednesday night, putting away his third straight complete game with a six-hit 9-1 victory as the Tigers once again battered Baltimore and gained a five-game lead in the AL race.

Her First State Visit Proved To Be Jackie Kennedy's Own Triumph

By FRANCES LEWINE
 OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — A First Lady only four months, 31-year-old Jacqueline Kennedy scored a major triumph here on her first state visit abroad.

Flying back to Washington today, she had the acclaim of top Canadian officials and the man in the street. She had been applauded in parliament and by thousands of others.

And, if Canada was a sample, it was predicted Mrs. Kennedy's appeal during a visit to Paris late this month may be even greater.

Ottawa, capital of a nation where many citizens are of French descent, provided Mrs. Kennedy something of a trial run for her Paris trip.

She "has conquered all of our hearts," was the way the speaker of Canada's senate, Mark Drouin, summed it up.

And Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker told parliament people in the streets of Ottawa had greeted Mrs. Kennedy with "a special glow of warmth."

The President and Mrs. Kennedy wound up the major program of their two-day visit to Ottawa at a party they gave Wednesday night in honor of their official hosts in the picturesque setting of the U.S. Embassy overlooking the Ottawa and Gatineau rivers.

It was a small, formal dinner party, with only 20 guests, but 12 others were entertained briefly after dinner.

Mrs. Kennedy was reported exhausted after a long day of sight-seeing and ceremony. But she and the President stayed at the party until 11:05 p.m.

In a traditional ceremony at Government House earlier in the evening, the Kennedys, in their formal evening attire, had come out to the front entrance to thank policemen and royal Canadian Mounties who guarded them during their brief stay.

For her final appearance in Canadian society, Mrs. Kennedy wore a striking pink ribbed silk organza gown, with three tiers of deep ruffles at the bottom of the long flared skirt, a three-strand pearl necklace and dazzling long drop earrings.

Her wardrobe, designed by Oleg Cassini of New York, had attracted much attention.

As the Kennedys drove the mile to the embassy from Government House, crowds lined the route to catch a final glimpse of the couple.

The First Lady's schedule Wednesday, which drew crowds of some 8,000, was keyed to her favorite interests—art and horses. She was cheered and applauded at Canada's National Gallery, where her taste in art was cited by the director as impressive, and at the barracks of the royal Canadian Mounted Police where she watched the famous musical ride of 32 horsemen on black mounds.

The Army successfully launched a Redstone missile on a 200-mile flight down the Atlantic Missile Range.

Officials reported all test objectives were met on the brief flight Wednesday night. The Redstone has been operational with NATO troops in Europe for three years, but the Army fires one of the rockets here every few months to check reliability and engineering refinements.

A modified Redstone launched Alan B. Shepard Jr. on his pioneer space flight May 5.

The bald eagle has been a part of the United States official seal since 1782.

Their Bad Luck If Pills Backfire

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Vanderbilt's students have been warned that if they take pills to pep them up during examinations and the pills backfire, it's the students' tough luck.

John L. Bingham, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said Wednesday any student who disables himself through the use of antislip pills shall not be allowed to take a make-up examination.

Bingham said he intended his warning to be "a little humorous, but I wanted, too, to let them know they can't take examinations lightly." He said it didn't apply to many students.

Antarctic May Hold Treasures

WASHINGTON (AP) — The antarctic may hold a treasure of wonder drugs, waiting to be tapped.

This is the view of Dr. Albert Crary of the National Science Foundation.

Crary, one of the nation's foremost polar scientists, has just returned from long-term service in the cold lands.

In a talk Wednesday to the foundation's headquarters staff, he said: "We have found that animals in the antarctic are relatively free of bacteria, and it has been suggested that this may be due to the possible presence of antibiotics in algae plants there. This should be followed up."

Algae are tiny fungus-like plants that grow in the sea or on moist ground, and often occur as scum atop ponds.

Mars Hill Fight Still Remains In Stalemate

MARS HILL, N.C. (AP) — The Mars Hill School controversy remained in a stalemate today after both parties to the dispute turned down compromise proposals at a meeting Wednesday night.

In the newest developments: Evan J. Evans, offered the job of principal of Mars Hill School to succeed Ralph Neill Jr., said he would not accept.

The resignation of Paul Gillis from the Mars Hill School Committee was offered if Neill would withdraw as a candidate for election as principal next year. Duck and Rex Allen, another leader of the protesting citizens, rejected the offer.

The controversy was touched off by the ouster of Neill by the school committee. Students have been boycotting the school for more than a week, and 30 of the 35 teachers at the 950-pupil school have said they won't return next year unless Neill returns.

