Charge Highway Robbery In Theft By Local Man At Parking Lot Under $2,000 Bond On Charges Stemming From Assault On Woman

A 25-year-old Negro is being held under $2,000 bond by Greenville police on charges of highway robbery. The charges stem from the December 19 assault on a Greenville woman in a parking lot at the intersection of Fourth and Cotanche Sts.

Detectives identified the man as Robert Lee Jones of 1228-B Battle St. They said he was picked up December 23 for investigation and was charged with the crime after being identified as the robber. Jones, according to officials, allegedly struck Mrs. Ralph Garrett, who lives on the Ayden highway, to the ground and snatched her pocketbook from her hands.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly 1.5 million Negroes left the South for other parts of the country during the 1950s, the Census Bureau said today. The bureau said the net migration of non-whites from the South, amounting to 1,457,000, was a record for any decade and compared with 1,245,000 during the 1940s.

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army today moved another infantry company along the Soviet-controlled autobahn to West Germany.

The U.S. command reported that Co. D of the 8th Infantry's 2nd Battle Group cleared through Soviet controls at the Babelsberg checkpoint outside Berlin and headed west on the 110-mile trip through Communist territory.

Self-Styled Bantam Badman Dies At Age Of 98

TARZANA, Calif. (AP)—Alfonso Jackson (Al) Jennings, train robber, ex-convict, lawyer, lecturer, evangelist, politician, movie-celebrity and chicken rancher who had killed chickens, is dead at 98.

The self-styled bantam badman from the Oklahoma badlands died Tuesday with his boots off in his tree-shaded white frame house. He was nephew, Tillman V. Egleson, said Al had been dependent since the recent death of his wife Maude, 81, and "was suffering the illness of old age."

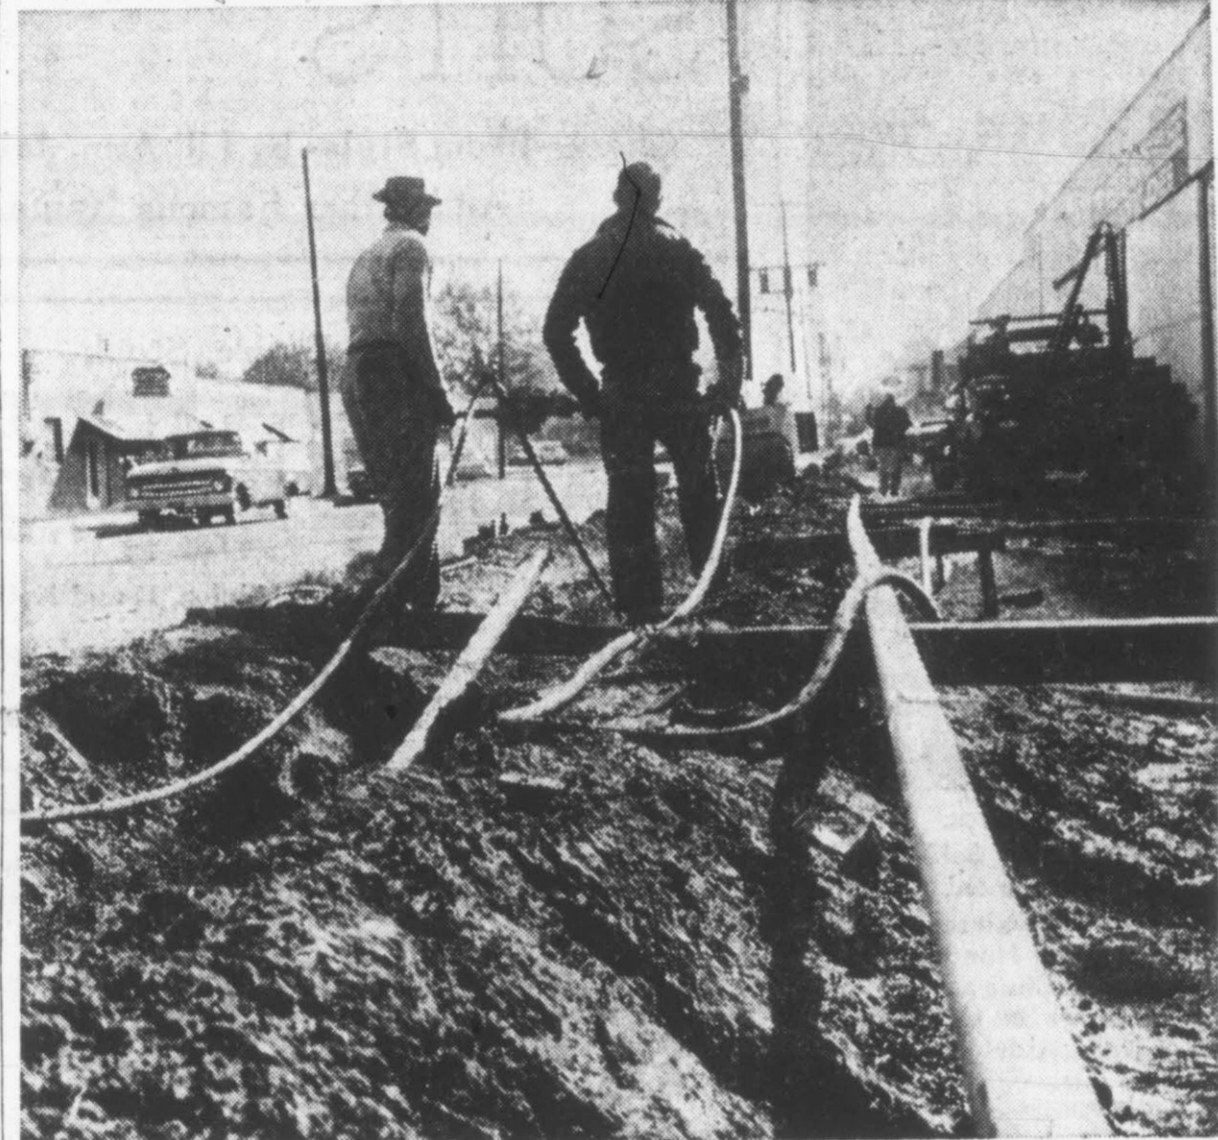

British Ships Sent To Protect Kuwait

LONDON (AP)—British officials today disclosed an armada is hurrying toward the Persian Gulf oil sheikhdom of Kuwait to meet a suspected Iraqi military threat. The admiral said that at least six warships, led by the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Centaur, have sailed from the East African base of Mombasa for an unannounced destination.

Other officials reported that the ships—which include two frigates, a tank landingship and two big fleet auxiliaries—are heading for the Kuwait area. They added several other precautionary British fleet moves are under way but are secret.

Over the Christmas weekend, intelligence and diplomatic reports from the region indicated to the British government that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassim has been massing troops, possibly as the prelude to an invasion to achieve the annexation of Kuwait he threatened last summer.

City's Gas Pipe Line Being Expanded

WORKMEN lay intermediate pressure gas pipe line on Boyd Ave. An expansion program of the city's gas main system has been underway since natural gas became available here. Since that time, Utilities Director Leonard Bloxam reports, approximately five miles of mains have been installed. The mains have picked up customers formerly served by bottled gas. Bloxam said plans are to budget funds for gas main extensions each year. (Reflector staff photo)

Nasser Breaks Ties With Yemen; Egypt Again Alone

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser's domain is back where it started—confined to Egypt—following severance of the loose federation that joined the little Arabian Peninsula Kingdom of Yemen to the United Arab Republic.

last September, but Nasser's government retained the name that symbolizes Nasser's thwarted dream of a unified Arab world.

The statement announcing the break with Yemen said the two governments had nothing in common "to make the federation between them an effective political instrument able to contribute positively in strengthening the Arab struggle."

Nasser broke the tie with Yemen Tuesday night, apparently because of the opposition of Yemen's feudal ruler, the Imam Ahmed, to Nasser's accelerating program to convert the U.A.R. to socialism.

Yemeni exiles in Beirut predicted the break with Nasser might touch off a revolution in their homeland that would unseat the imam, one of the world's last absolute monarchs.

