Hospital Land Purchase Is Referred To Planning Body

By HENRY HOWARD Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners today handed the issue of additional land purchase for Pitt Memorial Hospital back to the Overall Planning Committee for its recommendation.

A proposal by the hospital's Board of Trustees has asked for the addition of about 15 acres to the present 17-acre tract west of Greenville. A committee appointed by Jesse R. Moye, chairman of the hospital's trustees, asked for at least seven more acres, if not the entire 15. Early estimates of the cost for 15 acres were about $61,000.

Asked for some decision on the matter today, the commissioners indicated in their discussion the exact land needs of the hospital were not clear to them.

Though no formal action was taken, the commissioners generally agreed to refer the proposal to the Overall Planning Committee. Commission Chairman Robert G. Little, who is also chairman of the long-range planning group, indicated he would call a meeting of the committee this month to consider the land-acquisition further.

The land in question has been offered to the county at $3,000 per acre for land not fronted by streets or highways and $75 per foot of frontage along NC 43 west of the present hospital property.

A factor that apparently influenced the commissioners' decision to refer the land acquisition matter to the Overall Planning Committee involved a possibility that private capital may erect and operate a licensed nursing or boarding home in Farmville. Officials had been eyeing the proposed additional land at the hospital as a possible site for a county-built facility to be leased to private enterprise for operation.

A Durham woman, identified as Mrs. Pauline Barfield, is reported to have expressed interest in financing and operating such a facility. According to reports, Mrs. Barfield is planning a 42-bed facility to be built in the Farmville area.

Plan Report On City Bond Issue

City officials expect to make a full report on the $550,000 bond issue voted last September at the Thursday night council meeting.

Mayor Charles M. King indicated this today in revealing that the City Council held a workshop meeting Saturday concerning the bond funds.

"As long as we had the workshop meeting I don't see how we can go without having it come up at the Thursday council meeting," the mayor said.

"I don't mind saying we had the workshop meeting. We went over it real good."

He stated it appears now that the city won't have enough bond money to complete all the streets originally planned for. However, he noted, a full study of the paving projects is now being carried out by City Engineer C. A. Holiday.

"After that is completed we will say what we will be able to do," he continued.

"I'm sure between now and the meeting (Thursday night) there will be some final decision made on how we will handle the remaining bond issue money."

City Manager Louis Schepers said this morning concerning the bond issue: "We hope we can have a full report on all categories of the bond issue Thursday night so we can spell it out in no uncertain terms."

Involved is a $550,000 bond issue which received a favorable vote Sept., 1960.

By far the biggest item was $343,000 for street improvements which launched a major paving program locally.

The program, largest in the city's history, was slowed in July City Manager Schepers reported at that time there had been delays in paving streets which had been curbed and gutted. Complaints were being received from property owners because of this, he said.

There were eight other items in the bond issue, some of which have yet to be carried out. The city allotted $22,000 for Greene Mill Run bridge on Elm St. This has been completed and Elm St. improvements are virtually complete.

A new building for Carver Memorial Library has yet to be built with $45,000 allotted for this.

The bond issue provided $14,000 for Sheppard Memorial Library improvements and work has been underway on this for some time.

An East Greenville Fire Station is provided for in the issue with $44,000 allotted. Construction has not yet started.

Other items provided: municipal vehicles, $42,000; public works garage, $13,000; fire station improvements, $8,000; City Hall improvements, $19,000.

USS N. Carolina Heads Into Harbor

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—The battleship North Carolina was towed across the Cape Fear River bar and headed into the Southport harbor today.

Tugs got the North Carolina under way around 7:45 a.m. after the chain to the huge ship's 15-ton anchor was cut with an acetylene torch.

The anchor was dropped to hold the North Carolina about six miles off Southport overnight after efforts to bring the ship in Sunday failed.

A big crowd lined the Southport waterfront to watch the huge 729-foot ship as it came into the harbor.

One of the most ticklish phases of the operation came at the start of the school day. It appeared the Cape Fear River bar channel. Grifton would complicate the tax problem in the district.

Grifton is asking for funds to add an "urgently needed classroom wing" to its school plant.

Easterling, in his letter, pointed out that the requested bond issue, if approved, would extend Grifton's debt to a near-critical point. He expressed concern that the school bonds, if approved, might not entice a favorable rate of interest from bond-buyers.

Nixon Girding For Campaign

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Richard M. Nixon is back in California today to start putting together what he envisions as the most intensive political campaign in state history.

He said he is out to win the governorship with the full intention of serving out the four-year term.

Nixon, who flew here to address the Western Republican Conference Saturday night, was asked repeatedly by newsmen whether he would seek the presidency again in 1964 and whether he would accept a draft.

The former vice president replied he would not be a candidate for president in 1964, adding "it's implicit that I intend to serve the people of California as governor from 1962 to 1966."

As to whether he could be drafted, he said "the answer is no."

Nixon challenged former Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to back up charges that he was offered a political deal to stay out of the gubernatorial race. He denied knowledge of any such offer.

Nixon said he plans to start his five campaign around the first of February. He intends to go into every city, county and town, he said, and after the primary he'll campaign for every Republican nominee in the state.

Pitt Education Board Discusses Forthcoming State Survey

By PATRICIA MOORE Reflector Staff Writer

Major discussion of the Pitt County Board of Education at its regular meeting this morning centered around a survey to be made of schools north of the Tar River and plans for the industrial training school.

A survey committee from the State Department of Public Instruction will visit schools in the Bethel, Grimesland, Stokes-Pactolus and Belvoir-Falkland areas tomorrow and Wednesday to study the schools and recommend methods of improving them, as requested by school committees of the above localities.

In addition to receiving reports from each school on curriculums, the committee will inspect the buildings and later confer with local school committees as well as the Pitt County Board of Education.

The request for such a survey was made in the form of a resolution at a meeting last April by committees from Belvoir, Bethel and Stokes. Later, Grimesland asked to be included in the study.

No action was taken as of press time today concerning plans for the industrial school, though the board members spoke for some time in general terms about the school and selection of an architect, a director, and an advisory committee composed of representatives from throughout the county to help in planning.

D. H. Conley, superintendent of county schools, told members of the board that a thorough study will be made of fund raising in the schools as related to the board's policies and a report will be presented to them. Board Chairman Joseph Moye noted that the board has previously adopted a policy restricting fund raising in the schools.

The big ship sailed past the Southport waterfront a few minutes after 11 a.m. and headed up the Cape Fear River.

A fleet of 11 tugs was handling the task of towing the vessel. Out in front was the powerful 3,000-horsepower Coast Guard tug Cherokee with a small tug alongside to help the Cherokee maneuver.

The other tugs were ranged around the "Show Boat."

A northeast storm that sneaked in unexpectedly Saturday night was the villain. It brought near gale winds, rain and reduced visibility sharply. These factors undoubtedly contributed to the other misfortunes that plagued the Sunday operations.

The weather prospects were not too encouraging for the second try today at bringing the ship into Wilmington where it is to become a historic shrine and war memorial.

The forecast was for northeast to east winds, 12 to 23 miles per hour.

The North Carolina set out from Bayonne, N.J., last Tuesday, towed by two tugs of the Moran Towing Co. All went well until Sunday morning when the attempt was made to bring the ship over the Cape Fear River bar and on upstream 28 miles to Wilmington.

First, the weather turned sour, and then two of the tugs encountered difficulties. One of the Moran tugs fouled its rudder in a tow line. The big, powerful Coast Guard tug, Cherokee, fouled its tow line on an uncharted obstruction on the ocean bottom.

The attempt to move the ship was called off, and one of its two 15-ton anchors was dropped to hold it in its position.

A crowd of several thousand people gathered at Southport to watch the big ship pass—and were disappointed. One of these was Gov. Terry Sanford, who had planned to board the North Carolina and ride with it on part of the trip upriver.

A fleet of 12 tugs has been assembled to help tow the North Carolina up the river. The Moran tug with the fouled rudder has been replaced with another Moran tug. The 3,000-horsepower Cherokee will be ready for its role in leading the tow.

Typhoon Moving Toward Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa, (AP)—Typhoon Tilda with winds of 150 miles an hour headed toward this big U.S. Pacific base today.

U.S. Air Force weathermen spotted the typhoon 104 miles southeast of Naha and moving toward southern Okinawa, where there are thousands of U.S. troops and dependents. Those living off bases were ordered to the safety of military installations.

Egypt's Radio Urges Syrian People Revolt

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Egyptian broadcasts called on the Syrian people to revolt today against their revolutionary regime. President Gamal Abdel Nasser declared the Syrians now were fighting to save their "unity."

Ignoring denials from Damascus that fighting against the rebel regime is taking place, Nasser declared in a speech at a student rally in Cairo: "The Syrian people who struggled against all forms of imperialism will never give the exploiters a chance to rule."

But Nasser conceded the setback in Syria might set off a reaction of "treason throughout the Arab nations." He blamed mistakes, conceit and trickery for the success of the revolt.

As Cairo opened up on his four-day-old regime that broke away from Nasser's United Arab Republic, Syrian Premier Mamoun Kuzbari moved swiftly to rid Syria of Nasser influence.

The Syrian government appeared firmly in control but Kuzbari was taking no chances. He banned all demonstrations, closed all schools and universities, extended the curfew, and outlawed the Syrian branch of Nasser's National Union party.

Kuzbari also arrested a potential rival, Abdul Hamid Serraj, former strong man of Syria who quit as U.A.R. vice president in Cairo sources had blamed him for the rebellion. A Damascus broadcast said Serraj was arrested "to prevent giving a personal note to this movement."

An American traveler, arriving here from Damascus, said the Syrian capital appears enthusiastic about last week's successful revolt but "few of the ordinary people will say a word against Nasser. Nasser is still a top man."

The U.A.R. president broke off diplomatic relations with Jordan and Turkey—the first two countries to recognize the Syrian rebel regime. He charged them with a "hostile attitude."

The move was interpreted in Cairo as a warning to other nations against according recognition to the Damascus government.

But Nationalist China announced recognition Sunday night, and Damascus radio said Guatemala also had recognized the new regime.

The first batch of thousands of Egyptians ordered expelled from Syria arrived here Sunday night. They included 500 civilians—students, teachers, technicians and their families. None of the Egyptian officers and military personnel rounded up by the revolutionists was in the group.

Cairo's powerful government-controlled radio stations called upon the Syrian people to rise up against the Kuzbari regime and "strike against reactionism."

"Move up Syrian people, get out and fight them," declared commentator Galal Mawad, whose voice is known to millions in the Arab world.

Kuzbari told a delegation of trade unions in Damascus his government "extends an open hand to all Arab countries and to Egypt in particular." Damascus radio reported: "We are ready to establish Arab unity based on equality."

The Syrian premier had said earlier that Egyptian domination of the United Arab Republic prompted the revolt. He pledged the return of Syria to parliamentary and constitutional life as soon as possible.

Inching Their Way To Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union are reported inching toward agreement on negotiations that could lead to a compromise settlement of the Berlin crisis.

Prospects seemed brighter than 10 days ago, when Secretary of State Dean Rusk began a series of talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, that there will be an early high-level meeting to deal with the dispute over the divided German city.

Its probable form would be an East-West foreign ministers conference.

The next order of business is a continuation in Washington of the Rusk-Gromyko talks. The two met three times in New York in 10 days.

After the third meeting Saturday, Gromyko said, "We both probably have a deeper understanding of our position." U.S. officials privately agreed with Gromyko's estimates and said the talks had been useful.

Henrietta Taylor Bride Of Donald Filer

AYDEN—At 5:30 on Saturday, and Mrs. Benjamin Guy Taylor, the Ayden Christian Church was the scene of a candlelight ceremony when Miss Henrietta MacKinnon Taylor, daughter of Mr.

