Destruction Of Communications Stations Inspires Sabotage Fear

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Dynamite blasts that shattered three lonely, unattended microwave and cable relay communications stations in Utah and Nevada Sunday touched off a multi-state manhunt and produced a war-like nervousness. The question of whether the mysterious explosions were set by saboteurs, or vandals, was on many lips. Within hours after the dawn explosions, FBI agents, armed National Guard troops and area police began hunting the person or persons, who for a moment cut a nerve in America's civil defense communications system. The damaged stations all are located in the desert of western Utah and eastern Nevada and along U.S. highway 40-50A. The stations are part of the American Telephone and Telegraph system. The first blast, at 4:55 a.m., demolished a microwave tower three miles west of Wendover on the Utah-Nevada line. The second, 55 minutes later, collapsed a cable relay station at Knolls, Utah, 40 miles further east. The third, 55 minutes later, crippled a microwave tower at Cedar Mountain, 20 miles further east in Utah. The unmanned stations transmit radio waves up to 30 miles on a line of sight basis—coast to coast, border to border. The three blasts snipped out a portion of this telephonic backbone, but automatic equipment immediately shuttled messages to another system. Associated Press circuits in the West were disrupted for a time. Telephone company officials said repairs would be made by tonight. National Guardsmen in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Nevada and New Mexico searched and then stood guard over similar stations. The close-mouthed FBI had a blanket "no comment" for every question about their investigation. Salt Lake Tribune photographers were allowed to take pictures of damaged stations and outsiders of those undamaged, but not interiors stuffed with huge batteries, control panels and other equipment. At each blast site, broken steel hunks of concrete and splintered lumber littered the scene. Investigators searched the debris for clues. Unexploded TNT, some of it wrapped in military olive drab, was found at one site. Howard Blood of the Mountain States T&T said: "We don't know whether it's a crackpot, or what." But he called it sabotage. So did Sheriff J. C. Harris of Elko County, Nev. Bob McAdam of the Bell Telephone Co. in Nevada commented: "It appears to be an isolated situation and does not appear to be any national plan." The military took no chances. The Utah guard went on alert status within minutes after the first report. Bremerton Navy shipyard, Sand Point Naval Air Station, Seattle, and Ft. Lewis, Tacoma, all in Washington state, took increased security precautions.

Texas Puts Republican In Senate

GOP Candidate For Lyndon Johnson's Seat Wins By Slim Margin

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The victory of John G. Tower, the first Republican senator to be elected by Texas voters, today left gleeful GOP workers thankful they rang so many doorbells and Democrats wondering what went wrong. Tower, 35, a former college professor, won Saturday's special U.S. Senate race by 8,000 votes over William A. Blakley, a Democrat who holds the Senate seat on an interim appointment. He had 444,815 votes or 50.45 per cent of the 881,630 votes counted to Blakley's 436,815. Approximately 7,600 votes—not enough to change the outcome—were yet to be reported. When Lyndon B. Johnson, who had campaigned successfully both for the vice presidency and for reelection as senator in November, resigned his Senate seat early this year, Tower was one of the first to announce for the special April 4 election. A political unknown when he quit as professor at Midwestern University last year to run on the Republican ticket against the Senate majority leader, Tower piled up 926,653 votes against Johnson's 1,306,625. It was the largest vote ever given a Texas Republican in a state race. Tower was the only Republican in the April 4 election. The state Republican organization threw its full force into the campaign. More than 70 Democrats—including Blakley and four others with proven support—failed in the same election. Tower led the first election with 31.5 per cent of the 1,100,000 votes cast, followed by Blakley with 18 per cent. The other four major Democrats polled 47 per cent. Political professionals say that the Democrats made their first mistake when they failed to recognize Tower's strength and failed to narrow the field of candidates before the April 4 election. Had the Democrats been able to concentrate on a moderate who could have appealed to both liberal and conservative wings of the party, Tower might never have gotten into the runoff.

$450,000 Blaze At School Laid To Teen-Age Boy

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—A police captain said today that a $450,000 elementary school fire here was "set for spite" by a teenage boy.

Police Capt. W. C. Johnson said James Joseph Franklin, 16, of High Point, admitted setting fire to the Ray Street Elementary School, shortly before noon Sunday, and to the Star Finance Co. office early Sunday night. Only slight damage was done to the loan company.

Capt. Johnson said the boy admitted breaking into the two buildings and setting fire to them when he failed to find money.

Officers said Johnson was arrested at his home at 11:15 p.m. The boy was being held in lieu of $20,000 bond. He was charged with unlawful burning of a building. He was not charged with arson because the buildings were not occupied.

Capt. Johnson said the school fire was started by a series of small paper fires throughout the building. The policeman said wax, similar to that used in the finance company fire, was found on the boy's clothing.

The school fire, reported shortly before noon, destroyed the 38-year-old brick building. The finance company fire was reported at 7:57 p.m. No damage estimate was available. The fire was started by plugging paper in a corner, pouring wax over it, and then igniting it.

Police, still investigating, said there is a possibility Franklin may be linked with other recent fires.

The 500 students from the Ray Street School will attend classes at the Montlieu Avenue Elementary School on a split shift basis for the remaining few days of school.

Tension In South Africa As Strike Gets Under Way

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A three-day strike called by political leaders of South Africa's nonwhite, voteless majority opened today but not with universal success. The strike is due to run until South Africa cuts ties with Britain and becomes a republic Wednesday.

Violence broke out against bus lines Sunday night in some areas, notably Durban and Port Elizabeth, but there were no immediate reports of trouble this morning.

South African police and troops were mobilized to protect Negroes, mulattos and Indians who wanted to work, and many of them chose to report as usual. Thousands, however, stayed at home in Johannesburg, Port Elizabeth, Durban and some other major cities.

The South African radio, government-controlled, quoted police and military officials as saying "the natives are going to work as usual. There is no support for the strike call in Johannesburg."

But a high percentage of the Negroes employed in this city obviously stayed away from their jobs. Hardly any were to be seen on the streets that normally are crowded with them during the morning rush hour. The railroad station looked deserted when it should have been jammed.

The South African Press Association estimated only a fifth of the usual number of nonwhite workers came in by train.

On the eve of the strike, Negro mobs blocked roads in the Durban and Port Elizabeth areas and stoned the buses of workers. Road blocks were formed of gasoline drums, poles and rocks. A Negro bus driver was shot and wounded while steering his bus through a stone-throwing gang in Port Elizabeth. Frightened drivers wanted to quit, but police promised them protection and escorted the buses.

The strike was timed to climax Wednesday, when South Africa becomes a republic outside the British Commonwealth. The demonstration was in protest against Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's refusal to discuss demands that the right to vote and serve in the government be extended from the country's 3 million whites to its 11 million Negroes, 1.5 million persons of mixed blood and 500,000 Indians. Every policeman and every soldier in South Africa, plus 5,000 reservists called up for the emergency, were mobilized to back up Verwoerd's promise that any nonwhite wanting to work would be given protection.

White families were armed for self-defense, and had food supplies against any shortage.

Highway Death Toll Inching Up

The highway death toll held to a course today which could set a record for the nation's extended Memorial Day weekend.

An ominous aspect was absence of the expected substantial mid-holiday slump—between the deadly peaks at the opening and closing hours.

By mid-morning today the figures showed traffic deaths were occurring at a rate of 4.3 an hour. This is the same average hourly rate maintained throughout 1960 when 38,200 traffic fatalities were counted for the year.

The 38,200 total, however, embraces deaths from injuries weeks and months after the date of the accident. The current count covers only deaths over the holiday period.

Recess Extended On Laos Parleys Held At Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—British and Soviet co-chairmen of the 14-nation conference on Laos announced today the negotiations will stand in recess for another day or two. The announcement came as something of a surprise, since a British spokesman earlier had said the talks would resume today.

There has been no meeting since last Wednesday.

A British spokesman said Malcolm MacDonald, head of the British delegation, asked for the additional recess, after a meeting this morning that lasted almost four hours with Georgh Pushkin, head of the Soviet delegation.

Presumably they were deadlocked on the key issue of sending instructions to the international control commission troops supervising the spotty cease-fire in Laos.

The British spokesman said there was no sign of agreement yet on whether to respond to a trust commission request for new instructions from the Geneva conference.

