U.S. Diplomats Fail Find Basis To Open Parleys

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. diplomats have failed so far to open any basis whatever for negotiations with the Soviet Union on a peaceful settlement of the Berlin crisis.

Washington officials, reporting this today, said Soviet Premier Khrushchev's complete rejection today of the Western proposal for a ban on nuclear explosions in the atmosphere dealt another blow to Western hopes for East-West talks toward reducing the risk of war.

Although Khrushchev called for big power talks on major world problems—disarmament and Berlin—informs said that was clearly propaganda sugar-coating for his rejection of the test limitation plan. The fact is, they said, that Khrushchev seems now to be committed to a very tough and truculent course aimed at intimidating the Western nations into accepting his Berlin demands.

In Hyannis Port, Mass., where President Kennedy is spending the weekend, there was no immediate comment on Khrushchev's reply. White House press secretary Pierre Salinger scheduled a news conference for 1:30 p.m. EST when he was expected to report Kennedy's reaction.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday night he was sure there would be negotiations at some point but they must be "serious and constructive." For the first time in this crisis he seemed to be toughening the U.S. position, ruling out negotiations until it is known in advance that they could be serious.

Rusk met at the State Department today with Dirk U. Sikker, secretary-general of NATO. They were joined by the ambassadors of Britain, France and West Germany and by Asst. Secretary of State Poy D. Kohler.

The ambassadors and Kohler met separately to lay plans here next week for a conference of Western foreign ministers on possible Berlin negotiations and on emergency actions that may be taken if the Reds tighten the squeeze on Berlin.

In his speech to the Association of the U.S. Army Friday night, Rusk said there is nothing in the "fine print" of Khrushchev's recent statements on Berlin to "show the path to agreement."

Rusk warned the Soviet government against risking disaster by single-handed action against Allied interests in West Berlin. He also warned the Kremlin not to mistake the West's desire for peace as a willingness to yield to the Soviets' Berlin demand.

At the moment, Rusk said, the channels of communication available between Moscow and Western capitals "are not being neglected."

It is understood that U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson had a talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow earlier this week.

McNamara Orders 40,000 Regulars To Germany; Dependents' Travel Barred

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced today that about 40,000 additional regular Army troops would be sent to Europe "in the immediate future."

Most of them will go to Germany to strengthen combat and supporting forces in view of Soviet Russia's threat to West Berlin.

The Pentagon also announced that transportation of dependents to Europe would be suspended, beginning Oct. 9.

The suspension covers all means of travel and applies to travel to the following countries: Belgium, Denmark, France, West Germany, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Turkey and the United Kingdom. The suspension of travel applies to dependents of both combat troops and civilian employees of the Defense Department. It does not apply to West Berlin.

The Pentagon said West Berlin was a "special case" but did not explain this.

The 40,000 men being sent abroad are all regular Army troops. Officials would not name the units or tell exactly where they are coming from.

An announcement said the reinforcements would bring the 7th

Army, stationed in Germany, and other U. S. units committed to North Atlantic Treaty Organization to full combat strength. They will also provide additional combat, combat-support and logistical units for U.S. Army forces in Europe.

The 40,000 includes 3,000 men, the Army had previously announced were going to Germany.

Gen. George H. Decker said Friday that each of the three infantry divisions in the critical German area was being given 1,000 additional men.

Present strength of U.S. forces in Germany includes five divisions —three infantry and two armored. There are about 250,000 troops in Germany.

Explaining the cut-off of travel for dependents, officials said it was due to "logistic requirements" for the movement of the troops, which apparently means that transportation is overburdened.

The flow of dependents of military personnel and civilian workers of the Defense Department has been running at about 7,000 to 8,000 a month.

Both the troop movements and the ban on dependents' travel were announced by the Pentagon with the approval of President Kennedy.

The secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force were ordered to:

1. Stop completely on Oct. 9 government-sponsored travel of dependents to Europe.

2. Discontinue immediately all "port call" for the transportation of dependents to Europe. A port call is notice for a dependent to show up at a certain port for transportation.

3. Cancel authority for "concurrent travel" of dependents in all cases where the military man or civilian employe has not departed from his last duty station. This means that if the man is still on duty in the United States his dependents cannot go to Europe with him.

4. Explain the situation to holders of port calls or concurrent travel orders and encourage dependents to forego travel in those cases where the travel is scheduled prior to Oct. 9.

5. Advise all concerned about the right of dependents forbidden to go to Europe, to be moved to some other location along with their household goods. For example, in the case of a soldier going to Europe his wife and children might want to go to live with in-laws.

Exceptions to the ban on travel may be made by high authorities where "the presence of dependents is in the national interest."

Officials said this might apply to the families of military attaches at U. S. embassies abroad or members of military assistance groups working with foreign governments.

Queried further about the reasons for the suspension of dependents' travel, officials spoke not only of the strain that the troop movement will put on transportation, but also the difficulty of finding homes, schools, medical facilities, etc., for dependents if they were allowed to go.

Although officials would not say why West Berlin was exempted from the ban on dependents' travel, it was apparent that the Kennedy administration wanted to preserve West Berlin as a symbol of freedom, including freedom of movement.

The idea, it was believed, was to strike a contrast with the Communists, who have sealed off travel from East Germany into West Berlin.

Sources said the reinforcements would start moving as soon as possible. The first wave may not be ready to cross the Atlantic until Oct. 1.

Some time ago, Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, asked the Pentagon for 38,000 support-type troops to round out the Europe-based 7th Army.

Subsequently, on Aug. 11, the Army announced 3,000 troops would go to Europe. It was said at the time additional men would be trained to follow.

Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff, disclosed Friday that 1,000 new men were being assigned to each of the three infantry divisions in Germany—the 3rd, 8th and 24th.

Decker told the Association of the United States Army that the added men would permit the 7th Army to man and maintain an additional number of armored personnel carriers.

The Army chief said the 3,000 men and the lightweight, amphibious, air-transportable troop carriers earmarked for Germany were already on their way. He did not say how many carriers were involved.

Their Eighteen Children Will Be Watching Wedding Of Widow And Widower

CARMEL, Calif. (AP)—Their 18 children will be watching from two reserved pews as a 43-year-old Navy warrant officer weds the 31-year-old widow of a Navy flier late today in historic old Carmel Mission.

After the ceremony, the 18 will troop back to a battleship-gray house where carpenters are busy adding three more bedrooms to the present five, increasing the bathrooms from three to five and the living space from 2,700 to 5,400 square feet.

Relatives will stay with the children at the $22,000 home while Chief Warrant Officer Francis Louis Beardsley, father of 10, and the former Helen North, mother of eight, go on a honeymoon.

"The children already have had trial runs together and they hit it off great; no blowups," said Beardsley, whose wife died last year after a sudden and brief illness.

Mrs. North, of San Leandro, across the bay from San Francisco, was widowed by the crash of a jet bomber.

The children, ranging from Beardsley's 18-month-old Joan to his 17-year-old Michael, have been together in the house ahead of the wedding, so the older ones could attend the Carmel Mission school. The fall session started Tuesday.

"We have one in every grade except the first and fourth," Beardsley said.

Eleven of the 18 are girls. Beardsley has seven girls and three boys. Mrs. North has four girls and four boys.

Biggest problem? Laundry. Finances do not pose too much of a worry, Beardsley, who attends the Navy Postgraduate School at Monterey, draws $730 monthly in pay, subsistence and quarters. Mrs. North gets $470 a month in service indemnity and Social Security.

As for transportation, Beardsley already has a station wagon and two passenger cars but "we're going to have to add another station wagon."

When Mrs. North heard through a friend about the tragedy in Beardsley's life, she sent him a copy of a prayer. Beardsley in turn sent her a copy of a prayer. Then they met and fell in love. "She looks," beamed Beardsley, "enough like my first wife to be her sister."

Missing Papers Have Turned Up

Copies of a cooperative agreement between the Public Housing Administration and the City of Greenville have been found and mailed to the city councilman, Mayor Charles M. King said this morning.

The mayor said he had also instructed City Manager Louis C. Chepers to send a copy to City Attorney R. B. Lee. Lee was asked to notify the mayor when he has studied the document. Mayor King said he would then call a special council session to consider the matter.

Councilmen failed to act on the document at Thursday night's meeting because they had not seen copies of it beforehand and they had no recommendation for City Attorney Lee.

However, Mayor King suggested that a special session be called to consider the agreement after Lee makes a recommendation.

He reported the copies were found in a folder in City Hall.

Typhoon's Winds Roar 175 MPH

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Nancy, powering winds of 175 miles an hour, was pinpointed 645 miles east southeast of Guam in the West Pacific today by the Joint U.S. Typhoon Warning Center on Guam and roaring west northwest.

Carla Moves On Low-Lying Coast

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurricane Carla swung northward in the Gulf of Mexico today and roared towards the low-lying coastal areas of west Louisiana and Texas.

Freed from the smothering embrace of a high pressure cell, Carla's winds increased to 135 miles per hour and the New Orleans Weather Bureau advised immediate evacuation of coastal areas.

The Weather Bureau said Carla should move inland on the upper Texas coast or extreme western Louisiana sometime Sunday.

Hurricane warnings were ordered hoisted from Freeport, Tex., to Grand Isle, La. for the dangerous storm, lumbering along at about 9 m.p.h. The Weather Bureau's 10 a.m. advisory described Carla as large and dangerous.

Winds and tides will gradually increase along the coastal areas later today, reaching gale force by tonight. Tides reaching 10 to 15 feet above normal 100 miles to the east of where the center crosses the coast were forecast.

Mighty 'Voice' Of Local VOA Installation Shown

Miss North Carolina Wins Pagent Swin Suit Honors

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Carolyn Lasater of Arkansas, who came along with an original pantomime to take the talent prize over Maria Thursday night in the swim suit competition was the beautiful Miss North Carolina, who was a member of a Radio City Rockettes until May, packed her 35-24-35 figure into a black bathing suit and broke the monopoly thus far held by blondes in the preliminary contests. To observers she seemed a good bet to make tonight's 10 finalists.

Maria and the other swim suit contestants were lined up on the huge stage when her name was called as the night's winner. The slender brunette hesitated momentarily.

"I just wanted to make sure it was me," she said. "I didn't want to go out there and embarrass myself."

One of the girls Maria beat out could have a ticket to go anywhere in the world, where would she go, and why?

Maria said she told them, "I'd go to Switzerland. I was brought up in the North Carolina mountains and love them."

If Maria fails to win the Miss America title, she and four other Southern entrants will make a tour of the east coast starting probably Monday night.

With her will be Janet McGee, Miss South Carolina; Glenda Bruson, Miss Georgia; Dolores Hodgens, Miss Alabama; and Sherry Brimes, Miss Florida.

VALVE FAILURE

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A faulty fuel valve apparently caused an Atlas missile to fall into the Atlantic Ocean about 200 miles offshore Friday night shortly after it lifted off on the start of an ended 5,000-mile test flight.

He said, "Let us seek seriously, in good faith, a solution to the question of concluding a German peace treaty so as to arrest in its tracks the sliding of states into the inferno of a rocket-nuclear war. Then everything will be set in place again; there will not only be no nuclear tests but even the threat of a nuclear war."

They were trying to have the question considered "in isolation," he complained in identical notes delivered to the U.S. and British embassies.

Khrushchev went on: "Every line of their statement revealed a desire to ensure cost what it may, for the Western powers and their allies in aggressive military blocs, unilateral military advantages to the detriment of the security interests of the Soviet Union and the other socialist states."

At the same time he issued a counterappeal to the United States and Britain for a big power study of major world problems to stave off the threat of nuclear war over Berlin.

Kennedy and Macmillan had appealed to Khrushchev for an all-time, unpoliced ban on nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

Khrushchev urged the Western leaders "to embark together on the solution of the major problem of our times—universal and total disarmament."

Kremlin Rejects U.S.-British Plea On Nuclear Tests

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev formally rejected today the U.S.-British appeal for a "question of concluding a German peace treaty so as to arrest in its tracks the sliding of states into the inferno of a rocket-nuclear war. Then everything will be set in place again; there will not only be no nuclear tests but even the threat of a nuclear war."

