Background Of Trouble In Christmas Peace Appeals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leaders of the Western world appealed for peace and unity in Christmas messages Monday while expressing grave concern over differences dividing major powers and flareups troubling lesser ones.

President Kennedy assured West Berliners in a taped television broadcast that the beacon of free Berlin "will continue to shine brightly for many years to come."

"We are at your side — as before," Kennedy declared. "We shall stay. Until truly there is good will among men, not walls to divide them, our pursuit of peace shall continue."

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt cabled Kennedy his appreciation, asserting that "Berliners will take upon themselves new burdens rather than to forsake convictions and principles which free men all over the world are willing to defend."

Churches were filled to capacity in both East and West Berlin. The grim concrete and barbedwire wall the Communists threw up to divide the city was softened a bit by the first Christmas snow in five years. Some 800 lighted Christmas trees twinkled along the Western side of the wall to remind the East Berliners they were not forgotten.

Queen Elizabeth II said in a broadcast to the nations of the British Commonwealth: "We can only dispel the clouds of anxiety by the patient and determined efforts of us all. It cannot be done by condemning the past or by contracting out of the present. Angry words and accusations certainly don't do any good, however justified they may be."

Pope John XXIII, in a papal bull convoking a worldwide conference of the Roman Catholic Church next year for the first time since 1869, warned that "while humanity is on the verge of a new era, the church faces tasks of immense gravity and breadth as in the most tragic epochs of her history."

Palestinians, pilgrims and tourists packed the Christian churches at Jerusalem, and about 10,000 visitors journeyed across the Judean hills to services at Bethlehem, bathed in a brilliant winter sun.

Amid the prayers and the feasting, violence erupted as usual. A terrorist bombing killed at least 50 persons among 500 worshippers at Christmas Eve services at an army barracks at Buga, Colombia. More than 110 were reported injured in the blast, which came as a procession was about to place a figure of the infant Jesus in a manger.

In Algeria the underground Secret Army Organization of anti-French Frenchmen proclaimed a Christmas truce. But elsewhere in the North African territory terrorism from both sides of the French-Algerian conflict resulted in the deaths of 17 Algerians and 14 Europeans, and the wounding of 33 Algerians and 24 Europeans.

Messages from Queen Juliana of the Netherlands and President Sukarno of Indonesia to their peoples reflected the rising tension between the two nations over Dutch-held West New Guinea.

Roman Catholic priests in Goa, biggest of the three enclaves which India captured last week, prayed for the prosperity of India at special services. The bishop of Pangim — the Goa capital — charged that the Portuguese had deprived Goans of full freedom and called Indian Prime Minister Nehru the world's No. 1 man of peace.

The Chinese Communists broke a record 104-day lull in the Formosa strait and fired 53 shells at the Quemoy Islands, the Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry announced in Taipei.

It was a white Christmas and a bitterly cold one for much of the northern part of the United States and Europe. Snow blanketed most of Scandinavia, parts of Germany and from the Rockies east in the United States. Even Florida was hit by a cold wave. Traffic deaths mounted on the icy roads, but the National Safety Council doctored the toll would exceed 1955's record of 609 highway dead.

Stores Busy In Post-Christmas Gift-Exchanges, Special Sales

Not Everybody Had Prolonged Holiday; Accident - Prone Weekend Behind Us

By MARTI MARTIN
Reflector Staff Writer

It was the day after Christmas . . . and all through the stores, people were exchanging gifts.

That's about the way store clerks felt about the re-opening of their respective stores this morning after the holiday break.

For clerks, today is the day when the recipient of the customer's gift informs him that the size 32 pajamas should have been 36 and that Mom already has one hairdryer so couldn't she exchange the hairdryer she got for Christmas for something else.

Not only is there gift exchanging at the stores, but many of the local merchants are also conducting after-Christmas sales today.

And though Christmas came on Monday this year, the calendar did not afford a long weekend for everyone.

Fire Chief George Gardner reported that there was a full staff on duty, about 16 men, on Christmas Day. Gardner said, "You never know what will happen. Fortunately nothing did. Christmas Day for the Greenville Fire Department was very quiet."

Police Chief Guy Langston said that the holiday in Greenville was very quiet. "We had the usual force on duty for the holiday. On Christmas Day alone, there were a total of 27 men on duty."

The holiday weekend proved a little accident-prone in Greenville though. On Friday and Saturday there were four wrecks which involved 13 cars and injured 5 persons. Total estimated damage was $3,330.

The Pitt Memorial Hospital worked on a reduced crew for the holiday, according to C. D. Ward, administrator, who reported approximately 172 persons were on duty Christmas Day out of a regular staff of 231.

Emergency cases at the hospital were high on Saturday when 22 cases were rushed to the hospital. There were nine persons who received emergency treatment on Christmas Eve and five on Christmas Day.

Ward said, "And then there was the other type of emergency — two births on Christmas Day."

The administrator added that there were only 89 patients in the hospital on Christmas. Normally the number of patients in the hospital ranges from 140 to 150.

Intermingled with other activities over the long weekend, churches held many extra services. There were also numerous plans made for caroling, midnight candlelight services on Christmas Eve, and special cantatas and masses.

Weather over the weekend was cold but there was no white Christmas for Greenville. The temperatures for the 25th ranged from 28 degrees to 43. Last year the low was recorded at 23 and the high temperatures reached the 53 degree mark.

Even with the freezing temperatures, Utilities director L. P. Bloxam reported that there were no difficulties which arose over the holiday in connection with utilities.

Albania, China Sign Agreement

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China and Albania today signed an agreement to form a joint stock shipping company to develop shipping between the two countries, the New China News Agency reported.

The agreement was signed in Peking by a visiting Albanian trade mission.

Letter Denying Abduction Is Met With Skepticism

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — A woman reportedly abducted from her bed last Wednesday morning has written a letter to her mother saying she was not kidnapped.

But police said today they are skeptical of the letter from Mrs. Barbara Davis Layne, 20, and commented they had no way of telling when or under what circumstances it was written.

Police Chief R. O. Brooks said the contents of the letter, in which Mrs. Layne said she was all right, contrasted with the facts of the case. He pointed out that Mrs. Layne's aunt was hit over the head before Mrs. Layne was grabbed screaming from her bed.

Police have been searching for Mrs. Layne and the man accused of abducting her, ex-convict Malcolm T. Cash, 31. They said Cash had tried several weeks ago to kill Mrs. Layne after she tried to break off with him and had threatened her several times since then.

Brooks said the letter was postmarked at 4 p.m. Dec. 22 in Durham, N.C., and was received Dec. 23 by Mrs. Layne's mother, Mrs. A. W. Davis.

The chief said that the letter itself was not dated and expressed reservations about its contents. "We have no way of knowing when or under what circumstances the letter was written," he said.

90 Congo Soldiers In UN 'Army'

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Ninety Congolese soldiers will put on the blue berets of the United Nations Wednesday to join the U.N. army at Kamina base, the United Nations announced today. They are to have the same status as any other national contingent in the U.N. Congo force.

They will be the first of more than 90 Congolese soldiers scheduled to serve eventually under the U.N. flag.

Their duties at Kamina, U.N. officials said, will be to guard the important U.N. base in Katanga Province and perform routine reconnaissance work alongside Indian, Swedish, Norwegian and Canadian troops based there.

U.N. headquarters made clear the Congolese are not to be used in any offensive actions against Katanga President Moise Tshombe's secessionist government. But their presence is likely to increase Tshombe's fear the United Nations may assist the central Congolese army to reoccupy Katanga by force.

The political crisis between the central government and Katanga settled into a nervous period of apprehension while officials waited to see if Tshombe would stick to the agreement he signed last week with Premier Cyrille Adoula of the central government.

The first test of the Tshombe declaration, in which he promised in effect to end Katanga's secession, will come Wednesday when the Katanga members of Parliament are supposed to arrive to take up their places in the national legislature.

U.N. sources indicated that arrangements are being made to fly the 15 Katanga legislators to Leopoldville in a U.N. plane and house them here in accommodations guarded by the United Nations.

Christmas Eve Car Wreck Fatal For Pitt Countian

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

AYDEN — A merry Christmas was shattered in at least one Pitt County home this year following a wreck during the early hours of Christmas Eve, which took the life of 21-year-old Route 2, Grifton Negro, K. C. Peterson.

Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey reported that Peterson was pronounced dead on arrival at Pitt Memorial Hospital about 2:30 a.m. Sunday. The cause of death was listed as severe head injuries. He also suffered a possible broken neck, the coroner added.

Patrolman H. R. Winslow of Greenville investigated the fatal crash, and reported Samuel L. Dixon of Route 1, Ayden, escaped the crash with minor injuries. The investigators said the fatal wreck occurred about one and one-half miles from Scuffletown, just off rural road 1113, between Scuffletown and Ayden. Time of the mishap was set at about 1:10 a.m.

Pt. Winslow said the car, owned by Dixon's mother, was headed south on the rural road. He quoted Dixon as saying Peterson was operating the vehicle.

The car left the roadway, traveled a short distance across a plowed field, then overturned against a tree, pinning Peterson under the overturned auto.

The patrolman said a wrecker was required to lift the auto in order to free the victim.

Coroner Harvey reviewed Dixon's story by saying: Peterson had loaned his auto to someone, and had borrowed Dixon's mother's car to search for his vehicle. They had been to a place near Scuffletown earlier, Harvey continued, and were returning home at the time of the wreck. Dixon gave no explanation of the mishap, Harvey explained.

Both were thrown clear of the car as it overturned, officials said.

Claims Missile Pad Built In Cuba

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban refugee says Fidel Castro's government has built an underground missile launching pad with the aid of Iron Curtain country experts.

cers theorized, with the vehicle landing on Peterson.

Investigation is continuing in the collision, officers noted, adding that Peterson is thought to have been the driver of the car. The Christmas Eve death is the 11th traffic fatality for the year, one short of the 12 deaths recorded on Pitt roads and in Pitt towns during 1960.

Multiple Car Mishaps Feature Traffic Scene

Two multiple-car collisions, both on Greene St. near the Tar River bridge, dominated the traffic mishap scene in Greenville over the holidays, where officers reported an estimated $3,330 damage was caused and five persons injured in four wrecks.

Heaviest damage, officers said, occurred when four vehicles collided on Greene St., just north of the Tar River bridge, Saturday about 11:15 a.m. Four persons were reported injured in the mishap.

