Tobacco Barn Saved From Flames

RURAL FIREMEN AT WORK—These members of the Grimesland Rural Fire Department are in the process of extinguishing a tobacco barn fire about a mile west of Grimesland on U. S. Highway 264 on the J. P. Wilson Farm last night. About 750 sticks of curing tobacco were destroyed by the 10:15 p.m. fire but firemen saved the barn. Assistant Fire Chief Elmore Hodges said the lost tobacco was partly covered by insurance. He theorized a fallen stick in the barn, fired to above 160 degrees by a coal stoker, was the probable cause of the blaze.

East Berlin Cordoned Off By Reds; Militia And Throng Clash

BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners clashed today with Communist East German forces at the Brandenburg Gate, a symbol of this city's division, in an angry challenge to the Red orders that clamped off the flow of refugees.

German People's army and powerful riot hose wagons were drawn up behind them. About 120 militiamen armed with submachine guns formed a semicircle at the gate. Inside the semicircle were five East German soldiers.

The throng on the West Berlin side had grown from perhaps a hundred to 3,000 by mid-afternoon. West Berlin police took a hand then to move back the crowd saying the situation had become too tense.

Barbed wire barricades, tanks and soldiers cut off the great refugee flow from East Germany. None of the 80,000 East Germans with jobs in West Berlin showed up for work. Henceforth, they must have passes to get past the barricades.

The marchers at Borough Hall carried signs calling for union of East and West Germany under a single government that has been a Western aim since the end of World War II.

N.C. Farm Income In 1961 May Increase 5 Per Cent

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's 1961 farm income is expected to increase at least 5 per cent over the record set last year, according to agricultural economists at North Carolina State College.

Dr. W. L. Turner, in charge of extension farm management at State College, said prices on nearly all commodities are expected to remain the same or increase. Broilers are about the only exception, he added.

Stocks on July 1 were 21,936,000 bushels. Hogs—Prices for market hogs during the last half of 1961 are expected to be below 1960.

Eichmann's Trial Concludes Today

JERUSALEM (AP)—The trial of Adolf Eichmann ended today with an appeal from his defense attorney for the court to "close his file and judge him no more."

Presiding Justice Moshe Landau concluded the historic trial with the announcement that judgment and sentence will be handed down in November.

Eichmann sat immovable during his counsel's summation of his defense. As the judges retired to begin considering their verdict, Eichmann was led from the glass prisoner's dock where he has sat at all sessions since the first one in October.

Belhaven Attack Admitted 'Hoax'

BELHAVEN, N. C. (AP)—The wife of Belhaven Police Chief Sam Boger has admitted she faked a story that two men had attacked her at her home, Beaufort County Deputy Sheriff Sherwood Sawyer said today.

Mrs. Boger, in her late 20s, gave no reason for her act, Sawyer said. She is expecting her second child.

Mrs. Boger called by telephone for help the night of July 29 and told officers she had been attacked by two men as she emerged from her bathroom to investigate when a light in the house went off.

Commissioner For East Named

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Federal Judge Algernon L. Butler of Clinton today announced the appointment of C. Wallace Jackson, a Republican, as United States Commissioner for Eastern North Carolina.

The appointment is effective Sept. 2, when Jackson, about 60, of Fayetteville, retires as a representative of a national paint concern. He will succeed a Democrat, T. L. Hon, who has been commissioner for a number of years.

Payment is on fees and commissions, and Hon estimates the job brings in $5,500 to $5,500 a year. A U.S. commissioner tries minor federal offenses, and holds bond hearings for more serious crimes.

Ayden Youth Faces Wayne County Grand Jury This Week In Robbery-Slaying

GOLDSBORO—Kenneth Allen Jolly, 16-year-old Ayden youth who has admitted slaying a Goldsboro housewife last February, faces Wayne County Grand Jury action here this week.

The six-foot, 250-pound Ayden High football player has been held in Wayne County jail here without privilege of bond since he was arrested July 27 and charged in the robbery slaying of Mrs. Billy Waters, 24, last February 23.

Officers said the Ayden youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Jolly Jr. of Ayden, calmly admitted slaying the housewife because he said he was afraid she would identify him after he had asked her for money.

The agency claims to have underground contacts on the mainland. There was no way of confirming the report.

Kennedy And Rusk Talk Berlin Counter-Measures

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called in Secretary of State Dean Rusk today for a conference on the mounting crisis over Berlin—presumably to discuss counter measures the Western Powers may take against the Communist ban on the flight of refugees from Red rule into West Berlin.

Kennedy conferred for 50 minutes with his ambassador to Russia, Llewellyn Thompson, soon after returning this morning from a weekend at Hyannis Port, Mass.

crackdown on travel between East and West Berlin as a "flagrant violation" of agreements with the Soviet Union to permit "free circulation" within the city and between Berlin and the rest of Germany.

Consultations were started immediately with Britain and France, and officials said that the protest would be made by the Western military commanders in West Berlin.

The Soil Conservation Service has established in Greenville a radiological monitoring station, Pitt County Conservationist Roy R. Beck announced today.

In another development Assistant Secretary of State Foy D. Kohler arranged a meeting with the ambassadors of Britain, France and West Germany for mid-afternoon to discuss actions the West may take beyond the lodging of a formal protest with the Soviet commander in East Berlin.

The range of actions, diplomats said, includes a possible retaliatory ban on travel from West Germany to East Germany—which could be a blow to the East German economy.

Rusk denounced the Red Finishing Touches For Historic Plan

Most of the nations realize that if they are going to develop at all they must mobilize their own resources. There is a realization that many countries by the very term "underdeveloped" being applied to them are urgently in need of technical assistance in their attempt to help themselves.

Seven persons were injured in four traffic collisions over the weekend, Greenville police reported today. Officers estimated damage in the mishaps to be over $850.

PUNTA DEL ESTE Uruguay (AP)—Western Hemisphere statesmen put finishing touches today on a historic declaration allying the American states in a mighty push for progress.

President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program will become a reality Wednesday when ministers of 20 American states—and perhaps 21—gather for a ceremonial signing of the Declaration of Punta del Este. It will be the final act in the Inter-American Economic Conference which has been meeting here since Aug. 5.

Heaviest damage resulted from a two-car collision at the intersection of Fifth and Tyson Sts. Saturday, where four persons received minor injuries.

Police said a car operated by Linwood Richard Leary, 22-year-old Negro of Route 1, Vanceboro, collided with a car driven by Ella Holley, Negro, of 415 Ford St., about 8:43 p.m.

Both Mrs. Holley and Leary, as well as two passengers in the Leary vehicle, Elmer Leary, 18, and Wilber Leary, 20, both of Route 1, Vanceboro, received

First Presbyterian Church Is Scene Of Brown-Eller Wedding

The wedding of Miss Frances Louise Eller and Mr. Lawrence Atwood Brown Jr. was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, August 12, at 4:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank William Eller of Greenville, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Atwood Brown Sr., of Kinston.

The Reverend Sheldon F. Koev of Durham officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with a background of tall palmets and areca palms, seven-branched candelabra holding tall cathedral candles, and floor baskets of white gladioli and white mums.

At the altar was a decorative prie-dieu with white cushion, white satin bows, bridal greenery, and single candelabra with bouquets of white gladioli. Extending from the altar were seven-branched candelabra and emerald greenery. Pews were married with bouquets of summer flowers.

Music was presented by Mr. Claude Kidd, organist, of Greenville, and Mrs. Charles Pett Jr. of Charlotte, soloist. Mr. Petty sang "Oh Promise Me," by De Koven, "The Greatest of These Is Love," by Bitgood, and, as the benediction, "Seal Us, O Holy Spirit."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta, styled with a modified sabrina neckline and short sleeves. The bodice and neckline were accented with re-embroidered alencon lace that cascaded down the bouffant skirt. The skirt was made with inverted pleats ending in a chapel train. Her short veil of English silk illusion was attached to a pearlized blossom pouf. She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and valley lilies, centered with white orchids and tied with bridal satin.

The maid of honor was Miss Anne Huffstetter of Charlotte. The bridesmaids were Miss Judy Powell and Miss Lillian Currie, both of Rocky Mount; Miss Catherine Spicer, of Charlotte; and Mrs. Meldon Austin of Arlington, Va. The attendants wore full skirted street-length dresses made of shell pink embroidered silk organza over taffeta, with matching pink silk crystalline cummerbunds.

They wore pink pearl-trimmed veils attached to bows of crystallized silk and carried cascade bouquets of painted daisies, roses, and asters in pastel shades, tied with dark pink satin.

Mrs. Lawrence Atwood Brown, Jr.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Ushers were Mr. James Eller, brother of the bride, of Charlotte; Mr. John Brown, brother of the groom, of Rocky Mount; and Mr. Richard Baldree, all of Kinston.

The mother of the bride was attired in a dress of mist blue shifflin-cut embroidered silk organza over taffeta, with solid draped bow, and wore a matching blue flower hat.

The groom's mother wore a bisque beige chiffon dress with shirred bodice and side drape sheath skirt with matching hat and veil.

Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of East Carolina College and has accepted a position as a vocational home economics teacher in Anson County High School. The groom also graduated from East Carolina College and has done graduate work at the University of North Carolina. A former teacher at Plymouth High School, he will teach this year in the science department of Wadesboro High School.

For their wedding trip to the mountains of Western North Carolina, the bride chose a gold colored suit with embroidered box jacket and matching velvet pill box hat and veil. She used black accessories and wore a cordal bouquet.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live in Wadesboro.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding Dr. and Mrs. Eller entertained at a reception in their home at Eastern Street, honoring the bride and groom, wed-

Robertsons Will Make Greenville Their Home

SANFORD—On Sunday at 4 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church here, Miss Sylvia Layne Vick became the bride of Mr. Walter Fredric Robertson of Greenville. The Rev. R. Don Carson officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles M. Vick of Sanford and the late Mr. Vick. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Walter Robertson of Rt. 1, Littleton, and the late Mr. Robertson.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. William D. McIver, organist, and Miss Linda Wilkins, soloist. Mrs. V. C. McIver directed the wedding.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. W. T. Wall Jr. of Monroe, wore a dress designed and made by her mother. The dress was of twilight bridal satin fashioned along princess lines with the bodice of alencon lace, featuring a sweetheart neckline embellished with seed pearls. A chapel train fanned from miniature hand crushed roses centered with seed pearls at the waistline.

Her veil of imported French illusion edged in Madeira lace was attached to a queen's crown of seed pearls and aurora crystal-lettes. She carried a cascade of shell pink sweetheart roses centered with a white orchid. Maid of honor was Judy Lane Hudgens of Warrenton. Bridesmaids were Jean Beal, Kay Brannon, Helen Anne Seymour, Mary Helen Nipper, all of Sanford, and Michele Pattishall of Burlington and Mrs. Sherrill Normann of Kinston. They wore original sheath dresses of aqua taffeta, featuring poufed overskirts and draped mid-ribs. Their headpieces, designed and handmade by the bride, were cocktail veils topped with a hand crushed rose of aqua taffeta.

They carried French poufs in shades of aqua, blue and lavender interspersed with purpose summer flowers.

Honorary bridesmaids were Ann McGee, Betty Hood, Lynda Pearce, Becky Coggin, Betty Jo Cameron, Fay Williamson, all of Sanford. They were attired in cocktail dresses.

Flower girls were Susan Hayes and Linda Hayes, cousins of the bride, who wore white organza dresses over aqua and carried basquette nosegays of summer flowers.

Mr. Sherrill D. Norman of Kinston was best man. Ushers were Don Conley and Roy Martin, both of Greenville; Mac Lancaster of Farmville; Tom Jackson of Godwin; Graham Neville of Smithfield, cousin of the groom; and Robert Wall of Monroe, cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a waltz-length dress of blue lace over taffeta with matching accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage at her shoulder.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a dress of powder blue lace over taffeta with matching accessories. She also wore a white orchid corsage at her shoulder.

For traveling, the bride changed to a turquoise costume sheath dress with checked jacket and matching accessories. For her corsage she wore the white orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Robertson is a rising sophomore at East Carolina College in Greenville.

The bridegroom is a graduate of East Carolina College with the A. B. degree in mathematics and science. He was a charter member of Pi Kappa Alpha Social Fraternity and now serves as alumni counselor. He is presently assistant manager of Photo Arts Studio in Greenville.

