To Cheese Or Not To Cheese?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
One of the simplest dishes we prepare, spaghetti with white clam sauce, often gets as much applause as an elaborate creation. New Yorkers are likely to make special trips to eat this combination in their favorite little Italian restaurants where the sauce always is made with fresh clams. But for stay-at home cooks, and those in many other parts of the country, canned clams from the pantryshelf do very well indeed. Just one lament. We used to be able to get canned minced razor clams from the Pacific coast, and they were perfect in this sauce. In recent months, however, none are to be found in New York markets. Perhaps you can ferret out some. At present we used canned minced clams from the east coast. One warning: don't overcook the pasta. When the spaghetti for the dish is still al dente, it seems to absorb the good clam juices better than when it is cooked to a soft stage. Should olive oil or butter be used in the sauce? Italian cook books specify thny oil. American cooks sometimes use butter. If you substitute butter for oil, remember you'll need to up the amount by a couple of tablespoons. Now to the controversial matter of whether or not grated cheese should be passed with the pasta and clam sauce. Classicists say NO CHEESE, and we're inclined to agree with that verdict because the cheese does take

Varied Forms Of Artwork Shown In Shumate Exhibit At Local Center

For the past 15 years, Jessamine Shumate of Martinsville, Va., has been painting. Since she devoted her time to painting, Mrs. Shumate has mastered varied forms of artwork, some of which will be included in the current exhibit at the Greenville Art Center, which opens today. The exhibit will feature 30 pieces including collages, serigraphs, oils, water colors, pastels and combinations of those media.

A resident of Martinsville, Va., Mrs. Shumate is the mother of Margaret Hadden, wife of the Rev. W. J. Hadden, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church, and of Jessamine Calhoun, wife of Walter Calhoun of the East Carolina Social Studies Department.

An open house honoring Mrs. Shumate will be held Sunday at the Greenville Art Center from 2 until 5 p.m. The public is invited.

MRS. SHUMATE . . . stands by the "Historical Map of Virginia," which is hand printed. The Jessamine Shumate show, including a variety of artwork from pastels and water colors to serigraphs and collages, opened today and will close June 30. (Reflector staff photo)

Serigraphs
The new exhibit brings to the art center serigraphy, which is derived from one of the oldest art forms, silk screen stencil painting. This type of painting originated centuries ago in Japan. Mrs. Shumate has previously commented that "The artist guards the term serigraphy jealously because it means that he has made his own original design and executed dozens of separate color stencils for a single picture. The silk screen process for a commercial poster or textile stencil, on the other hand, is a literal and mechanical translation of any artist's sketch."

"Serigraphy," she says, "stands between printing and easel painting and requires an artist's sensitive care."

The difference between the silk screen print and the serigraph is that a serigraph is the original design of the artist used like the silk screen method.

Several exhibits at the center have included silk screen prints, but apparently Mrs. Shumate was the first to exhibit serigraphy at the center's new home.

The method of completing a serigraph is tedious work. A piece of Japanese silk is tacked to a frame made of stretcher strips of wood. Then the screen is hinged to a baseboard of seasoned hardwood.

The original master sketch is placed under the silk and traced on it. A greasy black paint substance called tusche is used to cover the design and a thinned coat of glue is squeezed over the entire screen. When this process is dry, the tusche is cleaned off with a solvent, leaving a perfect stencil blocked off by the glue on the silk.

Colored paint is squeezed through the silk, a process which is repeated every time a new color is added. For a detailed historical map of Virginia, nearly 50 screenings were used by Mrs. Shumate, who worked on the project 18 months.

Another type of artwork, the collage, is related to serigraphy and is present at this exhibit. Mrs. Shumate saved prints she had made, regarded as imperfect, and later cut out certain portions which she liked. Using an original design, she cut pieces from serigraphs that she had used before to make the collage.

Mrs. Shumate was awarded first prize for a serigraph entry at the Virginia Highlands Festival in 1956. Some of her work has been purchased for permanent collections by the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina and by the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. She has received the Award of Distinction from the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in 1955; and Merit Award, Association of University Women, Roanoke, in 1956.

She enjoys working with abstracts, but does a lot of realistic work. Working with pastels and water colors appeal to her more than oils.

me," she said, explaining that a serigraph is a great deal more work than a single painting, but there is an advantage of more prints.

She studied art at Lynchburg College, Woman's College and the Art Students League, New York. She has exhibited in group shows at the Norfolk Museum Spring-Field Museum of Art; Massachusetts; Roanoke and Lynchburg Art Centers; Virginia Highlands Festival Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

During her lifetime she has been a teacher and has worked as a bookkeeper and managed an art shop. Today, she has given up those occupations.

Work Of VOA Told At Bethel Rotary Meeting

BETHEL—The Voice of America was explained to members of the Bethel Rotary Club by David H. Sencindiver at their meeting this week.

Sencindiver said that there are now 76 transmitters in the world, including 30 in the United States and the remainder in the free world. It is estimated that there are from 40 to 50 million daily listeners.

Sencindiver described in detail the station under construction in Pitt County, which is scheduled to open in December 1962 and said that work to date is on schedule. There will be a permanent staff of from 100 to 110 employees here. In addition to the permanent staff, other workers will be needed to keep the 63,000 acres mowed and to paint the antennas, Sencindiver added.

The Pitt station, to cost some 27 million dollars, will probably be the most powerful in the world. Sencindiver estimated the average annual payroll will be about $775,000.

It is not thought that this station will make the area more liable to enemy attack, Sencindiver said. He added that it will not interfere with radio and television programs.

Dr. Dan Jordan, program chairman, presented the speaker. Leonard Andrews gave the invocation. President Xury E. Manning presided. Representative Roger Kiser, member of the North Carolina General Assembly from Scotland County, was introduced by C.W. Everett as a visitor.

During the business session, Russell Hunnicutt reported that the Boy Scout hut is nearing completion.

Advices Keeping Interests Fresh

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—"The home should not become the graveyard of the average woman's intellect," warned Mrs. Paul Douglas, wife of the U. S. Senator from Illinois.

She told a group of university women that "women must keep their interest fresh, even when their children are young, lest they be unable to recapture that interest when the 'new leisure' time comes."

"It is not the lack of opportunity, but lack of the knowledge of what to do with all the opportunities which leads to frustration and the dead end of discontent," she said.

Switched To Pay Personal Salute

PARIS (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy forsook her all-American wardrobe Thursday night in a surprise personal tribute to her French hosts and their fashion industry.

To the final gala of her three-day visit to Paris—a banquet in the historic Hall of Mirrors of the Palace of Versailles—President Kennedy's wife wore a gown of heavy white silk and matching coat made for her by Paris designer Hubert de Givenchy.

It was the only French creation worn by Mrs. Kennedy during her visit. Already the toast of Paris, today she was even more popular because of her gesture.

Mrs. Kennedy's fashion surprise was a well-kept secret. A press preview of her wardrobe for the trip showed only American gowns and reporters were told she would wear a pink and white straw lace number by New York's Oleg Cassini to Versailles.

Instead she wore the Cassini number Wednesday night to the Elysee Palace, then Thursday night unveiled the ensemble Givenchy made for her some weeks ago and secretly sent to America. The sleeveless gown had a bell-shaped skirt, high neckline and bodice embroidered in jeweled rose, mauve and green floral design.

Alexandre, Mrs. Kennedy's hairdresser, since her arrival in Paris, pulled the bangs from her forehead, stuck deep dabs of waves to her cheeks, and crowned her head with a Louis XIV chignon on which four diamond clips created a tiara effect. Her cascade earrings and her large ring were of emeralds and diamonds.

Family Of Ducks Tied Up Traffic

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP)—A mallard duck and her seven ducklings caused a traffic jam during the rush hour Thursday. Motorists waited patiently while the duck family waddled single file across the street. Police sent a patrol car to untangle traffic. The family last was seen heading toward the Rouge River.