Drivers involved in the collision were identified as Gordon F. Whitehurst, 20, of 202 South Liberty St.; Johnny Wesley Griffin, 912 Legion St.; Lester Edwards, 41-year-old Negro of Route 6, Greenville; and Charles Edward Goodson Jr., 40, of 1604 Brownlee Drive.

Officers said the Whitehurst and Griffin autos were stopped when the Edwards vehicle hit the Griffin car in the rear, forcing the Griffin vehicle into the rear of the Whitehurst car.

The Goodson car then struck the Edwards car in the rear.

Damage was set by investigators at $30 to the Whitehurst auto; $200 to the Griffin car; $800 (a total loss) to the Edwards car, and an estimated $500 damage to the Goodson vehicle.

Both Goodson and Edwards were charged with following too closely by police.

Officers reported Goodson and Edwards, as well as two passengers in the Edwards auto, Lena Edwards and Lester Jr., received minor injuries.

In the second multiple-vehicle mishap, 43-year-old Negro John Taft, 1314-B Clark St., was charged with following too closely.

Officers said the Taft vehicle struck the rear of a car driven by Lonnie R. Buck, 47, Route 6, Greenville, causing an estimated $100 damage to the Taft auto and an estimated $150 damage to the Buck vehicle.

The impact forced the Buck car to strike the rear of a vehicle driven by Sidney E. Mills, 42, of 215 S. Eastern St., which in turn collided with the rear of a car driven by Haywood Matthews, 24, of Route 2, Robersonville. The Matthews vehicle then struck the rear of a car driven by Lucille B. Scott, 20, of 1307 VanDyke St.

Police listed damage to the other vehicles as $800 to the Mills auto, $50 to the Matthews car and $50 to the Scott vehicle.

One person, police reported, was injured in this five-car wreck, Lonnie R. Buck. He received chest injuries, officers noted.

The mishap occurred Friday about 5:09 p.m. just south of the Tar River bridge.

In a third rear-end collision, which occurred Saturday, police charged Jessie Alton Hill Jr., 18, of Winterville with following too closely.

Officers said the Hill car collided with an auto driven by Linda Lou Garris, Rt. 4, Greenville. The collision occurred on Perkins Ave.

Damage was set by officers at $150 to the Garris auto and $250 to the Hill car.

No charges were placed in the fourth wreck reported, investigated Friday on Wilson St., near its intersection with Dickinson Ave.

Drivers involved were identified as Ray Lee Daniels, 45-year-old Negro of Route 1, Winterville, and L. V. Gregory, 42, of 407 Line Ave.

Total damage reported to the vehicles amounted to $250.

Seven Pitt County high school seniors have been nominated for appointment to three United States service academies, according to an announcement by First District Rep. Herbert C. Bonner.

Principal and alternate nominations were submitted by Bonner for appointment to the Naval Academy and to West Point. Three candidates to the Air Force Academy were named.

Fifteen U.S. Soldiers Saw Christmas At Viet Nam Outpost

EDITORS NOTE—Malcolm W. Browne, Associated Press correspondent for South Viet Nam, spent Christmas at an advanced training base north of Saigon, where 15 U.S. Army instructors and their Vietnamese trainees observed the holiday under the eyes of Viet Cong snipers.

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
TRUNG LAP, South Viet Nam (AP)—Despite the constant threat of Viet Cong snipers and guerrillas, 15 U.S. Army men and their Vietnamese trainees stationed at this lonely ranger base in the jungle observed Christmas with a midnight Mass a Christmas tree and a turkey dinner.

The Mass was said in Vietnamese by a South Vietnamese army chaplain. The Christmas tree was small and mounted on cases of mortar shells. And the turkey dinner had been carried 30 miles north from Saigon over bumps, dangerous roads. But Trung Lap camp spent a peaceful holiday.

With the Americans were about 500 Vietnamese ranger trainees and their officers, some 70 of them Christians. Next week the rangers will begin field training problems conducted on the "learn while you fight" principle. The maneuvers will be conducted against the Viet Cong rebels themselves.

During the past week, the Viet Cong had tried to burn down two bridges on a rutted, dusty road connecting the camp with the outside world. Communist sniper fire had been taking its toll of casualties among the Vietnamese rangers.

As the sun set on Christmas Eve, sounds of rooster calls and tom-toms told the camp that the Viet Cong outposts were watching and signaling from the surrounding rice fields and underbrush. The new diesel generator was started, and lights came on in the new mess hall. A string of lights on the Christmas tree was plugged in, and Capt. Linton C. Beasley of Lynchburg, Va., senior U.S. adviser at the camp, produced a tape recorder with some Christmas carol tapes. When the generator failed, the men lighted candles and sang.

During the day, the Rev. Dinh Tuan Ngon had arrived at the camp under heavy escort in his pink chaplain's jeep. Father Ngon could speak no English but communicated with the Americans in enthusiastic, broken French, and prepared a makeshift altar and confessional in a training hut. During the past year, the Viet Cong has made priests special targets. A French priest was murdered while visiting his parishioners two weeks ago.

After dinner Monday, the Americans played cards, swapped stories, read or wrote letters. Most were lonely. For all this was the first Christmas in Viet Nam, and for some of the younger officers it was the first Christmas away from home. Most are married and have children back at home.

Shortly before midnight, the massively barbed wire gate to the fort was opened. Vietnamese rangers carrying Tommy guns escorted about 20 women and their children from the nearby village inside. All the villagers were dressed in their best clothes and had come for Mass. The children were given candy and taken to see the Christmas tree, but the generator had failed and the tree lights were out. In the darkness, the children inspected the tinsel by flashlight illumination.

The villagers were joined at the Mass by the Christian rangers and most of the Americans. Firecrackers were exploded to scare off mosquitoes, and the priest solemnly intoned the Roman Catholic rites.

As the villagers walked away from the improvised chapel, an American mortarman fired five illuminating flares into the warm northern sky, casting a bright glare over the rice fields. The shells exploded in the sky, forming the rough pattern of a star. Lookout posts checked the field, but no Viet Cong were in sight.

On Christmas Day, the Americans moved out of camp in combat formation for an inspection of the bridges and the nearby village. Children flocked around and candy was distributed.

During the day an army plane flew low over the camp, dropping a box of mail. The mail plane has not tried to land at the camp since breaking its landing gear there several months ago.

Just before sunset, Americans and Vietnamese set up a volleyball net and played until dinner.

The prized turkey and fixings were prepared with a flourish by Sgt. Al Combs, 31, of Brooklyn, N.Y., whose wife and four children stayed in Okinawa when he was sent to Viet Nam.

Along with all the other U.S. troops at Trung Lap, Combs can cook, fire mortars, train Vietnamese rangers, perform minor surgery, fix communications equipment, demolish enemy emplacements, fight in any kind of terrain, make combat parachute jumps or hack paths through the jungle. But on Christmas his principal problem was preparation of cranberry sauce.

The men went to bed early. There had been an intelligence report that a Viet Cong platoon with at least one automatic weapon had moved into the area, and the war would continue tomorrow.

Christmas Eve Ceremony Unites Greenville Couple

Mrs. Thurman Ray Hardee

The Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church was the setting of a Christmas Eve ceremony on Christmas Eve, December 24, at four o'clock when Miss Peggy Jean Dixon and Thurman Ray Hardee were united in marriage.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lester Dixon of Greenville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Hardee, Jr., also of Greenville.

The Reverend Floyd B. Cherry, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony. The church was decorated with a background of tall standards of emerald greens and dulia phledendrons. A crescent shaped brass candelabra was used across the back of the church to cast a soft glow over the wedding scene. This was interspersed with exquisite arrangements of white gladioli and large white mums. At the altar was a brass Priou Dieu with white cushions. Preceding to the altar were tall standards of bridal greenery and seven branched candelabra holding tall cathedral candles with tree candelabra on the sides. Pews were marked with white satin bows and bridal greenery.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Bobby Joe Dixon, pianist, Mrs. Ollie Ray Padgett and David McGowan. phanotis centered with a white orchid with ribbon streamers.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Massad of Benson was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Mills, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Reuben Cherry. Junior bridesmaids were Misses Merlene Haddock and Marietta Elks, cousins of the bride. They wore street-length dresses of red velveteen fashioned with a bateau neckline, short sleeves and bell skirts featuring a bow at the waistline. Their matching headpieces were velveteen tiaras with short circular veils interspersed with seed pearls. Matching shoes and white short gloves completed their costumes. They carried cascade bouquets of white mums and bridal greenery tied with white satin ribbon.

The flower girl, Little Miss Louise Hardee, cousin of the bridegroom, wore a dress and matching headpiece identical to those of the other attendants and carried a white and red flower basket of rose petals. The ring bearer was Lynn Hudson, cousin of the bride.

The bridegroom chose his father as his best man. Ushers were Thomas Wayne Hardee and Carlton Hardee, brother and cousin of the bridegroom respectively. Jessie Lee Mills, cousin of the bride, and David Butts of Wilson.

She is employed by Greenville Tobacco Company. The bridegroom is a graduate of Greenville High School and attended East Carolina College and is presently employed by Du Pont Company.

Cake Cutting

Immediately following the rehearsal on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dixon entertained at an after-rehearsal party in the Cherry Educational Building of the church.

The refreshment table was covered with a white outwork cloth over green and centered with an arrangement of a winter scene with tall tapers, wedding bells and mistletoe with love birds which carried out the Christmas motif. At one end of the table, a crystal punch bowl, encircled with silver sprays, graced the table, and, at the other end, there was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. A tall Christmas tree decorated the building.

Mrs. Elbert Hudson, aunt of the bride, served cake after the bridal couple had cut the first slice. Mrs. Calvin Mills poured lime punch and guests helped themselves to nuts and mints.

Mix together the crumbs, cheese, salt and pepper on a piece of paper; roll chicken in mixture—about one-third of the crumbs will be taken up. Melt butter in a baking dish (about 8 by 12 by 2 inches) in oven. Place chicken, skin side down, in the butter; sprinkle with half of the remaining crumb mixture. Bake in preheated oven 30 minutes; turn chicken skin side up; sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture and baste; continue baking 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Already Receiving Some Benefits

If school superintendents have accurately evaluated changes in public education in the state since last September, North Carolina is already receiving benefits from the "quality education" program launched by the legislature early this year.