Following a wedding trip to Memphis, Tenn. and points in the western part of North Carolina, the couple will reside at 2321 College View Apartments, Greenville. Immediately following the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wall Jr. of Monroe, aunt and uncle of the bride, entertained at a reception in the McIver Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

Surprise Party Honors Browns

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kaegebein were hosts last night at a surprise birthday party for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown, whose birthdays were Aug. 9 and 10 respectively.

The guests met at the home of the Kaegebeins and drove over to the Ayden Country Club for a swimming party. After returning to the home of the hosts, the seven families present were invited into the dining room where the table was set with lighted birthday cakes. The hosts served homemade cake, freezer ice cream with a variety of toppings, nuts and coffee.

Those in attendance were the Roy Ewells, the Jim Parnells, the John Thomasons, the Walter Harbins, the Bill Kaegebeins, the Frank Steinbecks and the Joe Browns.

"Why Did Holes Appear in My Dress Design?"
—Mrs. A. E. T.

Dear Mrs. A. E. T.:

Those white dots in your dress turned to holes when the dress was drycleaned. You want to know why. Your drycleaner should be able to tell you, and if he says it wasn't his fault, he isn't making excuses.

The dots or any other pattern on such a fabric are made by what is known as a "discharge print." First the fabric is dyed an over-all color. Then the pattern, or the dot, in your case, is printed on the fabric. The "discharge" agent removes the color from the fabric in the desired areas and the pattern appears in white.

In some cases this dye-removing method weakens the fabric and holes result from either wear or drycleaning. Or the effect of sunlight will turn the white portion of the fabric back to its original color.

All discharge prints do not act this way, of course. The holes we described occur only when the textile printer has used too strong a discharge compound or failed to rinse the dye-remover properly from the fabric. Then the white areas become weakened. This damage can be avoided when the manufacturer or pattern-printer gives the fabric a complete rinsing or neutralization after printing.

The fabric was weakened before you purchased the dress, Mrs. A. E. T. The holes might have occurred simply from wear. Your best protection is to make certain the source of your purchase is reliable and will stand back of garments that do not give the service they should.—(Adv.)

Bride-Elect Feted In Fayetteville

FAYETTEVILLE — Entertaining at her home in Fayetteville on Thursday afternoon, Miss Katharine MacMillan, aunt of the bride, honored Ayden bride-to-be, Miss Henrietta MacKinnon Taylor, at tea.

Callers were welcomed at the door by Miss Helen Mac Geachy and Mrs. D. N. Lucas and were received in the hall by Miss Mac Millan, Miss Taylor and Mrs. Benjamin Guy Taylor, mother of the honoree. The guests were directed into the living room by Mrs. M. A. MacMillan.

The home was thrown en suite and decorated with varied arrangements of pink sweet-heart roses, magnolia leaves, pinkwinkie, and fern.

The mantels in the living rooms were banked with magnolia leaves and held center decorations of clematis. Antique candelabras, placed on each end of the mantels, were entwined with sprays of Clematis and Southern Smilax. Lighter white candles afforded afforded illumination throughout the rooms.

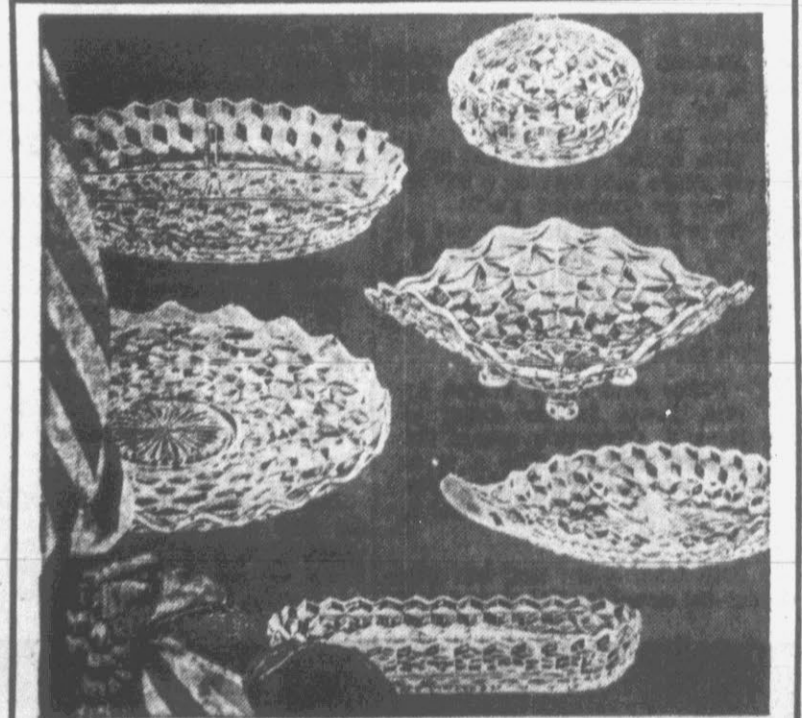

Miss Taylor was remembered with a gift of her crystal by the hostess.

Miss Mewborn And Mr. Gorman Marry ++ Calendar Of Events ++

FARMVILLE—In a candlelight ceremony solemnized Saturday afternoon at five o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Miss Linda Lee Mewborn became the bride of Richard Forbes Gorman. The Rev. Edwin S. Coates officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Moses Mewborn and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright Gorman of Winterville.

The vows were spoken before a white satin prie-dieu placed in front of the church chancel. The chancel was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and yellow mums interspersing a background of palms, ferns and burning white cathedral tapers in floor candelabra. Ribbons and flowers marked the pews.

Organist was Miss Sue Dilda of Fountain. Vocal soloists were Mrs. Thomas G. Bullock and Miss Cordelia Lewis. Prior to the ceremony Mrs. Bullock sang, "Be-cause" by D'Harlot and "I Love Thee" by Edvard Grieg. "Wedding Prayer" by Dunlop, was rendered as a benediction by Miss Lewis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory delustered satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and full bell-shaped skirt. Deep scallops of alencon lace outlined the sweetheart neckline, formed a sleeve cap and extended in a "V" onto the bodice back where self-covered buttons were used. Sewn and headed rose, stem and leaf design was effected over the entire skirt, by the use of satin French roses, silk cording, beading, appliques of lace reembroidered with pearls and iridescent sequins. A large satin draped bow ornamented the skirt back at the waistline.

She wore long white formal gloves and carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid, stephanotis and showered with ferns and ribbons. Her short veil of French illusion fell from a crown of matching lace reembroidered and embellished with encrusted pearls.

Mrs. William H. White of Charleston, S.C., sister of the bride was matron of honor. She was gowned in a dress of maize silk organza over matching taffeta. Her picture hat was of matching color and material and she carried a nuptial fan of white lace banded by pale green satin ribbon and sprayed with yellow roses. Miss Barbara Mewborn, sister of the bride, was junior maid of honor and her dress and flowers were the same as the matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. John A. Gorman of Salem, Va., sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Miss May Eason of Farmville, Miss Elizabeth Harris of Bailey, Miss Nancy Cogins, Rocky Mount and Miss Sandra Gurley of Goldsboro. They were dressed as the honor attendants and carried fans with yellow roses.

Mrs. Richard Forbes Gorman

Misses Libby and Lynn Gorman, nieces of the bridegroom, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gorman, were flowergirls. They wore dresses of yellow silk organza and carried frilly white baskets filled with yellow rose petals and ornamented with pale green satin bows.

Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Henri Pearl Johnson, Miss Faye Baker and Miss Sylvia Gay, all of Farmville, and Mrs. Charles Ward of Greenville. They wore wristlet corsages of yellow carnations.

The bridegroom's brother, John Alfred Gorman of Salem, Va., was best man. Ushers were: John Moses Mewborn Jr., brother of the bride; Alfred Forbes, cousin of the bridegroom; William A. Forbes, uncle of the groom; Moye Waters and Boyce Cox, both of Winterville; Thomas Kootz and C. R. Grubbs Jr., both of Winston-Salem. Their boutonnières were yellow rose buds.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mewborn wore a dress of candlelight beige peau de soie and lace, fashioned with the neckline and sleeves edged in scallops of the lace used for the dress top. She used matching leaf and bud design half-hat and a shoulder corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Gorman, the bridegroom's mother, was gowned in a muted jade chiffon dress styled in a draped sheath mode. Her headdress was a circlet of matching feathers and short veil. She wore a white orchid at her shoulder.

For her wedding trip the bride changed to a navy silk shantung sheath and jacket dress. She used white accessories, a tiny white feather hat and wore as a corsage, the orchid lifted from her prayer book.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina College where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority. She received a B.S. degree in primary education and will teach in the Alamance County School. The bridegroom was her chief marshal when she was presented to North Carolina Society at the 1959 Terpsichorean Debutante Ball in Raleigh.

The bridegroom is a member of the Chi Psi fraternity at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill where the couple will

Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Garner of Mt. Olive; Mr. and Mrs. George L. Mewborn Jr., of Snow Hill; and Miss Ailine Mewborn of Henderson, all aunts and uncles of the bride. A color note of pink and white was effected in the floral compositions of snapdragons, stock and gladioli. Wedding bells were the motif of the place cards indicating the seating of the bridal party, relatives and out-of-town guests. The bride and bridegroom's places were marked with a white corsage and a white rose bud boutonniere. The honorees were presented with a gift of China in their chosen pattern.

After-Rehearsal Party
An after-rehearsal party honored Miss Linda Mewborn and Mr. Richard Gorman and their wedding party on Friday evening, given by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Robes and Mrs. Alfred Forbes III at the home of the latter.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Forbes and directed to the dining room by Mr. Forbes III. The appointed table was covered with a white, hand embroidered rice cloth centered with an arrangement of white mums, gypsophylla and yellow snapdragons flanked by crystal candelabra holding burning white tapers.

On the buffet the focal point was an arrangement of white magnolias and crystal candelabra. The five-tiered rectangular wedding cake in white was topped by yellow roses.

After the bridal couple cut the first slice of cake, Mrs. John Moses Mewborn served cake to the guests, with Mrs. Richard Wright Gorman serving punch from a crystal punch bowl. Guests served themselves to other refreshments. Elsewhere in the home, assorted summer flowers were used in decorating. In the den, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins presided at the bridal book, where guests registered. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Hunsucker and Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Waters assisted elsewhere in the home. Guests included the wedding party, families and out-of-town guests.

Dinner Party
Earlier Friday evening, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright Gorman, and the brother of the groom and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Alfred Gorman, entertained the wedding party at a dinner party.

