MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban exiles today favored taking up Fidel Castro's offer to free invasion captives for 500 American bulldozers, but they differed on who should do it.

Russian Agree Help Laos Team

GENEVA (AP)—Under prodig by Canada, the Soviet Union agreed today to help solve the urgent problem of supplying the control commission in Laos with equipment needed to preserve the peace.

The 14-nation conference here sent off a message to the commission asking what it needed in the way of planes, helicopters, trucks and communications equipment for patrolling the Laotian jungles.

Foreign Secretary Howard C. Green of Canada brought up the question of supply, declaring the need was imperative. Conference sources said he thus put the issue squarely up to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Rather than assume a stalling attitude before the conference, Gromyko agreed to Green's proposal, these sources said.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other members of the American delegation were delighted at Green's triumph, they added.

The action represented the first fully defined achievement in four days of lengthy and complex conference negotiations on Laos.

Indian delegate V. K. Krishna Menon told newsmen he understood the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union were ready to help out the truce teams with planes, helicopters and other equipment.

India is chairman of the three-nation commission, Poland and Canada the other members.

Menon said Indian and Canadian pilots could fly the Western aircraft and Poles the Soviet machines.

East and West delegates approved the move to tighten the shaky truce in Laos. Both sides had charged Thursday that the power in a 62-hour revolt, expressed confidence that the U. S. government—despite its local representatives' opposition to the coup—"will cooperate with us and support us more positively than ever before."

The general did not give any names, but most were thought to be Socialists with from moderate to extreme left leanings. The Communist party is outlawed in this nation of 23 million and its operation is underground.

KENNEDY - KHRUSHCHEV MEET SET

Redistricting Fight Given Western North Carolina

RALEIGH (AP)—Senators of the strongly Democratic east put across a motion in committee Thursday night throwing the congressional redistricting fight into the west—where Republican Rep. Charles R. Jonas would be matched against a Democrat.

Jonas is the state's only Republican congressman. But Democrats who live in the Piedmont and western part of the state have expressed fear of tampering with his district lest they be hit by a political boomerang.

The vote was 5-4 on a motion by Sen. Henry Grady Shelton of Edgecombe that the Senate Congressional Districts Committee proceed on the principle it will not put incumbent Democrats into the same district.

No vote was taken on any bill, however. The House committee also has not acted on a bill, but its sentiment seems definitely in favor of a Jonas-Democrat match.

The legislature must reach present 12 congressional districts, reducing them to 11, because of population shifts which showed up in the 1960 Census.

Sen. J. Max Thomas of Union explained that fear to the committee Thursday night. He was arguing for his bill which would put two eastern Democrats—veteran Rep. L. H. Fountain and freshman David Henderson—in the district.

"We have learned what it is in our part of the state to have to fight those of the opposing party," said Thomas. Trying to get rid of Jonas by pitting him against a Democrat—probably Rep. Basil Whitener—would give Republicans "the greatest banner they could have to rally around," he said, and put the present Ninth and 12th Democratic Districts in danger.

Thomas argued that Piedmont and western Democrats have had to work harder to get out the vote than their eastern friends. Mecklenburg County alone he said, delivered 43,403 votes for Gov. Sanford last fall, almost as many as the entire first district, or the second district or the third.

The Union County senator had one last word for the committee: "If you're going to try to get rid of the Republican, then don't put him in a district where he's got a majority already." This would occur under a bill as introduced by Sen. W. M. Eubank of Pender, which would match Jonas and Whitener.

The third bill in the committee, introduced by the chairman, Sen. Robert Morgan of Cleveland, would match Fountain and Harold Cooley, eastern Democrats.

Sanford Plea Helps Break Mars Hill School Boycott

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—A total of 517 students were on hand today for classes at embattled Mars Hill school after Gov. Sanford appealed to parents to end an eight-day boycott of the school.

Only 45 students were on hand Thursday for classes at the 900-student school.

The protest grew out of the refusal of school officials to renew the contract of Principal Ralph Neill Jr.

Many of the students and parents interviewed in Mars Hill today expressed concern over Sanford's statement that he would take "additional action" after the students return to school. Two mothers, Mrs. Margaret Rymer and

Mrs. W. C. Silvers Jr. said very likely another boycott would be held Monday if no action is taken in the crisis over the weekend.

The governor talked with both sides in the school dispute in Raleigh.

Sanford promised Thursday that as soon as the children return to the embattled Mars Hill school, "I will take additional action to resolve differences" growing out of the firing of the school principal.

"I call on them not under the threat of state law but for the sake of the education system," Sanford added.

The student strike, which has kept an overwhelming majority of the students away from the Mars Hill School, began more than a week ago. It stemmed from the firing of Ralph Neill Jr., as principal of the school.

Sanford held a conference for more than an hour with Zeno Ponder, a member of the Madison County Board of Education and political leader. Ponder has supported the action of the Mars Hill School Committee in dismissing Neill.

The governor also conferred Thursday night with Dr. Otis Duck leader of a Mars Hill citizens committee that bitterly protested the firing of the principal.

Sanford said Dr. Duck "is calling on all students to return to school. Mr. Ponder has urged the children to return."

Only 45 of the more than 900 students showed up for classes at the Mars Hill School Thursday, the eighth day of the student strike.

Arrange Talks In Vienna June 3, 4

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will meet in Vienna June 3 and 4 for a "general exchange of views" on major world issues, the White House announced today.

The announcement ruled out any effort to reach agreement on "the major international problems that involve the interest of many other countries."

"This meeting will however afford a timely and convenient opportunity for the first personal contact between them (Kennedy and Khrushchev) and a general exchange of views on the major issues which affect the relationship between the two countries," the announcement said.

"The meeting will, however, afford a timely and convenient opportunity for the first personal contact between them and a general exchange of views on the major issues which affect the relationship between the two countries," the announcement said.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy will make the trip on the morning of June 3. It is approximately a two-hour flight.

Mrs. Kennedy will accompany the President to Vienna.

Sometime on June 4—Salinger did not know the hour—the President will fly from Vienna to London for a visit with Mrs. Kennedy's sister and her husband, Prince Stanislas Radziwill.

The London stopover gives the President an opportunity to meet with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan after the talk with Khrushchev. The White House statement disclosed that meeting will occur at a luncheon on June 5.

Kennedy, the statement said, "will depart London for Washington late in the evening" of June 5 while Mrs. Kennedy will remain with her sister in London for several days.

The schedule will get Kennedy back to the United States much too late to keep a scheduled date for a speech at West Virginia University June 5.

As late as Thursday afternoon Salinger had said there was no change in the President's commitment to speak at the university.

Today in announcing Kennedy's revised plans Salinger gave no information on what would be done about the engagement at the university.

The announcement said the agreement to meet in Vienna followed "discussions through diplomatic channels which began last March and an exchange of communications."

2nd Minuteman Failed In Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Minuteman missile veered off course and was destroyed by the range safety officer today about 90 seconds after it blasted off on its second test flight.

The safety officer pushed the destruct button during second stage flight when instruments on his console indicated it was off course.

The explosion occurred after the rocket had streaked several miles through the sky and was not visible to Cape observers. The third-stage nose cone and pieces of the rocket plunged into the Atlantic.

The rocket is essentially the same as the first Minuteman. The primary difference is the addition of more than 200 telemetry channels to radio information on performance of all systems.

Seconds after it blasted off, the rocket pitched over slightly and streaked downrange. The second stage appeared to ignite successfully but this was not immediately confirmed.

The Air Force plans to have the first operational Minuteman ready to plant in steel and concrete silos on a Montana prairie by mid-1962.

One in place, the missiles will be manned and guarded only through remote control.

In an emergency, two men in an underground control center miles away could launch all 50 rockets in one squadron in a matter of minutes. With a 6,300-mile range, they could zip over the North Pole and strike enemy targets in less than 30 minutes.

Gas Price War Is Reaching City

The gasoline price war has hit Greenville.

Prices haven't hit the 199 cents a gallon low that one Charlotte dealer experienced, but the prices are going down. The greatest discount reported here today, according to a survey by The Daily Reflector, was four cents a gallon.

People who bought gas yesterday are howling today. There is no indication how long Greenville will be a part of the gas price war, which started about a week ago in Charlotte. Prices there have been generally 21.9 cents a gallon for name brand regular gasolines.

The price war so far has affected Columbia and Greenville, S.C., and Charlotte, Raleigh, Asheville, Greensboro and Fayetteville as well as Greenville and other points.

John G. Clark of the Sinclair Refining Co. here said his firm has lowered prices 3.3 cents a gallon on both grades of gasoline. The prices were lowered yesterday morning and have not produced an upsurge in business. Clark observed that business has been going as usual. His firm reduced the prices according to instructions received, he said.

The Esso distributor, T. E. Carawan of Carawan Oil Co., said prices have been lowered four cents for all grades of gasoline. Prices were lowered Tuesday evening.

"It doesn't affect business, but it causes an inconvenience," Carawan observed of the price lowering. He said—as far as increased business is concerned during a price war—"I have never Messages have gone back and forth between the White House and the Kremlin since Kennedy was inaugurated Jan. 20.

