Soviet Note Says Willing To Talk Berlin Problem; Warn No Threats

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government told the United States and other big Western powers in a note today that it was ready to negotiate a settlement of the Berlin question, but warned against military threats. The note made no specific mention of calling a conference to reach a German agreement...

Urban Renewal Hits New Snag In City Council Meet

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector City Editor. Greenville's lumbering urban renewal band wagon wheezed and ground to a halt again last night as the City Council balked on boundary changes proposed by the Redevelopment Commission. This time it was Councilman Ford McGowan who indicated that he felt it was moving too fast.

City School Board Agrees To Final Settling Of High School Contract

Greenville's School Board last night agreed to a final settlement in the W. C. Dunn contract for the 1955 construction of Junius H. Rose High School. The board authorized payment of $1,750—a portion of the $2,500 the board owed the Dunn building firm.

Father And Son See Furor Over Hijacking Airliner

By BILL RICHARDSON. EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—An itinerant car salesman and his son who hijacked a jet airliner caused a national furor that reached in the White House and Congress. There were demands today that such crimes be punished as stiffly as piracy on the high seas.

minutes from El Paso on Texas far western tip. Bearden and his son, a slightly built blond, entered the cockpit behind two stewardesses. "We're going to take this plane to Cuba," the elder Bearden told Capt. B. D. Rickards, the plane's commander.

Farm Bill Isn't Freeman's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has passed a compromise farm bill that bears little resemblance to the administration's "draft-it-yourself" proposal originally submitted by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. President Kennedy is expected to sign the bill despite the changes.

West Germany To Begin Build-Up

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany is boosting its military strength to meet the Berlin crisis by increasing arms purchases abroad, Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss said today. Strauss said plans are being studied also either to raise draft quotas or call up reservists to implement the expected decision that this country's eight North Atlantic Treaty Organization divisions be brought up to full wartime strength.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C.

Border Belt Had $63.89 Opener

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Opening day sales on the South Carolina-North Carolina Border belt Thursday averaged a whopping $63.89 a hundred pounds. Marketing Specialist Curtis Tilton of the North Carolina Agriculture Department said the figure is "bound to be an opening day record." He said, however, he was unable to confirm it.

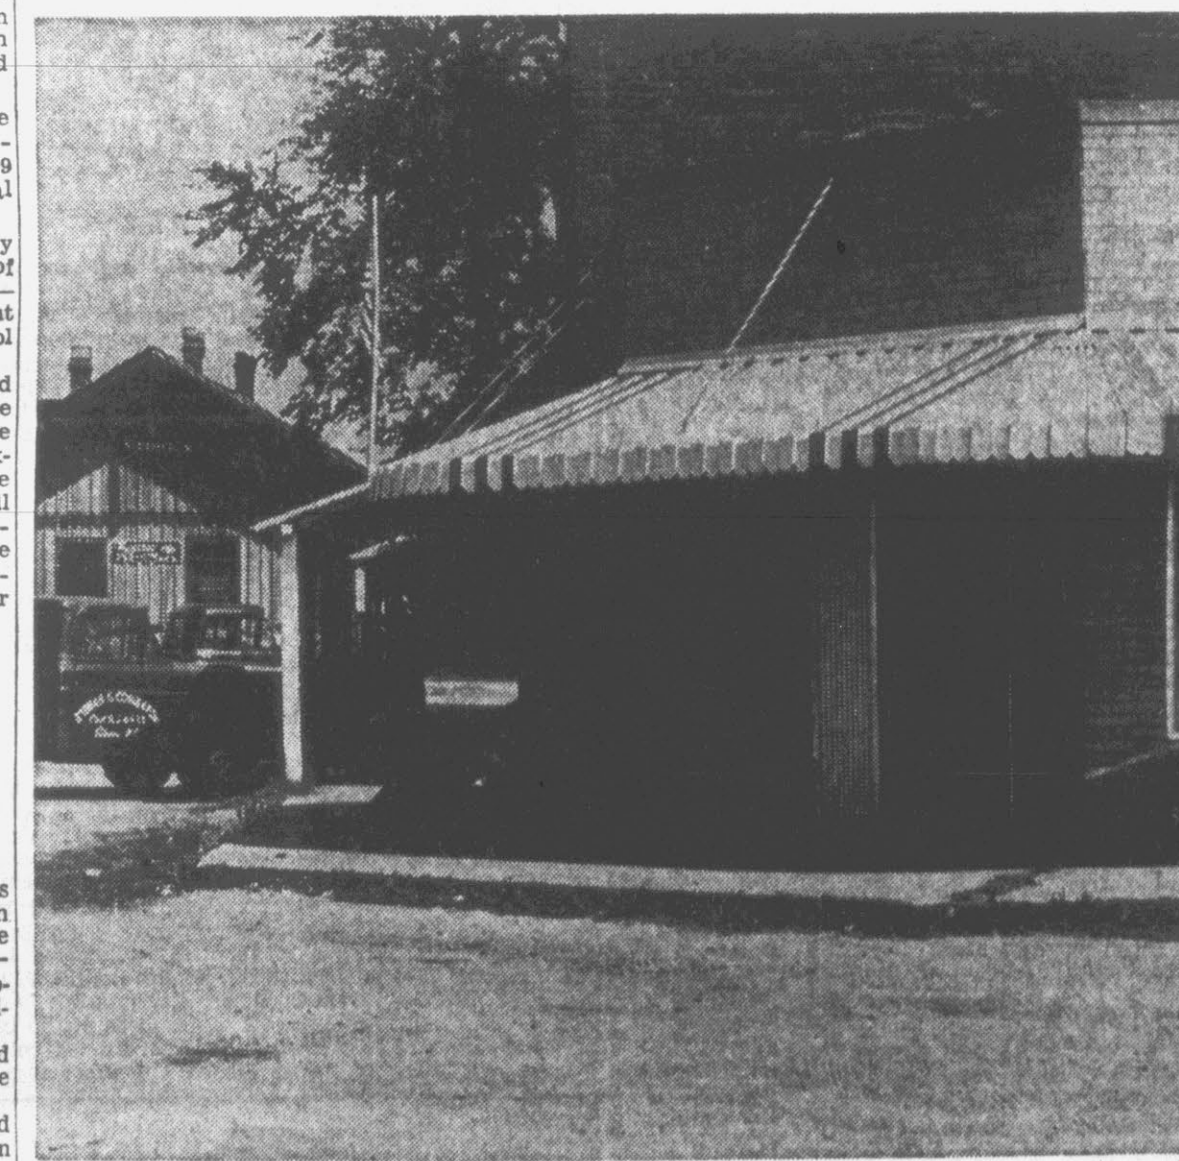

Cuba Protests Solons' Hijacking Assumptions

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government protested to the U.N. Security Council today because U. S. congressmen assumed the Castro regime was behind the hijacking of a Boeing jet airliner Thursday. A Cuban note to the council accused the U. S. government of using the plane incident as a pretext for preparing military aggression against Cuba.

Reject Proposal On U.S. Highway 13

Robersonville's Robert B. Nelson and other advocates of extending United States Highway 13 got some disappointing news Thursday through the State Highway Commission. Commission Chairman Merrill Evans of Ahsokie informed the new commission of the U. S. Route Numbering Committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials had turned down Nelson's idea of stretching US 13 from its present terminal in Goldsboro all the way to New Orleans.

Regard Note As Being Moderate

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German government today described the new Soviet note on the Berlin and German questions as "hard in terms but moderate in tone." That description of the 15-page note was given by a government spokesman shortly after a rough translation became available in Bonn. The spokesman declined to make public the contents or make any further comment.

Commission to give property owners answers concerning use of the property.

"If we pass this tonight we will have done nothing more than allow them to answer the questions they ask here tonight," Aldridge declared. "I fail to see any wisdom in Dr. Brimley's motion to put it off." Dr. Brimley then withdrew his motion. McGowan offered a motion to table the matter until the next regular council meeting (September).

Rivers Is Named To Commission

Thomas W. Rivers, Greenville engineer, was appointed to the Planning-Zoning Commission last night replacing long-time member Mrs. D. M. Clark. The failure of the council to reappoint Mrs. Clark brought vigorous objections from Councilman Ralph Brimley. Dr. Brimley raised his objections after Mayor Charles M. King suggested Rivers' appointment. The councilman pointed out that this would be the first board recommendation concerning appointment of members not accepted by the council.

Also it has been the policy in the past when replacing a lady on a board to appoint a lady," he reminded. "I think this is getting out in left field."

Ford McGowan offered the motion to appoint Rivers. It passed with Brimley voting against. Rivers has been a member of the Planning-Zoning Commission in the past. His present appointment is to a three-year term which commenced in June. City Manager Louis Scheipers presented letters to the council from members of the Redevelopment Commission concerning ownership of property in the Shore Drive area. Chairman M. E. Cavendish, J. D. McGlothlin, Howard Hodges Jr. and F. Badger Johnson declared they had no interest in property in the area. Bancroft Mosley declared he owned certain dwellings in the area but would disqualify himself in matters pertaining to his property. The statements, required by law, were made a part of the minutes of the council meeting. Councilmen approved changes in the parking law enforcement program as recommended by Chief of Police Guy Langston. The chief suggested elimination of the fine boxes now mounted on parking meters. Over-time parkers have been allowed to place 50 cents in the envelopes and deposit them in the boxes. Chief Langston proposed requiring overtime parkers to visit the police station and deposit a nickel in a meter there to pay for the overtime parking. He also proposed close checking of vehicles on the streets to prevent all-day parking by persons who place coins in the meters hour-by-hour. Merchants would be informed (Continued on page ten)

Greenville Service League Provisional Members

FOUR CIVIC-MINDED . . . Greenville Women have begun their five month period of training required for membership in the Service League, a local volunteer service organization. These women are considered "provisional members" until requirements for active membership are completed. Until that time they are not eligible to vote or hold office. Those selected as provisional members are shown taking time out from their busy schedule for informal conversation at the Greenville Golf and Country Club. Faculty Wives Are Honored

The East Carolina College Faculty Wives Club held an informal party Wednesday morning at the Alumni House for wives of the new summer school faculty and staff.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Ralph Brimley, outgoing president of the Faculty Wives and Mrs. Jack Horne. Mrs. Harry Rainey invited the guests into the sun room. Arrangements of summer flowers and caladium decorated the parlor and sun room.

