Busy Latin America Tour Schedule Set For Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will cover 6,370 miles by plane, helicopter and automobile in his weekend trip to Venezuela and Colombia.

He also plans to work in a half dozen speeches in the fast, tightly timed journey.

The two major addresses are to be delivered at an agrarian reform site outside Caracas, the Venezuelan capital, on Saturday afternoon, and at the San Carlos Palace in Bogota Sunday night.

Kennedy has allotted time for private talks with his hosts, President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela and President Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia.

In both South American nations, Kennedy will join in ceremonies dedicating projects of the Alliance for Progress—the chief executive's 10-year program for U.S. cooperation with Latin America in economic and social development.

Traveling with Kennedy will be a party of 10, including Mrs. Kennedy and Chester Bowles, the President's special adviser on African, Asian and Latin American affairs.

There will be little leisure for the President from the time he leaves the White House about noon Friday until he heads back Sunday night.

The presidential party first U.S. Secretary of State Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home disclosed through aides late Tuesday night that, after two days of talks with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, they had softened French reservations about the wisdom of resuming the quest for a Berlin deal.

It was clear, however, that makes an overnight stop at San Juan, Puerto Rico, where the Kennedys will be guests of Gov. Luis Munoz-Marin.

Saturday morning they'll arrive in Caracas—where former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's car was stoned in anti-American demonstrations 2½ years ago—to be paraded through the city in a 25-mile motorcade.

After speeches, ceremonies and conferences, Kennedy flies to Bogota Sunday morning. There the Kennedys will motor nine miles to Techo for dedication of housing and school projects.

A banquet Sunday night will wind up with Kennedy's address. After the banquet the Kennedys board the presidential jet and speed home. Mrs. Kennedy will leave the plane during a refueling stop at West Palm Beach, Fla., and is expected to remain in Palm Beach through the Christmas holidays.

French President Charles de Gaulle still was not convinced that Western-initiated exchanges with Moscow would be worthwhile. For that reason the French plan to stay out of them, at least until a possible compromise shapes up.

The 11-nation council was expected to give its blessing to a new U.S.-British attempt to reach preliminary terms with the Russians on Berlin through negotiations between the ambassadors in Moscow and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

It was clear, however, that the federal government pays three-fourths of the overall cost with the city to pay one-fourth.

Bloxam said Godwin and Associates, the planning firm for the Shore Drive area, had requested the estimates. A policy statement was needed concerning the underground electric system so that the estimates could be given to the planning firm.

The commission asked Bloxam to obtain more information on moving and installation of field lights for the James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium. The action was in line with an earlier pledge by the commission to assist in the stadium construction.

Plans are to move the lights from the present football field and to install additional lighting. The lights are to be placed behind the stands. Presently they are erected on poles along the side lines and in front of the stands.

Bloxam said the lights are now mounted on 70-foot poles but, because of the distance from the field, they would be mounted on 120 foot poles in the new stadium.

Action was deferred on a purchasing policy presented by Bloxam to allow the commissioners time to study it. Chairman Charles Horne had asked Bloxam to submit a proposed policy for the commission's consideration.

Pitt Votes 'For' In Referenda

Near-Unanimous Approval Given Support, Acreage Allotment Programs

By HENRY HOWARD Reflector Staff Writer Only six of 4,709 votes stood between Pitt County tobacco growers and unanimous approval of federal price support and acreage allotments in Tuesday's referendum.

A preliminary tally by the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, administering agency of the program in Pitt, showed a turnout in yesterday's drenching rains represented 73 per cent of the eligible voters in the referendum. Approval was by a margin of 4,703 for, to only six against.

Pitt followed the statewide trend indicated by early returns from 61 of the state's 72 tobacco-growing counties that showed farmers favoring continuance of the federal controls for three more years by a margin of 104,209 to 1,679.

A two-thirds majority was required for continuance of the tobacco program. The same was necessary for a three-year extension of similar federal strings on cotton production which was approved in Pitt by 2,417 to six. Statewide, cotton quotas and supports gained a 45,241 to 903 nod in 63 of 87 counties.

Pitt voters also approved self-assessment programs for promotion of tobacco and peanuts. The tobacco plan was approved by 4,528 to 78 while the self-levied peanut tax was favored by 1,457 to 32.

While this morning's figures were not yet called official, ASCS office manager Livingston Roberts said a change in the figures would be "highly improbable." Any adjustment that might be made, Roberts said, would result from 94 challenged votes that were to be considered at a meeting of the Pitt ASCS County Committee this afternoon.

Roberts said pollholders in several county ASCS communities challenged the 94 ballots on the grounds that the voters should have voted in another community. He said there was no contention over the ultimate eligibility of the voters.

In commenting on the referendum today, Roberts said, "Considering the kind of weather we had yesterday, we were very well-pleased with the turnout. And considering the percentage of eligible voters this year, yesterday's turnout compares favorably with the referendum in 1958, the last previous vote on federal tobacco controls."

Roberts noted that less votes were cast Tuesday than were counted in 1958, "but there are also less eligible voters now." He said farmers leaving the farms and more farmers producing their tobacco on a strict cash-paid labor basis "greatly influenced the reduction" in the number of voters.

Ballots were counted immediately after the polls closed at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Roberts said. The task was completed by about 9 p.m. He reported.

The office manager expressed ASCS appreciation "to those who helped promote the referendum and made the number of voters high."

Percentage figures derived from early statewide returns showed the following: —98 per cent of the voters favored the tobacco and cotton controls. —97.6 per cent of peanut growers in 26 counties favored the self-help program for peanuts.

Tuesday's approval of the federal tobacco program marked the eighth three-year extension of allotments and price supports. Except for 1959, blue-cured growers have approved the program in each referendum since it began in 1936.

Commissioner of Public Safety Robert G. Harris was appointed to make a study of the possibility and advisability of purchasing a new fire truck for rural protection and a water wagon for rural fire fighting.

Sanford Praises ECC Example In Giving Blood

RALEIGH—Gov. Sanford today began his morning news conference by praising East Carolina College students and faculty for their 264-pint contribution to the Red Cross bloodmobile in Greenville last week.

Sanford called the response of the students an "excellent example of North Carolina college students taking a part in the life of their communities and state."

In citing the student blood donors, the governor called attention to a clipping from last Thursday's edition of the Daily Reflector which reported the response to the bloodmobile's campus visit.

Sanford said he would send a letter to ECC student body president Otis Strother commending the Greenville school's students for their blood donations.

The turnout on the ECC campus last week was called a new record for blood collections in Pitt County during one day by Pitt Bloodmobile Chairman W. K. Whitchard.

Sanford's statement today paralleled the governor's stand when a question arose over student participation in a 700-mile marathon run across the state in support of the November state-wide bond election.

Sanford answered by stating his feeling that students should be concerned with affairs of the state, its government and its society.

He went a step farther in recommending that students who were qualified voters should be excused from classes in order to properly cast their ballots if they expressed a desire to do so.

Rates For Sewer Charges Are Adopted By Utilities

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector City Editor Greenville Utilities customers will begin paying a sewer charge effective the month after the sewage disposal plant begins operation.

The plant might begin operating in January which would mean first sewer charge billings would come in February.

For residential customers, the charge will amount to 50 percent of the water bill with a 75 cents minimum and a $1.50 maximum.

Commercial users will pay 50 percent of the water bill with a $1.00 minimum. There is no maximum. The commission will work out charges for industries with special waste disposal problems.

The sewer charge is being levied primarily to cover the operating cost of the new sewage plant and the sewage system.

Commissioners officially adopted the charges last night. At the same time they set sewer tapping fees at $65 within the city limits and $130 outside the city.

Presently the city's raw sewage is being dumped directly into the Tar River. When the new plant goes into operation the sewage will be treated, thus cleaning up the river.

The commission last night established a policy which would allow it to install electric lines underground in the Shore Drive Redevelopment area.

Approved was a policy of continuing to install electric lines underground "in areas that adjoin our present underground network systems."

For the past few years the Utilities has been gradually installing under-the-street conduits, transformer vaults and other facilities in the business area. The system presently extends along Washington St. to Second.

The policy approval came after Director Leonard Bloxam estimated that it would cost $797,522 to install the power lines in the Shore Drive area. He estimated water improvements for the area at $60,940; sewer improvements, $12,166 and gas improvements, $20,987 for a total of $891,618.

Such improvements would be credited as a portion of the city's share in the redevelopment cost.

At its Nov. 13 session the board authorized the mayor and town manager to prepare plans and secure bids on a structure which could house the town and Civil Defense radios and help insure continuity of government in case of nuclear attack.

Another matter of business involved a request for a study of the feasibility of parallel parking on Lee, Second and Third Streets here. A representative of the local Chamber of Commerce appeared before the board on behalf of the Chamber and asked that the matter be studied. Harry Mumford, commissioner of Public Works, was asked to take charge of the study and make a report at the next meeting.

In other business, members of the board discussed zoning one mile outside the city limits and decided that more information was needed. They agreed to ask Leigh Wilson of the N. C. League of Municipalities to visit Ayden and review the matter in the near future.

Commissioner of Public Safety Robert G. Harris was appointed to make a study of the possibility and advisability of purchasing a new fire truck for rural protection and a water wagon for rural fire fighting.

Harris was asked to investigate operation of other rural fire departments and the advisability of securing funds for replacing the present truck, which was purchased through public rural subscription. The present truck, now 10 years old, was described as in "pretty good shape."

The board voted to present the usual Christmas bonuses to town employees.

'Hypo-Jet' Used In Immunizations

Some 1,500 students and personnel of the Chicod, Sally Branch and Bruce-Falkland Schools are being immunized against typhoid today with a hypodermic jet, in use for the first time in Pitt County and in the civilian population of the state.

The hypodermic jet uses no needles and enables quick, painless and simplified inoculation against various diseases, including typhoid, Dr. John Futrell, Pitt health director, announced.

Here to demonstrate and aid in use of the hypodermic jet is Dr. George Johnston of the U.S. Public Health Service, working at the present time with the N.C. Department of Health. The hypo-jet is on loan by the U.S. Public Health Service, regional division in Charlottesville, Va., Dr. Futrell said.

Immunization of people in the three schools resulted from tests which showed water pollution in those areas. Announcement of the pollution came just before Thanksgiving from Dr. Futrell. Now the local health department is taking steps to safeguard the situation.

In the three areas, chlorine is being put in already-existing wells to reduce the coliform bacteria count, Dr. Futrell stated. Generally, pollution in the Sally Branch and Bruce-Falkland areas is due to shallow wells. Chicod uses the septic tank system. However, deep wells are being built in the Sally Branch and Bruce-Falkland sections, it was reported.

Fourteen-Year-Old Found Guilty Of Arson Charge

ROBERSONVILLE — In Juvenile Court yesterday, Judge J.B. Winn found 14-year-old Willie Ernest Jones guilty of arson. Jones had been sought by Robersonville Police Monday and was apprehended about 11 p.m. that night in a drenched wooded area on U.S. 64 about two miles west of Robersonville.

Police Chief William T. Smith appeared before Superior Court Judge Joseph Parker, who gave an order for Smith to hold the youth in jail until such a time as the boy could be committed as an inmate at the Morrison Training School in Huffman, N.C.

The youth had been charged with breaking and entering, larceny and arson. He was being sought Monday for breaking into the Big Apple Cafe in Robersonville Sunday and the theft of an assortment of merchandise.

The hypodermic jet immunization is officially called the "hypodermic jet injection apparatus, automatic."

Any type of vaccine may be attached to the apparatus, which works like a stamp. Application of the immunization is very simple, Dr. Futrell stated: "Just a matter of depressing one trigger to load and the other to fire."

Immunization may be given intramuscularly or sub-cutaneously (under the skin).