Mrs. Donald Bruce Filer

minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville, assisted by the Rev. John L. Goff of Ayden, officiated at the double-ring rites using the Old MacMillan Bible which has been in the family since 1780.

Proceeding the service, Miss Virginia Belle Cooper, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music. Miss Cooper accompanied Mrs. Mac Whitehurst, soloist, who sang "O, Lord On High" by Mozart. Handel's "Water Music" was used as a professional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recessional.

As the ceremony closed, the bride and groom knelt in prayer on the satin cushion which had been placed before the altar, and Mrs. Whitehurst sang "The Wedding Benediction" by Austin Lovejoy.

The church was decorated with palms from either side of the altar and woodwardia ferns finished the background for the altar setting.

The standard seven-branched candelabra and the spiral candelabra holding the cathedral candles, which burned during the ceremony, made a nuptial setting. An arrangement of white chrysanthemums, white gladioli, gypsophelia and graceful sprays of Southern Smilax were placed at the center of the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of candlelight silk peau de soie with a bodice of Alencon lace brodered in seed pearls and sequins with three fourth length sleeves ending with calla lily points. The neckline pattern of Alencon lace was also embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. The bouffant skirt was designed with deep folds in black that flowed into a court train and her three-tiered veil of imported French illusion was made to match the dress and was attached to a prayer cap of Alencon lace embroidered in seed pearls and sequins. The veil was draped to extend beyond the train of the gown.

The only jewelry worn by the bride was an old bracelet worn by her maternal grandmother on her wedding day. She carried a cascade bouquet of angel orchids and stephanotis centered with a white orchid corsage. The maid of honor was Miss Carolyn Rogers of Bristol, Tenn. She wore an afternoon dress of Joud Blue Tissue Taffeta with deep scooped neckline. The bell-shaped skirt was designed with a panel of ruffles down the back, a self bow accenting the waistline. In her hair, she wore a white chrysanthemum with ivy leaves surrounded by blue lace and carried a cascade arrangement of white chrysanthemums with streamers of ivy leaves and blue ribbon. The bridesmaids were Miss Beth Taylor of Washington, N. C., niece of the bride, Miss Nancy Plier of Atlanta, Ga., sister of the bridegroom, Miss Kent Anderson of Marietta, Ga., and Miss Dorothy Mae Devett of Durham. Their dresses were made like one of the maid of honor. Each wore a white chrysanthemum hair ornament and carried flowers like those carried by the maid of honor.

Master Avery Sherrill Jones of Statesville, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

Mr. John Bruce Filer of Atlanta was his son's best man, and ushers were Charles Wood Chatham of Winston-Salem, Douglas Jay Filer of Atlanta, brother of the bridegroom, Jeffrey MacArthur of Durham, and Joseph Hilliard Henley of Greensboro.

The bride's mother wore a gown of hyacinth blue chiffon designed with imported lace sheared bodice with short sleeves and flared skirt with side bow. She wore matching accessories and a white purple throated orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a sheath dress of toast brown embroidered eyelet silk organza over beige taffeta, and a tiny veil trimmed with matching shade and accessories. Her corsage was also made of white orchids.

Mrs. Filer was graduated this spring from Queens College in Charlotte where she received her A. B. degree in Spanish Education and was a member of Phi-Mu Sorority. She is now teaching in the city schools of Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Filer was graduated from Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem this summer where he received his A. B. degree in Business Administration, and was a member of the Sigma Chi Fraternity. He is now employed by the U. S. Steel Corporation in Atlanta.

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at their home on East Second Street honoring Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Filer, their wedding party and out-of-town guests.

After the reception, the couple left for a short wedding trip. For traveling, the bride wore a navy blue wool suit with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will make their home in Atlanta.

Reception immediately following the Filer-Taylor wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bruce Filer, members of their bridal party and out-of-town wedding guests were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Guy Taylor at a reception at their home on East Second Street.

The home was decorated throughout for this occasion. Arrangements of autumn flowers and greenery in colored containers were used on the porch. Receiving on the porch were Mrs. Kathleen Taylor Capps and Mr. Robert MacGeachy MacMillan.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Taylor welcomed the guests at the door leading into the hall, where they were greeted by the hostess, host and honorees. The hallway arch featured sprays of Southern Smilax.

The dining room was decorated with all white flowers and greenery. The banquet table, covered with an imported handmade lace and embroidered white cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums, gladioli, and gypsophelia. Festoons of Smilax caught with white bows encircled the table. Burning white tapers placed in antique five branched silver candelabra furnished the arrangement.

On one end of the table was the decorated three-tiered wedding cake surmounted by miniature bride and groom standing under an archway of flowers and wedding bells. The cake rested on a mirror-plaque surrounded by a wreath of Smilax.

The bride's attendants drank a toast to the bride couple as they cut the first slice of cake. The cake was served by Mrs. James White Lee of Greenville, Mrs. Robert O. Creech of LaGrange, Miss Susie Dixon of Hookerton, and Mrs. Nell A. MacEachern.

At the other end of the table was the silver punch bowl, encircled with white twinkles, filled with fresh fruit punch. The honorees were presented a gift of silver in their chosen pattern.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Fleming spent Monday in Rocky Mount with their son, Mr. Gerald Fleming, Mrs. Fleming and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Norman and daughter Susanne visited the parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stokes, and Kathy Watson returned home with them for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Ross of Washington visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whitchard Saturday afternoon. Miss Joy Perkins of Durham spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Perkins.

Mrs. Katharine Adams of Greenville, and Mrs. Katharine MacMillan of Fayetteville presided at the punch bowl. Guests served themselves to an assortment of sandwiches, salted nuts, decorated mints and French pastry cheese straws.

Hudson-White Vows Spoken In New Bern

Mrs. George Carlton Hudson

Miss Patricia Ann White, daughter of Mrs. Walter Thomas White and the late Mr. White of 2700 Oaks Road, New Bern, became the bride of George Carlton Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Larry Hudson of Route 3, Greenville, in a ceremony solemnized on Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the home of the bride with Rev. A. L. Hines, pastor, officiating.

The home was decorated with baskets of white carnations, English ivy and white cathedral candles in seven-branched candelabra. Wedding music was rendered by Miss Brenda Caton, pianist, and Mrs. Larry Hudson Jr., vocalist, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. F. R. Morton, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of silk-organza over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted lace bodice with scalloped neckline and three-quarter sleeves. Her elbow length veil of bridal illusion was attached to a bow-styled hat of organza with seeded pearls and she carried a white Bible topped with a purple orchid. Her only ornament was a single string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. C. B. West Jr. extended to the group for the hospitalized veterans their appreciation for the gifts and entertainment. The ambulatory patients were entertained and personal visits were made to the bed-ridden patients. Greenville citizens who are currently in the hospital and visited by the local group include "Coom" Williams and Tony Brannon. The party was sponsored by the auxiliaries in the Second District. In addition to Mrs. West, others making the visit included Mrs. Ralph Bailey and Mrs. L. E. Meeks. E. J. Cassick represented the Post.

Mrs. L. E. Meeks, president, presided at the meeting which was held in the home of Mrs. H. L. Vincent. Mrs. Meeks announced that the Second District meeting would be held in Greenville Oct. 15. Post and auxiliaries comprising the district include the units in Washington, Farmville, Kingston, Grifton, Pink Hill and Goldsboro.

Mrs. Ralph Bailey, who will serve as chairman of the Buddy Poppy committee, reported that Nov. 11 has been set as the date of the sale. Tentative plans for the annual affair were outlined and members were appointed to serve on the planning committees.

Mrs. Meeks told the group that progress was being made on the acquisition of a site for the proposed Post Home. Contributions have been made by interested persons to the building fund.

Since the last meeting of the auxiliary, Mrs. West, chairman of the hospital committee, reported that prizes had been sent to the Veterans Hospital in Durham. She also discussed with the group the Home Nursing course sponsored by the Red Cross in cooperation with Civil Defense. Mrs. West will contact the directors and it is hoped a class can be organized for the auxiliary members.

A request from Caswell Training School for toilet articles and cigarettes has been fulfilled, according to Mrs. J. A. Joyner Jr.

Mrs. Kenneth Brown, secretary and treasurer, gave a detailed report of the expenditures of the auxiliary during the past year. Her report showed that 117 persons were assisted from proceeds of last year's Buddy Poppy sale. This number does not include the veterans who were remembered and entertained in VA Hospitals in the state.

To boost the general fund, which is used for expenditures of other services rendered by the auxiliary, the group voted to continue its Christmas cards.

Following the business session, a social hour was held. Mrs. Duke Andrews served as co-hostess with Mrs. Vincent.

The Golden Month Of Opportunity

North Carolina, which has seen its tourist industry grow by leaps and bounds in the past decade, still has vast potential of development of this particular industry if it will but put greater effort into the project.

Generally the state has approached its tourist industry—particularly in the coastal and mountain areas—as primarily a summer-time project. Gradually the season has lengthened to include a few weeks in the spring and has lapped over into a few weeks of September, but primarily the tourist season for the state still is confined to the period from early June to Labor Day.

Somehow the moving forces behind the tourist industry development have not succeeded in selling even native Tar Heels on the tourist opportunities and attractions that the fall months hold for North Carolina. In the mountains of the state, the scenery is reaching its peak as the first frosts begin to turn the hardwood trees of the mountain region into a sea of color that defies description. To be sure, many tourists will visit the mountains of North Carolina during these beautiful weeks which lie ahead, but the traffic will hardly compare with that of the summer peak.

More Travel In State Than Ever

By LYNN NISBET
TRAVEL — More people traveled more miles and saw more interesting things in North Carolina last year than ever before—and spent more money on their trips. Traveling folks directly spent $408 million, and travel-serving businesses plowed more than $810 million into channels of trade in the state, an increase of four and one-half percent over 1959—which had shown about the same increase over 1958.

Many other interesting facts on the state's growing travel industry were unveiled at meetings of the Travel Council of North Carolina and the State Board of Conservation and Development in Winston-Salem this week.

Besides getting first hand news about the economic value of travel to North Carolina, guests at the Travel Council dinner at Forsyth County Club Sunday night heard Vol. Gilmore, director of the new U. S. Travel Service in the Department of Commerce, discuss national and world trends in travel. Gilmore, a Southern Pines business man, is one of the founders and a past president of the Travel Council.

Significant facts and figures were included in a brief advance summary of a survey prepared for the Travel Council by Dr. Lewis Copeland and released Sunday night and the report of Charles Parker, director of State advertising, presented to the C&D board Monday morning. The Copeland survey disclosed facts about the increase in travel and the Parker report gave some of the reasons for this continuing growth.

SURVEY — This is the third annual survey of travel business in North Carolina and it is the most thorough study ever made in this or any other state. For many years there had been wild estimates about the value of travel. Soon after the Travel Council was organized in early 1956 it adopted as a major objective an accurate answer to that question. To get the answer it employed Dr. Lewis Copeland and an internationally recognized authority on travel statistics. In seeking the answer to the main question Dr. Copeland and his associates had to ask thousands of others—and check records in filling stations, motels, highway, and tax offices throughout the state. The product of all this detail work is a factual report, from which estimates and guesses have been almost completely eliminated.

The scope of the study is illustrated by a few figures gleaned from early incomplete reports: It covers 18,320 business places that served travelers in 1960. This corps of travel caterers almost a ghosttown appearance in the past month, although October normally is one of the most beautiful months of the year on the North Carolina coast. The long flat strands of white sand, that a few weeks ago, was filled with vacationers, now stretch almost empty except for an occasional fisherman who knows that October and the northeast winds bring the peak of the fishing season along the coast. There is also the exceptional vacationer who prefers the relative solitude and beauty of the beaches in the fall when most other vacationers have deserted.