According to Gov. Sanford, superintendents cited improvement in the efforts, attitude and interest among teachers in public schools throughout the state this year. An improvement was also noted in the quality of applicants for teaching jobs throughout the state.

The superintendents said they also detected this year more serious study by students on the whole, more concentration on instruction during school hours, less extra-curricula activities and also a reduction in the size of classes.

While these things do not mean that North Carolina has reached the quality of education it desires in its public schools, they indicate that the state has moved out on the right path to bring about a considerable improvement in public education. Even in his most aggressive advocacy of the program of "quality education", Gov. Sanford asserted it would take years to achieve an acceptable goal. He also pointed out that tangible signs of improvement in the level of

Democrats' Big Money-Raiser

By LYNN NISBET

J-J DINNER — The 1962 Jefferson-Jackson Dinner will be staged on March 31 in the J.S. Dorton Arena at the State fairgrounds. This is the big money-raising event on the calendar of the North Carolina Democratic party organization. Funds raised from the sale of $50 tickets will go mostly into the national party war chest and the dinner is really sponsored by the national committee and the executive committee from this state, although the machinery and clerical staff of the state organization is drafted for most of the work.

The Aycock-Vance dinner at Asheville, held for the first time this fall, but declared to be an annual affair, is the principal money-raising event for the state organization.

The present Jefferson-Jackson dinner grew out of an original Jackson Day dinner. In early days the dinner was held on January 8, anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, or on March 15, Andrew Jackson's birthday. When it became increasingly difficult to arrange for hotel accommodations and dates are set each year at sometime between January 1 and May 1 when facilities are most readily available. Until last year the dinner had always been held in the Hotel Sir Walter. Capacity of the dining room there is a maximum of 650—and almost half that number had to be seated in a room where the speaker could not be seen. The 1960 dinner in fairgrounds arena lacked many of the attractions of the hotel dinners, but the plan did permit equality of entertainment and service for more than a thousand guests.

GET-TOGETHER — The big value of these dinner occasions does not lie in the dinner or even in the big speech delivered by some outstanding national figure in the Democratic party. The value is in the opportunity afforded for Democrats from all over the state to mix together, swap gossip and political news and maintain "family" relations among themselves. The party leaders figure that what they lose in luxury by switching from the hotel to the fairgrounds they more than make up in the larger number of Democrats accommodated.

DATE — The date fixed, much later than usual, puts the dinner well into the primary campaign. It will be two weeks after the books close for filing notice of candidacy for state or district office, and two weeks before the lists close for members of the General Assembly and county offices. (State and district filing closes at noon Friday, March 16; county filing closes at noon on Friday, April 13.) Meantime, also, the date for the State convention will have been set, and there will be some question whether it will be held under rules which have maintained for many years or under new rules expected to be adopted by the executive committee early in March. There will be plenty for the Democrats to talk about when they get together.

Underlying all the talk will be recognition of the fact that the Democratic party must strengthen and tighten its organization and put forth more effort than in many years if it hopes to retain its dominant place in North Carolina governmental affairs. Party officers and candidates for public office will be selected not so much on basis of honoring them as on what they can do to party strength.

NOT BACKWARD — The people of Mecklenburg county have just voted $8.4 million for school construction bonds. The vote was not quite two to one, but was better than three to two in favor of the bonds. This was the eighth bond issue for education voted by Mecklenburgers since World War II. The aggregate amount of the bonds authorized by these votes was in excess of $52 million.

Voter participation was disappointingly low—as is the case in almost every bond election, but there was enough interest to prove that Mecklenburgers want better schools and are willing to pay for them. The taxes the people of the county will pay to carry these bonds will be substantially more than the Mecklenburg people would have had to pay on the recently proposed State bonds—which they and most of the rest of the state voted against. This is testimony to the fact that they are not backward or stingy or lacking in appreciation of the better things. They knew what they were voting for in the county, and knew they would have some voice in how the money would be spent. The need was explained to them in detail, not just in general terms of "we need so many millions for good purposes, and we have decided what these purposes will be, so come along and give us the money."

Where responsibility for failure of the State bond issue really rests, the Mecklenburg elections and other throughout the state prove conclusively it cannot be charged to a backward or stingy attitude on part of the people.

public school education might not show up for several years even if the program he advocated were accepted by the legislature and the people of the state.

If, during the first few months of the first school year under the new program for quality education, the superintendents have been able to see the improvements they cited to Gov. Sanford, there can be no doubt that progress is being achieved. If the superintendents had merely cited the fact that both students and teachers were taking their respective tasks more seriously than in past years, it would have been clear that the first dividends were being received from the additional millions North Carolina will spend on its public school program this year.

It will be interesting to see if the superintendents, at the end of the current school year, will be able to see in the latter portion of the school year a continued improvement in these qualities as compared with the first part. If so, we may be sure that the factors cited by the superintendents were not just immediate reactions to the new program, but rather lasting reactions that will continue as the state moves forward to enrich its public schools.

On the basis of this first consolidation of reports by school superintendents all over the state, the better school program undertaken by North Carolina is already beginning to pay off.

Helped City Through Pre-Christmas Rush

Looking back over the rush of the pre-Christmas business activity in downtown Greenville, we have a most favorable impression of the manner in which local police officers handled the unprecedented volume of pedestrian and automobile traffic.

During the busy weeks just prior to Christmas, there were few times when traffic was snarled, few times when the officers did not keep it moving at a rather even pace. There was congestion, to be sure, and parking space was at a premium. But the local traffic officers were obviously on the job throughout the day.

Perhaps what impressed us most was the fact that the officers seemed to know just when the volume of traffic was too great to be handled by the traffic lights in the center of the business section. The officers didn't hesitate to move into the centers of intersections and use their initiative to keep the traffic moving when the lights were causing congestion.

It seemed to us quite an improvement over the traffic situation in downtown Greenville in other Christmas rush seasons, and it proved a benefit to citizens who were busy getting their shopping and other chores done before Christmas.

To the Greenville Police Department and to its traffic officers, we say Thanks for helping the business section—and the residents of Greenville—through the pre-Christmas rush.

Less Firm On Urging Unions

By RALPH ROBEY

When President Kennedy addressed the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, he was insistent that costs of production and prices be held down, and he said that on the following day he was going to tell labor the same thing. He did mention the same subject at the annual meeting of the AFL-CIO the next day, but he was much less firm, and his Secretary of Labor Goldberg pretty well wiped out even this mild advice within the next 24 hours when he told the same group that there was plenty of room for higher wages.

Secretary Goldberg, in a letter to the Washington Post, says that this is a distortion of what he said, and that actually all he advised was that within the limits of increase of output per manhour, there is room for a rise of wages. Regardless of whether this is what he meant to say, the AFL-CIO refused to accept even this soft restraint and before the convention adjourned passed resolutions embodying this rejection. The resolutions, too, were passed without a dissenting vote.

Specifically, it was stated: "In collective bargaining in the period ahead, AFL-CIO affiliated unions will press for wage advances as a vital means of increasing adequate consumer purchasing power." The reasoning back of this was put in this manner: "Purchasing power must catch up and keep pace with fast rising national productive power so as to help stimulate and sustain an increased rate of national economic growth."

Unions were urged to bargain for higher wages, more fringe benefits, and shorter hours with no loss of pay. Most industries, it was maintained, could grant all this and still lower prices. In a few it might be necessary to lift prices, but for the economy as a whole the price level

"can remain reasonably stable." The convention also called for increased government spending, or as labor terms it "an expansionary federal budget policy," and it said that tax reduction might have to be postponed if Washington spends the amount it should.

Now there is nothing new in any of this from the viewpoint of labor. It has been recommending exactly the same things for years. The reasons for emphasizing this program at this time are:

1. Consumer income in this nation is the highest in history, and continues to climb month by month and quarter by quarter. It is not lack of money that is holding back our economy. It is that prices are too high from the point of view of potential purchasers.
2. Both internally and internationally, competition is getting stronger almost by the day, and business is finding it increasingly difficult to equal even the profits of last year, which was a period of recession. We need lower, not higher, prices, and wages are the most important over-all cost of production.
3. Our international balance of payments is becoming more and more unfavorable and this calls for larger exports. We cannot increase our exports appreciably without lowering prices, and we cannot lower prices if wages continue to rise year after year. On out international deficit nothing less than our standing as a world leader depends, and this must not be taken lightly.
4. Every dollar that is available for an increase of wages is also available for a reduction of prices. Higher wages benefit only those who get the raise; lower prices benefit everyone, and help the nation in its international relations.

In a word, this is a time for mature thinking. The resolutions of the AFL-CIO convention reflect no such maturity.

Strength For Today

OUR COMMON HERITAGE

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

George Washington was a guerrilla fighter. After his stunning defeat at Long Island it looked as if the cause of freedom was at an end.

But Washington was not one who gave up easily. His spies informed him that the Hessian commander at Trenton was ill prepared to meet an attack. It was Washington's intention to strike on Christmas night, but the difficulty in crossing the ice-choked Delaware kept him from arriving at Trenton until dawn. There on December 26 (185 years ago today) he won a battle which thrilled the world, caused Frederick the Great to term it the most illustrious military achievement of the century, and turned the dispirited colonies into a fighting unit which in spite of Valley Forge and scores of defeats nevertheless marched slowly but surely to victory.

Today the English-speaking peoples of the world stand together with a unity that warns tyrants and aggressors to beware. We milled about for centuries trying to get our feet firmly planted on the ground, but now we know where we stand. Freedom lovers stand together. We face despotism, atheism, tyranny, and the cruelty of nothing less than our standing as a world leader depends, and this must not be taken lightly.

Every dollar that is available for an increase of wages is also available for a reduction of prices. Higher wages benefit only those who get the raise; lower prices benefit everyone, and help the nation in its international relations.

In a word, this is a time for mature thinking. The resolutions of the AFL-CIO convention reflect no such maturity.

The Glorious Victory

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Positive Stand Needed

Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

I received a most thoughtful letter from Robert G. Kelsey of Freehold, New Jersey, who is critical of an article I wrote. He says: "The idea that, although there has been vast changes, both economic and social in this country since 1914, these changes were not necessarily in the best interests of the country, and certainly not in the best interest of the individual."

Those of us who are conservatives need not become revolutionaries to achieve our ends. If we ignore reality, we may become irrational. Granted that many of the changes that were introduced by the New Deal are hateful, what effect would their rejection in 1961 have upon economic and social conditions in 1961?

