

$940,000 City Budget Has Approval; No Tax Increase

Greenville's City Council gave unanimous approval late yesterday to a $940,000 budget for the new fiscal year, holding the line on the present tax rate of $1.38.

Tentative approval of the new fiscal year came in a two and one-half hour meeting in which the mayor and members of the council adopted an interim budget ordinance and then went on to iron out final details of the city's new budget.

The decision of the mayor and council to hold the present tax rate at $1.38 per $100 valuation came after City Manager Louis Scheipers and former City Manager Leonard Bloxam expressed the opinion the city could operate on the budget permitted by the $1.38 tax rate.

"I feel we can operate on this budget," Scheipers told the Council. "Things are being left out, but I feel we can get by and have an efficient operation."

Bloxam concurred in Scheipers' opinion, asserting he felt the city could "operate efficiently" on this budget.

The $940,000 budget for the new fiscal year is $83,400 higher than the city's budget for the fiscal year which ends today, but approximately $110,000 less than the amount requested by the various departments of the city.

On the revenue side of the budget, the city anticipates a gain of almost $31,000 from the same tax rate next year over this year because of the increase in property valuations, and it gained another $29,000 from the revolving paving fund made possible by the bond issue approved by voters during this fiscal year. The turnover by the Utilities Commission to the city will move up to $156,667 next year under the new formula in operation, a $6,667 increase over the past year. Another $6,000 increase in revenue over this year is anticipated from Powell Bill funds, plus $12,000 in Powell Bill funds on hand, and $2,000 more is anticipated from collection of prior year's taxes.

Discussion at yesterday's budget session centered around proposed capital improvement items requested by departments and contributions the city is making to various organizations. Also considered was the budgeted contingency fund which represents about 1 1/2 per cent of the total budget.

The Councilmen reviewed capital improvement items of various departments not included in the $400,000 for capital improvements designated in the budget possible under the $1.38 tax rate. They concluded a truck and a few other more pressing needs could be added to the capital improvements budget with a tax increase of two to three cents. The city realizes approximately $1,777 from each one cent of the tax rate.

Mayor Charles King told the Council, "We are on the verge of raising the tax rate and I would like to see us not raise it." He added later in the discussion, however, that a small increase might be needed to provide for essential items.

Other members of the council made similar statements during the discussion.

City Manager Scheipers told the Council, "Whether you raise the tax rate two cents or 12 cents, it is going to upset a lot of people. I would say either seven cents or not do anything. I am not advocating seven cents or anything higher." Scheipers added that he felt the city could get along with the budget within the $1.38 rate. Bloxam concurred.

At a budget session earlier this month Councilmen had talked in terms of a five to seven cent increase.

Following the statement of the city manager the Mayor and Councilmen voted unanimously to approve tentatively the budget and the $1.38 tax rate. Final approval of the budget will come late in July or early August because of the legal requirement that the tentative budget must be on record for at least 20 days before it can be finally approved.

The $1.38 tax rate in Greenville has been in effect since the 1957-58 fiscal year when it was increased six cents from $1.32.

A breakdown of the budget by departments showing first the figure for the new year and second the figure for last year is as follows:

Administrative and general government expense: $183,003;

Law and judicial: $12,572; Police Department: $168,290; Fire Department: $109,821; Public Works Department: $193,420; $185,350; Recreation Department: $55,360; $49,698; Health Department: $10,900; same; Debt Service: $80,461; $47,218; Capital Outlay and special capital outlay: $40,367; $30,614; Special appropriations: $47,630; $34,577; Total Budget: $940,671; $857,216.

Housing Of Pitt Tobacco Gets Under Way

HOUSING SEASON UNDERWAY—Pitt County tobacco farmer J. Edgar Warren of Route 4, Greenville, was busy yesterday getting his tobacco barning season underway. His operation, on his farm two miles east of Belvoir, was the first reported in Pitt. Warren said he "pulled about 700 sticks from six acres" during his first day's harvest. It is estimated that most Pitt tobacco harvesting will be underway within the next two weeks. (Reflector Staff Photo)

Social Security Bill Is Now Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed "with great pleasure" legislation increasing Social Security benefits for about 4.2 million Americans and permitting men to draw their benefits at the age of 62.

In signing the bill, Kennedy said the new amendments will make the Social Security System "a more effective instrument for the well-being of our people."

Only seven members of Congress, members of the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee, showed up for the ceremony. "You must be the only members of Congress left in Washington," Kennedy remarked, alluding to the Fourth of July holiday that has all but shut the Capitol down.

The increased benefits will begin showing up in checks received about Sept. 3, the Social Security Administration said.

Under the law, the increases are to start in the month beginning 30 days after signing. So the higher rates go into effect in August and are reflected in the checks mailed around Sept. 1.

Since this is the last day of June, a one-day delay by Kennedy in signing the bill, would have resulted in a one-month delay in effectiveness of the new benefits.

The bill cleared both the House and Senate Thursday with little debate after Senate-House conferees had resolved differences in the various bills passed earlier by both chambers.

Women have been permitted for some time to retire at age 62 and draw benefits.

If a man chooses to retire at 62 he'll receive for the rest of his life 80 per cent of the benefits he would get if he waited until 65. If he retires sometime between 62 and 65 he will receive a pension proportionately larger than 80 per cent.

The new program is expected to cost $825 million in its first year. This is to be met by an increase in the payroll tax. Both employer and employee will have to pay one-eighth of 1 per cent more on the first $4,800 of the employee's annual income. The self-employed will have to increase their Social Security tax by one-fifth of 1 per cent.

Gambling Raids Net 106 Arrests

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nationwide series of raids on organized gambling by Internal Revenue Service agents has netted 106 arrests in 19 cities.

More than $90,000 in cash and 12 automobiles also were confiscated, IRS said. Thursday night, Thursday's coordinated raids were aimed principally at horse race bookmakers and lottery operators.

Senate, government housing officials, and Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia, representing the country's mayors.

In his March housing message to Congress, Kennedy said, in effect, that the housing needs of upper bracket families had been met in the post World War II boom—mostly in new suburban developments.

Government housing officials have emphasized the legislation will be administered with this aim strongly in mind.

The chief provision which will make more families eligible to buy homes is the extension of the mortgage term from 30 years to a maximum of 40 years under the

A Higher Average

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today that price-supported loan rates on individual grades of 1961-crop flue-cured tobacco will average 2.4 cents a pound higher than for the 1960 crop.

Nevertheless, the average of rates for all grades will continue at the previously announced level of 55.5 cents a pound, which is the same as for last year's crop.

The department said increases in support rates of some of the individual grades are necessary to assure growers the support level guaranteed them under farm law.

The grade rates for 1961 tobacco will range from 22 to 82 cents a pound compared with a range of 20 to 82 cents last year. Most of the increases in the individual grade rates will be in the lower grades.

As in the past years, growers will offer their tobacco at auction markets in the usual manner, and price support, if wanted, will be available through the flue-cured tobacco cooperative stabilization corps.

Tied tobacco will carry a 6-cent-a-pound premium over the support rate for untied tobacco. However, support loans will be available on untied tobacco only in the Georgia-Florida marketing area.

As was the case last year, tobacco of three varieties—Coker 139, Coker 140, and Dixie Bright 214—will be supported at one-half the support rate for comparable grades of other varieties. These three varieties are discounted because of quality factors.

The schedule of loan rates by grades will be available at the various auction markets.

Flue-cured tobacco is grown in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

Roney May Head Secondary Roads

RALEIGH (AP)—Ben Roney of Rocky Mount, one of Gov. Sanford's top campaign advisers, is in line for the politically sensitive job of secondary roads officer.

The governor's office announced Thursday that Roney, an oil distributor, will be recommended to the State Highway Commission for the job. Since Sanford will name the commission members, Roney's appointment is assured.

Sanford's selection of Roney, which had been anticipated, followed the example set by FORMER Gov. Luther Hodges, who named Harold Makepeace, his campaign manager, to the secondary roads position. John Swain of Raleigh is the current occupant. He was named by Hodges when Make-peace moved over to gubernatorial private secretary. The secondary roads officer stays in touch with county commissioners and other local officials on matters affecting rural highways.

Since February, Roney has been serving as Sanford's special roads representative. His study of the Highway Commission's relations with local officials served as the basis for the revamping of the commission which the Legislature approved at Sanford's request.

Roney, 50, serves as a link with the late W. Kerr Scott. He was administrative assistant to Scott during the latter's service as governor and U.S. senator. Sanford managed Scott's campaign for the U.S. senate.

Under a 35-year loan, FHA figures this will cut the monthly payment on a $15,000 house to $450. Closing costs could be included in the loan.

Sponsors of the legislation believe that the new terms will fall well short of making eligible for homes all of the 11 million families in the $4,000-$6,000 annual income bracket.

This is the group at which the moderate income provision is aimed, although these limits are not mentioned specifically in the bill.

But the sponsors think several million more may be able to afford apartments that could be built with a subsidized 3 1/2 per cent interest rate and government money under the moderate in-

Study NATO Buildup As Move Preparing For Berlin Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may increase its military forces in Europe to strengthen NATO defenses in preparation for a possible showdown with the Soviet Union later this year over Red threats to West Berlin.

Such a move is understood to be one of the measures being studied by Kennedy administration policy makers for dealing with the Berlin crisis.

President Kennedy met with the National Security Council for two hours and 40 minutes late Thursday to discuss steps that may be taken.

The White House kept the discussions secret, and the news secretary, Pierre Salinger, declined even to say which officials attended.

