

At Least 11 Injured In Pitt Road Wrecks

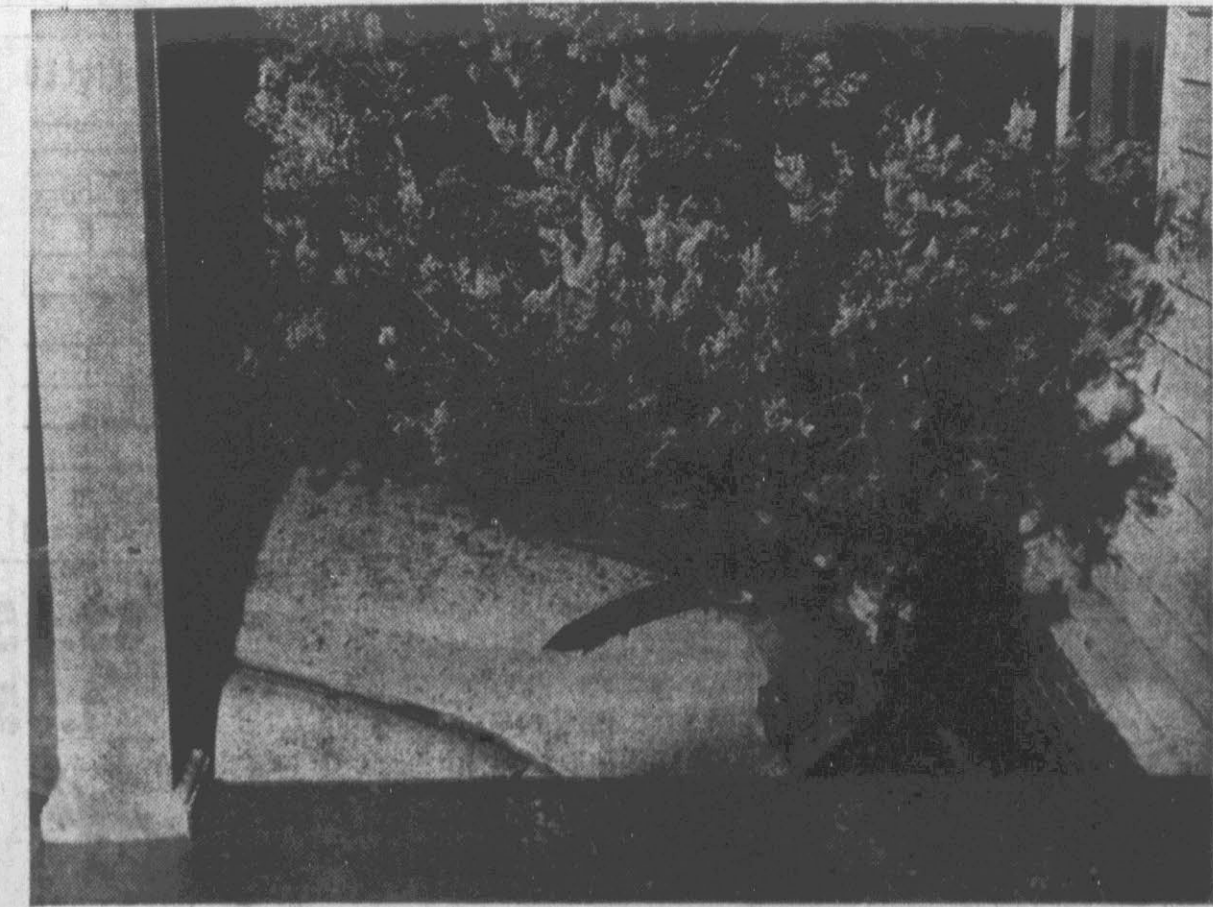

At least 11 persons were injured in an outbreak of wrecks over the past weekend in Pitt County, according to reports today by the North Carolina State Highway Patrol. Damage in the collisions was estimated to be over $1,800.

Education Board Board To Meet On Allotment

The Pitt County Board of Education is expected to meet in the near future concerning the allotment of an assistant superintendent for Pitt County schools, it was reported today.

Four Collisions Investigated Over Past 3 Days In Greenville

Greenville Police reported that four collisions have been investigated over the past three days in Greenville. Damage in the mishaps was estimated to be about $1,020.

AT SCENE . . . of house-car collision Sunday night in Greenville.

is continuing. Ptl. Minshew noted that yesterday's collision, which occurred about 4 p.m., was the second serious mishap at the intersection of the two roads in less than one week.

The officer, explaining that the Highway Commission is investigating the intersection, said there are no markers at the crossroads, and explained that the view of approaching drivers is obstructed by crops planted near the intersection.

At the present time, road 1407 is being used as a detour for the Penny Hill road, while repairs are being made to a bridge, the officer added.

Two persons were injured in a second mishap yesterday, Ptl. Minshew said, one which involved a bicycle and car, about three miles south of Bethel on N.C. 11.

The officer explained a car, operated by J. Oliver Norfolk, 49, of Route 1, Harwood, Md., collided with a bicycle being operated by John Martin, 12, of Route 3, Bethel, injuring Martin and a passenger in the car, Earl Stalling of Edgewater, Md.

Minshew quoted Norfolk as saying he started to pass the bicycle which was headed north on N.C. 11, the bicycle pulled to the left, and into the side of the car. The boy was injured when thrown from the bicycle, Minshew said. Stalling's arm was injured when struck by the bicycle, he added, explaining that Stalling's arm was resting in the window of the vehicle at the time of the collision.

Both were treated at the Bethel clinic and released. No charges were placed. No estimate of damage to the vehicles was given. The mishap occurred about 1 p.m.

Ronald Wescott Spruill, 41, of New Bern was charged with failure to yield the right of way following the collision of two cars about four miles south of Ayden on N.C. 11 yesterday. Ptl. Howard Winslow reported that the Spruill vehicle, and a car being driven by Agnes Coward, 107 North Lee St., Ayden, collided at the intersection of N.C. 11 and Rural Paved Road 1110, causing an estimated $300 damage to the Coward car. Damage to the Spruill vehicle was set at $150. No injuries were reported.

Ora Lee Vines, 25-year-old Negro, of Route 2, Greenville, was listed by Ptl. Luther Long as the operator of a car which went out of control and overturned on N.C. 30 about three miles west of Pacotville Saturday about 10:15 p.m.

Vines, who was not injured, was charged with driving too fast for existing conditions. Ptl. Long noted it was raining at the time. A passenger in the vehicle was treated for minor injuries at Pitt Memorial Hospital, then released. Damage to the car, which was said to be a total loss, was placed at $250.

A car, driven by James Arthur Johnson, 22, of Route 4, Greenville was declared a total loss by Ptl. W. E. Williams when the vehicle overturned on the Old River Road during a rain storm Saturday night. Johnson, who was examined at Pitt Memorial Hospital, was charged with reckless driving and operating under the influence of alcohol.

show made clear the Soviets are not pinning all their faith on long-range missiles alone.

The fighters carried air-to-air rockets instead of conventional cannon. The new bombers were armed with air-to-surface missiles instead of bombs.

The Soviets gave advance billing to a vertical takeoff plane that does not depend on a jet thrust to get it aloft. Called a "screw wing plane" it was a cross between a plane and a helicopter.

Two engines were mounted at the end of each wing, and it had two rotors atop each wing making it highly maneuverable and able to carry either troops or freight.

Another new model was a three-tail jet-powered helicopter that landed and unloaded a cargo of rockets.

One novelty was a giant helicopter capable of hauling 180 men. It appeared carrying a wooden house under its belly and landed it on the field. The house was about the size of a large car trailer in the United States.

The Soviets spiced up their show with a flypast of 15 helicopters each carrying a trapeze on which set a pretty girl each dressed in the national costume of one of the 15 Soviet republics.

Another crowd-pleasing feature was a mass drop of 600 men with brightly colored parachutes. Air Marshal Konstantin Vershinin who directed the show said in an aviation day article in the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda that many of the Soviet air force's jets have no equal in the world for speed, altitude and flight range.

Western experts watching the show first the Soviets have staged since 1958 — said the United States has nothing to match several of the entries, including a jet fighter that can light up a liquid rocket engine booster in flight to gain a tremendous rate of climb.

The most spectacular attraction shown publicly for the first time was a delta wing bomber the announcer said had a speed several times that of sound. The plane looked bigger than the eight-engine U. S. B52 and had four jets, two on the wing tips and two inboard below the wings.

Western air attaches showed keen interest in a flypast of 10 heavy supersonic bombers which also made their first public appearance. This new model's two engines were mounted on the rear atop the long, slender fuselage. It had high swept wings and was comparable in size to the U. S. B58, whose publicly admitted speed is 1,500 miles per hour.

"A very impressive show," said the U. S. air attaché, Col. Melvin Neilsen. "It's evident the Russians have continued with the development of all classes of aircraft."

Western observers said the show made clear the Soviets are not pinning all their faith on long-range missiles alone.

Russia Displays Air Might To Western Diplomats In Moscow

By STANLEY JOHNSON. MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union showed off its air might Sunday in a dazzling display that struck Western diplomats as a gesture designed to strengthen Kremlin demands on Berlin.

Premier Khrushchev and Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin watched side by side along with a crowd of 50,000 while the Soviet air force paraded a spectacular array of new craft at Moscow's Tushino Airfield.

McNamara Orders A New Look At U.S. Defenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, noting that the Soviet Union intends to increase military spending, announced today the United States is taking another look at its defense program.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced in Moscow last week that the Soviet Union has suspended plans to cut Soviet armed forces by more than one million men in view of the world situation.

McNamara said that "the simplest precaution calls for still another examination of our defense posture." He added: "Currently we are as strong — if not stronger — than any potential aggressor."

"But in the fact of the inescapable realities that confront us, such as threats to dispossess us of our rightful presence in Berlin, we can do no less than re-examine our needs. This we are doing."

McNamara's statement gave no indication of what new steps the Kennedy Administration might take to bolster defenses.

Shortly before McNamara's announcement, Roswell L. Gilpatric, deputy secretary of defense, had informed a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that President Kennedy had called for a new appraisal of U.S. fighting power in the light of the Berlin crisis.

Ever since the Berlin crisis began heating up again a month ago, there has been speculation that Kennedy might order some form of mobilization to alert the American people to the gravity of the situation and to warn Khrushchev that the United States intends to back up its firm stand against being ousted from West Berlin.

Over the weekend, the House Foreign Affairs Committee made public testimony from Gen. Lauris Norstad, commander of allied forces in Europe, that he feels the time has come for a quiet building up of strength "that would go a long way toward passing the Berlin ball back to Mr. Khrushchev."

Gilpatric said that Sunday's display of Soviet airpower in Moscow was another factor behind the President's order. The deputy secretary declared emphatically that the United States has adequate fighting power to meet its needs through the 1960's on the basis of what is known now.

Gilpatric said the Soviet air show in Moscow merely confirmed what the Pentagon had believed — that the Soviet Union still views the manned bomber plane as an essential part of its aerial weapons the same as does the United States.

For the first time, Gilpatric confirmed what has been generally believed, that the U.S. program now calls for a force of 700 B52 bombers, backed by the Houns Dou and Sky Bolt missiles, as "sufficient to give us adequate bomber strength in the 1960's."

Gilpatric said the reappraisal Kennedy has ordered will determine whether the administration will ask Congress for additional appropriations for military and defense purposes this year.

Compromise On Laos Meets Soviet Rejection

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union has rejected a new British compromise proposal aimed at breaking the deadlock that has halted the 14-power conference on Laos.

Now in their eighth week, the talks have bogged down over Communist demands that the neutrality of Laos be proclaimed immediately and Western insistence that an effective cease-fire in Laos must be assured first.

Malcolm MacDonald, British co-chairman of the conference, told today's meeting that he made his new proposal on Saturday to the Soviet co-chairman, Georgi Pushkin, who immediately rejected it.

MacDonald said this was his plan: "We should discuss both matters simultaneously. We could discuss neutrality the first day, cease-fire control the second day, and then continue with both problems on alternate days."

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk says the king of Laos now is the key figure in settling the Laotian problem.

In a statement issued after his return from the Geneva conference and meetings with leaders of Laos' three feuding factions, the Cambodian chief of state said the conference also had resulted in stabilization of the military situation and surface reconciliation of all three of the warring Laotian princes.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C. Temperatures for the next five days will average 3 to 6 degrees below normal with little day-to-day change. Rainfall will average about one inch, occurring mainly Thursday and Friday.

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — The Portuguese Maritime Ministry announced today 237 persons are dead or missing and presumed dead from the grounded and burning Portuguese ship Save. Most were African Negro passengers.

The 2,037-ton transport was swept onto a sandbar in a storm Saturday in the Mozambique Channel, off Southeast Africa, and a series of explosions ripped the hull and engulfed her in flames.

The ministry said there were 490 persons aboard the ship, including a 44-man (correct) crew, and that 253 were saved, some of them suffering injuries. Estimates of the total aboard previously had ranged above 500. Some of the passengers were troops, others were mine laborers.

Portuguese Reveal Big Sea Disaster

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — The Portuguese Maritime Ministry announced today 237 persons are dead or missing and presumed dead from the grounded and burning Portuguese ship Save. Most were African Negro passengers.

The 2,037-ton transport was swept onto a sandbar in a storm Saturday in the Mozambique Channel, off Southeast Africa, and a series of explosions ripped the hull and engulfed her in flames.

The ministry said there were 490 persons aboard the ship, including a 44-man (correct) crew, and that 253 were saved, some of them suffering injuries. Estimates of the total aboard previously had ranged above 500. Some of the passengers were troops, others were mine laborers.