Let us take as an example the expansion of labor unionism since 1936. The trend has been not only to increase collective bargaining but to reorganize the social relationships between management and labor, to divide wages into two parts, cash payment and social payment; the former controlled by agreements between management and the union, the latter determined by acts of Congress, decisions of various government agencies. Also, the trend has been to establish a single industrial union in a company rather than a large number of separate and independent unions.

In 1936 and 1937, I opposed this trend as did many conservatives, but in 1961, the consequences of attempting to drop this system and to substitute for it the open shop, conflicting unions, no government control would be dangerous. The practical question is whether it is possible to revert to pre-1936 conditions.

Merely to say that a conservative dislikes Roosevelt provides no guidance for conduct in 1961 when we are at war, when our dollar is shamefully inflated, when our bankers have ceased to think in economic terms beyond that of a teller.

We are still a free people, able, under the law, to express our opinions and to vote for what we believe to be true. But, if we assume that war does not change economic and social conditions, we do not grasp our situation.

Kelsey says: "You speak only what you have. This statement is obvious. As I have read in your own column, Mr. Sokolsky, there is a limit to the deficiency any one or any nation can stand. Ignoring the limitation can bring bankruptcy."

Of course, there is a limit to what a nation can spend. In time of peace that limit is controlled by the law of supply and demand, by prudence, by our competence to maintain order under mass opposition to government conduct.

In time of war, none of this is true. Instead of the law of supply and demand, we are governed by victory or defeat. What we need to recognize is that we now have no effective allies and that we need to meet war conditions out of our own resources.

One of our principal dangers is that unemployment can bring on revolutionary conditions. Kelsey says:

"That you do not legislate charity. Charity is voluntary and legislation is not."

If my correspondent means that social measures are revolutionary, he must, as a practical man, be prepared to shoot down and kill all the unemployed or the partially employed. If he is not ready to do that, as I am sure he is not, he must be ready either to find work for them or create economic conditions which do increase the number of jobs available. The law of supply and demand will not protect the worker from the failure to find jobs under the conditions which today face him.

These are the facts which we face as a result of a devastating depression, three wars, the Russian Revolution and the disorganization of the world economic system by the appearance of new nations and the collapse of ancient empires.

It is unfortunate that so many who are opposed to Marxism reject the essential fact that we are forced to take positive stands to meet Marxism; that we cannot just say that everything is all wrong but that we have to offer a constructive proposal.

Needed Asset In Business

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — As the last weekly column which I shall write you before my "BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL FORECAST for 1962" appears in this newspaper, I wish to say an important word to you. In short, your future as an investor or businessman, — especially as a manufacturer or retailer — depends upon certain intangibles which cannot be reduced to statistics. Let me mention four of these.

PERSONAL RELATIONS AND DEALING WITH OTHERS

From year to year, the labor situation will become more difficult. Firms which do not deal with labor unions will ultimately have to come to it, while those which already are dealing with labor unions will be subject to more and more demands. In order to be successful, you must be able to deal with employees successfully.

Some people naturally can do this, while others cannot. This means that you must meet every employee with a smile, and must always take some time to talk with employees personally. It absolutely requires a sunny disposition and considerable patience.

IMPORTANCE OF JUDGMENT

In studying the history of a corporation — in terms of employment or the purchase or sale of its stock — you cannot depend on statistics or on any of the other guides which I have mentioned in earlier columns. People succeeded and failed in business before there were any such things as statistics, or credit reports, or any other form of printed information. My grandfather actually kept his accounts on his shirtleeves during the week and they were copied by one of his daughters in a rough notebook on Sunday. The various manuals and financial services now available are of help, but you must determine how they are to be used.

I have great respect for accountants. The President of the Babson Institute is an accountant, however, is largely that of a doctor making a "post-mortem" examination. Very seldom is an accountant able to forecast the future. Any more than a doctor can. He can analyze a man after death. The beginning of each year starts a new life for the accountant.

COURAGE MOST IMPORTANT

Going back to the days of Venice and Athens, when trading first started, courage was the main asset a successful man had to have. This applied to trading by sea in small vessels without charts or compass, and by pack caravans which went over the mountains with valuable goods. Courage was indispensable, and it still is.

Today, the businessman has the advantage of telephones, airplanes, and even stockbrokers' tickers; but none of these take the place of courage. The reason is obvious; namely, that all his competitors have the same advantages. All have telephones; all can use airplanes. All can subscribe to Dun & Bradstreet or Moody's reports or any other business aids. Hence, it all comes down to the fact that it is the one having the best judgment plus the best courage who will be the successful man.

RELIGION AND PRAYER

By religion, I do not mean theology. It does not interest me how old a denomination is, or how large is its membership. Many religious people do not believe in the Bible, except at Christmas and Easter. Throughout history, people have been religious and non-religious. I even feel that some who call themselves atheists may be truly religious.

On the wall surrounding the Great World Globe on the campus of the Babson Institute are these letters, "FOR WHAT IS A MAN PROFITED, IF HE SHALL GAIN THE WHOLE WORLD AND LOSE HIS OWN SOUL?" The greatest treasure of all is a sane religion. A man may accumulate property without religion; but he is successful only as he is happy and his children turn out.

More Look-Aheads On Business

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here are more look-aheads in business, based on analysis of trends now developing.

New discount tactics: Department store price competition is trimming discount houses' advantage, but discounters have a new potential advantage. Not being tied to locations as many department stores are, many are planning to switch to mail-order discounting. Operating from low-rent, low-taxed warehouses outside of metropolitan areas—often free from sales taxes—1962 discounters will try to undersell department, appliance and other discount stores.

More capital outlays: Expenditures for plant and equipment will rise during the early part of 1962. Production expansion, tooling up for increases in defense orders and replacement of antiquated equipment will increase capital spending by 6 or more per cent.

CONTENT WITH CHEAP DOLLARS

No dollar rivalry: For many years Canadians have snickered because the American dollar was worth less than theirs. Now the Canadian dollar is worth around 95 cents in United States money—and the Canadians are still snickering. The discount gives them an advantage in labor costs on goods exported to the U.S. An item that costs $1 to produce in the U.S. costs only 95 cents (in American money) in Canada.

Defense step-up: Increase in defense is now moving from talk into action stage. No manufacturer, regardless of size, should overlook possibilities of government defense contracts, sub-contracts and sub-sub-contracts.

Fewer failures: Indications are that there will be fewer bankruptcies this month. Business failures will be less because the upsurge in Christmas buying will postpone, if not end, many possible failures. And personal bankruptcies—which account for the far greater part of all financial failures—will be fewer because debtors have been desperately trying to keep up payments to keep going on charges and installment bases until after Christmas.

TIGHTER S&L CONTROL

Administration is about to seek tighter control over savings and loan associations. One control sought is the protection of depositors when S & L associations change from mutual to stock companies.

Conservation at home: The Agriculture Department is about to extend conservation programs to the suburbs. It wants to encourage local governments to prevent the unnecessary uprooting of trees and shrubs by builders. It may also encourage home owners to conserve organic wastes by digging coffee grounds, tea leaves and other rottables into the soil.

More abundant paper: Demand for paper and pulp is leveling off and the increase in paper mill facilities will provide ample newsprint for some time to come. However, rises in pay may tend to shove prices up slightly.

OLD PROMOTER WOULD SHELTER PETS

There was a make-a-buck gleam in the Old Promoter's eye when he called today and he was not long in getting down to business.

"You know about the shelter boom," he began. "I know how you and I can get into it and make a fortune."

We looked at our glasses, then under our chins, first over, then under our chins.

"The quick-profit fellows have overlooked a bit," he said. "Dogs and other pets."

"Arf?" we asked.

"People love pets," he said. "Therefore, provision must be made for them in shelters. I am planning to offer a line of canned pet food, canned water for pets, bottled oxygen for dogs, parakeets, cats and other loved ones, and canned bones with boxes of dirt in which they can be buried."

"Shouldn't there be something to deodorize dogs jammed in a shelter with you?" I suggested.

"My boy," the old one said, "you have just put the cherry on the frappe. Your idea makes the whole scheme real. I am going to give you half interest in the plan. Of course, not that the proposal is perfect, I expect you will want to invest some cash in it."

It was somewhere about there that I lost him.

Couple Are Married Amid Christmas Setting

In a Christmas setting of poinsettia and candlelight, Miss Anne Harris, of Greenville, became the bride of Harold Eugene Harris, of Greenville, at 2:30 in the afternoon of December 24, in the Mount Pleasant Christian Church near Greenville. The Reverend W. D. Morion officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The church was enhanced with decorations of large red and white poinsettia placed against an altar background of plumosa, emerald, and hollyhock. Tall, seven-branched candelabra holding cathedral candles stood at intervals, and a white satin covered prie dieu centered the altar. Upon this the couple knelt for the benediction. Pews were marked with white satin ribbons caught with pom poms.

Prior to the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Randolph Fleming, organist, and Mrs. William C. Nelson, who sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," by Shultz; "O Promise Me," by De Koven; and "The Wedding Prayer" by Dunlap. Traditional marches were played for the processional and recessional.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father, Charles W. Harris, of Greenville. She was gown in a formal length design of peau de sole with a scalloped satrina neckline and long sleeves ending in calla points at the wrists. The bodice featured a re-embroidered lace motif which graduated into two front panels that extended the full length of the gown. Her chapel train fell from an abbreviated peplum caught at the back of the waistline.

A fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a fitted bride's hat of lace and encrusted with pearls.

She carried a white satin and lace covered prayer book centered with a white hybrid orchid surrounded with white roses and caught with white streamers that cascaded from the center.

Miss Becky Sue Harris was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of Christmas red velvet, featuring a scoop neckline and bouffant skirt. Her matching headpiece was styled like a red rose, outlined in mink, and attached to a short circular bouquet of white carnations interspersed with red pom poms and centered with a red Christmas ornament.

Russell Harris, of Greenville, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Ushers were Lloyd Hudson, of Greenville, cousin of the groom, and Bobby Harris, also of Greenville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Harris wore an emerald green sheath of peau de sole, with softly draped front and complementing accessories. Her corsage was a yellow orchid.

Mrs. Taylor, mother of the groom, chose a hollyhock sheath of sheer wool with a gold metallic hat and skin accessories. Her corsage was also a yellow orchid.

