Rusk Reaffirms U.S. Ready To Defend Interests In West Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the West is determined to defend its vital interests in West Berlin "at whatever cost."

This decision, Rusk said, "remains the basis on which we intend to explore the possibilities of a peaceful resolution of the Berlin crisis."

Rusk made these remarks in a speech for a meeting of the American Historical Association.

The Soviets, Rusk declared, have to understand the West's determination to remain in Berlin — "if peace depends on clarity."

the other side must not be allowed any dangerous illusion."

Americans, he said, should remember President Kennedy's warning that "if there is one path above all others to war, it is the path of weakness and disunity."

The secretary hailed what he called the shaping of a new and unified Western Europe and its partnership with the United States.

He conceded, though, that there are differences of opinion on such questions as the colonial problem.

Rusk said that although the Western world can not underestimate the capacity of the Communist system, a comparison of achievements would show that it is the West, and not the East, which "constitutes the more vital center."

As to whether the United States and its allies have the capacity to deal with Communist techniques applied in the underdeveloped areas, Rusk conceded that the Soviet succeeded in opening "four significant holes" in recent years.

These, he said, were in Laos where the forces of the Communist Pathet Lao moved to the south; in Viet Nam where Communist guerrilla forces have increased from 2,000 in 1959 to more than 16,000; in the Congo where, Rusk said, the Communists are seeking to establish an African base; and in Cuba where a Communist regime was installed.

He said the United States is giving increased attention to what he called this new form of political-military aggression, but added:

"I cannot report to you that we have fully solved these problems. I do believe that we have made some headway, but they remain on the list of unfinished business."

Freezing Cold As Far South As Florida, Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New Year's weekend dawned chilly across the nation Saturday with freezing temperatures forecast as far south as Miami.

While parts of New York State and New England worked to clear snow accumulations from Thursday's and Friday's big fall, fruit and vegetable farmers in Florida and the Gulf Coast braced for possible crop damage.

Temperatures high in the Smoky Mountains dropped to two below zero Thursday night and zero readings were forecast early Saturday. About two feet of snow fell in the mountains during the week.

In Florida, sub-freezing temperatures were expected today for Dade — Miami — County's multi-million-dollar vegetable industry and the citrus belt in the central section of the state. Citrus men, however, said the mercury would have to plunge to 25 degrees and stay there several hours to damage grapefruit and orange trees.

Readings of 17 to 20 were reported in northern Florida between Tallahassee and Cross City.

Farmers resorted to smudge fires and partial flooding for protection against the cold.

Early Friday, temperatures that ranged from 23-30 in northern Florida and 32-36 in the South apparently only helped the citrus crop. Cold colors and sweet oranges, grapefruit and tangerines. However, scattered damage was reported to young truck crops.

Renewed frost and freeze warnings were out early Saturday for northern Mississippi and Louisiana.

Generally rising temperatures were predicted for the rest of the South Saturday.

Deep cold, which has held the central Mississippi Valley in a vise-grip for five days, reached the length of the Ohio Valley and the northern Appalachian region as well as the Smokey area.

Lemars, Iowa, with 21 below zero, was only a big more frigid than much of Iowa has been much of the week.

Indianapolis, Ind., hit low mark for the season with 4 which also was recorded at Joliet, Ill., and Fort Wayne, Ind. At Saranac Lake, N. Y., the low was -7. Albany had -2.

Temperatures moderated, however, in the northern plains, where the cold has been most severe, and some above-freezing marks were recorded in Montana and Wyoming.

Snow hit the Buffalo, N.Y. area for the second straight day, dumping 6 inches of new snow in that section of the state during the night. The 12-inch accumulation caused a raft of traffic tieups.

Skiies were clear over most of the nation's southern half where temperatures ranged into the 40s in the Southwest and the 50s in southern California. Fog veiled much of California's interior valley region.

Some rain fell in the Northern Rockies and adjacent High Plains during the night and snow flurries were reported here and there over the Upper Mississippi Valley, Great Lakes region and Appalachians.

Bid Is Accepted On Social Security HQ In Greenville

A 3,500-square-foot headquarters for the recently-formed Greenville Social Security District is scheduled for completion by about March 1, according to J. J. Perkins of Greenville, the successful bidder on the structure.

Perkins said today he was notified last night his bid of an undisclosed amount had been accepted. Construction of the masonry, concrete and steel structure is already about two-thirds complete, Perkins said.

First District Congressman Herbert C. Bonner reported to the Daily Reflector today that his office in Washington was notified Friday of the acceptance of Perkins' bid by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The district—announced through Bonner's office by Social Security Commissioner W. L. Mitchell Sept. 6—includes eight counties including Pitt. Other counties to be served by the new local headquarters are Martin, Bertie, Beaufort, Hyde, Tyrrell, Washington and Chowan. Currently Pitt County is serviced in Social Security matters by the Rocky Mount District office.

Located on the west side of Boyd Avenue between Chestnut Street and Myrtle Ave., Perkins' structure was begun in October, following a design that would permit its use for purposes other than for the district headquarters.

The project's contractor said the agreement with the federal government involves a five-year initial lease with 'privileges for a five-year lease renewal.

While the Social Security Administration contracted 3,500 square feet of space, the entire structure contains more than double the requirement. Measuring 60 feet by 120 feet the building will house a total of 7,200 square feet of floor space.

Perkins said rest rooms, corridors and other additional space that would be occupied by the district headquarters would add 1,300 square feet to the contracted 3,500. Extra space could be used for later expansion of the headquarters, Perkins noted.

The building's 120-foot-long street front will consist primarily of plate glass, according to the contractor. He said 10,000 square feet of parking space in front of the building would provide room for about 40 automobiles. Another 5,000-square-foot area behind the structure would accommodate another 20 cars, Perkins said.

Built on one story, the building will afford the headquarters a total of six offices, three rest rooms, hallways, lounges and a lobby. The fireproof structure, Perkins said, will be completely air-conditioned.

Can Boost Sales Tax Deductions

RALEIGH (AP)—Tar Heel federal taxpayers will be able to deduct more for state sales taxes when they file their 1961 income tax returns.

The Federal Internal Revenue Service has put the sales tax deductions on an increment schedule based on the number of persons in each family.

North Carolinians started paying more sales taxes July 1 when tax changes, including a 3 percent tax on food, went into effect.

For 1961, however, a man with no family can deduct $28 from his federal return for sales tax payments. The deduction increases with the size of the family. A $37 deduction is allowed for a family of five in the $1,500-$2,000 bracket.

The 1960 schedule permitted a family with a gross adjusted income of $4,000-$4,500 to deduct $48 for state sales taxes. For 1961, a man with no family in this bracket can deduct $59. A family of four in the same bracket can deduct $67.

Car Flipped Over Making A U-Turn

Four teen-agers narrowly escaped serious injury while a fifth youth was hospitalized as a car overturned on Elm Street following a high school ball game last night.

Greenville Traffic Officers said James I. Gill, 17, of 1405 Anderson Street, Wilson, was hospitalized with possible back and chest injuries as a result of the mishap. He was the driver of the car, they noted.

The vehicle was headed North on Elm Street and overturned while attempting to make a "U" turn on the four-lane thoroughfare in front of the Elm Street Recreation Center. Police said Gill apparently "turned too short."

Four passengers in the auto were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for examination, then released. They were identified as Sara Abbott, 15, of Wilson; Cotten Skinner, 15, of 1912 Forrest Hill Drive; Carol Clark, 15, of 146 Longmeadow Road and Chris Heller, 17, of 103 Lakewood Drive.

Police set damage to the 1961 model vehicle at $600.

The mishap occurred about 9:40 p.m.

No charges were made in a second mishap investigated by officers yesterday on Evans St.

Police identified drivers of the vehicles involved as Theodore Johnson Ashworth, Jr., 42, of 1802 East Fourth St. and Mrs. Elmo Tucker Moore of 1049 East Rock Spring Drive.

Total damage in the mishap was set at $150. No injuries were reported.

Eight-Inch Snow In Blue Ridge

WEST JEFFERSON, N.C. (AP) — Eight inches of snow was on the ground in this Blue Ridge Mountain city Saturday morning and it was still coming down.

There were snow flurries Wednesday and Thursday, but Friday was clear and residents thought the worst of it, might be over. However, the flurries started again at 6 p.m. Friday, and by 3 a.m. this morning the flurries had changed to a steady fall.

Early reports were that there were no traffic accidents of consequence.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists shelled the Nationalist-held Quemoy islands Friday for the third consecutive odd-numbered day, but the attack was very mild. This week's shelling broke a lull which has lasted 104 days.

Holiday Death Toll Begins Rise

New Year's Week-end Begins With Flaming Two-Car Crash That Killed Eight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic Fatalities mounted in several sections of the country Saturday as the nation observed the three-day New Year's week-end.

The festive period started on a tragic note — a flaming two-car crash that killed eight persons in Oklahoma. The accident, worst in Oklahoma's history, occurred at 6:32 p.m. Friday—just two minutes after the start of the long New Year's holiday weekend period for which accidental deaths are tabulated.

The crash, near Cordell, left no survivors. An entire family of five was among the victims.

A family of four perished in Orinda, Calif., today in a fire that raced through their one-story ranch-style home.

Fatalities across the nation reached 36, fires killed 9, and 3 other persons died in miscellaneous accidents.

Highways generally were dry and in good winter driving condition as the weekend began. One exception was an area of New York State heavy with snow that made driving hazardous especially around Buffalo.

The National Safety Council estimated as many as 330 persons would die in traffic mishaps before the holiday periods ends at midnight Monday. It began at 6 p.m. local time Friday. Motorists were urged to use restraint and caution in drinking and driving.

The council figure is slightly under the 347 traffic deaths counted by The Associated Press in a survey of the 78-hour nonholiday period of Dec. 8-11, checked for comparative purposes.

Last weekend 324 died on the nation's streets and highways, the most for a three-day Christmas holiday period since 1955. The record toll for a three-day New Year's weekend was 374 in 1959-60. The lowest for a similar period was 269 in 1949-50.

Texas Beauty Is Crowned 1962's Maid Of Cotton

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A pert yellow-haired rose of Texas was crowned 1962 Maid of Cotton Friday night here in the world's cotton capital.

Penne Anne Percy, 19, of Waco squealed in surprised delight as her name was announced.

It was almost as big a thrill for her mother who was a finalist in the contest 20 years ago. It was a delayed dream come true for Mrs. James S. Percy, who reached the contest finals back in 1941 as Miss Anne Green of Hattiesburg, Miss.

After the '41 contest, Mrs. Percy, a petite brunette, was told her 5-foot-4 height hurt her chances because that was short for a model. A maid's primary duty is modeling clothes.

When Penne was born, Mrs. Percy said she prayed, "God let her be tall. My husband wanted a football player, and I wanted to make it up to him."

All this Mrs. Percy kept to herself and her 5-foot-7 daughter never knew about her mother's contest experience until Penne had decided on her own to try for the title.

Churchill Urges Unity In Plans

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill said today "1961 draws to its close in darkness and menace."

In a New Year message to the Primrose League, an organization of Conservative party leaders, the 87-year-old former prime minister added:

"The dangers that confronted us have in no way diminished in the last 12 months, and new factors have been added to them. To overcome them will require from us all great and sustained efforts."

A far-sighted unity of plan and action of the countries of the free world should be our commanding purpose."

LARGEST BUDGET

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese cabinet approved a $6.7-billion budget for 1962, the largest spending program in the country's history. It provides $600 million for military expenses, $7.8 million over the current fiscal year.

Sets Off Riots

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's plan to make peace with revolt-torn Algeria as an independent nation touched off new violence today by European settlers in the African territory.