"It goes without saying that the Soviet government cannot and will not agree to such a deal," Khrushchev said of the Western proposal for the embargo on further atmospheric tests.

In a broadcast statement concerning the move by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Khrushchev said they were trying to divorce the question of weapon testing from the over-all problem of disarmament.

They were trying to have the question considered "in isolation," he complained in identical notes delivered to the U.S. and British embassies.

Khrushchev went on: "Every line of their statement revealed a desire to ensure cost what it may, for the Western powers and their allies in aggressive military blocs, unilateral military advantages to the detriment of the security interests of the Soviet Union and the other socialist states."

Assassins Fail DeGaulle Plot

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle escaped a carefully organized attempt on his life Friday night. His car plunged safely through a wall of flame set off by the fuse of a plastic bomb while he was enroute to his country home east of Paris.

French Interior Minister Roger Frey declared today the attempt against the 70-year-old soldier-president was organized by a right wing European group opposed to De Gaulle's policy in Algeria. Frey said one man was put under arrest and confessed, and that two generals were also being held.

De Gaulle shrugged off the incident with the remark, "This was just a little joke in bad taste."

But investigators said it was only because of exceptionally fortunate circumstances that De Gaulle had escaped injury when his presidential limousine sped through a wall of flame, created by an inflammable mixture apparently intended to serve as a fuse for a plastic bomb. The bomb, weighing eight pounds, failed to go off.

Refresher Course Given Eleven For Home Nursing Instructions

Eleven women representing Pitt County communities have just completed a refresher course in the care of the sick and injured, taught by an American Red Cross representative, and are ready to instruct classes in connection with Civil Defense and Red Cross.

Teaching of this course on a county-wide basis has been high on the priority list of Civil Defense projects. The course is for men as well as women and is open to the public. The aim of Red Cross and Civil Defense, who jointly sponsor the course, is to have one person in every family prepared to take care of the sick and injured.

The course prepares a person to take care of himself, his family and neighbors in time of sickness and to act as a nurse assistant in time of national disaster. J.H. Rose, Civil Defense director for Pitt, has urged the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross to place a greater emphasis in promoting Red Cross classes in care of the sick and injured.

A permanent classroom has been readied with necessary furniture and supplies on the second floor of the Greenville City Schools office at 431 W. Fifth St.

Those desiring to take the course should contact Mrs. Walter Taylor, executive secretary of the Pitt chapter, Red Cross, at PL 2-4222. Training is conducted in a seven-lesson course of 14 hours. Instructors will teach community groups on a volunteer basis. It was pointed out that this course does not train people to go out for hire, but helps make them more valuable members of the community.

Instructors who completed the refresher course, taught by Miss Betty Eggleston from the National Red Cross nursing staff, are as follows:

Mrs. Doris Skinner, Mrs. Phyllis Martin and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hill, all of Pitt Memorial Hospital; Mrs. Adelaide S. Dunn, supervisor at Pitt County Health Department; Dr. Ann Huizinger; Mrs. Tom Gower, Griffon; Mrs. Willie Mae Hawkins, Grimesland; Mrs. Glynn Keeter, Winterville; Mrs. Annie A. Hollowell, Belvoir; Mrs. Ethel H. Bell, Fountain; Mrs. Brantley Speight, Winterville.

Mrs. Phyllis Martin is chairman of home nursing for the Pitt County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Despite General Beliefs, N.C. Electorate Largely White

WASHINGTON (AP)—The N. C. Civil Rights Advisory Committee believes that North Carolinians "are in agreement that no citizen of our state should be denied the right to register, vote, and have that vote counted, on account of his race, religion, or national origin."

Nevertheless, "The registered electorate of North Carolina remains overwhelmingly and disproportionately white."

This was reported today in the federal Civil Rights Commission's publication of the activities of its state advisory bodies. The North Carolina report included studies of voting, education and employment.

The voting study "suggest that the dice of state politics are loaded in favor of the whites in the black belt," the committee said, because some counties "have disproportionately low nonwhite registration and disproportionately low voter turnout... (and) also have disproportionately high representation in the General Assembly."

The North Carolina section took up 52 pages of the national body's report and did not include the results of studies of housing and the administration of justice. Dropped too, were the results of a study of illiteracy in the state.

In its study of education, the N.C. committee concludes, "It is obvious that North Carolina still thinks of the education of its 1,176,700 pupils as a responsibility to be discharged biracially under a continuing pattern of segregation."

And in the field of employment, it found that "very few agencies employed Negroes in white-collar jobs."

VOTING

Surveying the voting situation in 1960, the committee noted that 67 of the state's 100 counties had less than 50 per cent of the potential non-white voters registered while 97 counties had better than 50 per cent of the potential white voters on the books.

"While this is the classic pattern found in most Southern States, the report said, "There is some indication that it is in the process of gradual change in North Carolina." It pointed to 28 counties which showed a "substantial increase" in Negro-voter registration between studies in 1958 and 1960.

The report was based on replies from questionnaires sent to election boards in each of the 100 counties and on committee hearings conducted in New Bern, Greenville, Rocky Mount, Fayetteville, Raleigh, Durham, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Charlotte and Asheville. It said the committee had received complaints from 35 Negroes in Franklin, Bertie, Greene, Northampton and Halifax counties, alleging discrimination in registration because of race.

"In more than two years since this committee has been in existence, there have been no such complaints from any of the other 95 counties in the state," the report said.

"Over half of the counties reported more white registrants than there are white adults residing in their counties," the study said. In Beaufort County, for example, Chairman Edward N. Rodman said the elections board said, "There are about 8,000 names on our registration books that should not be there." He said a new registration is being considered.

EDUCATION

In reporting on education, the N.C. committee said there has been discrimination against non-white pupils in expenditure of public funds but "the gap has been narrowed in recent years."

Other conclusions from the education study:

—Although the state's pupil assignment act does not specify race as a factor, "without a single exception, the boards have made initial assignments of white pupils to previously white schools and Negro children to previously Negro schools." Individuals, however, may appeal.

—In 1959, 77 Negroes attended predominantly white schools, or less than .025 per cent of the total Negro students in public schools; in 1960, the figure increased to 86.

—The course of action in North Carolina is taken integration; that is, the admission of a minimum number of Negro children into white schools." (U.S. Supreme) Court has held, segregation and discrimination are synonymous, discrimination on account of race in public schools is general in North Carolina.

EMPLOYMENT

The employment report dealt with studies of Negro employment by state agencies, by federal contractors, and with operations of the N.C. Employment Security Commission.

"It is clear that there is a pattern of significant under-utilization of Negro manpower on the part of North Carolina firms holding federal government contracts."

The report said, "and that where Negroes are employed by these firms such employment is substantially in occupational categories along the lines of traditional employment for Negroes in Southern industry and business."

The study showed slightly under 5,000 Negroes among the 32,000 persons employed by state agencies and that most of them "did not advance beyond the blue-collar, semiskilled and skilled occupations."

All About Town With Anne Mattox

It was announced this week that Mrs. Bernard R. (Marge) Jackson has accepted the position of director of the Greenville Art Center. Actually, she is the first paid director the center has had.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore acted as volunteer director for years at the center. With the announcement of Mrs. Jackson's selection came another announcement that Barbara Batchelor, who had been hostess at the art center for about two years, resigned recently to resume her studies at East Carolina College.

Mrs. Jackson and her husband, Dr. Jackson, live in the Elmhurst section. She is a native of Michigan, where she headed a department at the State Hospital for 13 years. She is an amateur artist, with training in the arts and crafts, and has been active in activities at the art center. She is a member of the East Carolina Art Society, the North Carolina Art Society and the Elmhurst Garden Club, as well as serving as president of the E.C.C. Faculty Wives.

Many women readers will be interested to know the Craft Shop will begin on September 15 in the Greenville Art Center where pickles, preserves and non-perishable items will be sold daily from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. except on Monday. On Fridays a Curb Market will be held in the yard of the Art Center. Flowers, vegetables, eggs, cakes and numerous other items will be on sale.

Miss Alice Strawn, Supervisor of Student Teaching in Home Economics Education at East Carolina College, has been named to Who's Who of American Women in the Second edition of the book which was released last month.

Miss Strawn who is originally from Strawn, Texas came to Greenville in 1941 as supervising teacher in Home Economics at the old Greenville High School. In 1948 she joined the faculty of East Carolina College.

The Supervisor was Vice President of the National Education Association for the years 1958-60. She has served as special advisor in the North Carolina Curriculum study and will go this month to Raleigh to function on a committee to suggest guide lines for certification of Home Economics teachers in North Carolina.

A woman of abundant energy Miss Strawn is in the third year of taping a radio program for the college called "Home Economics and You". She has made speeches at assemblies, PTA groups, and banquets in Eastern North Carolina schools.

At present she teaches one course at East Carolina in methods and supervises student teachers in that department. She is a life member of Delta Kappa Gamma Society, honorary member of the future Homemakers of North Carolina. A graduate of Texas Woman's University, she holds three B.S. degrees in various phases of Home Economics and did her master and graduate work at Columbia University.

Miss Strawn is the daughter of Mrs. Willie Neal Strawn who resides with her at her home on Elm Street.

Rose High Events

By SHERBY EVERETT

"Freshmen, there are three hundred ten of you. See if you can out yell the seniors. Now seniors, you know you can out yell the freshmen. And, sophomores and juniors, I know you can beat both of them so everyone really yell," shouted Gigi Guice, head cheerleader, at the first pep rally of the year Friday.

After leading the student body in several cheers, Gigi introduced the varsity cheerleaders, football players, and Coaches Phillips and Bennett.

Gigi also stated, "We would like to thank the Greenville merchants and the parents who have given our athletic program such wonderful support this year. We really appreciate it."

As the students stood to sing "Dear Old Greenville", Bill White and Tom Arthur rang the green and white "Victory Bell" and pulled it from the gym.

The other varsity cheerleaders for this year include Brenda Bowden, Lina Christopher, Jayne Willis, Linda Davenport, Jeri Sue Clark, Ross Clark, Betsy Coughlan, Barbara Minges, Frances Harvey, Martha Hoot, Donna Whitley, and Diana Hodges.

Before assigning the freshmen to their homerooms, O. E. Dowd, principal, told how the school operated and what was expected of the freshmen. The freshmen received their handbooks upon reaching their homerooms.

In addition to Billy Neal, other officers are Jimmy Jenkins, vice president; Donna Whitley, secretary; Joe Waldrop, treasurer; and Nancy Harrington and Pat Worsley, roving representatives.

The PTA: Pro and Con PTA's Often Play Santa In Gifts To Aid Schools

This is the fourth of five reports on Parent-Teacher Associations by a newspaperwoman who interviewed more than 200 parents, teachers and principals.

By BETTY CARROLLTON
Women's News Service

Many people believe the PTA today has assumed an unnecessary role of playing Santa Claus to the schools.

"We're constantly called on to raise money to provide school equipment or conveniences," complained one mother. "Such things ought to be bought with public funds."

She insisted that without this drain on the organization's resources, the PTA could make more worthwhile contributions to community welfare in other areas. "School drop-outs are a major problem in many areas," she said. "Parents could work on solving this if they weren't so tied up raising money."

A mother argued that there is never enough tax money to go around, that if schools are to maintain the highest possible standards of education, teaching aids and modern equipment must be financed by such groups as the PTA. She added, however, that the PTA should provide such needs only until public funds can be allocated for them.

Numerous leaders pointed out that the most important reason for a PTA to engage in money-making activities is to provide funds to carry on organizational and educational programs of the group. But almost as many mothers argue that the biggest part of their PTA budget goes for other purposes.

"And there are always some items on the budget that I don't understand or approve of," declared one.

She quoted "orientation of new mothers, $175," as an example. "I was a new mother last year," she continued, "but I had no orientation, and neither did anyone else I know, that would require such a financial outlay."

A member of another chapter hit "social activities for students, $310," as a needless expenditure by that group. "Getting an education should be serious business," she said. "Why waste money making school a picnic?"

The size of the budget varies in different areas. But the average unit operates on between $2,500 and $3,200 a year.