Mrs. Leo Jenkins presided at the table in the dining room. The table was covered with a beige linen cloth, centered with a mixed arrangement in which purple dahlias predominated. Iced drinks were served from an antique wooden bread tray.

Wives of the new faculty and staff who attended were: Mrs. Lewis Swindell, Mrs. Louis Broussard, Dr. Ruth Nixon and Mrs. W. H. Pott.</

Resort Town Is Turned Serious

By GEORGE ARFELD
PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Serious talk by economic experts and diplomats is replacing the chatter of gamblers in this resort town.

The economic and social conference opening here Saturday will meet in the Municipal Casino's main gambling room. By the time delegates arrive, however, the roulette and baccarat tables will have been carted away. Punta Del Este, one of South America's swankiest beach resorts, has never been the scene of such an important meeting as the Inter-American Economic and Social Conference.

This small peninsula juts out into the green-blue waters of the South Atlantic. Acres of pine forests are dotted with thousands of picturesque cottages. Well-to-do Argentines, Brazilians and Uruguayans have made Punta Del Este — East Point — their favorite summer playground. By December—start of the summer season in South America—they will be flocking here. Right now it's chilly here. Travelers who have lollied on beaches along Europe's Riviera say this resort's golden stretches of fine sand are unequalled. Some compare it to Juan Les Pins, on France's Cote D'Azur.

In the winter, Punta Del Este hibernates. Many of the chic shops close and the native residents settle back to enjoy the summer season's profits. Only the fishing fleet comes and goes each day. Punta Del Este was designed as a summer resort, and the problem of heating the conference rooms and delegates' apartments is proving a headache. The government has promised an ample supply of portable heaters and stoves but many doubt their efficiency. Communications with Montevideo, Uruguay's capital are not bad. Good telephone communications are available and officials have promised to increase the number of circuits. Delegates will live in the same building where the sessions are held. It was formerly a swank hotel.

Bears Smarter Than Tourists

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Yellowstone National Park bears are getting too smart for the tourists.

Park Superintendent L.A. Garrison said rangers are making a special effort to warn visitors about the bears this season, adding:

"They are getting so smart they can open car windows." Garrison said the bears have found they can spring a car window open if the small wind vent window is open wide enough for them to reach in.

Church Plans Observe 8th Anniversary Sunday

The Grace Free Will Baptist Church of Greenville will observe its eighth anniversary Sunday, August 6, with the program beginning at 9:45 a.m. and concluding with a picnic lunch on the school grounds near the church. The church conducted its first service on August 2, 1953, worshiping in the American Legion building on Evans Street for the first 10 months. At that time they moved to their present location on the corner of Spruce and Wa-tauga.

The first unit to be built at the new location was the right hand part of the building. The second unit was built in 1958 and the church hopes to start on the third unit, which will be the San-

Base Formula On Unpaved Miles

RALEIGH (AP) — Unpaved mileage will be the basis for the formula the State Highway Commission will use in allocating money for building secondary roads. The new, 19-member commission adopted the policy Thursday, and allocated some $12 million on the basis for the present fiscal year.

"It is our thinking that this is the fairest way to allocate this money," said Chairman Merrill Evans.

A suggestion that other factors be taken into consideration was made by William Horner of Sanford, one of the commissioners. He said size of trading centers and payments of sales and income taxes were factors to be considered.

Commissioners were urged by Evans to come down East, Aug. 16-18, for an on-the-spot look at some highway problems. The tour begins Aug. 16 in Morehead City. Proposed locations for a Beaufort-Morehead City bridge will be inspected. On the trip, ferries operated by the state on the coast also will be looked over.

Storm Strikes In Western N.C.

ASHEVILLE (AP) — Lightning, rain, wind, hail, and flash floods hit a narrow strip of adjoining Haywood County and southern Asheville Thursday.

The storm hit Canton, Candler, Biltmore and the Oakley section of Asheville. Trees were felled across power lines, two main highways were blocked by flash flooding, some bridges were damaged or swept away and other property damage resulted.

There was flash flooding along U.S. 19-23 at Canton and on U.S. 25A here.

Hornby Creek overflowed its banks near Canton and water rushed into a paint and body shop operated by Frank Pressley. The operator said he thought at first a truck had hit the building. "All at once, about two feet of water came pouring through the doors," he said.

In the Fairview section southeast of Asheville, the storm knocked out power. The small daughter of the occupant, Marion Craig, carried a lit candle into the attic and the wallpaper caught fire.

Must Apply For Doe Deer Hunts

J. O. Teel, Wildlife Protector for Pitt County, today announced that landowners and sportsmen wishing to recommend doe deer hunts in their localities must file requests with the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission before August 11.

Such hunts will again be allowed on privately-owned lands, Teel explained, but as in the past only on the basis of local requests.

Teel continued by saying that "upon receipt of requests, the commission will investigate local situations to determine whether deer populations warrant the taking of females. If this is found to be the case, a public hearing will be held near the area being proposed to determine local sentiment in regard to the proposal." Such hearings will be held during the week of September 4. Results of the hearings and other findings will then be considered by the commission in time to make an announcement of approved areas and dates during the week of September 25, the Protector explained.

"Any doe hunts scheduled this year will be held during the week of December 11," Teel said. He added that "Bow and arrow hunters may take antlerless deer on such areas during the last six days of their 18-day pre-season hunts." Teel concluded by noting that only male deer with visible antlers may be taken regularly, with bag limits of one per day, two in possession and two for the season. Dates for Deer season in Pitt County are October 16 through November 4.

Heavy Damage Results In Collision At Intersection

Heavy damage resulted from a collision in which one person was injured yesterday at the intersection of Greene St. and Mum-ford Road.

Greenville police reported that Franklin Roosevelt Hill, 27, Route 5, Greenville, driver of one of the two vehicles involved, received a cut on his head when his car was struck from the rear by a truck.

Driver of the truck, who was charged with following too close, was identified as Dorsey Edward Baker, 47, of Bell Arthur.

Police estimated damage to the Hill car to be about $400, while setting damage to the Baker truck at $200.

The collision occurred about 10:10 a.m.

No charges were placed in a second mishap which caused an estimated $110 damage to a vehicle operated by Allen Holstead Van-Dyke, 39, of 1101 West Rocksprings Road.

An estimated $50 damage was done to the second vehicle involved, a car driven by Carol H. Kingery of 109 Paris Ave.

The collision occurred at the intersection of 14th and Charles Sts. about 4:40 p.m., officers reported.

No charges were placed last night when a Greenville police car struck a pedestrian at Five Points, and investigators reported no one was injured.

Officers said a police vehicle operated by Cpl. J. E. Gurganus was involved in the mishap. They identified the pedestrian who was struck by the auto as Miss Mavis Evans, 66, of 203 Summit St.

Investigators reported that the car, headed east on Dickinson Ave., had started into the Five Points intersection at a slow rate of speed when the traffic control light changed from green to yellow. Police quoted Cpl. Gurganus as saying he stopped the vehicle and, because he was stopped across the marked crosswalk, looked to the rear and started to roll slowly backward.

Accuse Nine Of Murder Attempt

MANILA (AP)—Nine men have been accused of trying to blow up a Protestant chapel on Samar Island, in the central Philippines, while services were going on. They are charged with attempted murder.

Homes of members of the church also were stoned repeatedly, the police said. The Philippines is largely Roman Catholic.

The Bank That's At HOME In YOUR HOME Town

Is this a slogan? Yes, and it's born out of facts. We'd like to take a minute of your time to explain its meaning. It may prove to be a minute well spent. You see the State Bank and Trust Company is truly a local bank . . . locally owned and operated, but BIG and PROGRESSIVE in outlook and operation. Among other things this means that you'll generally find the president and other senior officers on hand, available to do business with you at all times. What, you may ask, is so especially important about that?

When Urgency Counts!

It can, at times, be quite important. Bear in mind, a bank is more than a depository for your money. It's a financial institution that deals in many kinds of money transactions. At one time or another, almost everyone—merchant, manufacturer, distributor, farmer, professional people, and just plain Mr. & Mrs. John Doe—has money problems and needs financial help.

A farmer may need help quickly to buy equipment he needs at once. Or a merchant may be anxious to pick up an advantageous buy in a lot of merchandise. If he doesn't move quickly, he'll miss a golden opportunity. There are many situations in the running of a business where the availability of money obtained quickly may save the day—yes, even save the business.

If money is needed quickly, where would you go for it? To your bank, of course! And this is the advantage—among others—of banking at STATE. You'll invariably find your bank president and other senior officers ready and anxious to be of assistance. If your reputation and credit warrant, you'll get your loan at once.

Yes, the Bank That's at Home in Your Home Town means exactly what it says. We think that this kind of banking operation offers the local community and surrounding area the maximum in service. You are invited to walk in and try us out.

Ports Authority Has Unused Asset

Reorganization of the State Ports Authority and efforts of this body to improve the flow of goods through the state's deep water ports should afford an opportunity for another look at the potential of smaller inland ports in Eastern North Carolina.