The two countries had been linked in the United Arab States, a loose federation formed a month after the proclamation of the U.A.R. joining Egypt and Syria in March 1958.

Syria broke out of the U.A.R. in return, Nasser got the prestige of influence outside his own country. The imam won immunity from the stinging attacks of Nasser's radio, voice of the Arabs. This immunity ended last Saturday when Nasser made a speech accusing Yemen, Jordan and Saudi Arabia of opposing his socialization program.

The imam's throne has been a shaky one recently. Last March he was severely wounded in an assassination attempt, one of several close escapes from his enemies.

Travelers arriving in Beirut from Yemen two weeks ago reported the discovery of another plot and the arrest of several persons.

Charge Rhodesia Aided Katanga

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations issued another charge Tuesday that the secessionist Katanga Province of the Congo was aided by Northern Rhodesia in Katanga's fight with U.N. forces.

A U.N. spokesman said a witness on the scene reported that a Katanga air force bomber operated out of Ndola, Northern Rhodesia, in sorties against U.N. troops earlier this month.

Last Saturday, Rhodesia was denounced as "inducible" a U.N. charge that European mercenaries drove 48 armed jeeps across Northern Rhodesia to Katanga. The British Foreign Office said it had asked for an explanation of such reports from Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister of the Rhodesian Federation and strong supporter of Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

New Surge Of Icy Air In Midwest

Freezing Weather Again In Florida; Sub-Zero Readings For North

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A fresh surge of icy air spread across snow-covered regions in the northern Midwest today and freezing weather hit areas in northern Florida for the third straight morning.

Temperatures moderated in southern Florida after two days of unseasonable cold, with the mercury dropping to below freezing south of Miami Tuesday. It was 60 in Miami early today compared to Tuesday's low of 42, a record for the date, and 65 in Key West.

In Tallahassee, the state capital, it was below freezing, 31 degrees, but warmer than Tuesday morning's chilly 20 degrees, the official low in the state. Temperatures were in the 30s in much of northern Florida but forecasters predicted readings would range from 65 to 70 today, with 70 to 75 in southern sections.

The cold weather in Florida caused some damage to unprotected young citrus fruit and to vegetables in the north central part of the state.

The frigid air in the northern Midwest, fanned by strong northwesterly winds, extended from the extreme northern Plains to western Lake Superior. It headed east and southward into other parts of the Midwest, the lower Ohio Valley and upper Great Lakes region.

It was -9 in International Falls, Minn., and -6 in Minneapolis with sub-zero readings in the Dakotas. Readings were in the teens from the Rockies and other sections of the northern Plains into the western upper Great Lakes region.

Light snow fell in the middle Mississippi Valley, south of the upper Great Lakes region, the western Plains and parts of the northern Rockies.

Turbine-Engine Car In Future

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chrysler Corp. displayed an experimental turbine-driven automobile today and made it clear that mass production was being considered. The company said it planned to put the cars in the hands of a relatively few selected customers next year.

Results of the tests, further engineering and cost studies, and consumer reaction could lead to volume production, said Robert Anderson, vice president.

Such cars would be a radical departure from the conventional piston-driven vehicles, of which there are now about 70 million on the road in the United States.

The turbine engines reportedly have one-fifth as many parts as reciprocating engines and require no oil changes or antifreeze.

Speculation was that if tests are successful the car will be manufactured in volume within five years. But Chrysler displayed its optimism by announcing 'booklets on the car will be available at all dealers shortly after the first of the year.

JFK Working On Budget & Message

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy faced a busy day today with more work on the budget and his State of the Union message, an examination of his back and a visit to his ailing father scheduled.

The year-end checkup of the President's back was planned for Tuesday but it had to be delayed because Dr. Preston Wade, New York specialist, could not make plane connections.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger has described the checkup as routine. He said the President has had no recent trouble with his back.

Five of Kennedy's key advisers, who arrived by plane Tuesday afternoon and huddled with him for about three hours, were due to return to the oceanside temporary White House for further discussions.

Bell and others, Kennedy is whipping the budget for the fiscal year, starting July 1 into final shape. There have been predictions the budget will exceed $90 billion.

Technically, this is the first budget of the Kennedy administration. The one sent to Congress last January was the last of the Eisenhower administration. As a practical matter, however, Congress made so many changes in it at Kennedy's request that it became his own. Many of the changes were increases in defense and space programs.

Ribicoff Would Accept A Draft To Run For Senate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff says he would accept a draft to run for the U.S. Senate from Connecticut next year.

Ribicoff, one of President Kennedy's earliest political supporters, said Tuesday night that a story in the Hartford Courant saying he might accept the draft for the Democratic nomination was "basically correct."

His statement followed the declarations of two Democratic congressmen that they will seek the governorships of their states in 1962.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, a two-term Democrat from Schenectady who has fared well politically in a Republican area, announced he will seek the governorship of New York.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee in 1964, has said he will seek another four-year term as governor.

Alford's announcement cleared some smoke from Arkansas' political scene. Three-way jockeying for two jobs has been anticipated. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, already has announced his candidacy for another six-year term. Alford, a doctor, previously said he would seek the governorship if Gov. Orval E. Faubus challenged Fulbright in the Democratic primary.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee in 1964, has said he will seek another four-year term as governor.

Faubus still hasn't announced his plans. He said Alford's announcement will have no bearing on them. Faubus is serving his fourth two-year term as governor.

Governor Points To Advantages

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Sanford says North Carolina will reap big benefits in flood protection, water quality control and recreation from a water project recommended by the Army engineers.

The engineers have adopted a report calling for three large dams and a system of small and intermediate dams to be built on tributaries of the Cape Fear River in the center of the state.

The report already has been approved by the Army engineers' South Atlantic Division and is up for review by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors.

The first dam, a $25.6 million structure to be built on the Haw River below the mouth of the New Hope River, would create a reservoir of 9,400 acres in Chatham, Wake and Orange counties. Federal funds would finance the dam.

Sanford, in a statement issued Tuesday, called for the necessary cooperation among state and federal government agencies, local groups and individuals in seeing the project through.

He said immediate benefits of the reservoir would be flood control, water quality control and recreation.

Flood damage amounting to $1,487,000 annually in the basin would be cut by $1,927,000 with the project.

Sanford said recreation aspects of the dam would "develop very rapidly."

The Associated Press survey also showed 23 deaths in fires and 86 in miscellaneous accidents. The National Safety Council, which had estimated 500 traffic fatalities, said its count showed 523 killed. The traffic toll in last year's Christmas holiday period was 488, the lowest in 10 years for a three-day observance.

Says Reds Didn't Plan To Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., says he was told by some defected East German spies that they had orders to withdraw if the Allies moved in to smash the Berlin wall.

Scott, back from four weeks in Western Europe, said in an interview recorded for radio and television stations in Pennsylvania that the Western powers could have and should have "knocked the wall down."

He said he interviewed some of the East German military police who defected to the West.

"We learned from them in direct questioning that had we moved in to smash the wall down, their orders were to withdraw and not to fire unless we fired on government buildings," Scott said.

"And I also happen to know that only one out of four of these soldiers had bullets in his gun, and therefore, we could have done it."

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N. C. Temperatures during the five day period through Monday will average near normal. Turning colder Thursday and Friday, warmer over weekend and colder again about Monday. Precipitation will average about one-half to three-quarters of an inch, occurring tonight and early Thursday and again Sunday or Monday.

Belgium Resumes Diplomatic Relations With Congo's Adoula

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Belgium resumed diplomatic relations with the Congo today, strengthening Premier Cyrille Adoula's hand in dealing with Katanga's secession.

Restoration of relations was announced as Parliament awaited the arrival of Katanga members to take their seats as provided in Adoula's recent unity agreement with Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Relations with Belgium, former colonial ruler of the Congo, were broken 17 months ago in a fit of anticongressional fury. The late leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba was angered because Belgium tried to protect its citizens and property with troops during the riots after independence.

Belgian interests also supported Tshombe in his defiance of the central government. Belgium invests in heavy in the copper, uranium and other mineral riches of Katanga.