One finance chairman with a typical budget, reported last year's expenditures on "purely PTA organizational services" include $175.90 for meeting expenses, $50.05 for scrapbook and supplies, $69 for the yearbook. Sending delegates to workshops and leadership conferences accounted for $132; gifts and donations, $58, and services of the school janitor on meeting nights, $50.

The chapter spent $198 on student social activities, donated $50 to the school band, contributed $150 toward maintenance and improvement of school grounds, $350 for recreation equipment and an additional $350 for recreation building expenses. Funds for the school library took the biggest portion, $785.50. The PTA contributed $350 for teaching aids and $110 for extracurricular supplies.

"We gave $75 to the school milk fund," the chairman said. "Most chapters include such a fund in the budget to provide milk and hot lunches for students."

Don't let this hot weather fool you, fall is just around the corner. The leaves will be turning in a few days. As Mother Nature changes things for us on the outside, what are you going to do on the inside of your home and office?

Believe it or not, but a few changes here and there could perk your family as much as new fall outfits.

First, a complete clean up. The carpet and furniture covers cleaned good will brighten things considerably. Take some corn meal and clean those spots on the wallpaper. If that lamp shade will not clean, replace it, and don't think it has to be the same old bell shape. The straight lines might improve the lamp. If the lamp would be better larger, change the harp that supports the shade to a longer one. Then get your shade deeper to take care of the added height. You might like to cover the old shade with wallpaper or material, or you can just paint it. The lamp base can also be painted.

When the nights get cool, build a fire in that new fireplace. Smoke the inside good—your friends will know you live there.

Clean out the closets and give the outgrown children's clothes and perhaps some of your own to someone who can use them. Call the Salvation Army to pick them up if you haven't anyone you want to pass them to. By doing this, you will have lots more storage space.

When the last rose of summer is gone, arrange the beautiful fall leaves; the colors are as pretty as flowers.

Now to get all these things done. Work, as Mother Nature does—a little each day, and when it's time to go inside you will be ready to enjoy your home.

Stop in the Home Furniture Store and see how they are getting ready for fall.—(Adv.)

Grifton In A Difficult Position

Grifton school district faces a difficult problem as it seeks to find a solution to its needs for additional school facilities to take care of its crowded conditions and the prospect of a continued growth in school enrollment.

The situation as it relates to the existing bonded indebtedness of the town of Grifton and the Grifton School district is where the difficulties arise. W. E. Easterling of the state Local Government Commission, whose duty it is to review proposed bond issues for local governments and to advise local governments on long-range financing, has raised the question of the advisability of the Grifton School district seeking to issue an additional $155,000 in school bonds.

Because of its growth situation in recent years, the town of Grifton has found it necessary to increase its bonded indebtedness to the point that the bonded debt of the town now exceeds 25 per cent of the tax valuation of property within the town limits. Since this property is likewise in the Grifton school district—making up a significant portion of the total property value of the district—it raises a question concerning the interest rate which might be applied to bonds which the school district might decide to issue in the near future. The Pitt County Board of Education, at the request of the Grifton School district, has forwarded the district request for the $155,000 bond issue to the Board of Commissioners. But that does not end the hurdles which the question must survive if the funds for school additions are to be acquired through a bond program. If the bond election is approved by the County Commissioners, it will be subject to a vote of the people of the school district. If it is approved by the voters of the district, there would, in all probability, arise the question of whether the interest rate on the bonds is prohibitive at the time they are offered for sale by the Local Government Commission.

In spite of these problems, however, the need for additional classroom space in the Grifton schools is not diminished. Unless funds are forthcoming from somewhere, the youngsters of that school district will be severely handicapped as they seek to continue their education.

It seems to us that while the matter of the proposed bond issue continues to follow the necessary preliminary steps, careful consideration should be given to other possible methods of financing the needs of this particular school district. Such possibilities, are more limited in a county such as Pitt, in which each school district is responsible for its own bonded indebtedness, than would be the case in counties which issue school bonds on a county-wide basis. Even so, the Pitt County Board of Education should realistically face the possibility that the proposed bond issue for the Grifton School district may be blocked at one of the hurdles it still faces.

The need will still exist for additional classroom facilities in the Grifton School District, and the children of that school district will suffer if they are not provided through some means.

Power Vested In The Governor

By LYNN NISBET
DISTINCTION — Two stories which have been in the news during the past week illustrate the confusion in minds of many people about distinction between the areas in which executive clemency, parole or probation is the controlling factor.

Judge Clawson Williams, one of the most capable and experienced judges on the superior court bench, bitterly castigated the Board of Paroles for commuting the sentence of three prisoners whom the judge had sent up for life some 15 years ago.

Gordon Maddrey, director of probation for the past three years, resigned, effective September 30. The news stories reported that Charles Cochran believed to be Governor Sanford's choice for replacement, was sitting outside the meeting room waiting for the call. It didn't come. The Probation Commission, charged with primary responsibility for naming the director subject to approval by the Governor, postponed action for several weeks.

All of the confusion could be eliminated if the public would just remember that the power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons is vested by the constitution exclusively in the Governor; that probation is a function of the judiciary and applies only before a person convicted of any criminal offense is committed to prison; that parole is a function of the prison department, applicable only after a convicted person has served at least part of the sentence imposed by the courts for violation of the law.

Simple as these distinctions appear, there is an amazing lot of misunderstanding about the relative responsibility of the agencies involved. PROBATION — Probation is completely a function of the judicial branch of state government. Authority for the appointment and outline of functions of the Probation Commission is found in Chapter 15 of the General Statutes, the chapter devoted to criminal procedure in the courts. The five-member commission, appointed by the Governor, usually has not less than three judges. Basic idea is that first offenders, especially youngsters, convicted of crimes less than felony may be, at discretion of the trial judge, placed under supervision of the Probation Commission, its director and other agents, instead of being locked up in prison. In event any person on probation violates the terms of his out-of-jail commitment, he can be haled to court and re-sentenced. Not until that happens does the prison department figure in the deal.

PAROLE — Parole is definitely a phase of the prison system. Authority for the parole board is found in Chapter 148 of the General Statutes, the chapter entitled "State Prison System." Prior to 1954 the Parole Commission was a statutory advisory board attached to the Governor's office. A constitutional amendment, submitted by the 1953 Legislature and ratified by the people in the general election of 1954, authorized establishment of a Board of Paroles, to be appointed by the Governor, and gave that board full authority over paroles—but not over reprieves, commutations or pardons, which remained the sole prerogative and responsibility of the Governor.

GOVERNOR — Because of his power of appointment the Governor naturally has considerable influence, but no real authority, over decisions of the Probation Commission, a statutory segment of the judicial branch—and the parole board, a constitutional segment of the executive branch.

Before discharging his responsibility with respect to reprieves, commutations or pardons, the Governor must have the benefit of investigation and research into the whole history of the applicants for clemency, from commission of the alleged crime through court procedures and confinement in prison. Because the Board of Paroles has facilities for such investigation, and must do a lot of it in routine discharge of its duties, it is the natural agency to which the Governor looks for information. Governor Sanford made it clear that his decisions to commute sentences of several persons convicted of participating in the Henderson textile strike conspiracy and of the persons convicted of murder—the case which disturbed Judge Williams—were based on data provided by the Board of Paroles. The distinction to be remembered is that the Board of Paroles did not commute the sentences, and the Governor did not and cannot grant paroles to any of the persons involved.

INFRINGEMENT — There have been and will continue to be protests about infringement of one branch of government on the others. At times the Legislature has sought to impose restrictions on the executive and judicial which the constitution prevented, and he executive and judicial have had many run-ins. Just how far the judiciary can go in limiting the constitutional powers of the Governor and the Board of Paroles, or how far the executive can go in controlling the Probation Commission, may never be satisfactorily determined.

So long as there is recognized distinction in areas of authority, although limits may be controversial, there is assurance that neither branch will become an absolute dictator.

Greater Attention To Prisoners Indicated

A rash of deaths in jails across North Carolina in recent weeks suggests that municipal and county officials need to give greater attention to the procedure being followed by jail attendants in checking on prisoners.

The latest of the reports of a jail death is from Ahsokie where a man, placed in jail at his own request, was found hanged Thursday morning. There have been other similar incidents in recent weeks of prisoners who hanged themselves in jail, and one incident in Raleigh where a prisoner is said to have died of acute alcoholism after requested medical attention was not made available to him.

It is the responsibility of those in charge of jails, it seems to us, not only to prevent prisoners from escaping, but likewise to see that they do not harm themselves or others while they are in custody. It is not enough for officials to put a man behind bars and forget about him for a long period or to follow as a part of routine a haphazard pattern of checking on those who are locked in cells.

The number of reports of jail deaths in North Carolina in recent weeks suggests that the procedure being generally followed by jailers or officers in charge of jails is much more lax than it should be. The number of jail deaths should prompt even those cities and counties which have not undergone such an experience to double-check the procedure being followed by those in charge of the jails to determine whether proper precautions are being taken for the safety of those who are placed behind bars.

Contradictions In Berlin Issue

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The ominous jockeying over Berlin has its roots in one of the strangest combinations of upside-down contradictions in modern history.

The United States persists in treating as a myth a fact that has long been accepted as a reality: that the East German Communists are the sovereign government of East Germany.

Chancellor Adenauer's West German government persists in wanting East and West Germany unified while knowing Premier Khrushchev won't permit it and many of his allies' people don't want it because they fear a new, single Germany.

Khrushchev persists in picturing the East German Red regime as what the East Germans want while fearing to test it in free elections, and knowing it could not last a day without the help of Soviet tanks which set it up in the first place.

It's out of this mish-mash that some kind of settlement must come if war is to be avoided. What Khrushchev is really after, when you brush aside the speeches and maneuverings, seems to come down to this: He wants the West to recognize—admit openly—that communism not only dominates Central Europe up to the West German frontier, as it does, but in effect not to challenge it further by arguing about it.

He wants Berlin cut off from the West. On this he can take his time, over months, snatching bit by bit. This Western outpost, 110 miles inside Red Germany, is truly a bone in his throat, as he says.

He wants, judging from his harsh and ruthless tactics, now, not only to force the Allies to recognize East Germany but to bring them to their knees with their confidence in themselves and one another shattered.

This could pay fantastic dividends for him by breaking up the Western alliance eventually. What he says he wants—in demanding recognition for East Germany—is security in Central Europe.

He'd get that and more if he forced the Allies into recognition. And Western recognition of hoped to shake off the Russian yoke some day—hope based on bygone American talk of liberation from them—would see their last hope gone.

And Western recognition of East Germany would put a crimp in West German politicians who have held out to their people the dream of a united Germany.

The United States has refused recognition of the East German Red government on the grounds that it is strictly a Russian puppet, which it is. But so are all the satellite countries.

It's a myth for this country to pretend—a myth repeated in the case of the Red Chinese—that the German Reds don't run East Germany. They run it, even though under the Russian thumb. And this country in effect recognizes that fact: 1. When the East German (Continued on page twelve)

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
PERSISTENT HAZARDS
There is always some hazard which particularly threatens the existing generation. As men and women are born into the world the sword of Damocles suspended by a hair is poised into position over their heads.

A century or two ago every father and mother trembled as they realized that their son might be killed in a duel. If they had a beautiful daughter she might be disgraced by smallpox, and typhoid fever have been practically eliminated.

But right now we face the killing effect of malignancy. Also for some reason or other people are dying in unprecedented numbers of heart disease. Then of course, the whole world trembles with the realization that a few bombs dropped on the principal cities of the Western and Eastern hemispheres may result in reversion to savagery. Ultimately we will find the secret of malignancy and heart disease—that we can count on in the comparatively near future. But the preponderance of armament in the world looks very bad for future peace.

What we have to do is live as effectively and happily as we can day by day. The human race has never known what tomorrow will bring forth. This is a normal situation in the human setup. And it is probably one of God's ways of challenging us and developing our powers.

Strong, But How Strong?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

All over the country there are those who are demanding a strong foreign policy. But do they want to go to war? A strong foreign policy could mean war. There is no certainty either way, but it is a fact that we had a weak policy concerning Cuba and we did not go to war; we are showing our claws with regard to Berlin and the Russians respond by renewing bomb testing.