Sir Frank Roberts, British ambassador in Moscow, is seeking Soviet consent to send new instructions to the Indian-Canadian-Polish control commission. The Western powers want to tell the commission in Laos specifically to investigate reports of major cease-fire violations there.

The United States says the pro-Communist Pathet Lao is violating the cease-fire by continuing offensive operations against the pro-Western royal Laotian government.

Annual Memorial Service Held For Honored Dead

A moderate-sized crowd gathered at Greenwood Cemetery here yesterday to honor the nation's war dead in annual Memorial Day services sponsored by local American Legion Post 39.

Approximately 300 persons gathered in the cemetery to hear an address by First District Representative C. Bonner and watch the lowering of the Colors accompanied by a 21-gun salute.

In paying homage to U. S. soldiers who have died in defending America since the Civil War, Rep. Bonner said, "We cannot show our true patriotic gratitude by merely paying lip-service," and urged, "There should be a firm determination to hold fast to our principles by tightening our belts to keep America strong and free."

Bonner praised the "many men from Pitt County and North Carolina who died in the cause of human freedom." He called on his audience: "As North Carolinians and as Americans, we are dedicated to that cause. All of us should have the conviction that this cause is worthy of our sacrifice."

He described sacrifice as "a consistent and profound adherence to a high purpose of life" and urged "each one of us" to "re-evaluate our high purpose" and to "chop down internal vices which can consume our freedom, even before the destruction by an enemy nuclear bomb."

Bonner warned against the threat of communism—"the cancerous ideology"—and the dangers of becoming listless in public affairs. "The greatest threat to our democratic way of life is lethargy and complacency on the part of citizens. World events are moving too rapidly for us to become lax and complacent in the everyday obligations that should be performed in return for the air of freedom we breathe daily."

He said Americans can be both realistic and optimistic even though "the world is in a terribly critical condition." He described the only method through which "we can pay our debt to our war dead is peace."

The answer to obtaining a peaceful world, Bonner said, "lies within each of us—the answer of faith. Faith alone, of course, will not satisfy the need, but it certainly is the basic ingredient to the formula to end all wars."

Following the congressman's address, seven National Guardsmen fired the 21-gun salute to the war dead. Boy scouts from Troop 124, sponsored by Battery A of the local National Guard unit, lowered and folded the flag.

National Guardsmen participating represented Battery A and were under the direction of Capt. Charles E. Camp.

Post 39 Commander Ernest L. Avery presided and Rev. Daniel E. Huneycutt, pastor of the Arlington St. Baptist Church, rendered the invocation. The Arlington St. church's Choral Group, directed by Mrs. M. J. Moore, furnished music for the services.

Budget Hike Turned Down For Information Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's request for a bigger budget for the U.S. Information Agency was turned down today by the House Appropriations Committee which trimmed it $16.69 million.

The reduced budget did not, however, affect the Voice of America, the information agency's program of foreign broadcasting.

The President originally sought $151.48 million for the USIA, this country's foreign propaganda organization. Last Thursday, in a special message to Congress, he asked that "the funds previously requested for this effort not only be approved in full but increased."

The requested increase amounted to about $3 million. The committee action was included in a $751.3-million bill financing the State and Justice departments, the USIA, the federal courts and the Civil Rights Commission for the fiscal year starting July 1.

All the agencies except the Civil Rights Commission were cut.

Post Office Will Observe Holiday

Postmaster J. Knott Proctor reminded today the Greenville Post Office will be closed Tuesday in observance of Memorial Day.

Parcel Post Special Delivery and Special Handling mail will be delivered throughout the city, otherwise there will be no deliveries. All service windows at the Post Office will be closed.

FOR TEA ONLY

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korea's new military government today decreed that the nation's tea rooms are for tea only. A ban on selling coffee in tea rooms was ordered in the revolutionary government's austerity campaign. Retail selling of coffee, considered a luxury here, also was prohibited.

The Civil Rights Commission, which expires next November unless Congress extends its life, was given the $302,000 it requested.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation received the entire $127.2 million it sought, including funds for employment of 50 more agents. It was the tenth consecutive year that the FBI budget was allowed in full.

The committee questioned the advisability of USIA spending $950,000 to stage plays in Europe and South America with actors' salaries running as high as $2,500 per week.

The State Department share of the bill, slated for House debate next Thursday, was $267.48 million, a cut of $31.89 million from presidential request.

The department's foreign building program was cut $10.8 million as the committee complained about "unrealistic and exorbitant" construction plans for houses and buildings in Ankara, Turkey; and Kabul, Afghanistan.

The entire $61.58 million for U.S. contributions to international organizations was approved. The largest item was $28.45 million for the United Nations.

More Commencements Being Conducted Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Commencement exercises were held at five North Carolina senior colleges and universities today, following similar programs at four institutions Sunday and three Saturday.

It is the second of three big graduation weekends in the Tar Heel State during which some 30,000 students receive degrees.

The graduating classes today number 119 at Pfeiffer College, 95 at Elon College, 91 at Guilford College, 106 at Johnson C. Smith University and 57 at Shaw University.

Degrees were awarded Sunday to 195 students at Davidson College, 175 at Atlantic Christian College, 159 at High Point College and 95 at Queens College and on Saturday to 1,252 at North Carolina State College, 336 at Appalachian State Teachers College and 83 at Greensboro College. Commencement speakers today were the Rev. Dr. J. Wallace Hamilton, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Methodist minister, at Pfeiffer; Rep. Horace Kornegay, D-N.C., at Elon; Ambassador George Arthur Padmore of the Republic of Liberia at Shaw; Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, at Johnson C. Smith; and Dr. Rufus Fitzgerald, chancellor emeritus of the University of Pittsburgh, at Guilford. Gov. Terry Sanford, addressing High Point's graduating class, said three ingredients are necessary for the building of a greater public education system: 1. Good teachers and more pay for them. 2. An open mind by everyone, willing to constantly re-examine the system. 3. Great faith — "too often we set our sights too low." Dr. William C. Friday, president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, told Davidson's seniors to participate in the affairs of the world and to remain loyal sons of the college. Dr. Robert Gerald Storey, president of the Southwestern Legal Foundation, addressed Atlantic Christian's commencement and Dr. Edwin R. Walker, Queens College president, spoke to the graduating class of his institution.

With The Farm Women

By MAIDRED MORRIS
FRUITS TO TOP YOUR MEALS—Everybody likes fruits, says Mrs. Christobel Blankenship of Clay County, "but we ought to include more in our daily diet." Mrs. Justine Rozier, home economics agent, reports Mrs. Blankenship presented a demonstration at her club meeting on use of fruits. She stressed nutritive values of fruits and helped the women plan menus using various types of fruit dishes. WEIGHT WATCHERS—What is a "fad" diet? Homemakers in Beaufort County have been studying ways of losing weight through well-planned diets rather than diets which could injure their health. According to Mrs. Carolyn Allgood, assistant home economics agent, emphasis has been placed on losing weight through the use of a well balanced diet and special exercises. DEMONSTRATION GARDEN—Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Callihan of Whiteville, Rt. 2, are again participating in the demonstration garden contest. Mrs. Callihan says that every year they raise all their food with the exception of staple foods. Miss Yvonne Bennett, assistant home economics agent, says the contest is a result of interest in Columbus County on "raising a square meal around home." CARE OF CLOTHING—"Home Demonstration leaders in Polk County have been urging the homemakers to care for their clothes properly for longer wear," says Miss Trevah Garrett, home economics agent. The leaders discussed buying clothes wisely, cleaning methods, removing spots, seasonal storage of clothes, and protection against insects. ROOTING SHRUBBERY SAVES DOLLARS—According to Mrs. Sarah Jones, assistant home economics agent in Wayne County, Mrs. John Allen Bennett, Goldsboro, Rt. 1, is now busy landscaping the ground to her new home. The Bennetts rooted over 100 pieces of shrubbery which they are using in their landscaping plans. YADKIN COUNTY CHORUS—The Yadkin County Home Demonstration Chorus with their director, Mrs. Charles W. Gough and Mrs. Worth Hinshaw, pianist, have been busy rehearsing recently. Since Mrs. Gough and Mrs. Hinshaw are both music teachers, they have spent endless hours rehearsing the choir. They have presented programs over radio and television and also performed at the Spring Festival in Elkin.