The announcement confirmed earlier word from informants here that Kennedy considered the talk with Khrushchev should be private and completely informal and should not involve actual negotiations since most of the important issues of the cold war are matters of great concern to many other governments.

"The President and Chairman Khrushchev understand that this meeting is not for the purpose of negotiating or reaching agreement on the major international problems that involve the interest of many other countries," the announcement said.

"The meeting will, however, afford a timely and convenient opportunity for the first personal contact between them and a general exchange of views on the major issues which affect the relationship between the two countries," the announcement said.

That wording was wide enough to cover every major problem, present or imminent, in the world now—the deadlocked nuclear test talks at Geneva, the crisis in Southeast Asia, the future of the United Nations, the long dispute over West Berlin, the nuclear weapons race, disarmament, and many others.

The announcement did not emphasize a need for discussion of any topic or group of topics although it is understood that Kennedy intends to concentrate primarily on trying to get Khrushchev to modify the Soviet position on the nuclear test talks and thereby open new hope for some agreement.

An announcement in London said the Kennedys will dine with Queen Elizabeth II June 5.

Johnson Talks To Rural India

AGRA, India (AP)—U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson gave rural India an example of an American politician in action today as he shook hands through villages and assured them the people of the United States are interested in their welfare.

Johnson and his wife also visited the beautiful Taj Mahal, shimmering white in 106-degree heat. Johnson took a long look and called it "the greatest monument to love and a woman." It was built by Shah Jahan in the 17th century as a tomb for his wife.

Inside the domed central room a guide called a Moslem prayer for the visitors to hear a 15-second echo around the high circular ceiling of the elaborately inlaid marble.

Johnson let out a Texan "whoop-hoop" but its echo was lost in laughter.

Johnson carried a basic message of American interest in the economic improvement of this impoverished farm area. Wherever he popped out of his air-conditioned car into the heat to look at bullocks or draw water from a well or inspect a village, the vice president reiterated the interest of President Kennedy and other Americans in their progress.

As he hauled a bucket up from a 40-foot well, Johnson told a grizzled farmer: "I was a poor boy and grew up where we had to draw water for horses and mules."

But, he added, rural electrification under President Franklin D. Roosevelt brought pumps and Johnson said he hoped rural India would be electrified soon.

South Korea Also Loses A President

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—President Yun Po-sun has resigned, a presidential secretary announced today. The development was reported as military rule prevailed again in South Korea for the first time since Syngman Rhee was ousted last year.

A statement issued to newsmen over Yun's name said "I regret that I made so little contribution to the nation that a military revolution has occurred."

Yun was the only constitutional official left in office after a military coup this week seized power and forced the resignation of Premier John M. Chang.

Yun's resignation, which was confirmed by spokesmen reached by telephone at the presidential palace, followed by one day Premier Chang's capitulation and resignation.

Under the South Korean form of government, the premier exercised the real ruling power and the president was a figurehead chief of state.

In a Korean crisis such as this week's uprising, it is traditional for the leading figures to step aside in penance.

The nation's military chiefs had arrested 930 suspected leftists and imposed stringent censorship. Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, chief of the military junta that seized

Humber Asks Planning Body For Capital Square

Pitt Sen. Robert L. Humber Thursday introduced a bill in the Senate that would set up a special commission for studying and planning a master plan for state government buildings around Raleigh's Capital Square.

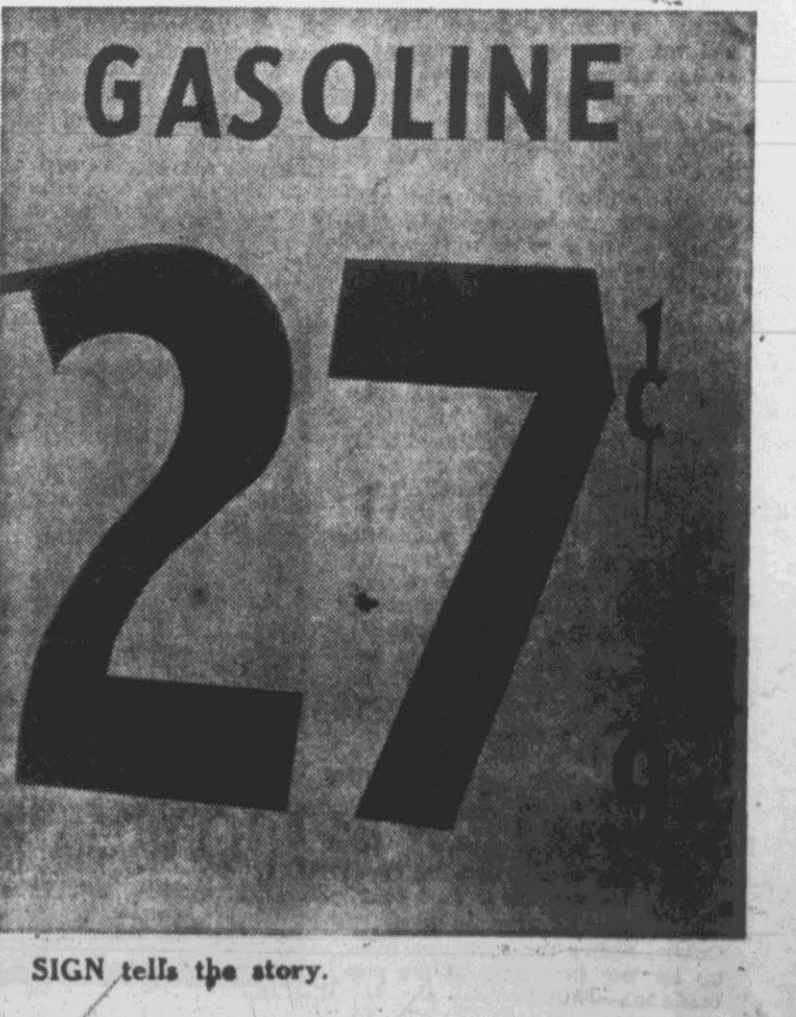

The Pitt senator gathered support for his proposal that would establish a nine-member State Planning and Development Commission to devise the master plan. All but 14 of the state's 50 senators signed the proposal.

The unit Humber's bill would establish would take over functions of a Heritage Square Commission proposed by the State

Heritage Square is the name given to a suggested block-sized area near Capitol Square which would be the site for a new State library and archives building and a new state art museum building.

Humber's bill also mentions the proposed new highway building that the Highway Commission has proposed to be built in suburban Raleigh. The reorganization group wants the structure erected near Capitol Square.

In spite of the stipulation that the commission's work must be approved by the Governor and Council of State, its out-

CAP, GOWN AND CAMERA
 Won't be long until the big day. After the exams and the anxious waiting, your favorite young guy or gal will be marching down the aisle to get that diploma. Pretty serious moment. But it's a fun time, too, full of parties and fond farewells.

So how about a graduation gift that's not only a great gift, but also a great way for the grad to see treasured places and faces again and again? I'm talking about a Brownie Starmatic Outfit.

The Brownie Starmatic is a camera that all but thinks for itself—all the lucky grad has to do is aim and shoot. An extra-sensitive electric eye automatically meters the light, and automatically adjusts the three-element lens for bright, clear pictures in color or black-and-white. This automatic beauty can also be used manually for flash shots. A "Low Light" signal tells you when to use flash, and the brilliant optical viewfinder shows a special tint when you set the camera on manual—so, no slip-ups. No double exposures, either. Prevention's built right in.

In the outfit there's also a handsome field case, Kodalite Midger Flashholder for sparkling indoor shots, six flash lamps, two penlite batteries, 127 film and comprehensive instructions. Price? That's the best part. Just $39.95.

Compare the Brownie Starmatic Outfit, before the orchestra tunes up for the first bars of the professional. (Adv.)

Treat: Potted Shrimp

SOUTHERN SPREAD—Potted shrimp, served with crackers can be made with canned seafood plus butter and interesting seasonings.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor

Talk to an English cook about favorite British dishes and you are likely to hear about potted meat or fish.

Generations ago some of our fine southern cooks adopted one of these dishes—potted shrimp—and made it their own. Recipes for it have been handed down in southern families ever since. We find rules for potted shrimp or shrimp paste, as it is often called here, in regional cook books from Savannah, Charleston and New Orleans.

These southern recipes may stem from England's Mrs. Beeton whose cook books were certainly known to many 19th century American women. Or they may come from French forebears because Mrs. Beeton acknowledged that her recipe for potted shrimp was adopted from France's terrine de crevettes.

The name of this dish exactly describes the way it is made: seasoned shrimp and butter are turned into a small earthenware pot and covered with extra melted (or clarified) butter to exclude the air.

Canned shrimp, we find, are perfect to use in the following recipe because of their texture—they can be lifted out whole and spread or they can be broken up easily as they are served.

The British are likely to serve potted shrimp on toast at teatime. Americans usually offer it as an hors d'oeuvre with crackers before a meal; it's a fine go-along for tomato juice.