Personally, as a citizen, I favor a strong, vigorous foreign policy. All my experience, now over a period of 44 years, convinces me that there is no way to stop the building of the Soviet Empire except by war or well supported and financed revolution. But it would appear that a large number of persons disagree with such views concerning a shooting war. They want peace at any price. Some would rather be Red than dead. There is no telling about tastes. Therefore, it is necessary to have a decision and a policy that is not casual and opportunistic. In Savannah, Georgia, 1500 persons signed a petition to President Kennedy, demanding a strong foreign policy. But the petition says nothing about favoring a shooting war. It says:

"We, the undersigned people of Savannah, are aroused and gravely concerned over the turn of events in Berlin. Americans have repeatedly requested a strong foreign policy. The time is long overdue for the United States to take a firm stand and definite action against Communist aggression. We strongly urge that positive and aggressive action is necessary to reverse the present rapid turn toward national disaster."

But when that has been said, it does encourage the President to go to war with Soviet Russia. After all, Khrushchev enjoys an enormous advantage over us. He can make quick decisions. His allies are contiguous and are not free to choose their own course. Propinquity strengthens his position in all directions. He is not overly concerned with public opinion in his own country or in the rest of the world. No American President can adopt an attitude as independent as that.

Franklin D. Roosevelt maneuvered American public opinion skillfully, but it took him two years to get the United States into World War II. There is not two years or 18 months to spare in the next war. In fact, it is doubtful if that many minutes will be available. The President will have to act on a radar signal without asking anyone's consent.

Of course, we ought to have a strong foreign policy when it comes to a shooting war, the indications are that it will take some convincing to establish that there is no other way. Some, like myself, believe that there is no other way, but I am convinced that we are in the minority. And it appears from the record that President Kennedy and Secretary of State Rusk believe that American public opinion is not yet ready for another war. Everybody is against a shooting war, but few want to do anything about it.

One reason may be that we actually lost World War II. We did not lose it to the enemy, Nazi Germany, but we did lose it to our ally, Soviet Russia. First Stalin and then Khrushchev took every advantage of the war involvement, to seize countries and peoples until now Soviet Russia dominates more of the Earth's surface than Germany and Japan did during their respective wars. What is the use of another war? It will probably all be to the advantage of Red China.

The issue is not a strong or a weak foreign policy. The issue is whether the American people are ready and willing to get into a nuclear war. If we are not ready and willing, we shall either stand to be 1) isolated or 2) conquered or 3) reduced to an ignoble status. But the decision must be decisive at this climactic stage. Neither dodging the issue nor belly-aching will save us. Nor can we delay either our decisions or our actions very much longer because the enemy is not delaying. Attitudes toward (Continued on page 12)

Each Day, An Audience

Physical fitness has invaded the schools and the surrounding communities in more ways than one.

Each day, as school children and their teacher of one county school line up and start their exercises, the townspeople run to the corner to observe.

It was just about a year ago today that we had one of the whackiest hurricanes ever in Hurricane Donna. It was a year ago that Civil Defense officials were preparing to go to the annual conference in Winston-Salem.

J. H. Rose recalls that he was packed to go to the meeting.

Instead, the hurricane warnings were so bad that he had to remain at home, since he was director of CD for Pitt County. It was right here that Rose got plenty of "practical experience" which wouldn't have been quite so authentic at the meeting.

Changing the subject abruptly, some economic figures were brought to our attention by Cleveland Paylor, town manager in Ayden. They were in the "Asahi Evening News" 1961, published in Tokyo, Japan.

And here is the surprising thing. Japan rated second in a chart showing economic growth of leading countries in the world since World War II. Germany, of course, led with 8.4 per cent; Japan was close behind with 8.2 per cent.

Japan is coming out with their own versions of cars and trucks, economy and small autos and some vehicles much like a jeep. Also, televisions, freezers—things that are a far cry from the little wicker and paper favors we generally look for as coming from Japan.

Back to the economic growth, we were surprised to find Australia ranked third on the chart, followed by France and Italy respectively. Holland ranked fifth with 4.6 per cent rate of growth, and Canada with sixth with 4.2 per cent.

Then came Switzerland, Sweden, Belgium and Norway in order.

Eleventh on the list was the United States of America, with an economic growth rate of 3.0 per cent since the second world war. Ranking after us were Denmark and England.

We deduced from the article that these were compiled figures for 1948-58, which makes them three years old, but they were in a new magazine.

Reason for the United States being so far down the list apparently is because we already were far ahead of these other countries before the war and are continuing at a pleasant rate, while some of the more backward ones were suddenly thrust into the economic competition of a modern world.

Other Editors Saying Area Of Irresponsibility Opinions In Brief

(Greensboro Daily News)

The Daily News is as convinced as Governor Sanford that federal action is essential for effective dealing with the many problems, social and economic, which involve migrant labor.

These reasonable workers are constantly on the go. They have no home ties as they move up from Florida through the Southeastern and Middle Atlantic and Western states as harvesting needs require.

The difficulty of working out such a program has been cited already by Commissioner Ed Scheidt. Even though he called a public hearing to receive suggestions, nobody showed up save press representatives and a few state officials directly concerned. Public indifference, especially on the part of those who hire, transport and house migrant workers, is one of the major handicaps which any corrective program will have to overcome.

While there is plenty of blame to go around in the still unattended to business, crew bosses are the key figures. If they can be held to stricter accountability, through either state action or federal registration and supervision now proposed in pending legislation before the Congress, the first really effective step will have been taken in an area which embraced not merely the forgotten man but his family.

The 1961 General Assembly gave powers to the State Department of Motor Vehicles to work out and apply a program aimed at preventing recurrence of any such major disaster.

Look-Aheads On Business Front

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here are more look-aheads in business, based on analyses of current trends, spiced with some advance information.

More TV toy selling: Parents who have been driven crazy by moppet's demands for toys demonstrated on television will be madder than ever by Christmas. Because of the initial success of selling playthings this way, more companies than ever will show toys in action during the next three months, and more youngsters will scream, "Daddy, buy me that!"

The Early American boom: Predictions here that there would be a boom in early American furniture because of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's interest have been well borne out. This is to predict that the boom will be far greater than imagined. Current furniture shows indicate that the industry believes that amateur home decorators are on one of their great Early-American binges.

Higher interest: Money grows scarcer: Since the Administration seems to lack power, at the moment, to increase tax rates, it can turn only to borrowing additional funds for defense.

This—unless it resorts to interest-pegging used by the Roosevelt Administration — will mean a gradual upward push of interest rates. When the government is forced to pay more, it is competing for all uncommitted money, and other competitors will have to offer higher interest.

Rayon in decline: The announcement that Du Pont is discontinuing the manufacture of textile rayon will have deep impact on the textile industry. Dacron and other synthetic fibers have superseded rayon in many uses. And if Du Pont can't continue to make rayon profitably who can? Manufacturers of carpet and tire grades can, of course. But other makers of textile rayon are evaluating the situation and rayon garments may some day disappear, except in certain low-price areas.

More stamps: Trading stamp promoters have discovered a new color, purple, and a new brand of stamps will soon be launched.

to increase sales. The hurdle has been storekeepers' reluctance to spend time to get their pennies back. Now Lever has introduced an "instant money" plan whereby dealers can get cash quickly for coupons accepted. They merely fill out an invoice and make out a sight draft, payable to themselves, for the amount involved.

This will force competitors to set up similar systems and once again coupons may be as common as they were a few years ago.

Costlier tramps: With the step-up in defense activities, operations of tramp vessels feel they are in a position of increase rates. In the next few months they will try out these thoughts on shippers.

Costlier Time: The magazine of that name is understood to be preparing an increase in the subscription rate. An advertising hike starting with March 2, 1962 issues has already been announced.

More stamps: Trading stamp promoters have discovered a new color, purple, and a new brand of stamps will soon be launched.

SCIENTIFIC TEST LESS THAN SCIENTIFIC

The Old Promoter was dead serious when he dropped in today. Dropped in the word; after he made his unannounced visit he literally dropped himself into the visitor's chair.

"Corporations have long been relying on psychological tests to determine the ability of job candidates," he said. "All along I have felt these tests are phony. For example, one very able young man took a test for an executive position for which he was eminently qualified. Despite his great ability he was flunked. It seems that he and his wife had had a spat that morning and he was upset, while a mumbling idiot got the job."

Was the man who was flunked your nephew?" we asked. We suspected he was because the Old Promoter had given our name as reference.

"Why, yes!" the old man said. "Don't try to reform testing," we advised. "Just reform your niece-in-law."

He was so angry that he left in a huff, without trying to sell a single share in a new venture.

Phantoms Topple Ahoskie 26-6 In Season's Opener

THE STRETCH . . . Phantom end Jack Foley grabs a pass from Billy James in the second quarter of action in last night's game against Ahoskie. Foley snagged the aerial on the Ahoskie 20 yard line and scampered to the end zone for Greenville's third touchdown of the evening. The locals opened their campaign successfully, drubbing the Indians, 26-6 in East Carolina College Stadium.

By GEORGE BRYANT
Reflector Sports Writer

The Rose High Phantoms took their first grid contest of the season last night with Ahoskie by a score of 26-6, with a fumble and an intercepted pass starting two of Greenville's touchdowns.

Phants Recover

In the early minutes of the game Greenville's Krogie Andresen recovered an Ahoskie fumble which started a 65 yard drive for the Phants. As the Greenville boys pushed on down the field, quarterback Billy James ran around the right end for a first down on the Ahoskie 10 yard line. Fullback Wayne Sumrell then carried to the five which made it second down and goal to go. James then carried for little gain, and on the next play a pass intended for Jack Foley in the end zone was incomplete. With it fourth down and four yards to go, Sumrell carried up the middle for the touchdown. Andresen kicked the extra point.

Ahoskie then played around for four downs and it was Greenville's ball again on the Ahoskie 41 yard line in the beginning of the second quarter. Alan MacArthur carried for six yards with Burney Morris receiving a short pass from James on the next play for four yards and a first down. Greenville was penalized 15 yards which made it second and 20 to go for the down. Two passes by James to MacArthur were incomplete with it fourth and 20. MacArthur then took a handoff from James and tried to complete a pass to Foley, which was intercepted by Charles Tayloe, but officials ruled it pass interference.

Andresen Over

MacArthur then carried for six with Andresen running 15 yards for the second touchdown of the night for Rose High. Andresen's extra point try fell to the right and was no good.

Ahoskie was unable to gain ground after receiving a 30 yard kick by James. On the fourth down the visitors punted for 50 yards. Greenville managed to gain a first down before the first half of the ball game was over.

The Phantoms received Ahoskie's kickoff as the second half got underway. MacArthur returned it to his own 41 yard line. With Adams and Andresen carrying for the Phants they managed another first down and began their third plunge of the night. James passed over the middle to Foley for 15 yards. MacArthur carried around the right end and up the sideline for eight yards. On the next play he managed another first down for the home team. Foley connected with a pass from James and run the remaining 15 yards for the third touchdown. Andresen's extra point try was good.

James Intercepts

James kicked off again to Ahoskie, but to no avail for the visitors. He intercepted a pass by Kinlaw on the 25 yard line and returned to the 30. A penalty made it a first down and 17 to go after Adams ran around left end for a gain. On the next play MacArthur ran up the left sideline for 60 yards, but the play was called back for a clipping penalty.

Sumrell ran for another first down on the 47 yard line. Greenville managed to work their way down to the Ahoskie six yard line and a third down. James passed to Adams who went over for the score. Andresen's extra point try with two minutes to go in the third quarter was no good.

The first punt for the Phantoms came in the beginning of the fourth quarter when MacArthur booted a 50-yarder on a fourth and five situation.

Ahoskie Scores

With the clock running on, the Ahoskie eleven finally got ready for a touchdown drive which was successful. As the visitors neared the goal line, Coach Bud Phillips put the first string back into the ball game, but this failed to stop the Ahoskie boys.

Spencer Barrow carried to the Greenville three yard line for a first down and one yard to go for the TD. On the next play Barrow went up the middle for the score. While tried the extra point for Ahoskie, but Greenville managed to block it.