Two Moslems and a French policeman were killed in new disorders in Oran, bringing to six the number killed in that Algerian port in less than 24 hours. The city's commercial life was paralyzed by a shutdown of shops and cafes by European demonstrators.

Hardly had De Gaulle finished his speech Friday night announcing the end of the French army will be withdrawn from Algeria than riots erupted in Oran. French troops, who some- times sided with the Europeans in the past, moved in quickly to put down the riots.

Report On Base Worker's Death Is U.S. Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government is keeping secret a report on the mysterious death of a Cuban worker at the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, informed sources said today.

They reported that the Navy has completed a month-long investigation into the death of the worker, Ruben Lopez, whose body was found Oct. 15 in a shallow grave inside the base.

The sources said no charges had been filed. It has been reported that two Marines were detained at Camp Lejeune, N.C., in connection with the investigation.

The Defense Department has acknowledged that an investigation was in progress, but neither would confirm nor deny reports the Marines were held.

Officials refused to make public a security-screened summary of the investigation findings.

Cuba has alleged that Lopez was beaten and tortured to death by American personnel at the U.S. base, which is at the eastern end of Cuba.

On Oct. 17, the Pentagon issued a six-line statement saying Lopez' body had been found two days earlier, that his wife was being notified and that an investigation was being conducted.

A week later, the Cuban Foreign Ministry demanded the immediate delivery to Cuba for trial of "members of the North American armed forces" it said were responsible for the death of Lopez.

Ulbricht Admits Communism Due To Soviet Army

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — East Germany's Communist chief, Walter Ulbricht, admitted today that the presence of the Soviet army had made the Communization of East Germany possible.

He also disclosed the tremendous blow dealt his regime by the flight of specialists and intellectuals to the West.

"The training alone of the working force—which was then recruited by West German monopolists—costs us above 30-billion marks. That is nearly 40 percent of our national income in 1961," he said.

Ulbricht's admissions — among the frankest made by the Communist leader — appeared in an article in the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda.

Ulbricht had previously insisted that the Communists had erected the wall dividing Berlin — and keeping East Germans virtual prisoners — to keep out Western spies and saboteurs.

He repeated that claim in the Pravda article—but went on to admit for the first time the tremendous losses East Germany had suffered in defections to the West.

Ulbricht's admission that this regime was the creation of the Soviet army has never been conceded by the Communists.

Ulbricht declared further that only the overthrow of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government by "progressive forces in West Germany itself" could bring about reunification of Germany.

The East German leader said that the financial loss suffered by his regime—30-billion marks—represented sums spent on training the young refugees before they fled to the West.

"West German concerns," he charged, "deliberately recruited our specialists so as to make our economic construction more difficult."

As for dependence on the Soviet Union, Ulbricht said East Germany, in liquidating fascism and monopoly capital, coincided with the interest of the Soviet Union in securing itself forever from attack by German militarists.

He added that the East German Reds had been able to crush their enemies because "the presence of the Soviet army deprived the class enemies of the possibility of resorting to measures of open terrorism."

Justesen Family Has A New Home

By PATRICIA MOORE

Reflector Staff Writer

WINTERVILLE—As the result of community effort, the Aage Justesen family has a new home today, with most of the necessary housekeeping items given by people of Winterville and Ayden.

The Justesens lost almost all their clothing and furniture as the result of fire yesterday morning, which left only the shell of the home they rented near here.

As word of the loss spread, an appeal for clothing and furniture was issued by both the Winterville Volunteer Fire Department and the Ayden Police Department. Today it was reported that quite a bit of food, clothing, bedding and some furniture, as well as an undetermined amount of money, has been collected for the Justesens and their four young sons.

Lloyd Worthington, Winterville fire chief, said "They have gotten about everything they need to begin housekeeping." However, it was learned there is still some need for lamps, bed clothes and the family needs two single mattresses for single beds.

Individuals, as well as the Winterville Machine Works, where Justesen is employed, have given to the family.

Worthington commented that the family seemed to be in mighty good spirits last night after they found out that folks had been so helpful.

The Justesens moved here in August from West Virginia. Justesen is a native of Denmark, having been a machinist in Copenhagen. He later went to South America where he met and married his wife. In 1958 they immigrated to the United States and West Virginia.

The Justesens are moving into the Sumrell house west of Ayden today, after spending last night with the Rev. Louis Aitken, Methodist minister in Ayden.

Limits Use Of Highway Plane

RALEIGH (AP) — Unless the Highway Commission votes otherwise, its members apparently will have to stop using the Highway Department plane to fly to and from meetings.

Highway Chairman Merrill Evans has written the commissioners that he thinks it would be best if the department's aerial photo plane were no longer used to transport the commissioners.

Members of the commission began receiving the letters Friday. On at least three occasions in the last six months the plane has been used to fly some commissioners to commission meetings and back to their homes. This drew some editorial criticism.

First Church of Christ, Scientist

Freedom from sin, sickness, and limitation is available to all through the power of Spirit, God. This is the encouraging message to be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Bible readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christian Science" will include (Matt. 9): "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people."

A correlative passage to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power. These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness, and death by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them. This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, whose law demands of us only what we can certainly fulfill." (p. 233)

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan

All About Town

With Anne Mattiox

Dr. and Mrs. John D. Messick, former Greenville residents, have been visiting in Greenville during the holidays with the John A. Messick. Also visiting in the Messick's home is Norval Messick of San Francisco, Calif.

The Messicks visited in New York and Washington prior to coming to Greenville. Mrs. Fred Willets, Jr. of Wilmington, daughter of the Messicks entertained Christmas day at a family affair. Joining the group were the J. Hyman Melvins of Raleigh. This was the first time in two years the family had been together. The Messicks left today for Raleigh where they will visit with friends prior to returning to Lyndonville, Vermont where Dr. Messick is Dean of Lyndonville Teachers College.

Mrs. Mary Pierce left Friday for her home in Skokie, Ill., after being the houseguest of the N. C. Pierces in Lakewood Pines.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Shelton and Miss Mary Jane Shelton of Boone have been visiting the past week with their daughter and sister Mrs. James Briley and her family at their home on Ragsdale Road.

Miss Elizabeth Tibbatts spent the Christmas holidays in Raleigh with a former Greenville resident, Mrs. T. K. Fountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Briley have had as their houseguest their daughter Mrs. J. L. Avery, the former Doris Briley of Silver Springs, Maryland and Mrs. George Ross of Robertsville.

This weekend will be the end of another year and the beginning of a new; and as is the custom parties are planned to welcome the New Year. In Lakewood Pines a party is held annually for the neighborhood. This year with the neighbors bringing hors d'oeuvres, they will gather at the home of the Wesley Crawleys for an evening of fun.

The Greenville Elks Lodge combined a Christmas and New Years Party at an affair Thursday evening. The party, held annually for members, started at 7:00 p.m. with a light buffet. From 9:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. there was dancing to the music of the Bluenotes.

The Greenville Golf and Country Club will have a roast beef buffet tonight and dancing by the "Juke Box." On Sunday the Club will have a light buffet and an orchestra for dancing with breakfast being served at 1:00 a.m. featuring country ham and all the trimmings.

Music by the Highlighters of Wilson will highlight the Moose Dance tonight at the Lodge. Dance time will be from 9:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. with breakfast being served at 1:00 a.m. On Sunday night, the lodge auditorium will be set up for dancing by the "Juke Box" from 10:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. with light refreshments being served.

Lt. and Mrs. James E. Phelps, Jr., spent the holidays with the senior Phelps. Lt. Phelps has just returned from a tour of duty in Formosa and has been assigned to Pope Air Force Base.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Watson entertained Friday evening at their home on West Fourth Street at six tables of bridge. The bridge party for couples has been held annually around Christmas time for the past 30 years. Attending the party were the S. L. Daughtridges of Raleigh, former Greenville residents. The Daughtridges are the houseguest this weekend in the home of the Howard Mims. The Mims have invited close friends of the Daughtridges to a party on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Sprull Spain have returned from Franklin, Tenn., where they spent the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Jenkins and children Carroll, Jr., Sudie Anne, and Drury. Mrs. Jenkins is the former Sudie May Spain of Greenville.

A "come as you are party" was attended this morning by approximately 20 party graduates of the class of 1961 at Rose High School. The party was given by Jean Trahey and Ruth Cotton Clark at Jean's home. Jean and Ruth went around and got the girls out of bed for coffee, hot chocolate and buns. The girls chatted prior to going back to their respective colleges after the holiday.

Cooking Is Fun

APPLE-PLUM GALETTE

1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup butter
1 egg
1-3 cup sugar
2 medium (½ pound) cooking apples
1 can (1 pound, 14 ounces) purple plums (thoroughly drained)
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
Sift together the flour and baking powder. Cream butter with a wooden spoon; blend in flour mixture. Beat egg until lemon-colored; gradually beat in sugar; continue beating until thick and ivory colored. Add beaten egg to butter mixture, blending with spoon or low speed of electric beater. Turn into a 9-inch pie plate; with a rubber spatula spread evenly over bottom and sides; refrigerate. Quarter apples, pare and core; slice very thin; turn into galette mixture in pie plate. Pit and halve plums; arrange skin side down over apples. Bake on low shelf of a hot (400 degrees) over 15 minutes; reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees) and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer. (Apples may be on the crisp side.) While hot sprinkle with confectioners' sugar; serve warm. ing water and salt just until tender; drain. In the clean dry saucepan melt butter over low heat; stir in flour. Add milk; cook and stir constantly until thickened. Off heat add the cheese and stir until combined. Add drained cauliflower and reheat but do not boil. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

DELMONICO PRUNES

1 package (1 pound) large prunes
½ cup sugar
1 cup dry red wine
½ stick cinnamon
2 bay leaves
Rind of 1 lemon (removed in long strips without white membrane)
Soak prunes in cold water to cover overnight; drain, placing prunes in a saucepan with the remaining ingredients. Boil gently about 20 to 30 minutes or until prunes are tender. Chill. Remove cinnamon and bay leaves. Serve with whipped cream or dessert topping.

New Year's Eve Fashions Will Cover Knee-Barley

By IRENE FERRIS

PARIS — (WNS) — The majority of New Year's eve skirts in Europe will still manage to cover the knee, according to surveys in seven countries.

But at least 5 per cent of the top female partygoers will greet 1962 with their knee caps exposed.

Three lengths predominate at shops and boutiques in France, Italy, Spain and Germany: long, long, short (covering the knee), and short short (above knee).

For the "revellion" (traditional midnight supper) in France, skirts will be 35 percent above the knee, 45 per cent just covering the knee, 15 per cent long, and 5 per cent ultra snob with irregular hemlines taking in all lengths at once.

Skirt hems in Italy on New Year's Eve will be 40 per cent long, 30 per cent covering the knee, 20 per cent exposing the knee and 10 per cent uneven.

Spain clings to formality. There dresses will be 60 per cent long, 35 per cent below-knee and 5 per cent undecided but perhaps above-knee.

The prognosis for West Germany skirts is more daring: 50 per cent above the knee, 45 per cent hiding the kneecap, and 5 per cent long.

In Switzerland, Belgium and Holland, shopkeepers report sales of New Year's dresses running to approximately 70 per cent short but covering the knee, 25 per cent long and 5 per cent above the knee.

As for the general fashion picture on the big holiday night, strapless gowns are obsolete. Plunging necklines are being reserved for cocktail wear rather than formal midnight celebrations.

Sumptuous fabrics are preferred to fancy trims or "busy" styling.

(Shoes will be satin and colored. Legs should look nude. Gloves will be long in pale kid leather or nylon satin. Sheer gold hose and very long gloves will also be seen.)