Following the ceremony the bride couple received in the vestibule of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie W. Harris of Greenville. A graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School, she is now completing her senior year in pharmacy at the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond. The groom is the son of Mrs. F. Eugene Taylor of Greenville, and Russell

Mrs. Harold Eugene Harris

Harris of Elizabethtown. He is a graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School and attended East Carolina College. He is employed by the E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company, of Greenville.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride changed into a three-piece suit of red wool with which she wore a white fur hat and skin accessories. Her corsage was the orchid lifted from her prayer book.

After June 1, the couple will be at home in Greenville.

After-Rehearsal Party

On Saturday night, December 23, following the rehearsal of the Harris-Harris wedding, a cake-cutting was held in the Mount Pleasant Community Building, honoring the bride party, relatives, and out-of-town guests. Hosts for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Thomas Mr. and Mrs. Bobby T. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cooper, and Mr. and Mrs. James Ward.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Forrest and invited inside where Mr. and Mrs. Leland Porter directed to the appointed table. Mrs. Frank Cooper presided at the bride's book.

Traditional bridal colors of green, red, and white were used

Some Foods Cause Stains Hollow Ware

Lovely hollow ware accessories—such as water pitchers, sugar bowls, and cream pitchers—are particularly nice in satin-finish stainless steel which never tarnishes and has a high resistance to corrosion.

However, certain foods cause stains, so it's wise to swish these stainless steel accessories through hot soap or detergent suds promptly after use. A hot water rinse, and wiping with a soft clean cloth will keep them shining brightly.

Cleanliness Next To Godliness—'61 Style

The Rev. A. B. Cash, who travels in behalf of the Southern Baptist Convention, explains how he managed a recent schedule which included 300 sermons and conferences with church people in 49 states.

"I travel in wash-and-wear clothes," says Dr. Cash. "At night I just take off my hat and shoes and get under the shower."

NO ELEMENT OF CHANCE

"Calculated risk" seems to be a popular phrase for old-fashioned "gamble." But there's no place for either in preparing or dispensing pharmaceutical.

Ever notice the letters U.S.P. or N.F. on a medicine label? The letters represent two official books that are recognized by federal law—the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

Together they are the pharmacist's "bible." They give approved standards of the quality, purity, and potency of most medicinal agents.

Whatever your prescription calls for, we are prepared to fill it.

Miss Stokes, Mr. Nunn Wed In Private Rites

On December 24 in a private double-ring ceremony on the sixtieth wedding anniversary of her maternal grandmother, Miss Margaret Ann Stokes became the bride of Mr. Bobby Ray Nunn.

Mrs. Bobby Ray Nunn

The Rev. Irby B. Jackson, of Immanuel Baptist Church officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther A. Stokes of Greenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Nunn, also of Greenville.

The bride wore a suit of beige wool with bracelet length sleeves. With this she wore a fur trimmed hat and skin shoes and bag. Her corsage was of white orchids.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stokes chose a blue crepe dress and black accessories, complemented by a pink cymbidium orchid corsage. Mrs. Nunn wore a green crepe dress and black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of Greenville High School and East Carolina College. For the past two years she has been employed by the Norfolk City Schools. She is presently on the faculty of Easton Elementary Schools in Norfolk, Va.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Greenville High School and attended East Carolina College. He has served three years in the U. S. Army. He is presently employed in Bayside, Va.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a trip to unannounced points. Upon their return they will be at home at 419 Dermott Ave., Bayside, Va.

Finds Heels Cut Fatigue

OSLO, Norway—(WNS)—Women who like to go barefoot will have more trouble with their feet than the girls in high heels. Dr. Arne Lundervold reported to the Oslo College of Neurophysiologists. He said women who walked on grass, wood, vinyl or linoleum in high heels suffered less fatigue and foot ailments than the girls who walked the same distance barefoot.

Suds-Scrub Benefits Rare Sarcophagus

A rare 2,100-year-old marble funeral monument recently received its first bath in centuries at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond.

To make it worthy of its Greek sculptor, this ornately carved antique sarcophagus was suds-scrubbed with a solution of detergent and distilled water applied by soft brushes.

Athens Is Scene Of Wedding

ATHENS, Ga.—Miss Faith Cato Hubert, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Marion Alton Hubert of Athens, and Lt. David Spencer Clifford of Fort Sill, Okla., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Charles Clifford of Winston-Salem, N. C., were married at 3:30 p.m. Saturday, December 23.

The Rev. Charles Boleyn of the First Methodist Church of Athens performed the ceremony in the chapel of the church.

The bride wore a gown of antique ivory taffeta and lace. The fitted lace bodice had long sleeves ending in points over her hands. The full skirt featured half points over the taffeta and formed a chapel train. She wore a veil of ivory illusion and carried a prayer book topped with baby white orchids and showered with Stephanotis. In her shoe she carried a six-pence obtained in Europe last summer and wore an antique cameo bracelet loaned by Mrs. Guy Tiller. The bride's sister, Mrs. John Hunter

Coran of Lavonia, Ga., was matron of honor and the only attendant. The groom's brother, John Charles Clifford III of Baltimore, Md., was best man.

Ushers were Francis W. Rushing of Savannah, Ga. and William S. Miller III of Millen, Ga.

Mrs. Clifford is a senior at the University of Georgia and will graduate in March. The groom is a graduate of the same school. At present he is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army, Artillery Missile Division. He has been ordered to Germany in early 1962. He formerly lived in Greenville, N. C. and attended high school there.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception following the ceremony at the Phi Mu Sorority House in Athens.

The couple left immediately after the reception on a wedding trip through the deep south and Midwest.

Married Men Live Longer

By CELESTINE SIBLEY
Women's News Service

A bachelor I know who gets the prettiest secretaries of any man in town drives a Cadillac convertible and rents half his duplex to a trio of beautiful airline stewardesses, explained to me why he eludes marriage. "I don't get along with women," he said morosely. "I don't like the way they drive cars or fix their hair."

Although I hate to see good husband material going to waste I abstained from satirical laughter at these particular reasons. I could have given him a better list.

Women are noisy, expensive, wearisome. They hang stuff to dry in the bathroom, nylons dripping from shower rods, girdles dripping from towel racks.

They talk on the telephone and accept invitations to places you'd rather be dead than go to. They have charge accounts and use them. They come down with illnesses which require an expenditure of time, sympathy and, of course, money. They even have children—and this wrecks havoc on an erstwhile bachelor's happy, selfish life.

But there must be something to be said for women and the state of marriage because Dr. Howard B. Sprague, former president of the American Heart Association, said the other day that statistics show the married man lives longer than the unmarried, the divorced or widowed man. This authority, a Boston heart specialist, seems convinced that taxing matrimony is, it's a healthier state than nonmarriage.

Now I can hear my bachelor friend saying he would gladly forego longevity for peace in his time. But that's because he thinks he has plenty of time left. That particular news story from Dr. Sprague is going to make the hunting easier for a lot of ladies who don't mind snagging a man, even if he is a scared man.

All you have to do is drop Dr. Sprague's statistics in his mailbox and there'll come a time when he's not feeling so perky that he'll be certain only you can save him from an early grave.

Personally, I don't see the basis for Dr. Sprague's conclusions. In the same breath that he advocated marriage as a means of prolonging a man's life he warned wives against overfeeding their husbands. There was some pretty parallel between overfed rats and overfed men and a mention of guilt-motivated cooks.

I suppose responsibility has a steadying influence and a man with a wife and children to support won't be cavorting around town all hours of the night, punishing his stomach with strong drink and expensive steaks.

But I wouldn't be one to say that these healthful advantages offset the corrosive, strength-sapping experiences that come to the married man. That lifetime spent outside the delivery room when a baby is born, for instance. Or just one Christmas Eve of assembling the "ready to assemble" Santa Claus loot. No, if I were a bachelor . . . what am I SAYING?

Many Upsets To Be Found In 1961 Sports Chronology

HIT 61 IN '61: Roger Maris revived baseball interest during the year with his fantastic home run hitting. Above he is shown hitting his 61st in the final game of the season.

Two Honors For Baseball Coach Jim Mallory

Christmas was doubly nice for the only major national athletic title won by a Tar Heel senior college last year. Wilmington Junior College was victorious in national junior college tournament play in baseball.

Mallory, during his eight-year tenure at East Carolina, has guided the baseball Bucs to six North State Conference championships. His 1961 team marched through its regular season with a successful record before winning five of six games in Sioux City, Iowa, to bring home the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics

Mallory, who was preparing to-day to leave Greenville for a two-day visit with his mother, was "surprised at both." He said, "I knew I had been nominated for the Will Wynne Award, though."

The Will Wynne Award is usually given to a professional baseball player. In 1960, the Hot Stove League honored Smokey Burgess, catcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Mallory will be the guest of honor at the Hot Stove League's annual banquet in Raleigh, probably in February when the award will be presented him in the form of a plaque.

The ECC coach was honored by the Greensboro paper along with the Philadelphia Eagles' Tar Heel quarterback Sonny Jurgensen and the Wake Forest College basketball team as Player of the Year and Team of the Year, respectively.

Last year's Greensboro Daily News Coach of the Year was Duke's Bill Murray. Now ECC football coach Clarence Stasas has been extended the honor three times (in 1955, 1956 and 1959).

The newspaper honored Mallory for bringing to North Carolina couldn't decide on the penalty

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona State College coach Max Spillsbury still laughs about an incident in a football game last year.

When an official called a penalty against his team and tossed his red marker on the ground, tackle Alex Amado picked it up and blew his nose.

Did the official get mad? "Sure," relates Spillsbury, "but he didn't know what kind of penalty to call. So he didn't call one."

By FRANK ECK AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

A month-by-month perusal of sports in 1961—a year mixed with surprises, upsets, failures and disaster—might best tell the story of how things went:

JANUARY began with the American Football League taking its first season into the new year as Houston's Oilers beat the Los Angeles Chargers, 24-16. Washington upset Minnesota, the No. 1 college team, 17-7, in the Rose Bowl. Missouri's ground game stopped Navy, 21-14, as standout Joe Bellino was held to four yards rushing. Mississippi topped Rice, 14-6, in the Sugar Bowl and Duke edged Arkansas, 7-6, in the Cotton Bowl.