The hypodermic jet has been tested, proven and standardized after extensive use at military installations. As well as being simpler, it saves costly time, cut down on operating cost of personnel and breakage of materials and very important—it eliminates completely the possibility of cross infections, such as serum hepatitis.

Further, it insures the patient the comfort of reduction of pain and eliminates the patient's fear of needle injection.

There is conclusive proof that the absorption rate is, at the least, as good as conventional types of injections, Dr. Futrell stated. He added that he had had the hypo-jet tried on himself.

Another advantage of this type of immunization is that there is no chance of damage to the veins during injection, since the vaccine slides around the elastic blood vessel without piercing it. The vaccine is absorbed into the blood stream.

The hypodermic jet, in addition to being versatile in types of immunizations, can handle bottles of vaccine from five to sixty cc's, Dr. Futrell said.

On Nov. 30 this year, the Jones boy had been charged with breaking and entering the East End High School in Robersonville and was placed in the custody of his parents until he could be admitted to a delinquent school.

Attack Launched By UN Troops In Elisabethville

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Four Swedish U.N. jets blasted the Lido Hotel with bombs and rockets today in an apparent attempt to flush out Katanga troops occupying the building.

(Katanga's mission in Brussels said U.N. forces launched a general attack in Elisabethville and that President Moise Tshombe's government had wired the mission: "It is feared that the Katangan forces will not be able to resist.")

Giant U.S. Air Force Globemasters had poured fresh troops and equipment into Elisabethville to strengthen the U.N. combat forces.

Fresh Katanga troops moved in from the north and U.S. Globemasters from Leopoldville brought in 216 Swedish soldiers newly arrived from Europe.

Katanga Gen. Norbert Moke said he planned to take the offensive soon against the U.N. forces, though he acknowledged the superiority of the U.N. weapons and jet air force. The number of Katanga reinforcements was not stated.

New violence threatened in Kivu Province, north of Katanga. Two thousand troops from the Congo's Oriental Province were reported moving in to attempt to take over Kivu. Provincial government sources said the troops belong to leftist Antoine Gizenga, nominal vice premier of the central Congolese government whose Oriental regime is virtually secessionist.

Gizenga, political heir of Patrice Lumumba and favorite of the Communist bloc, made a brief truce with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula but left Leopoldville weeks ago. He was implicated in the slaying of 13 Italian U.N. airmen last month at Kindu, in Kivu, and the United States warned in the U.N. Security Council that he could pose a more serious threat to the Congo than Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Both United Nation and Katangan sources reported local U.N. successes in the Katanga fighting.

Rising River Is Threat To Ram

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — The Confederate warship Neuse, which was sunk when Union forces moved into this area during the Civil War, faced a new peril today as three Kinston men try to refloat the vessel and make it a tourist and historical attraction here.

Heavy rains have brought rising waters to the Neuse River and its expected crest next week would send the stream over the top of a temporary dike which has been built around the ship.

Several breaks in the dirt dike were noted Tuesday, but they were closed with sandbags and a bulldozer filled in the gaps.

Henry Clay Casey, Tom Carlyle and Linwood Houston have been working several months trying to raise the Neuse. Casey said only about 80 more drums need to be attached to the ship's hull to float her. This task, he said, should be completed by Thursday and the Neuse will be ready to float when the expected crest reaches here next week.

The three men have agreed to sell the ship to Lenoir County and Kinston for $14,000. Funds will be raised to turn the ship into a historical attraction.

A&T President Is Granted Leave

GREENSBORO (AP) — Dr. Samuel Proctor, president of A&T College here, has been granted an 18-month leave of absence to direct the U. S. Peace Corps' operations in Nigeria.

The A&T Board of Trustees voted to grant the leave Tuesday, but Proctor said he has not definitely decided to accept the post. The trustees gave him until the last week of this month to decide.

Gardening Today

By JOHN G. DUNCAN
Go in for outdoor lighting displays this Christmas. There are many subjects in the front lawn area for such displays. Not only can you use the evergreens, but also the leaf losing trees.
In front of the house string a group of colored lights throughout the entire foundation planting in front of the house. Corner plants can be accented by using all lights of one color. The entrance plants could use the same treatment—massing of one color. This same scheme can be used on shrubs on the side if it is seen by the public from the sidewalk or street.

Lawn Area
Put lights on magnolia, holly, or large camellias, if these plants are in the lawn area. Dogwood is also a good subject for Christmas lighting. The absence of foliage doesn't matter—lights bring into pleasing focus the network of branches. You could put lights on flowering crab or crepe myrtle. Other ornaments such as puffs of cotton give the tree a look of having snow on its limbs. You could spray the snow like material you use on indoor displays on hedge or any other tree or shrub. Of course, you could make short shift

Cooking Is Fun

COMPANY DINNER
Ham glazed this way is as pretty as a picture—and delicious, too.
Appetizer Salad Hard Rolls
Jelly-glazed Ham
Homemade Mustard
Spoon Bread Buttered Broccoli
Baked Bananas with Whipped Cream
JELLY-GLAZED HAM
½ fully cooked ham (butt end)
White Cloves
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 tablespoon sherry
¼ cup currant jelly
Have ham at room temperature; score fat side in 1-inch diamond shapes; insert a whole clove in the center of each diamond. Place on rack in shallow pan. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven about 20 minutes per pound. Remove ham and raise oven temperature to hot (400 degrees). Mix together the mustard and sherry in a small saucepan; add currant jelly; dissolve jelly over low heat, stirring. With a pastry-brush, cover top and sides of ham with half the jelly mixture; return to hot oven for 5 minutes. Cover ham with remaining jelly mixture; return to oven for another 5 minutes.

SATURDAY BUFFET
The small button mushrooms used here look particularly attractive; they're added to a favorite marinade and always make a hit.
Sliced Roast Beef
Potato Souffle
Creamed Spinach
Pickled Button Mushrooms
Salad Bowl Bread Trace
Lemon Snow with Custard Sauce
PICKLED BUTTON MUSHROOMS
1-3 cup sugar
1-3 cup cider vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon whole mixed pickling spices
1 medium onion (thinly sliced into rings)
2 cans (each 8 ounces) button mushrooms (drained)
Stir together the sugar, vinegar, salt, bay leaf, mixed pickling spices and onion rings in a small saucepan over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring mushrooms in a halow container; cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Remove bay leaf and any peppercorns and whole cloves (from mixed spice.) Drain before serving.

SUNDAY BRUNCH
This recipe produces really fluffy scrambled eggs. Use it sometime, for lunch or supper, with a Creole Sauce.
Sliced Bananas in Orange Juice
Ham Steak Fluffy Scrambled Eggs
Hot Muffins Plum Conserve
Beverage
FLUFFY SCRAMBLED EGGS
6 large eggs
1-3 cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
White pepper to taste
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add sour cream, salt and pepper and beat to combine. Heat butter in a 9- or 10-inch skillet until very hot. Add egg mixture; cook gently just until as firm as desired. As egg sets at sides of skillet draw it across the center with a wooden spoon. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Women Aren't In Rut It Just Looks That Way

By PAUL STEINER
NEW YORK — (WNS) — One of those homespun philosophers once remarked that women aren't in a rut—they create the rut that men are in. But, as these dispatches testify, women do tend to repeat themselves.
In Oglesby, Ill., Florence Bland divorced her husband, Harold, for the third time in nine years. In Detroit, Mrs. Jennie Krajewski, divorcing her husband, Anthony, for the third time, sighed, "This time it's final." But in Whitesburg, Ky., after five divorces, a farmer and his wife decided to give it another whirl, got married for the sixth time.
In Michigan court, Mrs. Patricia Reeves testified that even though her husband has given her black eyes 41 times and left home 50 times during their four years of marital blizz, she still wanted him back.
In London, Mrs. Catherine Towersey won a second divorce after charging her husband with carrying on with the same woman she had named as correspondent some years ago when she divorced him the first time.
In Palisades Park, N. J., John Borna explained why he had taken his wife on 66 consecutive trips through the amusement park's Tunnel of Love: "It took me 66 trips to talk her into giving me a divorce," he complained.
Evelyn Kefalions, a New York candy shop clerk, told police she had been robbed so many times that when a suspicious-looking character entered her shop she ran into the back room. When she returned her suspicions were confirmed; 125 dollars was missing from the cash register.
Mrs. Frank Thompson of Birmingham, Ala., who was born while an ambulance carrying her mother sped through a railroad underpass, gave birth to a son while her husband was speeding her through a railroad underpass.

Mrs. Dolores Baker of Duncansville, Pa., gave birth to each of her three children on August 26 of three different years.
Mrs. Betty Albers of Cincinnati gave birth to her first child, a girl, on Mother's Day, and to her second child, a boy, the following Mother's Day.
Mrs. Marcella Big Crow, of Pine Ridge, S.D., is the mother of seven sets of twins. Her record is hard to equal. Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Schoening of Menasha, Wis., are well on the way with three

Bride-Elect Given Shower
A bridal shower feted Peggy Dixon, bride-elect of Ray Hardee, Saturday night at Eastern Pines Community Building.
Hostesses were Mrs. Charlie Hardee Jr., Mrs. Johnnie Hardee, Mrs. Wyatt Highsmith, Mrs. Hugh T. Hardee Sr., Mrs. Hugh Hardee Jr. and Mrs. Glenn Hardee.
Games were directed by Mrs. Hugh Hardee Jr., after which refreshments were served.
The decorations were carried out in silver, green and white carrying out the Christmas motif. The serving table was a winter scene with tall tapers, wedding bells and mistletoe with two silver love birds.
Gifts were displayed on a table with a miniature Christmas tree with iridescent lighting and a bridal doll.
Music was furnished by Miss Glenda Hardee.

Jay-C-Ettes Have Party
The Greenville Jay-C-Ettes met in the home of Mrs. Mary Windell, president, for their annual Christmas party Monday night, Dec. 11. Each member brought a gift to exchange and staple food which was divided and put into two decorated baskets. Toys and clothing will be added before the baskets are taken to crippled children's families. Mrs. Lola Simonowich, Mrs. Mary Alice Hendrix, Mrs. Maureen Schachner and Mrs. Belle Boykin will distribute the baskets.
Mrs. Barbara Foley, Mrs. Dot Smith and Mrs. Kathy Rainey represented the Jay-C-Ettes at the last Crippled Children's Clinic of the year, November 24th. They gave the children a Christmas party and gifts of toys, candy, and fruit.

Alaska was discovered by Vitus Bering, a Dane employed by Russia, who found Bering Strait in 1728 and Alaska in 1741.

Peggy Dixon Entertained
December bride-elect Peggy Dixon was entertained Friday evening by Mrs. Calvin Mills, Mrs. Glenn Gaskins, and Mrs. Elmer Dixon at the Mills residence on Route 3, Greenville.
Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Glenn Gaskins and invited into the living room. After introductions were made, an hour of recreation followed, led by Mrs. Frankie Hardee and Mrs. Joe Tucker Fornes.
Guests were then invited into the dining area where a pink flower arrangement centered the dining table which was covered with a white lace cloth. Mrs. Glenn Gaskins served punch and guests helped themselves to pimento party sandwiches, cake squares, salted nuts, and mints.
The honoree was presented with an array of gifts. Goodbyes were said by the hostesses.

Faculty Wives Entertained
Mrs. Donald Petterson and Mrs. John B. Davis Jr. were hostesses recently at a coffee hour honoring 12 new faculty wives at East Carolina College.
The coffee was held in the home of Mrs. Davis at 2308 Deal as a part of the activities of the Faculty Wives Courtesy Committee, which is under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Brimley.
The guests represented the departments of air science, art, education, psychology and science. They were served doughnuts, nuts, coffee and soft drinks by the hostesses. Red pyracantha and holly berries arranged in cornucopia decorated the table.

