

'Freedom Riders' Continue Tour Guarded By Many Troops, Police, Patrolmen

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Eleven "freedom riders"—white and Negro—broke the racial barriers in a bus station luncheon today. Then, under heavy military guard, they left for New Orleans, La., in a continued assault on Southern segregation. Others waited behind with announced plans to board another bus at 11 a.m. for the same destination. National Guardsmen with fixed bayonets, and state and city police, sealed off the block around the downtown Trailways bus station to prevent a recurrence of the bloody weekend riot which followed arrival of some of the riders here Saturday. And, to guard against demonstrations along the route, a convoy of approximately 75 Guardsmen and 100 highway patrolmen specially trained in mob control was ordered to take the bus to the Mississippi state line. Similar precautions were under way in Mississippi. Brig. Gen. W. P. Wilson, adjutant general in the adjoining state, flew to Meridian, near the

Council Delays Action On Plea For City Housing Survey Funds

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor. Delay — advocated by Mayor Charles M. King — was the keynote last night as the City Council considered and failed to approve a request by the Public Housing Authority for permission to obtain a federal loan to study local housing needs. The delay stopped the Housing Authority, which organized only last week, dead in its tracks. It also casts a dark shadow over the future of Greenville's Shore Drive Redevelopment project which is dependent on some public housing. Both issues received favorable votes in a referendum conducted along with the city election. The Housing Authority's request presented by Chairman Charles Howard, died on a 2-2 vote after Dr. M. W. Aldridge made the motion to accept the Authority's request "and allow them to have the funds with which to make their studies." Dr. Ralph Brimley seconded the motion. When Mayor King called for a vote Aldridge and Brimley cast their ballots in favor. James W. Lee and Ford McGowan voted against. King said he was withholding his vote. "It would be terrible to vote it down," he declared. Lacking a majority, however, the motion died. Dr. Aldridge's statement prior to making the motion brought an unusual blast from freshman councilman Lee. Lee's comment brought grumbles from the audience which gathered in the city court room for the special council meeting. Dr. Aldridge told the mayor, "We are here for a single purpose." That is to allow the Housing Authority to make its studies. "This is something which you know and I know and I believe that the other members of the City Council sitting here knew was coming up." "It has been rumored that this council was going to drag its feet and allow it to die on the vine." "The eyes of the city are upon us. There is not one of the five of us who has not said either verbally or in print we were going to carry out the will of the people. I can't see by any stretch of the imagination how approving this is jumping into anything." "We have only two choices. We can pass this as requested or we can drag our feet and delay this." In answer to a plea by Mayor King for more time to study the housing situation Dr. Aldridge said: "What you are suggesting here tonight is the wrong thing for you as mayor to do. It is the wrong thing for this council to do." Dr. Aldridge then offered his motion that the council accept the Housing Authority's resolution which would allow it to obtain funds to make its surveys. It was then that Councilman Lee stood up, faced Dr. Aldridge and said: "I'm glad to know there is only one member of this council who has only one opinion which is exactly right." Dr. Aldridge made no reply. Lee offered an adjournment motion which was approved. Authority Chairman Appears. Housing Authority Chairman Howard presented a resolution to the council for its approval. The resolution would have allowed the Authority to make application for $38,750 as a preliminary ban to make studies of local housing needs. The loan was based on a request for reservation of 225 public housing units, although Howard explained that this figure was merely used as a basis for determining the amount of the loan. He emphasized that the City Council was not committing itself to construct any public housing. "If we were to come back with a proposal that said we need some units, you would have the power to kill it," Howard said. He also explained that the loan is not chargeable to the city until public housing units are actually underway. Then it becomes a part of the overall operating expense for public housing. If the council decides it does not want any public housing the federal loan is not charged to the city, Howard stated. "The Federal government in no instance has ever forced any unit on any city regardless of the need," the chairman pointed out. He said the money would be spent to survey the needs of the city by an independent marketing survey company chosen by the Authority. They would make a recommendation to the Authority and "we would come back to you," he continued. The Authority would also consult architects for ideas on design of the housing units. An executive secretary and office help would also be needed. Howard said his Authority could not answer specific questions on local housing needs until surveys are made. "You say you are in the dark on this thing," Councilman Ford McGowan countered. "Could it be you have jumped in a little too fast and come up with your assumption." "What is the big rush that we have had to have a special meeting?" Councilman Howard asked. "We felt we should go ahead with the most possible speed," Howard answered. "What is the reason for the delay? We see no reason for delay." Attempts To Block Figures. Lee later attempted to block the reading of figures which purportedly show the city could lose thousands of dollars in credits if it goes on with urban renewal, but not before certain deadlines. The councilman said last night's meeting was called solely for considering the Public Housing resolution. However, later in the meeting Mayor King allowed the figures to be brought out. Howard told the council that, according to his information, a time limit for claiming $80,000 in work on First St. has already expired. However, he said the Utilities Commission is presently spending $80,000 in the Shore Drive area and $175,000 in work is coming up. Two-thirds of the redevelopment cost is borne by the federal government with the city to pay one-third. The city's share can include "in kind" payments which means public works projects carried on by the city or Utilities Commission. These projects cannot be claimed beyond three years after the work commences. Mayor King complained that he had not had a chance to meet with members of the Public Housing Authority, appointed by his predecessor S. Eugene West or with the Redevelopment Commission. "I do not intend to vote on this unless I get together with the City Council and meet with this Authority," he declared. Ford McGowan told the Authority, "I don't believe this group is planning to say it is not going to give this Authority permission to make its studies. I feel the Authority should inform this council a little better of things to come." Other members of the five-man Housing Authority appeared with Howard in behalf of the request. Dr. Andrew Best told the council, "Our job is to help you look into the facts. We are your servants. You are going to have to make the decision. It is not ours. It is you, the council who is going to have to answer for action or lack of it." The meeting last night took on the appearance of a stormy public hearing held last January on the question of establishing a Public Housing Authority. It was at that meeting that Mayor King, then a councilman, made a motion calling for the Urban Renewal-Public Housing referendum. Last night's meeting was moved from the council chambers to the city court room when a couple of hundred people showed up. The meeting differed from the public hearing in that the audience seemed evenly split between opponents and proponents of the far reaching programs.

Urban Crime Sharply Up In First 3 Months Of 1961

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI today reported a 10 per cent increase in urban crime during the first three months of 1961. The report brought an expression of alarm from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who viewed as ominous an upsurge of crimes against the person, particularly rape. "While normally the number of rapes reported during the first three months of the year is comparatively low," he said, "28 large American cities of 250,000 to 500,000 inhabitants reported a 41 per cent increase in forcible rapes during January, February and March of this year." Compared with the first quarter of 1960—a record year for crime—rapes in all cities participating in the FBI's system of uniform crime reports rose 2 per cent in the first three months of this year. Murders were up 9 per cent and aggravated assaults 3 per cent. Contributing greatly to the overall murder increase, Hoover said, was a 39 per cent rise in willful killings reported to the FBI by the nation's largest cities. Robbery, which rose 18 per cent in 1960, registered a 7 per cent increase in the first quarter of 1961. Street robberies were up 12 per cent, home robberies 8 per cent and robberies of business establishments 11 per cent. Purse snatchings, up 24 per cent, and shoplifting, up 21 per cent, contributed to a nationwide 13 per cent rise in larcenies of $50 or more. Burglaries climbed 11 per cent and auto thefts 9 per cent. The only bright spot in the quarterly report of the FBI was an 18 per cent decrease in pick-pocket thefts.

Little Asked To Explain Selection Of Grand Jury

The Pitt County Grand Jury Monday called for Chairman Robert G. Little of the county commissioners to appear before the next Grand Jury session "to explain in detail the current system of jury selection." In its regular report the Grand Jury reiterated it had recommended in its January report that "the Pitt County Commissioners be requested to review the system of juror selection to the end that a more equitable system might be employed, whereby no citizen would be called for duty more than his fair share of times and at the same time each citizen would have his proportionate share of this civic duty." Monday's report said: "Since the rendition of that report this jury has continued to hear of cases wherein citizens who have spent their entire lives in the community have never been called for jury duty, whereas, may others, including members of the Grand Jury, have been repeatedly called." It continued: "We, consider this duty not only patriotic to our community, but an honor to be selected for the service of our community; however we also feel that still more equitable means of jury selection need be found and to that end earnestly recommend that the chairman of the Pitt County Commissioners be called to appear before the next meeting" of the group. The Grand Jury also returned 13 true bills of 13 bills of indictment sent by Solicitor Robert D. Rouse Jr. Fifteen-year-old Jessie Cobbs was indicted on rape charges growing from an April 23 incident involving a 12-year-old girl. Jay Leo Stokes and Beatrice Stokes were named on an indictment charging procuring perjury. In the same case, William Nathaniel Brown was indicted on perjury charges. Solicitor Rouse said the new indictments caused another (Continued on page twenty-four)

Sanitarians From 23 Counties At Session

Three authorities on swimming pool maintenance and sanitation yesterday conducted a training session here for public health department sanitarians from 23 Northeastern N.C. counties. Gilbert L. Kelson, associate professor of sanitary science at the University of North Carolina; W. C. Lackey of the N.C. State Board of Health's Sanitation Division; and W. J. Stevenson, district engineer for the State Board of Health, conducted the training session attended by about 35 sanitarians. Kelson listed for the sanitarians the recommended methods and practices in water treatment to avoid impurities. The Pitt County sanitarians, E. Linwood Kilpatrick and Fred Wood, served as hosts to the quarterly in-service training session of the Northeastern Sanitarians' Sub-Section of the Sanitarians' Section of the NCPHA. The educational program began at 9:30 a.m. yesterday and adjourned at 4 p.m.

Merchants Ass'n Sponsors Two Special Bargain Days

Bazaars, selling booths, free gifts and refreshments, as well as "extra special" bargains in in-season merchandise will be featured at "Hi Neighbor Days" sponsored by the Greenville Merchants Association on Friday and Saturday. Booths will be located on Evans Street, Dickinson Avenue, on Fifth Street in front of merchants' stores and on Third Street in front of merchants' stores. Members and some non-members of the Greenville Merchants Association are participating in the event. Automobile dealers, one bank and the appliance dealers are included among the participants, Deavours said. In connection with the street bazaars, there will be special bargains in the stores themselves. There will be hostesses on the streets to greet people, make them feel welcome, and from time to time the hostesses will give small gifts to customers as a token of the merchants' appreciation for their shopping in Greenville, Deavours said. The merchants plan on giving free refreshments for two hours each day, as well as free balloons for the children. "We think it will be the best thing we have ever done," Deavours commented. The event is a project of the trade promotion committee of the Greenville Merchants Association. On Friday afternoon at 4:00, the Rose High School Band will present a band concert for the public, as a part of the "Hi Neighbor Days." Everyone is invited to attend. The type of activity planned during "Hi Neighbor Days" differs from the "Dollar Day" trade event and is something new for Greenville. Larry Averette is president of the local Merchants Association.

Mayor Declines To Guess 'When'

When will the Public Housing Authority's request for permission to obtain a federal loan be considered again? Mayor Charles M. King would not commit himself following last night's special council meeting at which no action was taken on the request. However, he did say the June meeting "is right on top of us. I'd almost say I couldn't do it then." In answer to newsmen's questions, he replied he would not say whether it would be on the July agenda. The mayor said, though, that if the Housing request were not on the next council meeting agenda, "I will put it on one." He said the question of "in kind" payments as the city's share of urban renewal cost "should have a lot to do with it." This was in answer to a question as to whether expiration dates for crediting these projects would expedite the programs. He reaffirmed his previous statement that he intended to carry out any programs in terms with the wishes of the people. Asked if he interpreted the recent referendum results favoring urban renewal-public housing as the will of the people, he replied, "I'd rather not answer that." Mayor King told newsmen that he definitely did not think a 3-2 vote among the councilmen will prevail during his administration. He said he called last night's session because "they insisted that I have this meeting." The mayor stated he would have preferred to wait until the first of the month. He found a letter on his desk Friday morning from Chairman Charles Howard asking the special session that night. The meeting was later set for last night. During last night's meeting the mayor indicated a desire to informally discuss the situation with other members of the council and to meet with the Public Housing Authority and the Redevelopment Commission. "I've always wanted to get together with the Public Housing Authority and the Redevelopment Commission," he declared. "I've wanted to talk with them. I haven't talked to these people a bit about this thing." M. E. Cavendish, chairman of the Redevelopment Commission, after the meeting told King that a special meeting of his commission was being called for tonight at 8 o'clock in City Hall. This was being done, Cavendish said later, "because King requested it." King, however, said, "I didn't request it." But, asked if he would attend tonight's Redevelopment Commission meeting, he replied, "You know I am. I've got to go."

Korean General Coming To U.S.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The leader of South Korea's successful military revolt, Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, announced today he plans to leave for the United States soon to sell his regime to President Kennedy and the American people. The U.S. Embassy, which had opposed the coup last week, said no invitation had been issued to Chang but it was taking the matter up with the State Department. Initial reaction in Washington was cool. Chang, who is head of the ruling military council, premier, defense minister and army chief of staff, said "reliable informants have told me President Kennedy wants to see and talk with me personally." The 38-year-old general said he would "seek support for our efforts to achieve the revolutionary tasks and thus promote furthering of close ties between the two countries." The junta has said the aim of its revolution is to weed out Communist infiltrators from North Korea, end official corruption and rejuvenate the economy.

Axed

RALEIGH (AP)—The House Senatorial Districts Committee today killed its third bill of the session — a measure to limit counties to no more than one state senator. "This committee has a perfect record so far as mortality is concerned," observed Chairman Leonard Lloyd of Graham. "I wouldn't want to see that broken." Rep. Clifton Blue of Moore remarked that the bill is similar to one he introduced in 1953 which was voted down by the people. "I question the wisdom of submitting it again," he said.

Trade Prospects Seen By Hodges

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said today European prosperity "is kicking at the roof" and affords a ready market for American exports. In a speech prepared for a world trade luncheon, Hodges said his recent trip to six Western European countries "convinced me more than ever that there is a great potential abroad for the increased sale of American goods." Hodges said the people of Western Europe "cannot only afford our products, but in some cases, such as machinery, they need them urgently, since we can offer delivery in shorter time than their own plants can."

President Okays Citizens' Tractor Exchange

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today gave his support to the tractors-for-prisoners exchange with Fidel Castro, but said the government could play no part in it. The White House issued a statement in which Kennedy urged the public to contribute to funds with which a private committee plans to buy tractors to swap for the liberation of 1,200 men captured in the ill-fated invasion of Cuba last month by anti-Castro exiles. At the same time, "it was disclosed that Kennedy participated in getting together the group which is conducting the drive for money. This includes Eleanor Roosevelt, Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, and Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University. In his statement, Kennedy said: "The United States government has not been and cannot be a party to these negotiations. But when private citizens seek to help prevent suffering in other lands through voluntary contributions—which is a great American tradition—this government should not interfere with their humanitarian efforts." Kennedy said that while the government is "putting forward neither obstacles nor assistance to this wholly private effort, I hope that all citizens will contribute what they can." "If we were our brothers in a totalitarian prison, every American would want to help," he said. "I happen to feel deeply that all who fight for freedom—particularly in our hemisphere—are our brothers." Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said he did not know whether the President had contributed personally to the campaign for funds. He said, however, that "as a private individual it is very likely that he would make a contribution to this fund." While various departments maintained an official hands-off position, Kennedy's encouragement was seen in a variety of indirect aids from different federal agencies that indicated White House backing. A Coast Guard plane provided transport for prisoner representatives. The State Department made plain it would waive the Cuban embargo to let the tractors through. The Treasury is reported seeking ways to allow tax deductions for gifts to the committee. The White House was said to have decided the exchange would not violate the Logan Act, which bars private citizens from dealing with foreign governments in any matter in dispute with the United States.

Appalachian Dean Missing

BOONE, N.C. (AP)—A search is underway for John Kincaid, dean of men at Appalachian State Teachers College here, who along with his son, Steve, failed to return Tuesday from a fishing trip to Watauga Lake, Tenn. Rescue squads today found Kirk's boat drifting about eight miles from the dock they had used. The two left Tuesday morning for the lake, which is located in Cherokee National Forest just across the Tennessee line.

Special Designs For Little Girls

"MISSY" BEDS are bunks for two, resembling canopy beds. They're available with curtains and rods.

By VIVIAN BROWN
Little girls have made this season. They've been discovered at last by home furnishings designers.

The pre-teen set is being catered to with the last word in feminine bedroom furnishings — Colonial, Victorian, Contemporary.

Why were little girls neglected for so long while little brothers and big sisters were pampered by all the specialists?

One manufacturer may have the answer when he says:

"We didn't think they cared."

Not care? Just observe any little girl playing mistress of her slumber room. She revels in its femininity and charm.

One mother did a handsome job of decorating a room in a butterfly motif for two young girls. She chose two solid color wallpapers, lime and lemon, using them to make large handsome butterfly cut-outs which she pasted over rosy-pink walls. One butterfly was pasted on the lower half of a window shade. A shag rug was cut into a butterfly design and large butterflies were appliqued to bedspread and closet accessories.