The Ports Authority has developed a multi-million dollar expansion for the ports at Morehead City and Wilmington which is designed to provide additional facilities to handle a greater quantity and a greater variety of cargo through these two ports. According to their assertions, the expenditure of the proposed funds, financed through a bond issue, will largely be repaid through additional business attracted to the deep water ports.

We recognize the fact that it may not be practical for the state to undertake the development of inland ports as it has done with the facilities at Morehead City and Wilmington; but as a part of the program to develop more tonnage for these facilities, encouraging the development of inland ports in North Carolina could be most beneficial.

North Carolina has long recognized the value of its inland waters as avenues for transportation, but from the standpoint of the state, little has been done to encourage the development of inland ports for greater utilization of these inland waters. Considerable traffic follows the inland waterway through North Carolina north and south, but for most traffic the cargo that moves through these waters originates and is discharged at ports either to the north or south of the state.

The State Ports Authority, we feel, could be rendering an important service to its deep water ports and to commerce generally in North Carolina if it would devote more attention to helping communities and counties develop their own inland ports, and likewise help these local governments obtain cargo to move through these ports. It stands to reason that the greater the amount of cargo which moves by water into and out of North Carolina, the greater the amount that will move through the state's deep water ports.

The Eastern section of the state has many rivers stretching inland from the coast which are navigable for shallow draft cargo barges, or which could be made navigable with a minimum amount of work. It also has a number of communities in this section of the state which from time to time expressed interest in developing small inland ports as an adjunct to the transportation facilities they already have. With more encouragement and more assistance from the State Ports Authority, we believe a number of inland ports could be developed along the rivers of this section of the state. We believe they could be financed without looking to the state for funds and without taking any funds away from the deep water facilities at Morehead City and Wilmington.

The presence of these inland ports would enhance the economic position of the state, increase the industrial potential of the Eastern section, and further the development of the state's two seaports.

Chairmen Are From The West

By LYNN NISBET
CHAIRMEN — Complaints of some easterners that all the official positions in the Democratic party are going to the west, suggested a little research into the history of the state chairmen. The record shows that for 20 years most of them have come from the populous Piedmont, with only one accredited to the real west and only one to the deep east. There will be argument over that statement, because nobody knows just where the east and the west meet.

Of the eleven chairmen who have served since 1940, only Monroe Redden of Hendersonville came from west of the Blue Ridge and only John Larkins of Trenton came from east of Raleigh. Here is the record:

In 1940 Governor Broughton nominated his campaign manager, Emery B. Denny of Gaston, and he was elected chairman. When he was appointed to the Supreme Court early in 1942, Monroe Redden of Hendersonville was named in his place.

When Governor Cherry was elected in 1944 he named his campaign manager, William B. Umstead of Durham, who served through the 1944 and 1946 campaigns. Umstead was appointed to the Senate upon the death of Sen. J.W. Bailey, resigned as state chairman in 1947 and was succeeded by W. P. Horton of Chatham.

Upon his election in 1948 Governor Scott nominated his manager, Capus Wayne of Guilford, who resigned in 1950 to become ambassador to Nicaragua, and was succeeded by Everett Jordan of Alamance. Jordan handled the campaigns of 1950 and 1952.

A switch in the summer of 1954 moved Jordan to the post of national committeeman and John D. Larkins Jr., of Jones was named chairman.

Larkins served through the general election campaigns of 1954 and 1956, when another switch made him national committeeman and Woodrow Jones of Rutherford was named chairman. Jones served through the 1958 election campaign and until Bert Bennett of Forsyth was named by Governor Sanford in 1960. Bennett had managed Sanford's campaign in the primary.

It is true that all of the present officers of the Democratic party organization live west of Raleigh, which is just about the boundary of the eastern third of the state. And all of them except newly named Secretary Guder lived east of Statesville, which is just about the boundary of the western third of the state. So what Majority of the people and the voters also live in the middle third of the state's area.

POSTCARDS—The Greensboro Record gets in an editorial plug in favor of vacationers sending back messages to homefolks, and for homefolks to respond by going somewhere—even if the trip is not long. Here is the story:

As the postcards come in from friends away on vacation, the stay-at-home begins to feel an occasional stirring of discontent. That train whistle dimly heard above the night sounds at home brings thoughts of travel, while a neighbor looks skyward — with similar longing—at the twinkling lights of a high flying plane.

That train is going somewhere faraway, somewhere new and exciting. So is the plane. It may be going to Mexico. The train isn't going that far, but given a set of timetables and good eyesight, you could make connections, perhaps, for even such a trip as that.

After all, though, it isn't necessary to go to Mexico, although that would be a handsome reward for the daily grind. Venturing down the byways of the Old North State can furnish some surprises too.

Over in Winston-Salem, the Journal's Chester Davis left his readers' mouth watering this week with a piece on mountain meals. He even named names: Shatley Springs and Healing Springs near West Jefferson on Highway 16; the Wild House at Albemarle; Nu-Way Inn at Burnsville; among others—all of which can "translate groaning and savory tables into groaning and happily satisfied guests."

For those with an appetite for history, there are many sites—among them nearby Alamance Battlefield, only recently equipped with a museum and additional markers.

The desire to hop aboard that evening train for New Orleans or New York is still strong, but until there is "word enough and time" for that, there is much to see and do within easy range of Greensboro. In fact a postcard from West Jefferson can stir wanderlust as deeply as can one from Heidelberg—at least it can in those long days before vacation comes.

Some Blame Castro For Every Little Thing

The hijacking of airliners threatens to become a habit rather than an infrequent occurrence.

And the fact that such acts predominate involve the United States and Cuba, understandably puts an edge on tempers. But to blame Fidel Castro for an organized campaign of taking over airliners is a bit too much of a good thing.

It is worth recalling that a rather large percentage of hijackings were performed by Cubans fleeing Cuba; and a very few U. S. planes have been "diverted" to landing in Cuba by admirers of the Castro regime. Not so long ago, the Cuban government was so perturbed by aerial hijackings, and subsequent loss of the planes through court action, there was talk of posting armed guards aboard all their big planes.

In Thursday's attempted hijacking, there appears to be no connection between the Cuban regime and the gunmen who attempted to take over a jet airliner. As of this writing, it was apparently just a harebrained operation with no political overtones.

But our more sensitive lawmakers immediately cried "foul". This is folly, too.

Diplomacy In A Monotonous Era

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — A thousand years from now historians, rummaging around in the East-West diplomacy of our day, may conclude: "What a dreary, monotonous, unimaginative time that was."

For almost three years there has been endless jabber-jabber over Berlin, with neither side coming up with a really new idea except perhaps some skimpy concession which neither pleased nor placated anyone.

Now the whole thing is to be done over again, and probably with the same result.

It was late in 1958 when Premier Khrushchev started the fuzziest flying with his demand the West get out of Berlin. What he had, mainly, was a big yen to take it over. Even this wasn't new. Stalin had tried it 10 years before.

Such a situation, of course, required a meeting of the Western foreign ministers. But they couldn't seem to think of anything more forward looking than not budging. Then they met with the Russian foreign minister and nobody budged.

Khrushchev finally agreed to an intermission when President Eisenhower asked him over for a visit. Out of this eventually came agreement for a summit meeting in Paris in May, 1960.

Such a situation, of course, required a meeting of the Western foreign ministers. The purpose of their session: To decide what the West should do when Khrushchev sat down with Eisenhower, French President De Gaulle, and British Prime Minister Macmillan.

It was a bleak foreign minister's meeting. They didn't seem able to think of anything beyond standing pat. And by late April, 1960, this writer summed up the total accomplishment after all the talk:

"The Western allies, with months to prepare, apparently, are going to the summit meeting with Russia next month with no new ideas. And Russia, despite some big talk, hasn't produced any new ones, either."

It was a summit meeting which never came off. Khrushchev wrecked it after the American U2 spy plane was shot down over Russia. But the main factor in what he did may have been this:

The Western diplomats by this time had made the whole prospect so dismal that Khrushchev may have felt he'd save face by not having the meeting at all.

Now it starts again. Once more Khrushchev has demanded the Allies get out of Berlin. Once more they've said he'd better not try to force them and once more the talking begins.

This weekend the Western foreign ministers meet in Paris to discuss Berlin. It will be extraordinary, in view of the past, that even if they come up with anything more original than a communique which says they are firm but willing to discuss.

After they go through this it is likely there will be a Western summit meeting—President Kennedy, De Gaulle, Macmillan, West German Chancellor Adenauer—to talk perhaps about a summit—summit with Khrushchev later.

It's easy to understand that even if the Westerners did find some new approach they wouldn't tip their hand to Khrushchev before they sat down with him when, in exchange for some concession from them, they'd want one from him.

The only trouble with this reasoning—just remember the 1953 summit meeting, the years of talks on disarmament and the talks on a nuclear test ban—is that nobody budges and new ideas are few.

BE PATIENT

Parents have sometimes understood their children and tried to turn them from careers of holy living and great usefulness. The father of St. Francis of Assisi was violent in his anger against his son when the young man turned from a life of gaiety to become a religious ascetic. At the trial in which the father of Francis attempted to bring his son back under his authority, Francis stripped off his clothes in the courtroom, laid them at his father's feet and declared that henceforth he belonged no longer to an earthly father but to a heavenly. Admiral Penn disinherited his son William for joining the Quakers.

Yet how conclusively has history proved that the parents in both of these cases were wrong and the children were right. The young folks had visions which the blind eyes of middle-age could not see. We may grow impatient today at many of the attitudes and practices of our young people—and of many of them we should grow impatient—but we should also remember that it is young people who see visions, that it is the sons and daughters who prophesy. The future is with them, for better or worse. Let us love them and try to understand them. "Love never faileth," and understanding persisted in, leads us at last into the ways of light and gladness. Be patient.