The pact signed by Adoula and Tshombe at the U.N. base of Kinshasa recognized the central government's control over Katanga, but the Katanga leader never has dropped his objections to a strong central regime.

The Katanga Cabinet held it was not competent to ratify the Kinshasa agreement and passed it to the provincial assembly a move which Adoula said torpedoed "the last effort to resolve the Katanga crisis by peaceful means."

Gardening Today

By JOHN G. DUNCAN

All the gardener can do this time of year is to make a few resolutions. He should resolve to stand the test of heat, lateness and procrastination. Here are a few that should not tax you too much in trying to keep them afloat.

Get Ready Early

I resolve to have all my ducks in a row before the first days of spring arrive. All my tools, lawn mower, spray tank, etc., will be ready to go when the air warms and the ground is willing. This spring I will be able to get cranked up on time, so my garden journey through the seasons will be successful.

Plan Ahead on Plantings

I resolve to have my garden planting program down on paper for ready reference. I resolve to make all or at least most of my mistakes on paper and not in my garden this year. I will get the right plant in the right place. I will study plant growth and plant habits in my garden books. I will study catalogs and garden magazines for color effects and leaf patterns.

Bug Fight

In order to keep ahead of ways to fight my garden enemies, I will get information on this subject. Good sources of this type of material can be found at the County Agent's office. The Pesticide Manual, put out by North Carolina State College, should be in every gardener's library. This manual tells the gardener what to use, how much to use and when to use materials for control of pests and diseases. It also tells the gardener how those materials can affect him.

Record

I resolve this year to keep pictures and written records of my gardening. In this way I will have for ready reference the effects my complete garden picture. Those records should make my gardening less chancy in the future. Pictures of my garden season by season will help me visualize future garden steps.

Those pictures and written records will make permanent reminders of my gardening through the years.

My Acre

I resolve to tend only that amount of acre that allows me to go about my gardening without taxing me physically. I resolve to make my gardening as much fun as possible. I don't want my garden to be a weedy burden. I want out of my garden exercise beauty and inspiration, and to the passerby a pleasing picture.

If you have occasion to apply compresses to an infected eye, first "sterilize" your hands by washing them with soap and hot water. Then, wash them again after the treatment is over.

Final Resolve

I resolve at least once or twice a year to write to this column. Maybe I will get a half way helpful answer to my garden problems. At least it will keep the writer on the ball.

Masonic Notice

Crown Point Lodge No. 708, A.P.&A.M., will have a Stated communication Thursday, Dec. 28, at 7:30 p.m. Master Masons are cordially invited.

Advantages Outweigh Disadvantages

Most North Carolinians recognize, we believe, that the state's water resources are among the most valuable assets of Tar Heel, and in future years as water supplies become more critical throughout the nation, Tar Heel water will be an increasingly important asset.

The far-reaching proposal for a flood control project on the Cape Fear River holds the promise of one of the most effective water conservation measures ever undertaken in the eastern section of the state. Already some objections have been raised to the project—principally among those people whose property would be inundated by the proposed dams. In spite of these objections, however, the advantages offered by the proposed series of dams on the Cape Fear far outweigh the disadvantages of the proposed project.

North Carolina has always been blessed with an ample supply of both surface and ground water. Until recent years little attention has been given the suggestion that this situation may not exist indefinitely unless careful consideration is given to conserving our water resources. In a number of states who now find themselves with far less good water resources than they would like, the same attitude prevailed decades ago. They felt their water resources were ample for any possible future needs and they took no steps to conserve the water resources they had. Now they recognize their mistake.

With its ample water supply, North Carolina might well fall into the same pattern, taking its water resources for granted.

The proposed flood control and water conservation program proposed for the Cape Fear Basin is of utmost importance to the area of North Carolina through which the river flows. It offers a practical and positive approach to the problem of flood control on the Cape Fear and at the same time it will insure conservation and preservation of the resources of this important Tar Heel waterway.

It is an undertaking which deserves general support not only within the Cape Fear basin, but in other areas of the state as well.

New Year's Weekend Traffic Hurdle Ahead

Of the millions of Americans who were on the highways during the Christmas holiday, only a very few—comparatively speaking—were involved in traffic accidents, and yet across the nation the highway death toll amounted to more than 500 lives.

The toll, while it is short of the record highway deaths of the Christmas holiday six years ago, tops that of intervening years and cast a grim shadow over the approaching New Year's holiday weekend. Will almost a thousand lives be snuffed out in traffic accidents during the two successive holiday weekends?

As was the case during the Christmas holiday, most of the people who travel will reach their destinations safely. For them it will be just another routine trip. For some few, however, the trip will be punctuated by the sudden screeching of brakes, the grinding of metal, the flying of glass... maybe even by death.

Because of the heavier traffic load on the highways during the period around the Christmas and New Year's holidays, highway hazards are greater than at most other times of the year. This year, with both holidays being longer than usual, the hazard is increased.

Those who came through the Christmas holidays without being involved in a traffic accident, should redouble their caution to make sure they also come through the New Year's holiday weekend without becoming a highway accident statistic.

Shrinking N.C. Farm Acreage

By LYNN NISBET

FEWER FARMS—There were fewer farms in North Carolina with less acreage and fewer people living on the farms in 1961 than in 1960, according to the Federal-State farm census. That is actually true, but the decline is really not much as the census report indicates because of the changed definition of a "farm."

In previous years a "farm" was contemplated by the census as any tract of three acres or more outside the corporate limits of a municipality upon which people lived and engaged in agricultural pursuits. In 1961 the acreage was increased to five and the definition of agricultural activity was made more rigid. That meant a lot of "farms" were taken off the list.

However, there has been a long time trend toward shrinkage in farm acreage in this state, and there is no indication that the trend has slowed or been reversed. For example there was an overall decline during the preceding ten years of 33,000, or something more than 33,000 acres a year. The decrease in 1961 from the previous year was 213,948 acres. Obviously a great deal of that was due to the changed definitions.

The farm census is taken every January as a cooperative venture of the Federal, State and county governments. A mass of information is gathered by census takers in every county, forwarded to Raleigh where it is consolidated and analyzed by the division of statistics in the Department of Agriculture. When the figures for each county have been processed the "whole report" is put together in a state compilation.

This information is highly important as showing trends and suggesting plans for planting crops the following year.

DECREASES—There were 78,880 fewer people living on farms on January 1, 1961, than a year before. Again, a good part of this decline is attributed to the changed definition of a farm—but for the preceding ten years there had been a total drop of 218,075—nearly 22,000 a year.

There was a decrease of about 190 acres in total harvested croplands, which also might have been slightly affected by the changed definition. There was a decrease in total pasture lands, although a gratifying increase in improved pastures. There were fewer animals on the farms in 1961, a decline that could hardly be attributed to the changed area. Only increase of note in livestock was in beef cattle. Dairy cattle, swine and poultry all were off from the previous year.

Some other facts: Land from which crops were harvested represented about 25 percent of the total land acreage in the state; woodlands, waste and other acreage not used for productive purposes amounted to 58 percent. The other 17 percent of the land was in pasture or in some kind of operation from which no harvest was gathered.

CORN—Because tobacco is the source of more "cash" income than any other crop, and cotton also is regarded as a strictly "cash" crop, many people fall into the error of regarding these as the major items of farm produce in North Carolina. The census shows that tobacco was grown on only nine percent of the harvested acreage in the state, and cotton on only eight percent.

The master crop in North Carolina, as in the United States, is corn. Corn accounted for 37 percent of all the harvested crop acreage in the state last year. Many farmers grow corn as a cash crop, but most of it is grown for use on the farm as feed.

TRANSITION—A careful analysis of these statistics and others gathered by the agents of the agricultural and economic services will show a trend toward wider diversity in agriculture and perhaps some ventures into new territory. The fact that beef cattle population is increasing is significant. So is the fact that soybean production is up more than any other field crop. Both soybeans and hay occupy considerably more acres in North Carolina than tobacco or cotton.

The fewer number of farms indicated the trend toward suburban type living. Five acre lots are rare in new developments, where lots from one-half acre to two acres are most popular.