Mother need not be an amateur artist to net butterflies for daughter's decor. Butterfly wallpapers and fabrics are available to do the job gayly and inexpensively.

A bird motif, another favorite of young girls, is popular on wallpaper, throw rugs, lamps. One mother designed a bird lamp for her 10-year-old using a small white bird cage, a blue papier mache bird and blue shade, setting it on an easy-to-make lamp base.

A natural for the sub-deb set is the trend to Early American and Colonial furniture. Stenciled furniture is ideal in a young girl's room. New curtained bunk beds are chic, and feminine, too, as the bunk bed gives the illusion of a canopy bed. It permits a girl to have a guest whenever she chooses, even when bedroom space is limited.

Victorian furniture in Oriental white peel cane is charming and inexpensive in a young girl's room, and chances are she won't part with it, even through her teens. Headboards, screens, chairs, tables, and other occasional pieces are available.

A delightful room for two little girls seen recently was done in white and rosy-pink. The walls are azalea pink; headboards, white peel cane. A handsome metal ceiling lighting fixture consists of a spray of colorful spring flowers. A table lamp has a heart base and a shade trimmed in moss green and pink velvet hearts, a perfect complement to a young girl's room.

There is formal and informal furniture available for the young in heart. The important thing is to avoid clutter by choosing necessary objects. Young people are natural clutterers so furniture should be chosen with an eye to absorbing such clutter as collections of dolls, stuffed animals or shells. These may fit into wall cabinets that are large enough to be used later for books or collections of other types. A desk and reading lamp are important to a little girl's needs. A blanket chest at the foot of the bed can store endless paraphernalia, and with a cushion serve as a seat.

Club Members Entertain Husbands

The Pickwick Book Club members and their husbands were entertained on Saturday evening with an informal couples supper party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Sam White III, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rowlette were co-host and hostess.

Arrangements of summer flowers decorated the home. A fruit juice cocktail was served in the yard followed by a hamburger fry.

Guests were entertained throughout the evening with humorous recordings and piano selections by W. H. Watson.

More Bales . . . Better Bales . . . Because this is THE BALER WITH SEALED BEARINGS THAT NEVER NEED GREASING

That's right, the famous Massey-Ferguson No. 3 Baler eliminates that messy, time-consuming chore every morning and noon. Think of the extra bales you'll have in the time you save.
And . . . every time a bale is tied with the MF No. 3, it's tied for good. No more "skips" due to sloppy knotting. In every way, the No. 3 Baler can be counted on to give you more bales, better bales, and for a lot of extra years.

His scripture reading was on Abraham, the Father of the Hebrew Race and the topic for his talk was "The Christian Home". He said "The great and paramount need is Christian Homes and a Christian home must be built on spiritual basis. He also said "If the homes are pure, the country is pure and that the town or country never rises higher than the best woman because "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle Rules the World". Following the program the group sang "Faith of our Fathers" (Mothers) and Mr. Clark closed with a prayer.

Program on Antarctic Region

Major J.H. Foster, who has been to the Antarctic for three years gave a program at the high school. He familiarized the students with the Antarctic region, discussed the weather, and plant and animal life. His main topic was "Why men go to the Antarctic." He also spoke of the future of the region. After this, a film, put together by Walt Disney, made up of actual pictures taken by the Navy, was shown. A question and answer period concluded the program.

Meet To Be Held On Safe Adoption

A meeting on "Safe Adoption Practices" will be held Friday at the Woman's Club Building at 2:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Children's Home Society of N. C., the meeting will be open to all persons interested in becoming better acquainted with the methods and procedures of adoption. Miss Harriet L. Tynes, Executive Director of the Agency, will conduct the discussion, which will be followed by a question and answer period.

The Children's Home Society, the only state-wide adoption agency completely supported by voluntary contribution, has aided over 7,000 children throughout North Carolina since 1902.

Mizelles Bridge Host

Thursday night of last week Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Mizelle entertained the members of their couple's bridge club and two invited guests, Mr. and Mrs. Wadley Ward.

Soon after arrival, guests took their places at the three tables arranged for play.

At the end of the last progression the hostess served delectable refreshments.

High score winners were Irvin Taylor and Mrs. A.M. McWhorter.

Book Exchange Club Meets

The Book Exchange Club met Thursday, in the home of Mrs. Dennis Hardy with Mrs. J. H. Weeks as co-hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. R. R. Whitehurst. A nominating committee of Mrs. Willard Whitehurst, Mrs. Roscoe Everett, and Mrs. Linwood Briley was appointed to select new officers for the coming year. Tentative plans for a club trip in June were made. It was decided that the group would tour the historic sites and points of interest in Edenton.

After the business session, an informative program was given by Mrs. Jerry Herald, who at present is residing in Argentina, Newfoundland. She began the program with the history, natives, sports, industries, climate, and various other facts about the country. The telling of personal experiences highlighted the program. Color slides were shown depicting the scenery and interesting sites of Newfoundland.

The hostesses served a dessert course to 14 members.

Weiner Roast

Mr. and Mrs. H. Linwood Briley entertained their daughter, Brenda, with a weiner roast in the Bethel Park on her 16th birthday. After the arrival of the guests the candles on the birthday cake were lighted and everybody sang "Happy Birthday to Brenda." The 60 guests were then served potato chips, pickles, hot dogs, cold drinks and birthday cake.

Are They Prepared For Tomorrow?

Graduating time is a season of the year when youngsters who have reached an important milestone in their lives are told to take stock of the years behind them and also the situations which confront them in the years which lie ahead.

At graduation time in this particular year, it is appropriate that adults throughout North Carolina take stock of the public school systems from which literally thousands of our young people this year are graduating.

The average citizen might well ask himself how well are these young people prepared after 12 years in public schools to face the future? Are those who plan to attend college well prepared by their public school instruction to get the most out of the time, effort and money they will spend in higher education? Are those who will not continue their formal education well equipped to make a living for themselves or to shoulder the responsibility of citizenship that will be thrust upon them?

The average community might ask itself: Have we, through our public schools done all we can for these young people to enable them to compete effectively in the future with graduates of public schools in other communities in other states?

As the people of North Carolina take stock of their public schools at the end of another school year, there are many things of which the individual communities and the state as a whole can be proud. We have many good and dedicated teachers, and through their public schools at the end of another school year, among the high school graduating classes this year. Compared with a few years ago, there have been many important improvements in the state's public school system. We have made progress in providing our youngsters with better schools and better educations.

At the same time the realism demands that we acknowledge the fact that North Carolina has many public schools which are far below the national standard. Many of the youngsters graduating this year have attended school in overcrowded classrooms where the individual attention they could receive was sorely limited. Some of them have had to attend school on the split-shift schedule because of the lack of adequate classroom space. And some of them, we must admit, have been taught by teachers who were poorly equipped to do the job because many of the better young teachers that might have taught in North Carolina schools have gone elsewhere to teach for higher pay and better working conditions.

While the adults are urging members of the class of 1961 to resolve to develop their full potential in the years ahead, these same adults should themselves resolve that each succeeding class of high school graduates in the state will receive better public school educations. These adults should resolve that they will lend greater support to the public schools of the state and that the program of enriching public education in North Carolina becomes a reality.

Commencement time is a time for taking stock, not only for the students who are graduating, but also for their elders who, in the final analysis, determined the calibre of educational programs the youngsters were offered during their years in the public schools of the state.

Industry Safari Said 'Justified'

By LYNN NISBET

JUSTIFIED — Governor Sanford told newsmen at his latest session with them that he felt the industry-hunting safari into the Ohio Valley this week is entirely justified, both as to major purpose and as to timing. The Governor answered criticism of the tour while the General Assembly is in session with the comment that "relationship between the Governor's Office and the General Assembly has been excellent, and I believe that constant watching by the Governor is neither necessary nor appropriate."

The fact that Governor Sanford will be working in the Ohio Valley while the Legislature is working in the capitol building, both for the progress of North Carolina, does not mean the General Assembly will not be watched. In the news conference room when the statement was made were William Copeland, officially listed as the Governor's legislative counsel and commonly known as the chief lobbyist for the Governor's program; Hugh Cannon, confidential assistant to the Governor; and Wallace Hyde, executive secretary of the Democratic State Committee, who is devoting most of his time to furthering the Governor's program — legislative and political. Relations between the Governor's office and the General Assembly will not be greatly disturbed by his personal absence from the capitol building.

TRADITIONAL — On two matters of immediate current interest, Governor Sanford took the traditional North Carolina position. The situations are not new in principle, although slightly different in surface phases.

Asked if his intervention in the school squabble at Mars Hill did not set a precedent, Governor Sanford cryptically answered: "We can't strike against the school system in North Carolina." That was reminiscent of the equally firm statement by Governor Hoey more than 20 years ago that "There will be no sit-down strikers in this state."

A reporter asked what steps would be taken if a group of "freedom riders" like those who invaded Alabama and Mississippi should come into this state. The Governor replied: "The people of North Carolina have more important things to do with their time and energy than to engage in mobs and riots. That is their history."

Inescapable implication in these statements is that Governor Sanford intends to put the whole power of the State behind enforcement of law and maintenance of order, without favoritism to any particular political faction or ideology.

EXPEDIENCY — While maintaining a firm position with respect to enforcing the school laws and preventing mob violence, Governor Sanford is willing to make concessions to expediency in congressional restrictions. He discarded the suggestion that new districts should be formed without regard to the effect upon incumbent congressmen. He said personalities should be considered. It would be unwise, he said, to jeopardize continued service of a man with Harold Cooley's standing by putting him in a new district with another incumbent; and it would be politically dangerous to attempt elimination of Charles Raper Jonas, only Republican congressman from this state, by obvious gerrymandering — such as putting Jonas in a new district that did not embrace Mecklenburg.

Reiterating his statement that the alignment of districts is the province of the Legislature, he briefly reviewed the background of several pending bills. Geography and population suggests the Republican Jonas might be pitted against either Democratic incumbent Paul Kitchen of the present 8th district, Hugh Alexander of the 9th or Basil Whittier of the 11th. He indicated preference for the arrangement that would put Jonas in a new district with Kitchen — which would make the district run more along the South Carolina line than to take off across the state to Tennessee or Virginia.

Any revision of district lines, which have remained unchanged since 1941 — and with only very minor changes since 1921, will require candidates for congress to run in a lot of new territory. The added areas in some instances will occasion no real problem, because there will be a backlog of familiar voting strength. The proposed new Jonas-Kitchen district will require both incumbents to make new contacts in heavy voting counties.

The congressional district bill is far from settled. It is expected that House and Senate committees can agree on a bill, it will represent the views of 24 out of the total 170 members of the General Assembly — or less than 24 out of the 100 counties, because Bladen and Cleveland are represented on both committees. The other 136 members, representing 98 counties, have their own ideas about how the lines should be drawn.

Can Still Hope Joint Effort Is Recognized

It is to be hoped that the Civil Aeronautics Board now hearing arguments over proposed airline route changes which would include service to a joint Wilson-Greenville airport will uphold the finding of the examiner who recommended that service be granted Wilson and Greenville on a joint basis.

The fact that Wilson and Greenville petitioned jointly for air service is evidence of recognition among the leaders of the two communities that the area can best be served by combining efforts rather than each individual community fighting the other for much-needed air service. It is also evidence that the two communities have taken the joint approach that for years has been recommended by many officials closely associated with the air transportation industry.

If the joint effort of Wilson and Greenville to obtain air service is thrown out by the Civil Aeronautics Board, the action certainly will discourage joint efforts of communities in this and other areas in seeking air service. It might also mean that the CAB has taken the position that efforts by communities banding together in an effort to secure air service is of no consequence.

It will be some time after the current hearings before the decision of the CAB will be made known in the matter, but the decision could have far-reaching effects in the future course smaller cities will take in seeking the air service they need and should have.

Direct, Quiet Action At Top

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's only public statement so far on the Alabama race riots gave the attorney general, Robert Kennedy, sweeping power to "take all necessary steps" to handle the situation. But, for the first time in American history, the attorney general happens to be the President's brother. Robert Kennedy has kept the President informed of every step taken. Thus President Kennedy, more than might ordinarily be the case with some other chief executive and his attorney general, must bear responsibility for what his attorney general does.

So, if Southern Democrats in Congress or Southern politicians in general get sore at Robert Kennedy, they must get equally peeved at the President. Nevertheless the President — by letting his brother do most of the talking and being fairly mild himself in his only statement — avoids angering Southerners in the way he might if he were more personally and publicly emphatic.

He has intervened directly, but quietly. For instance, in telephoning Alabama officials. Still, the question he faces — whether or not to speak more forcefully — is both psychological and political.

Many persons felt in 1957 that if President Dwight D. Eisenhower had spoken out more forcefully in the Little Rock school riot, the situation might have been averted. On July 17 that year he told a news conference: "I can't imagine any set of circumstances that would ever induce me to send federal troops into any area to enforce orders of a federal court, because I believe that common sense of America will never require it."

But a federal court had ordered integration of a Little Rock school and, within six weeks after Eisenhower deplored the thought of using troops, Gov. Orval Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard to block integration. In the end, Eisenhower had to do exactly what he had said he couldn't imagine doing: He sent federal troops into Little Rock to quell the riot.

It is possible that if Eisenhower had been a lot tougher at that July 17 news conference, Faubus might have been discouraged from doing what he did.

It is also possible that if Kennedy had spoken out far more forcefully after the first Alabama riot — a riot against whites and Negroes riding buses to test the state's segregation laws — he might have chilled the mob's subsequent viciousness.

The President apparently felt that the sweeping power he gave his brother would have the same psychological effect as if he himself had said more. (Continued on Page 7)

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

DON'T BE A HOARDER — One of the problems that plagued the home front during World War Two was the hoarding of goods. At a time of many inevitable shortages, some unpatriotic people made the situation even worse by grabbing and hiding a year-or-so's supply of items that other citizens were having to do without altogether. In the long run, some of the hoarders were stuck; either the supplies they had saved went bad and had to be thrown out, or else at the end they were left with large quantities of things which were plentiful at normal prices.

Don't be a hoarder — live now. The secret of happy life is not hoarding, but giving. "God so loved that he gave..."

Lure of the Mountain

By DON SCHLIENZ

In A Thoughtful Mood

If I had a wishing ring... I would wish for all the assuredness I can see today in our six-year-old son as his kindergarten term draws to a close. He's ready to plunge into the inviting world of the First Grade with all the confidence and enthusiasm of a challenger who cannot lose.

He is walking into his future with a swagger I envy. His curiosity is avid; the void which represents a capacity for knowledge is already cluttered with bits and pieces of information and misinformation, of truths and untruths, of experiences and dreams.

It's just a little bit awesome, the responsibility parents have in guiding their young dynamo. Sometimes the impression is one of trying to control a runaway horse. You hang on, do your best... and pray.

It's no mere whim that causes editors to repeatedly urge that stories of local happenings involving local people be submitted to news-gatherers immediately, if not sooner.

News is a commodity. It is highly perishable, and its value diminishes as time passes before being made available to the rest of the world.

A very routine meeting of the XYZ Club carries with it an air of immediacy if it is promptly reported. The same story brought in five days later, with an implied suggestion it must be published TODAY, can be maddening. Granted, there are occasions when circumstances of space or time prohibit all the promissiveness of publishing an item that an editor aspires to; at such times he can only do his best.

A publicity chairman can earn unbounded gratitude (and cooperation) in the newsroom of a hometown newspaper by following an axiom of a successful soldier: being there "fustest with the mostest."

Some relatives and friends from Michigan learned this week something of the distance between Murphy and Manteo. They didn't go to Manteo, only to Greenville, but the automobile ride from Murphy gave them a better idea of the width of North Carolina than any road map or Atlas could give.

They left Murphy at 7:20 a.m. and arrived here at 6:00 p.m. Knowing them well, I can vouch for the fact there was no lagging on the highway.

One in the party ruefully commented "I've never before driven so long and so far, and stayed in the same state!"

They left for home this morning, I think with the impression it always rains in Greenville. I remember we had rain on their previous visit.

I went to a cafe called "Fiasco." There were assembled all sorts of human beings in every state of disarray. Some were playing Polka; others were drinking coffee. But everybody was talking and it was a different kind of talk from that which one hears at such fanciful restaurants as The Colony, or "21," because these people have nothing to do with business or with gossip. They are not concerned with the love affairs of this hoodlum or that multimillionaire. The conversation was impersonal and abstract and unselfish. Young people talked because they wanted to discover what to them could eventually be the Truth. They supported their arguments with a wide range of knowledge. Some of it was tripe but none of it was useless. And that is how the intellect is drilled. It is disputation that does that.

en more painfully worked out in Little Rock.

The President declined to use soldiers in Montgomery. He used marshals. As far as the mobs are concerned, the results may be the same, but the desire to promote law and order is based on a less belligerent approach, if he is such. Surely the adherents of the mob approach cannot fail to see the importance of keeping law and order. Otherwise all that is important to any segment of the Nation, north or south, can be seriously impaired.