The preferred evening coat will be in satin or brocade, either plain or with black fox collar and cuffs. Nobody who can beg, borrow or buy a satin or brocade coat will be caught wearing a fur wrap.

A "tres snob" Paris impudence is to have an evening coat—short sleeves, glamor lining and all—made of black leather. Many Parisiennes will wear a Chanel-type suit in pastel and gold lame over an all-gold, shoulder-strap blouse.

A holiday sheath popular with the young set is of pale brocade with 1½-inch wide shoulder straps and a band of rich mink around the top. With these exceptions, the majority of female celebrants in France will wear black.

Italy will feature velvet and rich brocades in vibrant tones and combinations. Fashionable ladies in Spain will stick to lace, with white almost everybody's favorite. Germany is preparing for a little of everything, aiming to follow the fashions of France, Italy and America all at once.

Pastels are expected to predominate in Switzerland and Holland. White, black, beige and jewel tones, in that order, are most popular in Belgium.

Less jewelry will accompany New Year's gowns than is usually seen at a Saturday evening cocktail party. Only those who own the real stuff and are eager to get it out of the vault for an airing will break this pattern.

Modern Eye Beauty Recalls

By CATHARINE BREWSTER

NEW YORK — (WNS) — The taboo on make-up in the 19th century lasted so long that only now, in the middle of the 20th, are women beginning to return to beautifying the eyes.

Go back to ancient Egypt and we find that women depended heavily on eye make-up for allure. The Egyptian beauty framed her eyes completely with an antimony compound called kohl, sometimes darkening the eye area right up to the brows.

This effect has lately been seen again, inspired not by Cleopatra but by certain portraits painted in the 1920's by fashionable artist Kleebs Van Dongen. A year ago couturier Norman Norell had his mannequins made up with a kohl-like substance, and caused a sensation.

Heavy eye make-up has never ceased to be used in the Orient, for the good reason that women's faces are generally veiled. But in Europe, during the Middle Ages, when allure was regarded with puritanical disapproval, all eye make-up disappeared.

In fact, eyebrows and eyelashes were even removed entirely, to give the face a modest, becomingly chaste look. The hair was also concealed under headaddresses. Evidently women were credited with remarkable powers of seduction.

If they needed all that concealment.

With the Renaissance, the display of feminine charms returned as part of the general freedom of the period. Clothing followed the figure, and often revealed it in a way which would make our eyes pop. But the art of compounding make-up had for so long nearly disappeared that beyond rouge and powder, nothing existed for facial enhancement.

But feminine ingenuity triumphed. In Venice they invented the eye mask, a bit of embroidered velvet mounted on an elaborately decorated long handle. It was carried constantly, employed to call attention to the eyes as the focus of beauty.

By the 18th century, eye make-up had come back, along with all other kinds of make-up. At the French court both men and women of the nobility wore make-up.

The eyes, of course, had come back into full importance. Brows were shaved off to be penciled in high arches, and lashes were blackened. But the real rage was the beauty spot.

This was a little black sticking plaster piece, cut in various forms—from mere round dots to stars and tiny animal shapes. It was usually placed near the eyes, which were further accented by the dead white make-up used over the entire face.

The French Revolution temporarily killed make-up, but there was a brief revival during the Napoleonic period. Eyes then were accented by means of the hairdo, a gamine cut with points artfully falling over the forehead to the brows.

Since that period there has been little interest in eyes until the present. Now famous beauty authorities like Helena Rubinstein are having to teach women all over again how to care for their eyes and how to make them up.

"A special cream should be used for the delicate skin around eyes," Madame Rubinstein told me. "Pat it in, don't rub. Eyes should be rested, too, with herbal eye pads."

Madame Rubinstein advises women unused to using eye make-up to start with caution. Eyebrows can be tweezed to a cleaner shape, and lightly penciled if more emphasis is needed.

Mascara, when used in wand form, is easy to apply. For lid color, start with shades that blend with costume colors.

Apply eye make-up in a good north light if it is to be worn by day, under electric light for evening. More will naturally be needed for artificial lighting.

Two plastic bags of bread crumbs, one plain and one buttered will often hasten the preparation of the main dish for dinner. Keep in the freezer.

Could Profit By Changing Schedule

Considering the number of Tar Heel taxpayers who will receive refunds from the state for income tax payments this year, it appears that some adjustment might profitably be made by the state in the withholding rates now in effect for income tax collection.

It appears to us considerably out of balance when some 800,000 of the 1.3 million taxpayers of the state are slated for refunds at the end of the year on the amount of income taxes they have paid, and another 100,000 citizens will owe no income tax.

In addition to its normal record-keeping on taxpayers, the state has to go to the trouble and expense of writing refund checks to well over half of its taxpayers. This is a costly item which might be eliminated to a great degree with a more realistic deduction schedule for state income taxes collected through the withholding method.

The withholding method of collecting individual income taxes in North Carolina has become a permanent part of the state's fiscal structure simply because the state would find it impossible to get along for a year without this constant flow of revenue for its operations. The very fact that the first year the system was in effect the state collected two years' taxes in one—and spent the money for current operations—leaves no cushion to be used if the state would prefer to return to the old method of collecting individual income taxes.

In spite of this, it appears that adjustments are

Other Big '61 Stories In N.C.

By LYNN NISBET

BIG STORIES — Every year at about this time the big news services compile lists of important stories which have appeared during the year and give them priority ratings. The Associated Press puts its list of the sales tax on basic table foods as the No. 1 story, with defeat of the $61 million bond issues as a close runner up. The inauguration of Governor Terry Sanford rated tenth in the list. In between came such things as President Kennedy's visit to North Carolina, a Tar Heel girl being chosen Miss America, the Cutler trial at Charlotte, and the race violence at Monroe.

These incidents all occupied a lot of space in newspapers and a lot of time on radio and television. If that was the criterion by which the rating was made, perhaps the AP list will stand up. But it seems to this reporter that there were a number of other events of more significance than most of these.

Take the food sales tax, for example. Every Legislature since the 1933 session which enacted the first general sales tax law, has amended the law to some extent. Items have been exempted and included in the coverage of the law. The tax on food was not new. It had been in effect from 1933 until 1941. A much more significant action of the 1961 General Assembly was extending the sales tax to newspaper circulation distributed by newsboys and specifying that the tax should apply only if the newsboy merchant sold more than 1,000 papers a week.

That was an entirely new application of including some—but still not all—items of food in the coverage of the tax which had been nearly 30 years in effect on some food items.

DEAD WOOD — Another story which was not considered by the AP folks, but represents a new development in North Carolina political and governmental activity, was the almost frantic effort of some persons and some counties to get members appointed to a non-existent General Assembly. There is some question whether a member of the General Assembly can legally be sworn in when the Legislature is not in session, because of the constitutional provision that each branch of the Legislature shall have full control over the qualifications of its own members. Despite that question, and although there is nothing at all an unqualified member of the General Assembly can do when it is not in session, three or four counties made desperate and frantic efforts to get replacements for members of the Legislature who had died or resigned sworn in.

ELECTION — The AP news-men included the death of Lieutenant Governor Cloyd Philpott in the top ten stories. But they made no mention of what this reporter thinks is one of the big issues of the year—whether the vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor can be filled by election next year or if it must remain vacant until 1965. Philpott's death rated high priority because he was the first Lieutenant Governor in State history to die in office. Why should not the question of what happens to the office following his death be important? The refusal of the State Board of Elections to accept the filing fee of Max Thomas as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor is a bigger political story than extending the sales tax to some additional grocery items.

SENATOR ERVIN — Senator Sam Ervin gets credit for being the first candidate to file with the State Board of Elections for participation in the 1962 primaries, because the board declined to accept the filing proffered by Max Thomas for Lieutenant Governor. Whether Thomas can get in the primary is up to the courts for judicial interpretation of the constitution. Senator Ervin is already in, and apparently has a fairly clear road. Olla Ray Boyd, the Pine-town (Beaufort county) hog breeder and tree grower, who has been in previous primaries for Governor and Senator has announced he will oppose Ervin—but has not yet put up the filing fee. In several previous statewide votes Boyd's total was less than 6,000, so he does not worry the senator.

At one time it looked like that Sanford group might bring out a strong candidate against Senator Ervin. State Chairman Bert Bennett was often mentioned in that connection. At one time there was suggestion that Henry Hall Wilson of Monroe, now on the White House staff, would get in the running either against Senator Ervin or against Representative Paul Kitchin in the eighth district. That idea seems to have been abandoned. Chances are that Ervin will not have anything more than token or nuisance opposition in the primary. There is less prospect than seemed likely a few weeks ago that the Sanford group will back candidates in the congressional district races.

Looks now like they will devote attention to legislative tickets and leave the big offices for another time.

needed in withholding schedules that cause the state to collect more income tax than is due it from well over half of its taxpayers. If such adjustments were made, the state could save the cost of making year-end refunds to an estimated 800,000 citizens. The postage alone on that many refund checks amounts to some $32,000 not to mention the cost of computing the refunds, adjusting the revenue records and getting the checks ready to drop in the mail.

The Sanford administration, which has asserted it will make a diligent effort to find ways of reducing the cost of state operations, might well consider the elimination of such a large number of income tax refund checks as one method of achieving greater economy in state operations.

Might Well Attempt Extend Tourists' Stay

With more than 25 million out-of-state tourists visiting North Carolina this year, it is easy to see why interest in cashing in on tourist trade is increasing in communities all over the state.

It is also evident from the figures released by the Department of Conservation and Development that an increasing number of tourists—900,000 more this year than ever before—are being attracted to North Carolina. The fact that these tourists left behind them some $254 million provides another incentive for communities of the state to try to attract more of the tourists who are coming into the state.

Another significant factor pointed out by the C and D statistics is that the average out-of-state visitor to North Carolina this year spent two days in the state.

Most North Carolinians are well aware of the fact that only a small fraction of the tourist attractions of the state can be seen in a two-day period. It's a good two-day drive from one end of the state to the other and back with no time out for visiting interesting places.

While North Carolina is continuing its efforts to attract more tourists and tourist dollars to the state each year, perhaps greater attention should be given to enticing those tourists who do come to Tar Heel to extend their visits. If the average visit of the 25 million tourists could be increased even by one-half a day, many additional millions of dollars annually would be pumped into the economy of the state.

Troubles Beset Other People

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most comfortable feeling President Kennedy can have, as he heads into 1962 with all its troubles, is that other people have them, too. Practically everybody.

Like the Africans, for instance, and the Latins, the Asians, Premier Khrushchev, the United Nations, Congress, the Republicans, and the rest of the Democrats, the high tariff people and the low tariff people.

He'll have budget troubles in 1962, and employment troubles, and troubles with foreign aid and foreign allies, not to speak of foreign foes, and it's a lead-pipe pinch Fidel Castro, won't contribute to his peace of mind.

And near the end of 1962, in addition to all else, Kennedy must work overtime trying in the November elections to help his Democrats keep control of Congress, for their sake and his sake, too.

All this year, perhaps because he had won the presidency by such a narrow squeak and the Democrats, control of Congress was by a narrow margin, he acted like a man who hesitated to push his luck too hard.

He'll have that same problem next year. But if the Republicans are boss of Congress in 1963 and 1964 Kennedy's last two White House years will be even more rugged and affect his own chances for re-election.

And he probably can't even guess what Khrushchev is going to be up to in 1962. But it's not a one-way street and the Russian, who acts like a man who took a course in how to be self-confident, has worries.

Khrushchev could start a war he doesn't want if he guesses wrong in pushing Kennedy. Besides, the premier has trouble in his own camp even though some of it looks ludicrous.