UN Record Is Like Congress

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Nations got a belting this year for what it did or failed to do. But it operated as any representative assembly could be expected to, including the American Congress.

From any adult and realistic view it couldn't be expected to please everybody all the time. On any given issue the 104 U.N. member nations voted unanimously or broke up into special interest—or selfish—groups to carry a point or try to block it for their own particular reasons.

And, from the viewpoint of its own special interests, this country had a lot to be satisfied with in the U.N. session which ended this week. Some examples of a representative group in action:

The Asian-African bloc stood together on racial and colonial issues but split on civil rights. There were also neutral blocs, Communist blocs, Western blocs, each looking out for its own interests.

This could have been predicted without looking further than American history.

In Congress Southern Democrats voted through the years for a bloc—on civil rights. And, despite criticism even within the United States for using force to push secessionist Kwanza Province back into the Republic of the Congo, the U.N. seems to have brought peace there, if only temporarily.

In addition, the United States and the Soviet Union were able to agree on laying the ground for negotiations on disarmament and the peaceful exploration of outer space.

Can't Believe My Eyes—

By HENRY HOWARD

Adults Being Watched

Workmen positioned the Greenville Utilities service truck so that the pivoting ladder was directly beneath the streetlight with the burned-out bulb.

One of the men briskly mounted the rear of the truck with a fresh bulb in hand and began his ascent.

When the green-and-red truck had come to a stop under the light, there had been five four- and five-year-olds playing nearby.

As the bulb-replacing operation got underway, all five abruptly halted what they had been so busy doing and scampered quickly into a single line formation near the base of the streetlight.

They had been playing gaily and noisily, but now they stood quietly with eyes upturned, watching the workmen at the top of the ladder.

Those 10 young eyes focused sharply on the workman's every movement. And it was not an approving or a disapproving scrutiny that engaged the youngsters.

Their tousled heads tilted far back as if at all possible and the eager sparkle of their eyes told the story at a glance.

Other Editors Saying... Is UN Falling Apart?

(The Wilson Times)
Are we witnessing the deterioration of the United Nations? Consider recent events and you cannot be encouraged as to the future of the U. N. as an effective organization or of the United States' power in the world peace forum.

Go back a few years, to Korea when the first signs began to show of the U.N. breaking apart. Here you had a U.N. action, a war supposed to be fought with U.N. forces and supplies.

There was a complete compromise, with the thirty-eight parallel dividing line. Russia or Communism is firmly entrenched in North Korea and what happens to South Korea is anyone's guess.

Then step over to Viet Nam. Again another compromise with North Viet Nam going to the Communist and the southern section supposed to be self-governing. But at present the South Viet Nam government is fighting for its life to prevent the entire little nation from being taken over by the Communists.

Laos is gone to Communism to all intents and purposes, although we like to think that the present coalition government is balanced between the Communist and the people, we know it is not.

United Nation troops have conquered Katanga and because of pressure on an unhealthy truce will be formed. But there are many who feel the U.N. actions in the Congo have not followed the peace-making policies of the U.N.

An appeal by President Kennedy to Nehru of India trying to stop the Indian invasion of Goa, failed and force is used again with the U.N. authority tied in a knot because of the Soviet Security Council veto.

Now the next invasion is to be by Indonesia, and already this nation has been told that the U.S.A. and the U.N. appeals will not stop the invasion of the Netherlands' New Guinea.

So what is the result? As U.N. Ambassador Stevenson said in New York, the U.N. may collapse if it is unable to prevent the use of force to settle international disputes.

Then we read where the Sunday Times, conservative British newspaper, believes "that for Britain, the most important development is that adherence to the United Nations and to the United States is now no longer automatic British foreign policy, we will, have increasingly to recognize that the European alignment is at least as important as, and very probably more important than the American one."

The Independent News of the World says that all is not well between Britain and the United States and that it is as easy to gloss over the differences as to exaggerate them.

The paper believes that Mr. Macmillan must do some straight talking in Bermuda and most of the disagreement stems from the course followed in the Congo.

Yes, we agree with Mr. Stevenson, American possesses no magic powers of settlement. But the U.S. checkbook possesses the power of keeping the U.N. going.

If it is going to fall apart at the seams, and lose its authority as a peaceful arbiter of disputes, then it is time to take stock, and that right early. And we read Mr. Stevenson is doing just that. He is also trying to assure Americans that conditions are not as difficult as they appear.

Standardization Of Color Near

By ELMER ROESSNER
Such exotic color names as cyclamen pink, forget-me-not blue, sapphire purple, heather gray, watermelon autumn haze and avocado will fade like invisible ink if the Commerce Department's Bureau of Standards can get everyone to adopt a new system it has developed.

The Bureau and the Inter-Society Color Council have been sponsoring research for 28 years to devise a color-order system wherein colors can be accurately measured and catalogued and the names standardized.

They are now ready to go with their system and sets of charts, color specimens and a color name dictionary will be available at cost through the NBS standard materials program early in 1962.

The Bureau claims the new system is a complete method for coordinating color names, color specifications and color systems. It could be of great advantage to industries where color is important, such as paint, building materials, food, printing, cosmetics, fabrics and toys.

Those kids were watching the big people at work and were sincerely admiring every movement the workman decided was necessary.

Perhaps each of the five children entertained an honest desire that he would be fortunate enough to restore light to a burned-out street lamp... one of these days. And, if so, he would do it just the way "that man" did.

It goes without saying that similar groups of children around here and everywhere else re-live similar scenes countless times every day. To them, there's just something about the things adults do that's utterly fascinating.

It also goes without saying that adults are completely aware of this, since most adults are fathers and mothers of the youngsters. We all know that children have learned to become adults since the beginning of mankind in only one way—by watching how "that man" or "that lady" gets things done.

Despite the realization of adults that we are being so closely examined by young and eager-to-learn eyes, it's still a sound policy to consider such a situation seriously. What the little people learn from the very beginning forms each one's adult mold.

An ultra-consciousness of this fact maintained by adults may pave the way around various pitfalls that could encounter and even damage the youngsters as they develop into their own generation of adults.

But then if adults do choose to display an array of harmful examples for the eager little people, they do have a safety valve.

In a materialistic and often-selfish age, perhaps we adults feel a little relieved to remember that the harshest effects of careless examples may not be spent on the teachers. The eager-learning pupils it will be who suffer most and pay most dearly.

Nehru Shapes Future

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Nehru, the prattler on idealism, has done to the United Nations what Mussolini did to the League of Nations. He has given it a death blow from which it is not likely that it can recover. When Soviet Russia hurled its 100th Veto at international morality, that is likely to be the end of the story.

For what Nehru has accomplished is the establishment of a Soviet-Afro-Asian technique to force the Western powers to subservience in the United Nations. The Afro-Asians are to perform outrageous acts and Soviet Russia is to use the Veto to protect them from reprobation. It is an alliance of the weak and backward nations against the West. It is a trick played by the beggar nations to destroy their benefactors.

Only Soviet Russia can benefit from this international juggling and therefore Russia will continue to support this gambit until either all the world is in political and economic turmoil or Soviet Russia has conquered Europe, Asia and Africa and is waiting only for its actions against the American continents.

The United Nations has not the possibility left to maintain the peace of the world. Its morality is gone. No one can rise and speak for peace without hypocrisy. The American technique of intervention by financial assistance in a campaign against colonialism has utterly failed. Those who yesterday were freed by us from subservience to Western European powers have enslaved themselves to Soviet Russia.

This has done out of us slaves for centuries of history, but the result is nonetheless slavery. Nehru, who was Gandhi's apostle in a successful movement to free India from Great Britain, has shackled his country to the Slav and the Chinese and now must either beg them to let him live or beg us to save his country from the power that has seized it. The entire Eurasian continent will soon become a competitive field between Soviet Russia and Red China. What is the rest of the struggle proceeds within the Soviet Universal State?