NEW JOINS OLD

BATAVIA, N. Y. (AP)—There soon will be a touch of the 20th Century alongside a Revolutionary War era landmark in this city in western New York. The board of supervisors has authorized construction of a model fallout shelter on the lawn of the Holland Land Office museum, which was built early in the 1800's and contains many relics more than 200 years old.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo was paid the tribute accorded heroes today.

His playboy son, Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., became the commander in chief of the 25,000-man armed forces of the Dominican Republic, the backbone of his father's absolute rule for 31 years.

Rafael Jr., 32—made a brigadier general at the age of 9 by his proud father—was appointed Thursday night by President Joaquin Balaguer and other government chiefs who served as front men for the generalissimo.

Young Trujillo's first job in preserving the family rule is to hunt down the small band of assassins led by a retired army general who ambushed the dictator Tuesday night as he was being driven from Ciudad Trujillo to his country estate. The elder Trujillo, 69, fell fighting with revolver in hand, a communique said.

The dictator was to take his last ride today from this capital city.

whose ancient name of Santo Domingo be changed to memorialize himself.

The body lay in state in his luxurious home in the capital during the night, then was moved to the lobby of the National Palace stacked with flowers.

The burial will be in San Cristobal, 18 miles away where Trujillo was born and worked in a mill before embarking on his military path to "power and vast riches."

Archbishop Octavio Bera, ranking prelate of the Roman Catholic Church with which Trujillo fought in recent years, was to officiate at the services.

The nation of almost three million was outwardly calm; the news of the slaying had brought little show of shock. A few seething infantrymen stood at street corners but otherwise there were no signs of unusual police or army activity.

The government—its outward composition unchanged because the generalissimo held no formal position in it—quickly pledged to carry on the domestic and foreign policies of the slain leader, especially "aid to the western democracies" and anti-Communist policies.

Extolling the dead dictator, it promised to adhere to his policy of nonintervention, "as well as invariable adherence to the sentiments of friendship which the republic has always maintained for all nations of the free world."

All members of the government and leaders of all the armed forces signed the communique.

Rafael Jr. also was made a member of the cabinet as secretary of state without portfolio. Retired Brig. Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, once a close collaborator with Trujillo, was called the leader of the band of killers. Widespread reports that he had an armed band of supporters in the mountains brought an official denial from the war department.

Five other men were named as members of the assassin band. Informers said one or two of them have been captured or killed but some got away and were believed hiding in the mountains.

The savage mutilation of Trujillo's body after he was killed was emphasized in the official version of the killing, possibly to create the impression it was a grudge murder.

The U.S. government kept to a wait-and-see policy on the Dominican Republic before deciding action it could take to swing the Caribbean country toward democracy.

Foreign policy makers in Washington said developments would show whether the carryover right-wing Dominican regime is likely to become more moderate or face overthrow—and then Washington will know better how to apply leverage.

A correspondent for the San Juan Star in Ciudad Trujillo said there were unconfirmed reports that Gen. Diaz is in one of the western provinces near the Haitian border with between 750 and 1,000 men.

A Dominican exile leader in Mexico City, Juan Romero Ullá, said the band that killed Trujillo numbered about 30 men armed with submachineguns and side arms.

Romero said that Gen. Diaz had escaped to the mountains and is heading a revolution with from 1,000 to 2,000 well armed men.

Repercussions Bound To Be Ahead

Assassination of Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo is bound to bring repercussions of uncertain proportions in that tiny Latin American country, and its effects may be felt throughout Latin America in many forms.

For 31 years Trujillo had ruled the Dominican Republic with an iron hand. And although he has instituted many reforms, put the country on a sound economic basis and contributed to its progress, he was still an iron-fisted dictator who had many enemies among various groups in his own country. That a power struggle among these elements will come about in the near future there can be no doubt. With the iron ruler gone, it is highly questionable whether his regime will be able to perpetuate itself in power.

In the Dominican Republic itself, the rest of the Western Hemisphere can expect unsettled conditions probably for months. It is an ideal situation for the communists to try to gain another beachhead in the Western Hemisphere, particularly since Trujillo and Castro have been brought closer together by opposition of the United States and some Latin American nations to both of them.

With many nations of Latin America accustomed to revolutions as the means of shifting from one government leader to another the assassination of Trujillo could be the spark which sets off widespread unrest outside the Dominican Republic itself. It could provide the impetus for groups in other Latin American nations to try to unseat the government now in power either through revolution or through the assassination of key leaders.

One thing is certain. Regardless of the final outcome, the slaying of the Dominican strong man is bound to bring about considerable unrest among the nations of the Western Hemisphere. It may settle down in a few weeks or a few months, or it could ferment for years before a period of genuine calm returns.

Although the dictator of the Dominican Republic presented problems to the United States and other nations of the Western Hemisphere while he lived, the fact that he has been assassinated presents new and perhaps equally difficult problems to most of the nations of the hemisphere.

Last Chance Tomorrow For Voters To Qualify

Tomorrow is the final day of the registration period for the special bond election for the proposed industrial training school for Pitt County. Citizens of the county who are not registered by the time the registration period ends at 6 p.m. tomorrow will not be eligible to vote in the bond election on June 17.

We again urge every citizen of the county who has not registered during this registration period to do so by tomorrow afternoon.

Whether or not Pitt County will have the industrial training school that offers such a great potential for the county and its people will be determined by the outcome of the bond election. And only those who have taken time to register in the past few weeks will have a voice at the ballot box in determining whether the funds will be provided to construct the school.

If you haven't yet registered, we urge you to do so tomorrow. You owe it to yourself, to Pitt County, and to your fellow citizens to do so.

Has A Right To Follow Through

By LYNN NISBET
COMMITTEES — Speaker Joe Hunt showed up at the House insurance committees public hearing session on two important bills. He was immediately spotted by Chairman Sam Whitehurst and recognized for any statement he cared to make on the grounds that the "Speaker is ex-officio of every committee of the House."

Speaker Hunt approached the mike and put in a powerful plug for the bill that would reduce insurance rates for automobile drivers with good safety records. He prefaced his remarks with the statement that he learned something new every day — and he had just learned for the first time that he was a member of every committee. A veteran newsman quipped in a whisper "I thought everybody knew that."

Fact is there is nothing in the rule book of the House or in the General Statutes according to ex-officio committee membership to the Speaker. The idea has prevailed for years, and in previous session Speakers have attended many committee meetings. Oldtimers cannot recall an instance of a Speaker voting in any committee — certainly not when his vote would have changed the result. Ex-officio membership would seem a natural conclusion from the fact the Speaker appoints the committees and assigns all bills to specific groups. His right — perhaps his duty — to follow through on their handling is inherent. Speakers through the years have used wise discretion in exercising the right. So far as your reporter knows from many years experience and observation no Speaker has ever appeared before a committee to state his views without specific invitation of the chairman or the full committee.

INSURANCE — The House committee had before it two bills, both suggested by the automobile drivers financial responsibility act — which is more commonly known as the "compulsory insurance law."

One bill would require all companies writing automobile liability insurance to pay into a "security fund" one-half of one percent of all premiums collected, up to a total of $750,000, as a guarantee that policyholders could collect claims in event the carrying company went broke. The other would set standard rates based on the theory that drivers with good safety records should be able to buy insurance at less cost than those with bad records.

SAFETY — The security fund bill was supported by Insurance Commissioner Charles Gold, who said that the only other "compulsory insurance" required in North Carolina is in connection with workmen's compensation, and a security fund has long been established for that agency. The bill was opposed by spokesmen for the big insurance companies on the grounds it would tend to make companies and agents careless in selection of risks, and in effect it penalized efficient management in favor of incompetence by guaranteeing equal protection — at state expense — of all policyholders, regardless of the stability of the carrying company.

REWARD PLAN — The bill designed to give preferential rates to "safe" drivers brought pretty clear division between mutual and stock insurance companies. Mutual membership companies generally oppose the idea, stock companies generally support it — with enough exceptions in both groups to occasion discussion.