Force and violence have never been unifying elements in any racial dispute. Governor Patterson should rally the law-abiding residents of his state to promote projects which build mutual respect and cooperation on local and state levels. New industries and new jobs for all residents would serve as a useful approach. The federal authorities need to discourage the provocative efforts of the NAACP and others who would make of the South a new and even bloodier racial battleground from which only the Communists can hope to gain.

If these efforts were made, then and only then — it might be possible to build a foundation upon which future violence and bloodshed could be averted. The tragedy in Montgomery, like that in Little Rock, is that the force-versus-violence approach is too eagerly applied. Its ill effects are then magnified out of all proper proportion in a world where the race issue is a constant stumbling block along the road to lasting peace.

It starts out: "In 18th-century America, the pleasant practice of taking tea at home was an established social custom with a recognized code of manners and distinctive furnishing. Price was taken in a correct and fashionable tea table whose equipment included much more than a teapot, cups and saucers."

"It was usually the duty of the mistress to make and pour the tea; and it was the duty of the guests to be adept at handling a teacup and a saucer and to provide social 'chitchat.' Because of the expense and time involved, the tea party was limited to the upper classes; consequently, such an affair was a status symbol. The cocktail party of the 20th century had, perhaps, replaced the tea party of the 18th century as a social custom, reflecting the contrast between the relaxed atmosphere of yesterday and the hurried pace of today."

INFORMATION, THANKS — The booklet contains useful gems of information, such as "Tea had long been known and used in the Orient before it was introduced into Europe in the early part of the 17th century — By 1773, the general public, according to one Philadelphia merchant, 'can afford to come at this piece of luxury' while one-third of the population 'as a moderate computation, drink tea twice a day.' It was at this time, however, that efforts were made to enforce the English tea tax and the result was that most famous of tea parties, the 'Boston Tea Party.'"

The booklet goes on and on, with prints of famous paintings and sketches, and a diagram by Louis Guillaume Otto showing where everybody, including the butler, stood at a party given by the Philadelphia Shippens in 1780, with Otto standing outside a parlor window, making notes.

The booklet notes that Major Samuel Shaw, American Consul at Canton, China, on December 20, 1790, wrote to Dr. David Townsend of Boston, that a fashionably set tea table would include:

"Two tea pots & stands, sugar bowl & ditto, a milk ewer, a bowl & dish, 6 breakfast cups and saucers, 12 afternoon ditto."

If you think I made all this up, send 40 cents in coin or money order to the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., and ask for "Catalog No. SI 3.3-225-paper 14," and you'll receive what your recent tax payments went for. In fact, if enough of you send in 40 cents, this publishing venture will show a profit and cost the taxpayers nothing.

HOW TO GET TOASTED ON UNDERSIDE — Billed as the next fall is an apparatus called Slip 'n' Slide, consisting of a strip of plastic 40 inches wide and 30 feet long, lubricated by a garden hose. When placed on a slope people, in placing suits can scoot along on a cushion of water. Fun, says the manufacturer, (Wham-O Mfg. Co., San Gabriel, Calif.)

RATE OF RETURNS MAY BE BETTER — While the government is spending $2.5 billion this year to encourage foreign travel to the United States, Pan American World Airways is spending $3.5 million for the same purpose. Well, Pan-Am is probably better off than the government.

Not So Bright Critics

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The word, intellectual, used to mean a person who devoted himself to the pursuit of knowledge — usually the humanities. In Czarist Russia, a man who wrote books with pince-nez eyeglasses and perhaps a goatee said he was of the intelligentsia to distinguish himself from a peasant or a merchant.

In the United States, where everyone was expected to be able to read and write and even to quote a sentence from a poet, it was assumed for most of our history that all men and women possessed and used their intellects.

That, of course, was before we became class-conscious and sought particular status in lieu of riches such as Horatio Alger regarded as the goal of a good and virtuous man. It was during Franklin D. Roosevelt's regime that the word, intellectual, came into every day use in this country and it was during Senator Joe McCarthy's hey-day that the term, anti-intellectual, was applied to those who favored Joe or Joe's purposes even if they disliked his so-called methods. Such intellectuals as Dr. J. Matthews, a linguist of wide renown and William F. Buckley, Jr., who has brought glory to Yale by including it in a title with God, have been described as anti-intellectuals. The truth is that Matthews and Buckley would, in Europe and Asia, pass for intellectuals while some who regard them as anti-intellectuals would be looked upon as proletarians masquerading as Doctors of Philosophy.

The standards of American universities are so diverse that it is difficult to determine what a collegiate or university degree actually means. For instance, a B.A. from some American colleges represents hard work; others, it merely means attendance. An M.A. from some American universities often means a high standard of intellectual work and discipline; from others, an A is as difficult to get as an entrance into Heaven; in others, it is granted for excellence in apple polishing or for being a big wheel.

The result of this confusion is that many present themselves as intellectuals who hardly know any subject beyond a fly-speak of a so-called discipline. Recently I went down to Greenwich Village in New York where I was reminded of the good, old days just before World War I. The intellectuals of those days said "Polity" instead of discussing any subject that arose with more emotion than is today hard to discover even in a Faculty Club. In those days, an educated man tried to know everything and to read everything. He turned from politics to painting with ease; from music to mathematics as though it were the same subject, which it is. It was a time when an educated man was eclectic and an argument was in the realm of thought not of definitions — which cultured persons knew all about.

I went to a cafe called "Fiasco." There were assembled all sorts of human beings in every state of disarray. Some were playing Polka; others were drinking coffee. But everybody was talking and it was a different kind of talk from that which one hears at such fanciful restaurants as The Colony, or "21," because these people have nothing to do with business or with gossip. Some of it was tripe but none of it was useless. And that is how the intellect is drilled. It is disputation that does that.

The so-called "brilliant, young crowd," which nowadays sits about Washington thinking out policy and making mistakes in the dollar and gold and what not — is neither so brilliant nor so young. Some have served under Roosevelt; some under Truman. There is a hopefulness about them but also an opportunism.

early part of the 17th century — By 1773, the general public, according to one Philadelphia merchant, 'can afford to come at this piece of luxury' while one-third of the population 'as a moderate computation, drink tea twice a day.' It was at this time, however, that efforts were made to enforce the English tea tax and the result was that most famous of tea parties, the 'Boston Tea Party.'"

The booklet goes on and on, with prints of famous paintings and sketches, and a diagram by Louis Guillaume Otto showing where everybody, including the butler, stood at a party given by the Philadelphia Shippens in 1780, with Otto standing outside a parlor window, making notes.

The booklet notes that Major Samuel Shaw, American Consul at Canton, China, on December 20, 1790, wrote to Dr. David Townsend of Boston, that a fashionably set tea table would include:

"Two tea pots & stands, sugar bowl & ditto, a milk ewer, a bowl & dish, 6 breakfast cups and saucers, 12 afternoon ditto."

If you think I made all this up, send 40 cents in coin or money order to the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., and ask for "Catalog No. SI 3.3-225-paper 14," and you'll receive what your recent tax payments went for. In fact, if enough of you send in 40 cents, this publishing venture will show a profit and cost the taxpayers nothing.

HOW TO GET TOASTED ON UNDERSIDE — Billed as the next fall is an apparatus called Slip 'n' Slide, consisting of a strip of plastic 40 inches wide and 30 feet long, lubricated by a garden hose. When placed on a slope people, in placing suits can scoot along on a cushion of water. Fun, says the manufacturer, (Wham-O Mfg. Co., San Gabriel, Calif.)

RATE OF RETURNS MAY BE BETTER — While the government is spending $2.5 billion this year to encourage foreign travel to the United States, Pan American World Airways is spending $3.5 million for the same purpose. Well, Pan-Am is probably better off than the government.

Carnegie Hall Has 'New' Exterior

New York's famed Carnegie Hall has a shining "new" exterior, thanks to great quantities of steam and detergent used to remove a 70-year accumulation of grime from the venerable building!

This face-washing revealed that Carnegie is actually a handsome buff shade, not the dismal brown familiar to millions.

Hairdo 'Specials'

High-fashion coiffures and shampoo-fresh highlights share hairdo honors during the early spring social season. For "special effects," try shining sprinkles of glitter, sprayed-on streaks of gold or contrasting color, and generous applications of spray or lacquer to preserve the lovely line of your setting.

Although sprays and glitter enhance appearance for the evening, they tend to get sticky and may flake after a day or so. To keep your hair soft and shiny—and also to groom it appropriately for daytime—shampoo your hair every few days.

'All-In-One' Blouse

If your blouses keep popping out of your skirts, you'll appreciate the comfort and smooth fit of a blouse attached to a half-slip. These "all-in-ones," which offer the smart styling of traditional blouses, come in such super-washable fabrics as cotton, Dacron crepe, and nylon tulle.

Most such petti-blouses need little, if any, ironing after laundering in warm soap or detergent suds and rinses. To keep them fresh as well as fashionable, launder after every wearing!

Military Transport Plane Crashes After Take-Off; Eighteen Men Die

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (AP)—A big military transport returning servicemen from maneuvers met disaster five miles from takeoff today in a flaming pileup that killed 18 men and left four injured critically.

The C124 Globemaster fell in a wooded area minutes after it lifted from a McChord runway in predawn darkness, headed for Ft. Sill, Okla., with 15 Army men and its Air Force crew of seven.

Five men got out somehow from the shattered, burning plane and were rushed to Madigan General Hospital at nearby Ft. Lewis. One died a few hours later.

One Army man and three Air Force crewmen remained at Madigan in critical condition.

"One of the first men at the scene heard a man calling for help," said Capt. Joseph Wiggins, McChord public information officer. "The survivor, in shock, was found sitting on a log near the wreckage."

The Globemaster, from Donaldson AFB S.C., took off in foggy weather about 2:20 a.m.

"There was a flash in the sky," said a sheriff's officer. "We could not tell whether it came from an explosion in the air or after the plane hit the ground."

The $1.5 million plane apparently came down sharply. Although it landed in a heavily wooded area it cut no swath and knocked down only a few trees.

Nearly everything burned. Even metal melted. Hours after the crash the wreckage still smoldered.

The injured were evacuated by a helicopter crew who brought their craft down in a narrow clearing between power lines and trees.

The C124 was returning men who had participated in recent Army-Air Force maneuvers, called Exercise Lava Plains, at Yakima, Wash., 150 miles east of McChord.

In addition to the 22 servicemen aboard, the Globemaster carried a 16,200-pound truck, a 3,100-pound trailer, a jeep and a light trailer. It was not a heavy load for the C124, which can carry up to 200 men.

The plane came down on the edge of the Ft. Lewis military reservation, adjacent to McChord. The bases are 10 miles southwest of Tacoma, Wash., and about 40 miles south of Seattle.

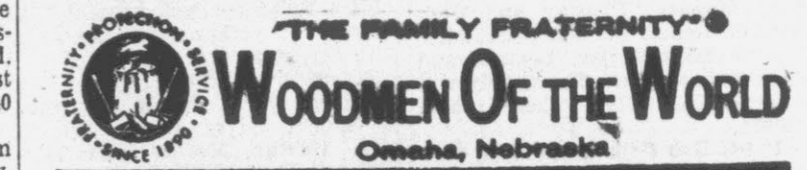

The 15 army men were from B Battery, 26th Field Artillery, 4th Army, at Ft. Sill.

Identification of the casualties was delayed until relatives were notified. While rescuers were searching the burning wreckage, other Globemasters continued to take off from McChord on similar missions.

Non-Registering For Bond Vote Draws Concern

AYDEN—Ayden Rotarians, concerned over the lack of interest in the special industrial school bond election, again stressed the importance of registering, at their Friday meeting.

It was the second week in a row that the Rotarians had taken official note of the election, to be held June 17. A special registration is taking place in order for eligible voters to vote on the $395,000 bond issue for the Pitt County Industrial School.

A quick check yesterday revealed that 66 persons in Ayden have registered for the election. There are some 1,200 eligible voters in Ayden.

Rotarians decided to ask a show of hands at their coming meeting this Friday to determine how many among themselves have registered.

Registration books are open at the regular polling places throughout the county on Saturday, May 27, and Saturday, June 3. Registration books will be open between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. at the regular polling places. On all other days until June 3, inclusive, except Sundays and legal holidays, registration books will be open at homes of registrars.

Saturday, June 10, is Challenge Day.

The Ayden registrar is D. C. Summerell and the regular polling place is the Ayden City Hall.

Bethel Club Has Two Speakers

BETHEL—Bethel School Principal Walter C. Latham was in charge of the Rotary Club program held last week.

He introduced Cliff Everett, Jr., assistant editor of the Bethel High School Annual, who described the annual to Rotarians and showed the manner in which it was arranged. Also introduced was John Coughlan, Bethel High School science teacher, who told of science activities during the past year.

He informed the group that Bill Station from the eighth grade in Bethel was a county winner in the Pitt County Science Fair. At the Science Fair held at East Carolina College, Bethel had two winners, Willard Graham Manning, Jr., and Leslie Manning. Other departments, including guidance mathematics and driver's education, were described to the club.

Paint Work May Be Ended Today

AYDEN—Painting of the interior of the Ayden Community Building was expected to be completed today, Town Manager Cleveland Paylor said.

Colors being used on the woodwork, walls and ceiling are varying shades of green. Work on the project was begun about a week ago.

Installing 9 New Poles In Grifton

GRIFTON—The Carolina Power and Light Company yesterday was in the process of installing nine new light poles on Grifton's main street, for the coming installation of mercury vapor lights.

The Town Board of Grifton voted recently to install the new mercury vapor lights, which will be considerably brighter than the old lights.

First Union Hero Of Civil War Killed 100 Years Ago Today

MECHANICVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—The first Union hero of the Civil War died 100 years ago today after hauling down a taunting, defiant Confederate flag from a hotel roof within sight of the White House.

Col. Elmer E. Ellsworth, described by his friend President Lincoln as "the greatest little man" he ever knew, is buried on a quiet hill above this Hudson River city of his boyhood.

Ellsworth was no ordinary soldier picked by an unknown fate to be among the first of a half-million slain. The 24-year-old, 5-foot-6 officer was called "the most talked-of man in the country."

Ellsworth was shot by James W. Jackson, proprietor of the Marshall House and a Southern sympathizer, as Ellsworth and his men descended from the roof of the Alexandria, Va., hotel with the 24-foot long secessionist flag.

Those who mourned the handsome officer included President Lincoln, who once employed him as a law clerk, and the South's Gen. Robert E. Lee and President Jefferson Davis. He was mourned also in a score of cities where the elite Zouave cadets, a precision drill unit he organized, had performed.

Lee said Ellsworth was a born military leader who one day might have led the Union Army, a post Lee himself had been offered.

Ellsworth was born near the Saratoga battlefield where his great-grandfather, at 15, had fought in the Continental Army.

At that age, Ellsworth organized his first drill team here. His dreams of attending the U.S. Military Academy, thwarted by inadequate formal education and a none too robust frame, had faded by time he was 19 and working in Chicago. But his enthusiasm flared anew when he met a former French army surgeon who had served with the famed Algerian Zouaves in the Crimean War.

Ellsworth organized his own cadets, adopting the Moorish baggy pants, short jackets and precision drills of the Zouaves. He added as a law clerk, and the South's an idealistic touch, "the golden resolutions," a code of conduct and temperance which, in an age of widespread youthful drunkenness, gained public admiration.

The day after his inauguration, Lincoln moved to get Ellsworth an army commission. But a month later, when Fort Sumter was shelled, the young officer resigned his commission to organize New York City firemen into one of the first volunteer units, the 11th New York Infantry, the red-shirted "Fire Zouaves."

The Fire Zouaves, ordered to defend vulnerable Washington, moved across the Potomac to occupy Alexandria three days after Virginia seceded in 1861.

A few hours later Ellsworth lay dead of shotgun wounds, his body partially covered with the blood-stained rebel flag.

Cpl. Francis Brownell of Troy, who shot down his commander's slayer on the spot, became known as "Ellsworth's avenger." He was the first soldier to win the Medal of Honor.

"Remember Ellsworth" became a call to unity in the North and a battle cry for many units which bore his or the Zouave names.

Police Disperse Groups Poised For 'Trouble'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Police quickly dispersed groups of Negroes and white youths here Tuesday night in what they said could have developed into serious trouble.

Shortly after 8 p.m., police were called to an area near Johnson C. Smith University, a Negro institution here. When they arrived, officers said, an estimated 100 Negro students and 50 to 74 white youths had congregated.

Link Eichmann To Lidice Crime

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann was charged today with the murder of the children of Lidice.

The Israeli prosecution presented documents blazng a trail from the famous village in Czechoslovakia to Eichmann's door in the Berlin office of the Gestapo.

The evidence retold how Czech patriots killed Reinhard Heydrich, the Nazi security police chief, near Lidice on June 4, 1942, and how the Nazis in reprisal razed the town, plowed it over and transported the population to death camps.

One document showed Eichmann was in Prague at the time. Gestapo files disclosed that 88 Lidice children, orphaned by the firing squads, were sent to Lodz. Seven of them were described as "fit for Germanization" and they were scattered through Germany in foster homes. The remaining 81 vanished without a trace and undoubtedly died in one of the Polish murder mills.