The tables were arranged in a "U-shape" with bridal cards marking the guests places. White summer flowers and pink tapers surrounded by ivy were used in decorating. A gift of a cake knife was presented to the honored couple. The bride was presented a corsage of a pale pink mum.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

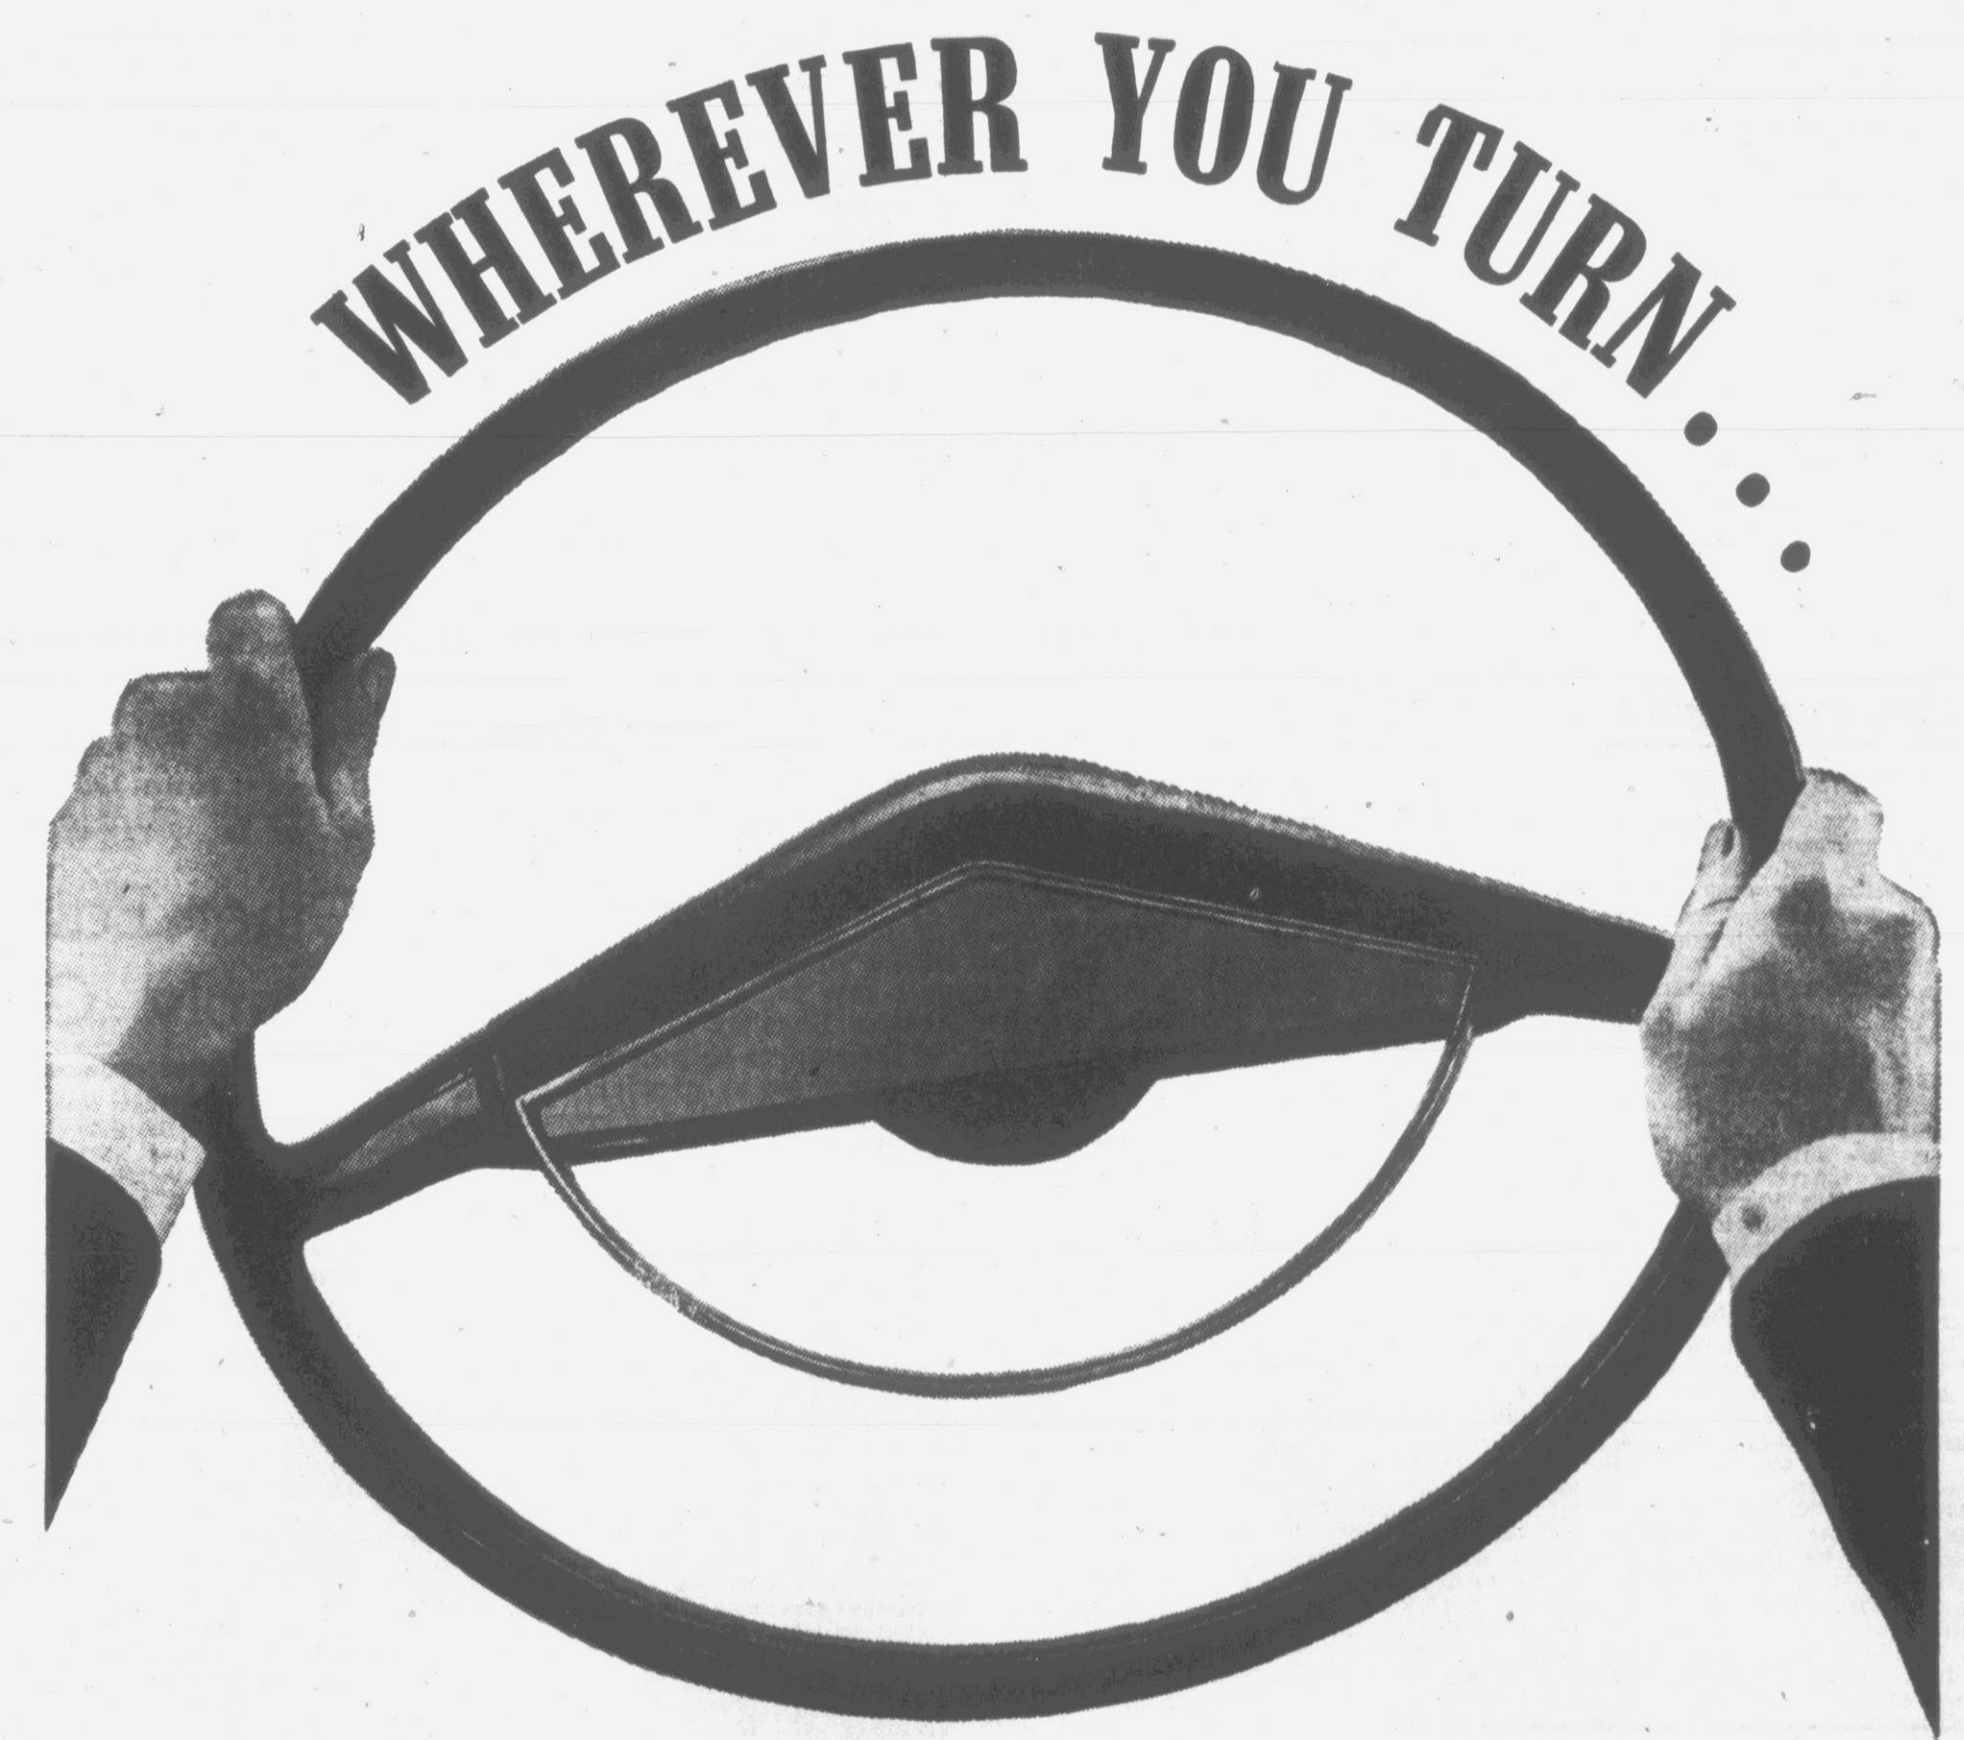

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 999. At all drug counters.

Teener Buying Is Big

By ROGER BARSON
RADSON PARK, Miss.—Most people have not been giving enough serious thought to the relationship of teen-agers to business. Too often teen-agers are looked upon as a nuisance, and many of us sort of hold our breath waiting until they grow up and have learned to take care of themselves. A study of population statistics shows, however, that we have been wrong in taking this attitude.

WHAT POPULATION FIGURES SHOW
I have divided the census figures into three groups—first, the "teen-age" group between 15 and 24; second, the productive group, between 25 and 55; and third, the older age group. To my surprise I find that the teen-age group has increased 50 percent since the previous census. The older-age group has increased 25 percent. However, those between the ages of 25 and 55, who are earning money by producing goods and services, have just about held their own. The bulge in the teen-age segment has far-reaching effects upon business. Also, more teen-agers today are seeking higher education after graduation from high school than ever before. For young people in this age group, any income earned is likely to be small; but their needs are enormous. Hence, the longer period spent in classrooms places a heavier burden upon parents who are footing the bills.

WHAT TEEN-AGERS ARE BUYING
What teen-agers are buying the most is food. Teen-agers are the profit makers for supermarkets. They buy more goods, get their parents to buy more, and they buy things which are attractively and conveniently packaged and pre-cooked. In short, they are highly susceptible to "impulse buying", and very responsive to the forces of advertising, fashions, and fads. The fast pace of youthful life, together with the generous allowances which parents today give to their children, are proving to be a boon to "snack" shops, ice cream parlors, and confectionery stores.
Next to food, I would say that clothing lines are profiting most from the teen-age group. Young people like to dress up and look attractive. They spend considerable money on clothing, at least until they get married. Therefore, the department stores and chain stores which handle inexpensive lines of clothing are profiting. It follows that beauty parlors, barber shops, and manufacturers and distributors of cosmetics also derive a big chunk of business from this segment of the population. Doctors and dentists, firms engaged in medical and dental supplies, and drug stores also are profiting from the desire of teenagers to look and feel well.

TEEN-AGERS HELP OTHER INDUSTRIES
In studying my grandchildren, I would judge that telephone companies also benefit greatly. When I was young, few households had a telephone, and those that did used it largely for emergencies. Today, teen-agers think nothing of calling a friend some distance away on a rainy day for want of something to do. In fact, I am told that the principal users are the teen-agers.
Since the newly aroused interest in science education, school committees are spending more money on textbooks and equipment. This also applies to school buildings and, unfortunately, to competitive school athletic tournaments. Certainly, the large universities have made a great error in building huge stadiums which put competitive athletics ahead of studies.