There are Americans who say that we need not worry; that neither the Russians nor the Chinese possess the power to make war on the West; that they will cut each other's throats. There are those who believe that famine, flood and bad government in those countries will solve our problems. What evidence do they have that Soviet Russia will not make war on us? What evidence do they have that the Red Chinese will not explode the firecracker that will bring on Armageddon? They are willing to gamble on statistics rather than on psychology. They are willing to believe that no madman will let loose the forces of death and destruction as Genghis Khan did; as every Asiatic Conqueror did. They are hopeful that in an all-out quarrel between Soviet Russia and Red China, we, the United States, will come off the victor. But suppose not?

Such gambles are too dangerous to contemplate. We must be physically strong and sure of purpose against the enemies we now face and we cannot continue to make mistakes or to hope that time will give us advantage. We dare not speculate on prospects of incidental advantage; we need to be able to strike the first blow, if need be. We must be ready for war.

To many Americans, this may sound horrible. They will say that one will not be taken to war, as usual advocates war. They will ignore history and permit their minds to be covered with the moss of mystical hopefulness.

But the fact is a chilling one. Year by year, since 1939, we witness the growth of Soviet power and the subservience of nations, once our friends, to the Kremlin. We have missed opportunity to go to the aid of the enemy, 90 miles from our doorstep and is moving swiftly. We must face this monster wherever he is and bring him

Primer On Common Market

By GEORGE GOULD
WASHINGTON (AP)—Like a football game without a scorecard, the current welter of news about foreign trade, tariffs and the European Common Market can be a little confusing.

Great upheavals are taking place in world trade, and new forces are changing the map. They may affect millions of Americans, from the cotton farmer in southwest Arkansas to the man who puts spokes in the wheels in a New England bicycle factory.

The major factor that is changing old patterns of trade in the free world is the European Economic Community, or Common Market. Here is an attempt to provide a scorecard on the Common Market, with basic answers to basic questions:

Q. What is the Common Market?

A. It is an agreement between six European nations — France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg — to lower tariff barriers between each other over a period of years to the vanishing point. At the same time they are setting up a common external tariff to deal with the rest of the world as a unit.

Q. What does this mean?

A. It means that these six nations will become a vast free market for members with no internal restrictions. By acting together they can deal with the superpowers—the United States of the Soviet Union—on equal footing. Together, the United States and the Common Market eventually will account for half of the world's total trade.

Q. How did the Common Market start?

A. After World War II, when European nations were getting back on their feet, it was soon realized that even the largest of them, France and West Germany, were too small to achieve the full industrial development possible under modern technology. A larger unit was needed to give Europe its proper place in the competition for world trade. So in 1958 the Common Market was founded by the Treaty of Rome.

Q. How is it doing?

A. It is doing rather well. The six nations are ahead of schedule in lowering their internal tariffs, and business is booming under the stimulus. So much so that Great Britain, which stood aloof from the Treaty of Rome, now wants in even though it would disrupt the British Commonwealth and cause other changes in the British way of life, such as converting its ancient currency system to a decimal system. Denmark, Ireland and Norway are likely to join too. Sweden, Austria and Switzerland would probably like to join, but must tread carefully to preserve their East-West neutrality.

Q. What does this mean to us in the United States?

A. It means that if we want to continue trading in the rich common market, we must negotiate a low external tariff for the Common Market countries. Proponents of liberalized foreign trade, with the Kennedy administration as a chief drummer, say we must be able to offer the Common Market reduced United States tariffs in return. This, in simplified terms, is what the big, bloody fight shaping up in Congress next year is about. Protectionist, or high tariff sentiment is strongly represented in Congress. Almost every congressman or senator has plants in his district that might be hurt by freer entry of foreign goods.

Q. What about the rest of the world, like Latin America or Japan?

A. This question is of vital concern to U.S. policy makers. They don't want anybody frozen out of the good things in life. They have enunciated the principle that whatever agreements the United States makes with the Common Market must be available on the same terms to anyone else.

Q. Aren't we making a deal with the Common Market right now?

A. Yes, negotiations have been going on at Geneva and at Brussels. Reportedly the deal involves cutting the Common Market external tariff 20 per cent on practically all goods, with the United States cutting duties on automobiles and some other goods in return under the President's present limited power to lower U.S. tariffs. But there is a roadblock.

Q. What is the roadblock?

A. Agricultural products. America sells a third of its agricultural exports to Europe, and it wants to be sure that this trade is not harmed. The Common Market countries also are having problems in agricultural trade among themselves. In essence, this is because much of their farm production is produced in ancient peasant ways on small uneconomic farm units. Lowering all internal barriers may sweep away this old way of life and cause painful readjustments. The U.S.-Common Market Negotiators will meet again in January to try to solve the agricultural impasse.

Dick Powell Is Busy For Actor Who Is 'Retired'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For a guy who thought he had called it quits as an actor, Dick Powell doesn't look retired.

Matter of fact, he was never busier in the days when he was warbling to Ruby Keeler in an endless succession of Warner Bros. musicals.

This season he is doing 10 one-hour dramas as well as hosting "The Dick Powell Show." It is one of the big hits of 1961, which means he'll have much the same schedule next year.

This delights him as president of Four Star Television and staggers him as Dick Powell, actor. I found him somewhat weary but unbowed on the set of his latest drama, a fight yarn with Sammy Davis Jr. Dick is a newspaper reporter in this one, having already played such roles as a millionaire cop, spy, Air Force commander, gangster and bum this season.

"I realized the other day this is my 10th year in TV," he sighed. "We started with Four Star Playhouse, then Zane Grey Theater, now this one. I can't seem to get away from it."

But if he is the boss, how come he has to work so hard?

"A combination of circumstances," he replied. "This show gave us an in with NBC, which we've never had before. And it's an anthology, which we can use for spin-offs."

Spin-off is a TV term for shows that come out of shows. Examples: "The Untouchables," which developed from Desilu Playhouse; the Andy Griffith Show out of Danny Thomas' Show.

Trouble is, the Powell spin-offs often involve Powell, and he does not want to spin. He could find ready buyers for the affluent detective he played in the first segment of the series, "Who Killed Julie Greer?"

"But I'm too old to play a weekly show," Powell said. "And how are you going to cast it? Who can play that offbeat kind of comedy? Cary Grant? Sure—try to get him!"

While Powell may flag as an actor, he can exult as an executive. Four Star faced a disastrous season when most of its shows were canceled last year.

"We might have been stuck with only one show on the air," he said. "As it is, we have eight half-hours of network time, compared to 11 last season. Next year we will have 12-13. We've already sold a new one, 'McKeever and the Colonel.'"

Among other possibilities: A revival of the Four Star Playhouse with his wife, June Allyson, and partners Charles Boyer and David Niven.

Albemarle was the first permanent settlement in North Carolina.

In 1946 Pope Pius XII decreed that accordions may be played in Roman Catholic churches.

Bowl Teams Prepare For Big Day

Big Buckeye Challenge In Los Angeles Tourney

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer

Mighty Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, heads into the Los Angeles Classic tonight—the biggest challenge it is likely to encounter until the postseason tournaments.

6-foot-8 Mike Wroblewski and his 22-point average. The Far West appeared to be up for grabs with any of the eight entrants capable of going the distance.

Los Angeles Classic: Fourth-ranked Southern California (6-1) vs. ninth-ranked Purdue (5-1) and UCLA (3-5) vs. Army (2-2) this afternoon and Washington (5-1) vs. Ohio State (7-0) and Utah (8-1) vs. seventh-ranked West Virginia (6-1) tonight.

Two previously unbeaten teams, Cornell and New York University, were eliminated from the exclusive list. NYU (now 6-1) fell before unbeaten Dayton (7-0) 75-67 in Holiday Festival first-round match while Bradley (6-2) stopped touring Cornell's winning streak at six with a 85-59 trouncing of the Big Red in a non-tourney game.

Second-ranked Cincinnati had no trouble eliminating St. John's (N.Y.) 97-68. Wisconsin handed slumping Providence its third straight loss, 95-84 and LaSalle toyed with Dartmouth 87-66 in other Holiday Festival games.

SUGAR BOWL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The football fortunes of Alabama and Arkansas were rather dismal in 1958 when both schools hired new coaches.