Three members of the Madison County Board of Education said they could not and would not do anything contrary to the wishes of the committee appointed by the board.

Duck and Allen said they could make no concession to the committee so far as Neill and the teachers were concerned.

Dr. Charles F. Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction, told those at the meeting by telephone that he was disappointed and disturbed that no solution was reached. He asked that discussions be continued and recommended that the school remain open.

DUMPING PLACE
 NEW YORK (AP)—Seven Army officers and 1,150 civilian workers pull enough junk out of New York harbor each year to build a pile a block wide and 15 times as high as the Empire State Building.

Recent hauls included the carcass of a giraffe and a grand piano.

N.C. Artifacts Linked To Place In History

By JULIAN JOHNSON

Museum of Natural History Most farm boys and girls and sometimes their city cousins, have collections of arrowheads, stone axes, drills and scrapers that were left on North Carolina lands by Indians as long ago as 8000 B.C.

Such collections are interesting and contain specimens of fine workmanship, but they could be of much greater interest to the collector if he would learn to classify his specimens as to their respective age, name and culture. The chart shown here was made in collaboration with Dr. Joffre Le Coe of the University of North Carolina and is based on his classification in 1957. It shows some of the better known arrow and spear points of North Carolina you will notice on the chart, most of the arrowheads after that date are triangular in shape, being true arrowheads. All stone points before that date are spear points. When the bow and arrow came in at the start of the early woodland period, agriculture and pottery making also began to flourish. Villages and towns became more permanent as agriculture produced a more dependable food supply. These and many related artifacts are seen at the Museum of Natural History at the North Carolina Department of Agriculture in Raleigh.

FORMAL TOUR

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP)—An Extension Service notice, informing poultry farmers of a tour of other farms, was not intended to be a white-tie affair, but some people misinterpreted a note at the bottom. It said:

"Please dress in clothes and foot-gear that you don't wear in your own buildings."
Officials said it was only a method of preventing poultry diseases from being spread.

Desperate Gunman Takes Own Life After Slaying Two Officers Of Law

BOSTON (AP)—A desperate gunman hunted widely for two slayings of law officers put a bullet into his brain Wednesday night as police stormed his hideout in a fashionable Back Bay apartment house.

Edgar W. Cook, 48, less than two years out of Alcatraz, where he served a 14-year sentence for a post office robbery, died in a hospital 2 1/2 hours later.

Police said he killed himself with the same tiny .25-caliber pistol with which he killed David S. Robinson, 53, warden of the Middlesex County jail, in escaping from that Cambridge institution Sunday noon.

Norman A. Porter Jr., 21, his companion in escape, remained at large.

Both Cook and Porter were held on murder charges. Cook was to have gone on trial Monday for killing a Cambridge policeman last September. The officer had surprised him attempting to break into a restaurant.

Porter was awaiting trial for killing a clothing store clerk in an attempted holdup at Saugus.

An informant frankly eager for a $5,000 reward posted by Middlesex County Sheriff Howard W. Fitzgerald telephoned the sheriff shortly after 6 o'clock and told him Cook was hiding in a third-floor apartment close to Kenmore Square.

Police closed off the area to pedestrians and cars. Officers in plain clothes surrounded the building.

They were sure when they saw Cook come out on a balcony at 9 p.m., look into the street, then hurry inside.

A Massachusetts state police woman detective, Mary E. Connelly, 25, entered the building just ahead of the raiders and with a crisp command—"Get your coat and come with me"—led a young airline hostess to safety from her apartment near Cook's.

At 9:20 a five-man squad led by Deputy Police Supt. Joseph J. Cummings and Cambridge Police Chief Daniel J. Brennan slipped out of an unmarked car a block away.

As they approached they saw a shade go up in the apartment and the window open. A head appeared and then withdrew. The officers heard a shot when they reached the apartment door. When they crashed through the door they found Cook sprawled on the floor, bleeding heavily, the tiny pistol beside him.

Hospital Patient Devised A Radio

CINCINNATI (AP)—Attendants at Christ Hospital are convinced that 29-year-old Joe Smith isn't one to be jotted out of a hobby. Smith, in Aurora, Ind., resident who is interested in citizen's band radio rigs, was burned when an antenna he was installing touched an 11,000-volt wire. But, while hospitalized, he set up his radio equipment—minus roof antenna—and began daily conversations with other radio enthusiasts.

Satellite Communications Base Is Planned In Maine

ANDOVER, Maine (AP) — This remote village in the mountains of western Maine has been launching imaginary men into space for months.