Frank Lane left Cleveland as general manager and wound up in Kansas City with Joe Gordon, a manager he had discarded twice before.

North Carolina and Loyola of New Orleans were put on one-year probation by the NCAA for basketball recruiting violations.

Arizona drew a penalty for illegal football recruiting. Allie Sherman became coach of the New York Football Giants and the Dodgers of Los Angeles rehired

Leo Durocher to coach third base. The NCAA restored Oklahoma, Southern California and Tulsa to good standing. Denver dropped college football. Norm Van Brocklin signed to coach the Minnesota Vikings in football and the Philadelphia Eagles named Nick Skorich. Prove it won the Santa Anita Maturity. Russia's Valery Brumel high jumped a record 7 feet 4 1/2 inches. French trotter Jamin was bought by an American syndicate for $800,000.

FEBRUARY saw Little Sister, a toy poodle, win best in show at the Westminster while Carry Back, a 3-year-old colt, nipped Crozier in the Flamingo. Miss Larence Owen added the North American figure skating title to her national crown. Dick Savitt, 33, won national indoor tennis honors. Eighteen U. S. figure skaters were killed when the plane taking them to the world championships at Prague crashed in Brussels. Morvin Panch averaged 149 m.p.h. in taking the Daytona Beach 500-mile auto race.

MARCH had Gene Fullmer beating Ray Robinson for the middleweight title and Floyd Patterson scoring another kayo — this time in six rounds — over Ingemar Johansson in Miami Beach. Montreal won its fourth straight National Hockey League crown as the New York Mets, due to join Houston in the 10-team National League in 1962, added George Weiss as president. Two New Yorkers bought the Cleveland Browns and gave Paul Brown an eight-year coaching contract. College basketball scandals broke out in another rash. Cincinnati upset unbeaten Ohio State, 70-65, in overtime for the NCAA basketball title. Providence upset St. Louis, 62-59, in the national invitation final. Bob Burdick of Omaha won the 500-mile Atlanta stock car race and Johnny Longden, 54, rode his 5,500th winner.

APRIL was another profitable month for Carry Back who again beat Crozier a head, this time in the Florida Derby. Emile Griffith stopped Benny Paret in the 13th for the welterweight title. South Africa's Gary Player won the Masters by one stroke over Arnold Palmer and amateur Charley Coe. Boston's Celtics trimmed the St. Louis Hawks, 121-112, to retain the NBA basketball honors, 4 games to 1. Chicago's Black Hawks won their first Stanley Cup in 23 years, beating Detroit 5-1 and 4-2 in games. Warren Spahn, 40, pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Giants. Two days later Willie Mays blasted four homers against Milwaukee. Jackie Jensen quit the Red Sox without saying "good-bye." He was hitting .130 in his comeback. Chief of Chiefs was drugged after winning at Aqueduct. It was the track's second doping in six weeks. Lightweight champion Joe Brown went to London and again easily disposed of Dave Charnley. Steve Clark, 17, Los Altos, Calif., and Chet Jastreski, 20, Toledo, were the stars of the AAU indoor swimming tests at Yale.

MAY found the United States amateur basketball. Willie Shoemaker rode his 4,000th winner to join three others. Favored Carry Back gained possession of Crozier with a three-quarter length victory in the Kentucky Derby. The third drugging of a horse in seven weeks was uncovered at Aqueduct. Carry Back found a new rival and beat Globemaster three parts of a length in the Preakness. A. J. Foyt of Dallas won the Indianapolis 500.

JUNE saw Sherluck, 65 to 1, take the Belmont as Carry Back ran seventh. Sam Snead, 49, won the International golf event and teamed with Jimmy Demaret, Arnold Palmer's sub, to win the Canada Cup team event. Archie Moore beat Giulio Rinaldi for the light heavy title in a listless bout. Gene Littler surprised by beating Doug Sanders by one shot for the National Open title. Hank Bauer replaced Joe Gordon as Kansas City manager. Jack Nicklaus won the NCAA golf crown. Villanova's Frank Budd won the 100-yard AAU dash title in a world record 0:09.2.

JULY was good to some golfers. Mickey Wright rallied to win her third Women's National Open. Palmer took the British Open by one shot. Jerry Barber, 45, beat Don January in a playoff for the PGA title and Jacky Cupit, a PGA tour newcomer from Texas, won the Canadian Open. Johnny Keane replaced Solly Hemus as St. Louis Cardinal manager. Australia's Rod Laver beat Charles McKinley for the Wimbledon tennis title. In a windy San Francisco setting, the National League won the first All-Star game, 5-4, in 10 innings. In the return game in Boston the American League played the NL to a 1-1 rained out nine-inning tie. Su Mac Lad got home first in the International Trot.

AUGUST saw some changes as Frank McGuire left North Carolina to become coach of the Philadelphia Warriors. Stormy Frank Lane departed as Kansas City's general manager. The Philadelphia Phillies set a modern record by losing 23 straight baseball games. Harlan Dean took the betless Hambletonian at DeQuion, Ill. Tennis officials suspended Dennis Ralston, 19, for temperamental outbursts. Whitey Ford beat Los Angeles, 3-1, for his 14th in a row.

SEPTEMBER brought a few more alterations as Birdie Tebbets replaced Chuck Dressen as pilot of Milwaukee's Braves and Paul Richards left Baltimore to become general manager of Houston's new team. Jack Nicklaus, 21, won his second U. S. Amateur golf title, 8 and 6. The U. S. retained the Walker Cup with an 11-1 win over the British. Oakland's Raiders of the AFL dropped Coach Ed Erdelatz for assistant Marty Feldman. Harry Craft left the Chicago Cubs' 10-man managerial board to take over the one-man managerial post with the Houston Colts. Cincinnati won its first National League pennant since 1940. Roger Maris hit No. 59 as the Yankees won in the American League. Maris hit homer No. 60 off Baltimore's Jack Fisher. The PGA dropped Sam Snead from the Ryder Cup team and suspended Tommy Bolt for the second time in three months for playing in an unsanctioned Cincinnati pro-amateur. Casey Stengel decided to return to baseball at 72 to manage the New York Mets. Henry T. Adios won the Little Brown Jug taking two of the last four heats. Benny Paret regained the welterweight title, beating Emile Griffith on a split decision. Italy ended the U. S. Davis Cup hopes with a 4-1 interzone win in Rome.

OCTOBER brought the end of the long baseball season as Maris belted homer No. 61 off Boston's Tracy Stallard in the 162nd game of the expanded AL schedule. Norman Cash of Detroit (.361) and Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente (.351) won the batting titles. Jimmie Dykes was fired as Cleveland manager and replaced by Mel McGaha. The opening game of the World Series went to the Yankees, 2-0, as Whitey Ford pitched his third straight post-season shutout. Cincinnati opened the series, 6-2. Maris' ninth-inning homer, after John Blanchard had tied it, beat the Reds, 3-2. Yankees 7, Reds 0 as Ford went five innings to break Babe Ruth's series pitching records by tossing 32 straight runless innings. The Yankees trampled the Reds, 13-5, to take the classic, 4 games to 1. U. S. golfers beat the British 14½-9½, to retain the Ryder Cup.

NOVEMBER had two big football upsets the same day when LSU spoiled Mississippi's No. 1 hopes with a 10-7 triumph and Minnesota turned back top-ranked Michigan State, 13-0. Crimson Satan, under Willie Shoemaker, circled his field to win the 301.365 Garden State. Two weeks later Crimson Satan easily won the Pimlico Futurity. TV Lark outgamed Kelso in the International at Bowie. No. 1 Texas suffered a crushing setback at the hands of TCU, 6-0. Adios Don won the $145,378 Messenger, harness racing's richest purse. Maris and Cincinnati's Frank Robinson were voted the most valuable player awards. Unbeaten Alabama was voted No. 1 football team. Jack Nicklaus turns golf pro. Mets buy Frank Thomas from Braves. Ernie Davis of Syracuse gets Heisman

Carry Back

RICHEST HORSE: Carry Back won the Kentucky Derby and six other stakes and ran his earnings to $851,648.

Trophy. DECEMBER was the same old story. Navy beat Army for the third straight year, this time 13-7, and West Point coach Dale Hall lost his job. SMU dropped Bill Meek. And Floyd Patterson dropped Tom McNeely for the 10 count in 2:51 of the fourth round in Toronto. Alabama was voted No. 1 football team in The Associated Press poll. Gene Fullmer retained his middleweight crown, stopping welterweight champion Benny Paret in 10 rounds. Ohio State's Bob Ferguson gets Maxwell Award.

ECC Cagers Depart Today For Lejeune Tournament

The East Carolina College basketball team left Greenville today for Camp Lejeune where it will take part in the fourth annual Christmas Invitational Basketball Tournament which begins Wednesday.

This is the second time the Pirates have participated in the three-day event which includes seven college teams from six Eastern states this year.

The lineup, in addition to the Bucs, will consist of Central Conn. State College, Georgia Southern College, Pikeville College, University of Baltimore, Elton College and Bethel College.

So far this season East Carolina has posted a 4-3 record. They have beaten Lenoir Rhyne, Richmond and Appalachian. Their losses were to Catawba, The Citadel, High Point and William and Mary.

Elton College, the only other Carolinas Conference team in the tourney, will be back for its third crack at the tournament title.

The Christians, surprise team of the newly-formed Carolinas Conference, are rated as a strong contender for this year's tournament title.

Elton's Coach Bill Miller has blended a relatively inexperienced squad into a right tough team this year. The starting five for the Christians, includes two juniors, two sophomores and a freshman.

The starting team for the Pirates will probably consist of seniors Benny Bowes and Charlie Lewis, junior Lacy West, sophomore Bill Ote and either Richie Williams or Billy Brogren. Both Williams and Brogren are freshmen and have done outstanding jobs for the Pirates so far this season.

The schedule for the first day of the tournament will see Bethel College playing central Connecticut in the opener and The University of Baltimore meets Pikeville in the second afternoon game.

In the night games, Elton goes against Georgia Southern at 7 p.m. and East Carolina meets Camp Lejeune at 9 p. m.

Junior High Cagers Edged In Rocky Mt.

ROCKY MOUNT — Rocky Mount defeated the Greenville Junior High School basketball team last Wednesday by a score of 45-44.

The Greenville boys went into a full court press in the fourth quarter scoring 19 points which nearly upset Rocky Mount.