SAFETY — Automobile public liability insurance, especially the compulsory angle is definitely tied-in with traffic safety. The relationship may be indirect, but is none the less obvious. The pending bills are interpreted by opposing sides in almost exactly opposite ways.

Sponsors of legislation that would assure recovery on insurance policies even if the carrying company goes broke contend the effect will be to reduce the individual loss to accident victims. Opponents say it will tend to make drivers more careless and in the long run will contribute to more accidents.

Advocates of the safe driver reward plan insist that it will make drivers more careful in order to maintain their favored status, while opposing insurance companies argue that banning their right to select customers through the "deviation" policy will tend to increase rates for everybody, and thus defeat the announced purpose of the plan.

Our Troubles Just Beginning

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — This country's problem with the Dominican Republic is just beginning. The assassination of Dictator Rafael Leonidas Trujillo did not solve anything.

The 69-year-old Trujillo, after 31 years of tyranny, had outlived his particular time.

The middle class had risen against him. Exiles had invaded him. The Catholic Church had denounced him. And all Latin American nations had broken relations with him.

He survived as long as he did on sheer muscle at a time when social revolutions were sweeping not only Latin America but the world. What outlived him was this:

While all around him the masses of Latin America were demanding greater gratification of their desire for a better life, and a better part in it, he kept his so-called republic frozen in the old ways.

Fidel Castro in Cuba is no less a dictator, with the same contempt for democratic processes. But, beside Trujillo, he looks extremely modern with his promises of a richer life and a sense of belonging for the Cuban masses.

The United States misunderstood this and learned to its dismay, through the disaster of the April invasion, that many Cubans promised better living, support Castro without apparent concern whether he's left or right.

It's an old lesson being relearned painfully around the world: Democracy to people who never really had it means nothing. What they want is to live longer better.

Trujillo had some glimmering of the true nature of this wave of discontent which is sweeping over the dispossessed of Latin America. Like Castro, he pacified the peasants by parceling out land to them. They were docile.

Yet, the farmers scratched out a bare existence. The slum dwellers were ragged. He parceled out little else. He lived in the past. In the end his berserk tyranny — mass arrests, persecutions, executions, repressions — was too excessive, became his undoing as it may become Castro's.

But he, his family and his friends got rich and fat off the public. It's unlikely Trujillo's fat cats will yield control to some other outside, reform force without a struggle. So there may be bloody days.

If they triumph and set up another tyranny without broad reforms, it will be only a matter of time before they too are smashed. The sweep toward a richer life for Latin Americans is too strong for standstill reaction.

The real struggle eventually in the Dominican Republic will be between communism and this country. Meaning: The influence this country can bring to bear through economic aid and support for a reform government.

At this point it's impossible to say on which side the odds lie. It depends on how far the American government is willing to go to keep communism out of the hemisphere.

The Kennedy administration insists it will not intervene in another nation's affairs — which much sound to the Communists like nice nellyism — but did just the opposite in backing the Cuban invasion.

The area in and around the Dominican Republic is getting ripe for explosion. Sharing the same island with it is Haiti, where living conditions and ignorance are appalling.

And right across a narrow strip of water, called the Windward Passage, is the Cuba of Castro who back in 1949 took part in an invasion against Trujillo. The Dominican dictator demolished it.

But Castro now is in better position for invasion and subversion than he was in 1949 and nobody, if he is truly communism's assigned instrument in the Caribbean, he will move against the Haiti-Dominican island.

No matter how you look at it, this is going to be rough.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
FREEDOM AND DESPOTISM
What does it mean to be free? The word liberty is derived ultimately from a Sanskrit word which means "to grow."

Liberty is not easy. It involves sacrifice and pain. If we want to be free let us be assured that we are going to get some kicking around as the result of exercising that privilege. Freedom is marvelous but it has a price tag on it.

Many do not realize that there are people in the world who have no desire to be free. The Russians for instance have lived so long under despotism that our form of free government would probably mean nothing to them. Their choice is between forms of despotism — some good and some bad. Under despotism people do not grow but they may have a sense of security, and there are millions of people in the world who would rather have security which comes from submission to a higher earthly power than to have the inconvenience and sacrifice of liberty.

We of the free world usually think humans scattered over the globe are all longing and pining for liberty. At least as many, if not more, would choose security every time over liberty. This may sound horrifying but it is not incorrect. We cry as did one of our early heroes, "Give me liberty or give me death." But there are millions of others who if they say anything say this: "Give me security or give me death."

You Can Be An Admiral

Want to be an admiral? Well, now, that's not so hard to do.

With apologies to Kentucky colonels, the governor of North Carolina will issue you a certificate commissioning you to the high naval rank.

There's just one little thing, though. A check for $100 made out to the U. S. S. North Carolina Battleship Commission will be required to swing the deal.

If this looks like an out buying of rank, it might be explained that the hundred bucks will be used for moving the U. S. S. North Carolina to Wilmington where it will go on permanent display to all who wish to see it.

And the $100 won't be an absolute gift at that, for the donor will be entitled to lifetime free admission to the great World War II battleship.

Say you don't have $100? Well there's another way to become an admiral. All you have to do is persuade five friends who do have $100 each to make such a contribution to the fund. That, too, will earn you an admiral's commission.

A contribution of $5 will earn a card entitling you to five free admissions to the ship.

All-in-all the commission wants to raise $250,000 throughout North Carolina. Of this, $100,000 will be spent to prepare a site near U. S. 17 at Wilmington to berth the ship. Another $100,000 is to be spent conditioning the U. S. S. North Carolina as a tourist attraction. Finally $50,000 will be required to tow the ship to Wilmington. The big battleship itself, the navy is throwing in for free.

To accomplish the fund raising job, a small navy of land lubbers has been recruited throughout the state. Hugh Morton of Wilmington is head of the drive throughout the state.

In Pitt County Dave Mosier, an honest-to-goodness navy man, has been named an admiral to head the county fund raising drive.

Mosier, a naval reserve commander, participated in engagements in the Pacific with the battleship North Carolina. He was assigned to an aircraft carrier at the time which accompanied the battleship.

Why, by the way, would the navy be willing to give a big battleship to this state? Well battleships are outmoded according to modern war at sea plans. The North Carolina has been in mothballs for years. Since it is apparent that it will never be used again, the only alternative is to cut it up with torches and sell the metal for scrap.

A big number of North Carolinians are determined that this won't happen.

It makes little difference where such a fight occurs on urban renewal and public housing, there is bound to be a fight. In every community of North Carolina today, if urban renewal and public housing are voted upon, there is very likely to be severe opposition from many quarters. These are issues which are sensitive with many people.

Now, the worst result of all is that of confusion. Everybody suffers when there is no planned direction toward which to work. Confusion indicates a standstill in progress, and usually a standstill still generates into a backward movement.

Whatever the eventual course in Greenville, other towns and cities are hoping that one way or the other, the course will be chosen shortly.

Washington and no other town has any right to tell Greenville what it should or should not do. We are not trying to say that. We are merely saying that we, along with many other towns and cities, are watching, and hoping that the matter is settled one way or the other soon.

so close on these two issues must lead to a great deal of confusion. And generally speaking, confusion in city politics or in any branch of government usually leads to unfortunate circumstances.

Actually and practically speaking, since the Greenville story has received such widespread publicity and since what happens in Greenville might serve as a guide for many other communities, the matter very naturally concerns many people outside Greenville.

It makes little difference where such a fight occurs on urban renewal and public housing, there is bound to be a fight. In every community of North Carolina today, if urban renewal and public housing are voted upon, there is very likely to be severe opposition from many quarters. Report On Our System

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

George C. Lodge, Assistant Secretary of Labor for International Affairs, wrote a pamphlet entitled, "The Truth About the American Economic System." Like so many government documents, it is buried away. Nevertheless, I believe this to be about the best presentation I have seen of the American way of life — scholarly, objective, declarative.