The disaster struck near the Linde River estuary of northern Mozambique.

It was thought many of the missing swam safely ashore but landed at various points and would be hard to round up.

The Portuguese army still had not issued an announcement giving any official information.

Helicopters were ferrying the injured and other survivors to Beira and Lourenco Marques. Light aircraft were trying to land on the beach at low tide, and small boats were searching the area for survivors.

Rescue parties also were making their way overland to the isolated area.

The Save, named for a river in Mozambique, had sailed from Lourenco Marques with troops, laborers and military supplies for calls at northern ports in the sprawling East African colony.

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) — The United States' first attempt to launch a missile-alarm satellite into an orbit that would have taken it over Russia failed spectacularly today when the 98-foot projectile failed to lift from its launching pad.

The launching of Midas III fizzled at 8:59 a.m. Observers on a hilltop 10,000 feet away saw a great sheet of flame burst around the base of the projectile. This died out a second later seen resting apparently in a huge puff of black smoke, indicating that ignition of the powerful 360,000-pound thrust rocket engine had failed.

Fliers Catch Fourth Space Satellite Capsule In Air

HICKAM AIR FORCE BASE, Hawaii (AP) — Air Force fliers who plucked another Discoverer nose cone from the sky on its return from space hoped today that the next aerial recovery "gigs" us something that wiggles.

Airmen at this mid-Pacific base said they were confident they could retrieve any capsule that could be brought back into the earth's atmosphere. "But next time," said one, "please, let's have something alive in there. These instruments are getting routine."

Discoverer XXVI's instrument-jammed nose cone was snagged in the air by a C119 recovery plane Sunday as the space packet parachuted 270 miles northwest of Hawaii. The twin-engine plane, one of eight circling over the impact area, made the catch on its first pass with its trailing trapeze-like hooks. The recovery came just 29 minutes after the capsule was kicked loose from space over Kodiak, Alaska.

It was the fourth aerial grab of a Discoverer cone. Two others were fished from the sea. The gold-plated capsule, sealed in a gray canister, was flown to Sunnyvale, Calif., Sunday night for examination by space scientists. It had circled the globe 32 times on a polar orbit since its launching Friday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Contents of the capsule were not disclosed but an Air Force spokesman said nothing aboard was alive.

Greeting the pilot, Capt. Jack R. Wilson, 37, of Toledo, Ohio, were the two other pilots to affect aerial recoveries. Capt. Harold Mitchell of Bloomington, Ill., who made the first catch 11 months ago, and Capt. Gene Jones of Dayton, Wash., who snagged two capsules, presented cigars to the beaming Wilson. Wilson said the nose cone "looked like it was twinkling. Like it had a battery of lights on it" as it floated down through a layer of clouds. "We first spotted it about 20,000 feet above us," he said.

The nose cone spent 50 hours and 36 minutes in space attached to the 25-foot-long second stage of the Discoverer rocket. The release was triggered at Sunnyvale, the Air Force disclosed. It was originally reported the capsule would remain in orbit four days. There was no formal explanation why it was brought back earlier but an Air Force officer said: "The nose cone was in an ideal position for a recovery attempt. Anyway, the scientists had probably gotten all the space data they could out of this one."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy returned today from a second straight weekend of rest and relaxation at his Hyannis Port, Mass., summer home. A busy White House schedule awaited him.

The President was accompanied by his wife Jacqueline.

Planning Group To Meet Tonight

Near-perfect attendance for tonight's initial meeting of Pitt County long-range planning committee expected today by County officials.

Chairman of the Commissioners Robert G. Little, who appointed the 17-member study group, said Saturday he was hopeful most of the 17 members would attend tonight's session at the Pitt County Courthouse. The meeting is set for 8 o'clock.

County Auditor H. Reginald Gray reported today 16 of the 17 members had indicated to him they would attend.

First item on the meeting's agenda is scheduled to be designation of a permanent chairman for the committee. Little, as chairman of the Pitt Board of Commissioners, is currently serving as temporary chairman and will preside at tonight's session.

He indicated the commissioners may call on the study group to provide that the chairman of the commissioners — who traditionally serves a one-year term — be automatic chairman of the committee. "In providing for the chairman in this way," he said, "the new committee would be assured of a chairman who is closely associated with all the affairs of the county."

Missile-Alarm Satellite Fails

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) — The United States' first attempt to launch a missile-alarm satellite into an orbit that would have taken it over Russia failed spectacularly today when the 98-foot projectile failed to lift from its launching pad.

The launching of Midas III fizzled at 8:59 a.m. Observers on a hilltop 10,000 feet away saw a great sheet of flame burst around the base of the projectile. This died out a second later seen resting apparently in a huge puff of black smoke, indicating that ignition of the powerful 360,000-pound thrust rocket engine had failed.

A great plume of white smoke erupted from the nose of Midas III's first stage Atlas booster as technicians began purging it of highly explosive liquid oxygen, apparently in an effort to prevent a disaster.

It worked. As the smoke and fumes cleared away, the bird could be seen resting, apparently undamaged on its seaside launching pad 150 miles north of Los Angeles.

If the launching had been successful, the 30-foot-long Midas satellite would have gotten its first look at Soviet territory in about three hours. The second stage of the projectile, all of which was designed to go into orbit, contains an infra-red eye to sense the heat from a missile's exhaust hundreds of miles below.

Eight minutes after the launching failed the Air Force said the attempt had been canceled for today and might be rescheduled for Tuesday.

This was the third straight instance of difficulty with the new sky-spy. Midas I, launched Feb. 26, 1960, failed to orbit. Midas II orbited May 24, 1960, but its radio failed.

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor and her singer husband, Eddie Fisher, today put off until Tuesday their departure for the Moscow film festival.

They had planned to leave today for London, spending a night there before flying on to the Soviet Union, but travel-schedule complications caused the delay.

Freedom Today For Trio Of Textile Union Group

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Three of six textile union men serving prison terms for conspiring to destroy facilities at a struck cotton mill in Henderson were released today on parole.

Howard Hepler, a member of the State Board of Paroles, announced the release of Edward Abbot, Calvin R. Pegram and Warren Walker.

They were among eight convicted with union leader Boyd Payton of conspiring to dynamite installations at the Harriet-Henderson cotton mills during a long, bitter strike.

One of the eight, Malcolm Jarrell, was released on parole several weeks ago. Another, Johnny Martin, was freed last Thursday after Gov. Terry Sanford announced he was reducing by three years the terms of the seven men. This paved the way for quick paroles.

Abbott, Pegram and Walker were each sentenced in Vance County Superior Court two years ago to 5 to 7 years.

Axis Sally Freed From Federal Prison Today

ALDERSON, W.Va. (AP) — Mildred Gillars, the Axis Sally of World War II, walked out of federal prison today with a flourish.

The starring voice of Nazi propaganda broadcasts was still the actress.

A reporter asked for a statement on her first reaction after 12 years in prison, and Miss Gillars replied, "Well after some 15 years in prison, what am I supposed to say?"

Although she said 15 years, she actually has been in the reformatory only since 1949.

That's as far as she would go. She was hustled into the car of a sister, Mrs. E. Em Niemi of Ashland, Ohio and was driven off.

Moye-Smith Nuptials Held Sunday Miss Simpson Bride Of Mr. Roseveare

The wedding of Miss Eleanor Faye Smith and James Franklin Moye, Jr. was solemnized on Sunday afternoon, July 9, 1961 at the Arthur Christian Church, Bell Arthur. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilbur Smith of Greenville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Moye, Sr., also of Greenville.

The Rev. R. L. Hinnant of Micro performed the double ring ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Carlton Best of L. Grange.

An open Bible with lighted tapers on either side was centered on the altar, while tall baskets of white gladioli and emerald leaves, seven branching candelabras holding burning cathedral candles and palms enhanced the setting for the ceremony. White wedding bells were hanging behind the altar.

Nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Zeb Mooring of Maury, and Mr. Bernice Smith of Greenville. Mr. Smith's vocal selections were "The Sweetest Story Ever Told", "Because," and for the benediction, "The Wedding Prayer". Traditional wedding marches were used as the processional and the recessional.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father. Her long gown of satin, covered with chantilly lace, featured a sweetheart neckline and had short cap sleeves. The bodice of the gown was embroidered with sequins and pearls. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was attached to a small crown, which also featured sequins and pearls, and she wore elbow length lace mitts. She carried a white Bible topped with a pure white orchid and satin streamers.

Matron of Honor was Mrs.

Kenneth R. Smith of Greenville, sister-in-law of the bride, and Maid of Honor was Miss Sue Flake, of Greenville, cousin of the bride. Their dresses were street length of dacron cotton with a sabbina neckline, small cap sleeves and a softly pleated skirt. They wore a net overskirt and large satin sashes with large bows in the back, matching headpieces of nylon and tulle and short white gloves. Mrs. Smith was dressed in blue and Miss Flake in pink. Each carried a cascade bouquet of white feathered carnations which featured pink and blue net and streamers.

The bridesmaids, Miss Rachel Rivenbark of Greenville and Miss Cynthia Mooring of Maury, cousins of the bride, were dressed in pink and blue dresses identical to the honor attendants, without the net overskirts. They carried small nosegays of white feathered carnations, which featured white net and white streamers.

Mr. J. F. Moye Sr., attended his son as best man. Ushers were Kenneth R. Smith and Jerry Smith, brothers of the bride, Jan Smith, cousin of the bride and Bonnie R. Hardee, all of Greenville.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of blue chantilly lace with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Moye, mother of the groom, also wore a blue lace dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Also included in the wedding party were Mrs. P. S. Rasberry and Mrs. J. M. Smith, grandmothers of the bride and Mrs. Ray Hart, grandmother of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, the couple and wedding party received in the vestibule of the Church. Mrs. Bonnie R. Hardee presided at the guest register in the vestibule of the Church. Mrs. James E. Lewis of Greenville directed the wedding.

For traveling, the bride changed to a powder blue dacron dress with white accessories, and the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside at 2319 E. 10th Street, Greenville, N. C.

After Rehearsal Party
On Saturday night after the wedding rehearsal of Eleanor Faye Smith and James Franklin Moye, Jr. the wedding party, family and close friends were entertained at a cake cutting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilbur Smith in Greenville. Hostesses were Mrs. Norman Smith, Mrs. Zeb Mooring, Mrs. Bernice Smith and Mrs. J. Wilbur Smith.

The table was covered with a pink linen cloth and overlaid with a white lace cloth. Serving punch from a crystal punch bowl was Mrs. J. Wilbur Smith and serving the three tiered wedding cake was Mrs. J. F. Moye, Sr. Guests served themselves salted nuts and mints.

At the rehearsal party the bridal couple presented their attendants gifts.

St. Paul's Episcopal Church was the scene Saturday at 4:30 in the afternoon of the wedding of Miss Sally Ross Simpson and Mr. Ronald Newman Roseveare.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Thurston Simpson of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. William Earl Roseveare, also of Greenville. The double ring ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and friends by the Rev. John William Drake, Rector of St. Paul's.

Malcolm Thurston Simpson Jr., brother of the bride, served as crucifer. Drew Perry and William Wade served as acolytes. A program of wedding music prior to the ceremony was presented by Mrs. Allison Hearne Moss, organist. The professional "Lord Who At Cana's Wedding Feast" was sung by the vested choir as they entered the church. The recessional "Hail Thee Festival Day" was sung after the benediction. Traditional wedding marches by Mendelssohn and Wagner were played by Mrs. Moss.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white chiffon taffeta dress appliqued with resutched Alencon lace, featuring a back interest of pompadour puffs which extended into a cathedral train. The fitted bodice was fash-

BALTIMORE, Md.—In a ceremony at Saint Cecelia's Church, with only immediate members of the family and a few friends attending, Miss Barbara Griffin became the bride of Lawrence S. Davis on July 1. A friend of the couple, the Rev. John Mackey, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Griffin of Atlantic Beach, N. C. are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence S. Davis Sr.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of light blue Italian silk with a lace bodice. Her veil was attached to a braided silk bandeau. The corsage was an orchid.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Pat Reynolds, wore a blue sheath dress of silk and wore an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's stepfather was best man.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina College where she was a member of Pi Omega Pi, a national honorary business fraternity. She taught at Milford Mills Junior High School in Baltimore for the last two years.

The bridegroom was graduated from Loyola College and the School of Law at the University of Baltimore. He is now a social security claims adjuster.

Paint Advice

When shopping for interior or exterior paint, remember that enamel provides the smoothest, toughest, most scrubbable finish. It is available in three formulas: gloss, semi-gloss, and flat. Soap or detergent suds will keep enamelled surfaces good as new long after less durable paints have to be replaced.

Bleach Vase

Get a tall crystal vase clean by letting a chlorine bleach solution stand in it for a few minutes. Then wash in soapy suds with a sponge on the end of a stick.

Honeymooners In Bermuda

BERMUDA HONEYMOON—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haring of 465 Millburn Avenue, Shorthill Gardens, Millburn, New Jersey, recently spent their honeymoon in the Mid-Atlantic islands of Bermuda. The newlyweds were guests at Palmetto Bay in Smith's Parish until July 2nd when they returned home travelling via B.O.A.C.

Voters Continue Parade To Stand

MARSHALL, N.C. (AP)—The parade of 2,300 defense witnesses continues today in the libel trial of William E. Cobb, North Carolina Republican chairman.

Cobb's lawyers have had all the registered voters in the Marshall precinct—about 2,300—subpoenaed. The voters are being asked two questions: Were they registered to vote at the time of a controversial bond election in 1959, and did they vote?