For tiny Albania to defy Russia is like a gnat trying to demolish an elephant with a beer bottle. This wouldn't mean much except that Red China and Russia seem to be using Albania as a substitute.

What Albania says about Russia is supposed to be really what Red China is saying about Russia. And what Russia says about Albania is what Russia is supposed to be really saying about Red China.

It's like watching a man and a little boy looked up at his mother with shining eyes and said, "I smiled at God today and He smiled back at me." This may, indeed, have involved something supernatural, for children in their simplicity and trust often have a way of seeing things to which our old eyes are blind. More probably it was a very satisfying conviction on the youngster's part that he and God were on good terms, pals as it were, and that he walked day by day in the light of God's beneficent smile. Some of our Lord's most precious words had to do with children. They can be little devils at times, as every parent knows, but they also have about them qualities which caused Jesus to say, "Of such are the kingdom of heaven."

wife, who can't get along but are too prissy to call each other names directly, talking to each other by talking to their daughter while all three are in the same room.

If this sounds ridiculous it's no more ridiculous than some of the performances of the United Nations, which, by the way, won't be the least of Kennedy's problems.

In this world organization, which is supposed to be working for the good of mankind, 82 of the 104 nation members are seriously behind in their financial contributions.

And in this international grouping, dedicated to maintaining the peace, four of the 11 nations on the Security Council—Russia, Egypt, Ceylon and Liberia—opposed a resolution condemning India for its outright attack against Portuguese Goa.

One of Kennedy's meanest headaches in the year ahead will be trying to persuade Congress—which has plenty of high tariff people—to lower tariffs for the sake of better foreign trade.

Right now, because of the pierce task he faces on this issue alone, Kennedy himself probably wouldn't bet he'll get his low tariff program through Congress in 1962.

Because the world gets more complex every day, more and more one year in the life of a president is beginning to look like a fever chart in a hospital that just ran out of ice.

CHILDREN SEE TRUTH

Retiring Executive Cleans Out His Desk

By ALVIN TAYLOR

Tales In A News Letter

Found this interesting fact in the "Virginia Traffic Safety News": In 1904 there were only two cars registered in Kansas City. These managed to collide head-on.

Strange part about it is, this seems to have caught on. Cars have been doing it ever since.

This same publication also reports that two teen-age boys in North Carolina were disturbed when drivers continued to speed along a stretch of narrow country road, they used. The problem was solved and traffic brought to a crawl when the boys posted a sign. It read: "Nudist Colony."

One other story from this news letter:

In Ontario, a driver and his passenger were killed in a crash. The driver's age was 71. His passenger was his father, age 103.

Elsewhere in today's paper appears the results of a poll of Reflector staffers choosing the top stories of the year.

This is an old game among newspapermen. Wire services poll editors for the top stories in the nation. They do the same thing among state editors for outstanding news on the state level. And, of course, most papers pick the top stories in their circulation areas.

As might be expected, no two ballots agreed right down the list.

But the news room personnel were in complete agreement on the number one story of the year. Every ballot placed the urban renewal-public housing referendum in the top position.

Of course, some readers will disagree with this number one choice. But there is no doubt that the urban renewal issue consumed more of local citizens' time and efforts than any issue for many a year.

Regardless of how one might feel about the specific issue it appears that it was good for the city. For consequently there has been more interest in city government as a whole than there has been at times. And when this happens in any town, it is good.

It seems rather trite to say it, but it is that time of year and your columnist means it: Happy New Year to all our readers!

Other Editors Saying ... Grass Roots Opinion

(Washington Daily News)

When we talk of revamping the Democratic party in North Carolina, we ought at that moment to give more consideration to what the people on the grass roots level are thinking.

The Democratic party should not be the party of the leaders. It should not be the party where only a handful of people direct its policies according to their own wishes. It must, by necessity, be a party where grass roots opinion is uppermost in the determination of policies.

How often is either political party today trying to find out what the grass roots opinion really is? We just wonder how that question would be answered.

Go out to a country store one evening, and the observer will find many questions and answers which might be surprising. The man on the street and the man on the farm today knows what is going on in the state and world much better than so many people are realizing.

The grass roots opinion today in this area, we feel, will say that the tax burden is so oppressive that any candidate advocating tax increases for any purpose will find a deaf ear among the people. The grass roots opinion, along the same line, will say that any man standing up for some tax relief in any form will find a most attentive ear.

The grass roots opinion will say that the food tax particularly is unpopular. The grass roots opinion will also indicate to us that many people feel that we are not practicing economy enough in government.

Grass roots opinion will indicate that too many candidates for office, when elected, forget what they stood for when the campaign was in progress. Grass roots opinion, we feel, will indicate that office holders on an elective basis are not staying close enough to the people.

In short, grass roots opinion today indicates that a great deal of dissatisfaction is in evidence. It is realized that no one man can hold office and satisfy all the people. It is realized that so many diversified problems arise which necessitate immediate action before public opinion can be sounded that any office holder is on the spot.

But somehow, the feeling seems to prevail that too many office holders just do not care what the little people think. This is a bad indictment of political office holders. If the Democratic party today can go back to a worn and trite expression and actually "give the party back to the people," a lot of eyes will be opened.

The day of political dictators is gone. It seems on the grass roots level that about everybody recognizes that fact except the would-be political dictators.

It is good to see that steps are being taken to make the Democratic party the organization it ought to be. But we can talk, plan, and change all we wish, but until we realize that the greatest challenge today will be met only when we look at and heed the grass roots opinion, then we will not have accomplished in deeds what we proclaim with words.

Cheap Color TV Sets Are Ahead

By ELMER ROESSNER

Here are more look-a-heads in business, based on analyses of developing trends and sparked with a few bits of advance information:

$300 Color TV: In 1962, a Japanese color television receiver will be introduced on the American market at around $300. It will use American-developed circuits.

Food surplus: Still higher farm surpluses are certain this year. No Kennedy magic can lick it.

Higher highway taxes: States, pushed for funds to maintain highways in face of rising labor and material costs, will soon be raising levies on users, especially truckers. In addition, gas taxes will rise in about a dozen states. Federal levies will probably remain as are.

Plastic plumbing coming: First all-plastic plumbing in houses will be available in 1962. However, building codes will bar economies from home builders in many localities and keep metal-type plumbers in clover.

More pay rises: Existing contracts provide for escalation of pay for 2,000,000 workers in 1962, and when they get the boosts all other workers will want the same. Existing contracts today will be met only when we look at and heed the grass roots opinion, then we will not have accomplished in deeds what we proclaim with words.

Losing race: Government spending will increase in 1962, as even we in the fifth grade know. Because of the acceleration of business, government tax collections will also rise. But the tax rise will be less than the spending rise, meaning a fatter deficit.

Higher silver prices: The price of silver, now a few cents over $1 an ounce, will yank higher in the next few weeks, and then level off. When the leveling-off signs appear, there will be an outflow of hoarded silver from Europe and Asia.

COPPER TO COST MORE
Copper rise: Fighting in the Congo is reducing the Africa supply of the metal, and it will tend to push up prices. The push will not be high, however, because even a little rise will stimulate production in South America, and a little more rise will increase the American output.

Cheaper lead: International disturbances will not affect the price of lead. It is in oversupply at present and weakening, rather than strengthening, of prices is ahead.

Small rise in tobacco exports: The world is smoking more because (1) there are more people and (2) more people have more money for a bit of smoke. However, U. S. tobacco exports will increase only slightly, largely because most tobacco-burning countries are increasing their own production.

Tin: Consumption now appears to be ahead of production. This may portend a slight price rise. If more than slight, the government will be pressured into releasing some from its stockpile.

UN Is Being Blamed

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

In the current troubles which face the United Nations, none is more disturbing than the case of General Edwin A. Walker who has resigned from the American Army and blames the United Nations for his plight.

This comes at a time when Nehru has kicked the United Nations in, partly unmentionable and left it lying bruised and weeping. General Walker, before the Nehru occurrence, said: "Today, our relation and subordination to the United Nations puts every man signing the oath under a double standard. We are sworn to defend America but have to abide by UN decisions. Under these conditions, the oath becomes falsified and fictitious. I could no longer serve in uniform and be a collaborator with this release of our sovereignty to the UN."

This is entirely a new issue. It was assumed that the Pentagon sought to discipline General Walker because he had used permissible military indoctrination to advocate unpermissible domestic politics. On this issue men differed and Congress was to hold a hearing. But General Walker in this statement raises altogether different issues, for his accusation is that he, an American general with a notable record, was punished because the United Nations desired his punishment; that he could not reconcile his moral obligations to the United States with the demands of the United Nations. In effect, the strongest view of this statement that can be taken is that the United Nations expects the American general to betray his own country. General Walker states this in his own words, thus:

"I was not able to continue in the military service with a General's command responsibility since I could make no compromise with the training included in the oath of office. Censorship had prevented me from giving my troops the training that I was responsible for."

General Walker further said: "There is a continuous program every night from Moscow, in English, directed at our troops. Her propaganda is immoral, unscrupulous, corrupt and destructive. My responsibilities for training included in the oath, this the Overseas Weekly, and other harmful images of our country and way of life."

Most of us know nothing about this. When the Nazi or the Japanese conducted anti-American propaganda by radio to our troops, we knew all about it and articles appeared in our newspapers telling the American people about it. But there has been silence about "Moscow Molly" just as there is silence about most things anti-American that the Russians do. For some reason, our government finds it necessary and wise to protect Soviet Russia despite its outrageous conduct. Why are we not informed about "Moscow Molly"? Why is our press silent on the subject? Why is not government propaganda aimed to silence her? Why does the news item from Dallas, Texas, which should have come to us from Washington, or Berlin or Moscow? Our reporters have become diplomats. It is time that employees of the American people ceased to protect the Russian intrigue against the United States.

It would seem that is policy of our government and has been since Franklin D. Roosevelt recognized Soviet Russia—to keep from our people the truth about Russia lest our anger grow so violent that it make peaceful negotiations impossible. The virtue of such a policy is obviously the desire to prevent war, to maintain peace, to wait for the inevitable day when negotiation must come. On the other hand, it has given to Soviet Russia the tremendous advantage of time and opportunity which the Kremlin has understood and not neglected. This has cost us dearly.

Elon Wins Tourney

EC Pirates Down Bethel College

CAMP LEJEUNE — East Carolina came out on top last night over Bethel College 60-52 for third place in the fourth annual Camp Lejeune Christmas Tournament.

The win was the second for Coach Earl Smith's Pirates in the three-day tourney. In the first round they defeated Camp Lejeune 100-75 and the next night they lost to Elon 84-61.

The first half of the game last night was a possession type ball game on the part of Bethel. They jumped off to an early lead and built up the margin to 12 points with four minutes to go in the first half.

Pirates Cut Lead

Then the Pirates cut the lead to eight points on field goals by Danny Bowen and Billy Brogden. The halftime score was 38-30 in favor of Bethel.

However, the second stanza was a different story with both teams opening up with a lot more action. East Carolina took the lead for the first time with 14 minutes remaining in the contest on a basket by Bill Otte which made the score 41-40.

The lead then changed hands six times until the score was finally tied at 48-48 when Russell Knowles sank a free throw to tie it with nine minutes left in the game.

Lead Changes Hands

From this point on the lead continued to change hands until Billy Brogden came up with a three point play which put the Pirates back in front 51-50.

Gene Bone, Bethel forward, scored a field goal to put Bethel out in front again 52-51 with four minutes and 20 seconds remaining on the clock.

Two jump shots by Bowen moved the Bucs back in front to stay at 55-52. Rounding out the scoring for the Pirates were Danny Bowen with two free throws and Bill Otte with one free throw.