Some townspeople even figured out that plans were afoot to catch misdirected astronaut in giant nets stretched on mountain peaks. The rumors shot out of orbit but came to earth when the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. disclosed that the world's largest antenna for telephone satellite communication will be built atop a hill east of the village.

The rumors started when strangers came to town and bought over a thousand acres of high ground considered worthless except for pulpwood and lumber.

When the strangers hired 50 local men and started building a road into the wilderness the rumors took off. But cash being paid out was a real down-to-earth bonanza in this village of 900 souls.

Andover has only a few farms, three small woodworking plants and logging to provide local employment.

Burdick Pierce of Wilton, Conn., a veteran of radar construction in Alaska, is field engineer of the $7-million AT&T test facility. Most of the surveyors and engineers are from the Michael Baker Co. of Rochester, Pa.

After a road has been completed and a site prepared, a 250-ton steel and aluminum "horn" antenna, largest of its type ever built, will be erected. The 177-by-94-foot "horn" will be used to pick-up faint signals from Europe relayed by orbiting satellites and also to send out signals to be relayed by satellites back to Europe.

Court Approves Home-Schooling

DUTCH NECK N. J. (AP)—A Princeton University professor and his wife have won court approval to educate their three talented children at home instead of sending them to public school.

Dr. Daniel S. Trifan, 43, and his 34-year-old wife were cleared of disorderly conduct charges Wednesday by Magistrate A. C. Reeves Hicks, who ruled that the three children in question "are receiving an equivalent education in the academic sense."

The three, who have shown musical talent, have been educated at home through correspondence courses. The youngsters are Maria, 11; Daniel, 9; and Richard, 7.

Said Hicks: "There is absence of any evidence that the children are being exploited or being dragged into the abyss of maladjustment or abnormality, which would certainly give the state sufficient cause to exercise control. Therefore, the defendants are not deemed to be disorderly persons."

Hicks noted further that the legislature had not established a framework for appeal in a case such as this.

The Trifans had argued that if they were forced to send their children to West Windsor Township School, the children would not have sufficient time to develop musically. The three all play the violin and piano.

The School Board declared that the children needed formal school and the relationships with other children that such a routine offers.

Agitators Call For Violence By NAACP

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of Negro hecklers broke up a Harlem rally Wednesday night marking the seventh anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court's school desegregation ruling.

The hecklers, demanding an end to what they called Negro pacifism, shouted down speaker after speaker — including Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A clergyman, the Rev. Thomas Kilgore Jr., was struck in the chest by an egg as he began the benediction. He paused momentarily, then completed the prayer.

The agitators demanded that one of their number, Robert Williams, be allowed to speak. The heckling stopped when Williams took the rostrum.

Williams described himself as a suspended member of the NAACP chapter in Monroe, N.C. He said he was ousted in 1959 because "I advocated Afro-American men should defend their women and children."

Williams said the NAACP was a pacifist organization, adding: "We are not pacifists and we do not attempt to turn the other cheek. I am tired of being oppressed. I am going to meet violence with violence."

The jeers and shouts resumed

Kindergartener In Bridge League

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Kindergartener pupil Mark Leake, 6, now has his membership card in the American Contract Bridge League.

His greatest bridge triumph to date is a little slam in spades. But at the rate he's going, there's many a grand slam in his future.

His mother, Mrs. Fletcher Leake Jr. of Memphis, said Mark picked up the game by observing as she took bridge lessons.

"I'd as soon have him for a partner as anyone else," she added.

Castro Suggests Change In Menu

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro, who has changed many other aspects of Cuban life, now has suggested a new menu for his island's people.

In a televised speech monitored here Wednesday night, he pushed these shortage-caused dietary substitutes:

Instead of beef, Cubans should eat rabbit. "I was amazed when I was told that a rabbit can produce more meat than a cow in a year or so. It's fantastic," Castro said.

Instead of cow's milk, Cubans should drink goat's milk. "I am told goat's milk has more fat and more proteins," he said.

The first sugar beet factory was built by Franz Karl Achar in Silesia in 1802, with the aid of the King of Prussia.

Continuing ...

During the course of the year, Cox must have available books for students who come into the system and he must make additional orders during the school year as teachers change from one title to another.

He also has the responsibility for reports filled out by teachers on the second, fifth, seventh and ninth months as well as reports filled out by principals for each of the nine months. The superintendent's report must be completed and sent in monthly to the Textbook Division in Raleigh.