Election officials reported the bond issue overwhelmingly defeated, with a total vote of 939 Cobb has publicly questioned the validity of the report, charging the ballot boxes were stuffed. Although he named no one, Democrats Zeno Ponder and Oren Rice and Republican Frank Rynnion have sued him for $300,000 each, charging libel.

Through last week, 728 voters now registered had been called. Of that number, 161 said they did vote in the 1959 election; 468 said they did not, 49 couldn't recall and 50 were not registered then.

The defense also has produced testimony by a Marshall undertaker, C. Dedrick Bowman, that names of at least 18 people who died before the last re-registration in 1956 are on the books now

Style Vocabulary Is Also Changing

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If you hope to keep up your status as a fashion intellectual, you had better do your vocabulary homework.

Here is a glossary of style terms used in describing fall and winter collections by New York couture group members being shown to more than 200 fashion editors this week.

Body-Conscious. Having nothing to do with hypochondria, it describes the closer fit you'll find in coats, suits and dresses this fall.

Nothing Dress. This garment became high fashion by reduction to its lowest common denominator, by subtracting sleeves, collars, and shortening the hemline. Although it got its start a few seasons ago, it will continue barely and shiveringly throughout the winter season.

Flip Back. This style newcomer is a jaunty jacket, short in front with a gentle flyaway movement or back flare.

Inner Strength—Linings. once the cheapest fabrics in a coat or suit, now strengthen the coat (but weaken the budget) with mink, cat, chinchilla or ermine pelt.

High Risers—the ever-wondering waistline climbs upwards again in many collections. The high line is often emphasized by welt seaming. However the cropped waistline has not lost its fashion flavor yet.

Intermediate Length—Dresses hemmed at calf-length are designed for semi-formal occasions such as theater parties.

Dirndl—Years ago a printed, gathered skirt by this name was popular with off-shoulder peasant blouses. Today's version is refined in dressier fabrics, not as full at the waist, and much more flattering to the mature figure.

The Column—A slender cylinder from neck to floor, this evening dress is usually of metallic or sequined cloth, has no waistline, little walking room.

The Falre—Any skirt fluted, pleated, or gathered which swishes, swirls or sways is a Paris influence that continues to flare through out fall collections.

Nothing Colors—The pendulum swung from the summer fad for florid prints and violent hues to fabrics with hardly any vibrance. These are mossy, bronzy and black, or nearly so.

Drownings Are Prominent In N.C. Weekend Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A man took a swim in his farm pond. A five-year-old girl fell from the bank into the Catawba River. A young man visiting his parents took a dip in Nantahala Lake.

All died, drowning victims. They were among the weekend fatalities in North Carolina, with at least 11 dying violently.

Clint Worthy, 48, Negro pulpwood worker, was washing a car beside his farm pond near Sanford when he decided to cool off with a swim. He made it across, but went down on the return trip.

Sandra Chapman, 5, of North Belmont drowned in the Catawba River despite efforts of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Chapman, to save her.

Tommy Gibby, 21, city employee of Atlanta, drowned while on a swimming outing at Nantahala Lake. His parents live at Andrews.

Traffic victims, all in one-death accidents, included William C. Thompson, 81, Rt. 1, Pink Hill; Jackie Davis, 5, Kinston; Mrs. Martha Allen Brown, 34, Rockingham; Miss Pickett Tyson, 73, Mineral Springs; Thomas Jefferson Mishou, 26, Newport News, Va.; and Carl Lafayette Ross, 58, Joseph Daniel Joyce, 42, of Rt. 2, Stoneville, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of James Lewis Turner, 35, Rt. 2, Sandry Ridge. Joyce also was charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill Frank Odell Martin, 26, Rt. 1, Sandy Ridge, who was critically wounded in the shooting scrape near Stoneville.

Howard Richardson, 27, Charlotte Negro, was fatally shot after an argument at the home of Coley Sattlewhite, Negro. Officers said witnesses related that Sattlewhite, sought in the slaying, had ordered Richardson away from his home.

Footprints Give A Possible Clue

MOAB, Utah (AP)—Small footprints and a bundle of clothing found on a desolate mesa spurred search parties today in the hunt for Dennis Sullivan, 15, of Rockville, Conn., who was kidnapped a week ago by a man who killed her mother.

Despite the discovery, there seemed little chance that the girl could have survived six days in the scorching desert country. The Salt Lake City Tribune said the bundle of clothing, a pair of men's gray work pants, some shorts and a red and brown shirt were wedged between two rocks on the northeast rim of Polar Mesa which is northeast of where the chief suspect in the kidnapping stayed for three days after the July 4 abduction.

The footprints were spotted in the same general area. The Tribune said Mrs. Nathan Ince, a cook at a remote Polar mesa mining camp, told investigators that Abel B. Aragon, 35, of Price, Utah, an unemployed World War II hero, was seen periodically for three days by 20 miners at the camp.

She said Aragon seemed nervous and stayed to himself, but once approached her and asked, "Did you hear a woman screaming?"

Aragon, winner of the Navy Cross for Valor, shot himself to death last Friday night when FBI agents stopped his car to question him. Investigators linked him to the slaying of Mrs. Jeannette Sullivan, 41, the wounding of a vacation companion, Charles Boothroyd, 55, also of Rockville, and the kidnapping of Dennis.

Boothroyd is recovering from face wounds.

Few improvements as inexpensive as a wooden fence can add as much pure charm to what otherwise might be considered an ordinary house.

It doesn't change the house, any more than a frame changes a picture, but it adds a picturesque touch as well as an air of individuality. For the do-it-yourselfer, a wooden fence is a project which can be handled in stride, usually over a weekend.

All fences utilize two essential components—horizontal members, known as stringers or rails, and vertical members, known as posts, boards or pickets. While the picket fence is the most common type, others are basketweave, stockade, board-on-board, zig-zag and similar patterns that take advantage not only of the wide variety of shapes but of the natural grain of wood for the creation of unusual effects.

The fancier fence materials cost a little more, because the lumber dealer must cut the components to order. The horizontals and verticals needed for picket fences and some types of board fences are usually carried in stock. They are available in standard lengths and widths, in four or five different patterns. Incidentally, when buying the lumber, get a supply of non-rusting nails and rent, borrow or purchase a posthole digger.

Before starting work, be sure to determine from local authorities whether a permit is needed and what regulations, if any, must be followed. And, of course, be 100 per cent certain you know where your property line is located.

The best way to lay out a fence is with stakes, made from one-by-one scrap lumber six inches long, and mason's twine or fish line. Use the posthole digger to make the holes for the vertical framing. As a rule, posts are located 5 to 10 feet apart, depending on the type of fencing, and the holes are dug to a depth of two or three feet. The posts should be heartwood of a naturally durable species or chemically treated wood. Well-tamped earth around the post usually provides a firm base, but where the soil is very soft or yielding, a concrete base may be needed. A simple and easy way to provide a firm base is to mix the packing soil with a small quantity of portland cement before tamping the hole. When the hole is almost filled, add a small amount of water.

The posts should be checked for "plumb" with a carpenter's level and temporarily braced until firmly set. Afterwards, finish filling the holes, packing down the loose soil firmly.

Some persons prefer to paint or stain the fence after it is completed. We have found it easier to paint the posts and other components before the installation. Be sure to use a good quality exterior paint. If you apply at least three coats, you'll get a result that will last for years.

Has Evidence Of Effectiveness

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP)—The Prescott Courier cites this example of the effectiveness of its classified advertisements:

The Richard Walraven family placed an ad in the lost pet section for Winnie-Pooh, their 2-year-old basset hound.

The next morning when Courier employees reported for work, they found a basset hound sleeping under the classified desk. Yep, it was Winnie-Pooh.

Local Capital Largely Responsible

Millions of tourist dollars are flowing over North Carolina now that the vacation season is mounting to its peak in the mountains and along the coast of this state.

The dollars, coming from Tar Heels who are vacationing in their own state and from out-of-staters, are giving the economy a boost at this season just as they do each year during the summer months. One has only to visit the resort areas of North Carolina, and view the development that has taken place in recent years to realize the growth in the tourist industry.

Sleepy mountain valleys of a few years ago have become popular resort areas. Quiet villages to whom visitors were rare strangers a few years ago now are bustling with tourists anxious to enjoy the natural beauty and the recreation offered by the state.

While the tourist industry has become one of the giants in the Tar Heel economy, it is also evident throughout the state that in this field most of the development has been done by local people with local capital. To be sure some money for the development of facilities has come from groups outside North Carolina, but by and large the accommodations for tourists, the facilities that they enjoy have been provided by literally thousands of small businessmen who have sought to develop their own communities into tourist centers.

Some communities have been more successful than others in their efforts, and yet it seems that on every hand new sections of the state are becoming involved in the tourist bonanza each year. Those which have neither mountains nor sea have found other natural advantages of their own that are being used to lure tourists. Historical sites, industries, even agricultural operations are becoming in some North Carolina communities the major attractions for tourists.

The growing tourist industry of the state, it seems to us, is a vivid example of what small businessmen and small communities can do to boost the economy of their own immediate sections and the state as a whole through their individual efforts. The broader the variety of attractions North Carolina offers, the larger the number of tourists who are attracted to the state.

Those communities which have not yet endeavored to play some small part in the growing tourist industry of North Carolina should carefully evaluate their own position to determine if they have anything which might be developed into a tourist attraction. Most communities which look into the matter carefully probably will surprise even themselves by discovering what they might offer tourists.

Holiday Fever Of Big Hurry Seen In County

It's not news to anyone that people in Pitt County, like their cousins in the rest of the United States, always seem to be in a hurry whether they are working or on a holiday.

But the fact was pointed up more vividly than usual during the long July Fourth weekend when highway patrolmen put on a special effort to apprehend persons who violated traffic regulations. The fact that the county's patrolmen made more than 150 arrests during the long weekend is startling in itself. More startling, however, is the fact that two-thirds of these arrests involved motorists who were charged with speeding.

The safety experts have long pointed out that speeding is a contributory cause of the majority of highway accidents. While Pitt County recorded only four highway accidents during the holiday weekend which saw fatalities reach a record high, it is evident from the highway patrol arrest reports for the period there was plenty of speeding on the highways in the county. The fact that more than 100 drivers were charged by patrolmen with exceeding the speed limit suggests there were many more who may have exceeded the peed limit but were not apprehended by the officers.

If a similar pattern of feet getting too heavy on the accelerator prevailed throughout the country during the holiday weekend, it is little wonder that such a staggering toll of highway deaths was reached.

Controls For Arms-Makers?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Manufacturing and servicing rockets and missiles is not like making candy. As things stand today, the very life blood of the nation is dependent upon the production and the efficiency of the production. Nevertheless, it is on the record that certain Americans have taken advantage of the urgency of this situation to place this country at a disadvantage vis-a-vis Soviet Russia.

The record shows that on February 27, 1961, the Deputy Secretary of Defense, Rosewell L. Gilpatrick, issues a memorandum which stated as follows:

"Reports have been made to this Office concerning excessive overtime work on contracts related to missile and space programs, including activities at special sites and operational sites under construction. It is particularly important at this time that our missile and space programs meet present schedules. It is also important that these programs be pursued with maximum efficiency and at reasonable cost as well as speed, and that employment opportunities be expanded wherever possible. Excessive overtime results in reduced efficiency, unreasonable costs, and unnecessary restriction of employment opportunities."

It is always possible to work slowly so that overtime becomes necessary. Such slow work is sabotage and this has been a fairly general practice at the missile bases. Involved in this situation are not only workers but also contractors and government officials who have been lax in their handling of improprieties. Also, it has been unfortunate that not enough publicity has been given to this subject.

General Thurman, in testifying before the Senate Permanent Committee of Investigations has taken the position that the responsibility to carry out a contract is the contractor's. He testified:

A Night Spot To Visit

Down in the city of Nassau on the Isle of New Providence in the Bahamas is a night spot with the ominous sounding name of "Dirty Dick's."

It is only one of a dozen or more night clubs in Nassau but is the one your columnist and Russell Cowan, chose to visit as we vacationed in the famous Bahama Islands last week. We chose it partly because someone had told us to be certain we went there, and partly because we were intrigued by its name.

But if the name is ominous, the club's entrance is even more foreboding. For nestled among the quaint shops which characterize Nassau's Bay St., is a long and dark corridor no wider than a standard door. This is the way to "Dirty Dick's."

Undoubtedly he hesitated before taking the walk down this corridor. After all, an establishment of similar appearance in the United States, we would have given the widest berth. But, then friends back home had recommended it and the souvenir book on Nassau had described it as "one of Nassau's liveliest pubs," so we entered.

"Dirty Dick's" had little more to recommend it on its inside than it did outside as far as appearances go. We passed through the corridor and entered a large and dark room. On our right in front of the bar were a series of tables for customers. Alongside the tables was, what seemed to us, to be a rather small dance area and behind that was a bandstand. Beyond that were more tables and the far wall appeared to be covered with a mural, though it was too dark to rightly tell. We felt a little uneasy as we took out seats, but already a Negro band was unpacking and tuning up its instruments. From this point on the real native Bahamian charm of the place began to unfold.

The band was the swiftest, as they say, and, of course, they were at their best on the Calypso numbers. Actually everything could have been classified as such for even the slow ones they played with this peculiar beat. But it was on true Calypso that the six men showed their talent. On these numbers native couples, both colored and white, thronged the dance floor to give excellent exhibitions of the uninhibited Calypso dance.

They were, naturally, joined by others. This was a couple, obviously by their dress befitting, who did as creditable a job on the floor as anybody. There was an older couple, obviously from the United States, who shouldn't have been on the floor at all. Several Spanish speaking young couples, apparently students from South America, quickly got the hang of the Calypso.