From the standpoint of natural beauty and variety of attractions October should be one of the peak tourist months for the mountain and coastal regions of North Carolina's Variety Vacationland. It is a golden month that offers a golden opportunity for development by the tourist industry of the state.

More Crises Pile Up For Each Ray Of Hope

As hopes rise that a negotiated solution to the Berlin crisis will be reached by East and West, old sores of the world's trouble-spots have ruptured again in Algeria and the United Arab Republic. These threaten to create new crises in which East and West will be involved.

For the West, the Algerian trouble poses a threat to the French government of President Charles de Gaulle, the old soldier who in recent years has given the French government the greatest stability it has known since World War II. Should the new disturbance in Algeria force de Gaulle from power in France, it would be a severe blow to the West on every front in the cold war.

The Syrian revolt against the United Arab Republic headed by President Nasser of Egypt has brought repercussions in the Middle East that could develop into open conflict in a relatively short time. The breaking of relations by Nasser with Turkey and Jordan for their recognition of the new Syrian government suggests the militant leader of the United Arab Republic will push to hold together the federation that was created a few years ago. And his push may not be confined to mere diplomatic pressures.

While the world's attention has been fixed on Berlin in recent months as the spot where open conflict could erupt, it is evident now that these two new trouble spots pose just as real a threat to world peace and the already fragile relations between many nations of the East and West. On top of these new threats to peace, there looms large in the background the threat that the United Nations may not emerge from its own present internal crisis as an effective force for resolving critical international problems.

The dark cloud which has hung over Berlin in recent months show signs of brightening, but in its place new storm clouds have gathered. And like Berlin, the situations in Algeria and the Middle East must be the concern not only of those people immediately involved, but the concern of all people of the community of nations.

Experts Look At The Uptrend

By RALPH ROBEY
There has just been another dinner of top management and private business economists for the purpose of appraising the outlook. The dinner was held on September 19. It just happened that the following day the Department of Commerce issued a series of reports on the business trend. Between the two, therefore, we have a rather exhaustive survey.

It is not to be expected that the two will agree except in broad outline. The dinner participants are all on the firing line and have to be quite accurate in their projections. The Commerce Department, on the other hand, must be correct in regard to its figures, but it is not necessary for its spokesmen to be so careful in interpreting the figures. This is another way of saying that the Commerce statements have a certain political freedom which is not possible for business management and private economists.

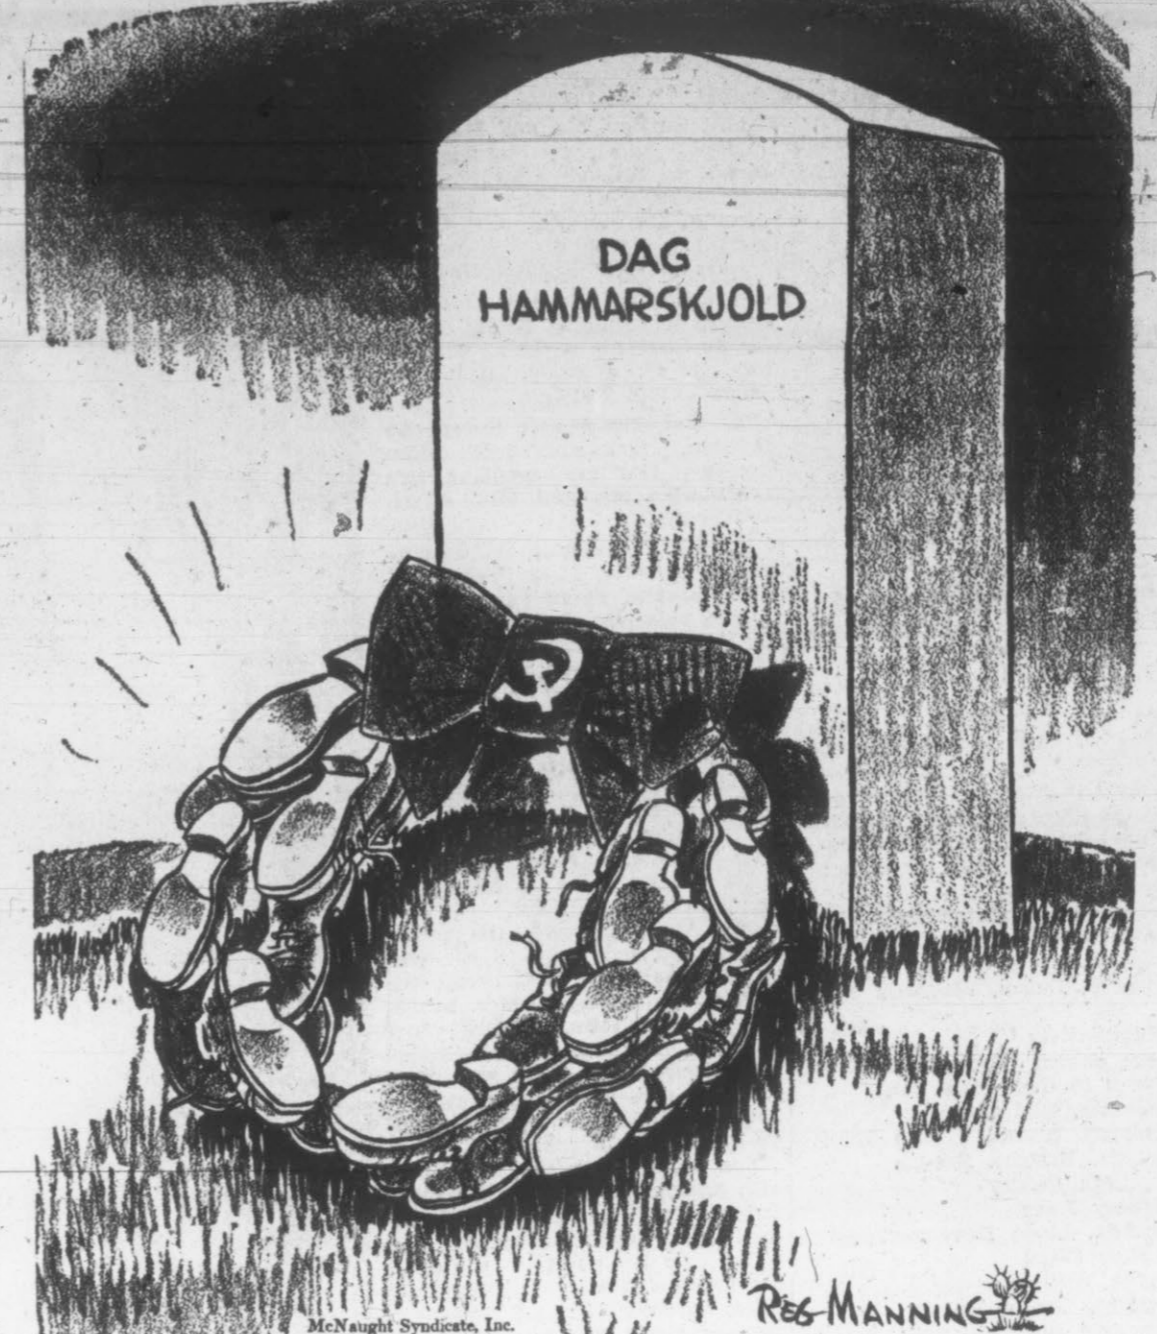

The dinner participants, just as the Commerce Department, recognize that we have been in a recovery period for several months and all of them anticipate that the uptrend will continue. The Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Hodges, places no time limit on the recovery, and neither do the private business analysts, but the latter talk about the middle of next year as a possible crucial period and some of them obviously are not too confident beyond then. No one, however, makes a firm prediction that the uptrend either can or will last only until mid-1962.

Another interesting point is that there were several of the dinner participants who felt the recovery is a little less vigorous than some months ago. This is borne out by the Commerce Department figures on gross national product. The low of the recession in terms of GNP was $50 billion in the first quarter. In the second three months this

Strength For Today

REALITY IN RELIGION
There is a great deal of superficiality in present-day theology. Frequently it is largely confined to benevolence. People emphasize the second part of the Great Commandment, namely, that we shall love our neighbor as ourselves, and neglect the first part which commands us to love God with all our heart, soul, strength and mind.
Religion is God's revelation of His nature and purpose and man's reaction toward these realities. The thing of primary importance is what God has done, but the emphasis today is largely on man can do. This is important—utterly essential—but it is not primary. The primary matter

President Kennedy's speech before the United Nations General Assembly left the impression that the United States was not bound to principle, that it took a pragmatic, man-of-the-street practical view of the problems that face us. This impression is more due to language than to substance.
Our basic principle is freedom and as regards that we make no compromises whatsoever. It is necessary therefore to review

Fallout Shelter Value

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass. — A featured article in Life Magazine for September 18, 1961 makes some statements regarding "fall-out" which need careful checking and analysis.
WHAT PRESIDENT KENNEDY DID NOT SAY
In the President's letter which preceded the article, the President said:
"The government is moving to improve the protection afforded you in your communities through civil defense. We have begun, and will be continuing throughout the next year and a half, a survey of all public buildings with fallout shelter potential, and the marking of those with adequate shelter for 50 persons or more. We are providing fallout shelter in new and in some existing federal buildings. We are stocking these shelters with one week's food and medical supplies and two weeks' water supply for the shelter occupants."
Neither the President nor Life Magazine made clear the difference between the effect of the explosion of an H-Bomb and the resultant fallout. In an H-Bomb would probably kill 97 per cent of the people. No ordinary "fallout shelter" would be of any use. But the fallout which would drift from this explosion would also be deadly. However, if all the nation's people had proper shelters, 97 per cent of the people not killed by the blast might survive the fallout drifts.

COST OF FALLOUT SHELTERS
Even 3 per cent of those in shelters who might die from fright or from other causes in the course of two weeks amount to about 5,000,000 people. Hence, the scope of the entire project of shelters is stupendous. I have had a survey made of an average home shelter; the minimum cost quoted is $1,850. This is for a shelter in a basement 100 miles from the center of a large city which might be bombed. As the distance becomes less than 150 miles, the price of the shelter increases. No shelter within five miles of where the bomb hits would be of any use. At least 90 per cent of those within this radius of five miles would be killed under any conditions—shelters or no shelters.

WHAT DO INHABITANTS OF BERLIN WANT?
We are constantly told of what Mr. Khrushchev wants; also what President Kennedy wants; but we have never heard what the people of Berlin want, or do not want. Of course they want food, water, and heat. They feel that the West Germans will see that they get these. But they certainly do not want a "shooting war" between Russia and the Western Allies, with Berlin getting the worst of it all in the center of the fighting.

Therefore, as a practical matter, should one build a shelter here in the U. S. A. until it is learned that the well-to-do families in Berlin (both West and East Berlin) are building shelters? Another awkward question: How many people should such a shelter be built to accommodate for two weeks? Those living on farms and having no near neighbors can answer this question quickly; but in small cities or towns the answer is very difficult, where all are neighbors and friends of one another. It is one thing for a neighborhood or community to build a shelter which would accommodate several hundred; but to build for just one's own small family would, I should think, make one feel rather selfish.

WILL THERE BE A NUCLEAR WORLD WAR III?
All of the above boils down to the question of whether missiles with hydrogen bomb heads will be thrown at cities in the U. S. A. to cause their destruction? I don't believe they will be for many years to come. When I was in Berlin, Poland, and Russia two years ago, I was told by high Berlin officials that there must first be developed an accurate anti-missile missile.

There is none such now. Only bombs launched from airplanes or submarines have an accurate enough aim to destroy a large city. Such a city must be relatively near the seacoast. We are building up the defenses of these cities as fast as possible so that we will be in a position to use "anti-missile missiles" when we have them in storage. Such defenses are what Russia is now testing and it is silly to talk about such tests underground either by Russia or by the U. S. A.