Senior Citizens Meet Thursday
The Senior Citizens of Greenville will meet Thursday morning at 10:00 at the Elm Street Park Recreation Center.
In observance of the Christmas season, the morning program will carry out the Christmas theme. Mrs. Wellington Gray will present ideas for Christmas decorations in the home. Other activities to be included are informal carol singing, table games, and refreshments.
The Senior Citizens group meets every other Thursday morning, and is open to men and women of the retired age group. New members are cordially invited. Transportation will be provided if needed.

Important To All Of Eastern N.C.

Announcement that a huge industrial plant will be constructed on a portion of the Elizabeth City Naval Air Facility further emphasizes the appeal Eastern North Carolina has for some industrial firms seeking locations for new plants.

The new electronics industry, which is expected eventually to employ some 1,500 people, will be an important stimulant to the economy of the Albemarle region of North Carolina. Even the initial employment estimated at some 300 persons will have an important economic impact on the area.

When one considers the economic aspects of such an industrial installation, however, consideration must be given to factors other than the immediate plant and its employment. It is not unlikely that the location of this important industry in the Elizabeth City area will attract other plants and facilities which will do business with the major installation. The expected $6 million annual payroll of the new plant will bring about the creation of other new jobs in the area as the new money in circulation increases the demand for goods and services.

A less tangible asset which comes with a new major industry of this sort is the fact that its location may prompt other large and small industries to give more serious consideration to the advantages the particular area might offer their operations. Attention is attracted to the area by the location of such a facility and other manufacturers may see new advantages in the area which they have previously overlooked.

Obviously the location of this large new industrial operation will be of greatest benefit to the area immediately around it. To a lesser extent, however, benefits will be felt throughout this section of the state as another important new feather dons Eastern Carolina's cap of industrial development efforts. The new facility is important to Eastern Carolina as a whole just as the location of an industry in any other part of this section is important to the entire section.

Christmas Baskets A Part Of The Season

Approach of the Christmas season should bring to mind not only plans for gifts for the family and close friends, but likewise thoughts of citizens of the community whose Christmas gifts will depend upon the compassion of their more fortunate neighbors.

In Pitt and most other counties, providing Christmas baskets for needy families has become a part of the Christmas season. The Welfare Department, the Salvation Army and other agencies already have compiled the names of many families and information on these families which need help at Christmas time. Many organizations and individuals already have come forward volunteering to provide food baskets, fuel and gifts for these families, but there are still others who are awaiting a helping hand from one of their fellow citizens.

The spirit of Christmas is the spirit of brotherhood, love and giving. There is no finer way to express these at this season of the year than by assisting a needy family.

Any Effect On Russian People?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's only one unknown remaining about President Kennedy's interview last month with a Soviet newsman.

What effect, if any, did it have on the Russian people or, rather, the Russian people who read it?

There's no doubt about the effect on the Soviet leadership, which would have been predictable anyway, since Kennedy pictured a peaceful America confronted with a trouble-making Russia.

The leadership, through its controlled press, ripped Kennedy's views apart. The interview was printed in full in Izvestia, the Russian government newspaper.

But Izvestia, in a country of 220 million people, has a circulation estimated at 4 to 5 million.

If the Kennedy interview made a good impression on some of them, the leadership has sought to offset it. Even if the impression on all who read it was excellent, there isn't much they can do or say.

Since Kennedy's views are not going to appear at much length very often when they are critical of Russia, this interview can hardly be considered of much impact in the long run.

Even if the final score shows no hit, no runs and no errors—if nothing was won and nothing lost—the interview was at least on both sides one more effort in their long-winded propaganda war.

Kennedy could consider it an achievement that his views—those he found time to express in the interview—were printed in full in the Soviet press.

At the same time the Russian government gave itself a chance to say its press isn't entirely closed to the outside. As a matter of fact Russia would have been in an embarrassing spot if it hadn't printed the whole interview.

Three times this year Premier Khrushchev got his views across in great length to people in this country by giving interviews to American newsmen who journeyed to Russia to see him.

This gave the lively Kennedy a good opening to look for the full treatment in return, in Russia, by giving a Soviet newsman an interview.

The interview was arranged at the request of the White House and Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubel, editor of Izvestia, did the questioning. The result wasn't quite the same as American interviews with Khrushchev.

The Americans simply asked questions and let him do the talking.

Adzhubel also asked questions but he sandwiched them in between long speeches giving Soviet views on problems Kennedy discussed.

Thus, while Kennedy got into Izvestia in full, he didn't dominate the scene as Khrushchev did in his question-and-answer sessions. The President had to share space in Izvestia with Adzhubel.

Maybe one result will be to make Khrushchev a little less willing to give Americans interviews if he feels he'll be expected to have Soviet newsmen talk with Kennedy and then print the results in full.

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

SPEAKING OF FRONTIERS

For thousands of years, matters of importance were inscribed on rolls of vellum or parchment. It takes two hands to handle such a roll. During all these centuries it never seemed to dawn upon anyone that it might be convenient to cut these rolls into what we now call pages and bind them together into a codex, or book.

The Romans used single type to initial clothing and writers from the Roman day through medieval times used single decorative type at the beginning of what we call chapters. Yet it was not until Gutenberg in the middle of the 15th century invented what we have come to call a printing press that anyone thought of putting single type together and getting a line of type.

We are probably going on at the present time doing certain things in the most awkward and difficult way possible while all the time new and transforming inventions are staring us out of countenance. Someday someone will stumble upon a new method or a new gadget and a whole new age may begin. Edison stumbled upon some of his most priceless inventions. Dr. Fleming left a saucer containing some liquid lying on an upper shelf. It developed mould, and from this came the discovery of penicillin. Bring up your children with the realization that untold millions of opportunities for usefulness, happiness, and achievement are beckoning them for the horizon. There are more frontiers to be crossed in the future than we have ever crossed in the past.

Some Faith Is Restored

Peace on Earth. Goodwill Toward Men rings out over the Christian world at this time of year, but the merchant among us often has his faith in mankind shaken.

If this seems to be a doubtful statement during the busiest commercial season, one might remember that the stores are sitting ducks for that strangest of all thieves, the shop lifter.

Nobody knows how much merchandise is taken out of stores simply by patrons picking it up and walking out. However, it is a considerable item in any store's operation. Consequently, store managers, employees and police are all on the look out for shop lifting.

Occasionally one is caught, but obviously more than not, they get away.

Thus it was, in a local drug store one day this week. A customer purchased some drugs and was directed to the cashier. The customer saw no one was watching so she just kept going and the clerks never realized it.

If that were that, how could this story ever be told? There's still such a thing as conscience. This patron had one and what she had done bothered her.

Finally she took pen in hand and wrote a note (we identify the writer as a woman because the hand writing appears feminine).

"Saturday afternoon, I bought $6.10 in medicines in your store. But when I went to the cash register to pay, I realized that I did not have enough cash with me. Besides, there was nobody at the cash register and I was in a hurry. So I left the store. With my apologies, please find enclosed the $6.10 I owe to your store."

The store manager said the cash amount was attached to the note.

The manager, who did not want to be identified, described such occurrences as rare. "But it restores a little bit of your faith in people when it happens."

Some days it just doesn't pay to get up department. Your columnist had one yesterday. Like everybody else I arose to a wet, dreary morning. Finally, however, I trudged off to work through the drizzle. A car sped by and a liberal amount of mud splashed on my trousers remain competitive in that market. But Mr. Allen believes that this is only a first step toward what must be the ultimate solution for the trade and economic problems which the Common Market poses for the United States. That ultimate solution, he said, must be the broadening of the Common Market program to include the United States and Canada, thereby creating a North Atlantic Community. This would form the world's greatest free trade or low-tariff trading area.

This idea is opposed by those who fear that close American participation in the Common Market would adversely affect our trade relations with other areas of the world and possibly create new labor problems in the United States. But a North Atlantic Community plan would not bar reasonable trade agreements with countries outside the area.

It is quite clear that the European Common Market—a dynamic new force in world trade and economics—is here to stay. As Mr. Allen points out, failure to deal with this new force realistically could be tragic, both in the economic and political sense. President Kennedy apparently sees the problem whole and is endeavoring to deal with it in a practical and realistic way.

Bumper Crops In The Free World

By ELMER ROESSNER

The free world is producing a series of bumper crops this year, according to intelligence gathered by the U. S. Foreign Agricultural Service. Among major crops, only grains lag.

Figures from Russia and China are not available but reports from other sources say that Khrushchev is dissatisfied with Soviet grain production, and that hunger is widespread in Red China.

MORE COTTON, WOOL

The world's cotton crop for the 1961-62 season is expected to set a new record for the fourth consecutive year. Cottonseed production in the season began August 1, 1961, is slightly above the high mark of the previous year and one-fourth above the 1950-54 average.

World production of raw wool in the 1961-62 season is estimated at 1 per cent above the previous clip and 23 per cent above the 1951-55 average.

A record number of hogs farrowed this year will make pork abundant in the free world. Slaughter in 33 nations, including Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary and Poland, but not Russia or China, is expected to be 5 per cent above 1961 and 23 per cent above the 1951-55 average.

The world raiin crop this year is not quite as large as the bumper 1959 pack, but is 14 per cent above the 1954-58 average. The 1961-62 cocoa bean crop is slightly below the 1960-61 crop,

MORE PEANUTS THAN EVER

The world peanut crop is another bumper. Production in 1961 is estimated at 5 per cent larger than in 1960 and 2 per cent above the record set in 1958.

Jute production is close to the record set in 1940, and 39 per cent larger than the 1960 production.

The important grain crops showed declines, but production was still high. The 1961-62 corn crop will be slightly below the 1960-61 crop. The 1961 barley crop is below the 1960 mark and the oat crop is 11 per cent below the 1960 harvest.

The world 1961-62 rice crop, exclusive of communist areas, is forecast 2 per cent under the 1960-61 crop, largely due to unfavorable weather at harvest time in Southeast Asia. Despite the 2 per cent drop, the rice harvest may be the third largest in history.

Active People Needed

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

What President Kennedy said to the football dinner was not merely that we watched rather than played games, but that we had become a passive people. We spend hours each day listening to radio or watching television, but we no longer gather about a piano singing songs or doing a duet or quartet. We watch commentators discuss every subject under the sun, but we do not sit around a pot-bellied stove or a cracker-barrel arguing pro and con.

It is not surprising the issue because he is literate in history and knows that the ancient countries devoted themselves to sports not only to provide exercise for youth but to unify the nation. Will Durant, in his study of Ancient Greece, makes the point:

"Religion failed to unify Greece, but athletics—periodically succeeded. Men went to Olympia, Delphi, Corinth, and Nemea not so much to honor the gods—for these could be honored anywhere—as to witness the heroic contests of chosen athletes, and the ecumenical assemblage of varied Greeks."

Further he says: "Here under the rubric of athletics we find the real religion of the Greeks—the worship of health, beauty, and strength. 'To be in health,' said Simonides, 'is the best thing for man; the next best, to be of form and nature beautiful; the third, to enjoy wealth gotten without fraud; and the fourth to be in youth's bloom among friends.' There is no greater glory for a man as long as he lives," said the Odysseus, "than that which he wins by his own hands and feet."

The entire nation participated in sports and those who were not admitted into the sports were either aliens or slaves or persons whose bodies were damaged by flaws. Durant makes the point:

"The sixth century saw the peak of the splendor and popularity of athletics in Greece. In 532 the Amphictyonic League established the Pythian games in honor of Apollo at Delphi; in the same year the Isthmian games were instituted at Corinth in honor of Poseidon; six years later the Nemean games were inaugurated to celebrate the Nemean Zeus; and all three occasions became Panhellenic festivals. Together with the Olympic games they formed a periodos, or cycle, and the great ambition of a Greek athlete was to win the crown at all of them."