POTTED SHRIMP
 2 cans (4½ ounces each) shrimp
 1 cup butter
 1 teaspoon mace
 ½ teaspoon white pepper
 ¼ teaspoon cayenne
 Drain shrimp; rinse in cold water and drain again. Melt ¼ cup of the butter; mix in mace, pepper and cayenne. Add shrimp and cook gently for a minute or two, stirring carefully so as not to break up shrimp. Turn into a small earthenware container. Clarify the remaining ¾ cup butter by heating it gently in a small saucepan until it foams; quickly skim off the foam and pour the clear butter over the shrimp; do not add any of the white residue at the bottom of the saucepan. Refrigerate to allow butter to set. Before serving, let stand at room temperature until butter is slightly soft—1 hour or more. Serve in the container as a spread. Makes about 2 cups.

Notes: The shrimp should all be covered by the clarified butter; you may have to mash them down a bit to do so. If you have an earthenware container whose top is somewhat smaller than its bottom, you may find it convenient to use.

SEASON TO TASTE
 Southern recipes for shrimp paste vary in their seasonings. Mrs. Beeton used mace and cayenne, as does the above recipe, but she noted that a little nutmeg could be added "when liked." Some Charleston cooks omit the mace and add nutmeg and celery salt. A Savannah cook comments that shrimp paste tastes delicious with tomato salad.

More Finance Measures Gain Subcommittee's OK

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate Finance subcommittee recommended approval Thursday of revenue sources which would produce $74 million during the next two fiscal years to finance Gov. Sanford's huge school improvements program. House Speaker Joseph Hunt described the subcommittee's move as "a highly significant action that breaks the revenue log jam." He continued: "It goes a long way toward solving our problem. I never have thought the legislature would have any trouble winding up its work by June 17. This is further indication it can be done." Sanford said he was happy to report that the subcommittee "has reported out a finance bill that will mean a lot of education in this state." The governor had proposed a tax increase on whisky and elimination of exemptions, including food and medicine, from the 3 per cent sales tax to finance school improvements. The subcommittee knocked out of the Sanford tax bill proposals to apply the sales tax to prescription medicine, commercial fertilizer and lime, livestock and poultry feed, seeds and insecticides.

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Clubs from Smithfield, Littleton and Lenoir today won the 1960-61 general awards at the N.C. Federation of Women's Clubs meeting here. The Smithfield Junior Woman's Club won the Kitty Cope Odom Silver Punch Bowl, the Littleton Woman's Club won the Antiquities Award and the Lenoir Junior Woman's Club won the Margaret Moore Bonner Award.

Jeff Chandler Is Seriously Ailing

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP)—Jeff Chandler, who hitchhiked to Hollywood 16 years ago to fulfill a boyhood dream of movie stardom, is in critical condition today after a 7½-hour emergency operation to stop abdominal bleeding. The graying 42-year-old actor was given multiple blood transfusions Thursday. He will be under close observation at Culver City Hospital at least until Saturday evening, a spokesman said. The surgery followed an operation for a slipped spinal disc, suffered while filming "The Raiders" in the Philippine Islands a month ago. The 6-foot-4-inch, 200-pound star was given a series of injections to deaden nerves and lessen pressure while he completed the movie.

He was hospitalized after his return to Hollywood. The actor's father, Philip Groesel, and Chandler's former wife Marjorie waited at the hospital. Several surgeons attended him. Chandler, a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., served in the Army during World War II. He hitchhiked to Hollywood after his discharge. He got several radio acting jobs and his movie career was launched after a studio executive heard him in a radio thriller. He achieved movie stardom in 1950 as the Indian chief Cochise in "Broken Arrow." A series of hit films followed.

The handsome actor was divorced a year ago after several separations. He has two daughters, Jamie, 14, and Dana, 11.

Participated In Three New Tests

AYDEN—Forty-five students at South Ayden School participated recently in a nationwide trial of three new science tests, it was announced today. The tests reflect the widespread changes that have occurred in recent years in the teaching and content of high school courses in biology, chemistry and physics.

About 15,000 students in selected schools across the country took the preliminary versions of the achievement tests, which were written by committees of prominent teachers in each of the science fields. Students studying physics at South Ayden School took the new test in their field.

Mrs. R. L. Brown, counselor, said the program was "to test the test, not the student." She commented that "These try-outs are to find out if the questions are clear and whether they are too difficult or too easy for students."

On the basis of try-out results, the tests will be revised and then given to students in the schools to provide information on typical performance of science students throughout the country. Final forms of the tests, which are for use by schools in evaluating their students and their curriculum, will be published in about two years by the Cooperative Test Division of Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

'General' Found Far To The Rear

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP)—They refought the Battle of Lexington Thursday. The Confederates won, just as they did in 1861, but their general was far to the rear.

Wentworth Military Academy cadets and ROTC members from St. Joseph — abetted by Army men firing blank charges from cannon — struggled two hours on the banks of the Missouri before the Union position was captured. When the fight was over, "war correspondents" clamored for an interview with Rebel Gen. Sterling Price, actually Wentworth Cadet Maj. Roland A. Sombart. Finally he appeared, riding a nervous black mare.

"General, don't you think you should be with your troops?" a newsmen asked. "Not with this horse," said the general, wearily. "This is the most gun-shy horse in Lafayette County."

Paving The Way For Remedial Step

Enabling legislation which would permit Pitt County in the future to dissolve, separate or annex school districts or special bond units would pave the way for Pitt County to alter its existing school district alignment as future conditions necessitate without going back to the legislature for approval each time a change of this sort is necessary.

The special legislation approved by the Board of Education and the County Commissioners and submitted to the legislature this week by Sen. Robert Lee Humber provides a logical approach to resolving some of the problems the county can expect to face in the future.

At present the county is faced with the task of dissolving the Arthur School district in which there is no longer a school operating. It must distribute the territory of the Arthur district between the Winterville and Farmville school districts in which the Arthur district youngsters are now attending school. Under the present laws, it is necessary for the county to have legislative approval to carry out such a step.

If the county could anticipate needing no further changes in school district lines for many years, there would not be a problem. The fact is, however, that the county probably will be faced with the necessity of changes in a number of school district lines in the next few years.

Even now a problem is presented by the fact that the corporate limits of the city of Greenville spill over into Winterville school district. This means, of course, that some adjustment must be made between the Greenville and Winterville school district boundaries.

With indications of further school consolidations at least on the high school level throughout the county in the years immediately ahead, other districts may be faced with the necessity of shifting boundaries.

The enabling act which would put authority for such changes in the hands of local officials without the necessity of special legislative action on each individual case, would be an important asset to the county school system in the years to come. It would make the problems easier to solve without having to go to Raleigh, and it would mean that the problems could be solved as they arise without having to wait for as much as two years for the legislature to meet.

The enabling legislation now pending in Raleigh pertaining to Pitt County's school districts represents a wise step for the county, and the bill should be enacted into law.

Powerful Lever That May Insure Agreement

As the legislature moves down to the wire of heated disagreement over how to rearrange the present 12 congressional districts of the state into 11 districts there is a powerful lever which probably will force the General Assembly to come to some sort of agreement on the boundaries for 11 congressional districts.

Should the legislature fail in this session to redistrict the state for 11 congressional seats, the alternative will be the election of 11 congressmen at large for the state. Though there is heated opposition to each of the proposed redistricting proposals which already have been offered in the legislature, it is evident that there is even greater opposition that the state elect 11 congressmen at large next year.

Because of this factor, the lawmakers in Raleigh find themselves in a position of having to work out some sort of plan for redistricting the state to provide for 11 rather than 12 congressmen. At the moment the matter centers around the question of whether two Democrats will face each other in campaigns next year, or whether the districts will be arranged so Republican Representatives Charles Jonas will face opposition from one of the Democratic incumbents.

The election of 11 congressmen at large from North Carolina is not a satisfactory solution to the problem which the legislature now faces. Neither will postponing the question of congressional redistricting to a later special session of the legislature provide a satisfactory solution to the question.

The legislature has the responsibility in the current session to redistrict the state for 11 congressional seats in the place of the 12 seats in the House of Representatives North Carolina now has. It would be inexcusable if the legislature fails to carry out that responsibility and creates a situation where the state will have to elect 11 congressmen at large next year.

Johnson-Nixon Tours Needless?

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is now doing for President Kennedy what former Vice President Richard M. Nixon used to do for President Eisenhower.

He's traveling abroad, meeting with the heads of foreign governments, giving them the word from Kennedy, and then coming home to report to the President.

These goodwill missions may have some psychological benefit in boosting the ego and self-confidence of people in smaller countries by showing the United States is sufficiently concerned about them to send the No. 2 man over.

But any practical effect from either the Johnson or Nixon journeys—with one notable exception in Nixon's case—is hard to see.

The mistreatment heaped on Nixon in South America shocked the United States into painful realization that not all Latin Americans loved us and that this country was going to have to go some to keep them on the side of the United States.

Nor is it clear why anything Nixon or Johnson may have had to say to the head of a foreign government couldn't have been said just as well by the local American ambassador who could have delivered a message from Kennedy too.

The policy toward every other country is made here in Washington—not on the scene by a visitor, even one as important as Johnson—on information from the American ambassador there, his aide, other advisers, and the Central Intelligence Agency.