It was not disclosed when final decisions may be made and action initiated. It is known, however, that top officials believe some redeployment of U.S. forces may be necessary because of the threat posed by Soviet Premier Khrushchev to the position of the Western powers in West Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, speaking in a television interview Thursday night, said one thing which is necessary in the developing crisis is to try to avoid any "miscalculation" by the Soviet Union—of what the Western Allies will do if and when their vital interests are threatened.

Rusk predicted that a number of steps will be taken "aimed at the avoidance of this kind of miscalculation." He did not make any reference to military measures but said there would be "points of clarification, of purpose and procedure and issue."

The range of possible steps under consideration by the President and his chief advisers, including Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, is known to include military measures.

The United States is understood to have been urging its NATO allies to increase their own military strength in Europe so that if a showdown with the Soviet Union develops and a conflict threatens it may be dealt with, at least at the very outset, by nonnuclear means. Kennedy administration officials were cheered by the recent decision of French President Charles de Gaulle to shift a division of French troops from Algeria back to France.

The United States itself has five divisions in Europe out of its total of 14 now in active service. Altogether, U.S. troop strength in Europe totals 250,000 men, but this includes a large number of service and supply troops.

Rusk stressed in his discussion of the Berlin situation Thursday night that the United States intends "to explore every possibility of working out a tolerable peace that is consistent with the vital interests of our country." He said it is important to avoid running into a "dead end" in dealing with the Soviet Union on the Berlin dispute.

There is no doubt, Rusk said, that there will be discussions between the Western powers and the Soviet Union about Berlin, though he would not predict what form negotiations for a settlement might take. That will be determined in the course of discussion, he indicated.

Khrushchev has proposed to make West Berlin what he calls a "free city" with the withdrawal of U.S., British and French forces and the establishment of some kind of international guarantee. The Western powers have rejected this proposal repeatedly on the ground it would lead to domination of West Berlin by Communist East Germany.

In recent weeks Khrushchev has threatened to sign a peace treaty with East Germany by the end of this year. He claims this would wipe out the rights of Western powers with respect to Berlin, including access to the city across East German territory.

Rusk said the Western powers are in Berlin "by right, not by sufferance."

"We have obligations to ourselves and to the people of West Berlin," Rusk said in a transcript of discussion (CBS-At The Source), "and we do not accept the notion that those rights can be terminated, or that the security of the people of that city can be endangered by the unilateral action taken by someone else."

As to how the crisis will develop, Rusk thought that Khrushchev might try to whittle down the rights of the Western powers in slow stages instead of presenting them with an open challenge as dramatic as a forcible interruption of their land or air traffic between West Germany and Berlin.

Such harassment, officials said, could take the form of imposing restrictions on traffic movement and trying to compel the Western military authorities to deal with East German officials. The Western powers do not recognize East Germany.

Rusk said the Allies will have to deal with the situation as it develops. He thought Khrushchev might not wait until the end of the year to begin to put his plans into operation. He also suggested that the Western powers would not wait until the end of the year "to address themselves" to the problem.

The fact is that consultations are now going on intensively between the United States, Britain, France and West Germany and between them and the other members of the 15-nation North Atlantic alliance on preparatory measures which should be taken in the next few months.

Rusk said he is "confident that there will be unity and agreement among the (allied) governments directly concerned."

Crop-Duster Is Unhurt When 'Copter Crashes On Pitt Farm

A Charlotte crop-dusting pilot was uninjured yesterday when his helicopter crashed while spraying bug-killing poison on a tobacco field near Chocoma.

Highway Patrolman R. E. Taylor of Grifton, who witnessed the crash, identified the pilot as Craig Elrod, of 2626 Sheron Road, Charlotte.

Ptl. Taylor said the craft had made one pass down the field and was returning on a second run when one of the rotors struck a barn. The officer, himself a pilot, said "it was just like clipping his wings."

The craft crashed in a tobacco field on the M. W. Smith farm, Route 2, Greenville.

Elrod, who was contacted today, said he is "bruised and broken hearted," but otherwise uninjured. He estimated damage to the $40,000 craft at about $20,000.

The pilot, commenting on the crash, said he was spraying tobacco and just "tried to do a little too close a job," moving in too close to the building.

The tip of the rotor struck the barn, he related and "disintegrated," flipping the airship over onto the ground.

Elrod said CAB and FAA investigators were due to fly to Greenville at 1 p.m. today to view the crash scene.

The pilot, who owns Helicopter Industries Corporation of Charlotte, moved to Farmville with his wife Monday for the summer. He said another helicopter is due in today to replace the wrecked craft, and his crop dusting service "will still be in operation."

Elrod, who said he has over 3,500 hours flying time, reported it was his first aircraft accident. During World War II he flew night fighters in China, he related.

Elrod emphasized the fact that helicopters are "safe and sound" craft, but he was "just trying to crowd it a little too close."

AN ESTIMATED $20,000 DAMAGE was incurred with crash into a tobacco field by crop-dusting Helicopter. The pilot was only shaken up.

New Housing Measure May Build 3 Million Homes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed today a new housing bill which administration officials said could make three million moderate income families eligible to buy their own homes.

The $5,646,000,000 measure also may help other millions find better housing in moderate rental apartments, officials of the Housing and Home Finance Agency reported.

Kennedy himself called the bill the most important and far-reaching legislation in the field of housing since the Housing Act of 1949.

He signed the legislation in a White House ceremony attended by members of the House and Senate, government housing officials, and Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia, representing the country's mayors.

In his March housing message to Congress, Kennedy said, in effect, that the housing needs of upper bracket families had been met in the post World War II boom—mostly in new suburban developments.

Government housing officials have emphasized the legislation will be administered with this aim strongly in mind.

The chief provision which will make more families eligible to buy homes is the extension of the mortgage term from 30 years to a maximum of 40 years under the moderate income family section.

FHA figures this will cut the monthly payment on a $15,000 house to $450. Closing costs could be included in the loan.

The agency will insure under the new program—from $22.95 to $74.85. The stretch-out also would increase the total interest the home buyer would pay.

It is this reduction in monthly payments which brought the rough estimates of eligibility under FHA income rules for 3 million more families.

The bill would give the moderate income family a 35-year mortgage as a matter of right. The term could be lengthened to 40 years if the FHA commissioner felt the buyer's income was inadequate to make the payments under a 35-year loan.

The down payment on a $15,000 house would be $450. Closing costs could be included in the loan.

Sponsors of the legislation believe that the new terms will fall well short of making eligible for homes all of the 11 million families in the $4,000-$6,000 annual income bracket.

This is the group at which the moderate income provision is aimed, although these limits are not mentioned specifically in the bill.

But the sponsors think several million more may be able to afford apartments that could be built with a subsidized 3 1/2 per cent interest rate and government money under the moderate income program.

Nonprofit organizations, such as co-operatives and public agencies other than public housing authorities, could build these

The individual home buyer above the $6,000 level also will get easier terms on FHA loans under the general insurance program.

He could obtain a 35-year mortgage, as compared with the present 30-year ceiling, and get an insured loan on a $25,000 home as against the present $22,500 up.

He also is given a somewhat smaller down payment schedule. This works out, for example, to $1,575 on a $22,500 house as compared with $2,205 under present law.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Minshaw Jr. of Wallace, a daughter, on June 29, 1961 in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Langston H.D. Hostess

The Renston-Nobles Home Demonstration Club held its regular meeting June 28, in the home of Mrs. C. D. Langston.
Mrs. Wiley Waters, president, presided over the meeting and welcomed the visitors, Miss Maria Mussnick, a Brazilian Home Economist living in Pitt County for three weeks, was a special guest. The devotion was given by Mrs. J. B. Speight.
Leaders' reports were given by Mrs. J. B. Speight on pickles and jellies, and Mrs. Wiley Waters on the district craft workshop held recently at East Carolina College.
The club voted to meet in the Home Economics Office July 6 for their July meeting.
Mrs. C. D. Langston, leader, gave the demonstration on "Skillet One-Dish Meals." She explained the food value of the dish. Miss Mussnick prepared a Brazilian one-dish meal, which was compared to the one Mrs. Langston made. It was found to contain the same food value as the American one-dish meal. Club members were urged to use plenty of milk and milk products in their diets.
During the recreational period, Miss Mussnick showed slides of her country.
Mrs. Obed Castelle received the door prize and Miss Mussnick was remembered with a hand-made red organdy party apron.

Mrs. Ola L. Porter entertained Miss Mary Elizabeth Sutton Saturday night at a shower in the Winterville Community Building.
The bride-elect was presented a white glanella corsage. Upon arrival, guests were greeted by Miss Sutton and the hostess.
A color scheme of green and white was used. Wedding rings were used as a centerpiece for the mantel with candles on either side. The appointed table had a centerpiece of carnations and baby's breath.
Guests were served bridal cakes, punch, mints and nuts.
The bride-elect was presented a shower of gifts.

ALL GROUCHES PLEASE LEAVE
because summer's here, and anybody who doesn't go in for fun in a big way had better hibernate till September. It's picnic time, trip time, beach time, Picture-time, too. Of all the seasons, none has the picture potential of summer, when things just naturally happen fast.
Where are you headed for vacation? Grand Canyon or Gettysburg? North Carolina or the north woods? Take a Kodak camera and film along, and bring back memorable scenes to enjoy again and again when the days shorten up and everybody's indoors.
Just planning a take-it-easy home vacation? Snap Dad snoozing in the shade when he thinks no one's looking. Mom bringing out a tray of lemonade that sparkles in the sun. The kids kicking up spray as they romp in the plastic pool.
We'll help you start, show you through Kodak Cameraland. That's our store, where you'll find a terrific array of Kodak still and movie outfits to fit any budget, plus all the top-quality Kodak films. We'll be glad to answer any questions, too.
Don't miss the fun, the color, the picture excitement of summer '61. Come to Cameraland — look for the Cameraland girl in our window. She's waiting to show you the way to picture it now so you can enjoy it again and again.