When the games fell into the hands of specialists and the specialists, the physical superiority of the Greek disappeared. But this physical superiority was closely associated with mental superiority; athletics was associated with music, the dance with art. As long as there was a uniform concept of the wholesome body and the wholesome mind, the entire nation was absorbed in the development of personality.

When the Greeks gave up sports and sat about watching what others did, their entire social life was altered. In time the nation became weak.

President Kennedy makes an interesting point when he emphasizes the need for activity rather than observation, for participation rather than passive notice. To watch a football game and shout under the spell of a cheerleader is not participation in sport. It is sitting on one's seat and growing fat; it is filling one's gizzard with popcorn and frankfurters. One might as well go to a motion picture theater and watch. Does one ride a horse or merely look at a horse? Does one think for himself or only remember what some commentator has to say on a subject? Does one build a strong life or merely pass from one thing to another? Are games exciting moments in the lives of small boys or are they mere spectacles controlled by business men and calculated in terms of money receipts?

The President has raised an interesting issue and perhaps he owes the thought to his father who encouraged the Kennedy children to argue over every Red Oak H. D. Has Luncheon The Red Oak Home Demonstration Club held its annual Christmas luncheon on Wednesday at the Red Oak Community Building. Incoming officers were also installed.

Mrs. Sue May, home economics agent, gave a demonstration of "Christmas Entertaining." She displayed snacks, casseroles, salads and such that could be easily made to make entertaining friends a pleasure instead of a burden. She emphasized that members should find a little leisure so they could realize the true meaning of Christmas.

The building was decorated throughout with Christmas arrangements. The guests were greeted by the club president, Mrs. Charles Jackson. After a brief social, a turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served.

The invocation and devotional was given by Mrs. J. T. Manning Jr. Guests included Mrs. Eddie Oliver, Mrs. Marvin Jarman, and Mrs. S. C. Winchester.

The following incoming officers were installed: president, Mrs. Robert Allen; vice president, Mrs. James Sydney Allen; secretary, Mrs. Amos Evans; and treasurer, Mrs. Jarvis Tripp, Sr.

The meeting adjourned after the exchanging of gifts and a recreational period.

Job Of The Year Open; Grace Seeks Secretary

Phyllis Blum

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK — (WNS) — If any secretary wants the job of the year, the time is now.

Her Serene Highness, Princess Grace of Monaco, is looking for a new personal secretary.

Phyllis Blum of New York, who's held the job for four years, is giving it up because she's being married next spring.

Applications apparently will be considered next month (January, 1962) to give Phyllis a chance to break in her successor. What the Princess wants is an expert secretary, fluent in English and French, with a good education and fine personal recommendations.

The job involves not only dictation but diplomacy. Miss Blum, for instance, accompanied Prince Rainier and Princess Grace on several of their state visits to other countries.

Discretion is another must for Princess Grace's next secretary. Miss Blum has never talked about the former Grace Kelly except to say one thing:

"She's a wonderful boss."

Apparently the boss thinks Phyllis is a wonderful secretary. It's reported that when Miss Blum first announced her engagement, Princess Grace uttered the classic lament:

"But, Phyllis, you can't leave—what would I do without you?"

But even titled employers can't buck romance. Phyllis will marry Julian Earl of London, a grandson of Lord Maugham and the grandnephew of author Somerset Maugham, on March 24. The wedding will be in Monaco, and the Prince and Princess will probably attend.

By the time, Princess Grace will have hired a new private secretary, and since Phyllis will no doubt be the yardstick, here are some clues for applicants:

Phyllis, the daughter of Mrs. Richard Blum and the late Dr. Blum of New York City, is 29, a Vassar graduate who also studied at the Sorbonne in Paris, bilingual and an expert with the steno pad. She's also slender, brown haired and attractive.

As secretary to the Princess she got a week's vacation every year to indulge in her favorite sport, skiing, and the Palace helped her find an apartment in Monte Carlo where she could park her blue Austin Sprite sports car and her pug dog, Sir Toby.

Sir Toby often accompanied his mistress to her job, in a tiny office alongside Princess Grace's private apartments in the Palace.

The Princess usually went through her mail in the morning, dictating letters and arranging household affairs. In between shorthand and typing, Phyllis screened Grace's phone calls, kept her social calendar and very often went with the Princess to lunches, parties or charity events.

In her four years on the job, in fact, Phyllis has attended almost all of Monaco's social functions and seen most of Europe. About the only fringe benefit not directly due to her job was romance: Phyllis met her future husband two years before she became Grace's secretary.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Pretty Lee Folsom would rather feel the satisfaction and independence of a modern young woman can get from using her brains to achieve something substantial than capitalize on the effect of her attractiveness to men. She has a happy glow over placing Bill and Jane Endicot in just the right home for them in time for Christmas—and earning a substantial commission from the deal.

She is less pleased because "Uncle John" Purvis, the leading lawyer in their Georgia town, and Kermit Dalton, the man at the bank who wants to marry Lee, steered a wealthy prospect from New York, Martin Whitfield, to her office. They helped develop Whitfield's interest in buying the old Eastman plantation, "Oakland," on which the bank has a mortgage. Lee thought any man in his right mind who saw that property, which the Eastman heirs had let run to an uncultivated ruin, would turn away quickly. To her surprise, and in spite of her obvious reluctance to sell it to him, Whitfield said he would take it. Lee is not impressed with a man—millionaire or not—who makes such a decision on snap judgment.

I've known and loved since I was old enough to know about friends. No, Mr. Whitfield, I'm perfectly contented here in Lewisville and ask nothing better than to spend the rest of my life here."

Martin nodded thoughtfully. "Being rooted and grounded and contented in a place is a pretty rare thing nowadays."

"Is it?" asked Lee, without interest. "I wouldn't know about that."

The waitress served their lunch and went away, and they ate in a silence broken only by an occasional question from Martin about some detail of the property they had viewed.

Later, when they were starting back to Lee's car, she looked up at him with a trace of uneasiness. "If you'd like to look at some other properties before you decide about Oakland—" she began diffidently.

Martin gave her his brief, flashing grin.

"Still trying to tout me off Oakland?" he mocked. "I'll begin to believe that you don't want me to have the place."

Lee felt her face warm with color and barely managed to keep back a sharp retort. "As I've told you from the first, Mr. Whitfield, I only want to be sure that you know what you are getting into."

"Then let's take it for granted, shall we? I know exactly what I want, and that's Oakland," he told her firmly.

"Fine," said Lee. "Would you like to go back for a more thorough inspection? You saw only the house and some of the land."

He shook his head. "I saw enough to know it's what I want, so let's get back to town and consummate the deal. I'll have plenty of time to make a more thorough inspection while the property is going through escrow."

Lee nodded and set the car rolling down the highway.

"I'm wondering," Martin said cautiously. "If I dare ask you to have dinner with me, I'd be very grateful if you would. After all, I'm a stranger in town. I'm appealing to your sympathy, of course."

Lee smiled at him and said reluctantly, "I'm terribly sorry, but I have a date."

"Of course," said Martin. "I should have known you would."

An idea occurred to Lee, and she told him impulsively. "If you'd care for a double date, Kermit and I would like it if you'd join us."

Firemen Fanned Flames Of Love

CLEVELAND, Tenn. (AP) — Firemen spent 15 minutes recently fanning the flames of love.

At 4:55 p.m., Charles William Merriman and Linda Ruth Reed of Knoxville drove up to the fire hall and asked where they could get a marriage license.

"At the courthouse," they were told, "but you've only got five minutes."

At 5, they were back with the license—to find that the firemen also had been busy.

At 5:02, Sheriff Sam Cannon drove up with Justice of the Peace John Clayton.

At 5:05, Miss Reed became Mrs. Merriman.

At 5:06, the firemen served cake and coffee.

At 5:10, the newlyweds drove away.

CHAPTER 4

"You really like Lewisville, don't you?" Martin Whitfield asked Lee Folsom.

"Well, of course," Lee replied. "I have lived here all my life. Why wouldn't I like it?"

"You seem to be a very intelligent, thoroughly competent businesswoman," said Martin slowly. "Did you never yearn for more scope for your activities?"

"If you mean did I ever want to go and live in a large city, the answer is no," Lee told him firmly. "I went away to college for three years and was perfectly miserable. Couldn't wait to get back home. And now, here in Lewisville, I have everything I could possibly want: a job I love, an apartment, my car, all the clothes I have any use for. Most of all, I have friends er in town, and I wanted you to have first crack at him," Lee said, and went on more gravely. "Holly, I showed him Oakland this afternoon, and he's in Uncle John's office this moment, contracting to buy it."

Holly's small, enraptured scream of delight came over the wire.

"Oh, Lee, you aren't just making fun?" she gasped at last.

"I'm a businesswoman, Holly, and I never make fun about business," Lee assured her. "Mr. Whitfield is delighted with the place and intends to restore it, and I thought you might like to meet him. So how about having dinner — you and Mr. Whitfield, Kermit and I?"

"Oh, Lee, you are a darling!" Holly was frankly ecstatic, and then she wailed. "But oh, I haven't a thing to wear!"

"Don't be a dope! And don't try to show me up, you hear? I'm going to wear something simple and unpretentious—on account of that's the only kind of clothes I've got," Lee told her firmly. "We'll drive out somewhere to dinner, or maybe the Club. You know nobody wears formal clothes at the Club except for big fancy parties. You hear me?"

She heard Holly's small gurgle of delight and knew that Holly would look devastating in whatever she chose to wear.

"We'll call for you about seven, Holly," Lee said. "We'll pick Mr. Whitfield up at his hotel first."

"You mean he doesn't have a car of his own?" Holly was frankly appalled at the thought.

"Not down here with him," Lee told her. "I have an idea he has a stableful back in New York."

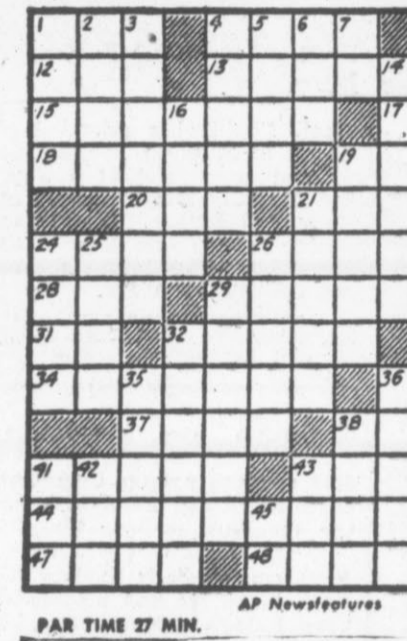

"Oh, he's from New York? That sounds exciting!" Holly glowed.

"We'll see you at seven, then," Lee told her, hung up the telephone receiver and hurried back to her office.

Storm Warnings Seen For Part Of Kennedy Program

EDITOR'S NOTE—Not surprisingly, Democrats and Republicans differ sharply in their estimates of President Kennedy's success with Congress in the past session. But political observers see storm warnings for key administration projects in the future. This is the third of five articles on the presidential performance to date.

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—A top administration official complained recently that many who blame the President for not taking a firmer stand with Congress expect too much to happen too soon. "We've got a marathon race," he said, "not a hundred-yard dash."

Sokolsky ...

subject until a Sunday brunch sounded like an Irish debating society and then they all played games together. We laughed at the Kennedy touch foot-ball, but the result is a family closely joined not merely in sports but in affection, ideals and spirit. It is something to hear a Kennedy speak of another Kennedy. There is no envy, no jealousy, no apathy. There is excitement and admiration and the sense of victory for the team — and in the theory of operations, the team becomes a nation.

Historically, he may be right. Politically, he could be wrong. For time is precisely what the President doesn't have enough of. Even in his jubilation over election returns year ago, John F. Kennedy, ever a political realist, must have had sobering second thoughts.