The big event of the night was a limbo contest which the band leader announced several times would be later in the evening. The limbo, as you might know, is part sport, part dance and it is done to Calypso. The participants bend backward to the rhythm of the lively music and, neatly or otherwise, slide under a pole suspended between two uprights. Its sort of a high jump in reverse.

Well, the limbo contest finally came off around 11:30, after the apparently indefatigable band had taken a few minutes break. The contestants slid under the bar rather easily the first time around. But each new try the bar was dropped and the Calypso music grew more frantic. Gradually the contestants fell out as the pole was dropped to within perhaps eight inches of the floor. A few limber souls made it under even in this tiny space. Nobody ever figured out who actually won, so it appeared, but everyone had a big time, particularly the customers.

This was "Dirty Dick's", a truly entertaining night spot, complete with Calypso band, the limbo and waiters who spoke the King's English. If you're ever in Nassau, look it up. It'll be worth the time.

Other Editors Sayings... Sanford's Program

(Rocky Mount Telegram) Gov. Sanford says he plans to institute an 11-point program for North Carolina during the summer months, and said "we will take another look at Labor Day and see what we can accomplish by Christmas."

The 11-point program, if only partially realized, will be a major accomplishment, and the schedule laid out by Sanford indicates he will keep things busy in Raleigh—an indication the state employees are going to earn their 5 per cent pay raises. The first step in Sanford's plan is no more than the public expects: he says he will get things rolling on his "quality education" program. Well, the public is going to be paying through the nose on that one, and they'll be watching him to see how much "quality" he injects into our current school system.

Other items on the 11-point plan are worth listing. He says he will take a "hard look" at the efficiency of every department head to find ways to cut costs, save money and improve the efficiency of his over-all program.

Now we all learn very early that department heads are always reluctant to cut costs, being by nature very sensitive when it comes to budget matters, with more and more money always demanded each year when the budget hearings are held. If Sanford can effect any sort of savings at all, it will be more than any other governor or any president in our time has ever been able to do. Bigger government that costs more and more is the fashion nowadays. If spending doesn't outrun income, then a government simply isn't operating according to the book. We want to watch Sanford on this score during the rest of his term.

Sanford, in another item of his program, wants to press forward the agricultural opportunities program. This is already in the planning stages and needs the backing of everyone concerned. It is a worthwhile goal for North Carolina.

And the highway safety program is something that needs teeth. Apparently the recent General Assembly didn't know what the word "teeth" meant in connection with highway legislation designed to promote safety for motorists.

Water resources will come in for a great deal of attention. North Carolina is fortunate in comparison to some states in this respect. Sanford wants to make the fullest use of this most valuable asset. The state is instituting this month a new project to learn more about the industrial potential of our water, and to sell industry on the idea of coming to this state because of this potential.

These items of course, are sufficient in themselves to keep our government busy. But in addition to these, of course, are the other normal duties and function of state government. If Sanford sees some of these items brought to fruition he can rest assured that he had accomplished something worthwhile during his tenure. It is an ambitious, necessary program; the people should help support these measures.

Profits Picture Not Favorable

By RALPH ROBEY

Official figures on business profits are compiled by the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission. The mere job of collection and estimation makes it necessary that publication be somewhat delayed, and the report for the first quarter of this year was released only a few days ago.

Actually this compilation covers only manufacturing, and this is only about one half of the total of corporate profits. What has happened is not favorable. This is true regardless of how one measures profits.

If one uses the aggregate profit figure, which is important from the viewpoint of determining possible government revenues, the total is the lowest since the first three months of 1958—a period of recession. This is distressing because the volume of sales since then has shown a large increase. This growth of sales without any increase in the aggregate of profits is measured by the percentage made per dollar of sales. In the first quarter of this year this was 3.5 cents, and this is the average figure. It means that many companies made no profits at all on their sales.

In the first three months of last year the comparable figure was 4.7 cents, and in the second quarter of 1959 it was 3.5 cents. That was the highest rate of profits per dollar of sales in the past several years, and it lasted only one quarter.

The third method for measuring profits is as a percentage on stockholders' equity. This has to be on the depreciated value of the property, and for this reason the figure always is relatively high. In the first quarter this was 6.8 percent, as compared with 9.8 percent a year earlier, and 12.4 percent in the second three months of 1959. Now what difference does it make whether profits are higher or lower? It makes a whale of a difference.

From the point of view of federal revenues the total of business profits can easily be the deciding issue as to whether we have a surplus or a deficit. This is because just about one half of all business profits are paid to the federal government in taxes. In 1960 this amounted to almost $22 billion. States and municipalities also collect large taxes from business, from levies on its income and also on its property.

From the viewpoint of management and the investor, the possible rate of profit will determine whether it is worthwhile to buy a new and better machine, create more capacity to produce, develop new products, expand marketing procedures, and so forth. And the amount of profit

Invests To Suit Himself

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass. — I have had so many inquiries during the past two years asking how I invest my own money, I have finally decided to disclose this information in this weekly release. Frankly, I try to invest something which is doing much good, so that I will have a satisfaction in my heart as well as in my pocketbook. I am today describing two companies by way of illustration—the products of which especially appeal to me.

GIBSON GREETING CARDS, INCORPORATED

This is one of the four leading companies which print greeting cards. Its headquarters are in Cincinnati, Ohio. All of these companies started in a small way. When I was a boy, there were no such things as greeting cards. We had terrible comic valentines which we sent out to friends and enemies; but I do not remember seeing a Christmas card, or an Easter card, or a birthday card. As soon as this greeting card industry was started I felt that it had a future, and I believe it has an even greater future in years to come. The one thing that we all are short of is time. Greeting cards not only retain our circle of friends, but the sending of them takes no time and often takes the place of a letter. They surely make millions of people happier.

The above company in which I have invested has the following to commend it. If you divide the number of greeting cards which this one company sells annually by the number of stockholders in the company, you get a result of nearly 100,000. I have always received a dividend on this stock; but, if I missed a dividend some year, I would still feel that my stockholdings (representing my share as one of the stockholders) are making 100,000 people happy each year. This is one illustration. But now to a second, which is even more marvelous.

ASGROW SEED COMPANY

Although there are several seed companies in the United States, I think this one is the largest of all. Not only are seeds very essential to a nation—whether it is a democracy, or one ruled by communism, or whether it is an underdeveloped nation with increasing population and a shortage of food, good seed is probably the greatest need. Furthermore, few people understand that unless the seeds are carefully selected each year from the healthiest plants, the quality of the seeds quickly runs out and the vegetables ultimately return to their native wild state. Furthermore, a purchaser of seeds cannot tell whether they are good or bad until after they are planted, which is too late. It is absolutely important, therefore, to deal with companies of the highest reputation.

As an illustration of the seed volume of this company, I understand they sell 10 billion bean seeds, 7 billion of corn, and many billions of pea seed. Figures for the small seeds, such as cabbage, broccoli, and celery, are also stupendous. To illustrate this company sells nearly 70 billion carrot seeds each year. The company spends so much money on selection and keeping up the character of its product that it does not pay great dividends; but if I did not get the money in cash dividends I would get the satisfaction of knowing that the number of seeds raised and sold, divided by the number of stockholders—of which I am one—would give about one-half billion seeds per stockholder. All these seeds sold add up annually to some 250 billion seeds. In other words, I have the great satisfaction of knowing that, as an average stockholder, I have the honor of planting half a billion seeds each year! I really get a great kick out of this.

SEEDS AND GREETING CARDS IN RUSSIA

When I was in Moscow, I found the best-run few people were scientists and ball dancers. On the other hand, the two businesses which were allowed to continue as manufacturers under government supervision were the seed business and the greeting card concerns. This is because the raising of seeds depends absolutely upon the character of those in it, while the preparing of greeting cards requires an artistic originality which cannot be purchased with money or forced upon people. It must be voluntary.

First Summer Term At ECC Ending Tuesday

East Carolina students enrolled in the first term of the 1961 Summer Session will complete their work Tuesday, July 11, when final examinations for the term will take place.

Registration for the second term of the summer session is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, July 12, in the Wright building. Students returning for the second term and new students will consult with their faculty advisors, prepare their schedules, and enroll in courses during the day. Classes will begin Thursday morning.

Indications are that enrollment will exceed previous records for the same period of the school year.

The 1961 Summer Session will close August 17.

East Carolina is offering this summer for the first time an enriched curriculum including approximately eighty courses in the first term and forty in the second term which have not been previously taught during the summer. The aim of the program is to enable students to schedule their courses so that, if they wish, they may complete their college work within a three-year period.

Among special events of the second summer term, Dean of Instruction Robert L. Holt has announced, will be the Eleventh Annual Music Camp in session July 16-29 with an enrollment of 450 junior and senior high school students; a Choral and Instrumental Music Workshop, July 17-28; a Visual Arts Workshop, July 17-27; and a Junior High School Workshop July 12-25.

Hoffa Predicts Re-Instatement

NEW YORK (AP)—Teamsters head James R. Hoffa says his union will be back in the AFL-CIO within six months—"unless those who are in the labor movement desire to have a weakened federation."

The AFL-CIO expelled the 1.7 million-member Teamsters' brotherhood in 1957 following Senate testimony that Teamsters' leaders were corrupt.

Appearing Sunday night on the nationally televised NBC program "Meet The Press," Hoffa was reminded by a panelist that he previously had predicted the AFL-CIO would end his union's exile within 18 months.

"I said they should," Hoffa responded. "They may be short-sighted for the next 18 months as they have been for the last 3 1/2 years."

Hoffa, reelected last week to a new 5-year term as Teamsters' president, said he believes "the Teamsters union belongs in the house of labor."

"We helped build it," he added. "We are the largest single organization; we lend strength to the labor movement."

British Barring UN Committee

LONDON (AP)—Britain has withdrawn permission for a U.N. investigating committee to enter its Bechuanaland protectorate because the group refused to promise to keep out of neighboring South West Africa.

The committee has instructions to investigate charges of racial discrimination in the territory of South West Africa administered under an old League of Nations mandate by the white supremacist government of South Africa.

(Continued from page four) government will be forced to avoid private contractors, to manufacture its own missiles and to use military labor to get the work done. This would be an expansion of the power of government over the individual which could ultimately change our form of government.

Through 1962, the American taxpayer will have contributed $11,800,000,000 to research, development, test, production and supporting facilities and for construction for Air Force missiles other than for ICBMs. That is a heavy load for the taxpayer to pay for instruments of defense which he does not know whether he will ever use. The taxpayer wants to be sure that he gets a dollar's worth for a dollar spent. He is not getting that if he has to pay for jurisdictional strikes.

It would seem that Congress has it as a duty to establish absolute controls over the production of munitions of war so that no country can outproduce us.

Maybe Saved By An Afterthought

COTTONWOOD, Ariz. (AP)—Louis Peterson, owner of a sawmill, decided to clean up his office. On one of the shelves he discovered a bomb fuse, the type used in 100 pound bombs during World War II.

Peterson notified the nearby Navajo Supply Depot. Demolition experts said the fuse was still active and could have caused quite a blast if given a hard blow.

GUNNISON, Colo. (AP)—Camille Besse baked a package of goodies for her cousin, Keith McKee, who is in the Navy at New London, Conn.

After mailing the package, she walked out of the post office and met McKee. He was home on 30-day leave. She retrieved her package from the post office.

Police Report Says June Had Total Of 175 Arrests

There were 324 complaints made to the Police Department and 188 cases known to authorities during the month of June, according to the monthly report of Police Chief S. G. Gibbs.

The report said 175 arrests were made during the month, including among others, 63 for road and traffic law violations and 37 for drunkenness.

In the traffic analysis, speeding was the number one violation reported, with a total of 15 arrests. Improper license or registration came second with a total of 13, while reckless driving, non-observance of traffic lights or signs, and improper or defective lights and brakes followed with eight, seven and four arrests, respectively.

Department vehicles traveled a total of 18,386 miles on patrol duty in the city during June.

A total of 164 males, including 82 white and 82 Negro, were charged, while 11 females, including nine white and two Negro, arrested.

Eichmann Given Recess To Rest

JERUSALEM (AP)—Shaking from lack of sleep and nervous tension, Adolf Eichmann asked for and got a morning recess today to sleep off the rigors of his long trial. He returned to the witness stand in the afternoon, staring straight ahead with normally impassive demeanor.

Eichmann underwent rigorous cross-examination by Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner during the last court session Friday. This was to have continued this morning but was suspended until the afternoon at Eichmann's request.

He slept during the morning on a narrow cot in his solitary confinement cell.

The former Gestapo officer, impassive until Hausner cracked his shell last Friday afternoon, was trembling and twitching when he entered his glass-enclosed cage in the courtroom this morning.

He sent a note to the tribunal through his defense counsel reporting he had spent a sleepless night and was suffering nervous tension.

The prison doctor examined Eichmann and said he was "perfectly fit but tired, due to loss of sleep."

His guards said Eichmann had a bad weekend. "He's got the jitters," one officer said.

Eichmann has endured a year of confinement since his capture in Argentina and 13 weeks on trial with seeming calm.

He suffered an attack of nerves, described as a momentary heart flutter, the day the trial opened April 11 and a similar attack a month later. But otherwise he presented a rock-like mien.

Inside Story Of Magician Secrets Told Each Other

By DORMAN CORDELL
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A bunch of magicians told me the inside story today: There's a trick to what they do.

I felt like an American spy turned loose in Khrushchev's private files.

"Some 500 members of the International Brotherhood of Magicians are holding their convention here—and revealing secrets of their arts left and right to one another."