Cox's third major responsibility is the inventory in the spring of each year of all the texts in the county in all grades, as to the number available and their condition. He must decide which books can be rebound and which are beyond further use. Damage fees must be collected from each school and forwarded to Raleigh to the Textbook Division, along with rental fees which may have come in during the school year.

Each book should have a life span of from four to six years. School officials hope that parents will impress their school-age children with assuming the responsibility of the proper use and care of textbooks.

Two Programs

The textbook system actually consists of two programs, the elementary and the high school.

The elementary text program is free, and operates for grades one to eight. This is contrary to the general public's concept, since the students do not pay a text fee as is commonly believed. Money for the text books is provided in state funds.

The only money the child is required to pay is a damage fee for improper or poor care of a book. Alford stated that in Pitt County $1,307 was collected for grades one through eight in damage fees, which averages about 13 cents per pupil. There are about 10,000 students in the elementary grades, one through eight.

The elementary textbooks are issued from the Division of Textbooks of the State Board of Education, and are charged to Pitt County. The county schools now have 83,805 textbooks from that division, and they are valued at about $167,610.

As for the high school textbook program, Pitt county is on the rental system, which means that the county is a part of the textbook rental program and rents

Helicopter Sets Speed Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy announced today a world speed record for helicopters—192.9 miles an hour.

The mark, exceeding the former Soviet-held record by a wide margin, was set Wednesday by a Navy twin-turbine Sikorsky helicopter at Bradley Field, Windsor Locks, Conn.

The former fastest time was 166.5 miles an hour flown by a Soviet helicopter Nov. 1, 1959, over a three-kilometer (1.86-mile) straight line course.

The craft was flown by Cmdr. Patrick L. Sullivan, 37, New York City, pilot; and Lt. Beverly W. Witherspoon, 28, Durham, N.C., copilot.

The nation's fire losses during the last 10 years totaled more than $1.7 billion, according to a National Fire Protection Association estimates.

Sanitarians Will Meet Tuesday

Some 35 public health department sanitarians from 23 North-eastern North Carolina counties are scheduled to gather here Tuesday for the regular quarterly in-service training session of the Northeastern Sanitarians Section.

The all-day meeting is scheduled for the Cindarella Restaurant at 9:30 a.m. The group will remain there for lunch before adjournment about 4 p.m.

Featured speaker for the quarterly meeting will be Gilbert Kelso, an engineer and a professor at the University of North Carolina School of Public Health.

Kelso is scheduled to discuss recommended effective methods of treating swimming pools to prevent the spread of communicable diseases. Walter Lackey of the State Health Department's Division of Sanitation will preside at the meeting.

In addition to Kelso and Lackey, several more representatives from the State Board of Health are expected.

Tuesday's meeting is a part of the in-service training program conducted on a sectional basis throughout North Carolina for the benefit of public health sanitarians.

Host for the sectional gathering is the Sanitation Division of the Pitt County Health Department.

The Northeastern Sanitarians Section includes 23 counties from the Jones County area north and east to the Virginia state line and the Tar Heel coast.

5 High-Ranking Russians Killed

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet news agency said today five high ranking officers of the Soviet armed forces have died in an "aviation catastrophe."

Tass said the officers included the army's full Gen. Vladimir Y. Kolpakchi.

The others were identified as Col. Gen. S. N. Pereverkin, Lt. Gen. V. I. Goffe, Maj. Gen. A. P. Morozov and Col. V. V. Khikolovskiy.

Tass said the announcement of the air accident came from the Defense Ministry.

Kolpakchi, 62, was a veteran of the Bolshevik forces in the revolutionary fighting of 1918-20. He held various commands during World War II, during which he won many decorations, and led the Soviet army in the final attack on Berlin. He was appointed to the defense staff in 1956.

Available reference books give no clues to the identity of the other four crash victims named.

Tass provided no details of the accident, but it seemed likely a number of other persons must have been killed. In addition to the flight crew, an aircraft with so many high-ranking officers aboard would almost certainly have carried a number of their aides.

The announcement as reported by Tass gave no clues to the point of origin or destination of the fatal flight.

The secrecy roused speculation that the accident might have had some connection with Soviet space exploits.

Buzzing In Plane Proved Harmless

PARIS (AP) — A pilot at Orly Airfield rushed to inform police Wednesday night when he heard a strange buzzing coming from the washroom of a plane he was about to fly to Africa.

The pilot feared someone had planted a time bomb. Police cautiously opened the washroom door—and found an electric razor that someone had left plugged in.

Salvation Army officers often serve as parole officers. Each year about 1,500 persons are paroled to The Salvation Army.