An Oversight By OCDM

And how about you? Is there a fall-out shelter in your future?

As was to be expected, the field of civil defense is getting increased attention since the President's "fireside chat" dealing with our times of international tension.

Newspapers, magazines, radio and television are all telling the story of public reaction to the move for preparedness. (One local recruiter was telling me the other day his business was up by "about 40 per cent.") Draft-age males are very conscious of a feeling they could be called in the near future; and reservists are reminding themselves that the only reason they are in reserve is to be ready "in case of emergencies."

But the general civilian population is also in the story. They were jolted into awareness that it is really up to the individual to look out for himself and his family if the big trouble should come. My guess is that a lot of people are giving the subject some deep thought.

Fall-out shelters . . . their planning and construction . . . are on people's minds. Exchange newspapers we get here at the office have carried several stories of individuals who have built them; and of course, OCDM is promoting the shelter idea to everyone who can hear or read.

Which is partly why the Missus and I have been looking over some pamphlets, making mental notes of emergency supplies it would be good to have around, and studying shelter plans.

We've even gone so far as to sketch a layout, meeting CD standards, of a shelter presumed suitable to our family needs. And I hate to say it, but the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization has goofed.

Did you ever try to compress bunks, a table, chairs, cabinets, shelves, a radio and waste receptacles . . . and a "playground" . . . into a space measuring roughly 12x12x7?

Of course you haven't. But one playground (medium size) would be a handy thing to have in a shelter if two small children are going to share the space. Two playgrounds would be better . . . but let's keep it easy.

Truth of the matter is, we find it difficult to keep our youngsters in reasonably close orbit around our house. They crave the wide open spaces. The wider the better. The Old West would have been more to their liking than civilization's barriers of streets and nearby houses.

Prolonged confinement is to them (and for them) unthinkable.

Those CD pamphlets, suggesting necessary equipment and listing desirable supplies, and explaining to some degree the hazards to be met, overlooked the problem of living in a tiny cell with two or more small bundles of energy.

Being resourceful, I have added one more item to the list of supplies that OCDM forgot: tranquilizer pills.

For parents, not children.

Opinions In Brief

"Damaging as is the loss of able hands and brains, a counterblockade by the West is too high a price for the East German Government to pay for stopping the exodus. East Germany's vital interest in keeping open the channels of communication with the West will clearly play its part in any negotiations with West Berlin."—London Daily Telegraph.

"Comment is often heard that to let so many of our schools stand idle during the summer months is extremely wasteful. There can be little quarrel with that argument, even though summer courses keep some partly in use."—New Bern Sun-Journal.

"A trouble with being a leader is some of the people who follow you."—Herald, Danvers, Mass.

Book Publishing Business Booms

By ELMER ROESSNER

Nervous book publishers were many a few years ago when the monstrous eye of the television picture tube began staring into American living rooms.

But despite television—or perhaps because of it—book sales have been increasing. Sales rose in each of the last eight years. Last year they increased 13 per cent to a total of $1.3 billion according to the American Book Publishers Council. Book production this year has been running 14 per cent ahead of 1960 and total sales may be close to $1.5 billion.

Two other factors indicate good times: A number of mergers has resulted in economies and resulting stock offerings have increased capital financing.

New equipment will permit mass production of books with a minimum of hand labor. Still another factor promises a further rise in sales in the future: School book purchases have been lagging behind the increase in pupils. When pressures increase to compel school boards to catch up with books, a sharp uptick in this important sector of the publishing is likely.

TEACHING MACHINES COMPETE

However, publishers face considerable competition from the wave of new teaching machines. Many school boards are trying these out and, if they fulfill promises, more education money will be spent for them, making less funds available for books.

Several publishers have hedged bringing out teaching machines or buying companies making them.

There have been a number of spectacular mergers, and trade reports say more are under consideration. McGraw-Hill, Newhouse, Crowell-Collier, Prentice-Hall and Vision Interest figure in these reports, none of which have been confirmed.

the John C. Winston Co. into Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc. Harcourt, Brace & Co. and World Book Co. became Harcourt, Brace and World, Inc. Random House, Inc., acquired Alfred A. Knopf & Co. and W. L. Singer Co., a publisher of school texts.

Crowell-Collier Publishing Co. took over the Macmillan Co. but is operating it as a separate entity. Several other kinds of publishers, including the Time Mirror (newspaper) Co. of Los Angeles, and Meredith (magazine) Publishing Co., have purchased book publishing houses.

BOOKS BY AUTOMATION The new book-making equipment has been developed by Processes Lithographers, Inc., (200 Varick Street) New York. It is claimed to reduce publishing costs by 15 to 20 per cent, a welcome development in an industry long beset by increasing costs. The first production is expected in October. Few people realize the extent of the book publishing industry. In addition to fiction and school

I have received a "special T.V. announcement" to the effect that "Mr. Joseph Lewis, President, Free Thinkers of America and author of 'An Atheist Manifesto', 'The Bible Unmasked', 'The Ten Commandments' and many other books on 'Freethought', as well as 'Thomas Paine: Author of the Declaration of Independence', will be a panel guest on Betty Furness' program, 'At Your Beck and Call' over Station NTA Monday, July 31st, 8:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. There will be no restrictions as to questions or answers on the Bible, belief in God, etc."

A free thinker is supposed to be a person who regards himself as of a superior mentality that he does not believe in a god—any god, but he does believe in himself. Lewis' philosophy is based on Thomas Paine's sentence: "Independence is my happiness and I view things as they are, without regard to place or person; my country is the world, and my religion is to do good."

My country is not the world which in many areas is too barren. My country is the United States which Thomas Paine did not find of great significance, as it did not exist during most of his life. True, he was a Virginian but he was also an Englishman and his quarrel with George III helped to make us free, although it did not make Thomas Paine fully cognizant of what it meant to be an American.

In a free society an atheist has a right to poke his fist at God, and Betty Furness undoubtedly feels that she is providing this particular atheist with his constitutional right to unmask the Bible and to prove that the 10 Commandments were not revealed to Moses by God but were copied from the Code of Hammurabi who got it all out of his head, or from some prior barbarians.

I have never seen a Betty Furness program except during political conventions when she interrupts the proceedings to advertise washing machines and such commodities. I did not know that she went in for theological dialectics. Perhaps we have here hidden behind the television screen an American Isidore of Seville or a female colleague like Job's adversaries.

At any rate, one can shout whatever he desires to shout in this country. He does not need to follow anyone but his own conscience and his own mind, if he has one. In fact, he need not have a mind. The Constitution does not make intelligence a necessity and a moron's vote is as good as a professor's. Such equality is often called democracy.

Imaging what would have happened if the Manhattan Project had been put to a vote! On one side would be Albert Einstein, with perhaps Robert Oppenheimer, General Leslie Groves and a dozen other suspicious characters and on the other side would be some 60,000-000 adults who would wonder what an atom is and why anyone would want to split something that cannot even be seen with the naked eye. It would surely have been voted down unless some politicians knew how to create a crisis to scare the wits out of the people. So-called democracies require crises to get moving.

So we have a society where anyone can say anything, where each individual is entitled to his opinion, where daughters sue fathers for the father's earnings while he is still alive; where politicians rise to discuss great public questions which they do not understand and ghost-writers make a living giving weak minds strong expression. For all this, one can only say, "Hooray!" let the welkins ring loud with discussion and debate.

Perhaps some true believer will ask for equal time the way politicians do. Then the true believer will prove that the atheist has nothing to say that is newer than what the true believer has to say. In fact, Rabbi Nelson Glueck is even now in the Negev discovering that many of the statements in the Bible which free thinkers had questioned can be proved by the most rigid scientific methods to be true. Dorcas, of Good Works

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buscher

Scripture—Acts 9:36-43.

Dorcas (or Tabitha) of Joppa, a woman "full of good works and almsdeeds" fell sick and died, and was laid out before burial. Among the mourners were widows for whom she had made clothing.—Acts 9:36-39.

The other believers in Joppa sent two of their number to nearby Lydda, where, they had heard, the great apostle Peter was. The two entreated Peter, saying, "Delay not to come on unto us."—Acts 9:38.

"And turning to the body, he said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes. . . and he gave her his hand, and raised her up; and . . . presented her alive."—Acts 9:40-41.

GOLDEN TEXT—Hebrews 13:16.

The Golden Text

The Raising of Tabitha by Peter. "To do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."—Hebrews 13:16.

Dorcas, Woman of Good Works

GOOD WORKS ARE APPRECIATED BOTH BY GOD AND ONE'S FELLOW MEN

Scripture—Acts 9:36-43.

By N. SPEER JONES THE LESSON today is very short, but its content is long on meaning for all of us. The example of Dorcas shows that every job or talent, however menial, can serve as a channel of Christian love—of gratitude to God through kindnesses to our fellow men.

lized in church history as the unwitting founder of church women's sewing circles, often called "Dorcas Societies." We now come to the question of why Peter was called from nearby Lydda after Dorcas' death. Was it to comfort the sorrowers, to take charge of the funeral, or did Dorcas' friends foresee that Peter might be able to restore Dorcas to life?

Joppa, the city where Dorcas lived, is today known as Jaffa, the only good harbor south of Haifa on the Palestinian coast. It was this harbor from which Jonah sailed to try to escape God's mission. Jaffa is also famous for its orange groves, and as the home of Simon the tanner, who is introduced in the last verse of this lesson.

The urgency of the summons seems to imply the latter, yet the hope or request is never voiced. Why?