The final touch was added by Bowen with a field goal to win the game for East Carolina 60-52.

In the last 30 minutes of the game East Carolina managed to hold Bethel to only eight field goals. However, both teams went scoreless for five minutes in the second half. Bethel only scored 14 points the entire second half.

Bowen High Scorer

Topping the scoring column for East Carolina was sophomore Danny Bowen with 18 points. He was followed by Benny Bowes and Billy Brogden with 11 points each. The high scorer for Bethel was Larry Harper with 20 points. The only other Bethel player to hit in the double figures was Jimmy Webb with 12 points.

In other games last night Elon's surprising Christians, a young team sparked by Dewey Andrew, a 6-foot 6-inch junior from Snow Camp, came through like veterans to win the tournament.

They defeated defending champion Pikeville by a score of 79-70 in the title match last night. In addition to the championship, Andrew was named the most valuable player of the tournament by the coaches.

The Christians now boast a 10-2 overall record. Two juniors, two sophomores and a freshman make up the starting team.

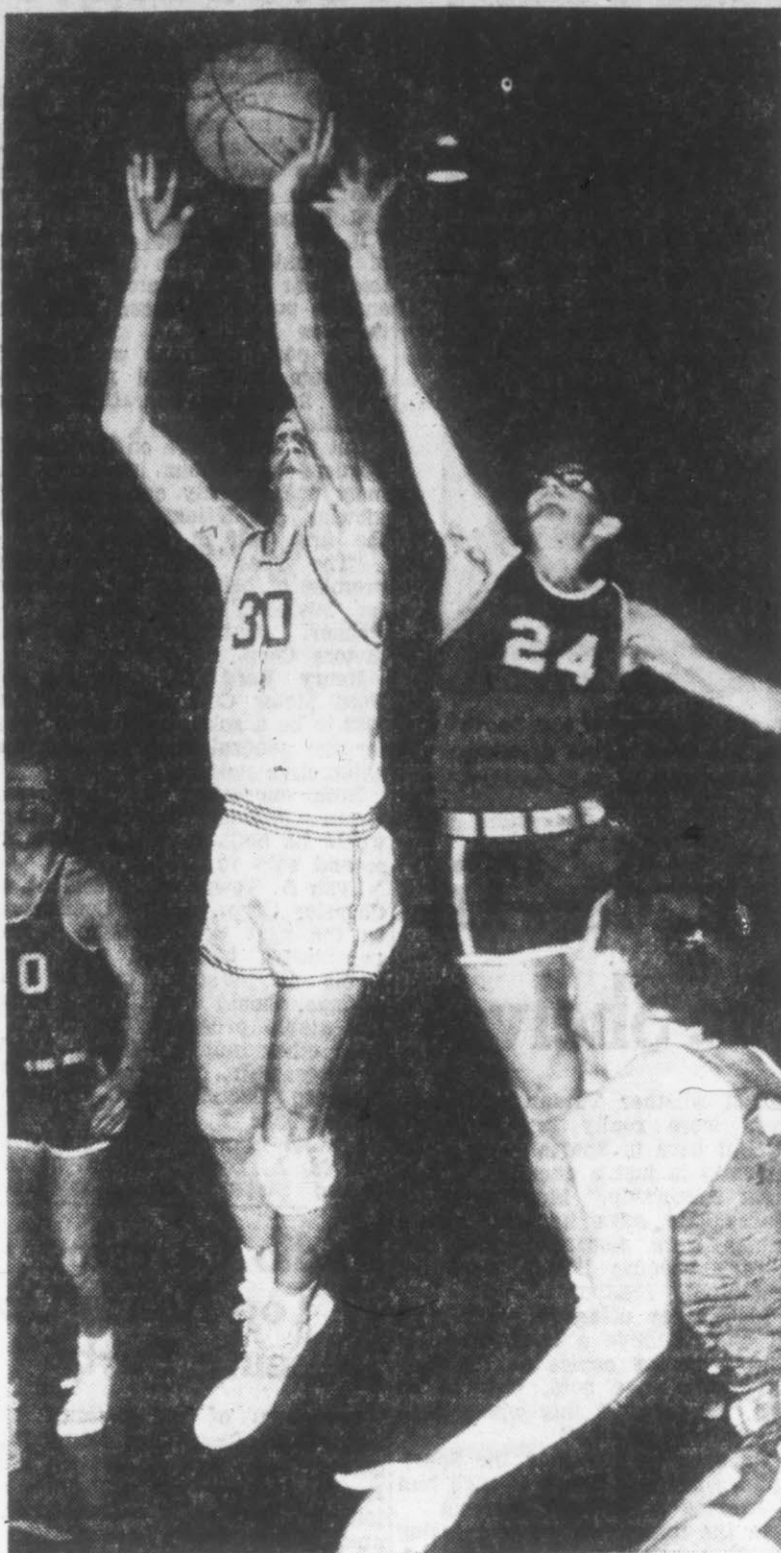

Elon rolled to a 29-24 lead at halftime, and then held off the battling Pikeville club in the second half. Pikeville was never able to catch up, but closed the gap to four points at one time.

Freshman Jesse Branson paced Elon with 25 points and Andrew had 24. Pikeville's Jim Moore was high scorer with 27 points.

Phantoms Defeated By Cyclones 61-59

The Rose High Phantoms suffered their fourth straight non-conference loss of the season last night at the hands of the Wilson-Cyclones by a score of 61-59.

The last five minutes of the contest proved to be exciting for all, as Greenville moved back into the lead for the first since the first period of the game. The Phantoms took the lead in the first minute of the game and increased it to as much as five points before the visitors began to catch up.

Tied At 12-12

When the horn sounded ending the first quarter, the Wilson five had tied the game at 12-12 and during the next two stanzas the Cyclones managed to pull ahead with as much as a seven point spread.

The Phantoms were able to tie the score for the first time with about seven minutes left on the clock when Kenneth Allen hit a field goal making the score 47-47. About a minute later Allen had a chance to push the Phantoms out in front with a one-and-one situation, but he failed and Wilson hit a field goal to move ahead 49-47.

With the Cyclones back in front, Richard Taft and Allen both had chances at the free throw line, but neither could hit and Wilson remained in front.

Phantoms Move Ahead

With five minutes left in the game, Allen hit two free throws which put the Phantoms ahead by one point, 51-50. Wilson then took the lead at 52-51 and Rodney Knowles hit two from the free throw line for the Phantoms to put them back in front. However, the Cyclones wasted no time in gaining the lead again and moved ahead for a five point margin at 55-60.

The Greenville-boys managed to catch up to 59-61 with four seconds left on the clock. However, a long shot with one second remaining failed and it was Wilson's game.

The high scorer of the night for Wilson was Howard Edwards with 25 points. He had eight field goals and hit nine from the line. Others hitting in the double figures for Wilson were John Titchener with 18 and Jimmy Schackleford with 11 points.

Allen Is High

Topping the scoring column for the Phantoms was Kenneth Allen with 20 points. He was followed by Rodney Knowles with 18 points. They were the only Greenville players to hit in the double figures.

Two Greenville players, Billy James and Jack Foley, fouled out during the third-quarter. Foley went out with about two minutes left in the quarter and James went out with about five minutes left.

Wilson Wins JV Game

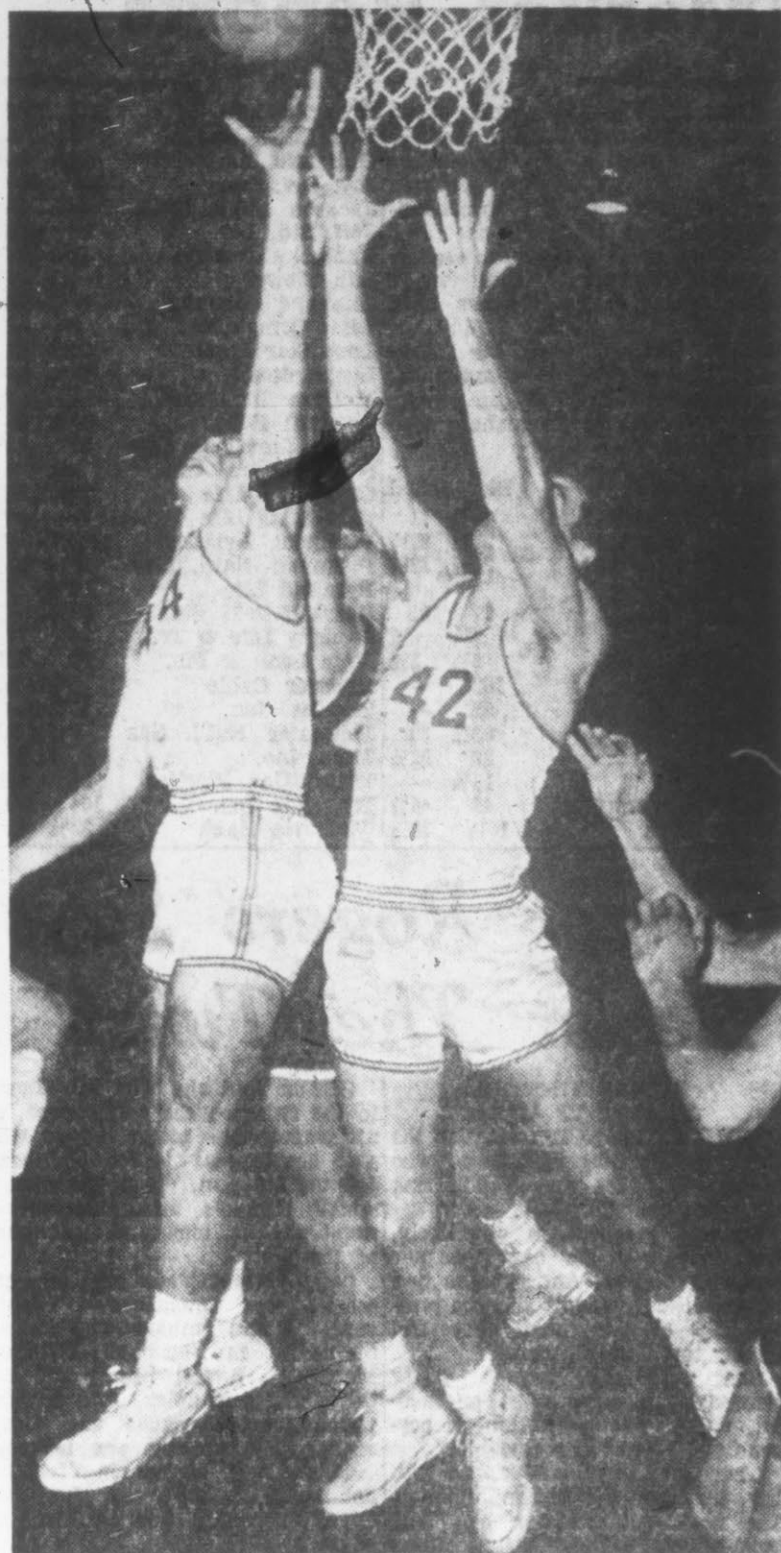

Wilson also won the junior varsity contest earlier in the night. The Cyclones came out on top by a score of 57-37.

Topping the scoring column in the junior varsity game for Wilson was B. Simons with 14 points. He hit four field goals and six from the line. The next high man for the Cyclones was D. Johnson with 11 points. The high scorer for Greenville was Sonny Taylor with 10 points. He was followed by Charles Vincent with six points.

The junior Phants were playing without the services of Chester Walden who has been their high scorer this season.