And to anybody else who happens to be around.

I even found out how to cut off a woman's head with a genuine buzz saw—and restore it in good condition, of course. The head, that is.

You see, it's done this way—but I can't tell. Sworn to secrecy, you know.

However, if you're really dying to find out how to make a woman lose her head, try reading.

"Listen, a magician's most closely guarded secrets are available in any public library," said one magician. "They always have been. Where do you think I got most of my act?"

Besides, the secret is only part of the effect, he added. Even more important is the performer's skill.

"Yes, you can tell the amateur," said Okito, a specialist in oriental magic who has been a performer for 55 years. "The master's touch just isn't there."

Okito, whose real name is Theodore Bamberg and who lives in Chicago, is descended from a family of magicians that reaches back seven generations, to the early 17th century.

And an eighth generation already is performing in the person of Okito's son, Fu Manchu, alias David Bamberg.

The easiest people to mystify, said Okito, are brilliant ones. "They are more apt to think logically, which plays right into a magician's hands," he said.

The magicians had trouble making one rabbit appear. This one is the brotherhood's mascot.

He appears on a network television magic show and was supposed to arrive by plane Thursday from the West Coast. But he was traveling alone—with a little help, of course — and got lost somewhere along the way.

Somebody suggested: "If I does show up and you can't find a hotel room for him, he can always stay in a hat."

Constitution Is Given Approval

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)— Unofficial returns today showed the majority of Turkish voters approved the new constitution in the first such referendum in Turkey's history.

Counting continued on in several provinces, but it was estimated that at least 60 per cent of those voting cast white ballots Sunday approving the constitution, second in the Turkish Republic's 38 years.

DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS

MESOCO, Switzerland (AP)—British actor Edmund Purdom opened divorce proceedings against his Polish-born wife, Allida, over the weekend. He charged "incompatibility of character."

The Purdoms were married in 1957.

General Revisits Island Of Panay

ILOILO CITY, the Philippines (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, traveling this time in style, today returned to Panay Island in his tour of battlegrounds in the Philippines he made famous in World War II.

He was accorded a 19-gun salute as he stepped ashore from the presidential yacht, Lapu Lapu and cheered by thousands during his five-hour stay.

It was the last scheduled stop on his journey through the young Southeast Asian republic that reveres him as its liberator from the Japanese.

Van Johnson Is Today Busier Than Ever Before

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

LONDON (AP) — Van Johnson is working harder than he ever has in his life—and he's having a ball.

How he got to this point is quite a story. It takes him from the feudal fastness of MGM through the rocky shoals of free-lancing and to the tax-free heights of Switzerland.

Van is smack in the middle of a year's contract to play trombone salesman Harold Hill in the London production of "Music Man." "It is the most rewarding work I've ever known," he said in his London flat. "That famous British reserve doesn't apply to theater audiences. They cheer and yell. 'Go it, Van!' I love it. You don't get applause when the director says, 'Cut.'"

"But it's also the toughest role imaginable. It's as though Meredith Willson thought, 'Now how can I write a part that will tax a leading man to the extreme.'"

Last summer he played "Damn Yankees" at $7,500 a week in tent theaters. That gave him the nerve to accept "Music Man" here.

"I was scared before that," he remarked. "I had 14 years at MGM. They were great years, but they didn't equip me for facing the outer world. The studios wrap you in cotton batting."

Unwrapped and set adrift, Van fared well for a while, then met with diminishing results. During one period, he tried living in Switzerland to protect his income from the ravages of taxes.

"At first it seemed wonderful," he said. "The scenery was fabulous. We'd have dinner one night with Deborah Kerr and Peter Viertel, then with Audrey Hepburn and Mel Ferrer. I played tennis every day with Charlie Chaplin. I sent smoke signals from Alp to Alp with Paulette Goddard."

Then the life began to pall. The first to crack was Van's wife Evie. "I can't stand it any more," she said, leaving him.

"I stayed on," Van said. "But I got to thinking. What good was the million dollars in the unmarked safety-deposit drawer if I would end up an old actor with nothing to do but play tennis with Charlie Chaplin and send smoke signals to Paulette Goddard?"

"The climax came when the scenery started getting closer and closer. One morning I woke up and the mountains were at the foot of my bed. That did it. I called Evie in New York and told her I wanted to talk things over. I took the first plane out of Zurich."

He patched up his problem with Evie and she is here cooking for him.

GASPORT, N. Y. (AP) — Miss Ida Hofert, who has been a school teacher for 51 years, says grade-school students are "molly-coddled" in the teaching of mathematics.

"We teach mathematics like it was all one big game," she says. "Then all of a sudden we drop the game and shove the children out in the cold world of problems."

CV Team Moves To Second Place

College View broke out of a second place tie with Planters Bank Saturday by defeating Carolina Dairy, 8-4 in the only Tee-ner League action of the day.

Jimmy Mullins was credited with the win, College View's fifth against three losses. Mullins struck out two and walked eight Carolina Dairy batters. He was relieved by Doug Nichols in the fourth inning of the five inning affair. The latter walked one and struck out none.

The loss was charged to Van Fleming, who was relieved in the first when he had control troubles. Benny Hooks, who started the game at first base, finished the game for the losers on the hill.

The winners got six hits in the victory, with no one player getting more than one hit. Mullins, Nichols, Bit Johnson, Steve Porbis, Van Stubbs, and Tommy Daniels got the hits for College View. Johnson's was the only extra base blow, a double in the second inning.

Leading Carolina Dairy at the plate was Billy Williamson, with two hits in three trips to the plate. Both were singles.

Winners To Play In Nat'l Tourney

GREENSBORO (AP) — Jim Causey of Davidson and Gene Hamilton of Asheville, who won the boys titles here Sunday in the North Carolina Junior Boys tennis tournament, will represent the state in the National Junior Tournament.

The two accepted invitations to the national tournament — to be held at Kalamazoo, Mich., in a few weeks — after Sunday's action.

Correction

In a story which appeared on the Reflector sports page Saturday it was originally reported that the Bell Arthur and Winterville girls teams were from the Christian Church. It has since been brought to our attention that the teams were non-denominational. We regret that this error occurred.

Palmetto Tennis Tourney Opens

BELTON, S.C. (AP) — The Palmetto Open Junior tennis tournament for teen-age boys and girls, and grammar school age youngsters, opens its second annual run here today.

Four brackets for boys and four for girls will be played during the week.

Action in the girls divisions starts Tuesday.

The boys brackets are for those 11-and under; for those 13-and under; for those 15-and under, called "boys"; and those 18 and under, called "junior boys."

Girls divisions have the same age limits.

Palmer Shoots 71 In British Open

BIRKDALE, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., who is favored to win the British Open Golf championship, shot a steady 34-37-71 today in the first qualifying round despite rain and a tiff with a movie cameraman.

Palmer complained that the cameraman bothered him on the 10th hole where he shot a six, two over par. He more than made this up, however, to come home one under par on the Hillside course.

There are 350 golfers in the field. Each shoots a round of 18 on both the Hillside and Birkdale courses, with the leading 120 starting tournament play Wednesday.

Bulls Drop Caps To Widen Lead

Durham widened its Carolina League lead to a full game, but faces a serious threat from Winston-Salem which bounced from third to second place as a result of Sunday's action.

Durham edged Raleigh 6-5 to force the Caps into third place 1½ games back, and Winston-Salem swept a doubleheader from first hit winner Wilson, 2-0 and 2-1. Burlington edged Greensboro 11-10 in 11 innings.

Harold Trapp and Gates Brown cracked homers for Durham to help the winners to an early 6-1 lead. A Raleigh comeback was sparked by outfielder Rick Bazinet, who hit one homer and shortstop Wayne Coleman who struck two.

Winston-Salem pitchers Fritz Binder and Bill MacLeod limited Wilson to eight hits in the doubleheader. Binder hurled a shutout in the opener, giving up four singles. MacLeod, who pitched a four-hitter in the nightcap, batted in both Winston runs with a single in the fourth.

Burlington overcame a 7-1 deficit and then came back with two runs in the 11th after falling behind again during the first half of the final game.

Locals Split In Hobgood Twinbill

HOBGOOD—Greenville split a doubleheader with Hobgood in Eastern County League action yesterday, winning the first game by an 11-2 score, and dropping the nightcap, 2-1.

Third baseman, John Harrison led Greenville in the opener with a perfect day at the plate. Harrison had four doubles in four official at-bats. Second baseman, Spencer Gaylord, a member of East Carolina College's national baseball championship team, was second to Harrison with three doubles of his own.

Nathan Greene, a big right-hander, and also a member of the Pirate baseball team, got credit for the win, limiting the Hobgood batters to only four hits. Greene struck out ten in going the distance for the winners.

In the nightcap, Cecil Savage of Hobgood stopped the Greenville hitters on three hits in gaining the win. Savage struck out nine and walked only three in going the route for Hobgood.

Malcolm Griffith and Greene limited the winners to four hits in a losing cause.

Leading the winners at the plate was L. R. Causway with two hits, including a double in the fourth inning.

Getting the hits for Greenville were Jimmy Forbes, John Harrison, and Merrill Eynum, another member of the East Carolina baseball club. Harrison's hit was a double, his fifth for the day.

U.S. Track Coach Forgets Dispute

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONDON (AP) — Jim Elliott, head coach of the touring United States track team, today was assured he had complete command of his troops and promptly withdrew his threat to head for home.

"We have things straightened out," said Elliott as he prepared to lead the main portion of the team into Moscow for a meeting with the Soviets next weekend. "We all know where we stand."

A dispute arose Sunday when the team set down here. Manager Joe Mangan announced that White City Stadium had been engaged for a practice as soon as the 31 men and 17 women could get there. Then he asked for a show of hands on whether the group wanted lunch.

Elliott demanded to know whether "the managers or the coach is running the team, and why was I not consulted on these matters. I need this coaching job like a hole in the head."

Then he threatened to quit.

"It was all a misunderstanding," said Pinky Sober, chief of the AAU track and field committee, nervously. "Each man has his own duties and they were defined to all concerned."

Elliott had the team up at almost the crack of dawn today and took up the White City offer which was made by Jack Crump of the British AAU. After the workout, the team was scheduled to board its chartered airliner for the trip to Moscow.

"I like what I've seen so far," said Elliott. "The boys looked very eager. But, on the other hand, I haven't seen one fourth of the squad."

He was referring to the fact that 10 members of the team, along with AAU chief Dan Ferris, are waiting in Moscow. They were sent ahead for earlier meets. The main body was supposed to get to Moscow Sunday night, but the Soviets closed the airport because of an air show.

Two-Team Tussle According To League Leading Detroit Tigers

LITTLE LEAGUE

Only One Percentage Point Separates Tigers And Yanks

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers figure the scrap for the American League pennant is strictly a two-team tussle between themselves and the New York Yankees, and at the moment, they've proved their point — by a point.

That's the margin, just .001 in the percentages, the Tigers have over New York as they now join forces with the Yankees for the AL's battle with the National in Tuesday's All-Star game at San Francisco.

With Frank Lary, the league's ace right-hander, allowing only three singles and winning No. 13 in the opener, Detroit climbed back into first place by beating the Los Angeles Angels 1-0 and 6-3 Sunday while New York split with Boston. The Yankees won the first game, 3-0 behind the five-hit pitching of rookie Roland Sheldon, but dropped to second in a 9-6 nightcap defeat by the Red Sox.

Baltimore gained control of the third place, seven games behind, by whipping Kansas City 8-0 on Sunday while the Yankees and Steve Barber's four-hitter, Cleveland dropped to fourth when the Chicago White Sox thumped the Injuns twice, 7-5 and 9-8. Minnesota beat the Senators 7-1.

In Tar Heel Little League play-off action Saturday the Exchange club defeated the Moose nine in a seven-inning game by a score of 3-2 on the Elm Street Park, diamond with Stuart Brock on the mound for the winners.

Brock allowed six hits, struck out nine and walked only two while losing pitcher Billy Brown also allowed six hits, struck out six and walked seven.

The winners scored one run in the second, one in the fourth and one in the seventh while the losers scored both of their runs in the fourth inning.

Collecting the hits for the winners were David Nichols, Richard Gaylord, Ray Edwards, Brock and Billy Taylor. Doing the hitting for the Moose team were Malcolm Williams, Brown, Ricky Cox and Russell Cayton.

In a second game Saturday the Eks nine took a 7-4 victory over Pepsi-Cola after a strong sixth inning in which the winners scored all seven runs.

Winning pitcher Kenneth Beamon allowed seven hits, struck out six and walked an equal number while losing pitcher Rod Johnson allowed only three hits, struck out ten and walked nine.

Collecting the hits for the winners were Dave Fowler, Beamon and Russell Fleming. For the losers the hitters were Ed Flanagan with two doubles, Jack Gordon and Pete Heller each with a double and a single and Frank Malory with a single.

In North State League action over the weekend the Coca-Cola nine defeated the Lions by a score of 6-4 with Ronnie Tyndall's double in the seventh inning bringing in two runs to break the tie.

Donnie Taylor and Ken Merritt each hit a two-run homer for Coca-Cola. Taylor's homer was his fourteenth of the season.

Bert Bennett crashed a long three-run homer in the fourth that brought the Lions into the lead, but Merritt came back to tie it up 4-4.

CV Team Moves To Second Place

College View broke out of a second place tie with Planters Bank Saturday by defeating Carolina Dairy, 8-4 in the only Tee-ner League action of the day.

Jimmy Mullins was credited with the win, College View's fifth against three losses. Mullins struck out two and walked eight Carolina Dairy batters. He was relieved by Doug Nichols in the fourth inning of the five inning affair. The latter walked one and struck out none.