Lodge seizes at the heart of the Communist opposition which is that monopoly capitalism is evil and that the United States is ruled by monopoly capitalism. He goes directly at Karl Marx, saying:

"Contrary to his predictions, our economic system has in fact proven to be a spectacularly effective means for the creation and just distribution of wealth. Arising from free business competition, among people enjoying political democracy, the American way has been and is more revolutionary than the state capitalism practiced today by the followers of Marxism-Leninism."

This is understandable language to the younger people not only in the new nations but among the older peoples who wonder what is happening to the crazy world. Lodge gives a sound, constructive answer. He discusses American capitalism with wisdom and pride. He says:

"The exploitative capitalism that Mr. Khrushchev boasts he will bury has long since died in the United States — in fact it ever actually existed. We have produced instead the most effective and egalitarian social and economic system the world has yet known, and it is still evolving, providing an ever-widening distribution of wealth."

The pamphlet goes far to prove that George Lodge is correct and as I read this document, I wonder what the United States has done to give it circulation throughout the world. The weak and backward people usually exploit the federal own inability by pointing to the wealth and natural resources of this country. In a word, we are a product of good luck. George Lodge has another explanation:

"Great quantities of valuable and widely diversified natural resources are within our national boundaries. We have never been subject to overpopulation. Generally we have always had enough to eat. But many other nations, too, have had an abundance of resources and yet failed to realize the potential of this wealth in terms of raising the living standard of their people. Our greatest strength may well be a fact that we never had to suffer the feudal system; that through political democracy achieved early in our national history and through universal suffrage we have been able to control the growth of our economy in the interests of all of our people."

In this pamphlet, succinctly written, is one of the clearest explanations of the American corporation of ever seen anywhere. The development of the professionally managed American corporation which replaced individual or family owners and tycoons and moguls, interested only in building personal fortunes. More than half of the output of American factories and mines is today produced by about 500 corporations. Were these the possession of 500 families or individuals we would probably be suffering from exploitative capitalism. But they are not. The economic power of the corporations is widely distributed and becoming steadily more the possession of the many rather than the few. Actually 500 corporations have about 12,500,000 direct stockholders. Even more important, a large and growing amount of their stock is held by institutions, pension trusts, insurance companies, mutual funds, etc. Probably 50 million Americans receive a share of the profits of the 500 corporations through investment in these institutions.

From this standpoint, the American corporation is a public rather than a private enterprise. The managers are not owners. They are professionals, functioning by systems and rules which build wealth and provide stantial returns.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Nehemiah 8-10; Ecclesiastes 1:12-18; 3:1-14; 5.

In 432 B. C. the Israelites experienced a great religious revival, led by Ezra, the scribe. "And all the people gathered themselves together" while Ezra and the Levites read from the law of Moses every day. "They read . . . distinctly, and gave the sense."—Nehemiah 8:1-3, 8.

Many forgotten religious rites were revived, including the Feast of the Tabernacles, which hadn't been celebrated for 1000 years. "The people went forth . . . and made themselves booths . . . and sat under the booths. . . . And they kept the feast seven days."—Nehemiah 8:16-18.

In sackcloth and ashes the people assembled to humble themselves by mourning and fasting. They confessed their sins and those of their fathers, who had so often asked the Lord's help, then ignored His commandments. "Thou has done right . . . we have done wickedly."—Nehemiah 9.

The priests and Levites entered into a signed covenant "to walk in God's law, which was given by Moses." They promised not to marry with foreigners, to keep the Sabbath and not to "forsake the house of our God."—Nehemiah 10.

THE POWER OF THE WORD OF GOD COMPARED TO THE INEFFECTUAL WISDOM OF MAN

Scripture—Nehemiah 8-10; Ecclesiastes 1:12-18; 3:1-14; 5.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS WEEK'S lesson begins with the Israelites' discovery of new meaning in their lives through the religious revival led by Ezra.

Ezra was a scribe, the first such mentioned in the Bible. There were always the scribes who acted as secretaries to rulers; Ezra and those that followed him were a different kind of scribe, one who interpreted the laws. They differed from prophets in that prophets declared new messages, whereas scribes "interpreted the messages that had been previously recorded." (Wilbur Smith in "Peloubet's Select Notes".)

In just this way Ezra about 432 B.C. interpreted the laws of Moses to his people, renewing rites and—more important—the meanings of rites which had commemoration of the time when the Israelites a thousand years before had lived in temporary huts after God brought them out of Egypt.

The new meaning in life which the Israelites found under Ezra was the joy which comes from returning to forsaken religious thoughts, and from recognizing, confessing and repenting worldly ways.

True happiness is equivalent to holiness, and can come only from a close relationship with God.

The first passage from Ecclesiastes (1:12-18), probably written by Solomon, is reminiscent of the famous legend of Faust.

Solomon confesses that although he has "seen all" and "given (his) heart to know wisdom, and to know madness and long been forgotten or ignored by a people such as ours, busy with the daily complexities of living.

Most of these laws are found in our books of Exodus, Leviticus and Deuteronomy. Ezra would first read from the text; then the Levites would go about among the assembled congregation who "stood in their place," helping them to understand what had been read. Even the directions to the priests were explained to the people so that the priests would not become aloof or haughty about their knowledge.

The Feast of the Tabernacles was one of the rites revived (Nehemiah 8:14-18). For it the people built booths or huts on top of their homes, in front of them or in the streets. In these they lived for seven days, in folly," he realizes now that there is even more to life than wisdom. Even wisdom must be God-centered to give true meaning to life.

The second Ecclesiastes passage (3:1-14) points out the necessity of fitting in with the laws of God and nature, rather than trying to buck them, for a meaningful life. "For everything there is a season, and a time for every purpose under heaven."

Ecclesiastes 5 lists many short proverbs which help give meaning to life. Among these is the admonition not to make empty promises.

Most important, it points out, enjoy life itself and the good which comes from the inner satisfaction of honest labor well done. Material wealth—"You can't take it with you!"

Sokolsky Col. (Continued from page four) profits. Management now usually comes out of the work force. As Lodge says: "The American worker has never thought of himself as a member of the oppressed proletariat. Through his union he has become an equal partner in the labor-management relationship and bargains collectively normally without the intervention of government to secure a just share of the fruits of his labor. His union also protects the American worker's security in his job and his promotion rights. It enables him to determine jointly with management the conditions under which he works. . . . The American system is unique because it is conceived in freedom. As long as it remains a free system, it will survive. And that—freedom—is the problem of our era."

Tag Day Sale To Help New Leukemia Center Is Slated

FIRST IN LINE to help St. Jude Hospital and research center, George Coffman (left) Saturday.

A tag-day sale, to further the nationwide campaign for a hospital and research facility geared specifically to fight leukemia, will be held in the Greenville business district Saturday.

"This project represents a great hope for leukemia-stricken children and their families," says Mrs. Louise Carrigan, leading Women of the Moose in their sponsorship of the drive in Greenville.

"St. Jude's Hospital is rapidly nearing completion in Memphis. It will be more than a hospital, it will also be a major center of research to find a cure for a disease that today has no known cure."

St. Jude's Hospital and Research Center is fulfillment of a vow made by entertainer Danny Thomas, years ago, to build a shrine to "the patron saint of the hopeless." His efforts have drawn support from nearly every state in the Union.

The multi-million dollar institution will care for its young patients, regardless of creed or color, free of charge.

"Eight chapters of the Women of the Moose, in North Carolina, are participating in sponsorship of this 'March With Danny' campaign," says Mrs. Carrigan, who is Deputy Grand Regent of the Carolinas in the WOTM.

In addition to the tag day campaign, sponsors are also giving a benefit dance at the Greenville Moose Lodge Saturday night. It will be open to all Lodge members, their escorts, and guests.

George Saad is City Director in the March With Danny campaign.