Johnson might have been of more practical value to Kennedy if he had remained in Washington and helped get the administration's programs through Congress, where he is an expert. He is an amateur in foreign dealings.

Nevertheless, more and more since World War II it has become a kind of stylish habit to send presidential representatives overseas, to single countries on special missions, or just abroad generally on so-called goodwill trips.

Comparatively Fared Well

Last fall a survey of personnel and facilities in the 173 administrative units (county and city) of the state public schools yielded comparable figures on the status of personnel and the classroom building situation.

Comparatively, Greenville and Pitt County fared very well, and in some cases could be considered in the "medium" bracket. The two units here had no school buildings operating on the double shift. In contrast, Wilson had five buildings in double shift operation, with 250 attending the first shift and 240 attending the second shift. Mecklenburg County had four buildings in double shift operation, with 288 students the first shift and 285 the second. In the state, a total of 1,436 children were attending the double shift operations.

Pitt County listed 240 students in overcrowded classrooms. Greenville had none. One of the more astounding figures in this bracket came from Rutherford, which had 1,125 excess students in overcrowded classrooms. Mecklenburg, one of the largest units, had 1,980 excess students in overcrowded classrooms. Nearby Wilson had 167, while Wilson County listed none.

Another section of this survey reported Pitt County as needing 40 total additional instruction rooms, while Greenville needed 11. Scheduled for completion during the 1960-61 school year were nine rooms for the county. The city listed none.

In the personnel survey for fall of 1960, Pitt had 13,147 students at the end of the first month. Greenville had 5,214 for the same time period. Pitt listed 458 professional personnel employed at the end of the first month, including 100 men who comprised 21.83 percent. Just six of the personnel held less than a class "A" certificate for teaching.

Greenville had 178 teachers, including 35 men which comprised 19.66 percent. None of the city school personnel held less than an "A" certificate at the time of the survey.

The survey also showed that no Pitt County personnel received a local salary supplement, whereas all the 173 city personnel did receive a local salary supplement.

All information contained in the fall 1960 study was based on conditions existing at the end of the first month of the present school term, as reported by the 173 administrative unit superintendents.

The state increased its total school enrollment by 20,013 over the preceding year and added 901 teachers, supervisors and principals. One of the significant changes throughout the state was the increase of men employed. Increase of non-teaching personnel was also substantial.

could make extensive comparisons of differences between viewers and non-viewers. Furthermore, there are only two channels on the English TV set, and in some places only one, so an effective test could be made of the results of a single list of offerings, as opposed to programs chosen at random.

The usefulness of a test of this sort can be gauged from the failure in personal observation shown by many teachers, parents, and other experts on children. Teachers, for instance, almost all asserted that television cut down on imagination and alertness in the classroom. But when they were asked to rank each child according to these qualities (without knowing which children had television at their disposal), the viewers scored as high a mark as the non-viewers.

Among the things discussed in the report are many of the problems that still trouble parents' consciences: Does the incessant violence of the TV screen affect a child's sense of values or his emotional stability? Are adult programs damaging for the child who watches them? How much should a child watch television? The report gives no simple answers to these questions, but it does contain information that will help parents apply intelligent norms to their own child's needs—the need for enjoyment, the need for discipline and the need for danger.

The television set is a dangerous instrument, like all things that challenge human response. The only way to avoid danger would be the reduction of human response, through sedation to a brute level. Everything connected with the living mind of man has that mind's own potentialities for creativity or destruction. One never can rule out danger; but one can learn how to cope with it, how to live with risk—even with the danger of entertaining a one-eyed monster in one's home.

When television first entered the home, it was feared that the one-eyed monster would devour all children who came within its hypnotic stare. Yet, for all the expressions of alarm, very few children were kept away from it. That no one meant the outcries very much. Or it may be that the quieting and control of children, even by an alien monster, is too precious a benefit for any harried housewife to forego. At any rate, the children have been watching, and it is now possible to come to some conclusions about the medium's effect on them.

A highly significant aid to an evaluation of television's impact on children may be found in an extensive series of tests undertaken by the Nuffield Foundation in England. The results of this vast project have just been published in a book called "Television and the Child." Fifty-two pages of summary and conclusions from that book have been reprinted by the Television Information Office of 666 Fifth Ave., New York 19, N.Y.

The first and most important effect of the book's findings is to destroy any neat generalizations about television. It does not, as many feared, destroy the eyesight, the mind, the interests, or the reading habits of children. On the other hand, it does not portray whole new worlds, stimulate interest and raise initiative, as other wishfully predicted. Television has become simply one more of the mass communication media, with which anyone who grows up in our society must come to grips in an entirely personal way.

This is not to deny that certain patterns were discovered through the elaborate series of tests taken among children, parents, and teachers. England offers many advantages for this kind of test, since there are many children there without "telly" sets. The investigators could make extensive comparisons of differences between viewers and non-viewers. Furthermore, there are only two channels on the English TV set, and in some places only one, so an effective test could be made of the results of a single list of offerings, as opposed to programs chosen at random.

Some Start Small

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

I am often told not to dignify somebody or something by giving him or it public attention. The idea behind this advice is that nothing exists unless it is noted in the press.

I learned different in October 1917. Seven men and two women who were generally of neutral personalities came to Petrograd to take over Russia. I knew most of them. I knew where they were hiding. Of an evening one might have gone to a Cafe Chantant, as they called a night club there, to listen to an actress ridicule these men and women. Trotsky, in particular, was ridiculed; Madam Kollant, a wealthy woman turned Red, was laughed at for her beauty and good clothes.

This was 44 years ago. I recall attending the Constituent Assembly which was the hope of the Russian people. Lenin sat on the platform for a short time. He was a mild, calm, dull-looking man who looked perhaps like a printer or maybe a grocer. He waved to a girl in the balcony. Then the Bolsheviks got bored. They left the hall. The seats they vacated were so few that numerically they counted for nothing. This was a small band of nobodies who fancied themselves rulers. Then, one of them, Dybenko, came into the hall of the Tauride Palace and gently told the assembled delegates that they had better get out. One man against the nation. So they all got out. They went their various ways.

During the intervening 44 years, this small band became masters of a large part of the world. Lenin has been deified and most of his associates have been murdered. Trotsky was assassinated in Mexico and Angelica Balabanoff is in Palo Alto, Ala. writing. Perhaps she alone remains of those who attended the Zimmerwald Conference which started this particular historic ball rolling.

At that time, who thought that the Bolsheviks would ever amount to anything? Everyday, I went to the Smolny Institute, where they made their headquarters, and never did I see more than a crowd of men. But soon the hair was combed; the beards were trimmed; the clothes were more orderly. These were the new rulers.

Since then I have never ignored a mass movement, no matter how small or how absurd. Most mass movements appear absurd, even ridiculous, when they start. The beginnings of Hitler must have been very funny to the onlooker; this Charlie Chaplin figure screaming and yelling and attitudinizing in beer-halls. Hitler was not so funny when he disturbed the entire world. We laughed at him but many of our sons died on account of him. Perhaps they died because no one would take Hitler seriously at the right time, which was when he was a nobody.

When I report small mass movements, some serious, some screwball, in the United States, I am told not to "dignify" such absurdities by giving them publicity. The surprising fact is they somehow make their own publicity, just as a man trying to jump off a tenth story ledge into a crowded street will attract attention.

The little mass movements at this moment in this country are very different from those in the 1930's. Then folks, young and old, were angry because of the shock of the Depression. They had not

THINKING IT OVER

Very often we dislike certain people because we do not understand them. Some people, to be sure, are disliked by their fellows because they are mean, selfish, lazy, or dishonest. Others keep getting themselves in wrong with their associates because they are long on criticism and the handling out of precious advice. But if you do dislike someone, you will probably discover that it is because he or she has personal characteristics which to you appear obnoxious. Maybe if you understood this person better you would see that these characteristics are part of a fine, helpful, and noble nature. Some of the most kindhearted people in the world are brusque and even rude in their personal contacts. What you take for hypocritical piety on the part of another may be real, genuine piety, and the quality and quantity of which you do not appreciate.

Most of us have certain good points and certain bad points. The matter of great concern is where the good comes out with a plus or minus balance. People who throw their weight around usually do so to hide a fearful sense of insecurity. Teenagers who profess to know so much are usually covering under the realization that they know very little.

Try to understand people before you strike them off your list. Don't be hasty in your judgments.

Scripture—I Kings 4:29-34; Proverbs 6:6-9; 22:29; 24:30-34; Ecclesiastes 3:22; II Thessalonians 3:6-13.

The wisdom of King Solomon became so renowned that "there came of all peoples to hear the wisdom of Solomon, from all kings of the earth, which had heard of his wisdom." ... "He spake three thousand proverbs" and knew science.—I Kings 4:29-34.

Solomon's advice to idlers was to "go to the ant" and "consider her ways and be wise." The ant, "having no chief, overseer, or ruler, provideth her meat in the summer, and gathereth her food in the harvest."—Proverbs 6:6-8.

Passing the "field of a sluggard," Solomon saw that "it was all grown over with thorns, the face thereof was covered with nettles, and the stone wall thereof was broken down." ... "So shall thy poverty come as a robber."—Proverbs 24:30-34.