Shoppers Pay For The Giveaways

By ELMER ROESSNER
Today's column is somewhat sardonic.
If you operate a supermarket, a drugstore, a discount store or other emporium, you can bait customers into coming in and make them pay for it, judging from a report in Home Furnishings Daily by Bob Barrett, writing out of St. Louis.
He writes that many of the "Free" glassware offers made by supermarkets in that area end up costing the super nothing, with customers eventually covering all expenses.
"In one instance here, a supermarket gave away four pieces of a set of eight for nothing," he wrote. "Customers, however, had to buy the other four pieces to complete their set. The sales paid for the free items."
LETTUCE, ANYBODY?
He also cited the case of a supermarket that gave away individual salad bowls. But to get the large bowl to complete the set, customers had to pay a price that covered the cost of the entire set.

"Gas stations and drugstores also have been using glassware as traffic builders and giveaways for grand openings," Barrett reported. "Drugstores like them (glasswares) for traffic builders, advertising them as coupon specials."
"Many supermarkets and drugstores are putting in regular glassware departments now, since this category carries about a 40 percent markup."
Quoting one Vernon Neubauer, a glass company promotion manager, the trade reporter said, "Flexibility of glassware makes it an excellent promotional item for supermarkets. It can draw traffic for a grand opening and keep it coming back, spark sales in a dull season, move a particular item with a tie-in, and offset a competitor's giveaway."
TAPE IS A TANGLE-FOOT
"Some supermarkets like tape promotions where customers save cash register tapes and cash them in on premiums. A more expensive item, such as Corning Ware, can be used for such premiums. Customers pick the items up one at a time as they accumulate the required number of tapes. The more they get, the more anxious they are to complete their sets. Then the supermarket can add a matching percolator and string the promotion out for 12 to 16 weeks."
"On a cash sale promotion, price can be secondary, depending on the neighborhood and the type of store. One member of a supermarket chain this past year hallowed an item which cost $1.80 a dozen and sold it at 29 cents apiece, just about doubling its profit."
So if you operate a supermar-

Safety Keynotes Local Bike Rodeo

The annual Bicycle Safety Rodeo sponsored by the Greenville Moose Lodge meant new bikes for first-place winners Pam Pasti, Jennifer Fleming and Allen Jones Saturday afternoon.

Two sisters, Pamela Jo Hinnant and Debbie Hinnant, each placed second in their respective divisions, and Shane Faber joined them in the third age bracket. Third prizes went to Jeff Cargile, Dwight Gray and Phillip Tuten.

The contestants, numbering about 90 in all, were divided into six groups of 6 through 8, 9 through 11, and 12 and over.

Seven License Examiners of the N. C. Motor Vehicles Department guided the youngsters through their paces on the Lodge parking lot. Scores were based on a written test as well as a test of riding skills on a course laid out by the MVD.

All contestants were presented with a certificate of membership in the North Carolina Highway Safety Club, signed by Commissioner Edward Scheidt.

Refreshments, a cycling safety film, and tickets for playing the Lodge's miniature golf course were all a part of the afternoon's program.

The project is sponsored by the Greenville Moose as a part of their civic affairs program which has drawn honors in the past year on both national and state levels. Co-chairmen of the local organization's Civic Affairs Committee this year are Samuel Brooks and Bob Russ.

Supreme Court Is Starting Term

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court opens a new term today, its dockets crowded with an all-time high of 1,050 cases.

Most are appeals involving racial issues, business regulations, labor relations and state and federal powers. Significant decisions are certain to come in this term.

The court last met June 19 before recessing for the summer.

In a statement made in connection with opening of the new term, Chief Justice Earl Warren called on the federal judiciary to meet its "great responsibility" to relieve congestion of cases in U.S. courts.

Warren also expressed gratitude that Congress had responded to pleas for more federal court judges. A bill creating 73 new federal judgeships was passed by Congress May 4.

"They have given us all that we asked for and, therefore, all that we believe are necessary to handle the business of the courts," Warren said.

"We do have backlogs — very large ones in most of the metropolitan areas of the country. We are extremely hopeful that with the addition of these new judges our courts will be able to make substantial progress in relieving the congestion."

Warren conceded that congestion in lower federal courts could not be relieved overnight.

"In many of the districts and circuits," he said, "there are no quarters for the new judges, and there are other problems that must be solved before they can function adequately."

In his eight years as chief justice Warren has seen a steady rise in the number of appeals taken to the highest tribunal. He and his associates have managed, however, to keep the Supreme Court current in its work. At the end of each term in late June they have been able to announce that all business ready for disposition had been taken care of.

Before going on summer vacation the nine justices agreed to hear arguments on 73 appeals filed late in the 1960-61 term. Among these, the court will take up for the first time legal issues raised by sit-in demonstrations in the South.

Appeals by 16 Negroes who got jail sentences after lunch counter sit-in demonstrations in Baton Rouge, La. will be heard the week of Oct. 16.

Counsel for the Negroes said the appeals present issues posed by numerous similar demonstrations by thousands of students and others throughout the country. The demonstrations have resulted in desegregation in some instances and in many pending cases in state and federal courts.

First case scheduled for argument when the court begins hearings next Monday is the long-pending issue whether federal tribunals may order reapportionment of state legislative districts.

A group of Tennessee voters appealed to the high tribunal to rule that the federal judiciary may direct such redistricting and thus halt asserted discrimination against city electors by rurally dominated state legislatures.

First arguments on this appeal were heard last April. The justices were unable to reach a decision and called for reargument on Oct. 9. The outcome of this case could affect numerous states in which city voters have made similar protests against rural domination.

After today's opening ceremony, the court planned closed conferences for consideration of many of the new appeals filed during the summer.

Tar Heels Told Prepare For Foreign Visitors

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Vot Gilmore, the former Southern Pines businessman who heads the new U.S. Travel Service, has urged Tar Heels to get ready for a boom in foreign tourism.

Speaking here Sunday at a dinner given by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. for members of the State Board of Conservation and Development and the Travel Council of North Carolina, Gilmore said North Carolina would be an ideal part of a package of trips for foreigners.

Gilmore urged that hotels and restaurants print menus in more than one language and hire bilingual personnel. He said that businessmen should be willing to exchange foreign currency at current rates and that police recognize international driver permits.

The two groups were to attend the dedication of Reynolds' new $32 million cigarette manufacturing plant, which is said to be the world's largest.

Tonight, Gov. Terry Sanford will be the featured speaker at a C&D Board banquet.

ing billions of dollars more than it gets in revenue. For this fiscal year, which ends next June 30, it now is officially estimated that the deficit will be $6 billion. There is plenty of reason to doubt that prediction. In the judgement of careful students the deficit will be between $8 and $10 billion, and no one takes seriously the contention that in the following fiscal year the budget will be balanced.

One final point needs to be made. This is that all the dinner participants, and apparently the Department of Commerce, assume that we are not on the verge of the third world war. To predict continued recovery this has to be the assumption, but it must be emphasized that no one can be sure this is true.

Under-Secretary of State, nor the Ambassador to the United Nations holds a position of equal responsibility.

He must therefore reorganize and simplify the formulation and conduct of our foreign policy.

This needs to be done immediately because what with Chester Bowles arranging his own East Asian policy and "Soapy" Williams running all over Africa making promises which neither he nor the President can carry forward, we shall find ourselves in increasing difficulties.

Admitting that Adlai Stevenson is doing remarkably well in the United Nations, a difficulty arises because of Stevenson's prominence and significance. The assumption is too general that it is Adlai Stevenson and not the President or the Secretary of State who determines the foreign policy of the United States. This must be corrected if the President is to maintain his position.

Stranded Group Promised A Ride

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Stranded for five days after a nostalgic trip to Ireland that turned into a nightmare, 103 Americans today were promised a plane ride home.

The chartered airliner that was to pick them up at Shannon Airport last Wednesday finally arrived.

The Americans slept in chairs and on the carpeted floors of the air terminal—most of them out of money, some of them ill, babies wailing.

The group from the Irish-American Erin's Own Club of Chicago, who came to Ireland a month ago for a vacation, scraped up $15 Sunday night to send a cabled appeal "please help us" to President Kennedy.

Kevin Carty, club president, and the Rev. Edward Salmon, curator of St. Gabriel's church, Chicago, signed the cable.

Carty said the club paid $30,000 to charter the plane from the President Air Lines for the trip that brought many back to Ireland on their first visit in years.

Kay Mellor, a Chicago nurse, tended the sick among the vacationists that included seven children. Mrs. Mellor was worried she might lose her job for staying away too long.

In the airport lounge, the men who spent their fifth night on the floor there, stretched and looked gratefully at the plane—a DC7C of the same airline whose plane crashed in the Shannon Estuary with the loss of 83 lives Sept. 10.

The Chicagoans faced another day of waiting, however, for they were told takeoff is not until 7 p.m.—local time.

Laborites Expected Urge Recognition E. Germany

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—This would be part of a plan to ease the Berlin crisis. Other proposals would include firm Soviet guarantees for the freedom of West Berlin and Western access rights to the city.

A Labor source described this approach "as a recognition of existing realities." The proposals are included in a special resolution prepared by the party's executive committee.

Informants predict that the resolution will receive widespread support from the 1,226 delegates. It will be introduced by George Brown, the party's specialist on defense affairs. Brown is a close associate of party leader Hugh Gaitskell—the man who believes the next national election will make him prime minister of Britain.

Gaitskell has swung the party away from the old left-wing line that Britain should give up its nuclear weapons regardless of what the United States and the Soviet Union do.

The party left-wingers, however, still have a couple of clubs with which they hope to beat the Gaitskell moderates.

The moderates are committed to full British participation in the North Atlantic alliance.

The left-wingers hope to change this policy by winning the conference's approval for resolutions calling for:

1. The immediate closing down of the U.S. Polaris submarine base in Holy Loch near Glasgow.
2. A prohibition against the

N. C. Republican Leaders Divided On Bond Issues

SANFORD, N.C. (AP)—Top Republican leaders of the state are divided on some of the bond issues in a $1,665,000 package which will be submitted to the voters Nov. 7.

Robert L. Gavin, Sanford lawyer and 1960 GOP candidate for governor, has endorsed a $13.5 million issue for expansion of state ports.

This is one of the issues opposed by William E. Cobb of Morganton, state Republican chairman.

Gavin said Cobb had given assurances that Republican party leaders and members could decide for themselves on the bond issues.

"Bill Cobb would be the last person to dictate to us how we should vote," Gavin asserted.

Gavin said he turned down an invitation from Gov. Sanford to serve on a citizens' committee campaigning for the bonds because he was undecided on some of the issues involved. "Some of them I definitely will oppose," he added.

further training of West German troops on British soil such as was done recently in south Wales.

Still another major issue—the question whether Britain should join the six-nation Common Market—hangs over the week-long conference in this seaside resort. Gaitskell hopes the delegates will avoid committing themselves too deeply on this question. He wants to stand on the sidelines and watch Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservatives fight among themselves about the Common Market.

If Macmillan has trouble keeping the Conservatives in line, he may have to call for a national election next spring—a turn of events Gaitskell hopes will come about.

Recent public opinion polls show that the Labor party, out of power for 10 years, now is gaining on the Conservatives.

Red China Hails Anniversary

TOKYO (AP)—China celebrated the 12th anniversary of Communist rule with fireworks, singing and dancing in a "sea of joy, a colored fairland," Radio Peiping said today.

But a somber note was sounded by the Peiping People's Daily which reminded the people of hard times and what it called temporary setbacks "arising in the course of our advance."

"The reduction in the output of grain, industrial crops and subsidiary rural products has affected the production of both light and heavy industry, and consequently commodity supplies and the people's livelihood," said the official Chinese Communist party newspaper.