Nineteen members of the St. Raphael School kindergarten class concluded their year of scholastic endeavors Friday night with a program and the receiving of their "ABC Degrees." Father Stephen Sullivan told the assemblage of parents and friends of the youngsters that growth and development of the youngsters during the now-completed term was "remarkable." The program included songs and dances by the class, with additional numbers provided by Joan Stell, Max Swoboda, Jane McAndrew, Tom Canning, and Margaret Sencindiver. Kindergarten "grads" were: Paula Arthur, Billie Balboni, Bruce Baker, Carol Baxter, Brenda Branch, Mary Lee Branch, Michele Clark, Tina Dry, Rebecca Ellington, Mary Flanagan, Walter Gray, Lori Hooper, Helen Laughinghouse, Louise Moyer, Ronald Nichols, Don Schlien, Marty Shirley, Matthew Sirois and Gregory Swoboda.

The Fabric Doctor by College View Cleaners and Laundry, Incorporated. Grande Ave. Phone 8-2164-4-2168

"Why Did My Dress Belt Get Darker?" —Mrs. C. L. N. Dear Mrs. C. L. N.: The color change to which you refer is not unusual. The cause lies in the belt itself. Your dry-cleaner wisely did not clean the belt with the dress. If he had, the belt might have been ruined. Even with careful hand-cleaning the belt-backing came through the fabric, darkening it. The only way this might have been avoided was for the dry-cleaner to remove the fabric from the belt, clean it and sew back on the backing. This is a long, tedious and expensive process and sometimes not satisfactory. The fabric might ravel in cleaning and become impossible to sew back neatly. Belts offer as many problems as there are materials from which to make them. Some belt backings dissolve or soften in cleaning. When dry, they separate from the fabric or become stiff. Many belt backings resemble leather. Actually, they are a coated muslin glued to cardboard on which the fabric is sewed. Sometimes a rubber base adhesive sticks the fabric to the base. The adhesive works through the fabric and stains it. No matter how the belt is cleaned, these belts may stain, stiffen or separate. Careful manufacturers overcome this by making belt-backings that are guaranteed dry-cleanable or washable. You should look for this marking on belts whether they accompany your dress or when you buy belts separately. The safest way to handle a belt, unless you are certain it is dry-cleanable or washable, is to remove it before sending the dress to the cleaner. Unless the belt is seriously soiled, shelter your belts at home like the fragile pieces of decoration they are.—(Adv.)

All Communities Facing Growth

The growth of incorporated communities in Pitt County during the past decade at a rate considerably above that of the county as a whole points up the population shift that has taken place in the county along with the growth.

According to the 1960 census figures, there were six municipalities in Pitt County with a population of more than 1,000 people, and the rate of growth for these communities ranged from 258 per cent for Grifton to 12 per cent for Bethel. Greenville's population during the decade increased by 35 per cent, Farmville's by 32 per cent, Ayden's by 35 per cent and Winterville's by 63 per cent.

This growth rate in individual towns took place while the population of Pitt County as a whole increased nine per cent during the decade. It means, of course, that there is now almost an equal division in Pitt County between the number of people living in communities with a population of 1,000 or more, and the people living in rural areas or communities with less than 1,000 population. The population of these six municipalities lack one-half of one per cent being equal to the population of the remainder of the county.

It is also evident from the figures of the 1960 census that if the growth rate of the individual communities and that of the county hold fairly steady during the current decade, Pitt will find a majority of its population living in towns of 1,000 or more population.

The population shift that took place in Pitt County from rural areas to communities during the past decade is not unlike the pattern that prevailed in most of the nation where there was a general shift from rural areas to larger communities. In Pitt, however, with its traditional agricultural economy, the shift represented a more drastic change in the population pattern than was the case for the nation as a whole.

From 1950 to 1960 the combined population of the six Pitt municipalities of over 1,000 population increased by a total of approximately 9,700. During the same period the total population of the county increased by only 5,700, indicating that some 4,000 people moved from rural areas of the county into the larger communities during the decade.

If the trend of the past decade continues, it means that the municipalities of the county must plan to provide for an increasing population in the years ahead. They must plan for municipal services to care for a larger number of people, for more school classrooms to care for a larger number of children, more employment opportunities to provide livelihoods for these people who are moving into the municipalities.

If the same rate of growth for the municipalities continues during the current decade, Greenville will have to provide for a population growth of almost 8,000, Farmville for a growth of more than 1,200, Ayden for a growth of 1,000, and Winterville for a growth of approximately 900.

The growth of these communities during the current decade will be determined by many factors, but two important factors will be what the communities do to stimulate their own growth, and how good a job they do of providing facilities to absorb their population increase.

Getting Word Of Constituents

By LYNN NISBET

TAX BILL - Legislators left Raleigh for the weekend at home expecting a busy time with constituents. A good many telephone calls and telegrams had come to them at Raleigh protesting committee action in approving the sales tax on food.

House and senate finance subcommittees discussing issues together but voting separately Thursday night approved a revenue bill which would add some $73 million to receipts estimated from current levies. The big items in the new levies are designated to raise $50 million from extending the 3 per cent sales tax on food; nearly $10 million from increasing the sales tax on motor vehicles from 1 per cent to 2 per cent with no limit on passenger cars and $120 million on other vehicles; and $3 million by raising the tax on liquor from 10 per cent to 12 per cent.

The schedule proposed is somewhat complex, ranging from 1 per cent with and without maximum limits up to 12 per cent. The popular idea that the proposed plan is 3 per cent sales tax across the board is far from correct.

It is conceded on all sides that the agreement by subcommittees of both branches will have material psychological influence on the full committees and the entire General Assembly. It is not conceded, however, that the proposed schedules will be accepted either by the full committees or the membership.

Opinion around the capitol is that the Senate probably will go along on most points, but the subcommittee plan faces real opposition in the House. Sentiment on that side is apparently almost evenly divided between a 3 per cent levy on foods and a 4 per cent levy on essentially the same items presently covered by the 3 per cent tax.

TIME - The time factor supports advocates of the increased levy as contrasted with increased coverage and diversified rates. Whatever tax bill is enacted will become effective as of July 1. Even the most optimistic legislators do not see much chance of enacting the revenue bill before June 10, and most of the members think it will be several days later. That would leave only two weeks for the administration staff in the revenue department to clear the decks for collecting the new taxes. The four percenters argue that their plan will not require much change in procedure. It would call mainly for multiplying items by four instead of by three - a very simple matter.

The subcommittee recommendation calls for local government units and sundry charitable organizations to pay the sales tax and then make application for refund. It is suggested that will close some loopholes, but it also will require considerable extra bookkeeping, in both State and local offices. And it will complicate accurate estimates of how much money the State has actually received. Experience with the income withholding plan illustrates that point. Income yield originally reported has been decreased by more than $12 million, and it is estimated that from one and a half to two million dollars more must be refunded.

The pressure of time works the other way, too. The rush for adjournment by June 17 is on, and attitude of some members is to ride with the subcommittee report, get the bills enacted and go home, leaving the department workers to struggle with administrative details.

One representative summed up that attitude this way: "We make the laws, but don't have to enforce them; we levy taxes, but don't have to collect them."

BALANCE - Meantime, the joint appropriations subcommittee has been meeting every day with provision that newsmen might be present, but not permitted to report how any member voted or what he said. It is known that the appropriations committee has added several million dollars to the aggregate amount recommended by the budget commission and the Governor, although it cut off a number of specific recommendations. These additional appropriations run head on into revenue reductions of some nine millions.

The law requires that the budget be balanced before the General Assembly adjourns, with estimated tax yield sufficient to meet all recommended appropriations. Appropriations and finance committees have been working independently up to now, and will continue independent operation until both major bills come to the floor of the General Assembly. Then adjustments must be made either by reducing appropriations or by increasing estimated tax yield.

Not since depression years in the mid thirties has there been as wide variance as is now indicated between estimated income and recommended outgo. Appropriations committee leaders expect to have a final report sometime within the next two weeks. Finance committee leaders put about the same time limit on their final report. Then will come the big tussle between the two groups. Differences can be adjusted in a few days. There is precedent for such quick adjustment. And the committees may stand firm on their commitments and require two weeks or more for adjustment. There is precedent for that, too.