The loss was charged to Van Fleming, who was relieved in the first when he had control troubles. Benny Hooks, who started the game at first base, finished the game for the losers on the hill.

The winners got six hits in the victory, with no one player getting more than one hit. Mullins, Nichols, Bit Johnson, Steve Porbis, Van Stubbs, and Tommy Daniels got the hits for College View. Johnson's was the only extra base blow, a double in the second inning.

Leading Carolina Dairy at the plate was Billy Williamson, with two hits in three trips to the plate. Both were singles.

GREENSBORO (AP) — Jim Causey of Davidson and Gene Hamilton of Asheville, who won the boys titles here Sunday in the North Carolina Junior Boys tennis tournament, will represent the state in the National Junior Tournament.

The two accepted invitations to the national tournament — to be held at Kalamazoo, Mich., in a few weeks — after Sunday's action.

Palmetto Tennis Tourney Opens

BELTON, S.C. (AP) — The Palmetto Open Junior tennis tournament for teen-age boys and girls, and grammar school age youngsters, opens its second annual run here today.

Four brackets for boys and four for girls will be played during the week.

Action in the girls divisions starts Tuesday.

The boys brackets are for those 11-and under; for those 13-and under; for those 15-and under, called "boys"; and those 18 and under, called "junior boys."

Girls divisions have the same age limits.

Palmer Shoots 71 In British Open

BIRKDALE, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., who is favored to win the British Open Golf championship, shot a steady 34-37-71 today in the first qualifying round despite rain and a tiff with a movie cameraman.

Palmer complained that the cameraman bothered him on the 10th hole where he shot a six, two over par. He more than made this up, however, to come home one under par on the Hillside course.

There are 350 golfers in the field. Each shoots a round of 18 on both the Hillside and Birkdale courses, with the leading 120 starting tournament play Wednesday.

U.S. Track Coach Forgets Dispute

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONDON (AP) — Jim Elliott, head coach of the touring United States track team, today was assured he had complete command of his troops and promptly withdrew his threat to head for home.

"We have things straightened out," said Elliott as he prepared to lead the main portion of the team into Moscow for a meeting with the Soviets next weekend. "We all know where we stand."

A dispute arose Sunday when the team set down here. Manager Joe Mangan announced that White City Stadium had been engaged for a practice as soon as the 31 men and 17 women could get there. Then he asked for a show of hands on whether the group wanted lunch.

Elliott demanded to know whether "the managers or the coach is running the team, and why was I not consulted on these matters. I need this coaching job like a hole in the head."

Then he threatened to quit.

"It was all a misunderstanding," said Pinky Sober, chief of the AAU track and field committee, nervously. "Each man has his own duties and they were defined to all concerned."

Elliott had the team up at almost the crack of dawn today and took up the White City offer which was made by Jack Crump of the British AAU. After the workout, the team was scheduled to board its chartered airliner for the trip to Moscow.

"I like what I've seen so far," said Elliott. "The boys looked very eager. But, on the other hand, I haven't seen one fourth of the squad."

He was referring to the fact that 10 members of the team, along with AAU chief Dan Ferris, are waiting in Moscow. They were sent ahead for earlier meets. The main body was supposed to get to Moscow Sunday night, but the Soviets closed the airport because of an air show.

Locals Split In Hobgood Twinbill

HOBGOOD—Greenville split a doubleheader with Hobgood in Eastern County League action yesterday, winning the first game by an 11-2 score, and dropping the nightcap, 2-1.

Third baseman, John Harrison led Greenville in the opener with a perfect day at the plate. Harrison had four doubles in four official at-bats. Second baseman, Spencer Gaylord, a member of East Carolina College's national baseball championship team, was second to Harrison with three doubles of his own.

Nathan Greene, a big right-hander, and also a member of the Pirate baseball team, got credit for the win, limiting the Hobgood batters to only four hits. Greene struck out ten in going the distance for the winners.

In the nightcap, Cecil Savage of Hobgood stopped the Greenville hitters on three hits in gaining the win. Savage struck out nine and walked only three in going the route for Hobgood.

Malcolm Griffith and Greene limited the winners to four hits in a losing cause.

Leading the winners at the plate was L. R. Causway with two hits, including a double in the fourth inning.

Getting the hits for Greenville were Jimmy Forbes, John Harrison, and Merrill Eynum, another member of the East Carolina baseball club

Some Capitalist Thinking In Yugoslavs' Communism

By EUGENE LEVIN
BELGRADE (AP) — Behind Communist Yugoslavia's policy of neutralism lies some capitalist thinking. This country's expanding industry is looking for markets in newly independent countries.
In 1959 and 1960 Yugoslavia granted credits of more than $125 million to African and Asian countries so they could buy capital goods and other products from Yugoslavia.
During the same period the United States lent Yugoslavia almost the same amount—about $17 million—for the purchase of industrial equipment not made here.

Teaching Religion Is Cause Toronto Stir

By CARL MOLLINS
TORONTO (AP)—An explosive debate over the teaching of religion in public schools has stirred the Toronto suburbs of North York where Jews, Unitarians and secular citizens groups are ranged against Protestant church leaders and Ontario education regulations.
The controversy is matched on a more subdued note in Quebec where a group of French-speaking intellectuals is campaigning for nonsectarian schools alongside the Roman Catholic and Protestant school systems, both supported by tax money.
Late last year in Calgary, Unitarians and Jews petitioned the local school board without success for the elimination of religion classes.
The issue of whether religious education has any place in state schools recurs in communities with mixed racial or religious background, which is to say most of Canada.
All 10 provinces permit Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer at daily school-opening exercises. Provision in provincial laws for formal classes in religion varies across the country.
Quebec law calls for religious instruction from kindergarten to grade seven in both Catholic and Protestant public schools. At the opposite pole, "no religious dogma or creed shall be taught" in British Columbia schools.
Maritime province schools may be used for classes in religion but

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!
New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthmatics without prescription.
Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms. This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold without prescription in most states—in tiny tablets called

In addition Western countries have given President Tito's government big loans to meet the strains of a 1960 currency reform. Italy, Germany, the United States and Austria have participated.
As Yugoslavia and many foreign observers here see it, there is nothing strange in the Belgrade government's taking aid from the Western bloc while helping the new neutralists of Africa and Asia. They call it 20th Century economic aid, tempered by cold war.

To build up their economy the Yugoslavs need help from the West. U.S. and other Western diplomats contend it is worth giving that help to keep Tito from turning to the Soviet bloc.
But the Yugoslavs are beginning to produce more than they can use at home. The industrialized West has little market for Yugoslav goods. The newly independent countries need them.
Nikola Mincev, state secretary for finance, has told Parliament that volume is needed for efficient production.
Mincev added that heavy goods normally are sold abroad only on the basis of credits.
Western observers view the Yugoslav credits as largely economic in nature since they are generally for short terms (five to seven years) with interest around 3 per cent.

The economic loans seem to have brought political dividends for Yugoslavia. They have strengthened Yugoslav ties with the uncommitted countries and as seen from Belgrade—have brought Tito new prestige.
The biggest credit, $40 million, went to India. Part of it is being used for a hydroelectric installation. Other credits have gone to Ghana, Sudan, Pakistan and the United Arab Republic.

Arguments of the protesting groups are being echoed in Quebec by the 600-strong movement Laïc de la langue Française (French Language Lay Movement), which urges a "neutral" sector in the provincial school system.
But Premier Jean Lesage replied in a recent speech that the Quebec government will never be "an accomplice of the propagation of atheism."

In British Columbia, on the other hand, a government commission on education last December rejected all religious instruction, saying "no comprehensive program of religious instruction could be devised which would satisfy all faiths."

Operatic Music Event Tonight

East Carolina College's Opera Theater will present tonight at 8:15 in the McGinnis auditorium talented student and faculty members of the organization in a program of operatic arias and duets. Paul Hickfang of the music faculty, director, has announced. The public is invited to attend. Singers well known to Opera Theater audiences will be Mrs. Allison Moss, soprano, and Mrs. Martha Bradner, mezzo-soprano, both from Greenville, who have had leading roles in previous productions by the organization.
Making their debut as solo singers in the opera group will be Page Shaw, baritone, from Elizabethtown; Becky Forbes, soprano, from Williamston; and Sally Mewborn, mezzo-soprano, from Grifton. Terry Coley of Belmont will accompany the singers.
Other singers who will appear on the program are Mr. Hickfang, bass-baritone, and Carole Barham, soprano, of Rt. 1, Seaboard. Mrs. Moss and Mrs. Bradner will perform two duets "On Black Swan" from Menotti's "The Medium" and the famous flower duet, "Tutti Fior" from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly." Appearing in solo numbers Mrs. Bradner will sing "Afraid" from "The Medium"; and Mrs. Moss "Depuis le Jour" from Charpentier's "Louise."
Two duets from Beethoven's "Fidelio" will be sung. "Now Keeper Shall I Need You" by Mr. Hickfang and Mr. Shaw and "Tell Me What Luck" by Mrs. Moss and Mr. Hickfang.
Mr. Hickfang will also appear

Good Repair Job, And It Was Free

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Eugene Meyers, a mechanic, bought an accident-damaged car sight unseen and went to pick it up.
He found a car, one side bashed in and a radio and fishing equipment on the back seat, just as described.
The keys fit and he was able to drive it to a garage where he and a friend spent the rest of the day making repairs. Then the seller showed up and said it was the wrong car. A check of the license led to Edmond F. Meyer, who had reported the car stolen.
"They did a pretty good job," he said of the free repair job.

Keeps A Whistle To Summon Help

CAMPTON, Ky. (AP) — Johnny B. Childers, crippled and in his 80s, keeps a police whistle in the rural home where he lives alone. The whistle is to summon help for himself but recently he used it to help a neighbor.
Nelson Adams, 63, who also lives alone, fell in front of his house and could not get up. Childers, seeing Adams through a window, worked his chair to the front door, opened it and blew the police whistle.
Some children heard the whistle, investigated and summoned help for Adams.

Rubber Piled Up By Each Tire

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — Somebody figured out a way to burn up auto tires faster than a hot-rodder. He climbed into an unattended transport truck cab at an industrial plant, locked the trailer's airbrakes, started the engine — and left the tractor's four drive wheels spinning on the concrete.
Next morning, a company spokesman said "there were little piles of rubber by each tire and the wheels were still spinning in reverse."

TV Time Slot Quarrel Pushes Gobel To Stage

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A Madison Avenue squabble over a TV time slot could catapult George Gobel into the toast of Broadway next fall.
George filmed a pilot film last winter for a comedy series, and a sponsor bought it almost as soon as the film was developed.
"The sponsor (Procter and Gamble) even had a time of their own available," says Gobel. "If ever a series was set, this was it. We were to be on ABC-TV Thursday night between Fred MacMurray and 'The Untouchables.'"
"But then someone in the network thought my show was too similar to MacMurray's. I played a bachelor uncle who helps his widowed sister raise her kids. Fred plays a widower who also raises a family."
"The argument makes sense except it comes from the same jokers who programmed three Westerns in a row. So I wound up with a TV series that has no place to go—even if it's bought and paid for."
But don't feel sorry for lone-soldier George. He will be the star of "Let It Ride," a hit Broadway musical even before it opens next October.
"The advance sale from just

CHAPTER 8
Within ten seconds of reaching No. 7 Heath View, Rollison might find some indication as to whether the police had yet been to see Griselda Vance.

Within five, he was sure that they had not.
The house was in darkness, except for a single light on the first floor, almost immediately above the front door. It was approached from the Heath itself, with a wide circular drive. A flower bed was in the center of the drive, and flowering shrubs grew round the edges. It was nearly dark.

Rollison stepped onto the porch, found the bell, and pressed it lightly. He stood back, listening intently. There was no new sound, nothing to suggest that the ringing had been heard. He pressed again, keeping his finger on the bell, but there was still no sound. He drew back into the garden and walked round the house. No other light shone. He saw the garage, with the doors wide open, and no car inside. So presumably Griselda Vance was out; but there should be two or three servants at a house this size.

He reached the back, and tried the door there, only to find it locked.

The window alongside it wasn't; it was open at least two inches at the top.
Rollison felt for the gap with his gloved fingers, then fiddled until he was able to push the bottom half of the window up. It made a slight squeaking noise, no real cause for alarm. He pushed it high until he could climb through.

There was less light in here, but he saw the glimmer of chromium taps and of white tiles. He hoisted himself to the window sill, and climbed; for a moment or so he stood in the sink, and it gave off a clanging noise, the noise of maltreated stainless steel.

He climbed down, cautiously. The house had the silence of emptiness. He could just see the outline of a doorway, and went towards it, stepped into the passage beyond and took a slim pencil torch from his pocket. Its light seemed very bright, and the beam was thrown on a staircase, on pictures, on paneled walls. The floor was thickly carpeted.

He went toward the foot of the stairs, and saw a dim glow of light somewhere at the top. He went up very quietly, for the silence might be an illusion, there might be someone here.

Waiting for him?
He reached a spacious landing, and saw a door standing ajar with a light coming from it; not a bright one, but the kind that might come from a reading lamp.

He stepped to the door, and pushed it open, very cautiously. Now, the gloom seemed to hold moving shadows.
He went in and looked behind the door. No one lurked there.

The room was filled with books, armchairs, a few tables and one reading desk; and it was silent too. The light shone at the side of a winged armchair, the back of which was towards Rollison who could not be sure that it was empty. He knew what he feared; if anyone sat there, hidden from him, then only sleep or death could explain the silence.