High among them would have been the realization that, although the Democrats won Congress, he would have rough going in the House if the conservatives ganged up on him. If Kennedy had any illusions, he lost them quickly. On the tough issues, his margin was so close that probably no other administration ever worked so hard, behind scenes, to get even a part of its program through Congress. Since these laws are now on the record, it should be simple to grade this portion of Kennedy's report card.

But it isn't. The Republican view: Dwight D. Eisenhower was a dam protecting the people from a flood of bad Democratic legislation. When he went out, the flood was bound to come no matter what Democrat moved into the White House. Little that Kennedy offered was new, and much of the legislation he pushed had been kicking around for years.

But, these Republicans say, Kennedy never worked up much force of his own, so the GOP was able to build effective legislative levees.

Or, in the ornate phrases of Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen, R-Ill., and Rep. Charles Halleck, R-Ind., who issued a joint statement: "The hallmark of this 1961 legislative venture was failure—in leadership, in accomplishment, and in campaign promises filled. For this the American people can thank, in large measure, a sturdy band of outnumbered Republicans who fought through the session with considerable success for a beachhead of sanity in government."

The Democratic view: that badly needed legislation, stalled by an Eisenhower veto, or the threat of one, has become law. Rarely, if ever, have so many new programs been planned and started.

If you visit a Cabinet officer, he will produce a list of bills passed and say something like this: "Why, we've done more for this department in 10 months than had been accomplished in the past 10 years."

Or, in the soothing prose of Rep. John McCormack, D-Mass.: "President Kennedy has had remarkable success with his recommendations." As usual, the truth lies between the partisan extremes. Kennedy did get a wide and impressive variety of legislation through Congress in things from housing to minimum wages to help for depressed areas.

Republicans did tone down some New Frontier bills and block others.

But the past interests us mainly for what it may disclose about the future. And from this the forecast reads: storms, increasing in intensity.

The reciprocal trade program, always a political powder keg, comes up for renewal. Kennedy still hasn't been able to do anything about the two points he pounded most frequently during the campaign: federal aid to education and medical aid for the aged under Social Security. Education and medical aid fall to the beleaguered lot of Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of welfare. His large, pleasant office has become a major battleground for the New Frontier.

"Every controversy," Ribicoff said, proudly if not quite accurately, "is here."

Ribicoff is disappointed that more progress wasn't made—"I never worked so hard on anything in my life"—but he tries to be philosophical.

"The best reforms are a long time in coming," he said. "I'm a patient guy. You can't rush reforms too fast. It takes a lot of education to push a reform along—and sometimes out of defeat comes victory."

Ribicoff may be a patient guy, but he's impatient about some of his critics. "The doctrine can solve all problems on paper," he said. "He can solve all problems at a cocktail party. But he can't put out a program that can get a majority vote."

By one expert's figuring—he was a Republican, by the way—if the bill finally reaches the floor here is what it faces: Democrats have 261 of the 457 seats, but 50 of them will vote with the GOP on economic issues. In return, only 15 to 20 Republicans are likely to peel off and support the administration. The key is some 27 Democrats who may float either way.

If 57 Democrats desert him, Kennedy is lost. On the close ones, he badly needs Republican help.

It's understandable why Kennedy has played it cautiously. Adv for PMS Wed Dec. 13 His assistants may have worked hard, but Kennedy has not fought publicly for his program.

He has not tried to put the heat on Congress. He has not made anyone angry. A man close to the President has put Kennedy's views this way: "When things are so bad internationally, in the interest of unity there are sacrifices that have to be made. There are things that can't be done now."

Another version of this same viewpoint came out more bluntly: "There was no point in stirring up the animals."

But it is questionable whether Kennedy can get what he wants from Congress unless he whips up more support for his program. Only he can give it a sense of urgency.

Congress isn't likely to be much more liberal when it returns. Too, a congressional election is coming up next year, and the party that controls the White House usually loses ground. "Only the President of the United States can speak for this country," Kennedy said during the campaign. "Only the President of the United States can place before the American people the unfinished business of our society."

Perhaps Kennedy will continue to feel that international affairs are so intense he can't afford to rock the political boat.

But this seems certain: If Kennedy is to achieve the goals he set for the home front, he will have to fight for them—and the animals will have to be stirred up.

Thursday: Kennedy: the Leader

Decision Could Eliminate 8 National Guard Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is nearing a politically touchy decision that could eliminate eight or ten Army National Guard and Reserve divisions, informed sources said today.

Backers of the plan believe the resulting reshuffle of manpower would permit building the remaining Guard and Reserve divisions close to full strength, thus making them more ready for active duty if needed.

The thinking reported is that the better rated divisions would be kept on the rolls, and the poorer ones dropped.

There now are 27 Guard divisions, two of them on active duty, plus 10 Reserve divisions.

There may be some reduction in the number of Guardsmen and reservists receiving drill pay.

Anticipating the move, National Guard and Reserve associations are preparing to rally congressional support in a fight to block any slash in divisions.

Past administrations, both Democratic and Republican, have tried to make changes in the National Guard structure. Congress always has stepped in and prevented any such action.

The matter has been under study for months, but the experience of the Berlin crisis military buildup has given the idea new impetus.

It is known that top Army officials were displeased with the length of time it took some of the called-up Guard and Reserve units to shake down and get into combat training.

In part, this was attributed to the understrength state of these units when they were mustered. Wisconsin's 32nd Infantry Division, for example, had only about 7,000 men. It was beefed up to about 13,000 by the assignment of individual fillers from the Reserve manpower pool.

ENTIRELY LEGAL

MEMPHIS (AP)—Despite its unusual appearance the will of the late Mrs. Blanche T. Williams was accepted without quibble by the probate court. Mrs. Williams had scrawled her will on a small paper towel. It involved an estate of about $40,000.

Syria was first proclaimed a republic in 1941.

Sources said the publicized complaints of some of the recalled Guardsmen and reservists did not figure importantly in the planning to cut out some Guard and Reserve outfits.

However, it was pointed out that a Guard division already near full strength would not need to draw on fillers, who the Army has been the main source of gripes.

The plan would not strip any state of its Guard elements. In states which lose divisions, units might be maintained on a separate battalion or brigade basis.

The Army now operates under a drill pay limit of 400,000 Guardsmen and 300,000 reservists.

Wall Street Concerned Over Public Impression

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Next to making money, Wall Street probably has worried most in recent years about what the public thinks about it.

This may be a secondary interest but it's a strong one—dating back to those dark years after the 1929 stock market crash and the scandals of the early 1930s when a large part of the public admittedly had a very low opinion of Wall Street indeed.

The current official investigation of the nation's stock exchanges has led part of the public to wonder again what goes on in the securities markets.

The curiosity is sharpened today by the resignation of Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, the nation's second largest.

The exchanges say they welcome the inquiry as the best way to show that with only a few exceptions their performance has been in the public's interest. But some in Wall Street worry lest an official inquiry lead Congress to draw on new rules aimed at plugging procedure loopholes but actually restricting legitimate activities.

The securities markets are under the close watch of the Securities & Exchange Commission, set up after the congressional probe in 1933-4 of market activities. And since those troubled days the exchanges themselves have tightened their rules and set up their own watchdog committees.

The battle to win back public esteem has been a long one on Wall Street. Not only did the general public pretty much stay out of the market in the '30s and early '40s, but Wall Street financial firms report that during those years it was hard to get young men to enter the business.

Since the war, the picture has changed. Stockholding has spread among the general public—whether out of confidence in the securities community or out of belief in the buyer's own investing acumen.

The number of individual owners of stocks is now estimated at 15 million or more. The volume of trading on the exchanges has mounted. And Wall Street firms say many young men now look on the locale as a good place to carve out a career.

In addition to the increased number of those buying stocks as individuals, there has been a marked growth in mutual funds—professional management for individual owners—and of investment clubs—small groups of neighbors or fellow workers who meet regularly and invest cooperatively. And the public has been flocking to courses on investing given by brokerage firms, educational institutions, economists and many others.

All of this certainly shows rising interest—and Wall Street hopes confidence—in the securities markets.

The current SEC inquiry into exchange practices grew out of some irregularities, particularly of a member firm of the American Stock Exchange, and complaints of questionable practices in the wide field of securities buying and selling.

This trading takes place on the nation's regulated stock exchanges and on the much larger over-the-counter market. There also is a large volume of new shares sold the public each year by investment houses and underwriters.

Since the inquiry started, some of the exchanges have further tightened their rules, both for trading and for admittance of stocks to listing.

An aim, even if unstated, is to hold the public confidence they've worked so hard to rebuild.

Got 15 Snakes To The Gallon

RESCUE, Calif. (AP) — Halley Wing thinks he set a record of 15 rattlesnakes to a gallon of gasoline.
 Wing was chasing a large rattlesnake near this community in the gold mining country of the Sierra Nevada foothills when the snake disappeared into a burrow.
 Recalling advice that gasoline fumes would bring snakes out, he poured a gallon into the burrow. Out came the big snake — three feet long — and 14 little rattlers. Wing killed them all.

Cotton-Pickers Are Increasing

ATLANTA (AP) — The State Employment Service said that mechanical cotton pickers numbered 1,004 this year, compared with 481 last year.
 Cotton can be picked with the machine for about $20 a bale, by hand for about $40 or $50. Each picker is capable of doing the work of 50 hands.
 The service said the cotton pickers plus other mechanization could mean that 20,000 farm workers will be without cotton picking jobs.

"We Reserve The Right To Limit Quantities"

Ex-Gen. Walker
Critiques UN
And Censorship

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker sharply criticized the United Nations, U.S. foreign policy and censorship of the press in his first public address since becoming a civilian. He addressed a cheering crowd estimated by a Dallas Memorial Auditorium employee at 5,000. "I welcome the opportunity to stand before you as a symbol of the capability to coordinate the inspired and unchallengeable power of the people with the strength of our military forces. Such unity of purpose and spirit would cause an immediate capitulation of the red planks from Dallas to Washington to Moscow and Peking," Walker said.

The 51-year-old Texan, who resigned from the Army after being reprimanded and relieved of command of the 24th Infantry division, was interrupted frequently with standing applause. Walker referred to Army charges that he had criticized high government officials and attempted to influence the votes of soldiers in a right-wing indoctrination program. "I have been charged with nothing. I have been found guilty of nothing. I have been punished for nothing. I have no grievances or 'rerets,'" Walker said. "Today our relations and subordination to the United Nations is every man signing the (Army) oath under a double standard," he said. "We are sworn to defend America but have to abide by U.N. decisions. Under these conditions, the oath becomes falsified and fictitious. I could no longer serve in uniform and be a collaborator with this release of our sovereignty to the U.N."

Walker said censorship of the military had accomplished three goals of the Communists—to reduce the size of U.S. armed forces, limit their use of weapons and undermine their training, morale, and sense of purpose. "I have never seen an army with a greater cause for a great country with a more obvious total enemy, that has less mission and purpose," he said.

"The subversion of U.S. interests is accomplished by a class of men who believe that, in 'one world' of 'peace' and 'internationalism,' U.S. sovereignty and independence are obsolete, and that it is their duty through a 'long twilight struggle' to see to it that the United States never makes any forthright assertion of its sovereignty and independence."

Walker drew spirited applause when he said: "Under censorship our policy seems to verge on insanity. No wonder (Katanga President) Moise Tshombe now has accused us of having Communists in our government. What other explanation is there?"

Walker charged major mistakes in U.S. foreign policy during the past 16 years included the division of Germany and Berlin, permitting the Soviet Union to have three representatives in the United Nations to one for the United States, the international approach to the control of atomic energy, the withholding of atomic weapons from U.S. armed forces, and the Berlin airlift, which he said acknowledged Russian control of the ground.

Fire-Safe Yule Holiday For All

BOSTON (AP)—Fire is an unwelcome visitor in the home, and especially so at Christmas time.

Fire in Christmas trees and decorations each year spoils the holiday in hundreds of homes, says the National Fire Protection Association. Far more serious than the average cost of $760 per family affected, these fires endanger the lives of children and parents.