Which course will be followed this year remains to be seen. The point is that agreement reached in finance and appropriations subcommittees does not necessarily mean that there is agreement all along the legislative line.

Investments In European Land

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Property located acreage should be the best hedge against inflation, owing to its limited amount and the growth in population. I spent two months last fall studying land in Europe (I am making no report now on the Latin and South American countries or Canada.) As there was little interest in tourist travel in Europe during the winter, I have held these notes until now.

IRELAND THE EMERALD ISLE

Owing to Great Britain's desire to break up all unproductive estates of available acreage, I know of no bargains in acreage in England—although raw acreage can be purchased in Scotland and Wales. However, I have traveled 900 miles by automobile in Ireland. There are few industries in Ireland due to the lack of natural resources. The people are healthy, happy, and willing to work. The youth of Ireland—outside of the few large cities—are happy living on farms which they expect to inherit from their parents. As a result, very little of the good farming land is for sale in Ireland, even at high prices. Land which sells in Kansas for $100 per acre cannot be bought in Ireland for less than $400 per acre. The mountain land in the western portion, which is good only for grazing sheep, can be bought for $10 or so per acre, depending upon its accessibility. Lakes and rivers abound in Ireland, which makes it good for pasturing. In fact, the acreage in Ireland may be divided into three groups: (1) Good farm land in the "Golden Midlands"; (2) pasture land with good green grass but with not much depth of soil, which sells for about $150 per acre; and (3) rocky mountain land good only for sure-footed sheep and cattle, but preferably in the southern part near the ocean.

FRANCE, ITALY, AND OTHER COUNTRIES

The above comments as to prices regarding Ireland apply also to France, Switzerland, and Italy. No good acreage is available in Belgium, Holland, or West Germany. Not only is the fertile land there in production, but the farmers control the politics, tariffs, and even prices. Italy, however, is fast becoming an industrial nation with water-power and other natural resources. U. S. manufacturers should watch Italy and Switzerland (and also Japan), although these countries now have much unemployment.

Europe has natural resources, including navigable rivers, iron, coal, chemicals, and water-power. It also has a climate which encourages people to work. Wages are fairly low and there is no scarcity of labor in most localities. This explains why so many American manufacturers are buying or building plants in Europe. Labor unions exist, but with the exception of those in France, are not now much of a handicap.

WHAT ABOUT SPAIN? My comments regarding the three classes of land in Ireland also apply to Spain. Spain has water-power, both developed and undeveloped. It has coal, oil, and chemicals. Wages are low and the cost of living is reasonable. Industries are springing up in Spain and the climate is fair, for both workers and tourists. Perhaps as a foreign hedge against inflation I would now advise the purchase of well-located land in Spain, especially in the suburbs of Madrid, Toledo, Barcelona, and Valencia. The big real estate profits in Spain will take place in "Suburbia"—which is now just starting.

Of course, no one should invest in any foreign country without spending a month therein and seeing the land personally. Spain has several different kinds of terrain and climate—dry and wet, mountainous and fertile, cold and warm. Most of what I say about Spain also applies to Portugal. I advise the southern coastal portion of Spain. The west coast country is warm in winter and may be compared to our Florida. Southwest of Barcelona toward Gibraltar there are several very attractive places. Given the same altitude, the temperature should grow warmer as one travels southwest from Barcelona or Madrid. Malaga is supposed to have the best all-round climate of any city in Spain.

Let me describe in some detail the area from Barcelona eastward to the French Border where one approaches the French Riviera. One can reach Barcelona by steamship, or plane, or railroad train. From Barcelona to the French Border is about 75 miles. One can make the trip in 3 hours by automobile or in one hour by electric train. The first town which interested me was San Pedro. This is about 20 miles east of Barcelona and has a good beach with medium-priced hotels. The next was Plana on the Sea, which is rapidly developing somewhat like our New York City Island. The next point of interest is Lloret de Mar. These places are old towns with very narrow streets, while the sandy beaches for sunning and bathing are superb. All these places have numerous hotels at all prices.

A fourth place of interest is Tossa by the Sea. This place is more expensive than the others and now appeals only to gay young people who want to bathe or lie in the sun all day and dance all night! Furthermore, the highway between Lloret and Tossa is very winding, with over 20 dangerous hair-pin turns. Those going from Barcelona to Tossa or beyond should take the electric railway and avoid these hairpin curves with great high cliffs on one side and 1000-foot drops on the other.

WANT LAND TO BUY

Now for the final and most important reason why I think good money could be made east of Barcelona by those who are willing to go there and live for a month and look carefully about. Here are three simple rules to follow: (1) Buy well-placed land, but insist on it through some reliable local banker or real estate agent. These rules apply to buying land for speculation in all of the above countries.

You will soon realize that situations exist for profit which I have not found in the suburbs of any large city in the world. From the time you leave San Pedro you will find small farms located all along the line adjoining good residences. I can not give you prices per acre because equally good producing soil appears to sell at entirely different prices. You must check up on a large number of such farm plots and then buy the cheapest, but insist on the above three conditions and, of course, get your land in a good neighborhood with good neighbors. This you can do only by living for one month between San Pedro and Lloret by the Sea.

Acceptance Of Blackmail

Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It is easy to react to an impulse swiftly, compulsively. After all, when the lives of more than 1,200 human beings are involved, who is to be so sure of himself and his opinions as to oppose anything that anyone can do to help these sufferers of a brutal dictatorship?

Mature thought and calm consideration requires that one consider such a question on the basis of eternal principles of right rather than as a result of emotional response to inhumanity. The acceptance of blackmail, called by Castro an indemnity, is not a recognition of moral principles. Whether the Government of the United States responds affirmatively to blackmail or encourages private citizens to pay for the blackmail, acceptance of the threat of blackmail is immoral and can only lead to further threats of a similar nature.

The United States has long submitted to a kind of blackmail in the form of a suggestion that if we do not give aid to certain nations, they will seek aid from Soviet Russia. Actually, most such countries have accepted aid—tantamount to blackmail in many instances—from both sides. The classical example of such neutrality on the receiving end is, of course, Egypt.

Fidel Castro's proposal to exchange more than 1,200 human beings for 500 tractors is an example of Communist bartering which has little to do with humanity; its objective is to force the United States to deal with Cuba, to take off the embargo on American goods. Castro calls it an indemnity for the invasion and if he gets the tractors, he will have made his point.

As Senator Styles Bridges said: "... since the days of Hitler when the infamous Eichmann offered to trade on an even basis, one Jew for one truck, has the civilized world been confronted with such a heinous barter."

"Ten hostages have been given one week to raise the money for tractors; at the end of that time they must return to Castro's prisons with the assurance of a successful trade or suffer who knows what punishment for themselves and the hostages for whom they are dealing."

"I ask, how complacent must we get before we do something about this cancer festering at our doorsteps? It is a hard question to answer, because, after all, we are responsible for the prisoners that Castro holds. It was our own CIA which devised the impossible plan for the invasion of Cuba. Can we say that we are not responsible? Our Joint Chiefs of Staff conditionally approved of the CIA plan. How can we say that that is not official?"

To reject responsibility and to hide behind the skirts of a private committee is not more commendable than accepting the challenge of blackmail outright. Surely, Mrs. Roosevelt, Dr. Milton Eisenhower and Walter Reuther cannot deliver tractors and bulldozers without a permit from the Administration. Therefore to say that a private effort is not a government operation is to play with words and is just as undignified as submitting to blackmail. This private committee device does not lessen the humiliation of paying an indemnity.

The country is growing more and more confused over the policy of Washington towards Castro. It would seem as though the fear that Soviet Russia will march into Berlin if we land on Havana has altogether perverted the Administration's policy. Senator Bridges in this same speech in the Senate, asked: (Continued on Page 5)

Oddest Kind Of Conduct

By RALPH ROBEY

Of all the amazing things which have happened in this nation during the past many months nothing has been more spectacular than the behavior of stock prices. On the New York Stock Exchange the Dow Jones Industrial average has crossed 700 for the first time in history. (The 1929 high was 381.) And it is now rare to have a day when the total transactions are not above 4,000,000 shares.