EFFECT UPON INVESTMENTS
As my column is read mostly by small investors, they should try to use their savings to the best advantage by considering the above factors in connection with their investments. The economy should experience continued husky demand from teen-agers for several years more. However, some industries are not faring so well at the hands of teen-agers. For example young investors just entering the market regard railroad securities as "out-of-date." A railroad president attributes the railroad and bus passenger service decline to the fact that (Continued on page five)

Plant Expansion Is Boon To City

Some communities in their quest for economic development by attracting new industries overlook the value of the industries they already have so far as future economic growth is concerned.

The expansion which has taken place in the Fieldcrest Mills operations in Greenville since the company began operations here a year ago is a vivid example of the economic growth which can take place in an existing operation.

It was a year ago this month that Fieldcrest Mills acquired the local carpet yarn plant which was being operated by Artloom Carpet Company. At that time the Greenville yarn mill employed approximately 130 people and had a weekly payroll of some $5,000.

During the past year the same mill, under Fieldcrest ownership, has increased its employment by some 120 people to a total now of approximately 250 employees. The payroll has increased from approximately $5,000 weekly to some $17,000 weekly.

Although Greenville has no more plants than it did a year ago so far as the Fieldcrest operations are concerned, the expansion of operation in the existing plant has been the equivalent of one or more new industries.

In addition to what has taken place during the

Cherokee Drama Attendance Hit

By LYNN NISBET

ALTERNATE—A report of the activities of the Cherokee Historical Association for 1961 is at hand. It shows considerable decline in attendance this year as compared with 1960 at the "Unto These Hills" drama, and also a decline—although less—in attendance at the Oconaluftee Indian Village. But contrast there is a substantial increase in attendance and revenue at the Museum of the Cherokee Indian, also operated by the association.

There is a lesson hidden in these several reports, which other entertainment agencies might profit by studying. That is the value of having alternate selection between outdoor and indoor attractions, and a longer season for their presentation.

The outdoor dramas are keenly sensitive to weather. "The Lost Colony" at Roanoke Island, "Horn in the West" at Boone and "Unto These Hills" at Cherokee have all suffered this year by rains during the afternoons before the shows were to be presented at night. That means the attendance might have been greatly reduced even though the weather was fair at the hour of the show, because of afternoon rainstorms keeping attendants away.

Still using Cherokee as an example, the "Hills" drama is far behind last year, the Indian Village is also behind, but the museum, which is inside, is ahead. Another fact to be remembered is that all the dramas—Boone, Cherokee and Roanoke—run approximately two months, July and August. The Indian Village is open about five months and the museum almost year round, though during the winter months it operates on a limited and uncertain schedule.

FULL TIME—The State of North Carolina has invested a good many thousands of taxpayer dollars in these three major dramas and has spent other dollars in advertising them throughout the world. Public spirited citizens have invested more than the State in the development and promotion of these attractions. Both the State and the private business interests are confronted now with the question of whether the investment is justified for an eight to ten weeks run. The trend is toward year round seasons at the beaches and in the mountains, as well as in mid-state resorts.

Maybe the "Colony" and the "Hills" and the "Horn" dramas should not be staged except during the ten weeks of late summer. This program makes sense. It doesn't make sense for the communities to have nothing else to offer during the other 40 weeks of the year.

There is need for diversified entertainment for the daylight hours during the drama season for indoor activities when the weather does not permit open air performances. These needs are being recognized, and a little progress is noted in meeting them. A considerable part of the answer may be found in the museum idea. Historic museums are becoming essential parts of installations at all historic sites—whether it be the birth-place of a former Governor, Indian Mound in Montgomery county, or the scene of the first flight at Kill Devil Hills. Majority of these places are free to the public as an educational service by the State. At privately owned resorts small fees may be charged. And there is somewhere to go and something to see.

CATCHING UP—Governor Sanford is catching up with the record of his predecessors in appointing members of the General Assembly who backed his legislative program to important State jobs. It had been noted a few weeks ago that very few legislators were included in the lists of the first 50 or so major appointments.

For several weeks Rep. Ike Andrews of Chatham, appointed solicitor of the new 10-A district, was the lone beneficiary of a good paying assignment. None of the four added special judges were legislators, and members of the Legislature were noticeable for absence among the lists of Highway Commissioners, Wildlife Resources and C&D boards.

Gossip around Capitol Square was that the Governor contemplated a special session of the General Assembly this fall and did not want to deplete the ranks of his staunch supporters. The extra session seems unlikely, and within the past few days there has been evidence that Governor Sanford is following precedent in rewarding his supporters.

Sen. Ed Clark of Bladen has been named a special judge to replace Judge Braxton Craven when he moves up to the Federal bench. It has been public knowledge for weeks that Reps. Roger Jackson of Hertford, Charles Cannon of Tyrrell and Herbert Hardy of Greene have been house-hunting in Raleigh, telling their friends that they are coming on top level jobs.

Paradoxically, these men have made no secret of their intent to come to the capital city in high brackets State payroll class but have been very reluctant to say what positions they expected to fill. Street corner gossip has it that Jackson will go on the Utilities Commission, Cahoon as director of probation and Hardy perhaps in a new position related to agriculture.

past year at the Fieldcrest plant in Greenville, officials of the company this week announced that a $200,000 expansion program will be carried out during the coming year, and that this expansion will increase employment at the local plant by another 75 to 100 people.

Here again, it does not mean that Greenville is getting a new industry, but the expansion program of an industry it already has will be equal to what might be expected from another industry moving into the community.

The fact that Fieldcrest has expanded its operations in Greenville during the past year since it purchased a plant here points out the aggressiveness and sound leadership of the company and its officials at the Greenville plant. The fact that the company has decided to expand its operations even more suggests that it is pleased with conditions it has found here, it has found its employees in Greenville cooperative in adjusting to new management programs, and it looks forward to continued successful operations in this community.

It is a mark of achievement for any community when a new industry picks it for a new plant. It should be even more gratifying to a community, we believe, when a company which is already operating in the community decides to expand its operations within the same community. It is indicative that experience in and with the community has convinced officials of the company that the confidence they had in the community when they decided to begin operations initially was well founded.

Since it began operations here a year ago, Fieldcrest Mills has made an important contribution to the economic growth of this community. We are confident that in the future the company's operations here will mean more to the community, and we trust that the community will continue to provide the company with the kind of cooperation that obviously was a factor in the company's decision to further expand its operations here.

High School Students Look To Their Elders

North Carolina youngsters of high school age or younger have an important stake in the forthcoming $61.5 million state bond election although they will not be old enough to vote on the bond issue November 7.

Of the total amount of bonds the state proposes to issue, $48 million is earmarked for capital improvements to state supported colleges and institutions. The funds will be used for needed expansions and improvements which could not be provided for in the regular biennial budget which was approved by the legislature a few months ago.

With the growing number of youngsters seeking college educations in North Carolina, the state's colleges must expand their facilities or tell the youngsters to look elsewhere for their college educations. The vast majority of the youngsters in North Carolina's high schools now expect to attend college in their home state. And they expect the colleges of the state to have sufficient facilities to accommodate them when they finish high school.

Whether the bond issue in November is approved or rejected by the voters of the state next November will determine to some extent how well the state supported colleges of North Carolina are able to meet the demands made by the growing influx of new students.

The high school youngsters who look forward to attending college a few years from now can't vote in the November election. But they will be expecting their elders throughout the state to help in making a college education possible for them by providing the colleges with adequate facilities to handle the growing number of high school graduates who want a college education.

Deficit Guesses Likely To Miss

By RALPH ROBEY

There is no known method by which one can make accurate forecasts of either government expenditures or revenues. As a result estimates of deficits are likely to be wide of the actual facts. There was a perfect example of this recently. Only a few weeks before the end of the fiscal year, Secretary of the Treasury Dillon said that the deficit would be about $3 billion. The actual deficit was almost $4 billion.

That was for the fiscal year which ended last June 30. For this fiscal year the present official estimate is $5 billion. But this is almost certain to be too low—much too low. Some experts think we may see a deficit this year of close to $10 billion.

All of these figures, of course are much larger than formerly had been expected. The primary reason is that month after month and almost week after week, the President asks the Congress for new appropriations. The aggregate of these requests has amounted to billions upon billions.

Most of the requests, it is true, have been for military purposes. The Congress not only grants all such funds, but usually goes even above what the President has indicated he thought he needed. But some of the growth of appropriations and spending has nothing to do with the military. It is related solely to welfare of one kind or another. On this the Congress is a little less free, but in the end has been giving the Administration about all that it wants.

Now history proves that government deficits are one of the certain ways for creating inflation. This is because deficits increase the money supply without increasing the volume of goods and services offered for sale. At present, we are told, there is no danger of inflation from the deficits because we have unused capacity in almost all our important and basic industries and there is a plentiful supply of labor.

There is no question but that we currently have substantial unused productive capacity, and the number of unemployed is much larger than we should have. But it still does not follow that this will provide any real protection against inflation.

There are two reasons why this is true. First, wages are continuing to be forced up by powerful labor union officials. The increases, too, frequently are above any possible improvement in output per manhour. This means that the cost of production rises, and this necessarily puts pressure on prices.

The second reason is closely related. Profits are showing a slight improvement with better business, but many companies still are being severely pinched in connection with their earnings. In these cases, and there are thousands of them, the companies cannot absorb the higher wage costs and stay in business. Accordingly, prices have to be advanced, or else we shall have an enormous number of bankruptcies.

One other point deserves emphasis. This is that while we have unemployed persons, a large proportion of these do not have the training, the inclination, or a powerful incentive to take the kind of job for which personnel is needed. Many also live in areas far removed from the possible jobs, and they do not want to pull up stakes and establish a new home. The mere presence of the unemployed, therefore, does not give us any guarantee against inflation.

All of this does not indicate that the whole-sale price index, which has been remarkably stable for three years, will suddenly begin to shoot upward. But it pretty well assures that the next major move will be on the upside. It is not too early to start worrying about the renewal of inflation.

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

It has been most heartening indeed to note the wide acceptance which has accompanied the action of the Board of Aldermen in establishing the day of October 17 as the time when local citizens will be given an opportunity to decide upon the future form of city government for Rocky Mount. And if the reports that one hears from many quarters are indicative of local feeling then there is good reason to believe that Rocky Mount citizens will welcome an opportunity to throw off the shackles which have plagued our city for so long in the antiquated system which has been practiced here for so long.

Least there be too much complacency, however, it should be remembered that there are those who are preparing to wage a last ditch fight against any change. Of course, the opponents will include some conscientious persons who are accustomed to taking the conservative view. Certainly they have a right to their own views. However, we must be individuals who cannot stand the thought of up-setting a system under which they themselves know only too well the affairs of the city have not been conducted efficiently in the past.

City government is the biggest business in Rocky Mount and all citizens are stockholders. In other business all the stockholders are entitled to participate in the election of all the directors. In this $5 million municipal business, no stockholder at present is privileged to vote for more than one-seventh of its body of directors. The City Council form of government which local citizens will have an opportunity to adopt on October 17, provides that all citizens—all stockholders—will have an opportunity to vote for all the members of the Council—the directors, if you please.

To us, that is merely exercising the principles of good business. This system can become a reality if local citizens will see to it when they go to the polls on October 17.

Dear Editor,
I was surprised and pleased to read in Wednesday night's paper that there is a man in town who thinks it is wrong to take something that belongs to someone else.

I was also surprised that the Reflector should publish such a "radical" viewpoint. I wonder if there is another man—other than Mr. McGowan—in the town of some 20,000 people who feels the same way?

Things Business Can Look For

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here are things business can look for judging from current trends and other indicators of things to come:

Housing boom. Don't be downhearted over statistics that indicate the increase in housing is less than expected. New housing demands, generated by the increase in defense spending, will make the last half of the year close to the all-time high.

No income tax rise. The cost of stepping up defenses against Khrushchev will be high, but it will not cause an immediate rise in Federal income taxes. Rising incomes are automatically increasing the government's take. However, in years ahead the rise in expenditures may be greater than the rise in incomes, and that will mean a boost in tax rates.

Steel price rise. Currently dull demand is causing many buyers and some steel companies to expect that there will be no price hike when higher wage scales become effective October 1. Perish the thought! The wage increases make it imperative for most producers to increase steel prices in October or go broke. There may be distress bargains around after that date, but don't count on it. Note: If you are a steel buyer, consider building your inventory now, before the certain price rise. Note: The step-up in defense is removing the last doubt that steel prices will go up in October.