Business Conference Has 190 Teachers Attending

New ideas, methods, and techniques in teaching business are being considered this week at East Carolina College by approximately 190 men and women attending a regional Methods Conference for Business Teachers.

Participants in the event come from 20 states, the District of Columbia, Turkey, and Canada. More than 40 North Carolina towns and cities from Asheville to the coast are represented at the meeting.

Conferees, organized into a class, are following a busy schedule. A classroom, arranged for the conference in the Wright auditorium, serves as a center for instruction in methods of teaching and for demonstrations of up-to-date practices in teaching shorthand, transcription, typewriting, bookkeeping, secretarial practice, and general business. A number of those attending the conference will remain on the campus through July 5 for additional work on the graduate level in the East Carolina School of Business.

Entertainment of the visiting teachers includes a reception given in their honor June 25 by the business faculty of the college, a visit to Tryon Palace in New Bern and to Morehead City Wednesday, and attendance at the "Lost Colony" in Manteo Saturday, July 1.

With Dr. James L. White of LONDON (AP)—Soviet astronaut Yuri Gagarin left Moscow by train Thursday for Finland. The Soviet Tass news agency said he will take part in summer festivals of the Soviet-Finnish Friendship Society.

Cash Distribution Of $122,953 Is Made Today Under Savings Plan

A cash distribution of $122,953 under an employee savings plan was made today to more than 190 employees of the Greenville plant of Union Carbide Consumer Products Company.

Under the plan, the company has added as much as 30 per cent of the employees' savings. Employees saved $92,486 of their own money during the last two years, officials noted. This represented up to seven and a half per cent of their earnings, and the company has added 10, 20 and 30 per cent to this, depending on the number of years of company service.

The savings plans contains provisions for short-term savings and long-range investments, or a combination of both. The plan permits employees to set aside cash for a distribution every two years and also provides the choice of long-range investment in either U.S. Savings Bonds of Union Carbide stock.

Savings plans were made available to Union Carbide employees as early as 1935.

New N.C. Taxes Start Tomorrow

Tomorrow the people of North Carolina begin paying through new taxes the cost of the enriched educational program to be carried out in the state's public schools.

Most noticeable among the new tax price tags will be the three per cent sales tax on food. The food tax is estimated to produce some $50 million in the next two years. . . the lion's share of the new taxes the state will begin collecting. The levy on other items that previously have been exempt from sales tax will increase the total of new revenue estimated for the state during the biennium to some $60 million.

In dollars and cents, the cost to the people of the state will be high. The new taxes will be felt in every household, rich and poor, and in every family budget over North Carolina. They will be felt more by some than by others, depending upon the circumstances of the individual family.

On the other side of the coin, however, one might

Percentage Not A Good Yardstick

By LYNN NISBET

PERCENTAGES — The late Governor and Senator Kerr Scott was quoted as quipping that "folks can't buy food with percentages, let's give them some dollars."

The observation is recalled in connection with current argument over the increase, both percentage wise and dollar wise, in the amount of the 1961-63 appropriation for public schools on the basis of the 1959-61 amount. And over the 1959-61 amount, and what percentage salary increase will school teachers get out of the deal.

It appears now that the teacher salary increase will be about 17 per cent above the current scale, instead of the much publicized 22 per cent. That is because the teachers this year—and last—got a contingent bonus of 5 per cent above base salary, and the suggested 22 per cent increase was figured on basis of the original appropriation. The amount of money appropriated will pay the higher salaries whether the raise is counted at 22 per cent or 17 per cent.

Similar difficulty is encountered in figuring out percentages on total school allocations, as well as fixing credit for the increases. The total direct appropriation for the nine months school for 1961-63 is $425,693,346. This is an increase over the 1959-61 appropriation of $102,547,366 — or a little more than 31.5 per cent. However, the contingent bonus of 5 per cent for teachers added some $14 million to the spending for the past biennium, and made the increase around 190 million or about 26.5 per cent.

There has been so much publicity about the special recommendations of Governor Sanford for adequate school funds, and the levying of a sales tax on food to pay it, impression maintains in many quarters that these items are responsible for the whole increase in public school appropriations. — The fact is that the specific Sanford program and tax suggestions account for just a little more than half of the total increase for public schools. The appropriation for the nine months term in 1959-61 was $325,145,366. The Advisory Budget Commission in its original recommended bill proposed $371,500,101 for the 1961-63 period. That represented an increase of $46,354,735 — or about 14.2 per cent. Governor Sanford went before the General Assembly with a special appeal for more money and obtained an additional $56 million, making the total amount for all purposes of the nine months school about 31.5 per cent above the present rate of spending.

The percentage increases are not materially affected, but the fact is the school teachers and other employees get considerably more than the dollars listed on their take home pay checks. Every time the salary consider what it has cost North Carolina in recent years in terms of economic possibilities because its schools were not keeping pace with those of some of the other states of the union. How many of the young people who have graduated from North Carolina schools in the past decade are handicapped in their earning capacity because their public schools did not offer them advantages equal to those given youngsters in other states?

How many young Tar Heels, educated in the state's public schools and colleges to be excellent school teachers, are now filling positions in classrooms in other states because the salary level of classroom teachers in North Carolina has been considerably below that of some other states? Can the loss North Carolina has suffered in this manner be measured in dollars and cents?

The cost of the enrichment program for the public schools which North Carolinians begin paying tomorrow will be high. Yet the loss that North Carolina has been suffering year after year because it has allowed the progress of its public schools to lag behind that of other states has been far greater.

Terry Stands To Have Big List Of Nicknames

If North Carolina ever had a governor with a seemingly uncanny ability to acquire unsolicited nicknames, it is Gov. Terry Sanford.

It wasn't too long ago that folks around the state were talking about High Tax Terry who was running for the state's highest office. And neither was it long ago that some of those who looked unfavorably upon the program of the new governor were making references to Terrible Terry.

And now one of the highlights of the 53rd Governors' Conference in Honolulu has become Barefoot Terry, the governor whose improperly shod feet caused him trouble gaining admission to "Don the Beachcombers" in Waikiki. The incident has also caused a stir among official circles in Hawaii where Gov. William F. Quinn has said he would call a special Terry Sanford Day next week "where nobody will wear shoes in memory of the valiant governor of North Carolina."

If the governor of North Carolina keeps up his present pace (shod or unshod) of acquiring nicknames, he will have an impressive list by the time he leaves the governor's mansion early in 1965.

Same Old Tunes Are Heard Again

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's like playing a slow waltz on an old phonograph record all over again.

Almost move by move, statement by statement, Russia and the West are going through a repetition of the Berlin problem of 1958-1959.

That time Premier Khrushchev threatened a showdown in six months but let it melt away. Now he's set another six-month deadline.

"Maybe now it will reach a crisis. Maybe it won't since neither Khrushchev nor the West wants war."

It's possible he's stirring the Berlin kettle, with all its dangers, just to get concessions later from the worried West on something not now gussed.

Here's a quick run-down on the similarity:

1. Khrushchev proposed West Berlin be made a "free city" with the Allies pulling out their troops (Nov. 27, 1958).

Khrushchev at the Vienna meeting with President Kennedy earlier this month proposed the same thing. (June 4, 1961).

2. President Eisenhower said this country had a firm obligation to defend the people of West Berlin. (Jan. 7, 1959).

Kennedy said the Allies are determined to maintain their Berlin rights at any risk" and their obligations to the Berliners. (Jan. 6, 1961).

3. Soviets called for a 28-nation conference to negotiate peace treaty based on reunification of Germany. (Jan. 19, 1959).

Soviets proposed calling a peace conference on a German peace treaty. (June 11, 1961).

4. Walter Ulbricht, Communist boss of East Germany, pledged there would be no blockade if the West "respected" East Germany's "sovereignty," although the West doesn't recognize East Germany as a sovereign government. (Jan. 18, 1959).

Khrushchev said there would be no blockade of Berlin. (June 27, 1961).

5. Khrushchev warned it would be "the beginning of war" if the Allies tried to force their way through to Berlin, although, in view of Ulbricht's promise of no blockade, no force would seem necessary. (Feb. 18, 1959). Khrushchev, while saying there would be no blockade, warned the Western powers they'd get their come-uppance if they tried any rough stuff. (June 27, 1961).

6. In early 1959 Eisenhower said — because of talk about mobilizing to defend Berlin — mobilization would be disastrous. Kennedy, asked Wednesday about talk of mobilization said no such proposal had come to him.

7. Eisenhower told the Russians to cut out making threats. (Jan. 1, 1959).

Kennedy told the Russians to cut out making threats. (June 28, 1961).

8. State Department said the United States would insist on discussing Berlin — only as part of the wider problem of German unity. (Jan. 24, 1959).

Kennedy said discussions with Russians would be profitable if they'd accept self-determination for East and West Berliners and Europe — meaning the satellites, which would mean some unity. (June 27, 1961).

9. Eisenhower said the United States would be glad to join Russia in "any talks that deal fruitfully with the differences between our different people and our different governments." (Jan. 28, 1959).

High government officials said they're considering proposing a new round of East-West talks on Berlin within the framework of the over-all problem of divided Germany. (June 28, 1961).

10. Soviet and Western foreign ministers — at the suggestion of the West — met from May 11, 1959 to July 13, 1959 to talk about Berlin and Germany. About all they agreed on was to give up trying to agree. So they went home.

There'll probably be a foreign ministers meeting in 1961.

11. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, then assistant Democratic Senate leader, proposed on his own a plan for solving the Berlin dilemma. Khrushchev thought it was good but West German Chancellor Adenauer wanted no part of it. (Feb. 12, 1959).

On June 14, 1961, Sen. Mansfield, now Democratic leader in (Continued on page ten)

Strength For Today

STUMBLING

St. Paul in his Epistle to the Romans (14:21) warned his fellow Christians not to do anything that may cause others to stumble.

It is well for us to note that he does not warn his followers against doing something that may cause others to fall, but to stumble. Stumbling is the first circumstance in the painful act of falling. We stumble, then, sprawl. If stumbling could have been avoided, then painful and perhaps injurious falling would have been prevented.

Christian morality is based on the principle that the place to stop evil is at its source. Keep your Lord's constant warning. Control anger and there will be no murder. Control thoughts and furtive glances and there will be no adultery. In Paul's warning to the Romans, he was speaking of the eating of certain foods and the drinking of wine. He warned Christians against tempting Jewish converts to eat food which they had been brought up to regard as ceremoniously unclean. Also he warned against the danger of encouraging other people to drink wine, which was the only intoxicating drink of that day.

Watch out, he said, lest you cause a brother to stumble — not to fall, but to stumble. We know today that one out of every ten persons who start to drink ends up an alcoholic or a problem drinker. Be careful, says Scripture, lest you lead others to stumble — and we might add, in view of the many bars in modern living rooms, particularly your own children.

Make Friends Overseas

NEW YORK (AP)—So you're going abroad this summer, and you want to make friends.

Well, you can—that is, if you manage to keep your foot out of your mouth. It's all in knowing what to say.

People overseas are basically like the people who live next door to you. They'd rather listen to you praise them than brag about yourself.

They won't mind if you overdo it a bit. They understand exaggeration is a typical American trait.

Avoid making unfavorable comparisons. If you must speak about the United States, be humble. This will cause the startled natives to respect you—or conclude you are too ill or tired to brag. In any case they'll like you better.

Here is a sample glossary of the kind of remarks that will get you red carpet treatment abroad.

IN GREAT BRITAIN: "That was a dirty trick George Washington played on Lord Cornwallis—attacking just at tea time. It really wasn't cricket at all."

"Ever since we quit being your colony, we've had nothing but trouble, trouble, trouble."

"What wonderful summer weather. Here, let me lend you my umbrella."

"We did our best to be of some help to you in the second World War, but, my, we were awfully late getting into it, weren't we?"

Other Editors Saying Not The Fish You Catch

(Charlotte Observer)

He fishes. Almost constantly, though the lawn needs mowing and the azaleas beg for water. Mama usually goes along with his preoccupation with piscatorial pursuit. But occasionally, she criticizes. "Why don't you take inventory?" she asked the other day. "Add up the money you spend on rods and reels and lures and those ridiculous baits."

"The word is 'lures,'" he said, interrupting, which is always dangerous. "What ever they are. Then check the prices down at the fish market and see how many of the smelly things you could buy with that money. Why?"

He interrupted again. He tried, as best he could, to explain that golfers don't eat golf balls except when they miss a two-foot putt. That tennis players are allergic to stringing sandwiches, and that no self-respecting clay pigeon-shooter would dare bring in that which he shoots and ask the wife to make a casserole with it.

He also tried to tell her that it's not really the fish you catch that counts. It is the sense of accomplishment you get in pitting your wits against the wily bass, the head-clearing exhilaration that grips you when you breathe the cool, clean air floating above a mountain stream, the sense of communing with nature—

This time, she was the one who interrupted. "It's not the fish that count," she asked, "then why do you bring the things home and smell up my kitchen cleaning them?" At this point, he did what any self-respecting man would do. He bowed in meek assent to irrefutable feminine logic, and sneaked off to the Catawba River to catch a bass.

But he mowed the lawn and watered the azaleas before he left. And that's all Mama wanted in the first place.

CURRENT EVENTS (Savannah Morning News)

An Arkansas professor claims that a great many people make little effort to acquaint themselves with world events. He illustrated his point by telling of a spot survey that was conducted to learn how familiar the public was with countries in the headlines.

On one telephone call, the pollster asked, "Do you know where Laos is?" "No, I don't know where he is," a woman replied, "but you might try across the street."

On another call, the survey man asked, "Do you know anything about the situation in Algeria?" "No, sir," a woman replied, "I'm new in Arkansas and haven't kept up much with the politics in this state."

After which the pollster probably drove his Viet Nam down to the corner pharmacy and purchased some of the new wonder drug, Pakistan, to soothe his nerves.

"Our own work is beginning to suggest that the behavior of union officials affects the mental health of the rank and file," states Harry Levinson, of the Menninger Foundation, in the latest issue of "Personnel," published by the American Management Association.

Dr. Levinson, a specialist in clinical psychology, reports on the growing recognition of employees' mental health by management. The Menninger Foundation, he reports, holds regular seminars for management on employees' health. He implies that union leaders may also need that kind of psychological guidance.

"When a union enters into a formal bargaining relationship with management, it too assumes a psychological relationship to its members. Future studies of mental health in industry will have to take the relation between the union member and his leader into account."

MANAGEMENT AWARENESS GROWS

"Management," Dr. Levinson reports, has shown an increasing interest in employee problems during the seven years the Menninger people have been studying the problem.

Some of the findings in that period, he writes, are: From 80 to 90 percent of all accidents are psychological in origin. Accidents, he adds, cause 15,000 deaths and 2,000,000 disabling injuries a year, at a cost of $3 billion.

"As for alcoholism... we pointed out that the proportion of problem drinkers in the male population as a whole, 2 percent, was likely to be found in any individual company. Since most alcoholics were the 35-55 age group, alcoholism tended to be encountered primarily in experienced employees and supervisors," he states.

Individual emotional disturbance and its costs are more recognized today, he says, and the attitude toward emotional problems is changing. "No longer is there so marked a tendency to put all the blame on the individual and leave it at that. More managements are asking what should be done about the alcoholic, the man who is unable to assume greater responsibility, or the one who falls despite the promise of great success..."

Event Shaping Future?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

New York City politics often affects the fortunes of the parties nationally. The present tumult in the Democratic Party is aimed at destroying prospects of Governor Nelson Rockefeller as a candidate for the Presidency. It is a political battle waged by amateurs who do not grasp the peculiar composition of New York's population.

The basic fault in New York City politics is that a large part of the population has very little interest in what happens here. Thus, the Democrats have generally been elected to municipal office. If one excludes Fiorello La Guardia, who was a man of many parties as he was a man of many languages and many personalities, no Republican has been elected Mayor since 1914 and before that none since 1902. The Democrats must be in very bad shape; their conduct must be so outrageous as to evoke great civic anger before they are defeated.

Men are not elected to the office of Mayor because they are able. They are usually elected because of personal popularity, or because they have made a combination of groups, or because they belong to an important ethnological element. The parties portion out offices on strictly ethnological lines: each ticket must have an Irish Catholic, a Jew, an Italian and a Negro. It is a political battle regarded as discriminating and will be opposed by those who get excited about discrimination. This is the way things stand and nobody can make a change.

Mayor Robert Wagner, the incumbent, who has served two terms and who has generally been regarded as an unbeatable candidate, has managed to get himself into a quarrel with the powerful Democratic leaders who are minded to repudiate him now that he has rejected them. This is partly due to the political activities of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and former Senator Herbert Lehman and possibly the Kennedys who want to control New York City so that they might more successfully defeat Governor Nelson Rockefeller in 1962.

A peculiarity in this situation is the Liberal Party. This party is made up of labor union personalities and certain intellectuals. It broke off from the American Labor Party which President Roosevelt had organized to make it possible for Fiorello La Guardia to pass from the Republican Party to the New Deal. The Liberal Party is Fabian Socialist, anti-Communist but also not in favor of the social or economic status quo. It polls between 300,000 and 400,000 votes and therefore cannot be ignored in a mayoralty election. Congressman Charles Buckley, the Democratic leader of the Bronx, and a powerful figure in Democratic politics, was the first leader to object to Kennedy in the New York area and therefore has expected that he would be consulted by the Kennedy Administration concerning New York affairs.

Whether the Democrats can survive this schism is indeed doubtful. The Republicans have nominated Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz as Mayor. Lefkowitz is a popular personality and has the warm support of Governor Nelson Rockefeller which could mean that the usually poverty-stricken Republican Party might have a sizeable campaign fund.

A week or so ago, one felt that the Democrats would forget their quarrel and would kiss and make up. At this moment it looks as though powerful forces in the Democratic Party in New York City are ready to throw the election. They could do this by running a third party, anti-

Mary, Mother of Jesus

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 1:18-25; 12:46-50; Luke 1:26-2:52; John 2:1-10; 19:25-27; Acts 1:14.

Mary, hearing from the angel that she was to bear God's child, also learned from him that her cousin Elizabeth, an old woman, was pregnant with Christ's forerunner, John the Baptist. When she visited Elizabeth, the unborn John "leaped in (her) womb for joy."—Luke 1:26-44.

When Christ was 12 Mary and Joseph took Him to Jerusalem with them to celebrate the Passover. Missing Him on the return trip, they searched three days before they found Him in the temple midst learned men, studying "His Father's business."—Luke 2:42-50.

At a marriage feast in Cana, Mary reported to Jesus that something had become of the host's wine. She told the servants to follow her Son's bidding: He had them fill waterpots with water, which He then changed into wine. This was the beginning of Christ's miracles.—John 2:1-10.

One day as Christ preached, Mary and her other sons came and "stood without, desiring to speak with Him." He replied that the people He spoke to were equally important to Him, as His spiritual family.—Matthew 12:46-50.