Twice within recent weeks the president of the Exchange, Mr. Keith Funston, has issued a public warning against "thoughtless speculation." But this advice of caution has had no visible effect upon the desire and apparent determination of investors and speculators to continue to buy common stocks.

But the New York Stock Exchange has been mild compared with what has been going on in the new issues of unlisted stocks. Here a security is brought out at an announced price—usually low in terms of dollars—and almost immediately it doubles, triples, or more in quoted value. Many of these issues, too, are of brand new companies, which means they have no earnings record and no assured market for their products.

A sound security analyst takes many factors into consideration in his appraisal of a stock. The management of the company is important and so is the market acceptance of the security. And back of all this is the earnings record and the earnings prospect of the company. There are consistent differences between the number of times its earnings a stock will sell for as between industries and as between companies within the same industry. But this is easily determined and allowed for.

The general rule used to be that a stock was fairly priced if it was selling for ten times its earnings. At 700 the thirty stocks which make up the Dow Jones Industrial average are selling for 22 times their 1960 earnings. Some other securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange and the American Exchange, which is the second largest in the country, are selling for 50 and 100 times their earnings. And, of course, there are many companies today operating at a loss whose stocks are bought and sold regularly. In these instances the times-earning ratio is infinite.

One has to search long and hard today to find a respectable company whose stock is not selling for more than ten times its earnings. This is just further evidence that the market as a whole is high—extremely high.

Another way to say this is that at present levels the market has discounted a degree of prosperity and an improvement of business profits that are not in sight, and actually are quite improbable within the next couple of years. But this does not mean that average stock prices will not go still higher, or conversely, that we soon shall see a substantial drop of the market.

It does mean however, that everyone should go over his holdings with a view of eliminating those which he believes are selling for more than they are basically worth in terms of earnings prospects and fundamental stability. It no longer is wise to try to get that last dollar of profit, and certainly this is not the time to be trading on margin. The wise policy is to build up a bit of cash because the market is not going to continue to advance indefinitely. Technical reactions, at least, are inevitable, and since anything up to 10 per cent is considered a technical reaction a drop of 70 points could occur at any time.

No one today anticipates a wide-open break in the market, for the simple reason that no one can see a development which could cause it. But too much confidence must not be placed in this viewpoint. Psychology plays an important part in the buying and selling of stocks, and one can never be sure what may happen to change general optimism into quite deep pessimism. In a word, this is the time for caution.

Other Editors Saying Revised Foreign Aid

(Wilson Times)

Vice-President Lyndon Johnson is back from a good will trip to Southeast Asia and the many trouble spots in that part of the world. As is to be expected, he is calling for more money, in one form or another, for South Vietnam, India, Thailand and on down the line.

This newspaper has supported foreign aid, always with the hope that out of our abundance we could aid the so-called underprivileged nations to help themselves. Now we fear for the consequences if a break is not put on spending. We have received little for the billions we have lavished on the peoples of the budding nations around the globe. And this is where we would expect the greatest success.

Billions have been wasted in the jungles of Laos while Russia has taken over that nation with a few guns, soldiers and practically no money by comparison. In South Viet Nam our position is so shaky that again the millions spent here can be charged off as possibly lost.

In South Korea again we backed the wrong government. And Castro rules Cuba, regardless of the promise to rid this nation of a Communist dominated government only 90 miles off shore.

Spending is not the answer. More money for foreign aid as such has not proven effective as a deterrent to Communism. Our influence in the United Nations grows weaker with the increase in membership. This in itself does not speak well of our influence.

Today there are 99 members, more than twice the membership when the U.N. was organized. Most of the new members are from Africa, and the majority only a few months old. But with the same voting power of this nation, for the Afro-Asian nations hold the balance of voting power.

This nation pays 32.51 per cent of the United Nation expenses. Soviet Union, 13.62; Britain, 7.78; France, 6.40, and the balance divided among the other nations, some paying as low as .04 per cent, amounting, to only a few thousand dollars. Now Russia is refusing to pay its small share in its effort to sabotage the U.N. Russia has not paid to maintain the U.N. supervised truce in any of the nations under U.N. mandate. It is another chapter in the USSR plan to drain U.S. resources in an economic war that Russia says will give Communism the victory.

As if all this is not evidence of the need for reevaluation of the foreign aid program, Communist Yugoslavia is to receive another $100 million. Marshall Tito accused America of being the principal source of discord in the world, reaffirmed his support of Moscow and America approves a loan. The reasons given are to improve trade and currency relations.

Yes, Vice-President Johnson is back from his goodwill tour. He is asking for more foreign aid. The President is asking for more money for the same. We are told to be ready for sacrifices.

Let the President outline how the additional aid is to be spent. For with all this added spending comes inflation and the weakening of America's economic position. And there isn't another nation to come to our aid. A hard look at foreign aid is necessary before Americans are asked to make further sacrifices.

Step Less Than Nationalization

By ELMER ROESSNER

Senator Warren G. Magnuson (D., Wash.) may be headed toward an interesting conclusion. During a hearing by the Senate Commerce Committee, of which he is chairman, the Senator said:

"If we don't build up our common carrier system, we are going to find so much trouble that the next step is... nationalization."

Nationalization is probably not the next step and, as the Senator jolly well knows, the public won't stand for it. But there is another step that may be acceptable. In fact, it may be necessary to take that step to put the United States on a sound defensive basis.

The trouble with the American transportation system—in an economy based on competition—is that competition is not so much between competitors as it is between kinds of transportation.

Shippers like the idea because, while short hauls are more economical by truck, long hauls are cheaper by rail. But the Teamsters Union doesn't like it, because members are losing jobs when trailers are carried from Chicago to Sacramento, or Los Angeles to New York, by piggyback. The Teamsters would much prefer that members of the Railroad Brotherhoods lose jobs.

Time was when one railroad competed with another. The Central and the Penny, for example, were in a titanic struggle for passenger and freight between New York and Chicago. But today, railroads are not competing with one another, but with bus lines, trucks, ships and barges and planes.

One of the reasons for this state of affairs is that Federal laws discourage, and in some cases prohibit, companies from engaging in various forms of transportation.

In changing that theory of government regulation may be the answer to Senator Magnuson's problem.

If law and theory could be changed, transportation companies might develop to utilize all means of moving passengers and freight. A single company might operate buses, trains and planes to move people from one place to another with maximum comfort, efficiency and speed and minimum cost. It might operate trucks, ships and barges, freight trains and planes—and perhaps even other devices—to get goods from one point to another.