With only a few minutes left in the game, MacArthur returned the Ahoskie kick to the 34 yard line. Dale Gidley carried for two, but handed off to Jimmy Jenkins on the next play for a gain of three yards.

Greenville Penalized

The Phantoms fell victims to two 15 yard penalties and again were in a fourth down kicking situation. MacArthur got the kick off and Tayloe returned it about 12 yards before the final horn.

As far as injuries were concerned, there was nobody hurt seriously. James was out for a couple of plays in the first part of the game and one of the Ahoskie players was having leg trouble, but it did not put him out of the game for long.

Ayden Takes 40-0 Win From Greene Central

SNOW HILL—The Ayden High School eleven lived up to their name last night and looked like a real tornado as they swept Greene Central off their feet for a final score of 40-0.

The Tornadoes took off on the kickoff which they received and ran back for the first touchdown of the night with William Edwards doing the honors. Tommy Dunn passed the ball for the extra point.

In very short order the Ayden boys had crossed the Greene Central goal line for two more touchdowns and one extra point, all before the first quarter was over. Before the second quarter ended, Ayden had crossed the Greene Central goal line twice more for a total of five touchdowns in the first half of the game.

Coach Stuart Tripp of Ayden said he played everybody on his squad during the game. In the second half he did not put in their first string offense at all. He played some freshmen in the backfield as well as in the line.

About middle way through the second half of the game, Charles Nobles ran a reverse for the last touchdown of the night. In all, it was six touchdowns and four extra points for Ayden.

Edwards scored two touchdowns, Cannon got two from the halfback position, McLawhorn made one on a pass play, and the one which Nobles ran, Carmachial, Nobles and Dunn all ran extra points with Dunn passing for one.

Coach Tripp said it is hard to tell what kind of improvement his boys have made as Greene Central's lack of experience and depth were no match for the Tornadoes. "I think the fact that we are defending conference champions, ran back the kickoff and scored twice in the first quarter hurt Greene Central considerably," Tripp said. He added that his boys did look somewhat better as far as timing was concerned.

Greene Central failed to make a first down against the Ayden first string, but gained a couple on the other units. However, they never threatened to score. The deepest they were able to get in Ayden's territory was to the 30 yard line when they recovered a fumble.

Jackie Harrell and Thomas Moringo were the outstanding players for Greene Central.

Sees His Racing Firm 'A Factor'

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Veteran stock car driver Curtis Turner, whose new company filed articles of incorporation in Raleigh Friday, says his firm will become a major factor in stock car racing in the Southeast.

Turner said the Lakewood Speedway in Atlanta has been leased for an Oct. 22 race and that several others are planned for October and November.

Turner Investors Inc. will have offices in Winston-Salem and will promote racing under the sanction of Midwest Association of Racing Cars. Turner, here for a meeting of stockholders of the Charlotte Motor Speedway, said the Midwest organization will recognize union drivers — but will not require Teamsters membership of racers.

Eppes Fumbles Spell Defeat In Opener Against Oxford

OXFORD—Eppes High had the door closed on a successful football opening last night, as Oxford dropped the visitors by a slim 6-0 margin.

Eppes received the opening kickoff and proceeded to march from their own 20 to the Oxford 10, but fumbled at that point.

After holding the winners for four downs, Eppes began another drive, but this one was stopped on the 10 when another fumble occurred.

Oxford took over and drove 70 yards to the Eppes 20. Then as the fumble disease was catching, the winners lost the ball. Eppes took over on their own 30 and fumbled on the first play.

The winners moved to the 2 yard line of Eppes, but the losers simply would not give ground after that, and held Oxford for three downs before taking over on the 2. Raymond Tucker and Jesse Holiday, both freshmen, led the goal line stand for Eppes.

After closing the door in Oxford's face, Eppes once again began to move. Quarterback Levon Little tossed from his own 4 to halfback Willy Blount who carried to the Oxford 30 yard line. Then Little passed to Alton Harris to the Oxford 10, but the first half ran out before the losers could run another play.

In the second half Oxford began to take to the air, with quarterback Lovette doing the tossing. Four consecutive completions netted 52 yards to the Eppes 25 before Blount reached up to intercept the fifth attempt. Grabbing the ball out of the air on his own 2 yard line, Blount picked his way to the midfield stripe before he was brought down. However, the losers were stopped cold at that point and were forced to kick.

Oxford took over on their own 30 and in one play netted the remaining 70 yards to paydirt on a pass from Lovette to Coleman. The attempt for the extra point was unsuccessful, but the 6-0 margin was enough for a victory.

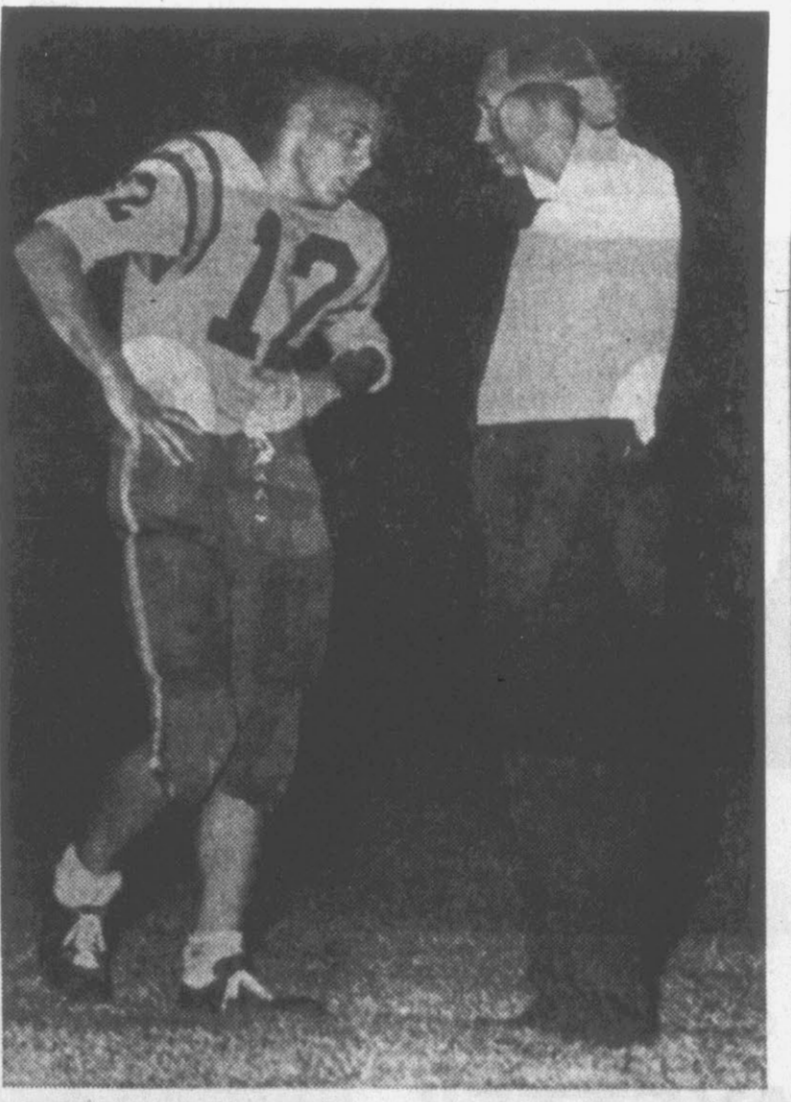

Eppes fought back against the winners, but the clock was also against the losers. After Little intercepted another Oxford pass on the 50 yard line and returned it to the 30, the Eppes followers were on their feet screaming for a score. Little passed to Blount to the Oxford 20. Little passed to Harris and the ball was less than a foot from the goal line. The Eppes players could not get off another play, however, as the final gun sounded with them six inches from at least a tie and possibly a win.

Eppes coach, Percy Daniels was not displeased with the performance of his boys however. "I know that we blew three scoring chances with our fumbling, but these boys are young, most of them freshmen. We lost eight men from our starting lineup last year."

Line Coach F. R. Sanders was pleased with the members of his forward wall, especially Tucker, Holiday, Columbus Hunt, and Major Williams.

Eppes plays its first home game next Friday night against Georgetown High of Jacksonville. Game time is set for 8:00 p.m. in the Eppes Stadium.

PHANTOM STRATEGY . . . Greenville Coach Bud Phillips talks over the situation with his quarterback, Billy James during a tense moment in last night's opening game against Ahoskie. James passed for two of the locals four touchdowns as the Phantoms took a 26-6 win from the visitors.

Dilda Leads Farmville To 19-0 Win Over Contentnea

Farmville's Red Devils boosted their Coastal Conference record to 2-0 last night, dropping winless Contentnea by a score of 19-0.

Senior halfback Danny Dilda and his freshman running mate, Robin Rouse sparked the winners in the ground gaining department with the former scoring all 19 of Farmville's points. Red Devil quarterback Dean Oglesby also played his usual outstanding passing game to keep the Contentnea defense loose.

Farmville received the opening kickoff on their own 25, and began their first scoring march from that point. Rouse carried 26 yards on the first play to the Contentnea 43, then Dilda toted the pigskin twice to the losers 25. Oglesby passed to end Chester Outland to rest the ball on the 10 yard line, then Dilda skirted his left end to paydirt. Oglesby passed to Outland for Farmville's only extra point of the evening, and the Red Devils led by a 7-0 score.

After an exchange of punts in the second quarter, Farmville again got its touchdown machine functioning. Like before, it was Rouse who got things started, this time intercepting a Contentnea pass on the losers 27 yard stripe. Two plays later, Oglesby tossed to Dilda for nine yards and another Farmville score.

Another pass interception set up Farmville's third period score. The Red Devils' Rex Hodges picked off a Douglas Wade aerial to get the winners rolling again from the Contentnea 43. Dilda carried 17 yards to the 26, then Hodges 8 yards to the losers nine. From that point Dilda once again lugged the ball into the promise land, and the Red Devils held a commanding 19-0 lead.

Contentnea threatened in the fourth period, with J. K. Hall,

Harold Brooks, and Douglas Wade making good runs from their own 20 to the Farmville 32. Wade then toted to the winners 11, but on fourth down Oglesby broke through the Contentnea line to throw Wade for a loss, giving the winners ball possession. Time ran out on the Red Devils before they could get another threat started.

ACC Teams Having Full Scale Practice Today

Today was full scale scrimmage day throughout the Atlantic Coast Conference, whose football teams have had a little more than a week of pre-season practice.

Coaches were intent to learn what ground their players most need to cover again before season openers — for seven of the eight teams, on Sept. 23, two weeks from today.

At North Carolina State, which opens at Wyoming, senior end Bill Harden was expected to be out about 10 days because of a knee injury Friday. He is counted on as one of the catchers for Roman Gabriel's passes.

South Carolina, whose opener is at home with Duke, worked mainly on pass protection. Ralph Floyd interior line coach, praised the work of guard Dave Adam, tackle

QB Problem For Chicago's Bears

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears of the National Football League were certain of one thing today — they have a quarterback problem but, what a problem.

Coach George Halas has not one but two fine quarterbacks ready now for the approaching NFL season if Friday night's 24-21 exhibition triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers is any indication.

First, Ed Brown, and then Billy Wade electrified 45,223 spectators in Chicago's Soldier Field with dazzling passes which ignited touchdown plays of 92, 90 and 75 yards.

The Bears took a 17-0 halftime lead in the 16th annual Armed Forces Benefit game. Pittsburgh romped for three fourth-period scores.

The league's only unbeaten, untied team, the world champion Philadelphia Eagles, and the Green Bay Packers, get in their final exhibition looks tonight.

The Eagles (3-0) face the St. Louis Cardinals (0-3) at Hersey, Pa. Green Bay (4-0) runs into the Washington Redskins (0-4) at Columbus, Ga.

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Ft. Campbell, Ky. won the Third Army baseball tournament here Friday by trouncing Ft. Benning, Ga., 12-1 for its fourth victory without a loss in the event.

Campbell rapped 11 hits off three pitchers. Catcher Ed Crowley had three singles, Larry Park-er two. The game was called after seven innings because of a tournament rule limiting games in which one team takes a lead of 10 runs or more.

Dave (Bang Bang) Harris allowed three hits and struck out nine as the winning pitcher.