Because of traditional holiday customs—trees, lights, decorations, Yule logs in the fireplace, paper wrappings and a festive spirit—the NFPA suggests: "Christmas is a time to be more—not less—heedful of fire dangers."

For a fire-safe Christmas, the NFPA suggests:

Obtain a fresh-cut tree whose needles don't shed freely. Keep it in water from the time it is bought until it is thrown out; support it well, and never set where it can block escape in the event of fire. And remove it as soon as possible after Christmas.

Check tree lights carefully for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets.

Keep candles away from the tree and use extreme care in smoking when you are near a tree.

Make sure tree lights are turned off before you go to bed or before you leave the house.

Keep power shut off while you set up outdoor lighting and use only weatherproof equipment and cords.

Use only noncombustible or flameproofed decorations.

Dispose of gift wrappings promptly.

Think ahead about what you would do for the safety of your family if fire does start.

Claim Albanians
Backing Hoxha

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Albania's official Radio Tirana said today the population of the tiny Communist country supports its leadership headed by Enver Hoxha in the conflict with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The radio cited many telegrams sent to Hoxha by workers, unions, factories, student organizations, institutions, collective farms and individuals supporting his policies.

The Soviet Union broke off diplomatic relations with Albania, accusing it of Stalinism and of trying to disrupt unity in the Com-

All-Conference tackle Clayton Piland, end Jones Lockerman and halfback Larry Rudisill were awarded trophies at the East Carolina College football banquet last night.

Piland and Lockerman, two of the five graduating seniors who have played four years of varsity ball at ECC, each received two of the five trophies presented to the players.

Piland, a 6-foot 1-inch, 190-pound tackle from Winton, received the best blocker award presented by Louis Collier and the outstanding player award presented by Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity. Piland was All-Conference and All-State for two years in a row.

Lockerman, a 6-foot 2-inch, 185-pounder, from Clinton, was awarded the outstanding senior award presented by Dr. James Tucker. This trophy, known as the Lanche award, was first received by Assistant Pirate Coach Ray Pennington during his football career at East Carolina.

The most improved player award, sponsored by the Pirates Club, was presented to sophomore halfback Larry Rudisill by club president N. F. Merritt Jr.

Tribute to Boone

College President Leo Jenkins recognized the team and paid tribute to Coach Boone. The college head said, "The team has represented us well and their conduct has been excellent on the field." Of Boone, Jenkins noted, "Jack is one of the finest Christian men I know and we are happy he will stay with us."

Jenkins also recognized the stadium workers who have raised approximately $266,000 for the construction of the Ficklen Memorial Stadium. He noted that these men have worked diligently on their own time for the college.

In addition to the presentation of awards, Coach Boone introduced the entire squad and thanked them and the coaching staff for their work. "I want to thank the many people who have helped me. Without their help I could not have lasted this long," he said. Boone also noted, "I am quite sure Coach Stasavich will get the support and cooperation he needs and I feel sure the boys will work for him."

The veteran Pirate coach concluded his remarks with the statement, "Never a man stood so tall as when he stooped to help a boy."

As a token of appreciation to Coach Boone, the Pirates Club presented him with a stereo set. This was in addition to a gift certificate and plaque that the team presented to him. The engraving on the plaque read, "To Coach Jack Boone in appreciation from your football team at East Carolina College in 1961."

Cox Speaks

Guest speaker Box Cox, former University of North Carolina football standout, tied "life and football together" in telling the players what they learned and received by playing football.

The former fullback said that the first thing a boy learns from football is "discipline." He noted, "You learn you belong to a team and the coaching staff with the coach as the leader." He added that discipline is a must for anybody who wants to be successful.

Cox mentioned that a football player has to have "sticking power." Often times, a person gets knocked down a notch, but he must get up and go again.

The next two things learned on the football field, according to Cox, were to operate under the confines of the law and to get along with all kinds of people. In football, the law comes in the form of rules and the officials are the judges.

Cox said that these four points are the elements of a leader, pointing out that football builds leaders. These are "lessons of life," he said.

He told the football players that they now have the tools to get the job done and they must use these tools. "If you want to get ahead in this world you must hit the ground running . . . and have pride in yourself and what you do," he said. Cox added, "If you do these things, then you will only be satisfied with getting the utmost out of what you possess."

Cox was introduced by John Ray Hardy.

The evening of entertainment included a steak supper sponsored by the Pirates Club and was held in the south dining hall of the campus cafeteria. Entertainment was furnished by a local Barber Shop Quartet.

"Can't Go Two Ways"

East Carolina College President Leo Jenkins said last night he would recommend that the school go independent during the interim period before joining the Southern Conference.

The college head told the group attending the annual football banquet that East Carolina could not go "two directions" at the same time. By this he referred to getting ready to join the Southern Conference and trying to remain in the Carolinas Conference under limitations which go into effect next fall.

The Carolinas Conference has set up scholarship regulations that would limit a member school to 10 basketball scholarships and 22 football scholarships. At the present time East Carolina is awarding about 38 football scholarships which far exceeds the conference regulation beginning next fall.

In commenting on the recommendation to go independent, Jenkins said that the move would have to be approved by the Faculty Athletic Committee. Jenkins has said that nothing definite will be done until after the Jan. 22 meeting of the school presidents of the Carolinas Conference members.

"It is definitely not the time to de-emphasize athletics," Jenkins said. As an example, he pointed out the number of young men in the United States today who are not qualified for military service.

William & Mary Runs Into Trouble When On Road

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If William and Mary could play all its games at home, including the annual league tournament, the Indians would be at least even bets to win the Southern Conference basketball championship. Unfortunately, however, the Indians must go on the road occasionally—and that's where they run into trouble.

After losing its first three starts away from home, William and Mary returned to Williamsburg last Saturday night and promptly dealt George Washington's defending conference champions a stunning 95-77 setback.

The Indians made it two in a row at home—and 11 straight—and 18 of 19 over the last 2 1/2 years—Tuesday night with a 71-63 verdict over Virginia's Cavaliers of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Meanwhile, West Virginia's powerful Mountaineers were racking up their fifth straight triumph—over-all and inside the league—with a 97-61 rout of Richmond's winless Spiders.

25 and 24 points, respectively. Outshot from the floor, the Indians cashed in on 21 of 26 tries at the free throw line. Harris hit on 11 of 12 charity shots.

West Virginia poured in 62 points in the last half in handing Richmond its third straight defeat. The Mountaineers led by 35-25 at intermission and zoomed out of sight in the last 20 minutes.

In tonight's only action involving a conference team, Richmond goes to Philadelphia to meet St. Joseph's.

PREP SCORES

Wolves Down Bulldogs 68-40

WINTERVILLE—The Winterville Wolves, led by James Braxton and Steve Worthington, trounced Grifton last night by a score of 68-40.

The Wolves jumped off to a 13-8 first quarter advantage and were never seriously threatened by the Grifton Bulldogs. James Braxton of Winterville was high scorer for the night with 21 points. Steve Worthington had 19 points for the victors.

High man for the losers was Tommy Riley with 13 points, he was the only man in double figures for the Bulldogs.

Winterville led at halftime by a score of 36-18. The Wolves, still hitting the second half, outscored their opponents by 10 points in the last half to easily gain their victory. Carolyn Barnes led the Winterville girls last night to a close win over Grifton. The score 55-52.

Barnes was high scorer for the Wolverines with 33 points, while Cora Lynn Worthington had 17 for the winners. Betty Reeves and Jane Mewborn had 28 and 20 points respectively for the losers.

Neither team plays again until Jan. 5. Winterville plays host to Chicod while Grifton entertains Ayden at Grifton.

Ayden Tops Bethel 64-60

AYDEN—The Ayden Tornados stirred up quite a wind last night defeating Bethel 64-60.

Ayden, down at halftime by a score of 33-23, came back strong in the last half to give the powerful Bethel Indians their first loss of the season. The Tornados outscored the Indians 41-27 in the last half by slowing the game down, forcing Bethel to foul and then making their foul shots. Ayden made 26 for 42 at the foul line for a 50 per cent average.

The Tornados placed four men in double figures with William Edwards leading the field with 16 points. Wayne Dall had 15 points for the victors.

Tex Everette, Bethel's high scoring sophomore, was high man for the losers with 23 points.

department, Ayden was able to control the rebounds. With Ayden controlling the rebounds, they were able to maintain possession of the ball and the game.

The Ayden girls, however, did not fare too well as they lost their third straight game. They lost by a score of 39-18. Not one of the Ayden girls was able to score more than five points while Bethel had two girls in double figures. Carolyn Manning and Mary Chessom scored 15 and 14 points respectively.

Jan. 5 finds Ayden at Grifton while Bethel plays host to Belvoir.

Farmville Tops Bel-Falk 50-49

The Farmville Red Devils squeezed by the Eagles of Belvoir-Falkland last night when Eagle guard Steve Cobb missed one shot of a 1-1 situation after the final horn sounded which could have tied the game.

With the final score 50-49, Coach Elbert Moye's Red Devils boosted their conference record to 2-1. Farmville took the lead in the first quarter and managed to stay ahead until the fourth stanza when Belvoir scored 19 points to the 11 scored by Farmville.

High scorer of the night for the winners was Danny Langston, a 5-foot 10-inch senior guard, who gained 17 points for the Red Devils. For Belvoir-Falkland, the top scorer was Allen Worthington with 23 points.

Earlier in the night the Farmville girls also came out on top when they downed the Belvoir-Falkland girls by a score of 37-33.

The Red Devils took the lead in the first quarter and by the end of the first half they were leading 25-17. In the second half the Eagles were able to close the margin by four points, but this was not enough to give them a victory.

The high scorer for Farmville was Ann Letchworth with 9 points and topping the scoring column for the Eagles was Mary Pollard with 20 points. The game was the first loss for the Belvoir-Falkland girls.

The next game for Belvoir-Falkland is a home contest on Jan. 2 with Robersonville. Farmville's next game will be at Grimesland on Jan. 5.

Oak City Defeats Rams 43-39

Oak City took a 43-39 win over Robersonville last night after pulling ahead with about a minute left in the game.

Robersonville held a one point lead when the Wildcats pulled ahead and went on to win the ball game. At the end of the first half the game was tied 22-22 and Robersonville led going into the last quarter by two points.

Topping the scoring column for the Oak City boys was Grover Whitley with 14 points. He was the only Wildcat player to hit in the double figures. For Robersonville the high scorer was Eddie Boone with 10 points.

In the girls' game Oak City also came out on top with a 32-12 win over the Ramlets. At the end of the first half the Wildcats were leading 15-8. The Ramlets could not muster enough strength to close the margin during the second half.

High scorer for the Oak City girls was Linda Etheridge with 21 points. For Robersonville the top scorer was Norma Williams with six points.

The next game for the Robersonville boys will be Dec. 19 at Tarboro. The girls will not resume play until Jan. 2 when they meet Belvoir.

Florida Deals Wake Forest
Second Season Loss, 71-65

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The bigger they are the harder they fall, and it must have been hard Tuesday night when Wake Forest was upset, 71-65, in a basketball game with Florida.

The Atlantic Coast Conference Deacons were ranked third in the nation in the preseason Associated Press poll and now they're left with a 2-2 record. They lost earlier to top-ranked Ohio State.

Elsewhere in the ACC Tuesday night, North Carolina State defeated the University of Maryland, 73-68, after an overtime, and the University of Virginia bowed to William and Mary, 71-63.

Wake Forest's Len Chappell was held to 21 points while Florida's Cliff Luyk made 25. Both stars stand 6-8.

The Gators got the lead with less than six minutes to play, at 34-52. Luyk and Tom Barbee, who scored 16 points, then hit three field goals and Florida was ahead for good.