The most telling file contained a letter from SS Lt. Col. Hermann Krumey at Lodz to Eichmann's office in Berlin requesting advice on what to do with the 81 "unfit" children.

The answer was "special treatment," which in Eichmann's office for Jewish affairs meant the gas chambers of Auschwitz.

Dr. R. P. Perry, president of the university, arrived and told the students to return to their dormitories. "We don't want to start any trouble," he said and the students left.

Officers said they finally got the white youths, who had assembled at a church lawn nearby, also to leave.

Three Negro students and Dr. Perry went to police headquarters. The students claimed white youths had been molesting Johnson C. Smith students. They said a fist fight broke out Monday night between a group of white youths and Negro students.

The students who went to police headquarters, Vander Beatty of Kelly, N.C.; Charles Godlock of Asheville and Clarence Barnes of Elizabeth, N.J., told officers this story:

Barnes and Godlock left the campus Tuesday night en route to a nearby drugstore. They had gone about a half a block when white youths began throwing rocks they returned to the campus and when they told other students what happened, the students responded, "Let's go get them."

The Negroes said the white youths who had been bothering them appeared to be "about 16 or 18 years old."

Police said when they arrived the two groups were about a block apart.

Lt. Coy Sykes of the police department said, "This could have been a serious thing. We talked to the Negroes, but we couldn't talk to the whites because they didn't represent any organization or school." He said white parents should keep their children home nights or know where they can be found.

Police Officer Speaks To Ayden Rotary Meeting

AYDEN — Lt. Robert Johnston of the Wilson Police Department was principal speaker at the Friday night meeting of the Ayden Rotary Club, held at the Community Building.

Lt. Johnston was introduced by Ayden Chief of Police W.D. Brooks, who was presented by Harry Mumford, in charge of the program for the evening.

Lt. Johnston, a graduate of the F.B.I. Academy, gave an account of his experiences while at the academy and told of the facilities offered by the academy.

For the second week, Rotarians stressed the importance of registering for the special industrial school bond election. They will call for a show of hands among membership at this Friday's meeting to learn how many have registered.

Visitors for the meeting included Lt. Johnston, Chief Brooks, and David Johnson, who was the guest of E. F. Johnson.

New Police Car Put Into Service

AYDEN — Ayden's new police car arrived last Friday and has been placed into operation.

The car is a police special, 1961 Chevrolet. The police car formerly in use has been traded, since the new one arrived. Lettering on the door of the new car says "Department of Police, Town of Ayden."

Test Passed By Titan Missile

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The successful 5,000-mile test flight of a Titan missile has moved the giant ocean-spanning weapon a step closer to combat-readiness.

The 93-foot rocket, biggest in the U.S. arsenal, streaked to a South Atlantic target Tuesday night, covering the distance in 30 minutes at peak speed of more than 17,000 miles an hour.

Within a few weeks, Air Force troops are expected to launch a Titan from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. If the test is successful, the Defense Department probably will announce the United States has a second operational intercontinental range ballistic missile.

The Atlas has been operational for 20 months and about two dozen of the missiles are on the alert on pads in California, Wyoming and Nebraska.

A total of 13 Atlas and 12 Titan squadrons, each averaging 10 missiles, is planned by 1965. The initial Titan squadron will be at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo.

Honor Students To Be Speakers

GRIMESLAND — Speakers for the Grimesland High School commencement exercise on Monday, May 29, will be honor students, it was announced today.

The baccalaureate services will be held in the school auditorium on Sunday, May 28, at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Roy O. Williams, minister of Grimesland Pentecostal Holiness Church, delivering the message.

Commencement speakers will be the following honor students: James Smith, Carolyn Sue Sutton, Lois Reel and Lula Ticker. Betty Lou Morgan, president of the class, will also deliver a speech. Special music will be presented by the Grimesland Girls' Choir.

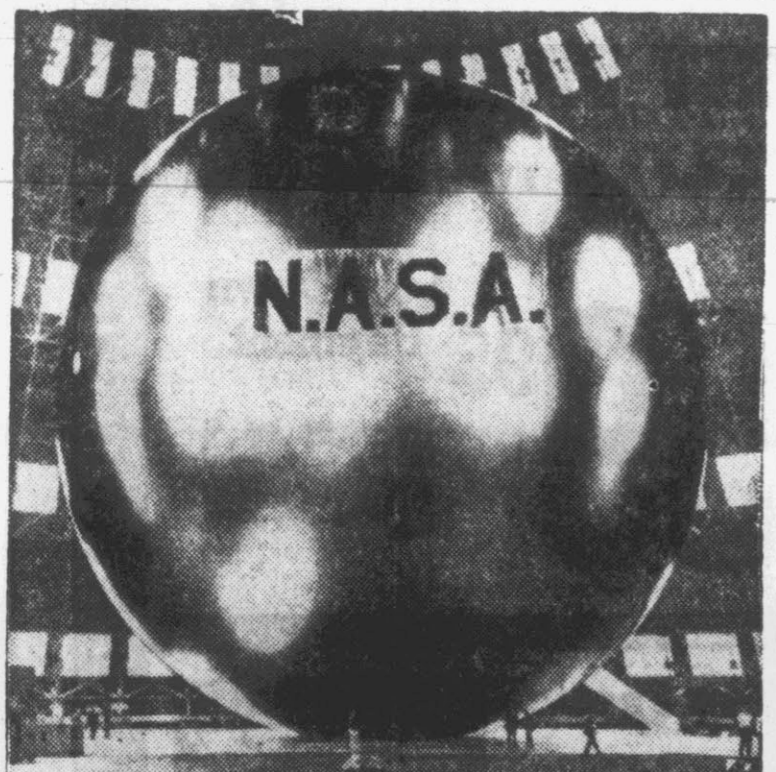

Marshals for the exercises are Laura H. McDonald, Chief; Hilda Wagoner; Carol Haddock, Bobby Williams; Allan Williams; Nelda Hudson; and Thomas Barrington.

June Allyson Has New Operation

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress June Allyson is recovering from her second throat operation within a month.

Her physician said her condition was fine after Tuesday's surgery, and added: "It was just what we expected, a polyp. Everything went well and she'll be out in a couple of days—whenever she wants to leave."

Miss Allyson, who was divorced Jan. 31 from TV actor-producer Dick Powell, underwent a similar operation April 27.

Kennedy Education Aid Bill Near Final Victory In The Senate Today

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's federal aid to education bill neared final victory in the Senate today but actual passage was not expected until Thursday.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen he hoped to dispose of all remaining amendments to the hotly disputed $2.55-billion public school measure today.

Mansfield called the Senate in three hours early to try to get a quick start at beating down four or five expected amendments.

He said some lengthy opposition speeches undoubtedly would delay the roll call to pass the bill until Thursday.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., for one, has prepared a 67-page speech lambasting the measure—a major item on President Kennedy's 1961 program. Thurmond estimated it would take three or four hours to make his point.

The House Education Committee meets again today on its version of the school legislation and may clear it for floor action.

The administration won a big victory in this group Tuesday when supporters of aid for private schools withheld their amendment. Administration forces feared inclusion of such a provision would kill the bill.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., had an amendment pending as the Senate convened this morning. It would strike from the bill all aid for teacher salaries. It was given no chance of adoption.

Administration forces easily quashed two Republican amendments to the bill, including a substitute proposed by Goldwater.

Turned down 62 to 32 was a civil rights amendment sponsored by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y. It would have authorized taxpayers to file federal District Court suits to bar grants to states not complying with the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., floor manager, argued the amendment would kill the bill. He fortified his view with a letter from Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff taking the same position.

The Goldwater substitute went down in the Senate Tuesday night 79 to 10. It would have given homeowners an income tax cut of more than $3 billion by allowing them to deduct up to $100 of the amount paid in property taxes for school purposes.

Two other provisions would have authorized 1,000 annual college scholarships to be financed with federal money and allowed a family to deduct up to $2,000 a year on income tax for college expenses.

Two amendments accepted by Morse and the administration were voted into the bill.

One, by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., broadened the purposes of the legislation so that the federal money could be used for all operating expenses of public schools.

Prouty's amendment carried 50-39. The other, by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., doubled the amount of grants to the District of Columbia.

Surprised Over Trade Criticism
BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower says he is "saddened and surprised" at criticism of the tractor-prisoner swap with Fidel Castro being negotiated by a group of American citizens.

Eisenhower, brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and president of John Hopkins University, is co-chairman of a drive to raise $15 million for tractors.

"By whatever name you call it," he said Tuesday, "the central problem is 1,214 decent people. I don't see how Americans can refuse a call for help."

GREAT LAKES SAGA

WAVE-LASHED. Violent wind-whipped storm on Lake Superior sends waves, 15 to 20 feet high, crashing against the ore freighter "James A. Farrell." Storms of this nature generally break-out during early spring and fall almost bringing lake shipping to a halt.

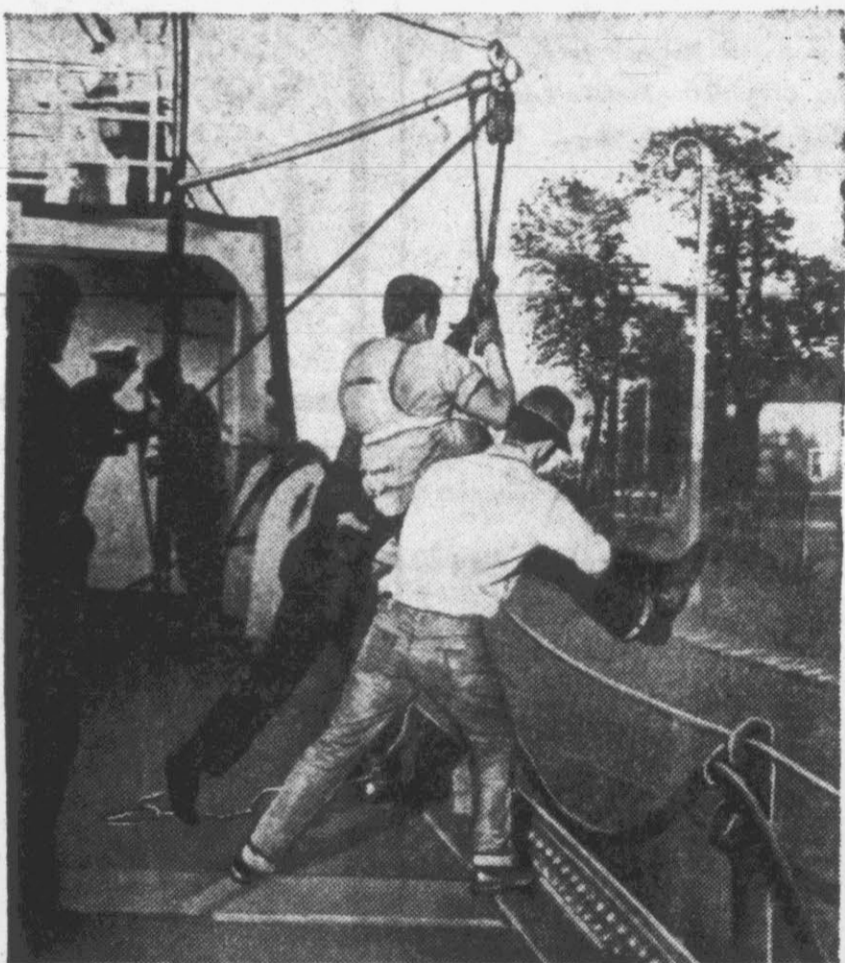

With open waters and a full season ahead, shipping on the Great Lakes is moving again.

From now until November, about 250 iron ore freighters, oil tankers, cement carriers, grain vessels, passenger vessels and coal carriers will be plowing through the lakes, loading and unloading their cargoes at the big lake ports. Winter, with its ice and bad weather conditions, had halted this.

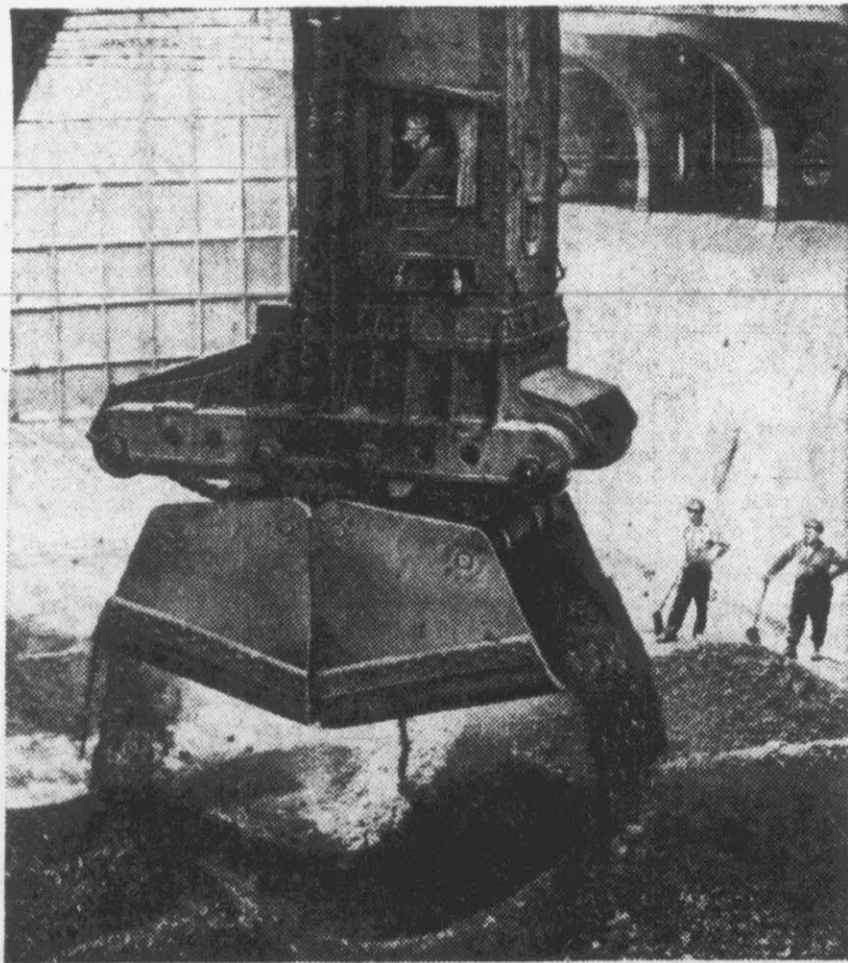

One of the veterans of these seasonal runs is the "James A. Farrell," a 600-foot-long iron ore freighter with a trip cargo capacity of 13,000 tons and a crew of 34. The ship is pictured here on one of its lake trips.

The Farrell has a regular schedule. It stops at the lake ports of Superior, Wis., Two Harbors and Duluth, Minn., to pick up the ore hauled by rail from the Mesabi iron range of Minnesota, and carry it down to the steel mills at Chicago, Gary, Ind., Lorain, O., and Buffalo. It also carries coke, coal and limestone, all needed in the making of steel. The average round trip takes about six and a half days. It will haul some 400,000 tons during a season.