Cosiltier packaging. A leading producer of cartons (Crown Zellerbach) has raised prices from 10 to 14 per cent east of the Rockies starting September 1. Other producers are showing signs of following the leader.

BETTER TICKS
More accurate clock: A time-piece called 10 times as accurate as the best conventional chronometer is approaching the market. It gains or loses only 5 seconds a year, and operates for four months on a single D size mercury battery.
Higher commodity prices:

Consumer prices may not increase much in the next few months, thanks to bountiful harvests and excessive production and imports of meats. But the level of other commodities will rise, partly because the defense program is sure to increase demand.

New FTC stew: A basic question involving the Federal Trade Commission and business will soon emerge in a new brawl. FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon has warned that it will no longer attempt to move simultaneously against all violators of regulations in an industry. Dixon said that when the FTC has a good case, it will prosecute, regardless of other conditions in the industry. He is following an axiom of law: failure to accuse B is never a defense of A.

OLD PROMOTER PUZZLED BY WEIGHTS & MEASURES
"While the Federal Trade Commission is paring its nails," the Old Promoter said on his weekly visit, "it might be reading and listening to the claims about measurements on television."

"Currently, there is a lot of words uttered about the 'big gallon,' as if competitors were using the little gallon, whatever that is. The Canadian gallon is a one-quarter larger than the American gallon, so perhaps that's what they are selling. But I doubt it."

"Another sponsor talks about his 'full quart' as if other sellers were peddling a scant quart. A milk company is talking about its 'half gallon,' when it means two quarts. Some day the milk companies will promote 'quarter gallons,' while they mean quarts. It sounds like more, doesn't it?"

"Now a fuel company is advertising a 'heavy pound.' When I went to school, a pound was 16 ounces. I suppose 15 ounces would be a light pound, but a 'heavy pound' of fuel ought to be at least 30 ounces, don't you think?" I do.

Greenville Tobacco Market Is Ready For 71st Season

By W. L. WHEDBEE
Supervisor of Sales
On Tuesday, August 22, at 9:00 a.m. the Greenville Tobacco Market will begin its 71st year of selling tobacco for farmers in this area.
This year Greenville, as it has

W. T. CANNON
Pres. Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade for the past 70 years, will have for the tobacco farmers who sell on the Greenville Market unsurpassed competition on each and every grade of tobacco.

PITT COUNTY STILL WORLD'S GREATEST PRODUCER
Pitt County, whose largest tobacco market is Greenville, N.C., has been known by the trade for many years as the "world's largest producer of bright leaf flue-cured tobacco." The 1961 official Government acreage allotment for Pitt County is 25,177 acres.

Again, in 1961, Pitt County, as it has for many years, will continue to produce more bright leaf tobacco than will be produced in any other county in the United States.

GREENVILLE SERVES LARGE TERRITORY
Every pound of tobacco produced in Pitt County, however, is not sufficient to make up the total pounds of tobacco sold each year in Greenville.

Every year to this home production is added many more millions of pounds of tobacco, which are brought by farmers of adjoining counties to the Greenville Market starts with the opening day of the market and continues until the last day that the warehouses are open.

ANOTHER RECORD
Pitt County, admitted to be the world's largest producer of bright leaf flue-cured tobacco, has also set another record, which is even more important.

QUALITY ALSO UNSURPASSED
Year after year Pitt County has also consistently produced, in this same volume, the world's choicest tobacco. The quality of this Pitt County tobacco is so consistently high that it is admittedly unsurpassed anywhere in the world.

CHANGED WITH WORLD DEMAND
When world trade demanded a finer, thinner, lighter and milder smoking leaf, again Pitt County farmers, specialists in their field, kept abreast of the times and changed their type of tobacco to suit the changing world tastes without removing the natural aroma of Pitt County tobacco.

Now the world trade is laying more emphasis upon choice grainy bright leaf tobacco with medium body, rich aroma and flavor and some oil.

Again Pitt County farmers, by utilizing their almost perfect soil and climatic conditions and by infinite attention to variety and cultural practices, have produced tobaccos for the changing world tastes exactly in accordance with current demands, both foreign and domestic.

GREENVILLE'S VOLUME INCREASED MORE THAN 30 PER CENT IN 1960

During the crop year of 1960 Pitt County and the surrounding territory served by the Greenville

Tobacco Market produced one of the most desirable tobacco crops that has been produced in many years.

The demand by all buying companies, both foreign and domestic, for this high quality tobacco sold on the Greenville Market is very great. Last year the Greenville Tobacco Market increased its volume of sales by more than 30 per cent over the preceding year.

CHOICE, BRIGHT LEAF, FULL FLAVORED, AROMATIC TOBACCOS

Those who are in the market for choice, bright leaf, full flavored, aromatic tobaccos will naturally turn to Greenville, North Carolina, U.S.A., for a large percent of their 1961 purchases. Greenville is now equipped to sell and process over one hundred million pounds of tobacco during the 1961 season.

An End To Free Parking Practice

WASHINGTON (AP) — There'll be no more free parking here for two Soviet newsmen who have been claiming diplomatic immunity to avoid paying fines.

The Soviet Embassy, which reportedly had voided $70 worth of illegal parking tickets for the pair in the past four months, bowed to a State Department protest that the newsmen were not entitled to immunity.

The embassy said it would stop putting its diplomatic immunity stamp on tickets for Yuria V. Barsukov of Izvestia and Mikhail R. Sagetelyan of Tass, and tell them to pay their fines.

AMERICA AND RELIGION

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — A four-volume study, "Religion in American Life," written by 22 scholars, has been published by Princeton University Press. Its editors conclude: "Religion has both powerfully and pervasively affected the complex development of American culture."

Tobacco Buyers Anxiously Awaiting Market Opening Here On August 22

By W. L. WHEDBEE
Supervisor, Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, Inc.

When the tobacco market opens on August 22, tobacco buying companies will be here in Greenville anxiously awaiting their chance for competitive bidding for the world's finest bright leaf tobacco to be offered for sale during the 1961 tobacco season.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN FACTORIES

These tobacco companies have invested millions of dollars in factories and storage warehouses, located in Greenville, to process the tremendous volume of quality leaf which is annually sold here.

Set out here is a list of their respective presidents and branch managers: American Suppliers, O. L. Hull, Branch Manager; Export Leaf Tobacco Company, Joe Gaston, Branch Manager; E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company, L. S. Ficklen, President; Greenville Tobacco Company, C. W. Howard, Jr., President; Imperial Tobacco Company, Ltd., Jesse R. Move, Jr., Branch Manager; International Tobacco Company, Inc., P. K. Andersen, President; Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, Jack Cobb, Branch Manager; Person-Garrett Company, W. S. Bost, President; and R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Lawrence Reese, Branch Manager.

GREENVILLE'S INDEPENDENT COMPANIES

Greenville is fortunate, indeed, in the men who head its independent tobacco companies. Nowhere, in the entire tobacco trade, will you find executives who are more highly respected in their profession than L. S. Ficklen, President of E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company, C. W. Howard, Jr., President of the Greenville Tobacco Company; W. S. Bost, President of Person-Garrett Company and P. K. Andersen, President of International Tobacco Company.

FINEST HANDLERS AND PROCESSORS

These experienced independent companies pride themselves in being the finest graders, handlers and processors of leaf tobacco in the world. Each of these independent companies is staffed with capable and experienced tobacco men. They know exactly the types and grades of tobacco their many customers want. Their men are particularly adept at securing them.

For them, perfection in purchasing an order is not enough. They are equipped with the finest and most modern machinery obtainable at any price. They are operated by skilled workers. By infinite attention to even the smallest details, Greenville's independent companies follow perfection of purchase on the warehouse floors with perfect processing in their modern plants.

Thus has their reputation for filling a customer's order exactly as he wishes it, been built, and thus will it always stand, as long as these men remain in charge. It is a high standard to operate by, but one in which they take just pride.

PLANT CAPACITY IN GREENVILLE

With their plants equipped with the most modern machinery available, Greenville's independent tobacco companies are now prepared, in this same satisfactory manner, to buy, process and put in hogheads almost an unlimited amount of tobacco on orders of any kind.

E. B. FICKLEN TOBACCO COMPANY, INC.

E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company, Inc., established in 1896, is one of the oldest companies serving the tobacco trade. Now in its sixty-fifth year of furnishing quality packed tobaccos to foreign markets throughout the world and doing a substantial domestic business, the facilities of the company have been improved and enlarged over the years.

The company was founded by E. B. Ficklen who served as its head until his death in 1923. He was succeeded by James S. Ficklen until his death in September, 1955. L. S. Ficklen, formerly Vice President, was elected President in October, 1955, which office he now holds.

L. S. Ficklen is a past President of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade and is currently Treasurer of the Leaf Tobacco Exporters Association. He is chairman of the executive committee of the Leaf Tobacco Exporters Association and is a member of the board of governors of the Tobacco Association of United States.

James S. Ficklen, Jr., is Vice President and Treasurer of E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company, Inc., and is past President of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade. He, also, is a member of the board of governors of the Tobacco Association of United States.

A. C. Ruffin is Vice President and Supervisor of buying and past President of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade; J. T. Cheatnam, Jr., and C. C. Skinner are Vice Presidents; O. L. Alexander is Secretary; and E. O. Parkinson, Jr. is Assistant Secretary. J. W. Baker is Ficklen's factory manager. Connor Merritt is a supervisor of leaf purchases and John G. Boatwright is now associated with the company.

The company has recently installed the latest tipping and threshing equipment and has three modern Proctor & Schwartz re-drying machines, having a daily capacity of about 500,000 pounds.

In the last two years, in order to better serve their many customers, E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company has more than doubled the area of floor space in their re-drying plant.

E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company, Inc., with their highly skilled and experienced personnel in all departments, is fully prepared to buy, expertly process and pack orders for tobacco for both foreign and domestic manufacturers. They also have ample storage facilities to satisfactorily store tobaccos for their customers.

INTERNATIONAL TOBACCO COMPANY, INC.

The International Tobacco Company, Inc. was organized in August, 1950 by the late O. C. Mogaard Christensen and P. K. Andersen. They maintain and operate a subsidiary, The International Tobacco Company A.S., of Copenhagen, Denmark, which was Cyred and Burley Belts if also supervisor of buying. H. L. Narron is Secretary and office manager.

By continual modernization of their plant, together with the insistence of their highly trained personnel that each individual order be filled exactly as the customer wishes it, the Greenville Tobacco Company has been a large factor in building for the Greenville market, and for themselves as well, an enviable reputation in world-wide tobacco trade.

It is proud of its fine personnel. But also, it is proud of the fact that there is no company in the trade which has finer or more complete and modern equipment. Constantly, from year to year, improvements are being made to its physical plant.

PERSON-GARRETT COMPANY

Person-Garrett Company was established in 1924 by R. M. Garrett, who served as its President from that date until July of 1950 when he was succeeded by W. S. Bost, who is now President of Person-Garrett Company and also past President of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade.

The Vice Presidents of this company are now L. G. Stanfield and R. M. Garrett, Jr., the latter being the son of the late R. M. Garrett.

Person-Garrett Company has its main offices in Greenville, but also operates branches in Fairmont, Jack Waters and at Lumberton, Stanley Hathaway. These three plants have a present capacity of approximately one million pounds of tobacco per day.

The company purchases and processes leaf tobacco for both foreign and domestic concerns, and is also equipped with modern steel and concrete storages.

GREENVILLE TOBACCO COMPANY

C. W. Howard, Jr., is President of Greenville Tobacco Company. John L. Howard and M. T. Simpson are Vice Presidents. Mr. Simpson, who has had many years of practical experience in the purchase of leaf tobacco in the Flue-

As In The Past, Five Sets Of Buyers On Warehouse Floors

Greenville operates five sets of buyers simultaneously, every sales day, over its warehouse floors.

There are 19 tobacco warehouses and 10 warehouse firms in Greenville. To give you some idea of the size of these warehouses, the largest one of these warehouse floors alone covers over 11 acres. The floor space in Greenville devoted exclusively to the sale and processing of leaf tobacco is well over three million square feet.