There was no sound of breathing. He held his breath as he moved forward—and then he began to grin at foolish fears. No one sat in the chair. A copy of The Times lay on the floor, and a book lay open, face downwards, on a table by the side of it.

A quarter of an hour later he had looked in every room, but see nothing odd, and not seen a copy of the photograph or a likeness of the two babies.

Where was the staff?

The eeriness remained, but no longer pulled at Rollison's nerves. He went downstairs briskly, and found a telephone in the hall. He used his torch to see the digits, dialed Scotland Yard, asked for Superintendent Grice.

"He is out, sir. He's not been in this evening."
"Thanks," said Rollison, "tell him Rollison called, will you?" He rang off, and dialed the number of his flat at once; he was answered with uncanny promptness by Jolly.

"Mr. Rollison's residence."
"Jolly," said Rollison quietly, "is Mr. Grice there? If he is, I'd like a word with him."
"As a matter of fact, sir, he was just about to leave," Jolly said, precisely. "Will you hold on?" He was gone for a few seconds, and then came back to say: "Mr. Grice, sir."

A moment later, Grice came on the line, his deep voice sharp with annoyance.
"Why don't you want to see me?" he demanded brusquely.
"Oh, Bill, unjust," Rollison grinned in the darkness. "What's this all about, anyhow?"
"You know damned well what it's about—the murder near Kingston."

Did you know the man?"
"I did not."
"Sure?"
"I am positive, and I'll gladly state that on oath."
"What happened there?" Grice demanded.
"Why don't you read the reports?" asked Rollison solemnly.
"I was having an afternoon out with a pretty young maid, and we heard the scream. Not nice. As soon as I'd done my duty—"
"Cut it out," said Grice. "I can believe in coincidence, but not the kind where murder is done under your aristocratic nose. Where's the dead man's wallet?"

"Oh, Bill," chided Rollison reproachfully, "how would I know? His pocket was empty, even a blind man could have seen that, but I didn't touch his wallet. Found out who he is yet?"
"No. Do you know?" That question came sharply and accusingly. A lying answer might have sharp repercussions later, a truthful one might have them now.

"Bill," said Rollison earnestly, "I hope to have word for you soon, but not just now. As soon as I'm sure who he is, I'll get in touch with you."
Grice went on at some length, but Rollison stopped listening. He turned his head and looked at the open door of a small room on the right of the hall in this big, empty house. Light had appeared there; and it moved, drawing nearer and brighter.

The hum of a car engine sounded outside, and Rollison spoke quietly into the mouthpiece.
"Sorry, Bill, see you later."

Profits Coming 'Hard' In Business Recovery

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Translating business recovery into terms of larger profits is proving tough for many companies. And the stock market is paying increasing attention to their struggles.
Early reports on earnings in the first half of the year show 1961 net income still trailing 1960 at about the same rate as in the disappointing first quarter before the recession corner had been turned officially.
Many companies hope for a better second half, based on expectations of larger sales. But a goodly proportion concede that production costs continue to rise. Shift competition is weakening prices in some industries. And both trends befog the profit outlook.

Even the banks have now joined the parade of profit falterers, after generally showing rising earnings right through the recession. Most of the nation's largest banks report a drop in earnings in the first half, compared with a year ago. They blame a dip in interest yields on loans and other investments as well as rising operating costs.

The nation's railroads have been among the hardest hit by the recession. Its effects still plague the eastern lines particularly. They serve the large industrial areas where increasing production is just starting to mean more freight movement. Some lines have operated in the red until recently.

The Association of American Railroads estimates that the Class I roads (those with operating revenues of $3 million or more a year) had combined net income of $17 million in the first five months of the year, compared with $195 million in the like 1960 period. A slightly better June should lessen the gap for the full six months.

Nonfinancial corporations heard from so far are mostly those with fiscal years closing earlier than the calendar year. Their first half results thus are short one or more months of the general recovery period. But their tightened profit margins are nonetheless interesting to their stockholders and to the U.S. Treasury, which will see in declining profits a portent of loss of receipts from corporate income taxes.

The first 112 nonfinancial companies to report for their six months show 61 with earnings trailing the like 1960 period, and 12 operating at a loss, compared to 10 in the previous year.

Combined the 112 cleared $243,500,000 in this six months period, compared with $285,016,000 a year ago, for a decline of 14.3 per cent. Some industries are touched by the recovery less than others. But as usual, individual companies within industries go their separate ways.

It's a thoroughly scrambled list, with almost as many reasons for the variations as there are companies.
But the totals lean to the downside and are still waiting for the general business recovery to beef up the profit margins.

Chronic Disease Claims Are Up

NEW YORK, N. Y. — An increasing percentage of the death claims paid by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in the last 20 years has been for chronic disease, especially heart disease and cancer, the Company's statisticians report.
The growing importance of chronic disease results from a marked decrease in mortality from the acute diseases, and an increase in the proportion of policyholders who live to the older ages, the statisticians said.
Diseases of the heart and arteries accounted for more than 54 percent of the total claim payments last year, whereas two decades ago they comprised 46 percent.

Slightly more than one fifth of the payments last year went to beneficiaries of policyholders who died of cancer, while the proportion in 1940 was one seventh. Together, cancer and the diseases of the heart and arteries accounted for $3 out of every $4 paid in claims in 1960, the statisticians said.
For some diseases, death claim payments by the company have decreased sharply. For example, claims on account of deaths from acute poliomyelitis dropped to $111,000 last year, from $217,000 in 1959. The principal communicable diseases of childhood—measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, and diphtheria — were responsible for only $22,000 in claim payments in 1960, less than one fifth the amounts paid on these diseases two decades ago.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW! By FAGALY and SHORTEN

Tobacco Tips By S. J. WEEKS Pitt County Tobacco Agent

At this time of the tobacco growing season we usually are on the lookout for hornworms. Some control programs used are improper applied and improperly timed.

A control program is not justified unless the pest (hornworm) is causing more damage than the cost of an insecticidal application. To justify control, hornworms must eat about one whole leaf per seven plants.

The number of eggs and small worms give very little indication of the number of big worms that will be produced, because wasps and other predators destroy them. Ninety per cent of the damage is done by the big worms.

The proper time to apply insecticides is when the hornworms are about two inches long. It would be a good idea to check the hornworm infestation before applying a recommended insecticide.

As a guide, examine 50 widely-scattered plants throughout each field and count the number of worms one to two inches in length. If five or more worms this size are present the cost of insecticide, machinery and labor would be justified.

Fields should be examined weekly as discussed above in order to know just what the hornworm situation is at all times. The hornworms are much easier and more economical to kill when they are small than when they get large.

If treatment is delayed until several large worms are present they should be killed quickly with a more complete coverage using a full dosage of the recommended insecticide.

Occasionally, when emulsifiable concentrates are used, bud and foliage injury occurs. There appears to be more risk of plant injury when the more concentrated low gallonage sprays are used.

Recommended rates should not be exceeded, spray thoroughly, and equipment should be in good working order and adjusted to produce a uniform spray pattern.

Since the hornworm population varies from year to year and from field to field, it is essential for growers to examine their fields frequently and treat when necessary. But, treat only when necessary to avoid excessive insecticidal residues and to save money.

Charge Prisoner Confined In 'Box'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The defense attorney for court-martialed Marine Pvt. Stobo C. West of Union County, S.C., says the Marine was confined 43 days on Okinawa in a concrete building, five-by-seven feet and six-to-seven feet high.

Unbelievable, sadistic and barbaric, Lt. Col. James E. Stauffer declared Saturday in appealing West's conviction a year ago by general court-martial on a black market ring case.

West, 31, is in the brig at the Navy's Treasure Island base in San Francisco Bay. The South Carolina Marine is serving a five-year sentence and is being held at Treasure Island pending the result of his appeal.

The Navy's judge advocate General's section at nearby San Bruno has asked the prosecution to present its side July 18 at a public hearing in San Bruno.

Stauffer said that the period in the solitary cell was served by West prior to his trial at Okinawa. He said it constituted cold and calculated pre-trial punishment.

His brief said the court-martial contained 10 errors, of which the solitary confinement was one. Another was the use of testimony by West in a trial of civilians in which he was involved in a black market ring.

Stauffer charged that West was freed for a 10-day period for work as an undercover agent in breaking the black market ring case.

The appeal claimed that West otherwise was allowed out of his cell only for trips to the bathroom and an occasional cold shower. The brief stated that West ate cold meals and used West's own blankets as covering and mattress. The unfurnished cell, Stauffer said, had only two small ventilation windows.

At Spartanburg, S.C., West's wife, Barbara McGowan West, declared that Marine authorities have not allowed her to talk to her husband by telephone. The Wests have a two-year-old son, Clifton.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two officers sent to dislodge a defiant occupant from a suburban Wauwatosa building were ordered not to return to police headquarters.

Patrolmen Dale Habeman and Clayton Conley were thoroughly drenched by the skunk they were sent to remove.

indebtedness thereby secured and said deed of trust being by the terms thereof subject to foreclosure, the undersigned trustee will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the court house door in Greenville, North Carolina, at 11 a.m. on Thursday, August 10, 1961.

The Farm Scene By C. J. GOODMAN

Diseases and parasites cost the average swine producer in Pitt County at least $500 per year. This loss is emphasized when the producer counts the "disease drag" which wastes feed, slows gains, makes small litters, and in general loses money.

We have many new drugs, vaccines, and serum on the market today that are effective in reducing livestock losses. These remedies and preventatives, however, have failed to halt certain diseases that spread from the breeding stock to the baby pigs.

Some of the worst of these diseases are rhabdomyositis, leptospirosis, cholera, erysipelas, virus diseases, and scours. Mange, lice and roundworms added to these diseases, cause the producer to lose instead of make money in this livestock enterprise.

For the past 10 years, market hogs have averaged more than $17 per hundredweight. But following a few simple rules, a producer can make a swine enterprise a profitable one. He selects his breeding stock from herds that are free from contagious or transmissible diseases. He keeps his livestock in sanitary surroundings.

He controls diseases and parasites and carries out a systematic vaccination program. He feeds balanced rations. The following twelve guides are recommended as a sound swine herd program:

Breeding animals should be purchased from herds testing negative for Brucellosis and Leptospirosis. All additions to the breeding herd are isolated for twenty-one days. Tests for Brucellosis and Leptospirosis are made before additions to the herd.

All animals are blood tested for brucellosis and leptospirosis when the disease control program is initiated. Pigs are vaccinated at six weeks of age. Two cc of a modified live virus and 25 cc of serum are used.

If swine erysipelas is on the farm or in the area, vaccinations against erysipelas are given also. Gills should be re-vaccinated three weeks before breeding against cholera and leptospirosis. Sows should be vaccinated one time each year.

Sows should be wormed before breeding and placed on a clean pasture. They are wormed again just before farrowing with a "piperazine wormer." Farrowing houses should be cleaned thoroughly after use and disinfected with one pound of lye to 15 to 20 gallons of water.

the farrowing house. "Keep out" signs should be posted. Some producers have padlocked the doors of the farrowing house. Rubber boots and a foot bath should be placed at the door of the farrowing house for people who do enter. The pay-off is more pigs going to market, getting there faster, and producing more pork on less feed.

Before moving the sow in the farrowing house, the producer must wash the sow thoroughly. At this time the sow must be treated for lice by using Lindane or BHC. A footbath must be provided at the door of the farrowing house. This bath is a must.

Pigs should be given iron in some form at four days of age. If the pigs are to remain on concrete, additional iron should be supplied at two weeks of age. Pigs should be wormed at eight weeks of age and again when they reach 75 pounds. Swine on pasture should be rotated between temporary pastures to decrease re-infestation by parasites.

To these rules, one additional recommendation should be added. All visitors must be kept out of the farrowing house.

Telephone May Replace Waiters CHICAGO (AP) — Now you'll be able to talk directly with the cook when you order your meal in a restaurant.

E. J. Myerson of Washington, D. C., demonstrated his new Dine-A-Phone system at the National Restaurant Association's national convention.

You'll sit down at a table, pick up a telephone and dial the kitchen. You won't even see the waiter until your order is served. Myerson expects to install a number of the new phones throughout the nation shortly. He says it will enable a restaurant to serve twice as many customers with a third less help.

Name Fits The Bankrupt Estate MILWAUKEE (AP) — Acme Insolvent and Bankrupt Estate, Inc., is being dissolved because the firm is insolvent and bankrupt.

The firm's original name was Acme, Inc., a welding supply company that filed a petition for bankruptcy. A Chicagoan offered to buy its name and its good will. This meant that the bankrupt company had to adopt a new name.

No Place For A Committee Meet

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — State Sen. William Sullivan stuck his head in the Capitol pressroom and asked: "Where's the mines and mining committee meeting?" "It's listed for Room 307," a reporter replied. "I tried that," said the senator. "It's the men's room."

"What Should I Do About A Fruit Juice Stain?" —Mrs. A.M.M. Dear Mrs. A.M.M.: Everything depends upon the fabric on which the stain appears. That is why it is easiest and safer to let your professional drycleaner handle the garment. If the fabric is washable, fruit and berry juices can often be removed with ordinary household washing compounds, soap or liquid. Then apply white vinegar and rinse thoroughly. White vinegar is inexpensive and contains acetic acid which is often needed to neutralize alkaline conditions or cause a necessary reaction with the stain. White vinegar will not harm any fabric that can withstand water. If, after this treatment, the fruit or berry stain persists, you may use peroxide bleach (ordinary medicinal 3%, 10-volume hydrogen peroxide). If the fabric affected is drycleanable, you may use a liquid synthetic detergent in the affected areas and rinse it out of those areas. Then apply the white vinegar and rinse again. If you are not certain about the fabric you are treating, apply the stain removal process to an inner seam or to a swatch of the material to gauge its reaction to your treatment. Stain removal can be tricky with so many different fabrics and colors and weaves that a special skill has been developed to treat stains. A variety of removal agents and special tools are used by the expert drycleaner. Most thrifty home-makers prefer to mark the stain, identify its cause and employ a professional drycleaner to remove it. They feel that the small charge for his skill often saves an entire garment. —(Adv.)