Paul tells the Thessalonians that if anyone "would not work, neither should he eat." No one should use philosophy or religion as a pretext for not doing life's ordinary tasks.—II Thessalonians 3:6-13.

The Importance of Diligence

THE BLESSINGS THAT FOLLOW DILIGENCE IN WORK, AND THE TRAGIC CONSEQUENCES OF HABITS OF INDOLIGENCE

Scripture—I Kings 4:29-34; Proverbs 6:6-9; 22:29; 24:30-34; Ecclesiastes 3:22; II Thessalonians 3:6-13.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL DILIGENCE in work implies not only working hard, but using wisely every moment of the time granted us on this earth. How easy it is for all of us to say, "Yes, I want to do that some time"—and how often it is that "some time" never comes.

It has been said that no one of us will ever have any more time that he has right now.

Realizing this, it behooves us to see to it that we actually DO the things that we consider really important, without frittering away our time on non-essentials until, before we know it, we have none left.

Solomon put it thus: "Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep, so shall thy poverty come the "three thousand proverbs" Solomon "spoke." (I Kings 4:29.)

In illustrating his precepts, Solomon uses homely examples which everyone will know; the ant is used for both diligence and wisdom. "Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways and be wise," he advises.

When Solomon prophesies that the diligent man "shall stand before kings; he shall not stand before mean men," he means that he will become known and honored for his dependability and skill in using his time. The "king" for today's man will be civic recognition.

In the example of the sluggard's vineyard, the overgrowth of weeds can be likened to the overgrowth of evil in the soul of a man who does not constantly prune and cultivate his inner self with control. The broken-down fence may be taken to signify the "unfenced soul" of one who is not led by duty to the command over his own spirit. (Alexander MacLaren in "Peloubet's Select Notes.")

The passage from Ecclesiastes indicates that the inward satisfaction a man feels from doing his own work well is something every person can enjoy, and something no one can ever take away from him.

In Thessalonians (II:3:6-13) Paul condemns the shirkers who expect society to support them. A. R. Buckland (in "Peloubet's Select Notes") suggests that here Paul is talking about the "idler who found in his faith a pretext for neglecting personal duty." He urges true Christians not to support such.

(AP) — Quick action by a teacher and two pupils enabled 200 persons to flee quietly out of the Friendship elementary school while a fire raged in the attic overhead. The teacher, Miriam Sosebee, spotted the blaze Thursday and sent two unidentified pupils racing from classroom to classroom to spread the alarm when she realized the fire had knocked out the automatic alarm system. The classrooms emptied quickly. "They were all just as calm as could be," said Mrs. Sosebee. Cumming City firemen fought the blaze for more than an hour. Damage was estimated at $5,000. (Continued from page four) expected that the American economic system could ever collapse. They had lived through the mad 20's and expected its inflationary character to be permanent. They drank spiked beer and bought liquor from bootleggers. The spree came to an end and an entire nation lost hope. In the 1960's the mass movements are beginning to take on different characteristics. Young men and women are still angry but one might guess that one reason for their anger is that Roosevelt sociology, Keynesian economics and the United Nations have not brought their peace and contentment. Laugh at these young people because of their nihilistic symbolism but their protest is spreading. So older folks are demanding the abolition of the income tax and other groups pick on other segments of our troubled lives. To ignore these movements because their causes are badly stated and because our men get into them as they got into the liberalism of the 20's and 30's is not understanding the period in which we live. When one organization can build a membership of 100,000, it cannot be ignored. FOR ASTRONAUT WASHINGTON (AP)—A resolution to authorize a $10,000 payment to astronaut Alan B. Historian Says Anti-Semitism Has Its Roots In Early Christian Church

NEW YORK (AP)—Does anti-Semitism have its roots in the Christian faith?

Has Christianity—founded by a Jewish savior in a Jewish land and spread by Jewish apostles—fomented the hatred of Jews?

Yes, says Prof. Jules Isaac, an eminent French-Jewish historian, in a book published this week by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Although anti-Semitism is a direct contradiction of Christianity, Isaac holds, the Christian church fostered it in past ages and set into motion forces which culminated in the wholesale murder of Jews by the Nazis.

Isaac makes clear that present-day Christian churches are not anti-Semitic, but he says the trend set in former times has had far-reaching effect.

The professor, who lost nearly his whole family in a German concentration camp during World War II, says it is now the duty of Christianity to reverse this trend by purging itself of anti-Semitic relics in its liturgy and teachings.

True anti-Semitism, Isaac contends, began with Christianity and its teaching that the Jews killed Christ, that they had rejected him and continued to reject him and that their sufferings were just punishment for their sins.

Isaac says these teachings are historically unsound.

It was the Romans who crucified Jesus, he states, and they were supported in this not by the Jews at large but by a small oligarchy the Jews themselves de-tested.

It was not Christ the Jews rejected, Isaac argues, saying they remained faithful to him "up to his last hour."

The Jews rejected Christianity, he says, because "Christianity, directed towards the Gentiles, totally rejected obedience to the Torah, to the law."

Stung by this rejection and forced to answer the competition for the minds of man Judaism presented in the ancient world, the early Christians determined on a "teaching of contempt" for the Jews, Isaac says.

When Christianity became powerful, it extended this teaching of contempt to a "system of degradation" of the Jew, he adds.

Today, Isaac notes, "there is no Christian involvement in such crimes. Christian charity is employed in favor of the persecuted—sometimes it is employed to the point of heroism."

But the "teaching of contempt" has not completely disappeared, he says.

Bethel Cub Pack Has Last Meet For The Year

BETHEL—The Bethel Cub Scout Pack 15 recently held its last meeting of the year at the Bethel Rotary House with Cubmaster R. H. Stator presiding.

Dens I and II told those present about their project for the month—Indians—and showed several Indian objects they had made. The two dens, under the leadership of Mrs. Gene Carson and Mrs. Herbert Brown, displayed Indian tepees, canoes, a totem pole and a shield.

Cubmaster Stator thanked the den mothers, Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Wayne Rogerson, for their "cooperation and good work this year." He also recognized den chiefs David James, Bob Whitehurst and Bill Stator for their assistance to the boys and den mothers.

Stator urged the boys who have completed cubbing to go into the Boy Scout Troop and continue the scouting work they have been doing. "It is a privilege," he said, "to be able to take advantage of the scouting program."

In behalf of the Women of the World, W. A. Dunning presented a Boy Scout compass to the Bethel Scout Troop.

Shell's experts have developed many ways to make their own cars run better and last longer. Numbers indicate some of the areas deserving attention, as described below.

Shell recommends 21 ways to make your car last longer

Shell Research scientists dedicate their working lives to the care and feeding of automobiles.

They can offer dozens of tips on prolonging the life of your second biggest investment. Here are some samples which you will find useful.

1. Break in a new car properly. Don't accelerate at full throttle or change gears abruptly. Sudden shocks to gears in the rear axle and transmission can cause lasting damage.
2. Warm up slowly. Racing an engine to warm it up ages it fast. A short warm-up at moderate speed is good for your car even in summer, and even more necessary during colder months. But racing your cold engine to warm up may damage critical working parts before lubrication can be fully established.
3. Use your engine to save your brake linings. When you see you'll have to slow down, take your foot off the accelerator early and let the engine's compression do some of the job.
4. Have your engine's spark timing set to proper specifications. The spark timing determines whether your plugs fire at exactly the right instant. With incorrect timing you lose power and cut mileage. Also your car may knock. Chronic knocking can damage your engine.
5. Use a gasoline that controls knock. If knocking persists, you may need a gasoline with more anti-knock components, for a higher octane rating.
6. Learn to read tail pipe smoke signals. Blue smoke means too much oil is getting into the combustion chambers.
7. Have your oil checked whenever you get gasoline. An oil check is a simple safety check for your engine. It is free—takes less than a minute.
8. Avoid high speeds and save your tires. Every extra mile your tires last is money in your pocket. High speeds increase wear drastically—by as much as 80% over normal wear.
9. Rotate tires every 5,000 miles. Your tires will last longer because they will all wear evenly, and at the same rate. Note: See your Shell dealer for a set of valve caps; they will prevent air from getting out and dirt from getting in around the tire valve.
10. Check wheel alignment and balance. The shock of hitting curbs or dropping into deep holes can cause misalignment. This drags the wheel at an angle to the line of travel. Nothing wears tires out more quickly.
11. Save your battery with 11¢ worth of baking soda. Dirt and corrosion can shorten your battery's life by many months. Wash the battery off with a solution of baking soda and water. Use a wire brush if necessary. Then rinse thoroughly with warm water. Ask your Shell dealer to check the terminals.
12. Change your oil filter element every other oil change. Abrasive specks as small as 1/1000th of an inch in diameter can shorten engine life. The oil filter element in your car helps keep specks of metal and other abrasives out of the engine,