Mary, Mother of Jesus

THE PLACE ASSIGNED TO MARY IN EARLY CHURCH RECORDS

Scripture—Matthew 1:18-25; 12:46-50; Luke 1:26-2:52; John 2:1-10; 19:25-27; Acts 1:14.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
IN THE Third Quarter of this year's Sunday School lessons we shall study some of the personalities of the New Testament.

The first of these is Mary, the mother of Christ. She is not necessarily, however, the most important.

As Wilbur Smith points out (in "Peloubet's Select Notes"), "there cannot be discovered in any single line of the Gospel records justification for the worship now accorded by (some) to Mary." She was the mother of Christ, yes; but she herself was not divine, and the Scriptures almost go out of their way to emphasize that fact.

Never does the Bible give her divine names or indicate in any way that she should be worshiped.

For example, in the scene where the disciples are assembled in the upper room praying (Acts 1:14), Mary is mentioned simply as one of the women.

On the other hand, as the normal chosen by God to be Nunc Dimittis of Simeon (2:29-35)—all famous in church music, the titles being taken from the first word of the Latin text in each case.

An interesting sidelight is the history and meaning of Bethlehem, where Jesus was born. The city first appears as early as Genesis 35:16-21, with the birth of Rachel's son, Benjamin, and her death—already a place of birth and motherhood.

The name means "House of Bread"—significant in the light of the Communion Bread—Christ.

Mary's offering of a "sacrifice according to . . . the law" (Luke 2:24) for Christ refers to the fact that every firstborn male belonged by right to God and therefore "had to be redeemed from service in the sanctuary by a payment . . ." (Alfred Plummer in "Peloubet's Select Notes").

It was Christ's second visit to the temple, at age 12, that caused Mary alarm (Luke 2:40-52). How typically human is Mary's distress and rebuke when, after a frantic three-day Christ's mother, Mary is certainly worthy of study.

Chronologically in our lesson the Annunciation (Luke 1:26-38) comes first as a revelation of Mary's character. It is significant that God chose for His Son's mother not a wealthy woman, but one quite poor, and living in a town (Nazareth) known for its corruption. Even in such surroundings, the moral is suggested, one can walk in Godlike ways.

The angel tells Mary that she shall call her Son Jesus, which is Greek for the Hebrew name, Joshua, meaning "Jehovah saves."

Next in chronological order comes the announcement made by the angel to Joseph about the divine birth, fulfilling the prophecy of Isaiah 7:14.

Luke continues to relate the Beatitudes of Elizabeth (1:41-45), the Magnificat of Mary (1:46-56), the Benedictus of Zacharias (1:68-79) and the search, she finds her lost Son studying in the temple, going "about (His) Father's business."

In the passage about the wine at the wedding (John 2:1-10) Mary shows her confidence in her Son by telling the servants to do His bidding. Jesus' treatment of His mother seems most harsh until it is realized that the address, "Woman," was not offensive in those days, as it is today. The same term is used by Christ on the Cross as he commits her to the care of His beloved disciple, John (19:25-27), Mary's nephew.

The passage from Matthew (12:46-50) about Christ's ministry indicates that at that time Mary had not yet come to understand fully His mission. Influenced, no doubt, by her other sons, she tries to dissuade Jesus from becoming a religious fanatic. By rebuking her, Christ tries to show her how important is His wider family.

TRIPLE-ESS FISHING PIER
ATLANTIC BEACH, N.C.

THE MIRACLE FINALLY HAPPENED LAST WEEKEND. FOR ONCE THE CHILDREN AND US TO THE BEACH.

THE CHILDREN PLAYED IN THE PINE GROVE AND COOLING SURF WHILE BOB USED OFF THE TRIPLE-ESS PIER WITH THE BEST RESULTS. I, OF COURSE, ENJOYED THE COOLING BREEZES, GOT A TAN, AND WILLED AWAY THOSE CARELESS MOMENTS UP THE SUN AND FEELING LOU-ROUSLY RELAXED AS ONLY A WOMAN CAN.

THIS LOVELY RESORT AREA IS THREE-FOURTEEN, TOO. BOB PAID ONLY ONE DOLLAR TO FISH OFF THE PIER AND, TO QUOTE HIM, "I HAD TWENTY-BUCKS WORTH OF FISH."

MANAGEMENT HERE MADE US FEEL VERY WELCOME AND HOME WITH THE KIND OF SERVICE YOU GET ONLY FROM THOSE WHO ARE INTERESTED IN YOUR COMFORT.

UNLESS I MISS MY GUESS, WE'LL BE GOING TO THE TRIPLE-ESS FISHING PIER QUITE OFTEN THIS SUMMER. NOW THAT BOB'S BROKEN THE SPRAWLING BEFORE TV ROUTING AND REDUCED COVERED THE OUTSIDE WORLD.

THE KIDS ARE FINE AND SEND LOVE. MOST DASH NOW. WILL WRITE REAL SOON.

WITH LOVE,
Alice

Greenville Legionnaires
Nine Drop Third In A Row

The Ahsokie American Legion, scoring three runs in the first inning. They failed to score again until the fifth when one run was brought in. In the top of the sixth the final two runs for the Phillipsmen came in off a single and three walks.

Britt gained the win for Ahsokie which was their first of the season. Going the distance for the winners, he allowed 11 hits and walked seven.

Keith Sawyer went the first seven innings for the losers with James Braxton finishing up. They allowed eight hits and walked seven men.

Score by innings:
Greenville . . . 300 012 000—6 11 4
Ahsokie . . . 010 041 010—7 8 0

The home team was winning in the early part of the game after hiked his homer total to 20 to tie for the leadership in the National League with teammate Orlando Cepeda. He boosted his batting average 13 points to .331 to move into fourth place among the leaders in this department and upped his RBI total to 55, third best in the league.

"I just hope I can keep it up," he said, while shrugging off praise. "We still have the last half (of the season) to go."

Mays, 30, said he thought Thursday night's spree was one of the best of his 10-year major league career.

WHEN ENDS MEET
DURANGO, Colo. (AP)—Football coach Duane Skinner of Fort Lewis A&M College still recalls an unfortunate incident of the 1960 season.

In pre-game practice, his two first-string ends crashed together going for a pass with such force neither was able to play in the game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates opened the 1961 season without one rookie.

Bob Brown had three for four and Donnie Brewer had two for four. Collecting the other hits for the winners were Jack Cobb, James Manning, Ronnie Johnson and Harry Wilson.

Collecting the hits for the Coca-Cola boys were William Moye, Ken Merritt and Donnie Taylor.

Jack Cobb, the winning pitcher, struck out nine and walked one. The losing pitcher, Donnie Taylor struck out five men and walked four.

LITTLE LEAGUE

The Exchange Club Little League nine with Ray Edwards and Stuart Brock combining their efforts on the mound hurled a no-hitter against the Security Life team for a 4-2 victory yesterday.

Edwards started the game but was relieved in the third inning after striking out one and walking five. Relief pitcher Brock struck out seven and walked 10 during the last half of the game.

Collecting the hits for the Exchange Club were David Nichols, Brock, Gary Sumrell, Billy Taylor and Chuck Odum.

In make-up action between the Elks Club and the Moose nine, the Moose team took advantage of early walks and four errors for a final score of 11-4.

Junior Whitehurst had two for three to lead the winners at the plate. Collecting the other hits were H. T. Wainright, Billy Brown and Ticky Cox.

The winning pitcher was Randy Hodges who struck out two and walked six.

Leading the Elks at the plate was Bobby Lee with a double.

In North State Little League action, yesterday the Optimist Club took a 5-2 victory over Texaco on the Elm Street Park diamond.

The Optimist nine collected three runs in the third frame and two in the fifth to gain the win. Collecting the hits for the winners were Howard Aycock, William Roberts, Ricky Lloyd and Tony Whitehurst.

The losing team obtained both runs in the fourth inning off a double, two singles and an error. The hitters for the Texaco nine were Edgar Exum, Scott Hardy, Hank Worsley, Al Tetterton and Tom Burroughs, all with singles.

The winning pitcher was Aycock, who struck out eight men and walked one. The losing pitcher, Worsley, walked four men and struck out the same number.

In a make-up game yesterday in the North State League the Kiwanis/Club team took the Coca-Cola nine by a score of 7-1.

Birds Thought To Be Hottest
Team In American League RaceBy ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The first place Detroit Tigers, after chilling Chicago's White Sox, now run into the Baltimore Orioles, who happen to be the hottest team of the moment in the American League race.

The Birds are perched in fourth place, 7½ games behind the Tigers and just a half game out of third. But after winning eight of their last nine, the Orioles will be bucking a Memorial Stadium jinx as well as the league leaders when they return home for the opener of a three-game set with Detroit tonight.

The Orioles ended a 10-4 road trip by winning their fifth in a row Thursday night, beating Kansas City and bonus baby Lew Krausse 6-2 behind the two-hit pitching of Dick Hall.

Detroit handed the White Sox a second straight loss, 5-2, for a two-game bulge over the idle New York Yankees. Third place Cleveland dropped six games behind with a 3-1 loss to Washington, the Sox.

Frank Lary won his 11th for the Tigers, out-dueling Cal McLish (4-7) in 83-degree heat at Detroit. A two-run triple by rookie Dick McAuliffe, off reliever Turk Lown, broke a 2-2 tie when Detroit scored three in the seventh.

Billy Bruton, who hit a two-run homer in the third, brought in the final run with a sacrifice fly. Floyd Robinson homered for the Sox.

Washington clipped Cleveland on home runs by Billy Klaus and Marty Keough behind the six-hit pitching of winner Johnny Gahler (3-2) and reliever Dave Sisler.