Simon's home was the place where Peter stayed for some time after the incident in this lesson. It is where the great future teacher of the Gentiles saw the vision teaching the equality of Jews and Gentiles before God.

Because the faithful in Joppa must have realized that miracles were not performed by the will of the apostles but only by the will of God, acting through them.

It is interesting to note that the Peter's Jewish convictions almitted the case to the Lord, as it were, and then acted on His word, without question as to the outcome. Moreover, Peter sees to it that the credit for this miracle is given to the proper Source; afterwards the miracle "became known throughout all Joppa; and many believed on the Lord."

The "almsdeeds" for which Dorcas was known and loved were not necessarily donations of money to the poor; the Greek word means mercy and pity, especially as expressed in charitable acts.

It is also easy to lose touch with the true spirit of charity. We give money to drive for worthy causes, but there is a danger, as Wilbur Smith points out ("Peloubet's Select Notes") that this charity will become mechanical. We must, in addition, train ourselves to search out and help individuals in need, whether it be economic or spiritual need.

Dorcas was not wealthy, but she gave of herself, for she used her humble skill of sewing to help needy widows. After her death these poor widows showed Peter that the very clothes they were wearing were made by Dorcas.

GOLDEN TEXT

"To do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."—Hebrews 13:16.

Ready must have been weakened by this time, for tanning was looked down upon by the Jews as an unclean profession, having to do with the skins of dead animals.

To return to the central part of today's lesson: In Joppa lived a woman named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas. Tabitha is a Hebrew word meaning "gazelle"; the Greek word for that animal is Dorcas.

The name of this humble, hard-working woman who used what talent she had for Christian work has been immortalized by Dorcas.

Deserted Town Is Being Turned Into A Retreat

By DON MARSTON

HOLDEN VILLAGE, Wash. (AP)—Lutheran young adults turning this deserted mining town in the Cascade Mountains into a national retreat.

When the How Sound Co. shut its mine here in 1957 because of falling copper prices, Holden Village became a ghost town. It came alive again this summer when 40 men and women from 15 states, representing the American Lutheran Church and the Augustana Synod, arrived to clean up the hotel, school house, hospital, four dormitories and 14 homes; to wash windows, chop wood, clean brick, clear trails and mix concrete. All work is under direction of Gilbert Berg, Seattle oil dealer who left his job to give a year's labor to the work.

A Bible student's letter has been credited as the reason that Howe Sound made the unusual outright gift of the town to the Lutheran Bible Institute of Seattle. Its replacement cost has been estimated at nearly $2 million. In April, 1960, Wesley Priebe, 38, a student at the institute, wrote the firm to ask about availability of the village for a youth center. A return letter said the village was available for $100,000. Priebe, who now works at a Lutheran children's home in Cordova, Alaska, let the idea drop. There had been several previous proposals to develop Holden as a resort, both by commercial and nonprofit groups.

Priebe was surprised by a telephone call a few days later. A Howe Sound official in New York said the firm had decided to give the town to the institute. "It was a prayer answered," Berg said. A team of laymen was organized by the Rev. E. V. Stine, the president of the institute, to appraise the property. The decision was made to turn it into a national retreat and youth center. Holden is located seven miles up a winding, dusty road from Lucerne on a 55-mile-long body of water lies on the eastern edge of the Cascades, extending partly out into flat, apple-raising countryside.

The mountain road goes only part way to the village, so the last lap of the trip is by an excursion boat which makes twice-daily runs. A village bus meets boats at the dock. Dr. Wilton E. Bergstrand of Minneapolis, youth coordinator of the Augustana Lutheran Church and program director for the village, says the camp should be ready to operate regularly by 1963. It should accommodate up to 150 persons, probably on a year-round basis even though Holden is buried deep in snow in the winter.

"I foresaw Holden Village as a gathering place for the top Lutheran scientists, philosophers, artists, writers and theologians," Dr. Bergstrand said. "The cream of our students can come here for intensive study with our theologians to help them relate their knowledge to the service of God."

Soviet Tanker, U.S. Freighter Collide In Fog

GIBRALTAR (AP)—The American freighter Janet Quinn and a Cuban-bound Soviet tanker collided in thick fog west of this British naval base Thursday. The Russians charged the 7,233-ton freighter deliberately rammed the larger tanker—the 10,000-ton Trud as part of the economic blockade of the Castro regime. The American vessel came out the worst in the crash. Both the Janet Quinn and the tanker were damaged but made Gibraltar harbor under their own steam. No casualties were reported aboard either ship.

The Soviet ship was holed in its forward tank, above the waterline. The tank was empty. The American ship was holed in two places and taking water when it reached Gibraltar. There also was some damage to the bridge. A correspondent for the Soviet trade union paper Trud, who was reported aboard the tanker, made the accusations against the freighter in a dispatch to the official Soviet news agency Tass.

New Ayden Park Presented To City This Week

AYDEN—The Ayden Jaycees this week presented a new Little League ball park to the town with Tom V. Wheless, immediate past president of the Jaycees, doing the presentation and Mayor S. F. Peterson accepting the park.

Wheless, introduced at the ceremonies Tuesday evening by William R. Stroud, said that he wished to express appreciation to the various civic organizations, business firms, local individuals and other contributors in Pitt and Lenoir Counties for their support and help with the project.

The ball park was constructed at a cost of $6,500, excluding the labor. Special recognition was paid to Ayden City Manager Cleveland M. Paylor for his constructive ideas and assistance on the project.

Fullmer Is Only Mild Favorite

OGDEN, Utah (Pa) — Utah's brawling Gene Fullmer has fought off five successive attempts to relieve him of the National Boxing Association share of the world middleweight championship.

The surprising thought today on the eve of his sixth title defense is that Fullmer is only a mild favorite to retain the crown in his 15-round fight with Florentino Fernandez of Cuba, a novice in championship circles.

The two meet in Ogden Stadium before Gene's home state followers—many of whom are openly skeptical of their champion—and a nationally televised audience.

Neither Fullmer nor his manager, Marv Jensen, are taking Fernandez lightly.

They know the 25-year-old Cuban in his three fights since graduating from the welterweight division has scored knockouts in the 160-pound division.

Pittsburgh Pirates Take St. Louis 19-0 Thursday

By JOE REICHLER
Associate Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh's Puerto Rican outfielder, thinks the writers erred when they voted him as the National League's most valuable player in 1960. Imagine the screams of anguish Roberto will let out if he's overlooked again this year.

The lapping Latin did much to further his cause Thursday night when he cracked five straight hits to lead a 24-hit onslaught against three St. Louis pitchers. The Pirates won 19-0, the league's most lopsided shutout since the Chicago Cubs thrashed the New York Giants by the same score in 1907.

Whether Clemente wins the MVP title or not, he should, barring a catastrophe, capture the batting title. His mark of .366 is 24 points higher than that of his nearest competitor, Frank Robinson of Cincinnati.

Robinson bashed his 33rd home run as the Reds defeated Philadelphia 7-1 for their 15th victory in as many meetings with the Phillies this season. The triumph enabled the Reds to maintain their game lead over Los Angeles, which nipped San Francisco, 4-3, in 10 innings. Milwaukee defeated Chicago 5-2.

Detroit narrowed New York's first place margin in the American League to a game and a half by defeating Washington 2-1 as the Kansas City A's were taking a 6-1 decision from the Yankees.

Baltimore shutout Minnesota 3-0. Boston blanked Los Angeles 4-0 and Chicago's White Sox outslugged Cleveland 4-6.

Harvey Haddix was the beneficiary of the Pirates' avalanche of runs against Al Cicotte, Bob Miller and Lindy McDaniel. This is the same fellow who went begging for one run only two years ago when he pitched 12 perfect innings against Milwaukee only to lose 1-0 in 13.

Every starting Pirate participated in the merciless slaughter. Smoky Burgess had a couple of homers and drove in six runs. Dick Stuart had a grand slammer and batted in five runs. Bill Mazeroski had four hits, and Bill Virdon, Don Hoak and Bob Skinner had three hits apiece.

The modern major league record for the biggest shutout is 21-0, set by Detroit against Cleveland in 1901, and tied by the Yankees against Philadelphia in 1939.

Ken Johnson, who joined the Reds July 21, pitched his second victory, spacing nine hits as Cincinnati beat Philly right-hander John Buzhardt for the fifth time this season.

An error by infielder Joe Amalfitano with two out and the bases full in the 10th inning permitted pitcher Larry Sherry to score with the Dodgers' winning run. The hit was John Roseboro, whose home run in the ninth had tied the score at 3-3. It was an error by Roseboro, earlier, that enabled the Giants to break a 2-2 deadlock with an unearned run.

Milwaukee right-hander Lew Burdette had a one-hit shutout until the ninth when Al Helst singled and Ernie Banks followed with his 19th home run to account for both Chicago runs. Frank Bolling had three hits and Frank Thomas had a home run for the Braves.

SELLERS HAS BIG LEAD

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Sellers, who gained fame as Carry Back's rider, holds a wide margin in the race for the year's jockey honors. During the first six months he had 197 winners, 46 more than runner-up Willie Shoemaker and 62 more than Bill Hartack, the 1960 leader.

NBL Players Can Not Participate

DALLAS (AP) — The All-Star, one of bowling's biggest tournaments, apparently will be without National Bowling League players in 1962.

Commissioner Dick Charles of the NBL said today the professional league would not allow its bowlers to roll in the 1962 meet at Miami, Fla., Jan. 17-21, because it conflicts with the NBL schedule.

At the same time Charles said that all bowlers in his league receiving invitations to the World's Invitational in Chicago in December would be allowed to compete.