Politically, Tammany Hall Is Dead Duck In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—In politics, you have to paraphrase an old saying: "Sticks and stones may break our bones, and names can hurt us, too."

For decades, the New York County Democratic organization has been coupled with the name of Tammany Hall—sometimes with reason and sometimes not.

Several weeks ago Mayor Robert F. Wagner, aided by reform groups, smashed his way to a mayoral primary victory over Arthur Levitt, who was backed by Tammany Leader Carmine De Sapio.

Now, politically, Tammany is a dead duck. De Sapio is out and Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. is in as county committee chairman.

Friday the physical properties of Tammany were dismantled and the furniture moved uptown to new party headquarters.

From now on, said Wagner, it's strictly the New York County Democratic Committee, not Tammany. He added, "We want a new look and new atmosphere for the party in Manhattan."

But decree or no decree, there is still the Society of Tammany, which dates back 175 years to Aron Burr, who formed the patriotic and fraternal group—some historians say—to protect the interests of Irish immigrants, who were banned from the organization. Later, Tammany bosses were forced to relent and admit them.

As early as 1806 Tammany chiefs were associated with corruption. But in 1836 Martin Van Buren, grand sachem of Tammany, was elected president of the United States, and Tammany's prestige was never higher.

In 1868, along came the notorious William M. (Boss) Tweed, under whose leadership Tammany acquired the "tiger" appellation and set a record for corruption. Under Tweed, the city took a $200-million beating until reformers moved in. Tweed died in jail.

It took a long time for Tammany leaders to regroup their forces, but they did. Out of the political rubble rose Charles F. Murphy, under whose aegis—in the first quarter of the 20th century—rose such Democratic party greats as the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith and the late U.S. Sen. Robert F. Wagner, the mayor's father.

In 1945, Tammany turned out a heavy vote for William O'Dwyer in his successful bid for mayor. Once in office, O'Dwyer fought for control of Tammany but lost.

In 1949 De Sapio won control of the organization and hung on to it until his ouster this month.

In this century, Tammany jointly occupied headquarters with the county democratic committee—on 14th street and 17th street.

In 1943, however, the committee moved to 43rd street, formally marking the physical severance between the two groups. But the name never left home.

Now the committee's headquarters are on 48th street. Friday's move was sudden. Party records were taken along, but not a lot of the old furniture and only one member of the old staff. The new quarters are smaller and less expensive.

The old Society of Tammany still meets occasionally at the Democratic club at Madison Avenue and 37th street.

Ironically, Tammany's name is a corruption, too: It was derived from Tammanend, a pre-Revolu-

Quick Divorces Aren't For 'Sure' In Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Alabama is able to give a quick divorce to almost anybody from almost anywhere. But it is not always able to make them stick. Sometimes what a couple thought was a broken marriage turns out to be only a little denied.

A case in point comes up this week for a circuit court ruling in the tiny community of Double Springs in rural north Alabama. Mary Sachs is contending that her Alabama divorce from Walter Sachs, a former New York City financier, is invalid because neither she nor her husband was a resident of Alabama.

In testimony last week a private detective said he accompanied Mrs. Sachs to Alabama to get the divorce last year. He said their entire stay was three or four hours in Birmingham—about 100 miles south of Double Springs, where the divorce was granted.

As occasionally happens, the judge who granted the decree also Sachs' challenge.

"I've set aside quite a few," says Judge Bob Moore. He says he doesn't know exactly how many of Winston County's divorces have been set aside. Plenty of divorces are granted in Winston County—329 in July, 288 in June, 284 in May, for example.

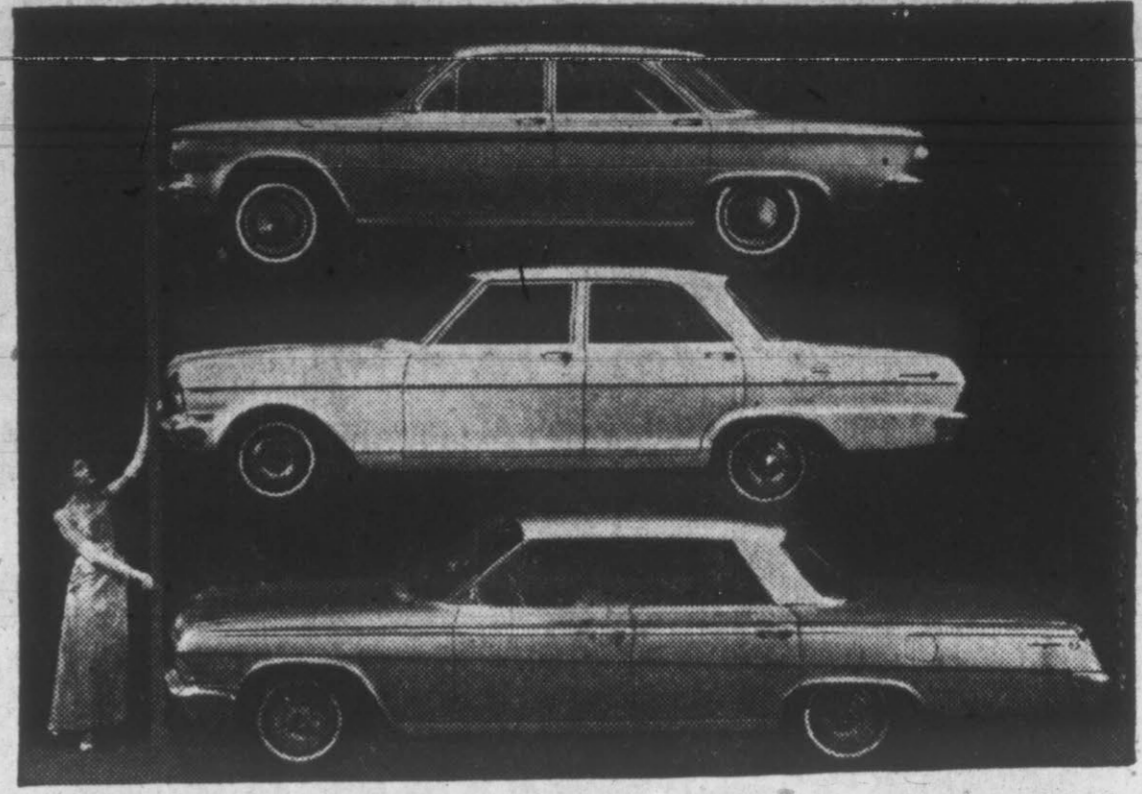

The Sachs case is an illustration of what might be called a loophole within a loophole.

The loophole in Alabama's divorce law is its residency requirement. There is no time limit. Even the expressed intention to become a resident may be accepted by some judges.

The loophole in the loophole is that both parties must agree to the divorce—and they must stay in agreement, presumably until death.

Otherwise, the spouse can bounce back and challenge the divorce.

'Aunt Sis' Is In Her 112th Year

WAYNESVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Matilda (Aunt Sis) Rogers embarked on the 112th year of her life today. Her sage attribution to longevity: "Hard work and treating people like they should be treated."

Aunt Sis, believed to be the oldest resident of North Carolina, was born Oct. 1, 1850.

What did she mean by hard work?

"You raise 13 children and be up all hours of the day and night, and you'll know what I mean."

More than 125 friends and relatives filled the nursing home where Aunt Sis lives Sunday. She celebrated with a chocolate cake and fried chicken. On the cake were the words: "Happy Birthday, Grandma—111."

Aunt Sis, every year since she turned 100, has received birthday greetings from the president of the United States—two from President Truman and eight from President Eisenhower.

A niece said no greetings were received from President Kennedy, or Gov. Terry Sanford, but added they usually come after the anniversary.

Aunt Sis has 284 descendants, including nine living children, the oldest, a son, is 92.

Opening Victory Slim For Reds

By JACK HAND Cincinnati's left-handed pitcher in Pittsburgh failed to boost the Reds' chances of beating Whitey Ford in the World Series opener Wednesday at Yankee Stadium.

Bob Furley, slated to face the Yankees' Bill Stafford in the third series game at Cincinnati next Saturday, had a fine workout. He allowed only three hits and one unearned run in six innings against the Pirates. Reliefe man Jim Brosnan was nicked for four hits, two runs and his fourth defeat in the seventh inning.

San Francisco nailed down third place by thumping Milwaukee 8-2 in the first game of a doubleheader behind Billy O'Dell. The Braves won the second, 3-2.

The second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, who finished four games back of the Reds, sprayed 15 hits around Wrigley Field while whipping the Chicago Cubs, 8-2.

Curt Flood waited until the final day to hit his second homer of the season in St. Louis' 2-0 victory over the Phillies who suffered their 107th defeat. The Phils, finishing last, were 46 games behind Cincinnati.

In the American League, Roger Maris hit his 61st home run for the New York Yankees who beat Boston 1-0. Kansas City edged Washington 3-2, leaving the two clubs tied for ninth and last. Detroit downed Minnesota 8-3. Baltimore and Chicago finished their season Saturday.

Gibson struck out eight Cincinnati batters while notching his 13th victory at Pittsburgh. The Pirates' Roberto Clemente, who wound up with the batting title on a .351 average, sat out the final games after being hit by a pitched ball Tuesday. His closest challenger, Yada Finson of the Reds, finished with .342.

Stan Williams had three straight singles for the Dodgers before he was lifted for a pinch hitter. Williams won his 15th. Doug Camilli's third homer of the year came off Don Elston in the ninth but the defeat had been hung on Don Cardwell.

Bob Gibson was the Cardinal shutout pitcher in Philadelphia, beating Don Ferrarese. The defeat ended one of the worst seasons in Phil history.

Thomas And Harrison Win Junior Golf Tournament

Bobby Thomas won the championship flight in the first annual Junior Golf Tournament at the Greenville Golf and Country Club this weekend.

The Pee-Wee division for boys under 12 years old was won by Ben Harrison who shot a total of 97 for the two nine-hole rounds.

Tommy Dunn won the first flight with a total score of 172 for the two 18-hole rounds. Runner-up in this flight was Tom Duncan who shot a total of 175.

In the second flight Gregg Hardy took the honors with a score of 193 while Charles Gaskins was runner-up with 202.