Hitting — Willie Mays, Giants, went 6-for-8 and drove in seven runs in doubleheader sweep over Phillies, winning opener 8-7 in 10th inning with third home run of game and adding triple and double in 4-1 nightcap decision.

Pitching—Dick Hall, Orioles, allowed only two hits and one earned run in 6-2 victory over A's, striking out eight and walking just one.

Giants Are In Second Place Now That Mays Is Back

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays is back to belting the ball again, and the San Francisco Giants are back in second place in the National League.

Since Manager Al Dark gave Mays a rest 10 days ago Willie has batted a fat .442 for 11 games with 19 hits—seven of them homers—in 43 at-bats. He's knocked in 12 runs in that span.

Mays rapped six hits, five for extra bases, and drove in seven runs as the Giants swept a two-night doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday night, winning it 8-7 in the 10th with the 29th home run of his major league career. Then he tagged a triple and a double in the 4-1 second game victory.

That put the Giants in second place by .002 percentage points over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost 4-2 at Pittsburgh. It also put the Giants within 2½ games of first place Cincinnati, after the Reds dropped their third in a row, 15-8, to the Chicago Cubs in the only other NL game scheduled.

In the American League, Detroit beat the Chicago White Sox again, 5-2, for a two-game lead over idle New York. Washington defeated Cleveland 3-1, Baltimore won 6-2 at Kansas City and Boston rapped Minnesota 9-5.

Mays upped his batting average 13 points to .331 in the sweep and drove in five runs with his three homers in the opener. His first two, both two-run shots, were off reliever Dallas Green and gave the Giants a 4-4 tie after three innings. He won it with his 20th home run of the season, off Frank Sullivan (3-0).

In the second game, Mays tripled home the Giants' first run as they scored three in the fourth inning off loser Art Mahaffey (7-8). Billy Loes (5-5), knocked out as a reliever in the opener, took the nightcap with a five-hitter.

In the first game, southpaw Ken Lehman started for the Phillies, gave up a single and a walk—and left. Billy O'Dell started for the Giants, faced one man (who singled)—and gave way to Sam Jones in a four-run first. Juan Marichal (6-4), working in relief for the first time, was the winner.

The seventh place Cubs, who lost only the opener of the four-game series, kissed the Reds goodbye with 17 hits, four of them homers, and beat Jim Maloney (4-4). Don Cardwell (7-5) was the winner. Cardwell slugged one of the Cubs' homers along with Billy Williams, Al Heist and George Altman—who now leads the NL with a .332 average.

Earl Francis (1-2) and reliever Elroy Face checked the Dodgers on three hits while the Pirates, blanked on four hits for seven innings, came from behind and beat Sandy Koufax (10-4) with four runs in the eighth.

All three Dodger hits were off Francis, who struck out 10 in his eight innings and gave up both runs on three walks and a single by Tommy Davis in the first inning.

Survival Battle In Open Tourney

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP.) — It was a battle of survival today as the 82 pros and amateurs competing in the 16th annual Women's National Open Golf Tournament went into the second round.

The field is due to be cut to the low 40 and ties for the final two rounds Saturday.

Based on the opening round scores Thursday it appeared a 36-hole total of 164 might make it, so rugged is the 6,372-yard, par 36-72 yard Baltusrol lower course.

Only two players were able to match par in the first round and only 17 of the 82 starters could break 80. The 80 or over performers included such tournament-seasoned pros and Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hagge, Betty Jameson, Patty Berg and Beverly Hanson. Mickey Wright and JoAnn Prentice were the par shooters. Mickey, second to Louise Suggs as top money winner this year, had 37-35-72, and JoAnn, a sharpshooter who has yet to win a tournament in five years as a pro, carded a like score.

Two amateurs and defending champion Betsy Rawls were tied two strokes behind the leaders. Mrs. Helen Sigel Wilson of Philadelphia, runnerup in the Women's National Amateur, came in with 35-39, and Mrs. Marlene Stewart Street of Fonthill, Ontario, who has won both the British and U.S. Amateur championships, had 36-38. Miss Rawls, seeking her fifth open title, also had 36-38.

Jack Baldschun, a relief pitcher with Columbia, S.C., last season, is the only rookie pitcher with the Phillies.

Wilson Takes Win Over All-Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In champion style, Wilson pulled a ninth inning rally to defeat the All-Stars, 3-2, Tuesday night in the Carolina League mid-season spectacular.

Some 2,240 fans turned out in the Wilson Ballpark to see the fifth, loop leaders at the midpoint, take on the best of the other clubs in the league.

The All-Stars got off in front when Church Reidell of Greensboro got on base with a triple in the fifth, then scored on a sacrifice fly by Dean Robbins of Winston-Salem. Ken Free of Raleigh got on with a triple in the seventh, then came home on a wild pitch to make the lead 2-0.

That happened to be the last of All-Star scoring.

The Tobs got a run in their half of the seventh, with J. C. Torres scoring on a sacrifice fly. Then, with two out in the ninth, a double by Joe McCabe brought in Chuck Weatherspoon with the tying run. Juan Vistuer dragged a bunt down towards first base for a hit, and Darwin Snyder came home with the victory margin.

It was only the third time the All-Stars have been beaten since the annual series started in 1948. The winning pitcher was Jimmy Roland, Wilson rookie lefthander. He pitched the ninth inning.

Fix Investigation May Get To College Football Next

By DON WEISS

NEW YORK (AP) — Extension of the grand jury term to Dec. 29 increased speculation today that Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan's investigation of fixes in college basketball would move on to college football.

Hogan's office would make no comment or expand on the announcement of the third extension of the grand jury's term, which came in the wake of the indictment of New York lawyer Charles Tucker as a ninth alleged fixer in the three-month old basketball mess.

Reports, however, have been circulating that football would—or has—come under scrutiny ever since the arrest of convicted football fixer Aaron Wagman of New York as a basketball manipulator back on March 17.

Wagman, since indicted on 37 counts of bribery and attempted bribery in the basketball scandal, was free on bail when Hogan first moved. The 28-year-old New York lawyer was preparing an appeal from his conviction in Jacksonville, Fla., on charges of trying to bribe a Florida football player for a game with Florida State last September.

Dave Budin, another alleged basketball fixer and former Brooklyn College player, last fall was arrested in Michigan after a University of Oregon halfback reported a bribe attempt concerning Oregon's football game with the University of Michigan. Bribery charges against Budin eventually were dismissed but he was convicted on a charge of registering under a false name at a motel. Thursday's basketball disclosures, which brought the current scandal to a count of 37 players from 22 colleges involving 48 games, named Tucker on three counts of bribery and one of conspiracy involving players from Connecticut, Detroit, Columbia and New York University. Indictment of Tucker also described an alleged attempt to reach players at the University of Oregon.

Named were Charlie North and John Morgan, the No. 2 and 3 scorers last season for the University of Detroit; and James Granata, 21, of New York, a substitute for Oregon in 1959 and 1960.

Hogan said Lou Barshak, Michael Siegel and Budin—all of the New York area — conspired to bribe North and Morgan for $1,000 a game for four games, including one with top-ranked Ohio State. The players, Hogan said, got only $50 each for "spending money". Granata, Hogan said, was approached by Tucker last fall and asked to sound out Oregon players. Granata was agreeable. Hogan said, but "there is no evidence he did anything about it." Granata left school. North and Morgan were dismissed by Detroit earlier this month. In Tucker's dealings, Hogan said, he made offers to Pete Kelly of Connecticut, Ray Paprocky of NYU, and Fred Portnoy of Columbia—all of whom have been mentioned previously in the scandal.

America's Main Hope Is "Chuck"

By JOHN GALE
WIMBLEDON (AP)—America's main hope in the 75th Wimbledon tennis championships is husky Chuck McKinley, who says he's sworn off throwing tennis rackets and plans to win titles from now on.

McKinley, 20, from St. Louis, was suspended for six months after a racket throwing episode in the Davis Cup interzone finals in Australia last year. But looking every inch the serene young gent, he has progressed to the last 16 of this name pulling tournament showing virtually no temperament at all.

Recalling his suspension by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, Chuck said: "Sometimes I don't know whether that was necessary or not.

"But this is for sure. It's all in the past. I don't throw tennis rackets any more."

McKinley Thursday reached the last 16 with a 6-3, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2 triumph over Poland's Vladimir Gasiorek.

Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., upset all the odds by spilling Italy's third seeded Nicola Pietrangeli 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Crawford and McKinley are the only American representatives left in the men's singles, but other Americans have provided most of this tournament's major shocks.

Long after the gates close on this championship, Whitney Reed's gallant losing fight against the reigning champion Neale Fraser of Australia plus Nancy Richey's near miss against second seeded Australian Margaret Smith earlier in the week will be remembered.

There have been disappointments, too, from the American point of view. California's Dennis Ralston was two sets up against Michael Sangster of Britain Thursday and then lost in five sets. Another Californian, Bill Bond, had match point against Billy Knight of Britain in the 10th game of their fourth set and also let the chance slip.

Ralston, 18, was beaten 6-8, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 and Bond, also 18, went down 12-10, 5-7, 2-6, 9-7, 6-0.

When In The Course Of Human Events...

July 4th today has become, candidly, little more than a day off—a day at the beach, a picnic, a holiday, a savage ride with death on the highway.

But 200 years ago, July 4th was no day off, there was no holiday, and death was a certainty, not a risk. On July 4th, 1776, there was no liberty, no freedom, no picnic.

But in the hearts of our countrymen of the thirteen United States of America there was a burning resolve. So fiercely did it burn that the Second Continental Congress flung out to the entire world on that day a unanimous Declaration that the people of America would no longer tolerate the yoke around their necks controlled by the Crown of England.