13. Get a lubrication job regularly. Dirt and moisture can work into chassis joints and bushings. Grease can also pound out, leaving the parts unprotected.
14. Have your car's cooling system checked twice a year. In time, the inhibitors in your antifreeze lose some of their ability to prevent rust, corrosion and sediment. Let your Shell dealer check the cooling system—including hoses and hose connections—no less than twice a year. When he drains and refills he will add a special Cooling System Protector.
15. Keep door and body panel drain holes clear to foil rust. The little drain holes at the bottom of body panels and doors can get clogged so that the panels actually hold water. Rust can then eat right through the metal. Make sure drain holes are clear.
16. Keep road salt washed off. The chemicals used to clear icy, snowy roads can eat not only the finish, but the body structure itself. Make sure you get it all off the paint and bright metal.
17. Use these tips to help your car stay new looking longer. A good coat of polish provides a film that protects your car's finish. But before you polish your car, always wash it—and always in the shade.
18. Protect chrome against rust invasion. Chrome has millions of tiny holes which can let the moisture right through to the metal beneath. Dirt invites this invasion, so clean the chrome thoroughly and frequently, and wax it for further protection.
19. "Bandage" any minor scratches in your car's finish. Until you can have scratches refinished, keep rust from forming with a coat of touch-up paint or even a strip of cellulose tape on the scratches. Use clear nail polish on scratches in the chrome.
20. Pamper carpets and upholstery. Ground-in dirt wears out carpets before their time. Whisk or vacuum weekly and shampoo once in a while.
21. Let your Shell dealer help your car last. Your car may have cost thousands of dollars. After your home, this is probably your biggest single investment.

require waxing. It's a good idea to check your owner's manual.

Treat it carefully. Feed it well. Let your Shell dealer help you. You will save money—and increase your driving pleasure, too.

Exchange, Jaycees And Kiwanis Win In Little League

EXCHANGE TIPS ELKS
Exchange opened its Little League season at Guy Smith Little League field yesterday with a shaky 6-5 victory over the Elks. Bostic scored the winning run in the Exchange half of the sixth inning after he had doubled. He advanced to third on a fielder's choice and scored in an error.

The Elks, in their half of the sixth, missed an opportunity to knot the score when Fleming reached third with two out but failed to score when Hadley struck out to end the inning.

Gaylord smashed a home run for the Exchange in the fifth and Fleming connected for a three-run homer in the Elks' fourth.

Score by innings:
Exchange 020 121-6 6-1
Elks 200 300-5 5-5

KIWANIS ROMP, 10-1
The Kiwanis yesterday grabbed a 9-0 lead in three innings and then coasted to a 10-1 victory over Texaco in the teams' North State League opener at Elm St. Park.

The big blow for the Kiwanis was a third inning grand slam homer by Brewer, the second baseman. Brewer's blast put his team ahead by 7-0.

Kiwanis' Cobb held Texaco to three safeties while his mates were collecting 10 hits.

Basnight accounted for Texaco's lone marker when he scored in the fourth after reaching first on an error. He scored on a single by Worsley.

Score by innings:
Kiwanis 234 010-10 10-1
Texaco 000 000-1 3-4

JC's Edge Coke
The Jaycees exploded for five big runs in the fifth inning to take the lead, then added another in the sixth to edge Coca-Cola, 9-7, in Wednesday's Little League action at Elm St. Park.

Coke had taken an early lead by sending 10 men to bat in their half of the first inning and picking up four runs. The Jaycees scored two of their own in the first but were held scoreless until their big fifth while Coke added a pair in the second to lead, 6-2.

The Jaycees added their final run in the top of the sixth and then held Coca-Cola to a single marker in their half of the final frame to nail down the victory.

Score by innings:
Jaycees 200 051-8 6 2
Coca-Cola 420 001-7 8 2

Double Double No-Hit

Former Cincinnati Reds pitching great Johnny Vandermeer, left, who now is a resident of Tampa and manager of the Florida State League Tampa Tarpons baseball club, compares notes with Little Leaguer Jimmy Fender, Jimmy, also of Tampa, recently pitched his second consecutive no-hit, no-run game. Snead Conquers 'Putting Yipes'

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Sam Snead feels he has shaken the putting "yips." And that spells trouble for his golfing opponents.

Of course, once you get the putting yips, you never get rid of them entirely, said the West Virginia slammer who shrugged off the rain Thursday to grab a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the Sam Snead Festival.

"But you can shake the yips off once in a while," Snead said. "I had them so bad in 1949 that I got an entirely foreign putter and an entirely foreign way to putt and won twice as many tournaments as anybody else, twice as much money, and had the lowest stroke average of any of the pros."

"So what happens? Ben Hogan wins one tournament and is named golfer of the year. After that I decided to quit playing full-time on the circuit."

Snead says he is using a new putter now and is following through more on his push. He needed only 29 putts Thursday while scoring a 65 on the par 70 old White course.

Holding down second place with a 67 at the start of today's 18-hole round was Bob Watson, 37, club pro from Elmford, N. Y. Next with 68 were top money winner Gary Player, British Open champion Peter Thomson, and Mickey Homa of Rye, N. Y. Bob Toski had a 69.

Arnold Palmer, nursing a bad cold, was deadlocked at 70 with five others—Chick Harbert, Dave Douglas and three West Virginians, Mike Krak of Morgantown, Buddy Cook of Man and Joe Taylor of Charleston.

The rain threw a wet blanket on the play of most of the other 71 entries. Defending Champion Dave Marr turned in a 71.

Snead doesn't mind playing in the rain.

"I figure I won about as many tournaments in the rain, mud and sleet as I have in good weather," Snead said.

On The Double For A Long One

New York Yankee center fielder Mickey Mantle makes running try but can't overtake long clout by Washington Senator first sacker Dale Long at New York's Yankee Stadium. Conley Regained Control To Top Hit-Crazy Tigers

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Smiling Gene Conley, the two-sport major leaguer, holds the only shutout over Detroit this season because he has regained his control.

The 6-foot-8 Boston righthanded pitcher slowed the hit-crazy American League leaders down to four singles Thursday night in a 1-0 victory which again proved his zest for the challenge of a mighty foe.

Gene said his last previous shutout at the expense of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates—while he was with the Philadelphia Phillies last year.

As a member of basketball's top professional club, the Boston Celtics, Conley came up with some of his best rebounding and clutch baskets in the title series against St. Louis.

"I had good control," Conley said after his performance which included retiring 15 Tigers in order until Al Kaline singled with two out in the ninth. "I finally got in the groove of baseball thinking," he added.

"Conley is just now coming to where he knows what he's doing every pitch," said Mr. Mike Higgins. "He's had good stuff other times but didn't control it like he did tonight."

Conley scattered singles by Billy Bruton, Dick Brown, Norm Cash and Kaline in blanking the Tigers for the first time since last summer. The Tigers came to town fresh from a series sweep over Baltimore and boasting a lusty .284 team batting average.

"No, I don't try any harder against one team than another," Conley said. "I'll take the victories and the shutouts against anybody I can get."

Conley, acquired from the Phillies in a straight swap for Frank Sullivan, had won his first Sox start against Washington, then lost three in a row.

Antonelli Discouraged, Considering Retirement

CLEVELAND (AP)—Johnny Antonelli, the once-brilliant south-paw who won 125 games in the National League and has only four defeats to show for his first American League campaign, is thinking seriously of retiring from baseball.

But Gabe Paul, the Cleveland Indians' general manager, thinks the 31-year-old pitcher will come around and help the Tribe. Antonelli talked with Paul Thursday night in Cincinnati during the early part of the exhibition game against the Reds. It was the second such discussion held in the past 10 days.

"Johnny is discouraged," said Paul. "He wanted to know if he thought it would be best for all concerned if he hung 'em up. I told him to let me worry about that."

"Nobody but a conscientious man would ask such a question. Another type of guy would just take his money and let it go at that."

Antonelli is earning about $40,000 on the basis of a decade of outstanding pitching in the NL, and twice a 20-game winner. He came to Cleveland from San Francisco along with outfielder Willie Kirkland in a trade for Harvey Kuenn.

"I told John he wasn't the first who got belted for three runs in an inning," Paul related. "I also pointed out that other pitchers have had bad starts and come back."

"All he needs now is a couple of good jobs to make his confidence return. I still think he can help us."

Practice Time Is Running Out At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Practice time was running out today for drivers and owners still hopeful of qualifying cars for the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30.

The final time trials will be run Friday and Sunday. Today was the last chance to get unqualified cars tuned for the 10-mile run.

Twenty-seven cars qualified last weekend, but their starting assignments are only tentative. The 33 fastest cars on the basis of time trials will start the race, and some of those already qualified could be bumped out of the lineup.

Speedway observers figured it will take a qualifying speed of 144 miles an hour to stay in the lineup. Nervous drivers among those already qualified would be Norm Hall of Los Angeles, low with 141.861 miles an hour; Bob Veith of Fort Bragg, Calif., 143.062, and Bob Cleberg of Tucson, Ariz., 143.672.

Once bumped, a car is out of the race, but the driver is free to hop into another and try to qualify again.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Willie Shoemaker today needs only one more win for the 4,000th of his comparatively brief but brilliant career as a jockey.