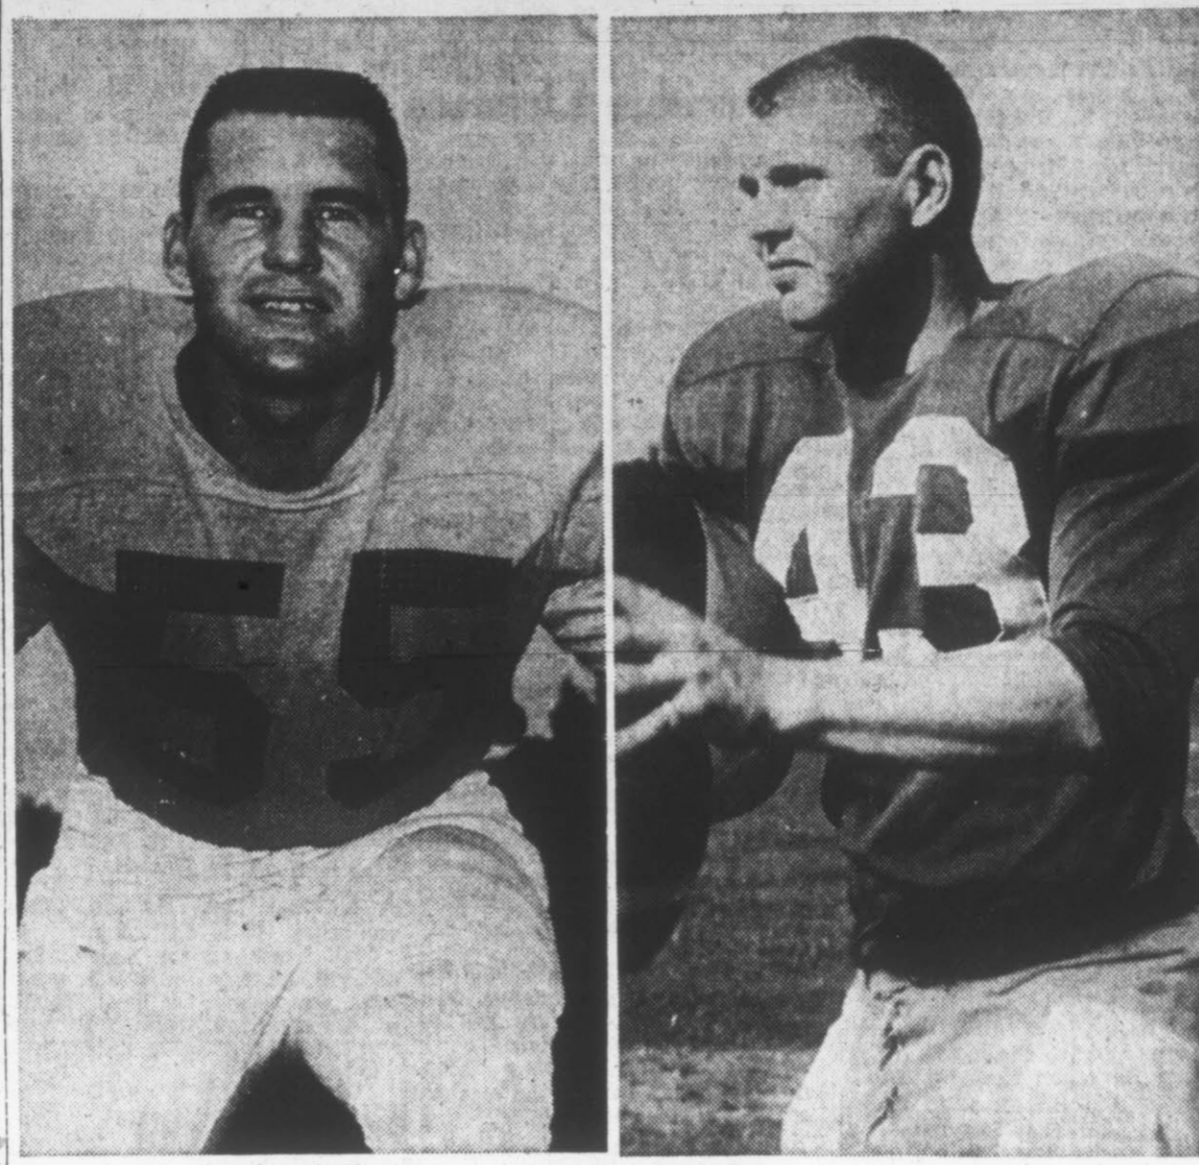

Trophies were awarded the winners after the tournament and a party was held at the club for participants and their dates. A total of 33 players took part in the two-day event.

Stan Williams had three straight singles for the Dodgers before he was lifted for a pinch hitter. Williams won his 15th. Doug Camilli's third homer of the year came off Don Elston in the ninth but the defeat had been hung on Don Cardwell.

Bob Gibson was the Cardinal shutout pitcher in Philadelphia, beating Don Ferrarese. The defeat ended one of the worst seasons in Phil history.

Willie Mays hit his 40th home run and Jose Pagan his fifth in the Giants' first-game victory over Lew Burdette who wound up with an 18-11 record. The Braves won the nightcap in 10 innings. Bob Taylor tied it in the ninth with his first major league homer and Al Spangier singled with the bases loaded in the 10th to knock in the winning run.

SALISBURY — East Carolina's Pirates gained their second conference win Saturday and the third victory of the season when they downed the Catawba Indians 16-0.

Top Scorer Best Keep Moving To Stay In Front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS West Virginia's poised sophomore quarterback, Fred "Colt 45" Colvard, is the top scorer in Southern Conference football, but he'd better get a move on if he expects to stay in front.

Colvard accounted for 20 points in the Mountaineers' opening loss to Richmond, and though he hasn't scored since then in two games he's still at the head of the conference list.

Pushing hard are Furman full-back Tom Campbell with 18 points and Richmond half-back Earl Slouft with 17. Campbell has scored a touchdown in each of Furman's three victories.

Six other players are in easy striking distance of Colvard. They are ends Bill Newman and Al Martin of Furman with 14 points apiece; and end Charlie Brendle of The Citadel, end Booker Clark and halfback Alex Gibbs of Davidson, and halfback Dick Drummond of George Washington, each with 12 points.

Campbell's third touchdown of the season came last Saturday night at Greenville on a one-yard run in the fourth period, and it brought Furman a come-from-behind 13-9 victory over George Washington that gave the Paladins the conference lead.

Furman now is 3-0 for the season and 2-0 in the conference with only two league games remaining. Sid Mitchell of The Citadel threw two touchdown passes, one of them going 60 yards to Brendle. Saturday night as The Citadel outdressed Davidson 20-12.

In non-conference action Saturday, West Virginia bowed to Syracuse 29-14, and while William and Mary went down to its 10th consecutive defeat by a 44-6 count at Navy.

This week's schedule totals four games and all are conference affairs. Besides the Furman-WM scrap, Virginia Tech — idle since Sept. 16 — goes to West Virginia for their annual grudge-fest. VMI is at George Washington, and Richmond visits The Citadel.

yard march, a 50 yard drive and a 15 yard field goal to account for the scoring.

Quarterback Dan Rouse engineered the three East Carolina scoring drives and climaxed the initial march with a 22 yard screen pass to halfback Tommy Matthews who went over for the first touchdown of the game. The extra point kick by Robert Muldrow was no good.

The second Pirate touchdown came after the Bucs had marched 50 yards to the Catawba one yard line. Tri-Captain Hilgert plunged over for the score and this time the kick by Muldrow was good and the score was 13-0.

The final East Carolina score came late in the second quarter when Muldrow kicked his second field goal of the season. The three-pointer was a 15-yarder from an extremely difficult angle. Muldrow, a husky end, is a senior from Bishopville, S.C.

The final half of the game was a defensive battle with East Carolina.

East Carolina meets second place Elon next week here at 2 p.m. in a homecoming contest.

The Browns (2-1) used a 7-yard touchdown bolt by Jimmy Brown, two field goals by Lou Groza and two scoring pitches from Milt Plum to Rich Dretling to build up a commanding 25-0 lead.

Bart Starr passed 18 yards to Boyd Dowler and 17 to Ron Kramer for touchdowns while Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung picked up valuable yardage on the ground for the Packers (2-1).

Steve Myhra booted a 52-yard field goal on the final play as the Colts (2-1) edged the Vikings (1-2). Lenny Moore scored four TDs for Baltimore, one on a 72-yard pass from Johnny Unitas.

Y. A. Tittle pulled the Giants (2-1) ahead with a touchdown with 11 minutes remaining, scoring on a one-yard plunge that spoiled Washington's debut in a new stadium.

Ollie Matson and quarterback Frank Ryan collaborated on a 96-yard pass play that sent the Rams (1-2) in front to stay against the Steelers (0-3).

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Batting — Roger Maris, Yankees, hit his 61st homer in fourth inning for highest total in major league history and a 1-0 victory for New York over Boston.

No Re-Match NEW YORK (AP) — Welter-champion Benny (Kid) Paret is looking toward Europe and a series of non-title bouts today while Emile Griffith, the dethroned champ, is screaming for a re-match.

Asked if he would give Griffith another chance, Paret's manager, Manuel Alfaro, replied emphatically: "No place, no time, no how."

If Griffith had won, as the 4-1 odds in his favor had indicated, he was to have risked the title Dec. 9 against Argentina's Jorge Fernandez in Las Vegas.

The referee, Al Berl, was the only official to vote for Griffith. His ballot was 8-6-1. Judge Artie Adams saw it 8-6 and Judge Tony Castellano 8-6-1, both for Paret.

Griffith had knocked out Paret in the 12th round April 1 at Miami Beach in what had been an even fight for 11 rounds.

He heaved a 39-yarder to Joe Hightower and then pitched seven yards to Bill Bradley for another score.

Maris Hits 61st Home Run Sunday

By JIM HACKLEMAN Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—A baseball was hit into the right field seats at New York's Yankee Stadium Sunday, bringing a larger measure of renown to one young man, a unique but unwanted distinction to another, and instantaneous fame to still another.

The first was Roger Maris of the New York Yankees, who hit the ball—his 61st homer this year for an all-time, one-season high. The second was rookie pitcher Tracy Stallard of the Boston Red Sox, who threw it. And the third was the fortunate fan who caught it, Sal Durante, 19, of Coney Island, Brooklyn.

Maris connected for No. 61 in the fourth inning on his second time at bat and in the final game of the regular season, bringing the American League champions a 1-0 victory. Stallard's first two deliveries were balls, high and outside, then low and inside. His next pitch was fast, a little high, and over the plate. Maris uncorked with that mighty, fluid left-handed swing of his and rifled the ball into the lower right-field stands, a drive of about 360 feet.

There, fighting hard among the pack of spectators for the valuable memento, young Durante made his catch.

Despite his unprecedented total of 61, Maris, 27, does not reign as undisputed home-run king but shares the throne with the fabled Babe Ruth. Under a ruling by baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, Ruth holds the 154-game season record with his 60 in 1927. Maris' 61 will be recognized as a record for the 162-game season inaugurated by the American League this year when it expanded from 8 to 10 teams.

Stallard, 24, is a right-hander in his first full major league season. He did not seem overly perturbed at being the pitcher who yielded No. 61.

"I'm not going to lose any sleep over it," said the tall and husky Virginian. "After all, he hit 60 homers off some other guys."

Gibson Guest Of Touchdown Club

Bill Gibson, athletic director of Wake Forest College, will address the Rose High Touchdown Club tonight in the high school cafeteria at 8 o'clock.

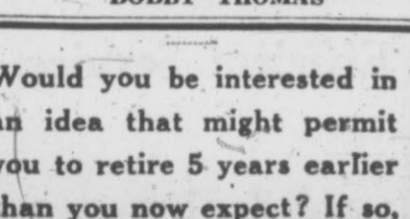

Gibson will discuss the Deacons and show a movie of one of the two games played so far this season. All Wake Forest Alumni are invited to attend as well as members and other interested persons.

Coach Bud Phillips will also give a brief rundown on the Phantoms, and films of the Washington game will be shown.

Allies' Response To NATO Buildup Plea Is Spotty; Many In Difficulty

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

PARIS (AP)—The response of European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to the U.S. effort to increase the military capability of the Western defense system by 20 per cent appears to be spotty.

Marriage Licenses

The following marriage licenses have been issued to white couples from the office of Mrs. Blair Cox Wheeler, Pitt County register of deeds, since Sept. 25:

Paul Garrett and Phyllis Tyre, both of Greenville; Wayne Harlow of Rt. 11, Charlotte and Linda Faye Lang of Rt. 1, Kinston; Jerry Karl Williams of Rt. 3, Greenville and Lola Mae Jorkan of RFD Washington, N.C.; Leroy Stanley of Rt. 1, Dudley and Patricia Gayle Taylor of Rt. 1, Farmville; Max D. Kelly of Myrtle Beach, S.C. and Mary Ellen Dall of Farmville; Eugene Holland Phillips and Ann Elizabeth Nichols, both of Raleigh; Johnny Elmer Dail Jr. of Greenville and Nancy Carolyn Smith of Rt. 2, Greenville.