Joe Bellino Could Turn Hero Tonight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Navy's Joe Bellino, the smallest All Star, tonight could become one of the biggest heroes of the midsummer football classic in Soldier Field that sends a squad of picked graduates collegians against the Philadelphia Eagles.

The 5-foot-9-inch, 173-pound All-America halfback—a Navy ensign—will be playing in his last game and would like to make his departure a long-remembered one. After it is over he will return to Annapolis for duty.

The 28th annual game sponsored by Chicago Tribune Sports Inc. will attract about 65,000 spectators and will be televised and broadcast by ABC starting at 9 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Bellino, 33, is the type of break-away runner and adept pass catcher that the National Football League champion Eagles know they must stop. He will be a marked man. But his last game could be a big one.

"The game means a lot to me," says Bellino. "It's a great honor to be selected an All Star. When I'm 50, I would like to see an All-Star game and be able to tell my kids: 'I played in one of those once.'"

Such dedication and high spirit is felt throughout head coach Otto Graham's collegiate squad, regarded as one of the best in years.

Although a saturation bombing by passers Norm Snead of Wake Forest, Bill Kilmer of UCLA and Tom Matte of Ohio State seems likely, the All Stars are well prepared to run against the pros.

The Eagles have a defensive secondary that could be tough against passing. But their line-backing could stand improvement and, defensively, they appear only moderately efficient against running.

The Eagles have been installed a 10-point favorite although they must face one of the better All-Star groups without the leadership and aerial power provided by Norm Van Brocklin last season. He is now coach of the Minnesota Vikings.

The pros have won 17 of the 27 games played and two have been ties.

The weatherman predicted a humid, warm night following a chance of afternoon thundershow-

Record-Breaking Entry List Seen

BRIDGEHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — A record-breaking entry list of 200 cars will see action Saturday and Sunday in the Sports Car Club of America national championship racing meet at the Bridgehampton race circuit.

Four races on Saturday will be capped by the Rickenbacker trophy race, a 72.25-mile grind for the big production cars.

On Sunday there will be three races, climaxed by the Vanderbilt Cup. The Vanderbilt Cup, dating back to the pioneer days of auto racing, will go to one of approximately 40 formula junior cars. These are single seat open-wheel racers using engines from small European sedans.

Burlington Tops Carolina League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Burlington Indians beat Raleigh twice, 4-2 and 10-1, Thursday night and pitched their teepee in the Carolina League's top spot.

In another doubleheader, Durham swept a couple of victories over Greensboro, 3-6 and 4-2. Wilson edged Winston-Salem, 4-3, in the league's remaining game.

After the Indian attack, Raleigh moved down to third place in the standings, just behind Wilson.

The games tonight: Greensboro at Raleigh, Burlington at Wilson, Winston-Salem at Durham.

The pitchers finally had their day in the American League Thursday yielding only six home runs in five games, five of them in the Chicago-Cleveland contest won by the White Sox 9-6.

The only other home run was hit by Detroit's Rocky Colavito, which gave the Tigers a 2-1 triumph over Washington and narrowed the New York Yankees' first place lead over Detroit to a game and a half. The Yankees were downed by Kansas City 6-1 with Bob Shaw holding Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle and company to six hits, all singles.

Skinny Brown pitched the Baltimore Orioles to a 1-0 victory over Minnesota. It was the 36-year-old right-hander's third straight shutout and extended his consecutive scoreless string to 32 innings.

Rookie Don Schwall of Boston blanked the Los Angeles Angels 4-0 with three hits for his 12th victory in 14 decisions and his sixth straight.

The hitters were more aggressive in the National League where Pittsburgh humiliated St. Louis 19-0, Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia 7-1 for the 15th straight time, Milwaukee downed Chicago 5-2 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 4-3 in 10 innings.

CHARLOTTE — Greenville's North State Little League All-Stars, which won the District 4 title last week, were defeated yesterday in the state Little League playoffs by the Dillworth team of Charlotte by a score of 9-0.

Both teams played an excellent game for the first four innings with Greenville playing good defensive ball. John Cayton pitched the first 5 2-3 innings for Greenville. He had the bases loaded with one out in the first inning, but he was able to pull out of it. He got in hot water again in the second frame, but a fast double-play let him c/f without any score by the Dillworth team.

In the fifth inning the opponents were able to get eight hits and eight runs with three of them being home runs.

After eight batters had gone to the plate in the fifth, Cayton was relieved by James Manning who scored a homer on his first pitch. He was replaced by Bert Bennett who finally got the side out after 13 men had gone to the plate.

The Dillworth team managed to get another run in the sixth and final inning of the game.

Pitching for the Charlotte team was 12-year-old Jim Lowe who is 6' 2". Lowe hurled a no-hitter at the Greenville boys.

Cayton struck out five, walked two, hit one batter and allowed nine hits. Manning allowed one hit, struck out none and walked none. Bennett struck out three, walked three and allowed two hits.

The game was played on the Myers Park Civitan Field, located on Randolph road in Charlotte. Coaching the North State stars were Clint Joyner and Jesse Jordan. The team plans to return to Greenville late today.

Smart Clothes for Men and Boys

By JOHN CREASEY A MATTER OF LIFE AND DEATH

CHAPTER 30

"What's it about, Sam?" Tim Mahoney's voice sounded deceptively gentle. "Why does the Old Man want to see me?"

"How should I know?"

"Okay," said Mahoney, "don't get worried, Sam." He gave a smile that was almost benign. "Up the gangway, Mr. Bell," he urged, "show Uncle Tim you can walk." He stood massively at the foot of the gangway, obviously determined to watch Adam Bell go aboard.

Did he suspect what was happening?

The stocky man jumped to one side, drawing in a gasping, freighted breath; for this was a gamble with death. He didn't strike at Rollison, his only concern was to get out of reach of the knife. As he went, he shouted: "Get him, Tim!"

The first quiver of his movement had warned Rollison, who thrust his fingers to his lips, pulled the lower lip down, and gave a whistle which sounded like the blast of a ship's siren.

As it shrilled out, he saw Mahoney looming over him, hands raised and ready. He swung the short-bladed knife at Mahoney's stomach; it was like jabbing a blade into wood.

It didn't stop Mahoney, but it lessened the power of his blow. One huge fist struck Rollison on the chin, the other on the right shoulder.

Rollison put everything he had in an uppercut, and he felt the jolt of the savage blow. Fists on bony chin cracked like splitting wood, and Mahoney went reeling back, staggering, arms waving, mouth opening and closing.

The stocky man was only a yard away; "Keep still!" he barked, and Rollison saw the snub-nosed automatic in his right hand, the savage look on his face. "If you don't, I'll blow a hole in you that—" He'd forgotten Adam Bell.

Adam was just above him several steps up the gangway. He turned on the narrow steps, clenched his fist and brought it down on the back of the stocky man's neck. It sent the stocky man staggering towards Rollison.

Rollison said: "Thanks, Adam," and side-stepped, then neatly took the gun from the waving hand. He thrust at the stocky man and sent him sprawling, then backed to wards the ship, with Adam Bell hurrying towards him. There was a narrow gap between the steel sides of Silver Queen 3 and the to men; and still, oily water below.

Mahoney had fallen against the ship's side. And one leg had slipped down. He was stuck there, helpless, mouthing and waving one arm.

Men from the warehouse, men from the wharf and men from the ship itself were so astounded that for seconds they just stood and stared. Bell ranged himself alongside Rollison, and Rollison kept the gun thrust forward, to discourage anyone from coming too close. Then he put his fingers to his lips again, and gave the piercing whistle again.

Ebbutt and his men couldn't be far away.

The men facing them were coming forward slowly. There were seven of them.

The gangway quivered, and there were stealthy, creaking sounds, as if someone was creeping down it.

Rollison called, clearly: "I'll shoot the first man who gets within ten yards."

Four of the seven men stopped moving. Three came slowly on. The gangway was still quivering. Rollison heard no sound from the distant alleys, no shout to announce that Ebbutt and his men were on the way, and he remembered that Ebbutt hadn't reached the flat in time.

Only now did his heart begin to hammer.

"Adam, keep an eye on the gangway, will you?" he whispered, watching the three moving men, seeing the stocky Sam pick him- self up. He didn't talk to the men again, but when he saw a quicken his pace, he fired. The bullet struck the ground just in front of the bold man's foot, and him draw back sharply. Everyone else stopped; even the man creeping down the gangway.

"How'd they get you?" Rollison asked Adam, and watched the openings between the warehouse walls. He didn't waste time wondering here Ebbutt had gone, but began to wonder if he had a chance of escape.

Would they dare to kill him? Adam said huskily: "One of them was outside, last night. I got away, and put up at a hotel. After I'd attacked you I began to get how right you were. I was ready to go to the police. Then— Agatha telephoned me. They'd taken her prisoner. She sounded hysterical, said they'd broken in-

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW! By FAGALY and SHORTEN

No Complaints

ELIZABETH CITY (AP)—Street scene: Automobile with license A-701 parked outside Recorder's Court. Driver of the car is inside, testifying as a prosecution witness. Parking meter beside his automobile reads: "Expired."

Policewoman notes "Expired" sign, writes out ticket for over-parking, places it on windshield.

Driver appears, removes ticket from windshield, enters Police Station and pays $1 fine.

To snickering onlookers, State Highway Patrolman James E. Bradley—the driver of A-701, a State Highway Patrol car—says: "I'm no better than anyone else. I got the ticket and I paid the fine. Besides, if I gave her (the policewoman) a citation I'd expect her to abide by the law."

Discoverer Fails Satellite Shot

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A trouble-shooter rocket ran into trouble itself—and ended up in the South Pacific Ocean instead of a polar orbit.

Discoverer XXVII was launched Thursday at this big rocket base, destined for a few days' orbiting and it was hoped, a recovery of its ejectable capsule near Hawaii.