The Shoe had three winners Thursday at Hollywood Park and ran his career total of 3,999. When he hits 4,000, Shoemaker will join a select list of jockeys that includes Johnny Longden, Sir Gordon Richards of England and Eddie Arcaro.

Shoemaker is slated to ride seven horses today at Hollywood Park.

Oddest Of All, Reliever Struck Out Four In Inning

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

From the very start this has been a strange season in the American League, what with its expansion to 10 teams. But how about these for a trio of added oddities:

1. Reliever Ryne Duren tied a major league record and became the first AL pitcher in 45 years to strike out four batters in one inning—but he was charged with his third defeat as the Chicago White Sox beat the Los Angeles Angels 6-4 Thursday night.

2. The sizzling Detroit Tigers, after practically ripping apart sprawling Memorial Stadium in Baltimore, managed just four hits in cozy Fenway Park at Boston and suffered their first shutout of the season in a 1-0 defeat by the Red Sox.

3. Lefty hitter Marv Throneberry, dropped to eighth in the batting order against southpaw starter Jim Kaat, drove in all of Kansas City's runs, three with a homer off Kaat, in a 4-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Those were the only games played in the majors Thursday. No games were scheduled in the National League.

Duren, the ex-Yankee fireballer, took the loss in the seventh inning at Los Angeles when the Sox broke a 4-4 tie and scored a pair of unearned runs. The big right-hander struck out Minnie Andy Carey, Ray Herbert (3-2) Minoza leading off the seventh, won it.

then fanned Roy Sifers—who reached first when the third strike got past catcher Del Rice for a passed ball. Jim Landis followed with a triple that broke the tie, and after J. C. Martin struck out, Landis came in on a single by Sherm Lollar before Duren whiffed Sammy Esposito.

Four National League pitchers had struck out four men in one inning previously, but Duren was only the third to do it in the AL. Walter Johnson, the old Washington Senators' immortal, did it in 1911 and Guy Morton of Cleveland did it in 1916.

Frank Baumann (2-2) won for the Sox in relief.

The Tigers, after walloping 42 hits for 29 runs in three games at Baltimore, managed nothing but singles off Gene Conley (2-3), the ex-Philadelphia Phillie right-hander, who had lost three in a row, walked just two and struck out six in his first complete game in the AL. He retired Rocky Colavito on a pop fly for the final out with the tying run on first.

Boston scored in the fifth of Jim Bunning (2-4) on a single by Pete Runnels and a double by Don Buddin.

Throneberry blasted the fifth home run of the season in the second inning off Kaat (1-3). Then he brought in the clincher in the eighth with a single off right-handed reliever Ed Palmquist, following a walk and single by Andy Carey. Ray Herbert (3-2) Minoza leading off the seventh, won it.

Duke On Brink Of ACC Title

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Virginia's Cavaliers are host to Duke today in a game which could mean the Atlantic Conference baseball championship for the Blue Devils.

It was the Cavaliers who gave Duke its title chance by upsetting North Carolina in both ends of a double header here Wednesday. The two losses gave the Tar Heels a 10-4 ACC record.

Duke is 10-3. Today's game is a makeup from a rained out game with Virginia April 28.

If Duke wins today, the Blue Devils will win the ACC title and represent the league in the NCAA regional tournament at Gastonia, N.C., June 1-3. If the Blue Devils lose to Virginia, Duke and North Carolina will play off next week for the title, ACC Commissioner Jim Weaver said in Greensboro.

Virginia already had a game scheduled for today — with the University of Richmond — so the Duke game will be a half of a doubleheader for the Cavaliers.

JUNIOR CHAMP—Co-Chairmen Paul Harrell and Wyatt Tucker lay out the course for the Junior Champ program at Guy Smith Stadium. The field events for boys from 8 through 17 will be conducted Sunday afternoon beginning at 1:30. Registration will start at 1 o'clock. Eleven field events patterned after the Olympics will be included. Scoring is to be by points and a Junior Champ will be named for each age group. Tucker said approximately 60 boys are expected to participate.

Roberts Taking Practice Runs

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Glen Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla., holder of the track speed record, will take his practice runs at the Charlotte Motor Speedway today in preparation for the World 600 race.

In the two previous days of practice runs, Roberts' one-lap record of 134.429 miles an hour has been topped five times.

Thursday, for the second consecutive day, former driver - now mechanic Ralph Moody of Charlotte and driver Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., both topped the Roberts record.

Moody, testing a 1961 Ford he and mechanic John Holman of Charlotte built for textile millionaire Buck Fulp of Greenwood, S.C., turned a lap at 135.406 m.p.h. Thursday after doing it in 135.576 Wednesday. Fulp will drive the car in Sunday's program of two 100-mile Grand National races which precede the $115,000 600-mile race May 28.

Lorenzen, also driving a Holman-Moody Ford, turned in a flat 135 m.p.h. on both Wednesday and Thursday. Ned Jarrett of Conover drove his 1961 Chevrolet for a one-lap clocking of 134.767 m.p.h. Wednesday.

Today's trials will end the practice and test runs at the speedway.

Time trials are scheduled Saturday for the two 100-mile races Sunday and Sunday's winners will get the two front-row starting positions for the World 600.

Speedway officials report that 58 entries have been received for the World 600 but the race will be limited to the fastest 55 cars.

Robin Roberts To Start Saturday

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Robin Roberts, whose 223 victories in 13 years are the most recorded in the history of the Philadelphia Phillies, is scheduled to make his first start in 12 days Saturday night against the Pittsburgh Pirates in the second game of a three-game series.

And the right-hander is eager to get back into starting rotation again following the longest layoff he's had since he joined the Phillies in 1948.

Roberts, after a great spring training, got off to a bad start this year and dropped his first five games.

Manager Gene Mauch decided to give Roberts a long rest after his last starting assignment May 7.

When asked about Roberts' being passed up in the mound rotation, Manager Gene Mauch said: "For some reason he seems to do better later on. He was 1-7 at the first of June last year, but a winning pitcher from then on and I think he will be again."

Roberts says physically he feels fine and he's "ready whenever they tell me to pitch."

Roberts finished with a 12-16 season last year. He didn't win his second game until June 7 and won 11 while dropping nine the rest of the season.

Giants Riding A Five-Win Skein

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Riding a five-game victory string and atop the National League standings, the San Francisco Giants open a three-game series against reverse-minded Los Angeles tonight at Candlestick Park.

Juan Marichal, the rookie sensation of 1960 who has posted a 2-1 mark this campaign, hurled for Manager Alvin Dark's Giants while fireball right-hander Don Drysdale pitches for the Dodgers.

Dark awaited a report on third baseman Jimmy Davenport's sore elbow before naming his starting lineup. If Davenport plays, he'll probably stick with his lineup with Orlando Cepeda on first base and Harvey Kuenn in left field.

Los Angeles arrived in the Bay Area three games behind the Giants in a virtual three-way second place tie, and the three-weekend games should draw more than 100,000 fans.

Roger Craig was Los Angeles Manager Walt Alton's choice for the Saturday game opposing lefty Mike McCormick. Craig has a 2-2 record and McCormick 4-1, losing the opening game on one pitch in the ninth inning.

Sunday the managers expect Billy Loes (3-1) to toil for the Giants and Sandy Koufax (3-2) for the Dodgers.

Walt Bellamy, Indiana center, led the Big Ten in basketball rebounds last season with 247 in 14 games.

A Homicide, But No Prosecution

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Joseph Fields lived 30 years with a knife blade in his chest. He died last Monday at 52.

Thursday his death was ruled a homicide.

There will be no prosecution, however. Under Michigan law a death occurring more than a year and a day after an assault cannot be legally attributed to the assault.

An X-ray in 1959 showed a broken 3-inch knife blade imbedded in Fields' chest. He said it was a pocket knife blade which broke off in a fight "about 30 years ago."

Doctors decided it was too dangerous to attempt to remove the blade.

Kinderton Event Has 3 Ex-Champs

CLARKSVILLE, Va. (AP)—Three former champions, including the defending titleist, will be among the 232 entrants in the seventh annual Kinderton Invitational Golf Tournament, here Saturday and Sunday.

They are Jordan Ball of Richmond, Townes Lea of Danville and Clarence Alexander of Raleigh, N.C. Ball won last year, but no champion ever has repeated in the 36-hole medal play event.

Included in the team competition are the last two winners of the Robbins Cup — awarded to the four-man team having the lowest aggregate score for the two days of play. They are Hillandale Golf Club of Durham, N.C., and the Danville Golf Club.

Saturday's rounds will be played on the 6,483-yard par 71 Kinderton Country Club Course. It will be lengthened to more than 6,800 yards Sunday for the championship, first, second and third flights.

Competing for individual honors will be such stars as Peter Green, University of North Carolina student from Franklin, Mich., who won medalist honors in the 1960 North-South tourney; Bill Harvey, Greensboro, N. C., low amateur in this year's Greensboro Open; Pat Foy Brady, Greensboro, recent winner of the Danville Invitational, and Ned Baber, Richmond, Virginia Amateur champion.