The following marriage licenses were issued to Negro couples during the same time: Henry Best and Louretha Streeter, both of Rt. 1, Ayden; Alfred Wallace Busbee and Helen Rosie Eloise Morrison, both of Greenville; William Earl Barnes of Rt. 6, Greenville and Calettha Howard of Rt. 1, Bethel.

Though agriculture still is largely undeveloped in Katanga Province, some cotton, corn and tobacco are grown. Huge cattle ranches stretch over a 6,500-foot-high plateau in the eastern section of the province.

Most of the 14 military members of NATO are meeting the request for more firepower on the defense lines. But some nations are confronted by financial difficulties or internal political situations which make any additional buildup now difficult or impossible.

The goal of attaining the 20 per cent increase is set for 1962 or 1963. As it stands, the United States would absorb up to about 8 per cent of the over-all expansion.

The immediate aim is to make the 21 NATO-committed divisions actually battle-ready by building up to full strength and providing the necessary equipment. This is aside from the longer-range goal of about 30 divisions.

The United States is making a supreme effort to encourage the other NATO members to help with the expansion program. A series of high-level meetings among U.S. officials here has just concluded.

U.S. Ambassador James M. Gavin, NATO Ambassador Thomas K. Finletter and Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, met with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, sent to Paris by President Kennedy to make a survey of the situation.

The build-up campaign is encountering some difficulties aside from finances and internal political problems.

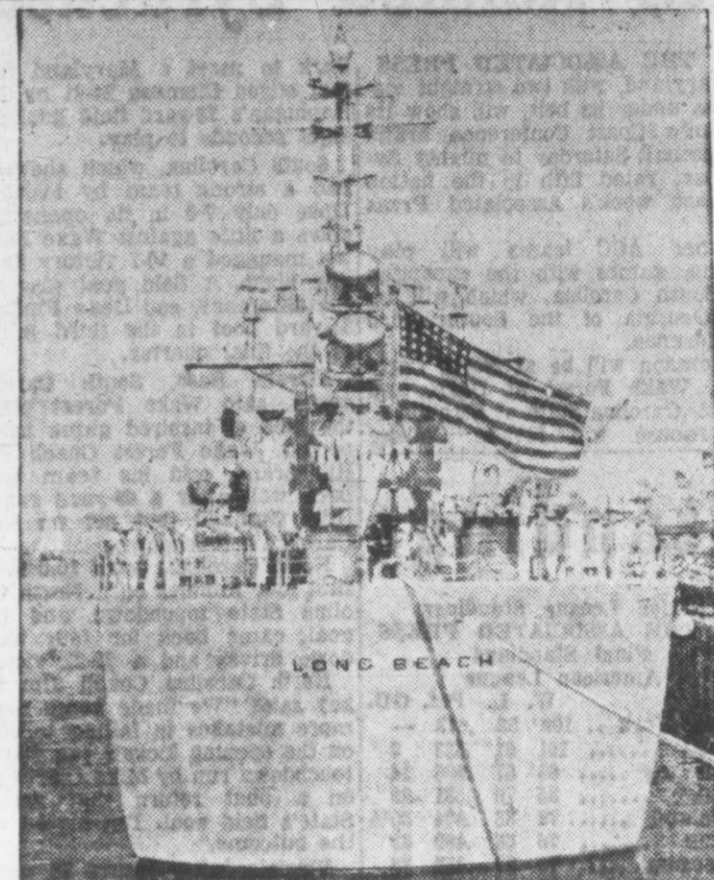

Until the past few months, the people of Western Europe had been reading that the really important thing for defense was the nuclear weapon. Today the drive is for more foot soldiers, tanks and guns. It is confusing.

This new policy also has brought doubt in some U.S. quarters. Questions have been raised by Congress members, who wonder if the Soviet Union may not be led to doubt the United States would use nuclear weapons in a war.

Here in Paris, as in Washington, this is answered with reiteration of long-standing policy: the United States will use atomic weapons, when, to the extent and in the manner necessary for the defense of the Western Alliance.

The feeling in Paris seems to be that NATO governments will support completely any military action needed—including defense of West Berlin.

SET TO GO—Flag is raised on stern of the United States' first nuclear powered surface warship—the guided missile cruiser Long Beach at Boston commissioning.

Four-Letter Word Makes This A Show For Adults

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Network television finally has come up with a dramatic program clearly designed for adults only. During the premiere of ABC's "Bus Stop" Sunday night, it used a four-letter word in ordering a man out of her house.

It wasn't a very bad four-letter word, but it isn't one you often hear on "Lassie" or "The Flintstones." It may have been the most startling thing in the series' first episode.

The story was about a middle-aged bronc-rider returning to his home town for the first time in years to find his son on trial for murdering a girl by running her down with a truck. He wanders around futilely trying to prove that his boy was framed and winds up reconciling with his patient wife, promising not to hit the rodeo trail again—not for a while anyway.

The trouble with the drama was that all the characters were so ineffective and unattractive that it was hard to care very much about them. When it turned out that the son was guilty of murder, it was not a big surprise, although it was a real switch. All prisoners on trial in TV normally are proved innocent in the last 10 minutes.

ABC's Target: "The Corrupters." On Friday night, turned out to be just another 60-minute crime fighter series attempting to cash in on the success of "The Untouchables." It was a very pale carbon indeed.

"Father-of the Bride," one of CBS' new comedy series, started Friday night with father's daughter telling the family about her engagement and father becoming so upset he poured coffee and then milk over his suit. Leon Ames plays father with the same irascible spirit he once showed in "Life with Father," and we've met the young folks before in many other comedies. The show is a pleasant, inoffensive trifle.

"Mister Ed," which CBS has turned into a network show on its Sunday schedule this season, is a mild little comedy full of chuckles for people who think horses that talk like humans are a riot. "Mister Ed" is the chatting horse and in the opening show he confided to his owner, played by Alan Young, that he wanted to adopt a colt. That gives you an idea. One mystery: how does Mister Ed dial the number when he telephones from his stable.

"Robert Taylor's Detectives" turned up on NBC in its new hour-long format and "Gunsmoke" returning to CBS Saturday was 60 minutes long. Both stories would have made nice, snappy 30-minute shows. "Perry Mason" returned with a new show Saturday and had such a complicated plot that if you took your eyes off the screen for a minute, you lost it forever.

Ed Sullivan resumed with fresh material Sunday night—mostly home-style movies of his summer travels. They were about as good—and about as interesting—as Jack Paar's pre-Berlin travelogues. Sports-loving Ed solved his most difficult guest problem—Perry Como beat him by signing up Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle—by introducing the gray-haired pitcher who threw the ball that Babe Ruth turned into his 60th home run in 1927.

New Family For 'Carla' Survivor

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP)—Robert Dunn, who lost 11 relatives in Hurricane Carla, joins a new family this week.

Mrs. S. W. Swanson of Angleton said she and her husband will become Robert's official guardians. The Swansons have two young daughters.

Robert, 15, has been living at the Swanson home since he was rescued from the roof of his demolished house. His parents, four brothers and sisters, an aunt, an uncle and three cousins died in the storm.

Several Texas parochial high schools offered scholarships to Robert.

"I think it's very nice of them," Robert said, "but I'm going to stay in Angleton. I've lived here all my life and all my friends are here."

Laos Talks Said Moving Better

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Gov. W. Averell Harriman, President Kennedy's roving ambassador, returned from Geneva Sunday night saying the talks on Laos "have been moving a little better in the last few weeks."

Harriman arrived at Idlewild Airport en route to Washington to report to the President on the 14-nation talks, at which he is the chief U.S. delegate.

"There are still some tough nuts to crack," he said.

Cooley Returning For Funeral

CAIRO (AP)—Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., was to take the first available plane leaving Cairo today to return to the United States for the funeral of his mother-in-law.

Mrs. Cooley's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Carter Strickland, died in a Rocky Mount hospital Saturday. She was 84.

Rep. and Mrs. Cooley were touring Europe and parts of Africa on an official trip in connection with his current duties as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Lion In The Hills

By JOHN B. PRESCOTT

CHAPTER 8

If Alec Temple felt relieved that his father let him keep the lion cub, he found, on thinking some, that he wasn't too surprised; for in general Claude was quick to grant the few wishes asked of him from time to time—as if to make up in some way for the manner in which his work, and what else is seemed to be, kept them apart.

All told, Alec thought as he searched the storeroom for a box and a piece of blanket, Claude could hardly be faulted for pausing over this; to keep a lion raised questions different than those attending a new pocketknife, way, or a bicycle.

He worked on the cardboard box in the middle of the floor near the fireplace, using knife and scissors to shape it to his liking.

The cub, grown used to Claude now, began to wander more freely, sniffing at everything. The two men talked of the country. Claude telling of his drive to the Rim, now and again asking Sam Fellows how things seemed in the basin.

Deep in his making a proper bed, Alec heard little—the words would sound in the warm room and be gone—but now and then he'd catch the thread of it.

"What I saw at Chapparral made me uneasy," Claude said once. "I doubt it's a quarter full. The runoff is way under normal."

"The wind blew all March," Sam said. "The snow pack went with it."

"So I saw when I went up to look. A little left on the north slopes in deep timber, but that's about all."

"And there wasn't much to begin with this year," Sam said. "I'd heard that. And after a hundred and seventy miles, more or less, on the trails up there today, I believe it."

Alec worked away. The box was well made and large enough to let the cub move freely inside. He began to make an entrance in one side.

"It's a dry one," Sam said. "It's plenty dusty in the basin. It makes me wary of May and June."

"The fire season," Claude said. "Uh-huh. And you'll have another in fall, if the summer rains fail."

"And the watershed already poor," Claude said. "I'm afraid I'll have to cut the grazing permits back." When there was no response from Sam, he added: "I doubt the ranchers will like it. I'm new around here, too, which never helps in such things. What do you think, Sam?"

"Well, I know one that won't like it," Then Sam changed his voice, as in imitation: "Halfwit Washington pen-pusher! Telling me what I can run on the forest!"

"Your friend McMahon, I suppose," Claude said. "I've heard of him."

"We haven't been friends for forty years. But I know what he'll say. He's run a hundred head and better on the Rim every summer for years."

"I can't help it, Sam. He'll have to take it, for a while at least."

"I know you can't," Sam said. "Not to say I'd do it myself."

"They all have to take it. I won't compromise with fire danger."

A kind of tension moved in the air, arising from the feeling behind Claude's last remark, as if his words told only half of what he was thinking.

In folding the blanket, Alec glanced up and saw the two men sitting, thoughtful and silent. His placing the cub in the box on top of the blanket seemed a welcome diversion.

"Now that sure beats a drafty cave," Sam said.

"It looks good to me," Claude said. "It's been a long day."

The cub turned slowly around and sat down. Standing then, he sniffed in each corner and afterward stepped out and ambled to the fireplace, where he stopped, not too near, gravely watching the flames. Of a sudden, Alec saw his coat change, but it was Claude who spoke first.

"The light brings out red under his spots. He looks almost rusty." It was true, for with the flames casting their light behind the fur, the undercolor was dominant. Glowing, it possessed a sheen as rich and deep as satin. A word of Claude's made Alec strangely excited.

"You named him, Dad. Just now, I'll call him Rusty!"

For a moment, then Claude did not seem weary or glum or discouraged with the long day before him. He laughed and leaned forward in his chair, watching the light shift in the lion's coat.

"Rusty," Alec said, "come over here and get in your bed."

Hearing Alec's voice, the cub turned his head to look at him, but still remained where he was.

"Not yet ready, it looks like," Sam said, "but I am. I'll be getting on to my own diggings now."

He rose from his chair to leave; and now good nights were made — good night, and thanks for chuck and for the hunt, and letting the cub live.

When Sam left, Alec cleared the remaining dishes from the table.