The Gators never led by more than one point. The halftime score was Florida 33, Wake Forest 24. John Speaks, who scored 25 points for N.C. State Tuesday night, scored six of them in the overtime to give the Wolfpack its victory over Maryland.

But the game almost didn't make overtime. With three seconds to go and State leading 70-68, Bruce Kelleher of Maryland scored on a one-handed shot from 22 feet out.

It was the first conference outing for the Terps, who now stand at 0-3. The Wolfpack's record is 2-1, 1-1 in the conference.

Bob Harris and Roger Bergey both scored in the 30s to lead William and Mary to its eleventh straight win. Harris had 25 points, Bergey 24. Tony Laquintano of Virginia, however, led the scoring with 26.

William and Mary of the Southern Conference had a 31-27 lead at halftime, but they didn't get ahead for good until only eight minutes were left to play.

The defeat set Virginia's record back to 2-4. They haven't tasted a conference victory in three tries.

In the only Atlantic Coast Conference game tonight, the Duke Blue Devils visit the South Carolina Gamecocks, and somebody's bound to spoil somebody else's record. Both teams are undefeated.

In the conference, Duke has whipped Clemson and South Car-

Speaks Led Wolfpack In 73-69 Win Over Terps

By GORDON BEARD
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Jon Speaks has something less than 20-20 vision, but with contact lenses he becomes a basketball sharpshooter.

The North Carolina State Junior saw enough of the basket Tuesday night. He scored 25 points and led the Wolfpack to a 73-69 overtime victory over Maryland.

The 6-2 native of Lexington, Ky., connected on 8 of 15 shots from the floor and a perfect 9-for-9 from the foul line to help sink the Terrapins.

Late in the regulation game, when State went ahead 53-51, the Wolfpack called time out, and searched the floor for a contact lens lost by Speaks.

Unfortunately for Maryland, the lens was quickly recovered and replaced. Speaks scored a vital three-points minutes later and six of his team's 11-point in the overtime period. His last goal, with 1:15 to play, put the Wolfpack ahead to stay at 70-68.

In three games this season,

Speaks has connected on 18 consecutive foul shots.

Bruce Kelleher sent the game into overtime when he scored a field goal for Maryland with three seconds remaining after recovering a loose ball.

Coach Everett Case of North Carolina State was wary about his boys' playing the extra five minutes. When State's chartered airplane flight was canceled because of fog in the Washington area Tuesday, the Wolfpack had to ride a bus from North Carolina.

The bus departed about 9:45 a. m. and did not arrive until 4:30 p.m. The boys rested for an hour, and then had tea and toast for a pre-game meal.

"I don't know why, but sometimes a team plays better after a long trip like that," Case said. "I noticed some fatigue, but the boys played a wonderful game."

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—The Citadel's football players have named senior quarterback Bill Whaley their most valuable man during the 1961 season.

Whaley was honored at the annual football awards dinner Tuesday night.

The Bulldogs elected guard Gene Dice of Pittsburgh and end Charles Brendle of Winston-Salem, N.C., co-captains for next season.

Horse Circuit Banquet Date Set

Plans for the annual awards banquet to be held Feb. 17 were made at last Wednesday's dinner meeting of the Coastal Plain Horse Show Circuit.

The banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Morehead-Biltmore Hotel in Morehead City. Awards will be presented at that time by Mrs. D. D. Evans and Mrs. Robert L. Hamilton for the Circuit horse shows of the past season.

Officers for the coming year were also elected at the meeting last week. Sherman Parks of Greenville was elected chairman and acting treasurer; D. R. Champion of Washington, vice-chairman; Rebecca Parks of Greenville, secretary; Mr. Brooke Stewart of Greenville, publicity director, and Charles E. Steinmeyer Jr. of Greenville and J. P. Harris of Beaufort were elected as co-chairmen of the rules committee.

Movie Makers Bet On Proven Material

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two of Hollywood's all-time great directors are offering remakes of their old movies for the holiday trade. This might be viewed as a sad commentary on the state of Hollywood's creativity. Failing to uncover enough new material, the studios are betting millions, if not their corporate futures, on reworkings of such already-told tales as "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Cleopatra," "The Four Horsemen," "State Fair," "King of Kings" and the like.

Going along with the trend are three-time Oscar winners William Wyler ("Mrs. Miniver," "Best Years of Our Lives," "Ben-Hur") and Frank Capra ("It Happened One Night," "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "You Can't Take It With You.")

Wyler reached back to 1936 for "These Three." This was the expurgated version of the Lillian Hellman play, "The Children's Hour." Wyler has returned to the original title and theme: How the reckless rumors of lesbianism can ruin the lives of two school teachers.

The result is not for children, but it can be appreciated by adults as an intelligent exercise in human emotion. As with all Wyler films, "The Children's Hour" is beautifully acted, reflecting thought and taste.

Capra reached even further back—to his 1933 "Lady for a Day." The re-do is called "Pocketful of Miracles," and it is an all-out attempt to recreate a guileless era in American comedy.

Some movie goers will find it wonderful nostalgia. Others will conclude that what was sure-fire in the 1930s doesn't necessarily click in the 1960s.

The plot is one of Damon Runyon's old fables: Apple Annie is a Broadway crone who finances her daughter's elegant European education. When the daughter comes home to introduce her rich fiancé, a gangster sets up Annie as a grande dame and all of New York gets into the act.

As with all Capra films, the cast is laden with familiar faces. Best of the bunch are Peter Falk as a wisecracking hood and wonderful old Edward Everett Horton back in his butler's duds.

Kneel-In Called His Own Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — A North Carolina Methodist minister was jailed Tuesday when he refused to change his technique of picketing in front of the White House.

The Rev. David Andrews, 37, staged a "kneel in" dramatizing a request for leniency for Morton Sobell, who was imprisoned in 1951 after being convicted of conspiring to commit espionage.

Picketing is allowed at the White House, but the picketers are required to keep walking. When Andrews refused officers' orders to move on, they arrested him. He said he would not accept bond, but would remain in jail.

The minister is in charge of the Methodist center at Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone. He is a native of Goldsboro, and is president of the Goldsboro High School student body.

He told newsmen his expenses to Washington were paid by the Committee to Obtain Clemency for Morton Sobell. Sobell, a scientist, was tried in connection with the case of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who were executed as atomic spies.

Sobell's wife and his 12-year-old son, Mark, were picketing at the White House when Andrews was arrested. However, they were walking, and were not charged.

At Boone, the Rev. Preston Hughes Jr., minister of the Boone Methodist Church, said the "kneel in" was Andrews' own project, and was "in no way backed by any church or any group."

Win Agriculture Awards Of 1961

RALEIGH (AP) — Two North Carolina State College staffers and a cotton expert are the holders of Progressive Farmer magazine's top agricultural awards of 1961.

Frederic Heidelberg of Raleigh, executive vice-president of the State Cotton Promotion Association, was named man of the year in service to Southern agriculture.

His selection was made by the magazine Tuesday on the recommendation of Southern farm leaders and laymen.

Dr. H. Brooks James of Raleigh, the college's agriculture dean, was named man of the year in service to Tar Heel agriculture.

Miss Pauline Gordon of Raleigh, specialist in charge of housing and house furnishings work for the State Agricultural Extension Service at the college, was picked as woman of the year.

Women Stuck In Telephone Booth

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—City patrolmen Mickey Pyburn and Leon Musgrove were cruising in their patrol car when they received instructions:

"Car 1, go to 20th and Charlotte. There's a woman stuck in a telephone booth."

That was just half the story. There were two women.

"They were so embarrassed when we finally got the door open that they hardly stopped long enough to say anything to us," the officers said.

Holidays Begin Friday At ECC

Christmas holidays at East Carolina College will begin Friday of this week, December 15, at 5 p.m. Students will leave the campus for a vacation extending through New Year's Day. All dormitories and cafeterias on the campus will be closed for this period.

Those connected with administrative offices on the campus will have holidays of approximately a week each. The vacation periods will be staggered, however, so that essential services at the college will be open during the vacation period. All offices will be closed on January 1.

The annual Christmas Assembly of students and faculty members is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 15, at 10 a.m. in the Wright auditorium. The program, traditional in character, will feature selections by college music organizations and a talk by President Leo W. Jenkins.

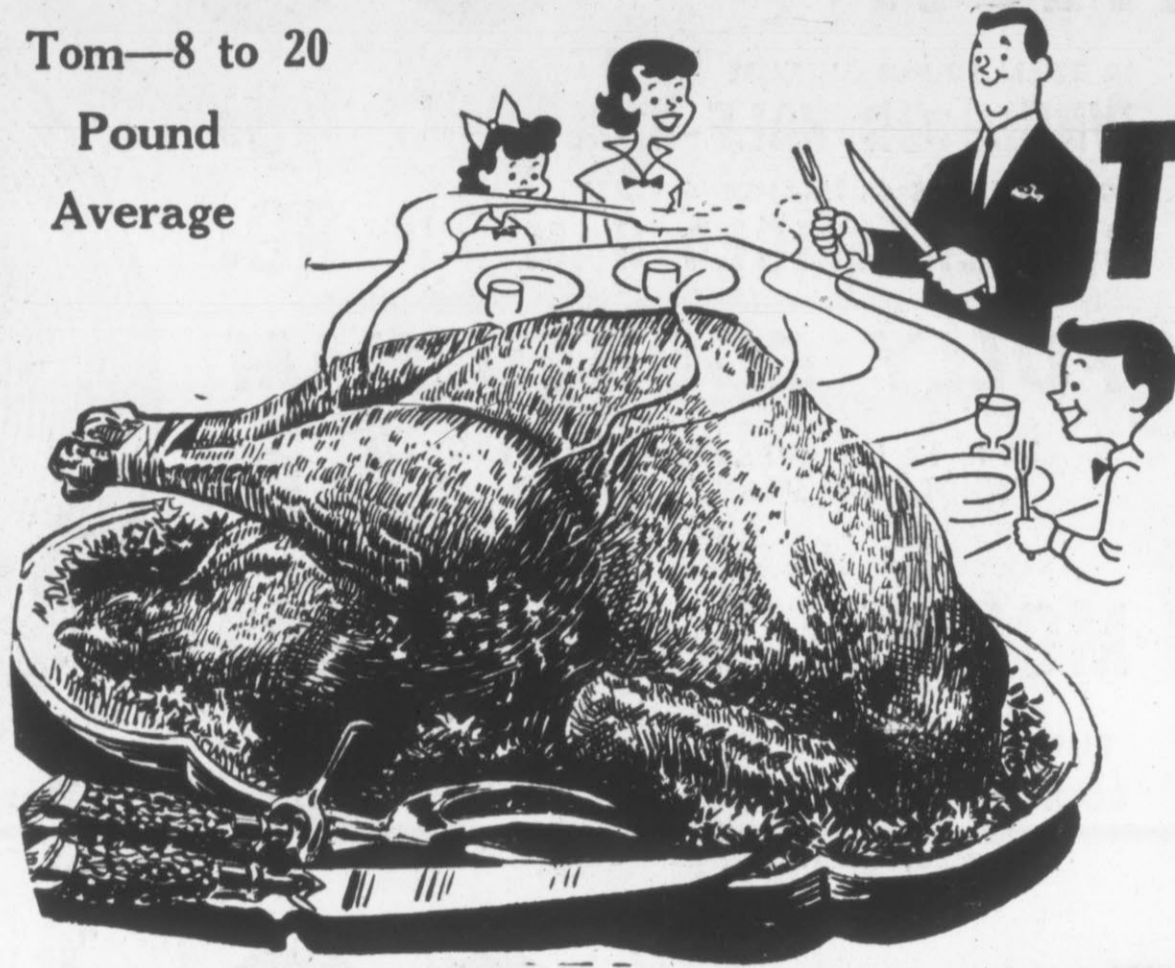

According to custom, an offering will be taken, with contributions going to the Christmas funds of local charitable organizations. Class work for the winter quarter, which opened Nov. 27, will be resumed at 8 a.m. Tuesday, January 2.