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Two Seattle firms turned down a $150,000 order Thursday for six advanced-type automatic lumber sorting machines because they would go to the Soviet Union.

Presidents of the two companies said Moscow was trying to buy North American technical know-how in building the world's largest automated sawmill "and we will have no part in handing this advantage to our sworn enemy."

They said the Soviets are 20 years behind.

Gordon B. Anderson of Puget Sound Fabricators, Inc., estimated the profit on the deal would have been $40,000.

The order was placed by Yarrows Ltd., Victoria, B.C., which has been commissioned by the Soviets to build an automated sawmill and ship it to the Soviet Union.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An uncle of rock 'n' roll star Elvis Presley has filed a bankruptcy petition, listing debts of $5,817 and $410 in assets, including $10 in cash.

Travis J. Smith, gatekeeper at Presley's suburban estate here, said his nephew didn't know about his financial trouble, which he attributed to heavy medical expenses.

Same Red Tape Is Everywhere

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dr. Albert Sabin, Cincinnati virus researcher, says he found just as much red tape in Russia as the United States, but he found a Soviet scientist who could cut it.

Dr. Sabin, who developed a live-virus polio vaccine used much in the Soviet Union, said the scientist, Prof. Mikhail Chumakov, managed to stay ahead of bureaucratic snarls.

He said the professor on his own turned his Moscow institute into a production center to make Sabin vaccine. Dr. Sabin said it set him a smart move because "I know from my four trips to the Soviet Union that red tape can be redder there than anywhere else."

Deadly familiar! Too fast to stop! Too eager!

More than 1,000 drivers die in collisions with trains each year. Too familiar with a railroad crossing, they forget to look! Going too fast, they can't stop! Too anxious, they try to beat out a train . . . and die. Records show it's the crossing close to the driver's home that kills most often. Never ignore this crossroad sign.

Steps Between Guns, Wounded

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A 48-year-old housewife was gravely wounded Thursday when she stepped between her husband and another man as they fired at each other with pistols, officers report.

Mrs. J. J. Mixon of Harbor Island stopped a .45 caliber slug in her chest. At Cape Fear Memorial Hospital her condition was described as critical.

Officers charged her 55-year-old husband and Russell Brock, 52, with engaging in an affray with deadly weapons with intent to kill, and inflicting serious injury.

Sheriff Marion W. Mills said that Mixon, a parking meter mechanic for the Wilmington police department, stopped at Brock's service station at noon Thursday and warned Brock to stay away from the Mixon home.

Shortly after Mixon arrived home, the sheriff said, Brock drove up and stepped from his car with a .32 pistol in his hand. Sheriff Mills said that Mixon grabbed a .45 pistol, went into the front yard and they began firing.

The sheriff said that Mixon's gun jammed with two bullets left in it and that Brock emptied his gun. They continued to fight with fists at the home of a neighbor before officers arrived to break up it, the sheriff said.

Mixon suffered a minor leg wound which was treated at the hospital.

KILLER PLANNING WEDDING IN JAIL. FRANKLIN, Pa. (AP)—A convicted young murderer has applied for a marriage license, and officials say the ceremony is expected to take place next Wednesday in jail.

A deputy sheriff escorted Douglas Keller, 24, of Franklin to the Venango County Courthouse on Thursday where he made application to marry Joyce Leonard of Franklin.

Keller and two other young men were convicted on Memorial Day of second-degree murder in the fatal beating of Robert Mays, 65, a picnic grove operator.

Keller has not been sentenced.

BANNED HAIRDO — Janice Roncovich, 13, displays the hairdo which will bar her from graduation exercises at Adams Intermediate School at Redondo Beach, Calif. School officials don't like the eighth grader's hair style and notified her parents she failed to comply with regulations by not changing it when told to do so. Janice says she can pick up her diploma after graduation exercises. (AP Wirephoto)

Sent Regrets To Distant Kin. Pont-Saint-Espirit, France (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy took time out from the Paris festivities to think of Danielle Bouvier, 19, a distant relative, who was killed in a motor crash at Villefranche-Sur-Saone last Monday.

She sent a telegram to the dead girl's family: "I am deeply moved at the grief which strikes you, and I beg you and all the members of your family to accept my sincerest sympathy."

Mrs. Kennedy is descended from the Bouvier family of Pont-Saint-Espirit in southern France.

After 47 Years, Making Way For Automation

CALIFON, N. J. (AP) — For 47 years, Mrs. Mary Dumbridge has been telling people, "Sorry, your time is up." But when the telephone exchange in this West Jersey community goes dial later this year, the time will be up for Mrs. Dumbridge.

Mary was just a youngster 58 years ago when the first Califon switchboard was installed in her family's dining room by the New Jersey Telephone Co. The board has remained in her house ever since, with Mary's sister, Mrs. Albert Hagaman, preceding her as the first telephone operator—for $5 a month.

"I remember when I could clean house between calls," Mrs. Dumbridge recalls. "If my father was on the board, he had time to cut the grass."

They had telephone numbers in the old days "but we didn't use them," Mrs. Dumbridge says. "They'd just call me and say, 'Mary, I want to talk to John,' or somebody like that. I knew everybody by their first name."

Builders Triumph Over College View

Danny Thomas Group May Buy Sox Within Week

CHICAGO (AP)—Controlling interest of the Chicago White Sox may be in the hands of entertainer Danny Thomas and his associates within a week.

In the opening game of the season's Teener League play, at Guy Smith Stadium, last night, Home Builders roared back in the sixth inning, scoring nine runs to overcome a 5-2 deficit, and went on to defeat College View, by a score of 12-6.

The first two innings of last night's clash were deadlocked, with the scoreboard showing one run for each of the two clubs.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Kiwanis Triumph In the battle for first place in the North State League standings, James Manning and Jack Cobb combined their efforts on the mound to limit the Jaycees to one hit.

Stuart Jones, Donnie Brewer, Bob Brown, and Mark Tipton led the winners' four-hit attack, each collecting one hit.

For the losers, Cleve Branch had the lone hit, a double which came in the first inning.

Kenneth Beamon pitched five-hit ball, yesterday afternoon, as his Elks defeated the Exchange 3-1.

Beamon, who received credit for the win, struck out nine Exchange batters, and issued no free passes.

The leading hitters for the winners were Milton Hadley and David Fowler. Hadley collected a double and a single in three at-btempts, while Fowler had two singles in three trips to the plate.

Mike White led the losers at the plate and on the mound. White's single in the first frame scored the lone Exchange tally. White was charged with the loss.

FSU, Mounties Face Duel In Playoffs

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—The Florida State Seminoles and the West Virginia Mountaineers are right back where they started in the District 3 NCAA baseball tournament — facing each other.

Only now, a loss will eliminate one of them.

And in the driver's seat is Duke University, Atlantic Coast Conference champion.

The odd-ball scheduling results from the lack of a Southeastern Conference representative in the district tournament which will send one team to Omaha, Neb. June 9-15 for the NCAA College World Series.

Louisiana State, turned down its berth in the playoffs because of the possibility of meeting a team with a Negro player.

Florida State, with a six-hit pitching performance by Ray McShane, edged Southern Conference champion West Virginia 3-1 Thursday night in the opening game of the District 3 tournament.

The Seminoles, the at-large team in the tournament, then lost to Duke, which had drawn a bye, 7-2 in the nightcap. And McShane, who had come on in relief, was the loser, because of his wild throw.

The game was tied 2-2 in the eighth. Catcher Art Browning singled and winning pitcher Ron Kalish bunted. McShane fielded the bunt, threw wild into left field and Browning scored, starting a five-run Duke rally, mostly on six walks given up by Jerry Turner and Rick Madison, who followed McShane to the mound.

The victory, which avenged four straight Duke losses to Florida State in the first four games of this season, was an example of the breaks — and capitalizing on them — which have brought the Blue Devils to their commanding position in this tournament.