Perhaps Sifford Will Play Better

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
The Professional Golfers' Association next year will include the name of Charley Sifford in its Tournament Player Catalog. It may not sound important to most people because Sifford is no Johnny-come-lately. He's 43 and has been a pro since 1947.

It's important to Sifford, though, to get into that book because he will become the first Negro to make it. He started the PGA tour in 1951 and still needs three more years to become a Class A player like the Palmers, Seacreds and Hogans. At present Sifford is an approved PGA man. Since the PGA dropped its racial bars last spring, Sifford has been eligible to play qualifying rounds in all PGA cosponsored events.

CHARLEY SIFFORD . . . not enough 65s

"It's been a long, hard road. It's been tough," Sifford says

Va. Tech Downs Florida 79-73

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Gator Bowl basketball championship was on Virginia Tech's traveling itinerary and the Gobblers were only 15 minutes late in collecting their prize — to the amazement of almost everyone else.

As Virginia Tech Coach Chuck Noe put it, "the underdog won every game in this tournament." He produced his traveling itinerary and prominent on it was the line: "Friday, Dec. 29, 11 p.m., accept championship trophy."

With seven sophomores on the 12-man squad, Virginia Tech whipped Florida 78-69 in the title game Friday night on top of a tremendous comeback from 17 points behind to a 79-73 win over Vanderbilt a night earlier.

Vanderbilt took the consolation over defending champion Navy, 77-74.

PROTESTOR TO DIE

BERLIN (AP) — An East German court has sentenced a 50-year-old farm worker to death for setting fire to two barns on a collective farm because he hated the Communist regime.

Vester R. (Tennessee) Wright led the nation's thoroughbred trainers in 1961. He had 170 winners the first 61 months.

without elaborating. "The last two years weren't too bad. I finished 51st in money won in 1960 with $6,923. Almost half of that came from the Orange County Open at Costa Mesa, Calif., where I finished second. I lost by one shot to Billy Casper and got $1,300.

"This year I tied for the lead in the Tucson Open and finished tied for fourth with Art Wall. After shooting 69-66-65 I had my bad round the final day, a 71.

"Had a chance at Palm Springs, Calif., and in the Lucky International at San Francisco, both times shooting 65s in the opening round. But I just didn't get enough 65s."

Sifford, who often plays with a cigar in his mouth to relieve tension, lives in Los Angeles but is connected with a golf club maker in Melrose Park, Ill. The latter helps Sifford on tour since it costs almost $200 a week to compete with the big boys.

Sifford's ambition? He has been in three U.S. Opens. In 1950 he failed to make the final 36 holes at Merion outside Philadelphia. In 1959 at Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N. Y., he tied for 32nd with a 299 and received $240. In 1960 at Cherry Hills, Denver, he tied for 46th with 297 and got $260.

May be 1962 will be his year.

Gator Bowl Has Record Crowd

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The 17th annual Gator Bowl game between Penn State and Georgia Tech today is a record breaker and a far cry from the beginner back on Jan. 1, 1946.

Today's crowd of 50,000 reflects the hard work and perseverance of nearly 100 civic-minded Jacksonville men who have built the game steadily from that first game, which attracted 7,362 persons to see Wake Forest defeat South Carolina 26-14.

The city-owned stadium has been virtually rebuilt once and enlarged twice since then. With the latest addition ready for last year's game, a record 44,783 paid attendance saw Florida edge Baylor 13-12 in a thriller. Each team took nearly $100,000 home from that one and the participants in today's game will get more than that.

A Southeastern Conference team has played in the Gator Bowl consistently since the eighth annual game on Jan. 1, 1953.

This is Georgia Tech's third appearance and Penn State's first.

The New York Yankees and New York Mets will meet only twice during 1962. They play spring exhibition games on March 22 in St. Petersburg and March 27 at Fort Lauderdale. There's little chance they will meet in the 1962 World Series.

Wake Forest, Duke Meet Tonight In Extra Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wake Forest basketball Coach Bones McKinney will find out tonight whether the holiday layoff helped his team.

The defending Atlantic Coast Conference champions—who have lost three of their last four games—collide with tenth-ranked Duke at Greensboro, N.C. A capacity crowd of 9,047 is expected to see the game.

Wake Forest—ranked third in the nation in the pre-season basketball poll—takes a disappointing 3-3 record into the game, compared with Duke's 7-1 record. The Blue Devils have lost only to Duquesne.

The game also brings together the ACC's leading scorers and rebounders, Art Heyman of Duke and Len Chappell of Wake Forest. Heyman has a 27.3 scoring average, good enough for eighth place among the nation's college players, and is averaging 13.5 rebounds a game.

Chappell is second in the conference in scoring with a 24.7 average and is averaging 13 rebounds a game.

The game, arranged after the demise of the Dixie Classic, will not count in the ACC standings. The teams still have their home-and-home games to play.

Meanwhile, only one of the three ACC teams involved in holiday tournaments came up a winner Friday night. South Carolina defeated Hamline 80-77 in a semifinal game of the Gulf South Classic.

Clemson lost to Arkansas 62-60 in the first round of the Pointsettia tourney at Greenville, S.C., and Maryland was beaten by Mississippi State 64-62 in the first round of the Sugar Bowl tourney. South Carolina, defending Gulf South Classic champion, got a 24-point performance from Art Whisnant, and teammate Scott Ward scored 22. The Gamecocks meet Centenary tonight for the title. Centenary beat Mississippi Southern 73-66 in the semifinals.

Arkansas scored the winning goal with 1:40 left to play, and both the Razorbacks and the Clemson Tigers missed scoring opportunities in the remaining time. Clemson's Jim Brennan was the game's high scorer with 24 points. Clemson plays Furman tonight in a consolation match. Furman lost 72-65 to Georgia Tech in the other first-round game of the Pointsettia tourney.

Clemson's record now is 4-3 over-all.

Mississippi State's W. C. Stroud scored with three seconds to play to lift his club to his narrow victory over Maryland. The Terps meet Louisville in the consolation game tonight. Louisville lost, 84-70, to LSU in the first round.

Jerry Greenspan was Maryland's leading scorer with 20 points.

Maryland now has a 3-4 over-all record.

Brennan Leads Belmont To Win

NEW YORK (AP). — Belmont Abbey's Bernie Brennan scored five straight free throws in the last three minutes to give his club a 73-67 victory over New York Athletic Club Friday night in the title game of the Winged Foot Christmas Basketball Festival.

The New York A.C. narrowed the margin to 66-64 with three minutes left, but Brennan's free-throw shooting sealed the victory. Brennan finished with 16 points and was voted most valuable player of the tournament.

Gastonia Winning Streak Nipped

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Gastonia's 34-game winning streak was nipped Friday night as Atlanta scored a 7-6 victory in the Little Lions Bowl football game matching the two Pop Warner League teams.

Halfback Corkey Smith scored for Gastonia in the second period on a one-yard plunge. A run for the extra point failed.

The Atlanta team scored in the third period and the run for the extra point proved the difference.

Ginger Rogers Says 'Resist The Twist'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Resist the twist, urges Ginger Rogers, who hopes the dance mania will ring out with the old year.

Such a prospect is not likely, but at least Ginger can raise her voice in dissent. And who is better qualified? Wasn't she the better half of the most successful dance team of all time?

She puts her protest pretty strongly: "The twist is ungraceful, vulgar and exhibitionist personified. I think it's terrible."

There are those who agree with her, but they are in the minority. The rest of the nation has gone twist-nutty. Three feature films on the craze are flooding the theaters. The ailing night club industry has taken a twist for the better and is staging a comeback with the new dance.

"I think it's a scandal," Ginger reiterates. "It is the most obscene dance I've ever seen, worse than the shimmy ever was. If people realized how bad they looked while doing the twist, they would not do it."

U.S. Questions Tshombe Charge Against Gullion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States says Katanga President Moise Tshombe's charges of interference against U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion are untrue and may be propaganda to justify a repudiation of the Congo peace agreement.

In a telegram to President Kennedy, Tshombe accused Gullion of interfering in the Congo talks and of urging the United Nations to resume military action against Katanga.

At a news conference Friday, State Department press officer Lincoln White read a reply that he said was being issued with the full knowledge of Kennedy.

The State Department statement reaffirmed U.S. confidence in Gullion and called on Tshombe to carry out the agreement made Dec. 21 at Kitona between him and Congo Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula.

The U.S. statement said in part: "Ambassador Gullion was involved in the Kitona talks because Mr. Tshombe appealed to President Kennedy to help halt the fighting in Katanga and arrange a meeting between Mr. Tshombe and Prime Minister Adoula."

"Because Mr. Tshombe asked for an American guarantee of his personal security in addition to guarantees given by the United Nations, the ambassador escorted Mr. Tshombe to and from Kitona and remained there during the talks."

"At no time did Ambassador Gullion interfere in the negotiations. The charge that Ambassador Gullion has urged further U.N. military action against Katanga is absurd."

"We hope that false charges against Ambassador Gullion are part of a propaganda campaign designed to justify denunciation of the Kitona agreement."

Officials Open Another Grave

GREENSBORO (AP)—Another of the 20 shallow graves found near here Dec. 18 has been opened, authorities reported Friday.

The graves, found by hunters, contained the bodies of infants. One grave had been opened by animals, and others had previously been opened by vandals. The latest incident occurred Thursday night.

A dilapidated house near the graves was destroyed by fire Thursday night. Household goods stored in the house also was burned.

Solicitor Edward Washington said Friday the problem of what to do about the graves "boils down to a local responsibility." He made the comment after conferring with Atty. Gen. Wade Bruns.

Washington said the investigation will continue.

The graves were found on the tract where a small foreign car was discovered half buried. N. Everett Hargett Jr., operator of a funeral home here, was arrested after the car was found, and was charged with giving false report of a stolen car and with making false statements to recover insurance on the car.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The FBI today arrested Lacy Edward Dowdy, 24, of Englewood, as a parole violator from North Carolina.

R. W. Bachman, special agent in charge of the FBI's Newark office, said the arrest was made on a parole violator warrant issued by U.S. District Court, Greensboro, N.C., in September of 1959.

Dowdy had been convicted of falsifying government checks. He received three years probation to commence on conclusion of a sentence being served at that time in the North Carolina State Prison.

Dowdy is married and resided with his wife and three children in Englewood address, the FBI said.

No Library Funds 'Til Tarzan On The Shelves

SPARTANBURG (AP)—The publisher's announcement that Tarzan and Jane were united in holy wedlock comes as no surprise to State Rep. Paul S. McChesney.

McChesney is battling to get the Tarzan books put back in the Spartanburg County Library, and brushes off the question of Tarzan's and Jane's marriage as inconsequential.

"Every Tarzan fan knew that," said McChesney, an avid reader of Tarzan during his early boyhood.

Tarzan has disappeared from shelves of a library in California and from the Spartanburg library. In California, the question was

'McCarthyism' Definition Hit

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A Wisconsin lawmaker says a new definition of McCarthyism "is slanted and an example of what disturbs people about the books in our schools."

The definition was defended by a spokesman for the publishers of the new book. He said usage dictates which words should be added and their meaning.

The criticism was expressed in an interview by Republican Assemblyman Russell Olson. He is one of three Republican members of Wisconsin's Lower House seeking an investigation of the state's school books. Olson represents the Twin Lake area, divided in a controversy over introduction of the 1979 edition of the McGuffey Reader into the elementary school there.

Olson aimed his remarks at the definition in Webster's third new International Dictionary, published by C. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.

The definition notes that the term stems from the activities of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., and continues:

"McCarthyism. A political attitude of mid-twentieth century closely allied to know-nothingism and characterized chiefly by opposition to elements held to be subversive and by the use of tactics involving personal attacks on individuals by means of widely publicized indiscriminate allegations, esp., on the basis of unsubstantiated charges."