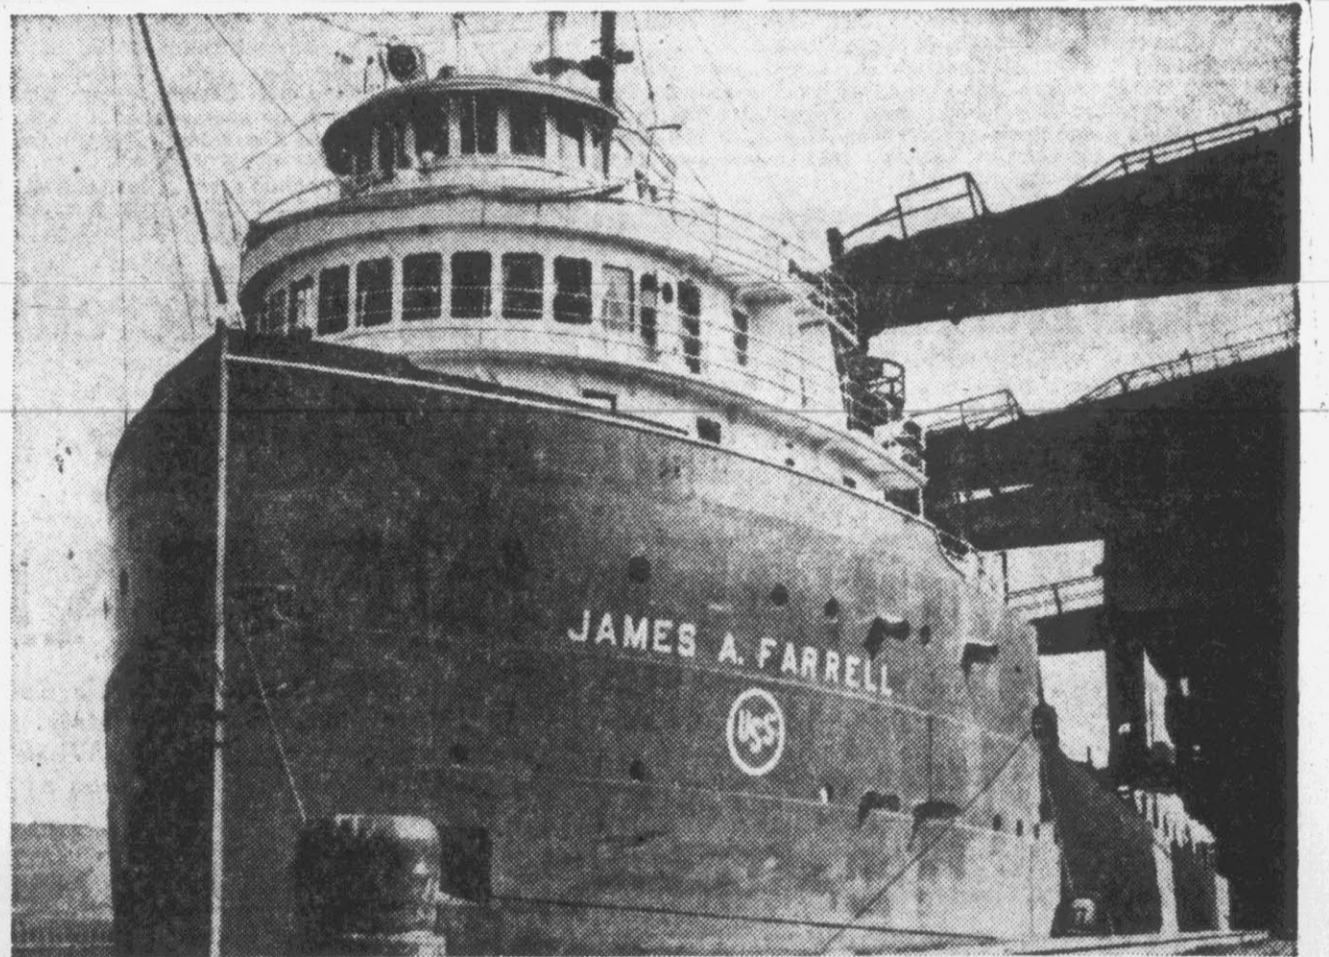

For the crew members it's a long, tough grind—two four-hour shifts a day, seven days a week, and no home leave until November.

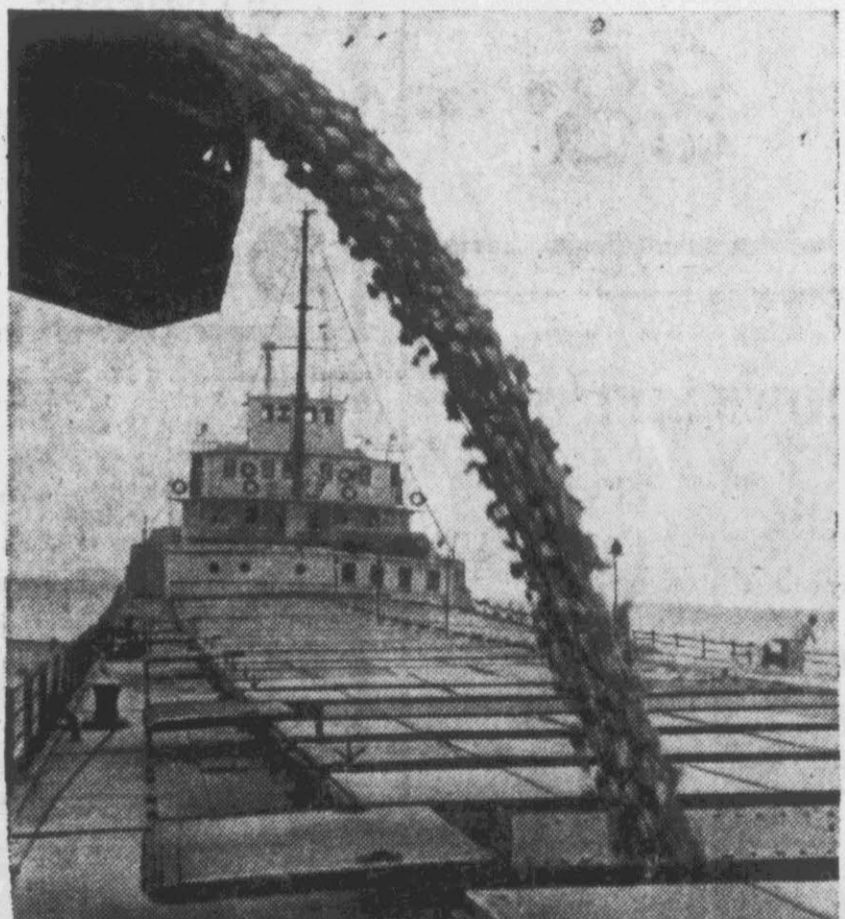

Deckhands are lowered over freighter's side to handle the mooring lines as ship prepares to enter the locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Giant machine scoops out the ore from hold. Operator then raises up machine through hatch and dumps ore on dock.

Ship stops to unload its 13,000-ton cargo of iron ore for steel plant in Gary, Ind.

Limestone is loaded into hold of the Farrell at Cedarville, Mich., for shipment to steel mills in Chicago. Stone is one of raw materials used in making of steel.

Supply boat "Ojibway" meets the Farrell. Crane lifts the supplies, mostly groceries and maintenance equipment, onto deck of freighter.

Off duty, crew member pours coffee in galley, while another catches up with his reading.

Monuments To Belgian Kings Still Carefully Tended By The Congolese

By LYNN HEINZERLING
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—They still tend the monuments to the Belgian kings in Leopoldville, regularly and expertly.

King Albert still stands on his huge memorial at the end of Boulevard Albert. That old imperialist Leopold II sits astride his horse in the square outside his lament.

The grass around them is brilliantly green and freshly cut. Flower beds are tenderly attended. You get the feeling in this improbable city that if King Baudouin arrived tomorrow he would be cheered in the streets.

The Congo has been free for nearly 10 months now, but the capital city still looks much as it did before the cry of independence was seriously raised.

Boulevard Albert is somewhat grimly gay with its sidewalk cafes and striped umbrellas. The Belgian supermarkets still operate with shrinking stocks of goods.

There are no statistics, but perhaps 10,000 Belgians have moved back into their villas and flats in Leopoldville, some hoping to revive their old businesses. There were about 20,000 here in the days before independence, minus troops and the late Premier Patrice Lumumba persuaded most of them to leave.

The Belgian Embassy has been empty since that day last August when the Belgian flag was hauled down to the jeers of a small mob of Congolese. But it is expected that relations soon will be restored.

Not many Belgians have moved back to their old posts in the interior. Tribal warriors still make life in many regions precarious.

Albert Kalonji, once the professional leader of a dissident wing of Lumumba's party, has restored a kingdom in South Kasai to cement his Baluba tribal support.

A diplomat recently returned from Equator Province said it's "quietly sinking into the bush."

Many of its rich plantations have been abandoned. The Congo badly needs a steady hand and the United Nations, with a limited budget, is making what appears to be a devoted effort. But the Congo also needs thousands of technicians and skilled workers who know this country and can get it back on its feet.

Dr. Sture Linner, a Swedish businessman who heads the U. N. civil administration in the Congo, is trying to set up cram courses to teach Congolese how to handle some of their own affairs. He hopes to send many of them abroad to study.

One difficulty with U. N. technical assistance experts is that they sign contracts for nine months or a year and then leave. What is needed at the present are Belgian or French-speaking technicians who are prepared to stay indefinitely and provide some continuity.

There is much unemployment, but somehow with U. N. help everybody gets something to eat.

There are more people than usual sleeping under the palm trees.

Somebody keeps the grass trimmed at the Soviet Embassy, vacated last September when a 29-year-old army colonel, Joseph Mobutu, ordered foreign Communists out of the country within 48 hours.

The Czechs are not so fortunate. The weeds are growing thickly around their shuttered embassy. The twisted frame of an old automobile rusts quietly on the front lawn.

Open Warfare Over Playground

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—Open warfare over use of city park playground facilities has resulted in the arrest of several participants.

A baseball diamond was the battleground Tuesday night as some 20 Negro and white youths fought with fists and knives. One white youth, identified as Jimmy Martin, 21, received a minor knife wound before police broke up the disturbance and arrested several of the battlers.

The officers said the trouble apparently began when the Negroes sought to use the ball park "formerly reserved for white persons."

Rose High Athletes Receive Awards

One hundred and seven athletes crowded into the Junius H. Rose High School Cafeteria, last night, to receive the athletic monograms which they had won during the year by participating in the high school's athletic program.

The banquet, sponsored by the State Bank and Trust Company, was attended, not only by those athletes being honored, but also by other special guests. O. E. Dowd, principal of Rose High School, recognized the special guests, such as Dr. E. B. Aycock, chairman of the Greenville School and team physician, Ford McGowan, president of the Rose High Booster's club, Wiley Forbes, president of the newly formed Touchdown Club, and Mayor Charles King. Dowd expressed thanks to John T. Marston and John R. Hardy, representatives of the State Bank and Trust Company, which sponsored the banquet.

Dowd, in speaking of the success of the Rose High athletic program during the year, said this morning, "I think that this has been an unusually successful year, for we have reached more boys this year than ever before because we added swimming and tennis to our athletic program this year."

Those athletes receiving letters for the first year, and those receiving stars for second and third year play were: FOOTBALL—Layne Jorgensen, Skip Wright, Larry Roberts, Tex Hooks, Dallas Clark, Bill Wade, William Allen, Allan McArthur, John Adams, Wayne Summrell, Don Joyner, Kenny Joyner, Billy Neal James, Jack Foley, Richard Taft, Russell Fields, Van Harris, Rodney Williams, Leon Williamson, Kroehle Andresen and Bernie Morris.

BASKETBALL—Layne Jorgensen, John Bynum, Billy James, Allan McArthur, Kroehle Andresen, Erskine Duff, Ben White, and Peter Hunt. WRESTLING—Dalton Owens, Wayne Summrell, Don Joyner, Sammy Pugh, Gary Monroe, Ronnie Williams, Chris Christopher, and Joe McRoy.

BASEBALL—Rommy Brock, Billy James, Leon Williamson, Billy Williamson, Kroehle Andresen, Ed Smoot, Kenny Joyner, Spencer Harrington, Jack Foley, Rodney Knowles, Larry Roberts, and Fred Gray.

TRACK—Richard Taft, Johnny Reynolds, Skip Wright, Bill Wade, Garris Evans, Allan McArthur, William Allen, Erskine Duff, Jimmy Jenkins, Badger Johnson, and Fred Baker.

GOLF—Dallas Clark, Chappy Bradner, Rick Saave, and Sonny Parkinson.

SWIMMING—Billy Brown, John Behr, Eddie Harrington, Donald Pierce, Scott Smiley, Lanny Smith, Tommy Taft, and Tom Webb.

Detroit Holds Steady Lead In American League Race

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer The Detroit Tigers are a whopping 15 games over .500 and have a 4 1/2-game lead in the American League race again—but it took a tough parlay to turn the trick.

First, the Tigers hammered three consecutive home runs, tying the major league record, while breaking a ninth-inning tie for a 5-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night.

Then the second-place Cleveland Indians, after winning six in a row, were beaten 9-0 at Los Angeles by the last-place Angels on the three-hit pitching of Ken McBride. It was McBride's first major league shutout, the first shutout by the Angels' staff, the first shutout at cozy Wrigley Field, the AL's homer heaven.

Baltimore replaced Minnesota in fourth place by defeating the Chicago White Sox 2-1, and Washington walloped Kansas City 7-3 in the only other games.

In the National League, San Francisco lost 12-4 at St. Louis but retained a percentage point edge over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who were beaten 2-0 at Cincinnati. Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 1-0 and Philadelphia beat Chicago's Cubs 2-1 in 10 innings. Norm Cash, Steve Boros and Dick Brown combined for the home run burst by the Tigers off a pair of relievers, loser Ray Moore (3-2) and Paul Giel. Al Kaline also hit his first home run of the season, in the sixth inning, for the Tigers, who collected nine hits. Hank Aguirre (2-3) was the winner in relief.

The Twins had seven hits, one a fourth-inning single that gave Lennie Green a 20-game hitting streak, longest in the majors this year.

McBride (4-2), a 25-year-old right-hander who had only an 0-2 record to show for two brief trials with the White Sox, gave up two singles and a double, walked five and struck out five against the Indians. The Angels backed him with 11 hits, three of them

Sears Files Against Knicks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Veteran pro basketball star Kenny Sears filed a suit Tuesday that would lead to the first court test of the option clause used in many professional sports contracts. In the suit, filed against his old team, the New York Knickerbockers, Sears charged that the National Basketball Association and its teams "agreed not to compete for the service of players, agreed to regulate and limit salaries, and agreed to blacklist players who refused to play for the teams by which they had been selected (drafted)."

Sears, 28, a 6-foot-9 sharpshooter and rebounder, jumped the Knicks earlier this year and signed with the San Francisco Saints of the new American Basketball League.

The Knicks sued to keep Sears. His counter-suit in U.S. District Court here charged the Knickerbockers with monopoly and violation of antitrust acts. He asked $30,000 treble damages from the Graham-Paige Corp., of Michigan, owners of the New York NBA team.

The Sears suit drew the legal battle lines between the established NBA and the fledgling ABL, scheduled to begin play next season.

Sears, a former Santa Clara University star, signed a $14,000 contract March 11 to play again for New York. Then, on April 20, he signed a 1961-62 contract to jump to San Francisco of the ABL at an undisclosed salary.

In his suit, Sears claimed he had not been free to negotiate with potential employers the past four years and that this had cost him $30,000. Under provisions of the Sherman and Clayton antitrust acts, Sears is seeking treble damages.

NBA contracts carry a one-year option beyond the contract date. As it works out in the NBA, the club has the sole right to deal with a contracted player for his next season's services and the player can deal for himself only if the team that holds his contract fails to exercise its option.

Summed up, Sears charged, NBA player procedure amounts to "involuntary servitude."

home runs—a pair of three-run shots by Ken Hunt and Earl Averill, and a solo by Leon Wagner in the first inning off loser Jim Perry.

The Orioles also did it with home runs, one by Dick Williams in the first inning and a two-run homer by Jerry Adair in the second. Southpaw Billy Pierce (1-3) was the loser, although striking out 12 in six innings. Billy Hoelt (1-1) won it with three innings of three-hit, shutout relief by Hoyt Wilhelm, who lowered his earned run average to 1.32 for 41 innings.

A two-run triple by Willie Taske wrapped it up for the Senators as they scored four in the eighth at Kansas City and beat Ray Herbert (3-3). Ed Hobaugh (2-2) was the winner, with relief help from Marty Kutyna when the A's came back with two runs in their eighth. Pitcher Don Larsen, converted into an outfielder by A's manager Joe Gordon after hitting a pinch homer Monday, was 6-for-4 and struck out with two on in the rally.

Al Barlick is the National League's oldest umpire in point of service. He joined its staff in 1940.

Possibility Arises For Revival Of Dixie Classic

Court Charges Group Thought Only Of Money

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The prosecutor in the conspiracy-extortion trial of Frank Carbo and four other men looked at the defendants and charged:

"They were not interested in the sport of boxing, but only in power and money. Then, turning to the federal court jury of 10 women and 2 men, Prosecutor Alvin H. Goldstein continued summing up his case Tuesday.

"You have been introduced to a sort of underworld," he said. "This is a world of perfidy, treachery, men who demand money they haven't earned and men who laugh when told someone is afraid of them."

The trial of Carbo and his co-defendants is now in its 13th week. The other defendants are Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Joe Sica, Louis T. Dragna and Truman Gibson Jr.

The five are accused of attempting to take over the contract and purses of ex-world welterweight champion Don Jordan.

Goldstein described Gibson, head of the former International Boxing Club of New York and Chicago, as having economic power of life and death over fight clubs throughout the United States.

Judge Ernest A. Tolin instructed the jurors to bring overnight bags to future sessions, indicating they may be locked up at some point in the final arguments by the eight attorneys involved.

Eight Named To Grid Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight former players—five of them all-Americans—and two coaches took their places in the Football Hall of Fame today, the final survivors of several hundred nominations.

The ex-All Americas include back Glenn Davis of Army, tackle Bob Reynolds of Stanford, halfback Charley (Choo Choo) Justice of North Carolina, guard Weldon Humble of Rice and guard Bob Sufridge of Tennessee.

Don Faurot, director of athletics at Missouri and the late Charlie Caldwell, who coached at Princeton and Williams, were the coaches named.

Halfback George McAfee of Duke, fullback Claude Reeds of Oklahoma and back Pat Pazzetti of Lehigh, also were elected.

The selections were announced Tuesday by the Honors Court of the foundation after nominations and voting by the entire membership of the Hall of Fame.

RALEIGH (AP)—The possibility that the Dixie Basketball Classic may be revived into a four-team tournament for this year and moved to another North Carolina city loomed today.