Paul (Bear) Bryant returned to Alabama—his alma mater—after becoming almost a legend as coach at Maryland, Kentucky, and then Texas A&M.

Alabama makes its third bowl appearance under Bryant in the 1962 Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The Tide is a predominant favorite for its first post-season victory under the Bear, after one defeat and a tie.

Alabama's opponent will be Arkansas, whose young Frank Broyles is rapidly building a legend at Fayetteville.

In 1958, Broyles came to Arkansas after making his debut the previous year as head coach of Missouri.

Under Broyles, Arkansas has a 29-13 record. Three successive bowl appearances represent a new high at Arkansas.

Warmath said his Gophers have tried a few new "little knicks," but added: "What we have been doing all season got us here and that's what we hope will sustain us next Monday."

COTTON BOWL (AP) — Mississippi is favored to win the Cotton Bowl game next Monday because of a passing attack that ranked No. 2 in the nation.

Texas generally is conceded to be superior on the ground but while its touchdown output there was more than Mississippi's (margin wasn't as wide as Mississippi's in the air.

The Rebels threw for 19 touchdowns compared to 11 for Texas. They also averaged 182.7 yards per game along the air lines, which is more than twice as much as Texas held its opponents to. The Texas defense yielded 85.9

ORANGE BOWL (AP) — A "forty-to-nothing by halftime" prediction has given the underdog Colorado football team unexpected ammunition to use against Louisiana State.

Coach Paul Dietzel, who brought his fourth-ranked LSU Tigers to town Tuesday, winced at the psychological warfare weapon Colorado had found in preparation for Monday's Orange Bowl game.

A New Orleans newspaper was quoted here as saying "Louisiana State will not embarrass the Orange Bowl Committee by winning by more than 40 points."

It continued by saying the early kickoff would permit television viewers (ABC-TV) to see LSU run up a 40-0 halftime count before they switched to other games.

Dietzel battled to maintain his poise and choke back the words on the "40-0 story."

"I don't think we have any advantages in the build-up to this game," he said later. Dietzel referred unhappily to the fact LSU was favored. "Colorado has all the advantages going for it," he added.

Right Men In Right Place In Line Make Packers Run

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—What makes the Green Bay Packers run?

It's the right men in the right place in the offensive line, especially at center and the guards, said Packer line coach Bill Austin.

Manning the three prime posts for the Packers are all-pro center Jim Ringo and guards Fred Thurston and Forrest Gregg.

They anchored the line that helped the Packers to their second straight Western Division crown and into Sunday's National Football League clash here with the New York Giants.

At the Green Bay-New York meeting in Milwaukee on Dec. 3 the Packers took a 20-17 victory and clinched their division title. The Packers rolled up 16 first downs on the ground to 4 for New York. They gained 270 yards rushing to 69 for the Giants. The Packers added 145 yards passing for a total gain of 415 yards. New York passed for 210 yards and a total of 279.

Ringo is the best center in the league, Austin said, because "he's quick and smart."

He runs our offensive line," Austin said. "He makes the calls on blocks, sometimes changing assignments to get better results. He knows what every lineman does on every play."

Thurston, at 250 pounds, has amazing speed for a big man. Gregg, a 240-pounder, is an all-pro tackle, but shifted to the guard spot when Jerry Kramer was lost for the season with an ankle injury.

Playing the tackles are Norm Masters and Bob Skoronski, a pair of 250-pounders.

Against the Giants, the Packer line time and time again cleared wide routes for fullback Jim Taylor. He responded with his greatest game, running for 186 yards in 28 carries.

"This was the best blocking we had all year," Taylor said. "Thurston and Skoronski were clearing out the right side of the line. I was popping into the secondary with no tacklers to bother me at the line of scrimmage."

Halfback Paul Hornung did more blocking than running when he was around to play after being called to active duty in mid-season. But he is on leave and will have a week to get ready for the title game.

Ohio State Tops Weekly AP Poll

By WILL GRIMSLEY Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten Ohio State was a unanimous choice today for the No. 1 position in The Associated Press major college basketball poll.

Winner of their first seven games by margins of from 13 to 43 points, the Buckeyes continued to dominate the voting among a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters. They received all the 42 ballots cast for first place.

Cincinnati, the national collegiate—NCAA—champion, held on to second despite a 52-51 loss to Wichita, but the rest of the standings underwent considerable change.

Completing the top ten were: 3. Duquesne; 4. Southern California; 5. Kansas State; 6. Kentucky; 7. West Virginia; 8. Wichita; 9. Purdue, and 10. Duke.

Newcomers to the standings were Wichita, which followed up its victory over Cincinnati with a 60-48 rout of Santa Clara; Kentucky, 80-67 winner over Kansas State, at Duke, winner over West Virginia 69-65.

Ousted were Providence, which fell all the way from third place to the also-ran category after dropping decisions at DePaul and Xavier of Ohio; ninth-place St. Bonaventure, beaten 74-57 by Duquesne, and Seattle and Arizona State, which had been tied for tenth.

The poll included games through Monday but none of the post-Christmas tournament action.

The top ten, based on 10 for first place vote, 9 for second, etc., with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Ohio State (42) 420

2. Cincinnati 317

3. Duquesne 257

4. Southern California 197

5. Kansas State 153

6. Kentucky 126

7. West Virginia 120

8. Wichita 99

9. Purdue 93

10. Duke 93

Others receiving votes: Utah, Providence, Maryland, Santa Clara, Arizona State, Seattle, Mississippi State, DePaul, St. Bonaventure, New York U., Dayton, Maryland, Utah State, St. John's Oregon State, Arkansas, Bradley, Villanova, Memphis State, Drake.

Richest Rodeo Begins Tonight

DALLAS (AP) — The world's top arena cowhands, paced by a shy youngster from Melrose, Mont., stepped into the State Fair Livestock Coliseum tonight to start competition in the richest rodeo of them all.

The event is the national finals rodeo, the windup of the rodeo season and the place titles are awarded. Prizes total $57,500.

The eight go-rounds are scheduled for five straight nights, ending New Year's eve, with matinees the last three days.

The athletes compete in saddle, bareback and bull riding, steer wrestling and calf roping.

The top title is that of all-around cowboy—meaning the man who has won the most money during the rodeo season, including the national finals.

Leading the pack for the title of top cowboy is Benny Reynolds of Melrose, who has $28,698 this season and could win another $8,368.

The 1962 baseball season in New York will open with the Pittsburgh Pirates playing the New York Mets in the Polo Grounds on Friday, April 13. The Mets and Houston's Colts are new National League teams.

Australian Pair Win Davis Cup

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — A team as hot as the sun that blistered the Kooyong Stadium courts for two days clinched Australia's 10th Davis Cup tennis championship in 12 years today, sweeping the doubles for a 3-0 lead over challenger Italy without loss of a set.

The Australian pair of Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson routed Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 for the clincher before a crowd of about 9,000, who chanced the near 100 degree temperatures to be in on the kill of the Italians for the second straight year.

There was about as much tension to the doubles match as Tuesday's singles—also straight set romps in which Emerson turned back Pietrangeli 8-6, 6-4, 6-0 and Australian ace Rod Laver disposed of Sirola 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

The sweep reduced Thursday's closing singles matches to formalities and proved again that the Italians are far from Australia's class when it comes to playing on grass courts.

Coupled with a mid-summer heat wave that today shot the mercury to 96 in the shade and an estimated 110 at courtside, the surface handicap and the exceptionally steady play of the Australian team was too much to overcome.

The Italians, who eliminated the United States the last two years to reach the challenge round, scored only one service break against Emerson and the veteran Fraser.

Richard Vinroot and Larry Brown, North Carolina basketball players, are president and vice president, respectively, of their junior class. Vinroot defeated Joe Craver, Morehead Scholar who plays football.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Southern hospitality helped make the final score of the North-South all-star football game here a Christmas night read 35-16 in the wildest finish of the game's 16-year history.

Fans led the field believing the South had won, 35-10, on the basis of a last-play tackle of Baylor's Bobby Ply behind the goal line for a north safety and two points.

But Referee Pete Williams said the final score was 35-16 and this is what happened:

Ply fumbled and an unidentified North player recovered for a touchdown. By the time officials decided the North had recovered a fumble, the field was swarming with fans.