"I'll do it, son," Claude said. "Run on to bed. You made supper. I'm going to run over some figures anyway."

There it was again, work, coming, as it always seemed to, between them. But Alec all at once was too tired to think beyond that simple observation. He couldn't remember a time when he's wished so for sleep.

"All right," he said, finding agreement easy and welcome for once.

In his room, he put Rusty in the box on the floor beside his bed and addressed it in the dark. With placing the cub in the box on top of the blanket under the blankets, the shade was up, and from the deep sea of velvet above the clearing, the new moon's sickle sent a thin faint light downward.

The stars were hard and bright, like points of ice. From afar, an owl hooted, and, nearer, one answered. Somewhere too far to place, a scream, as sharp and fine as a needle, began and ended—life sustained at life's expense.

In his bed, Rusty whimpered. Alec reached to take him up with him, knowing that the cub had heard and that its memories of the old lion's ravages were awake and prowling.

"Just so you behave," he said. But the cub did not hear. Al-ready, within the circle of his arm, it slept, the even tremors of its life pulse telling as nothing else could of its relief in safety from the black, murderous night.

Radio Is Going Underground

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radio station WEAM is building an auxiliary station underground as a means of providing broadcast facilities during a nuclear attack.

WEAM President Harold H. Thoms announced Sunday the specially designed fallout shelter will be built near the station's present site in nearby Arlington, Va.

The emergency site will house a 5,000-watt broadcast transmitter studio, generator, microwave relay equipment, as well as bunks, beds, medical supplies and other items. It will be connected to a 400-foot well which would provide water.

Tobacco

Tips

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

One of the most important decisions a tobacco farmer has to make each year is which variety of tobacco he will grow. There are three factors to consider when making this decision. First, the disease situation on the farm needs to be taken care of by planting a variety that has enough resistance to the diseases that are prevalent on the farm. Secondly, the variety which you decide to grow should be adapted to the soil type or types on your farm. Thirdly, the variety selected should be capable of producing a good quality yield.

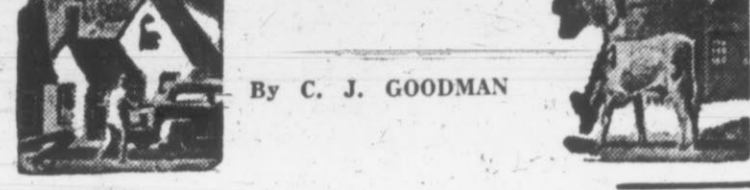

In order to develop and release varieties with these characteristics a tobacco variety evaluation test is being conducted each year in North Carolina. This program is conducted by the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with six tobacco companies and several farmers from different sections of the flue-cured tobacco producing area of the state. R. M. Dilda, Fountain, is one of the cooperating farmers.

Each of the cooperating farmers grows one-half acre of the displayed varieties or experimental strains of tobacco on his farm. The tobacco is sorted and prepared for market, keeping each curing of each variety separate. Each of the varieties grown by Mr. Dilda and other cooperating growers in the eastern and border belts will be displayed at the Smith's Warehouse, Winston, on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 10 and 11. The cooperating tobacco middle and old belts will display the tobacco grown for the evaluation test in Durham at a later date.

Representatives of the research and leaf departments of the cooperating tobacco companies inspect and analyze the displayed tobacco to determine the desirability of the different varieties for use by their respective companies.

The varieties included in the 1961 variety evaluation test are Hicks, N. C. 95, and two experimental strains which are resistant to black shank and some other diseases. Counties other than Pitt participating in this program are Wayne and Lenoir, in the eastern Belt and Columbus, Sampson and Robeson in the border belt.

The Farm Scene

By C. J. GOODMAN

Parasites pose a problem not only for the producers of livestock but also for manufacturers who utilize certain animal products for commercial purposes. The great losses to the livestock producer is in the form of unthriftness of the stock, respiratory and digestive disturbances, stunting of growth, waste of feed and medication, and death of the animal.

Extensive study has been made on farms on which effective parasite control for swine was practiced. One test indicated that pigs would reach the market seven weeks younger than in other areas where no special control was practiced. At four months of age, the control pigs weighed twenty-eight pounds more than four month old pigs that had become parasitized.

When pigs are parasitized, a high percentage of the livers and kidneys of the slaughtered animals are condemned by meat inspectors. The loss to the meat packer may be as high as forty to fifty cents per animal in some areas in the South. It has been conservatively estimated that the total losses from parasites of all kinds are about 125 million dollars per year. This figure includes the cost of drugs to keep parasites in check and the labor and equipment necessary for controlling them.

Insects, mites, and ticks are responsible for tremendous losses among livestock of all kinds. Such insects as horn flies, stable flies, horseflies, and mosquitoes often cause animals to stop grazing and seek shelter. The housefly not only annoys the livestock, but it is capable of transmitting certain diseases in livestock.

Certain insects such as the horse bot and the cattle grub spend the greater part of their growth within the body of the host animal. The screwworm will attack any animal that has been injured even if the wound is minor. It is estimated that the cost of treatment to the animals killed by the value of the animals killed annually in the United States.

Wherever animals are found in this part of the country, some type of parasite infection exists. When conditions become favorable, these parasites multiply rapidly. The conditions most favorable for parasite infestation are overcrowding in lots or on pasture; under feeding or irregular feeding; and failure to provide hog feeders, hayracks, or feed troughs. Failure to rotate pastures or animals on pasture, poorly drained pastures, and absence of a regular system of deworming pigs also contribute to parasite infestation of farm animals.

War Steps Up In South Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The rebel attack in South Viet Nam is no longer guerrilla warfare but a Communist attempt to win a strategic victory in South-east Asia, President Ngo Dinh Diem said today.

He told the opening session of the National Assembly that defense spending is being increased because "in stepping up the war, the Communists and their lackeys have forced us to face them."

Seventeen new nations were admitted to the UN in 1960.

Don't Kiss The Customs Man

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Bulle No. 1 for tourists entering Yugoslavia: Don't kiss the customs man.

A businessman, identified by the Belgrade newspaper Politika only as Basil, tried to and it cost him about $5,000. This is the story Politika told.

Basil was traveling by train from Germany and arrived at customs control in Jesenice on the Austrian border.

An officer checked his baggage and found it conformed to customs regulations. He saluted the businessman and turned around to leave.

Basil, evidently satisfied with the outcome, jumped to his feet, embraced the customs man and gave him two long, resounding kisses straight on the face.

This ends the gay part of the story. The customs man, apparently unused to such friendliness by passengers, decided to take another look.

He took a screwdriver, opened several planks in the walls of Basil's sleeping compartment and felt around inside.

The end of the story has Basil sitting with a long face and the customs man beaming over a big pile in the middle of the compartment—60,000 gold buckles for necklaces, three pounds of gold bars, a quantity of lighters and other commodities.

Politika figured out the two kisses cost Basil a total of roughly 4.6-million dinars, tax included.

Fresh Scares In Tyrol Dispute

MILAN (AP)—Italians, jumpy over recent terrorist bombings in the South Tyrol dispute between Italy and Austria, got two new scares Sunday.

Police raced up and blocked all traffic when alarmed passersby reported finding a package on one Milan street labeled: "Hands off! Dynamite!" The package contained garbage.

Later police hurried to a square where an ominous looking package was propped against a building. That one turned out to contain two used automobile batteries.

French Rightist Sees New Part

LYON, France (AP)—Rightist politician Pierre Poujade said Sunday he is forming a new political party to keep Algeria under French control.

Poujade said the party, to be called French Union and Fraternity, also would campaign for breaking all links with former French colonies that have withdrawn from the French community.

Poujade first came to the political front with a program for reducing taxes on small merchants. His followers won about 60 seats in the National Assembly in the 1956 elections, but his party was almost wiped out in the 1958 elections after President Charles de Gaulle came to power.

Ford And UAW Resuming Talks

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers resumed negotiations today amid reports that both sides have made compromises to head off a strike of 120,000 Ford production workers at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

An official news blackout covered the negotiations, but usually reliable sources reported that both Ford and the UAW had given a little on non-economic issues. These involve such things as production standards, workers' seniority and employees' desire for a say in new plant locations.

Ford Vice President Malcolm Denise, head of the company team, agreed.

Reuther and Denise appeared relaxed and confident Sunday night when bargaining was resumed.

Leisurely negotiations between Ford and the UAW have been in wide contrast with those that went around-the-clock at American Motors Corp. and General Motors Corp., where the UAW won its first three-year contracts in 1961 bargaining, Ford and the UAW met for the first time after dark Sunday.

The major development that the two sides let slip under their news blackout curtain was the fact that at-the-plant working agreements had been reached by 26 of the UAW's 85 Ford bargaining units. That left 46 local-level agreements, which supplement the national contract, still to go. Twelve units made no new contract demands.

A Special Visit To Say 'Thanks'

Alonza Cherry paid a special visit to the Pitt County Board of Education at their monthly meeting this morning.

He had something to say to the board, and he wanted to come by and do it personally.

"Thank you for helping me get my retirement. It means so much to me, and I wanted to come to thank each one of you so you would know how much I appreciate it," he said. His voice was quiet, and it was obvious it meant a great deal to him.

Cherry—who will be 80 on his next birthday—has taught so long he himself does not remember when he began teaching in Pitt County, but school officials recall it has been 20 or 30 years. Among schools he has served are Farmville, Fountain, Ayden and Falkland, just to name a few.

Chairman Joseph Moyer commended Cherry on his fine job of teaching and shook his hand. County Schools Superintendent J. H. Conley also shook his hand.

Russia Spells Out Plan For One UN Secretary-General

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union has announced a plan to name a temporary chief of the U.N. secretariat unhampered by a veto. But the candidate would have to meet with Soviet approval.

The proposal, previously reported by informed diplomats, was spelled out Sunday night in a statement from the Soviet delegation.

The General Assembly would choose a man to head the U.N. secretariat until April 1963, but he would have to work in cooperation with three deputies. None would have a veto. The assembly would make its selection on the recommendation of the Security Council.

The Soviets have a veto in the Security Council and could reject any candidate they disliked.

The Soviet statement said U.S. press reports had distorted the Soviet position and charged that the object was to mislead public opinion and whitewash the position of those seeking to subordinate the U.N. staff to one country or group of countries and to "destroy its truly international nature."

Driver Charged In Auto Mishap

A collision at the intersection of 14th and Charles Sts. Saturday caused an estimated $250 damage to the vehicles involved, according to investigating Greenville police.

Officers identified the drivers involved as Henry Pollard, 27-year-old Negro of Route 1, Vanceboro, and William C. Wilson, 20, of Route 2, Greenville.

Damage to the cars was placed at $200 to the Pollard vehicle and an estimated $50 to the Wilson car.

permanent replacement under the U.N. charter would require action first by the Security Council and then by the General Assembly.

To avoid an immediate showdown over the troika, Ireland, Norway and others, with U.S. support, have been promoting a plan to have the assembly alone name one man on a temporary basis.

The Soviet delegation said it would reject "any attempt to impose upon the General Assembly a one-sided solution in circumvention of the Security Council."

But it said that in the last few days it had given the U.S. and other delegates "a conciliatory proposal on the temporary administration of the secretariat."

This, it said, is that the assembly on recommendation of the Security Council "will invite a man who is well known in United Nations circles to serve as chief" of the secretariat until April 1963.

The Soviet proposal also calls for naming three deputies "who now work in the administrative body of the secretariat and who are highly qualified international officials from the U.S.S.R., the United States and one of the countries of Asia or Africa."

"The Soviet delegation," said the release, "has made it clear that it does not have in mind the utilization of the veto on the part of any of these deputies to the provisional chief. He must, however, maintain daily contact with his deputies and seek to achieve mutual agreement with them on major questions."