They well knew the consequences of this Declaration, for in its final sentence they said, "... we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our sacred Honor..." These were all they had to give.

Freedom — Independence — Life — Liberty — Pursuit of Happiness... these were the intangible and imperative human longings they craved, at the risk of life itself. Later, in Article I of the amendments, they were to say that Congress should guarantee Freedom of Religion, Freedom of Speech, Freedom of the Press.

As one small bank in a small community, we have reason to appreciate Independence, for we have it. In a larger sense, however, our thoughts of July 4th, 1776, and July 4th, 1961, have given us pause for serious reflection.

At the risk of seeming editorial, it occurs to us that perhaps July 4th should be less of a picnic and more of a day of re-examination and consecration.

Is it possible that the passing by of five centuries of time has caused us to doubt the unbelievable truths of our heritage told in our history books... or have we simply forgotten?

If this be so, just for this moment, let us pause to remember that men and women once loved freedom so much that they left their homes in Western Europe and ventured across an unknown sea in three tiny sailing boats, in search of a land they had little reason to believe even existed. By the Grace of God they found it, and called it America.

If you find the thought almost incomprehensible at this late date, go down to Manteo and let the sad thrill of the Lost Colony story re-kindle in your heart the faith which founded our land.

What are we to do in America? Has society become so complex that as individuals we are only robots? Are the issues of our time so unimportant that we have not even the time to vote upon them? Are we so busy in our tasks and in our daily lives that we must be forever rushing to get nowhere?

And what of our sons? Shall we send them to the secure haven of the large corporation, with vacations guaranteed, medical service provided for, retirement at 65? What has become of the pioneering spirit that braved the wilderness and made America great? Is it no longer possible for a man to start his own business, with all the risks, or did it all happen only on "Lawman," "Maverick" and "Rifleman"? Where now is the rugged American, descendant of a renegade from England, who loved life less than liberty and risked it all on a foreign shore? Where now is the builder of railroads and bridges, inventor, composer, designer... safe and secure under the sheltering wing of a corporation? Or will he be free and owe allegiance to no man save his countrymen?

Well, we've had our say. Next Tuesday is July 4th. As for us, we, too, want Liberty, Freedom, Independence, and it is our hope that this nation and this community will never fail to be the land of the Individual and not its master.

DONALD BARR CHIDSEY'S New Historical Entertainment THE WICKEDEST PILGRIM

CHAPTER 36

Priscilla Mullins came to Sal Boyd's house that night. Sal did not hear her step, for she could be as quiet as a cat, but he heard with a start the scratch of her fingernail on the piece of canvas that served as a door, and he sat up, catching back his breath.

"I'll be right there," he whispered. How he could tell that it was Priscilla he didn't know, but know it he did, and at the time he did not even wonder about this. With hasty hands in the dark he put on his shoes.

Captain Standish and John Alden were down in the Common House exchanging snippets of gossip with the fresh arrivals, so that Sal had the Hill House to himself. Doubtless she would not have dared to come, otherwise.

Her face showed white, the eyes enormous. "You're going away," she cried, even before he could greet her. "It's best."

He heard a very small sob, which she tried to gulp. Her head was lowered. Though he did not touch her, he thought that he could feel the prickling of her skin all over.

"Is it because of me?" she whispered. "Partly. I sure couldn't go on seeing you every day unless I could have you. And if we got married it wouldn't be a real marriage."

"Why not?" "Well, because even this Deacon Cushman who came today isn't a minister of God."

"Maybe in my eyes he is." "It's almost like I had a wife already. No, I haven't," he added hastily as he saw her head jerk.

"But it's sort of the same, me being a pirate. It's something that I always be with me, something I can't cut off any more'n I could cut off a wife. Only, a wife would die, sooner or later. My past never will. I—I can't fasten that past on you, Priscilla."

She said nothing, and with a great effort he put his hands upon her shoulders, feeling her start as he did so.

"The reason I didn't go back on the Mayflower was because I still thought then that I could—well, get over you. Get used to you. I know better now. And these fools we're surrounded with here, they needed me then. They don't any more. Look what's come! Look at those beefwits! And have you heard what the money-men have to say about me? This is a different place from what I thought it was going to be, and it's getting more different every day. If this was Heaven I'd believe it, with you here. But it isn't. And I'd never be able to stand such a life, even if I was married to you."

He cleared a cautious throat. He had been lying, he knew; and he believed that he had done well; but it was an edge he stood on, a verge.

"Think of this too: It isn't as if you was completely alone. Sure you've got to have a husband. But you will, soon enough. After all, there's nothing wrong with young Alden."

"He's a lout," she said listlessly. "No, I don't think so. He's just not certain of himself, like he would be if you was his wife. He's the way I was about a year ago, so I know. Whenever he don't know what to do next he gets scared, and then he wants to hit somebody. But he'll grow up, I did, and there's no reason why he shouldn't."

He slid his left hand across her shoulders, and with his right hand he lifted her chin so that her face was uplifted to him. He kissed her.

for a long while. "Goodbye, Priscilla," he muttered.

She broke away, and stumbled down the slope to Elder Brewster's house. She was like a white shadow in the moonlight. She was like a ghost.

What the boys in the forecastle of Meermin would have thought, had they watched this scene on the shore, Sal didn't dare to imagine.

Everybody prayed for him. Most of them were weeping. He himself wept, the tears tickling his cheeks.

This was something over a month after Fortune's arrival, and sundry things had happened at the colony of New Plymouth in that time, including a marriage.

To one side, above the boulder, those who had but lately come, the ones from Fortune, a ship that was about to start back, stood in a puzzled group, marveling that all this fuss should be made about a criminal, an outlaw; but they said nothing.

After prayers the first settlers came to Sal, as he stood ankle-deep in water, preparing to step the longboat, and one by one, sobbingly, they wrung his hand. Then they lined up along the shore, intoning the Twenty-third Psalm, which swelled as others joined them there.

William Bradford, that bleak man, held Sal's hand a little longer than most.

"Brother Boyd, you make me feel an ingrate. We could still away them. You could remain. Let me call another meeting, and—"

"No, no. I've made my decision." "But after what you've done for us."

"Governor, it's no use. A man can't hide. You know that."

"A man can't hide from the wrath of God, no. But the agents of the King might be different."

"Governor, I'm shocked. You."

uh, you don't think much of the King, now do you?"

"Well, I do. I trust him."

William Brewster's face was a spray of tiny white wrinkles, like a pane of glass that had been shivered but not smashed. His eyes were the blue of the sky on a happy day. He smiled, which was sunshine.

"You greeted me in anger, that first night, son. I pray that we don't part in any such spirit?"

"Before the Creator, Elder, I love you! I love you!"

"If you'd only stay. There isn't a man here who wouldn't—"

"Please! Let's talk sense when we have so little time left. Speak my farewells to your good wife, sir. And take care of that girl."

"Girl?" "Missus Alden."

"Oh, I will. I will. God go with you son."

Miles Standish was bluff, as became a soldier.

"Good-by. You're an ass to go, but I wish I had more like you."

Even John Alden pushed through the crowd and offered his hand, which Sal grasped joyfully.

"Good-by, Boyd. I'm glad we didn't fight, after all."

Sal grinned right into his face. "Oh, I'm not so sure. It might have done us both good."

And then there was Priscilla standing there. She too was weeping. The tears did not break but hung in her eyes, glittery, as she looked up at him.

"I brought you this," she said. "My father's Book. So that you can go on reading by yourself."

"Thanks. I'll go on. But it was better doing it with you." Reverently, even lovingly, he touched the Bible she had given him. "You've handed me heaps," he muttered. "A great deal more than I can ever tell you about." He wiped his mouth, for he was nervous. "Well, I—I wish it would have been different, with us."

"So do I."

Then she went away, her head held up, to join the others, standing by the side of her husband. Salathiel Boyd climbed into the boat. His feet from immersion in the water were so cold that he could hardly feel them, but his face was aflame.

"Well, come on, you bloody beefwits," he yelled to the oarsmen. "What are you waiting for?"

He turned, standing, to catch the last of the psalm.

"—and I shall remain a long season in the house of the Lord."

Salathiel Boyd raised both hands, the palms out. "Amen," he cried. "Amen."

Enriched Curriculum For Second Term Of Summer

East Carolina College, opening the second term of the 1961 Summer Session July 12, will offer an enriched curriculum including approximately 40 courses not previously offered except during the three quarters of the regular school year, Dean of Instruction Robert L. Holt has announced. The session will continue through August 17.

The expanded curriculum has been planned and put into effect this summer for the first time in order to enable students to complete their college work more easily within a three-year period. During the first summer term, 92,901 were present at the main session on Sunday to hear the public address by Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, on the subject, "When All Nations Unite Under God's Kingdom."

Enrollment for the second term this year is expected to exceed last year's total of 1,772 students for the same period. During the first term this summer a registration of 2,548 students topped last year's total for the same term by approximately 300 men and women.

Among special events of the second summer term, Dr. Holt has announced, will be the Eleventh Annual Music Camp in session July 16-29 with an enrollment of more than 400 junior and senior high school students; Choral and Instrumental Music Workshop, July 17-28; a Visual Aids Workshop, July 17-27; and a Junior High School Workshop July 12-25.

Red Oak Christian Announcements

We were glad to have a twenty percent increase in attendance last Sunday. Superintendent Thurston Wynne extends a cordial invitation to those who are not attending regularly elsewhere to come on out and join in the good fellowship here at Red Oak Christian Sunday School.