In other contests tonight, Detroit (3-1) invades Cleveland (3-1) and San Francisco (2-2) clashes with the Dallas Cowboys (2-2) at Sacramento, Calif.

Rounding out the exhibition campaign are two games Sunday the Los Angeles Rams (1-2-1) going to Minnesota (0-4) and the New York Giants (2-1-1) tangling with Baltimore (2-2) at New Haven, Conn.

Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson earned $75 in his first professional fight in 1952. In his fourth and final bout that year his purse was $1,500.

BURNWOOD MEN

Tam Barrie and the two girls moved out of the camp under the eyes of all the men. Most of them were merely curious, a few pitying. Tam never glanced aside. He led the horse up the hill, away from Hay Lake.

They went over the ridge. The camp dropped from sight. The grinding scrap of the travois poles set Tam's nerves on edge. Now and again Dove Bemarest would moan slightly as the movement of the litter plucked at some raw nerve.

Tam breathed deep of the clean, dry air, feeling the first blazing anger at Strike's brutality settle into a solid wrath, a determined, objective hatred that he felt could never be appeased. It came to Tam as something of a surprise that he felt no fear at the thought of a clash with Cleland Strike.

Had he, in the past few weeks, acquired a new sort of courage, or had one been forced upon him? It might fade when put to the test, he thought, but it's there. Perhaps it's because I've been shot at, stabbed, I've been drowned, chased half across a county—not much more could happen to me. Man gets to be a fatalist after a while; he knows there's no way around things.

He glanced at Dove, silent now on the jolting travois. A wave of love and sympathy came over him—this girl, so young, so innocent; and a man utterly evil had beaten her almost to death. This same man betrayed the little Cree girl. And the scars this man had put on the soul of Stephanie Devoe, who rode ahead now, her body straight, her face proud. The women he had betrayed, the men he had injured or killed—Tam clenched his fist on the reins. The man had tempted fate.

Suddenly it came to Tam—the one thing that would break Cleland Strike, the thing that would be worse than death for him.

If destruction came to this wild gamble of his, if it failed in a mighty collapse of cardboard and sand, Strike would be pulled down with it. His whole life was sunk into it. He had thrown his sunn life and fortunes, the assets of Seaboard & Continental, the lives and fortunes of a gentle people into his scheme. Frustrate it, and Cleland Strike would go down into the dust with it.

Tam was not particularly superstitious. But so many times his path had crossed with Strike's, so many times their interests had clashed, to meet and swing apart and come together again, that Tam felt there was something of fate in it.

Before now, Tam had been evading it, trying to pull free. Instead, he had become more deeply tangled in the very sinews of the fortunes of Cleland Strike. Now he thought he knew why. From now on, he would work actively, with every tool he could command, to break Cleland Strike. He would fight him to the last ditch.

With that decision, a strange peace came to Tam Barrie. There was no more need now for tortured thinking, for fear, for twisted terrors in the middle of the night. He rode now almost gaily, the black doubt lifted from his shoulders.

From time to time they stopped to take care of the injured girl, who dozed most of the time under the medication of herbs Stephanie was giving her. It was long after noon when they rode into the Metis camp.

They made their way through the main camp to the Devoe tent beside the pond.

Tam lifted Dove in his arms and carried her into the tent. Half awake, she clung to him, moaning a little. He laid her on Stephanie's pallet. Stephanie put an arm under the girl's shoulders and gave her a cup of medicine. The girl came awake.

"Thank you, oh, thank you," Dove said. With an effort, she got control of herself. "Stephanie, hold me for a minute, please. In case thought, but it's there. Perhaps it's because I've been shot at, stabbed, I've been drowned, chased half across a county—not much more could happen to me. Man gets to be a fatalist after a while; he knows there's no way around things.

From now on, he would work actively, with every tool he could command, to break Cleland Strike. He would fight him to the last ditch.

With that decision, a strange thing he touches comes to trouble. You learn anything?"

"Some," Tam said, with an air of nonchalance. "Strike hasn't got the arms and ammunition. He's coming up with them tomorrow night."

Devoe gaped. Gabriel Valier sat up, his stubby pipe falling unheeded to the grass.

"By what road?" he asked.

"The old smuggler trail, east of the Whoop-Up," I know," Valier said tersely. "M'sieu's, this is our chance to stop Strike."

"How many men will Strike have? Did the gal say?" Devoe asked.

"Twenty in the escort, she thinks. With Strike and the teamsters, probably twenty-five in all. Picked fighting men, Colly."

"That tears it," Devoe said. "Ain't over six, eight men we would trust in all the camp, besides the three of us. Rest of 'em would go runnin to LaCroix and spill the beans."

"After all, he is governor, Colly," Valier said, relighting his pipe. "They do not see that they are putting their heads in the Queen's noose, if they harm her men of the Police."

"They better wake up, then," Colly grunted.

Prison Abandons A Job Specialty

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)— One job specialty at Menard Prison was eliminated Thursday — that of runner.

"The trustees have gotten the idea, somehow, that the term means 'distance runner,'" said Warden Ross Randolph.

Runners on the prison's 2,400-acre farm used to do errands, carry messages, and bring water for farm work crews. It was a highly-prized job.

The runner job was scratched after James F. Webb, 21, of Arthur, Ill., a runner about to be released from a one-to-five year larceny term, quit the institution without notice Tuesday.

The same thing happened Aug. 18 when the fleeing runner was Lawrence McKnight, 29, of Decatur, Ill. Both men are sought.

Almost Like Moving Back In Time

By JOHN G. DUNCAN

When you leave route 264 at Midway and turn down 92 toward Bath, you get the feeling you are moving back in time. The road narrows, trees push in closer, and the hurry you found on the highway ends.

The drive across the countryside is one of leisure, almost hypnotic. The steady purr of the motor, the tire sounds on the road, the heat, the damp breath of the fields and woodlands; and a dreamlike noticing of things: Like watching a sparrowhawk, sitting on the telephone cable, reading the cornfield for the careless movement of a field mouse; and the slow, often tragic trip of a turtle, crossing the road. And you wonder why, because you can see no difference in where it's headed, to where it has been.

This is old country and knew the ways of man before the sails of the Englishmen where see on the Pamlico.

Land Of The Secotan

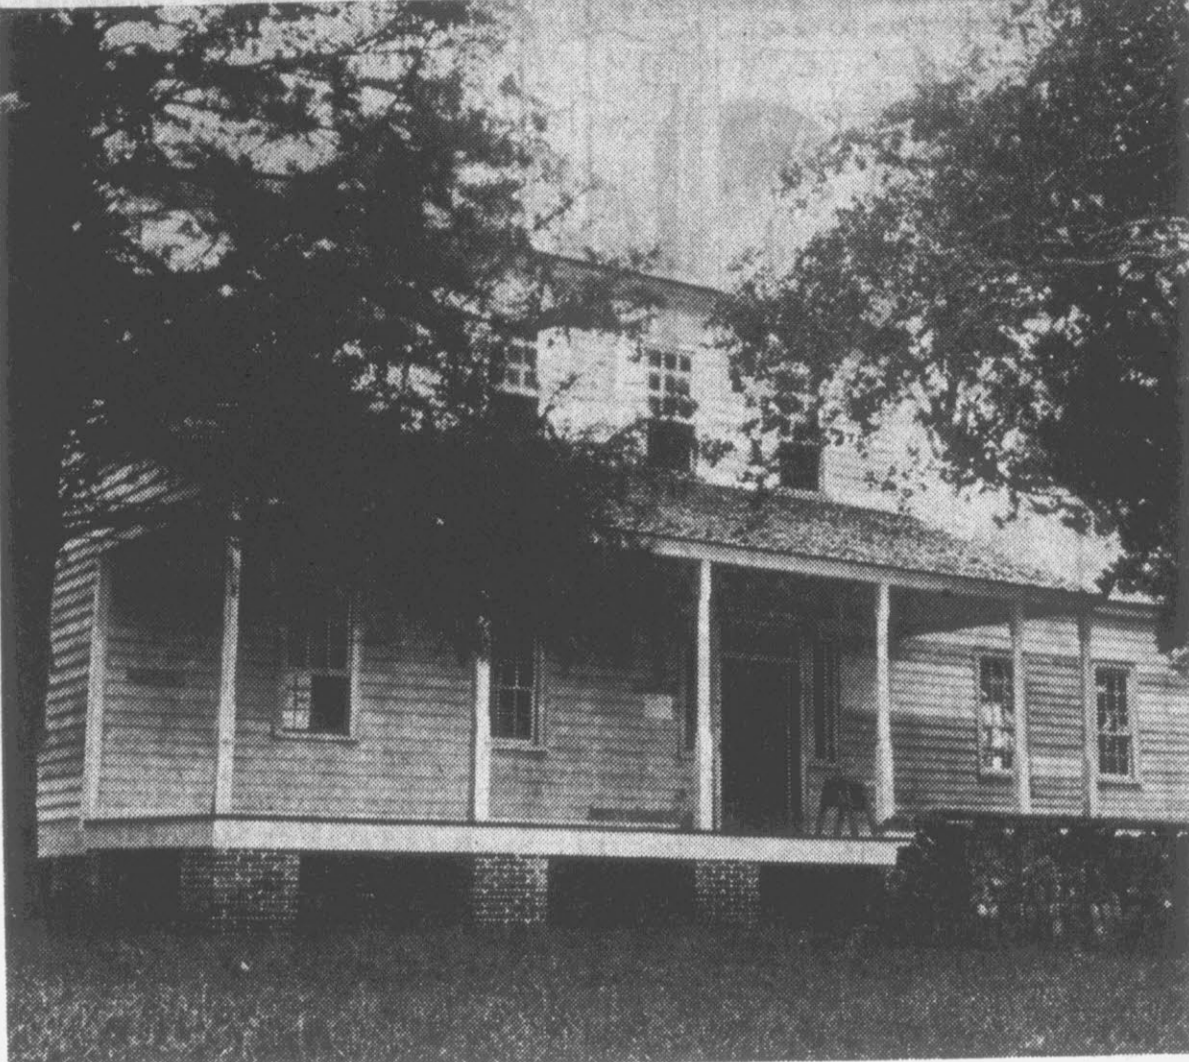

For long before the white men came, the red man lived here. For this was the land of the Secotan. The land of the Secotan, that stretched eastward as far as the rivers Pungo and Scuppernon—land of the sweet bay tree. That land that lies between the fresh water sound of the Albemarle and the sound of sea water, the Pamlico. The Secotan, with their fields of corn, pumpkins, and tobacco, dancing in the village streets in honor of the gods of sun and growing things, sharpening their arrows and stringing their bows; and watching the waters for the war canoes of their enemies, the Pomouks and painted Neusioks.

Over The Bridge To Yesterday

The modern span over Bath Creek shakes for a moment the quiescent mood of the trip across the countryside. And you look across the sparkling water toward Plum Point, half expecting to see the white sails of a ship or an Indian canoe. And the present ends at the foot of the bridge; and history waits under the shade of the trees.

History Walks These Streets

History goes with you, step by step, as you walk along. It stops with you at the Marsh House, built by Michael Coutanche in 1744. The Marsh House with its huge chimney, the home of Gov. Charles Eden and Parson Stewart. Its gardens were famous around the countryside when Col. Robert Palmer lived there in 1760. It was owned by Jonathan Marsh and his family for over 100 years. On its grounds, the tragic Mary Evans sleeps—Mary Evans who pined away for the husband who went to sea, never to return.

It stands with you outside the Glebe House door; and walks with you up the brick, boxwood lined walk to the door of St. Thomas Church. St. Thomas in the cedars, with its neat clipped grass, and the smell of Cape Jasmine riding the breeze; and the song of the mockingbird across the way. It peers over your shoulder as you look in through the windows at the time worn pews, the opened Bible, and faded flowers in a vase near the altar rail. You wonder about those that have slept so lone beneath the tile floor.

As you stand in the shade at Town Point and look at the Bonner House, that was built in 1750, you remember back to John Lawson, whose home stood here at one time. John Lawson, the Surveyor General, founder of Bath, who died at the hands of the Tuscarora at King Hancock's Town of Catawba in Sept., 1711.