Athletic Director Bill Gibson of Wake Forest said Tuesday night Illinois, Duke and Wake Forest are interested in playing in the tournament if public demand is sufficient to justify reviving it.

The colorful Dixie Classic, one of the nation's top holiday sports attractions, was cancelled Monday by North Carolina and North Carolina State, two of the four host teams, to conform with a de-emphasized sports program. Duke and Wake Forest were the other host teams.

Illinois, Tulane, Stanford and Colgate had been scheduled to play in the 1961 Classic. Gibson said an Illinois spokesman telephoned him Tuesday and expressed interest in playing in the Classic if it is revived. "But they also had received feelers from other tournaments."

"I told him it would take us some days to evaluate the situation and could not make any commitment now," Gibson added. The Wake Forest official said he had discussed the Dixie Classic open dates with Duke Athletic Director Eddie Cameron.

He said Neil Bolton, manager of the Winston-Salem Coliseum, had called him Tuesday and said he would like to have the Classic in Winston-Salem.

Cameron issued a statement in which he said Duke has no intention of holding the Classic or any substitute tournament in Duke Indoor Stadium.

Cronin Favors Spitball Return

By BOB HOBBS BOSTON (AP)—Joe Cronin, president of the American League, said today he favors reinstatement of the spitball as a legal pitch in baseball.

"There's nothing dangerous or bad about the spitball," Cronin said. "I had to bat against both and I'll tell you a good knuckler ball is much harder to hit than a spitball."

Cronin's comments came after Chicago manager Al Lopez complained to the league office about alleged use of the spitball by Ryne Duren, the ex-Yankee relief pitcher recently traded to Los Angeles. The White Sox asked Cronin: "What are you going to do about the spitball?"

Although the pitch was outlawed in 1920 because it was ruled too difficult to control, a number of major league pitchers still use moist deliveries with water mopped from the brow, neck, and sweat-soaked uniforms or clammy hands.

Low Burdette, ace right-hander of the Milwaukee Braves, frequently has been accused of throwing a spitter. Preacher Roe of the Dodgers, after his retirement a few years ago, admitted in a signed magazine article that he frequently threw the spitter during his National League career.

"The rules committee, of course, must decide the spitball question," said Cronin. "Actually, Charlie Berry (former catcher) probably is the only umpire in our league who can even recognize the old spitball," said Cronin, so adept a shortstop and manager in his playing days that he was voted to the Hall of Fame.

"The spitball isn't more difficult to hit than the knuckler, which is legal, and doesn't break more sharply," he said. "The advantage is that it gives the pitcher more deception. In the old days, the pitcher went to his mouth behind cupped pitching and gloved hands. You never knew whether the next one was going to be a fastball, curve, knuckler or a real spitball."

Young Golfer To Compete In Orlando Tournament

WALLY HOWARD . . . to play in Florida tournament.

ORLANDO, Fla. — Wally Howard, 13-year-old ace Greenville golfer, will compete in the 15th National Pee Wee Golf Championships June 13 and 14 at Rio Pinar Country Club in Orlando, Fla. W. F. Cairns, tournament director, has announced. Sponsored by the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce and Minute Maid Company, leading producer of fresh frozen citrus concentrates, to encourage golfing interest among youngsters, the National Pee Wee is one of the nation's largest junior meets. Last year it attracted some 240 linksters from a dozen states and the Republic of Panama.

Based on his impressive tournament record, Howard is considered a top contender for the title in the 13-15 age division. He holds wins in the Donald Ross at Pinehurst, the Carolina Golf Association, Al Esposito, North State Junior, and both the Greenville and Salisbury Club.

Major League Stars

Gibbs To Sign Baseball Pact

GRENADE, Miss. (AP) — Jake Gibbs, already a legendary athlete in the Frank Merriwell tradition in Mississippi, today will sign a professional baseball contract at a bonus estimated near $100,000.

The two-sport All-America won't say which team he plans to sign with. It was speculated that the 22-year-old Gibbs would pick the New York Yankees of the American League or the Milwaukee Braves of the National League. Major league scouts followed both the diamond and gridiron exploits of Gibbs during the last two years of his college career. Baseball scouts even watched Gibbs' football performances in every

Pepsi Wins
Pepsi-Cola pulled into a tie for second spot in the Tar Heel League yesterday as Ed Flanagan tossed a one-hitter and his mates romped, 10-1, past the previously unbeaten Moose.

Flanagan also starred for the winners at the plate, connecting three times in four trips. He opened the Pepsi scoring in the first inning with a two-run homer, his fourth of the season. Pete Heller also aided Pepsi's scoring cause with three safeties in four tries. Pepsi collected nine hits and took advantage of three Moose errors. A five-run fifth inning put the game out of reach for the Moose.

The only hit off Flanagan came in the first inning when the Moose leadoff batter singled and scored before three batters could be retired.

Lions Edged
Kiwanis catcher Bob Brown broke up a scoreless tie at Guy Smith Little League Park as he singled across the winning run and Kiwanis downed the Lions, 1-0.

Jack Cobb scored the winning tally after he had singled and advanced to third on a passed ball and a Lion error.

The Lions' Bennett, who pitched the distance, struck out 12 Kiwanis batters and limited them to three hits, two by Brown. Kiwanis' Cobb fanned five but allowed only two hits in going the route.

Gurganus and Lautares got back-to-back singles for the Lions in the fourth but Cobb got out of the inning without allowing a run.

In beating the Lions, Kiwanis tightened its hold on first place in the North State League with its third straight victory without a loss.

Gibbs, who played third base for the Rebel baseball team and quarterbacked the football team, had been expected to sign a baseball pact earlier. However, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick ruled in March that teams must wait until final examinations, or if it came later, the collegiate season's end, before signing college players.

Catcher Walker Cooper hit nine grand slam home runs for five different National League teams during his long career. He hit four for the Giants, two for the Cubs and one each for the Cardinals, Reds and Braves.

Redlegs Bounce Back Near Lead

By ED WILKS

The Cincinnati Reds, a bounce back bunch, are with 1½ games of the National League lead again because of a kid right-hander high on the Rookie of the Year list and a stubborn southpaw who might well be the league's No. 1 relief ace.

Eight Cars Qualify Today For '600'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Eight cars will be qualified today for Sunday's second running of the $115,000 World 600-mile stock car race at the Charlotte Motor Speedway. Indications point to record breaking speeds during the trials.

The first two places in the 55-car starting field were decided last Sunday in two 100 mile races. Richard Petty of Randleman in a 1961 Plymouth and Joe Weatherly of Norfolk, Va., in a 1961 Pontiac won the first two places.

Today's qualifying will determine places No. 3 through 10. Qualifying will continue the rest of the week to determine the final lineup.

Speedway officials said Tuesday that 54 cars had been checked by NASCAR officials for the race. Another dozen or more are expected by Saturday when qualifying ends.

Drivers at the track warming up this week have been turning in a number of record-breaking, but unofficial times in negotiating the 1½-mile track. A pair of Daytona Beach, Fla. drivers, Marvin Panch and Glen (Fireball) Roberts, surpassed existing records in tuneups Tuesday. Panch rounded the track at 138.001 miles per hour, best of all times. Roberts, meanwhile, had a speed of 137.505 m.p.h. around the high-banked oval.

Panch was driving a 1960 Pontiac, the same one that he used to win the Daytona 500 last February. Roberts also drove a Pontiac, a 1961 model. Both cars were the work of mechanic Smokey Yunkin.

With more than a dozen drivers on the track Tuesday, these are some of the times in practice runs: David Pearson, Spartanburg, S. C., '61 Pontiac, 136.919; Weatherly, 136.363; Fred Lorenzen, Elmhurst, Ill., 136.220; Rex White, Spartanburg, 136.168; and Ned Jarrett, Conover, 135.338.

Tobs Hold Lead In Carolina League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wilson's Tobs increased their hold on first place in the Carolina League to 1½ games Tuesday night by defeating Winston-Salem 6-3 to sweep their two-game series.

Wilson's Joel Kiger scattered nine hits in winning his third game without a loss since coming from Charlotte of the Carolina League.

Raleigh split a doubleheader with Burlington. The Caps took a 4-1 victory in the nightcap behind the five-hit pitching of Tom Addington after the Indians captured the opener 7-4.

Dick Baris, who was bested by Addington, also was touched for only five hits. Raleigh's four runs came in the last two innings. Burlington had put together five hits in a four-run fifth inning to win the opening game.

Durham rallied for two runs in the eighth to defeat Greensboro 6-4 and gain a split in the two-game series. Chico Salmon banded a triple and scored what proved to be the winning run when catcher Larry Koehl's grounder was errored at first by Chuck Reidell.

Tonight's games: Greensboro at Wilson, Winston-Salem at Burlington and Durham at Raleigh.

Expulsion Set Off American Stock Exchange Probe

Editor's note—The nation's second largest stock market, the American Stock Exchange in New York, has been jolted by the case of Jerry and Gerard Re, impelled from the exchange by the Securities and Exchange Commission on charges of price rigging and market manipulations. The exchange itself now faces an extensive federal investigation. The following is the first of four articles exploring the situation.

American Exchange (Part 1)
By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the most important men in Wall Street held a meeting 17 months ago at the American Stock Exchange, close by Trinity Churchyard in lower Manhattan.

Their conference represented a showdown between the exchange and two of its most prominent members, Jerry and Gerard Re (pronounced Ray).

The Res, father and son, stood accused by their colleagues of flouting certain laws and regulations designed to protect the nation's 15 million investors.

The result—Jerry Re was barred from the exchange floor for just 30 days and Gerard was exonerated.

Among those who viewed the verdict with concern were officials of the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission, which soon began its own action against the Res with these recent results:

—On April 29, SEC investigators accused the Res of illegally selling nearly $10 million in stocks of nine corporations, of rigging market prices on a wholesale basis, of operating an "underground business combine" rooted in deceit and bribery, of doing "many millions of dollars of harm to thousands of unsuspecting investors."

The Res, according to their accusers, were guilty of the most flagrant market manipulation in the 26-year history of the SEC.

—On May 4, a lawyer for the Res told the commission that Jerry Re, 64, is a "truculent and arrogant old man" who could not be defended against the charges.

However, the lawyer argued that Gerard, 38, tried to do the right thing, did not willfully violate the law and should be dealt with less severely.

In less than 90 minutes, the SEC gave its answer: Jerry and Gerard Re were guilty as charged and, as a consequence, were expelled at once from the American Exchange and barred from employment in any phase of the securities business. This was the maximum penalty the commission could impose.

—On May 15, the SEC announced plans to investigate, behind closed doors, "the rules, policies, practices and procedures" of the American Exchange in regulating its members.

Officials said this will be the biggest investigation of a stock market since Richard Whitney, once president of the New York Stock Exchange, went to Sing Sing in 1938 for grand larceny. Whitney was not president of the exchange at the time of his conviction.

The purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether new laws or regulations are needed to protect the investing public.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Exchange and a former SEC commissioner, says he welcomes the inquiry "because of the unwarranted inferences which have been made by some" as a result of the Re case.

McCormick contends the American is the best-policed stock market in the world. He says special steps have been taken to make certain there will be no repetition of the Re situation. The SEC wants to find out if these steps are indeed adequate. Its officials recall the showdown in December 1959. Here's what happened at that time.

The Business Conduct Committee of the exchange concluded lengthy hearings on charges that the Res violated rules designed to prevent market operators from driving down stock prices by selling short. The committee recommended that the governors of the exchange find the Res guilty. Some top exchange officials agreed. These included McCormick and Joseph F. Reilly, then head of the Floor Transactions Committee and now chairman of the Board of Governors.

The Res, at that time, were no strangers to trouble. In mid-1957 they had been hit with a federal injunction prohibiting them from making allegedly illegal stock sales. A year later the SEC had uncovered what it considered evidence of still further violations but, as yet, had taken no direct action.

The governors exonerated the Res. Paul Porzelt, general partner in Emanuel Deetjen & Co. and then a governor, said he was disgusted.

Porzelt testified: "This is the second time that a committee made a report to the Board of Governors and the Board of Governors turned down a committee. It just left a bad taste in my mouth."

He said he was so disturbed he refused to seek a new term on the board.

After the governors' decision the Res headed for the elevator. Then Reilly, pointing at Jerry Re, said, "Hey, you! Come back here!"

Reilly called his floor committee into immediate session, found Jerry Re guilty of a variety of technical violations and suspended him for 30 days.

The Res still were almost out of it. Gerard was able to carry on the business. Jerry went ahead with plans for a winter vacation at his home in Boca Raton, Fla.

Then the SEC stepped in—and hasn't stepped out yet. (Tomorrow: Were others guilty?)

Highway Dept. Budget Is Next

RALEIGH (AP)—The Legislature's joint appropriations subcommittee planned to tackle the State Highway Department's budget today and hopes to wind up its work Thursday.

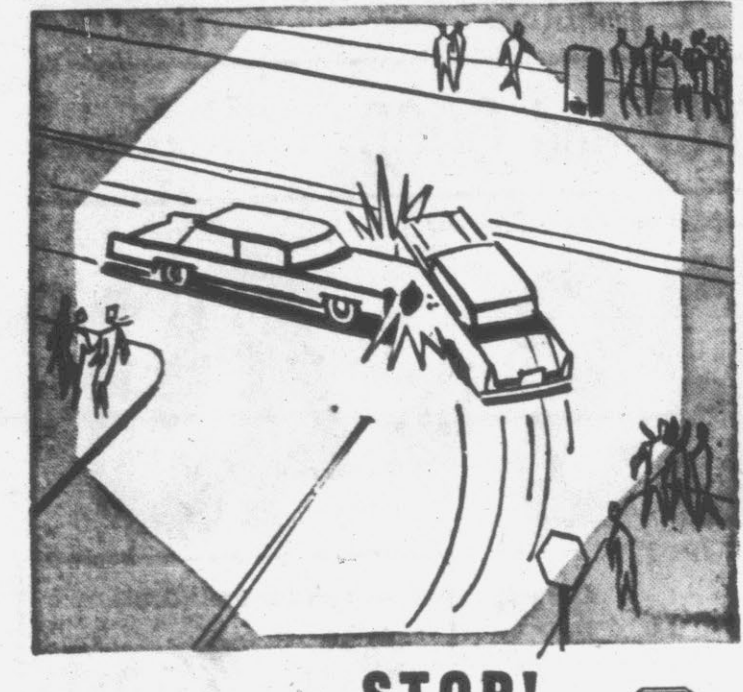

D. S. Coltrane, director of the State Department of Agriculture, said the group was to act on the recommended $960 million budget for the Highway Department for the next biennial. It also was to consider the department's requests for increased spending of $59 million for the two-year period.

Meanwhile, the subcommittee completed work Tuesday on the capital improvements budget as it approved $1.1 million in added spending for the next biennium. Most of the amount is for mental hospitals.

The group reversed a decision of Monday and disapproved a $415,000 item for building Western Carolina College. It was reconsidered after Coltrane said he thought the subcommittee should take a closer look at it.

The subcommittee approved $296,750 for building at Fayetteville State Teachers College; $100,000 for tobacco research buildings and land in the coastal plains area; $50,000 for buildings at a control crops research station at Clayton; and $709,000 for various improvements at Broughton, Cherry and Umstead hospitals, and O'Berry, Murdoch and Caswell schools. Most of these funds will be taken care of by bond issues.

Floriculturists say crabgrass is not likely to be a problem in bluegrass if the grass is cut two inches high or higher and given moderate fertilization.

Married, But He Is Still Same Durante

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Has marriage changed Jimmy Durante? No, I'm happy to report. He is still the same suave, lovable, gregarious self.
 "I ain't changed none," he commented over breakfast. "I still do the same things I used to. The only difference now is I got me two houses. Two houses! I must be outa my mind."
 When Jimmy married his long-time girlfriend Marge Little last December, he had a house and she had a house. Hers was a spanking modern up in the hills, his was a tile-roof traditional in the heart of Beverly Hills. They still have them: his and hers, each with a swimming pool.
 "It's the only thing we argue about," Jimmy lamented. "She don't wanna move outa her place. I can't move all my junk up dere. What am I goin' to do with all the plaques, all the photographs I got? I got no place to put 'em."
 So far it's a standoff. Every morning, Jimmy leaves the hilltop home for the 10-minute drive to the Beverly Drive house. The maid serves him breakfast and he conducts business from the house. After a day of appointments and rehearsals, he returns to the home on the hill.
 "Sometimes I come down here for a shower," Jimmy related. "That makes Marge mad. 'Why can't you take one here?' she sez. I happen to like the shower in this house, I'm useta it."
 Jimmy was in town briefly before leaving for a date at Harrah's Lake Tahoe. He has been traveling during most of his marriage thus far. He was on a night club tour and went to Italy for a cameo role in an Italian film, "The Last Judgment."