It carried special instruments to check performance of various parts of the two-stage rocket. Discoverer XXVII went awry at launching and had to be blown up. Scientists had hoped No. 23 would help them learn why.

Instead, No. 23 suffered just as dismal a fate—although it took longer. The launch seemed perfect, the first stage dropped free as planned, and the second stage fired.

But, 90 minutes after launch, instruments disclosed that it hadn't entered orbit. Such portions as survived the fierce friction of re-entry into the earth's atmosphere probably splashed into the South Pacific, experts said.

No. 28, billed as a "reliability test vehicle," probably accomplished some of its assignments. Some of the performance-check instruments radioed back readings to the earth, and they may help scientists in future launches.

Air Force technicians say it will take some time to check the telemetered data to see what happened.

DELEGATION HEAD KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)

King Mahendra will head a five-man delegation to the neutral nations summit opening Sept. 1 in Yugoslavia, the foreign ministry said Thursday.

ALTOONA, Pa. (KP)—Cathy and Sharlene Cox, aged four and five, slipped out of their house in darkness early Thursday and rode their tricycles some eight blocks from their home.

Patrolman Joseph Nesbitt spotted the girls on a street corner. They were dressed only in night clothes.

The girls wouldn't give their names. Nesbitt drove the girls around for nearly two hours, trying to find someone who knew the youngsters. One of the girls finally recognized their home.

New Members Of ECC Music Dept. Faculty

Three faculty appointments to the Music Department of East Carolina College have been announced by Earl Beach, department director. The new faculty members join the staff with the opening of the 1961-62 college year on September 1.

Dr. Martin Mallman, holder of Bachelor of Music, Master of Music, and Ph. D. degrees from Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y., and working as a Ford Foundation composer for the past two years, will be composer-in-residence at East Carolina College.

Dr. Mallman won the Edward Benjamin Award for Quiet Music with his orchestral composition "Autumn Landscape," and his opera, "The Hunted," was performed at the 1959 Festival of American Music. He has done scores for television films and his compositions have been performed by the Eastman-Rochester Orchestra, the Oklahoma City Symphony, the U. S. Marine Band Orchestra, and the Jacksonville Symphony. For the past two years he has been associated with the Jacksonville, Florida, School System in the Young Composers Project of the Ford Foundation.

Barry Shank, graduate of Oberlin College with the B. M. degree and the Master of Music degree from the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, will fill the position held by Thomas Miller who is doing graduate study next year. Mr. Shank comes to East Carolina College from Birmingham, Ala., where both he and Mrs. Shank have been members of the Birmingham Symphony and associated with the public schools. A trumpet major, he has studied with the first trumpet player in both the Cleveland and Boston Symphonies.

Donald Tracy, cellist, trained at the Eastman School of Music where he earned the B. M. degree. His Master of Music degree is from the University of Michigan. He has studied with some of the outstanding cello performers and teachers in America, and comes to East Carolina from the 5th Army Band at Fort Monroe, Virginia.

Titan Missile Passes New Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The successful 5,000-mile test flight of a Titan missile has edged the intercontinental range weapon a step closer to combat readiness.

The huge 98-foot rocket covered the ocean-spanning course Thursday night, marking its path with a brightly flashing strobe light. Tracking cameras recorded the blinking light against a background of known stars. The photos will provide accurate position data.

Within a few weeks, Air Force troops are slated to launch a Titan under operational conditions from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. This will signal that the missile is ready for deployment.

The United States will then have two operational intercontinental range missiles. Atlas squadrons are being built up at bases across the western part of the country.

The Titan carried a packet of nose cone markings in an experiment aimed at fooling enemy countermeasures and devising means of stopping similar hostile decoys.

Hardboiled Egg Sent By Mail

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Postmen are, too, good sports. And that egg—stamped and hard-boiled—is on its way to California by first class mail.

Postmaster Lewis Moore said somebody dropped the three-ounce egg into a Nashville mail box Thursday with two 6-cent stamps glued on, and addressed to W. T. Brien of (2820 Buna Vista) Berkeley, Calif.

Its message read: "Judgment by the gods: Arriving whole, you are a good egg; broken, you're cracked; not arriving, U.S. postmen are poor sports."

"I've never seen anything like it come through before," said the postmaster. Then he carefully hand-cancelled the egg and put it into a mail sack for the 2-day trip to Berkeley.

The egg bears no return address.

Border Patrolman Played Hero's Role In Hijack Case

By MARK DEERING and DON LUND
El Paso Times Staff Writers
Written for The Associated Press
EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Leonard W. Gilman, 43, played the hero's role Thursday in subduing two gunmen who hijacked a Continental Airlines Boeing 707 and held local and federal police at bay for almost 10 hours.

"The elder gunman was saying, 'I would sooner commit suicide than to turn myself into the authorities,'" Gilman said in an interview Thursday night. "He seemed to be getting hysterical."

"That's when I made my move. I caught him behind the ear and threw a full nelson on him to keep him from getting to the two guns in his hip pocket."

Francis Crosby, FBI agent in charge of the El Paso office, who was in the plane at the time, jumped the younger hijacker and it was all over.

Gilman, associate deputy regional commissioner in charge of operations of the U.S. Border Patrol at San Pedro, Calif., told this story:

"When the two gunmen took over the plane they found out I was an officer and they searched me immediately for a gun. After that they kept a close watch on me.

"One of the women became hysterical and began crying. I told her we would see that she got off all right. That's when I talked the hijackers into letting the passengers off.

"I volunteered to be a hostage if they let the rest of the passengers go. When they started to take off from the field, they made the hostages move to the middle compartment of the plane. They made us fasten our safety belts.

"Then those on the outside of the aircraft began shooting at the tires."

Gilman said the elder hijacker became scared at the shooting and pointed his gun at the head of one of the people in the plane.

"His reaction to the shooting outside was one of the more dangerous moments on the plane. "The boy didn't talk at all but the father was very talkative. I talked the father into taking the gun from his boy.

"I tried to appeal to him as a father. I said the boy didn't know what he was doing and didn't have any business with the gun.

"The father said he was fed up with the American government. He said he was going to Cuba and become a naturalized Cuban citizen."

Gilman said he told the father that only a criminal or a Communist would do what he was doing and make his son help him.

"He refused to answer me when I asked if he was a Communist. He denied vehemently that he was involved with Castro, but he said he had friends in Cuba."

"I asked him if his wife knew what he was doing and he said she did and she would join him in Cuba later.

"We got the father busy talking and I heard some of the hostages slip out the window (at the back of the plane)."

Later Crosby and Gilman tried to get the father and son to give up. They told the hijackers there was no hope for escape.

"I got a glimpse of a border patrolman climbing into the plane through a cracked door," Gilman said. "I caught the father behind the ear and Crosby and the boy and a couple of border patrolmen came through the door to help us."

Gilman suffered a fractured hand from the blow he delivered to Bearden. He was treated at an El Paso hospital and his hand placed in a cast.

"I had him off guard several times, but there were too many people around to risk rushing him. At one time he was holding the gun to the head of one of the hostages.

"I was happy to be there and I might say that all the group acted very well under the circumstances."

Gilman was a boxer and football star at Pacific University of Oregon. He has been with the Border Patrol for 21 years.

Prefer The Name Of Tightsqueeze

TIGHTSQUEEZE, Va. (AP)—After a brief fling at Fairview, Tightsqueeze is Tightsqueeze once more.

This town got its old name back Wednesday when the Pittsylvania County Board of Supervisors bowed to overwhelming sentiment for Tightsqueeze by Tightsqueezers.

The tiny community's name was changed to Fairview a couple of months ago at the request of a district supervisor who said he thought the old name was "ugly."

Ugly or not, the Tightsqueezers boiled over and Wednesday had the action rescinded. And what's more, they accomplished one thing they didn't have before the fuss started. A new Highway Department sign stands alongside the highway boldly proclaiming: "Tightsqueeze."

Powdered Milk Fallout Problem

OCONOMOWOC, Wis. (AP)—Oconomowoc has a powdered milk fallout problem.

Residents in the vicinity of a milk company say the flaky powder emitted from the plant drifts as far as three blocks. To make matters worse, they complained to the Common Council, the powder turns to a sticky paste when it comes in contact with moisture.

to get the father and son to give up. They told the hijackers there was no hope for escape.

"I got a glimpse of a border patrolman climbing into the plane through a cracked door," Gilman said. "I caught the father behind the ear and Crosby and the boy and a couple of border patrolmen came through the door to help us."

Gilman suffered a fractured hand from the blow he delivered to Bearden. He was treated at an El Paso hospital and his hand placed in a cast.

"I had him off guard several times, but there were too many people around to risk rushing him. At one time he was holding the gun to the head of one of the hostages.

"I was happy to be there and I might say that all the group acted very well under the circumstances."

Gilman was a boxer and football star at Pacific University of Oregon. He has been with the Border Patrol for 21 years.

Newspaper Advertising Hits the Mark with a Large and Constant Audience

There's nothing hit-or-miss about the newspaper audience—it's a constant audience that varies little throughout the year. That's because newspaper circulation remains constant with little variation from month to month. There is no summer slump in newspaper reading habits. Furthermore, readers can pick their own time—day or night—to enjoy the paper. And they do—over 107,000,000 of them every day in the U. S. For sure-fire results, advertise consistently in the daily newspaper.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Selective demand for blue chip issues boosted stock market prices early this afternoon, carrying popular averages to record levels.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up 0.70 at 252.60, equaling the record closing high established May 17. Industrials were up 1.00, rails up 0.10 and utilities up 0.60.