Ricky Webb was high scorer with 19 points to his credit. So far Webb has a 17-point average and is leading the team in the scoring department.

Close behind Webb in the scoring department was Dickie Wade with nine points. Steve Fuller and Billy Ippock were leading the rebounders for Greenville as they went high into the air to pull the ball of the backboards.

Barry Coleman, Jeff Jenkins, Frank Owens, and Brantley Register also played an outstanding game for Greenville.

Coach Earl Castellow said after the game that he believes his club will be much improved after the holidays.

Visitor Proved Well-Informed

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Edwin Betts, official hostess at the University of Virginia's famed Rotunda, regularly tells visitors of the great fire that destroyed the building in 1895.

Dr. James B. Bullitt, of Chapel Hill, N. C., turned out to know more about it than she did. He was a student from 1895 to 1899 and helped save a statue of Thomas Jefferson from the flames.

Pesky Signs To Manage Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Johnny Pesky, who had been reported in some quarters as next manager of the Boston Red Sox, already has signed to manage the Seattle Rainiers in the Pacific Coast League for 1962. Seattle has a working agreement with Boston.

Pesky is the second PCL pilot signed. The first was Bill Werle who will replace Tommy Heath as manager of the Hawaii Islanders in 1962.

MULTIPLE VALUES CINCINNATI (AP) — Slopes beside the city's expressways are being planted with rambling flowers, shrubs and trees which reduce roadside maintenance, curb erosion, muffle traffic noise and reduce headlight glare.

Accurate Kicking Back In 1924

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — Back in 1924, Ernest E. (Clabber) Williams made Auburn football his goals totaling 96 yards in one game.

The kicks of 51 and 45 yards enabled Auburn to defeat Clemson. They bettered the modern record of 83 yards set by Ed Dvas.

Williams, 57, is retired as assistant city chief of police. The man who held the ball was Dean Peterson, now a city commissioner.

Uses Flour To Mark Ace Zone

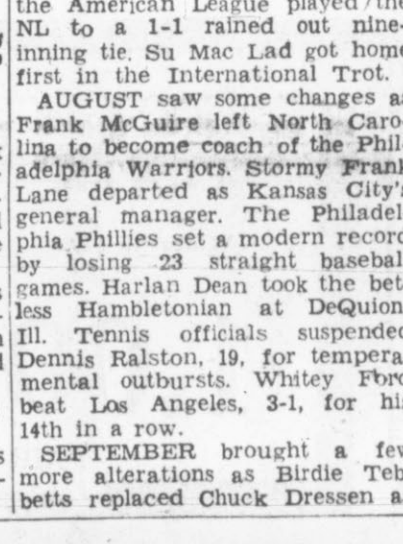

NEW YORK (AP) — The U. S. Golf Association reports that Bob Mucciaroni, superintendent at the Dedham Polo and Country Club in Massachusetts, has solved the problem of how to mark a circle on the green for "hole-in-one" contests.

He uses flour and reports that it is far better than anything previously tried.

Blast Damages Thai Warship

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A Navy antisubmarine vessel today was blasted by an explosion amidsthips, killing the commanding officer and three other Thais.

The ship was one turned over to Thailand by the United States under the military aid program. The ship, moored on Bangkok's Chao Phya River, was beached to prevent its sinking.

Pope Formally Calls Rare Church Council Meeting For Next Year

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII issued a papal bull Monday formally convoking an ecumenical council of the Roman Catholic Church next year. It will deal with internal affairs of the church, advance the cause of Christian unity and consider the problems besetting modern man. The Pope did not set the exact date for some 3,000 Catholic leaders to gather in St. Peter's Basilica. The worldwide council is expected to open late in 1962.

Prelate Voices Pride In Troops

BERLIN (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman completed his Christmas visit to Berlin today, voicing pride over U.S. troops in the outpost city and sorrow over the Communist wall. During his two-day visit to U.S. forces in Berlin, the 62-year-old Roman Catholic archbishop of New York took a helicopter journey along the wall and briefly stepped a few feet across the line at Friedrichstrasse to say "Merry Christmas" to Red border guards.

Family Fled On Christmas Day

PASSAU, Germany (AP)—A six-member Czechoslovak family braved deep snow, freezing temperatures and land mines to make a Christmas Day escape across the Iron Curtain frontier near this border town, police reported today. The family—a father, mother, and four children ranging in age from 3 to 11—were the first in several months to flee Communist Czechoslovakia in this area.

Coin Return Slot Proved A Hazard

BARBERTON, O. (AP)—When Gary Sutton, 14, and Carl Bishop, 13, went on a shopping trip, they parked Gary's pet, Clem, in a telephone booth. When the boys came back, they found Clem stuck in a coin return slot with only his tail showing. A telephone repairman rescued Clem, a hamster, by dismantling the coin box.

Rites Set Here For J. D. McGlohon, Sr.

Mr. J. D. McGlohon Sr., 65, died in New York in Saint Luke's Hospital Sunday morning at 4:30. The body will be brought to Greenville and funeral services will be held at the Wilkerson Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 by the Rev. Irby Jackson, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church. Burial will be in the Ayden Cemetery. Mr. McGlohon was born and reared in the Winterville community and attended the Winterville schools and the University of North Carolina. He lived in Ayden until 1932 and since that time had lived in New York and was a resident buyer. A member of the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church, he was a deacon and a member of the Board of Trustees, and the Masonic Lodge. He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Mildred Wilson, to whom he was married in 1919; a son, J. D. McGlohon Jr. of Greenville; four grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Norma Forbes Hawkins of Kure Beach. The family requests no flowers.

Last Rites Held For Johnnie A. Lewis

Mr. Johnnie A. Lewis, 54, died Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at his home on Colaniche Street in Greenville. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 3 p.m. at the First Pentecostal Holiness Church and burial was in Pinewood Memorial Park. The Rev. W. E. Thompson, pastor, conducted the services, assisted by the Rev. C. C. Cribb of Raleigh, and the Rev. R. R. Johnson of Clinton, both former pastors. Mr. Lewis was born and reared in the Sheldermine community of Pitt County. He had lived in Greenville since 1934 and had been a carpenter and building contractor. He was a member of First Pentecostal Holiness Church. He is survived by his wife, the former Lillian Smith of Sheldermine, to whom he was married in 1934; a daughter, Mrs. John C. Norton of Greenville; and a brother, Odie Lewis of Greenville.

Funeral Today For Pernice P. Brown

Mr. Pernice P. (Pee Wee) Brown died suddenly in Wilson at eight o'clock Saturday night. Funeral services were conducted at the Wilkerson Chapel at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. Stewart Joyner, Jehovah Witness Minister of Farmville, and the Rev. Willis Manning, Jehovah Witness Minister of Greenville. Burial was in Pinewood Memorial Park. Mr. Brown, a native of Halifax, had lived in Pitt County since 1943 until he moved to Wilson in September, 1961. He was an automobile mechanic. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Mary Pitt of Greenville; two sisters, Mrs. Carlton Cates of Wilson and Mrs. Willie A. Flake of Greenville; and a brother, Jesse D. Brown of Richmond, Virginia.

Bullfighting was known to the Egyptians, the Thessalians and others but now chiefly associated with Spain and Mexico.

The church and paths toward Christian unity—two problems that have been major concerns of Pope John since his election in 1958—will be major topics at the council.

The Pope, expressing grave concern over "militant atheism, operating on a world plan," said the council "could not ignore the problems and troubles" of the world.

"While humanity is on the verge of a new era," the papal bull continued, "the church faces tasks of immense gravity and breadth as in the most tragic epochs of her history."

"They concern, in fact, the need of bringing the vivifying and perennial energies of the Gospel to the modern world—a world that exalts itself in its conquests in the technical and scientific fields."

The ecumenical council, known as Vatican II, will be the 21st in the history of the church. Many of its predecessors have issued historic decisions. The first, in 325, set the date for Easter. The 19th lasted 18 years—from 1545 to 1563—and condemned the beliefs of Martin Luther.

The last council, known as Vatican I and called in 1869, proclaimed the infallibility of Roman pontiffs when teaching in their full authority on matters of faith and morals.

From the Protestant viewpoint, the concept of papal infallibility has provided one of the most important theological barriers to closer ties with the church of Rome.

But the Pope made clear that in his drive for Christian unity he hoped for a return of "the separated brothers... in unity and peace" to the Roman Catholic fold and not toward a confederation of churches with shared authority.

No Regrets Over Early Wedding

TREADWAY, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Charlie Johns will be 34 years old when she and her husband celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary next month.

"I'd do it all over again," said Johns, who was 22 when he married Eunice Winsted, 9, near this east Tennessee mountain town Jan. 19, 1937.

"I've never been sorry or regretted it," Johns told the Knoxville Journal in a copyright interview, the first Johns had granted in nine years. "She has always been as good to me as could be. She's a good mother and a good housekeeper."

Their marriage caused a national uproar and the Tennessee Legislature later made 16 the minimum age for marriage in the state.

The Johns have nine children. Eight still live on their 65-acre farm which provides a simple but ample living for the family. The oldest daughter, Evelyn, now 18, was married last year to John Henry Antrican. Charlie objected to the marriage at first, but later gave the couple his blessing.

"We get along together as good or better than other couples I know," Charlie said. "I guess she'd do it again if she had it to do over. I've never asked her that. She hasn't had it too bad, or any worse than folks we know."

"We don't go out much. I go to the store a couple of times a week and Eunice goes to the doctor now and then. That's about it. We don't dislike people; we just don't trust many of them."

He said his marriage and family life is "no one's business but ours, but it's okay to let them know how it turned out."

Ayden's Legion Post Meets Goal

AYDEN—"I am proud to congratulate the officers and members of the Ayden American Legion Post 289 for their achievement in membership," said Ben B. Halterman, of Wilmington, Department Commander of the American Legion.

Kenneth L. Jesnick, Commander of the Ayden Post, also received a letter of congratulations from the Legion State Adjutant, Nash McKee, in which he praised all membership workers for their efforts.

The Post 289 has already met its Incentive Membership Goal of 91 proposed for 1962. Incentive Goals are assigned each Post by the State Headquarters and are based on last year's membership of the Post plus two per cent.

"We do not intend to stop our membership drive now that we have reached our Incentive Goal," Post Commander Jesnick said. "There are many more eligible veterans who have not yet joined our Post, and we invite them all to become members."