 "Marge went to Italy with me and to New York and Miami," he said. "But the rest of the time she stays home. What's she gonna do in Cincinnati? And besides, when she's not here, that means we got two houses empty. Ridiculous!"
 Jimmy was surprised to find himself recognized wherever he went in Italy—"An' I ain't made a film in eight-nine years."
 The movie-making was quite an experience.
 "I just worked 'tree days in the pitchuh. I play a guy who goes around sayin' 'the world's goin' to come to an end."
 "The director is this guy (Vittorio; Disiscan an' he's great. The only trouble was everybody else was talkin' Italian. So there was a minute wait between when they finished their lines and I realized it was time for mine."
 Jimmy's experience with Italian food put him in the hospital here for a checkup. "The food is great, but I can't take it no more," he said sadly.
 He was breakfasting on a pill, prune juice, boiled eggs, toast and tea. That would suffice until dinner. Marge is a good cook, he said, but she gets little chance to display her ability. His dinner is a small steak or piece of chicken. Cornflakes at bedtime round out his frugal diet.
 Despite this, he keeps going at full energy through the day and into the night. Even during breakfast, he answered a succession of phone calls. One of them was from Marge, up on the hill.
 "She sez, 'Git rid of da house,'" Jimmy reported.

To Steinbeck, The World Is In Shock; People Don't Think

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—"The world is in a state of shock," said author John Steinbeck. "That is why people don't think."

"You can't think when you're in a state of shock."
At 59, Steinbeck, rated among the best of the United States' living writers, has turned out 27 books. His latest novel, "The Winter of Our Discontent," will be published next month.

But for 30 years Steinbeck also has made an intensive study of the Middle Ages, and feels mankind is again entering that kind of historical period.

"Again we're seeing the break-up of old forms of authority—religious, governmental, even parental—before new ones are established," he said, puffing cheerfully on a pipe in the study established, he said, puffing cheerfully on a pipe in the study of his East Side home.

"That's why people are so restless and worried. They don't know what to do to."
There's even a new trend in cocktail parties here. Instead of showing up with their husbands or wives or mistresses or lovers, people bring their psychiatrists.

"Good Lord, the way we live."
But Steinbeck, who saw life in the raw in half a dozen jobs ranging from brick laying to war reporting, retains a wonderful gusto for living. Rumpiling his graying hair and beard, swiveling his glasses from his nose to the top of his head, he scribbles out 2,000 words of prose almost daily with a ball point pen in a series of old-fashioned ledgers.

"I used to write 3,000 words a day, but it got to be too exhausting," he said.

The ledgers in which he writes would be gold mines to future literary scholars — if Steinbeck kept them. But he says he throws them away.

"They don't seem awfully damn important to me," he said in the rapid-fire, half mumble with which he talks.

"I heard once that J.P. Morgan spent a fortune for three of Shelley's hairs. Ridiculous. If he had lived when Shelley did, he probably wouldn't have read a line of his poetry."

Hailed as a social reformer when "Grapes of Wrath" appeared in 1940, Steinbeck feels he has grown both more intense and more mature with the years.

"Everything in life is colored by your personality," he observed "but as you mature you become more aware of outside things, less concerned about yourself."

"There's nothing that cleans up like dying. If you stick around too long, they get tired of you. Sometimes I think I've stuck around too long."

"I may run out of gas, but not out of ideas as ideas have pups. It's when you're not doing anything that you don't have ideas."

Segregation Line Minimum Wage Bill's Sponsor Is Holding Fast Expects Senate Will Approve

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The first year of public school integration ends in two weeks with segregation lines holding fast.

Two New Orleans public schools — William Frantz and McDonogh No. 19 — were ordered desegregated by a federal court last Nov. 14. The net result was a total boycott at McDonogh — with one exception — and only a few white students attending Frantz.

The enrollment at McDonogh No. 19 Monday was only three Negro girls in the first grade — more than 500 attended McDonogh when it was an all-white school — and 13 white pupils and one Negro girl at Frantz.

Except for one occasion when a white drug store clerk sent his two sons to McDonogh, the school has been empty except for the three Negro girls. Attendance at Frantz has been somewhat erratic on white students, dipping to four or five at one state and as high as 253 at another.

Most of the white children who attended the two schools were assimilated into public schools in adjoining St. Bernard Parish, or to private and segregated schools set up in St. Bernard.

Walter Hasty To Address Grads

STOKES — Walter Hasty of Greenville will deliver the commencement message for the Stokes High School graduation ceremonies to be held Monday, May 29, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium, it was announced today.

On Sunday, May 28, Rev. Paul Callahan of the Stokes Methodist Church will deliver the bacchanalistic sermon, at 3 p.m. in the auditorium. Rev. Walter B. Jones, pastor of Pactolus Baptist Church, will give the invocation and the benediction at both services.

Special music will be presented during the graduation by the Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. T. G. Warren. Mrs. L. D. Hunnings is accompanist.

RALEIGH (AP) — Rep. John Kennedy of Mecklenburg said today that if his House-passed minimum wage bill "is going to have trouble in the Senate it will come in committee."

However, Kennedy said he felt the Senate will approve the bill, which would extend the state's 75 cents hourly minimum wage law to an additional 19,000 workers.

Kennedy added the State Labor Department has estimated that the bill would bring pay raises totaling about $10 million or more annually.

The House gave third reading approval to the measure Tuesday by a 92-21 vote following a flurry of debate.

Under Kennedy's bill the minimum wage law would be amended to cover firms with four or more workers. Present law applies to firms with six or more.

Meanwhile, Rep. Austin Jones of Ashe County introduced a bill to establish a garnishee law in North Carolina. The measure would allow creditors to collect directly from debtors' wages.

The House killed a bill which would have increased the cost of most hunting and fishing licenses. Under the measure, state resident hunting licenses would have gone up from $4.10 to $4.25. Combination hunting and fishing licenses would have been raised from $5.25 to $6.25, and county hunting licenses from $1.10 to $2.25.

House Judiciary Two Committee killed a bill that would have required youngsters seeking to get married without parental consent to wait 24 hours. The same committee also killed a bill that would have set up an all-nurse state licensing board for nurses to replace the present board which includes nurses, doctors and hospital administrators.

The House Wildlife Committee approved a bill, sponsored by the Sanford administration, to increase the Wildlife Resources Commission membership from 9 to 11.

Sen. Clarence Stone of Rockingham and Rep. Austin Jones of Ashe introduced bills to appropriate $200,000 for the purchase of an airplane to be used by state officials, including the governor. It also calls for a $20,000 appropriation to maintain and operate the plane.

REORGANIZATION PLANNED

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Delegates to the American Baptist Convention here June 14-18 will consider a plan to tighten up the denomination's organizational structure.

Will Get Degree At Fla. Southern

LAKELAND, Fla. — Bryant McGlohon of Greenville is among the 215 seniors who are due to receive degrees May 29 at the 76th annual commencement exercises of Florida Southern College.

He is a candidate for the Bachelor of Science degree in sociology. He is the son of Mrs. Nina McGlohon of Winterville.

Captain McGlohon is an Aircraft Commander of a Strategic Air Command KC-97 Stratocruiser stationed at McGuire AFB, N. J. He was permitted to attend a final semester at Florida Southern through the Air Force educational program known as "Bootstrap."

DIFFERENT BIRTHDAYS

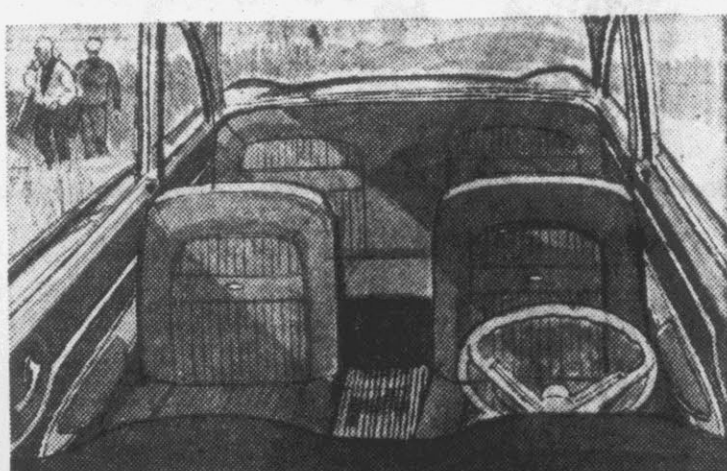

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP) — Twin sons born 10 minutes apart to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson will have birthdays on different days. The first son arrived at St. Clara's hospital at 11:55 p.m. His brother came 10 minutes later at 12:05 a.m.

White House Shadow Over Next UAW Negotiations

By A. F. MAHAN
 DETROIT (AP)—A shadow of the White House will loom above the bargaining table when the United Auto Workers Union and the automaker kingpins sit down next month to begin negotiations on new wage contracts.

Labor counts President John F. Kennedy among its friends. UAW President Walter P. Reuther plumped strenuously for his election.

The question is: If the going gets tougher than Reuther likes, can or will he ask the administration to intervene?

Auto industry spokesmen point out the Kennedy administration has stepped into virtually every major strike-producing dispute since it took office.

Time and again, the automakers have opposed bringing outside influences into what they term the processes of free, collective bargaining.

Reuther, on the other hand, has expressed willingness and even eagerness in the past to submit demands for what he terms "economic justice" to public mediation or even arbitration. A case in point was profit-sharing—which he sought and lost in 1958, when the now expiring contracts were written.

While at Reuther's prodding the UAW has adopted a set of flexible, rather than rigid, demands for this year's bargaining, the UAW made a shorter work week its No. 1 objective—to preserve jobs; make more of them.

Kennedy, however, is on record against less than a 40-hour work week. He contends 40-hour production is needed to promote economic growth.

Could Reuther press for government intervention to win his No. 1 goal — to which the President had objected in advance?

Maybe not, a union spokesman says, "but remember we are flexible and willing to go in any one or several directions to increase job security and job opportunity."

The auto contracts expire Aug. 31 at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. Bargaining talks begin the last week in June.

There is no doubt Reuther expects a tough time at the bargaining table. There are more than 900,000 unsold new cars in dealer lots and showrooms. Unemployment is high in the auto industry.

These are among major reasons for flexible union goals this time. There is no all-out drive for profit-sharing, as in 1958, or a guaranteed annual wage, as in 1955.

While the new car market still is glutted, sales have picked up in recent weeks. Reuther will carry to the talks knowledge that the United Rubber Workers won a 14 1/2-cent hourly wage increase this year; that the Ladies' Garment Workers got 14 cents and Dundee Cement Workers 30 cents over two years.

The automakers can counter these successes with the loss by the International Union of Electrical Workers at General Electric last year of the annual improvement factor, which gives auto workers an automatic 2 1/2 per cent raise yearly. Reuther has served notice the UAW intends to keep this in its contracts.

The last time Washington intervened in auto negotiations was in 1946. Neither side came away with what it wanted.

President Harry S. Truman called both sides to Washington in an attempt to settle the industry's longest strike—a 114-day one against General Motors.

Truman first proposed the UAW go back to work and GM reopen its plants. The union rejected this.

Then Truman suggested submission of the dispute to a public fact-finding committee. GM listened to the committee outline its purpose and then walked out.

The committee recommended an 18 1/2-cent hourly increase, compared with GM's last public offer of 13 1/2 cents. The union demanded the addition of another cent to the committee's recommendation, but finally settled for 18 1/2.

Both organized labor and the auto industry have former representatives in the President's Cabinet. Arthur J. Goldberg, secretary of labor, resigned as an AFL-CIO legal counsel; Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense, quit the presidency of the Ford Motor Co. to join the Cabinet.

Both sides have the President's ear at another level, too. Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., and Reuther are members of the President's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policies.

The automakers view with apprehension Goldberg's quick jump into the New York tugboat strike in January; his intervention in February in the strike of airline flight engineers, and in the strike of mechanics against National Airlines.

Government intervention, the automakers claim, has settled nothing in any of the three, and all the strike-causing issues still are alive.

Nathan P. Feinsinger, a law professor at the University of Wisconsin, heads both the presidential commission studying the flight engineers dispute and the arbitration board hearing the National argument.

Auto industry spokesmen recall Feinsinger said in the steel strike that developed during the Korean War that he was far more interested in keeping steel moving to defense plants than in preserving integrity of the dollar.

The automakers agree there are some college professors well versed in labor and its problems, but insist most are theorists and that theories often break down in actual practice.

Intensive Soviet Raid On Markets Can Hurt

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP)—American oilmen are well aware that when the Russian Bear goes on a raid he can be bruising. And today other American businessmen are studying the latest Soviet economic switch in tactics to see what's in it for them.

For some the announced policy of putting more emphasis on Soviet consumer goods may mean a chance for a new market.

If Soviet Premier Khrushchev means what he says about making more things than just heavy industry items, he may want to buy consumer goods machinery such as those that make textiles, shoes and appliances, or buy more raw materials and semi-finished materials that go into consumer goods.

U.S. exports to the Soviet Union and its European satellites already had hit a 13-year high in 1960 of $193.4 million. The new move could increase that still further.

For other American consumer industries it could mean in the long run a new competitor in the already crowded scramble for world markets. The Soviet home market might absorb all the new production for a while, but you can't count on it. You never know when Khrushchev may decide to withhold some consumer goods from his own people in order to raid an outside market.

And when the Soviet Union enters a world market for any reason—often political—it plays rough. Americans often find it hard to compete when all customary rules are scrapped.

Ask the oilmen.

Soviet oil has suddenly appeared at cut-rate prices in markets which American and Western European oil companies have been serving.

Russia can set any price it wants to. First, it doesn't have to fit prices to costs if political purposes outweigh any loss. Second, it can forego a profit without disturbing its stockholders (the Soviet government is the only one). Third, it can barter its cut-rate oil for local goods which it can either use itself or dump elsewhere (American private firms have much less leeway to do that).

Soviet oil is still but a trickle in the entire world flow. But it is its direction to certain markets to capture them or to disrupt U.S. trade that hurts.

'Car Smash' Was Smashing Success

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Ray Rollins, a Wake Forest senior, reports his "car smash" was just that—a smashing success.

He turned down a junkman's offer of $10 for his 1947 automobile and, instead, let students take whacks at the old car with a sledgehammer at 25 cents a stroke.

Rollins said the "car smash" gave the fellows a chance to let off exam tension. And—he made $18 on the old jalopy.

Allegheny Stockholders In The Dark As To New Policy

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle is over and where do we go from here is the question today facing stockholders in the Allegheny Corp. who voted a change in command of an empire controlling $6.7 billion.

John D. Murchison, 39, the Texan who successfully led the dissidents in an uphill assault, declined to go beyond a hint of his wishes.

He deferred to a meeting today of his new board of directors virtually all decisions on the day-to-day operation of the holding corporation and any radical change in the use of the millions of dollars at its disposal.

The 31-year-old corporation has paid only one dividend of a nickel, ridiculed by Murchison, and that was at the height of the battle this year for control.

Murchison voiced only one dictatorial dictum Tuesday in Baltimore after he had won control of Allegheny by nearly 654,000 votes out of more than nine million cast in this century's biggest struggle on the financial field.

That was that Allan P. Kirby, 68, the power behind and in front of the Allegheny Corp. since 1937, has not and will not be offered a spot on the board of directors.

"It's up to him" to make any peace overture, Murchison said. Kirby is the biggest single individual stockholder in Allegheny with one-third of its shares.

The most pressing problem before the nine new directors of Allegheny, including John Murchison and his brother Clint, 37, is selection of a "chief executive officer," whether he be designated president or chairman.

John Murchison said nobody has been offered the post but that he hoped it "would be filled quickly."

As for himself or brother Clint becoming chairman, John hedged by saying, "Let's see what happens."

It was the same when he was pressed for what he may have in mind for changing or diversifying the investments of Allegheny Corp., which makes nothing but controls other companies.

"We'll have to analyze" was his stock answer.

He did say he personally favors a split up to 10-1 in the stock of Investors Diversified Services and increasing its annual dividend of $6 a year.

The Murchisons ran IDS, which manages mutual funds amounting to more than $3.7 billion, for five years until Kirby ousted them last year. The Murchisons own 15 per cent of the IDS stock personally and Allegheny owns close to half.

Allegheny also has substantial interest in three railroads, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Missouri Pacific.

Cancer Society's Memorial Plan Gains Popularity

A plan whereby people can tell those in sorrow they are honoring the departed by giving help to the living, is made available by the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. C.L. Lupton, chairman of the Memorial Program of the Pitt County unit of the American Cancer Society, says the memorial gift program is gaining in popular acceptance.

"When a memorial gift is made to the American Cancer Society," she says, "a Memorial Card is sent to the family of the deceased. The card gives the name of the person in whose memory funds have been donated, and the name of the contributor."

An acknowledgment of memorial contributions is always made. "We are likely to feel too helpless and hopeless when cancer claims the life of one dear to us, a relative or a friend. We feel a need to act, to do something, to strike back at the disease, which has caused so much misery," says Mrs. Lupton.

"The Memorial Program demonstrates our most practical approach in meeting this need," she continues. "In the laboratory, in the hospital, in the clinic, in the medical school . . . and in our own communities, the American Cancer Society is working to fulfill the great hope of eventual triumph over the menace of cancer."

A number of community chairmen in Pitt County have been named in connection with the Memorial Program activities.