Harris Adriance, advertising manager for Merriam, said the definition was based on information from the publishing company's clip files, which show how often and just how the word was used.

Mississippi Has Negro Candidate

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A Mississippi Negro has actively begun his campaign for Congress, urging everyone to register and vote.

Robert L. T. Smith, 59, the first Negro candidate in the state since Reconstruction, said Friday night he would push for measures that would bring the state from the "bottom of the heap" in education and per capita income.

A retired postal worker and father of 11, Smith told a local television audience to "register immediately and from then on to keep voting."

He opposes Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., in the June primary.

Economic Machine Slated Hit High Gear During 1962

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The economic machine idled between holidays during the week but indications were that it would go into high gear when the starter's flag drops on 1962.

It had pulled out of the mire of recession in the last half of this year and seemed to have enough power to speed well into the new year.

The post-Christmas week found the automobile, steel and many other industries operating at a curtailed rate.

But all eyes were on the future. Leaders in various industries almost unanimously came out with glowing predictions for at least the first half of 1962.

The year 1962 gives every promise of being an excellent one for business," said Frederic G. Donner, chairman of General Motors Corp.

Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., said, "I expect 1962 to be a solid, prosperous year for the general economy and the automotive industry."

Both expressed optimism that seven million passenger cars would be built in 1962, making it second only to 1955.

Lynn A. Townsend, president of Chrysler Corp., said: "Confidence on the part of businessmen and consumers, combined with high levels of personal income and savings, should result in sustained and stable prosperity in 1962."

On other industry fronts, Mark W. Cresap Jr., president of Westinghouse Electric Corp., predicted an increase in business for the electrical manufacturing industry, and M. L. Dye, president of the United States Savings & Loan League, forecast an increase in housing starts in 1962 over 1961.

With plants closed Monday and Saturday, auto production skidded to an estimated 103,000 passenger cars during the week, compared with 149,285 the previous week and 86,573 a year ago. Output for the year was estimated at 5,515,000, compared with 6,696,108 in 1960.

Chrysler displayed in New York City a turbine-powered car it said could use almost any liquid fuel. It plans to make about 50 or 75 available to selected customers for final tests in 1963.

Steel production tapered off after having reached a 20-month high of 2,225,000 tons during the week. The operating rate was estimated at 77 per cent of capacity.

Demand for steel was reported broadening and the supply was beginning to tighten.

An industry publication predicted 1962 production of 110 million tons, up from the 1961 total of 97 million to 98 million. It said as much as 65 million tons might be turned out in the first half to satisfy orders from users building up stockpiles as a hedge against a possible strike.

Merchants were rejoicing over what was generally agreed to be the greatest Christmas shopping season on record.

Four big Chicago mail order firms issued their spring and summer catalogues and prices were much the same as consumers paid this year.

The Commerce Department estimated construction expenditures this year at a record $57.5 billion, up 3 per cent from 1960 and 2 per cent above the previous high of 1959.

The National Association of Security Dealers warned brokerage firms against arranging excessive compensation for selling the stocks of new companies. It indicated that violators would face expulsion, which would put them out of business.

The New York Stock Exchange expressed support of the NASD's statement.

Stock shares sold during the week totaled 17,252,520 shares, compared with 17,716,070 for the previous week and 16,537,084 for the comparable 1960 week. Bond sales amounted to $27,477,000 compared with $30,642,000 the previous week and $26,732,000 for the comparable week of last year.

Briefly around the business scene: The 102-story Empire State Building in New York City was bought by Prudential Insurance Co. in a $65 million transaction.

Every person in the United States had an average of 520 telephone conversations in 1960, American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reports. Trading on the American Stock Exchange this year exceeded the record 479,140,375 of 1959.

Urban Renewal - Top Story Of '61

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector City Editor

member's list.

It was the only story which ranked so uniformly on each list as news personnel chose the top ten stories, but other events ran strong.

The staffers placed the momentous task of raising more than a quarter million dollars for the James S. Ficklen Memorial Stadium in second place.

Third most important story, in the newsmen's opinions, was the robbery of Wachovia's West End Branch. Approval of industrial school bonds and subsequent initiation of construction placed fourth and the record prices paid this year for tobacco was fifth.

Other stories in order were: ditch cave-in kills three on Third St., East Carolina College enrollment tops 5,000, state bond issue defeated and ECC students demonstrate, Charles M. King elected mayor, Ayden student arrested for Wayne murder.

Urban Renewal Ranks First

Seldom have blood pressures risen, tempers become so frayed or more heated words been passed than during the campaign that led up to the urban renewal-public housing referendum.

The referendum was set by the City Council after a public hearing last January. Charges and counter charges flew right up to the May 2 election date. But, as the smoke cleared and ballots were counted, urban renewal emerged victorious by a 102 vote majority and public housing was approved with a 391 majority.

Curiously, Mayor S. Eugene West, whose administration had spawned the Shore Drive Redevelopment plan, was defeated. Therein lies another of the top ten stories. Charles M. King, a councilman who was less than enthusiastic about urban renewal, won the mayor's position with a 23 vote majority.

Mayor King declared he would go along with the will of the people, however and at year's end both the Redevelopment Commission and the Public Housing Authority were proceeding with their plans.

Ficklen Stadium

In October, ECC president Leo W. Jenkins commissioned an eight-man committee to carry out what some observers to be ing more than $200,000 to construct a new outdoor stadium on the college campus. To be named for the late tobaccoist James S. Ficklen, the stadium was planned with seating for 16,000.

Impossible lost its meaning as the committee, headed by W. M. Scales, Jr., raised more than $200,000 in a week's time among local merchants and organizations. Substantial sums also came from college students, faculty and organizations.

An astounding defeat of a state-wide bond issue saw $50,000 planned for the stadium go down the drain. Already warmed-up, the committee got back on the job and raised the additional $50,000 within a few days. The stadium is expected to be complete in time for ECC's football opener next fall.

Bond Defeat

Still another story is interwoven in the stadium drive. This would be the defeat of a state-wide bond issue—which passed handily in Pitt County—and the resulting demonstration in the middle of the night by East Carolina College students.

The college had much at stake in the bond issue. Not only were the athletic facilities funds involved but there was also money for two new dormitories, a new Austin building, additions to Wright building and the library and most important, for the purchase of additional land.

The new facilities were critically needed by the mushrooming college; thus there was bitter disappointment among students as election returns showed there was no chance of the bonds being approved.

A spontaneous demonstration broke out on the campus and on city streets. There was no rioting and no vandalism. It was just the students' way of expressing disappointment. Talks by Dr. Jenkins brought about gradual dispersement of the student groups.

"Beatnik Bandit Bags Bank, Beats it on Bike" Headline writers across the nation had a field day with this one as a Negro youth with goatee, red coat, white shoes and a bicycle lifted $3,765 off Wachovia's West End Branch.

Though the bizarre robbery brought chuckles to millions of readers, it had its serious aspects. The bandit fired a pistol in the course of the robbery, thought at the time to contain blanks. It turned out that the bullet was real when the slug was later found embedded in a door frame.

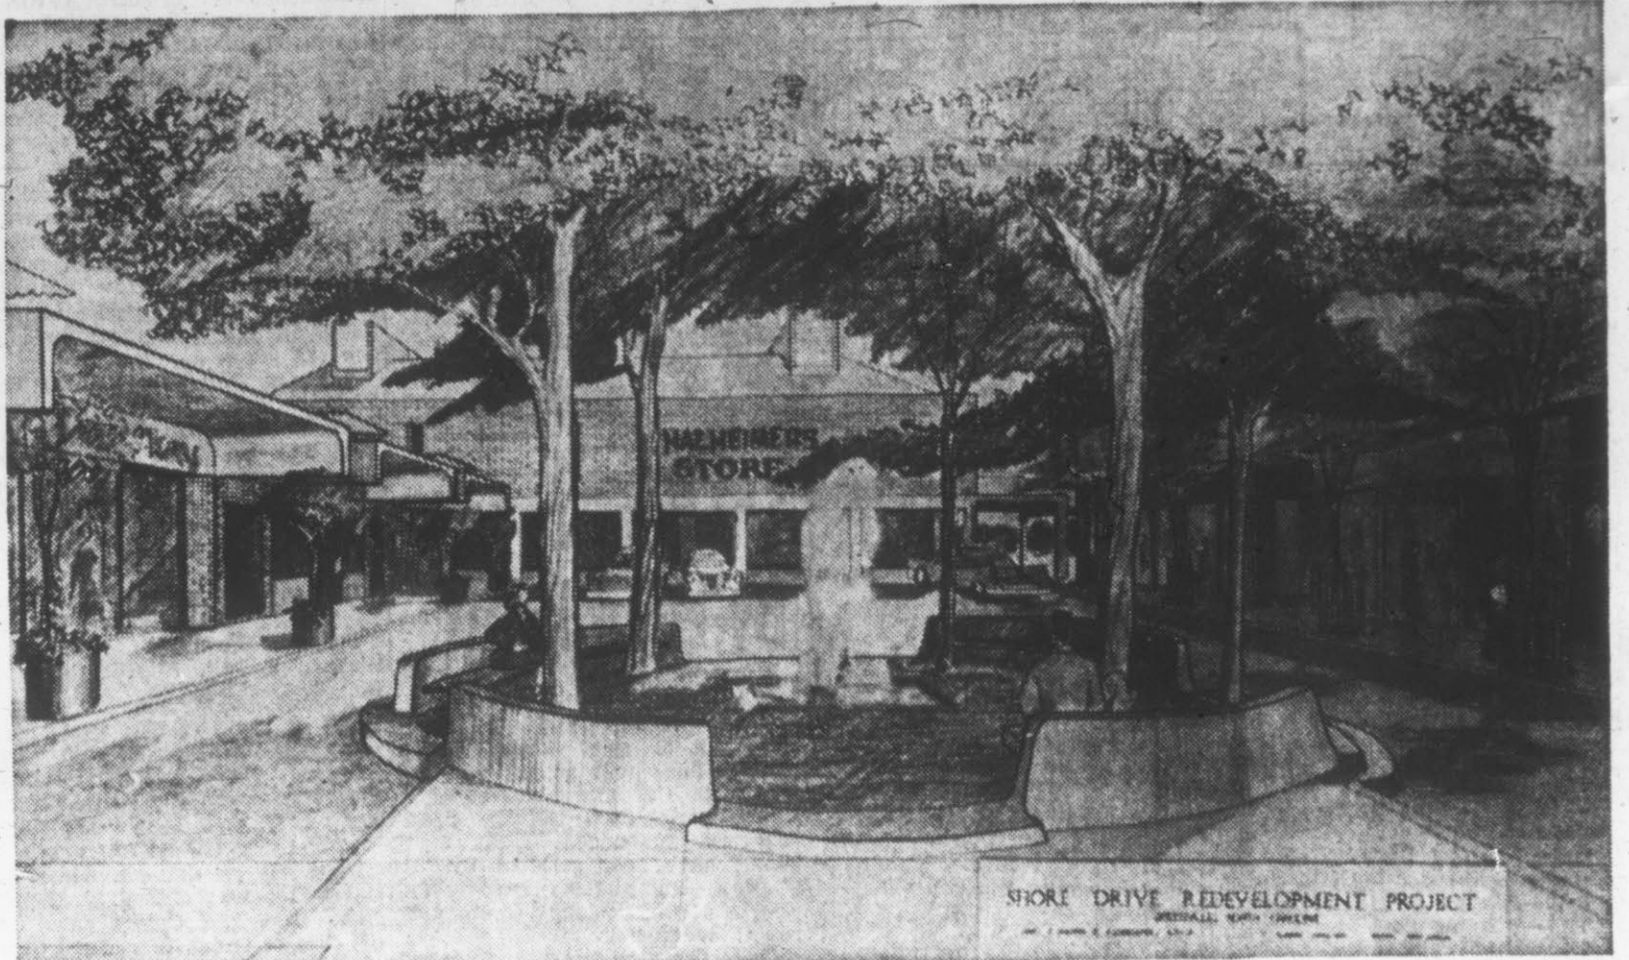

It apparently barely missed the bank manager, J.M. Moye.