Motors — especially Chrysler and Ford — steels and chemicals provided a good many gainers. Rails and airlines were moderately higher, but aircraft-missile issues backed down a bit and other groups were pretty well mixed.

Gains ran from fractions to a point or so with losses in the same general range. Trading proceeded at a quiet pace.

Losses of a point or so hit General Dynamics and Republic Aviation. Lockheed and Douglas also declined, while Boeing and United Aircraft remained higher.

Chrysler and Ford were ahead more than a point.

U.S. Steel was up a point or so. Air Reduction and Union Carbide added to early gains of more than a point. Du Pont remained lower.

Dow Jones' average of 90 industrials at noon stood at 719.54, up 3.83 from Thursday's record closing high.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange moved higher in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds advanced slightly, but U.S. government bonds were off fractions.

Teel, Pitt Wildlife Protector, reported work on the project was completed this week. Included at the boatlaunching site is ample parking space for cars and trailers, a rough cement ramp leading to the river, and a paved circular drive for easy access to the ramp. The access area is located behind the Pitt-Greenville Airport, and is accessible by a dirt road leading from the Old River Road.

Warrant Issued For Speedster

AYDEN—Warrants have been drawn here for the arrest of a Fayetteville man charging him with reckless driving, exceeding 75 miles per hour and failing to stop for a red light on a patrol car. Police Chief W. D. Brooks said yesterday.

Chief Brooks identified the man as Tommy Cooper, a meat cutter at Fayetteville. No other identification was available.

The warrants grew out of an incident here on Tuesday, about 5:10 p.m., when a man identified as Cooper reportedly passed Highway Patrolman W. K. Chapman, going in an opposite direction. Police said the man was speeding. As Chapman gave chase, Chief Brooks related, the man was speeding in residential areas of Fayetteville. He was speeding in residential areas of Fayetteville and managed to elude law enforcement officers pursuing him.

Chapman, aided by the Ayden Police Department, traced an automobile believed to be the one involved in the case to Fayetteville and subsequently drew the warrants charging the Fayetteville man.

The Ayden Police Department is asking that the man be brought back to Ayden for trial, with bond of $500 set.

Armored Car Aids Raid To Capture Deserter

LOUISVILLE, Ill. (AP)—More than 100 policemen and FBI agents poured onto the estate of religious leader John R. Harrell today and seized Harrell, 16 followers and a Marine charged with desertion.

An armored car crashed through a heavy wooden gate defended by young men carrying rifles.

Two FBI agents had pleaded unsuccessfully Thursday through the gate with Marine Dion Davis, 18, to return to Camp Lejeune, N.C.

To capacity with Harrell and his followers, the jail in Louisville was filled. Harrell, all charged with harboring an deserter from the Marine Corps.

FBI Agent Manley Hawks of Centralia, Ill., who tried for two days to get Davis to leave Harrell's well-guarded, 100-acre estate, said the group would be arraigned before a U.S. commissioner.

Harrell said he gave sanctuary to Davis after the youth told tales of immorality, debauchery and atheism in the Corps. Davis, of Greenville, Pa., was classified a deserter May 29.

FBI agents, policemen and county enforcement officials went through the gate as the armored of employees who do this through the Merchants Association and if it continued warrants would be issued, he said.

Councilmen instructed Schepers to look into the matter of county members on the Planning-Zoning Commission to consider matters of zoning within one mile outside the city limits. If this has not been done, he was empowered to ask the County Commissioners to appoint such a group.

The council approved an application from Larry G. Bryant to operate a pool room at 408 W. 14th St. They also approved an application from Wilson Ballinger for a taxi franchise.

Arrest Two On Liquor Charges

Charles Cobb, 25-year-old Negro of 103 Ford St., and S. T. Atkinson, 29-year-old Negro of 1301 Factory St., were arrested last night on charges of transporting two gallons of non-tax-paid whiskey, and placed under $200 bond each.

Officers said a third unidentified man jumped from the vehicle and ran when officers stopped the car. It was noted that the car was owned and driven by Cobb.

Officers, who are holding the vehicle pending trial of the case, stopped the auto about 8:30 p.m. on N. C. 11 near the intersection of U.S. 264, South of Greenville.

Taking part in the arrests were ABC officers H. B. Liley and Constables Charles Stocks and Frank Peaden.

Rusk Reaches Paris To Prepare For Negotiating

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived in Paris today to lay the groundwork for negotiations with the Soviet Union on West Berlin and Germany.

The American secretary will meet with his British and French counterparts. Rusk told newsmen at the airport that the Western Big Three are in Berlin by their rights won in World War II.

He pointed out that Western occupation arrangements in Berlin also governed the Allied withdrawal from East Germany after the war.

"We are in Berlin under the same arrangements which governed the withdrawal of Allied forces from parts of East Germany following World War II," he said.

"If the Soviet Union is disturbed over West Germany it should not forget that West Germany began arming only after East Germany did so."

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization was born in direct response to pressures against Western Europe, he said.

Sewage Control Aid For Grifton Is Given Priority

Grifton was among 10 Tar Heel cities listed by the State Stream and Sanitation Committee Thursday to receive federal aid totaling $1,250,000 for construction of sewage control facilities.

W. E. Long, chief of pollution control, said priority has been assigned to Grifton, Punguay Springs, New Bern, Clinton, Windsor, Wilkesboro, Henderson, Mayodan, Yanceyville and Bessemer City.

Congress is expected to appropriate supplemental funds which would take care of more of the 47 applications submitted by North Carolina municipalities, Long said.

Grifton has been formally notified by the sanitation committee that it needs a new sewage plant and has granted the town temporary permission to use its present plant until Nov. 1, 1964.

Grifton's voters last May approved issuance of $130,000 in bonds to improve and expand the town's sewage system.

Town officials estimated the federal grant applied for by Grifton would total about $2,700. Long said Thursday the federal aid will pay up to one-third of proposed projects up to a maximum of $250,000.

Grifton's present sewage system, originally planned to serve about 600 people, serves over 1,100, according to a report by the sanitation committee. The town's proposed system would serve 3,500.

The requirements for priority assignment by the state committee are based on a complex system of points, Long said. Included among the requirements are financial need, based on a ratio of bonded indebtedness to assessed property valuation.

Teachers should be alert to new means and instruments of instruction and be willing to experiment in finding those that are sound and most effective. Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, East Carolina president, told the 19th state-wide summer conference of the North Carolina English Teachers Association holding its session on the college campus Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Jenkins spoke Friday afternoon at the first general session of the NCEA at which R. E. Piner, state president, of Wilmington, presided. Dr. M. N. Posey, East Carolina English department director, brought greetings to the conference and presented the college administrator.

The conference continues through Saturday when Ovid Pierce of the East Carolina English department speaks on "Images of the South in Fiction."

"A Layman Looks at English Instruction" was topic used by President Jenkins in discussing the problems of basic programs in English. He enumerated among these problems as the difficulty of devising courses that are sequential and cumulative from elementary school through graduate school because students are very heterogeneous; orienting students to a knowledge of grammar, composition and literature; the tightening of scholastic requirements; recognition that use of the mother tongue is not something for the English classroom alone; competition from the home, and society in general, which fosters incorrect use of the language.

Part of the solution of the problem, according to Dr. Jenkins, may be found in finding what students like to read, and working up to something better, with the teacher determining the speed of progress.

Unprecedented demands will be put on education at all levels in the next decade, so teachers should be concerned with helping students attain a sense of values based on mature experiences, declared Dr. Jenkins.

Among other basic issues confronting the teachers are current testing programs, so-called remedial programs, enrichment offerings, homogeneous grouping, and the goblin "peeping over the fence is the idea of modifying English for students who are interested in science, or technology, business, or other special areas."

This latter approach, according to Dr. Jenkins, "does not make too much sense; for man does not enter various categories of life requiring a change in his ability to use the mother tongue."

He noted that serious critics are talking in terms of national standards for student writing at various levels and the value of same."

Suggested study by English teachers, said Dr. Jenkins, are the questions of class size, contributions of modern technology to the teaching, asking "what risks, if any, are there in substituting new devices for those old-fashioned audio-visual tools, the book and the human voice?"

"In group meetings designed for self-improvement, and as procedures, approaches, philosophies, or even gimmicks that appear to be succeeding are developed, teachers should, at least, make an honest attempt to see if the discoveries are worthy of adoption into school meetings."

"It is the consensus of most Americans that our colleges and public schools continue to be democratic and individualistic, and any significant progress in improving the instruction of English will come through a genuine desire for effectiveness by all teachers, for the teacher's role is central to the integrity of the school or college. The purpose of any school cannot be accomplished without good teaching, and good teaching, in turn, depends upon the freedom of the individual teacher to pursue his work," emphasized Dr. Jenkins.

English teachers themselves must be prepared to embark upon vigorous, imaginative, and comprehensive programs of action, said Dr. Jenkins, concluding that the attention of the entire teaching profession must be focused on the problem of using the mother tongue effectively, suggesting arrangements made for occasional double grading of examination papers by having teachers of other disciplines mark papers for subject content, followed by a second grading for composition by English teachers.

Some attempt should be made to show the interrelationships and interdependence of various disciplines, said the college president, adding a call to examine the agencies that train English teachers.

Unprecedented demands will be put on education at all levels in the next decade, so teachers should be concerned with helping students attain a sense of values based on mature experiences, declared Dr. Jenkins.

Among other basic issues confronting the teachers are current testing programs, so-called remedial programs, enrichment offerings, homogeneous grouping, and the goblin "peeping over the fence is the idea of modifying English for students who are interested in science, or technology, business, or other special areas."

This latter approach, according to Dr. Jenkins, "does not make too much sense; for man does not enter various categories of life requiring a change in his ability to use the mother tongue."