Mrs. Dawson Jefferson in Farmville, Mrs. Adrain Gardner in Fountain, Mrs. Ronald Riddick in Bethel, Mrs. Harold Watson in Stokes, Mrs. Cecil J. Satterthwaite in Faison, Mrs. Elmore Hooges in Grimesland, Mrs. Gentry Porter in Simpson, Mrs. Keith Brunson in the Chicod School Community, Mrs. Thurman Williams in Grifton, Mrs. Barrett Sumner in Ayden, Mrs. Roger Stox in Winterville, and Mrs. C.L. Lupton in Greenville.

Mrs. Lupton said the estate's assets now total $889,405, but that the actor's interests in several motion pictures are expected to increase the value by more than $1 million.

The former actress' petition said her expenses have increased since birth of the actor's 2-month-old son, John Clark.

The U. S. public spends more than three million dollars a day for its newspapers.

Monday night's meeting also heard a report of the District Meeting held in Wallace Sunday. The district event was largely devoted to a training session for officers and committee chairmen. The Wallace lodge was host at dinner.

Eleven members of the Greenville lodge attended the District affair, they were: Gov. Charles McAndrew, Prelate Merrill Bynum, Secretary E. M. Baldrée, Max Pollard, J. E. Stauffer, A. A. Carrigan, Sidney Spain, Norman Garrison, Robert Russ, S. L. Rowland and Dick Everett.

NEW TRUSTEE of the Greenville Moose Lodge, J. J. Stauffer (left) is installed by Secretary Ed Baldrée.

J. J. Stauffer was elected and sworn in as a two-year trustee of the Greenville Moose Lodge at the regular meeting Monday night.

Stauffer is a charter member of Lodge 885, and served as Governor during the 1952-53 term. He has filled the post of Past-Governor for two terms as well as serving on the building committee during two projects undertaken by the fraternal organization.

His election now fills the board of trustees which suffered a vacancy with the death of George Johnson. Other trustees are Lacy

Harrell and Ell Bloom.

Monday night's meeting also heard a report of the District Meeting held in Wallace Sunday. The district event was largely devoted to a training session for officers and committee chairmen. The Wallace lodge was host at dinner.

Eleven members of the Greenville lodge attended the District affair, they were: Gov. Charles McAndrew, Prelate Merrill Bynum, Secretary E. M. Baldrée, Max Pollard, J. E. Stauffer, A. A. Carrigan, Sidney Spain, Norman Garrison, Robert Russ, S. L. Rowland and Dick Everett.

Federal Government Is Considering Bargaining With Employees' Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's biggest employer, the federal government, is seriously considering entering into formal bargaining relations with its employees' unions.

Up to now federal agency dealings with the unions have been on a hit-or-miss basis. The unions claim as members about one-fourth the approximately 2.4 million federal employees.

Some branches of the government work closely with the unions. A few agencies, such as the Tennessee Valley Authority, have formal agreements. In others the unions are kept pretty much at arm's length.

President Kennedy is represented as feeling the time has come for the government to adopt a formal policy for dealing with employe organizations that is more in keeping with what federal law requires of private employers.

Chairman John W. Macy Jr. of the Civil Service Commission, confirms that a study is being made looking toward issuance of a formal union relations policy. It is indicated no such policy will be issued for several months.

Everybody concerned, including the unions, accept the fact that public employes won't have any right to strike or picket. As for wages, Congress establishes rates for classified or white collar federal workers. Wage boards establish rates for laborers, geared to what is paid in private employment.

This leaves the field of working conditions, promotions, demotions, overtime and the like. The unions want formal recognition so they can bring grievances or be consulted on upcoming policy changes.

Among questions being considered are whether there should be written agreements, whether one or several unions can be recognized by one agency, whether grievance arguments should be settled by arbitration, and whether the government should check-off dues for the unions from wages.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg has borrowed Ida Klaus, a mediator with the New York City labor department, to recommend how far a recognition policy should be applied. Miss Klaus is a former chief attorney for the National Labor Relations Board.

"Our talks are exploratory right now," said one official, "but I think everyone is disposed to adopting some sort of recognition policy. We can't duck and put this off any longer."

The prospect of a new and more union-conscious federal policy has chilled the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

The current issue of the chamber's "Labor Relations Letter" says the move would "even shock" the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt who in 1937 said government employes "should realize that the process of collective bargaining, as usually understood cannot be transplanted into the public service."

Sanford School Tax Vote Near

RALEIGH (AP)—The possibility of a vote on Gov. Terry Sanford's tax proposal to finance his $70 million school improvements program loomed at today's meeting of the House finance subcommittee.

Rep. Shelton Wicker of Lee, chairman of the full committee and the subcommittee, told the group Tuesday. "The time has come now to decide on what bill we're going to report out and try to get down to that in the next day or so."

He expressed hope the subcommittee members would "at least start on it" at today's meeting. The Senate finance subcommittee already has approved a revenue bill which would produce about $74 million during the next biennium. In its action last week, the subcommittee approved most of Gov. Sanford's tax program including his proposal to place the 3 per cent sales tax on food.

Meanwhile, a sub-subcommittee recommended to the House finance subcommittee Tuesday that sales by the state and its subdivisions not be subject to the sales tax as Sanford had proposed.

No Major Issue To Be Taken Up

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—State Department Soviet expert Charles E. Bohlen said Tuesday President Kennedy won't discuss major issues with Soviet Premier Khrushchev at Vienna, because these issues affect many countries not just the United States and the Soviet Union.

Bohlen, who will accompany the President to next month's summit meeting made his remark in a speech prepared for a Rockhurst College dinner. The college awarded him an honorary degree.

Pilgrimage To Mecca Sees Climax Tonight

CAIRO (AP)—A huge throng of 750,000 Moslems gathers tonight on Mt. Arafat just outside Mecca for a service climaxing the annual pilgrimage that is the most sacred event in a devout Moslem's life.

Many of the pilgrims are Saudi Arabians. The rest come from throughout the Moslem world. There are 55,000 from the United Arab Republic, the largest foreign contingent.

The Saudi ambassador in Cairo, Mohamed Elzoghbeiy, said there have been no epidemics so far this year among the pilgrims and all hospitals are on the alert to care for any sick.

Even so, it is expected that 500 or more pilgrims will die near Islam's holiest cities, the birthplace of the prophet Mohammed. That is the usual number of deaths from sunstroke or infirmities of very aged pilgrims, many of whom arrive hoping to die inside the holy city.

The pilgrims have poured into Jidda — a port on the Red Sea near Mecca — by land, sea and air. For the past fortnight, 30 planes have landed daily at Jidda bringing pilgrims from all over the world. The harbor is crowded with big passenger ships and tiny sailing dhows that ferry pilgrims from the Sudan, Ethiopia and Somaliland across the Red Sea.

Thousands come on foot from Yemen and Aden to the south, bringing provisions on their backs.

Most of the pilgrims have saved for a lifetime to make this trip. For the pilgrimage they shave their heads and don a white costume which is worn until the pilgrimage is completed.

On arrival in Mecca, the pilgrims walk seven times around the Kaaba—the chief shrine of the pilgrimage—and on the last time kiss the sacred black stone that has been a revered object since long before Mohammed.

Afterward the pilgrims march to Mt. Arafat, bringing along provisions of canned fruit, meat, ice water or bottled drinks. Some families bring a lamb or goat to sacrifice.

Thursday the pilgrims begin four days of feasting. During it they will visit the town of Mona to throw pebbles at an object beside the road representing Satan.

The Saudi government spends four months preparing for the pilgrimage. Health regulations are rigid. Each pilgrim must carry certificates proving vaccination against yellow fever, cholera and other illnesses.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market sagged early this afternoon as American Telephone took a sharp loss on news that the government has started an antitrust investigation of the company. Trading was fairly active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 60 to 249.50 at noon with industrials off 1.50, rails off .30 and utilities 20.

Further sharp declines by Du Pont and General Motors, still reacting from the Supreme Court decision that Du Pont must get rid of its holdings of GM, accentuated the decline.

Changes were fairly narrow throughout the rest of the list but the retreat of the three heavily-weighted blocs dragged down the popular market averages.

Rails were up at the start on news of an upturn in freight traffic but they sold off as the market declined. Airlines, tobacco and aircrafts kept moderately ahead on balance while most other groups showed slight downturn.

AT&T was down 7 1/2, then recovered slightly.

NEW YORK (AP)—An unofficial committee of six ran the government during the two months following President Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955, says Sherman Adams.

The stand-in group, said Adams, consisted of himself, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, Treasury Secretary George Humphrey and presidential aide Wilton Persons.

Adams, who served as Eisenhower's assistant from 1952 to 1958, makes this disclosure in an installment of his memoirs, appearing in Life magazine.

Writing of the days following the first of three Eisenhower illnesses while he was in the White House, Adams says:

"There never was a move on the part of any of us to 'seize power' or to take an unwarranted action that Eisenhower would have disapproved. We made sure that normal activities of the government went on as usual."

Adams writes that after Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955, the President "placed in his file a letter to the vice president covering an understanding between them of the procedure that would be followed in the event of a presidential disability."

Adams said he never saw the agreement, but added that Eisenhower told him about it.

It provided, Adams writes, that "if the president became disabled, he would inform the vice president who would then serve as acting president until the period of disability ended."

On Tour

Two Pitt Countians are among 30 industry hunters accompanying Gov. Sanford this week on a swing through the Ohio Valley called the "Ohio Valley Industrial Mission."

Dr. C. Sylvester Green, executive director of the Pitt County Development Commission, and T. W. (Tommy) Willis of Farmville, director of the Farmville Economic Council, are on the week-long tour fashioned to lure industry to the Tar Heel state.

The group's itinerary carried it from Pittsburgh Monday to Columbus, Ohio, yesterday. Today the touring industry-hunters are visiting Dayton; tomorrow, Indianapolis; and Friday, Cincinnati.

Progressing On New Ballpark

AYDEN—Progress is continuing on the Little League Baseball Park here, with lighting completed during the two weeks following President Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955, says Sherman Adams.

The park is under construction on the grounds of the Ayden Elementary School grounds, with the project spearheaded by the Ayden Jaycees, assisted by other local organization.

A fence for the field is also under construction, and when completed, will have some 33 ads.

DANGEROUS THEFT

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—Whoever stole Phil Le Clair's boat had better know how to swim. Le Clair told police it had a large hole in the bottom and will sink when pelted in water.

AT&T Under Antitrust Investigation By Govm't

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has started an antitrust investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Lee Loevinger, assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's antitrust division, said that as a result of "a number of complaints concerning activities" of AT&T, the division is investigating various aspects of the telephone industry.

Stock in AT&T dropped more than $3 a share in early trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Loevinger disclosed the investigation in a letter to E. L. Hageman, president of the Western Union division of the Commercial Telegraphers Union. Hageman had complained specifically that a new Telpak service is tending to take business from the Western Union Telegraph Co.

Telpak is a leased wire service offering various forms of communication.

Hageman said that although AT&T was forced to divorce itself from the telegraph communications business many years ago, it retained the word "telegraph" in its company name and by 1960 was taking in 4 per cent of the total telegraphic revenues in the United States through teletype-writer and other forms of service.

"The time has come for our government to take action against this gigantic communications monopoly," Hageman wrote the Justice Department. "The Bell System has had a monopoly in voice communications for many years. It should be confined to that field and should be compelled to get out of the record (written) communications field."

In New York, an AT&T spokesman said the company had not heard directly from the Justice Department on the subject. He said the company did not have a copy of the Loevinger letter.

The company said it is still offering Telpak although only under certain restrictions in compliance with an FCC directive.

In April the company estimated there were 100 customers using Telpak.

Submits Low Bid For Conetoe Creek Bridge

A Fayetteville contractor yesterday submitted a low bid of $27,871.72 for construction of a bridge over Conetoe Creek near Penny Hill.

The Kitchin Construction Company will have its low bid reviewed by the Highway Commission at its meeting Friday along with low bids on 25 projects across the state totaling $5,140,702.09.

The Conetoe Creek bridge location is on County Road 1001 between Penny Hill and Bell's Crossroads.

Bids were received in Raleigh yesterday by the State Highway Department.

Grifton Mishap Brings Charges

GRIFTON—Charges of failure to yield the right of way were made against two drivers here Monday morning as the result of a traffic accident near the intersection of Queen Street and Highway 11, Police Chief Luther Lewis reported.

Drivers were identified as Miss Shirley Rose Coward, 22, of Rt. 1, Grifton, driving an automobile, and Luther Lovick, 57-year-old Negro, of Grifton, driving a truck.

Chief Lewis said the accident occurred when the truck, proceeding up Queen Street, was turning left into the Cities Service Station, and the automobile driven by Miss Coward turned from Highway 11 onto Queen Street, collided. He reported that the automobile struck a rear wheel of the truck.

About $150 damages resulted to the automobile, Chief Lewis said. The case is scheduled to be tried on Thursday, May 25, in Grifton Recorders Court.

Henry D. Glisson Funeral Thursday

Mr. Henry C. Glisson, 45, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning at 6:40, after suffering a heart attack a short while earlier.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Thursday afternoon at four o'clock by his pastor, the Rev. Robert B. Crawford. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park.

Mr. Glisson, son of the late James Henry and Dora Roebuck Glisson, was born and reared in the Stokes community and attended the Stokes school. He was married to Miss Mae Ross of near Stokes in 1937 and had lived in Greenville since 1940, where he was employed by the City of Greenville. He was a member of the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church and the Withaloochee Tribe No. 35, Improved Order of Red Men of Greenville.

Surviving are his wife; three brothers, Arthur Glisson of Norfolk, Va., Bernice Glisson of Greenville and Leonard Glisson of Winterville; two sisters, Mrs. Russell Davenport of So. Norfolk, Va. and Mrs. J. D. Gurganus of Williamston; and a half-brother, Willie Roebuck of Robersonville.

Funeral Thursday For John D. Vick

Mr. John David Vick, 78, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Tuesday night at 7:50 following three years of declining health and critically ill for the past six days.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Thursday afternoon at two o'clock by the Rev. P. R. Bradshaw, Pentecostal Holiness minister of Greenville. Burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park.

Mr. Vick lived in Pitt County near Farmville for many years and moved back to Pitt County from Washington County in 1954. He was a member of Carson Memorial Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Letha Byrd Vick; two daughters and a son by a former marriage, Mrs. W. G. Rose of Kenly, Mrs. Harry Lee Morris of Grifton and 11 grandchildren; three great grandchildren; two brothers, Jim and Charlie Vick of Farmville; and a sister, Mrs. Jim Corbett of Fountain.

Car Rams Bus, 36 Are Injured

KINSTON, N.C. (AP)—An automobile slammed into the rear of a crowded commuter's bus near here early today, knocking the bus 150 feet broadside down a highway. Thirty-six persons were injured, but only four were hospitalized.

Officers said the car, driven by Mrs. Irma S. Gaskill of Maysville, failed to stop for a stop sign and plowed into the rear of the bus.

The accident, near the intersection of State Highway 41 and U.S. 250, propelled the bus down the highway broadside, tipping it on its side. The accident occurred about 18 miles from here.

Mrs. Gaskill and a passenger in her car, Rebecca Ireland, were both hospitalized with their injuries. They were reported in fair condition.

Only two of 34 injured bus passengers were hospitalized. They were Ralph Chestnut and Charlie Riggsbe, both of Kinston. Neither were in serious condition.

Other bus passengers were treated at hospitals and clinics for minor injuries and released.

The bus, owned by the Rouse Transportation Co. of LaGrange, was headed south toward Camp Lejeune. Its passengers commute daily the 50 miles between Kinston and the Marine base.

Dr. Fuller To Serve Staff Of UNC Institute

CHAPEL HILL — Professor Frank Fuller of East Carolina College will serve on the special staff for the National Defense Education Act Counseling and Guidance Institute in the School of Education at the University of North Carolina.

The institute opens July 19 and continues through August 29. Those enrolled will work toward improving their proficiency as counselors in secondary schools and will receive credit toward graduate counselor certification upon successful completion of the program.

George S. McRorie of Robersonville will be a participant in the training program.

Enrollees have been selected from staff members of secondary schools in North Carolina and nine other states.

Each enrollee from a public school will receive a stipend of $450 in addition to a weekly allowance for dependents and free tuition and fees as stipulated in the NDEA program.

Fellowship Club Gathers Today

AYDEN — The annual meeting of the John Pierce Fellowship Club opened this morning at Camp Contentment near here. It was expected to attract prominent citizens from throughout the county, including U.S. Representative Herbert Bonner.

Registration for the event began at 10:30 this morning, with a barbecue dinner being served at 1 p.m. Camp Contentment is located southwest of Ayden on Contentment Creek.

The John Pierce Fellowship Club was organized years ago by John Pierce, a merchant of Ayden. S. F. Peterson, mayor of Ayden, is president.

GRIMESLATION — Pitt County Training School's Baccalaureate Sermon is scheduled for 7 p.m. Sunday instead of 8 p.m. as reported by yesterday's edition of The Daily Reflector.