The names of the owners and operators of these warehouse firms are as follows:

Cannon's Warehouse, W. T. Cannon, Carlton Dall; Farmers Warehouse, W. Arthur Tripp, T. P. Thompson, Dal Cox, Aubert Brannen, Sales Manager, Willie Edwards, Assistant Sales Manager;

Harris & Rogers, R. E. Rogers, H. R. Rogers, Assistant Sales Manager, Bruce Strickland, Assistant Sales Manager; Keel's Warehouse, Ashley Wynne, Floyd McGowan; McGowan's Warehouse, J. A. Worthington, Jack Moya, J. B. Worthington; New Carolina Warehouse, Lee Paramore, Laddie Avery, Larry Hudson and Wiley Tripp, Sales Manager; New Independent Warehouse, F. L. Blount, Jr., Bob Cullifer, S. A. Whitehurst, Tom Andrews, Jr., S. C. Ives, Frank Jolly; Raynor & Forbes Warehouse, Noah Raynor, A. A. Forbes; Star-Planters Warehouse, B. B. Sugg Sr., Harding Sugg, J. C. Adams, L. J. Hill, Elbert Bennett and R. N. Cooper, Auctioneers; Victory Warehouse, Harold Forbes, G. B. Jones.

Over 2,000,000 Pounds Per Day

To give you some idea of the size of the Greenville Tobacco Market, it has not been uncommon in the past few years for the Greenville Market to pay out over a million dollars a day for the purchase of tobacco upon its warehouse floors. Daily sales have been as high as 2,353,592 pounds per day for $1,508,571.27, bought by Greenville's five sets of buyers.

The Greenville Tobacco Market is now equipped to sell and process, during the 1961 season, over one hundred million pounds of this choice, bright leaf, full flavored aromatic tobacco.

1961 should be another outstanding year for the Greenville Tobacco Market.

Dodgers Holding 2 1/2-Game Lead Over Reds In Nat'l League

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers are on the march, with old folks Duke Snider showing the way. The heavenly aroma of the richest World Series checks in history seems to have rejuvenated the Duke, who has 14 hits in his last 30 trips.

Winning 6 straight and 19 of their last 22 games, the Dodgers own a 2 1/2-game lead over Cincinnati in the National League. They would be less than human if they weren't beginning to think of the loot from a series in the Coliseum with its crowds of 92,000 and Yankee Stadium with its 70,000 plus.

Cincinnati isn't folding. The Reds stuck right on the Dodgers' heels by snapping San Francisco's five-game winning streak 8-1. Wally Post drove in four runs in the Reds' farewell at Candlestick Park, where they won 8 of 11 starts.

Philadelphia lost its 16th in a row, 13-4 to Pittsburgh, but finally broke its scoreless streak after 20 innings. Milwaukee's Lew Burdette won his 14th with the help of a perfect day by Eddie Mathews, who had two walks and three hits, including his 23rd homer, in an 8-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

In the American League, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle have 45 homers each after the New York Yankees split two with Washington. The Yanks took the second 9-4 after losing the opener 12-2. Detroit fell 3 1/2 games behind New York by bowing to Minnesota 13-5. Baltimore edged Boston 6-5 in 11 innings, Chicago downed Kansas City 9-3, and Los Angeles shaded Cleveland 8-7.

Snider came through with a run-scoring double and a triple in five at bats against St. Louis, while Stan Williams shut out St. Louis 8-0 with eight hits. It was Williams' 11th victory and second shutout.

Cincinnati knocked out McCormick in the seventh inning when they broke a 1-1 tie with four runs and added three more in the ninth. Two came when Matty Alou lost Post's fly ball in the sun and let it fall for a double.

Tom Sturdivant, former American Leaguer, won his second for the Pirates, although the Phils got to him for 13 hits. Pittsburgh scored eight unearned runs in the sixth inning with the help of errors by Tony Taylor and Ruben Amaro, who had three misplays in the game. Bob Clemente led the Pirates with three singles and drove in three runs.

Mathews climbed into a 10th place tie with Joe DiMaggio in the all-time home run standings by hitting No. 361 of his career. He has his first since July 23, by reaching base five straight times. Mathews ran his streak to nine in two days.

Carolyn House Heading Young U.S. Swim Team

By MURRAY ROSE Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A sweet, teen-age girl with a "killer complex" in the water heads the youngest swim team ever picked to represent the United States in top-level international sports competition.

The lassie who is steel-hearted in the pool and sugar and spice out of it is Carolyn House, 15, of Indianopolis, who set a world record of 2:32.8 in the 200-meter butterfly; Nina Harmer, 15, of the Vesper B.C., who completed a backstroke double by taking the 100 in 1:11.0 and by a shade over Donna de Varona, 14, of Lafayette, Calif., and the Vesper 400-meter medley relay team in 4:50.3.

In addition to Carolyn, the other winners at the 50-meter Kelly Pool were lovely Becky Collins, 17, of Indianapolis, who set a world record of 2:32.8 in the 200-meter butterfly; Nina Harmer, 15, of the Vesper B.C., who completed a backstroke double by taking the 100 in 1:11.0 and by a shade over Donna de Varona, 14, of Lafayette, Calif., and the Vesper 400-meter medley relay team in 4:50.3.

The U.S. team will compete in Zwolle, Holland, Aug. 19-20; in Thenen, Holland, Aug. 22; against the best of Europe at Manchester, England, Aug. 25-26; at Heidelberg, Germany, Aug. 31, and at Munich, Germany, Sept. 2-3.

In addition to Carolyn, the team includes the Misses Collins, de Varona (winner of the 200 and 400 meter individual medleys, the 400 in world record time of 5:34.5), Harmer, Johnson, Kana-by, Von Salza, 17, and Dale Barnhard, 14, Congressional C.C., Washington, D.C.; Jean Ann Delkemp, 14, and Kathy Ellis, 14, Indianapolis A.C.; Lyn Hopkins, 14, Vesper B.C.; Carolyn Wood, 15, Mulmohar A.C.; and divers Joel Dina Lenz, 18, Philadelphia and Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Barbara McAlister, 20, Los Angeles A.C.

Carolyn, of the Los Angeles A.C. trailed Robyn Johnson, 15, of the Northern Virginia A.C. (Arlington Va.) and Laurel Watson, 14, of Santa Clara (Calif.) A.C. for the first 100 meters. Then she pouted it on in typical fashion. She pulled ahead by a yard at 150 and won by two yards going away from Robyn in 2:18.9.

"Carolyn is a thinker and a killer in the water," said George Breen, former Olympian and now coach of the Riviera Club of Indianapolis. "She watches Murray

Rose High School Practice Begins

The Rose High School football team will begin practice tomorrow morning at 8 a.m. at the school.

All interested players are asked to report to the field house at that time. Uniform for the morning practices will be shorts and shoes. Heavy equipment will be used during the afternoon sessions which begin at 3 p.m. Players are requested to bring their own shorts and shoes to the morning sessions.

Indianapolis A.C.; Lyn Hopkins, 14, Vesper B.C.; Carolyn Wood, 15, Mulmohar A.C.; and divers Joel Dina Lenz, 18, Philadelphia and Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Barbara McAlister, 20, Los Angeles A.C.

Yanks Split Doubleheader With Washington Senators

Race Curtailed, Fans Get Unruly

WEAVERVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Aroused stock car racing fans, angered at curtailment of a scheduled 250-mile race here Sunday, took mob control of Asheville's Weaverville Speedway for about four hours, demanding their money be refunded.

Officials had stopped the "Western North Carolina 500" after 129 miles when three big holes opened in the banked asphalt track. Junior Johnson of Ronda, N.C. led from the start and was declared winner.

About 4,000 of the 10,000 spectators stormed the grandstand for refunds. Fist fights broke out. Three fans were treated at a hospital for injuries in the scuffles. Members of the crowd locked and blocked a gate that left other spectators, drivers and mechanics stranded in the infield.

After police had failed to disperse the crowd, it heeded pleas by drivers and mechanics to go home. It was announced that rain checks would be honored at another race here sponsored by the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR).

An expected clash between NASCAR President Bill France and driver Curtis Turner did not materialize. Turner was banned from racing here because he is a chief organizer for the Federation of Professional Athletes, a new union affiliated with the Teamsters, chief organizer for the Federation of Professional Athletes, a new union affiliated with the Teamsters.

The veteran driver and wealthy timber dealer had threatened to seek a court injunction to keep the race from being run.

However, Turner did not show up at the track, and France had secured pledges from the 38 drivers that they were not union members—including Fireball Roberts, who quit only Friday as acting president of the FPA.

There were thrills aplenty — two drivers and a mechanic burned in the pits by fire that broke out during refueling; a two-car collision in which one vehicle bounced off a wall and landed atop the other; and a carom-style crash that injured a spectator.

Finishing in order in the top 10 were Johnson, who won the $2,650 top purse in his 1961 Pontiac, Jerry Weatherly, 1961 Pontiac, $1,725; Rex White, 1961 Chevrolet, $1,225; Emanuel Zervakis, 1961 Chevrolet, $975; Jim Paschal, 1961 Pontiac, $825; Ned Jarrett, 1961 Chevrolet, $650; Tommy Irwin, 1960 Chevrolet, $600; Johnny Allen, 1961 Chevrolet, $550; Jack Smith, 1961 Pontiac, $455; and Nelson Stacy, 1961 Ford, $425. Roberts finished 31st, out of the money. He had handling trouble during Saturday's time trials.

New York Now 3 1/2 Games Ahead In League Race

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle already are chipping away at Babe Ruth's wild September surge of 1927. The New York Yankees' D-D boys have 45 home runs with 15 to go to tie the record.

The Babe didn't hit No. 45 until Sept. 6, the year he set the all-time mark with 60 homers. It was his second of 17 in that famous September stretch drive that always has frustrated the most determined challengers.

Maris and Mantle now are 15 games ahead of Ruth's pace. He hit his 45th in game No. 132—including one tie—and they have 45-8-3, and Pittsburgh handed Philadelphia its 16th straight defeat 13-4.

Washington sent 11 men to the plate and scored six runs in the sixth inning of the opener to break open a 1-1 tie. Chuck Hinton and Jim King hit homers for the Senators, and Eloy Johnson had two doubles before a 27-368, largest Washington crowd of the year.

Boston and Baltimore were tied 3-3 after nine and each scored one in the 10th. The Red Sox got another in the 11th but lost when Earley fielded Russ Snyder's sacrifice bunt and threw the ball over the head of third baseman Frank Maizone, permitting two runs to score. Mike Fornieles, who put the two runners on base on singles, was the loser.

Eagles Take Bears In Exhibition Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League champion Philadelphia Eagles, supposedly hurting without passing wizard Norm Van Brocklin at quarterback, have installed bench warmer Sonny Jurgensen as the heir apparent with little loss in momentum.

Conquerors of the College All-Stars in their first outing, the Eagles romped to a 38-10 exhibition triumph over the Chicago Bears Saturday night, as Jurgensen supplied the punch in their first test against a solid pro aggregation.

Elsewhere, lithe Abner Haynes put on a one-man show by racing 98, 52 and 34 yards for touchdowns as Dallas trounced Denver 31-13 in an American League preseason test. In other NFL games, Pittsburgh edged Baltimore 24-20 and New York nipped San Francisco 21-20.

Held to a 3-3 tie in the first half, the Eagles exploded for three TD's in the third period with Jurgensen providing the first score with a 25-yard pitch to Tommy McDonald. After Ted Dean returned a punt 49 yards for a touchdown, Jurgensen flipped a three-yarder to Pete Retzlaff and put the game out of reach.

Denver led Dallas 7-0 before Haynes, who gained 117 yards in 10 carries on the ground, set into action. He tied it with a 31-yard run in the first period, put the Texans ahead to stay in the second with a 98-yard punt return and iced it with a 52-yard dash in the third quarter.

The Steelers scored twice within 2 1/2 minutes of the start of the third period to break a 10-10 tie and beat the Colts. Dick Hoak barreled across from seven yards out after Bill Butler returned the opening kickoff 83 yards, then linebacker Mike Henry rambled 35 yards for a TD with a fumble.

The Giants scored the clincher against the 49ers in the third period on a 30-yard pass from Lee Grosscup to Joe Walton, but the winning margin was provided by Dick Lynch, who knifed in to block Tommy Davis' conversion attempt after the second San Francisco touchdown.