"I told Duffy Daugherty, the North coach, he had a touchdown and asked him if he wanted to try for the extra points," Williams said. "He said he did."

"I then told Frank Howard, the South coach, there would have to be an extra play. But seeing the mass of people that had already swarmed onto the field, Howard said he would concede the extra points as a gesture of Southern hospitality. Therefore, the North got eight points to make the final score 35-16."

Man-In-Space Story Is Chosen Biggest News Of '61

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Man in space emerged from science fiction to become the top news story of 1961.

The race into space, starting Russia's Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov and America's Alan Shepard and Gus Grissom, has been so desirable that news editors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio stations.

The big story, which began building up back in October 1957, when the Russians orbited the first earth satellite, reached a climax last May, when Gagarin circled the earth in a space craft. Shepard and Grissom followed with sub-orbital space flights and Titov orbited the earth 19 times, eating and sleeping in his space-craft while it hurtled 'round and 'round the world.

The space story won the editors' poll by a wide margin over the second choice, the Berlin crisis, which has alternately boiled and simmered since the end of World War II.

Included in the 1961 chapter of Crisis Berlin were: the building by the Communists of a wall between East and West Berlin, the dramatic escapes from behind the Iron Curtain and the call-up of U. S. reserves to meet the emergency.

The death of Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary general of the United Nations, in a plane crash and the ensuing U. N. controversy over his successor was the No. 3 story of the year, in the opinion of the editors. Burma's U Thant finally got the job.

Hammarskjöld's plane went down in Northern Rhodesia while he was en route to negotiate an end to fighting in the Congo's aloof Katanga Province. His death enabled the Russians to wheel out their pet "troika" plan for a three-man team to head the U. N. secretariat.

Fourth place in the editors' poll went to the ill-fated, U.S.-backed invasion of Cuba by rebels seeking to oust the regime of Fidel Castro, who, near year's end, admitted for the first time that he was a follower of the Marxist-Leninist Communist doctrines. Other choices in the editors' top 10:

5. Nuclear affairs, including the breaking by the Soviet Union of the moratorium on weapon testing; the Russian explosion of the mighty 50-plus megaton bomb; and the subsequent furor in the United States over fallout shelters.
6. The inauguration of John F. Kennedy as President of the United States, the first Roman Catholic ever to hold that office; and the return of the Democrats to the White House after eight years of Republican rule.
7. The continuing crisis in the former Belgian Congo which, during the past year, saw the assassination of ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba; the secession of its rich Katanga Province; and open fighting between the Katangese and United Nations forces.
8. Hurricane Carla, which devastated the Gulf coast of Texas and parts of other states, leaving 15 dead and damage in the hundreds of millions of dollars. It was accompanied by small tornadoes.
9. The trial in Israel of Adolf Eichmann, charged with being a key figure in the slaying of some six million Jews in German death camps. The trial lasted four years.
10. The death of "Mr. Sam" Rayburn, 79, the Texas Democrat who held the job of speaker of the House of Representatives for 19 years, twice as long as any previous speaker. He had been a representative for 48 consecutive years.

Wreck Injured 2 Greenville Men

WASHINGTON, N. C. — Two Greenville men, involved in a head-on collision on N.C. 33 five miles east of Chocowinity Saturday, were reported as in "good condition . . . resting well" in Beaufort County Hospital here today.

The two, James Walter Griffith, 52 of 405 East Eighth St., and Roger P. Taylor, 47, of 304 East Eighth St., were involved in a head-on collision with a truck owned by a Greenville wholesale firm just after noon, 12:45 p.m., Saturday.

Investigating Patrolman McRay Bland of Washington reported that the truck, driven by Robert Earl Moore, 21-year-old Negro of Grifton ran off the road, then cut back and collided head-on with the car driven by Griffith.

Damage to the Griffith vehicle was estimated to be about $1,500 while damage to the truck was set at $300.

Moore was charged with operating on the wrong side of the road. Doctors for Taylor reported that he was suffering from multiple lacerations and "a number of rib fractures" but said he is "recovering nicely." He will be confined for several weeks, the doctors added.

Griffith's physicians said he suffered a fractured leg and lacerations in the crash, and is "doing well." Both men are expected to be released from the hospital within the next few days.

'Hunger March' Slowly Growing

SALTILLO, Mexico (AP) — A "hunger march" launched Christmas night by 500 catkin growers reportedly has swelled to 7,000 marchers as it slowly advanced through the chill desert of Coahuila on its way to Mexico City.

The marchers are protesting low prices paid by a processing plant in Coahuila for the fiber from which a high-grade lubricating oil is produced for export. The government has an interest in the plant.

The marchers expect to have at least 50,000 men in the caravan when they reach Mexico City, about Jan. 10 after a 550-mile hike. They plan to ask President Adolfo Lopez Mateos to let them manage the plant so as to secure better prices for catkin.

Flying Saucer Project Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army and Air Force are abandoning the flying saucer project, the Pentagon said Tuesday night.

The purpose of the project was to produce a light, low-flying machine for quick transport of troops across rivers, rough terrain and similar obstacles.

A Defense Department spokesman said the last of a $7.5 million appropriation will be used up by the end of the year, and no additional funds will be requested. The saucer project had been described as making possible an "airborne cavalry" which could travel rapidly under almost any conditions.

CHAPTER 15
Martin Whitfield listened in growing astonishment as Lee Folsom told him of Mrs. Eastman's grandiose plans.
When she had finished, he started at her.
"Why, that's utterly ridiculous! Of course she must be stopped!" he said. "I've been nominated for membership in the Club and have met practically everybody in the town. So why would she need to go all out like that to introduce me officially? I've been introduced!"
"Uncle John felt that you had, that the reception would just be a silly, extravagant gesture that the Eastmans can't really afford, and that you should be told about it in time to stop it," Lee told him quietly.
Martin was scowling, his hungry interest in his sandwich forgotten as he thought over what Lee had been telling him.
"Well, of course I'll stop it, immediately," Martin told her quickly.
"It may not be easy. She's pretty determined," Lee warned him. He smiled at her faintly. "I'll stop it. I'm pretty determined, too. I refuse to be made a laughing-stock in my town! For it is my town, and I expect to spend the rest of my life here."
Lee smiled her relief, and after a moment he asked quietly, "There's more?"

"Well, yes," Lee admitted. "It's about Holly."
Martin's brows raised slightly. "What's she been up to?"
"It's about her driving your car, Martin," Lee told him, and rushed on before he could take offense. "Oh, I know, Martin. You're being kind and generous to let her use it. But, Martin, she's a terribly bad driver. She can't even get a driving license; the best she's ever been able to get was what they call a 'learner's permit.' She is not supposed ever to drive alone, there must always be someone with her who does have a driving license. Bill Dimmock said you'd let her take your car to drive to Jax, and he was very worried for fear she'd have an accident and maybe kill herself or somebody else."
"Jax?" he repeated. "You mean Jacksonville, of course. But, Lee, that's not more than sixty or seventy miles."
"Fifty of it along U. S. 1, the Maine-to-Miami highway, one of the most heavily traveled roads in this part of the country," Martin was scowling thoughtfully.
She told me she was an expert driver, and seemed quite capable driving out here from town," he mused aloud.