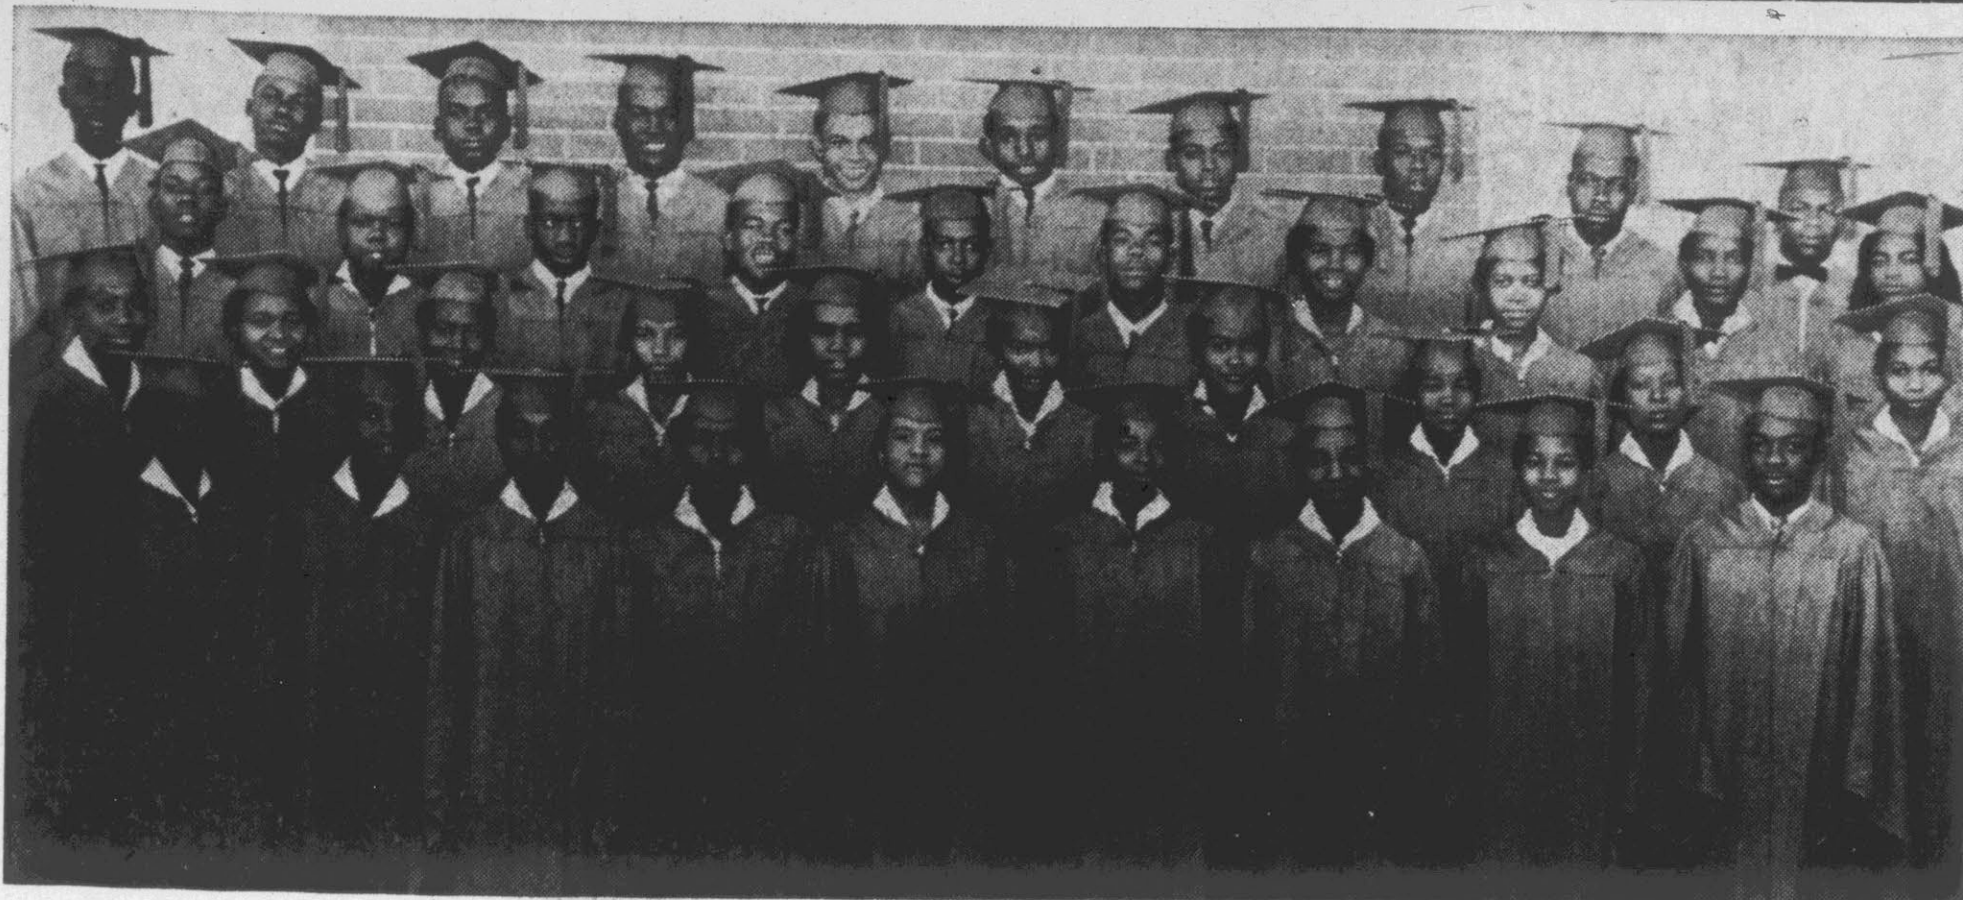

Competition could be assured by licensing as many companies as desired. Among the advantages:

All transport companies could be placed under regulation of one government body. Control is now divided among the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Federal Aviation Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission and several other agencies. It would promote economy by encouraging the elimination of duplicate facilities. For instance, some communities are now served by branch bus, rail and plane lines, all losing money. And most important of all, it would give the country a number of unified systems to move men and material from place to place in event of war.

WEST GERMANY NOW SERVING ITSELF

Self-service food markets are spreading in West Germany. A total of 2,378 were established in 1960 alone, an increase of 32 per cent over 1959 and making a total of almost 23,000. Of these, about 75 per cent are operated by independent owners, 16 per cent by department stores and 9 per cent by consumer cooperatives.

Self-service has led to expansion of the frozen food market. Deep freezers are being used by more than 40,000 retailers and the number is expected to go to 100,000 by 1963.

Tuesday Marks 'End' For Farmville Seniors

By SANDRA ALLEN
FARMVILLE — Vacation begins Tuesday for Farmville High School, but for the graduating seniors, Tuesday has a more significant meaning. To Farmville's seniors, Tuesday is a day symbolic of the end of 12 years as a class studying in preparation for the future. After Tuesday night's graduation exercises, each senior begins a new life, in a new and different world. Baccalaureate services were held in the school auditorium Sunday night. The sermon was delivered by Dr. Allen P. Brantley, executive director for Methodist Christian Higher Education. The Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Leyman Holmes, made a musical offering of "The Cherubim Song," "I'll Walk With God," and closed the service with "The Lord Bless You and Keep You." Fifty-three graduating seniors will march solemnly down the long aisle tomorrow to anxiously await the moment when they will proudly ascend the steps of the stage to receive their well-deserved diplomas. The band will render the pre-

Confess Guilt In Double Slaying

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Joseph Maxey, who had steadfastly denied participating in the rapslayings of two prominent women broke down Sunday and confessed — corroborating the story given earlier by his partner in the brutal crime. Maxey, 23, and Lorelle Parks, 22, both Negro car-washers who have been charged with abduction, rape and murder, were to have a preliminary hearing today in Plainfield Municipal Court. In his confession, Maxey admitted he had killed Mrs. Elliott C. Ewell, 49, of Plainfield, by running over her with her own Cadillac when she attempted to escape. Parks admitted Friday night that he had strangled Mrs. Robert Tyson, 50, also of Plainfield, after raping her. He had implicated Maxey but Maxey repeatedly denied the accusations despite the mounds of evidence gathered by detectives. Parks and Maxey underwent psychiatric examinations Sunday for several hours. A memorial service was conducted for the two victims at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Westfield. About 300 persons attended the service, including the husbands and families of the slain women.

Representatives from Farmville High School to attend the annual Girl's State to be held this summer at Woman's College in Greensboro are Annette Mosley and Billie Sue Forbes. Boy's State, to be held at the University of North Carolina will be attended by Chester Outland and John Owens. These students are chosen for their interest shown in history, as well as other qualities.

Impartial Mom Skipped Sons' Two Graduations

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—An Ohio mother with two sons graduating the same day from service academies has decided it wouldn't be fair to attend one and not the other. She won't attend either graduation. Jeanette Stackhouse of Norwood Ohio, plans to visit her sons before they graduate June 7. Bill, 22, will graduate from the Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colo. His brother Charles, 21, is completing his studies at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. Mrs. Stackhouse, 44, arrived for a few days' visit with Bill before traveling to Annapolis to spend next weekend with Charles. She is an industrial nurse for Continental Can Company. "I'm going to be working the day they graduate," she said. "It's unfortunate, but I've known for three years that this probably would be happening. "I'm grateful that they're both graduating. Isn't that enough for any mother?"

Adenauer Wants Nuclear Arms

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Sunday night he wants nuclear arms for West German forces as well as for other NATO troops in Europe. "It would be a crime to put young men without proper armament into the field against an enemy equipped with nuclear weapons," Adenauer said. "And that's something we can't accept." Adenauer said the Soviet Union will be ready to discuss German unification and universal disarmament only if the North Atlantic Treaty Organization possesses a nuclear striking force as a deterrent against Communist aggression.