Auto Overturned Near Farmville

FARMVILLE — Approximately $700 damage resulted when an auto went out of control and overturned about two miles east of Farmville yesterday.

Investigating patrolman H. R. Winslow identified the driver of the car as Charles Ray Evans, 17, of 505 East Church St., Farmville. He was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road and exceeding a safe speed.

Winslow reported the 1956 auto was traveling east on rural dirt road 1218. There were two passengers in the car. No one was injured.

CHAPTER 14

Lee-Folsom had herself well in hand by the time she reached Oak-land.

A car came in behind her and she turned to see Bill Dimmock, the county agent, getting out of his station wagon. He saw her and came toward her, grinning his usual greeting.

"Well, well, here's my best girl." He seemed, as always, delighted to see her. "What brings you out here this morning? I thought, since you'd sold the place to Martin, we wouldn't see much of you out here."

"I came out to talk to him, but he doesn't seem to be around," Lee told him.

Bill Dimmock chuckled.

"Oh, he's around, but not here! Seems he decided that he'd work first on one of the tenant houses, fix it up for himself so he could move out here from the hotel and keep an eye on things. The old overseer's cottage was in the best repair, which isn't saying much for it, of course. However, he felt it had a wonderful view and set the carpenters to work over there first. You know where it is?"

"Of course; across that hill. He must have driven over there, because I don't see his car."

Bill's genial smile faded.

"Oh, Miss Holly borrowed that. She's gone down to Jax to do some shopping," he said, and his expression was so carefully controlled that it was very nearly wooden.

"Oh, but he shouldn't have let Holly have the car. She can't drive worth a darn," Lee protested sharply.

"You and I know that, Lee. Apparently Martin doesn't. He added irritably, "She's a menace on the highway. She'll kill somebody one of these days—but you can bet it won't be herself. She'll walk away from the wreck, looking big-eyed and innocent."

Divorcee Held In Monday Killing

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—A High Point divorcee and a former husband were held today on an open charge in the Christmas morning slaying of another ex-husband, 38-year-old Eugene Smith.

Police said that Mrs. Jackie Taylor Smith, 34, and ex-convict James Monroe Carroll, 38, also of High Point, were being held pending investigation into the death of Smith, a Newark, N.J., house painter.

Mrs. Smith, officers said, divorced Carroll after he went to prison in 1949 to serve a two-year term on a charge of burglary with explosives in a safe robbery. She later married and divorced Smith.

Witnesses said the woman, Smith and Carroll had been drinking Christmas Eve at the woman's home. She told officers that Smith made a pass at her and Carroll objected. She was quoted as saying that when Smith pushed her onto a bed she noticed he was bleeding.

The woman then related to police that she grabbed a baby from a crib and fled next door. When she returned to her home, Mrs. Smith said, she found Smith on the front porch bleeding from gaping wounds in his neck. She said he staggered to the front yard and collapsed.

Smith died a short while later at a High Point hospital. Corner R. B. Davis said Smith had five knife wounds about the face and neck and the wounds were from three to nine inches in length. Police said they had been unable to find the murder weapon.

Smith had lived in Newark about two years. Authorities said he came to High Point to visit his four children.

Airlift Troops To Guard Meet

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The International Control Commission today began an airlift of 220 neutralist and pro-Communist troops to Vientiane for the long-awaited meeting Wednesday of Laos' three political princes.

The princes—pro-Western Boun Oum, neutralist Souvanna Phouma and pro-Communist Souphanouvong—are to discuss allocation of posts in a coalition government headed by Souvanna Phouma. The three-day meeting is expected to be the first of several that must be held before agreement is reached.

The first of five-scheduled plane flights arrived with 45 soldiers to guard Souvanna Phouma, all clad in French-style paratroop fatigues and armed with Soviet and U.S. weapons. A second flight landed with 45 Pathet Lao troops assigned to Souphanouvong.

The two princes agreed Sunday to meet with Boun Oum, premier of the Vientiane royal government, after security arrangements for the talks were set up by their military representatives.

TAMPA (AP)—He's only 6 months old, but he's a hardy little fellow with a name that just keeps growing.

He's Martin Ben Manuel Julio Luis Berger.

It began with the measles. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Berger, caught them at the age of four weeks and was taken to Centro Espanol Hospital. Next he suffered a dislocated arm, then a severe intestinal disorder that required an operation. Then he had to have his appendix removed.

Martin pulled through them all, and so captivated three doctors that they gave him their first names—Manuel, Julio and Luis. And they placed a slip of paper on his crib reading: "Martin Ben Manuel Julio Luis Berger, adoptive son of Centro Espanol."

"I'm going to see to it that his name is legally changed to include the names given to him by the doctors," his mother says.

Family Of Four Dies As Their Small Plane Crashes

TRENTON, Ga. (AP)—A family of four died after their small plane encountered icing over northwest Georgia Christmas Eve. The family was flying from the 50th anniversary celebration of the husband's parents to spend Christmas with the wife's mother.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Henson, both 45, and their sons, Lucius Jr., 16, and Wallace, 14, were found in the wreckage of their plane about two miles south of Trenton Monday.

An uncle said that Henson was a back on the University of South Carolina's football team in 1939

Mrs. Henson and the boys had remained in Pensacola until they disposed of their home.

Henson flew to Chattanooga and took his family to Chattanooga for the 50th wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Henson.

Mrs. Henson's mother, Mrs. Ralph Coldren of Richmond, Va., was in Pensacola to spend Christmas with the family. She said they left Pensacola Sunday morning for the flight to Chattanooga and left Chattanooga about 8 p.m. Sunday on the return flight.

The demolished plane was found Monday afternoon in a field about 25 miles southwest of Chattanooga.

Henson, formerly of Syracuse, N.Y., had been sales manager for an automobile firm in Pensacola until he went to Utica last July and 1940. Henson, manager of the Utica Aircraft Inc. of Utica, N.Y., had filed an instrument flight plan to Pensacola, Fla., before taking off from Chattanooga, Tenn., Sunday night. A few minutes later he radioed that the plane was icing up and he would have to land.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Firmness among rails, steels and Big Three motors was countered by losses among scattered blue chips to give the stock market a mixed appearance early this afternoon.

Trading was moderate. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 259.50 with industrials up .10, rails up .30 and utilities off .40.

Buyers seemed to be drawn to a number of the rails and other cyclical issues by forecasts of continued economic upturn in 1962. Utilities dragged, still affected by profit-taking suggestions and competition to their yields from higher interest rates.

Reports that steel supplies were tightening as demand for the metal broadened helped the steels. News from Detroit was beneficial for some of the auto makers.

With 1961's last week of stock trading under way, conviction was general that some kind of rally would take place before the new year, but what its scope would be remained a question.

Plans to continue production at Ford and General Motors this week seemed to reflect a greater demand for their cars than those of Chrysler which is stopping assemblies at five of its plants this week. Ford was up about 2 points and Chrysler and GM a fraction.

Chrysler said it has developed a gas turbine engine for autos. Litton Industries sank about 5, General Electric about 1, Union Carbide and Merck about 2 and Liggett & Myers and Sears Roebuck about 1.

Gimbel's slipped around 4. Great A&P lost 1. American Tobacco advanced more than 1 and Illinois Central about 1. Jones & Laughlin ahead 1 or better, was the best performer among the major steels.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .73 at 721.60. Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange in active trading.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mixed.

Franco's Finger Is Gun 'Victim'

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco left the hospital today with his left arm in a sling after two days of treatment for a hunting injury.

The left index finger of the Spanish chief of state was badly torn Sunday when one barrel of his shotgun exploded while he was shooting partridges outside Madrid. The accident is being investigated.

Yuletide Marred By Spectacular Fire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Spectacular fires marred both the coming and going of Christmas Day.

Baltimore, Md., firemen fought into the early morning hours today before gaining control of a multiple alarm fire in a six-story building housing a wholesale produce firm just south of the downtown business district.

At least eight firemen were overcome as heavy smoke poured from the structure. Several were sent to hospitals.

In Nashville, Tenn., fire gutted the century-old Maxwell House Hotel Monday night, sending its guests fleeing into 30-degree weather. Firemen vainly fought the blaze for two hours. All the hotel's occupants were believed safe, although one elderly man was unaccounted for in the confusion.

At Groton, N.Y., a mother and her two remaining sons spent their Christmas Day in mourning for the other members of their family and a friend.

Irene L. Thayer's husband died Nov. 3 after undergoing surgery. Three of her five children and a hired hand died late Saturday night in a fire that destroyed the two-story frame farmhouse she rented.

The hired hand, Robert Brown, 28, was found cradling the body of May Thayer, 5, for whom he re-entered a burning bedroom in a vain rescue attempt.

His children, Nancy, 4, and Billy, 2, built a four-foot snowman and, until the sun melted it, enjoyed the white Christmas for which they had wished.

Names Lawyers For Test Suit

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—State Sen. Max Thomas has retained the services of three attorneys to represent him before the State Supreme Court in his efforts to obtain a court order for an election to fill the now vacant post of lieutenant governor.

Thomas said today he had retained attorneys Irving Carlyle of Winston-Salem, Floyd Crouse of Sparta and Joe Branch of Enfield.

The Union County legislator earlier this month appeared in Raleigh at the office of the State Board of Elections and tendered his filing fee as a candidate for the post of lieutenant governor, which has been vacant since the death of Cloyd Philpott last August.

The board refused to accept the filing fee, citing a ruling by Attorney General Wade Bruton that the state constitution makes no provision for an interim election in the event of the death of the lieutenant governor.

Car Is Heavily Damaged By Fire

A 1955-model automobile was reported heavily damaged this afternoon after fire erupted under the vehicle's hood on Dickinson Avenue.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze in the car owned and operated by Lee O. Mooring, Baltimore, Md., Negro.

Two Greenville fire trucks answered the alarm turned in at Box 124 at Dickinson Avenue and Center Street at 12:47 p.m.

Firemen said cause of the fire was an engine back-fire. Mooring was not injured, firemen reported.

Thomas said a meeting will be held here Friday to complete plans for a court test of the attorney general's ruling. "I can not say at this time," he said, "just when the test (of the ruling) will be made." He said a decision on when the court test will be made could come at the Friday meeting.

The board refused to accept the filing fee, citing a ruling by Attorney General Wade Bruton that the state constitution makes no provision for an interim election in the event of the death of the lieutenant governor.