CABBIE COUNTERPARTS
 DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Two cab drivers were dispatched to a downtown office building the other day. George Rule went to pick up a passenger named Rule; Ernest Davis was sent to get a fare named Davis.

Alaska became a state by Presidential proclamation January 3, 1959.

Fan Mail To Enos Is Piling Up

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — Fan mail is coming to NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center from all over the world—addressed to Enos the chimp.

One letter covers part of the wall in the public affairs office of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It is almost six feet high and the words are in large black crayon. It reads:

"Dear Enos: We are happy that you had a good ride! We want to know how to say your name. We would like to have some pictures of you! We would like to see a banana pellet! We are proud of you!"

The letter is signed by the first grade of Bakerfield Elementary School, Aberdeen, Md. Twenty-four carefully scrawled signatures of the pupils in Room 1 follow.

Enos, who paved the way for manned orbital flight by an American by circling the earth twice on Nov. 29, also is receiving Christmas cards. These be deck part of the office of Col. John A. Powers, public affairs office.

"Dear Enos Chimp," one card begins. What do you think of the human race? I live alone and wish you were here with me where snowbanks are high in South Dakota. I have a beautiful ranch where you could have a good healthy time. Merry Christmas." It was signed Emma.

Another card shows the chimp on its front surface. "Six months ago you couldn't even spell soldier," it reads. Open the card and the chimp appears again. It reads, "And you is one."

One congratulatory card came all the way from Nice, France. It shows a bewildered Enos, his head swimming, standing before the open door of his capsule after his return.

The fuss over Enos is similar to the rash of letters which came to the center last year addressed to Ham, the chimp who made a successful suborbital flight.

All letters are answered by the Public Affairs Office, including those to chimpanzees.

Sanford Is Giving Pine Seedlings

RALEIGH (AP) — It's a good bet that anyone walking through downtown Raleigh carrying a package of loblolly pine seedlings has just been in to see Gov. Sanford.

The governor has a pile of them stashed away in his outer office to hand out to callers.

It's part of a promotion by the Conservation and Development Department's Forestry Division to call attention to statewide efforts to sell and plant about 65 million trees between now and the spring.

The four state-owned tree nurseries at Clayton, Goldsboro, Morganton and Hendersonville will distribute the seedlings costing $4.50 a thousand and-up with a 50 cent shipping charge.

Moratorium On Parking Fines

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Overtime parkers in Rock Island will find on their windshields next week tickets reading:

"Give the dollar that a ticket would have cost you to your favorite charity. The entire city administration, through its police department, wishes you a joyous and happy holiday season."

The City Council voted to run the moratorium on parking fines from Monday through Christmas Day.

The police chief warned, however, that motorists taking advantage of the yule spirit to park all day at a metered spot will get regular tickets—and fines.

Why "Good-Time" Charlie Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1—They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. ## Drugs Designed For Astronauts

WASHINGTON — Drugs are a vital unit in the medical kit of the astronauts.

Medicine at Work, publication of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, said that astronauts Alan Shepard and Virgil Grisson each took along four vials of drugs with hypodermic needles attached—handy for prompt self-administration.

The publication noted that these drugs are designed to help offset uncomfortable sensations in flight, injuries, and to counteract physical and psychological disabilities resulting from gravitational differences or atmospheric variations.

Door-to-door selling annually accounts for $2½ billion in sales.

EARN $8-15,000 YEAR
 Become part of a team of over 900 franchised dealers, representing the country's leading manufacturer and distributor of professional mechanics' hand tools and equipment sold to garages, service stations, and auto dealers in an established, exclusive territory in your own locality. If you would enjoy public contact—calling on small business firms and are not afraid of work—you can become part of a growth company whose proven selling techniques, thorough on-the-job training, national advertising and high level of repeat business with established customers have enabled hundreds with little previous business experience to earn $200 per week and more. No franchise fees are necessary; however, a no-risk investment is required which is 100% secured by returnable inventory. In addition, proven testing techniques will help to determine whether you have the personality, aptitudes, and ambition to assure your success. Protected territory now available in Greenville-Wilson area. For complete details, write: SNAP-ON TOOLS CORP., 13 East 37th St., Richmond 24, Virginia.

the old high, even if held to the close, was not particularly impressive to most technicians. Steels were spotty. U.S. Steel eased. Amerada, still off more than 2, depressed an otherwise steady oil section.

Chemicals were mixed. Renewed profit-taking depressed tobacco. Electronics showed scattered support with Radio Corp. up around a point. But air-craft missile issues fell back in the wake of the Pentagon's cancellation of plans for the mobile, railroad-based Minuteman missile. Southern California Edison was down around a point among utilities, with Commonwealth Edison and Consolidated Edison also losing ground.

Rails were mixed. Corporate bonds were irregularly lower, especially among rails and utilities. U.S. government bonds were slightly lower, with most trading in short maturities.

Present Annual Reading Of 'A Christmas Carol'

Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity at East Carolina College, will present its annual reading of "A Christmas Carol," by Charles Dickens, this evening, at 6:45 p.m. in the Alumni Building on campus. Dr. Albert L. Diket, member of the social studies department at the college, will read the part of Ebenezer Scrooge. Dr. Ralph Rives, member of the English department and assistant director of the East Carolina College Playhouse, is directing the reading. The public is invited.

Others participating in the reading are Dr. George Cook, member of the English department; Frances Farmer, of Washington; Betty Lou Sprull, of Aurora; James Ballance, of Fremont; Mrs. Crethe White, of Rt. 2, Aulander; Dan Bowers, of Rock Point; Cherry Futreal, of Rocky Point; Wayne Forbes, of Pinetops; Betsey Williamson, of Jackson; Linda Massengill, of Four Oaks; Jim Rockey, of Onak, Washington; Jennette Harris, of Williamson and Judy Reel, of Fair Bluff.

Mrs. Laurel Purvis, of Bethel, Mr. Ballance, and Mr. Bowers are providing the sound effects.

No Opposition To Re-Zoning

AYDEN—Following a public hearing here Monday night, the Ayden Town Board unanimously approved action to re-zone a residential area in the Boulevard Ave. section from RA-5 to RA-7.

There was no opposition to the move, which came from a request by citizens in the area. Actually, both RA-5 and RA-7 are residential districts, but RA-7 has more rigid requirements. The hearing was held at 7:15 prior to the monthly meeting of the Town Board and was attended by members of the Zoning Board of Adjustment and the Town Board.

The area involved includes the north side of Boulevard Avenue from the canal to East College Street in a northerly direction to the property already zoned as RA-7 residential zone.

Temperatures Dropping Today

Old man winter was moving rapidly in on the Greenville area this morning, as temperatures dropped nine degrees during a four-hour period and were continuing to drop at noon.

Kent Glisson of the Greenville Utilities Plant said the noon temperature reading was 49 degrees, a decrease from the 8 a.m. reading of 58.

The weatherman has forecast temperatures several degrees below normal for the next few days, as cloudiness disappears and the weather becomes windy and colder. Thursday will be fair and quite cold.

Yesterday the thermometer reached a warm 64 degrees here, with a low of 40 degrees registered.

Rain has accumulated for the first time in months, with .73 of an inch recorded in a 24-hour period up to midnight last night. For the three-day period beginning Sunday and ending at midnight last night, about two inches of rain has fallen here.

The Tar River, beginning to feel the effects of the recent rains, had risen slightly to 3.8 this morning, Glisson reported.

Civil Defense Is Board Topic

GRIMESLAND—The Grimesland Town Board discussed Civil Defense last night.

Mayor Leslie Elks and Elmore Hodges, Civil Defense chairman, plan to attend a Civil Defense meeting in Greenville on Friday.

Documentary On Peace Corps Set

Students and others in a wide area of the eastern part of the state will have opportunity Friday, Dec. 15, to see the first documentary television presentation of the Peace Corps, Dr. Robert L. Cramer, Liaison Peace Corps Officer, East Carolina College, has announced.

The program will be broadcast from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. over Station WITN of Washington, Channel 7.

Entitled "The Peace Corps in Tanganyika," the program will be a case study, Dr. Cramer stated.

Last Rites Set For Mrs. Gather Harrell

Mrs. Bettie Pearl Harrell, 43, wife of Gather Harrell of Stokes, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Tuesday night at 8:20 following six days of critical illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel Thursday afternoon at two o'clock by the Rev. Robert B. Crawford, pastor of the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church. Burial will be in the Wynne family cemetery near Stokes.

Mrs. Harrell, daughter of Rufus Barrington of Grimesland, and the late Mollie Peed Harrell, was a native of Beaufort County and had spent her married life in the Stokes Community.

Surviving are her husband; three sons, Gather Jr., Latha, and Phillip Harrell, all of the home; four daughters, Mrs. Benjamin Harrison Nelson III of Spring Lake, Patricia, Bettie May, and Teresa Ann Harrell, all of the home; two grandchildren; her father; a sister, Mrs. Leslie Taylor of New Bern; two brothers, Gilbert Barrington of Aurburndale, Fla., and Charlie Barrington of Aurburndale, Fla.; a half sister, Alice May Barrington of Grimesland.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina's egg markets steady. Supplies barely adequate to short, demand good. Prices paid producers for clean, unsized eggs, delivered nearby grading stations on a grade-yield basis, cases exchanged: grade A large, whites 37-38, medium, whites 31-32 1/2, small, whites 24-26, mostly 25-26.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was irregularly higher early this afternoon as strength in some issues was pretty well matched by weakness in other parts of the list.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 0.30 at 267.10. Industrials rose 1.30, but rails declined 0.10 and utilities were down 0.30.

British and Dutch shares of Unilever, big international firm with a varied list of consumer markets, performed spectacularly in their second day of trading. Unilever Ltd., was ahead around 2 points.

General Motors, American Telephone and Jersey Standard, three of the sturdiest of blue chips, continued to work their way higher, but other select issues were moving irregularly. Overall, key issues were up or down fractions to a point or so.

Ford was down more than a point.

Plenty of other losers were scattered through the list, taking some of the gloss off another advance in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials. This closely watched market barometer was up 1.57 at 735.59 at noon, higher than its record closing high of 734.34. But the "breakthrough" of

Drainage Plea Heard By Board

GRIFTON — Grifton town commissioners last night heard a drainage request from one citizen and approved monthly reports.

Roger Johnson of Grifton requested that the town divert drainage from his ditch on Pitt Street to a ditch belonging to the town, so that he can close his ditch to make suitable property out of it. The board appointed Commissioners Edward Owens and W. D. Casey to review the matter with Johnson and see if a suitable solution can be worked out.

In reports, the Police Department listed 27 arrests for November, with 24 found guilty in court, one case not pressed and two cases pending. Three accidents and one fire were investigated during the month.

Recorder's Court listed a balance of $1,296.19 for November. The Grifton Library report revealed that 478 books were issued during the month and the library services were open 21 days and 42 hours.

Party Given For Student Workers

East Carolina College students who are employed by the College book stores, student supply stores, and soda shops were entertained, at a Christmas party in their honor Monday night, Dec. 11.

Harry G. Rainey, manager of the student supply stores, presided over the festive occasion. College President Leo W. Jenkins complimented the students on the service they render the college, and spoke of the needed expansion in the supply store and concession programs.

Grifton Lodge Elects Officers

GRIFTON — Grifton Masonic Lodge No. 243 elected Sam McLawhorn Jr. as new master for the new year 1962 at a meeting last week.

Other newly-elected officers are J. C. Koon, senior warden; James Hudson, junior warden; Wilbur Murphy, treasurer; and Joseph Gilbert, secretary.

Appointive officers have not been announced yet. Installation of officers will take place the first Wednesday night in January.