And as the sound of the hammer and saw falls upon your ears, history moves on and leaves you here.

Hammer And Saw

According to Edmund H. Harding, president of Beaufort County Historical Society, $100,000 will have been spent on the restoration of Bath by Nov. 1, 1961. This includes sums spent on restoring St. Thomas Church, Bonner and Marsh Houses and land purchases.

To what extent future restoration will include is unknown at the present. It is hoped that something can be done to bring back the old gardens, that in the days of their blooming, were the talk of the countryside and the visitor to the town.

The Indian is to be remembered in the restoration by one of the type houses that John White sketched in 1585 when he was in this area.

That scourge of the sea and Carolina Coast, Edward "Blackbeard" Teach, whose boozed up sea rovers tramped these streets, will also be remembered in days to come. Maybe, it will be in the form of a wharf cafe, where you can enjoy a good meal and take a long look up toward Plum Point; and if you have the imagination, you will be able to see one of his booty laden boats making its way toward the town.

Work Should Go Ahead

Much work has been done but much more can be done. The people of North Carolina should take an active part in the restoring of this, their oldest town. For Bath was the first incorporated town in the colony—1705. It had the first public library in the United States—1700. Thomas Hardy had the first ship yard in North Carolina—1706. St. Thomas is the oldest church in the state—1734. Four of the governors of North Carolina were from Bath. Christopher Gale, the first Chief Justice, had his home here. Hohn Lawson, North Carolina's first historian lived here. The first road in the state ran from Bath to New Bern. The first public school for Negroes and Indians was in Bath. In 1921 the town of Bath had the first female administration in the United States.

For Carolinians Of The Future

Bath, so rich in history, should be plowed and planted again, so that the coming generations can come and see the starting place of many things that have gone into the making of the state as it is today. Vivid reminders should be displayed, so that the citizens of tomorrow can visualize the past. It is up to those of the present to pave the road back to yesterday—so those of tomorrow have a way back into the past.

Four Among Family Of 6 Brothers Have Found Male Nursing Careers

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"You know what attitude people have to a man being a nurse," Bob Specht says to his five other brothers during a kitchen table discussion at John and Perry Specht's Long Island home.

"They ask me what I do and I tell them. A lot of people don't say anything. They just don't believe it."

Yes, they know how it is. Four of the six brothers ARE male nurses, one is a staff attendant. Two of them married nurses, and another took a dental assistant for his bride.

All except brother Richard go to work in crisp white linens. He, being 16, hasn't made up his mind about a career yet.

The Specht brothers with their medical minded wives have homes in Central Islip Township, near two state mental hospitals where everybody works.

Roll Call

John, 34, tall, slender and quiet, is staff attendant in charge of five psychiatric aides and a ward of 53 violent male patients. His tiny wife Peggy, 33, is a psychiatric aide.

Bob, 31, R. N. was the first Specht, in 1948, to work in a mental hospital. He gives first aid lessons to 1,800 psychiatric aides. His wife, Pat, 28, is psychiatric aide to teen-age girls.

Ted, 27, R.N., is instructor of disaster training procedures to aides. His wife Barbara is assistant to the hospital dentist.

Calming Influence

Allan, 22, R.N., is head nurse of a men's admission ward, supervising 10 aides. His wife Pat, also R.N., is head nurse in a male geriatrics ward.

Bob explains, "They don't have men working on female wards because you can't trust women patients. They're aggressive when it comes to men. But women work on male wards. A man patient tends to be on his best behavior if there's a woman around."

Arthur, R.N., Allan's twin, instructs incoming psychiatric aides. His wife, Eileen, 21, R.N., is an operating room nurse.

Richard, 16, a quiet, mature high school sophomore, is presently interested in automobile motors.

Proud Mother

Mrs. Theora Specht, 54, mother

BROTHERS IN WHITE . . . Sharing an interest in better care for the sick are these five among the six-brother Specht family. From left Bob 31, Arthur 22, Theodore 27, Alan 22 are registered nurses; John, 34, is a hospital staff attendant.

er of the six sons, is visiting them and she is from Vero Beach, Fla. Her husband, John, died last winter.

"For a man, nursing is hard," Bob declares. "A man is supposed to support a family but the salaries are so low, all our wives have to work." Each of the five Specht men also holds a second job. Four do nursing in general hospitals and John works for the Post Office.

"You're on call 24 hours a day when you're a nurse," Bob, a big man—6 feet 4, over 200 pounds—earnestly explains, but without complaint. "We take the Florence Nightingale oath. Anytime in need of help we can call any time and we're supposed to go." They do, too.

Family Kidding

Mrs. Specht slips off her shoes, drinks ice tea and listens to her sons. "You have to be a dedicated person to be a nurse. I don't care what anybody says. We're a very close knit family. The boys can argue about the merits of various training methods first thing you know the wives are in on it. But they never get mad."

Hearing that, Bob remarks, "Argue? We never argue!"

His wife Peggy shoos everybody outside to the barbecue. A young neighbor woman comes over, falls down and runs to a psychiatric aide (instead of a male nurse) with her skinned knee. The aides, their wives, gleefully find plenty to say.

After supper conversation drifts, touching on tomato patches, their late father, three Robins' nests.

But Specht family cannot long stay away from their favorite subject — nursing.

Request Watershed Plan

A detailed watershed protection and flood prevention plan for the 65,000-acre Conetoe Creek Watershed has been requested by the Board of Drainage Commissioners of Edgecombe County Drainage District 2.

The commissioners asked the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Raleigh for the plan that will include nearly 19,000 acres in Pitt County. Estimated cost of the 450-farm project is nearly $700,000 of which federal funds will pay about 75 per cent. The district will bear the remaining 25 per cent of the cost.

The detailed plan requested will include provision for individual conservation plans for the 450 farms in the watershed. It will also include renovation of the existing drainage channels and construction of about 19 new laterals in Pitt, Edgecombe and Martin Counties.

Edgecombe County Drainage District 2, Edgecombe County and the Coastal Plain Soil and Water Conservation District are co-sponsors of the proposed watershed protection and flood prevention project.

Drainage District commissioners are John Mayo, chairman, of Bethel, Paul Whitehurst of Bethel, and R. I. Taylor Jr. of Rt. 1, Tarboro. Hassel Thigpen of Tarboro and R.L. Dunn of Pine County are the two Edgecombe County Commissioners appointed to represent the Edgecombe County Board in watershed activities.

Soil and Water Conservation District supervisors from Pitt County are Arch J. Flanagan of Farmville, Brantley Speight of Winterville and W.C. House of Bethel.

A total of 18,929 acres of the Conetoe Creek watershed are located on the north central part of Pitt County. Present plans call for including the Thomas Canal, the Manning Canal, Lewis Canal and the Blount-James Canal as new laterals to be excavated.

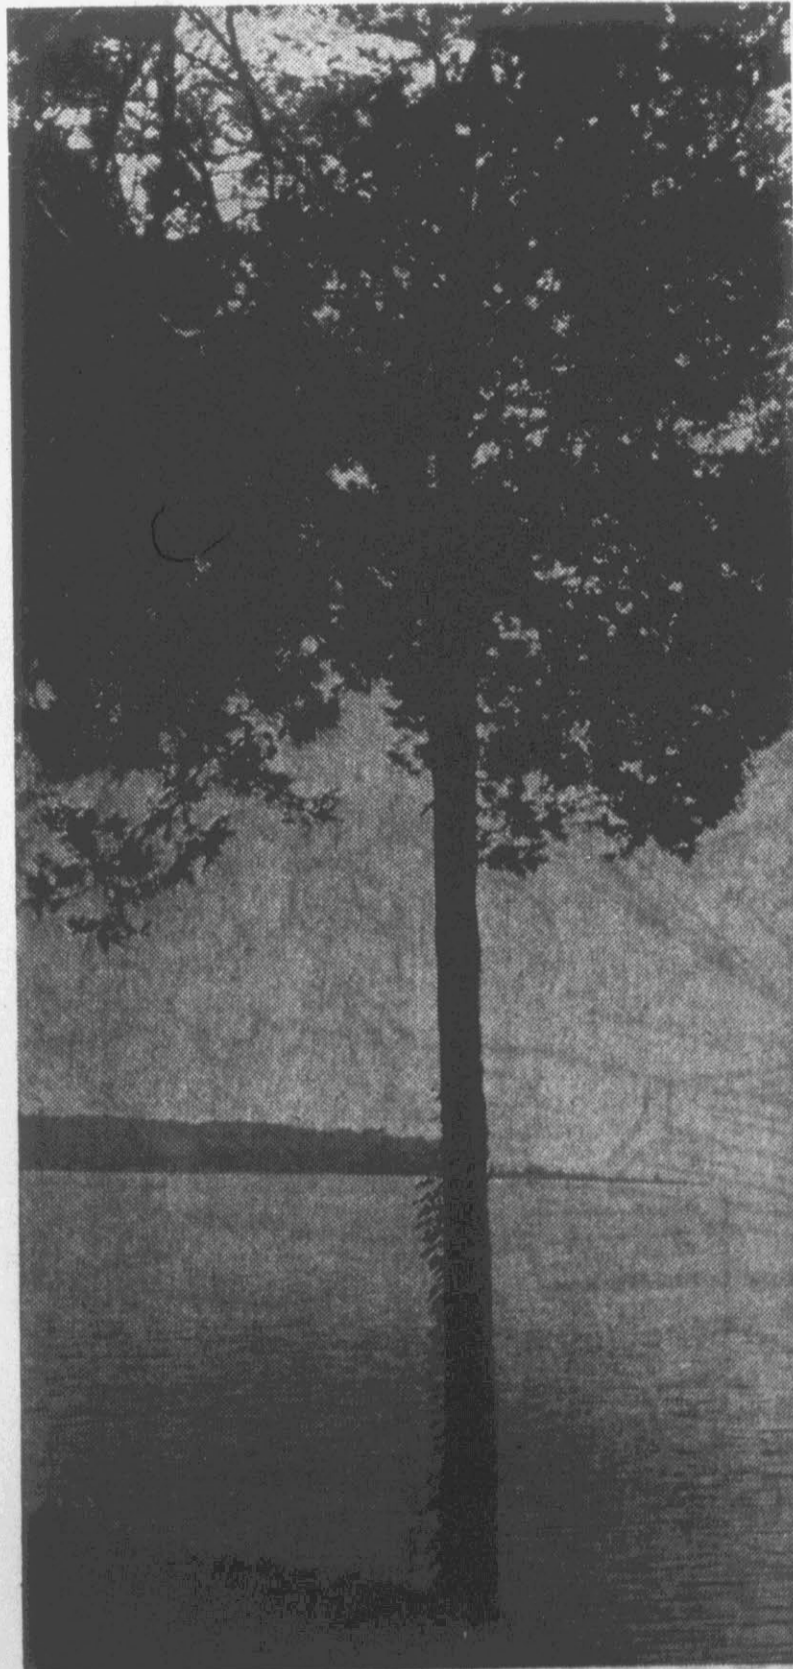

But Chairman Mayo says plans are preliminary and can be changed as detailed plans are developed with assistance from the Soil Conservation Service watershed planning party headquartered in Raleigh.

Mayo also noted that the 1961 North Carolina General Assembly appropriated funds to pay the salary of this second Soil Conservation Service planning party assisting the sponsors of the Conetoe Creek watershed.