"Freedom And Democracy" Sunday will be observed July 2 with the pastor preaching on "This Nation Under God". The Sanctuary Choir will sing an arrangement of "God of Our Fathers" by Warren.

Flowers will be provided by Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Tripp, Sr. Twelve red roses will honor their twelve grandchildren, including little Miss Mary Grace Pate, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Pate, born June 27.

The following will be serving during July:

Elders — Amos Evans and Charles Manning; Deacons — Hobart Barnes, Carl Crawford, Edgar Denton, and Claude Manning; Deaconess — Mrs. J. T. Manning, Jr.

Our new church year begins as of July 1. Functional Committees, with the same chairmen and members as 1960-61 for the July meeting, will convene at 7:30 p.m. in the Sanctuary. New members will visit a committee and be appointed to serve on one before the next meeting. Official Board meeting will follow the committee sessions. The pastor urges a full attendance.

The Rev. Howard James will be Director of Music at the Spiritual Life Conference at Christmont, N. C. July 4-7. He will speak three times on "Spiritual Values In Church Music". Sanctuary Choir rehearsal will not be held this week. CWF Circles will meet at 8 p.m. on Monday, July 10. All women are urged to attend.

Leftists Greet U.S. Ambassador

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — Leftist anti-American demonstrations followed U.S. Ambassador Theodore Moscoso to this big oil port Thursday.

As Moscoso was getting a friendly reception from officials at the airport, leftists demonstrated against his arrival in the center of town. Police dispersed the mob with tear gas.

Two weeks ago, leftist-led students burned the ambassador's car in front of Caracas University while he was inside talking with officials. He discounted that attack as insignificant in U.S.-Venezuelan relations.

SING TO BE HELD

Old Time Singing will be held at the Crindle Creek Church of God Saturday at 7:30 p.m. The Ladies of the church will be serving. The public is invited to attend. The Rev. M. J. White is pastor.

The United States intends to build a dam on the Kootenai River, a major tributary of the Columbia, to eliminate critical flooding in Idaho and to provide irrigation and power.

Ask Withdrawal Of South Africa

GENEVA (AP) — The International Labor Organization Thursday called on South Africa to withdraw from the 100-nation organization because its racial segregation laws (apartheid) violate the ILO constitution.

South Africa's delegate, Daniel Johannes Geyser, gave notice that South Africa has no intention of leaving. The ILO constitution contains no provision for expelling members.

Pitt Countians At Cancer Clinic

ROCKY MOUNT — Among the 39 persons examined in the Cancer Detection and Diagnostic Clinics here Wednesday were residents from Greenville.

Others were from Rocky Mount and outlying areas, Wilson, Fremont, Lucama, Sharpsburg, Elm City, Nashville, Black Creek, Battleboro, Aurora, Tarboro, Enfield and Pinetops.

The clinics are closed during July and August. An announcement will be made of their reopening.

Wagner anti-Reform and put it all together, anti-Kennedy.

If Lefkowitz should be elected Mayor, the Democratic organization would be left entirely without patronage, getting none from Washington or Albany or City Hall. The Democratic Party in New York City lives on patronage. It has done very well over the past 30 years. The Republicans, on the other hand, have enjoyed little patronage and are accustomed to political poverty. Should the Democrats be defeated in New York City in 1961, they could easily lose New York in 1962 and thus Nelson Rockefeller would be the Republican candidate for President in 1964.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady to slightly stronger. Supplies short, demand good. Prices paid producers for clean, ungraded eggs, delivered nearby grading stations on a grade-yield basis, cases exchanged: Grade A large, whites 38-39, mediums, whites 29-30. Small, whites 21-22.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slipped even further into indifference early this afternoon as the Independence Day week-end approached. Prices were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down .20 to 242.40 with the industrials down .60, rails down .10 and utilities up .10.

Most prices showed fractional changes as trading became progressively duller. The stock exchanges will be open on Monday, but many Wall Streeters were obviously preparing to make this a four-day weekend.

A few stocks responded to special news or developments but the trend was mixed among motors, oils, chemicals, rails, utilities and aircrafts. Tobacco stocks leaned to the upside and steels showed a slightly lower tendency. Gulf Oil was nearly a point lower.

International Nickel advanced well over a point. National Airlines rose more than a point.

MGM and Du Pont also rose more than a point. Union Carbide was about a point lower and Air Reduction slipped about 2.

Minor changes were the rule among most leading steels, motors, rails, farm implements, aircrafts and oils. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .39 to 682.34. Corporate and U.S. government bonds were irregular.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — Hog prices steady to 25 higher. Tops of 17.75-18.50. Wilson's 18-18.50. Rocky Mount: 17.50-18.50. Nahunta: 17.50-18.25. Smithfield, Dunn: 17.25-18.25. Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive, Newton Grove: 17.50-18.25. Pembroke: 17.25-17.75. Spring Hope: 18.50. Bethel, Murfreesboro, Clinton, Fayetteville, Elizabethtown: 18.25. Tarboro, Enfield, Scotland Neck, Rich Square: 18.00. Castle Hayne: 17.50. Albion, Goldsboro: 17.25. Lillington.

Wilson cash cattle prices steady. Steers and heifers, choice 21.75-23.75, good 20.25-22.25, standards 16.75-19.75; beef cows 14.50-17, heavy cutters 13.50-15.50, light bulls 13-15, bulls 16-18.

Russians Unveil Giant Bomber At Moscow Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's giant new jet bomber is more than 40 feet longer — and may be considerably more powerful — than anything in the U.S. long range nuclear bomber fleet.

The new Soviet bomber, a four-jet delta wing craft, was unveiled in Moscow two days ago during practice flights for an air show there July 9.

It came as no surprise to U.S. officials here. They said the plane — designated by U.S. military authorities with the code name "Bomber" — has been under development for a number of years.

This suggested the Soviets may have the plane in quantity, although firm information was not available.

Public disclosure of the Bomber could be intended by the Soviets as a way of pointing up Soviet airpower at this time of deepening crisis over Berlin.

FOR NEW LINER
LONDON (AP) — Parliament approved a government loan of $50.4 million Thursday to the Cunard Steamship Co., toward building a new transatlantic liner. The liner will cost $84 million and eventually will replace the Queen Mary.

FBI Checking Pentagon Leaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI is investigating the leaking of secrets at the Pentagon, the White House says.

News Secretary Pierre Salinger announced the investigation on Thursday night but declined to discuss its nature or what set it off. He said only: "There is an FBI investigation of leaking of secrets at the Pentagon."

But the Chicago Sun-Times in a dispatch from Washington said President Kennedy ordered the FBI and military intelligence agencies to find out how a national publication got secret information on military plans for Berlin.

The Sun-Times story by Thomas B. Ross said: "Mr. Kennedy was appalled at reading about the Joint Chiefs of Staff's contingency plan for the Berlin crisis in a national publication before it reached him in the White House."

He immediately directed the FBI and the military intelligence agencies to find out how the highly classified information had leaked to the press.

The Sun-Times added: "The published report on the joint chiefs' contingency plan contained enough accuracy to persuade Mr. Kennedy that it was willfully disclosed by a high official in the Pentagon."

Could Have Been A Nuclear Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say a blast that could have been caused by a small atomic device or chemical explosives occurred last Jan. 31 in the Soviet Union, east of the Finnish border.

The size of the explosion was estimated as equivalent to between 50 and 100 tons of TNT. The first U.S. atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima had a blast equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT.

FALKLAND — Mrs. G. H. Pittman Sr. recently returned to her home here from a visit to Europe where she saw her son, Col. George Henry Pittman, honored as the new commander of the 38th Missile Wing at Sembach Air Base in Frankfurt, Germany.

Col. Pittman, 42-year-old Falkland native, was the principal figure in the traditional "Change of Command" ceremonies June 16.

COL. G. H. PITTMAN ... in Germany

Accompanying the ceremony was a parade complete with fireworks, that displayed the strength of the 38th Wing and the U. S. Air Force. Following the ceremony, receptions and luncheons on the base honored the new commander.

Col. Pittman is a graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School, The Citadel and the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

Mrs. Pittman also toured Luxembourg and Belgium, including a visit to the city of Verdun. She and her son returned to Germany where they visited Hasdenburg Castle.

While in Europe, Mrs. Pittman, accompanied by Col. Pittman, visited Paris where they met a cousin from Tucson, Ariz., Mrs. Elba Cotton Wesson. They also visited Napoleon's Tomb and the Eiffel Tower and shopped for souvenirs in Paris.

Upon their return again to Germany, the Pittmans visited Heidelberg and the universities there. They attended a missile air show and saw a parade depicting the first Americans—various tribes of Indians.

Just prior to leaving Europe Mrs. Pittman attended a Prom Regalia in honor of Col. Pittman's daughter, Teresa Ann, on her 16th birthday.

She returned to the United States June 18 to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Tyre of Charlotte. She visited in Charlotte before returning to Falkland June 25.

Most impressive in Germany to Mrs. Pittman were "the picturesque landscape of the rolling hills, the Rhine Valley, the rivers, lakes and mountains."

Mrs. Pittman is a member of the Falkland Presbyterian Church—the mother church of the Greenville Presbyterian Church. She was a pioneer teacher in the Pitt County Schools. A member of the Order of the Eastern Star and a past member of the White Shrine and the Greenville Woman's Club, Mrs. Pittman has been active in North Carolina Farm Bureau activities and has attended a national Bureau convention in Chicago.

The 83-year-old Falkland native was instrumental in helping her aunt, the late Mrs. Robert Cotton of "Cottontale," to organize North Carolina's first Parent-Teacher Association.

Her husband, who died in 1950, was instrumental in the building of Pitt Memorial Hospital.