At any rate Roy Douglas Freeman, 18 year old Negro, was subsequently arrested at a road block and practically all the missing money was recovered.

Industrial School Approved

Pitt voters, approved $395,000 in bonds to be used for constructing an industrial school locally and work was begun on a site located between Greenville and Winterville. The training center was the 20th and last to be allocated by the state and will be operated as a part of the state school system.

The good times rolled on tobacco markets this season and with them came excellent sales for merchants. Greenville, Farmville and the Eastern Belt all set records with the final averages for the year, Greenville's average was $64.22;

SHORE DRIVE REDEVELOPMENT PROCEEDS . . . planners envision such scenes as this when work gets underway.

Farmville's, $65.09 and the Belt's, $64.94.

Tragedy struck on West Third St. during the year when a ditch bank caved in killing three workmen. The ditch was being dug for an interceptor line to serve the city's new sewage disposal plant.

East Carolina College's fall quarter enrollment exceeded 5,000 for the first time and the college continued to be the fourth largest in the state.

Ayden and all Pitt County were shocked when Kenneth Allen Jolly, 16-year-old football player, was indicted for the murder of a Wayne County housewife. The youth, a better than average student, was subsequently tried in Wayne Superior Court and given a life sentence.

Other Important Stories

Those were the top ten stories as chosen by Reflector staffers. But there were others of near equal importance. Civil Defense interest was high in the county this year, as it was across the nation. There was much talk of both public and private fall-out shelters, although at year's end only a few had been built.

Neighborhood conservation, a plan originally proposed to combat urban renewal, remained alive after the referendum and this month was voted into law.

Reese Furniture Store burned in October to rank as the biggest blaze of the year. S. G. Gibbs resigned as chief and was replaced by Guy D. Langston; gas price wars plagued dealers through the last half of the year. Dr. Andrew Best was named Doctor of the Year by the Old North State Medical Society, television station WNCT was in process of being sold at year's end and a tornado struck south Pitt County along with other areas.

Finally Pitt County observed its 200th anniversary rather quietly with a dinner in a college dining hall.

The sober look to the past was in contrast to the vigor that characterized projects pointing to the future. Urban renewal, the stadium drive, United Fund and various projects which individual organizations undertake were, in a way, Pitt's citizens tribute to the county's 200 years of existence.

CHARLES M. KING . . . was elected mayor during year

Shelter Survey By Eight Firms

RALEIGH (AP)—A federal survey to determine buildings that can be used as public fallout shelters will get under way in North Carolina next month. The state Civil Defense headquarters announced Friday eight firms have been selected by the Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks at Charleston, S.C., to conduct the survey.

The firms and areas assigned to them are: Asheville area—six associates, Asheville, Charlotte, and Charlotte; Charlotte (west)—Hennington, Durham and Richardson, Charlotte; Durham—William F. Freeman Inc., High Point, Greensboro—Lowenstein-Atkinson, architects, Greensboro; Raleigh—L. E. Wooten & Co., Raleigh; Winston-Salem—A. G. Odell Jr., and associates, Charlotte; and Wilmington—Fosco Inc., Wilmington.

State Civil Defense Director Edward F. Griffin said the survey will be a three-pronged affair. The first phase will be to determine existing buildings that can be used as fallout shelters.

The second step will be to get the owners of the buildings to cooperate in converting the structures for use as shelters in event of an emergency.

"The final phase," Griffin said, "will be the stockpiling of the shelters with food, water and other necessary supplies and the making of the buildings as public shelters."

CHAPTER 18

"Miss Cora, I don't know for certain," Lee Folsom said gently. "I just think that Martin Whitfield has a fiancée."

Quietly she recounted the scene with Martin when he had shown her through the cottage and repeated what he had said about leaving the entire equipment and planning of the kitchen to Hilda.

"He said that he knew it was going to be difficult to make Hilda feel happy about coming to Lewisville, but that she was so fond of him that, once he had convinced her what the place meant to him, she would come; and moreover, she would be happy there because he would be," Lee finished. "So, you see, Hilda is quite obviously his fiancée."

Miss Cora dropped her hands into her lap and made no effort to remove the tear stains from her cheeks, despairing face.

"So that means Holly hasn't a chance with him," she said dreadingly.

"I'm afraid not, Miss Cora," Lee agreed reluctantly.

"Then, Lee dear, you must list my house for sale," she said dreadingly.

"I'll do no such thing, Miss Cora!" Lee flashed hotly, out of her pity for this woman and her anger at the two who were so shamelessly and ungratefully forcing her to such a step.

"Miss Cora, do you know what you are going to do?"

Miss Cora shook her head, and her eyes once more brimmed with tears.

"Oh, Lee, I don't. I'm so confused, so very tired!" she whimpered.

"You're going to stiffen that Eastman backbone," Lee told her firmly. "You're going to stand up and fight those two!"

"Oh, Lee, I couldn't!" Miss Cora was frankly appalled at the very thought.

"Well, do you want to give up your home?"

"Oh, no, Lee. I love it and I've been very happy here," Miss Cora looked about her at the shabby, beloved place. "I know it isn't the most beautiful place in the world, Lee dear, but it's mine and I love it!"

"And you're going to put those two out of it and have it to yourself again," Lee told her firmly.

"And don't talk to me about a family obligation. You've fed and housed them for two years, and they've walked over you roughshod to show the way they feel about you and your kindness. Now you've come to a point where you have to do one of two things: either give up your home and go live in a furnished room; or else put them out to shift for themselves. Now which is it going to be?"

Miss Cora looked at her fearfully.

"But, Lee dear, what would people say?" she gasped.

"They'd say it was way past time that you showed some spunk, Miss Cora," Lee assured her vigorously. "Why, everybody in town knows the score; they are all angry at the way Holly and Mimi are treating you! They'll give three cheers when you send those two out of the house and close the door on them."

Miss Cora was listening avidly.

"You really think they wouldn't feel I was failing a family obligation?" she asked hesitantly.

"You blessed idiot!" Lee scolded her lovingly. "They'd applaud you! You've done far more for those two than anybody felt you should do. But there has to be an end even to family obligations."

Miss Cora twisted her damp handkerchief. "They'll be very angry," she said uneasily.

"Holly and Mimi? So what?" Lee said swiftly. "Are you afraid of them, Miss Cora?"

Miss Cora looked up at her and then away.

"Well, yes, Lee, I guess I am a little. They can be so very unpleasant. And I don't like quarreling and the malicious, spiteful things they'll say," she confessed uneasily.

"Well, would it be more pleasant for you to sell your home and go live in a room somewhere?" Lee pursued her argument remorselessly.

"Oh, no, Lee, no! I'd go out of my mind in just a room somewhere," Miss Cora said huskily.

"And it wouldn't do any good for me to sell here and buy a place somewhere else, because they'd go too."

Lee nodded, and recklessly asked, "Would you like me to deliver the ultimatum to them, Miss Cora?"

Miss Cora caught her breath, and her blue eyes widened. "Oh, Lee, darling, would you?" she gasped.

"I certainly will, Miss Cora, if you authorize me to be your agent, and promise that you won't let them talk you out of it," Lee said firmly.

"Uncle John has your power of attorney. That ought to be sufficient. I'll give them an eviction notice, and they'll have three days to get out!"

"Three days!" Miss Cora whispered, and fear once more came

Fishing Trawler Sinks Off Coast

BEAUFORT, N. C. (AP) — A 110-foot fishing trawler carrying a crew of 15 ran aground and sank Friday night. The crew abandoned ship as the vessel began taking water, and was "picked up by a Coast Guard cutter."

The trawler, the Charlie Lewis, had made its menhaden catch and was en route home when it ran into rough seas in what is called Cape Lookout slough. The vessel sank in the vicinity of Cape Lookout. One crewman was slightly injured as the vessel was tossed about in the sea.

The owner of the trawler is Standard Products Co. of Beaufort and Whitestone, Va. The Coast Guard said attempts may be made to refloat the trawler today if it isn't torn up by the heavy seas during the night.

There will be no youth meetings on Sunday evening because of the holiday.

Reviews And Reflections

By JIM POINDEXTER

As the year passes away, one thing that can be said is that this has been the best 1961 in history.

Certainly it has been better than 1961 was, though it looked there for a while as though it might be even more catastrophic. If it had been, one thing sure is that its centennial in 2061 would not have been adequately celebrated by anything so insipid as most of the efforts to commemorate 1861 this year have been.

Non-Vintage Year

Literally speaking, 1961 seems to have been more notable for quantity than for quality, though we cannot be sure of that for a generation or so. It is doubtful, however, that it will measure up to such a great vintage year as 1965, which produced Bacon's "Advancement of Learning," "Don Quixote," and "King Lear."

"Franny and Zooey" may be good, but it's not that good. And the fact that so many of the year's bestsellers were carry overs from 1960 is interesting too, and may be significant.

In biography Shorer's "Sinclair Lewis" is gaining momentum after some rather tepid early reviews. Its sales have been greatly helped by its being selected for distribution by at least two book clubs. Still, the haunting question remains whether Lewis is actually worth an encyclopedic, 800-page study.

Honors

If kudos are being passed out, and it is customary to do that this time of the year, it is well to remember journalists as well as writers of books. Representative of the best of the entire tribe is Editor Thomas Storke of the Santa Barbara, California, News-Press, who has been waging a successful fight against the Birch Society lunatics in Southern California and has probably won himself a Pulitzer Prize for his efforts. He should move to either Dallas or Houston, where the air is fetid with right-wing fanaticism, and where nobody seems to be about to expose anything unless it is garbed in milk and ermine.

And kudos to Ike too for the strong words which he has spoken against fomenters of division and suspicion among us, though he does get a black mark for talking in a stupidly facetious way about the work of the Peace Corps, who also deserve a tribute at year's end, along with the President, Adlai, and the late Dag — and Mr. Sam, who proved not to be indestructible after all.

Aside from his courageous efforts in behalf of the safety of the country, the President, along with Mrs. Kennedy, deserves an additional tribute for his patronage of poetry, music, and drama in the White House.

Frost

Everyone knows at least something about Robert Frost now, after his appearance at the inauguration. For those who want to know more, there has been much written recently, including a Life article and a transcription of one of his lectures in the current issue of the Atlantic.

And Sandburg

Also recently widely publicized has been that other ancient landmark of American letters, Carl Sandburg. Of particular interest to Tar Heels is Harry Golden's biography of Sandburg, which has just appeared. In his work Golden claims that Sandburg is "both chronologically and spiritually the first poet of America's twentieth century."

Whatever this means exactly, it is sure to be challenged by the disciples of Frost, who is probably a better poet, though Sandburg is fine too and a most interesting representative American of the radical grass roots school. Three cheers for both of them, and let posterity take its choice. Anyway, Golden's book is colorful and important because he has had the close cooperation of the Sage of Flat-Rock in writing it.

Fill the Blanks

Here's a puzzle upon which to end the year. Each blank in the following verse can be filled with a different four-letter word, but all the words must contain the same letters.

Come, landlord, fill the flowing —
Until the — run over.
Tonight we — upon the — tomorrow — to Dover.