"How much more humiliation and contempt must we suffer from this Communist dictator?" We shall accept humiliation and contempt as long as we believe that we can thus purchase the freedom of Berlin. But reason dictates that Soviet Russia will march on Berlin whenever the Kremlin believes that it is a wise step to take; that the blackmail that they will go into Berlin if we move on Cuba is not illogical and the acceptance of it by the Kennedy Administration is an absurdity calculated to paralyze this country. There seems to be a co-ordination of policy in the timing and conduct of the troubles in Cuba, Laos and Korea with the meeting planned for President Kennedy and Nikita Khrushchev. Our peril is that we shall pay the blackmail and the baby will be found dead. That is so often the end of a blackmail.

David Pearson Wins Charlotte's 'World 600' Race

By BLOYS BRITT
 CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—You're two laps from the finish of the richest stock car races in history and you're three laps ahead of your nearest pursuer. Then you blow a tire. What do you do?

"I'd have pushed it the rest of the way," said 26-year-old David Pearson of Spartanburg, S.C. Instead, Pearson limped the final lap and a half on three tires and a rim to claim the $29,450 top prize money in Sunday's World 600 mile stock car race for late model autos.

Pearson was winging away from the field in his 1961 Pontiac and held a lead of three laps over Glen (Fireball) Roberts of Daytona Beach, when his right rear tire blew on the back stretch with a lap and a half to go. The husky, purple-clad Pearson kept the car under control and got the checker flag with a lap to spare.

He negotiated the 400 laps around the mile and a half Charlotte Motor Speedway at an average speed of 111.633 miles per hour.

Roberts, also driving a 1961 Pontiac, finished second and took down $9,240. Rex White of Spartanburg, driving a 1961 Chevrolet, finished third and won $7,070. Ned Jarrett of Conover in a 1961 Chevrolet took fourth place money of $4,475, and Jim Paschal of High Point won $3,150 as fifth place finisher.

The race, run before 50,000 in clear, 70-degree weather, was marred by one serious accident. Red Kagle of Green Belt, Md., smashed into the guard rail on the third turn and was impaled on a section of the heavy metal strip. Kagle's left leg was amputated below the knee in the accident. A hospital in Concord reported he was resting comfortably after surgery.

The accident occurred on the 287th lap and the caution flag was out for 25 laps while workmen repaired the guard rail and the cars crept around it on the safety apron.

There were six other caution flags brought on by spinouts and collisions, but there were no other serious injuries.

Pearson, the 1960 NASCAR rookie of the year, was hired only 10 days ago to drive the Ray Fox-built Pontiac from Daytona Beach. He qualified it at 138.381 miles per hour and started in third position behind Richard Petty of Randleman in a 1961 Plymouth, and Joe Weatherly of Norfolk, Va., in a 1961 Pontiac.

Petty went out with a blown motor on the 330th lap after being among the top five at each fifth of the race. Weatherly went on to finish 10th and won $1,040.

Pearson said afterwards he wasn't aware that he was three laps ahead of Roberts, one of the hardest drivers on the NASCAR circuit.

His pit crew, headed by Fox, had signaled Pearson at the start of the 398th lap that he had four laps to go, and when the rooster blew his right rear tire seconds later, the crew tried to make up for their error by shouting frantically for him to keep driving.

"I wasn't even about to quit," said Pearson. "When I saw that white flag (signifying one lap to go), I knew I'd make it even if I had to get out and push."

Pearson drove a steady, non-spectacular race.

"Mr. Fox told me to keep her about 132-133 miles an hour, not to charge the turns, and to keep out of trouble. I had some close brushes with other cars, but mostly it was tight, steady going," he said.

Indianapolis 500 Begins On Tuesday With Many Rookies

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—A potential record-breaking field, with the most rookies in 10 years, thunders Tuesday after a purse of $375,000 or more in the golden anniversary 500-mile auto race.

The 33 drivers, screened from 69 nominees by two weekends of time trials, met today in the last preliminary to the Memorial Day classic—the annual rules review and officials' traditional chilling reminder that you can't win riding in an ambulance or a hearse.

A separate session was called to emphasize the rules and meanings of starter Bill Vandewater's flags for the eight first-time starters. It was the biggest crop of rookies in 10 years, and maybe the best.

The vanguard of the potential audience of 200,000 was talking up two especially glamorous newcomers, Australian Jack Brabham and Parnell Jones of Torrance, Calif.

Brabham, world road racing champion the last two years, challenged the race's 14-year domination by Offenhauser-powered cars built especially for the 2½-mile brick and asphalt track. His English Cooper Climax also was built especially for Indianapolis but it departed from the American style by having a smaller engine installed behind the driver and a shorter, lighter chassis.

Jones, a terror on smaller American tracks, upheld his reputation with fast, heady driving in practice and qualifications. The 27-year-old rookie, one of the five youngest drivers in the field, will pilot the year-old Agajanian Special, an A. J. Watson creation in which Lloyd Ruby of Houston placed seventh in his first start.

Ruby this year has the new Epperly car originally assigned to veteran Tony Bettenhausen, killed May 11 testing another car. This would have been Bettenhausen's 15th Memorial Day race.

The favorite—as much as there can be a favorite in this car-smashing contest—is 1959 winner Rodger Ward of Indianapolis. The former USAC national champion, 40, has been running easily at 146.5 miles an hour practicing in a new type Watson.

Jim Rathmann of Miami set the race record of 138.767 last year in the same Watson he is driving this year. He and Ward have finished only a few seconds apart in the last two 500s.

Rathmann is back in the lineup with his winning car but will have to start back in the fourth row because of his relatively slow qualifying speed.

The third former winner in the field, Troy Ruttman of Dearborn, Mich., has to start way back in the eighth row but isn't likely to be there long.

Ed Williamson has held a Chicago Cub record for 77 years. He hit 27 home runs in 1884 and no Cub third baseman has ever topped it.

Doug Ford Wins In '500' Open

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—If Doug Ford doesn't love the Indianapolis Motor Speedway golf course, he ought to stop off at a psychiatrist's on the way to deposit $9,000 he won Sunday by beating Arnold Palmer in two extra holes at the $50,000 "500 Festival" open tournament.

This was the one tourney the Tanglewood, Fla., veteran won on last year's tour. It is the only one he has captured this year—with a dry spell of 32 tourneys in between.

He got it by shooting a 12-under-par 280 for 74 holes.

"Sure I like this course," Ford said, "I was raised on one like it where you hit short and bounced onto the green."

He had every reason to fold in this tourney. Palmer, in one of his patented finishes, ruffed a 30-foot eagle putt on the 18th green for a 66 round and 273 total.

Ford took two putts from the fringe for a tying birdie, a 68 and another 273 total.

They parred the first extra hole and Ford won the second with a 12-foot birdie putt as Palmer missed a 9-footer. Palmer's second was with $4,600.

DONALD BARR CHIDSEY'S New Historical Entertainment THE WICKEDEST PILGRIM

CHAPTER 8 Among the first to stagger forth from the poop house after the storm was Priscilla Mullins. She was pale, she had been shaken, but she gave Sal a smile while he was helping to carry a sick man up from below, after which she went from one to the other of the emerging cabin passengers to ask if there was any way in which she could help.

"Not much. I wasn't hurt much." "Tell me about it." He did so, since she insisted. And the hand tightened on his arm, so he strung the story out. "You got back! It was God's doing!" "Yes, I suppose it was." "Have you thanked Him?" "Not directly. Just in a general way."

Sal frowned a little. On the other side of the deck John Alden had come up from below, to blot the rest, lifting his face; but Alden was aware of this pair. Why did they need to be talking about prayer? There was too much talk about prayer on this vessel already. It always came around to that. Sal Boyd, today, would have preferred to talk about themselves, and her in particular.

Each year tobacco farmers face serious damage from hail, especially during the summer months. It pays to keep trying after a hail storm levels a tobacco crop. The ruined plant may look beyond recovery, but it is surprising that a sensible salvage program can do. There have been cases where tobacco that was waist high when damaged by hail yielded 60 to 70 per cent of a normal crop, even when all of the stalks in the field were down, and after being declared a total loss.