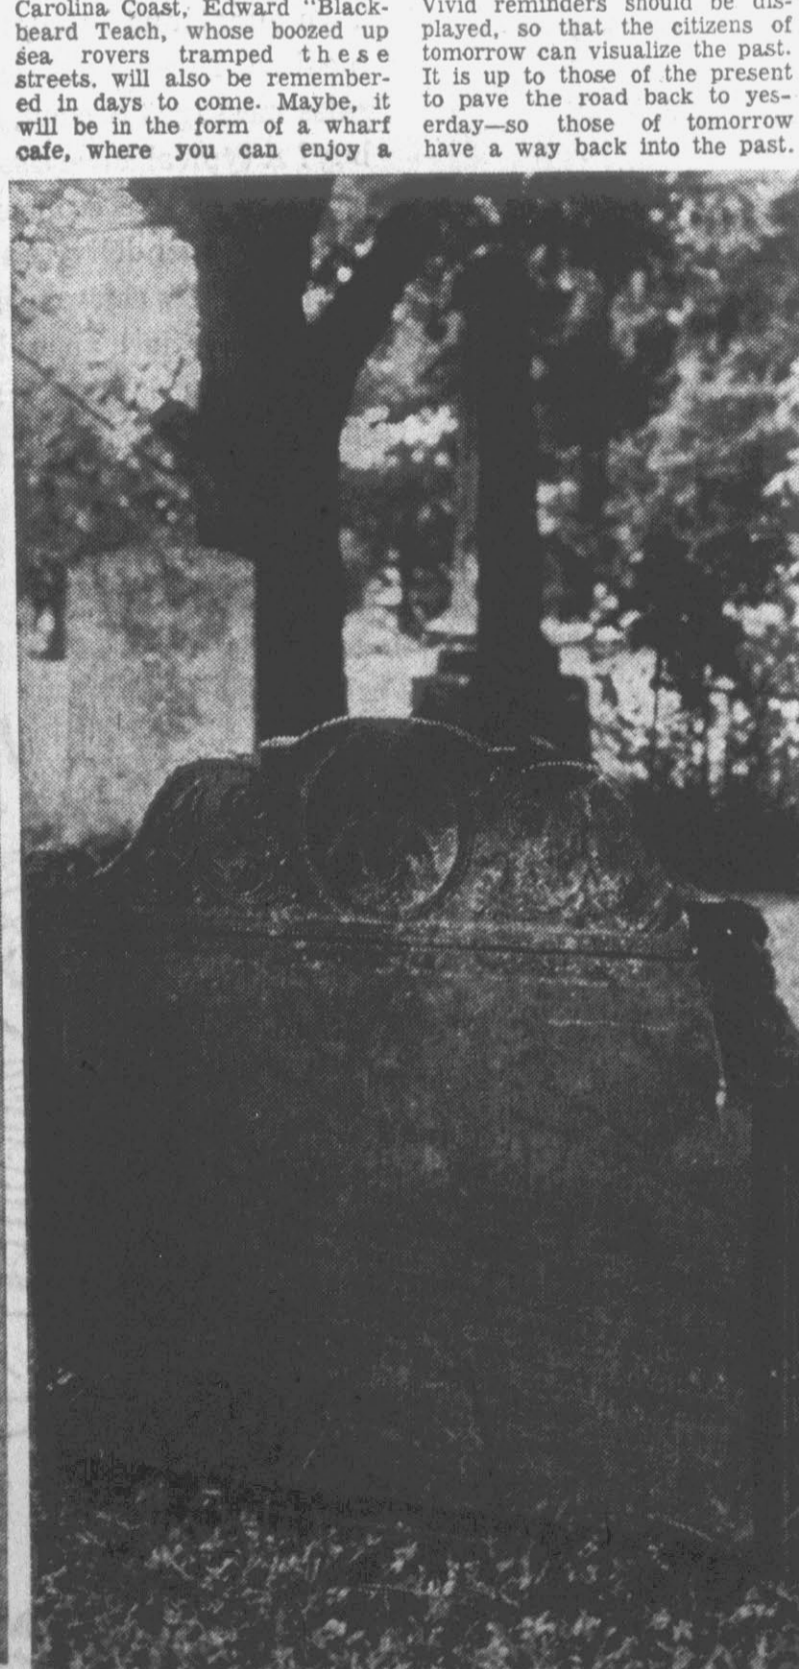

Greenville Attorney Frank M. Wooten is assisting with the legal work of drainage district in preparation for the watershed project under Public Law 566. In such projects, the federal government pays the cost of all technical assistance as well as the cost attributed to flood prevention and agricultural water management.

The Drainage District will bear the cost of drainage benefits and must furnish all easements and right-of-ways. The sponsoring organization also agree to maintain the project after completion.

Lacy Coates, leader of the watershed planning party, has given preliminary cost-sharing estimates for the construction work. These figures revealed the federal governments share would be about $520,300 while the local cost share would be about $172,300.

Plane Took Off Without A Pilot

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Doren Bumgardner planned a short airplane flight around Burlington Friday. He didn't make it—but the plane did.

The plane, a Civil Air Patrol L16, jumped its mooring blocks at Municipal Airport after Bumgardner started the engine.

Then the shiny silver craft tried its wings without a pilot on an erratic two-hour flight that ended in an Illinois bean field.

"I sure hope it doesn't happen to me again," said the 29-year-old pilot, a member of the Burlington CAP squadron.

The plane's unusual behavior had this city of 34,000 persons in a tizzy for an hour as it circled lazily at 1,200 feet over downtown buildings and outlying residential areas.

Finally the plane straightened out, climbed to 12,000 feet, ran out of gas and plunged onto the J. L. Garner farm four miles west of Alledo, Ill. The only damage was to the plane—demolished—and to the bean field.

"When that engine started, it started real fast," said Bumgardner, a rated pilot for six years. He said he ran to the side of the plane, grabbed the control stick, but couldn't get inside.

"I tried to do everything in my power to hold her down," he said. "I just couldn't. I had to let go."

Bumgardner suffered a skinned right side from ankle to hip. He was taken to a hospital.

Oratory In Virginia Of 1820-40 Era Reviewed

In Virginia during the period from 1820 to 1840 "the orator was ever present—in the law courts, at political meetings, conventions, and camp meetings, in the pulpits, and at commencements and barbecues." Dr. Ralph Hardee Rives of the East Carolina College English Department says in the current Summer Issue of the "Southern Speech Journal."

His article "Public Address in the 'Old Dominion'" analyzes the role of the orator, his influence, his stand on matters of state and national importance, and his characteristics as a speaker during a period when the great liberal tradition of Jefferson, Patrick Henry, and George Mason was waning and a new conservatism was establishing itself.

The political orator "dominated the scene in Virginia" during the antebellum period, Dr. Rives points out. "Until 1820," he says, "Virginia political orators could hardly have been distinguished as either Northern or Southern; however, with the presentation of the slavery question, the increasing fear of national encroachment at the expense of what Virginians felt were States' rights, and the rapid growth of sectionalism, Virginia orators gradually came to be identified with the ultra-conservative attitude characteristic of their fellow-statesmen from the Lower South."

John Randolph of Roanoke "more than anyone else, united the doctrine of state sovereignty with the maintenance of Negro slavery," Dr. Rives states.

Speeches were often lengthy and were predominantly classic in style, the author points out.

Discussing political oratory, Dr. Rives gives special attention to the slavery debate in the Virginia Assembly of 1831-1832 and its importance. He says that "it marked the final attempt by any Southern state to abolish slavery and served as a line of demarcation between a public willing to hear the faults of slavery and one which became increasingly intolerant of criticism."

OLD BOOBYTRAP

NANCY, France (AP) — A bridge on the Bouzonville-Sarrebourg Railroad line has been booby-trapped for 17 years, workers discovered Friday. They believe the explosives were hidden in the structure by American engineers during the battle of the Bulge in 1944.

THE REV. HAROLD MCHINISH (above) of the Calvary Baptist Church in Greer, S.C., will begin a revival at Calvary Baptist Church here Sunday. Homecoming services will mark the fourth anniversary of the church. Former pastor Jack Finch of Lynchburg, Va., will take part in the services. There will be a church dinner on the grounds following the morning worship service. Special services are planned throughout the day.

Underwriters Complete Two Parts Of Course

Fifteen East Carolina area life underwriters who have successfully completed parts one and two of the Life Underwriting Training Council's life insurance training course, will be honored at a dinner meeting of the Pitt County Association of Life Underwriters on September 14 in Greenville, it was announced by J. D. Wilson Jr., Association president.

Carl Kinlaw, Metropolitan manager, local chairman of LUTC Course committee, will preside as master of ceremonies during the presentation.

Developed by industry leaders and sponsored by the Nation Association of Life Underwriters, LUTC was established in 1947 to provide a nationwide training program for the career agent. For 25 weeks a year, the two-year course brings together progressive life underwriters in local classes. Under the leadership of capable field men, they study specific case problems, and the best methods of arranging the life insurance estate of their clients in today's financial atmosphere. Upon successful completion of 50 weeks of comprehensive study, the agent is equipped to handle all of his client's personal and business life insurance.

First Church of Christ, Scientist

Effective prayer will be a theme dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon entitled "Substance."

Scriptural readings will include the account in Luke of the Master's parable about the two men, one a Pharisee and the other a publican, who went up into the temple to pray.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (p. 2): "What are the motives for prayer? Do we pray to make ourselves better or to benefit those who hear us, to enlighten the infinite or to be heard of men? Are we benefited by praying? Yes, the desire which goes forth hungering after righteousness is blessed of our Father, and it does not return unto us void."

The Golden Text is from Hebrews (3): "We are made partakers of Christ, if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast unto the end."

Memorial Baptist Announcements

The WMU will meet Monday night at 8:00 at the church. The Ernest Circle, Mrs. J. L. Winstead, will have charge of the program. The topic will be "We Bring Our Gifts of Love." There will be an installation of officers.

The Junior G. A.'s will meet Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 with Sabra Alderman.

The midweek worship service will be held on Wednesday evening at 7:30. You are cordially invited to join us for this period of prayer and fellowship.

The Church Choir will practice Thursday evening at 7:30.

To Speak Over WGIC

On Sunday morning, Sept. 10, at 8:30 Mr. Eli Bloom, member of the Jewish Reform Temple in New Bern, will speak on Sabbath School-Church attendance.

Vicar Aims At 'Sinful Driving'

LONDON (AP)—The Rev. Eric James says sinful driving is a major cause of auto crashes in Britain.

The vicar of St. George's Anglican Church in Camberwell wrote in his parish magazine that what drivers need is more humility.

He described as sinful drivers "turning to curse anyone who gets in their way, feeling that pedestrians are provocative menaces, finding it degrading to be overtaken and talking with a loud mouth upon the inferiority of women drivers."

Farmville Posts Highest Average

FARMVILLE — Farmville's tobacco market Friday posted its highest sales average on record—$65.23 per hundredweight — as nearly a million pounds brought growers $603,014.

Sales supervisor Louis Williams described quality of Friday's offerings—a total of 924,432 pounds—as "very good." Less nondescript tobacco and more good-quality cutters appeared, he said. Still, tips and leaf grades dominated the sale.

Friday's activity boosted the market's season sales average to $63.51 and brought total pounds sold to nearly 10 million. Total receipts through Friday stood at $5,956,717.

A comparison of figures for the first 13 days of the 1961 season showed the local market running ahead of last year's auction season.

Through Friday, nearly one million more pounds of tobacco had been sold here than during the same period a year ago. Total receipts were more than $1.2 million above last year's corresponding total.

The sales average for the first 13 days this season jumped by nearly $8 per 100 above last year's first-13-day mark—from $55.62 last year to $63.51 through Friday.

Williams predicted continued heavy volumes here next week and expected grade-for-grade prices to remain firm.

Two Children Injured In 2 Friday Mishaps

Two children were injured in two separate car-pedestrian mishaps investigated in Greenville yesterday, police reported.

Investigators said the first injury resulted when a vehicle driven by Larry James Stalls, 18, of 904 Colonial Ave. collided with a two-year-old child at the intersection of Norris and Perkins Sts. about 2:50 p.m.

Police, who identified the injured as Renny Edwards of 214 Perkins Ave., said the child suffered abrasions and bruises to her face and head, and was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital for observation.

The second pedestrian mishap occurred at the intersection of 12th and Pitt Sts. about 8:25 p.m. officers reported.

The mishap involved a car driven by William Junior Rodgers, 42-year-old Negro of Route 1, Greenville, and Jamie Dupree, 7-year-old Negro of 407 West 12th St., who officers said was playing in the street at the time of the mishap.

Dupree suffered abrasions to his right leg, foot and elbow, the investigators said.

No charges were made in either mishap it was noted, and no damage was done to the vehicles involved.

An estimated $250 damage resulted to one of two vehicles which collided on Albemarle Ave. near the intersection of Virginia Ave. about 3:30 p.m.