Actor Studying Southern Accent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles Laughton, getting ready to play the role of a southern senator in the motion picture "Advise and Consent," was an intent spectator in the Senate gallery Friday.

He told a reporter that in addition to soaking up Senate atmosphere he came here looking for the kind of Southern accent he thought he should use, and he said he had found it, too.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircraft, steel and tobacco helped carve out a moderate stock market advance in routine trading early this afternoon. The Associated Press average of 30 stocks at noon was up 50 at 247.50 with industrials up 1.00, rails up .10 and utilities up .20. Key stocks rose from fractions to a point or better. A scattering of small losses put a brake on the averages. Aircrafts made fairly substantial gains as they responded to renewed emphasis on defense. Stocks perked up also. Boeing rose more than a point. Up about a point were Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Lockheed and North American Aviation. American Tobacco gained more than 3 in response to further investment demand. Gains of a point or so were scored also by Reynolds Tobacco, Schering, United Fruit, Woolworth, DuPont and Phillips Dodge. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.01 at 694.74. Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds were mixed in quiet trading. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to lower.

Save Local Man In Locked Auto

A Greenville man, found in his parked car on the Stantonsburg Road this morning, was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital in an unconscious condition. Deputy Sheriff Loyd Manning said Clarence Walter Holland, 46, of 911 S. Washington St. was admitted to the hospital where he remains today. Deputy Manning said a passing motorist saw the car parked near the Stantonsburg Road about five miles from Greenville. He reported it to the Sheriff's Department and the Greenville Rescue Squad was dispatched to the scene. Squad members and deputy sheriffs broke a window in the car and Holland was transported to the hospital. Officers reported the motor was running, doors were locked and a hose was run from the exhaust pipe through a window. Deputy Sheriff Manning said the car was discovered around 7:30 this morning.

Evangelist Says Hour Is Urgent

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—"You are slaves of sin, and the devil pulls you down, down, down," Billy Graham told a 40,000 sun-drenched people at the Minnesota State Fair Grounds Sunday. The sermon opened the evangelist's crusade that continues through next Sunday. Associates said 538 persons walked through the grandstand crowd to make "decisions for Christ" at the first rally. Dr. Graham, wearing a black suit, asked that there be no talking around, moving or whispering as he preached. "While I'm speaking," the evangelist said, "God will be speaking. So listen as you've never listened in your life." He told the crowd President Kennedy's dilemma is finding a way to arouse the people to the urgency of the hour. Many officials, he said, believe that war is possible over Berlin, "yet we feel that it won't happen here." "But it's here," he shouted, "and the clouds are gathering on the horizon. So I'm asking you to arise to your plans and be here with me all week. Let's make this week a spiritual demonstration to the nation."

Want State To Give Exemption

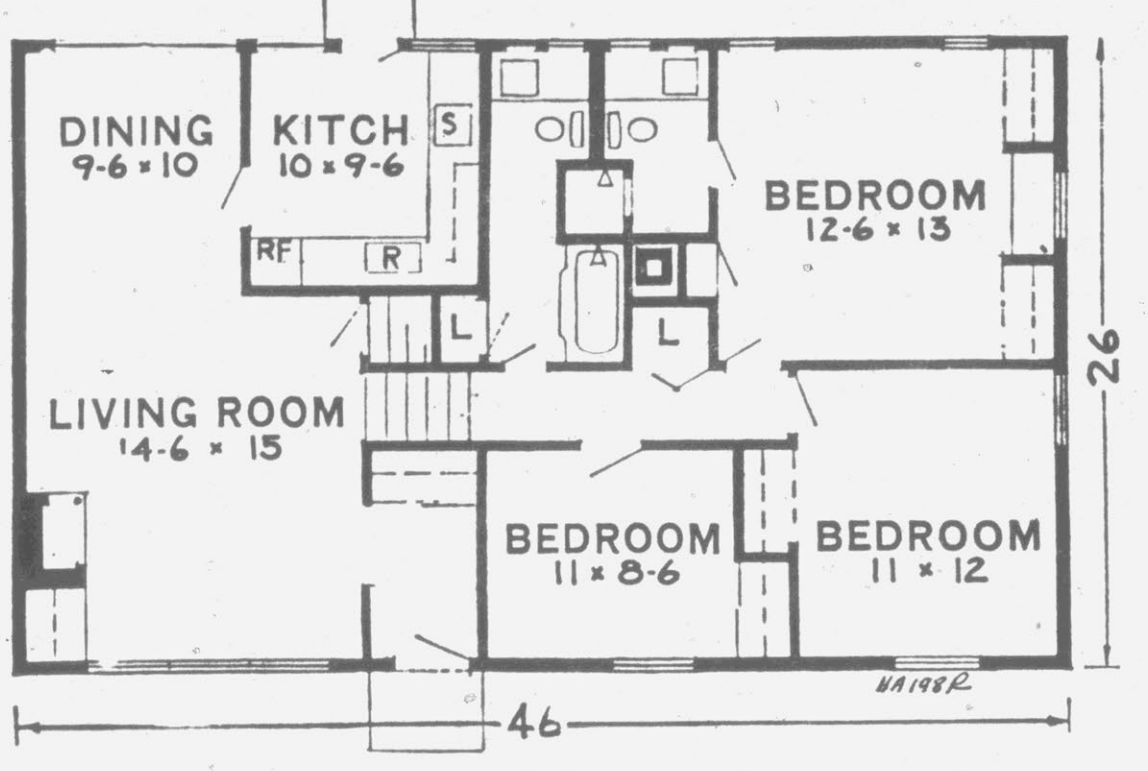

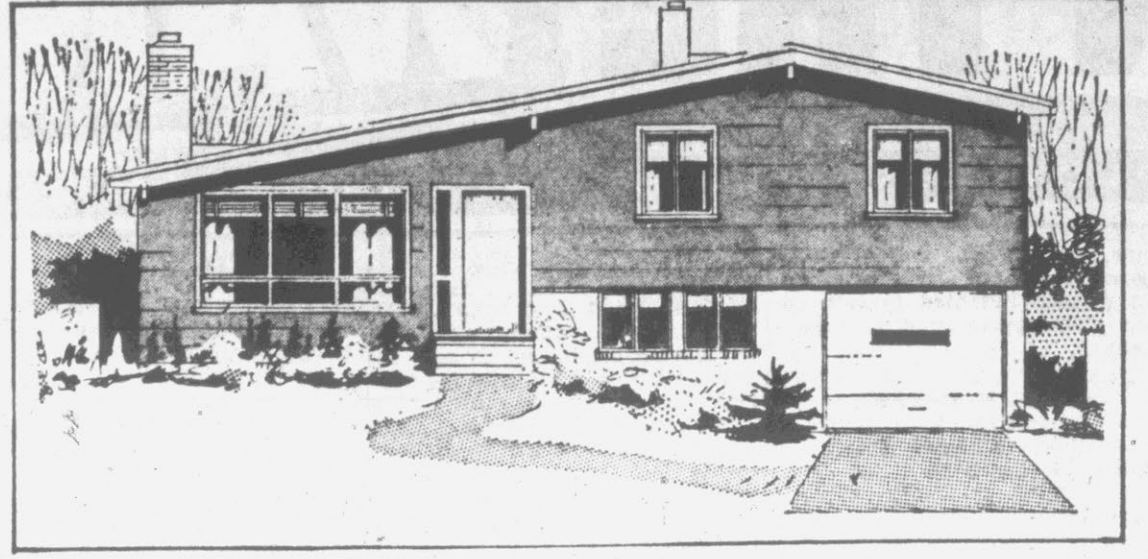

WASHINGTON (AP)—North Carolina charges its 3 per cent sales tax on building materials bought in the state by contractors on federal projects. Materials for state and local projects are exempt, and the Defense Department complains this is discrimination. Department officials have discussed the situation with representatives of the state, and likely will do so again. The Defense Department would like the Legislature to exempt federal contractors.

Scots Conclude Highland Games

LINVILLE, N.C. (AP)—The shrill of the bagpipe was not heard today on towering Grandfather Mountain. Some 3,000 Scots (and would-be Scots) have departed with memories of another Highland Games fresh in mind. The two-day festival ended Sunday afternoon with pipe music and a parade of champions from Saturday's contests in field and track, dancing, and the rosse caber. Earlier the Rev. Richard Rhea Gammon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville, N.C., told the gathering of the clans. "We have come here to rekindle the ties that bind us to one another."

Rivals Removed By New Korean Leader

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A wholesale housecleaning of rival officers appeared today to have strengthened considerably the position of South Korea's military ruler, Maj. Gen. Park Chung-hee. Pak climaxed his purge Sunday by accusing Lt. Gen. Chang Do-Young, ousted a week ago as premier and head of the ruling junta, and 44 other officers of plotting to assassinate him in an effort to seize control of the government. Pak, moving spirit of the May 16 coup, forced Chang out last Monday, supplanted him as chairman of the junta, and named Defense Minister Song Yo-chan premier. Informed sources contended, however, that Pak's position as No. 1 man in the government still is not as strong as he would like. The ruling inner circle, called the Supreme Council for National Reconstruction, now consists of 21 army men, 11 of the colonels and lieutenant colonels, 3 marine generals and a marine colonel, a vice admiral and an air force brigadier general. Treason charges that could carry the death penalty were leveled against Chang and the other officers at a news conference called Sunday by the junta. An intelligence officer said Chang and the 44 others were caught scheming to assassinate Pak and "other persons in the central force of the revolution." The officer said the accused, including five former junta members, were picked up last Monday after failing in one attempt to stage a counter-coup and while planning another. Chang, who was formerly army chief of staff, was accused of being a reluctant joiner of the May 16 coup masterminded by Pak to unseat Premier John M. Chang, no relation, and put South Korea under military rule. The junta spokesman said Gen. Chang called on Gen. Carter B. Magruder, U.S. and U.N. commander at the time of the May coup, to use his American forces to block the 3,600 revolutionary troops.

Federal Tax Bite In State Reached An All-Time High

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Federal taxes collected in North Carolina during the past fiscal year totaled over $2.28 billion. It was the greatest amount the federal government has collected in the state for one year. Annual report from J. E. Wall, district director of the Internal Revenue Service here, for the fiscal year ending last June 30 show the increase to be over $85 million. Collections for the previous fiscal year, the next highest for one year, came to $2.28 billion. Federal excise tax collections, totaling $1.23 billion, accounted for over half of the increase. They totaled $1.18 billion for the year ending June 30, 1960. Other increases: Withholding and Social Security, $535 million compared with $506 million for 1959-1960. Individual income taxes collected showed a slight decrease. In 1960-1961 they totaled $180 million.

Appointed To State's ESC

RALEIGH (AP)—Dr. James Ward Seabrook, past president of Fayetteville State Teachers College, has become the first Negro named to the State Employment Security Commission. Gov. Sanford tapped him Saturday for a four-year term on the agency which administers unemployment compensation and job placement programs.

Recreational HD Meeting Held

The annual recreational meeting of the Greenville Home Demonstration Club was held last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Moore on Sixth Street. A barbecue chicken dinner was served in the backyard. Mrs. Christine Lewis, guest speaker for the meeting, used as her topic, "Importance of Women in the Home and Community." Mrs. A. R. Moore and Mrs. Mattie Sparkman were in charge of the out-door meal with other members assisting. Visitors attending included Mrs. Lena Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Joyner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brinkley, Julius Corney, Mrs. Annie Mae Johnson, Mrs. Floyd Dickens, Mrs. Odessa Johnson and Mrs. Farella Chance.

MEADOWBROOK THE SUNDOWNERS JOHN'S DINA MERRILL THE SUNDOWNERS

Bethel Officials Are Sworn In

BETHEL—Bethel Town Commissioners met last week to approve the estimated budget for 1961-62 and to have the oath of office administered to the recently elected mayor and commissioners. The estimated budget is about $41,700 and retains the same tax rate as last year's budget, $1.60 per $100 valuation. Justice of Peace R. L. Martin of Bethel administered the oath of office to Mayor Joe Butterworth and the following commissioners: W. E. Andrews, Major James R. J. Whitehurst, J. R. Cullifer and S. C. Ives. All re-elected to the board. Mrs. C. M. Burton, assistant clerk for the town, said the commissioners had agreed to ask the North Carolina League of Municipalities to help the town with a zoning ordinance. As of this time, Bethel has no zoning ordinance. In other business, commissioners agreed to ask town residents to cover garbage cans. Mrs. Burton noted that the Health Department had asked the city to urge residents to cover the garbage cans which are put on the streets. The board will meet the latter part of July to give final approval to the budget.

Report Robbery From Recreation Center In Night

An estimated $100, the majority of which was in small change, was stolen from the Elm Street Recreation Center sometime Saturday night, Greenville detectives reported today. Officers said the break-in was reported about 6:50 p.m. last night by an employee who went to the building and discovered it. The robbers gained entrance to the building through an outside window, then broke the glass entrance of an office door to gain entrance to the Recreation Department offices. They then forced open a metal cabinet in which the money was kept. Recreation Department workers said the money consisted mostly of dimes and quarters, with some paper currency. Damage to the metal cabinet was estimated to be about $25 and damage to the door, about $3. Investigation is continuing, officials said.