Goody's Headache Powders

The Farm Scene By S. C. WINCHESTER Pitt County Agent

Have you dug sweet potatoes and been disappointed because they had rotten spots and skins were brown with scurf? These diseases were on the roots of the plants when you put them in the field, you just couldn't see the symptoms. You probably bought the plants you used — non-certified plants at that — and knew nothing about them. The way to prevent these diseases is simple. Use "cut sprouts."

Forest Fire Is Out Of Control

MAGDALENA, N.M. (AP) — A forest fire, fanned by a 15-mile-an-hour wind, raged out of control today in the San Mateo Mountains. Dale Gallaher, district fire dispatcher, said 100 men were on the fire lines and 75 more are due in today. A lookout reported the fire about noon Sunday. Gallaher said lightning probably started it. Twenty-three smoke jumpers from Silver City, N.M., parachuted into the almost inaccessible area and a plane bombed the fire with nine loads of borate.

Forest Fire Is Out Of Control

These steps of a recovery program are fairly simple, and may enable the grower to realize substantial profits which would otherwise be lost. With the heaviest hail months just ahead, the grower could well benefit by keeping these recommendations in reserve against total loss.

Savings For A New Home Stolen

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—U.S. Army Capt. Edwin McKnight, 31, and his wife, Catherine, of suburban Cynwyd, had planned to buy a new house in Atlantic City, N.J., as soon as their third child was born.

Sunday McKnight drove his wife to the hospital where she gave birth to a seven-pound boy. When McKnight went to his car to get a radio for his wife he found a burglar had forced open the vent window.

McKnight told police the burglar took $7,500 in government bonds he had saved for a down payment on the new house.

The offer was made by the United States and Britain in talks out of deadlock. But the Soviet delegate, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, called the Western offer "unrealistic, impractical and not conducive to agreement." The Russians have been willing to allow no more than three inspections.

Western scientists feel that at least one out of five suspicious tremors pinpointed as originating in the Soviet Union should be examined by roving international inspectors.

Britain and the United States are willing to accept a minimum of 12 inspections. They insist that for every additional five suspicious tremors recorded there must be one additional on-site inspection, up to a maximum of 20.

Police Called To Federal Court

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Police in racially troubled Montgomery and Birmingham were called into federal court today, accused of deliberately permitting mob violence.

U.S. marshals held a tight rein on a large crowd which waited in the corridor to get seats in the marble-walled courtroom.

A reporter who tried to enter the judge's office to ask about press facilities for coverage of the hearing was stopped by marshals.

No criminal charge was pending against the police authorities; only a Justice Department demand for an injunction to prevent them in the future from permitting race rioters to interfere with interstate bus travel.

A similar restraining order was issued by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. nine days ago against the Ku Klux Klan. Johnson was to determine at the hearing whether to keep that court order in force.

Added to the original complaint as defendants were Police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan and Chief G. J. Ruppenthal in Montgomery and Commissioner Eugene Connor and chief Jamie Moore of Birmingham. Connor is Alabama's Democratic national committeeman.

Eppes Graduates Hear Sermon By Rev. Person

"Right thinking is the key to success," the Rev. Joseph R. Person told graduating seniors of Eppes High School yesterday at their annual baccalaureate sermon.

He said that "Well and sincere thinking creates ideals and keeps us reaching forth, striving for something, and keeps our interest alert." He reminded seniors that they are at the crossroads and must search for their ideals. They should concentrate on thinking and consult the master of ideals—Jesus of Nazareth who will give light to all good, wise, honest and truthful thinking, the Rev. Mr. Person said.

He concluded with the following verse from Phillipians 4:8: "Whatever things are true, whatever things are honest, whatever things are lovely, whatever things are of good report; if there be any praise, think on these things."

Seniors entered the auditorium of Eppes High School to the music of "War March of the Priests." Eighty-three seniors, the largest in the school's history, are graduating this week.

Jewett and another policeman who was not identified, discovered the flaming sawdust and attempted to push the truck from beside the factory to prevent the building from becoming involved in the fire.

Box 74, at the intersection of Fleming St. and Pamlico Ave. was turned in at 2 a.m., firemen reported.

They noted the fire originated in the rear of the truck. Cause of the fire was not determined, and only light damage resulted.

Collapses During Treason Hearing

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Andre Zeller, on trial for his life for leading a military insurrection in Algeria, collapsed today when he tried to speak in his own defense. He was carried from the courtroom.

The graying, 63-year-old former army chief of staff, was weak and almost incoherent as he began his defense. He started to speak after codefendant Gen. Maurice Challe completed his own defense in clipped military tones, claiming that only a bare handful of officers in Algeria opposed the military coup d'etat last month.

Zeller resumed his testimony after a short recess, but hardly had he begun again when he slumped back in his chair once more, with his hands over his eyes.

Defending his opposition to the Algerian policies of President Charles de Gaulle, whom he hoped to topple from power, Challe said the French army now is "only united in its despair."

Challe spoke in his own defense after the prosecutor had read an 11-page indictment charging him and Zeller with leading an armed insurrection—a charge punishable by death. Challe and Zeller did not enter any formal plea to the charges.

Challe readily admitted leading the revolt at the request of friends who approached him and said the army was waiting to be led.

The Palace of Justice was ringed by guards alert against any Algerian hotheads. An ambulance stood by and a military radio truck coordinated security.

'Level Headed' In Test-Taking

CHICAGO (AP)—The more than 4,000 candidates who took qualifying examinations for the peace corps displayed "apparent level-headedness," says Director R. Sargent Shriver.

There has been a lot of skepticism about this program and criticism that the Peace Corps would be made up of ignorant young idealists," Shriver said Sunday. "I think those who took the test Saturday showed a high degree of awareness and determination."

Shriver's comments came as he and his wife, Eunice, sister of President Kennedy, were hosts at an informal reception for 21 Chicago-area college students who took the test.

Commencement Sermon Has 4 'Classic Answers'

Graduating seniors of Rose High School were posed the question "Why Are You Alive?" by the Rev. W. J. Hadden Jr. at their commencement sermon last night.

The Rev. Mr. Hadden, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church for two years, said there have been four classic answers to the question, "Why Are You Alive?" and they deal with the highest good of man.

The earliest answer was the philosophy called hedonism, which placed the premium on pleasure. "This was the cynical approach in which man's inability to understand only two realities were expressed—pain and pleasure. The whole end of man, according to this philosophy, is to seek pleasure."

The second answer to the question was the philosophy of the stoics, which expressed opposition to hedonism by saying, in essence, that "you can't build a world with pleasure," the Rev. Mr. Hadden stated. The third answer to the question came from Socrates, who emphasized the development of the mind as the end and goal of all life.

The Judeo-Christian religion, basing man's way of life on love, is the fourth answer. "The harmony of the universe in the reality of God, who is love, is the basis of our common faith," the Rev. Mr. Hadden said. "We are born for community. In isolation, or without love, life is meaningless," he stated.

He stressed the importance of the sensitive heart and compassion in the lives of the graduating seniors.

The Rev. Mr. Hadden is a graduate of Lynchburg College, Va., where he received the A. B. degree, and of Vanderbilt University, where he received the B. D. degree. He also completed a term of work in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Presented Two Degrees In Day

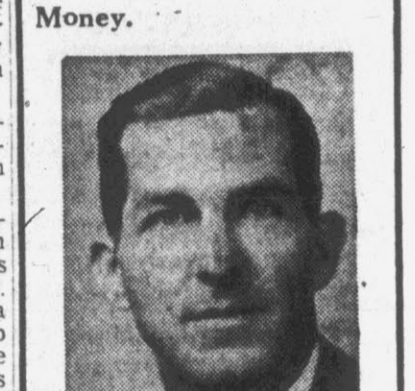

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP)—At 11 a.m. Sunday morning, Bonnie Ethel Cone became the first person ever to receive an honorary degree from Coker College in Hartsville, S.C.

At 4:30 p.m. Sunday, she became the first woman ever to receive an honorary degree from Davidson College.

By 6 p.m. Sunday, as she happily greeted friends on the lawn outside Davidson's Chambers Building, she was almost in tears. "I have really had myself a day," she said, holding tightly to her degrees: doctor of literature from Coker and doctor of laws from Davidson.

Miss Cone, the director of Charlotte College, was graduated with highest honors from Coker College in 1928.