Two weeks ago, Duke had ended its season but for a rain date with Virginia, postponed indefinitely. North Carolina was sailing to the ACC title, but in their final two games the Tar Heels lost two to Virginia, the ACC's seventh place team, for a 10-4 record.

Duke, then 10-3, rescheduled the Virginia rainout, got a masterful pitching performance from Don Altman and won the game, the ACC title and the tournament berth.

Altman started for the Blue Devils Thursday night and had a 2-0, three-hit shutout going until the seventh when FSU scored once on Bob Madison's double and Buddy Teagle's single. He went to the showers after giving up the tying run in the top of the eighth.

Smith Heads For Atlanta To Contend For Cup Berth

By KEN ALYTA GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)— Determined Charlie Smith heads for Atlanta Saturday to continue his uphill battle for a berth on the U.S. Walker Cup team.

His goal is one of the 10 places available to a field of 44 sectional qualifiers for the U.S. Open Golf tournament, opening June 15 at Detroit.

The Gastonia automobile dealer had to survive local qualifying last week at Greenville, S.C., to gain a place in the Atlanta competition. At Greenville he shot 143, finishing second to Aiken, S.C., pro Harold Kneece in a field of 29 players, 22 of them pros.

Now he must outscore at least 34 of his 43 rivals at Atlanta's East Lake course if he is to continue on to Detroit.

The husky 30-year-old former Citadel golfer has played the course, but it has been changed since he last saw it and he wants to get a look at the revamped layout before Monday's 36 holes are played.

Smith had a fine record last spring, winning the North and South Amateur at Pinehurst and the Southern Amateur at Myrtle Beach, S.C.

He lost a 21-hole semifinal match to Bill Hynman of Philadelphia last April in defense of his North and South crown. He plans to defend the Southern at Knoxville beginning June 19.

Smith wants to qualify for the U.S. Open, and go on to make a strong showing at Detroit to impress the selection committee.

A picked squad of nine top U.S. amateurs, plus three alternates, will be named, probably the week after the Open, to represent the United States against a similar squad of British players in Seattle in the fall.

U.S. Golf Association officials have studied the field for months. The championship committee will meet at Detroit a few days before the Open to evaluate the picture.

Snead Puts U.S. In Lead For Cup

By HAROLD CLAASSEN Associated Press Sports Writer DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico (AP)—Sam Snead put the United States into the lead of the ninth annual Canada Cup matches but the man the experts were chattering about today as the golfers teed off for the second round was little Ben Arda of the Philippines.

Unknown outside his island country until the current tourney, Arda, is the talk of the clubhouse on the 7,115-yard Dorado Beach course because of his picture swing.

In the first round he shot a 69, duplicating his final practice tour over the tropical par 36-36-72 layout. That was good enough to give him a tie for second with Al Baiding of Canada and Peter Thomson of Australia, behind Snead's spectacular 5-under-par 67.

But Arda's total was made the hard way. Only a few hours before teeing off, he received a cable from his home that his wife was suffering from a heart condition.

His 69 and the 76 of Celestino Tugot lifted the Philippines into fourth place in the team standings with 145, five strokes more than the Snead-Jimmy Demaret combination needed to give the United States a start on defending a cup it won a year ago at Dorado. Snead cut two strokes off the way out, but still was a stroke down to Demaret. Then a heat and the lack of tough play hit the ex-Texan and he scrambled for two successive double bogeys on the home nine and wound up with a 73.

Behind the United States in the team standings it was the favored Australian duo of Thomson, four time British Open champion, and Kel Nagle, current British Open champ, with 143, Wales third at 144 and then the Philippines, followed by a three-way deadlock of Egypt, Argentina and Colombia at 146.

Stakes Running Favors Carry Back As Winner

By ORLO ROBERTSON Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—The Belmont Stakes will be run for the 93rd time Saturday and it's odds-on that Carry Back will be in front at the end of the testing 1½ miles and become the ninth horse to wrap up the coveted triple crown for 3-year-olds.

Post time for the longest leg of the triple crown series, which also includes the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, is 3:50 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. The race at Belmont Park, will be nationally televised (CBS) from 3:30 to 4 p.m.

Whether the odds on Katherine Price's darling of the thoroughbreds are 4-5, 3-5 or less depends on the names of the opposition dropped into the entry box today.

Robert Lehman's Ambipolise is the question mark that could well cause a shift in the odds. The son of Ambiorix, whose offspring often have shown an erratic tendency, won last Tuesday's Jersey Derby at Garden State by 10 lengths. Earlier in the season he also easily won the Gotham

Braves Are Still Stumbling In National

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Milwaukee's Braves still are stumbling around the mid-section of the National League standings, and after getting a tongue lashing from Manager Charlie O'Fessen they now have been given the bum's rush by the ump and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

No more than two games over or under 500 thus far, it looked like they might have found the spark Thursday night, when they scored twice in the first inning, but they wound up with an 8-2 thumping by the Pirates in a game called after seven innings because of rain.
It was the second straight over Milwaukee for the Bucs, who piled up 17 runs and 24 hits in the sweep while beating the Braves' two aces, Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette.

Burdette took the rap in this one, and was tossed out of the game after arguing with Umpire Bill Jackowski. The flare up came when Jackowski disapproved of a high-tight pitch to Roberto Clemente—the first Buc to face Burdette after Dick Groat had hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning.

THIS GREENVILLE MAN was hooking choice Pompano at the new Bogue Inlet Pier near Morehead City this week. Shown with two of them is Heber Stett, of 113 N. Jarvis St., Greenville.

The defeat, fourth in five games, put the Braves three games behind the fourth place Pirates and six back of league leading Cincinnati. The Reds, idle Thursday, gained a half-game edge when St. Louis defeated San Francisco 7-6 and knocked the Giants out of a first place tie. The Chicago Cubs walloped Philadelphia 10-3 in the only other game scheduled.

In the American League, Detroit played a 4-4 tie with Kansas City, in a game held to 7½ innings by rain, and retained a two-game lead over idle Cleveland. Boston beat New York 7-5, and Washington defeated the Los Angeles Angels 3-2.

Groat and Smoky Burgess, who hit two homers, each drove in three runs as the Pirates tagged Burdette (4-4) for seven of their 10 hits. A sacrifice fly by Frank Thomas and a single by Joe Torre drove in the Braves' runs before southpaw Harvey Haddix (4-1), allowing eight hits and striking out seven, started a run of six shutout innings.

Milwaukee traded utility infielder Billy Martin to the Minnesota Twins of the AL Thursday night. In his blow up, which followed Sunday's doubleheader split against last place Philadelphia, Drensen told the Braves "some of you guys won't be with us" after the June 15 trading deadline.

The club made no mention of Drensen's remarks in announcing the Martin trade, an omission that could tag Martin with a bum rap as a scapegoat. The Braves, however, have had Billy on the block since spring training after acquiring second baseman Frank Bolling in a trade.
The Giants, down 6-0, almost pulled it out in the ninth against the Cards. Felipe Alou and Willie McCovey hit solo homers off reliever Lindy McDaniel before Al Ciootte came on and got Orlando Cepeda on a grounder for the final out. Cepeda had homered in the sixth off winner Ernie Broglio (5-5). The Cards scored five in the fifth of loser Mike McCormick (5-4), then scored the clincher on Julian Javier's single in the sixth against reliever Ed Fisher.

George Altman and Don Zimmer hit home runs and each drove in three runs as the Cubs won four in a row for the first time. Frank Sullivan (2-6) was

Betsy Rawls Leads In Western Open

By BARNEY BALLARD
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — If anybody overtakes Betsy Rawls in the Women's Western Open Golf Tournament she'll have to start today or the Spartanburg, S.C., professional will have it all wrapped up.

A 10-year veteran in the pro ranks, Miss Rawls played the Belle Meade course Thursday like she owned it in hanging up a first round card of 69, six strokes below women's par. Officials said it set a course record for women, three strokes under men's par on the well-trapped layout.

Miss Shirley Englehorn of Spokane, Wash., was the only other player to beat par. Her 73 was two under.