"That's because you were with her and she was being very careful."
"Well, yes," Lee admitted. "Martin was silent for a moment. "The poor kid! She told me how heartbroken she was when her aunt made her sell her car after she and her mother moved in town to stay with that old dragon," he said musingly.
Lee was staring at him, so shocked that he blinked and asked, "What's wrong? Did I say something I shouldn't?"
Lee controlled herself with an effort.
"Holly has never owned a car in her life," she said evenly. "And that old dragon of an aunt, Miss Cora, is one of the kindest, gentlest, sweetest souls alive. She lives on a small annuity which she is stretching to incredible lengths to be able to house and feed Holly and her mother. Haven't you met Miss Cora?"
"Well, no. When I've dated Holly, she has come out to the car and not invited me in to the house," Martin admitted. "She told me her aunt was an old dragon, and seemed terrified of her. Occasionally I've had the impression she was on the verge of tears because of her aunt."
"That," stated Lee grimly, "could well be, because Miss Cora has very definite ideas about a young girl dating a man her family has never met. Undoubtedly she had insisted that Holly bring you in to meet her mother, and Holly wouldn't."
"I'm sorry," she added defensively when Martin merely gazed into space, frowning. "But after all, you should know something about Holly, besides the fact that she is a raving beauty."
"Oh, you'd be surprised what a lot I know about Holly," he drawled. "She's a raving beauty, all right; but I've suspected since I first met her that I've seen her only on her best behavior and that she could really be pretty alarming when she isn't."
Lee drew a deep, hard breath and spread her hands in a small gesture of helplessness.
"I'm terribly sorry to have had to say all this," she confessed with a touch of humility. "It puts me in the awkward position of trying to make things unpleasant for a girl who hasn't had a very pleasant life. But I told you what I thought you should know, so that you could decide for yourself whether she should drive your car or not."
Martin nodded, seemed to remember his sandwich and bit into it hungrily.
"You're right," he agreed. "This will be the last time she will take it out, unless I'm with her. And in that case I'll be driving. You can bank on that."
Lee smiled at him in relief. "I'll tell Bill Dimmock. He'll be very relieved. He claims drivers like Holly are a menace on the highways."
"And as to the reception Mrs. Eastman wants to give," Martin suggested after a moment's silent thought, "why shouldn't I give it?"
"You?"
"Well, why not, as a sort of return for the hospitality people in town have given me? It'll be a housewarming, which I'll give as soon as the big house is ready," Martin said. "Everybody here has been so nice that I'd like to pay off some of my social obligations. Since I've been nominated as a member of the Club, why wouldn't that be a good way to do it?"
"But Mimi wants to give the party for you."
"She and Holly could act as my official hostesses, couldn't they?" Martin suggested eagerly. "Wouldn't that be as much fun for her as if she gave the party herself?"
"Well, of course," Lee agreed, and smiled. "That way she won't be disappointed. She'll have the fun of being official hostess at a party without the bother and the expense. But she likes managing things. I have to admit."
"That's easily arranged," Martin answered. "Matter of fact, I'd like it very much if she would take over all the details. I expect to be very busy here all summer getting things set out here. If you've finished your lunch, come on and let me show you what I have in mind."
He guided her carefully as they strolled with paraphernalia, and she listened with keen interest as he outlined his plans.
As they came to the kitchen, a sad, dreary-looking place with its grimy walls and its rotting floor beneath badly worn linoleum, he paused and looked about him, chuckling.
"Aside from new walls and floors and some new windows," he told Lee, "I'm going to leave the kitchen up to Hilda. It's going to be a tough job to persuade Hilda to leave New York and settle here. I'll have to do everything in my power to make her happy and contented. Fortunately she's very fond of me, and I feel sure once I convince her what Oakland means to me, she will be contented."
Lee was silent for a moment. Who, she asked herself, was Hilda? She had been a fool, she mused, as she went across the hill toward her car, not to have known that there must be a Hilda in his life.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced early this afternoon after an irregular morning. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.20 at 260.70 with industrials up 2.50, rails up .40 and utilities up .20.

Gains of fractions to a point or more outnumbered losers among key stocks.

Some of the steels, motors, drugs, chemicals and utilities showed strength. The rise was spotty, however, nonferrous metals, aircrafts, rubbers, electronics and oils were mixed. Airlines were unchanged to a bit lower.

The rise came after eight straight days of decline and Tuesday's irregular session. It seemed long overdue to Wall Streeters who have been coming on a traditional year-end rally.

Encouraging business news included a prediction by the head of General Motors that 1962 would be a seven-million-car year. Steel output stood at the highest level since April 1960. Construction contracts for November were reported at a peak.

The average was bolstered by gains of about 3 by DuPont, more than a point by Eastman Kodak, a point by American Telephone and a rebound of a couple of points by Union Carbide.

Chrysler, still responding to its news of a turbine engine for autos, rose about a point. Ford and GM added fractions.

Gains exceeding a point were posted for U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.95 at 729.04. Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mixed.

Pitt Patrolmen Arrested 58 Drivers Over Weekend

Fifty-eight motorists traveling the highways of Pitt County over the Christmas weekend found that violating the laws of the State does not pay, for they were arrested for infringing on the rights—and safety—of others.

Patrol Cpl. J. G. Thomas of Greenville reported that the 58 arrests were recorded by Pitt troopers during Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Included in the number were 30 arrests which resulted from the patrol's "wolfpack" program of special saturation enforcement Saturday night.

Cpl. Thomas said five patrolmen participated in the special enforcement program in the Ayr-Oer, Farmville, Bethel and Greenville areas which was conducted from 4 p.m. Saturday to 1 a.m. Sunday.

The "wolfpack's" operations include "descending" on a designated area and stopping practically every vehicle observed in the area, charging all violators found.

After covering the area, the "pack" then moves to another area to continue their saturation.

Included in the 30 "wolfpack" charges were four violations for no operator's license, five each for improper mufflers and failing to stop for stop signs, three for speeding and two each for operating on the wrong side of the road, failure to yield the right of way and having no liability insurance.

Other arrests for the "wolfpack" and for the officers over the remainder of the weekend included reckless driving, drunken driving, following too closely, failure to dim headlights and arrests for having faulty or improper equipment.

In thanking the motorists of Pitt for their cooperation with the patrol, Cpl. Thomas explained that if motorists are stopped more frequently than in the past, it is due to the patrol's special enforcement and saturation programs.

New York Hotel Fire Is Fatal For Three People

NEW YORK (AP) — Two residents and a fireman died early today in a fire on the ninth floor of the 17-story Hotel Mayflower overlooking Central Park.

Two other men—apparently residents—were burned, one of them critically. Seven firemen were burned or overcome by smoke.

Most of the 400 guests in the largely residential hotel at Central Park West and 61st St. fled from their rooms shortly before 2 a.m.

The guests—many of them in nightclothes—congregated in the lobby. There was no panic. Two of them carried pet canaries from their rooms.

They streamed down to the lobby via stairwells and elevators after the hotel manager pressed a button that sounded an alarm on every floor.

The fire burned out of control for almost an hour. City firemen, called out on two alarms, kept the blaze from spreading from the ninth floor.

An unidentified man, walking past the hotel as the alarm was sounded, heard calls for help and ran inside. He ran through the hotel, pounding on doors and shouting an alarm.

The dead: Murray Wyzel, about 60, described as a songwriter who had written for the Perry Como television shows; Fireman John King, 29, a resident of Commack, Long Island; An unidentified woman.

Fire officials said the blaze had started in Wyzel's room and spread to the hall. The cause was not immediately determined.

Firemen attached hoses to standpipes on the eighth floor, carried them to the ninth and trained them on the hall door. The door gave way and flames burst at the firemen. Two firemen were burned. Two firemen were knocked out by dense smoke pouring from the hall.

Parked Car Hit In Early Hours

An estimated $500 damage was reported by Greenville Police in an early morning collision on West Third St. yesterday.

Officers said a vehicle driven by John Henry Corey, 57-year-old Negro of 1300 West Third and Contentnea Sts.

Police, who noted a passenger in the Corey vehicle, Arthur Johnson, 32-year-old Negro of 108 Reide St., received bruises to his knee, said the owner of the parked car has not been located.

The parked vehicle is registered to a James Evans of 101 North Pitt St. Police said, but added that according to occupants of the dwelling, no person by that name is or has ever lived there.

Officers charged Corey with operating to the left of the center of the street and are continuing their investigation to determine the owner of the parked auto. The collision occurred about 6:38 a.m.

In a second Wednesday collision, which occurred about 9:40 p.m. at the intersection of Boyd and Dickinson Aves., William Henry Smith, 47-year-old Negro of 1008 Taylor St., was charged with failing to stop for a red light.

Officers said the Smith vehicle collided with a car driven by Billy Ellis, 26 of Route 1, Bunlevel.

Total damage in the mishap was set by investigators at $200.