In The Mails

Tobacco marketing cards for Pitt County growers today went into the mails, according to Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office manager Livingston Roberts.

Roberts said a total of around 2,300 of the cards have been prepared for the county's tobacco farmers.

Some were issued earlier upon request by farmers who wanted to market tobacco on auction markets that have already opened, he said.

Eastern Belt markets, including Pitt's markets in Greenville and Farmville, open the auction season next Tuesday.

Attend Weekend Training School

Ray Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Moxing and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Manning Jr. of Greenville were among the 65 delegates from the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses who attended an advanced Bible training school in Tarboro this past weekend.

Sunday, in the presence of 815 attending, they heard a Watchtower official from New York, Rutherford G. Sakatos, say, "This modern world is as perplexed as a woodpecker in a petrified forest." He added, "Countless thousands of humans living in the twentieth century madly flutter from one endeavor to another, only to experience frustration and disappointment. To such persons the future looks bleak indeed."

He further said, "As a result of religious leaders' attitude toward the Bible it is no wonder that people in general have become indifferent and unconcerned."

After enumerating world distress mentioned by Jesus such as wars, earthquakes and food shortages, he said, "Keep awake, then, all the time making supplication that you may succeed in escaping all these things that are destined to occur, and to hold your position before the Son of Man."

W. R. Nichols, presiding minister in Greenville, said, "Those in attendance received some 12 hours of advanced Christian training on how each one could better serve God and to stimulate his neighbors thinking in terms of serving God."

One Of Oldest Disc Jockey Programs Here

"Our Best to You," one of the oldest disc jockey programs in the nation, will be added to WGTC's schedules beginning tonight.

The program will come direct from Raleigh where it has enjoyed wide popularity for 13 years. WGTC will be the first of a network of North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia stations to add the program to their schedules.

"Our Best to You" was originated by its announcer Jimmy Capps. It is produced for the late night romantic appeal and has been a favorite on college campuses and among young adults.

The program will be heard on WGTC from 11 until one o'clock seven nights each week with news and weather coverage at 11:55 and 12:55.

At 1 a.m. Capps delivers his poetry feature, Nocturne.

Ex-President To Be Narrator

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Ordeal of a President" — Woodrow Wilson — will be televised by the National Broadcasting Co. this fall with narration by another former president — Herbert Hoover.

NBC Special Projects Director Donald Hyatt said the script for the program depicting the period of Wilson's high hopes and disillusionment after World War I was written by Hoover himself.

Republican Hoover was European relief administrator during the administration of Democrat Wilson.

Rioting Crowds In Kenya Require Use Of Tear Gas

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Police riot squads used tear gas twice in Nairobi's African centers Sunday to break up exuberant crowds celebrating the expected release of Jomo Kenyatta, convicted leader of the Mau Mau terrorist conspiracy in Kenya.

Crowds marching 10 abreast blocked streets as they paraded and sang freedom songs. Thousands of other Africans staged a Kenyatta rally near here.

Informed sources said Kenyatta probably would be released from his restricted quarters at Maralal within the next two days and taken to Gatundu, where the government has rebuilt his house and two shiny new cars await him. The cars are gifts from African supporters.

Kenyatta was sentenced in 1953 to seven years' hard labor on charges of leading the antiwhite Mau Mau rebellion. After completing the term, he was banished to Lodwar, a primitive desert region. He was moved to the village of Maralal four months ago.

EAST GERMAN CLERGY BERLIN (AP) — The East German Department of Church Affairs reports that 6,060 Protestant and 1,433 Roman Catholic clergymen are serving in Germany's eastern zone.

Religion To Be Narrator

Western Historical Novel BURNWOOD MEN

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

The first of the succession of disturbing sights that began for Tam Barrie at Fort Benton in Montana Territory when the riverboat arrived that summer in the Seventies was his cousin, pretty Dove Demarest, debarking with the man she married, Cleland Strike. Tam's immediate hatred for Strike made him wonder if he could now carry out his assignment with fair judgment.

Tam had been sent from the Philadelphia bank owned by Dove's father to check on Strike, who had borrowed heavily on his word and his new family connection. Tam's orders had been: see that Strike launches a successful cattle operation or bring back the money, in fact.

CHAPTER 2

Tam Barrie jumped at the chance of accepting this assignment for several reasons.

It was an opportunity to take a step forward in his work; and such a break did not come often to a junior clerk. It was a chance to vindicate his judgment concerning Strike. But primarily (and the admission was with some self-doubt) he was concerned for Dove Demarest.

He had loved her once. He must still love her, to have traipsed clear across the country after her, and she loving another man. Still he couldn't forget.

He kicked a rock in the road, then walked north toward the sign of the Centennial Hotel.

Cleland Strike, at the bottom of the stageplank, said with some impatience: "Ah, LaCroix, here you are at last. My carriage is coming. I've got a cabin back of my house where you can stay."

LaCroix shook his head. He said in his deep, resonant voice: "My thanks. But my people await me at the camp beyond the town. Here are two of them to take me there."

Two men in Metis costume came hurrying down the levee. Strike stared at them, not offering a greeting. He said to LaCroix: "Better change your mind. I'd feel honored to have as a guest the John Brown of the half-breeds."

LaCroix drew himself up as if he had been slapped. "M'sieu Strike, my people are not curs or mongrels. We are men—we are the Bois Brules—the Metis."

"Don't get owt, LaCroix," Strike said, an edge of warning in his voice. "Our interests are tied together too closely for anything like that. It was trying to pay a compliment. Make our meeting tomorrow, then. Two o'clock at my house."

"I may be there. If things go well—I am ready for talk," LaCroix said shortly. "I shall send a messenger. Au'voir, m'sieu, madame."

He touched his hat and flanked him. Strike stared after him, his face dark with anger. He said: "That half-breed better not get uppity with me, I'll have his hide before..."

Dove plucked his sleeve. He saw her patent disapproval.

"Beg your pardon, my dear," he said, patting her gloved hand. "I was carried away—forgive me. Ah, there's our carriage. Come, I'll give you your first glimpse of the Strike mansion."

He offered his arm, smiling again. Going up the bank, Dove had to take two steps to his one.

The driver of the carriage saluted slightly with his whiplock, grinning down on them. Strike put his arms around Dove's slim waist and effortlessly swept her into the carriage. Laughing, he sprang after her.

"That moonstruck cousin of yours is here," Strike said after they were settled.

"In Fort Benton?" Dove asked in surprise. "Tam here? What does he want? Cleo, promise to treat him kindly."

"Of course—unless he crosses me. Which he could, seeing he claims to be here on bank business. He'd better not forget that lesson I gave him last winter."

"No, Cleo! You were brutal that night. Tammie is a dear boy, and I'm more or less led him on."

"You think I didn't know? Barrie is a grown man. Dove, I took the only way to teach him that when Cleland Strike puts his brand on something, other men keep their hands off. Barrie is not the first to learn that, nor will he be the last."

Respect, almost fear, was in Dove's glance. "I had no intention of criticizing my husband," she said.

"Good. So if Barrie wants to keep a whole skin, tell him to stay away." He tightened his arm around her waist, almost crushing her ribs. "Here we are—the family estate."

The residences along the street had been for the most part one-story cabins, the yards narrow behind whitewashed picket fences. Strike's home was of two stories, painted white, with green shutters. It had a faintly Colonial air under the gingerbread and scrollwork of its ornamentation. There were trees and shrubbery in the yard. The carriage stopped in the gravel driveway.

"Where are all the family retainers?" Dove asked.

"Strike reached up his arms and swung her to the ground, said as they went up the steps. "Lisbon Frank, here, driver and handyman; Kilgore, the broken-down old hostler; a couple of bootleggers, Con Aleff and Dirty Nose Smith, who help out occasionally; Bryce Flinn, out at the ranch; and the 'breed housekeeper, eh, Sophie Valier. She's no jewel, but help is hard to muster out here. A word of warning, Dove. Don't cross Sophie. She's independent as a hog on ice."

He lifted Dove and carried her across the doorstep. Laughing, they went into the parlor. Dove saw that the house was poorly kept, a film of dust on the heavy furniture, lint and fuzz under the chairs. She felt a small shiver of disgust, but said nothing.

Cleo Strike, she had learned, disliked criticism of anything that was his. It aroused his smoldering temper, and Dove had found it ex-

"Call 'em that if you want," he pedant not to waken that temper if it could be helped. The sudden flaring of it frightened her.

"The house is cool and pleasant," she equivocated, working the fingers of her gloves free.

"It's dirty as a pigpen," Strike said, scowling. "Sophie! You lazy Metisse! Come in here."

A solidly built, handsome woman with jet hair and coppery skin appeared at the door of the parlor, soundless on moccasined feet.

"What you want, Strike?" she asked sullenly.

"A little respect, and this place clean," he said. "Sophie this is my new wife, Dove. You do what she tells you. I want this place mucked out, y'hear? You got my note. Is the big bedroom ready?"

"Bedroom all ready," Sophie Valier said, her eyes as black and expressionless as polished coal. Soundlessly as she had come, she faded into the hall toward the rear of the house.

"Will you take my bag upstairs?" Dove asked, turning to Strike.

"In a minute. Glad to be here, Dove."

"A little frightened," the girl confessed. "I'm so ignorant about so many things. Cleo, I don't even know how you make your living, though I know it's in some kind of finance."

He laughed. "Finance it is. If you're worried, my dear, I assure you that we are not on the verge of starvation."

"Of course not," she said with dignity. "But I wondered—Cleo, why is this man LaCroix so important? You talked to him all the way from that landing where he came aboard—Carroll, was it?—to Fort Benton, and you have more meetings to come."

"He looks her slender wrist between thumb and forefinger. He bore down with his amazing strength. Tears sprang into her eyes.

"Listen, darling—this is a business matter. A very secret and touchy one, as you might gather. Why you don't know won't hurt you. Moreover, remember this: from now on—the business of Cleland Strike is his business, and his only. That lovely rosybud mouth of yours is to be kept closed, you hear?"

Her own temper flared. "From your wife, Cleland Strike. I'm the moment we were wed, your business became my business. So I want to know what is so secret."

"Our interests are tied together too closely for anything like that. It was trying to pay a compliment. Make our meeting tomorrow, then. Two o'clock at my house."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a loss in moderate trading early this afternoon as the Berlin crisis bred caution among traders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .80 at 253.60 with industrials down 2.00, rails down .20 and utilities off .10.

Loss of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered gains in the same range.

The worsening situation in Berlin came after a three-week advance by the popular market averages and brought a slight decrease in trading.

Motors, coppers, oils, chemicals, rubbers, airlines, drugs, aircrafts and electrical equipments were mostly higher as orders for September delivery were reported increasing.

Farm implements and mail order-retails were mixed. Electronics were mostly lower, Texas Instruments continuing last week's decline with a 4-point loss.

An exception was Zenith which rose 1 1/2 to 170 on a delayed opening block of 13,400 shares.

The company proposed a 3-for-1 stock split after the New York market close Friday.

Chrysler and Ford, off more than a point each, were the big losers among the auto stocks.

Although U. S. Steel was off of close to a point, other major steel producers advanced fractionally.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.23 at 720.38.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in moderate active trading.

Corporate bonds were irregularly higher, U. S. government bonds were unchanged.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — Hog markets mostly steady. Tops of 18.25-19.50 at Wilson; 18.25-19.25 at Nahantia; 18-19 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Mount Olive and New Grove; 18.25-18.75 at Pembroke and Rocky Mount; 18-18.50 at Spruce Pine; 19 at Smithfield, Dunn, Clinton, Fayetteville and Elizabethtown; 18.75 at Greensboro; 18.50 at Tarboro, Enfield, Scotland Neck, Rich Square, Kessler, Goldsboro, Castle Hayne, Siler City and Murfreesboro; 18.25 at Albion; 18 at Lillington.

Wilson cash cattle prices steady; steers and heifers, choice 21.50-24.50, good 20-22, standards 17-19; beef cows, heavy cullers 13-14; light bulls 13-15, heavy bulls 16-18.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina poultry markets: frvrs and broilers steady, farm price 12 1/2 to 13 1/2, mostly 13.

Children Only Crash Survivors

SALIDA, Colo. (AP) — Tears glistened in Kevin McKnight's eyes, but the boy managed a smile.