The first round was a day for the pros, with 13 leaders coming from the play-for-pay ranks. Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Barbara Fitton of Hamilton, Ohio, and Doris Phillips of Belleville, Ill., amateurs, tied with Patty Berg, the veteran pro, with 78s.

Louise Suga of Cincinnati and Mickey Wright of Dallas, two of the pre-tournament favorites, checked in with 77s, along with five others.

The top 32 and ties after today's second round will compose the championship flight for stroke play over 18 holes Saturday and Sunday.

Griffith Says Not After KO

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World welterweight champion Emile Griffith said today he won't necessarily be gunning for a knock-out over challenger Gaspar Ortega Saturday night in his title fight.

But the 22-year-old New Yorker made it plain he believes he is capable of stopping the shifty, 25-year-old Ortega if he gets within range.

No one expected Griffith to hand a K.O. on ex-champion Benny (Kid) Paret last April 1 at Miami Beach. But suddenly Emile found Paret's jaw with two rocking left hooks in the 13th round and that ended the Cuban's title ownership.

Saturday night's 15-round match will be televised nationally, starting at 7 p.m. PDT, at the Olympic Auditorium, with Southern California and the Mexican border area screened out.

Neither fighter has ever been knocked out, Griffith in his brief career of 25 matches, Ortega in 82.

Ortega has scored 22 knockouts but is primarily a boxer who keeps boring in, throwing gloves. Griffith was more renowned for his skill than power hitting until he flattened Paret.

Detroit Tigers Hold Lead Over Indians In AL Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Tigers were held to a 4-4 tie by Kansas City in a game called after 7½ innings because of rain Thursday and retained a two-game lead over idle Cleveland in the American League race. Boston beat New York 7-5 and Washington defeated the Los Angeles Angels 3-2 in the ninth inning on a passed ball by catcher Earl Averill with two out and a two-run pinch double by Gene Woodling.

Pittsburgh rapped Milwaukee 3-2 in a game held to seven innings because of rain, and the Chicago Cubs walloped Philadelphia 10-3. The Senators were blanked on five hits for eight innings by Elv Grba. But when he gave up his fifth walk, to Chuck Hinton leading off the ninth, Manager Bill Rigney called in reliever Ryne Duren.

NAIA Track Meet Opens Friday

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Four hundred of this country's finest small college athletes are primed for the start of the 10th annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) track and field meet here Friday night.

Entrants, representing 93 colleges in 26 states, include such standouts as premier world broad jumper Ralph Boston and some headed by Stone Johnson of Grambling (La.) College.

Also on hand is Olympic star Wilma Rudolph. Meet officials were working to arrange an exhibition race for her; but with no assurance it would be possible. Lack of competition is the drawback.

The only finals tonight will be in the discus, broad jump and three mile run.

UNC Golfer Wins Tourney Honors

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Bob Galloway, a University of North Carolina golfer from Winston-Salem, won the medal with a two-under-par 69, Thursday in qualifying for the four-day Hendersonville Invitational.

Three players were only one stroke behind Galloway over the 6,207-yard Hendersonville Country Club course — Wayne Bradburn, Brevard; Chuck Hutton, Hendersonville; and George Pruitt, Greenville, S.C.

Last year's champion, Ken Roper of Winston-Salem, was far behind the leaders, with a 78. Bill Perry of Greer, S.C., shot an even-par 71 and four players were one-over with 72s: Jim Dowlin of Asheville, George Sexton of Hendersonville, Bob Smith of Asheville and Ken Folkes of Concord.

CHAPTER 12 Startling Sal, as though she had read his thoughts, Priscilla Mullins turned to him with a smile: "Isn't it time for our lesson?"

"But—" He wagged his hands. "Don't you want to look at the New World?" "There isn't much to be seen," she pointed out. "And besides, we have plenty of time. Come along."

"I'll get the Book," said Priscilla. Billington did not beating about the bush. "This patent we're supposed to be working under—you've heard what the men're saying about it?"

New England would free them of their contractual obligations—or if somebody put that idea there—Sal shuddered to think of what might happen to this venture. "I don't know why you broach this to me," he said coldly. "I'm no separatist."

When Sal turned to greet Priscilla the scowl was gone. It would have evaporated anyway, without effort, at the sight of her. She wore gray-blue muslin caught up with scarlet, and a pert white bonnet.

Robert Coffin, a mate, stood above them, and he crooked a finger at Sal. "You, pirate. They're putting the longboat over, and you're to go ashore with the party."

She tried to make it sound mocking, but did not altogether succeed. "Would you miss me?" he asked. "Yes," she said simply. "I would."

More 'Freedom Riders' Gather In Alabama

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New groups of "Freedom Riders" gathered in Montgomery, Ala., today even as the Justice Department awaited an answer to its demand for an injunction to protect the riders from mob violence.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. was expected to give his decision today on the federal government's request for a no-violence restraining order against Montgomery police authorities, two Ku Klux Klan factions and four individuals.

Also pending before the court were counter requests to prohibit Freedom Rider groups—including the Congress of Racial Equality—from interfering with interstate bus travel.

Johnson earlier dismissed a Justice Department injunction request against Birmingham police authorities and one KKK faction. The New Freedom Riders—four white persons and seven Negrees—arrived in Montgomery late Thursday with the announced intent by most of them to make a new integration attempt before leaving for Jackson, Miss., and New Orleans.

In Mississippi, acting Gov. Paul Johnson urged residents of the state to let the law take its course. Jackson police have arrested 52 integrationists. Of this group, 10 have been released but the rest are taking part in a hunger strike which they vow will continue until federal authorities intervene to end segregation in bus and rail facilities throughout the South.

During the four-day hearing in Montgomery, Johnson heard testimony about the uprisings in Montgomery, Birmingham and Anniston, Ala., that prompted the Justice Department's demand for injunctions.

A Greyhound bus carrying one group of segregation-challenging white and Negro riders through the South was first attacked by a white crowd at Anniston May 14, then set afire a short distance from the city.

Another bus load of Freedom Riders, traveling out of Atlanta by Trailways, was waylaid when it reached Birmingham the same day.

After drivers refused to take the bus out of Birmingham for fear of further violence, the stalemate ultimately was broken after the intervention of federal authorities, and another group of riders journeyed by Greyhound to Montgomery on May 20.

A howling mob of white men and women clubbed and beat the racially mixed riders—and some bystanders—at the Montgomery bus terminal, leaving at least 20 victims battered and bloody.

Another riot exploded the following night when a mob stormed a Negro church where the Freedom Riders and Negro churchgoers were attending Sunday night services. Gov. John Patterson proclaimed martial rule to restore order.

Montgomery Police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan, defending his own acts and those of his officers, sharply denied the government's charge that police deliberately failed to protect the Freedom Riders.

He said no extra police were assigned to guard the bus terminal here because no mob was evident before the bus arrived and "there was no indication that there would be trouble."

When the riot began, Sullivan said, police were rushed to the bus depot as quickly as possible.

In other racial developments: The State Department is supporting the government's drive to wipe out race barriers in interstate transportation facilities. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said, in a letter to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, race discrimination "prejudices our position before the world."

An African Negro, Kamara Cheik, was refused service at a Rapid City, S. D., restaurant while making a tour of the United States for the government of Guinea. However, the African highway engineer told his embassy that the incident was unfortunate but not serious.

A Birmingham, Ala., Negro leader, the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, was convicted on two breach of peace charges growing out of Freedom Rides. In each case he was fined $500 and sentenced to 90 days in jail. He said he would appeal.

A Louisville, Ky., juvenile court judge dismissed all pending cases of juveniles arrested during anti-segregation demonstrations in the downtown area.

In Norfolk, Va., 113 Negroes applied prior to Thursday's deadline for admission in September to white or predominantly white schools.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said, following a survey, that it found racial discrimination in 9 of 11 railway terminals between West Palm Beach and Miami.