Among the top team entries are Hermitage Country Club of Richmond, Hidden Valley Country Club of Roanoke, Fenrose Country Club of Reidsville, N.C., Green Valley Golf Club of Greensboro, and teams from Roanoke Rapids, Elizabeth City and Raleigh, N.C.

DON'T FRY YOUR TOBACCO!

USE... GASTOBAC STEEL VENT

CONTROLLED BARN VENTING for faster, more economical curing!

High temperature flue or radiant pot type curing bakes tobacco... leaves brittle, "cooked out" leaves. Gastobac's low temperature curing system avoids extreme heat, dries your tobacco faster, safely, evenly. Air pulled in through bottom vents is heated at a low temperature, then rises through the tobacco. This warm, even flow of air picks up moisture from the leaves, carries it out the top vent.* With Gastobac curing, more of the valuable gums and oils remain in the leaf... produces a cleaner, heavier-bodied leaf that brings highest price at the market. *Gastobac ventilators have a direct one-pull outside control for easy, accurate setting.

GASTOBAC outsells all other gas curing systems combined!

GRIFTON — Installation of officers was held Tuesday night at the Grifton High School Parent-Teacher Association meeting.

The program for the evening featured home economics classes, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Don Casey.

Officers installed by Principal Ed Bright for the 1961-62 year were Ed Hasley, president; Mrs. James Hudson, first vice president; Walter Murphy, second vice president; Mrs. Paul Fisher, secretary; and Mrs. John Glenn, treasurer.

During the business session, P. T. A. teacher scholarships were awarded by Hasley to Mrs. Alma Buck and Wilkie Burke, who will continue their education at East Carolina College during the summer school.

Marian Nelson acted as commentator for the show by home economics classes. The setting was a fabric shop, with Ann Lynn Davis and Mary Lee January as prospective customers. Students wore garments made by themselves in their respective classes for the year were on parade to help customers decide on fabrics and styles to use in making their garments.

Third year students had a representation of suits in woollens and casual wear. Those taking part were Vivian Guy, Judy Rose, Ann Bryan, Shirley Mitchell, Hazel Batchelor, Carol Baes, Becky George, Mary Sue Sharp and Jean Christopher.

Betty Jo Gaskins was pianist during the showing of the models. Presiding over the business session was Hasley. Reports were made on the progress of the P.T.A. for the past school year, during which records were made in membership, budget and funds collected.

Principal Bright made school announcements as to commencement activities and dates. The dance revue will be held Saturday, May 20; commencement sermon, May 28; and the closing exercises on May 29. Bright reported that of the 24 seniors who will graduate in the class of 1961, 13 have been accepted in four-year colleges, one in a two-year college and six others will continue their schooling in a trade school or in the field of nursing. This comprises a total of 82 percent who will be continuing their educations in some field.

Two Collisions In City Thursday

No charges were placed in two collisions investigated by local police yesterday, it was reported.

Officers said an estimated $90 damage resulted to a truck being driven by William Ashley Godwin of 547 Cotanche St. when the vehicle struck a utilities pole at the intersection of Dickinson Ave. and Hooker Road about 11:20 p.m.

No injuries were reported and no damage was done to the pole, officers said.

William Nelson Hamiel, 24, of 305 South Eastern St., and Jennett Smith Howard of Route 2, Ayden, mixed. The drivers of two vehicles involved in a collision at West End Circle at 5:05 p.m., according to investigators.

Damage to the Hamiel auto was estimated to be about $40 while damage to the Howard vehicle was placed at $75.

Roger Bernice Gray, 38, of 1112 Colonial Ave., was charged by investigators with reckless driving following a collision at 1008 Colonial Ave. Wednesday.

Police said the Gray vehicle struck a parked car, owned by Alton Rudolph Vincent, 51, of 1008 Colonial Ave.

Damage to the Vincent car was placed at $125 while damage to the Gray car was estimated to be $100.

Robbers Killed Delivery Boy

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A drugstore delivery boy was killed as he lay on a basement floor during a holdup of the store Thursday night.

Another employe, Paul Speckart, 35, who was slugged by the robbers, told police a Negro man entered the North St. Louis store and asked for drugs. He replied he couldn't sell them without a prescription.

Then two more Negroes entered, both brandishing sawed-off shoulder weapons. One snarled: "You know what we want. We want the money." Speckart handed over some currency.

The robbers forced Speckart and the delivery boy, Thomas Grube, 16, into the basement. On the way down, Speckart was struck with a weapon.

In the basement, the victims were forced to lie on the floor. Speckart heard two shots and then heard the killers run.

Kingston Trio Is Breaking Up

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The Kingston Trio, one of the most successful acts in show business, plans to split up in six months because the three young recording stars don't get along any more.

Dave Guard plans to leave his two partners, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane. Reynolds and Shane will continue the trio with a new partner. Guard said he intends to continue his singing career alone.

After a Salvation Army officer is commissioned, he is on call 24 hours a day. He is often called out in the middle of the night to serve at a disaster.

Sen. Gore Opines Chiefs Of Staff In Need Of Shake-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said after listening to testimony today by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer on the Cuban invasion failure that "we directly need a new chairman and new members" on the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Gore is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Latin-American Affairs subcommittee which questioned Lemnitzer, chairman of the joint chiefs, about the military's role in the ill-fated invasion by exiles.

Leaving the closed-door hearing early, Gore told newsmen: "We need a shakeup of the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Gore said he based his conclusion on Lemnitzer's own testimony, but would not disclose what the nation's top military officer said that caused him to reach it.

"All the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff should be replaced by new, wiser and abler men," Gore said.

Besides Lemnitzer, an Army general, the joint chiefs include: Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff; Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations; and Gen. George Decker, Army chief of staff.

Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine Corps commandant, sits with the joint chiefs when Marine matters are being discussed.

White has only a little more than a month to run in his current two-year term. Burke is due to end his third two-year naval term in August.

Both are expected to be replaced.

Lemnitzer became chairman of the joint chiefs only last September. At that time, Decker replaced Lemnitzer as Army chief of staff.

Shoup has been Marine commandant since January 1960.

There have been reports that President Kennedy was irked at the chiefs because, it was said, he felt he was given bad military advice in advance of the Cuban invasion by anti-Castro rebels.

These reports pictured Lemnitzer and Burke as the ones chiefly concerned. It was reported they signed a paper expressing the opinion the operation was militarily sound.

The finger also has been pointed at the Central Intelligence Agency, the State Department and members of the White House staff.

JC Convention Elections Today

ASHEVILLE (AP) — The politics of picking a new president demanded the attention of delegates to the N.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce convention here from the moment of registration Thursday.

As the hour of election approached today, the word from the friendly rival camps was: "JK-OK", from the camp of John Kennedy, 31, of Fayetteville.

"Move ahead with Fred," from the camp of Fred Swartzberg, 34, of High Point.

Both Kennedy and Swartzberg served as national directors of the Jaycees last year. Swartzberg has been a Jaycee for 10 years, Kennedy for five.

Proud Fisherman Drowns In Bay

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—"Take my picture with the fish," said Edward J. Kamar. Then, apparently to pose, he stepped backward on a partyboat dock, fell into Biscayne Bay and drowned.

Kamar, 52, of Brooklyn, N.Y., had caught a 50-pound dolphin on an excursion which had just ended. "He was really proud of that fish," a boat crewman said.

Last Rites Sunday For Charlie Tyson

Mr. Charlie Tyson, 68, of 915 Evans Street, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Thursday night at 9:40. He had been in declining health for several years and critically ill for the past four days.

Funeral services will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Sunday afternoon at 2:30 by his pastor, the Rev. R. B. Crawford, assisted by the Rev. L. B. Manning, Free Will Baptist minister of Fountain. Burial will be in Hollywood Cemetery in Farmville.

Mr. Tyson was born and reared in Greene County in the Friendship community and was married to Miss Annie Davis in 1912. They made their home near Farmville for a number of years and had been living in Greenville since 1943. He was employed by Blount Fertilizer Company as night watchman until he retired in 1955. He was a member of the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Kirby L. Tyson of the U. S. Air Force, now stationed at Riverside, Calif., and Marvin T. Tyson of the home; four daughters, Mrs. W. F. Corbett of Kenly, Mrs. L. S. Vick of Stantonburg, Mrs. Jesse Windom of Farmville, and Mrs. Edna Padgett of the home; four grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Jones of Farmville.

Radiation Class For Firemen

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — A course in radiation hazards has been added to the program for the North Carolina State Firemen's Association annual Fire College to be held next week in Charlotte.

Albert W. Brinson of New Bern, statistician for the association, said today the 33rd annual college will be held at the Charlotte Firemen's Training Center. Salsbury Fire Chief Charles L. Burckett will be director-conductor. Classes run from Tuesday through Friday. About 400 firemen from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Virginia are expected.

Wives Want To Get Them Home

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—"Send the boys home soon." That's the advice J. D. McCarty, speaker of the Oklahoma House of Representatives, got from the wife of another House member.

Mrs. Stona Fitch, in a wire to McCarty, added: "Lawn needs mowing, garden needs hoeing, paint needs spraying, house needs cleaning, finances are low, low, low."

The plea has significance. The legislature has been in session 4 1/2 months with no immediate end in sight.