He even cried a little when searchers found him, strapped in the wreckage of an airplane near the top of a mountain. His right leg and right shoulder were broken.

"But he was plucky as a bantam rooster," Sheriff Harold Thonoff said. "Boy, he has guts."

Kevin, 6, of Tulsa, Okla., was the only sign of life in the small twin-engine plane which had carried three persons, including his father and oldest brother, to their deaths.

Heading for a vacation at a dude ranch in southwestern Colorado, they flew into heavy clouds before crashing at an altitude of 10,900 feet.

For 27 hours — until searchers found him late Sunday — Kevin stayed awake, alone and in pain.

His father, Tulsa patent attorney Charles M. McKnight, 56, was dead at the controls. Mary Alice Wallace, 38, a family friend, was dead beside him.

The body of Michael McKnight, 12, was held firmly in a seat next to Kevin. On the other side Guy, 9, another brother, was unconscious with jaw and skull fractures.

The searchers were directed to the scene by a spotting airplane. It took nearly two hours to move Kevin and Guy and the dead to a hospital in Salida 14 miles away.

Almost intact, the plane's cabin roof sheltered Kevin from the rain, cold night.

"He was hungry," Sheriff Thonoff said. "He asked for pork and beans with lots of black pepper."

Infrequent Type Of Injury Story

Accidents will happen, especially on the highway, but officers of the Greenville Fire Department's Rescue Unit reported a not-so-frequent one.

They said that yesterday they were called to a spot about four miles west of Greenville on the Farmville highway. A boy, Joe Tyson Jr., 12, was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital where he was treated for a broken lower right arm.

He had fallen off a mule, the firemen said.

Last Rites Tuesday For L. Earl Garris

Mr. L. Earl Garris, 48, died at 12:48 Sunday morning at Pitt Memorial Hospital after a week of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel and burial will be in Pinewood Memorial Park. His pastor, the Rev. Larue Davis, will conduct the service, assisted by Rev. J. C. Lynn, Free Will Baptist minister of Elm City, the Rev. Frank Davenport, Free Will Baptist minister of Goldsboro, and the Rev. D. W. Alexander, Free Will Baptist minister of Bethel.

Mr. Garris was born and reared in the Littlefield community near Ayden and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Garris of Littlefield. He had made his home in the Red Banks community near Greenville since 1939. He was a farmer and had been associated with Keele's Warehouse in Greenville for over 20 years. He was a former member of the Winterville School Board, a member of the ASC committee, and was a member and a deacon of the Maranatha Free Will Baptist Church. He was a member of the Eastern Pines Men's Club.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mary Jane McLawhorn to whom he was married in 1937; two sons, Alfred Earl Garris of the home place, and Jimmy Garris of the home; two daughters, Patricia and Alice Garris, both of the home; two grandchildren; his parents; three brothers, Corey Garris of Ayden, Leon Garris of Greenville, and Royce Garris of Los Angeles, California; and three sisters, Mrs. Durwood Lawrence of Winterville, Mrs. Paul Whitley of Grifton, and Mrs. Lester Garris of near Ayden.

100th Birthday Party For Her

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mary Pickford and husband, Charles (Buddy) Rogers, held a 100th birthday party Sunday for a woman whose only knowledge of English is the former actress' name.

Clementine van Quaechem knew the words "Mary Pickford" when she arrived here in 1948 from Belgium. She and a daughter live on Miss Pickford's Pickfair estate, where her son-in-law worked until his death in 1956.

To this day, she still knows just the two words of English.

Brother Of Mrs. S. R. Cobb Dies

WINDSOR—Lewis Howard Mizelle, 48, died here Saturday. Mizelle was the brother of Mrs. S. R. Cobb of Greenville.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Janie Lawrence Mizelle; three sons, Ernest, Howard and Tommy Philbrick, all of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Mizelle; and three sisters, Mrs. John White of Norfolk, Mrs. Myrtle Langdale of Edenton, and Mrs. Cobb of Greenville; three brothers, Jesse of Checkatauck, Va., Carl of Lehigh, Pa., and Cecil of Windsor.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 3 p.m. at the Green's Cross Baptist Church of which he was a member. Rev. Harvey Coppage, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Edgewood Cemetery in Windsor.

Wants Action Over N.Y. School Scandal

ALBANY N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has called a special session of the legislature for next Monday to take emergency action that could temporarily place New York City's scandal-ridden school system in the state's hands.

Cabin Cruiser Explodes, Burns; Child Is Victim

NEW YORK (AP) — An explosion and fire engulfed a 45-foot cabin cruiser in a mushroom of flames Tuesday at a dock Sunday, killing a child and injuring 11 other persons, two critically.

Killed aboard the $35,000 Jolly Roger was Debbie Fischer, 4. Her parents, Robert and Maxine Fischer, were alone on deck when the explosion occurred and leaped to the dock, escaping injury.

Some of the victims were blown into the water; others leaped in, a witness said, adding: "The fire almost completely covered the boat."

Critically injured were George Rabinow, 46, and Linda Garelick, 11, both of Brooklyn.

Rabinow, an officer of the Arrow Folding Box Co., was host at the boating party of friends and relatives. The boat was owned by his company.

Cause of the explosion was not immediately determined.

Seven Hurt ...

Officers explained that the vehicle had turned off South Pitt St. and was crossing the railroad on Wyatt St. when the bottom of the auto struck the tracks after running into a hole at the crossing. The force of the collision threw Cherry into the windshield, they noted.

Billy R. Moore, 21, of 833 Fleming St., was charged with careless and reckless driving yesterday following an investigation of a collision at Fifth and Tyson Sts. at 3:38 p.m.

Officers said the Moore car collided with a vehicle driven by George Otis King, 57, of Route 1, Nashville.

Police reported the King vehicle was stopped for a traffic light on Fifth St. and was hit by the Moore vehicle which was making a turn onto Fifth Street from Tyson St. Damage to the Moore car was set at $200 while damage to the King auto was placed at $175.

No injuries were reported.

Funeral Tuesday For Chris G. Kares

Mr. Chris G. Kares, 61, died at his home, 501 East Third Street, Sunday morning at nine o'clock after suffering a heart attack. He had been in failing health for the past three years.

Funeral services will be conducted at St. Paul's Episcopal Church Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 by the Rev. George Stefanis, minister of the Greek Orthodox Church in Raleigh. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. The body will remain at the home from Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock until the funeral hour.

Mr. Kares was born in Arachova, Greece, and came to the United States in 1923 and made his home in Wilmington. He became a naturalized citizen and in 1937 was married to the former Helen Karatoulas of Wilmington. In 1938 he came to Greenville and was engaged in the restaurant business until 1959 when he retired due to failing health. He was a member of the Greek Orthodox Church.

Surviving are his wife, three daughters, Artemis, Joanne and Chrysanthe, Kares, all of the home; a son, George Kares of the home; and five sisters, all of Arachova, Greece.

SPECIAL BOOSTER BARGAIN HOUR . . . FRIDAY From 1-11:30 P.M. 25¢ Starts FRIDAY

Youth Arrested In Assault Case

Two Ayden youths have been arrested in connection with the assault of a rural storekeeper as he was closing his business Friday night.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson identified the two as Jimmy Braxton, 18 and Harvey Lee Stone, Jr., 21.

They are charged with secret assault. Both were given preliminary hearings before Magistrate Luther Moore this morning. He set bond for Braxton at $1,500 and for Stone at $1,000. Both remained in Pitt County Jail late this morning.

The arrests resulted from an investigation conducted by the Sheriff's Department and the Ayden Police Department.

Sheriff Tyson said the two have admitted the assault with robbery as the motive. They are accused of striking Thad McLawhorn on the head with a brick. McLawhorn was closing his store located near Hancock Church east of Ayden Friday night when he was struck. The storekeeper pulled a pistol from his pocket and fired at the assailant.

McLawhorn was treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital where five stitches were required to close the wound. He had a small amount of money on him at the time, the sheriff reported, but nothing was taken.

Braxton is presently on probation. In addition both he and Stone are charged with larceny of a bicycle in Ayden. They are scheduled for trial on this charge this afternoon before Judge Larry Davis.

Attribute Death To Attempted Suicide July 10

Clarence Walter Holland, 47, of 911 Washington St., who was found in a locked car on a woods path just off the Stantonsburg Road about 7:30 a.m. July 10, died in a Raleigh hospital August 4, according to Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey.

The coroner, who ruled the death was the result of his attempted suicide, listed the cause of death as the "result of carbon monoxide poisoning."

Coroner Harvey said Holland was found in his car by members of the Sheriff's Department about 7:30 a.m. July 10. He noted that investigators said the doors of the vehicle were locked, and rubber hoses led into the car from its exhaust pipe.

Holland remained at Pitt Memorial Hospital until July 21 when he was transferred to Raleigh, the coroner noted.

Alarm Sounded Automatically

Greenville firemen were called to a storage house at 529 Dickinson Ave. Sunday night about 11:50 p.m., when an automatic sprinkler system fire alarm sounded.

Fire officers, who said the storage building belonged to White Stores, explained that the loud gong went off automatically when air pressure in the sprinkler system dropped.

LAUNCH CELEBRATION LIBREVILLE Gabon (AP)

The former French African colony of Gabon launched a four-day celebration today of the first anniversary of its independence.

MEMPHIS (AP)

Twenty-three weapons carriers that cost the Army $2.25 million in World War II were sold at auction here recently for about $900 each.

The cannon-carrying vehicles went as scrap to four dealers who planned to cut them up for smelting, saving the engines and transmissions.

Mock Atomic Blasts Are Exchanged In War Games

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The "enemy" 101st Airborne Division and the friendly force 82nd Airborne Division set off mock atomic blasts today in Exercise Swift Strike war games.

The enemy was defending positions it gained last week as the final week of the two-week maneuvers opened.

Three battlegroups from each side were in contact on the road between Chesterfield and Patrick, S. C. The Air Force and Army games designed to test techniques for limited, brush fire wars extended over an eight-county area in North Carolina and South Carolina. Home base is Ft. Bragg, home of the 82nd Airborne Division and the Strategic Army Corps (STRAC).

The atomic blasts were from Army Honest John rockets fired from artillery pieces, and rockets fired from AF 105 Thunderbird planes.

The 101st Division called on engineers to install two bridges across the Pee Dee River five miles north of Kershaw, S. C. The bridges, a possible escape route for the 101st from Ft. Campbell, Ky., were being put in place. One of 140-foot steel sections on pontoons, will be capable of supporting 60 tons. The other was a foot bridge.

The 101st also was using big rafts, capable of supporting tanks.

The 82nd Airborne Division, acting as the friendly force, spent Sunday getting ready to close in on 101st strongholds near Cheraw, S. C. The war games were called to a halt to allow the 82nd to prepare for the attack.

The 82nd, based here, will move in eastwardly from the vicinity of Kershaw, S. C., and a provisional 17th Division will move in westwardly from here.

The 101st, from Ft. Campbell, Ky., will attempt to keep the two from meeting.

Members of the 82nd and 101st were airdropped and airlanded into their positions in earlier phases of the mass maneuvers.

With this part of the operation complete, the Tactical Air Command, the Air Force's element in Swift Strike, began Sunday the big job of moving parachutes and supplies used in the paradrops back to Ft. Campbell. Two hundred tons of this equipment was returned Sunday.

The supplies and parachutes will be repaired and repacked at Ft. Campbell for use again on short notice.

The Army now is using its own planes to keep the battleline troops in supplies.

Last Rites Today For Ronald Hedgepeth

Ronald Hedgepeth, 17-year-old son of Robert Hedgepeth, was drowned in a farm pond at his home near Vanceboro at 5:15 Saturday afternoon. He had been swimming with two companions when the accident occurred.

Funeral services were conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Monday afternoon at 3:30 by the Rev. C. J. Harris. Free Will Baptist minister of Greenville. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Surviving are his father; three sisters, Mrs. Frank Angel of Washington, Mrs. James Osborne and Mrs. James Wainwright of Newport News, Va.; a brother, Robert Early Hedgepeth of the home; and his grandfather, Jesse Campbell of Grimesland.

Ronald, a native of Pitt County, had lived in Craven County near Vanceboro for the past five years.