The Freedom Rider movement drew support from many sources, Michael J. Quill of New York,

Army To Push Training Of Nat'l Guard And Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army, trying to meet President Kennedy's requirements for a combat-ready reserve, plans to intensify training of National Guard and reserve divisions ticked for quick callup in event of emergency.

But Army officers voiced serious doubts today that these measures, involving an increase in weekly drills and summer training, would be enough to get the citizen-soldiers in shape for rugged field service.

From talks with Army officials, it was evident many problems remain to be solved before realization of Kennedy's plan to mount a force of 10 Guard and reserve divisions set to move to trouble spots within a few weeks after being ordered to duty.

There was an undercurrent of skepticism that the plan ever would work out the way Kennedy outlined it to Congress.

In his special message last week, the President said the Army "is developing plans to make possible a much more rapid deployment of a major portion of its highly-trained reserve forces."

When these plans are completed, Kennedy said, two combat-equipped divisions could be ready in an emergency for operations within but three weeks, and a total of 10 divisions with less than eight weeks notice.

Not the smallest of the problems is re-equipping the Guard divisions, now using mostly gear of World War II vintage.

And there is a political problem too. Army officials indicated some governors will have to be persuaded to give up strength in Guard units under their control to permit building up of divisions earmarked for the quick reaction reserve force.

Of the 27 infantry and armored divisions in the National Guard, seven infantry divisions are designated as high priority units constituting a ready reserve.

These seven divisions, whose identity is kept secret, would be the first to be drawn on for emergency duty, Army officers said.

The other three divisions for the quick reaction force contemplated by Kennedy likely would come from among 10 reserve combat infantry divisions.

Six of these reserve divisions are rated as priority units because they have higher authorized strength levels. They are the 77th of New York, the 79th of Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland, the 83rd of Ohio and West Virginia, the 90th of Texas, the 102nd of Illinois and Missouri and the 103rd of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The Army is banking on the readiness of the 10 backup divisions, partly because many of their members will have had at least six months recent active duty in the Army, or its equivalent.

But Army officers noted, too, that many of the enlisted men and junior officers in these divisions are World War II veterans—some in their 40s.

Right now, members of Guard and reserve units undergo 48 once-a-week drills and as many as six weekend exercises a year. They also go to summer camp for two weeks a year.

Plans now contemplate increasing the number of two-day weekend drills to permit more intensive unit field training. In many cases, the once-a-week drills actually are classroom affairs.

Also, the Army hopes to extend the summer training period, perhaps to three weeks or a month.

Even with a step-up in part time training, Army officers were dubious that the men—coming out of civilian life—would be physically ready to withstand the rigors of combat within weeks of a call to active duty.

A Birmingham, Ala., Negro leader, the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, was convicted on two breach of peace charges growing out of Freedom Rides. In each case he was fined $500 and sentenced to 90 days in jail. He said he would appeal.

A Louisville, Ky., juvenile court judge dismissed all pending cases of juveniles arrested during anti-segregation demonstrations in the downtown area.

WALL STREET
NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices continued mixed early this afternoon as Wall Street kept a wary eye on the coming Kennedy-Khrushchev conference. Trading was slow.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 249.50 with industrials up .30, rails off .20 and utilities off .10.

Changes were fractional among most key stocks but copper was soft in continued response to the cut in copper scrap prices. Some of the copper shares fell more than a point.

Motors, drugs and mail order-retail stocks were steady to a bit higher. Chemicals, steels and oils were mixed.

As coppers beat a retreat, Anaconda was down 1½. International Nickel 1½. Kennecott, American Smelting and Phelps Dodge took fractional losses.

Motors responded only slightly to news of bigger production.

Lockheed was off about a point. Other aircrafts were moderately lower.

Fractional gains were made by General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Commonwealth Edison, Bethlehem, American Tobacco and Pfizer.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .75 at 696.12. Corporate and U.S. government bonds declined.

Required Drivers Education Course Held Important

A step "important for the future" is to require drivers license seekers to take a drivers education course before being issued an operators permit, John C. Noe, coordinator of Safety Education for the Department of Public Instruction, told the Pitt County Safety Council yesterday.

The safety coordinator followed the growth of the state's high school driver education classes by explaining that 10 years ago when the first classes were taught, only 34 schools gave the classes, and these were on a limited basis. These pilot programs continued and during the 1958-1960 school year, according to Noe, 60 per cent of the students of drivers age were offered instruction.

During the past school year, 100 per cent of the administrative school systems, and 872 of the 890 public high schools in the state offered drivers education on an elective basis.

He emphasized that these courses are not required, but stated they are of great value and promote safer driving. He illustrated the fact that the courses produce safer drivers by noting most insurance companies give a reduced rate to drivers who have completed a drivers education course.

He explained that the courses include a minimum of 30 clock hours of classroom instruction, then a minimum of six-hours of individual "behind the wheel" instruction—including 75 miles of driving.

Noe urged the council to back the drivers education program and urged as many "youngsters as possible to take advantage of the program."

PITT COUNTY'S ACCIDENT PICTURE . . . is explained to Pitt Safety Council Chairman Luther D. Moore by John C. Noe, Coordinator of Safety Education for the Department of Public Instruction, who spoke to the council yesterday.

Noe, who spoke to the Council on the Driver Education program in the State's high schools, explained one step many states are

Expanded Minimum Wage Bill Enacted

RALEIGH (AP) — After beginning its legislative journey with two strikes, a bill extending the state's minimum wage act to workers in small businesses found itself today safely on the law books.

It was enacted without a whimper of dissenting debate in the Senate Thursday.

Passage of the measure was reminiscent of the 1959 fight over the original 75 cents an hour bill. The House wrangled over it for hours and the Senate sent it through as if it were a local measure.

The 1961 bill extends coverage to persons in establishments employing four or more workers. The old act applied only to businesses with six or more.

The State Labor Department estimated that an additional 19,000 workers could come under the bill which becomes effective Jan. 1, 1962.

New 'King' Of The Scofflaws

NEW YORK (AP)—This city has a new king of the scofflaws. He is Eugene Heil, 40. He received his title Thursday from Chief City Magistrate Abraham M. Bloch in the form of a $6,375 fine, a 60-day jail sentence, and the threat of an additional 600 days if he fails to pay the fines.

Heil, a textile salesman, disregarded 196 traffic summonses. The previous scofflaw king had 187 tickets.

Two Fires For Winterville Area

WINTERVILLE — Volunteer firemen from Winterville reported two fires in this vicinity yesterday — one, a kitchen ceiling, and the other, an oak tree.

Firemen were called to the oak tree about 8 last night. The burning tree was located on the Thad Little property, close to Reedy Branch. Fire had started in the hollow tree and was shooting out the branches, firemen said.

Firemen were called to put out the blaze, since the tree was near some buildings. Origin of the fire is unknown.

About $40 damages resulted from fire to a kitchen ceiling at the home of Miss Lottie Ellis, located about three miles east of Winterville on the Tar Road. The fire apparently resulted from an overheated wood cook stove, firemen said.

Favor Setting Minimum Speeds

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate Public Roads Committee approved bills today to set minimum highway speeds and to require all new cars to have anchor plates for the installing of safety belts.

The group agreed to report out the minimum speed bill and in the meantime have the Highway Department draw up amendments to make it clear it would apply only to primary and interstate highways.

The minimum speed would be 40 miles an hour on a 55 m.p.h. highway, 45 on a 60 m.p.h. highway.

Built In Love, Smashed In Grief

NORWALK, Calif. (AP) — A child's toy box . . . built by love, destroyed by grief.

Donald E. Brown made the box himself to hold the treasures of his three children.

Thursday night, his 14-month-old nephew, Larry Bacon, came visiting. The tot wandered into a bedroom, spotted the box, and bent over to examine the things inside.

Somewhat, the lid fell, striking his neck.

The boy was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Brown took the box into his back yard and smashed it into a thousand pieces.
